"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

"Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

D. Christ is the Minister and Mediator of the New Covenant, 9:15-22

(9:15-22) Introduction, Covenant, New—Jesus Christ, Death—Mediator: Jesus Christ is the Mediator of the new testament or covenant. Remember: a testament or covenant is an agreement between two parties. This particular covenant is the great covenant of God, the new covenant and agreement that He has made with man. God has set up a new agreement with man. He no longer relates to man like He did centuries ago, that is, by law, by man trying to keep certain rules and regulations and thereby becoming acceptable to God. Under the old covenant of law man just could never relate to God, not adequately and not perfectly. Man was always failing to keep the law; he was always breaking his relationship to God. As a result, he was condemned and cut off from God. He never had true fellowship and communion with God, not on a continuous basis, not a fellowship and communion that met the very basic needs of man. What are those needs? What are the basic needs of man?

- ⇒ Love and friendship with God and others.
- ⇒ A clear heart and conscience—to be completely free of guilt—to know that his sins are truly forgiven.
- ⇒ Deliverance from sin, evil, corruption, death, and condemnation.
- ⇒ Absolute assurance and security that God has accepted him and that he will live in the presence of God perfected forever.

The new covenant meets every one of these needs. It meets them through the Lord Jesus Christ—through the Mediator of the new covenant of God.

1. Jesus Christ is the Mediator of the new covenant (v.15).
2. Argument 1: a will is not in effect until the testator's death (v.16-17).
3. Argument 2: the institution of the first covenant shows that all things are cleansed by blood (v.18-22).

1 (9:15) Covenant, New—Jesus Christ, Death—Mediator: Jesus Christ is the Mediator of the new covenant. Remember: a mediator is a person who stands between two parties and brings them together. He is the negotiator, the go-between, the arbitrator, the middle person. This is Jesus Christ, the great mediator between God and man.

But what gives Jesus Christ the right to be the great mediator between God and man? Why is He the mediator and not some great leader of an earthly religion? What is there about Jesus Christ that makes Him so unique, that makes Him stand head and shoulders above all others when it comes to relating to God?

⇒ HIS DEATH. THE DEATH OF JESUS CHRIST IS WHAT GIVES HIM THE RIGHT TO BE THE MEDIATOR BETWEEN GOD AND MAN.

When Jesus Christ died, He died for all men. He sacrificed His life for everyone—no matter who they are. He took the sins of every human being upon Himself—He bore the guilt and condemnation for every person. How could He do this?

He was the Son of God who had come to earth for this very purpose. He became flesh and blood and lived as a Man upon earth. But there was one distinct difference: He never sinned. He never transgressed the law of God. He possessed the ideal, perfect righteousness. He stood before men as the Ideal Man which means that His ideal righteousness could cover man.

But something else was needed, something critical. Man had already sinned and transgressed; he already stood guilty before God. Therefore, the penalty for having broken the law had to be paid. Man had to die or else some perfect sacrifice had to step forward and die for him. As just stated, there was only one perfect and ideal person, the Lord Jesus Christ. He and He alone could step forward and bear the guilt and punishment for man. It is this that stands out above all else—this that sets Jesus Christ apart from everyone else in the universe—this that makes Jesus Christ stand head and shoulders above all others—this above all else that qualifies Him to be the great Mediator between God and man.

⇒ JESUS CHRIST DIED FOR MAN. HE SACRIFICED HIMSELF FOR MAN.

His death redeems man, frees man from sin, death, and judgment. What does this mean?

- ⇒ When we accept the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for our sins, then Jesus Christ bore our sins; we do not have to bear them.
- ⇒ When we accept the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for our death, then Jesus Christ bore our death; we do not have to die.
- ⇒ When we accept the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for our judgment, then Jesus Christ bore our judgment; we do not have to face judgment.

The results are glorious: our sins are forgiven and we receive an eternal inheritance. God accepts us, and we receive the glorious promise and assurance of living with Him forever and ever. We receive that for which we as men and women long and ache:

- ⇒ love and friendship with God
- ⇒ a clear heart and conscience
- ⇒ deliverance from sin, evil, corruption, death, and condemnation
- ⇒ eternal life
- ⇒ absolute assurance and security

And note verse 15: even the believers under the first testament or covenant of law received these things. The ideal perfection, righteousness, and sacrifice of Jesus Christ covers all people. The ideal can and does stand for all.

Note one other glorious fact: this is true. It is true that Jesus Christ is the Mediator of the new covenant. God heaps argument upon argument, proof upon proof to show that Jesus Christ is the great Minister and High Priest of heaven. There are two strong arguments given in the next two notes.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the firstbegotten of the dead, and prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“For the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me” (Ps.69:9).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

2 (9:16-17) Will, Last Will & Testament—Covenant, New: argument one—a last will and testament is not in effect until the testator’s death. This one fact is critical to note: God’s covenant with man is the covenant of a last will and testament. That is, the terms are set exclusively by God, not man. God sets the terms and conditions and man either accepts or rejects them. God’s testament or covenant is somewhat like the last will and testament of any man. The recipient cannot change the terms of the will and testament; he can only accept or reject them.

Now, to the point: a testament or covenant does not take effect until when? Not until the testator dies. God had willed that His new covenant would not go into force until Jesus Christ had died. As men upon their death give inheritance to those whom they love and care for, so God upon the death of His Son gives His inheritance to those whom He loves and cares for. The proof that Jesus Christ is the Mediator of God’s new covenant is that He died as the sacrifice for our sins. (See note—Heb.8:6-13 for more discussion.)

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself. And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: so Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:26-28).

3 (9:18-22) New Covenant—Jesus Christ, Blood of: argument two—the institution of the old covenant shows that all things are cleansed by blood. This is clearly seen when the old covenant was instituted by Moses (cp. Ex.24:3-8, esp. 6-8). After God had given the law to Moses, Moses shared the law with the people. Then he made a sacrificial offering to the Lord. He took the blood of the animal and sprinkled both the book of the law and the people. This was a dedication service, a service commemorating the institution of God’s first covenant, and note how it was being instituted: by death—by the shedding of the blood of a sacrifice. Note what Moses says in v.20.

“Saying, This is the blood of the testament which God hath enjoined unto you” (v.20).

But this is not the only example we have. Moses also held a dedication service when the tabernacle was completed, and he sprinkled it and all the furnishings with blood (v.21).

What is the significance of this argument?

“Almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (v.22).

Under the covenant and law, almost all things were purged and cleansed by blood. In fact, without the shedding of blood there was no cleansing or forgiveness. This was true throughout the whole reign of the law—from the institution of the law down to the present. For men have always had a sense of failing, of coming short, and of being imperfect. They have known a frightening fact: they had to pay for their sins or else someone or something had to take their place and be sacrificed for them. Therefore, man has constantly made sacrifice for his sins in order to become acceptable to God. He has always sensed and known that “without shedding of blood there is no remission”—no cleansing and no forgiveness.

This is the argument, the proof that Jesus Christ is the Mediator of God’s new covenant with man. Jesus Christ shed His blood; He died for man. He has paid the penalty for man’s sins. He has instituted and launched God’s new covenant with man.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (Heb.9:22).

“And their sins and iniquities will I remember no more. Now where remission of these is, there is no more offering for sin. Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:17-22).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the firstbegotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

E. Christ is the Minister and Mediator of the Perfect Sacrifice for Sins (Part I), 9:23-28

(9:23-28) Introduction: this is one of those great passages of Scripture that has a bottomless reservoir of meaning. It presents Jesus Christ as the perfect sacrifice for sins. The one thing man needs to face up to is this: he and his world are sinful and imperfect. He and his world die and waste away. Therefore, he needs to have his sins cleansed and taken away. In order to stand before the holy and perfect God, he must somehow be cleansed of sin and imperfection and be counted perfect. How is this possible? By Jesus Christ—by the sacrifice which Christ has made for man. Jesus Christ is the perfect sacrifice for sins.

1. Jesus Christ purifies everything, even the very things of heaven (v.23-24).
2. Jesus Christ does not offer a repeated sacrifice (v.25-26).
3. Jesus Christ bore the penalty of judgment for man (v.27-28).

1 (9:23-24) Jesus Christ, Death: Jesus Christ purifies everything, even the very things of heaven. Jesus Christ provides a universal redemption. It was absolutely necessary that earthly sanctuaries and worship be purified with blood, and it is also absolutely necessary that the heavenly sanctuary and worship be purified with the blood of the Sovereign Lord. Why? Why does anything in heaven need to be cleansed and purified?

- ⇒ It is not because anything in heaven is sinful and unclean. It is not. Heaven is heaven; it is perfect and eternal.
- ⇒ It is because the way into heaven must be covered and enshrouded with blood in order to cover man as he approaches God. Man has to be covered with the sacrificial blood of Jesus Christ even when he enters and stands in heaven. The only acceptance man has before God is the sacrificial blood of Jesus Christ. Everywhere man stands and everything man touches—no matter where it is, in heaven or on earth—has to be covered by the blood of Jesus Christ. It has to be covered in order to protect man. Man's only acceptance before God is the sacrificial blood of Jesus Christ, and man can never be accepted without that covering. It shall forever be his covering and his only acceptance into heaven before God.

This is critical—an absolute essential to note—for it shows how great the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ is and how great it is in the eyes and mind of God. It is so great that God has insisted that the blood of His Son be used to cover everything throughout the whole universe, both of the physical and the spiritual world, both the physical and the spiritual dimension. The blood of His Son's dear life covers every place that man shall ever go and everything that man shall ever touch. Picturesque and symbolic language, yes, but a picture of the truth nevertheless. For man shall never be acceptable to God apart from the sacrificial death and blood of God's dear Son. Therefore, it is an absolute necessity that all things be covered by the death of Christ—by the great sacrifice which He made in obedience to His Father's will. God the Father would never allow any other way, for His dear Son paid the ultimate price—a price so far beyond our imagination that our understanding amounts to no more than a drop in comparison to the great ocean of truth. This is the reason Jesus Christ has appeared in the presence of God for us—to cleanse and purify the way for us. Jesus Christ has purified everything. He has provided a universal redemption for us that will last forever and ever without end. He is the perfect sacrifice for our sins.

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:25-26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God” (Heb.9:14).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19-22).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

2 (9:25-26) Jesus Christ, Death: Jesus Christ does not offer a repeated sacrifice, but He sacrificed Himself once (v.25-26). The earthly High Priest had to make sacrifice often; he had to enter into the Holy of Holies every year to make sacrifice for sins. He was as all other men, sinful. Therefore, he could never make the perfect sacrifice. But not Jesus Christ. He was perfect, the very Son of God Himself. He was the perfect High Priest who could sacrifice Himself for the sins of men. Because He was perfect, His sacrifice was perfect—forever acceptable to God. Therefore, Jesus Christ could offer sacrifice for sins once and sins could be forgiven forever and ever. He is the great mediator of the perfect sacrifice. He has “put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself” (v.26).

3 (9:27-28) Jesus Christ, Death—Judgment—Death—Jesus Christ, Return: Jesus Christ bore the death and judgment for many. Note four significant points.

1. Man dies and he dies once—only once. There is no second chance. This is the emphasis of “once” (hapax). Man has only one chance to be forgiven, saved, and redeemed—only one chance to become acceptable to God and receive the inheritance of the promise, that is, eternal life. Man dies, and when he dies, his opportunity is over. Jesus Christ died in this world and in the time frame of this life. He did not die in some other world nor in the time frame of some other world. He died upon earth as a Man for men. Therefore, there will never again be a chance to be covered by His sacrifice other than in this world and in this life. Men die and they die only once, never again to live upon the earth.

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die” (Heb.9:27).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For we must needs die, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again” (2 Sam.14:14).

“For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others” (Ps.49:10).

“What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? Shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave?” (Ps.89:48).

“As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:15-16).

“There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it” (Eccl.8:8).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field” (Is.40:6).

2. Man dies and then comes the judgment. He has sinned and cursed God, ignored and neglected God, rebelled against and rejected God. This is the tragedy of tragedies. We just live like we want—go our own way and do our own thing—instead of living like God says. We are short of what we should be and ever so imperfect. We are guilty of transgressing the Word and Law of God; therefore, we must bear the judgment of God. When? When shall we be judged? This verse tells us as clearly as it can be stated: “It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (v.27). Once we die, we shall be judged: separated and cut off from God forever and never allowed to enter God’s presence. We shall be forbidden to enter heaven and cast into the place that is the very opposite of heaven—into hell itself. Judgment follows death. We shall be judged and separated from God immediately upon death—to be separated from Him forever and ever.

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

3. But note the glorious news: Christ was once offered to bear the sins and judgment of many. Christ has taken our sins upon Himself. He has sacrificed Himself for our sins and borne our judgment for us. We no longer have to bear the judgment for our sins and imperfections. If we believe—truly trust Jesus Christ to bear our sins and judgment—then God counts our sins as having been borne by Christ. God counts us as being free from sin—as being perfect and acceptable to Him. Therefore, we never have to be judged and condemned for sin.

But note: this glorious salvation is not wrought in the lives of all. A person has to believe and trust in the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. This is only reasonable: if a person does not believe in something, he does not allow it to work for him. But if he does believe, he does allow it to work for him. When we believe—really believe—then the sacrifice of Jesus Christ works for us. His sacrifice covers our sins and we become acceptable to God. We never have to face the judgment and condemnation for our sins.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:26).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

4. Jesus Christ shall come to earth a second time, and He shall come without sin to save those who look for Him.

⇒ What a phenomenal statement!

⇒ What an astounding promise!

⇒ What a spectacular sight it will be!

Jesus Christ shall rent the sky above and return to earth to save all who look for Him. And we can rest assured that He can save us. For He will be without sin. He will be perfect and eternal, the very embodiment of ideal perfection and righteousness. Therefore as the Ideal Perfection and Righteousness, He can cover us with Himself. He can make us perfect and righteous, and He will—if we look for Him.

Other Scriptures tell us what will happen and give us some detail. Briefly stated, the spectacular sight will be...

- the bodies of dead believers, who died looking for His return, shall be resurrected to meet Him in the sky.
- the persons who are living and looking for Him shall be lifted up off the earth and ascend to join Him in the sky.

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh” (Mt.24:44).

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry” (Heb.10:37).

“And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming” (1 Jn.2:28).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(9:27) Death (thanatos): the basic meaning of death is separation. Death never means extinction, annihilation, non-existence, or inactivity. “Death is the separation of a person from the purpose or use for which he was intended.” (H.S. Miller. Quoted by Lehman Strauss. Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians. Neptune, NJ: Loizeaux Bros. Copyright 1957 by Lehman Strauss, p.137.)

The Bible speaks of three deaths.

1. Physical death: the separation of a man’s spirit or life from the body. This is what men commonly call death. It is when a person ceases to exist on this earth and is buried (1 Cor.15:21-22; Heb.9:27).

“For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive” (1 Cor.15:21-22).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

2. Spiritual death: the separation of man’s spirit from God while he is still living and walking upon earth. This death is the natural state of a man on earth without Christ. Man is seen as still in his sins and dead to God (Eph.2:1; 4:18; 1 Jn.5:12).

Spiritual death speaks of a person who is dead while he still lives (1 Tim.5:6). He is a natural man living in this present world, but he is said to be dead to the Lord Jesus Christ and to God and to spiritual matters.

a. A person who wastes his life in riotous living is spiritually dead.

“It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found” (Lk.15:32).

b. A person who has not partaken of Christ is spiritually dead.

“Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you” (Jn.6:53).

c. A person who does not have the spirit of Christ is said to be spiritually dead.

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

d. A person who lives in sin is said to be spiritually dead.

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses” (Col.2:13).

e. A person who is alienated from God is said to be spiritually dead.

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:18-19).

f. A person who sleeps in sin is spiritually dead.

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

g. A person who lives in sinful pleasure is dead while he lives.

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

h. A person who does not have the Son of God is dead.

“He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:12).

i. A person who does great religious works but does the wrong works is dead.

“And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead” (Rev.3:1).

3. Eternal death: the separation of man from God’s presence forever. This is the second death, an eternal state of being dead to God (1 Cor.6:9-10; 2 Th.1:9). It is spiritual death, separation from God, that is prolonged beyond the death of the body. It is called the “second death” or eternal death.

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:9).

DIVISION III

THE SUPREME MINISTER: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 8:6-10:18

F. Christ is the Minister and Mediator of the Perfect Sacrifice for Sins (Part II), 10:1-18

(10:1-18) Introduction: man is imperfect. He is short of what he should be. He is sinful and evil. He curses, cheats, lies, and steals. He deceives, gossips, grumbles, gripes, judges, discriminates, hates, assaults, fights, wars, and kills. He is selfish, hoarding, indulgent, extravagant, wasteful, and polluting. He is lustful and immoral. To satisfy his lust—even for just a few minutes of pleasure—he will assault and batter a weaker person. Or he will make himself attractive and seek pleasure to satisfy his lust even if it destroys his spouse and children and the lives of others. Even when man deals with God, he neglects, ignores, denies, rejects, and curses God.

All this means one thing: man can never live with God. Man is far too short of the perfection that a person must have to live with God. What then can be done? There is only one thing. Man's sins have to be cleansed and washed away. Man is guilty; therefore, he has to bear the guilt of his sins, face the court of judgment and condemnation. His only hope of escape—of ever being acceptable to God—is for a substitute to be sacrificed for his sins. If a substitute can take his guilt and be sacrificed for his sins—if a substitute can bear his judgment and condemnation—then man can be free of sin and its guilt. Man can be counted perfect—perfectly free of sin—and thereby he can become acceptable to God.

This is exactly what has happened. God has established two covenants with man. Under the first covenant (the old testament), animals were sacrificed for man's sins. The animal had to be pure and flawless, having no impurity or flaw whatsoever. When it was sacrificed, it symbolized...

- that a sinless life was bearing the sins of men.
- that man's sins were being laid upon a sinless life who was bearing the guilt and condemnation of sin for the man.
- that a perfect and flawless life was being sacrificed as a substitute for sinful man.

However, note a critical point: animals are not perfect. They are as much a part of this physical and material earth as men are. They age and die just as men do. Therefore, the sacrifice of animals was an imperfect sacrifice. They were bound to be only symbolizing and pointing to the perfect sacrifice that was yet to come. Note another fact as well. An animal is not a man; therefore, it could never be an acceptable sacrifice or substitute for man. The only sacrifice that could become a sacrificial substitute for man would be another man, and that man would have to be the perfect and ideal man. Why? Because only the ideal righteousness could cover other men. A sinful righteousness is no better than the righteousness man already has. What man needs is the perfect, ideal righteousness that can stand for and cover him—that can present him to God and make him acceptable as righteous and sinless.

This brings us to the second covenant of God. God established the new covenant or testament with man. This is the point of this passage: to show that Jesus Christ is the Minister or Mediator of the new covenant with man. In fact, Jesus Christ Himself is the perfect sacrifice for the sins of men.

1. The powerlessness of the old sacrifices (v.1-4).
2. The perfect sacrifice: Jesus Christ Himself (v.5-10).
3. The contrast between the old and new sacrifices (v.11-14).
4. The witness to the perfect sacrifice: the Holy Spirit (v.15-18).

1 (10:1-4) Sacrifice, Animal—Old Covenant—Law, Powerlessness of: the powerlessness of the old sacrifices. The old sacrifices were powerless and ineffective for five reasons.

1. The old covenant, the law, was only a shadow of good things to come (v.1). It was the law of the Old Testament that spelled out that animal sacrifices were to be offered for the sins of men. But note: the law was only a shadow of good things. The law was not the embodiment of the perfection that was to come. It was only a “shadow” (skian). The word means a dim outline, a reflection of the perfection that was to come. The word even has the idea of foreshadowing, of pointing forward. That is, a shadow means that there is reality behind the shadow. When we see a shadow, there is something real someplace that is reflecting the shadow (cp. the shadow of a tree).

The point is this: the shadow is not the real thing; it is only an imperfect reflection of the real thing. This was the law of the Old Testament. It and its sacrifices for sin were only a shadow of better things. The law and its sacrifices did not possess the perfection or power necessary to forgive sins. But they did reflect and point to the perfection and power that was to come in the Lord Jesus Christ.

2. The offering of sacrifices had to be repeated year by year, time after time (v.1^b). This shows that they were powerless to forgive sins. If they were a perfect sacrifice, they would never have to be repeated. Perfection completes, fulfills, satisfies, and finishes or else it is not perfect. Note exactly what the verse says: the sacrifices could not “continually make the comers thereunto perfect.” The desperate need of man is to be made perfect. But animal sacrifices for sin fail; they are powerless to make us perfect. The very fact that they had to be offered time and again, over and over shows that they never completed the job. They never finished the work of redemption and salvation.

3. The offerings of sacrifices never removed the awareness and consciousness of sin. Man always had a guilty conscience—a sense of being sinful. How do we know this? Because he was always repeating the sacrifice for his sins. If he had sensed...

- that a perfect sacrifice had been made
- that his sins had been removed once-for-all
- that a perfect sacrifice had been made that made him forever acceptable to God

...then he would have never needed to make another sacrifice. But the offering of animal sacrifices never gave him this freedom of conscience. They were powerless to do so. Therefore, they were not the perfect sacrifice needed so desperately by man.

4. The offering of animal sacrifices were actually a reminder of sins, not a remover of sins. Every time an offering was made the person was reminded of his sins—reminded that his sins still stood between him and God, that they had to be atoned for time after time—forever—if he was ever to be acceptable to God.

5. The offering of animal sacrifices were powerless to take away sins, powerless to make a person acceptable to God, powerless to give man fellowship and communion with God. Why? Several logical reasons stand out.

- a. Animals have different natures than men. How could an animal’s life stand and represent the life of a man? Animals are not and cannot live the life of a man. There is just no way possible for the sacrifice of an animal’s life to equal the sacrifice of the life of a man. They are of a different nature entirely than that of a man.
- b. Animals were not the ones who wilfully chose to sin and neglect, ignore, rebel, reject, and curse God. Therefore, they cannot possibly pay the penalty and judgment of sin for man. At most they can only symbolize that a perfect man must be sacrificed for man.
- c. Animals are of this earth just as men are. Animals are corruptible, aging, and imperfect creatures just as man is. Therefore, there is no way an animal sacrifice could ever be the perfect sacrifice needed to die for man’s sins. Animals could not wilfully choose to die as a substitute for man. The perfect sacrifice for man must willingly die for man in order to be an acceptable substitute. Animal sacrifices for sins were victims, not wilful substitutes. They could at most point to the perfect sacrifice yet to come.

“Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh?” (Gal.3:3).

“For there is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof. For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:18-19).

“In that he saith, A new covenant, he hath made the first old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old is ready to vanish away” (Heb.8:13).

“Which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience” (Heb.9:9).

“For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect” (Heb.10:1).

“And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain” (Heb.12:27).

2 (10:5-10) Jesus Christ, Death; Sinless: the perfect sacrifice is Jesus Christ Himself. This is seen in four significant facts.

1. The perfect sacrifice was a body prepared by God Himself (v.5). This is a quote from Ps.40:6-8. The Hebrew text actually says “mine ears has thou digged for me,” that is, dug out of the earth and formed as part of the body. The writer to Hebrews is simply making a paraphrase and saying that the digging of the ears is part of the fashioning of the whole body.

Note: this was a conversation between Christ and God when Christ was coming into the world. The sacrifice of animals was totally inadequate in taking away sins; therefore, they did not please God. As the verse says, God just would and could not accept the animals. What, then, could God do? What could take away sins? There was only one thing. A perfect and eternal Person had to willingly sacrifice Himself for the sins of men.

- ⇒ He had to be perfect so that He could be the Ideal Person, for the Ideal Person is the only Person who could stand for and cover all other men. If He was the Perfect and Ideal Person, then whatever He did would cover man. If He sacrificed Himself—died for the sins of men—then His death would cover the sins of men. His death could be accepted as the perfect sacrifice for man’s sins.
- ⇒ He also had to be eternal in order to cover sins eternally, all past sins as well as all future sins. Being eternal, whatever He did could cover everyone eternally—all who ever lived, those in the past as well as those in the future.

This is the reason God Himself—in the person of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—had to be the sacrifice for our sins. Only God is perfect and eternal; therefore, only God could be the Perfect and Eternal Sacrifice for our sins.

This is the reason God prepared a body and sent Jesus Christ into the world. This is the reason for the great Incarnation of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thought 1. This should break our hearts in love toward God, for it shows the glorious love of God for us. He loved us so much that He actually prepared a body and sent His own dear Son—the only Son who has the full and perfect nature of God the Father—into this sinful and shameful world. Imagine! God came into the world in a human body...

- came to show us the love of God.
- came to take our sins and their guilt and condemnation upon Himself.
- came to offer up Himself as the perfect sacrifice for our sins.
- came to take our sins off of us so that we could be counted perfect and made acceptable.
- came to give us life eternal, a life that could fellowship and commune with God forever and ever.

“And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS” (Lk.1:31).

“[The gospel] which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures, concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:2-4).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:5-7).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

“Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous” (1 Jn.3:7).

“Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world” (1 Jn.4:2-3).

“Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel” (Is.7:14).

“For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace” (Is.9:6).

2. The perfect sacrifice was Jesus Christ doing the will of God and doing it perfectly (v.7). This was absolutely essential if there was to be the perfect sacrifice. He had to live a sinless life. By living a sinless life, He stood before God as the Perfect, Ideal Man. He stood before God as the very embodiment of righteousness—as the Ideal Righteousness. Therefore, His Ideal Righteousness could stand and cover man. When a person looks to Jesus Christ, believing in Him with his whole heart, God counts that person righteous. God counts the faith of the person as the righteousness of Jesus Christ (see note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion).

The point is this: the only way Jesus Christ could please God was by doing the will of God. And in order to please God perfectly, Jesus Christ had to do the perfect will of God. This He did. God is perfectly pleased with Jesus Christ; therefore Jesus Christ could make the perfect sacrifice for man, the sacrifice that would be acceptable to God forever and ever.

Thought 1. This is the reason that man’s only acceptance before God is Jesus Christ. God accepts no person unless he comes to Him in the perfection of the ideal righteousness and sacrifice for sins. The only ideal righteousness and sacrifice for sins is the Son of God Himself, even the Lord Jesus Christ.

“For as by one man’s disobedience [Adam’s] many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous” (Ro.5:19).

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sins” (Heb.4:15).

“For such a high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

3. The perfect sacrifice made it necessary for God to take away the old sacrificial system and establish the new testament or covenant with man (v.8-9). This only reemphasizes what has been said above. The old sacrifices for sins were inadequate and powerless to take away sin. If sin was to be removed, there had to be a perfect sacrifice. God loves man and loves him eternally; therefore, He willed to send His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, to become the perfect sacrifice. And note how Christ responded: “Lo, I come to do thy will, O God.”

The point is this: Jesus Christ took away the first testament. He took it away so that He might establish the second testament, the perfect and eternal way for sins to be taken away.

“Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace; and that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:15-16).

“And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses; blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing to his cross” (Col.2:13-14).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

4. The perfect sacrifice sets us apart through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once-for-all. He is the Perfect and Ideal Man (v.10). Therefore, when He offered His body as the sacrifice for sin, it was a perfect sacrifice. Being perfect, it was completed, fulfilled, and finished forever. It perfectly satisfied the holiness, righteousness, and justice of God once-for-all.

This means a most wonderful thing. When a person comes to God by Jesus Christ, the sacrifice of Christ is applied to the person. The perfect sacrifice of Jesus Christ covers the person’s sins and he is counted sinless by God. The person is not sinless, but he is accepted as perfect by God. Therefore, the person can fellowship and commune with God—live with God both now and forever, day by day, experiencing no end to the days. Imagine! Living forever with God...

- all because Jesus Christ bore the sins, guilt, and condemnation for him.
- all because Jesus Christ has sanctified and set him apart and made him acceptable to God forever and ever.

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness. Now to him that worketh is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness. Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works, saying, Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered. Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin” (Ro.4:3-8).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:1-2).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

3 (10:11-14) Jesus Christ, Death—Sacrifice, Animal: the contrast between the old sacrifices and the perfect sacrifice of Christ. There are four contrasts.

1. The priest of the old sacrifice was never done with his work. This is pictured by his having to always stand (v.11-12). But the minister of the perfect sacrifice sits; He completed His sacrifice forever. The earthly priest could never complete His work, for the ministry and sacrifice he professed were earthly and imperfect. Therefore, he could never sit down and be done with the ministry of sacrificing for sin. But not Christ. Jesus Christ was sinless, the perfect Son of God who came to earth in a body prepared by God Himself. Therefore, He did make the perfect sacrifice and He did complete His work, and when He finished, He was able to return to heaven and be seated forever and ever.

“The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged on a tree. Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:30-31).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4).

“Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:6-9).

2. The priest of the old sacrifice made the same sacrificial offering for sin over and over, but Jesus Christ made one sacrifice for sin forever (v.11-12). How could He do this? As stated above, because He was perfect and eternal. The animals which were sacrificed were not; therefore, they could never be the real sacrifice for man’s sins. They could never take the sins of men upon themselves and bear the guilt and judgment for men. They could only symbolize that man desperately needed a perfect sacrifice. But this is the glorious gospel: Jesus Christ is the perfect and eternal sacrifice for sins. He sacrificed His life for us, bearing our sins and the guilt and punishment of them for us.

“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world” (Jn.1:29).

“Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

3. The old sacrifice never took away sins, but the perfect sacrifice of Jesus Christ triumphs over all enemies (v.12^b-13). The enemies of man and God included all the forces of evil, both physical and spiritual. This is exactly what Christ taught: they include all that stand opposed to men and God: sin, evil, disease, corruption, death, evil spirits, and Satan. The point is this: there is no way that the sacrifice of animals could ever conquer these forces and deliver men from the enslaving grip. But Jesus Christ can. How? By obeying God perfectly and becoming the perfect sacrifice for man’s sins. When Jesus Christ died for man, He showed the supreme act of obedience. No greater act could prove a man’s obedience than to die in obedience to the will of his superior. When a nation wills a young man to die for his country, that young man can show no greater act of obedience than to give live his life for his country. And note: when that young man obeys to the ultimate degree, he deserves the highest honor his country can bestow.

So it is with Christ. When He obeyed God in the supreme act of dying for man’s sins, God bestowed upon him the highest honor. What is the highest honor God can bestow? To exalt Christ to His right hand of authority and power. This God has done. Jesus Christ rules and reigns with all the power and authority of God the Father. He sits at the right hand of God and He shall sit there until every enemy is subjected to both God and man. He shall sit there until man is delivered from every enemy that holds him in bondage. Jesus Christ not only takes away man’s sins, He delivers man from all the forces of sin, evil, disease, corruption, death, evil spirits, and Satan—and He shall deliver man eternally. This means a most wonderful thing: man is saved and delivered to the uttermost. He is given life eternal—fellowship and communion with God forever and ever—all to be enjoyed both now and in the new heavens and earth.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace....[that ye might know] what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:7, 19-22).

“Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:6-11).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage. For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham. Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:14-18).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

4. The old sacrifices failed to perfect man, but the one perfect sacrifice of Jesus Christ perfected forever those who are set apart unto God (v.14). If a person comes to God through Jesus Christ—really believing that Jesus Christ is the sacrifice for his sins—God sets that person apart as a believer, as a true follower of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

- ⇒ God counts the sacrifice of His Son for the person.
- ⇒ God counts the person as being free from the guilt and condemnation of sin.
- ⇒ God counts the person as being perfect and free from sin forever and ever.

But we must always remember why: because Jesus Christ really did take our sins upon Himself. He really did bear the guilt and judgment of our sins. He really did become our substitute and sacrifice; He really did give His life for us.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

4 (10:15-18) Holy Spirit: the witness to the perfect sacrifice is the Holy Spirit. Note that He bears witness in the Scripture (Jer.31:33-34. See outline and notes—Heb.8:10-12 for more discussion.) The point is this: the Holy Spirit works within the believer’s life and proves that Jesus Christ takes away the believer’s sin. How? By doing four things.

1. The Holy Spirit puts power within the believer’s heart and mind. He works within the believer to will and to do God’s pleasure. He stirs the believer to obey God and to seek His face continually. Even when we fail—which we all do too often—our hearts are stirred to seek forgiveness, to repent, to begin anew to follow and obey Him. This is the difference between the old and new testament. The old testament condemned us and had no power to stir and energize us to seek God. But the new covenant, the Holy Spirit within us, does have the power to forgive and to stir us to arise and follow God anew and afresh.

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day” (2 Cor.4:16).

“Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace” (Eph.2:15).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

2. The Holy Spirit imparts the knowledge of God and His will. The Holy Spirit draws the believer near God; He actually pulls the believer into the presence of God. He stirs the believer...

- to approach God through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.
- to seek fellowship and communion with God day by day.
- to seek God for day by day cleansing in the sacrifice of Christ.
- to walk faithfully, obeying the laws of God.

The Holy Spirit directs, teaches, guides, and quickens the believer to know and to follow God more and more and better and better.

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:24).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

3. The Holy Spirit bears witness that God forgives sin once-for-all. He bears witness that God has accepted the believer and adopted him as a child of God.

“But as many as receive him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

4. The Holy Spirit bears witness that there is no more need for sacrifice—that Jesus Christ is the perfect and eternal sacrifice for sin. The Holy Spirit gives absolute assurance of salvation. He is the security of the believer.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God” (1 Cor.2:12).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“Now he [God] which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest [guarantee, witness] of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:21-22).

“In whom [Christ] ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest [guarantee, witness] of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abodeth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth” (1 Jn.5:6).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

A. The New and Living Faith, 10:19-21

(10:19-21) Introduction: think about this for a moment. Who is God to most people?

- ⇒ To some people, God is the Creator of the world. However, He is far off in outer space someplace, not too interested in them nor in their day to day affairs. They just go about living and doing pretty much the way they want. If they get in a troublesome spot and need help, they can call upon God and He might or might not help. God is just some big being off in some other world who is to be believed, but it is not necessary to get too concerned over Him since He is so far away.
- ⇒ To other people God is Someone to be feared. They think He is the Judge who hovers over them watching their every move and punishing them for every wrong. They fear lest God bring some kind of trouble upon them, some disease, trouble, heartache, loneliness, emptiness, and sorrow.
- ⇒ To other people, God may exist or He may not exist. If there is a God, He is far, far away—so far removed that we cannot know Him nor ever hope to know Him. There just is not enough evidence that God exists, not in the physical world. And even if God does exist, we certainly cannot know Him in any personal sense.

This is not the God being presented here; this is not the God that sent our Lord Jesus Christ to earth.

- ⇒ God is not a God who is far off and unconcerned with us.
- ⇒ God is not a God to be feared and dreaded.
- ⇒ God is not a God who cannot be known.

God can be known and approached: we can fellowship and commune with Him, walk and talk with Him as we move throughout the day. How? By the new and living faith—by the living faith wrought by Jesus Christ. Man no longer has to walk through life...

- with written words alone.
- with faith in written promises alone.
- with faith in a future hope only.

Man can now have a living faith, a faith that actually lives and moves and has its being within his heart. He can experience a faith that is quickened and made alive to his heart and life, a faith that is so imprinted upon his heart and life that he knows with absolute assurance that the promises of God are sure—a faith that is actually experienced day by day.

This is the discussion of this passage: the new and living faith established by God through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

1. It is boldness to enter the holiest, the very presence of God (v.19-21).
2. It is having a High Priest over the house of God, that is, heaven (v.22-25).

1 (10:19-20) Faith—Jesus Christ, Death: What is the new and living faith? First, it is having boldness to enter the presence of God. The word “boldness” (parresian) means to enter God’s presence freely and openly, with confidence and assurance. Just imagine...

- being able to enter the presence of God freely and openly.
- knowing God personally and intimately.
- fellowshiping and communing with God.
- having God guide and direct, look after and care for, provide and protect, strengthen and deliver us with joy, rejoicing, assurance, confidence, and victory over all the trials and temptations in life.

Imagine having God take care of one’s life like that. This is what the new and living faith is: it is boldness to enter God’s presence, to know God intimately and personally, experiencing His fellowship, presence, and power all the time. It is living and moving and having our being in God.

How is this possible? How can a person know God so personally and intimately? By the blood of Jesus Christ. The death of Jesus Christ opened up a new and living way for us to approach God. It opened up a way that brings us right into the holiest place of all, into the very presence of God.

Note the reference to the holiest place (v.19) and to the veil or curtain (v.20). This refers to the Holy of Holies of the Jewish tabernacle where the presence of God dwelt and to the veil which separated God's presence from man. The Holy of Holies stressed the holiness and majesty of God—how unsearchable and separate God is from man and His world of imperfection and sin. The veil symbolized that man was cut off from God; man's sin and imperfection made him unacceptable to God. This, of course, meant a significant fact: as long as the veil was there, man could not approach God. The only way man could ever approach God would be if God rent the veil and opened up the way into His presence.

This is the glorious message of this passage. God has rent the veil through the flesh of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ (v.20). The veil symbolized the body of the Lord Jesus. When the body of the Lord Jesus was rent, the veil of the tabernacle was rent and the way was opened up into the presence of God forever. What does this mean? It means this: when the body of Christ was rent upon the cross, man was no longer separated from God by sin and imperfection. The rent body of Christ means...

- that Christ bore the sins and guilt and judgment of men for them.
- that Christ frees man from sin and guilt and judgment by His rent body.
- that Christ has opened up the way for man to enter God's presence by His rent body.

Now, back to the original question: How can a person know God personally and intimately? How can a person enter the presence of God freely and openly? By the blood of Jesus, by the rent body of our Lord. A veil no longer separates man from God. There is only one thing that stands between God and men, that is Jesus Christ, the rent body of the living Lord. The way into God's presence is now opened through Christ. But note: it is opened only through Christ, only through His rent body. He is the new and living way to God. He is the object of the new and living faith that is to be placed in God.

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:1-2).

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith in him” (Eph.3:12).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus....let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19, 22).

2 (10:21) Jesus Christ, High Priest: What is the new and living faith? Second, it is having a High Priest of God over the house of God. What is the house of God?

- ⇒ It is heaven, where the very presence of God is and where the home of believers is.
- ⇒ It is the great house God is building, the church of the living God.
- ⇒ It is the great house of faith, the house which includes all those who believe.

The point is this: our High Priest is not a High Priest over an earthly temple or worship sanctuary that ages, deteriorates, and passes away. Our High Priest is over the very presence of God. He is the High Priest who can usher us into the very presence of God Himself and into the eternal dwelling place of God.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the Perfect Priest who has made the perfect sacrifice for sins—once-for-all.

Therefore, He is able to lead us into the presence of God and present us as perfect and acceptable before God. He is able to lead us to know God, to fellowship and commune with God and to do it on a continued basis. As the great Priest over God's house He is able to feel and sympathize with our infirmities and to help us in times of need.

This is what is meant by the new and living way, the new and living faith. Faith in Christ opens up the presence of God. When a person comes to God through Jesus Christ, he has access to God—access to God's love and care, protection and provision, power and presence. God becomes actively involved in the person's life—fellowshipping and communing and looking after the person day by day.

Thought 1. Remember: not all believers take advantage of the open door into God's presence and care. Too many neglect their fellowship and communion with Him. Jesus Christ has provided the most wonderful thing in the world for us—access into the very presence of God Himself. We must learn to share and fellowship with Him in an unbroken communion.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:14-15).

“So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee” (Heb.5:5).

“Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec [the eternal order]” (Heb.6:19-20).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens; who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people’s: for this he did once, when he offered up himself” (Heb.7:25-27).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens; a minister of the [eternal] sanctuary, and of the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man” (Heb.8:1-2).

“But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:11-14).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God” (Heb.10:19-21).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

B. The Way to Secure the New and Living Faith, 10:22-25

(10:22-25) Introduction: this great passage tells us the most wonderful thing. We can now know God, really know Him. We can commune and fellowship with Him and have His presence and power operating in our lives. God's presence and power can conquer all the problems, trials, and temptations of life that attack us. The living God can be a living reality in our lives. His presence and power can conquer all the enemies of life, including the last great enemy, death. How? How can we lay hold of such a new and living faith—lay hold of the living God in our lives? This great passage tells us.

1. Let us draw near God (v.22).
2. Let us hold fast our profession of faith (v.23).
3. Let us stir up one another: to love and to do good works (v.24).
4. Let us not forsake worshipping together (v.25).

1 (10:22) Access—Heart—Conscience: the first duty is to draw near God. Jesus Christ has opened up the way into God's presence for us. He has taken our sins upon Himself and bore the guilt and judgment of them for us. He has freed us from sin, removed all sin off of us. He is now ready to present us to God as being sinless and righteous. Jesus Christ has made us acceptable to God. He has provided a new and living way into the holiest place of all, into the very presence of God Himself. We can now know God, know Him personally and intimately; we can now commune and fellowship with God, have His presence and power in our lives as we walk day by day. Therefore, let us draw near God. But note: how we approach God is important. He has to be approached in a particular way; some preparation is necessary in order to approach Him.

1. We must have a "true heart." This means genuine, sincere, honest, meaningful, and without hypocrisy. A true heart involves an attitude of gladness, freedom, and enthusiasm (Marvin Vincent. Word Studies In The New Testament Vol.4, p.501). The true believer knows that Jesus Christ has opened the door into God's presence; therefore...

- he is thankful and appreciative
- he is glad and joyful
- he feels free and at liberty to enter God's presence
- he is enthusiastic and excited about entering God's presence

There is no hypocrisy or insincerity, no dishonesty whatsoever in a true heart. A true heart knows what Jesus Christ has done—the great impact and meaning of what He has done. A true heart knows that it can really draw near God—that it can know God and commune and fellowship with Him. It knows that it can walk in praise and thanksgiving to God all day—that it can have the presence and power of God looking after and caring for it all day—that God will deliver from all trials and temptations and give victory and triumph over all. The true heart knows what it is to draw near God—what it is to live in an unbroken communion and fellowship with Him.

Thought 1. Too many of us are so wrapped up in the world that we forget to "draw near God." We forget the wonderful thing Jesus Christ has done for us—that He has actually opened up a new and living way into the very presence of God Himself.

Too few of us have true, sincere hearts—hearts that continually draw near God. We must awaken and heed this charge. It is our duty, a duty that is absolutely necessary: "Let us draw near with a true [sincere, genuine, honest] heart."

2. We must have "full assurance of faith." Full assurance means unqualified assurance in Christ, that He is the One Person who can and does give us access into God's presence—that Christ and Christ alone makes us acceptable to God. It means to be absolutely convinced that the sacrificial death of Jesus Christ is the only perfect sacrifice—that His sacrificial death is the only sacrifice that God accepts.

Thought 1. Too many people have divided loyalties. They do not have the full assurance of faith—full assurance that Jesus Christ is absolutely sufficient to present them perfect before God. Too many think that they are acceptable to God...

- because they are good persons and do a great deal of good works.
- because they belong to and attend church.
- because they have been baptized and confirmed.
- because they have never done anything considered really bad.

All of these are good things, and everyone of us should live good and decent, moral and just lives. But these are not what makes us acceptable to God. Jesus Christ alone can bring us into the presence of God and present us to God. When we approach God, we must have full assurance of faith in Jesus Christ—absolute assurance that Jesus Christ is the sacrifice for our sins, the perfect High Priest who can present us to God.

3. We must have hearts and bodies perfectly cleansed and washed. This is a picture of the High Priest cleansing and washing himself before he entered God's presence in the Holy of Holies, the inner sanctuary of the Jewish tabernacle. He sprinkled himself with the blood of the sacrificial animal and washed himself. This symbolized that his own sins were being forgiven. His own evil conscience was being cleansed and the sins of his body were being washed away.

The point is this: before we approach God, we must be cleansed of sin and its guilt—cleansed by the blood of Jesus Christ. We have to approach God through Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ alone is the perfect sacrifice for sins; He alone has made the perfect sacrifice for our sins. Therefore, the only way we can be cleansed of sin is to trust Jesus Christ. If we really trust His sacrifice, then God accepts His sacrifice for us. God cleanses us of sin. He gives us a clean conscience and washed body—a conscience cleansed of evil and guilt and a body washed from sin.

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us” (Acts 17:27).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:1-2).

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:12).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus....Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:19, 22).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye doubleminded” (Jas.4:8).

“The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit” (Ps.34:18).

“But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy works” (Ps.73:28).

“The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth” (Ps.145:18).

2 (10:23) Profession—Confession: the second duty is to hold fast our profession without wavering. A person who makes a true profession in Christ believes two things:

⇒ that Jesus Christ is his Savior from sin and death—that Jesus Christ is the perfect sacrifice for his sins—that Jesus Christ and His sacrifice covers his sins and makes it possible for God to forgive his sins.

⇒ that Jesus Christ is the risen Lord—that Jesus Christ is his High Priest who is seated at the right hand of God—that Jesus Christ is the perfect Mediator and Intercessor who makes him acceptable to God and presents him as perfect and sinless before God.

When a person professes Christ to be his Savior and Lord, he is to hold his profession fast and he is to do it without wavering.

⇒ The believer is not to listen to the voices of the world and return to worldliness and materialism.

⇒ The believer is not to doubt that Jesus Christ died for him.

⇒ The believer is not to doubt that Jesus Christ arose for him.

⇒ The believer is not to listen to the voices of doubt and false teaching.

⇒ The believer is not to let circumstances, trials, or temptations shake his faith in Christ.

Note: there is one strong reason for holding our profession fast. What is it?

⇒ “God is faithful that promised.”

God keeps His Word. And He is the One who has promised to let the sacrifice of Christ count as the sacrifice for our sins. God is the One who has promised to accept us in Christ—to accept us in His perfection and righteousness. God will do exactly what He has said. He is faithful. Therefore, “let us hold fast the profession of our hope without wavering.” We have been saved and will inherit eternal life—given the glorious privilege of living with God forever and ever in the new heavens and earth.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Prove all things; hold fast that which is good” (1 Th.5:21).

“But Christ as a son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end” (Heb.3:6).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb.4:14-16).

"Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)" (Heb.10:23).

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (Jas.1:12).

"Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.1:13).

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world" (1 Pt.5:8-9).

"Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness" (2 Pt.3:17).

"Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee" (Rev.3:3).

3 (10:24) Believer's Duty—Love—Ministering—Service: the third duty is to stir up one another to love and to do good works. Note the word "consider" (katanoomen). It means to give attention to; to fix our attention upon; to give continuous care; to watch over. What an exhortation to believers!

- ⇒ Give attention to one another.
- ⇒ Fix your attention upon one another.
- ⇒ Give continuous care to one another.
- ⇒ Watch over one another.

How different the church would be—how much stronger we would be in Christ and in life—if we heeded this exhortation! And note what it is that we are to give attention to: to make sure that we are stirred up and living for Christ—that we are loving one another and doing good works. This simply means...

- that we are considerate of one another.
- that we show concern for one another.
- that we meet one another's needs.
- that we strengthen one another's weaknesses.
- that we help one another through every trial and temptation.

It means that we love—love in act and not in word—that we...

- feed the poor
- visit the sick and shut-ins
- look after the orphans and the children of broken homes and single parents
- become a friend to the lonely
- give direction to the empty and those without purpose.

Note the exhortation again: we give attention to one another. Why? To make sure none of us are slacking up—to stir one another to love and to do good works. This is the duty of the new, living faith Jesus Christ has wrought for us. It is not a dead faith. It is a faith that stirs us to action—that stirs us to live, truly live, live in love and good works—for the sake of a needful and sick world.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Mt.5:16).

"A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (Jn.13:34-35).

"This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you" (Jn.15:12).

"Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good" (Ro.12:9).

"For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law" (Ro.13:9-10).

"And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you" (1 Th.3:12).

"That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate" (1 Tim.6:18).

"In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity" (Tit.2:7).

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works" (Heb.10:24).

"Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works" (Jas.2:17-18).

"Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently" (1 Pt.1:22).

"Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation" (1 Pt.2:12).

- 4 (10:25) Church, Attendance—Worship: the fourth duty is to assemble together and never to forsake our assembling, not even to neglect it for a brief time. This is the meaning of this exhortation. Believers are to assemble together...
- for worship
 - for prayer
 - for the study of God’s Word
 - for ministry and witnessing

Read the verse closely and it is clearly seen that the idea is often: we are to assemble together often and never to forsake our coming together. Genuine believers need each other—the presence, fellowship, strength, encouragement, care, and love of each other.

But note: some had forsaken the church even in the day of the early church. How like some in every generation. The need is just what this verse says: exhort one another, and so much the more, as you see the day approaching. What day? The day of the Lord’s return. His return is immediately upon us. Therefore, we must exhort those who have fallen away, lest they miss the salvation of His coming and have to face His judgment.

Thought 1. William Barclay has an excellent application on this point that merits our attention as we minister this verse to our people. He takes the three points from Moffatt in the International Critical Commentary. He says there are three reasons which keep a person from worshipping with other Christian believers.

- 1) “He may not go to Church because of fear. He may be ashamed to show his loyalty by being seen going to church. He may live or work among people who laugh at those who go to Church. He may have friends who have no use for that kind of thing, and he may fear their criticism and their contempt. He may try to be a secret disciple; but it has been well said that to be a secret disciple is impossible because either ‘the discipleship kills the secrecy, or the secrecy kills the discipleship.’ It would be well if we remembered that, apart from anything else, to go to Church is to demonstrate where our loyalty lies. Even if the sermon be poor and the worship tawdry, the Church still gives us the chance to show to men what side we are on.
- 2) “He may not go because of fastidiousness. He may dislike the common people; he may shrink from contact with people who are ‘not like himself.’ There are churches, even in this country, which are as much clubs as they are churches. They may be in neighbourhoods where the social status has come down; and the members who have remained faithful to them would be as much embarrassed as delighted if the poor people and the slumdweller in the area came flooding in. We must never forget that there is no such thing as a ‘common’ man in the sight of God. It was for all men, not only for the respectable classes, that Christ died.
- 3) “He may not go because of conceit. Frankly, he may believe and state that he does not need the Church; that he is intellectually beyond the standard of preaching there. Social snobbery may be bad, spiritual and intellectual snobbery is worse. The wisest man is a fool in the sight of God; and the strongest man is weak in the moment of temptation. There is no man who can live the Christian life and neglect the fellowship of the church. If any man feels that he can do so let him remember that he comes to Church, not only to get, but to give. He ought to come not only to receive, but to make his own contribution to the life of the church. If he feels that the Church has faults, it is his duty to come in and to help to mend them” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.136f)

“And there was one Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser: she was of a great age, and had lived with an husband seven years from her virginity; and she was a widow of about fourscore and four years, which departed not from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day” (Lk.2:36-37).

“And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up: and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read” (Lk.4:16).

“And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy: and were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God” (Lk.24:52-53).

“God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth” (Jn.4:24).

“And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart” (Acts 2:46).

“Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour [daily]” (Acts 3:1).

“But when they [Paul and his company] departed from Perga, they came to Antioch In Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and sat down” (Acts 13:14).

“But unto the place which the LORD your God shall choose out of all your tribes to put his name there, even unto his habitation shall ye seek, and thither thou shalt come” (Dt.12:5).

“Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever” (Ps.23:6).

“LORD, I have loved the habitation of thy house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth” (Ps.26:8).

“One thing have I desired of the LORD, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple” (Ps.27:4).

“Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and causest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple” (Ps.65:4).

“My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the LORD: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God....Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee” (Ps.84:2, 4).

“For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness” (Ps.84:10).

“I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the LORD” (Ps.122:1).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

C. Warning Four: The Danger of Apostasy, of Withdrawing from Christ, 10:26-39

(10:26-39) Introduction: this is the most severe warning ever given to Christian believers. It is the fourth warning given in the Book of Hebrews. The warning is difficult to understand for anyone not living in the days when it was written. The whole passage is an attempt to tell Christian believers two things:

- ⇒ How to keep their faith strong (Heb.10:22-25).
- ⇒ Their faith in Jesus is the only way of salvation (Heb.10:26-39).

This is a warning that has to be heeded by all believers. There is the danger of apostasy...

1. The warning: if we go on sinning wilfully (v.26-27).
2. The certainty of punishment: merits much greater punishment (v.28-29).
3. The Judge: the Living God (v.30-31).
4. The appeal to drifters (v.32-39).

1 (10:26-27) Sin, Wilful—Judgment: the warning is strong—if we go on sinning wilfully, there is no longer any sacrifice for our sins. There is no sacrifice anyplace that can take away our sins if we continue to sin. There is only judgment awaiting us.

What is wilful sin? It is choosing to live a life of sin instead of living a life of godliness; it is deliberately choosing to live for this world and self instead of living for Christ.

- ⇒ It is choosing to live for the world and never turning to God.
- ⇒ It is choosing to sin and never repenting and turning to God.

Wilful sin is choosing to continue on and on in a life of sin and never turning to God. This person—the person who wilfully sins—shall never have any sacrifice for sin. The only conceivable way he can ever be acceptable to God is to repent and turn to Christ as the sacrifice for his sins. He must trust that Jesus Christ died for his sins—actually sacrificed His life for man's sins. Jesus Christ is the only sacrifice for sins that is acceptable to God. Therefore if the wilful sinner—the person who continues on and on living for this world and for sin—is ever to be saved, he has to forsake his sin and turn to the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for cleansing.

But note a critical fact: this passage is not written to the unbeliever who wilfully sins. It is written to the person who has received the knowledge of the truth and wilfully sins. It is written...

- to those who have “full knowledge” (epignosis) of the truth (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.413).
- to those who have once acquired the knowledge of the Truth (Amplified New Testament).
- to those who received the knowledge of the truth, “the revelation through Christ” (Marvin Vincent. Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4, p.503).
- to those in whom “there is no lack of understanding of the truth” (Robert W. Ross. Hebrews. “The New Testament and Wycliffe Bible Commentary,” ed. by Charles F. Pfeiffer and Everette F. Harrison. New York, NY: The Iverson Associates. Produced for Moody Monthly and Moody Press of Chicago, 971, p.929).

The importance and severity of the warning is seen in the fact that most, if not all, of the above four writers would hold to the security of the believer. Yet, they recognize the seriousness of the warning to all who profess Christ. In fact, every honest and thinking interpreter (how often this is lacking) of Scripture is forced by this Scripture to issue a warning to believers: take heed. There is the danger of apostasy—of withdrawing from Christ and fellow believers.

This is a severe warning for every generation. In fact, this is probably the most severe warning given in all of Scripture. The passage must be put in context. The judgment is upon those who sin wilfully after knowing the truth. What truth? Verses 22-25 say that the sin can be one of four failures:

- ⇒ Failing to draw near to God.
- ⇒ Failing to hold fast.
- ⇒ Failing to stir up other Christians to love one another.
- ⇒ Failing to assemble and worship together.

What is the judgment pronounced? “There remains no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for judgment” (vs.26-27). Verse 30 says, “The Lord shall judge His people.” The meaning seems to be that from the point of continuing in wilful sin to the point of repentance or of being taken home, there is no sacrifice that can forgive sins. There is no animal sacrifice and no other sacrifice including the sacrifice of Christ that can atone for sin. As the Scripture says, “If I regard iniquity in my heart the Lord will not hear me” (Ps.66:18). Even if a person asks forgiveness, God cannot forgive so long as the person is insincere and continues to walk in sin. Even Christ’s sacrifice has no effect apart from a sincere approach and earnest plea for forgiveness. Yet for those who truly ask forgiveness, there is complete forgiveness and perfect cleansing (1 Jn.1:6-10, esp. 9).

When reading a passage such as this, a person must always keep in mind the teaching of all Scripture. The judgment of the believer does not mean the Christian’s salvation is lost. The Christian is saved by Christ’s righteousness—all through life and eternity—not by his own righteous acts. But wilful sin breaks the Christian’s fellowship with God and renders his service ineffective, and if he continues on and on in wilful sin, he shall suffer a great and fearful loss at the Judgment Seat of Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.5:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16 for more discussion.)

The meaning seems to be this: it does not matter what a person professes.

- ⇒ He may say that he has trusted Christ as his Lord and Savior...
- ⇒ He may have received the knowledge of the truth...
- ⇒ He may have turned away from the world and to Christ just as the seed thrown upon the rocky soil...

...but if he chooses to return to the world and to live a life of sin, there is no sacrifice that can forgive his sins. Not even the sacrifice of Christ can forgive his sins.

Does this mean that the man has committed the unpardonable sin and can never be forgiven—even if he repents and turns to Christ? Note that this passage does not say this—not any place. What the passage is saying is this: the death and sacrifice of Jesus Christ has no effect upon a person who continues to sin and sin (wilfully sinning)...

- no matter how much knowledge of the truth he has.
- no matter how much the person may profess that he knows Christ.

God cannot forgive so long as a person is insincere and continues to walk and walk in sin. The sacrifice of Christ has no effect apart from a sincere approach and godly walk after Christ. As stated above, Scripture says, “If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me” (Ps.66:18). However, we must never forget the teaching of Scripture about forgiveness, for if we do, there is no forgiveness for any of us. Scripture declares loudly and clearly that in Christ there is “redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our sins” (Eph.1:7).

Note a final fact about the warning: a person who has received the knowledge of the truth and returns to sinning has nothing to look forward to but judgment and the fury of wrath.

- ⇒ By judgment is meant the terrible day when the sins of men will be judged. And remember, there is no sacrifice that covers the sins of this person; therefore, he must bear his sins himself and face God.
- ⇒ By fiery indignation is meant a fierceness of fire (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.413); the burning of wrath and indignation (Amplified New Testament); a devouring fire and everlasting burnings (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.935).

“But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees come to his baptism, he said unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?” (Mt.3:7).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:8-9).

“But if our unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous who taketh vengeance? (I speak as a man) God forbid: for then how shall God judge the world?” (Ro.3:5-6).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6; cp. Col.3:6).

“For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come” (1 Th.1:9-10).

“For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:9).

“Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him” (Ps.2:12).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“So I swear in my wrath, They shall not enter into my rest” (Heb.3:11).

2 (10:28-29) Judgment: the certainty of judgment can be easily seen. This person merits much greater punishment than any other sinner. Why? Because he had received the knowledge of the truth and chose to turn back to the world and to live in sin. What does this mean? Note: this verse spells out exactly what this person does in the eyes of God. The person who knows the truth about Jesus Christ and continues to live in a life of sin commits three of the most terrible and heinous sins imaginable.

1. He tramples God’s very own Son underfoot. This is far worse than just ignoring and neglecting and being ignorant of Christ. It is knowing that Christ is the Son of God who came to earth to reveal God’s love and to save men, but...

- rejecting Christ for all to see.
- refusing to obey Christ in the presence of other people.
- denying Christ both by life and word.
- showing contempt for Christ by living in sin even when one knows better.
- insulting Christ by professing His name and yet living in sin and thinking one is getting away with it.

This person deserves more punishment than anyone else on earth. This is the point of this passage. There just is no sacrifice for such a person.

2. He counts the blood of Christ an unholy thing. This means that the person considers the blood of Christ as worthless and useless in saving a person. He knows and understands, and perhaps even once professed, exactly what Scripture teaches: that Jesus Christ sacrificed His life and shed His blood for the sins of men. But the person does not accept what Scripture says. There are two attitudes that are guilty of this:

- ⇒ Those who reject the blood of Christ because they think the way to God is by living and doing the best they can. They think that God will accept them if they are good and religious enough.
- ⇒ Those who reject the blood of Christ because to them blood is repulsive and distasteful. Christianity is what they call a bloody religion.

Remember: these persons understand the substitutionary sacrifice of Jesus’ blood for sins, but they reject it as the way to God. They deliberately choose what they would call a more tasteful religion of good works to reach God and gain His approval.

Again, this person deserves much more judgment than other sinners. Why? Because he knows the meaning of the blood of Christ, yet he counts it unholy—not worthy of God. And the great tragedy is: the blood of Jesus Christ is the very basis of God’s new covenant, the covenant of love, mercy, and grace.

God declares to these persons:

“Look at the sacrifice of my Son for you. He is the demonstration of my love for you—the perfect demonstration. I can do no greater thing for you than to die for you, just as you could do no greater thing than to die for someone else. I love you and I have shown you my love in the most supreme way possible: by letting my own Son take your sins upon Himself and bear the guilt of my justice and wrath against sin. He bore that wrath and condemnation for you. Now all you have to do is believe and honor Him by entrusting your life to Him. When you do this, I will accept you in His sacrifice. Believe this—look at it—commit your life to it. Why do you continue to count my Son’s blood as an unholy thing?”

3. He has despised the Spirit of grace, the very Person who showers the grace of God upon men, that is, the Holy Spirit. The word despise means to insult and outrage. How does a person show despite to the Holy Spirit?

- ⇒ By sensing the inner pull of the Spirit to repent and change and follow Christ, yet rejecting and ignoring the conviction of the Spirit. This insults Him and shows that the person despises Him.
- ⇒ By professing that one is a follower of Christ, yet continuing to live in sin. This insults the Spirit and shows despite for Him.

Again, the person who knows the truth, yet turns to the world and sin shall be punished—no matter what he professes. And we must never forget: those who professed to be God's people under Moses' law died without mercy. Of how much more punishment do you suppose we shall be thought worthy if we turn away from our profession?

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:8-9).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

3 (10:30-31) Judgment: the judge is to be the living God. This is a quote taken from the Old Testament (Dt.32:35-36). Note three facts.

1. We know God, who He is and what He can do. We know that God is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe who is holy, righteous, and pure. We also know that He rules and reigns and can do everything.
2. Therefore, we know that God must judge and condemn sin because He is holy, righteous, and pure. We know that God can judge and condemn sin and that He will. He must, for His very nature of holiness and perfection demands it.
3. Judgment is a terrifying thing. And note: God is living; He is the living God. Therefore, judgment shall be executed. Absolutely nothing shall ever be able to stop it. Some are going to fall into the hands of the living God.

“That upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel unto the blood of Zacharias son of Barachias, whom ye slew between the temple and that altar” (Mt.23:35).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:3).

“Seeing it is a righteous thing with God to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you” (2 Th.1:6).

“For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward” (Heb.2:2).

“For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:30).

“See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven” (Heb.12:25).

“Though they dig into hell, thence shall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down” (Amos 9:2).

“If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me” (Ps.66:18).

“But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear” (Is.59:2).

“And there is none that calleth upon thy name, that stirreth up himself to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from us, and hast consumed us, because of our iniquities” (Is.64:7).

4 (10:32-39) Judgment—Warning: the appeal to drifters is a much needed appeal for every generation. The appeal is a threefold appeal. Note how forcefully the three exhortations meet the need of the person who is drifting away from Christ. If the drifter will heed, he will save his soul and escape the coming judgment of God.

1. Remember your former Christian experience (v.32-34).
 - a. Remember your spiritual illumination: the time when the Spirit of God moved upon your heart and quickened the truth of Jesus Christ to you. You saw as never before what Christ had done for you—that He had sacrificed Himself for your sins to save you. And you professed Christ as your Lord and Savior.
 - b. Remember your endurance for Christ. You stood up for Him in the midst of all kinds of trials and afflictions. Note: apparently the Hebrew Christians had suffered misunderstanding, ridicule, mockery, abuse, suffering, and persecution.
 - c. Remember your standing with other believers as a suffering companion. Apparently the Hebrew Christians were severely persecuted by the world. To be a Christian believer was unpopular and a mockery to most in the society of that day. How often believers are misunderstood, ridiculed, mocked, abused, persecuted, and even martyred—all for the cause of Christ. Why suffer these things and then return to the world and have to soon face the judgment of God?

“Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory” (Ps.73:24).

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

- d. Remember the seizure of your property. The Hebrew believers even had their property confiscated by the government, yet during that period they stood fast. Imagine! Taking such a stand for Christ and yet needing to be warned against deserting Christ and falling under the judgment of God. How much more do we need to be warned?
 - e. Remember why you stood fast and bore so much for Christ. It was because of your hope for heaven and for a better and lasting inheritance—an inheritance that is incorruptible and undefiled and that fades not away.
2. Do not cast away your confidence and courage and endurance (v.35-37). The verses state it well: endure and you shall receive the promise of God’s reward. For in just a little while Christ is coming, and He will not tarry. His coming is assured, and when He comes, He will come with His reward. The word “patience” (hupomones) means to endure, persevere, and be steadfast in doing the will of God. What is the will of God?

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

God wills us to believe in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—in His sacrifice for our sins—and to love people. Loving people means that we live righteous and godly lives for their sakes and that we help them in every way we can.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

3. Live by faith and do not draw back (v.38-39).
- a. Faith preserves the soul; it is the only thing that can save the soul. The only way a person will ever be accepted by God and escape the judgment of God is to...
 - believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.
 - believe that He is the perfect sacrifice for sins—that Jesus Christ took our sins upon Himself and bore the guilt and punishment of them for us—that Jesus Christ has thereby freed us from sin and made us acceptable to God.

The person who believes this is just before God; he is counted righteous before God. The just person—all believers—shall live by faith and by faith alone (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Faith—Heb.10:38 for more discussion).
 - b. Drawing back from Christ displeases God. God is never pleased with a person...
 - who professes Christ and draws back into sin.
 - who has known the truth and draws back into sin.
 - who plays the hypocrite.
 - who has a form of religion but draws back from the sacrificial blood of His Son.

God has no pleasure in this person, no pleasure whatsoever. This means that He will judge the person who draws back.
 - c. Drawing back is not the way of the believer—not the genuine believer. “We are not of those who draw back unto perdition.” Some are; some professed faith in Christ and have now drawn back. But we are not of that number. “We believe to the saving of the soul.”

Thought 1. Endurance—perseverance, standing fast, holding on, being steadfast—is an absolute essential “to the saving of [our] soul” A person who really believes in Christ lives for Christ day by day. He does not draw back to live in sin. He is not perfect; no man is, but he does not continue on and on in sin. If he does, there is no more sacrifice for sin, not even the sacrifice of Christ.

“The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways: and a good man shall be satisfied from himself” (Pr.14:14).

“And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold” (Mt.24:12).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away” (Lk.8:13).

“When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself: and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first” (Lk.11:24-26).

“It is the Spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life. But there are some of you that believe not....From that time many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him” (Jn.6:63-64, 66).

“For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning” (2 Pt.2:20).

(10:38) Faith: the Christian believer is to walk by faith, not by feelings and emotions. The tendency of people, even of Christians, is to live by their feelings and emotions. They act according to their feelings. They experience some emotion, so they behave according to that emotion. If they feel bad, they act irresponsibly: grumbling, complaining, and reacting. If they feel good, they act happy. Their behavior is determined by how they feel and react to emotional experiences.

Living by one’s feelings is contrary to God’s will. “The just shall live by faith”—this is God’s will. The Christian is to let faith control him. He is to let faith control his life and the particular problems that confront him every so often.

How does a believer live by faith? What does it mean to live by faith? It means to do four things—consistently.

1. The believer is to commit his life and his problems to God—all day long—throughout all his waking hours. He is to take the experiences and the problems of his day and commit them to God once-for-all. He is to believe that God hears his commitment and gives the strength to walk triumphantly throughout the day. He is to know that God does not like a whining, whimpering child begging and begging for strength when all he is doing is wallowing around in self-pity.

2. The believer is to deny self. The feelings, emotions, and selfishness of his flesh are to be rejected, even ignored if necessary.

3. The believer is to act as though he has made a commitment to God. He has made a commitment, so he is to act like it. His feelings are immaterial. He is to act responsibly. He is to go ahead and do what he should be doing. He is to behave as he should.

4. Then while the believer is doing what he ought to be doing, he is to be asking God for His grace and strength. He is to be acknowledging God in all His ways throughout the whole day. He is to walk in prayer all day long, asking forgiveness as he comes short, slips, falls, praising, and thanking God for His eternal mercy and grace.

God does not direct the believer’s path and then the believer feels good and goes about doing right. It is while the believer is going about his affairs in a responsible way that God directs his paths. This is the life of the new and living faith wrought by the Lord Jesus Christ for those who believe and follow Him.

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

D. The Description of Faith, 11:1-6

(11:1-6) Introduction: this is one of the great chapters in the Bible. It is known as God's Great Hall of Fame. Men and women who have believed God down through the centuries are listed as being great men and women of God. The key to greatness with God is faith; the person who truly believes God is great in the eyes of God. The key to any of us being great in the eyes of God is faith—faith in God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The first part of this great chapter gives us an overall study of faith. It is the description of faith.

1. The meaning of faith (v.1).
2. The reward of faith: God's approval (v.2).
3. The basic understanding of faith: God made the world (v.3).
4. The spiritual power of faith (v.4-5).
5. The necessary beliefs of faith (v.6).

1 (11:1) Faith: the meaning of faith. What does faith mean? This is the only time the Bible ever defines faith. Time and time again, the Bible discusses faith and the great importance of faith. The Bible tells us that we must have faith—we must believe God—and it tells us the great things that happen to those who do believe God. The Bible also gives example after example of men and women who have and have not believed God and shows in clear terms what happened to each. But nowhere does the Bible define faith except here. Thus it is important that we clearly see just what faith means. The Biblical definition is this (see Heb.11:1 in each of the following author's commentaries for their discussion):

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (v.1).

"Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen" (v.1, New American Standard).

"Now faith is the assurance of the things we hope for, the proof of the reality of the things we cannot see" (v.1, Williams).

"Faith is being sure of the things we hope for, being convinced of the things we can't see" (v.1, Beck).

"Now faith is the assurance (the confirmation, the title-deed) of the things [we] hope for, being the proof of things [we] do not see and the conviction of their reality—faith perceiving as real fact what is not revealed to the senses" (v.1, Amplified New Testament).

"Now faith is the title deed of things hoped for, the conviction of things which are not being seen" (Kenneth Wuest).

"Faith means that we are certain of the things we hope for, convinced of the things we do not see" (William Barclay).

"Faith is a hope that is absolutely certain that what it believes is true, and that what it expects will come" (Barclay says this is what faith is to the writer of Hebrews).

"Faith is trust in the unseen. It is not trust in the unknown, for we may know by faith what we cannot see with the eye" (Wycliffe Bible Commentary).

"Faith apprehends as a real fact what is not revealed to the senses. It rests on the fact, acts upon it, and is upheld by it in the face of all that seems to contradict it. Faith is a real seeing" (Marvin Vincent).

"Faith is the substance, the foundation, the title deed, the assurance of things hoped for" (Oliver Greene).

That great servant of God of a former generation whom so many appreciate so much, Matthew Henry, makes some excellent statements that are well worth our thought:

“Faith and hope go together; and the same things that are the object of our hope are the object of our faith.

“It [faith] is a firm persuasion and expectation that God will perform all that He has promised to us in Christ; and this persuasion is so strong that it gives the soul...possession...of those things.

“Believers in the exercise of faith are filled with joy unspeakable and full of glory. Christ dwells in the soul by faith; and the soul is filled with the fullness of God.”

Now, what is faith? Look at the Biblical definition again.

“Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen” (v.1).

The word “substance” (hupostasis) means the foundation, assurance, title-deed, and guarantee of things hoped for. The word “evidence” (elegchos) means conviction.

According to most commentators, this is what is meant by these two words. Therefore, faith would be defined as:

“Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen.”

Look closely at what is being said and note that faith is being described as an act, an act of the mind and heart. That is, our heart and mind believe something and we have assurance and conviction that it is true. This is certainly true; faith is an act of the mind and heart. But many of the earlier interpreters understood “substance” (hupostasis) to mean real being, substantial nature, the real nature of a thing. Vincent points this out and even says that it suggests the real sense, but he backs off of the meaning and concludes that faith is basically an act of what he calls “moral intelligence directed at an object” (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.4, p.510).

This is not to argue with God’s dear servants who stress that faith is primarily an act of the mind and heart. It is only to say that Scripture seems to be saying that faith is more than an act. Scripture seems to be saying that faith is the actual possession of reality. Is this not what the definition “title-deed” is saying? The person who holds the title-deed to property actually possesses the property. It is his already. Certainly from God’s perspective, we already possess His promises; He has already seated us in the heavenlies, and we already possess eternal life. It is not that we are going to possess it; we already possess it. The point is this: holding the title-deed to property and possessing something is more than assurance and conviction. It is possessing reality, actually holding something that is substantial and real. It is possessing the land, the promises of God. Faith is possessing the substance of the promises of God, the evidence of things not seen. If I possess them, the substance is there; the evidence is there. The substance and evidence, the fact that I already possess them, are my assurance and conviction. This is important to note and bears repeating: the substance and evidence, the fact that I already possess eternal life, is the basis of my assurance and conviction, of never tasting and experiencing death.

Now, what does all this discussion mean? It means this: faith is the substance, the actual possession, of things hoped for, the evidence and reality of things not seen. It is both an act and a possession of the thing believed. It is believing and trusting in that which actually exists—in that which we can possess. We may not be able to see it, but it is real and existing, and we can possess it by believing and having faith in it. We can possess it now—we cannot see it, but we can actually possess the very substance of it by believing and entrusting our lives to it.

- ⇒ Faith is trusting and possessing all that God is and says.
- ⇒ Faith is believing and possessing all that God is and says.
- ⇒ Faith is having confidence in and possessing all that God is and says.
- ⇒ Faith is hoping for something and possessing it because God is (exists) and has promised it.

Thought 1. Note what Biblical faith is not. It is not...

- “I think so, I hope so.”
- “It may be so; it may not be so.”
- “It might be true; it might not be true.”

Biblical faith does not deal with what is unreal, imaginary, fanciful, visionary, superficial, or deceptive. Biblical faith is the knowledge, experience, and possession of things hoped for. True Biblical faith deals only with truth and reality. It is...

- knowing what is real.
- experiencing what is real.
- possessing what is real.

2 (11:2) Faith: the reward of faith. What is the reward of faith? God’s approval. God is pleased, very pleased, when we believe Him and His promises. This is the point of this verse. The elders, great men of God who lived in the past, believed God and followed God. They turned away from the world and its possessions and pleasures and followed God. They believed God, that He had much more to offer—that His promises of an eternal land and of eternal life were true. Therefore they staked their lives, all they were and had, upon that hope. And their faith in God pleased God to no end. Therefore, God accepted their faith and has honored them because of it. He has, of course, honored them by recording their faith in His Word and using their example as a challenge to believers of every generation. But God has also honored them by fulfilling their faith; God has taken them on home to be with Him.

Thought 1. The reward of faith is God’s approval, and when God approves us, He accepts us into His eternal presence. This simply means that God looks after and cares for us, giving us victory over all the enemies of this world—including death—and He does it for eternity. The approval of God means that God fulfills all His promises to us. The promises of God become a living reality in our experiences, both daily and eternally.

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Then came he to Derbe and Lystra: and, behold, a certain disciple was there, named Timotheus, the son of a certain woman, which was a Jewess, and believed; but his father was a Greek: which was well reported of by the brethren that were at Lystra and Iconium” (Acts 16:1-2).

“First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world” (Ro.1:8).

“And we have sent with him [Titus] the brother, whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches” (2 Cor.8:18).

“To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved. In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:6-7).

“Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yea, and we also bear record; and ye know that our record is true” (3 Jn.12).

3 (11:3) Faith—Creation: the basic understanding of faith—that God has made the world. Note the word “understanding” (noeo). It means to perceive with the mind, to understand, to know a true fact. Some say the belief that God made the world is only an assumption, that it is the beginning point in building the Christian’s beliefs and theology. There is both truth and error in this charge. The error is found in the word assumption. The truth is this: the Christian begins with a fact that is true: God did create the world. The Christian believer’s starting point is more than an assumption—it is an understanding, a true fact, the very basic fact that God did create the world. This understanding is based upon four things:

- ⇒ The world itself: looking at and observing the world, and studying and thinking about its origin, purpose, and end.
- ⇒ The Bible, the Word of God, the written revelation of God.
- ⇒ The Lord Jesus Christ, the living revelation of God.
- ⇒ The witness of the Holy Spirit who is given to every believer. He bears witness that Jesus Christ and the Word of God are true. This is critical, for it is a fact, as any true Christian believer can testify. When a person believes in the Lord Jesus Christ, God puts His Spirit into the heart and life of the believer. The Holy Spirit seals, guarantees, bears witness that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and that the promises and teachings of God’s Word are true.

The point is this: the Christian believer has four strong sources that show the origin, purpose, and end of all things; and all four are undeniable. How can this be said? How can we say that these witnesses are undeniable?

- ⇒ Because we can look and observe the world. The world is real; it is truth. The world does exist.
- ⇒ Because we can look and observe the Bible, its teachings and promises at work in human lives—the lives of those who believe it. The Word of God sitting there and working itself out in lives is real. The Word of God is truth; it is absolutely true that it exists and works in human lives just as it claims.
- ⇒ Because we can know the Lord Jesus Christ through a study of the records of His life. He lived, and the fact that He lived is truth. But we can also see that the very things He claimed are at work in human lives. Jesus Christ can be studied and known in the lives of those who truly believe and follow Him. For Jesus Christ lives in the lives of true believers and followers of His.
- ⇒ Because we can know and see the work of the Holy Spirit in lives as discussed above.

Again, the believer has four strong witnesses that bear testimony that God is—that He exists and that He has created the worlds. Where did the worlds come from? A chart is probably the best way to grasp what the believer understands as opposed to what the unbeliever understands.

When a believer looks at the origin of the world, he sees...

1. God
2. God’s Word—God willed and spoke
3. Matter appeared, the worlds were created by God’s Word
4. The things seen were made by God

When an unbeliever looks at the origin of the world, he sees...

1. Nothing—absolutely nothing
2. Nothing—absolutely nothing
3. Matter appeared; some gas or force formed out of absolutely nothing
4. The things seen were made by just appearing out of absolutely nothing

The point is this: we were not here when God created the world, but we believe that a Supreme Being, God Himself, created the world.

- ⇒ The world says that a Designer made the world.
- ⇒ The Bible, the Word of God, says that God made the world.
- ⇒ Jesus Christ says that God made the world.
- ⇒ The Holy Spirit bears witness to the believer’s heart that the claims and promises of the Word of God are true.

Therefore, the basic understanding of the believer is that God is (exists) and that He has created the world. God is the Person who is behind life and the world of life. God gave breath to man and His world. He made the things that are seen.

Thought 1. Matthew Henry has an excellent exposition on this point that merits our study.

“By faith we understand much more of the formation of the world than ever could be understood by the naked eye of natural reason. Faith is not a force upon the understanding, but a friend and a help to it. Now what does faith give us to understand concerning the worlds?...

1. “That these worlds were not eternal, nor did they produce themselves, but they were made by another.

2. “That the maker of the worlds is God: he is the maker of all things.

3. “That he made the world with great exactness; it was a framed work, in everything duly adapted and disposed to answer its end.

4. “That God made the world by his word, that is, by his essential wisdom and eternal Son, and by his active will, saying, Let it be done, and it was done, Ps.33.

5. “That the world was thus framed out of nothing, out of no pre-existent matter...[by] God, who can call things that are not as if they were, and command them into being. These things we understand by faith.

“The Bible gives us the truest and most exact account of the origin of all things, and we are to believe it, and not to wrest or run down the scripture-account of the creation, because it does not suit with some fantastic hypotheses of our own, which has been in some learned but conceited men the first remarkable step towards infidelity, and has led them into many more” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.938).

Thought 2. William Barclay also has his usual practical comments that are helpful in the personal application of this point to our lives.

“The writer to the Hebrews goes further. He says that it is an act of faith to believe that God made this world. Then he goes on to say that the things which are seen emerged from the things which are not seen. Now when he said that he was aiming a blow at current belief. It was current belief that God created the world out of already existing matter, and not out of nothing. Further, it was current belief that this existing matter was flawed and that therefore from the beginning this is a flawed world because it is made from flawed material. The writer to the Hebrews insists that God did not work with existing material; God created the world from nothing. Now when he argued like this he was not interested in cosmological speculation. He was not interested in the scientific side of the matter. What he wanted to stress was the fact that this is God’s world. If we can grip the fact that this is God’s world, that God is responsible for it, then two things follow. First, we will use it as such. We will remember that everything in it is God’s and we will try to use it as God would have us use it. Second, we will remember that, even when it does not look like it, somehow God is in control. If we believe that this is God’s world then there comes the faith and the hope which enable us to do the most difficult thing in the world—to accept what we cannot understand. If we believe that this is God’s world then into life there comes a new sense of responsibility and into life there comes a new power of acceptance, for everything belongs to God, and all is in the hands of God” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.147f).

“Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee” (Neh.9:6).

“He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing” (Job 26:7).

“For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods” (Ps.24:2).

“By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth” (Ps.33:6).

“The sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land” (Ps.95:5).

“Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands” (Ps.102:25).

“Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever” (Ps.104:5).

“And when they heard that, they lifted up their voice to God with one accord, and said, Lord, thou art God, which hast made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all that in them is” (Acts 4:24).

“Hath not my hand made all these things?” (Acts 7:50).

“And saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and preach unto you that ye should turn from these vanities unto the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein” (Acts 14:15).

“Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear” (Heb.11:3).

4 (11:4-5) Faith, Power of—Abel—Enoch—Cain: the spiritual power of faith. The power of faith is the message of the glorious gospel, the glorious hope that God has given from the beginning of time. The power is twofold and it is given in the most meaningful way possible, by showing how the power takes effect in the lives of believers. Two believers who experienced the power of faith were Abel and Enoch.

1. Faith has the power to be counted as righteousness. No greater gift could be given us than to give us the glorious privilege of being counted righteous by God.

⇒ To be counted righteous is the great need of man, for we are not righteous. And unless some way can be found to cause God to count us righteous, we shall never be allowed to live with God.

Abel tells us there is a way to be counted righteous. How? By approaching and worshipping God exactly like He says, that is, by the sacrifice of blood. What does this mean?

When Adam and Eve sinned, they became aware of their nakedness. Nakedness is a symbol of their being aware and conscious of sin (cp. Gen.3:9-10). God loved them; therefore, He provided clothing to cover their nakedness. Note what the clothing was. It was coats or skins from animals, a symbol that sin had to be covered by the shedding of blood. This was a symbol that pointed to the blood of Jesus Christ, the blood of God's Son, that had to be shed in order to cover the sins of men.

The point is this: from the very first parents on earth, God laid it down that the sin and guilt of man had to be borne by either man himself or by a substitute. Man had to die for his own sins or else a substitute had to be sacrificed for his sins. Adam and Eve taught this to their children. Note what happened.

“And Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived, and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the LORD. And she again bare his brother Abel. And Abel was a keeper of sheep, but Cain was a tiller of the ground. And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the LORD. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the LORD had respect unto Abel and to his offering: but unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. And the LORD said unto Cain, Why are thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him. And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him” (Gen.4:1-8).

“By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh” (Heb.11:4).

The difference between the two offerings was this: Abel believed God and approached and worshipped God exactly as God said: through the sacrifice of another, the sacrifice of an animal. But Cain did not believe God. He did not accept God's Word; he did not approach God through the sacrifice of another. He made a material sacrifice and offering to God: he approached God through money and earthly gifts, through the efforts and fruits of human works, the fruit borne of the earth, the fruit borne by his own human, frail, aging, and dying hands.

