DEDICATED:

To all the men and women of the world who preach and teach the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ and
To the Mercy and Grace of God.

- Demonstrated to us in Christ Jesus our Lord.

"In whom we have redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace." (Eph. 1:7)

- Out of the mercy and grace of God His Word has flowed. Let every person know that God will have mercy upon him, forgiving and using him to fulfill His glorious plan of salvation.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." (Jn 3:16-17)

"For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth." (I Tim. 2:3-4)

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Every child of God is precious to the Lord and deeply loved. And every child as a servant of the Lord touches the lives of those who come in contact with him or his ministry. The writing ministry of the following servants have touched this work, and we are grateful that God brought their writings our way. We hereby acknowledge their ministry to us, being fully aware that there are so many others down through the years whose writings have touched our lives and who deserve mention, but the weaknesses of our minds have caused them to fade from memory. May our wonderful Lord continue to bless the ministry of these dear servants, and the ministry of us all as we diligently labor to reach the world for Christ and to meet the desperate needs of those who suffer so much.

DIVISION IV

THE TEACHINGS OF THE MESSIAH TO HIS DISCIPLES: THE GREAT SERMON ON THE MOUNT, 5:1-7:29

K. The Right Motive for Giving, 6:1-4

(6:1-4) Introduction—Motive: what a man does matters greatly to God. God expects men to be kind and to do good in the world: to help others both through personal involvement and through giving generously and sacrificially.

But there is something else that God expects, something of critical importance: God expects a man to have the right motive. Just why a man does good and shows kindness matters greatly to God. It matters so much that a person's eternal fate is determined by his motive. Because of this, Christ warns us about right and wrong motives.

1. Alms—doing good and giving (v.1).
2. The wrong motive (v.2).
3. The right motive (v.3-4).
4. The reason (v.4).

1 (6:1) Alms—Service—Giving: there is the giving of alms—doing good and giving to others. The word “alms” means righteous acts; giving in order to meet the needs of the poor. To the Jew, giving alms and righteousness meant the same thing. Giving alms was the Createst thing a Jew could do; it was the first act of religion. It was considered to be the very embodiment of righteousness Cso much so that the two words began to be used synonymously. Giving alms merited and assured one of righteousness and salvation. (See note 5—Mt.5:6.) Christ warned there is great danger in giving and doing alms. Take heed and guard yourself. Do not give for recognition, or you will lose your reward.

Thought 1. There are two important lessons in this verse.

- 1) Man must guard and be alert to the deception D of giving and doing good before men. A person's heart can be deceived. The sin creeps up on man; it is insidious and subtle. It will keep a person from receiving anything from God.
- 2) A person must give alms and do good. It is a duty of the Christian. In this passage alone Christ says four times, “Do alms.”

E “But all their works they do for to be seen of men” (Mt.23:5).

“Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the markets, and the highest seats in the synagogues, and the chief rooms at feasts” (Lk.20:46).

Woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel

(I Cor. 9:16)

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

Paul's authorship is seldom questioned. Thessalonians is listed in the Marcion Canon (about A.D. 140) and referred to in the Muratorian Fragment. It is quoted by Irenaeus (about A.D. 180). (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1956, p.16.)

DATE: Probably A.D. 50-52. This date is fairly certain; Paul was in Corinth when he wrote the letter to the Thessalonians.

Luke says that Gallio was deputy of Achaia and that Paul was arrested in Corinth and brought before him (Acts 18:12). Just when Paul appeared before Gallio is not known. But an inscription at Delphi places Gallio's procounselship in the year of A.D. 51. Roman procounsels took office for only one year, beginning in early summer. Therefore, Gallio held office in A.D. 50-51 or A.D. 51-52. This would place Paul in Corinth in A.D. 50, and the writing of the letter between A.D. 50-52.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To the church of the Thessalonians" (1 Th.1:1). See Special Features, The Church.

PURPOSE: To encourage the church to stand fast against persecution.

Paul encourages the church by doing four things.

1. He commends their strong faith and love and hope (1 Th.1:3f).
2. He answers the malicious charges against himself (1 Th.2:1f).
3. He encourages the church to stand fast against persecution and to live holy lives (1 Th.3:1-4:12).
4. He reinforces the great hope of the Lord's return and the resurrection of those who have already passed on (1 Th.4:13f).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Thessalonica. The great city was the capital and the largest city of Macedonia. (See Map—Introduction to Acts.) It had been founded by Cassander, the top military officer of Alexander the Great, after Alexander had died. Under the Romans the city had been made free because of its loyalty to Rome. As a free city it was allowed its own government and local laws, and at its height, the city reached a population of 200,000. The city had a natural harbor, but the primary factor contributing to the city's greatness was that it lay right on the Roman road, the Egnatian Way. In fact, the great road ran right through Thessalonica. It was the main street of the city, stretching all the way from the Adriatic Sea to the Middle East. Trade and commerce bristled with all the accompanying vice that follows such a metropolitan center.

2. The Church of Thessalonica. It was a great day when Paul walked into the city of Thessalonica bringing the news of the glorious gospel. Because of the city's strategic location and commercial importance, the gospel was bound to spread out beyond to the world rather rapidly. The great city of Thessalonica was the second great European city to be evangelized. Paul had just been evangelizing in Philippi when he entered Thessalonica. Paul preached in the synagogue for only three Sabbaths before he was forced by the Jews to leave the synagogue (Acts 17:2). Paul apparently moved into homes, preaching wherever he was allowed. He had so much success that the Jews eventually attacked and forced him to flee for his life. He took Silas and Timothy (Acts 17:10-14) and proceeded to Berea for a brief ministry. But the Jews pursued him and he was forced to leave Berea for Athens (Acts 17:13f). However, he was able to leave Silas and Timothy behind to continue the ministry. While in Athens, he sent for Timothy, but dispatched him right back to Thessalonica (1 Th.3:2f). Paul himself went on to Corinth where he was soon joined by Silas and Timothy with good news from the Thessalonian church (Acts 18:5). His heart was so warmed by this report that he sat down and wrote the Thessalonian letter.

The converts were mainly Gentiles, including a large number of devout Greeks and prestigious women. Many, especially women, were sick of the immoral society of that day. They had turned to Judaism because of its moral teachings, yet they sensed the bondage of its legalistic thrust and rejection of its national prejudices. Therefore, their hearts were ripe for the message of liberty and love preached by the gospel. The church at Thessalonica...

- was founded on Paul's second missionary journey (Acts 17:1f).
 - was revisited by Paul (1 Cor.16:5).
 - included some Jews and a large number of Greeks and influential women (Acts 17:4; 2 Th.3:4, 7-8).
 - did not support Paul. He worked at a secular job while there (1 Th.2:9); however, he did receive financial help from the church at Philippi (Ph.4:16).
 - suffered persecution (1 Th.2:14).
 - was well organized (1 Th.5:12).
 - had several prominent believers known by name: Jason (Acts 17:6), Gaius (Acts 19:29), Aristarchus (Acts 19:29; 20:4), and Secundus (Acts 20:4).
3. Thessalonians is "An Early Epistle Written by the Apostle Paul." It is one of the earliest New Testament writings.
 4. Thessalonians is "An Early Epistle that Proclaims Christ to be Lord" (1 Th.1:1, 3, 6, 10; 2:15; 3:8, 11-13; 4:1-2, 13-18; 5:1-2, 9-10, 23, 28; cp. Acts 17:7).
 5. Thessalonians is "An Epistle that Proclaims the Doctrine of the Second Coming" (1 Th.4:13f).
 6. Thessalonians is "An Epistle of Great Encouragement for a Person Facing Persecution" (1 Th.1:6f; 2:2f; 2:14f; 3:3f).
 7. Thessalonians is "An Epistle written to warn believers of the danger of sexual impurity" (1 Th.4:1-10).
 8. Thessalonians is "An Epistle written to charge believers with the most practical rules of behavior" (1 Th.5:12-22).

9. Thessalonians is “An Epistle with a Great Evangelistic and Missionary Challenge” (1 Th.1:8-12; 2:12-13; 3:12-13; 4:1-12; 5:1f).

10. Thessalonians is “An Epistle written from the heart and soul of a committed minister.” Wycliffe Bible Commentary has a moving description of this point. (David A. Hubbard, First & Second Thessalonians. “The New Testament & Wycliffe Bible Commentary,” ed. by Charles F. Pfeiffer and Everett F. Harrison. Produced for Moody Monthly by the Iversen Associates, N.Y., 1971, p.803f.)

“In these letters Paul lays bare not so much his subject as his soul: Here the beat of the apostle’s warm heart is audible. He compares himself to a gentle nurse (1 Thess.2:7), a firm father (2:11), and a homeless orphan (in the Greek of 2:17). He shows himself ready to spend and be spent for the spreading of the Gospel. It is Paul, the man, who confronts us, gentle in his strength, loving in his exhortations, dauntless in his courage, guileless in his motives—a man (as Carl Sandburg said of Abraham Lincoln) ‘of steel and velvet, hard as rock and soft as drifting fog.’”

OUTLINE OF FIRST THESSALONIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of First Thessalonians have Biblical titles, but they have also been given practical titles or titles of application which sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of First Thessalonians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

A. The Model Church: A Strong Church or Work, 1:1-4

(1:1-4) Introduction: the introductory verses give us a clear picture of a strong church. The picture painted in these verses is a model for all churches. It is the picture of a church strong in carrying on a work for the Lord.

1. It is a church that has ministers who are faithful to the church (v.1).
2. It is a church of the people (v.1).
3. It is a church founded in God and in the Lord (v.1).
4. It is a church possessing God's supreme gifts: grace and peace (v.1).
5. It is a church that stirs prayer (v.2).
6. It is a church stirred up to work (v.3).
7. It is a church seen to be chosen by God (v.4).

1 (1:1) Church: a strong church has ministers who are faithful to the church. Note that Paul was not writing this letter alone. Silas and Timothy joined him in exhorting the church. Why is this an exhortation from three ministers? Because these particular ministers had been the three who had founded and ministered to the church throughout the early years of its ministry. Of course Paul had been the head minister, but the other two had worked just as faithfully for the Lord in their call to be associates.

The point is this: the Thessalonica church was strong because its ministers had remained faithful to the church. From every indication they had continued to stay in touch with the church and to exhort the believers through visits and letters as long as they were living and able to minister.

- ⇒ Paul visited the church when he returned to the area on his third missionary journey (Acts 20:1-2).
- ⇒ Timothy made a special visit to the church for the very purpose of helping the church through a difficult time and to establish and comfort the believers in their faith (1 Th.3:1-6).
- ⇒ All three ministers wrote the church at least two times, this letter of First Thessalonians and the second letter to the Thessalonians (1 Th.1:1; 2 Th.1:1).

Thought 1. How many churches lack strength because their ministers have not remained faithful in exhorting them...

- to follow on with the Lord?
- to follow and support their present ministers?

Note how Paul, probably the greatest minister who has ever lived, acknowledged Silas and Timothy as equal to him.

“And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned again to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God” (Acts 14:21-22).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:11-15).

2 (1:1) Church: a strong church is a church of the people. Paul did not address the letter to “the church at Thessalonica,” but to “the church of the Thessalonians.” The church was the people, the people who had accepted Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. Without people who are committed to the Lord there is no church. The letter was not addressed to a particular group of leaders, but to all the people of the church. Every believer was important, and it took every one of them to make up the church. A strong church is a church of the people, a church...

- that is comprised of all the people.
- that is built upon all the people.
- that acknowledges the importance of all the people.
- that involves and uses the gifts of all the people.
- that recognizes and esteems the presence and contribution of all the people.

Thought 1. Several things will always weaken a church:

- ⇒ Building the church upon a few people or leaders.
- ⇒ Ignoring and neglecting the needs of some members.
- ⇒ Failing to involve and use the gifts of some members.

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith. For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office: so we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:3-5).

“For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ, for by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit. For the body is not one member, but many” (1 Cor.12:12-14).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:11-13).

3 (1:1) Church—Jesus Christ, Deity: a strong church is founded “in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ.” Jesus Christ is said to be equal with God the Father. God is acknowledged as the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the distinctive belief upon which the church is built. We believe that “God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

- ⇒ We believe that God the Father sent His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, into the world to save us from perishing and to give us eternal life.
- ⇒ We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ is the Son of God.
- ⇒ We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ is the Lord sent from heaven, that He is God, the eternal Son embodied in human flesh and sent to earth by God the Father.
- ⇒ We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ is Jesus the Carpenter from Nazareth.
- ⇒ We believe that the Lord Jesus Christ is the Christ, the Messiah and Savior who had been promised from the very beginning of history.

As stated, it is upon this confession that the church is built. This confession is the one distinctive mark of the church.

Thought 1. A church that is not founded upon God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ is not a church, not a true church, no matter what it may call itself. It is nothing more than...

- a man-created fellowship
- a man-created gathering
- a man-created assembly
- a man-created body
- a man-created meeting
- a man-created worship

“He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it” (Mt.16:15-18).

“Jesus saith unto them, Did ye never read in the scriptures, The stone which the builders rejected, the same is become the head of the corner: this is the Lord’s doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes?” (Mt.21:42).

“This is the stone which was set at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner” (Acts 4:11).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone” (Eph.2:20).

“Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded” (1 Pt.2:6).

“Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son. Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: [but] he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also” (1 Jn.2:22-23).

“Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God” (1 Jn.4:15).

4 (1:1) Church—Grace—Peace: a strong church possesses God’s supreme gifts—grace and peace.

1. Grace (charis) means the undeserved favor and blessings of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15; note—Ro.4:16; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:4 for more discussion). No church can be strong...

- without the favor of God.
- without the blessings of God.

When we see a strong church, the hand of God is immediately noticed: the hand that favors the church and blesses it. What is it that brings the hand of God’s grace to a church? Note the exact wording of this verse: “Grace be to you...from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.” Grace comes from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ. God pours His grace out upon the church that commits itself to the confession...

- that God is our Father.
- that Jesus is the Lord Jesus Christ.

The church that really commits itself to this confession is the church that God favors and blesses, that experiences the outpouring of His grace. Every strong church is a church that is confessing God to be the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ and confessing the Lord Jesus Christ to be the only begotten Son of God. When this confession is forcefully made and demonstrated by a church, it is then that the grace (favor and blessings) of God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ pours forth.

“Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ” (Eph.1:2-3).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph.2:8-10).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power. Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ” (Eph.3:7-8).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus. This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:14-15).

2. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and woven together. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to sense and know that God will...

- | | |
|--------------|-------------|
| • guide | • deliver |
| • provide | • encourage |
| • strengthen | • empower |
| • sustain | • bless |

But again, note that peace comes only from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. In order to have the peace of God and Christ, a church has to have a strong confession...

- in God as the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ.
- in Jesus as the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Father and Christ alone can bring peace to the hearts of men, and that peace can be given only to those who come to God for peace. The Father and Christ cannot give peace to a person who does not come to God for peace.

The point is this: a strong church is a body of people who know and experience the peace of God as they walk throughout the world day by day.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:13-14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

5 (1:2) Church—Prayer: a strong church stirs prayer. This is a crucial trait, for God has ordained prayer to be the medium through which He blesses and moves in behalf of people.

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts” (Jas.4:1-3).

Why has God chosen prayer to be the medium through which He acts for man? Because sharing and talking together are the way all persons communicate, fellowship, and commune together. This is true both with men and God. Prayer requires our presence, sharing, and talking; and God wants to fellowship and commune with us. Few persons heed this fact; few persons take prayer seriously. Nevertheless a strong church encourages people to pray, and it stirs people to pray for it and its ministry. Note that Paul gave thanks to God always for the Thessalonian church.

6 (1:3) Church: a strong church is a church that is stirred up and aroused to work. Three things stir and arouse the church to work.

1. Faith stirs the church to work. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, truly believes, he is stirred to work and serve the Lord Jesus. The same is true with a body of believers, the church. The stronger the belief of the people in Christ, the stronger they will work for the Lord. A strong faith stirs, arouses, activates, and energizes believers to work and carry out the mission of Christ.

“What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him? If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body; what doth it profit? Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:14-17).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

2. Love stirs the church to labor. The word “labor” (kopou) means to toil; to labor to the point of exhaustion; to arduously labor. When a person truly loves Christ, he is prompted and driven to arduously labor for Christ. Note: the believer who is driven by love is the believer who has really seen the love of Christ. He is always conscious that Christ has taken his sins upon Himself and borne the punishment for them. The believer knows that he is ever so short of the glory of God, and that he deserves to be punished as the transgressor of God’s law. But he knows and walks around with the deep sense that Christ bore his punishment for him. It is the wonderful love of Christ that stirs the believer to love Christ ever so much. Therefore, he does all he can to please Christ and to fulfill the joy of Christ. This is what Paul meant when he said “the love of Christ constrains me” to serve Him (see note—2 Cor.5:14-16 for more discussion).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to what which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching” (Heb.10:24-25).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

3. Hope in the Lord Jesus Christ stirs the church to endure in its work and labor. The word “patience” (hupomones) means endurance, steadfastness, perseverance. Our hope is in the Lord Jesus Christ: we know He will...

- guide
- provide
- deliver
- strengthen
- sustain
- bless

In addition, we know that the Lord is going to transfer us into heaven at the end of this life and reward us according to our labor here on earth. Therefore, strong believers and churches are driven to endure in hope—to continue on in their arduous labor for Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4, Inheritance—Ro.8:17 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. There are several reasons why a man works.

- ⇒ There is forced labor: a man is forced to work.
- ⇒ There is a sense of duty: a man feels obligated to work.
- ⇒ There is the need to meet necessities: a man has needs that have to be met.
- ⇒ There is the wish to gain more: a man works to build up wealth.

When a man accepts Christ, his motive for working changes. He now serves and works for Christ (Eph.6:5-9; Col.3:22-4:1). His faith in the new world Christ is creating stirs him to work for Christ. His love for Christ and for others stirs him to work in order to share the gospel with the world (1 Th.1:6-9). His hope in the return of Christ to set up His kingdom causes him to labor patiently (1 Th.1:3). (Note: the source of this thought is unknown. If it comes from some published material, please advise us and we will give credit for it in future printings.)

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work” (2 Th.2:16-17).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

7 (1:4) Church: a strong church is seen to be elected by God. The word “election” (eklogen) means that the church has been selected and chosen by God. This means two things.

1. Believers are elected and chosen by God to be His beloved people. God has called believers out of the world and away from the old life which the world offered, the old life of sin and death. He has called believers to be separated and set apart to Himself and the new life He offers, the new life of righteousness and eternity.

“The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn thee” (Jer.31:3).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God” (Jn.16:27).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

2. Believers are elected and chosen to be beloved brothers; they are called to hold one another ever so closely to their hearts and to count one another as precious and deeply loved.

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love” (Ro.12:10).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (Ph.2:1-2).

1 THESSALONIANS 1:1-4

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity” (2 Pt.1:5-7).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

Thought 1. Note two strong lessons.

- 1) The proof that a church is truly elected by God is that...
 - the members act like the beloved people of God.
 - the members treat each other as beloved brothers.
- 2) A people can show that election is only a false profession...
 - by acting like they are not the beloved of God—living in sin and shame, dirt and pollution, worldliness and greed.
 - by treating one another as anything but beloved brothers: being critical and divisive, prideful and arrogant, angry and hurtful, envious and prejudiced, superior and super-spiritual.

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

DIVISION I

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

B. The Model Church: A Strong Conversion, 1:5-10

(1:5-10) Introduction: Paul says that the Thessalonian church was a pattern. He says that they were examples not only to the heathen, but also to believers. Their example is primarily found in their strong conversion and in their thundering forth the Word of the Lord (v.8).

1. They had ministers who preached the gospel as it should be preached (v.5).
2. They received the Word (the gospel) despite opposition and persecution (v.6).
3. They became examples to other believers (v.7-8).
4. They turned to God from idols (v.9-10).

1 (1:5-6) Ministers: the model church had ministers who preached the gospel as it should be preached. When Paul went to Thessalonica, he went for one purpose and for one purpose only: to preach the gospel and to minister to the needs of people. Note three striking lessons.

1. Paul did not preach in word only; that is, he did not preach mere words, depending upon his own ability to influence people. He did not stand before people using nothing but his own words to reach people. His preaching was not dependent upon...

- his eloquence
- his ability
- his wisdom
- his novel ideas
- his charisma
- his appearance

When Paul stood before people and preached, he was not concerned with words and eloquence, nor with whether or not people thought he was a good preacher. He was concerned with only one thing: sharing the Word of God and the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Paul knew that God honored His Word and His Word only.

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:1-2).

“And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God” (1 Cor.2:4-5).

“Which things also we speak, not in the words which man’s wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual” (1 Cor.2:13).

“Necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

2. Paul preached in power and in the Holy Spirit and in much assurance.

a. Preaching in “power” (dunamis) means preaching in the power and energy of God Himself. This is what is so often missed and misunderstood. The gospel is not mere words nor just sharing an idea. Words and ideas are, of course, involved; but the gospel is more, much more. The gospel is the power of God at work in the human heart. The gospel is the power of God operating, working, stirring, convicting, and energizing a person to believe and accept the Lord Jesus Christ.

This is the reason it is so important for the preacher to be completely surrendered to God—living ever so closely to Him—living and moving and having his being in the Lord. The preacher must be under the control of God so that the power of God can rest upon and flow through his life. The preacher must become nothing but an instrument in the hands of God. Then and only then can the gospel—the very power of God—flow through his preaching like it should.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“For it is God which worketh [energizes] in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure” (Ph.2:13).

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

“Wherefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, Because ye speak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them” (Jer.5:14).

“Is not my word like as a fire? saith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?” (Jer.23:29).

b. Preaching in the Holy Spirit means that the Holy Spirit was also working in the hearts of people. He was doing what God had sent Him to earth to do: convict the hearts of the hearers and convince them of the truth of the gospel:

⇒ that Jesus Christ did die for their sins.

⇒ that Jesus Christ does provide righteousness for men; that His righteousness does stand for the righteousness of men.

⇒ that Jesus Christ did bear the judgment and punishment of sin for men.

“And when he [the Holy Spirit] is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment [all borne by Christ]: of sin, because they believe not on me; of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more; of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged” (Jn.16:8-11).

c. Preaching in assurance is a critical point. How can a minister preach and have the assurance that his preaching will bear fruit? How can he be assured that the power of God and of the Holy Spirit will rest upon his preaching? The answer is found in what is said in the following point, point three.

3. Paul lived what he preached. He lived a life that was completely surrendered to Christ. He lived and moved and had his being in Christ, walking and living ever so closely to Him. Assurance and confidence come from obedience—knowing that we are doing what we should be doing. It comes from knowing that we please God—that we are living pure and clean lives, praying and studying God’s Word every day and witnessing to the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. When we know that we are pleasing God, then we know that His presence and power will be upon us.

⇒ Obedience is the secret to assurance.

⇒ Obedience is the secret to the presence and power of God upon our lives and preaching.

⇒ Obedience is the secret to bearing fruit through preaching. This was the secret of Paul. Paul obeyed God; therefore, Paul was convinced that his preaching would be in power and in the Holy Spirit.

Thought 1. The world has yet to see what God will do with a man who obeys Him—totally and completely obeys Him—obeys Him...

- by living a pure and clean life.

- by praying and studying God’s Word every day.

- by witnessing and sharing the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:1-4).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments” (1 Jn.2:3).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth. And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him” (1 Jn.3:18-19).

Thought 2. The point is this: the Thessalonians had a preacher who preached the gospel as it should be preached. They had a minister who surrendered his life totally to Christ: he lived and preached Christ and Christ alone. What a dynamic example for us! When we live and preach like we should, then our preaching will be in power and in the Holy Spirit. The presence and power of God Himself will rest upon our lives and ministries.

2 (1:6) Decision: they received the Word (the gospel) despite opposition and persecution. Remember: unbelieving Jews had opposed Paul and aroused some of the city troublemakers against him. The persecution became so threatening that Paul had been forced to flee the city (cp. Acts 17:4-10). However, his absence did not stop the persecution. In fact, it seems that the attack upon the church and its young believers became even more fierce. The Jews had convinced some of the Gentile citizens—some countrymen of the believers—to join them in trying to stop the gospel and destroy the church (cp. 1 Th.2:14). But note what Paul says:

⇒ The gospel still bore fruit. Some persons still received the Word and accepted Christ despite the opposition and persecution.

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

⇒ The Holy Spirit rewarded the believers’ commitment to Christ. He stirred joy in their hearts and lives, giving them full assurance of their eternal salvation and deliverance from death.

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

One other fact is important: the believers became followers of Paul and Christ. The word follow (mimetai) means to imitate. Is it right for people to imitate and follow preachers and other outstanding Christian leaders? A.T. Robertson gives an excellent answer to the question:

“It is a daring thing to expect people to ‘imitate’ the preacher, but Paul adds ‘and of the Lord,’ for he only expected or desired ‘imitation’ as he himself imitated the Lord Jesus, as he expressly says in 1 Cor.11:1. The peril of it all is that people so easily and so readily imitate the preacher when he does not imitate the Lord.” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1931, p.11.)

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

Thought 1. There are two striking lessons in this point.

- 1) Nothing, absolutely nothing, should keep a person from receiving the Word of the gospel—not even opposition and persecution.
- 2) Believers—preachers and laymen alike—must guard their lives ever so closely and make sure they are living for Christ and living ever so diligently for Him. Why? Because others are watching and following us—some child, some adult, some neighbor, some friend. There are people who look up to us and follow after us. Whether or not we like the fact, they are. Therefore, it behooves us to follow Christ as perfectly as we can.

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children” (Eph.5:1).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth” (1 Jn.1:6).

3 (1:7-8) Witnessing—Testimony: the model church became examples to other believers. This is a striking point: this young church was so committed to the Lord that their testimony spread all over the world. Note this: when Rome had conquered Greece, it had divided the country into two provinces, the northern province being Macedonia and the southern province being Achaia. Paul clearly says that the testimony of the church had spread all over Greece, both northern Greece and southern Greece. Then he adds that their faith had spread out beyond the borders of Greece. This must mean all over the world, for Thessalonica was a major commercial center where salesmen, tradesmen, and businessmen visited from all over the world. Just imagine the witnessing the church and its believers must have been doing day by day. Their excitement and enthusiasm for Christ and the opposition and persecution against them must have been the talk of the city and world.

Thought 1. What a glorious testimony and dynamic example of witnessing! What a lesson for us today! How desperately we need to get to the task of living for Christ and being a testimony for Him.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul” (Ps.66:16).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen; that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not silence” (Is.62:6).

“Then they that feared the Lord spake often one to another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

4 (1:9-10) Conversion—Repentance—Idolatry: the model church turned to God from idols. Remember that Paul had been forced to flee from Thessalonica for his life. The only way he knew how the young church and its believers were holding up was from others who had been to Thessalonica to visit or conduct business. What he had heard thrilled his heart: the believers were standing fast in the gospel he had preached. There were three things in particular that struck him about their testimony.

1. The believers had turned to God from idols. John Walvoord makes an important point: they turned to God from idols, not from idols to God (The Thessalonian Epistles. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1973, p.17).

⇒ They did not seek to clean up their own lives by themselves. They did not try to reform themselves by turning away from idols and then turning to God.

⇒ They turned to God first, then with God’s help and strength, they repented and turned away from idols.

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent” (Acts 17:30).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.18:21).

What is an idol? It is crucial to understand exactly what an idol is. Very simply, every man has an idea of what God is like and what God allows and does not allow. Some men take their ideas and make images of them by carving wood or melting and molding metal or porcelain. Other men just hold the images in their mind and picture God as being like this or like that. Either image is as much an idol as the other. An idol is merely an image of some god created by the mind of man—an image other than the God revealed by the Scripture (cp. Ro.1:21).

Note the sharp contrast made between these images of man’s mind and God: God is the living and true God; the images are only the lifeless and false notions of men.

“Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man’s device” (Acts 17:29).

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and four-footed beasts, and creeping things” (Ro.1:21-23).

“And God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power. Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid. What? know ye not that he which is joined to an harlot is one body? for two, saith he, shall be one flesh. But he that is joined unto the Lord is one spirit. Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:14-18).

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils” (1 Cor.10:21).

“And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually” (Gen.6:5).

“Behold, I set before you this day a blessing and a curse; a blessing, if ye obey the commandments of the LORD your God, which I command you this day: and a curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the LORD your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day, to go after other gods, which ye have not known” (Dt.11:26-28).

“I am the LORD: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images” (Is.42:8).

2. The believers had turned to God because of the promise of Christ’s return. It was God’s Son who was returning to earth, the Person who had died for them so that they might be acceptable to God and live with Him forever. They believed with all their hearts that they were to live with God forever. This was the reason they were waiting for the return of Christ. The word “wait” is in the present tense. This means that their hope for the return of Christ was alive. They expected Christ to return at any moment and eagerly looked for Him to rent the skies. Their expectation was a daily expectation.

“Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh” (Mt.24:44).

“Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven” (Mt.26:64).

“And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come” (Lk.19:13).

“And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory” (Lk.21:27).

“Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:28-29).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven” (Acts 1:11).

“So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.1:7).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Tim.6:14).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“And now, little children abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming” (1 Jn.2:28).

Note one other significant fact. How do we know that Christ is going to return to earth and take believers to live with God forever? Because God raised up Christ from the dead. By resurrecting Christ, God...

- proved that He is the God of all power.
- proved that He has the power to raise the dead.
- proved that He is going to do just as Christ taught: raise all men, some to eternal life and some to eternal death, that is, to be eternally separated from God.

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised: and if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished” (1 Cor.15:16-18).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

3. The believers had turned to God to escape the wrath of God. Note this: a day of wrath is coming; it has to come, for man and his universe are corruptible and imperfect and are in rebellion against God. The world is already condemned; the day of wrath is already set. But this is the glorious news of the gospel: we can be delivered from the wrath to come. The word “delivered” (ruomenon) means to rescue; to deliver us right out of the wrath. The picture is that of God rescuing and lifting us up out of the wrath.

“He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:18).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:3-6).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

“And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth” (Rev.11:18).

CHAPTER 2			& authority of position
	C. The Model Church: A Strong & True Minister,^{DS1} 2:1-12	of others, when we might have been burdensome, as the apostles of Christ. 7 But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children: 8 So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us. 9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God. 10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe: 11 As ye know how we exhorted and comforted and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children, 12 That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.
1 He has a full & fruitful ministry—not an empty & fruitless ministry	F or yourselves, brethren, know our entrance in unto you, that it was not in vain:		7 He preaches gently & lovingly a. As a mother b. As giving his own soul
2 He preaches boldly a. In great trials, even imprisonment b. In facing opposition	2 But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as ye know, at Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God with much contention.		8 He preaches, laboring night & day a. With great labor & hardship b. With no charge
3 He preaches a pure gospel, lives a clean life, & does not deceive people	3 For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile:		9 He preaches with a clean life, an impeccable life
4 He preaches to please God, not men	4 But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts.		10 He preaches as a father—tenderly giving direction
5 He does not preach for what he can get out of it a. Does not use flattery b. Is not covetous	5 For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness:		11 He preaches with one objective—edification
6 He does not preach for glory nor for prestige	6 Nor of men sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

C. The Model Church: A Strong and True Minister, 2:1-12

(2:1-12) Introduction: remember the church at Thessalonica was under heavy persecution. The Jewish religionists had risen up against Paul and the church and were set on destroying both. They enlisted all the Gentile citizens they could to join their attack. They convinced the people that the preaching of Christ would destroy their freedom and affect their jobs and businesses. The persecution became so violent that Paul was forced to flee for his life. However, his absence did not stop the persecution. The attacks against the church and its believers continued. One form which the persecution took was to destroy the reputation of Paul. Accusation after accusation was leveled against Paul, and rumor after rumor was spread about him.

Paul's purpose in writing this passage was to strengthen and build up the believers in Christ. To do so he had to answer and correct the charges against him. Paul knew how easily people are influenced by charges and rumors and how easily they become exaggerated. He wanted no question and no misunderstanding about him and the ministry of Christ. He was a minister of Christ, a true minister, and the gospel of Christ was true. This meant that their faith was valid. They were truly saved and made acceptable to God by the death of Christ, and they were going to live eternally in God's kingdom and glory (v.12). The point is this: this passage gives us the picture of a strong minister—the kind of minister and servant of Christ that every believer should be.

1. He has a full and fruitful ministry—not vain and fruitless (v.1).
2. He preaches boldly (v.2).
3. He preaches a pure gospel, lives a clean life, and does not deceive people (v.3).
4. He preaches to please God, not men (v.4).
5. He does not preach for what he can get out of it (v.5).
6. He does not preach for glory nor for the prestige and authority of position (v.6).
7. He preaches gently and lovingly (v.7-8).
8. He preaches, laboring night and day (v.9).
9. He preaches with a clean life, an impeccable life (v.10).
10. He preaches as a father—tenderly giving direction (v.11).
11. He preaches with one objective—edification (v.12).

(2:1-12) Another Outline: A Strong Minister.

1. Background (v.1).
 - a. Opponents slandered Paul.

- b. He was not a failure.
2. His boldness (v.2).
3. His message: a pure gospel (v.3).
4. His motive (v.4-6).
 - a. Not to please men but God.
 - b. Not flattering words.
 - c. Not for greed.
 - d. Not for glory.
 - e. Not even claiming due rights.
5. His testimony (v.7-11).
 - a. A gentle man (v.7-8).
 - b. A laboring man (v.9).
 - c. A clean man (v.10).
 - d. A fatherly man (v.11^a).
6. His fatherly approach (v.11).
7. His one objective: edification (v.12).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:1-12) Paul, Charges Against: this passage shows the charges being leveled against Paul by those who were trying to destroy his reputation (see notes, Introduction—1 Th.2:1-12; 2 Cor.1:12-22).

1 (2:1) Paul, Accusations Against—Minister, Faithfulness: the strong and true minister has a full and fruitful ministry, not a vain (gegonen) ministry. The word vain means empty, ineffective, and fruitless. Paul reminds the believers that his ministry among them was not an empty and fruitless ministry. People had been ministered to and some had even accepted Christ and experienced a genuine conversion. They were now living for Christ—living for Him through the most difficult of times, even persecution. Therefore, the charge that his ministry was empty and fruitless was false. God had His hand upon him and God was blessing his ministry.

2 (2:2) Minister—Preaching: the strong minister preaches boldly even when there is opposition. Right before Paul had launched his mission into Thessalonica, he had been shamefully mistreated and imprisoned by some businessmen in Philippi, and he was forced by the city officials to leave the city. However, this did not discourage Paul. He did not give up the ministry because he had been persecuted. He moved on to another city, Thessalonica. But note what he faced in Thessalonica: persecution—the same mistreatment and attacks. Did this discourage and cause him to give up the ministry? No! He continued to boldly preach the gospel despite the opposition and conflict. The point is this: bold preaching is proof of a true and strong minister. A true and strong minister knows that God has called him and he knows why God has called him: to preach the gospel. Therefore, he boldly preaches regardless of circumstances. His bold preaching of the gospel is one of the strongest answers to his critics.

Thought 1. Note what bold preaching means. It means to preach the “gospel of God,” not to lambast one’s critics. The pulpit is not the place to deal with critics; it is the place for preaching the gospel of God—the place where the unsearchable riches of Christ are to be proclaimed. This is exactly what Paul did despite the critics of the gospel who opposed him.

“And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Mt.10:7).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

Thought 2. The word “bold” (eparrusiasametha) means to speak boldly and freely; to speak out and to speak publicly without fear. Too many fail to witness for Christ because they fear ridicule, embarrassment, mockery, and persecution. They are secret believers of Christ instead of bold witnesses for Christ.

3 (2:3) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches a pure gospel, lives a clean life, and does not deceive people. Three things are said here.

1. The strong minister preaches a pure gospel. The word “deceit” (planes) means error. Paul did not add to nor take away from the Word of God.

⇒ He did not tip-toe around or bypass controversial subjects because of opposition.

⇒ He did not attempt to tickle the ears of people by preaching only the subjects that they liked; he did not neglect the whole counsel of God’s Word.

- ⇒ He did not concentrate on pleasing subjects in order to win the approval of people; he did not neglect the subjects of sin and judgment.
- ⇒ He did not preach in order to secure personal acceptance and support nor to gain a personal following.
- ⇒ He did not preach to secure his livelihood nor to strengthen his position as pastor.
- ⇒ He did not preach his own ideas nor the novel ideas of others. He did not follow the latest theological fashion in order to appear up-to-date and well-read.

Paul preached the pure gospel, the pure Word of God. The message of Jesus Christ was not his creation; it was the act of God, the glorious gospel of salvation which God had sent to men through His Son. Paul was not the creator of the message; God was.

- ⇒ Paul was only the messenger of God—a mere man whom God had employed to proclaim His message.
- ⇒ Paul was only the ambassador of God—a mere servant chosen to deliver the King's message to the world of men.

The point is this: Paul had no right to change the message. He had absolutely nothing to do with formulating the gospel of Christ. Therefore, he preached the gospel exactly as God had given it. He preached the pure gospel, the pure Word of God, and he did it without deviating one iota from it.

2. The strong minister lives a pure and clean life. The word “uncleanness” (akatharsias) has to do with moral uncleanness and impurity (William Barclay. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians. The Daily Study Bible. Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1959, p.220). Paul was being charged with immorality. A.T. Robertson quotes Lightfoot and points out that this may be startling, to think that Paul was accused of immorality. However, such an accusation was not to be unexpected because of the immoral society of the day, a society so immoral that it had permeated some of the very religions of the day. Paul clearly says that he was not guilty. He had not used the ministry nor his position in the ministry to attract women. He had not lived in uncleanness. (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.16.)

Thought 1. Note two lessons that we must always keep in mind as the followers and servants of God.

- 1) Some believers—ministers and laymen alike—have rumors spread about them. Rumors, of course, damage and hurt and often destroy the testimony and ministry of people. But most tragic of all, rumors always affect the name of Christ and turn some people away from the gospel and from any chance of ever being reached for Christ. The persons who begin and spread rumors that destroy people shall face the wrath of God regardless of their profession to know God.
- 2) Some believers—ministers and laymen alike—fall and commit immorality. This, of course, stirs wild imaginations in those who are most hurt by the fall of the believer, wild imaginations of immoral behavior heaped upon immoral behavior. The hurt person shares his or her hurt with dear friends, and from this, rumors begin. Before long, rumor is built upon rumor. Unfortunately, this goes on until about all that is known is rumor and what has been imagined. As the followers and ministers of Christ, we must always remember this: if the fallen person is a genuine believer, a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ, one of two things will happen...
 - The fallen believer will repent and confess his sin to God, and God will forgive him. God will also begin to use him again—sometimes more effectively than ever before. Why? Because God is a God of restoration. If He were not, few if any of us would ever be serving Him. This is a fact that we desperately need to learn.
 - God will take the fallen believer on home to be with Him. Some genuine believers do slip into sin and enslavement—a point beyond which they are willing to return to Christ. Now note: only God knows when a believer is unwilling to repent and when he has reached the point where he will never repent. At that point, the believer is never again to be a witness for Christ. In fact, his life and testimony are only doing damage and cutting the heart of Christ beyond imagination. Therefore, God has no choice but to take him on home to be with Him. (See outline and note, Judgment—1 Cor.11:27-30 for more discussion.)

“For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus. For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication: that every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God: that no man man go beyond and defraud [steal his wife] his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified” (1 Th.4:2-6).

“Abstain from all appearance of evil. And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:22-23).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

3. The strong minister does not deceive people. There is no deception about him at all.
 - a. Paul did not deceive people by preaching a false gospel. He was not out...
 - to secure a personal following.
 - to earn a living.
 - to serve in a respectable profession.
 - to live a comfortable life.

Paul was sincere and genuine: he preached a true gospel. And he was out only to share that gospel so that men might come to know the only living and true God.

- b. Paul did not deceive people by the life he lived. He did not preach one thing and live another. He was not unclean, immoral, and dirty. He lived a pure and righteous life before God and the people.

“If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained” (1 Tim.4:6).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers. For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision” (Tit.1:9-10).

“But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine” (Tit.2:1).

- 4 (2:4) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches and ministers to please God, not men. Most men do not want to hear...

- about sin and judgment.
- about the utter necessity of men to depend upon the death of Christ in order to be saved.
- about the demand that a person commit all he is and has to Christ in order to meet the needs of a desperate world.

The preaching of the truth is not always popular, not with a carnal and unbelieving people. Therefore, when a minister is thrown in the midst of a people who are worldly, he can be tempted to tone down his message to please the people. The temptation can be especially strong if his livelihood is at risk.

However, note what Paul says: he sought only to please God, not men. There were two strong reasons why.

1. First, God was the Person who had trusted him with the gospel, not men. God owned the gospel, and He was the Person who had called Paul to proclaim the gospel. Men had nothing to do with the formulation of the gospel nor with calling Paul. God would take care of him as he preached the gospel. God had called him to preach; therefore, he was God's. Consequently, he could trust God to take care of him if men reacted against the gospel and attacked him.

2. Second, God alone would try his heart and judge him. He was to stand and give an account for his ministry some day, and he was to stand before God, not before men. Men might be able to cause some difficulty for him on earth, but God would cause difficulty for him through all eternity if he abused or opposed the gospel of God.

“Howbeit no man spake openly of him for fear of the Jews” (Jn.7:13).

“And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him” (Jn.8:29).

“For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God” (Jn.12:43).

“Servants [applicable to believers], obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God” (Col.3:22).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more” (1 Th.4:1).

“By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God” (Heb.11:5).

“The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the LORD shall be safe” (Pr.29:25).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

- 5 (2:5) Ministers: the strong and true minister does not preach and minister for what he can get out of it.

1. The word “flattery” (kolakeias) always means the kind of flattery that is given in order to get something out of people (William Barclay. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.221). Paul did not flatter people in order to secure their friendship, following, or support. He, of course, commended people; and his letters in the New Testament show that he commended them quite often. But he did it truthfully, always covering the weak areas that people needed to strengthen as well as their strong and commendable areas.

“Let me not, I pray you, accept any man's person; neither let me give flattering titles unto man” (Job 32:21).

“The LORD shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things” (Ps.12:3).

“He that saith unto the wicked, Thou art righteous; him shall the people curse, nations shall abhor him” (Pr.24:24).

“A lying tongue hateth those that are afflicted by it; and a flattering mouth worketh ruin” (Pr.26:28).

“He that rebuketh a man, afterward shall find more favor than he that flattereth with the tongue” (Pr.28:23).

“A man that flattereth his neighbor spreadeth a net for his feet” (Pr.29:5).

2. The word covetousness shows that Paul was accused of being in the ministry out of greed; that he had chosen the ministry to earn a livelihood and to make money. Paul emphatically denies this and says that his lifestyle proves it. He declares that the church knows the fact and that God is witness to the truth.

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men” (Ro.12:17).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (Ro.13:8).

“Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men” (2 Cor.8:21).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

6 (2:6) Minister: the strong and true minister does not preach or minister for glory nor for the prestige and authority of a position. Note two things.

1. Paul says that he did not seek the glory, prestige, honor, or recognition of people. He was not out to be recognized as a great preacher or good minister. He was not seeking to be recognized as a leader or as a man of position and authority.

“But it shall not be so among you: but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister; and whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant: even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:26-28).

“But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant” (Mt.23:11).

“How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?” (Jn.5:44).

“If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour” (Jn.12:26).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him” (Ps.49:17).

“He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him” (Ps.91:15).

“Therefore hell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it” (Is.5:14).

“As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame” (Hos.4:7).

2. Paul says that he had the right to assert his authority as an apostle of Christ. Being a minister of God is a great honor, and men should respect and appreciate the call. But the minister of God must not exalt his authority, for he has been called by God Himself, called to serve the sovereign Majesty of the universe. He must not be demanding and ordering people around. God has not called the minister to hold a position of honor and authority, but to minister and preach the gospel.

7 (2:7-8) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches and ministers gently and lovingly. What Paul says is descriptive and it shows the deep love he held for the church and its believers at Thessalonica.

1. Paul was as gentle toward them as a mother who nurses her children. The idea is that the minister must minister to his people with...

- tenderness
- warmth
- affection
- care
- intensity
- love

He must treat them as precious, as his most beloved people, holding them ever so closely to his heart.

2. Paul’s affection for his people was so strong that he preached the gospel to them in the midst of adversity and great opposition. And he was willing to do even more: he was willing to pour out his soul for them; to sacrifice his very life to make sure that they came to know Christ and the eternal salvation that was in Him. Note that Paul says he was willing to sacrifice his life for one simple reason: they were dear (agapetoi) to him. The word dear means beloved. They were his beloved people.

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved” (Ph.4:1).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Holy Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

8 (2:9) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches and ministers, laboring night and day. John Walvoord makes a striking point: Paul did not have a five day nor a forty hour week. He did not work until four or five o'clock nor until dark and then have the rest of the day for himself (The Thessalonian Epistles, p.30).

Paul was the servant of Christ to meet the desperate needs of the world and to reach men with the glorious news that Christ could save them from death and give them eternal life. How could he rest and relax when people in every city and community were dying every day? He, of course, needed sleep and rest as all men do; but it is clear from Paul's letters that he slept and rested only as he needed. He was not slothful nor lazy when it came to sleeping and lounging around. Note why: he did not want to be chargeable to any man. What did he mean? Just what God says: that every minister and believer has the blood of the world upon his hands and will be held accountable for getting the message out to them—the message that they can be saved from death and receive eternal life.

“And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand” (Mt.7:26).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

“And Jesus said unto him, Thou hast both seen him, and it is he that talketh with thee. And he said, Lord, I believe. And he worshipped him” (Jn.9:37-38).

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:1-2).

“Pray without ceasing. In every thing give thanks” (1 Th.5:17-18).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

“And that servant, which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes” (Lk.12:47).

“When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.33:8-9).

9 (2:10) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches and ministers with a clean life, an impeccable life. Paul says...

- that he lived a holy life before God: a life separated from the world and set apart totally to God.
- that he lived a just and righteous life before men: a life that loved and treated men just as God said and just as he wanted them to treat him.
- that he lived a blameless life before both God and man.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“Wherefore I beseech you, be ye followers of me” (1 Cor.4:16).

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an ensample” (Ph.3:17).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

10 (2:11) Minister: the strong and true minister preached as a father, tenderly giving direction. The minister is not only like a mother (see note—1 Th.2:7-8), but he is also like a father. Three fatherly functions are listed.

⇒ The minister exhorts just like a father: directs, guides, and teaches.

“For ye may all prophesy one by one, that all may learn, and all may be comforted” (1 Cor.14:31).

“Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:18).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

⇒ The minister comforts just like a father: encourages, consoles, supports, sustains, holds up, lifts up, relieves and eases pain.

“If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (Ph.2:1-2).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

⇒ The minister charges just like a father: testifies, witnesses, protects, and warns.

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“And say to Archippus, Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfil it” (Col.4:17).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts” (2 Pt.1:19).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

11 (2:12) Minister: the strong and true minister preaches and ministers with one objective—to lead his people to walk worthy of the Lord. God has given us the most glorious promise imaginable: the wonderful privilege of living forever in His kingdom and glory. Therefore, we must walk worthy of that promise. We must live excellent lives—walk day by day just as we should walk—honoring and building up the name of God.

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

DIVISION I

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

D. The Model Church: A Strong People, 2:13-20

(2:13-20) Introduction: a strong church is a church of strong people, a people who have trusted Jesus Christ as their Savior and Lord and who are continuing steadfast in Him. This passage covers the traits of a strong people.

1. They received the Word of God as the Word of God (v.13).
2. They became followers of strong churches: stood fast despite severe persecution (v.14).
3. They escaped the Jews' guilt (v.15-16).
4. They possessed a strong fellowship (v.17-18).
5. They were destined to bring glory and joy (v.19-20).

1 (2:13) Word of God: a strong people receive the Word of God as the Word of God. Note three facts.

1. The Thessalonian believers had received the Word through the preaching and teaching of men. Paul, Silas, and Timothy had carried and proclaimed the Word of God to them. They or some other believer had to take the Word to the Thessalonians, for there was no other way they could have received it. It takes people to communicate the Word of God. If believers did not speak and share the Word, then it would never be heard or received. It would stop dead in its tracks and no one would ever again be reached for Christ. There would never again be a branch added to the tree of life. The only way the Word of God can go forth is for believers to share it. The point is this: proclaiming and bearing witness to the Word of God is God's ordained way to reach the world for Christ. He has ordained the mission of proclaiming it to men, not to angels nor to any other creature. The duty to proclaim and bear testimony to the Word of God lies in the lap of believers. For this reason, we must proclaim and bear witness to God's Word every day of our lives. The very life of every soul upon earth rests in our hands. Paul knew this; that is the reason he had carried the Word of God to the Thessalonians.

2. The Thessalonian believers had received the Word not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the Word of God. What a phenomenal statement! Paul unequivocally declares that the Word he proclaimed was not the word of men, but the Word of God Himself. He further adds that "it is in truth, the Word of God." Do you and I believe that the Word of God is the Word of God?

- ⇒ The Thessalonians believed it.
- ⇒ Paul believed it.
- ⇒ But do you and I believe it? Really believe it?

Remember: what Paul preached was the Old Testament Scriptures and the mysteries of Christ which God had revealed directly to him (cp. Ro.16:25-26; 1 Cor.2:7; Eph.1:9; 3:4, 9; Col.1:27; 2:2; 4:3; 2 Tim.3:16). Most people—by far most—do not believe that the Word of God (the Bible) is the Word of God. They receive the Word of God only as the word of men.

- ⇒ They think that the Word of God is only of men.
- ⇒ Some think that the New Testament is only what the early apostles and believers could remember about Christ and conclude from His teaching.
- ⇒ Some think that the Old Testament is only the religious book and religious fables of the Jews, written by their great religious leaders.
- ⇒ Some think that the Bible is the great religious book chosen by God to use in the lives of people when it is proclaimed. Sitting on the shelf, they say that the Bible is not the Word of God, but when it is read or proclaimed, it becomes the Word of God; God uses its message to move upon the hearts of people and convict them.

However, note a critical point, a point so critical that it can be the determining factor that affects a man's eternal destiny: both the Bible and Paul claim that the Word of God is not the word of men, but the Word of God. "It is in truth, the Word of God." And the Thessalonian church and its believers received it as the Word of God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Word of God—1 Th.2:13 for more discussion.)

3. The Thessalonian believers received the Word so that it could work and operate in their lives. The verse says that it is God who works in us that believe. But what is it that we believe? The Word of God. If we do not believe the Word of God, there is nothing left to believe but the word of men. And the best that men can give us is messages and words that stir us to greater...

- self-improvement
- self-development
- self-image
- works
- goodness
- morality
- justice
- equality
- commitment

All of this is good, but it has one terrible flaw: it ends. Everything about man ends when man dies. The messages and words of men can do no more than what man can do, and man can do no more than die and continue in his terrible separation from life and God. Man cannot save himself. This is the reason man must hope and trust that God is love and has loved us enough to speak to us—speak accurately and clearly. If God cares no more than to leave us in the dark about how to become acceptable to Him, then we never want to have to face Him. Why? Because He could not be a God of love—not if He has left us in a dark, evil, and destructive world—left us groping and grasping to find our way to Him. A God of love would love and speak to us clearly and accurately, without any error, so that we could unmistakably know Him, ourselves, and the world:

- ⇒ who we are
- ⇒ why we are here
- ⇒ why things are the way they are
- ⇒ where we are going

This is the glorious gospel: God has loved us and has given us His Word, the very Word of God itself, the Holy Scriptures. Some of the Thessalonians believed in the Word of God. Therefore, God worked in their hearts and lives, converting and growing them to be more and more like His dear Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear” (Mt.13:16).

“But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty” (Mt.13:23).

“But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience” (Lk.8:15).

“Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls” (Acts 2:41).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but, as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:13) Word of God: the Bible claims to be the Word of God (see notes—2 Tim.3:16; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—2 Pt.1:19-21 for more discussion).

- ⇒ The unity of Scripture indicates an origin that could come only from one mind, God's mind (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 2—2 Pt.1:19-21).
- ⇒ Scripture has changed millions of lives for God.
- ⇒ Fulfilled prophecy and archeology substantiate a divine origin. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.3:23-38; DEEPER STUDY # 3—Jn.1:45; Master Subject Index for more discussion).

In fact, the unique feature of the Bible is that it has always been exhaustively substantiated to be the Word of God by any approach of investigation that is serious and honest. But note: both seriousness and honesty are necessary for the truth to be received. No less evidence could be expected from the mind and providence of God. For God can speak only the truth, and any pure investigation of truth can only substantiate His Word. But in saying this, it is necessary to recall that faith is an element in substantiating anything. Therefore, in accepting the Bible as the Word of God, faith is involved; it is one of the elements required.

However, the supreme authority for accepting the Bible as the Word of God is Jesus Christ. If we believe in the divine mission of Christ and His apostles, then we must believe that the Bible is the Word of God (Jn.5:39).

That Jesus Christ was a historical person is fact.

- ⇒ That Jesus Christ claims to be the Son of God is fact.
- ⇒ That Jesus Christ is the Son of God is faith.

That the Bible is an historical book is fact.

- ⇒ That the Bible claims to be the Word of God is fact.
- ⇒ That the Bible is the Word of God is faith.

“Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual" (1 Cor.2:12-13).

"For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe" (1 Th.2:13).

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim.2:15).

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim.3:16).

"God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets" (Heb.1:1).

"Searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow" (1 Pt.1:11).

"Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (2 Pt.1:20-21).

"That ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour" (2 Pt.3:2).

"The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to show unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John" (Rev.1:1).

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev.14:13).

- 2 (2:14) Church: strong people become followers of strong churches. They stand fast in Christ despite trials, even when facing severe persecution. Note that it was their own countrymen who were persecuting them, both Jew and Gentile, but the instigators were the Jews.

"But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people" (Acts 17:5).

This is exactly what was happening with the Judaeen churches. It was their own countrymen who were persecuting them. Therefore, Paul was able to say to the Thessalonian believers that they were following the great example of the Judaeen churches: they were standing fast for Christ even as the Judaeen churches were.

Thought 1. Note two lessons.

- 1) Nothing cuts and threatens us like the opposition from those who are closest to us: our family, friends, neighbors, and countrymen. When those whom we love the most oppose us, the temptation to give in is strongest. But we must never give in, for our eternal destiny is at stake. We must continue on with Christ, trusting Him to take care of us and to win many of our persecutors to Christ through the testimony of our steadfastness.

This was what the Judaeen believers did, and it was what the Thessalonian believers did. It must also be what we do: stand fast for Christ no matter what opposition may confront us.

- 2) One of the strongest helps when facing persecution is to look to the example of others who have stood strong against opposition. This is what the Thessalonian believers did: they followed the example of the Judaeen churches. The faithfulness of both the Judaeen and Thessalonian believers stands as a strong example for us.

"Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves. But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge you in their synagogues; and ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles" (Mt.10:16-18).

"Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also" (Jn.15:20).

"And in that day ye shall ask me nothing. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you" (Jn.16:23).

"For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake" (Ph.1:29).

"Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (2 Tim.3:12).

- 3 (2:15-16) Jews, Sins of—Pescution—Church: a strong church escapes the guilt of the Jews. This may seem like a strange way to word this point, but what is in mind is this.

- ⇒ A person either stands in support of Christ or in opposition to Christ.
- ⇒ A church either stands in support of Christ or in opposition to Christ.

The Jewish persecutors stood in opposition to Christ, in opposition to God's very own Son. And remember: they were religionists, a body of religious people who were set on destroying the Christian church in the name of religion. But the Thessalonian church and its believers stood in support of Christ; therefore, they escaped whatever guilt hangs over a person's head for opposing God's Son. The Thessalonian believers were free of the terrible sins and guilt that the Jews had committed in the name of religion. What were the sins and guilt of the Jews? Paul lists them, and the indictment is one of the most terrible ever drawn up against man.

1. They killed the Lord Jesus. Note the title "Lord." They thought they were killing only a man, only a carpenter from Nazareth, but they were actually killing the Lord. By Lord is meant all that is included in the title: the Lord God, the One who came out of heaven itself, the very Son of God Himself. The terrible guilt is clearly seen:

- ⇒ the guilt of killing a person.
- ⇒ the guilt of killing the Lord Himself.

2. They killed their own prophets. This was a charge that has often been leveled at the Jews.

"Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves, that ye are the children of them which killed the prophets" (Mt.23:31).

"Which of the prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain them which showed before of the coming of the Just One; of whom ye have been now the betrayers and murderers" (Acts 7:52).

3. They persecuted Christian believers. They not only rejected the gospel, but they wanted to destroy the message and those who followed and proclaimed it. They did not want anyone following Christ.

"And as they spake unto the people, the priests, and the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees, came upon them, being grieved that they taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection from the dead. And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold unto the next day: for it was now eventide" (Acts 4:1-3).

"Now they which were scattered abroad upon the persecution that arose about Stephen travelled as far as Phenice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, preaching the word to none but unto the Jews only" (Acts 11:19).

"But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, and sought to bring them out to the people" (Acts 17:5).

4. They did not please God. No person can please God if he stands in opposition to Christ. The only way a person can please God is to surrender his life to Christ—to give all he is and has to Christ. The Jews were not about to do this. Nothing was going to break them away from their own religious ceremonies and ideas about religion.

5. They were contrary to all men. They opposed and hated anyone who did not believe as they did. They should have loved those who differed, but instead they bitterly despised them. This is the difference between Christianity and Judaism and so many other religions. We who believe do claim that Christ and the Holy Scriptures are the truth, but we do not hate and oppose those who differ with us. We love them and do all we can to reach out and help them. We help to meet the needs of every man, even if he goes to his grave never accepting Christ. We love him; therefore, we want him to know the truth. But if he rejects Christ, we do not cast him off. We will continue to help him any way we can—in love.

6. They tried to stamp out the Word of God lest some person be saved. Just imagine trying to stop God's Word. How in the world can a man stop the Word of God? The answer is self-evident. Even a world of men could not stop God's Word. This is the foolishness of men, and it was the foolishness of the Jews.

Now, note the results of the sins of the Jews. First, they filled up their sin; their sin became full and overflowed and kept on overflowing. What a terrible indictment. The idea is that they sinned so much that they reached the point of no return. Returning to God was impossible (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.57).

Second, the wrath of God is come upon the Jews to the uttermost. The idea is that the judgment of God upon the Jews was certain, for they had...

- killed His Son, the Lord Jesus.
- killed His prophets.
- persecuted His church followers.
- stood against all men.
- tried to stamp out His Word so that other people might not be saved.

Think for a moment: if Jesus Christ is truly God's Son, then the judgment of God upon the Jewish unbelievers is inevitable. In fact, His judgment upon any person or people who stands in opposition to Christ is inevitable. No man shall be able to escape His judgment.

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life but the wrath of God abideth on him" (Jn.3:36).

"For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness" (Ro.1:18).

"But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath" (Ro.2:8).

"Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience" (Eph.5:6).

“Forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they might be saved, to fill up their sins alway: for the wrath is come upon them to the uttermost” (1 Th.2:16).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:7-9).

4 (2:17-18) Church—Fellowship: a strong church possesses a strong fellowship. The fellowship of the Thessalonians was so strong that Paul just longed to return to them. Remember: he had been forced to flee the city because his life was being threatened by the persecution that had risen against the gospel. The ache of Paul’s heart for the Thessalonians and their fellowship is seen in his emphasis:

- ⇒ he had been taken from them in presence, but “not in heart.”
- ⇒ he “endeavored” (spoudazo) to return: eagerly sought to return; made a serious, concentrated effort to return.
- ⇒ he “abundantly” or exceedingly sought to return.
- ⇒ he sought to return “with great desire”: with zeal, with intense longing, with strong passion.

Just imagine a fellowship of believers so strong that such effort is exerted by Paul to be present with them. What a fellowship they must have had—even in the face of persecution.

However, note: Paul’s return to the Thessalonian believers had been hindered by Satan. The word “hindered” means to cut in a road; to make a road impassable (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.24). It means to put up a roadblock for the purpose of stopping an expedition (William Barclay. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.225). When a church is as strong as the Thessalonian church, Satan is bound to do all he can to weaken it and stop its growth. One of the primary ways to weaken a church is to attack the minister of the church. This was his strategy in Thessalonica. What was the roadblock that Satan threw against Paul?

- ⇒ Was it some illness? (2 Cor.12:7; Gal.4:13).
- ⇒ Was it some serious problem in Corinth where Paul was ministering—some serious problem that had been stirred up by Satan to keep Paul there and to prevent his return to Thessalonica? Remember: Corinth was full of carnal believers, prime prospects for Satan’s attack (1 Th.3:1).

Just what the hindrance was is not known. But the point to note is the strength of the believers’ fellowship in Thessalonica—a fellowship so strong that Paul longed to return and share in it with the believers.

“So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us” (1 Th.2:8).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(2:18) Satan—Paul, View of Satan: Paul never downplayed the work and activity of Satan. He recognized the existence and activity of some terrible force of evil—some terrible supernatural spirit of evil—some terrible person in the spiritual world who is revealed in Scripture as Satan or the devil. Paul saw Satan...

- as the tempter who tempts men (1 Th.3:5).
- as the “evil one” (Greek, 2 Th.3:3).
- as the god of this world (2 Cor.4:4).
- as the prince of the power of the air (Eph.2:2).

5 (2:19-20) Witnessing: a strong church is destined to bring glory and joy. To whom? To the believers...

- who founded the church.
- who reached the believers for the Lord.
- who ministered and taught the church.
- who carried on the work of the church.

Paul clearly says that the Thessalonian believers were his hope and joy and crown of rejoicing. When? In the day when the Lord Jesus Christ will return and they will all stand in His presence.

- ⇒ What a hope! The return of the Lord Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ What a joy! Joining the Lord Jesus Christ with all the believers whom we have known, reached, and grown in Christ down here on earth.
- ⇒ What a crown! To offer to Christ all the dear people we have had a part in reaching and growing for the Lord.

Note the word “crown” (stephanos). It is the victor’s crown, the crown worn by the athlete after he has won the contest. The picture is that we are in a contest, a spiritual struggle against Satan for the souls of men. Therefore, we must strain and struggle and fight for the souls of men. A crown awaits us, a crown that we will miss unless there are souls to present to Christ.

Thought 1. Have you ever won a soul to Christ? A single soul? How many?

- ⇒ Ten souls?
- ⇒ Twenty souls?
- ⇒ Fifty souls?
- ⇒ One hundred souls?

The crown of rejoicing awaits the person who will be able to present souls to the Lord in that day. Let us all ask God to touch our hearts and help us to win souls for Him. He will if we will only ask in sincerity.

“And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men” (Mt.4:19).

“And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost. I say unto you, that likewise joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine just persons, which need no repentance” (Lk.15:6-7).

“He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messias, which is, being interpreted, the Christ” (Jn.1:41).

“Philip findeth Nathanael, and saith unto him, We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write, Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph” (Jn.1:45).

“And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:36).

“And being brought on their way by the church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conversion of the Gentiles: and they caused great joy unto all the brethren” (Acts 15:3).

“For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more. And unto the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law” (1 Cor.9:19-20).

“For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming? For ye are our glory and joy” (1 Th.2:19-20).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

“Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins” (Jas.5:20).

“And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh” (Jude 23).

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

E. The Model Church: A Strong Faith, 3:1-10

(3:1-10) Introduction: this passage has to do with the faith of the Thessalonians. Their faith was strong and Paul wanted to make sure that it remained strong. He stressed their faith five times in these ten verses.

- ⇒ He wanted to comfort, that is, strengthen their faith (v.2).
- ⇒ He wanted to know if their faith was standing against the tempter's temptations (v.5).
- ⇒ He received word that their faith and love were strong (v.6).
- ⇒ He was comforted over their faith (v.7).
- ⇒ He wished to perfect their faith (v.10).

The one thing needed by Christian believers is a strong faith: a faith that honestly knows Christ and knows what it is to walk in Him day by day, trusting Him, His care and comfort and strength. What we need is a faith that stands fast, endures, and perseveres, and that grows stronger and stronger in Christ. The stronger we believe and the more faith we have, the more we can conquer in life and do the things that we should do. A strong faith in Christ enables us to triumph over the trials and temptations of life and to fulfill our purpose in life.

Many of the believers in Thessalonica had a strong faith; therefore, their faith stands as a model for us. What is a strong faith?

1. Paul's extreme anxiety for the church (v.1-2).
2. A strong faith is a faith that is not moved by afflictions (v.3-5).
3. A strong faith is a faith that gives forth an excellent testimony (v.6).
4. A strong faith is a faith that stirs the hearts of its pastor and fellow believers (v.7-10).

1 (3:1-2) Stand Fast—Endurance—Church: there was Paul's extreme anxiety for the church at Thessalonica. The believers were suffering fierce persecution by both the Jewish and Gentile citizens of the city. Remember: the Jews had savagely opposed Paul when he was in Thessalonica. They had aroused some of the rowdy men who hung around in the market place to riot against Paul and the church. The believers had been meeting in the home of Jason, but when the mob attacked the home, Paul was not there. However, because of the uproar, he was forced to flee for his life. He had hoped that his absence would squelch the persecution. But his plan failed; the persecution continued and apparently increased. The antagonists were determined to stamp out and destroy the gospel of Christ once and for all.

Paul had fled to Athens, but his heart was in Thessalonica, longing for the believers who were suffering the fierce attacks of persecution. Note what he says: he had reached a point when he could no longer bear the suspense over their welfare. They had received Christ, escaped the sin and death of this world and received eternal life. When Paul had left them, they were standing fast in their faith. Had they cracked under the savage attacks of persecution? Or were they standing fast? They had to stand fast; it was a must, for their eternal destiny depended upon their continuing to follow Christ. Paul could bear it no longer; he had to do something. He desperately wanted to return and stand by their side, but he knew he could not. His return would only add fuel to the persecution. What then could he do? He would do the next best thing: send his right hand man, Timothy (v.2). Timothy was a dependable servant of the Lord. He was...

- a dear brother to Paul.
- a minister of God.
- a fellow laborer in the gospel of Christ.

If anyone could help the believers, he could. Note: Paul sent him to establish and comfort the believers in their faith.

- ⇒ The word “establish” (sterizo) means to support and strengthen.
- ⇒ The word “comfort” (parakaleo) means to encourage and exhort.

2 (3:3-5) Church—Faith—Standing Fast: What is a strong faith? A strong faith is a faith that is not moved by afflictions. The word “moved” (sainesthai) is taken from a word that means to wag the tail like a dog; hence it came to mean to flatter; to deceive; to hoodwink; to beguile; to lead astray by some deceptive strategy. Leon Morris thinks this is the meaning here (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.63); so does the Greek Scholar A.T. Robertson (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.25). This gives us some picture of the types of persecution going on.

- ⇒ There was an attack of spreading lies and rumors about the minister Paul: a persecution of deceit and guile; a deliberate strategy of deception. Apparently this was why the rumors of immorality and false preaching were launched against Paul. Those who opposed Paul and the gospel felt that if they could destroy Paul and his reputation, many would leave the church and some would even join forces with them against Paul (1 Th.2:3-6; 4:3-7).
- ⇒ There was the usual shameful treatment: mockery, ridicule, cursing, and verbal attacks against Christ and the life of righteousness to which the believers had committed themselves (1 Th.2:2).
- ⇒ There was direct confrontation and opposition: standing face to face with the believers and opposing their beliefs and threatening them if they spoke about Christ (1 Th.2:16).
- ⇒ There was physical abuse by mobs (Acts 17:5-6).
- ⇒ There was the use of civil authority and law against them if they continued to worship and speak about Christ (Acts 17:6-9).

Little else could be launched against the church and its believers except martyrdom itself. But note what Paul says: “No man should be moved by these afflictions.” Despite the shameful treatment and savage attacks, the believer is not to be moved away from Christ. But when the attacks are so severe and savage, how can the believer keep from being moved? How can he stand fast? By knowing three things.

1. The believer must know that he is appointed to persecution. The believer shall suffer persecution. Note that Paul had taught the Thessalonians that they would suffer persecution if they accepted Christ. Why? Why does the world persecute the Christian believer so much?

- a. Believers are persecuted because they are not of this world. They are called out of the world. They are in the world, but they are not of the world. They are separated from the behavior of the world. Therefore, the world reacts against them.

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

- b. They are persecuted because believers strip away the world’s cloak of sin. They live and demonstrate a life of righteousness. Such living exposes the sins of people.

“If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you...If I had not come and spoken unto them [the words of righteousness], they had not had sin: but now they have no cloke for their sin” (Jn.15:18, 22).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

- c. They are persecuted because the world does not know God nor Christ. They want no God other than themselves and their own imaginations. They want to do just what they want—to fulfill their own desires, not what God wishes and demands.

“But all these things will they do unto you for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me” (Jn.15:21).

“And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me” (Jn.16:3).

- d. They are persecuted because the world is deceived in its concept and belief of God. The world conceives God to be the One who fulfills their earthly desires and lusts (Jn.16:2-3). Man’s idea of God is that of a Supreme Grandfather. They think God protects, provides, and gives no matter what a person’s behavior is, just so the behavior is not too far out. They think God will accept and work all things out in the final analysis. However, the true believer teaches against this. God is love, but He is also just and demands righteousness. The world rebels against this concept of God.

“They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me” (Jn.16:2-3).

Keeping these reasons in mind will help us to stand against persecution when it is launched against us. And stand we must, for we must reach the world for Christ—a world reeling under the terrible plight of so many desperate needs and sin, evil, corruption, death, and condemnation.

2. The believer must know that the temptation to cave in to persecution is of the tempter, of Satan himself. This is the very reason Satan has launched the persecution: to strike fear in the believer and silence him. Satan wants the believer to hush up about Christ and to desert Christ. If Satan can rattle the believer to turn away from Christ and the church, then he is able to use his desertion to affect many lives. Satan is able to destroy the faith of both the believer and those who look up to him, such as children, family, and friends.

Thought 1. The believer must keep in mind that Satan is behind all persecution and temptation to desert Christ. Remembering this will help the believer to stand fast, for no true believer wants to forsake God for Satan. His eternal destiny is at stake.

3. The believer must know that the labor and message of the minister is not empty. Christ died for our sins that we might not perish. Christ gives us eternal life—gives us the privilege of living forever and ever in the new heaven and earth that He is to create. But if we desert Christ, then all the labor that has gone into leading us to Christ is empty. The work of the minister and of those who have taught us will have been useless. We must not, therefore, give in to the temptation to move away from Christ. We must stand fast in afflictions, no matter how severe and savage. Standing fast in persecution is the sign of a strong faith.

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended. They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto you at the beginning, because I was with you” (Jn.16:1-4).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto” (1 Th.3:3).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you” (1 Jn.3:13).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:12-14).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

3 (3:6) Faith—Testimony: What is strong faith? A strong faith is a faith that gives forth an excellent testimony. When Timothy returned from his mission to the Thessalonian church, he had a glowing report.

1. The believers were standing fast in their faith in Christ. They were not buckling under to persecution nor to the temptation to be silent about Christ. They were not forsaking their worship of Christ. In practical terms, they were continuing to study the Scriptures, pray, and worship together. And when possible, when it would not arouse opposition, they were sharing Christ and the promise of eternal life with all who would listen.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses” (1 Tim.6:12).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised;) and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: nor forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching. For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins” (Heb.10:22-26).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

2. The believers were standing fast in love—love for Christ, each other, and their fellow men. They were ministering and meeting the needs of all those who would receive their help. They were doing all they could to demonstrate love and care and good citizenship toward all.

“Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?” (Ro.8:35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

3. The believers also remembered their pastor, Paul, with the deepest of affection. Note that they longed to see him just as he longed to see them.

“And they continued stedfastly in the apostles’ doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers” (Acts 2:42).

“I thank my God upon every remembrance of you....for your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now” (Ph.1:3, 5).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

Thought 1. What a dynamic testimony of strong faith, the kind of faith every believer and church should covet:

- ⇒ a faith that stands fast in the face of severe opposition.
- ⇒ a faith that demonstrates the love of God—agape love.
- ⇒ a faith that longs for fellowship with its pastor.

4 (3:7-10) Faith: What is a strong faith? A strong faith is a faith that stirs the heart of its pastor and fellow believers. Note four significant points.

1. The strong faith of the Thessalonian believers comforted Paul, and Paul desperately needed comforting (v.7). The word “comforted” (paraklethemen) means encouraged and strengthened. Why did Paul need encouragement and strengthening? It was not because of the Thessalonians, for Timothy’s report had already comforted Paul’s concern over them. Note: Paul says that he was in some “affliction and distress.” The words are strong, very strong. “Affliction” (ananke) means choking, intense pressure and stress. “Distress” (thlipsis) means crushing trouble (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.26). Remember Paul was in Corinth when Timothy arrived with the glorious news of the strong faith of the Thessalonians. A fierce persecution had broken out against Paul and the church in Corinth, and he was dragged by the Jewish religionists to stand trial before the Roman court. He was released, but the persecution against him and the church continued (Acts 18:1-17). Apparently some threat and savagery happened to Paul that is not recorded, as so much that happened to him is left unrecorded. But whatever it was, it brought great affliction and distress to Paul. The point is this: the testimony of the Thessalonians strengthened and encouraged Paul in his ministry. Their faith in Christ was strong, and God used the testimony of their faith to help His dear servant in a time of need.

Thought 1. What a lesson for us! Our faith is used by God to strengthen and encourage others in their need. Therefore, we stand strong in faith and grow stronger and stronger in faith.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

2. The strong faith of the Thessalonians stirred renewed life and purpose in Paul (v.8). Paul had been discouraged, not defeated, but discouraged because of the difficulties confronting him in Corinth. But when the news of the Thessalonian believers reached him, it ignited a renewed burst of life and purpose in him. He was stirred to minister and share Christ as never before.

Thought 1. Note how the Thessalonians were a testimony to Paul. They were suffering terrible persecution and remaining steadfast. Therefore, their steadfastness stirred him to bear the persecution launched against him. These dear people were a great encouragement to their pastor without their even knowing it. Their faithfulness was stirring him to be faithful—stirring him in one of those times when he needed encouragement.

We never know when our strength and faith are needed to help some dear believer. Therefore, we must always stand fast in the faith, so that God can use our strength wherever He wishes. Imagine having the privilege of helping and encouraging a dear servant like Paul in one of his stressful times. Every church and believer has the privilege of helping and encouraging their pastor—if they will only stand fast in their faith and grow more and more in Christ.

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:13).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

3. The strong faith of the Thessalonians stirred joy in Paul (v.9). Very simply, the news of the Thessalonian believers standing fast in their faith was bound to stir joy in their pastor’s heart. He just burst forth praising and thanking God time and again.

“As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things” (2 Cor.6:10).

“Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body’s sake, which is the church” (Col.1:24).

“That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ: whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory: receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls” (1 Pt.1:7-9).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing: then said they among the heathen, The LORD hath done great things for them” (Ps.126:2).

4. The strong faith of the Thessalonian believers stirred Paul to pray for their fellowship and growth in Christ. Paul longed to be with them so that he could continue to share and grow them in Christ. He wanted to build them up and perfect whatever weaknesses they might have. What a pastoral heart! The heart to always proclaim and teach Christ until we are all perfected into the image of Christ.

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:2).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors, and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith” (1 Th.3:10).

THE MODEL CHURCH, 1:1-3:13

F. The Model Church: A Strong Love, 3:11-13

(3:11-13) Introduction: the greatest virtue in the world is love. This is the one possession that man must have if he is to have an abundant life. Without love man is nothing. Paul knew this; therefore, he went before God and prayed that the Thessalonian church and its believers might grow in love more and more. The model church will be a church that has a strong love.

1. Paul's great prayer (v.11).
2. The great need: love (v.12).
3. The great result of love (v.13).

1 (3:11) Prayer—Jesus Christ, Deity: this is Paul's great prayer for the Thessalonian church and its believers.

1. Note to whom Paul prays. This is a power-packed point. Paul prays to both God and Christ, and in so doing, he reveals who God is and who Christ is.

a. Paul prays to God Himself: the Supreme and Majestic Being of the universe, the Supreme Intelligence, the Creator and Maker of all things, the Giver and Sustainer of life and of everything else, the Person who dwells everywhere in perfect and supreme power, knowledge, and being.

Note that this is the picture of God that some men think about when they think of God. They think of a God who is in the heavens—in outer space someplace—a God who rules and reigns but is somewhat removed and not too interested in man. The point is this: Paul reveals that God is what some men think: supreme, majestic, ruling and reigning. But note the next point: God is more, much more.

b. Paul prays to God our Father. God is a Father to us, intimately involved in our lives. He is not just in outer space ruling and reigning and being far removed from us. God our Father is right here with us; He is actively participating in our lives just as an earthly father participates in the lives of his children. Therefore Paul, as a child, approaches God our Father and asks Him for certain things; and when he asks, he knows that his Father will hear and answer. He knows because God is not only able to answer, but God is his Father.

c. Paul prays to our Lord Jesus Christ. He prays...

- to our Lord, the Supreme Majestic Ruler of the universe who has existed eternally in heaven and who loves us enough to become our Lord.
- to our Lord Jesus, the Lord from heaven who loved us enough to come to earth in the person of Jesus, the Jewish carpenter from Nazareth.
- to our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord Jesus who was the promised Messiah and Savior of the world. (The word "Christ" means Messiah and Savior.)

The point is this: Paul revealed that God Himself is our Father and that Jesus Christ Himself is the Lord God from heaven—that both the Father and the Son have the nature of God; therefore, both have co-existed eternally. For this reason, Paul prayed both to God our Father and to our Lord Jesus Christ.

2. Paul asked the Father and the Lord Jesus to direct and guide his way to the Thessalonians. He wanted both God and the Lord Jesus working to open the door for him to return to the dear believers at Thessalonica. Remember: Satan had created some terrible problems and obstacles to keep Paul from returning to the church (1 Th.2:18; 3:7). But he longed to return; therefore, he wanted both the Father and Son working on the matter. Hence, he addressed the request to both.

2 (3:12) Love: the great need for which Paul prayed is the supreme need of every believer—the need for love, to grow in love more and more.

- ⇒ The word "increase" (pleonasai) means to abound, to multiply over and over.
- ⇒ The word "abound" (perisseusai) means to excel and overflow (Amplified New Testament).

As stated, the great need is to grow in love—to abound and multiply—to excel and overflow in love. But note the crucial point: the love being spoken about is not what the world means by love. This is seen in two significant points.

1. The love that we must grow in is the love that makes us love all men, not just one another. Note the verse: "The Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men." The love we are to have is the love that reaches out and overflows and multiplies toward everyone. This means...

- | | | |
|--------------------|-----------------|-------------------------|
| • the unattractive | • the unclean | • the poor |
| • the orphan | • the homeless | • the unclothed |
| • the sick | • the prisoner | • the widow and widower |
| • the hateful | • the diseased | • the sinner |
| • the enemy | • the spiteful | • the opponent |
| • the murderer | • the oppressor | • the dictator |

How in the world can we love some of these people? How can we abound in love for them? How is it possible to love those who do evil to us and who treat us as enemies? Is it even practical to ask us to love all men? Is it even humanly possible? No! It is not possible for us to love those who hate us and who stand as enemies against us—not humanly possible. But there is a way. However, there is only one way. This is the subject of the next point.

2. The source of love is the Lord. There is no other source, not for the kind of love that can love all men. This is the reason Paul went before the Lord and requested such a love. Paul knew that it was impossible for him or the Thessalonians to work up the kind of love that could reach out and abound toward all men. A love that could love those who ignore, neglect, abuse, and shamefully treat us could only come from God. Note this: there are four kinds of love, the last of which is agape love, the very love of God Himself. It is this love that enables us to love all men. Agape love—the love that loves all men—is the kind of love that is to flood our hearts and lives—the kind of love that is to flow out toward every person no matter who they are (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).

“And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (Ro.12:9).

“Let brotherly love continue” (Heb.13:1).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the Scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God” (1 Jn.4:7).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:12) Love: the kind of love which the believer is to have for all people is agape love, the great love of God Himself. (See note 4, Love—Jn.21:17 for more discussion.) The meaning of agape love is more clearly seen by contrasting it with the various kinds of love. There are essentially four kinds of love. Whereas the English language has only one word for love to describe all the affectionate experiences of men, the Greek language had a different word to describe each kind of love or affectionate experience.

1. There is passionate love or eros love. This is the physical love between sexes; the patriotic love of a person for his nation; the ambition of a person for power, wealth, or fame. Briefly stated, eros love is the base love of a man that arises from his own inner passion. Sometimes eros love is focused upon good and other times it is focused upon bad. It should be noted that eros love is never used in the New Testament.

2. There is affectionate love or storge love. This is the kind of love that exists between parent and child and between loyal citizens and a trustworthy ruler. Storge love is also not used in the New Testament.

3. There is an endearing love or phileo love. Phileo love is the love of a husband and wife for each other, of a brother for a brother, of a friend for the dearest of friends. It is the love that cherishes, that holds someone or something ever so dear to one's heart.

4. There is selfless and sacrificial love or agape love. Agape love is the love of the mind, of the reason, of the will. It is the love that goes so far...

- that it loves a person even if he does not deserve to be loved.
- that it actually loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Note four significant points about agape love.

- a. Selfless or agape love is the love of God, the very love possessed by God Himself. It is the love demonstrated in the cross of Christ.
 - ⇒ It is the love of God for the ungodly.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

- ⇒ It is the love of God for unworthy sinners.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

- ⇒ It is the love of God for undeserving enemies.

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

- b. Selfless or agape love is a gift of God. It can be experienced only if a person knows God personally—only if a person has received the love of God into his heart and life. Agape love has to be shed abroad (poured out, flooded, spread about) by the Spirit of God within the heart of a person.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

c. Selfless or agape love is the greatest thing in all of life according to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:29-31).

d. Selfless or agape love is the greatest possession and gift in human life according to the Scripture (1 Cor.13:1-13).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

3 (3:13) Love—Stablish: the great result of love is to be presented unblameable before God when Christ returns to earth. This is the most glorious result imaginable. Note several striking facts.

1. The word “stablish” (sterixai) means to prop, support, confirm, fix, make fast, set. Note: it is the Lord Jesus Christ Himself who stablishes our hearts before God. No one else has the right or power to set us before God; no one else can make us acceptable to God. (Note: the word heart here refers to the whole person or personality of man.)

2. The word “unblameable” (amemptous) means to be free from fault and blame; to be free from all charges (Vine). The word “holiness” (hagiosune) means to be set apart and separated to God. It is the Lord Jesus Christ who can make our hearts unblameable in holiness before God. He alone can free us from the faults and charges of sin; He alone can present us unblameable and holy before God. Just think about it: Who else has such power? Do you know such a person? The thinking and honest person has to answer no. And to be honest, if Christ does not have the righteousness and power to present us unblameable before God, then we are hopelessly doomed. Why? Because He is the only Person who has ever risen from the dead to never die again and to live eternally with God. If He is not our Savior, then we shall die and never arise, never live with God. Man’s only hope is Christ—that He truthfully has the righteousness and power to set us unblameable and holy before God.

3. When is this glorious presentation to God going to take place? When Christ returns with all His saints, that is, with all the “holy and glorified people of God” (Vincent). When Christ returns, He will present all believers—every single one of us—to God:

- ⇒ all the believers who have died and gone to be with the Lord.
- ⇒ all the believers who are raptured when He returns.

What a coronation, the glorious day of our presentation before God—meeting Him face to face and being presented to Him unblameable and holy—to be with Him forever and ever! “The coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” will take place! It is the promise of God Himself and therefore it cannot be stopped! And no man should want to stop it. On the contrary, all men should prepare and welcome it. (See outline and notes—1 Th.4:13-5:3 for more discussion.)

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

DIVISION II

THE MODEL WALK OR LIFE, 4:1-12

A. A Walk that Pleases God (Part I): A Life of Purity, 4:1-8

(4:1-8) Introduction: this begins a major new discussion in First Thessalonians—the model walk or life of the believer. The model believer walks to please God. What does this mean? It means that he lives as God tells him to live, that he keeps God's commandments. Six commandments in particular are covered, one in this passage and five in the next passage. But note where the emphasis is: it is on this passage, the passage where moral purity is discussed. Why is more emphasis given to the commandment on morality than to the others? The answer is obvious. Immorality is the rampaging monster that destroys more lives, families, and nations than any other single evil. What God has to say is strong, and it must be heeded by all.

1. The earnest but tender exhortation (v.1-2).
2. The commandment: God's will is your sanctification (v.3-5).
3. The reasons for purity (v.6-8).

1 (4:1-2) Believer's Walk: the earnest but tender exhortation—walk to please God, and do so more and more. The Christian life is often described as a walk. Walking is a picture of moving forward and progressing step by step and day by day. It pictures the utter necessity of pleasing God every step of the day as we walk throughout life. God is interested in every step we take. And He is going to judge us on the basis of how we live and walk. Therefore, the primary concern of our lives must be to please God.

- ⇒ If we please God, we will be accepted by God.
- ⇒ If we do not please God, we will not be accepted by God.

This alone shows the utter necessity of pleasing God. We must please Him if we wish to be accepted by Him. A person is foolish not to want to be accepted by God, for to be rejected by God leads to the worst consequences that can be imagined: rejection by God Himself. Note how tender, yet strong this exhortation is.

1. The tenderness is seen in the words "beseech" and "brothers." By calling believers "brothers," Paul was expressing deep affection and care for them. The word "beseech" (erotomen) means to ask or request. But note: it always has a sense of urgency about it. Paul was tenderly requesting his dear brothers to continue to please God in their daily walk, but it was an urgent request. Their walking to please God was an absolute necessity, a necessity that carried with it great blessings for obedience and terrible judgment for disobedience (the displeasure of God).

2. The strength of the exhortation is seen in the following facts.
 - a. The believers had been taught how they must walk and please God. They had sat under the teachers and preachers of the Word; therefore, they were without excuse, for they knew exactly how to live and to please God. The word "ought" (dei) means must; it is an imperative, a necessity. Once the believers had heard and been taught how they should live and please God, they were responsible to live that way. Pleasing God was not an option; it was a duty.
 - b. The exhortation was based upon the Lord Jesus. It was what the Lord Himself had taught. There is no greater authority than the Lord. He is the supreme majestic Being of the universe; therefore, the exhortation to live and walk to please God is of the highest authority.
 - c. The exhortation involves the actual commandments of the Lord Jesus. This is a repeat of verse one: keeping the commandments of the Lord Jesus is not an option. A commandment is a commandment, a law that is to be obeyed. In addition, it has been given by the Lord Himself. Therefore, it must be kept—regardless. We must walk and please God, and we must grow in our Christian walk day by day more and more.

2 (4:3-5) Immortality—Sanctification—Fornication: the major commandment is sanctification, that is, moral purity. It can be stated no clearer: “This is the will of God.” There is no higher will than the will of God. When the will of God is known, then the will of God must be done. Sanctification—moral purity—is the will of God. The word sanctification means to be set apart and separated. We are to be set apart to God and His will, and His will is moral purity. Therefore, we are to be set apart to live pure lives before God. This means three things.

1. Sanctification means abstaining from fornication. The word “fornication” (porneias) means all kinds of immoral sexual acts: adultery, pre-marital sex, homosexuality, and all forms of sexual deviation.

The believer is not to give his body to an immoral person, not to an harlot or to an immoral neighbor. The believer’s body belongs to Christ, which means that we are to honor Christ with our bodies. We are to take the sexual drive and energy of our bodies and use them as He has instructed:

⇒ either we dedicate our bodies solely to Him as eunuchs;

⇒ or we marry and build a family with the dynamic virtues of love and care, trust and loyalty.

2. Sanctification means that a person knows how to control his body and his spouse. Leon Morris points out that the word “vessel” (skeuos) can refer either to a person’s own body or to a person’s spouse (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.75). Both hold great meaning for the Christian believer. A believer is to know how to control his own body and how to control his spouse. A person can neglect, ignore, and abuse his body and a person can neglect, ignore, and abuse his or her spouse. In discussing a person’s spouse it is important to note 1 Cor.7:4-5. Neglecting, ignoring, or abusing one’s spouse can bring about temptation and can contribute significantly to the spouse becoming unfaithful and impure.

Note that the believer is to know, to possess his or her body and spouse in sanctification and honor (the word “how” is not in the Greek text). There is no excuse for ignorance in this matter nor for disobedience. The believer is to know...

- beyond a shadow of a doubt
- without equivocation
- without question

...that it is his duty to keep his body and spouse pure.

The point is strong: it is unthinkable that a believer would engage in fornication, that he would bring dishonor to his Lord and to his spouse, family, and himself. The believing husband and wife are to know that they must keep themselves and each other in sanctification and honor. They must not set themselves apart to dishonorable and immoral neighbors nor to harlots.

“I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness” (Ro.6:19).

“Let the husband render unto the wife due benevolence: and likewise also the wife unto the husband. The wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not power of his own body, but the wife. Defraud ye not one the other, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency” (1 Cor.7:3-5).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

3. Sanctification means resisting the passion of lust. We must resist the passion of lust. Note the double emphasis, that is, the wording, “the lust of concupiscence.” It means the passion of lust, the enslaving power of lust. When a person begins to lust, he can soon become enslaved to lust; he can be held by the grip of lust to such a degree that it is almost impossible to break the bondage. This is true with the...

- passion for sex
- passion for pornographic films and literature
- passion for manipulation
- passion for exposure
- passion for sexual conquest
- passion for looking
- passion for touching
- passion for romantic and immoral reading

The passion of lust is the way of the world. It is not the way of God. It is the life-style of those who do not know God. This does not mean that they do not know that sexual immorality is wrong. It means that they have rejected God and His commandments; they have chosen to live in the passion of their lusts. The believer is commanded to please God and to keep the commandments of the Lord Jesus. And the major commandment is our sanctification, that is, moral purity. Therefore, we are to abstain from fornication—from all forms of immoral sex (cp. Ro.1:18-32).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet [fitting]” (Ro.1:27).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate [homosexuals], nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

“And lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and that I shall bewail many which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness and fornication and lasciviousness which they have committed” (2 Cor.12:21).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....[but] they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

3 (4:6-8) Immorality—Fornication—Adultery: there are four reasons why we are to live pure lives, and the reasons stand as a severe warning to us.

1. Immorality defrauds and cheats a brother. Fornication steals from a person. It either takes a wife from her husband or else it takes the husband from his wife. It is that simple—that tragic—that terrible. It steals one of the two major partners of a family, steals...

- their heart
- their affection
- their thoughts
- their purity
- their body
- their innocence
- their trust & trustworthiness

And the terrible tragedy is that none of these can ever be recovered—not completely, not fully. Once the heart, affection, thoughts, purity, body, innocence, and trust have been lost, they are lost and affected forever thereafter. The marriage and its bond of trust are gone forever. The pain and hurt always linger to some degree and the commitment and ability to totally surrender to the spouse always suffers to some degree. This is the reason God allows divorce after fornication has been committed within marriage. (Note: God allows divorce; He does not command it. All parties involved in fornication—no matter the situation—should stay together if the injured spouse can bear the pain long enough to recover and build strength.)

Note this: the same effects take place upon the unmarried when they commit fornication. The person who seduces the unmarried steals from the person seduced and from the future spouse—steals the person’s heart, affection, thoughts, purity, body, innocence, and trust.

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:9-10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor’s” (Ex.20:17).

2. Immorality shall be revenged by God. This point needs to be heeded, especially in a promiscuous society like ours where immorality is not only accepted, but is encouraged. How can we dare say that immorality is accepted and encouraged in our society? Compare the emphasis and appeal of...

- dress in public and on the beach
- television and films
- books and magazines
- advertisements and promotions
- conversations and jokes
- suggestive words and actions that are acceptable today

The list could go on and on, but the point is this: God is going to judge immoral behavior no matter how much society accepts it. Society does not make the rules for man’s behavior; God makes the rules. He has given the intimacy and preciousness of sex for marriage and only for marriage. And He has made it perfectly clear that any sex outside of marriage will not only be judged, but He will personally avenge the guilty party. Why? Because the guilty party...

- stole the life of a person.

- broke the person's trust and innocence for the rest of his or her life.

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:8).

“For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries. He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses: of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace? For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people. It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God” (Heb.10:26-31).

“Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge” (Heb.13:4).

“For their vine is of the vine of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorrah: their grapes are grapes of gall, their clusters are bitter: their wine is the poison of dragons, and the cruel venom of asps. Is not this laid up in store with me, and sealed up among my treasures? To me belongeth vengeance, and recompense; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste” (Dt.32:32-35).

“O Lord God, to whom vengeance belongeth; O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, show thyself” (Ps.94:1).

“And I will execute great vengeance upon them with furious rebukes; and they shall know that I am the LORD, when I shall lay my vengeance upon them” (Ezk.25:17).

“And I will execute vengeance in anger and fury upon the heathen, such as they have not heard” (Mic.5:15).

3. Immorality is not God's call; holiness is. When God calls us to salvation, He does not call us to live unclean lives, giving us the license to go from person to person. Such immorality...

- destroys genuine love for self and for others.
- destroys trust and trustworthiness of self and of others.
- destroys discipline and control of self and of others.
- destroys true care and concern for self and for others.
- destroys ego and esteem of self and of others.
- destroys confidence and assurance in self and in others.
- destroys loyalty and commitment within self and within others.
- destroys freedom and will within self and within others.
- destroys justice and fair treatment of others.
- destroys family and nation.

God would never call a person to do such terrible things. God calls us to holiness—to live lives that are set apart to Him and to purity, to our spouses and families. God calls us to build strong character and communities, strong families and nations. God calls us to holiness so that we can be strong enough to reach out to a world that reels under the awful weight of suffering and death. There is hope; there is salvation from evil and suffering and from death and judgment. But we must be sanctified and holy, totally set apart to building the strongest characters and families, communities and societies possible in order to reach the world.

Again, God does not call us to uncleanness and disintegration of character and society. God calls us to holiness.

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

4. Immorality is a sin against God. The word “despiseth” means to reject. Most persons reject this commandment of God as being old fashioned and unacceptable in an intellectual and enlightened society. But note what Scripture says: the person who rejects this commandment is rejecting God, not some man. The idea is that the preacher or teacher may be able to do little to us if we disregard the commandment. But God can take vengeance, and He will. Every human being who breaks the commandment shall receive the vengeance of God—unless he has repented and sought the forgiveness of God.

1 THESSALONIANS 4:1-8

“Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children: which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray” (2 Pt.2:14-15).

“They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us” (1 Jn.2:19).

“Because I have called, and ye refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded; but ye have set at nought all my counsel, and would none of my reproof: I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your fear cometh” (Pr.1:24-26).

Note this also: God has given believers the Holy Spirit. The very presence of God in all His majesty dwells within our bodies. We must not, therefore, dirty our bodies with a harlot or some immoral and destructive neighbor. The majesty of God Himself must not be defiled. The Holy Spirit—He who is holy—is within us. We must, therefore, keep our bodies holy.

DIVISION II

THE MODEL WALK OR LIFE, 4:1-12

B. A Walk that Pleases God (Part II): Four Practical Duties, 4:9-12

(4:9-12) Introduction: every believer should be ambitious to please God. This passage gives four very practical ways that we can please God, four practical duties that must be obeyed.

1. Grow in love more and more (v.9-10).
2. Study to be quiet (v.11).
3. Do your own business (v.11).
4. Work with your own hands (v.11-12).

(4:9-12) Another Outline: A Strong Duty to Work.

1. The basis of work: Love (v.9).
 - a. God Himself teaches love.
 - b. The church shows great love—to brothers (v.10).
 - c. The need: To grow more.
2. The rules for work (v.11).
 - a. Be ambitious—to be quiet.
 - b. Mind your own business.
 - c. Work with your own hands.
3. The reasons for work (v.12).
 - a. That we may live honorably before the world.
 - b. That we may lack nothing.

1 (4:9-10) Love, Brotherly—Church: first, grow in love more and more. In the Greek the word “love” is not the word that is usually used for love. The word that is usually used for Christian love is agape, but the word used here is philadelphia, a very special kind of love. The word means brotherly love, the very special love that exists between the brothers and sisters within a loving family, brothers and sisters who truly cherish each other. It is the kind of love...

- that binds each other together as a family, as a brotherly clan.
- that binds each in an unbreakable union.
- that holds each other ever so deeply within the heart.
- that knows deep affection for each other.
- that nourishes and nurtures each other.
- that shows concern and looks after the welfare of each other.
- that joins hands with each other in a common purpose under one father (Leon Morris, The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.80).

Note: Paul says there is no need for him to exhort the Thessalonians to love each other as brothers. Nevertheless, he does. Why? If there is no need, why does he encourage them to love each other? There are two reasons.

1. It was God who taught the Thessalonians to love each other. Therefore, as God’s servant, Paul was driven to follow God; to stir the people of God to continue to love each other as brothers. This was and still is an absolute essential for the church.

- a. Christian believers need each other in order to make it through life. Living for Christ is not easy in a corrupt world that offers the bright lights of pleasure but ends up in suffering death. We all face temptation after temptation and trial after trial. We need the love of each other in order to stand against the temptation and to walk through the sufferings of life.
- b. The greatest threat to the church is that of internal strife and divisiveness. Nothing destroys the ministry of a church any quicker than criticism, grumbling, murmuring, gossiping, selfishness, cliquishness, and ambitiousness to have one’s own way or to secure some position.

The point is this: God actually teaches believers to love each other as brothers. This means that God works within our hearts and stirs us to love each other. God arouses the thought within our minds—flashes the thought across our minds—the thought that we should love each other as brothers. Therefore, we are to grab hold of that thought and of the stirring within our hearts and love each other.

2. There is always the need to grow in love more and more. Note: the Thessalonian believers were noted for their love, not only within their own church, but throughout the whole district or state of Macedonia. But they were not yet perfected in love. No person is; therefore, there is always the need to grow and abound in love more and more. There is never too much brotherly love within the church or the world. We must, therefore, grow more and more in love.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35; cp. Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another” (Gal.5:13).

“And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins” (1 Pt.4:8; cp. 1 Pt.1:22).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

“And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also” (1 Jn.4:21).

2 (4:11) Quiet—Quietness: second, study to be quiet. The word “study” (philotimeomai) means to be ambitious; to strive eagerly; to seek with all the energy a person has. The very meaning of the word study shows the supreme importance of quietness. We must seek to be quiet and learn to be quiet. Remember the church at Thessalonica was facing two critical problems.

1. It was facing the problem of persecution (1 Th.1:6; 2:14). Fellow workers, neighbors, and the public at large were ridiculing, mocking, and abusing the believers because of their faith and commitment to Christ. Most of the believers were standing fast against the persecution, but some misunderstood how they were to show their loyalty to Christ. When a believer is rejected or persecuted, Christ says that he is to quietly shake the dust of the place off his feet, turn, and walk away (Mt.10:14; Mk.6:4). Note: the whole thrust of the Lord’s teaching in handling rejection and persecution is quietness, to leave the rejecters alone. But apparently, some of the Thessalonian believers were doing the very opposite: they were standing toe to toe with their neighbors and fellow workers and continuing to witness and proclaim the gospel. They were going too far and creating a noisy scene and embarrassing people.

2. The church was also facing the problem of some criticism and divisiveness against Paul. Some were accusing Paul of everything ranging from immoral conduct to deceitful and self-seeking preaching (1 Th.2:3f).

The point is this: we are to live a quiet and peaceable life before each other. We are not to be critical and divisive toward each other. We are to walk in a quiet and meek spirit out in the world. We are not to be abusive and arrogant in witnessing and in dealing with the world.

Thought 1. Note four thought provoking points.

- 1) A believer who is hurting needs to be heard, and the only way he can be heard is for us to be quiet and listen to him.
- 2) The world is hurting—everyone in the world has some hurt. Therefore, we must be quiet and listen for the hurt so that we can do what Christ said: minister to them.
- 3) The world needs the gospel, but the gospel cannot be effectively proclaimed in the midst of noise—not effectively and not in an appealing way. Noise pierces the ear and distracts. There must be quietness of atmosphere and mind for the gospel to have its most effective impact.
- 4) Believers must study to be quiet instead of studying to be critical and divisive—study to be quiet at home, school, work, play, and church.

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you” (1 Th.4:11).

“Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread” (2 Th.3:12).

“[Pray] for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty” (1 Tim.2:2).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

“Better is a dry morsel, and quietness therewith, than a house full of sacrifices with strife” (Pr.17:1).

“Better is a handful with quietness, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of spirit” (Eccl.4:6).

3 (4:11) Believer, Duty: third, do your own business; that is, mind your own business. Can you believe the Word of God says this? God actually tells us to mind our own business. Why? Because too many are busybodies and meddle in the affairs of others. What is it that causes a person to meddle in the business of others?

- ⇒ A person meddles because he is critical by nature. Through the years the person has criticized and murmured and talked about others so much that to meddle is just a way a life for him. The person has become a busybody by nature.
- ⇒ A person meddles because he fails to see his own shortcomings and failures. The busybody is always looking for the splinters (faults) in the lives of others when he has a beam in own life (Mt.7:3-5).
- ⇒ A person meddles because he fails to look after his own affairs like he should. A person should always be developing and enlarging his own life and affairs. Therefore, when he meddles in the affairs of others, he is neglecting his own business and the work God has given him to do.

⇒ A person meddles because he does not have enough to do. He has not committed himself to God—not enough to keep himself busy. He does not have enough to occupy his time and efforts.

What the busybody needs is to commit his life to Christ. The busybody needs to commit his life to undertake the mission of Christ. He needs to become so occupied with the things of Christ that he has no time to meddle in the affairs of others. The exhortation is strong: “do your own business”—commit your time and energy to your own calling, the business God has given you to do.

“And to esteem them very highly in love for their work’s sake. And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:13).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

4 (4:11-12) Work—Employment: fourth, work with your own hands. The message of the gospel and of Christ’s return to earth is a shocking message. The gospel declares...

- that a man can live forever.
- that Jesus Christ is coming back to earth to make a new heavens and earth that will be perfect.
- that all who truly believe in Christ will be the citizens of the new heavens and earth, worshipping and serving God the Father forever and ever.

As stated, the gospel is shocking to the world, but it offers great hope to the person who believes. The Thessalonian believers became excited over the return of the Lord and the promise of being with Him forever and ever in the new heavens and earth. They became so excited that they began to sacrifice all they could to meet the needs of people. But some went too far. Some quit their jobs in order to have more time to minister and, in an act of sacrificial commitment, they gave away all they had. The result was catastrophic. They were now having to sponge off the other believers in order to survive. Their action had been most unwise. Therefore, Paul commanded them: “work with your own hands”—quit sponging off others. Two reasons are given for labor.

1. We must labor in order to walk honestly before outsiders, that is, before the world of unbelievers. The word “honestly” means to work in a commendable and respectful way. Few in the world respect those who do not work. Of all people, Christians must set a dynamic example of work. One of the very purposes for which man has been put on earth is to work.

- a. Man is to work to subdue and gain dominion over the earth in all its unregulated and catastrophic forces.

“And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth” (Gen.1:28).

- b. Man is to work to provide the necessities of life for all men.

“And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it” (Gen.2:15).

- c. Man is to work in order to have enough to give to the needy of the world.

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

2. We must labor in order to have enough to meet the necessities of life. As believers we are never to lack anything—not a single thing that we need. We have two remarkable things providing for us:

- ⇒ our own mind and energy.
- ⇒ God Himself.

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

Thought 1. The exhortation is clear. God has no patience with people who do not work. All persons are placed on earth to contribute and to help meet the catastrophic and desperate needs of men. There is no place for the inactive in God’s plan for the earth. The inactive, lazy, complacent—all are to hear the clear command of God: “Work with your own hands.”

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you” (1 Th.4:11).

“Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread” (2 Th.3:12).

“And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it” (Gen.2:15; cp. Gen.3:19).

“Six days shall work be done: but the seventh day is the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation; ye shall do no work therein: it is the sabbath of the LORD in all your dwellings” (Lev.23:3).

“Wealth gotten by vanity shall be diminished: but he that gathereth by labour shall increase” (Pr.13:11; cp. Pr.14:23).

(4:13-5:3) Introduction: this passage begins a new subject, a subject that intrigues people and offers the most glorious hope to man and his world. The subject is the return of Jesus Christ to earth and the resurrection of the dead. It is a subject that men must study and heed, for the return of the Lord will not only bring blessings to believers, it will launch the most terrifying judgment upon unbelievers.

1. The concern: Will believers be resurrected when Christ returns? (v.13).
2. The fact: departed believers will return with Christ (v.14-15).
3. The events of the Lord's return (v.16-18).
4. The time of the Lord's return and of the Day of the Lord (ch.5:1-3).

1 (4:13) Resurrection, Of Believers: the concern of the believers at Thessalonica involved dead believers. Would their loved ones who had died share in the resurrection when Christ returned to earth? Remember: the church at Thessalonica had just been founded; it was brand new. It was also being bitterly persecuted and was under savage attack. Some of the believers were dying; perhaps some were even being martyred and Christ had not yet returned. They were eagerly looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of Jesus Christ. Would believers be resurrected when Christ returned? The Thessalonian believers knew the gospel just as we know it: the gospel proclaims that Jesus Christ is returning to earth to receive believers unto Himself. When He returns to earth, we know...

- that living believers will be lifted up to meet Christ in the air.
- that all the glory, majesty, dominion, and power of God will be displayed in the heavens in the most spectacular scene imaginable.
- that the most glorious union and fellowship among living believers will take place around Christ.
- that believers who are lifted up will experience the most wonderful transformation and be given bodies that are perfected forever.
- that the world of unbelievers who are left here on earth will witness the most spectacular event ever seen by man.

But what about our loved ones who have already died? What will happen to them? Will they have a part in the spectacular return of Jesus Christ to earth? Will they have the privilege of sharing in the majestic display of God's power and in the glorious reunion of living believers with Christ? And how about their bodies? We know that our bodies—the bodies of believers who are living when Christ returns—will be transformed. They will never lie in the ground and decay and deteriorate. But what about the bodies of our loved ones who have already decayed and in some cases are scattered over the world due to war, disease, accident, and having been maimed? Are they going to share in the glorious resurrection and transformation when Christ returns?

All kinds of concerns about the resurrection arose in the minds of the Thessalonian believers just as they do in the minds of believers in every generation. Note that the word concern is being used instead of questions. The Thessalonians were concerned over their loved ones who had died, not curious. They were asking questions about the resurrection and the Lord's return out of concern, not out of curiosity. Unfortunately, this is not the case with many persons: they want to know about the end time out of curiosity, not out of concern. The very fact that Christ is returning should arouse the most urgent concern in us just as it did with the Thessalonian believers. Paul says two striking things to those who are concerned over the resurrection of dead believers when Christ returns.

First, do not be ignorant about the resurrection. Study and grasp what God teaches and be comforted and challenged in the glorious hope He gives.

Second, do not grieve excessively over loved ones who die before Christ returns. We are bound to experience some sorrow and grief, but we are not to suffer grief like unbelievers who have no hope. They have reason to suffer the most terrible sorrow and grief, but not us. We have hope. William Barclay shows just how hopeless the world of unbelievers is by quoting several ancient writers:

"Once a man dies there is no resurrection" (Aeschylus).

"There is hope for those who are alive, but those who have died are without hope" (Theocritus).

"When once our brief light sets, there is one perpetual night through which we must sleep" (Catullus)

"I was not; I became; I am not; I care not" (an ancient tombstone).

*"Irene to Taonnophris and Philo, good comfort. I was as sorry and wept over the departed one as I wept for Didymas. And all things whatsoever were fitting, I did....But nevertheless against such things one can do nothing. Therefore, comfort one another" (an ancient letter). (William Barclay. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.235f.)*

There is absolutely no hope for the unbelievers of the world. But there is glorious hope for the believer. Therefore, we are not to grieve excessively at the death of loved ones. There is no need, for they shall arise to meet the great God and our Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the glorious message of Christ's followers.

2 (4:14-15) Resurrection of Believers: the fact is forcefully declared—departed believers will return with Christ. There are three proofs of this great fact given.

1. Proof one: departed believers are with Christ; they are living with Him face to face.
 - a. Note the words "with Him"—God will bring departed believers with Him when He returns. They are with Him now. This is exactly what Scripture teaches.

"And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise" (Lk.23:43).

"Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: (for we walk by faith, not by sight:) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord” (2 Cor.5:6-8).

“For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better” (Ph.1:23).

The point is this: departed believers are with the Lord, living face to face with Him. We do not have to wonder where they are. When they died, they went immediately to be with the Lord in paradise or heaven, and they shall never be separated from the Lord. Therefore, when He returns to earth, He will bring all departed believers with Him.

- b. The words “sleep in Jesus”—it is those who sleep in Jesus that God will bring with Him when He returns to earth. The word “sleep” is not teaching that death is a semi-conscious state, an existence somewhat like a deep sleep. As has already been shown, the believer immediately goes to be with Christ when he departs from this world. “Sleep” is simply a soft word used by believers to describe their departure from this world. It is a picture of resting from the trials and sufferings of this world. The person who believes in Jesus Christ while on this earth simply “sleeps [rests] with Jesus” throughout eternity. It is these persons—all the believers who sleep or rest in Jesus—whom God will bring with Him when He returns to earth. (See Deeper Study # 1, Sleep—Jn.11:13 for more discussion.)

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

- c. Jesus Christ is identified as God. It is God—God in the person of Jesus Christ—who will return to earth and bring departed believers with Him. Christ has the power of God because He is God. As God, Jesus Christ...
- had the power to come to earth as a man.
 - had the power to die and arise from the dead.
 - had the power to ascend back into heaven.
 - has the power to transfer a departed believer into heaven with Him.
 - has the power to return to earth.
 - has the power to bring all departed believers back to earth with Him.

2. Proof two: the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ proves that departed believers will return to earth with God. Jesus Christ came to earth to die and bear the punishment of sin for man and to arise from the dead. Therefore, if we believe in Jesus Christ...

- we never have to die because He has already died for us.
- we shall arise from the dead even as He arose.

How? By believing that Jesus Christ did die and arise from the dead for us. If we believe in Jesus Christ, then when we depart this world, we go to be with him; and when He returns, we shall return with Him.

The point is striking: the fact that Jesus Christ died and arose is the proof that departed believers are living with Him and will return with Him when He comes back to earth. Our hope—the glorious hope of the believer—is based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. There is no greater basis in all the world, for Jesus Christ really did die and arise from the dead. There is no question about it, not for the genuine believer, for God has given us the witness of His Spirit. Therefore, after we have departed from this earth, we will return with Christ when He comes back to earth.

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

3. Proof three: the Word of the Lord proves that departed believers will return to earth with God. Their bodies will actually be raised from the dead before we are caught up. This is a strong point. Paul emphatically states that this revelation has come from the Lord. Therefore, believers should want no greater assurance. What is the revelation? We who are alive when the Lord returns shall not be caught up first. The bodies of all departed believers will be resurrected first. Again, how do we know this? How do we know that this is a fact, a real event that will actually take place? By the Word of the Lord. The Lord Jesus Christ, God Himself, declared it.

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

3 (4:16-18) Jesus Christ, Return—Resurrection of Believers: the events of the Lord’s return and of the resurrection are clearly spelled out in these verses.

1 THESSALONIANS 4:13-5:3

1. First, the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven. The very first event will be the appearance of the Lord God Himself. The supreme Majesty of the universe, the Lord Jesus Christ, will rent the skies and miraculously appear in all the spectacular glory, pomp, and power of heaven itself. When He appears, three spectacular events will occur.
 - a. The Lord God Himself will appear “with a shout” (en keleusmati). The word means a military command. The commander-in-chief of the universe will shout louder than any voice has ever shouted—shout even as He did when He was upon earth: “[Believers] come forth” (Jn.11:43).
 - b. The voice of the archangel will cry out. What will He cry? His shout will probably be the rallying cry for all the armies of the heavenly angels to join in the praise of the glorious event. Christ taught that the heavenly angels would be with Him when He returned to earth (Mt.24:31; 25:31; 2 Th.1:7).
 - c. The trump of God shall sound. The trumpet has always been for the purpose of arousing attention and warning. The whole universe—both earth and heaven, believers, unbelievers, and angels—will be aroused; and all unbelievers will be warned. The Lord God Himself is now appearing and the events of the end time are now being launched upon earth.
2. Second, the dead in Christ shall rise first. Why will dead believers be the first to be caught up to meet the Lord? Because of the Lord’s great love and care. The first expression of love and care will be shown to those dear saints who have passed through the shadow of death. It is the very nature of Christ to show tenderness and love to those who suffer the most; therefore, they who have suffered the awful fate of death shall be the first to meet the Lord in the air. Now, note several facts.
 - a. Only departed believers will arise; no unbeliever will be resurrected, not at this point. Only those who are “dead in Christ”—who died believing in Jesus Christ—will be resurrected when the Lord rents the skies.
 - b. It will be the bodies of the departed believers that are resurrected. The believers themselves, that is, their spirits, are already with the Lord. Their bodies are being raised and transformed to live forever with God. The shout of the Lord to “come forth” will call together all the atoms of a person’s body, no matter where the various parts of a person’s body may lie. The atoms of a person’s body will be transformed to structure an eternal and perfect body.
 - c. The bodies of the departed believers will arise first—arise before we who are alive are caught up.
3. Third, we who are alive will be caught up right after the dead have risen. There will be a glorious transformation of our bodies just as there will be of those whose bodies have decayed in the earth. The change will be as Scripture declares: the infusion of a totally new nature.

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:53).

- a. The nature of the believer’s present body is corruptible and mortal; the nature of his new body will be incorruptible and immortal.
 - ⇒ The “corruptible and “mortal” nature means that men are earthly; that they age, deteriorate, die, decay, and decompose. Every person, no matter who he is, is earthly and will return to the earth unless Jesus returns while the person is living on the earth.
 - ⇒ The “incorruptible” and “immortal” nature means that believers will be made heavenly, that they will be transformed and given a perfect nature that will never age, deteriorate, die, decay, or decompose. They will be completely free from defilement and depravity. They will be given a body that is perfect, a body that is diametrically opposed to their present body, a body that is perfected forever to live with God in the new heavens and earth. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.21:1; 1 Cor.15:42-44.)
- b. Note the word “must” in 1 Cor.15:53. It shows the absolute necessity for the change of man’s body. If man is to live with God, his body must be changed. It is essential, a must, an absolute necessity if man is to live forever.

“Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection” (Lk.20:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

“To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life” (Ro.2:7).

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:53).

“For we know that, if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:17).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

4. Fourth, the great union of the living with the dead will take place. Note the emphatic declaration: we “shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord.” We shall be reunited with all our loved ones, and even more wonderful, all believers—our loved ones and those whom we have never known—shall all be united together with our wonderful Lord. We shall all be there together rejoicing in the presence of Him who has saved us and transformed us into perfect and eternal beings. What a day of reunion and rejoicing that will be!

5. The experience of living face to face with the Lord begins. We shall be caught up and “so shall we ever be with the Lord.” As wonderful as the reunion of believers will be, the most wonderful event will be seeing our Lord face to face for the very first time. What will our first thoughts be? Our first reaction? Everything will take place in the blinking of an eye. Suddenly...

- we will be standing in mid-air and transformed into perfect men and women.
- we will be standing in the clouds in the midst of teeming millions.
- we will be transformed in the midst of the spectacular glory and majesty, dominion and power of the Lord God Himself.

Is there any question what our first thoughts and response will be? The great reunion with family and believers will not be the occupation of our thoughts. Christ will be! The Lord God Himself in all His majestic glory and sovereignty will consume our attention and praise. We will be lifting up His name in the most perfect hymn of praise and adoration ever arranged. Jesus Christ Himself will be the total focus of our attention.

6. The present exhortation: comfort one another with these words. God does not reveal the events of the end time to satisfy curiosity. He tells us about the glorious events so that we can prepare and comfort one another. There is no need for discouragement on this earth; no need for extreme sorrow and grief; no need for hopelessness; and no need for ignorance. The Lord Himself has given us the most wonderful hope—the hope of living forever face to face with Him—of worshipping and serving Him forever in a new heavens and earth.

“Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection” (Lk.20:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:4).

4 (5:1-3) Jesus Christ, Return—Day of the Lord—Resurrection of Believers: the time of the Lord’s return and the day of the Lord. Paul wants to make it perfectly clear that he does not know when the Lord is returning to earth, nor does anyone else. Note five points.

1. When is the Lord returning? This is a fact that should not have to be discussed. Paul had already taught the believers that no one knows when the Lord is returning to earth; only God knows. Therefore, there is absolutely no need to discuss “the times and the seasons.” This is strong, but a strong statement is needed with those who set dates. Note the meaning of “times” and “seasons.”

⇒ “Times” (chronon) means chronological time, the events that follow one another and roll in and away from one another. Paul had already covered the times, the order of events that were to happen in the end time.

⇒ “Seasons” (kairon) means the particular time and the nature of the events that are to take place. Paul had already covered the critical events and discussed what would be happening in the events.

Thought 1. Note a crucial point: times and seasons are periods of time that cover many years for men—years that can extend into decades and centuries. This is exactly what Paul is saying: “the times” of the end time extend over a long chronological time; but “the seasons,” the very nature and happening of critical periods, can be looked at and observed. When dealing with end time events, we must always keep this fact in mind.

Thought 2. Once a believer has studied the times and seasons of the end time, that is, the great spectacular periods of coming events and the particular happenings of the events, he knows that only God could know when He is returning. There are just too many intricate details, ramifications, and weaving of events in the happenings of history for any man to know when the fulness of time is to arrive. Only God could know when the intricate details of events have been fulfilled. Only God could know when He is to return.

2. When is the Lord returning? When “the day of the Lord” is ready to come upon the earth. This is exactly what Paul is saying. And when is “the day of the Lord”? No man knows. It is coming as a thief in the night—suddenly and unexpectedly. Believers are to be looking for the Lord’s return, but unbelievers will be caught completely off guard. To say that unbelievers will be surprised is an understatement. They will be shocked and stand in stark terror at the appearance of Christ and at the judgments that will begin to fall upon earth.

Note: “the day of the Lord” refers to the Lord’s dealings with unbelievers. John Walvoord puts it in simple and striking words:

“The Day of the Lord is a period of time in which God will deal with wicked men directly and dramatically in fearful judgment. Today a man may be a blasphemer of God, an atheist, can denounce God and teach bad doctrine. Seemingly God does nothing about it. But the day designated in Scripture as ‘the day of the Lord’ is coming when God will punish human sin, and He will deal in wrath and in judgment with a Christ-rejecting world. One thing we are sure of, that God in His own way will bring every soul into judgment” (The Thessalonian Epistles, p.76).

That day, the day when God will bring every soul into judgment, is what the Bible calls “the day of the Lord.” When is Christ returning? When the earth has reached such a depraved condition that it is hopelessly lost forever and ripe for the judgments of “the day of the Lord.”

“Behold, the day of the LORD cometh, cruel both with wrath and fierce anger, to lay the land desolate: and he shall destroy the sinners thereof out of it. For the stars of heaven and the constellations thereof shall not give their light: the sun shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moon shall not cause her light to shine. And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogance of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible” (Is.13:9-11).

“The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man shall cry there bitterly. That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness, a day of the trumpet and alarm against the fenced cities, and against the high towers” (Zeph.1:14-16).

“For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them us, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch” (Mal.4:1).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him. These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, having men’s persons in admiration because of advantage” (Jude 14-16).

3. The day of the Lord will come when the world of unbelievers feel a great sense of security—when they are saying, “peace and safety.” Some leaders throughout the world or some world organization will cooperate and be able to achieve some semblance of peace and security throughout the world. People will be revelling in the security and living it up even as they did in the days of Noah.

“And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed” (Lk.17:26-30).

4. The day of the Lord will be a day of catastrophic destruction. When the world is crying out for peace and safety, a terrible destruction will be lying right over the horizon. Suddenly, out of nowhere, the great and terrible day of the Lord will fall upon the world and the unbelievers of the world. Note the term “sudden destruction”: it will be totally unexpected. It will be just like the travail that suddenly strikes a woman who is with child. The pain, suffering, and destruction will be relentless.

“Howl ye; for the day of the LORD is at hand; it shall come as a destruction from the Almighty. Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every man’s heart shall melt: and they shall be afraid: pangs and sorrows shall take hold of them; they shall be in pain as a woman that travaileth: they shall be amazed one at another; their faces shall be as flames” (Is.13:6-8).

“Alas for the day! for the day of the LORD is at hand, and as a destruction from the Almighty shall it come” (Joel 1:15).

“And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and the terrible day of the LORD come” (Joel 2:30-31).

“The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man shall cry there bitterly. That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of clouds and thick darkness, a day of the trumpet and alarm against the fenced cities, and against the high towers. And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walk like blind men, because they have sinned against the LORD: and their blood shall be poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dung. Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to deliver them in the days of the LORD’S wrath; but the whole land shall be devoured by the fire of his jealousy: for he shall make even a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land” (Zeph.1:14-18).

5. The day of the Lord will be a day of no escape. “They shall not escape” (ou me ekphugosin). This is a double negative in the Greek: they shall not, by no means, escape. Judgment and destruction are an absolute surety; they shall not, in no wise, escape. All human beings who have not truly trusted Jesus Christ will face the terrible day of the lord.

“And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God” (Ro.2:3).

“For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:3).

“How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:3).

“See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven” (Heb.12:25).

“Therefore thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon them, which they shall not be able to escape; and though they shall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them” (Jer.11:11).

“Woe unto you that desire the day of the LORD! to what end is it for you? the day of the LORD is darkness, and not light. As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him” (Amos 5:18-19).

“Though they dig into hell, thence shall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down” (Amos 9:2).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST, 4:13-5:24

B. The Lord's Return and the Believer's Behavior, 5:4-11

(5:4-11) Introduction: the return of Jesus Christ is to be the most phenomenal event in all of human history. It will be the most amazing and spectacular event ever to be witnessed by the eyes of man. Its importance cannot be overstressed, for when Christ returns, both the blessing and the judgment of God will fall upon the earth. Genuine believers will be blessed and unbelievers will suffer the wrath of God. Because of this, how a believer behaves while he is on earth matters greatly to God. This passage deals with the all important subject of the Lord's return and the believer's behavior.

1. He is not to be overtaken by the Lord's return (v.4-5).
2. He is not to be spiritually asleep or unwatchful (v.6-7).
3. He is to be sober and to protect himself (v.8-10).
4. He is to minister (v.11).

1 (5:4-5) Believers, Nature—Jesus Christ, Return—Day of the Lord: the believer is not in darkness; therefore, that day should not surprise him. That day refers back to the Day of the Lord—that great and terrible day of God's wrath, the awful judgment of God which is to fall upon the earth and unbelievers. Note the word "overtake" (katalambano). It means to come upon or take hold of by surprise. The day of the Lord is not to take the believer by surprise, not to come upon him like a thief, unexpectedly. There are three strong reasons why the believer is not to be caught off guard by the Day of the Lord.

1. The believer is not in darkness.
 - a. The believer is not in the darkness of ignorance. He knows that the terrible day of God's judgment is coming. He has studied and been taught the Word of God. Both the preachers and teachers of God's Word have been faithful in warning the world: the Day of the Lord is coming upon the world. All must give an account of their rebellion against God and their selfish hoarding against the desperate of the world. No true believer is ignorant of the truth; no true believer dwells in the darkness of ignorance. If he is a true believer, he knows that God's judgment is to fall upon men; he knows that the Day of the Lord is coming. Therefore, he is to be anticipating it. He is not to be caught by surprise when it comes.
 - b. The believer is not in the darkness of sin. He does not roam around in the world living in sin. His mind and thoughts are not consumed with the things of this world. He is not blinded by the glitter and power of possessions nor by the passions and pleasures of the flesh. The believer does not walk throughout the day with his thoughts glued to this earth, seldom if ever thinking about God. He is not in the darkness of sin, feeling that God is way off in outer space someplace and unconcerned with what happens on this earth. The believer is not separated from God and ignorant about God and His ways. His life is centered in God and his thoughts are always upon God. He knows God personally and intimately. Therefore, he knows that God is holy and just as well as loving. He knows that God must judge the unbelievers of the world.
2. The believer is a child of light (Greek, son). This simply means that the believer is a child of God, for God is light (1 Jn.1:5). The believer possesses the very nature of God, which is light. He knows God; therefore, he is not to be caught off guard nor surprised when the Lord comes and judges the world.
3. The believer is a child of the day. This is a wonderful truth. It means that the believer will escape the judgment of God. He is a child who is accepted by God; therefore, he will be accepted in that day of the Lord's return. He will not have to face the terrible day of the Lord and suffer the judgment of God's wrath. He is a child of the day, of God's glorious salvation and deliverance. Therefore, the believer should be looking for the Lord's return and the day of the Lord's wrath. He should not be walking in darkness with his mind and thoughts upon the world. He should be walking about, always praying and thinking about the things of God and the utter necessity to reach people for Christ, for the great and terrible day of the Lord is coming. It is right over the horizon, ever so near.

"Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid" (Mt.5:14).

“While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of light. These things spake Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them” (Jn.12:36).

“For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, I have set thee to be a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the ends of the earth” (Acts 13:47).

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness” (1 Th.5:5).

“So let all thine enemies perish, O LORD: but let them that love him be as the sun when he goeth forth in his might” (Judg.5:31).

2 (5:6-7) Believers, Duty: the believer is not to sleep, but to watch and be sober. Sleep refers to spiritual sleep. When a person is asleep, he is not alert nor involved in what is going on around him. When a believer is spiritually asleep, he is not alert nor involved in the things of God. His mind and behavior are not concerned with the things of God. He slumbers, dozes, and sleeps. A person who is spiritually asleep is not alert nor aware of what God is doing. Therefore, he will be caught off guard when the Lord returns.

But note: the believer is not to sleep. He is to watch and be sober.

⇒ To watch means to be alert and on guard to live for Christ. Remember: Christ may rent the skies any moment and return to earth; therefore, we must be watching every moment of every day.

⇒ To be sober means to be rigid in discipline and control for Christ; to live a strict life of righteousness and godliness, ever looking for the return of the Lord.

Note two tragic facts about some believers—facts that should never happen to genuine believers.

1. Some do sleep. The word “others” refers to the unbelievers of the world (1 Th.4:13). But note: this exhortation is being given to believers. Therefore, some believers have a desperate need to heed this warning. They have fallen asleep spiritually. They are...

- no longer alert to the things of God.
- no longer alive to God, thinking and keeping their thoughts upon God.
- no longer worshipping God, praying and fellowshiping with God and His people.
- no longer anticipating the return of Christ.
- no longer active for God, serving and working for God.

Tragically, they are asleep. They are not watching nor living sober lives. Discipline and control in righteousness and godliness are the furthest things from their minds.

2. Some are identified with the night and with evil behavior. This is exactly what Scripture is saying. The person who sleeps sleeps in the night, and the person who gets drunk gets drunk in the night. Nighttime is usually the time when people sleep and become involved in sin. Therefore, if a believer carouses around with those who are of the night, he is identifying himself with the sinners of the world.

⇒ If a believer carouses around with the sleepers of the world—those who are asleep to the things of God—then he is identified with the sleeping unbelievers of the world.

⇒ If a believer carouses around with the drunken of the world—those who are indulgent, lustful, worldly, and fleshly—then he is identified with the drunken unbelievers of the world.

There is no other way to tell about a person. If he carouses around in the darkness of the night, then he shows himself to be of the night. If he walks around in the day, then he shows himself to be of the day.

“Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh” (Mt.25:13).

“Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them” (Lk.12:37).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober” (1 Th.5:5-6).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame” (Rev.16:15).

3 (5:8-10) Believers, Duty: the believer is to be sober and to protect himself. The believer is to be sober; that is, he must be mentally awake, alert, and watchful, and he must protect himself. He must make sure that he stays spiritually sober and well protected.

1. How can the believer stay sober and protect himself? By putting on the armour of God. What is the armour of God?

a. There is the breastplate of faith and love. The breastplate protected the heart of the soldier. The heart of the believer must be protected. His heart must be committed and focused upon Jesus Christ and His cause for world conquest. It is the breastplate of faith and love that will protect our heart and keep it focused upon Christ and His cause.