Very simply, Abel believed God. He recognized just what Scripture says: that he was sinful and imperfect and that he could never be acceptable to God who is perfect and holy, not until his sins and their guilt had been paid for and removed. Abel knew that his sins had to be removed—that he had to be counted righteous before he could ever be accepted by God. Therefore, he believed God would count him righteous if he let another bear his sins for him. He believed exactly what Scripture proclaims to us.

“[Jesus Christ] who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

This is the power of faith: faith gives us the power to be counted righteous.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

Thought 1. Note that Cain approached God; he was religious. But his religion was a formal religion:

⇒ a religion of ritual, form, and ceremony.

⇒ a religion of personal sacrifice and works, of doing good and even of sacrificing in order to do good.

⇒ a religion of man, of his own choosing, of his own ideas and imaginations as to how he was to approach God.

What an indictment of so many religions! What a challenge to search our hearts and lives to make sure that we are worshipping God through His own dear Son who died for our sins.

2. Faith has the power to give us a day by day walk with God and to deliver us from death. What a glorious gift: the presence and power of God as we walk day by day and the eternal deliverance from death. Enoch illustrates this:

“And Enoch walked with God: and he was not; for God took him” (Gen.5:24).

“By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God” (Heb.11:5).

Enoch believed God, believed that if he walked and fellowshiped with God day by day then God would look after and care for him. Therefore Enoch walked with God and God looked after and cared for him. God even conquered death for Enoch. When Enoch was ready to go home to God, God transferred him right on into heaven, right into God’s very own presence. Enoch experienced the promise that is made to every believer: we shall never taste or experience death.

⇒ Enoch’s faith gave him a day by day walk with God—the knowledge and fellowship, care and provision, protection and deliverance of God.

“Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:4-7).

“That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us” (Acts 17:27).

“God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord” (1 Cor.1:9).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, by double minded” (Jas.4:8).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

“The LORD is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit” (Ps.34:18).

“The LORD is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth” (Ps.145:18).

⇒ Enoch’s faith gave him the longed for deliverance from death.

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Then said the Jews unto him [Christ], Now we know that thou hast a devil. Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou sayest, If a man keep my saying, he shall never taste of death” (Jn.8:52).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

Thought 1. Oliver Greene has an excellent application on Enoch that stirs the glorious hope of conquering death:

“It has been said that Enoch was walking with God one day, and they walked and talked so long in such sweet fellowship that near nightfall God said to Enoch, ‘It is nearer to my house than to your house, so let us go on to my house.’ That is a wonderful way to think about it, but the Bible simply tells us that ‘Enoch walked with God, and was not, for God took him,’

“...the record of Enoch, though very brief, is in a very unique place in the Word of God. In Genesis 5, beginning with verse 5, we read:

‘And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years - AND HE DIED.’

‘And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years - AND HE DIED’ (v.8).

‘And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years - AND HE DIED’ (v.11).

‘And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years - AND HE DIED’ (v.14).

‘And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five years - AND HE DIED’ (v.17).

‘And all the days of Jared were nine hundred sixty and two years - AND HE DIED’ (v.20).

‘And all the days of ENOCH were three hundred sixty and five years: and Enoch walked with God, AND HE WAS NOT, FOR GOD TOOK HIM’ (vv.23,24).

‘And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred sixty and nine years - AND HE DIED’ (v.27).

‘And all the days of Lamech were seven hundred seventy and seven years - AND HE DIED’ (v.31).

“From these passages we note that Enoch lived in one of the darkest periods of human history, he lived in the midst of dying men, and yet he did not die. He was translated; God took him to heaven - alive.

“Enoch is definitely a type of the New Testament saints who will be translated when the church is caught up to meet the Lord in the air, in the midst of an age of wholesale death and in an hour darker than any yet known to man! Surely that hour is upon us. Surely these are the days known as ‘the beginning of sorrows.’ The darkest hour is always just before dawn, and surely the night is far spent. Surely Jesus will come quickly. We do not know the day or the hour of His coming, but we do believe He is coming soon” (The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews. Greenville, SC: The Gospel Hour, 1965, p.448f).

5 (11:6) Faith—God, Existence: the necessary beliefs of faith. This is one of the great verses of Scripture, a verse that should be memorized and held within the heart of every believer, layman as well as minister:

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (v.6).

1. It is impossible to please God without faith. By faith is meant a living, active faith, a faith that knows and follows God, communes and fellowships with God. It does not matter what a person does; without faith he cannot please God. It is utterly impossible to please God without faith. What does this mean? The person will never be acceptable to God nor accepted by God. Without faith the person will never live with God, not in this world nor in the next world. Without faith, a person has to plow through this life all alone and handle all the trials, temptations, sufferings, accidents, diseases, and death by himself. Without faith, a person stands all alone in this world—utterly without God. It is impossible for him to please God. The Greek scholar Kenneth Wuest says:

“The writer lays down an axiomatic truth. He uses the aorist tense in the infinitive ‘to please.’ The statement is universal in its application and timeless. The idea is, ‘Without faith it is impossible to please Him at all” (Hebrews, Vol.2, p.198).

“Verily, Verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness” (Jn.3:11).

“He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:18).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

2. The person who comes to God must believe two things.

a. He must believe in God—that God is—that God exists. The words “must believe” (pisteusai dei) mean necessary and essential, absolutely necessary and essential. A.T. Robertson says it is a “moral necessity to have faith....The very Existence of God is a matter of intelligent faith...so that men are left without excuse (Ro.1:19f)” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.420f).

⇒ A person must look at the worlds (heaven and earth) and at himself—at the existence, design, order, and end of all things—and believe in God.

HEBREWS 11:1-6

- ⇒ A person must look at the Word of God, the Holy Bible, and believe in God.
- ⇒ A person must look at Jesus Christ, the very Son of God, who reveals God to man, and believe in God.
- b. He must believe that God rewards those who diligently seek Him. Note the word “diligently” (ekzetousin). It means to seek out God; to diligently seek to find Him and to follow Him. God does not reward the sleepy-eyed, complacent, non-thinker, half-interested, worldly-minded, pleasure seeker. God rewards those who diligently seek to know and follow Him. The idea is that we must be in earnest and persevere and endure to the end. What is the reward to those who diligently seek God? It is the same reward given to Abel and Enoch: righteousness and God’s care in this life and deliverance from death unto eternal life.

“And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened” (Lk.11:9-10).

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us” (Acts 17:27).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.4:29).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chro.7:14).

“I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me” (Pr.8:17).

“And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart” (Jer.29:13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(11:6) Faith: a person can grow in faith and power. Faith and power can be developed by doing two things.

1. By practicing hope (Heb.11:1), that is, by hoping for something and claiming it because God has promised it.
2. By diligently seeking God (Heb.11:6). Christ tells us what is meant by diligent seeking. It means...
 - a. To “hunger and thirst after righteousness” (Mt.5:6).
 - b. To “ask...seek...knock” (Mt.7:7-8).
 - c. To “seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness” (Mt.6:33).
 - d. To “pray and fast,” that is, to persevere in prayer (Mt.17:21).

The person who needs something and lives on his face in prayer before God (asking, seeking, and knocking) will experience God answering his need. Thus he will be encouraged to trust God, that is, to seek and knock even more and more. A genuine faith in God lives before God. That is what faith is: living before God. Faith is entrusting one’s life to God. It is trusting God, depending upon God, believing God, seeking God, conversing with God, sharing with God, and fellowshiping with God. A person who really believes that God exists will do these things.

The greater the need, the greater amount of time true faith spends alone with God discussing the need. The greater the need, the more diligent true faith seeks the answer to its need.

What happens is this: as a person diligently seeks God, he discovers that true faith diligently lives before God in prayer and devotion and is given what it hopes for. Therefore the person learns to trust God more and more. He grows in faith.

One thing, however, always needs to be remembered. God is not going to reward sinful, carnal trust, nor is He going to reward a doubting trust. If He answered a doubting trust or a carnal hope and prayer, then the doubting and carnal person would begin to think that the life he is living is acceptable to God. God does not approve sinful and carnal living, nor does He approve a doubting heart. God honors righteous living and a believing heart. It is the person who truly lives righteously and believes enough to diligently seek God who grows and grows in faith (Jas.4:3; 1 Cor.3:1-3. Cp. Mt.20:21.)

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

E. Noah's Faith: A Fearful, Reverent Faith, 11:7

(11:7) Introduction: Noah stands as a great example in believing God and in believing God's warning of coming judgment. His faith was unique in that it was a fearful, reverent faith.

1. His faith: a faith that promptly obeyed with fear (v.7).
2. His reward (v.7).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(11:7-40) Faith: this begins the list of the believers included in God's Great Hall of Fame. The first two mentioned, Abel and Enoch, should also be added to it, although they are discussed in the overall description of faith. They illustrate the spiritual power of faith (v.4-5).

Note: each of the believers illustrate a certain kind of faith. For example, glance at the title of Noah's faith above and it is seen that he illustrates a fearful, reverent faith. A glance at the Outline of Hebrews, pt. IV, will give the reader a quick overview of the various kinds of faith illustrated by the great men and women of God. They stand as dynamic examples to us, a stirring challenge for us to believe God in the midst of a corrupt, godless, and dying world.

Note that many of these are covered in one verse or just a few verses at most. However, they are separated and discussed in separate outlines in order to stress their unique faith. The preacher and teacher may wish to cover several in one message or lesson.

1 (11:7) Noah—Faith: Noah's faith was a faith that promptly obeyed with fear (cp. Gen.5:5-8:22).

"By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith" (v.7).

"And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them. But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD....The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence. And God looked upon the earth, and behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth. Make thee an ark of gopher wood; rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch....And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven; and every thing that is in the earth shall die. But with thee will I establish my covenant; and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives with thee. And of every living thinking of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female....Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he" (Gen.6:5-8, 11-14, 17-19, 22).

Note two points about Noah's faith.

1. There was a time back in world history when the earth had become so wicked that it was filled with corruption and violence. It was so corrupt that every imagination of man's heart was corrupt and evil. Man had reached the point of no return; he would never repent and return to God. God was left with no choice: the earth had to be destroyed. But there was one man on earth who was godly—Noah. Noah worshipped and honored God in his life. Therefore, God warned Noah of the coming judgment upon the earth.

- ⇒ God told Noah to prepare an ark and the ark would save him, his family, and two of every animal.
- ⇒ God also told Noah to warn the world of coming judgment.

Note how Noah received the warning from God: he was “moved with fear.” The word “fear” (eulabethe) means with godly fear (A.T. Robertson Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.421). It has the idea of...

- reverence
- standing in awe of God and His warning
- taking heed lest one fall under God’s judgment
- diligently taking God at His Word
- immediately acting upon what God says

Noah believed God’s warning of coming judgment, and he began to build the ark with a godly fear and reverence, knowing that what God said would come true. God’s judgment would fall upon the earth; Noah believed it and knew it by faith.

Thought 1. God is going to judge the earth a second time—the whole earth, every man and woman. God has warned the earth. His judgment upon the corruption and violence of men is going to fall upon men. We must fear God, fear Him...

- with a godly fear and reverence.
- by standing in awe of Him and His warning.
- by taking heed lest we fall under His judgment.
- by diligently taking Him at His Word.
- by immediately acting upon what He has said.

Our only hope is to believe God, believe Him with a fearful, reverent faith.

2. Noah stood fast in his faith despite the mockery of the world. Noah lived far, far inland from the ocean; he was nowhere close to the sea or to the shipbuilding yards of the world. Yet, there he was building a ship as large as an ocean liner. Imagine the laughs, mockery, scorn, and abuse Noah suffered. Imagine how often he was called a fool and thought to be insane. But Noah was faithful:

- ⇒ He preached the righteousness and coming judgment of God. In the eyes of the world he was nothing more than a fool preacher, but the mockery and abuse did not deter him. He remained faithful and continued to proclaim the truth and to warn the people—all just like God had told him to do.
- ⇒ He also continued to build the ark—continued to work at saving himself and his own house and as much life as possible upon earth. Noah continued on and on, walking in godly fear, believing the sheer Word of God about coming judgment.

Thought 1. A world that lives by science and technology is tempted to trust in nothing beyond itself. Science and technology tend to draw and focus all attention upon the world of sense and feelings, of comfort, and pleasure, of possessions and self. Therefore, the idea of God and of coming judgment is ignored. And if anyone preaches it, he is ridiculed, mocked, scorned, and often abused. We must be faithful to God, for God is. God does exist, and God is going to judge the world.

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world” (1 Jn.4:17).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son” (Jn.5:22).

“And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead” (Acts 10:42).

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ” (Ro.14:10).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels. In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“Before the LORD: for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth” (Ps.96:13).

“I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work” (Eccl.3:17).

2 (11:7) Noah—Faith: Noah’s reward was threefold.

1. Noah’s house was saved. Noah believed God—believed the warning of God about coming judgment. Therefore, God saved him. Everyone else around Noah died—to be separated from God forever. Why? Because they did not believe God’s warning about coming judgment. Note that Noah’s whole house was saved. Noah’s wife and children were blessed to have a godly father, a father who could teach and guide them into the truth. Remember that his sons had married. The young ladies who had married them had done so despite the stigma of the family being a God-fearing family. They could have married men of the world, but they chose to join the family of God, identifying themselves with the God of God’s people. Therefore, God saved them as well as Noah (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.941).

2. The world was condemned; that is, Noah’s faith was vindicated. The world had mocked and ridiculed Noah’s faith and belief in God’s warning of judgment. But God vindicated Noah’s faith; God judged the world. And the world saw that Noah had been right all the time.

William Barclay states it well:

“Noah’s faith was a judgment on others. That is why, at least in one sense, it is dangerous to be a Christian. It is not that the Christian is self-righteous; it is not that the Christian is censorious; it is not that the Christian goes about finding fault with other people; it is not that the Christian says: ‘I told you so.’ It often happens that the Christian simply by being himself is passing judgment on other people. Alcibiades that brilliant, but wild, young man of Athens used to say to Socrates: ‘Socrates, I hate you, for every time I meet you, you show me what I am.’ One of the finest men who ever lived in Athens was Aristides, who was called ‘the just.’ But they voted to banish and to ostracise him. One man, being asked why he had so voted, answered: ‘Because I am tired of hearing Aristides called the just. There is a danger in goodness, for in the light of goodness evil stands condemned” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.160).

3. Noah was counted righteous (dikaios). Noah believed God and God counted his faith as righteousness. He “became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.” As Matthew Henry says, Noah had faith in the promised Seed, the Savior whom God was someday going to send to earth (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.941). There is nothing else upon earth that can cause God to count a man righteous but faith—faith in the promised Seed, the Savior of the world, even the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

F. Abraham's Faith (Part I): An Obedient, Hopeful Faith, 11:8-10

(11:8-10) Introduction: Abraham demonstrates one of the greatest examples of faith in the Bible. He believed against all odds and he endured in his faith. Abraham's faith was an obedient, believing faith—a faith that genuinely obeyed and believed God.

1. His faith: a faith that obeyed God (v.8-9).
2. His reward: the hope that looked for a heavenly city (v.10).

1 (11:8-9) Abraham—Faith: Abraham's faith was a faith that obeyed and hoped in God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; notes—Ro.4:1-25; 9:7-13; Gal.3:6-7; 3:8-9; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:8, 16.)

“Now the LORD had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will show thee: and I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing; and I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed. So Abram departed, as the LORD had spoken unto him; and Lot went with him; and Abram was seventy and five years old when he departed out of Haran. And Abram took Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gotten in Haran; and they went forth to go into the land of Canaan; and into the land of Canaan they came” (Gen.12:1-5; cp. Gen.11:26-32).

“And the LORD said unto Abram, after that Lot was separated from him, Lift up now thine eyes and look from the place where thou art northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward: for all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed for ever. And I will make thy seed as the dust of the earth: so that if a man can number the dust of the earth, then shall thy seed also be numbered. Arise, walk through the land in the length of it and in the breadth of it; for I will give it unto thee” (Gen.13:14-17).

“After these things the word of the LORD came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward. And Abram said, Lord GOD, what wilt thou give me, seeing I go childless, and the steward of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus? And Abram said, Behold, to me thou hast given no seed: and, lo, one born in my house is mine heir. And, behold, the word of the LORD came unto him, saying, This shall not be thine heir; but he that shall come forth out of thine own bowels shall be thine heir. And he brought him forth abroad, and said, Look now toward heaven, and tell the stars, if thou be able to number them: and he said unto him, So shall thy seed be. And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness. And he said unto him, I am the LORD that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land to inherit it” (Gen.15:1-7).

“And when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the LORD appeared to Abram, and said unto him, I am the Almighty God; walk before me, and be thou perfect. And I will make my covenant between me and thee, and will multiply thee exceedingly. And Abram fell on his face: and God talked with him, saying, as for me, behold, my covenant is with thee and thou shalt be a father of many nations. Neither shall thy name any more be called Abram, but thy name shall be Abraham; for a father of many nations have I made thee. And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, and I will make nations of thee, and kings shall come out of thee. And I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee. And I will give unto thee, and to thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God....And God said unto Abraham, As for Sarai thy wife, thou shalt not call her name Sarai, but Sarah shall her name be. And I will bless her, and give thee a son also of her: yea, I will bless her, and she shall be a mother of nations; kings of people shall be of her. Then Abraham fell upon his face, and laughed, and said in his heart, Shall a child be born unto him that is a hundred years old? and shall Sarah, that is ninety years old, bear? And Abraham said unto God, O that Ishmael might live before thee! And God said, Sarah thy wife shall bear thee a son indeed; and thou shalt call his name Isaac: and I will establish my covenant with him for an everlasting covenant, and with his seed after him” (Gen.17:1-7, 15-19).

“And the angel of the LORD called unto Abraham out of heaven the second time, and said, By myself have I sworn, saith the LORD, for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son: that in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice” (Gen.22:15-18).

“And he said, Men, brethren, and fathers, hearken; The God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham, when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charan, and said unto him, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall show thee” (Acts 7:2-3).

“By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:8-10).

Note two things about Abraham’s faith.

1. God gave Abraham a great call. He called and challenged Abraham to be a witness to the other people of the world—a witness to the only living and true God. God challenged Abraham to separate himself from the world and to follow God—to leave his home, friends, employment, and his country. If Abraham would heed and obey God’s call—if Abraham would obey God unquestionably—then God would do three wonderful things for Abraham.

⇒ God would cause a people to be born of his seed (Gen.12:1-5; Ro.4:17-18).

⇒ God would bless all nations through his seed (Gen.12:2; Ro.4:17-18; Gal.3:8, 16).

⇒ God would give him a promised land, the land of Canaan (Gen.12:1; Ro.4:13; Heb.11:8-10, 13-16).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:14-17).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

2. Abraham obeyed God; he believed God. Note exactly the kind of faith he had.

a. He had a decisive, obedient faith. He obeyed, and he went out not knowing where he went. When God called, he acted immediately. He did not hesitate, argue, question, equivocate, or waver back and forth. He obeyed. As soon as he heard the call of God, he got up and followed God; he acted decisively.

Note a significant fact about following God. Abraham did not know where he was going. He did not know where following God would lead him. He just believed the promises of God; therefore, he acted upon his belief. He believed; therefore, he obeyed.

Thought 1. A person who truly believes God obeys God. There is no such thing as belief without obedience, not genuine belief.

Thought 2. No person knows where his faith will lead him, but he is not to fear following God. God is good and He has only good things in store for any true follower of His. If we draw back and do not believe and follow God, then we shall miss out on the promises of God.

b. He had a hopeful, obedient faith. Note that Abraham never received the inheritance of the promised land, and he never saw a nation of people born of his seed. In fact, Abraham never even owned a piece of land upon which he could settle and live. He was only a sojourner, a wanderer from place to place in a strange country. He even lived to a ripe old age, seeing both his son and grandson born, and he witnessed them become the heirs of promise. But even they were heirs of the promise, not the inheritors of the land. He never even saw them receive one parcel of land. But despite it all—despite what appeared to be all kinds of odds against the promises of God ever being fulfilled—Abraham still believed in God. He still believed in the hope God had given him. He believed it so strongly that he even taught the same promises to his son Isaac and to his grandson Jacob.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock” (Mt.7:24-25).

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(11:8-9) Abraham—Faith: What did Abraham believe? (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25; note—9:7-13; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.3:8, 16.)

1. He believed that God would create a nation through his seed (Gen.12:2-5; Ro.4:17-18).
2. He believed that God would give a child against all odds (Gen.15:1-6; Ro.4:18-22; Heb.11:11-12).
3. He believed in the eternal city (Heb.11:8-10, 13-16).
4. He believed in God’s power to raise the dead (Heb.11:17-19).

2 (11:10) Abraham—Faith: Abraham’s reward was the great city which had foundations, whose builder and maker is God. The great heavenly city was his hope. This verse plainly says that Abraham’s faith was the faith that looked beyond this world to heaven. This is a phenomenal declaration: that Abraham believed in the heavenly city of God, in a future life—a life that would put him in the presence of God forever and ever. Yet, this is exactly what is declared in this Scripture by the Holy Spirit through the writer to the Hebrews. Paul even says that the promise made to Abraham was “that he should be the heir of the world” (Ro.4:13). This refers, of course, to the new heavens and earth (cp. 2 Pt.3:10-13; Rev.21:1f).

The point to see is the great faith of Abraham. He believed that God was going to give him the land of Canaan which was a type or symbol of the great land of heaven, the great city whose builder is God.

“For the promise, that he should be their heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:16).

“But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels” (Heb.12:22).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:1-4).

“And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God” (Rev.21:10).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

“And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book” (Rev.22:19).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

G. Sarah's Faith: An Impossible Faith, 11:11-12

(11:11-12) Introduction: Sarah is a dynamic example of what it is to believe the impossible. She believed the impossible; therefore, she saw God do the impossible.

1. Her faith: a faith that believed the impossible (v.11).
2. Her reward: the promised son and nation (v.12).

1 (11:11) Sarah—Faith: Sarah's faith was a faith that believed the impossible.

“And they said unto him, Where is Sarah thy wife? And he said, Behold, in the tent. And he said, I will certainly return unto thee according to the time of life; and, lo, Sarah heard it in the tent door, which was behind him. Now Abraham and Sarah were old and well stricken in age; and it ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women. Therefore Sarah laughed within herself, saying, After I am waxed old shall I have pleasure, my lord being old also? And the LORD said unto Abraham, Wherefore did Sarah laugh, saying, Shall I of a surety bear a child, which am old? Is any thing too hard for the LORD? At the time appointed I will return unto thee, according to the time of life, and Sarah shall have a son. Then Sarah denied, saying, I laughed not; for she was afraid. And he said, Nay; but thou didst laugh” (Gen.18:9-15; cp. Gen.17:15-22).

“And the LORD visited Sarah as he had said, and the LORD did unto Sarah as he had spoken. For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken to him. And Abraham called the name of his son that was born unto him, whom Sarah bare to him, Isaac. And Abraham circumcised his son Isaac being eight days old, as God had commanded him. And Abraham was a hundred years old, when his son Isaac was born unto him” (Gen.21:1-5).

“Who against hope believed in hope, that he [Abraham] might become the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken, So shall thy seed be. And being not weak in faith, he considered not his own body now dead, when he was about an hundred years old, neither yet the deadness of Sarah's womb: he staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised he was able also to perform” (Ro.4:18-21).

“Through faith also Sarah herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age [90 years old], because she judged him faithful who had promised. Therefore sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the sea shore innumerable” (Heb.11:11-12).

Note two significant facts.

1. Sarah had difficulty believing God at first. When she first heard the promise of God she doubted the promise. In the Genesis account the Lord appeared and talked with Abraham right outside the door of Abraham's tent. Sarah hid in the tent with her ear up close so she could hear the conversation. When she overheard the Lord promise a child to Abraham, Sarah laughed, for she and Abraham were well past child-bearing age (cp. Gen.18:12). They were both humanly sterile.

Thought 1. The promises of God do sound unbelievable. Just think how corrupt, sinful, evil, savage, violent, and doomed to death the human race is. Any daily news media is filled with illustrations of man's corruption. Yet God loves the world, loves it so much that He has promised “the seed” of the Savior to the world. Just think how unbelievable this sounds.

- ⇒ God has promised a Savior who will bear the sins of man for him and present him to God as righteous.
- ⇒ God has promised a Savior who will save man from the corruption and death of the world, a Savior who can give man life—eternal life in a new heavens and earth.

2. Sarah considered the matter: who it was that was making the promise, God Himself, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. When Sarah considered this, the change in her was dramatic: if it was God who was making the promise, then God could be counted (judged) faithful. God always fulfills His promises. God could do it no matter how difficult the situation was...

- despite the human impossibility.
- despite the fact that all reason spoke against it.
- despite the fact that nature had to be overridden.

Sarah believed God. She switched from unbelief to belief. She trusted the promise of God. Therefore, she bore a child at the age of ninety. It was a miraculous birth, but God had promised and He fulfilled His promise.

Thought 1. God cannot lie; He cannot deceive people. Therefore, the promises of God—every single one of them—shall be fulfilled. But note: the promise of the seed, that is, of the Savior, applies only to those who believe.

“But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible” (Mt.19:26).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth” (Mk.9:23).

“And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me: nevertheless not what I will, but what thou wilt” (Mk.14:36).

“For with God nothing shall be impossible” (Lk.1:37).

“I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee” (Job 42:2).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

“Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God” (Ps.62:11).

“Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“Trust ye in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:4).

2 (11:12) Sarah—Faith: Sarah’s faith was rewarded. She received the promised son and nation through her seed. This refers to two rewards:

- ⇒ the gift of the seed Isaac and of the nation of Israel.
- ⇒ the gift of the seed Christ and of the nation of believers, of the new creation of born again men and women, those who shall be citizens of God’s new heavens and earth (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.3:8, notes—Gal.3:16; Eph.2:11-18; 2:14-15; 3:16; 4:17-19. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25.)

Sarah believed the impossible, and God rewarded her faith: she received the impossible. Look at Israel. Israel exists today because Sarah believed the impossible promise of God. Look at the believers around the world, those who profess to be born again by the sacrifice of Jesus Christ for their sins. They exist today because Sarah believed the impossible promise of God.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again” (Jn.3:3, 5-7).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten [born again] of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh: but he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God” (Ro.2:28-29).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

H. The Patriarch's Faith: A Pilgrim's Faith, 11:13-16

(11:13-16) Introduction: believers are only strangers and pilgrims on earth. They are only passing through this earth and this life which is ever so brief and corrupt. They are heirs and citizens of heaven. This passage is a picture of the great faith of believers, the faith of God's pilgrims upon earth.

1. Their faith: a faith that endures that forever seeks an unseen, heavenly country (v.13-15).
2. Their reward (v.16).

1 (11:13-15) Patriarchs—Faith—Pilgrimage: the patriarch's faith was a faith that endured, that forever sought an unseen, heavenly country. The word patriarch refers to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and other ancient men who had great faith in God and His promises. The point to see is this: these all died believing what God had promised and not a single one of them ever received the promise on earth. If they were to receive them, they had to accept them by faith. Believing them—hoping in them—was the only way they could possess them. Note four points.

1. Their faith was a visionary faith. They saw the promises of God afar off, not by sight but in their hearts and minds. What was the promise? It was the promise...
 - of a country (v.14).
 - of a better country, a heavenly world (v.16). Christ Jesus even said that Abraham saw His day and rejoiced in the hope of it (cp. Jn.8:56).

Thought 1. How much more we can see and understand the promises of God. Christ has already come once. To believe that He shall return is much easier than Abraham believing that He was coming the first time. Abraham had no precedent, whereas we do.

2. Their faith was a growing faith.
 - ⇒ They saw the promise of God and were thankful to God for the privilege of seeing it.
 - ⇒ They were persuaded of the promises of God. They believed that the promises were true, that there was a promised land and that God was going to give it to them. They believed in God and that what God promised He was going to fulfill.
 - ⇒ They embraced (aspasameno) the promises. The word means to greet and welcome. They were ever so thankful and appreciative to God for such a glorious hope as the promised land. They rejoiced and loved the promise, setting their eyes upon it and not looking away.
 - ⇒ They confessed that they were only strangers and pilgrims upon earth, just passing through until they could inherit the glorious hope of the promised land. They confessed the glorious hope to all; they bore testimony and witness and did so unashamedly that God had given them the hope of the promised land.
3. Their faith was a working faith. They actively sought after the promised land and declared the fact to all.
 - ⇒ They did not just sit back and talk about the promised land, thinking that God would take them to it when it was time.
 - ⇒ They did not go on about their lives upon this earth ignoring the promised land, thinking that they were good enough and God would never reject them from inheriting it.

The early believers actively sought after the promised land. They got up and went looking for it, leaving the world and its possessions behind. By their separation from the world and seeking after God's promises, they declared plainly that they were men and women of true faith.

4. Their faith was an enduring faith. They never returned to the country they had left. They had separated from the world and began a search for the promised land of God and they stayed on the search.

- Simply stated, they kept their mind and thoughts upon the promised land.
- ⇒ They did not harbor the thoughts of the old world's pleasures and desires, possessions and indulgences, feelings and comforts.
 - ⇒ They did not return to the old world when they had the chance.
 - ⇒ The patriarchs endured to the end. In fact, they went to their grave believing in the great hope of God for the promised land.

“And being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform” (Ro.4:21).

“For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Ro.8:38-39).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth” (Heb.11:13).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

“Hear my prayer, O LORD, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were” (Ps.39:12).

“I am a stranger in the earth: hide not thy commandments from me” (Ps.119:19).

2 (11:16) Faith—Reward: the reward of the patriarchs. Their reward was twofold.

1. They received God’s approval. God is not ashamed to be called their God. Note the present tense: they are still living, even today. And so is God. God is acting now; it is today that He is unashamed. He is the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob today, and He is not ashamed to be called their God. Just imagine! These great patriarchs have been alive and living in God’s presence for thousands of years (cp. Mt.22:32; Mk.12:26; Lk.20:37). God loves and commits Himself to all who believe Him and His promises. He is not ashamed and never will be ashamed of those who confess that they seek Him and the country He has promised.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

“For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain” (Ph.1:21).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth” (Heb.11:13).

“And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them” (Rev.14:13).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord: (For we walk by faith, not by sight:) we are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. Wherefore we labour, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him. For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:6-10).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved. In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:6-7).

“Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine” (Ex.19:5).

2. They received the promised land. God prepared a city for them, a heavenly city that will last forever and ever.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:16).

“But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels” (Heb.12:22).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:1-4).

“And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God” (Rev.21:10).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

“And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book” (Rev.22:19).

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

I. Abraham's Faith (Part II): A Sacrificial Faith, 11:17-19

(11:17-19) Introduction: this act of Abraham is the supreme act of faith. This is the picture of sacrificial faith, the faith which God demands of every man, the faith without which a person shall never inherit the promises of God.

1. His faith: a faith that obeys God regardless of cost (v.17-19).
2. His reward: deliverance (v.19).

1 (11:17-19) Abraham—Faith: Abraham's faith was a faith that obeyed God regardless of cost. This demand made upon Abraham was the supreme act of faith (cp. Gen.22:1-18).

“And it came to pass after these things, that God did tempt Abraham, and said unto him, Abraham: and he said, Behold, here I am. And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of. And Abraham rose up early in the morning, and saddled his ass, and took two of his young men with him, and Isaac his son, and clave the wood for the burnt offering, and rose up, and went unto the place of which God had told him....And they came to the place which God had told him of; and Abraham built an altar there, and laid the wood in order, and bound Isaac his son, and laid him on the altar upon the wood. And Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son. And the angel of the LORD called unto him out of heaven, and said, Abraham, Abraham: and he said, Here am I. And he said, Lay not thine hand upon the lad, neither do thou any thing unto him: for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son from me....And the angel of the LORD called unto Abraham out of heaven the second time, and said, By myself have I sworn, saith the LORD, for because thou hast done this thing, and hast not withheld thy son, thine only son: that in blessing I will bless thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice” (Gen.22:1-3, 9-12, 15-18).

“By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called: accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure” (Heb.11:17-19).

Note two significant points.

1. God's unbelievable command. God commanded Abraham to take Isaac and to offer him up as a sacrifice to Him. To say the least this was a most unusual command, that is, God commanding that a human sacrifice be made to Him. William Barclay has a comment about this fact that states it well:

“To some extent this story has fallen into disrepute nowadays. It does not appear in syllabuses of religious education because it is held to teach a view of God that can no longer be accepted. Or, failing that, it is held to teach that the point of the story is that it was in this way that Abraham learned that God did not desire human sacrifice. There were days when men considered it a sacred duty to offer up their first-born sons to God, before they learned that God would never desire a sacrifice like that. No doubt that is true; but if we want to see this story at its greatest, and if we want to see it as the writer to the Hebrews saw it, we must take it at its face value. It was the response of a man who was asked to offer to God his own son” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.171).

What was God doing? We can say several things.

- a. God was testing the faith of Abraham in the most supreme way possible. We must always remember that God had made the supreme promises to Abraham:
- ⇒ The supreme promise of the seed of the Savior, of God's very own Son.
 - ⇒ The supreme hope of the promised land and of dwelling in the very presence of God Himself. And the inheritance was to be for eternity.
 - ⇒ The supreme promise of an unlimited nation of people, a people that would endure forever.
 - ⇒ The supreme promise of being a blessing to all the nations of the world, an eternal blessing.
- A man who had received the supreme promises of God had to be tested in the most supreme way possible. And, no doubt, in light of what God demanded of Abraham, the most supreme way in Abraham's day and time was to demand that Abraham sacrifice his only son. Remember how difficult this was for Abraham. He loved Isaac dearly, for Isaac was not only his only son, but Abraham's whole life—his past and future were wrapped up in Isaac. Abraham had lived for Isaac, his only son. All the promises of God to him were wrapped up in Isaac. What an unbelievable faith Abraham had!
- b. God was using the offering of Isaac as a sacrifice to symbolize the offering up of God's only Son as the sacrifice for man's sins. God was also using Abraham's faith that God could raise up the dead to proclaim that man must believe that God can raise the dead. God is going to; therefore, man must believe it in order to be resurrected.

"The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world" (Jn.1:29).

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (Jn.15:13).

"For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly" (Ro.5:6).

"For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures: and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve" (1 Cor.15:3-5).

"Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal.1:4).

"And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour" (Eph.5:2).

"Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:14).

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:18-19).

"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren" (1 Jn.3:16).

"And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the firstbegotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

- c. God was also teaching that man must trust God to the ultimate degree. Man must be willing to sacrifice the thing he loves the most and holds dearest to his heart. He must love God supremely, love God and His promises above all else. God will not accept second best and divided loyalty. He demands to be first in the life of every person. A person either puts Him first or else he is unacceptable to God and misses out on the promises of God.

2. Abraham's great faith was the ultimate faith. Abraham considered and thought through the demand of God. He knew God was God; therefore...

- he knew that God gave no foolish commands.
- he knew that God could stop him anywhere along the road to the mountain where he was to sacrifice Isaac, and if not, then God could raise Isaac from the dead.
- he knew that God never broke His promises and that God could not fulfill His promises without Isaac.

Abraham counted God trustworthy—true and faithful to His promise. Therefore, he stepped out to follow God supremely.

Thought 1. Note how Abraham loved God supremely. Abraham put God above all, even above the person whom he loved the most, his own dear son.

"But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Mt.19:26).

"Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth" (Mk.9:23).

"For with God nothing shall be impossible" (Lk.1:37).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God” (Ps.62:11).

“But our God is in the heavens: he hath done whatsoever he hath pleased” (Ps.115:3).

2 (11:19) Abraham—Faith—Reward: Abraham’s reward was deliverance, the deliverance of his son from the dead. The idea is this: Isaac was as good as dead in Abraham’s mind. Abraham was totally committed to sacrifice Isaac; he was totally committed to love God and His Word supremely. That was enough for God. God had His answer. Abraham believed God and loved Him above the most dear thing on earth. Therefore, when God stopped the judgment upon Isaac, it was like a resurrection from the dead. The point to us is the three lessons given in the former note:

- ⇒ We must trust God supremely, love and trust Him above everyone and all else.
- ⇒ We must believe God even when we cannot understand the ways and commands of God.
- ⇒ We must trust the sacrifice of God’s own dear Son for our sins and trust His resurrection as the assurance of our being resurrected and living forever with God.

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:24-25).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:53-54).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“But God will redeem my soul from the power of the grave: for he shall receive me” (Ps.49:15).

“Thou, which hast showed me great and sore troubles, shalt quicken me again, and shalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth” (Ps.71:20).

“I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes” (Hos.13:14).

	J. Isaac's Faith: A Repentant Faith, 11:20
1. A faith that believed in the things to come despite sin	20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

J. Isaac's Faith: A Repentant Faith, 11:20

(11:20) Introduction: Isaac is the prime example of a person who believes the promises of God, but needs to repent before he can receive them. Isaac is an example of the person who believes in the things to come despite sin.

1 (11:20) Isaac—Faith: Isaac's faith was a faith that believed in the things to come despite sin (Gen.27:1-40). Isaac believed that God would fulfill His promises through his sons, fulfill His promises despite the selfishness and conniving deception of his sons.

Jacob was the younger son who stuck closer to his mother. He was somewhat of a homebody. Esau was Isaac's older son, a true outdoorsman just like Isaac. Therefore, Isaac preferred Esau. He wanted Esau to receive the greater blessing of God, in particular he wanted Esau to be the seed through whom God would fulfill His promise of a promised land and of a nation of people.

Isaac was aged and blind when he was ready to pass the blessing on to his sons. Now note several facts.

⇒ God had told Isaac and his wife, Rebekah, that Jacob was to be the one who was to receive the blessing; the older son was to serve the younger.

“And the LORD said unto her, Two nations are in thy womb, and two manner of people shall be separated from thy bowels; and the one people shall be stronger than the other people; and the elder shall serve the younger” (Gen.25:23).

⇒ Isaac was reluctant to obey God. In fact, he did not want to obey God; he preferred Esau. When it came time to pass the blessings of God's promise on to his son, Isaac planned to ignore God's will and bless Esau.

“And it came to pass, that when Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see, he called Esau his eldest son, and said unto him, My son: and he said unto him, Behold, here am I. And he said, Behold now, I am old, I know not the day of my death: now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, thy quiver and thy bow, and go out to the field, and take me some venison; and make me savory meat, such as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my soul may bless thee before I die” (Gen.27:1-4).

⇒ Rebekah overheard Isaac's plans to ignore and bypass God's will. Therefore, she plotted with Jacob to deceive Isaac and have him pass the blessing on to Jacob. Remember: Isaac was blind and unable to see; therefore Jacob was able to deceive Isaac and receive the blessing.

“And Jacob went near unto Isaac his father; and he felt him, and said, The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. And he discerned him not, because his hands were hairy, as his brother Esau's hands: so he blessed him. And he said, Art thou my very son Esau? And he said, I am. And he said, Bring it near to me, and I will eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And he brought it near to him, and he did eat: and he brought him wine, and he drank. And his father Isaac said unto him, Come near now, and kiss me, my son. And he came near, and kissed him: and he smelled the smell of his raiment, and blessed him, and said See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the LORD hath blessed: Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatness of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine: let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee: be lord over thy brethren, and let thy mother's sons bow down to thee: cursed be every one that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee” (Gen.27:22-29).

⇒ Isaac refused to reverse the blessing when the deception was discovered. In the final analysis, he repented. He turned away from his own desires and did God's will.

“And Isaac trembled very exceedingly, and said, Who? where is he that hath taken venison, and brought it me, and I have eaten of all before thou camest, and have blessed him? yea, and he shall be blessed” (Gen.27:33).

The point is this: Isaac's faith was firm about the future despite sin. At first, Isaac was unwilling to follow God and do as God had said. And his son Jacob set out to secure God's blessing by deception. Jacob was unwilling to wait upon God; he felt that he had to help God out even if it meant lying and deceiving. But in the end, Isaac repented: he believed God and he did God's will. He could have easily reversed his blessing, but he refused. He had reached the point where he knew that God's will had to be done. Therefore, he repented and turned from his own will to the will of God.

Note through all of this the strong faith in things to come. Isaac believed in the promises of God; he believed in the promised seed and the promised land. He never saw the promises fulfilled, not during his life upon this earth. He was only a pilgrim and sojourner on earth, never seeing the promised land. But he believed and held firm to his belief—so firm that he passed the blessing of God's promises down through his son Jacob. Isaac died, but he died as a man of faith, as a man who repented and did God's will.

“I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish” (Lk.13:3).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent” (Acts 17:30).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“But if the wicked willd turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.18:21).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

K. Jacob's Faith: A Worshipping Faith, 11:21

(11:21) Introduction: Jacob never saw the promised land given to Israel. In fact, he saw the reverse. His family was forced to Egypt because of famine. Yet he continued to worship God, ever believing and passing on God's promise—even as he was dying.

1 (11:21) Jacob—Faith: Jacob's faith was a faith that believed God's promises and worshipped despite death. The story in the Old Testament is as follows:

“And it came to pass after these things, that one told Joseph, Behold, thy father is sick: and he took with him his two sons, Manasseh and Ephraim. And one told Jacob, and said, Behold, thy son Joseph cometh unto thee: and Israel strengthened himself, and sat upon the bed. And Jacob said unto Joseph, God Almighty appeared unto me at Luz in the land of Canaan, and blessed me, And said unto me, Behold, I will make thee fruitful, and multiply thee, and I will make of thee a multitude of people; and will give this land to thy seed after thee for an everlasting possession. And now thy two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, which were born unto thee in the land of Egypt before I came unto thee into Egypt, are mine; as Reuben and Simeon, they shall be mine. And thy issue, which thou begetteth after them, shall be thine, and shall be called after the name of their brethren in their inheritance....And Joseph took them both, Ephraim in his right hand toward Israel's left hand, and Manasseh in his left hand toward Israel's right hand, and brought them near unto him. And Israel stretched out his right hand, and laid it upon Ephraim's head, who was the younger, and his left hand who was the younger, and his left hand upon Manasseh's head, guiding his hands wittingly; for Manasseh was the firstborn. And he blessed Joseph, and said, God, before whom my fathers Abraham and Isaac did walk, the God who fed me all my life long unto this day, the angel which redeemed me from all evil, bless the lads; and let my name be named on them, and the name of my fathers Abraham and Isaac; and let them grow into a multitude in the midst of the earth” (Gen.48:1-6, 13-16).

Note three significant facts.

1. Jacob was dying when this event took place. He had lived a long life upon earth.
2. Jacob blessed both of the sons of Joseph; that is, he passed on the promises of God to them. He gave them an inheritance in the land of promise and in the promised seed. They had been born in Egypt; nevertheless, he passed the blessing of the promise down through them.
3. Jacob worshipped while he was dying, worshipped leaning upon his staff. The idea is that he was weak and frail, almost bedridden, finding it difficult to walk and move about. But he continued to arise and worship God, believing in the promised land and promised seed up until the very end.

The point is striking. Here was a man who never saw the promised land given to him. In fact, he saw the reverse. He and his family were forced out of Canaan (Palestine) and into Egypt because of famine. Yet, he continued to worship God, ever believing and passing on God's promises—even up to the very end, the end of death itself.

“Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me” (Acts 27:25).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“The LORD redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate” (Ps.34:22).

“Trust in the LORD, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed” (Ps.37:3).

“Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:3-4).

L. Joseph's Faith: An Undying Faith, 11:22

DIVISION IV

L. Joseph's Faith: An Undying Faith, 11:22

(11:22) Introduction: Joseph was a prince among a world of men. His life of faith is a life that should be studied and followed by all. The faith of Joseph was an undying faith.

- 1. A faith that believed despite circumstances (v.22).
- 2. A faith that acted despite the impossible (v.22).

1 (11:22) Joseph—Faith: Joseph's faith was faith that believed despite adverse circumstances. If ever a person should have lost faith, it was Joseph.

- ⇒ As a young man, he had been sold as a slave into Egypt, and note: it was his own brothers who had sold him (Gen.37:23f).
- ⇒ While a slave, he was falsely accused by his master's wife of trying to seduce her. He had rejected her advances, choosing to follow God in living righteously rather than to enjoy the fruits of sin for a season (Gen.39:7).
- ⇒ He suffered imprisonment because the wife falsely charged him with assault. He suffered a long imprisonment for living righteously (Gen.39:14f).
- ⇒ He lived righteously and ministered to people in prison even when they ignored, neglected, and forgot him (Gen.40:14f).

The point to note is this: Joseph never lost his faith in the promises of God. He believed and followed God no matter the circumstances and no matter what it cost him. He was a man of God in a foreign land, a man who demonstrated an undying faith.

2 (11:22) Joseph—Faith: Joseph had a faith that acted despite the impossible. This was Joseph's great act of faith. After so many years in a foreign land, he still proclaimed the great promise of God: he believed beyond question that God was going to fulfill His promises:

- ⇒ He believed that God had chosen his family to be the promised seed.
- ⇒ He believed that God was going to give the promised land to his family.

Joseph was dying in a foreign land with his family finally settled and rooted in the land of Goshen, Egypt. Yet he believed the impossible: that God would be moving his family back to Palestine and eventually give them the promised land. Therefore, he commanded that his bones be taken back when the nation of his family returned to the land.

Joseph's faith was an undying faith. His body was dying, but not his faith in God and in God's promises. He knew that he would rest in the promised land of God.

"He that endureth to the end shall be saved" (Mt.10:22).

"For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's" (Ro.14:8).

"For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal.6:8).

"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth" (Heb.11:13).

"Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls" (Jas.1:21).

"The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (2 Pt.3:9).

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them" (Rev.14:13).

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me" (Ps.23:4).

"Precious in the sight of the LORD is the death of his saints" (Ps.116:15).

"The wicked is driven away in his wickedness: but the righteous hath hope in his death" (Pr.14:32).

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

M. Moses' Parent's Faith: A Loving, Fearless Faith, 11:23

(11:23) Introduction: the parents of Moses are an excellent example of an unknown married couple who had great faith in God. They were just common, ordinary folk within their community, yet they believed God and had a strong faith in Him. Their faith stands as a dynamic example of a loving, fearless faith.

1. A faith that obeyed their hearts (v.23).
2. A faith that was fearless despite opposition (v.23).

1 (11:23) Faith—Moses, Parents of: the parents of Moses had a faith that obeyed their hearts. What happened was this. Generation after generation had passed since Joseph, Jacob, and his sons had gone down to Egypt and settled in the land of Goshen, Egypt. The people, the Israelites, had reproduced so much that they had become a large nation of people, so large that the new king of Egypt felt threatened by them. This was when Israel became slaves to the Egyptians. The king, who did not know Joseph, took the initial step of enslaving them, thinking that he could slow down their reproduction through slavery (Ex.1:8). However, the children of Israel continued to multiply rather rapidly, and the king felt more and more threatened. Finally he decided to wipe them out by having all newborn sons killed at birth. This cruel plot was made the law of the land (cp. Ex.1:21-22).

This is the background of what led Moses' parents to do what they did. Unquestionably, they loved God and loved their newborn child whom they named Moses. Their action shows this.

Kenneth Wuest points out that the word "proper" (asteion) means "comely to God." Wuest says, "he was comely with respect to God" (Hebrews, Vol.2, p.205). That is, God had His hand upon Moses, and apparently his parents realized it.

One thing is sure: the parents knew that if all the male children were killed, then the promised seed and promised land of God could never be fulfilled. It is this that lies behind their saving Moses. They loved their child, yes, but they also loved God. It was their love for both their son and God that made them do what they did. Their love stirred them to believe that God would preserve their son and use him to fulfill God's promise of an eternal seed and eternal land for His people.

"Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind" (Mt.22:37).

"And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 Jn.4:16).

"Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 21).

"And thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Dt.6:5).

"And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul" (Dt.10:12).

2 (11:23) Faith—Moses, Parents of: the parents of Moses had a faith that was fearless despite opposition. As stated above, it was the law of the land that all newborn male children were to be killed at birth. Failure to obey the law most likely meant death to the law-breaker. The parents risked their lives in disobeying the law. But note what this verse says: "they were not afraid of the the king's commandment." They trusted God to preserve the child, and they cast their own lives upon God's care. They knew they had to risk their lives in order to save their son and the promised seed and land of God.

The point is this: the parents of Moses never received the promised land of God and they never saw the promised seed inherit the land. But they believed and trusted God, even in the face of a king's attempt to stamp out God's people and promise. They loved God and His promises and they believed God and His promises; therefore, they were willing to stake their lives upon Him and the promised seed and land.

"But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb.11:6).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed” (Jas.1:5-6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“The LORD redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate” (Ps.34:22).

“Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in man” (Ps.118:8).

“Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame” (Pr.29:15).

“Trust ye in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:4).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

N. Moses Faith: A Self-Denying Faith, 11:24-28

(11:24-28) Introduction: following Christ is not easy, not if a person is going to truly follow Him. Why? Because His call is contrary to what most people think. His call is a call to love, joy, and peace, yes; but it is not a call to a life of ease, comfort, and plenty. The call of Christ is not to physical and material health and wealth. Contrariwise, the call of Christ is to a life of self-denial and sacrifice. If a person is going to follow Christ, it costs him everything he is and has. And Christ makes no exceptions (see outline and notes—Mt. 19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30). Moses is a prime example of a man who gave up all that the world had to offer in order to follow God and His promises. His faith was a self-denying faith.

1. A sacrificial faith: he chose God and God's people rather than this world and its pleasures (v.24-25).
2. An expectant faith: he looked to the reward (v.26-28).
3. An enduring faith: he courageously looked to God instead of looking to man (v.27).
4. A saving faith: he believed God's message of salvation (v.28).

1 (11:24-25) Moses—Faith: first, the faith of Moses was a sacrificial faith, a faith that chose God and God's people rather than this world and its pleasures. Remember: when Moses was born, the king of Egypt had issued a law that all newborn male children of Israel were to be killed. He had done this because he feared Israel was growing so rapidly as a people that they were becoming a threat to the security of Egypt. The parents of Moses, acting in faith, had hid Moses down by the river in a small boat-like basket. Moses was only three months old. His parents knew that Pharaoh's daughter bathed there, and they sensed in hope that she would find the child, feel compassion, and keep and rear him. This she did. Moses was reared as a prince in Pharaoh's court. Jewish tradition even says that his daughter was the only child Pharaoh had and that she herself was childless. If this is accurate, it means that Moses was, as tradition says, the heir to the throne of Egypt (Thomas Hewitt. The Epistle to the Hebrews. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.180 and Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6, p.947). In either case, Moses was a prince, the son of the daughter of Pharaoh. He had everything that a person on earth could ever want:

- ⇒ education and knowledge
- ⇒ fame and wealth
- ⇒ possessions and estates
- ⇒ power and authority
- ⇒ position and duty
- ⇒ purpose and responsibility
- ⇒ a home and love (Pharaoh's daughter must have loved Moses to stand against Egyptian law to save him as a child.)

But Moses gave it all up. He sacrificed everything for God and His promises, the promised seed and promised land. The day came when Moses had to make the most critical decision of his life. He faced as large a crisis as any man could face. Was he going to be identified as an Egyptian all the days of his life or was he going to become identified with the people of God? Was he going to pursue the pleasures of Egypt and this world or pursue God and His promises? When Moses was forty years old, he faced the crisis and made the decision (Acts 7:23). In the words of Scripture:

“And it came to pass in those days, when Moses was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he spied an Egyptian smiting a Hebrew, one of his brethren. And he looked this way and that way, and when he saw that there was no man, he slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand” (Ex.2:11-12).

This was a scene that Moses had often seen during his forty years as an Egyptian prince. But apparently this was the final straw; he had seen enough of the mistreatment of his people. He made the decision that launched a number of decisions—decisions that were to show that he was rejecting Egypt and the world and identifying himself with God's people.

The point is this: Moses gave up all the pleasures and enjoyment of Egypt and the world—gave it all up. He sacrificed everything for God and His people, the very people who had been given the hope for the promised seed and the promised land.

As these two verses of Hebrews say:

“[Aroused] by faith Moses, when he had grown to maturity and become great, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter, because he preferred rather to share the oppression (suffer the hardships) and bear the shame of the people of God than to have the fleeting enjoyment of a sinful life” (v.24-25, Amplified New Testament).

Thought 1. Moses knew what he was doing. The decision to do what he could to stop the abuse of God’s people was not the rash decision of youth. Moses was forty years old, engaged in the midst of the daily duties and power of ruling. He made his decision and acted, but as the next verse shows, only after much thought.

Thought 2. The Expositor’s Greek Testament has an excellent statement on this point: “the significance and source of this refusal lay in his preferring to suffer ill-usage with God’s people rather than to have a short-lived enjoyment of sin...it was because they were God’s people, not solely because they were of his blood, that Moses threw in his lot with them. It was this that illustrated his faith. He believed that God would fulfil His promise to His people, little likelihood as at present there seemed to be of any great future for his race. On the other hand there was...the enjoyment which was within his reach if only he committed the sin of denying his people and renouncing their future as promised by God” (Marcus Dods. The Epistle to the Hebrews. “The Expositor’s Greek Testament,” Vol.14, ed. by W. Robertson Nicoll. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1970, p.360).

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.16:24-25).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

2 (11:26) Moses—Faith: second, the faith of Moses was an expectant faith, a faith that looked to the reward. Moses believed in the promises which God had given to Abraham and his people, the promised seed and the promised land. (See notes—Heb.11:8-10; 11:13-16 for more discussion.) The word “esteeming” means that he considered and thought about the matter; he made a deliberate decision to suffer with his people and to inherit the promises God had made to them rather than to enjoy the riches of Egypt. This means...

- that he chose the sufferings of Christ, the promised seed of the Savior, over the riches of Egypt.
- that he considered the reward of God’s promise to Israel greater than the reward of earthly riches.

William Barclay explains what Moses did in practical terms:

“Moses was the man who gave up all earthly glory for the sake of the people of God. Christ gave up His glory for men. He became despised and rejected; He abandoned the glory of heaven for the buffets and the scourging and the shame inflicted by men. Moses in his day and generation shared in the sufferings of Christ. Moses was the man who chose the loyalty that led to suffering rather than the ease which led to earthly glory. He would rather suffer for the right than enjoy luxury with the wrong. He knew that the prizes of earth were contemptible compared with the ultimate reward of God” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.178)

Without question, Moses believed in the promises of God to Israel:

- ⇒ that Israel was the promised seed, the very people through whom God would send the Messiah, the Savior of the world.
- ⇒ that Israel would inherit the promised land of eternal rest with God. Moses turned away from the riches of the world for the rewards of God’s promises.

“He considered the contempt and abuse and shame [borne for] the Christ, the Messiah [Who was to come], to be greater wealth than all the treasures of Egypt, for he looked forward and away to the reward (recompense)” (v.26, Amplified New Testament).

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance” (Heb.10:34).

“And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment” (Heb.11:36).

3 (11:27) Moses—Faith: third, the faith of Moses was an enduring faith, a faith that courageously looked to God rather than to men. This event is recorded in Exodus.

“And when he went out the second day, behold, two men of the Hebrews strove together: and he said to him that did the wrong, Wherefore smitest thou thy fellow? And he said, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? intendest thou to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian? And Moses feared, and said, Surely this thing is known” (Ex.2:13-15).

Note: it seems that Moses fled because he feared Pharaoh; however, Hebrews says that he “forsook Egypt; not fearing the wrath of the king.” Is this a contradiction? No, the answer is given in Acts:

“And when he was full forty years old, it came into his heart to visit his brethren the children of Israel. And seeing one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged him that was oppressed, and smote the Egyptian: for he supposed his brethren would have understood how that God by his hand would deliver them: but they understood not” (Acts 7:23-25).

This shows that Moses had apparently thought and known for years that he was to be the deliverer of Israel. It is highly probable that his own mother had taught him this when Pharaoh’s daughter unknowingly made her the nurse to Moses (Ex.2:6-8). She certainly taught him the great promises of God to Abraham and Israel. Whatever the source, God’s Spirit apparently moved upon Moses at an early age and stirred the sense and thoughts that he was to be the deliverer of his people; he was to lead them back to Israel. However, Moses went about it the wrong way. Nevertheless, he knew that God’s will and purpose was for him to deliver his people. Note: Acts 7:25 says that Moses was planning to lead Israel in a rebellion against Egypt to free God’s people. He did not fear Pharaoh; Moses was loaded with courage. However, when the people refused to follow him, he was left alone. He had to fear—fear in the sense of wisdom and discretion, not dependency and hopelessness. He had to fear in order to save his life.

The point is this: Moses sensed and knew his mission upon earth—that he was to free Israel in God’s time. The people would not follow him then, but he believed that God would arouse the people to follow him in due time. As we find out, he kept on believing and endured in his belief for another forty years (Acts 7:30).

Thought 1. Imagine the terrible disappointment Moses must have felt. His people were suffering as slave-laborers under Egyptian bondage, and he had stepped forward to lead them in a rebellion for freedom. But they had rejected his leadership, and he had been forced to flee for his life. The disappointment must have been very heavy. But imagine this: Moses sensed and knew that God had called him to deliver His people Israel. He knew his calling. But there he was sitting in Midian, and he had sat there for forty years and God had not called him to go forth. How easily Moses could have lost faith in God. How easily he could have lost his sense of call. But he did not: he continued to believe in God and His promises. Moses endured in faith despite all the circumstances. What a dynamic example!

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

4 (11:28) Moses—Faith: fourth, the faith of Moses was a saving faith, a faith that believed God’s message of salvation. This verse refers to the great day of deliverance and salvation for Israel. God had led Moses to prepare Israel and Egypt for the deliverance of His people. God was now ready to save His people from the bondage of Egypt (a symbol of the world). God had pronounced judgment (the taking of the firstborn) upon the people of Egypt for their injustices. As He prepared to execute the final judgment, those who believed God were instructed to slay a pure lamb and sprinkle its blood over the door posts of their homes. The blood of the innocent lamb would then serve as a sign that the coming judgment had already been carried out. When seeing the blood, God would pass over that house.

Symbolically, the Passover pictured the coming of Jesus Christ as the Savior. The lamb without blemish pictured His sinless life, and the blood sprinkled on the door posts pictured His blood shed for the believer (Ex.12:5; cp. Jn.1:29).

Note that God's method of salvation was the blood of the lamb spread over the door posts (cp. Gen.12:12-48. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.22:7.) Moses' great faith is clearly seen. He not only made the proper arrangements for escaping God's judgment on that dreadful night, but he spelled out that the Passover was to be observed each year thereafter. He never doubted God's planned salvation for His people. He never doubted that God would fulfill His promises, that He would give to Israel the promised seed and the promised land.

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:13).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God” (Eph.2:8).

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (Heb.9:22).

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

O. Israel's Faith (Part I): A Delivering Faith, 11:29

(11:29) Introduction: this verse deals with Israel crossing the Red Sea, a phenomenal miracle controlled entirely by God. But it took great faith for Israel to cross the Sea with two towering walls of water on both sides. This is a living example of strong faith in God, a delivering faith, the kind of faith that assures God's delivering power acting in our behalf.

1. A faith that obeyed God against insurmountable forces (v.29).
2. A faith that delivered and brought protection (v.29).

1 (11:29) Israel—Faith: Israel's faith was a faith that obeyed God against insurmountable forces. The forces confronting Israel were threefold:

- ⇒ the pursuing army of the Egyptians.
- ⇒ the Red Sea in front and the mountain ranges on both sides.
- ⇒ their own murmuring and unbelief.

The people were ever so frightened. They were hemmed in with no way to escape, and an enraged king and people were in hot pursuit. There was no chance that the Egyptian army would have taken any live prisoners because Egypt had lost all their firstborn sons to the death-angel. Israel was doomed and the people knew it. The odds were insurmountable unless God stepped in and delivered them.

Moses, God's leader, was aroused to believe God. He stepped forward and shouted to the people:

“Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the LORD, which he will show to you today: for the Egyptians whom ye have seen today, ye shall see them again no more for ever. The LORD shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace” (Ex.14:13-14).

The salvation of the Lord was being proclaimed, and that message stirred faith in the hearts of the people. In obedience to God's command, Moses lifted up his rod and moved it across the face of the waters. When he did, a strong east wind began to blow over the face of the water. It blew so forcefully that the waters divided. Imagine the scene: two towering walls of water with a stretch of dry land running down between them. But the people's salvation was on the other side. If they could reach there, they were safe. They had been grumbling, yes; but the message of God's servant, Moses, had stirred them to believe God. Now they were beholding the power of God to remove the insurmountable odds. He had actually rolled the sea back and made a road of dry land for them to march across to safety. They believed God, and they began to march forth—marching in the faith of God who had promised that He would lead them to the promised land.

Thought 1. What a clear picture of salvation for people today! No matter the odds, God will overcome the odds and save us if we will only believe and begin to march forth following Christ, even as God commands.

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, If ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if ye shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; it shall be done” (Mt.21:21).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us” (2 Cor.1:10).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him” (Ps.28:7).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

2 (11:29) Israel—Faith: Israel’s faith was a faith that delivered and brought protection. The people believed God; therefore, they were delivered despite the insurmountable odds against them. But not only this: they were protected through the whole experience. Their enemies pursued them. It was night when Israel crossed the sea and when the Egyptian army reached the shore (Ex.14:21). The Egyptians were spiritually blind to God’s working and were hardened in their sin. After all, the children of Israel were not an army, but a defenseless body of people fleeing the might and power of the greatest army in the world. The Egyptians saw no reason to rush behind the people of Israel and slaughter them. Therefore, the army acted blindly, rashly, and unthoughtfully. They went right in after Israel. But God protected those who believed and trusted Him. The east wind died down and the two walls of water closed in and covered the pursuing enemy, drowning every one of them. God’s people were protected—completely protected by the hand of God.

Thought 1. God performed the miracle of salvation and deliverance for the people, but it was because of their faith. God’s messenger proclaimed the salvation of God and the people believed and God worked in their behalf. He saved and protected them from their enemy—an enemy that had appeared insurmountable. God always provides a way of deliverance for those who believe.

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, If ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if ye shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; it shall be done” (Mt.21:21).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Acts 2:21).

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:13).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But the salvation of the righteous is of the LORD: he is their strength in the time of trouble” (Ps.37:39).

“Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the LORD JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation” (Is.12:2).

“And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the LORD; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation” (Is.25:9).

“The LORD thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing” (Zeph.3:17).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

P. Israel's Faith (Part II): A Conquering Faith, 11:30

(11:30) Introduction: the faith of Israel was a conquering faith. This was the kind of faith Israel needed in conquering Jericho—a faith that God could give victory over insurmountable forces (cp. Ex.14:1f). This is also the kind of faith that any person needs—a conquering faith. We need a faith that God will give us victory over the insurmountable forces of life no matter what the forces are, even the force of death.

1 (11:30) Israel—Faith: Israel's faith was a conquering faith. This is the story of Joshua leading the people of Israel against Jericho (Josh.6:1-20). The fall of the walls of Jericho is a well-known story. Jericho was a fortress, completely surrounded by a wall and apparently manned by a strong people. How was Israel to take the city? Humanly speaking, the task was utterly impossible. Their only hope was God, and God was willing to give them victory over their enemies. It was just a matter of whether or not they would believe and trust God for victory. God issued His command:

- ⇒ The people were to march around the walls of Jericho once a day for six days.
- ⇒ Seven priests were to lead the march with the ark of the covenant following and then the people following it.
- ⇒ The march was to be in total silence for six days.
- ⇒ On the seventh day, the people were to march around the city seven times. After the seventh march, the priests were to blow seven trumpets and the people were to shout as loud as they could.

God said that if the people did this—believed His instructions and His promise—the walls of Jericho would fall down. Of course most of the citizens of Jericho would be on top of the wall because of the change of events on the seventh day, expecting this to be the day that Israel was going to attack.

The point to see is the strong faith in God and in His instructions and promise. The people clearly trusted God to conquer their enemies for them. And He did. He conquered the enemies because the people believed His instructions and promise.

Thought 1. God will conquer the enemies of any person if the person will just believe the instructions and promise of God. The instruction may seem unreasonable and appear foolish to the world. What Israel did must have seemed very foolish to the citizens of Jericho. But if a person will go ahead and do what God says, God will conquer his enemies even as He did for Jericho.

“What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us? He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things? Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Ro.8:31-39).

“Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place” (2 Cor.2:14).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“Through thee will we push down our enemies: through thy name will we tread them under that rise up against us” (Ps.44:5).

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you” (Ro.16:20).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

Q. Rahab's Faith: A Saving Faith, 11:31

- 1 A faith that believed in the God of Israel
- 2 A faith that saved

31 By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them that believed not, when she had received the spies with peace.

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

Q. Rahab's Faith: A Saving Faith, 11:31

(11:31) Introduction: this is a beautiful picture of saving faith. It is the picture of one of Christ's ancestors, the picture of a harlot who turned from her sin to live for God. And because she did, she was saved and became one of the great women of history in the eyes of God and believers everywhere.

- 1. A faith that believed in the God of Israel (v.31).
- 2. A faith that saved (v.31).

1 (11:31) Rahab—Faith: the faith of Rahab was a faith that believed in the God of Israel (cp. Josh.2:1-21; 6:17, 22-23, 25; Mt.1:5; Jas.2:25). She was a harlot and a Canaanite, a woman who was the furthest thing from being a follower of God, but she experienced a phenomenal conversion and she became a strong believer. What happened was this.

Joshua sent two spies into Jericho to spy out the city. They were almost caught, but they found refuge in the house of a prostitute named Rahab. The armed soldiers had heard that the spies were hiding out in her house and they confronted her, but she hid and protected them. Why? Why would she lie to her people and protect the two Israelite strangers? Scripture says because she believed in the God of Israel. How could she have possibly believed in the God of Israel when she was not an Israelite and had never been taught about the God of Israel and His promises? Scripture tells us. In conversation with the two spies she said:

“I know that the Lord hath given you the land, and that your terror is fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land faint because of you. For we have heard how the Lord dried up the water of the Red Sea for you, when ye came out of Egypt; and what ye did unto the two kings of the Amorites, that were on the other side Jordan, Sihon and Og, whom ye utterly destroyed. And as soon as we had heard these things, our hearts did melt, neither did there remain any more courage in any man, because of you: for the Lord your God, He is God in heaven above, and in earth beneath” (Josh.2:9-11).

Rahab believed what she had heard about the God of Israel—that He was the true and living God. When it was humanly impossible for Israel to conquer Jericho—when Israel had no modern weapons to make war—when there was not a chance in this world that Israel could be victorious—Rahab believed in the God of Israel and she acted upon that faith. She believed that the God of Israel would save His people and give them the promised land. Therefore, she saved the lives of the two Israelite spies.

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

“Many sorrows shall be to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him about” (Ps.32:10).

“The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate” (Ps.34:22).

“Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man” (Ps.118:8).

“Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe” (Pr.29:25).

“Who is among you that feareth the Lord, that obeyeth the voice of his servant, that walketh in darkness, and hath no light? let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay upon his God” (Is.50:10).

2 (11:31) Rahab—Faith: the faith of Rahab was a faith that saved her and her family. Rahab asked the two men to save her and her family when they attacked the city.

“Now therefore, I pray you, swear unto me by the LORD, since I have showed you kindness, that ye will also show kindness unto my father's house, and give me a true token: and that ye will save alive my father, and my mother, and my brethren, and my sisters, and all that they have, and deliver our lives from death. And the men answered her, Our life for yours, if ye utter not this our business. And it shall be, when the LORD hath given us the land, that we will deal kindly and truly with thee. Then she let them down by a cord through the window: for her house was upon the town wall, and she dwelt upon the wall. And she said unto them, Get you to the mountain, lest the pursuers meet you; and hide yourselves there three days, until the pursuers be returned: and afterward may ye go your way. And the men said unto her, We will be blameless of this thine oath which thou hast made us swear. Behold, when we come into the land, thou shalt bind this line of scarlet thread in the window which thou didst let us down by: and thou shalt bring thy father, and thy mother, and thy brethren, and all thy father's household, home unto thee. And it shall be, that whosoever shall go out of the doors of thy house, his blood shall be on our head, if any hand be upon him. And if thou utter this our business, then we will be quit [free] of thine oath which thou hast made us to swear. And she said, According unto your words, so be it. And she sent them away, and they departed: and she bound the scarlet line in the window" (Josh.2:12-21).

Note: it was seeing the scarlet (red) thread that was to save Rahab. Also note that Rahab demanded that the men "swear to her by the Lord." She strongly believed that Israel would conquer Jericho despite the impossible odds against them. She believed in the God of Israel: that God was going to give Israel the promised land. And most important of all, she believed that her life and salvation rested with the Israelites, that is, with the God of Israel. She believed that the God of Israel could and would save her. Oliver Greene has an excellent picture on the scarlet thread and salvation:

"This presents a beautiful picture of salvation. Two spies made the promise, Rahab believed it; and even though a great host of Israelites were to move in upon the city, she believed that the scarlet thread was her assurance of protection. All the money in Jericho could not have purchased that scarlet thread, because it was Rahab's guarantee of preservation while others were destroyed through unbelief: 'And Joshua saved Rahab the harlot alive, and her father's household, and all that she had; and she dwelleth in Israel even unto this day; because she hid the messengers, which Joshua sent to spy out Jericho' (Josh.6:25).

"This is most interesting. The Word of God does not name the Israelites who befriended this woman of Jericho, but some noble soul in the land of Israel took her in, loved her, and gave her a new home; and as she lived among the Israelites she grew in grace, in faith, and in strength.

"We can easily believe that Rahab was an attractive woman, one who had a winning personality and the ability to make friends easily; but now she had something more: she had the Lord God in her heart. She was a new creation, a completely new woman.

"A young man in Israel fell in love with her and married her. (I like to think that this young man was one of the spies, but that is just supposition on my part. The Bible does not tell us who he was.) The record does prove, however, that Rahab became the wife of an Israelite and God blessed them, gave them a son, and they called his name Boaz.

"We read of Boaz in Ruth 2:1 that he was a 'mighty man of wealth,' and Matthew 1:5 tells us, 'Salmon begat Booz (Boaz) of Rachab; and Booz begat Obed of Ruth; and Obed begat Jesse.' Jesse was the father of David, and it was through the lineage of David that the Saviour came!

"You see, when God saves a harlot, a murderer, a liar, a thief - or even a good moral person, that one becomes a new creation with a new heart and a new life. God saves - He does not repair: 'Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new' (II Cor.5:17)" (The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews, p.504f).

Thought 1. Just imagine! Rahab was one of the human ancestors of the Savior Himself, Christ Jesus our Lord. What a glorious picture of the saving grace of God. And His mercy and grace are eternal: they are able to save any of us today no matter how much of a harlot, derelict, thief, murderer, adulterer, liar, fame-seeker, drug addict, leader, boaster, socialite, or materialist we are. Whether we would be considered to be down and out or of the upper crust within society, God can save us. No matter what we are or what we have done, God can save us if we will only believe and trust in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

"That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:15-16).

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him" (Jn.3:36).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

"And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day" (Jn.6:40).

"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (Jn.11:25).

"I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness" (Jn.12:46).

"But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name" (Jn.20:31).

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Ro.10:9-10).

"And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim.3:15).

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

R. The Great Believers' Faith (Part I): A Heroic Faith, 11:32-34

(11:32-34) Introduction: heroic faith—this is a powerful picture of just what heroic faith is. It is a panoramic scene that glances back over the history of Israel highlighting the lives of some great men of faith—men who dared to believe God against unbelievable odds. And in every case their faith triumphed and won the victory.

1. The heroic faith of outstanding leaders: a faith that accepted incredible responsibility and that called upon God for great courage (v.32).
2. The reward of heroic faith (v.33-34).

1 (11:32) Faith—Hall of Fame: the heroic faith of outstanding leaders. Note that these three verses discuss the faith of some outstanding leaders. The faith of believers in general is discussed in the next few verses (v.35-40). These particular leaders were true heroes of the faith. They had a faith...

- that led them to feel undeserving and that demonstrated humility.
- that accepted incredible responsibility.
- that showed undying courage.
- that trusted and depended entirely upon God.
- that conquered against all odds—unbelievable odds.

1. There was the faith of Gideon (Judg.6:11f). Gideon was already a grown man when God called him (Judg.8:20), and he had apparently gained a reputation as a soldier by fighting against the terrorists acts of the Medianites (Judg.6:12). The terrorists' attacks against Israel had gotten so fierce and frequent that the people had to be on constant guard. They even had to work inside protective walls in order to get their work done (Judg.6:11). Note these facts:

- ⇒ The angel of the Lord called Gideon to take the lead and to save Israel.
- ⇒ Gideon felt unqualified. He was gripped with a sense of humility and unworthiness. However, God gave Gideon assurance after assurance.
- ⇒ Gideon finally believed God and God gave Gideon the Spirit of the Lord.
- ⇒ Gideon tested God's call and promise by putting out the well known test of the fleece (Judg.6:36-40). God again assured Gideon that he was His chosen vessel to save Israel.
- ⇒ Gideon believed God, and with three hundred hand-picked men he defied incredible odds and routed and defeated the Medianite army (Judg.7:1f).

The point is this: Gideon was an outstanding leader because of his great faith. Even before he launched the great campaign against the Medianites, he cried out to his three hundred hand-picked men: "Arise, for the Lord hath delivered into your hand the host of Midian" (Judg.7:15).

2. There was the heroic faith of Barak (Judg.4-5). When the call of God came to Barak to save Israel, the Canaanites had been attacking and oppressing Israel for twenty years. The commander-in-chief of the Canaanite army was Sisero. Note these facts:

- ⇒ The call of God to Barak came through the prophetess Deborah.
- ⇒ Barak was already a soldier, but he hesitated, feeling incapable. He insisted that the prophetess of God go to battle by his side. When she agreed, he surrendered to God's call.
- ⇒ Barak faced incredible odds. Sisero, the commander-in-chief of the Canaanites, had over 900 chariots of iron and a massive army.
- ⇒ Barak believed God. He attacked with only 10,000 men and won an incredible victory.

How did Barak do it? By faith. He had a heroic faith in God. He did not act without God. He believed God, and because he believed, God gave him the victory.

3. There was the heroic faith of Samson (Judg.13-16). The angel of the Lord appeared to the mother of Samson and told her that she was to bear a son who was to save Israel from the Philistines. Samson was to be reared under the Nazarite vows of extreme discipline, self-denial, and control of the flesh. The purpose of the Nazarite vows was symbolic, to teach the people that they were to live lives of self-denial and dedication before God. Note these facts about Samson.

- ⇒ Samson was appointed by God and he was a devout servant of God: “the Spirit of the Lord began to move him” (Judg.13:25; cp. Judg.14:19).
- ⇒ Samson was a man who had a serious flaw and weakness throughout all of his life, a weakness of fleshly passion. He never repented of his fleshly passion nor did he live by his Nazarite vows, not consistently.
- ⇒ Samson was a man of unusual faith and courage. He single-handedly fought the Philistines with unbelievable exploits of strength time and again. And he always won the victory.

The point to note about Samson’s life is this: despite Samson’s life-long weakness of passion, when the time came, he alone believed God; he alone was available for God to use. Samson was sometimes weak and passionate, but all others were even weaker and had less if any faith. Samson alone was available to believe and trust God. He was a man of heroic faith.

Thought 1. Matthew Henry makes a statement that we must always realize: “True faith is acknowledged and accepted, even when mingled with many failings” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.951).

4. There was the heroic faith of Jephthah (Judg.11:1-12:7). Jephthah was called by God to save Israel from the Ammonites. Note these significant facts.

- ⇒ Jephthah was a man who had known rejection all of his life. He was the son of a harlot, but he was taken and reared by his father. However, he was apparently rejected, taunted, and abused by his family and neighbors all during his childhood. He was finally driven away from his home into the desert in exile (Judg 11:1-3). There in the desert he became the leader of a group of fighting adventurers who protected surrounding villages from Ammonite terrorists.
- ⇒ Jephthah believed and accepted the call to fight and save Israel when it came (Judg.11:4-11). He made a covenant with the elders of his people “before the Lord” (Judg.11:11).
- ⇒ Jephthah sought God’s presence and strength for victory by making a vow to God (Josh.11:30-31).
- ⇒ Jephthah did what God wanted him to do and saved Israel (Josh.11:33).
- ⇒ Jephthah kept his vow to God and had his daughter live as a virgin and dedicate her life to serve God.

The point to see is that Jephthah was a man of unusual faith and trust in God despite being rejected by his family and townsfolk. He was also a man of great humility who humbled himself to help save and rule the people in their great crisis. Jephthah was a man of heroic faith.

5. There was the heroic faith of David (1 Sam.16:1f). As the writer to Hebrews says, “Time would fail me to tell...of David” (v.32). David was unquestionably one of the greatest men of heroic faith who has ever lived. Note these facts:

- ⇒ David was chosen to be the King of Israel by God Himself when he was only a young shepherd boy (1 Sam.16:1f).

“The Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward” (1 Sam.16:13).

- ⇒ David was a boy of heroic faith. He believed God in facing impossible situations. For example, a lion and a bear attacked his sheep and a giant of a man named Goliath led the Philistine army against Israel, but God honored the young boy’s faith and gave David the victory in both situations.
- ⇒ David was a young man of heroic faith. He was feared and hated by Saul the King because he had been appointed to be the future king of Israel while only a young boy. Saul pursued David for years trying to kill him. David proved to be a young man of extraordinary trust in God as he lived in the wilderness and faced trial after trial and enemy after enemy.
- ⇒ David was a man of heroic faith in defeating enemy after enemy. He stretched the borders of Israel out farther than anyone else had ever done and brought Israel to the height of its glory as a nation.
- ⇒ David ruled Israel for forty years and proved faithful throughout his whole life with exception of the one or two year lapse with Bathsheba (2 Sam.11:1f).

The whole life of David is a challenging example of heroic faith to believers of every generation. Just think of the Psalms, how meaningful they are to us all. David wrote approximately 73 of the Psalms. He was also one of the ancestors of Christ (Mt.1:1).

6. There was the heroic faith of Samuel (1-2 Samuel). Samuel was both a judge and prophet of Israel. God called Samuel when he was only a young child, and Samuel followed the Lord all through his life. During his lifetime he was the lone figure of great faith among a people who rebelled against God and refused to follow Him in righteousness and holiness. He was a man of heroic faith in the midst of a faithless and unbelieving generation.

7. There was the heroic faith of the prophets. They were all men who sensed their unworthiness before God but who answered God’s call. They faced every imaginable trial that can be thrown against a man by a wicked and sinful people. But despite all, they stood for righteousness and proclaimed the message of God, a message of hope for those who would repent and a message of judgment for those who continued to live wicked and evil lives. They were men who stood almost alone in facing generation after generation of unbelief and rebellion against God. They were men of heroic faith.

2 (11:33-34) Faith, Reward: there was the reward of heroic faith.

1. Heroic faith subdued kingdoms. This is clearly seen in the heroic faith of the leaders above. The point is this: true faith in God will stir God to give the victory over all enemies, no matter how formidable. God will even work miraculously to deliver the person or people who truly believe Him.

“Through thee will we push down our enemies: through thy name will we tread them under that rise up against us” (Ps.44:5).

“Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Pr.14:34).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?...Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us” (Ro.8:35, 37).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place” (2 Cor.2:14).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God” (Rev.2:7).

“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the hidden manna, and will give him a white stone, and in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saving he that receiveth it” (Rev.2:17).

“And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations” (Rev.2:26).

“He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels” (Rev.3:5).

“Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name” (Rev.3:12).

“To him that overcometh whill I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

“He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son” (Rev.21:7).

2. Heroic faith wrought righteousness. This means two things.

⇒ When the leaders above believed God, righteousness was wrought in their lives. Faith always works righteousness in the life of the believer.

⇒ When the leaders above believed God, they set a dynamic example of righteousness and they taught and preached righteousness. As a result, some people turned to God and began to live righteously themselves. Faith—even if it is the faith of only one person—always stirs others to believe God and to live righteously themselves.

“By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked” (Pr.11:11).

“Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Pr.14:34).

“It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedness: for the throne is established by righteousness” (Pr.16:12).

“Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne shall be established in righteousness” (Pr.25:5).

“In righteousness shalt thou be established: thou shalt be far from oppression; for thou shalt not fear: and from terror; for it shall not come near thee” (Is.54:14).

“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled” (Mt.5:6).

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breast-plate of righteousness” (Eph.6:14).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

3. Heroic faith obtained promises. God did just what He had promised to each of the leaders above. He always fulfills His promises to everyone who believes Him. And note: just as with each of the leaders above, He gives the assurance that He will fulfill His promises.

“He [Abraham] staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform” (Ro.4:20-21).

“For all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us” (2 Cor.1:20).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

“And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life” (1 Jn.2:25).

“And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us: and if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him” (1 Jn.5:14-15).

4. Heroic faith stopped the mouths of lions. This was true of Samson (Judg.14:5-6), David (1 Sam.17:34-35), and Daniel (Dan.6:22). The meaning for believers is this: God has the power to control the animals and nature of this world if believers will trust God. And even more importantly, God will deliver believers from the mouth of the lion which is Satan.

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:7-9).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:15).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:22-23).

5. Heroic faith quenched the violence of fire. This probably refers to the three Hebrew young men—Shadrack, Meshack, and Abednego—who refused to worship the state religion of Nebuchadnezzar. Therefore, they were to be executed by being burned alive. However God saved them by performing a most fantastic miracle: He preserved them and kept the flames of fire from burning them (Dan.3:17-27).

God is God. He can preserve a person through both the fiery flame of temptation and trial and the fiery flame of persecution. In fact, God can preserve a person through anything. But note the prerequisite: faith in Him. We must believe God, really believe Him.

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the LORD our God, for our good always, that he might preserve us alive, as it is at this day” (Dt.6:24).

“O love the LORD, all ye his saints: for the LORD preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer” (Ps.31:23).

“For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off” (Ps.37:28).

“He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints” (Pr.2:8).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar [gray] hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you” (Is.46:4).

“Thus saith the LORD, In an acceptable time have I heard thee, and in a day of salvation have I helped thee: and I will preserve thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, to establish the earth, to cause to inherit the desolate heritages” (Is.49:8).

6. Heroic faith escaped the edge of the sword. David escaped the sword of Goliath (1 Sam.17:49-51); Elisha escaped the sword of the king of Israel (1 Ki.6:30-31). Prophet after prophet was delivered from martyrdom time after time by the power of God.

God will deliver the believer from violence and death unless God wills to use the martyrdom of the dear child as a testimony and wills to take His dear child home to be with Him. God is able to deliver the person who truly believes Him. But remember: without faith in God, no person is delivered by God. Faith is the power that takes hold of the hand of God and brings about deliverance.

“But there shall not an hair of your head perish” (Lk.21:18).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

“Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth” (Rev.3:10).

“For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him” (2 Chron.16:9).

“The angel of the LORD encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them” (Ps.34:7).

“He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler” (Ps.91:4).

“As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the LORD is round about his people from henceforth even for ever” (Ps.125:2).