⇒ Faith protects our heart: when we really believe that Jesus Christ saves us from sin and death and delivers us from the judgment of God—when we really believe in Jesus Christ—then we focus our lives upon Jesus Christ. We stay sober: we live righteously and godly in this present world and look for the glorious appearing of the great God and Savior, Jesus Christ. Our faith in Christ keeps us sober.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

⇒ Love protects our hearts: when we really see the love of Christ for us—that He actually bore our sins and punishment on the cross—then we break before Him and bow in humble adoration and love. Love floods us, for He did so much for us. We never have to die; we never have to bear the punishment of sin—all because He loved us. Therefore, our hearts reach out to Him broken and pouring love back to Him. We stay sober: we live righteously and godly and look for His return because we love Him. Our love keeps us sober.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that , while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead; and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

- b. There is the helmet of the Christian soldier, the hope of salvation. There is only one way we can be prepared for the return of Christ and escape the judgment of God: we must keep our minds and lives focused upon Christ. How can we do this? By protecting our minds with the helmet of God’s armour, the hope of salvation. We are to focus our minds upon the hope of salvation. We are to eat, drink, and sleep salvation—the great hope God has given. If we focus our lives upon salvation—if we live and move and have our being in the great hope God has given of living forever with Him—then we will stay sober. We will live a righteous life for Christ, and we will be eagerly waiting for the return of Christ. Our hope of salvation keeps us sober.

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:2-3).

2. Why is the believer to stay sober and protect himself? There are two significant reasons.
- a. God has not appointed us to wrath, but to salvation. The only way to escape the wrath of God is to stay sober and focused upon Jesus Christ. When God saved us, he appointed us to receive salvation from sin, death, and judgment to come. He did not appoint us to death and wrath. Therefore, there is no excuse for a believer to fall asleep and return to the world of darkness. A person who is not sober will suffer the wrath of God.

“For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:17-19).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:3-6).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

- b. Christ died for us. Note the words wake or sleep: they mean alive or departed. When Christ returns, whether we are still alive on the earth or departed, we shall live together with Him forever and ever. This is why He died, the very reason He went to the cross: that we might have the glorious privilege of living together with Him throughout all eternity.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

- 4 (5:11) Believers, Duty: the believer is to minister by comforting and edifying others. God has delivered us from the wrath to come and given us the glorious hope of living face to face with Him forever. Therefore, we are not to sleep, but we are to be sober, awake, alert, and watchful for that glorious day.

⇒ We are to “comfort” (parakaleite) each other: exhort, encourage, and admonish each other.

“Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God” (Is.40:1).

“Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:18).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

⇒ We are to “edify” (oikodomeite) each other: strengthen and build each other up.

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:2).

“Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers” (Eph.4:29).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST, 4:13-5:24

C. The Lord's Return and Behavior in the Church, 5:12-28

(5:12-28) Introduction: the behavior of man needs to be changed. There is one thing that will change it as much as anything else: seeing and grasping the Lord's return to earth. If a person really believes that Jesus Christ is returning to earth, it will radically change his life.

1. Behavior toward the leaders of the church (v.12-13).
2. Behavior toward the church family (v.14-15).
3. Behavior toward God—personal behavior (v.15-22).
4. The results of proper behavior (v.23-24).
5. The final exhortations for behavior (v.25-28).

1 (5:12-13) Leaders—Church—Believers: first, the believers' behavior toward church leaders. Note the word "labor" (kopiontas). It means to labor to the point of exhaustion, then to keep on laboring; to continue laboring even if one has become weary; to arduously labor; to toil to the point of weariness; to work beyond what one is capable of doing. The point is forceful, and it should convict the heart of God's servant:

- ⇒ The minister of God is to arduously labor for his Lord.
- ⇒ The minister of God is to toil and toil for the church.
- ⇒ The minister is to labor to the point of exhaustion in ministering to people.

This is the work of the ministry; this is the demand made upon the minister's time and energy. His whole mind, body, and soul belong to the Lord and are to be poured out into the lives of God's dear people, into both the believers and the unbelievers of the world.

Now, note the three exhortations of these two verses.

1. Believers are to know the leaders of their church. The word "know" (eidenai) means to acknowledge, appreciate, respect, and know the value of. Few people labor as much as a committed church leader.
 - a. Take, for example, the committed minister. Compare his work with any other professional. How much time would some other professional take away from his regular duties...
 - if he had to speak for thirty or more minutes at a conference this week?
 - if he had to speak two or three times at the conference to the same people?
 - if he had to speak every week—two or three times—to the same people; that is, he could never use the same speech?
 - if he had to attend several committee meetings at the conference every week?
 - if he had to visit everyone at the conference when they went into the hospital?
 - if he had to visit all the family members and the close relatives of the conference members when they went into the hospital?
 - if he had to counsel all the conference members and their family members when they had a serious problem?

1 THESSALONIANS 5:12-28

- if he had to conduct all the funerals of the conference members and their families?
- if he had to conduct all the weddings of the daughters of the conference members?
- if he was expected to visit in the homes of most, if not all, of the conference members?
- if he was expected to visit all the newcomers and prospective members within the community of the conference?

The list could go on and on. But while the professional is doing all this, he still has to manage the administration of his business (the church itself).

- b. Take, for example, the committed teacher of the Lord. The committed teacher works all day at some job either in the home or out at some secular job. Then when he or she gets home, think of the time spent...
- in studying and preparing the lesson.
 - in praying.
 - in telephoning class members.
 - in visiting class members: at home and in the hospital.
 - in counseling and ministering to class members.
 - in fellowshiping and growing class members one on one and in groups (at meals, study groups, and at social functions).

For the committed teacher, the hours are endless, and just think, the committed teacher does this every week.

The same could be said about any church leader who is genuinely committed to the Lord and takes his or her calling seriously. The leader's service to the church and ministry is above and beyond their work week at secular jobs and their duties to civic affairs. True, they live for Christ wherever they are—at work and at civic functions. But their commitment goes beyond that: the church leader has been called by God...

- to teach, edify, and build up the church and its believers.
- to equip himself to be a dynamic witness for the Lord and to reach out to save the lost.
- to organize and minister to the desperate needs of the poor and hurting.

The point is this: believers are to know their leaders—acknowledge, appreciate, and respect them. They deserve it.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ's sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me” (Ro.15:30).

“That ye submit yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth” (1 Cor.16:16).

“And my temptation which was in my flesh ye despised not, nor rejected; but received me as an angel of God, even as Christ Jesus” (Gal.4:14).

“And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you” (1 Th.5:12).

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine” (1 Tim.5:17).

“Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation” (Heb.13:7).

2. Believers are to highly esteem their leaders. Several significant things are said here.
- a. Leaders are to be highly esteemed.
 - b. Leaders are to be highly esteemed in love: with affection, held ever so dear to a believer's heart.
 - c. Leaders are to be highly esteemed for their work's sake, that is, because of the work they do. They are ministers of the Lord and they serve Christ and the church and its believers. Believers owe much to them because of their sacrificial service. Therefore, believers are to highly esteem them.

“Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness; and hold such in reputation” (Ph.2:29).

“And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you; and to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:12-13).

“And it came to pass, when Moses went out into the tabernacle, that all the people rose up, and stood every man at his tent door, and looked after Moses, until he was gone in the tabernacle” (Ex.33:8).

3. Believers and leaders are to be at peace among themselves. Note: this exhortation is given to the leader as well as to the believer or follower. Believers are not to criticize, murmur, grumble, envy, or oppose their leaders. Differ, yes, but not oppose—unless, of course, he is acting contrary to Scripture or to the love of God's Spirit.

Leaders are not to act as lords over God's people, nor are they to lead for the sake of seeking position, boosting ego, securing recognition, receiving honor, or making a livelihood. A leader who leads for these reasons cannot feed the people of God. He does not have the presence and blessing of God which are necessary to feed the flock of God. Therefore, such leaders cause a restlessness and dissatisfaction among God's people.

The exhortation is for believers to be at peace among themselves. Both leader and people are to be totally committed to Christ, doing exactly what God has called them to do. When both are so serving, then they are at peace with each other.

“For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints” (1 Cor.14:33).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“I beseech Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of the same mind in the Lord” (Ph.4:2).

“And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:13).

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

2 (5:14-15) Believers—Church: second, the believers’ behavior toward the church family. A list of exhortations is given to all believers in these two verses—exhortations that tell us how to behave toward the whole church family.

1. Warn the unruly (ataktous): “those who are out of line—the loafers, the disorderly, and the unruly” (The Amplified New Testament). The word unruly is a military term that referred to the soldier who broke rank and did not stand in his place. Too many believers are not where they belong. (They belong in the ranks of the Lord and of the church: fellowshipping with the Lord and fellow believers; serving the Lord and ministering to believers; helping to reach the lost and ministering to the poor and needy.) But they are out in the world doing their own thing, fulfilling their own desires and lusts.

The unruly must be warned and admonished. They are treading on thin ice. They are damaging their own souls and hurting others through their unruly testimony. The Lord will not tolerate such unruly behavior. The implication is that He will judge all unruly behavior.

“And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another” (Ro.15:14).

“I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved sons I warn you” (1 Cor.4:14).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly” (1 Th.5:14).

“If any man obey not our word by this epistle [the Word of God], note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed. Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother” (2 Th.3:14-15).

“A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

2. Comfort the feeble-minded (oligopsuchos): the faint-hearted, timid, reserved, dispirited; those who lack courage and are cowardly; those who are easily discouraged and dissatisfied; those who fear difficult situations. The picture is that of a person who hesitates to serve or witness; a person who fails to live for Christ because of being faint-hearted. We must not rebuke or despise them, but instead comfort, encourage, and assure them.

“But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid” (Mt.14:27).

“And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid” (Mt.17:7).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“So that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow” (2 Cor.2:7).

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might” (Eph.6:10).

“Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:18).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feeble-minded” (1 Th.5:14).

“Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.2:1).

3. Support the weak: the spiritually weak; those who yield so easily to temptation; those who are so easily burdened, discouraged, defeated, and led astray. These need to be supported (antechesthe). The word means to cling and hold to. The weak need us clinging to them and holding them up. They need our support.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Him that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations [criticizing]” (Ro.14:1).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

4. Be patient (makrothumeo) toward all persons. Leon Morris points out that being patient is the opposite of being short-tempered. It is being consistently patient, being very patient with people (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians).

“Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.101). We must bear and forbear; we must suffer a long, long time with persons, no matter the situation.

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“But let patience have here perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

5. Look after every believer: see that no believer renders evil for evil to any person. Note: it is understood that throughout life some people will do evil against everyone of us. This verse clearly states that we are responsible for each other and responsible for how we respond to evil. We are to be looking after each other: see to it that none of us retaliates or mistreats those who mistreat us.

⇒ If we mistreat an unbeliever, we lose all chance of reaching him for Christ.

⇒ If we mistreat another believer, we lose all chance of reaching him and growing him in Christ.

When we mistreat a person, our testimony with that person is ruined. We lose our opportunity to minister to that person. Note the exhortation: “ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men.” Always following that which is good is the only way we can ever reach and grow others, believers and unbelievers.

“But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also” (Mt.5:39).

“Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men” (Ro.12:17).

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself: I am the Lord” (Lev.19:18).

“Say not thou, I will recompense evil; but wait on the Lord, and he shall save thee” (Pr.20:22).

“Say not, I will do so to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work” (Pr.24:29).

3 (5:15-22) Believers, Duty: third, the believers’ behavior toward God. Seven strong exhortations are to govern our behavior toward God.

1. Rejoice always; rejoice evermore: God has saved us, and He looks after and cares for us. If we love God, God promises that He will take all the circumstances that attack us and work them out for good (Ro.8:28). And on top of this, He has given us eternal life, the glorious privilege of living face to face with Him and serving Him forever and ever. The believer who knows and keeps his mind upon these glorious facts can do nothing but rejoice.

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice” (Ph.4:4).

“Rejoice evermore” (1 Th.5:16).

“And there ye shall eat before the LORD your God, and ye shall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, ye and your households, wherein the LORD thy God hath blessed thee” (Dt.12:7).

“But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them: let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee” (Ps.5:11).

“Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, ye righteous: and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart” (Ps.32:11).

“Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem: behold, thy King cometh unto thee: he is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass” (Zech.9:9).

2. Pray always—without ceasing. Prayer is God’s ordained way for man to receive things from Him. God moves, acts, and responds to prayer. Prayer is a law that He has established throughout the universe. Why? Because prayer stirs fellowship and communion with God and brings about a greater knowledge and understanding of God. It causes a person to learn more and more about God and stirs more and more trust as well as worship and praise of God. Prayer stirs and causes every good thing imaginable between God and man. This is the reason God destined prayer as the primary way man is to communicate with Him. This is the reason for this exhortation. Therefore, pray without ceasing; continue and persevere in prayer: in your daily worship and quiet times and as you walk throughout the day.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

3. Give thanks in all things. How can we thank God for terrible trials such as accidents and death and sin? We don’t; this is not what Scripture means. What God means is to thank Him for His presence and power as we walk through such trials. In Christ Jesus there is victory and triumph over all, no matter how terrible. Therefore, in everything (not for everything)—as we walk through all—thank God for the victory He has given us through Christ.

Note the statement, “this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.” What is the will of God? All three exhortations that have just been given:

⇒ that we rejoice evermore.

⇒ that we pray without ceasing.

⇒ that we give thanks in everything.

“Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Eph.5:20).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:6).

“And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him” (Col.3:17).

“In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you” (1 Th.5:18).

“For every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received with thanksgiving” (1 Tim.4:4).

“Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High” (Ps.50:14).

“It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High” (Ps.92:1).

“Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people” (1 Chron.16:8).

4. Do not suppress the Spirit—do not quench the Spirit (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Th.5:19 for discussion).

5. Do not despise prophesyings. Prophecy is the gift of proclaiming the gospel and of predicting the future under the influence of the Holy Spirit. Both proclamation and prediction are included in the gift. Note the exhortation: a person is not to minimize or despise the gift despite the abuse of the gift by some. (See notes, pt.6—1 Cor.12:8-10, especially see DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.14:3 for more discussion.)

“But he that prophesieth speaketh unto me to edification, and exhortation, and comfort” (1 Cor.14:3).

“Despise not prophesyings” (1 Th.5:20).

6. Prove all things; hold fast to what proves to be good. The word “prove” (dokimazete) means to test and to prove. Both the gifts and behavior of believers are to be tested. If a person claims to prophesy—whether proclaiming the gospel or predicting some event to strengthen believers for some coming trial—all should be tested. We are not to blindly accept what people say, even if it is the preacher or servant of God. Neither are we to blindly accept people themselves. Every person—what he says and does—is to be tested and proven. How? By measuring what he says and does by the Scripture. But note: the Scriptures must be studied in order to measure what people say and do. The only way to know truth from error is to know the Scripture.

“Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord” (Eph.5:10).

“Prove all things; hold fast that which is good” (1 Th.5:21).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world” (1 Jn.4:1).

“I have set thee for a tower and a fortress among my people, that thou mayest know and try their way” (Jer.6:27).

Now, note the exhortation: when a person or a truth is proven, hold it fast. Hold fast to all that is good. Do not let a good person go: learn from him. Do not let a good doctrine or exhortation go: hang on to it, live and practice it, and teach it to others.

“Prove all things; hold fast that which is good” (1 Th.5:21).

“But Christ as a son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end” (Heb.3:6).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession” (Heb.4:14).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

1 THESSALONIANS 5:12-28

“Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee. Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy” (Rev.3:3-4).

7. Abstain from all appearance of evil: note closely what this exhortation says. It does not just say to abstain from evil, but to abstain from the very appearance of evil.

- ⇒ If something even appears or borders on evil, get away from it.
- ⇒ If there is any chance whatsoever that it could be wrong, leave it alone.
- ⇒ If there is even a suggestion that it could be wrong, flee it.

A believer must have nothing, absolutely nothing, to do with evil—not even the appearance of it.

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Abstain from all appearance of evil” (1 Th.5:22).

“Let him eschew [turn away from, shun] evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it” (1 Pt.3:11).

“And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding” (Job 28:28).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“Ye that love the LORD, hate evil: he preserveth the souls of his saints; he delivereth them out of the hand of the wicked” (Ps.97:10).

“Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil” (Pr.4:27).

“A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil: but the fool rageth, and is confident” (Pr.14:16).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:19) Holy Spirit—Sin: this is one of the four major sins against the Holy Spirit.

1. Quenching the Spirit (1 Th.5:19). To quench means to stifle, to snuff out, to stop. The Holy Spirit is always working in the life of the believer to lead him to do God’s will. The believer quenches the Spirit’s work by (a) ignoring Him, (b) neglecting Him, (c) disobeying Him, or by simply (d) procrastinating. Note the context above. The command to “quench not the Spirit” is surrounded by a series of positive commands.

2. Grieving the Spirit (Eph.4:30). To grieve means to pain, to vex, to sadden. The Holy Spirit is pure, holy, and righteous. The believer grieves the Spirit when he...

- allows impure things to penetrate his life.
- behaves immorally.
- acts unjustly.
- allows or participates in anything contrary to the nature of the Spirit.

Note the context. The command to “grieve not the Spirit” is surrounded by a series of negative commands.

3. Blasphemy against the Spirit (see note—Mt.12:31; 12:33).
4. Lying to the Holy Spirit (see note—Acts 5:3-4).

4 (5:23-24) Believers, Duty: the results of proper behavior. If a believer will behave properly—if a person will follow the exhortations given in this passage—he will experience four things.

1. The believer experiences the presence of the God of peace: peace means to be bound, joined, and weaved together. Only God can bind, join, and weave a person together. Only God can bring peace to a person’s soul—the kind of peace that brings absolute assurance, confidence, and security to a person’s heart. And note: God possesses so much peace and is so ready to give peace that He is called the God of peace. (See note, Peace—1 Th.1:1 for more discussion.)

“Now the God of peace be with you all” (Ro.15:33).

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you” (Ro.16:20).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant” (Heb.13:20).

2. The believer experiences sanctification: the word sanctification means to be set apart and separated to God. The believer who follows the exhortations of this passage is greatly blessed by God: God takes the person and sets him apart unto Himself. The person is very special to God; therefore God gives him a special relationship with Himself. And note the word “wholly”: the believer is wholly set apart to God, under God’s special care, protection, and provision.

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master’s use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate” (Heb.13:12).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

3. The believer has his spirit, soul, and body preserved blameless in the day of judgment. This is the idea of the Greek text. The word “unto” (en) should be translated in. That is, in that day when the Lord returns, the believer will be preserved blameless. He will be acceptable to God and receive a full reward. Note the three parts of man spelled out: spirit, soul, and body. The idea is that the whole man will be preserved—his body and soul as well as his spirit. Believers are not to be some ghost-like figure or some formless spirit. They are to have their bodies and souls resurrected and preserved forever. The whole person—the whole spirit, soul, and body—will live eternally with God. But note: only if the believer follows the exhortations of the Scripture.

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unrepensible in his sight” (Col.1:22).

“To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:13).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

4. The believer experiences the assurance of God, the very faithfulness of God. God called the believer; therefore, God completes His work in the believer. The work of salvation is God’s work from beginning to end. If a person is not living for God, it is evidence that he is not really a true believer. But if a person is living for God by following the exhortation of Scripture, it is clear evidence that he is a true believer. He has truly been called of God. How do we know this? Because God is faithful. If God possesses a person, God continues to work in the person until the person is fully saved in the glorious day of redemption.

“Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it” (1 Th.5:24).

“But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil” (2 Th.3:3).

“If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself” (2 Tim.2:13).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“And I saw heaven opened and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war” (Rev.19:11).

5 (5:25-28) Believers, Duty: the final exhortation for behavior. This is the close of the First Epistle to the Thessalonians. The final words exhort us all when we apply them to ourselves.

1. Pray for ministers. Note that Paul does not say, “please” or “if you will.” He emphatically charges: “Brothers, pray for us.” All believers must pray for their ministers. And note: Paul says “us” not me—all of God’s chosen ministers are to be prayed for by believers. We must not omit a single minister; and the idea is that we must pray often, not just every day, but often every day. What an impact would be made upon the world if we obeyed this one charge.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me” (Ro.15:30).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints; and for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel” (Eph.6:18-19).

“Brethren, pray for us” (1 Th.5:25).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

2. Greet all Christian brothers, and greet them intimately with care. Just how the holy kiss took place is not really known today. But it was a common practice in the early church. It is generally thought that only men kissed men and that they kissed on the cheek, but again, the facts are not really known (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.109). The point is that affection and care are to be expressed between believers.

"Greet ye one another with a kiss of charity. Peace be with you all that are in Christ Jesus"
(1 Pt.5:14. Cp. Ro.16:16; 1 Cor.16:20; 2 Cor.13:12.)

3. Read this epistle to all believers. Why was it necessary for Paul to give this exhortation? Would the epistle not be read to the whole church when it gathered on Sunday? Were some believers bed-ridden and homebound? Was the church having to meet in several small groups in secret because of persecution? The answer is not known, but the lesson to us is clear. We must see to it that every believer studies this epistle as well as the rest of the Word of God. Every part of the Word is important and must be studied by all. No believer is to be left out whether bed-ridden or unable to attend services for any other reason.

Thought 1. What a challenge to churches! To provide ministries that will carry the Word of God out to those who are unable to worship and study at the regular service.

"These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so" (Acts 17:11).

"And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified" (Acts 20:32).

"Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord" (Col.3:16).

"Notwithstanding she shall be saved in childbearing, if they continue in faith and charity and holiness with sobriety" (1 Tim.2:15).

"And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory" (1 Tim.3:16).

"As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious" (1 Pt.2:2-3).

4. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ rest upon you (see note, Grace—1 Th.1:1 for discussion).

THESSALONIANS

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE THESSALONIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 50-52, soon after First Thessalonians.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: “To the church of the Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:1).

PURPOSE: Paul had two purposes for writing Second Thessalonians.

1. To assure believers that God uses persecution.
 - ⇒ He uses persecution to refine believers. Persecution refines believers by teaching them endurance, by teaching them to stand fast in a corruptible and dying world.
 - ⇒ He uses persecution to seal believers (2 Th.1:4-6). Persecution proves that a believer is genuine and is going to inherit future glory.
 - ⇒ He uses persecution to seal unbelievers (2 Th.1:4-6). Persecution seals the doom of persecutors.
2. To correct some false ideas about the Lord’s return.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Thessalonica. The great city was the capital and the largest city of Macedonia. (See Map—Introduction to Acts.) It had been founded by Cassander, the top military officer of Alexander the Great, after Alexander had died. Under the Romans the city had been made free because of its loyalty to Rome. As a free city it was allowed its own government and local laws, and at its height, the city reached a population of 200,000. The city had a natural harbor, but the primary factor contributing to the city’s greatness was that it lay right on the Roman road, the Egnatian Way. In fact, the great road ran right through Thessalonica. It was the main street of the city, stretching all the way from the Adriatic Sea to the Middle East. Trade and commerce bristled with all the accompanying vice that follows such a metropolitan center.

2. The Church of Thessalonica. It was a great day when Paul walked into the city of Thessalonica bringing the news of the glorious gospel. Because of the city’s strategic location and commercial importance, the gospel was bound to spread out beyond to the world rather rapidly. The great city of Thessalonica was the second great European city to be evangelized. Paul had just been evangelizing in Philippi when he entered Thessalonica. Paul preached in the synagogue for only three Sabbaths before he was forced by the Jews to leave the synagogue (Acts 17:2). Paul apparently moved into homes, preaching wherever he was allowed. He had so much success that the Jews eventually attacked and forced him to flee for his life. He took Silas and Timothy and proceeded to Berea for a brief ministry (Acts 17:10-14). But the Jews pursued him and he was forced to leave Berea for Athens (Acts 17:13f). However, he was able to leave Silas and Timothy behind to continue the ministry. While in Athens, he sent for Timothy, but dispatched him right back to Thessalonica (1 Th.3:2f). Paul himself went on to Corinth where he was soon joined by Silas and Timothy with good news from the Thessalonian church (Acts 18:5). His heart was so warmed by this report that he sat down and wrote the First Letter to the Thessalonians. Right after receiving the letter, the believers apparently responded to Paul, asking him some questions about the Lord’s return. These questions are what stirred the Second Letter to the Thessalonians.

The converts were mainly Gentiles, including a large number of devout Greeks and prestigious women. Many, especially women, were sick of the immoral society of that day. They had turned to Judaism because of its moral teachings, yet they sensed the bondage of its legalistic thrust and rejection of its national prejudices. Therefore, their hearts were ripe for the message of liberty and love preached by the gospel. The church at Thessalonica...

- was founded on Paul’s second missionary journey (Acts 17:1f).
- was revisited by Paul (1 Cor.16:5).
- included some Jews and a large number of Greeks and influential women (Acts 17:4; 2 Th.3:4, 7-8).
- did not support Paul. He worked at a secular job while there (1 Th.2:9); however, he did receive financial help from the church at Philippi (Ph.416).
- suffered persecution (1 Th.2:14).
- was well organized (1 Th.5:12).
- had several prominent believers known by name: Jason (Acts 17), Gaius (Acts 19:29), Aristarchus (Acts 19:29; 20:4), and Secundus (Acts 20:4).

3. Thessalonians is “An Early Epistle Written by the Apostle Paul.” It is one of the earliest New Testament writings.

4. Thessalonians is “An Early Epistle that Proclaims Christ to be Lord” (1 Th.1:1, 3, 6, 10; 2:15; 3:8, 11-13; 4:1-2, 13-18; 5:1-2, 9-10, 23, 28; cp. Acts 17:7).

5. Thessalonians is “An Epistle that Proclaims the Doctrine of the Second Coming” (1 Th.4:13f).

6. Thessalonians is “An Epistle of Great Encouragement for a Person Facing Persecution” (1 Th.1:6f; 2:2f; 2:14f; 3:3f).

7. Thessalonians is “An Epistle written to warn believers of the danger of sexual impurity” (1 Th.4:1-10).

8. Thessalonians is “An Epistle written to charge believers with the most practical rules of behavior” (1 Th.5:12-22).

9. Thessalonians is “An Epistle with a Great Evangelistic and Missionary Challenge” (1 Th.1:8-12; 2:12-13; 3:12-13; 4:1-12; 5:1f).

10. Thessalonians is “An Epistle written from the heart and soul of a committed minister.” Wycliffe Bible Commentary has a moving description of this point. (David A. Hubbard, First & Second Thessalonians. “The New Testament & Wycliffe Bible Commentary,” ed. by Charles F. Pfeiffer and Everett F. Harrison. Produced for Moody Monthly by the Iversen Associates, N.Y., 1971, p.803f.)

“In these letters Paul lays bare not so much his subject as his soul: Here the beat of the apostle’s warm heart is audible. He compares himself to a gentle nurse (1 Thess.2:7), a firm father (2:11), and a homeless orphan (in the Greek of 2:17). He shows himself ready to spend and be spent for the spreading of the Gospel. It is Paul, the man, who confronts us, gentle in his strength, loving in his exhortations, dauntless in his courage, guileless in his motives—a man (as Carl Sandburg said of Abraham Lincoln) ‘of steel and velvet, hard as rock and soft as drifting fog.’”

OUTLINE OF SECOND THESSALONIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Second Thessalonians have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Second Thessalonians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

DIVISION I

GREETING: THE PICTURE OF A MODEL CHURCH UNDER ATTACK & PERSECUTION 1:1-5

(1:1-5) Introduction: this passage is a clear picture of what it takes to make a church strong. A church never needs strength anymore than when it is under savage attack and persecution. The Thessalonian church was being fiercely persecuted, yet it was standing fast for Christ. The Thessalonian believers stand as a model church for all other churches: they are a picture of what a church should be when it is being attacked and persecuted.

1. The ministers are faithful to the church (v.1).
2. The believers have a firm foundation in God and Christ (v.1).
3. The believers know the grace and peace of God (v.2).
4. The believers have a faith that grows exceedingly (v.3).
5. The believers have a love that grows and overflows (v.3).
6. The believers have a strong endurance and faith in all their trials (v.4-5).

1 (1:1) Ministers—Church: the ministers are faithful to the church—no matter the circumstances. Ministers are always to be faithful to their churches, but there are times when ministers need to give special attention to their flock, special times when the flock of God needs to be strongly encouraged and exhorted to hold fast to Christ. The Thessalonian church was facing one of these times.

1. The church was being savagely attacked and persecuted by both the world and the religionists (see notes—1 Th.2:1-12). They were being...
 - ridiculed
 - ostracized
 - mocked
 - threatened
 - cursed
 - rejected

There is a chance that some had even been physically attacked, beaten, and martyred (see note—1 Th.4:13). Whatever the case, the point is this: the believers desperately needed the help of their ministers; they needed their encouragement and comfort.

2. The church was confused about the return of the Lord and the great day of the Lord, and about the awful day of His wrath. Apparently some had begun to feel that the tribulation—the terrible time of trouble that is to come upon the earth—had already begun. Some felt this because of the savage persecution they were suffering. There were other matters concerning the second coming that were misunderstood as well. In fact, there was great confusion in the church about the Lord's return. These will be covered in a later passage. For now, the point to see is how confused the believers were over the return of the Lord Jesus. They needed the help of their ministers; they needed to be taught the truth about the coming again of Jesus Christ.

Thought 1. When special needs arise among believers, the minister of God must give special attention to the flock of God. It is a very special duty of the minister to comfort and encourage his people when they...

- suffer persecution
- need to be taught
- suffer disease or accident
- face death
- need correction
- need reproof
- need counsel

The list could go on and on, but the point is clearly seen. The minister must give special attention and help to his people when they face special needs. A church can be a model (strong) church only if its ministers are faithful—especially faithful when its people are facing trying times.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said. It is more blessed to give then to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

2 (1:1) Church: the believers have a firm foundation in God and Christ (see note, Jesus Christ, Deity—1 Th.1:1 for discussion).

3 (1:2) Grace—Peace—Church: the believers know the grace and peace of God (see note, Grace—1 Th.1:1 for discussion).

4 (1:3) Father—Church: the believers have a faith that grows exceedingly. The word exceedingly (huperauxanei) means to grow beyond measure; to grow far beyond what would be expected. What a glorious testimony! Faith that just grows and grows more and more. Imagine a church full of believers whose faith in Christ Jesus grows explosively—beyond measure—beyond what we could ever imagine. And remember: the church was growing in faith while they were in the midst of savage persecution. This is the reason Paul says: “We are bound to thank God always for you.” The word “bound” (opheilomen) means compulsion and obligation. The church’s growing faith compelled Paul to thank God for the church—for their faith. Imagine how a minister’s heart would joy and rejoice over his people growing like the Thessalonian believers did.

What does it mean to have a growing faith? Faith in Christ simply means that a person believes in the Lord Jesus Christ; he trusts Christ to take care of his life...

- of his past life (sins and transgressions).
- of his present life (to provide the necessities, protection, deliverance, and guidance needed in life).
- of his future life (deliverance from death and judgment and the gift of eternal life).

A growing faith in Jesus Christ simply means that a person learns to trust and depend upon Christ more and more:

- ⇒ to provide for his daily necessities (Mt.6:33).
- ⇒ to deliver him through the trials and temptations of life (2 Th.2:4f).
- ⇒ to comfort him through the losses of life (2 Tim.4:18; 1 Pt.5:7; Ps.23:4).
- ⇒ to teach him the truth (2 Th.2:15; 3:3).
- ⇒ to guide and help him to hold fast to the teachings of Christ (2 Th.2:15; 3:4).
- ⇒ to strengthen him to walk a life that is separated from the world and totally dedicated to God (2 Th.3:3, 6-7).

Thought 1. A person who grows in faith is a person who learns to depend upon Christ more and more in every area of life—all the areas covered in the list above. What a glorious testimony to have a faith that grows exceedingly!

Thought 2. Too many believers have their minds upon growing and increasing in the comfort and possessions of this world. They think little, if any, about growing in faith. They are satisfied with just enough faith to salve their conscience. Growth in faith and Christ are of little concern to them.

“And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the selfsame hour” (Mt.8:13).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth” (Mk.9:23).

“And Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God. For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them” (Mk.11:22-24).

“For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world” (Heb.4:3).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering: for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed” (Jas.1:5-6).

“And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight” (1 Jn.3:22).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“Believe in the Lord your God, so shall ye be established; believe his prophets, so shall ye prosper” (2 Chron.20:20).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

“The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate” (Ps.34:22).

“Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed” (Ps.37:3).

“Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the Lord for ever: for in the lord JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:3-4).

5 (1:3) Love—Church: the believers have a love that abounds and overflows toward one another. Note: the love being spoken about is the love of believer for believer, not for the world. In the letter of 1 Thessalonians, Paul had exhorted the church to grow more and more in love for one another. They had needed the message because there was some tension in the church surrounding the Lord’s return. Paul’s exhortation had worked: the church had straightened out the differences and the differing parties were now walking hand in hand with one another, overflowing and growing in love for one another. This is the reason Paul thanks God for their overflowing love.

What does it mean to overflow with love for one another? An overflowing love is the kind of love...

- that binds individuals together as a family—as the family of God.
- that binds individuals in an unbreakable union.
- that holds individuals with the deepest affection.
- that nourishes and nurtures one another.
- that shows concern and looks after the welfare of one another.
- that always cherishes one another and comforts, supports, and encourages one another regardless of differences or circumstances.

This was the kind of love that the model church at Thessalonica had. This is what an abounding love is. This is the kind of love every single believer is to have for all other believers.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another” (Gal.5:13).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins” (1 Pt.4:8).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

“And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also” (1 Jn.4:21).

6 (1:4-5) Endurance—Church: the believers have a strong patience and faith in facing persecution and tribulation.

⇒ The word “patience” (hupomones) means to be steadfast, to endure, and to persevere. The Thessalonian believers endured and held fast to their faith in Christ through all the persecutions and tribulations thrown against them.

⇒ The word “tribulations” (thlipseis) is a more general word than persecutions and refers to any kind of trial or trouble (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.115). The Thessalonian believers were persevering and holding fast to their faith through all the trials of life: temptations, peer pressure, disease, accident, loss of job, death—whatever the trial was, they remained faithful to Christ. They did not buckle under and give in to the crowd nor to discouragement and despair. They held on to their faith in Christ. Note three points.

1. Their endurance and faith was a strong testimony to others. Paul says that they were so strong that he actually boasted of them to others.

Thought 1. What a dynamic testimony: to stand up for Christ to such an extent that Paul would boast of them! What an example for us: to stand fast in our faith to such an extent that ministers boast of our testimony.

2. Their endurance and faith were a sign of God's coming judgment upon unbelievers. The believers received a supernatural strength—God's strength—when they were persecuted. Their strength was so forceful that it was clear that it was being given by God. The believers...

- were not becoming hysterical.
- were not retaliating.
- were not accepting the persecution like passive sheep.

Contrariwise, they demonstrated a serene peace and responded in an active love, exhorting and encouraging their persecutors to trust the Lord—all while they were in the midst of being mistreated. Their response could not be attributed to mental discipline nor to the commitment to some human cause. Why?

- ⇒ Because there were too many of them, and they were all standing fast and demonstrating some supernatural strength.
- ⇒ Because there was both the spirit of glory and of God resting upon them—the spirit of glory and of God that is promised to the believer who suffers persecution.

“If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:14).

The point is this: the presence of God and His glory in the believer is a clear sign that God exists and is going to vindicate his dear believer. He is going to judge and take vengeance upon the persecutors of His dear people. Persecution is a clear sign of God's coming judgment.

“But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things” (Ro.2:2).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

3. Their endurance and faith proved that the believers were counted worthy of God's kingdom. Note the phrase “counted worthy” (kataxioo). It does not mean to make worthy; it means to count, reckon, and declare worthy (see note, Justification—Ro.5:1). A believer is not saved because he remains faithful through the sufferings of this life; he is saved because he believes in Jesus Christ as his Savior and Lord. However, when he suffers in this world and endures through the suffering, he is counted worthy of God's kingdom. He does not disappoint God. He proves his grit—that he is truly a man or a woman of God. He is worthy to enter heaven, for he has proven his faith.

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also. But all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me” (Jn.15:20-21).

“Always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy” (Ph.1:4).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

DIVISION II

A GLIMPSE INTO THE END TIME, 1:6-2:17

A. The Righteous Judgment of God, 1:6-12

(1:6-12) Introduction: this begins the important discussion of the end time, of the end of the world. The first discussion covers the subject that most people dread and try to bypass or deny: the righteous judgment of God.

1. The purpose of judgment: to rectify injustice (v.6).
2. The executor of judgment: Jesus Christ Himself (v.7-8).
3. The people to be judged (v.8).
4. The penalty of judgment (v.9).
5. The time of judgment (v.10).
6. The escape from judgment (v.11-12).

(1:6-12) Another Outline: The Basic Questions About Judgment.

1. Why is there to be a judgment (v.6)?
2. Who shall judge (v.7)?
3. Who shall be judged (v.8)?
4. What will the judgment be (v.9)?
5. When shall the judgment take place (v.10)?
6. How can a person escape the judgment (v.11)?

1 (1:6) Judgment—Justice—Injustices: the purpose of judgment is to rectify injustices. Remember: the believers at Thessalonica were suffering fierce persecution and all kinds of trouble at the hands of their neighbors and the local city government. Most of the citizens of Thessalonica wanted nothing to do with Christ, so they sought to stamp out His name, threatening and persecuting all who confessed Him. Just how serious the situation had become can be seen by looking at the account in Acts and the number of times the persecution is referred to in the two letters to the Thessalonians. Note these verses.

“But the Jews which believed not, moved with envy, took unto them certain lewd fellows of the baser sort, and gathered a company, and set all the city on an uproar, and assaulted the house of Jason, and sought to bring them [Paul and Silas] out to the people. And when they found them, they drew Jason and certain brethren unto the rulers of the city, crying, These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also; whom Jason hath received: and these all do contrary to the decrees of Caesar, saying that there is another king, one Jesus. And they troubled the people and the rulers of the city, when they heard these things” (Acts 17:5-8).

“But when the Jews of Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and stirred up the people” (Acts 17:13).

“And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost” (1 Th.1:6).

“We were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God with much contention” (1 Th.2:2).

“For ye, brethren, became followers of the churches of God which in Judaea are in Christ Jesus: for ye also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews” (1 Th.2:14).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto. For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation; even as it came to pass, and ye know” (1 Th.3:3-4).

“So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure” (2 Th.1:4).

The suffering of the believers was terrifying; therefore, they needed encouragement. This Paul had done in the former passage (2 Th.1:3-5) and would do at the end of the present passage (2 Th.1:10-12). But something else was needed as well: the persecutors and unbelievers of the world needed to be warned. God is going to rectify all the injustices of the world. God’s judgment is going to fall upon every person who has mistreated others. All unjust behavior of men will bear the terrible judgment of God, all the...

The list could go on and on, but the point is this: we live in the midst of an evil and an unjust people. Therefore, much of the world’s behavior—much of man’s behavior—is evil and unjust. God must judge the world, for judgment is the righteous and just thing. To judge the injustices of men is the very thing that must be done. All the injustices of the world must be corrected. Not to judge would be the wrong and unjust thing. This is the reason God is going to judge the world. He is just and righteous Himself; therefore, His very nature demands that all the injustices and wrongs that men have inflicted upon others be judged and punished. Note how the verse is translated by others:

“For after all it is only just for God to repay with affliction those who afflict you” (NAS, 2 Th.1:6).

“Indeed, it is right for God to repay with crushing sorrows those who cause you these crushing sorrows” (Williams, 2 Th.1:6).

“It really is just for God to pay back with suffering those who make you suffer” (Beck, 2 Th.1:6).

“[It is a fair decision] since it is a righteous thing with God to repay with distress and affliction those who distress and afflict you” (Amplified New Testament, 2 Th.1:6).

“Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord” (Ro.12:19).

“Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you” (2 Th.1:6).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward” (Heb.2:2).

“For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:30).

“To me belongeth vengeance, and recompense; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste” (Dt.32:35).

“O Lord God, to whom vengeance belongeth; O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, show thyself. Lift up thyself, thou judge of the earth: render a reward to the proud. Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph? How long shall they utter and speak hard things? and all the workers of iniquity boast themselves? They break in pieces thy people, O Lord, and afflict thine heritage. They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherless. Yet they say, The Lord shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it. Understand, ye brutish among the people: and ye fools, when will ye be wise?...And he shall bring upon them their own iniquity, and shall cut them off in their own wickedness; yea, the Lord our God shall cut them off” (Ps.94:1-8, 23).

“According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense” (Is.59:18).

“And mine eye shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense thy ways upon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee: and ye shall know that I am the LORD” (Ezk.7:4).

“And as for me also, mine eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will recompense their way upon their head” (Ezk.9:10).

“But as for them whose heart walketh after the heart of their detestable things and their abominations, I will recompense their way upon their own heads, saith the Lord GOD” (Ezk.11:21).

2 (1:7-8) Judgment—Jesus Christ, Return: the executor of judgment shall be Jesus Christ Himself. Note that Jesus Christ is coming to give rest to the believer as well as to judge the world. The believer will be released from the injustices, sufferings, and death of this world. As the Pulpit Commentary says:

2 THESSALONIANS 1:6-12

"[Heaven] is rest to the weary, freedom to the enslaved, release from sorrow, suffering, and pain, relaxation from toil, ease from noise and turmoil, the quiet heaven of peace after being tossed about in the tempestuous ocean [of this world]" (P.J. Gloag. Second Thessalonians. "The Pulpit Commentary," Vol.21, ed. by H.D.M. Spence and Joseph S.Exell. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1950, p.2).

"There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God" (Heb.4:9).

"There the wicked cease from troubling; and there the weary be at rest" (Job 3:17).

Note that the Person who will execute judgment is Jesus Christ Himself. He is personally going to return to earth to judge the world.

1. His return in judgment shall be a spectacular appearance from heaven. The word "revealed" (apokalupsei) means to be unveiled and uncovered. The day is coming when Jesus Christ shall rent the heavens and return to earth in judgment. As Matthew Henry says, "He will come in all the pomp and power of the upper world" (Matthew Henry's Commentary. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, Vol.6, p.794). He will be revealed as the Supreme Majesty and Judge of the world.

"For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son" (Jn.5:22).

"And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead" (Acts 10:42).

"Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead" (Acts 17:31).

"In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel" (Ro.2:16).

"I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom" (2 Tim.4:1).

2. His return in judgment will be with the angels of His power. The angels will return with Him for several purposes:

⇒ to add to the majestic glory and triumph of His person and presence.

"For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works" (Mt.16:27).

"When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory" (Mt.25:31).

"And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels" (2 Th.1:7).

⇒ to carry out His orders and to execute His justice and mercy.

"The enemy that sowed them is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world; and the reapers are the angels" (Mt.13:39).

"So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth" (Mt.13:49-50).

"And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other" (Mt.24:31).

3. His return in judgment shall be in flaming fire. This is a reference to the brilliance and glory and holiness of His appearance and to the fact that He is coming in judgment. His return in judgment will be in all the majesty and glory of God Himself—so brilliant that it will be as the flaming fire of God's pure holiness.

"And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory" (Mt.24:30).

"When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats" (Mt.25:31-32).

"Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels" (Mk.8:38).

"And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ" (2 Th.1:7-8).

"And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him" (Jude 14-15).

"Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen" (Rev.1:7).

“A fire goeth before him [the Lord], and burneth up his enemies round about” (Ps.97:3).

3 (1:8) Judgment—Jesus Christ, Return: the people to be judged are separated into two classes.

1. All who do not know God, the only living and true God, shall be judged. Who are these persons? They are those who sin against natural revelation, who look at creation and fail to see God or to live by the laws that are clearly seen in nature and creation.

a. Men can know God within themselves: in their own thoughts, reasonings, and consciences.

“Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath showed it unto them” (Ro.1:19).

“[The heathen] which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another” (Ro.2:15).

b. Men can know God outside of themselves: in creation and nature, the earth and outer space. (See notes—Ro.1:19; 1:20; 1:21; 2:11-15 for more discussion.)

“Nevertheless he left not himself without witness, in that he did good, and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness” (Acts 14:17).

“For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse” (Ro.1:20).

“The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handywork” (Ps.19:1).

“The heavens declare his righteousness, and all the people see his glory” (Ps.97:6).

The point is this: men can know that God gives them life and that He cares and provides for them, and that God runs everything in an orderly and lawful way, giving purpose and meaning to life. Men can look at nature and see that God is great and good; therefore, God deserves to be glorified and given thanks. But instead of seeing God and coming to know God, men have rejected Him. Instead of worshipping God...

- some worship the creation, that is, science and man—a humanistic worship.
- some worship the god of their imagination, a thought or image of what God is (a god that allows them to live as they desire).

They are the persons who are to be judged. They are the persons who do not know the living and true God, not personally—not in a personal day to day relationship.

2. All who do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ shall be judged. Who are these?

- ⇒ Every person who has ever heard the gospel of Jesus Christ and rejected it.
- ⇒ Every person who has professed the gospel of Jesus Christ but does not obey the commandments of the gospel.
- ⇒ Every person who has been baptized but does not obey the commandment of the gospel.
- ⇒ Every person who has joined the church and holds a membership in the church but does not obey the commandments of the gospel.

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience. Be not ye therefore partakers with them” (Eph.5:3-7).

“In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:8).

“For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace? For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:29-30).

4 (1:9) Judgment—Jesus Christ, Return: the penalty of judgment will be terrible, but it will be deserved. Why? Because those who are to be judged had the opportunity to know God, but they chose to deny and curse Him and to walk as they desired throughout life. Note three significant facts about the penalty and punishment of judgment.

1. The word “who” (hoitines) is used in a qualitative sense; that is, it means “persons who are such as” deserve this punishment; “persons who are of such a kind as to” deserve this punishment. The Greek word clearly shows that these persons deserve the punishment of the coming judgment. (This is pointed out by A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures in the

New Testament, Vol.4, p.44; and Leon Morris, The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.119.)

2. The phrase “shall suffer punishment” (diken tisousin) means to pay the penalty. Matthew Henry says that “they did sin’s work, and must receive sin’s wages” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.795). Sinners may get away with their sin and rejection of God while on earth, but they will be punished in the final analysis.

Note another fact about the punishment. Note the Greek word for punishment (diken). It comes from the same root as righteous (dikaaios). This means that the punishment will be righteous, just—exactly what the person deserves, no more, no less. A person will be measured an exact amount of punishment that he has worked while on earth. God’s punishment will not be vindictive; it will be perfectly just, a punishment of retribution—a punishment that pays a person exactly what he deserves.

“And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire” (Mt.18:9).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was an hungred, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not. Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee? Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me. And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:41-46).

“But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation” (Mk.3:29).

“[The Lord] whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable” (Lk.3:17).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:8-9).

“Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:9).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace? For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:29-30).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“Upon the wicked he shall rain snares, fire and brimstone, and an horrible tempest: this shall be the portion of their cup” (Ps.11:6).

“And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible” (Is.13:11).

“For, behold, the LORD cometh out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain” (Is.26:21).

“According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense” (Is.59:18).

“But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, saith the LORD: and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devour all things round about it” (Jer.21:14).

“And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem [the world] with candles, and punish the men that are settled on their lees: that say in their heart, The LORD will not do good, neither will he do evil” (Zeph.1:12).

“For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the LORD of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch” (Mal.4:1).

3. The words “everlasting destruction” (olethron aionion) do not mean annihilation or ceasing to exist. They mean exactly what they say in this verse: to be separated from the face of the Lord and from the glory of His power—an eternity of woe (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.44). They mean complete ruin and loss; to be cut off, excluded, removed, separated, extinguished, deprived, abhorred, and banished from all the good things of life.

⇒ Complete ruin and loss: from all that life should be.

⇒ Cut off: from the presence of God and from the glory of His power and of heaven.

⇒ Excluded: from all joy, pleasure and satisfaction. It is utter emptiness.

⇒ Removed: from all companionship and associations and from all possessions. It is being left all alone and left with nothing. It is utter loneliness.

⇒ Separated: from the presence of all goodness and righteousness—from God and from all those who sought after righteousness. And there is no prospect of the separation ever ending, not even for an hour.

⇒ Extinguished: from love and affection. It is a hell of passion let loose.

⇒ Deprived: from the Holy Spirit restraining the force of evil. It is a hell of lawlessness.

⇒ Abhorred: from the bodies of glory. It is a decayed carcass (Is.66:23-24).

⇒ Banished: from all hope. It is being eternally lost forever, and there is no prospect of the banishment ever ending—not even for one hour.

Leon Morris quotes the Biblical scholar James Denny as saying:

“If there is any truth in Scripture at all, this is true—that those who stubbornly refuse to submit to the gospel, and to love and obey Jesus Christ, incur at the Last Advent an infinite and irreparable loss. They pass into a night on which no morning [ever] dawns” (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.120).

“Let both grow together until the harvest: and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather ye together first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them: but gather the wheat into my barn” (Mt.13:30).

“So shall it be at the end of the world: the angels shall come forth, and sever the wicked from among the just” (Mt.13:49).

“And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not” (Mt.25:10-12).

“And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:32).

“But he shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are; depart from me, all ye workers of iniquity” (Lk.13:27).

“And beside all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed: so that they which would pass from hence to you cannot; neither can they pass to us, that would come from thence” (Lk.16:26).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:3).

“Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:9).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

5 (1:10) Judgment—Jesus Christ, Return: the time of the judgment is set. Unbelievers are going to be judged...

- when Jesus Christ comes to be glorified in His saints and to be admired in all who believe.

Note the word “in” (en). When Jesus Christ returns, His glory is going to be seen in His saints. All the world will see the wonder and glory of...

- the height of His love
- the depth of His mercy
- the length of His grace
- the breadth of His power

The Lord Jesus Christ has loved and saved us, and the height, depth, length, and breadth of His salvation is beyond imagination. His salvation far exceeds anything that we could ever know or describe. When the glory of what Jesus Christ has done for us is manifested, it will explode into such a spectacular demonstration of glory—into a spectacle that will exceed the explosion of all the brilliant lights of the heavenly bodies. The greatness of the glory and love of Jesus Christ will be seen in that day—seen in His dear saints and in all them who believe.

Note one other significant point: He will not only be glorified in that day, He will be admired. Philips’ translation says, “It will be a breath-taking wonder.” Leon Morris says, “the glory of that day will far surpass anything of which we can have any idea...and when we do behold it we shall be lost in amazement” (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.120).

6 (1:11-12) Judgment: the escape from judgment. Three things are necessary to escape judgment. Note that these two verses are a prayer of Paul for the believers.

1. A person must be counted worthy by God. How can a person be counted worthy? No person has any worthiness of his own; no person is perfect. Therefore, no person has enough goodness to stand before God, for God is perfect. If a person is to be acceptable to God, he has to approach God through faith in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. God accepts a person as worthy only if he comes in the name of Jesus Christ—believing in and trusting Jesus Christ to save him. The person who comes to God through Jesus Christ honors Christ, and any person who honors Christ is counted worthy by God. Note: we are not worthy; we possess no righteousness of our own. But God counts and credits us with righteousness because we come to Him in the perfect righteousness of His Son. We honor God's Son and God honors anyone who honors His Son.

2. God must complete the work of faith in us. We age, deteriorate, die, and decay. We cannot complete anything, not permanently. We can complete something for only a few short years at most, and even then we cannot complete anything perfectly. Nothing that we do is ever perfected. Therefore, if we are to be saved from judgment and given eternal life, God has to take our initial belief in Christ...

- and complete the good pleasure of His goodness in us.
- and complete the work of faith in us—complete it with omnipotent power.

3. The name of Christ must be glorified in us and we in Him. This simply means that...

- we must let Him live and move and have His being in us—every day.
- we must live and move and have our being in Him—every day.
- we must let Him be glorified in us.

This is the only way to escape judgment. A person can know that he will escape the judgment of God...

- if he has trusted Jesus Christ as his Savior and Lord.
- if he knows that God is completing the work of faith in him.
- if he is honoring the name of the Lord and letting the Lord glorify Himself in his life.

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment. And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:23-24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

B. The Day of the Lord, 2:1-3

(2:1-3) Introduction: when the Bible refers to the day of the Lord, it does not mean a single day in history. It is using the word day in a forceful or emphatic sense just like men do when they speak of the great day of space exploration or the great day of some world leader or the great day of creation. The day of the Lord covers a long span of time and some very significant events. In the Bible it covers the whole span of history beginning with the two events of this passage and reaching forward to the end of time. It will be a terrible time of trouble, a time that is known as that great and terrible day of judgment, the day when the wrath of God will fall upon all the meanness, viciousness, ugliness, and filthiness of men. However, note the point of this passage: no believer has to fear the day of the Lord. The day of the Lord launches God’s judgment against unbelievers; it is not the judgment of believers.

1. Guard against being shaken or troubled by the day of the Lord (v.1-2).
2. Let no man deceive you—watch for two events first (v.3).

1 (2:1-2) Day of the Lord—God, Judgment of—World, Judgment of: guard against being shaken or troubled by the day of the Lord. The believers at Thessalonica thought the day of the Lord had begun—that great and terrible day when God’s judgment is to fall upon the earth. Verse two explains why. Remember: the believers were suffering fierce persecution (see note—2 Th.1:6 for discussion). They were suffering as much as human beings could bear; apparently some were even being martyred. Verse two says that some person was even claiming...

- that a spirit (some angel or some vision) had revealed to him that the day of the Lord had begun.
- that he had a special word, a special revelation from God that the day of the Lord had begun.
- that he had either received or heard about a letter from Paul that said the day of the Lord was at hand.

Combine these three claims with the suffering of savage persecution and it is easily understood why some of the believers would be shaken and troubled. In fact, the word “shaken” means to be tossed about, agitated, shocked; and the word “troubled” means a continued state of tension and nervousness. Paul says two quick things that we must keep in mind as we look toward the day of the Lord.

1. Look to the coming of the Lord and toward our gathering together unto Him, not to the judgment that is coming. Note that this is an appeal from Paul, an urgent appeal: he beseeches his brothers in the Lord. And he beseeches them “by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto Him.” The point is striking: the believer is to focus upon the Lord’s return and not upon the judgment of the Lord’s day. The day of the Lord is to be the judgment of unbelievers, not of believers. The believer is not appointed to receive the wrath of God; he is appointed to salvation. Therefore, he is not to fear the day of the Lord. He is to be looking to the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior, Jesus Christ.

“For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:9).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

2. Let nothing shake or trouble you about the day of the Lord: not a spirit, nor some so-called spiritual message, nor a writing from some so-called spiritual man. Note: the best manuscripts and the great majority of commentaries translate and understand this to be the day of the Lord instead of the “day of Christ.”

2 (2:3) Day of the Lord—Apostasy, The Great—Antichrist, The: let no man deceive you—watch for two significant events; for that day—the great and terrible day of the Lord—will not come until these two events happen. Note the emphasis upon guarding against deception: let no man deceive you by any means—no matter what any person says or claims or uses against you, do not let him deceive you about the day of the Lord. That terrible day—the day when God’s judgment will begin to fall upon the world and its unbelievers—cannot come until these two events happen. But note: the idea is that these events will launch the day of the Lord, that is, the terrible judgment of God upon all those who have cursed, denied, ignored, neglected, and defamed the name of Him who is the holy Sovereign of the universe (see note, pt.2—1 Th.5:1-3 for more discussion).

1. The first event that will launch the day of the Lord will be a great falling away of believers from God. The phrase “falling away” is much too weak for what the Greek says. The Greek is forceful: “falling away” means apostasy, revolt, rebellion. The picture is that of multitudes—millions from all over the world—rebelling and revolting against God. As the eminent scholar Leon Morris says: “In the last times there will be an outstanding manifestation of the powers of evil arrayed against God" (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.126). The point is this: before the day of the Lord—before the terrible judgment of God can come upon the earth, there will be a great apostasy, a tragic turning away from God by millions. Note a most significant point: apostasy is one of the causes for the day of the Lord. The revolt and rebellion against God will be so massive that it will necessitate the return of Christ in judgment. Man and his world will be so evil and sinful and so immoral and unjust—so much in rebellion against God—that Christ has to return and judge the world. Most of the people in the world will have gone so far that they will be beyond ever repenting.

"And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another. And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many. And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold. But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved" (Mt.24:10-13).

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron" (1 Tim.4:1-2).

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away" (2 Tim.3:1-5).

"For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables" (2 Tim.4:3-4).

2. The second event that will launch the day of the Lord will be the revelation of that man of sin—the son of perdition, that is, the antichrist himself. Note the following facts:

- a. The antichrist will be revealed. This fact indicates that he existed before his appearance (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.126). A.T. Robertson says. "the implication is that the man of sin is hidden somewhere who will be suddenly manifested" (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.50).
- b. The antichrist is "the man of sin." The word "sin" is better translated lawlessness; that is, the antichrist will be the man of lawlessness, the man who will be the very embodiment of lawlessness or total rebellion against God. He will do all he can to lead a total revolt against God—do all he can to lead every man, woman, and child to turn away from God.
- c. The antichrist is "the son of perdition." This means that he will be so evil that he will be just like the son of doom and destruction, of the devil himself. It also means that he is doomed to perdition; he is doomed to destruction.
- d. The antichrist is not just another evil world leader who is a mass deceiver or murderer of millions. This is not what Scripture means in this passage. Scripture speaks of other antichrists, others who will appear in the world and mislead people and do much evil upon the earth (1 Jn.2:18; 2 Jn.7). But this Scripture is not dealing with antichrists (plural), but with the most infamous antichrist of all—the one antichrist...
 - who will launch the day of the Lord, and who must appear before the day of the Lord can come.
 - who is so terrible that his very name is "this man of lawlessness" and "the son of perdition," that is, of doom and destruction.

Note: the antichrist is not Satan, but he is said to be a man who will be sent by the very "working of Satan" (cp. 2 Th.2:9).

Thought 1. Some idea of just how evil the antichrist will be can be gleaned by thinking of some of the evil men in history. Just think: their evil was nothing compared to the evil of the antichrist. Think of the evil of such mass murderers as Hitler, Stalin, and other dictators down through history who have slaughtered millions.

"When ye therefore shall see the abomination of desolation [the antichrist], spoken of by Daniel the prophet, stand in the holy place, (whoso readeth, let him understand)" (Mt.24:15).

"But when ye shall see the abomination of desolation [the antichrist], spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing where it ought not, (let him that readeth understand,) then let them that be in Judaea flee to the mountains" (Mk.13:14).

"Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, showing himself that he is God" (2 Th.2:3-4).

"And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming: even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders" (2 Th.2:8-9).

"And they worshipped the dragon [the devil] which gave power unto the beast [the antichrist]: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him? And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months. And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God to blaspheme his name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven. And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations. And all that dwell upon the earth shall worship him, whose names are not written in the book of life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. If any man have an ear, let him hear" (Rev.13:4-9).

C. The Antichrist: The Man of Sin, 2:4-9

(2:4-9) Introduction: there are many antichrists who have risen throughout history to carry on Satan's work with great severity (1 Jn.2:18). However, Paul is not speaking of these men who stand against Christ and His followers. By the terms "that man of sin" (lawlessness) and "the son of perdition" Paul means the most infamous antichrist who is to appear in the end time. The antichrist is to be revealed when the end time is near. He is to be Satan's instrument in the most severe way. How? By being filled with Satan's spirit (2 Th.2:9).

Paul did not identify the antichrist and 1 Jn.2:18 speaks of many antichrists. These two facts are a warning to us, a warning to guard against hastily identifying some world leader as the antichrist.

The antichrist is most assuredly a person. The descriptions of this passage, as well as others, have to be terribly misconstrued to make them fit any force or system other than a person. Our Lord's words in Mk.3:14, where He uses the masculine participle, identify him as a person. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Mk.13:14; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Rev. 11:7; notes—13:1-10; 13:11-18; 17:7-14. Cp. Dan.9:20-27, esp. 27.)

1. His character (v.4).
2. His danger: is so great it must be taught to the church (v.5).
3. His revelation to the world: an historical appearance (v.6-8).
4. His end (v.8).
5. His work: to carry on Satan's activity in all power and signs and wonders of falsehood (v.9).

1 (2:4) Antichrist: the character of the antichrist. There are five traits of the antichrist revealed in this verse and in the former verse (v.3-4).

1. The antichrist is the "man of sin" (v.3). He will be the very embodiment of sin and lawlessness; the man who idealizes sin; the man who is the ideal sinner. He will be the man who fulfills the dreams of Satan upon earth. He will lead the perfect rebellion and revolt against God—a rebellion and revolt that will embrace practically every man, woman, and child.
2. The antichrist is the "son of perdition" (v.4). The word "perdition" (apoleias) means doom and destruction. Judas is said to be the son of perdition. But the meaning here is that the antichrist is the very embodiment of perdition...
 - he is the son of the most violent doom and destruction; the son of the most violent evil imaginable.
 - the son who is more deserving of doom and perdition than anyone else who has ever lived.
 - the son of perdition, of the devil himself, the father of doom and destruction.
3. The antichrist is the opposer of all that is called God (v.4).

"Who opposeth is a participle, and might well be rendered 'the opposer' or 'the adversary', a term sometimes applied to Satan (e.g. 1 Tim.5:14); indeed the Hebrew satan means 'adversary'. The word emphasizes the kinship of the 'man of lawlessness' with his master [the devil]" (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.127).

The antichrist will be the opponent of Christ: this is the very meaning of his name. He will oppose Christ and everything Christ stands for: love, mercy, morality, and justice. Instead of these, he will lead the world to live a life of immorality, injustice, selfishness, and indulgence—especially in the treatment of those who profess the name of Christ.

4. The antichrist is the "exalter of himself" (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.127f). He lifts himself up above all others, above the measure of all others. The idea is against all others, in a hostile or antagonistic way. All peoples will either subject themselves to him or else suffer severe consequences. (Note: the picture is probably referring to imprisonment or death.) The point to see is that he is totally...

- self-centered
- power hungry
- fame crazed
- authoritarian
- dictatorial
- without values
- immoral
- unjust

2 THESSALONIANS 2:4-9

5. The antichrist claims to be God. Note exactly what is said here:

⇒ He exalts himself above all that is called God or that is worshipped.

He does not just attack authority, but he attacks all religions—"all that is called God or that is worshipped." How does he do this? He sits in the temple of God and shows himself or claims that he is God. The idea is that he sets himself up as the object of worship. He actually sets himself up within the temple of God to be worshipped. A.T. Robertson, the great Biblical scholar, in his Word Pictures in the New Testament (Vol.4, p.50), refers to J.B. Lightfoot as pointing out some of the parallels between Christ and the antichrist:

⇒ both Christ and the antichrist are revealed.

⇒ both Christ and the antichrist are surrounded by many mysteries.

⇒ both Christ and the antichrist claim to be God.

Thought 1. This is probably referring to the worship of a state religion which will focus upon the leader of the world, the antichrist. We have a perfect example in the worship of the emperor of the old Roman empire. Images of the emperor were placed in temples all around the world and the citizens were expected to worship the state. Remember what Rome had done. It had brought peace to a war torn world. Because of this many people were willing to worship the ideal of the state. Think how some people worship science and technology today. And just imagine what would happen if a person arose upon the world scene who could either mobilize or force the nations of the world...

- to live at peace with each other.
- to solve the hunger problem by coordinating the growth and distribution of food for everyone in the world.
- to solve the problems of the world such as homelessness, unemployment, poverty, lack of medical care, crime, and on and on.

Imagine how the vast majority of people would worship the person and state that could bring about this kind of utopian state for the peoples of the world. Natural man would gladly follow such a leader—his science and technology, his will and desire.

Think about this as well: What would be the best way for such a leader to control the masses of the world? The masses who had always been religious? Would it not be to create a new religion, a religion focused upon the ruler and the state over which he ruled? Would not men willingly worship the ruler—his government, science, and technology—that had brought such a utopian existence upon earth for mankind?

This is exactly what happened in ancient Rome in the worship of the emperor and state. People were allowed to continue the worship of their own gods just so they acknowledged the supremacy of the emperor and the Roman state. They were to worship the state that had brought and maintained peace within the civilized world of that day. By encouraging (by law) the people to worship the emperor (the symbol of the state), the people were focused upon the government—upon the fact that the state had blessed the world with peace. (This worship of the state helped to maintain the peace throughout the Roman empire.)

2 (2:5) Antichrist: the importance of the antichrist is so great that it must be taught to the church. Paul had taught the Thessalonian believers all about the end time and the antichrist. The importance of the Lord's return, the day of the Lord, the great apostasy, and the rise of antichrist cannot be overstressed. Scripture declares emphatically that these events are going to happen.

⇒ The Lord is returning to gather His people together in the most spectacular and joyful occasion of human history.

⇒ The great and terrible day of the Lord is going to fall upon the earth. Unbelievers—all those who have cursed, rebelled, denied, ignored, neglected, and rejected Christ—are going to bear the justice of God.

⇒ The great apostasy is going to be witnessed by the earth: millions are going to turn away from Christ.

⇒ The antichrist is going to arise upon the world scene and bring a material utopia to the earth and some form of state worship—all in utter rebellion and denial of God Himself.

The point is this: the end times are coming upon the world. Therefore, people must be taught so that some can be saved and escape the things coming upon the earth. (See outline and notes—Mt.24:1-51 for more of a picture as to what makes the tribulation of the last days worse than what men usually suffer upon earth. A quick glance at the outlines and notes of Revelation, Chapters 6-18, will also show the difference.)

3 (2:6-8) Antichrist: the revelation of the antichrist to the world. There is to be an historical appearance of the antichrist in the world. Note the words "revealed in his time." The time is set: he is going to actually appear upon the world scene.

1. Right now, there is some power of restraint that holds back the antichrist and keeps him from appearing. However, the day is coming when the restraining power is to be "taken out of the way"; then the antichrist will be revealed to the world. Note that the restraining power is not identified. What or who is it? Even the best Bible scholars differ. But note three significant points.

a. The words used are "taken out of the way," not taken away. There is a vast difference: the power of restraint upon the antichrist can step aside and allow the antichrist to appear and still be at work in the world. If the power of restraint was completely removed and taken away, then there would be no power of good whatsoever in the world. Therefore, the words "taken out of the way" have to be noticed. Whatever the power of restraint is, it is still present in the world working for good. It only steps aside enough to allow the antichrist to appear and to carry on his work of evil.

b. The masculine pronoun "he" (v.7) and the neuter pronoun "what" (v.6) are both used for the restraining power. Therefore, the restraining power can be referred to as both a person and as the very embodiment of the power of good that works throughout the world. Note that the power is so strong that it controls the events of human history. That is, the restraining power can determine the exact day to step aside and let the antichrist appear.

- c. Logic has to be considered in determining who the restraining power is. When the identity is not given and there are so many varied opinions, we have to use the best logic we can. In light of this, note the following:
- ⇒ What is the power that restrains evil upon the earth? The power of law? Laws change from society to society and from generation to generation. What is evil to one society is good to another. Many societies consider lying, stealing, cheating, and even murder to be good if it is for the purpose of forwarding the state or government or leadership of a nation. (Compare Rome, Communism, and many dictatorships.)
 - ⇒ What then is the true power that restrains evil upon the earth? Is it not the power of God Himself? God's power and work against sin is the whole point of this passage. Therefore, it is difficult to see how the restraining power could be anything other than the Spirit of God upon the earth.

Note this as well: the Holy Spirit is referred to in both the masculine and neuter genders in Scripture (cp. Jn.14:16-17; 16:13). And He is pictured as the restraining force of evil in the Old Testament (Gen.6:3).

2. The "mystery of iniquity" (that is, lawlessness) is now at work in the world. This is a terrifying verse, for it says that the power that restrains evil is going to be removed—evil is going to be cut loose upon the world. God is going to remove much of the restraint that He now puts upon evil. Note the word "mystery": it means something that has been hidden but is now revealed. There is, of course, so much that we do not know about lawlessness:

- ⇒ Why do we do things that we know are bad for us?
- ⇒ Why do we lie, steal, cheat, kill, curse and go to war?
- ⇒ Why are we so selfish that we allow barriers and feelings to build up toward husband, wife, child, parent, neighbor, friend, employer, and employee—barriers and feelings that end up destroying our lives and relationships and hurting all those around us?
- ⇒ Why do we indulge, hoard, bank, build, and then indulge, hoard, bank, and build more and more, neglecting the reality of a world that reels under the weight of desperate needs?

The questions could go on and on. We know better, yet we continue to do evil. Why? What is there about us that causes us to sin and then to continue on sinning when it is so bad and does so much harm? And why is it that we cannot control sin and lawlessness within ourselves, much less within our world? We cannot answer the question, not in and of ourselves. That is the mystery of iniquity. Sin is a mystery, an unknown factor of human life. However, there is Someone who does understand sin, and there is Someone who has revealed what it is and why we are enslaved by it. The Person is God. The mystery of iniquity has been revealed to men by God through Christ and His Holy Word. It is a matter of man listening to Christ and to the Word of God. But that is a discussion for another time.

The point is this: in the last days when it is time for the antichrist to arise, God is going to remove much of His restraint upon lawlessness. Lawlessness will be allowed to run rampant over the earth, and the rampage will be part of the judgment falling upon the earth. Men will be allowed to do their own thing and live as they desire to live. The day is coming when men will get their wish and be left to themselves without God interfering.

3. The antichrist will be revealed. He will "appear unveiled in all his naked deformity—no longer working secretly, but openly, and in an undisguised form; no longer the mystery, but the revelation of lawlessness" (Pulpit Commentary, Vol.21, p.25). The spirit of sin and lawlessness will find its fulfillment in the antichrist and his government. He will vent the rage of men against God that has built up for centuries upon the world. He will arise upon the earth, and the terrible rage of lawlessness will be cut loose upon mankind. Men will suffer the results of their own sin. They will sin and sin and live lawless lives and burn in their lusts for more and more. But they will never be satisfied with what they have, nor with the good and the normal and the natural. They will have more than enough, but they will lust in their passions for more and more and they will bear the terrible inner punishment of more and more...

- dissatisfaction
- emptiness
- loneliness
- unfulfillment
- insecurity
- purposelessness
- disturbance
- conflict
- sorrow
- restlessness

On the surface, these things may not look all that bad, but think about them for a moment: imagine the depth and intensity of each inner punishment when God is not present to help us through them. The horror and fear, despair and insecurity that will be consuming the souls of men cannot be described, for men have never had to live without the presence of God upon the earth to help them.

"And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another. And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many. And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold" (Mt.24:10-12).

"Then God turned, and gave them up to worship the host of heaven" (Acts 7:42).

"Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools" (Ro.1:21-22).

"Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves: who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful" (Ro.1:24-31).

"But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God" (Ro.2:5).

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap" (Gal.6:7).

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron" (1 Tim.4:1-2).

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away" (2 Tim.3:1-5).

"For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables" (2 Tim.4:3-4).

"So I gave them up unto their own hearts' lust: and they walked in their own counsels" (Ps.81:12).

4 (2:8) Antichrist: the end of the antichrist. The Lord will make quick work of the antichrist: this is the point of this verse. The antichrist poses no threat to the Lord Himself. The power of the antichrist is as a drop of water in the Ocean—as non-existent—in comparison to the power of the Lord. Note that the antichrist will be destroyed when Christ returns to earth.

1. The Lord Jesus will slay the antichrist with the spirit of His mouth (Greek "breath"). What is the spirit of Jesus' mouth? It is the spirit of truth, holiness, and unlimited power. When Jesus speaks, what He says is of God and unstoppable. When He rents the sky to slay the antichrist, there will be no battle, for all the forces of heaven and earth combined would be as non-existent against the Lord God of the universe. Christ will speak the Word, and the antichrist will be slain. It will be like the blowing of a little breath and the dust particle is removed never to return.

Leon Morris says that the emphasis is "the ease with which the Lord will destroy the lawless one, terrible though he will be (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.132).

The Pulpit Commentary says, "The words are to be taken literally as a description of the power and irresistible might of Christ at His coming—that the mere breath of His mouth is sufficient to consume the wicked" (Vol.21, p.25f).

"But with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and reprove with equity for the meek of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked" (Is.11:4).

2. The Lord of glory will destroy the antichrist with the brightness of His coming. The word "brightness" (epiphaneia) is a very special word. It is a word chosen by the New Testament to refer only to the coming (parousia) of the Lord. It is used only five times in all the New Testament, and in every instance it refers to the Lord's coming into the world. It refers once to His first coming (2 Tim.1:10) and four times to His second coming (1 Tim.6:14; 2 Tim.4:1, 8; Tit.2:13). The whole idea of brightness is splendor, radiance, glory, and light. Someone has pointed out that when Jesus Christ returns to earth, there will be such a spectacular display of glory and splendor that the explosion of every star in the universe could not match the sight of the Lord (source unknown). When Christ first appears, there will apparently be the energizing of a laser beam of glory zeroed in on the antichrist, and he shall be immediately destroyed by the radiance of the Lord's glory and light—quicker than we could blink an eye. Simply by showing Himself, the Lord will destroy the antichrist. Note: the word "destroy" does not mean to annihilate, but to make inoperative; to make powerless; to end; to put a stop to his evil work.

5 (2:9) Antichrist: the work of antichrist—to carry on the activity of Satan upon the earth. Note that the coming of the antichrist will be after the working of Satan. This means...

- that he will be the very embodiment of Satan himself.
- that he will carry on all the lying power and signs and wonders of Satan.
- that he will carry out the very activity and work of Satan on earth.

The point to see is that Satan will have complete control over the life of the antichrist. He will be totally surrendered to Satan, and Satan will be energizing him. He will be turning as many as he possibly can away from God. Teeming millions will be listening, watching, and following the antichrist and his government upon the earth. He will demonstrate the power, signs and wonders...

- to bring peace to earth.
- to adequately grow and distribute the food so that all may have adequate provision.
- to solve the problems of adequate health coverage, full employment, homelessness, energy crunches, and the other problems of this world.

What is wrong with this? Nothing. These are wonderful things and they all need to be solved. But the antichrist will not stop with this. He will claim supernatural power for himself, his state and its science. Because he has done so much for men, he will insist that religions and gods take a back seat to him and his government. He will institute the seat of empe-rial worship. He will do all he can to turn men away from God and lead them to worship him and his state (see note—2 Th.2:4).

The problem with these claims is the problem with all the claims of men: they go no further than the grave. Men die. No matter how much peace, food, clothing, shelter, and material possessions we are able to enjoy, it all ends. All the pleasures of this earth end, for we die. We are here only a few years—barring accident and disease—and then we are gone. Therefore, the power, signs, and wonders of the antichrist can benefit a person only for the briefest of times. But not God—not the living and true God. He is interested in saving men eternally—forever and ever. This is the mammoth difference between the lies of Satan and the truth of Jesus Christ.

Note: there seems to be little if any difference between “power, signs and lying wonders.” They seem to be only for emphatic stress: stressing the fact that Satan is going to be working all he can and in every way he can through the antichrist. There is no question, if a person could solve the problems such as peace, hunger, and unemployment, it would be miraculous. But again, note: if the person began to claim that he was God and to persecute others, then his works would prove to be lying powers and signs and wonders. Why? Because they are ever so temporary. His works still leave us in the grave. They do not and cannot impart eternal life to us.

“And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it” (Lk.4:6).

“But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:3-4).

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders” (2 Th.2:9).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

DIVISION II

A GLIMPSE INTO THE END TIME, 1:6-2:17

D. The Antichrist's Followers, 2:10-12

(2:10-12) Introduction: this passage stands as a strong warning to all unbelievers. It reveals just who the followers of the antichrist will be. It shows who runs the risk of becoming a follower of the antichrist.

1. They are the perishing (v.10).
2. They are the persons who do not believe the truth (v.10).
3. They are the deceived (v.11).
4. They are the damned (v.12).

1 (2:10) Antichrist: the followers of the antichrist are those who are perishing (apollumenois). Note the continuous action: those “that perish”; that is, the persons who are in the process of perishing. Even while a follower of the antichrist lives on the earth, he is perishing. He is on the road to being lost. He has turned away from God and is travelling in the opposite direction along the road that leads to perdition. The word “perishing” means to be lost, to be in the process of being destroyed or ruined, corrupted and put to death. The thing to note is this: when a person is on the road to perdition, he has turned away from God and is pointed in the opposite direction. He is travelling away from God. He has deliberately separated himself from God and has severed all ties with God.

Therefore, he cannot see God nor the things of God. His face and eyes are not turned toward the gospel, but toward the world that perishes. The gospel is hid to him because he is perishing, because he is travelling the road of the lost, the road of those who are perishing. He is simply facing in the wrong direction, looking away from the gospel.

“For as many as have sinned without law shall also perish without law: and as many as have sinned in the law shall be judged by the law” (Ro.2:12).

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor.1:18).

“And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved” (2 Th.2:10).

“But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption” (2 Pt.2:12).

“And it shall be, if thou do at all forget the LORD thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day that ye shall surely perish” (Dt.8:19).

“For the LORD knoweth the way of the righteous: but the way of the ungodly shall perish” (Ps.1:6).

Note why the followers of the antichrist will be perishing: they will be deceived by the antichrist. He will deceive them to live unrighteous lives—lives that are not right before God. And note: he will use all kinds and forms of deceit to secure the loyalty of people:

- ⇒ He will lead people away from the truth.
- ⇒ He will mistreat people by lying to them.
- ⇒ He will lead people to believe false ideas and untruths.
- ⇒ He will exalt man, government, and science.
- ⇒ He will cheat people out of the inheritance they could receive.
- ⇒ He will misguide people and keep them from knowing peace, true inner peace, true assurance, security, love, joy, and confidence—all the qualities that build the very best of lives.

2 (2:10) Antichrist: the followers of the antichrist are the persons who do not receive the truth. The word “received” (edechanto) means to welcome. Note what it is that they do not welcome: the truth, the love of the truth. By truth is meant the truth of the gospel. They do not welcome the love of the gospel; they do not love the gospel. What a terrible indictment against the followers of the antichrist. They reject the love of God. God has provided...

- the way for them to be saved.
- the way for them to escape death.
- the way for them to live eternally.
- the way for them to live victoriously over the trials and sufferings of this life.

But despite all this, they do not love the truth of the gospel. And the result is terrible: they are not saved. The followers of the antichrist will be those who have not welcomed the love of the truth—those who have rejected the love of the gospel.

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness” (2 Th.2:12).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not” (Jude 5).

3 (2:11) Antichrist: the followers of the antichrist are the deceived. There are always two factors involved in deception:

⇒ the deceit of the deceiver.

⇒ the willingness of the person to reject the truth and to believe a lie.

Note verse ten above and both factors are clearly seen. Now note what this verse says: “For this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie.” Does this mean that God misleads unbelievers? That God deceives people? No! Scripture shouts a thousand “nos!” A person is not deceived...

- apart from his own will.
- against his will.

A person is deceived only because he chooses to disbelieve God and His Word. What Scripture teaches is that God has set certain laws in the universe...

- laws both within man and within nature.
- laws which go into motion and take effect when man acts.

If a person does something, certain things will happen. If a person does something else, then something else will happen. Scripture teaches that unbelief is governed by these laws. For example...

- there is the law of sowing and reaping. If a person sows unbelief and deception, he shall reap unbelief and deception.

“Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:7-8).

- there is the law of measure. If a person measures unbelief and deception, unbelief and deception shall be measured back to him.

“For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again” (Mt.7:2).

“Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again” (Lk.6:38)

The point is this: it is because people reject the truth of the gospel that they shall suffer strong delusion and believe the lie of the antichrist. Note the words “strong delusion” (energeian planes). The words mean a working of error. In the end time, people will work error after error, sin after sin, evil after evil. They will become stronger and stronger in their sin, harder and harder. They will become steeped in their rejection of the gospel more and more.

Leon Morris says, “It is the law of life that those who take this step [disbelieve the gospel] go further and further astray into error....Men who reject the truth are bound to end by accepting evil as true. Thereby God uses Satan as the means of punishing them” (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.134).

In the simplest of words, A.T. Robertson says, “[God] gives the wicked over to the evil which they have deliberately chosen (Ro.1:24, 26, 28)” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.53).

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“Let them alone: they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch” (Mt.15:14).

“But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which vail is done away in Christ” (2 Cor.3:14, cp. 2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes” (1 Jn.2:11).

“And they will deceive every one his neighbor, and will not speak the truth: they have taught their tongue to speak lies, and weary themselves to commit iniquity” (Jer.9:5).

“The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?” (Jer.17:9).

“For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth” (Mic.6:12).

Thought 1. What a warning to men! The followers of the antichrist will be those who are deceived about the gospel—the persons who do not believe nor love the truth of the gospel. And the great tragedy is that a person cannot reject Jesus Christ and expect things to stay as they are. God loves His Son too much to overlook His being rejected. Jesus Christ has done too much for man for God to bypass a person's unbelief and rejection. When a person has the chance to see the gospel and open his heart, but chooses not to look and closes his heart, that person suffers the consequences. He suffers more and more unbelief and deception; he becomes stronger and stronger in his rejection, believing more and more in the lie. The unbeliever is the prime target of the antichrist: it is the unbelievers who will become his followers.

4 (2:12) Antichrist: the followers of the antichrist are the damned—those who take pleasure in unrighteousness. The word “damned” (krithosin) means judged, condemned, punished. There are two reasons why the followers of the antichrist will be judged.

1. They will not believe the truth of the gospel, the truth of the Lord Jesus Christ. God loves His Son Jesus Christ—loves Him with a perfect love. Therefore, a man cannot expect God to overlook him when he...

- | | | | |
|-------------------|---------------------|--------------------|------------------|
| • curses Christ | • rejects Christ | • dishonors Christ | • ignores Christ |
| • opposes Christ | • downgrades Christ | • disobeys Christ | • demeans Christ |
| • despises Christ | • scoffs at Christ | • neglects Christ | • debases Christ |

Jesus Christ is the Sovereign Son of God who has sacrificially died for men. Therefore, if a person rejects the sacrificial death of Christ, he cannot expect God to overlook the dishonor done to His Son. The person can only expect the judgment of God. Remember: antichrist means anti, that is, against Christ. Any person who follows any of the antichrists now or the infamous antichrist in the future will be judged, condemned and punished by God. God could do nothing else.

2. They will have pleasure in unrighteousness. They will be people who live unrighteous lives and take pleasure in their unrighteousness. They will be people who love their sins.

- a. They will lust with their eyes and love to feed their imaginations with what they look at.
 - ⇒ They will be people who look and lust after pornographic literature.
 - ⇒ They will be people who look and lust after those who dress to expose their bodies and attract attention.
 - ⇒ They will be people who look and lust after enticing food.
 - ⇒ They will be people who look and lust after the possessions of the world.
- b. They will lust with their flesh and love to feed their flesh with what they lust after.
 - ⇒ They will be people who lust and feed their flesh with all forms of immorality.
 - ⇒ They will be people who lust and feed their flesh with all kinds of food.
 - ⇒ They will be people who lust and feed their flesh with all kinds of possessions, indulging every desire and knowing little about sacrifice in order to meet the needs of the lost in the world.
- c. They will seek the pride of life, seek position, recognition, honor, power, fame, and wealth. They will focus more and more upon self and the power of man and science to give them the utopia of happiness and success.

Note the awful tragedy of all this: man is the total focus—his pleasure, desires, ambitions, image, ego, esteem. God is forgotten altogether. Man loves himself and himself alone. He looks and focuses upon himself and himself alone. God is rejected, denied, forgotten, ignored, and neglected. God is relegated to nothing more than a figment of the imagination of some superstitious people. Therefore the judgment, condemnation, and punishment of God shall fall upon those who love their unrighteousness (sin).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them” (Ro.1:26-32, cp. Ro.2:8).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:3-6).

“And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: that they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness” (2 Th.2:11-12).

“How much more abominable and filthy is man, which drinketh iniquity like water?” (Job 15:16).

“Thou lovest evil more than good; and lying rather than to speak righteousness. Selah. Thou lovest all devouring words, O thou deceitful tongue. God shall likewise destroy thee for ever, he shall take thee away, and pluck thee out of thy dwelling place, and root thee out of the land of the living” (Ps.52:3-5).

“Who rejoice to do evil, and delight in the frowardness of the wicked....but the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it” (Pr.2:14, 22).

“Thus saith the LORD unto this people, Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet, therefore the LORD doth not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sins” (Jer.14:10).

DIVISION II

A GLIMPSE INTO THE END TIME, 1:6-2:17

E. The Salvation of God's Followers, 2:13-17

(2:13-17) Introduction: this passage is a contrast between the followers of the antichrist and the followers of Christ. It is a passage that should speak with force to the heart of the believer.

1. Believers are saved, not damned like the followers of antichrist (v.13).
2. The origin of salvation: God has chosen believers (v.13).
3. The purpose of salvation (v.14).
4. The duty of salvation: To stand fast and to cling to the Word (v.15).
5. The resources for salvation (v.16-17).

1 (2:13) Believers—Salvation: believers are not damned like the followers of antichrist; they are saved. Note the word “but.” It is a sharp contrast between the followers of the antichrist and the followers of the Lord. The followers of the antichrist are to be damned, that is, judged, condemned, and punished. But the followers of the Lord are the beloved of the Lord. Why? Because they follow Him. They believe Him, all that He claimed: that He is truly the Son of God who has come to earth...

- to die for men.
- to save men from death and judgment.
- to give men eternal life.
- to bring assurance, love, joy, and peace to men as they walk throughout life.

Therefore, believers love the Lord with all their hearts, and they follow Him ever so diligently, doing all they can to please Him. The Lord is bound to count a person who so loves and follows Him as one of His beloved followers. The Lord is bound to save any person who truly believes Him.

The point is this: believers are not to be damned like the followers of antichrist, but saved. The great truth of salvation is the discussion of this passage.

2 (2:13) Salvation—Chosen—God, Election: the origin of salvation is God. “God hath from the beginning chosen them to salvation.” This is a most wonderful truth. God has chosen believers before the world was ever created, chosen them to salvation. God wants us to be with Him. God does not want us to be judged and condemned and separated from Him. God wants us to live with Him forever and ever.

Note: the Greek word for “chosen” (heilato) is strong. It is an unusual word to use here. Leon Morris points out that this is the only time it is used in the New Testament (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.136). The word’s uniqueness is this: it is one of the words that is used when God chose Israel (in the Greek Old Testament):

“And the LORD hath avouched [chosen] thee this day to be his peculiar people, as he hath promised thee, and that thou shouldest keep all his commandments” (Dt.26:18).

“For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God: the LORD thy God hath chosen thee to be a special people unto himself, above all people that are upon the face of the earth. The LORD did not set his love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people; for ye were the fewest of all people” (Dt.7:6-7).

“Only the LORD had a delight in thy fathers to love them, and he chose their seed after them, even you above all people, as it is this day” (Dt.10:15).

The point is this: God has chosen believers in the very same sense in which He chose Israel. Believers are as chosen by God as Israel was. God loves us from the depths of His heart, and He wants us to be secure in the fact that He has chosen us. Our salvation is secure because it is based upon His having chosen us.

1. God has chosen believers to be saved “from the beginning,” that is, before the foundation of the world. This is a most glorious truth: God saw us as saved before we were ever born. He chose us to be saved before He ever created the world. Just think of the security in this. If God saw us as saved before the earth was made—if God saw us saved before we were ever born, then there is no way we can be lost and removed from His love and care. This is what Jesus meant when He said:

“And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand. My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father’s hand” (Jn.10:28-29).

What security! Having been chosen by God to salvation—chosen from the beginning, from eternity past—before the earth was ever established. There is no judgment or condemnation for the believer; the believer will not be judged and condemned with the followers of the antichrist nor with any other unbelievers.

“He hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love” (Eph.1:4).

Note a most crucial point: in the Bible the truth of God’s choice (election and predestination) is not so much a statement of theology or philosophy—it is more a message that speaks to the spiritual experience of the believer. If the pure logic of philosophy and theology is applied, then God’s choice says that God chooses some for heaven and others for a terrible hell. But this is simply not what God means in the passages dealing with His choice, and this fact needs to be given close attention by all ministers. What God wants believers to do is to take heart, for He has assured their salvation and given them the greatest security imaginable. This is what He means by His having chosen us to salvation. (See notes—Jn.6:44-46; Ro.8:29 for more discussion.) The next two points show how salvation takes place, both God’s part and man’s part.

2. God has chosen believers “through sanctification of the Spirit.” The word “sanctification” means to set apart or be separated unto God. We must always remember this fact (too many forget it and thereby become inconsistent in their theology and teaching of the Word). A man is a dead spirit; therefore, he can do nothing spiritually just as a dead body can do nothing physically. The natural man prefers self and sin; therefore, if a man with a dead spirit is to come to Christ, he has to be acted upon and drawn by God. Both God’s Spirit and man have a part in salvation. The part of God’s Spirit is to move upon the heart of a man and stir him to set apart his life unto God. How does the Spirit of God do this?

- a. The Holy Spirit quickens the gospel to a man’s mind so that he sees it as never before. He sees, understands, grasps as never before that “the Father...hath sent” Christ to feed and nourish man (to save and to give him life).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“For as the Father raiseth up the dead [spiritually dead], and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will” (Jn.5:21).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind” (Eph.4:22-23).

“Put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army” (Ezk.37:10).

- b. The Holy Spirit convicts a man of sin, of righteousness and of judgment, that is, of his need to be fed and nourished (saved and given life).

“And when he [the Holy Spirit] is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment” (Jn.16:8).

- c. The Holy Spirit attracts men to the cross of Christ through its glorious provisions.

“No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:44).

“And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me, This he said, Signifying what death he should die” (Jn.12:32-33).

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor.1:18).

“But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world” (Gal.6:14).

“That he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“Having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

d. The Holy Spirit stirs a man to respond by coming to Christ.

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

“In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink” (Jn.7:37).

“And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

“And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left” (Is.30:21).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price. Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness. Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you” (Is.55:1-3).

3. God has chosen believers through “belief of the truth,” that is, through believing the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

⇒ The Lord Jesus Christ has died for believers: taken their sins upon Himself and suffered the penalty, judgment, condemnation, and punishment of their sins. He has sacrificed and substituted His life for them.

⇒ The Lord Jesus Christ has risen from the dead for believers: conquered death and ascended into heaven for them.

The believers of the world believe the gospel with all their hearts: believe they will never have to die because Jesus Christ died for them—believe they shall ascend into heaven to live eternally with the Father and His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. They believe and have entrusted their lives to this glorious truth.

The point is this: when a person really believes the truth of the gospel, God saves him. This is man’s part in salvation. No person has ever been saved who did not believe the truth of the gospel. And no person who has rejected the gospel is lost because God has not chosen him. The person is lost because he rejected Christ. God will choose any person who will accept Christ. This is His Word; it is the promise of His Word. God will not force us to believe nor will He keep us from believing. The choice is every person’s choice. No person is forced to receive or to reject Christ. Every person is responsible for his own decision.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:16-18).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

3 (2:14) Salvation—Glory: the purpose of salvation is to gain the glory of Christ. Remember: the Thessalonian believers were suffering severe persecution. Think what this verse meant to them. They were bound for glory—to obtain and share in the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. The word “glory” (doxes) means to possess perfect light and to be full of perfect light; to dwell in the perfect light, brilliance, splendor, brightness, luster, and magnificence of God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Glory—Jn.17:22 for more discussion.)

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ as an heir of God.

2 THESSALONIANS 2:13-17

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified by being given a body just like the body of Christ.

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by appearing in the glory of heaven.

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by receiving a nature of glory, a glorious nature just like the nature of Christ.

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by receiving an eternal weight of glory.

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by receiving a salvation that involves eternal glory.

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by becoming a partaker of all the glory that shall be revealed.

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

⇒ The believer shall be glorified with Christ by receiving the light of the glory of God, and they shall reign with Him for ever and ever.

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

4 (2:15) Salvation: the duty of salvation is to stand fast and to cling to the Word of God. Note the word “traditions” (paradosis). It means all the Word of God whether it is taught or written. Leon Morris quotes J.B. Lightfoot: “The prominent idea of paradosis [tradition]...is that of an authority external to the teacher himself.” Leon Morris himself says:

“This is another way of putting the truth...that the gospel is not of human origin, and the preacher is not at liberty to substitute his own thoughts for that which he has received” (The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.138).

We are to stand fast and cling to the Word of God. We are not to buckle under to the world and its enticements. We are not to cave in, as the followers of the antichrist will do. We are to stand fast and cling to the Word of God no matter the inducement and the opposition.

“As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love” (Jn.15:9).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“But cleave unto the LORD your God, as ye have done unto this day” (Josh.23:8).

5 (2:16-17) Salvation: the resources of salvation are fivefold.

1. The person who is saved receives the love of God and of Christ (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).

2. The person who is saved receives eternal consolation (paraklesin aionian). The phrase means eternal encouragement, comfort, and strength. It is a consolation and strength that cannot be shaken by anything—no matter what it is—either now or in eternity.

3. The person who is saved receives good hope. What greater hope could the believer have than to live in glory with the Lord God forever and ever (see note, Glory—2 Th.2:14 for discussion)? Note: our hope is given us through the grace of God and through His grace alone.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

4. The person who is saved receives comfort (parakalesai). The word means exhortation, encouragement, admonition, comfort. Note that God and Christ are the Ones who can comfort, exhort, and encourage the believer to live like they should. When the believer comes to Christ for strength, Christ will comfort and encourage him.

5. The person who is saved is stablished in every good word and work. The word “stablish” (sterixai) means to strengthen, secure, make stable, set fast, and make firm. The one thing men long for is to be secure, strong, and firmly established in life. God is able to fulfill this longing. God is able to establish and strengthen man and to give him a strong life.

DIVISION III

FINAL WORDS, 3:1-18

A. Prayer and The Lord's Faithfulness, 3:1-5

(3:1-5) Introduction: the main section of the letter of Second Thessalonians has been completed. This passage begins the final words ever written to the church by Paul so far as we know. In the final words, two subjects jump to the forefront immediately: prayer and the Lord's faithfulness.

1. The request for prayer (v.1-2).
2. The Lord's faithfulness to the believer (v.3-5).

1 (3:1-2) Prayer: there was the request for prayer. The believers at Thessalonica were suffering severe persecution and all kinds of trouble. This was one of the reasons Paul was writing to the church: to comfort and encourage them to continue on for Christ. But remember: Paul was in Corinth and he too was suffering all kinds of trouble, including persecution. He needed the presence and power of the Lord as much as anyone. As John Walvoord says:

"Paul, too, was having his difficulties. The task committed to Paul was a very lonely one: to go from place to place, frequently coming into a strange city where not one person would welcome him. He was not entertained in the best hotel, nor was there any honorarium for him in recognition of his services. He had to find his own way, arrange for his public meetings, and somehow try to bear a testimony for Christ. Apart from fellowship with the Lord, it was a very difficult and solitary task and one in which there were many discouragements" (The Thessalonian Epistles, p.146).

The specific trouble at Corinth was persecution. The Jewish religionists attacked Paul and dragged him before the civil authorities. However, the case was dismissed because it was a religious matter. Paul was allowed to continue his preaching mission, but apparently the Jewish religionists continued their opposition, stirring up whatever trouble they could (cp. Acts 18:1-18 for the full story).

The point is this: Paul needed prayer; he needed believers everywhere praying for him. But note what it was he requested. He did not ask prayer...

- for comfort
- for personal needs
- for God to take him away from Corinth and to open up a new ministry elsewhere

Paul's focus was not selfish, not upon himself—not at all. His whole focus was upon the spread and success of the gospel. He wanted prayer for two things.

1. There was the need for the Word to have free course and to be glorified. The Word of God is often hindered, hampered, and stymied. Too often, it has no power or influence among a people. Why?

- ⇒ opposition
- ⇒ unprepared hearts
- ⇒ sleepy eyed listeners
- ⇒ daydreaming minds
- ⇒ unprepared and carnal preachers and teachers

The list could go on an on, but the great need of the hour is for the Word of God to have free course and be glorified in the pulpits and pews, classrooms and homes, streets and places of this nation and world.

"Free course" means to run. It is a picture of an Olympian athlete running in a race, the picture of the Word of God spreading all over because it is...

- focused
- active
- strong
- urgent
- unflinching
- vigorous
- powerful

If the Word of God had free course, it would be glorified; that is, souls would be saved and lives changed. People would be freed...

- from sin and its enslavement
- from guilty consciences

- from immoral and evil behavior
- from unjust treatment
- from ignorance
- from worldliness

People would no longer experience emptiness, loneliness, purposelessness, or lostness. They would be set free to know the Lord and to commit their lives to reaching and meeting the needs of a world full of desperate people. Note: this is exactly what had happened to the Thessalonian believers. The Word of God had freely run among the Thessalonians; therefore, many had been converted to the Lord (cp. 1 Th.1:5; 2:1, 13).

“And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained to eternal life believed” (Acts 13:48).

“For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake” (1 Th.1:5).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes. The fear of the LORD is clean, enduring for ever: the judgments of the LORD are true and righteous altogether. More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb. Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward” (Ps.19:7-11).

Thought 1. Believers should always be praying for the ministers and teachers of the gospel—that the Word of God might have a free course as it is preached and taught. And they should pray every day for every preacher and teacher they know. Think for a moment: What would happen if the believers of a single church prayed often every day for their minister and teachers? One thing is known: God could not sit still, for He would know that those believers were as sincere and genuine as they could be. He would know that they desperately wanted to reach their community for Christ.

2. There was the need for believers to be delivered from unreasonable and wicked men. Again, remember the situation of Paul, how he was being attacked in Corinth. He knew what it was like to be opposed by wicked people who would not listen to reason.

Ministers, teachers, and believers alike are sometimes opposed and attacked by unreasonable and wicked people. Think how unreasonable the attacks are. Why would people want to oppose and attack a person who preaches and teaches...

- | | |
|------------|----------------|
| • love | • discipline |
| • joy | • brotherhood |
| • peace | • salvation |
| • morality | • eternal life |

Why would people want to attack a person who preaches and teaches that God loves the world—that He has provided the way for man to escape death and to live forever and that the fountain of youth has been revealed? A reasonable and honest person would never oppose or attack a person who was preaching and teaching this message. But note: not all people are reasonable and good. As Scripture says, all persons do not have faith (v.2). In fact, the world is full of unreasonable and wicked persons, persons who want to live like they want without any interference from God. They deny and ignore God—deny and ignore the evidence within the world and within their hearts and thoughts that God exists and that His love and judgments are real. Therefore, they oppose anything that reminds them of eternity, of a coming day of judgment. They want nothing to do with a message that puts restrictions upon their behavior, especially a message that demands so much love—a love that demands that we give all we are and have to meet the needs of the dying and poor masses of the world.

Believers, ministers and laymen alike, need to be delivered from such unreasonable and wicked persons. When people lack reason and morality, goodness and honesty, conscience and decency, they are dangerous. They can hinder both the messenger and the message of the gospel. Therefore, believers need to be constantly praying for God to deliver His people from unreasonable and wicked persons.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me; that I may be delivered from them that do not believe in Judaea; and that my service which I have for Jerusalem may be accepted of the saints” (Ro.15:30-31).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints; and for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel, for which I am an ambassador in bonds: that therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak” (Eph.6:18-20).

“Brethren, pray for us” (1 Th.5:25).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

2 (3:3-5) Jesus Christ, Faithfulness of: there is the faithfulness of the Lord to the believer. The Lord Jesus Christ is faithful. Believers may fail us: when we stand in the greatest need, when people oppose and persecute us, when the most terrible trials confront us—believers may fail...

- to pray
- to encourage
- to support
- to speak kindly
- to help

But not the Lord. The Lord God is faithful. He will do things for the believer.

1. The Lord will establish the believer and keep him from evil.
 - ⇒ The word “stablish” (sterixei) means to strengthen, secure, make stable or firm, and set fast.
 - ⇒ The word “keep” (phulaxei) means to guard.
 - ⇒ The word “evil” can refer both to evil behavior and to the evil one, that is, Satan.

The point is this: the Lord is faithful, even if we fail to help one another. God will strengthen and guard us against Satan and his evil followers. In fact, the Lord will strengthen and guard us against all evil no matter what it is. Even if the evil seems to be conquering us, it will not—not in the final analysis.

- ⇒ God will deliver us by working all things out for good.

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

- ⇒ God will deliver us by overcoming our failures and completing His work of salvation in us.

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, by glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever” (Jude 24-25).

- ⇒ God will deliver us by delivering us from death.

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

2. The Lord will motivate the believer to keep His commandments. The Lord actually works within and energizes the believer to will and do God’s pleasure, that is, to keep His commandments. When we sense a stirring, some energy being aroused within our hearts to do good, that is the Spirit of God working within us. The Lord will never leave the believer, not completely; so long as the believer is on earth, the Lord will continue to work within him, to stir and energize him to keep God’s commandments. This is the reason Paul had confidence in the Thessalonian believers, that they would keep the commandments of the Word that had been taught them.

Thought 1. This is a critical fact: a person can tell if he is a true believer or not by the working of the Lord within his heart. If a person keeps the commandments of God, then it is evidence that the Lord is working within his heart; however, if a person is not keeping the commandments of God, then it is evidence that the Lord does not live within his heart and is not working within him.

“And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments” (1 Jn.2:3).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth. And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him” (1 Jn.3:18-19).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son” (1 Jn.5:10).

3. The Lord directs the believer’s heart into the love of God. This means both God’s love for us and our love for God. The word “direct” (kateuthunai) means to make straight or to be straight. It means to remove obstacles out of the way or to open up. The Lord Jesus Christ takes the genuine believer and opens up his heart; He straightens, directs, and focuses the believer’s heart upon the love of God. The result is that the believer learns to love God more and more. His attention and focus becomes more and more set upon God’s love. Therefore, when trials, trouble, temptation, and evil attack the believer, he is able to stand in the love of God and overcome the attack.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life” (Jude 21).

“And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might” (Dt.6:5).

“And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“O love ye the Lord, all ye his saints: for the Lord preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer” (Ps.31:23).

4. The Lord directs the believer to patiently wait for Christ’s return. The Lord Jesus Christ stirs the genuine believer to keep his eyes upon His return. Therefore, when evil strikes, the believer endures and perseveres—stands in strength and patience—keeping his eyes and heart focused upon the glorious hope of Christ, the hope of conquering death and of living forever and ever in perfection with God, the hope of ruling and reigning throughout the whole universe for Christ.

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Tim.6:14).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming” (1 Jn.2:28).

DIVISION III

FINAL WORDS, 3:1-18

B. Work and Employment, 3:6-18

(3:6-18) Introduction: this passage concludes the letter of Second Thessalonians. It deals with a very significant subject for our day and time: work and employment. The workplace is full of disorderly workers, workers who slack off and do as little as possible; workers who are eyewitnesses, who work only when they see the boss coming. In addition to these, there are many in our society who could be working, but they choose not to work because of laziness and slothfulness; and they have found a way to sponge off the government, social services, churches, and neighbors. The result is that a tragic dullness and a spirit of give me has pervaded the workplace and nation. As stated, this is the subject of this passage, a much needed subject.

1. Withdraw from every brother who walks disorderly—who does not work (v.6-11).
2. Work—every one of you (v.12-13).
3. Discipline the idler, the disorderly: disassociate from him (v.14-15).
4. The conclusion: the believer receives three possessions in Christ (v.16-18).

1 (3:6-11) Employee—Employment—Labor—Work: withdraw from every brother who walks disorderly, that is, who does not work. Note: this is a very strong command. It has the force of a military command: it is given “in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ,” the supreme commander. There is to be no discussion about the matter. What is being said is to be obeyed.

“Withdraw...from every brother that walks disorderly” (v.6). Who are the disorderly? Those who do not work. A strange thing had happened in the Thessalonian church. Some of the believers had become excited over the return of the Lord and the promise of being with Him forever in the new heavens and earth. They became so excited that they began to sacrifice all they could to meet the needs of people. But some went too far. They ignored the Lord’s words that only God knew when He would be returning, and they began to project dates and declare that His return was about to take place. Therefore, some quit their jobs in order to have more time to minister, and in an act of sacrificial commitment they gave away all they had. The result was catastrophic. They were now having to sponge off the other believers in order to survive. Their action had been most unwise—unwise because believers are to live life as it should be lived so long as they are upon earth. Believers are to set the example as to how life is to be lived, and work is certainly one of the duties of men. Therefore, of all people believers are to set an example in work. They are to be the very best workmen possible. Quitting work and not working is disorderly behavior; it is totally unacceptable for a true believer. It is so unacceptable that believers are commanded to withdraw from non-workers.

⇒ What does the Lord mean by “withdraw” (stellesthai)? The word means to stay away from the idle worker; to have no fellowship with him. His behavior is not to be indulged or condoned. We are not to put our stamp of approval upon him, nor are we to run the risk of becoming identified with him.

⇒ Who are the disorderly? They are the idle, the slothful, the lazy. They are the persons who refuse to work or who shirk their work or are slack in their work.

There are four reasons why we are to withdraw from the disorderly or idle worker.

1. The idle worker disobeys the instructions of God (v.6). Note the word “tradition” (paradosin). It means all the Word of God, whether taught or written (2 Th.2:15). Paul says that he had taught the believers the commandments of God that deal with work; therefore, they are without excuse. They know better than to sit around idle. If they continue to be idle, slothful, and lazy, the other believers are to withdraw from them. They are deliberately disobeying the instructions of God.

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing” (Mt.24:45-46).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“Servants [employees], be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ” (Eph.6:5).

“Servants [employees], obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God” (Col.3:22).

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you” (1 Th.4:11).

“Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread” (2 Th.3:12).

“Exhort servants [employees] to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not answering again” (Tit.2:9).

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“Servants [employees], be subject to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward” (1 Pt.2:18).

“And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it” (Gen.2:15).

“In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return” (Gen.3:19).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

2. The idle worker has the example of committed workers. The believers of Thessalonica had the example of Paul; we have the example of committed workers in our day. Paul worked day and night so that he would not owe any man anything (v.7-8). As a minister of the gospel, he had the right to be supported by believers so that he could be free to minister more. But he refused to exercise that right. Why? So that he could set a dynamic example of a diligent worker for the believers (v.9). Note: Paul says “follow us”—follow our example in being a diligent worker:

⇒ You “know how ye ought to follow us” (v.7).

⇒ We have set an “example unto you to follow us” (v.9).

Thought 1. There is absolutely no excuse for a Christian to be disorderly at his work: idle, slothful, or lazy. Paul set a dynamic example for us, and there are examples of other dynamic Christian workers who surround us. And if by chance there are no examples around us, then we should be following the example of Christ (the carpenter) and Paul (the tentmaker). We should be setting an example for other believers in diligent work.

“After these things Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth; and found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome;) and came unto them. And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought: for by their occupation they were tentmakers” (Acts 18:1-3).

“Yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me. I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:34-35).

“And when I was present with you, and wanted, I was chargeable to no man: for that which was lacking to me the brethren which came from Macedonia supplied: and in all things I have kept myself from being burdensome unto you, and so will I keep myself” (2 Cor.11:9).

“For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God” (1 Th.2:9).

“Neither did we eat any man’s bread for nought; but wrought with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you” (2 Th.3:8).

3. The idle worker must work or lose his right to eat (v.10). This fact is stated as clearly as it can be: “if any [will] not work, neither should he eat.” Note that this is a command, a command that Paul had preached when he was with the church. Note this fact as well: the commandment deals with those who choose to be idle and refuse to work. It is not dealing with those who are honestly unable to work due to disability or being unable to find employment. If a person is able to work, he is to work. If he refuses, he is not to be fed; he is not to be allowed to sponge off the church, community, or society. There is no excuse for a person not working if he is able to work—not in the sight of God. Too many in the world—millions—are desperate and destitute, dying within and without from loneliness, emptiness, starvation, disease, and sin. Almost every church or social service can put us to work in reaching a world of desperate and dying people who need our help and attention. In God’s words: “This we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.”

“And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end: that ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:11-12).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11; cp. Mt.25:24-27).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (Ro.13:8).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

“Give not sleep to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyelids” (Pr.6:4).

“Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise: which having no guide, overseer, or ruler, provideth her meat in the summer, and gathereth her food in the harvest. How long wilt thou sleep, O sluggard? When wilt thou arise out of thy sleep? Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep: so shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man” (Pr.6:6-11).

“He that gathereth in summer is a wise son: but he that sleepeth in harvest is a son that causeth shame” (Pr.10:5).

“He that tilleth his land shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth vain persons is void of understanding” (Pr.12:11).

“He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster” (Pr.18:9).

“Slothfulness casteth into a deep sleep; and an idle soul shall suffer hunger” (Pr.19:15).

“The desire of the slothful killeth him; for his hands refuse to labor. He coveteth greedily all the day long: but the righteous giveth and spareth not” (Pr.21:25-26).

“For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness shall clothe a man with rags” (Pr.23:21).

4. The idle worker tends to be a busybody. The mind of man is an active thing. What we tend to overlook is this: the mind is always active; it is never still. It is either thinking positive thoughts or negative and evil thoughts. The point is this: an idle person has an idle mind. His mind is not set upon positive thoughts, but negative and evil thoughts. An idle mind is the devil’s playground. This is the reason why so many idle persons—regardless of their age—get into trouble. The trouble can range all the way from becoming a busybody to murder.

The present passage is dealing with Christians and the trouble caused by being a busybody. Too many believers are busybodies, that is, poking themselves into other people’s affairs, tattling, gossiping, and spreading all kinds of talk and rumors. They just go about speaking all kinds of things that they should not. Why? Because they do not stay busy for the Lord by helping and ministering to the needs of those within the community who are hurting, lonely, desperate, dying, and lost.

“For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies” (2 Th.3:11).

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

“Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer among thy people: neither shalt thou stand against the blood of thy neighbor: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:16).

2 (3:12-13) Employee: work—every one of you. Again, this is a forceful command, a command that comes from the Lord Jesus Christ. But note: it is also an exhortation, a stirring challenge that comes from the Lord. The Lord is not cold or hard about the matter. If a believer has been mistaken about how he should work—if he has been slothful and slack in his work—the Lord will forgive. But the believer must confess his wrong and repent. He must repent by beginning to work and earn his own living. And note how we are to go about earning our living: in quietness. This is in contrast to being a busybody. We are to work with a quiet spirit and mind our own business; we are not to poke ourselves in other people’s business. We are to be quiet and efficient workers, not inefficient busybodies who are always walking about gabbing about other people and their affairs.

Note one other point: do not be weary in well-doing. Do not let the idlers discourage you, but stick to your job: be diligent and persevere. Do not slack off no matter what others do. Be a dynamic example for the Lord.

“Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his lord hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing” (Mt.24:45-46).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“Servants [employees], be obedient to them that are your masters [employers] according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ” (Eph.6:5).

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you” (1 Th.4:11).

“Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread” (2 Th.3:12).

3 (3:14-15) Employee—Idler: discipline the idler, the disorderly—have no company with him. Withdraw from him and have no fellowship with him. Note why: that he may be ashamed. The hope is that his shame will motivate him to get up and get to work.

However, the idle person is not to be disciplined as an enemy, but as a brother. The discipline is not to be done in a spirit of some superior, but in the spirit of a fellow believer, admonishing and warning him of what the Lord has to say about the matter.

The importance of the discipline is seen in the exactness of the words of Paul. Paul says, “Note that man”; that is, mark him out and disapprove of his behavior. Let him know that his refusal to work is not acceptable. Do not condone and indulge his idleness. Withdraw and have no fellowship with him. Also warn him: warning is essential. He must be admonished. Warning and letting him experience shame are his only hope of changing. Being warned and feeling shame might stir him to repent, to get up and get to work.

“Now we exhort, you brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“And he [Adam] said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself” (Gen.3:10).

“And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens” (Ezra 9:6).

“My confusion is continually before me, and the shame of my face hath covered me” (Ps.44:15).

4 (3:16-18) Conclusion: the believer has three great possessions in Christ. Note: this is a prayer of Paul for all the believers of the church.

1. The believer receives peace from “the Lord of peace Himself.” Note the phrase “always by all means.” The believer receives peace “at all times and in all ways—under all circumstances and conditions, whatever comes” (Amplified New Testament). (See note, Peace—1 Th.1:1 for discussion.)

2. The believer receives fellowship, a very special and personal fellowship. The church was dear to Paul. He sensed ever so deeply a close tie, a spiritual fellowship that bound his heart to the believers. Thus, he became concerned and was aroused to write and deal with the problems that had infiltrated the church. He wrote because of the special bond of fellowship between him and the church. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Fellowship—Acts 2:42 for more discussion.)

Note: it was Paul’s practice to dictate his letters to a secretary and then to sign them. This is what he means by the statement, “the salutation of Paul with mine own hand, which is the token in every epistle: so I wrote” (v.17).

3. The believer receives grace—the undeserved favor and strength of Jesus Christ (see note, Grace—1 Th.1:1 for discussion).

TIMOTHY

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TIMOTHY

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 61-64.

The books of 1 Timothy and Titus seem to have been written while Paul was traveling and ministering between two Roman imprisonments. The date depends upon the answer to this question: Did Paul suffer one or two Roman imprisonments? The book of Acts mentions only one imprisonment and closes with Paul in prison in Rome. It says nothing about his death. As one discusses this question, one major thing needs to be kept in mind. Paul prayed fervently that God would release him from prison. And he asked others to pray fervently for his release (Ph.1:25-26; Phile.22). Did God answer his prayer as requested? No one knows for sure. However, several factors point rather decisively to his being released and later suffering a second imprisonment.

1. The Life and Movements of Paul. Paul says in Tit.1:5 that he had been to Crete on a mission tour. And in Tit.3:12 he says that he was spending the winter in Nicopolis. These events do not fit in with any of the accounts in Acts. The evidence seems to be that God answered his prayer and had him released from prison.

2. The Life and Movements of Paul's Companions. Note the following two examples, and there are others. In 1 Tim.1:3 Paul says that he told Timothy to stay in Ephesus. But there is no record of this event in Scripture. Paul had made only two visits to Ephesus. One was a very short visit with little if any ministry. There is no mention whatsoever about Timothy (Acts 18:19-22). The second was his three year ministry in which Timothy had a part. But when it came time for Paul to move on, he sent Timothy and Erastus to Macedonia. He did not ask Timothy to stay in Ephesus. When then did Paul tell Timothy to stay in Ephesus? There just is no record of such a visit in Scripture. Thus all indications point to a third visit by Paul and Timothy—a visit after his first imprisonment and before an unrecorded second imprisonment.

Again, in 2 Tim.4:20 Paul writes, "Trophimus have I left at Miletum sick." Paul was in Miletum before his first Roman imprisonment, but he did not leave Trophimus there sick (Acts 20:17). Trophimus went on to Rome with Paul (Acts 21:29). When then was Trophimus left at Miletum sick? The only clear answer seems to be that Paul made another visit to Miletum—after his first imprisonment and right before a second unrecorded imprisonment.

3. The Time Sequence Between the Writing of the Prison Epistles and the Pastoral Epistles. The Prison Epistles (Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon) were written while Paul was in prison in Rome. He says so in each epistle. Note the following example: Philemon 24 says that Demas is a follower of Christ, but 2 Tim.4:10 says that he had deserted. The letter to Timothy was definitely written after the prison letter to Philemon. When? The evidence points toward a time after his first imprisonment and before a second unrecorded imprisonment. This seems to be the only clear explanation.

As stated above, 1 Timothy and Titus seem to have been written right after Paul had been released from his first imprisonment in Rome and was traveling about ministering. At some point in those few years he was rearrested and imprisoned in Rome for a second time. During this second imprisonment he wrote 2 Timothy before he was executed. His execution was probably between A.D. 65-68.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To Timothy, my own son in the faith" (1 Tim.1:2). Timothy's father was a Greek and an unbeliever, but his mother was a Jew and a believer. Her name was Eunice and his grandmother's name was Lois (2 Tim.1:5). Timothy was not circumcised; hence it would seem that he was educated in Greek ways and customs (Acts 16:3). When Paul met Timothy, Timothy was already a Christian believer with a strong testimony, so strong in fact that Paul arranged for him to become his missionary partner (Acts 16:1f). Timothy's maturity and importance are seen in Acts 16 when the word "he" of verse one is changed very rapidly to "they" of verse four. Timothy became a son to Paul (1 Cor.4:17). He was esteemed so highly and loved so deeply by Paul that Paul said he was the one man whose mind was at one with his own (Ph.2:19). He was probably chosen by Paul to become Paul's successor (see note—Ph.1:1). From this point on, he was seen either ministering with Paul or else being sent out by Paul to minister to certain churches. He was with Paul in Paul's first imprisonment (Col.1:1; Phile.1). Apparently, Paul was released from prison and Timothy began to travel with him again (see 1 Timothy, Introduction, Date). On this journey Paul left him in Ephesus to correct some errors that had arisen, while Paul himself traveled on into Macedonia to visit the churches there. Soon thereafter Paul was arrested and imprisoned in Rome a second time. As soon as possible Timothy joined him (2 Tim.4:11, 21), but this time Timothy was imprisoned also. However, Timothy was later released (Heb.13:23), while Paul was either beheaded or released and began a mission tour into Spain. (See note, Timothy—Ph.2:19-24 for more discussion.)

PURPOSE: Paul had three purposes for writing Timothy.

1. To encourage Timothy in his Christian life and walk.
2. To warn against false teaching and doctrinal error.
3. To teach the qualifications and order of officials in the church. Believers needed to know how to behave in the church: "That thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God" (1 Tim.3:15).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. 1 Timothy is "A Pastoral Epistle." There are two other Pastoral Epistles: 2 Timothy and Titus. They are called Pastoral Epistles because they deal primarily with the pastoral care, oversight, and organization of the church. They tell believers how they ought to behave in the house of God (1 Tim.3:15). Interestingly, the term pastoral has a long history. It was first used by Thomas Aquinas in A.D. 1274. He called 1 Timothy "an epistle of pastoral rule" and 2 Timothy "an epistle of pastoral care.” The term “Pastoral Epistles,” however, began to be widely used only after D.N. Berdot (A.D. 1703) and Paul Anton (A.D. 1726) so described them (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries.” Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1972, p.11).

2. 1 Timothy is “A Personal Epistle.” It was written to a young disciple who was loved as a son. The epistle is filled with warm and affectionate feelings and filled with instructions that were to govern Timothy’s personal behavior.

3. 1 Timothy is “An Ecclesiastical Epistle.” It was written to answer questions about church organization, doctrinal purity, and personal behavior. Two things were happening. First, the number and sizes of churches were growing rapidly, and second, the apostles were aging. In both cases the apostles were just unable to personally reach and instruct all the churches; therefore, they had to write if the churches were to be rooted and grounded in the Lord.

4. 1 Timothy is “An Apologetic Epistle.” It is a defense of the faith. The first rumblings and early development of false teaching had just begun to appear (Gnosticism. See Colossians, Introductory Notes, Purpose.) Therefore, Paul warns the believers and defends the truth against heretical and false teaching.

INTRODUCTION: THE MINISTER AND HIS YOUNG DISCIPLE, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: this is a strong but warm and tender greeting. It is a greeting that has royalty in it, the kind of royalty that exists in a man who is the ambassador of a King. The ambassador is writing to his dear son. This is exactly what Paul is claiming when he says that he is an apostle: he is the ambassador of God Himself. But note the tenderness as well as the royalty of his greeting. He is not only an ambassador, a person of royalty, he is also a father. He has fathered his son in the faith. He has devoted his life and energy to his son over the past years, and his son has become a disciple of his wonderful Lord. Now he wishes to pass on the royalty of the Lord's command.

The one thing needed within the church is the royal ministry of making disciples, of nourishing and nurturing men and women as sons and daughters of the faith. This is the challenge of this greeting. In seeing the relationship that existed with Paul and Timothy, we should be challenged more and more to make disciples—to get to the task of growing leaders within God's church.

1. The minister's call and credentials: an apostle (v.1).
2. The disciple's privilege and need (v.2).

1 (1:1) Minister, Call—Apostle: the minister's call and credentials. Paul calls himself an apostle of Jesus Christ. The word "apostle" (apostolos) means a person who is sent out or sent forth. An apostle is a representative, an ambassador, an envoy, a person who is sent out into one country to represent another country. Three things are true of the apostle:

- ⇒ he belongs to the king or country who sends him out.
- ⇒ he is commissioned to be sent out.
- ⇒ he possesses all the authority and power of the person who sends him out.

Paul makes three forceful points.

1. He was an apostle by the command of God. The word command (epitagen) means to be under orders; to be placed under obligation. It is the instructions given by some high official that must be carried out, for example, the word of a king. The word command has the sense of compulsion, force, and necessity.

Paul—the minister of God—was a man sent forth by the command and order of the King of kings, God Himself. The compulsion, force, and necessity of God's command drove him to be a minister of Christ Jesus.

Thought 1. The stress of Paul upon his apostleship seems to indicate that Timothy was to share the letter of First Timothy with the church as a whole. What Paul was writing to Timothy was coming from an apostle of Christ; therefore, the whole church was to heed the exhortations.

2. He was an apostle because of God our Savior. This is one of the great titles of God. God is the first source of our salvation. We are saved because God loves us.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

If God did not love us, we would not be saved. We would be wiped off the face of the earth, utterly destroyed, condemned, and punished throughout all of eternity without any hope of ever being saved. But God does love us; therefore, He has provided the way for us to be saved. God is our Savior.

The point is this: since God is our Savior, man never has to die; he can be delivered from sin, death, and judgment to come. This is another reason Paul was driven to serve Christ. People all around him were...

- enslaved by sin.
- gripped by death.
- doomed to face the judgment of God.

Therefore, Paul was driven to represent Christ Jesus in this world of sin and death. He was forced by the inner compulsion of God our Savior to carry the glorious message of salvation to the whole world: the message that God is interested in the whole world. God is our Savior.

“And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour” (Lk.1:47).

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:3-6).

“For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe” (1 Tim.4:10).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

“Not purloining [stealing], but showing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” (Tit.2:10).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power...now and ever” (Jude 25).

3. He was an apostle because of Christ Jesus who is our hope. Men long and hope for all kinds of things...
- recognition, acceptance, esteem, friends.
 - security and victory over the trials of life.
 - deliverance from death and eternal life.

The reason man longs for these things is because he lacks them. Even if he possesses some sense of them, he still senses a great deal of lack: a great deal of emptiness, incompleteness, unfulfillment, and insecurity within his soul. Why? Because the human soul can never be at rest until it has the absolute assurance that it is acceptable to God and is going to live forever. The human soul was made for God and for the hope of God. Therefore, there is only one way a person can ever have this absolute assurance: Christ Jesus must live within his heart. Christ Jesus is a person's hope of glory (Col.1:27). When a person receives Christ Jesus into his heart and life, the divine nature of Christ...

- makes the person acceptable to God.
- gives the person the recognition, acceptance, and friendship of God and of all other believers (the church).
- gives the person security and gives him supernatural power to conquer the trials of life.
- delivers the person from death and gives him the inheritance of eternal life.

On top of all this, the most wonderful thing happens: Christ gives the person the absolute assurance and hope of all these. The person becomes complete, perfectly complete and satisfied in Christ Jesus our hope (Col.2:10).

The point is this: since Christ is our hope, Paul was driven to serve Christ. He was forced by the inner compulsion to offer the hope of Christ to a world that was gripped by the hopelessness of despair, trouble, and death.

“Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively [living] hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:2-3).

“Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God” (Ps.43:5).

Thought 1. William Barclay says that Christ our hope became one of the most precious titles for Christ in the early church. He quotes two ancient writers to illustrate his point:

“Ignatius of Antioch, when he was on his way to execution in Rome, writes to the Church in Ephesus: ‘Be of good cheer in God the Father and in Jesus Christ our common hope’ (Ignatius, To the Ephesians 21:2). Polycarp writes: ‘Let us therefore persevere in our hope and the earnest of our righteousness, who is Jesus Christ’ (Epistle of Polycarp 8).” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon. “Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1956, p.22.)

- 2 (1:2) Discipleship—Timothy—Minister: the disciple's privilege and need. Timothy was greatly privileged, for he was treated as a son by a minister of God, even by Paul himself. (See Author—Introduction.) Note that Paul calls Timothy “my own son in the faith.” When Paul first met Timothy, Timothy was only ten to twelve years old. But even at that young age, his love for the Lord was apparently strong and noticed by Paul. When Paul returned to Lystra on his next missionary journey, Paul was so stricken with Timothy's spiritual maturity that he invited him to become a disciple. Later, Paul was to say that Timothy was the one person whose mind was as one with his own (Ph.2:19). Paul took him under his wing and began to disciple him in the Lord—to teach him all he knew. What a wonderful privilege: to be discipled by Paul the apostle. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Timothy—1 Tim.1:2; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 16:1-3; note—Ph.2:22-24.)

Note the greeting by Paul. He names three qualities that a disciple must possess.

1. There is the grace of God and of Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15 for discussion).
2. There is the mercy of God and of Christ (see note, Mercy—1 Tim.1:2 for discussion).
3. There is the peace of God and of Christ. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and weaved together. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to have a sense, a consciousness, a knowledge that God will...

| • provide | • sustain | • save |
| • guide | • deliver | • give life, real life, both now and forever |
| • strengthen | • encourage | |

A person can experience true peace only as he comes to know Jesus Christ. Only Christ can bring peace to the human heart, the kind of peace that brings deliverance and assurance to the human soul.

Again, it is an absolute essential for the minister and disciple of Christ to know the peace of God and Christ. How can the minister share the gospel of peace unless he has peace with God? The answer is obvious you cannot share that which you do not possess.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord only makest me dwell in safety” (Ps.4:8).

(1:2) Timothy: Timothy was just a child when Paul visited Lystra on his first mission (about five or six years before). He was probably somewhere around ten to twelve years old. He was still a young man when Paul wrote his first letter to Timothy (1 Tim.4:12). All this means Timothy was somewhere around eighteen years old when Paul met him on his second mission to Lystra.

It is also possible that Paul led Timothy to the Lord on his first mission tour, but it is more probable that Timothy’s mother and grandmother led him to the Lord.

Acts seems to read as though Paul did not know or remember Timothy from his first mission (Acts 16:1-3). In either case, his spiritual maturity at this point was strong enough for Paul to challenge him to join his mission corps. The facts of his life seem to be as follows:

Timothy’s father was a Greek and an unbeliever, but his mother was a Jew and a believer. Her name was Eunice and his grandmother’s name was Lois (2 Tim.1:5). Timothy was not circumcised; hence it would seem that he was educated in Greek ways and customs (Acts 16:3). When Paul met Timothy, Timothy was already a Christian believer with a strong testimony, so strong in fact that Paul arranged for him to become his missionary partner (Acts 16:1f). Timothy’s maturity and importance are seen in Acts 16 when the word “he” of verse one is changed very rapidly to “they” of verse four. Timothy became a son to Paul (1 Cor.4:17). He was esteemed so highly and loved so deeply by Paul that Paul said he was the one man whose mind was at one with his own (Ph.2:19). He was probably chosen by Paul to become Paul’s successor (see note—Ph.1:1). From this point on, he was seen either ministering with Paul or else being sent out by Paul to minister to certain churches. He was with Paul during Paul’s first imprisonment (Col.1:1; Phile.1). Apparently, Paul was released from prison and Timothy began to travel with him again (see 1 Timothy, Introduction, Date). On this journey Paul left him in Ephesus to correct some errors that had arisen, while Paul himself travelled on into Macedonia to visit the churches there. Soon thereafter Paul was arrested and imprisoned in Rome a second time. As soon as possible Timothy joined him (2 Tim.4:11, 21), but this time Timothy was imprisoned also. However, Timothy was later released (Heb.13:23), while Paul was either beheaded or released and began a mission tour into Spain. (See note, Timothy—Ph.2:19 for more discussion.)

(1:2) Mercy: (eleos) feelings of pity, compassion, affection, kindness. It is a desire to succor; to tenderly draw unto oneself and to care for. Two things are essential in order to have mercy: seeing a need and being able to meet that need. God sees our need and feels for us (Eph.2:1-3). Therefore, He acts; He has mercy upon us...

- God withholds His judgment.
- God provides a way for us to be saved.

Mercy arises from a heart of love: God has mercy upon us because He loves us. His mercy has been demonstrated in two great ways:

- ⇒ God has withheld His judgment from us—withheld it even when we deserve it.
- ⇒ God has provided a way for us to be saved through the Lord Jesus Christ.

When Jesus Christ died, He died for our sins. He took our sins upon Himself and bore the judgment of sin for us. Therefore, if we trust Christ as our Savior, God does not count sin against us. Instead, He counts the righteousness of Christ for us. We become acceptable to God through the righteousness of Christ. The great mercy of God is...

- that He allowed Christ, His very own Son, to die for us. He actually allowed His own Son to bear the punishment of our sins for us.
- that He loves us so much that He will forgive our sins if we will only trust Christ.

The point is this: it is absolutely necessary for both the minister and the disciple to know and possess the mercy of God and of Christ. A person who has not experienced the mercy of God does not know God. Of all people, the minister and disciple of Christ must know the mercy of God.