7. Heroic faith brings strength out of weakness. Every one of the leaders above sensed unworthiness and weakness in serving God, but God strengthened them to conquer all the enemies and forces that stood against them.

“Then said I [Isaiah], Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the King, the LORD of hosts” (Is.6:5).

“Then said I [Jeremiah], Ah, Lord God! behold, I cannot speak: for I am a child” (Jer.1:6).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty” (1 Cor.1:27).

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ’s sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong” (2 Cor.12:9-10).

8. Heroic faith grows valiant in fight. True faith develops and stirs courage and strength. The person who truly believes in God knows that God is with him. He is actually stirred to fight and fight, even against unbelievable odds.

“God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect....He teacheth my hands to war; so that a bow of steel is broken by mine arms” (2 Sam.22:33, 35).

“Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the Lord thy God, he it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee” (Dt.31:6).

“Be strong and of a good courage: for unto this people shalt thou divide for an inheritance the land, which I swear unto their fathers to give them” (Josh.1:6).

“And Joshua said unto them, Fear not, nor be dismayed, be strong and of good courage: for thus shall the LORD do to all your enemies against whom ye fight” (Josh.10:25).

“Be ye therefore very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses, that ye turn not aside therefrom to the right hand or to the left: that ye come not among these nations, these that remain among you; neither make mention of the names of their gods, nor cause to swear by them, neither serve them, nor bow yourselves unto them: but cleave unto the LORD your God, as ye have done unto this day. For the LORD hath driven out from before you great nations and strong: but as for you, no man hath been able to stand before you unto this day. One man of you shall chase a thousand: for the LORD your God, he it is that fighteth for you, as he hath promised you” (Josh.23:6-10).

“Be of good courage, and let us behave ourselves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God: and let the LORD do that which is good in his sight” (1 Chron.19:13).

“Then shalt thou prosper, if thou takest heed to fulfill the statutes and judgments which the LORD charged Moses with concerning Israel: be strong, and of good courage; dread not, nor be dismayed” (1 Chron.22:13).

“And David said to Solomon his son, Be strong and of good courage, and do it: fear not, nor be dismayed: for the LORD God, even my God, will be with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee, until thou hast finished all the work for the service of the house of the LORD” (1 Chron.28:20).

“I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about” (Ps.3:6).

“Though a host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident” (Ps.27:3).

“Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day” (Ps.91:5).

“The Lord is on my side; I will not fear: what can man do unto me?” (Ps.118:6).

“When thou liest down, thou shalt not be afraid, yea, thou shalt lie down, and thy sleep shall be sweet” (Pr.3:24).

“Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the Lord JEHOVAH is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation” (Is.12:2).

DIVISION IV

THE SUPREME AUTHOR OF FAITH: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 10:19-11:40

S. The Great Believers' Faith (Part II): An Enduring Faith, 11:35-40

(11:35-40) Introduction: this is the powerful picture of what enduring faith is. It is a faith that endures even martyrdom if necessary. This passage is a panoramic scene that glances back over the history of the Old Testament and highlights the enduring faith of God's people.

1. There was the enduring faith of believers (v.35-38).
2. There was the reward of enduring faith (v.39-40).

1 (11:35-38) Faith—Endurance: there was the enduring faith of believers. Note: no names are mentioned in these verses. As verse 35 indicates, they were the women and men of every day life who were not necessarily leaders, but who had one distinctive trait: they believed God and their faith in God was strong. They endured in faith no matter what attacked them. They never accepted defeat; therefore, they were never defeated. They never denied God; therefore, they were never denied by God. They never lost hope; therefore, they were never left hopeless. They endured in faith. No matter the circumstance, difficulty, threat, injury, pain, torture, or form of execution and death, they endured and held fast to their faith and profession in God.

1. Some believers—women—received their dead raised to life again. This is an astounding fact, that some believers could have faith strong enough to have their children raised from the dead. Yet it is true. The Old Testament gives two examples; perhaps there were others, but they are not recorded in the Scripture (1 Ki.17:17-24; 2 Ki.4:18-37). In the New Testament Christ raised several people from the dead (cp. Mt.9:18-34; Lk.7:11-17; Jn.11:41-46). The point is this: enduring faith—faith that will not let God go—will conquer anything including death. It is not the normal experience for God to raise people from the dead, but He has done it, and He did it because the mothers (and fathers) believed God. If they had not believed God, nothing would have ever happened. They would have just resigned themselves to the death. But they believed God and God raised them. Why? Why these few isolated instances? Why would God raise these and not raise others? Does this mean that some had weak faith and some had strong faith? No, not necessarily. The faith of some persons, of course, is stronger than the faith of others. But some have sought God with just as strong a faith as others, yet they received a different answer. Their dead children were not raised. Why?

⇒ Because circumstances were different. God could teach them more about Himself by strengthening them to go through the death and circumstances. In addition, their testimony to a lost and unbelieving world would sometimes be stronger by experiencing the sorrow and grief of death.

We must always remember that God knows best, even in the death of children. He knows how to make us stronger and how to bear a strong testimony to the world through all the circumstances of life, even through death. But note: God cannot strengthen us, raise the dead, nor do anything else apart from faith—faith that endures. We must believe in God and His power and love, and we must endure in that belief. It was enduring faith that caused these women to receive their dead raised to life. And it will be enduring faith that will cause us to receive the provision of our needs from God.

2. Some believers were tortured, refusing to deny God. The word “tortured” (etumpanisthesan) means to beat or club to death or else to be put on the rack in order to make a person deny Christ. These dear believers suffered martyrdom for the name of Christ. They refused to accept deliverance. All they had to do was renounce Christ, but they refused. And note why: “that they might obtain a better resurrection.” They had their eyes on the promised land of heaven and glory, of living forever and ever with God and Christ. They knew something that was critical, something that is critical for every person to know:

⇒ If they had denied their faith, they would have saved their lives upon earth for a few days, perhaps even for several more years. But eventually they would have died anyway—accident, disease, old age, or something would have consumed their body and snatched or drained the life out of it.

But not faith in God. God gives life—life eternal—to the soul of man. And these dear believers were not about to turn back and reject eternal life just to walk in this evil and dying world for a few more days or at most a few years. They had their eyes on a better resurrection and world—on the resurrection and world that is eternal, never ending, and that is with God and Christ forever and ever.

3. Some believers endured trials of mockings, scourgings, and being chained and imprisoned.

⇒ They were mocked: ridiculed, insulted, treated with contempt, and cursed.

⇒ They were scourged: beaten with rods, whips, and cords of leather straps with bone and metal chips tied to the end—beaten until they died or were near death.

⇒ They were chained hand and foot, sometimes for years (even Paul the apostle suffered this as well as so many of the other trials mentioned throughout this section).

⇒ They were imprisoned in the most horrendous dungeons or prisons in the history of men.

They suffered for their faith, refusing to deny God and Christ and the glorious hope of the promised land—of living forever and ever with God.

4. Some believers were martyred for their faith.

⇒ Some were stoned to death. They were cast to the ground and surrounded by a mob of executioners. The executioners took hand size stones and hurled them at the victim causing whatever excruciating pain they could to the vital parts of the person's body and then eventually crushing the head. (Cp. Zechariah, 2 Chron.24:20f.)

⇒ Some were sawn asunder. Oliver Greene says the method used was to put a person in a hollow log and then to saw through the log and the person (The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews, p.514).

These are horrible pictures of death, but they are just some of the ways the world in its madness against believers have slaughtered them for their faith. Note: the believers were “lured with tempting offers [to renounce their faith]” but they refused (Amplified New Testament). They chose to receive the eternal life of God rather than a few days upon this evil and dying world.

5. Some believers were treated in the most inhuman ways imaginable.

⇒ They were stripped of all clothing and forced to wander about in sheepskins and goatskins.

⇒ They were stripped of all possessions—had everything taken away and confiscated—their homes, property, money, everything. They were left utterly destitute and they were afflicted and tormented as much as possible as object lessons in order to stop anyone else from believing in God and Christ.

⇒ They were forced to wander about and find shelter wherever they could: in deserts, in mountains, and in the dens and caves of the earth.

But note the glorious declaration of Scripture: the world was not worthy of these precious people—the dear, dear believers who honored and worshipped God. The idea is this: the unbelievers of the world stripped them and confiscated everything that was worth anything on this earth. But the world—the whole world with all its people and all their wealth—was not worthy of a single one of these dear believers.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name’s sake, shall receive an hundredfold, and shall inherit everlasting life” (Mt.19:29).

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

“If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you...If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but now they have no cloke for their sin” (Jn.15:18, 22).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“But all these things will they do unto you for my name’s sake, because they know not him that sent me” (Jn.15:21).

“They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me” (Jn.16:2-3).

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that ye should not be offended. They shall put you out of the synagogues: yea, the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you will think that he doeth God service. And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them. And these things I said not unto you at the beginning, because I was with you” (Jn.16:1-4).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto” (1 Th.3:3).

“Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you” (1 Jn.3:13).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:12-14).

2 (11:39-40) Faith—Reward: there was the reward of enduring faith. The reward was twofold.

1. All the believers of the Old Testament obtained a good report and testimony. Their faith touched both God and man. Their faith was the light of the world; their lives pointed men to God, and their testimonies still do. Note: their faith touched God so much that He has recorded it forever in this chapter of Hebrews. And although their names are not mentioned for the world to honor, what is important is stressed, that is, their faith. It is not their names that would stir people; it is their faith. It is the faith of their lives that touches the hearts and lives of people. Their faith touches people of every generation and stirs them to be men and women of stronger faith. What a legacy to leave behind, a legacy of faith that stirs and encourages people to arise and trust God and to live righteously and godly and to make this a much better world for God.

“First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world” (Ro.1:8).

“For your obedience is come abroad unto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf: but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

2. They had the glorious hope of the promised land and the promised seed. They died without receiving the promised seed. They never saw Christ born, crucified, resurrected, and exalted to the right hand of God the Father. They never saw their salvation secured by Christ, who was the very Son of God. They never saw the promise of the Messiah fulfilled. They died believing the promise, but they never knew exactly how their salvation was to be arranged.

But this is not true with us: we know. Christ has come; He has died and been resurrected and exalted to make all believers perfect and presentable to God the Father. The Old Testament believers looked forward to the Messiah; we look back upon Him. We are far more privileged. It has already happened; it is a historic fact: Christ Jesus our Lord has now died and been resurrected to make us all acceptable to God. All believers—both Old and New Testament believers—are covered by the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Faith in Him causes God to count us righteous and free from the guilt and judgment of sin. And being free of sin makes us perfect in God’s eyes. But we must always remember: our righteousness and our perfection is in Christ and in Christ alone.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith. For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect” (Ro.4:13-14).

“By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God....These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country....But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:8-10, 13-14, 16).

“But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels” (Heb.12:22).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

DIVISION V

THE SUPREME EXAMPLE OF ENDURANCE: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 12:1-29

A. The Great Christian Race, 12:1-4

(12:1-4) Introduction—Christian Race—Perfection: this is one of the most stirring passages in Scripture, a passage that is written for the purpose of stirring us to run and to keep on running in the Christian race of life. What is the Christian race? It can be described in many ways.

- ⇒ It is the race for heaven.
- ⇒ It is the race for life, for both abundant and eternal life.
- ⇒ It is the race to live with God forever.
- ⇒ It is the race for perfection, a perfect life and world in which there is no suffering, corruption, evil, suffering, or death.
- ⇒ It is the race for righteousness and justice—for a perfect world of godliness.
- ⇒ It is the race for the promised land, the eternal land where we can live forever with God.
- ⇒ It is the race to live in the new heavens and earth with God forever and ever.
- ⇒ It is the race to know God, to commune and fellowship with God both now and forever.

This is the great Christian race, the great goal toward which believers are running. They believe in God and in His great promise of living with Him forever and ever; they believe in God's glorious promise of a new heavens and earth that shall be perfected eternally. Believers know that if they endure to the end, they shall be escorted into the very presence of God where they shall live with God forever and ever; and from there, they shall await the glorious day of redemption, the day when the heavens and earth shall be remade and perfected forever. Believers know that God's promise to Old Testament believers—the promise of the promised land—shall become a living reality. How do believers know this—know it beyond question? By the Promised Seed, even by the Lord Jesus Christ. The Promised Seed has come, and He has died for our sins and been raised again for our justification. Therefore, we shall live forever in the promised land of God's glorious presence—live forever in heaven and in His love, worship, and service. The goal of the Christian race is so wonderful a promise that we could go on and talk and talk about it. But the point of the present passage demands our attention: the great Christian race lies out before us. Therefore, it needs to be studied and understood by all who are willing to run it, and all need to run it.

1. Its inspiration: a great cloud of witnesses (v.1).
2. Its required disciplines (v.1).
3. Its supreme example: Jesus (v.2).
4. Its controlling factor: staying one's mind on Jesus' endurance (v.3).
5. Its great demand: resisting temptation—even to blood (v.4).

1 (12:1) Christian Race: there is the inspiration of the Christian race—a great cloud of witnesses. The picture is that of a race. The scene is a great coliseum filled to capacity with spectators (“great cloud”). The race is about to begin. Two quick exhortations are given: get rid of all excess weight and clinging entanglements and run and run and keep on running—enduring to the end. As you run, remember Jesus (v.2). He formerly participated, and He participated for the joy of winning. He disciplined Himself, endured to the point of death. And He received His reward.

The picture painted by the author shows there are two senses in which the crowd witnesses the great Christian race. The crowd, the heroes of chapter eleven, have participated in the race. They have run and finished the race themselves—enduring to the end and winning. Therefore, they are witnesses and examples for us. But they are not only participants, they are also spectators. They actually witness our race and performance. They are vitally interested in how we run the race.

The point is this: a great cloud of witnesses surrounds and envelops us—witnesses who believed God and stood fast for God—stood fast against all kinds of trials, temptations, and opposition. Their great faith and endurance should stir and inspire us to believe and to endure in our belief. They never buckled or crumbled in their faith.

- ⇒ They endured against great temptation—against looking, touching, tasting, doing, thinking, feeling, and saying anything that would hinder their running the race. They did not give in to temptation—not for long—not as a lifestyle—not permanently. They endured in faith.
- ⇒ They endured against great trials—against problems, trouble, sufferings, loss, hunger, disease, accident, mockery, abuse, persecution, threats, and even in the face of martyrdom. No matter how terrible or awful the trial, they endured in faith—believing in God and His glorious promises.
- ⇒ They endured against all opposition—against opposition from family, friends, neighbors, fellow-workers, civil leaders, and even institutional religionists. No matter the opposition, they believed God and endured in their faith in God and in His Word of promise.

Again, the point is this: their faith and their endurance should stir and inspire us to believe God and to run holding fast to our belief.

2 (12:1) Christian Race—Endurance—Sin: there are the required disciplines of the Christian race. They are twofold.

1. We must lay aside every weight and lay aside the sin that so easily traps us. The words “lay aside” (apothemenoi) mean to take off, strip off and to remove as in taking off clothes.

a. The Christian runner must strip off “every weight” (ogkon panta). This means any excess weight and bulk of body. All serious athletes train and strain to remove all excess weight. This refers to things that may be legitimate and innocent in and of themselves, but they hinder the Christian runner. They hamper and slow him down instead of helping him run faster. What kind of things would these be? What are some legitimate and innocent things, things that do not help a believer to grow and run the race as fast as he can?

⇒ Seeking entertainment instead of fellowshiping and communing with God—instead of praying and reading our Bibles—instead of worshipping and witnessing. Recreation is sometimes needed, but the problem with most of us is that we relax and rest far more than we need, and we neglect our fellowship and communion with God and our intercessory prayer for others. Too many of us do not even know how to spend long times keeping our minds upon God and communing with Him.

⇒ Seeking the possessions and things of this world instead of seeking God.

⇒ Listening to music and other sounds that do not build up our spirits nor focus our minds upon the truth and God. Watching films and television that fail to strengthen us.

We could go on and on, but the thrust is edification. Anything that does not build us up and make us stronger is excess weight that slows us down. The Christian runner must do exactly what the Olympic runner does: strain to remove all excess weight. Do nothing—absolutely nothing—that hinders or hampers him from running at full speed. He must strip off all unnecessary weight.

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions” (Mt.19:21-22).

“And it came to pass, that, as they went in the way, a certain man said unto him, Lord, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest. And Jesus said unto him Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. And he said unto another, Follow me. But he said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father. Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou and preach the kingdom of God. And another also said, Lord, I will follow thee; but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at home at my house. And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:57-62).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“But his wife looked back from behind him [at the world and its fate and daily events], and she became a pillar of salt” (Gen.19:26).

b. The Christian runner must strip off the sin which so easily trips or besets him. The words “easily besets” (euperistaton) mean the sin which clings, distracts, entangles, and trips up the Christian runner. It is the picture of clothing flapping around a person while he is running: it entangles and trips him and he falls. What is the sin that entangles and trips believers? Various sins have been suggested as common to all believers. However, the exhortation speaks strongly to every believer and to the particular sin that entangles and throws the believer. Each one of us must ask: What is the sin that so easily traps me? Pleasure, indulgence, the tongue, the flesh, pride, possessions, worldly friends, television, sports—what is it that consumes my energy and keeps me from following God fully and wholly—that trips me up far, far too often. We must strip it off or else it will entangle us and trip us up and we will never finish the race.

“If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles” (Job 11:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

2. We must run with patience (hupomone). The word means endurance, fortitude, steadfastness, constancy, perseverance. The word patience is not passive; it is active. It is not the spirit that just sits back and puts up with the trials of life, taking whatever may come. Rather it is the spirit that stands up and faces the trials of life, that actively goes about conquering and overcoming them. When trials confront a man who is truly justified, he is stirred to arise and face the trials head on. He immediately sets out to conquer and overcome them. He knows that God is allowing the trials in order to teach him more and more patience (endurance).

The Christian runner must be determined; he must have true grit. He must be filled with steadfast endurance, letting nothing stop or hinder him, not any...

- sin
- distraction
- lust
- desire
- enticement
- luring invitation
- appealing attraction
- enticing chance
- daring challenge
- worldly potential

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:2-4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

3 (12:2) Christian Race—Jesus Christ: there is the supreme example of the Christian race—the Lord Jesus Christ. Believers who have trusted God and endured in their faith are great examples for us. We have seen this in the Great Hall of Faith in chapter eleven. And we see it in the example of believers all around us—believers who really live for Christ. But as great as these examples are, there is one supreme example of faith, that is, the Lord Jesus Christ. We may and should look at the example of other believers, but we should always be looking to Jesus. The word “looking” (aphorontes) means to fix your eyes upon Jesus. It also means to fix your mind upon Him (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.214). The Christian runner is to focus his eyes and mind upon Jesus Christ. Why? Because Jesus Christ Himself ran the race of faith when He was upon earth, and He shows us exactly how to run it. We should remember four things about the race He ran.

1. Jesus Christ participated in the race Himself; He actually ran the race of faith. In fact, He is the very Author and Finisher of faith.

⇒ The Author (ton archeion) means that He authored, began, originated, created, and gave birth to the Christian race.

⇒ The Finisher (teleiotes) means that He perfected, completed, and consummated the race. He ran the race to the finish.

The idea is that Jesus Christ ran the course of life perfectly. He was sinless, perfectly righteous, always obeying God in everything. He ran the race of faith—of utter obedience and trust in God—all through His life upon earth. He finished His course living a perfect and righteous life upon earth. Therefore, He created and authored and completed the Christian race for all believers. He is the blazing example of faith in God—of utter dependence, obedience, and righteousness—for the believer. The believer is always to be looking to Jesus the Author and Finisher of faith.

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession Christ Jesus” (Heb.3:1).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps” (1 Pt.2:21).

2. Jesus Christ had a great inspiration: the joy that was set before Him. What was that joy? The glorious day of redemption...

- the glorious day when He would be united and exalted with all believers of all ages.
- the glorious day when He would realize all the glory and joy for which He had died and for which God had purposed His death.
- the glorious day when the new heavens and earth would be recreated and all the redeemed would be worshipping and serving God as all in all.

- the glorious day when the salvation of all believers of all generations would be completely and perfectly fulfilled, and He and all those who loved Him would be ruling and reigning with Him forever and ever.

There are many ways to express the joy that was set before Christ, but the thing to see is that it was the joy of redemption—of God’s very purpose for the world—that stirred and motivated Christ to come to earth and author salvation for man.

Thought 1. The glorious day of redemption should stir and motivate us as well. Christ our Lord is our supreme example in being stirred by the joy that lies before us.

“In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes: even so, Father; for so it seemed good in thy sight” (Lk.10:21).

“And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his shoulders, rejoicing” (Lk.15:5).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“And now come I to thee; and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves” (Jn.17:13).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

3. Jesus Christ is the supreme example in discipline: He followed the rules of the race even to the point of dying in order to create the race. He obeyed God perfectly. He ignored and despised the shame of the cross in order to finish the race of perfect obedience to God. And because He was perfectly obedient, He has blazed the path of perfect righteousness, of the very faith that makes us acceptable to God. The Christian race exists because Jesus Christ disciplined Himself; He obeyed God perfectly, even to the extent of dying for us. This He willingly did, and because He did, He is the supreme example for us. We should endure in believing and obeying God no matter the cost or price we have to pay, even if it means martyrdom.

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

4. Jesus Christ is the supreme example of receiving the reward of faith. He was exalted to the right hand of the throne of God. Believers witnessed His ascension and several believers have seen Him in visions and dreams since then (cp. Acts 1:9f; 7:55f; 9:3f).

“So then, after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:22).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

4 (12:3) Christian Race—Jesus Christ: there is the controlling factor of the Christian race—keeping or staying one’s mind on the endurance of Jesus Christ. The word “consider” (analogizomai) means to compare, reckon, count up, weigh. Believers are to focus upon Jesus Christ and His sufferings and compare and weigh them against their sufferings. Christ endured so much more than we have to endure. Let any orphan, widow, criminal, prostitute, slave, or sufferer—any person whatsoever compare himself with all this, and remember Jesus bore all this:

- ⇒ being born to an unwed mother (Mt.1:18-19).
- ⇒ being born in a stable, the worst of conditions (Lk.2:7).
- ⇒ being born to poor parents (Lk.2:24).
- ⇒ having his life threatened as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- ⇒ being the cause of unimaginable sorrow (Mt.2:16f).
- ⇒ having to be moved and shifted as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- ⇒ being reared in a despicable place, Nazareth (Lk.2:39).
- ⇒ having His father die during His youth (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- ⇒ having to support His mother, brothers, and sisters (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- ⇒ having no home, not even a place to lay His head (Mt.8:20; Lk.9:58).
- ⇒ being hated and opposed by religionists (Mk.14:1-2).
- ⇒ being charged with insanity (Mk.3:21).
- ⇒ being charged with demon possession (Mk.3:22).
- ⇒ being opposed by His own family (Mk.3:31-32).
- ⇒ being rejected, hated, and opposed by audiences to whom He spoke (Mt.13:53-58; Lk.4:28-29).
- ⇒ being betrayed by a close friend (Mk.14:10-11, 18).
- ⇒ being left alone, rejected, and forsaken by all His friends (Mk.14:50).
- ⇒ being tried before the high court of the land on the charge of treason (Jn.18:33).
- ⇒ being executed by crucifixion, the worst possible death (Jn.19:16f).

Note why we should compare our sufferings with the suffering of Christ. It keeps us from becoming weary, that is, exhausted, tired, worn out, and relaxing when we should be working; and it also keeps us from fainting in our minds, that is, from losing heart and becoming discouraged and despondent, from drawing back and giving up.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“Let him that is taught in the word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things” (Gal.6:6).

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:10-12).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith” (2 Tim.4:7).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

5 (12:4) Christian Race—Jesus Christ: there is the great demand of the Christian race—to resist temptation even to the point of blood. This is the picture of Christ’s ordeal in Gethsemane and upon the cross. He struggled against the temptation to choose some other way other than the cross, but He endured to the point of blood in both experiences (cp. Mt.26:36-46; Mk.14:32-42; Lk.22:39-53).

The point is both striking and powerful: we must resist temptation...

- to the point of sweating blood if necessary.
- to the point of death.

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:6-8).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:6-7).

THE SUPREME EXAMPLE OF ENDURANCE: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 12:1-29

B. The Great Discipline of God, 12:5-13

(12:5-13) Introduction—Discipline, of God—Chastisement: God disciplines believers. He chastens, corrects, and rebukes believers. But we must always remember this: “God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man” (Jas.1:13). God does not cause temptation, sin, devastation, destruction, accident, sickness, death, sufferings, trials, trouble, and problems in people’s lives. These things are caused by man’s own sinful and selfish lusts, by the corruptible world in which he lives, and by that arch-enemy of the spiritual world: Satan. God does not cause bad and evil in life. God loves man and loves this world. Therefore, God’s concern is not to cause problems and pain for us; His concern is to deliver us through all the trouble and pain on earth and to save us for heaven and eternity. How does God do this? By chastising us. What does chastising (paideias) mean? When we think of chastisement, we usually think of discipline and correction and it does mean this. But it also means to train, teach, and instruct a person. Both meanings are included in the Biblical word chastisement (cp. A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.435). God does two things with us:

1. First, when we face some trial and sin in life, God stirs us to stand fast and to conquer the trial or to turn away from the sin. He guides, directs, teaches, trains, and instructs us all along the way, making us stronger and stronger in life and drawing us closer and closer to Him. God does not want the trials and sins of life to defeat and engulf us; He wants them to strengthen us. He wants to use them to discipline and teach us more and more endurance. He wants to teach us to trust and depend upon Him more and more. But note this: we have to let God work in our hearts and use the trials to strengthen us. We cannot wallow around in self-pity or react against the trials and problems that attack us. We must turn to God—truly turn to God—and ask Him for help and strength and then let Him help us.

An illustration is this. A small innocent baby who is crippled in an automobile accident by a drunkard is not being chastised or corrected by God. The child has done nothing for which to be chastised. The child is crippled because of a sinful man who followed the path of Satan. He is crippled because he lives in a corruptible world. God loves the child, and God will look after the child as the child grows if the child will look to God for help. God will use the child’s sufferings...

- God will teach and discipline the growing child to endure more and more, making him stronger and stronger.
- God will teach and discipline the growing child to trust and depend upon Christ more and more and to fellowship and commune with Christ more and more.
- God will use the endurance and faith of the growing child as a testimony to the love and care of God—as a testimony to the living reality and delivering power of God that can conquer all the trials and sorrows of life, even that of death.

2. Second, when we fail and cave in to the trial and sin, God lets us reap what we have sown. We bear the results of our sin, but even during sin and failure, God loves us. He loves and works with us, convicting us by His Spirit to repent. He then uses the suffering of the sin to stir us to think of Him and our failure. God takes the sufferings that are caused by trials and sins and uses them to correct and discipline us. This is the key statement, and it is what we must always remember when dealing with all the bad and evil things upon earth. God does not cause them; we cause them, and the corruptible world in which we live causes them, and the arch-enemy Satan causes them. God loves us and has nothing in mind for us except love and the very best of everything. Therefore, God takes all the bad and evil—all the suffering of bad and evil—and He uses it all to make us think about Him and our failure. He uses the suffering caused by sin and trials to correct and discipline us, to stir us to draw near Him in trust, dependence, and love, and to live like we should.

This is what chastisement is and this is why God disciplines us. This is the great subject of this passage: the great discipline of God.

1. The strong exhortation concerning discipline (v.5-7).
2. The purposes of discipline (v.8-11).
3. The believer's duty (v.12-13).

1 (12:5-7) Discipline, Of God—Chastisement: the exhortation concerning discipline is a threefold exhortation (cp. Pr.3:11-12; 13:24).

1. First, do not despise (meoligorei) discipline (v.5). The word means to scorn; to make little of; to treat lightly. When we are being taught, disciplined, or corrected, there is always the danger of...

- despising it
- scorning it
- making light of it
- treating it too lightly

Too often, we pay little attention to the discipline and correction of God: to the tug and pull of the Spirit of God, to the little consequences and sufferings of our hearts, to the little things that happen to us. As a result we continue right on in our little irresponsible behaviors and sins. The little flaws and sins get bigger and bigger until finally they are too big to handle. The consequences involve so much destruction and suffering that we can no longer ignore them.

Why do we suffer so much in this life? Because of our irresponsibilities and sins—because we do not heed the discipline and correction of God when we first begin to act irresponsibly. If we heeded the discipline of God, then we could correct our small misbehavior and no big sin would happen. This would mean that much of the great sufferings in the world would never happen.

The point is this: we are not to despise the discipline of God—not to scorn it nor take and treat it lightly. We are to heed it. As we do, life will be much easier and stronger and much more triumphant and victorious.

“Yet he sent prophets to them, to bring them again unto the LORD; and they testified against them: but they would not give ear” (2 Chron.24:19).

“And they have turned unto me the back, and not the face: though I taught them, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not hearkened to receive instruction” (Jer.32:33).

“For the people turneth not unto him that smiteth them, neither do they seek the LORD of hosts” (Is.9:13).

“In vain have I smitten your children; they received no correction: your own sword hath devoured your prophets, like a destroying lion” (Jer.2:30).

“O LORD, are not thine eyes upon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they have not grieved; thou hast consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a rock; they have refused to return” (Jer.5:3).

“I said, Surely thou wilt fear me, thou wilt receive instruction; so their dwelling should not be cut off, howsoever I punished them: but they rose early, and corrupted all their doings” (Zeph.3:7).

“And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him” (Heb.12:5).

“And blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and repented not of their deeds” (Rev.16:11).

“Ye stiffnecked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do ye” (Acts 7:51).

“But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they should not hear” (Zech.7:11).

2. Second, do not faint or give up when disciplined (v.5). The word “faint” (ekluou) means to give up; to lose heart; to buckle under; to lose courage; to weaken. The trials and sufferings of this world can become extremely heavy and painful—sometimes almost too much to bear.

⇒ The rebuking hand of God that convicts us to repent and to correct our behavior becomes almost unbearable.

In either case, we are not to faint or give up. We are to turn totally to God in trust and dependence, asking for His help and strength. We have the glorious assurance that He will deliver us victoriously through all. He will make us stronger and make us a much greater witness for Him. God will save us and live within our hearts and lives—save us both now and eternally—save us even through death itself so that we may live with Him forever and ever in the new heavens and earth (1 Pt.3:10-13; Rev.21:1f).

“Therefore, seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not” (2 Cor.4:1).

“For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day” (2 Cor.4:16).

“Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for you, which is your glory” (Eph.3:13).

“And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him” (Heb.12:5).

“And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name’s sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted” (Rev.2:3).

“But now thus saith the LORD that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:1-2).

3. Third, endure the discipline of God (v.6-7). Note these verses closely: when God receives us as children of His, He disciplines and even scourges or spans us. Why? Because He loves us. God chastens us because we are His sons, that is, His children. We have faults and weaknesses, and we go astray, disobeying, rebelling, and acting selfishly. We often hurt and cause pain both for ourselves and for others. But God loves us and wants to stop us from hurting ourselves and from hurting others. He wants us to grow and move through life with as little pain and hurt as possible. He wants us to become stronger and stronger within our inner person. Therefore, every time we go astray or begin to faint under trials, God corrects us.

The point is this: we are to endure the discipline of God. We are to stand fast against all trials and sufferings. We are to become soft to the guidance and urgings of the Spirit of God. We are to follow the Word of God and His Spirit, the urgings and convictions within our hearts when they are of God. God is disciplining us, teaching and correcting us because He loves us as our Father. He is disciplining us just as a loving father upon earth disciplines his child.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?” (Heb.12:7).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Behold, we count them happy with endure, Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy” (Jas.5:11).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

2 (12:8-11) Discipline, Of God—Chastisement: the purposes for discipline are fourfold.

1. God disciplines us to assure us that we are His children (v.8). If a person is not disciplined by God, then he knows something: he is not a son of God. He is an illegitimate child; he is only a person who professes to be God’s but who is not.

⇒ Unless a person is taught, instructed, disciplined, and corrected by the Spirit of God, he is not a son of God.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

As this verse says (note it carefully), God takes all who are partakers of His nature—who are children of His—and teaches, instructs, disciplines, and corrects them. God disciplines His children, and the fact that we are disciplined by Him shows and assures us that we are not illegitimate children, but true children of God.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:14).

“Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ” (Gal.4:7).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God” (Ro.8:14-16).

2. God disciplines us to save us and to stir us to truly live (v.9). Imagine a world without any discipline, training, instruction, and correction. It would be a world of lawlessness, corruption, evil, devastation, destruction, ruin, and death. Life within such a world would not be life; in fact, life could not even survive upon earth. It is discipline, training, instruction, and correction that gives order and protection to life upon earth. This is the reason earthly fathers who love their children discipline them.

The point is this: God's discipline brings more life to man, an abundance of life in this world and an eternal life in the next world. A person who will heed the discipline of God...

- will escape much of the suffering and pain of this life and become a much stronger person as he walks through the trials and temptations of life.
- will be delivered from death the moment he leaves this world and enters the next world.

“As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

“In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death” (Pr.12:28).

“And I gave them my statutes, and showed them my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them” (Ezk.20:11).

“But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby” (Ezk.33:19).

“And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself. And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live” (Lk.10:27-28).

3. God disciplines us for our good, to make us partakers of His holiness (v.10). Remember: holiness means to be different; to be completely and wholly set apart and separated from imperfection and impurity. God is holy, righteous, and pure—perfectly so. Note this:

- ⇒ The more sin and evil we do, the less like God we become.
- ⇒ The less sin and evil we do, the more like God we become.

Therefore, God is bound to discipline us when we begin to faint under trials and sufferings and when we begin to move toward sin. God wants us to become more and more like Him. When we first believed and became children of God, God put His divine nature—His Spirit—within us. His Holy Spirit indwells us to make us more like God. As long as we are on this earth, we shall never become perfectly holy, never be perfectly set apart unto God. But we are to grow more and more like Him. Day by day we are to let His holiness and purity shine through us. The more His holiness shines in our lives, the stronger His witness is and the easier it is for people to believe and surrender themselves to God.

“For I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy” (Lev.11:45).

“That he would grant unto us, that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear. In holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse our selves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

4. God disciplines us so that we can bear the fruit of peace and righteousness (v.11). This is clearly seen. The less sin and evil there is, the more peace and righteousness there is. If the sin and evil of anger and division do not exist, then peace and righteousness prevail. Therefore, when sin and evil stick their ugly heads up in our lives, God disciplines us. Why? So that we will correct ourselves and do all we can for the sake of peace and righteousness.

The discipline and correction may be grievous and painful to bear at first, but it will bring peace and righteousness if we will only bear it.

“But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty” (Mt.13:23).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful” (Col.3:15).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee” (Job 22:21).

3 (12:12-13) Discipline, Of God—Chastisement: the believer's duty is threefold.

1. The believer is to lift up his hands and strengthen his buckling knees. This is the picture of a man discouraged and defeated because of the sufferings of trial or sin. Instead of listening to the voice of God's discipline, he has let his shoulders and hands hang low and his knees buckle. This is not to be so with the Christian believer. The believer is to listen to God and His discipline: lift up his hands, strengthen his weak grip and buckling knees.

"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong" (1 Cor.16:13).

"Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might" (Eph.6:10).

"Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim.2:1).

"Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weak: for your work shall be rewarded" (2 Chron.15:7).

"Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompense; he will come and save you" (Is.35:3-4).

2. The believer is to make straight paths for his feet. He is to follow the straight course of God's discipline. He is to do exactly what God's Spirit is saying to do, and do nothing that the Spirit is not instructing him to do.

"And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God" (Lk.9:62).

"Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before" (Ph.3:13).

"Ye shall observe to do therefore as the LORD your God hath commanded you: ye shall not turn aside to the right hand or to the left" (Dt.5:32).

"Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest" (Josh.1:7).

"Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil" (Pr.4:27).

"And they went every one straight forward: whither the spirit was to go, they went; and they turned not when they went" (Ezk.1:12).

3. The believer must heal whatever is lame. This charge can be saying one of two things: that the believer is to heal any lame part of his own behavior, or that the behavior is to strengthen his weak grip, his buckling knees, and make straight paths so that he can heal and help other believers who are lame. What a descriptive way to express the duty and witness of the believer!

⇒ The believer is to receive the discipline of God so that he can be a dynamic witness for God.

"I said, LORD, be merciful unto me: heal my soul; for I have sinned against thee" (Ps.41:4).

"My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh" (Pr.4:20-22).

"Why should ye be stricken any more? ye will revolt more and more: the whole head is sick, and the whole heart faint" (Is.1:5).

"But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed" (Is.53:5).

"Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God" (Jer.3:22).

"Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?" (Jer.8:22).

"Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up" (Hos.6:1).

THE SUPREME EXAMPLE OF ENDURANCE: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 12:1-29

C. The Great Duty and the Great Dangers of Believers, 12:14-17

(12:14-17) Introduction: few passages of Scripture are as direct and practical as this passage. It covers the great duty and the great dangers of believers.

1. The great duty of believers (v.14).
2. The great danger threatening believers (v.15-17).

1 (12:14) Believer, Duty—Peace—Holiness: the great duty of the believer is to follow after peace and holiness. The word “follow” (diokete) means to run after, chase after, press after, and to pursue. It has the idea of swiftness and endurance—of hotly pursuing and staying after peace and holiness. We live in a world that is full of corruptible and evil people who could care less about peace and holiness just so they get what they want. However, the believer must not give up, for both peace and holiness are the very reason he is on earth. The believer’s danger is twofold.

1. The believer is to follow after peace (eirenen) with all men. The fact that he has to follow after peace means that peace is not always possible.

- ⇒ Some persons within the church are troublemakers: grumblers, complainers, gossipers, criticizers; some are self-centered leaders full of pride; some people within the church are just selfish and self-centered and care more about pushing themselves forward and getting their own way than they do about peace. Self is put before Christ, the church, and its mission.
- ⇒ Some persons within the world are troublemakers and they cause great trouble for the believer. They oppose the believer: ridicule, mock, poke fun at, curse, abuse, persecute, ignore, and isolate him.
- ⇒ Some persons within the world are troublemakers for the world at large: dissenters, dividers, fighters, ego-hunters, power-builders, and warmongers. Some people have no interest in peace whatsoever unless they can have their own way.

The point is this: the believer is to follow after peace with all men—no matter who they are. The very purpose for the believer being on earth is to bring peace between men and God and between men and all other men. Therefore, the believer is to do all he can to live at peace with everyone and to lead others to live in peace.

The believer is to live at peace with all men. The believer is to work for as much peace as possible. Some level of harmony and concord can be achieved at least some of the time. The believer is never to give up, not as long as there is hope for some degree of peace. He is to achieve as much peace as possible. However remember, peace is not always possible—not with everyone.

Now note two significant points that need to be carefully considered by every believer.

- a. The cause of conflict must not arise from a believer. He is to try everything possible to bring about peace and to keep peace (Ro.12:20; cp. Mt.5:39-41). However, this may be impossible because of the wickedness of others or because the control of peace is not within his hands. It is possible that some will not live peaceably. They continue to indulge every whim and live a life of repugnant license. Such living often threatens the peace and security, preservation and life of oneself, one’s family, and one’s friends.
- b. What is it that determines whether a believer is to turn the “other cheek” or to defend himself? For example, Jesus spent His life combating evil and wrong, but He did not always turn the other cheek (Jn.18:22-23); neither did Paul (Acts 23:2-3). Paul encouraged the believer not to give license to anyone, and he was strict in the command. For example, he said that if a man did not work because of laziness, he should not eat (2 Th.3:7, 10).

The governing principle for the believer is clear: “Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good” (Ro.12:21). There are times when an attacker, if allowed to continue in his attack, is encouraged in his evil nature of indulgence and license. If allowed to continue, his evil overcomes the believer—either within through bitterness and revenge, or without through domination. Thus, a believer is not to sacrifice truth in order to preserve peace. Evil is not to be allowed to overcome truth.

“If the spirit of the ruler rise up against thee, leave not thy place; for yielding pacifieth great offences” (Eccl.10:4).

“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men” (Ro.12:18).

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

2. The believer is to follow after “holiness” (hagiasmon). The word means sanctification, consecration, and separation. It means to be set apart and different. The root meaning of holiness is to be different. The believer is to be different from the unbelievers of the world in that he...

- is set apart unto God and to Him alone.
- is separated from the world and its pleasures and possessions.

The believer, of course, lives in the world. He walks and moves within the world; buys, eats, and sleeps in the world; works, plays, and is housed in the world; relates, associates, and fellowships in the world. However the believer is not to be of the world. He is not to be possessed by the world, enslaved to its pleasures and possessions. What does this mean? In very simple terms, the believer is not to indulge and give license to his flesh:

- ⇒ He is not to buy and buy; he is not to be a materialist.
- ⇒ He is not to eat and eat; he is not to be a glutton.
- ⇒ He is not to sleep and sleep; he is not to be slothful.
- ⇒ He is not to work and work; he is not to be a workaholic.
- ⇒ He is not to play and play; he is not to over-emphasize recreation.
- ⇒ He is not to have house after house; he is not to hoard riches in a world of desperate needs.
- ⇒ He is not to fellowship and fellowship; he is not to neglect duty.

The believer is to be separated from the world and its pleasures and possessions. He is to be set apart unto God, living for God and serving Him in His great mission. The believer is to meet the needs of a desperate world that is dying from sin, disease, hunger, and war. The believer is to be different from the rest of the world; he is to follow after holiness.

Note: this verse declares that no person shall ever see the Lord unless he is holy. Holiness is an absolute essential if a person is to live with God (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Holy—1 Pt.1:15-16 for more discussion.)

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

2 (12:15-17) Neglect—Warning: the great dangers threatening believers. There are some great dangers that threaten the faith of believers. Therefore, believers must look diligently after themselves and after others. The words “looking diligently” (episkopountes) mean to be on the watch; to look carefully; to take the oversight of; to see to it. It is of utmost importance, of a critical nature, for there are dangers. Therefore, be on the lookout and search diligently lest one fall into one of these dangers. There are four great dangers that threaten believers.

1. There is the danger of falling short of the grace of God (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.437). What is the grace of God? It is the favor and kindness of God that saves man. Grace means the favor and kindness of God, but there is a uniqueness about God’s favor and kindness. His favor and kindness are given despite the fact that they are undeserved and unmerited. God has done a thing unheard of among men: God has given His grace to men...

- despite their cursing Him.
- despite their rejecting Him.
- despite their rebelling against Him.
- despite their hostility toward Him.
- despite their denial of Him.
- despite their neglect of Him.
- despite their half-hearted commitment to Him.
- despite their worship of religion instead of Him.
- despite their false worship.
- despite their idolatrous worship.
- despite their trespasses.
- despite their sins.

Grace is giving, but it is giving to people who do not deserve the gift. What is the gift that God has given? Jesus Christ. God has given His Son, Jesus Christ, to save men. He did not have to give His Son. God could have wiped man from the face of the earth and condemned him forever to judgment. Man deserved it, but this is God’s grace. God is full of mercy and love and kindness—by His very nature He is full of these glorious qualities. Therefore, God was bound to shower His grace upon man. God was bound to send His Son to save man.

God is not off someplace in the distance, far removed from man, disinterested and unconcerned with man’s sufferings and death. God is gracious, full of mercy, love, and kindness for man; therefore, He has reached out through His Son Jesus Christ to help man. How?

- ⇒ By giving His Son to die for man. When Jesus Christ hung upon the cross, He was taking our sins upon Himself and bearing the punishment for our sins. We had committed high treason against God: rejected and rebelled against Him. The penalty for high treason is death; we are condemned to die, that is, to be exiled and cut off from God forever and ever. But Christ took our penalty and condemnation upon Himself. He died for us—in our place, in our stead, as our substitute. He suffered separation from God for us. This is what Scripture means when it says that Christ died for us.

Note that the people for whom Christ died did not deserve His sacrificial love. They were men who were...

- “without strength” (Ro.5:6).
- “ungodly” (Ro.5:6).
- “sinners” (Ro.5:8).
- “enemies” (Ro.5:10).

This is the grace of God—God’s grace that showered itself upon sinful men who were lost and condemned—God’s grace that gave the greatest gift possible to men—the gift of His Son to save the world. (See note, Salvation—Eph.2:6; note 3 and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21.)

The grace of God is the most wonderful gift in all the world. It is the glorious opportunity to be saved from sin, death, and condemnation—saved to live forever with God throughout all eternity. But note the critical danger: God’s grace is only an opportunity to be saved. God does not force a person to be saved. God does not want robots living with Him, men who have been forced to live with Him. God wants men to grab hold of the opportunity by their own free will and choice. But again the great danger is that men will not grab the opportunity. The great danger is that a person will accept the opportunity...

- to join the church;
- to be baptized;
- to profess Christ;
- to become religious;
- to be good and to do good works;

...but he will fail to grab hold of the grace of God that changes his heart and life. The believer must watch, look diligently, oversee his life ever so carefully, lest he fall back from the grace of God.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

2. There is the danger of “any root of bitterness.” Note the word any. The writer is speaking about any root, any cause that might stir a person to become bitter:

- | | | |
|--------------------|----------------|---------------|
| • disappointment | • accidents | • wife |
| • neglect | • disease | • husband |
| • being overlooked | • mistreatment | • parent |
| • inadequacy | • loss | • supervisors |
| • teachers | • ministers | |

Bitterness can be caused by any thing or any person who has failed us or brought disappointment and trouble to us in some way. The person who is bitter is often...

- | | | | |
|-------------|-------------|--------------|---------------|
| • sharp | • cold | • intense | • distasteful |
| • resentful | • harsh | • relentless | • unpleasant |
| • cynical | • stressful | | |

Any expression of these is sin to God. God desires people to live in love, joy, peace, and holiness, not in bitterness. Therefore, the believer must look diligently, must guard against the great danger of bitterness.

“For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity” (Acts 8:23).

“God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged” (Ro.3:4).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“Looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled” (Heb.12:15).

“But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth” (Jas.3:14).

3. There is the danger of becoming a fornicator (pornos). The word is a broad word including all forms of immoral and sexual acts. It is premarital sex and adultery; it is homosexuality and abnormal sex; it is all kinds of sexual vice, whether married or unmarried.

Note another fact as well: immorality is not only committed by the act. A person is guilty of immorality when he looks in order to lust. Looking at and lusting after the opposite sex—whether in person, in magazines, in books, on beaches, or anywhere else—is committing fornication. Imagining and lusting within the mind is the very same as committing the act in the eyes of God.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Thou shalt not commit adultery” (Ex.20:14).

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face. In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light. For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death. He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards. Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so doth the grave those which have sinned” (Job 24:15-19).

4. There is the great danger of becoming a profane person. The word “profane” (bebelos) means to be unhallowed and sensual; to be neglectful of spiritual things and a lover of the world and its things. Just what is meant is illustrated by Esau in the Old Testament (cp. Gen.25:28-34; 27:1-39). Esau had been hunting, apparently for a long time. When he returned, he found that his brother Jacob had already prepared some food for himself. Therefore, he began to bargain with Jacob for the food instead of taking time to cook his own. Jacob, being a shrewd young man, said that the only thing that could make him give up his meal would be the birthright of the eldest son. (It belonged to Esau.) In a rash statement, Esau said that he was so hungry that he would swap his birthright for some food. No doubt, Esau never thought he would be taken seriously. He was probably just teasing and manipulating his younger brother. He made the statement that his physical appetite was more important than his birthright. But his behavior showed something about his nature and spoke loudly and clearly to God: he was a profane man, a man who cared little for spiritual things, for the spiritual right to God’s promises that went to the oldest son. Esau should have jumped back and fled from such a suggestion, no matter how unlikely it was. But he failed to do so. In fact, no matter how serious he was or what he thought in his mind about the suggestion of the birthright, he took the food from Jacob: he took the food on the basis of what was probably a young man’s prank, that of giving up his birthright in order to satisfy his physical appetite. There was another instance that also exposed his sensual nature which has already been covered in Hebrews (see note—Heb.11:20 for discussion).

The point is this: Esau lost his birthright. He was to be the primary person through whom the great spiritual blessings of God were to come, the promised seed and the promised land. But he was profane: he cared more for his body and flesh, for the desires and lusts, for the pleasures and possessions of this world than he did for the spiritual things of God. Therefore, he lost what was rightfully his, his birthright to the glorious promises of God. And note: he never repented. When he cried before his father, he was crying for the blessing, not for his father and God to forgive him. He was crying in sorrow for his carnal, fleshly nature, not crying because he was making a commitment to follow God and to become spiritually minded. He was crying because of his loss and because he wanted a blessing.

Thought 1. When a person is born into the world, he has the birthright to the promises of God, the right...

- to be a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ, the promised seed of God.
- to inherit the promised land of heaven.

But how many sell their birthright? How many sell their blessing for the satisfaction of their body and flesh, for their desires and lusts, for the pleasures and possessions of this world? This is one of the great dangers that the believer must guard against.

“But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members” (Ro.7:23).

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“Greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy” (2 Tim.1:4).

“Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter” (Jas.5:5).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

THE SUPREME EXAMPLE OF ENDURANCE: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 12:1-29

D. The Great Motivation: The Two Approaches to God—the Old and the New Covenants, 12:18-24

(12:18-24) Introduction: life is a race, a race that we are all running. There are several ways that we can run the race of life.

- ⇒ If we are running the race of life for self, then the race could be called The Great Selfish Race.
- ⇒ If we are running the race of life for self-righteousness or personal goodness, then the race could be called The Great Legalistic Race.
- ⇒ If we are running the race of life for Christ, then the race is called The Great Christian Race.

The proclamation of the preacher is just what everyone expects: "Run the Great Christian Race." But why? Why should a person run the great Christian race? Why should a person get on the track of life and run and run and endure and endure following after Christ? This is the discussion of this passage: the great motivation of the Christian race—the two approaches to God, the old and new covenants.

1. The first or old approach: the old covenant (v.18-21).
2. The new approach: the new covenant (v.22-24).

1 (12:18-21) Covenant, Old—Approach to God: the first approach to God is the old approach—by the old covenant—by the law. A person can approach God like they did in the Old Testament: he can profess the law and try to keep it in order to be acceptable to God. But remember: God is perfect. Therefore, no person can approach God and be acceptable to God, for no person is perfect. And tragically, no person can become perfect, for imperfection can never become perfect. Once a thing is imperfect, it is imperfect forever.

What, then, can be done? How can a person approach God? Under the old covenant—under the law—two things were done:

- ⇒ First, people made sacrificial offerings of animals to God for their sins. The animal sacrifices became a substitute for the people. The animals bore the guilt and condemnation of the person's sins. If a person believed this, really believed that God counted his sins as being borne by the animal, then God really forgave the person. But we must always remember this: no animal sacrifice was ever a perfect sacrifice. An animal is not a man, nor is an animal the ideal man. Only the ideal and perfect man could offer Himself as the perfect sacrifice to bear our sin and condemnation. This is the reason the animal sacrifice only pointed to and pictured the coming Savior, Jesus Christ, the Son of God Himself. Jesus Christ had to come and establish the new approach to God. But this is the discussion of the next point. The point to see now is this: under the old covenant of the law, people approached God through animal sacrifice in order to receive forgiveness of sin.
- ⇒ Second, people approached God by following the law and doing good works. They approached God by trying to be as good as they could and by trying to do as much good as they could.

The point is this: when a person approached God by the old covenant of the law, he did not have the full picture of God. His concept of God was inadequate. Note three facts about the approach of the old covenant. Note also that the writer makes his points by sharing what happened at Mt. Sinai when God gave the law to Israel.

“And it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled. And Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet with God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount. And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the LORD descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly” (Ex.19:16-18).

1. The approach of the old covenant (the law) was an external, material approach to God. The people had approached God to receive His Word and His law. Note where they had approached Him: at Mt. Sinai, at an earthly, material place. This is what is meant by the word touched. Under the old covenant (the law), the place where God was approached was not spiritual or heavenly; it was a physical place, a place on this earth. What is the point of mentioning this? Mt. Sinai will pass away. Just as the earth passes away, so will Mt. Sinai. Therefore, if a person approaches God anyplace on this earth—anyplace that can be touched—his approach shall pass away. It is not an eternal or lasting approach. It is a physical and material approach, an approach through the senses. The only approach to God that will last is a spiritual approach, for only a spiritual approach will last eternally.

There is also the possibility that being physically touched refers to the law. The idea would be that of the senses, of the physical and material, of the law belonging to this earth and being external to man. The law was an outside force that told man what to do; it was not an inside force that transformed the heart of man. The law could never give man the power to do God’s will. This was not its purpose. The law’s purpose was to control man’s behavior and show him how far short he came from perfection. Its purpose was to show man that he needed a living relationship with God, not to bring man into a living relationship with God. The law could never transform man; it could only show man that he needed to be transformed. The law is not an internal force that can work in the heart of man; it is an external force that puts demands upon the heart of man and that demands judgment if behavior does not match up.

The point is this: if a person approaches God through the old covenant of the law, he shall stand condemned before God. The law only condemns man; it does not transform him. Man can touch the law; he can pick it up and read the words and letters of the law, but he cannot implant the law into his heart. It is external to him. If he approaches God through the law, he will never be perfected and never be transformed to live in God’s presence.

2. The approach of the old covenant was to a holy, distant God of judgment (v.18). This is what is meant by the description of what happened on Mt. Sinai.

⇒ Fire symbolized the holiness, righteousness, and purity of God. Man had to be careful, ever so careful in how he approached God, lest he be consumed.

⇒ Blackness and darkness symbolized the fact that God was hidden from man’s sight. He could not be fully known because He could not be seen. Blackness and darkness also symbolized that the old covenant of the law could not give man a clear picture of God; it could only give a shadow of what God was like, a shadow that was given through types and symbols and written words which are ever so inadequate. The point is this: man just could not know God, not all that he needed to know about God, not by approaching God through the holy places of this earth and by law.

⇒ Tempest or raging storm symbolized the judgment and fierce wrath and power of God. He was to be feared and revered as the Great and Almighty Judge who could exact judgment upon any who refused to obey His covenant of law.

The point is this: any person who approached God through the old covenant of law faced a holy, distant God of judgment.

3. The approach of the old covenant was a reluctant, fearful approach to God. Note: both the people (v.19-20) and Moses feared (v.21). What happened was this: when God first began to give the law to Moses, there was the blast of a trumpet and then God Himself apparently began to speak in an audible voice. The voice of God was so strong and forceful and the ten commandments so convicting that terror struck the heart of the people. They cried out to Moses, “Speak thou with us and we will hear; but let not God speak with us, lest we die” (Ex.20:19).

The point is this: when a person approaches God through the old covenant of the law, he must approach reluctantly and fearfully. Why? Because the law is going to condemn him; it can only show him where he comes short of God’s glory and perfection. The law cannot make man righteous and perfect. This was not the purpose of the old covenant of the law. The law was given to show man that he was sinful and short of God’s glory—show him beyond any question—show him so that he could never intelligently deny his sin and transgression nor his need for a Savior.

“Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:19-20).

“Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound” (Ro.5:20).

“What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet” (Ro.7:7).

“For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not” (Ro.7:18).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator” (Gal.3:19).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

2 (12:22-24) Covenant, New—Approach, To God: the new approach to God is by the new covenant, the covenant of God’s grace. This is the covenant of the New Testament, the way a person really becomes acceptable to God. In fact, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ—the grace of God’s very own Son—is the only way a person can ever be perfected and acceptable to God. Note six wonderful facts about this approach, the approach of the new covenant, the covenant of God’s grace.

1. The approach of the new covenant is a spiritual and heavenly approach to God (v.22). It is approaching God to receive His Word, but it is approaching Him right where He sits, right where His throne and presence really are—in Mount Zion, that is, in the city of the heavenly Jerusalem itself. It is approaching God in spirit and in truth, approaching His very presence face to face and heart and heart. Note the contrast between Mt. Sinai which is earthly and physical and Mt. Zion which is heavenly and spiritual. Under the old covenant a person had to go to some physical place—some earthly location or temple or building to worship God. But not now, not under the new covenant. The person who approaches God in this new way can meet God anyplace: heart to heart, on a spiritual basis. The person’s spirit can commune and fellowship with God anyplace. (Note: this does not do away with joint worship with other believers in a church gathering. This was covered in Heb.10:25 and elsewhere. The stress of this point is spiritual and internal worship verses physical and external worship.

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth: for the Father seeketh such to worship him. God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth” (Jn.4:23-24).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God...But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:10, 16).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile: let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil. And who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?” (1 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful” (Rev.21:1-5).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

2. The approach of the new covenant is to the angels of God, to an innumerable company of them (v.22). When a person approaches God by grace, he is assured of receiving fellowship and communion with a host of angels. When believers depart this world for the next world; they shall be perfected just as the angels are, and they shall join the innumerable host of angels in worshipping and serving the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands” (Rev.5:11).

“And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped” (Rev.7:11).

“And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent” (Rev.19:6).

3. The approach of the new covenant is to the church of Christ, the church of the firstborn. The firstborn is, of course, the Lord Jesus Christ. It means that Jesus Christ is the First, the Founder, the Author, the Beginning, the Savior of the church. Note that the person who is a part of the Lord’s church is “written in heaven.” His name is registered in heaven, actually written down in the Book of Life. He actually becomes a citizen of heaven. Note the phrase “to the general assembly.” This can refer either to the gathering of angels in the former point or to the great gathering of the church or its believers.

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God” (Eph.2:19).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

4. The approach of the new covenant is to God the Judge of all. This means two things.
- a. The person who approaches God by the new covenant of grace finds the most wonderful thing. God is the Judge, but He is the Judge who has judged the believer’s sin in Christ. That is, God judges the believer righteous and perfect in Christ. God does not judge sin against the believer; God judges sin against Christ the Savior of men. This is grace—what grace is all about—the favor and gift of God, the favor and gift of salvation that man does not deserve. But God loves man; therefore, He has established the new covenant of grace, the new way that man can now approach Him and be judged perfect and righteous forever.

“He that believeth on him is not condemned [judged]” (Jn.3:18).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation [judgment]; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“There is therefore now no condemnation [judgment] to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:33-34).

- b. Believers as well as unbelievers must never forget that God is the Judge of all. Note the word all: God is the Judge of all—not only of unbelievers, but of believers as well. God does not play around with a person who lives in sin, no matter what he professes. The person may continually declare that he is saved—declare that he is approaching God by the new covenant of grace—but what he professes is meaningless if he lives in sin. God shall judge him. God is the Judge of all, not only of unbelievers. This has been the very point of the five warnings in the Book of Hebrews, five severe warnings. As A.T. Robertson says: “People should not forget that God is the Judge of all men” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.5, p.441).

William Barclay states it well:

“There awaits the Christian God the Judge. Even amidst the joy there remains the awe. The writer to the Hebrews never forgot that, at the end, the Christian must stand the scrutiny of God. The glory is there; but the awe and the fear of God still remain. The New Testament is never in the faintest danger of sentimentalising the idea of God” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.213).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Now if any man build upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble; every man’s work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man’s work of what sort it is. If any man’s work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man’s work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire” (1 Cor.3:11-15).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that everyone may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“Before the LORD: for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth” (Ps.96:13).

“I said in mine heart, God shall judge the righteous and the wicked: for there is a time there for every purpose and for every work” (Eccl.3:17).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works” (Rev.20:12).

5. The approach of the new covenant is to the spirit of the righteous who have already departed and gone on to heaven. They stand before God perfected forever. The person who approaches God by the new covenant shall join his loved ones and all others who truly believed in Christ. He shall join them in heaven, in the very presence of God. And note the words "made perfect." What a glorious hope! He shall be made perfect—perfected forever and made acceptable to God forever. He shall live with God eternally.

"In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (Jn.14:2-3).

"Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world" (Jn.17:24).

"We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord" (2 Cor.5:8).

"For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better" (Ph.1:23).

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words" (1 Th.4:16-18).

6. The approach of the new covenant is to Jesus the Mediator of the new covenant. Jesus Christ is the One who stands between sinful man and God, who is holy. He is the only Mediator who can present man perfect before God. How? By His blood.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the perfect High Priest. He never sinned; therefore, He stands as the Ideal and Perfect Man, as the Ideal and Perfect High Priest before God. Being perfect, whatever He offers is perfect. Therefore, when Jesus Christ offers the sacrifice for sins, His sacrifice is the ideal and perfect sacrifice. His sacrifice can stand for and cover all men—all of the sins of every person.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the perfect sacrifice. As the Ideal and Perfect Man, He can take all the sins of all men, and bear the guilt and condemnation of all sin for man. And God can accept His sacrifice, for it was the perfect and ideal sacrifice.

The point is clear: Jesus Christ is the Mediator, the one perfect sacrifice and High Priest who stands between God and man. He alone can present men perfect before God.

Note the reference to Abel. What does this mean? When Abel was killed by his brother Cain, his blood cried out for vengeance and justice (Gen.4:10). But not the blood of Christ. The blood of Christ cries out for man to be forgiven and cleansed of sin. The blood of Christ cries out for mercy upon those who would kill, reject, deny, and curse Him.

"For this is my blood the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Mt.26:28).

"For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time" (1 Tim.2:5-6).

"But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises. For if that first covenant had been faultless, then should no place have been sought for the second. For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah: not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord. For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people" (Heb.8:6-10).

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God? And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance" (Heb.9:14-15).

"For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us: nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others; for then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself. And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: so Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation" (Heb.9:24-28).

"And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel" (Heb.12:24).

"My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world" (1 Jn.2:1-2).

THE SUPREME EXAMPLE OF ENDURANCE: JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S SON, 12:1-29

E. Warning Five: The Danger of Refusing to Hear Jesus Christ—of Shutting One's Ear to the Cry of His Blood, 12:25-29

(12:25-29) Introduction: this is the fifth and final warning in the Book of Hebrews. Note the statement of warning: see that you do not refuse him that speaks. This refers back to Jesus Christ the Mediator, the One whose blood was shed because of sinful men. The picture is that of Christ speaking and proclaiming the new covenant of mercy and grace upon man. He is proclaiming salvation to the world. Man must not close his ears: he must see to it that he does not refuse Jesus Christ who alone proclaims true salvation.

- ⇒ The word “see” (blepete) means to keep a watchful eye; to be alert and see that you do not refuse Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The word “refuse” (paraitesesthe) means to reject, decline, turn down, deny, disavow (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.229).

There are three reasons why a person must not refuse Jesus Christ and His message.

1. There shall be no escape whatsoever for the close-minded (v.25).
2. God warns about a great shaking and judgment of heaven and earth in the future (v.26-27).
3. Think: an unshakeable kingdom can be received (v.28-29).

1 (12:25) Warning—Escape, No—Salvation, Rejected: first, there shall be no escape whatsoever for the close-minded. Moses is the person who spoke on earth and gave the law of God to man, but Jesus Christ is the One who spoke and brought the Word of God down out of heaven.

- ⇒ Note that “spoken on earth” (chrematizonta) means transmitter or mouthpiece (William Barclay. The Letter to the Hebrews, p.215). Moses was God’s earthly spokesman.
- ⇒ Note that Jesus Christ speaks from heaven. The word “speaks” (lalounta) is different. It means the very voice of God. Jesus Christ spoke as God Himself. He was the heavenly voice of God Himself.

The point is critical for people today: we are held much more accountable and shall face much greater judgment. Just think for a moment. Moses, a mere man, spoke and gave the law of God to man. When the people broke the law given by Moses, not a single one escaped the judgment and punishment. Every person bore the guilt and punishment when he broke the Word of God.

Now Jesus Christ, the very Son of God Himself, has spoken. His Word is the very message of heaven and of God Himself. How much more shall no person escape judgment and condemnation if he refuses to hear the Word of Jesus Christ, God’s very own Son?

Thought 1. The point is clear. There shall be no escape whatsoever for the person who refuses to hear the word of mercy and grace that Christ proclaims. His blood cleanses us from sin. His sacrifice—His blood alone—is acceptable to God as a substitute for man’s sins. To reject His word of salvation is to never escape. Man shall bear his own judgment and condemnation for violating the Word of God.

2 (12:26-27) Warning—World, Destroyed—New Heavens and Earth: second, God warns about a great shaking and judgment of heaven and earth in the future. When God gave the law to Moses on Mt. Sinai, God’s voice shook the earth. There is to be another great shaking of the earth by the voice and Word of God. In fact, not only will the earth shake, but the heavens themselves will also shake. This is exactly what the prophet Haggai declared:

“For thus saith the LORD of hosts: yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land” (Hag.2:6).

Both the prophet and the writer to the Hebrews are declaring that a catastrophic judgment is coming upon the heavens and the earth. The whole universe, all the stars and planets of the natural world, are to undergo a cataclysmic change. All nature shall be destroyed by fire and remade into a new heavens and earth.

Note why: "that those things which cannot be shaken may remain." God is after an eternal world, a universe in which all of heaven and earth are made alive and bustling with the activity...

- of worship—the worship of God and Christ.
- of communion and fellowship between Christ and believers.
- of fellowship among believers as the redeemed and eternal people of God.
- of service and labor for the Lord Jesus in overseeing the work that will be going on throughout the universe.

"But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Pt.3:10-13).

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea" (Rev.21:1).

"Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God" (Ro.8:21).

"One generation passeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth for ever" (Eccl.1:4).

3 (12:28-29) Kingdom of God—Heaven: third, an unshakeable kingdom can be received. How? Two ways are given.

1. "Let us have grace"; that is, let us make sure that we have received the grace of God. We must make sure that we have received the unspeakable gift and favor of God, even Jesus Christ Himself—that we have received Him into our hearts and lives.

"But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they" (Acts 15:11).

"Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Ro.3:24).

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (2 Cor.8:9).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph.2:8-9).

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men" (Tit.2:11).

"Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Tit.3:5-7).

2. We must serve God with reverence and godly fear.

⇒ The word "reverence" (eulabeia) means with caution, carefully, with discretion and circumspection (Kenneth Wuest. Hebrews, Vol.2, p.231).

⇒ The phrase "godly fear" means being apprehensive because some danger can lurk over the horizon.

"And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell" (Mt.10:28).

"And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation" (Lk.1:50).

"But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him" (Acts 10:35).

"And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear" (1 Pt.1:17).

"Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king" (1 Pt.2:17).

"And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his way, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul" (Dt.10:12).

"Have mercy upon me, O LORD, for I am in trouble: mine eye is consumed with grief, yea, my soul and my belly" (Ps.31:9).

"Let all the earth fear the LORD: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him" (Ps.33:8).

"God is greatly to be feared in the assembly of the saints, and to be had in reverence of all them that are about him" (Ps.89:7).

“Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man” (Eccl.12:13).

A person must do exactly what this verse says: serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear. God must be feared, for He is Lord. A person must serve God and serve Him in an acceptable way. He must bear the fruit of the Spirit:

- | | | |
|-----------------|------------|----------------|
| • love | • joy | • peace |
| • longsuffering | • goodness | • meekness |
| • gentleness | • faith | • self-control |

A person must also bear the fruit of other lives; he must win people to the Lord Jesus Christ so that they too can receive the eternal kingdom of God.

“And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice altogether” (Jn.4:36).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

“They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him” (Ps.126:5-6).

Note why a person must serve God in an acceptable way: because God is a consuming fire. William Barclay makes an excellent exposition on this verse:

“If that be so there is a great obligation laid upon us. We must worship God with reverence; we must serve Him with fear; for nothing must be allowed to disturb that relationship which will be our salvation when the world passes away. So the writer to the Hebrews finishes with one of these threatening quotations which he so often flings like a thunderbolt at his hearers. It is a quotation from Dt.4:24. There Moses is telling the people that they must never break their agreement with God; they must never relapse into idolatry and the worship of graven images; for God is a jealous God; they must worship Him and Him alone or they will find Him a consuming fire. It is as if the writer to the Hebrews said: ‘There is a choice before you. Remain unshakably true to God, and in the day when the universe is shaken into destruction, your relationship with God will still stand safe and secure. Be false to God, and that very God who might have been your salvation, will be to you a consuming fire of destruction.’ It is a grim thought; but in it there is the eternal truth, which there is no altering, that, if a man is true to God, he gains everything; and if he is untrue to God, he loses everything. In time and in eternity nothing matters save only loyalty to God” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.216f).

“And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he was cast into the sea. And if thy hand offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thy foot offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched” (Mk.9:42-48).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:7-9).

DIVISION VI

THE SUPREME MARKS OF CHRISTIAN CONDUCT, 13:1-25

A. Mark One: Controlling One's Personal Behavior, 13:1-8

(13:1-8) Introduction: What are the supreme marks of Christian conduct? This begins the last section of the Book of Hebrews—a very practical section. Note the marks of personal behavior.

1. Mark 1: brotherly love (v.1).
2. Mark 2: hospitality (v.2).
3. Mark 3: helping the prisoners and the mistreated (v.3).
4. Mark 4: purity in marriage (v.4).
5. Mark 5: contentment (v.5-6).
6. Mark 6: remembering your leaders (v.7).
7. Mark 7: remembering your Source of life and power—Jesus Christ (v.8).

1 (13:1) Love—Brotherhood: there is the mark of brotherly love. “Let brotherly love continue.”

1. Note that the love existing among believers is a special kind of love. It is a “brotherly love” (philadelphia), the very special love that exists between brothers and sisters within a loving family, brothers and sisters who truly cherish one another. It is the kind of love...

- that binds each other together as a family, as a brotherly clan.
- that binds each other in an unbreakable union.
- that holds each other ever so deeply within the heart.
- that knows deep affection for each other.
- that nourishes and nurtures each other.
- that shows concern and looks after the welfare of each other.
- that joins hands with each other in a common purpose under one father (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentary,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1956, p.80).

How can people possibly love one another like this when they are not true blood brothers and sisters? Here is how. The Greek word “brother” (adelphos) means from the same womb. The word used for “love” is phileo which means deepseated affection and care, deep and warm feelings within the heart. It is the kind of love that holds a person near and dear to one’s heart. Now note: the two Greek words are combined together by the writer to convey what he means by brotherly love.

⇒ People who have brotherly love have come from the same womb, that is, from the same source. They have been born again by the Spirit of God through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. And when they receive this new birth, God gives them a new spirit—a spirit that melts and binds their hearts and lives in love for all the family of God.

Believers may not even know each other. They may even be from different parts of the world, but there is a brotherly love between them because they have been given a new birth and a new spirit of love by God. They are brothers and sisters in the family of God—the family of those who truly believe in God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—the family who have received a new spirit that binds them together in brotherly love.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“These things I command you, that ye love one another” (Jn.15:17).

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love” (Gal.5:22).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth. And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him” (1 Jn.3:18-19).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

2. Note that the Hebrew Christians were showing their love for one another—at least most of them were. This is clearly seen in Heb.6:10, “For God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have showed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister.”

However, there was great danger that the Hebrew Christians were going to lose their brotherly love for one another. Why?

⇒ Because some had backslidden and were slipping away from Christ (Heb.10:25).

⇒ Because false teaching had seeped in among them and was influencing some (Heb.13:9).

These problems along with other problems were apparently discouraging the faithful and mature believers. They were beginning to cool off and back off instead of facing and handling the problems in the love and strength of Christ.

This is the reason for the exhortation. The believers needed to continue in love, to love enough to forget self. They needed to love enough to sacrifice themselves and to tackle the problems and continue to proclaim and teach the truth of Christ.

Thought 1. Brotherly love is the great need of the hour—a love that will love so much that it will not give up, no matter the problem or opposition. People need to be reached and grown for Christ no matter how contrary they are or how lost and depraved they are. They are without Christ. If believers do not love enough to reach them, they will never be reached. “Let brotherly love continue.”

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:1-2).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye. And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness” (Col.3:12-14).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

2 †(13:2) Hospitality: there is the mark of hospitality. An open door is to be the mark of a believer: the believer is to open the doors of his home. The Christian believer is to open his home and reach out...

- to the travelling salesperson
- to the college student
- to the homeless, hungry, cold, and needy
- to the lonely
- to the young
- to the aged
- to the college student
- to the out of townner
- to church ministries and groups

The idea is that the home of the believer is to be used as an outreach ministry for the Lord. The home of the believer is to be used to meet the needs of people. Note the exhortation: do not forget hospitality, especially to entertain strangers. The Amplified New Testament says this:

“Do not forget or neglect or refuse to extend hospitality to strangers [in the brotherhood]—being friendly, cordial and gracious, sharing the comforts of your home and doing your part generously—for through it some have entertained angels without knowing it. [Gen.18:1-8; 19:1-3.]”

Thought 1. If believers really practiced this, think how many needs would be reached throughout the community. Think how many people would be reached for Christ.

What is needed is this: ministers must lead their people to set up an open-home ministry: to use their homes to reach out to people on a regular basis. What an impact would be made for Christ! Remember: home evangelism was what Christ stressed so much (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.9:4; note—10:5-6).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels un-awares” (Heb.13:2).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

3 (13:3) Ministering—Prisoners: there is the mark of helping the prisoners and the mistreated. As long as the earth is standing, people are going to suffer all kinds of problems.

⇒ Some people are lawless, and other people are falsely accused, even believers. The end result is the suffering of imprisonment.

⇒ All people at one time or another suffer adversity of some sort. The result is such experiences as pain, emptiness, questioning, insecurity, loss, hunger, homelessness, poverty, disability, helplessness, and sometimes even hopelessness.

Believers are to minister to the needs of prisoners and to those who suffer adversity. Prisoners are not to be forgotten; those who suffer adversity are not to be forgotten. Note this verse: they are to be remembered. Remember the imprisoned! Remember those who suffer adversity. But this is not all that Scripture says:

⇒ “Remember them...as bound with them”: remember and minister to them so much that it is as though you are imprisoned with them.

⇒ “Remember them...as being yourselves also in the body [suffering adversity with them].”

Thought 1. What a challenge to believers and to the church! Ministers must take the lead; they must lead their people to set up...

- a ministry to the prisoners.
- a ministry to those who suffer adversity.

“Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep” (Ro.12:15).

“Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?” (Is.58:7).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, Is is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

4 (13:4) Marriage—Sex: there is the mark of purity in marriage and morality. This is an absolute essential for believers. Note three significant points.

1. Marriage is to be honored by all believers. The word “honor” (timios) means highly esteemed, counted as the most precious, warm and tender bond, held as the most valuable of bonds, as being the dearest of relationships.

“Let marriage be held in honor” (Marcus Dods. The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Expositor’s Greek Testament,” Vol.4, p.375).

“Let marriage be held in honor—esteemed worthy, precious, [that is], of great price and especially dear—in all things” (Amplified New Testament).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“For this cause shall man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh” (Eph.5:31-32).

2. The bed is undefiled. The word “undefiled” (amiantos) means that the bed is unstained by sin, absolutely free from all moral impurity, uncleanness, and defilement. This is saying at least three things.

⇒ First, husband and wife are free and encouraged to be close in bed. Closeness and intimacy are a gift from God; it is even a type of the church (cp. Eph.5:22f).

⇒ Second, the closeness in bed between husband and wife will prevent unfaithfulness.

⇒ Third, the bed is to be kept undefiled. Only husband and wife are to be close in bed, and only with each other. There is absolutely no place for anyone else in the bed.

The importance of the bed in marriage cannot be overemphasized. God’s Word says that it is so important that husband and wife are not to separate for any period of time except for fasting and prayer, and even then separation is not to occur unless it is by mutual consent.

“Defraud ye not one the other, except it be with consent for a time, that ye may give yourselves to fasting and prayer; and come together again, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinency” (1 Cor.7:5).

“Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband” (1 Cor.7:2).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour” (1 Th.4:4).

“A virtuous woman is a crown to her husband: but she that maketh ashamed is as rottenness in his bones” (Pr.12:4).

3. Whoremongers and adulterers will be judged by God. These two words include all forms of sexual vice: premarital sex, adultery, homosexuality, and abnormal sex. Note several stated facts.

⇒ God knows who commits these vices. He has to know them for Him to judge them, and He has to know them by name. He knows every single person who is immoral. He sees every immoral act, exactly what is done. No one—not a single immoral person—can hide from Him. There is not a closed door or any darkness anywhere that blocks His sight. God knows.

⇒ God calls every sexual vice by its proper name. Men may call it loving, caring, exciting and stimulating. They may call it an act of manhood and womanhood, of gallantry and of conquest. But not God. God calls it by its real name: whoredom and adultery (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.962).

God knows what immorality causes:

- | | |
|---------------------|------------------------|
| ⇒ loss of innocence | ⇒ disease |
| ⇒ broken homes | ⇒ unwanted pregnancies |
| ⇒ damaged minds | ⇒ abortion |
| ⇒ destroyed lives | ⇒ guilt |

The list could go on and on, but such devastation and destruction of life and emotions are the reasons why God pulls no punches with sexual vice. Sexual vice is one of the most destructive vices on earth, no matter what men may say. It is so by the very nature of man. God made man’s very nature for the love of a spouse and a family. And any refusal to live by his nature as God made him can only damage man. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.6:18 for more discussion.)

The great tragedy with sexual vice is this: it always involves others, not only the illicit partner but the parents and family including children, brothers and sisters, and often grandparents, other relatives, friends, and neighbors. It involves all those who care for and look up to the immoral person.

The point is this: whoremongers and adulterers shall be judged by God. There will be no escape.

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it [heaven] any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

“For without [heaven] are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

5 (13:5-6) Contentment—Covetousness: there is the mark of contentment. Note what it is that brings contentment:

- ⇒ living life without covetousness.
- ⇒ being satisfied with what one has.
- ⇒ knowing God personally: experiencing His constant companionship and care, knowing that He never leaves or forsakes us.

1. “Covetousness” (aphilarguros) means loving money or possessions. A person can love money, property, estates, houses, cars—anything on earth. Thomas Hewitt points out that the Greek word for “conversation” (tropos) means manner of life, or the way of thought and life (The Epistle to the Hebrews. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.206). The believer’s very thoughts are to be free from covetousness. His thoughts are to be focused upon Christ and the glorious hope of eternity, not upon this passing world and its possessions. The believer is to have no secret lust for the things of this world.

“He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house; but he that hateth gifts shall live” (Pr.15:27).

“He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity” (Eccl.5:10).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

“For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:10).

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days” (Jas.5:3).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:10).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Incline my heart unto thy testimonies, and not to covetousness” (Ps.119:36).

2. A believer is to be content with what he has. This does not mean that a believer is not to improve himself, nor that he is not to work and make money and be wise in investments. Scripture teaches the very opposite: we are to work and invest and make money. We are to make enough so that we can meet the needs of the world. What this passage means is that we are...

- to be satisfied with our lot in life: our ability, capacity, job, position, opportunities, and on and on.
- to be satisfied with the home, possessions, clothing, goods and everything else we have, whether it is little to nothing.
- to be satisfied with our present conditions.

Again, this does not mean that we do not plan and focus upon improving everything around us—ranging from our personal possessions over to the world’s economy and environment. Believers are to work and labor more diligently than anyone else in the world. But while we labor, we know...

- that God never leaves us or forsakes us (Job 1:5).
- that God is our helper, and we are secure no matter what men may do to us (Ps.118:6).

Even if the world’s economy and peace collapsed, believers—true believers—would be secure in God. God provides for His dear followers until He is ready to take them home to heaven (Mt.6:33). Matthew Henry sums it up well:

“This promise contains the sum and substance of all the promises. I will never, no, never leave thee, nor ever forsake thee. Here are no fewer than five negatives heaped together, to confirm the promise; the true believer shall have the gracious presence of God with him in life, at death, and for ever” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.962).

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

“Let your conversation [behavior] be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of” (Gen.28:15).

“And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest” (Ex.33:14).

“Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation” (Ps.68:19).

“Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, said the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it” (Mal.3:10).

“When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirst, I the LORD will hear them, I the God of Israel will not forsake them” (Is.41:17).

“For thou hast been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, and shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the walls” (Is.25:4).

Thought 1. There are two ways for a person to go about taking care of himself in this world.

- 1) Working and seeking in his own strength: depending upon his own ability and energy alone; fighting and struggling to make it through life and fretting and worrying about succeeding.
- 2) Working and seeking in both God’s strength and his own strength: trusting and acknowledging God while doing all he can; putting his hand to the plow and plowing; working and working and not looking back, and while working, trusting the results to God. God says He will see to it that such a trusting person will always have the necessities of life.

Thought 2. The believer whose work fails in the eyes of the world can know four sure things—if he has really put God first.

- 1) His failure is temporary. God will help and strengthen and even teach him through the trying times.
- 2) God will work all things out for good, for the believer loves God and has been called by God (Ro.8:28f).
- 3) God will see to it that the necessities of life are given him.
- 4) God has much better things in store for him—eternally. The believer has been faithful in his work, so God will reward him as a faithful servant, even if his labor has failed in the eyes of the world.

The believer who goes through a failure needs to remember just one thing: be faithful—continue to be faithful. If you put God first, God will lift you up now and eternally.

• Thought 3. God made man a spiritual being. Therefore, the only way man can ever be satisfied is to seek God and His righteousness first. This world and the things of this world will not satisfy.

Thought 4. Man’s major mistake is this: material things can only make a person comfortable. The things of the world can only look good, taste good, and feel good; but this is all they can do. Think about it! They are external, outside man, and this is just the problem. The need that man senses within is not to be externally comfortable, but to be inwardly satisfied and spiritually satisfied (see note-Eph.1:3).

- 1) Material things cannot touch the inside of man. They can only make him comfortable outside.
- 2) Man really knows down deep within that all material things pass away, even himself. He subdues the knowledge, pushes it out of his thoughts, yet he knows it.

Thought 5. Man can have the necessities of life; but he has to do one thing: “Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness....”

“And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened” (Lk.11:9-10).

“Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?” (Jas.2:5).

“But if from thence thou shalt seek the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.4:29).

“For thou hast been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, a shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall” (Is.25:4).

“When the poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue faileth for thirst, I the LORD will hear them, I the God of Israel will not forsake them” (Is.41:17).

- 6 (13:7) Leaders: there is the remembering of leaders. “Remember” (mnemoneuete) means to be mindful; to keep in mind. The idea is continuous remembrance. Leaders are never to be forgotten. But note who the leaders are that are to be remembered: those who have proclaimed the Word of God. If a person has been faithful in proclaiming and teaching God’s Word, we are to remember them and never forget them. Note why: so that we can follow their faith. A leader who faithfully proclaims God’s Word is a leader to follow. As the Amplified New Testament says:

“Remember your leaders and superiors in authority, [for it was they] who brought to you the Word of God. Observe attentively and consider their manner of living—the outcome of their well-spent lives—and imitate their faith [that is, their conviction that God exists and is the Creator and Ruler of all things, the Provider and Bestower of eternal salvation through Christ; and their leaning of the entire human personality on God in absolute trust and confidence in His power, wisdom and goodness].”

This is a power-packed verse. Note what it says when it is broken down in outline form: follow your leaders...

- in their conviction that God exists and is the Creator and Ruler of all things.
- in their conviction that God is the Provider and Bestower of eternal salvation through Christ.
- in the leaning of their entire personality on God.
- in their absolute trust and confidence in God’s power, wisdom, and goodness.