DIVISION I

FALSE AND TRUE TEACHERS IN THE CHURCH, 1:3-11

A. The Danger of False Teachers, 1:3-11

(1:3-11) Introduction—Minister: this is the first charge to the young minister—to be a defender of the faith. The young minister must guard against and correct false teachers. (See the general outline for the other charges to the young minister.)

1. False teachers teach a different doctrine (v.3).
2. False teachers give heed to speculations and questions rather than godly edification (v.4).
3. False teachers put empty discussion above love (v.5-6).
4. False teachers put ambition and personal ideas above the truth (v.7).
5. False teachers put self-righteousness above God's gospel (v.8-11).

1 (1:3) Teachers, False—Doctrine: false teachers teach a different doctrine. Timothy was in Ephesus and Paul was in Macedonia, a great distance apart. Ephesus was in Asia and Macedonia was in Europe, north of Greece. Note that Paul had to urge Timothy to stay at Ephesus. The church was in trouble because false teaching had seeped in, and the church needed Timothy. Apparently, Timothy felt incapable and wanted to join Paul until Paul could return to Ephesus and handle the situation himself. However, false teaching is so serious a matter that it has to be handled immediately when it raises its ugly head. Therefore, Timothy had to remain in Ephesus so that he could charge the church to stop the false teaching. The word “charge” (parangello) is a strong word. It is a military word that means to pass commands down through the ranks. Timothy was to give orders and charge the false teachers to stop teaching false doctrine, and if this did not work, he was to order and charge the church to handle the false teachers. This says several things about the church at Ephesus.

1. The leaders had not heeded the word of Paul when he had met with them earlier (Acts 20:17-38). He had warned them about false teachers.

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them. Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:28-31).

2. The leaders had not insisted upon the purity of the gospel as Paul had done and taught. They had allowed the Word of God to become corrupted.

“But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more. Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men. For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God" (Acts 20:24-27).

"And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified" (Acts 20:32).

"For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ" (2 Cor.2:17).

3. Timothy was to charge the ministers, teachers, and leaders to preach no other doctrine than the doctrine of God's Word.

- ⇒ They were not to add to the doctrine of God's Word.
- ⇒ They were not to take away from the doctrine of God's Word.
- ⇒ They were not to formulate new doctrines for the church.

They were not to make what they thought were improvements nor to correct what they thought were defects in the Word of God. They were not to change or alter the Word of God to any degree whatsoever. In the clear words of this verse: "charge some that they teach no other doctrine."

"I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed" (Gal.1:6-9).

"Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees" (Mt.16:12).

"Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ" (Col.2:8).

"Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines" (Heb.13:9).

2 (1:4) Teachers, False: false teachers give heed to speculations and questions rather than godly edification. No better description of false teaching could be given than what this verse gives:

"[False teaching] is fables and endless genealogies, which give rise to questions, rather than godly edifying" (v.4).

1. The word "fables" (muthois) refers to all forms of false and fictional teaching or doctrine. It means the false ideas and speculations of men about God and Christ and the teachings of God's Word. The doctrines of men are only speculations, fables, narratives, stories, fictions, and falsehoods (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.561).

"But refuse profane and old wives' fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness" (1 Tim.4:7).

"And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables" (2 Tim.4:4).

"Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth" (Tit.1:14).

"For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty" (2 Pt.1:16).

2. The word "genealogies" refers to those who take comfort in a godly heritage. The Jews were guilty of this. They took great pride in their godly forefathers, so much so that they felt that the godliness of their forefathers rubbed off on them. The more godly forefathers they had in their roots, the more prestigious and acceptable they felt before God and men. They felt that the stronger their roots, the more man and God would accept and esteem them. Note the reference to "endless genealogies." There were apparently those who were spending enormous amounts of time in structuring and discussing the godly heritage of the past. Apparently, the practice had seeped into the church. There were those...

- who were stressing heritage over Christ.
- who were depending upon a godly heritage for salvation instead of trusting Christ.
- who were spending more time in genealogies than in edifying and building up the godliness of the church.
- who were concentrating upon questions and theories rather than upon building godly behavior among believers.

Thought 1. Some persons take great comfort in their godly heritage. They actually feel that God would never reject them...

- because of their godly wives, husbands, children, parents.
- because they have a godly pastor or friend with whom they are close.

"Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham" (Lk.3:8).

“Then they reviled him, and said, Thou art his disciple; but we are Moses’ disciples” (Jn.9:28).

“And art confident that thou thyself art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness” (Ro.2:19).

“Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one” (Job 14:4).

“I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me” (Job 33:9).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts” (Pr.21:2).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

3 (1:5-6) Teachers, False—Love—Conscience—Faith: false teachers put empty discussion above love. The end of God’s commandment to men is love (agape, God’s kind of love). Therefore, ministers and teachers are to focus upon growing in love and in teaching love. The great call of believers is...

- to know the love of God and to love God.
- to love each other as brothers in the Lord.
- to love the lost of the world so much that we are driven to take the gospel to them.

But note where this kind of love comes from. Its source is not found in men; it does not just arise out of the heart of man. The love which we are to know and possess comes from three sources.

- ⇒ Love comes from a pure heart: a heart forgiven by God and cleansed from all impurities; a heart that is not weighed down by selfishness, worldliness, envy, covetousness, and immorality.
- ⇒ Love comes from a good conscience: a conscience that knows there is nothing between it and God, between it and men; a conscience that knows it has been true to God’s Word and has taught no error.
- ⇒ Love comes from unfeigned or sincere faith: a faith that is set upon God and His Word, that holds to God’s Word and trusts and teaches God’s Word and God’s Word only.

The end of God’s commandment—of all that God has ever said to man—is love. Therefore, a true believer commits his life to learn more and more about the love of God and to teach the love of God more and more. But to do this he must be totally committed...

- to having a pure heart before God.
- to having a good (clear) conscience before God.
- to following the faith, that is, the teachings and doctrine of God’s Word.

However, this is not true with some—not true with false teachers. Note exactly what Scripture says: some have swerved and turned aside to empty discussions. The term “vain jangling” sounds just like what false teaching amounts to: janglings—vain, empty janglings. The term means empty arguments, discussions, and speculations—the speculative ideas of men about God, Christ, and the Word of God. Note that false teachers swerve and turn aside from the doctrines of God’s Word to these vain janglings.

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision” (Tit.1:10).

“Should a wise man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the east wind? Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?” (Job 15:2-3).

“The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness” (Eccl.10:13).

4 (1:7) Teachers, False: false teachers put their own ambition and personal ideas above the truth. The picture is that of a person who is ambitious..

- to be recognized as an original teacher or preacher.
- to be recognized as a creative person.
- to be recognized as the creator of a novel idea or doctrine.
- to be recognized as the author of a new concept or doctrine.
- to be recognized as the founder of a new movement.

The picture is that of a person who so desires to fit in with the latest fashion of teaching that he neglects or ignores the truth. He disregards the truth in order to fit in with his peers. The false teacher’s ambition is allowed to cloud his understanding of the truth.

Barclay points out that the false teacher who is ambitious often...

- demonstrates arrogance instead of humility.
- focuses upon teaching rather than learning.
- looks down upon simple-minded people.
- regards those who do not agree with his conclusions as ignorant fools. (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.37.)

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God” (Mt.22:29).

“He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. He came unto his own, and his own received him not” (Jn.1:10-11).

“For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead” (Jn.20:9).

“Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:2).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears” (2 Tim.4:3).

“Whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:11).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not and their damnation slumbereth not” (2 Pt.2:1-3).

5 (1:8-11) Teachers, False—Law, The: false teachers put self-righteousness above God’s gospel. These verses show that the false teachers who had infiltrated the church were Jewish legalists. These said that a person became acceptable to God...

- by Christ and the law.
- by receiving Christ plus keeping the law.
- by becoming righteous in Christ and by doing the righteousness of the law.

They rejected the teaching that a person was saved by grace through faith alone. To them a person could not be saved unless he...

- became good enough to please God.
- did enough good to make himself acceptable to God.

What is wrong with this? There is nothing wrong with doing good, but there is a great deal wrong with thinking and teaching that a person can do enough good to make himself acceptable to God. God is perfect; therefore, a person would have to become perfect to be acceptable to God.

- ⇒ Man is already short of perfection; he is already imperfect; therefore, he can never be acceptable to God—not by any merit or work of his own.
- ⇒ Man already comes so short and is so sinful, he can never stop coming short and sinning. Every man comes short, sins, fails, trespasses, and transgresses—no matter who he is. He is depraved and lives a depraved life—a life short of God’s glory (Ro.3:23).

This is the reason God gave man the law: not to show man that he is righteous (lawful), but to show him just how far short he really is of God’s glory—how unrighteous he is and how much he needs the love and grace of God. God gave the law to show man how much he needs a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of God Himself. This is what man fails to see. This is what the false teachers fail to see.

1. False teachers do not understand the law and its purposes. God gave the law to man to show him how short he comes (unrighteousness) and to restrain evil. Note this:

- ⇒ The law was given to man—to all men.
- ⇒ The law was not made for the righteous, but for the unrighteous.
- ⇒ Therefore, all men must be unrighteous because the law was given to all men.

Scripture gives a list of the people to whom God gave the law. Note how the list covers all of society. Every person is guilty of having broken the law of God.

- a. The law is given to the lawless and disobedient (rebellious): all who fail to live as God wills and commands. If a person could fail just once (he can’t, but if he could), he would still need the law to let him know that he is short of the standard and has to pay the penalty and must not violate the standard any more.
- b. The law is given to the ungodly and sinners: all who act contrary to God’s nature and come short of perfection.
- c. The law is given to the unholy and profane: all who refuse to set their lives apart to God and dedicate themselves to God; all who deny and question God and spiritual things and exalt themselves and this world above God and the spiritual world.
- d. The law is given to “those who strike and beat and [even] murder fathers and strike and beat and [even] murder mothers” and for other murderers (Amplified New Testament).
- e. The law is given to whoremongers and to those who defile themselves with mankind, that is, all impure and immoral persons and all homosexuals.
- f. The law is given to menstealers or kidnappers.

- g. The law is given to liars and to those who commit perjury.
- h. The law is given to any thing else that is contrary to the sound doctrine (teaching) of God's Word.

Note how no person is left out of the list: every human being who has ever lived or ever will live needs the law, for every person is short of God's glory; that is, every man is unrighteous. Therefore, no person can ever be acceptable to God. Righteousness is not by the law—not by being good and doing good. False teachers fail to see this.

2. False teachers do not understand the real measuring rod of God: the gospel—the glorious gospel of the blessed God. The blessed God has made a way for man to become acceptable to Him. It is not the way of law and works, but the way of the gospel. When a person accepts the gospel of God, God accepts that person. What is the gospel?

“That Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners” (1 Tim.1:15).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:16-18).

FALSE AND TRUE TEACHERS IN THE CHURCH, 1:3-20

B. The Testimony of a True Minister, 1:12-17

(1:12-17) Introduction: this passage is a contrast with the former passage (1 Tim.1:3-11), presenting a strong contrast between the true minister and false teachers. These verses cover the testimony of Paul, who was a true minister. The verses are a sharp contrast with those who are false teachers (see outline and notes—1 Tim.1:3-11). It is a passage that every minister and teacher of the church should heed.

1. Christ Jesus put him in the ministry (v.12-14).
2. Christ saved him (v.15-16).
3. Christ is to be praised (v.17).

1 (1:12-14) Minister: Jesus Christ puts the true minister in the ministry. This is a critical fact. Paul says that he did not make himself a minister nor did other persons choose him to be a minister. He did not choose the ministry because he thought it would be a good profession nor because people thought he would make a good minister. He was in the ministry for one reason only: Christ Jesus had chosen him and put him into the ministry. Note four facts.

1. Christ Jesus enabled Paul. The word “enabled” (endunamoo) means to strengthen and give power to. The power of Paul’s ministry came from Christ. Christ gave him the strength to minister. Paul’s strength and power to minister did not come from his...

- trying to stir up power within himself.
- talking about the results and power in his ministry.
- trying to program strength and power into his ministry.
- trying to shout power into his preaching.

Christ Himself put Paul into the ministry; therefore Christ Himself strengthened and empowered Paul for the ministry. No person has the power to do spiritual warfare; no person can penetrate the spirits of other people. If a person is to minister to people, he must be empowered by Christ, for only Christ can penetrate the spirits of people. Therefore, the minister must possess the power of Christ.

Thought 1. This is a critical fact. It means that a person cannot make himself a minister nor can other persons choose him to be a minister—not a true minister, not a minister who pleases Christ and can be blessed by Christ. Why? Because no person can carry on a successful ministry in his own strength, not a ministry that truly reaches people for Christ and delivers them from sin, death, and the judgment to come. Only Christ can do this. This is the reason the minister must be enabled by Christ; he must minister in the strength and power of Christ.

A person who is in the ministry because he has chosen the ministry as a profession or because people thought he would make a good minister is only serving a humanistic religion. Of course, a humanistic minister—a minister who ministers only in his human strength—does some good through social and emotional development. But he does much harm in that he leads people into a false security. How? He is not able to spiritually save a person—not a single person—from sin, death, and the judgment to come. Only Christ Jesus can do this. Therefore, the only way a minister can be what he should be...

- is to be put in the ministry by Christ Jesus.
- is to be enabled (strengthened and empowered) by Christ Jesus.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence" (1 Cor.1:27-29).

"[God] also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life" (2 Cor.3:6).

"Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not" (2 Cor.4:1).

"And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:18-21).

"Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power" (Eph.3:7).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Eph.4:11-13).

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

"Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles" (2 Tim.1:9-11).

2. Christ Jesus counted him trustworthy. This is a most wonderful thought, that Christ would count us trustworthy. He trusts us to be faithful, and in the final analysis, He knows that we will be faithful to Him. This is one of the reasons He chooses and puts us in the ministry.

Thought 1. No matter how far down a minister falls, he should always remember that Christ Jesus counts him faithful. Christ knows that the minister of Christ will arise and begin to serve with renewed fervor. This is the reason Christ called the minister: because in the final analysis the minister will be faithful. How do we know this? Because of the forgiveness and power and faithfulness of Christ. Therefore, any minister who has fallen must arise and seek the forgiveness of Christ and begin to walk anew in the strength and power of Christ.

Thought 2. William Barclay has an excellent message for us as we deal with our dear brothers and sisters who have fallen.

"It was to Paul an amazing thing, that he, the arch-persecutor, had been chosen as the missionary and the pioneer of Christ. It was not only that Jesus Christ had forgiven him; it was that Christ had trusted him. Sometimes in human affairs we forgive a man who has committed some mistake or who has been guilty of some sin, but we make it very clear that his past makes it impossible for us to trust him again with any responsibility. But Christ had not only forgiven Paul, He had entrusted him with His work to do. The man who had been the persecutor of Christ had been made the ambassador of Christ" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.48).

"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful" (1 Cor.4:2).

"For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the gospel is [still] committed unto me" (1 Cor.9:17).

"Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God" (Col.1:25).

"But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness" (1 Th.2:4-5).

"According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:11-12).

"In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour" (Tit.1:2-3).

3. Christ Jesus forgave his terrible sins. Paul mentions three terrible sins of which he had been guilty.
⇒ Blasphemy: he had insulted, reviled, cursed, and railed the name of Christ.

- ⇒ Persecutor: he had been so angry at Christ that he had set out to wipe the Lord's name off the face of the earth. Therefore, he had been set against all believers—set upon destroying them all. (See note, Church, Persecution of—Acts 8:3 for more discussion.)
- ⇒ Injurious (hubristes): insolent; to treat and use others spitefully; to be brutal and violent and to enjoy it; to be in a fiery rage and to inflict it upon others. William Barclay says that the word “indicates a kind of arrogant sadism; it describes the man who is out to inflict pain and injury for the sheer joy of inflicting it...that is what Paul was once like in regard to the Christian Church. Not content with words of insult, he went to the limit of legal persecution. Not content with legal persecution, he went to the limit of sadistic brutality in his attempt to stamp out the Christian faith” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.52).

However despite all this evil, God had mercy upon Paul. Paul had not known that Christ was really the true Messiah. He thought that he knew God and that his religion was the true religion. He felt that any religion that stood against his religion was to be stamped out. Therefore, when Paul attacked Christ and His followers, he did it ignorantly in unbelief. He just did not believe that Jesus Christ could possibly be the Messiah.

The point is this: God had mercy upon Paul. He took pity upon Paul despite his terrible sins (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Mercy—1 Tim.1:2).

“So then it is not of him that willeth, nor of him that runneth, but of God that showeth mercy” (Ro.9:16).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“It is of the LORD'S mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

4. Christ Jesus poured out His grace upon Paul. Remember: grace means the undeserved favor and blessings of God.
 - ⇒ Christ favored Paul even when he did not deserve it.
 - ⇒ Christ blessed Paul even when he did not deserve it.

And note: Christ favored and blessed him exceedingly and abundantly, that is, superabundantly and beyond measure. Christ did two things for Paul.

- ⇒ Christ stirred faith in Paul: the faith to believe and trust and to serve and to keep on serving no matter the trial, problem, or fatigue.
- ⇒ Christ stirred love in Paul: the love to still reach out and do all he could for people even when they rejected, ridiculed, abused, and persecuted him. (See note—1 Tim.1:5-6 for more discussion.)

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

2 (1:15-16) Minister—Salvation: Jesus Christ saves the true minister. Three significant points are made in these two verses.

1. Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners. This is a faithful saying or statement. It is a true message that can be trusted, and the glorious message is worthy of everyone accepting it. Not a single person should reject or ignore the message.

“Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.” Christ actually left the spiritual world or dimension to come into the physical world in order to save the human race. He saves us from sin, death, and the judgment to come. No matter how sinful a person is—no matter how great a sin or sins he has committed—Christ Jesus came to save him. And the person can be saved.

The point is this: every true minister has been saved by Christ or else he is not a true minister. It is just as necessary for a minister to be saved as it is for anyone else. Every person needs to be saved, and once he has been saved—no matter how terrible his sin—Christ can put him into the ministry.

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day” (Jn.12:47-48).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

2. Christ Jesus has now saved the chief sinner. The worst sins in the world are the sins of...

- blasphemy: being filled with anger and malice against Christ; cursing and blaspheming His name with a bitter hostility.
- persecuting believers and trying to annihilate them off the face of the earth.
- injuring believers; being brutal and violent against believers and enjoying it.

This had been Paul, but note the wonderful truth: “Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.” And Paul was the chief sinner; therefore, Christ Jesus had come to save him.

Thought 1. Christ will save anyone who confesses that he is a sinner and that he needs to be saved—any sinner who truly confesses and repents of his sin. No matter how terrible the sin, if the person will confess and turn from his sin, Christ will save him. Why? Because Christ Jesus came to save sinners. This was His very purpose for coming into the world.

The point is this: every true minister is to know how terrible a sinner he is. He is as much a sinner as Paul was. The minister is to be as conscious of being a sinner as much as anyone else. He is to be aware that he is “the chief” of sinners or else he lacks a true sense of God’s holiness and of man’s depravity.

“But when Jesus heard that, he said unto them, They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. But go ye and learn what that meaneth, I will have mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance” (Mt.9:12-13).

“Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself, saying, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him: for she is a sinner” (Lk.7:39).

“And when they saw it, they all murmured, saying, That he was gone to be guest with a man that is a sinner” (Lk.19:7).

“When Jesus had lifted up himself, and saw none but the woman, he said unto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee? She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more” (Jn.8:10-11).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

“He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy” (Pr.28:13).

3. Christ Jesus saved Paul as a pattern of His great mercy. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Tim.1:16 for more discussion.) Very simply, Paul is the prime example...

- that any sinner, no matter how terrible his sin, can be saved—if he will only receive Christ and begin to follow Him day by day.
- that any believer can be delivered from sin and from the power of sin, no matter how strong the enslavement is—if he will only receive the power of Christ and follow Him with a renewed commitment.

The point is this: the true minister is a pattern of the Lord’s great longsuffering. The Lord has saved the minister from sin, truly saved him; therefore, the true minister stands as a dynamic example of God’s eternal mercy and eternal grace.

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:16) Paul, Example: Paul was chosen to be the pattern for all other men. The pattern of what? Of longsuffering—that God’s mercy can save anyone. Paul had been the arch-persecutor of the church, storming into the homes and arresting and murdering the followers of Christ (see notes—Acts 8:1-4; 9:1-2). But God, who is longsuffering and not willing that any should perish, reached down and had mercy upon Paul. God forgave Paul and saved him.

Paul declared a marvellous truth: if God could save him, God could save anyone. No matter how great the sinner, the longsuffering and mercy of God are greater. Paul is proof; he is the pattern of God’s mercy.

3 (1:17) Minister—Jesus Christ—God: Christ is to be praised. Thinking of the glorious salvation that Christ had given him led Paul to break forth into praise. This is a great doxology:

- ⇒ God is “the King eternal”: the word eternal is literally ages. God is the King, the sovereign majesty of the ages, both this age and the age to come.
- ⇒ God is immortal: that is, incorruptible. He has no seed of corruption, no seed of aging, deterioration, or decay within His being. God cannot die. He alone has immortality (1 Tim.6:16).
- ⇒ God is invisible: that is, He cannot be seen by people, not with physical eyes in the physical dimension or world.
- ⇒ God is the only wise God: that is, he is the only living and true God, the only God who actually possesses intelligence and wisdom, who can truthfully interact with the world and save men.

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

FALSE AND TRUE TEACHERS IN THE CHURCH, 1:3-20

C. The Young Minister (Charge 1): To Be a Warrior, 1:18-20

(1:18-20) Introduction: this is a great study for the young minister or for any person who is sensing the call to serve God. All believers are called to be warriors for God in this world. But the minister of God is called to do more: he is called to take charge and to lead in being a warrior.

1. The charge: to fight a good warfare (v.18).
2. The equipment and weapons of war: the faith and a good conscience (v.19).
3. The warning: conscience can be put away and faith shipwrecked (v.19-20).

1 (1:18) Minister—Spiritual Struggle and Warfare: the charge to the young minister is forceful—fight a good warfare! Paul is giving a “charge” (paragelion) to Timothy. The word means a command, an urgent command, a military command. It is a command that lays upon a person the most urgent and critical obligation. Donald Guthrie says, “The ministry is not a matter to be trifled with, but an order from the commander-in-chief” (The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.67). W.E. Vine points out that the “charge” is always a command from a superior that is to be transmitted to others; that is, this charge—the charge to fight a good warfare—is to be given to the young minister and he, in turn, is to pass the charge on to others (Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, 1966).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

Note two points in this verse.

1. Timothy had a special call to the ministry. Remember: Timothy had a strong testimony for Christ before the church and his community (Acts 16:2). As A.T. Robertson says, “He began his ministry rich in hopes, prayers, predictions” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.565). The Holy Spirit actually moved upon several believers to predict that Timothy would enter the ministry and fight a good warfare.

Thought 1. Note two significant points.

- 1) A person must be called to the ministry by the Spirit of God. The ministry is not just another profession where a person serves society and makes a living. The Christian ministry is the call of God—the call that puts a person right in the midst of spiritual war that fights for the souls and minds of people.
- 2) When a person is called by the Spirit of God, he must not reject the call. He must do exactly what Paul says: jump right into the midst of the battle and fight a good warfare!

2. Timothy's call was to stir him to fight a good warfare. He was never to forget his call—never to forget the predictions of his home church, the predictions that he would fight a good warfare in the ministry for Christ—all for Christ. He was to keep these expectations of his home church before his mind and use them to stir him to fight for Christ.

Note: Paul is recommitting this charge to Timothy. Apparently Timothy needed to be recharged. He was facing the critical issue of false teaching in the church at Ephesus, and he was shrinking from it. But God's call was clear: he was to fight a good warfare—to struggle even to the point of death if need be.

Believers, ministers and laymen alike, must never forget: the ministry is a sacred trust, a sacred commitment. God has taken the most precious and sacred thing to Him—the very gospel of His dear Son—and placed that message into the hands of men. Therefore, the minister must not fail. He must arise and charge right to the forefront of the warfare, the spiritual warfare that is being fought for the souls and minds of people.

Thought 1. A spiritual warfare is being fought for the minds and souls of people. The minister of God is to be right in the middle of the conflict. He is God's instrument to teach men—to teach them the way to God and righteousness. If God's ministers do not fight and struggle to lead men to God, then literally millions of souls will perish without ever knowing the way to God—without ever knowing that a person can actually live forever in the presence of God. This is the reason ministers must arise and lead the charge into the battle for the minds and souls of men. So much depends upon the minister of God—so many souls, the hope and lives of so many—that he must be faithful and fight a good warfare.

2 (1:19) Minister—Spiritual Struggle and Warfare: the equipment and weapons of war—the faith and a good conscience. Note that the young minister is to “hold”—that is, keep—the faith and a good conscience.

1. “The faith” means the truth of Christianity and of Christ and of the Word of God. It is the faith that the minister holds in Christ, in the very teachings of Christ and of the Word of God. The faith of the minister is the very basis, foundation, and structure of his life. The faith of the Lord Jesus Christ and of the Word of God is his life. As the minister fights the spiritual battles of this life, he is to cling to the commands, instructions, and words of his commander-in-chief. He is not to turn away from the commands and words of the Lord Jesus Christ—not even for a minute.

2. The minister is to hold “a good conscience” (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Conscience—1 Tim. 1:19 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:19) Conscience: very simply stated, conscience is the inner sense of right and wrong. Contrary to what some teach, conscience does not come from training, education, society, or environment. Scripture says that conscience is innate; that is, a man is born with a consciousness of right and wrong.

“For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another” (Ro.2:14-15).

However, the conscience has to be developed and matured through education and environment. It is just like a small baby: it is there, existing, but it is undeveloped and immature until it is fed and taught what to do. In fact the conscience, just like a small child, is either developed or defiled—one or the other—through environment and education. Every person is born with a conscience, but its value and health are determined by how well it is fed and trained with righteousness and godliness. The better it is fed and taught, the more effective and valuable it will become.

The point is this: a good and healthy conscience comes from living a righteous and godly life before God. A bad and defiled conscience comes from living an unrighteous and ungodly life in this world. If a person violates his conscience (does wrong), his conscience pricks and nags him. He feels remorse, regret, and guilt. If he corrects his behavior and asks God for forgiveness, God removes the guilt—completely and totally. If he continues to violate his conscience, three things happen.

- ⇒ The conscience becomes hardened. It no longer directs the person. The pricking and nagging and pull to do right is dulled. The person becomes calloused and hardened to righteousness. He no longer has the direction of conscience and the consciousness of what is right. He is left alone in the world to walk in unrighteousness and ungodliness just as he wills. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Unbelief—Jn.12:39-41 for more discussion on the Judicial Judgment of God.)
- ⇒ Some persons refuse to listen and react against conscience, and they strike out in hostility and rebellion, living more and more unrighteously and ungodly.
- ⇒ Other persons refuse to listen to conscience and sense more and more failure. This can and often does lead to withdrawal and depression and all kinds of emotional and mental problems.

Scripture says the following about the conscience.

1. The work of conscience.

a. The conscience convicts of sin.

“And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conscience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, even unto the last: and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst” (Jn.8:9).

b. The conscience (at least at first) bears witness to what is right even if a person does not have the law of God.

“For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another” (Ro.2:14-15).

c. The conscience confirms the feelings and actions of a person.

“I say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.9:1).

d. The conscience is to stir a person to live in simplicity and godly sincerity.

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

e. The conscience is to stir a person to commend himself to every man’s conscience...

- by renouncing dishonesty.
- by not handling the Word of God deceitfully.

“But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:2).

2. The source of a good, clear, pure, and healthy conscience.

- a. A good and healthy conscience comes from obeying the laws of the state.

“Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake” (Ro.13:5).

- b. A good and healthy conscience comes from love which flows from a pure heart and a sincere faith.

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

- c. A good and healthy conscience comes from holding fast to one’s faith and to a good conscience.

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

- d. A good and healthy conscience comes from serving God.

“I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day” (2 Tim.1:3).

- e. A good and healthy conscience comes from being cleansed by the blood of Christ.

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19-22).

- f. A good and healthy conscience comes from the will to live honestly in all things.

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

- g. A good and healthy conscience comes from suffering wrong for the sake of God.

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

- h. A good and healthy conscience comes from good behavior in Christ.

“Having a good conscience [behavior]; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

3. Some facts about conscience.

- a. A person is to live in all good conscience.

“And Paul, earnestly beholding the council, said, Men and brethren, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day” (Acts 23:1).

- b. A person is to have a conscience void of offence before God and men.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

- c. The conscience can be weak.

“But when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ” (1 Cor.8:12; cp. 1 Cor.8:7, 10).

d. A person is not to do anything that would violate the conscience of another person.

“But if any man say unto you, This is offered in sacrifice unto idols, eat not for his sake that showed it, and for conscience sake: for the earth is the Lord’s, and the fulness thereof: conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the other” (1 Cor.10:28-29).

e. Conscience can be put away, and faith can be shipwrecked.

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which [conscience] some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

f. The conscience can be seared (branded either as following God or devils).

“Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:2).

g. The conscience and mind are both defiled (made impure, unclean) through defilement and unbelief.

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

h. Keeping the law and being religious cannot make the conscience perfect.

“[The tabernacle] which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience” (Heb.9:9).

“For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should have had no more conscience of sins” (Heb.10:2).

i. Seeking for a good conscience toward God saves us by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

“The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.3:21).

4. Scripture mentions at least seven kinds of conscience. (This idea comes from Thomas Walker. The Acts of the Apostles. Chicago, IL: Moody Press, 1965. p.487).

a. There is the good (clear, pure, healthy) conscience.

“And Paul, earnestly beholding the council, said, Men and brethren, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day” (Acts 23:1).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

b. There is a conscience void of offence.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

c. There is a weak conscience.

“Howbeit there is not in every man that knowledge: for some with conscience of the idol unto this hour eat it as a thing offered unto an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled....For if any man see thee which hast knowledge sit at meat in the idol’s temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak be emboldened to eat those things which are offered to idols....But when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ” (1 Cor.8:7, 10, 12).

d. There is a pure conscience.

“Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience” (1 Tim.3:9).

“I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day” (2 Tim.1:3).

e. There is a seared conscience.

“Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:2).

f. There is a defiled conscience.

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

g. There is an evil conscience.

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

3 (1:19-20) Faith—Minister: The warning is frightening. Conscience can be put away, and faith can be shipwrecked. “Put away” (aposamenoi) means to push away with force. It is a wilfull and deliberate pushing away of conscience. Conscience says that something is wrong and should not be done, but conscience is ignored and subdued, turned away from and denied.

When a person continues to push his conscience away, something terrible happens: his faith is shipwrecked. His faith is broken to pieces and destroyed. A person must live as Scripture dictates: righteously and godly. If he does not live righteously and godly, then he weakens his faith and soon dashes it upon the storms of evil, worldliness, and false doctrine. His faith is shipwrecked—because he pushed his conscience aside refusing to listen to its call to live righteously and godly. Note two points.

1. Paul gives two specific examples of men who pushed their conscience away and shipwrecked their faith.
 - ⇒ Hymenaeus was the man who taught false doctrine: that the resurrection of believers had already taken place (2 Tim.2:17).
 - ⇒ Alexander was probably the coppersmith who opposed Paul and did much evil against him (2 Tim.4:14).
2. Paul mentions the discipline which he exercised against the two men. But remember why he disciplined them: they had continued to reject the guidance of their conscience and to turn away from the faith. Therefore, Paul had delivered them to Satan. What does this mean? There are two possible explanations.
 - a. The discipline means that the men must be excommunicated from the church (vs. 2, 7, 13). The idea is that outside the church—outside in the world—is the domain of Satan, whereas in the church is the domain of God (Jn.12:31; 16:11; Acts 26:18; Eph.2:12; Col.1:13; 1 Jn.5:19). The men were to be sent back to Satan’s world to which they belonged. Perhaps such discipline would humiliate them and bring them to their senses. It was a discipline not only to punish them, but to awaken them to righteousness. It was a judgment that took away their Christian privileges with the hope that the discipline would stir them to repent.
 - b. The discipline means more than excommunication. It is the miraculous subjection of the person to the power of Satan, to be terrified or tormented by him that they might repent and return to Christ.
 - ⇒ The idea is that Paul and the church prayed for some circumstance or difficulty to arise in their lives that would stir them to repent.

People are chastised for sin and spiritual failure. In fact, it is impossible to sin and escape chastisement. Men reap what they sow. There is a spiritual power that inflicts punishment upon sin. However, this should not be surprising in our day, for modern medicine and psychology tell us that misbehavior causes physical, emotional, and mental punishment. (See notes—1 Cor.5:3-5; 11:27-30; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16 for more discussion.)

Note that the discipline is remedial; that is, the two men were disciplined in order to try to lead them back to Christ. The men were delivered to Satan so that they might learn not to blaspheme.

“For this cause [continuing in sin] many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep. For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged. But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world” (1 Cor.11:30-32).

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit” (Jn.15:2).

“Then Saul, (who also is called Paul,) filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, and said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?” (Acts 13:9-11; cp. Acts 5:1-11).

“Of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander; whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme” (1 Tim.1:20).

“And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him” (Heb.12:5; cp. v.6-11 for a complete picture).

“As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent” (Rev.3:19).

“Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O LORD, and teachest him out of thy law” (Ps.94:12).

“My son, despise not the chastening of the LORD; neither be weary of his correction: for whom the LORD loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth” (Pr.3:11-12).

“O LORD, correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing” (Jer.10:24).

DIVISION II

DUTIES AND ORDER IN THE CHURCH, 2:1-3:13

A. The First Duty of the Church—Pray, 2:1-8

(2:1-8) Introduction: this begins a significant section in the teaching of 1 Timothy, a section that covers the duties and order of the church. The first duty of the church is basic: it is the duty of prayer.

1. Pray for all men (v.1).
2. Pray for civil authorities (v.2).
3. Pray for all men to be saved (v.3-7).
4. Pray everywhere and pray in the right spirit (v.8).

(2:1-8) Another Outline: The First Duty of the Church: Prayer.

1. The exhortation to pray for all men (v.1).
2. The exhortation to pray for civil authorities (v.2).
3. The reasons why we are to pray for all men (v.3-6).
4. The place and spirit of prayer (v.7-8).

1 (2:1) Prayer: pray for all men. Not a single person is to be omitted or left out. We are to pray for all persons:

- ⇒ the high and the low.
- ⇒ the educated and the uneducated.
- ⇒ the important and the unimportant.
- ⇒ the rich and the poor.
- ⇒ the leader and the followers.
- ⇒ the old and the young.
- ⇒ the friend and the enemy.

Pray for all men. Do not neglect, ignore, or bypass any person. Every person needs prayer; every person needs God: His salvation, care, direction, approval, and acceptance. Therefore, pray for all men.

Note: this is an exhortation (parakaleo) to pray, which means that it is both an encouragement and a charge. The believer is both encouraged and charged to pray. He is given the encouragement and charge to pray just as a soldier is encouraged and charged to fight.

“First of all” stresses just how important prayer is. “First of all”—above all else, of supreme importance—put prayer first. “First of all”—before all else—pray for all men.

Note that four kinds of prayer are mentioned. This also stresses the importance of praying for all men.

1. There is “supplication” (deeseis). This refers to the prayers that focus upon special needs—deep and intense needs. When we see special needs in the lives of people—all people—we are to supplicate for them. That is, we are to be carrying the need before God with a great sense of urgency and plead and beg for the person or persons. The idea is that of intense and deep brokenness before God in behalf of others—that God would help and save the person.

Thought 1. Just think what a different world this would be, what a different community we would have if we really took the names and needs of people before God and pleaded for them in an intense brokenness and in tears. Just think...

- how many more loved ones would be saved and helped.
- how many more within our community and state and country and world would be saved and helped.
- how fewer problems would exist within society.

Scripture emphatically declares: “Ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:2).

2. There are “prayers” (proseuchas). This refers to the special times of prayer that we set aside for devotion and worship. We are to have set times for prayer, times that we set aside to worship God and when we pray for all men.

3. There are “intercessions” (enteuxeis). This refers to bold praying; to standing before God in behalf of another person. Christ is our Intercessor, the One who stands between God and us in our behalf. But we are to intercede for men, to carry their names and lives before God and to boldly pray for them, expecting God to hear and answer—all in the name of Christ. We are to intercede for all men—to stand in the gap between them and God, boldly praying and asking God to be merciful and gracious in salvation and in deliverance.

4. There is “thanksgiving” (eucharistias). This means that we thank God for hearing and answering—thank Him for what He has done and is going to do for all men.

“But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you” (Mt.5:44).

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots” (Lk.23:34).

“And he kneeled down, and cried with a loud voice, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge. And when he had said this, he fell asleep” (Acts 7:60).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your request be made known unto God. and the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are...he prayed earnestly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months. And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit” (Jas.5:16-18).

2 (2:2) Prayer—Civil Authorities: pray for civil authorities, for kings and for all who are in authority.

⇒ No matter how good or how bad they are, pray for them.

⇒ No matter how moral or immoral they are, pray for them.

⇒ No matter how just or unjust they are, pray for them.

The thought of praying for evil rulers is shocking to some people. Just think of the evil rulers in the world even today. But remember: Nero was on the throne in Rome when Paul charged believers to pray for the king or emperor. And Nero had already burned Rome and had blamed it on Christian believers. In fact, he was presently launching a violent persecution against the believers.

Donald Guthrie says, “This Christian attitude towards the State is of utmost importance. Whether the civil authorities are perverted or not they must be made subjects for prayer, for Christian citizens may in this way influence the course of national affairs, a fact often forgotten except in times of special crisis” (The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.70).

Matthew Henry says, “Pray for Kings...though the kings at this time were heathens, enemies to Christianity, and persecutors of Christians...because it is for the public good that there should be civil government, and proper persons entrusted with the administration of it” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.811).

There are two reasons why we are to pray for rulers.

1. We pray for rulers so that we can lead quiet and peaceable lives. The only way the citizens of a nation can live quiet and peaceable lives is for the ruler to be filled...

- with wisdom and knowledge.
- with morality and justice.
- with courage and boldness.
- with compassion and understanding.

Therefore, believers must pray for the rulers to be filled to the brim so that the rulers can bring about peace and security throughout the land. Then and only then can the citizens of a land live quiet and peaceable lives.

2. We must pray for rulers so that we can live godly and sincere lives. Believers want freedom of worship for all citizens.

⇒ They want freedom of worship, and freedom of life and choice, the right to worship and live for God without being opposed and persecuted.

⇒ They want freedom of life and choice, the right to live sincere or purposeful lives, the right to pursue their own lives and wills without being opposed by a ruler.

Thought 1. People desire, even crave freedom: freedom of life and choice and freedom of worship. This is the reason we must pray for rulers...

- for wise and knowledgeable rulers.
- for moral and just rulers.
- for courageous and bold rulers.
- for compassionate and understanding rulers.

“By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked” (Pr.11:11).

“Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Pr.14:34).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work” (Tit.3:1).

“Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king” (1 Pt.2:17).

3 (2:3-7) Jesus Christ, Mediator—Prayer—Salvation—Ransom—Redemption: pray for all men to be saved, both rulers and citizens, both high and low. There are five reasons given why we are to pray for the salvation of all men, including all rulers.

1. First, God is our Savior and He wills all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth. As pointed out earlier (1 Tim.1:1), God our Savior is one of the great titles for God. God is our Savior, the source of our salvation. God is the first Person who has cared for and loved man. God loves us and He is not willing that any should perish; therefore, He has taken the initiative and provided the way for us to be saved.

Note: God wills all men to be saved, but not in the sense of a decree. God has not decreed that all men be saved. This is evident by the ungodly and unrighteous lives lived by so many. God wills all men to be saved in the sense that He loves and longs for them to be saved. If any man perishes, it is his own fault. God has done all He can. He has provided the way for man to be saved. If a man is now lost, it is his own choosing.

Note the words “the knowledge of the truth.” What truth is it that God wants man to know? The truth that is covered in the points that follow: that there is only one God, and there is only one Mediator who gave Himself a ransom for all—the truth that all can be saved from sin and death and judgment to come through the death of the Lord Jesus Christ. God loves man so much that He has provided the way for man to be saved. That way is the truth, and that truth is the truth that God wants man to know.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

This is the reason we should pray for all men, both rulers and citizens, high and low, educated and uneducated, moral and immoral, just and unjust, civilized and savage, saved and lost. God wants all men to be saved regardless of who they are and no matter how evil they may be.

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

“Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?” (Ezk.33:11).

2. Second, there is only one God, not the many gods of men. If there were many gods, then there would be many ways to reach the heavens of the gods. But there are not many gods. Logically, there could not be many gods. When we speak of God, we mean the Infinite and Supreme Majesty of the Universe. There can be only one Supreme Being, only one Infinite Being. If there should be many gods, then they would not be infinite or supreme; therefore, they would not be God.

The point is this: since there is only one God, there can be only one way to reach Him—only one way to be saved. Why? This is the discussion of the next point.

“There is none other God but one” (1 Cor.8:4).

“One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all” (Eph.4:6).

“For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one” (1 Jn.5:7).

“Wherefore thou are great, O LORD God: for there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears” (2 Sam.7:22).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. I, even I, am the LORD; and beside me there is no savior” (Is.43:10-11).

“Thus saith the LORD the King of Israel, and his Redeemer the LORD of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God” (Is.44:6).

“For thus saith the LORD that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the LORD and there is none else” (Is.45:18).

3. There is only one mediator between God and men. Man must have a mediator if he is to be saved, if he is to approach God and be acceptable to God. As asked above, why? Because there is only one perfect Person: God Himself. No man can stand before God, not in his own name or righteousness. Man is imperfect, and God is perfect. Man cannot make himself acceptable to God no matter what he does. Imperfection is unacceptable to perfection. If perfection accepted imperfection, it would no longer be perfection. Perfection has to be just and righteous, which means that it has to reject imperfection. God cannot accept imperfect man. God has to be just and righteous and reject man in all the imperfection of his thoughts and behavior.

How, then, can man become acceptable to God? God has to make man acceptable. God Himself has to handle the sin, condemnation, and death of men. But how? There was only one way: God, the Perfect Person, had to become Man. God had to come to earth in such a way that man could understand Him and understand what He was doing. This He did by partaking of flesh and blood and coming to earth in the person of His Son, the Man Christ Jesus.

⇒ God Himself had to conquer sin. He had to live a perfect and sinless life as a man in order to handle sin. By living a perfect and sinless life, He became the Ideal and Perfect Man, the Ideal and Perfect Righteousness that could cover and stand for all men (Heb.2:14-15).

This is part of what is meant by Jesus Christ being our Mediator. He stands before God as the Perfect Man, and He also stands between God and men as the Perfect Man. He is the Ideal Pattern of all men, of just what a man should be. Therefore, when a man really believes in Jesus Christ...

- God takes that man's belief and counts it as the righteousness of Jesus Christ.
- God accepts the man's faith and honor in His Son as righteousness.
- God lets the righteousness of His Son, Jesus Christ, cover the man.
- God accepts the man's faith as the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

Very simply stated, the man is not righteous, but God takes the man's faith in His Son and credits his faith as righteousness. Jesus Christ stands as the Mediator between God and men; He stands as the Mediator of perfection and righteousness for man. The point is this: since there is only one Mediator, we must pray for men to come to know Him. And we must rush to proclaim Him to all men so that they can know about Him and have the opportunity to follow Him.

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake” (Jn.14:9-11).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel. See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven” (Heb.12:24-25).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

4. The man Christ Jesus gave Himself a ransom for all. The word “ransom” (antilutron) means to exchange something for something else. The man Christ Jesus exchanged His life for the life of man; He gave up His life for the life of man. How? By the cross. Jesus Christ took the sin and condemnation of men upon Himself and bore their judgment for them. Christ died for man; He bore the judgment of God against sin for man.

As the Ideal and Perfect Man, Christ could do this for man. Since He was the Ideal Man, His death was the ideal death. Therefore, His death can stand for and cover the death of all men. If a man really believes and trusts that the death of Jesus Christ is for him...

- God counts the death of Christ for the man.
- God actually counts the man as having already died in Christ.
- God accepts the man as free from the guilt and condemnation of sin because Christ has already paid the ransom price for sin and death.

This is the glorious gospel of God: man can now live forever in the presence of God. Jesus Christ gave Himself as a ransom for sin and death. When man receives Christ Jesus into his heart and begins to follow Christ...

- God gives him life now and forever, abundant life and eternal life. When the man finishes his task upon earth, God will transfer him right into His presence—quicker than a flash of lightning. The man never has to taste death.

The words “testified in due time” mean that God sent His Son in the fulness of time. When it was time for Christ to come to earth, He came.

Now note: we must pray for men to believe that Christ died for them—pray that they might be saved. And we must rush to proclaim the glorious news that Christ Jesus has paid the ransom price for us: we can now be set free from sin, death, and condemnation. We can now live with God eternally.

“For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul” (Lev.17:11).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye are bought [redeemed] with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“Ye are bought [redeemed] with a price; be not ye the servants of men” (1 Cor.7:23).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

5. Ministers are ordained or appointed to proclaim the salvation of God. Note: Paul said three things about himself.
- a. God had appointed Paul to be a preacher (kerux): a herald, an ambassador who was appointed by a king to go forth and proclaim the message of the king. The minister is a preacher who is sent forth by God to preach the truth about Jesus Christ...
 - that He is the Mediator between God and men.
 - that He has given Himself as a ransom for all.

“And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach” (Mk.3:14).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect” (1 Cor.1:17).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

- b. God had appointed Paul to be an apostle (apostolos): a person who had been sent as a very special witness and on a very special mission. The minister is sent forth on the special mission to bear witness that Jesus Christ is the Mediator between God and men. Jesus Christ has paid the ransom price for man.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:20-21).

- c. God had appointed Paul as a teacher (didaskalos): a person who instructs people into the faith and truth of God’s Word. It is the gift to root and ground people in doctrine, reproof, correction, and righteousness.

Note Paul’s stress upon his call from God: “I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not.” God had called him to proclaim and teach the salvation in Christ Jesus. Apparently, there were some at Ephesus who questioned Paul’s call and ministry.

The point is this: God has called ministers to proclaim the faith and truth of the Mediator and the great ransom price that He paid for man’s salvation. Therefore, we must pray for all men—that they will receive the message of the minister and be saved.

“Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city. And he continued there a year and six months, teaching the word of God among them” (Acts 18:9-11).

“And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him, preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding” (Acts 28:30-31).

“And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues” (1 Cor.12:28).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers” (Eph.4:11).

4 (2:8) Prayer: pray everywhere and pray in the right spirit. A person should never stop praying. He should be praying all day long as he walks throughout the day. He should develop an unbroken communion and fellowship with the Lord, praying for all men—for both the ruler and the citizen, the high and the low, the lost and the saved—all over the world. He should pray for those of his...

- home
- city
- state
- church
- community
- country

He should pray for those in...

- North America
- Central America
- India

...and on and on.

The believer is to pray and to keep on praying. He is to pray everywhere—no matter where he is. But note: the believer is also told how to pray.

1. He is to pray “lifting up holy hands”; that is, he is not to come before God having touched or handled “the forbidden things” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.74). He is not to come with sin in his life.

“If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me” (Ps.66:18).

“But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear” (Is.59:2).

“And there is none that calleth upon thy name, that stirreth up himself to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from us, and hast consumed us, because of our iniquities” (Is.64:7).

2. He is to pray without anger or feelings in his heart against someone else. Very simply...

- God does not accept us unless we accept others.
- God does not forgive us unless we forgive others.

“Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift” (Mt.5:23-24).

“But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses” (Mt.6:15).

“So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses” (Mt.18:35).

3. He is to pray without doubting. There is no need to pray if we do not think God is going to hear us. If we ask Him doubting, we are not trusting His presence and power to meet our need. We are actually denying God’s care and power. We are destroying the name of God among men. Therefore, we must believe God when we pray.

“And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?” (Mt.21:23).

“Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them” (Mk.11:24).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed. For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord” (Jas.1:6-7).

DIVISION II

DUTIES AND ORDER IN THE CHURCH, 2:1-3:13

B. The Women of the Church, 2:9-15

(2:9-15) Introduction: this is a vibrant passage of Scripture, a passage that stirs both men and women to sit up and listen. It even arouses emotions and reactions from some, in particular within societies where women’s rights have become a heated issue. The subject is women in the church: the place of women in public, in the church, and in the home or in childbearing.

1. In public, women are to dress modestly (v.9-10).
2. In church, women are to learn in silence and submissiveness (v.11-14).
3. In church, women are not to teach nor to have authority over men (v.12-14).
4. In the home, that is, in childbearing, women are to be saved if they continue to live and walk in the Lord (v.15).

1 (2:9-10) Women—Dress—Clothing: in public women are to dress in modest clothing. The word “adorn” (kosmein) is really a better translation of what Scripture means. The word means the dress, ornaments, and arrangement of clothing upon the body. But the word adorn also refers to behavior and demeanor, that is, the way a woman carries herself, walks, moves, and behaves in public. Remember: this passage is being written to genuine Christian women—women who truly believe in the Lord and wish to honor the Lord and to have a strong testimony for Him. The Christian woman wants to guard her clothing and to dress modestly; she wants to watch the way she dresses, walks, moves, and behaves in public. She wants to bring honor to the Lord and to build a strong testimony—a testimony that she loves the Lord and has committed her life...

- to help people, not to seduce them.
- to serve people, not to destroy them.
- to point people to Jesus, not to attract them to herself.
- to teach people righteous behavior, not fleshly and worldly behavior.

Scripture covers three things about the adorning or dress of a true Christian woman. All three are revealing. They demonstrate exactly where a woman stands—regardless of profession: either with Christ or with the world.

1. The Christian woman is to dress and behave modestly and to keep herself under control at all times.
 - ⇒ She is to dress and adorn herself with “shamefacedness”; that is, in public she is to dress and act modestly, somewhat reserved and shy.
 - ⇒ She is to dress and adorn herself with “sobriety”; that is, she is to dress and act appropriately, sensibly, controlled, soberly, calmly, quietly, and seriously.
2. The Christian woman is not to dress to attract attention. This is the point of these negative commands. She is not to adorn herself...
 - with broided hair: elaborate hair-styles—hair-styles that are so different that they break away from acceptable customs and attract attention to herself.
 - with gold, or pearls, or expensive clothing: elaborate jewelry and clothing that is extravagant, ostentatious, flamboyant, and that attracts attention to herself.

Donald Guthrie says that a woman’s mind is mirrored by her dress (The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.74). How true this is! How a woman dresses shows whether she lives in prayer and devotion to God or has deep feelings and desires for the world and the gaping and lustful attention of men.

3. The Christian woman is to dress and adorn herself with good works. Note exactly what this verse says. Some women profess godliness. Godliness means that they reverence and fear God and are devoted to Him. These are the women who are committed and concerned with good works. As stated earlier, their minds are upon helping, saving, and teaching people, not upon attracting, seducing, and destroying them through lustful and immoral thoughts and sexual behavior.

Now, note a significant fact that is often ignored and sometimes tragically unknown. True beauty is inward, not outward. Think for a moment: a woman who is focused upon Christ and good works is at peace with herself. She is filled with assurance and confidence, and she has strong self-image and esteem. She has purpose, meaning, and significance in life and knows that she is perfectly secure and looked after by Christ. Picture such a woman:

- ⇒ her smile—which arises from a joy filling her whole body.

- ⇒ her walk—which has a spring in each step.
- ⇒ her dignity, calmness, serenity, confidence, security, purposefulness.

Picture her beauty. No matter what her facial features are—no matter how modest her clothing is—she is beautiful. Just how true this is can be easily seen in the opposite picture. Picture the woman who lives in and of the world, concerned about her looks and dress and appearance. Picture...

- her smile—which arises from an emptiness and reveals a dissatisfaction with life.
- her walk and movements—which reveal an insecurity, loneliness, and fear of not being accepted for what she is within and the need to fit in with her peers.
- her behavior of looseness, restlessness, and her lack of purpose, meaning, and significance.

Picture this woman's behavior. Every man—even if he has known hundreds of women—knows that this woman lacks beauty, no matter how attractive her facial and body features may be. In the eyes of so many in the world, she is good for only one thing: to be used to satisfy the world's greed for money and lust for pleasure.

As stated, beauty is not in looks; beauty is from within. If a woman is beautiful within—if she is really godly and given over to good works—God floods her with a beauty that far surpasses any beauty of the flesh or clothing.

Thought 1. Christian women must be focused upon Christ and upon helping the desperate who are in the communities and cities of the world. Christian women must be focused upon godliness—fearing and reverencing God—and upon good works—the good works that are so desperately needed by the lost and poor within our communities and cities.

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array; but (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works” (1 Tim.2:9-10).

“Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price. For after this manner in the old time the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands” (1 Pt.3:3-5).

2 (2:11-14) Women—Church: in church women are to learn in silence and submissiveness. Two striking points are given in these verses. Remember: this passage is being written to genuine Christian women, women who truly love and wish to honor the Lord and to have a strong testimony for Him. The woman who is a true Christian wants to guard her behavior in church as well as in public.

The Christian woman is a follower of Christ, a true believer; therefore, she is to learn all she can about Christ. She is to attend church and read, listen, and study. She is to show and demonstrate her love for the Lord by learning all she can about Him. And note the spirit in which she is to learn. She is to learn...

- in a spirit of “silence” (hesuchia) which means quietness.
- in a spirit of “subjection” which means submissiveness.

Thought 1. There is no difference between men and women in learning about Christ. Therefore, this verse could apply to men as well as to women. Everyone is to learn about Christ; therefore, everyone is to approach the Lord and the church in a spirit of quietness and submissiveness. This is true of any student, whether in a public school, university, or church. A student cannot learn if he is always questioning, contradicting, refuting, arguing, and differing with the teacher. A student who sits under a teacher in a spirit of arrogance, pride, and rebellion seldom learns anything. A student can learn only if he comes in a spirit of quietness and submissiveness, a willingness to listen, read, and study under his teacher. In fact, the quieter and more submissive he is to the authority of the professor, the more he is likely to learn.

Therefore, Christian women are to learn of Christ, learn in a spirit of quietness and submissiveness. They are not to be disruptive, arguing, differing, contradicting, grumbling, griping, and complaining in church. They are to learn of Christ in church, and they are to learn in a spirit of quietness and submissiveness.

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workmen that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

3 (2:12-14) Women—Church: the Christian woman is not to teach in church nor to have authority over a man. Ears perk up and eyes focus when this statement is read, and in some cases emotions are aroused, especially in societies where the struggle for women's rights are being fought. What does Scripture mean? Scripture is brief and factual. A simple statement is made: “A woman [is not] to teach, nor to hold authority over a man.” But note: a woman is not forbidden to teach nor forbidden to hold authority. She is only forbidden to teach and to hold authority over a man. Why? Why is she allowed to teach and manage other women and children but not men?

1. Because God created in an organized and orderly fashion; He created everything to have its own order and function. In relation to human beings, God created man first, then woman. God created man...

- to be the driving force of creation.
- to plow the way.

- to take the lead.
- to be the initiator.
- to oversee the family and its welfare.

The woman was created not as a competitor but as a counterpart. She is just as unique a creation as the man and her function is just as important as the man's, but her function upon earth is not the same as man's. In the plan of God's creation, each supports, complements, and works along the side of the other. Therefore, within the church the teaching and administrative leadership of the church is to be headed up by the man.

2. God created man and woman with different natures. Women were created with more of an open and receptive, trusting and intuitive, tender and bearing nature. Because of her receptive and trusting nature, she tends to believe things and to follow along more easily than man. Therefore, she is more easily deceived than man. This is what happened with Adam and Eve when they fell into sin. Eve was deceived and followed along with the temptation, but not Adam. He knew exactly what he was doing. He sinned because he loved the woman and wanted to know the pleasure of sin with her. He knew exactly what he was doing; therefore, he was in the greater wrong.

The point is this: by nature, men are built more to take the lead in teaching and administration; whereas women are built more to receive and follow.

“But I would have you know, that the head of every man is Christ; and the head of the woman is the man; and the head of Christ is God” (1 Cor.11:3).

“Let your women keep silence in the churches: for it is not permitted unto them to speak; but they are commanded to be under obedience, as also saith the law. And if they will learn any thing, let them ask their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speak in the church” (1 Cor.14:34-35).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body. Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:22-25).

“Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence” (1 Tim.2:11-12).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“For after this manner in the old time the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands” (1 Pt.3:5).

Thought 1. Note an important question: Does this mean that a woman is never to teach or hold authority over a man?

The New Testament gives example after example of women who held a phenomenal position and ministry in the early days of Christianity.

- ⇒ Mary of Nazareth was chosen by God to bear and rear and teach God's very own Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, while He was on earth (Lk.1:26-38).
- ⇒ Anna, a prophetess, was chosen by God to predict the future of the baby Jesus (Lk.2:36-38).
- ⇒ It was four women who demonstrated raw courage by standing at the foot of Jesus' cross when all the disciples had fled for their lives (Mk.15:40).
- ⇒ Joanna and Susanna supported the work of Christ (Lk.8:3).
- ⇒ Martha and Mary opened their home to Jesus time and again (Lk.10:38-39; Jn.11:5).
- ⇒ Mary Magdalene, because of her great love and devotion for Christ, was chosen by God to be the first to witness the Lord's resurrection (Mt.16:9; Jn.20:11-18).
- ⇒ Tabitha or Dorcas helped the poor of her city by clothing them (Acts 9:36-43).
- ⇒ Mary, the mother of John Mark, allowed the early believers to meet in her home (Acts 12:12).
- ⇒ Lydia courageously stepped forth and became the very first convert to Christ in Europe (Acts 16:13).
- ⇒ Priscilla, along with her husband Aquila, taught the truth of Christ to the young preacher, Apollos (Acts 18:26).
- ⇒ Philip the evangelist had four daughters who were prophetesses (Acts 21:9).
- ⇒ Phebe served the church at Cenchrea, probably as a deaconess (see note, Phebe—Ro.16:1-2).
- ⇒ Mary of Rome ministered to Paul and his companions (Ro.16:6).
- ⇒ Tryphena and Tryphosa were two ladies who labored in the Lord (Ro.16:12).
- ⇒ The mother of Rufus became a mother to Paul (Ro.16:13).
- ⇒ Euodia and Syntyche were two women who labored in the gospel (Ph.4:2-3).
- ⇒ The mother and grandmother of Timothy, Lois and Eunice, taught the Scriptures to Timothy from his earliest childhood (2 Tim.1:5).
- ⇒ The aged women were to teach the young women (Tit.2:3).

These Scriptures clearly show that women were chosen and gifted by God to hold a significant position and ministry in the early days of Christianity. But it also has to be noted that there is no clear record of a woman serving in the capacity of the head teacher or head authority in the New Testament church (pastor, bishop, or elder). Does this mean that God never raises up a woman to teach all Christians, men and women, or to hold authority on a church wide or world wide ministry? In answer to this question, we have to go before the Lord humbly and openly and seek the answer for ourselves. But we must always confess that God is God; therefore, He can do what He wills in order to meet a special need. If He needs to raise up a woman to meet some special teaching or administrative need in the church, He can do it.

Thought 2. Some commentators say that this passage is to be interpreted only in the context of its day. William Barclay's comment gives an example of this position.

"The Christian Church did not lay down these regulations as in any sense permanent regulations, but as things which were necessary in the situation in which the early Church found itself....All the things in this chapter are mere temporary regulations laid down to meet a given situation. If we want Paul's real and permanent view on this matter, we get it in Galatians 3:28. 'There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus.' In Christ the differences of place and honour and prestige and function within the Church were all wiped out....We must not read this passage as a barrier to all women's work and service within the Church; we must read it in the light of its Jewish background and in the light of the situation in a Greek city. And we must look for Paul's permanent views in the passage which tells us that the differences are wiped out, and that men and women, slaves and freemen, Jews and Gentiles, are all eligible to serve Christ" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.78).

But note: this position is most unlikely because of the universal reference to Adam and Eve. Scripture is drawing a universal application from the creation of Adam and Eve. It is because God created in an organized and orderly way and gave specific functions to both man and woman that man is to take the lead in blazing the path through life for his family and the church.

Thought 3. There is another possible reason why God has forbidden women to stand before men in a position of teaching and authority, a reason that has perhaps been neglected in discussion. By nature men and women are attracted to each other by looking, but man by nature is the more dominant pursuer. Therefore, by nature he is probably more attracted by looking than the woman is. If a man looks at a woman long enough, he will begin to notice any feature of attractiveness about her. This is natural and normal, the way God made man and woman. However, when a woman stands before a man for a long time and the man is forced to continue looking at her, the situation becomes ready-made for temptation to attack his mind with suggestive thoughts. This is not to say that every man who sits under the teaching of a woman and who is forced to look at her is thinking immoral thoughts. It only means that when a man is forced to look and look at a woman, the temptation is more likely to happen.

4 (2:15) Women, Fulfillment: in the home, that is, in childbearing, the woman shall be saved if she continues in faith, love, holiness, and self-control. This is a glorious promise to the true Christian woman. But what does it mean? Women still suffer pain in childbearing and some women, even Christian women, die when giving birth to a child. The verse refers back to Eve and her sin. The judgment upon her sin was that she would suffer pain in childbearing (Gen.3:16). The promise seems to mean one of three things.

1. When the promise is kept within the context of this passage, it seems to mean that the woman does not find her salvation and fulfillment through holding positions of teaching and authority but through childbearing (v.12-14). The very nature of a woman's being, the primary function of a woman's nature and call upon earth, is to carry on the human race. Therefore, the woman's salvation—that is, her ultimate fulfillment, satisfaction and completeness in life—comes through bearing and rearing children. Her salvation and completeness in life does not come from competing with men to see who blazes the paths and builds the roads through the jungles of this earth. She can do these things, but her salvation—her ultimate fulfillment and satisfaction—does not come by doing these things. Contrariwise, the woman will be saved and totally fulfilled if she...

- will continue in faith: continue believing and trusting.
- will continue in love: loving the Lord, her husband, believers, and the lost of the world.
- will continue in holiness: living a life totally set apart to Christ and His purpose.
- will continue in self-control: disciplining and controlling her life to follow Christ in all things.

2. A second possible meaning of the verse is this: the sentence of pain in childbearing (the penalty of her sin) does not prohibit a woman's salvation. She shall be saved if she continues in faith, love, holiness, and self-control.

3. There is one other possible meaning of this passage that needs to be considered. The definite article (the) is in the Greek before the word "childbearing." That is, the verse reads: "She shall be saved in the childbearing." Some commentators feel that "the childbearing" refers to the seed of the woman, that is, to the greatest childbearing that has ever taken place which is the birth of Christ Himself. Therefore, the meaning is this: despite the judgment upon the woman (suffering pain in childbearing), the woman will be saved in the supreme childbearing, that is, in Christ.

Whatever a person's interpretation, note the condition. The promise is based upon the woman...

- already having faith in Christ.
- already knowing the love of God.
- already living a holy life.
- already controlling her life and following Christ.

"Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent" (Jn.6:28-29).

"But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb.11:6).

"And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment" (1 Jn.3:23).

CHAPTER 3

C. The Overseers of the Church, 3:1-7

1 The office of minister or bishop

- a. Is a good work
- b. Is to be desired

2 Personal qualifications

This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work.

2 A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach;

3 Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous;

4 One that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity;

5 (For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?)

6 Not a novice, lest being lifted up with pride he fall into the condemnation of the devil.

7 Moreover he must have a good report of them which are without; lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil.

3 Family qualifications:
The minister or bishop must rule his own home

4 Spiritual qualifications

- a. Must be spiritually mature
- b. Reason: A danger of pride

5 Community qualifications

DIVISION II

DUTIES AND ORDER IN THE CHURCH, 2:1-3:13

C. The Overseers of the Church, 3:1-7

(3:1-7) Introduction: the office of bishop is probably the same office as elder or presbyter or minister in the New Testament. All three words refer to the same person, to the minister of the gospel and of the church (see Deeper Study # 1, Elder--Tit.1:5-9 for discussion). What are the qualifications of the minister? Who should be preaching the gospel and filling the pulpits of the Lord's church? Who should be considering the ministry--what kind of person? The importance of this passage cannot be overstressed when it comes to the building and protection of God's church and people.

1. The office of minister or bishop (v.1).
2. Personal qualifications (v.2-3).
3. Family qualifications: the minister or bishop must rule his own home (v.4-5).
4. Spiritual qualifications (v.6).
5. Community qualifications (v.7).

1 (3:1) Minister--Bishop--Elder: the office of minister or bishop is a "good work." The word "good" (kalou) means honorable, excellent, beneficial, productive. Note that the position of the ministry is not what is stressed, but the work of the ministry. The emphasis is not the esteem and honor of the profession. The emphasis is upon the work of the ministry. It is the work that is honorable, excellent, beneficial, and productive. The work of the ministry is a "good work."

Note another fact: the office of minister or bishop is to be desired. The word "desire" means to seek after with a strong desire; to set one's heart upon. God stirs some hearts to seek the ministry and to dedicate their lives to the work of the ministry.

Thought 1. When a person is stirred to commit his life to the ministry, he must say "yes" to the Spirit of God. To say "no" to God's call is to reject God and to miss one's calling and life. It is to miss one's very purpose for being on earth.

"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you" (Jn.15:16).

"But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet show I unto you a more excellent way" (1 Cor.12:31).

"Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy [proclaim the Word of God]" (1 Cor.14:1).

"Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church" (1 Cor.14:12).

"And he gave [called and appointed] some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph.4:11-12).

2 (3:2-3) Minister--Bishop--Elder: the minister or bishop of God must be qualified; he must meet some personal qualifications; he must be a person of great Christian character.

1. The minister or bishop must be "blameless" (anepilempton): above reproach; not open to attack; not able to be criticized by the enemy at all (The Pulpit Commentary, Vol.21, p.50). He must be completely blameless.

2. The minister or bishop must be "the husband of one wife." From the earliest times of church history, this qualification has been interpreted differently. Some have held...

- that the bishop or minister must have a wife; he must be married to be a minister.

- that the bishop or minister must never have more than one wife; he must never marry again, even if his wife died. This position holds that second marriages are completely forbidden.
- that the bishop must not have more than one wife at a time. (Remember: polygamy was the common practice of society when the church was first born).
- that a bishop must live a life of strict morality; he “must be a loyal husband, preserving marriage in all its purity” (William Barclay, The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.87).

Thought 1. Every minister, believer, and church must go before the Lord and seek the meaning of this qualification for him or herself. But we must be honest and open to hear the Lord and then beg of Him the courage and discipline to do what He says. This is an absolute essential for all who are believers, for nothing is any more traumatic than the loss of a spouse through death or separation and divorce. And if there is ever a time that we must reach out and minister to our brothers and sisters, it is when they lose their spouses.

The point is this: should a minister or bishop be allowed to serve as a minister if he has had more than one wife, either through death or divorce? The Pulpit Commentary has an excellent comment on this point:

“If we consider the general laxity in regard to marriage, and the facility of divorce, which prevailed among Jews and Romans at this time, it must have been a common thing for a man to have more than one woman living who had been his wife. And this [was] a distinct breach of the primeval law (Gen.ii. 24), [and] would properly be a bar to any one being called to the ‘office of a bishop’....It is utterly unsupported by any single passage in Scripture that a second marriage should disqualify a man for the sacred ministry. As regards the opinion of the early Church, it was not at all uniform, and amongst those who held that this passage absolutely prohibits second marriages in the case of a [bishop], it was merely a part of the asceticism of the day” (Vol.21, p.51).

A.T. Robertson very simply says, “Of one wife [mias gunaikos]. One at a time, clearly” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.572).

William Barclay says, “In its context here we can be quite certain that this means that the Christian leader must be a loyal husband, preserving marriage in all its purity” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.87).

Thompson Chain Reference Bible, in listing its subjects, simply says “Polygamy Forbidden.”

“And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female, and said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder” (Mt.19:4-6).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“If any be blameless, the husband of one wife” (Tit.1:6).

“Neither shall he multiply wives to himself, that his heart turn not away: neither shall he greatly multiply to himself silver and gold” (Dt.17:17).

3. The minister or bishop must be vigilant (nephalion): temperate, self-controlled, and watchful. He must be vigilant, watch over, and control his own life and the lives of his dear people.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

4. The minister or bishop must be “sober” (sophrona): be sober-minded, that is, to have a mind that is sound, sensible, controlled, disciplined, and chaste—a mind that has complete control over all sensual desires. Note: if the mind is controlled, a person’s whole life—his body and behavior—is controlled. He lives a sober life.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“[A bishop must be] a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience....To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:2, 5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

5. The minister or bishop must be of “good behavior” (kosmion): well-behaved, orderly, composed, solid, and honest. It is a person who has good conduct, whose character and behavior stands as the ideal and pattern for others.

“[Love] doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil” (1 Cor.13:5).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us. For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:6-7).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality” (1 Tim.3:2).

“The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things” (Tit.2:3).

6. The minister or bishop must be given to “hospitality” (philoxenon): to have an open heart and home; “showing love or being a friend to the believers, especially strangers or foreigners” (Amplified New Testament). The minister helps and entertains as much as he can. He does not open his heart, home, time, or money to the things of the world; but he uses what resources he has to help and minister to people.

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares” (Heb.13:2).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

7. The minister or bishop must be “apt to teach”: able, capable, skillful, and qualified to teach. William Barclay has such an excellent comment on this point that he must be quoted:

“It has been said that the duty of the Christian leader is ‘to preach to the unconverted and to teach the converted.’ There are two things to be said about this. It is one of the disasters of modern times that the teaching ministry of the Church has not been exercised as it should be. There is any amount of topical preaching; there is any amount of exhortation; but there is little use in exhorting a man to be a Christian when he does not know what being a Christian means. Instruction is a primary duty of the Christian preacher and leader. But the second thing is this. The finest and the most effective teaching is not done by speaking, but by being. Our ultimate duty is not to talk to men about Christ, but to show men Christ. Even the man with no gift of words can teach by living in such a way that in him men see the reflection of the Master. A saint has been defined as someone ‘in whom Christ lives again’” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.95).

Matthew Henry also has an excellent comment:

“This is a preaching bishop whom Paul describes, one who is both able and willing to communicate to others the knowledge which God has given him, one who is fit to teach and ready to take all opportunities of giving instruction, who is himself well instructed in the things of the kingdom of heaven, and is communicative of what he knows to others” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.815).

“Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

Thought 1. Note: the minister must be rooted and grounded in the Word of God in order to teach.

8. The minister or bishop must not be given to wine: not be a drunkard; not sit around drinking all the time. In order to justify their right to drink, some argue that drinking wine was a common practice in the ancient world even among true Christian believers. However, we must always remember what William Barclay so forcefully points out about the ancient world:

- ⇒ First, the water supply was often inadequate and dangerous.
- ⇒ Second, “although the ancient world used wine as the commonest of all drinks it used it most abstemiously. When wine was drunk, it was drunk in the proportion of two parts of wine to three parts of water. A man who was drunken would be disgraced in ordinary heathen society, let alone in the Church” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.91).
- ⇒ Oliver B. Greene pointedly says:

“All believers should abstain from strong drink in any form, but especially should a bishop observe this admonition. Concerning wine, Paul’s instruction to a bishop is very clear. He is not to participate in such practice. Greek scholars tell us that the word used here implies ‘sitting over wine,’ habitually drinking wine, as the people did in that day—even those who professed to be very religious. Not only for his own sake should a bishop abstain from the use of wine, but also for the sake of other believers” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus. Greenville, SC: The Gospel Hour, 1964, p.114).

“For he [John the Baptist] shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even from his mother’s womb” (Lk.1:15).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations” (Lev.10:9).

“He [the Nazarite] shall separate himself from wine and strong drink, and shall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink, neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moist grapes, or dried” (Num.6:3).

“Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright” (Pr.23:31).

“It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink” (Pr.31:4).

“But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever” (Jer.35:6).

“But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king’s meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself” (Dan.1:8).

9. The minister or bishop must not be a “striker” (me plekten): not combative or violent, not contentious or quarrelsome, not a person who strikes out and contends with another person. The minister must not be a person who strikes other people or who becomes easily upset, irritated, or aggravated with others. He uses neither hand nor tongue against anyone. On the contrary he is kind, gentle, and longsuffering with others.

Thought 1. Note: the tongue can be used to strike out at a person as easily as the hand or fist. Many a person has been hurt and damaged by the poisonous venom of a striking tongue.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm” (Pr.3:30).

“The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with” (Pr.17:14).

“It is an honor for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

10. The minister or bishop must not be a lover of worldly gain or possessions. (This is the meaning of filthy lucre.) The minister must be a person who has given all he is and has (money) to minister to people. He must not be a person who has entered the ministry as a profession or as a livelihood. He must be supported and given a livelihood by the church but he is not to be in the ministry in order to get a livelihood. He must not be a person who is out to get, but a person who is committed to giving. He must live of the gospel--God's people must support him so that he can preach the gospel--but he must be dead to the love of money and material possessions. He must give all that he is and has to the cause of Christ--to meet the dire needs of the desperate and dying men, women, and children of this earth. Remember: the following warnings were written to professing Christians.

“For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:10).

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust [storing, banking] of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days” (Jas.5:3).

11. The minister or bishop must be “patient” (epieike): gracious, kind, gentle, forbearing, reasonable, soft, and tender. The word goes beyond treating someone with justice: it treats a person graciously and tenderly. It reaches beyond justice and touches the person with a gentle hand. (See note, Gentleness--Ph.4:5 for more discussion.)

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous” (1 Tim.3:3).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

12. The minister or bishop must not be a brawler (amachon): not contentious or a fighter. He must be a man of peace, a mild-mannered person, always under control. Again, this refers to the tongue as well as to the hands. He must be a man who is deeply touched when there is unrest, controversy, or disturbance in the church or among believers. He must be a person who is so touched that he will work and seek for peace.

“For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints” (1 Cor.14:33).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

“Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it” (1 Pt.3:11).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

13. The minister or bishop must not be covetous (aphilarguron): not a lover of money.

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's” (Ex.20:17).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!” (Hab.2:9).

3 (3:4-5) Minister--Bishop--Elder: the minister or bishop must meet one very significant family qualification. The minister or bishop must rule his own household and rule it well. The home is a miniature of the church; the home is the proving ground for leadership in the church. The husband is the head of the home. This does not mean that he is the dictator, tyrant, or bully of the home. It means that he is the leader of the wife and children. He leads them all...

- in the building of a loving, joyful, and peaceful home.
- in the fulfillment of their life calling and task upon earth.

It means that the man is not bossed about or dominated by his wife; that he does not allow his children to disobey, rebel, or talk back to him or their mother; that he takes the lead in controlling his home for Christ and His kingdom.

Note the word “gravity” (semnotes). It means dignity. The minister must rule his home with dignity, respect, and love. As the Amplified New Testament says: “With true dignity, commanding their respect in every way and keeping them respectful.”

As Scripture says, “For if a man know not how to rule his own house, how shall he take care of the church of God?” (1 Tim.3:5).

4 (3:6) Proven--Novice--Minister--Bishop--Elder: the minister or bishop of God must be spiritually qualified. He must not be a novice (me neophuton), that is, a new convert or a new church member. He must have been a convert or church member for a long time...

- long enough to have become rooted and grounded in the Lord and His Word.
- long enough to have become spiritually mature.
- long enough to have proven his testimony for Christ.
- long enough to be well known and respected by other believers.
- long enough to be able to minister to others and to teach them to minister.

Note why a novice must not be given a position of leadership in the church: lest he become prideful and “fall into the condemnation of the devil.” Satan was expelled from heaven because of pride. It was pride that caused his fall and brought condemnation upon him. When a person is given a great responsibility before he has become rooted and grounded in the faith, he is most likely going to fall and be condemned just as Satan fell and was condemned. We must always remember what Matthew Henry points out: “Pride...is a sin that turned angels into devils” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.815). We must guard against pride. We must guard against putting a person in a position of leadership that will tempt him to feel more important than he is.

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“It is not good to eat much honey: so for men to search their own glory is not glory” (Pr.25:27).

“For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High” (Is.14:13-14).

“For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and one else beside me” (Is.47:10).

“Son of man, say unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thine heart is lifted up, and thou hast said, I am a God, I sit in the seat of God, in the midst of the seas; yet thou art a man, and not God, though thou set thine heart as the heart of God” (Ezk.28:2).

“Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.4).

5 (3:7) Minister--Bishop--Elder: the minister or bishop must meet one very important community qualification. He must have a “good report of them that are without”; that is, he must have a good testimony before the world. Of course, there are some in the world who will criticize and slander any person who has failed and run with the world. Many in the world do not recognize conversion nor repentance and forgiveness--the simple fact that Christ can forgive and change a person. But when a person enters the ministry, he must have experienced such a significant change that it is clearly evident that he is now following Christ. The change in his life must be radical: a radical turning away from the world and self to Christ. The change must be so radical that even the unbelievers can see it. Then and only then can he ever hope to reach the unbelieving world for Christ.

Note why the minister must have a good testimony before the world: lest he fall into reproach. The unbelievers of the world will reproach, ridicule, and mock him; and he will fall into the snare of the devil. That is, he will hesitate to bear testimony for Christ and to fulfill his duties as a minister. He will tend to withdraw and keep silent and to remain unseen as much as possible. The power of his ministry and testimony will be drastically weakened.

“[Timothy] which was well reported of by the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconium. Him would Paul have to go forth with him; and took and circumcised him because of the Jews which were in those quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Greek” (Acts 16:2-3).

“First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world” (Ro.1:8).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

Thought 1. A testimony before the world is essential. The world is not to choose or even have a voice in selecting church leaders. But church leaders must be respected by their day to day acquaintances. The point is profession versus possession. Those outside are the first to notice wrong behavior in a Christian. The Christian believer must behave like a Christian believer before he can serve as an overseer in God’s church.

D. The Deacons of the Church, 3:8-13

(3:8-13) Introduction: this passage discusses the second officer of the church, the deacon. The office of deacon is so important that the qualifications required are just as high as those demanded of a minister or bishop. In this day and time, when worldliness, immorality, and lawlessness are running so rampant, the qualifications for deacons need to be studied, heeded, and guarded ever so diligently.

1. Personal qualifications (v.8).
2. Spiritual qualifications (v.9-10).
3. Family qualifications (v.11-12).
4. Results: reward reaped (v.13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:8-13) Deacons: the word deacon (diakonous) means servant, minister. The first reference to deacons is in Acts (Acts 6:1-7). Deacons were appointed to help in the ministerial and administrative duties of the church (Acts 6:2). Their function was to relieve ministers so that ministers could give themselves “continually to prayer and to the ministry of the Word” (Acts 6:4). In particular they were chosen to minister to the day-to-day needs of believers and to the needs of widows and widowers and the poor and sick of a church. They were to relieve ministers so the ministers could concentrate on prayer and preaching.

“Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. But we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word” (Acts 6:3-4).

However, note a significant fact: this does not mean that ministers are never to meet day-to-day needs of believers nor that deacons should never share or preach the Word. In the early church both ministers and deacons served in both areas, but each concentrated upon their primary call and mission.

⇒ Preachers were sometimes called deacons, that is, servants.

“Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers [diakonoi] by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every man?” (1 Cor.3:5).

“Who also hath made us able ministers [diakonous] of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life” (2 Cor.3:6).

⇒ The first deacons preached as well as ministered to the needy of the church.

“And Stephen [a deacon], full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people” (Acts 6:8).

“Then Philip [a deacon] went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them” (Acts 8:5).

⇒ Deacons are closely linked to bishops.

“Paul and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons” (Ph.1:1).

⇒ Deacons are to be spiritually equipped for their task.

“Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business” (Acts 6:3; cp. 1 Tim.3:8-13).

⇒ The office of the deacon was an early development in the church.

“And in those days, when the number of the disciples was multiplied, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians against the Hebrews, because their widows were neglected in the daily ministration. Then the twelve called the multitude of the disciples unto them, and said, It is not reason that we should leave the word of God, and serve tables. Wherefore, brethren, look ye out among you seven men of honest report, full of the Holy Ghost and wisdom, whom we may appoint over this business. But we will give ourselves continually to prayer, and to the ministry of the word” (Acts 6:1-4).

1 (3:8) Deacons—Church, Officer of: deacons must be qualified; they must meet some personal qualifications.

1. Deacons must be “grave” (semnous): serious, honorable, worthy, revered, highly respected, noble. It is being serious-minded, the very opposite...

- of being flippant.
- of dishonoring oneself.
- of being shallow by being over-talkative.
- of having little respect because one is not grave or serious enough.
- of having a surface religion only.

However, note that this does not mean that the deacon is to walk around with a long face, never smiling, joking, or having fun. It simply means that he is serious-minded and committed to Christ and to the mission of the church: the mission of reaching the lost and meeting the needs of the desperate of the world.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“[A bishop must be] a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience....To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:2, 5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

2. Deacons must not be doubletongued (dilogos): bearing tales, gossiping, saying “one thing to one person and something different to another [person]” (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. Tyndale New Testament Commentaries, p.84); saying one thing to a person’s face and something else behind his back. No more descriptive word could be chosen than “doubletongued.”

The quality of not being double-tongued is important. As a deacon ministers through visitation (going from house to house) he is often tempted to gossip or say one thing to one person and something else to another person. He is also tempted to evade or smooth talk issues. Therefore, he must be a man of integrity, a man who speaks the straight truth—a man who is as honest as the day is long.

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures” (Jas.1:18).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

“Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer among thy people” (Lev.19:16).

“A talebearer revealeth secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter” (Pr.11:13).

“The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly” (Pr.18:8).

“He that goeth about as a talebearer revealeth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flat-tereth with his lips” (Pr.20:19).

“Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out: so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceaseth” (Pr.26:20).

3. The deacon must not be given to much wine (see note, Minister, pt.8—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).
4. The deacon must not be greedy of worldly gain (see note, Minister, pt.10—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

2 (3:9-10) Deacon—Church, Officer of: deacons must meet three very important spiritual qualifications.

1. Deacons must hold to the mystery of the faith and hold it in good conscience. The mystery of the faith is given in verse 16:

“And without controversy, great is the mystery of godliness:

- ⇒ “God was manifest [revealed] in the flesh
- ⇒ “Justified [vindicated] in the Spirit
- ⇒ “Seen by angels
- ⇒ “Preached [proclaimed] unto the Gentiles
- ⇒ “Believed on in the world
- ⇒ “Received [taken] up into glory.”

A deacon must believe in the incarnation, in the glorious gospel that God has come to earth in the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ to preach the love and salvation of God for man. In fact, note what this verse says: a deacon must hold within his own heart the mystery of the faith. He must possess and cling to it, and he must hold it in good conscience. He must believe the whole gospel (mystery) and not deceive the church by being hypocritical about his belief.

There is another point about conscience as well: the deacon must have a good conscience about living and sharing the mystery of the faith. He must not accept the call and office of deacon and then shirk his duties. He must hold the mystery of the gospel of the faith in all good conscience, that is, in sharing it faithfully with both believers and unbelievers.

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

2. Deacons must first be proved or tested before they are called to the office of a deacon (see note, Proven— 1 Tim.3:6 for discussion).
3. Deacons must be “blameless” (see note, pt.1—1 Tim.3:2-3).

3 (3:11-12) Deacons—Church, Officer of: deacons must meet several family qualifications. The Greek of this verse allows the verse to refer to women in the church who served as deaconesses, and indeed, many translators and commentators translate it as referring to deaconesses. However, this position seems most unlikely, for all the other verses of this passage deal with the deacons of a church. It is much more likely and logical that Paul is talking about the wives of deacons. The greater weight of the context certainly lies with this position. This is not a good passage for a person to build his case for deaconesses in the church. As a deacon visits and ministers to the women of the church, he needs his wife with him if she is able to accompany him. A strong picture of marital and family love and commitment to Christ are needed. Therefore, the deacon’s wife must be as strong in the Lord as he is.

1. The deacon must have a wife who is as committed to the Lord and to the church as he is.
 - a. The wife of a deacon must be “grave”: serious-minded, honorable, respected, and noble (see note, pt.1—1 Tim.3:8 for discussion).
 - b. The wife of a deacon must not be a “slanderer” (me diabolous): a talebearer, gossip; a person who goes about talking about others, stirring up mischief and disturbance.

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working [serving] not at all, but are busybodies” (2 Th.3:11).

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man’s religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

“Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbor: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered” (Pr.11:9).

“A froward man soweth strife: and a whisperer separateth chief friends” (Pr.16:28).

“The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly” (Pr.26:22).

- c. The wife of a deacon must be sober (see note, pt.4—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).
- d. The wife of a deacon must be faithful in all things: completely trustworthy as a wife and mother and as a believer. She must be faithful to the Lord...
 - in her personal devotion and loyalty to the Lord.
 - in her call as a wife and mother.
 - in her commitment to the church and its services and ministry.
 - in her ministry in serving with her husband.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But cleave unto the LORD your God, as ye have done unto this day” (Josh.23:8).

2. The deacon must be the husband of one wife (see note, pt.2—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).
3. The deacon must have a controlled family and home (see note—1 Tim.3:4-5 for discussion).

4 (3:13) Deacon—Testimony: the faithful deacon experiences two results.

1. He gains a good degree or standing and testimony before both God and man.

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

2. He gains great boldness or confidence and security in the faith. He experiences more and more assurance and freedom in the Spirit of God.

“In whom [Christ] we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith in him” (Eph.3:12).

“Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:16).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus....Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised;) and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:19, 22-24).

“Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world” (1 Jn.4:17).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

A. The Description of the Church, 3:14-16

(3:14-16) Introduction: this passage begins a new division of subjects in 1 Timothy—the believer’s behavior and relationships in the church. This first passage is one of the greatest discussions on the church in all of Scripture. It is a passage that every church and believer needs to study and heed.

1. The purpose of the Pastoral Epistles—that men might know how they ought to behave in the church (v.14).
2. The description of the church (v.15).
3. The truth of the church (v.16).

1 (3:14-15) Church—Pastoral Epistles—Scripture: these two verses explain why Paul was writing to Timothy and why he was later to write to Titus and Philemon. In essence these two verses give the very purpose for all the Pastoral Epistles (First and Second Timothy, Titus, and Philemon). Paul was writing to tell believers how they should behave within the church, that is, within the household or family of God. The word “behave” (anastrophesthai) means the conduct, walk, and behavior of a person; but it especially refers to how a person relates to other people. Therefore, the great concern of the Pastoral Epistles is how believers behave in their relationships to God, to each other, and to the unbelievers of the world.

Remember: Timothy was in Ephesus and Paul was writing from Macedonia. Paul hoped to visit Ephesus and Timothy soon, but he was not quite sure that he would be able to leave Macedonia. Therefore, he was spelling out in some detail...

- how Christian believers are to conduct themselves within the church.
- how Christian believers are to behave and witness to a world that is lost and reeling under the weight of corruption and evil.

2 (3:15) Church: this verse gives a great description of the church, a description that spells out three great pictures of the church.

1. The church is “the household [oikoi] of God.” This does not refer to the building of the church, but to the household of the church, to the people of the church. The church is a body of people who have committed themselves to form a family of people, a family centered around God and His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The church is a family of people...

- who believe in God and in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.
- who have committed their lives to live for Christ.
- who have based their lives upon the promise of eternal salvation promised by the Lord Jesus Christ.
- who have committed themselves to live as a family with all other believers.

Simply stated, the church is a body of people who have committed their lives to live as the family of God. God is the Father; Jesus Christ is the only begotten Son of the Father; but we, the followers of God, are the adopted children of God. Every person who truly follows God is a true member of the church, that is, of the family of God (Jn.1:12; 2 Cor.6:17-18; Gal.4:4-6).

The point is this:

- ⇒ How should we behave toward our Father?
- ⇒ How should we behave toward our brothers and sisters?

The answer is found within the family relationship.

- a. The children of a family are to love, obey, and learn from the Father.

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. and the second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:37-39).

“If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:17).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD: Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams” (1 Sam.15:22).

b. The children of a family are to love and help each other.

“And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

2. The church is “the church of the living God.” The word “church” (ekklesia) means an assembly, a gathering, a company of people who have been called out by God. But note: God is the living God; He is not some dead god. He is not some idol or figment of man’s imagination. He is the living God who is actually alive and is vitally concerned with how men behave and conduct themselves. This means a most significant thing.

God calls people to His church. He calls them to join His assembly, His gathering, His company of people. But it is up to people whether or not they come to His church. He is the living God; therefore, He actually speaks to the human heart and calls people to follow Him and to live for Him. There are times when every person feels and senses the call of God within his heart to come and join His company of people. But the decision is up to the person. God loves the person; therefore, He will not force the person to come to Him.

“For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come” (1 Th.1:9-10).

“For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people. It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God” (Heb.10:30-31).

3. The church is the pillar and ground of the truth. The church supports the truth just as pillars and ground support a building. The church props and supports the truth, holds together and binds the truth. William Barclay points out that Paul could also be thinking of the meaning of display (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.102). Pillars, whether short and small or towering and large, always appear to have an aire of stateliness that attracts attention. Therefore, the church is the pillar, the display, the demonstration of the truth that attracts people to Jesus Christ.

The church holds the truth up before a world that misbehaves and dies, yet does not have to die. The church—the family and company of God—is God’s instrument upon earth to proclaim the truth to the world. What truth? The glorious truth of the Incarnation—that God has loved the world and has demonstrated His love by sending His Son to save the world (cp. v.16). This is the glorious truth that the church supports and holds ever so highly before the world.

Thought 1. A piercing question is this: How many within the church are really supporting the truth before the world? How many are really holding up the truth by behaving and conducting themselves as they should? How many are holding up the truth by proclaiming it as they should?

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock" (Mt.7:24-27).

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.3:11).

"Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come" (Eph.1:20-22).

"Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim.6:19).

"Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity" (2 Tim.2:19).

"[Christ] to whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious, ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.2:4-5).

3 (3:16) Church—Incarnation: this is one of the great verses of Scripture; it is the glorious truth of the church—the truth that all true believers confess before the world. It is the truth which the church and its believers must never deny, neglect, ignore, or question. It is the only truth that offers hope and salvation for man beyond the grave. Deny and destroy this truth and all are lost and doomed to death forever. Why? Because all man-made and self-proclaimed truths end in the grave. But this truth will never die, for it is the truth of God's unbelievable love, the great "mystery of godliness." What is the mystery of godliness? This is the only reference to it in the Bible, and note the truth of it: it is "without controversy," that is, indisputable, undeniable, beyond any question. It is the truth that all genuine believers confess. And what is being confessed really happened. God has done six wonderful things for man. This is the mystery of godliness, the mystery that has now been revealed to man.

1. "God was manifest [revealed] in the flesh." God actually became a man in the person of Jesus Christ. He actually partook of flesh and blood.

a. Jesus Christ identified with man perfectly. By becoming Man, He experienced all the trials and sufferings of men; therefore, He is able to succor and deliver men through all the trials of life.

"For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham. Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted" (Heb.2:16-18).

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb.4:15-16).

b. Jesus Christ became man in order to take away the sins of men.

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin" (1 Jn.3:5).

"For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil" (1 Jn.3:8).

c. Jesus Christ became Man in order to destroy him who had the power of death, that is, Satan.

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage" (Heb.2:14-15).

Thought 1. The Incarnation is indisputable, undeniable, irrefutable. It is a fact: God did come to earth in the person of Jesus Christ.

"And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (Jn.1:14).

"To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation" (2 Cor.5:19).

"Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not, but a body hast thou prepared me" (Heb.10:5).

"That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life;

(for the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us)" (1 Jn.1:1-2).

2. Christ was justified or vindicated in the Spirit. When Christ walked upon earth, He proclaimed this truth: He was the Son of God who had come to earth to save all who would believe Him. But the vast majority of people did not believe Him. They denied, ignored, neglected, rebuked, mocked, questioned, argued against, and cursed Him. Many tried to use Him in order to get what they wanted, and others plotted to murder Him. But He was truly the Son of God; therefore, the Spirit of God vindicated Him; the Spirit of God proved His claims. How? The Spirit of God did three things.

- a. The Spirit of God enabled Christ to live a sinless and perfect life. The one thing that man knows is this: no man can live a sinless life. If a perfect life could ever be lived, it would have to be lived by God Himself as a Man, and this is exactly the point. Christ proved that He was the Son of God by living a sinless and perfect life.

"Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?" (Jn.8:46).

"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:21).

"But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom. Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows" (Heb.1:8-9).

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb.4:15).

"For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens" (Heb.7:26).

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God" (Heb.9:14).

"But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:19).

"Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth" (1 Pt.2:22).

"And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin" (1 Jn.3:5).

- b. The Spirit of God vindicated Christ by giving Him the power to do the mighty works of God. Christ worked so many miraculous works of healing and ministry that John could only say that the world itself could not contain the books if they had all been recorded (Jn.21:25). The point is this: no man could do the works that Christ did. Only God Himself could perform the kind of miracles Christ did. Therefore, the very works of Christ were the proof that He is who He claimed: the Son of God Himself.

"This beginning of miracles did Jesus in Cana of Galilee, and manifested forth his glory; and his disciples believed on him" (Jn.2:11).

"The same came to Jesus by night, and said unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him" (Jn.3:2).

"Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness of me" (Jn.10:25).

"If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him" (Jn.10:37-38).

"Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me: or else believe me for the very works' sake" (Jn.14:11).

"If I had not done among them the works which none other man did, they had not had sin: but now have they both seen and hated both me and my Father" (Jn.15:24).

- c. The Spirit of God vindicated Christ by raising Him from the dead. Men killed Him; they crucified Him upon the cross. But He was truly the Son of God; therefore the Spirit of God proved His claim by raising Him up from the dead.

"And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead" (Ro.1:4).

"[The power of God] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places" (Eph.1:20).

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively [living] hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Pt.1:3-4).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

3. Christ was seen of angels. The angels are heavenly beings who have always seen and beheld Christ. In fact, they are the very ministers of Christ who have been created to carry out His will in the other world, the spiritual world or spiritual dimension of being. Therefore, it is only natural that the angels were involved when Christ came to earth to save man. They were involved...

- in the preparation for His birth (Lk.1:26f).
- in His birth (Lk.2:8, 13).
- in His temptation (Mk.1:13).
- in His trials (Lk.22:43).
- in His resurrection (Mt.28:2f).
- in His ascension (Acts 1:10-11).

Angels are the ministering spirits of Christ who saw all that happened to Him. They saw Christ secure our salvation. The point is this: angels are living beings who have lived with Christ in a real place throughout all of eternity. Therefore, the promise of Christ—that we too shall live with Him eternally—is true. Heaven and angels are real. There is a real world, a spiritual world and dimension of being where God and Christ actually exist.

4. Christ was preached to the Gentiles, to all the nations of the world. This is a glorious part of the “mystery of godliness”: that Jesus Christ came to save all people, even the heathen—those who knew absolutely nothing about God and are so immoral, depraved, and corrupted, and so hopeless and helpless in life. Christ is not the exclusive Savior of the Jews nor of any other nation including America. He is the Savior of all people and all nations, both Jew and Gentile alike.

“And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come” (Mt.24:14).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And the gospel must first be published among all nations” (Mk.13:10).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people” (Rev.14:6).

5. Christ was believed on in the world. This was the very purpose for the Incarnation, the very reason why Jesus Christ had come to earth: that some might believe on Him and be saved to live with God eternally. Note this: when Christ left earth and ascended into heaven, there were only one hundred and twenty who were following Him and who began to share the gospel. But within fifty years every nation of the world had been touched for Christ. Thousands upon thousands had accepted Christ—so many in fact that Paul declared that the gospel had been carried to the ends of the world.

“But now is made manifest, and by the scriptures of the prophets, according to the commandment of the everlasting God, made known to all nations for the obedience of faith” (Ro.16:26).

“[The gospel] which is come unto you, as it is in all the world; and bringeth forth fruit, as it doth also in you, since the day ye heard of it, and knew the grace of God in truth” (Col.1:6).

“If ye continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister” (Col.1:23).

The point is this: what is the difference between the witness of the early believers and our witness today? Why were they able to reach so many and we seemingly reach so few? The answer is the truth of this point: belief. They truly believed on Christ; they rested their past, present, and future upon Him. They cast their souls and lives upon Him. They totally committed their lives to Him. They gave Him all they were and had. This kind of belief is missing today. The belief that so many have is a belief about Christ: that He is the Savior of the world. However, a belief about Christ is not believing on Christ. It is not turning one’s life over to Him; not casting one’s being—all that one is and has—upon Him.

The glorious “mystery of godliness” is that a person can be saved by believing on Christ—really believing on Him.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

6. Christ was received up to glory. This is a reference to the ascension and exaltation of Christ. He has been exalted as the Supreme Majesty of the universe, as Lord of lords, and King of kings. He is the God of the universe who rules and reigns over the universe in glory and majesty, dominion and power. Jesus Christ has completed the great work of salvation. He has been taken back into heaven, back to the very place from which He had come. He sits at the right hand of the Father, and He shall sit upon the throne of heaven until He chooses to return to earth and bring human history to its climactic consummation,

“So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth” (Ph.2:7-10).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

This is the great mystery and godliness now revealed to men.

- ⇒ God was manifested or revealed in the flesh (in the person of Jesus Christ.).
- ⇒ Christ was justified or vindicated in the Spirit.
- ⇒ Christ was seen by angels, actually seen by heavenly beings.
- ⇒ Christ was preached to the Gentiles—to all the nations of the world.
- ⇒ Christ was believed on in the world.
- ⇒ Christ was received up and exalted in heaven.

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

B. The Warning About False Teachers and Their Apostasy, 4:1-5

(4:1-5) Introduction: this is a passage that strikes a serious warning to believers—a passage that must be taken ever so seriously by minister and laymen alike. It is the warning about false teachers and their apostasy.

1. False teachers will arise in latter times (v.1).
2. Their apostasy (v.1-2).
3. Their doctrine (v.3-5).

1 (4:1) Apostasy—False Teachers: the false teachers will arise in the latter days of history. The phrase “latter times” means a little later on, not far out in the future. That is, false teachers were to arise within the church almost immediately and continue on through our day and on to the end of time. The point is well made: the church and the genuine believer have to be constantly on guard against false teaching. The terrible danger of false teaching always confronts the church and believer. And note: this is a revelation of the Spirit of God Himself. It is not the idea of some preacher seeking recognition because of his novel idea. It is the warning of God’s Spirit. The Spirit has spoken expressly (rhetos), that is, in specific terms, in plain words, distinctly, so that there can be no question about what is being said. False teachers will arise in the latter times.

2 (4:1-2) False teachers—Apostasy: the apostasy of the false teachers is serious, so serious that it should make us search our hearts. False teachers commit four tragic errors.

1. False teachers “depart from the faith.” Note: they are within the church, within the field of religion. This passage is not dealing with the philosophies and false teachings taught by the unbelievers out in the world. It is talking about false teachers within the church itself. The Spirit of God is warning us: some preachers and some teachers will turn away from the faith and become false teachers. They will turn away from the Lord Jesus Christ, away from the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus.

“[Christ] who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

Thought 1. There is only one true faith that can save a person. A person can have all kinds of faith and he can have faith in all kinds of people and things and religions. But only one faith can save a person: the faith in God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the faith from which a person must never depart.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:16-18).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

2. False teachers give attention to seducing spirits and teachings of devils. There are all kinds of evil spirits throughout the world, spirits that are set on seducing and deceiving people. They are set on leading people to follow them and their ideas and teachings. They do all they can to turn people away from the doctrine and faith of Christ. And note: the method they use is not a frontal attack, not a clear or loud declaration against the truth. They mix some truth with error. Their method is to...

- | | | |
|-----------|-----------|-----------------------------|
| • seduce | • lure | • persuade |
| • deceive | • entice | • charm |
| • delude | • attract | • appear as light and truth |

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the uncircumcision: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

3. False teachers speak lies in hypocrisy. Very simply, they teach something different from what the Scripture says, and they know it. They know they are not teaching what Scripture says. In fact, some false teachers take pride in their stand against what they call “a literal interpretation” of Scripture. Some even mock and poke fun at those who believe and hold to the truth of Scripture. But note what is so often overlooked:

- ⇒ “Speaking lies” means speaking and teaching what is contrary to Scripture. This is exactly what Scripture is declaring. In the eyes of Scripture, a lie is a teaching that is contrary to the teaching of Scripture.
- ⇒ “In hypocrisy” means the teacher knows that he is teaching contrary to Scripture. He claims to be a minister or teacher of God, Christ, and the Word (Scripture), and yet he teaches something contrary to what Scripture says. A hypocrite is a person who claims to be one thing but he is something else.

The point is this: the false teacher is a person who speaks lies in hypocrisy. He denies, refutes, or ignores what Scripture says and he knows it; yet he claims to be a minister or teacher of Christ and the gospel. This is the person who is an instrument or tool of some seducing and deceptive spirit, who teaches the doctrines of evil spirits.

“Ye hypocrites, well did Esaias prophesy of you, saying, This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me. But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:7-9).

“Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees” (Mt.16:12).

“Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto me, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity” (Mt.23:28).

“Ye hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky and of the earth; but how is it that ye do not discern this time? Yea, and why even of yourselves judge ye not what is right [Christ and His claims or words]” (Lk.12:56-57).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:17-18).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein” (Heb.13:9).

Thought 1. William Barclay has an excellent statement on men becoming tools of Satan and evil spirits.

“It was from these evil spirits and demons that this false teaching came. But though it came from the demons, it came through men....Now here is the threatening and the terrible thing. We know that God and God’s Spirit are everywhere looking for men to use. God is always searching for men who will be His instruments, His weapons, His tools in the world. But here we come face to face with the terrible fact that the forces of evil are also looking for men to use. Just as God seeks men for His purposes, the forces of evil seek men for their purposes. Here is the terrible responsibility of manhood. Man can accept the service of God, or the service of the devil. Man can become an instrument of the Supreme Good or the Supreme Evil. Men are faced with the eternal choice—to whom are we to give our lives, to God or to God's enemy? Are we to decide to be used by God, or are we to decide to be used by the devil?" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.107).

4. False teachers have consciences that are seared, that is cauterized, hardened, and insensitive. It does not bother most false teachers to teach contrary to the truth of Scripture. They can ignore and deny the Scripture and present their own ideas and it does not bother them at all. They are totally insensitive to the preachings and convictions of God's Spirit. They have no conscience and no remorse about twisting the Scriptures and the truth about Christ. They are completely past feeling any kind of movement from God's Spirit.

"Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word" (Jn.8:43).

"For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them" (Acts 28:27).

"But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God" (Ro.2:5).

"Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness" (Eph.4:19).

"Speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron" (1 Tim.4:2).

"Happy is the man that feareth always: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief" (Pr.28:14).

"He that being often reprov'd hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy" (Pr.29:1).

3 (4:3-5) False teachers—Apostasy: the doctrine of the false teachers is also serious, so serious that it too should make us search our hearts.

1. The particular doctrine confronting the church at Ephesus was Gnosticism. The Gnostics felt that what really mattered in life was the spirit of man; the spirit was the only good thing in the world. Everything else in the world—all physical and material substances including the human body—was corruptible and evil. Therefore, man's task upon earth was to deny self and avoid the things of the world and to control the body as much as possible. How? By denying the body as many things as possible. Note: in the church at Ephesus, the two things being denied and forbidden were eating of meat and marriage. Some were teaching that a person could get closer to God and please Him more by being a vegetarian and by remaining single. By being free of family duties, the person could concentrate on God more.

Note one other fact about Gnosticism that is not covered in this passage but is of extreme importance. Some Gnostics took the opposite view. Since the spirit is all that matters, the body and the world do not matter. Therefore, man can do what he likes physically. He can satisfy his passions, lusts, urges, and instincts—just so he takes good care of his spirit.

Every generation has its Gnostics, people who teach the false doctrines of extreme discipline or asceticism and those who teach the false doctrines of loose living (license and indulgence).

⇒ There are those who concentrate upon the body and its health. They seek to overcome the evil, that is, the corruption, disease, aging, and dying of the body as much as possible. Some exercise and exercise and others become vegetarians—all struggling against the aging, weakening, and dying of the body.

⇒ There are even those today who feel they can become closer to God and more spiritual by not marrying and by eating no meat. (But remember what Scripture has just said: it is best for the minister and leaders of the church to be married. Cp. 1 Tim.3:2-13.)

⇒ There are those who live as they please—eating, drinking, partying, indulging, and living extravagantly—all doing their own thing.

The point to see is this: each gives attention to their spirit and worship only as they wish, only as much as they feel is necessary to keep their spirit in tune with God. But note: their concentration is the body and its pleasure. In one case the pleasure is the exhilaration of discipline and control; in the other case the exhilaration is the stimulating of the flesh through partying and possessions.

"But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Mt.15:9).

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:1-2).

"Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances, (touch not; taste not; handle not; which all are to perish with the using;) after the commandments and doctrines of men? Which things have indeed a show of wisdom in will worship, and humility, and neglecting of the body; not in any honour to the satisfying of the flesh" (Col.2:20-23).

"For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake. One of themselves, even a prophet of their own, said, The Cretians are alway liars, evil beasts, slow bellies. This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith; not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth. Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled. They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:10-16).

2. Note how the truth destroys this life-style and teaching.
 - a. God has created all things to be received with thanksgiving. And note: all things can be received even by believers, by all who believe and know the truth.
 - b. All food that has been created by God is good and is not to be refused, if the believer can give thanks for it.
 - c. All food is sanctified or set apart by the Word of God and prayer. If the food is approved by God’s Word or can be prayed about and approved by God’s Spirit, then the believer can partake of it without any qualm of conscience. Wycliffe Bible Commentary gives an excellent comment on this point:

“The principles governing the right use...of this life are: (a) God is the Creator and his creation is good; (b) He created food for men, and those who believe and know the truth about eternal salvation will have the right attitude toward the necessities of this life, and will neither deify the created thing nor degrade and despise it, but will accept it thankfully as the Father’s wise provision” (Quoted from First and Second Timothy, Titus. “The New Testament and Wycliffe Bible Commentary,” ed. by Charles F. Pfeiffer and Everett F. Harrison. Produced for Moody Monthly by the Iversen Associates, NY, 1971, p.854).

“Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31-33).

“But meat commendeth us not to God: for neither, if we eat, are we the better; neither, if we eat not, are we the worse” (1 Cor.8:8).

“Whatsoever is sold in the shambles, that eat, asking no question for conscience sake: for the earth is the Lord’s, and the fulness thereof. If any of them that believe not bid you to a feast, and ye be disposed to go; whatsoever is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake” (1 Cor.10:25-27).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

C. The Young Minister (Charge 2): To Be a Good Minister, 4:6-16

1. He instructs believers about false teachers (v.1-5).
2. He nourishes himself in Christian faith and doctrine (v.6).
3. He avoids frivolous speculations (v.7).
4. He exercises himself to godliness (v.8).
5. He is a man of reason and of purpose (v.9).
6. He is a man who works and suffers reproach—willingly and laboriously (v.10).
7. He commands and teaches these things (v.11).
8. He is an example to the believers (v.12).
9. He devotes himself to public worship (v.13).
10. He does not neglect the gift that is in him (v.14).
11. He meditates and wholly gives himself to the instructions of Scripture—to bear witness (v.15).
12. He guards himself and his teaching (v.16).

1 (4:6) Minister—Teaching: the good minister and teacher instructs believers about false teachers. "These things" refers to the previous passage which warns believers to guard against false teachers (v.1-5). A good minister does all he can to lift up Jesus Christ and to warn his flock about false teachers, about those who will try to seduce and lead them astray. The Greek word "instruct" or "put...in remembrance" (hupotithemenos) means to place under, suggest, counsel, advise, point out. The point is this: false teaching is such a threat to the church and believers, the good minister of Jesus Christ will use every method of communication he can to instruct and protect his flock from being seduced by false teachers.

"Wherefore I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though ye know them, and be established in the present truth. Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance; knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath showed me. Moreover I will endeavour that ye may be able after my decease to have these things always in remembrance. For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty" (2 Pt.1:12-16).

"This second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance: that ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour: knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts” (2 Pt.3:1-3).

2 (4:6) Minister: the good minister nourishes himself on the words of the faith. Note that the Greek uses the definite article “the faith” (tes pisteos). This means the teachings of the Word of God. True doctrines are doctrines which are based upon the Scriptures. No doctrine is true (or Christian) that is not based upon the Scriptures.

Timothy had done this; he had been nourished upon the Scripture from earliest childhood (2 Tim.3:15), and he had continued to feed upon the Word of God. Paul was now encouraging him to continue the practice, for a good minister is a minister who feeds upon the Scriptures day by day.

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus. All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:15-16).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD doth man live” (Dt.8:3).

“Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food” (Job 23:12).

“Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hosts” (Jer.15:16).

3 (4:7) Minister—False Teaching: the good minister avoids frivolous speculations, rejects profane tales and old wives fables. What a description of false teaching! It is nothing more than “irreverent legends—profane and impure and godless fictions, mere grandmother’s tales—and silly myths” (Amplified New Testament). The good minister rejects all false teachings, which are nothing more than the frivolous speculations and false notions of men.

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:1-4).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith” (2 Tim.4:7).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith; not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth. Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled. They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:13-16).

“For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount. We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts: knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost” (2 Pt.1:16-21).

4 (4:8) Minister: the good minister exercises himself to godliness. The minister is compared to an athlete in these two verses. Note two things.

1. The minister is to exercise (gymnasia) himself in godliness as much as an Olympic athlete exercises his body. How much energy, effort, time, and dedication does an Olympic athlete put into his training? His sport is his life—unequivocally so. So it is with the minister: godliness is to be his life. All of his energy, effort, time, and dedication are to be given over to godliness. The minister is to know no exercise but the exercise of godliness.

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows. But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:9-11).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

2. Bodily exercise is profitable, but godliness is more profitable, far more profitable. The minister should exercise his body regularly; he should keep himself physically fit. But the focus of his life is to be godliness. The reason is clear: godliness bears fruit—great fruit—both in this life and in the life to come. God promises to bless the godly person now while he walks upon this earth, and eternally when he receives the life to come.

“Exercise thyself rather unto godliness. For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come” (1 Tim.4:7-8).

“But godliness with contentment is great gain” (1 Tim.6:6).

“This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men” (Tit.3:8).

“Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments, which I command thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth, which the LORD thy God giveth thee, for ever” (Dt.4:40).

“Keep therefore the words of this covenant, and do them, that ye may prosper in all that ye do” (Dt.29:9).

“Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper” (Ps.1:1-3).

“Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings” (Is.3:10).

5 (4:9) Minister: the good minister is a man of reason and of purpose. All that is being said—all of the instructions to ministers—is trustworthy, and all deserves his complete acceptance.

The good minister knows this:

- ⇒ the instructions to him are trustworthy.
- ⇒ the instructions to him deserve his complete acceptance.

Therefore, he commits his life to do exactly what Scripture charges him to do. The good minister is a man of reason and of purpose, a man who understands and knows and commits his life to live as God says. It is the very fact that distinguishes the minister as good.

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

“This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptation. For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe. These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:9-10).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him: if we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us: if we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself” (2 Tim.2:11-13).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life. This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men” (Tit.3:4-9).

6 (4:10) Minister: the good minister works and suffers reproach. The word “labor” (kopiao) means arduous work, strenuous work. The good minister labors and labors, works and works to the point of fatigue and exhaustion; to the point that he can go no further. He exerts every ounce of energy and effort in his body for the sake of God and Christ. And note: he is even willing to suffer reproach for Christ. He continues to minister even when men ridicule, revile, mock, curse, and persecute him. Why?

- ⇒ Because God is the living God. The minister’s work and message are based upon the truth; what he is doing is truth. It is all for the living God.
- ⇒ Because Jesus Christ is the Savior of all men. All men can be saved, actually delivered from the grip of sin, death, and condemnation.

Therefore the good minister must labor, no matter the reproach. He must share the glorious news: man can now be reconciled to God and live forever.

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“And when they had appointed him [Paul] a day, there came many to him into his lodging; to whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening” (Acts 28:23).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:9-10).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

“And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end: that ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:11-12).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

7 (4:11) Minister: the good minister commands and teaches these things. He preaches and teaches with authority. This is the very reason God has called the minister: to command and teach the Word of God with the very authority of God. Therefore, the good minister is a minister who boldly declares the Word of God and the commandments of God. He does not allow the fear of men nor the danger of hardship stop him. He has been commissioned by the Lord and he stands in the strength of the Lord. Therefore, he knows that the Lord will deliver him through all the dangers of life if he will only be faithful, if he will courageously declare the Word and the commandments of God.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

8 (4:12) Minister: the good minister is an example to the believers. Timothy was a young man; therefore, there was the possibility that some in the church would have difficulty in accepting his ministry. How could he overcome the opposition to his being so young? There was only one way: he had to prove that he was mature well beyond his years. He had to live a mature life, a life that would be an example to the believers.

1. He was to be an example in word: in what he said and in the way he said it. He had to control his conversation and tongue at all times, no matter the opposition.

“But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned” (Mt.12:36-37).

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

“Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world. In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun” (Ps.19:4).

“Pleasant words are as a honeycomb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones” (Pr.16:24).

“He that hath knowledge spareth his words: and a man of understanding is of an excellent spirit” (Pr.17:27).

“The words of a wise man’s mouth are gracious; but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself” (Eccl.10:12).

2. He was to be an example in behavior. His conduct was to be disciplined and controlled. He was to demonstrate that he was a true follower and leader of the Lord, that he was living for the Lord in all godliness and righteousness.

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh [honors] the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“Having your conversation [conduct] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

3. He was to be an example in love (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).

4. He was to be an example in the spirit. He was to walk being led by the Spirit and keeping his mind upon spiritual things. It means “spiritual-mindedness” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, p.821). (Note: the best Greek manuscripts do not have this quality in their texts.)

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit” (Ro.8:5).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:14).

5. He was to be an example in faith, that is, in faithfulness. He was to be loyal to the Lord Jesus and the church regardless of the demands, hardships, temptations, trials, or opposition. Imagine! No matter what the circumstance, the good minister is faithful and loyal.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much” (Lk.16:10).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end: that ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:11-12).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God’s heritage, but being ensamples to the flock” (1 Pt.5:2-3).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

6. He was to be an example in purity. He was to live a moral and clean, just and honest life. He was to be free—completely free—of coveting, lusting, worldliness, self-seeking, immorality, and all other known sins. He was to live a life of purity that far exceeded the standards of the world. His heart and life were to be pure—perfectly pure.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure” (1 Tim.5:22).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (2 Pt.3:14).

“For then shalt thou lift up thy face without spot; yea, thou shalt be steadfast, and shalt not fear” (Job.11:15).

“Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully” (Ps.24:3-4).

- 9 (4:13) Minister—Public Worship: the good minister devotes himself to public worship. There are three things in particular to which he publicly devotes himself: the reading, exhortation, and teaching of Scripture and its doctrine. Note what the major task of the minister is as he stands in the pulpit...
- He is to read the Scripture.
 - He is to exhort and teach the doctrines of Scripture.

“Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine” (1 Tim.4:13).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching” (Heb.10:25).

Thought 1. The New Testament and Wycliffe Bible Commentary gives an excellent explanation of exhortation: “Comfort, encouragement, admonition, exhortation, the whole area of ministry which would today be described as counseling, but here the context favors the ministry of preaching, expounding the Scriptures.” (p.856.)

- 10 (4:14) Minister: the good minister does not neglect the gift that is in him. This refers to the spiritual gift, the special anointing given him by the Holy Spirit to be a minister. Note that the gift had been received through both prophecy and the laying on of hands by other elders or ministers of the church.
- Neglect is dangerous, for it means that a minister fails to do his duty. It means that he is unfaithful and stands before God as an unfaithful minister.

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery” (1 Tim.4:14).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

- 11 (4:15) Minister: the good minister meditates and wholly gives himself to these instructions.

1. The good minister meditates upon the Word of God. He lives, eats, and drinks the Scripture and its instructions. And he meditates upon the application of the Scripture to his people. He holds the Bible in one hand and the daily newspaper in the other so as to apply the Scripture to the needs of the day. William Barclay has an excellent statement:

“The great danger of the Christian leader is intellectual sloth and the shut mind. The danger is that he forgets to study and allows his thoughts to run in well-worn grooves. The danger is that he never gets outside the orbit of a limited number of favorite ideas. The danger is that new truths, new methods, the attempt to restate the faith in contemporary terms comes merely to irritate and to annoy him. The Christian leader must be a Christian thinker or he fails in his task; and to be a Christian thinker is to be an adventurous thinker so long as life lasts” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.117-118).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

“A double minded man is unstable in all his ways” (Jas.1:8).

“Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be still” (Ps.4:4).

“Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O LORD, my strength, and my redeemer” (Ps.19:14).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

- 12 (4:16) Minister: the good minister guards himself and his teaching. The words “take heed” (epeche) mean to keep a strict eye upon or to keep on paying attention to oneself and to one’s teaching.
- ⇒ He guards his body, keeps it both morally and physically fit. He flees the temptations that assault and seduce him, and he controls his thoughts and keeps them pure from the lusts of the world and flesh. He neither eats too much nor succumbs to immoral thoughts or acts. He neither gives in to greed nor seeks the possessions or wealth of the world.

1 TIMOTHY 4:6-16

- ⇒ He guards his spirit and keeps it spiritually fit. He worships God every day and lives in God's Word and prayer all day long, and he shares the glorious gospel of Christ, witnessing to and exhorting people as he walks throughout the day.
- ⇒ He guards his study and teaching, avoiding the profane doctrines, teachings, notions, philosophies, ideas, and fables of men.

Note what he does. He continues in the instructions of the Word of God. The word "continue" (epimene) means to "stay by them," "stick to them," "see them through" (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.582). Why? Because by continuing in them, he saves both himself and those who hear him.

"He that endureth to the end shall be saved" (Mt.10:22).

"But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway" (1 Cor.9:27).

"Keep thyself pure" (1 Tim.5:22).

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this...to keep himself unspotted from the world" (Jas.1:27).

"Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.1:13).

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Pt.5:8).

"Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 21).

"Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown" (Rev.3:11).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

D. The Spirit and Discipline of Relationships, 5:1-2

(5:1-2) Introduction—Church—Minister: there is the duty to correct and discipline various age groups. Note that these two verses picture a family. The instructions are clear: the members of a church are to treat each other as family members. In no sense is any member to be rebuked. “Rebuke” (epiplesso) means to be severely censured, angrily reprimanded, violently reproached. When a family church member needs to be corrected, there is to be no severity, anger, or violence involved; no contempt or disgust. A church member is to be corrected and disciplined through entreaty (parakalei), that is, through exhortation and encouragement, through appeal and pleading. This passage deals with the spirit and discipline of various relationships within the church.

1. Elderly men: to be treated as fathers (v.1).
2. Young men: to be treated as brothers (v.1).
3. Elderly women: to be treated as mothers (v.2).
4. Young ladies: to be treated as sisters (v.2).

1 (5:1) Elderly Men: elderly men are to be treated as fathers. Older men who are true Christian believers have more experience and wisdom in dealing with life. This is not to say they are always right; sometimes they are not. But they do have the wisdom of experience. Therefore, they are not to be ignored, neglected, bypassed, overlooked, or set aside as useless. They are to be treated as a father, with affection, respect, and honor. Their ideas, opinions, counsel, and direction are to be sought. They are to be a part of the life and ministry of the church.

One other point is important as well. Because of their experience, older men sometimes hold strong opinions and become set in their ways. They can become close-minded to new ideas, ministries, and methods. The end result is sometimes tragic: misbehavior, grumbling, complaining, criticism, opposition, and division.

The point is this: if an older man ever needs to be corrected, he is to be corrected and disciplined as a father, not as an enemy. He is to be approached and exhorted, appealed to and pleaded with just as we would our earthly father.

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right” (Eph.6:1).

“Rebuke not an elder, but intreat him as a father; and the younger men as brethren” (1 Tim.5:1).

“Thou shalt rise up before the hoary [gray, aged] head, and honor the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:32).

“And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid, and durst not show you mine opinion” (Job 32:6).

“My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.1:8).

“My son, keep thy father’s commandment, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.6:20).

“The hoary head is a crown of glory, if it be found in the way of righteousness” (Pr.16:31).

“Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old” (Pr.23:22).

2 (5:1) Young Men: younger men are to be treated as brothers. The young are sometimes thought to know too little and to be too inexperienced to have a part in the decisions and ministry of the church. Therefore, there is the tendency to ignore and bypass them. But this is never to be. Young men are to be treated as brothers; they are to be accepted and invited and given a part in the life and ministry of the church. The older members of a church are not to show an air of superiority in dealing with young men. They are to show brotherly affection: consideration, respect, and care.

There is another need that also sometimes arises among younger men. They need direction: there are times when younger men need to be taught, corrected, and disciplined—no matter their age. When these times arise, there is to be no air of superiority, severe reaction, contempt, or disgust. There is to be a brotherly spirit: affection and care, exhortation and direction, guidance and teaching.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend” (1 Cor.8:13).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ....As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:2, 10).

3 (5:2) Elderly Women: elderly women are to be treated as mothers. Just think what a mother gives to a family and you can see what the older women can contribute to the church:

- | | | | |
|--------------|----------------|--------------|-----------------|
| • love | • affection | • protection | • direction |
| • warmth | • compassion | • provision | • teaching |
| • care | • nourishment | • kindness | • instruction |
| • tenderness | • concern | • guidance | • discipline |
| • energy | • perseverance | • giving | • understanding |

A church is totally irresponsible if it ignores its elderly women who are true Christian believers. Their potential contribution to the lives and fellowship of believers is immeasurable. Therefore, the church is instructed to treat its elderly women as mothers. They are to be loved and protected, and their softness, tenderness, guidance, understanding, instruction, and energy are to be sought and used by the church.

Again, if an elderly woman needs correction and discipline, it must not be done in contempt and disrespect, but rather by the appeal and pleading of encouragement.

“Rebuke not an elder, but intreat him as a father; and the younger men as brethren” (1 Tim.5:1).

“But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite [pay back] their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God” (1 Tim.5:4).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

“Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee” (Ex.20:12).

“Ye shall fear [reverence, respect] every man his mother, and his father, and keep my sabbaths: I am the LORD your God” (Lev.19:3).

“My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.1:8).

“My son, keep thy father’s commandment, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.6:20).

“Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old” (Pr.23:22).

5 (5:2) Younger Women: younger women are to be treated as sisters. But note the added exhortation: in all purity. Lust, immoral thoughts, sex—thinking about the physical attractiveness and the bodies of the younger women—none of this is to have a place in the church. The men and women of the church are all to keep themselves pure and to treat the young Christian women as sisters. They are to be protected and guarded, nourished and taught within the church. And their energy, tenderness, understanding, and compassion are to be sought and used by the church in its ministry.

In the matter of correction and discipline, young women are not to be treated with severity or disgust, but in love, encouragement, and exhortation.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

“Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman. Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband” (1 Cor.7:1-2).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour. But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:2-3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

1 TIMOTHY 5:1-2

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:4-5).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb” (Rev.14:4).

(But note: a woman must guard how she dresses and makes herself up. Although not covered in this passage, other passages cover this subject. See note—1 Tim.2:9-10).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

E. The Responsibilities to Christian Widows, 5:3-16

(5:3-16) Introduction: What is the children's responsibility to their widowed parents? What is the believer's and the church's responsibility to the Christian widows under their care? These are the all important questions of this passage.

1. Christian widows are to be honored (v.3-8).
2. The children and their widowed parents (v.4-8).
3. The church and its organization of widows (v.9-10).
4. The church and the younger widows and idleness (v.11-15).
5. The believer is to take care of the widows in his own family (v.16).

1 (5:3) Widows—Elderly Parents: Christian widows are to be honored. Honor means to respect and esteem, but it also means to consider and give due care. It has the idea of looking after and caring for, of giving material help. All Christian widows are to be honored, respected, and esteemed by the church. But note the term "widows indeed." This limits the material support of the church. Not all widows need help. Some widows have family and estates that can help them. The widows who have no family and inadequate finances are those who are to be helped and supported by the church. They are the widows who are to be honored with the material support of the church.

2 (5:4-8) Widows—Children—Aged Parents: the children and their widowed parents. Note four significant points.

1. Children are to care for their parents and grandparents. This is a strong statement. In fact, the very first duty of a child is to be pious at home, that is...
 - to live for Christ in the home.
 - to be responsible in caring for his own family.

A true believer is a Christian at home before he is a Christian anyplace else. His first duty as a Christian is to love and care for his own family, and this includes his parents and grandparents. His parents and grandparents loved and took care of him when he was a child; therefore, he is to return the love and care when they are no longer able to take care of themselves.

Note the declaration: this is "good and acceptable before God." No other action is good or acceptable with God. A Christian child must love and take care of the widowed parents or else they receive the disapproval of God (cp. v.8).

2. Widowed parents who are true Christians are to live above reproach. Who are "widows indeed," the persons who are to be cared for by the church?

- ⇒ The person who is “desolate” (memonomene): left completely alone; without husband, children, or close kin.
- ⇒ The person who trusts in God. The Greek says who “has set her hope on God”; who has “placed her hope [and keeps it] on God” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.584). Note what God declares: “Let thy widows trust in me” (Jer.49:11).
- ⇒ The person who continues in supplications (earnest seeking) and prayers night and day.

The widow who really trusts God and focuses her life and attention upon praying day and night—that widow is a true Christian, a person who is focused upon Christ and His mission just as the church is. Therefore, the church is to look after and take care of this dear saint of God. But note the contrast: some widows live in pleasure; that is, they give themselves over to the flesh and the world. They party, get drunk, and live immoral lives. These are not to be supported by the church. The church’s energy and resources are not to be used to indulge and give license to worldliness and sin. Such a woman is “dead while she lives.” She is dead to God and to the things of God. Her mind is upon her clubs and parties, the world and the flesh, not upon the Lord and His church and the desperate needs of a dying world.

3. Both widowed parents and children are to obey these instructions. The reason is clearly stated: so that they can be blameless before God. We shall all be held accountable...

- for children: how they treat their widowed and aged parents.
- for widowed parents: how they live when widowed and aged, whether righteous or immoral, godly or ungodly.

We must both live obeying God and doing exactly what He says. We shall either be declared blameless and acceptable to God or else guilty of sin and unacceptable to God.

4. Children are accountable to God. This is a frightening declaration. It clearly shows just how important God considers our treatment of widows. If a child does not take care of his family, especially those within his own household (meaning immediate family—wife, children, parents, and grandparents), two things are true of him.

- ⇒ He denies the faith.
- ⇒ He is worse than an infidel or an unbeliever.

An infidel is a person who rejects Christ and sometimes even opposes Christ. He denies God and everything about God. The point is this: a person who does not take care of his parents (or anyone else of his household) stands opposed to God. He even denies the very existence of God by his behavior, for he shows that he does not fear God nor God’s command to respect and care for his parents. How we treat our aged parents is of critical importance to God. God holds us accountable and will judge us for how we treat our fathers and mothers when they become old.

“Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee” (Ex.20:12).

“Ye shall fear every man his mother, and his father, and keep my sabbaths: I am the Lord your God” (Lev.19:3).

“Cursed be he that setteth light by [makes light of] his father or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen” (Dt.27:16).

“The eye that mocketh at his father, and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it” (Pr.30:17).

“For God commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother; and, He that curseth father or mother, let him die the death” (Mt.15:4).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

3 (5:9-10) Widows—Church: the church and its organization of widows. Apparently, the early church did what any wise church does: organized its most spiritual widows for ministry. Widows who are committed to Christ have a great potential for ministry. Once they have recovered from the loss of their spouse, their commitment, energy, time, and talents can concentrate upon Christ and the ministry of the church. The early church recognized this fact and organized the widows for a very special ministry to the needy. But note: the ministry of organization had high spiritual standards.

- ⇒ The widow had to be at least sixty years old. This would mean that she had probably walked with Christ and proven her faith for some years.
- ⇒ The widow must have been the wife of only one husband. By this, she would be a strong example of purity and trustworthiness.
- ⇒ The widow must have a strong testimony of good works.
- ⇒ The widow must have reared and nourished her children as she should have: in love and care, correction and discipline, and in Christ and His church.
- ⇒ The widow must have been a hospitable person, opening and using her home as a ministering center for Christ. The inns of that day were “notoriously dirty, notoriously expensive, and notoriously immoral” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.128). Therefore, Christians who were willing to open their homes to strangers traveling about showed an open heart for ministry.
- ⇒ The widow must have washed the saints’ feet. The people of that day wore sandals and the roads and paths were dirty. Therefore, it was the common practice to have a bowl of water at the entrance of the home for guests to wash their feet. The idea is that the spiritual woman would have a humble spirit. She would have never allowed a servant to greet other Christians into her home; she would have done that herself. She would have humbly met them and cleaned their feet herself. This would show that she was willing to do the most humble and menial task in ministering to people.
- ⇒ The widow must have helped the afflicted and distressed, the suffering and troubled. This would show that she was tender and compassionate.
- ⇒ The widow must have devoted herself to all good work.