Note that both living and dead leaders are to be followed, those who have ended their work on earth as well as those who are now laboring. Matthew Henry says:

“Remember them—their preaching, their praying, their private counsel, their example.

“Follow their faith; be stedfast in the profession of the faith they preached to you, and labour after the grace of faith by which they lived and died so well. Consider the end of their conversation [behavior], how quickly, how comfortably, how joyfully, they finished their course!” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.963.)

“Wherefore I beseech you, be ye followers of me” (1 Cor.4:16).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost: so that ye were ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia” (1 Th.1:6-7).

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“And without all contradiction the less is blessed of the better” (Heb.7:7).

“For he testifieth, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.7:17).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

- 7 (13:8) Power—Jesus Christ: there is remembering one’s source of life and power—Jesus Christ. Ministers and leaders come and go and eventually they all die. But the Source of our lives and power never leaves and never passes away. “Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever.” (v.8) He is forever present with us, and He never changes. F.F. Bruce says:

“His help, His grace, His power, His guidance are permanently at His people’s disposal; why then should they lose heart? Others serve their generation by the will of God and pass on; ‘but he, because he abideth for ever, hath his priesthood unchangeable’ (Ch.7:24). He never needs to be replaced, and nothing can be added to His perfect work” (The Epistle to the Hebrews, p.396).

William Barclay says:

“It is in the nature of things that all earthly leaders must come and go. They have their day and they lead their generation, and then they must pass from the scene. They have their part in the drama of life, and then the curtain comes down. But Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and for ever. His pre-eminence is permanent; His leadership is for ever. And therein there lies the secret of earthly leadership. The real leader is the man who is led himself by Jesus Christ. The men who have made the Churches, the men who have led others on the upward way, are the men who in every age and every generation have themselves been led by the eternal and unchanging Christ. He who walked the ways of Galilee is still as powerful as ever to smite evil and to love the sinner; and, even as then He chose twelve to be with Him, and then sent them out to do His work, so now He is still seeking those who will bring men to Him, and Him to men” (The Letter to the Hebrews, p.223)

1. “Jesus Christ the same yesterday”: yesterday—in times past—Jesus Christ sacrificed everything for us, even to the point of dying for us. In fact, He even suffered to the ultimate degree for us: He took our sins upon Himself and bore the guilt and judgment for us. Yesterday Jesus Christ took notice of us and worked everything out for us. He looked upon our plight of corruption and death and loved us and did everything that was necessary to save us and make us acceptable to God.

2. “Jesus Christ the same today”: today—in the present hour—Jesus Christ will do everything for us. Yesterday He suffered to the ultimate degree for us; today He has been exalted to the ultimate degree for us. He, the very Son of God, is the great High Priest who has passed through the heavens and been exalted to the right hand of the throne of God. And He has been exalted for one reason and one reason only: to shower mercy and grace upon His followers, that is, to meet their every need. No matter what the need is, He meets it.

- ⇒ He meets our need for mercy. No matter how terrible our sin, corruption, depravity, evil, failure, wrong, misdeed, shortcoming—and no matter how often we fail—Jesus Christ has mercy upon us. If we will repent and confess—change our sinful ways and turn to Him and cry for mercy—Jesus Christ will forgive us.
- ⇒ He meets our need for grace. He pours out His grace upon us, blessing and favoring us with whatever we need: strength, knowledge, understanding, wisdom, ability, and necessities of life.
- ⇒ He succors us through all our sufferings and trials and temptations. The idea of succor is that He runs to meet our every cry and need for help.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

3. “Jesus Christ the same forever”: forever—eternally, from now on, throughout all the ages of eternity. Jesus Christ has not only been exalted to the ultimate degree to meet our needs today, He lives eternally to meet our needs forever and ever.

- ⇒ He met all the needs yesterday.
- ⇒ He meets all the needs today.
- ⇒ He shall meet all the needs eternally.

Jesus Christ will never fail to meet a single need of a true believer.

- ⇒ He met the needs of all believers who lived yesterday.
- ⇒ He meets the needs of all believers today.
- ⇒ He shall meet the needs of all believers forever.

“Without father, without mother, without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually” (Heb.7:3).

“Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever” (Heb.13:8).

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last” (Rev.22:13).

“So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:6).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him” (Ps.28:7).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end” (Ps.102:27).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

DIVISION VI

1. THE SUPREME MARKS OF CHRISTIAN CONDUCT, 13:1-25

B. Mark Two: Guarding Against Strange Teaching, 13:9-16

(13:9-16) Introduction: What are the supreme marks of Christian conduct? The second mark is guarding against strange doctrines or teachings.

1. The strange doctrines or teachings (v.9-11).
2. The true doctrine or teaching (v.12).
3. The duty of believers (v.13-16).

1 (13:9-11) Teaching, False: the strange doctrines or teachings. Note: there was not just one strange teaching in the church, but several had seeped into the church. Four things are said about strange teachings.

1. Strange teachings carry people away from the grace of God (v.9). "Carried away" (parapheresthe) means to be carried past or astray. To be carried away from the grace of God is the most dangerous thing that can happen to a person, for it is the grace of God that saves a person. A person can become acceptable to God only if he approaches God through God's grace.

2. Strange teachings stress ritual over grace (v.9). Some of the Hebrew believers had returned to approaching God through some ritual involving food. Just what the ritual was is not known today. Absolutely nothing is said about it other than what is said here. But what is said is a clear message to us: we must establish and strengthen our hearts with God's grace and not with the ritual of food. Some people have always tried to make themselves more pure and more acceptable to God...

- by abstaining from certain foods and drink.
- by eating certain foods on certain days.

The application of this point is even much broader to believers. It applies to all rituals and ceremonies of religion. No ritual or ceremony makes a person pure and acceptable to God. Rituals and ceremonies are only physical substances. No matter what they are—rituals of food, circumcision, baptism, church membership, confirmation—they are all external and perishing. This is not to say that ritual and ceremony are not helpful in reminding us of our life and walk with the Lord. They are, and they are very, very helpful. But the teaching of Scripture is that rituals and ceremonies do not make us inwardly pure and acceptable to God. God does not accept and transform us because of some physical or material or external thing or act. Any doctrine that claims this, that some physical and external ritual can cleanse a man inwardly and make him acceptable to God, is a strange and false doctrine. It is not even logically true. Any thinking and honest person knows that an external and physical substance can never enter the heart of man and transform man into an eternal being. If a person's heart is to be transformed so that it can become acceptable to God and live forever, it has to be transformed by God Himself—by His wonderful grace.

3. Strange teachings do not profit the person who follows them (v.9). A person may be sincere, as sincere as he can be, in following the false teaching, but it does him no good whatsoever. It does not make him pure, holy, clean, righteous, or acceptable to God. In fact, ritual and ceremony can do great harm to a person. How? It can cause a person to focus and depend upon the ritual and ceremony instead of Christ. It is Christ who cleanses us and makes us acceptable to God. Therefore, rituals and ceremonies are to help us remember Jesus Christ and to focus upon His great sacrifice and salvation. If we begin to look at the ritual as making us pure and acceptable, then we are misusing the ritual. We are practicing strange doctrine and moving away from Christ who is the grace of God. The strange doctrine harms us; it does not profit us at all.

4. Strange teachings are based upon the wrong sacrifice (v.10-11). Note that the writer to the Hebrews says "we have an altar." He is identifying himself with the Jewish nation and with his Jewish readers and their religion. He is say ing, "We as Jews have an altar where sacrifice was made for sins." He lists three facts about the Jewish sacrifice:

- ⇒ The priests had no right to eat the meat of the sacrifice.
- ⇒ The blood of the sacrifice was carried into the sanctuary of the Holy of Holies and sprinkled on the mercy seat. Remember: the Holy of Holies symbolized the very presence of God and the sacrificial blood pictured the blood of the Savior who was to die for the sins of men.
- ⇒ The bodies of the sacrificed animals were taken outside of the camp and burned.

Now, what is the point of these facts? The point is this: no sacrifice, not even the sacrifice of the old covenant, can make a person pure and acceptable to God. Any teaching that says the blood of an animal can make a person acceptable to God is strange and false teaching. Man is sinful and imperfect, and he can never live with a perfect God unless a substitute steps forth and bears the judgment for his sins. There just is no other way man can ever be freed from his sin unless someone takes them off of him and suffers the judgment for them. Then and only then can man stand before God free of sin, perfect and righteous.

But no animal can do that. An animal is not a man. If there is to be a substitute to bear man's sins, the substitute has to be a man and he has to be the ideal and perfect man. Only an ideal and perfect man can be acceptable to God and only the ideal can stand as the pattern man who can cover all men of all generations.

This is why an animal sacrifice is totally unacceptable to God. Therefore, any doctrine that is based upon any sacrifice other than the sacrifice of the Son of God is strange. It is false.

"I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed" (Gal.1:6-9).

"Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ" (Col.2:8).

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron; forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God hath created to be received with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth" (1 Tim.4:1-3).

"For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist. Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward. Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed: for he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds" (2 Jn.7-11).

"Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple" (Ro.16:17-18).

"For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works" (2 Cor.11:13-15).

"That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive" (Eph.4:14).

"But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived" (2 Tim.3:13).

"For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [religionists]" (Tit.1:10).

"Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us" (1 Jn.2:18-19).

"Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world" (1 Jn.4:2-3).

"For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist" (2 Jn.7).

"And the light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee; and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more at all in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived" (Rev.18:23).

- 2 (13:12) Jesus Christ, Death: the true doctrine or teaching. Jesus Christ is the only perfect sacrifice for man's sins. He alone is the Ideal and Perfect Man. He is the only person who has ever lived upon earth who has...
- lived a sinless and perfect life.
 - secured a perfect righteousness.
 - become the Perfect and Ideal Man.

Therefore, Jesus Christ alone could become the Perfect and Ideal Sacrifice for man's sins. The only question was, would He? Would He be willing to take all the sins of men and bear the guilt and punishment for them? Yes! The glorious answer is "Yes!" Both He and God the Father love us—love us so much that they purposed through all eternity that Christ would come to earth and make the perfect sacrifice for us.

1. Note the words, "Jesus also...suffered without the gate." Under the Old Testament or covenant, the sacrificial animals were burned outside and away from the camp. This shows how perfectly Jesus Christ fulfilled the type and symbol of the Lamb of God. Jesus Christ was crucified outside the city of Jerusalem and away from the temple just as the animals suffered outside the camp. Jesus Christ was the Perfect Sacrifice, fulfilling the sacrificial type perfectly.

2. Note why Jesus Christ died for us: "that He might sanctify the people with His own blood." The word sanctify means to set apart and separate. Jesus Christ died for us that He might sanctify us—set us apart and separate us unto God. He is the Perfect Sacrifice; it is His blood and His blood alone that purifies us and makes us acceptable to God. God cannot accept any sacrifice other than the sacrifice of the Ideal and Perfect Man. And no man can live a perfect life unless he has the very nature of God Himself. This is the reason that Jesus Christ Himself, the very Son of God, is our Savior. He and He alone has the nature of God; therefore, He alone could live the perfect and ideal life and make the perfect sacrifice for our sins. This is the true doctrine. It is the doctrine that must be taught. All other doctrines are strange teachings; all other doctrines must be guarded against.

"Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him" (Ro.5:9).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col.1:14).

"Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Heb.9:12-14).

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:18-19).

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:7).

"And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

"And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Rev.5:9).

- 3 (13:13-16) Believers, Duty: the duty of believers. How can a believer guard against strange teachings? How can he protect himself? How can he be absolutely sure that he will never be carried away by strange doctrines? He must do four things.

1. The believer must go forth to Christ and bear His reproach (v.13). A person cannot stay in his old religion and become pure and acceptable to God. A person must come out of his old religion and go forth to Christ—go forth to the cross. He must face the cross of Jesus Christ and accept the abuse of it. That is, he must confess...

- that his own religion and righteousness amounts to nothing before God.
- that his sins caused Christ to have to die.
- that he as a man cannot make a sacrifice big enough or worthy enough for God to accept.
- that the blood of Jesus Christ alone can make him acceptable to God.

Very simply, a person must confess that he is a sinner and that Jesus Christ alone can save him, and he must go forth to Christ and live for Him. The person must be willing to bear any reproach that might be cast his way because he has accepted Jesus Christ as his Savior. A person must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow Christ. Going forth to Christ and bearing His reproach daily will keep a person from being carried away by strange doctrines.

"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" (Lk.9:23).

"And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me" (Jn.12:32).

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus: whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God" (Ro.3:23-25).

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Ro.6:23).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe” (1 Tim.4:10).

“[Moses] esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward” (Heb.11:26).

“If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:14).

2. The believer must seek a continuing city, that is, the heavenly city which is eternal (v.14). The continuing city of heaven is in contrast to the earthly city of Jerusalem which was the center of Jewish religion and life. Jerusalem is the greatest city in the world to the Jews. But no matter how great an earthly city is, it is only temporal; it fades and passes away. And this means something critical: everything within the city—including its religion, rituals, ceremonies, and sacrifices—all of it fades and passes away. No earthly city and no earthly religion continues. Therefore, believers must keep their eyes on the heavenly city which is to come, for only the heavenly city is eternal and permanent. It alone will continue forever and ever; earthly cities will not.

Thought 1. How attached to the world we become! How many hate to leave the cities of their birth and of their earthly home? How many shrink from leaving the cities of this earth and departing for the next world? How tragic, for there is a continuing city—an eternal city that shall last forever and ever—and every human being could move into that city and live forever. Yet they will not. They could, but so many refuse. They prefer to hang on to the cities of this world.

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:16).

“But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels” (Heb.12:22).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness. Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God. Wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

3. The believer must offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually (v.15). But note how: by Christ. God deserves praise, but nothing—not even praise—is accepted by God unless it is offered through Christ. A person cannot approach God through any other sacrifice, person, or religion—not even to praise Him—not if the person wants his offering to be accepted by God. God accepts no praise by any way other than through the Lord Jesus Christ Himself.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And over it the cherubims of glory shadowing the mercyseat; of which we cannot now speak particularly” (Heb.9:5).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

“And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing” (Ps.107:22).

“I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call upon the name of the LORD” (Ps.116:17).

4. The believer must do good and give sacrificially (v.16). Oliver Greene has an excellent comment on this point that is worthy of our attention.

“You will notice that there are three sacrifices that please God, and we should not fail to offer these sacrifices continually: First, confessing His name; second, living a holy life, doing good; third, giving to those who are in need, sharing our blessings with those less fortunate than we. He is a hypocrite who praises God with the lips but not by a holy life, a life of faith, sharing blessings with others. Such a person may put on a convincing outward show, but God looks upon the heart.

"There are so many things we can share with others—it may be only a kind word or a smile from a heart of love and understanding, it may be a glass of cold water given in the name of Jesus. It may be a gift—large or small—if we are able to help with the necessities of life—food or a pair of shoes for a needy child. There are so many ways by which we can share our blessings with those who are less fortunate. Most of us need not look long or far until we find someone who is less fortunate than we are. It is so easy to overlook opportunities to serve, honor, and praise God by helping others.

"God is well pleased with such offerings and sacrifices, whether in deed or word, if we do what we do in the name of Jesus and to the glory of God; and it will bring reward at the end of life's journey" (The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Hebrews, p.593f).

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Mt.5:16).

"That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate" (1 Tim.6:18).

"In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity" (Tit.2:7).

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works" (Heb.10:24).

"Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works" (Jas.2:17-18).

"Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation" (1 Pt.2:12).

"Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it" (Ps.34:14).

"Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed" (Ps.37:3).

"But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil" (Lk.6:35).

"But go do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased" (Heb.13:16).

"Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin" (Jas.4:17).

"Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest" (Mt.9:37-38).

"Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together" (Jn.4:35-36).

DIVISION VI

THE SUPREME MARKS OF CHRISTIAN CONDUCT, 13:1-25

C. Mark Three: Obeying and Praying for Leaders and Being Perfected in Good Works, 13:17-25

(13:17-25) Introduction: What are the supreme marks of Christian conduct? The third mark is obeying and praying for the leaders and being perfected in good works.

1. Mark 1: obeying leaders (v.17).
2. Mark 2: praying for one another (v.18-19).
3. Mark 3: being perfected by God and Christ (v.20-21).
4. The concluding remarks (v.22-25).

1 (3:17) Leaders—Obedience: there is the mark of obeying leaders. Verse seven tells us the kind of leader that is to be obeyed: leaders who have proclaimed the Word of God (v.7). It is their faith, their visionary ministry and leadership that is to be obeyed. Men who are just in the ministry as a means of livelihood or to serve mankind and who do not proclaim the Word of God are not to be followed and obeyed. They are not men who have been called to the ministry by God. Their service and deeds to mankind may be very commendable, good and helpful. But such men belong in the social services of a community, not in the pulpits of a community. The church and its pulpit do exist to reach and minister to the social needs of the world, but they do not exist solely for social ministry. The church and its pulpit exist first and foremost to proclaim the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. Then, after preaching redemption, the church exists to carry the message and ministry of redemption to a lost and needful world. The minister who has been truly called by God exalts Christ and the redemption that is in Him. That minister is to be obeyed. Three reasons are given for obeying him.

1. God called leaders to watch over our souls. They are concerned about our welfare, growth, holiness, purity, knowledge, faith, love—about our trials and temptations—about our sicknesses and diseases and suffering. Therefore, we should listen to them and obey their counsel and exhortation.

2. God called leaders to know their accountability. This keeps the leader from abusing us. The leader knows that he is accountable to God and will stand before God to give an account as to how he led. Therefore, we can rest assured that if a leader is God-called, he will not mislead us. He is accountable to God and he knows it.

3. God-called leaders can be grieved and hurt. If we follow them, they are filled with joy because the work of Christ goes forth. The world is reached for Christ and people are ministered to. But if we fail to follow our leaders, they are hurt and grieved, for the work of Christ is hampered and we are not growing in Christ like we should. When we oppose our leaders, we stymie our growth. We stop growing and begin to cause hurt and pain and division in the body of Christ. We become tools of destruction instead of instruments of love and care and nourishment.

And note: our disobedience and rebellion affects us. It does not profit us. We lose out on the contribution and growth the leader could have contributed to our lives.

Thought 1. How often leaders are rejected and not followed! How often some people refuse to accept the leadership of a minister or some church leader. The people are the greater losers for it. They miss out on the contribution the minister's particular gifts could have made to their lives.

“That ye submit yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth” (1 Cor.16:16).

“Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God” (Eph.5:21).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder [leader], Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

“And they that have believing masters [leaders], let them not despise them, because they are brethren; but rather do them service, because they are faithful and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort” (1 Tim.6:2).

“Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet. But they said, We will not hearken” (Jer.6:17).

2 (13:18-19) Prayer: there is the mark of praying for one’s minister and his ministry. Note: the author says that he has a clear conscience and that he desires to live an honest and upright life. This fact should stir the people to pray for him, His ministry is genuine. He is not a false minister; neither is he living a dishonest and impure life. Therefore, the people should be stirred to pray for him. He also wants to continue his ministry with them; therefore, he requests them to pray to that end as well. He wants to be restored to them soon, and he needs God’s help to do it. Apparently some obstacle was keeping him away from the church.

Thought 1. Believers should pray for all ministers who are living for Christ, whether they are present or absent, ministering to us or ministering somewhere else in the world.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me” (Ro.15:30).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints; and for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel” (Eph.6:18-19).

“Brethren, pray for us” (1 Th.5:25).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

3 (13:20-21) Perfection—Growth—Maturity: there is the mark of being perfected in every good work. This is a prayer of the writer for the Hebrew believers. It gives us a most meaningful picture of God and of Christ.

1. God is the God of peace. This means that God is the Source of peace. A person needs to be perfected in peace; he needs to have peace, to experience peace day by day as he plows through life with all its trials and temptations. But note: no person can have peace apart from God, for God is the Source of peace. But if a person will turn to God, he can experience peace no matter how much trouble and stress are swirling around him. Regardless of the circumstances and situation, the God of peace can bring peace to his soul. What man has to do is turn his life over to God. Once man turns himself over to God, God plants the seed of peace within his soul and the peace just grows and grows. In fact, the more a man waters and nourishes his relationship with God, the more the seed of God’s peace takes over the man’s life. The point is this: God is the God of peace; therefore, man’s only hope for peace is to come to God. God and God alone can give man perfect peace within his heart.

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen” (Ro.16:20).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“Now the God of peace be with you all” (Ro.15:33).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant” (Heb.13:20).

2. God is the God of resurrection and of life. He raised up the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead. He had the power to raise up Christ and to give Christ a new life, a life of exaltation and glory and that lasts forever. The point is glorious: God is the God of resurrection and life. Therefore, if we turn to Him, He will raise us up and give us a new life, a life of exaltation and glory forever and ever. And if there is anything that man needs, it is life—a life that will never end—a life that is eternal and that gives us the privilege of living with God forever and ever.

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:14-18).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

3. Jesus Christ is the great shepherd of the sheep. He is the One who shepherds the people of God. He is the One who guides, provides, and protects God’s people. But the Lord Jesus Christ has one trait that rises far, far above the traits of all other shepherds. Jesus Christ sacrificed His life for the sheep; He died for the sheep of God, and He did it willingly. Therefore, the sheep of God were saved. Their lives were saved and they were given the glorious privilege of living forever in the eternal pasture of God. Man needs guidance, provision, and protection; and Jesus Christ can give him all three. But man also needs deliverance from the ravaging wolves of sin and death and judgment to come. Jesus Christ, the great Shepherd, has sacrificed His own life in order to provide this deliverance for man as well.

“The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters” (Ps.23:1-2).

“He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young” (Is.40:11).

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant” (Heb.13:20).

“For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls” (1 Pt.2:25).

4. Jesus Christ is the One who has established the everlasting covenant between God and man. A covenant is an agreement between two persons. The new agreement between God and man has been worked out by Jesus Christ. He has provided the way for us to approach God. What is that covenant? How can we now approach God? The covenant is the blood of Jesus Christ and the blood of Christ is the way we approach God. What does this mean? It means that Jesus Christ took our sins upon Himself and bore the guilt and judgment for our sins. When He died, He died as the Ideal and Perfect Sacrifice. He was able to do this because He was the Ideal and Perfect Man. Therefore, whatever He did was acceptable to God. He established a new and living way into God’s presence; by His death Jesus Christ has established a new covenant, a new agreement between God and man. It is now the will of God for man to approach Him through the blood of Christ; the everlasting covenant. In fact, a man is acceptable to God only if he approaches God through the blood of Christ.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people” (Heb.8:10).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel” (Heb.12:24).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the firstbegotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

5. God perfects us in every good work. God has a will for every one of us, but there is only one way it can be perfected in us. Note two facts:

- ⇒ The will of God is not perfected in us by our own works and efforts. We can try and try to work up the energy to do God’s will, but we will only fail. We may show initiative and a lot of activity, but our own human efforts and work will only fail. No matter what we do, we can never perfect ourselves. Our works and efforts will eventually cease and pass away.
- ⇒ The will of God can only be perfected in us by God Himself. God Himself must work within us, stirring and energizing us to do what is well-pleasing in His sight. The word work has the idea of energizing. We can do God’s will only as He works within us and energizes us to do it. What determines the energy and power of God in our lives? One thing: our walk and fellowship with God. If we walk in fellowship with God—in His Word and prayer, trusting and depending upon Him—then He will stir and energize us and give us the knowledge, wisdom, ideas, and visions of what He wants done.

Remember: all this is a prayer. The writer to the Hebrews prays that God’s people will be perfected in every good work. Note the prayer as a whole, how meaningful and power-packed it is:

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen” (v.20-21).

“For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day” (2 Cor.4:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“For it is God which worketh [energizes] in you both to will and to do his good pleasure” (Ph.2:13).

“But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil” (2 Th.3:3).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

4 (13:22-25) Conclusion: this is the conclusion of the letter to the Hebrews. Four important lessons can be gleaned from these remarks.

1. Believers are to be open to exhortation. The writer to the Hebrews pleads for the believer to receive his word of exhortation. He had written the letter to build them up in Christ and to warn them. He had written so much in so short a space; nevertheless what he had written needed to be received and heeded.
2. Believers are to be informed and aware of the conditions of saints. He informs them of Timothy’s welfare. Timothy had been released from prison.

Thought 1. Believers must keep up with each other. It is the only way we can look after and help each other and grow and develop each other.

3. Believers are to greet each other. The writer to the Hebrew believers illustrates this for us. There is no place for snobbishness in the church, no place for unfriendliness, no place for passing by each other. The church is the assembly of God’s family, a family that loves and fellowships with God and with each other.

4. Believers are to receive and bestow God’s grace upon each other. Grace means the favor and blessings of God, favor and blessings that we do not deserve, but that God showers upon us. We need the favor and blessings of God; therefore, we are to pray for them, that God will bestow them both upon ourselves and others.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF

JAMES

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF JAMES

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Uncertain. Probably James the Lord's brother. Note these facts.

1. There are three other men named James who are mentioned in the New Testament.
 - ⇒ There was the Apostle James, who was the Son of Zebedee and the brother of the Apostle John. It is almost impossible that he could have been the author, for he was martyred by Herod Agrippa about A.D. 44. This was some years before the letter of James was written.
 - ⇒ There was the Apostle James the less, who was the son of Alpheus and who was also the cousin of Jesus. He is a possibility, but so little is known about him that it is highly unlikely that he is the author.
 - ⇒ There was James, the father of the Apostle Judas (Lk.6:16, NASV). Nothing else is known about this James.
2. James, the Lord's brother, was well known by all believers everywhere. Being the Lord's brother was enough to give him a world-wide reputation among believers. In addition to this, he was the pastor of the great Jerusalem church which was the mother church of Christianity. Note in verse one that he simply calls himself James. He needed no other identification; everyone knew the James who was writing the letter. The point is this:
 - ⇒ James the Lord's brother was so well known that any other James would have had to identify himself to keep from being mistaken as James the Lord's brother.
3. Some argue that if the author was really James the Lord's brother, he would have mentioned the fact. A.T. Robertson has an excellent answer to this position:

"If it be urged that the author of the epistle, if related to Jesus, would have said so, one may reply that a delicate sense of propriety may have had precisely the opposite effect. Jesus had himself laid emphasis on the fact of his spiritual kinship with all believers as more important (Matt. 12:48-50). The fact that James during the ministry of Jesus was not sympathetic with His work would also act as a restraining force upon him. The brother of Jesus (see also Jude 1) naturally would wish to make his appeal on the same plane as the other teachers of the gospel. He rejoices in the title of 'servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ,' just as Paul did later (Rom. 1:1; Phil. 1:1; Titus 1:1) and as Jude, the brother of James, did (Jude 1)" (Studies in the Epistle of James. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, p.2).

4. The church, from the very earliest of its tradition, has held that the author was James the Lord's brother. As RVG Tasker says,

"The tradition that became established in the Church that the Epistle was not only apostolic but should be attributed to James, the head of the Early Church at Jerusalem, ought undoubtedly to be accepted as true. Not only is it incapable of being scientifically disproved, but it has much intrinsic probability" (The General Epistle of James. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1956, p.21).

5. The facts about James the Lord's brother point toward him being the author.
 - ⇒ He was a brother of the Lord (Mt. 13:55; Mk. 6:3).
 - ⇒ He was an eyewitness of the risen Lord. In fact, the Lord appeared to him in a private conversation (1 Cor. 15:7). He was among those waiting for the coming of the Spirit in the Upper Room (Acts 1:14).
 - ⇒ He was an apostle. He was probably appointed after his private encounter with the risen Lord (Gal. 1:19).
 - ⇒ He became the pastor of the great Jerusalem Church. He probably assumed his duties when Peter left on his missionary journeys (Acts 12:17; etc.). Thereafter, he is by far the greatest personality in the Jerusalem Church.
 - ⇒ He was the first one told about Peter's release from prison (Acts 12:17).
 - ⇒ He was the presiding officer over the great Jerusalem Council (Acts 15).
 - ⇒ He was called a pillar of the church along with Peter and John. Paul was forced to discuss his ministry among the Gentiles with him as well as with Peter and John (Gal. 1:19; 2:9).
 - ⇒ He was the one who received the offerings brought by Paul from the Gentile churches to help the Jerusalem saints (Acts 21:18-25).
 - ⇒ He was well versed in the Old Testament (cp. Acts 15:15f; Book of James).
 - ⇒ He was familiar with Jesus' teachings. The epistle has around twenty quotations from the Sermon on the Mount alone.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 45-50.

The date is disputed. Some say it is one of the earliest writings, perhaps the earliest. Others say it is a later writing. However, the arguments for the earlier date seem to fit the book more readily.

1. The church is still described in its primitive form. The word "assembly" (Greek, synagogue) is used instead of church (Jas. 2:2), and the elders of the church are mentioned, but the deacons and bishops are not (Jas. 5:14).
2. There is no mention of the Jewish-Gentile controversy nor of the great church council held in Jerusalem in A.D. 50 (Acts 15).
3. The book is a picture of what primitive Christianity meant to a Jew converted to Christ. It leaves one with the sense of birth-pangs, of a great transition occurring from a Jewish to a Christian way of life.

OUTLINE OF JAMES

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of James have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of James, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: “To the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad.” It was written to Christians of the dispersion (diaspora). The word dispersion simply means to the Jews scattered around the world.

PURPOSE: James had two purposes for writing.

1. To correct a corrupted faith that was rapidly seeping into the church. Many were professing faith in Christ, but living immoral and unrighteous lives. Their faith was profession only—a faith of license with little or no restraint upon behavior.
2. To present the true faith of Christ: a faith of the heart—a faith that produces outward fruit. James’ point is very simple: a person is known to be a Christian only by his behavior. What he does proves one of two things: it proves he is a Christian or it proves he is not a Christian.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. James is “A General or Catholic Epistle.” That is, it is not written to a specific church or individual, but rather, it is written to all Christian believers. James is written particularly to all Jewish converts.
2. James is “The Epistle of the Royal Law.” That is, it is the epistle stressing the necessity for loving one’s neighbor as oneself. The law of Moses is called the law of liberty (Jas.2:8-12).
3. James is “The Epistle of Sermon Notes.” The characteristics of the Jewish and Greek sermons of that day are found throughout James. The epistle seems to be a collection of sermon notes centered around the theme of trials and temptations.
4. James is “The Epistle of Practical Living” or “The Epistle of the Second Stage.” Its concern is the life of the believer after he has become a Christian and has been assured of his salvation. The thrust is Christian growth.

CHAPTER 1

GREETING: THE SERVANT OF GOD ADDRESSES BELIEVERS WORLDWIDE, 1:1

- 1 There is the servant of God
- 2 There are the believers all over the world

James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

GREETING: THE SERVANT OF GOD ADDRESSES BELIEVERS WORLDWIDE, 1:1

(1:1) Introduction: this is a most interesting passage of Scripture. It tells us some facts about one of the brothers of the Lord Jesus, some facts about a person who lived with Jesus day by day and had an opportunity to notice what kind of life He lived. The passage is also a dynamic challenge to us. Note two points.

- 1. There is the servant of God (v.1).
- 2. There are the believers world-wide (v.1).

1 (1:1) James—Slave—Jesus Christ, Deity: there is the servant of God. Who is he? He simply calls himself James. He was apparently so well known among the believers throughout the world that no title was needed other than his name. This points rather strongly toward his being James, the Lord's brother. Note two touching and very important facts about what James says.

1. He simply calls himself James, "a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ." He is a leader among God's people, a world renown leader. Yet his glory is not in the title of his position, but in the fact that he is a servant of God and Christ. Despite his position, and world-wide reputation, what matters to him most is the intimacy of his relationship to God and his Lord. This is clearly seen when the word servant is understood, for the meaning of the word shows that James deliberately chose the word to describe his relationship to the Lord.

The word "servant" (doulos) in the Greek means far more than just a servant. It means a slave totally possessed by the master. It means a bond-servant bound by law to a master. A look at the slave market of James's day shows more clearly what James meant when he said he was a "slave of Jesus Christ."

- a. The slave was owned by his master; he was totally possessed by his master. This is what James meant. James was purchased and possessed by Christ, the Son of the living God. Christ had looked upon him and had seen his rebellious and needful condition. And when Christ looked, the most wonderful thing happened: Christ loved him and bought him; therefore, he was now the possession of Christ.
- b. The slave existed for his master and he had no other reason for existence. He had no personal rights whatsoever. The same was true with James: he existed only for Christ. His rights were the rights of Christ only.
- c. The slave served his master and he existed only for the purpose of service. He was at the master's disposal any hour of the day. So it was with James: he lived only to serve Christ—hour by hour and day by day.
- d. The slave's will belonged to his master. He was allowed no will and no ambition other than the will and ambition of the master. He was completely subservient to the master and owed total obedience to the will of the master. James belonged to Christ. In fact, he fought and struggled to bring "every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ" (2 Cor.10:3-5, esp. 5).
- e. There is a fifth and most precious thing that James meant by "a slave of Jesus Christ." He meant that he had the highest and most honored and kingly profession in all the world. Men of God, the greatest men of history, have always been called "the servants of God." It was the highest title of honor. The believer's slavery to Jesus Christ is no cringing, cowardly, shameful subjection. It is the position of honor—the honor that bestows upon a man the privileges and responsibilities of serving the King of kings and Lord of lords.
 - ⇒ Moses was the slave of God (Dt.34:5; Ps.105:26; Mal.4:4).
 - ⇒ Joshua was the slave of God (Josh.24:29).
 - ⇒ David was the slave of God (2 Sam.3:18; Ps.78:70).
 - ⇒ Paul was the slave of Jesus Christ (Ro.1:1; Ph.1:1; Tit.1:1).
 - ⇒ James was the slave of God (Jas.1:1).
 - ⇒ Jude was the slave of God (Jude 1).
 - ⇒ The prophets were the slaves of God (Amos 3:7; Jer.7:25).
 - ⇒ Christian believers are said to be the slaves of Jesus Christ (Acts 2:18; 1 Cor.7:22; Eph.6:6; Col.4:12; 2 Tim.2:24).

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour" (Jn.12:26; cp. Ro.12:1; 1 Cor.15:58).

"[Laboring] not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men" (Eph.6:6-7).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“And ye shall serve the Lord your God” (Ex.23:25).

“What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

“Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing” (Ps.100:2).

2. James says that Jesus, the carpenter from Nazareth, was the Lord Jesus Christ.

⇒ By Lord (kurios) he meant God. The word Lord (kurios) is frequently used in the Old Testament Scripture to mean God, that is Elohim or Jaweh (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1933, p.10).

⇒ By Christ (Christos) he meant the Messiah, the Savior whom God had promised down through the centuries.

This is striking and touching, for James had lived as a brother to Jesus for years. Day in and day out, hour by hour, month by month, and year by year James had played, eaten, worked, slept, and gone to school with Jesus. He had roamed the surrounding hills with Jesus as a boy and seen Him play with other children and relate to the neighbors and adults of their neighborhood. James had seen how his brother received and responded to adult instruction, teaching, and supervision. He had also probably seen Jesus take over the head of the household when their father, Joseph, had died.

Just imagine the day by day, monthly, and yearly contact James had with Jesus, and still James calls Him...

- the Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord and Christ of the Old Testament Scriptures.
- the Lord of glory (Jas.2:1).
- the Lord who is coming again (Jas.5:7).
- the Lord whose coming draws near (Jas.5:8).

The point is this: James is saying that the Lord Jesus Christ is God, the very Son of God who is equal to God the Father. He is saying that his brother, Jesus the carpenter from Nazareth, is of the very nature and character of God, of the very being and essence of God.

Thought 1. This is a most remarkable and striking fact—glorious evidence that Jesus Christ is exactly whom He claimed to be. For James had lived as the half-brother to Jesus for some years. He was able to observe the life of his brother, and he found no fault in Him. After the Lord’s resurrection, James was able to accept the glorious truth: his brother Jesus was unquestionably the Lord of glory, the Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world whom God had promised from the beginning of time.

“So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:6-11).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

2 (1:1) Dispersion—Believers—Jews: there are the believers scattered all over the world. But note two significant points.

1. First, James is writing to a specific group of believers: to the believers of the twelve tribes of Israel. How could this be when the twelve tribes had been scattered all over the world and had lost their identity?

This very fact gives us the answer. James is not writing to each of the tribes of Israel; he is writing to all the tribes of Israel—to all Jews wherever they might be and no matter to what tribe they belonged. James is using the title “the twelve tribes of Israel” as a comprehensive term. He is referring to all Israel, not wanting a single Jew to feel left out of his message. As the brother of the Lord Jesus Christ and as the pastor of the great Jerusalem church, what he had to say was imperative for all Jews to hear and heed. Even if a Jew was no longer in Palestine and could not trace his roots back to any particular tribe, James wanted the person to know that he was writing to him. By using the term “the twelve tribes” James left no doubt that he was writing to every Jew no matter where they were.

2. Second, James loved his people with an unusual love. They were deeply rooted in his heart, and he felt a strong calling to reach and exhort them in the Lord. This is the very reason he was writing them. Just think what an awesome task it must have been to draw up the plans by which his letter could be passed from church to church and from synagogue to synagogue all over the world. James either laid out the plans and followed through in seeing that the plans were carried out or else the Holy Spirit gave him assurance that his letter would be spread to all the Jews scattered all over the world. James had some indication that he would be reaching all Jews—the twelve tribes scattered all over. His heart longed to reach the millions of the diaspora. Diaspora is simply a Greek word that means all the millions of Jews scattered all over the world.

The point to see is the love and the evangelistic heart that James had for his people. True, he is writing primarily to Jewish believers, but he is also doing what he says: sending greetings to the twelve tribes of the diaspora—all the millions who are scattered all over the world. What he says is applicable to all believers of all generations.

Thought 1. What a dynamic example in love and evangelism for us. What would happen if our hearts beat with the same degree of love and evangelism—the compassion to reach the lost and suffering people of our communities, cities, and nations?

Thought 2. Look at the world-wide compassion of James. He was making an attempt to reach his people all over the world. Where is the heart for missions today? Where is the person who will totally give his heart to world missions and evangelism?

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21; cp. 19:10).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession” (Ps.2:8).

“Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people” (Ps.96:3).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: THE BASIC FACTS, 1:2-27

A. The Essential Attitude to Trials and Temptation: Joy, 1:2-4

(1:2-4) Introduction: the path of life is not an easy path to walk. It is filled with all kinds of trials and temptations, trials such as sickness, disease, accidents, disappointments, sorrows, suffering, and death; and temptations such as all the seductions to sin and evil. What we need is a guaranteed way to conquer all the trials and temptations of life. This is the glorious message of this passage: there is a way to conquer and triumph in this life, no matter how severe the trial or temptation. What is the way? It is possessing a spirit of joy and perseverance as we face the trials and temptations of life.

1. The fact: we will have many trials and temptations (v.2).
2. The needed attitude: joy (v.2-4).
3. The result: makes us perfect and entire (v.4).

(1:3-8) Another Outline: Endurance. This is a striking study on endurance.

1. The source: testing, trials, temptations (v.3).
2. The condition: must let trials do their work (v.4).
3. The purpose and results (v.4).
 - a. Makes one perfect.
 - b. Makes one complete.
4. The way to endure (v.5).
 - a. Ask wisdom of God.
 - 1) God gives liberally.
 - 2) God does not scold.
 - b. Ask in faith—unwavering (v.6).
 - 1) Wavering illustrated.
 - 2) Wavering receives nothing (v.7).
 - 3) Wavering shows instability—in all things (v.8).

1 (1:2) Trials—Temptation: the fact is certain—we will have many trials and temptations. The Greek word used for temptations or trials throughout James is peirasmos. It means to tempt; to try; to test; to prove. Throughout the Bible the word peirasmos and its various forms are used to refer to both the temptations and trials of life. But note that the word means far more than just to tempt; it means...

- to test
- to try
- to prove

That is, the temptations and trials of life are to prove us: they are for a beneficial purpose; they are permitted by God for a good purpose (W.E. Vine. Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words, p.116). What is that purpose? To make us stronger and more pure.

- ⇒ When we conquer temptation, we become a much more pure person—more holy, righteous, and just.
- ⇒ When we triumphantly go through the trials of life, we become a much stronger person—more steadfast, enduring, and persevering
- ⇒ When we stand up against trials and temptations, we become a dynamic witness to all those who see us: we demonstrate the living presence and power of Christ—that He actually does live in our hearts and lives and is going to give us eternal life.

As said, God allows temptations and trials for a good and beneficial purpose: to prove us—to make us much stronger and much more pure and righteous. God wants us to face the temptations and trials of life and to conquer them, and by conquering them to become much more like Christ and to make Christ more fully known to the world.

Note one other thing that James says: he says that we shall fall into all kinds of temptations and trials. The Greek scholar A.T. Robertson says, "It is the picture of being surrounded (peri) by trials" (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.11). The idea is that of many trials and temptations, of all sorts and of all kinds of temptations and trials. But we must always remember: no matter what the trial or temptation, it is for our good and for our benefit. It is to help us. It is to prove us—to make us stronger and much more pure and righteous—to make us much more dynamic witnesses for Christ. God allows trials and temptations to make us more and more like Jesus.

"But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (2 Cor.3:18).

"For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory" (2 Cor.4:17).

"Now no chastening [trial] for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby" (Heb.12:11).

"Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy" (Jas.5:11).

"But and if ye suffer for righteousness' sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled; but sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear" (1 Pt.3:14-15).

"If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified" (1 Pt.4:14).

"And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb" (Rev.7:14).

"But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold" (Job 23:10).

2 (1:2-4) Trials—Temptations—Joy: the attitude needed to face the trials and temptations of life is startling—it is joy. We are to face trial and temptation with a spirit of joy. How is this possible? How can a believer be joyful...

- when facing such trials as disease, accidents, pain, sorrows, disappointments, suffering, pain, and death?
- when facing the seductions of temptations?

Joy is usually not what fills our heart when we face these things. When severe trials come our way, too often we despair and become discouraged and defeated. Most of us certainly do not joy.

There is only one way to face trials and temptations with a spirit of joy: we have to switch our thinking; turn our attitudes about trials and temptations completely around. We have to quit thinking negatively and think positively. In the words of Scripture we must know something and we must do something.

1. We must know something: know that trials and temptations work patience (v.3). We must know what point one stressed: that trials and temptations are not to defeat and discourage us, but to prove us, to make us much stronger and more pure and righteous. The word "patience" (hupomonen) means to be steadfast; to persevere; to endure. The believer is to know that the trials and temptations of life will make him more steadfast, more persevering, and more enduring. They will make him much stronger, not weaker. They will make him strong just like Jesus and they will give him a pure and righteous character just like Jesus. When the believer keeps this fact in his mind, he can face trials and temptations much more positively. He can then begin to move toward the spirit of living joyfully in the face of trials and temptations.

2. We must do something: we must let patience work within us. As stated above, patience means to be steadfast, to persevere, and to endure. But it means more than this in the Greek. It means far more than just bearing and putting up with the trials and temptations. It means far more than just following the advice of medicine and psychology: to take it easy; to be calm; to relax in stressful situations. It means far more than learning to deny the existence of trials and temptations. Patience means...

- to persevere and keep on persevering, never giving in.
- to take the initiative and to exert the energy and effort to conquer and to gain the victory and to triumph over the trial and temptation.

Now note the point: How can we joy when a trial or temptation confronts us? By knowing that it will make us stronger and then by persevering against it and conquering it. By knowing that it is an opportunity to make us stronger and more pure just like Jesus and by using the trial or temptation to become a little stronger and a little more pure and righteous.

When we look at trials and temptations as opportunities, then we will begin to face them in joy. And when we begin to persevere and conquer them, then we will begin to walk through them in the joy of the Lord.

"There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it" (1 Cor.10:13).

"For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted" (Heb.2:18).

"My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience" (Jas.1:2-3).

"Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (Jas.1:12).

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Pt.5:8).

"The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished" (2 Pt.2:9).

"Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth" (Rev.3:10).

“My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not” (Pr.1:10).

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand” (Eph.6:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

3 (1:4) Trials—Temptations—Endurance: the results of facing trials and temptations can be wonderful. A most wonderful thing happens when a person perseveres and conquers the trials and temptations of life.

A person becomes more perfect (teleioi). The word does not mean perfect in the sense of becoming a perfect person. The word means perfection of purpose. It has to do with an end, an aim, a goal, a purpose. It means fit, mature, fully grown at a particular stage of growth. For example, a fully grown child is a perfect child; he has reached his childhood and achieved the purpose of childhood. It does not mean perfection of character, that is, being without sin. It is fitness, maturity for task and purpose. It is full development, maturity of godliness. (See note—Eph.4:12-13; cp. Ph.3:12; 1 Jn.1:8, 10.)

This means at least two things.

1. First, when a person stands against trials and temptations and conquers them...

- he perfects the purpose God intended. That is, he becomes a stronger and more pure person—a person who is a little more like Jesus.
- he perfects his task and purpose for being on earth a little bit more.

God has a twofold purpose for every believer: to become more and more like Jesus and to do a specific task or job while on earth. When the believer perseveres against and conquers trials or temptations, he perfects both purposes a little bit more. He becomes more like Jesus and he finishes his task a little more.

2. Second, a person becomes more and more complete in all parts (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.12). The person becomes entire (holoklerian), wholly fit, perfectly sound, complete with no weaknesses, flaws, defects, or shortcomings. This means a most wonderful thing. When a person perseveres and conquers trials or temptations...

- he becomes more entire, more fit, more sound, and more complete.
- he also eliminates more weaknesses, more flaws, more defects, and more shortcomings.

▷ Day by day—trial by trial and temptation by temptation—when a person perseveres and conquers, he becomes more and more entire. He becomes stronger and more pure and righteous—more and more like the Lord Jesus. As the last two words of verse four say, “wanting nothing.” The believer who faces trials and temptations in the joy of Christ conquers all, and he lacks nothing.

⇒ He becomes more and more perfect, fulfilling his task and purpose for being on earth a little bit more.

⇒ He becomes more and more entire and fit, eliminating more and more weaknesses and shortcomings in his life.

The person just lacks nothing. He wants for nothing. He has all the abundance and fulness of life. He walks through life conquering and triumphing over all the trials and temptations of life, no matter how severe and stressful. It may even be death, but he stands fast in his faith and conquers death. And God rewards him with an eternity of perfection, fitness, completion, and fulfillment—all forever and ever. The believer is conformed to the perfection of Jesus Christ.

“And the God of peace shall bruise [defeat] Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you” (Ro.16:20).

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:12-13).

“For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body” (Jas.3:2).

“Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:12).

“Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: THE BASIC FACTS, 1:2-27

B. The Way to Conquer Trials and Temptation, 1:5-12

(1:5-12) Introduction: trials and temptations are common to us all. We all suffer such trials and temptations as...

- pain
- lust
- disease
- divorce
- loss
- cheating
- death
- sickness
- separation
- disappointments
- immorality
- emptiness
- hurt
- greed
- accidents
- anger
- loneliness
- lying

What is the worst trial that you face—right now? What is the worst temptation—the temptation that just swarms in upon you and overcomes you and leads you into sin?

Is there an escape? Is there a way to overcome the trial? the temptation? A way that can assure victory and deliverance? This is the subject of this passage: the way to conquer trials and temptations.

1. Ask wisdom of God (v.5-8).
2. Rejoice in one's status (v.9-11).
3. Remember the reward for enduring: a crown of life (v.12).

1 (1:5-8) Temptation—Wisdom: How can a believer conquer trials and temptations? First, he must ask wisdom of God. Wisdom means far more than just knowledge, far more than just being intellectual about life or some area of life. Knowledge is the grasping of facts, and most people in the world have heads full of facts.

- ⇒ Just think of all the schools in the world: schools for children, schools for young people, schools for men and women, schools for tradesman.
- ⇒ Just think of the millions of farmers, scientists, business people, tradesmen, mechanics, contractors, physicians, and on and on.

Millions and millions of us are knowledgeable. People with heads full of knowledge are very common. But when coping with the trials and temptations of life, something more than a head full of facts is needed. Being a knowledgeable person is not enough in order to be a victorious and fulfilled person in life. Much more is needed: wisdom is needed. What is wisdom? What does the Bible mean by wisdom? Wisdom is not having a head full of facts. It is not only seeing and knowing all about life, it is seeing and knowing what to do about life. Wisdom is not only seeing and knowing the truth, it is seeing and knowing what to do with the truth.

Wisdom grasps the great truths of life. It sees the trials and temptations that surround life and death, God and man, time and eternity, good and evil—the deep things of the universe and of God. But wisdom not only grasps these facts, wisdom knows what to do about them, and it does it. Wisdom not only understands the trials and temptations, but it understands what to do with them and how to do it, and it does it. Wisdom acts and conquers and gains the victory over the trials and temptations.

Now, if we lack that kind of wisdom—if we do not understand—if we do not know how to conquer life or some trial and temptation—then there is one sure way to get the wisdom:

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God...and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

Asking wisdom of God is the way to conquer the trials and temptations of life. Now, note two significant points.

1. Note the wonderful promises made to us when we ask God for wisdom.
 - ⇒ God will give us wisdom.
 - ⇒ God will give us a liberal amount, an abundance of wisdom.
 - ⇒ God will not reproach or rebuke us—not scold us—for not knowing how to handle the trial of temptation. The idea is that God will not even question us for lacking wisdom and for not knowing what to do.

God loves us: we are His sons and daughters. He is our Father, and He wants to meet our every need. Therefore, God will hear our request and cry; He will give us the wisdom to conquer the trials and temptations of life.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“For I will give you a mouth and wisdom, which all your adversaries shall not be able to gain-say nor resist” (Lk.21:15).

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Ro.11:33).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

“Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding: for the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold” (Pr.3:13-14).

“For wisdom is better than rubies; and all the things that may be desired are not to be compared to it” (Pr.8:11).

“And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding” (Job 28:28).

“Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent and he shall know them? for the ways of the Lord are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein” (Hos.14:9).

2. Note a critical fact: we have a responsibility. We must do something, and whether or not God hears us depends upon our doing this one thing. If we do it, God hears us and gives us wisdom to conquer the trials and temptations. If we do not do it, God cannot hear us. What is it that we must do? When we ask God to give us wisdom to conquer some trial or temptation, we must ask in faith and not waver. We must believe that God loves us and that He really cares and will hear our cries and prayers and meet our every need. When we pray and cry out to God, we cannot doubt; that is, we cannot ask and then...

- wonder if God really exists
- wonder if God is really going to hear
- wonder if God can really do what we ask
- wonder if we really know God well enough for Him to hear us
- wonder if the request is the will of God.

Such doubting cannot be heard by God. God cannot answer the prayer of a doubting person. If He did, then He would be rewarding doubt—rewarding those who do not believe or trust Him. He would be rewarding those who doubt, ignore, neglect, question, and in many cases curse, deny, and fight against Him. God cannot hear and answer a person who wavers in his faith. We must believe that God is, that He exists and that He does love and care for us and that He will hear and answer us when we ask for wisdom to face the trials and temptations of life.

Note what Scripture says about the person who wavers in faith.

- a. First, the person is just like a wave of the sea driven by the wind and tossed to and fro.
- b. Second, the person shall not receive anything of the Lord. Why? Because a person who wavers back and forth does not know the value of God’s gifts. If God granted them, the person would not always use them nor would he use the gifts like they should be used. If God gave the wisdom to a person to conquer the trials and temptations of life, the person might or might not use it or might use it irregularly. He would not value or use the wisdom or any other gift from God, certainly not to the degree that he should. He would misuse it—terribly misuse and abuse it. Therefore, the person who wavers in faith will not receive anything from God.
- c. Third, the person who wavers in faith is a double-minded person, and he is unstable in all his ways. A person who wavers in faith lives a life that is up and down, back and forth. His whole behavior is unstable and unreliable. He is like a person with two minds: he is not sure; he is uncertain; he feels yes and then he feels no. He begins and then backs up, then begins again. He believes, then he disbelieves; he acts, then he distrusts and backs up. He is unstable in his prayer and life with God.

Thought 1. What a descriptive picture of so many. This is the very reason so many of us receive so little from God. We either do not ask or else when we ask, we waver in believing that God will hear and answer us. As we face the trials and temptations of life, we must ask God for wisdom and believe that God will hear and show us the way and the power to conquer. When we pray believing, God will hear and answer us.

“And he did not many mighty works there because of their unbelief” (Mt.13:58).

“And he said unto them, Why are ye so fearful? how is that ye have no faith?” (Mk.4:40).

“No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon” (Lk.16:13).

“Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief” (Heb.4:11).

“A double minded man is unstable in all his ways” (Jas.1:8).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:8).

2 (1:9-11) Temptation—Life, Lot in—Life, Status in: How can a believer conquer trials and temptations? Second, he must rejoice in his status in life. It does not matter whether a person is poor or rich, healthy or unhealthy, crippled or sound, he is to rejoice in the Lord.

1. First, the believer of lowly status is to rejoice in the Lord. This does not mean that he is to rejoice because he is poor, unhealthy, or crippled. It means that he rejoices in Christ despite the circumstances—no matter how terrible. Christ loves the lowly person. Christ has saved the lowly and has promised to exalt him as a king and prince throughout all eternity. Therefore, the believer of lowly status is to have a spirit that is as strong as the spirit of a king and prince. He is to have the strongest of spirits now, while he is on earth despite his circumstances of poverty or ill health. Jesus Christ has exalted him to rule throughout all eternity in the new heavens and earth. Therefore, the believer of lowly status on this earth is to behave like a prince and a king—all as a testimony to Christ and His power to change lives. (See note, Rewards—Lk.16:10-12.)

“And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities” (Lk.19:17).

“Ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations” (Lk.22:28).

“Do ye not know that the saints shall judge [rule, hold authority over] the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters? Know ye not that we shall judge [oversee, hold authority over] angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?” (1 Cor.6:2-3).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever” (Rev.1:5-6).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

“Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name” (Ps.91:14).

“And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever” (Dan.12:3).

Thought 1. This is too often not the case with the lowly of this world. Too often the poor and unhealthy...

- allow their circumstances to dull, numb, or destroy their spirit and joy in life.
- become bitter against those who have more and seek to take some of what they have.
- develop a sense of inferiority and inadequacy and take on a withdrawn or slavish type of behavior.

This is wrong and destructive both to the lowly person and to everyone else involved—including family members, friends, communities, society, and the world at large. Every lowly person on the face of the earth should struggle and struggle and never cease to struggle to improve his status in life—even to the point that he can help others. This is the clear teaching of Scripture (Eph.4:28). But no person is to allow circumstances—no matter how terrible—to destroy his joy or make him bitter and inferior or withdrawn and slavish. Every human being, no matter how lowly, is needed to make his contribution to society and the world. This is especially true with believers. Believers must never forget God nor the glorious salvation and exaltation to which God has raised them. Rejoicing in one’s status in life—facing it squarely in the face and setting out to conquer it—is one of the ways to conquer the trials and temptations of life. A lowly person who does not allow his status to defeat him, but rather who conquers his status develops a strong, strong spirit. He develops such a strong spirit that with the wisdom of God He can conquer any trial or temptation thrown against him.

2. Second, the believer of rich or high status in life is to rejoice in that he is made low by God. What does this mean?

- a. First, a rich or high person is not accepted by God because of who he is or what he has. His rich and high status means absolutely nothing to God. Even if he were the ruler and owner of the whole earth, it would mean nothing to God. What is such status or wealth in comparison to the whole universe? The rich and high have to approach God bare—as nothing and as having nothing—approach Him as a little child, poor and without anything. This is the only way God accepts any person; therefore, the rich and high are no better off than the poor and lowly. All men—no matter their status in life—stand before God as equals. Let the rich and high rejoice in God and in the fact that God accepts him, not in his rich and high status.

- b. Second, a rich and high person must use all that he has and is—all of his riches and high influence—to help meet the desperate needs of the starving, impoverished, diseased, homeless, sinful, dying, and lost of the world. This is a fact that is neglected, ignored, explained away, and in some cases denied. Nevertheless, let Scripture be true and every man a liar—as Scripture says. It is the clear teaching of Scripture (see outline and notes—Mt. 19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for discussion). The rich and high are to give and live just as sacrificially in meeting the needs of the lost and needy of the world as the middle and lower classes of society. This is not saying there is to be a classless society. There is not. A person of high status—a leader or manager of a business or nation—needs larger and more in order to deal with his equals in other businesses and nations, for most of them are not committed to Jesus Christ. They will not do business or respect a leader who holds the world in contempt. But when a person, especially a believer, meets his needs, that is all he is to do. He is not to hoard and bank beyond securing his family. He is to use all to meet the needs of this world—its desperate need for the gospel and for food, water, medicine, education, clothing, and housing. Note what this passage says: the rich and high must remember a critical fact:

“As the flower of the grass he shall pass away. For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways” (Jas.1:10-11).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth” (Is.40:6-7).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“Now my days are swifter than a post: they flee away, they see no good” (Job 9:25).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as a handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again” (Ps.78:39).

“For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust. As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:14-16).

“They search out iniquities; they accomplish a diligent search: both the inward thought of every one of them, and the heart, is deep” (Ps.64:6).

3 (1:12) Temptations—Trials: How can a believer conquer trials and temptations? Third, he must remember the reward for enduring. He shall be blessed and shall receive a crown of life. Note exactly what is said.

1. The person who endures temptation shall be “blessed” (makapios). This refers to this life, to the here and now. The word blessed means inward and spiritual joy and satisfaction; an inner assurance and confidence that carries one through all the trials and temptations of life no matter the pain, sorrow, loss, or grief. Simply stated, the person is secure in this life. He knows that God is looking after and caring for him and is going to deliver him from all the corruption and evil of this life including death, and give him life eternal.

“He is like a man which built an house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it: for it was founded upon a rock” (Lk.6:48).

“Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy” (Jas.5:11).

“The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger” (Job 17:9).

2. The person shall receive the crown of life in the next world. What is the crown of life? In the Greek this is what is called “the gentive of apposition”; that is, life itself is the crown (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.17). The believer who endures the temptations of life shall be crowned with life itself, eternal life—life that will go on and on, never ending. The eternal life that will be given the believer will shine more brightly than all the earthly crowns that have ever been worn by the rulers of this world.

Thought 1. Just imagine the actual moment when Christ will crown us with the crown of life. Being crowned with the crown of life...

- will fill us with unbroken joy and rejoicing.
- will bestow upon us honor and dignity.
- will give us a deep and perfect sense of victory and triumph.
- will conform us to the image of eternal royalty.

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:1-2).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“For our conversation [behavior] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life” (1 Jn.2:25).

3. The person who endures trials and temptations is the person who will be blessed and receive the crown of life. Endurance is an absolute essential (see note 2, pt.1—Jas.1:2 for discussion). A person has to confront the trials and temptations with the spirit of a conqueror; he has...

- to endure
- to persevere
- to be steadfast
- to stand fast

He has to conquer and triumph through Christ Jesus our Lord, and then he shall receive the promises of God. A person has to be tried and tested and has to prove faithful. He has to endure to the end in order to be saved and to inherit the crown of life.

Thought 1. The weakling caves in. Therefore, he does not experience the sense of being blessed. He does not have the confidence and assurance of God’s presence and care nor of eternity. He is not sure that he will receive the crown of life. And Scripture says he will not receive it.

“He that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“Thou hast proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou hast tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress” (Ps.17:3).

4. The person who loves the Lord is the person who endures. He is the person who is faithful to the Lord. He follows and obeys the Lord, doing all that the Lord commands. He follows Christ, obeying His commandments and enduring all the trials and temptations of this life.

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such a is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered” (Heb.5:8).

“Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth” (Rev.3:10).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: THE BASIC FACTS, 1:2-27

C. The Origin of Trials and Temptation, 1:13-18

(1:13-18) Introduction—Temptation: Where does temptation come from? Sometimes the desire and craving for things upon the earth are almost unbearable. We see something and we know that it is wrong, that we should not have it or do it, but the desire and craving become so strong that we can hardly stand it. The craving may be for things such as...

- having one's own way
- doing one's own thing
- food
- immoral sex
- possessions
- recognition or authority
- alcohol
- cigarettes
- pornography
- clothes
- position or advancement

This is what temptation is: the desire and craving for wrong things, things that God forbids and that are harmful to our human bodies and spirits. No matter what it is—even if man justifies and says that it is acceptable—it is sin if God says that it is wrong and if it harms our bodies and spirits. Therefore, when we feel an urge or craving for such things, we are being tempted, and the temptation is to be fled from.

Now, where does temptation come from? Take any of the things mentioned above, why do we desire and crave them? What causes the urge for them? Knowing the origin of temptation will help us tremendously in conquering the trials and temptations of life.

1. Temptation is not of God (v.13).
2. Temptation is of man, of his own lust (v.14-16).
3. Temptation is not of the nature of God (v.17-18).

1 (1:13) Temptation: temptation is not of God. Man is always blaming someone else for tempting him and leading him into sin. When Adam and Eve fell into sin, God found Adam and asked him what had happened. Adam, trying to escape the guilt, did just what all of us are prone to do: he said, "the woman who you gave me tempted me" (Gen.3:12). Then when God turned to Eve, Eve said: "the serpent deceived me" (Gen.3:13). The point is this: man seldom takes responsibility for his own wrong-doing.

- ⇒ Man blames woman and woman blames man.
- ⇒ Spouse blames spouse.
- ⇒ Child blames parent and parent blames child.
- ⇒ The student blames the teacher and the teacher blames the school.
- ⇒ Partner blames partner.
- ⇒ Employer blames employee and employee blames employer.

Man even jokes about temptation and sin with such quips as, "If it hadn't been there, I wouldn't have done it." It may be a second helping of food or an attractive woman or something that is just lying there looking ever so inviting, but we seldom take responsibility for having taken it. What we do is justify our behavior and try to quiet our conscience by blaming our wives, husbands, employers, lovers—just someone other than ourselves. But note what we have done: we have blamed God. How?

- ⇒ By wondering why God ever let such a thing happen to us: marry such a spouse, have such a terrible accident, and a host of other things that happen to us.
- ⇒ By thinking that God created us with desires and passions; therefore, when we slip here and there, He will understand and forgive us.
- ⇒ By thinking that God made the world as it is—everything in it; therefore, if we indulge here and there, He will understand and forgive us. It may be a second helping or a second drink or a second look at a loosely dressed woman, but we excuse ourselves with the thought that indulgence is understood by God.

God, of course, did create all things in their raw form, and He created us with desires and cravings. God created food and He gave us a desire for food so that we would eat and take care of our bodies. God gave man to woman and woman to man so that they would keep the human race going and would build companionship, trust, family, and a world of love, peace, joy, and of worship and service to God. But God did not make us...

- to desire and then to desire for more and more.
- to crave and then to crave for more and more.

God is not the Person who arouses lustful desires and cravings within us. Note what this verse says:

“Let no man say [or think or rationalize, or justify his behavior] when he is tempted, I am tempted of God” (Jas.1:13).

1. First, God cannot be tempted with evil. God is holy, righteous, and pure. Therefore, by His very nature God can have absolutely nothing to do with evil or temptation. To tempt a person is an evil thing to do. It takes a selfish, lustful, craving, empty, lacking, carnal, self-seeking, and evil person to try to entice and seduce another person to do the forbidden thing. And God is not like this. God is the very opposite. God’s holiness does not allow Him to be tempted to do evil; He cannot be tempted to tempt man, to do such an awful and unholy thing.

2. Second, not only can God not be tempted by evil, but God does not tempt any person. God loves, cares, and seeks to save man, not to damage or destroy his body and spirit. When a person is tempted to do the forbidden or harmful thing, the urge and craving is not of God. God wants the person to turn away and flee the temptation, not to crumble and succumb to it.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts” (Jas.4:1-3).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest” (Rev.15:4).

“Clouds and darkness are round about him: righteousness and judgment are the habitation of his throne” (Ps.97:2).

“Exalt the LORD our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the LORD our God is holy” (Ps.99:9).

“The LORD is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works” (Ps.145:17).

“And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory” (Is.6:3).

“In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely: and this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS” (Jer.23:6).

2 (1:14-16) Temptation: temptation is of man, of his own lust. There are three significant steps involved in temptation and sin, three steps that we must understand if we are to consistently conquer temptation.

1. There is lust and enticement. Every man—there are no exceptions—is tempted when he is drawn away by his own lusts and enticed. The word “lust” (epithumia) means to crave either good or evil. There are good desires and bad desires. The word “enticed” (deleazomenos) means to lure and bait just as a person lures and baits a fish.

The picture is this: man has good desires, natural and normal desires. Therefore, when he begins to think about or look at something, he very naturally desires it. His desire is normal behavior. The problem arises when the thing is forbidden or is harmful. If he looks at and thinks about the forbidden or harmful thing, he begins to lust and to be enticed or lured to go after it. This is the very beginning stage of temptation. Man takes his desire and focuses it upon the forbidden or harmful thing. He begins to pay attention to what he should not look at; he begins to think about the things of the flesh and of the world. Thereby he is tempted and drawn away by his own lusts and enticements.

2. There is the conception of lust and the birth of sin. The above point, point one, is what is called the conception of lust. It is a picture of birth. When a person actually begins to look at and think about the forbidden thing, desire and lust are conceived in his mind. He pictures the pleasure of the desire; that is, sin is actually born. Picturing—looking at or thinking about the desire—is sin. This is exactly what Christ Himself said:

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

The point to note is this: temptation begins with the normal and natural desires of man and with his thoughts. A person sees, smells, tastes, hears, touches, or thinks about something—something that is forbidden and harmful—and he fails to turn away and flee from it. It may be something as simple as hearing or listening to suggestive music, music about the intimacy of a relationship. Instead of fleeing, the person allows his mind to conceive the thing. He pictures the pleasure and begins to desire or lust after it. Sin is born; the wrong is committed right there in his mind. His heart is set upon the forbidden thing. He may never do the act, but he would if he had the chance and courage. Again, as Christ said:

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:26-27).

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:16-17).

“Mortify therefore your members [fleshly desires] which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence [immorality], even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:4-5).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts. Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:1-4).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

Thought 1. The way to overcome temptation is essentially twofold.

- 1) If the temptation attacks our thoughts, then we must push the wrong thought out of our mind, and then begin to immediately focus our thoughts upon Christ and some passage of Scripture.
- 2) If the temptation comes from some attraction to our senses—seeing, hearing, tasting, and touching—then we must turn our head or body away and flee the temptation. Then immediately we must focus upon Jesus Christ and prayer and review some Scripture passage.

3. There is the result of lust and enticement: death. Man dies physically, spiritually, and eternally because of sin. When God created man, He did not create man to die. Man has chosen to die, and he dies because of sin (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Death—Heb.9:27 for discussion and verses).

Thought 1. William Barclay has a thought on temptation that should challenge us to turn our total being over to Christ. We have the statements in outline form for emphasis:

“Now desire is something which can be nourished or stifled. A man can...by the grace of God, eliminate desire if he faces it and deals with it at once. But...”

- he can allow his steps to take him into certain places and certain company.
- he can encourage his eyes to linger on certain forbidden things.
- he can spend his life fomenting desire.
- he can use mind and heart and eyes and feet and lips to nourish desire.

“[However, a man] can so hand himself over to Christ and to the Spirit of Christ that he is cleansed of evil desire. He can be so engaged on good things that there is no time or place left for desire. It is idle hands for which Satan finds mischief to do; and it is an unexercised mind which plays with desire, and an uncommitted heart which is vulnerable to the appeal of lust.

“If a man nourishes and encourages desire long enough, there is an inevitable consequence. Desire becomes action. If a man thinks about anything long enough if he allows himself to desire it long enough, all the chances are that in the end he will do it. Desire in the heart in the end begets sin in the action” (The Letters of James and Peter. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1958, p.61f).

3 (1:17-18) Temptation—God: temptation is not of the nature of God. Note three significant points about God and temptation.

1. God is good and perfect. He is not God if He is not good and perfect. When we say God, we mean the Supreme and Majestic Being of the universe, the Being who is the Creator, the Being who is good and perfect—who is the Source of all good and perfect gifts. Being good and perfect, God can have absolutely nothing to do with temptation and sin. Therefore, He is not the One who tempts man. God is the One who gives man every good and perfect gift that man receives.

“He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he” (Dt.32:4).

“As for God, his way is perfect: the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler [shield] to all those that trust in him” (Ps.18:30).

“I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it: and God doeth it, that men should fear before him” (Eccl.3:14).

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way” (Ps.25:8).

“O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him” (Ps.34:8).

“The LORD is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; and he knoweth them that trust in him” (Nah.1:7).

“And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments” (Mt.19:17).

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

2. God is the Father of lights and He is unchangeable. Temptation leads men into darkness, into the darkness of guilt and shame, of personal disappointment and accusation, of hurting and damaging others, of destruction and death, of secrecy and hidden affairs, of the night and closed doors, of hidden and secret acts. It is temptation that leads men into such a world of darkness, not God. God is the Father of lights, the Creator of the sun, moon, and stars and of light itself. And they are all unchangeable. By their very nature each gives off and reflects its light. So it is with God, except more so. God is light, perfect light—so perfect that there is not even a variation or shadow of turning with God. There is with the heavenly lights, but not with God. God is unchangeable. He is the God of lights. God always gives us the things that will stand in the light, things...

- that give us joy.
- that are good for us.
- that do not shame us.
- that can build us up and perfect and mature us.
- that give us assurance and confidence.
- that make us secure.
- that bring us love and joy and peace.
- that show forth Christ and God.

And note: God is said to be “the Father of lights.” He is our Father; He never leaves us in the dark, groping and grasping to know the truth. He always opens up the light of the truth to us. He gives us every good and perfect gift because He is the Father of lights.

“The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?” (Ps.27:1).

“For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly” (Ps.84:11).

“When I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, the Lord shall be a light unto me” (Mic.7:8).

“This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all” (1 Jn.1:5).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

“If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?” (Lk.11:13).

“And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand” (Jn.10:28).

“But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end” (Ps.102:27).

“And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail” (Heb.1:12).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

3. God wills only to see us born again. He wills for us to know the Word of truth. If we ever hear the word of error, it is not of God. All humanistic and false teaching about truth are not of God. It is of some other source, some source that is out to tempt man away from God and His truth. God wants man to be born again. Man has been physically born—every man—and the way of physical birth is death. Every human person shall die. But God’s will is what the Word of truth proclaims: that man can be born again. He can experience a spiritual rebirth and live forever with God in the new heavens and earth. We can all become one of His new creatures, a new man who is going to be perfected and live forever and ever. We can all be like the first fruits of the vine, a new fruit, a new creature that is unlike the physical creature that we are upon this material earth. We can be made into one of God’s new creatures—made into a perfect being who will live forever to worship and serve God in the new heavens and earth.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God” (Jn.1:12-13).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:3, 5-6).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration [the new birth], and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

DIVISION I

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: THE BASIC FACTS, 1:2-27

D. The Preparations Necessary to Withstand Trials and Temptation, 1:19-27

(1:19-27) Introduction: this is a great passage of Scripture, a very descriptive passage. In no uncertain terms there are several preparations that must be made in order to overcome temptation. Without these preparations, temptation can never be conquered.

1. Preparation 1: be quick to hear the Word of God (v.19-21).
2. Preparation 2: be a doer of the Word and not a hearer only (v.22-25).
3. Preparation 3: bridle and control the tongue (v.26).
4. Preparation 4: visit the needy and keep yourself unspotted from the world (v.27).

1 (1:19-21) Word of God—Hearing: preparation one—be quick to hear the Word of God. The thrust of these three verses is seen in v.21: receiving the Word so that a person's soul will be saved. The greatest temptation in the world is for a person to walk through life doing what he wants and pleases, and thereby ignoring, neglecting, and rejecting God. The result is death (Jas.1:15). Therefore, if a person is to be saved—if he is to be delivered from the great temptation that will doom his soul—he must prepare himself. He must be quick to hear the Word of God. He must make sure that he hears the Word of God. How can a person make sure that he hears the Word of God? Make sure that he can receive the Word and save his soul? This passage says that he has to do five things.

1. He must be slow to speak. This means that a person must be willing to listen instead of speaking his own ideas about right and wrong and about how a person is saved. He must sit and listen instead of hanging on to his own ideas; he must be willing to listen to God's Word instead of insisting upon what he thinks.
2. He must be slow to wrath or anger. This means at least two things.
 - ⇒ A person must not react against what God says about temptation and sin nor about what God says about salvation. If a person reacts against God's plan of salvation and follows his own plan, he is dooming himself. No person can ever be saved or conquer temptation if he reacts in anger against God's Word of salvation and righteousness.
 - ⇒ A person must not become angry and act against others in wrath. Anger and wrath disturb and distract. An angry person cannot focus his thoughts and spirits upon God's Word, not enough to hear what the Word is saying. An angry person just cannot do what God says; he cannot live righteously nor receive the righteousness of God's salvation (v.20).
3. He must put aside all filthiness. The picture is that of taking off a dirty garment and putting it aside. A person must put off every dirty thing and lay it off to the side away from himself. If he enjoys the dirt and filth, then his mind is going to be on it. His mind will not be clear, not enough to hear the Word of God. William Barclay makes the point that the Greek word for "filthiness" (ruparia) is taken from the Greek word rupos. The word is sometimes used to refer to wax in the ear (The Letters of James and Peter, p.66). The picture is descriptive: a person with wax in the ear cannot hear the Word of God, not clearly. Therefore, he must take the wax out of his ear and put it away or else he will be deaf to the Word of God.
4. He must put aside all that remains of naughtiness, wickedness, and evil. The idea is this: even after putting aside all filthiness, there will still be some naughtiness or wickedness that will show up within us. Therefore, we must be alert to these uprisings and put them off and lay them aside as well. We must be completely clean and pure from all dirt and naughtiness in order to hear the Word of God.

5. We must receive the Word of God with meekness. We must be as a child before God our Father, that is, sit before Him meekly just as a child does his father. The idea is that we must be humble, gentle, quite, and attentive in listening to the Word of God. We must sit and listen with an open heart ready to hear exactly what our Father says.

The person who sits before God like this discovers a most wonderful thing. Note the word “engrafted” (emphuton). It means to implant; to be born within. When a person listens and hears the Word of God, it is planted within his heart and life. What God says is actually born within his heart, and the man hears exactly what God says. The Word of God is born within his heart and life and the person’s soul is saved. He conquers and triumphs over all temptation, including the terrible temptation of rejecting God and doing his own thing and living like he wants. He is saved to live eternally with God. This is the first preparation that a person must make to withstand temptation: he must be quick to hear the Word of God.

“But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty” (Mt.13:23).

“And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus’ feet, and heard his word” (Lk.10:39).

“Then they that gladly received his word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls” (Acts 2:41).

“These were more noble than these in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the Word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but, as it is in truth, the Word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear” (Mt.13:16).

“But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience” (Lk.8:15).

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath” (Jas.1:19).

“The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wise” (Pr.15:31).

“The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the ear of the wise seeketh knowledge” (Pr.18:15).

“Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God, and be more ready to hear, than to give the sacrifice of fools: for they consider not that they do evil” (Eccl.5:1).

2 (1:22-25) Word of God—Works—Faithfulness: preparation two—do the Word of God; do not be a hearer only. Contrary to what most people think, it is not enough to hear and know the Word of God; we must live and do the Word of God. Note three points.

1. The person who only hears and knows the Word deceives himself. If a person thinks that he can hear and learn the Word of God and then go out and live like he wants, he deceives himself.

Thought 1. There are many who sit under the Word of God week after week, and they learn and know as much of the Word as anyone. They think that their listening and learning makes them acceptable to God, that it makes them safe and secure. When they slip into sin, they feel that they can ask God for forgiveness and that He will forgive them. They just feel that God would never reject them. But note something, the most critical fact: God does not accept us because we hear and know the Word nor because we confess our sins. Each of these are necessary and very important, but they are not enough.

⇒ God accepts us because we confess and repent. Repentance means that we turn away from our sins and turn to God. God accepts us because we turn to Him and live for Him. When we believe God—really believe Him—then it is that we trust and follow Him, doing exactly what He says.

2. The person who only hears and knows the Word soon forgets what he has heard. If a person does not practice what he learns, it soon fades from memory. It is just forgotten, and it never becomes a part of the person’s life. He is like the person who looks in a mirror to see if he needs to do anything to his appearance, then walks away and thinks of something else and forgets the pimple or rustled hair that needed to be cared for.

Thought 1. How much like what happens so often. We hear the Word and are convicted of some defect, some shortcoming, some failure that we need to clean up. But as soon as we walk out from under the Word, we are distracted by the world and its affairs and we soon forget to do what the Word of God told us to do.

3. The person who hears and does the Word of God is blessed. Note that the Word of God is called the perfect law of liberty. This means that the Word of God will set a person free from the bondages of sin and death. The Word of God will free a person from all the temptations of this life and give him the full and victorious life for which his soul longs—a life that will continue on and on eternally with God.

A person who does and lives the Word of God will find that he is freed from all that enslaves his soul upon earth. He will discover love, joy, and peace—a soul that just soars with a sense of...

- freedom and liberty
- purpose and meaning
- security and safety
- victory over temptation
- joy and rejoicing
- assurance and confidence
- life over death
- deliverance from sin

The Word of God is the law of liberty, the law that sets a man free to know and fellowship with God forever and ever. But note a critical point: we must continue in the Word of God. We must continue to live just like it says. If we do, then we shall be blessed, made abundantly and eternally happy.

“For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also” (Mt.7:21).

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say? Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my sayings, and doeth them, I will show you to whom he is like: he is like a man which built an house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it: for it was founded upon a rock. But he that heareth, and doeth not, is like a man that without a foundation built an house upon the earth; against which the stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell; and the ruin of that house was great” (Lk.6:46-49).

“If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them” (Jn.13:17).

“For not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified” (Ro.2:13).

“But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves” (Jas.1:22).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

3 (1:26) Tongue—Temptation: preparation three—bridle and control the tongue. If a person thinks that he is religious, that is, acceptable to God, and he does not bridle his tongue, he deceives himself. No matter what he thinks or professes, his religion is empty. And note: the word religious (threskos) and religion (threskeia) describes a person who is very religious, who gives great attention to religion (RVG Tasker. The General Epistle of James. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.54). The person is actively religious, very faithful in his religious worship and service. But he is loose with his tongue...

- interrupting and dominating the conversation
- being easily provoked and lashing out at others
- gossiping and telling tales
- criticizing and murmuring
- judging and condemning others
- using slang and cursing
- engaging in suggestive and off-colored talk
- talking about and running down others

As stated, no matter what a person thinks—no matter how religious he is—if he does not bridle his tongue, he deceives himself. His religion is empty. He does not please God and is thereby unacceptable to God. For a person to withstand and to conquer temptation, he must bridle his tongue. This is the third preparation necessary to conquer temptations.

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work, to speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:1-2).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile” (Ps.34:13).

“He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction” (Pr.13:3).

“Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles” (Pr.21:23).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man’s religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

4 (1:27) Religion—Believer: preparation four—practice pure religion, visit the needy, and keep yourselves unspotted from the world. Two things are said to be necessary in this preparation.

1. A person must visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction. This certainly would apply to visiting all who have need within a community, those who are...

- | | | |
|------------|----------------------------|-------------|
| • orphaned | • newcomers | • bedridden |
| • widowed | • lost or unsaved | • lonely |
| • shut-in | • fatherless or motherless | • grieved |

Whatever the need, God expects us to visit them. He expects us to reach all within our community, and the task is not really all that difficult, not in a country where a church is in practically every community. Just think of a church within a community being surrounded by rows of houses. The minister and the members can easily visit every home by simply setting up several visitation hours and simply going house to house. As they go all they have to do is share that they are visiting for Christ and the church to see if they can be of any help to the family. Letting the community know that one really cares will cause many to call upon the believers of the church when the hour of crisis strikes, and it will strike, for it strikes us all. In addition to this, every church should, of course, have a corps of genuine believers who can share Christ with the lost. Now note:

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit....” (v.27).

“And when ye come into an house, salute it. And if the house be worthy, let your peace come upon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace return to you” (Mt.10:12-14).

“And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart. And whosoever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them” (Lk.9:4-5).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me” (Mt.25:34-36).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord” (Jas.5:14).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

2. A person must keep himself unspotted from the world. Pure religion does not become corrupted with false beliefs or with false religion. It holds to the purity of the gospel and to the Word of God. Pure religion does not focus upon form and ritual and ceremony. It focuses upon the power of God to change lives eternally and it reaches out to change people’s lives by visiting them.

Pure religion does not become morally corrupt; it does not become entangled with the affairs and pleasures of this world. True religion stirs people to separate themselves from the things of this world that arouse their fleshly desires and cravings. True believers of true religion keep themselves unspotted from the lust of the eyes, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life—all of this world. This is a necessary preparation if a person is to conquer the temptations and sins of this world.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

“And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation” (Acts 2:40).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“And they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion of this world passeth away” (1 Cor.7:31).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs to this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:4).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

“Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord” (Is.52:11).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

CHAPTER 2

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 2:1-26

A. Temptation 1: Showing Partiality and Favoritism, 2:1-13

(2:1-13) Introduction: this passage begins a new section in James, a discussion of various temptations and trials that are common to all believers. There are certain temptations and trials that are constantly confronting us. One of the strongest is that of showing partiality or favoritism, of discriminating against people.

1. The charge against showing partiality (v.1).
2. The picture of partiality: two unbelieving church visitors (v.2-3).
3. The wrong of partiality (v.4-7).
4. The warning against partiality (v.8-11).
5. The motivations against partiality (v.12-13).

1 (2:1) Partiality—Favoritism: the charge against showing partiality. What does it mean to show partiality? It means to favor some people over others or to pay special attention to a person because of his wealth, social standing, position, authority, popularity, looks, or influence. Note that this charge is given to believers...

- to brothers
- to those who have faith in our Lord Jesus Christ who is the Lord of glory

Of all people upon earth, the very people who should not show partiality are believers. The reason is clearly stated in verse one.

1. Everyone who is in the church is a brother—everyone stands on an equal footing before the Lord Jesus Christ. Wealth, status, social standing, position, appearance—nothing matters except all men coming to the Lord Jesus Christ and worshipping Him.

2. Everyone who has faith in our Lord Jesus Christ bows before Him as Lord. This means that the person bows before Christ as a servant or slave. We all come to Him on an equal footing; no one is higher or more acceptable than anyone else. All are His servants or slaves. Note exactly who Jesus Christ is: He is the Lord of glory.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the Lord who rules and reigns in glory, in the majesty and perfection, dominion and power of God Himself. His glory is so majestic that the appearance of man fades into total oblivion—just utter nothingness—before Him. Therefore, any person who stands before Him is not thinking of his own worth and preference, but of the Lord's glory. The person who believes and worships the Lord of glory, no matter his status, realizes that he is as all men, as nothing. Therefore, he does not elevate himself nor anyone else above other people, no matter how poor and lowly they may be.

⇒ Jesus Christ is the Lord who left the glory of heaven and came to this corruptible world to save all men. He humbled Himself—laid aside the highest position of exaltation and the supreme honor of God Himself. He laid aside all the glory, majesty, brilliance, and splendor of heaven itself and came in utter poverty and humiliation to this earth in order to save us. If the Lord of glory loved us that much, then all who believe and follow Him must humble themselves and love the poor and lowly of this earth just as much. All believers must do just what the Lord of glory did: humble themselves and reach out to bring all men to the Lord Jesus Christ so that they might be saved—reach out to the poor and lowly as well as to the rich and high.

The charge is clear: believers—those who truly believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory—are not to show partiality or favoritism. It is strictly forbidden.

“Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment; thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honour the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbour” (Lev.19:15).

“He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept persons” (Job 13:10).

“I charge thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality” (1 Tim.5:21).

“Are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?” (Jas.2:4).

“These things also belong to the wise. It is not good to have respect of persons in judgment” (Pr.24:23).

2 (2:2-3) Partiality—Favoritism: the picture of partiality is clearly painted. There must be no misunderstanding about what is meant by partiality. Two unbelievers visit the church. One man is sharply dressed, so much so that it is immediately noticed that he is somewhat wealthy. He has on the finest of clothes and an expensive gold ring. The other man is shabbily dressed, and it is immediately noticed that he is very poor. The Greek word for the kind of clothing he is wearing means filthy and dirty. The man is so poor that he is actually a dirty, smelly beggar or derelict from off the streets.

The point is this: What happens when these two men visit the church? The picture painted by Scripture is that of showing partiality to the rich man. The rich man is escorted to a good seat. But the poor man is told to stand or be seated over there away from everyone else. He is treated as being less important than the rest of us. He is treated no better than a servant who sits at the footstool of our feet.

Thought 1. Note that the two men represent the extreme ends of wealth and poverty. If partiality is not to be shown in this case, then it is never to be shown. There are to be absolutely no distinctions within the church, no distinctions of social class, standing, position, wealth, prestige, or recognition.

Thought 2. How often has a poor person visited a church and was not welcomed with open arms? How many of us...

- have felt uncomfortable and uneasy around him?
- have ignored, neglected, and shunned him?
- have failed to greet and welcome him?

This is not of Christ. It is wrong.

“Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy” (Ps.82:3).

3 (2:4-7) Partiality—Favoritism: there are five things wrong with showing partiality and favoritism.

1. Showing partiality sets one up as the judge of men (v.4). It makes one as God; it says who can worship God and who cannot, who is acceptable to God and who is not. Only God Himself can determine who He will accept and not accept.

“Judge not, that ye be not judged” (Mt.7:1).

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth; yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (Jas.4:12).

2. Showing partiality reveals evil thoughts (v.4). The person who shows partiality focuses upon mundane and changeable things, things such as clothes, cars, houses, and all the other outward things that change, waste away, rot, and decay ever so rapidly. Such thoughts are corrupt because they focus upon corruptible things and neglect the person entirely. It says that material things such as clothes and cars are more important than the person himself. This, of course, is foolishness. Yet it is exactly how most people behave, for most people in the world show partiality.

Believers are never to show partiality, not to a single soul. We are to look at the person himself. What matters is his life, his health and soul, his body and spirit. What matters is that he be saved and come to know the love, joy, and peace that only Christ can bring him. Then and only then can he become a dynamic personality who can serve God and man to his fullest ability. Then and only then can he fulfill his purpose for being on earth and make the fullest possible contribution to society and Christ. But the only way he can do this is for believers to stop discriminating against him and begin to love him and win him to Christ.

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions” (Mt.19:21-22).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

3. Showing partiality discriminates against the poor and lowly, a people who are loved by God (v.5). This verse is not saying that God does not love and care for the rich and high. He does, but He also cares and loves the poor and lowly. And history shows that God has chosen the poor and lowly to be rich in faith and to inherit the kingdom. In fact, they have been the very ones who have found so much hope in the gospel and have turned to it in great numbers. Therefore, they are not to be discriminated against. Believers are not to shun them nor shut them out of the church.

“For the oppression of the poor, for the sighing of the needy, now will I arise, saith the LORD; I will set him in safety from him that puffeth at him” (Ps.12:5).

“Ye have shamed the counsel of the poor, because the LORD is his refuge” (Ps.14:6).

“I know that the LORD will maintain the cause of the afflicted, and the right of the poor” (Ps.140:12).

“For thou hast been a strength to the poor, a strength to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, an shadow from the heat, when the blast of the terrible ones is as a storm against the wall” (Is.25:4).

4. Showing partiality shows a disgraceful attitude (v.6^a). It dishonors, humiliates, shames, disgraces, and insults the poor and lowly person. Just think of the hurt and pain within the heart of the person who is publicly discriminated against—the pain and hurt when he sees us shun, bypass, ignore, and withdraw from him. No believer is to ever make a person feel unwelcomed or of little value and worth.

Thought 1. Believers are to have open hearts and arms, welcoming everyone into their lives, homes, and churches. Believers—all believers—are to live as Christ lived: to love and care for all and to reach out for all.

“Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:3).

“The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them” (Mt.11:5).

“The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised” (Lk.4:18).

“But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?” (Jas.2:6).

“The poor is hated even of his own neighbor: but the rich hath many friends” (Pr.14:20).

“All the brethren of the poor do hate him: how much more do his friends go far from him? He pursueth them with words, yet they are wanting to him” (Pr.19:7).

“Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless the poor man’s wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard” (Eccl.9:16).

5. Showing partiality shows foolish behavior (v.6^b-7). Two things are said about the rich that need to be heeded.

⇒ The rich and high usually oppress the poor and they readily grab what they can, using the very laws of the land to do it. The idea is that they use the law unjustly in order to protect and increase their wealth and power.

⇒ The rich and high usually blaspheme the name of Christ. They blaspheme His name by denying, mocking, ridiculing, persecuting, neglecting, ignoring, and rejecting Him as the Savior of the world.

Simply stated, the rich and high usually feel self-sufficient. There is a reason: they have everything they need upon earth—food, clothing, shelter, pleasure, possessions, position, recognition, and varying degrees of authority. Therefore, they think little about needing anything. They forget two things:

⇒ that everything they have fades away ever so quickly, including their health, body, and life; that they are subject to accident, disease, and death and that it is at most just around the corner.

⇒ that they must face whatever lies right beyond this world and life: God Himself.

The point is this: Why would the church and its believers show partiality to such people over the poor of the earth? There is no question, a list of sins could be drawn up and discussed about the poor as well. But why show partiality to the rich who are the very ones who oppress the needy of the world by their banking and hoarding and often by their finagling and scheming, ignoring and neglecting. The church and its believers are not to discriminate and show partiality and favoritism to anyone.

“If there be among you a poor man of one of thy brethren within any of thy gates in thy land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not harden thine heart, nor shut thine hand from thy poor brother” (Dt.15:7).

“The LORD is in his holy temple, the LORD’S throne is in heaven: his eyes behold, his eyelids try, the children of men” (Ps.11:4).

“Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the LORD will deliver him in time of trouble” (Ps.41:1).

“For he shall stand at the right hand of the poor, to save him from those that condemn his soul” (Ps.109:31).

“He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the LORD; and that which he hath given will he pay him again” (Pr.19:17).

4 (2:8-11) Partiality—Favoritism—Love: the warning against partiality is strong. There are three warnings.

1. Showing partiality is sin; it violates the royal law of love (v.8-9). The great law of God is the law of love:

“Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Lev.19:18; cp. Lk.10:29-37).

Note how important this law is: it is said to be the great “royal law according to the Scripture.” It is royal for at least three reasons.

a. It is the royal law of God’s kingdom. It was given by God Himself and reinforced by His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, when He came to earth.

“And the second is like unto it. Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39; cp. Lk.10:25-27).

b. It is the great law that embraces or includes all other laws. That is, if a person loves God and loves his neighbor as himself, he will automatically be obeying all the other laws.

“And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:31).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal. Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely. Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

c. It is the very commandment that leads to eternal life.

“And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself. And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live” (Lk.10:27-28).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another. God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us” (1 Jn.4:7-12).

“And we have known and believed the love that God to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

The point is this: believers are to love people, not show partiality, discriminating against some. Showing partiality is sin and it makes us a transgressor of the law.

2. Showing partiality makes a person guilty of the whole law of God (v.10). How is this possible? How can a person be guilty of all the law if he breaks only one law? Men follow God or else they do not follow God. There is no such thing as subtracting the laws that one does not like and keeping the laws that one does like. Every law has been given by God. They all form a whole pattern, a complete style of life. They are all necessary to point one in the right direction and toward the right goal.

Thus, to offend in one point or to slip from one law makes one short of the goal. One side-steps from the right direction. One goes astray from the whole law of God and one becomes guilty of the whole law.

Simply stated, if a person breaks one law, he has violated the law of God, the whole package of God’s law. Although he broke only one law, he is still guilty; he is still a transgressor. He has still broken God’s law. He is no less guilty than if he had broken every law. He stands as a transgressor before God and he must be forgiven by God just as much as any other transgressor.

This is significant for us to notice and heed, for it means...

- that we cannot pick and choose what laws we will keep and what laws we will violate.
- that we cannot build up a merit system with God by keeping most of the laws and be allowed to break a few of the laws.
- that we cannot become more acceptable to God because we keep most of the laws and break only a few.
- that we are more righteous than other people because we keep more laws than they do and break fewer of what men call the more meaningful laws.

The point is this: showing partiality makes a person a terrible law-breaker, the most serious offender imaginable.

- ⇒ We are guilty of breaking the great royal law of God, the law of love, the very basic law of God’s kingdom.
- ⇒ We are guilty of breaking all the laws of God. We stand as guilty as the the most base transgressor of God’s holy law, and we are just as liable and subject to punishment as any other transgressor.

“He that despiseth his neighbor sinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he” (Pr.14:21).

“The thought of foolishness is sin: and the scorner is an abomination to men” (Pr.24:9).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law” (1 Jn.3:4).

“All unrighteousness is sin” (1 Jn.5:17).

3. Showing partiality is just as serious a sin as adultery and killing (v.11). This is just giving an example of what has been said. But note: the verse may also be saying that partiality is equal to murder. Partiality is a sin that selects and favors one person over another. It ignores and neglects a person. It casts one into oblivion, wipes one out; treats one as though he is nothing, absent, or non-existent. Thus, it is comparable to murder. It is the same root, the same cause, the same selfishness, the same lust, the same sin as killing.

This stresses the seriousness of showing partiality. Scripture is clear in its warning: the church and believers are not to show partiality or favoritism to anyone. We are to love all people no matter their social standing or wealth.

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

5 (2:12-13) Partiality—Favoritism: the motivations against showing partiality. There are two things that should stir us to love and care for all people, showing no favoritism whatsoever.

1. We shall face the judgment of God (v.12). Therefore, we should speak and act like people who will stand before God and give account for what we have done.

⇒ We should speak love and kindness to all people.

⇒ We should do or show love and kindness to all people.

Who a person is—his social standing and wealth, clothing and appearance—are to have no effect upon us whatsoever. We are to receive people, actually reach out to them through our speech and behavior, no matter who they are. God is going to judge us on the basis of how we have loved and reached out to people, regardless of who they are.

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power; when he shall come to be glorified in his saints, and to be admired in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day” (2 Th.1:7-10).

“And a curse, if ye will not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but turn aside out of the way which I command you this day” (Dt.11:28).

“But if ye will obey the voice of the Lord, but rebel against the commandment of the Lord; then shall the hand of the Lord be against you, as it was against the fathers” (1 Sam.12:15).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6).

“In flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:8).

“For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

2. We shall receive a reciprocal reward for our behavior. God is going to treat us exactly as we have treated others. If we have shown mercy, then He will show mercy to us; if we have not shown mercy, then He will not show mercy to us. And note: there is only one thing that will rejoice victoriously over judgment and that is mercy. The judgment of God is going to swoop down and consume a person who has not shown mercy. Our only hope against the burning fire of God's judgment is mercy. Therefore, we must be merciful in order to escape the terrible judgment of God.

“Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy” (Mt.5:7).

“For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses” (Mt.6:14-15).

“Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again” (Mt.7:1-2).

“So likewise shall my heavenly Father do also unto you, if ye from your hearts forgive not every one his brother their trespasses” (Mt.18:35).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 2:1-26

B. Temptation 2: Professing Faith Without Works, 2:14-26

(2:14-26) Introduction: the greatest tragedy of the church today is people who profess Christ and yet do not live for Christ. Millions profess Christ and they are baptized, confirmed, and made members of the church, but they do not follow nor live for Christ. They do not live pure and righteous lives, nor do they give all they are and have to reach the lost and needy of the world. Are they saved? Do they have a genuine faith? This is the discussion of this passage. This is the second temptation that is common to all Christian believers: the temptation to profess faith without works.

1. Two questions (v.14).
2. The destitute Christian believer (v.15-17).
3. The two men of arrogance (v.18).
4. The orthodox religionist (v.19-20).
5. The man who proved his faith by works: Abraham (v.21-24).
6. The woman who proved her faith by works: Rahab (v.25-26).

1 (2:14) Faith, Dead—Works: there are two questions that every believer needs to ask himself.

- ⇒ Can a man have faith and not do good works?
- ⇒ Can faith without good works save a man?

Every thinking person who is honest knows that the answer to these two questions is an emphatic, “No!” A person who really believes something does something; he acts. Yet this is the curse of Christianity and of the church. Millions profess faith in Christ and belong to the church, yet they do not live for Christ. They live for the world and self. They have been baptized and confirmed, joined the church and attend worship services, but they do what they want when they want. They just go on and live like everyone else in the world. The only difference between their lives and unbelievers is that they sometimes get up on Sunday mornings and attend church. There is little if any difference between their behavior and speech during the week.

James asks a piercing question: “What profit is it if a man says he has faith, and he does not do good works? Can his faith save him?” Note two significant facts.

1. The man says he has faith. But it is only what he says; he does nothing to show that he really believes in Christ. He does not live for Christ; he does not live righteously and godly in this present world, looking for the glorious appearing of the great God and our Savior, Jesus Christ. His faith is only a faith of speech, not of behavior and life. His faith is only a faith of profession, not of possession. His faith is only a false profession. Note verse 17 and you will see what Scripture calls his faith: a dead faith.

2. Note that it is called a dead faith three times in this passage (Jas.2:17, 20, 26). The faith of a false profession is...
- a dead faith (Jas.2:17, 20, 26).
 - an unprofitable faith (Jas.2:14).
 - a vain, empty faith (1 Cor.15:2).
 - a hollow faith (A.T. Robertson. Studies in the Epistle of James, p.94).
 - a wordy faith (RVG Tasker. The General Epistle of James. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.63).
 - a spurious faith.
 - a Christless faith.

The very best description is probably that of Scripture: it is a dead faith. It is just a vain, empty faith, an unprofitable faith—a faith that profits absolutely nothing. It is not enough to claim that we have faith and not live for Christ. We must believe Christ—really believe—that He is the Savior and Lord of life. If we really believe, we will do what Christ says. We will live for Christ and do the works that please Christ. We will live a Christ-centered life, not a Christless life. Five examples are given to illustrate the point.

2 (2:15-17) Faith, Dead—Works: there is the example of a destitute Christian believer. Note how the example really rebukes us, rebukes most believers and most churches throughout the world. And note, the example is dealing with believers, with brothers and sisters in the Lord.

A brother or sister faces some need or problem that makes him or her destitute. They are unable to properly dress themselves, to stay warm, and to secure enough daily food. We see them and share words of comfort with them. We speak peace and sometimes give a few items to help them in their need as they seek to solve their problem for warmth and food.

Now note: most believers and churches go this far. When a brother or sister has need, we visit, comfort, and wish them well. But this is not enough. What good is it if we do not give them the things they need?

The point is this: faith, if it does not do good works, is dead. True faith loves and cares and is compassionate and reaches out to help the needy. A person can talk about believing in Jesus Christ until he repeatedly, but if he is not reaching out and helping the destitute of the world just like Jesus did, his faith is dead—utterly meaningless. No person really believes in Jesus Christ unless he is following Jesus Christ and doing the works of love and righteousness which Christ did. True faith is an operative faith, a faith that really works. Therefore, if we really believe in Christ, we will follow Christ: we will take all that we are and have beyond our own needs and give it to meet the needs of destitute brothers and sisters throughout the world.

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions” (Mt.19:21-22).

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was an hungred, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not. Then shall they also answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not minister unto thee? Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me. And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:41-46).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“And the lord said unto the servant, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled” (Lk.14:23).

“If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:26-27).

“Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: this woman was full of good works and almsdeeds which she did” (Acts 9:36).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give and meet needs]” (1 Tim.6:17-18).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

3 (2:18) Faith, Dead—Works: there is the example of two men of arrogance. James is painting the picture of two men, but only one man speaks and what he says is only one sentence. The man says to another imaginary man: “You have faith and I have works.” The picture is that of two arrogant men.

⇒ The imaginary man has faith. He believes that he is saved by faith—that God accepts him because he believes in Jesus Christ even if he fails to live for Christ. Once he has believed in Christ—professed and been baptized and joined the church—God has accepted him and will take him to heaven when he dies.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

⇒ The imaginary speaker claims to have works—that God accepts him because he does good works and lives as good a life as he can. He believes that the important thing to God is to be religious and do all the good that a person can. If a person does this, God will never reject him; God will accept him no matter who he is and no matter what religion he follows.

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast our devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works?” (Mt.7:22).

Note that James pulls no punches: it is not a matter of faith or works. To say and profess faith alone will not save a person, and to follow works to become acceptable to God will not save a person. James handles both men of arrogance with one clear statement: “Show me your faith without your works, and I will show you my faith by my works.”

A person who truly believes in Christ works for Christ. He follows and lives for Christ. A person who only professes Christ lives for himself, going about doing what he wants when he wants. He does not live a life of separation from the world, a life of righteousness and purity, nor does he give all he has to meet the desperate needs of this world. He professes Christ, but lives for the pleasure and things of this day and time. He knows nothing of the life of Christ, of the sacrificial giving and living that Christ lived and demands.

Note: one might prefer to look at this verse as a true believer pleading with a man of false faith. The believer says:

⇒ “You profess to have faith, but where is the proof? True faith must have proof; it must be backed up; you must show and demonstrate that you believe. I have works to back up what I profess. Show me your faith without works, and I will show you my faith by my works. Your faith is not seen; all I have is your word. There is no change in your life. But you can see my faith by my works.”

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise” (Lk.10:37).

“But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me” (Jn.5:36).

“Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:18).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast our devils: and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:21-23).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

4 (2:19-20) Faith, Dead—Works—Evil Spirits: there is the example of the orthodox religionists. A true man of religion believes in one God: he is not an atheist nor an agnostic. He is a believer, and note: his belief in God is said to be a good thing. The man does well to believe in God. But believing in God is not enough. There is a dead belief and a living belief, a belief that does not lead to salvation and a belief that does lead to salvation.

⇒ Consider the demons or evil spirits. They believe in God; they even know that God exists. They even believe in the deity of Christ. On one occasion they cried out to Jesus, “What have we to do with thee, Jesus, thou Son of God?” (Mt.8:29). But the demons are not saved. Their belief has not affected their lives and behavior at all.

Therefore, know this, know exactly what verse 20 says: “Know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead.” Do not be vain [empty, useless, foolish], true faith is a living faith, a faith that works, a faith that stirs a person to live for Christ—to live a righteous and pure life and to give all he is and has to reach a lost and desperate world for Christ.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour

Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:11-15).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised;) and let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:23-24).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:17-18).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul; having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:11-12).

5 (2:21-24) Faith, Dead—Works—Abraham: there is the example of Abraham who proved his faith by his works. Note exactly what verse 21 says:

“Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar?” (v.21).

This is a verse that causes great problems for some people, for it seems to say that when Abraham offered up Isaac in obedience to God’s instruction, he was justified. That is, Abraham was justified by works. Is a man justified by works? Is that what is meant? No! What James is saying is that Abraham proved that he was justified; he proved that he was justified by what he did—by his works. Abraham’s faith was proven to be a true and living faith by his works. How do we know that this is what James really meant? Because James says so. Note what James says:

- ⇒ Abraham’s faith wrought (worked with, cooperated with) his works (v.22). That is, his faith was acted out and proven by his works.
- ⇒ By his works Abraham’s faith was made perfect (eteleiothe), that is, finished, completed, carried to the end (v.22). Abraham’s faith was proven, shown to be a complete faith. A true and living faith works: it completes and finishes its course. If a faith does not work or act or complete or finish its course, it is a dead faith—an incomplete, unfinished, and unproven faith.
- ⇒ Abraham’s faith fulfilled Scripture. What Scripture? The Scripture that said “Abraham believed God; and it was imputed unto him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6). These words were declared some thirty years before Abraham ever offered up Isaac. God pronounced that Abraham was justified and saved thirty years before this event referred to by James. James plainly declares that when Abraham offered up Isaac he was proving his faith. In fact, there is not a chance that Abraham would have ever offered up Isaac unless he already believed in God. The reason Abraham offered up Isaac was because he did believe God. He believed; herefore, he did what God said. This is true with any person. If a person believes Christ, he does what Christ says; he follows Christ. If a person does not believe Christ, he does not do what Christ says. He goes about doing his own thing; he does not follow Christ.

Note that Abraham was called “the Friend of God.” This says that Abraham had an intimate relationship with God; he believed God and walked in communion and fellowship with God, following and living for God. The point is clear:

“You see then how that by works a man [proves that he] is justified, and not by faith only” (v.24).

Faith only is dead faith, an inactive and worthless faith. True faith is a living and active faith—a faith that proves itself by living for Christ and working for Christ.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father” (1 Th.1:3).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace [saving faith], whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“Serve the LORD with fear [trust, reverence], and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

“And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear [trust, reverence] the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

6 (2:25-26) Faith, Dead—Works—Rahab: there is the example of Rahab, the converted harlot who proved her faith by works. Why mention Rahab and not end the discussion with Abraham? The point has already been clearly shown in Abraham: a living faith proves itself in works. Why then discuss Rahab the harlot? Because she was a harlot, the very lowest of society. Even the lowest person who claims to believe in God must do good works. They must clean up their lives and follow God. Rahab did. When the spies for Israel were being hunted down by the Jericho soldiers, she hid them. Why would she betray her country and protect the Israelite spies? Because she believed in God and His promises. She said to the spies:

“I know that the Lord hath given you the land [of promise]...for the Lord your God, he is God in heaven above, and in earth beneath” (Josh.2:9, 11).

She believed in God, therefore, she acted. She put her faith to work. The conclusion is descriptive:

“For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also” (v.26).

A body without the spirit or breath is dead. It does not move, act, live, or work. It is empty, totally useless and worthless. It is a dead body. So it is with faith: faith without works is dead. It does not move, act, live, or work. Faith without works is empty, totally useless and worthless. It does not live for Christ, does not follow Him in righteousness or purity nor work for Him in reaching people and meeting the needs of a destitute world.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give and meet needs]” (1 Tim.6:17-18).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

DIVISION III

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL, BUT ESPECIALLY TEACHERS, 3:1-18

A. Temptation 1: Misusing the Tongue, 3:1-12

(3:1-12) Tongue—Temptation—Teachers: this chapter begins a new discussion—the temptations and trials common to all, but especially to teachers. Teachers are pointed out as being especially subject...

- to the sins of the tongue (v.1-12, esp. 1).
- to misunderstanding true wisdom (v.13-18, esp. v.13).

Teachers are being specially addressed. Note verse 1 where the word teacher (didaskaloi) is actually used, and verse 2 where James, who is a teacher, says we are all guilty of sin, especially the sin of the tongue, and verse 13-18 where the wise man (teacher) of knowledge who is within the church is addressed.

What is the first temptation common to us all, but especially to teachers? That of misusing the tongue.

1. Not many should become teachers, for teachers shall face a stricter judgment (v.1).
2. The tongue stumbles and sins often (v.2).
3. The tongue is a little member, boasting great things (v.3-5).
4. The tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity (v.5-6).
5. The tongue is a restless evil (v.7-12).

1 (3:1) Teachers: not many believers should become teachers because teachers shall face a stricter judgment from God. A teacher is always telling others how to live and correcting them when they come short. In fact, a teacher is responsible for the lives and spiritual growth of those under him. God holds him responsible. Therefore, if the teacher fails to live what he teaches, he shall bear a greater judgment and condemnation. The teacher must live what he preaches and teaches. Note three facts.

1. This verse stresses a pointed truth: a person should commit his life to teach only if he cannot keep from teaching. Teaching is a high calling, one of the greatest of callings. It is ranked second only to the apostles and the prophets (Acts 13:1; 1 Cor.12:28; Eph.4:11). Therefore, it has a large responsibility and is to receive the greater condemnation by God.
2. However, a person is not to fear this responsibility and neglect the gift of teaching. If he is called and gifted to teach, then he must teach. The great responsibility and potential condemnation enhances its great dignity.
3. A teacher's main tool for work is speech or the tongue. Therefore, it is the tongue and its use that will have a great bearing upon the teacher's condemnation. The tongue is where the first great temptation attacks teachers, the temptation to misuse the tongue. There are four things about the tongue that believers must know, but especially teachers.

2 (3:2) Tongue—Teachers: the tongue stumbles and sins often, stumbles in word after word. Note: “we all offend” (stumble, fall, sin). This includes teachers as well as other believers. No believer—no matter how great a teacher he is or who he is—is free from stumbling and falling. In fact, note what the verse says: “In many things” we all stumble. We do not just occasionally fall and sin; we are always coming up short before God. And this includes all teachers or preachers as well as all other believers. What is the proof of this? When some believers live such pure and righteous lives and walk so faithfully among us, how can Scripture say that they are always offending and stumbling? Look at the tongue; the tongue shows us. Is our tongue always showing that we are...

- patient and longsuffering
- kind
- rejoicing in the truth
- bearing all things
- believing God in all things
- hoping in God in all things
- enduring all things for God
- not bragging
- not puffed up
- not jealous
- not rude
- not provoked
- not thinking any evil thoughts or any evil thing

Only one thing can be said: how short we are of the glory of God! In no uncertain terms, the tongue shows us that we are always stumbling and coming short. This is not to excuse us nor to say that we are not to control the tongue. We are held accountable by God for every word we speak. Therefore, we must learn to control our tongues. Note why:

- ⇒ The tongue is the way to becoming a perfect (teleios) or mature and fully developed person. A person’s maturity can be measured by the control of his tongue.
- ⇒ The tongue is the way by which we can learn to control the whole body with all its appetites and passions. If a person will learn to control his tongue, he can learn to control any passion or appetite of the body.

Thought 1. The tongue speaks what is in the heart or mind, and it is the tongue that shall either justify or condemn us before God. This is exactly what Jesus said:

“O generation of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things; and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things. But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment. For by thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned” (Mt.12:34-37).

The point is shocking; nevertheless the fact is a warning issued by the Lord Jesus Christ. We must always remember that the believer’s warfare is spiritual and mental:

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

3 (3:3-5) Tongue: the tongue is a little member that boasts great things. Two illustrations are given.

- ⇒ Consider the bit or bridle that is put in the mouth of a horse to guide and turn the horses’s body. The bit and bridle are ever so small.
- ⇒ Consider the small rudder or helm that guides a ship. It even controls the ship through the winds of a fierce storm. Note how small it is.

So it is with the tongue. It is only a little member of the body, but its destructive power is great. It can boast great things. The idea is that of making statements that stress..

- one’s ability
- one’s talents
- one’s self-sufficiency
- one’s triumphs
- one’s possessions
- one’s position
- one’s spirituality
- one’s accomplishments

A person can boast about anything and he can boast in a quiet, unassuming way or boast by talking big. But no matter how the boasting is done, it is destructive: it either lowers the image of a person in the eyes of others because of his boasting or makes the listener feel inferior or less of a person than the boaster. Boasting is nothing more than vain or empty talk, but its destructive force must never be underestimated.

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the Lord abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

4 (3:5-6) Tongue: the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity. The word “matter” (hulen) means wood or a forest, hence the matter or raw material of a thing (Marvin Vincent. Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.1. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1969, p.747f). Therefore, the meaning is that a great forest is set on fire by only a little spark of fire. So it is with the tongue. The tongue is a fire that can set a whole forest of lives and relationships on fire, consuming and destroying all that lies in its path. It is a world of iniquity; it can cause what seems to be a world of sin and destruction when it is set ablaze. Just think about the great and terrible damage that has been done by the fire of words, rumors, talebearing, and sharp or cutting remarks. Think about the...

- marriages destroyed
- children disturbed
- friendships damaged
- reputations ruined
- wars fought
- fights aroused
- injuries caused
- bodies maimed
- promotions denied

The list could go on and on, but the point is well made. The tongue can be a little fire that sets ablaze and consumes a whole forest of people and relationships.

Note what the fire of the tongue does. It defiles the whole body and sets on fire the whole course of a man’s nature or life. The phrase “the course of nature” (ton trochon geneleos) is a descriptive phrase, very picturesque. In the Greek it means the wheel of nature, the wheel of life, the unending span of life stretching from birth to death (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.43). Therefore, the tongue can do just what this verse says: pollute and dirty a man’s whole body and life, the whole wheel of his life. How is this possible? Just think for a moment how all the evil of the world finds expression in our words...

- words that lead to immorality
- words that lead to wickedness
- words that are malicious
- words that are envious
- words that express lust
- words that curse and blaspheme
- words that show covetousness
- words that lead to idolatry
- words that lead to murder
- words that express anger
- words that are divisive

Name the sin, and words are involved either through thoughts of the mind or verbally through the tongue.

Note the source of a fiery tongue: hell. Satan himself is the igniter of a fiery tongue; therefore, any person who sets his tongue ablaze is following the tongue of Satan, of the fire of hell itself. This person demonstrates a hellish, Satanic heart and not the heart of Christ. The fire of hell, Gehenna, is never to be seen in the life of a believer. A believer’s tongue is never to speak forth the fiery flames of hell’s destructive words—words that are ugly, cursing, unclean, angry, divisive, unkind, suggestive, or talebearing.

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work, to speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:1-2).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For I have heard the slander of many: fear was on every side: while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life” (Ps.31:13).

“Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath a high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a slander, is a fool” (Pr.10:18).

“A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered” (Pr.11:9).

“Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and trust ye not in any brother: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbour will walk with slander” (Jer.9:4).

“For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies, your tongue hath muttered perverseness” (Is.59:3).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord: looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled” (Heb.12:14-15).

5 (3:7-12) Tongue: the tongue is a restless evil. Note: the points in the outline above show this clearly.

1. The tongue is the only creature that cannot be tamed (v.7). Men have tamed every kind of creature there is: some beasts, birds, serpents, and some creatures of the sea.
2. The tongue cannot be completely tamed by any man (v.8)—the idea is completely and fully tamed. Note that the verse says that no man can tame the tongue. But God can. Lehman Strauss says:

“While no man can tame the tongue, there is One who can. The Lord is no less able to control a lying, blaspheming, slanderous, gossiping tongue than He is to deliver the drunkard from alcohol, the gambler from the game table, the narcotics addict from drugs, or the lustful person from adultery” (James Your Brother. Neptune, NJ: Loizeaux Brothers, 1956, p.134).

Matthew Henry says:

“No man can tame the tongue without supernatural grace and assistance.’ The apostle does not intend to represent it as a thing impossible, but as a thing extremely difficult, which therefore will require great watchfulness, and pains, and prayer” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.985).

The point is this: no man is able to tame his own tongue, not fully, not completely, not adequately, not enough to please God. Only Christ can control a man’s tongue—control it so that it can be under enough control to please God.

3. The tongue is unruly (akatastaton), that is, restless, uneasy, unstable, always roaming about (v.8-10). And it is full of deadly poison. It can bless God in one breath and curse men in the next, men who are made in the image of God. Note how inconsistent the tongue is: it blesses God and curses men. Imagine! The very same tongue that blesses is the same tongue that curses. How many sit in church on Sunday or at meals blessing God and then turn around on Monday and curse or use foul and off-colored language? It is the same tongue that does both. How restless it is! It is just difficult to hold the tongue still, and when it speaks, it is just as liable to speak some curse word as it is to speak some blessing.

4. The tongue must be controlled by believers. “Brothers—all who are brothers of James—brothers in the Lord—these things must not be.” It is not fitting or right for a believer’s tongue to be untamed.

- ⇒ It is totally inconsistent for a believer’s tongue to be untamed. A believer is just like a fountain, a fountain for God. Does a fountain that is supposed to bring forth sweet water bring forth bitter water?
- ⇒ It is contrary to the nature of believers to have an untamed tongue. A believer is just like a fig tree. Does the fig tree bear olives? Or a vine, figs? No fountain yields both salt and fresh water. No good tongue yields both words of blessing and words of cursing. Only an evil tongue could do this.

“Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile” (Ps.34:13).

“He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction” (Pr.13:3).

“Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles” (Pr.21:23).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridlenth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man’s religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

“And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?” (Lk.6:46).

“Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal? (Ro.2:21).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be” (Jas.3:10).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL, BUT ESPECIALLY TEACHERS, 3:1-18

B. Temptation 2: Misunderstanding and Twisting True Wisdom, 3:13-18

(3:13-18) Introduction: What is wisdom, true wisdom? Misunderstanding wisdom is a temptation that attacks all men, but especially teachers. The leaders of this world—politicians, philosophers, preachers, and teachers—are all guilty of twisting and adjusting wisdom to mean what they want. But what is true wisdom, the kind of wisdom that brings about the good life—the kind of life and world that we should have? Is there a wisdom that can give us a world in which all men can live in love, joy, and peace and have all their needs met, even the need to conquer death and to bring about the fountain of youth? One of the greatest temptations that ever confronts teachers is the temptation to twist true wisdom.

1. The wise, understanding man or teacher (v.13).
2. The false wisdom (v.14-16).
3. The true wisdom (v.17-18).

1 (3:13) Wise Man—Wisdom—Meekness: there is the wise and understanding man. Note the question, “Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you?” The term “wise man” (sophos) refers to the teacher; knowledge refers to the expert, the skilled, the scientific, or knowledgeable person (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.45). By teacher, of course, is meant anyone among us who teaches the Word of God including ministers and teachers. Within our church, who are the wise teachers and leaders? Who among us is knowledgeable or understanding? Let us ask another question. What teacher among us wants to be unwise and ignorant? Are there any? Of course not. The point being stressed is this: “Do you want to be a wise teacher? Do you want to be a teacher of knowledge? Then here is how. You must do some things.”

But note this: some of the teachers to whom James was writing did not understand the meaning of true wisdom and knowledge. Some of them were acting most unwisely and about as empty headed as a person can act, yet they thought they were wise and knowledgeable. Too often the same unwise behavior has characterized ministers and teachers down through the ages, even today. This is the very reason for this passage: to stir ministers and teachers to think about how wise and knowledgeable they really are. A wise and knowledgeable teacher will demonstrate two traits.

Note the words “let him show” (deixato). It is one word in the Greek and it is emphatic, strongly emphasized. This means that the wise teacher will strongly show forth these traits. These two traits will be clearly seen in the wise teacher’s life.

1. There is the trait of good behavior and conduct. This means that the wise teacher does exactly what he should. Wisdom and knowledge have to do with how a person behaves and conducts himself, not only with knowing facts and being a scholar. A person must take the facts and apply them. This is true in any field or profession, but it is especially true in the field of Biblical teaching. A Biblical teacher must live what he teaches and preaches. He must speak words of...

- morality and purity
- righteousness and justice
- help and encouragement
- strength and edification
- ministry and challenge
- salvation and deliverance
- hope and life

But as he teaches such lessons of life, he must live a life of good behavior and conduct. He must be a good person and live just what he teaches and preaches. He must live a moral and pure, righteous and just life; and he must go out to minister to the needy of his community and world. The wise teacher knows that he cannot teach one thing and do something else.

Thought 1. Note a critical fact: in the eyes of Scripture the truly wise and knowledgeable teacher is not a person who has all kinds of facts and theories, speculations and notions in his mind. Rather he is a teacher who is a good person—a moral and just person, a loving and caring person—a person who lives what he knows and teaches—who shows a good behavior in all his works.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Moreover he must have a good report of them which are without; lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil” (1 Tim.3:7).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation [conduct] his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“Likewise, ye wives be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior] of the wives; while they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear” (1 Pt.3:1-2).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the LORD, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding” (Job 28:28).

“Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know them? for the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall therein” (Hos.14:9).

2. There is the trait of meekness. The truly wise and knowledgeable teacher will show forth “meekness” (prauteti). The word means to be gentle, tender, humble, mild, considerate, but strongly so. Meekness has the strength to control and discipline, and it does so at the right time.

- a. Meekness has a humble state of mind. But this does not mean the teacher is weak, cowardly, and bowing. The meek teacher simply loves people and loves peace; therefore, he walks humbly among men regardless of their status and circumstance in life. Associating with the poor and lowly of this earth does not bother the meek teacher. He desires to be a friend to all and to help all as much as possible.
- b. Meekness has a strong state of mind. It looks at situations and wants justice and right to be done. It is not a weak mind that ignores and neglects evil and wrong-doing, abuse and suffering.
 - ⇒ If someone is suffering, meekness steps in and does what it can to help.
 - ⇒ If evil is being done, meekness does what it can to stop and correct it.
 - ⇒ If evil is running rampant and indulging itself, meekness actually strikes out in anger. However, note a crucial point: the anger is always at the right time and against the right thing.
- c. Meekness has strong self-control. The meek teacher controls his spirit and mind. He controls the lusts of his flesh. He does not give way to ill-temper, retaliation, passion, indulgence, or license. The meek teacher dies to himself, to what his flesh would like to do, and he does the right thing—exactly what God wants done.

In summary, the meek man walks in a humble, tender, but strong state of mind; denies himself, giving utmost consideration to others. He shows a control and righteous anger against injustice and evil. A meek man forgets and lives for others because of what Christ has done for him.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

2 (3:14-16) Wisdom, False: there is the false wisdom and wrong teaching of this world. This is a most tragic picture. It immediately shows us that there are teachers, ministers and laymen alike, who follow the false wisdom of the world.

1. Note the description of false wisdom and wrong teaching.

a. False wisdom and wrong teaching arouse bitter envy and jealousy. There are teachers, ministers and laymen alike, who are envious and jealous of others, of their...

- church and position
- preaching and teaching ability
- leadership and recognition
- charisma and attention
- associates and friends

Too many ministers and teachers envy others because of these things. In addition to these, the teacher is often compared with former teachers and the comparison cuts and hurts. Therefore, it is subject to creating a bitter envy against the former teacher.

One other situation needs to be noted as well. When a teacher begins to teach some false doctrine or to live an unholy life, he should be corrected by those who follow the truth of God’s Word. When he is, there is always the temptation for him to react and become bitter against those who remain true to God’s Word.

The point is this: false wisdom or wrong teaching arouses bitter envy and jealousy. It stirs up a terrible division and cleavage between the servants of God and churches. No teacher or preacher...

- should ever envy another persons ability, church, position, or recognition.
- should ever hold bitter envy against former ministers or teachers.
- should ever react against being corrected because of his novel ideas or wrong behavior.

Bitterness, envy, and jealousy—they are all wrong. They have no place among those who teach the true wisdom of God. They are aroused by a false wisdom and a wrong teaching.

“And when they had received it, they murmured against the goodman of the house, saying, These last have wrought but one hour, and thou hast made them equal unto us, which have borne the burden and heat of the day” (Mt.20:11-12).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:21).

“Some indeed preach Christ even of envy and strife; and some also of good will: the one preach Christ of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds: but the other of love, knowing that I am set for the defence of the gospel” (Ph.1:15-17).

“Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways” (Pr.3:31).

“He that despiseth his neighbor sinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he” (Pr.14:21).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners; but be thou in the fear of the LORD all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

b. False wisdom and wrong teaching arouse a spirit of strife in one’s heart. The word “strife” (erithian) means friction or more accurately, selfish ambition. Unfortunately, too many of God’s people—teachers and preachers included—are selfishly ambitious. Too many want...

- to be put forward, recognized, acknowledged, and honored.
- to be known as wise and knowledgeable.
- to be seen as the teacher, the preacher, the leader.
- to be the builder, the creator, the founder, the originator of a new or novel idea and position or movement.

In addition to these, there are those who seek to gather cliques or parties around their position or belief. They are ambitious to be the leader and to have people recognize them as the leader, even if it means opposing the minister of God.

Note how restless the soul is in all of this. The soul is not at peace with itself nor with others. It is dissatisfied and ambitious for self, not for the cause of Christ or for the people of Christ. This is the way of false wisdom and wrong teaching: it arouses strife and selfish ambition.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm” (Pr.3:30).

“He loveth transgression that loveth strife: and he that exalteth his gate seeketh destruction” (Pr.17:19).

“A fool’s lips enter into contention, and his mouth calleth for strokes” (Pr.18:6).

“It is an honor for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

“Go not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbor hath put thee to shame” (Pr.25:8).

“As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife” (Pr.26:21).

- c. False wisdom and teaching arouse a spirit of boasting and self-glorying. Boasting does not necessarily mean that a person goes about boasting out loud. It refers more to what a person feels within his heart. If a person follows after false wisdom and false teaching, he focuses upon himself. His thoughts are upon...

- preaching a good sermon, not reaching people for Christ.
- being recognized, not building people up.
- securing a position, not ministering to needs.

Very simply, he either seeks or feels pride in his different belief or in the position he holds. He may flaunt it publicly, making his ideas and position known, or he may just hold it silently within. In either case, his belief and position stands opposed to the wisdom and teaching of God’s Word. He has allowed false wisdom and wrong teaching to arouse a prideful and self-glorying spirit within him.

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“They said unto him, Grant unto us that we may sit, one on thy right hand, and the other on thy left hand, in thy glory” (Mk.10:37).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Even so the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:5).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Better is a little with righteousness, than great revenues without right” (Pr.16:8).

“He loveth transgression that loveth strife: and he that exalteth his gate seeketh destruction” (Pr.17:19).

“A high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is sin” (Pr.21:4).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“He that is of a proud heart stirreth up strife: but he that putteth his trust in the LORD shall be made fat” (Pr.28:25).

“For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High” (Is.14:13-14).

“Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.4).

- d. False wisdom and wrong teaching arouse a lie against the truth. This means at least two things.
- ⇒ First, the false teacher is inconsistent with the Word of God. He is not living and teaching the truth. He is living a lie and teaching a lie—some false doctrine, some false behavior.
 - ⇒ Second, the false teacher is inconsistent in what he teaches and does. He teaches the truth, but he does not live the truth.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal? Thou that sayest a man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege? Thou that makest thy boast of the law [Word of God], through breaking the law dishonourest thou God?” (Ro.2:21-23).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:18).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness. And, lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not” (Ezk.33:31-32).

2. Note the source of false wisdom and wrong teaching: they are not of God, but of the earth, sensual or unspiritual, and devilish.

- a. False wisdom is of the earth: it centers and focuses upon the earth...
- it follows the nature of men—men of the earth—instead of God and His Word.
 - it teaches the great ideas and principles of the earth instead of God and His Word.
 - it challenges people to seek after the aims of the earth and its leaders instead of the aims of God and His Word.
 - it focuses upon life now—life upon the earth—and neglects life eternal.

The point is not that the great ideas and aims of the earth and its leaders are all wrong. They are not. There are some great leaders upon earth just as there are some foolish and evil leaders. And the ideas and aims of great leaders are often for the betterment of man and the earth. Therefore, we are to do all we can to help these leaders. The point is that heavenly wisdom, the wisdom of God and His Word (the Bible) are the basis of true wisdom. Therefore, any wisdom that neglects heavenly wisdom has a serious flaw and shortcoming. No teacher, minister or layman, is to ever forget this. False wisdom and wrong teaching focus only upon the earth and neglect the wisdom from above, of God and His Word.

- b. False wisdom and wrong teaching are sensual, that is, natural and unspiritual. They are of man himself, and they focus upon man as an animal and neglect the fact that he is a spiritual being. They concentrate upon man as a physical and mental being. They stress humanism, education, technology, science, health, comfort, and peace. They tend toward bettering man’s life on earth and ignore and neglect and deny that man is spirit. They have no belief or at most a hazy belief in life after this world.
- c. False wisdom and wrong teaching are devilish or demonic. Such things as pride, self-ambition, bitterness, envy, strife, creating uneasiness and division, and teaching false doctrine are not of God. They are of the evil one, of the devil himself. Any teacher who selfishly seeks to promote self and does these things is following and acting just like the devil himself acts.

“Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid” (Is.29:14).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

“Professing themselves to be wise, they become fools” (Ro.1:22).

“For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain” (1 Cor.3:19-20).

“This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish” (Jas.3:15).

3. Note the terrible effects of false wisdom and wrong teaching. The person who follows the false wisdom of the world, who selfishly seeks position, recognition, wealth, and authority—who seeks recognition for some novel idea or doctrine he has—who envies and strives with others—that person is a false teacher and he causes confusion and every evil work. When that person is a minister or teacher in the church...

- he causes confusion and evil in the church: people become disturbed, divided, form cliques, and begin bearing tales. They become angry and hold feelings against one another and some even leave the church and forsake God.
- he causes confusion and evil within families: various members question, wonder, and differ with other family members. They cease to grow and return to the world.
- he causes the weak to return to the world and to forsake God and His Word: the weak forsake Christ as the true Son of God, and Christ alone can save man.
- he causes persons to attach their lives to an earthly religion of ritual, ceremony, and morality—all of which die at the grave. The false teacher dooms the person to an eternity apart from the Son of God, even Jesus Christ our Lord who is the Savior of the world.

The confusion and evil caused by false wisdom and wrong teaching—by teachers who live and teach contrary to God and His Word—are endless. But this much needs to be said: the effects of wrong teaching, of following the false wisdom of this world, should cause every minister and teacher of the church to awaken and examine his life and his beliefs and ministry. The effects should stir many of us to repentance and confession before God.

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God” (1 Cor.2:1-5).

“For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace” (1 Cor.14:33).

“For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work” (Jas.3:16).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord GOD, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?” (Ezk.33:11).

Thought 1. This is a day when humility before God and His Word is needed. Why? Because there is so much false wisdom and wrong teaching being followed. We desperately need to turn back to the worship and ministry of God and His Word alone. We need to get away from worshipping ourselves, from following our own selfish ambitions. We need to get away from seeking position, recognition, new and novel ideas, and the human comforts and ease of this life. Our call as ministers and teachers of God is to proclaim His Word and to minister to the needs of people everywhere. The confusion and evil of the world can be corrected only by proclaiming the truth of God and His Word. This we must do. And the first step is to straighten out ourselves first. How? By humbly bowing before God in repentance and confession of our selfish ambition and lack of discipline, complacency, and worldliness. We must repent and confess our failure and turn completely away from it. And then we must get up and go forth in the strength of God’s Spirit and proclaim the pure truth of God and His Word—proclaim His Word and nothing else.

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

“In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink” (Jn.7:37).

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing” (Jn.15:5).

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me, to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel” (Acts 9:15).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God” (1 Cor.2:1-5).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:19-20).

“For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God. Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe: as ye know how we exhorted and comforted and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children, that ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory” (1 Th.2:9-12).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort will all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

“Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth” (Ps.46:10).

“Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool” (Is.1:18).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, an eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price” (Is.55:1).

“Wherefore thus saith the LORD God of hosts, Because ye speak this word, behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them” (Jer.5:14).

“Is not my word like as a fire? saith the LORD; and like a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?” (Jer.23:29).

“When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand. Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.33:8-9).

“Come, and let us return unto the LORD: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up” (Hos.6:1).

3 (3:17-18) Wisdom, True—True Teaching: there is the true wisdom of God. Note three significant points.

1. The source of true wisdom is God. True wisdom comes from above, not from this world. It comes from God, not from the princes and scholars of this earth. True wisdom does not come from seeking the knowledge and wisdom of men and of this world; it comes from seeking God—from seeking the knowledge and wisdom of God.

2. The description of true wisdom is clearly stated. What is the wisdom of God? What is this wisdom that is so superior to the wisdom of the princes and scholars of this world? What is this wisdom that the ministers and teachers of God are to be teaching? Scripture says that it is eight things.

a. True wisdom is first of all “pure” (hagne). The word means to be pure from fault and defilement; it means moral purity; to be completely separated from impurity and wrong-doing and set apart unto God. It is not being half good and half bad, but totally pure and clean (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.47). A person who has true wisdom lives a clean and pure life.

⇒ A truly wise person keeps his body pure. He does not damage himself by overeating, drinking, taking drugs, smoking, and letting himself become flabbly. He disciplines himself in all things and keeps himself fit in order to get maximum use out of life.

⇒ A truly wise person keeps his relationships pure. He lives a moral and just life, protecting his spouse, children, family, loved ones, the name of Christ, and his own testimony and ministry.

⇒ A truly wise person keeps himself pure before God so that his relationship with God is always open and so that God can use him as much as He wishes.

This is what true wisdom is. It is first pure, and note the word first. Purity is first in importance and the first thing that God gives to a man who seeks true wisdom. A wise teacher, minister and layman alike, is a teacher who lives a pure life and teaches that men must be pure before God.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

- b. True wisdom is “peaceable” (eirenike). The word means to bind together; to join and weave together. It means that a wise teacher is bound, woven, and joined together...
- with himself
 - with God
 - with his fellow man

And the wise teacher does all he can to keep the peace and to make peace where it has been broken, whether between two individuals or two groups, a family, a community, or a nation. A wise teacher, a teacher of true wisdom, works to reconcile people to God and to each other. He works to bring men closer to God and to each other.

“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men” (Ro.12:18).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

- c. True wisdom is “gentle” (epieikes). The word is difficult to translate into English. It is translated by others as gentleness, forbearance, reasonableness, consideration, agreeableness, courtesy, patience, and softness. There is the tendency to say that either forbearance or gentleness is the better translation. It means that there is something better than mere justice—a gracious gentleness. The wise teacher is to be gentle and forbearing in dealing with other people.

Thought 1. The point is well-taken: we must be gentle and forbearing in dealing with people. The last thing that we must do is to criticize, condemn, censor, neglect, and ignore people. We must reach out to the world with the gospel, and must treat people with a loving gentleness. We must be gentle, having absolutely nothing to do with harshness. Too many of us are harsh and critical or neglectful and withdrawn. Too many of us are wrapped in the cloak of religion having nothing to do with reaching out to the lost. The desperate need of the hour is for us to reach out with the gospel in a spirit of love and gentleness.

“With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:2).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

- d. True wisdom is “easy to be entreated” (eupeithes). The word means reasonable; being willing to listen to reason and to appeal; being willing to change when one is wrong. True wisdom is not stubborn or hard.
- ⇒ The wise teacher listens to the voice and reasoning of God and of his fellow believers, and when he is wrong, he changes his behavior.

“Now therefore stand still, that I may reason with you before the LORD of all the righteous acts of the LORD, which he did to you and to your fathers” (1 Sam.12:7).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1).

“Surely I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God” (Job 13:3).

“Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool” (Is.1:18).

- e. True wisdom is full of mercy (eleous). The word means to have feelings of pity, compassion, affection, and kindness. It is a desire to succor; to tenderly draw unto oneself and to care for. Two things are essential in order to have mercy: seeing a need and being able to meet that need. God sees our need and feels for us (Eph.2:1-3). Therefore, He acts; He has mercy upon us.

Note: mercy does not discriminate; it knows no discrimination at all. It has pity upon all, both saint and sinner. The wise teacher, the teacher of the true wisdom, reaches out to help those in need, no matter how low they are or how far they have fallen. The teacher who lives and shows true wisdom is the teacher who is moved with compassion—moved so much that he reaches out to help every human being who has a problem and need.

“Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy” (Mt.5:7).

“Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful” (Lk.6:36).

“And went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him” (Lk.10:34).

“I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame. I was a father to the poor: and the cause which I knew not I searched out” (Job 29:15-16).

“She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she reacheth forth her hands to the needy” (Pr.31:20).

“The Lord GOD hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned” (Is.50:4).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

- f. True wisdom is full of good fruits (karpon agathon). This means that the wise teacher actually reaches out and helps those in trouble. He does not experience feelings of compassion and then push them out of his mind. He acts; he meets needs; he helps the suffering, the shut-in, the prisoner, the widow and widower, the orphan, the single parent and the single parent child, the grieving, the poor, the destitute, the homeless, the hungry, the sinner, the backslidden, the lost, and the wicked. The teacher of true wisdom reaches out and leads his followers to reach out to the needy of their community, city, state, nation, and world. The wise teacher does all he can to meet the desperate of our world. In fact, he gives all he is and has—every dime he has—sacrificing everything beyond the needs of his own family—to meet the needs of the lost and destitute of our world. The teacher of true wisdom is totally committed to good deeds and works in order to reach people for Christ and to help them through all the problems and troubles of life.

“For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me” (Mt.25:35-36).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth” (Eph.5:9).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works: not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching” (Heb.10:24-25).

- g. True wisdom is without partiality (adiakritos). This word in the Greek actually means two things.
⇒ The wise teacher is impartial; he shows no partiality or favoritism to anyone.

“I charge thee before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things without preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality” (1 Tim.5:21).

“Are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?” (Jas.2:4).

“Ye shall do no unrighteousness in judgment: thou shalt not respect the person of the poor, nor honor the person of the mighty: but in righteousness shalt thou judge thy neighbor” (Lev.19:15).

“He will surely reprove you, if ye do secretly accept persons” (Job 13:10).

- ⇒ The wise teacher is undivided in his convictions and judgments. He knows the truth, exactly what God’s Word says, and he will not entertain false ideas or teachings. He is totally committed and undivided in following and teaching God’s Word.

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“Which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed. For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ. But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man” (Gal.1:7-11).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

- h. True wisdom is “without hypocrisy” (anupokritos). This means to be free from insincerity, hypocrisy, play-acting, and wearing a mask. The teacher of true wisdom does not try to fake people out; he does not teach one thing and do another thing. He does not claim to be a teacher of God and teach something else other than God’s Word; he does not claim to be a teacher of God and live an impure and unrighteous life nor an undisciplined and complacent life.

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; that ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:9-10).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:7-8).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:18).

3. The effect of true wisdom is the fruit of righteousness, a life and world of righteousness. But note how righteousness is brought about: by making peace. Righteousness—men living like they should, men treating each other and treating God like they should—can never come about unless we are at peace with each other and with God. This means something of critical importance: the greatest need that man has is for peace—peace with each other and peace with God. The true teacher will work and work for peace, struggle and struggle to get men to make peace with each other and with God. Just picture the scene:

- ⇒ men at peace with each other
- ⇒ men at peace with God
- ⇒ a world of peace

The result would be a community and a world of righteousness—men and women living like they should—everyone experiencing and living a life of love, joy, peace, of caring and looking after each other. All things would be right, exactly like they should be. The world would be a world of righteousness, a world just like the world for which God longs. How can we ever have such a world? Only by the teachers of God—ministers and laymen alike—becoming teachers of true wisdom, teachers who make peace and who lead people to make peace with God and with each other.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:13-14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:54).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

“Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you” (Hos.10:12).

DIVISION IV

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: TRIUMPHANTLY OVERCOME, 4:1-10

A. The Causes of Temptation and Wrongdoing, 4:1-6

(4:1-6) Introduction: What causes temptation and wrongdoing? We are always facing temptation and trials, and all too often we find ourselves yielding and doing wrong. This passage begins a new division in the Book of James, the all important discussion on temptations and trials and how to conquer them. But before we can conquer temptations and trials, we must understand what causes them. Just what is it that causes temptation and wrongdoing? This passage says that the cause is four things.

1. Lust: the passion for pleasure and gratification that rages within the body and its members (v.1).
2. Distrust: seeking something and never trusting God or asking God for it (v.2).
3. Praying amiss: praying with the wrong motive (v.3).
4. Worldliness: friendship with the world (v.4).
5. Conclusion: the cure (v.5-6).

1 (4:1) Lust—Pleasure: What is the cause of temptation and wrongdoing? First, it is lust—the passion for pleasure and gratification that rages in our bodily members. The word “lust” (hedonon) means to crave pleasure; to crave gratification. This Scripture says that lust for pleasure and gratification wars within our bodies. The picture is that of constant warfare, of our bodies craving, yearning, pulling, urging, desiring, and grasping after whatever will gratify our pleasure. We want and want, desire and desire, and the battle of wanting and desiring rages on and on within our bodies. Our bodies are a battlefield of wants and desires. Every person knows what it is to experience this warfare, to have his flesh yearning and yearning after something. Lust is strong and difficult to control. In fact, few people control it completely. A few people may control their lust in what are called the gross and visible sins such as vengeance and murder, but they gratify their lust in acceptable things such as over-eating and selfishness, in buying and hoarding more than what is needed, and in looking when they should not look.

The point is this: man is a walking civil war; lust after lust wages war within him, seeking gratification and pleasure. Man senses desire after desire, wanting to lift the restraint and to cut loose and enjoy the pleasure of the lust. It may be the lust for...

- food and more food
- drink and more drink
- drugs and more drugs
- sex and more sex
- possessions and more possessions
- money and more money
- property and more property
- land and more land
- recognition and more recognition
- popularity and more popularity
- authority and more authority
- vengeance and more vengeance

As stated, lust after lust wars within our members seeking its pleasure and gratification. Man is a civil war of lust and desire, of pleasure and gratification raging within his body and its members.

Now note the result of our lust: it is fightings and wars. Remember: the greatest need that man has is peace. (See note, pt.3—Jas.3:17-18 for more discussion.) Just imagine what the world would be like if men lived in peace with each other and with God. There would be no restlessness and uneasiness within the human soul and no fights and wars between men.

There would be no sin or evil committed against others—wife, husband, neighbor, or anyone else—because all men would be at peace with God as well as with each other. The greatest need man has is for peace. Yet, when we look at the world, what we see is anything but peace.

⇒ Peace is not what exists between men, but fightings and wars.

⇒ Peace is not what exists between men and God, but lust that wars within men's bodies—lust that explodes into evil and destructive behavior.

From whence do these fights and wars come? What causes them? Unless we know, we can never deal with them or conquer them. Therefore, we must heed Scripture: they come from lust—the passion for pleasure and gratification that rages within the human body and its members.

Thought 1. William Barclay quotes several of the great thinkers of past history who recognized this point, the point that lust and desire lie at the very root of man's problems. These are well worth our noting. (Each man's statements are stated in separate paragraphs for easier reading):

"The root cause of this unceasing and bitter conflict is nothing other than desire.

⇒ "Philo points out that the Ten Commandments culminate in the forbidding of covetousness which is desire, for desire is the worst of all the passions of the soul. 'Is it not because of this passion that relations are broken, and this natural goodwill changed into desperate enmity? that great and populous countries are desolated by domestic dissensions? and land and sea filled with ever new disasters by naval battles and land campaigns? For the wars famous in tragedy...have all flowed from one source—desire either for money, or glory or pleasure. Over these things the human race goes mad.'

⇒ "Lucian writes, 'All the evils which come upon man—revolutions and wars, strategems and slaughters—spring from desire. All these things have as their fountain-head the desire for more.'

⇒ Plato writes, 'The sole cause of wars and revolutions and battles is nothing other than the body and its desires.'

⇒ "Cicero writes, 'It is insatiable desires which overturn not only individual men, but whole families, and which even bring down the state. From desires there spring hatred, schisms, discords, seditions and wars.' Desire is at the root of all the evils which ruin life and which divide men."

⇒ William Barclay himself says, "The New Testament is clear that this overmastering desire for the pleasures of this world is always a threatening danger to the spiritual life. It is the cares and riches and pleasures of this life which combine to choke the good seed (Luke 8:14). A man can become a slave to lusts and pleasures, and, when he does, malice and envy and hatred enter into life (Titus 3:3).

⇒ "The ultimate choice in life lies between pleasing oneself and pleasing God; and a world in which men's first aim is to please themselves is a world which is a battleground of savagery and division" (The Letters of James and Peter, p.116).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:1-3) Lust—Desire: the word is used three times in verses 1-3. In verses 1 and 3 the word hedonon is used. It means out of your sinful, sensual pleasures. In verse 2 the word is epithumeite which means a yearning passion for (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.49). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Lust—Jn.8:44 for more discussion.)

Note that desire, lust, a yearning passion for is not always evil. In verse 5 the Spirit "lusts to envy." In Luke 22:15 Christ desires (years) to eat the passover with the apostles. What is it that distinguishes a good desire from an evil desire? At least two major things.

1. Motive: if one desires the necessities of life, his desire is good. The necessities—food, clothing, shelter, love, care—are essential for the fullness of life. When a man seeks God for these things, God provides the necessities.

2. Greed: desiring food is good, but if one desires food to "consume it upon [his] lusts," that is, he desires food and food and food, it is wrong passion. It becomes sinful, sensual pleasure. Desiring love is good, but if one desires love to consume it upon his lusts, that is, he desires love and love and love, it is wrong passion (1 Th.4:5).

2 (4:2) Distrust—Lust—Desire: What is the cause of temptation and wrongdoing? Second, it is distrust. The statement of this verse, "Ye have not, because ye ask not," means that man does not trust God nor call upon God. He just does not know God in a personal way, know Him to the point that he can ask and call upon God to meet his needs. Man does not have this kind of meaningful trust in God. Man basically distrusts God.

1. First, note this: the word for lust or desire is a different word than the word for lust in verses one and three (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jas.4:1-3). The word in this verse means a yearning desire or passion. Sometimes the desire is good; sometimes it is bad. For example, to desire food is good, but to desire food and more food is bad. This is the very point of this verse.

Note: we do not have our desires met because we do not trust and depend upon God to fulfill our desires. There is nothing wrong with our basic desires; they are to be met. But they are to be met by our trusting and depending upon God, acknowledging Him as the Source and Provider of every good and perfect gift. It is when we ignore, neglect, and deny God that our desires run loose and wild. It is when God is shoved aside that we begin to desire and desire to the point that we lie, steal, cheat, fight, kill, and war to gratify our desires and pleasures.

2. Second, note this: there are different levels of desires and lusts. Three levels are given in this verse.

⇒ You lust, and have not.

⇒ You desire to have and kill, and cannot obtain.

⇒ You desire to have and fight and war, yet you have not.

- a. Some desire and desire, and they do not have. They do little to fulfill their deepest desires. They think little, plan little, work little, and do little beyond indulging the basic desires for comfort and ease. They have broader and deeper desires, but they are just unwilling to do what is necessary to fulfill these desires. And most tragic of all, they do not sincerely call upon God to help them in meeting any of their desires, not even the desires for the basic necessities of life. They desire and desire, but they do not have because of their own lack of initiative and because of their distrust in God.
- b. Some desire and desire so much that they lie, steal, cheat, and kill to gratify and possess their desires. The desire may be to get such things as some person, position, recognition, land, power, or anything else on this earth. But no matter what it is, and no matter how much of it is gotten and possessed, it does not satisfy the lust and desire. The lust and desire remain, and the person craves more and more of it. The person just cannot obtain what he is after even if he lies, steals, cheats, and kills to get it.
- c. Others desire and desire so much that they are willing to fight and go to war to gratify their desires. They want something so much—some power, some land, some position, some vengeance—that they are willing to throw a whole company or nation of people into a fight or war in order to satisfy their desire and gratify their pleasure. Imagine wanting something so much that one will kill and destroy the life of another person and in the case of war, the lives of millions in order to get it.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and four-footed beasts, and creeping things. Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves: who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and serve the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their use one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them” (Ro.1:21-32).

“Among whom also we all had our conversation [behavior] in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

“Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:2).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him” (1 Jn.2:15).

“He that laboreth, laboreth for himself; for his mouth craveth it of him” (Pr.16:26).

“The soul of the wicked desireth evil: his neighbor findeth no favor in his eyes” (Pr.21:10).

3. Third, note this: desire is never satisfied apart from God. A person must trust and call upon God in order to have his desires fulfilled: “Ye have not, because ye ask not.” There are three reasons why trusting and calling upon God are necessary for desires to be fulfilled.

- a. Man’s deepest and most restless craving is spiritual. God has made man a spiritual being, a being who is restless until his spirit is at peace with God. Man may deny, ignore, neglect and reject this fact; nevertheless, the denial of truth does not do away with the truth. God has made man a spiritual being, a being with a soul that craves for spiritual satisfaction:
 - ⇒ Man craves for God, for the fellowship and communion, the care and security of His presence.
 - ⇒ Man craves for life, for life that is both abundant and eternal.
 - ⇒ Man craves for a perfect world.

Man desires these things; deep down within his soul he desires for spiritual satisfaction, and his spirit is restless—ever craving for more and more—until the spirit is satisfied with the knowledge of these things.

- b. Man’s spiritual desires and cravings cannot be satisfied with physical and material things. Man’s experience is this: there is that within man that lusts and craves for more and more. And as more and more is taken, the lust does not diminish; it grows. It craves for still more and more. Man’s cravings are never satisfied. They have to be controlled. If man feeds his cravings and continues to feed and feed them, he is eventually consumed by his lusts. The problem is this: man misunderstands that for which he is craving. It is an inner craving, a spiritual craving that gnaws away at him. Thus, no physical thing can satisfy that spiritual craving. A physical thing is of the earth, physical; it is not of heaven, spiritual. The spiritual craving can only be satisfied by a spiritual thing, only by the Spirit of God. Physical things only leave man dissatisfied, unfilled, incomplete, still hungering and thirsting after pleasure and self-gratification. (See note—Jn.4:13-14 for more discussion.) Why? Because it did not come from God. Throughout history men have desired everything from food to persons, and they have used every method from arguing to war to get the thing or person, yet they have never been satisfied within. Why? Because what they desired was never sought from God and did not come from God.

- c. Man is not able to control his desires, not completely and not always. Man must have the presence and power of God to control all his lusts and desires. No matter what man may think and claim, history is clear evidence of the uncontrolled desires of men. In fact, any thinking and honest person can testify to his lack of control and discipline over desires and lust. We corrupt our minds, thoughts, and bodies and we hurt, disrupt, and destroy others by our uncontrolled desires and lust. It is our uncontrolled desires and lusts that are carrying everyone of us to the grave. The only escape—the only victory over the corruption of desires and lusts—is God. We must trust God and call upon God. We must consult with God about our desires and wants...
- talk with Him
 - ask His opinion
 - ask His will
 - ask if the desire is good or bad
 - ask if the need is a true need or simply the lust for pleasure or gratification

We must learn to commune and fellowship with God—to walk in Him, live and move in Him, seeking and asking His opinion, will, and help every step of every day. This is what God wants from all of us, leaders and citizens alike, ministers and laymen alike—God wants to fellowship and commune with us. He wants our acknowledgement—our worship and honor and praise of Him as the Lord and Father of the universe. Fellowship and communion with God—trusting and calling upon Him—is the only way we can ever fulfill the deepest and innermost desire of our hearts. And once the spiritual craving is satisfied, all the other desires of our lives will be fulfilled and controlled by the presence and power of God in our hearts. Prayerlessness—not knowing God and not praying to God—is the second cause of temptation and wrongdoing.

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:11-13).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:15-17).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

“Trust in the LORD, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed” (Ps.37:3).

“Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“Trust in him at all times; ye people, pour out your heart before him: God is a refuge for us” (Ps.62:8).

“Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths” (Pr.3:5-6).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the LORD for ever: for in the LORD JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:3-4).

3 (4:3) Distrust—Prayer: What is the cause of temptation and wrongdoing? Third, it is praying amiss. Amiss simply means to pray wrongly, not to pray right. Even when a person trusts God—knows and fellowships with Him on a personal basis and wants God to help meet his needs—he can ask God for help in the wrong way. He can pray amiss, and when he prays amiss, God is unable to help him. What does it mean to pray amiss? What is a wrong prayer? Scripture tells us, and this is the reason our prayers are so often not answered: we ask for things so that we can gratify our lust and pleasure. We ask for the wrong reasons, with the wrong motives. We ask...

- for health to be more comfortable.
- for healing and a longer life to continue our comfortable lives.
- for money to have more.
- for success to be recognized.
- for position to hold authority.

- for the family to be blessed so that we can continue to enjoy their presence.

We ask this and so much more, all because we seek to gratify our own desires more and more. We seek God's blessings so that we can have more comfort, enjoyment, better food and clothes, and be accepted and recognized more.

What is the right motive for prayer? How can we pray and know that God will give the desires of our heart? By asking for the glory of God. When a person wants something from God, he must want it so that he can glorify God. We must always remember that what God is after is communion and fellowship with us, for us to draw closer and closer to Him, learning more and more about Him and worshipping and serving Him more and more. This is the way God is glorified, by our walking closely to Him and honoring and praising His name. Therefore, if we want anything from God, we must want it so that we can glorify Him—so that we can draw closer to Him and make Him better known to others.

1. If a person wants health, life, strength, or a strong testimony, it must be so that he can glorify God.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

2. If a person wants to bear fruit in his life and work, or in his church and upon his land, it must be so that he can glorify God.

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit” (Jn.15:8).

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

3. If a person wants the basic necessities of life—food, clothing, and shelter, or purpose, meaning, and significance, or assurance, confidence, and security—or if he wants more position, authority, or money, it must be so that he can glorify God and the Lord Jesus Christ in his life and testimony.

“Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles [unbelievers] seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31-33).

“Wherefore also we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power: that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:11-12).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“And this is the confidence that we have in Him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will [glory], he heareth us: and if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him” (1 Jn.5:14-15).

4 (4:4) Worldliness: What is the cause of temptation and wrongdoing? Fourth, it is worldliness. James uses strong language. He calls the people adulteresses and adulterers. He means two things.

1. Being an adulteress and adulterer means that a person is guilty of spiritual adultery. Jesus Christ holds His relationship with us in the highest regards. Our relationship with Him is to be so close that it can be described only by the closeness and intimacy of marriage. In fact, our relationship with Christ can even be closer and more meaningful than marriage. We are to know, believe, and understand Christ just as we are to know, believe, and understand our husbands and wives. But with Christ there is far more of a bond and relationship than what we can have with each other as men and women of earth. Jesus Christ actually lives within our bodies in the person of the Holy Spirit. We are to live, move, and have our being in Christ and He in us. This is the reason believers are called the bride of Christ (2 Cor.11:1-2; Eph.5:24-28; Rev.19:7; 21:9). The marriage relationship just comes the closest to describing the bond which Christ has with us.

The point is this: our bond with Christ is so close that when we turn away from Him to the world, it is like committing spiritual adultery. Spiritual adultery means that we turn away from God to the world—that we break our commitment to God and turn to other things; that we follow after the things of the world instead of following after God, things such as...

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| • money | • possessions |
| • lands | • houses |
| • position | • power |
| • cars | • clothes |
| • popularity | • honor |
| • recognition | • fame |
| • girls | • boys |

The picture of spiritual adultery shows us just how meaningful God counts our relationship with Christ: it is a relationship of love, a bond of love that can be the closest bond in all the world. If we turn away from Christ to the world, it cuts His heart with the deepest of pain—a pain beyond description—for He is God and He feels with perfect feelings. We must never forget that our Lord gave His life and died for us. He has done everything He can to save us and to create a relationship with us. And it cost Him unbelievable pain—the pain of the cross—the pain of bearing all the sins of the whole world—the pain of bearing the wrath of God against those sins—the pain of God the Father forsaking and rejecting Him when He bore our sins—such pain that it defies description—and it was all for us. Therefore, we must not hurt Him anymore. We must not crucify Christ anymore. We must not forsake Him for the world. We must not commit spiritual adultery against Him by turning to the world.

“How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:3).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is not obeying the commandment of the Lord.

“And yet they would not hearken unto their judges, but they went a whoring after other gods, and bowed themselves unto them: they turned quickly out of the way which their fathers walked in, obeying the commandments of the LORD; but they did not so” (Judg.2:17).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is idolatry, the worshipping of other gods.

“And they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the land, whom God destroyed before them” (1 Chron.5:25).

“And they that escape of you shall remember me among the nations whither they shall be carried captives, because I am broken with their whorish heart, which hath departed from me, and with their eyes, which go a whoring after their idols: and they shall loathe themselves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations” (Ezk.6:9).

“My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declareth unto them: for the spirit of whoredoms hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God” (Hos.4:12).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is unclean works and sinful behavior.

“Thus were they defiled with their own works, and went a whoring with their own inventions” (Ps.106:39).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is giving oneself to detestable and abominable things.

“Wherefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord GOD; Are ye polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye whoredom after their abominations?” (Ezk.20:30).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is forgetting God and turning one’s back upon Him.

“Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy back, therefore bear thou also thy lewdness and thy whoredoms” (Ezk.23:35).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is refusing to turn to God and not knowing the Lord.

“They will not frame their doings to turn unto their God: for the spirit of whoredoms is in the midst of them, and they have not known the LORD” (Hos.5:4).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is forsaking God.

“The beginning of the word of the LORD by Hosea. And the LORD said to Hosea, Go, take unto thee a wife of whoredoms and children of whoredoms: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the LORD” (Hos.1:2).

“My people ask counsel at their stocks, and their staff declareth unto them: for the spirit of whoredoms hath caused them to err, and they have gone a whoring from under their God” (Hos.4:12).

“Rejoice not, O Israel, for joy, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God, thou hast loved a reward upon every cornfloor” (Hos.9:1).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is disbelief in Christ.

“A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign; and there shall no sign [that He is the Son of God] be given unto it, but the sign of the prophet Jonas. And he left them, and departed” (Mt.16:4).

⇒ Spiritual adultery is being ashamed of Christ and His Words.

“Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:38).

2. Being an adulteress and adulterer means that a person is actually committing adultery. The people of that day lived in a generation just like all other generations, a generation where immorality and all forms of sexual vices were running rampant. As Jesus said, “This is an adulterous generation”—a generation that is so full of sexual immorality that it can be characterized as adulterous. Some believers had apparently been caught up in the immorality of the world, living lives of impurity. They are called adulterers and adulteresses because that was just what they were. They were having affairs behind closed doors and in the dark.

3. Note a third thing, the question asked by Scripture: “Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God?” What does this mean? Just what Scripture says: the person who is a friend of the world is the enemy of God. What does it mean to be a friend of the world?

- ⇒ It means to live for this world and the things of the world: houses, lands, money, position, power, popularity, clothes, recognition, and anything else in this world that people focus upon and put before God.
- ⇒ It means to seek the things of this world so much that you will deceive, lie, cheat, and steal to get them.
- ⇒ It means to seek the fleshly pleasures and partying of this world.

Everything in this world passes away. This world is physical and material; therefore, it has the seed of corruption in it. Because of this it stands against God. It is not eternal nor holy and righteous like God. Therefore, any person who is a friend of this world stands against God. He stands against all that God is.

- ⇒ An impure person is an enemy of God’s purity.
- ⇒ An unholy person is an enemy of God’s holiness.
- ⇒ A deceptive, lying person is an enemy of God’s truthfulness.
- ⇒ A covetous, banking, hoarding person is an enemy of God’s heart that gives sacrificially.
- ⇒ A worldly minded person is an enemy of God’s will for man.

On and on the list could go, but the point is clear: the person who is a friend of this world, who focuses upon this world, is an enemy of God.

“No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon” (Mt.6:24).

“For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mt.16:26).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth” (Col.3:2).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:12).

“Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:4).

“This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me” (Mt.15:8).

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:7-8).

“That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world” (Eph.2:12).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

5 (4:5-6) Conclusion—Holy Spirit: What is the cause of temptation and wrongdoing? This passage has told us there are four causes:

- ⇒ Lust: the passion for pleasure and gratification.
- ⇒ Distrust: desiring something and never trusting God or asking Him for it.
- ⇒ Praying amiss: praying with the wrong motive.
- ⇒ Worldliness: friendship with the world.

These are the causes of temptation and wrongdoing. Now, what is the cure for temptation and wrongdoing? There are two cures.

1. Believers must know this: the Spirit of God yearns over us with jealousy. Note that this point is a question: “Do you think?” The point is something that we must think about and know. The Holy Spirit who dwells in believers...

- lusts, yearns, desires, and longs after us.
- yearns with envy and jealousy over us.

When does the Holy Spirit yearn over us with jealousy? All the time, but in a special way when temptation confronts us and we do wrong. The Holy Spirit is always yearning over us and He is always jealous over us. But if we turn away from Christ and become a friend of the world—if we become adulterers and adulteresses—the Spirit of God does not cast us off and turn away from us. He loves us and cares for us and wants to save us. He yearns and longs for us with deep, intense jealousy—yearns and longs for us to return to Christ and give Him our full devotion.

The point is this: the believer is to know that the Spirit of God is exactly like this. When the believer is heavily tempted and does wrong, he is not cast off and rejected and forsaken by God. God still loves the believer—no matter what he does. God yearns and longs for the believer to return to Him—yearns and longs with deep, intense jealousy. When the believer knows this, then he knows the first great cure for temptation and wrongdoing. And he is far more able to repent and return to God. Why? Because he is so deeply loved by God—so much so that God yearns for him with a jealous, envious love. And love attracts and pulls the believer back to God. Scripture clearly declares that God is a jealous God.

“Thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the LORD thy God am a jealous God” (Ex.20:5).

“For thou shalt worship no other god: for the LORD, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God” (Ex.34:14).

“They provoked him to jealousy with strange gods” (Dt.32:16).

“They have moved me to jealousy with that which is not God” (Dt.32:21).

“Thus saith the LORD of hosts; I was jealous for Zion with great jealousy, and I was jealous for her with great fury” (Zech.8:2).

Thought 1. God has placed His Spirit into the hearts of believers to lead them through all the temptations and trials of life and to convict and lead them to repentance when they sin. The Holy Spirit yearns and covets souls; He wants no believer to turn away from Christ.

“But the comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on me; of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more; of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged” (Jn.16:7-11).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his. And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness. But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:9-11).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:13-14).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:16-17).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law. And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit” (Gal.5:22-25).

“And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption” (Eph.4:30).

“Quench not the Spirit” (1 Th.5:19).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

2. Believers must know this: God gives the humble believer grace and more grace, but He resists the proud. Grace means the favor and blessings of God, any favor and blessing which God gives. When the believer faces temptation or does wrong, God meets the believer’s need, no matter what it is: strength, wisdom, power, perseverance, patience, forgiveness. The believer does not deserve God’s grace and blessing, but God loves him. Therefore, God gives him whatever he needs. In fact, God gives more grace, that is, grace upon grace, grace and more grace.

But note a critical fact: not every believer and not every person receives God’s grace. God meeting our need is not an automatic thing. Not everyone’s needs are met. In fact, the very opposite is true. If a person is proud—if he is stiffnecked, haughty, and rebellious against God—God resists the person. God wants to pour His grace out upon the person, but if the person hardens himself and rebels against God and continues to live on in his sin, God has no choice. God is shut out of the person's life; therefore, grace is rejected. God can do nothing for the person. But note something else as well. God has to resist the person. He has to consider the person...

- a rebel
- a curser
- an antagonist
- a traitor
- an enemy
- a sinner

God has to stand against the sinner and his evil. God has to oppose and resist and eventually put him to the most terrible shame.

But this is the glorious gospel: God gives grace and more grace to the humble. The person who turns to God away from the world and his wrongdoing will receive all the grace from God he will ever need and then some. God will look after and care for him just like a child—loving, nourishing, nurturing, feeding, clothing, sheltering, protecting, and giving more and more life to him forever and ever.

“For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted” (Lk.14:11).

“Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:16).

“But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble” (Jas.4:6).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

“Though the LORD be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly, but the proud he knoweth afar off” (Ps.138:6).

“Surely he scorneth the scorners: but he giveth grace unto the lowly” (Pr.3:34).

“For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word” (Is.66:2).

DIVISION IV

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: TRIUMPHANTLY OVERCOME, 4:1-10

B. The Way to Overcome Temptation, 4:7-10

(4:7-10) Introduction: temptation is the constant experience of man. Temptation comes and then comes sin. Every sin is preceded by temptation. Therefore, if we can figure out how to overcome temptation, we can wipe sin off the face of the earth. Imagine a world without sin—without war, murder, assault, divorce, immorality, hatred, anger, arrogance, haughtiness, neglect, and on and on we could go. Imagine a world where all sin was eradicated. The answer to conquering sin is to conquer the temptation. Deal with the cause, not the result. How can we overcome and conquer temptation? This is the discussion of this passage. We must do four things.

1. Step 1: submit to God—resist the devil (v.7).
2. Step 2: draw near to God and repent (v.8).
3. Step 3: be disciplined and deeply, mournfully concerned (v.9).
4. Step 4: humble yourself (v.10).

1 (4:7) Temptation—Surrender—Satan: How can we overcome temptation? Step one—submit yourself to God and resist the devil.

- ⇒ The word “submit” (hupotagete) means to put yourself under God, under His care, power, and strength; to yield to God, to His will, command, instructions, laws, behavior, and Word; to surrender yourself to God for Him to strengthen you so that you can do exactly what He says.
- ⇒ The word “resist” (antistete) means to take a stand against the devil; to exert the energy and effort to oppose and defeat the devil and his temptation; to keep your mind and energy focused upon counteracting and conquering the temptation of the devil.

Both of these words are military words; therefore, they are urgent and they are imperatives. They are from our military commander, God Himself. When temptation strikes, submit yourself to God. Do exactly what your military commander says. He has the overall plan and all the armament and fire power at His disposal. His grace and power can defeat the enemy.

Submit yourself to God and His Word of command. What this means is to focus your mind upon God and His Word immediately when temptation strikes. Turn away from the temptation, push it out of your mind and begin to think about God and go over and over His Word in your mind. Just begin to resist the devil by focusing your mind upon God and His Word. Persevere in following God’s command and in resisting the devil. When you do, the most wonderful thing will happen. The devil will flee and the temptation will be gone. Remember: this is exactly what Christ did (cp. Lk.4:4, 8, 12).

Now, note the critical point: we must both surrender to God and resist the devil. Both acts are required. When the devil or temptation confronts us, we can never defeat him and his hoards of evil...

- by standing and fighting alone
- by going our own way
- by giving in a little
- by refusing to listen to our Commander’s Word.

We cannot even listen to the enemy’s tempting offer—not even for a moment. Picturing the temptation moves us a long way down the road to defecting and sinning against God. The only way to conquer temptation is to immediately submit ourselves to God and to immediately resist the devil and his temptation. We may have to struggle. The images of the temptation may attack and attack us, but if we will attack back by rolling God’s Word over and over in our minds, the temptation will flee.

Thought 1. God’s instructions about how to overcome temptation work. Even if one has been enslaved by some sin for years, submitting to God and resisting the devil will cause the devil and temptation to flee. But note this: if a person has been enslaved by the sin—drugs, alcohol, illicit sex, smoking, pornography, overeating, or whatever—the temptation will continue to attack him for days and perhaps weeks and months. But the believer must remember something: he is now in the army of God. He is now a soldier under the command of God. Therefore, every time the enemy attacks, the believer is to submit himself to God and His Word, and he is to resist the devil. He is to persevere and keep on persevering—to submit to God and resist the devil and to keep on submitting to God and resisting the devil—and he will discover a most wonderful thing. As time passes—days, weeks, or months—the devil and temptation will flee farther and farther away and attack fewer and fewer times. The believer will walk in more and more victory over the devil and his evil. The believer will never be completely without temptation, but he will walk through life more and more victoriously, triumphing more and more over all evil.