Thought 1. Every church needs to organize its widows for ministry, especially those who love the Lord and have lived for Him and are committed to the church. They can...

- be a strong example in purity and trustworthiness.
- provide a strong testimony of good works.
- minister to the children of the church and community, both the orphans and those with parents.
- minister enormously through hospitality using their homes as an outreach center.
- serve in the most humble and menial tasks of the church.
- minister to the suffering and distressed.
- be used in all the works and ministries of the church.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7)).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

4 (5:11-15) Widows—Young Women—Church: the church and the younger widows and idleness. Two significant things are said here about young widows and the early church.

1. Young widows were not allowed to serve in the church’s order of widows. The reason given is that they might wish to marry again. This tells us that the church’s order of widows made a vow to serve God and His church for the remainder of their lives, never again marrying.

The picture is this: a young Christian lady whose husband had just died would be gripped with bitter sorrow. She would find her most comforting solace in God Himself and in her friends at church. She could be subject to the hasty impulse of dedicating her life to God as a widow—and requesting that she be added to the church’s order of widows. The exhortation to refuse her request is to prevent a hasty and impulsive decision. Such a decision would bring criticism to the young widow at a later date when she might wish to break her vow to God and marry again. (See outline—1 Cor.7:8-9; 7:39-40.) If she broke her vow, she would displease God, stir criticism, and lower the meaning of making vows to God and to the ministry of the church.

Another problem might also arise. Young widows have not had time to become all that mature in the Lord. Therefore, as they went from house to house in their ministry, they might tend...

- to idle time away.
- to gossip.
- to be busybodies.
- to say “things they should not say and [talk] of things they should not mention” (Amplified New Testament).

“For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies” (2 Th.3:11).

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

2. Young widows should, therefore, marry.
- a. They should marry lest they cause immoral gossip.

“I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, give none occasion to the adversary to speak reproachfully” (v.14).

Thought 1. It is not wrong for a young widow to remain single if she can live for Christ and the church. But if she cannot dedicate her life to Christ and the ministry, then she should marry.

- b. They should marry lest they turn aside to Satan (v.15). Note that this verse says that some in Ephesus had turned aside and gone after the world and its immoral and unclean lifestyle.

“They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away” (Lk.8:13).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“A double minded man is unstable in all his ways” (Jas.1:8).

“For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning” (2 Pt.2:20).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

“They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us” (1 Jn.2:19).

“Thou lovest evil more than good; and lying rather than to speak righteousness” (Ps.52:3).

“Thus saith the LORD unto this people, Thus have they loved to wander, they have not refrained their feet, therefore the LORD doth not accept them; he will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sins” (Jer.14:10).

- 5 (5:16) Church—Widows: the believer is to take care of the widows in his or her family. The church is not to be charged with the care of widows if there are living relatives. The responsibility is that of the families.

“Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow” (Is.1:17).

“He it is, who coming after me is preferred before me, whose shoe’s latchet I am not worthy to unloose” (Jn.1:27).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

F. The Elders or Officials, 5:17-20

(5:17-20) Introduction: this is a day in which the minister of God is being attacked not only by the world, but most unfortunately, by those within the church. The attackers are causing a loss of respect for Christ and a neglect, ignoring, abuse, and persecution of the ministry as has seldom been experienced in civilization. Because of this, ministers are being neglected when it comes to meeting their financial needs and quickly deserted when gossip and rumors swirl about their heads. Whether the rumors are true or not, few people care and are willing to support the minister of God. This passage deals with both subjects—critical subjects for our day.

1. The honor and pay of an elder (v.17-18).
2. The discipline of an elder (v.19-20).

1 (5:17-18) Elder—Minister, Financial Support: the church is to honor its minister—esteem, respect, acknowledge, and recognize him. He is to be held within the heart of the believer and held ever so closely, and he is to be esteemed ever so highly. In fact, note what Scripture says: he is to be “counted worthy of double honor.”

But note: there is a condition attached to honoring the minister. The minister to be honored is one who “rules well.” The word “rule” (proistemi) is a general word meaning to oversee, supervise, and look after. The minister who is worthy of double honor is the minister who labors and labors and works and works. If he is to receive double honor then he must demonstrate a double commitment to Christ and the church.

Note also that the whole ministerial staff is covered by this charge. All the ministers of a church staff are to be counted worthy of double honor. But there is one minister who is singled out: the minister who labors in the Word and doctrine, that is, who preaches and teaches. It is he upon whom so much responsibility lies: he is the minister who takes the lead in edifying and building up the believer and the church. He is the one who has to spend hours on his face before God and in the Word in order to preach and teach—this in addition to taking the lead in all the other duties and ministries of the church. If he is a committed minister, a minister who labors and labors for Christ and works and works for the church, then he is worthy of double honor.

Now, one other significant fact. The word “honor” (time) means more than just esteem and respect. It means to pay and bestow what is due. A minister is due an honorarium; he is due compensation, some pay, some wage for his labor. And, if he performs his duty well—labors and labors and works and works—then he is due double honor. Is this to be taken literally? Is the church to pay him a double salary? A.T. Robertson states that there are “numerous examples of Roman soldiers who received double pay for unusual services” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.588). One thing is sure: double pay means adequate, ample, sufficient, and generous financial support.

The oxen used to grind out the corn is an example. In the East, oxen have been used to pull a millstone around and around over grain. The oxen was never muzzled. He was allowed to eat as much grain as he wished, for he was considered to have earned all the grain he wished. So it is to be with the minister of God. He is worthy of his labor. As he grinds and grinds away at the harvest of souls for God and His church, the minister is to be given more than enough financial support.

Thought 1. Scripture has already deplored money-grabbing (1 Tim.3:3). God equally deplores inadequate compensation. The point is: if God ordained that working oxen should be cared for, how much more has He ordained the church to adequately care for the working minister!

“Thou shalt not muzzle the ox when he treadeth out the corn” (Dt.25:4).

“Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses, nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat” (Mt.10:9-10).

“And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house. And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you” (Lk.10:7-8).

“For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?” (1 Cor.9:9).

“Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel” (1 Cor.9:14).

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine. For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward” (1 Tim.5:17-18).

2 (5:19-20) Minister—Elder: the discipline of an elder. (When studying church discipline, the instructions of our Lord should always be studied. See outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20.) Matthew Henry gives an excellent exposition of verse 19, an exposition that every minister should read:

“Here is the scripture-method of proceeding against an elder, when accused of any crime. Observe [it]. There must be an accusation; it must not be a flying uncertain report, but an accusation, containing a certain charge, [and it] must be drawn up....

“This accusation is not to be received unless supported by two or three credible witnesses; and the accusation must be received before them, that is, the accused must have the accusers face to face, because the reputation of a minister is...a tender thing...therefore, before any thing be done in the least to blemish that reputation, great care should be taken [and] the thing alledged against him be well proved” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.825).

A very practical and warm exposition is also given by Oliver Greene:

“It is possible for even a godly, separated, God-appointed elder to commit sin...It is possible even for those who live very near to the heart of God to be caught off guard and commit sin that will bring shame and disgrace upon the church. But we are not to accuse an elder unless there are two or more witnesses to testify that the accusation is an accomplished fact. We should never repeat anything we hear about a minister, deacon, steward, elder, Sunday school teacher or any leader in the church. If we hear reports of evil, we should investigate in the right way, through the right people—and certainly we should not discuss the situation with unbelievers. It is very clear in verse 19 that an elder must not be accused unless there are at least two or three witnesses who can prove the truth of the accusation” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.202).

The discipline is clearly stated: the elder or minister is to be rebuked. The words “before all” most likely mean before all the elders rather than before the whole church (A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.589). To go before the whole church would only add fuel to the flame of the immature and carnal believers within the church. It would make a public spectacle before the outside world. Such would naturally damage the church’s testimony—even if an attempt was made to balance the damaged image by claiming disciplinary action. Note that the point of the discipline is the correction of the sinning minister and the prevention of other ministers from sinning: that they may fear exposure and embarrassment.

William Barclay has an excellent exposition of this verse that merits being read by all ministers:

“Those who persist in sin are to be publicly rebuked. That public rebuke had a double value. It sobered the sinner into a consideration of his ways, and wakened him into a sense of shame; and it made others have a care that they did not involve themselves in a like humiliation. The threat of publicity is no bad thing, if it keeps a man in the right way, even from fear. A wise leader will know when there is a time to keep things quiet, and a time for public rebuke. But whatever happens, the Church must never give the world the impression that it is condoning sin” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.135).

In conclusion, charges made against a minister or anyone else is one of the most serious acts that a person can do. Barclay states it as well as it can be stated:

“This would be a happier world, and the Church would be a happier Church, if people would realize that it is nothing less than a sin to spread and to repeat stories about people of whose truth they are not, and cannot be, sure. Irresponsible, slanderous and malicious talk does infinite damage and causes infinite heartbreak, and such talk will not go unpunished by God....” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.135f).

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:1-3).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

G. The Young Minister (Charge 3): To Be an Impartial Minister, 5:21-25

(5:21-25) Introduction: this is the third personal charge given to Timothy, a charge that desperately needs to be heeded by all believers and all ministers and teachers of God's Word.

1. A strong charge (v.21).
2. Charge 1: minister without partiality (v.21).
3. Charge 2: guard ordination and guard oneself (v.22).
4. Charge 3: care for the body and its weaknesses (v.23).
5. Charge 4: leave the judgment of others to God (v.24-25).

(5:21-25) Another Outline: this passage could be combined with the former passage into one outline (1 Tim.5:17-25). These verses would simply become point 3. The three points would be:

1. The honor and pay of a minister (v.17-18).
2. The discipline of a minister (v.19-20).
3. The personal behavior of a minister (v.21-25).
 - a. He is not to show partiality (v.21).
 - b. He is to guard ordination (v.22).
 - c. He is to care for the body and its weaknesses (v.23).
 - d. He is to leave the judgment of others up to God (v.24-25).

1 (5:21) Charge: this is a strong charge, a command that opens the eyes and awakens the mind. The charge is directed to the minister of God, and it is given...

- "Before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels," that is, the angels who obeyed God and "kept their own principality [Jude 6] and who did no sin [2 Pt.2:4]" (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.589). The angels who are "commissioned to watch over men's affairs" (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. Tyndale New Testament Commentaries, p.107). (Cp. Heb.1:14.)

The mention of all three—God, Christ, and the elect angels—shows how important these instructions are to God. He wants the message of 1 Timothy preached and taught. Timothy was not only to appear before God, he was also to appear before the Lord Jesus Christ and the elect angels. He was to be held accountable for the way he discharged his duty to preach and teach these things. So is every other minister. We shall be held accountable for the way we preach and teach the Scripture.

2 (5:21) Partiality—Favoritism—Prejudice: the first charge is to minister without prejudice or partiality. Timothy faced the temptation that every minister faces:

- ⇒ being prejudiced against some people—judging some people because they have a different color skin, or belong to a different race, or are poor, or live in a different section of town.
- ⇒ showing partiality and favoritism to other people—seeking, listening, recognizing, and spending more time with certain people while ignoring others.

Scripture is clear in its warning to us about partiality, yet we continue to be prejudiced and to show partiality. As believers of the Lord—servants, teachers, and ministers of Christ—we must heed the following instructions of God.

- ⇒ We must not make decisions because we fear the face of some men, that is, their position and power.

“Ye shall not respect persons in judgment; but ye shall hear the small as well as the great; ye shall not be afraid of the face of man; for the judgment is God's: and the cause that is too hard for you, bring it unto me, and I will hear it” (Dt.1:17).

- ⇒ We must not make decisions because some leader or powerful person desires it.

“Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbor” (Lev.19:15).

- ⇒ We must not preach and teach the Word of God with partiality; we must not hold back, fearing the face of man. We must fearlessly preach the truth for the sake of people’s salvation—all people. The wealthy and powerful must repent as much as the poor and unknown.

“I charge thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality” (1 Tim.5:21).

“Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as ye have not kept my ways, but have been partial in the law” (Mal.2:9).

- ⇒ We must not accept and favor people because of their social standing, wealth, position, or power.

“My brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons. For if there come unto you assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment; and ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool: are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?” (Jas.2:1-4).

- ⇒ We must not admire or give more attention to some people because they have a greater advantage in looks, society, position, or popularity.

“These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, having men’s persons in admiration because of advantage” (Jude 16).

- ⇒ We must not secretly show partiality.

“He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept persons” (Job 13:10).

- ⇒ God clearly says: it is not good to have respect of persons.

“These things also belong to the wise. It is not good to have respect of persons in judgment” (Pr.24:23).

3 (5:22) Ordination—Ministers: the second charge is to guard ordination and to guard oneself. The laying on of hands here can refer to ordaining men to the ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ or to restoring the ministers who had fallen into sin and been disciplined. “The prohibition suits either situation,” but the context seems to suit the restoration of fallen ministers (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.589). However, the charge is certainly meant for both situations, for ordaining men to the ministry of Christ is of critical importance.

1. Note the word “suddenly.” We must not rush to ordain men. The reason is clearly understood.

- ⇒ Young believers have not yet grown enough in the Lord. They have not yet learned to conquer the temptations and sins of the world and of their former lives (through Christ). They can easily slip back and disgrace the name of Christ and of the ministry. Therefore, all young believers must be given time to grow in Christ before they are ever ordained.

- ⇒ New church members must also be given time to prove their profession and call before being ordained. A person is not always what he professes to be. Ordaining someone before we know for sure that he is going to continue on for Christ and is definitely called by Christ can lead to devastating results. A novice, a new church member, often returns to the world and its sinful ways. If he has been ordained, he brings reproach upon Christ, the church, and the ministry.

*“Undue haste in Christian appointments has...led to unworthy men bringing havoc to the cause of Christ.” (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.107).*

*“Before a man gains promotion in business, or in teaching, or in the army or the navy or the air force, he must give proof that he has earned it and that he deserves it. No man should ever start at the top. A man must give proof that he deserves a position of responsibility and leadership. This is doubly important in the Church; for a man who is raised to high office, and who then fails in it or brings discredit on it, brings dishonour, not only on himself, but also on the Church. In a critical world the Church cannot be too careful in regard to the kind of men whom she chooses as her leaders” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.136).*

“And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and of the Holy Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a proselyte of Antioch: whom they set before the apostles: and when they had prayed, they laid their hands on them” (Acts 6:5-6).

“Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine. Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery” (1 Tim.4:13-14).

“Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure” (1 Tim.5:22).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“And thou shalt bring the Levites before the LORD: and the children of Israel shall put their hands upon the Levites” (Num.8:10).

“And the LORD said unto Moses, Take thee Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit, and lay thine hand upon him” (Num.27:18).

“And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom; for Moses had laid his hands upon him: and the children of Israel hearkened unto him, and did as the LORD commanded Moses” (Dt.34:9).

2. The minister who has fallen into sin can take great heart from this passage (cp. v.19-22). It definitely teaches that the fallen minister can be restored to the ministry—just as effectively as he was before, perhaps even more because of the praise to Christ that results through God’s mercy. It is God’s eternal mercy and eternal grace that reaches out and saves the fallen minister; therefore, when the minister is reached, God’s mercy and grace are seen to be ever so wonderful and glorious, beyond imagination. God is praised—gloriously praised. But note the Scripture:

“Lay hands suddenly on no man.” (v.22)

The fallen minister is not to be re-ordained or replaced in the pulpit immediately after his repentance. Ministers are to wait until he has proven...

- that his repentance is genuine.
- that his rededication and recommitment to follow Christ sticks.
- that he is being conformed and moulded into the image of Jesus Christ.
- that he is committed to serving Christ and His church and is actively involved in reaching people for Christ and in ministering to the needs of the needy.

But note a critical point: this does not mean that we do not embrace the dear brother, that we withdraw fellowship from him, that we look upon him with distrust and suspicion. Contrariwise, we reach out and embrace him, love and care for him, nourish and nurture him. In fact, we do this immediately upon hearing about his fall. We go after him immediately, for he is too precious to lose to the world.

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:19-20).

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins” (Jas.5:20).

“And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins” (1 Pt.4:8).

“For the iniquity of his covetousness was I wroth, and smote him: I hid me, and was wroth, and he went on frowardly in the way of his heart. I have seen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him also, and restore comforts unto him and to his mourners” (Is.57:17-18).

“Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God” (Jer.3:22).

“For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the LORD; because they called thee an Outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after” (Jer.30:17).

“I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him” (Hos.14:4).

3. Note that we as ministers are held responsible for those we ordain. The minister who lays hands on an unworthy man for ordination bears equal responsibility for his sins. In God’s eyes the minister himself becomes guilty of the man’s sins—just as guilty as the man himself. This is the meaning of the exhortation: when ordaining men do not “be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure.”

“For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again” (Mt.7:2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you” (2 Cor.6:17).

“Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure” (1 Tim.5:22).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the lord” (Is.52:11).

4 (5:23) Ministers—Wine: the third charge is to care for the body and its weaknesses. Timothy was having stomach problems of some sort and had been drinking water exclusively. Wine was used as a mild medicine in that day and time, but apparently Timothy had refused to drink it because of the Scriptural commands that a priest or minister of God must not touch the fruit of the vine when it had fermented (Num.6:3-4; Jer.35:5-7). However, Paul assures him that he is not violating the Scripture by taking a little wine as medicine. The word “little” would be what we would refer to as a tablespoon or two.

The point is this: we must take care of our bodies. Health must not be neglected. There is no excuse...

- for overeating and being flabby.
- for lying around and not exercising and being physically alert.
- for eating junk food and not eating healthy food.
- for not having periodic checkups from a physician if physicians are available in our communities.

No matter what we may think or claim, we must always remember and never forget...

- if the body is sluggish, the mind and spirit are sluggish.
- if the body is not fed oxygen, the mind is not fed oxygen.
- if the body is not energetic, the mind and spirit are not energetic.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

5 (5:24-25) Ministers—Judging Others: the fourth charge is to leave judgment up to God. A minister’s task is to deal with people and their sins. In fact, he is always involved with people, dealing with their weaknesses and strengths, their sins and virtues. Because of this he is often tempted to pass judgment upon people; he is tempted to look upon some as being weak and non-committal and others as being strong and decisive. But this point is an eye-opener. Judgment is to be left up to God, for only God knows the whole truth about a person. Only God knows...

- the genes and heritage and childhood of a person that affect a person so much.
- every minute and hour and day and month and breath and thought the person has lived.
- every trial and temptation the person has experienced.
- every thought and longing and hope the person has had.

Only God knows all this and all the multitudes of ramifications of each of these. Therefore, only God can judge. But as stated, we are tempted to judge when we see a person commit open sin and another person do good works. But we must not judge, for only God sees and knows everything about a person. Note how clearly Scripture states this fact.

⇒ We do not clearly see the sins of people—not always. The sins of some people are clearly seen, and they make no attempt to hide them. These people shall suffer judgment; their sins definitely point to judgment. But some people are secret sinners; they hide their sins behind closed doors and in the dark. Their sins and judgment will be exposed later—in the terrible day of judgment.

⇒ Likewise, the good works of some people are clearly seen, but the good works of others are not seen.

The point is this: we have no way to tell what is in a person’s heart and life, what he is doing and thinking every moment of every day. We cannot even know our spouses or children or parents that well—not well enough to judge them. Judgment is to be left up to God, not to men—not even to ministers. In fact, the minister himself is charged: leave the judgment up to God.

“Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again” (Mt.7:1-2).

“Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful. Judge not, and ye shall not be judged: condemn not, and ye shall not be condemned: forgive, and ye shall be forgiven” (Lk.6:36-37).

“Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things” (Ro.2:1).

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath showed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment” (Jas.2:13).

“My brethren, be not many masters [judges], knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation” (Jas.3:1).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (Jas.4:12).

“Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest ye be condemned: behold, the judge standeth before the door” (Jas.5:9).

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

H. The Believing Slaves or Employees, 6:1-2

(6:1-2) Introduction: William Barclay points out that there were millions and millions of slaves in the Roman Empire during the days of Paul. He says that there were over sixty million (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.141). The gospel was bound to reach many of these, and the churches all over the Empire were bound to be filled with slaves. For this reason the New Testament has much to say to slaves (1 Cor.7:21-22; Col.3:22; 4:1; 1 Tim.6:1-2; Tit.2:9-10; 1 Pt.2:18-25 and the whole book of Philemon is written to a slave). However, slavery is never directly attacked by the New Testament. If it had been, there would have probably been so much bloodshed the scene would have been unimaginable! The slave owners and government would have...

- attacked the church, its preachers and believers, seeking to destroy such a doctrine.
- imprisoned and executed any who refused to be silent about such a doctrine.
- reacted and killed all of the slaves who professed Christ.

The Expositors Greek Testament has an excellent statement on how Christianity went about destroying slavery. It is found in the commentary on Eph.6:5.

“Here, as elsewhere in the NT, slavery is accepted as an existing institution, which is neither formally condemned nor formally approved. There is nothing to prompt revolutionary action, or to encourage repudiation of the position...the institution is left to be undermined and removed by the gradual operation of the great Christian principles of...

- the equality of men in the sight of God
- a common Christian brotherhood
- the spiritual freedom of the Christian man
- the Lordship of Christ to which every other lordship is subordinate” (S.D.F. Salmond. The Epistle to the Ephesians. “The Expositor’s Greek Testament, Vol.3, ed. by W. Robertson Nicoll. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1970, p.377).

The instructions to slaves and masters in the New Testament are applicable to every generation of workman. As Francis Foulkes says, “...the principles of the whole section apply to employees and employers in every age, whether in the home, in business, or in the state” (The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries.” Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, no date listed, p.167).

1. Duty toward any master (employer) (v.1).
2. Duty toward the Christian master (employer) (v.2).

1 (6:1) Slaves—Employers—Workmen: there is the slave’s or workman’s duty toward an unbelieving master (employer). The word “yoke” (zugon) means to be under bondage, enslaved, weighed down ever so heavily. Paul does not hesitate to call slavery just what it is: a yoke that does not belong upon any man. Paul is expressing a heartfelt compassion for the slaves.

Now, note the specific instructions of this passage. The duty of the slave or workman is to count his master (employer) worthy of all honor. That is...

- to respect, comply, obey, and do what the employer says and requires.
- to do a job and to do it well.
- to be thankful and appreciative for having work to do.

This is especially true when a workman commits his life to Christ. If the workman does not give a full day’s work for a full day’s wage, he dishonors the name of Christ. If the workman is lazy, slothful, and beating time, or if he is disrespectful, the employer knows something: the God of the new convert is a laugh, for He is inactive and dead. God has made no difference in the life of the workman. Therefore, the superior blasphemes the name of God and the teachings of the gospel.

Thought 1. An excellent application of this point is given by Oliver Greene that merits quoting in full.

“I personally know dear men today who have been fired by their employer because they talked too much about Jesus while they were on the job; and I have also known professing Christians who did not give their employer a good day’s work for the salary received, and that is not right. It is not right for Christians to use company time to witness on the job. If one can witness without robbing his employer, that is fine; but a Christian's testimony will be hurt by his being seen talking when he should be working, even though he may be talking with an unsaved person about the grace of God and the saving power of Jesus. In Romans 14:16 Paul tells us, 'Let not then your good be evil spoken of.' Christians must be 'wise as serpents and harmless as doves.' Any Christian who has an employer must render to that employer a good day's work and proper respect, lest reproach be brought upon the Gospel.

"Young man, young woman—if you are a Christian, do not be any less alert and on the job when the boss is absent than you are when he is looking at you. Your earthly master may not always be watching you, but the Heavenly Master sees and knows all that you do. So whether your job is that of superintendent in a huge plant or janitor in a small office, never forget that if you do not give your employer a good day's work in the right spirit, you are bringing reproach upon the name of Jesus" (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.212f).

2 (6:2) Slaves—Employees: there is the slave's or workman's duty toward a believing master (employer). It is a wonderful thing when a Christian workman can have a Christian employer, for the workman can expect to be treated justly and fairly and in a brotherly spirit. However, the workman faces a serious danger, the danger of feeling that he...

- should be given special treatment.
- should be allowed to slack off some.
- should be treated with more leniency.
- should be given more consideration.
- should not be as readily corrected or rebuked for inefficiency or mistakes.

In the case of slaves in the Roman empire, or for that matter anywhere else, the slave would have faced the temptation to despise or be disrespectful of his master. He could have easily felt that a master, upon becoming a believer, should grant his freedom or at least show some favor. However, the fact that a master became a Christian did not mean that a believing slave was to appeal for better and easier treatment. On the contrary, the believing slave was to become the best worker he could because the master was now a Christian believer.

Once the believing slave became the best worker possible—once he began to work diligently as though he was working for Christ—then he could expect to reap some benefits from having a Christian master. He could expect to reap benefits such as fair and decent and brotherly treatment. Believing slaves were to treat believing masters as brothers, faithful and beloved, and there was to be a greater testimony because of greater production and efficiency and fruitfulness.

The point is this: the Christian workman is to give great service to a Christian employer because faithfulness bears fruit. Both the workman and employer doing the best they can will bear more fruit of the Spirit and a greater production of work. Thereby they will together bear a greater testimony for Christ.

Thought 1. In reality, being a slave or a master has nothing to do with one's commitment to life and work. The believing Christian, whether slave or master, is to do the very best he can at whatever he is doing. One's state of condition or environment or circumstance has nothing to do with faithfulness to one's work. One is to do his very best no matter who or where one is. (See note—1 Cor.7:20-23; 7:24. Cp.Eph.6:6-7; Col.3:23-25.)

"Servants [workmen], be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free" (Eph.6:5-8).

"Servants [workmen], obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons" (Col.3:22-25).

DIVISION III

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

I. The False Teachers, 6:3-5

(6:3-5) Introduction: this is a most serious and critical passage, a passage that the church must constantly study in order to keep its message and ministry pure. It deals with those who fill the pulpit and classrooms of the church, whether the positions are filled by true teachers or false teachers. Every minister, teacher, leader, and member must heed and search his heart over this description of the false teacher.

1. He teaches a different doctrine (v.3).
2. He is proud (v.4).
3. He has a sick interest in controversial questions (v.4).
4. He has a corrupt mind and is destitute of the truth (v.5).
5. He thinks religion leads to gain (v.5).

1 (6:3) Teacher, False: the false teacher teaches a different doctrine (heterodidaskalei). (See note—1 Tim.1:3 for more discussion.) He does not teach the words of the Lord Jesus Christ. This is a terrible indictment. Imagine being in the pulpit of a Christian church and claiming to be a teacher of the Lord Jesus Christ, yet not teaching His words. How many of us are guilty of this indictment? How many of us are guilty of teaching a different doctrine? Two reasons are given as to why the false teacher teaches a different doctrine.

1. The false teacher does not consent to the words of our Lord Jesus Christ. The word “consent” (proserchomai) means approach and has the sense of “attaching oneself to” Christ (Daniel Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.110f). The false teacher is just not willing to attach himself to the Lord Jesus Christ. He is...
 - not willing to confess that Jesus is the Lord God from heaven, the very Son of God Himself.
 - not willing to confess that Jesus is the Christ, the Messiah and Savior of the world.
2. The false teacher does not consent to the teachings of godliness. He is...
 - not willing to accept the righteousness of God revealed in Jesus Christ.
 - not willing to separate himself from the world nor to set his life wholly apart unto God.

One or both of these reasons are why the false teacher does not teach the wholesome words of Christ, but rather chooses to teach a different doctrine and way of life. He has committed his life to the profession of the ministry...

- as a way to serve mankind.
- as a way to earn a livelihood.

But he is not committed to represent Christ and His Word. As a result, the person is called a false teacher by both the Holy Scriptures and Christ.

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:6-9).

“Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees” (Mt.16:12).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines” (Heb.13:9).

2 (6:4) Teacher, False—Pride: the false teacher is proud (tetuphotai). The word means puffed up and conceited. But note: the word includes the idea of folly; it lacks good sense. Rejecting the evidence that Jesus is the Lord—the Lord Jesus Christ—is the height of pride and folly. Such rejection just lacks good sense (source unknown).

The false teacher takes pride...

- in his views and ideas.
- in his rejection of certain portions of the Bible.
- in his knowledge that some of the stories and events in the Bible are what he calls fables.
- in his intellectual ability to dissect the truth from the falsehood about Christ.
- in his enlightenment—that he knows better than to believe in such things as the miracles, deity, virgin birth, incarnation, resurrection, ascension and the personal return of Christ to earth.
- in his new and novel concepts and ideas about Christ.

The list could go on and on, but all ministers have detected this pride in discussions with other ministers. And, tragically, we have all been guilty of feeling pride over our own ideas before. William Barclay has an excellent comment on the pride of the false teacher:

“His first characteristic is conceit. His first aim is self-display. His desire is not to display Christ, but to display himself. There are still preachers and teachers who are more concerned to gain a following for themselves than for Jesus Christ. They are more concerned to press their own views upon people than they are to bring to men the word of God. When people meet together for worship they are not concerned to listen to what any man thinks; they are eager to hear what God says. The great preacher and teacher is not a purveyor of his own ideas; he is an echo of God” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.146).

3 (6:4) Teachers, False: the false teacher has a sick interest in controversial questions. When preparing to preach and teach, the false teacher does not rely upon the primary source, the Word of God itself. He relies upon secondary sources, that is, books about the Bible.

The Bible just is not the basis for his life nor for his preaching and teaching. The false teacher rejects the primary source (the Bible), and turns to secondary sources about the Bible. In some cases, he does not even know how to study the Bible. His interest lies...

- in trying to discover the truth in the Bible, not in proclaiming the truth of the Bible.
- in questioning what is true and not true instead of living out what the Bible says.

The result, of course, is what we so often see written in the faces and minds of the false teacher and those who sit under him: many thoughts and moments of...

- disturbance and lack of peace
- emptiness and lack of purpose
- questioning and lack of meaning
- wondering if God really does exist
- wondering if there is really any meaning to religion and worship
- wondering if there is a world or life beyond this earth

Why? Because what the human heart craves is God and His Word, the knowledge and assurance of Him and His guidance.

This is only reasonable and to be expected, for God is bound to have put within man a deep, natural hunger for Him and His Word. Therefore, what the human heart craves, even the heart of the false teacher, is not controversial questions and arguments over the “words of our Lord Jesus Christ” or of the Bible. What the heart craves is to hear from God, to hear the authoritative proclamation of the Word of God itself.

“For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile: but as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:3-4).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine, neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do. Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned: from which some having swerved have turned aside unto vain jangling; desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm” (1 Tim.1:3-7).

“He is proud, knowing nothing, but dotting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings” (1 Tim.6:4).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes. And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:23-24).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, throughly furnished unto all good works” (2 Tim.3:16).

“But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain. A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself” (Tit.3:9-11).

“We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts: knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation [“is to be interpreted by one’s own mind.” Charles B. Williams. The New Testament in the Language of the People. “The Four Translation New Testament.” Printed for Decision Magazine by World-Wide Publications of Minneapolis. New York, NY: Iversen Associates, 1966]. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost” (2 Pt.1:19-21).

4 (6:5) Teacher, False: the false teacher has a corrupt mind and is destitute of the truth. His mind is corrupt in that it is not centered upon teaching the “words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the doctrine...of godliness” (the Word of God, the Scriptures, the Bible. v.3). His mind...

- focuses upon the doctrines and theologies of men.

- focuses upon the psychologies and philosophies of men.
- focuses upon man's own energy and self-improvement, upon building up man's ego and self-image.
- focuses upon the latest religions or theological ideas.
- focuses upon the popular religious discussions that please and tickle men's ears.

The point is this: the false teacher does not focus upon the truth, the Word of God. He is destitute and empty of the truth. He does not possess nor teach the truth. He is bankrupt when it comes to the truth. However, note this: what the false teacher teaches often helps us do better. It often helps to build our ego and self-image and to achieve more in this life. Some self-help preaching is just like some self-help programs, clinics, and seminars conducted all across the nation: they are excellent in so far as they go. But they have one serious flaw: they do not go far enough. They do not show...

- that God is really with us and looking after us as we walk upon earth.
- that Jesus Christ has really died for our sins and risen to give us life—life that goes on forever.
- that God has really forgiven our sins and accepted us in Christ.
- that when we die, God will immediately transfer us into His presence to live with Him forever.

This kind of absolute, deep, intense assurance is missing in the false teacher and in anyone else whose mind is not focused upon "the words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the doctrine...of godliness," that is, the Word of God (v.3).

"And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate [depraved] mind, to do those things which are not convenient [immoral]" (Ro.1:28).

"Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be" (Ro.8:7).

"This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity [emptiness] of their mind" (Eph.4:17).

"Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility [through self-effort] and worshipping of angels [claimed visions], intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind" (Col.2:18).

"Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled" (Tit.1:15).

5 (6:5) Teacher, False: the false teacher thinks religion leads to gain. This means at least three things.

1. Some false teachers are concerned with morality and virtue and with man being the best and achieving the most that he can. They believe in God, not necessarily in Christ, but in God. Therefore, they know the answer to making man and his world better is religion. Hence, they commit their lives to God and religion, to getting men to do the works of religion and to living more righteous and moral lives. They want people to be good and to do good. They think that "godliness is gain," that it helps and benefits man and his world.

Thought 1. Note that the false teacher is right on this point: the moral teaching of religion—living moral and upright lives—is good for man. But as pointed out above, works and self-help ministers do not go far enough. They do not focus upon God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. And God will never accept anyone who does not honor His Son, for He has only one Son who is begotten of Him. That Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, is loved by God. God loves His Son with His whole being, for His Son has the very nature of God Himself. Christ has always obeyed the Father—has always lived a perfectly godly life just as the Father willed. Therefore, anyone who honors Christ shall be honored and accepted by the Father. But the converse is also true: anyone who does not honor Christ will not be honored by the Father. The craving of man's heart for God and His Word—for the deep, intense knowledge and assurance of God—comes only through Christ. Therefore, as good as they are, religion and good works do not go far enough. They do not make a person acceptable to God. God accepts only one thing: faith in Christ, His only Son. (See notes, Justification—1 Tim.2:3-7; Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God" (Jn.3:16-18).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (Jn.14:6).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Ro.5:8).

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (2 Cor.5:20).

2. Some false teachers enter the ministry as a profession and as a means to make a living. They probably have some concern for the religious welfare of people, but the major consideration in choosing to enter the ministry was this: they thought it would be a good and commendable profession and provide a good livelihood for them and their present or future family.

3. Some false teachers have commercialized religion. The false teacher is “out for profit. He looks on his teaching and preaching, not as a vocation, but as a career. He is in the business, not to serve others, but to advance himself” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.148).

The exhortation of Scripture to the believer is clear, direct, and forceful: “from such withdraw.” We must not sit under, associate, or have anything to do with the person who is a false minister and teacher. The church is not the place for professionalism nor for the doctrine of human effort and works (humanism).

Thought 1. Man-centered and self-help teaching is helpful, but it does not belong in the pulpit of God’s church; it belongs in the conference rooms and halls of the secular world. The church must be kept pure and free in proclaiming the gospel and the supreme love of God demonstrated in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. If the human race fails to keep the pure Word of God flowing from the pulpits of God’s church, then the human race is doomed. Why? Because when we die, that will be it. We shall be separated from God eternally. For God will only accept us if we approach Him in Christ. Therefore, the critical hour for man will always be when he sits under the preaching of the Word of God—the preaching of “the words of our Lord Jesus Christ and the doctrine...of godliness.” When man hears the Word of God preached, he must respond and do as God says.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them” (Ro.16:17).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

“If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: for he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds” (2 Jn.10-11).

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

J. The Secret of Contentment, 6:6-10

(6:6-10) Introduction: every person strives for contentment. Contentment is the one thing we all want. We want to be fulfilled, complete, satisfied, completely self-sufficient. But when we look around, this is not what we see. What we see is a society and a world discontented, about as unfulfilled, incomplete, dissatisfied, empty, lonely, and restless as they can be. Why? Why are so many people discontented? Why are few people truly contented? This is the importance of this passage: the secret of contentment.

1. The secret to contentment is godliness (v.6-8).
2. The secret to contentment is not money (v.9-10).

1 (6:6-8) Contentment—Godliness—Wealth: the secret to contentment is godliness. “Contentment” (autarkeias) means to be completely sufficient, to need absolutely nothing. It means to be fulfilled, satisfied, and complete. Imagine a person who feels wholly complete and sufficient, who lacks absolutely nothing. This is what Scripture means by contentment. What makes a person content? What brings such contentment to the human soul? Scripture pulls no punches; it unequivocally states that it is godliness. Godliness alone can make a person content. Godliness alone can take a person and make him...

- fulfilled
- satisfied
- complete
- sufficient

Godliness alone can give man the sense that he lacks absolutely nothing. Imagine being so contented—so fulfilled, so satisfied, so completed, so sufficient—that you sense no lack. You just sense no need whatsoever within your innermost being and soul. This is exactly what godliness does for the human soul. This is the reason Scripture declares that godliness with contentment is great gain. No greater gain could ever come to a person than contentment.

Note that Scripture wants us to think about the three stages of life for a moment:

- ⇒ there is the stage of birth. At birth we brought nothing into this world. When we entered the world, we came with only two things: our bodies and life. Beyond these we were stark naked. We had nothing else.
- ⇒ There is the stage of death. Note that the fact of death is an absolute certainty. At death, we carry nothing—absolutely nothing—out of this world. We leave this world just as we entered it, with nothing.
- ⇒ There is the stage that is between birth and death—the stage of life. Life is entirely different from birth and death. There are some things that we need during life: necessities that we must have to sustain life. We need food, clothing, and shelter. The Greek word for raiment literally means covering: it is applicable both to clothing and shelter. In order to live and complete our lives upon earth, we need food, clothing, and shelter. But note: we need nothing else. We can live and sustain life if we have these things. Therefore, a person is to be content with these. Remember the point of these verses: the secret of contentment is godliness. Godliness with contentment is great gain.

The point is driven home by a series of statements taken from Matthew Henry:

“If a man [has]...enough to carry him through [this world], he needs desire no more, his godliness...will be his great gain.”

“Godliness is itself great gain; it is profitable to all things.”

“Wherever there is true godliness, there will be contentment.”

“The highest pitch of contentment [is] godliness [which makes the] happiest people in this world.”

“Christian contentment...is all the wealth in the world.”

“He that is godly is sure to be happy in another world.”

“Godliness with contentment, this is the way to gain.”

“A Christian’s gain is great: it is not like the little gain of worldlings, who are so fond of a little worldly advantage.”

“All truly godly people have learned with Paul: ‘I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content’ (Ph.4:11). (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.828.)

A striking point is made by William Barclay in his Daily Study Bible (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.150).

“It is not that Christianity pleads for poverty. There is no special virtue in being poor, and no happiness in having a constant struggle to make ends meet. But Christianity does plead for two things.

1. ‘It pleads for the realization that it is never in the power of things to bring happiness.’
2. ‘It pleads for the concentration upon the things which are permanent, the things that a man can take with him when in the end he dies.’”

“Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content” (Ph.4:11).

“But godliness with contentment is great gain....and having food and raiment let us be therewith content” (1 Tim.6:6, 8).

“Let your conversation [behavior] be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Better is little with the fear of the LORD, than great treasure and trouble therewith” (Pr.15:16).

2 (6:9-10) Wealth—Riches—Money, Love of: the secret to contentment is not money. This is shocking, for the rich cling and hoard their money, and the rest of mankind is forever seeking to get more and more money. But God is clear about the matter: money and wealth do not bring contentment. There are four reasons why this is true.

1. Money tempts and enslaves. How can money tempt and enslave? The answer is clearly seen. A person with money...

- can buy anything he wants when he wants.
- can go wherever he wants when he wants.
- can do just about anything he wants when he wants.

This is power within the world—what we might call worldly power. A person who has the power to buy anything, go anywhere, and do whatever he wants has worldly power.

The point is this: a person who has such power—the money to buy anything, go anywhere, and do anything—is always tempted. He is tempted to live selfishly and to hoard what he has. He is always tempted...

- to keep on buying and buying.
- to keep on going and going.
- to keep on doing and doing.

The rich are far more tempted to indulge the flesh and to live extravagantly—far more tempted to live selfishly and to control and dominate people through the power of their wealth.

The rich and they who would be rich are never free from the bombardment of temptation. Therefore, the rich person never has peace. He never possesses contentment, not inward completeness and satisfaction. He never feels completely fulfilled and sufficient. This is the first reason money does not bring contentment. Money brings a bombardment of temptation, and it ensnares men in sin.

2. Money can cause many foolish and hurtful lusts. Think how foolish and hurtful some of these things are.

- ⇒ How foolish are closets full of clothing: a person can wear only one set of clothing at a time and there are only so many different kinds of clothing. How foolish is it to have closets full of clothing that we can seldom wear?
- ⇒ How foolish is extravagance in clothes? Labels on clothes? An expensive store and an inexpensive chain store will carry the very same clothing made by the same manufacturer. Is it wise or foolish to buy the expensive clothing because of a small label with a different name?
- ⇒ How foolish is extravagance in eating? Eating and eating and eating—training our bodies to crave and crave more and more food. Is it foolish or wise to damage the body?
- ⇒ How foolish is indulgence in smoking? Walking around like a smoke stack damaging our bodies.
- ⇒ How foolish and hurtful is selling and giving our bodies over to intoxicating drink, drugs, immorality, and greed?
- ⇒ How foolish and hurtful is it to...
 - crave and crave? • indulge and indulge?
 - lust and lust? • secure and secure?
 - hoard and hoard? • possess and possess?

How foolish and hurtful is it to feed our desires and lusts with the things, possessions, and niceties of this world when millions upon millions are hopeless and helpless and going to bed hungry, cold, and sick—all dying from lack of food, clothing, shelter, and disease? And, most tragic of all—dying without Christ and without any hope of living eternally with God. As stated, money can cause many foolish and hurtful lusts.

3. Money drowns men in destruction and perdition. The word “drown” (buthizo) is a descriptive picture of wealth being “a personal monster, which plunges its victims into an ocean of complete destruction” (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.113). The idea is this: the person who falls into the foolish and hurtful lusts of this world shall be utterly destroyed and ruined, both in body and soul. And the destruction and ruin shall be for eternity (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.593).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:3).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-9).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul” (Heb.10:39).

4. Money—that is, the love of money—is the root of all evil. Note the three reasons why:
- ⇒ The love of money causes people to covet, and covetousness is idolatry.
 - ⇒ The love of money causes people to wander away from the faith. It causes people to go after the lusts of this world.
 - ⇒ The love of money causes people to pierce themselves through with many sorrows. The things, possessions, and lusts of this world do not satisfy nor fulfill a person’s heart and life. Money cannot bring contentment to a person. The love of money only consumes and eats a person with grief (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.594). It pierces the heart with a void—the void of emptiness and worry, anxiety, and insecurity. Money cannot buy love, health, and deliverance from death. Money cannot buy God; it cannot buy assurance, not the assurance and confidence of living forever.

The point is this: a person craves the necessities of life; his very nature craves them. However, once man has the necessities of life, he discovers that he still craves for more. The necessities do not satisfy his inner craving and emptiness—his void, hunger, and thirst—for something more. Therefore, man seeks to satisfy his craving by getting more and more food, clothing and everything else he desires. He eats and eats, buys and buys, and goes after more and more comfort, ease, pleasure, wealth, money, and everything else he wants. But what man overlooks is this: the craving within his heart—the void, the hunger, the thirst—is not for more material possessions. It is for spiritual satisfaction, the filling up of another part of his being. His craving is for godliness. Therefore, once he has food and raiment, he has satisfied his physical craving. Enough food and raiment for today brings contentment today—but only physical contentment. What he needs after that is spiritual food, the satisfaction of his spiritual hunger. Man’s contentment comes from having both his need for physical and spiritual food met. One without the other leaves him with some emptiness, some incompleteness (Col.2:8-9). True contentment comes only from godliness.

Thought 1. “The love of money is the root of all evil.” William Barclay points out that the great classical thinkers recognized this truth.

- ⇒ The great thinker Democritus said, “Love of money is the metropolis of all evils.”
- ⇒ Seneca refers to “the desire for that which does not belong to us, from which every evil of the mind springs.”
- ⇒ Phocylides says that “the love of money is the mother of all evils.”
- ⇒ Philo refers to the “love of money which is the starting-place of the greatest transgressions of the Law.”
- ⇒ Athenaeus quotes another thinker: “The belly’s pleasure is the beginning and root of all evil.”

William Barclay himself makes an excellent point that is worthy of note:

“Money in itself is neither good nor bad; it is simply dangerous in that the love of it may become bad. With money a man can do much good; and with money he can do much evil. With money a man can selfishly serve his own desires; and with money he can generously answer to the cry of his neighbour’s need. With money a man can buy his way to the forbidden things and facilitate the path of wrong-doing; and with money he can make it easier for someone else to live as God meant him to live. Money is not an evil, but it is a great responsibility” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.152).

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

K. The Young Minister (Charge 4): To Be a Man of God, 6:11-16

(6:11-16) Introduction: this is a straightforward charge to the minister of God. The minister is called the “man of God.” This is one of the great titles of the minister of God.

- ⇒ Moses was called “the man of God” (Dt.33:1; Ps.90, the title).
- ⇒ Eli was called a man of God (1 Sam.2:27).
- ⇒ Samuel was called a man of God (1 Sam.9:6).

A concordance will show how often the servants of God were called “the man of God.” What a dynamic challenge to the minister: to be a “man of God.” Four charges are given to the man of God.

1. Flee the passion for wealth (v.11).
2. Follow after the things of God (v.11).
3. Fight the fight of faith and lay hold on eternal life (v.12).
4. Keep this charge—keep this commandment (v.13-16).

1 (6:11) Minister—Duty: the man of God flees the passion for wealth. A person is to flee the love of money—run away from all that has just been covered in verses 9-10. Note a shocking fact—shocking because so many people love money and the things it can buy:

- ⇒ the man who loves money is not a man of God. The man of God is the person who flees the love of money. (See former note—1 Tim.6:9-10 for more discussion.)

The man of God does not love the world nor seek after the things of the world. He flees from the love and passion of this world.

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

2 (6:11) Minister: the man of God follows after the things of God. The word “follow” (dioke) is strong. It means to run after; to run swiftly after; to hotly pursue; to seek eagerly and earnestly. It has the idea of aiming at and pursuing until something is gained; of never giving up until we have reached our goal. There are six things the man of God is to pursue.

1. The man of God pursues righteousness (dikaiosune). Righteousness means two things.
 - a. Righteousness means being right with God.
 - ⇒ It is having a heart that is right with God, that has approached God exactly like He says: through His only son, the Lord Jesus Christ.
 - ⇒ It is having a heart that has allowed God to recreate and remake it in righteousness: through the Lord Jesus Christ.
 - ⇒ It is having a heart that has partaken of the divine nature of God (2 Pt.1:4).

“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled” (Mt.5:6).

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:19).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

- b. Righteousness means doing right, that is, living exactly as God says to live. Simply stated, a righteous person is a person who lives right—a person who does his duty both to God and to man. He lives doing what he should do. He lives a righteous life, walking righteously before God and man day by day. As a result, he is free from guilt and has a free conscience and a strong self-image. The man of God follows and runs after righteousness.

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

2. The man of God pursues godliness (eusebeian). Godliness means to live in the reverence and awe of God; to be so conscious of God’s presence that one lives just as God would live if He were walking upon earth. It means to live seeking to be like God; to seek to possess the very character, nature, and behavior of God. The man of God follows and runs after godliness. He seeks to gain a consciousness of God’s presence—a consciousness so intense that he actually lives as God would live if He were on earth.

Note: godliness means to be Christlike. Godliness is Christlikeness: it is living upon earth just as Christ lived.

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth” (Col.3:2).

“But refuse profane and old wives’ fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness” (1 Tim.4:7).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

3. The man of God pursues faith (pistin). Faith means both to believe and to be faithful.
- ⇒ The man of God seeks faith: to learn to trust God more and more; to be a man of faith, a man of great faith and belief. He wants to believe, trust, and depend upon God—to grow more and more in believing God.
 - ⇒ The man of God seeks to be faithful: be faithful to God more and more. He wants to be loyal, obedient, and attached to God. He wants to please God in all that he does.

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

4. The man of God pursues love (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).
5. The man of God pursues patience (hupomonen) (see note, Patience—2 Th.1:4-5 for discussion).
6. The man of God pursues meekness (praupathian). Meekness means to be gentle, tender, humble, mild, considerate, but strongly so. Meekness has the strength to control and discipline, and it does so at the right time.
- a. Meekness has a humble state of mind. But this does not mean the person is weak, cowardly, and bowing. The meek person simply loves people and loves peace; therefore, he walks humbly among men regardless of their status and circumstance in life. Associating with the poor and lowly of this earth does not bother the meek person. He desires to be a friend to all and to help all as much as possible.
 - b. Meekness has a strong state of mind. It looks at situations and wants justice and right to be done. It is not a weak mind that ignores and neglects evil and wrong-doing, abuse and suffering.
 - ⇒ If someone is suffering, meekness steps in and does what it can to help.
 - ⇒ If evil is being done, meekness does what it can to stop and correct it.
 - ⇒ If evil is running rampant and indulging itself, meekness actually strikes out in anger. However, note a crucial point: the anger is always at the right time and against the right thing.
 - c. Meekness has strong self-control. The meek person controls his spirit and mind. He controls the lusts of his flesh. He does not give way to ill-temper, retaliation, passion, indulgence, or license. The meek person dies to himself, to what his flesh would like to do, and he does the right thing—exactly what God wants done.

In summary, the meek person walks in a humble, tender, but strong state of mind. He denies himself and gives utmost consideration to others. He shows a control and righteous anger against injustice and evil. A meek man forgets self and lives for others because of what Christ has done for him.

⇒ God is meek.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ Jesus Christ was meek.

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

⇒ Believers are to be meek.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

3 (6:12) Minister: the man of God must fight the good fight of faith and lay hold on eternal life. This is a picture of an athletic contest. The word fight (agonizou) means to agonize, struggle, battle, contend, and fight for the prize. It is the idea of a desperate effort and struggle.

Note: the believer is in a desperate struggle for eternal life. Laying hold on the prize of eternal life is the struggle. Eternal life is the goal for which the man of God is fighting. Matthew Henry described it well:

“Those who will get to heaven must fight their way there. There must be a conflict with corruption and temptations and...the power of darkness. Observe. It is a good fight, it is a good cause, and it will have a good [end and purpose]...Observe...”

“Eternal life is the crown proposed to us, forever encouragement to war, and to fight...”

“This we must lay hold on [eternal life], as those that are afraid of coming short of it and losing it. Lay hold, and take heed of losing your hold....”

“We are called to the fight, and to lay hold on eternal life” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.830).

Kenneth Wuest says, “Paul exhorts Timothy to lay hold of eternal life, he does not imply that he does not possess it. Timothy was saved, and possessed eternal life as a gift of God. What Paul was desirous of was that Timothy experience more of what this eternal life is in his life” (The Pastoral Epistles. “Wuest’s Word Studies,” Vol.2. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1952, p.98).

Note an extremely significant point: what the profession of a minister is. When a man commits his life to the ministry, he is professing...

- that he believes in eternal life—that eternal life is a reality.
- that he and all others who trust Christ shall live forever.

He professes the reality of eternal life before “many witnesses”—all who know him and come in contact with him.

The point is this: the man of God must live up to his profession. He must do exactly what he professes: fight the good fight of faith and lay hold on eternal life.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:4).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:24-27).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

“For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds. Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin” (Heb.12:3-4).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

4 (6:13-16) Minister: the man of God must keep this commandment. What commandment? The commandment just covered in v.11-12. Five reasons are given for keeping these commandments.

1. God has the power to quicken all things. The word “quicken” (zoogonountos) means to give life; to bring forth alive (Robertson). God is life; He possesses the very energy and power of life within Himself. Therefore, God actually has the power to inject and infuse eternal life into us. There is no greater reason for keeping the commandments of God. If we keep His commandments, He will quicken us to live forever; He will give us eternal life.

2. Christ has set the example of a good profession before us. When Christ stood before Pilate, He said:

“My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence. Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice” (Jn.18:36-37).

The man of God is to make the very same profession that Christ made: Jesus Christ is King, the Supreme majesty of the universe, the “blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords” (v.15). This is the second reason for keeping the commandments of God.

3. Christ is to come again and be exalted as King of kings and Lord of lords. The point is judgment. Every one of us must confront Christ: we will be called forth and be forced to stand face to face with Him. We will have to give an account of how well we kept His commandments.

⇒ “Keep [the commandment] with an eye to His second coming, when we must all give an account of the talents we have been entrusted with...”

⇒ “The Lord Jesus Christ will appear; and it will be a glorious appearing....Ministers should have an eye to this appearing of the Lord Jesus Christ in all their administrations...”

⇒ “Till his appearing, they [ministers] are to keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.831).

Jesus Christ shall return to earth and be exalted:

“In his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords” (v.15).

This is the third reason why we must keep the commandments of God.

4. Christ alone possesses immortality and dwells in the transcendent and unapproachable light of God’s glory. This is one of the magnificent doxologies of the Bible. Its message is powerful.

a. Christ alone has immortality: no person shall ever live forever apart from Jesus Christ.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

b. Christ alone dwells in the light which no man can approach unto, the glorious light of God’s presence. No person shall ever approach God or dwell in the light of God’s presence apart from Jesus Christ.

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?” (Jn.14:6).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

5. Christ alone has seen and can see the light of God’s presence and glory. No person shall ever be allowed to see the light of God’s presence and glory apart from Christ.

“And he said, Thou canst not see my face: for there shall no man see me, and live” (Ex.33:20).

“No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him” (Jn.1:18).

“And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me, Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape” (Jn.5:37).

“Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

“Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever” (1 Tim.1:17).

“Who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting” (1 Tim.6:16).

Therefore, to God and Christ alone belong honor and power everlasting. Amen.

“This whole passage is a magnificent embodiment of the attributes of the living God, supreme blessedness and almighty power, universal dominion, and unchangeable being, inscrutable majesty, radiant holiness, and glory inaccessible and unapproachable by his creatures, save through the mediation of his only begotten Son” (Pulpit Commentary, Vol.21, p.123).

BEHAVIOR AND RELATIONSHIPS IN THE CHURCH, 3:14-6:21

L. The Rich Man & the Minister: The Final Charge, 6:17-21

(6:17-21) Introduction: this is the final lesson and study in the book of First Timothy. The lessons have been many and the studies very helpful and stirring. This last lesson and study is no exception. It is a strong charge both to the rich of this world and to the ministers of the gospel.

1. The charge to the rich man (v.17-19).
2. The charge to the minister (v.20-21).

1 (6:17-19) Riches—Wealth: the final charge to the rich man. The word “charge” (paraggelle) is a strong word. It has the force of a military command, yet it has the tenderness of an appeal to it. It means to beg and beseech a person—strongly so—to the point that the person is commanded to act. In this charge God is appealing and begging the rich person, but He is doing it so strongly that it is a command. The rich person is approached in love and tenderness and an appeal is made to him, but he is expected to do exactly what God says. Five strong charges are given to the rich.

1. The rich person is not to be highminded, proud, or arrogant. The world honors money. Practically everyone in the world wants more money, and most are actually seeking more money. Few persons would turn down money. Money—the thought of riches and wealth—is so interwoven in the fabric of this world that it is probably the most honored thing in this world. The result is that the rich person is lifted up in the minds of most people. Most people want to be like the rich person. Most people put the rich person upon a pedestal. This makes it extremely difficult for a rich person to keep a proper perspective of himself.

⇒ There is great danger that the rich person will begin to think too highly of himself. There is the danger that he will become highminded, prideful, and arrogant; that he will begin to feel above other persons and to esteem himself better than others. There is the danger that he will begin to look down upon others and downplay others. The rich person—just because of his riches—must guard against feeling more important than other people. Riches and possessions do not make a person a good person; they do not make a person a quality person. Therefore, riches and possessions do not make a person better, of more quality than anyone else.

The charge is forceful: “Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded.” The temptation is there—always confronting the rich—because of the world’s attitude toward riches. But the charge of God is clear: “Be not highminded.”

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

2. The rich person is not to trust in the uncertainty of riches. Riches are about the most uncertain thing in life. The world’s economy is never certain, fluctuating up and down every few years; crisis follows crisis in world affairs and the markets respond and react to each crisis. Even if a person can keep his wealth in this life, disease or accident can happen overnight, and the person’s wealth does him no good whatsoever. Riches—their value and benefit—may be here today, but they are just as easily gone tomorrow.

The charge is forceful: “Charge them that are rich in this world, that they...trust not in the uncertainty of riches.”

“And the disciples were astonished at his words. But Jesus answereth again, and saith unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God!” (Mk.10:24).

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?” (Lk.12:19-20).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy” (1 Tim.6:17).

“If I have made gold my hope, or have said to the fine gold, Thou art my confidence; if I rejoiced because mine hand had gotten much....this also were an iniquity to be punished by the judge” (Job 31:24-25, 28).

“Lo, this is the man that made not God his strength; but trusted in the abundance of his riches, and strengthened himself in his wickedness” (Ps.52:7).

3. The rich person is to trust in God. The word “trust” means to fix and set one’s heart and life upon God. God is—He actually exists. He is living and He is the only Person who possesses every good and perfect gift. Therefore, He alone can give us...

- the good and perfect gifts necessary for this life.
- the good and perfect gifts necessary for the next life.

In fact, every good gift that we receive now—including riches—has come from God. This fact is not to be missed; it bears repeating: every good gift that we now have has come from God. Therefore, if we want more and more of the good things of this life, we must trust in God.

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“And ye shall serve the LORD your God, and he shall bless thy bread, and thy water; and I will take sickness away from the midst of thee” (Ex.23:25).

“Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou greatly enrichest it with the river of God, which is full of water: thou preparest them corn, when thou hast so provided for it” (Ps.65:9).

“Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation” (Ps.68:19).

4. The rich person is to do good and to be rich in good works. What works? The works of a rich man are clearly stated: he is to distribute his wealth and be generous in it. Too many rich people shut their ears when they hear this. They turn their attention elsewhere, for they do not want to think about giving large amounts of money. They reject the fact that God expects them to give—to give to the point of sacrifice just like God did when He gave His Son and just like God’s people do. But think about something—think honestly and realistically.

⇒ First, literally millions of people are hurting and dying every day from hunger, disease, and lack of fresh water; from ignorance, sin, loneliness, and emptiness. When God looks down upon earth and sees someone hurting and dying, and He sees us—the rich of the earth—what do you think God expects us to do? The world is one community; God expects us to meet the needs of the earth—to sacrificially meet the needs.

⇒ Second, why do you think a person has wealth? To hoard it? To bank and store it up and just let it lie around and never be used? We know better—every one of us knows better.

God expects the rich to do good and be rich in good works. He expects the rich to distribute and to be generous and sacrificial in meeting the needs of the lost and poor and dying of this world.

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

5. The rich person is to lay up wealth for the world to come. How does a rich person lay up wealth for the world to come?

⇒ By distributing and giving generously and sacrificially (v.18).

⇒ “By giving it away” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.596).

- ⇒ By using “their wealth to do good [and being]...ready to share...[remembering] that a Christian is essentially a man who is a member of a fellowship” (William Barclay. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.159).
- ⇒ “By work of charity” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.83).

“But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal” (Mt.6:20).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not” (Lk.12:33).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

Again, think of all the desperate needs of the world and of our own communities and cities. Any example of any need could be taken, but consider a person who is starving to death. If a rich person does not reach out and save the starving person and give life to him, how can the rich person expect God to give life to him in the next world? The only way we—any of us who are rich—can lay hold of eternal life is to give life to those who are dying in the sins and deprivations of their world.

The charge is militarily strong: charge them that are rich in this world, that they lay up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come.

2 (6:20-21) Minister: the final charge to the minister. The charge is twofold.

1. Keep that which is committed to your trust. What is it that has been committed to the minister? What is the trust committed to him?

“It is the deposit of truth delivered to him....It is the teaching which Paul imparted to Timothy, ‘the sound words’ [of the truth]” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.102f).

“The truths of God, the ordinances of God, keep these” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.831).

“Let nothing cause you to deviate from the Gospel message of the grace of God” (Oliver Greene. The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.241).

The great trust committed to the minister of God is...

- the faith.
- the glorious truth of God which God has revealed to men in His Word and in the Lord Jesus Christ.
- the wonderful gospel of God—the gospel that is revealed in the sending of God’s Son to earth in order to save men.

The picture here is that of a deposit, of a faithful and diligent banker who looks after the money deposited into his care. The minister of God is to guard and keep, look after and care for the faith and truth of God, the faith and truth of His Son and of His Word, of His Revelation and of His gospel. The minister must never forget that God has deposited—actually laid—the truth of God into his hands. The minister has been entrusted with the gospel of God, the glorious message of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Pulpit Commentary has an excellent comment on this fact:

“Timothy here is to keep diligent and watchful guard over the faith committed to his trust; to preserve it unaltered and uncorrupt, so as to hand it down to his successors exactly the same as he had received it. Oh that the successors of the apostles had always kept this precept” (A.C. Hervey. First Timothy. “The Pulpit Commentary, Vol.21, ed. by HDM Spence and Joseph S. Exell. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1950, p.124).

William Barclay’s comments are also worthy of quote:

“If in our day the Christian faith were to be twisted and distorted, it would not only be we who were the losers; those of generations still to come would be robbed of something infinitely precious. We are not only the possessors, we are also the trustees of the faith. That which we have received, we must also hand on” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.161).

“For if I do this thing willingly [serve], I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation [trust] of the gospel is [still] committed unto me” (1 Cor.9:17).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation [stewardship, trust] of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But [God] hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

2. The minister is to turn away from false teaching. The description of false teaching is graphic.
 - a. False teaching is described as profane and vain babblings.
 - ⇒ The word “profane” (bebelos) means common, irreverent, and godless talk.
 - ⇒ The word “vain” means empty and meaningless.
 - ⇒ The word “babbling” means “empty voices” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistle, Vol.2, p.103).
 Therefore, the charge is to take all empty talk and turn away from it. Have absolutely nothing to do with common, irreverent, godless, and empty voices—no matter who is sounding forth the words. This would, of course, include:

⇒ false claims to truth	⇒ all forms of false teaching
⇒ worldly philosophy	⇒ novel ideas of religion
⇒ cursing	⇒ gossip
⇒ criticism	⇒ off-colored jokes
⇒ suggestive talk
 - b. False teaching is described as “science,” but as “science falsely called.”
 - ⇒ The word “science” (gnoseos) means knowledge.
 - ⇒ The word “oppositions” (antitheseis) means antithesis, that is, to stand against some thesis, truth, or fact. What is being condemned is the false knowledge of men, the things that men teach that are contrary to God’s glorious revelation in Christ and in the Word of God. The minister of God—in fact, any person—is a fool to stand against truth and fact, whether of God or of true science.

The charge is strong, very strong: turn away from men and their teachings when they stand against Christ and the teachings of God’s Word. Have nothing to do with the false science or false knowledge of men. The men and their false teachings may concern philosophy, psychology, education, sociology, religion—any area of science or knowledge—but turn away from them if they are false. How do you tell if it is false? By the Word of God, the revelation and record of Christ and of the truth of God. If the science or knowledge stands in opposition to the Word of God, turn away from it.

Note that some professing church members had turned to false teaching. The seriousness of the situation is seen in that these are the last words of this letter. The very last thing that Paul says to Timothy is to turn away from false teaching. What a warning to us!

“And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold” (Mt.24:12).

“They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away” (Lk.8:13).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“When the unclean spirit is gone out a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first” (Lk.11:24-26).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love” (Rev.2:4).

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO

TIMOTHY

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TIMOTHY

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 65-68.

A reconstruction of what happened determines the date of Second Timothy (see Date—Introduction—1 Timothy). The reconstruction is based upon Paul's original plans and the few facts given by him. When he was released from prison (A.D. 63), the way was opened for him to again visit the churches in Asia.

The exact order in which his visits took place are not known. After so long a period in prison, his heart would naturally turn toward Ephesus. There he left Timothy behind (1 Tim.1:3). At some point he went to Troas where he visited Carpus. There he left some books, parchments, and a cloak with him (2 Tim.4:13). He traveled to Miletum where Trophimus was left sick; to Crete where Titus was pastor (Tit.1:5); and to Corinth (2 Tim.4:20). Then he journeyed to Nicopolis in Macedonia (Tit.3:12). Some place along the route two significant events took place: first, Paul wrote the epistles to Timothy and to Titus; and second, Paul returned to Rome where he was imprisoned for the second and final time. It should be mentioned that several of the early church fathers say that Paul carried the gospel to Spain as he had originally planned (Ro.15:24, 28). If Paul was able to carry out this mission, he must have visited Spain right after being released from his first imprisonment. The time necessary for the events mentioned above to happen and the closing years of Nero's reign would necessitate this. (See Introduction, Date—First Timothy for more discussion.)

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To Timothy, my dearly beloved son" (1:2). (See Introduction—1 Timothy.)

PURPOSE: Paul was in prison in Rome when he wrote Second Timothy. He had already appeared for his preliminary hearing before the Supreme Court of Rome, before Nero himself. During his trial, no man stood with him. He had to face the charges all alone (2 Tim.4:16-17). Some were forsaking the faith (2 Tim.2:17; 4:10), and others were publicly opposing Paul (2 Tim.4:14-15). He was about to be sentenced to death—and he knew it (2 Tim.4:6-8). He would never be able to write again. This was to be his last will and testament—the last words he would ever pen. Several things were weighing heavily upon his heart.

1. Paul's heart ached for Timothy's companionship. He needed Timothy. He wanted "his dear son" by his side in his final hour.
2. Paul wished to share some final matters with his son and successor—just in case Timothy did not arrive in time.
3. Paul wanted his son, Timothy, to equip himself as well as possible for his great call—to fulfill the tremendous task begun by Paul: "That good thing which was committed to thee, keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us" (2 Tim.1:14).
4. Paul felt the need to fortify the courage of his dear son. Timothy was trustworthy, but he was sometimes weak in courage (2 Tim.1:6-7) and physical strength (1 Tim.5:23). He needed to take care of himself physically and spiritually in order to more adequately minister.
5. Paul wanted to prepare his son for the perilous times coming upon the earth in the last days (2 Tim.3:1f).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. Second Timothy is "A Pastoral Epistle." There are two other Pastoral Epistles: First Timothy and Titus. They are called Pastoral Epistles because they deal primarily with the pastoral care, oversight, and organization of the church. They tell believers how they ought to behave in the house of God (2 Tim.3:15). Interestingly, the term pastoral has a long history. It was first used by Thomas Aquinas in A.D. 1274. He called First Timothy "an epistle of pastoral rule" and Second Timothy "an epistle of pastoral care." The term "Pastoral Epistles," however, began to be widely used only after D.N. Berdot (A.D. 1703) and Paul Anton (A.D. 1726) so described them (Donald Guthrie, The Pastoral Epistles. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.11).

2. Second Timothy is "A Personal Epistle." It was written to a young disciple who was loved as a son. The epistle is filled with warm and affectionate feelings and filled with instructions that were to govern Timothy's personal behavior.

3. Second Timothy is "An Ecclesiastical Epistle." It was written to answer questions about church organization, doctrinal purity, and personal behavior. Two things were happening. First, the number and sizes of churches were growing rapidly, and second, the apostles were aging. In both cases the apostles were just unable to personally reach and instruct all the churches; therefore, they had to write if the churches were to be rooted and grounded in the Lord.

4. Second Timothy is "An Apologetic Epistle." It is a defense of the faith. The first rumblings and early development of false teaching had just begun to appear (Gnosticism. See Colossians, Introductory Notes, Purpose.) Therefore, Paul warns the believers and defends the truth against heretical and false teaching.

GREETING: PAUL'S GREAT GLORY, 1:1-5

(1:1-5) Introduction: a believer is highly privileged by God. Paul knew this and he gloried in those privileges. But note: he does not glory in the things of this earth; he glories in the things that relate to God.

1. His great call (v.1).
2. His son in the faith (v.2).
3. His pure conscience (v.3).
4. His privilege of praying for a disciple (v.3).
5. His remembrance of Timothy's tears (v.4).
6. His remembrance of Timothy's family—their genuine faith (v.5).

1 (1:1) Call—Paul—Minister: the first glory of Paul was his great call, the call God had given him. Paul did not glory in the things of this earth; he gloried in the things of God. God had called him out of sin and institutional religion to be a messenger of His. Paul uses the word apostle. He says that he was an “apostle [apostolos] of Jesus Christ by the will of God.” The word apostle means one called and sent forth on a very special mission (see DEEPER STUDY # 5, Apostle—Mt.10:2 for more discussion). The mission given to Paul was that of a messenger. It was God's will that Paul proclaim “the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus.” The promise of life—real life, true life, the only true life there is—is in Christ Jesus. There is no life apart from Christ. There is existence, mere survival, but no real life. Therefore, Paul was a messenger, an apostle, a man who was sent by God to proclaim the promise of God, the promise that God makes to man: He will give life to any person who trusts His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Just imagine being called by God Himself. What a privilege! No matter what the call is, it is a privilege just to be called by God. But imagine being called to proclaim the glorious promise of God's very own Son, the promise of life that is in Him. That call is the greatest of privileges. That was the call of Paul. That was the glory of Paul: the great call that God had given him.

Thought 1. What a glorious privilege the messenger of God has: to proclaim the promise of life. Every servant of God should bow in humble adoration and submission—to proclaim the promise of life as never before.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee” (Acts 26:16).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:18-21).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began. but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:9-10).

“He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:12).

2 (1:2) Paul—Timothy: the second glory of Paul was Timothy, his son in the faith (see note, Discipleship—1 Tim.1:2 for discussion).

3 (1:3) Conscience—Paul: the third glory of Paul was his pure conscience. This is a phenomenal statement: Paul says that he served God with a pure conscience. God had called Paul to serve His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and Paul was faithful and diligent in his service and ministry. In serving Christ, Paul...

- did not slumber and sleep late.
- did not waste and abuse time.
- did not prepare half-heartedly at the last minute.
- did not neglect the ministry and the needs of people.
- did not question or deny the Word of God and its gospel.
- did not deviate from the truth of the Lord Jesus Christ, the very Son of God Himself.
- did not fail to proclaim the whole gospel and the whole counsel of God.

Paul did not have a conscience that caused him to question his actions and life—its purpose and meaning and significance. Paul did not have a conscience that questioned, bothered, nagged, and pricked him. Paul was faithful to Christ and His ministry; therefore, he could forcefully declare: “I serve...with pure conscience.” This was the glory of Paul: a pure conscience.

Thought 1. Every minister of God should ask: “Do I serve God with a pure conscience? If not, why?” We must correct every failure and every shortcoming. We must serve Christ faithfully and diligently. A pure conscience must be the glory of the minister.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

4 (1:3) Prayer—Paul: the fourth glory of Paul was his privilege of praying for a disciple. Of course, prayer itself was a privilege for Paul, as prayer is for every believer. But the very thought of taking prayer and zeroing in on a young disciple is a special privilege. Why? Because we can concentrate on the young disciple’s life, and the hand of God can be seen moving upon his life. Genuine believers know that one of the greatest privileges and comforts of life is being able to carry the needs of a loved person before the Lord and...

- experience the Lord removing the burden from our hearts.
- experience the Lord answering our prayer and meeting the need of our loved one.
- experience the growth and ministry of our loved one for Christ.

The glorious privilege of praying for a young disciple is a privilege indeed, a privilege that needs to be laid hold of more and more. Prayer for young disciples was one of the great glories of Paul. It should be for us as well.

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith” (1 Th.3:10).

5 (1:4) Tears—Paul: the fifth glory of Paul was his remembrance of Timothy’s tears. This is a warm and touching statement: Paul yearned and longed to see Timothy. Why? Because of Timothy’s tears. Timothy was apparently a man with a strong and tender heart, a heart that was soft and warm and that felt deeply and was easily touched and moved to compassion and tears. There is no question about his strength and courage, for he was chosen by Paul to be Paul’s successor. Paul would have never chosen a weakling, someone who was not the strongest among the strong. But something else would appeal to Paul as well: a man with a tender and compassionate heart, a man who was not afraid to show the warmth and softness of tears as he ministered and struggled in prayer before God.

What a man to covet! What a companion in ministry Timothy must have been! No wonder Paul coveted his presence, longing and yearning to join him in ministry.

“I thank my God upon every remembrance of you....for your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now” (Ph.1:3, 5).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts” (Ps.119:63).

“A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity” (Pr.17:17).

“Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labor. For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but woe to him that is alone when he falleth; for he hath not another to help him up” (Eccl.4:9-10).

6 (1:5) Family—Parents—Lois—Eunice: the sixth glory of Paul was his remembrance of Timothy’s family—their genuine faith. Timothy had one of the greatest privileges that a child can have: strong Christian parents. His mother and grandmother were staunch believers who were faithful to God’s Word every day of their lives. This was and still is the key in any family: faithfulness to God’s Word every day. Timothy’s mother and grandmother had taught Timothy the Scriptures from earliest childhood.

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

The point is this: Timothy’s faith in Christ was genuine and sincere; it was real and true. He honestly trusted Christ as his Savior and Lord, and he lived for Christ day by day. One of the major reasons for his strength in the Lord was the strong faith of his mother, Eunice, and his grandmother, Lois. They had rooted and grounded him in the faith. Note: their faith had been strong; Paul mentions this as the very reason he could trust the faith of Timothy so much.

Thought 1. What a glorious testimony, yet an awesome responsibility. Parents must be godly, possessing the strongest of faiths—a faith that is genuine and true, real and sincere. Parents must trust the Lord Jesus Christ and rear their children to trust Christ. They must root their children in the Scripture so that they will know how to walk in Christ day by day.

“And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord” (Eph.6:4).

“I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day” (2 Tim.1:3).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

“And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:7).

“Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old; he will not depart from it” (Pr.22:6).

DIVISION I

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

A. Charge One: Endure Abuse for the Gospel, 1:6-12

(1:6-12) Introduction: this passage begins a series of strong charges—charges directed to Timothy but applicable to us all. Charge one is an eye-opener; it strikes fear in some believers. Nevertheless, it is a charge that must be heeded by everyone of us: endure abuse for the gospel.

1. Stir up the gift of God (v.6).
2. Do not fear—God has not given us the spirit of fear (v.7).
3. Do not be ashamed of the gospel (v.8).
4. Share in the sufferings of the gospel (v.8-10).
5. Look at Paul's example (v.11-12).

1 (1:6) Believer—Minister—Gifts, Spiritual: first, stir up the gift of God. What is the “gift of God?” This probably refers to spiritual gifts, the gifts which the Holy Spirit gives to every believer—the spiritual gifts which equip the believer to minister. The word “stir up” (anazopureo) can mean to keep blazing and to keep the flame of the fire burning. But it can also mean to rekindle and to restir the flame, indicating that the flame was about to go out. Which is meant here? No doubt Timothy faced what we sometimes face: times when he needed to be restirred and rekindled. But there is no indication that Timothy's flame was about to go out.

Keep this in mind: Paul was facing death; he was about to be executed. He clearly states this fact (2 Tim.4:6-8). Therefore, Paul sensed the need to give Timothy charge after charge. One of the very first things Timothy needed to do was to keep his spiritual gifts blazing and burning to the hottest point possible. The idea is present tense, which means it is progressive and continuous action. The believer is to keep on stirring up his gift, never letting its flame lose any of its intensity. He is to use his gift to minister and minister, never slacking up nor losing his zeal. God has gifted the believer to minister, gifted him in a very, very special way; therefore, he must minister. He must do exactly what God has gifted him to do.

Thought 1. Note: the problem with most believers is that they do not even know what their spiritual gifts are. There is a great need within the church to study the gifts and the great price God has paid to secure the gifts for His people. (See outline and notes—Ro.12:3-8; 1 Cor.12:4-11; Eph.4:7-16 for more discussion.)

“And so he that had received five talents came and brought other five talents, saying, Lord, thou deliverdst unto me five talents: behold, I have gained beside them five talents more” (Mt.25:20).

“Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery” (1 Tim.4:14).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering; or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness” (Ro.12:6-8).

“But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet show I unto you a more excellent way” (1 Cor.12:31).

“Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy” (1 Cor.14:1).

2 (1:7) Fear—Power—Love: second, do not fear. God has not given us the spirit of fear. Too often believers—laymen and ministers alike—fear using their gifts. They fear speaking up for Christ and the gospel—they fear...

- ridicule
- embarrassment
- mockery
- criticism
- opposition
- abuse

Being very honest, we have all experienced these fears at one time or another. We failed to witness—to use our gift in speaking up for Christ and in proclaiming the gospel lest we suffer persecution. But note the charge; it is clear and forceful: we are not to fear.

⇒ We are not to fear the face of man.

⇒ We are not to fear the trials that may come our way because we are living for Christ.

⇒ We are not to fear the ridicule and persecution that may be launched against us because we are witnessing and ministering for Christ.

Is it possible to keep from fearing if we live for Christ in this world, a world that is so evil and abusive? How can we keep from being apprehensive if we witness for Christ day by day? How can we keep from being cowardly when the world thinks that religion is to be kept in the church and not out in the world? How can we stand up for Christ when people mock and poke fun at anyone who lives for Christ?

This verse tells us how: we let God equip us. God’s equipment does not include fear. The fact is clearly stated: God does not give us the spirit of fear; God gives us the spirit of love and power, and of a sound mind. The word spirit means the believer’s spirit: the Holy Spirit of God actually injects power, love, and a sound mind into the spirit of the believer.

1. The Holy Spirit actually infuses power into the believer’s spirit. But note: we do not receive power until we begin to minister. Power is not needed if we just sit around and remain silent about Christ. The Holy Spirit gives us power only when we begin to minister and actually need it. It is when we begin to live for Christ—to use our gifts to bear witness for Him—that the Spirit of God injects power into our spirit. When we begin to live and proclaim Christ, the Holy Spirit endows us with power, enormous power...

- power to face the strain of difficulties and trials.
- power to stand tall in living and witnessing for Christ.
- power to take on the job and to do it well—to the very best of our ability.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all” (Acts 4:33).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, and what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power” (Eph.1:18-19).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

“But truly I am full of power by the spirit of the LORD, and of judgment, and of might, to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin” (Mic.3:8).

2. The Holy Spirit infuses love into the believer’s spirit. This is agape love, the kind of love that loves people even if they are sinners and enemies. It is a love that arises within the mind and will, not in the emotions. It is the kind of love that says, “I will love this person no matter what he does to me. I will care for, nourish, and nurture him. I will share Christ with him. I will treat him just as I would want him to treat me if he knew Christ. I will love him and be responsible to him, no matter how he treats me.”

Note: this kind of love—the kind of love that can love sinners and enemies—is a gift of God’s Spirit. No man can stir or work up agape love. Agape love is God’s love. God alone possesses it; therefore, God alone can give it to men. He gives it to all who live for His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and who proclaim Him (cp. v.8-10).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness” (Col.3:14).

“And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

3. The Holy Spirit infuses a sound mind into the believer’s spirit. “Sound mind” (sophronismou) means self-control; the ability to control one’s emotions, feelings, and thoughts in the midst of trials and circumstances, no matter how severe and stressful. It is just as it says, a sound mind—the mastery over one’s mind, over one’s heart and life despite the trial or opposition. When the believer begins to live and bear testimony for Christ, the Holy Spirit gives him a sound mind—a most glorious gift.

Thought 1. Think for a moment. Picture a genuine believer...

- who is living for Christ: walking in Christ and sharing Christ all day every day.
- who honestly loves people and treats people just like he should—no matter how they treat him.
- who is controlled—who controls his passions, feelings, behavior, and thoughts.

Picture such a person: Could God let that person live in fear? Could God fail to keep from giving that person strength, that is, spiritual power and love and a sound mind? The answer is obvious. The person who truly lives for Christ and bears testimony for Christ is delivered from fear:

- ⇒ he is given power, enormous power.
- ⇒ he is given love, great love for people, no matter who they are.
- ⇒ he is given a sound mind, peace, stability, and security in a dying and insecure world.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:5-7).

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:6-7).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

“Young men likewise exhort to be sober minded” (Tit.2:6).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

3 (1:8) Gospel—Witnessing: third, do not be ashamed of the gospel nor of strong believers who are living and witnessing for Christ. The point and verse are clear enough. No believer is to shrink...

- from identifying with the gospel and the Lord of the gospel.
- from identifying with strong believers who are living for and sharing Christ.

We are to share the gospel—share by living for Christ and by speaking up for Him, bearing testimony of His saving grace. We are to stand up for those who share Christ when they are being ridiculed and persecuted. In fact, note the verse: we are to share in the sufferings of the gospel. Any of us who truly live for the gospel will be opposed and misunderstood by the world. Why? Because we do not live like the world; we do not live sensual, immoral, ungodly, and worldly lives. We do not follow after the things of the world. Therefore, our righteous and godly lives convict the world of its ungodly deeds. Hence, the world ridicules and persecutes us. But we are not to let this stop us: we are not to shrink from living for and sharing the gospel. We are to jump right in with the strong believer and share the gospel with a starving and lost world that reels under the weight of evil, corruption, and death.

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended. They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that ye doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto you at the beginning, because I was with you” (Jn.16:1-4).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto” (1 Th.3:3).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you” (1 Jn.3:13).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

4 (1:8-10) Gospel: fourth, share in the sufferings of the gospel. As stated above, this is the duty of believers. If we live for Christ—live for the gospel, live godly lives—the ungodly of the world will persecute us. There is no escape from it. But we are not to shrink from our duty. We are not to fear, nor are we to be ashamed of the gospel. We are to live for the gospel and proclaim the gospel. Scripture gives three strong encouragements, three strong reasons why we should stand up for Christ and the gospel.

1. We are to stand up for the gospel because God has saved us and called us with a holy calling. And note: God saved us by grace, that is, freely. We did not have to work one iota for salvation. We did not have to pay a cent nor do a single thing for salvation. God Himself saved us...

- He has delivered us from sin and the bondages of the flesh.
- He has delivered us from death. Think about it: we shall never die. When our time comes—at the last moment, in an instant of time, in a split second—God will transfer us from this world into His presence. We are saved from ever having to taste death.
- He has saved us from judgment and condemnation, from the punishment of hell.

God has done all this for us, and He has done it by grace—freely—simply because He loves us and wills to save us. How, then, can we deny Him? How can we dare be ashamed of Him and fear living for Him? How can we be ashamed of telling the world about His glorious salvation?

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

2. We are to stand up for the gospel because God’s purpose for salvation is eternal. Salvation was planned by God before the world was ever created. The gospel of salvation was given to us in Christ before the world was ever created. The point is this: the gospel of salvation—wrought through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—is God’s eternal plan. It is the only plan God has whereby people may be saved. If a person misses this plan, he will miss salvation; he will never be acceptable to God. Therefore, we—all believers—must not be ashamed nor fear proclaiming Christ. Salvation through Christ and the gospel of Christ is the only way any person can ever be saved. We must proclaim the gospel even if men oppose it, for they shall forever be lost if we fail to lead them to Christ.

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

3. We are to stand up for the gospel because God has now revealed His purpose of salvation to the world. Note how God did this: “by the appearing of our Savior Jesus Christ.” What did Jesus Christ do to reveal God’s purpose?

a. Jesus Christ abolished death. How? How in this world can anyone ever abolish death? Very simply, Jesus Christ died for man. All that is within man—all that causes man to die—Jesus Christ took upon Himself. Jesus Christ took all the evil, sin, and corruption that causes death—took it all upon Himself and died for man. Now think for a moment: since He has died for man, man does not have to die. Death is abolished for man: man is freed from death; death no longer has a hold on man. (See note, Jesus Christ, Mediator—1 Tim.2:3-7 for more discussion.)

b. Jesus Christ has brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. Man can now live forever and receive immortality. How? Through the gospel of life and immortality provided by Jesus Christ. When a person believes in Jesus Christ—truly believes by committing his life to Christ—God takes that person’s belief and counts it as the life of Christ. God actually counts the person as being in Christ. Christ is eternal and immortal; therefore, if a person is in Christ, he becomes eternal and immortal. He is immortal because he is in Christ. How can such a thing be? Because God counts it so. God takes our faith in Christ and counts it as immortality. God loves His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, so much that He will honor any person who honors His Son. God will honor that person who truly honors His Son by believing in Him—honor the person by doing exactly what the person believes about Christ. Christ proclaimed that any person who believed in Him would never die, but have everlasting life. Therefore, if a person believes in Christ, believes the gospel of Christ, God gives that person life and immortality. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

This is the light of the gospel—the glorious revelation of the gospel. Jesus Christ has abolished death and brought life and immortality to man.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:16-18).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil” (Heb.2:14-15).

5 (1:11-12) Testimony—Paul, Example: fifth, look at Paul’s example. Paul endured abuse for the gospel. Paul says two significant things about himself.

1. Paul had been appointed and called to serve the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Three appointments are mentioned.
 - a. Paul was appointed to be a preacher of the gospel. The preacher is a herald, a person who is appointed by a king to go forth and proclaim the message of the king. The minister is a preacher who is sent forth by God to preach the truth about Jesus Christ...
 - that He has abolished death.
 - that He has brought life and immortality to light.
 - b. Paul had been appointed an apostle of the Lord Jesus Christ. The apostle is a person who has been sent as a very special witness and on a very special mission. The minister is sent forth on the special mission to bear witness that Jesus Christ is the Mediator between God and men. Jesus Christ has paid the ransom price for man.
 - c. Paul had been appointed as a teacher of the Lord Jesus Christ. The teacher is a person who instructs people in the faith and truth of God’s Word. It is the gift to root and ground people in doctrine, reproof, correction, and righteousness. God had called him to proclaim and teach the salvation that is in Christ Jesus.
2. Paul was not ashamed to suffer for the gospel.
 - a. He knew that his faith was sure; he knew Christ. The point is this: Paul knew Christ on a personal and intimate basis. He walked with Christ day by day—was in fellowship and communion with Him. He had a personal relationship with Christ; therefore, he knew that his belief in Christ was true. This was the reason he was willing to suffer for the gospel: the gospel was true. A person could actually be saved from death and receive life and immortality; a person could actually live face to face with God forever and ever. Paul knew this—knew it beyond a shadow of a doubt. How? Because he knew Christ personally and intimately.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“In whom [Christ] ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest [guarantee] of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

“For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake” (1 Th.1:5).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments. He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him. But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him” (1 Jn.2:3-5).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son” (1 Jn.5:10).

- b. Paul was persuaded of God's keeping power. Paul had committed both his life and work to Christ—all that Paul was as a person and all that Paul did upon earth was entrusted to Christ. The word "committed" (paratheke) means to deposit. A.T. Robertson says that Paul means, " 'My deposit' as in a bank, the bank of heaven which no burglar can break (Mt.6:19f)" (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.614). Paul had deposited, turned everything he was and had over to Christ. Why? Because he knew that Christ could keep it and take care of it forever and ever. What exactly did Paul turn over to Christ? His life and work. Imagine!

- ⇒ Paul deposited his life into the hands of Christ; therefore, Christ increased his life, guided his life to bear the richest interest and the greatest return. Paul's deposit of life was increased to eternal life.
- ⇒ Paul deposited his work into the hands of Christ; therefore, Christ increased his work to bear the richest interest and the greatest return. Paul's deposit of work was increased to eternal responsibility and management for God. (See note, Rewards—Lk.16:10-12 for more discussion.)

"Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread" (2 Th.3:12).

"Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time" (1 Pt.1:5).

"Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

3. Paul was sure that judgment was coming. Therefore, he committed his life and work to Christ in order to receive the reward of God and not the judgment of God. Paul knew that he had to stand before Christ some day and give an account for his life and work. This is the reason Paul did exactly what Christ said: he trusted Christ, and gave Christ his life—totally. He deposited his life and work with Christ; staked everything he was and had upon Christ. Why? Because he knew that Christ would keep him and present him faultless in that day. Christ would present him to God as a follower of His, and God would accept Paul because Paul had followed God's only begotten Son. Paul knew beyond question who it was that he was following: he was following the Lord Jesus Christ, the very Son of God Himself.

"For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works" (Mt.16:27).

"For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad" (2 Cor.5:10).

"And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear" (1 Pt.1:17).

"I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings" (Jer.17:10).

DIVISION I

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

B. Charge Two: Hold Fast to the Lord Jesus Christ, 1:13-18

(1:13-18) Introduction: this is the second charge given to believers, both ministers and laymen alike. Note that the charge is strong, of a critical nature: hold fast. In a world that is filled with wickedness and false teaching, believers must hold fast to the Lord Jesus Christ.

1. Hold fast to sound words (v.13).
2. Hold fast one's trust—by the power of the Holy Spirit (v.14).
3. Hold fast without turning away, for many turn away (v.15).
4. Hold fast following the example of those who have proven faithful: Onesiphorus (v.16-18).

1 (1:13) Scripture—Gospel—Doctrine—Teaching—Minister: first, hold fast to sound words. The word “sound” (hugiainonton) is interesting. It means healthful, health giving. Believers must hold fast to sound, health giving words, that is, to words that will make them sound and healthy. What words will make a person sound and healthy? The words just covered by the Scripture:

- ⇒ the words of the gospel (v.8).
- ⇒ the words of salvation (v.9).
- ⇒ the words about Jesus Christ, the glorious message that He has abolished death and brought life and
- ⇒ immortality to man (v.9-10).
- ⇒ the words that Paul himself taught, the words that he taught to Timothy and to the believers of the early
- ⇒ church (v.13).

Simply stated, believers are to hold fast to the Holy Scriptures, to the very Words of God Himself, for the Word of God alone can bring health and life to the human soul.

1. We must hold fast to sound words in faith. That is, we must believe in Christ, surrender our hearts and lives to Him, and we must be loyal to Christ. If we do not believe the words and message about Christ—if we do not have faith in Christ—then we are not holding fast to sound words. The very first sign of sound words is faith in Christ; the very first sign that a person is clinging to sound words is his faith in Christ. If a person does not believe in Christ, he is not holding fast to sound words. He is believing a false doctrine, a false philosophy of life and will thereby perish. The only words that can bring health and soundness to a person are the words of Christ—the life-giving words of His salvation. A person must hold fast to sound words by believing in Christ Jesus, the only Savior who has brought the life-giving words of God to earth.

2. We must hold fast to sound words in love. It is not enough to believe in the sound words about Christ; we must also love everyone in Christ and love the world through Christ. A person who truly believes the gospel believes in Christ, and he loves both Christ and the words of the gospel.

The point is this: it is impossible to truly believe Christ and His gospel without loving Christ and His Word. A person who truly loves Christ sees the people of the world through the eyes of Christ: he loves everyone even as Christ loves everyone. He holds fast to sound words in love: he seeks to share the words of health and soundness with all men. He wants all men to know the sound words of salvation that bring health and soundness to the human soul.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:7-8).

2 (1:14) Minister—Believer, Duty: second, hold fast the trust God has placed into your hands—hold your trust fast by the power of the Holy Spirit. William Barclay has an excellent comment on this point:

“Not only do we put our trust in God: God also puts His trust in us. The idea of God’s dependence on men is never far from New Testament thought. When God wants something done, He has to find a man to do it. If God wants a child taught, a message brought, a sermon preached, a wanderer found, a sorrowing one comforted, a sick one healed, he has to find some agent and some instrument to do His work” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.176).

Matthew Henry says:

“The Christian doctrine is a trust committed to us....It is committed to us to be preserved pure and entire, and to be transmitted to those who shall come after us, and we must keep it, and not contribute any thing to the corrupting of its purity, the weakening of its power, or the diminishing of its perfection” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.836).

Note that the believer can keep his trust and do the work of God only by the power of the Holy Spirit. It is the Spirit of God who gifts the believer and calls him to work for the Lord. Every genuine believer is given specific work to do for the Lord, but the believer cannot do the work in his own strength. No man can penetrate the heart of another person; only the Holy Spirit of God can do that. Therefore, the believer must stay close to the Spirit of God and depend upon Him for the power to do good and effective work. The Holy Spirit alone has the power to change a man’s heart; therefore, the believer must depend upon the Holy Spirit to help him in his work. (See note—1 Tim.6:20-21 for more discussion.)

“For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey” (Mt.25:14-15).

“And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come” (Lk.19:13).

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called” (1 Tim.6:20).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

3 (1:15) Backsliding—Desertion—Ministering: third, hold fast without turning away, for many turn away. Paul was facing the crisis of his life: he was standing trial on a capital charge, that of being an insurrectionist, a disturber of the peace against the Roman empire. It was dangerous to be associated with Paul; there was the chance that a person would be identified as an associate of Paul. Because of this, most of the believers throughout Asia deserted Paul. They actually turned away from the minister who had done so much for them.

The leaders of the desertion were Phygellus and Hermogenes. This is the only time these two men are mentioned in Scripture; therefore, the only thing we know about them is what is shared here. Apparently, there was a time when they followed the Lord and supported Paul; but now, when the chips were down and the minister of God really needed them, they deserted and began to oppose him and to lead others to desert him. Paul was deeply hurt; those whom he had loved and done so much for were now turning their backs upon him.

Thought 1. Oliver Greene paints a descriptive application of this event:

“This reminds us of our Lord. As He broke the loaves and fishes, He had thousands at His feet; but when He fell beneath the weight of His cross, not one person volunteered to carry it for Him—and the Scripture tells us that Simon the Cyrenian was compelled to bear His cross (Mark 15:21). Many pastors know better than I that when a person needs a friend and stands condemned by those in authority, he will always learn who his real friends are. Many times a dear pastor believes that the majority of his church members stand with him—but when the enemies of the Gospel are ready to vote him out, he discovers that his friends are few and that the visible church embraces many spineless Christians. Paul had many converts and professing friends in Asia; but when the testing time came, like the disciples of Jesus they turned back and walked with him no more” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.287).

“But all this was done, that the scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples forsook him, and fled” (Mt.26:56).

“Behold, the hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye shall be scattered, every man to his own, and shall leave me alone: and yet I am not alone, because the Father is with me” (Jn.16:32).

“For Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica, Crescens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia” (2 Tim.4:10).

“My friends scorn me: but mine eye poureth out tears unto God” (Job 16:20).

“All my inward friends abhorred me: and they whom I loved are turned against me” (Job 19:19).

4 (1:16-18) Onesiphorus—Believers, Faithful: hold fast, following the example of those who have proven faithful. Note the resounding tenderness heaped upon one man and his household, the man Onesiphorus. Onesiphorus is a dynamic example of a courageous man, a man who was committed to helping people even if it did endanger his life. This passage gives every indication that he dearly loved Paul. When Onesiphorus heard that Paul had been arrested and imprisoned in Rome, he apparently struck out for Rome to see what he could do to help. Note the word “sought” (v.17). This indicates that he had some difficulty finding the prison where Paul was chained. It is true that for two years Paul had been allowed to live in a rented house and to use it as his living quarters despite the fact that he was a prisoner. But apparently at some point he was put behind bars in one of the security prisons where the most notorious criminals were imprisoned. Whatever the case, Onesiphorus did not give up his search. He “sought [Paul] out very diligently.” The idea is that he sought and sought against great difficulty until he found Paul. Note his ministry to Paul:

- ⇒ He refreshed Paul, refreshed him often. This would certainly include visits and the encouragement and
- ⇒ comfort of sharing Scripture and prayer. And, if allowed, it would include food and clothing and the - ⇒ provision of any medical or financial needs Paul might have had.
- ⇒ He was not ashamed of Paul’s imprisonment—not ashamed to be identified with Paul as a friend and fellow
- ⇒ believer in the Lord Jesus Christ. He stood by the side of Paul as a follower of the gospel of the Lord Jesus
- ⇒ Christ.

Note one other point: Paul’s deep appreciation and love for Onesiphorus. He prays that God will have mercy upon this dear saint in the day of judgment—that God will reward Onesiphorus for the many things he did for him when he was a prisoner.

Thought 1. “The majority of friends (so-called) will forsake us in the darkest hour of need; but the friend who is to be treasured as a jewel is the man who stands with us when we need encouragement, when all others are against us, and seemingly we have lost the battle. No words could ever express the worth of such a friend!” (Oliver Greene, The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.228f).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

DIVISION I

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

C. Charge Three: Be Strong in the Lord Jesus Christ, 2:1-7

(2:1-7) Introduction: believers must be strong in the Lord. This passage gives an excellent picture of what being strong in the Lord means.

1. The source of strength—the Lord’s grace (v.1).
2. Picture 1: a strong teacher (v.2).
3. Picture 2: a strong soldier of Jesus Christ (v.3-4).
4. Picture 3: a strong athlete (v.5).
5. Picture 4: a hard working farmer (v.6).
6. Conclusion: think over these things (v.7).

1 (2:1) Grace: the source of strength is found in the Lord Jesus Christ. In particular it is found “in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.” Remember that Paul was facing death; he was to be executed by the Romans on the false charge that he was a revolutionary against the state. Timothy was to be Paul’s successor; he would soon have to take over the main responsibility for the churches scattered all over the world. The responsibility for spreading the gospel across the earth would soon be his. Could he stand up under the pressure? Could he handle all the problems and circumstances that would arise? Would he work enough, study enough, learn enough, pray enough, witness enough, preach enough, teach enough, endure enough, strive enough, and war enough in the spirit? There was only one hope for Timothy, just as there is only one hope for any of us. Timothy needed an unlimited strength, a strength that could drive him to conquer any circumstance and to work at any task until it was accomplished. That strength could come from only one source, and Paul knew the fact.

⇒ That strength is the strength of God.

The strength of men is no stronger than man, and man ends up in the dust of the ground. His strength ceases to be. And not only this, but all along the path of life, man comes short and fails time after time—no matter who the man is. The weakness of his strength is constantly showing itself.

However, the strength of God is entirely different. God’s strength is all sufficient and all powerful. It can and does conquer all, including death itself. Therefore, if a man can tap into God’s strength, he can conquer all the circumstances of life, including death; and he can achieve his task upon earth, the very task that God wants him to fulfill while he is on earth. This is what Paul knew. But Paul knew something else: the strength of God can be tapped only through “the grace that is in Christ Jesus.”

Grace means the undeserved favor and blessings of God. Man does not deserve the favor and blessings of God, but God loves man. Therefore, God has provided the way for man to receive His favor and blessings—the greatest way possible—through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Man can receive the blessings of God through the very Son of God Himself. And this includes the strength of God, the strength to conquer and overcome all trials and to fulfill his task upon earth, no matter how much work it involved or how difficult the task may be.

The point is this: we must do just what Paul told Timothy to do. We must be strong—not strong in our own strength, but strong in the grace (favor) of Christ. We must look up to Christ, not to ourselves nor to other people. We must trust the sufficiency of Christ, not our own strength.

Note: Paul paints four pictures to illustrate what he means by being strong in Christ Jesus. These pictures are covered in the next four notes.

“But by the grace of God I am what I am: and his grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me” (1 Cor.15:10).

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might” (Eph.6:10).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

2 (2:2) Teacher—Discipleship: picture one is that of a strong teacher. A strong teacher has two very basic duties.

1. A strong teacher receives the truth. Timothy had heard Paul preach and teach the truth. How did Timothy know that the preaching and teaching of Paul were true? By the many witnesses who bore testimony to the same thing. Many proclaimed that the promises of Christ were true. When they trusted Jesus Christ as their Savior and Lord, something happened to them.

- ⇒ They received a changed life, a transformation of life so dramatic that they became as new men and new creatures.
- ⇒ They received a deep sense of God's presence.
- ⇒ They received the absolute assurance of salvation from sin, death, and judgment to come.
- ⇒ They received the indwelling presence of God's Holy Spirit.
- ⇒ They received the assurance of living forever.

Simply stated, many witnesses confirmed just what Paul taught; therefore, Timothy could trust what Paul taught. And when he did, Timothy himself was converted. He experienced the truth of Christ and of salvation.

Thought 1. The truth of God and of salvation are established forever. Christ Jesus, the very Son of God Himself, came to earth to reveal God and the way of salvation. Witness after witness down through the centuries confirm the truth. It is up to men to hear and receive it. A strong teacher will hear, receive, and transmit the truth to others. He transmits the truth to others so that they in turn may teach others and pass the truth on down to future generations.

2. A strong teacher trains others to transmit the truth. William Barclay gives an excellent description of this point:

“Every Christian must look on himself as a link between two generations. Not only has he received the faith; he must also pass it on. E.K. Simpson writes on this passage: ‘The torch of heavenly light must be transmitted unquenched from one generation to another, and Timothy must count himself an intermediary between apostolic and later ages....The teacher is a link in the living chain which stretches unbroken from this present moment back to Jesus Christ. The glory of teaching is that it links the present with the earthly life of Jesus Christ’ “ (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.181f).

Note that the truth is to be committed to faithful believers. By faithful (pistos) is meant a person...

- who believes in Christ and in the Word of God.
- who is loyal, reliable, dependable, and trustworthy.

Naturally, a person who does not believe in God or in God's Word cannot be said to be faithful to God. He is unfaithful and disloyal. God cannot trust or rely on him.

The point is this: a strong teacher will not commit the truth to an unfaithful person. The strong teacher will look for faithful people and commit the truth to them. As Matthew Henry says:

“Faithful men [are those] who will sincerely aim at the glory of God, the honour of Christ, the welfare of souls, and the advancement of the kingdom of the Redeemer among men” (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.5, p.837).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:17).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

3 (2:3-4) Soldier—Believer: picture two is that of a strong soldier. The Christian believer is to be a strong soldier for Jesus Christ.

1. A strong soldier endures, suffers, and shares hardship with all other soldiers. He does not..

A strong soldier stands with the other soldiers and suffers the hardships of the struggle with them. He sacrifices all that he is and has for Christ and His cause.

- ⇒ He gives all of his mind, body, and soul to Christ and His cause of salvation.
- ⇒ He gives all of his time and energy to Christ and His promise of eternal life.
- ⇒ He gives all of his money and possessions to Christ and His mission of world evangelism.

The strong soldier of Jesus Christ suffers hardship—no matter what the hardship is. He suffers hardship so that men and women, boys and girls may be saved from sin and starvation, evil and disease, corruption and emptiness, wrong and loneliness, death and judgment.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare” (1 Tim.1:18).

“Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses” (1 Tim.6:12).

“By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season” (Heb.11:24-25).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:9).

2. A strong soldier does not become entangled with the affairs of day to day living. He stays focused upon the cause of Christ—that of reaching a dying world with the message of life. People can have life now—a life that is abundant and overflowing. And they can live eternally—knowing beyond any question that they are going to live forever, never tasting death. But note: they have to hear about the commander-in-chief who can give them this life. This is the task of the Christian soldier; this is the great cause of the Christian soldier. And the strong soldier never diverts from this cause. He does not become entangled with the affairs of this world. His purpose is not...

- to make money
- to covet position
- to party
- to indulge the flesh
- to seek possessions
- to live in pleasure
- to focus upon this life

His purpose is to focus upon the campaign of Christ, of carrying forth the message of the King of kings, the message of the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. What is that message? The message of eternal salvation. Man can live both now and forever. There is no greater purpose on earth than fighting to carry that message forth. The strong soldier focuses upon his cause and not upon the world. He does not become entangled with the world and its day to day affairs.

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“And they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion of this world passeth away” (1 Cor.7:31).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children” (Eph.5:1).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

3. A strong soldier pleases or obeys his commander-in-chief. He seeks to please the king who has chosen him to be a soldier. A strong soldier focuses upon his commander and his words. He does not look to anyone else...

- not to another commander. Another commander is a false commander.
- not to himself, seeking to satisfy the lusts of his own desires.
- not to loved ones who would have his time and waste his energies.
- not to those in the world who seek his energies and pleasures.

A strong soldier is loyal and committed to his commander-in-chief. He obeys his commander and focuses upon pleasing him and him alone.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more” (1 Th.4:1).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God” (Heb.11:5).

“But to do good and to communicate [give sacrificially] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

“This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success” (Josh.1:8).

4 (2:5) Athlete—Believers: picture three is that of a strong athlete. The Christian believer is to be like a strong athlete in the cause of Christ.

1. The athlete is strong in discipline and self-denial. Note the phrase “strive for masteries.” The picture is that of a professional athlete, a person who has dedicated his life—all that he is and has—to the contest. The Christian is not to be an amateur in life; he is to be a professional. The struggle is not a part-time thing; it requires all the dedication, energy, and effort that the Christian athlete has, and then some. The Christian must go until he can go no more; then he must go on and on. How? The same way a professional athlete does: through discipline and self-control. There must be no such thing as...

- an undisciplined believer.
- an uncontrolled believer.
- a flabby believer.
- an indulgent, overeating believer.
- a lustful, immoral believer.
- a licentious believer.
- a part-time believer.
- a lethargic believer.
- a half-hearted, complacent believer.

The believer must be totally committed to live for Christ—every moment of every day. He must be disciplined and controlled in mind, body, and soul.

⇒ His body may ache from tiredness, but he must push on and on even beyond his limit.

⇒ He may wish to indulge, but he must reject the temptation.

⇒ He may desire to look, touch, taste, and have, but he must refuse and focus his thoughts and energies upon the race for Christ.

The Christian believer must seek Christ, to become more and more like Him; and he must seek to make Christ known to every man, woman, and child. No matter how he feels, the Christian believer must be disciplined and controlled every day of his life—disciplined and controlled...

- in the worship of God through Bible study and prayer.
- in bearing testimony to the glorious news of Christ Jesus our Lord—the glorious news of life eternal.

2. The athlete strives lawfully or else he is disqualified from the contest. This is critical to know; it is the very point at which so many people fail. It is not enough to declare that one is entering the contest, nor is it enough to begin running the race. A person has to strive lawfully. Kenneth Wuest says:

“The Greek athlete was required to spend ten months in preparatory training before the contest. During this time he had to engage in the prescribed exercises and live a strictly separated life in regard to the ordinary and lawful pursuits of life, and he was placed on a rigid diet. Should he break training rules, he would...be a castaway (1 Cor.9:27), adokimos, ‘disqualified,’ barred from engaging in the athletic contest” (The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.129f).

Any person who wishes to enter the Christian contest has to obey the rules laid down by the official of the contest. That official is the Lord Jesus Christ, the very Son of God Himself. What are the rules? Very simply stated...

- a person must believe in Christ.
- a person must follow Christ, that is, obey the Word of God.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:24).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

Thought 1. How many people declare that they are entering the Christian race, but they do not run by the rules? The terrible tragedy is this: they are disqualified and shall be cast away.

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:24-27).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:7-8).

5 (2:6) Farmer—Believer: picture four is that of a farmer, a farmer who really works. The word “labor” (kopiao) means labor that is diligent, laborious, exhausting. It is the picture of a farmer who toils to the point of becoming weary, so tired that he cannot put one foot in front of the other.

Note a most significant point: it is the diligent farmer who arduously labors—who labors to the point of exhaustion—that shall be the first to partake of the fruit. The slothful farmer...

- is the last to receive the reward of his harvest and fruit.
- never bears a full harvest and never receives the reward of a full harvest.

The reason is because the slothful farmer either plants less seed or plants later than he should. And he never weeds or harvests the fields like he should. Note the point: it is the diligent farmer who shall be the first to be rewarded. He shall be the first to partake of the fruit of the harvest.

The point is true of the Christian believer as well. The diligent believer shall be rewarded first by God; that is, he shall be given a greater reward by God. Oliver Greene says:

“Many Christians think that all will share alike in the rewards on that day when the righteous Judge will reward His faithful servants; but these dear people have a tremendous surprise in store for them! Each believer will be rewarded according to his faithful stewardship....I am sure there will be many in heaven without a reward” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.298).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Now if any man build upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble; every man’s work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man’s work of what sort it is. If any man’s work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man’s work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss: but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire” (1 Cor.3:11-15).

Matthew Henry says:

“If we would be partakers of the fruits, we must labour; if we would gain the prize, we must run the race. And, further, we must first labour as the husbandman does, with diligence and patience, before we are partakers of the fruit; we must do the will of God, before we receive the promises” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.838).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh” (Jas.5:7-8).

6 (2:7) Conclusion: the believer needs to think over these things, and he needs the Lord in order to understand them.

“Jesus saith unto them, Have ye understood all these things? They say unto him, Yea, Lord” (Mt.13:51).

“He that hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.11:15; 13:9, 43 etc.).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed” (Jn.8:31).

DIVISION I

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

D. Charge Four: Remember Jesus Christ is the Resurrected Lord, 2:8-13

(2:8-13) Introduction: this is one of the most important charges ever given to believers—remember the gospel, that Jesus Christ is the resurrected Lord. Jesus Christ was raised from the dead.

1. Remember—the gospel proclaims the humanity and deity of Jesus Christ (v.8).
2. Remember—the gospel carries one through suffering and assures the victory of one's purpose: the spread of God's Word (v.9).
3. Remember—the gospel stirs endurance (v.10).
4. Remember—the gospel assures eternal glory and eternal judgment (v.11-13).

1 (2:8) Jesus Christ, Humanity; Deity—Gospel: remember—the gospel proclaims the humanity and deity of Jesus Christ.

1. Jesus the Messiah was man. He was born of the seed of David; He was a man just like David, born of the roots of David. God sent His Son into the world in human flesh. The Son of God became a man—flesh and blood—just like all other men. He had a human nature, and because He had a human nature, He knows...

- the sufferings of life.
- the trials of life.
- the temptations of life.
- the problems and difficulties of life.
- the sorrows and griefs of life.
- the struggles and pains of life.

The point is this: Jesus Christ knows exactly what we face in life. Therefore, He is able to succor us through all the trials of life. No matter what the sufferings are, Jesus Christ can deliver us through the sufferings and cause us to triumph over them.

“And the Word [God's Son] was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage. For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham” (Heb.2:14-16).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

2. Jesus the Messiah was divine; He was of the very nature of God Himself. How do we know this? Because He was raised from the dead. The resurrection from the dead declares that Jesus is the Son of God. All other men are dead and gone. The proof is demonstrated by one simple question: “Where are they? Where are our mothers, our fathers, our sisters, and ancestors?” Once they have left this world, they are gone. But not Christ. He died, but He arose and lives forever in the presence of God. Death could not hold Him because He was the Son of God and possessed the perfect spirit of holiness. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4, Jesus Christ, Resurrection—Acts 2:24 for more discussion.)

William Barclay has an excellent comment on this point:

“The tense of the Greek verb which Paul uses does not imply one definite act in time, but a continued state which lasts for ever. Paul is not so much saying to Timothy: ‘Remember the actual resurrection of Jesus’, rather he is saying: ‘Remember Jesus for ever risen and for ever present; remember your risen and your ever-present Lord.’ Here is the great Christian inspiration. We do not depend on the inspiration of a memory, however great. We enjoy the power of a presence. When a Christian is summoned to a great task, a task that he cannot but feel is beyond him, he must go to it in the certainty that he does not go to it alone, but that there is with him for ever and for ever the presence and the power of his risen Lord. When fears threaten, when doubts assail, when inadequacy depresses, remember the presence of the risen Lord” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.189).

“Whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it” (Acts 2:24).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged on a tree. Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:30-31).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

“[God’s power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:8-9).

2 (2:9) Suffering—Gospel: remember—the gospel carries one through suffering and assures the victory of one’s purpose—the spread of God’s Word. Paul was in prison because he preached the Word of God. At this particular time, Christians were hated with a fierce passion by many throughout the Roman empire. Many reacted against the message of morality and purity, righteousness and justice for all. In addition, one of the worst disasters ever suffered by a city, the burning of Rome, was blamed upon the Christian believers in Rome. Nero, in one of his moments of insanity, was guilty of ordering the fire so that he would be known as the great emperor who rebuilt the city. But the senate could never blame Nero. Therefore they sought a scapegoat, and the scapegoat chosen was the new religious sect, the Christians. As a result, a great persecution of Christian believers began. Paul, of course, was one of the major leaders of the Christians.

“But all human efforts, all the lavish gifts of the emperor, and the propitiations of the gods did not banish the sinister belief that the conflagration was the result of an order. Consequently, to get rid of the report, Nero fastened the guilt and inflicted the most exquisite tortures on a class hated for their abominations, called Christians by the populace” (Tacitus, Annals, 15:44 as quoted by William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.192).

As stated, Paul was in prison for having preached the gospel. He was true to his call, the very purpose for which God had put him on earth: to proclaim the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. But note a glorious fact: the Word of God could never be bound. Paul himself could be stopped by men, but the purpose of Paul could never be stopped. The Word of God cannot be stopped. Its message will continue on and on down through history. The message of God’s great love for the world—the message of the cross, of the death of God’s Son for the world—that message will never be stopped until the world ends. There will always be some believers who will be proclaiming the Word of God—that God will save any person who comes to Him through the Lord Jesus Christ.

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

“So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it” (Is.55:11).

“Wherefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, Because ye speak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them” (Jer.5:14).

“Is not my word like as a fire? saith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?” (Jer.23:29).

3 (2:10) Endurance—Gospel: the gospel stirs one to endure all things. How? By results. God has promised to save people by the gospel. When we preach and teach salvation in Christ Jesus—salvation with eternal glory—God saves people. This is the only hope for people, and no greater hope could exist. Just imagine living forever in eternal glory! Such a life is beyond our imagination, yet it is exactly what the gospel is all about. Therefore, no matter what it costs—no matter how much suffering we have to bear—we must endure it all for the salvation of people. This is the point of Paul: the gospel—the glorious truth that people could actually be saved and receive eternal glory—stirred Paul to suffer all things. Paul longed for people to hear the gospel so that they could be saved. This, too, must be our purpose and objective in life. We, too, must proclaim the gospel—no matter the suffering and sacrifice. We must pay any price to see that people hear the gospel, for the gospel is the only way people can be saved and receive eternal glory.

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.16:25).

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“But I would ye should understand, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the furtherance of the gospel; so that my bonds in Christ are manifest in all the palace, and in all other places; and many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear” (Ph.1:12-14).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

4 (2:11-13) Confession—Denial—Judgment: the gospel assures eternal glory and eternal judgment. Most commentators say these three verses were one of the first hymns of the early church.

1. Note the glorious promise: if we die with Christ, we shall also live with Him. How can a person die with Christ? (See notes, pt.3—2 Tim.1:8-10; pt.4—1 Tim.2:3-7. See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Believer, Position in Christ—Ro.8:1 for detailed discussion.)

When the believer suffers and endures for Christ, he is assured of reigning forever with Christ.

“But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved” (Mt.24:13).

2. Note the tragic result of denying Christ. “If we deny Him, He also will deny us.”

“Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.10:32-33).

“Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:38).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son” (1 Jn.2:22).

3. Note that God means what He says: He will keep His Word. His promise of glory and His pronouncement of judgment are sure. Some people will be saved and glorified, and others will be denied and condemned.

*“If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful; he cannot deny himself. He is faithful to his threatenings, faithful to his promises; neither one nor the other shall fall to the ground, no, not the least jot or tittle of them. If we be faithful to Christ, he will certainly be faithful to us. If we be false to him, he will be faithful to his threatenings: he cannot deny himself, cannot recede from any word that he hath spoken, for he is yea, and amen, the faithful witness....If we deny him, out of fear, or shame, or for the sake of some temporal advantage, he will deny and disown us, and will not deny himself, but will continue faithful to his word when he threatens as well as when he promises” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, p.839).*

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief” (Heb.4:11).

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

E. Charge Five: Remind the Church About the Danger of Words & the Foundation of God, 2:14-21

(2:14-21) Introduction: more trouble is stirred and brewed by words than by any other act. This fact alone stresses the importance of this passage: remember the danger of words and the foundation of God.

1. Reminder 1: do not argue and strive over words that do not profit the hearers—speculations, theories, and petty matters (v.14).
2. Reminder 2: study—seek to be a true teacher of God’s Word (v.15).
3. Reminder 3: shun godless chatter and discussions (v.16-18).
4. Reminder 4: the foundation of God’s house is sure (v.19-21).

1 (2:14) Words—Talk—Speculation: reminder one—do not argue and strive over words that do not profit the hearers. That is, do not argue and strive over petty matters nor over religious theories, speculations, and ideas. Time is short, and we are not able to fellowship nor to be together that much. Therefore, when we are together, we must be communicating and sharing words that profit us all. However, this is often not the case. Too often, our words are useless and unprofitable, and sometimes they are even upsetting and destructive. Picture both the unprofitable and the upsetting words that go on in the church and among believers, the arguments and strife of words that do not profit the hearers. There are...

- the words over petty matters. (Just think of some of the petty matters that go on in the church.)
- the words over buildings, traditions, and rituals.
- the words about people, the rumors, gossip, and criticism.
- the words about trivial day-to-day matters.
- the words that waste and pass the time.
- the words that focus on debating theological positions, speculation, and ideas.
- the words over pet ideas and theories.

There are essentially three kinds of unprofitable talk that go on among believers.

- ⇒ First, there is the trivial talk that passes the time away, talk that fails to build up the believer.
- ⇒ Second, there is the talk that engages in criticism and gossip, talk that tears a person down.
- ⇒ Third, there is the talk that enjoys discussing the theories and speculations of theology. William Barclay has such an excellent discussion of this fact that it merits being read by every believer, especially by the students and teachers of the gospel:

“Discussion can be stimulating and invigorating for those whose approach to the Christian faith is intellectual, for those who have a background of knowledge and of culture, for those who are characteristically students, for those who have a real knowledge of, or interest in, theology. But it sometimes happens that a simple-minded person finds himself in a group which is tossing heresies about, and propounding unanswerable questions, and it may well be that the faith of that simple person, so far from being helped, is upset...And it may well happen that clever, subtle, speculative, destructive, intellectually reckless discussion may have the effect of demolishing, and not building up, the faith of some simple person who happens to become involved in

it. As in all things, there is a time to discuss, and a time to be silent" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.197).

"Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do" (1 Tim.1:4).

"He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings" (1 Tim.6:4).

"But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes" (2 Tim.2:23).

"But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain" (Tit.3:9).

The point is this: the preacher and teacher must remind believers—do not argue and strive over words that do not profit the hearers. Do not upset or tear down people with your words.

2 (2:15) Word of God—Study: reminder two—study to be a true teacher of God's Word. By study is meant to set your heart upon—be diligent, hurry, rush, and seek the approval of God. Note that it is the approval of God that is to be the believer's concern. A believer is a fool if he does not seek the approval of God. To be disapproved is to be displeasing and unacceptable to God. How then can we secure the approval of God?

⇒ By being a workman—the idea is a diligent worker who toils and labors to the point of exhaustion.

But note: our work is pinpointed and identified. We are to study the Word of God and rightly divide it. The words "rightly divide" (orthotomounta) mean to cut straight. Believers are to cut straight to the truth; they are not to take crooked paths and side tracks to the truth. We are to study the truth and rightly divide it. Once we have studied and learned the Word of God, we are to accurately teach the Word of God. We are not to teach...

- our own ideas
- the theories of other people
- what we think
- what other men think

We are not to mishandle the Word of God: twist it to fit what we think or want it to say; over-emphasize or underemphasize its teachings; add to or take away from it. Any person who mishandles God's Word is not approved of God. This is the point of this verse: if we want God's approval—if we want to be acceptable to God—we must study, rush and seek to be a true teacher of God's Word. We must be workmen who study God's Word, workmen who study diligently: who correctly analyze and accurately divide—rightly handle and skillfully teach—the Word of Truth (Amplified New Testament). This is the believer who will not be ashamed when he faces the Lord Jesus Christ in the great day of judgment.

"These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so" (Acts 17:11).

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood" (Acts 20:28).

"And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified" (Acts 20:32).

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim.3:16).

"As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious" (1 Pt.2:2-3).

"Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind" (1 Pt.5:2).

"And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord doth man live" (Dt.8:3).

"Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food" (Job 23:12).

"How sweet are thy words unto my taste! yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth" (Ps.119:103).

"And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding" (Jer.3:15).

"Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O Lord God of hosts" (Jer.15:16).

3 (2:16-18) Talk—Speech—Rationalization—Teaching, False: reminder three—keep away from godless chatter and discussion. This is descriptive language picturing so much talk that goes on among people.

⇒ So much talk is "profane" (bebelos): common, irreverent, and godless talk.

⇒ So much talk is vain: empty and meaningless.

⇒ So much talk is babbling: nothing more than empty voices chattering away in empty and godless discussions.

The charge is direct and forceful: avoid, shun, keep away from godless and empty talk. What are some examples of talk that is godless and empty? There is such talk as...

- false teaching
- worldly philosophy
- cursing
- theological theories
- immoral suggestions
- off-colored conversations
- indecent insinuations
- criticism
- gossip
- suggestive enticements

Note that such talk is not only ungodly and empty, it leads to more and more ungodliness. Such talk actually increases ungodliness in the heart and life of a person. In fact, the picture could be no more descriptive: ungodly talk eats away at a person just like a cancerous growth.

This is often ignored and neglected by most people, for most people want to go about doing their own thing. And if we took this charge seriously, just think how it would affect the control of...

- television
- discussions
- positions (theological, social, political)
- films
- opinions
- decisions
- music
- differences
- arguments

This charge affects every form of communication and relationship imaginable. Imagine—no communication and no talk is ever to take place that is ungodly and empty. Why? Because ungodly and empty talk eats like a cancer. It leads a person into more and more ungodliness and emptiness.

“Here then is the test. If at the end of our talk and discussion, we are closer to one another and closer to God, then all is well. But if at the end of our discussion, we have erected barriers between each other and we have left God more distant and our view of Him befogged, then all is wrong. The aim of all Christian discussion and of all Christian action is to bring a man nearer to God” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.199).

Note that an example of two men who were engaged in godless talk or teaching is given: Hymenaeus and Philetus. Apparently, these two men were church members who spiritualized the coming resurrection of believers. They were probably saying one of three things: that the resurrection was a spiritual experience that took place...

- at conversion when a believer is counted by God to be raised with Christ.
- at baptism when a person is lifted up out of the water.
- at the birth of the believer’s children; that is, his life was being resurrected and living on in the lives of his children.

The point is this: all such godless talk, whether false teaching or just meaningless and empty talk, is to be shunned, and turned away from. The believer is to do what verse fifteen says: study, rush, and seek the approval of God. He is to live and move and have his being in the Word of God, concentrating and focusing upon God. God and His Word are to be the obsession of the believer—the very life and breath of the believer.

“Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?” (Job 15:3).

“In the multitude of words there wanteth not sin; but he that refraineth his lips is wise” (Pr.10:19).

“And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold” (Mt.24:12).

“They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away” (Lk.8:13).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first” (Lk.11:24-26).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love” (Rev.2:4).

4 (2:19-21) Foundation, Spiritual: reminder three—the foundation of God’s house is sure. Some may turn away from Christ; the faith of some may be overthrown and undermined by godless teaching and talk. “Nevertheless the foundation of God stands sure.” What is meant by the foundation of God? It means the household of God or the household of faith. It means the great house of believers that God is building. It is the family and church of God—the true family and true church of God. Note two facts about the great house of believers.

1. The great house of God has two inscriptions written upon it that seal and guarantee its security.

a. The first inscription is this: “The Lord knows those who are his.” There are no false professions and no hypocrites in God’s household—not in His real household. No one fools God. Within the earthly church, there are both wheat and tares, both believers and unbelievers. But when God looks upon us, He knows those who are truly His. He knows those who have really entered into His household and those who are only saying that they have entered.

The point is this: if a person is living within the household of God—remaining steadfast and loyal—he is a true believer, a true member of God’s household. And he is secure within God’s house. But if a person has forsaken the family of God, he is not of God’s household. God is not taken by surprise by any of us. God knows those who are His, and those who are His will remain faithful and loyal.

“To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out” (Jn.10:3).

“I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine” (Jn.10:14).

“But if any man love God, the same is known of him” (1 Cor.8:3).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

- b. The second inscription is this: “Let everyone that names the name of Christ depart from iniquity [unrighteousness].” The sign that a person is of the household of God is a pure and righteous life. A person who follows Christ does not live in sin. If a person lives in sin, he is not following Christ. Therefore, if we name the name of Christ, we must depart from iniquity. If we continue in sin, then we are only making a false profession. We are not of God’s household—not really. Our sinful behavior proves the fact.

The point is this: the foundation of God is sure; His household is established forever and it is built upon the principle of righteousness:

⇒ Everyone that names the name of Christ repents and departs from iniquity (unrighteousness).

This is a fact; it is an eternal principle established by God. His household is built upon righteousness. Righteousness is the inscription that is written across the face of His household. Therefore, if a person is a member of His household, they have forsaken and departed from iniquity. They do not live in sin.

Thought 1. Common sense tells us that if a person has departed from God, he is not living with God. To be apart from God is not to be with God; it is to be separated from God, out of the presence and house of God.

Common sense tells us that if a person has departed from iniquity and lives in the righteousness of God, then he belongs to the household of God. To be living like God—righteously—is to be with God, in the presence and house of God.

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles” (Job 11:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

2. God’s earthly house (the church) has a variety of vessels, both noble and base. The church has some vessels or people who are like gold and silver; that is, they honor Christ. But the church also has some vessels or people who are like wood and clay; that is, they dishonor Christ. The church has a mixture of people...

- some are good and some are bad.
- some are true and some are false.
- some are genuine and some are counterfeit.
- some are clean and some are dirty.
- some are pure and some are tarnished.
- some are clear and some are stained.
- some illuminate light and some illuminate darkness.

Note what it takes to become a noble vessel: it takes a purging. A person has to cleanse himself from...

- behavior that is dishonorable and unrighteous.
- words that are corruptible and dirty.
- talk that is unclean and contaminating.
- teaching that is false and cancerous.

A person who purges himself from these will become a vessel unto honor...

- sanctified, that is, set apart unto Christ and His service.
- fit for the Master’s use; that is, Christ will be able to use him.
- prepared to every good work; that is, Christ will be able to use him for any work.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

DIVISION I

THE STRONG CHARGES TO TIMOTHY, 1:6-2:26

F. Charge Six: Flee Youthful Lusts & Follow After the Lord, 2:22-26

(2:22-26) Introduction: this is a critical charge to young people. Any young person who fails to heed this charge is doomed to a barren and empty life and to a lost eternity.

1. Flee youthful lusts (v.22).
2. Follow after the Lord (v.22).
3. Avoid foolish discussions (v.23).
4. Do not argue or fight with others (v.24-26).

1 (2:22) Youth—Lusts: first, flee youthful lusts. The Greek word “lusts” (epithumai) means passionate desires and cravings. It can mean either good or bad desires, and its meaning is always to be determined by the context (Wuest). The point is this: passionate desire and craving is normal and natural. God made us to desire and crave. It is when we use our passions to hurt and damage that they become evil. What are the lusts of youth?

- ⇒ The desires of the eye: youth desire to have and possess. To have and possess are normal desires, but the normal desire can lead to the lust for possessions and people.
- ⇒ The desires of the flesh: youth desire the companionship of the opposite sex. Attraction is normal and leads to marriage and the carrying on of the human race. However, the normal desire can lead to illicit sex and immorality.
- ⇒ The desire for acceptance: youth want friends. They want to fit in with their peers. They want approval, and they want to be recognized. This is normal, but it can lead to compromise—the compromise of one’s values and morality and of the truth. It can also lead to rebellion against authority.
- ⇒ The desire to achieve: youth desire to be successful, to find their place in the world. However, this can lead to seeking authority and power over people and to the manipulation and using of people for one’s own ends.
- ⇒ The desire for recognition: youth desire to be the top gun, the star, the best looking, the smartest, the most popular. They constantly picture themselves as winning the game in the last second; winning the beauty pageant; winning the contest; being the one most recognized, and a host of other daydreams. This can lead to either pride and arrogance or to a sense of inferiority and low self-image. It can lead either to the hurting of the less gifted or to the downing of oneself.
- ⇒ The desire to act and to act now: youth, bursting with energy and idealism, want to see things done now. This can lead to impatience and to the mistreatment of people: bypassing and disregarding the peace and security of other people.
- ⇒ The desire to be original and creative: youth want to have the new and fresh idea, the better thought, and the better way for doing things. This can lead to a critical and argumentative spirit. It can also lead to cheating in order to be recognized. It can lead to the restating and rewording of things and ideas and claiming that they are creative ideas.

The charge to youth is direct and forceful: flee youthful lusts.

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints....For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:3, 5).