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:26-27).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven” (Mt.6:10).

“And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless, not as I will, but as thou wilt” (Mt.26:39).

“And Mary said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord; be it unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her” (Lk.1:38).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness” (Ps.143:10).

“Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand” (Eph.6:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not” (Pr.1:10).

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:7) Satan—Temptation—Believer, Victory: the believer is to resist the devil. He is to overcome the evil one. But how?

⇒ By asking God and praying, “Deliver us from the evil one.”

“And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever” (Mt.6:13).

⇒ By quoting Scripture, fasting and praying.

“And when the tempter came to him, he said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God” (Mt.4:3-4).

“And saith unto him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written, He shall give his angels charge concerning thee: and in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone. Jesus said unto him, It is written again, thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God” (Mt.4:6-7).

“And said unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me. Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve” (Mt.4:9-10).

“Howbeit this kind [of evil] goeth not out but by prayer and fasting” (Mt.17:21).

⇒ By ministering in Jesus’ name.”

“And the seventy returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through thy name” (Lk.10:17).

⇒ By special sessions of prayer.

“And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat: but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren” (Lk.22:31-32).

⇒ By invoking, that is, claiming, the name and power of the God of peace.

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly” (Ro.16:20).

⇒ By forgiving others.

“To whom ye forgive any thing, I forgive also: for if I forgave any thing, to whom I forgave it, for your sakes forgave I it in the person of Christ; lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices” (2 Cor.2:10-11).

⇒ By not giving place to the devil.

“Neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:27).

⇒ By putting on the whole armor of God.

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph.6:10-11; cp. v.12-18).

⇒ By repenting and acknowledging the truth.

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth; and that they may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are taken captive by him at his will” (2 Tim.2:25-26; Acts 13:10).

⇒ By resisting the devil.

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7; 1 Pt.5:8-9).

⇒ By being born again.

“We know that whosoever is born of God sinneth not; but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not” (1 Jn.5:18).

⇒ By not fearing and by being faithful.

“Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life. He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death” (Rev.2:10-11).

2 (4:8) Temptation—Repentance: How can we overcome temptation? Step two—draw near to God and repent. This is the greatest privilege in all the world: to have the glorious privilege to approach and draw near God, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, the Creator and Lord of the universe. Just think, believers can approach God and talk and share with Him anytime, anyplace. The door into God’s presence is never closed. But note what Scripture teaches: the door into God’s presence is not only open, but we are strongly urged and encouraged to draw near God. This verse is again a strong imperative: “Draw near to God.” The temptation strikes; it is immediate, unexpected, fierce. What can we do? What is our hope? God—draw near God. The idea is more than just submitting to God, much more. Drawing near means to draw ever so near, to get as close as possible to God. Get right next to Him. Begin to talk and share with Him. How do we do this?

⇒ By reading the Word of God, the Holy Bible, or if we do not have access to God’s Word when the temptation strikes, by reviewing verses of Scripture over and over in our minds.

⇒ By prayer—by asking God for strength and power, mercy and grace. But note: the prayer should be positive, focusing upon God and His strength and Word, not upon the temptation. Keep your mind off the temptation and upon God.

Focus upon God and God alone. Get close to God. Draw as near as possible to Him and note the glorious promise: God will draw near you. He will draw near and embrace you and strengthen you and deliver you. This is exactly what God promises.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him” (Ps.28:7).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord GOD, that I may declare all thy works” (Ps.73:28).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

However, note that drawing near God is conditional. There is a person who God does not allow to draw near Him. Who? The person with unclean, sinful hands and an impure, wavering heart. A person must do two things before he can draw near God.

1. The person must clean his hands. Some had unclean, sinful hands and James pulled no punches. He called them just what they were: *sinner*s. If any of us have unclean hands—if we have touched what God forbids us to touch—we have not only sinned, but we are *sinner*s. A terrible title to have attached to our names. Nevertheless, Scripture says that a person who touches when God says not to touch is a sinner.

The point is this: our hands must be cleansed of sin before we can approach and draw near God. God will not respond—He will not draw near a person unless his hands are cleansed of sin.

“Wash ye, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

“O Jerusalem, wash thine heart from wickedness, that thou mayest be saved. How long shall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee?” (Jer.4:14).

“And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord” (Acts 22:16).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master’s use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:3).

2. The person must purify his heart and quit wavering between God and temptation. A person cannot have a divided loyalty between God and the world. God does not allow a divided loyalty. God demands total allegiance or nothing. A person who is double-minded, who tries to follow God some of the time and the world at other times, cannot draw near God. God does not accept him nor draw near him. A person must purify his heart, turn his heart completely and totally over to the Lord Jesus Christ. A pure heart—a heart totally committed and loyal to Jesus Christ—is the only heart that God will accept and draw near.

The point is this: a person cannot draw near God, he cannot get close to God, unless he has clean hands and a pure heart, a heart totally committed to the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, a person must repent, turn away from all sin and draw near God. If he will, then God will draw near him and make Himself available to the person at all times.

Thought 1. The believer who has the right to draw near God is the believer who walks in open fellowship and communion with God; who keeps his hands clean and his heart pure; who walks in prayer all day long, confessing and keeping himself pure. This is the believer whom God loves and to whom God is always drawing near. This is the believer who is always fellowshiping and communing with God and who walks in triumph over temptation. The believer who is always drawing near God is the believer who is the victor over the temptations and trials of life. He is God’s great victor, the one whom God loves ever so much.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon” (Lk.16:13).

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils” (1 Cor.10:21).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“A double minded man is unstable in all his ways” (Jas.1:8).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:8).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Their heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty: he shall break down their altars, he shall spoil their images” (Hos.10:2).

3 (4:9) Temptation: How can we overcome temptation? Step three—be enduring, and deeply and mournfully concerned. Note how descriptive this verse is:

“Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness” (v.9).

The word for “be afflicted” (talaiporesate) means to endure toils (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.53); to discipline and to voluntarily abstain (William Barclay. The Letters of James and Peter, p.127). The picture is this: when temptation strikes us, it is not time...

- | | |
|-----------------------|-----------------------|
| • to be laughing | • to be jolly |
| • to be joking around | • to be teasing |
| • to be lighthearted | • to be unconcerned |
| • to be complacent | • to be uncomfortable |
| • to be at ease | • to be lying around |

Temptation is affliction; therefore, it is time to be disciplined and to control the comforts and joys of life. Temptation is a time for rigorous warfare—for battle and the discipline and endurance of battle.

In fact, note this: the strife of temptation is usually immediate and unexpected. Therefore, we must immediately drop whatever we are doing—immediately stop the laughter and the comforts or joy of the moment—and focus upon getting near God. Our hearts must mourn and weep under the heaviness of the temptation and its attack, mourn and weep before God, asking and begging for strength and deliverance, ask and beg lest we disappoint and cut the heart of Christ.

Thought 1. This is the way to overcome temptation, the third step to victory. As soon as we are tempted we must immediately drop whatever we are doing, the activity or comfort, the joy or laughter, and we must discipline ourselves. We must focus our hearts and minds upon God and draw near Him. We must...

- get serious
- mourn
- weep
- ask God
- beg God

When we take the temptation this seriously, God will hear our cry and deliver and save us.

4 (4:10) Temptation—Humility: How can we overcome temptation? Step four—humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord. God sees us at all times, even when we are tempted. Therefore, when we are tempted...

- God must not see us continuing on in our activity and comfort, laughter and joy of the moment. God must see us drawing near Him and mourning and crying for deliverance.
- God must not see a self-sufficient spirit, a spirit that overlooks calling upon Him. God must not see a spirit that ignores His Word, a spirit that faces the temptation on its own, ignoring and not even thinking about God and His Word and strength. God must see us humbly coming into His presence, calling and depending upon Him for strength and wisdom to overcome the temptation.
- God must not see us looking at the temptation and picturing how attractive and enticing it is. He must not see us revelling in the thoughts of the temptation and in picturing how nice it would be. God must not see us dallying around, thinking and picturing the attractiveness of any temptation—be it the taste of a second helping of food or a second look at an attractive man or woman or any other enticing attraction. God must see us “casting down every imagination and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5). Imagine! Every thought is to be captured and made obedient to Christ. Just think what this does to so much television, reading, and loose moments of wandering thoughts and undisciplined day-dreaming. We must always remember that the spiritual warfare is fought in the spirit and mind, at the very core of the heart and mind. We must commit our hearts and minds to focus totally upon Christ and things that are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, of good report, virtuous, and praiseworthy (Ph.4:8). We must struggle to subject every thought to Christ, to gain an unbroken communion and fellowship with Him. It will take years even for the best of us to gain such commitment and discipline of spirit and mind, but it can be done and must be done—by the Spirit of God for the sake of Christ Jesus our Lord. This unbroken communion and fellowship with Christ is what God is after. It is the very reason He created us and has now saved us.

The point is this: when a person is tempted, if he humbles himself in the sight of God, God will lift him up. God will meet his need, give him whatever he needs, and deliver him from the onslaught of temptation.

Thought 1. William Barclay has an excellent description of this point.

“Only when a man realizes his own ignorance can he ask the guidance of God. Only when a man realizes his own poverty in the things that matter will he pray for the riches of God’s grace. Only when a man realizes his weakness in necessary things will he come to draw upon his strength of God. Only when a man realizes that he cannot cope with life by himself will he kneel before the Lord of all good life. Only when a man realizes his own sin will he realize his need of a Saviour and of the forgiveness of God” (The Letters of James and Peter, p.129).

“For whosoever exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted” (Lk.14:11).

“But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble” (Jas.4:6).

JAMES 4:7-10

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:4-5).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

“Though the LORD be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly: but the proud he knoweth afar off” (Ps.138:6).

“For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word” (Is.66:2).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL, BUT ESPECIALLY THE GIFTED, 4:11-5:6

A. Temptation 1: The Judge—Judging Others, 4:11-12

(4:11-12) Introduction: God hates all sin, but there are a few sins that are constantly and strongly condemned by Scripture. Judging others—condemning, criticizing, backbiting, gossiping, speaking evil, and talking about others—is one of the sins that Scripture never lets up on. Judging others is severely condemned. This section of James begins a new discussion, the temptations and trials that confront all of us, but especially the gifted. And note what the first temptation is that confronts the person who is especially gifted: judging others. There is a strong tendency...

- for the good person to judge and criticize the bad person.
- for the gifted person to judge and criticize the less gifted.
- for the wealthy person to judge and criticize the poor.
- for the energetic person to judge and criticize the less energetic.

The bad and less gifted, the poor and less energetic judge and criticize others as well. All of us are really guilty of the terrible sin of evil speaking against other persons, but the temptation strikes at the gifted more often. The point to remember, however, is this: Scripture constantly and strongly condemns judging and criticizing others.

1. Judging others is speaking evil of brothers (v.11).
2. Judging others violates the law of God (v.11).
3. Judging others sets one up as judge, as a law-giver (v.11).
4. Judging others usurps God's right and authority (v.12).

1 (4:11) Backbiting—Criticism—Judging Others: judging others is speaking evil against brothers. Note three significant points.

1. "Speaking evil" (katalaleite) means to criticize, judge, backbite, gossip, censor, condemn, and grumble against another person. It means to talk about and to tear down another person; to share things about another person that cut and hurt him and that lower his image and reputation in the eyes of others. The word usually means to talk about a person behind his back, when he is not present.

2. Note that the brother has sinned. He has broken the law of God, He has failed and his failure is known. It is public knowledge, and he is being judged and criticized for his failure. He is being talked about. What he has done is being buzzed and gossiped about, and it is hurting and cutting him, damaging him more and more in the eyes of the world. Now, if we are forbidden to speak evil of a person who is really guilty of sin, how much more are we forbidden to speak against a person just because we dislike or disagree with him?

Note what the Scripture says: this is evil speaking. Talking about a person is evil. It is just as much an evil as the failure of the other person. Therefore, the person who judges is as guilty as the sinner.

3. The exhortation is strong: Christian believers are not to judge and speak evil of one another. The reason is clear: we are brothers, brothers of Christ and of one another. All of us are of the family of God. Therefore,

- ⇒ we are to be loving, caring, and looking after each other, not destroying each other.
- ⇒ we are to be supporting, encouraging, and building up one another, not tearing down one another.
- ⇒ when one of us falls and gets into trouble, we are to be reaching out and helping him up, not pushing him farther down.

When we criticize a brother or sister in Christ, we are slandering one of God's own children. Just think; we are actually slandering a son or daughter of God. This alone should keep us from speaking evil of our brothers in Christ.

Think about something else as well: there is never a spirit of evil speaking in the humble and loving person. There is only a loving compassion for others, especially for those who have come short and fallen. Therefore, when we speak evil of another person it means that we are neither humble nor loving, but the very opposite: prideful and hateful. We are an evil speaker.

Thought 1. There are several reasons why people tend to judge and criticize.

- 1) Criticism boosts our own self-image. Pointing out someone else's failure and tearing him down makes us seem a little bit better, at least in our own eyes. It adds to our own pride, ego, and self-image.
- 2) Criticism is simply enjoyed. There is a tendency in human nature to take pleasure in hearing and sharing bad news and shortcomings about others.
- 3) Criticism makes us feel that our own lives (morality and behavior) are better than the person who failed.
- 4) Criticism helps us justify the decisions we have made and the things we have done throughout our lives. We rationalize our decisions and acts by pointing out the failure of others.
- 5) Criticism points out to our friends how strong we are. Criticism gives good feelings because our rigid beliefs and strong lives are proven again. Proven how? By our brother's failure.
- 6) Criticism is an outlet for hurt and revenge. We feel he deserves it. Subconsciously, if not consciously, we think, "He hurt me so he deserves to hurt, too." So we criticize the person who failed.

"For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults" (2 Cor.12:20).

"Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice" (Eph.4:31).

"Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge" (Jas.4:11).

"Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings" (1 Pt.2:1).

"Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer" (Ps.101:5).

2 (4:11) Judging Others—Criticism: judging others violates the law of God. Note exactly what Scripture says:

"He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law" (v.11).

This is a shocking statement: talking about and slandering a brother is speaking evil of the law. What does this mean? When a person talks about and condemns others, he is violating the greatest of all laws, the royal law of love: the law that plainly declares that we are to love our neighbors as ourselves (Jas.2:8). The criticizer and backbiter himself becomes guilty of transgression, and his transgression violates the greatest of all laws, the law that commands us to love one another. In fact, the criticizer and backbiter does more harm than the person he is judging. The criticizer and backbiter is speaking evil of the law; that is, he is condemning another person for some failure while he himself is standing there breaking the law. He is talking about another person and breaking the law at the same time. He is saying that the law of love is not all that important; it can be sometimes ignored, neglected, abused, and violated. The person who talks about others is guilty of double sin: he not only violates the law of love, he talks about and criticizes others for breaking some commandment or for coming short and failing in some area of life. He is a double hypocrite: he not only ignores the great law of love by talking about others, he slanders others for their failure. He is guilty of slandering others and of using the law to slander them. He is, as Scripture says, speaking evil of the law. His speaking evil against his brother does not uphold the law of love; it speaks evil and tears down the love of love.

"Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye? Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and, behold, a beam is in thine own eye? Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye" (Mt.7:1-5).

"And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these" (Mk.12:29-31).

"A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (Jn.13:34-35).

"Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things" (Ro.2:1).

"Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness [talk about, backbite], Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law" (Ro.13:8-10).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the Scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

3 (4:11) Judging Others: judging others sets one up as a judge or as a lawgiver. Again, note exactly what the Scripture says:

“He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother... judgeth the law.”

How is this? How does criticizing and backbiting and judging a brother make us judges of the law? When we criticize a brother, we are saying that the law he has broken is important, very important—so important that he should not have broken it—but the law of love is not important enough to keep us from criticizing him. We judge the law he has broken as important and the law of love as not so important. Note: this is a common practice of people, a very common practice. We choose which law should be kept and which can be occasionally broken. It may be the laws governing gluttony, anger, worship, sex, controlling what we look at and desire, drunkenness, covetousness, or the great law of love being discussed in this passage. But no matter what the law is, we judge the law when we pick and choose...

- which laws are important and which laws are not so important.
- which laws are binding and which laws are not so binding.
- which laws deserve our utmost attention and which laws do not deserve so much attention.
- which laws should be kept and which laws can occasionally be broken.

When we pick and choose, we set ourselves up above the law of God. We make ourselves the judge of the law; we make ourselves lawgivers. And note: this is not our function. Scripture declares plainly that our duty is to obey the law, not to be a judge of the law. This is exactly what the end of verse 11 says: “If you judge the law, you are not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Greek).

The person who talks about and judges a brother is not keeping the law, he is judging the law. He is saying that his brother is wrong, and that he has the right to slander his brother because he is wrong. He judges the great commandment of love to be of so little importance that he can violate it and slander his brother. The Scripture is clear: the criticizer has no right to judge his brother. He has no right to judge the law of love as unimportant. His only right is to do the law. His only duty is to keep and obey the law. He is not the judge, the person who formulates and gives the law. Therefore, he is not to criticize his brother. Contrariwise, he is to do the very thing his brother is to do: keep the law of God.

“And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?” (Mt.7:3).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?” (Ro.2:3).

“For not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified” (Ro.2:13).

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves” (Jas.1:22).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

4 (4:12) Judging Others: judging others usurps God’s right and authority. This verse is clear and forceful; it is a very strong warning to the criticizer and backbiter.

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (v.12).

God alone is the great Lawgiver, and Scripture declares: “There is [only] one lawgiver.” He and He alone has given the laws that are to judge and condemn our neighbors. Note closely: when we judge, criticize, and backbite our brothers, we are usurping God’s right to judge men. We are setting ourselves up in the place of God, making ourselves God—claiming the right to sit in judgment upon our brother. No person, not one of us, has the right to sit upon the throne of God’s judgment. Judgment and condemnation—criticizing, talking about, and picking out the shortcomings and failures of any brother—is God’s right and His alone. No one has the right to judge but God Himself.

This is strong, very strong, but God is not going to tolerate a person setting himself up as the judge, as God Himself, over someone else—not when the one who sits in judgment is but a mere sinful man who is ever so short himself.

Note one other fact as well: judging, condemning, criticizing, and talking about a person destroys the person. This is exactly what this verse says. There is only one Person who is able to save and destroy—only one Person who can judge and criticize another person as being either good or bad, as either worthy of being saved or destroyed—and that Person is God. God and God alone can save and destroy, not man. Not one of us is able to know and judge the whole truth about a person. Therefore, “who are you that you judge another person”—who do you think you are? God?

Thought 1. There are several reasons why we should never criticize another person.

- 1) All the circumstances and all the facts are never known. What happened and why it happened are just not known. There are always many behind-the-scene facts. Children and parents, wife and husband, employer and employee, friend and friend—things happen when they are alone behind closed doors. And unfortunately there is something seldom remembered: when people emerge from the closed doors and enter the public, the one who does the talking does not always reveal the true facts. The spirit of talk to others is the spirit of self-justification. The spirit of silence is the spirit of caring and compassion. The spirit of silence is always the spirit which desires no hurt for others, at least no more pain than what has to be borne.
- 2) All people—religious as well as non-religious—come short, fail, and fall. And we all sin often (1 Jn.1:8, 10). No one is ever exempt from sin. When we criticize and judge, we have a problem: we forget that we are sinners. When we acknowledge our own true condition, we act with care and compassion toward all as they come short. They are failing now; we failed before. Our friend shall fail later. No one is ever exempt from sin. It is a continual cycle that is the downfall of mankind. The believer must always remember that his righteousness is Jesus Christ, and he is always dependent upon Christ's righteousness (2 Cor.5:21; Ph.3:8-16). He must always be seeking God's forgiveness and forgetting those things that are behind.... (1 Jn.1:9; Ph.3:13-14).

Now this does not mean that we have license to sin nor that our sin is excused. We are not to continue in sin, not by criticizing nor by doing any other evil. But we must acknowledge our weakness and remember that the person who really knows God is the person who is ever seeking God. "He that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him" (Heb.11:6).

- 3) All there is to know about a person is never known. How then can we criticize? Think about childhood for a moment. Eighteen years is a long time. Day by day moves into a week, and week by week stretches into a month, and month by month lasts and lasts until a year has arrived. And year by year is a long, long time for a child to be moulded into a life. What kind of mother, what kind of father, what kind of friends did the failing person have to influence and mould him? What kind of genes and temperament has he inherited and developed: fiery, composed, inferior, strict, strong, lovable, shy? So much goes into influencing a human life that only God can know a person, know him well enough to judge him. Certainly we can never know one another well enough to pass judgment.
- 4) Judging others usurps God's authority. When a person criticizes another, he is saying that he is worthy and has the right to be the judge over other lives. He is claiming the right to be God, which is ridiculous. Yet most lay claim to the right at one time or another, and some claim the right to exercise a judgmental spirit all the time.

Note what Scripture says, "Who are thou that judgest another man's servant? To his own master [God] he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand" (Ro.14:4; cp. Jas.4:11-12).

"Judge not, that ye be not judged" (Mt.7:1).

"Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things. But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things" (Ro.2:1-2).

"Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God" (1 Cor.4:5).

"There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who are thou that judgest another?" (Jas.4:12).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL, BUT ESPECIALLY THE GIFTED, 4:11-5:6

B. Temptation 2: The Humanist—Boasting Self-Sufficiency, 4:13-17

(14:13-17) Introduction: self-sufficiency is a terrible sin in the eyes of God. The reason is because man is ever so frail, infirmed, corruptible, and subject to disease, accident, heart attacks, and death at the snap of a finger. Yet despite his frailty and the uncertainty of his life, man still ignores God and walks upon earth as though his future is totally in his hands. This is the whole philosophy of humanism, the boast that man is the ultimate being in control of his life and fate. Such a boast is utter foolishness when man is nothing more than a speck before the Omniscience (all-knowing) and Omnipotent (all-powerful) mind that created a universe that is as vast as ours. Humanism or self-sufficiency is so unreasonable and illogical that it is totally unworthy of a thinking and honest being. Yet it is the very position and philosophy, the very lifestyle chosen by so many people. This is the subject of the present passage—the terrible sin of humanism, of boasting self-sufficiency—the temptation that strikes so many of the gifted people of this earth.

1. Self-sufficiency is planning without God (13).
2. Self-sufficiency is failure to recognize the uncertainty of life (v.14).
3. Self-sufficiency is failure to acknowledge God (v.15).
4. Self-sufficiency is boasting, bragging, and arrogance (v.16).
5. Self-sufficiency is sin (v.17).

1 (4:13) Self-sufficiency: self-sufficiency is planning without God. There is nothing wrong with making plans. We should plan and prepare for the future. In fact, we should never fail to take the time to plan. Scripture is very clear about this: we are not to be slothful in business or in any endeavor (Ro.12:11). Believers are to plan and think about their ventures and behavior before they act. In fact, there is usually not enough planning; therefore, so much that we do comes short and turns out to have been wrong decisions. Planning before we act is not what this Scripture is talking about; it is warning us not to plan without God.

Yet, despite the warning of Scripture—and Scripture gives warning after warning—most men plan their lives without God. They plan as if their own wills and desires controlled the destiny of life. Note the example of Scripture (v.13): How many plan to go to the city or place where they can get gain, where they can...

- | | |
|--------------------------|----------------------|
| • get a job | • enter business |
| • establish a profession | • launch a career |
| • become successful | • earn a living |
| • be famous | • gain a recognition |
| • become important | |

Yet, in all their planning they do not consider God—not to the point of making sure that it is His will and making sure that they acknowledge Him in all their ways. But why not? Why does man not acknowledge God as he lays plans and walks through his plans? Because of self-sufficiency. Most people just feel little need for God. They feel that their destiny lies in their hands; that they control their future. They feel that their future and the future of all other men lie in man's own...

| • ability | • technology |
| • plans | • science |
| • energy | • industry |
| • effort | • education |
| • works | • training |
| • discipline | • production |
| • confidence | • economy |
| • image | • employment |

The point is this: man feels self-sufficient, perfectly capable of handling his own life and work. Therefore, he lives and works with little meaningful trust being placed in God. Man just does not acknowledge much if any need for God. Note verse 13: it pictures man's attitude rather descriptively. Man feels so self-sufficient that...

- he plans the day of his departure: today or tomorrow.
- he plans to seek his future in a particular city.
- he even plans how long he will seek success in his efforts: one year.
- he plans the details of his endeavor and work: he plans to buy and sell.
- he plans and projects his costs and profits, the very gain he can expect at the end of the year.

Again, this is not wrong. He not only should, but he must plan his life and work while he is on earth. It is the only way he can fulfill his purpose for being on earth. But he must seek God's will and guidance, help and care, and he must acknowledge God as he plans and lives out his plans. This is the great error of the self-sufficient person—the person who feels that man is the supreme and ultimate end of life—that man can handle his own affairs and life without God.

Thought 1. Note the great error of self-sufficiency, of planning without God. How can a person ever be sure...

- that he will ever reach the city or place of his plans?
- that he will not have an accident or be stricken with some disease?
- that something will not cut into his plans?
- that he will be able to continue in his chosen city or place?
- that people will recognize and support and patronize his work and efforts?
- that the economy and money and business will hold and continue to be successful?

A thousand possibilities exist; a thousand things can happen to our plans. Utter disruption of our future is no farther away than a split second in an automobile accident or within a doctor's routine examination. The future of every person on earth is at most a small boat on the stormy and uncertain sea of life.

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures: by thy great wisdom and by thy traffic hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches” (Ezk.28:4-5).

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal” (Mt.6:19-20).

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

“And these are they which are sown among thorns; such as hear the word, and the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:18-19).

“Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth” (Col.3:2).

“For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out” (1 Tim.6:7).

2 (4:14) Self-sufficiency—Life, Uncertain: self-sufficiency is failure to recognize the uncertainty of life. There are two reasons why tomorrow is uncertain.

1. Our minds and nature are limited. We just cannot know the future. No matter what we may plan or think, we do not know what will happen tomorrow; we are completely in the dark. Think for a moment: What will happen tomorrow?

- | | |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------|
| ⇒ an accident | ⇒ a plane crash |
| ⇒ some disease | ⇒ money lost |
| ⇒ a broken relationship | ⇒ a serious fire |
| ⇒ some bad news | ⇒ a stock market rise or fall |
| ⇒ some good news | ⇒ some stock collapse |
| ⇒ death | |

We do not know about tomorrow. In fact, we do not know what will happen one hour from now. The point is this: we forget and ignore our nature—who we are, how limited we really are, how uncertain life with all its happenings and events really is. There is a tendency within man to ignore the fact of his frailty and weakness. In all the pride and arrogance of his soul, he wants to be in control of his own life and destiny, to be completely self-sufficient. He wants to have no need whatsoever for God. But this is utter foolishness, for man cannot know what will happen tomorrow. His very nature is limited, so limited that he cannot know much about what is happening now and very little about what happened in the past. He does not and cannot know about tomorrow.

2. Our lives at most are only as a vapor that appears for a brief time and then vanishes away. Once we are born into this world, the only thing we can know for sure is that we will die; sooner or later we will die.

Life is just like a vapor: it appears and can be seen, but it is not solid or substantial or permanent. It is shifted and buffeted about and disappears ever so soon—all because of its nature and the changes in its environment. So it is with life: it appears and then it is gone, vanished away. The end of life will come to everyone of us, and nothing can stop it. It may come today or tomorrow, but it is coming. It may be due to...

- a faulty bolt or tire
- someone falling asleep at the controls
- an accident
- a disease
- a thief
- a heart attack
- a fire
- a drowning
- old age

We seldom know when death comes and how it will come. But come it will, and when it comes, we are snatched out into eternity never to return to this life. We are gone forever. Life is uncertain, totally uncertain. It is not even certain for today, much less for tomorrow. Therefore, refusing to face up to this fact is utter foolishness.

- ⇒ Living a self-sufficient life apart from God is the depth of foolishness.
- ⇒ Planning the future without planning for one's eternal future is the depth of foolishness.

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For we must needs die, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again; neither doth God respect any person: yet doth he devise means, that his banished be not expelled” (2 Sam.14:14).

“My days are swifter than a weaver's shuttle, and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“Now my days are swifter than a post: they flee away, they see no good” (Job 9:25).

“For I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all living” (Job 30:23).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as a handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Nevertheless man being in honor abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up. In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth” (Ps.90:5-6).

“For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust. As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:14-16).

“There is no man that hath power over the spirit to retain the spirit; neither hath he power in the day of death: and there is no discharge in that war; neither shall wickedness deliver those that are given to it” (Eccl.8:8).

“Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?” (Is.2:22).

“Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a shepherd's tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining sickness: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me” (Is.38:12).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the LORD bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass” (Is.40:6-7).

“They shall not hunger nor thirst: neither shall the heat nor sun smite them: for he that hath mercy on them shall lead them, even by the springs of water shall he guide them” (Is.49:10).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

“But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away” (Is.64:6).

3 (4:15) Self-sufficiency: self-sufficiency is failure to acknowledge God. A person should consult God in his plans and life, but most, by far most, do not. Most people go about living life like they want; they seldom consider God. But this is not the way life is to be lived. A person is to acknowledge God and confess his dependency upon God. Note that man is said to be dependent upon God for two things.

1. Man is dependent upon God for life: he should say, “If the Lord will, I shall live.” This means that whether he lives or not and how he lives is in the hands of God. Therefore, a man should depend upon God for life; he should pray and discuss his life with God, such things as...

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| • his wealth | • his welfare |
| • protection | • provision |
| • security | • food |
| • housing | • clothing |
| • fulfillment | • love |
| • joy | • peace |

Everything concerning life itself—whether we live or die and how well we live—should be discussed with God. He and He alone is in charge of life and how long we are upon this earth. He loves us and wants to look after and care for us. But we must trust and depend upon Him, fellowship and commune with Him day by day and moment by moment or else He cannot help us. Just think! We can have the love and presence, provision and protection of God. Our lives can be in the perfect will of God. We can live and walk upon earth praying and proclaiming to the world: "If He wills, I shall live—my life and its future and destiny is in the hands and provision and protection of God, totally and completely in His keeping."

2. Man is dependent upon God for all that he does: he should say, "If the Lord wills, I shall do this or that." This means that a man is not able to do what he plans unless God wills it—not a single thing. A thousand things can happen to prevent us from carrying out our plans, even within the next hour, much less tomorrow. Therefore, a person should trust God, pray, and talk over all his ways with God...

- the ways of his work, each and every activity all through the day.
- the ways of his day, each and every turn all through the day.
- the ways of his relationships, each and every relationship all through the day.

No matter what way a person turns, the person should acknowledge God in all his ways. He should be walking and praying all day long, acknowledging God in all his ways: praying for God's will as he does this and that.

"In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths" (Pr.3:6).

"And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:2).

"But bade them farewell, saying, I must by all means keep this feast that cometh in Jerusalem: but I will return again unto you, if God will. And he sailed from Ephesus" (Acts 18:21).

"But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will know, not the speech of them which are puffed up, but the power" (1 Cor.4:19).

"For I will not see you now by the way; but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit" (1 Cor.16:7).

"Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven" (Mt.6:10).

"For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother" (Mt.12:50).

"He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy will be done" (Mt.26:42).

"And he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless, not as I will but as thou wilt" (Mt.26:39).

"And Mary said, Behold the handmaid of the Lord, be unto me according to thy word. And the angel departed from her" (Lk.1:38).

"If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (Jn.7:17).

"Not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart" (Eph.6:6).

"Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God" (Ro.6:13).

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you" (Jas.4:7).

"Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness" (Ps.143:10).

"I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart" (Ps.40:8).

"For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that" (Jas.4:15).

4 (4:16) Self-sufficiency—Boasting: self-sufficiency is boasting, bragging, and arrogance. The word "boastings" (alazoniais) means an empty boaster (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.56). That is, it is a person who boasts about something he thinks he has, but he does not really have it. He lives in an unreal world. Any person who goes through life without God is just like this. He lives and plans, thinking that he controls his life and the future. His life is one big boast of self-sufficiency, and it is wrong, totally wrong. A thousand things can happen to change his plans—to injure him or to radically change his life and work, or to snatch his life right out of this world.

Most people boast—laymen and ministers alike—boast of their work, what they have done, their ability and possessions. But note a fact seldom thought about: most boasting is not done by word of mouth. It is done by the way we live. We boast by flaunting our abilities and successes through our possessions and activities such as expensive houses, clothes and cars, exclusive clubs, friendships, and recreation.

We have an urge, a tendency to boast and to be seen and recognized as better and more successful than others. And note what Scripture says: we rejoice in our boastings—that we are more successful in our work than some others. But such boastings—such pride and arrogance—are evil. Why? Because a man's ability and life are due to God and rest in the hands of God. And in addition to this: the future—tomorrow and even one hour from now—is in the hands of God. It may be a heart attack—it may be a thief—it may be an accident—it is all in the hands of God. What a person needs to do is trust God and commit all his ways into the hands of God, acknowledging Him in all things and at every turn of every day.

"Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof" (Mt.6:34).

"And he spake a parable unto them, saying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully: and he thought within himself, saying, What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits? And he said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God” (Lk.12:16-21).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the Lord abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

5 (4:17) Self-sufficiency: self-sufficiency is sin. This is a striking definition of sin: to know that we should do something and to refuse to do it is sin. As simply stated as possible: when we know to do good and refuse to do it, it is sin. A person is to trust and acknowledge God, pray and ask God for His presence, guidance, help, care, and strength...

- when he plans today and tomorrow.
- when he goes into a city.
- when he continues in the city.
- when he buys and sells.
- when he gets gain.
- when he does this and that.

A person is to walk in fellowship and communion with God day by day and moment by moment, acknowledging Him in all his ways. He is to commit his life—all his ways—unto the Lord. Refusing to do so is sin, and the wages of sin is death—spiritual and eternal death.

“And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:26-27).

“And that servant, which knew his lord’s will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes” (Lk.12:47).

“What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him?” (Jas.2:14).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name [boasts, lives like] that thou livest, and art dead” (Rev.3:1).

“Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die” (Ezk.18:4).

“The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead” (Pr.21:16).

DIVISION V

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMMON TO ALL, BUT ESPECIALLY THE GIFTED, 4:11-5:6

C. Temptation 3: The Rich Man—Hoarding Wealth, 5:1-6

(5:1-6) Introduction: the rich person faces a fierce temptation, a temptation so ferocious that it will consume him unless he lives ever so close to the Lord. What is the temptation that so fiercely attacks the rich? The temptation to bank and hoard money instead of using it to meet the needs of the desperate and dying in the world. The Bible never condemns all rich persons. It only condemns the rich who store up their wealth instead of using it to reach the lost, feed the hungry, cloth the naked, shelter the cold and homeless, nurse the sick, and sound the glorious news of salvation around the world. Within this world—a world that reels under the weight of desperate needs—how can anyone keep a dime more than he needs? How can anyone keep from committing all he is and has to help and minister to people? How can anyone not live and give sacrificially in order to meet the needs of the needy? God knows that we are without excuse. This is the reason for this passage—to warn all the rich of this world—all who keep more than what they need.

1. A strong summons—weep and howl if you are hoarding wealth (v.1).
2. Summons 1: weep and howl, for wealth is not lasting (v.2-3).
3. Summons 2: weep and howl, for hoarding wealth condemns you (v.3).
4. Summons 3: weep and howl for the way you are living (v.4-6).

1 (5:1) Riches—Wealth—Judgment: this is a strong summons to rich people.

“You rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you” (Jas.5:1).

“Weep and howl” (klausate ololuzontes) means to burst into weeping and to howl with grief if you are hoarding money (A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.57). Why? Because miseries (plural) are coming upon you—such miseries that are so terrible that you need to begin weeping and howling now. There shall be...

- miseries of afflictions
- miseries of emptiness
- miseries of loneliness
- miseries of purposelessness
- miseries of mind
- miseries of insecurity
- miseries of passion
- miseries in this world
- miseries in eternity
- miseries in judgment
- miseries in hell

Riches that are hoarded will fail a person; they will not satisfy and they will doom a person. They will bring all kinds of miseries upon a person. Therefore, weigh the summons of God.

2 (5:2-3) Riches—Wealth: God’s first summons—weep and howl, for wealth is not lasting. Note the three things mentioned.

- ⇒ There are riches that are corrupted (sesepen): the word corrupted means rotted. This would refer to such things as farm produce like wheat and vegetables or building products like wood or wallboard. Many a person gains a comfortable and lavish living and in some cases wealth through farming or construction or some other industry whose products eventually rot away.
- ⇒ There are garments that become moth-eaten. This would include the textile and clothing industries. Many gain their living and lavish lifestyle or riches through these industries.

⇒ There is gold and silver that is cankered or rusted. This refers to mineral, chemical, metal, and mining interests of the economy. Now, James knew that gold and silver did not rust, not in the ordinary sense of the word. What then does he mean? He means that if the minerals lie unused they will become coated over with filth, tarnished, corroded, and eventually worn away.

The point is this: if farm produce and building products sit unused, they rot. If textile garments sit unused, they are moth-eaten. If gold and silver sit unused, they become coated with filth and eventually corrode and waste away. The point is striking, for it is a fact seldom considered. If wealth—money or anything else—is hoarded, it is useless. It does nothing but sit there, and eventually it will be gone. It will never be used for the good that it could do. The rich person who has it will contribute nothing to his generation but...

- produce and buildings that rot.
- clothing that is eaten away.
- gold and silver that waste away.

What a terrible tragedy! To have done nothing but leave the world the material things that age, corrupt, deteriorate, rot, decay, and pass away forever and ever. Wealth—riches and material and physical things—does not last.

“The increase of his house shall depart, and his goods shall flow away in the day of his wrath” (Job 20:28).

“For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others” (Ps.49:10).

“Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven” (Pr.23:5).

“For riches are not for ever: and doth the crown endure to every generation?” (Pr.27:24).

“Yea, I hated all my labour which I had taken under the sun: because I should leave it unto the man that shall be after me” (Eccl.2:18).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

“For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out” (1 Tim.6:7).

3 (5:3) Riches—Wealth: God’s second summons—weep and howl, for hoarding wealth condemns you. Wealth will condemn us in three ways.

1. Wealth will stand as a witness against us. When? Now and in the day of judgment. When we hoard money and live extravagantly and lavishly, four persons see something:

- ⇒ Every person who is concerned with the desperate needs of this world sees that we are living a selfish life. All of these care and wish that the rich and hoarding would wake up and get to the task that is theirs, the task of meeting the desperate needs of the world.
- ⇒ Every poor and needy person sees that we are living a selfish and hoarding life. They see that some of the rich care and others do not.
- ⇒ All others in the world, including those who are rich and hoarding, see that the rich are living a selfish and hoarding life. But they ignore the fact and do not care enough to change or to fulfill their duty to the world and God.
- ⇒ God sees that we are living a selfish and hoarding life. Sometimes the rich have to fear the poor, for the poor sometimes rise up against the rich and threaten and destroy their lives. But the rich must always fear God, for God is the One who can destroy both body and soul in hell.

The point is this: our wealth and hoarding stand as a witness against us even while we are on earth. But the witness that we must fear the most is the witness that shall be borne in the terrible day of eternal judgment.

2. Wealth shall eat our flesh as a fire. If we hoard money, the passion to hoard more and more money will burn within us. The more we hoard, the more we will desire and lust to hoard. Lust and more lust will burn within us, and the passion for more and more will consume us. We will never be satisfied and fulfilled in life. The fire of passion and lust for wealth will destroy us both now and forever. It will eat our flesh and become the consuming fire and passion of our lives: it will burn and burn, consume and consume until it eternally destroys us.

“And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged himself” (Mt.27:5).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:9-10).

“Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days” (Jas.5:3).

“He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity” (Eccl.5:10).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil” (Hab.2:9).

“He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own house; but he that hateth gifts shall live” (Pr.15:27).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

3. Wealth shall be stored up as a treasure against us in the last days. This refers to the days of coming judgment when all men shall stand and give account of themselves to God. The words heaping together picture working day by day and hour by hour to heap up treasures on earth, and at the same time, the person is heaping wrath against himself in the terrible day of God's judgment. Treasures of wealth that are heaped up become treasures of wrath heaped up—all of which will savagely fall upon the rich person. Why? Because the rich person hoards while a world of needy people die from hunger, cold, disease, and are doomed eternally.

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal” (Mt.6:19-20).

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“But woe unto you that are rich! for ye have received your consolation” (Lk.6:24).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him. These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, having men's persons in admiration because of advantage” (Jude 14-16).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God: and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were written in the books, according to their works” (Rev.20:12).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according to his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

“I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings” (Jer.17:10).

4 (5:4-6) Riches—Wealth: God's third summons—weep and howl for the way you are living as a rich person. Four descriptions are given.

1. Some rich persons cheat, steal, and defraud the workers. Note what usually happens when they do: the cheated person cries out to God in his suffering. When he does, God hears him. And note who God is: the Lord of Sabaoth. This is the Hebrew word meaning Lord of hosts or Lord of armies. It refers to God's omnipotence, His unlimited power to help the poor, the disadvantaged, and the oppressed. God will execute judgment, wrath, and hell upon the oppressors. This is exactly what God will do to those who cheat and defraud the workers and laborers of the world. Rich persons can steal and defraud...

- by not paying just wages.
- by not paying a full hour or day's wage.
- by not paying for all the work done.
- by withholding more than what they should.
- by adding to the bill the laborer owes for supplies.
- by adding weight to the scales that measure what is being bought.

On and on the list could go as to how the rich cheat the worker and the poor. Scripture has much to say about cheating people out of their due wages.

⇒ The person who lies in order to get wealth is a person seeking death.

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

⇒ The person who oppresses the poor is going to meet a day of severe need.

“He that oppresseth the poor to increase his riches, and he that giveth to the rich, shall surely come to want” (Pr.22:16).

⇒ The person who steals to get riches will suddenly die right in the midst of his day. He will prove himself to be a fool.

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

⇒ The person who builds his estate by fraudulent means is warned and shall be condemned.

“Woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbor's service without wages, and giveth him not for his work” (Jer.22:13).

⇒ The person who gets gain dishonestly shall be smitten by God's own hand.

“Behold, therefore I have smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midst of thee” (Ezk.22:13).

⇒ God will never forget a single one of the dishonest works of the rich.

“Hear this, O ye that swallow up the needy, even to make the poor of the land to fail, saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell corn? and the sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifying the balances by deceit? That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes; yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat? The LORD hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works” (Amos 8:4-7).

⇒ The person who oppresses the worker shall face the judgment of God.

“And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers and against those that oppress the hireling [worker] in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts” (Mal.3:5).

Scripture also has much to say about treating workers justly and fairly. No person is to get money by extortion nor to charge more interest or taxes than what he should.

“To turn aside the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherless!” (Is.10:2).

“In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood; thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God” (Ezk.22:12).

“Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat: ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them” (Amos 5:11).

“But the same servant went out, and found one of his fellow servants, which owed him a hundred pence: and he laid hands on him, and took him by the throat, saying, Pay me that thou owest” (Mt.18:28).

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“Thou shalt not oppress a hired servant that is poor and needy....at his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the LORD, and it be sin unto thee” (Dt.24:14-15).

“Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbor, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning” (Lev.19:13).

“Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it. Say not unto thy neighbor, Go, and come again, and tomorrow I will give; when thou hast it by thee” (Pr.3:27-28).

2. Note one other fact. Rich persons who hoard their money live selfishly in the luxury and pleasure of this world. They hoard and build up bank accounts and estates. They live in the pleasure of...

- | | |
|---------------|---------------|
| • big houses | • honor |
| • big cars | • fame |
| • recreation | • ego |
| • food | • self-esteem |
| • sex | • success |
| • power | • position |
| • recognition | |

They seek to live a life of pleasure and gratification, of being recognized and known as being successful and powerful, as a person who can have and enjoy what this earth has to offer. Note how a selfish life forgets God and the cries of the desperate and needy of the world.

“He that loveth pleasure shall be a poor man: he that loveth wine and oil shall not be rich” (Pr.21:17).

“Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleasures, that dwellest carelessly, that sayest in thine heart, I am, and none else besides me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children: but these two things shall come to thee in a moment in one day, the loss of children, and widowhood” (Is.47:8-9).

“And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection” (Lk.8:14).

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry” (Lk.12:19).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be” (Mt.24:38-39).

“Woe to them that are at ease in Zion....that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall” (Amos 6:1, 4).

3. Persons who hoard their money are making themselves fat for the day of slaughter. This is descriptive language; nevertheless, it is the warning of God to all of us who bank and hoard more than we need. We are rich in comparison to the poor, needy, and dying of the world. Our hoarding is adding more and more weight for the coming day of slaughter, that is, for the wrath of God’s terrible judgment.

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God; who will render to every man according to his deeds” (Ro.2:5-6).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

4. Some of the rich condemn and kill the righteous, and the righteous do not resist them. Note this: the one person whom the rich dislike the most is the person who teaches self-denial—that we are to give all that we are and have to meet the needs of the world. Therefore, the rich reject and condemn the righteous. The rich reject the message of self-denial and sacrificial giving that the righteous practice and teach. In addition, in a society that is given over to covetousness and pleasure, the rich and powerful will even persecute and kill the righteous because of his message.

Note: the righteous do not retaliate. They just keep on proclaiming the message of the glorious gospel of Christ Jesus. They continue to reach out to the desperate needs of the starving, diseased, poor, and needy of the world.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge you in their synagogues; and ye shall be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them and the Gentiles” (Mt.10:17-18).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold, we have forsaken all, and followed thee; what shall we have therefore?” (Mt.19:27).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you. Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:18-20).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMBATED STEP BY STEP, 5:7-20

A. Step 1: Be Patient—Endure—Keep Your Eyes Focused Upon the Return of the Lord, 5:7-11

(5:7-20) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Temptations—Trials, Victory Over: this begins the last section of the Book of James, a book that discusses the temptations and trials that confront and attack us day by day. It has been a helpful study, very helpful, and this last section is just as helpful. Temptations and trials must be combated step by step in order to conquer them. If we want victory over the temptations and trials of life, then we must combat them step by step. In particular, there are two steps that we must take.

1. Step 1: Be Patient—Endure—Keep Your Eyes Focused Upon the Return of the Lord (Jas.5:7-11).
2. Step 2: Take Each Circumstance and Respond Properly (Jas.5:12-20).

(5:7-11) Introduction: the temptations and trials of life are terrible foes. If we give in to temptations they can enslave and destroy us before we know it. Temptations can hook us on the world and its possessions and pleasures or else they can destroy our wills, families, friendships, or jobs. The trials of life can unsettle and disrupt our lives, and if we are not on guard, they can crush us through some bad happening or accident, disease or death. How can we overcome temptations and trials—conquer and gain a permanent victory over them? There are two steps. The first step is covered in this passage: be patient—endure—keep your eyes focused upon the Lord's return.

1. Be patient, for the Lord is going to come again (v.7).
2. Be as patient as the farmer, for the Lord's coming draws near (v.7-9).
3. Be as patient as the prophets in suffering, for they believed and spoke in the name of the Lord (v.10).
4. Be as patient as Job in suffering trials and temptations, for he saw the end of the Lord—that the Lord was full of compassion and mercy (v.11).

1 (5:7) Patient—Jesus Christ, Return: be patient, for the Lord is going to come again. Time and again Scripture declares in no uncertain terms that Jesus Christ is going to come again and return to earth.

⇒ Christ is coming again to reward every person for his work.

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

⇒ Christ is coming again to separate the sheep from the goats.

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

⇒ Christ is coming again to judge both the living and the dead.

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick [living] and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

⇒ Christ is coming again to execute judgment upon the unbelievers or the ungodly of the earth.

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have un-godly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him [the Lord]" (Jude 14-15).

⇒ Christ is coming again to judge believers.

"For we [believers] must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad" (2 Cor.5:10).

Note also what Scripture declares about the return of Christ and believers. It clearly declares how believers are to live.

⇒ Believers are to occupy themselves, be busy in serving the Lord until He comes.

"And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come" (Lk.19:13).

⇒ Believers are not to slack up one bit or lack a single gift until Christ returns.

"So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.1:7).

⇒ Believers are to be without spot and unrebukeable when Christ returns.

"That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Tim.6:14).

⇒ Believers are to deny ungodliness and worldly lusts and live soberly, righteously, and godly until Christ returns.

"Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ" (Tit.2:12-13).

⇒ Believers are to live so as not to be ashamed before Christ when He returns.

"And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming" (1 Jn.2:28).

Now, this is the whole point of this passage. We must be patient—endure all the temptations and trials of life, no matter how strong and terrible their onslaught may be. We must patiently combat their enslaving power and the spirit of discouragement and defeat that can sweep over our souls before we know it. The Lord is coming and He is going to reward or judge us. And one thing is sure: none of us want to be condemned when He returns (v.9). Therefore, how can we conquer the temptations and trials of life? How can we overcome them and be sure of being rewarded by the Lord when He returns? There is one way and only one way: be patient—endure—keep your eyes focused on the return of the Lord.

The word "patience" (makrothumeo) means longsuffering, bearing and suffering a long time, persevering, being constant, steadfast, and enduring. Note: this is a very special kind of patience—a spiritual patience that never gives in; it perseveres and suffers on and on no matter what attacks it. Two significant facts need to be noted about this spiritual patience.

⇒ First, spiritual patience is not a passive acceptance. It does not just lay back and accept trials and temptations as though they are a part of life and nothing can be done about them. Spiritual patience is an active, fighting endurance that confronts trials and temptations and that sets out to conquer them. Gaining the victory is the very purpose for patiently confronting and standing fast against them. The believer patiently confronts them to conquer them, not to be defeated by them.

⇒ Second, spiritual patience is a fruit of the Spirit (see note, pt.4—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion). When the believer faces some trial or temptation, the Holy Spirit arouses the urge to combat the situation and to conquer it. The arousal or the urge is stirred by the Spirit of God. It is up to us to respond and follow the urge of the Spirit and to persevere. It is up to us to refuse to give in to the enslavement or discouragement and defeat. This kind of patience is a spiritual patience—a work of the Holy Spirit—and it can be had only by trusting the Spirit of God. Therefore, the believer must trust the Spirit of God to stir his heart to stand fast against the temptation and trial, and then he must exert his own will and energy to conquer the situation. When the Holy Spirit does His part, the believer is to do his part. The believer is to patiently combat the temptation or trial when the Spirit of God arouses his heart. The believer is to stand fast and not to give in to the sin of the temptation or to the discouragement of the trial. He is to struggle and fight, persevere and endure—patiently suffer on and on against the temptation or trial—and all the while, he is to keep his eyes fixed on the goal and the end: the return of the Lord Jesus Christ. Keeping his eyes fixed upon the return of his wonderful Lord will stir the believer to follow the leadership and power of the Holy Spirit in combating all temptations and trials.

2 (5:7-9) Patience—Farmer: be as patient as the farmer, for the Lord's coming again draws near. The farmer is a good example of the kind of patient waiting believers must have as they wait for the Lord's return. The farmer plants his seed and patiently waits for the early rain to germinate the seed and the later rain to ripen the crop. Note this: the farmer looks forward to the day of harvest with great expectation—so much so that he does all he can to protect the glorious day of harvest. He combats the trials of dry and wet weather, insects and disease, and the wild weeds and briars of the world. No matter what confronts him the farmer patiently endures the trial and combats it every step of the way. He does all he can to conquer the trial. Why? Why does he labor so diligently? Endure so patiently? Because his eyes are fixed upon the great day of harvest.

The example for believers is strong: “Believers—you also be patient—patiently endure just as the farmer. Do two things.”

1. Believers must “establish” (sterixate) their hearts. The word means to set upon; to fix upon; to make fast (W.E. Vine. Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words, p.41). We must set our hearts upon the Lord’s coming, for His coming is near. The idea is that it is drawing ever so close and can happen at any moment. We must focus and set our hearts upon His return—be looking for it every day just as the farmer looks for his great day of harvest. Looking for the great day of redemption—for the Lord’s glorious return—will stir us to combat temptation and trial step by step. It will stir us to patiently endure no matter the situation, and by patiently enduring we shall gain the victory over all—no matter how bad the situation may be.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Behold, I come quickly, hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

2. Believers must not complain, murmur, and judge other believers. We must not complain about our situations, our trials and temptations, and we must not blame each other for what happens to us. This is one thing God will not tolerate. Note the Scripture: if we complain, murmur, and grumble, we shall be condemned. And, “behold, the judge stands before the door.” This is a warning, a strong warning. The Lord will judge all believers who complain, murmur, grumble, and judge others instead of conquering the trials and temptations of life. And His judgment is at hand, right at the door, ready to be executed against men.

“Neither murmur ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer” (1 Cor.10:10).

“Do all things without murmurings and disputings” (Ph.2:14).

“The foolishness of man perverteth his way: and his heart fretteth against the LORD” (Pr.19:3).

“Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment [in light] of his sins?” (Lam.3:39).

3 (5:10) Patience—Prophets: be as patient as the prophets in suffering affliction, for they believed and spoke in the name of the Lord. What James is saying is this: “Look at the prophets. Look at those who have gone before you—men and women who believed and hoped in God and bore witness to God. They faced all kinds of trials and temptations, but they patiently endured, combated and conquered them all. Look at the prophets, and you will have a great example to follow in patient endurance.” As Hebrews says:

“[They suffered] cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment: they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; (of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth” (Heb.11:36-38).

The prophets patiently endured all the trials and temptations of life. They stood fast, held onto their faith in God, and combated the trials and temptations every step of the way. They refused to give in and to question and moan and grumble against God. Contrariwise, they continued to proclaim the salvation and hope of God for the world—continued to believe and to speak up for God despite the terrible trials and temptations that swarmed in upon them.

“And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“Choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season” (Heb.11:25).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God” (1 Pt.2:20).

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

4 (5:11) Patience—Job: be as patient as Job in suffering trials and temptations, for he saw the end of the Lord—that the Lord was full of compassion and mercy. Few people ever suffer the trials and temptations of life as much as Job suffered. He suffered utter bankruptcy—the loss of all his property, livestock, and employees—and then, in the severest blow of all, he lost all of his sons in an accident. In addition to all this, his wife fussed at him because he refused to complain and curse God for destroying their lives. But note this: Job never gave in to the trials or temptations. He never forsook his faith in God. He did not understand all that was happening to him, but he refused to turn against God. He stood and patiently endured, struggling to conquer all and conquer it in the name of God.

“Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him” (Job 13:15).

“Also now, behold, my witness is in heaven, and my record is on high” (Job.16:19).

“For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth” (Job 19:25).

The point is this: Job kept his eyes fixed upon the end, that is, upon the Lord and the great hope of the Lord. The Lord carried Job through all his trials and temptations by blessing him with the very presence of God Himself—with the compassion and mercy of God. Job endured; therefore, we count him blessed or happy.

Thought 1. The believer is to bear the afflictions of trials and temptations by focusing his eyes upon the end, that is, upon the coming again of the Lord Jesus Christ. As we do, the compassion and mercy of God will flow both upon and through us. God will deliver us with His very own presence. He will deliver us through all the trials and temptations of life, giving us the most victorious life imaginable.

“He that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy” (Jas.5:11).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

“Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:9).

“The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger” (Job 17:9).

DIVISION VI

TEMPTATIONS AND TRIALS: COMBATED STEP BY STEP, 5:7-20

B. Step 2: Take Each Circumstance and Respond Properly, 5:12-20

(5:12-20) Introduction: How can we combat and conquer the temptations of life? There are two steps that must be taken. The first step has been discussed in the former passage: be patient and endure—keep your eyes fixed upon the return of the Lord Jesus Christ. Now, the second step is to be taken: take each circumstance and respond to it appropriately.

1. Circumstance 1: when heavily tried, do not curse or swear (v.12).
2. Circumstance 2: when your experience ranges from affliction to cheerfulness, pray and praise (v.13).
3. Circumstance 3: when sick, call for prayer from church leaders (v.14-15).
4. Circumstance 4: when you have sinned, confess your faults to one another and pray for one another (v.16-18).
5. Circumstance 5: when one is backslidden, seek him (v.19-20).

1 (5:12) Swearing—Cursing: there is the first circumstance. When heavily tried or tempted, do not swear or curse. Swearing or cursing is common today, so common that it has tragically become an acceptable practice in society. It is tragic because of what Scripture says about it. Note exactly what this verse says: “Above all things, my brothers, swear not at all.” Above all things; Scripture puts swearing and cursing right at the top of the list of its prohibitions. We are not to swear and curse. Why? Why would Scripture place swearing and cursing at the top of the things not do do? Because swearing and cursing is either taking God’s name in vain or else showing man’s worthlessness. A man’s word is a reflection of himself. He is either true or false. He is either trustworthy or undependable. If his word is untrue, he has lost his trustfulness and worth. There should, therefore, be no need for oaths. There should be no need for a man’s word to be reinforced, for a man’s word not to be taken at face value. His word should stand alone, sure and factual. When it does not, and he curses or swears, he shows a heart that is disturbed, lacking, or evil. No matter who the person may be—how high or low in society—his words reveal the truth of his heart: restless, assured, peaceful, full, and good or else disturbed, insecure, lacking, and evil.

Note three significant points. (See outline, note, and especially DEEPER STUDY # 1—Mt.5:33-37 for more discussion.)

1. There are at least six types of swearing.
 - a. There is swearing by oaths. Jesus was put upon His oath (Mt.26:63), and Paul swore by taking an oath (2 Cor.1:23; Gal.1:20). What then does James mean by saying, “Swear not”? Simply that a man’s word should be trustworthy in his day to day speech, so trustworthy that no oath is ever necessary. His character should be his guarantee, the only guarantee he needs.

A second explanation is also possible. Men are evil, so untrustworthy in their day to day dealings that worldly men require oaths. However, as stated above, the believer’s word and character should be his bond.
 - b. There is habitual, frivolous swearing. The unrighteous are said to have “mouths full of cursing and bitterness” (Ro.3:10, 14).
 - c. There is hypocritical swearing. There are some who “bless God” in one breath and turn around and “curse men” in the next breath. “Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing” (Jas.3:9-10).
 - d. There is silent, universal swearing. Every man is charged with secretly cursing others within his heart. “Thine own heart knoweth that thou thyself...hast cursed others” (Eccl.7:22).

- e. There is evasive swearing. Some do not use words that are foul, dirty, ugly, harsh, or binding. They would never use God's name in vain. Rather, they choose substitute words—words that are commonly used in everyday conversation, words that would never be considered swearing. Others choose what are thought to be milder curse words. By evading harsh swearing, they feel their word is not so binding. They count themselves less guilty.
- f. There is ego swearing. Many swear to boost their ego, their manliness around others. They feel an identity with the crowd by crossing over to the forbidden.

2. A person is not to swear by any oath, not by heaven or earth nor by any other oath. This is clearly stated by Scripture.

- a. Do not swear by heaven, for it is God's throne: the place where His glory is manifested (Is.66:1). To swear by heaven or to curse heaven is to swear by God and to curse God.
- b. Do not swear by earth, for the earth is God's footstool: the place He governs and looks over (Is.66:1; Ps.24:1). To swear by earth or to curse earth is to swear by God and to curse God.
- c. Do not swear by any other oath, for all power belongs to God. In reality, no man has any power to do anything. For example, he cannot change his stature. What power he has is given by God. In fact, the power man thinks he has can be taken away at any moment. Therefore, he really does not have the power to keep oaths. He can be disabled or snatched away at any moment. The recognition of this reality should cause a man to live so honestly and straightforwardly that his word alone is acceptable. Oaths and vows should not be necessary.

Note this: all power belongs to God; therefore, a man should stand in awe of God, not curse Him. But observe what it is that is usually cursed: God and the things of God, the very things that should not be cursed. This says much about the selfish, depraved nature of man. Cursing God is such a terrible sin that it is one of the ten commandments. A special judgment is even pronounced upon the curser (Ex.20:7). Cursing is meaningless, thoughtless, and irreverent.

“But I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by heaven; for it is God's throne” (Mt.5:34).

“[Men] whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness” (Ro.3:14).

“But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God” (Jas.3:8-9).

“But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation” (Jas.5:12).

“Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain: for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain” (Ex.20:7).

“And ye shall not swear by my name falsely, neither shalt thou profane the name of thy God: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:12).

“[The wicked person] His mouth is full of cursing and deceit and fraud: under his tongue is mischief and vanity” (Ps.10:7).

“For the sin of their mouth and the words of their lips let them even be taken in their pride: and for cursing and lying which they speak” (Ps.59:12).

“As he loved cursing, so let it come unto him: as he delighted not in blessing, so let it be far from him” (Ps.109:17).

“For oftentimes also thine own heart knoweth that thou thyself likewise hast cursed others” (Eccl.7:22).

3. A person is to let his word be so true that it is his guarantee. His word is to stand alone and be true. A man is to need no other words to show his character or strength—no curse words and no swearing words. A man should not have to say anymore than “yes I will....” or “no, I will not....” His life should be so honest and straight that no one would ever question his word. When he speaks, everyone should know that it will be done, that he will see to it that it is done. In fact, Jesus Christ said that anything more than straightforward words are of evil.

“But let your communication be Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil” (Mt.5:37).

Something that is often overlooked is this fact: swearing and cursing do not make a matter more believable; they really make a matter more suspicious. A person swears something because his character or the matter is questionable. What an indictment of depravity! Yet swearing and cursing are the acceptable habits of men.

“Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men” (Mt.5:13).

“But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil” (Mt.5:37).

“Let your speech be alway with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:7-8).

2 (5:13) Prayer—Praise: there is the second circumstance. When our experiences range from affliction to cheerfulness, let us pray and praise. When we face trouble, we pray; when we are free of trouble, we praise. This does not mean that we do not praise God in the midst of trouble nor that we do not pray in times of no trouble. We pray and praise God all the time. But when we are facing trouble, God wants us primarily seeking Him for power and deliverance and for courage to be a great witness for Him as we walk through it all. And when we are free of trouble, God wants us mainly praising and rejoicing in Him.

1. Temptations and trials afflict everyone upon earth, all kinds of temptations and trials.

⇒ There are such temptations as worldliness, lust, and pride.

⇒ There are such trials as accidents, disappointments, unfaithfulness, bad times, and bad feelings.

When such circumstances strike us, we are to combat them by prayer. We are to pray and seek God for His presence and guidance, His power and strength to walk right through the trial. And we are to ask God for the courage to be a dynamic witness for Him and His glorious salvation.

“Seek the Lord and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

“Ask, and it shall be given you: seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

2. Most people upon earth also have times when they are free from trials and temptations. As stated, these are times when God wants us walking primarily in praise and worship of Him. This does not mean that we are to walk around boisterously, slapping everyone on the back and acting like a jolly joker. It means that we are to be cheerful in the Lord, showing the world that there is joy in the Lord—the joy of assurance and confidence in the eternal salvation and life that Christ provides. This is the kind of joy that is to be shown to the world, the joy of confidence and assurance in the eternal future offered by God. This is the praise that is to be constantly flowing from our lips.

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy; as it is written, For this cause I will confess to thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy name” (Ro.15:9).

“Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:19).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“Sing praises to the LORD, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings” (Ps.9:11).

“Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee” (Ps.67:3).

3 (5:14-15) Healing—Sickness, Praying for: there is the third circumstance. When you are sick, call for the church leaders and have them pray for you.

1. Note the four facts given in this passage.

a. “Is any sick among you?” The sick are those who are so sick that they are shut-ins—unable to get out and go to the ministers and leaders of the church.

b. “Is any sick among you? Let him call for the elders [ministers or leaders] of the church.” The sick person is to be so concerned over his welfare and so trusting of God that he knows that God can heal him. He also believes in prayer, that where two of three are gathered together in the name of Christ, Christ will be there in more power.

c. “Let them [the elders] pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord.” Two things are done by the elders:

⇒ They pray for the sick shut-in.

⇒ They anoint him with oil.

And they do both things in the name of the Lord. That is, they know that the Lord alone is the Healer of our sicknesses. We are not healed by our prayers nor by oil, but by the Lord. But the elders also know two other things:

- ⇒ First, God has commanded us to pray for deliverance and healing in times of affliction and suffering.
- ⇒ Second, God has told us to anoint the sick with oil.

d. “The prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up....” The Lord will heal the sick person and forgive his sins because of the prayer of faith.

2. Second, picture the scene of what is being said in this passage. A dear, dear brother or sister—one who is very dear to us—is so sick that he is bedridden. His sickness is permanent, so permanent that if he is ever going to join us in the worship of the Lord again, the Lord is going to have to miraculously heal him. Our dear brother or sister is hopelessly bedridden and will be bedridden for the rest of his life. What is he or she to do? Just lie there and give up to the trial and temptation to limit God’s power? What should the elders (ministers and leaders) of the church do? Just encourage the dear brother to bear his affliction and suffering—to just lie there and accept his affliction with no hope of ever being healed by God?

This passage emphatically says “no!” Neither the dear brother or sister or the elders should give up to the trial or sickness. As simply as possible, Scripture says that they should do two things:

- ⇒ Gather around the sick person and pray.
- ⇒ Gather around the sick person and anoint him with oil.

But note: they are to pray in faith—pray knowing and expecting God to heal the sick person. And as already stated, the prayer of faith will save the sick person.

Now, for a couple of questions.

- ⇒ Does this work? Is this what God expects us to do when one of our loved ones or dear brothers or sisters become sick? Let us answer these questions by asking several other questions.
- ⇒ What is there in this passage or in this book that says this is not a clear instruction of Scripture? It would seem that raw honesty before the Lord—without preconceived notions—would require us to say that this instruction stands as the Lord’s instructions as much as any other in the Book of James.
- ⇒ Why not do this? What is wrong with going to a dear brother or sister—one whom we love ever so deeply and one who has been among us as one of God’s faithful worshippers and servants—and putting a little oil on his head and praying for God to heal him? He is a dear brother who is hurting, suffering, and racked with excruciating pain, and he has been given no hope. What is wrong with us doing all we can for him? What is wrong with praying with all the faith we can arouse within our hearts and minds?

All believers, of course, have to answer these questions for themselves; but as we answer them, we must be honest—honest to God and His Word and honest to ourselves and our loved ones. There is no question—absolutely no question—these instructions are in the Word of God. Their presence and clear instructions cannot be denied. What, then, are we to do? What does God want us to do? Regardless of what men say and do, what does God really want us to do? What does His Word say?

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you” (Mt.17:20).

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth” (Mk.9:23).

“According to the custom of the priests’ office, his lot was to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord. And the whole multitude of the people were praying without at the time of incense” (Lk.1:9-10).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

3. Note the instruction to anoint with oil. Why would Scripture tell us to anoint the sick with oil? There are two excellent reasons.

- a. Oil is a symbol of the Holy Spirit, of His presence. The oil helps the sick person to focus and concentrate upon the presence of the Holy Spirit and His power. It is often difficult for a sick person to focus and concentrate. This is especially true with those who are hurting and suffering, racked with excruciating pain. It is also true of those with jerky and short attention spans. The oil—its presence and placement upon the body—helps the sick focus and concentrate upon the Holy Spirit, His presence and power.
- b. Oil is a symbol of God’s care, comfort, and joy, of His mercy to us. It is the oil of gladness. Therefore, oil actually focuses the attention and stirs the sick to believe in God’s will to be merciful and His desire to fill the believer’s heart with gladness.

“Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness: therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Ps.45:7).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:9).

Thought 1. William Barclay has a comment well worth our noting:

“The Church has always cared for her sick; and in the Church there has always resided the gift of healing. The social gospel is not an appendix to Christianity; it is the very essence of the Christian faith and life” (The Letters of James and Peter, p.153).

4 (5:16-18) Confession: there is the fourth circumstance. When you have sinned, confess your faults to one another and pray for one another. Does this mean that believers are to go around confessing all their sins in all their intimacies and ugliness? No! This is not what this passage is talking about. It is referring to certain types of sins or to certain times when we are to confess our sins. We should confess our sin...

- when the sin has been a wrong or injustice done against someone else.
- when we have misled or lied to someone.
- when we have offended someone or caused someone to stumble and sin.
- when restitution should be made.
- when we have publicly committed some crime and public forgiveness is required.
- when a trusted minister or Christian counselor may be able to help us in seeking repentance and restoration before God and man.

Note why we should confess our faults to one another: so that we can pray for one another. Prayer is of critical importance for one reason:

⇒ “The effectual, fervent prayer—the earnest, working power of prayer...avails much” (v.16).

As has already been seen, prayer—a real prayer of faith—heals a sick believer (v.15). And now in this verse, prayer that is really earnest is a prayer that works and heals a sin-sick soul (v.16).

Elijah is an excellent example of the power of prayer. He was a man just like us, a human being who had passions and feelings just like we have and who faced the same temptations and trials that we do. Yet Elijah earnestly prayed for it not to rain, and it did not rain for three years and six months. Then he prayed again for it to rain, and it rained and the earth bore its fruit (cp. 1 Ki.17:1f; 18:1f; Lk.4:25). The point is this: prayer—earnest and fervent prayer—is effective; it works. God hears and answers prayer.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened” (Mt.7:7-8).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

“Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting” (Mt.17:21).

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God: and the prisoners heard them. And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken: and immediately all the doors were opened, and every one’s bands were loosed” (Acts 16:25-26).

“And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit” (Jas.5:18).

5 (5:19-20) Backsliding: there is the fifth circumstance. When a believer has backslidden, seek him. This is speaking of believers: brothers, if any of you stray from the truth. Note that believers can....

- stray away from the truth (v.19).
- walk in the way of error (v.20).

When this happens, the believers of the church are to seek to convert him, that is, to lead him to repentance. The word convert means to turn, hence to take him by the hand and lead him to repentance. What a descriptive picture: loving one another so much that as soon as a believer slips into sin...

- we take him by the hand.
- we turn him around and lead him to repent.

Thought 1. What a different place the church and world would be if we loved one another so much that we actually did this! How desperately such a ministry of reclamation and restoration is needed today! What is to prevent ministers from arousing their people to set up ministries of reclamation and restoration?

Note: if we turn a believer around from his sin, we save his soul from death and cover a multitude of sin. What is meant by death here? The great Greek scholar A.T. Robertson says that the person saved here is a believer being won back to Christ: “the soul of the sinner [hamartolon] won back to Christ...It is the ultimate and final salvation here meant by the future [sosei]”—that is by the words “shall save” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.67). (See notes—Heb.10:26-27, but especially DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16 for more detailed discussion.) Once a believer’s soul has been saved, restored back to Christ, a multitude of sins becomes covered and forgiven by the blood of Christ.

JAMES 5:12-20

Note this about temptation and trials. Seeking others for the Lord strengthens one against temptations and trials. The Christian witness becomes a student of the gospel and of man. He learns all he can about the faults and needs of men and all he can about God and His provision. The knowledge of both strengthens his own faith.

“Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered” (Ps.32:1).

“And said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:3).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.18:21).

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF

PETER

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Simon Peter, the Apostle (1 Pt.1:1).

The author claims to be an eyewitness of Christ's sufferings (1 Pt.5:1). Peter was an apostle of the Lord Jesus and he witnessed the sufferings of Christ. He is the best known among the apostles.

1. He was a businessman, a fisherman (Mk.1:16-20).
2. He became a disciple through the witness of his own brother (Jn.1:40-42).
3. He was given the name of Peter by the Lord Himself (Jn.1:41-42; cp. Mt.16:16-18).
4. He was one of three men who were apparently closer to the Lord than others who followed the Lord—one of three who formed an inner circle around Christ. James and John were the other two (Mt.17:1-2; Mk.5:37; 9:2; 14:23).
5. He was a natural born leader and became the leader of the twelve apostles (Mt.19:27; Mk.8:29; Jn.6:67-68; Acts 1:15; 2:14; 4:8-12; 15:7).
6. He publicly denied Christ at the crucifixion, but he later repented rather bitterly (Mt.26:69-75).
7. He had a private interview with the risen Lord which deeply affected him (1 Cor.15:5; cp. Jn.21:7, 15-21).
8. He was filled with God's Spirit on the day of Pentecost and immediately became the leader of the early church (Acts 2:1f).
9. He was chosen by God to become the missionary apostle to the circumcision, the Jews of the dispersion (Gal.2:7-8, 11-21). Eventually, he travelled further and further afield (see outline—Acts 9:32-12:25).
10. He was martyred by crucifixion in Rome under Nero (around AD 68), according to tradition. It is said that he felt so unworthy to be crucified like his Lord that he begged to be crucified upside down. Interestingly, tradition also says that Peter's wife served with him in the ministry. William Barclay quotes a touching picture by Clement of Alexandria who said that she was martyred with Peter: "On seeing his wife led to death, Peter rejoiced on account of her call and her conveyance home, and called very encouragingly and comfortingly, addressing her by name: 'Remember thou the Lord'" (Stromateis 7:6). (The Gospel of Matthew. "The Daily Study Bible." Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1956, p. 313).

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 63-67. The early date is indicated by the following facts.

1. The organization of the church seems to be in its primitive form. Only elders are mentioned. Deacons are not mentioned (cp. 1 Pt.5:1).
 2. The theology of the epistle is stated in the purest and simplest form possible.
 3. The scribe, Silvanus, was the one to whom Peter actually dictated the epistle. He could possibly be the missionary associate of Paul who is also known as Silas (1 Pt.5:12).
 4. The epistle was written after some of Paul's letters were penned. Peter knew of Paul's writings (2 Pt.3:15).
- The first three facts point toward an early dating; the last fact would place the writing after Paul's epistles. If tradition is correct, the writing would be before Nero's death. It was probably written A.D. 63-67.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To the strangers scattered throughout" five Roman provinces (1 Pt.1:1).

These strangers or pilgrims of the Lord included both Jewish and Gentile believers. It is definitely clear that some Gentiles, probably many, had been reached for the Lord (1 Pt.1:14; 4:3-4).

Peter wrote the epistle from Babylon (1 Pt.5:13). There were three Babylons.

1. The historical Babylon in Mesopotamia. However, the church in this Babylon was scattered under severe persecution by Caligula (about A.D. 41).
2. The Babylon of Egypt. There is nothing known about Peter ever being there.
3. The symbolic Babylon, Rome itself. Throughout history the name of Babylon has stood for evil; therefore, when Rome began its harassment and persecution of the church, Christians began to refer to Rome as Babylon (see Rev.17:18). Peter was probably in Rome when he wrote the epistle.

PURPOSE: There are at least two reasons for Peter writing this letter.

1. To challenge and strengthen believers to stand against the onslaught of persecution being levelled against them. This is Peter's primary purpose. (See Special Feature, point 3.)
2. To reinforce the glorious truth that the believer is only a stranger and a pilgrim upon the earth (1 Pt.1:1-4; 2:11; cp. Heb.11:13). Peter sensed that the message of holiness and dedication was especially needed during this period of persecution. There was a strong temptation to return to the world in order to save one's life and property.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. I Peter is "A General Epistle." That is, it is not written to a specific church or individual, but rather, it is written to all Christian believers.
2. I Peter is "An Epistle of Pastoral Warmth." It bristles with tenderness, love, understanding, and encouragement. It is a warm epistle, flowing from the depth and richness of a pastor's heart (see 1 Pt.1:8, 17, 19, 22; 2:2-4, 7, 11, 25; etc.)
3. I Peter is "The Epistle for the Suffering Church." The church was being severely persecuted, suffering "many trials" (1 Pt.1:6) They were suffering "wrongfully" (1 Pt.2:19), suffering for righteousness' sake, that is, having to suffer for standing up for the name of Christ. Malicious charges were made against them (1 Pt.2:12, 15; 3:16; 4:14). Their suffering is mentioned at least sixteen times.

4. I Peter is "An Epistle of the True Grace of God" (1 Pt.5:12). Peter reveals that the true grace of God involves three stages.
 - a. There is the grace of salvation (1 Pt.1:10).
 - b. There is the grace of redemption, that is, the end of one's salvation (1 Pt.1:13).
 - c. There is the grace that carries one through life day by day (1 Pt.1:2; 3:7; 4:10; 5:5).
5. I Peter is "An Epistle Emphasizing the Second Coming." The coming again of Jesus Christ is mentioned around eight times (1 Pt.1:5, 7, 13; 2:12; 4:13, 17; 5:1-4). It is a dominant theme upon Peter's mind.
6. I Peter is "A Pilgrim Epistle." It is written to the strangers and pilgrims whose home is in heaven, but who are presently plowing their way through this life (1 Pt.1:1-4; 2:11; cp. Heb.11:13).
7. I Peter is "The Epistle of the Missionary Apostle to the Jews." Peter was given the primary responsibility of reaching the circumcision throughout the world. He was the apostle to the Jews (Gal.2:7-8, 11-21). (See Author, point 10.)

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER

CHAPTER 1

I. HOW TO BE SECURE THROUGH SUFFERING: KNOW THAT YOU ARE SAVED, 1:1-12

A. Know That You Are the Chosen of God, 1:1-2

Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied.

- 1 They are believers, believers who are only strangers scattered over the earth
- 2 They are people elected (chosen) by God^{DS1}
- 3 They are people set apart to God & covered by the blood of Christ^{DS2}
- 4 They are people who obey God
- 5 They are people who experience grace & peace

DIVISION I

HOW TO BE SECURE THROUGH SUFFERING: KNOW THAT YOU ARE SAVED, 1:1-12

A. Know that You Are the Chosen of God, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: Peter is writing to people who were hurting and suffering, people who were being ridiculed and persecuted because they lived for Jesus Christ. Throughout the Roman Empire believers had been attacked and were being savagely persecuted—so much so that they had been forced to flee for their lives. They had been forced to leave everything behind: homes, property, estates, businesses, jobs, money, church, friends, and fellow believers. Believers had apparently taken their families and what belongings they could carry and fled for their lives. Peter is writing to five Roman provinces where most of the believers had apparently tried to hide and find safety. But note how the church is continuing on as an underground church.

Imagine the fear, uncertainty, and insecurity; the wandering about and the searching for a safe place and for a way to earn a living. In some cases, the believers did not even know where their next meal would come from. The church and its dear believers were fleeing for their lives. All the feelings that attack human emotions when a person is being hunted down for brutal slaughter were attacking these believers: fear, concern, restlessness, sleeplessness, anxiety, stress, uncertainty, insecurity, and a pounding heart at the slightest shadow or noise.

The believers desperately needed strong encouragement. But how? How do you shore up and strengthen a person who is suffering and hurting so much? How can a person be secure through suffering and persecution? There is one way and only one way: he must know that he is saved and be absolutely sure that he is under the care and love of God. This is the discussion of the first section of First Peter. It clearly tells us how to be secure through suffering. Our security is this: knowing that we are saved, that we belong to God and are looked after by God.

The first thing to know about our salvation is this: know that you are the chosen of God.

- 1. They are believers who are only strangers or pilgrims (chosen) scattered over the earth (v.1).
- 2. They are people elected by God (v.2).
- 3. They are people set apart to God and covered by the blood of Christ (v.2).
- 4. They are people who obey God (v.2).
- 5. They are people who experience grace and peace (v.2).

1 (1:1) Believers—Chosen, The: the chosen are believers, believers who are only strangers scattered over the earth. This is the descriptive picture being painted in verse one. Believers are only strangers (parepidemois) on earth. The word means pilgrim, sojourner, visitor, or exile. The idea is that of a person visiting a place for a while, but he is not a permanent resident. Believers are citizens of heaven; their home is in heaven with God, not on earth with the rulers of this world. The rulers and people of this earth may persecute believers, but believers are here on earth only temporarily—only as strangers, pilgrims, sojourners, and exiles. This is significant; it means two things:

- 1. It means that where we live on this earth does not matter all that much. No matter where we live, it is not our permanent home. Our home is in heaven. We may be forced to leave our homes and countries because of trouble and persecution—we may be poor and suffer great hardship in this life, but it is only for a brief time. We are only strangers and pilgrims on earth. We shall soon be called to go home—to go to our permanent home in heaven and be there forever and ever. And there shall be no hunger or poverty or suffering or hardship in heaven.

2. It means that we should keep our eyes and minds...
- focused upon heaven as our permanent home.
 - focused upon how short life is.
 - focused upon how uncertain, insecure, and short-term all things upon earth really are.

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth” (Heb.11:13).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“And Jacob said unto Pharaoh, The days of the years of my pilgrimage are a hundred and thirty years; few and evil have the days of the years of my life been, and have not attained unto the days of the years of the life of my fathers in the days of their pilgrimage” (Gen.47:9).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

“Hear my prayer, O LORD, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were” (Ps.39:12).

“I am a stranger in the earth: hide not thy commandments from me” (Ps.119:19).

2 (1:2) Election—Foreknowledge—God: the chosen are elected by God. They are actually called the elect, a people who had been elected or chosen by God. This means a most wonderful thing. It means that believers have the highest position in all the world, the position of being God’s own holy and beloved children (cp. Col.3:12).

- ⇒ Believers have been elected to be holy. The word “holy” (hagios) means separated or set apart. God called believers out of the world and away from the old life it offered, the old life of sin and death. He called believers to be separated and set apart unto Himself and the new life He offers, the new life of righteousness and eternity.
- ⇒ Believers have been elected to be the beloved of God. God has called believers to turn away from the old life that showed hatred toward God, the old life that rejected, rebelled, ignored, denied, and was constantly cursing in the face of God. God has called believers to be the beloved of God, the persons who receive His love in Christ Jesus and who allow Him to shower His love upon them.

If God loves believers this much, enough to actually choose and elect them to be His very own holy and beloved people, then God will look after and take care of them. No matter how ridiculed, abused, and persecuted—no matter how poor, hungry, troubled, and distressed—no matter how great the hardship, God will meet the need of the dear believer, the one whom He has elected to be His own. (See note, Chosen—2 Th.2:13 for more discussion. Remember that the Thessalonian believers were suffering trouble and persecution even as these believers were. The truths of election and predestination were used by both Paul and Peter to encourage believers when they were suffering great trouble and hardship. These are wonderful truths to encourage us when we have to face the great trials of this world.)

Note one other point: how believers are elected. They are elected by the foreknowledge of God. What does this mean? Foreknowledge can mean two things.

First, foreknowledge means that God sees the future. No matter how far a person looks into the future, God has already seen it. God knows...

- exactly what will happen, every single event and consequence.
- exactly what could happen (but will not), every single possibility and its consequences.

Foreknowledge means that God knows exactly what all men will do, every single act and consequence. God has one supreme overall view of all things—all things past, present, and future. But note: in this meaning foreknowledge does not determine anything; it only faces and forecasts what shall be. It is somewhat like an astronomer who can foresee the exact position and size of the moon on the first day of the month. He knows the future because He foresees the events that will take place with the moon between now and then. God has one supreme panoramic view of all things past, present, and future.

Second, foreknowledge means to foreordain, determine, appoint, and predestine. This is definitely the meaning in Acts 2:23:

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain.”

God did not just foresee the death of Christ, He foreordained it. Peter himself makes this point:

“[Christ] who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:20).

The foreknowledge of God is a most wonderful truth for the believer. God is in total control. He not only can foresee all events, He can foreordain and control them—work them all out for good. Just imagine! Every single event on earth is worked out for good by God. He works the events out for His people. No matter how much trouble and hardship we suffer, no matter how little we may understand, God knows and will work it all out for our good. Why? Because we are His elect, His holy and beloved people. The chosen of God are those who are elected according to the foreknowledge of God: elected because He foresaw them and ordained them to be His holy and beloved people. (See note, Foreknowledge—1 Pt.1:2 for more discussion and verses.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:2) Foreknowledge: the word “foreknowledge” (prognosis) means to see before; to know beforehand; to see and know the future; to foreordain.

God is God; therefore He sees the future. No matter how far a person looks into the future, God sees it. God knows...

- exactly what will happen, every single event and its consequences.
- exactly what could happen (but will not), every single possibility and its consequences.

Therefore God knows...

- exactly what man will do, every single act and its consequences.
- exactly what man could do (but will not), every single possibility and its consequences.

God is God. He is eternal and omniscient (knowing all). He knows the past, the present, and the future. And note: He knows it all eternally, forever. God knew...

- every event of world history before the foundation of the world.
- every event of a person's life before the foundation of the world (cp. Eph.1:4).

Now in light of this, a question arises that is extremely important. If God knew all the terrible consequences of evil and death that would enter and overtake the world, if He knew the world would even kill His Son, why did He go ahead and create the world? Why did He not choose another way to do things? In the simplest terms possible, there are at least two reasons.

1. God wanted a creature, a being with free will. God created man because God willed to have the presence of a being who could freely choose...

- to love and worship Him.
- to obey and fellowship with Him.
- to serve and reign with Him.

In His foreknowledge, God knew that some would choose Him and some would reject Him. But He was willing to face...

- the pain and hurt to His heart,
- the abuse and shame to His person,
- the rejection and rebellion against His will,

...in order that some might know His glorious mercy and grace and experience all the glory of Himself and of heaven. (See outline and note—Ro.9:22-24; Eph.1:5-6; 2:7 for more discussion.)

2. God did not choose another way to create and deal with man...

- because the way God created man was the best way: perfect, in a perfect environment, with free choice and will, and in perfect fellowship with God (cp. Gen.2:16-17).
- because the way God deals with man is the best way: in love, in the mercy and grace of His Son. Love is the greatest force on earth. It is the very nature of God Himself (1 Jn.4:8). Love will change and transform, help and give, win and conquer when nothing else will. Love will cause a person to reach out and help another and even cause a person to sacrifice his life quicker than any other force on earth (Jn.3:16; 15:13; Ro.5:8).

Note one other point that is critical, a point that stresses the glorious love and care of God: it is the determinate counsel of God.

The word “determinate” (horismenei) means pre-determined, appointed, decreed, ordained, planned, purposed. It is a plan set within bounds, within a certain boundary. It is a purpose that is set, marked out, determined, decreed to happen.

The word “counsel” (boulei) means to advise, design, will; to give a piece of advice. It carries the force of being willed and determined. Since God knows exactly what would happen in every situation, He plans for the best thing to happen. God takes counsel, puts all things under advisement and chooses the best way.

We may not understand some things that happen nor why they happen the way they do. We may think something else or some other way would have been better. But we must remember two things.

1. We cannot see into the future. No man can. We cannot know what would have happened if another way had been chosen. We cannot know what would have happened...

- to us
- to others
- to the world

In every situation or event there are many other things that could have taken place. This is true of every situation, whether we call it good or bad. Think for a moment.

- ⇒ What would have taken place if the situation had been replaced by some other happening?
- ⇒ What would have taken place if another way had been chosen?
- ⇒ What and how much would be changed for the worse eventually, if not now?

We cannot know. But we can know this: God knows, for He deals with the future as well as the present. God deals with eternity, with the whole view. Therefore another situation, another way could have changed things for the worse. Simply stated...

- God knows the future, everything that could happen as well as what is best and should happen.
- God takes counsel, purposes, determines, plans and chooses the best thing to happen.

2. We who love God and are called according to His purpose know that all things work together for good. How do we know? Because we do love God and are called according to His purpose.

God knew that we would say “Yes” to Jesus, that we would love and follow Him. Therefore, God called us.

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

Note why we are predestinated. This is the key: “that he [God’s Son] might be the firstborn among many brethren.” God has determined that Jesus might have many brothers, many who will live and fellowship with Him as the first Person, the pre-eminent Person throughout the universe.

This is the reason God chooses the very best events and the very best way for us. It is the reason He works all things out for good for believers. God knows all the possibilities; therefore, He is able to take counsel and determine, to plan the very best for us. Believe and trust this glorious truth.

“Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him” (1 Cor.2:9).

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen” (Ro.11:33-36).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

A STUDY OF SOME SCRIPTURES DEALING WITH GOD’S FOREKNOWLEDGE AND DETERMINATE COUNSEL

(A study giving comfort and security—God is in control.)

1. The Scripture dealing with God’s foreknowledge.

a. God’s foreknowledge concerns Christ.

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain” (Acts 2:23).

“Who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:20).

b. God’s foreknowledge concerns believers.

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn [preeminent Person] among many brethren” (Ro.8:28-29).

(Note. These two verses actually show that God acts or predestines on the basis of His foreknowledge, of His counsel.)

c. God’s foreknowledge concerns Israel.

“God hath not cast away his people which he foreknew. Wot [know] ye not what the scripture saith of Elias? how he maketh intercession to God against Israel” (Ro.11:2).

2. The Scripture dealing with God’s determination. (See Subject Index Predestination for more discussion.)

a. God’s determination concerns Christ.

“And truly the Son of man goeth, as it was determined: but woe unto that man by whom he is betrayed!” (Lk.22:22).

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain” (Acts 2:23).

“And declared [determined, marked, planned] to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained [determined, appointed] of God to be the Judge of quick and dead” (Acts 10:42).

“Because he hath appointed [determined, appointed] a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

b. God's determination concerns salvation and security for believers.

"Again, he limiteth [determines, sets, appoints, plans] a certain day, saying in David, To day, after so long a time; as it is said, To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts" (Heb.4:7; cp. 2 Tim.1:9; Heb.13:8).

3. The Scripture dealing with God's counsel.

a. God's counsel concerns Christ.

"Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain" (Acts 2:23).

"For to do whatsoever thy hand and thy counsel determined before to be done" (Acts 4:28).

b. God's counsel concerns believers and salvation.

"For David, after he had served his own generation by the will [counsel] of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption" (Acts 13:36).

"In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will" (Eph.1:11).

fc "Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath" (Heb.6:17).

c. God's counsel concerns God's plan for the world.

"For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God" (Acts 20:27).

d. God's counsel concerns those who reject Him.

"But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the counsel of God against themselves, being not baptized of him" (Lk.7:30).

3 (1:2) Sanctification—Holy Spirit, Work: the chosen are sanctified by the Holy Spirit and covered by the blood of Christ. What does this mean? It means that a person cannot be saved anytime he wants and any way he wants. It means that a person cannot just choose some religion and some particular time of life to come to God. Two things are absolutely necessary for a person to be saved and to receive eternal life.

1. First, a person must be sanctified by the Holy Spirit of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Sanctification—1 Pt.1:15-16 for more discussion). To be sanctified means to be set apart unto God; to be made holy, pure and righteous unto God. Before a person can come to God, he must be attracted and pulled to God—convicted that he should turn to God. He must be convicted that he needs the forgiveness and acceptance of God. This is the work of the Holy Spirit. And this is the reason a man must turn to God when he feels the conviction of sin and his great need for God. This conviction is the Holy Spirit working within him, struggling to set the man's life apart unto God—to save him and to give him eternal life. The Holy Spirit wants every one of us to be God's; to be set apart unto God, living holy, righteous, and pure lives; and He wants us living with God forever and ever—throughout all eternity. But remember what is stated above: a person cannot just turn to God by himself, by following some earthly religion or some earthly way to God. The only way a person can turn to God and be acceptable to God is by the Holy Spirit. The person must respond to the conviction of the Holy Spirit when the Holy Spirit draws and convicts him: he must be sanctified, set apart unto God to live a holy, righteous, and pure life.

Thought 1. This stresses the utter necessity of responding to the Spirit of God when we feel Him working within our hearts. All of us have sensed Him convicting us and we have delayed making a decision. Remember what happened? His conviction left us. He spoke to us, convicted and pulled us to make the decision, but we pushed it aside and said, "Later." And He left us. The conviction and desire to make the decision was soon gone. The point is forceful: we must respond and respond immediately when the Spirit of God works within us. We must make the decision...

- to be set apart unto God for salvation and eternal life.
- to be set apart unto God to live a life that is totally different from the life we have been living, a life that is more holy, righteous, and pure.

Note the end or purpose of sanctification: that we might be obedient to God. The one thing God wants is the same thing that any good father wants: obedient children. God wants us to love, fellowship, and commune with Him day by day and to follow His instructions. God knows and understands life, for He created life. Therefore, He wants the very best for all of us. This is the reason He has done so much to save us. His whole purpose—the very end toward which He has done all—is to lead us to a life of obedience. Obeying God is the only way we can know a full and complete life. Therefore, obedience is the purpose and end of sanctification.

"But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption" (1 Cor.1:30).

"Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God" (2 Cor.7:1).

“That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:26).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master’s use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach. For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:12-15).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:11-14).

2. Second, a person must be sprinkled or covered by the blood of Jesus Christ. What does this mean? It means to be justified by His blood.

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9; see note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion).

We have broken the law of God. We have neglected God, ignored God, cursed God, rebelled against God, and rejected God. We have chosen to live like we want, to do our own thing, and we have refused to live like God says. Therefore, we stand before the law of God guilty. As with all law, we must bear...

- the penalty of the law
- the judgment of the law
- the condemnation of the law
- the punishment of the law
- the wrath of the law

We stand before the wrath of God—His law, His justice—and there is no escape. We have broken the law of God; therefore, the penalty has to be paid. But this is the glorious gospel: Jesus Christ has paid the penalty for us. He has stepped forth and offered His life as a substitute and sacrifice for us. He has borne the judgment and condemnation of our transgression. How could He do this? Because He was the Son of God and He lived a perfect and sinless life when He was upon earth. He stood before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man, as the Ideal Righteousness that could cover all men. Consequently, when He died on the cross, His death was the perfect and ideal sacrifice for sins. His blood—the blood He shed for us—was the perfect and ideal sacrifice for transgressions. Therefore, His blood can cover us and all of our transgressions.

This is the way we are saved and the way we receive eternal life; this is the way we are made acceptable to God: by being sprinkled or covered by the blood of Jesus Christ. The blood of Jesus Christ covers all our transgressions and makes us guiltless before God—perfect and acceptable to Him.

This is the chosen of God—a people chosen to come to God by being sprinkled with the blood of Jesus Christ, God’s dear Son.

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:2) Jesus’ Blood—Death: Peter says the blood of Jesus Christ was symbolized in the Old Testament. There are three references to the sprinkling of the blood, and all three references have meaning for the believer.

1. The blood symbolized cleansing from sin. A believer was looked upon as becoming defiled while he walked throughout the world. Thus, he was occasionally to make sacrifice and be sprinkled with the blood of the sacrifice

(Num.19:9; Heb.9:13). A man who was cleansed from leprosy was also sprinkled with blood—the blood of a bird (Lev.14:1-7).

2. The blood symbolized obedience to God. God made several great promises to Israel. But the promises were conditional; Israel had to obey the law of God. If Israel obeyed, God promised to bless the nation beyond imagination. This is what is meant by God's covenant relationship with Israel. God made a covenant with Israel, but the covenant was conditional upon their obedience.

The symbol of God's covenant relationship, of His promises, was blood. There was a ceremony in which the people surrounded the tabernacle and promised to obey God, and then Moses took an animal sacrifice and sprinkled half the blood on the altar and half the blood on the people (Ex.24:3-8; Heb.12:24). Note that the Lord Himself called the sprinkled blood, "My blood of the new covenant" (Mt.26:28; Mk.14:24).

4 (1:2) Obedience—Chosen, The: the chosen are the people who obey God. The only kind of faith that really saves a person is the kind of faith that is obedient, that diligently seeks God. Believing faith is obedient faith. A person who really believes in Christ, who really trusts the blood of Christ to cover his transgressions, obeys Christ. This is exactly what Scripture says.

"But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him" (Heb.11:6).

"And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb.5:9).

Now, note the verse: the very end or purpose of sanctification is that we might be obedient to God. The one thing God wants is obedience—obedient children—the very same thing that any good father wants. God wants us to follow His Word and its instructions. Why? Because God knows and understands life. God created and made life; therefore, He knows exactly how life has to be lived in order to get the most out of it. God is God and He is a God of love; consequently He wants the very best for us. This is the reason He has done so much to save us; this is the reason He has given us His Word and its instructions. His whole purpose—the very end toward which He has done all—is to lead us to a life of obedience. Obeying God is the only way we can know a full and complete life.

Thought 1. This means a most significant thing: the persons who are truly chosen by God are those who are obeying God. It does not matter what a person may be professing; it does not matter to which church or religion a person may belong. What matters is obedience: is the person obeying God? Is he truthfully believing and trusting, surrendering and casting his life upon the Lord Jesus Christ and His blood to cleanse him from all transgressions?

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven" (Mt.7:21).

"For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth [obeys]" (Ro.10:3-4).

"Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:14).

"And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him" (Heb.5:9).

"But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him" (Heb.11:6).

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:7).

"And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment" (1 Jn.3:23).

"Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (Rev.22:14).

5 (1:2) Grace—Peace—Chosen, The: the chosen are people who experience grace and peace.

1. Grace (charis) means the undeserved favor and blessings of God. (See notes—Ro.4:16; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Tit.2:11-15.) The word undeserved is the key to understanding grace. Man does not deserve God's favor; he cannot earn God's approval and blessings. God is too high and man is too low for man to deserve anything from God. Man is imperfect and God is perfect; therefore, man cannot expect anything from God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16 for more discussion.) Man has reacted against God too much. Man has...

- rejected God
- rebelled against God
- ignored God
- neglected God
- cursed God
- sinned against God
- disobeyed God
- denied God
- questioned God

Man deserves nothing from God except judgment, condemnation, and punishment. But God is love—perfect and absolute love. Therefore, God makes it possible for man to experience His grace, in particular the favor and blessing of salvation which is in His Son, Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for more discussion.)

1 PETER 1:1-2

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

2. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and weaved together. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to have a sense, a consciousness, a knowledge that God will...

- provide
- guide
- strengthen
- sustain
- deliver
- encourage
- save
- give life, real life both now and forever

A person can experience true peace only as he comes to know Jesus Christ. Only Christ can bring peace to the human heart, the kind of peace that brings deliverance and assurance to the human soul.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled; neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord only makest me dwell in safety” (Ps.4:8).

HOW TO BE SECURE THROUGH SUFFERING: KNOW THAT YOU ARE SAVED, 1:1-12

B. Know the Believer's Living Hope, 1:3-5

(1:3-5) Introduction—Hope: this is a rich, rich passage of Scripture. It is one of those passages that is so rich that it would take an eternity to grasp all that is taught herein. And note the most wonderful thing: it has to do with the believer's glorious hope. What is the great hope of the believer? It is eternal life—the glorious privilege of living forever with God. Just imagine living face to face with God forever! No greater privilege could ever be given man. Note that our hope is said to be a living hope.

- ⇒ A living hope means that it is not a dead, lifeless hope. It is not the kind of hope that we use to stir positive thinking for the moment but does nothing for us beyond the grave; not the kind of hope that gives us meaning and motivation for life but is dead and lifeless beyond this life. Despite all the earthly benefit we get from positive thinking and motivational hope, these have no meaning beyond this life and the grave.
- ⇒ A living hope means that it is not a probable hope; it is not the kind of hope that may or may not come to pass.

The hope that God gives is a living hope, a hope that is real and true, that actually exists. A living hope is active and functioning; it acts and works both within the heart of the believer and within heaven apart from the believer. Eternal life is a living hope because it is reality; it is a life that really exists in another world, the spiritual world, that is more real than the world in which we live. The believer's hope for eternal life lives, acts, and works within the believer now, even while he is on earth. It is not that the believer is going to receive eternal life; he has already received eternal life. His hope for eternal life is living, acting, and working within him right now. This is the glorious hope of the believer, the living hope of living forever with God face to face.

1. The source of the hope: the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ (v.3).
2. The inheritance of the hope (v.4).
3. The assurance of the hope (v.5).

1 (1:3) Hope, Believer's—Mercy: there is the source of the hope. The source is the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Note who our Lord Jesus Christ is.

- ⇒ He is our Lord, the One to whom we have surrendered and subjected our lives; the One who sits in the spiritual and heavenly world at the right hand of God the Father.
- ⇒ He is Jesus, the carpenter from Nazareth, the Man who claimed to be the Son of God and who was sent into the world as the Savior of men.
- ⇒ He is Christ the Messiah who was promised by God to save men.

This means a most wonderful thing: if we follow the Lord Jesus Christ, then the God and Father of Jesus Christ becomes our God and Father. And note: He is the God who gives eternal life. This too means a most wonderful thing: God is not off in outer space someplace, far removed from us, a god with little or no interest in our welfare. God is near at hand, all about us, living within the spiritual world and dimension, longing to relate to us and to look after and care for us, and to give us eternal life. Jesus Christ shows us this. This was the way His Father took care of Him; and if we follow Christ, it is the way God, even our Father, takes care of us. He gives us the most wonderful of gifts: eternal life—the living hope of living forever with Him even as Christ our Lord is now living with Him in heaven.

Thought 1. Note: eternal life exists nowhere else. Only the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ possesses eternal life. Therefore, if a person wants to know God and to receive eternal life, he has to come to the Lord Jesus Christ. The person has to trust Christ if he wants the God and Father of Christ to give him eternal life. And we must always remember: only the God and Father of the Lord Jesus Christ can give a person the living hope of living forever.

Now, how does God go about giving us the living hope of eternal life? This is a critical question, for when we look around our world all we see is corruption and death. We are born and then before we know it, it is time to die. There is so little time in between birth and death. And even while we are here on earth there is sin, shame, accident, disease, suffering, evil, cursing, lying, stealing, deception, assaults, murders, wars—so much corruption that death just seems to engulf the earth. The thinking and honest person knows that he and everything else including the world itself are dying. How then does God stop this process of corruption and death? How does God go about giving us the living hope of eternal life?

1. The living hope comes by the mercy of God. This is the basis of our hope; it could be no other way. Man is just so sinful he has only one hope: the hope that God will have mercy upon him. Just think how we have treated God. We have...

- ignored Him
- neglected Him
- failed Him
- rebelled against Him
- rejected Him
- cursed Him
- disobeyed Him
- sinned against Him
- disbelieved Him
- turned away from Him

The list could go on and on, but the point is clearly seen. Our only hope is the mercy of God. If we are going to ever be accepted and given the living hope of living forever and ever, then God has to be merciful. He has to have mercy upon us.

The word “mercy” (eleos) means feelings of pity, compassion, affection, and kindness. It is a desire to succor; to tenderly draw unto oneself and to care for. Two things are essential in order to have mercy: seeing a need and being able to meet that need. God sees our need and feels for us (Eph.2:1-3). Therefore, He acts; He has mercy upon us. How? By doing two things:

- ⇒ God withholds His judgment.
- ⇒ God provides a way for us to be saved.

And note that God is said to have abundant (great, overflowing, endless, boundless) mercy. His mercy just flows on and on; it is ever covering us and creating the living hope and presence of eternal life within our hearts.

“For God hath concluded them all in unbelief, that he might have mercy upon all” (Ro.11:32).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children’s children” (Ps.103:17).

“It is of the LORD’S mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

2. The living hope comes by the new birth. Note the words begotten again or born again. There is no hope for eternal life unless a person is born again by the Spirit of God. A person has to be regenerated and made into a new man before he can ever live forever.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again” (Jn.3:5-7).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

3. The living hope comes by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Jesus Christ was raised from the dead to live forever in heaven with His Father. How does His resurrection give us the hope of living forever? By three things.

- a. First, God has proven that He has the power to raise the dead. There should never be any question about this; for God, if He is truly God, has unlimited power to do anything. But His power to raise the dead and to keep them from ever dying again is now proven beyond all question: it is proven by the fact that He has raised Jesus Christ from the dead and exalted Him into heaven never again to die.

- b. Second, the fact that God raised Jesus Christ from the dead proves that Jesus Christ is exactly who He claimed to be: the Son of God who came into the world to save men. God would have never raised Christ if He had been a liar and deceiver. Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world; therefore, God raised Him from the dead.
- c. Third, Jesus Christ is the Son of God, the Perfect and Ideal Man who lived a sinless life when He was upon earth. Therefore, He stands before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man. What this means is most significant. Being the Perfect and Ideal Man, whatever He does is acceptable to God. When He arose from the dead, His resurrection was the perfect and ideal resurrection. Therefore, it can stand for and cover every man's resurrection. If we are in Christ—if we really believe in Christ—then God can count us in the ideal resurrection of Christ. God can raise us up to live with Him forever and ever just as He did with Christ. Remember why—because Jesus Christ arose and has given us the ideal and perfect resurrection, and the Ideal can stand for and cover the resurrection of all others.

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him” (1 Th.4:14).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively [living] hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

2 (1:4) Hope, Believer's—Inheritance, Spiritual: there is the inheritance of the hope. The inheritance is the eternal life that God gives us, but the inheritance of eternal life involves the most wonderful gifts imaginable.

- ⇒ Being given a crown of righteousness (2 Tim.4:8).
- ⇒ Being given a crown of life (Jas.1:12).
- ⇒ Being given a crown of glory (1 Pt.5:4).

There Shall Be the Inheritance of Work or Position and Rule

- ⇒ Being made exalted beings (Rev.7:9-12).

- ⇒ Being given the Kingdom of God (Jas.2:5; Mt.25:34).

- ⇒ Being given the blessings of the Lord (Pr.10:22).
- ⇒ Being given durable riches and righteousness (Pr.8:18).
- ⇒ Being given unsearchable riches (Eph.3:8).
- ⇒ Being given treasures in heaven (Mt.19:21; Lk.12:33).

Note how our inheritance is described in verse four. It is most descriptive, an astounding picture of the new heavens and earth that are coming and of our life in God's new and eternal world.

“To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (v.4).

1. Our inheritance is “incorruptible” (aphtharton). The word means that it cannot perish; it does not age, deteriorate, or die; it does not have the seed of corruption within it.

Thought 1. Matthew Henry points out that everything on earth changes from better to worse, but not our inheritance. It is perfect and incorruptible. It never changes, and it shall never cease to be the most perfect inheritance and gift imaginable (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, p.1005.).

2. Our inheritance is “undefiled” (amianton). The word means that it cannot be polluted or defiled, dirtied or infected. It means that our inheritance will be without any flaw or defect; it will be perfectly free from sickness, disease, infections, accident, pollution, dirt—from any defilement whatsoever. There will never be any tears over what happens to oneself or over the damage or loss of some possession.

3. Our inheritance does not fade away (amaranton). It will last forever and ever. The splendor and beauty of it all—of life and of all the positions and possessions which God shall give us—none of the splendor and beauty shall fade or diminish whatsoever. Nothing, not even our energy and bodies, shall wear out or waste away.

4. Our inheritance is in heaven; it is reserved there for us. It is actually being held there by God for us. God is simply waiting for us to finish our task here on earth and to come to Him. Then He will give us our inheritance.

Note a critical point: the persons who are to receive the inheritance are those who have received the mercy of God, been born again, and are trusting the resurrection of Jesus Christ to cover their resurrection (v.3).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me” (Acts 26:18).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“[Christ] in whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will” (Eph.1:11).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

“Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:24).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation” (Heb.1:14).

“Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath” (Heb.6:17).

“By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith” (Heb.11:7).

“Esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward” (Heb.11:26).

“Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?” (Jas.2:5).

“To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:4).

3 (1:5) Hope, Believer's: there is the assurance of the hope. How do we know for sure that we will receive the inheritance? The temptations and trials of life are so forceful and threatening, how do we know that we will receive the living hope of eternal life and its glorious inheritance? How do we know that we will not fall and come short of the great day of redemption? There are two answers.

1. There is the assurance of God's power. God's power keeps us. The word "kept" (phrouroumenous) means to guard; to garrison; to protect. It is a military term; therefore it has the idea of might and strength. The might and strength of God's power protect us throughout our journey in life—through all the trials and temptations of life—and God will see to it that we shall reach the glorious end of life: salvation. God Himself, in His sovereign and omnipotent power, will see to it that we receive eternal life and the inheritance that is being reserved for us.

"And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are" (Jn.17:11).

"Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began" (Ro.16:25).

"But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil" (2 Th.3:3).

"For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day" (2 Tim.1:12).

"To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through the faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time" (1 Pt.1:4-5).

"Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

"Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth" (Rev.3:10).

"And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of" (Gen.28:15).

"For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off" (Ps.37:28).

"Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep" (Ps.121:4).

2. There is the assurance of faith. We are kept not only by God, but...

- by our faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.
- by our faith in God's power.

No person shall ever receive the hope of eternal life or of God's glorious inheritance unless he truly believes in God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Belief in Christ is absolutely essential. But once we have truly trusted Christ as our Savior, we are saved; we shall receive eternal life and the great inheritance of God's promise.

But note: a true faith is a continuing faith and trust in God's power. And a continuing faith is diligent and vigilant. It is a faith that loves Christ with all its heart and life. It is a faith that seeks to follow Christ and to please Him in all that it does. Therefore, a continuing faith is a faith that lives a holy, righteous, and pure life and that serves the Lord Jesus Christ. Simply stated, the person who truly believes in Jesus Christ gives all he is and has to the Lord Jesus Christ: he gives all that he is and has to spread the love of Christ around the world. True faith is a real commitment that obeys and follows Christ and that trusts the power of God to deliver him through all the trials and temptations of life. This is the kind of faith that keeps a person. The person who has this kind of faith has the assurance that he will receive eternal life and the promise of the inheritance. God gives the true believer this kind of assurance.

"That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life" (Jn.3:15).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live" (Jn.11:25).

"I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness" (Jn.12:46).

"But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God: and that believing ye might have life through his name" (Jn.20:31).

"To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins" (Acts 10:43).

"And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses" (Acts 13:39).

"And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house" (Acts 16:31).

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" (Ro.10:9).

"And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim.3:15).

"Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (1 Jn.5:1).

KNOW THAT YOU ARE SAVED, 1:1-12

C. Know the Truth About Trials and Temptations, 1:6-9

(1:6-9) Introduction: this passage is one of the great passages dealing with the trials and temptations of believers.

1. Know the fact: life is full of trials and temptations (v.6).
2. Know the purpose for trials and temptations (v.7).
3. Know how to conquer trials and temptations (v.8-9).

1 (1:6) Trials—Temptations: know the fact—life is full of trials and temptations. Any thinking person can look around and see that life is bombarded with all kinds of trials and temptations. There are all kinds of trials, such as...

- sickness
- disease
- suffering
- sorrows
- ridicule
- abuse
- loss
- disappointment
- criticism
- loneliness
- emptiness

There are also all kinds of temptations such as...

- greed
- selfishness
- hoarding
- drunkenness
- deceit
- strife
- immorality
- sorcery

The list of trials and temptations in the world are as unlimited as acts of behavior. For every act there can be the sin of too much or the sin of too little, the sins of commission or the sins of omission. Life is fraught with trials and temptations.

This is especially true with genuine believers, for believers stand in opposition to the selfish, immoral, greedy, and unjust ways of the world. This goes against the grain of the world because the world is in opposition to God. Just note the world's cursing of God and its flaunting of sex even for advertising purposes. These are excellent examples of the world's opposition to God. Therefore, the world often persecutes believers who proclaim the need for man to turn to God. The world persecutes believers through ridicule, mockery, abuse, and silence; through bypassing them, holding them down, shutting them out, and ignoring them; through confiscating their property, destroying their reputation, and in some cases imprisoning and killing them. Every genuine believer who lives for Christ knows what it is to be shunned and withdrawn from and to be persecuted to some degree, no matter what society he lives in.

This was the case with the believers to whom Peter was writing. They were being severely persecuted because of their stand for Christ. They had been forced to flee for their lives and to leave everything behind: homes, property, estates, businesses, jobs, money, church, friends, and fellow believers. They were suffering trial after trial, experiencing what we see so often portrayed in the media: people flooding the roadways fleeing with whatever possessions they can carry by hand, fleeing the tyranny of the persecution of dictators and evil men. The difference with believers is that they often suffer at the hands of people because of their testimony for Christ. And this was, in fact, the case with the early believers who were receiving this letter from Peter.

As stated, the fact of trials and temptations is clear to any thinking person: we live in a world of trials and temptation. In addition, the believer has to bear the added trial of persecution because of his testimony for Christ. Now, note two things that are said.

1. Trials and temptations are only for a season; they are only for a little while, for a short time. The idea is that our salvation is at hand; we shall soon be delivered from the sufferings of this earth. Therefore, we can stand up under whatever suffering is attacking us.

2. Trials and temptations cause a heaviness within us. The word "heaviness" (lupethentes) means to be grieving; to suffer sorrow, stress, pressure, and mental anguish. We all know what it is to feel heavy and weighed down with grief; to suffer stress and pressure; to be mentally in anguish, wondering, questioning, and suffering under the weight of trial or temptation.

Thought 1. This is a dark picture of the world and of life, a picture of all kinds of trials and temptations. But we must face reality; it is a fact. As we walk throughout life, we are bombarded with all kinds of trials and temptations. Our human experience proves it. But why face it? Why think about it? Why not ignore the fact, think positively, and look at only the good and move on? There is one reason: facts cannot be handled unless they are dealt with. Ignoring and denying trials and temptations will not conquer them, not permanently and not eternally. The only way we can ever conquer anything—no matter the trial or temptation—is to squarely face it and fight against it. The way to conquer the trials and temptations of life is the subject of this great passage.

“Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God” (Acts 14:22).

“By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience” (Ro.5:2-3).

“For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I” (Ro.7:15).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair” (2 Cor.4:8).

“For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation; even as it came to pass, and ye know” (1 Th.3:4).

“I know thy works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan. Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life” (Rev.2:9-10).

“Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble” (Job 14:1).

“Trouble and anguish have taken hold on me: yet thy commandments are my delights” (Ps.119:143).

2 (1:7) Trials—Temptations: know the purpose for trials and temptations. When a believer is saved, why does God not just go ahead and give him a trouble-free, perfect life? Sometimes it would seem that God should do this. If God loves us and really cares for us then He should not let terrible things happen to us. Why does God let them happen? Why do the trials and temptations of life fall upon us, especially with such heaviness and sorrow? Scripture says there are two reasons why the believer is tried and tempted.

1. The believer’s faith must be tried. The word “tried” (dokimion) means to prove; to test; to strengthen; to show that your faith is genuine (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1933, p.83).

It is just like gold. Gold has to be put to the fire in order to clean out all the impurities and dross and to make it pure and clean. Now note what this verse says: we are much more precious than gold. Gold perishes, but not believers. Believers are to live forever. Therefore, if gold has to be put to the fire to be made clean and pure, how much more do we?

The point is striking: God uses the fire of trials and temptations for a good purpose. He uses them to make us clean and pure and to make us trust Him more and more.

⇒ When we are faced with some trial or temptation, we draw nearer to God. We cry out to God more than when things go well. We even tend to clean up our lives in order to secure His help as we go through the trial. We just live more pure, clean, and righteous lives. In fact, the greater the trial and temptation, the more we see that we need God. And the more we see our need for God, the closer we usually draw to Him; and the closer we draw to Him, the cleaner we live. The fire of trials causes us to live purer, cleaner lives, while learning to trust God more and more.

This is a most wonderful point: our trials and temptations are purposeful. God uses them to make us much more pure and to stir us to draw closer and closer to Him and to trust Him more and more. We become a stronger person through trials—much stronger, much more steadfast, persevering, and enduring.

There is another fact that should be noted as well. When our faith is tried and proven, when we walk strongly through the trials and temptations of life, the world sees it. They see the power of Christ in our lives and the rejoicing of our hearts in Him. Some are attracted and want to know Christ for themselves. Standing fast through the trials and temptations of life wins people to Christ. God uses the trials and sufferings of life to pour His strength into us and to attract the lost to want Him in their lives.

“For thou, O God, hast proved us: thou hast tried us, as silver is tried” (Ps.66:10).

“Behold, I have refined thee, but not with silver; I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction” (Is.48:10).

“In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old” (Is.63:9).

“He is like a man which built an house, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently upon that house, and could not shake it: for it was founded upon a rock” (Lk.6:48).

“Every man’s work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man’s work of what sort it is” (1 Cor.3:13).

“Thou hast proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou hast tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress” (Ps.17:3).

“Before I was afflicted I went astray: but now have I kept thy word” (Ps.119:67).

“And I will bring the third part through the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried: they shall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people: and they shall say, The LORD is my God” (Zech.13:9).

“And he shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver: and he shall purify the sons of Levi, and purge them as gold and silver, that they may offer unto the LORD an offering in righteousness” (Mal.3:3).

“But he knoweth the way that I take when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold” (Job 23:10).

“Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby” (Heb.12:11).

“That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:7).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you” (1 Pt.4:12).

2. The believer’s faith is tried in order to show forth the praise, honor, and glory of Jesus Christ and of the believer. When Jesus Christ appears—when He returns to earth—two things are going to be seen.

⇒ First, Jesus Christ is going to be seen exalted higher than the heavens themselves; He is going to be seen in all the honor and glory of the universe.

⇒ Second, believers are going to be seen exalted higher than anyone could ever ask or even think; they are going to be exalted in the very same honor and glory of Christ Himself. They are going to be seen as joint-heirs with Christ in receiving all the inheritance that God Himself possesses. Just imagine! All the honor and glory that the Lord Jesus Christ Himself possesses shall be poured out upon believers.

This is the reason God allows us to suffer trials and temptations on earth: not only to make us purer and stronger, but to better prepare us for the honor and glory of heaven. The more we suffer here on earth, the more we ache for heaven. There is also the idea of vindication, of proving that the claims of Christ and of our faith in His claims are true. In that glorious day when Christ returns, the world of unbelievers—all of them—will see once for all that Jesus Christ is truly the Son of God and that our faith in Him is real. Christ and His followers will be vindicated. Christ and all believers shall be exalted in the honor and glory of all the worlds and of all the dimensions of beings. And all unbelievers shall witness the glorious event.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Mt.5:11-12).

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them” (Lk.12:37).

“And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:3).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness” (2 Th.2:12).

“For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance” (Heb.10:34).

“Esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward” (Heb.11:26).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

3 (1:8-9) Trials—Temptations: know how to conquer trials and temptations. The trials and temptations of life are not to defeat or discourage us. On the contrary, we are to conquer them. We are to use them as stepping stones to become stronger and stronger in life. But how? How can we conquer trials and temptations when they are so devastating, destructive, powerful, damaging, and threatening?

Scripture gives four ways.

1. Trials and temptations are to be conquered by our love for Jesus Christ. We do not see Christ, but we love Him. Think about it: we have transgressed God's law. We have ignored, neglected, and disobeyed God; rejected and cursed God. We have even committed high treason and rebelled against God. Therefore, we are guilty and must bear the judgment and condemnation. We must bear the punishment for our rebellion against God. We are to die without God—to be exiled and cut off from God forever and ever. But note the glorious love of Jesus Christ. He has stepped forward and offered Himself as a substitute and sacrifice for us. Jesus Christ has taken our guilt upon Himself. He has died for us; He has borne our judgment, condemnation, and punishment. No one could ever do any greater thing for us than what Jesus Christ has done. He has loved us supremely: He has died for us even when we have rejected and disbelieved Him. This is the great love of Jesus Christ for us. And this is the reason we love Him. We love Him because He has done so much for us—gone to the ultimate limit to save us by bearing the judgment for us.

Now, note what the verse says: we have not seen Him, but we love Him. We do not have to see Christ to stand up for Him and to please Him. Christ does not have to be standing over our shoulder for us to stand against trials and temptations. We love Christ; therefore, we...

- obey Him
- keep His commandments
- turn away from temptations
- walk through trials

It is our love for Christ that stirs us to stand up for Christ against all the trials and temptations of life, no matter how severe and ferocious they are. True love does all it can to keep from hurting the person loved. In fact, when we love someone, we do all we can to please that person, no matter what it may cost us—even if it costs us our life. So it is with our love for Christ. If we truly love Him, then we will never hurt Him—not by displeasing Him, not if we can help it. On the contrary, if we really love Christ, we do exactly what He says: we stand against all the destructive trials and temptations that devastate human life and doom it for eternity. We stand and bear all the sufferings in order to prove the power of Christ. We want some people to see the power of Christ and the great hope He gives—we want them to see so that they will turn to Him for salvation. How do we overcome trials and temptations? First, we conquer them by our love for Christ.

“If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever” (Jn.14:15-16).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity” (Eph.6:24).

“I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers, hearing of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints” (Phile.4-5).

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

2. Trials and temptations are to be conquered by our belief in Jesus Christ. Again, note the verse: we do not see Jesus, but we do believe in Him. The word “believing” (pisteuontes) is in the present continuous tense. That is, it is continuous action, continuous belief—a belief that continues on and on in believing and trusting in Jesus Christ. The point is clear: if we are continuing to believe in Jesus Christ, then we are following Christ. We are doing what He says...

- rejecting and turning away from all temptations.
- standing firm and relying upon His presence and power to conquer and to carry us through all trials.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing. If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed” (Jas.1:2-6).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

3. Trials and temptations are to be conquered by rejoicing and by the unspeakable joy that fills our hearts. The unspeakable joy of Christ is not always present, but it often is. We are creatures of emotion, creatures who do not experience any one feeling for more than a brief period. But every genuine believer experiences the unspeakable joy here and there. Words cannot describe it: it is just being full of glory, just as Scripture says in this verse. Matthew Henry states:

“This joy is inexpressible, it cannot be described by words; the best discovery is by an experimental taste of it; it is full of glory, full of heaven. There is much of heaven and the future glory in the present joys of...Christians” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.1007.)

The point is this: joying and rejoicing in the Lord and His presence will stir us to stand against temptations and trials. Joy and rejoicing will help us to focus upon Christ and His glorious power.

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41).

“And when they had laid many stripes unto them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely: who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks. And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God: and the prisoners heard them” (Acts 16:23-25).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things” (2 Cor.6:10).

“Rejoice in the Lord alway: and again I say, Rejoice” (Ph.4:4).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds” (Heb.12:3).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing: then said they among the heathen, The LORD hath done great things for them” (Ps.126:2).

“I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels” (Is.61:10).

4. Trials and temptations are to be conquered by keeping our eyes focused upon the salvation of our souls. This is the end, the very goal toward which we are moving, the salvation of our souls. As in any work or task, we must keep our eyes upon the goal. The more focused we are upon the goal, the stronger we become to stand against all obstacles. So it is with salvation. The more we focus upon the salvation of our souls, the stronger we become...

- to reject and turn away from temptation.
- to conquer the trials of life.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:18).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:10-11).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

KNOW THAT YOU ARE SAVED, 1:1-12

D. Know the Wonder and Greatness of Salvation, 1:10-12

(1:10-12) Introduction: this is a great description of salvation. It describes the wonder and greatness of salvation, the glorious truth that God saves men from death and exalts them into the glories of heaven. Salvation is so glorious a work that even the angels are aroused to look into it and to understand what it means (v.12).

1. Salvation required special men, special prophets, to share the message (v.10).
2. Salvation was to be the personal experience of God's grace (v.10).
3. Salvation was a mystery (v.11).
4. Salvation was to be wrought by the sufferings and glory of the Messiah (v.11).
5. Salvation was destined for future believers (v.12).
6. Salvation is now proclaimed in the gospel (v.12).
7. Salvation is so glorious that it arouses the angels to understand and look into it (v.12).

1 (1:10) Salvation—Prophets: salvation required special men, special prophets, to proclaim the message. The message of salvation was so important that a whole new order of men was required to proclaim it: that of prophets. The prophets were men who were called and chosen by God to do two things:

- ⇒ to proclaim God's salvation to man.
- ⇒ to prophesy and predict how God was going to save man.

Both functions were necessary. The prophet had to proclaim salvation to the people of his own generation and to predict how God was going to save the people of all generations. But note this: the predictions of the future salvation were not the prophet's own predictions. He had not been called to proclaim his own ideas and message; he had been called to proclaim the salvation of God Himself. He was a man given a very special call, a call to the most important task in all the world: the task of proclaiming the glory and wonder of God's salvation. God was making it possible for man to be saved and to live eternally.

"There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe" (Jn.1:6-7).

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certain king, which made a marriage for his son, and sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding; and they would not come" (Mt.22:2-3).

"And Moses said, Hereby ye shall know that the LORD hath sent me to do all these works; for I have not done them of mine own mind" (Num.16:28).

"And there arose not a prophet since in Israel like unto Moses, whom the LORD knew face to face" (Dt.34:10).

“Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me” (Is.6:8).

“Come ye near unto me, hear ye this; I have not spoken in secret from the beginning; from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Lord GOD, and his Spirit, hath sent me” (Is.48:16).

“And the LORD hath sent unto you all his servants the prophets, rising early and sending them; but ye have not hearkened, nor inclined your ear to hear” (Jer.25:4).

“I have sent also unto you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to serve them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers: but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened unto me” (Jer.35:15).

2 (1:10) Salvation—Grace: salvation was to be the personal experience of God’s grace. Grace is the favor of God showered upon men—men who do not deserve His favor. Grace is the mercy and love that God gives to men who...

- ignore Him
- neglect Him
- rebel against Him
- curse Him
- reject Him
- disobey Him
- disbelieve Him
- transgress against Him
- sin against Him
- fail to love Him

This, of course, includes us all, for we have all come short of God’s glory. We are all imperfect; we all have the seed of corruption within our bodies that causes us to age, deteriorate, and move ever so rapidly toward the grave. But this is the grace of God: a way has been provided for us to be counted perfect—a way for the seed of corruption to be removed out of our body and to be replaced with a seed of incorruption—a way for us to be delivered from death and to live forever. How? By God’s grace. The grace of God is the message of eternal salvation. We can now be saved from death and judgment—eternally saved—by experiencing God’s grace.

“But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they” (Acts 15:11).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men” (Tit.2:11).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:5-7).

3 (1:11) Salvation: salvation was a mystery. The prophets did not understand all that God was telling them to proclaim. Note the verse: in particular, they did not know when the Messiah would be sent to earth. The Greek scholar A.T. Robertson states it well: “The prophets knew what they prophesied, but not at what time the Messianic prophecies would be fulfilled” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.85).

The prophets prayed and asked God time and again, and they diligently sought to understand the age when the Messiah would be sent to save man. They wanted to know what the age would be like, the characteristics and signs of the time.

⇒ They wanted to know the very same thing that the Lord’s disciples wanted to know when they asked about the Lord’s return: “When shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?” (Mt.24:3).

⇒ They wanted to know the very same thing that believers want to know today when they discuss the Lord’s return: When is Christ going to return and what are the signs of His return?

The picture is this: they actually hungered and thirsted to understand all they could about God’s promised Messiah and salvation. They prayed and diligently sought, sought just as diligently as miners who dig and dig down through the earth and then drill and drill through the rock until they reach the pure ore (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.1008.).

Thought 1. What a challenge to us! If these great men of God had to search and search for the truth of God’s Word and salvation, how much more do we? We are without excuse. We have the prophets as dynamic examples of men who hungered after God’s salvation.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt know hereafter” (Jn.13:7).

“I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now” (Jn.16:12).

“Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God, (which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures)” (Ro.1:1-2).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known” (1 Cor.13:12).

“Which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit” (Eph.3:5).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

4 (1:11) Salvation—Jesus Christ, Death: salvation was to be wrought by the sufferings and glory of the Messiah. The Spirit of Christ, the Holy Spirit, told the prophets that God was going to save man by doing two things. (See note—Jn.1:45 for a complete list of the prophecies about Jesus Christ and their fulfillment.)

1. God would send the Messiah into the world to die for man’s transgressions; the Messiah would take the guilt of man’s transgressions upon Himself and bear the judgment and punishment of man’s guilt.

“Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:4-6; cp. Ps.22; Is.52:13-15; 53:1-12).

“But those things, which God before had showed by the mouth of all his prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled” (Acts 3:18).’

2. God would raise up the Messiah from the dead and exalt Him to the throne of God Himself.

“He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath spoken it” (Is.25:8. Fulfilled in 1 Cor.15:54.)

“So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:54).

“For thou shalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited” (Is.54:3. Fulfilled in Acts 13:34.)

“And as concerning that he raised him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption, he said on this wise, I will give you the sure mercies of David” (Acts 13:34).

“For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption” (Ps.16:10. Fulfilled in Acts 2:25-28, 31.)

“For David speaketh concerning him, I foresaw the Lord always before my face, for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moved: therefore did my heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad; moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope: because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption. Thou hast made known to me the ways of life; thou shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance....He seeing this before spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption” (Acts 2:25-28, 31).

“Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come: that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should show light unto the people, and to the Gentiles” (Acts 26:22-23).

“Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken: ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory? And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself” (Lk.24:25-27).

5 (1:12) Salvation—Fulness of Time: salvation was destined for future believers, for all who have lived since Christ came. The prophets proclaimed salvation through the coming Messiah. They even proclaimed that He was to suffer and die and be raised and exalted to God’s right hand. But they never had the privilege to see Christ nor to know exactly how He would suffer and be raised from the dead and exalted. The fulness of time—zero B.C. and A.D.—had not yet happened. But now it has: the fulness of time has come and God has sent forth His Son, made of a woman, to redeem all mankind. Salvation and the full picture of how the Messiah would die for the sins of the world are now known. All men are, therefore, without excuse if they refuse the wonder and greatness of God’s eternal salvation.

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

“I have waited for thy salvation, O LORD” (Gen.49:18).

“And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the LORD; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation” (Is.25:9).

“Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O LORD, have we waited for thee; the desire of our souls is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee” (Is.26:8).

“O LORD, be gracious unto us; we have waited for thee: be thou their arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble” (Is.33:2).

6 (1:12) Salvation—Gospel: salvation is now proclaimed in the gospel. The word gospel means good news and good tidings. It is the glorious message of God’s salvation, of the death of Jesus Christ who died for our sins and was raised again for our justification. It is the glorious news that if we truly believe in Jesus Christ, then...

- God counts our faith as the righteousness of Jesus Christ. Therefore, we are able to stand before God as righteous, as acceptable to Him.
- God counts us as having already died in the death of Jesus Christ. Therefore, having died in Christ, we never have to die. We shall never taste or experience death. When we are ready to depart this world, in the blink of an eye God will transfer us into heaven and into His very presence.

This is the gospel, the good news of God’s eternal salvation. The duty of man is clear: he must believe the gospel and commit his total being to Christ Jesus the Lord and begin to follow and live for Him. Note a significant fact: salvation is the good news of God. It is not the ideas, opinions, and thoughts of a man. Men may have their own ideas about how man can be saved, but their ideas are just that—ideas. Their thoughts are not the thoughts of God; their good news is not the good news of God. The end result of their ideas and opinions is the grave. No man can save men—not beyond the grave. At most, all man can do is delay and extend life a little while longer. No man can give life to any other man. The messages of men about life and the salvation of life are meaningless and empty. The only gospel that is true is God’s gospel. His gospel and His gospel alone is the gospel of salvation. The wonder and greatness of salvation is just this: God has loved us and spoken to us. He has loved us so much that He has sent His Son into the world to die for us and to save us. God has saved us; He has spoken to us in His Son—spoken the glorious gospel of eternal salvation.

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come” (Mt.24:14).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

7 (1:12) Salvation—Angels: salvation is so glorious that it arouses the angels to understand and look into it. The angels are not able to experience salvation, for they are of the spiritual world. But what God is doing in salvation is so astounding and glorious that they stand in stark amazement at God’s workings (see note—Eph.3:10-12 for more discussion).

Thought 1. No believer, layman or minister, should ever treat the gospel of salvation lightly. It is so glorious and so astounding that it demands the utmost diligence and effort...

- in studying
- in witnessing
- in praying
- in living
- in teaching and preaching
- in ministering and serving

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Ro.11:33).

“For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God” (Ro.14:11).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seal thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; and hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth. And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; saying with a loud voice, worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing. And every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Blessing, and honour, and glory, and power, be unto him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever” (Rev.5:9-13).

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

A. Get Your Mind Ready, 1:13-16

(1:13-16) Introduction: this passage begins the longest section of First Peter. Remember: the believers were suffering terrible persecution. They had lost their homes, property, money, possessions, and friends. They had been forced to flee for their lives, perhaps carrying only what they could by hand. They were being persecuted because of Christ. They were living for Christ and proclaiming the salvation and hope of eternal life in Him. People were willing to hear about salvation, hope, and eternal life in Christ; but they did not want to hear about repentance, that they had to repent in order to be saved and to receive eternal life. They were just like people of all ages: they did not want to hear about righteousness and godliness, about a Lord to whom they had to give all they were and had. Therefore, the people turned against the believers. The believers had fled into other countries trying to escape the fury of the persecution. They were naturally disappointed and experiencing the dread of fear. They needed to be encouraged and strengthened to continue on for Christ. But what was the best way for Peter to do this? What could be said to encourage a people who had lost everything and were having to flee for their lives?

There was only one message that could encourage and strengthen them: the glorious message of the gospel of salvation. They needed to keep their eyes upon the grace and salvation of God. This is what Peter had preached. Up until now he had proclaimed the wonder and greatness of salvation. Now something else was needed. When we are facing the trials and temptations of life, it is not enough to keep our eyes upon salvation. We must also act; we must do some things. When we undergo the trials of life, whether persecution and suffering or temptation and sin, we must act. We must dedicate our lives to God, and we must get our minds ready. We must concentrate upon some things. We must focus and zero in on three things in particular.

1. Focus upon the coming grace and salvation of God (v.13).
2. Focus upon obedience (v.14).
3. Focus upon holiness (v.15-16).

1 (1:13) Grace—Mind—Sober—Hope: focus upon the coming grace, the salvation of God. Remember: grace is the favor of God showered upon us. We do not deserve His favor, for we have not believed God, not perfectly. We have disobeyed, transgressed, cursed, neglected, ignored, and rebelled against God. Nevertheless God has favored us. He loves us; therefore He has provided a way for us to be saved. He has sent His Son into the world to take all of our transgressions upon Himself and to bear the judgment for us. This is what is meant when Scripture says that Jesus Christ died for us. He took the guilt of our transgressions against God upon Himself, and He bore the judgment and punishment for us. This is God's grace to us, the great favor and blessing which He has bestowed upon us, even our salvation. We can now be saved from sin and from death; we can now live with God eternally. But note a critical fact: we are not in heaven with God yet. We are not saved from the presence of sin and death yet. We are still living in this world and in the presence of evil and corruption. We shall be delivered some day; we shall be perfected and never know sin and death. But we are not there yet. However the day is coming, the day that is known as the glorious day of redemption or the glorious day of our salvation. The glorious day is coming, the day when Jesus Christ shall burst open the heavens above and return to earth to save and perfect us eternally. Therefore pursue that day; pursue the grace, the glorious salvation of God that is to be brought to us at the revelation of Jesus Christ. Go after God's grace—diligently go after it. Make sure, absolutely sure, that you do not miss God's grace. Pursue God's grace and salvation by doing three things.

1. Gird up the loins of your mind. This means to gather up all loose thoughts; to gird up your mind and thoughts; to concentrate and focus your attention upon your coming salvation. During Peter's day men wore robes, and they wore a belt around their waist. When they were set on some strenuous action, they gathered up their robe and tightened it under the belt so that the robe would not flop around and hinder their work. The believer is to gather up the loins of his mind, gather up all the loose thoughts and focus and concentrate upon the grace and salvation of God. He is to strain to control every thought, to focus upon...

- "whatsoever things are true
- "whatsoever things are honest
- "whatsoever things are just
- "whatsoever things are pure
- "whatsoever things are lovely

1 PETER 1:13-16

- “whatsoever things are of good report
- “if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

Note how clearly and simply Scripture states this: we are not to allow our thoughts to roam about and harbor thoughts of lust and worldliness. We are to focus our thoughts upon things of virtue and of praise. We are not to allow thoughts that tear down our moral and godly fiber.

Scripture is even more clear and forceful in another passage:

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

The very warfare of the believer is spiritual and mental. Therefore, the believer must...

- cast down imaginations.
- cast down every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God.
- bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.

Imagine—every thought is to be captivated for Christ. “Believers, gird up the loins of your mind. Gather up all the thoughts of your mind and focus upon the grace and salvation of God.”

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ” (1 Cor.2:16).

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds; casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:23-24).

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

2. Be “sober” (nephontes). Sober means two things:
- ⇒ Not to become intoxicated with drugs or alcohol of any kind.
 - ⇒ To be sober in mind and behavior; to be controlled in all things; not to be given over to indulgence, license, or extravagance. It is the opposite of indulgence, of indulging in anything such as eating, drinking, recreation, or whatever. It means to live a sober, solid, and controlled life.

The believer is to be sober as he pursues the coming grace and salvation of God. He is not to indulge and gratify his flesh in...

- drugs or alcohol
- food
- sleep
- recreation
- sex
- clothing
- possessions
- position
- recognition
- authority
- power
- pornography
- vehicles
- relaxation

The believer is to live a well-balanced life. He is to be sober, controlled, solid, and steady. He is to keep all things in the proper place. He is to be sober, focused and concentrated upon the grace and salvation of God.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

3. Hope to the end for the grace and salvation of God. Our hope must be kept alive. There is a dead hope and a lifeless hope. A dead hope is the hope that so many people have, the hope that they will be acceptable to God when they die. But they seldom think about the fact; they just let their hope lie dormant in their mind. It is the hope, the feeling that most people have, the feeling that God would never reject them, not in the final analysis. Whatever life there is that follows death—they are not sure what it will be like—they feel they will be okay and acceptable. They are not perfect, but they are not unacceptable to God. This is a dead hope, an occasional thought that they will be okay in whatever life follows death.

Note the exhortation of Scripture: hope to the end for the grace and salvation of God. Begin to hope now and keep on hoping to the very end. This is a living hope, the hope demanded by Scripture. Pursue, seek, and go after the grace and salvation of God. Hope for it and keep on hoping for it. Hope until the revelation of Jesus Christ. He is going to rent the clouds above and return to earth and save us from the sin and death and the evil and corruption of this world. Therefore, hope and keep on hoping, pursue and keep on pursuing, for the coming grace and salvation of God.

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us: which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:18-20).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:1-3).

2 (1:14) Obedience: focus upon obedience. There is a sharp contrast in this verse. Note exactly what it says.

“As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance” (v.14).

The phrase “obedient children” means children of obedience. That is, believers are to be so obedient to God that obedience becomes the basic trait of their lives. Obedience is to be so characteristic of our lives that we can be called children of obedience. However, in contrast to being children of obedience is the phrase “fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts.” As stated this is a sharp contrast. It pictures us as children of lusts. That is, we used to be so given over to our own desires, to doing our own thing, that we could be called children of lusts.

This is not a pretty picture, but it is exactly what a person without Christ is: a child of desire, a person who lives just like he wants to live. He does what he wants to do instead of what God says to do. He obeys himself, his own desires, not God and His Word. Therefore, he is a child of desires, a child of lusts. What kind of lusts or desires are being talked about? All kinds. There are the lusts and desires for...

- money
- sex
- popularity
- authority
- possessions
- food
- recognition
- housing
- property
- position
- clothing

Man must have the necessities of life. God made him to desire these things. But when we begin to desire and lust and crave these things it becomes wrong. Our focus and concentration in life becomes the lust of these things, getting more and more of them and gratifying our flesh. The lust of the flesh and of the eyes will enslave and consume us. This is a fact of human nature that is too often ignored and neglected. Note why: because of man’s ignorance.

Man is ignorant of God. Man does not know God, not personally, not in a close relationship that fellowships and communes with God day by day. When man thinks of God, he thinks of some misty Being or Force who is far away in outer space someplace, too far removed for us to relate to Him in a personal way. Therefore, man feels that he is free to do his own thing and to go his own way through life. And before man knows it, lust has gripped his life. Whatever it is that excites him or gives him purpose in this world, that thing enslaves man. The result is either obsession or emptiness. The person is either controlled and dominated by his lust or else left in despair and discouragement because his lust does not satisfy him.

The point is this: God is not far off and removed from man. God has revealed Himself in the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, man is to look at Jesus Christ and see God, and he is to follow the Lord Jesus Christ. Man is to obey God; he is to obey God so much that he will become a child of obedience. The world and its lusts are no longer to control our lives. The Lord Jesus Christ is to dominate our lives. We are to focus and concentrate upon Him and the glorious grace and salvation that He is to bring at His revelation.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

“This day the LORD thy God hath commanded thee to do these statutes and judgments: thou shalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart, and with all thy soul” (Dt.26:16).

“This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success” (Josh.1:8).

3 (1:15-16) Holiness: focus upon holiness. Holy (hagios) means to be righteous, pure, sinless, and godly; to be perfect, complete, and fulfilled in every possible sense; to be separated and entirely different from all other beings and things. The believer is to be holy, that is...

- righteous, pure, sinless, and godly.
- perfect, complete, and fulfilled.
- separated, entirely different from all who live worldly.

There are three reasons why believers are to live holy lives.

1. God is holy. He is the very embodiment and perfection of absolute holiness (see Deeper Study # 1, Holy— 1 Pt.1:15-16 for more discussion).

- ⇒ God is the embodiment of absolute righteousness, purity, sinlessness, and godliness.
- ⇒ God is the very embodiment of absolute perfection, completeness, and fulfillment.
- ⇒ God is the very embodiment of absolute separation—different and set apart and separated from all else.

2. God has called believers to be holy in all of life. God’s very purpose in saving us is to have a people who will be just like Him and who can live with Him eternally. God’s purpose is for us...

- to be holy, righteous, pure, sinless, and godly.
- to be perfect, complete, and fulfilled.
- to be separated from the world and set apart unto Him.

God does not want us corruptible and dying with the world. God wants us holy; He wants us set apart to be just like Him. God wants us to live with Him eternally. But to live with Him eternally, we must be like Him: we must be holy. Therefore, we must pursue, seek, and go after holiness. We must live holy, pure, righteous, and godly lives. We must seek and go after God; we must seek to be like God while on this earth. If we do, then God gives us the most glorious of hopes: the hope of eternal salvation.

3. Scripture demands holiness. It is written in Scripture: “Be ye holy; for I am holy” (Lev.11:45; 19:2; 20:7, 26). We have no choice: this is the command of Scripture itself. If we wish to be God’s, then we must live like God. We must live lives that are holy.

“For I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy” (Lev.11:45).

“That he would grant unto us, that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

“Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the Lord our God is holy” (Ps.99:9).

“And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory” (Is.6:3).

“Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name: for thou only art holy; for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest” (Rev.15:4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:15-16) Holy—Saint—Sanctification: (hagios): all three of these words and their various forms (holiness, saints, and sanctification) are translated from one Greek word hagios. Its Hebrew equivalent is kadosh. It is difficult to translate into English although its meaning is easy to grasp. Its basic meaning is to be separated, set apart, and different. Morally, it means pure, sinless, righteous, holy. Something holy is set apart, separated, different from all other persons or things. It is something that God has set aside for Himself. Man cannot set it aside as holy. It has to be set aside by God Himself.

A study of the word holy shows the movement of God in history.

1. God is said to be preeminently and supremely holy (Lk.1:49; Jn.17:11; 1 Pt.1:15). He possesses an incomparable majesty, so supremely majestic that there are beings who do nothing but surround His throne day and night singing out the praises of His holiness (Is.6:1f; Rev.4:8).

2. Things that have a special connection to God are said to be holy. The ground upon which Moses stood when God confronted him was said to be holy (Ex.3:1-5; Acts 7:33). The temple was said to be holy (Mt.24:15), and the Holy of Holies in particular was holy (Heb.9:2-3). The mount where Christ was transfigured was called holy (2 Pt.1:18). The covenant that God made with Abraham was holy (Lk.1:35). The gospel and Scriptures are called holy (Mt.7:6; Ro.1:2). Anything that becomes associated with God is set apart unto God in a very special sense and becomes different from other things.

3. The Jews are called a holy nation (Ex.19:6). They were set apart in a very special way to God. The Old Testament deals primarily with the Jews and their special relationship to God: “Ye shall be holy unto me; for I, the Lord, am holy, and have separated you from other people, that ye should be mine” (Lev.20:26; cp. Dan.7:18, 22).

⇒ The Jewish people were holy in that they were to be different from other nations, different in that they were to believe God and serve Him faithfully. God knew them in a very special way above all the nations of the earth (see Deeper Study # 1—Jn.4:22; Deeper Study # 1—Ro.4:1-25).

⇒ The Jewish priesthood was holy, different from other men (Lev.21:6). The people’s tithe or tenth was holy, different from other money and goods and used for different purposes (Lev.27:30, 32). The temple was holy, different from other buildings (Ex.26:33).

But note this: the Jews refused to play the part in history that God wanted them to play. The Old Testament is a continuous record of their rejection of God’s will. And when God sent His Son into the world, they committed the supreme and lasting rejection. They refused to acknowledge Him and put Him to death.

4. Jesus Christ is said to be holy in a very special way.

⇒ Before His birth, the angel said to Mary, “That holy One who shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God” (Lk.1:35).

⇒ Mary worshipped Him in song and praise before His birth saying, “Holy is His name” (Lk.1:49f). He was the only begotten Son of God, holy, revered, and worthy of veneration and worship.

⇒ The people recognized that He was sanctified by God (Jn.10:36; cp. 6:69).

⇒ The mentally ill and demon-possessed recognized Him as the Holy One of God (Mk.1:24; Lk.4:34).

⇒ The church worshipped Him as “the Holy Child of God” (Acts 4:27, 30).

Note this: Jesus Christ Himself was the transition from God’s dealing with the Jewish nation as holy to a new people as holy. When the Jews rejected God’s Son, they showed their ultimate refusal to follow God, to be holy and separated unto Him. Therefore, God had no choice but to raise up another people to be separated unto Him. The new people are those of all nations and peoples who believe and follow Christ as the Lord of their lives.

5. The church is now said to be the holy people of God. The privileges and responsibilities of following God were taken from Israel and given to the church (Jn.17:14, 16; Ro.11:16f).

⇒ The church is called a holy nation and a royal or holy priesthood, a people made up of genuine believers from all nationalities and languages and races (1 Pt.2:5, 9).

⇒ The church is a people who set themselves apart unto God as holy and separated and different, who utterly trust Him and abandon themselves to follow Him.

⇒ The church is now the dwelling place for God’s presence. Believers are being built “together for a habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:21-22). The church in some unique and spiritual sense, by an act of God, becomes the very body of Christ (Eph.1:22-23). The church, the body of believers when meeting together locally, now replaces the temple of the Old Testament (see note—1 Cor.3:16).

6. But there is something even more precious and hallowed to real believers. The body of the individual believer becomes holy, for the Spirit of God dwells within the believer’s body (1 Cor.6:19-20). The body of the believer becomes the dwelling place for God’s very presence, and the body replaces the holy of holies within the inner sanctuary of the temple. Thus, believers are called saints or holy ones (Acts 9:13, 32, 26:10; Ro.1:7. See note, Saint—Ph.1:1).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING:
 GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

B. Live on Earth in the Fear and Reverence of God 1:17-21

(1:17-21) Introduction: How can we stand against the trials and temptations of life? When we are severely attacked to such a point that we cannot understand, how can we bear it? Is there anything anywhere that can help us to bear it? Yes! There is the fear of God. If a person fears God and fears Him enough, he will stand against temptation and he will endure the trials of life.

But note: most people do not like to talk about fearing God. To fear God is thought to be psychologically unsound and emotionally disturbing. It is said to drive people into all kinds of emotional problems. Because of these charges, many have shied away from preaching and teaching the fear of God. But note: Is this true? Is it true that preaching and teaching the fear of God causes problems for people? One thing is sure: this is not what Scripture proclaims. Scripture proclaims that man must fear God or else he will be doomed forever. Therefore, whatever is causing man's psychological and emotional problems, it is not the fear of God, not the true fear of God.

What does Scripture mean by the fear of God? It means two things.

⇒ To fear God means to hold Him in fear, dread, and terror.

⇒ To fear God means to hold Him in awe, to reverence the holiness, power, knowledge, wisdom, judgment and wrath of God.

What Scripture teaches is this: man must reverence God and hold God in the highest esteem and honor. Only if man reverences God will he worship and serve God. Therefore, the fear that God wants man to have is a fear of reverence and awe, a fear that will stir man to love God with the deepest of emotions, with a true honor and esteem. But if man fails to reverence and love God, then he must fear the judgment and wrath of God. Why? Because man will have to bear the judgment of God. Therefore, fear is man's only hope; it is one of the forces that can drive him to cry out for the mercy of God.

This is the subject of this passage. We are to live on earth in the fear of God.

1. Because you call God "Father" (v.17).
2. Because God shall judge the world (v.17).
3. Because you are a stranger and pilgrim on earth (v.17).
4. Because you have been redeemed (v.18-20).
5. Because you believe in the God who raised up and glorified Christ (v.21).

1 (1:17) God, Father: believers are to reverence God because they call God "Father". A father is to be revered: every child is to reverence his father. The word reverence means to hold one's father in the highest esteem and to honor and respect him. It means to hold one's father in such esteem that one fears lest he displease and hurt his father. This is especially true of God. God is our Father. He has adopted us as His children through the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, we are to reverence Him. We are...

- to honor and respect Him.
- to hold Him in the highest esteem.
- to fear lest we displease and dishonor Him and bring pain to His heart.

The point is this: if you call God "Father," then live like it. Stay true to Him. Stand against all the trials and persecutions, temptations and evils of this life. Call upon your Father; ask for His help and strength. But reverence Him; show honor and respect by living for Him.

"After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name" (Mt.6:9).

"If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" (Mt.7:11).

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

2 (1:17) Judgment: believers are to reverence God because God shall judge the world. Note that the word “fear” (phoboi) is used. It means to hold God in reverence and awe. The judgment of God should strike fear, dread and terror within us, for it is to be the most fearful, dreaded and terrorizing experience imaginable. In fact, the human mind cannot even picture how awful and frightening it will be to be judged and cut off from God for eternity. Two things are said about the judgment of God.

1. Every person is going to be judged. No one shall escape. Every person will come to the day when he will stand all alone in a private interview with God. In that moment he shall stand face to face with God for one purpose and one purpose alone: to be judged.

2. It is the works of a person that are to be judged. No false profession will stand in that day. When God reveals the person’s works, his works will show that he never really trusted in Christ. He only said that he believed Christ, but his life and works will prove differently. It will be seen that he lived a lie. His life and works will show that he lived for the world and its possessions and pleasure.

Thought 1. We must never forget: a person is saved by faith in Christ, by a faith that lives for Christ and continues to live for Christ. A person who believes in Christ lives for Him. The person believes; therefore he lives day by day doing exactly what he believes. There just is no such thing as faith without works to back up the faith. If a person truly believes, then he does what he believes. His works follow his belief. This is the reason it is our works that shall be judged: our works will reveal exactly what we believe.

3. God will judge without partiality. God has no favorites. It does not matter who the person is: high or low, rich or poor, sinner or saint, good or bad, righteous or evil—all shall be judged and favoritism will be shown to no one. Peter, Paul, Martin Luther, Pope Paul, Billy Graham, Caesar, George Washington, John Kennedy, Winston Churchill, Martin Luther King, Einstein, Hitler, Stalin, Genghis Khan, Bill, Henry, Jane, Elizabeth—every human being who has ever lived, both high and low, will be judged; and we shall all be judged on an equal basis. There will be no partiality and no favoritism shown to a single person.

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world” (1 Jn.4:17).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works” (Rev.20:12).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

“Also unto thee, O Lord, belongeth mercy: for thou renderest to every man according to his work” (Ps.62:12).

“I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings” (Jer.17:10).

3 (1:17) Sojourner—Pilgrim—Worldliness: believers are to reverence God because they are sojourners on earth. The word “sojournings” (paroikais) means to dwell alongside; to be passing by. It is the picture of a pilgrim or stranger who is in a foreign country and is only dwelling there or passing by for a brief time. This is the believer here on earth. He is not a permanent resident on earth. He is only passing through the earth to a better world. This means a most wonderful thing: when a person is a stranger or pilgrim in a foreign land, his mind and heart are home. He lives in a consciousness of home. So it is with the believer: his thoughts are upon home. He lives and walks in the consciousness of being in heaven with God. This is his attitude and his thoughts as he walks through his pilgrimage upon earth. He travels through life with his mind and heart upon heaven, his permanent home.

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-16).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“And I have also established my covenant with them, to give the land of Canaan [a type of heaven], the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were strangers” (Ex.6:4).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

“Hear my prayer, O LORD, and give ear unto my cry; hold not thy peace at my tears: for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were” (Ps.39:12).

“I am a stranger in the earth: hide not thy commandments from me” (Ps.119:19).

4 (1:18-20) Redemption—Jesus Christ, Blood: believers are to reverence God because they have been redeemed. The word “redeem” (lutron) means to set free or deliver by paying some ransom. Note three significant points.

1. We need to be redeemed, to be set free from the empty life that we have been taught to live by our forefathers. This is exactly what Scripture says:

“Ye were...redeemed...from your vain conversation [life] received by tradition from your fathers” (v.18).

The life which most fathers teach is a vain and empty life. It focuses upon the world, its possessions and pleasures...

- | | | |
|---------------|---------------|---------------|
| • jobs | • investments | • recognition |
| • professions | • retirement | • fame |
| • money | • recreation | • popularity |
| • housing | • position | • honor |
| • property | • authority | • prestige |
| • enjoyment | • pleasure | • comfort |
| • ease | | |

Note carefully: these things do not satisfy the human heart. They are necessary to human life; we must have the basic necessities in order to sustain life. But physical and material things do not satisfy or fulfill the human heart. Only one thing can do that: God—the presence of God living in the heart and giving the person the perfect assurance of living forever with God. Therefore when a person focuses upon the world, its pleasures and possessions, he becomes vain. His heart becomes empty, void, unfulfilled, and incomplete. The worldly heart senses a lack of permanent purpose, meaning, and significance. Why?

⇒ Because the worldly person has little assurance that he is acceptable to God. Why? Because his life and thoughts are not focused upon God; they are focused upon the world.

⇒ Because the worldly person is not sure he will live forever. Why? Because his life is not focused upon heaven; it is focused upon this world, upon getting all the possessions and pleasures he can to live comfortably.

⇒ Because the worldly person transgresses the law of God. He neglects, ignores, rejects, rebels, and curses God. He is simply guilty of transgressing the law of God; therefore, he must bear the judgment and punishment for having violated God and His law. He must die, be exiled and cut off from God eternally. The worldly person has chosen to live without God; therefore, his desire will be granted. He will never have to live with God. He will continue on and on without God—exiled, cut off from God forever and ever.

The point is this: we need to be set free and delivered from the empty life that we have been taught to live. Our forefathers were wrong. A worldly life does not work. It only leaves us empty and void, incomplete and unfulfilled, and it dooms us to death, to an eternity apart from God.

“And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin” (1 Ki.22:52).

“He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his counsellor to do wickedly” (2 Chron.22:3).

“But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them” (Jer.9:14).

“Thus saith the Lord; For three transgressions of Judah, and for four, I will not turn away the punishment thereof; because they have despised the law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandments, and their lies caused them to err, after the which their fathers have walked” (Amos 2:4).

“But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition [teaching]?” (Mt.15:3).

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience: among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:2-3).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth” (Tit.1:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers” (1 Pt.1:18).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

2. We are freely redeemed: redemption does not cost us a penny. We are not redeemed by silver and gold. Note why. Because they are corruptible; that is, silver and gold perish. Money passes away. Therefore, if we were able to buy redemption with money, our redemption would last only as long as our money lasted. When it deteriorated and passed away, the payment for our ransom would no longer exist. Therefore, God’s righteousness and justice would no longer be able to accept us. Once again, we would stand guilty before Him. Why? Because God is eternal; therefore, the ransom demanded by His justice is an eternal ransom. If we are going to be delivered from this corruptible world and given eternal life, then the ransom paid for our release has to be an eternal ransom—a ransom that will last as long as we are going to be living. This is the reason silver and gold are totally inadequate in redeeming us.

Thought 1. The most precious thing on earth to men is silver and gold. But even if a man had all the silver and gold in the world, he could not use them to buy his redemption. Yet, how many try to please God and to secure His approval by making gifts to the church and special projects to help the needy and the community?

3. We are redeemed by the precious blood of Christ. A.T. Robertson says, “The blood of anyone is ‘precious’ [costly] far above gold or silver, but that of Jesus immeasurably more so” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.90). How is it that the blood of Christ redeems us?

a. First, Jesus Christ was just like the Passover lamb, “without blemish and without spot.” When Jesus Christ came to earth, He never sinned; He never transgressed the law of God. He stood before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man. He was acceptable to God, perfectly acceptable. As the Ideal and Perfect Man, whatever Jesus Christ did, it would stand for and cover man. Therefore, when Jesus Christ died, He was able to take all of man’s guilt and judgment upon Himself and die for man. He was able to bear the judgment and punishment of transgression for man. The death or blood of Jesus Christ is the eternal ransom for man. When we believe in Jesus Christ, really trust Him, God counts us as having died in Christ. Therefore, having died with Him, we shall never die. When it is time for us to depart this world, quicker than the blink of an eye, God shall transfer us into heaven, into His very own presence. Jesus Christ has redeemed us; He has paid the ransom and delivered and set us free from sin and its penalty of death.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“[Christ] who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers” (1 Pt.1:18).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

b. Second, God foreordained that Christ redeem us by His blood, foreordained it even before the foundation of the world. The word “foreordained” (prognosmenou) means foreknown. The word is used three different ways in Scripture:

⇒ to know something beforehand, ahead of time.

⇒ to know something immediately by loving and accepting and approving it.

⇒ to elect, foreordain, and predetermine something.

Note that all three meanings are at work in this passage. Before the world was ever created, God knew, approved, and predestined Christ to redeem man by coming to earth and dying for man. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Foreknowledge—1 Pt.1:2 for more discussion.)

“Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world” (Acts 15:18).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“God hath not cast away his people [Israel] whom he foreknew” (Ro.11:2).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot: who verily was foreordained [foreknown] before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:18-20).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

- c. Third, Christ has now come. God has now revealed and sent Him to redeem us. And note the statement: “in these last days.” Time is short, very short. There is little time left for us to be redeemed. Century after century has already passed.

“And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel” (Mk.1:15).

“But when the fulness of the time was come. God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:3-6).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:26).

5 (1:21) Faith—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: believers are to reverence God because they believe in God who raised up and glorified Christ. Who is the God whom believers trust and call upon? The God who raised up and glorified the Lord Jesus Christ. This means two most wonderful things: if God raised up Christ, He will also raise us up. If God glorified Christ, He will also glorify us. He knows how to raise us up and to glorify us and He has the power. He has proven it by raising up and glorifying Christ.

⇒ Jesus Christ pleased God, pleased Him perfectly. God accepted Jesus Christ, and He has proven it in the most supreme way possible: He has raised Christ up from the dead and glorified Him. Therefore, the person who believes in Jesus Christ—who really trusts the blood of Jesus Christ to cover his sins—who really honors God’s Son enough to cast his whole life and eternity upon Christ—that person can rest assured that God will accept him. God will raise him up and glorify him with Christ.

⇒ God knows how to raise up and glorify the dead, and He has the power to do it. He has proven His omniscience (supreme knowledge) and omnipotence (supreme power) by raising up and glorifying Christ. Therefore, the person who believes in Jesus Christ can rest assured that God knows how to raise him up and to glorify him forever and ever.

Note one other fact: we believe in God “by Him,” that is, by Christ. Christ is the Mediator between God and men, the only Person who is perfect and ideal. Therefore, He alone can make us acceptable to God. If we are going to approach God, we must come by Jesus Christ.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:14-18).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively [living] hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING:
GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

C. Love One Another Fervently, 1:22-25

(1:22-25) Introduction—Love: there is no greater force than love. If two people truly love each other, they will do anything for the other. There is no greater bond on earth than true love. This is especially true of the love between believers. Why? Is there a difference between the love that believers have for one another and the love that neighbors have for one another? Scripture says yes, emphatically yes. Believers are to have a different kind of love than neighbors have for one another. The love that believers are to have for one another is what the Greek calls philadelphia love, a very special kind of love. The word is “scarcely found except in Christian writings” (B.C. Coffin. First Peter. “The Pulpit Commentary,” Vol.22, ed. by HDM Spence and Joseph S. Exell. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1950, p.11.) Philadelphia love means brotherly love, the very special love that exists between the brothers and sisters within a loving family, brothers and sisters who truly cherish each other. It is the kind of love...

- that binds one another together as a family, as a brotherly clan.
- that binds one another in an unbreakable union.
- that holds one another ever so deeply within the heart.
- that knows deep affection for one another.
- that nourishes and nurtures one another.
- that shows concern and looks after the welfare of one another.

The importance of believers loving one another with a philadelphia love cannot be over-stressed. Note what verse 22 says:

⇒ We are to have unfeigned love for our Christian brothers. Unfeigned means genuine, sincere, without pretension, hypocrisy, or play-acting. We are not to pretend, play, and act like we love one another; we are to love one another genuinely and sincerely.

But note this: there can be no mistake about the importance of love, for verse 22 says more and it is forceful: “See that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently.” The word “fervently” (ektenos) “does not mean ‘with warmth’ but rather ‘with full intensity’.” It literally means to stretch love fully out or to love one another in an all out manner (Alan M. Stibbs. The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1959, p.94).

This is the love believers are to have for one another, a philadelphia kind of love. Now note: there are four reasons why we are to love one another fervently.

1. Reason 1: you have purified your souls (v.22).
2. Reason 2: you are born again by the Word of God (v.23).
3. Reason 3: your flesh withers and falls away (v.24-25).

1 (1:22) Salvation—Obedience—Purity: believers are to love one another because they have purified their souls. This means that the soul of a true believer is cleansed of sin. He is forgiven and purified from every sin he has ever committed. His soul is pure and clean, completely free from all guilt and moral dirt, pollution, and corruption. The true believer is no longer guilty of any misbehavior or sin, no matter what it is. He stands before God with a pure and clean soul, a soul that is perfect and acceptable to God.

But note a significant point—note what it is that cleanses the believer’s soul: it is obedience to the truth. The believer obeys the truth and as he obeys the truth, the Spirit of God continually cleanses his soul from sin. This is critical to note: a person is cleansed only while he is walking in the truth, only while he is obeying the truth of God’s light. When a person walks in the light of the truth, the Spirit cleanses his soul through the blood of Christ.

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

This is the reason we are to love our brothers. God has cleansed our souls from sin for the very purpose of loving others, and we are obedient when we love them. It is a circle: we are obedient when we love them and we love them when we are obedient. God has cleansed our souls so that we can love people with a clean and pure heart—with no restraints of guilt or shame or weakness whatsoever. Therefore, let us love one another in the freedom of a pure and clean soul.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love....This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:10-12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

2 (1:23) Born Again—New Birth—Word of God: believers are to love one another because they have been born again by the Word of God. All believers have been spiritually born again and spiritually remade. They have been spiritually created into new men and new women, created anew by God to be brothers and sisters to one another and to love one another. Note two points.

1. First, believers are not born again by corruptible seed, that is, not by the seed of mere man who is corruptible. If we were born again by the work of some man, we would still be corruptible. We would still be...

- | | | |
|----------------|-------------|--------------|
| • abusive | • selfish | • deceptive |
| • self-seeking | • jealous | • envious |
| • hypocritical | • withdrawn | • snobbish |
| • prideful | • arrogant | • neglectful |
| • angry | • bitter | • hateful |

This is the behavior of corruptible seed; it is the nature of human beings. It is the way man acts toward others. But this is not to be the nature of believers, for believers have been born again.

2. Second, believers are born again by the incorruptible seed, by the Word of God itself. God spoke and convicted us and led us to repent of our sins and turn to Him. It may have happened when we were reading God’s Word or thinking about God or when we were listening to some preacher proclaim God’s Word. It does not matter when or how we were born again. What matters is that it has happened. When we turned from sin to God, God spoke the Word and quickened our spirits, making them alive to Him and His Word.

Note that God’s Word is the incorruptible seed; it is the seed that is planted within our hearts and lives. The word incorruptible means that it does not perish. Imagine! The Word of God recreates us, and it is incorruptible. This means a most wonderful thing: we are incorruptible; we will not age, perish, deteriorate, or decay. As this verse says, “the Word of God...lives and abides forever.” Therefore, we shall live and abide forever.

The point is this: as born again brothers and sisters, God has put His incorruptible Word into our hearts. And the very first Word or commandment to believers is to love one another. Therefore, we must love one another with a pure heart fervently. We must obey God.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:3, 5-6).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:23) Born Again—New Birth: a spiritual birth, a rebirth of one's spirit, a new life, a renewed soul, a regenerated spirit. It is the regeneration and renewal of one's spirit and behavior (2 Cor.5:17). It is the enduement of a new life, of a godly nature (2 Pt.1:4). The new birth is so radical a change in a person's life that it can be described only as being born again. Something so wonderful happens to the soul that it is just like a new birth. It is a spiritual birth, a birth beyond the grasp of man's hands and efforts. It is so radical, so life-changing, and so wonderful that it can be wrought only by the love and power of God Himself.

The New Testament teaching on the new birth is rich and full.

1. The new birth is a necessity. A person will never see (Jn.3:3) nor ever enter (Jn.3:5) the Kingdom of God unless he is born again (Jn.3:7).

2. The new birth is a spiritual birth, the birth of a new power and spirit in life. It is not reformation of the old nature (Ro.6:6). It is the actual creation of a new birth within—spiritually (Jn.3:5-6; cp. Jn.1:12-13; 2 Cor.5:17; Eph.2:10; 4:24). (See notes—Eph.1:3; 4:17-19; DEEPER STUDY # 3—4:24.) A person is spiritually born again:

a. By water, even the Spirit.

“Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:5; see Deeper Study # 2—Jn.3:5).

b. By the will of God.

“Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures” (Jas.1:18).

c. By incorruptible seed, even by the Word of God.

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

d. By God from above. The word again (ana) in the phrase “born again” also means above.

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3; cp. Jn.1:12-13).

e. By Christ, who gives both the power and right to be born again.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God” (Jn.1:12-13).

3. The new birth is a definite experience, a real experience. A person experiences the new birth:

a. By believing that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God.

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1; cp. Jn.3:14-15).

b. By the gospel as it is shared by believers.

“For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel” (1 Cor.4:15).

“I beseech thee for my son Onesimus, whom I have begotten in my bonds” (Phile.10).

c. By the Word of God or by the Word of Truth.