“For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. And having food and raiment let us be therewith content. But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:7-10).

“For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy” (2 Tim.3:2).

“Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:27-28).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication: that every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence [lustful passion], even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:3-5).

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

2 (2:22) Church—Believers: second, follow after the Lord. But note a significant point: join with other believers in following after Him. As a youth, you need the companionship and fellowship, the experience and maturity, the direction and guidance of others. Other believers can help you; therefore, join with them and follow after the Lord. However, make sure they are genuine believers—that they “call on the Lord out of a pure heart.” Only the pure in heart—only the genuine seeker—is really following after the Lord. It is the genuine believer with whom we are to fellowship and walk through life. Note what a genuine believer follows after: the very things for which men long and crave.

1. Righteousness (see note 2, pt.1—1 Tim.6:11 for discussion).
2. Faith: (see note 2, pt.3—1 Tim.6:11 for discussion).
3. Love: (see note, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).
4. Peace: (see note 2, pt.3—1 Tim.1:2 for discussion).

3 (2:23) Talk—Tongue: avoid foolish discussions and speculations, and avoid senseless controversy. There are two things that need to be said and heeded about this verse.

1. Far too much time is wasted on foolish discussions and speculations, especially among ministers and teachers and those who are preparing for the ministry. Too many...

- ignore the Word of God for the speculations of theology.
- neglect the study of God’s Word for a discussion of theory.
- reject God’s Word for the ideas of men.
- take the easier road of theological discussion over the more difficult road of studying God’s Word.

Too many sit around reading and discussing the speculations of theology instead of focusing upon God’s Word and the mission of reaching and growing people for Christ. Too many substitute discussion for deeds. Discussion and speculation may be stimulating and invigorating to the mind, but it does not get the job done. Just think of the time we waste in the speculations of the latest religious craze instead of ministering to the lost and needy of the world.

2. Far too much time is wasted on senseless controversy, especially among members of churches. Think of the things that church members sometimes argue and get upset over—things that matter so little. Think about this: controversy and differences in the church are seldom over the great issues and doctrines of God’s Word. They are usually over...

|----------------------------|----------------------------|------------------------------|
| • buildings and facilities | • opinions and preferences | • desires and wants |
| • position and authority | • personalities and traits | • recognition and acceptance |
| • likes and dislikes | • abilities and gifts | |

The list could go on and on, but the point is well made. Too many within the church are embroiled in senseless controversy and hurt feelings while multitudes within every community are dying from loneliness, emptiness, neglect, abuse, rejection, disease, hunger, and sin.

The charge is direct and forceful: avoid foolish discussion and speculation, and avoid senseless controversy.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do” (1 Tim.1:4).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes. And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:23-24).

“But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain. A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself” (Tit.3:9-11).

4 (2:24-26) Arguing—Quarreling—Strife: fourth, do not argue or fight with others. This charge is to “the servant of the Lord”—the person who really wishes to serve the Lord. We cannot argue and fight and at the same time serve the Lord. A person who argues and fights is not serving the Lord, no matter what he may claim. The charge is clear: “the servant of the Lord must not strive.”

1. He must be gentle (epion): kind, reasonable, considerate, soft, tender.
 - ⇒ When people oppose him, he does not react, he reaches out in gentleness.
 - ⇒ When he has to correct people and point out their weaknesses, he is not mean but gentle.

“With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:2).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

2. He must be apt to teach: prepared and ready, able and capable, skillful and qualified to teach. Remember: he cannot teach the truth unless he knows the truth; he cannot settle disputes and help those who oppose him...

- unless he knows what God says about handling problems.
- unless he walks in the Lord day by day.

“Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

3. He must be patient (see note, pt.11—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

4. He must correct others in a spirit of meekness. Within the church there are those who often oppose the minister and the ministries and actions of the church. How are opponents to be approached? Not in a spirit of reaction and meanness; not in a spirit that criticizes, reproaches, whips, and berates. We must approach opponents in a spirit of meekness (see note, pt.6—1 Tim.6:11 for discussion). There are two reasons for this.

- a. A meek approach is the only approach that can lead a person to repentance. Arguing and fighting with them will only drive them further away from us and the church. In fact, if we argue with them, we are guilty of the same wrong that they have committed, and we give them reason to cry “hypocrite.”
- b. A meek approach is the only approach that can free a person from the snare of the devil. People who are controversial and argumentative, critical and gossiping may not like to think that they are ensnared by the devil, but Scripture clearly says they are. Note the verse—argumentative and quarrelsome persons are said to be caught in the snare of the devil. Such persons are even said to be taken by the devil at the devil’s will.

What is the hope for the argumentative and criticizing person? His only hope is for the minister and believers to approach him in a spirit of meekness—to reach out to him, attempting to lead him to repentance.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:1-2).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:11-13).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“I beseech Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of the same mind in the Lord. And I intreat thee also, true yokefellow, help those women which laboured with me in the gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellowlabourers, whose names are in the book of life” (Ph.4:2-3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“I have seen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him also, and restore comforts unto him and to his mourners” (Is.57:18).

“Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God” (Jer.3:22).

“For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the LORD; because they called thee an Outcast, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after” (Jer.30:17).

“I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him” (Hos.14:4).

“He will turn again, he will have compassion upon us; he will subdue our iniquities; and thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea” (Mic.7:19).

DIVISION II

THE PREDICTIONS OF THE LAST DAYS, 3:1-17

A. The Godless Marks of the Last Days, 3:1-9

(3:1-9) Introduction: this is a picture of future society—a terrible picture of what the last days of human history will be like. But note a shocking fact: it sounds very much like the society of today. We just do not think of our day as being so terrible; we seldom sit down and study the godless marks of society. But this is exactly what this passage does: it discusses the godless marks of the last days, marks that come close to painting a picture of our day and time. This fact points to our day as being part of the last days. It is very possible that the Lord’s return is at hand. One thing is sure, we must do just what Christ said: be prepared for His return, for He can return at any moment. (Note: a person may need to split this passage because of its length. Points one and two could be the first study, and points three and four the second study.)

1. In the last days perilous times shall come (v.1).
2. Mark 1: a godless world (v.2-4).
3. Mark 2: a powerless religion (v.5).
4. Mark 3: a corrupt ministry (v.6-9).

1 (3:1) Perilous Times—End Time: in the last days perilous times shall come. Perilous times means difficult, troublesome, trying, uneasy, hard, violent, threatening, and dangerous days. The picture is that of people turning to and fro, here and there, not knowing which way to turn. “The last days” is a Biblical term that points to the end of the present age, the days right before the return of Christ, and the end of the world. It should be noted, however, that the marks of the end time are somewhat characteristic of all ages, but they are to be intensified in the last days (cp. Mt.24:1-25:46).

2 (3:2-4) Godless: the first mark of the last days will be a godless world. Why will the last days be perilous? Because the world will be godless. Note how the terrible marks of the last days sound very much like a picture of today.

1. People will be lovers of their own selves (philoutos): this does not mean the normal and natural love of life and of oneself that we should all have. It means selfishness and self-centeredness...
 - to focus upon oneself and one’s own pleasure and flesh instead of upon God and other people.
 - to put oneself before others: wife, husband, parent, child, friend, neighbor, God.
 - to put one’s own will before God’s will.
 - to seek one’s own desires without considering others.
 - to go after what one wants even if it is unwise and hurts others.
 - to feel that everyone and everything should revolve around oneself.
 - to focus upon one’s own pleasure and flesh and ignore the crying needs of the desperate and dying.

Self-love sets one up like a god and feels that nothing matters as much as the pleasure of oneself. In the last days people will love themselves more than they love anyone else. Selfishness will be one of the terrible marks of the last days.

“I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not” (Mt.25:43).

“This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves” (2 Tim.3:1-2).

“But whoso hath this world’s good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?” (1 Jn.3:17).

2. People will be covetous (philarguroi): the word means lovers of money and possessions. People will want more and more and bigger and bigger and better and better, and they will seldom be satisfied with what they have. In the last days people will focus upon...

- money, banking more and more.
- houses in the best neighborhoods, on the seashore, in the mountains, and by the rivers.
- furnishings and property.
- possessions—such as clothes, jewelry, antiques, art, and vehicles.
- travel, seeing more and more sights.
- property, stocks and bonds—owning more and more.
- power—controlling more and more.

Men will love money, what it buys and allows them to do, and they will covet more and more of it and the things it buys. Their eyes and hearts will be focused upon money instead of God. They will indulge and hoard instead of meeting the desperate needs of the poor and lost of the world.

“For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:10).

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days” (Jas.5:3).

“He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity” (Eccl.5:10).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

3. People will be boasters (alazones): braggarts, pretenders, vaunters, swaggerts. It is a person who...

- boasts in what he has.
- pretends to have what he does not have or to do what he has not done.

Bragging may involve a job, a deal, a possession, an achievement—anything that may impress others. It is a person who feels the need to push himself above others even if it involves pretension, deception, make believe, and lies.

The world is full of boasters and braggarts:

- ⇒ teachers who pretend to be wise.
- ⇒ politicians who pretend to have the utopian state.
- ⇒ business people who pretend to have the product that brings health, beauty, and happiness.
- ⇒ religionists who pretend to have the revelation and gifts and to be more spiritual than others.

“But there was a certain man, called Simon, which before time in the same city used sorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one” (Acts 8:9).

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness...backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents” (Ro.1:28-29, 30).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

“For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness [sensuality], those that were clean [barely] escaped from them who live in error” (2 Pt.2:18).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

4. People will be proud (huperephanoi): self-exaltation, conceit, arrogance; being haughty; putting oneself above others and looking down upon others; scorn, and contempt. It means to show oneself; to lift one’s head above another; to hold contempt for another; to compare oneself with others. Pride can be hidden in the heart as well as openly displayed.

Very simply stated, the proud person feels that he is better than others. Note that this is a feeling within the heart. The proud person may appear quiet and humble, but within his heart he secretly feels better than others. God resists the proud.

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined” (Ps.10:2).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“A high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is sin” (Pr.21:4).

“He that is of a proud heart stirreth up strife: but he that putteth his trust in the LORD shall be made fat” (Pr.28:25).

“For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north” (Is.14:13).

“Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.4).

5. People will be blasphemers (blasphemoi): the word means to slander, insult, rail, revile, reproach, curse. Blasphemy is usually thought to be against God, and it is. But it is also a sin against men. Men can blaspheme men. Think of the cursing and insults thrown against God and men today. Practically everyone is cursing and reviling someone: mothers, fathers, children, teachers, professionals, actors, comedians, politicians, even some professing religionists feel the need to occasionally curse in order to be acceptable.

Why is there so much cursing today? Because there is a loss of respect for both self and others, for both position and authority. People rail, revile, insult, reproach, and curse when they are disturbed within—when they sense dissatisfaction, disapproval, unacceptance, bitterness, emptiness, loneliness, and reaction within their heart. A disturbed and dissatisfied heart causes people to blaspheme God and man, including themselves (blaming and cursing themselves when they fail and come ever so short).

“But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God’s throne” (Mt.5:34).

“[Men] whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness” (Ro.3:14).

“But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God” (Jas.3:8-9).

“But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation” (Jas.5:12).

“Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain” (Ex.20:7).

“And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:12).

“[The wicked person] His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity” (Ps.10:7).

“For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips let them even be taken in their pride: and for cursing and lying which they speak” (Ps.59:12).

“As he loved cursing, so let it come unto him: as he delighted not in blessing, so let it be far from him” (Ps.109:17).

“For oftentimes also thine own heart knoweth that thou thyself likewise hast cursed others” (Eccl.7:22).

6. People will be disobedient to parents (goneusin apeitheis): refusing to do what one’s parents say; rebelling against one’s parents; showing disrespect to parents; rejecting parental instruction; dishonoring parental example. If a child will not honor and respect his mother and father, who will he respect? If a child will mistreat his parents—those who are the closest to him—who else will he mistreat? If a child will not obey his parents, those who love and care for him most, who then will be obey? Parents are the ones who gave birth, loved and cared for the children of the world. If the children are not loyal to them, then the children will not be loyal to anyone. The home, society, and civilization will crumble.

“Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee” (Ex.20:12).

“Ye shall fear every man his mother, and his father, and keep my sabbaths: I am the LORD your God” (Lev.19:3).

“Cursed be he that setteth light by his father or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen” (Dt.27:16).

“Come, ye children, hearken unto me: I will teach you the fear of the LORD” (Ps.34:11).

“Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old” (Pr.23:22).

“The eye that mocketh at his father, and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it” (Pr.30:17).

“For God commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and, He that curseth father or mother, let him die the death” (Mt.15:4).

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. Honour thy father and mother; (which is the first commandment with promise;) that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth” (Eph.6:1-3).

“But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite [repay, take care of] their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God” (1 Tim.5:4).

7. People will be unthankful (acharistoi): no sense of gratitude or appreciation for what one has and receives; no giving of thanks to God or man. Many persons feel that the world and society or business and government owe them the good things of life. They have little if any sense of debt to others. This is the reason many waste time on the job, do mediocre work, and feel little obligation to the world and society. They fail to see how privileged they are to be alive and to live in such a beautiful world and to have a job and friends and neighbors. They fail to see how good God has been to them, and how caring and responsible some people are. Therefore, they reach out to get more and more without sensing any need to express thanks and appreciation. They take and take and forget all about the thanksgiving—the debt and contribution—they owe to God and men.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened” (Ro.1:21).

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet [fit] to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

“In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you” (1 Th.5:18).

“When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the LORD thy God for the good land which he hath given thee” (Dt.8:10).

“Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name” (Ps.100:4).

“And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing” (Ps.107:22).

8. People will be unholy (anosioi): profane, indecent, shameless, given over to the most base passions, being blind to modesty, decency, purity, and righteousness. The unholy person...

- is mastered by passion.
- seeks constant gratification of the flesh.
- senses little shame.
- is blind to decency.
- seeks his pleasure in the abnormal. (Just think of the abnormal sex that is flaunted today.)

Thought 1. Oliver Greene has a very practical and straightforward comment on unholiness:

“This is an unholy age. People have lost respect for their bodies. Women (even church members, professing Christians) dress indecently and expose their nakedness. Men do the same. Men and women tear down the temple of the Holy Spirit.

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are Gods’ (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“A person who tears down and destroys his body through drink, tobacco, foods, and habits is unholy in his living.

“This is an age when people have lost respect and reverence for a holy God, the holy Bible, and holy living. If you are ‘a good mixer,’ if you can play cards, dance, drink, dress indecently, laugh at a filthy joke, you are a wonderful fellow, a number one citizen; and you can teach a Sunday school class, pray in public, sing in the choir, and hold any number of responsible positions in the church. But the church member who refuses to drink cocktails, use tobacco, attend dances and parties, and who believes in old-time Christianity is called a fanatic or a ‘religious square’ “ (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.335).

“That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear” (Lk.1:74).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

“For I am the LORD that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy” (Lev.11:45).

9. People will be without natural affection (astorgoi): abnormal affection and love; heartless, without human emotion or love; a lack of feeling for others; abuse of normal affection and love. Others become little more than pawns for a man’s own use and benefit, pleasure and purposes, excitement and stimulation.

Man has been created to be affectionate—to have affection for others. It is normal and natural for a person to have affection for his family, friends, neighbors, co-workers, and to a certain extent for the stranger and fellow-citizens of the world. But in the end time, people will be so set on satisfying their flesh and pleasure that they will forget family, friends, and everything else. They will be so set on doing their own thing and so self-centered that they will have little affection for anyone or anything else.

- ⇒ There will be little affection for the normal and natural. People will turn to the abnormal and unnatural in relationships and behavior, pleasures and sex.
- ⇒ There will be little affection for the home. Home will be nothing more than a place to change clothes and sleep.
- ⇒ There will be little affection between husband and wife. A spouse will be little more than a person to help pay the bills and to keep up a front for social acceptance. Men and women will become unfaithful and perverted.
- ⇒ There will be little affection for friends, country, and earth. All will be abused and ignored, neglected and polluted. Selfishness will be the law of the last days.
- ⇒ There will be little affection for God and the church. God and church will be fitted in when they do not interfere with personal desires and pleasures, rest and recreation.

“And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:30-31).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:9-10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord” (Eph.5:22).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. Honour thy father and mother; (which is the first commandment with promise;) that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth” (Eph.6:1-3).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

10. People will be trucebreakers (aspondoi): breakers of promises and agreements; untrustworthy, faithless, treacherous, and untruthful. A trucebreaker is a man or some organization or body of people who tragically do not keep their word or promise. They are simply untrustworthy and undependable. What happens when a person's word can no longer be accepted?

- ⇒ What happens in a home when the husband or wife breaks the truce of marriage?
- ⇒ What happens between parent and child when one of them breaks their promise time and again?
- ⇒ What happens when an employer breaks his promise to his workers?
- ⇒ What happens when a worker breaks his truce and slacks up in his work?
- ⇒ What happens when a nation breaks its agreement with another nation?

The last days will see what we are seeing in our society today: a barrage of broken truces, covenants, and promises.

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment” (Pr.12:19).

“The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof; because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant” (Is.24:5).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

11. People will be false accusers (diaboloï): slanderers. Note that the Greek word is diabolos, the very word for the devil. William Barclay says:

“The devil is the patron saint of all slanderers, and of all slanderers he is chief. There is a sense in which slander is the most cruel of all sins. If a man's goods are stolen, he can set to and build up his fortunes again; but if a man's good name is taken away, irreparable damage has been done to him. It is one thing to start an evil and untrue report on its malicious way; it is entirely another thing to stop it... Many a man, and many a woman, who would never dream of putting his or her hand in other peoples' pockets and stealing their money or their belongings, thinks nothing—even finds a pleasure—in passing on a story which ruins someone else's good name, without even trying to find out whether or not the story is true. There is slander enough in every village, and not infrequently in many a Church, to make the recording angel weep as he records these cruel words” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.217).

12. People will be incontinent (akrateis): undisciplined and uncontrolled; having no self-control or no power to discipline. It is being given over...

- to pleasure and indulgence
- to passion and sexual craving
- to lust and lewdness

It is a person who cannot control his passion for food, sex, pornography, sensuality, drink, drugs, smoking, whatever. It is a passion that grips and enslaves a person until it becomes an unbreakable habit and bondage.

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any” (1 Cor.6:12).

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city” (Pr.16:32).

“He that loveth pleasure shall be poor man: he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich” (Pr.21:17).

“When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee: and put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite” (Pr.23:1-2).

“Hast thou found honey? Eat so much as is sufficient for thee, lest thou be filled therewith, and vomit it” (Pr.25:16).

13. People will be fierce (anemeroi): savage and untamed. It is the word that describes the savage beast of the wild that is unrestrained in its fierceness. It is a word that should never be true of people, yet tragically it is. Never in the history of the world have men become as fierce and savage as they are today.

- People no longer just murder...
 - they mutilate
 - they torture
 - they kill at random
 - they kill by twos and threes and by thousands and millions (for example, Hitler, Stalin)

And they take pleasure in their torture and savagery.

- People no longer just correct and rebuke children, spouse, friend, neighbor, employee, or stranger...
 - they curse
 - they abuse
 - they attack
 - they damage
 - they act violently

The last days will see an increase in fierce and savage behavior.

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

14. People will be despisers of those who are good (aphilagathoi): this refers to people despising both good people and good things. In the last days people will be embarrassed...

- to speak up for what is right.
- to take a stand for what is good.
- to be known as a good person.
- to be a friend to good people.

People will want to fulfill their desires and to satisfy their flesh; they will want to party, indulge, look, feel, taste, experience, possess, take, and fit in and be acceptable with the crowd. They will let morality and justice go and reject whatever restrain they feel. They will actually despise righteousness and want nothing to do with anyone who speaks up for what is right.

Think how far a person and a society have fallen when they...

- are embarrassed to say “no” to what they know is wrong and not good for them (cp. drinking, smoking, cursing, immorality).
- are embarrassed to stand up for what is good.
- are embarrassed to speak up for what is right.
- are embarrassed to be a friend to a good person.

“Beware therefore, lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the prophets; behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and perish: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it unto you” (Acts 13:40-41).

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

“But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government [discipline, authority]. Presumptuous are they, selfwilled, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities [leaders]” (2 Pt.2:10).

15. People will be traitors (prodotai): betraying a trust refers to a person who...

- betrays his country
- betrays his team
- betrays his friends
- betrays his family

It refers to a person who betrays any trust or any commitment. The most tragic betrayal of all is the person who betrays Christ and the church—who turns his back upon Christ and returns to the world and its crowd. The last days will see an increase in traitors.

“And forthwith he [Judas] came to Jesus, and said, Hail, master; and kissed him” (Mt.26:49).

“Now the brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the son; and children shall rise up against their parents, and shall cause them to be put to death” (Mk.13:12).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning” (2 Pt.2:20).

“Ye therefore beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us” (1 Jn.2:19).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent” (Rev.2:4-5).

16. People will be heady (propeteis): headstrong and reckless, rash and hasty—all without giving thought to the consequences. Reckless is probably the best description. A heady person is a person who thinks he knows best and can live and act recklessly, without paying any attention to the consequences. The reckless person thinks little about what he is doing; he just enjoys the feeling and pleasure. He enjoys the stimulation and excitement; the consequences matter little in the midst of the pleasure and excitement.

Think how much hurt and damage is done when a person lives for the pleasure of the moment. Think of the hurt and damage done because of the pleasure of...

- reckless driving and boating
- reckless work and recreation
- reckless passion and lust
- reckless eating and drinking

Being heady—thinking that one knows best and can live and act recklessly without consequence—has led to more hurt, accidents, damaged bodies, and death than could ever be imagined.

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry” (Lk.12:19).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (Jas.4:12).

“Also, that the soul be without knowledge, it is not good; and he that hasteth with his feet sinneth” (Pr.19:2).

“The thoughts of the diligent tend only to plenteousness; but of every one that is hasty only to want” (Pr.21:5).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“Seest thou a man that is hasty in his words? There is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.29:20).

“Be not rash with thy mouth, and let not thine heart be hasty to utter any thing before God: for God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few” (Eccl.5:2).

17. People will be highminded (tetuphomenoi): puffed up and conceited; having feelings of self-importance. It is a person who feels so educated, so scientific, so advanced, so high in position and authority, ability, and gifts that he feels completely self-sufficient. He feels no need for God. He is above God and above most people.

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined” (Ps.10:2).

“Therefore pride compasseth them about as a chain; violence covereth them as a garment” (Ps.73:6).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the Lord, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“A high look, and a proud heart, and the ploughing of the wicked, is sin” (Pr.21:4).

“Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? there is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.26:12).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

18. People will be lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God.

Matthew Henry says, “When there are more [pleasure seekers] than true Christians, then the times are bad indeed. God is to be loved above all. That is a carnal mind, and is full of enmity against him, which prefers any thing before him, especially such a sordid thing as carnal pleasure” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.844).

Oliver Green says, “The average church member today does not allow the church service to come between him and his pleasure. Prayer meeting, revival or church duties no longer interfere with social activities. Almost any minister in this country would agree with this, for it is the simple truth that the average church member does not let church interfere with his social life nor with anything he or she wants to do in the line of pleasure” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.339f).

3 (3:5) Religion—Godliness—Last Days: the second mark of the last days will be a powerless religion. Note: there will be religion in the last days. It will be just like today, churches and temples and worship centers will be everywhere. People will claim and profess godliness, but their worship will be only a form, only an outward profession, only an appearance of godliness. They will not possess God; they will not have God in their hearts and lives. They will...

- profess God and Christ
- be baptized in the Christian faith
- attend worship services
- participate in the rituals and ceremonies
- recite the creeds
- sometimes talk about God

But they will deny the power of God. What is the power of God? It is the power to deliver men from the bondage of sin, death, and hell—all through the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the power of the cross and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ—the power to save people from perishing and to give them eternal life. This is exactly what Scripture says.

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up [upon the cross]: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:14-16).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him. For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:8-10).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect. For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor.1:17-18).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

The point is this: in the last days there will be a powerless religion—a religion of form, ritual, and ceremony. The religionists will deny the power of the cross and resurrection of Jesus Christ. They will deny that Jesus Christ can save men from perishing and give them eternal life. In describing the religion of the last days, Donald Guthrie says:

“Religion is not entirely denied, but it amounts to no more than an empty shell. There is an outward form...but no power....Its adherents [ministers and followers] are denying the power thereof which suggests a positive [deliberate] rejection of its...power. They have no conception of its generating force” (The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentary,” p.158).

The Pulpit Commentary says:

“The meaning is that by their life and character and conversation they gave the lie to the Christian profession. Christianity with them was an outward form, not an inward living power of godliness” (The Pulpit Commentary, Vol.21, p.41).

Matthew Henry says:

“They will assume the form of godliness...but they will not submit to the power of it, to take away their sin. Observe here:

“Men may be very bad and wicked...they may be lovers of themselves...yet have a form of godliness. A form of godliness is a very different thing from the power of it; men may have the one and be wholly destitute of the other....

“From such good Christians must withdraw themselves” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.844).

William Barclay says:

“The final condemnation of these people is that they retain the outward form of religion, but they deny its power. That is to say, they recite the orthodox creeds, they go through the movements of a correct and dignified ritual and liturgy and worship; they maintain all the external forms of religion; but they know nothing of religion as a dynamic power which changes the lives of men” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.219).

4 (3:6-9) Ministers—Last Days: the third mark of the last days will be a corrupt ministry. Three things are said about corrupt ministers.

1. Corrupt ministers lead gullible followers astray. Note the phrase “silly women” (gunaikaria). The Greek word means little women, little in the sense of being spiritually dead, weak, immature, and unstable. However, it should always be remembered that men are just as gullible as women, just as spiritually dead, weak, immature, and unstable. The present passage zeros in on women because of the local situation in Ephesus; some of the women in the Ephesian church were following the corrupt ministers. But the warning is applicable to us all: both men and women must guard against corrupt ministers.

Note what the corrupt minister does. He seeks after people...

- who are laden or burdened down with sins and guilt.
- who are easily swayed and led away by all kinds of desires and lusts.
- who are seeking after truth—who are listening and learning all they can from anybody who claims to have the truth.

This is the person the false minister goes after and eventually captivates. When a person begins to seek the truth because he senses a need in his life, senses that he has been living only for his own selfish desires and lusts—that person is wide open for a corrupt minister to step in and lead him astray. Unfortunately, this is exactly what happens ever too often. And note the great tragedy: the person never comes to the knowledge of the truth. Why? Because they never seek the truth in Christ. They only seek a “form of godliness,” not true godliness. True godliness is found in Christ alone and nowhere else.

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

Note another point that needs to be given close attention: who the corrupt or false minister is. He is “of this sort”—one of those who has “a form of godliness, but denies the power thereof.” He has the form and appearance of godliness: he...

- is a minister and fills the position of a minister.
- professes God and Christ.
- practices the rituals and ceremonies of religion.
- talks about and uses religious terms, perhaps even the terms of the Bible.

But he denies the power of godliness by his life and preaching. He does not live in nor preach the power of the cross and resurrection of Jesus Christ. If he does not vocally deny the power, he denies it by what he preaches and teaches: a religion of works and self-effort and of new light—a religion for a new age of men, men who are enormously advanced in science and technology and in the understanding of man—a religion that can reach such levels of growth that God will accept him. In the simplest of terms...

- a corrupt minister is a minister who preaches and teaches that man can be good enough and do enough good to make himself acceptable to God; that man can secure the approval of God by doing certain works and keeping certain rules (laws); that man can reach such a level of growth that God will accept him.
- a corrupt minister is a minister who denies the power of godliness, that is, the power of the cross and resurrection of Jesus Christ to save men and to give them eternal life.

Every generation has felt that it was a new age—that it saw more light and truth and was more enlightened than the former generation. In the area of science and technology this is true, BUT IT IS NOT TRUE IN HUMAN LIFE AND BEHAVIOR .

How can we say this? Because man has not been changed. Man is still corruptible, aging, deteriorating, dying, and decaying. And he will continue to be a corruptible creature until his heart and soul are changed and made anew. This is where God's Son comes in, only Christ can change the human heart and soul; only He can make a person into a new creature.

The truth of human behavior (sin and death) and of its deliverance from evil and death through Christ has been revealed. This truth never changes. Advancements in science and technology, psychology and medicine cannot stop the process of sin and death. Only Christ—the power of His cross and resurrection—can change man and give him eternal life. Any minister who preaches any other message is a corrupt minister. He is a minister who is preaching and teaching a corrupt and false message.

2. Corrupt ministers resist the truth. Why? Because their minds are corrupted, that is, their understanding of the gospel is twisted, distorted, and depraved. They do not follow the glorious news and power of the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Note the reference to Jannes and Jambres, two religious leaders in Egypt who opposed Moses when he went to Pharaoh to deliver Israel out of slavery. They stood toe to toe with Moses and resisted the truth, but in the end they were destroyed (cp. Ex.7:1; 8:7; 9:11. The two men are not named in the Old Testament, but they are mentioned in other Jewish religious writings. Their names were apparently well known to all Jews.)

Thought 1. William Barclay clearly describes the resistance to the truth of the gospel:

“The Christian leader will never lack his opponents. There will always be those who prefer their ideas to God's ideas. There will always be those who wish to exercise power and influence over people and who will stoop to any means to do so. There will always be those who have their own twisted ideas of the Christian faith, and who wish to win others to their mistaken belief. But of one thing Paul was sure—the days of the deceivers were numbered. Their falsity would be demonstrated; and they would receive their own appropriate place and reward” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.223).

3. Corrupt ministers and their corrupt religion will be exposed. In the end all false teachers and their teaching will be tracked down and exposed. God will catch and expose every corrupt minister. It will happen when the Lord Jesus Christ returns. Corrupt ministers and their corrupt teaching will proceed no further.

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:7-10).

DIVISION II

THE PREDICTIONS OF THE LAST DAYS, 3:1-17

B. The Contrasting Marks of Godly Believers, 3:10-13

(3:10-13) Introduction: this passage is a contrast with the former passage which dealt with the godless marks of the last days. Here we have the contrasting marks of godly believers.

1. Mark 1: following a godly example (v.10).
2. Mark 2: enduring persecution (v.11-12).
3. Mark 3: guarding against evil men (v.13).

1 (3:10) Testimony—Godliness: a godly person follows a godly example. This is a sharp contrast from the godless marks of false teachers (v.1-9). Timothy had known (parakoloutheo) and had closely observed and followed the godly example of Paul. Kenneth Wuest points out that the Greek word means to follow a person so closely that one is always by the person's side, conforming his life to the person (The Pastoral Epistles, p.148). It means to join oneself to the person, to become his disciple and to follow his example. Paul had lived a godly life, and Timothy had followed in his footsteps. Paul mentions seven things about his life that stand out as a dynamic example, eight things that a person must focus upon and follow if he wishes to live a godly life.

1. There is doctrine or teaching. What was the source of Paul's doctrines? What was it that Paul had taught? The Scriptures, the very Word of Christ and of God. Paul declared this time and again.

“Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God, (which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures,) concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:1-4).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine” (Tit.2:1).

The point is this: the godly person must follow the doctrines of godly teachers. He must have nothing to do with the teaching of false teachers (v.1-9).

⇒ A person cannot live godly unless he knows godliness.

⇒ A person cannot teach godliness unless he follows after godliness.

A godly person closely observes and follows after those who live godly lives. He is a disciple of godly examples. He follows the godly teaching of godly people.

2. There is godly behavior and conduct. Paul practiced what he preached. He lived what he taught. He professed to be a follower of Christ; therefore, he followed Christ.

⇒ He did not live in sin; he lived in righteousness.

⇒ He did not profess one thing and do another.

Timothy was to do the same, and so are all other believers. A godly person is to behave himself—to conduct his life like he should. He is to live what he professes. He is not to pull down what he teaches by what he does. The believer is to teach godliness, but first he is to live godly.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Wherefore I beseech you, be ye followers of me” (1 Cor.4:16).

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an example” (Ph.3:17).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:7).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

3. There is purpose or what Donald Guthrie calls a person’s “chief aim in life” (The Pastoral Epistles.”Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.160). The chief aim of believers is to be one thing and one thing only: Christ and His great mission—the mission of saving people from sin, death, and judgment, and of ministering to people. Eternal life—the glorious privilege of never dying and of living forever—is now possible. Christ made it possible. That was His every purpose for coming to earth—to die for man and to set man free from the terrible sufferings and evils of this corruptible world. Just imagine! Every person on the face of the earth can now be delivered from suffering and evil and live forever. But they have to know how. This was the mission of Christ: to tell them how. And it is to be the mission of the believer: to tell people how to conquer evil and to live forever. The believer’s very purpose for living—his chief aim in life—is to proclaim the glorious news of salvation: there is deliverance from death and evil; man can now live and live forever.

Thought 1. William Barclay has some very practical questions to ask:

“As individuals, we should sometimes pause and ask ourselves: what is our aim in life? Have we got one at all? As teachers we should sometimes ask ourselves: what am I trying to do with these people whom I teach? Once Agesilaus, the Sparta king, was asked, ‘What shall we teach our boys?’ His answer was: ‘That which will be most useful to them when they are men.’ Is it knowledge, or is it life, that we are trying to transmit? As members of the Church, we should sometimes ask ourselves: what are we trying to do in the Church? It is not enough to be satisfied when a Church is humming like a dynamo, and when every night in the week has its own crowded organisation. Sometimes we should be asking: what, if anything, is the unifying purpose which binds all this activity together?” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.225f).

As Christian believers, the unifying purpose of our lives is set: it is Christ and His great mission of life, life now and life eternal (Jn.10:10; Jn.3:16).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

4. There is faith (see note 2, pt.3—1 Tim.6:11 for discussion).

5. There is longsuffering (makrothumiai) which means patience, bearing and suffering a long time, perseverance, being constant, steadfast, and enduring. Long-suffering never gives in; it is never broken no matter what attacks it.

⇒ Pressure and hard work may fall upon us, but the Spirit of God helps us suffer long under it all.

⇒ Disease or accident or old age may afflict us, but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it.

⇒ Discouragement and disappointment may attack us, but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it.

⇒ Men may do us wrong, abuse, slander, and injure us; but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it all.

Two significant things need to be noted about longsuffering. Longsuffering never strikes back. Common sense tells us that a person who is attacked by others could strike back and retaliate. But the Christian believer is given the power of longsuffering—the power to suffer the situation or person for a long, long time.

The point is this: a godly person closely observes and follows after those who are longsuffering. A godly person is a disciple; he follows after those who know how to plow through the trials and problems of life. He learns from the longsuffering of others.

6. There is love (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Love—1 Th.3:12 for discussion).

7. There is patience (hupomone). Patience means endurance, fortitude, steadfastness, constancy, perseverance. The word is not passive; it is active. It is not the spirit that just sits back and puts up with the trials of life, taking whatever may come. Rather it is the spirit that stands up and faces life’s trials, that actively goes about conquering and overcoming them. When trials confront a man who is truly justified, he is stirred to arise and face the trials head on. He immediately sets out to conquer and overcome them. He knows that God is allowing the trials in order to teach him more and more patience (endurance).

The godly person follows the example of those who are actively patient, who endure by walking through the trials of life, conquering all for Christ.

- ⇒ He learns to be patient with people no matter what they do.
- ⇒ He learns to be patient in trials no matter how severe they are.

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:2-4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

2 (3:11-12) Persecution: a godly person endures persecution. Note two points.

1. Paul suffered severe persecution and affliction. He mentions three experiences that Timothy knew about.
 - ⇒ In Antioch the civil leaders of the city had risen up against Paul and expelled him from their city (Acts 13:50).
 - ⇒ In Iconium a large mob with the city officials set out to arrest and to stone Paul. He had to flee for his life (Acts 14:4-6).
 - ⇒ In Lystra a rioting mob stoned Paul and dragged his limp body out of the city thinking that he was dead. Apparently God worked a miracle and raised him up (Acts 14:19-20).

Paul was constantly persecuted, attacked time and again. But the Lord delivered him. Paul never failed to witness for Christ; therefore, Christ never failed to deliver Paul. But note: deliverance does not mean deliverance from persecution, but deliverance through persecution. God strengthens and carries the believer through persecution, not out of persecution. This is what Paul is declaring.

2. The believer will suffer persecution; he cannot escape it, not if he is a genuine believer. (See notes—2 Tim.1:8; 1:8-10 for more discussion.) Believers suffer persecution because they are not like the world; they do not live like the world lives. Therefore, the world persecutes them. Scripture gives four specific reasons why believers shall suffer persecution.

- a. Believers shall suffer persecution because they are not of this world. They are called out of the world. They are in the world, but they are not of the world. They are separated from the behavior of the world. Therefore, the world reacts against them by ridicule and mockery, by verbal and physical abuse, and by discrimination.

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

- b. They shall suffer persecution because believers strip away the world’s cloak of sin. They live and demonstrate a life of righteousness and they do not compromise with the world and its sinful behavior. They live pure and godly lives, having nothing to do with the sinful pleasures of a corruptible world. Such living exposes the sins of people, and this exposure stirs them to react against believers.

“If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you....If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but now they have no cloke for their sin” (Jn.15:18, 22).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

- c. They shall suffer persecution because the world does not know God nor Christ. The ungodly of the world want no God other than themselves and their own imaginations. They want to do just what they want—to fulfill their own desires, not what God wishes and demands. However, the godly believer dedicates his life to God, to His worship and service. The ungodly wants no part of God; therefore, they oppose those who talk about God and man’s duty to honor and worship God.

“But all these things will they do unto you for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me” (Jn.15:21).

“And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me” (Jn.16:3).

- d. They shall suffer persecution because the world is deceived in its concept and belief of God. The world conceives God to be the One who fulfills their earthly desires and lusts (Jn.16:2-3). Man’s idea of God is that of a Supreme Grandfather. They think that God protects, provides, and gives no matter what a person’s behavior is, just so the behavior is not too far out. They think God will accept them and work all things out in the final analysis. However, the true believer teaches against this. God is love, but He is also just and demands righteousness. The world rebels against this concept of God.

“They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me” (Jn.16:2-3).

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended. They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto you at the beginning, because I was with you” (Jn.16:1-4).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto” (1 Th.3:3).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you” (1 Jn.3:13).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:12-14).

3 (3:13) Unbelievers—Ungodly, The—Deceivers—Hypocrites—Imposters: a godly person guards against evil men and seducers.

⇒ Evil men refers to those who actively oppose righteousness and morality; those who live immoral and ungodly lives—who curse, lie, steal, cheat, injure, and live in carnal pleasures and immorality.

⇒ Seducers refers to imposters and deceivers; those who live hypocritical lives—who call themselves Christians and join the church for what they can get out of it. They join the church seeking acceptability, a good image, friends, fellowship, popularity, business clientele, self-image, a following, and a host of other benefits.

The point is that both evil men and imposters will grow worse and worse. Men will become more and more evil, more and more...

- | | | |
|-----------------------|---------------------|---------------|
| • ungodly | • immoral | • selfish |
| • lawless | • unclean | • foul-minded |
| • pleasure-minded | • addicted to drugs | • murderous |
| • recreational-minded | • party-minded | • violent |

Men will also become more and more of an imposter religiously. They will be religious, professing belief in God, but they will deny the power of godliness. (See note—2 Tim.3:5 for more discussion.) Note: they will deceive themselves and deceive others. They will think that they are acceptable to God, and others will even think they are acceptable to God. But both they and their friends are deceived; they are not acceptable to God.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

The only way to be acceptable to God is by believing on the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Believing means to follow Christ—to live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world and to love others even as Christ loved them—to love them to such a point that we give all that we are and have to minister to their desperate needs. But note the point: men will become more and more religious, but as seducers or as imposters—as men who use religion for their own selfish purposes and for a livelihood and profession.

“For false Christs and false prophets shall rise, and shall show signs and wonders, to seduce, if it were possible, even the elect” (Mk.13:22).

“Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them” (Acts 20:30).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them” (Ro.16:17-18).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils” (1 Tim.4:1).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“These things have I written unto you concerning them that seduce you” (1 Jn.2:26).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

THE PREDICTIONS OF THE LAST DAYS, 3:1-17

C. The Godly Mark of Living in the Scripture, 3:14-17

(3:14-17) Introduction: Christians have always stressed the importance of the Bible or of the Scripture. Why? What is the importance and value of Scripture? This passage explains, declaring in no uncertain terms: the godly mark of a believer is that he lives in the Scripture.

1. A believer must live in the Scripture (v.14).
2. Scripture makes a person wise unto salvation (v.15).
3. Scripture is inspired by God (v.16).
4. Scripture is profitable to man (v.16).
5. Scripture perfects a man and equips him for every good work (v.17).

1 (3:14) Scripture—Study—Teachers, Godly: believers are to live in the Scriptures. Timothy had been taught the Scriptures all of his life. When he was only a child, his mother Eunice and his grandmother Lois had rooted him in the Scriptures (2 Tim.1:5; 3:15). They were both strong believers in the Lord. Paul had also grounded Timothy in the Scriptures. But note a most critical point:

- ⇒ it is not enough to have learned the Scripture.
- ⇒ it is not enough to be assured that the teachings of Scripture are true.
- ⇒ it is not enough to know that your teachers teach the truth.

Timothy knew all this. He had learned the Scriptures and he had found the Scriptures to be true. The claims and promises of Scripture had worked in his own life. Timothy also knew his teachers; their lives bore testimony to the truth of Scripture. But this was not enough.

Note the word “continue” (mene). It means to abide, dwell, remain, and stay in the Scripture. Simply stated, Timothy had to live in the Scripture—live, move, and have his being in the Scripture. And more, he had to live out the Scripture—continue to walk and live in the truths of the Scripture. He had to do what Scripture said.

Thought 1. Note four significant points in this verse.

- 1) A person is to learn the Scripture.
- 2) A person is to be assured of the Scriptures, apply them to his life, and experience the truth and assurance of them.
- 3) A person is to know his teachers—make sure that they teach the truth of the Scripture.
- 4) A person is to continue in the Scripture: abide and dwell, remain and stay in the Scripture. He is to live and move and have his being in Scripture.

2 (3:15) Scripture: Scripture makes a person wise unto salvation. If man needs anything, he needs wisdom, wisdom about how to be saved. Death and every other evil imaginable rushes about and floods the world of man. The strongest among men are swept about and drowned by...

There is no end to the evil that is drowning man and his world. What man and his world need is wisdom, the wisdom to save himself and his world. Is such a wisdom available? This is the glorious message of this verse, “Yes!” The Holy Scriptures are able to make man wise unto salvation. The Holy Scriptures can save man and his world. How? “Through faith which is in Christ Jesus.” It is the Holy Scriptures that tell us about God’s great plan of salvation for man, about how God saves man through faith in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the Holy Scriptures alone and no other book...

- that tells us that God loves the world—that He loves the world so much that He sent His only begotten Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, into the world to reveal and tell us the truth.
- that tells us that Jesus Christ has taken care of the problem of righteousness and perfection—that He lived a perfect life and secured the ideal and perfect righteousness for man—that when a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man’s faith and counts it as righteousness.
- that tells us that Jesus Christ has taken care of the problem of sin and death—that He took all the sins of men upon Himself and bore the penalty and punishment of those sins—that He died for man—that when a person believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that person’s faith and counts it as the death of Christ—that God counts the person as having died in Christ and thereby he never has to die.
- that tells us that Jesus Christ has taken care of the problem of living forever—that He has been raised from the dead to live eternally in the presence of God the Father—that when a person believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that person’s faith and counts it as the resurrection of Jesus Christ—that the person is counted as having been raised in Christ and is thereby given eternal life.

The point is this: the Holy Scripture tells us how we can be saved through God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. No other book reveals this to man. The only wisdom that can ever save this world is the wisdom of God Himself, and that wisdom is found in His Holy Scriptures, the Holy Bible.

“Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you” (Jn.15:3).

“Sanctify them [set them apart to God] through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come” (1 Cor.10:11).

“We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts” (2 Pt.1:19).

“These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God” (1 Jn.5:13).

“Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word” (Ps.119:9).

“Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path” (Ps.119:105).

“The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple” (Ps.119:130).

3 (3:16) Scripture: Scripture is inspired by God. This is an extremely important verse in understanding the nature of Scripture, that is, in understanding just what the Scripture is, its nature and authority. Note several facts.

1. Paul was, of course, referring to the Old Testament Scriptures; the New Testament Scriptures had not yet been completed. However, this passage is certainly applicable to the New Testament.

William Barclay says: “If what Paul claims for Scripture is true of the Old Testament, how much truer it is of the still more precious words of the New Testament” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.229).

A. T. Robertson, the great Greek scholar, says: “There is no doubt that the apostles claimed to speak by the help of the Holy Spirit (1 Th.5:27; Col.4:16) just as the prophets of old did (1 Pt.1:20f.)....Peter thus puts Paul’s epistles on the same plane with the O.T.” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.6, p.179).

The point is this: all Scripture—both the Old and New Testament—is inspired by God.

2. Scripture is inspired by God; the phrase “inspired of God” (theopneustos) means God-breathed. What does this mean? What does it mean to say that God breathed the Holy Scriptures? No one can say for sure, but this much can be said.

⇒ The idea is that God breathed out the Scripture or God produced the Scripture somewhat like He did creation.

“By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth” (Ps.33:6).

Note: it is the Scripture that is inspired, not the man. The Bible does not claim to be written by inspired men. It does claim that the writing is supernaturally given or breathed by God. The Scripture is breathed out by God, not breathed into by God. The meaning is this: the writing is supernaturally given or breathed by God. The Bible claims to be the Word given by the creative breath of God.

The great Greek scholar A. T. Robertson again says: “God-breathed...[this] is in contrast to the commandments of men” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.179).

The great Bible expositor Matthew Henry says: “It [Scripture] is a divine revelation, which we may depend upon as infallibly true. The same Spirit that breathed reason into us breathes revelation among us: For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man, but holy men spoke as they were moved or carried forth by the Holy Ghost, 2 Pt.1:21. The prophets and apostles did not speak from themselves, but what they received of the Lord that they delivered unto us” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.846f).

The excellent preacher Oliver Greene says: “God Almighty is sovereign; and if we are saved through the power of the Gospel; if the Gospel makes us wise unto salvation; if it is not God’s will that any man perish but that all come to repentance, we can rest assured that He has preserved and protected His holy Scriptures down through the centuries!...Anything we need to know about our relationship to God and His relationship to us is found in the Bible. We need no added books, and we cannot afford to take any away. If we add to or take from His Word, God will take away our part out of the book of life. All Scripture is given by inspiration of God. 'Given by inspiration of God,' according to the Greek dictionary, is one Greek word, meaning 'God-breathed'" (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.355).

3. The accuracy and dependability of Scripture is clearly seen when one studies what Scripture has to say about itself. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Th.2:13; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—2 Pt.1:19-21.)

- a. The Holy Spirit is the author of the Scriptures (2 Pt.1:19-21, esp.21). The word of prophecy is more accurately translated prophetic word. The origin of Scripture is not found in the will of man, that is, in his attempt to find truth and to interpret truth. But it is found in the Word of the Holy Spirit who reveals truth to man (cp. Jn.16:12-15; 1 Cor.2:9-10).
- b. The writers of the Old Testament claim that the Bible is the Word of God (2 Sam.23:1-3; Is.8:1, 11; Jer.1:9; 5:14; 7:27; 13:12; Ezk.3:4-11; Mic.3:8; Jer.23:29; Hab.2:2; Zech.4:8). They refer to Scripture as "the Word," "the Statutes," "the Law," and "the Testimonies" (cp. Ps.19:1f; 119:1f). "Thus saith the Lord" or an equivalent phrase is used over two thousand times in the Old Testament alone.

The writers of the New Testament confirm the claims of the Old Testament writers (Heb.1:1; cp. Mt.1:22; 2:15; Acts 1:16; 28:25; Eph.4:8; 1 Tim.1:18-20). They show the high authority of the Scriptures when they use phrases such as, "It is written" and "Scripture says." They expected the readers and hearers to be bound by Scripture.

- c. The writers of the New Testament claim that the Bible is the Word of God (Acts 15:28; 1 Cor.2:13; 3:1; 11:23; 14:37; 15:1-4; Gal.1:11-12; 1 Th.2:13; 2 Pt.3:2). Paul affirmed in behalf of all the apostles that their words were divinely taught (1 Cor.2:13, note the word we). Peter asserts the same level of authority for the writings of the apostles as for the Old Testament Scriptures (2 Pt.3:2). The view of inspiration was clear in the early church: the first church council stated that the conclusions of the council were given by the Holy Spirit through the leaders (Acts 15:28f).
- d. Jesus Christ claims that the Bible is the Word of God. He contrasts the Scriptures and the commandments of God with the traditions and instructions of men (Mk.7:6-13). He equates the word of Moses with Scripture and His own word with the word of Moses and both as the Word of God (Jn.5:38, 45-47). He says, "the Scripture cannot be broken" (Jn.10:35). He validated the most minute portions of Scripture (Mt.5:18; Lk.16:17). He continually argued the validity of Scripture (Mt.4:4, 7, 10; 22:29, 32, 43; Mk.12:24; Lk.4:4, 8). He saw Himself as the focus and fulfillment of Scripture (Lk.24:25-27). He asserted that what was written must be fulfilled (Lk.22:36-37). He predicted and approved the New Testament and assured His apostles that they would be kept from error (Jn.16:13).
- f. The Bible is absolutely trustworthy (Mt.24:35). "The Scripture cannot be broken" (Jn.10:34-35).

"For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe" (1 Th.2:13).

"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim.3:16).

"For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (2 Pt.1:21).

4 (3:16) Scripture: Scripture is profitable to man. The word profitable (ophelimos) means useful, beneficial, and helpful. Simply stated, the Bible is for man; God gave it to help man. There are four very specific helps found in the Bible.

1. The Bible is profitable for doctrine. God wants man to know beyond doubt who God is; who man is; and the beginning, meaning, and end of all things. The Scripture reveals the truth—the nature, meaning, and significance of truth. The Bible gives man the principles and rules for life. It gives him the doctrines and foundations of life.

"Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me" (Jn.5:39).

"Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (Jn.7:16-17).

"Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (Jn.8:31-32).

"For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope" (Ro.15:4).

2. The Bible is profitable for reproof. God wants man to sense conviction and to be rebuked when he is disobedient to God's will. The Scripture reveals God's will and the consequences of disobedience to His will.

"Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment....Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth [the Word of God]: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come" (Jn.16:7-8, 13).

"For the word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb.4:12).

“Wherefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, Because ye speak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them” (Jer.5:14).

“Is not my word like as a fire? saith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh rock in pieces?” (Jer.23:29).

3. It is profitable for correction. God wants man to be set aright when he is wrong. The Bible teaches obedience by teaching a person to discipline himself, even to the point of suffering (Heb.5:8).

“Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you” (Jn.15:3).

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:26).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word” (Ps.119:9).

4. It is profitable for instruction in righteousness. God wants man to know the right things to do, to think and to say. The Bible reveals how to live “soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers. Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:14-15).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“And I commanded you at that time all the things which ye should do” (Dt.1:18).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

5 (3:17) Scripture: Scripture perfects a man and equips him for every good work. By “perfect” (artios) is meant complete, matured, filled. No person is complete or mature apart from Scripture. Man was made for God and he is to live by the Word of God. If he tries to live without God and His Word, man fails in life. He lives an incomplete, immature, and misfitted life. This is particularly true of the man of God, the person who claims to be a minister or teacher of God’s Word.

Thought 1. Scripture alone, the very Word of God itself, can make a person complete and equip him for every good work. William Barclay’s comments on this point pierce the heart and need to be heeded by everyone of us:

“The study of the Scriptures trains a man in righteousness until he is equipped for every good work. Here is the essential conclusion. The study of the Scriptures must never be selfish; it must never be simply for the good of a man’s own soul. Any change, any conversion which makes a man think of nothing but of the fact that he has been saved is no true change and no true conversion. He must study the Scriptures to make himself useful to God and useful to his fellow men. He must study, not simply and solely to save his own soul, but that he may make himself such that God will use him to help to save the souls and comfort the lives of others. No man is saved unless he is on fire to save his fellow men” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.232).

What a convicting statement: “He must study...that God will use him to help to save the souls and comfort the lives of others. No man is saved unless he is on fire to save his fellow men.” What an indictment that every man of God must heed. We must study more and more—we must allow the Scripture to stir us more and more so that we will reach out to save souls and to minister more and more.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me” (Jn.5:39).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so. Therefore many of them believed; also of honourable women which were Greeks, and of men, not a few” (Acts 17:11-12).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification. For even Christ pleased not himself; but, as it is written, The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me. For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:1-4).

“And it [God’s Word] shall be with him, and he shall read therein all the days of his life: that he may learn to fear the LORD his God, to keep all the words of this law and these statutes, to do them” (Dt.17:19).

DIVISION III

THE TRIUMPH OF PREACHING, 4:1-8

A. The Awesome Charge to Preach the Word and to Minister, 4:1-5

(4:1-5) Introduction: the world is bombarded with message after message offering hope after hope. But above all the messages and above all the hopes that bombard the world, there is one that is more needed by man than all the others—one that is so important that it supersedes all the others combined. What is that message? It is the message of the Word of God. The Word of God offers the only lasting hope for man. For this reason the Word of God must be preached. The minister of God must commit himself to the awesome charge to preach the Word of God and to minister as never before.

1. Preach the Word—for the eye of God and of Christ watches you (v.1).
2. Preach the Word—the Word of God is to be preached (v.2).
3. Preach the Word—for the great apostasy is coming (v.3-4).
4. Preach the Word—for you must completely fulfill your ministry.

1 (4:1) Preaching—Judgment—Jesus Christ, Return: preach the Word—for the eyes of God and of Christ watch you. The thrust of this great passage is the previous verse:

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

Therefore, “I charge you...preach the word” (v.1-2). You must preach the Word, for God and Christ are watching. Their eyes are upon you. They are watching to see if you preach the Word. Note: the minister is not to be preaching his own ideas nor the ideas of other men. The message of the gospel is not the message of human philosophy, psychology, sociology, or education. It is not the message of self-image and personal development. As helpful as these subjects may be, they are not the gospel; they are not the Word of God.

The Word is the very Word of God, the glorious gospel of our salvation. The Word is the Scripture which we hold in our hands and study and teach to all who give their lives to Christ Jesus our Lord. The Word that we are to preach is...

- the very revelation of God Himself, the record of what God wants us to know, the record that is recorded in the Holy Scriptures, the Holy Bible (See notes—2 Tim.3:16; 3:17).
- the unbelievable love of God that tells us about Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who came to earth to save man from the sin and suffering and death of this world (see outline, note, and DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Jn.3:16; Ro.5:1-5; 5:6-11).
- the great mercy of God that He has poured out upon us through the death of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ (see note—Eph.2:4-7).
- the coming resurrection and judgment of all men (see notes—Mt.25:31-46; Jn.5:28-30; 1 Cor.15:1-58).

This is the Word that we are to preach, and we are to proclaim it from the housetops ever so boldly and courageously. No matter the trials or the threats of men, we are to “preach the Word”—the Word of our living God.

There are three strong reasons given to make sure that we preach the Word of God.

1. The Lord Jesus Christ shall judge the living and the dead. If we are living when He returns, He is going to judge us. If we die before He returns, He is going to judge us. The idea is twofold.
 - ⇒ First, He is going to judge us as to whether or not we preached. If He calls us to preach and we do not preach, we shall be judged and condemned.
 - ⇒ Second, He is going to judge us as to whether or not we preached the Word. If we preach the ideas of men instead of God’s Word, we shall be judged and condemned. If we preach a mixture of men’s ideas and God’s Word, we shall be judged and condemned.

“Some day Timothy’s work will be tested, and that test will be carried out by none other than Jesus Christ Himself. A Christian’s work must be good enough, not to satisfy men, but to satisfy Jesus. He must do every task in such a way that he can take it and offer it to Christ. He is not concerned with either the criticism or the verdict of men. The one thing he covets is the 'Well done!' of Jesus Christ. If we all within the Church and within the world did our work in that spirit, the difference in life would be incalculable.

- ⇒ "It would save us from the touchy spirit which is offended by the criticisms of men.
 - ⇒ "It would save us from the self-important spirit which is concerned with matters of personal rights and personal prestige.
 - ⇒ "It would save us from the self-centered spirit which demands thanks and praise from men for its every act.
 - ⇒ "It would even save us from being hurt by the ingratitude of men.
- "The Christian concentration is on Christ" (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.232f. Note: paragraphs are marked and set off by us for emphasis.)

"For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works" (Mt.16:27).

"And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead" (Acts 10:42).

"Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead" (Acts 17:31).

"But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ" (Ro.14:10).

"For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad" (2 Cor.5:10).

2. The Lord Jesus Christ shall appear in glory as "the returning conqueror" (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.233). This is seen in the word "appearing" (epiphaneian). It means the glorious and visible appearance of the Lord Jesus (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.153). The history of the world is found in the appearance of the great Roman Emperors, especially when they were scheduled to visit a city. Thorough preparations were made: buildings and streets were scrubbed and cleaned; they were worked hard to prepare themselves and their city for their coming king. They were excited about his coming and focused their attention and energy upon his coming. This is exactly what the minister must do: he must preach the Word, keeping his mind upon the return of the Lord Jesus Christ. He must be prepared for His return, and the minister of the Lord prepares by preaching the Word. The conquering Lord is returning; if we fail to preach the Word, we will stand before Him unprepared—embarrassed and ashamed. If we fail to be subjected to Him now—fail to preach His Word—we shall be subjected and judged by Him.

"Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Ph.2:9-11).

"Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh" (Mt.24:44).

"And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come" (Lk.19:13).

"So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.1:7).

"Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God" (1 Cor.4:5).

"For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape" (1 Th.5:3).

"That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Tim.6:14).

"Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ" (Tit.2:12-13).

"And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming" (1 Jn.2:28).

3. The Lord Jesus Christ shall set up His kingdom forever and ever. The true minister of God shall be a citizen of the Lord's kingdom. His position and rank (the amount of responsibility) in that kingdom is based upon his faithfulness in this world. Therefore, the minister of God must preach the Word faithfully. He must keep his eye upon the kingdom of Christ even as Christ is keeping His eye upon the minister's faithfulness. "So live and so work that you will rank high in the roll of citizens of the Kingdom when the Kingdom comes" (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.234). (See note, Rewards—Lk.16:10-12 for a complete list of the promised rewards.)

"And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me; that ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and set on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel" (Lk.22:29-30).

- 2 (4:2) Preaching—Minister, Work of: preach the Word—for this is the Lord's call to you. Preaching the Word is to be the consuming passion of the minister's life. Note how forcefully this is brought out in this verse:
 ⇒ "Preach the Word."

- ⇒ “Be instant in season, out of season”: keep a sense of urgency; grasp the opportunities and make opportunities to preach.
- ⇒ “Reprove.”
- ⇒ “Rebuke.”
- ⇒ “Exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.”

1. First, preach the Word. The whole thrust is obsession—the minister is to be obsessed with preaching. Preaching is to burn within his soul; he is to be consumed with preaching—a burning passion to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ. Why?

- ⇒ Because preaching is God’s chosen method to save men.

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God....For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe” (1 Cor.1:18, 21).

- ⇒ Because the minister is held accountable to preach.

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

It is impossible to overemphasize preaching. It is even impossible to fully grasp the importance of preaching. This is the whole thrust of this passage. Just think about the solemn charge and warning that has just been covered in verse one:

- ⇒ God and Christ both have their eyes on the minister—to see if he is preaching the Word.
- ⇒ The minister shall be judged by the Lord Jesus Christ as to whether or not he preached the Word.
- ⇒ The minister shall face Christ when Christ returns in glory as the conquering Lord—face Him and give an account of his preaching.
- ⇒ The minister’s place and position in the Lord’s kingdom will be determined by how faithful he was in preaching the Word.

Therefore, the charge is to preach the Word. Note two very significant points.

- a. The word “preach” (kerusso) is the picture of the minister standing before people in all the dignity and authority of God Himself. It is the word that was used of the ambassador who was sent forth by the king to proclaim his message in all of the authority and dignity of the king himself.

*“This should be the pattern for the preacher today. His preaching should be [with dignity]...that dignity which comes from...the fact that he is an official herald of the King of kings. It should be...[with] authority which will command the respect, careful attention, and proper re-action of the listeners” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.154).*

- b. The minister is to preach “the Word.” What is meant by “the Word”?

⇒ “All Scripture”—all Scripture that is given by the inspiration of God (2 Tim.3:16).

The Word means the Scripture, the very Word of God itself. It is “the whole body of revealed truth” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.154). It is the whole counsel of God that comprises what men call The Holy Bible. The minister is to preach the Word, the Holy Scripture, the very Word of God Himself. He is not to preach...

- his own ideas
- the ideas of other men
- philosophy
- psychology
- self-image
- self-righteousness
- sociology
- science
- educational development
- personal efforts
- ego-booster
- man-made religion

The great Greek scholar Kenneth Wuest has one of the most challenging descriptions of the word preach ever penned by man:

*“The word [preach is a] command to be obeyed at once. It is a sharp command as in military language....The preacher must present, not book reviews, not politics, not economics, not current topics of the day, not a philosophy of life denying the Bible and based upon unproven theories of science, but the Word. The preacher as a herald cannot choose his message. He is given a message to proclaim by his Sovereign. If he will not proclaim that, let him step down from his exalted position” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.154).*

Matthew Henry uses striking language:

*“It is not their own notions and fancies that they are to preach, but the pure plain Word of God; and they must not corrupt it” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.848).*

“And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand....What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops” (Mt.10:7, 27).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

2. Second, be instant in season, out of season. There are two things to note in this point.
 - a. The word “instant” (epistethi) means to “take a stand, to stand upon it or up to it, to carry on, to stick to it” (A.T. Robertson). As Robertson says, “There are all sorts of seasons...some difficult...some easy” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.629). The task of the minister is to stand and stick to preaching no matter the circumstances, easy or difficult.
 - b. “The preacher is to proclaim the Word when the time is auspicious, favorable, opportune, and also when the circumstances seem unfavorable. So few times are still available for preaching that the preacher must take every chance he has to preach the Word. There is no closed season for preaching” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.155).

Matthew Henry says:

“Do this work with all fervency of spirit. Call upon those under [your] charge to take heed of sin, to do their duty: call upon them to repent, and believe, and live a holy life and this both in season and out of season....”

“We must do it in season, that is, let slip no opportunity; and do it out of season, that is, not shift off the duty, under pretence that it is out of season” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.848).

William Barclay says:

“The Christian teacher is to be urgent. The message he brings is literally a matter of life and death. The teacher and the preacher who really get their message across to people are those who have the tone of earnestness in their voice....”

“The Christian teacher is to be persistent. He is to urge the claims of Christ ‘in season and out of season.’ As someone has put it: ‘Take or make your opportunity.’ As Theodore of Mospustia put it: ‘The Christian must count every time an opportunity to speak for Christ.’ It was said of George Morrison of Wellington Church in Glasgow that with him wherever the conversation started, it went straight across country to Christ” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.234f).

The Amplified New Testament says:

“Keep your sense of urgency (stand by, be at hand and ready, whether the opportunity seems to be favorable or unfavorable, whether it is convenient or inconvenient, whether it be welcome or unwelcome, you as preacher of the Word are to show people in what way their lives are wrong).”

3. Third, reprove (elegxon). The word means to stir a person to prove himself; to put a person under conviction; to lead a person to see his sin and to feel guilt over it. It means to put a person under conviction of sin and to lead him to confession and repentance.

*“The preacher is to deal with sin, both in the lives of his unsaved hearers and in those of the saints to whom he ministers, and he is to do it in no uncertain tones. The word ‘sin’ is not enough in the vocabulary of our preaching today. And as he deals with the sin that confronts him as he preaches, he is to expect results, the salvation of the lost and the sanctification of the saints” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.155).*

4. Fourth, rebuke (epitimeson). This is a strong word, very strong. It is a “sharp, severe rebuke with possibly a suggestion in some cases, of impending penalty. Even where the preacher has experienced failure after failure in bringing sinners or saints to forsake their sin” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.155).

*“A word of warning and rebuke would often save a brother from many a sin and many a shipwreck. But, as someone has said, that word must always be spoken as ‘brother setting brother right.’ It must be spoken with a consciousness of our common guilt. It is not our place to set ourselves up as the moral judge of anyone; nonetheless it is our duty to speak that warning word when it needs to be spoken” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.236f).*

*“Convince wicked people of the evil and danger of their wicked courses. Endeavour, by dealing plainly with them, to bring them to repentance. Rebuke them with gravity and authority, in Christ’s name, that they may take [your] displeasure against them as an indication of God’s displeasure” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.848).*

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

5. Fifth, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine. The word “exhort” (parakaleo) has the idea of “please, I beg of you, I urge you” (Kenneth Wuest. The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.155). It means to beseech, encourage, comfort, and help. It is not enough to reprove and rebuke people. The minister must encourage and comfort, help and carry the person to Christ. Note how crucial this point is.

- a. The minister must “exhort with all longsuffering” (makrothumia). The idea is that the minister patiently endures in exhorting people—no matter the circumstances. He exhorts and exhorts, encourages and encourages. He suffers a long, long time with people...
- enduring whatever weaknesses and failings they have.
 - enduring whatever evil and injury is done.

The minister suffers a long, long time without resentment or anger, and he never gives up, for he knows the power of Christ to change lives.

- b. The minister “exhorts with all doctrine.” He does not teach bits and pieces of God’s Word. He does not focus upon subjects...
- that are popular
 - that are favorites
 - that arouse curiosity
 - that he thinks are needed

He focuses upon all the doctrines of God—the whole counsel of God. He exhorts people in all the doctrine of God.

“He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:17).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called to day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

3 (4:3-4) Preaching—Ministers: preach the Word—for the great apostasy is coming. Even as Paul was writing these words some false teaching had already seeped into the church, and the future was not too bright. This is a prediction of Scripture; Paul was prophesying that the false teaching was to spread. The day was coming when apostasy was to sweep throughout the church. The idea is that the apostasy would be great—many would follow after the false teaching and the whole church would be affected.

We know from church history that this is exactly what happened to the churches in Asia. The Asian churches were the very churches who were warned in the Book of Revelation (Rev.1:11-3:22). There were seven churches, and out of the seven only one remained faithful to the preaching of the Word—the Philadelphian church (Rev.3:7-13). The other six became apostate; many of the people turned away from the pure preaching and teaching of God’s Word. Why? What caused the apostasy? What caused so many people and churches to turn away from Christ and from the pure Word of God? This present passage gives the answer, and remember: it was a prediction. The apostasy had not yet happened. Two clear reasons are given why people turn away from Christ and why churches turn away from the preaching of the pure Word of God.

1. People will not endure sound doctrine. By doctrine, of course, is meant the doctrines, teaching, and instructions of God’s Word, the Holy Scriptures. The place of Scripture in the lives of believers has just been discussed in the previous passage (cp. 2 Tim.3:14-17). Note the word “sound” (hugiaino). It means wholesome and healthy doctrine and teaching. The only doctrine and teaching that is sound is that of God’s Word.

The point is this: people turn away from sound doctrine because they do not want to hear the truth. What truth? In all honesty, the truth that none of us enjoys hearing.

- ⇒ We do not enjoy hearing that we are sinful and depraved, dirty and unclean, selfish and immoral, unjust and unworthy, ever failing and always coming up short. No person enjoys hearing this, no matter who he is. Yet the message is true, and a person is foolish not to be honest and acknowledge it. Why? Because the sin and depravity of our hearts is the very reason we live in such an evil world and die. And being honest about the fact is the only way the problem of evil and death can ever be solved. Nevertheless, despite all this it is not enjoyable to confess that we are sinners and hopelessly depraved.
- ⇒ We do not enjoy hearing that we can do nothing whatsoever to become acceptable to God. This idea just does not make sense to most people, for there are some good people in the world. It is just not a pleasing thought to hear that man cannot do enough good to be acceptable to God. Think about it: no matter who the person is—no matter how good and moral he is—no matter how much good he does, he is not acceptable and cannot make himself acceptable to God. As stated, this is not a pleasant thought, not to any person. Therefore, men do not want to hear such doctrine preached.
- ⇒ Most people do not like hearing that Jesus Christ is the only Savior, the only Mediator, the only way a person can be saved and acceptable to God. They ask about the people who never hear about Him (like the native in the jungle) and about other religions.

The teaching of Scripture could go on and on, but the point is clear. People turn away from sound doctrine for a very simple reason: they do not want to hear the truth. They either do not agree with it, or else they do not want to be reminded or to think about it.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:43-44).

“He that is of God heareth God’s words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God” (Jn.8:47).

“He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day” (Jn.12:48).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them” (Ro.16:17).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine, neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do” (1 Tim.1:3-4).

“Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son” (2 Jn.9).

2. People will want teachers who will allow them to live like they desire. The Greek actually says that people will be dominated “by their own lusts” (epithumia). They will be living lives of lusts, cravings, and gratifications—lives that seek the gratification of the flesh through...

- sex and immorality
- recognition and honor
- power and authority
- status and position
- money and possessions
- image and approval
- discipline and control
- religion and personal righteousness
- good works and benevolence

Such lusts and cravings will so dominate people’s lives that they will seek ministers and teachers who will tickle their ears with the message of personal development and self-image.

Note this: the messages of personal development and self-image, of philosophy and psychology, of religion and good works are messages that benefit men. But they do not go far enough. They do not solve the problems of evil and selfishness within the human heart nor do they solve the problem of death. Any person who is truly honest and thoughtful knows that no person and no group of persons—not even the whole human race—can keep a single person from dying nor infuse a serum into a person that will make him live forever. Neither can anyone recreate the earth and the heavens into a perfect world. Man is far short of perfection. If there is to be such a thing as salvation—as being delivered from evil and death and given eternal life in a new heavens and earth—it has to come from God Himself. This is the message, the glorious gospel of God’s Word: there is salvation through His love—His love that has been demonstrated in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The point is this: men do not want to be honest. They want the right to live like they want and to do their own thing. They want the right to be comfortable, at ease, recognized, honored, esteemed, and to secure position, authority, wealth, and power. They want pleasure and stimulation—the gratification of their lusts when they want them gratified. Therefore, they want teachers who will tickle their ears and assure them...

- that the building up of their discipline, image, and personal development is good and acceptable just so God is honored and acknowledged.
- that immorality and carnality are forgivable.

As stated, both messages are true, but they are not the whole truth. And the only way a person can be saved, truly saved, is by surrendering his life to the whole truth of God’s Word. Note what Scripture says: false teaching is nothing more than fables. The Amplified New Testament says that people “will turn aside from hearing the truth and wander off into myths and man-made fictions.”

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:6-9).

“Whosoever therefore shall break one of the least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:19).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:2).

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience” (Eph.2:2).

“Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm” (1 Tim.1:7).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness” (1 Tim.6:3).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [legalists]: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s [personal gain] sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

Thought 1. Timothy and all true ministers of the gospel must preach the Word, for a great turning away is coming. God’s ministers must preach now while there is still time—preach with all the fervency and power of God’s indwelling Spirit.

4 (4:5) Preaching—Ministers: preach the Word—for you must complete and fulfill your ministry—you must “fill your ministry to the brim” (Charles B. Williams. The New Testament in the Language of the People. “The Four Translation New Testament,” p.607). Tragically...

- not every minister completes his ministry.
- not every minister fills his ministry to the brim.
- not every minister does everything Christ wants Him to do.
- not every minister undertakes every ministry that God desires for him.
- not every minister fills every ministry he undertakes to the brim.

Some do; we can look around and see some ministers who serve ever so faithfully. Some are not as gifted as others, and they serve in what men call small ministries, but they serve faithfully and well. How can we all become faithful and fulfill our ministries? How can we fill our ministries to the brim? Paul told Timothy that he had to do four things to complete his ministry.

1. The minister must watch in all things. The word “watch” (nephe) means to be sober, calm, and alert; to keep a cool, calm, and collected mind; to maintain a controlled and disciplined life and spirit. And note: the minister is to be this way in all things: in body, mind, and spirit—in thought, word and behavior. The minister is to always watch—always be alert, calm, controlled, and disciplined—no matter the activity or behavior.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

2. The minister is to “endure afflictions” (kakopatheo). The word means to suffer hardships, troubles, problems, difficulties, and evils. Kenneth Wuest gives an excellent discussion of this point, a discussion that merits attention by every minister who has any concern for people whatsoever.

“The verb [endure afflictions] is aorist imperative. It is a sharp command given with military snap and curtness. Timothy needed just that. He was not cast in a heroic mold. How we in the ministry of the Word need that injunction today. What ‘softies’ we sometimes are, afraid to come out clearly in our proclamation of the truth and our stand as to false doctrine, fearing the ostracism of our fellows, the ecclesiastical displeasure of our superiors, or the cutting off of our immediate financial income. I would rather walk a lonely road with Jesus than be without His fellowship in the crowd, wouldn’t you? I would rather live in a cottage and eat simple food, and have Him as Head of my house and the Unseen Guest at every meal, than to live in royal style in a mansion without Him” (The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.159).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“For indeed he was sick nigh unto death: but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow” (Ph.2:27).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation [trials]: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

3. The minister is to do the work of an evangelist. This does not mean that the minister is to become a travelling or professional evangelist. It means that his work is to be evangelistic—he is to seek to win souls in all that he does. He is to share the love and judgment of God in all of his preaching and teaching and in everything else he does. The very thrust of his ministry is to be that of reconciling people to God, that of sharing the glorious news of God’s love and of coming judgment: that God saves and shall judge people through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands. For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:6-8).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

4. The minister is to complete and fulfill his ministry, fill it to the brim. He is to carry his ministry out to the end, fully perform all the duties of it. Again, Kenneth Wuest has an excellent comment on this point:

“Ministry’ is from a Greek word (diakonia) which speaks of Christian work in general, covering every mode of service. One of the chief temptations of the pastorate is laziness and neglect. Paul lives an intense and tremendously active life. The word ‘drive’ characterizes him perfectly. As the saying goes: ‘It is better to wear out for the Lord than to rust out’” (The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.159f).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do” (Jn.17:4).

“He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:17).

“But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God” (Acts 20:24).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:6-8).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

“I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the LORD, keep not silence” (Is.62:6).

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding” (Jer.3:15).

“And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them: and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, saith the LORD” (Jer.23:4).

DIVISION III

THE TRIUMPH OF PREACHING, 4:1-8

B. The Triumphant Testimony of Paul, 4:6-8

(4:6-8) Introduction—Paul—Death: Paul is sitting in the drab dungeon of a Roman prison. He is facing the capital charge of insurrection against the Roman government. He has had his preliminary hearing before Nero; therefore, he is soon to stand before Nero in his final trial and hear the fateful verdict: "Execution." How soon? We do not know, but these verses indicate very soon. Paul knew that the end of his life upon earth was immediately at hand. This is the reason he had just passed the banner of the gospel over to Timothy—the reason he had just given Timothy the most awesome charge that can be given to a man: the awesome charge to preach the Word of God and to minister to a world that is lost and dying—a world that is reeling under the weight of so many desperate needs. Timothy must go forth and preach the gospel with all the might and commitment of his being. Note how Paul encourages Timothy even in discussing his own coming death. He wants Timothy to look ahead to the end of his own life and to be able to bear the same testimony. What a challenge to us all: Paul's triumphant testimony.

1. His death (v.6).
2. His testimony (v.7).
3. His reward: a crown of righteousness (v.8).

1 (4:6) Paul—Death: Paul's confrontation with death.

1. Paul says that his life is being offered and sacrificed to God in one last act—the act of death. What a view of death! Seeing death as an offering and sacrifice being presented to God. The Greek word for offering or sacrifice (spendomai) is striking: it refers to the drink offering that was presented to God. When a person wanted to make a sacrifice to God, he often took a cup of wine or oil and poured it out as an offering and sacrifice to God. The drink offering symbolized the Lord Jesus pouring out His soul—dying—for us.

Paul is saying, "I am pouring out my soul through death for the Lord Jesus Christ. The life and blood of my body is being sacrificed for the preaching of God's Word. I am laying down my life as an offering to Christ Jesus my Lord—laying it down in the supreme act of sacrifice. I am dying for Him."

The great Biblical writer William Barclay describes the scene with words that should challenge us all:

"Paul did not think of himself as going to be executed; he thought of himself as going to offer his life to God. His life was not being taken from him; he was laying it down. Ever since his conversion Paul had offered to God—his money, his scholarship, his strength, his time, the vigour of his body, the acuteness of his mind, the devotion of his passionate heart. Only life itself was left to offer, and gladly Paul was going to lay life down" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.240).

2. Paul says that the time for his departure from this world is at hand. The word "departure" (analo) is striking in its meaning. (The following meanings are taken from W.E. Vine. Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words.)

- a. To depart is the picture of a ship hoisting the anchor and loosening the mooring ropes and departing one country for another country. Paul had been anchored and tied to this world, but the anchor and ropes of this world were now being loosed, and Paul was about to set sail for the greatest of all ports—heaven itself.
- b. To depart is the picture of "breaking up an encampment" (W.E. Vine). Paul had been camping in this world. If any man has ever known what it is like to be unsettled and moving about from place to place, it was Paul. And unfortunately it was often not by choice. Many times the opposition to the gospel had been so violent, he had been forced to break camp and move on, sometimes fleeing for his life. But now, Paul was to break camp and depart for the last time, and what a departure it was to be. He would never again have to move. He was departing this world for his permanent residence: heaven itself.
- c. To depart is the picture of the unyoking of an animal from the burden of the cart, plough, or millstone which it had been pulling to grind the grain. Paul was to be released from the yoke and burden of labor and toil in this life. He was being released and set free to depart for the pastures and still waters and rest of heaven and eternity.

Matthew Henry says:

“Observe...with what pleasure he [Paul] speaks of dying. He calls it his departure: though it is probable that he foresaw he must die a violent bloody death, yet he calls it his departure, or his release. Death to a good man is his release from the imprisonment of this world and his departure to the enjoyments of another world; he does not cease to be, but is only removed from one world to another” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.849).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

“For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. But if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labour: yet what I shall choose I wot not. For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better” (Ph.1:21-23).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth” (Heb.11:13).

“And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them” (Rev.14:13).

“Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me” (Ps.23:4).

“Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his saints” (Ps.116:15).

“The wicked is driven away in his wickedness: but the righteous hath hope in his death” (Pr.14:32).

2 (4:7) Paul, Life—Death: Paul’s glorious testimony. The way Paul describes his life is also full of meaning. He quickly glances back over his life and uses three pictures to describe it, the pictures of a soldier, an athlete, and a steward or manager.

1. Paul says that he had lived life just like a faithful soldier: “I have fought a good fight.” Paul had responded to the call of the Lord Jesus Christ...

- He had volunteered to serve Christ.
- He had separated himself from this world, sacrificing all that he was and had to be a soldier for Christ—a soldier totally committed to the mission of Christ.
- He had suffered through the threats, scrapes, and wars launched by the enemies of Christ.
- He had fought a “good” (kalos) fight: a fight that was worthy, honorable, noble, and commendable.
- He had done his time, stuck to the mission of Christ to the very end.

Therefore, Paul could victoriously declare, “I have fought a good fight.” He was being released from his service as a soldier for the King, released to go home to live at peace in the kingdom of his Lord forever and ever.

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare” (1 Tim.1:18).

“Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses” (1 Tim.6:12).

“No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:4).

“But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after ye were illuminated, ye endured a great fight of afflictions” (Heb.10:32).

2. Paul says that he had run and finished the course of his life; he had completed the race of life just like the athlete runs and finishes the course of his race. This is powerful, for it means that Paul disciplined and controlled his life to the utmost—just like the Olympian athlete.

⇒ He controlled what he ate and drank and what he did with his body and mind.

⇒ He focused upon the course of life, how he ran it. He could not run the risk of being distracted by the things of the world and of the flesh lest he become a castaway and be disqualified from running the race.

“And this I do for the gospel’s sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you. Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:23-27).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith” (2 Tim.4:7).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

3. Paul says that he had kept the faith. He had looked after the faith just like a good steward looks after the estate of his master. The Lord had entrusted the faith to Paul, and he had kept the faith. He had proven faithful; he had faithfully managed the faith for his Master, the Lord Jesus Christ. The idea is that of a trust, of a management contract between Christ and Paul. Paul is saying that he had kept the terms of the contract; he had managed and looked after the trust faithfully and well. Think about this for a moment—all the sufferings that Paul went through—the terrible trials—the times that he could have...

- dumped the trust of the faith or laid it aside and ignored it. But he never did. He had been chosen by the Lord and Master of life to manage the trust of God, even the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, Paul took the trust and managed it through all—both good and bad times. He never forsook the faith. And because he had been faithful, it was time for him to bear the fruit of his labor. He was now to reap the benefits of the faith; he was to be given all the rights and privileges of the Lord’s estate—to live and enjoy its pleasures forevermore.

“And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come....And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities” (Lk.19:13, 17).

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called” (1 Tim.6:20).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

3 (4:8) Paul—Reward: Paul’s unbelievable reward—a crown of righteousness. Imagine! There is a crown of righteousness—a crown that a person can receive, a crown that will make him acceptable to God. No person can ever be accepted by God unless he is crowned with righteousness—completely covered with righteousness and made perfect. Why? Because God is perfect and only perfection can live in the presence of God. Therefore, the only way a person can ever become acceptable to God is by receiving the crown of righteousness from God. Paul was to receive the crown of righteousness because he had given his life...

- to be a soldier for Christ and His warfare.
- to be an athlete for Christ and His course (race and life).
- to be a steward or manager for Christ and His faith.

Think about it: Paul was to be given a crown of righteousness that makes a person perfect before God—righteous and perfect so that he can live before God forever and ever. What a contrast with the fading and deteriorating crowns and trophies given by this world. Note two points.

1. The crown of righteousness will be given by the Lord, the righteous Judge. He is the righteous and perfect judge, the only judge who knows the truth about all men. He knows the heart of every man, and He has seen every man every day and hour of his life. In fact, the Lord has seen every act and heard every word every person has ever done or spoken. He knows all. The Lord knew all about Paul...

- that he had been a good soldier for Christ.
- that he had been a good athlete for Christ.
- that he had been a good steward (manager) for Christ.

The Lord is righteous and just; therefore, Paul knew that the Lord would give him the crown of righteousness in that glorious day of redemption.

2. The crown of righteousness will be given to all who love and look for the Lord’s appearing. This is a striking truth. Who is it that loves the Lord’s appearing? The person who loves the Lord Himself. Who is it that loves the Lord? The person who truly believes in the Lord and the glorious salvation He has provided. Who is a true believer? The person who has committed his life...

- to be a soldier for Christ and His mission.
- to be an athlete for Christ and His course (race and life).
- to be a steward or manager for Christ and His faith.

This is the person who loves and looks for the coming of the Lord Jesus Christ, and this is the person who shall receive the crown of righteousness. As the Greek scholar Kenneth Wuest says:

“To those who have considered precious His appearing and therefore have loved it, and...are still holding that attitude in their hearts, to these the Lord Jesus will also give the victor’s garland [crown] of righteousness” (The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.163).

The effective preacher Oliver Greene says:

“No man knows the day or the hour when Jesus will come; we do not know the day or the hour when we will be called to meet the Lord in death. If this should be the day of the Lord’s return, or if this should be the day death comes for me, could I testify as Paul did in the face of death? Have I really fought a good fight? Have I kept the faith? Have I been a good minister, true to the Word and to those to whom I preached? Will I have a crown to cast at the feet of Jesus when we crown Him Lord of all?" (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.371f).

2 TIMOTHY 4:6-8

Thought 1. What an indictment against false profession. It is not what we profess about Christ; it is what we do for Christ.

"And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible" (1 Cor.9:25).

"Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing" (2 Tim.4:8).

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (Jas.1:12).

"And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away" (1 Pt.5:4).

"Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown" (Rev.3:11).

"The four and twenty elders fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne" (Rev.4:10).

"And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward" (Mt.10:42).

"His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord" (Mt.25:23).

"But glory, honour, and peace, to every man that worketh good, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile" (Ro.2:10).

"Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free" (Eph.6:8).

DIVISION IV

THE FINAL FAREWELL OF PAUL TO THE WORLD, 4:9-22

(4:9-22) Introduction—Paul, Writings: since Second Timothy is Paul's last writing (so far as we know), this is his final message to the outside world.

1. A personal message—needing help (v.9-18).
2. A personal greeting—showing personal interest (v.19-22).

1 (4:9-18) Ministering—Paul: there are times when every believer needs help. Even the apostle Paul faced such times—times when he desperately needed the help of other believers. His present situation was one of those times. He was in prison waiting to face his final trial on the charges of being an insurrectionist and trouble-maker for Rome. He was to appear before the emperor Nero, and he was expecting to be executed. Whatever weight and pressure hangs over a man's head—whatever needs are created by being imprisoned and facing execution—all this and much more pressed ever so heavily upon Paul. The present passage gives a glimpse into the heart of Paul as he faced such a terrible trial. It shows what kind of help he needed and how his needs were to be met. The lesson for us to note is this: there are times when we all need help. When those times come, we should not hesitate to ask for help, nor should we hesitate to reach out and help a person who cries for our help.

1. There are some special times when believers need help. Note that Paul asks Timothy to do everything he can to come and visit him. Paul needed Timothy's presence and encouragement in his final hours. Of all the people on earth, Timothy was the dearest to Paul's heart. Facing his final days upon earth, Paul needed and wanted the company of his dear friend. However, there were some very specific reasons why Paul needed Timothy. Only one person was still with Paul—that person was Luke. Looking at why everyone had left Paul gives us a picture into what it is that creates some of the needs in our lives as believers.

- a. Help is needed when a loved one has forsaken us (v.10). Note the name Demas. Demas had been a faithful believer and a fellow laborer to Paul (Phile.24). He had even been in Rome with Paul for some time. Imagine! He had even served with Paul in some of Paul's most trying moments—while Paul was a prisoner in Rome. What happened? He began to love this present world. What does this mean?
 - ⇒ Does it mean that he began to love the life of this world more than the promise of life in heaven? That he began to fear that he might be persecuted because he, too, professed Christ? That he might be arrested and imprisoned because of his association with Paul?
 - ⇒ Does it mean that he began to love the pleasures and comfort, possessions and things of this world more than the sacrifice demanded by Christ?

Herbert Lockyer gives an excellent picture of what could have happened to Demas:

“Under the strong influence of Paul’s personality, Demas was [converted]....Becoming a disciple, he was carried away by the enthusiasm of sacrifice. He wanted to live with Paul and die with him, and have a throne and a halo among the martyred saints.

“But when Demas came up to the great capital of the then known world in company with the Lord’s prisoners, Paul and Epaphras, it was a different story. He was not a prisoner, and gradually the contrast between the cell and the outer world became intolerable to him. He saw the magnificent halls of the Caesars, the gorgeous homes of the rich and the glitter of a world of music, venal loves, jest and wine. Such a gay world cast its glamor over Demas, and he yielded to its charms. The prison where his friends were languishing seemed wretched alongside the music-haunted, scented, dazzling halls of Rome. Thus Paul had to write one of the most heart-breaking lines in his letters:

“Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world.’ This man of wavering impulse who surrendered the passion of sacrifice and sank in the swirling waters of the world, is a true reflection of the thought that where our love is, there we finally are” (All the Men of the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1958, p.91f).

The point is this: when Demas forsook Paul, it cut Paul to the core. It left a vacuum in his heart, and that emptiness needed to be filled by someone else. Paul was facing the darkest hour of his life; therefore, some other believer needed to step in and be a companion to Paul. Paul needed Timothy.

- b. Help is needed when loved ones have to move on to their own ministries and we are left alone. Note that both Crescens and Titus had been with Paul, but they had to return to their own ministries. Nothing else is known about Crescens. This is the only reference to him in the Bible. However, tradition does say that he was one of the seventy sent forth to minister by Christ and that he became the bishop of Chalcedon (Herbert Lockyer. All the Men of the Bible, p.86).

Titus was a constant companion of Paul during the last fifteen years or more of Paul’s life. (see Introduction—Titus for more discussion). He had been sent by Paul to Dalmatia or what was once known as Yugoslavia or Serbia.

The absence of these two dear servants left a deep sense of loneliness in Paul. They needed to return to their own ministries, for the churches and God’s dear people needed their ministry. But their departure left an emptiness within Paul’s heart. He needed companionship, the encouragement of believers as he faced death.

- c. Help is needed when we have a ministry to carry on for the Lord. Note that only Luke was left with Paul. And note that Paul tells Timothy to bring Mark with him. Why? Because Paul needs him to help with the ministry which Paul was carrying on in prison. This is significant, for it tells us that Paul ministered wherever he was, even when he was in prison. His faithfulness is a dynamic example to us. We should minister wherever we are, no matter the circumstances.

The point is this: when we faithfully minister, we need help. We cannot do the work of the ministry alone. We must seek and ask for the help of other believers. (See notes, Luke—Col.4:14; Mark—Col.4:10 for more discussion.)

- d. Help is needed when a fellow-laborer has to be sent to his own ministry. Note that Paul was the one who sent Tychicus to minister in Ephesus (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.6:21-22 for more discussion). When he sent him, it meant that only Luke would remain with Paul. What courage! What a focus upon Christ and the ministry! Imagine facing death and being so focused upon the ministry that you begin to send all your companions off to take care of the needs of others. That was the heart and focus of Paul. Yet he himself had need as he faced death—the need for the companionship of believers.
- e. Help is needed when personal items are lacking. Paul needed three things. The prison dungeon was no doubt dark and cold and damp, and Paul needed more clothing (cp. v.21). He also needed “the books, but especially the parchments.” William Barclay suggests that the books were the gospels (Biblia), and the parchments either his legal documents, perhaps proving his Roman citizenship, or else the Hebrew Scriptures. He leans toward the parchments being the Hebrew Scriptures because the Hebrews had written their sacred Scriptures on parchment made from animal skins. As he says, “It was the word of Jesus and the word of God that Paul wanted most of all when he lay in prison awaiting death” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.252).

Thought 1. The point is this: we all have practical needs, needs that we sometimes cannot provide for ourselves due to illness, poverty, age, lack of access, lack of know-how, or a host of other reasons. As believers, we need to ask for the help of other believers; and as believers, we need to help when others have need.

- f. Help is needed when others actively oppose and do evil and cause trouble for us. In looking at Alexander the coppersmith, Barclay’s comments are suggestive.

“We do not know what Alexander had done; but perhaps we can deduce what harm he did. The word that Paul uses for did me much evil is the Greek verb endeiknumi. That verb literally means to display; and it was in fact often used for the laying of information against a man. Informers were one of the great curses of Rome at this time. They sought to curry favour for themselves and to receive rewards by laying information. And it may well be that Alexander was a renegade Christian, who went to the magistrates with false and slanderous information against Paul. It may be that Alexander turned against Paul and sought to ruin him in the most dishonourable way” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.252).

- How many believers turn against other believers? Begin to criticize, gossip, murmur, grumble, and oppose others?—all to gain their own way? How many seek the favor of others by tearing someone else down? Paul needed the help of some courageous believer who would stand with him. He needed someone who would stand by his side and stand against the evil and false charges of Alexander.
- f. Help is needed when we are forsaken by all others. Remember: Paul was facing a capital charge, the charge of being a trouble-maker or insurrectionist against Rome. He was appearing before Nero, the Emperor himself, which was the Supreme Court of Rome. Two trials were necessary: the preliminary trial or examination where the charges were laid out and briefly examined, and then the trial itself where the defendant was either found guilty or not guilty.

Paul had already faced the preliminary trial, and it is this trial to which he refers. Unbelievably and tragically, the very same thing that had happened to Christ happened to Paul. Not a single person—not one believer and not one friend—attended court with Paul. No one stood with Paul.

When a believer faces such a terrible trial, he needs help. He needs courageous believers standing with him. What an indictment! What a challenge for us to be courageous and faithful to each other in the dark hours of trial and need!

2. There is the experience of God helping the believer. Even when others do not help us, God will be with us. No greater declaration could be made: “But the Lord stood with me.” Men may not stand with us, but the Lord will. He will never forsake us no matter how grave and threatening the situation may be. He will stand right by our side. But note a critical fact: we must be faithful. Christ will stand with us just as we stand with Him. Paul declares that Christ was with him because he was not ashamed of Christ. He continued to preach Christ and His mission of eternal life for all men, even to the Roman Supreme Court, to Nero himself. The result: Paul “was delivered out of the mouth of the lion” (Nero and the devil).

3. There is the assurance of God’s eternal deliverance—of being rescued from death and transported into the Lord’s heavenly kingdom. Humanly, the situation seemed bleak for Paul. He was not guilty, yet he was being condemned to death on false charges because the civil and state religious leaders were set on stamping out Christ and His church. Paul was doomed to death in the eyes of the world. But note the glorious truth: not in the eyes of Paul. In the eyes of Paul, he was going to his coronation. The Lord Jesus Christ was going to preserve him and transport him into the kingdom of God, the kingdom that is gloriously perfected and that lasts forever. Paul has only one final statement about the matter: “To Christ be glory forever and ever.”

“Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

“There hath no temptation [trial] taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us” (2 Cor.1:10).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:5-6).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest” (Ex.33:14).

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him” (Ps.28:7).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:2).

“And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar [gray] hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you” (Is.46:4).

“Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, saith the LORD” (Jer.1:8).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

transported into God's heavenly kingdom. That one moment of time happens quicker than the blinking of an eye (11/100 of a second). Just imagine! There is no loss of consciousness, no experience or awareness of death. One moment Paul is a citizen of this world, and within the same split moment he stands before the Lord as a citizen of His kingdom (2 Cor.5:6-8). It is the beautiful picture of the believer never having to taste death. (See notes—Col.3:1-4; Heb.2:9; cp. 2 Cor.5:5-8.)

2 (4:19-22) Paul—Believers, Hall of Fame: believers need to always show personal interest in each other. This is a lesson that can be learned from the closings of Paul's letters to the churches. He always sent greetings from believers who were with him as well as greeting believers in the churches to which he was writing. Remember these were the very last words that Paul ever wrote.

1. Paul greeted other believers. There was no sense of competitiveness or jealousy whatsoever in him. He loved and cared for all.

⇒ Prisca and Aquila (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 18:2 for discussion).

⇒ Onesiphorous (see note—2 Tim.1:16-18 for discussion).

2. Paul supplied information about others. He was concerned for those who longed for information about other ministers. Again, note how he lifts others up, sharing whatever he can about other dear believers.

⇒ Erastus (see note—Ro.16:23 for discussion).

⇒ Trophimus (see note—Acts 20:4-6 for discussion).

3. Paul requested help for himself. He needed Timothy's presence and encouragement (see note—2 Tim.4:9-18).

4. Paul passed on the greetings of others. Who were these? Paul had just said that Luke alone was with him. They were probably believers who lived in Rome and who occasionally visited Paul, but who did not visit him too often nor really minister to his needs.

⇒ Eubulus and Pudens and Claudia: this is the only mention of these in the New Testament. However, they and Timothy must have known each other for them to be sending greetings to Timothy.

⇒ Linus: this, too, is the only mention of him in the New Testament. However, early Christian writers say that he was the first bishop of Rome and that he served as bishop for about twelve years (Herbert Lockyer. All the Men of the Bible, p.218).

5. Paul gave the benediction of Christ and of grace. These are the last words ever written by God's dear servant, the servant who loved the Lord and people so much, yet who suffered so much at the hands of people. He loved everyone and he loved everyone deeply. All he wanted for men was two simple but glorious things:

⇒ that the Lord Jesus Christ, God's own dear Son, might be with their spirit.

⇒ that the grace of God—His favor and blessings—be with all.

“But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they” (Acts 15:11).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:7-9).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TITUS

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TITUS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 64-66, some time after he wrote First Timothy. The books of First Timothy and Titus seem to have been written while Paul was travelling and ministering between two Roman imprisonments. The date depends upon the answer to this question: Did Paul suffer one or two Roman imprisonments? The book of Acts mentions only one imprisonment and closes with Paul in prison in Rome. It says nothing about his death. As one discusses this question, one major thing needs to be kept in mind. Paul prayed fervently that God would release him from prison. And he asked others to pray fervently for his release (Ph.1:25-26; Phile.22). Did God answer his prayer as requested? No one knows for sure. However, several factors point rather decisively to his being released and later suffering a second imprisonment.

1. The Life and Movements of Paul. Paul says in Tit.1:5 that he had been to Crete on a mission tour. And in Tit.3:12 he says that he was spending the winter in Nicopolis. These events do not fit in with any of the accounts in Acts. The evidence seems to be that God answered his prayer and had him released from prison.

2. The Life and Movements of Paul's Companions. Note the following two examples, and there are others. In 1 Tim.1:3 Paul says that he told Timothy to stay in Ephesus. But there is no record of this event in Scripture. Paul had made only two visits to Ephesus. One was a very short visit with little, if any, ministry. There is no mention whatsoever about Timothy (Acts 18:19-22). The second was his three year ministry in which Timothy had a part. But when it came time for Paul to move on, he sent Timothy and Erastus to Macedonia. He did not ask Timothy to stay in Ephesus. When then did Paul tell Timothy to stay in Ephesus? There just is no record of such a visit in Scripture. Thus all indications point to a third visit by Paul and Timothy—a visit after his first imprisonment and before an unrecorded second imprisonment.

Again, in 2 Tim.4:20 Paul writes, "Trophimus have I left at Miletum sick." Paul was in Miletum before his first Roman imprisonment, but he did not leave Trophimus there sick (Acts 20:17). Trophimus went on to Rome with Paul (Acts 21:29). When then was Trophimus left at Miletum sick? The only clear answer seems to be that Paul made another visit to Miletum—after his first imprisonment and right before a second unrecorded imprisonment.

3. The Time Sequence Between the Writing of the Prison Epistles and the Pastoral Epistles. The Prison Epistles (Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon) were written while Paul was in prison in Rome. He says so in each epistle. Note the following example: Philemon 24 says that Demas is a follower of Christ, but 2 Tim.4:10 says that he had deserted. The letter to Timothy was definitely written after the prison letter to Philemon. When? The evidence points toward a time after his first imprisonment and before a second unrecorded imprisonment. This seems to be the only clear explanation.

As stated above, 1 Timothy and Titus seem to have been written right after Paul had been released from his first imprisonment in Rome and was travelling about ministering. At some point in those few years he was rearrested and imprisoned in Rome for a second time. During this second imprisonment he wrote Second Timothy before he was executed. His execution was probably between A.D. 65-68.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To Titus, mine own son after the common faith" (Tit.1:4). These facts are known about Titus.

- ⇒ He was a Gentile, a Greek (Gal.2:3).
- ⇒ He was led to Christ by Paul (Tit.1:4).
- ⇒ His conversion was such a testimony that he was personally used as an example of God's work among the Gentiles before the Jerusalem Council (Gal.2:12f).
- ⇒ He became a missionary partner to Paul and served with Paul for the last fifteen years of Paul's life (2 Cor.7:6-16; 8:16f; 2 Cor.2:13; 7:6, 13; 8:23; 12:18; 2 Tim.4:10).
- ⇒ He apparently served with Paul in Ephesus and was sent by Paul to Corinth: sent to deliver the Second Epistle to the Corinthians from Paul and to help the church straighten out the divisions within the church (2 Cor.8:6).
- ⇒ He was in charge of the churches on the island of Crete (Tit.1:5). Crete was one of the most difficult mission fields in the ancient world. Its people had one of the worst reputations imaginable—so much so that the very name Cretian was used as a byword, "to cretize." "To cretize" meant that a person was a cheat and a liar. The Cretians were "famed as a drunken, insolent, untrustworthy, lying, gluttonous people" (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.277).
- ⇒ He was with Paul for a while when Paul was in prison in Rome (2 Tim.4:10).
- ⇒ The last word about Titus is that he was sent by Paul to Dalmatia or Yugoslavia to minister (2 Tim.4:17)

PURPOSE: Paul had three purposes for writing Titus.

1. To warn against false teachers.
2. To set in order the organization of the churches and the behavior of the believers (Tit.1:5).
3. To encourage Titus to proclaim the message of sound doctrine.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. Titus is "A Pastoral Epistle." There are two other Pastoral Epistles: First and Second Timothy. They are called Pastoral Epistles because they deal primarily with the pastoral care, oversight, and organization of the church. They tell believers how they ought to behave in the house of God (1 Tim.3:15). Interestingly, the term pastoral has a long history. It was first used by Thomas Aquinas in A.D. 1274. He called First Timothy "an epistle of pastoral rule" and 2 Timothy "an epistle of pastoral care.” The term “Pastoral Epistles,” however, began to be widely used only after D.N. Berdot (A.D. 1703) and Paul Anton (A.D. 1726) so described them (Donald Guthrie, The Pastoral Epistles, p.11).

2. Titus is “A Personal Epistle.” It was written to a young disciple who was loved as a son. The epistle is filled with feelings of warmth and affection and filled with instructions that were to govern Titus’ personal behavior.

3. Titus is “An Ecclesiastical Epistle.” It was written to answer questions about church organization, doctrinal purity, and personal behavior. Two things were happening. First, the number and sizes of churches were growing rapidly, and second, the apostles were aging. In both cases the apostles were just unable to personally reach and instruct all the churches; therefore, they had to write if the churches were to be properly instructed.

4. Titus is “An Apologetic Epistle.” It is a defense of the faith. The first rumblings and early development of false teaching had just begun to appear (Gnosticism. See Colossians, Introductory Notes, Purpose.) Therefore, Paul warns the believers and defends the truth against heretical and false teaching.

GREETING: THE MINISTRY OF GOD'S SERVANT, 1:1-4

(1:1-4) Introduction: Paul always declared his relationship to God and the Lord Jesus Christ when writing a letter. He wanted no question about who he was nor about what his purpose was. He was focused upon Christ and His glorious gospel that offered eternal life to men. From the first to the last, Paul was the servant of God and the messenger of the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the purpose of these introductory words to Titus: to declare that he is God's servant. This is an excellent passage on the ministry of God's servant.

1. His great call (v.1).
2. His purpose: to stir believers (v.1).
3. His message: the hope of eternal life (v.2-3).
4. His reward: bearing sons in the faith (v.4).

1 (1:1) Slave—Apostle—Paul: God's servant receives the greatest of calls. God's true servant is called to be a slave of God and an apostle or messenger of Jesus Christ. Note two striking points.

1. Paul says that he was a slave of God. This is striking, for the last thing that a person wants to be is a slave to anybody. Yet this is exactly what Paul claimed. In fact, he proudly declared that he was the slave of God. What did Paul mean?
 - a. He meant that he was totally possessed by God. God had looked upon Paul and seen his degraded and needful condition; God had seen Paul in the slave-market of the world, held in bondage by sin and death, the trouble and trials of life. And God was moved with compassion toward Paul; therefore, God bought and purchased Paul. Paul was now the slave of God—totally possessed by God.
 - b. He meant that his will belonged totally to God. He was completely subservient to God and owed total allegiance to the will of God. As Kenneth Wuest says, "His will was swallowed up in the sweet will of God" (The Pastoral Epistles, Vol.2, p.181).
 - c. He meant that he had the highest and most honored and kingly profession in all the world. Men of God, the greatest men of history, have always been called "the servants of God." It was the highest title of honor. The believer's slavery to God is no cringing, cowardly, or shameful subjection. It is the position of honor—the honor that bestows upon a man the privileges and responsibilities of serving the King of kings and Lord of lords.
 - ⇒ Moses was the slave of God (Dt.34:5; Ps.105:26; Mal.4:4).
 - ⇒ Joshua was the slave of God (Josh.5:14).
 - ⇒ David was the slave of God (2 Sam.3:18; Ps.78:70).
 - ⇒ Paul was the slave of God (Ro.1:1; Ph.1:1; Tit.1:1).
 - ⇒ James was the slave of God (Jas.1:1).
 - ⇒ Jude was the slave of God (Jude 1).
 - ⇒ The prophets were the slaves of God (Amos 3:7; Jer.7:25).
 - ⇒ Christian believers are said to be the slaves of Jesus Christ (Acts 2:18; 1 Cor.7:22; Eph.6:6; Col.4:12; 2 Tim.2:24).

Thought 1. The great need today is for men and women to become slaves of the Lord Jesus Christ. We must become His slaves and do what He says. Then and only then will the world be reached with the glorious news of eternal life. Then and only then will the desperate needs of the world be met.

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour" (Jn.12:26; cp. Ro.12:1; 1 Cor.15:58).

"[Laboring] not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men" (Eph.6:6-7).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“And ye shall serve the Lord your God” (Ex.23:25).

“What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

“Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing” (Ps.100:2).

2. Paul says that he was an apostle of Jesus Christ. The word “apostle” means a person who is sent out or sent forth. An apostle is a representative, an ambassador, an envoy, a person who is sent out into one country to represent another country. Three things are true of the apostle:

⇒ he belongs to the king or country who sends him out.

⇒ he is commissioned to be sent out.

⇒ he possesses all the authority and power of the person who sends him out.

Thought 1. The very same things are true of any minister or teacher of Christ: the minister or teacher is the representative, ambassador, envoy, and messenger of Jesus Christ and only of Jesus Christ. As William Barclay says:

“The man who preaches the gospel of Christ or teaches the truth of Christ, if he is a truly dedicated soul, does not talk about his own opinions, or offer his own conclusions; he comes with the message of Christ and with the word of God. The true envoy of Christ has reached past the stage of perhapses and maybes and possibly, and speaks with the accent of the certainty and the authority of one who knows” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.260).

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Paul, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead)” (Gal.1:1).

“But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ” (Gal.1:11-12).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

“Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me” (Is.6:8).

2 (1:1) Minister, Purpose—Faith—Truth: the purpose of God’s servant is to stir believers. Note that believers are called “God’s elect.” They are the persons whom God has chosen to be His “holy and beloved” people.

⇒ Believers have been elected to be holy. The word “holy” (hagios) means separated or set apart. God called believers out of the world and away from the old life it offered, the old life of sin and death. He called believers to be separated and set apart unto Himself and the new life He offers, the new life of righteousness and eternity.

⇒ Believers have been elected to be the beloved of God. God has called believers to turn away from the old life that showed hatred toward God, the old life that rejected, rebelled, ignored, denied, and was constantly cursing in the face of God. God has called believers to be the beloved of God, the persons who receive His love in Christ Jesus and who allow Him to shower His love upon them.

Very simply stated, the elect of God, the holy and beloved of God, are those who have really believed and trusted Jesus Christ as their Savior. It is these persons, the believers, who really have faith in God and acknowledge the truth which leads to godliness.

The point is this: the servant of God builds upon the faith of believers. He and they both believe in God and have committed their lives to the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, his whole purpose for existing is twofold.

1. The servant of God stirs believers to have more and more faith in God. He stirs them to build their faith—to increase it—to grow more and more in their trust of God and of Christ. He labors day and night to turn men to Christ and to stir them to trust Him. He knows that their only hope to overcome the sin and death of this world is to trust Christ; therefore, He does all he can—laboring day and night—to teach them to trust His death and resurrection to deliver them.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“And they rose early in the morning, and went forth into the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they went forth, Jehoshaphat stood and said, Hear me, O Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem; Believe in the LORD your God, so shall ye be established; believe his prophets, so shall ye prosper” (2 Chron.20:20).

2. The servant of God stirs believers to acknowledge the truth; that is, he stirs them to grow in the knowledge of the truth: to study the truth; to learn it, and to practice it. Note why. Because of godliness. Godliness is to be the end, the very reason why we are to learn the truth. We are to live godly lives. God wants His people to be godly, that is, to be like Him; to live like He lives. We shall be with Him eternally—living face to face with Him—conformed to His godly nature. Therefore, He wants us to live like Him now—to live godly, holy, and righteous lives. He wants us to show the world that He is real—show them by letting His godliness live itself out in our lives.

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“But refuse profane and old wives’ fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness” (1 Tim.4:7).

“But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:11).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

3 (1:2-3) Ministers, Motivation—Eternal life—Word of God: the message of God’s servant is the hope of eternal life. Unbelievable! Too good to be true! Yet it is true. There is eternal life. The glorious message of God’s servant is nothing less than the message of deliverance from death—of living forever and ever. Note four points.

1. First, the hope of eternal life has been promised by God Himself. There are two reasons.

a. God cannot lie. God cannot lie because of His perfect nature. Think about these facts for a moment.

⇒ God’s nature is perfect love and love does not lie. God loves perfectly; therefore, He always tells the truth. He has promised us eternal life because He loves us, because He is the God of love and truth; therefore, we shall receive eternal life. We shall live with Him forever and ever.

⇒ God’s nature is perfect morality and righteousness. Morality and righteousness do not lie. A moral and righteous person tells the truth. And just think: God is perfect; therefore, He is always moral and righteous. He can never be immoral by deceiving nor be unrighteous by lying. Therefore, we shall receive eternal life—live forever just as He has promised.

⇒ God’s nature is perfect truth. Once He speaks He has spoken, and it shall be so. His Word can never be anything but what has been spoken. Therefore, when God promised eternal life to those who believe, then all who believe shall live forever.

b. God gave the promise of eternal life before the world began. Eternal life was His very purpose for creating man. Therefore when He created man, He purposed that every person who believed in Him—who truly believed in Him—would live with Him eternally. God cannot lie; therefore, what He promised before the world began WILL BE. If we truly believe in God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, we shall live forever and ever.

“He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he” (Dt.32:4).

“And now, O Lord God, thou art that God, and thy words be true, and thou hast promised this goodness unto thy servant” (2 Sam.7:28).

“For the word of the LORD is right; and all his works are done in truth” (Ps.33:4).

“Which made heaven, and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth truth for ever” (Ps.146:6).

“God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged” (Ro.3:4).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:18).

2. Second, the hope of eternal life was revealed in God's Word—revealed through preaching. God has given man a record of His promise—a record of eternal life. Where? Where can man find this record? In God's Word and in the preaching of God's Word. God has recorded forever the glorious message of eternal life in His Word and in the preaching of His Word. As long as the earth stands His Word will stand, and some believers will be preaching the glorious message of eternal life. Therefore, if a person wants to find the record of eternal life, he must not go to the records of men, but to the Word of God and to the preaching of that Word.

“He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God” (1 Jn.5:10-13).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)” (Acts 10:36).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

3. The hope of eternal life has been entrusted into the hands of Paul and to all other believers—to all the servants and ministers of God. Note exactly what this verse says: God's Word and the preaching of God's Word have been committed to men by the commandment of God. God's Word and the preaching of His Word are not an option. God commands that we take care of His Word and that we preach it—all believers—all the servants and ministers of God. The message of eternal life is to be proclaimed.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

4. The hope of eternal life has been promised by God our Savior. It is God the Father, as well as Christ, who loves and saves us. Therefore, we never have to die. God delivers us from sin, death, and judgment to come. The point to see is that God is not like He is sometimes pictured.

⇒ God is not way off in space someplace, unconcerned and disinterested in the world and trials of men. Neither is God stern and severe, always looking over the shoulders of men just waiting to punish them when they go astray and do something wrong. God is not a hovering Judge, filled with anger and madness at men. God is love; God is our Savior and He longs to save us—to give us eternal life.

“And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour” (Lk.1:47).

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:3-6).

“For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe” (1 Tim.4:10).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever” (Jude 25).

“Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation” (Is.12:2).

“And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the LORD; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation” (Is.25:9).

4 (1:4) Minister: the reward of God’s servant is that of fruit, of bearing others in the faith. Titus was a spiritual son of Paul; that is, Paul had apparently led Titus to the Lord. (See Introduction, Author—for discussion on Titus.) Note the phrase “common faith.” Titus believed in the Lord Jesus Christ just as Paul did. His faith was common to Paul’s; it was placed in the same Person—in the Lord Jesus Christ. The point is powerful: the common faith in Christ is the faith that brings eternal life to all believers. All persons who believe in Christ have one thing in common: their faith. Therefore, they are the ones who shall live eternally.

The point is this: a true servant of God will bear fruit; he will bear sons and daughters in the faith. This is part of their reward: to see others trust Christ Jesus as their Savior and grow in the grace, mercy, and peace of God and Christ. Note these terms.

⇒ Grace (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15 for discussion).

⇒ Mercy (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Mercy—1 Tim.1:2 for discussion).

⇒ Peace (see note, Peace—1 Tim.1:2 for discussion).

While walking upon earth, a servant of God can have no greater reward than to see others receive Christ and grow spiritually.

“Go ye therefore, and teach [make disciples] all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

DIVISION I

THE TRUE AND FALSE CHURCH OFFICIALS, 1:5-16

A. The True Elders or Ministers, 1:5-9

(1:5-9) Introduction: this passage is a strong picture of the office-holder in the church—just what the office-holder should be and do. It spells out in no uncertain terms the qualifications of the elder (bishop or minister, whatever the title is that he is known by).

1. Two critical needs in the church (v.5).
2. His family qualifications (v.6).
3. His personal qualifications (v.7-8).
4. His preaching qualifications (v.9).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:5-9) Elder (presbuteros)—Bishop (episkopos): note the term elder and bishop are used interchangeably in this passage (v.5, 7). (See outline and notes—1 Tim.3:1-7 for more discussion.) The elder or bishop was probably the same office as the pastor-teacher or minister of a church. The gift of pastor-teacher refers to only one gift which is given to the same person (Eph.4:11). The focus of the gift is to pastor, oversee, and shepherd believers in the local church. William Barclay points out that elder was more of a Jewish name and bishop was more of a Greek name, each referring to the same office (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.80-81). The word elder was used to refer to the man, to his standing, to his years of faithfulness and service. The word bishop (episkopas—overseer) and the gift pastor-teacher were used to refer to the man's duties and his work of overseeing and supervising the church. In comparison, a man today is often called minister, pastor, preacher, or reverend. Usually reverend is used to refer to the man personally and minister, pastor, or preacher is used to refer to the man's functions.

The pastoral gift is the gift that is directly ascribed to the Lord Jesus. He called Himself the Good Shepherd (Jn.10:11, 14). Others called Him the Great Shepherd of the sheep (Heb.13:20), the Shepherd of men's souls (1 Pt.2:25), and the Chief Shepherd (1 Pt.5:4). The pastoral gift is an ordained office; the elder is the basic office of the church.

1. Elders are called and set apart by the Holy Spirit (Acts 20:28; 13:2).
2. Elders are ordained officers (Acts 14:23; Tit.1:5).
3. Elders shepherd and oversee the flock of God (Acts 20:28-29; 1 Pt.5:2-3).
4. Elders are to guard and preach the Word (Tit.1:9).
5. Elders have a healing ministry through prayers and the anointing with oil (Jas.5:14).
6. Elders took a leading part in the decisions of the Jerusalem Council. They are identified along with the apostles as the chief authorities of the church (Acts 15:2; 16:4).
7. Elders are the ones to whom Paul reports when returning from his third missionary journey, and they are the ones who advise him how to combat the Judaizers (Acts 21:18-25).
8. Elders are the ones to whom Paul delivers the offering that had been taken for the Jerusalem Church during the great famine (Acts 11:30).

1 (1:5) Church, Needs: two critical needs exist in the church. Note: the church in Crete had these two needs. Crete was an island in the Mediterranean Sea, an island with many cities. William Barclay quotes Homer as calling the island, "Crete of the hundred cities" (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.268). No doubt, Paul had led people to Christ all over the island in city after city, and had established churches in the cities in which the converts lived. However, he had left to carry on the work of evangelism, but he had left Titus behind to root and ground the church in Christ. Paul spells out two critical needs of the churches, two needs that exist in every church.

1. There was the need to set in order the things that are defective and left undone. This refers to all that Paul covers in the letter to Titus:

- ⇒ How to set up true officials in the church and how to deal with false teachers (Tit.1:5-16).
- ⇒ How men and women in the church are to live and behave (Tit.2:1-3:11).

Thought 1. No matter the church, there are still some defects and some things to be done. Every church still has a long way to go before it reaches the full stature of what it should be before its Lord. But even more than this, tragically too many churches have two serious defects and flaws: they are not adequately organized for ministry and they have allowed false teaching in their ranks. As a result they are not reaching people for Christ and, in some cases, they are facing terrible division and splits and destruction of their testimony.

The point is this: the very need of a church is to set in order the things that are defective and left undone. A church must be constantly growing in Christ or else it begins to slip back and to lose its message of eternal life for mankind.

2. There was the need to ordain elders in every city. The term elder refers to the minister of the church. No church, no matter how small, should remain without a minister for too long. This was the concern of Paul for the churches in Crete, and it should be our concern. One of the two critical needs of a church is for committed ministers who love the Lord with all their heart. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Elder—Tit.1:5-9 for more discussion.)

2 (1:6) Elder—Minister—Bishop: the minister or elder of a church must be qualified. He must meet some family qualifications.

1. The minister or elder must be blameless (see note, pt.1—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple [harmless] concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heaven” (Heb.7:26).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

2. The minister or elder must be the husband of one wife (see note, pt.2—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female, and said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder” (Mt.19:4-6).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behavior, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“If any be blameless, the husband of one wife” (Tit.1:6).

“Neither shall he multiply wives to himself, that his heart turn not away: neither shall he greatly multiply to himself silver and gold” (Dt.17:17).

3. The minister or elder must have faithful children. By faithful is meant believing in the Lord Jesus Christ and remaining faithful to Him. The minister’s children are to be above reproach; they are not to be “loose in morals and conduct or unruly and disorderly” (Amplified New Testament).

William Barclay gives an excellent description of this point:

“The family of the elder must not be undisciplined. Nothing can be made up for the lack of parental control. The training of children is ultimately in the hands of the parent” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.268f).

Oliver Greene also gives an excellent picture of what Scripture is saying about the minister and his children:

“What Paul is saying here is that an elder or bishop must have a well-governed family, a family which fully respects him, a family well trained in spiritual matters. If the family of a bishop were insubordinate and opposed to spiritual matters, or if members of the family were unbelievers or scoffers, that man could not be entrusted with the government of the church of the living God.

“It is clearly set forth here that an elder or bishop must be a family man, with a wife and children who respect him to the fullest degree. His family must be spiritually minded; they must love the church and the things of God and cooperate with the head of the family in all things. If a man cannot rule his own house and lead his own family concerning spiritual matters, how could he direct the church? If he were a man who did not have the respect of his family, he could not hope to have the respect of the church” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.415).

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“[A bishop must be] a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience....To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:2, 5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

3 (1:7-8) Elder—Minister: the minister or bishop must measure up personally; there are some personal qualifications that he must meet. Note the elder is here called bishop. The two words are used interchangeably. Note also the critical importance placed upon his being blameless; he must live a blameless life. The reason is clearly stated: he is the “steward of God.” A steward is the person who is placed in charge of the household and estate of the owner. The bishop or minister is the steward of God’s church and God’s people. He does not own the church, nor does he possess the people of the church. But he is in charge of their provision and education, of their nourishment and growth, of their behavior and duties. He must see that the household of God is cared for and looked after and that their energies and lives are directed to the will of the Master. Above all else, the steward must do the will of the Master, carry out His Word without any deviation whatsoever. This is what is meant by being “blameless as the steward of God.” The steward exists solely for the Master—solely to see that the Word of God is done. He must be blameless when it comes to the will of God. (See note, Ministers—1 Cor.4:1-2 for more discussion.)

1. Note: there are some things—very important things—that the minister or steward of God must not do.

a. He must not be self-willed (authade): self-pleasing, arrogant, haughty, and self-centered. It is a person who thinks too highly of himself, who looks at his own things and ignores or neglects the things of others. It is a person who is harsh to others; who criticizes, grumbles, and condemns others; who downs others and elevates himself in his own mind.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble. Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:5-6).

b. He must not be angry (orge): a long-lasting anger; an anger that is deeply rooted and has been held for a long time; an anger against someone that a person just refuses to let go; the person refuses to forgive the other person. The minister must not be quick tempered or hot-headed, nor given over to long-lasting anger.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca', shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire” (Mt.5:22).

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath” (Eph.4:26).

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth” (Col.3:8).

“For a bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God; not selfwilled, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre” (Tit.1:7).

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath” (Jas.1:19).

“Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil” (Ps.37:8).

“The discretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression” (Pr.19:11).

“Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools” (Eccl.7:9).

- c. He must not be given to wine, to drunkenness (see note, pt.8—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“For he [John the Baptist] shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink; and he shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even from his mother’s womb” (Lk.1:15).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“Do not drink wine nor strong drink, thou, nor thy sons with thee, when ye go into the tabernacle of the congregation, lest ye die: it shall be a statute for ever throughout your generations” (Lev.10:9).

“He [the Nazarite] shall separate himself from wine and strong drink, and shall drink no vinegar of wine, or vinegar of strong drink, neither shall he drink any liquor of grapes, nor eat moist grapes, or dried” (Num.6:3).

“Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright” (Pr.23:31).

“It is not for kings, O Lemuel, it is not for kings to drink wine; nor for princes strong drink” (Pr.31:4).

“But they said, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the son of Rechab our father commanded us, saying, Ye shall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your sons for ever” (Jer.35:6).

“But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king’s meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself” (Dan.1:8).

- d. He must not be a striker, a person given over to violence (see note, pt.9—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm” (Pr.3:30).

“The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with” (Pr.17:14).

“It is an honor for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

- e. He must not be given over to the love of money or worldly possessions (see note, pt.12—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:10).

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust [storing, banking] of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days” (Jas.5:3).

3. Note: there are some very important things that the minister or steward of God must be.

- a. He must be a lover of hospitality (see note, pt.6—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares” (Heb.13:2).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

- b. He must be a lover of good men (philagathos): the Greek means a lover of good things as well as of good people. The minister of God loves good no matter where he finds it, in people or things. He loves the poor and the homeless, the weak and the suffering, as well as the wealthy and healthy. And the minister loves to do good things for everyone, no matter who they are—good things such as...

- expressing appreciation
- helping when help is needed
- encouraging
- ministering and serving
- giving gifts
- preaching and teaching the truth of God’s Word

Very simply stated, a minister loves good men and good things; therefore, he is always ministering. He is always involved in the lives of good people and always involved in doing good things for everyone he can.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

- c. He must be sober or sober minded (see note, pt.4—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“[A bishop must be] a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience....To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:2, 5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

- d. He must be just (dikaion): honest, upright, fair, above board in his behavior and dealings with both God and man. There is no deception, lying, cheating, stealing, meanness, misbehavior, or irresponsibility whatsoever in the minister’s dealings—none with men or with God.

“Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour” (Ro.13:7).

“To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice” (Pr.21:3).

“Thus saith the Lord, Keep ye judgment, and do justice: for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed” (Is.56:1).

“That which is altogether just shalt thou follow, that thou mayest live, and inherit the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee” (Dt.16:20).

- e. He must be holy (hosion): pure, clean, moral, unpolluted from the dirt and filth of sin. The minister must be a person who is clean and pure before the eyes of God.

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ; as obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation” (1 Pt.1:13-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

- f. He is temperate or self-controlled in all things. He must have power over his body, mind, and life. He must be vigilant and watchful, controlling and guarding his behavior both when alone and when with others. He must control his eyes, ears, tongue, flesh, appetites, thoughts, hands, and feet—watching where he goes, what he does, says, thinks, eats, hears, looks at, and desires.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

4 (1:9) Minister—Preaching: the minister or bishop must measure up in his preaching; there is a preaching qualification that he must meet.

1. The bishop or minister must hold fast the faithful Word. What Word? Note what the verse says: the “sound doctrine” that he must preach, the “sound doctrine” or teaching of God’s Word. The minister of God must take the Word of God and cling to it in the face of all temptation and opposition—no matter what men may say or claim. The minister of God is a minister of God; he is not called to be the minister of anyone else. Therefore, his mission is to cling to the Word of God. He is to hold fast to the pure Word of God; he is to be taught the “sound doctrine” of the Word. He is to be a person who has studied and studied the Word and is deeply rooted and grounded in the Word of God. His measurement is not how good a speaker he is, how charismatic and appealing; it is how well he has taught the Word of God. How much has he rooted his people in the doctrines of God’s Word?

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works” (2 Tim.3:16-17).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God” (1 Jn.5:13).

2. There is a strong reason why the bishop or minister must hold fast to the Word of God: he must be able to exhort and to convert those who oppose God and Christ.

⇒ People need to be exhorted, that is, encouraged to trust Christ and to follow Him.

⇒ People need to be convicted, especially those who stand opposed to God and curse him and refuse to surrender to Him. The word convict (elegchein) means “to rebuke a man in such a way that he is compelled to see and to admit the error of his ways. Trench says that it means ‘to rebuke another, with such an effectual wielding of the victorious arms of the truth, as to bring him, if not always to a confession, yet at least to a conviction of his sin’....Christian rebuke means far more than ‘giving a man a row’...means far more than merely speaking to him in such a way that he sees the error of his ways and accepts the truth. The aim of Christian rebuke is not to humiliate a man, but to enable him to see and recognize and admit the duty and the truth to which he has been either blind or disobedient” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.274).

Note how the minister of God is to exhort and convince people: “by sound doctrine.” And note the word “able”: he is to be so grounded in God’s Word that he is able to exhort and convict people out of God’s Word.

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

DIVISION I

THE TRUE AND FALSE CHURCH OFFICIALS, 1:5-16

B. The Contrasting False Teachers. 1:10-16

(1:10-16) Introduction: this is a clear picture of false teachers, a picture that every believer and church should diligently study.

1. They oppose the truth (v.10-12).
2. They must be rebuked (v.13-14).
3. They are impure—totally (v.15).
4. They make a profession of God, but their works deny God (v.16).

1 (1:10-12) False Teachers: they oppose the truth. There were many false teachers throughout the churches of Crete, and there have been many down through the centuries. The church has always had to combat false teaching. Note: the false teachers come from within the churches, not from without. They were of the circumcision, that is...

- they were religionists (v.10).
- they professed God (v.16).
- they were subverting whole houses (v.11).

Remember: the churches met in homes; they did not have buildings in which to meet. The point to see is that they opposed the truth.

1. They were unruly (anupotaktoi): undisciplined, rebellious, disloyal, insubordinate against God and the truth. They refused to submit to God and to the truth of the gospel and of God's Word.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

2. They were vain talkers (mataiologoi): empty talkers, saying and teaching things that amount to nothing and are worthless. Their teaching helped no one—not permanently and not eternally. Their teaching was not able to overcome sin and death—not able to bring true forgiveness of sin and eternal life to a person.

“Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?” (Job 15:3).

“The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness” (Eccl.10:13).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

3. They were deceivers (phrenapatiai): “mind-deceivers” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.600), misleaders. They misled themselves and misled others away from the truth. They turned away from the truth and followed error; they followed a false belief.

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

4. They were of the circumcision; that is, they were Jewish religionists. (See notes—Gal.2:3-5; DEEPER STUDY # 1—2:4; 5:2-4 for more discussion.) They professed Christ, but they refused to accept the all-sufficiency of Christ and His cross.

- ⇒ They refused to accept that Christ died for their sins—actually bore the judgment and punishment for their transgressions against God.
- ⇒ They refused to accept that God accepted them by faith and only by faith—that God took their faith and counted it as righteousness; that God required nothing more and nothing less than a person’s total trust, the laying of the person’s life into the hands of God, all the person is and has, his total being—and that is all that was needed to be saved.

Very simply, the false teachers—the religionists—taught that man made himself acceptable...

- by doing the best he could.
- by being good and doing good.
- by being as religious as he could.
- by keeping the laws and rules of religion.
- by undergoing the basic ritual of religion (circumcision, baptism, confirmation, church membership, etc.).
- by observing and practicing the ceremonies and rules of religion.
- by being faithful in worship and stewardship.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

5. They had mouths that needed to be silenced. Their false teaching needed to be stopped, but not by physical force. The word “stopped” (epistomizein) means to muzzle or bridle, but it should be by reason and argument, not by physical force. False teachers must always be stopped. Their teaching is misleading and erroneous; therefore, their teaching must be restrained, stopped dead in its tracks. Their tongues must be silenced. False teachers must not be allowed to sow the seeds of their error.

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

“For so is the will of God, that with well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men” (1 Pt.2:15).

6. They were subverting, that is, upsetting and disrupting whole houses. They were turning some away from the truth and tearing families apart. In other cases they were overthrowing the faith of whole families. Whole families were following the false teaching and leaving the church. This was, of course, the objective of the false teachers: to secure a following for themselves by turning people away from the truth of Christ.

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:6-8).

“Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:19).

7. They were teaching things that they should not teach (see pt.4 above).

8. They were seeking personal gain (filthy lucre). They had entered the church and religion and were teaching a false doctrine...

- to gain a livelihood or money.
- to gain recognition.
- to gain a following.
- to gain acceptance.
- to gain the satisfaction of being in a reputable profession.

9. They had a sorry reputation. They were professing religionists, but they were living no better than the rest of society. This is clearly seen by looking at three traits of Cretian society. Note that the traits are taken from a Cretian poet. (Grecian poets were considered prophets in that day, men who were under the inspiration of the gods.) Paul does not give his name, but he was Epimenides who lived somewhere around 600 B.C. and was ranked as one of the seven wisest men of Greece (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.277).

- a. The false teachers were chronic liars. They were not living for Christ nor following after the truth. They were just like Cretian society, living false lives and following lies. And they were teaching a false, lying doctrine—teaching it right inside the church, leading believers to follow their lies.
- b. The false teachers were evil beasts. That is, they were savage and malicious in standing against the truth of Christ and of salvation by grace through faith. Just like wild beasts, they savagely attacked the church and its believers, attempting to consume them in their false teaching and doctrine.
- c. The false teachers were idle gluttons. This does not mean that they were inactive and never industrious nor that they were fat and lazy. Some, no doubt, were just as some are in every society—lazy, gluttonous, slothful, and too complacent to study the Word of God and to seek the truth. What it means in this context is that...
 - they were idle in dealing with the truth. They had nothing to do with the truth. They had turned away from it. When it came to Christ and the truth, they were idle and inactive.
 - they were gluttons, that is, greedy and seeking to fill their lust for whatever they were after: recognition, a following, money, self-image. Honoring Christ and reaching people for Christ and sharing the truth was not the focus of their lives.

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness” (1 Tim.6:3).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

2 (1:13-14) False Teachers: they must be rebuked. The witness just given against society and false teachers is true. And remember: the false teachers were in the church, professing to be followers of Christ. But they were not following Christ—not fully and wholly. Therefore, they had to be sharply rebuked. The idea is that they had to be corrected with sternness and even in severity. This is understandable, for false teaching is one of the greatest sins and dangers facing believers. False teaching hurts the church and its believers as much as any sin, for it turns men away from God and Christ and destroys the church and its mission. But note a most significant point: there were two reasons why the false teachers and their followers were to be rebuked.

1. False teachers and their followers were to be rebuked so that they might become sound in the faith.

*“Here precisely is the wonderful thing....Paul does not say to Timothy: ‘Leave them alone. They are hopeless and all men know it.’ He says: ‘They are bad and all men know it. Go and convert them.’ There are few passages which so demonstrate the divine optimism of the Christian missionary and evangelist, who refuses to regard any man as hopeless. The greater the evil, the greater the challenge. It is the Christian conviction that there is no sin which is too great for the grace of Jesus Christ to encounter and to conquer” (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.278).*

The false teachers were not sound in the faith; they were not standing with Christ nor for Christ. They were not following Christ nor teaching the Word of God in its purity and simplicity. They were in danger of being lost, and condemned from the presence of God forever. In addition they were leading others down the same false road. If the false teachers and their followers were not corrected, then more and more lives would be corrupted and destroyed. Therefore, the false teachers had to be dealt with; there was no choice. Confronting them with the truth of Christ and of the Word was their only hope. An attempt to root them in sound doctrine had to be made—both for Christ and their own eternal salvation.

2. False teachers and their followers were to be rebuked so they might cease from their fables and man-made religious rules. Note: what false teachers follow are only fables and myths, imaginations within man’s mind, and man-made rules of religion.

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and show my people their transgression, and the house of Jacob their sins” (Is.58:1).

“When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand” (Ezk.3:18).

“Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.33:9).

3 (1:15) False Teachers: they are impure, totally impure. The basic question of life is this: How does a person become pure and righteous before God? Men try to become acceptable to God by works—by doing the works of religion, by doing good and being good. This is where so many of the laws, rules, rituals, and ceremonies of religion come from. They are merely man’s desire to become acceptable to God. Man feels the way to become acceptable is to be religious and keep all the rules of religion. But note a critical fact: no religion and no man-made rule or work can save a man from sin and death. Everything that is made by man dies and decays—ends up just like he does, as nothing more than the dust of the ground. Man cannot do enough good nor do enough works to create a pure mind and conscience within himself, not a mind and conscience that has the absolute assurance of living forever.

But note another fact: there is a way to become pure and righteous before God. How? By Jesus Christ—by believing in Jesus Christ...

- by trusting His purity and righteousness to cover us.
- by trusting His death and resurrection to cover us.

When we believe that Jesus Christ died for us, God accepts the death of Christ for us. He forgives our transgressions and never charges them against us. We are free from sin in Christ; through our faith in Christ God counts us pure and righteous.

This is what the verse means. If we are pure in Christ, then all things are pure to us. We do not have to worry about doing things to become pure. We are pure—perfectly righteous and acceptable to God because we are in Christ. Our faith is in Christ to make us pure, not in religious rules.

Therefore false teachers and their followers—in fact all unbelievers—lack the absolute assurance of forgiveness and of eternal life—of being acceptable to God. Their minds and consciences are defiled. No matter what their man-made religious rules are—rules governing food, discipline, do’s and don’ts, washings, baptisms, ceremonies, rituals—they are all impure. They are only physical and material and man-made substances—all to perish after they are used.

Thought 1. “‘Unto the pure all things are pure’ does not mean that dope and alcoholic beverages which will dull the mind and destroy the body are pure. There is probably a direct teaching here concerning ceremonial meats and drinks among the Jews. (In this connection, study the entire fourteenth chapter of Romans.) Some foods were regarded as clean and could be eaten, while others were considered unclean and were therefore forbidden. What Paul is saying is that those distinctions ceased when Christ died and rose again: ‘Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth’ (Rom.10:4). In this Christian era, it is not what we eat or drink that saves us or damns us; it is ‘What think ye of Christ? Whose Son is He?’ ‘As many as received Him, to THEM gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name: which were born...born of God’ (John 1:12, 13).

“In Paul’s day, under the Law of Moses, a Jew dare not eat pork nor drink certain drinks; but in this day, meats and drinks neither save nor damn—although a child of God, led by the Spirit of God, will not eat or drink those things that will destroy the body. God puts His law in our hearts and leads us by His Spirit (Rom.8:14), and if we are led by the Spirit we will not fulfill the lust of the flesh. Truth makes free; and when we KNOW and obey the truth, we eat and drink those things that are wholesome, good, and profitable to body and soul.

“A person who is a true child of God will not use this passage to attempt to prove that all things are right and lawful for the Christian. There are those who say that if you think something is not sin, then to you it is not sin; but such reasoning is not to be found in the Word of God. The Bible clearly teaches that we are to ‘have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them’ (Eph.5:11). ‘Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him’ (1 John 2:15). ‘Abstain from all appearance of evil’ (1 Thess.5:22). ‘Prove all things; hold fast that which is good’ (1 Thess.5:21). ‘Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God’ (1 Cor.10:31).

“The principle here involved is a pure, truly pious mind; and if we have such a mind we will not eat or drink those things that will destroy our testimony. The believing heart does not major on the distinction of food and drink, festivals, ceremonies, rites, holy days, holidays. These things have nothing to do with purity of heart and spirit, and the conscience of the believer is not to be burdened with nor enslaved by them. The heart of a believer is to be controlled by the Holy Spirit of God and by the laws of God laid down in the New Testament. We are not under the Law of Moses. We live by faith, not by sight. We live as the Holy Spirit leads us into the paths of righteousness” (Oliver Greene, The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.429f).

Thought 2. “‘But unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure.’ This statement is very clear: The unbeliever is lost, totally depraved, without strength, hopeless, helpless, without God and eternally damned unless he embraces Christianity by faith in the finished work of Christ. To the sinner, NOTHING is pure. Proverbs 21:4 tells us, ‘...The plowing of the wicked is sin.’ James 4:17 says, ‘...To him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin!’...”

“To the unbeliever, everything is made the means of increasing his depravity, his unrighteousness and his ungodliness. It makes no difference what ordinances of religion unbelievers may observe and practice; it matters not what distinctions they may make concerning meats, drinks, days, ceremonies or religious events; such observances will not change their state of depravity. Making distinctions in food, drinks, and clothing only fosters pride and produces self-righteousness. Those who do these things are attempting to justify themselves through their own goodness and labors, following the commandments of men instead of submitting to the love of God. They push aside the mercies of God and satisfy their own lusts. They are corrupt at heart, and observance of ordinances, ceremonies, abstinence from food and drink makes them no better; it simply leads to deeper depravity and greater damnation” (Oliver Greene, The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.431f).

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“All these evil things come from within, and defile the man” (Mk.7:23).

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient” (Ro.1:28).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind” (Col.2:18).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

4 (1:16) False Teachers: they make a profession that they know God, but their works deny Him. The false teachers openly professed Christ, claimed to be Christian, and to belong to the church. And note: they were preaching, teaching, and filling the pulpits and seats of instruction in the churches. But their works betrayed them. Their behavior clearly showed that they were hypocrites. They were not teaching the pure Word of God, not teaching the truth about Jesus Christ. Note the final terrible fact: by their works they were denying God and Christ. No matter what they professed and claimed, if they did not teach the pure Word of God and the pure truth about God and His Son, Jesus Christ, then they were denying God.

⇒ They were being abominable: vile, detestable, and repulsive to both God and true believers. They were corrupting the truth, and corruption always sends up a foul smell.

⇒ They were being disobedient: refusing to submit to God and to follow and teach the truth of Christ and of God’s Word.

⇒ They were reprobate: unfit, useless, and worthless; failing to meet the test of God. In God’s eyes they were of no value. They were fit only to be rejected.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written. This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“And they remembered that God was their Rock, and the high God their Redeemer. Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues” (Ps.78:35-36).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness. And, lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not” (Ezk.33:31-32).

DIVISION II

THE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE

A. Message 1: The Behavior of Believers, 2:1-10

(2:1-10) Introduction: What is a believer to be like? How is a believer to live in the world? This passage discusses in clear and direct terms just what the behavior of believers is to be. And note: it discusses every age group and the important positions of the teacher and minister and of the Christian workman.

1. Preach and teach sound doctrine (v.1).
2. The behavior of aged men (v.2).
3. The behavior of aged women (v.3).
4. The behavior of young women (v.4-5).
5. The behavior of young men (v.6).
6. The behavior of teachers and young ministers (v.7-8).
7. The behavior of Christian workmen (v.9-10).

1 (2:1) Minister—Teacher—Doctrine—Word of God: the minister must preach and teach sound doctrine. This is in contrast to the false teachers just covered in the former passage (Tit.1:10-16). The word “sound” means wholesome and healthy. Therefore, sound doctrine means the doctrines and teachings of God’s Word—the wholesome and healthy teachings of God’s Word in contrast to the diseased teachings of false teachers. The teachings of false teachers will only implant a cancerous disease into the human heart and result in death and destruction. Therefore, the exhortation to Titus was urgent, and it is urgent to every minister of God. The health and destiny of God’s people and of the church are at stake.

Thought 1. Preach and teach sound doctrine—the teachings of God’s Word. Do not preach and teach your own ideas or opinions nor the latest fads of theology. Do not add anything to the Word of God nor take anything away from it. Take the teachings of God’s Word in all their soundness and preach and teach them.

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine, neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do” (1 Tim.1:3-4).

“If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained” (1 Tim.4:6).

“Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee” (1 Tim.4:16).

2 (2:2) Men, Elderly—Church—Age Groups: the behavior of elderly men. What are elderly men to be like in the world? How are they to live? Six traits are given.

1. Elderly men are to be sober (nephalios): temperate and moderate. It is the opposite of over-indulgence in anything such as eating, drinking, recreation, or whatever.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober [controlled]” (1 Th.5:6).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

2. Elderly men are to be grave (semnos): serious, honorable, worthy, reverent, noble. It has to do with seriousness of purpose and life. It is the opposite of being flippant and shallow, non-purposeful and uncommitted. Elderly men are to be men of such strong purpose and behavior that they inspire reverence and awe. Elderly men are not to enter a second childhood and act like children.

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:34-36).

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

“Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:13-14).

“Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you. Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing” (Ph.3:15-16).

3. Elderly men are to be temperate (sophron): sober-minded, self-controlled, disciplined, able to curb desires and emotions. Elderly men are to have minds that are sound, sensible, and chaste—minds that have complete control over all sensual desires. Neither age nor retirement gives the elderly a right to live a life of license, neither in drink, eating, sex, recreation, travel, play nor in any other area of life. The elderly who really know the Lord are not to waste time and fritter their life away. Too many people—children, men, women—are destitute, poor, hurting, and dying from hunger, poor housing, loneliness, emptiness, and sin.

“And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee” (Acts 24:25).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:24-27).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich” (Pr.21:17).

“When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee” (Pr.23:1).

4. Elderly men must be sound (healthy) in the faith: this means to be strong in the Christian faith—in one’s faith in Christ and in the Word of God and its promises. It means the whole body of Christian doctrine—all the teachings of God’s Word. Elderly men are to have a strong faith in Christ and in God’s Word. They are to love Him and His Word more and more as the years pass, ever growing in faith.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

5. Elderly men must be sound (healthy) in love (see notes, Love—1 Th.1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:12; note 5—2 Th.1:3 for discussion).

6. Elderly men must be sound in patience (hupomeno): (see notes, pt.7—2 Tim.3:10 for discussion).

3 (2:3) Women, Elderly—Church: the behavior of elderly women. What are elderly women to be like in the world? How are they to live?

1. Elderly women are to be holy (hieroprepes): reverent, devout, different and set apart in purity of behavior and thought. They are to live and move about in a spirit of holiness and be focused upon sacred things. Matthew Henry says that elderly women are to keep “a pious [holy] decency and decorum in clothing and gesture, in looks and speech, and in all their deportment [behavior]” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, p.862).

“That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:14-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

2. Elderly women are not to be false accusers (diabolos): slanderers, talebearers, gossipers, a person who goes about talking about others, stirring up mischief and disturbance. This is so terrible a sin that the devil himself is called the slanderer (diabolos). This—slanderer (diabolos)—is one of the very names of the devil.

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working [serving] not at all, but are busybodies” (2 Th.3:11).

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man’s religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

“Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbor: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered” (Pr.11:9).

“A froward man soweth strife: and a whisperer separateth chief friends” (Pr.16:28).

“The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly” (Pr.26:22).

3. Elderly women are not to be given over to much wine (see note, pt.8—1 Tim.3:2-3 for discussion).

4. Elderly women are to be teachers of good things (kalodidaskalos): this refers to ministry in the home (Donald Guthrie. The Pastoral Epistles. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.193). Elderly women are to live such godly lives that they teach by their very example and testimony within the home. Note: they are to teach the young women how to live for Christ in a sinful and corruptible world.

“So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs” (Jn.21:15).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:7).

“And that their children, which have not known any thing, may hear, and learn to fear the Lord your God, as long as ye live in the land whither ye go over Jordan to possess it” (Dt.31:13).

“Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it” (Pr.22:6).

- 4 (2:4-5) Young Women—Church: the behavior of younger women. What are younger women to be like in the world? How are they to behave as they walk day by day? Eight traits are given.
1. Young women are to be sober (see note, pt.1—Tit.2:2 for discussion).
 2. Young women are to love their husbands. Note: this particular command is to young women which means that her marriage is a young marriage. The only way a young married couple can become united and bound together and have the kind of life they desire is by loving each other. Therefore, the young wife must love her husband...
 - with a selfless and unselfish love.
 - with a giving and sacrificial love.
 - with a quiet and peaceable love.
 - with a love of the will as well as of the heart.
 - with a love of commitment as well as of affection.

The word used here for love (phileo) actually stresses affection, care, tenderness, warmth, and feelings. The young wife is to have affection for her husband.

Thought 1. A young wife may live in a mansion and have the finest of furnishings—she may be the most beautiful woman in the world and have the very best wardrobe—she may have a husband who loves her ever so dearly—but if she does not love her husband, they are both unhappy and often miserable. Young women are to love—to learn to love their husbands. Christ can help her and teach her to love him.

“So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself” (Eph.5:28. Applies to wife as well.)

“Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them” (Col.3:19).

“And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah’s tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife; and he loved her: and Isaac was comforted after his mother’s death” (Gen.24:67).

“And Jacob served seven years for Rachel; and they seemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her” (Gen.29:20).

“And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favour in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti” (Est.2:17).

“Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned” (Song of Sol.8:7).

3. Young women are to love their children. There is no greater call or task on earth than that of being a mother. William Barclay points this out in descriptive language:

“It is the simple fact that there is no greater task and responsibility and privilege in this world than to make a home....In the last analysis there can be no greater career than the career of homemaking. How many a man, who has set his mark upon the world, has been enabled to do so simply because there was someone at home who cared for him and loved him and tended him. It is infinitely more important that a mother should be at home to put her children to bed and to hear them say their prayers than that she should attend all the public and Church meetings in the world.

“It has been said that consecration is that which makes drudgery divine; and there is no place where consecration can be more necessarily and beautifully shown than within the four walls of the place which we call home. The world can do without its committee meetings; it cannot do without its homes; and a home is not a home when the mistress of the home is absent from it” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p. 286f).

Despite the great call and privilege of motherhood, there are two problems about this command that must be covered—the problems of child abuse and of putting profession before children. Oliver Greene states it well:

“This verse seems unnecessary—and yet it is very important. Most animals will fight and die to protect their young, but some men and women are so totally depraved that they lose all respect and love for their own flesh and blood—their children [cp. child abuse]. The aged saints are to teach the younger women to love their children. Any precious mother with a baby in the home has a full time job twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. No other person will ever love your child as you love it if you are a true mother. No other person can train and discipline that child as you will if you are a true mother. No person can take the place of a mother; therefore, mothers should love their children above fame, fortune, beauty, houses, or social prestige. Children should come first in the heart of a mother; and she should forsake all except her husband to give her love, time, and attention to her children. The best friend any child will ever have on the face of this earth is a godly, consecrated mother who loves him” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p 442f).

Matthew Henry says that young mothers are “to love their children, not with a natural affection only, but a spiritual, a love springing from a holy sanctified heart and regulated by the word; not a fond foolish love, indulging them in evil, neglecting due reproof and correction where necessary, but a regular Christian love, showing itself in their pious education, forming their life and manners aright, taking care of their souls as well as of their bodies, of their spiritual welfare as well as of their temporal” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.863).

“Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

“When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also” (2 Tim.1:5).

“Chasten thy son while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare for his crying” (Pr.19:18).

“Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it” (Pr.22:6).

“Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him” (Pr.22:15).

“Withhold not correction from the child: for if thou beatest him with the rod, he shall not die” (Pr.23:13).

4. Young women are to be discreet (sophronos): this is the same Greek word translated temperate in verse two. (See note, pt.3—Tit.2:2 for discussion and verses.) Simply stated, young women are not to live a life of license within the home or out in public: partying, drinking, overeating, indulging in any sense of the word. She is to curb her desires and emotions.

5. Young women are to be chaste (agnas): pure morally and sexually; to be pure in thought and act.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:5).

6. Young women are to be keepers or workers at home: homemakers. No better exposition of this command could be given than that written by Oliver Greene:

“This does not mean that the wife is never to go out of the home, never to take part in any outside interests; but she is not to neglect the duties of the home in order to participate in things outside the home. In other words, she is not to be better known outside the home than in the home, by her own husband and family. She is to be diligent at home—not lazy or slothful, not unconcerned about the home and the things pertaining thereto—but to give her best to the home, seeing that things are in order and that the home is kept as becomes a Christian. Young wives are not to omit their own duties and become ‘busybodies’ in others’ affairs....Christianity puts the right kind of pride in the heart—and a woman who is a believer should take pride in her home, which is her castle. She should keep that home clean, neat, and presentable. A young married woman with a baby and a home, if she does her duty, has a full time job.

“Dear ladies should never forget that God made woman to make this world a sweeter, brigher, happier place in which to live. Adam was lonely; his life was empty. He found not a helpmate as he named the animals. Therefore, God removed a rib from Adam’s side and made Eve and gave her to Adam to be his helpmate. God did not give Eve to Adam for his slave. Wives are not to be chattels or slaves. They are to love and esteem their husband, their children, love their home and be diligent in that field. A young woman who is not willing to make a home for her husband and her family should stay single.

“Husbands are commanded to love their wives as Christ loved the Church and gave Himself for it; and in like manner, wives are commanded to be in subjection to their own husbands, because the husband is the head of the wife even as Jesus is the head of the Church (Eph.5:25ff). Therefore, Christianity is the patron of domestic virtues....There can never be a great local church without great Christian families; and there will never be a great Christian family without Christian fathers and mothers—not only Christian in word, but in deed and in truth. Great homes make great churches; great homes and great churches make great nations. A Christian home is a place of contentment—a place of peace; and when domestic duties are neglected, the home suffers severely. Regardless of how much a mother may do outside the home, whatever self-denial and zeal she may contribute to outside interests, and regardless of how much good she may accomplish outside the home, if she neglects her home she has brought reproach upon Christianity. The duty of a Christian mother is first to her home, and these other interests must be secondary” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.444f).

“Withdraw thy foot from thy neighbor’s house; lest he be weary of thee, and so hate thee” (Pr.25:17).

“To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:5).

7. Young women are to be good (agathos): of the highest quality and character; virtuous through and through; kind, good natured and caring. There is no vice, no dirt or pollution in her life; she is pure and clean, of the highest character. And she is good to people, that is, kind and caring. She is not an idle person, going from house to house being a gossip and busy body. She is purposeful, moving in and among people doing good, showing care and kindness, helping people wherever she can (cp. 1 Tim.5:13).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

8. Young women are to be obedient to their own husbands. There is to be a partnership and order between men and women. Neither is independent of the other. Both are from the other, and the relationship that exists between them has come from God.

“Nevertheless neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord. For as the woman is of the man, even so is the man also by the woman; but all things of God” (1 Cor.11:11-12).

There is neither male nor female in God’s eyes. He sees both men and women as one, each as significant as the other.

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

- a. When God talks about man being the head of the woman, He is not talking about ability or worth, competence or value, brilliance or advantage. God is talking about function and order within an organization. Every organization has to have a head for it to be operated in an efficient and orderly manner. There are no greater organizations than God’s universe, His church, and His Christian family. Within God’s order of things there is a partnership, but every partnership must have a head, and God has ordained that man is the head of the partnership.
- b. The great pattern for the wife to follow is Christ and the church. Christ is the head of the church. This simply means that Christ has authority over the church. So long as the church lives by this rule, the church experiences love and joy and peace—orderliness—and it is able to carry out its function and mission on earth to the fullest. So it is with the husband; he is the head of the family, the ultimate authority in the family. The wife is to be submissive to that authority just as the church is to be submissive to Christ. So long as she and the rest of the family live by this rule, the family experiences love, joy, and peace—orderliness—and it fulfills its function and purpose on earth. This, of course, assumes that the husband is fulfilling his part in the family. As in any organization, each member must do his part for the organization to be orderly and accomplish its purpose.
- c. The husband is the savior of the body just as Christ is the Savior of the church. Christ is the great Protector and Comforter of the church. So the husband is to be the protector and comforter of the wife. By nature, that is, by the constitution and build of the body, the husband is stronger than the wife. Therefore, in God’s order of things, he is to be the main protector and comforter of the wife. These two functions are two of the great benefits which the wife receives from a loving husband who is faithful to the Lord.

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord” (Col.3:18).

“Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence. For Adam was first formed, then Eve” (1 Tim.2:11-13).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior, conduct] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness” (Pr.31:27).

“Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee” (Gen.3:16).

Note why young women must live and behave as God says: that the Word of God will not be blasphemed, that is, dishonored, reproached and slandered. The young woman who professes Christ but does not live for Him brings reproach upon God’s Word. How? It stirs the world to think within their minds:

“There must be no power in the Word of God, no power to change lives—no power to give love, joy, peace, and hope. There must be no advantage to believing Christ and to trusting the promises of God’s Word. The promises mean nothing to this hypocritical young woman—not enough to stir her to follow Christ. Therefore, there must be nothing to this thing called Christianity. The promises of the Word of God must be meaningless and powerless. They have made no difference in her life.”

But note: this is not true. The Word of God is alive and powerful; it does change lives (Heb.4:12). The problem is with some wives: they just...

- do not spend time in genuine study of God’s Word, learning how they are to live.
- do not spend time in genuine prayer, asking God to help them to live victorious lives over the temptations and trials of this life.
- do not discipline their lives nor control their tongues as the Word of God demands.

The result is, of course, the charge of hypocrisy, and the Word of God is reproached and slandered.

Thought 1. What an indictment against a young lady: being a hypocrite and being the cause for the Word of God being blasphemed.

“Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God? For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you” (Ro.2:23-24).

“And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of” (2 Pt.2:2).

“Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme” (2 Sam.12:14).

“Also I said, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the heathen our enemies” (Neh.5:9).

5 (2:6) Young Men—Church: the behavior of young men. Note that only one exhortation is specifically directed to young men. This is not because they are more saintly and need fewer instructions (smile, young men), nor because they are less important and merit less attention and space in God’s Word. Remember: Timothy was a young man, so what is said to him in the next two verses applies to young men as well. All young men are included in the exhortations to Timothy.

The specific exhortation to young men is to be sober-minded (sophroneo): temperate, controlled, disciplined, restrained; curbing emotions, passions, and desires. It means to have a mind that is sound, sensible, and focused upon pure and clean thoughts and meaningful things. It means to control one’s mind and life and to keep them focused upon the purpose, meaning, and significance of life. It means to control everything in life. This is critical for young men. Three reasons tell us why.

1. The bodies of young men are becoming more and more sexually alive as they move on toward middle age. Attraction and passion increases and stirs the young man to pay attention to the opposite sex. This is normal and natural; it is the way God has chosen to cause young men and women to become attracted to each other and to marry and carry on the human race. But always remember this: this is the very reason for this exhortation. Young men must control themselves. They must be men—real men—noble and honorable—disciplined and controlled, keeping themselves pure for the sake of their family and for Christ and His church. Passion can engulf a young man and drown him and his family if he is married.

2. The young men are discovering themselves, searching for and finding their place in society. Three of the biggest decisions ever made have to be made when a man is young:

- ⇒ the decision of leaving home: when to leave home and take on the total responsibility for oneself and perhaps a family.
- ⇒ the decision regarding marriage: who and when to marry and to take on a family.
- ⇒ the decision regarding employment or profession: what work to do in life.

Youth—up until middle age—is usually a seeking and an unsure time for young men, a time when they have to fight to secure their place in the world. This is the reason for the charge: young men must control themselves.

- ⇒ The urge to attack, run over, bypass, neglect, ignore, and abuse people in order to move ahead must be controlled.
- ⇒ The urge to back off, fall into line, go along, and compromise must be controlled. Young men are not to lose their vitality and energy, ambition, and dreams. They are to seek to move ahead and to make the greatest contribution they can both for society and Christ. But they are to stay under control and not do it in a rampaging, passionate, and inconsiderate way.

3. Young men are full of vision and dreams and energy, but they lack experience. The result is that they often become reckless and inconsiderate and unfeeling. And they often make mistakes. This is the reason for this charge: young men must be adventuresome and must pursue their dreams with all the energy they have, but they must be sober-minded, self-controlled, and disciplined as they move forward in life.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober [controlled]” (1 Th.5:6).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

6 (2:7-8) Ministers—Teachers—Young Men—Church: the behavior of young ministers and teachers. Remember: these two verses can be made a continuation of the charge to young men (v.6). What are young ministers or teachers to be like in the world? How are they to behave? Five traits are given.

1. Young ministers and teachers are to be a pattern of good works. The word “pattern” (tupos) literally means to make an impression with a die, to mould or form, to strike an impression. Therefore, it means that the young minister and teacher must be a model example of good works. This can be forcefully stated in several ways:

- ⇒ He must live what he preaches.
- ⇒ His behavior must match his teaching.
- ⇒ His life must not tear down what his words build up.

- ⇒ His deeds must show the light which he proclaims
- ⇒ His example must be his first concern; his instruction must be his second concern.

Teaching others is a necessity, but being an example to others is an absolute essential. Words mean nothing without the behavior to back up the words. When people see a life that is strong and full of love, joy, peace, and righteousness, they are far more likely to receive Christ and to live righteous lives themselves.

Thought 1. People have a right to expect the minister and teacher to live what they preach and teach. The great tragedy is that too few live what they profess. Too few pray—really pray—and too few really study the Scriptures devotionally, and even fewer consistently witness and share Christ with the lost. The great cry of God is for ministers and teachers who will live like they should and who will be a pattern, a dynamic example of good works. This is the only way laymen will ever become the witnesses for Christ that they should.

“Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men” (Mt.5:13).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

2. Young ministers and teachers are to be a pattern in doctrine and teaching. As stated above, living for Christ and being a dynamic pattern of good works is always to precede preaching and teaching, but preaching and teaching are important as well. In fact, if a person is truly living for Christ, he will preach and teach; he will share Christ. There is no way to live for Christ and not share the glorious message of salvation in Him. Living for Christ and preaching and teaching Christ go hand in hand. But note this: how a person preaches and teaches is critical. There is a right way and a wrong way to preach and teach.

- a. Young ministers and teachers are to be uncorrupt; that is, they are to have pure motives and preach a pure doctrine. The young minister or teacher faces enormous temptations in his preaching and teaching, especially the temptation to impress people and win their approval and favor. How does this happen? By thinking about preaching and teaching in order to show one’s...

- preaching ability
- charisma
- education
- authority
- intelligence
- insight
- mastery of the language
- knowledge

There is one other temptation that professional ministers and teachers in particular face, a temptation that must be guarded against at all times. That is the temptation to use the ministry as a means of livelihood. There is the temptation to hold back on the message of God, on what should be done, lest the people disapprove and one’s livelihood be affected.

The ministers and teachers of God must be uncorrupt; they must have pure motives every time they walk into the pulpit and classroom. They must preach and teach only for the purpose of reaching and ministering to people. They must not deviate from preaching the pure doctrine of God’s Word; they must be true to the Holy Scripture (cp. 2 Tim.3:16).

- b. Young ministers and teachers are to preach and teach with gravity and sincerity, that is, with dignity and seriousness. They must approach the ministry and the function of preaching and teaching with dignity and seriousness. This does not mean that a preacher or teacher...

- is above others.
- is more important than others.
- is more highly privileged than others.
- is to be elevated in the minds of others.
- is to hold position over others.

Dignity does not mean a sense of privilege, but a sense of responsibility. The minister and teacher of God must be aware that he is duty-bound to proclaim the message of God to a lost and dying world. To preach and teach with gravity, dignity and seriousness means...

- to esteem the message of God’s Word with the highest regard.
- to have the strictest regard for the truth of God’s Word.
- to be honest and above reproach in proclaiming God’s Word.

Note that the focus is not the preacher or teacher. It is the doctrine and message of God’s Word. The preacher and teacher proclaims it with gravity, dignity, and seriousness.

- c. Young ministers and teachers are to preach and teach with “sound words.” The word sound means healthy and whole. The message must be true to God’s Word, for only God’s Word can make people sound, healthy, and whole.

Note the two results of living for Christ and of preaching and teaching for Christ.

- ⇒ The preacher and teacher cannot be condemned. Others may accuse him, but the accusation will be false and God will know the truth.
- ⇒ Opponents to the preacher or teacher will be put to shame by their gossip and accusations. If the preacher or teacher suffers, he will suffer because of the evil doing of others, not because he has done evil. Oliver Greene has an excellent conclusion to these verses:

“He was to preach a Gospel that is the power of God unto salvation—not weak or anemic, not unsound; but pure in every detail—a Gospel with which no one could find fault. He was to speak pure words, serious words...The enemy will be ashamed that he opposed such a message, because the Word of God will not return void; it will accomplish that whereunto it is sent. Any minister who defends the faith and preaches the pure Gospel of the marvelous grace of God will never be forced to apologize for the message he has delivered, because it will always bring forth fruit. Paul wanted Titus to be a fruitful minister; he wanted those to whom Titus preached to be healthy, strong believers” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.451f).

“But even after that he had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as ye know, at Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God with much contention. For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile: but as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness: nor of men sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet of others, when we might have been burdensome, as the apostles of Christ” (1 Th.2:2-6).

“If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained” (1 Tim.4:6).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine” (Tit.2:1).

7 (2:9-10) Slaves—Employees: the behavior of Christian slaves or workmen. (See outlines and notes—1 Tim.6:1-2; Eph.6:5-9; Col.3:22-4:1 for more discussion.) There were millions and millions of slaves in the Roman Empire during the days of Paul. One source says that there were over sixty million (William Barclay. The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.212). The gospel was bound to reach many of these, and the churches all over the Empire were bound to be filled with slaves. For this reason the New Testament has much to say to slaves (1 Cor.7:21-22; Col.3:22; 4:1; 1 Tim.6:1-2; Tit.2:9-10; 1 Pt.2:18-25 and the whole book of Philemon are written to a slave). However, slavery is never directly attacked by the New Testament. If it had been, there would have probably been so much bloodshed the scene would have been unimaginable! The slave owners and government would have...

- attacked the church, its preachers and believers, seeking to destroy such a doctrine.
- imprisoned and executed any who refused to be silent about such a doctrine.
- reacted and killed all of the slaves who professed Christ.

The Expositors Greek Testament (Vol.4, p.377f) has an excellent statement on how Christianity went about destroying slavery:

“Here, as elsewhere in the NT, slavery is accepted as an existing institution, which is neither formally condemned nor formally approved. There is nothing to prompt revolutionary action, or to encourage repudiation of the position...the institution is left to be undermined and removed by the gradual operation of the great Christian principles of...

- the equality of men in the sight of God
- a common Christian brotherhood
- the spiritual freedom of the Christian man
- the Lordship of Christ to which every other lordship is subordinate.”

The instructions to slaves and masters in the New Testament are applicable to every generation of workman. As Francis Foulkes says, “...the principles of the whole section apply to employees and employers in every age, whether in the home, in business, or in the state” (The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians. Tyndale New Testament Commentaries, p.167).

Note five instructions governing the behavior of Christian workmen.

1. The Christian workman is to be obedient. He is to follow the instruction of the person over him. Note: he is to obey “in all things.” In the workplace there is to be no instruction that is not to be obeyed. This, of course, does not mean he is to obey orders that are contrary to the teaching of the Lord and damaging to His people and creation. However, it does mean that the Christian workman is to do what he is told to do when he has been given the privilege of a job, the privilege...

- to earn a livelihood and provide for himself and his family.
- to serve humanity through providing some needed product or service.
- to earn enough to help meet the desperate needs of the world and to carry the gospel to the world.

The attitude of the Christian workman is that the energy and effort he puts into his job is important to the Lord.

2. The Christian workman is to go beyond the call of duty: he is to actually please his master in all things. This includes such things as...

- attitude: he has an attitude of appreciation for the job and for the livelihood it provides him.
- spirit: he shows commitment and loyalty, eagerness and diligence in his work.
- thoughts: he thinks about his work, how to improve it and to be more efficient.
- talk and words: he builds up the company and the work it does.
- relationships: he seeks to build good relations with all fellow employees and management.
- work and labor: he is on time and gives a full day of labor plus some. He actually seeks to increase his own productivity and that of the whole workplace. He helps the company when extra effort or hours are needed and goes well beyond what is required.

3. The Christian workman does not answer back, talk back, or contradict his manager (master). He recognizes the need for orderliness and for levels of supervision in order to get the job done. Therefore, he follows the instructions of those above him in order to get the job done.

4. The Christian workman does not steal. The Greek word actually stresses the stealing of small, petty items. How many have stooped to stealing, to doing what so many in the world do. How many feel that they are not getting what is due them, therefore, they are justified in taking a little here and a little there. The Christian workman is not to steal—not ever.

5. The Christian workman is to show all fidelity, that is, trustworthiness, loyalty, and faithfulness. He is to be...

- totally trustworthy
- completely loyal
- utterly faithful

The manager (master) is to know that he can depend upon the Christian workman in all that he does.

6. The Christian workman is to adorn the doctrine of God in all things. What a beautiful, descriptive way to state this truth! The Christian workman is to dress himself with the teachings of God so that wherever he walks or moves, the teachings of God are clearly seen. The Christian workman wears and adorns himself with the teachings of God; he lives and moves and has his being in them. Therefore, everyone in the workplace who looks at him sees that he is adorned and dressed in the teachings of God.

Thought 1. William Barclay makes a point that every Christian workman needs to note:

“It may well be that the man who takes his Christianity to his work with him will run into trouble; but, if he sticks to it, he will end by winning the respect of all men.

“E.F. Brown tells of a thing which happened in India. ‘A Christian servant in India was once sent by his master with a verbal message which he knew to be untrue. He refused to deliver it. Though his master was very angry at the time, he respected the servant all the more afterwards and knew that he could always trust him in his own matters.’

“The truth is that in the end the world comes to see that the Christian workman is the only workman worth having. In one sense, it is hard to be a Christian at our work; in another sense, if we would try it, it is much easier than we think, for there is not a master under the sun who is not desperately looking for workmen on whose loyalty and efficiency he can rely” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.292f).

“Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free” (Eph.6:5-8).

“Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:22-25).

“Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed. And they that have believing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren; but rather do them service, because they are faithful and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort” (1 Tim.6:1-2).

“Exhort servants to be obedient unto their own masters, and to please them well in all things; not answering again” (Tit.2:9).

“Servants, be subject to your masters with all fear; not only to the good and gentle, but also to the froward” (1 Pt.2:18).

“And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it” (Gen.2:15).

“In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return” (Gen.3:19).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

THE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE

B. Message 2: The Grace of God, 2:11-15

(2:11-15) Introduction: The great message of the grace of God involves five significant points.

1. The grace of God brings salvation (v.11).
2. The grace of God teaches us how to live (v.12).
3. The grace of God teaches us to look for the return of the great God, even our Savior Jesus Christ (v.13).
4. The grace of God is demonstrated in the death of Christ (v.14).
5. The grace of God is a message to be proclaimed (v.15).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:11-15) Grace: (charis): probably the most meaningful word in the language of men. The Bible means something far more than men mean by grace. To men the word “grace” means three things.

1. Grace is that something, that quality within a thing that is beautiful or joyful. It may be the fragrance of a flower, the rich green of the grass, the beauty of a lovely person.
2. Grace is anything that has loveliness. It may be a thought, an act, a word, a person.
3. Grace is a gift, a favor that someone might extend to a friend. The favor is always freely done, expecting nothing in return, and the favor is always done for a friend.

However, when the early Christians looked at what God had done for men, they had to add a deeper and much richer meaning to the word grace. For God had saved sinners, those who had acted against Him. Therefore, grace became the favor of God showered upon men—men who did not deserve His favor. Grace became the kindness and love that God freely gives to His enemies—men who are...

- “without strength” (Ro.5:6).
- “ungodly” (Ro.5:6).
- “sinners” (Ro.5:8).
- “enemies” (Ro.5:10).

No other word so expresses the depth and richness of the heart and mind of God. This is the distinctive difference between God’s grace and man’s grace. Whereas man sometimes does favors for his friends and thereby can be said to be gracious, God has done a thing unheard of among men: He has given His very own Son to die for His enemies (Ro.5:8-10). (See notes—Jn.21:15-17; Eph.2:8-10.)

- a. God’s grace is not earned. It is something completely undeserved and unmerited.

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

- b. God’s grace is the free gift of God. God extends His grace toward man.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

c. God's grace is the only way man can be saved.

"If through the offence of one [Adam] many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many" (Ro.5:15).

"I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.1:4).

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (2 Cor.8:9).

"[Salvation] which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Tit.3:6-7).

4. Grace means all the favors and gifts of God. It means all the good and perfect gifts of God, all the good and beneficial things He gives us and does for us, whether physical, material, or spiritual (Jas.1:17).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus" (Eph.2:7).

"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:19).

"And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus" (1 Tim.1:14).

1 (2:11) Grace—Salvation: the grace of God brings salvation. What does the grace of God mean? Among men grace means the favor and blessing that one person bestows upon another person. But God's grace means something far more. God's grace is the grace that brings salvation to man. God's grace is Jesus Christ, the gift of the Savior to the world. God's grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, saves the person...

- who is in rebellion against God.
- who curses God.
- who stands against God.
- who opposes God.
- who sins against God.
- who lives contrary to God.
- who lives an ungodly life.
- who is lonely.
- who is empty.
- who is without strength.
- who has any lack or need.
- who is without purpose and meaning.

God's grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, reaches down to those who have rejected God: who are doing their own thing and living like they want; it reaches down to those who ignore and neglect God and pay little attention to what God says.

The point is this: God's grace, the gift of His Son to the world, is not deserved. God's grace is not merited. No person deserves the favor of salvation that is in Christ. There are three reasons why we do not deserve God's grace.

1. We come short of God's glory in that we sin. God does not sin or go contrary to His law, but we do. We sin and transgress God's law. God never acts against His glory and nature, but we do. We do all kinds of things against the glory of God's nature; we often shame and curse, neglect and ignore, abuse and reject Him. God dwells in the glory of His perfection; we live in the shame of corruption. Stated as simply as possible: we come short, ever so short of God's glory.

"For all have sinned, and come short of God's glory" (Ro.3:23).

"All we [just] like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way" (Is.53:6).

"We are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousness are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities like the wind have taken us away" (Is.64:6).

"As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one: there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one. Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips: whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness: their feet are swift to shed blood: destruction and misery are in their ways: and the way of peace have they not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes" (Ro.3:10-18).

2. We come short of God's glory in that we die. God does not die, but we do. The glory of God's nature is that He lives forever, but not us. The shame of our nature is that we die; we do not live forever. We have to go through the terrible and agonizing and painful experience of death. We come ever so short of God's eternal glory.

"Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned" (Ro.5:12).

“For the wages of sin is death” (Ro.6:23).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die” (Heb.9:27).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For we must needs die, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again” (2 Sam.14:14).

“For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others” (Ps.49:10).

“What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave?” (Ps.89:48).

“Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up. In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth” (Ps.90:5-6).

“As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:15-16).

“All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again” (Eccl.3:20).

“There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it” (Eccl.8:8).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the LORD bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass” (Is.40:6-7).

3. We come short of God’s glory in that we have violated the laws of heaven and are doomed to the prison and judgment of hell. When we die, we do not cease to exist. We exist forever. The very fact that we come short of God’s glory makes us short of heaven. We are not perfect; therefore, we are not fit to live in a perfect place, that is, in heaven. We are doomed and judged to live outside heaven, away from God’s presence in a place called hell. And we must always remember why: if we choose to live without God in this present world, then we condemn ourselves to live without God in the next world. If we reject the privilege of living with God in this world, then we reject the right to live with God in heaven.

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

But this is the glorious news. God’s grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, has brought salvation to us. God’s grace, the gift of His own dear Son, saves us from sin, death, and hell. We do not deserve it, but God loves us beyond imagination. He has given His very own Son for us—to save us. He did it because He is gracious. His very nature is the embodiment of grace, of favoring and blessing those who do not deserve it. And note: His salvation is for all men—no matter who they are nor what they have done. The person may be a murderer such as Paul or an adulterer such as David, but God’s grace is sufficient to cover any and all sins. God will save any person. His grace, the Lord Jesus Christ who brings salvation, is now available to all men. All men can now be saved—saved from sin, death, and hell—no matter who they are.

“And all flesh shall see the salvation of God” (Lk.3:6).

“And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Acts 2:21).

“Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:34-35).

“But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they” (Acts 15:11).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:12-13).

“[God] who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men” (Tit.2:11).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

2 (2:12-13) Grace—Salvation: the grace of God teaches us how to live. It teaches us to do two things.

1. God’s grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts, that is, to reject, renounce, give up, and have nothing to do with ungodliness and worldly lusts. God’s grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us “to say ‘no’ to ungodliness and worldly lusts” (Beck, The New Testament in the Language of Today).

a. Ungodliness (asebeia): anything that is not like God, not holy, righteous or pure; anything that does not honor God by word or deed, that does not show reverence and worship toward God; anything that does not obey God, that violates God’s commandments and goes against His will. The grace of God, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us to deny ungodliness, to give up and to turn away from everything that is ungodly and does not honor and praise Him.

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine” (1 Tim.1:9-10).

“The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts” (Ps.10:4).

b. Worldly lusts (kosmikai epithumiai): all the desires of this world that are not fit for heaven and could not be presented to God; all the desires that push us away from God; all the desires and lusts of the world that stir us...

- to look when we should not look.
- to do when we should not do.
- to get more when we should give more.
- to be selfish and vicious when we should be sacrificial and kind.
- to be sensual and immoral when we should be disciplined and pure.
- to seek the recognition of men when we should seek the recognition of God.

c. Worldly lusts are those desires that crave the possessions of this world, that attach us to this world, and that will remain in this world when we leave it. We will go away and move on, but they will be left behind.

d. Worldly lusts are the desires that crave the sensual and selfish pleasures of this world, the very things that we would never want God to see.

The grace of God, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us to deny worldly lusts and to give up and turn away from everything that we cannot take with us and present to God when we meet Him face to face.

“For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mt.16:26).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth” (Col.3:20).

“Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:4).

2. God’s grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us to live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world.

a. Soberly (sophronos): self-controlled, temperate, and disciplined. It is restraining desires, lusts, and appetites. It is never giving in to excess—to the lust for more and more. It is controlling everything and using it for its proper purpose:

- ⇒ It is controlling the desire for sex and using it for marriage.
- ⇒ It is controlling the desire for food and using it for health.
- ⇒ It is controlling the desire for material things and using it to meet both the needs of one’s own family and the desperate needs of the world.

“And as he [Paul] reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee” (Acts 24:25).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateh the air; but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:24-27).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich” (Pr.21:17).

“When thou sittest to eat with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee” (Pr.23:1).

- b. Righteously (dikaiois): doing right, treating others like we should, doing good to them, giving them their due share. What an indictment! How selfish we are in our hoarding and banking while a world dies from starvation, disease, war, evil, and sin. Every person is due his share. We are to live righteously, giving and seeing to it that every man is treated right, that every man receives his due share. If they are well-off physically and materially, we are to treat them righteously, just like we would want to be treated. If they are needy, poor, destitute, hungry, diseased, lonely, bed-ridden, and sinful, we are to do right toward them and meet their needs. They are to receive their due share of this earth just as we are.

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [sacrificially give]; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life “ (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

- c. Godly (eusebos): to be like God; to live as God would live on this earth; to live in the consciousness that God lives within the very body of the believer—that the believer’s body is the very temple of God. It is living and moving and having one’s being in God. It is living just like God says to live, obeying Him in all things.

“But refuse profane and old wives’ fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness” (1 Tim.4:7).

“But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:11).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:12).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt3:11).

3 (2:13) Jesus Christ, Return—Grace: God’s grace, the Lord Jesus Christ, teaches us to look for the return of the Lord. This is a great verse on the coming again of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Greek points out its greatness even more:

“Looking for the blessed hope, even the appearing of the glory of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ” (Kenneth Wuest).

The blessed hope and appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ are not two different things; the blessed hope is the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ. He shall appear in all the glory and majesty of His Being. What will be so blessed about His return? The word “blessed” (makarios) means to be filled with happiness, prosperity, richness, benefits, the highest good—all the great and glorious benefits imaginable. Therefore, the blessed hope of the Lord’s return is to be filled with all that you can imagine and more...

- all the happiness imaginable and more.
- all the prosperity imaginable and more.
- all the richness imaginable and more.
- all the benefits imaginable and more.

If you can imagine the highest good and all the richness of life possible, the appearing of the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ will be that and more—much more.

1. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious union: we shall see Christ for the first time and be united with Him forever (Jn.14:3).

“Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world” (Jn.17:24).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:17).

2. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious reunion: the dead in Christ shall arise and we who live shall be reunited with our loved ones and friends forever.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:17-18).

3. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious transformation of body: we shall receive our new incorruptible and eternal bodies.

“So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: it is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: it is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:42-44).

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:53).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

4. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious life of happiness: we shall receive perfect joy and freedom from trials, pain, suffering, evil, and death.

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful” (Rev.21:5).

5. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious remaking of the heavens and earth: we shall receive a perfect world of love, joy and peace.

“Because the creature [creation] itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God” (Ro.8:21).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea” (Rev.21:1).

6. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious reward.

“Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:8).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

7. The return of Jesus Christ will mean an eternity of ruling and reigning: we shall receive the position and responsibility of serving Christ through all eternity.

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

8. The return of Jesus Christ will mean a glorious dwelling place and mansion.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

4 (2:14) Jesus Christ, Death—Grace: the grace of God is revealed in the death of Christ. Jesus Christ “gave Himself for us.” What does this mean? It means that Jesus Christ died for us. The word “for” (huper) means that He died in our behalf, for our sake, in our place, as our substitute. It means that Jesus Christ took our sins upon Himself, and paid the penalty for them. He bore...

- ⇒ the verdict of sin, the pronouncement of guilty for us.
- ⇒ the condemnation of our sins for us.
- ⇒ the punishment of our sins for us.

What was the verdict, the condemnation, and the punishment which He bore for us? The guilt of our sins which is death. Jesus Christ died for us. He died as our substitute; He died for us, and because He died for us we never have to die. This is what Scripture means when it says that Jesus Christ gave Himself for us. This is how God demonstrated His grace to the world: He gave His Son to die for the sins of men.

“But God commendeth [demonstrated] his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

But note a most critical point: why Jesus Christ died for us. He died for us for three critical reasons.

1. Christ died to redeem us from all iniquity. We are guilty of iniquity, that is, of what has just been covered—of ungodliness and worldly lusts, of lawlessness, of disobeying and transgressing the law of God. We are sinners—short of God’s glory—and we cannot keep from sinning and being short of God’s glory. We have been kidnapped, captured, and captivated by lawlessness and imperfection. Therefore, we need to be redeemed (lutroo), that is, set free and delivered. The ransom needs to be paid so that we can be delivered and set free. This is why Jesus Christ gave Himself for us: to redeem us. The death of Jesus Christ was our ransom. His death sets us free from sin. How? God accepts His death for our death. When we believe that Christ died for us—really believe—God accepts our belief as the death of Jesus Christ. God takes our belief and counts it as the death of Jesus Christ. This means that we have already died, that we actually died with Christ when He died. God identifies us with Christ, with His death. Therefore, we are set free from sin and its penalty. We are delivered from the penalty of sin which is death. By faith in Jesus Christ we are redeemed, that is, set free from sin and death. (See note, Redemption—Eph.1:7 for more discussion.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“[Christ] who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers” (1 Pt.1:18).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

2. Christ died so that He might have a peculiar people, a very special people as His own possession. This is seen in the word “peculiar” (periousion). The word means set apart, possessed over and above, especially selected and reserved for. When a person really grasps what Jesus Christ has done for him, that person can only surrender all he is and has to Christ. The person wants to follow and serve Christ, to do all that Christ says. The person separates himself from the world, sets his life apart to follow Christ, and Christ takes the person and by the power of the Holy Spirit sets the person apart to be His own very special possession. Through the death of Jesus Christ, the believer becomes the very special possession of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine” (Ex.19:5).

“For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth” (Dt.14:2).

“And the LORD hath avouched thee this day to be his peculiar people, as he hath promised thee, and that thou shouldest keep all his commandments; and to make thee high above all nations which he hath made, in praise, and in name, and in honor; and that thou mayest be a holy people unto the LORD thy God, as he hath spoken” (Dt.26:18-19).

“For the LORD will not forsake his people for his great name’s sake: because it hath pleased the LORD to make you his people” (1 Sam.12:22).

3. Christ died to stir good works. Again, when a person really grasps what Jesus Christ has done for him, the person is stirred to give his life to Christ—to do all he can to serve Christ and to tell everyone in the world that the Savior has come to save men. The believer works and works, doing all the good he can in order to reach everyone he can with the glorious message of redemption.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

5 (2:15) Preaching—Grace: the grace of God is to be proclaimed. It is to be proclaimed in three ways.

1. We are to speak forth the grace of God: preach, teach, and bear witness to it. There is no argument about the grace of God, about the Lord Jesus Christ; God does love the world. He has sent His Son into the world. Therefore, we are to speak forth the message of His grace—of the Lord Jesus Christ—utilizing every method of speech there is, and we are to do it day by day.

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“But the LORD said unto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak” (Jer.1:7).

“Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and arise, and speak unto them all that I command thee: be not dismayed at their faces, lest I confound thee before them” (Jer.1:17).

“And thou shalt speak my words unto them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear: for they are most rebellious” (Ezk.2:7).

“Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me. When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. Yet if thou warn the wicked, and he turn not from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.3:17-19).

2. We are to exhort people in the grace of God. The word exhort means to encourage. People are lonely, empty, without purpose, discouraged, distressed, and without hope. They need to hear the glorious message of God’s grace, of the Lord Jesus Christ, and they need to hear about the wonderful life God gives us now and eternally—all through the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine” (1 Tim.4:13).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“Nor forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching” (Heb.10:25).

3. We are to rebuke people in the grace of God. There is no excuse for men rejecting the grace of God in their sin. God has done too much for us in Christ Jesus His Son. A man is a fool to reject eternal life, the glorious redemption and hope which Christ gives. Men need to be told the truth, rebuked and put under conviction by our rebuking them in the grace of God.

“Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:3).

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children” (Eph.5:11).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:5).

C. Message 3: The Civic Duties of a Believer, 3:1-2

1 He is to obey the laws

2 He is to do good works

3 He is not to speak evil

4 He is not to be a brawler

5 He is to be gentle

6 He is to be meek

Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work,

2 To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men.

DIVISION II

THE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE

C. Message 3: The Civic Duties of a Believer, 3:1-2

(3:1-2) Introduction: the thrust of this passage is not the rulers of government and their behavior; the thrust is the believer and his duty to the state. Usually the believer can do little about how the authorities in government conduct their affairs, but the believer can do a great deal about his behavior as a citizen within the state. And God is very, very clear about the believer's behavior. Keep in mind that such terrible leaders as Nero were ruling when God led Paul to give these instructions to Titus and the believers on the island of Crete. Six duties of the Christian citizen are clearly spelled out.

1. He is to obey the laws (v.1).
2. He is to do good works (v.1).
3. He is not to speak evil (v.2).
4. He is not to be a brawler (v.2).
5. He is to be gentle (v.2).
6. He is to be meek (v.2).

1 (3:1) Citizenship—Law, Civil: the Christian citizen is to obey the laws of a nation, both the rulers and their authority. Note the double command: “to be subject” and “to obey.” This is strong; God expects believers to keep the command. All civil authority is to be obeyed, even the laws of one's own local community as well as the laws of one's state and nation. Why is this so important? The reason is self-evident; it is perfectly clear: without law and the keeping of the law society would be in utter chaos.

- ⇒ Lawlessness would run wild.
- ⇒ No one would be safe to walk the streets.
- ⇒ People would have to live behind closed doors.
- ⇒ Abuse, attacks, murder, and war would be a constant threat.
- ⇒ No property would be safe.
- ⇒ There would be no public roads, transportation, water, sewage, or electrical systems, for there would be no law to collect taxes. And even if there was, no one would honor it.
- ⇒ There would be no military police or fire protection for the same reason.

Without law and the keeping of the law there can be no society and no community, no life together, no bond to tie people together. Law, rulers and their authority, are an utter necessity to keep people from becoming wild beasts in a jungle of unrestrained selfishness and lawlessness.

Chaos is not God's will for the world; law and order are God's will. God wills men to live in a world of love, joy, and peace—a world of perfect law and order. Therefore, the believer is to set the example: he is to obey the rulers and the laws of his community and nation. He is to show how loving and joyful, peaceful and wonderful life can be if people will obey God and obey the civil authorities of this world. (See notes—Ro.12:18; 13:1; 1 Pt.2:13-17 for the believer's duty when rulers and laws oppose God.)

“Thou shalt not revile the gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people” (Ex.22:28).

“Curse not the king, no not in thy thought; and curse not the rich in thy bedchamber: for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter” (Eccl.10:20).

“Then said Paul, I wist [knew] not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people” (Acts 23:5).

“Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God” (Ro.13:1).

“Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake: whether it be to the king, as supreme; or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well” (1 Pt.2:13-14).

“Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king” (1 Pt.2:17).

2 (3:1) Citizenship—Good Works: the Christian citizen is to be ready to do every good work. He is to work and serve within his community for the good of all citizens, and he is to work and serve diligently. The word “ready” (hetoimous) means to be willing; to be prepared; to jump and be the first to diligently serve the community. And note: it is “every good work” that he is to be ready to do. Good works does not refer only to church work; it refers to the day by day employment of people and to the volunteer and service needs of a community. Every community is filled with needs, the needs of the lonely, poor, shut in, elderly, orphaned, homeless, sick—an innumerable list of needs that cry out for community attention. It is the duty of Christian citizens to take the lead in reaching out to meet these needs. The Christian citizen is to be ready and diligent, taking the lead in every good work within the community and nation. Keep in mind that a person’s employment, his day to day job, is a major work that contributes to society. No matter how mundane, routine, and unimportant a person may feel his work is, it is not. It is very significant, for it contributes and helps to meet the needs of his fellow citizens and community.

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“Trust in the LORD, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed” (Ps.37:3).

3 (3:2) Evil Speaking—Citizenship: the Christian citizen is to speak evil of no person. No citizen is to be slandered or verbally abused and torn down. God’s ideal for society is this: all citizens working to build up and enrich the lives of each other and their community and nation. If a person, ruler or citizen, is working to build us up, why would we speak evil of him? We know that in day to day practical living, we live in an evil world where some citizens are selfish and greedy, and others commit some terrible and atrocious acts. It is this that causes chaos in society.

But note: the Christian citizen is not to speak evil against any citizen, not even an evil ruler. The answer to reaching evil people is not cursing, reviling, slandering, criticizing, and tearing them down. Verbal abuse only causes more evil—active retaliation. The only answer to reaching an evil citizen is to reach out to him in kindness, trying to lead him to change and live the way he should as a contributing citizen to the community. But note this: reaching out to evil people and not speaking evil against them does not mean that we do not use firm, strong, and warning words. We are never to give license to evil, nor to indulge the selfish and sinful acts of people. We are to speak with authority and strength against evil and untruth. We are to warn, and the community is to back up the warning with just control, even if it means imprisonment.

The point is this: there is no place in a just society for citizens speaking evil against each other. Cursing, reviling, slandering, and railing at each other is not the way to help those in rebellion against God, government, and man. The way to help is to reach out with kindness; and then if kindness fails, to reach out with strong, authoritative warnings—and then back up the warning. There is never a place for evil speaking. Christian citizens are to take the lead in speaking kind and strong words, words that warn against selfish and evil behavior.

Thought 1. What an indictment against society! Even more, what a terrible indictment against those who speak evil against others within the church!

“Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath a high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a slander, is a fool” (Pr.10:18).

“A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered” (Pr.11:9).

“Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and trust ye not in thy brother: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbour will walk with slander” (Jer.9:4).

4 (3:2) Brawling—Fighting—Contention: the Christian citizen is not to be a brawler (amachos). The Christian is not to be a fighting, contentious person; not to be a person who is always walking around looking for an argument or fight; not to be a person who walks around with a chip on his shoulder looking for some controversy or argument; not to be so opinionated and stubborn that everyone else is always wrong; not to be a person who is always criticizing or talking about others, stirring up trouble and disturbing feelings and causing division. The Christian citizen is to be the very opposite: meek and peaceful. This, of course, does not mean that the Christian citizen does not speak up for what is right; he does. And he is strong in his stand, refusing to give in to the license and indulgence of evil. But he seeks peace where it is possible, and he seeks to lead others to be peaceable.

“I am for peace: but when I speak, they are for war” (Ps.120:7).

“Which imagine mischiefs in their heart; continually are they gathered together for war” (Ps.140:2).

“Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm” (Pr.3:30).

“A wrathful man stirreth up strife: but he that is slow to anger appeaseth strife” (Pr.15:18).

“The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with” (Pr.17:14).

“He loveth transgression that loveth strife: and he that exalteth his gate seeketh destruction” (Pr.17:19).

“A fool’s lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes” (Pr.18:6).

“It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

“Go not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame” (Pr.25:8).

“He that passeth by, and meddleth with strife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears” (Pr.26:17).

“As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife” (Pr.26:21).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

5 (3:2) Gentle—Citizenship: the Christian citizen must be gentle (epieikeis). The word is difficult to translate into English. It is translated by others as gentleness, forbearance, reasonableness, consideration, agreeableness, courtesy, patience, and softness. There is the tendency to say that either forbearance or gentleness is the better translation. It means that there is something better than mere justice—a gracious gentleness. Christian citizens are to be gentle and forbearing in dealing with other citizens.

Thought 1. The point is well-taken: we must be gentle and forbearing in dealing with citizens. The last thing that we must do is to criticize, condemn, censor, neglect, and ignore citizens. We must reach out to the people of the world with the gospel, and we must treat them with a loving gentleness. We must be gentle, having absolutely nothing to do with harshness. Too many of us are harsh and critical or neglectful and withdrawn. Too many of us are wrapped in the cloak of religion having nothing to do with reaching out to the lost. The desperate need of the hour is for us to reach out with the gospel in a spirit of love and consideration, in a spirit of gentleness.

“With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:2).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

6 (3:2) Meekness: the Christian citizen must show meekness (prautes) to all citizens. The word means to be gentle, tender, humble, mild, considerate, but strongly so. Meekness has the strength to control and discipline, and it does so at the right time.

- a. Meekness has a humble state of mind. But this does not mean the person is weak, cowardly, and bowing. The meek person simply loves people and loves peace; therefore, he walks humbly among men regardless of their status and circumstance in life. Associating with the poor and lowly of this earth does not bother the meek person. He desires to be a friend to all and to help all as much as possible.
- b. Meekness has a strong state of mind. It looks at situations and wants justice and right to be done. It is not a weak mind that ignores and neglects evil and wrong-doing, abuse and suffering.
 - ⇒ If someone is suffering, meekness steps in and does what it can to help.
 - ⇒ If evil is being done, meekness does what it can to stop and correct it.
 - ⇒ If evil is running rampant and indulging itself, meekness actually strikes out in anger. However, note a crucial point: the anger is always at the right time and against the right thing.
- c. Meekness has strong self-control. The meek person controls his spirit and mind. He controls the lusts of his flesh. He does not give way to ill-temper, retaliation, passion, indulgence, or license. The meek person dies to himself, to what his flesh would like to do, and he does the right thing—exactly what God wants done.

In summary, the meek man walks in a humble, tender, but strong state of mind; denies himself, giving utmost consideration to others. He shows a control and righteous anger against injustice and evil. A meek man forgets self and lives for others because of what Christ has done for him.

⇒ God is meek.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ Jesus Christ was meek.

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

⇒ Believers are to be meek.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

D. Message 4: Life Without God, 3:3

- 1 Man is foolish,^{DS1} disobedient,^{DS2} & deceived^{DS3}
- 2 Man is a slave of lust & pleasure
- 3 Man lives in malice^{DS4} & envy^{DS5}
- 4 Man is hateful^{DS6} & hated^{DS7}

3 For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another.

DIVISION IITHE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE*D. Message 4: Life Without God, 3:3

(3:3) Introduction: this is a terrible picture of what life is like without God. Note that we who are believers were living a life just like what is described here before we accepted Christ. This does not necessarily mean that we were actively involved in every sin included in the list, but we are all guilty of at least some of these sins. And being guilty, we stand before God imperfect and short of His glory. Therefore, we need to be saved through the Lord Jesus Christ. Oliver Greene has an excellent introduction to this verse that merits quoting in its entirety:

“We who are Christians now, once conformed to this picture of wickedness. (The ‘we’ also includes Paul and Titus.) The verse does not necessarily mean that every believer has been guilty of all the things pointed out here. Some things are mentioned that no doubt Paul was not guilty of before his conversion; but he is simply pointing out to Titus that he should preach to the people in the churches...that they should live holy lives, and especially manifest a spirit of humility, order, peace, kindness, and due subordination to local authorities. Titus should point out to the believers that they were formerly disorderly, wicked, sensual—sinners by nature; but having heard the Gospel, through the power of the Gospel they had been saved from these things by the grace of God, and now they were new creations in Christ Jesus and by their daily practices should prove to unbelievers that they have had a change of heart.

“The minister of the Gospel is never to be proud or arrogant. He is to point unbelievers to Christ—not to his own righteousness or ability to live above the world. The minister is to remember that before his conversion he was in the same condition as the unbeliever to whom he now preaches. The minister is not to forget that he is not superior to others because of HIS ability, but because of the grace of God and the power of God. The minister is to exhort the wicked to repent. Remembering his own life of sin and wickedness will help him to fervently preach the grace of God which worked a miracle in his own heart; and having had a miracle of grace performed in his own heart, he knows what the grace of God can do for all who will receive it” (The Epistles of Paul the Apostle to Timothy and Titus, p.472f).

The subject of the verse and of this study is: life without God.

1. Man is foolish, disobedient, and deceived (v.3).
2. Man is a slave of lust and pleasure (v.3).
3. Man lives in malice and envy (v.3).
4. Man is hateful and hated (v.3).

1 (3:3) Foolish—Disobedient—Deceived—Unwise—Unbelievers—Lost, The: man is foolish, disobedient, and deceived (v.3) (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Foolish—Tit.3:3; DEEPER STUDY # 3, Disobedient—Tit.3:3; DEEPER STUDY # 2, Deceived—Tit.3:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:3) Foolish—Unwise—Unbelievers—Lost, The: a person without God is “foolish” (anoetoi). The word means to be thoughtless, dull, senseless, and without understanding in spiritual matters; to be ignorant of God and unwise in dealing with God.

Note that men sometimes call each other fools, using the word as a term of reproach. But believers are forbidden to call other persons fools; God wants no person reproached. But this is not the way the word is being used in the present passage. Scripture is simply saying that a person who denies, ignores, or neglects God is acting foolishly, very unwisely.

- ⇒ He is thoughtless: not applying his thoughts to God; not thinking through the truth about God.
- ⇒ He is dull: not being sharp in his thoughts about God. He is being sleepy-minded, slow, and sluggish toward God.
- ⇒ He is senseless: not using good common sense about God. He is acting contrary to good common sense. He is deficient in his thoughts about God.
- ⇒ He is without understanding: he does not grasp or comprehend God; he does not have the right ideas or thoughts about God.
- ⇒ He is ignorant of God: he does not know God. He has not learned God—has not looked at, thought about, studied, nor met, walked and fellowshiped with God.
- ⇒ He is unwise: he is acting contrary to wisdom; he is acting dangerously and foolishly.

Scripture is as clear as it can be: the person who walks upon earth without God is foolish. And remember: we were one time foolish—all of us—every believer. We walked upon earth most unwisely, thinking little if any about God, ignoring and neglecting Him; and some of us even denied Him.

But thanks be to God our Savior. He has saved us, and He will save any person no matter how foolish and ignorant of God he is. No matter how foolish and far away from God a person is, God will save him if he will just call upon the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their sayings” (Ps.49:13).

“The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that doeth good” (Ps.53:1).

“The wisdom of the prudent is to understand his way: but the folly of fools is deceit. Fools make a mock at sin: but among the righteous there is favor” (Pr.14:8-9).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

“And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness. Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without make that which is within also?” (Lk.11:39-40).

“But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he that layest up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God” (Lk.12:20-21).

“For the invisible things of him [God] from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools” (Ro.1:20-22).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(3:3) Disobedient—Unbelievers—Lost, The: a person without God is “disobedient” (apeitheis). The word means to refuse to obey by not doing what one should; to rebel against and to reject instruction; to refuse to be persuaded; to be obstinate against authority. Note a most significant fact: the charge is that man is disobedient in general; that is, he disobeys all authority:

- ⇒ He disobeys parents, civil authorities, civil laws, and the natural laws of nature—polluting and misusing everything about him.
- ⇒ He disobeys the laws of personal duty as he walks day by day at home, in the workplace, and throughout his community.
- ⇒ Most tragic of all, in fact, the cause of all other disobedience, is that he disobeys God and His Word, the very Person who can save him and who has laid down the commandment of life for man.

Man just comes short, disobeying all the laws and duties of life—not all the time, but sometimes. By nature, when a person wants something that is forbidden, he is drawn to go after it despite the fact that it is wrong and disobedient. He is simply drawn to disobey the law of God or the law of the land and the restriction of the parent.

The point is this: all of us—every believer and every unbeliever—have walked in disobedience. We have all disobeyed all authority; we have been lawless and transgressed all authority ranging from parents over to God. We have come short—far short—of what we should have done.

But thanks be to God our Savior, for He has provided the way for us to be forgiven. Our guilt and punishment for having broken the law of God and of man can be completely removed from us. How? Through our Lord Jesus Christ. No matter how disobedient we have been—no matter how lawless we have been—God our Savior will forgive our transgressions. He will forgive them if we genuinely believe that His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, paid the punishment of our transgression when He died upon the cross.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient [being]...backbiters, haters of God, despightful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents” (Ro.1:28, 30).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

“For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(3:3) Deceived—Unbelievers—Lost, The: a person without God is “deceived” (planomenoi). The word means to be misled and led astray. It means to be seduced away from God and the truth and away from what is right. Man is so easily led astray that Scripture pictures him as a wandering and lost sheep. He is a sheep that must be sought after, found, and saved or else he will be destroyed by the wilderness of the world—destroyed because he was deceived and led away from the eternal pasture of God. Scripture teaches that man is seduced and led astray by several things.

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by immoral and seductive persons.

“Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips” (Ro.3:13).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:17-18).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:3-6).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous” (1 Jn.3:7).

“And they will deceive every one his neighbor, and will not speak the truth: they have taught their tongue to speak lies, and weary themselves to commit iniquity” (Jer.9:5).

“For the rich men thereof are full of violence, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth” (Mic.6:12).

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by false teaching and false systems of religion.

“And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you. For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many” (Mt.24:4-5).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition” (2 Th.2:3).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“But shun profane and vain babblings [false teachings]: for they will increase unto more ungodliness. And their word will eat as doth a canker: of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus” (2 Tim.2:16-17).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away. For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:5-7).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by self.

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:9-10).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:7-8).

“But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves” (Jas.1:22).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man’s religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us” (1 Jn.1:8).

“So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:16-17).

“For he flattereth himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful” (Ps.36:2).

“The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?” (Jer.17:9).

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by Satan.

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie [deception], he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded [deceived] the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light” (2 Cor.11:13-14).

“Even him [antichrist], whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders, and with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved” (2 Th.2:9-10).

“And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived [by Satan] was in the transgression” (1 Tim.2:14).

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by evil, immoral, and unjust governments and states.

“And the light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee; and the voice of the bridegroom [Christ] and of the bride [the church] shall be heard no more at all in thee [Babylon, the symbol of the godless city or government]: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived” (Rev.18:23).

“Woe to the bloody city! it is all full of lies and robbery; the prey departeth not” (Nahum 3:1).

⇒ Man is seduced and led astray by sin.

“For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me” (Ro.7:11).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

Remember the point of this verse: once we were all deceived. All of us had been led astray from God. But thanks be to God our Savior. He has found us and saved us, and He will find and save any person who will turn toward Him and call out for Him. God our Savior is searching for every person, not willing that any should perish. In fact, God is with the person at all times. All the person has to do is turn to God and call upon Him, and God will save him.

2 (3:3) Lusts—Pleasure—Unbelievers—Lost, The: a person without God is enslaved by all sorts of lusts and pleasures.

- ⇒ The word “lusts” (epithumiais) means passionate cravings, desires, and urges; it means to have a yearning passion for.
- ⇒ The word “pleasures” (hedonais) can mean either good or bad pleasures. In the present context it means bad pleasures, desiring and indulging in worldly amusements and worldly delights.

Every person knows what it is to have the flesh lusting after the pleasures and delights of this world, to have it yearning and yearning to lay hold of the pleasures and delights...

- of having more and more
- of having bigger and better
- of partying
- of lusting
- of intoxicating drugs
- of having power
- of exercising authority
- of indulging in food
- of having recognition
- of having money
- of owning property
- of having possessions
- of getting attention
- of attaining position
- of displaying fashion

Man is enslaved by the things of the world, things that damage his body—that make him greedy and selfish—that destroy his spirit and doom him to destruction.

But thanks be to God our Savior. He has saved us and delivered us from the enslavements of this world, the enslavements of lust and pleasure that destroy our bodies and souls. The wonderful news is that any person can be delivered from the destructive lusts and pleasures of this world. How? Through our Lord Jesus Christ. If a person will turn away from the destructive lusts and pleasures and turn to Christ, God will deliver him. God will give him the power to conquer the lusts and enslavements of this world.

“And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection” (Lk.8:14).

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?” (Lk.12:19-20).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves....traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God” (2 Tim.3:1-2, 4).

“For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another” (Tit.3:3).

“Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter” (Jas.5:5).

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves” (Ro.1:24).

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face. In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light” (Job 24:15-16).

3 (3:3) Malice—Envy—Unbelievers—Lost, The: man lives in malice and envy (v.3) (see DEEPER STUDY # 4, Malice—Tit.3:3; DEEPER STUDY # 5, Envy—Tit.3:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 4

(3:3) Malice—Unbelievers—Lost, The: a person without God lives in malice (kakia). The word means evil disposition or evil in nature. It is a spirit full of evil and malice and injury, a character that is as evil as it can be. It is a person who always looks for the worst in other people and always passes on the worst about them. It is the person who so often ruins other people both in reputation and body and in mind and spirit. It is a person so full of evil that he is always ruining others either by word or violence. There are some people who would not actively strike and harm a person, but everyone has experienced feelings against another person. The feelings arise from some argument or difference within the family, with a neighbor, or at work, school, or play. And the feelings were strong, so strong that one could care less if something bad happened to the person. And most people have even had feelings...

- that wished something bad upon others.
- that downgraded and tore down others.

Tragically, these feelings even occur within families. People hold malice within their hearts; they could care less if something bad happened to others. But thanks be to God our Savior. He has provided forgiveness for this terrible sin—both forgiveness and deliverance. And He will forgive and deliver any person who turns away from his malice and bitterness against others and turns to Him.

“Brethren, be not children in understanding; howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:31-32).

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth” (Col.3:8).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:1-3).

(3:3) Envy: a person without God lives in envy (phthonoi). The word means that a person covets what someone else has, covets it so much that he wants it even if it means that it has to be taken away from the other person. He may even wish that the other person did not have it or had not received it. We may look at people and envy their...

- money
- position
- looks
- possessions
- popularity
- clothes
- social status
- recognition
- authority

The results of envy are terrible; envy takes a terrible toll upon the life and body of a person.

- ⇒ A person who envies does not have peace or happiness. He is dissatisfied with what he is and has, and is always wanting more and more of what others have.
- ⇒ In addition to this, envy often drives a person into crime and lawlessness in order to get what he craves.
- ⇒ On top of this, envy often leads to physical problems such as migraine headaches, high blood pressure, and ulcers.
- ⇒ Envy also causes emotional problems ranging from mild neurosis of depression to psychotic behavior.

But thanks to be to God our Savior. He saves and delivers us from envy. Through Christ He gives us life, real life, and He satisfies our hearts and lives with pleasures forevermore (Ps.16:11).

“A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones” (Pr.14:30).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the LORD all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

“Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them” (Pr.24:1).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

4 (3:3) Hate: man is hateful and hated (v.3) (see DEEPER STUDY # 6, Hate—Tit.3:3; DEEPER STUDY # 7, Hate—Tit.3:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 6

(3:3) Hate: a person without God is hateful; that is, he is worthy of being hated (stugetoi). This is the only time this terrible word is used in the Bible. It means to be hated—to be worthy of being hated and counted as detestable. This is strong language, to think that we are worthy of being hated. What does this mean?

- ⇒ It means the selfish, greedy, covetous nature of man is worthy of being hated—the nature that lies, steals, cheats, banks, and hoards while millions of others are dying from hunger, thirst, disease, cold, heat, sin, evil, and from the lack of the gospel which could save the whole world.
- ⇒ It means the carnal and immoral nature of man is worthy of hatred—the nature that commits fornication and adultery, destroying homes and bodies through broken trusts and disease and emotional and mental traumas—from which many never recover.

The list could go on and on, but the point is clear: the behavior of man is very often worthy of being hated. But thanks be to God, for He has saved and transformed our hateful nature. He has taken our unloving nature and made new men out of us. And He will do it for any person who turns from living a selfish and worldly life and turns to Christ. God will transform any person who trusts and follows His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And the Pharisees also, who were covetous, heard all these things: and they derided him. And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men [earthly possessions, things] is abomination in the sight of God” (Lk.16:14-15).

“For all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination [extremely hated and disgusting] unto the LORD thy God” (Dt.25:16).

“But the thing that David had done [adultery] displeased [was hated by] the LORD” (2 Sam.11:27).

“For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee” (Ps.5:4).

“The LORD trieth the righteous: but the wicked and him that loveth violence his soul hateth” (Ps.11:5).

“These six things doth the LORD hate; yea, seven are an abomination unto him: a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren” (Pr.6:16-19).

“And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbor; and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, saith the LORD” (Zech.8:17).

But thanks be to God our Savior. He has saved us and provided an escape for us through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. We can be delivered from the hatred of the world and receive a life of love, joy, and peace—a life that will go on and on forever.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now” (1 Jn.2:9).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him” (Lev.19:17).

DIVISION II

THE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE

E. Message 5: Life With God—Salvation, 3:4-7

(3:4-7) Introduction: this is one of the greatest summaries on salvation in all Scripture. It is a message that must be preached if people are going to be reached for Christ and if believers are going to be grounded in sound doctrine.

1. Salvation comes from God (v.4-5).
2. Salvation is a regeneration and a renewing by God's Spirit (v.5).
3. Salvation comes through Jesus Christ our Saviour (v.6-7).

1 (3:4-5) Salvation—Kindness—Love: salvation comes from God. God is the Author of salvation. God is not as most people imagine Him.

- ⇒ Some people imagine God to be far off in outer space someplace with little if any concern and interest in the affairs and lives of men. They feel God is almost untouchable, and they see little evidence to contradict this. They and others sometimes worship and pray and nothing seems to happen. Their prayers are just not answered. They still suffer and the affairs of the world just keep on as they always have. There is little if any indication that God is really active in their lives and in the world, so if He exists, He must be far off and not too interested in the world. This is the view of many people about God.
- ⇒ Others imagine God to be some Supreme Being who hovers over people watching their every move. They see God as the Supreme Judge who is always on the lookout for those who do wrong and who is ready to jump on them and condemn them unless they keep the laws and rules of God.
- ⇒ Some people imagine God to be somewhat like a loving and indulgent grandfather type of being. They see God as the Supreme Being of the universe whose basic nature is love. In fact, they feel He is so loving that He understands a little sin here and there. Therefore, He will indulge and forgive a life of worldliness and some indiscretion here and there and accept all. He will accept a person who does some good. (Note: few people—very, very few—ever think that God will reject them, not in the final analysis.)

Note what this verse says. God is not far off in outer space, disinterested in man; He is not the loving, indulgent grandfather of the human race; He is not some Supreme Judge hovering over men to punish them when they do wrong. God is our Savior. He is vitally concerned with us, so concerned that His very name is God our Savior. He has saved us from the sin and evil and the suffering and death of this world and from the condemnation of the next world. Imagine! We are saved from sin and evil, suffering and death, and from ever having to face condemnation. God our Savior has saved us and given us life eternal; we shall live forever and ever, never dying and never being separated from God—not at all—not even for one minute. Note two significant points.

1. Salvation comes from God's "kindness" (chrestotes). This word is often translated goodness. It means good, gracious, and kind. But it is a goodness and kindness that is so deep that it always gives whatever is necessary to meet the needs of a person (Barclay). Kindness is so deep within God that it is of His very nature. God is so good and kind that He could do nothing else but save us. He had to meet our need; He had to save us from sin, death, and condemnation. Why? Because He is kind; He had to extend His kindness out toward man by saving him.

"Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness [kindness] and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" (Ro.2:4).

"The LORD hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee" (Jer.31:3).

"And I will betroth thee unto me for ever; yea, I will betroth thee unto me in righteousness, and in judgment, and in loving-kindness, and in mercies" (Hos.2:19).

2. Salvation comes from God's "love" (philanthropia). This means that God's love reached out toward man; that God has a deep-seated affection for man and that He has showered His affection upon man by saving him. The word has the idea of compassion in it. God loves man so much that His affection and compassion are stirred to save men. God loves us so much that He must act to handle the sin and death problems for man and provide an escape from condemnation.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

“In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him” (1 Jn.4:9).

“And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

3. Salvation does not come by good works. Men cannot earn righteousness by good works. No person can be good enough or do enough good to make God accept him. This is the great fallacy of most people and most religions. They think that they can secure God’s approval by being good and doing good. But this is the great fallacy:

⇒ Man cannot do enough good to make himself perfect.

⇒ Man is already imperfect, so he can never be perfect. Imperfection can never become perfection.

What man fails to see is that God is perfect, and as perfect, He cannot accept anything imperfect. Therefore, no matter how many works of righteousness man does—no matter how much good he does—man is not saved by his own efforts. He cannot earn, win, or merit salvation, not by any self-righteousness or personal goodness which he might attain.

Thought 1. Common sense tells us this, for everything about man passes away and dies. No matter what it is, everything man knows and possesses—even himself—ages, decays, and passes away. Therefore, righteousness or goodness based within man dies and passes away with him. If man is to be saved, then Someone outside of himself and of his world—Someone with the power to penetrate and save this world—has to come to earth and snatch man out of its corruption and save him. The point is this: if man is to ever be saved, he will not be saved by self-righteousness nor by anything else that concerns self. Self and all that concerns self only die. Man can only be saved by some Force much greater than himself, some Force that is living and personal and kind and loving enough to save him. That Force, of course, is God Himself.

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

4. Salvation comes from God’s “mercy” (eleon). The word means feelings of pity, compassion, and kindness. It is a desire to succor, to tenderly draw unto oneself and to care for. Two things are essential in order to have mercy: seeing a need and being able to meet that need. God sees our need for salvation; He sees that we need to be saved from sin, death, and condemnation. Therefore, God acts; He has mercy upon us and provides the way for us to be saved.

“And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation” (Lk.1:50).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“It is of the LORD’S mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

2 (3:5) Regeneration—Renewal—New Birth—New Man—Salvation—Holy Spirit: salvation is a regeneration and a daily renewing of life by God’s Holy Spirit.

1. The word “regeneration” (palingenesias) means to be regenerated or given new life; to be given a new birth; to be renewed or revived; to be spiritually reborn or converted. Salvation is a spiritual rebirth; it is a person being born again by the Spirit of God.

Note that the new birth is so radical a change in a person's life that it is described as a "washing" (loutrou) which means a bath, a complete immersion. Salvation is so dramatic it is just like the washing away of the old life and the receiving of a new life. All that concerns a person's old life is washed away, all the...

- sin and evil
- corruption and injustice
- selfishness and greed
- guilt and doubt
- dirt and immorality
- pollution and worldliness
- failure and shortcoming

The Spirit of God cleanses a person—immerses the person in the cleansing blood of Jesus Christ.

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col.1:14).

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:7).

"And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

"And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb" (Rev.7:14).

The Spirit of God through the blood of Christ washes away the old life and gives the believer a new life. The Spirit of God regenerates a person, saves him from his old life and gives him a new life—a rebirth—spiritually creating him into a new person.

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God" (Jn.1:12-13).

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God" (Jn.3:3, 5).

"And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God" (1 Cor.6:11).

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Cor.5:17).

"Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost" (Tit.3:5).

"Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever" (1 Pt.1:23).

"Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (1 Jn.5:1).

2. The word "renewing" (anakainosis) means to make new again; to renew again; to revive again; to make new spiritually; to begin all over again; to adjust again. Salvation is the Holy Spirit adjusting a person and renewing him all over again. It is the Spirit of God taking a person, readjusting his life and reviving him spiritually. Note that the renewing is done by the Spirit of God just as regeneration is.

W.E. Vine says that the stress is "the continual operation of the indwelling Spirit of God."

Kenneth Wuest says, "This is the work of the Holy Spirit in sanctification."

The point is a most wonderful truth. The Holy Spirit not only regenerates a person and gives him a new birth and a new life, but He does much, much more. He renews and revives a person day by day. Every day of a person's life is a renewal and a revival—by the Spirit of God. Life—a single day—does not need to be...

- dull
- routine
- drudgery
- without purpose or meaning
- aimless
- complacent

When a person is truly saved, the Holy Spirit renews and revives him day by day. He stirs and energizes the person to follow Jesus more and more closely and to serve Him more and more faithfully.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:1-2).

"For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day" (2 Cor.4:16).

"That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind" (Eph.4:22-23).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

"Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost" (Tit.3:5).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:5) Regeneration—New Birth: the New Testament teaching on the new birth is rich and full.

1. The new birth is a necessity. A person will never see (Jn.3:3) nor ever enter (Jn.3:5) the Kingdom of God unless he is born again (Jn.3:7).
2. The new birth is a spiritual birth, the birth of a new power and spirit in life. It is not reformation of the old nature (Ro.6:6). It is the actual creation of a new birth within—spiritually (Jn.3:5-6; cp. Jn.1:12-13; 2 Cor.5:17; Eph.2:10; 4:24). (See notes—Eph.1:3; 4:17; DEEPER STUDY # 3—4:24.) A person is spiritually born again:
 - a. By water, even the Spirit (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.3:5).
 - b. By the will of God (Jas.1:18).
 - c. By incorruptible seed, even by the Word of God (1 Pt.1:23).
 - d. By God from above (1 Pt.1:3). The word again (ana) in the phrase “born again” also means above. (Cp. Jn.1:12-13.)
 - e. By Christ, who gives both the power and right to be born again (Jn.1:12-13).
3. The new birth is a definite experience, a real experience. A person experiences the new birth:
 - a. By believing that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God (1 Jn.5:1; cp. Jn.3:14-15).
 - b. By the gospel as it is shared by believers (1 Cor.4:15; Phile.10).
 - c. By the Word of God (1 Pt.1:23) or by the Word of Truth (Jas.1:18).
4. The new birth is a changed life, a totally new life. A person proves that he is born again:
 - a. By doing righteous acts (1 Jn.2:29; cp. Eph.2:10; 4:24).
 - b. By not practicing sin (1 Jn.3:9; 5:18).
 - c. By loving other believers (1 Jn.4:7).
 - d. By overcoming the world (1 Jn.5:4).
 - e. By keeping himself (1 Jn.5:18).
 - f. By possessing the divine seed or nature (1 Jn.3:9; 1 Pt.1:23; 2 Pt.1:4; cp. Col.1:27).

3 (3:6-7) Salvation—Justification—Inheritance: salvation comes through Jesus Christ our Savior. Jesus Christ has done three wonderful things for us.

1. Jesus Christ is the One who pours out the Holy Spirit so richly upon us. As stated in verse five, it is the Holy Spirit who regenerates us and who revives us day by day. But we would not have the Holy Spirit apart from Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the One who gives us the Holy Spirit. Note this:

⇒ It is a man’s head that stirs and arouses his spirit to flow through his body and get to the work at hand. So it is with Christ the Head of the church. Christ arouses His Spirit to flow through His body of believers which is His church.

When a person believes in Jesus Christ, Christ puts His Spirit into the new believer. Yea, Christ pours out His Spirit richly and abundantly upon the person. The result is both regeneration (a new birth) and a daily renewing or revival (stirred to follow Christ and to serve Him more and more).

Thought 1. The essential power in the life of a believer is the power of the Holy Spirit. It is He and He alone who imparts life to the believer (regeneration) and who arouses the believer to serve Christ day by day (renewal). All the behavior of a believer and all the words of a believer and all the worship of a believer are powerless without the power of the Holy Spirit. It does not matter how high his position, how appealing his profession, how attractive his appearance, how consistent his worship—his life is powerless without the presence and power of the Holy Spirit. He is totally unacceptable to God, both he and his religious work.

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:16-18).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?” (1 Cor.6:19).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

Thought 2. Barclay makes an excellent point that needs to be heeded by every church and believer:

“All the work of the Church, all the words of the Church, all the sacraments of the Church are powerless and inoperative unless the power of the Holy Spirit is there. However highly a Church be organized, however splendid its ceremonies may be, however beautiful its buildings, and however elaborate its worship, all is ineffective without the power of the Spirit. The more we read the New Testament, the more we come to the conclusion that to the people of the early Church the Spirit and the Risen Christ were one and the same. The lesson is clear. Revival in the Church does not come from increased efficiency in organization; it comes from waiting upon God. It is not that efficiency is not necessary; it is. But no amount of efficiency can breathe life into a body from which the breath of the Spirit has departed.”

2. Jesus Christ is the One who justifies us. In simple terms justification means that God takes the believer's faith and counts it as righteousness (Ro.4:3; cp. Gen.15:6; see notes—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25; note—5:1. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 4, Cross—Jn.12:32 for more discussion.)

When a person really believes that Jesus Christ is his Savior, God takes that person's faith and counts it for righteousness (Ro.4:3, 5, 9, 11, 22, 24). The person is not righteous; he has no righteousness of his own. He is still imperfect, still sinful, still corruptible, still short of God's glory as a sinful human being. But he does believe that Jesus Christ is his Savior. Such belief honors God's Son (whom God loves very much), and because it honors God's Son, God accepts that person's faith for righteousness. God counts that person's faith as righteousness. Therefore, that person becomes acceptable to God. (In a discussion of justification, a person's belief—the right kind of belief—is critical. See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.2:24; note—Ro.10:16-17.)

Note why God justifies a person. God justifies a man because of His Son Jesus Christ. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness. The man is not righteous, but God considers and credits the man's faith as righteousness. Why is God willing to do this?

- a. God is willing to justify man because He loves man that much. God loves man so much that He sent His Son into the world and sacrificed Him in order to justify man (Jn.3:16; Ro.5:8).
- b. God is willing to justify man because of what His Son Jesus Christ has done for man.
 - ⇒ Jesus Christ has secured the Ideal righteousness for man. He came to earth to live a sinless and perfect life. As Man He never broke the law of God; He never went contrary to the will of God, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for the righteousness of every man.
 - ⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to die for man. As the Ideal Man He could take all the sins of the world upon Himself and die for every man. His death could stand for every man. He exchanged places with man by becoming the sinner (2 Cor.5:19). He bore the wrath of God against sin, bearing the condemnation for every man. Again, He was able to do this because He was the Ideal Man, and as the Ideal Man His death could stand for the death of every man.
 - ⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to arise from the dead and thereby to conquer death for man. As the Ideal Man His resurrection and exaltation into the presence of God could stand for every man's desperate need to conquer death and to be acceptable to God. His resurrected life could stand for the resurrected life of the believer.

Now, as stated above, when a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man's belief and...

- counts it as the righteousness (perfection) of Christ. The man is counted as righteous in Christ.
- counts it as the death of Christ. The man is counted as already having died in Christ.
- counts it as the resurrection of Christ. The man is counted as already having been resurrected in Christ.

Very simply, God loves His Son Jesus Christ so much that He honors any man who honors His Son by believing on Him. He honors the man by taking the man's faith and counting (crediting) it as righteousness and by giving him the glorious privilege of living with Christ forever in the presence of God.

“And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

3. Jesus Christ makes us heirs of eternal life. Scripture actually says that we are “joint heirs” with Christ. This is an astounding truth and promise. We shall inherit all that Christ is and has. We shall be given the glorious privilege of sharing in all things with the Son of God Himself.

However note this: to be a joint-heir with Christ does not mean that believers are equal heirs in the sense that they will receive an equal amount of the inheritance with Christ. Rather, it means that believers are fellow-heirs with Christ; that is, believers will share in the inheritance of Christ; they will share Christ's inheritance with Him.

Being a fellow-heir with Christ means at least three glorious things: it means that we shall share in the nature, position, and responsibility of Christ. The following chart shows this with a quick glance.

FELLOW HEIRS BY NATURE

Christ is the Son of God, the very being and energy of life and perfection. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His nature. We receive...

- the adoption as children of God (Gal.4:4-7; 1 Jn.3:1).
- the sinless nature of being blameless (Ph.2:15).
- eternal life (Jn.1:4; 10:10; 17:2-3; Jn.3:16; 1 Tim.6:19).
- an enduring substance (Heb.10:34).
- a glorious body (Ph.3:21; 1 Cor.15:42-44).
- eternal glory and honor and peace (Ro.2:10).
- eternal rest and peace (Heb.4:9; Rev.14:13).
- an incorruptible body (1 Cor.9:25).
- a righteous being (2 Tim.4:8).

FELLOW HEIRS BY POSITION

Christ is the exalted Lord, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, the Lord of lords and King of kings. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His position. We receive...

- the position of exalted beings (Rev.7:9-12).
- a citizenship in the Kingdom of God (Jas.2:5; Mt.25:34).
- enormous treasures in heaven (Mt.19:21; Lk.12:33).
- unsearchable riches (Eph.3:8).
- the right to surround the throne of God (Rev.7:9-13; 20:4).
- the position of a king (Rev.1:5; 5:10).
- the position of a priest (Rev.1:5; 5:10; 20:6).
- the position of glory (1 Pt.5:4).

FELLOW HEIRS BY RESPONSIBILITY

Christ is the Sovereign Majesty of the Universe, the One who is ordained to rule and oversee all. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His responsibility. We receive...

- the rulership over many things (Mt.25:23).
- the right to rule and hold authority (Lk.12:42-44; 22:28-29).
- eternal responsibility and joy (Mt.25:21, 23).
- rule and authority over cities (Lk.19:17, 19).
- thrones and the privilege of reigning forever (Rev.20:4; 22:5).

These passages will give some idea of what Scripture teaches when it speaks of the believer being a fellow-heir with Christ. There are an innumerable number of Scriptures that could be added to these. As Paul declares:

“Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him” (1 Cor.2:9).

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen” (Ro.11:33-36).

DIVISION II

THE MESSAGE OF SOUND DOCTRINE

F. Message 6: The Warning to Believers, 3:8-11

(3:8-11) Introduction: this is a critical message, a message that believers must heed. It gives three warnings to believers.

1. Warning 1: do good works and keep on doing them (v.8).
2. Warning 2: turn away from foolish and controversial discussions and from false trusts (v.9).
3. Warning 3: reject a heretic (v.10-11).

1 (3:8) Warnings—Good Works—Believers, Duty: the first warning—believers must do good works and keep on doing them. The Greek word maintain (proistasthai) means to set before; to give attention to; to be forward and eager and diligent in doing good works. It means...

- to keep on doing good works.
- to sustain good works.
- to persevere in doing good works.
- to carry on good works.

It even has the idea of sustaining good works against all odds regardless of circumstances and difficulties. It means to persevere in good works even in the midst of opposition or danger. The necessity of doing good works is also brought out by the word "careful." The word means...

- to think upon good works.
- to consider good works.
- to give careful attention to good works.
- to focus upon good works.

The idea is that the very thoughts of a person's mind are to be centered and focused upon doing good works. Good works are to be the very concentration and primary purpose of a person's life. But note: this is not all. The necessity of doing good works is brought out by another factor. The minister is instructed to affirm constantly—to insist that believers persevere in doing good works. The idea is that the minister must...

- earnestly insist
- constantly insist
- steadfastly insist

The minister of God must press believers to maintain good works. Why so much emphasis on good works? Matthew Henry says, "Because a bare, inactive faith will not save a person; only a working active faith will save a person. Saving faith is a faith that bears righteousness and purity; it actively works at being righteous and pure and at leading others to live righteous and pure lives."

Note one other point: good works are good and profitable to men. Good works alone will build the kind of society and world for which the human heart longs: a world of love, joy, and peace. But remember what Scripture says: we are not saved by our works of righteousness; we are saved by the mercy and grace of God through faith in Christ Jesus.

"To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed. Young men likewise exhort to be sober minded" (Tit.2:5-6).

However we must never forget this: God saves us to do good works. Good works are the purpose for which He saves us.

"For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them" (Eph.2:10).

The whole point of this verse is to stress the absolute necessity for maintaining good works. The very proof that we are saved is that we are maintaining good works. If we are not living righteous and pure lives and encouraging others to trust Christ as their Savior and to live righteously, then Scripture declares that we are not genuinely saved. The warning to believers is clear: they must do good works and keep on doing them.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:17-18).

“Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh” (1 Jn.3:23).

2 (3:9) Strife—Time, Wasting—Division—Theological Discussion: the second warning—believers must turn away from foolish and controversial discussions and from false trusts. Very simply, three things are pictured in this verse.

1. There were some who were spending their time sitting and discussing foolish (moros), useless, and stupid questions—discussions that accomplished nothing for the cause of Christ or for the welfare of humanity. William Barclay has a very descriptive discussion of this point that we all need to heed:

“It has been said that there is a danger that a man may think himself religious because he discusses religious questions. There is a kind of discussion group which argues simply for the sake of arguing. There is a kind of group which will argue for hours about theological questions. It is much easier to discuss theological questions than it is to be kind and considerate and helpful at home, or efficient and diligent and honest at work. There is no virtue in sitting discussing deep theological questions when the simple tasks of the Christian life are waiting to be done. It is indeed true that such discussion can be nothing other than an evasion of Christian duties.

“Paul was quite certain that the real task of the Christian lay in Christian action. That is by no means to say that there is no place for Christian discussions; but it is to say that the discussion which does not end in action is very largely wasted time.”

2. There were some who were wasting time on genealogies, that is, on their roots and heritage. They felt that they were acceptable to God because they had good parents and forefathers. They even felt that the more outstanding they could show their roots to be, the more outstanding they would be in the eyes of society and God.

Thought 1. Note two significant lessons.

- 1) There are many persons who feel that they are acceptable to God because their parents, wife, husband, children, or family are godly. Others feel that their friendship with some minister or godly friend will rub off on them. They just think that God would never reject them because they are close to a godly person.
- 2) Many persons, even preachers and teachers, stress the godly heritage of Christianity and the great doctrines of the Christian faith. They think that they are acceptable to God because they profess the doctrines and godly heritage of Christianity and because they are involved in religion and in the worshipping of God. But the great tragedy is this: some are relying upon their profession of Christianity to save them instead of relying upon Christ; some are depending upon their belief in the great heritage and doctrines of Christianity to save them instead of depending upon Christ Himself. They just do not know Christ personally; they have not established a personal relationship with Christ.

3. There were those who were arguing and striving over the law, that is, over the Old Testament Scriptures. The false teachers of Paul’s day were just like the false teachers of today and down through the centuries. They professed Christ but Christ was not enough to save them. It took both the law and Christ to save them. To be saved a person had to believe in Christ, yes, but he also had to undergo the basic ritual of the law (circumcision, baptism, church membership, confirmation, etc.) and commit his life to keeping the law of God, including the thousands and thousands of rules surrounding the law.

Paul is saying that believers, including preachers and teachers, should not become embroiled in the controversies of Scripture. They are “unprofitable and vain,” useless and empty—of no value whatsoever. Christ is all that is needed. He and His Word are to be proclaimed and controversies turned away from. The proclamation of Christ and His Word is the occupation of the believer, the very purpose for the believer’s existence.

Thought 1. Arguing over Christ and the Bible does not reach and build people up; proclaiming Christ and His Word is the only activity that reaches and builds people up.

“Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do” (1 Tim.1:4).

“He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings” (1 Tim.6:4).

“But foolish and unlearned questions avoid, knowing that they do gender strifes” (2 Tim.2:23).

“But avoid foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and strivings about the law; for they are unprofitable and vain” (Tit.3:9).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with” (Pr.17:14).

3 (3:10-11) Heresy—Teaching, False: the third warning—believers must reject heretics, those who forsake the truth of Christ and of God’s Word. The Greek word heretic (hairesikos) is interesting. It means to take for oneself; to choose for oneself. Therefore, a heretic is a person who chooses what he is to believe. He rejects all authority no matter what it is: God, Christ, the Word of God, the church, man. He himself chooses what he is to believe. He and he alone is his authority; he and he alone determines truth—what is and what is not truth.

Note that this heretic is in the church; he associates with believers. This is the picture of most heretics. Few reject all the teachings of Christ and of the Bible. Most heretics remain in the church, holding to some basic teachings but rejecting those doctrines that they do not like. The Scripture is clear: believers are to reach out to the heretic or false teacher. He is not to be lambasted, rejected, and expelled from the church. An attempt is to be made to reach him for Christ. In fact, two strong attempts are to be made to reach him. He is to be shown love and care and admonished to repent and confess the truth of Christ and His Word. But note: there is a limit. On the third try, if he does not repent he is to be rejected, that is, expelled from the church. He is not to be allowed to lead other believers astray. (See outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20 for more detailed discussion on church discipline as taught by Christ.)

The heretic is “subverted” (ektrepo): which means he is twisted or turned out and away from the truth of Christ and His Word. Note that the heretic sins. The idea is that he sins greatly. Therefore, he condemns himself. He himself has chosen the path of unbelief, and he will be condemned for his unbelief.

“He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:18).

Thought 1. The point is clear to the thinking and honest believer, and honesty is as necessary as the willingness to think about the issue. A person who uses the scissors of self-opinion and cuts up Christ and the Word of God, casting away some of the teachings concerning Him and His Word, is considered a heretic by the Bible. It does not matter who he is—preacher, teacher, or layman—this is the person called a heretic by the Bible. If he turns or twists himself out of the truth of Christ and Scripture, he is a heretic. Therefore, he is to be approached in love and admonished on two specific occasions. If he rejects the two admonitions, he should be approached a third time, and then rejected if he still refuses to repent. He should be rejected and expelled even if he is a minister and teacher in the church.

A striking and tragic question is this—a question that God will surely answer in that great and terrible day of judgment: How many millions of people have been led astray within our churches by false teachers, those whom the Bible calls heretics—those who have turned away from the truth of Christ and of His Word?

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls, saying, Ye must be circumcised [baptized; joined the church, confirmed, etc.], and keep the law: to whom we gave no such commandment” (Acts 15:24).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils” (1 Tim.4:1).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

DIVISION III

THE CONCLUDING REMARKS: SOME COMMITTED CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 3:12-15

(3:12-15) Introduction: this is the close of Paul’s letter to Titus. As usual Paul closes his letter by sharing his plans and sending greetings to various believers. Hence, the close of Paul’s letters always gives us a glimpse of some of the early believers. This present passage mentions several committed believers who stand as dynamic examples of what commitment is all about.

1. Artemas: an unknown but committed minister (v.12).
2. Tychicus: a dedicated minister (v.12).
3. Titus: a disciple with unusual strength (v.12).
4. Zenas: a committed layman (v.13).
5. Apollos: the evangelist whose witness was needed (v.13).
6. Our people or all believers: A people needing to learn good works (v.14).
7. Fellow workers: servants of God & their support to other believers (v.15).

1 (3:12) Artemas—Commitment: there was Artemas, an unknown but committed minister. This is the only time Artemas is mentioned in the Bible. Note these facts:

- ⇒ He was a companion of Paul.
- ⇒ He was a fellow minister serving under Paul, a humble minister willing to serve in second place. His call was to serve Christ, and he served Christ no matter where he was placed—even under other ministers.
- ⇒ He was a committed minister, a minister who was willing to serve on a foreign field among a very difficult people.
- ⇒ He was apparently a strong minister, for he was being sent to serve in Crete, a most difficult place whose citizens had one of the worst reputations in the ancient world—a reputation so bad that their very name, Cretian became a byword for evil. They were famed as a “drunken, insolent, untrustworthy, lying, gluttonous people” (Barclay). Imagine being sent to serve among a people like that! Artemas had to be ever so strong in the Lord.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:23-24).

“And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:27).

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God” (1 Cor.4:1).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, by ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

2 (3:12) Tychicus—Faithful: there was Tychicus, a most dedicated minister. Note that nothing is said about Tychicus in this passage except the fact that he may be sent to Crete to replace Titus as the minister to the Cretians. However, Tychicus is mentioned throughout Paul’s letters. He was one of Paul’s most faithful and trusted ministers. (See outline, note, and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.6:21-22 for detailed discussion.)

- ⇒ He was commissioned by Paul as a messenger to various churches (Eph.6:21f; Col.4:7; 2 Tim.4:12; Tit.3:12).
- ⇒ He was entrusted to deliver the letters of Paul to the Ephesians, Colossians, and Philemon (Eph.6:21-22; Col.4:7-8).
- ⇒ He was sent on a special mission to Ephesus (2 Tim.4:12).
- ⇒ He was to be sent to Crete for the purpose of relieving Titus (Tit.3:12).
- ⇒ He was called not only Paul’s beloved brother and faithful minister, but also his fellow-slave (Col.4:7).

The point to see in the present passage is the dedication of Tychicus. He was a man with a world-wide vision, and he had sacrificed his life to reach the people of the world with the glorious news that they could now live forever. And note: there was the possibility that he was going to be sent to one of the most difficult places in the ancient world, the island of Crete. But he was a man of commitment—a man who dedicated his life to Christ. Therefore, he was ready and willing to serve anywhere.

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

3 (3:12) Titus—Minister: there was Titus, a strong disciple with special strength. Note that Paul wants Titus to join him in Nicopolis. Why? Paul does not say, but Paul needed him for some special ministry, a ministry so special that the other ministers with Paul could not handle it. This fact plus the fact that Titus had been the disciple left behind to set in order the Cretian churches shows that Titus was a strong disciple, a disciple of unusual strength. He was a pioneer for Christ, a disciple so strong in Christ that he could be the first to reach an area for Christ and to set the churches in order for Christ (Tit.1:5).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

“But truly I am full of power by the spirit of the LORD, and of judgment, and of might, to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin” (Mic.3:8).

4 (3:13) Zenas—Laymen, Committed: there was Zenas, a committed layman. This is the only time Zenas is mentioned in the Bible. Note these facts:

⇒ He was a lawyer.

⇒ He was a Christian believer, a layman who trusted Christ with all his heart.

⇒ He was a committed believer, so committed that he deserved support from the church despite the fact that he was a lawyer and not a full-time pastor.

⇒ He was a believer who was willing to help and serve with other believers. Note that Paul was telling Titus to bring Zenas to him.

The lesson is clear: Christ needs committed laymen who will commit their lives to serve Him and to help other believers. They need to be so committed that they are worthy of support by the church. The church may not be able to support them in addition to the full time staff, but the laymen should be so committed that they are worthy of the support.

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me” (Mt.16:24).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:15-17).

5 (3:13) Apollos—Evangelism: there was Apollos, an evangelist whose witness was needed. Apollos is mentioned several times in Scripture (see outline and notes—Acts 18:23-28 for full discussion). Apollos was called to preach Christ and to evangelize the lost. As soon as he knew the truth, he was set aflame to share Christ. The fire of evangelism to reach the world for Christ burned in his heart. This was the fire that Paul apparently needed in Nicopolis. Imagine! To have such a burning zeal for souls that others request our witness. What a dynamic example! What a need today! Men and women burning to reach the lost for Christ. Note that Apollos, the evangelist, is not to be left needing anything. The church is to support him and meet his needs.

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:11-13).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:35).

“I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise. So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also. For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:14-16).

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily” (Col.1:29).

6 (3:14) Believers: there were the believers, a people needing to learn good works. Note that Paul calls the believers of Crete “our people” (hoi hemeteroi), an endearing term. The Amplified Bible says:

“And let our [own people really] learn to apply themselves to good deeds—to honest labor and honorable employment—so that they may be able to meet necessary demands whenever the occasion may require and not be living idle and uncultivated and unfruitful lives.”

The point is that believers are to work and labor in order to make money and then they are to do good with their money. They are to help those in need, ministering to help meet the needs of the world. And they are to support men such as Zenas and Apollos, both layman and minister, who have given their lives and time to serve Christ. They are to financially support the spread of the gospel around the world.

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also” (Mt.6:19-21).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

7 (3:15) Believers: there were fellow workers, servants of God. Paul had several fellow workers with him. All of them sent their greeting and prayed for God’s grace upon the Cretian believers. The idea is that of support and encouragement. And remember: nothing encourages us and stirs us to serve Christ more and more faithfully than the support of other believers. When things are going bad and trial after trial is confronting us, the very thing we need is a word of support from fellow workers. This is the reason we must be constantly supporting others.

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO

PHILEMON

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO PHILEMON

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 60-63 during Paul's first imprisonment in Rome.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: To Philemon, a well-to-do member of the Colossian church.

The letter to Philemon was delivered personally to Philemon by Tychicus, a fellow minister with Paul. He was also delivering Paul's letter to the church at Colosse. Tychicus' traveling companion was Onesimus, Philemon's runaway slave. Onesimus had just recently been converted and was now returning to his master to make restitution and to correct the wrong he had done.

PURPOSE: Paul had a twofold purpose in writing Philemon.

1. To encourage Philemon to personally forgive and receive Onesimus, the runaway slave, as a brother in the Lord.
2. To teach the church the spirit in which masters and slaves are to live and work together (note in v.2, Paul writes to the church at Colosse as well as to Philemon).

Colossians 3:22-4:1 should be studied right along with this letter. It is a straight-forward message to the churches on the subject of masters and slaves and of workers and employers (see also Ephesians 6:5-9).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The Man, Onesimus. Onesimus was a runaway slave from Colosse. For some unknown reason he had stolen some property and had fled from his master, Philemon (cp. v.18-19). Swiftly he made his way to Rome where he could apparently be hidden among the crowded streets. But somehow, someplace, he met Paul. And Paul led him to the Lord. Then, one of three things apparently happened.

- a. Onesimus' conscience began to bother him, and he confessed all to Paul.
- b. Epaphras, a messenger from the Colossian church, visited Paul. He recognized the runaway slave and shared the incident with Paul.
- c. Paul knew Onesimus was a slave. In the discussion of the matter one day, Onesimus confessed his thievery and expressed a desire to correct his wrong.

Whatever the cause, Onesimus wished to return, and return he did. He obediently followed the dictates of his Lord and conscience. Interestingly, the very name Onesimus means "profitable." Paul plays upon this. He says, "Onesimus in time past was to thee unprofitable, but now profitable to thee and me" (v.11).

There is a fact of history that should be noted. If this fact is true, it shows the preciousness and strength of our salvation in Christ. Ignatius was evidently the pastor of the Antioch church about fifty years after Paul wrote the letter to Philemon. He was imprisoned and tried for his faith and condemned to die a martyr. While being escorted from Antioch to Rome, he wrote several letters to the churches of Asia Minor. These letters still survive. One of them is written to the Ephesian church where the very first chapter speaks ever so highly of their bishop. His name? Onesimus. And Ignatius does the same thing Paul did. He refers to the meaning of his name: he is Onesimus, the profitable one to Christ (v.11) (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.315f).

2. The Man, Philemon. Philemon was the slave owner, an outstanding and wealthy leader in the Colossian church. The church met in his home (v.2). He was a man of great love and faith in the Lord Jesus (v.5), a man who refreshed the hearts of other believers (v.7). And, he is a man who can be trusted to make the right decision (vs. 14, 21). Evidently Philemon was led to the Lord by Paul (v.19).

3. The Problem of Slavery. Throughout history, slavery has been callous, savage, brutal, and wretched beyond words. This was never more so than in the days of Philemon and Onesimus. Onesimus above all others knew what he might be returning to: slaves had no rights whatsoever. The master had absolute rights over the lives of his slaves. The slave was not even considered a person. He was just a piece of chattel property. He was deliberately held down. He was a thing, a tool that existed to be used at the whim or wish of the master. Slavery was so much a part of the Roman Empire that it has been estimated that there were over 60,000,000 of them (William Barclay. The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.310). Onesimus was just one among ever so many.

It was into this tragic society that Christianity came with a radical and transforming message—a message of emancipation: of personal emancipation, an emancipation of spirit, of attitude, of conscience, of mind, of relationships, of behavior, of work (see notes—Eph.6:5-9; Col.3:22-4:1; 1 Tim.6:1-2; Phile.9-21).

"There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal.3:28).

"For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit" (1 Cor.12:13).

"[In Christ] there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all" (Col.3:11).

There are no personal differences between men who stand in Christ: no human classes, no social status, no caste systems. Men are brothers—brothers beloved in the Lord (Phile.16; cp. v.10, 12, 15, 17). A whole new structure of human relationships is built. A structure by which men exist together, work together, and serve together.

Now, as Colossians 3:22-4:1 and Ephesians 6:5-9 show, this is not a message of softness. It does not accept laziness, tardiness, slothfulness, idleness, or excuses. It does not allow the abusing of one's rights as a brother or as an equal before the Lord. The new relationship in Christ does not take advantage of one another. Both master and slave have duties to perform. In fact, in the eyes of the Lord, there is no difference between the one called master and the one called slave. The important factor is that each lives responsibly where he is. Each is to perform his duty as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall be received of the Lord, whether he be bond or free" (Eph.6:7-8).

Simply stated, the thrust of Christ is positive. It is the right of men to share in the labor of one another. All men are to be brothers "in the Lord Jesus Christ." There is absolutely nothing wrong nor immoral in sharing in the fruit of one another. It is the brutal and savage treatment, the abuse of a man's person and self-hood that makes a person lose self-respect. Such abuse and mistreatment causes a man's head to hang low. It bows his shoulders, slumps his back, buckles his knees, and drives him into the ground. He cringes and loses all self-respect. He becomes a beast of burden instead of an active, rational, and creative contributor to society.

For this reason, God insists that the glorious message of Christianity be proclaimed, the glorious message that all men must come to Christ Jesus. It is God's will that all men come to Christ and renew their hearts and receive the power to live as a brother to all other men.

The Old Testament made provision for this kind of spirit. It recognized that a slave might wish to remain in the service of his master because of mutual love and trust. It was a pure and simple matter of a mutual contract of labor and service (cp. Ex.21:5; Dt.15:16).

Slaves are to act like moral, responsible beings: "Servants, obey in all things your masters."

Masters are to treat their slaves as "beloved brothers" (Phile.16). They are to give "just and equal" wages (Col.4:1).

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Philemon have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Philemon, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

I. A GREAT CHRISTIAN MAN: PHILEMON, v.1-7

(v.1-7) Introduction: this is the picture of a outstanding Christian man, Philemon. He stands as a great example for all believers.

1. His commitment (v.1-2).
2. His basic need: the grace and peace of God (v.3).
3. His testimony (v.4-5).
4. His need for prayer (v.6).
5. His love (v.7).

1 (v.1-2) Philemon—Dedication: the commitment of Philemon. His commitment is seen in four striking facts.

1. Philemon was so committed to Christ that he was counted “beloved” by Paul himself. And even more than this, Paul calls him “dearly beloved”—a brother in the Lord who was held ever so close to the heart of Paul. But even this is not all that Paul said. Note the striking title that Paul used for himself: “Paul, a prisoner of Jesus Christ.” This is a most unusual opening for Paul’s letters. He usually opened his letters by establishing his apostleship, saying that he was “Paul, the apostle of Jesus Christ.” Philemon must have been a dear friend of Paul’s, a friend who recognized God’s call to Paul, a friend who loved and supported Paul so much that Paul did not have to establish his call to the ministry for Philemon. Philemon was a beloved friend and supporter of Paul, one who was so committed to Christ that he was counted as beloved by one of God’s choice servants, Paul himself.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35, cp. Jn.15:12).

“Let brotherly love continue” (Heb.13:1).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

2. Philemon was so committed to Christ that he was a laborer for Christ. He served Christ diligently, and note: he labored so diligently that Paul calls him a fellow-laborer. He was working so faithfully for Christ that Paul could acknowledge his labor and count him as a fellow-laborer, as working as diligently as Paul himself in the cause of Christ.

Thought 1. What a dynamic testimony: to be working so hard for Christ that one could be counted as a fellow-laborer with Paul! What a challenge for us! May God grant that we be stirred to serve Christ ever so diligently.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1-2).

“For we are labourers together with God: ye are God’s husbandry, ye are God’s building” (1 Cor.3:9, cp. 2 Cor.6:1).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

3. Philemon was so committed to Christ that he rooted his family in Christ. Apphia was apparently the wife of Philemon and Archippus the son of Philemon. Note that Archippus is addressed as a fellowsoldier of Paul. This must mean that at some point in his life he had actually served with Paul on some mission campaign. He was apparently the pastor of the Colossian church (Col.4:17).

The point to see is the dedication of this family to Christ. Philemon, as the husband and father, had rooted his family in Christ and led them to serve Christ. He had even supported his son’s call and decision to serve Christ in the ministry. He was so committed to Christ that he took his responsibility to be the spiritual head of the family seriously—very seriously. And from all evidence, his wife supported him in his call to be the spiritual head of the family.

Thought 1. What a dynamic example for Christian families: fathers, mothers, and children—each living for Christ and fulfilling his and her function and duty within the family.

4. Philemon was so committed to Christ that he opened his home to the church. Remember that the early church did not have church sanctuaries to meet in; they met in homes of faithful and committed believers. Philemon loved Christ so much that he was willing to open his home night after night and week after week for believers to worship and study God's Word together.

Thought 1. How many today would open their home this much for the church? How many love Christ enough to open their home on a regular basis—enough to forget their tiredness and the housecleaning required? Enough to sacrifice relaxation, rest, and family time together?

2 (v.3) Grace—Peace: the basic need of Philemon. Philemon had two basic needs.

1. He needed grace (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:4 for discussion).
2. He needed peace (See notes, Peace—1 Th.1:1; Jn.14:27 for discussion).

3 (v.4-5) Philemon—Love—Faith: the testimony of Philemon. Note that Paul says, “I thank God” for you. Imagine having a testimony so strong in the Lord that Paul would thank God for you! That was Philemon.

1. His testimony was so strong that it stirred Paul to pray for him, not just every now and then, but always.
2. His testimony was steeped in love (see note, Love—1 Th.1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:12 for discussion).
3. His testimony was steeped in faith (see note, Faith—1 Th.1:3; note 4—2 Th.1:3 for discussion).

4 (v.6) Witness: the prayer that Philemon needed. This is actually the prayer that every strong believer needs. The verse is somewhat complex because it has so much packed into one verse. Simply stated, Paul is asking God to help Philemon to share his faith more and more effectively. Note that “every good thing” is said to be in Philemon. It is those good things that Paul prays for others to acknowledge and desire in their own lives. What are those good things? They would, no doubt, be the fruit of the Spirit.

⇒ love	⇒ longsuffering	⇒ faith
⇒ joy	⇒ gentleness	⇒ meekness
⇒ peace	⇒ goodness	⇒ self-control

The good things would also include life, both abundant and eternal life and the glorious hope of living forever in a new heavens and earth with Christ Jesus our Lord. When unbelievers of the world see the good things of life and the great hope of eternal life within us, some are bound to want the same hope we have. Therefore, the great need of every believer is for prayer—prayer that God will help us share the good things and the hope that we have in Christ.

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints; and for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel” (Eph.6:18-19).

5 (v.7) Love: the love of Philemon. He was apparently a man who loved everyone and proved it by helping others. He was a man of compassion and grace who was committed to help those who had need. He refreshed them. Barclay has a striking statement on the point of ministry, a point that should challenge every believer who wants more and more of Christ.

“[This] means that we learn about Christ by giving to others. It means that we receive from Christ by sharing with others. It means that by emptying ourselves we are filled with Christ. It means that the poorer we make ourselves in giving, the richer we are in the gifts of Christ. It means that to be open-handed and generous-hearted is the surest way to learn more and more of the wealth of Christ. The man who knows most of Christ is not the intellectual scholar, not even the saint who shuts himself up and spends his days in prayer, but the man who moves in loving generosity among his fellow-men” (The Letters to Timothy, Titus, and Philemon, p.319).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

“Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute [give sacrificially], willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

II. A MAN GREATLY CHANGED, ONESIMUS, V.8-21

(v.8-21) Introduction: this is the picture of a man greatly changed—changed by Christ. It shows us the difference that conversion should make in a life and just how we should receive a person who has been converted. And remember: Onesimus was a slave and a thief. Few people would ever want to be seen with a slave much less be known as a brother to him. Yet, this is exactly what we are about to see. No matter how low and base a person is, we are to reach out to him and do all we can to bring that person into the fellowship of Christ and the church. This is a strong picture of a man changed by Christ.

1. Paul wanted to make a special request of Philemon (v.8-9).
2. He was "begotten"—born again (v.10-11).
3. He was facing his past—to right his wrong (v.12-14).
4. He was a changed man (v.15-16).
5. He was to be received and trusted as much as Paul (v.17-21).

1 (v.8-9) Paul: Paul wanted to make a special request of Philemon. He had the right to demand that Philemon grant the request. Why? How can any believer, even a minister, demand that another believer do anything, especially if the believer differs or does not wish to do what is requested? There are two reasons:

- ⇒ It is the right thing to do.
- ⇒ It is a believer's duty to do it.

A believer, no matter who he is, should do the right thing; he should do his duty. Therefore, Paul had the right to make a special request of Philemon. But note: Paul did not demand that Philemon grant the request. Philemon should, but Paul did not demand it. Instead he beseeched, that is, appealed, urged, and pleaded with Philemon because he loved Philemon. Note that Paul based his plea upon three things that should appeal to the heart of any believer.

- ⇒ Paul based his appeal upon love: the love of Christ and the love of believers for each other. This should mean that Philemon loved Paul as a brother in Christ, loved him enough to grant the request.
- ⇒ Paul based his appeal upon his age. He was apparently in his fifties and no doubt his body was somewhat more aged than the average person because of the wear and tear upon his body from the sufferings that had been inflicted upon him through the years.
- ⇒ Paul based his appeal upon the fact that he was a prisoner for the cause of Christ. He had suffered so much in order to carry the gospel to the lost of the world, to people who were hopeless and lost just as Philemon and his family had been.

Because he was a prisoner for Christ, Philemon should grant his request. Paul was tired and worn, about to close his ministry and life upon earth; therefore, he expected his dear friends to heed his last request.

What was Paul's request? It concerned Onesimus, a former slave of Philemon, a slave who had run away to gain his freedom and had fled to Rome. Imagine Onesimus having just returned to Philemon and having handed this letter to Philemon—and Philemon standing there reading this letter. What were his thoughts? What was the impact upon Philemon, the slave owner who had been converted to Christ? What would he do now? There standing before him was a former slave who had broken the law by running away, broken one of the major laws upon which the Roman empire was built. (Rome kept the peace by enslaving and scattering the people of conquered nations all over the world, breaking their loyalty to their homeland. Death was the punishment for runaway slaves.)

2 (v.10-11) Onesimus—New Birth: Onesimus was a changed man, a man who had been “begotten,” that is, born again. Paul had led Onesimus to the Lord. Remember that Paul was in prison. How then did Paul come in contact with Onesimus? Was Onesimus recognized as a runaway slave while in Rome and imprisoned himself? No! He could not have been, for he was not in prison. He had returned and was moving about freely and was now standing before his owner, Philemon. When Onesimus reached Rome, he had most likely run across some Christian believers, and they had befriended him and introduced him to Paul. Paul then led him to Christ.

Note that Paul pulled no punches. He readily admitted the wrong that Onesimus had done: he had been unprofitable, that is, useless. The idea is absolutely of no use, just good for nothing. But now he was profitable. He had accepted Christ and he was of the greatest use to Philemon and to Paul for the kingdom of Christ.

Thought 1. Jesus Christ changes lives. He can take a useless, unprofitable, good for nothing person and make the most useful, profitable, and good person imaginable. Jesus Christ can take nothing and make something out of any person—no matter...

- how low a person is
- how far a person has sunk
- how far a person has gone
- what a person has done

...Jesus Christ can change a person and make him the most useful person in the world. How? Jesus Christ takes a person and creates him anew. Christ gives the person a new birth, makes a new creature, a new man out of him.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God” (Jn.1:12-13).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3, 5).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation [behavior] the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24; cp. v.25-32).

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:8-10).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

3 (v.12-14) Onesimus—Restitution: he faced his past in order to right his wrong. This is clear evidence that the heart of Onesimus had been truly converted to Christ. He wanted to return and right the wrong he had done. Christ always does this to a person when he is truly converted. This is what Christianity is all about: converting and changing the wrong and evil in the world, changing it to a world of love and goodness and justice.

Note how dear this slave was to Paul. Paul says that he was sending a part of his own heart to Philemon. Paul loved this man who had been a law-breaker and thief (cp. v.18-19). This slave had become dear, very dear to Paul’s heart. He was so dear that Paul would have preferred to keep Onesimus with him. Paul, who was in prison, desperately needed Onesimus—needed his companionship, encouragement, and assistance. But Paul would not ask him to stay. Why? Because Paul would do nothing without the consent of Philemon. Onesimus owed Philemon and it was up to Philemon where Onesimus should serve: either with Philemon as a slave or to return and serve with Paul as a minister. Note this, for it shows how Paul opened the door for Philemon to face Onesimus to be a servant of the gospel. The strength of Paul’s wish is seen in his including Onesimus in the list of some great ministers who had been serving with Paul (Col.4:7-9). Paul elevated Onesimus so highly that he said that Onesimus could share exactly what had been happening to the gospel through Rome (also cp. v.15-16).

Thought 1. A Christian believer is to make restitution, to right whatever wrong he has done—in so far as it is humanly possible. No Christian should ever try to escape from making restitution, from righting whatever wrong he has done. The very cause of Christ upon earth is morality and justice—to make the earth as good a place as possible—to teach and charge as many people as possible to live righteous and godly lives—to sweep the earth with the glorious gospel of love and care and the duty of one another to love and care for each other. If believers shirk their duty to right their own personal wrongs, then of what value is their Christianity? This is the reason Onesimus was returning to Philemon—the reason Paul was sending him back despite the fact that he himself desperately needed Onesimus.

“I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth. And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened” (Lk.11:8-10).

“Then it shall be, because he hath sinned, and is guilty, that he shall restore that which he took violently away, or the thing which he hath deceitfully gotten, or that which was delivered him to keep, or the lost thing which he found” (Lev.6:4).

“But if he be found, he shall restore sevenfold; he shall give all the substance of his house” (Pr.6:31).

“If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.33:15).

4 (v.15-16) Onesimus—Love: Onesimus was a changed man. And what a change he had experienced.

1. He had been changed by the hand of God, that is, under the providence of God. Paul tells Philemon that Onesimus had left for just a brief time so that he could return forever. God was overlooking and overruling the whole event for the sake of Onesimus’ salvation. Philemon was now able to be associated with Onesimus forever. The implication is that both shall live forever with Christ, worshipping and serving Christ throughout all eternity.

2. He had been changed from a slave to a brother—a dearly “beloved brother.” Note what Paul says: Onesimus had left as a slave, but he...

- was now above a slave.
- was now a beloved brother.
- was now of great value to Paul.
- was now of much more value to Philemon.

Thought 1. The point is well made: when Christ changes a life, the life is changed eternally. Earthly relationships are changed forever. The changed person becomes a beloved brother. It does not matter what the relationship has been...

- a master-slave relationship
- a friend-enemy relationship
- a victim-criminal relationship
- a love-hate relationship
- a marriage-divorce relationship
- an abused-hurtful relationship

If the person has been truthfully changed by Christ, then he is to be received as a beloved brother. Why? Because God has put His hand upon the person and changed him forever.

“Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

“For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:26-28).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God” (Eph.2:19).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren” (Heb.2:11).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

5 (v.17-21) Onesimus—Brotherhood: Onesimus was to be received and trusted as much as Paul himself. Paul makes an astounding request. He asked Philemon to receive a slave who was a lawless thief just as he would receive himself. Most people would not even want to be seen with a slave or a lawless thief, much less be to be known as a partner or brother to one. But Paul boldly stepped forward and asked that Onesimus, the slave and thief, be received as a partner and brother. And note how sincere Paul was.

- ⇒ Paul said that he would personally pay whatever money or goods Onesimus had stolen. Why should Philemon accept this? Because Philemon should always remember the debt he owed for his salvation. Paul had led him to Christ; therefore Philemon owed his very life to Paul (v.19).
- ⇒ Paul said that he would be filled with joy and refreshed if Philemon would receive Onesimus as a partner and brother in the Lord (v.20).
- ⇒ Paul said that he had great confidence that Philemon would grant the request and even go beyond and do more (v.21).

Thought 1. The one thing that people need above all else is to be received. No matter how low or base, useless and unprofitable, sinful and derelict, crippled and diseased, ugly and unattractive, unapproachable and distasteful—a person needs to be received and brought into the fellowship of Christ and believers. For too long, the church and believers have shunned and shut out the lowly. Christ loves and longs for every human being—man, woman and child—to be reached for Him.

We must always remember: we are debtors to Christ and to the world, every man, woman, and child. Christ has saved us and given us the fellowship with Himself and God the Father and with one another. Therefore, we are spiritual debtors to all.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise. So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also” (Ro.1:14-15).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“For we know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

III. A FINAL GREETING: SOME BELIEVERS IN THE EARLY CHURCH, v.22-24

(v.22-24) Introduction: this closes the brief letter of Paul to his dear friend Philemon. As was his usual custom, Paul closed his letter by sending greetings to and from various believers. These closings are always of significant interest as they give us a meaningful glimpse into the lives of some of the believers of the early church—brothers and sisters whom we shall soon meet face to face in heaven and fellowship with. We shall all serve our Lord together for eternity.

1. Paul: was eternally optimistic (v.22).
2. Epaphras: was imprisoned for his faith (v.23).
3. Mark: redeemed himself (v.24).
4. Aristarchus: was always there (v.24).
5. Demas: forsook Christ (v.24).
6. Luke: gave all to Christ (v.25).

1 (v.22) Paul—Prayer: Paul is the first believer seen. The point being stressed is his eternal optimism. He was in prison, yet he believed unreservedly that he could be freed by the prayers of his dear friends. What an impact prayer has. God answers prayer; this is His promise. The problem is that we do not take God at His word: we do not pray. The friends of Paul prayed and Paul was apparently released from prison (see Introduction, Date—1 Timothy for discussion).

“Seek the Lord and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

“Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“Ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:2).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

2 (v.23) Epaphras: he was a servant of the Lord who in the past had been imprisoned with Paul.

⇒ He was the “minister” of the Colossian church (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was “a faithful minister of Christ” (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was “a servant of Christ” (Col.4:12).

⇒ He was a “fellow servant” who was ever so dear to Paul’s heart (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was so committed and dedicated to Christ that Paul called him “my fellow prisoner in Christ Jesus” (Phile.23).

⇒ He was a believer who fervently labored and toiled in prayer for his dear people in Colosse (Col.4:12). He prayed in particular for one thing: that they might be perfect and complete in all the will of God; that is, that they might know the complete will of God and do His will perfectly.

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

⇒ He was a minister who worked hard for his own church and for all the churches that surrounded him (Col.4:13, Laodicea and Hieropolis). He prayed and prayed much, but he also worked much—so much that his labor was even a testimony to the great minister Paul.

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:34-35).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:24-25).

“Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily” (Col.1:29).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

3 (v.24) John Mark: he was the young man who had redeemed himself. Mark had earlier deserted Paul and the ministry (see DEEPER STUDY # 4, John Mark—Acts 12:25; note—13:13 for discussion). But note what Paul says to the Colossian church. He tells the church that they are to receive John Mark if he were able to visit them. Apparently, some earlier instructions had been sent to the churches founded by Paul telling them about Mark’s desertion. But now the young man had repented and recommitted his life to Christ. He had redeemed himself; therefore, he was to be welcomed.

Thought 1. When a believer fails and sins, even if it is desertion of Christ, he is to be welcomed back with open arms once he has repented. We must not hold a person’s failure and sin against him. Christ has forgiven us for so much—all of us—therefore we must forgive and welcome our brothers and sisters back into our hearts and lives.

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

“Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities” (Ps.51:9).

“I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

4 (v.24) Aristarchus: he was the believer who was a faithful companion, one who was always there when needed. He is always seen with Paul and other believers, joining them in their great trials and sufferings.

⇒ He was a member of the Thessalonian church, a citizen of Thessalonica (Acts 19:29; 20:4).

⇒ He was one of the believers attacked by the violent mob in Ephesus. The citizens of Ephesus were rioting against Christianity because so many people were being converted that it was cutting into the sale of idols made to the goddess Diana. The fact that Aristarchus was one of the believers attacked and dragged before the mob shows that he was a leader and spokesman for Christ (Acts 19:29).

⇒ He went with Paul to minister in Asia (Acts 20:4).

⇒ He is seen travelling with Paul to Rome after Paul had been arrested and was being transferred to Rome as a prisoner (Acts 27:2).

⇒ He is seen as a fellow prisoner with Paul in Rome while Paul was awaiting trial on the charge of treason. Apparently he too was being charged with the same crime (Col.4:10; Phile.24).

The point is that he was a real companion, a companion who stood by the side of his fellow believers through thick and thin. He would never think of deserting his dear friends or the Lord, no matter how difficult the task or terrible the trial. He would face imprisonment and suffer death before he would be a turncoat. He was a good man to have around when facing trials, for he would stand by the side of his friend even if it meant imprisonment and death.

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

5 (v.24) Demas: he was a man who turned away from Christ back to the world. His life is written in tragedy—a life that serves as a warning to other believers—a life that shows the utter necessity of walking in Christ daily. At first, he is seen as a fellow laborer (Phile.24). Later he is just a name, with no comment at all—perhaps suggesting the detection of some loss of spirit and energy in the work for the Lord (Col.4:14). Finally, he is Demas who “loved this present world” and forsook the Lord’s work (2 Tim.4:10).

6 (v.24) Luke: he gave all to follow Christ—all that the world had to offer. He was the physician who was beloved by Paul and the church (see Introduction, Author—the Gospel of Luke; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 16:10 for discussion). Note one other fact in Colossians: Luke is said to be the “beloved physician”—a physician who was endeared to the hearts of believers. Apparently, his medical treatment of believers was diligent, compassionate, warm, and personal. He had an effective ministry for Christ among the believers.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be with dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

7 (v:25) Grace: The conclusion is a much needed benediction, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. Above all else, the one thing needed by every person is the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit 2:11-15 for discussion).

THE EPISTLE TO THE

HEBREWS

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Unknown.

The writer does not give his name, and there is nothing in the book that points conclusively to any one man. Opinions differ, pointing to such persons as Paul, Apollos, Barnabas, Luke, and various others. One fact, however, should be noted: what little evidence there is would definitely fit Paul.

1. The author was a friend of Timothy, Heb.13:23.
2. The author was well versed in the Old Testament Scriptures.
3. The author used the same Old Testament quotation that was used by Paul on two occasions: "The just shall live by faith" (Hab.2:4 quoted in Heb.10:38. Cp. Ro.1:17; Gal.3:11.)
4. The author closes Hebrews with the same token or mark that Paul says is his special token in closing his writings. Note what Paul says in 2 Th.3:17-18 and compare Heb.13:25 with the close of Paul's epistles.
5. The author was evidently known by Peter. Peter was the disciple to the circumcision, that is, the Jews (Gal.2:7). His two epistles were written to the Jews who were scattered all over--the Jews of the dispersion (1 Pt.1:1; 2 Pt.3:1). He says, "Even as our brother Paul also...wrote unto you" (2 Pt.3:15). Peter was familiar with some writing of Paul's that was addressed to the same dispersed Jews to which he was writing. Is Hebrews the epistle Paul wrote? The evidence is inconclusive, but it does point toward Paul.
6. The author wrote about "many things...hard to understand" (Heb.5:11). Peter says the very same thing about Paul's epistle to the Jews, "Paul...hath written unto you...some things hard to be understood" (2 Pt.3:15-16).

DATE: Uncertain. Before A.D. 70. Probably A.D. 64-67.

1. There is no mention of the destruction of Jerusalem nor of the temple which occurred in A.D. 70. The references to the priesthood and temple point to both still standing (Heb.10:11). Yet persecution seemed to be imminent (Heb.10:32-36; 12:4). And the times seemed to point to the destruction of Jewish institutions (Heb.12:27). A date close to A.D. 70 seems to be indicated.
2. The Hebrew Christians were second generation believers (Heb.2:1-4), and they had been saved for some time (Heb.5:12; 10:32; 13:7). This also points to a date close to A.D. 70.
3. Timothy had been imprisoned, but was now free (Heb.13:23).
4. Clement of Rome knew of the epistle when he wrote his letter to the Corinthians (A.D. 95). The epistle was written sometime before it had circulated to him.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: Uncertain. The specific recipients are not named. But the epistle is definitely written to Jewish believers.

There is one hint. "They of [apo] Italy salute you" (Heb.13:24). Does this mean the author is in Italy sending greetings to Jews elsewhere? Or, does it mean the author is elsewhere, sending greetings back to the church in Rome? It is impossible to say. But Italy or Rome was the place to which the epistle was addressed or else the place from which the epistle was written.

PURPOSE: The author writes for three reasons.

1. To show that God is fulfilling the old covenant by giving all men a new covenant. (See Special Features, point 3.)
2. To give a strong word of exhortation (Heb.13:22). (See Special Features, point 4.)
3. To give a strong word of warning. (See Special Features, point 4.)

Note: the background which called forth these purposes is important. Jewish believers had an extremely difficult time. They forever sensed a terrible tension between their new Christian faith, the world, and their years of indoctrination in the Jewish faith. They not only faced the day to day worldliness and selfishness of this world, but they faced the enslavement of a religion steeped in ritual and formalism. In relation to their Jewish religion, there were at least three critical areas of tension.

- ⇒ First, there was the national and religious identity of the Jew. The Jewish political system and religion were one. For a Jew to turn to another religion was almost to deny his nationality--and in the eyes of many it was an act of treason. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Religionists--Mt.12:10 for more discussion.)
- ⇒ Second, there was the extreme prejudice between the Jew and Gentile. After so many centuries of bitter hatred, it was extremely difficult for a Jew to suddenly become as one with Gentiles and to fellowship on a daily basis with them.
- ⇒ Third, there were the teachings of Jesus. Jesus had predicted the destruction of the Jewish nation and the center of their worship--the temple itself (Mt.24-25). By turning to Christ, a Jew was accepting the overthrow of his nation and the worship he had known all his life. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Religionists--Mt.12:10 for more discussion.)

The dilemma must have seemed unbearable to some Jewish converts. They had family members and life-long friends who just could not understand why they had turned to Christianity. They were living lives that were so different from those who were living for this world. In addition, they were viewed as having turned against their own religion and nation. On the other hand, they had to live with the pressure of knowing that if they turned back to the world and to the formalism and legalism of their religion, they would be abandoning Christ.

What were they to do? Some wavered. Some began to fall back. Some were on the verge of apostasy. They needed a word of exhortation and of warning. And they needed to see that the old covenant was fulfilled in the new. They were not forsaking their nation and their religion, but rather fulfilling God's old covenant with their forefathers.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. Hebrews is The Epistle of the Supreme Revelation of God or The Epistle of the Better Revelation of God. The supreme revelation is Jesus Christ Himself. A quick look at the major points of the outline will show this immediately. What the author does is show the supremacy ("the better things") of Christ over a religion of ritual and formalism, in particular over Judaism. To stress the point, the writer uses the word better time and time again. He says that Christ...

- is "so much better" (Heb.1:4).
- gives us "better things" (Heb.6:9).
- is the "better person" (Heb.7:7).
- brings the "better hope" (Heb.7:19).
- assures the "better covenant" (Heb.7:22).
- is the Mediator of a "better covenant...and better promises" (Heb.8:6).
- purifies with "better sacrifices" (Heb.9:23).
- gives us heaven, a "better possession" (Heb.10:34).
- gives us a "better country [heaven]" (Heb.11:16).
- gives us a "better resurrection" (Heb.11:35).
- provides "better things" (Heb.11:35; 11:40; 12:24).

2. Hebrews is The Epistle of the High Priesthood of Christ or The Epistle of the Heavenly Ministry of Christ. Throughout the New Testament very little is said about the present ministry of Christ in the presence of God. But His high priestly office is the major point of Hebrews.

3. Hebrews is The Epistle of the New Covenant. The old covenant required an animal sacrifice for sin and a high priest to offer the blood of the sacrifice to God. But an animal is not a man, and the high priest is not the ideal and perfect Man whose ideal perfection can cover or stand for man. Therefore, the blood of animals can never take away the sins of man. The same is true of a human priest. No human priest is perfect or ideal; therefore, no human priest can stand before God and offer the perfect sacrifice to God nor make an eternal entrance into God's presence. What is needed is the perfect and eternal sacrifice and the perfect and eternal priest. This is, of course, Jesus Christ. And this is what the old covenant was doing—pointing to that perfect and eternal covenant, Jesus Christ Himself. The old covenant was only a type, a pattern, a picture of the new, eternal, and perfect covenant that was to be brought by Christ Himself. The Hebrews, the Jewish believers around the world, needed to know this glorious truth.

4. Hebrews is The Epistle of Exhortation. The exhortation is fivefold (Heb.13:22). (See Purpose, Note.)

- a. The exhortation to "hold fast" (Heb.3:6).
- b. The exhortation to "go on to perfection or maturity" (Heb.6:1).
- c. The exhortation to "consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession" (Heb.3:1).
- d. The exhortation to "consider Him that endured" (Heb.12:3).
- e. The exhortation to "let us..."
 - fear (Heb.4:1)
 - labor (Heb.4:11)
 - come boldly (Heb.4:16)
 - go on (Heb.6:1)
 - draw near (Heb.10:22)
 - hold fast (Heb.10:23)
 - consider one another (Heb.10:24)
 - lay aside every weight (Heb.12:1)
 - have grace (Heb.12:28)
 - go forth (Heb.13:13)
 - offer the sacrifice of praise (Heb.13:15)

5. Hebrews is The Epistle of Severe Warnings.

- a. Warning One: The Danger of Neglecting Salvation, of Drifting Away from Salvation (Heb.2:1-4).
- b. Warning Two (Part I): The Danger of Unbelief—Hardening One's Heart (Heb.3:7-19).
- c. Warning Two (Part II): Fear—Lest You Miss God's Rest (Heb.4:1-13).
- d. Warning Three (Part I): The Danger of Immaturity, of Falling Away (Heb.5:11-6:3).
- e. Warning Three (Part II): Fear—Lest You Fall Away (Heb.6:4-8).
- f. Warning Three (Part III): Precautions Against Falling Away (Heb.6:9-20).
- g. Warning Four: The Danger of Apostasy, of Withdrawing from Christ (Heb.10:26-39).
- h. Warning Five: The Danger of Refusing to Hear Jesus Christ—of Shutting One's Ears to the Cry of His Beloved (Heb.12:25-29).

6. Hebrews is The Epistle of God's Hall of Fame. (See Heb.11:1-40.)

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

A. Christ is Superior to the Prophets, 1:1-3

(1:1-4:13) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Revelation—God: man has always felt an inner drive to live forever in a perfect world. Therefore, he has sensed an inner need to search and find out if there is a God, and if there is, to please Him and to gain His approval and acceptance. This is where so much religion has come from, from the inner struggle of men to find God.

The great tragedy is this: men have groped and grasped after God as though they were in a dark world that gave no evidence of God. But this is just not so; there is no need for man to be in the dark about God. Why? Because God has revealed Himself, and He has revealed Himself in many different ways:

- ⇒ through nature or what might be called a revelation of His Supreme deity and power. A person can look at nature and clearly see God's deity and power.
- ⇒ through conscience or what might be called an inner witness or sense of duty to God.
- ⇒ through law or what might be called a revelation of Supreme justice.
- ⇒ through religion or what might be called a revelation of how to worship and become acceptable to God.
- ⇒ through prophets and priests or what might be called the revelation of God through human spokesmen and mediators.

The list could go on and on, but the point is that God has revealed Himself to man, and each revelation has been very important for man's understanding of God. But despite all these revelations, something vital is still missing. If man is ever to know God, there is only one way, the very same way that man gets to know anybody. Man can know about a person, know all the facts about a person's life; but until he personally meets the person and associates and fellowships with him, he does not personally know him. Therefore if man was to ever know God, God had to reveal Himself in the most supreme way possible: He had to come to earth and show Himself to man, revealing exactly who He is and what He is like. This is the whole point of these four chapters. In fact, it is the point of the whole Book of Hebrews: the Supreme revelation of God is Jesus Christ, God's very own Son. God has revealed Himself in the most glorious way possible: He has sent His very own Son into the world.

(1:1-3) Introduction: men have usually looked upon the prophets of religion as great men of God. They have seen the prophets of God...

- as very special servants of God.
- as men who had a special message from God.
- as men who could tell others how to become acceptable to God.
- as men who could tell others how to live and please God.

This was a true concept, just so the prophet was one of the chosen prophets of the Old Testament. The prophets of the Old Testament were great men of God. They were men to whom God spoke and to whom God entrusted His message. But as great as the prophets of the Old Testament were, they fade into insignificance when compared to Jesus Christ, God's very own Son. Jesus Christ is far, far Superior to the prophets.

1. Jesus Christ is the supreme spokesman of God (v.1).
2. Jesus Christ is the appointed heir of all things (v.2).
3. Jesus Christ is the Creator and Maker of the worlds (v.2).
4. Jesus Christ is the very glory of God Himself (v.3).
5. Jesus Christ is the express image of God (v.3).
6. Jesus Christ is the Sustainer of the universe (v.3).
7. Jesus Christ is the Redeemer of mankind (v.3).
8. Jesus Christ is the supreme Mediator (v.3).

1 (1:1-2) Revelation—Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ is the supreme spokesman of God. This is the first reason why He is superior to the prophets. Note the glorious truth: God has spoken to man. He is not as most people think, far off in the distance, someplace in outer space, so far away that He is unconcerned with what is happening to man and his world. The very opposite is true: God is concerned with our lives, with the trials and trouble, sin and evil, suffering and disease, death and decay—with all that happens to us. Therefore, God has spoken to us; He has given us the wonderful words of life and of deliverance. He has told us exactly how to conquer the trials, temptations, corruption, and death of this world. When did God speak to man, and where can we find the record of God's Word? If God is really not far off in the distance someplace—if God has really spoken to man, then we must find His Word and heed it. For His Word would mean everlasting life and victory over all the evil, trials, corruption, and death of this life. Where is God's Word? It is found in two places.

1. First, God's Word is found in the prophets. In ancient times God spoke to man by His prophets, that is, by persons whom He had chosen to proclaim His Word to the world. Who are these persons? They are the men and women of the Old Testament Scriptures. But note a significant fact: God spoke through the prophets...

- "at sundry times": that is, in many parts (polumeros); in many separate revelations, at many different times.
- in many ways (polutropos).

What does this mean? No man could possibly receive and understand or explain the whole revelation of God. God and the truth of God is too big for any one man. Therefore, God had to make many revelations to many different people, and He had to use many different ways to speak to men. No man could ever contain or share the whole revelation of God.

Matthew Henry states it well by saying that there had to be a gradual opening of man's mind concerning the Messiah, the Savior of the world. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3—Jn.1:45 for a complete list of the prophecies of Jesus Christ and their fulfillment.) (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, p.888.)

- ⇒ God spoke to Adam and told him that the Savior would come from the seed of the woman (Gen.3:15).
- ⇒ God spoke to Abraham and told him that the Savior would come from his seed (Gen.12:3; 18:18; 22:18).
- ⇒ God spoke to Jacob and told him that the Savior would come through the tribe of Judah (Gen.49:10).
- ⇒ God spoke to David and told him that the Savior would be born of his house (2 Sam.7:13).
- ⇒ God spoke to Micah and told him that the Savior would be born at Bethlehem (Mic.5:2).
- ⇒ God spoke to Isaiah and told him that the Savior would be born of a virgin (Is.7:14).

Note also the different ways in which God spoke to the prophets:

- ⇒ He spoke to Moses in a great thundering voice in the midst of a storm (Ex.19:19; Dt.5:22).
- ⇒ He spoke to Elijah by a still small voice (1 Ki.19:12).
- ⇒ He spoke to Isaiah in a vision (Is.1:1).
- ⇒ He spoke to Samuel in a dream (1 Sam.3:5).

On and on the list could go, for God spoke to his prophets in many different ways. But the point to see is this: each prophet could present only a part of God's revelation. No one of them could present the whole revelation of God. The full revelation of God is not found in the prophets. Where is it found then? This brings us to the second point.

2. Second, God's Word, His full revelation, is found in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. "In these last days [God has] spoken to us by His Son." This is the most astounding truth imaginable! For God could send no greater messenger with His Word than to send His very own Son. And this is the astounding declaration of this passage: God has sent His Son to proclaim His Word to men.

Before Christ, no man could fully grasp or understand God, and no man could fully proclaim the Word of God. Men could understand only a part or fragment of God. But now God's very own Son has come to earth and revealed God, proclaiming all that God is. And note: it is He Himself who is the revelation of God. He embodies the Word of God. In fact, He is the Word of God. Everything that God ever wanted to say to man is said in the person of Jesus Christ. He is the perfect expression of God's mind. Everything that man needs to know about God and the conquest of life with all its trials, corruption, and death is seen in Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, The Word—Jn.1:1-5 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. This means several wonderful things.

- 1) God loves man. He has not left man in the dark, groping and grasping and trying to find the truth of life and death and the hereafter. God has spoken to man and revealed the truth about...
 - where we have come from.
 - why we are here.
 - where we are going.
 - how we can conquer the trials, evil, and death of this life and world.
- 2) If we want to know the truth about God and ourselves, we have to look to God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. He and He alone is the full revelation of God.
- 3) Jesus Christ is superior to all the prophets; He alone is the supreme revelation of God. As great as the Old Testament prophets were, they were not above God's Son. The Lord Jesus Christ is above the prophets; He is the supreme—the full and final—spokesman for God. There can be no greater spokesman than that of God's own Son.

2 (1:2) Jesus Christ, Deity—Heir: Jesus Christ is appointed the heir of all things. This is the second reason why He is superior to the prophets. What is meant by heir? It means that Jesus Christ is to receive and be "the lawful Owner of all things" (Amplified New Testament). Jesus Christ alone has inherited all that God is and has. No man is great enough or worthy enough to be the heir of God; only Christ is. He alone has lived and walked perfectly before God. Among men,

He alone has obeyed God perfectly, therefore, He alone has inherited all that God is and has; He alone has been appointed to be the Owner of all things. What is it that Jesus Christ is to inherit and receive?

⇒ Jesus Christ is to inherit all power in heaven and earth.

“And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth” (Mt.28:18).

⇒ Jesus Christ has inherited the authority to execute all judgment upon men.

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son” (Jn.5:22).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit the Lordship over both the dead and the living.

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit the whole universe: a new heavens and earth and a new world capital.

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness. Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband....And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof. And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it. And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there. And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it” (Rev.21:1-2, 23-26).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit all government—an eternal government.

“For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this” (Is.9:6-7).

“But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom” (Heb.1:8).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit all power and riches, wisdom and strength, honor and glory and blessing.

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit all the angels and all the other spiritual authorities and powers.

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

⇒ Jesus Christ is going to inherit a name above every name and every knee shall be bowed before Him vindicating His claim to be both Lord and Savior.

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth” (Ph.2:9-10).

3 (1:2) Jesus Christ, Creator—Creation: Jesus Christ is the Creator and Maker of the worlds—all of the worlds. This is the third reason why Jesus Christ is superior to the prophets. The word “worlds” (aiones) can also be translated as ages.

Jesus Christ is the creator of both the universe and the ages that roll in one upon another, creator of both the worlds and time as it moves forward from event to event, and generation to generation. The Amplified New Testament states it well:

“He [Christ] created the worlds and the reaches of space and the ages of time [that is], He made, produced, built, operated and arranged them in order” (Heb.1:2).

Colossians states it even better:

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

The point is this: the creation of Christ includes all the worlds (plural) of all the dimensions of being, wherever they are and however many there may be. This is exactly what is meant by the plural “worlds.” It is also what is meant when Colossians says that Christ created all things “that are in heaven, and in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers.”

⇒ If there are other visible planets and living beings in outer space, Christ created them.

⇒ If there are invisible worlds and beings in other dimensions, Christ created them.

It does not matter what kind of world or creatures they may be—thrones, dominions, principalities, or powers—Christ created them all. There is nothing in existence that He has not created.

- no planet
- no star
- no creature
- no dimension
- no vegetation
- no mineral
- no element
- no thing

“All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made” (Jn.1:3).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

“And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ” (Eph.3:9).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

4 (1:3) Jesus Christ, Glory: Jesus Christ possesses the very glory of God. This is the fourth reason why Jesus Christ is superior to the prophets. Note the word “being” (on). It means “absolute and timeless existence” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1932, p.335). This means that Jesus Christ Himself possessed the glory of God before He ever came into the world. He has always existed in the glory of God; He is eternal.

What does glory mean? It means all the brightness of God—all the brilliance, radiance, splendor, and light of God’s Being. It means that God’s very presence—in all of His light and purity—dwells among us in the person of Jesus Christ. It meant that in Christ “dwelt all the fulness [glory] of God” (Col.2:9). Men could look at Jesus Christ and see the glory of God in Him—the very light and radiance of God’s Being.

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5).

“Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world” (Jn.17:24).

Thought 1. Many commentators point out that the sun is a good illustration. Just as the glory of the sun’s light reaches down to earth and touches the lives of men, so Jesus Christ, who is the glory of God, reaches down and touches the lives of men.

5 (1:3) Jesus Christ, Deity—Image of God: Jesus Christ is the express image of God. This is the fifth reason why Jesus Christ is superior to the prophets.

⇒ The word “express” (charakter) means the very stamp, mark, and impression—the very reproduction of God. Jesus Christ is “the perfect imprint and very image of [God’s] nature.”

⇒ The word “image” (hypostasis) means substance. Jesus Christ is the very substance, the very Being, Person, and embodiment of God.

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works” (Jn.14:9-10).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“[Christ] who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God” (Ph.2:6).

“[Christ] who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

6 (1:3) Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ is the Sustainer of the universe. This is the sixth reason why He is superior to the prophets. No man holds the universe together, but Christ does. God has not created the world and left it to fly through space to take whatever course it will. God is not going to let the world destroy itself. God is in control. His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, is controlling the world and moving it forward to a climactic moment of renewal and recreation—what the Bible calls the great day of redemption. And note how He is holding it together: by the power of His Word. He simply speaks and the laws that hold the world together are set in motion (cp. the law of gravity. See outline and notes—Col.1:16-17 for more discussion.) The Word of Jesus Christ is...

- perfect and pure energy
- perfect and pure force
- perfect and pure power
- perfect and pure order
- perfect and pure unity
- perfect and pure solidarity
- perfect and pure cohesion

It is His Word that holds everything together. It is his love and power...

- that keeps the universe from flying apart and disintegrating.
- that keeps evil from completely conquering and utterly destroying all things.

“And he is before all things, and by him all things consist” (Col.1:17).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

7 (1:3) Jesus Christ, Deity—Redemption: Jesus Christ is the Redeemer of mankind. This is the seventh reason why He is superior to the prophets. Redemption has not come from some great prophet who has made purification for our sins. Christ and Christ alone could sacrifice Himself for our sins. How could He do this? In fact, how could any man do this? No man can; this is the point of this passage. Only a perfect Person could ever purify and cleanse men from their sins. This is the reason Jesus Christ had to come to earth and live a perfect life. He had to secure perfect righteousness for man and die as the perfect substitute for man. By so doing, He stands for all men...

- His perfect righteousness stands for all men.
- His sacrificial death stands for all men.

When a man believes in Jesus Christ, truly believes, the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ cover him. God takes the man's faith and honors it; He honors it by counting the man as being in the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ. The man is righteous in Christ, and he has already died to sin in Christ. Therefore, the man is purified; his sins are cleansed and washed away.

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

8 (1:3) Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ is the supreme Mediator and Intercessor. This is the eighth reason why He is superior to the prophets. He sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high, sitting there as the great Mediator and Intercessor for man. No other person could ever come close to being seated at the right hand of God; no other person could ever be accepted by God as the Mediator and Intercessor for man. Christ and Christ alone can sit at the right hand of God. Note two significant points.

1. Jesus Christ sits at the right hand of God as the exalted Lord and as the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. He is the supreme Being of the universe, the Person who is to be supremely respected, honored, worshipped, and served by all beings in both earth and heaven.

“He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all things, that he might fill all things” (Eph.4:10).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

2. Jesus Christ is in the presence of God as our Mediator and Intercessor, as the only Person who has the right to represent man before God. Note: Christ is not exalted to stand as our Prosecutor and Judge; contrariwise, He is before God to represent us, to plead for us, to offer His righteousness and sacrificial death for us. This means a most wonderful thing: someday when we appear before God, if we have trusted Jesus Christ as our Savior, God will be able to deal with us in love and not judgment. Because Jesus Christ stands before God as our Mediator, God will accept all those who have trusted Christ to be their Mediator. Remember, however: all those who have rejected Jesus Christ as the Mediator shall face Jesus Christ as the Sovereign Lord and Judge.

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel” (Heb.12:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

B. Christ is Superior to the Angels, 1:4-14

(1:4-14) Introduction: angels actually exist. They are a magnificent and glorious order of beings who have been created by God to be His messengers and servants. They are spiritual beings who live in another dimension, the spiritual dimension. They have the glorious privilege of living in God's presence and of serving Him day and night. Because of their high and exalted position, some people have tended to look to angels instead of Christ. They tend to take the thought and attention that is due Christ and give it to angels. They tend to consider angels as their go-between between them and God. Four things usually cause this.

- ⇒ A person feels unworthy to approach God. He needs someone to approach God for him, someone to serve as an intermediary and mediator for him. He knows that angels are the ministers of God; therefore feeling unworthy himself, the person begins to look to an angel. He wants the angel...
 - to communicate with God for him.
 - to present his needs and desires to God.
 - to protect him.
 - to secure God's blessings and care for him.
- ⇒ Another person may feel that God is just too far away for him to reach. God is just too inhuman, too big, and too all-embracing. God reaches out beyond all the worlds of outer space. Therefore, the person feels that God is too busy with the big issues of the universe to be concerned with one small person upon earth. The person feels the need for some intermediary, some mediator that is not as big and busy as God, but who has access to God. Therefore, he begins to look to an angel to look after and protect him and to plead his case and to present his needs before God.
- ⇒ Some persons seek experiences with angels either face to face or through visions and dreams. They feel that such spiritual experiences are a privilege and that the experience strengthens them and makes them more spiritual. In their minds the angel is an intermediary between them and God, a messenger sent from God to bring them a special word from God.
- ⇒ Still others do not believe in Christ, that He is the Son of God. They do not believe that He is the only Mediator between God and man. Therefore, they seek to communicate with the spiritual world through some angel or person in the spiritual world.

The point to note in these approaches to God and the spiritual world is this: angels are exalted as glorious and magnificent beings—as so glorious and magnificent that they stand as mediators or intermediaries between men and God. In every case God is seen as sending an angel or an angel is sought to carry a message between God and man. God is thought either to be too busy or big or unable to communicate and share with man.

Note what happens when men emphasize angels above Christ and above His Spirit and His Word:

- ⇒ Note how far away it removes Christ from involvement in a person's life.
- ⇒ Note how it places another mediator or intermediary between men and God—someone other than Christ and His Spirit.
- ⇒ Note how it relegates and lowers Christ to a lesser position than angels.

This is what this passage is attacking. It is not denying angels, for they do exist. It is not denying the glory and magnificence of angels, for they are glorious and magnificent beings. It is not denying the ministry and service of angels to God, for they are His ministering spirits. What this passage is attacking is this: the emphasis of some people who exalt angels by seeking experiences with them and by focusing thoughts, attention, and prayers upon them. Angels are not God's intermediaries and mediators between Himself and us. The only intermediary and Mediator between God and us is God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ is the only Person who can approach God for us. He is the only Person who can hear and answer our prayers and look after and care for us. This does not mean that He may not use an angel to help us. He does use angels in our lives to guide, protect, and encourage us (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Angels—Heb.1:4-14 for more discussion). But the angel serves Christ; the angel is not to be the focus of our attention and thoughts nor praise and honor. The angel is the servant, not the Lord of Jesus nor the Lord of our lives. Christ alone is the Lord—both of the angels and us. Therefore, He and He alone is to be the focus of our attention, thoughts, honor, and worship.

This is the thrust of this passage: Christ is superior—far, far superior to the angels.

1. Christ has a more excellent name, the name of God's only Son; angels have an inferior name (v.4-6).
2. Christ is God's heir; angels are created subjects of God (v.7-9).
3. Christ is the Creator and Sovereign Lord; angels are created subjects and ministering spirits.

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:4-14) Angels (angelos): the word angel simply means messenger. The word is used at least five different ways in Scripture.

- ⇒ It is used of men (Lk.7:24; Jas.2:25; Rev.1:20; 2:1, 8, 12, 18; 3:1, 7, 14).
 - ⇒ It is used of Christ (Rev.8:3-5).
 - ⇒ It is used of the "angel of the Lord" or the "angel of God," meaning the presence of deity in angelic form (Gen.16:1-13; 21:17-19; 22:11-16; 31:11-13; Ex.3:2-4; Judg.2:1; 6:12-16; 13:3-22).
 - ⇒ It is used of prophets (Hag.1:13).
 - ⇒ It is used of spiritual beings who serve God (Ps.104:4; Heb.1:14; 2:2, 5).
1. The important facts about angels seem to be as follows:
 - a. Angels are created beings, superior to men (Ps.104:4; cp. Heb.1:14; Col.1:16).
 - b. Angels are numerous (Ps.68:17; Mt.26:53; Heb.12:22; Rev.5:11).
 - c. Angels are extremely superior to men in intelligence and knowledge (2 Sam.14:20; Ps.103:20; 104:4).
 - d. Angels have great power (2 Ki.19:35; Mt.28:3; 2 Pt.2:11; Rev.20:1-2).
 - e. Angels observe men (Eccl.5:6; 1 Cor.4:9; Eph.3:10).
 - g. Some angels have fallen with Satan from their original state (2 Pt.2:4; Jude 6; Rev.20:10. See Master Subject Index—Satan; Evil Spirits.)
 2. Apparently, angels were created in various ranks and for specific functions to be performed before God Himself.
 - a. There is the archangel Michael who stands above all the other angels. He is the prime administrator of God (Dan.10:21; 12:1, 7-12; 1 Th.4:16; Jude 9). Some believe Satan was an archangel, superior even to Michael, before his fall (see note—Rev.12:7).
 - b. There is the angel Gabriel who is God's very special messenger of mercy (Dan.8:15-16; 9:21; Lk.1:19-33). He is never called an archangel.
 - c. The Scripture gives the titles of other angelic orders.
 - ⇒ There are the seraphim, whose function seems to be to praise God (Is.6:1-6, the only reference to them).
 - ⇒ There are the cherubim, whose function seems to be to proclaim the glory of God (Gen.3:24; Ex.25:18; Ps.80:1; 99:2).
 - d. Other angels are said to have various functions...
 - to worship God (Neh.9:6; Lk.2:13-14).
 - to rejoice in the repentance of a single sinner (Lk.15:10).
 - to accompany Christ at His second coming (Mt.24:31; 25:31; Mk.8:38; 1 Th.4:16).
 - to execute the judgments of God (Gen.3:24; 19:1; Judg.5:23; 2 Sam.24:16; 1 Chron.2:15; 2 Chron.32:32; Acts 12:23; 2 Pt.2:4; Jude 6; Rev.12:9).
 3. Angels have a very important function in God's dealings with believers. Note what Scripture says: "They [are] all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them that are heirs of salvation" (Heb.1:14).
 - a. They protect and deliver believers either through or from trials (Ps.34:7; Ps.91:11; Is.63:9; Dan.3:28; 6:22; Acts 12:7-11).
 - b. They guide and lead believers in their ministry (1 Ki.19:5; Mt.2:13, 19-20; Acts 5:19; 8:26).
 - c. They escort believers into heaven (Lk.16:22).
 - d. They encourage believers (Acts 27:23-25). Note: this assistance seems to begin at childhood and to continue on throughout life (Heb.1:14; cp. Mt.18:10; Ps.91:11).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:4-14) Old Testament References: the writer proves Christ's superiority by quoting seven Old Testament passages and applying them to Christ. The Old Testament passages stand as types which symbolized the coming Messiah or Savior of the world. The passages are: Heb.1:5 (2 Sam.7:14 Ps.2:7); Heb.1:6 (Dt.32:43; Ps.89:27; 97:7; cp. Lk.2:13f); Heb.1:7 (Ps.104:4); Heb.1:8-9 (Ps.45:6-7); Heb.1:10-12 (Ps.102:25-27); Heb.1:13 (Ps.110:1).

1 (1:4-6) Angels—Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ has a more excellent name, the name of God's Son; angels have an inferior name. This is the first proof that Christ is superior to the angels. He is much better—far superior—to the angels. And note what it is that makes Him superior: it is His name. His name is far more excellent than their name; it ranks far higher with God than the name of angels.

1. Christ is the Son of God; angels are not sons of God. "Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee" (v.5; cp. Ps.2:8).

God said this to Christ, not to the angels. Jesus Christ is the Son of God; He and He alone has been "begotten" (gegenneka), that is, born or sent into the world by God. God did not send or cause an angel to be born into the world; He sent His only begotten Son.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the only begotten Son of God who was sent into the world.

"And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (Jn.1:14).

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

⇒ Jesus Christ is the only begotten Son of God who was declared to be the Son of God by the resurrection from the dead.

"And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead" (Ro.1:4).

Jesus Christ is far, far superior to the angels. He is superior because He is the only begotten Son of God. His name is far more excellent than the name of angels.

Thought 1. Christ and Christ alone is the only begotten Son of God. He and He alone can save us and keep us from perishing (Jn.3:16). No angel can do this. Therefore, we must look to Christ and to Him alone.

2. Christ has a Father-Son relationship with God the Father.

"I [God] will be to Him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son" (v.5; cp. 2 Sam.7:14).

Christ alone is the only begotten Son of God; He alone was sent into the world to establish a relationship between God and men; He alone stands as the Mediator and intermediary between God and men. He alone calls upon God as the Father of the only begotten Son, and God alone calls upon Christ as His only begotten Son. God has only one perfectly obedient Son and that is Christ.

God said this about Christ, not about angels. Christ alone is the only begotten Son of God; He alone was sent into the world to establish a relationship between God and man; He alone stands as the Mediator and intermediary between God and men. God has only one perfectly obedient Son and that is Christ. God sent Christ into the world to secure perfection and righteousness for men, and Christ obeyed God. By His obedience He has established forever a relationship between men and God. Therefore, God is a Father to Christ, a Father who loves and honors His obedient Son, and Christ is a Son to God, a Son who obeys and honors His Father.

Jesus Christ is far, far superior to angels. He is superior because God is a Father and Christ is a Son to God. The name of Jesus Christ is far more excellent to God than the name of angels.

Thought 1. Jesus Christ has opened the way to God for man; He and He alone provides a relationship with God; He and He alone was perfectly righteous and obedient to God; He and He alone provides perfection and righteousness for man. No angel can do this. Therefore, we must look to Christ to bring us to God.

"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:21).

"For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings" (Heb.2:10).

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb.4:15).

"And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb.5:9).

"For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens" (Heb.7:26).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

3. Jesus Christ is worshipped by angels; they are not worshipped by Him.

“And again, when he bringeth in the firstbegotten into the world, he saith, And let all the angels of God worship him” (v.6. Cp. Dt.32:43; Ps.89:27; 97:7.)

Note the word “firstbegotten” (prototokos). It means first in the sense of priority and superiority, of being above someone else. It is a word that shows dignity, honor, worth; that someone deserves praise. Jesus Christ is the One who is to be worshipped and praised, not angels.

- ⇒ When Jesus Christ was born into this world, He was attended and worshipped by angels. (Lk.2:13f).
- ⇒ When Jesus Christ was taken into the world above, at His resurrection and ascension, He was attended and worshipped by angels (Acts 1:10f).
- ⇒ When Jesus Christ returns to this earth again, He shall be attended and worshipped by angels (Mt.13:41; 16:27; 24:31).

Thought 1. Jesus Christ is the Person who entered the world as Man, to save man. He is the Person who was raised from the dead and who ascended into heaven to conquer death forever. He is the Person who is to return and take us home to heaven to be with God eternally. Angels did not do this. Therefore our worship—our hope and attention and praise—is to be upon Christ. We are to be seeking Christ as our way to God, not angels or some other intermediary. Jesus Christ has a name that is far more excellent than that of angels.

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth” (Ph.2:9-11).

“Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing. For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat” (Heb.5:11-12).

“And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS” (Rev.19:16).

“For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace” (Is.9:6).

- 2 (1:7-9) Jesus Christ, Deity—Angels: Jesus Christ is God’s heir; angels are only created subjects of God. Scripture says this about angels:

“Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire” (v.7. Cp. Ps.1-4:4.)

Note the word make: angels are made, that is created and controlled by God. They are created spirits to serve God in the operation of the universe. Just as wind and fire are used to serve God and men, so angels are used to serve God. But this is not true with Christ. Note two points about Christ.

1. Jesus Christ is God, the Sovereign Majesty who sits upon the throne of God (v.8. Cp. Ps.45:6.) Note three facts.
 - ⇒ The Son is addressed as “God” by God the Father; that is, God the Father calls Jesus Christ God. God the Father is saying that Jesus Christ has the very same nature, being, and character that He has. Within heaven there is God the Father and God the Son and God the Holy Spirit.
 - ⇒ The Son has a throne that is eternal, forever and ever.
 - ⇒ The Son has an eternal kingdom that is ruled by the sceptre of righteousness.

The point is clear: the Son of God, the Lord Jesus Christ, is not a created servant to God; He is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. He is God Himself who rules and reigns over the universe. He is the One who sits in dignity and dominion over the universe, not angels. They are created beings, made to serve God just as wind and fire have been made to serve God and men.

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:19-22).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

2. Jesus Christ has been anointed with the oil of gladness above all fellows.

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above they fellows” (v.9. Cp. Ps.45:7-8.)

Who is meant by “fellows”? It has to mean all creatures both in heaven and earth, for no being or person nor group of beings or persons are equal to Him. He is anointed.

- ⇒ above all angels.
- ⇒ above all prophets, priests, and kings.
- ⇒ above all believers, living and dead.

And note why He is so highly exalted. Because He is God; He loves righteousness and hates iniquity. This means two things.

- ⇒ Jesus Christ is totally devoted to righteousness and perfection. He rules and reigns in righteousness; His very nature and being is righteousness. The love of righteousness permeates and flows through His very Being. Righteousness is the only thing that He knows.
- ⇒ Jesus Christ came to earth to fulfill and secure righteousness for men. He did this by never sinning and by living a perfect and righteous life before God. Therefore, He stands as the ideal, perfect, and righteous Man. As the ideal Man, His righteousness is able to cover all men who honestly trust Him for righteousness.

Thought 1. The point is striking: no angel has been anointed above others as God. No angel has come to earth and secured righteousness for man; only Jesus Christ has done that. Therefore, we must look to Jesus Christ for righteousness, not to angels. Jesus Christ is the only Person who can make us acceptable to God. Jesus Christ is the only Person who can stir God to count us righteous and acceptable to Him.

“Therefore being justified [counted righteous] by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

3 (1:10-14) Jesus Christ, Deity—Angels: Jesus Christ is the Creator and Sovereign Lord; angels are created subjects and ministering spirits. Note three significant facts.

1. Jesus Christ is the Creator of earth and heaven.

“And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands: they shall perish; but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a garment; and as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail” (v.10-12. Cp. Ps.102:25-27.)

Jesus Christ created the universe; angels did not. As Creator, Jesus Christ is above the world; He is the Sovereign Ruler of the world. It is true that the world is changing and that it passes through many stages. It is aging, deteriorating, dissolving, but not Christ. He is unchangeable. The earth will perish, but Jesus Christ will remain eternally. He is above and beyond changing. Therefore, He rules over the world. He is sovereign over its destiny. This world will actually be destroyed by a holocaust of fire and recreated into a new heavens and earth. But this is a discussion for other passages. (See outlines and notes—2 Pt.3:10-13; Rev.21:2f for a discussion of what will happen to this world.) The point of the present passage is to show that Jesus Christ is superior to angels because He is the Creator and the Sovereign Ruler who is unchangeable. This makes Him far superior to angels. They actually owe their existence and allegiance to Him as well as their destiny.

“All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made” (Jn.1:3).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

“And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ” (Eph.3:9).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

“God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds” (Heb.1:1-2).

2. Jesus Christ is the exalted and Sovereign Lord; angels are not.

“But to which of the angels said he at any time, Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool?” (v.13. Cp. Ps.110:1.)

He has been exalted to God’s right hand, which is a position of...

- love and joy
- honor and dignity
- triumph and victory
- rule and authority
- power and sovereignty
- responsibility and duty
- justice and judgment

Christ has finished His work upon earth as the faithful and obedient Son of God—perfectly faithful and obedient in dying for the sins of men. He has conquered and triumphed over the forces of sin and death for men and made it possible for them to be saved and to live eternally with God. Therefore, God has highly exalted Christ to His right hand. And Christ shall sit there until He is ready to return in judgment and to subject His enemies (make them His footstool).

Thought 1. The point is this: at no time has God ever told an angel to sit on His right hand nor to conquer the enemies of men. But He has given this right and authority to Christ. Therefore, Christ is the One to whom men are to look. Christ is to be the focus of men’s attention and thoughts, the One to whom men are to look for salvation and life—not angels.

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

“And looking upon Jesus as he walked, he saith, Behold the Lamb of God!” (Jn.1:36).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

3. Angels are the ministering spirits of Christ sent forth to minister to believers. The heirs of salvation are those who believe in Jesus Christ. Note that angels are not lords, but servants. They are servants of Christ. They are spirits, spiritual beings of the spiritual world, and they exist to carry out the will of Christ. The will of Christ for angels is that they minister to believers—to minister to men and women for whom Christ has done so much: purchased their salvation and given them eternal life.

Thought 1. The point is that angels are servants, not lords. Christ and Christ alone is the Lord to whom men are to look and trust for salvation.

“And, behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and a light smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands” (Acts 12:7).

“For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve” (Acts 27:23).

“Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?” (Heb.1:14).

“And the angel of God, which went before the camp of Israel, removed and went behind them; and the pillar of the cloud went from before their face, and stood behind them” (Ex.14:19).

“For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways” (Ps.91:11).

“My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions’ mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt” (Dan.6:22).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD’S SON, 1:1-4:13

C. Warning One: The Danger of Neglecting Salvation—of Drifting Away from Salvation, 2:1-4

(2:1-4) Introduction: this is the first of several warnings issued in the Book of Hebrews. It is a warning to believers: there is the danger of neglect—of drifting away from salvation.

1. The warning: we must heed the things we have heard lest we slip away from them (v.1).
2. Reason 1: judgment under the law was strict (v.2).
3. Reason 2: judgment under salvation is sure to be even more severe (v.3-4).

1 (2:1) Warning—Backsliding: the warning is strong. We must heed the truths we have heard lest we slip away from them. What are the truths which we have heard? Note verse three: they are the truths of salvation, of the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The word “heed” (prosechein) means to give attention to; to listen very carefully. Note how intense the warning is: we must not only heed the gospel, we must earnestly heed it. And even more than this, we must give more earnest heed to the gospel. We are to pay the utmost attention to the gospel of salvation:

- ⇒ to listen more closely to the gospel than ever.
- ⇒ to pay more attention to the gospel than ever.

God’s final revelation, the last word that He will ever speak to man, has been given in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Salvation has now been offered to man; man can now become acceptable to God and live eternally with God. Man can now live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world; he can now conquer the trials and temptations, bondages and enslavements, sins and death of this world. Man can now live triumphantly and abundantly in this world and live eternally in perfection in the other world. But we must give more earnest heed to the gospel of salvation or else we will slip away from the truths of salvation.

What does it mean to slip away from the gospel of salvation? The word “slip” (pararuomen) means to flow past; to glide by; to slip past. It is the picture...

- of a ring slipping off the finger.
- of some truth slipping out of the mind and being forgotten. The person is unable to remember it.
- of some liquid in a container—water, gas, fluid—that has leaked out and gone away.

William Barclay says, “It is regularly used of something which has carelessly or thoughtlessly been allowed to slip away and become lost” (The Letter to the Hebrews. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1955, p.13). But there is another meaning to the word slip that is even more descriptive. Slip can mean to drift by or to drift past. It is the picture of a ship which drifts past the harbor. It drifts by the harbor because of the captain’s...

- miscalculations
- lethargy and complacency
- sleepiness
- carelessness
- inattentiveness
- drunkenness

An innumerable list of things could be listed as to why the captain would drift away from the safety of the harbor. But the point is well made: we must all anchor our lives to the truths of salvation. We must earnestly heed them. We must heed them lest the ship of our lives drift away from the safety of salvation.

Thought 1. Barclay has an excellent comment on this verse.

“For most of us the threat of life is not so much that we should plunge into disaster, but that we should drift into sin. There are few people who deliberately and in a moment turn their backs on God; there are many who day by day drift farther and farther away from Him. There are not many who in one moment of time commit some disastrous sin; there are many who, bit by bit and almost imperceptibly, involve themselves in some situation, and suddenly awake to find that they have ruined life for themselves and broken someone else’s heart. We would do well to be continually on the alert against the peril of the drifting life” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.13f).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions” (Mt.19:21-22).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life. But there are some of you that believe not. For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were that believed not, and who should betray him. And he said, Therefore said I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it were given unto him of my Father” (Jn.6:63-65).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness” (2 Pt.2:15).

“For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning” (2 Pt.2:20).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love” (Rev.2:4).

“Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy sons’ sons” (Dt.4:9).

“Then beware lest thou forget the LORD, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage” (Dt.6:12).

“Beware that thou forget not the LORD thy God, in not keeping his commandments, and his judgments, and his statutes, which I command thee this day” (Dt.8:11).

“The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God” (Ps.9:17).

“They kept not the covenant of God, and refused to walk in his law; and forgat his works, and his wonders that he had showed them” (Ps.78:10-11).

“Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy salvation, and hast not been mindful of the rock of thy strength, therefore shalt thou plant pleasant plants, and shalt set it with strange slips: in the day shalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seed to flourish: but the harvest shall be a heap in the day of grief and of desperate sorrow” (Is.17:10-11).

“For my people have committed two evils; they have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water” (Jer.2:13).

“A voice was heard upon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the LORD their God” (Jer.3:21).

“Thou hast forsaken me, saith the LORD, thou art gone backward: therefore will I stretch out my hand against thee, and destroy thee; I am weary with repenting” (Jer.15:6).

2 (2:2) Judgment—Law—Angels: this is the first reason we must not slip away from salvation, and note how strong the warning is. Judgment under the law of God was very strict; therefore, beware—be warned. “The word spoken by angels” refers to the law of God which was given to Moses on Mt. Sinai (Ex.19:1f). These great and magnificent creatures stood as the mediators between men and God. This was a great moment and it gave a great thing to man—the law of God.

The point is this: judgment under the law was very strict. Every transgression and disobedience had its appropriate punishment. If a person broke a law, he was judged, condemned, and bore the punishment laid out by the law.

⇒ Transgression (parabasis) means to step aside, to step over the line. It means to go against what the law says and to do what it forbids. To violate the law of God is sin and the violator is to be punished.

⇒ Disobedience (parakoe) means to neglect, refuse, and fail to obey the law of God. To disobey God is sin and the disobedient are to be punished.

The great danger was to deliberately reject the law of God. If a person deliberately rejected God’s law, he was sentenced to die, and the punishment was irrevocable.

“But the soul that doeth aught presumptuously [defiantly, with a high, rebellious hand]...the same reproacheth the LORD; and that soul shall be cut off from among his people” (Num.15:30).

“For the wages of sin is death” (Ro.6:23).

“And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible” (Is.13:11).

“For, behold, the LORD cometh out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain” (Is.26:21).

“According to their deed, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense” (Is.59:18).

“But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, saith the LORD: and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devour all things round about it” (Jer.21:14).

3 (2:3-4) Judgment—Salvation: this is the second reason we must not slip away from salvation. Judgment under the Lord's Word is to be much more severe than judgment under the law. Why? There are three reasons.

1. There shall be no escape from judgment because salvation is so great. Think of all the sin and evil upon earth: the lying, cheating, stealing, and killing; the acts of terror, slaughter, and war; the immorality, adultery, and obscenities; the dirt, filth, and pollution of behavior; the broken homes, hurt, and pain; the disease, accidents, and suffering. Think of death. Think of all this evil, and yet there is still so much more evil in the world that we could never even come close to listing it.

This is what salvation is; this is what makes salvation so great.

- ⇒ Salvation is the deliverance from all the evil, suffering, and death of this world. Imagine being delivered from all the corruption of this world! That is what salvation is. But in addition to this it is so much more.
- ⇒ Salvation saves us for God and it delivers us to God. Salvation makes us acceptable to God, and it gives us eternal life, the glorious privilege of living forever with God. But salvation is even more than this.
- ⇒ Salvation gives us a new heaven and earth, a perfect world in which to live and work forever and ever—a world in which there will be no suffering or death (see notes—Heb.2:5-8 for more discussion). But salvation is even more than this.
- ⇒ Salvation is to be reward heaped upon reward. There are to be mansions and enormous dwelling places. There are to be crowns, ruling, reigning, duties and responsibilities—a glorious life of serving and worshiping the Lord God Himself—forever and ever. But having said this, salvation is even more.
- ⇒ Salvation gives us a Savior, the Son of God Himself, even the Lord Jesus Christ. It gives us a Savior who loves us—who has loved us so much that he sacrificed His life and died for us. It gives us a Savior whom we can love and serve, a Savior to whom we can commit our lives and loyalty and know that it is for the highest good.

So much more could be said, but the picture is clear. If we neglect so great a salvation, how shall we escape? We cannot. There is no way God will ever let us escape if we neglect the salvation of His own Son.

2. There shall be no escape from judgment because the word of salvation was given by the Lord Himself. He did not send the gospel of salvation to earth through angels. He Himself brought the gospel of salvation to men. He, the Sovereign Lord and Majesty of the universe, is the Person who has brought salvation to us; and He did it by dying for us. He, the Son of God, sacrificed His life for us. If we neglect so great a salvation, the judgment that will fall upon us is bound to be much more severe. Picture a man who neglects the salvation of Christ, who...

- ignores Christ
- shows contempt for Christ
- makes light of Christ
- does not think Christ is worth the commitment
- rebels against Christ
- denies Christ
- rejects Christ
- curses Christ

When God has given His own Son to the world and men treat Him this way, what can man expect? An honest man knows the answer. There will be no escape for the person who neglects and curses so great a salvation.

3. There shall be no escape from judgment because there have been so many witnesses to salvation. The Lord Himself was the first to bear witness of salvation; then the eyewitnesses of His life upon earth proclaimed the salvation that is in Him. And note: God Himself bore testimony by giving the disciples power to work signs and wonders and many miracles. In addition to this, God endowed believers with the gifts of the Holy Spirit. God changed the lives of believers and gave them the power and gifts to live for Him and to serve Him in carrying forth the message of salvation to a world that is lost and dying.

The point is this: with so many witnesses, no person can ever expect to escape the judgment of God if he neglects the salvation of Christ—not when the two primary witnesses are God Himself and the Lord Jesus Christ, God's very own Son.

“And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?” (Ro.2:3).

“For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:3).

“How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:3).

“For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, the Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:30).

“See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven” (Heb.12:25).

“Therefore thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon them, which they shall not be able to escape; and though they shall cry unto me, I will not hearken unto them” (Jer.11:11).

“Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.33:9).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

D. Christ Secures Supremacy for Man, 2:5-13

(2:5-13) Introduction: this is a great passage of Scripture. It reveals God's eternal plan for the world, His plan for man and for Jesus Christ. It offers a glorious hope for man and his world.

Note verses six through eight; they are a quotation from Psalm 8:4-6. The Psalm was written concerning man, the great glory that God has given to man. But the words can be applied to man and to Christ. What is being said is true of both. But to whom do they apply? Who is Scripture talking about, man or Christ?

The Greek scholar Kenneth Wuest says:

"The question as to whether the Messiah or man is spoken of in verses 6-8 [Psalm 8], is settled easily and finally by the Greek word translated 'visit.' The Psalmist is exclaiming as to the insignificance of man in the question, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? That is clear. But to whom do the words 'son of man' refer, to the Messiah who is called the Son of man, or to mankind? The Greek word 'visit' is episkeptomai. The word means 'to look upon in order to help or to benefit, to look after, to have a care for.' This clearly indicates that the son of man spoken of here is the human race. God looks upon the human race in order to help or to benefit it. Thus, the picture in verses 6-8 is that of the human race in Adam" (Hebrews. "Wuest Word Studies," Vol.2. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1947, p.55).

A.T. Robertson, another Greek scholar, points out that "son of man" in this passage does not have the definite article "the." It does not say "the son of man" which is the title used by Jesus so often to refer to Himself. But it says "son of man" which means man, the same as it does in Ezekiel. God addressed Ezekiel as "son of man" some eighty times (cp. Ezk.21:2; 30:2) (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.344).

William Barclay, the great New Testament expositor, says:

"The normal meaning of son of man in Hebrew is nothing other than man, as indeed it is in English also. In the psalm quoted here the two parallel phrases: 'What is man that you remember him?' and 'Or the son of man that you visit him?' are different ways of saying exactly the same thing. The psalm is a great lyric cry of the glory of man as God meant it to be" (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.16).

The Greek scholar Marvin Vincent says:

"The 'son of man' [is the] Hebrew son of Adam, with a reference to his earthly nature as formed out of the dust....The direct reference of the words cannot be to the Messiah...." (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1957, p.397).

All of this seems to point to verses six through eight applying to man. God's eternal plan for man—His glorious purpose for creating man—is what is being revealed. God has planned for man to rule and reign with His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. With Christ man is to have dominion over the whole universe. But note: it is only with Christ. It is Christ Jesus who has secured supremacy for man.

1. God's plan for the world to come (v.5-6).
2. God's plan for man (v.6-8).
3. God's plan for Christ (v.9-13).

1 (2:5-6) God—World—History—Man: God's plan for the world to come is to subject the world to man. This is an astounding statement that staggers the human mind. To think that the future world is to be subjected to man, that man is to rule and reign over the world is just unbelievable to the natural mind. As verse six so accurately says: "What is man"—what is man that God should be mindful of him? Why should God exalt such a creature as man...

- who curses, rebels, ignores, neglects, and rejects God?
- who is so lowly a creature that he is barely a microscopic speck in a universe of stars and planets, a universe that has billions of bodies and that seems almost unlimited?

When we have cursed God and have rejected and rebelled against Him so much, why would He not just go ahead and condemn us to an eternity of hell? Why would He not just go ahead and give the future world to angels and let them rule and reign over it for Him? The answer is the subject of the next two points, of verses 6-13. The present point is to declare the astounding fact: God has not subjected the world to come to angels, but to man. We are to rule and reign over the future world—rule and reign with God's very own Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Note one other fact: ruling and reigning with Christ—having dominion over the future world—is part of the great salvation that Christ has provided for us, and it is a great part. This is what this passage is doing: elaborating and explaining more fully the great salvation Christ has wrought for us. So great a salvation involves a new world, a world that is ruled over by Christ and His followers. We shall rule and reign with Christ. We shall have dominion over the world to come, ruling, reigning, and serving Christ forever and ever.

"What is man, that thou shouldest magnify him? and that thou shouldest set thine heart upon him? and that thou shouldest visit him every morning, and try him every moment?" (Job 7:17-18).

"When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honor. Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet" (Ps.8:3-6).

2 (2:6-8) Man—God—History: God's creation and plan for man is covered in three clear steps.

1. God created man to be lower than the angels for a little time. Little probably refers to time, not to being or state and position. When God created Adam or man in the Garden of Eden, he was created lower than the heavenly beings, but higher than all earthly creatures. Man was created lower than the angels, but note: man was to be lower than the angels for only a little time. From the very beginning God has planned to exalt man.

2. God created man to crown Him with glory and honor. In his unfallen state, man was a glorious being with...
 - a noble body
 - an excellent mind
 - unbelievable ability
 - unusual power

Man had everything that was necessary to control and rule over the earth, and most of all he could walk and fellowship with God in an unbroken communion and worship. Just as the Scripture says...

- God set man over creation—over the works of His hands.
- God put all things in subjection under man's feet or control.
- God left nothing that was not put under man's control.

What does this mean? It means that in the original creation man (Adam) was crowned with glory and honor, and he held the highest of positions upon earth. Man was in control of all things upon earth, exalted ever so highly. There was peace upon earth, affection between man and animals, and all of nature was under control. There was no destruction due to violence between man and animals or due to disruptions of nature such as storms, hurricanes, or earthquakes. The Garden of Eden was a perfect place from which man could rule a perfect earth—if he could only prove faithful and do as God said.

Man was the most noble and excellent creature imaginable. Fallen man just cannot come close to imagining what it was like in the Garden of Eden. But this brings us to the terrible tragedy of man.

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth" (Gen.1:26-28).

"And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul" (Gen.2:7).

"The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life" (Job 33:4).

“For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honor” (Ps.8:5).

“Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture” (Ps.100:3).

3. Man is presently seen in a fallen state. His authority and control over the world is not seen—not today, not yet. He is a far cry from being the noble creature he was supposed to be, who has himself and his world in subjection and under control. In fact, the very opposite is true: man does not control the world; the world controls him. Man is enslaved by evil, the evil of nature and of his own heart—the evil of every imaginable thing...

- | | | | |
|----------|---------------|-------------|---------------|
| • murder | • selfishness | • suffering | • gluttony |
| • hate | • envy | • adultery | • drunkenness |
| • war | • jealousy | • fear | • immorality |
| • greed | • prejudice | • disease | • cursing |
| • power | • pride | | |

In addition to these enslavements there are so many more, but the worst enslavement of all is death. Man is doomed to die. And this is the most terrible tragedy of all, for man was originally created to control and have dominion over the earth. But he no longer controls the earth; he dies and leaves the earth.

What happened to cause such a fall for man? What caused him to lose his glory and honor and his rule and dominion upon earth? Sin—not doing what God said—caused Adam to fall. And sin—simply not doing what God says—will destroy any person. God knows what needs to be done; He knows what it is that brings life to a person. Therefore, if a person does not do what God says, he loses life. He becomes enslaved to disobeying God, and disobeying God ends up in death. Kenneth Wuest states what the result of sin was upon Adam as well as it can be stated:

“Adam through his fall into sin, lost the dominion he had before enjoyed. He was no longer master of himself. He had become a fallen creature, with a totally depraved nature. He was a slave to sin. The animal kingdom was subservient to him not now through affection but fear. The ground, instead of yielding only good things, now produced also thorns, weeds, and other harmful things. Extremes of heat and cold, poisonous reptiles, earthquakes, typhoons, hurricanes, all conspired to make his life a constant battle to survive. He had lost the dominion over all these things” (Hebrews, Vol.2, p.56f).

“And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed, to you it shall be for meat. And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so” (Gen.1:26-30).

“But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Gen.2:17).

“In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return” (Gen.3:19).

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“For the wages of sin is death” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

“But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear” (Is.59:2).

“And there is none that calleth upon thy name, that stirreth up himself to take hold of thee for thou hast hid thy face from us, and hast consumed us, because of our iniquities” (Is.64:7).

“Behold, all souls are mine: as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die” (Ezk.18:4).

3 (2:9-13) Jesus Christ—God—History: God’s plan for Christ is the most wonderful thing in all the world. It offers the only hope man has of ever fulfilling his purpose upon earth. Man is fallen and enslaved by evil, and he lives in a corruptible and dying world that is engulfed in suffering. But in the midst of all the suffering and death, he sees Jesus. And in seeing Jesus, he sees hope—hope that all the sin and evil, death and suffering of this world can be conquered and overcome. How? By what God has planned in Christ; by what God has done in Christ.

1. God made Christ a little lower than the angels to suffer and taste death for every man. The word “taste” means to experience or to partake of. God sent Christ into the world to experience death for every man.

Note the words “crowned with glory and honor.” Even when Jesus was upon earth, He possessed the glory and honor of God. He had the full measure of God’s Spirit. He obeyed God perfectly, never sinning. Therefore, He secured the perfect righteousness; He stood as the Perfect and Ideal Man before God. This meant a most wonderful thing: as the Ideal and Perfect Man, whatever Christ did would stand for man. Being the Perfect and Ideal Man...

- when He died, His death would cover man and free man from ever having to die.
- when He arose, His resurrection would cover man and assure man that he, too, would arise and live eternally.
- when He was exalted into heaven, His exaltation would cover man and make it possible for man to be exalted into heaven and to rule and reign over the universe for God.

Jesus Christ suffered and tasted death for every man, and because He has died, God has crowned Him with the glory and honor of heaven. God has exalted Him to the height of heaven, to His own right hand of authority and power.

The point is this: Christ has made it possible for man to be restored to his destined glory and dominion. Christ has made it possible for man to live eternally with God and to fulfill his purpose for God. Christ has made it possible for man to recover his dominion, to recover his rule and reign in the world that is to come. This was part of God's eternal plan for Christ.

2. God sent Christ into this world to show man the very nature of God (v.10). Note what Scripture says: it became God—it was fitting and appropriate to the very nature of God—to create all things and to create them for Himself. This is a tremendous statement, a glorious truth. It tells us why God created the world and why He created us. He created us for Himself:

- ⇒ that we might know, believe, and understand Him (Is.43:10).
- ⇒ that we might know the riches of the glory of His grace and of His kindness toward us (Eph.2:7).

God wants us to know Him—His glory, majesty, and dominion, His love, grace, and kindness. This is the reason He created us and ordained us to rule and reign for Him throughout the universe. But after Adam fell and lost his fellowship with God and his dominion over the earth, how was God going to reveal who He was? How was He going to reveal His nature of love, grace, and kindness? There was only one way: through Christ. God had to send His own Son to earth to reveal Himself, to show man that He was loving, gracious, and kind—that He wanted to flood His grace and kindness upon man. This He did in two ways.

- a. God reveals who He is—He reveals His love and kindness—by bringing many sons to glory. When a person believes that Jesus Christ died and arose for him, the death and resurrection of Christ covers the person. God takes the person's belief and counts it as the death and resurrection of Christ. God identifies the person with Christ; He actually counts the person as having died and been resurrected with Christ. Therefore, the person stands before God in the righteousness of Christ; the person stands before God as righteous. Consequently, when God is ready for the person to depart this world, the person is righteous and acceptable to God. God is able to transfer the person into glory. Quicker than the eye can blink, God takes the believer into heaven, right into His own presence. Through Jesus Christ—through His death and resurrection—God is able to bring many sons into glory. Thus the eternal purpose of God for men is fulfilled.

- ⇒ The believer shall know God face to face; he shall know the riches of the glory of God's grace and kindness when he enters heaven.

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world” (Jn.17:24).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord” (2 Cor.5:8).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:17).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

- ⇒ The believer lives before God in glory and praise and worship. He shall serve the Lord Jesus Christ, ruling and reigning with Him forever in the new heavens and earth.

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world” (Mt.25:34).

“And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end” (Lk.1:33).

“And the Lord said, Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his lord shall make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of meat in due season? Blessed is that servant, whom his lord when he cometh shall find so doing. Of a truth I say unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath” (Lk.12:42-44).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs [rulers] with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth” (Rev.5:10).

“And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years” (Rev.20:4).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son” (Rev.21:1-7).

“Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this” (Is.9:7).

“Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in judgment” (Is.32:1).

“Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth” (Jer.23:5).

“And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed” (Dan.7:14).

- b. God reveals who He is, His love and kindness, by making the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering. The captain of our salvation is, of course, Jesus Christ. The word “captain” (archegos) means the pathfinder, the pioneer, the author, the founder, the originator. It means the one who blazes forth and cuts through something so that others may follow. Jesus Christ opened up the way or trail to God. This He did by suffering all the experiences of men—perfectly. He remained perfect through all His sufferings. He never sinned; He never failed, not even once. He learned obedience by the things which He suffered—perfectly. And by such, He secured a perfect and an eternal righteousness for man. He is the perfect pioneer who has cut the perfect path to God. He is the Ideal and Perfect Man who stands for and covers all persons...

- all who believe and trust Him to cover them.
- all who believe and trust Him to make them presentable to God.

God reveals who He is in Christ. We know that God is loving, gracious, and kind because He sent Christ to suffer for us. It is His sufferings—all that He bore and endured in purchasing our salvation—that shows us what God is like. God is love.

⇒ His sending Christ to bear the guilt and punishment for our sins shows us that He is love.

⇒ His promise to exalt us into glory shows us that He is love.

But remember: this is all through Christ. This is part of God’s eternal plan for Christ. God planned for Christ to save us so that we could see and know that He is loving, gracious, and kind.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

3. God sent Christ to share equally with the sanctified who are believers. Note: the person who sanctifies and sets believers apart is Christ. The word sanctify means to be set apart and separated to God. It means that a person has turned away from the world and separated himself from the world and its sins and has set himself apart to live for Christ. Note these glorious facts.

- a. Both Christ and believers are of One, that is, of God. They have the same Father (v.11). Through Christ believers are born again, spiritually born of God. They are adopted into the family of God. God becomes their Father just as He is the Father of Christ. Through Christ believers have the same Father as Christ.

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

- b. Both Christ and believers share the same position, the position of brothers (v.11). Christ is not ashamed to call a believer His brother. But remember why: because believers trust Him as their Savior and have set apart their lives to live for Him.

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God” (Eph.2:19).

“Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named” (Eph.3:15).

- c. Both Christ and believers share the same worship (v.12). This is a picture of worship, of Christ declaring the name of God to His brothers in the midst of the church or congregation (cp. Ps.22:22). Christ lives within the hearts and lives of believers, stirring them to learn more and more about God and to worship Him more and more.

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee” (Ps.67:3).

- d. Christ and believers share the same truth (v.13. Cp. Ps.18:2; Is.8:17.) When Christ was upon earth, He trusted God perfectly, never sinning or disobeying Him. Therefore, Christ is able to present believers to God. Christ leads believers to trust God and to learn to trust Him more and more.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

E. Christ Secures the Triumphant Victory for Man, 2:14-18

(2:14-18) Introduction: man is a defeated being. He has lost the glory, honor, and dominion that God gave him at creation. He has lost his Garden of Eden, his perfect world and his control over it. Man has fallen from his exalted position in the original creation. And not only is man now enslaved by a corruptible world, man is held in bondage...

- to death and to the fear of death (v.15).
- to the sufferings of this world, the sufferings of all kinds of trials and temptations such as disease, accidents, age, war, murder, abuse, adultery, greed, selfishness, neglect, insensitivity, loneliness, and emptiness.

Within

himself man is a defeated being. He is defeated and doomed to suffer all kinds of trials and temptations throughout his life, and then he is doomed to the ultimate fate of all men: death. (See previous outline and notes—Heb.2:5-8 for explanation and more discussion.)

1. Christ became man's great Deliverer (v.14-16).
2. Christ became man's great High Priest (v.17-18).

1 (2:14-16) Jesus Christ, Purpose—Work—Nature—Salvation: Jesus Christ became man's great Deliverer. How? By doing five things.

1. Jesus Christ delivered man by willingly becoming a man: Christ "took part" of human flesh; He "took part" of the very same flesh and blood that human beings partake of. But there is a significant difference between a newborn baby who became a "partaker of flesh and blood" at birth and Christ who took part of the same. Christ willingly "took part" of flesh and blood, whereas a child had no say-so in the matter. Everyone of us has been born by an act of some other man and woman; not one of us had anything whatsoever to do with the matter. But Jesus Christ chose—He deliberately determined and purposed—to take part of human flesh and blood. He voluntarily took part of human nature—of a nature that was not a natural part of His being. This is seen in the Greek words used to describe what He did.

⇒ "Children are partakers [koinonia] of flesh and blood." The word means to share, to be partners of a common human nature.

⇒ The word used of Christ is entirely different: Christ took part (metecho) of human nature. The word means to hold with. The idea is that Christ took hold of human nature and held human nature with man. He added human nature to His divine nature. His human nature was an addition to His divine nature. As God the Son, Jesus Christ had absolutely no part of flesh and blood, but as the Son of Man, He took hold of man's nature. The point is this: Jesus Christ became man, and as Man He took part of flesh and blood, willingly and voluntarily. Jesus Christ loves us so much that He would pay the ultimate price to deliver us. He would humble Himself to such a degree that He would leave heaven above in order to come to earth and live as a Man. (See notes—Heb.2:17-18 for more discussion.) (Kenneth Wuest points this out in an excellent discussion and Marvin Vincent quotes the Biblical scholar B.F. Westcott as making the same point.)

"Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel" (Is.7:14).

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace" (Is.9:6).

"And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS" (Lk.1:31).

"And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (Jn.1:14).

"For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh" (Ro.8:3).

“But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:7).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

2. Jesus Christ delivered us by dying for us. We die, and there is no escaping the fact. Death is all around us—the death of acquaintances, friends, neighbors, relatives, and family. We die, never to return to one another in this world. Only a perfect being does not die. Picture a perfect person—he would be completely perfect, perfect through and through; therefore, he would never die. He would live forever. He would be perfect in morality, justice, and goodness—perfect in body, mind, and spirit—therefore, he would never die. But as human beings, we are different. We are imperfect, sometimes immoral, unjust, and bad; and because we are imperfect, we die. We die because we are short of what we should be; short of morality, righteousness, justice, and goodness.

The point to see is this: we die because of sin, because we are short of perfection. Death is the result of sin. If we are going to ever become perfect and live forever, sin and death have to be taken care of and removed. If sin and death can be removed, then we can live forever. This is what Jesus Christ has done for us: He died for us. He took our sin and imperfection upon Himself and suffered death for us. How could He do this? He was perfect. When He was upon earth, He lived a sinless life, a perfect and righteous life. Therefore, He became the Ideal and Perfect Man, the Ideal Pattern for every person. As the Ideal Man He covered and blanketed all men. Whatever He did counted for all men. This is what is meant when the Bible says that Christ died for all men—for the whole world. If a person believes—really trusts that Jesus Christ has died for him—then God identifies the person with Christ. God counts, reckons, considers, and accepts the person...

- as being righteous in Christ.
- as having already died in Christ.
- as being already resurrected to eternal life in Christ.

God accepts the person as being acceptable to Him; therefore, the person never has to die. He is delivered from sin and death through Jesus Christ. But remember, it is only through Jesus Christ. We must always remember this, and we must remember why God accepts us: because we believe—really believe and trust in His Son. God will do anything for the person who honors His Son by believing in Him. If a person honors Christ so much that he surrenders and commits his life to Christ, God will deliver that person from death.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened [resurrected, made alive] by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

3. Jesus Christ destroys the power of the devil over sin and death. As noted in the previous point, man dies because of sin. The devil was the first sinner, and he is the one who tempts a man to sin. The devil has the power to tempt and entice men to sin; therefore, he has the power to lead men down the road to death.

Why does the devil do this? Because he is out to hurt and cut the heart of God, and he does this by leading men away from God. He knows that God’s heart bleeds over every man who turns away from Him. Therefore, Satan does all he can to entice men to turn away from worshipping and serving God, away from living with and for God. The devil works to get men to...

- curse and reject God
- ignore and neglect God
- rebel and deny God

This is what sin is: doing one’s own thing—simply rebelling against God and His control and say-so in one’s life. Sin is living like one wants to live, living selfishly instead of living for God and being thankful to God. Sin is rebelling against God and His Word and going against God. When a person does this, he is naturally not living for God nor with God. It is because of this that men die and have to face separation and judgment from God. And note: this is clearly understandable:

- ⇒ If a person follows the devil and has nothing to do with God in this life, how can he have anything to do with God in the next life?
- ⇒ If a person does not know God in this world, how can he expect to know God in the next world?
- ⇒ If a person chooses to live without God in this world, then he is bound to live without God in the next world.

Very simply, the devil has chosen to go his own way and to have nothing to do with God. And he is like so many people in this world: he is out to entice and to get as many people as he can to satisfy his lusts. He desires and lusts, and he wants his desires and lusts fulfilled. Therefore, he seeks people who will join him in his lusts and desires. He has the same power all men have, the power to mislead and to use people for his own purposes. As an angelic being, he just has more power than earthly men have.

The point is this: Jesus Christ has broken the power of the devil over death. He did this by taking man's sins, guilt, and judgment upon Himself and by dying for man. Man is now delivered from both sin and death by Jesus Christ. If a person believes that Jesus Christ died for him—if a person really trusts Jesus Christ—God counts that person as having already died in Jesus Christ. Because the person honors God's Son by believing and committing his life to Christ, God promises to deliver the man from death. God promises to transfer the person into heaven quicker than the blink of an eye. The power of Satan over death is thereby broken and destroyed.

⇒ Satan no longer has the power to enslave man in sin and evil unless a man rejects Jesus Christ and continues to follow the way of Satan and sin.

⇒ Satan no longer has the power to hold man in death unless a man rejects Jesus Christ.

Jesus Christ alone has broken and destroyed the power of Satan over sin and death. The word "destroyed" (katargazomai) means to bring to nothing, to make inoperative. Satan's power over sin and death functions and operates within man, and what a power it is—the awesome power to separate men from God for eternity. But Jesus Christ has broken that power. He has made the power of Satan ineffective and inoperative. Man no longer has to be enslaved by sin and its guilt nor by death. He is delivered from death because Jesus Christ has broken Satan's power over death.

"Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me" (Jn.12:31-32).

"Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me. But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment [to die], even so I do. Arise, let us go hence" (Jn.14:30-31).

"Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness [Satan], and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col.1:13-14).

"And having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it" (Col.2:15).

"He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil" (1 Jn.3:8).

4. Jesus Christ has delivered men from the fear of death. Men dread and fear death. Despite suicides and the denial of some, the fear and dread of death are still a fact. Death is so feared that most men simply will not think about it; they push the thoughts of death out of their minds. Men dread and fear...

- wondering about the unknown of death.
- wondering what lies beyond death.
- wondering if there is a life hereafter.
- not wanting to leave this world and life and the pleasures of it.
- not wanting to leave loved ones.
- not wanting to leave their possessions.

And above all, men dread the sense which every man has within him—the sense of coming judgment and the sense that all wrongs will be made right. Think for a moment: one minute beyond life—having been dead for just one minute—where is the dead person? What has happened to him? Where has he gone? What has happened to him...

- ten minutes after death?
- thirty minutes after death?
- one hour after death?

Where is the dead person? What is he doing? The teaching of Scripture is that death must be feared. No matter what men say—psychologists, therapists, physicians, philosophers, preachers—no matter what anyone says, death and judgment are to be feared.

⇒ Scripture says that death and judgment are terrible for the sinner: it is better to face the most evil person on earth than to face God after death. An earthly man—no matter how evil he is—can only take our life from us. He cannot destroy our soul. But this is not true with death and God. God can destroy both body and soul.

"And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell" (Mt.10:28).

⇒ Scripture says that death and judgment are terrible for the sinner: it is better to have never been born than to be born and enter death as a sinner and have to face the judgment to come.

"The Son of man goeth as it is written of him: but woe unto that man by whom the Son of man is betrayed! it had been good for that man if he had not been born" (Mt.26:24).

⇒ Scripture says that death and judgment are terrible for the sinner: it would be better to enter life being blind and without hands and feet than to die and have to face judgment.

"Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh! Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire” (Mt.18:7-9).

⇒ Scripture says that death and judgment are terrible for the sinner: it would be better to escape death and the coming judgment than to possess all the wealth in the world.

“For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:26-27).

“For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:36-38).

⇒ Scripture says that death and judgment are terrible for the sinner: the pain experienced is greater than all the pain ever experienced in the world. That is, if you took all the physical pain ever experienced in the world and packaged it into one box, that pain would be nothing in comparison to the pain of a sinner dying and having to face judgment. How could this be? Because death and judgment for the sinner are eternal; they never end.

“And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruits is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Mt.3:10).

“Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Mt.7:19).

“But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.8:12).

“And shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.13:42).

“Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire” (Mt.18:8).

“Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.22:13).

“And shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.24:51).

“And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.25:30).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

“And if thy hand offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thy foot offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched” (Mk.9:43-46).

“And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: every tree therefore which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Lk.3:9).

“There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets, in the kingdom of God, and you yourselves thrust out” (Lk.13:28).

“If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned” (Jn.15:6).

But this is the point of the glorious gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ has delivered us from the fear of death. There is no need to fear death, for we never have to die. When we come to that moment of passing from this life into the next, God will transport us into His presence quicker than the blink of an eye. We never have to taste death; we never have to experience death. If we believe—really trust Jesus Christ as our Savior—He will deliver us from death. There is no death and no condemnation for the believer—nothing to fear—not if we really believe and trust the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ has delivered man from death and condemnation—delivered all who will really believe and commit their lives to Him.

“He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it” (Is.25:8).

“The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death” (1 Cor.15:26).

“So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:54).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:4).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name’s sake” (Ps.23:3).

5. Jesus Christ has delivered us from the bondage of the flesh. The words “he took” (epilambanetai) mean to take; to lay hold of; to take by the hand. This tells us a most wonderful truth: Jesus Christ did not only take hold of man’s nature, He took hold of man’s hand. He took us by the hand and delivered us. The picture is that of love and tender care, of His delivering us out of the bondages of the flesh and of human nature. Note: it is not angels that He took by the hand, but the seed of Abraham, that is, the spiritual seed of Abraham, those who believe and trust in the Lord Jesus Christ as their Savior.

“For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and rejoice in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the flesh” (Ph.3:3).

“In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ” (Col.2:11).

“Where there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free: but Christ is all, and in all” (Col.3:11; cp. Ro.2:28-29).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

“Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleness hath made me great” (Ps.18:35).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar [gray] hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you” (Is.46:4).

2 (2:17-18) Jesus Christ, High Priest—Propitiation: Jesus Christ became man’s great High Priest. This was the very reason He was made like man, that He might be a merciful and faithful High Priest. Jesus Christ was “behooved,” constrained and moved to be a man in order to sympathize and feel for man. He wanted to go through all the trials and temptations of man, to experience all of life as man experiences it. Why? Why would anyone, especially the Son of God who existed in the glory of perfection, want to go through all the pain and suffering of life? There were four reasons.

1. Jesus Christ became the great High Priest so that He could be merciful to man. Man needs mercy. Mercy is his only hope of ever living with God. Unless God loves man so much that He will just pour out His mercy upon him, man is lost and doomed forever. Jesus Christ was made like man so that He could be a merciful High Priest.

2. Jesus Christ became the High Priest so that He could be faithful to God. God loves man, loves him with an eternal love; therefore, he willed that Christ come to earth and deliver man from sin, death, and judgment to come. And Christ was faithful. He came to earth so that He might be a faithful High Priest to God for man.

3. Jesus Christ became the High Priest so that He could make propitiation for the sins of the people. The word “propitiation” (hilaskomai) means to sacrifice or to make a covering, satisfaction, payment, or appeasement for sin.

It was, of course, the task of the High Priest to offer up the animal sacrifice for the sins of the people. This is the picture being painted of Christ. But note one distinct difference: Jesus Christ Himself is the propitiation for man’s sin. It was not His teachings, power, example, or life that made Christ the propitiation. It was His blood: His sacrifice, His death, His sufferings, His cross that caused God to accept Jesus as the propitiation. It is the blood of Christ that God accepts as...

- the sacrifice for our sins.
- the covering for our sins.
- the satisfaction for our sins.
- the payment for the penalty of our sins.
- the appeasement of His wrath against sin.

When Christ died for man...

- the righteousness of God was satisfied.
- the perfection of God was satisfied.
- the justice of God was satisfied.

Jesus Christ became the propitiation—the covering and satisfaction for the sins of man. He became the High Priest in order to make propitiation for our sins.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation [propitiation] for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins” (1 Jn.4:10).

“And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful [propitious] to me a sinner” (Lk.18:13).

4. Jesus Christ became the High Priest so that He could succor man when he faces the trials and temptations of life. The word “succor” (boetheo) means to help, aid, relieve, assist; to be so eager to help that one runs to the cry of a person. What a picture of Jesus Christ! He has heard our cry in all of our suffering and pain, trial and temptation; and He has run to help and deliver us. Just think! He has been made like us in order to feel with us and deliver us. He has become the perfect High Priest. He needed to do this in order to experience every situation, condition, and trial of man. He experienced the most humiliating experiences imaginable. He experienced...

- being born to an unwed mother (Mt.1:18-19).
- being born in a stable, the worst of conditions (Lk.2:7).
- being born to poor parents (Lk.2:24).
- having his life threatened as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- being the cause of unimaginable sorrow (Mt.2:16f).
- having to be moved and shifted about as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- being reared in a despicable place, Nazareth (Lk.2:39).
- having His father die during His youth (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- having to support His mother, brothers, and sisters (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- having no home, not even a place to lay His head (Mt.8:20; Lk.9:58).
- being hated and opposed by religionists (Mk.14:1-2).
- being charged with insanity (Mk.3:21).
- being charged with demon possession (Mk.3:22).
- being opposed by His own family (Mk.3:31-32).
- being rejected, hated, and opposed by listeners (Mt.13:53-58; Lk.4:28-29).
- being betrayed by a close friend (Mk.14:10-11, 18).
- being left alone, rejected, and forsaken by all of His friends (Mk.14:50).
- being tried before the high court of the land on the charge of treason (Jn.18:33).
- being executed by crucifixion, the worst possible death (Jn.19:16f).

And Jesus Christ suffered so much more, but the point to note is this: in each of these experiences His suffering reached the depth of humiliation. Christ stooped to the lowest point of human experience in every condition in order to become the Perfect Sympathizer (Savior). This is the reason He can now identify with and feel for any person’s circumstances. No person ever comes close to the depth of suffering and humiliation He bore. Jesus Christ can succor—help, feel for, care for, and look after—every person no matter their condition, trial, or temptation.

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me....I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:1, 18).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me, and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham. Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:16-18).

“Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession” (Heb.4:14).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“Like as a father pitieth his children, so the LORD pitieth them that fear him” (Ps.103:13).

“In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old” (Is.63:9).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

F. Christ is Superior to Moses, 3:1-6

(3:1-6) Introduction: Jesus Christ is superior to all men. No matter who the person is, Jesus Christ is superior to him. Moses is considered by the Jews and by many others to be one of the greatest men who has ever lived. He was the great emancipator of the Jewish people from Egyptian slavery and the great leader who gave birth to the Jewish people as a nation. But as great as these feats were, he was above all else the great law-giver, not only to Israel, but to the world. People and nations who have sought freedom have based their legal system upon the ten commandments and other laws given by Moses. However as great as Moses was, there is still One who is superior to him. There is a Person to whom all mankind should look and base their lives and governments upon: that Person is the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is superior to all men, no matter how great they and their contributions to society and the world have been. No person comes close to being as great as Jesus Christ is nor to making the contributions to the world that Jesus Christ has.

1. Fix your attention upon Jesus (v.1).
2. He was faithful to God, even as Moses was faithful (v.2).
3. He is the builder of the house; Moses was only a resident of the house (v.3-4).
4. He is the Son over God's house; Moses was only a servant in God's house (v.5).
5. He is building His house, but entrance into His house is conditional (v.6).

1 (3:1) Believers—Jesus Christ: consider Christ Jesus. The word “consider” (katanoeo) means to fix one’s thoughts and mind, attention and eyes upon Jesus Christ. It means to concentrate; to seek to grasp; to focus and to be attentive in order to learn about Jesus Christ. Note: this exhortation is written to believers.

1. Believers should fix their attention upon Jesus Christ because of who they are.
 - ⇒ Believers are holy brothers. The word “holy” (hagioi) means to be set apart or separated to Christ. It means that we have turned away from the unclean things of the world and from the religions of the world and have turned to Christ. We are holy, set apart to be a brother to Christ. Therefore, we should be following and focusing our attention upon Christ.
 - ⇒ Believers are partakers of the heavenly calling. We have been called by Christ to live with God in heaven. We are not to live for this earth; we are to live for heaven. Therefore, our attention is to be fixed upon heaven, especially upon Christ who is our glorious Savior and who has made it possible for us to live in heaven.
2. Believers should fix their attention upon Jesus Christ because of who Christ is.
 - a. Jesus Christ is the Apostle of our confession. The word apostle means a person who is sent forth as an ambassador: sent forth by a king or a country on a special mission with a special message. And note: the person is always sent forth with the full authority and power of the king and country which he represents. This is Jesus Christ. Note the word profession or confession: we confess that Jesus Christ is the Supreme Apostle of our faith and lives. We confess that He is the One whom God sent from heaven to earth...
 - as the supreme representative of God, the One who shows us exactly what God is like.
 - as the supreme messenger of God, the One who tells us the truth about God, ourselves, and the world.
 - with all the authority and power of God, the One who has control over all the world and over all the trials and circumstances of our lives.
 - b. Jesus Christ is the High Priest of our confession (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Jesus Christ, High Priest—Heb.3:1 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:1) Jesus, Apostle—High Priest: Jesus Christ is the supreme apostle of God. Under the old covenant of the law (the Old Testament), Moses held the office of an apostle, the office of God's ambassador to the people. Aaron held the office of high priest, man's representative before God. But under the new covenant of grace (the New Testament), Jesus holds both offices.

- ⇒ Jesus is the Apostle, the messenger and ambassador of God. He possesses all the authority and power of God's kingdom and He represents God's kingdom perfectly.
- ⇒ Jesus is also the High Priest of God. But His position as High Priest is greater than any other person who has ever served as high priest. Why? Because He is Perfect Man and Perfect God. He perfectly represents man to God and God to man. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Heb.3:1 for discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(3:1) Jesus Christ, High Priest: Jesus Christ is the great High Priest who stands between God and man. He bears the name of God before man, and He carries the names of men before God. In relation to Christ this means two things.

- ⇒ Christ must know man and He must know God.
- ⇒ Christ must also be able to represent God before man and man before God.

Scripture leaves no question whatsoever about Christ fulfilling these requirements. Christ is the great High Priest (Heb.3:1; 5:10; 7:26; 9:22). William Barclay points out that the word for priest in the Latin describes it clearly. It is pontifex which means bridge-builder (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.25). Jesus Christ is the bridge-builder between God and man, the Supreme High Priest who can represent God to men and men to God. The glorious message of the gospel is that men can know God and be brought before God. It is all possible because Jesus Christ stands with God and man as the Supreme High Priest.

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:33-34).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:14-15).

“So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee” (Heb.5:5).

“Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:20).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

2 (3:2) Moses—Jesus Christ—Faithfulness: Jesus Christ was faithful to God even as Moses was faithful. God appointed Moses as the first great leader over the house of God. In the eyes of the Jews Moses has always been looked upon as one of the greatest leaders ever produced by the world.

- ⇒ Moses was the great freedom leader who led the Jews out of slavery from Egypt.
- ⇒ Moses was the great law-giver to whom God gave the ten commandments and the other laws that have governed Israel—the laws that have been used by so many nations and peoples in their call to freedom and as the foundation of their legal systems.
- ⇒ Moses was the great nation builder who structured the Jews into a nation.
- ⇒ Moses was the great friend of God in the eyes of the Jews. They said that he was the man to whom God had spoken face to face when God gave him the law. Therefore, Moses was considered different from all other prophets in that they had seen God only in visions or dreams.

The point is this: Moses had been appointed by God to do some great things, and he had been faithful to his call and duty. God had even stressed the strength of Moses' faithfulness:

“And he said, Hear now my words: If there be a prophet among you, I the LORD will make myself known unto him in a vision, and will speak unto him in a dream. My servant Moses is not so, who is faithful in all mine house. With him will I speak mouth to mouth, even apparently, and not in dark speeches” (Num.12:6-8).

In the eyes of the Jews no one was as great as Moses. Moses was superior to all other men, for he had been used so greatly by God and had been so faithful to God.

But note: there is another person who has also been appointed by God and who has been faithful to God: the Lord Jesus Christ.

- ⇒ He was faithful as the Apostle of God: the One who represented and spoke of God; the One who revealed and showed us exactly what God is like and how we can become acceptable to God. Jesus Christ was faithful in proclaiming God's message of salvation to the world.

⇒ He was faithful as the High Priest of God: the One who became the propitiation for our sins; the One who represents God to us and represents us to God; the One who stands between God and us.

Moses was faithful, and he stands as one of the most faithful men who has ever lived. But Jesus Christ was far more faithful. He stands as the very embodiment of faithfulness. He was perfectly faithful to God's appointment.

⇒ He stands as the perfect and supreme Apostle or Ambassador of God.

⇒ He stands as the perfect and supreme High Priest or Mediator of God.

“But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil” (2 Th.3:3).

“If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself” (2 Tim.2:13).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

3 (3:3-4) Moses—Jesus Christ, Creator: Jesus Christ is the builder of the house; Moses was only a resident of the house. What is the house built by Christ?

⇒ the house of the world or universe (v.4).

⇒ the house of God's people or believers (v.6).

Every house has to have a builder. A house does not appear out of nowhere. The same is true of the universe and of believers. The universe did not appear out of nowhere nor did believers. The foundation of the universe and of believers was laid by someone. By whom? Note verse four:

“For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God.”

God built the house of the universe and the house of believers. But note the point: verse three declares that Jesus Christ built the house. Jesus Christ is being declared to be God—to be God the Son—to be as much God as God the Father—to possess the very nature of God, the power, knowledge, and wisdom to plan and create the world. This is exactly what the writer of Hebrews declared in Chapter one.

“[God] hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds” (Heb.1:2).

“And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands: they shall perish; but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a garment; and as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail” (Heb.1:10-12).

Remember: Moses is counted as the greatest man who ever lived—the greatest leader and greatest religionist. The point is this: Jesus Christ is greater; He is far superior, counted worthy of far more glory than Moses. Why? Because Moses was only a man—only a resident in the universe—only one believer in the house of God. A faithful believer, yes! Nevertheless only one believer in God's house. But not Jesus Christ. He made the house. He laid the foundation of the universe and of the house of God's people.

Thought 1. The point is clear. No matter who the person is—a great national leader, a great founder, a great attorney, a great liberator, a great leader of people, a great religionist—Moses is considered by Scripture to be greater. But there is One who is even greater than Moses—the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, Christ is far greater than all other men, no matter who they are. They are only residents of the universe, but Christ Jesus is the Lord and builder of the universe.

“All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made” (Jn.1:3).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

“And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ” (Eph.3:9).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

4 (3:5-6) Jesus Christ—Moses: Jesus Christ is the Son over God's house; Moses was only a servant in God's house. This point spells it out as clearly as can be. Moses was faithful to God. God had called Moses to be His servant, to proclaim those things which were to come sometime in the future. What were those things? The things concerning Christ and the great promises of God concerning heaven and God's care for man. God used Moses to predict and show in symbols and types what the Savior of the world was to be like and what He was to do when He came into the world. When God gave Moses the messages to deliver to the world, Moses had a difficult task, for he did not always understand the message nor the symbol. And God did not explain, for it was not yet time for man to grasp the full meaning. Nevertheless,

Moses was faithful in delivering the message, and for that he is to be highly esteemed. However, Moses is still only a servant in the house of God. He is a very special servant—one of the greatest servants who has ever lived—but he is still only a servant. But not Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the Son of God, and as the Son of God He is placed over God’s house. William Barclay states it well:

“Now Moses was only part of God’s universe. He was a created man and he worked in a created universe. He was part of the house, involved in the house. But Jesus is the creator of the house, and the creator of the house is bound to stand above the house itself. Moses did not create the law; he only mediated it. Moses did not create the house; he only served in it. Moses did not speak of himself; all that he ever said was only a pointer to the greater things that Jesus Christ would some day say. Moses, in short, was the servant; but Jesus was the Son. Moses knew a little about God; Jesus was God. Therein lies the greatness of Jesus and the secret of His unique superiority” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.25)

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him” (Jn.8:29).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved. In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:6-7).

“Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:13-14).

“So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee” (Heb.5:5).

5 (3:6) Jesus Christ—Salvation: Jesus Christ is building His house, but entrance into His house is conditional. How do we become a member of God’s house? Note exactly what this verse says: “We [must] hold fast...unto the end.” The picture is that of a ship holding its course for port despite the storms and turbulences of life, and note: the ship holds fast until it reaches the end. If it did not, then it would never reach port. What is it that we must hold fast?

- ⇒ Our confidence in the hope of salvation. We must strongly believe—believe to the point of utter confidence that the promise of heaven and of eternal life is true. We must hold fast to our glorious hope of salvation—hold fast with utter confidence.
- ⇒ Our joy in the hope of salvation. The glorious hope of living forever and all the other promises of God are so wonderful that joy should always fill our hearts. We should walk in the joy of the Lord regardless of circumstances.

Thought 1. Remember the opening exhortation: fix your attention upon Jesus Christ. Too many sit under preachers and teachers...

- half asleep
- with wandering minds
- working through problems
- looking at others

This is tragic, for Jesus Christ is greater than Moses, who was one of the greatest men who ever lived. Jesus Christ is deserving of our attention. He is worthy of the focus of our lives. In fact, unless we hold fast to the hope of His salvation, we can never enter God’s house. Fixing our attention upon Him and holding fast His salvation is the only way to ever be admitted into God’s house.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them” (2 Tim.3:14).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

G. Warning Two (Part I): The Danger of Unbelief—Hardening One's Heart, 3:7-19

(3:7-19) Introduction—Unbelief—Warning: warning two is directed to the apathetic and unbelieving. The judgment is missing God's rest (cp. Ps.95:7-11). The importance of this warning and the danger of disobeying is pointed out in two ways. First, the word "says" is in the present tense. The Holy Spirit is still speaking today! Second, God is speaking today through His Son Jesus Christ—through someone greater than the prophets, greater than the angels, and greater than Moses. This shows that One so supreme is to be obeyed supremely. Man must believe and obey Christ—believe His promise of salvation and of eternal rest in the promised land of heaven.

1. Do not harden your hearts (v.7-11).
2. Take heed—watch unbelief (v.12).
3. Exhort one another daily (v.13-19).

1 (3:7-11) Heart—Hardness—Rest—Israel: do not harden your hearts. This is a charge from the Holy Spirit Himself, and it is directed to every generation of believers. It was not only a charge to Israel. How do we know this? Because the word says is in the present tense. The Holy Spirit is still speaking today. The charge is of critical importance to all people of every generation; there is great danger in disobeying the charge.

Now, what does a hardened heart mean? Israel's wilderness experience shows us. After the Jews had been freed from Egyptian slavery, they wandered about in the wilderness of the Sinai desert for some forty years. During their wanderings, they committed four gross sins that hardened their hearts.

1. They provoked God. Note the two phrases "in the provocation" and "in the day of temptation." They are actually a translation of two Hebrew words which are two proper names, the names of a place where Israel sinned in the wilderness, Massah and Meribah (Ex.17:2-7; Num.20:1-13). Wandering about in the desert, the people had become very thirsty; therefore, they began...

- to disbelieve God—to distrust that He cared and would provide.
- to murmur and grumble against God and His leader (Moses).
- to regret that they had left the world of Egypt.

They just rebelled against God, did not believe that He would take care of them. They completely lost their trust in Him and began to criticize and murmur and grumble against Him and Moses, God's appointed leader.

2. They tried God for forty years. God took care of Israel for forty long years as the nation wandered throughout the arid desert of Sinai. God gave them food and water and all the other necessities of life, and He protected them from all surrounding enemies. Yet the people continued to harden their hearts against God, to disbelieve and distrust Him. They approached God as though He had to meet their approval instead of their meeting His.

⇒ They tempted (peirazomai) God. This means they tested Him, put Him to the test to see if He was really good and would meet their needs.

⇒ They proved (dokimazo) God. This means they tested Him, put Him to the test to see if He met their approval. If God would prove faithful, then He would be worthy of their obedience and loyalty. They wanted Him to prove Himself first, then they would follow Him.

Note the unbelief and hardness of heart in all this. There is no belief or trust. They wanted God to prove Himself by giving the provision without any trial or suffering. They were unwilling to prove themselves, unwilling to show that they really believed and trusted God. They wanted God to prove Himself, that He was worthy of their trust and loyalty. What audacity! What an affront! What unbelief and hardness of heart—total disobedience.

3. They always went astray. God had promised to meet Israel's needs and He always had. They did not have the luxuries of life, but they did have God's care and provision, and most of all they had the glorious promise of God's land and rest. But they always went astray—always chose not to believe God. They disobeyed and distrusted God for some forty years.

4. They did not know God's way. God's way is faith and trust. God wants the same as any father wants: to be trusted. No matter how little or how much a father can provide, he wants to be trusted that he does care and will provide for his children. The same is true of God. God does not want murmuring or grumbling, questioning, distrust, unbelief, or disobedience. God wants faith and trust, for faith and trust are the ways that God teaches men to trust Him more. If we believe God—really believe Him—then the more we need and suffer trial, the more we will...

- learn to draw near God
- learn to fellowship with God
- learn to trust God
- learn to depend upon God
- learn to walk with God

This is the way of God; it is what God is after. It is the reason God created us—to know Him and to fellowship with Him. And the only way we can ever get to know Him and to fellowship with Him is to learn to trust Him more and more. Therefore, we have to be tried and tested so that we will draw closer and closer to Him and learn to believe and trust Him more and more. This is what Israel failed to learn; this was the great failure of Israel: unbelief and disobedience. They just never learned that God's way was belief and trust.

The result was, of course, judgment. The people chose not to follow God; therefore, they were never able to inherit the promised land nor to enter God's rest. They missed the permanent peace and provision of God Himself. They all died in the wilderness, the very ones who had been set free from the world and bondage of Egypt. Not a single one ever entered God's promised land and rest. (See outlines and notes—Heb.4:1-13.)

“Ye stiffnecked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do ye” (Acts 7:51).

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness” (Ps.95:8).

“Happy is the man that feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief” (Pr.28:14).

“He, that being often reproveth hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy” (Pr.29:1).

“To whom he said, This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest; and this is the refreshing: yet they would not hear” (Is.28:12).

“For thus saith the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel; In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength: and ye would not” (Is.30:15).

“But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they should not hear” (Zech.7:11).

2 (3:12) Watch—Wrong: take heed—watch unbelief. There is great danger that believers might depart from the living God. They might do just what Israel did. Therefore, take heed (blepete): be alert and stay alert; be on the lookout and do it constantly; watch and keep on watching. Keep a watchful eye on your trust and obedience to God. Watch for an evil heart of unbelief. What is an evil heart of unbelief? It is a heart that...

- stands off from God
- stands aloof from God
- renounces God
- rebels against God
- does not believe in God
- does not trust God and His promises
- does not follow God as He demands

Thought 1. The great failure of Israel was this: they just failed to believe God—to trust that He would do what he said: take care of them, provide for their needs, and give them the promised land and rest.

The great failure of people today is the very same thing—unbelief. People just do not believe God—that He will do what He says: take care of them, provide for their necessities, and give them the promised land of heaven and the eternal rest from the wilderness of this world.

“Art thou the Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe” (Lk.22:67).

“Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken” (Lk.24:25).

“Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness” (Jn.3:11).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Then said Jesus unto him, Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe” (Jn.4:48).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Then came the Jews round about him, and said unto him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Christ, tell us plainly. Jesus answered them, I told you, and ye believe not: the works that I do in my Father’s name, they bear witness of me” (Jn.10:24-25).

“But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him” (Jn.12:37).

“And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on me” (Jn.16:8-9).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief” (Heb.4:11).

“I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not” (Jude 5).

3 (3:13-19) Exhortation—Believer—Warning: exhort one another daily. The word “exhort” (parakaleo) means to “beg, entreat, beseech, exhort” (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.79). It is from the same word that the Comforter or Paraclete (the Holy Spirit) is taken. This means that the word “exhort” also includes comfort, the kind of comfort that will “strengthen and encourage the believer each single day so that when a crises arises he may be able to stand fast” (Thomas Hewitt. The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries.” Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1960, p.83). Believers are to constantly exhort one another to guard themselves against unbelief and sin. There are eight reasons why.

1. First, the time is short. Today is the day for believing and walking in Christ. Today is the day of salvation. Tomorrow a person may be snapped out of this world by some accident or become a broken and hopeless person because of some bad news or unexpected event. At most, life is only as a vapor or a flower: here today and gone tomorrow. Therefore, we must exhort one another to trust Christ and His promises and to follow Him as He has dictated.

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil” (Eph.5:15-16).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as a handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up. In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth” (Ps.90:5-6).

“So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom” (Ps.90:12).

“As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:15-16).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldst be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

2. Second, a person can be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin. Sin is deceitful: it looks good, tastes good, and feels good. But it enslaves human life and leaves the human heart empty, lonely, insecure, hurting, and sometimes broken. It devastates families, friends, businesses, and oneself. In addition to this, sin hardens a person. The more a person sins, the harder and more sinful he becomes. Sin begets sin; sin nourishes more and more sin. The more a persons sins, the easier it is for him to sin. One sin prepares the heart for the next sin.

The human heart just becomes hardened the more it sins. Sin deceives and looks good, but the more a person sins, the more enslaved he becomes to sin. (Cp. the things that harm the human body and personality such as smoking, drinking, drugs, sex, and cursing.)

“Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness” (Ps.95:8).

“Happy is the man that feareth always: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief” (Pr.28:14).

“He, that being often reprov'd hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy” (Pr.29:1).

“But, after thy hardness and impenitent heart, treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

3. Third, salvation is conditional. It is not enough to say that we are saved—that we are “partakers of Christ.” We must hold steadfast to our confidence or hope in Christ and His salvation. If we are serious when we say that we have partaken of Christ and His salvation, then we are partaking of Him—we are doing exactly what He says: we are holding fast to Him. But if we do not hold fast to Christ, then we are not partaking of Him. No matter what we claim, if we are not holding fast to Christ, then we are not partaking of Him. Salvation is conditional—based upon this one simple requirement: a person must hold fast to Christ in order to partake of Him.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

4. Fourth, each day is important (Hewitt, The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.84). We must hear the voice of the Holy Spirit today—every day. We must not let sin deceive us and allow our hearts to become hardened. We must take heed and watch lest we depart from God even as Israel did. It is a dangerous thing to provoke God.

“For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succoured thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation” (2 Cor.6:2).

“For this shall every one that is godly pray unto thee in a time when thou mayest be found: surely in the floods of great waters they shall not come nigh unto him” (Ps.32:6).

“But as for me, my prayer is unto thee, O LORD, in an acceptable time: O God, in the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy salvation” (Ps.69:13).

“For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if ye will hear his voice” (Ps.95:7).

“Thus saith the LORD, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages” (Is.49:8).

5. Fifth, some do provoke God. Some in Israel had heard the Holy Spirit of God, yet they did not heed His exhortation. They sinned, rebelling against God and doing their own thing. They lived as they wished, not believing or trusting God. Therefore, they provoked Him. Tragically, the same is true today. Some among us sin and harden our hearts. Therefore, we are provoking God.

“And the LORD said unto Moses, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the signs which I have showed among them?...Surely they shall not see the land which I swear unto their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked me see it” (Num.14:11, 23).

“Remember, and forget not, how thou provokedst the LORD thy God to wrath in the wilderness: from the day that thou didst depart out of the land of Egypt, until ye came unto this place, ye have been rebellious against the LORD” (Dt.9:7).

“For when I shall have brought them into the land which I swear unto their fathers, that floweth with milk and honey; and they shall have eaten and filled themselves, and waxen fat; then will they turn unto other gods, and serve them, and provoke me, and break my covenant” (Dt.31:20).

“How oft did they provoke him in the wilderness, and grieve him in the desert!...Yet they tempted and provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies” (Ps.78:40, 56).

“Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt; they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies; but provoked him at the sea, even at the Red sea” (Ps.106:7).

“For Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen: because their tongue and their doings are against the LORD, to provoke the eyes of his glory” (Is.3:8).

“For some, when they had heard, did provoke: howbeit not all that came out of Egypt by Moses” (Heb.3:16).

6. Sixth, judgment is sure. God had pronounced the fact: those who sinned and did not believe and trust Him would be condemned and judged. And just as He had said, those who sinned in Israel were judged. Their carcasses fell in the wilderness. So it will be today. All who sin and disbelieve God shall be condemned and judged. There is no escape for any of us who do not believe and follow Christ.

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

“Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die” (Ezk.18:4).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Gen.2:17).

“The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

7. Seventh, God judges unbelief. The words “believed not” (apeitheo) means to refuse to be persuaded; to refuse to believe; to withhold belief; to be disobedient. It is a person who just refuses to be persuaded despite the evidence that Jesus Christ is truly the Savior of the world; the kind of person who chooses to continue living for the world and self despite the fact of coming judgment. The unbeliever will not be allowed to enter God’s promised land of heaven nor God’s eternal rest.

“Afterward he appeared unto the eleven as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen” (Mk.16:14).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on me” (Jn.16:8-9).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief” (Heb.4:11).

8. Eighth, unbelief shuts a person out. Nothing will close the doors of the promised land of heaven—nothing will keep a person out of God’s eternal rest—except unbelief. Refusing to believe and trust the Lord Jesus Christ and His promise of salvation will shut the door of the promised land forever. Unbelief keeps a person from ever experiencing God’s rest, His eternal rest.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Verily I say unto you, Whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein” (Mk.10:15).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption” (1 Cor.15:50).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

DIVISION I

THE SUPREME REVELATION: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 1:1-4:13

H. Warning Two (Part II): Fear—Lest You Miss God's Rest, 4:1-13

(4:1-13) Introduction: this is a passage that should be preached to believers time and again. It is a passage that discusses the glorious promise of God's rest, but it is also a warning—a warning desperately needed by all: fear—lest you miss God's rest.

1. The warning: fear, lest you come short of God's rest (v.1).
2. Reason 1: the gospel of rest has been preached (v.2).
3. Reason 2: God has sworn that unbelievers shall not enter His rest (v.3).
4. Reason 3: there is a rest and there has been since creation (v.3-10).
5. Reason 5: a person can fall into unbelief (v.11-13).

1 (4:1) Warning—Rest—Fear: the warning is direct and forceful—fear lest you should come short of God's rest. What is God's rest? What is the rest that is offered us in God? The meaning of the believer's rest is seen by looking at the illustrations in verses 4-9. Rest does not mean inactivity. God has not been inactive since creation; He has been very active. He has been administering the universe and working out the salvation of man (cp. Jn.5:17; Ro.8:18). Therefore, when the Bible speaks of rest for the believer, it does not mean a state or life of inactivity for the believer. It does not mean that the believer sits and lies around or goes about relaxing and doing what he wants. It does not mean that the believer is freed from duty and responsibility. Contrariwise, the believer's rest means something far more meaningful and hopeful. In fact, it offers the most glorious hope imaginable to man.

1. There is the rest of satisfaction and pleasure with one's life and work. This is seen in God's rest after creation (v.3-4). After God created the world, which took six days, He rested on the seventh day. As said above, this does not mean that God stopped all activity after creation. The very opposite is true: He has been looking after the universe since creation, and He has been very busy working out the salvation of men. This is not a rest of inactivity, of doing nothing. When Scripture says that God rested after creation, it means that God was pleased and satisfied with the work of creation. The job of creation was done and it was completed. There was a sense of completion and satisfaction within God; the sense of completion and satisfaction rested within the soul of God. He was at rest and at peace with what He had done.

Therefore, the believer's rest is a sense of completion, of satisfaction, of pleasure with his life and work. When a believer really believes and trusts God, he receives the rest of God, a deep sense of fulfillment with his life and work.

"Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls" (Mt.11:29).

"For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world. For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works" (Heb.4:3-4).

2. There is the rest of deliverance and of salvation. This is the rest of Canaan (v.5-6). In the Bible...
 - the promised land of Canaan is a type of heaven and of the eternal rest God has promised to believers.
 - the enslavement of the Jews by Egypt is a type of the world's bondage and enslavement of man.
 - the wilderness wanderings are a type of the daily struggles, trials, temptations, and storms of life that a person has to pass through in this life.

Therefore, the believer's rest means the most glorious deliverance and salvation imaginable—so glorious that a person must not fail to secure this rest.

⇒ The believer's rest means the deliverance and salvation from the slavery and bondage of this world (Egypt), from its sin and death.

⇒ The believer's rest means the rest of conscience when one has ceased his struggle in the wilderness wanderings of life—the trials, temptations, and storms of life.

⇒ The believer's rest means the rest of conquest and triumph while one is entering and conquering the enemies of the promised land of heaven—day by day.

"And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest" (Ex.33:14).

"And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove! For then would I fly away, and be at rest" (Ps.55:6).

"Return unto thy rest, O my soul; for the LORD hath dealt bountifully with thee" (Ps.116:7).

"To whom he said, This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest; and this is the refreshing: yet they would not hear" (Is.28:12).

"For thus saith the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel; In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength: and ye would not" (Is.30:15).

3. There is the rest of a new day, of another day that shall be far better than this day—a day that will bring perfection and eternal life to the human soul (v.7-8). It is the rest of confidence, of assurance, of knowledge, of hope, of perfect peace in the future. All the bondages and enslavements of this life have been conquered in Christ, even death. And there is now hope of eternal life—of heaven, of an eternal and perfect rest for the people of God.

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev.14:13).

"And it shall come to pass in the day that the LORD shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve" (Is.14:3).

The point is this: we can miss God's rest; we can come short of it. Israel did and we can. Therefore, we must fear lest we miss it. The word fear means that we should be actively afraid and concerned lest we miss God's rest. The matter is of critical concern; it is a matter of life and death, of eternal life and eternal death.

"And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation" (Lk.1:50).

"But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him" (Acts 10:35).

"Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling" (Ph.2:12).

"And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear" (1 Pt.1:17).

"Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!" (Ps.31:19).

"In the fear of the LORD is strong confidence: and his children shall have a place of refuge. The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death" (Pr.14:26-27).

2 (4:2) Rest, Believer's—Warning: we can come short of God's rest because the gospel of rest has been preached. God's rest was preached to Israel—loudly and clearly. There was no excuse, for Israel knew about the glorious news:

⇒ There is a deep-seated rest that we can possess within our hearts, a satisfaction with our lives.

⇒ There is a rest of deliverance and salvation through the wilderness of this life—through all the trials and temptations and storms of life.

⇒ There is a rest of a new day—of perfection and of eternal life.

This gospel—the glorious message of God's rest—was preached to Israel, and it has been preached to us. But note the warning: the Word did not profit Israel. Why? Because Israel did not mix the Word with faith. They did not believe in the Word of God. They rejected the promise of God's Word that promised a rest to the soul of the believer.

Thought 1. The warning is clear: we must believe the Word, the gospel of God's rest, or else we shall miss His rest. And we must never forget: we are much more responsible because of Jesus Christ. God's own Son, One far greater than Moses, is the One who has brought us the message of God's rest.

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him" (Jn.3:36).

"The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)" (Acts 10:36).

"Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God" (Heb.3:12).

"Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief" (Heb.4:11).

3 (4:3) Rest, Believer's—Warning: we can come short of God's rest because God has sworn that unbelievers shall not enter His rest. This verse is clear: the person who believes enters God's rest, but the person who does not believe does not enter. And the tragic fact is conclusive: God has sworn that the unbeliever shall not enter His rest. The unbeliever has no hope, nothing to look forward to in this life except trials, sufferings, emptiness, loneliness, disease, accidents, temptations, and death—a life without permanent meaning, significance, and purpose. He has nothing to look forward to in the future life except judgment, condemnation, and alienation from God. God has sworn: the person who does not believe in His Son—that eternal rest, deliverance, and salvation are in Jesus Christ—shall not enter into His rest. There shall be no peace, no deliverance, no salvation, no new day for the unbeliever.

"He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God" (Jn.3:18).

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him" (Jn.3:36).

"I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (Jn.8:24).

"Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God" (Heb.3:12).

"Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief" (Heb.4:11).

4 (4:3-10) Rest, Believer's—Warning: we can come short of God's rest because the rest of God actually exists. The truth of God's rest is a living reality, and God's rest has existed since creation. The gospel of God's rest is not a fabrication, not a false hope created by man's imagination. It is not an escape mechanism used by some to handle their fear of death. The rest of God is truth—it is a living reality that actually exists. Therefore if a person ignores, neglects, or denies God's rest, he can miss it. As stated, man can enter God's rest; he can have an abundance of rest, an abundance of life in this world and an eternal rest and life in the next world. How do we know this? How do we know that God's rest is a reality, that it actually exists? There are five proofs.

1. The fact that God rested after creation proves that there is a rest for God's people (v.4). God labored and worked in creating the world and then He rested. He stood back and looked over His work and experienced the deepest sense of satisfaction and completion. The sense of satisfaction and completion rested in His soul. This clearly shows us that there is a rest of life and work, of satisfaction and pleasure with who we are and with what we do.

2. God's promise to Israel of the promised land (Canaan rest) is proof that there is a rest for God's people (v.5-6; cp. Ps.95:11). God's promise cannot fail. There was a rest for the people of Israel and they did not enter (v.5). But note: the fact that God's rest existed and that He promised it to believers means that some must enter His rest. God's eternal rest does not exist to remain empty and to be void of people. Some must enter the Canaan rest of heaven. Since Israel did not enter, the only conclusion that can be drawn is this: God's rest still exists. Believers can still enter God's rest.

3. God's promise of a new day to David proves that there is a rest for God's people (v.7; cp. Ps.95:7-8). As verse seven says, it was a long time after Israel's entrance into Canaan when the Holy Spirit spoke through David saying, "Today if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts," but enter God's rest. God's rest still existed in the days of David; therefore, the physical land of Canaan could not have been the rest promised to Israel. God's rest is spiritual and eternal, the rest of man's spirit in this world and in the eternal world. God's rest still exists.

4. God's promise of Another Day even after the days of Joshua proves that there is a rest for God's people (v.8-9; cp. Ps.94:7-11). (The word "Jesus" in the King James Version is Joshua in the Greek.) When Joshua led Israel into Canaan, the people did not enter the rest that the Holy Spirit was speaking about. (The word "he" is the Holy Spirit.) If they had, then the Holy Spirit would not have said that the rest was still available in Ps.95 which was written five hundred years later (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.87). Joshua did provide some rest to Israel (Josh.21:44; 22:4), but it was not the complete fulfillment of God's promise. God's rest is spiritual and eternal, the spiritual confidence and security of peace and life, both now and forever. There remains, therefore, a rest for the people of God.

5. The rest of Jesus Christ from all His work proves that there is a rest for God's people (v.10). This verse can equally apply to man and Christ. Most commentators apply it to man saying...

- when man enters God's rest, he no longer struggles through all the trials and temptations of life. He conquers and triumphs over them.

However, it seems that the author of Hebrews is proving the fact that there is a rest for God's people. And there is no greater proof than the resurrection and ascension of the Lord Jesus Christ after His work upon earth. When He accomplished the work of redemption and salvation, He entered His rest, the rest of the promised land of heaven—to abide in it glory and magnificence forever. It is the rest of Jesus Christ, His resurrection into God's eternal rest, that proves above all else that there is a rest for God's people.

"Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls" (Mt.11:29).

"For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest: although the works were finished from the foundation of the world. For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works" (Heb.4:3-4).

"And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest" (Ex.33:14).

"And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove! For then would I fly away, and be at rest" (Ps.55:6).

"Return unto thy rest, O my soul; for the LORD hath dealt bountifully with thee" (Ps.116:7).

"To whom he said, This is the rest wherewith ye may cause the weary to rest; and this is the refreshing: yet they would not hear" (Is.28:12).

"For thus saith the Lord GOD, the Holy One of Israel; In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength: and ye would not" (Is.30:15).

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev.14:13).

"And it shall come to pass in the day that the LORD shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve" (Is.14:3).

"In the fear of the LORD is strong confidence: and his children shall have a place of refuge. The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death" (Pr.14:26-27).

5 (4:11-13) Rest, Believer's—Warning—Word of God: we can come short of God's rest because a person can fall into unbelief. Note three points.

1. First, a person must labor to enter God's rest or else he will fall into unbelief. The word "labor" (spoudazzo) means to endeavor, give all diligence, be zealous, strive eagerly, exert one's self, and make haste. There is no place for sleepiness or laziness, complacency or lethargy. Unless a person labors with all diligence, he will fall just as Israel fell. And remember Israel's experience: the people would labor for a while and then fall back for awhile; labor again and then fall back again. Israel lived an up and down life, and the nation was not allowed to enter God's rest. There is no place for inconsistency, no place for living an up and down life—not in God's rest. Diligence—laboring every day—is an absolute essential. We must labor or else fall from God's rest as Israel fell.

"Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able" (Lk.13:24).

"And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown: but we an incorruptible" (1 Cor.9:25).

"Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Ph.1:27).

"Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily" (Col.1:29).

2. God's Word discerns the heart (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Word of God—Heb.4:12 for more discussion). God's Word promises rest to those who believe. And note: His Word of promise is not a lifeless letter; it is not paper and ink. God's Word and His promise are living—they are a living reality. Four things are said about the Word of God and His promises.

a. The Word of God is "quick" (zon): alive and living. The idea is that the Word of God is always alive and active; it is always working and quickening its message to the human heart. Therefore, God's word of rest is not a dead and meaningless promise; it is living and full of life to the heart of the believer.

b. The Word of God is "powerful" (energes): active, working, energizing. God's word of promise, His rest of salvation, is powerful. It is not dormant and inactive. It is actually active and working, energizing the heart of the believer.

c. The Word of God is "sharper than any two edged sword." The word "sharper" (tomoteros) means to cut. It is penetrating and convicting. It does not leave a soul alone. The Word of God will not let a soul who hears it ignore God's promise of rest.

d. The Word of God is "piercing" (diiknoumenos): to go through. It goes right through to the soul and spirit of man. It is the Word of God that takes man's earthly, soulish nature and separates it from the spiritual call and promise of God. It pierces and separates a man's soul and spirit just as a sword pierces a man's joints and marrow.

⇒ It separates a proud soul from a humble spirit.

⇒ It separates a sinful soul from a righteous spirit.

⇒ It separates a rebellious soul from an obedient spirit.

⇒ It separates an unbelieving soul from a believing spirit.

e. The Word of God "discerns the thoughts and intents [purpose] of the heart." The word "discern" (kritikos) means to judge, to sift and analyze. "The Word of God is able to penetrate into the furthestmost recesses of a person's spiritual being, sifting out and analyzing the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.89).

God's Word sees whether a person believes or does not believe His promise of rest. God's Word actually sees through the thoughts and purposes of a person.

"For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Ro.1:16).

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim.3:16).

"For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart" (Heb.4:12).

"Wherefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, Because ye speak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them" (Jer.5:14).

"Is not my word like as a fire? saith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?" (Jer.23:29).

3. God sees all things. He knows if we believe in Him and His promise of eternal rest or not. He knows if we are making a false profession or if we are truly following Christ.

"And not a creature exists that is concealed from His sight, but all things are open and exposed, naked and defenseless to the eyes of Him with Whom we have to do" (v.13, Amplified New Testament).

"If I sin, then thou markest me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity" (Job 10:14).

"For now thou numberest my steps; does thou not watch over my sin?" (Job 14:16).

"For though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much soap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord God" (Jer.2:22).

"For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes" (Jer.16:17).

"And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me, and said unto me, Speak; Thus saith the Lord; Thus have ye said, O house of Israel: for I know the things that come into your mind, every one of them" (Ezk.11:5).

"And they consider not in their hearts that I remember all their wickedness: now their own doings have beset them about; they are before my face" (Hos.7:2).

"For I know your manifold transgressions and your mighty sins: they afflict the just, they take a bribe, and they turn aside the poor in the gate from their right" (Amos 5:12).

"For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known" (Lk.12:2).

"But Jesus did not commit himself unto them, because he knew all men" (Jn.2:24).

"Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God" (1 Cor.4:5).

"But if ye will not do so, behold, ye have sinned against the LORD: and be sure your sin will find you out" (Num.32:23).

"For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil" (Eccl.12:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:12) Word of God—Bible: Scripture says several things about the Word of God being living and powerful (cp. Is.49:2).

1. The Word of God is the piercing sword of the Spirit (Eph.6:17). It strikes and arouses an awareness of one's immortal spirit and discerns one's thoughts and motives (Heb.4:12).

2. The Word of God is the reflecting mirror of life (Jas.1:22-25). It reflects and exposes the kind of person one is (Ro.3:9-27).

3. The Word of God is the burning fire of conviction (Jer.23:29). It burns and consumes the heart, the conscience of men (Jer.5:14; Lk.24:32).

4. The Word of God is the pounding hammer which crushes the hardness of man's heart (Jer.23:29).

5. The Word of God is the reproducing seed of the new birth (1 Pt.2:23). Man is spiritually born again by hearing and believing the Word (Ro.10:17).

6. The Word of God is the nourishing food of the believer (1 Pt.2:2-3). The believer grows and lives and is built up through the study of the Word (Mt.4:4; Acts 20:32; Heb.5:12-14).

7. The Word of God is the guiding light of the believer (Ps.119:105).

8. The Word of God is the cleansing water of sanctification (Jn.15:3; 17:17). God washes and cleanses His own, the church, through the use of the Word (Eph.5:25^b-26).

9. The Word of God is the measuring instrument by which one receives the approval of God (2 Tim.2:15).

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

A. Christ is the Great High Priest (Part I): The Sympathetic High Priest, 4:14-16

(4:14-16) Introduction: Jesus Christ, God’s Son, is the Supreme High Priest. This glorious truth begins a new discussion on the greatness and supremacy of Jesus Christ. He is the great High Priest, by far the greatest High Priest who has ever stood between God and man. The implication is unbelievable: as the great High Priest, He is able to sympathize—to actually feel every experience that we experience—no matter how painful. Jesus Christ not only feels for us, He feels right along with us. He is our great and sympathetic High Priest—the One who meets our every need and carries us through all the sufferings of this life. (Note: this passage and the next passage deal with the same subject, the great High Priest, the Lord Jesus Christ. They are split into two parts because of their length. However, a person may wish to combine them and make them one message or lesson and study.)

1. The identification of the great High Priest (v.14).
2. The significance for man (v.15-16).

1 (4:14) Jesus Christ, Deity—High Priest: the identity of the great High Priest. Note the word great. It is being used to set Jesus Christ apart from all other High Priests. Aaron, who was the first High Priest, was considered by the Jews to be the greatest of the High Priests. But this passage is declaring that Jesus Christ was the greatest High Priest. Two reasons are given.

1. Jesus Christ has “passed into the heavens.” He is before the very throne of God; He is in the very presence of God Himself. An earthly High Priest ministered or passed into the most holy place of the earthly temple. But Christ passed or ascended into heaven and ministers in heaven. He ministers in the very presence of God Himself. Therefore, He is greater by far than any earthly High Priest including Aaron.
2. Jesus Christ is “Jesus the Son of God.” His earthly name Jesus speaks of His human nature and sympathy for man. Jesus was a man just like all other High Priests. He suffered all the trials and temptations that other men and High Priests suffer; therefore, He can sympathize with all those who come to Him as their High Priest.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful High Priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

But note: Jesus Christ was also “the Son of God.” This was His heavenly name. He was divine, the very Son of God Himself who came to earth to deliver and save men from sin, death, and condemnation. He came to save us to the uttermost—to carry us before the very throne of God. He came to make it possible for us to live in the very presence of God Himself. How can He do this? Because He is the Son of God. As the Son of God He has the power to save us to the uttermost—to make us acceptable to God. No other priest can do this. Therefore, Jesus Christ is greater than all other priests. Jesus Christ alone is the great High Priest.

“[The gospel] concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:3-4).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an High Priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

The point is this: let us hold fast our confession. Jesus Christ alone can save us. He alone has passed into heaven. If we wish to go into heaven, we must confess Christ and hold fast to our confession. We have to be genuine; we have to hold fast if we are to enter heaven and live with God.

“But Christ as a son over his own house [of believers]; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end” (Heb.3:6).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

“Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee” (Rev.3:3).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

2 (4:15-16) Jesus Christ, High Priest: the significance of Jesus’ High Priesthood for man is fivefold.

1. We have a High Priest who feels with us. The word “touched” (sunpathesai) means to sympathize, feel, and suffer with. It means to sympathize and feel with a person to the point that the hurt and pain are actually felt within one’s own heart. The idea is that Jesus Christ actually suffers when we suffer. He knows and suffers right along with us when we...

- | | |
|--------------------|-------------------------------|
| • become sick | • lose a loved one |
| • suffer trials | • are stricken with suffering |
| • face temptations | • lack money |
| • fall into sin | • are hungry |
| • have an accident | • lack clothes |
| • feel lonely | • suffer persecution |
| • sense emptiness | • face death |
| • lack purpose | |

Name the trial or pain, temptation, or suffering—name the infirmity or weakness—name any and all human experiences—Jesus Christ actually sympathizes and feels with us. He actually suffers and hurts right along with us. We could ask for no greater Savior; we could crave no greater Intercessor; we could long for no greater High Priest to stand before God for us. Jesus Christ is our great High Priest. He is our representative before God. He is the One who carries on the glorious ministry and intercession for us, and He “is touched with the feelings of our infirmities”—with all of our human weaknesses and frailties.

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me....I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:1, 18).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me, and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession” (Heb.4:14).

“Like as a father pitieth his children, so the LORD pitieth them that fear him” (Ps.103:13).

“In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old” (Is.63:9).

2. We have a High Priest who was tempted in all things just like we are, yet He was without sin. We must remember this glorious truth and never forget it, for it is the very basis of man’s salvation. No man will ever be saved unless Jesus Christ did live a sinless life. Why? Because some man has to live a sinless life and secure the ideal and perfect righteousness that covers sinful men. Apart from Christ there is no ideal righteousness that can stand before God and be acceptable to God. And only perfection, only the ideal, can stand before God. Therefore if Christ has not secured the ideal and perfect righteousness for us, then there is no righteousness to cover us—no righteousness in which we can believe and place ourselves—no righteousness to make us acceptable to God.

But this is the glorious gospel, and it is the point of this verse: Jesus Christ was sinless. He was tempted in all things just like we are, but He never sinned. He went through every experience and every trial and temptation that we go through. And He bore them all, never sinning. William Barclay points out that Christ even bore more than what we ever have to bear—much more:

“He is like us in all things—except that He emerged from it all completely sinless....The fact that Jesus was without sin necessarily means that He knew depths and tensions and assaults of temptation which we never know and never can know. So far from His battle being easier it was immeasurably harder. Why? For this reason—we fall to temptation long before the tempter has put out the whole of his power. We are easily vanquished; we never know temptation at its fiercest and its most terrible, because we fall long before that stage is reached. But Jesus was tempted as we are—and far beyond what we are. For in

His case the tempter put everything he possessed into the assault, and Jesus withstood it. Think of it in terms of pain. There is a degree of pain which the human frame can stand—and then when that degree is reached a person faints and loses consciousness; he has reached his limit. There are agonies of pain he does not know, because there came collapse. It is so with temptation. We collapse before temptation; but Jesus went to our stage of temptation and far beyond it and still did not collapse. It is true to say that He was tempted in all things as we are; but it is also true to say that never was man tempted as He was” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.38)

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not an High Priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“For such an High Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

3. We can call upon God—boldly. But note two things.
 - a. God is sitting upon a throne, the seat of authority, power, honor, glory, respect, and reverence. Therefore, we are to approach Him in respect and reverence.
 - b. God is sitting upon the “throne of grace.” Grace means that God is love, and He longs to shower His love and blessings upon man. But how could God, who sits upon the majestic and glorious throne of the universe, be so gracious to man? How could God care for man, care for a creature who is such a small part of so vast a universe? Care for a creature who has cursed, denied, ignored, and rebelled against the Sovereign Lord of the universe? Because of Christ Jesus. Christ is there in the throne room of God, and He is seated there as the Savior of the world, as the Ideal and Perfect Man who sacrificed His life for the sins of the world. He is there pleading our case before God. And the one thing God does is listen to His Son. Whatever Jesus asks, the Father does. Jesus Christ is our Representative, our Intercessor, our great High Priest before God’s throne. He has turned the throne of God from a throne of judgment into a throne of grace. Therefore, “let us come boldly before the throne of grace.” We have the right, so let us do it. Let us approach God through Jesus Christ, and God will do whatever we ask through Christ. God’s throne is now a throne of grace; it is now opened up for any person to approach, no matter how bad and terrible a life he has lived. God will receive him through Christ Jesus.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord: in whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:11-12).

“Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:16).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an High Priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19-22).

“Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world” (1 Jn.4:17).

4. We can now obtain the mercy of God. We need God to have mercy upon us because we have sinned against Him. We have done everything imaginable against God...

- ignored Him
- neglected Him
- rebelled against Him
- disobeyed Him
- rejected Him
- denied Him
- cursed Him

God will forgive our sins; He will have mercy upon us. But we must come to the throne of grace and ask for mercy. We must acknowledge that mercy comes only through Christ Jesus, the great High Priest. He and He alone knows our need for mercy; He and He alone bore our sins and paid our penalty and condemnation. He and He alone can represent us before God.

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph.2:4-10).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“He hath bent his bow, and set me as a mark for the arrow” (Lam.3:12).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of her heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

5. We can now find grace to help in time of need. What a glorious promise! Help is now available to carry us through life. No matter what confronts us—trial, trouble, tribulation, temptation—help is available, the very help of God Himself. God will pour out His marvelous grace upon us—all of His strength and blessings. God’s grace will strengthen us to walk right through the trial and trouble. His grace will help us conquer and triumph over all circumstances and situations. But remember why God is able to do this: because Jesus Christ has suffered the same experience. He has been upon earth Himself, suffering through the very same trial. Therefore, He knows how to walk through and conquer the trial and suffering. All we have to do is come boldly before the throne of grace and ask Him.

“I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ; that in every thing ye are enriched by him, in all utterance, and in all knowledge” (1 Cor.1:4-5).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me” (2 Cor.12:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:6).

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

B. Christ is the Great High Priest (Part II): The Qualifications of a True Priest, 5:1-10

(5:1-10) Introduction: Jesus Christ is the great High Priest. He meets every qualification required by both man and God to be the Supreme High Priest.

God is perfect and man is imperfect and sinful. Therefore, if man is ever to become acceptable to God, some perfect Person has to stand between God and man. Why? Because the ideal perfection of that Person must cover man, and man must believe and trust in the Person's ideal perfection for it to cover him. This is the glorious message of this great passage. Jesus Christ meets all the qualifications of the perfect Person. Jesus Christ is the great High Priest who stands between God and man. He meets all the qualifications of a true high priest, and He differs from all other priests in one critical area: He is perfect. He perfectly meets all the qualifications. He is not just a high priest; He is the great High Priest of God and man.

1. The qualifications for a man to be a high priest (v.1-4).
2. The qualifications to be the great High Priest were met by Christ (v.5-10).

1 (5:1-4) High Priest: there were five qualifications for a man to be a high priest. Note how clearly they are spelled out, and note that these qualifications are applied to all priests who are "taken from among men." They are applicable to every generation of men. Every person who serves God in the ministry needs to heed these qualifications.

1. The high priest must be appointed by God to represent men before God. That is his function, the very reason he serves as high priest.

- ⇒ He is taken from among men. He is a man himself who knows and understands what it is to be a man. Because of this he knows how to present man's case before God.
- ⇒ He represents man in the things of God. He leads men in prayer, worship, righteousness, morality, witnessing, and in the study of spiritual things.
- ⇒ He is ordained or appointed by God. He does not choose the priesthood as a means of livelihood or of social and benevolent service. He is a priest because God called him to serve people in the things of God.

2. The high priest must offer gifts and sacrifices for sins. He leads the people to make gifts or offerings to the Lord, the offering of their lives and possessions. But he has one significant function: to offer sacrifice for sins. Unless man's sins are forgiven, he can never be acceptable to God, for no man can erase his sins. Therefore, there has to be a substitution, some sacrifice made that can take the sinner's place and bear the judgment of sin for him. This, of course, refers to the animals which were sacrificed for sin in the Old Testament. The animal sacrifice is also a type or symbol that pictured what Jesus Christ was to do for us: become the Lamb of God, the sacrifice for our sins. The point is this: the high priest was the person who offered the sacrifice for man's sins.

3. The high priest must be able to deal with men in compassion. Note that men are placed into one of two classifications:

- ⇒ The ignorant: those who have sinned and did not know it; those who are guilty of sinning in ignorance.
- ⇒ Those who have deliberately gone out of the way: those who willfully sin, knowing that they are sinning.

The high priest must remember that he himself is also guilty of infirmities, weaknesses, and failures. Therefore, he is to be compassionate with all men, no matter their sin and shortcoming. For he is as they are: a mere man, ever so frail and short of God's perfect goodness.

4. The high priest must offer sacrifices for his own sins. He is just as guilty of sin and short of God's glory as the people are. Therefore, he must first make sacrifice for his own sin before he can make sacrifice for the people's sins.

5. The high priest must be God-appointed and not self-appointed. No man is to take the honor of being a priest upon himself; he is to be a priest only if God has called and appointed him to be a priest. No person is to enter the priestly ministry because he chooses it as a profession, as a means to earn a livelihood, or as a means to serve mankind. God and God alone calls those who are to serve Him. Only those who are called by God can serve Him in truth and fulfill the true functions of the priesthood.

"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you" (Jn.15:16).

"But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel" (Acts 9:15).

"But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee" (Acts 26:16).

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (2 Cor.5:20).

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

"Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Who shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me" (Is.6:8).

2 (5:5-10) Jesus Christ, High Priest: the qualifications to be the great High Priest were met by Christ. Note that the same five qualifications listed for the high priest are now listed for Christ, but in reverse order. Jesus Christ fulfills all the qualifications of the high priest, but there is one significant difference: Jesus Christ fulfills the qualifications perfectly. He is the great High Priest who stands in perfection before God and men.

1. Christ was "begotten" or born as a Man: He was appointed and sent into the world by God (v.5-6). There are two proofs that Jesus Christ was appointed by God.

a. Proof one is God's Word or prophecy. Hundreds of years before Christ ever came into the world, God foretold that He was going to send His Son into the world. God was going to beget, that is, cause His Son to be born into the world. He was to enter the world as man so that He could perfectly identify with man and go through all the experiences of man; therefore, God had to send Him into the world as a man.

"Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee" (v.5; cp. Ps.2:7).

b. Proof two is God's irrevocable oath that His Son was to be a priest. And note: He was not to be priest like man, that is, like Aaron's priesthood; He was to be a priest after the order of Melchisedec. What does this mean? Melchisedec's priesthood is said to have been without human descent, having neither beginning of days nor end of life. That is, he is said to be eternal (cp. Heb.7:3; see outline and notes—Heb.7:1-10 for more discussion). Therefore, God gave an irrevocable promise to man: He would send His Son into the world to be the great High Priest, the eternal representative of man before God.

The point is this: God appointed Jesus Christ to be the great High Priest; Christ did not seek to glorify Himself—did not seek the glory of the priesthood. He was appointed to be a priest by God. Therefore, He has fulfilled the first qualification of the priesthood, the qualification of being appointed by God.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (Jn.3:16-17).

"Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people" (Heb.2:17).

"So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee" (Heb.5:5).

2. Christ sacrificed Himself; He suffered bitterly as Man (v.7). No high priest has ever suffered or been aware of the trials and sufferings that Jesus Christ bore and knew. He suffered beyond what any person ever has to suffer. He suffered every human trial and experience that men can suffer—bitterly suffered them—and He suffered them so that He can succor us through all the trials of this world (see note, pt.4—Heb.2:17-18 for a list of the experiences that Jesus suffered as Man).

Note this verse:

"Who in the days of his flesh, when he had offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto him that was able to save him from death, and was heard in that he feared" (v.7).

This is probably a picture of Gethsemane. Because of the terrible trials Christ bore, He is bound to have offered up prayers and wept bitterly throughout His life—often. Any person would be crushed under the weight of what He bore. (Again, see note, pt.4—Heb.2:17-18 for a list of the terrible trials that Jesus suffered throughout His life. Also see note—Lk.2:40 for a more detailed discussion.)

However, there was one experience that Jesus went through that far supersedes all others. That was the experience of death for the sins of the world. This is the reason the author of Hebrews refers to Gethsemane as the experience that shows how Christ identifies with man. Christ experienced death even as men experience death. Therefore, Christ can feel and sympathize and help and strengthen man when he faces death. In fact, note what the verse says: God saved Christ from death. This means that God raised Him up from the dead and that He lives forever with God, being exalted to God's right hand. This is the glorious gospel, the supreme sympathy: Jesus Christ can deliver us from death and carry us into the presence of God forever. As our great High Priest, He is able to save us to the uttermost. He is able to save us from death and to escort us into the eternal presence of God to live forever and ever.

“And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani? which is, being interpreted, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?” (Mk.15:34).

“And being in an agony he prayed more earnestly: and his sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground” (Lk.22:44).

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

“Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate” (Heb.13:12).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, bring put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“I gave my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from shame and spitting” (Is.50:6).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

3. Christ willingly sacrificed Himself and suffered for man (v.8). Jesus Christ was the Son of God; therefore, He did not have to come to earth to save man. But it was God's will, and the only way Christ could obey God was to humble Himself and come and suffer as Man. He obeyed God—experienced obedience—by suffering as Man. He learned what it is to obey God as a Man; He learned it by becoming Man and by suffering as Man.

The point is this: Christ willingly came to earth to suffer for man. He did it because it was God's will, and He loves His Father. Jesus Christ is the great High Priest. He has fulfilled every qualification for the Priesthood—fulfilled them perfectly.

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep” (Jn.10:15).

“Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father” (Jn.10:17-18).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

4. Christ was made perfect: He became the Source of eternal salvation (v.9). Jesus Christ had to come to earth and suffer as Man. Why? In order to secure perfect obedience to God. Obedience—the perfect and ideal obedience to God—is the same thing as righteousness. Perfect obedience means perfect righteousness, and perfect righteousness means perfect obedience. If a person obeys God, he is righteous, and if a person is righteous, he is obedient. They are one and the same. Therefore, Christ secured (learned) obedience and righteousness by living upon earth as Man and by suffering through all the experiences of man—without sin.

The phrase “without sin” is critical to note. It means that Jesus Christ Himself became the perfect and ideal righteousness for man. Therefore, His righteousness can cover man. He is the Author and Source of perfection and righteousness. He is the Author and Source of eternal salvation. Note: the salvation of Christ is eternal: Jesus Christ saves us now—delivers us through all the trials of life and delivers us into eternal life, that is, into heaven where life goes on forever and ever in the presence of God.

If a person obeys Christ—believes and follows Him—then the perfect righteousness of Christ covers that person. If a person approaches God through Christ—trusts and lives for Christ—then the righteousness of Christ saves and keeps him safe, both now and forever.

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God” (2 Cor.4:15).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

5. Christ was appointed High Priest by God. Salvation is of God. The High Priesthood of Christ with all that it means is of God. God is the One who appointed and sent Christ into the world. And He did it after the eternal order of Melchisedec, not after the human and dying order of Aaron. Jesus Christ is the great High Priest, the High Priest who can represent and present us perfectly before God.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:14-15).

“Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:20).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

“And having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:21-22).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:9) Faith—Obedience: eternal salvation is given to all those who obey Christ. In the Bible, to obey Christ means to believe Christ, and to believe Christ means to obey Christ.

⇒ No person will obey Christ unless he believes Christ, truly believes Him. A person is going to live like he wants, not like Christ says, unless he truly believes in Christ. Therefore, the person who obeys Christ is the person who believes Christ.

⇒ No person believes in Christ unless he obeys Christ. The person who truly believes in Christ will obey Christ. If he truly believes that Christ is the Savior of the world, then he will follow Christ. He does what Christ says: he obeys Christ.

The point is this: believing Christ and obeying Christ mean the same thing. To obey and to believe are the same act. Therefore, Scripture emphatically declares that Christ is the Author of eternal salvation to all those who obey Him. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.2:24 for more discussion.)

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

C. Warning Three (Part I): The Danger of Immaturity or of Falling Away, 5:11-6:3

(5:11-6:3) Introduction: this is the beginning of the third warning in the Book of Hebrews, a warning that must be heeded by every believer and church member. It is a warning that strikes at the very foundation of millions of lives. Millions of professing believers and thousands of churches are guilty of this very failing: immaturity or falling away. In this day and time there is the danger of immaturity, of falling from Christ.

1. A person becomes immature because of dull hearing (v.11).
2. A person becomes immature because of refusing to grow (v.12).
3. A person becomes immature because of being unskilled in the Word (v.13).
4. A person becomes immature because of not exercising his mental and spiritual senses (v.14).
5. A person needs to get the past the ABC's of doctrine (ch.6, v.1-2).
6. A person must be determined to grow in Christ (v.3).

1 (5:11) Immaturity, Spiritual—Word of God—Hearing: a person becomes immature because of dull hearing. The word “dull” (nothroi) means sluggish, slow, lazy, lethargic, forgetful. The writer to the Hebrews had much that he wanted to teach, especially about the Lord Jesus Christ and His Priestly ministry, but he was unable. Why? Because the Christian faith—the Word of God and the Bible—is difficult to understand. No person can grasp the Word of God and its truths by simply reading it. A person must study, meditate, and practice the Word of God in order to understand it.

The Hebrew believers had become mentally lazy and sluggish and spiritually complacent and slothful. They were sitting and listening to the preachers and teachers, and they were reading the Scriptures, but they were not listening or paying attention. Their minds were wandering about and unwilling to exert the energy to concentrate and study.

Note: some of the Hebrew believers were already dull of hearing. Some had already become immature; they had already fallen and were no longer growing spiritually.

Thought 1. If a person is going to understand God's Word, he has to study it:

- | | |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| ⇒ he has to read and concentrate | ⇒ he has to hear and concentrate |
| ⇒ he has to read and meditate | ⇒ he has to hear and meditate |
| ⇒ he has to read and ponder | ⇒ he has to hear and ponder |
| ⇒ he has to read and take notes | ⇒ he has to hear and take notes |
| ⇒ he has to read and memorize | ⇒ he has to hear and memorize |

“That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God” (Col.1:10).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and all envies, and all evil speakings, as newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:1-2).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night” (Ps.1:1-2).

“The soul of the sluggard desireth, and hath nothing: but the soul of the diligent shall be made fat” (Pr.13:4).

Thought 2. This point is full of meaning to the preacher and teacher as well. William Barclay states it clearly:

“Now here is something which has something to say to everyone whose business and whose duty it is to preach and to teach; in fact, it has something to say to everyone whose business it is to think, and that is to say, that it has something to say to everyone who is a real person. It often happens that we dodge teaching something because it is difficult; we never face trying to explain it because exposition and explanation are hard. It often happens that we defend ourselves by saying that our hearers or our congregation or our pupils would never grasp or understand that. It is, in fact, one of the tragedies of the Church that there is so little attempt to teach people new knowledge, new approaches, and new thought. It is true that the task of such teaching is difficult. It is true that often to try to teach in such a way is to meet the lethargy of the lazy mind and the embattled prejudice of the shut mind. But the task remains. The writer to the Hebrews did not shirk to bring to men his message, even if his message was difficult and the minds of his hearers were slow to learn. He regarded it as his supreme responsibility to pass on the truth he knew” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.48)

“Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken” (Lk.24:25).

“Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word” (Jn.8:43).

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God” (Ro.3:11).

“But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned” (1 Cor.2:14).

“Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing” (Heb.5:11).

“I will instruct thee and teach thee in the way which thou shalt go: I will guide thee with mine eye. Be ye not as the horse, or as the mule, which have no understanding: whose mouth must be held in with bit and bridle” (Ps.32:8-9).

“Man that is in honour, and understandeth not, is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:20).

“When the boughs thereof are withered, they shall be broken off: the women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of no understanding: therefore he that made them will not have mercy on them, and he that formed them will show them no favor” (Is.27:11).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

“Hear now this, O foolish people, and without understanding; which have eyes, and see not; which have ears, and hear not: fear ye not me? saith the LORD: will ye not tremble at my presence, which have placed the sand for the bound of the sea by a perpetual decree, that it cannot pass it: and though the waves thereof toss themselves, yet can they not prevail; though they roar, yet can they not pass over it? But this people hath a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted and gone. Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear the LORD our God, that giveth rain, both the former and the latter, in his season: he reserveth unto us the appointed weeks of the harvest” (Jer.5:21-24).

“But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel” (Mic.4:12).

2 (5:12) Backsliding—Word of God—Immaturity, Spiritual: a person becomes immature because he refuses to grow up spiritually. The Hebrew believers refused to move beyond the first principles of God’s Word. “First principles” (stoicheion) means the basic principles of God’s Word, the elementary teachings, the ABC’s of God’s Word. They are the very basic teachings of salvation and of spiritual growth, such teachings as...

- a person should be saved
- a person should grow spiritually
- a person should live righteously
- a person should worship
- a person should keep the rituals and ceremonies of religion

Such basic truths as these are the milk of God's Word. They are truths that are to be preached and taught, but they are the truths for the unsaved and for young believers, for babes in Christ. They are to be learned and learned quickly by believers, and then the believer is to move on to maturity. Note that the Christian life is compared to physical growth. A young believer is said to be a babe in Christ and the first principles of God's Word are said to be the milk upon which he is to feed. A young believer is to feed upon the milk of the Word, the first principles, but he is expected to grow until he is feeding upon the meat of the Word—studying and growing a mature understanding of the Christian life.

The situation among the Hebrew believers was tragic: they were spiritual dwarfs, deformed and undeveloped. They should have been mature and fully developed. Note the verse: they should have been teachers, that is, bearing witness to Christ, sharing the glorious message of Jesus Christ with their friends, neighbors, and fellow workers. But they were unable. Why? Because they were immature—so immature that they themselves needed someone to re-teach them the first principles of God's Word.

Thought 1. How many people have professed Christ and never grown? They professed Christ years ago and have remained spiritual babes for years. Imagine no growth for five, ten, twenty, thirty, fifty years. Yet, tragically this is the spiritual life of so many in the church. They should be teaching, that is, sharing Christ; but instead they themselves have the need to be taught the basics all over again.

“And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able” (1 Cor.3:1-2).

“Brethren, be not children in understanding; howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins” (2 Pt.1:5-10).

“For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat” (Heb.5:12).

“And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:7).

3 (5:13) Word of God—Righteousness, Meaning: a person becomes immature because of being unskilled in the Word. The Hebrew believers remained unskillful in the Word of righteousness. This means two things.

a. Jesus Christ is “the Word of righteousness.” He is the righteousness of God. A person must believe and stand in the righteousness of Christ. A person has to believe, trust, and throw himself upon the Lord's righteousness. The righteousness of Jesus Christ is a person's only hope of ever being acceptable to God.

Note something: this is the very message of the gospel; it is the gospel of salvation. But the Hebrew believers—some of them—did not fully understand the message. They did not understand and had not experienced the righteousness of Jesus Christ. The word “unskillful” (apeiros) means to be inexperienced. They professed Christ and His righteousness, but they had never grasped or experienced Him—not fully—not in a mature sense. Note the verse: although this person is a church member, “he is a babe.”

“Christ, the righteousness which is of God” (Ph.3:9).

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

“For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

b. The Word of God is “the Word of righteousness.” Righteousness means all the teachings and doctrines of God's Word. It is the Bible that teaches us all about God, Christ, man, life, the world, and how to live righteous and godly lives. But think for a moment: think about God, just one of these subjects. Think about how vast and glorious God is. How much study and how long it would take to study and grasp the truth of God? The Hebrew believers were unwilling to put the time and energy into learning about God. They were unwilling to study and learn the Word of righteousness. Therefore, they never experienced the righteousness of God's Word. They were not living righteous or godly lives; they were not experiencing the fulness of life that Christ had come to give them. As the verse says about each of the professing believers: “he is a babe.”

“But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God” (Mt.4:4).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among them all which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food” (Job 23:12).

“Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hosts” (Jer.15:16).

“Moreover he said unto me, Son of man, eat that thou findest; eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel” (Ezk.3:1).

4 (5:14) Maturity, Spiritual: a person becomes immature because he does not exercise his mental and spiritual senses. Note these facts.

1. Note that it is possible to reach “full age” in the Christian life; it is possible to reach maturity in Christ. A person can grow spiritually until he is fully grown and mature in Christ. This is what God expects of us all.

2. Note what a mature person is. A mature or fully grown person is a person who discerns between good and evil. He is a person who lives a righteous and godly life. He has gone beyond...

- just attending worship and Bible studies
- just keeping the rituals and ceremonies of religion
- just giving money
- just reading the Bible
- just praying

The mature believer does all of these things, yes, but he does more, much more.

- ⇒ He studies the Word of God.
- ⇒ He sets blocks of time aside every day to pray and worship.
- ⇒ He lives and moves and has his being in prayer; that is, he continually prays.
- ⇒ He keeps his mind and thoughts upon Christ and obedience to Him.
- ⇒ He witnesses for Christ, sharing the glorious salvation from the evil and death of this world.
- ⇒ He discerns both good and evil, and does the good.

The mature believer is able to discern between true and false religion, true and false claims, sin and righteousness. He knows...

- when to look and when not to look.
- when to eat and when not to eat.
- what to drink and what not to drink.
- when to go and when not to go.
- what socials to attend and what not to attend.
- what to listen to and what not to listen to.
- where Christ is really preached and taught and where He is not.
- who to fellowship with and who not to fellowship with.
- when to speak and when not to speak.
- who teaches the truth and who does not.

The mature believer lives for Christ. He discerns between the good and evil.

3. Note how a person matures and reaches full age in Christ. By exercising his mental and spiritual senses or faculties. A person has to exercise his mind and spirit. He cannot be lazy and slothful, comfortable and complacent—neither mentally nor spiritually. He has to be alert and alive to control and discipline himself. He has to exert energy and effort, to concentrate and focus his mind and life upon Jesus Christ, His salvation, mission and purpose.

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind” (Eph.4:23).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Attend upon the Lord without distraction” (1 Cor.7:35).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

5 (6:1-2) Maturity, Spiritual: a person has a great need to get past the ABC’s of God’s Word. Scripture is direct and forceful: “Leave the elementary teachings, the ABC teachings of Christ and go on to perfection [maturity].” This does not mean that we are to forget the basic teachings about Christ. We are never to ignore, neglect, or forget how we are saved by Christ nor how we grow in Christ. What this means is that we are to take the basic teachings about Christ and store and lay them up in our hearts. They are to be part of our lives, in fact, the very foundation of our lives. But once the foundation is laid, we are to build upon it. The basic teachings of salvation in Christ are to be built upon. We are to go on to perfection, learning all the truth about Christ and the Word of God. No believer is to stay in the ABC’s of Christ; no believer is to lay the foundation of salvation over and over again. What are the ABC’s of Christ, the foundational teachings of salvation that we are to get past?

1. We are to get past repentance from dead works. Repentance means to turn to God and away from the world. Dead works can mean...

- the works or behavior of the world that are sinful and defiling and that lead to death.
- the works of formal and ceremonial religion that fail to give true life to men. Such works of religion are dead works, leaving men “dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

We are to repent from the dead works of this world, but once we have repented, we are to joy in Christ for so great a salvation and move on to maturity.

Thought 1. Think how many people are always having to repent and repent because they do not understand salvation and are not living for Christ like they should. Every evening before going to bed millions mutter prayer for God to forgive them and promise to do better. The scene is repeated almost every day of their lives.

2. We are to get past faith in God. We are to look to God for approval, to believe in Him and trust Him. We are not to look to men nor to their ability and science to save us. Our hope for salvation is in God and in God alone. But once we have placed our faith in God, we are to move on beyond faith for salvation. We are to move on and grow in all the teachings of God’s Word.

3. We are to get past the doctrine of baptism, that is, of the meaning of baptism and of the need to be baptized as Christ demands. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, he is to be baptized immediately. It is the public sign and seal that he is a true follower of the Lord Jesus Christ. It is not an optional ritual; the true believer is to be baptized. But once he has been baptized, he is not to stop there. He is to go on to maturity by learning and doing all the commandments of God.

4. We are to get past the laying on of hands. This was the symbol that showed a person was being called to serve God. This has always been the primary meaning of laying on of hands, although the act has been used for other purposes at various stages of Christian history. In both Old and New Testament times when a person was being called and set apart to serve God, the hands of other believers were laid upon him as a sign of his call. When God or the church calls us to serve, we are to begin serving and not back off. We are to get past having to be called and called upon to serve; we are to begin serving. We are to go on to perfection.

5. We are to get past the resurrection of the dead. This is our great hope and it is one of the primary reasons we accepted Christ. But we are to get past end time sermons and studies; get past the basic teaching of salvation and move on to all the Word of God. It is the only way we can mature in Christ.

6. We are to get past eternal judgment. Once we have been truly saved, we are saved from judgment. God has not appointed the believer to wrath. The true believer is saved—saved from eternal judgment. We are to get past the fear and thoughts of judgment and learn to rest in the assurance and security of Christ. We are to go on to maturity, studying all the Word of God.

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ: that we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:11-15).

“[Christ] whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“Now he that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness” (2 Cor.9:10).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh [grows] also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:2).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness” (2 Pt.1:5-6).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

“They go from strength to strength, every one of them in Zion appeareth before God” (Ps.84:7).

6 (6:3) Maturity, Spiritual: a person must be determined to grow in Christ. We must have a spirit that will cry out with the author of Hebrews: “this will we do.” We must be determined to go on to perfection and maturity. We must move beyond the ABC elementary teachings of God’s Word. But we must do something else as well: we must cry out “if God permit.” This simply means that we must express a dependency upon God, for we are dependent upon Him. God wants us to grow spiritually, but we cannot grow apart from His strength. We are totally dependent upon Him for help in understanding His Word and for the power to live as He tells us how to live. No person can do anything unless God permits. Our very breath, life, understanding, strength, and determination to keep on growing are dependent upon God and His presence and power in our lives.

We must be determined—strongly determined—to go on to perfection. We must grow and mature in Christ. But we must have God’s presence and power to do it. Therefore, we shall grow in Christ—this will we do if God permits—if God gives us the understanding of His Word and the strength to live for Him.

“John answered and said, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven” (Jn.3:27).

“Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:12-14).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another? Go to now, ye that say, To day or to morrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain: whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away. For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that” (Jas.4:12-15).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness” (2 Pt.1:5-6).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

D. Warning Three (Part II): Fear—Lest You Fall Away, 6:4-8

(6:4-8) Introduction: this is one of the most severe warnings in all of Scripture and it is one of the most controversial. It is so controversial that no matter what a person says about it, there are a host of people who differ with him. What we must keep in mind is this: one of the primary reasons why there are so many differences is because we come to this passage with our minds already made up. We already hold a theological position and have a theological system that we follow and interpret all Scripture by. Therefore, we interpret this passage...

- in light of what we already believe instead of letting Scripture speak for itself.
- in light of our theology instead of letting the passage speak for itself.
- in light of what we have been taught by others instead of letting Scripture speak for itself.
- in light of what we have already concluded that Scripture teaches elsewhere instead of letting this passage speak for itself.
- to keep our system consistent instead of admitting there are some teachings of Scripture that are beyond our understanding and accepting the meaning as a warning to all believers.

Of course, everyone thinks he is right—that what he believes is exactly what Scripture teaches. And he should think this; he should be a person of conviction or else he should sit down, study, and find out the truth to the best of his ability and become a person of conviction. However, three things are needed when we approach a passage like this where so many true believers differ.

- ⇒ We must let Scripture speak for itself—be as objective and honest as we can and make a supreme effort not to twist the Scripture to fit our beliefs (theological system). That is, we must—as much as we possibly can—be truthful to the Scripture and let it speak for itself.
- ⇒ We must be humble and understanding toward each other as we pray and seek the Lord for understanding and as we seek to share His Word with one another and the world. And we must learn from each other despite our different views. No one of us and no body of us have a corner on the truth. We are at most only a speck of sand in a universe of truth. Just think how mammoth the universe is and how unsearchable God and His Word and ways are (cp. Ro.11:33-36.) What God wants us to do is to be humble and to learn from each other.
- ⇒ We must let the Scripture speak to us—let its message guide and warn us—to the fullest extent possible. We must let the Scripture work in our lives and not get hung up on interpretation and in getting our point across. What is important is what God is saying and letting what He says take effect in our lives. We must let the Scripture work in us.

The Preacher's Outline & Sermon Bible is written for the ministers of God, every true minister of God regardless of belief and denomination. For this reason we deliberately, strenuously, and constantly keep before our minds the utter necessity to let the Word of God speak for itself and to present no denominational position. Our purpose is to study and write, first of all, for our own personal growth in the Lord, and then to share what God has fed to our hearts. That is what The Preacher's Outline & Sermon Bible is—all it is. It simply arises out of our own personal devotional studies where our hearts cry out to God to conform us to Christ so that we can better witness to His mercy and grace—to His eternal mercy and grace which He has poured out upon us by saving us and delivering us from the sin and death of this world.

The point is this: a deliberate effort—even to the point of straining—is being made to let the Scripture speak for itself in studying this passage. In fact, we are writing this even before we begin our study and exposition of it. May God touch our hearts and warn all who read hereafter—all to His glory and to our growth in Christ Jesus our Lord. (The following passages should be studied along with this passage for a complete overview of the severe warnings in Scripture. See outlines and notes—1 Cor.3:11-15; 1 Cor.5:3-5; 9:27; 11:27-30; Heb.2:1-4; 3:7-19; 4:1-13; 5:11-6:3; 10:26-39; 12:25-29; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16.)

1. The Christian privileges (v.4-5).
2. The warning: it is impossible to repent of falling away (v.6).
3. The meaning illustrated (v.7-8).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:4-8) Believer—Warning: there are four main interpretations of this passage.

1. A hypothetical case. There are those who say that falling away from Christ is only a wrong idea that exists in the minds of some people. Therefore, the writer is only trying to correct the wrong idea that these people have. These people are causing themselves an undue amount of anxiety, tension, and worry by believing false ideas; therefore, they must be corrected and saved from their false belief. Most of these interpreters hold that falling away from Christ is impossible, but if the belief is held by some, then it needs to be corrected. Therefore, this is exactly what the author is doing. Note how he goes about correcting the false idea in this interpretation:

“All right, you say a person can fall away from Christ. What happens if he does? If would be impossible to renew him again, for Christ would have to be crucified again. And this is utterly impossible; Christ can never be crucified again. Therefore, falling away is impossible. To say that a saved person can fall away is an incorrect idea that is not taught by Scripture.”

2. A saved-lost interpretation. A saved person can fall away into sin or apostasy and lose his salvation. Those who oppose this position say that this position must deal with two basic facts.

⇒ There are only a few passages that support it and each of the passages can be interpreted another way (cp. Mt.24:13; Mk.3:29; Lk.9:62; Heb.10:26; 1 Jn.5:16).

⇒ There are innumerable passages that teach the eternal security of the believer (cp. Jn.3:16, 36; 5:24; 6:37; 10:27-30; Ro.8:1, 35-39; Eph.1:12-14; 4:30; Ph.1:6; Heb.8:12; 10:12; 14; 1 Pt.1:3-5).

3. A non-Christian or false profession interpretation. Some Jewish people (Judaizers) of the writer’s day professed Christ and were exposed to the privileges of the Christian life. However, they never took the final and genuine leap of faith. Those who oppose this position say that this position is difficult to see in light of the five statements in verses 4-5.

4. A castaway believer. Some believers deliberately sin so much that they become hardened and past feeling any wrong (Eph.4:18-24). They are in danger of falling away and suffering the severest chastisement and consequences (see notes—1 Cor.9:27; 11:27-30; Heb.2:1f; 10:26f; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16).

1 (6:4-5) Warning—Believers: the believer’s great privileges. It is difficult to see how these five experiences could be said about a person unless he was a true believer. Being as honest and objective as possible, we would have to strain the meaning to make them apply to anyone else. The Greek Scripture definitely uses the aorist tense which means that the person had a once-for-all experience, an experience that was once-for-all completed, fulfilled, and finished. How could this apply to anyone else other than a believer? Note how each of these read in the aorist tense: the person...

- was once-for-all enlightened
- had once-for-all tasted of the heavenly gift
- was once-for-all made a partaker of the Holy Spirit
- had once-for-all tasted of the good Word of God
- had once-for-all tasted of the power of the world to come.

The word “tasted” (geusamenous) means to partake of, to take in, to experience, to come to know. The Greek scholar Marvin Vincent says that it means to “have consciously partaken of” (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4, p.445). The very same word is used of Christ when it said that He “tasted death” for us (Heb.2:9). And one thing is sure: Christ tasted, that is, consciously experienced, death for us. Therefore, this passage must mean that this person fully tasted and fully experienced salvation. As stated, it seems that we have to twist Scripture to make it say any less than a conscious and full experience. Note the glorious experiences and privileges these persons received in Christ.

1. They were once-for-all enlightened. Enlightened means the light of the gospel and of salvation; the light of Christ, that is, seeing Christ as the Savior and Lord of men; the light of salvation that breaks through the darkness of sin and death. Note: receiving the light happened once-for-all. It was an actual experience of the people, a once-for-all experience. That is, it really happened and it was fulfilled and completed in the people’s lives. They received the light of Christ, of His gospel and salvation once-for-all.

2. They had tasted of the heavenly gift. The “heavenly gift” refers to Christ and His salvation which God gave to the world. Scripture proclaims time and again that Jesus Christ and His salvation are God’s gifts.

- ⇒ Christ is God’s “unspeakable gift” (2 Cor.9:15).
- ⇒ Christ is God’s gift to a lost world (Jn.3:16).
- ⇒ Salvation is “the gift of God” (Eph.2:8-9).
- ⇒ Christ is the One who came down out of heaven as the gift of God to a lost world (Jn.3:13; 3:16; 3:31-32; 6:32-33, and a host of other verses. See notes—Jn.3:32-34; DEEPER STUDY # 3—3:34 for more references and discussion.)

Note that this is again a once-for-all experience. They had experienced Christ and His salvation once-for-all.

3. They were once-for-all made a partaker of the Holy Spirit. The word “partaker” (metochous) means to share as partners. W.E. Vine says that it means “the fact of sharing” (Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, 1966, p.162). The Greek scholar A.T Robertson says, “These are all given as actual spiritual experiences” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.375). These people were sharers in the Holy Spirit. It is very difficult to see how they can be made to be a false profession without straining the Scripture.

4. They had once-for-all tasted God’s good Word. This is the gospel of Christ, of His glorious salvation. The Greek scholar Marvin Vincent says that this means that they received...

- life (Acts 5:20)
- cleansing (Eph.5:26).
- spirit and life (Jn.6:63)
- the Holy Spirit (Jn.3:34; Acts 5:32; 10:44; Eph.6:17; Heb.2:4)
- salvation (Acts 11:14)

(Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4, p.445.)

5. They had once-for-all tasted the powers of the world to come. They had experienced some of heaven upon earth. They had actually experienced the presence and power of Christ in their lives...

- the power of Christ in conquering the trials, temptations, and sufferings of this world.
- the healing power of Christ in touching both their bodies and spirits.

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

2 (6:6) Warning: the warning is severe and frightening to any heart that will listen.

“It is impossible for those who were once enlightened...if they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance” (v.4, 6). As discussed in the previous point, this is bound to be speaking to believers. But what does it mean? Note exactly what Scripture says and only what it says.

First, Scripture says “impossible”: if a believer “falls away,” it is impossible for him to ever repent again. The word impossible just cannot be made to mean anything other than impossible—not without straining and twisting the Scripture. As Marvin Vincent says: “Impossible (aduvaton). It is impossible to dilute this word into difficult” (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4, p.444).

Second, Scripture uses the words “fall away” (parapesontas). This means to turn aside; to turn away; to deviate. It means...

- to turn aside from Christ.
- to turn away from Christ.
- to deviate from Christ.

Third, Scripture is talking about renewing and bringing people back to repentance. These people had gone beyond the point of repentance. No matter how strong an appeal was made to them—no matter how often their sin was pointed out to them—no matter how much the love and cross of Christ was proclaimed to them—they would never again repent. They had gone too far into sin and rebellion against Christ to ever have their hearts touched again. They would never repent—no matter what.

Now, for the critical question: What would ever cause a believer to reach such a stage in life? What could a believer do that would harden his heart so much that he would never again repent? Again note exactly what Scripture says:

“They crucify the Son of God afresh, and put Him to an open shame” (v.6).

The action is present: they continue on and on to crucify Christ and to shame Him. They continue on and on in their sin, disobedience, and rebellion against Christ. The continuous action is critical to note.

The believer turns back to the world, back to a life of sin, disobedience, and rebellion; and he continues on and on, never repenting and never turning back to Christ. This, of course, breaks the heart of Christ and adds suffering upon suffering for Him to bear.

- ⇒ It is stirring and causing the pain of the crucifixion for Christ all over again. In fact, it is continuing to crucify Him over and over again; it is putting Him through a continuous experience of suffering upon the cross.
- ⇒ It is also shaming Him. Being a professing believer and returning to the world and continuing to live in sin day after day and month after month brings shame upon Christ and His holy name.

Note a critical fact in this point: the person is continuing on and on in sin never repenting. He has returned to the world and its sin and is just never going to repent. He has gone so far into sin that his heart has become so hardened that he will never repent—no matter how much the love and forgiveness of Christ is shared with him, he will not repent. Never again will he walk with Christ, not while he is on earth. Scripture says that he is beyond repentance. He has returned to the world and fallen away from Christ. And tragically, he is harming Christ and His mission. He is breaking the heart of Christ by crucifying Christ afresh—by heaping suffering upon suffering upon Him. And he is shaming the name of Christ among men by living a hypocritical life.

Thought 1. Note a critical fact. This cannot refer to what is commonly called backsliding. Why? Because Scripture is clear: a backslider can repent. A backslider is never beyond reach. This passage is bound to be speaking of a person who backslides and begins to love his sin more and more. Therefore, he keeps on in his sin—sinning and sinning and sinning—until he becomes so hardened in his sin that he will never repent. He keeps on and on crucifying Christ and shaming Him and nothing stirs him to repentance. Can believers ever reach this point? F.F. Bruce states it well:

“God has pledged Himself to pardon all who truly repent, but Scripture and experience alike suggest that it is possible for human beings to arrive at a state of heart and life where they can no longer repent” (The Epistle to the Hebrews. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964, p.124).

“But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation” (Mk.3:29).

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame” (Heb.6:6).

“For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins” (Heb.10:26).

“For ye know how that afterward, when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears” (Heb.12:17).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck: of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander; whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme” (1 Tim.1:19-20).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

3 (6:7-8) Warning: the meaning of the warning is illustrated. This is a simple illustration about the soil of a vineyard keeper or a farmer.

1. The good soil drinks in the rain and brings forth its fruit and crops for those who dress and keep it. That is, believers are the good soil who drink in the Word of God and produce fruit for God and Christ and for His ministers and teachers.

2. The bad soil drinks in the rain also, but it brings forth its thorns and briars. Therefore, the bad soil is rejected and near to being cursed. Its end is to be burned. Matthew Henry was unquestionably one of the greatest Bible scholars and probably the most inspirational Biblical writer who has ever lived. He strongly believed in the eternal security of the believer, but even he said the following. His exhortation stresses the utmost necessity that all heed this warning and the severity of it:

“Its end [the rejected ground’s end] is to be burned. Apostasy will be punished with everlasting burnings, the fire that shall never be quenched. This is the sad end to which apostasy leads, and therefore Christians should go on and grow in grace, lest, if they do not go forward, they should go backward, till they bring matters to this woeful extremity of sin and misery” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.914.)

F.F. Bruce, one of the most excellent Bible scholars of the twentieth century, who would also hold strongly to the security of the believer, says this:

“Our author compares those believers who persevere in faith to fertile land which produces fruit, while those [believers] in whose lives the fruits of righteousness do not appear are compared to land which will never produce anything but thorns and thistles, to be kept down by burning, ‘for our God is a consuming fire’ (Ch.12:29)” (The Epistle to the Hebrews, p.125)

Thought 1. This passage is a most severe warning to us all no matter our position on the security of the believer. It is a passage that serves as a warning to us all and must be heeded by us all. It is a passage that Biblical writers—those who give strong indications of walking with the Lord—strongly urge us to heed, even when they hold to the security of the believer. F.F. Bruce is one of these, and what he has to say should be noted by us all:

“The Scriptures contain encouragement enough and to spare for the feeblest believer, but [the Scriptures] are full of solemn warnings to those who think they stand to beware lest they fall. A credible profession of faith must be accepted as genuine, but ultimately it is only the Lord who knows those who are His.

“For it is possible for people who can be described in the language of verses 4 and 5 to ‘fall away’ irretrievably. This warning has been both unduly minimized and unduly exaggerated...for men and women who have taken Christ’s name upon themselves [do] commit apostasy; and biblical writers (the writer to the Hebrews being no exception) are not given to the setting up of men of straw [men who never exist]. The warning of this passage was a real warning against a real danger, a danger which is still present so long as ‘an evil heart of unbelief’ can result in ‘falling away from the living God’ ([Heb.]Ch.3:12)....

“Our author’s meaning can be exaggerated to the point of distortion when he is understood to say that for sins committed after baptism there can be no repentance....

“But the writer to the Hebrews himself distinguishes (as did the Old Testament law) between inadvertent sin and wilful sin, and the context here shows plainly that the wilful sin which he has in mind is deliberate apostasy. People who commit this sin, he says, cannot be brought back to repentance; by renouncing Christ they put themselves in the position of those who, deliberately refusing His claim to be the Son of God, had Him crucified and exposed to public shame. Those who repudiate the salvation procured by Christ will find none anywhere else” (The Epistle to the Hebrews, p.122f)

“And now also the axe is laid unto the root of the trees: therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Mt.3:10).

“Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Mt.7:17-19).

“He also that received seed among the thorns is he that heareth the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he becometh unfruitful” (Mt.13:22).

“He spake also this parable; A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none. Then said he unto the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree, and find none: cut it down; why cumbereth it the ground? And he answering said unto him, Lord, let it alone this year also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it: and if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down” (Lk.13:6-9).

“But that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing: whose end is to be burned” (Heb.6:8).

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

E. Warning Three (Part III): Precautions Against Falling Away, 6:9-20

(6:9-20) Introduction: the writer has just given the Hebrew believers the most severe warning that could be given to a people. They must fear lest they fall away—fall so far away that they would never again repent. What is the answer? How can believers keep from falling away? This is the discussion of this passage: the precautions against falling away.

1. Precaution 1: the love and confidence of people (v.9).
2. Precaution 2: God's justice (v.10).
3. Precaution 3: being diligent and not being slothful (v.11-12).
4. Precaution 4: imitating the believers of faith and perseverance (v.12-15).
5. Precaution 5: God's promise and oath (v.16-18).
6. Precaution 6: the anchor of hope (v.18-20).

1 (6:9) Encouragement: precaution one—the love and confidence people have in us. There was danger that the Hebrew Christians would slip back into sin. There was danger that they would return to the world and begin to live like the world. There was the danger that they would again ignore, neglect, and deny Christ. But the minister of God believed differently: he loved them, and because he loved them, he had great confidence in them. Note three things.

1. The minister calls them beloved. They were dear and ever so close to his heart. Although it is not mentioned, he was bound to be praying for them not just daily, but all through the day. He loved them so much that they never left his mind or thoughts.
2. The minister expressed great confidence in them: "we are persuaded better things of you." He does not expect them to fall back into sin; he does not expect them to forsake Christ and return to the world. He has confidence in them; he expects them to stand fast in Christ and to hold on to their faith in Him.
3. The minister expects them to do the works of salvation. This is striking. Not only will the believers not fall away, but they will do the works of salvation—so says the minister. What a great confidence the minister has in them!

How could the believers return to the world? How could they return to live in sin when they are loved so much and have someone who believes in and has so much confidence in them?

The point is this: if a believer turn away from Christ, he will hurt those who care for him and cut them to the core. But if he stands fast, he will prove that he loves and appreciates them. He will prove that he is well worth their love and confidence.

Thought 1. We must always remember two significant things: when we fall away, we not only hurt ourselves, but we hurt and cut the heart of both Christ and all those who love us—we hurt and cut them to the core.

How can we keep from falling and hurting Christ and those who love and have confidence in us? By taking certain precautions, and the first precaution is this: look at the people who do love and have confidence in us. Look at them and...

- think about how sin and shame will hurt them and cut their hearts.
- think about how it will break their trust in us.
- think about the damage and destruction.
- think about how much better it is to please their love and fulfill their confidence in us.
- think about how much better it is to do the works of salvation than to do the works of sin.

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth? This persuasion cometh not of him that calleth you. A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump. I have confidence in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you shall bear his judgment, whosoever he be” (Gal.5:7-10).

“I rejoice therefore that I have confidence in you in all things” (2 Cor.7:16).

“And we have confidence in the Lord touching you, that ye both do and will do the things which we command you. And the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patient waiting for Christ” (2 Th.3:4-5).

“Having confidence in thy obedience I wrote unto thee, knowing that thou wilt also do more than I say” (Phile.21).

2 (6:10) Judgment—God, Justice of: precaution two—the justice of God. Note a most interesting thing: the Hebrew Christians were weak and immature in the Lord. They were not growing in the Lord, and some were so close to falling away that they had to be severely warned (cp. Heb.5:11-6:3; 6:4-8). But they had not forgotten the poor, sick, bed-ridden, homebound—those who needed attention and help. They had grown cold toward the Lord and His Word; they had become dull of hearing, and were no longer listening to the preaching and teaching of God’s Word. But they were keeping in touch with the people who needed help. They were cold spiritually, but warm in social ministry and service. They had lost interest in Christ and His Word, but were active in helping other people.

The point is this: God Himself is vitally interested in the needy. Note the words: “your work and labor of love, which ye have showed to His name.” God loves and cares for the poor and needy as much as He does for anyone. Therefore, when a person ministers to the poor and needy, God sees it and He will not forget it. God cares about how we treat people, and He notices our love that reaches out to the poor and needy. Therefore, we need to remember the justice of God:

- ⇒ that God is not unrighteous or unjust.
- ⇒ that God does not forget; He sees all.
- ⇒ that works and labor of love to people are acts of love shown toward God.

God is just; He will not forget our love for Him or for people. He is going to judge us; therefore, we should love Him, His Word, and His people.

Thought 1. William Barclay has a very practical comment here that will challenge the hearts of those who might be cooling off toward Christ and His Word.

“There is a great practical truth here. Sometimes in the Christian life we come to times which are arid. Sometimes the Church services have nothing to say to us. Sometimes the teaching that we do in Sunday School, or the singing that we do in the choir, or the service we give on a board or court or committee becomes a labour without joy. At such a time there are two things we can do. We can give up our attendance and our work. If we do that we are lost. We can go on grimly with it, and the strange thing is that if we do, the light and the romance and the joy will certainly come back again. In the arid times, the best thing to do is to go on with the habits and the routine of the Christian life and the life of the Church. If we do, we can be sure that the sun will shine again” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.61).

Thought 2. The justice and judgment of God, the fact that He sees all and does not forget, should stir us to never fall away. The justice and judgment of God are a precaution against returning to the world and denying Christ.

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“So that a man shall say, Verily there is a reward for the righteous: verily he is a God that judgeth in the earth” (Ps.58:11).

“Also unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou renderest to every man according to his work” (Ps.62:12).

“Before the LORD: for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth” (Ps.96:13).

“I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work” (Eccl.3:17).

3 (6:11-12) Diligence—Slothful: precaution three—being diligent and not being slothful. Note two things.

1. Everyone must be diligent—every believer. And every believer must be diligent to the very end. Note the word end. There is to be an end to our hope; our hope for salvation will be fulfilled. The glorious day of redemption is coming. The way to keep from falling is to take precaution: we must be diligent in our hope for salvation and in ministering to people. In the meantime be diligent to the very end.

Note that assurance comes from diligence. If we are diligent in living for Christ, our hearts are filled with assurance. If we are not diligent, then we cannot be assured that all things will be well. Living an up and down life—sometimes living for Christ and other times not living for Christ, sometimes living in sin and sometimes living in righteousness—causes doubt, questioning, and wondering about salvation. And it should. We should fear lest we fall away from Christ and His Word. But remember: the precaution against falling away is diligence—diligently hoping in Christ to the end.

2. This precaution is straightforward: do not be slothful. Do not become sluggish. Some had already become dull, sleepy, and lazy in seeking to grow and mature in Christ. They needed to arouse themselves, and the faithful needed to guard themselves lest they begin to cool off and slip away from Christ (cp. Heb.5:11-6:3).

Thought 1. Sluggishness is always a danger for believers. The answer is diligence—staying alert and diligent. We can tell whether we are diligent or slothful by asking ourselves a few questions.

- ⇒ Do we diligently listen to the Word preached and taught or are we sluggish, allowing our minds and thoughts to wander about?
- ⇒ Do we diligently read and study God’s Word in our daily worship and devotional time or are we complacent and slothful in worshipping God on a daily basis?
- ⇒ Do we diligently pray every day—really pray—or are we complacent and neglectful in prayer?
- ⇒ Do we diligently share Christ or are we sluggish in sharing Him?
- ⇒ Are we diligent in our weekly worship of God in His church or are we sluggish and complacent in our weekly worship?

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

4 (6:12-15) Testimony—Example: precaution four—following the believers of faith and perseverance. Note that some believers have already gone on to heaven and have inherited the promises of God. They are already face to face with God and Christ. They are not dead; they are alive, more alive than when they were on earth. They are perfected, grasping and understanding what life and God and the world are all about. They now live perfectly even as God lives, and they no longer suffer pain, trials, or temptations. They have inherited the glorious world of heaven and they live and dwell in the presence of God and Christ forever. But note why:

- ⇒ because of their faith and endurance in Christ and His promises. Although they left this earth long ago, they are still living—living eternally. They are living because they had faith in Christ and in His promise of eternal life, and they patiently persevered and endured in their faith.

Now note a prime example—Abraham. God had promised Abraham a seed, a child through whom a nation of people would be born, and God had promised a land in which his people could live. (Cp. Gen.12:1-5; 13:14-17; 15:1-7; 17:1-8; 22:15-18.) All Abraham had to do was believe God. If Abraham believed God, he would follow God, persevering and hoping to the end, enduring and waiting for God to fulfill His promise. This Abraham did: he patiently endured; therefore, he received the promise of God. What were the promises and what is their meaning to believers today? (See notes—DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; note, pt.3—Jn.8:54-59; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25; note—4:13 for more discussion on the promises to Abraham and their meaning.)

- ⇒ The seed promised by God was Isaac and the Jewish people, but there was a double meaning to God’s promise. The promised seed was also a reference to Christ and the nation of believers who were to be born through Him. Abraham is the father of believers (Ro.4:11-12, 17).
- ⇒ The land promised by God was Palestine, but the spiritual application is the promised land of heaven.

The point is this: Abraham believed the promises of God; therefore, he has inherited the promise. He has seen a nation of people born as the seed of his faith, a nation of people who believe and follow God just as he did. And he has inherited the promised land of heaven. He is face to face with God.

But remember why Abraham received the promises of God. Because he patiently endured. He stands as a prime example of a believer. Therefore, we are to follow him and all other believers who trusted God and endured to the end. This is the fourth precaution to keep us from falling away from Christ: following the dynamic example of those who have gone on before us—those who believed God and persevered in their belief and have consequently received the promise of God.

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus” (Heb.3:1).

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God. For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds” (Heb.12:2-3).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps” (1 Pt.2:21).

5 (6:16-18) Promise—Assurance: precaution five—God’s promise and oath. This is a glorious truth. When men are involved in strife and they want to make peace and guarantee the peace, they do it by doing two things. They keep the peace and then they swear or take an oath that they will fulfill their promise. And note: they always swear by someone or something greater than themselves. When they make such an oath, it settles the dispute. They do what they say.

This is exactly what God has done. God has promised us the hope of salvation, the promised land of heaven. And He has done more. God took an oath that He would do exactly what He said; He would fulfill His promise to Abraham.

⇒ He would send “the seed,” the Savior of the world, through Abraham’s lineage and cause a nation of believers to be born of Abraham.

⇒ He would give the promised land of heaven to all those who believed in the promise of God as Abraham believed.

The point is this: God has both promised and sworn that He will save and give the promised land of eternal life to believers. God promised and God has sworn—two immutable and unchangeable things. God does not lie, and it is impossible for God to lie. Therefore, what God has promised He will do...

- because He has spoken His Word; He has given the promise of eternal life.
- because He has given double assurance; He has sworn and taken an oath. He will give us eternal life if we believe and endure to the end.

“God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord” (1 Cor.1:9).

“Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it” (1 Th.5:24).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:18).

“Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever” (Heb.13:8).

“Every good gift and every perfect gift if from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

“Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator” (1 Pt.4:19).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever” (Jude 24-25).

“Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations” (Dt.7:9).

“Blessed be the LORD, that hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed one word of all his good promise, which he promised by the hand of Moses his servant” (1 Ki.8:56).

“For I am the LORD, I change not” (Mal.3:6).

6 (6:18-20) Hope—Salvation—Refuge: precaution six—the refuge and anchor of hope. Man cannot live without hope. When he ceases to hope, despair about tomorrow seeps in. If he has no hope, he sees no reason for living. Hope is absolutely essential for man to live, work, and have a meaningful existence. How much more true this is of eternity. If a person has hope of living forever, he does not fear or dread to face the end of this life. He knows that he is simply being transferred from this place to another place, from earth to heaven. But if a person does not have hope of living forever, he fears and dreads death. He does not know about the future after this life. Hope is one of the greatest things in all the world. With hope we have everything; without hope we have nothing—nothing but the bleakest and most dismal and dark future imaginable.

This is the reason God has not only promised us the promised land of heaven, but He has sworn that He would fulfill His promise. He simply wants us to “have a strong consolation,” that is, to be strongly and mightily encouraged. He wants us to know beyond any question that eternal salvation and life—the glorious promised land—the very promise made to Abraham and his seed—is ours. This is the glorious hope of the believer, the person who genuinely believes in the Lord Jesus Christ. Note three things about the hope God has given us.

1. Our hope in God is a refuge for the believer. The word “refuge” (kataphuge) means shelter and protection from danger, distress, or some enemy. It is the picture of a ship caught in the most violent storm-tossed sea and desperately seeking the refuge of a haven or harbor. Believers are persons who have fled...

- from the violent storms of this world.
- from the distress of sin and shame in this world.
- from the dangerous enemy of this world (Satan).

Believers are persons who have fled to the refuge of God’s hope—His hope of the promised land of heaven. It is the promised land of God that gives us safety from all the storms, dangers, and enemies of this world. No other property and no other land—no matter how valuable on this earth—is permanent. It all ends; it all caves in to the storms and distress of economic slumps, personal accidents, disease, and eventually death. All land is eventually turned over to someone else. Therefore, to take refuge in any promised land or any other promised wealth other than the promised land of God is a very foolish act. The only true refuge is the hope of God, the eternal land of heaven promised by Him. God’s hope—hoping in God and His promise of salvation and eternal life—is a refuge for the believer, the only true and lasting refuge.

2. Our hope in God is an anchor for the believer’s soul. The word “anchor” (agkuran) refers to the anchor used by ships to hold the ship in a certain place. The anchor keeps it from floating aimlessly about and being damaged or sunk by floating upon the rocks of forbidden shores. God’s promise of an eternal land is what anchors the believer’s soul and...

- keeps it from floating aimlessly about.
- keeps it from floating upon the rocks of forbidden shores.

Note: the anchor of hope is both sure and steadfast. It cannot slip and it cannot break; it will hold the believer no matter what storms or violence are launched against it.

3. Our hope in God enters the veil. What veil? The great veil or curtain that separated God from man. This refers to the great curtain within the Jewish temple that separated the Most Holy Place from the rest of the temple. The very presence of God dwelt within the Most Holy Place and no man was allowed to enter it. Only the High Priest had that privilege, and he had it only once a year when he offered sacrifice for the sins of the people. But note two glorious facts.

- a. Jesus Christ is the great forerunner into the Most Holy Place, that is, into the very presence of God. When Jesus Christ died upon the cross, the great curtain of the Holy Place was torn from top to bottom. This actually happened, and it was a symbol of what was taking place in heaven. The death of Jesus Christ tore away the veil and curtain that separated men from God. He opened the way for man to enter the very presence of God Himself and to live there forever and ever. Jesus Christ was the great forerunner for man, the Person who ran ahead and opened up the way to God for man. The presence of God is no longer hidden or shut off from man. We can now enter God’s presence and remain there forever because of Jesus, the great forerunner.
- b. Jesus Christ is the great High Priest who has entered God’s presence for us. He is the great High Priest who intercedes before God for us. He is our great High Priest—our great Mediator and Intercessor—who stands before God and presents us to God. And He is the eternal High Priest, which means that we are acceptable to God forever and ever.

The point is this: our hope in the promised land of heaven is that which actually carries us into heaven. If we hope in Jesus Christ the great forerunner and great High Priest, then we shall follow Him into the very veil of God’s presence. Hope in Christ and the glorious promises of eternal life carries us into God’s presence. This hope is a precaution against our falling away—a precaution that we should keep our eyes open. Nothing will stir us to be faithful to Christ anymore than keeping our eyes upon the great hope He has given us in Christ Jesus, the great forerunner into God’s presence.

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“Who [Abraham] against hope believed in hope, that he might become the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken, So shall thy seed be” (Ro.4:18).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us: which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the veil” (Heb.6:18-19).

“And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:3).

DIVISION II

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

F. Jesus Christ is the Greater High Priest: The Way to God is Now Changed Forever, 7:1-24

(7:1-24) Introduction: How does a man approach God? This is the great question of the ages. Why? Because man is sinful and imperfect and God is perfect. Sin and imperfection do not honor God; they dishonor Him. Therefore, the great question of the ages is, how can we approach God? There is only one way: someone has to stand before God for man. Man has to have some person who is perfect and acceptable to God and who will represent man before God. Is there such a person—such a perfect mediator and priest? This is the purpose of the present passage: to show the inadequacy of earthly priests and the superiority of the priesthood of Jesus Christ. No earthly priest ever has been or ever will be perfect. No earthly priest has ever been able to do anything perfectly or to bring perfection to man. Jesus Christ is the only perfect and acceptable Priest who has ever lived. He alone can represent men before God. But how can this be proven? How can men be convinced that the priests of earthly religion, including the Jewish Levitical priesthood, are inadequate and unacceptable to God? How can the priesthood of Jesus Christ be shown to be superior?

There has never been a more religious people than the Jews, God's very own ancient people. Therefore, if the priesthood of Jesus Christ can be shown to be superior to the Jewish Levitical priesthood, His superiority over all earthly priests should be acknowledged. Jesus Christ has changed forever the priesthood of men; He has changed forever the way men are to approach God.

This is the purpose of the present passage, to show the superiority of the priesthood of Jesus Christ, how Jesus Christ has changed the priesthood of men forever. The priesthood of Jesus Christ is superior to the Levitical or Jewish priesthood. And in a most interesting way, this is shown by way of illustration. A story is taken from the Old Testament to illustrate the fact, a story involving Abraham and a king and priest named Melchisedec. Some enemies had attacked Abraham and his people, and Abraham had fought and won the victory. Then seemingly out of nowhere Melchisedec, the priest of God, appeared and refreshed Abraham, giving him bread and wine. In appreciation and thankfulness to God for the victory and for sending the priest to him, Abraham gave Melchisedec ten percent of all the spoils. This is the story—all there is to it. But it is full of meaning as will be seen here in chapter seven.

If time allows, it is suggested that this whole outline be preached and taught in one session to keep from losing the thought and meaning of the passage. Jesus Christ is the greater High Priest—the way to God is now changed forever.

1. The change of our approach to God is illustrated in the historical event of Melchisedec (v.1-3).
2. The change of our approach to God is seen in the superiority of Melchisedec's priesthood (v.4-10).
3. The change of our approach to God is seen in Jesus Christ (v.11-24).

1 (7:1-3) Priesthood—Melchisedec: the change of our approach to God is illustrated by the priesthood of Melchisedec. Note the historical events of Melchisedec. Four significant facts are mentioned.

1. Melchisedec was the king of Salem which was probably Jerusalem (cp. Ps.76:2).
 - ⇒ His name Melchisedec means king of righteousness.
 - ⇒ His realm of rule, Salem or Jerusalem, means king of peace.
 - ⇒ Remember: earthly Jerusalem is a type of the heavenly Jerusalem, that is, of heaven itself (Heb.11:10; Rev.21:1f).
2. Melchisedec was a priest of the most high God, of the living and true God.
3. Melchisedec was paid tithes by Abraham himself, the very first man to whom God gave His great promise. It happened when Abraham was returning from battle. Almost out of nowhere Melchisedec appeared and refreshed and blessed Abraham by giving him bread and wine and pronouncing a blessing upon him. As a result Abraham gave a tenth of his spoils to the priest in appreciation to God. The significance is this: Abraham, who was to give birth to the priesthood of God's people, paid tithes to a much greater priest, Melchisedec. Remember: Abraham was the father of Levi, the Levi who was to be the first High Priest of Israel and who was to give his name "Levi" to the Levitical priest.
4. Melchisedec was an eternal priest just like the Son of God. How can it be said that he was eternal? Because so far as men know, he had no genealogy. There was no record of his roots whatsoever, and this was most unusual. In that day and time it was important for a priest to have a record of his genealogy. If he had no record of a priestly genealogy, he could not serve as a priest. The point is this: there is no record in Scripture of Melchisedec's roots; therefore, he stands as a type of the eternal priest who was to be sent into the world by God, even the Lord Jesus Christ.

"Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually" (v.3).

As William Barclay says:

"In the old Genesis story Melchisedec is a strange and almost eerie figure. He arrives out of the blue; there is nothing about his life, his birth, his death or his descent. He simply arrives. He gives Abraham bread and wine, which to us, reading the passage in the light of what we know, sounds so sacramental. He blesses Abraham. And then he vanishes from the stage of history with the same unexplained suddenness as he arrived upon it. There is little wonder that in the mystery of this story the writer to the Hebrews found a type and forecast and symbol of Christ" (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.75).

2 (7:4-10) Priesthood—Melchisedec: the change of our approach to God is seen in the superiority of Melchisedec's priesthood. "Consider how great this man was."

1. First, why is Melchisedec a greater priest than other earthly priests (the Levitical priests)? Because Abraham paid tithes to him (v.4). Abraham gave him a tenth of the spoils he had taken in battle. Therefore, Melchisedec is greater than Abraham, which means he must be greater than the priests of Israel, for they trace their roots from Abraham.
2. Second, why is Melchisedec a greater priest than other earthly priests (the Levitical priests)? Because he had a special right to the priesthood (vs.5-6^a).

- ⇒ His priesthood was not based upon the legal priesthood of the Levites who received tithes according to the law. He was paid tithes because of his greatness, out of Abraham's heart of appreciation and thankfulness to God.
- ⇒ His priesthood was not based upon human roots and genealogy. So far as is known from Scripture, he did not come from an organized priesthood. He did not descend from earthly priests.

3. Third, why is Melchisedec a greater priest than other earthly priests (the Levitical priests)? Because he blessed Abraham. As great as Abraham was, he recognized the superiority of Melchisedec and gladly received his blessing. And without dispute, the less is blessed by the greater. Remember: the legal priesthood (the Levitical priests) was in the bosom of Abraham.

4. Fourth, why is Melchisedec a greater priest than other earthly priests (the Levitical priests)? Because as far as the record of Scripture is concerned, he was not mortal but eternal. Here on earth men who receive tithes die, but Melchisedec received tithes and it is never witnessed or recorded that he died. Therefore, he is the picture of an eternal priest, a far greater priest than any earthly priest.

5. Fifth, why is Melchisedec a greater priest than other earthly priests (the Levitical priesthood)? Because all priests also tithed to him. How could priests who were not yet born be said to have paid tithes to Melchisedec? In Biblical times a man's descendants were considered to be in his bosom. Therefore when Abraham paid tithes to Melchisedec, his great grandson Levi and all his priestly descendants were represented in Abraham. They, too, paid tithes to Melchisedec. Therefore, Melchisedec was a greater priest than the earthly priests of Levi.

Now remember why all this is being written:

- ⇒ to show that men are no longer to approach God through an earthly priesthood and priest.
- ⇒ to show that there is a greater priesthood than that of earthly priests.
- ⇒ to show that earthly religion and earthly priests are inadequate in representing man before God.
- ⇒ to show that God has provided a perfect and eternal Priest to represent man before Him.
- ⇒ to show that the imperfect priesthood of man has been changed; there is now a perfect and an eternal priesthood.

Remember also the points of the illustration of Melchisedec and Abraham. Abraham represented the earthly or Levitical priesthood of the most religious people who ever lived, the Jews. Melchisedec represented the perfect and eternal priesthood, and in representing the eternal priesthood, he pointed toward the priesthood of God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. With these basic facts in mind, we are now ready to look at how Jesus Christ has changed our approach to God—at how Jesus Christ is the perfect and eternal Priest who represents man before God.

3 (7:11-24) Jesus Christ, High Priest—Priesthood: the change of our approach to God is seen in Jesus Christ. He is the perfect and eternal High Priest. Note seven changes in the priesthood that have been wrought by God.

1. There has been a change in the way man seeks perfection, in the way man seeks to become acceptable to God (v.11). Man has always sought perfection through religion. Man has always sought God through religion, sought to become acceptable to God through religion. Man has used religion to become good enough and perfect enough for God to accept him. And within religion three things have been developed to help man in his search for fellowship with God.

- ⇒ First, there is the law. So long as a person keeps the law, he is thought to be acceptable to God. But if he breaks the law, he is unacceptable to God. And it is this that is the problem, for the thinking and honest man knows that no person can perfectly keep the law. Therefore no person can ever be acceptable to God—not perfectly, not permanently, not forever.
- ⇒ Second, there is the sacrifice for sins. When a person sins, he is guilty; therefore, some sacrifice has to be made for his sins. There has to be a substitute who will bear the person's sins and the guilt for them. There has to be a substitute who will pay the penalty for the person's sins.
- ⇒ Third, there is the priesthood. There has to be some person who will teach the law and demand obedience to it, and then when man fails, who will offer sacrifice to God for man. There has to be a priest who is acceptable to God and who can stand as a Mediator between God and man. There has to be a priest who can make God accept sinful man.

Now, note verse 11. It says clearly that the earthly or Levitical priesthood could not bring perfection to man. The earthly priests who arose from Aaron just could not make man perfect. If they could have, then there would not have been the need for a priest who was perfect and eternal to arise from the priesthood of Melchisedec. Remember: Melchisedec is a priest of the perfect and eternal priesthood, and God promised to send a priest after the order of Melchisedec—a perfect and eternal priest (Heb.6:20). If an earthly priest could make man perfect before God, there would never have been a need for God to make that promise. But there is a need; no matter how often we seek God through earthly priests and ministers, they do not make us perfect. Man desperately needs a perfect and eternal priest. This is the reason God promised the perfect and eternal priesthood of Jesus Christ.

2. There has been a change in the law, and note: the change is said to be an absolute necessity (v.12). Why? Because the whole ministry of the priesthood has to be changed. That is, the law itself in all its ministry and sacrificial system has to be changed. Why? Because the law cannot make man perfect. No matter how much man tries to keep the law, he fails. And no matter how many sacrifices the priest makes for man, they fail to make man perfect. Why? Because both the priest and the sacrifice are imperfect and mortal. Therefore, everything the priest does is imperfect and mortal. He, an imperfect and mortal priest, handles imperfect and mortal sacrifices. Therefore, his whole ministry is imperfect and mortal. His ministry leaves man imperfect and mortal. He does not make man perfect and eternal; he does not make man acceptable to God. Therefore, there has to be a change in the law, in the way man seeks perfection. There has to be change in the law and legal system of the priesthood. Again, this is the reason God promised a priest forever in the Lord Jesus Christ, a priesthood after the order of the perfect and eternal priesthood of Melchisedec.

3. There has been a change in the origin of the priesthood (v.13-14). By law the earthly priests had to come from the tribe and roots of Levi. But Jesus Christ, the Person of whom these things are being said, did not come from Levi. He came from the tribe of Juda, and no priest ever came from Juda. Therefore, the priesthood of Jesus Christ belongs to a different order entirely. It does not belong to a human or earthly origin. Jesus Christ is a perfect and eternal priest after the order of Melchisedec.

4. There has been a change in the very qualifications of the priesthood (v.15-17). Men became priests because they met the qualifications of carnal or earthly laws and rules. They were appointed because they met the legal requirements of the law. But not Christ. He was appointed to be the great High Priest because of His endless life. His “life and immortality which He had in himself were his right and title to the priesthood” (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.919).

The law knew that men were frail and weak, corruptible and dying; hence, even the priests chosen to represent men before God were frail, weak, corruptible, and dying. Therefore, the law laid it down that the priesthood should pass on to the oldest sons. But note: not a single priest—not even all the priests of every generation combined—could give life to a single person. But this is not true with the Lord Jesus Christ. He is a High Priest because of His endless life. He is perfect and eternal; He has an endless life—the very perfection for which men seek. Therefore, He is qualified to be the Supreme High Priest for man.

5. There has been a change in the way man draws near to God (v.18-19). Note that the law has been disannulled and cancelled. Why? As shown above in point one, man has always sought to draw near God by law, that is, by being as good as he could and by keeping enough laws to become acceptable to God. But the law is weak and unprofitable because man is weak and sinful. He does not and cannot keep the law; therefore, the law cannot make him perfect and acceptable to God. In fact all the law can do is show man that he is sinful. Every time man looks at the law and is honest, all he sees is that he comes short and is sinful. Therefore, men cannot approach and become acceptable to God by law. If man is to ever become acceptable to God, it has to be by some way other than law. This is the reason the law has been disannulled and cancelled.

But note: If we cannot become acceptable to God by keeping the law and by being as good as we can, how then can we be saved? Is there any way to become acceptable to God? YES—a thousand times YES! God has brought a better hope for man, and it is by this hope that we draw near God. What is that hope? It is the hope for the perfect and eternal High Priest...

- for the High Priest who can offer the perfect and eternal sacrifice for our sins.
- for the High Priest who can present us to God and cause God to accept us.

That High Priest, of course, is Jesus Christ. He is the perfect and eternal priest who is after the order of Melchisedec.

6. There has been a change in the guarantee and covenant of the priesthood. God’s Word is enough. If God had just spoken the Word of promise—if He had just promised to send the perfect and eternal High Priest to men—that would have been enough. But God did more. He swore that He would fulfill His promise. This is very significant. It means that the priesthood of the Lord Jesus Christ shall be exactly as God said it would be. The priesthood of Jesus Christ is doubly sure, for God both promised the perfect and eternal priest and then swore that he would send Him into the world. Note the word repent or change. God will never change His mind: Jesus Christ shall remain High Priest forever (cp. Ps.110:4; Heb.3:1). God has sworn that He will be a priest after the order of Melchisedec.

Note one other fact: this means that Jesus Christ is the surety of a better testament or covenant. The old covenant was the law, and as has been seen above, the law never could make man perfect. But now God has given a better covenant to man, the new covenant that is based upon the love and sacrificial death of Jesus Christ. Under the old covenant, men did all they could to approach God by law, being as good as they could. But now, under the new covenant, men approach God through the love and the perfect sacrifice of Jesus Christ for them. When a person accepts the death of Jesus Christ as the sacrifice for his sins, God accepts the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for the man’s sin. God takes the person’s acceptance of Christ—the person’s faith in the sacrifice of Christ—and counts him as having already died in Christ. God counts the man as being free of sin. This is the love of God, the love of the new covenant.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

Note this fact: the new covenant is guaranteed. God will accept any person who truly accepts the sacrifice of Christ as his own sacrifice. God will forgive his sins because he believes—casts himself—upon the sacrifice of Christ. Jesus Christ was made the surety, the guarantee of a better covenant. What more could man ask of God?

7. There had to be a change in the number of priests. Very simply, every priest among men died. The priesthood was always changing. And most tragic of all: the fact that they died meant that they could not give life to men. They did not know how to keep men from dying, not even themselves. They did not know how to change the dying process. They could not make men perfect and acceptable to God—could not deliver men into a perfect and eternal state before God. But note what Scripture declares:

“But this man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood” (v.24).

Jesus Christ lives forever; He has an endless life (v.16). He is the perfect and eternal priest, the endless priest who lives forever. Therefore, He can carry men before God forever. His priesthood never changes; He is the unchangeable Priest who can represent men before God throughout all eternity. He makes men acceptable to God forever and ever.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Seeing then that we have a great High Priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an High Priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:14-15).

“Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an High Priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:20).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an High Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an High Priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an High Priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19-22).

THE SUPREME HIGH PRIEST: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 4:14-7:28

G. Christ is the Perfect High Priest: A Complete Salvation, 7:25-28

(7:25-28) Introduction: Jesus Christ can save man—completely and perfectly. Jesus Christ can give man a complete and perfect salvation. How? This is the subject of this passage: Christ the perfect High Priest—a complete salvation.

1. The High Priest with a perfect power (v.25).
2. The High Priest with a perfect life (v.26).
3. The High Priest with a perfect sacrifice (v.27).
4. The High Priest with a perfect appointment (v.28).

1 (7:25) Jesus Christ, High Priest—Salvation: Jesus Christ is the High Priest with a perfect power. This is one of the great verses of Scripture. Note the power of what it is proclaiming:

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (v.25).

Four significant things about Jesus Christ are being said.

1. Jesus Christ lives forever in the presence of God. Note how this glorious truth is proclaimed time and time again in this chapter alone.

- ⇒ He has an “endless life” (v.16).
- ⇒ He “continues forever” (v.24).
- ⇒ He “has an unchangeable priesthood” (v.24).
- ⇒ He “ever lives”—lives forever and ever (v.25).
- ⇒ He is “consecrated for evermore” (v.28).

2. Jesus Christ lives to make intercession for man. This is the picture of Jesus Christ as High Priest before God. But note: it does not mean what is so often pictured—that Jesus Christ has to beg and plead with outstretched arms for God to receive man. God the Father loves man with a perfect love, which means that God will save man. But God is also just, perfectly righteous and just. Therefore, God has to judge and punish sin just as much as He has to save man. How could God do both? There was only one way:

- ⇒ God had to send His own Son to earth to die for man. God had to give His own Son to bear the guilt and punishment of sin for man. God had to send His own Son to bear the justice and judgment of God against sin.

Therefore, in Jesus Christ we see both the perfect love and justice of God. We see God's love in that He was willing and determined to send His Son to die for man. And we see God's justice in that He was willing to cast the wrath of His justice against His own Son when God took the sins of men upon Himself.

The point is this: Jesus Christ has lived upon earth as the perfect God-Man. Therefore, He stands forever before God as man's representative and man's intercessor. This is His very purpose for living before God: to make intercession for man, to offer up His own sacrifice for sins in behalf of man.

3. Jesus Christ is able to save all persons to the uttermost. What does it mean to be saved to the uttermost (panteles)? It means to be saved “completely, perfectly, finally and for all time and eternity” (Amplified New Testament). It means that Jesus Christ presents us to God as perfect. He presents us in His righteousness as perfected forever. Therefore in Christ—because He makes intercession for us and because He stands before God as the perfect and eternal sacrifice for our sins—we become acceptable to God. But it means much more. In outline form, when Jesus Christ saves us to the uttermost it means...

- that He saves us from sin, death and condemnation (Jn.5:24; Ro.8:34).
- that He saves us to live with God eternally (Jn.3:16; Ro.8:39).
- that He saves us to be the citizens of the new heaven and earth (2 Pt.3:10-13; Rev.21:1f).
- that He saves us to rule and reign over the universe right along with Him throughout all of eternity (Lk.12:42-44; 22:28-29; 1 Cor.6:2-3).

4. Jesus Christ saves only those who come to God by Him. Note: we are to come to God. We are not to curse God, deny God, neglect God, ignore God, rebel against God, or reject God. We are to come to God, but we are to come to God by Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ alone can make intercession for man. Only the Son of God Himself stands before God as the perfect and eternal High Priest. Only He can save man to the uttermost. Therefore, a person must come to God through Him and Him alone.

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance....For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these” (Heb.9:15, 24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel” (Heb.12:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

2 (7:26) Jesus Christ, Sinless: Jesus Christ is the High Priest with a perfect life. Straightforward and without equivocation—here is the kind of High Priest we need; here is Jesus.

1. Jesus Christ is “holy” (hosios): to be set apart and separated to God; to be separated from sin and from all evil, and from immoral, wicked, and lawless behavior. Jesus Christ is perfectly and eternally set apart from sin and free from all immoral and lawless behavior. Jesus Christ is absolutely holy.

2. Jesus Christ is “harmless” (akakos): blameless, not evil, free from all guile, deception, envy, and malice against anyone. William Barclay says that “Jesus never hurt any man” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.89). We might say that Jesus Christ was so good that there was nothing but good in Him. There was nothing but the goodness and love of God in Him, and that was all that He ever shared with man. Jesus Christ is absolutely harmless and blameless.

3. Jesus Christ is “undefiled” (amiantos): unstained by sin; absolutely free from all moral impurity, uncleanness, and defilement. Jesus Christ was completely free from anything that would keep Him from approaching God. He is absolutely undefiled.

4. Jesus Christ is “separate from sinners”: that is, He is totally different from sinners. He never sinned; He never gave in to sin. He was tempted just as all men are, but He never yielded to temptation—not to a single one. Therefore, He stands apart, completely separated and different from all other men. Jesus Christ is the Perfect and Ideal Man. Jesus Christ is absolutely separate from sinners.

“And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth” (Is.53:9).

“And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this man hath done nothing amiss” (Lk.23:41).

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:9).

“For such a High Priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

5. Jesus Christ is “made higher than the heavens.” This means several things.

⇒ Jesus Christ alone was raised from the dead never to die again. Other people had been raised from the dead, but they all were to die again. But not Jesus Christ. He alone was raised never to die again.

⇒ Jesus Christ alone was taken up into heaven in bodily form. He ascended in bodily form to remain forever in the presence of God.

⇒ Jesus Christ alone was exalted to the right hand of God; He was exalted to never leave the position of sovereignty as the Supreme and Majestic Lord of the universe.

“So then, after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:9).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and power being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“Which he wrought in Christ when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

Jesus Christ is “made higher than the heavens” in a perfect and absolute sense. He sits as the Perfect High Priest before the throne of God forever and ever.

3 (7:27) Jesus Christ, High Priest—Death: Jesus Christ is the High Priest with a perfect sacrifice. The High Priest among men had one major function: to make sacrifice for the sins of the people. Actually the High Priest himself did this only once a year. The regular priests made sacrifice for sins on a daily basis when people came to make confession. The one day of the year when the High Priest made sacrifice was a very special day known as the Day of Atonement. It was special because it was the day when the High Priest took the blood of the sacrificial lamb into the Most Holy Place and sprinkled it upon the mercy seat of the Ark of the Covenant. This was the only time man could enter the Most Holy Place, for it was the place where the very presence of God dwelt. Imagine being able to enter the presence of God only one day a year. And then only the High Priest himself could approach God.

The point to note is this: the High Priest was a mere man who was imperfect and sinful just like all other men. Therefore, he had to offer up a sacrifice for himself before he could ever offer sacrifice for the people. Barclay describes the scene well:

“Now the very first item on the ritual of that day was a sacrifice for the sins of the High Priest himself. He washed his hands and his feet; he put off his gorgeous robes; he clothed himself in spotless white linen. There was brought to him a bullock which he had purchased with his own money. He laid both hands on the bullock’s head to transfer his sin to it; and thus he made confession: ‘Ah, Lord God, I have committed iniquity; I have transgressed; I have sinned, I and my house. O Lord, I beseech Thee, cover over the sins and transgressions which I have committed, transgressed and sinned before Thee, I and my house.’ The greatest of all the Levitical sacrifices began with a sacrifice for the sin of the High Priest himself” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.91).

But note: Jesus Christ is the High Priest with the perfect sacrifice. As the former verse shows, Jesus Christ was sinless and perfect. Therefore, when He sacrificed His life for the sins of men, it was a perfect sacrifice. Being perfect, it never has to be done again. His sacrifice had to be done only once—all because He is the perfect High Priest.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:26).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

4 (7:28) Jesus Christ, High Priest: Jesus Christ is the High Priest with a perfect appointment. Men—mere men—are appointed to be priests by the law. The law can appoint no one else but men with infirmities and weaknesses—men who are imperfect, frail, sinful, and dying. But the glorious message of this passage offers eternal hope for man. Why? Because God has given us two wonderful things: God has given His Word that He will give us a perfect and eternal High Priest to save us, and God has sworn that He will fulfill His Word. God has assured us with a double surety. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, is consecrated forever more. The word “consecrated” (teteleiomenon) means perfected. Jesus Christ is the perfected and eternal High Priest promised and sworn by God to save man. What greater salvation and surety could we ask than to have God send His own Son to perfect us and to give us eternal life and the glorious privilege of living forever with Him—the glorious privilege of ruling and reigning with Him throughout all of eternity.

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“For the law maketh men high priests which have infirmity; but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore” (Heb.7:28).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

A. Christ is the Exalted High Priest: A Heavenly, Spiritual Ministry, 8:1-5

(8:1-5) Introduction: note the words of verse one, "This is the sum." The word "sum" means chief point, major thrust, and principle thought. The writer is about to give the major thrust and principle thought of the High Priesthood of the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the great High Priest; He is the One who stands between God and man, the only Person who can make man acceptable to God. What is the major thrust and principle thought of His High Priesthood? It is ministry. Jesus Christ is the great Minister of God, the One who ministers both in heaven and upon earth for man. Both places are significant. Jesus Christ is the great Minister, the Supreme Minister who ministers day and night for man in both heaven and earth.

Now, for the critical question: What is the great ministry of Jesus Christ? What is it that He does for us?

1. Jesus Christ is the Minister of a heavenly, spiritual priesthood, v.1-5.
2. He is the exalted High Priest: at the right hand of God's throne (v.1).
3. He is the exalted Minister: of the true tabernacle (v.2).
4. He is the exalted minister who offers the gifts and sacrifices of men to God (v.3).
5. He is the exalted minister of the real, heavenly world (v.4-5).

1 (8:1) Jesus Christ, Minister—High Priesthood: Jesus Christ is the perfect High Priest, the Minister of a heavenly, spiritual priesthood. There are qualifications for being a priest on earth; a man has to meet certain conditions in order to serve as an earthly priest. So it is in heaven and for God. If someone is going to stand before God for man, that someone has to meet certain conditions. The heavenly High Priest has to have certain qualifications. Note how the Lord Jesus Christ meets every one of these requirements.

- ⇒ He has to be perfect, completely faithful and true to God (Heb.2:17; 3:1-2; 5:8-9; 7:11; 7:19).
- ⇒ He has to be merciful and become the sacrifice for man's sins—become the sacrificial Lamb of God for man (Heb.2:17; 8:27).
- ⇒ He has to live as a man and undergo all the trials and temptations of men and conquer them all without ever sinning. He has to be sinless (Heb.2:18; 4:14-15; 7:26).
- ⇒ He has to succor, actually feel, man's infirmities and have compassion for man. He has to show mercy and help man when he needs help (Heb.2:18; 4:15-16).
- ⇒ He has to be appointed and ordained by God to be the High Priest in heaven (Heb.5:5-6; 7:28).
- ⇒ He has to become the perfect author of eternal salvation (Heb.5:9).
- ⇒ He has to be the priest who is after the order of Melchisedec and not after the order of earthly priests (Heb.5:6, 10; 6:20; 7:11; 7:21).
- ⇒ He has to be the forerunner into heaven (Heb.6:20).
- ⇒ He has to be eternal, that is, have an "endless life" (Heb.7:16; 7:17; cp. 7:3; 7:24; 7:28).
- ⇒ He has to live forever to make intercession for those who come to God by Him (Heb.7:25).
- ⇒ He has to be exalted to the right hand of God—exalted higher than the heavens (Heb.7:26; 8:1).

When someone meets all of the above requirements, that someone is qualified to be the High Priest in heaven. WITHOUT QUESTION...

JESUS CHRIST MEETS ALL THE QUALIFICATIONS TO BE THE PERFECT HIGH PRIEST OF HEAVEN.

Jesus Christ is the Minister of the heavenly spiritual priesthood. No one else is qualified—no one has ever been or ever will be qualified except Him. Now again, note the words, "this is the sum"—this is the chief point, the major emphasis of all that has been said.

2 (8:1) Jesus Christ, Exaltation—High Priesthood—Minister: Jesus Christ is the exalted High Priest; He sits on the right hand of the Majesty in the heavens. There He sits with the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, with God Himself, ruling and reigning with all authority and power both in heaven and earth. There He sits in all the glory and honor, dominion and power of God Himself.

“So then, after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“Which he wrought in Christ when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“Which in his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords” (1 Tim.6:15).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:9).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and power being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

3 (8:2) Jesus Christ, Minister—Sanctuary, Heavenly—Tabernacle, Heavenly: Jesus Christ is the exalted Minister of God, the Minister of the sanctuary of heaven. He is the exalted High Priest in heaven, but that is not all that He is. He is also the exalted Minister of the sanctuary. He is not in heaven just to rule as Lord and to receive the honor and worship of subjects throughout the universe. He is not there ruling and reigning from a far distance, a Lord who can never be known or reached by His people. It is true that Jesus Christ is in heaven to reign in majesty and glory, but He is also in heaven to be the Minister of heaven, to be the Minister of the true sanctuary and tabernacle or place of worship. He is there...

- to receive us as we come to God.
- to hear our cries for mercy and grace to help in times of need.
- to save us to the uttermost.
- to represent us as the sacrificial offering for our sins.
- to deliver us from all the trials and temptations of this corruptible and dying world.
- to minister the Word of God to our hearts.

Jesus Christ is not in heaven selfishly enjoying the wonder and glory of its sanctuary; He is not in heaven selfishly soaking up all its glory for Himself. Jesus Christ is in heaven ministering—looking after and reaching out to people...

- He is listening and hearing the cries of people and ministering to their needs. In fact, He is ministering to every need that God’s people have.
- He is receiving the worship and praise of people and offering their names up to God.

Jesus Christ is actively ministering and looking after the true sanctuary and the true tabernacle, the real place where men are to worship, that is, heaven itself. (Note: the true sanctuary and tabernacle means that part of heaven where God sits upon His throne, where the very presence of God is. It is the very place where men are to offer their worship and praise to God. It is the place where Christ ministers as the High Priest before God.)

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an High Priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

4 (8:3) Jesus Christ, Minister: Jesus Christ is the exalted Minister who offers the gifts and sacrifices of men to God. This is what is meant by this verse. The very purpose for High Priests was to offer gifts and sacrifices on behalf of men. High Priests were appointed; the very reason for their existence was to offer these gifts and sacrifices so that God would accept men. By making such offerings it was felt that God would be pleased, and He would approve men for heaven.

The point is this: Jesus Christ is now the High Priest, the One who is to offer the gifts and sacrifices of men to God. But note: as seen in earlier passages, only perfect gifts and offerings are acceptable to God. And no man has a perfect gift and sacrifice to offer to God. What then can be done? If Jesus Christ is our great High Priest, He has to have something to offer for us. As this verse says, “It is of necessity that this man have something also to offer.” But what could He offer?

There was only one thing: He had to offer Himself, for He is the only gift and sacrifice in the world that is perfect. Therefore, Christ offered Himself as the perfect gift and sacrifice to God. And He did it for us. This is the critical point: Jesus Christ offered Himself as the gift and sacrifice for us. He gave Himself for man—gave Himself as man's gift and sacrifice to God. What an unbelievable thing to do! But Jesus Christ did it.

⇒ He Himself actually became our gift and sacrifice to God.

⇒ He actually offered Himself as our gift and sacrifice to God.

Jesus Christ is the exalted Minister who offers the gifts and sacrifices of men to God.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself. And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: so Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:26-28).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

5 (8:4-5) Jesus Christ, Minister—Heaven—Tabernacle, Earthly: Jesus Christ is the exalted Minister of the real, heavenly world. This is the meaning of these two verses. Verse four simply says that if Christ were a priest on earth, He would not be a priest at all. He simply was not born of the priestly tribe of men, the Levite tribe. And no man could serve as priest unless he was born into the priestly family.

This, of course, means something of critical importance: Jesus Christ is not the minister of the shadow of heavenly things, of earthly gifts and sanctuaries and tabernacles—all are but shadows of heavenly things. Jesus Christ is the Minister of heaven, of the real world, of the real sanctuary and tabernacle of God. The word “example” (hupodeigmati) means copy, shadow, shadowy outline, a reflection. The things of religion and worship upon earth are only examples and shadows, copies and sketches, shadowy outlines and reflections of heavenly worship.

Note: there is a real world, a heavenly world, and there is a tabernacle, a throne room in which the glorious presence of God dwells. It was the pattern from which Moses made the earthly tabernacle (cp. Ex.25:40). God had shown Moses the real pattern of heavenly worship and told him to make a copy of it upon earth. That is what the tabernacle was that was carried around by Israel in the wilderness wanderings.

The point is this: earthly priests can only give us the shadow and picture of heaven. But Jesus Christ is the Priest and Minister of the heavenly worship, of the real world. Therefore, He is the One who can lead men into heaven, into the world that is real and perfect and that has no end. He is the One who can lead us into the very presence of God.

“But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal” (Mt.6:20).

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:2).

“But he, being full of the Holy Ghost, looked up stedfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God, and said, Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God” (Acts 7:55-56).

“It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these” (Heb.9:23).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible” (Heb.11:27).

“After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands” (Rev.7:9).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

B. Christ is the Minister of a New and Superior Covenant, 8:6-13

(8:6-13) Introduction—Covenant: this begins one of the great subjects of the Bible, the new covenant of God. A covenant is an agreement between two parties. But note a significant fact: the new covenant of God is the covenant of God, not of man. Man has absolutely nothing to do with the terms of this covenant. It is a covenant between God and man, but the terms are set exclusively by God. In life there are two kinds of covenants.

- ⇒ There is a covenant where both parties set the terms and agree to them.
- ⇒ There is a covenant where one party sets the terms, but both parties agree to them. This kind of covenant is usually called a will or testament.

The covenant of God is the latter covenant, a covenant of God's will and testament. God sets the terms and conditions, and man accepts the covenant or else rejects it. It is comparable to the last will and testament of any man. The recipients cannot change the terms of the will; they can only receive or reject the inheritance. Both points are significant for man.

- ⇒ God has made a covenant with man, but He and He alone dictates the terms. God has made a covenant, a last will and testament giving man a glorious inheritance, but man has no say in the terms of the contract or covenant. He cannot argue with, refute, or try to negotiate the terms. The covenant stands as God has given it.
- ⇒ Man either accepts or rejects the terms of the covenant, the will and testament of God. The only way he can ever receive the inheritance of God is to accept the terms of the covenant exactly as they are laid out by God.

Now, to the point of the present passage. The new covenant of God has now been established with man. It has been established and given to man by the Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the Minister of the new covenant, and it is far, far superior to the old covenant.

1. It is founded by a perfect Mediator (v.6).
2. It is founded on better promises (v.6).
3. It eliminates the weaknesses of the first covenant (v.7-9).
4. It is an inward power—a spiritual power (v.10-12).
5. It makes the first covenant obsolete (v.13).

1 (8:6) Mediator—New Covenant: the new covenant is founded by a perfect Mediator. The word “mediator” (mesites) means someone who stands between two parties and brings them together. The mediator is a negotiator, a middle person, an arbitrator, a go-between. This is Jesus Christ, but there is one distinct and unique difference between Jesus Christ and human mediators. Jesus Christ is the Perfect Mediator. He is the Mediator chosen by God Himself to stand between God and man. Jesus Christ was chosen to be the Mediator because He is perfect. He presents the terms of the covenant perfectly. He does not lie, deceive, twist, change, add to, take away from, or misrepresent the terms of God's covenant. He spells out and proclaims the truth of the terms clearly and perfectly.

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel” (Heb.12:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

2 (8:6) Covenant, New: the new covenant is founded on better promises. Note: the new covenant itself is a better covenant than the old covenant because of the better promises. What is the old covenant? It is the covenant of the law. God promised that He would accept, bless, and fellowship with man if man would keep the law. Man accepted the conditions and vowed to obey the terms of God’s covenant or the law (Ex.24:1-8; cp. Jer.7:23). But man discovered a terrible fact: the law was not full and complete enough. It did not go far enough in meeting his need. Man discovered four terrible weaknesses.

- ⇒ The law laid it down that God was holy and that He expected His people to live holy lives. But the law did not give the inner power and strength to obey God.
- ⇒ The law laid it down that man could become acceptable to God. But the law did not provide the power and energy to become acceptable nor to inherit eternal life.
- ⇒ The law laid it down that God was the Sovereign and Majestic ruler of the universe, the great Law-Giver. But the law said nothing about a personal knowledge and fellowship with God.
- ⇒ The law laid it down that God was strict and stern, just and holy. But the law said nothing about God’s love and mercy nor about His forgiveness.

This is where the new covenant is better than the old covenant. The new covenant is founded on much better promises. Every one of these shortcomings of the old covenant are met in the promises of the new covenant. In the new covenant, a person finds the glorious promise...

- of power and strength in the inner man (v.10).
- of God’s personal acceptance which means life eternal (v.10).
- of a personal knowledge and fellowship with God (v.11).
- of God’s love and mercy and of His forgiveness (v.12).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these” (Heb.9:23).

3 (8:7-9) Covenant, New: the new covenant eliminates the weaknesses of the first covenant. Note that from this point on, God is speaking. God is the spokesman pointing out the weaknesses of the first covenant (cp. Is.61:8; Jer.31:31-34). The weaknesses of the first covenant are pointed out in the previous note (see note, Covenant, New—Heb.8:6). Thomas Hewitt summarizes it well:

“It [the old covenant] could reveal sin but not remove it, and being defective it could not save or justify guilty sinners. It failed to meet the deepest needs of sinful man...sin had made it ineffective. The real cause of the covenant’s weakness was man’s sinfulness; therefore God finds fault with them” (The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.136).

The point is this: if the first covenant had been faultless, there would have been no need for a new covenant. But man, symbolized in Israel, did not keep the old covenant. Two things happened:

- ⇒ Man failed to keep the covenant or law.
- ⇒ The law was not able to infuse the power to keep the commandments.

Therefore, God had to do something or else man would be lost eternally. This is the glorious gospel—the wonderful news of the new covenant. God did something. Note the words: “I will make a new covenant” (v.8). And note: the new covenant differs entirely from the old covenant made with Israel when God led them out of Egyptian slavery under Moses.

Thought 1. God has given us a glorious promise and hope in the new covenant as will be seen in the next point. But we must always remember: God rejected Israel because they did not keep the old covenant. This certainly means that He will reject us if we do not keep the greater covenant, the covenant that focuses in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law” (Ro.3:28).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

4 (8:10-12) Covenant, New: the new covenant is an inward power, a spiritual power within the inner man. The new covenant gives man four wonderful powers.

1. The power of a new mind and heart (v.10). The new covenant through its mediator, the Lord Jesus Christ...
 - renews a man's mind.
 - renews a man's heart.

This is, of course, a reference to the new birth. When a person approaches God through the new covenant (the Lord Jesus Christ)—when he accepts the terms of the new covenant (belief)—God does a most wonderful thing.

- ⇒ God renews the person's mind and puts His laws into the person's mind.
- ⇒ God renews the person's heart and writes His laws upon the person's heart.

This means two wonderful things.

- a. A new heart and mind means that we will be accepted by God and given eternal life. It means that what we have longed for will come true: we shall be delivered from the sin, corruption, and death of this world and from the guilt, judgment, and condemnation of God in the next world. The old covenant or law condemned the heart and stirred the mind to think of failure and of condemnation and judgment. The new covenant frees the heart and stirs assurance and confidence in the mind of the true believer—absolute security.
- b. A new mind and heart means that we have the desire and power to follow and obey God. It means that we have a desire—an earnest desire—to obey God and keep His laws. A new heart and mind stirs us to love God because He has renewed us, and our love stirs us to seek His face continually. Even when we fail and come short—which we all do ever too often—our hearts are stirred to seek forgiveness and to repent and to begin anew to follow and obey Him. This is the difference between the old and new covenant. The old covenant or law condemned us and had no power to stir and energize us. But the new covenant, Christ within us, does have the power to forgive and stir us to arise and follow God anew and afresh.

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day” (2 Cor.4:16).

“Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace” (Eph.2:15).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

2. The power of fellowship and communion with God (v.10). Remember this is God speaking, and He definitely says, “I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people.” This means that we are accepted by God. This means...

- that we can commune and fellowship with God.
- that we can pray and share with God.
- that we can call upon God when we need mercy and grace to help in time of need.
- that we can have God's care and provision and protection.
- that we can have God's delivering power over temptation and trials.

All of this and more, so much more—all because of the new covenant brought to us by Jesus Christ. The new covenant is the power of fellowship and communion with God through the Lord Jesus Christ, who is the Mediator of the great covenant of God (v.8).

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

3. The power to know God personally and to have open access into His presence (v.11). There is no longer any need for human priests or mediators—no need for others to stand between God and man to say, “Know the Lord.” Why? Because every man can now stand before God himself. Every person can now know God as though face to face. Every person can now approach God. How? By the new covenant—through the Mediator of the new covenant, through the Lord Jesus Christ (v.6).

This also means that the privilege to know God is now open to all races and nations of people. The new covenant is universal: “All shall know me, from the least to the greatest” (v.11). The rich and poor, black and white, red and yellow, leader and follower, believer and unbeliever, religious and non-religious, male and female, slave and free, child and adult—no matter who they are or where they are—all can now know God and know Him face to face. There is no longer any priest among men who stands between God and man. There is only Jesus Christ, the Mediator of the new and better covenant. When a person comes to God through Christ, he is accepted by God and given the glorious privileges of knowing God face to face.

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:24).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

4. The power of forgiveness of sins (v.12). Note four wonderful facts.
 - a. The word for suggests that forgiveness of sins is the basis for all the other promises (Thomas Hewitt. The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.138).
 - b. The forgiveness of sins is based upon the mercy of God. We are not forgiven because of works or law. God does not accept us and forgive our sins because we do the best we can and try to be good. He forgives us because Jesus Christ died for our sins—because Jesus Christ has already paid the penalty for our sins—and we ask God to forgive us through the sacrifice of Christ. And when we ask, God forgives us.
 - c. The forgiveness of sins means that God remembers our sins no more. We may remember, but God forgets. He casts them completely out of His mind and memory, and never even thinks of them again. They never come back into His memory—are not even allowed to seep back into His thoughts. What a glorious salvation from sins—complete and total forgiveness of sins—all through the sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins” (Acts 13:38).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy transgressions, and, as a cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee” (Is.44:22).

5 (8:13) Covenant, New: the new covenant makes the first covenant old. God has given a new covenant; therefore, this means that the first covenant is old; that is, it is obsolete and no longer of use. “And what is obsolete—out of use and annulled because of age—is ripe for disappearance and to be dispensed with altogether” (Amplified New Testament).

Very simply, the old covenant of the law has been set aside; now we are to follow after the new covenant. But we must always remember this: the new covenant is bound up in Jesus Christ. And Jesus Christ never destroyed the law; He fulfilled the law. That is, Jesus Christ embodies the law. He embodies the love and grace of God, yes, but He embodies the law of God as well. We no longer look to the law nor follow the law. We look to Jesus Christ and follow Him. But in following Him, we follow the righteousness and holiness of God as well as the love and grace of God. We follow the law of God’s nature as well as the love of God’s nature.

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances” (Eph.2:15).

“And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses; blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross” (Col.2:13-14).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

C. Christ is the Minister of the Greater and More Perfect Tabernacle or Sanctuary, 9:1-14

(9:1-14) Introduction: How can a person become acceptable to God? How can a person gain access to God, fellowship and commune with Him? How can a person come to know God in a real and personal way—so personal that the person can know that God is looking after and caring for him? How can a person gain and maintain a relationship with God? This is the concern of the writer of Hebrews. He has already shown how men try to approach God...

- through prophets (Heb.1:1-3).
- through angels (Heb.1:4-14).
- through great leaders who are great men of God (Heb.3:1-6).
- through priests (Heb.4:14-8:5).
- through covenants and law or by trying to be as good as they can (Heb.8:1-13).

But as has been seen, every one of these approaches to God are inadequate. They are imperfect and incomplete. They may tell us some things about God; they may help us to understand God to some degree, but they do not give us the full story nor reveal the whole nature of God. They are only shadows and faint copies of the truth. They show us only a part of the truth about God. They do not reveal God to us, nor do they make us acceptable to God or give us fellowship with God.

The present passage deals with the same subject: How do men try to approach and worship God? Another way is through earthly sanctuaries or houses of worship. In the Old Testament—under the first covenant with God—the Jews or children of Israel built a tabernacle, that is, a tent. The tent or tabernacle was the place where they sought to worship and become acceptable to God. But as shall be seen, this approach to God was as inadequate as all the other approaches. Earthly sanctuaries and earthly worship cannot bring us near God—earthly sanctuaries and earthly worship cannot make us acceptable to God. Only Jesus Christ can bring us near and make us acceptable to God. This is the point of this passage: to show that Jesus Christ is the greater and more perfect Minister of the tabernacle. He is the only Minister who brings us to God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—4—Heb.9:11-14 for a picture and discussion of the tabernacle. It is placed as the last note of this outline because of its length.)

1. The earthly sanctuary or tabernacle: was for divine worship, but it was only an earthly sanctuary (v.1-10).
2. The heavenly sanctuary or tabernacle (v.11-14).

1 (9:1-10) Tabernacle—Worship—Sanctuaries: the earthly sanctuary or tabernacle (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Heb.9:11-14 for a picture and discussion of the tabernacle). The earthly sanctuary was for the worship of God, but it was only an earthly sanctuary. It was totally inadequate in reaching God and in making a person acceptable to God. This is clear when we look at the layout and worship of the earthly tabernacle. (See drawing of the tabernacle, p.97 for a better grasp of its layout and furnishings.)

1. First, there was the first or outer sanctuary which was the Holy Place (v.2). It was 30 feet long, 15 feet wide, and 15 feet high. Three pieces of furnishings were in the Holy Place; two are mentioned here.

- a. There was the candlestick or lampstand which had seven lamps or flames. The candlestick gave light to the room, for there were no windows in this outer sanctuary.
- b. There was the table of the showbread. It was a small table, only 3 feet long, 1 1/2 feet wide, and 2 feet 3 inches high. Twelve loaves of bread lay upon the table. They were neatly arranged in two rows of six.

2. Second, there was the second or inner sanctuary which was the holiest of all sanctuaries, the Holy of Holies or what is sometimes called the Most Holy Place (v.3-5). Note that a veil or large curtain separated it from the sanctuary of the Holy Place. This was the sanctuary that could be entered only by the High Priest, and he could enter only once a year. Note: there was not a lampstand in the Holy of Holies and there were no windows. The glory of God was to have given the room its light. Two furnishings are mentioned.

- a. There was the golden censer or altar of incense which was a permanent piece of furniture in the Holy Place, but it was carried into the Holy of Holies on the Day of Atonement (v.4). It was a small table-like container 1 1/2 feet square and 3 feet high. Incense was burned upon it every morning and evening symbolizing the prayers of the people reaching up to God.
- b. There was the ark of the covenant which was a box or chest covered with gold on every side (v.4-5). It contained three things.

⇒ The golden pot that had some manna in it. The manna symbolized the manna used to feed the children of Israel in their wilderness wanderings (Ex.16:32-34).

⇒ The rod of Aaron (Num.17:1-11).

⇒ The two slabs of the covenant or law upon which Moses had written the ten commandments (Ex.25:16f; Dt.9:9; 10:5).

Arising from both ends of the ark were two angelic creatures called cherubim who reached over and shadowed the mercy seat. The very presence of God was to sit upon the lid or top of the ark between the glory of the two cherubim (Ex.25:22).

Thought 1. The point to see is that the sanctuary was furnished with earthly furniture—furniture that has religious meaning, but the furniture is still earthly, still only a shadow and faint copy of real worship. The same is true with our sanctuaries today. We have our earthly sanctuaries and earthly furniture—furniture that has religious meaning for us. There is the pulpit, the table for the Lord's Supper, and the baptismal pool. But these are still earthly, only shadows and faint images of the real sanctuary and worship.

3. Third, the priests entered the outer sanctuary or Holy Place every day and carried out their ministry and acts of worship for the people (v.6). They did all they could to make the people acceptable to God and to provide fellowship and communion with God. But again their service and ministry was short of perfection. No matter how much ministry they performed for the people, they could not make the people perfect. They could not make the people acceptable to God.

4. Fourth, the High Priest alone went into the inner sanctuary or the Holy of Holies (v.7). He went in to offer the blood of the sacrifice to God for the sins of the people. Man is sinful and he is guilty of sin and rebellion against God. Therefore, he must pay the penalty and judgment of his sins or else a substitute has to bear the judgment for him. This was the idea behind the animal sacrifice. The life of the animal was sacrificed for the sins of the people. Therefore, people were released from the guilt of their sins and made acceptable to God.

But note: the High Priest could go into the Holy of Holies to make sacrifice for sins only once a year. This is what was known as the Day of Atonement. Does this mean that a person could be forgiven his sins only once a year? No. There were daily sacrifices and offerings for sin that a person could make. The Day of Atonement was a comprehensive sacrifice—a nation-wide confession of sin. Israel was the chosen people of God with whom God had established His first covenant. Therefore, Israel or a body of people were to seek and worship God, and atonement or sacrifice was to be made for everything that concerned the nation:

“And he shall make an atonement for the holy sanctuary, and he shall make an atonement for the tabernacle of the congregation, and for the altar, and he shall make an atonement for the priests, and for all the people of the congregation” (Lev.16:33).

The point to note is this: sacrifice for sins had to be repeated year by year. There was no permanent sacrifice, no eternal Savior from sin.

5. Fifth, there were the inadequacies or lessons of the earthly tabernacle and worship (v.8). Note that the Holy Spirit of God is the One who points out these inadequacies or lessons. He is the One who points out the following shortcomings of the tabernacle and of earthly worship.

HEBREWS 9:1-14

- a. First, the way into God's presence was not opened up by the earthly sanctuary and worship. Remember: the very presence of God dwelt in the Holy of Holies. And no one—not even a priest—could enter the Holy of Holies. Only the High Priest himself ever went into God's presence and that was only once a year. And when he entered, he went in with fear and trembling lest he displease God and be stricken dead. No one had access to God—not day by day—not in an unbroken communion and fellowship with God's Spirit.

Thought 1. No earthly sanctuary and worship can make a person acceptable to God. Everything on earth, including all worship centers and worship, are physical, material, short, and imperfect. Nothing on this earth is perfect; therefore, nothing can bring perfection to man, not even sanctuaries and worship. Nothing that is earthly can make God accept man. Nothing on earth can give man access, fellowship, and communion with God.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption” (1 Cor.15:50).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life” (Rev.21:27).

- b. The approach to God through gifts and sacrifices could not perfect the worshippers. And note: the honest worshipper knew it; his conscience told him. Every thinking and honest person knows that he cannot be made into a perfect person and cleanse his conscience...
- by offering gifts to God, even if those gifts are made sacrificially.
 - offering animal sacrifices to God as a substitute for his sins.

Such acts are earthly acts and deal with physical and material things (substances). They help us to see and understand God to some degree. They are shadows and faint copies of perfect worship, but they cannot remove guilt or sins nor can they make a man perfect.

“Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:21).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“And there shall in no wise enter into any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life” (Rev.21:27).

- c. The great day of reformation—the day when the imperfect and material worship would be transformed into the perfect and eternal worship—could not be brought about by earthly worship. This is clearly seen: all the rituals and ceremonies of earthly sanctuaries and worship are only external and physical acts. This is true of all rituals and ceremonies, whether they involve...
- food
 - drink
 - water and worship
 - external rule and regulations

No matter what the ritual of worship is, it is external and physical—a mere act of man using some physical substance to help him worship God. And nothing that is earthly and external—physical and imperfect—can make us acceptable to God. Nothing on this earth can give us access, fellowship, and communion with God.

Earthly sanctuaries and worship are helpful as mere shadows, images, and faint copies of real worship—but they are all ever so inadequate. They leave the soul empty and unassured.

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power” (Col.2:10).

“Having a form [ritual and worship] of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

“For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect” (Heb.10:1).

“Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men” (Is.29:13).

2 (9:11-14) Worship—Sanctuary—Tabernacle, Heavenly—Jesus Christ, High Priest: the heavenly sanctuary or tabernacle. The heavenly sanctuary is for the worship of God just as the earthly sanctuary is, but it is different from the earthly sanctuary and worship of men. How does it differ? There are at least four differences.

1. The heavenly sanctuary and worship has a perfect priest. The High Priest of heaven is not a man; He does not come from among mere men—men who are imperfect, frail, sinful, and ever so short just like all other men. The High Priest of heaven is the Son of God Himself, and as the Son of God, He is perfect and eternal. Therefore, He is able to bring better things to us. He is able to make intercession for us forever—He is able to save us to the uttermost when we come to God by Him. (See notes—Heb.7:25; 8:4-5 for more discussion.)

2. The heavenly sanctuary and worship is spiritual and perfect. It is not made with human hands; it is not a part of this earthly, physical, and material world. It is not a part of this corruptible, decaying, aging, and dying world. It is not a part of this world that is only a shadow, picture, and faint copy of the real world. The spiritual and perfect sanctuary is the spiritual and perfect world—heaven itself—where the very presence of God is glorified and manifested for all to see and worship.

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon” (Mt.6:24).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“After this I behold, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands” (Rev.7:9).

3. The heavenly sanctuary and worship has a perfect sacrifice (v.12). Man is imperfect and sinful; he is guilty of disobeying, rejecting, and rebelling against God. Therefore, he must pay the penalty and judgment of his sins or else a substitute has to bear the judgment for him. This was the idea behind animal sacrifices. The animal’s life was sacrificed for the sins of man. Note that three significant things are said in this verse.

a. Jesus Christ, the perfect High Priest, did not sacrifice the blood of animals for the sins of man; He sacrificed His own blood. He offered up His life as a sacrifice to God—as the sacrifice for the life of the people. Jesus Christ bore the guilt and judgment for the sins of man. Why would He do this? Because He is the Son of God and He loves man. He is the Son of God who came to earth as the God-Man; He is the Ideal and Perfect Man. As the Ideal Man, whatever He does stands for and covers all men. Therefore, His blood covers the sins of all men who believe and trust Him. His sacrifice is the perfect and ideal sacrifice—the sacrifice that stands for and covers all men.

b. Jesus Christ, the perfect High Priest, entered into the Holy of Holies of heaven itself. But note: He had to enter only once. The earthly High Priest had to make continued sacrifices, but Jesus Christ had to make only one sacrifice. Why? Because His sacrifice was the perfect and ideal sacrifice. Being perfect and ideal, it could stand forever for every man of every generation.

c. Jesus Christ, the perfect High Priest, obtained eternal redemption for us. Sin, death, and condemnation have captured and kidnapped man. No man can escape from either one, no matter what he does. But Jesus Christ made it possible for man to be freed and delivered from all enemies. How? He paid the ransom price. He substituted Himself for man. He gave His life—sacrificed His life for man. He could do this because He is the perfect and ideal Man. Since He chose to sacrifice His life for man, He has become the perfect and ideal sacrifice. This is exactly what He has done. He has redeemed and ransomed man from sin, death, and condemnation.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the firstbegotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

4. The heavenly sanctuary and worship saves a person perfectly (v.13-14). Note three points.
 - a. The earthly sanctuary and worship purifies and cleanses only the flesh. It takes an honest person to admit this. But as shown in previous points, the rituals and ceremonies of earthly and physical worship are external. They cannot cleanse man inwardly nor can they make him perfect and eternal.
 - b. The heavenly sanctuary and worship purifies and cleanses a person even down to his conscience—no matter how hardened and non-existent the conscience may be. When a person comes to God through Christ, God gives him a perfect assurance that he is accepted by God, that he has eternal life. How is this possible? When Jesus Christ was on earth, He lived a sinless life, obeying God perfectly in every act and thought. He therefore became the Ideal (and perfect) Righteousness, the Ideal Man who pleased God perfectly. This is especially true in the sacrifice of Christ. God loves man and wants to save man. Therefore, God willed and wanted His Son to show His perfect love to man, to show His love by sacrificing His life for the sins of man. No greater love could ever have been expressed, and it was God’s love for us that led Him to sacrifice His Son for us. When Christ sacrificed Himself for our sins, the ultimate in obedience was reached. Jesus Christ obeyed God supremely; He died for our sins. Therefore God will forgive any man’s sins, and nothing will ever stop Him from forgiving them. Very simply stated, God will forgive and cleanse any man’s sins because of His Son. Forgiveness and cleansing are guaranteed once-for-all to everyone who believes—all because of God’s supreme love for His Son.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:25-26).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified” (Heb.10:14).

“And having an High Priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:21-22).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

- c. The heavenly sanctuary and worship leads a person away from the dead works of this earth to serve the living God (v.14). Earthly religion in all its ritual and ceremony is dead to God. No matter how religious and good a person tries to be—no matter how many good works he does—it is not such earthly behavior that makes him acceptable to God. Jesus Christ alone makes a man acceptable to God. He and He alone gives man access to God and puts man into fellowship and communion with God. Jesus Christ has to live in the heart and life of a person—actually live in the body of a person through the Holy Spirit of God—for a person to be given the glorious privilege of walking in fellowship and communion with God.

“Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:17).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:1-2).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure” (Ph.2:13).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(9:11-14) Tabernacle: the tabernacle was of God, not of man. (See picture of the Tabernacle at the end of this note, p.97.) God is the One who instructed Moses to build the tabernacle:

“And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, that they bring me an offering: of every man that giveth it willingly with his heart ye shall take my offering. And this is the offering which ye shall take of them; gold, and silver, and brass, and blue, and purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats’ hair, and rams’ skins dyed red, and badgers’ skins, and shittim wood, oil for the light, spices for anointing oil, and for sweet incense. Onyx stones, and stones to be set in the ephod, and in the breastplate. And let them make me a sanctuary; that I may dwell among them” (Ex.25:1-8).

The writer to the Hebrews confirms that God was the Architect of the tabernacle:

“The true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man” (Heb.8:2).

“Moses was admonished of God when he was about to make the tabernacle: for, See, saith he, that thou make all things according to the pattern showed to thee in the mount” (Heb.8:5).

Several facts should be noted about the tabernacle. (See the picture of the tabernacle at the end of this note for an overall view—a picture—of the Tabernacle and its furnishings, p.97.)

I. The Tabernacle Complex.

A. The Walls of the Tabernacle.

1. The facts:

⇒ They were 150 feet long, 75 feet wide, and 7 1/2 feet high.

⇒ They were made out of fine twined linen woven by needlework. The color was white.

⇒ They were supported by 60 pillars, 20 down each side, and 10 on each end. The pillars were set in sockets of brass and had tops of silver.

2. What the walls taught:

⇒ The wall of white linen symbolized the righteousness and holiness of God. He is so righteous and holy, so white and pure, that He is set apart from the world.

⇒ When a person looks at God, he must see that He dwells in righteousness and holiness. (When a person looked at white walls they were to be reminded that God was holy.)

⇒ When a person approaches God, he must approach Him in reverence and awe, adoration and worship. He must praise and thank God that God allows him to enter His presence.

3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the walls:

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“And that ye put on the new man [Christ], which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

B. The Only Door or Gate into the Tabernacle.

1. The facts:
 - ⇒ It was on the east side.
 - ⇒ It was 30 feet wide and 7 1/2 feet high.
 - ⇒ It was made out of fine twined linen woven together by needlework. The color of the linen was blue, purple, and scarlet.
2. What the door or gate taught:
 - ⇒ There is only one way to enter God’s presence; there are not many ways as most men think and practice.
 - ⇒ God has to be approached. No person shall ever live with God unless he approaches God.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the door of the tabernacle:

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

C. The Brazen Altar in the Courtyard.

1. The facts:
 - ⇒ It was 7 1/2 feet square and 4 1/2 feet high.
 - ⇒ It was made of acacia wood covered with brass.
 - ⇒ It was a hollow box-like structure with a brass grate across its top. There were four horns, one arising from each corner, for tying the sacrificial animals down.
2. What the altar taught:
 - ⇒ Substitutionary sacrifice is necessary for the forgiveness of sins.
 - ⇒ There is no forgiveness without the shedding of the blood of a sacrifice.
 - ⇒ There is no way to approach God—to be saved—other than through the death of a substitute.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the brazen altar:

“[I] give my life a ransom for many” (Mk.10:45).

“He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth” (Is.53:7).

“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!” (Jn.1:29).

“Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

D. The Laver in the Courtyard.

1. The facts:
 - ⇒ Its size is not given.
 - ⇒ It was made of brass.
 - ⇒ It contained the water which the priests used to wash and cleanse themselves before they served God and carried out their ministry for the Lord.
2. What the laver taught:
 - ⇒ A person cannot enter God’s presence before he is cleansed and made pure.
 - ⇒ A person cannot serve God until he is cleansed and made pure.
 - ⇒ A person must be continually cleansed and made pure in order to continually serve God.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the laver:

“If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me” (Jn.13:8).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:25-26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:2-3).

“Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

II. The Sanctuary of the Tabernacle.

1. The facts:
 - ⇒ The walls and roof separated some forms of worshipping God apart from other forms.
 - ⇒ The walls were made out of fine woven linen: the colors were blue, purple, and scarlet.
 - ⇒ The walls were supported by 48 wood beams 15 feet high and 2 feet 3 inches wide. The beams were overlaid with pure gold. They rested in sockets of silver. There was a wood center beam which ran through the outside connecting rods.
 - ⇒ The sanctuary was divided into two rooms; the first or outer room was the Holy Place and the second or inner room was the Holy of Holies or the Most Holy Place. (These are discussed as Roman Numeral II and III.)
2. What the walls and roof taught:
 - ⇒ There are different forms of worship, certain steps to take in approaching God.
 - ⇒ There are some initial steps to take in approaching God before one approaches Him in the most intimate worship.
 - ⇒ God is righteous, holy, and completely separate from man, even from the religious who move about and minister in walls of religion.
 - ⇒ God must be approached in reverence and awe and ever so carefully by men, even by the religious who are involved in His service.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the walls and roof:

“By whom [Christ] also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:2).

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:12).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace [of our Lord Jesus Christ], whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

III. The Holy Place (The First Room or Outer Sanctuary).

A. The Outer Veil or Curtain Door.

1. The facts:
 - ⇒ It was made out of fine twined linen. The colors were blue, purple, and scarlet.
 - ⇒ It was supported on five pillars made out of acacia wood. The pillars were overlaid by gold and set in sockets of brass.
 - ⇒ It was the only opening into the Holy Place.
2. What the outer veil or door taught:
 - ⇒ A person cannot just rush into the presence of a holy God; he cannot show disrespect to a holy God.
 - ⇒ There is only one way into the deeper things of God.
 - ⇒ There is a deeper knowledge of God, much more to knowing and experiencing God’s presence than just making sacrifice and receiving forgiveness of sins. (Remember: offerings for sin were made at the brazen altar in the courtyard. But there was more than this, more than forgiveness of sins, in knowing and worshipping God. There was worship in the Holy Place and even in the inner sanctuary of God’s presence, in the Most Holy Place or the Holy of Holies.)
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the veil: the way to a deeper knowledge of God, to the deeper things of God, is through the Lord Jesus Christ and through Him alone.

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:15).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature [of Jesus Christ], having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity” (2 Pt.1:4-7).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and forever” (2 Pt.3:18).

B. The Golden Lampstand or Candlestick.

1. The facts:

- ⇒ It was made out of pure gold and weighed over 100 pounds.
- ⇒ It was a central shaft with three branches on each side to provide seven lamps. The branches were formed into the beautiful shape of a flowering almond branch.
- ⇒ It burned pure olive oil.
- ⇒ It was a perpetual light, always burning. It was never allowed to burn out.
- ⇒ It provided the only light in the room. There were no windows in the Holy Place.

2. What the lampstand or candlestick taught:

- ⇒ A person needs light and illumination in order to know God and to serve God.
- ⇒ A person could never know God or serve God without light and illumination.
- ⇒ Without light and illumination a person would be in pitch darkness, totally unable to know and serve God.

3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the lampstand or candlestick: Christ and Christ alone provides the light and illumination to know and serve God.

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12).

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

C. The Table of the Showbread.

1. The facts:

- ⇒ It was a small table, only 3 feet long, 1 1/2 feet wide, and 2 feet 3 inches high.
- ⇒ It was made out of acacia wood and covered with gold. It had a ring at each corner so that a pole could be inserted down both sides and the table transported from place to place.
- ⇒ It was for the purpose of displaying 12 loaves of bread neatly arranged in 2 rows of 6 loaves each. The loaves were liberally sprinkled with frankincense. Fresh loaves of bread were placed on the table every Sabbath and the frankincense was removed from the old loaves and burned as a special offering to God.
- ⇒ The priests were allowed to eat the old loaves if they wished.

2. What the table of showbread taught:

- ⇒ God and the worship of Him is the bread of life.
- ⇒ God and the worship of Him is the nourishment that man really needs.
- ⇒ Man must have the bread of God’s presence and worship.
- ⇒ The frankincense symbolized that God was pleased with man worshipping Him.

3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the table of showbread: He is the Bread of Life, the nourishment upon which man must feed in order to know and worship God.

“I am that bread of life” (Jn.6:48).

“For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world” (Jn.6:33).

“And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst” (Jn.6:35).

“This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die. I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world” (Jn.6:50-51).

“This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth me, even he shall live by me” (Jn.6:58).

D. The Altar of Incense.

1. The facts:

- ⇒ It was a small altar, 1 1/2 feet square and 3 feet high.
- ⇒ It was made out of acacia wood and was overlaid with gold. It also had rings for poles so that it could be carried about from place to place.
- ⇒ It was for the purpose of burning incense to God.
- ⇒ The incense was a perpetual offering sent up to God. It was never allowed to stop burning.
- ⇒ Once a year the blood of the atonement sacrifice was sprinkled upon it.

2. What the altar of incense taught:

- ⇒ The incense symbolized the prayers of the people being offered up to God.
- ⇒ Prayer and intercession are essential for worshipping God.
- ⇒ Prayer and intercession should be continually offered up to God. A person should be praying always. There should be unbroken prayer and communion with God.
- ⇒ The priest and minister must constantly intercede for God’s people.

3. How Christ fulfilled the altar of incense:
 ⇒ Christ prayed always, living and walking in an unbroken communion with God the Father.
 ⇒ Christ interceded for God's people.

"I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me; for they are thine" (Jn.17:9).

"Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us" (Ro.8:34).

"Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them" (Heb.7:25).

IV. The Holy of Holies or the Most Holy Place (The Inner Room or Inner Sanctuary)

A. The Inner Veil or Curtain Door.

1. The facts:
 ⇒ It was made out of fine twined linen. The colors were blue, purple, and scarlet with figures of cherubims embroidered into the linen.
 ⇒ It was supported on four pillars made out of acacia wood. The pillars were covered by gold and set in sockets of brass. The curtain was held up by golden hooks.
 ⇒ It separated the Most Holy Place, the symbol of God's presence, from all other acts of worship.
 ⇒ No one was allowed into the Holy of Holies except the High Priest, and he could enter only once a year, on the Day of Atonement.
2. What the inner veil taught:
 ⇒ Fellowship and communion with God Himself is the supreme act of worship.
 ⇒ God is holy and righteous, far, far removed from man and his world—totally set apart and separated from the pollution and uncleanness of man.
 ⇒ God must be approached ever so carefully—in reverence, awe, and fear.
 ⇒ There is only one way to God, only one door into His presence.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the inner veil or inner door:
 ⇒ Christ and Christ alone is the way to God, to knowing God and to experiencing the presence, fellowship and communion of God.

"Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people" (Heb.2:17).

"Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb.4:14-15).

"[Christ] entereth into that within the veil; wither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus" (Heb.6:19-20).

"For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us" (Heb.9:24).

"Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh" (Heb.10:19-20).

B. The Ark of the Covenant.

1. The facts:
 ⇒ It was made of acacia wood.
 ⇒ It was built like a chest or trunk, 3 feet 9 inches long, 2 feet 3 inches wide, and 2 feet 3 inches high.
 ⇒ It was completely covered with gold, inside as well as outside.
 ⇒ It had two gold rings on two sides so that a pole could be run through them for carrying the ark from place to place.
 ⇒ The lid or top of the ark was called the mercy seat. It was a slab of pure gold. Arising from both ends of the ark were two angelic creatures called cherubim who reached over and shadowed the mercy seat. The very presence of God was supposed to rest upon the mercy seat between the two cherubim.

"And there I will meet with thee, and I will commune with thee from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim which are upon the ark of the testimony, of all things which I will give thee in commandment unto the children of Israel" (Ex.25:22).

- ⇒ The ark contained three items: the tables of the law or ten commandments (Ex.25:16f; Dt.9:9; 10:5), the golden pot of manna (Ex.16:32-34), and Aaron's rod (Num.17:1-11).

"And Moses said, This is the thing which the LORD commandeth, Fill an omer of it to be kept for your generations; that they may see the bread wherewith I have fed you in the wilderness, when I brought you forth from the land of Egypt. And Moses said unto Aaron, Take a pot, and put an omer full of manna therein, and lay it up before the LORD, to be kept for your generations. As the LORD commanded Moses, so Aaron laid it up before the Testimony, to be kept" (Ex.16:32-34).

- ⇒ It was upon the mercy seat that the blood of the atonement sacrifice was sprinkled symbolizing that God could be approached only through the sacrifice of a life for sins.
2. What the ark of the covenant taught:
- ⇒ God can be approached only through the substitutionary sacrifice of a pure life.
- ⇒ A person is acceptable to God only through the substitutionary sacrifice of a pure life.
- ⇒ Sins can be forgiven only through the substitutionary blood of a pure sacrifice.
3. How Christ fulfilled the symbolism of the ark of the covenant and the mercy seat: He became the pure, sinless Lamb of God who sacrificed His life for man.

"And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world" (1 Jn.2:2).

"Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal.1:4).

"And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour" (Eph.5:2).

"Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:14).