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures” (Jas.1:18).

4. The new birth is a changed life, a totally new life. A person proves that he is born again:

a. By doing righteous acts.

“If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him” (1 Jn.2:29; cp. Eph.2:10; 4:24).

b. By not practicing sin.

“Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God” (1 Jn.3:9).

“We know that whosoever is born of God sinneth not; but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not” (1 Jn.5:18).

c. By loving other believers.

“Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God” (1 Jn.4:7).

d. By overcoming the world.

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith” (1 Jn.5:4).

e. By keeping himself.

“We know that whosoever is born of God sinneth not; but he that is begotten of God keepeth himself, and that wicked one toucheth him not” (1 Jn.5:18).

f. By possessing the divine seed or nature.

“Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God” (1 Jn.3:9).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath shewed me” (2 Pt.1:14; cp. Col.1:27).

3 (1:24-25) Death—Flesh—Word of God: believers are to love one another because their flesh withers and falls away ever so quickly (cp. Is.6-8). Note two facts.

1. Life is ever so short. It lasts no longer than the grass that appears so quickly and then withers away or the flower that appears just as quickly and falls away.

Note the phrase “glory of man.” People work and work to be glorious, to be...

- | | | |
|--------------|--------------|-------------|
| • attractive | • recognized | • esteemed |
| • acceptable | • charming | • dignified |
| • honorable | • appealing | • beautiful |
| • upstanding | | |

But no matter how much glory man achieves, he ages, wrinkles, deteriorates, and passes off the scene. His flesh is no more than the grass that withers, and the glory of his flesh is no more than the flower that falls away. But this is not true with the believer.

“Thou carriest them away as with a flood; they are as a sleep: in the morning they are like grass which groweth up. In the morning it flourisheth, and groweth up; in the evening it is cut down, and withereth....For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.90:5-6, 16).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth” (Is.40:6-7).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldst be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him” (Ps.49:17).

“For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again” (Ps.78:39).

“For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust” (Ps.103:14).

“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“The earth is given into the hand of the wicked: he covereth the faces of the judges thereof; if not, where, and who is he?” (Job 9:24).

“Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?” (Is.2:22).

“Therefore hell hath enlarged herself, and opened her mouth without measure: and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that rejoiceth, shall descend into it” (Is.5:14).

“Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a shepherd’s tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining sickness: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me” (Is.38:12).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

2. The believer endures forever: “the Word of the Lord endureth forever” (v.25). The Word of the Lord lives in the heart and life of the believer. Therefore, the believer lives forever (v.23). What is this word that endures forever? It is the Word of the gospel that is preached to you. If we receive the word of the gospel—really bring it into our lives—it will live within us forever and keep us living forever.

The point is this: believers have received the Word of the Lord into their lives. Therefore, they are going to be living together forever. We are the family of God. Therefore, we are to live and act like the family of God; we are to love one another with a pure heart fervently.

“For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven” (Ps.119:89).

“The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for ever” (Is.40:8).

“For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Mt.5:18).

“Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away” (Mt.24:35).

“But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you” (1 Pt.1:25).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

- a. Malice—guile—hypocrisy
- b. Envy—evil speaking

2 The one thing to crave: The Word

- a. The charge: Desire
- b. The purpose: To grow

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING:
GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12*D. Strip Off Some Things and Crave the Word of God, 2:1-3

(2:1-3) Introduction: this is a forceful passage of Scripture. It uses some descriptive, active words. The imperative "laying aside" means to strip off, and the imperative "desire" means to crave. Believers are to strip off some things and crave the Word of God.

1. There are things that have to be stripped off (v.1).
2. There is one thing that has to be craved: the milk of God's Word (v.2-3).

1 (2:1) Maturity—Growth, Spiritual: the believer is to strip off some things. The Greek word for "laying aside" (apothemenoi) means to put off one's clothing; to cleanse oneself of those things that defile. Both meanings are applicable in this verse (A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.94). There are some things that defile the believer. He is to take these things and strip them off just as he would strip off his clothes; he is to cleanse himself from all that defiles him. Five things in particular are mentioned, and note: all five have to do with what has just been said in the former passage. We are to love one another with a pure heart fervently. The very things that we are to strip off are the things that dirty and soil our love. They have to do with how we treat one another, with our behavior toward our Christian brothers and sisters.

1. Believers must strip off "malice" (kakian). The word means two things.
 - a. In a general sense it means wickedness, all kinds and forms of evil. It is a word that strikes at all the vices of men.

"Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them" (Ro.1:29-32).

- b. In a narrow sense it means malice, deep-seated feelings against a person; hatred that lasts on and on; intense and long-lasting bitterness against a person. It means ill will, actually wishing that something bad would happen to a person. It means to be vicious, spiteful, and to hold a grudge. It means that a person has turned his heart over to evil:

- ⇒ He no longer has any good feelings toward the other person—none whatsoever.
- ⇒ He could care less if something bad happened to the person.

The charge is strong: believers are to strip off malice—all of their evil and wickedness and all of their ill feelings against others. Believers are to be pure and clean, and they are to live pure and clean lives before their brothers and sisters in the Lord.

"Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (1 Cor.5:8).

"Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men" (1 Cor.14:20).

"Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice" (Eph.4:31).

"But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth" (Col.3:8).

“For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another” (Tit.3:3).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

2. Believers must strip off “guile” (dolon). The word means to deceive and mislead people; to set bait so as to catch them; to bait or deceive in order to achieve one’s own end. It means to be two-faced. Note that guile or deception has to do primarily with words. When a person wants something, he tries to get it...

- by flattery
- by false promises
- by false tales
- by suggestive talk
- by off-colored suggestions
- by enticing words
- by outright lying

When a person wants something, he looks at the other person’s weakness or ignorance, and he tries to appeal to it. He appeals to it by deceiving and beguiling the person. The exhortation is strong: believers must strip off guile. We must not deceive and mislead people.

3. Believers must strip off “hypocrisies” (hupokriseis). The word means one who pretends, puts on a show, acts out something he is not. At first the word simply meant one who replied or answered another person. Then it came to mean acting, as actors play-acted the lines of a scene. Finally, the word was used in the worst sense: play-acting, pretending; one who wore a mask to hide his real self; one who acted one way, but who was really another way; one who put on an outward show.

Note that the plural hypocrisies is used. All kinds of hypocrisies are meant. A person is a hypocrite...

- when he acts as though he loves and believes God, but he does not live like God tells him to live.
- when he pretends to be following God, but he is living like he wants to live.
- when he shows a concern for the things of God, but his real concern is for the things of the world.
- when he professes to believe God’s Word, but he questions it and adds and takes away from it.
- when he acts as though he cares for people, but he is really full of selfishness, self-seeking, possessiveness, hoarding, envy, and pride.
- when he courts friends, but he is after something.
- when he acts friendly, but he could care less.
- when he promises, but he never intends to keep his promise.

Thought 1. Jesus warns hypocrites, severely warns them. Believers must, therefore, strip off any semblance of hypocrisy. Hypocrisy is one of the sins that God hates above all others.

- ⇒ Hypocrites shall receive the greater damnation (Mt.23:14).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are children of hell (Mt.23:15).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are fools and blind (Mt.23:17, 19).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are blind guides (Mt.23:24).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are full of extortion and excess (Mt.23:25).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are full of all uncleanness (Mt.23:27).
- ⇒ Hypocrites are serpents, a generation of vipers (Mt.23:33).
- ⇒ Hypocrites shall not escape the damnation of hell (Mt.23:33).

“Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity” (Mt.23:28).

“Beware ye of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy” (Lk.12:1).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he: Eat and drink, saith he to thee; but his heart is not with thee” (Pr.23:7).

“When he speaketh fair, believe him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart” (Pr.26:25).

4. Believers must strip off “envies” (phthonous): a person without God lives in envy (phthonoi). The word means that a person covets what someone else has, covets it so much that he wants it even if it has to be taken away from the other person. He may even wish that the other person did not have it or had not received it. We may look at people and envy their...

| • money | • possessions | • social status |
| • position | • popularity | • recognition |
| • looks | • clothes | • authority |

Note that the plural envies is used. This means all kinds of envies and jealousies; it means that we are not to look at a person and envy to be like them nor to have what they possess. The results of envy are terrible; envy takes a terrible toll upon the life and body of a person.

- ⇒ A person who envies does not have peace or happiness. He is dissatisfied with what he is and has and is always wanting more and more of what others have.
- ⇒ In addition to this, envy often drives a person into crime and lawlessness in order to get what he craves.
- ⇒ On top of this, envy often leads to physical problems such as migraine headaches, high blood pressure, ulcers, and other illnesses.
- ⇒ Envy also causes emotional problems ranging from mild neurosis or depression to psychotic behavior.

But thanks be to God our Savior. He saves and delivers us from envy. Through Christ He gives us real life, and He satisfies our hearts and lives with pleasures forevermore (Ps.16:11). Therefore, we must strip off all envies. We must love one another and joy in the persons and possessions of others. We must love them, support and build them up, not envy and wish to see them torn down.

“A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones” (Pr.14:30).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the LORD all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

“Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them” (Pr.24:1).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

5. Believers must strip off “evil speakings” (katalalias). This means to criticize, judge, backbite, gossip, censor, condemn, and grumble against another person. It means to talk about and to tear down another person; to spread tales about another person that cut and hurt him and that lower his image and reputation in the eyes of others. The word usually means to talk about a person behind his back when he is not present.

Note that the brother has sinned. He has broken the law of God. He has failed and his failure is known. It is public knowledge, and he is being judged and criticized for his failure. He is being talked about. What he has done is being buzzed and gossiped about, and it is hurting and cutting him and damaging him more and more in the eyes of the world. Now, if we are forbidden to speak evil of a person who is really guilty of sin, how much more are we forbidden to speak against a person just because we dislike or disagree with him?

Note what the Scripture says: this is evil speaking. Talking about a person is evil. It is just as much an evil as the failure of the other person. Therefore, the person who judges is as guilty as the sinner.

The exhortation is strong: Christian believers are not to judge and speak evil of one another. The reason is clear: we are brothers, brothers of Christ and of one another. All of us are of the family of God. Therefore...

- we are to be loving, caring, and looking after each other, not destroying each other.
- we are to be supporting, encouraging, and building up one another, not tearing down one another.
- when one of us falls and gets into trouble, we are to be reaching out and helping him up, not pushing him farther down.

When we criticize a brother or sister in Christ, we are slandering one of God’s own children. Just think: we are actually slandering a son or daughter of God. This alone should keep us from speaking evil of our brothers in Christ.

Think about something else as well: there is never a spirit of evil speaking in the humble and loving person. There is only a loving compassion for others, especially for those who have come short and fallen. Therefore, when we speak evil of another person it means that we are neither humble nor loving, but the very opposite: prideful and hateful. We are an evil speaker.

Thought 1. There are several reasons why people tend to judge and criticize.

- 1) Criticism boosts our own self-image. Pointing out someone else’s failure and tearing him down makes us seem a little bit better, at least in our own eyes. It adds to our own pride, ego, and self-image.
- 2) Criticism is simply enjoyed. There is a tendency in human nature to take pleasure in hearing and sharing bad news and shortcomings about others.
- 3) Criticism makes us feel that our own lives (morality and behavior) are better than the person who failed.
- 4) Criticism helps us justify the bad decisions we have made and the bad things we have done throughout our lives. We rationalize our decisions and acts by pointing out the failure of others.
- 5) Criticism points out to our friends how strong we are. Criticism gives good feelings because our rigid beliefs and strong lives are proven again. Proven how? By our brother’s failure.
- 6) Criticism is an outlet for hurt and revenge. We feel he deserves it. Subconsciously, if not consciously, we think, “He hurt me so he deserves to hurt too.” Therefore, we criticize the person who failed.

“For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults” (2 Cor.12:20).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

2 (2:2-3) Maturity—Growth, Spiritual: the believer is to crave one thing—the milk of God’s Word. Note three points.

1. The charge is an imperative, a command: “You desire, crave, and yearn the sincere milk of the Word. And the craving and yearning are to be constant.”

a. The word “desire” (epipotesate) means to crave, yearn, and long for the Word of God. It is a strong word, very strong. It paints the picture of being an absolute essential, of hungering and thirsting after the Word. If a believer is to grow, it is absolutely essential that he hunger and thirst after the milk of the Word.

Thought 1. Too many believers crave the Word here and there, sporadically. Growth can come only as we live in the Word day by day.

b. The word “sincere” (adolos) means unadulterated, unmixed with anything else. Men may seek the milk of other things; they may seek to be fed and satisfied by such things as...

|---------------|--------------|-----------|
| • religion | • psychology | • power |
| • philosophy | • counseling | • fortune |
| • education | • health | • fame |
| • possessions | • science | • comfort |
| • pleasure | | |

But none of these are pure. There are specks and dust and particles within every pursuit on earth—particles that make everything on earth weak and infirmed and to some degree harmful. In addition and most tragic of all, every pursuit of man is doomed to pass away when man passes away. But there is one thing that is unadulterated; one thing that is completely and perfectly pure with no mixture whatsoever, and that is the Word of God. The Word of God lives and abides forever; therefore, we must crave and yearn for the Word of God. It is our only hope of enduring forever.

c. The word “milk” usually refers to the food needed by immature believers. That is, it is usually used to make a distinction between the milk and the meat or mature teachings of the Word. But this is not the case with the present passage. A distinction is not being made between believers. All believers are seen as needing to grow and to learn more about the Lord. All believers are to desire the milk (food) of the Word.

2. The purpose for craving and yearning after the Word is that we may grow. The most ancient Greek manuscripts have the words “unto salvation”—“that we may grow unto salvation.” The idea is that we may grow up to full salvation, until we reach full maturity.

The Greek word that is translated “the word” (logikos) is translated by some commentators as spiritual or reasonable. That is, the verse is made to read “desire pure spiritual milk” or “desire the reasonable and intelligent milk.” However, the correct translation seems to be “desire the sincere milk of the Word.” This has clearly been the emphasis of Peter throughout this whole passage. His subject and thrust has been the Word of God (cp. 1 Pt. 1:23-25). William Barclay states it as well as it can be stated:

“Logos is the Greek for word, and logikos means belonging to the word. This is the sense in which the Authorized Version takes the word, and we think that it is entirely correct. Peter has just been talking about the word of God which lives and abides for ever (1 Peter 1:23-25). It is the word of God which is in his mind; and we think that what Peter means here is that the Christian must desire with his whole heart the nourishment which comes from the word of God, for by that nourishment he can thrive and grow up until he reaches salvation itself. In face of all the evil of the heathen world the Christian must strengthen his soul and his life with the pure food of the word of God” (The Letters of James and Peter. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1958, p.227).

3. ♣ The result of craving the Word of God is a most wonderful promise: we taste that the Lord is gracious. God feeds us, nourishes and nurtures us. He reveals and feeds our souls, teaching us all about His grace, His wonderful salvation and promises to us.

- ⇒ He teaches us how to live pure and clean lives; how to conquer the temptations of life; how to walk through the trials of life.
- ⇒ He teaches us all about the great salvation and promises He has made.
- ⇒ He teaches us all about Himself and the Lord Jesus Christ and the glorious hope we have of living with the Lord forever and ever.
- ⇒ He teaches us how to worship, praise, and honor Him as we walk in this corruptible world.

God just takes His Word and feeds us, nourishes and nurtures us in His marvelous grace. As we crave and yearn for His Word, He grows us more and more into His image.

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

1 PETER 2:1-3

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food” (Job 23:12).

“The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes” (Ps.19:8).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

“How sweet are thy words unto my taste! yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth!” (Ps.119:103).

“Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path” (Ps.119:105).

“The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple” (Ps.119:130).

“Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hosts” (Jer.15:16).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts” (2 Pt.1:19).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

E. Come to Christ, the Living Stone, 2:4-8

(2:4-8) Introduction: this is a picture of the great house that God is building, the church of the Lord Jesus Christ. There are three pictures painted.

1. Picture 1: Christ is the Living Stone; He was rejected by men, but chosen by God (v.4).
2. Picture 2: believers are living stones (v.5-6).
3. Picture 3: unbelievers are disobedient builders (v.7-8).

1 (2:4) Jesus Christ, Chief Cornerstone—Stone, The: there is the first picture—Jesus Christ is the Living Stone. How can a stone be living? It cannot. This is simply a picture of how God looks at Christ and His followers: they are like a building that is being built by God Himself. The foundation of God's building is His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. If a person wants to be a part of God's building, he has to place his life upon the foundation Stone, Christ Himself. But note what this verse says: the living stone was rejected by men. When men looked at the Stone (Christ)...

- it was not wanted.
- it did not fit in with their plans.
- it was useless and unsuitable for what they were building.
- it was not worth the price.

Men rejected Christ because they wanted to build their lives like they wanted. They wanted to do their own thing. Therefore, they cast the Stone of God aside. But note: the stone has been chosen of God. It is the very stone that God has chosen to be the foundation stone for life. It is the only stone that can support and bear the weight of life. And note: the stone chosen by God is a living stone. What does this mean? God is eternal; hence, the building of God will last forever and ever. Therefore, the cornerstone laid by God is bound to be eternal; it shall never deteriorate or waste away. The cornerstone is living and shall exist forever and ever.

The symbolism of the living cornerstone says three significant things.

1. The living cornerstone is the first stone laid. All other stones are placed after it. It is the preeminent stone in time. So it is with Christ; He is the first of God's new movement.

⇒ Christ is the captain of salvation. All others are crew members who follow Him.

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

⇒ Christ is the author of eternal salvation, of our faith. All others are the readers of the story.

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

⇒ Christ is the beginning and the ending. All others come after Him and are under Him.

“I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty” (Rev.1:8; cp. 21:6; 22:13).

⇒ Christ is the forerunner into the very presence of God. All others enter God's presence after Him.

“Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:19-20).

2. The cornerstone is the supportive stone. All other stones are placed upon it and held up by it. They all rest upon it. It is the preeminent stone in position and power. So it is with Christ; He is the support and power, the Foundation of God's new movement.

⇒ Christ is the Head cornerstone, the only true foundation upon which man can build. All crumble who are not laid upon Him.

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

⇒ Christ is the chief cornerstone upon which all others are fitly formed together. All who wish to be fitly formed together have to be laid upon Him.

“And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:20-22).

⇒ Christ is the living stone upon which all others have to be built if they wish to live and be a part of God's spiritual house. All others have to be built upon Him if they wish to live and have their spiritual sacrifice accepted by God.

“To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious, ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:4-5).

3. The living stone is the stone to which men must come if they are to become a part of God's building. It is to Christ that we must come. No one can be a part of God's building unless he places himself upon the foundation stone laid by God. God accepts no one who refuses to become a part of His building. And God is just like all builders; He has a foundation upon which all workers must lay the stones of their lives.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock [Christ and His Word]; and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God” (1 Cor.2:11).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God [Christ] standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

2 (2:5-6) Believers: there is the second picture—believers are living stones. Remember: God is eternal which means that His building is eternal. The Foundation Stone laid by Him shall never decay nor waste away. Christ lives forever and ever. Therefore, when we place our lives upon the living stone of God, the living stone supports and holds us up eternally. We become living stones, stones that shall exist forever and ever. Note three significant facts.

1. Believers are being built up into a spiritual house (v.5). This is a picture of the church that God is building all over the earth. It includes all believers of all generations. It is a picture of what is called the universal church or universal temple of God. Note that God's house is a spiritual house. What does this mean? It means that God's house is spiritual as opposed to physical. A physical house is not permanent; it ages, deteriorates, and wastes away. But not God's spiritual house. The spiritual world or dimension is the real world, the world that is permanent and eternal. Therefore, the spiritual house of God does not age, deteriorate or decay. This means two wonderful things.

a. First, when we turn to God and lay our lives upon the foundation stone of Christ, we become a part of God's spiritual house. We shall never die or waste away, but we shall live permanently, forever and ever in God's spiritual and eternal house.

b. Second, there are many stones who are going to live forever with us. It takes many stones to build a great building, and the same is true of God's spiritual house. We are only one of many who are being placed into God's great spiritual house. The point is this: there is no room for pride, arrogance, envy, jealousy, criticism, backbiting, anger, accusations, discrimination, prejudice, or wrath among God's building; no room for a stone to become puffed up over another stone.

All living stones are needed in God's house. In fact, the house cannot be completed unless there are enough stones to build it. There is a place for all of us, and we are going to exist together forever. Therefore, we are to place ourselves and take our place in the house of God. We are to place ourselves right where we belong and do our part in holding up the building. We are not to seek the place or position or function of any other stone. We are not to weaken the building to any degree.

Thought 1. William Barclay tells a story from Sparta and then drives the point home with a striking application.

"There is a famous story from Sparta. A Spartan king boasted to a visiting monarch about the walls of Sparta. The visiting monarch looked around and he could see no walls. He said to the Spartan king, 'Where are these walls about which you speak and boast so much?' The Spartan king pointed at his bodyguard of magnificent Spartan troops. 'These,' he said, 'are the walls of Sparta, and every man of them a brick.'

"Now, the point is quite clear. So long as a brick lies by itself it is useless. It only becomes of use when it is built into a building. That is why it was made; and it is in being built into a building that it realizes its function and the reason for its existence. It is so with the individual Christian. To realize his destiny he must not remain alone, but must be built into the fabric and edifice of the Church" (The Letters of James and Peter, p.231).

2. Believers are a holy priesthood (v.5). The chief function of the priest is to stand between God and men, to represent men before God and to present men to God. Man has just never felt worthy enough to approach God; he has usually felt that God was so far away that he could never reach God. Therefore, man has felt the need for priests to carry his case before God.

The point to note is man's thoughts about God, how far away he thinks God is—so far away that man needs a priest, some godly person to represent him before God. But note the Scripture: believers are being built up as an holy priesthood. Every single believer now stands before God as a priest. He can now approach God on his own. God is not far off and removed from man. Any person who turns to God and lays his life upon the foundation of Christ becomes a part of God's spiritual house. That person is in the very house of God itself. He can talk and share with God whenever he chooses. He can worship and praise God and cry out for God's help and deliverance any time he wishes. The believer himself is now a priest before God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Priest—1 Pt.2:9 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. The priesthood of the believer is one of the great teachings of Scripture. Just imagine! We stand before God as a priest, as one who has access into God's presence any time of any day. There is no reason whatsoever why we should ever be overcome by any problem or trouble in this life. We are in the house of God. We can approach Him anytime and receive whatever we need to meet the demands of life: wisdom, provision, resource, or strength.

Now note why we are made priests before God: that we might offer spiritual sacrifices to God. In the past men have brought their sacrifices to priests and had the priests present their sacrifices to God. But now believers themselves are made priests for this very purpose: that they might offer up their own sacrifices to God. Men are now to bring their own offerings and sacrifices to God. They themselves are now the priests in the house of God. However, note a critical point: their sacrifices are made acceptable only by Jesus Christ. A person has to have his life lying upon the foundation of Christ. He must be trusting and believing in the support and power of Christ to make him a part of God's house. The only sacrifices that God accepts are the sacrifices made within His house. Scripture says that the believer is to make the following sacrifices.

⇒ He is to sacrifice his body as a living sacrifice to God. He is not to be conformed to this world.

"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" (Lk.9:23).

"And whosoever doth not bear his cross [sacrifice himself], and come after me, cannot be my disciple" (Lk.14:27).

"For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify [put to death, sacrifice] the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Ro.8:13).

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:1-2).

"And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts" (Gal.5:24).

"Yea, and if I be offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy, and rejoice with you all" (Ph.2:17).

"For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand" (2 Tim.4:6).

⇒ He is to sacrifice his life to God as he walks day by day. He is to follow God in love, even as Christ loved us and gave Himself as an offering and a sacrifice to God.

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; and walk in love, as Christ hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:1-2).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

⇒ He is to offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually.

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing” (Ps.107:22).

“I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call upon the name of the LORD” (Ps.116:17).

“The voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the LORD of hosts: for the LORD is good; for his mercy endureth for ever: and of them that shall bring the sacrifice of praise into the house of the LORD” (Jer.33:11).

“But I will sacrifice unto thee with the voice of thanksgiving; I will pay that that I have vowed. Salvation is of the LORD” (Jonah 2:9).

⇒ He is to offer the sacrifices of good works and gifts and money.

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, it is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“Let him that is taught in the word communicate [give] unto him that teacheth in all good things. Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:6-10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]” (1 Tim.6:18).

⇒ He is to offer spiritual sacrifices, that is, love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, and self-control.

“Ye also, as lively [living] stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and put your trust in the LORD” (Ps.4:5).

⇒ He is to sacrifice his life in order to lead people to faith in Christ.

“Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither laboured in vain. Yea, and if I be offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith [in Christ], I joy, and rejoice with you all” (Ph.2:16-17).

“And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men” (Mt.4:19).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:35).

“For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more. And unto the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law; to them that are without law, as without law, (being not without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law. To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some. And this I do for the gospel’s sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you” (1 Cor.9:19-23).

“He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him” (Ps.126:6).

3. Believers are a fulfillment of prophecy (v.6. Cp. Ps.118:22; Is.28:16.) The prediction that the Messiah would be the chief cornerstone of God’s building was made centuries before Christ ever came into the world. Note the four great things predicted:

- ⇒ That God Himself would lay the chief cornerstone. God Himself would send the Messiah into the world and use Him as the foundation of God’s eternal house.
- ⇒ That God would select or elect Him to be the chief cornerstone. There would be plenty of philosophies, religions, and ideas about how to best build a world and life for man. But God would choose only one foundation stone for the world and life: Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ That God would count His foundation stone precious. The stone selected by Him would be the most precious thing in all the universe: it would be His very own Son. He would choose His own Son to become the Foundation Stone for men’s lives and for the eternal world God was planning. There is nothing in the world that is any more precious to God than His own dear Son. Therefore, God would count Him precious, the only thing precious enough to serve as the Foundation Stone for the eternal house of God.
- ⇒ That believers would not be confounded (kataischunthēi), that is, put to shame, disappointed, and confused. Believing and trusting in Jesus Christ—leaning upon him and building upon Him—is the only way to keep from being eternally confused, shamed, and disappointed.

The point is this: believers—their salvation in Christ—are the fulfillment of this prophecy. God predicted that He would be building a spiritual and eternal house for believers. He laid the foundation when He sent Christ into the world, and believers have been laying the stones of their lives upon Christ ever since. How? By believing in Him, that is, by laying their lives upon Him or by building upon Him. The result has been phenomenal: those who have built upon Christ have experienced a most wonderful thing. All the confusion, shame, and disappointment in this life and the fear of judgment in the next life have disappeared. Believers are now flooded with life, a life that just overflows with love, joy, peace, victory, and triumph and with confidence and assurance that all things shall be well in the future.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

3 (2:7-8) Unbelievers—Lost, The—Unsaved, The: the third picture—unbelievers are pictured as disobedient builders.

Christ has done so much for man, He should be the most precious thing in a man’s life. But the greatest tragedy in all of history is that He is not considered to be precious by some people. He is to believers, but they are a small minority of people. The vast, vast majority of people are unbelievers. They just do not believe that Jesus Christ is the foundation stone for their lives. The four points of the Scripture state it well.

1. Unbelievers disqualify the stone. They look at the various foundation stones of life and...

- they do not want the Stone [Christ].
- they do not think that the Stone will fit in with their plans.
- they do not believe the Stone [Christ] will suit what they are building.
- they do not believe the Stone [Christ] is worth the price. They just do not think the Stone [Christ] is worth all they are and have.

The point is forceful: they reject and disqualify the stone. They do not want Christ enough to give all they are and have in order to get him.

2. Christ is made the Head of the corner anyway. Despite the rejection of men, Christ is made the chief cornerstone of the only permanent and lasting building. God selected and elected Him despite man. And if man is to become a part of an eternal house that lasts forever and that brings an abundance of life, he has to lay his life upon the foundation of Christ.

3. Unbelievers stumble over the stone of Christ. He is a rock that offends them. What does this mean? When people look at Jesus Christ, they stumble over Him; they do not understand...

- how He could be anything other than a man just like the rest of us.
- how He could be born of a virgin, God incarnate in human flesh.
- how He could live a sinless life, live without committing a single sin.
- how His death could be any more than the death of a martyr who died for a great cause.
- how His resurrection is anything but a tall tale made up by His followers to secure more and more followers.

Simply stated, many people do not understand nor believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, that He was sent into the world by God to save men; that He was able to live a sinless life because He was the God-Man who had come to earth for that very purpose; that He died and arose from the dead as the Perfect and Ideal Man so that His ideal death and resurrection could cover man.

People just stumble over the facts or else they are offended by Christ because He lays the burden of total commitment upon man. After all, if Jesus Christ is truly who He claimed to be, we owe Him our lives—all that we are and have. Most men are not willing to give up the right to their lives and property. They are even offended at this demand of Christ. Therefore, they stumble over Him. But note:

- ⇒ to stumble means that we have tripped up and fallen, that we damage ourselves.
- ⇒ to be offended means that we hurt ourselves.

Note another fact: what we are stumbling over. We are actually stumbling over the Word, the very Word of God itself. What is so awful about this? The Word of God is the only incorruptible seed on earth that lives and abides forever (cp. 1 Pt.1:23-25). If we reject the glorious gospel of God's Word, the glorious gospel that Jesus Christ is the Foundation Stone of God's building, then we are rejecting the only hope of living forever. We are appointing ourselves to a state of unbelief and disobedience to God. That is, we are steeping ourselves in more and more unbelief and becoming harder and harder to the gospel. We are living lives that are becoming more and more disobedient.

"Art thou the Christ? tell us. And he said unto them, If I tell you, ye will not believe" (Lk.22:67).

"Verily, verily, I say unto thee, We speak that we do know, and testify that we have seen; and ye receive not our witness" (Jn.3:11).

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God" (Jn.3:16-18).

"He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him" (Jn.3:36).

"I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (Jn.8:24).

"But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him" (Jn.12:37).

"Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God" (Heb.3:12).

"Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief" (Heb.4:11).

"Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore they shall fall among them that fall: at the time that I visit them they shall be cast down, saith the LORD" (Jer.6:15).

F. Know Who You Are: The People of God, 2:9-10
1 Know what kind of people you are

- a. A chosen generation
- b. A royal priesthood^{DS1}
- c. A holy nation
- d. A special people

2 Know what your purpose is: To show His praises
3 Know what has happened to you

- a. Have become the people of God
- b. Have now received mercy

9 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light:

10 Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

F. Know Who You Are: The People of God, 2:9-10

(2:9-10) Introduction: know who you are. You are not a people who stumble over Christ, a people who question His claims and deity and refuse to believe Him. You are a people who believe Christ, a people who are building your lives upon the Foundation Stone of God's Son. You have taken your lives and laid them upon Him; you have entrusted your whole being into the keeping of Christ. Therefore, know who you are: you are the people of God, the people He is building to live with Him forever and ever. (See outline and notes—1 Pt.2:4-8 for more discussion.)

1. Know what kind of people you are (v.9).
2. Know what your purpose is: to show His praises (v.9).
3. Know what has happened to you (v.10).

1 (2:9) Believers—Church: know what kind of people you are. Once you believe in God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, you become very, very special to God. You become special because you trust His Son. God the Father has only one Son...

- only one Son who has God's perfect nature, who is holy, righteous, and pure, loving, kind and gentle just as God is.
- only one Son who came to earth to save men by dying for them by showing them how much God loves them.

God loves His Son so much that when a person trusts His Son—really believes and trusts Him—God will do anything for that person. The person becomes very, very special to God. God takes all believers and does four wonderful things for them.

1. Believers become a "chosen generation" (genos eklekton). The Greek words actually mean a chosen or elect race. Peter takes the term from the Old Testament where God stated the same thing about Israel.

"My people, my chosen. This people have I formed for myself" (Is.43:20-21).

The idea is that of a new race of people, a new species that differs entirely from the other races upon earth. This is a shocking statement to some people; nevertheless it is exactly what the Word of God claims. God is actually creating a new race of people upon earth. How? How can it be that believers from China, Russia, Asia, Africa, India, Europe, the Americas, the Islands, Canada, and all the other nations of the world form a new race of people? By the Spirit of God. The Spirit of God is changing people inwardly, not outwardly. He is not changing facial and skin features. These mean little; they are only superficial differences that change, age, perish, die, and decay ever so rapidly. God is changing people within their hearts and minds and lives, changing them where it really matters. God is implanting His divine nature within believers. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, God's divine nature is immediately implanted into his heart and life.

⇒ The person is born again.

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (Jn.3:3).

"Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (Jn.3:5-6).

"Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever" (1 Pt.1:23).

"Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (1 Jn.5:1).

⇒ The person receives a renewed mind.

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit [mind] the things of the Spirit” (Ro.8:5).

⇒ The person becomes a new creature.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision [a religious ritual] availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

⇒ The person becomes a new man.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

⇒ The person receives a new spirit.

“And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you; and I will take the stony heart out of the flesh, and will give them a heart of flesh” (Ezk.11:19).

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held; that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter” (Ro.7:6).

(See note—Eph.4:17-19 for more discussion on the New Race of People God is creating.)

2. Believers become a royal priesthood. To a person who has never given his life to Jesus Christ, God seems far away and off in outer space someplace. God just does not seem that concerned with human life. There is no personal relationship and little, if any, fellowship and communion with God. A day by day relationship that praises and honors God and brings one's needs to God and knows that God will meet one's needs—all this is missing to the person who has never committed his life to Christ. God seems unapproachable and unreachable and out of range of man's day to day affairs. Without Jesus Christ a person just has no access and no closeness to God. This is the reason men have always felt the need to have priests, a body of people who would dedicate their lives to God and who would carry the needs of men before God. Men have felt the need to have a representative before God, some godly priest who could present his needs to God.

This is the glorious message of the gospel: when we receive Jesus Christ as our Savior, God creates us into a royal priesthood. God makes a royal priest out of everyone of us. He gives us open access into His presence forever and ever. We can actually approach God anytime. In fact, God expects us to live in His presence—to fellowship, commune, and walk in His presence all day every day.

Note the word “royal,” a royal priesthood. This simply means that we are priests of royalty, priests who belong to the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, the King of kings and Lord of lords. We are the priesthood of God Himself, the priests who rule and reign with Christ and who serve and worship God face to face, day by day, hour by hour and moment by moment. We are the priests who live and move and have our being in His presence, who walk and live in open communion with Him.

Thought 1. How many of us actually walk and live in the presence of God like this? How many know what it is to have an unbroken communion with God? How many know what it is to be praying always? May God convict our hearts and stir us to recommit our lives to prayer and communion—to praying always—to seeking an unbroken communion and fellowship with Him every moment of the twenty four hours of every day.

“Ye also, as lively [living] stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

“And hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever” (Rev.1:6).

“Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years” (Rev.20:6).

“And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel” (Ex.19:6).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus. Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:6-8).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:8).

3. Believers become a holy nation. This is a very meaningful title for believers. Just think about it: God is building a new nation of people. He is drawing people from all over the world, people from all the nations of the world, and creating a new nation. What is the nation? It is the holy nation of God. Remember: the word “holy” (hagios) means separated, set apart, and different. Any person who is willing to separate from the sin and evil of this world and set his life apart unto God, God will take that person and make him a citizen of His holy nation. This is what holy means: to be different from the world, from its sin, evil, and death. It means to be separated from the evil life of the world and set apart to the holy life of God. The person who turns to God becomes a citizen of God’s holy nation:

- ⇒ He serves the Sovereign Head of God’s nation, even God Himself.
- ⇒ He obeys the laws of God’s nation.
- ⇒ He is dedicated to follow the customs and life-style of God’s nation.
- ⇒ He speaks up for and defends the nation of God.

“And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel” (Ex.19:6).

“For I am the LORD that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy” (Lev.11:45).

“And a highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness; the unclean shall not pass over it; but it shall be for those: the wayfaring men, though fools, shall not err therein” (Is.35:8).

“That ye would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies might serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:13).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-12).

4. Believers become a “peculiar people” (laos eis peripoiesin). The Greek means...

- “a people for God’s own possession” (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.98).
- “the people to be His very own” (Charles B. Williams. The New Testament in the Language of the People. “The Four Translation New Testament.” Printed for Decision Magazine by World Wide Publications of Minneapolis. New York, NY: Iversen Associates, 1966).
- “a people saved to be His own” (William F. Beck. The New Testament in the Language of Today. “The Four Translation New Testament.” Printed for Decision Magazine by World Wide Publications of Minneapolis. New York, NY: Iversen Associates, 1966).

This is a most precious thought: that God makes us His very own people, a very special possession of His. Possession has the idea of value, of worth and preciousness. We are more precious to God than all the precious gems and treasures of the world. Possession also has the idea of provision, protection, and security. We are God’s possession, His very special people; therefore, He will provide and protect us and make us secure in every sense of the word.

“Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine” (Ex.19:5).

“For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth” (Dt.14:2).

“But [God] made his own people to go forth like sheep, and guided them in the wilderness like a flock” (Ps.78:52).

“Know ye that the LORD he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture” (Ps.100:3).

“And he [John the Baptist] shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just; to make ready a people prepared for the Lord” (Lk.1:17).

“Simeon hath declared how God at the first did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name” (Acts 15:14).

“In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with me, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God” (Rev.21:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:9) Priest—Priesthood—Mediator: a priest is a person who has access into God’s presence, who represents men before God and God before men. He is a mediator between God and men: he offers sacrifices and makes prayer to God for men. The priest was always looked upon as the one person who could carry a man’s case before God and God would accept the man because of the priest’s intercession.

1. Throughout Israel’s history the high priest was the chief priest who essentially had four functions.
 - ⇒ He supervised the other priests.
 - ⇒ He made a sin offering (Lev.4).
 - ⇒ He offered a sacrifice on the Day of Atonement (Lev.16).
 - ⇒ He was shown the will of God (Num.27:21; Neh.7:65).
2. The development of the priesthood seems to have been as follows: at first, individuals were priests (Gen.4:3-4). Later on the head of a family, usually the father, began to serve as the priest (Gen.8:20; 12:7; 13:8; 26:25; 31:54). When God created the nation Israel and gave Israel the law at Mount Sinai, He said that the nation was to be unto God “a kingdom of priests” (Ex.19:6). But Israel failed to obey God’s law. So God turned to one family of Israel, Aaron’s family, and appointed them as the priests who were to minister to the nation (Ex.28:1; Lev.21:16-24).
3. In the New Testament Jesus Christ is said to be the perfect and eternal High Priest of God Himself (see outlines—Heb.7:1-8:5; 10:1-18). The sacrifice which He offered to God for men was the death of Himself. What this means is this: Jesus Christ has made the perfect and eternal sacrifice to God. He died for our sins, paid the penalty and judgment of death for us. No other sacrifice by death has to be made. God has accepted Christ’s sacrifice of Himself—eternally. Before Christ the presence of God was said to dwell in the Most Holy Place of the Tabernacle and Temple. Only the High Priest could enter the Most Holy Place and that only once a year. It was separated from men by a veil. But when Christ died, Scripture says that the veil was torn from top to bottom by an act of God (Mt.27:51). The torn veil is also said to be a symbol of Christ’s body which was sacrificed or torn upon the cross (Heb.10:20). All believers now have access to God through the death of Christ—into the holiest of holies right along with Christ (Heb.10:19-22).
4. Since Christ, the individual believer has become his own priest before God; that is, he has the right to approach God for himself. As priest, the believer has two functions: he is to offer intercession and he is to offer sacrifices to God. He makes the following sacrifices to God.
 - ⇒ He sacrifices his own body (Ro.12:1; Ph.2:17; 2 Tim.4:6; Jas.1:27; 1 Jn.3:16).
 - ⇒ He sacrifices praise to God continually (Heb.13:15; cp. Ex.25:22).
 - ⇒ He sacrifices his substance (Ro.12:13; Gal.6:6, 10; Tit.3:14; Heb.13:2, 16; 3 Jn.5-8).
 - ⇒ He sacrifices his service “to do good” (Heb.13:16).

- 2 (2:9) Purpose, Believer’s: know what your purpose is. Why does God do so much for believers? There is one supreme reason:

“That ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (v.9^b).

The statement “that ye might show forth” (hopos exageilete) means to speak forth; to tell out; to publish abroad; to set forth. The word “praises” (aretas) means virtues, excellencies, and the supreme and eminent qualities of God (Alan Stibbs. The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.104). The very task of the believer is to witness for God, to share the glorious message of God. What is that message? Note the verse: “the praises of Him who has called you out of darkness into His marvelous light.” The message that we are to share is the glorious message of salvation. God will deliver man out of darkness into the light. This is what He has done for believers. Therefore, we are to proclaim the glorious truth that God has saved us through the Light of the world, through Jesus Christ Himself. He has saved us out of the darkness of sin and death and delivered us into the light of eternity. We shall live forever. We are to praise God, proclaim the glorious message of His marvelous light or salvation.

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; ye also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul” (Ps.66:16).

“I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according to all that the Lord hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses” (Is.63:7).

“They that feared the Lord spake often one to another: and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

3 (2:10) Believers: know what has happened to you. Two great facts about believers are covered in this verse.

1. In the past believers were not a people, but now they have been made into the people of God. This is striking language. What does it mean not to be a people? Are unbelievers not a people? It means to be without purpose and significance in life; to be missing the very point of life, the very reason for living. It means God created man and gave man life. If man does not live that life, then he is not living, not in the real sense of living. He exists, but he is missing out on life, on what life really is. He is missing the very purpose, meaning, and significance of life. He shall never fulfill, satisfy, or complete the purpose of life.

But when a person comes to God’s Son, when a person enters the light of Christ, God saves him and gives him the light of life. He is given the light of life’s purpose, meaning, and significance. He becomes a member of the people of God. He fulfills, satisfies, and completes life and all that life is meant to be.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth” (Dt.14:2).

“When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt” (Hos.11:1).

2. In the past believers had not received mercy, but now they have received mercy. Before we were saved we were like everyone else: we ignored, neglected, cursed, rebelled against, and rejected God. We refused to change our lives and to cry out for the mercy of God; therefore, God could not have mercy upon us. But when we repented and turned to God, God had mercy upon us and saved us. He forgave our sin and neglect and brought us into His love and grace and gave us the glorious privilege of living with Him forever. God had mercy upon us and allowed us the glorious privilege of becoming a member of the people of God.

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:4-9).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children’s children” (Ps.103:17).

“It is of the Lord’s mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not. They are new every morning” (Lam.3:22-23).

“And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil” (Joel 2:13).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

G. Abstain from Fleshly Lusts, 2:11-12

(2:11-12) Introduction: we live in a day when the flesh is exalted and lust is honored. A person’s esteem and worth and image are often determined...

- by how much of the world he possesses
- by how much money he has
- by how much power he has
- by how much worldly recreation and pleasure he is able to enjoy
- by how famous he becomes
- by how many people he conquers in face to face confrontations or in bed sexually

The flesh is exalted and lust is honored. But this is not the way of God and His Word. Scripture is clear: abstain from fleshly lusts.

1. Reason 1: you are strangers and pilgrims on earth (v.11).
2. Reason 2: lust wars against your soul (v.11).
3. Reason 3: unbelievers are watching (v.12).

1 (2:11) Strangers—Pilgrims: abstain from fleshly lusts because you are strangers and pilgrims on earth.

1. The word “stranger” (paroikoi) means someone who dwells alongside or is exiled, but his home is elsewhere. It is the picture of a foreigner who is in a country for a while, long enough to rent or lease a house, but he is not a permanent resident. He has no legal rights or status. He is a stranger, an exile who dwells in a strange land (B.C. Coffin. First Peter. “The Pulpit Commentary,” Vol.22, p.72). What Peter is saying is this: the believer is a stranger, a foreigner, an exile on earth. He is a resident, but he is not a citizen of this earth. He has no legal status in the world. He is not to follow the standards and the ways of the world. He belongs to God and to heaven; therefore, his legal status is in heaven. He is to follow the standards and the ways of God. The believer’s laws are the laws of God, the highest and most moral and just laws in all the universe. The believer has no right to live by the standard and laws of the world, for they are far lower than the standards and laws of God. The believer is to live as a stranger on earth, as one whose heart and mind are upon a far greater home and world. The believer’s heart is to be upon perfection of life and morality and justice, a home and world where perfection is the rule and standard.

Thought 1. This does not mean that the believer does not obey the legal laws of a land. He does; all foreigners are to obey the laws of a land when they visit that land. In fact, believers will go far beyond obeying human laws and do much more when they obey God’s laws. God’s laws and standards stress perfect behavior plus love, and there is no greater law than love. Therefore, the believer is to abstain from fleshly lusts because such lusts are of the world, and he has no right to partake of those fleshly lusts. He is to obey the laws of God which forbid such sins and immoralities.

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

2. The word “pilgrim” (parepidemos) has more of a temporary idea than stranger (paroikoi). Pilgrim has the idea of a visitor or sojourner, of a foreigner who may be visiting and staying for a while but not long enough to lease a house.

The point is this: the believer is only passing through the earth on his way home to heaven. Heaven is his home, and his heart and mind are at home. He lives in a consciousness of home and his thoughts are upon home. He lives and walks in the consciousness of being in heaven with God. This is his attitude, his thoughts as he walks through his pilgrimage upon earth. He travels through life often moving from city to city, but his mind and heart are always upon heaven which is his permanent home.

Note what this means in so far as the world is concerned: the believer does not become entangled with the world and its affairs. His customs and lifestyle come from heaven, not from the earth. He does not practice the customs and lifestyle of the earth but of heaven.

“By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:9-10).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-16).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

2 (2:11) Flesh—Lust: abstain from fleshly lusts because they war against the soul. The term “fleshly lusts” (sarkikon epithumion) means the evil desires, urges, passions, and lusts of the flesh. It means to have a yearning passion for the things of the flesh. Every person has experienced the flesh...

- | | | |
|------------|-------------|------------|
| • yearning | • craving | • grasping |
| • pulling | • hungering | • grabbing |
| • desiring | • thirsting | • taking |
| • wanting | • longing | |

Every person knows what it is to have his flesh lusting after something, to have it yearning and yearning to lay hold of something. The flesh is strong and difficult to control, and it never lets up its assault against the will.

1. What are the lusts of the flesh? What kinds of sins are being referred to by Scripture? Scripture means far more than the sexual sins usually thought about when the lusts of the flesh are mentioned. They are listed in Galatians 5:19-21. When they are read they paint a picture of human nature that is seen or experienced by us all every day:

- a. Adultery (moicheia): sexual unfaithfulness to husband or wife.
- b. Fornication (porneia): a broad word including all forms of immoral and sexual acts. It is pre-marital sex and adultery; it is abnormal sex, all kinds of sexual vice.
- c. Uncleanness (akatharsia): moral impurity; doing things that dirty, pollute, and soil life.
- d. Lasciviousness (aselgeia): filthiness, indecency, and shamefulness.
- e. Idolatry (eidololatreia): the worship of idols, whether mental or material; the worship of some idea of what God is like, of an image of God within a person’s mind; the giving of one’s primary devotion (time and energy) to something other than God. (See note, Idolatry—1 Cor.6:9 for detailed discussion.)
- f. Witchcraft (pharmakeia): sorcery; the use of drugs or of evil spirits to gain control over the lives of others or over one’s own life. In the present context it would include all forms of seeking the control of one’s fate including astrology, palm reading, seances, fortune telling, crystals, and other forms of witchcraft.
- g. Hatred (echthrai): enmity, hostility, and animosity. It is the hatred that lingers and is held for a long time, a hatred that is deep within.
- h. Variance (ereis): strife, discord, contention, fighting, struggling, quarreling, dissension, and wrangling. It means that a man fights against another person in order to get something: position, promotion, property, honor, or recognition. He deceives, doing whatever has to be done to get what he is after.
- i. Emulations (zeloi): wanting and desiring to have what someone else has. It may be material things, recognition, honor, or position.
- j. Wrath (thumoi): indignation; a violent, explosive temper; anger; quick and explosive reactions that arise from boiling emotions. But it is anger which fades away just as quickly as it arose. It is not anger that lasts.
- k. Strife (eritheiai): conflict, struggle, fight, contention, faction, and dissension; a party spirit; a cliquish spirit.
- l. Seditions (dichostasiai): division, rebellion, standing against others, and splitting off from others.
- m. Heresies (aireseis): rejecting the fundamental beliefs of God, Christ, the Scriptures, and the church; believing and holding to some teaching other than the truth.
- n. Envyings (phthonoi): this word goes beyond jealousy. It is the spirit...
 - that wants not only the things that another person has, but begrudges the fact that the person has them.
 - that wants not only the things to be taken away from the person, but wants him to suffer through the loss of them.
- o. Murders (phonois): to kill; to take the life of another person. Murder is a sin against the sixth commandment.
- p. Drunkenness (methai): taking drink or drugs to affect one’s senses for lust or pleasure; becoming tipsy or intoxicated; partaking of drugs; seeking bodily or sexual pleasure through drink or drugs.
- q. Revellings (komoi): carousing; uncontrolled license, indulgence, and pleasure; taking part in wild parties or in drinking parties; lying around indulging in feeding the lusts of the flesh.

2. Note that the flesh wars against the soul. The flesh has within it base and unregulated urges and passions. A man senses the desire and urge to do what he likes, to lift the restraints and to follow his own desires and passions. He knows he should not do it, but the pull and desire tugs and struggles and wars against the soul.

a. The flesh keeps a person from doing what he would. Every person has experienced the power of the flesh; everyone has caved in to the flesh and done something that he did not want to do. He fought against doing it—knew it was harmful or hurtful—yet he could not resist the flesh. He gave in to the power of the flesh and did it. He...

- | | | |
|-----------------|-------------------|---------------------------|
| • overate | • did evil things | • acted selfishly |
| • became angry | • lusted | • committed immorality |
| • began smoking | • became prideful | • cheated, lied, or stole |
| • got drunk | • cursed | |

Note another fact as well. All of us have been tempted, and we have known how to combat and overcome the temptation. However, the flesh was so strong we just did not struggle long enough to overcome it. The struggle we experienced involved that of...

- | | |
|----------------|--------------------|
| • controlling | • being patient |
| • reaching out | • showing kindness |
| • loving | • giving |
| • sacrificing | • helping |
| • giving in | • showing kindness |

The point is this: the flesh is so strong that it often keeps us from doing what we would. The only hope of ever controlling the flesh is to walk in the Spirit of God—in His presence and power.

“For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; for what I hate, that do I. If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law that it is good. Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me. For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not. For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do. Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me” (Ro.7:15-20).

“For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal [fleshly], but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds” (2 Cor.10:4).

b. Now note a fact of critical importance: the flesh in itself is not sinful. The flesh or human body is God given; it is for God’s use. In fact, when a person is converted to Christ, his body becomes a temple for God to dwell in through the Holy Spirit. The Christian is not told to cleanse himself from the flesh but from “the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16), “the filthiness of the flesh” (2 Cor.7:1), and from “the works of the flesh” (Ro.13:12; Gal.5:19). The works of the flesh are the fruit of indwelling sin, and sin originates in the heart not in the flesh.

3. The exhortation is strong: “abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul.” We must abstain from them, for they do unbelievable harm and damage to the soul.

a. Fleshly lusts enslave and weaken the freedom of the soul. Lust enslaves, no matter what the lust is:

- ⇒ Lust for drugs enslaves.
- ⇒ Lust for alcohol enslaves.
- ⇒ Lust for cigarettes enslaves.
- ⇒ Lust for sex enslaves.
- ⇒ Lust for pornography enslaves (films or magazines).
- ⇒ Lust for position and power enslaves.
- ⇒ Lust for money enslaves.

The more a man follows the lusts of his flesh, the more freedom and liberty he loses. He becomes a slave to that which he sets his heart upon. If he sets his mind and thoughts upon the flesh and its lusts, he will enslave himself to fleshly lusts. He finds himself enslaved and in bondage to those lusts and finds it very difficult to break away from them.

b. Fleshly lusts disturb and often destroy the peace and security, assurance and confidence of the soul. When the believer came to Christ, one of the first things Christ did was give him peace and security of soul. If the believer turns back to the world and follows his fleshly lusts, he breaks his peace with God and loses the security of God’s presence and guidance and protection.

c. Fleshly lusts hamper the growth of the soul. The soul living in the lusts of the flesh is destroying its fruit, not growing and proclaiming the fruit of the Spirit (Gal.5:22-23).

d. Fleshly lusts doom the soul to defeat, sorrow, brokenness, and eventually to eternal separation from God.

Thought 1. The exhortation is strong: believers must abstain from fleshly lusts, for they war against the soul.

“And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:29).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“Abstain from all appearance of evil” (1 Th.5:22).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

3 (2:12) Witness—Witnessing: abstain from fleshly lusts because unbelievers are watching you. The world watches everything a genuine believer does. If a person really follows Christ—if he is genuine—then the world watches. This is the reason for this exhortation: we must live honest lives before the world, always abstaining from fleshly lusts.

The word “honest” (kalos) means a good life, a life that is honorable, righteous, pure, lovely, decent, excellent, upright, and noble. It means a life that is without blame, that cannot be justly or accurately blamed with any sin or evil. The world watches a genuine believer to see if he really lives what he professes. Therefore, we must live honest lives, lives that are just what we profess: holy, righteous, and pure. Note two reasons why:

1. Unbelievers speak evil of believers. Some will always speak evil of genuine believers. If a person really lives for Christ, his righteous and self-denying life convicts those who love the world and its pleasures and possessions. Therefore, they talk about, joke, mock, ridicule, abuse, and persecute the believer when they can.

The point is this: the believer must never add fuel to the fire. He must never give the world a chance to justly accuse and down him. The believer must abstain from fleshly lusts: he must live an honest life, do exactly what he proclaims and professes.

2. Unbelievers must have a chance to be saved. If we live dishonest and fleshly lives—go against all that we proclaim and stand for—then unbelievers will know we are hypocrites. They will not be attracted to Christ. We must, therefore, live for Christ and do good works. When unbelievers see our righteous lives and good works, they will experience the day of God’s visitation and glorify God. The day of visitation means two things:

⇒ the day a man is visited by God to bring the man to repentance and salvation.

⇒ the day God will visit the earth for final judgment.

The day of visitation is the day of God’s inspection and salvation, the day when He saves a man. It is also the day when He returns to earth as Savior and Lord. The idea is that unbelievers will be won to Christ by our honest lives and glorify God in the great day when He shall visit the earth.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“For from you sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to Godward is spread abroad; so that we need not to speak any thing” (1 Th.1:8).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:18).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-12).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING:
GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

H. Submit to the State, 2:13-17

(2:13-17) Introduction: remember, the church and its believers were being severely persecuted by the government and the society of that day. The believers had even been forced to flee their homes. They had to leave everything behind: money, clothes, property, jobs, and professions. In light of such severe persecution, what was to be the attitude and behavior of the believers toward the government and its authorities? This is a critical question because of the periodic persecution of the church by society and government. History reveals that the genuine church is constantly suffering persecution of some sort.

1. Submit to national and local officials (v.13-15).
2. Live as free citizens, yet as servants of God (v.16-17).

1 (2:13-15) Citizenship—Law, Civil—State: first, submit to national and local officials. This is a hard pill to swallow when one is being persecuted and has lost so much because of the persecution. But note: the word submit is an imperative; it is a strong command. God expects believers to submit themselves to the laws of government, and note the word every: every ordinance or institution is to be obeyed. Every level of government, local as well as state and national government, is to be obeyed. Why is this so important? The reason is self-evident; it is perfectly clear: without law and the keeping of the law society would be in utter chaos.

- ⇒ Lawlessness would run wild.
- ⇒ No one would be safe to walk the streets.
- ⇒ People would have to live behind closed doors.
- ⇒ Abuse, attacks, murder, and war would be a constant threat.
- ⇒ No property would be safe.
- ⇒ There would be no public roads, transportation, water, sewage, or electrical systems, for there would be no law to collect taxes. And even if there was, no one would honor it.
- ⇒ There would be no military police or fire protection for the same reason.

Without law and the keeping of the law there can be no society and no community, no life together, no bond to tie people together. Law, rulers, and their authority are an utter necessity to keep people from becoming wild beasts in a jungle of unrestrained selfishness and lawlessness.

Chaos is not God's will for the world; law and order are God's will. God wills men to live in a world of love, joy, and peace—a world of perfect law and order. Therefore, the believer is to set the example: he is to obey the rulers and the laws of his community and nation. He is to show how loving and joyful, peaceful and wonderful life can be if people will obey God and obey the civil authorities of this world. (See notes—Ro.12:18; 13:1; 1 Pt.2:13-17 for the believer's duty when rulers and laws oppose God.) There are three reasons why believers are to obey civil rulers.

1. Civil rulers are sent by God; civil authority is ordained by God. That is, the existence, the authority, the position, the offices of government are ordained by God. It is God's will that government exist and that persons have the authority to rule within the state. There are three institutions ordained by God: the family, the church, and the government. All three exist because God set them up as the means by which men are to relate to each other and to Himself as God.

- ⇒ God has ordained that the family exist as the means by which family members share together, and that the office of parents rule within the family.
- ⇒ God has ordained that the church exist as the means by which people share with God, and that the office of church leaders exercise authority within the church.
- ⇒ God has ordained that the government exist as the means by which citizens relate to each other, and that the office of government officials exercise authority within the state.

The institutions and their authority are ordained by God, and men are responsible for how they carry out the functions of the institutions. Each of the three institutions have leaders who are faithful and do an excellent job, and each have leaders who are totally disobedient to God and do a terrible job. This includes the men who hold authority within various levels of government as well as men serving on various levels in the church and family. The fact to remember is that government is ordained by God, and rulers are answerable to Him: they shall give an account to God.

“Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God” (Ro.13:1).

“It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedness: for the throne is established by righteousness” (Pr.16:12).

“And in mercy shall the throne be established: and he shall sit upon it in truth” (Is.16:5).

However, the thrust of this passage is not the rulers of government; the thrust is the believer and his duty to the state. Usually, the believer can do little about how the authorities in government conduct their affairs, but the believer can do a great deal about his behavior as a citizen within the state; and God is very, very clear about the believer’s behavior. Keep in mind that the infamous Nero was ruling as the emperor when God led Peter to give these instructions. The believer is to obey all civil authority, no matter who it is.

2. Civil authorities execute justice for God. They rule to execute punishment for evil-doers and to reward those who do well and work good throughout the state. Rulers are not ordained by God to be a restraint upon good works, but upon evil. Civil authorities and laws exist to restrain evil; therefore, any believer who breaks the law can expect to be punished by the state. For this reason, the believer...

- should fear the state enough to obey its laws.
- should do that which is good and lawful.

By fearing and doing that which is good and lawful, the believer has the praise of the state. The idea is that the believer contributes to the good and to the praise of the state. He helps to build up righteousness and truth within the state, and thereby he is able to be the citizen of a good and praiseworthy state. The believer has the praise of the state; he is allowed to live in peace as a citizen of the state.

Thought 1. Note that civil government and law are a restraint upon evil. The power of evil and corruption is so strong that when men are without law, they go on a rampage of selfishness and sin, looting and stealing, assault and immorality, destruction and murder. History and the breakdown of law within communities, cities, societies, and even families provide ample evidence. When law does not exist or when law is not enforced, evil runs rampant. Society desperately needs to heed this fact.

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other that is contrary to sound doctrine” (1 Tim.1:9-10).

3. The believer’s good behavior is to silence the critics of Christ. In the days of the early church, the church and its believers were under severe attack from the state and society. People wanted nothing to do with Christ and His demand for self-denial and holy living. They wanted to live like they wanted and to do their own thing. The very idea that a person had to give all he was and had to Christ and His cause of world-evangelization—that they had to sacrifice themselves to meet the desperate needs of a dying world—was the last thing upon their minds and the very last thing they were going to accept. Therefore, the government and society were set upon stamping out the church and anyone who refused to turn away from Christ and His cause.

Note: the Scripture calls anyone who persecutes the church and believers “foolish men.” Imagine rejecting a person just because he teaches...

| • long-suffering and gentleness | • discipline and control |

Any person who opposes the great virtues of life and the teaching of the great virtues is doing a foolish thing, a very, very foolish thing. But note a significant fact: the believer who continues to live for Christ by doing good will eventually silence the critics. It may take some time, but eventually the righteous and godly behavior will overcome the lies and attacks of the vicious and evil of the earth. This is the third reason why we are to obey rulers—so that our lawful and righteous behavior will silence any question about Christ and His great cause. (Note: Is there ever a time when believers are not to obey the state? See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.2:13-15 for more discussion.)

“Thou shalt not revile the gods [God, R.S.V.], nor curse the ruler of thy people” (Ex.22:28).

“I counsel thee to keep the king’s commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God” (Eccl.8:2).

“They say unto him, Caesar’s. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar’s; and unto God the things that are God’s” (Mt.22:21).

“Then said Paul, I wist [knew] not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people” (Acts 23:5).

“Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God” (Ro.13:1).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work” (Tit.3:1).

“Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord’s sake” (1 Pt.2:13).

“Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king” (1 Pt.2:17).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:13-15) The State—Government: the Christian must render to Caesar the things of Caesar (Mt.22:21), but he must also render to God the things that are God's. He has a higher authority than the state—God Himself. Thus, when the state begins to fail in executing justice under and for God, the Christian must hearken to God and not to the state (cp. Acts 4:19; 5:29). There are times when the Christian serves the highest good of the state by refusing to obey the state and insisting on obedience to God. By such he bears a greater witness, and he works for greater justice by effecting change within the state. (See notes—Mk.12:16-17; Ro.13:1-7.)

2 (2:16-17) Citizenship—Government: live as free citizens, yet as servants of God. When a person receives Jesus Christ as his Savior, the person subjects himself to God above all other laws. If man's law stands against God's law, the believer obeys God rather than man. But note: there is a danger that the believer can use his liberty as a cloak or veil to act maliciously against the state. He can disobey laws because he claims they are unjust when in fact they are not. It is just a matter that he does not like the law. William Barclay states it well:

“Any great Christian doctrine can be perverted into an excuse for evil. The doctrine of grace can be perverted into an excuse for sinning to one's heart's content. The doctrine of the love of God can be sentimentalized into a defence for breaking the law of God. The doctrine of the life to come can be perverted into a reason for neglecting life in this world. And there is no doctrine so easy to pervert as the doctrine of Christian freedom and Christian liberty.

“There are hints in the New Testament that it was frequently so perverted. Paul tells the Galatians that they have been called to liberty, but they must not use that liberty as an occasion for the flesh to do as it wills (Galatians 5:13). In 2 Peter we read of those who promise others liberty and who are themselves the servants of corruption (2 Peter 2:19)” (The Letters of James and Peter, p.245f).

The point is this: believers are the servants of God, not the servants of their own ideas and thoughts. They are to serve God and His call, not their own lusts and desires. They have no right to break the laws of government unless the laws are directly opposing God and His law. In dealing with government and living as citizens of the state, they have four clear duties. These duties are demanded of every servant of God. Note how pointed and brief they are.

1. Honor all men. Respect and esteem all citizens as your fellow-citizens. Remember the early church and its believers: how they were surrounded by heathen worshippers of idols and by the most corrupt people who wallowed around in a cesspool of immoral, unjust, and drunken behavior. Yet, Scripture is here saying honor all men, these as well as the more controlled and disciplined. Note: this does not mean to honor them because of their sin, but to honor them...

- because they are God's creation.
- because their souls are of more value than all the wealth in the world.
- because of any virtue and good and order they have in their lives.
- because they contribute to the work, defense, and structure of the nation.

All persons are to be honored, respected, and esteemed. No person is to be mistreated, no matter who he may be: rich or poor, corrupt or clean, bad or good, evil or righteous, destructive or constructive. We must try to reach all persons on earth for Christ. They need to make their contribution to society. They need to be doing all the good they can for society. No person is to ever be counted beyond reach.

“But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was: and when he saw him, he had compassion on him, and went to him, and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him” (Lk.10:33-34).

“And the barbarous people showed us no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, because of the present rain, and because of the cold” (Acts 28:2).

“Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved” (1 Cor.10:33).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king” (1 Pt.2:17).

2. Love the brotherhood. This means to love all believers whoever they may be, regardless of color, nationality, or beliefs. If a person is a brother in Christ, a true brother, we are to love him. Note: it is not enough to honor and respect a brother. Something far more is expected: love, a true brotherly love. And remember what love means: it means to care and look after one another...

- to teach one another
- to feed one another when needed
- to support one another
- to help one another
- to protect one another
- to share with one another
- to fellowship and commune with one another
- to pray and worship with one another

Love is the very opposite of criticizing, backbiting, grumbling, murmuring, and being divisive. We are to love the brotherhood of all believers everywhere.

“Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets” (Mt.22:37-40).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

3. Fear God. Do not fail in your duty to obey God as a citizen nor as a member of God’s church. Fear God. His will and commandments are to be obeyed. Fear what will happen if you disobey God. The idea is that judgment is coming and disobedience will bring the judgment of God down upon you.

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Sanctify the Lord of hosts himself; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread” (Is.8:13).

4. Honor the king or supreme authority of the nation. Remember: the evil and infamous Nero was on the throne when this was being written and the believers were being persecuted by the authorities (Nero ruled A.D. 54-68). But note: believers are to be a people of order and discipline, of righteousness and justice. They are to set a dynamic example of love and peace so that some can be won to Christ and be saved for eternity.

“Then said Paul, I wist [knew] not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people” (Acts 23:5).

“Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God” (Ro.13:1).

“Thou shalt not revile the gods, nor curse the ruler of thy people” (Ex.22:28).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

I. Submit to Masters or Employers, 2:18-20

(2:18-20) Introduction: William Barclay points out that there were millions and millions of slaves in the Roman Empire during the days of Paul. He says that there were over sixty million (The Letters of James and Peter, p.249). The gospel was bound to reach many of these, and the churches all over the Empire were bound to be filled with slaves. For this reason the New Testament has much to say to slaves (1 Cor.7:21-22; Col.3:22; 4:1; 1 Tim.6:1-2; Tit.2:9-10; 1 Pt.2:18-25 and the whole book of Philemon is written to a slave). However, slavery is never directly attacked by the New Testament. If it had been, there would have probably been so much bloodshed the scene would have been unimaginable! The slave owners and government would have...

- attacked the church, its preachers and believers, seeking to destroy such a doctrine.
- imprisoned and executed any who refused to be silent about such a doctrine.
- reacted and killed all of the slaves who professed Christ.

The Expositors Greek Testament has an excellent statement on how Christianity went about destroying slavery:

"Here, as elsewhere in the NT, slavery is accepted as an existing institution, which is neither formally condemned nor formally approved. There is nothing to prompt revolutionary action, or to encourage repudiation of the position...the institution is left to be undermined and removed by the gradual operation of the great Christian principles of...

- the equality of men in the sight of God
- a common Christian brotherhood
- the spiritual freedom of the Christian man
- the Lordship of Christ to which every other lordship is subordinate" (Salmond, SDF. The Epistle to the Ephesians. "The Expositor's Greek Testament," Vol.3, ed. by W. Robertson Nicoll. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1970, p.377).

The instructions to slaves and masters in the New Testament are applicable to every generation of workmen. As Francis Foulkes says, "...the principles of the whole section apply to employees and employers in every age, whether in the home, in business, or in the state" (The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians. "Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," ed by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, p.167.)

1. He is to submit in fear (v.18).
2. He is to submit to both the good and the unfair master or employer (v.18).
3. He is to submit for conscience' sake, that is, his conscience toward God (v.19).
4. He is to submit in order to secure God's acceptance (v.20).

1 (2:18) Slaves—Employees: the Christian slave or workman is to subject himself to his master or employer and he is to subject in the fear of God. The word subject means to be submissive and to obey. He is to follow the instructions of the person over him. In the workplace there is no instruction that is not to be obeyed. This, of course, does not mean he is to obey when the orders are contrary to the teaching of Scripture and damaging to himself or to others. However, it does mean that the Christian workman is to do what he is told to do. Why? Because he has been given the privilege of a job, the privilege...

- to earn a livelihood and to provide for himself and his family.
- to serve humanity through providing some needed product or service.
- to earn enough to help meet the desperate needs of the world and to carry the gospel to the world.

The attitude of the Christian workman is that the energy and effort he puts into his job is important to the Lord. Note: the slave and employee is to subject “with all fear.” This does not mean that he fears his master or employer, but rather God. He is to labor fearing the Lord. This is to be the very mark of the Christian workman. It is to be his fear and reverence for the Lord that stands out to those working around him. Every man is to be judged for what he does upon this earth, judged for the kinds of things he does and judged for how diligently he did the good things. The Christian workman knows...

- that God is watching his diligence.
- that God is going to reward him for his diligence.
- that the heavenly work that is to be awarded him is being determined by his faithfulness and diligence upon earth.

Therefore, the Christian workman labors ever so diligently in the fear and reverence of the Lord—labors arduously lest he become a castaway and miss out on the best that God has.

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation” (Lk.1:50).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“What man is he that feareth the LORD? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose” (Ps.25:12).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

2 (2:18) Slaves—Employees—Masters—Employers: the Christian slave or workman is to subject himself to both the good and the unfair master. Note two things.

1. It is a wonderful thing when a Christian workman can have a good and gentle master or employer. It is even more wonderful when the employer himself is a Christian. Under a good and gentle employer the workman can expect to be treated justly and fairly and in a brotherly spirit. However, the workman faces a serious danger, the danger of feeling that he should...

- be given special treatment.
- be allowed to slack off some.
- be treated with more leniency.
- be given more consideration.
- not be as readily corrected or rebuked for inefficiency or mistakes.

In the case of slaves in the Roman empire, or for that matter anywhere else, the slave would have faced the temptation to despise or be disrespectful of his master. He could have easily felt that a master, upon becoming a believer, should grant his freedom or at least show some favor. However, the fact that a master became a Christian did not mean that a believing slave was to appeal for better and easier treatment. On the contrary, the believing slave was to become the best worker he could because the master was now a Christian believer.

Once the believing slave became the best worker possible—once he began to work diligently as though he was working for Christ—then he could expect to reap some benefits from having a Christian master. He could expect to reap benefits such as fair and decent and brotherly treatment. Believing slaves were to treat believing masters as brothers, faithful and beloved, and there was to be a greater testimony because of greater production and efficiency and fruitfulness.

The point is this: the Christian workman is to give great service to a Christian employer because faithfulness bears fruit. Both the workman and employer doing the best they can will bear more fruit of the Spirit and a greater production of work. Thereby they will together bear a greater testimony for Christ.

Thought 1. In reality, being a slave or a master has nothing to do with a person’s commitment to life and work. The believing Christian, whether slave or master, is to do the very best he can at whatever he is doing. His state or condition or environment or circumstance is to have nothing to do with faithfulness to his work. He is to do his very best no matter who or where he is. (See note—1 Cor.7:20-23; 7:24. Cp.Eph.6:6-7; Col.3:23-25.)

2. There is the Christian workman’s duty to the unfair and cruel masters or employers. The Christian workman is to subject even to the overbearing and crooked employers. Why? Why would Scripture demand such a thing? The Book of First Timothy tells us: “Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed” (1 Tim.6:1).

God does not want His name blasphemed. He wants no believer failing in his duty to love and to witness to all men. God wants all men to be won to Christ, no matter who they are or how unfair and cruel they may be. This may be a bitter pill to swallow; nevertheless, it is what God says. What is often overlooked is this: if the workman does not give a full day’s work for a full day’s wage, he dishonors the name of Christ. If the workman is lazy, slothful, and beating time, or if he is disrespectful, the employer or supervisor knows something: the God of the new convert is a laugh, for He is inactive and dead. God has made no difference in the life of the workman. Therefore, the employer or supervisor blasphemes the name of God and the teachings of the gospel.

“Servants [workmen], be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free” (Eph.6:5-8).

“Servants [workmen], obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:22-25).

- 3 (2:19) Slaves—Employees: the Christian slave or workman is to subject for conscience’ sake, that is, his conscience toward God. As A.T. Robertson says: “Suffering is not a blessing in and of itself, but, if one’s duty to God is involved (Acts 4:20), then one can meet it with gladness of heart” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.103). Alan Stibbs says:

“[Conscience] is best understood in the sense of consciousness....The whole phrase, therefore, means prompted by a conscious awareness of God’s presence and will. Such a man knows that God sees, and knows what God expects. His concern is to please Him” (The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.115).

Pulpit Commentary says:

“Conscience of God; that is, consciousness of God’s presence, of His will, of our duties to Him” (B.C. Coffin. First Peter. “The Pulpit Commentary,” Vol.22, p.75.)

The point is this: the Christian workman is to subject himself to his master or employer in order to please God. God loves all employers, no matter how unjust or unfair, and God wants every employer to be reached for Christ. The only hope of his ever being reached is for Christian believers to live pure, holy, and righteous lives before him and then sharing Christ with him as opportunity arises. If the Christian workman fails to live for Christ by shirking or failing in his duty at work, then he is failing to please God. His conscience is going to bug, convict, and cause problems for him. His fellowship with God is broken, and he is living a lie, walking contrary to God’s standard.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake” (Ro.13:5).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away, concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil doers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation [behavior] in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

- 4 (2:20) Slaves—Employees: the Christian slave or workman is to subject in order to secure God’s acceptance. This verse is as direct and straightforward as it can be.

⇒ No person is going to be acceptable to God if he does wrong; but if he does well, he shall be acceptable to God. It is that simple; the fact that a person might suffer for doing good has nothing to do with it. God is good; therefore, for a person to be acceptable to God, the person must do good.

Now, put the verse in context. It is talking about Christian slaves and workmen. It does no good and there is no glory to suffer for wrongdoing. But if you do good and people mistreat you for doing good, then you are going to be acceptable to God. You are acceptable not because you suffered, but because you did good. If a Christian workman is to be acceptable to God, he must do good, work and labor just as Christ tells him to do.

The point is this: the Christian workman is to work heartily as to the Lord and not to men. This is exactly what Scripture declares.

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:23-25).

The word “heartily” (ek puches) means out of the soul. The Christian workman’s labor is to arise out of his soul, from the innermost part of his being. He is not working for the men of this earth, but for the Lord. He is working for the deepest reason possible, for a reason that arises out of his very soul: the Lord Jesus Christ has told him to work and to work diligently. The Lord Jesus is his Lord; therefore, the Christian workman does what his Lord says. But note: there are two other critical reasons why he works diligently.

1. Diligent work will be rewarded by Christ. On earth the workman may be mistreated, used, misused, abused, cheated, by-passed, and taken advantage of; but the Lord knows, and He is going to abundantly reward the diligent workman. In fact, the reward of the inheritance simply explodes the human mind. It stretches far beyond and above all that we can ask or even think. It includes a new body that will be eternal, a new heavens and earth, and positions of enormous leadership, authority, and service for the Lord Jesus. (See notes—Lk.16:10-12; Ro.4:13; DEEPER STUDY # 4—8:17 for more discussion.)

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

2. Slothful work and idleness will be judged by Christ. Many workmen do wrong on the job; they do wrong by...

- | | |
|-----------------------|------------------|
| • being slothful | • cheating |
| • being lazy | • stealing |
| • being irresponsible | • lying |
| • being unconcerned | • being careless |
| • being unproductive | • being selfish |
| • being uncaring | • being unfair |
| • being prejudiced | |

The list could go on and on. The point is this: every single person on earth is going to face God for the wrong he has done on the job. He will give an account for his labor and be judged exactly for what he has done. And note: there is no respect of persons. Everyone is going to stand before God—no matter who he is.

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:25).

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

J. Follow Christ's Great Suffering, 2:21-25

(2:21-25) Introduction: the one thing that God wants is a genuine life. He wants believers to live for Christ, to live exactly what they profess. He wants us to follow Christ ever so closely, and He wants us to bear whatever suffering has to be borne in following Him. This is the great discussion of this great passage: follow Christ in His suffering. In these words we have one of the clearest and most descriptive pictures of what the sufferings of Christ were.

1. The great call of believers: to suffer for Christ even as He suffered for us (v.21).
2. The great suffering of Christ (v.21-24).
3. The great need that believers have (v.25).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:21-25) Jesus Christ, Death: there are at least four references to Isaiah 53 in this passage: v.22 (Is.53:9); v.23 (Is.53:7); v.24 (Is.53:5, 12); v.25 (Is.53:6).

It should be remembered that Peter was an eyewitness to Jesus' life and sufferings upon the cross. He says three things about the death of Christ (see note—Eph.5:2; cp. 2 Cor.5:21).

1. Christ "suffered for us" (v.21). That is, His death took the place of sinners.
2. Christ "did no sin" (v.22). That is, He was sinless; He had lived a perfect and righteous life. Therefore the sins He bore in death were not His sins but the sins of men.
3. Christ "bore our sins in His own body" (v.24). That is, the suffering Jesus bore was the penalty due sin.

In the Old Testament, the words "bore our sins" means to be answerable for sin; to endure its penalty; to die for sinners (Ex.28:43; Lev.24:15-16; Is.53:12). Thus, the death Jesus bore was substitution; He bore the sins due others. It is this act that shows the supreme love of God for man.

1 (3:21) Suffering—Believers—Call: there is the great call of believers—to suffer for Christ even as Christ suffered for us. Believers are called to suffer for Christ. What does this mean?

- ⇒ Any person who follows Christ—who lives a pure and righteous life—is going to be rejected by the world. The world wants little to do with purity and righteousness. People want to live like they want and to do their own thing. Therefore, they ridicule, mock, ignore, abuse, bypass, ignore, and persecute anyone who lives a strict life of purity and righteousness.
- ⇒ Any person who lives a self-denying life—who sacrifices all he is and has to meet the needs of a lost and dying world—is going to be rejected by the world. People are not willing to live unselfish and sacrificial lives to meet the needs of the poor, starving, diseased, and lost masses of the world. People want more and more comfort and recognition, possessions and pleasure, money and property. Therefore, they want little to do with a person who sacrifices and proclaims a message of sacrifice.

But note: this is the very life to which Christ calls us. In fact, it is the only call Christ gives to men: the call to holy and sacrificial living—the call to love God and people, to love God so much that we live godly lives and to love people so much that we help them even to the point of sacrifice.

The point is this: Christ suffered for us. He gave everything He was and had to meet our need. Therefore, we are to follow His example. We are to live holy lives and sacrifice all we are and have to meet the needs of the world; and we are to suffer whatever ridicule, abuse, and persecution comes our way. Scripture is strong about this:

- ⇒ Note the word example. Christ has left us an "example" (hupogrammon). The word means the pattern of some picture or letter that a teacher gives to the pupil. The pattern is to be copied or reproduced. The idea is that an exact copy is to be made; every detail of the pattern is to be reproduced. The exhortation is that we are to be an exact copy of Christ; we are to follow the pattern of Christ in every detail.
- ⇒ The word "follow" (epakolouthesete) is the picture of a guide leading us along a most difficult and rocky path, so difficult that we must actually put our feet in his footprints (B.C. Coffin. First Peter. "The Pulpit Commentary," Vol.22, p.75.). We are to follow Christ step by step, moment by moment, and day by day.

Remember the point: Christ has given us a great call—to follow Him and to suffer for Him and His cause even as He suffered for us. What is His cause? To love God supremely by living a holy life and to love the lost and dying of the world by meeting their desperate needs.

2 (2:21-24) Jesus Christ, Death: there was the great suffering of Jesus Christ. Remember how close Peter was to Jesus. He was the big fisherman, the leader of the twelve apostles, one of the three closest persons to Christ when Christ was upon earth (James and John were the other two). If anyone knew Christ during the Lord's ministry, Peter knew Him. What we are about to read and study is exactly what Peter thought about Christ and His death. Therefore, what is being said needs to be closely observed and heeded. Peter says five things about the death of Christ.

1. Christ suffered "for us" (v.21). The word "for" (huper) is a simple word with profound meaning when used with the death of Christ. It proclaims the most wonderful truth known to man. Note this striking truth: it does not mean that Christ died only as an example for us, showing us how we should be willing to die for the truth or for some great cause. What it means is that Christ died in our place, in our stead, in our room, as our substitute. This meaning is unquestionably clear. (See notes—Eph.5:2; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.2:21-25 for more discussion.)

- a. The idea of sacrifice to the Jewish and pagan mind of that day was the idea of a life given in another's place. It was a substitutionary sacrifice.
- b. The idea of sacrifice is often in the very context of the words, "Christ gave Himself for us" (Eph.5:2).

"I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world" (Jn.6:51).

"I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep" (Jn.10:11).

"As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep" (Jn.10:15).

"He prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation" (Jn.11:51).

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (Jn.15:13).

"And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth" (Jn.17:19).

(Cp. Ro.8:32; Gal.1:4; 2:20; Eph.5:2; 1 Tim.2:6; Tit.2:14.)

2. Christ did not deserve to suffer (v.22). He had lived a sinless and perfect life (v.22; cp. Is.53:9). Peter clearly says that Jesus Christ "did no sin, neither was guile [deceit] found in his mouth." Jesus Christ never sinned and never deceived a person. Remember: Peter has already declared this amazing fact:

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:18-19).

This means the most wonderful thing: Jesus Christ is the Perfect and Ideal Man. Since He never sinned, there is no unrighteousness in Him. He stands before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man, the very embodiment of righteousness. Therefore, His righteousness can cover and stand for man. Any person who truly believes in Jesus Christ is accepted in the righteousness of Jesus Christ. The person is covered by the perfect and ideal righteousness of Jesus Christ.

"And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth" (Is.53:9).

"Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?" (Jn.8:46).

"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:21).

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin" (Heb.4:15).

"For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens" (Heb.7:26).

"But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:19).

"Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth" (1 Pt.2:22).

3. Christ willingly and voluntarily suffered (v.23). This is seen in three facts.

- a. He was reviled, but He did not rail back at the attackers. The picture is that He was cursed, blasphemed, ridiculed, mocked, and railed at; but He bore it all willingly and voluntarily. He did not have to bear it. He was the Son of God, and He could have stopped everyone in their tracks. But He had come to save them, not to condemn them.
- b. He suffered, was abused, beaten, pushed around, and crowned with a crown of thorns; but He suffered it willingly. He did not even threaten the unbelievers and persecutors.
- c. He committed Himself to God knowing that God would vindicate Him. He knew that God judges righteously and fairly; therefore, He committed His life into the hands of God. The word "committed" (paredidou) means to hand over; to deliver into the hands of. Jesus Christ handed over His life to God; He delivered His life into the hands and keeping of God. Again, He did not have to suffer death, for He had the power to stop it all. But He had come to save men; therefore he willingly suffered, committing His death and cause into the hands of God. He knew that God would raise Him up and prove His claim to be the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep” (Jn.10:15).

“Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father” (Jn.10:17-18).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

4. Christ suffered to the ultimate degree: He bore our sins in His own body (v.24). Nothing could be any clearer to the honest and open heart:

“[Jesus Christ] who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree” (1 Pt.2:24).

Jesus Christ took our sins upon Himself—the guilt, judgment and punishment—and bore them for us. This is what is meant when we say that Jesus Christ died for us. He took all the sins of all men of all time upon Himself. He bore all the sin—all the guilt, judgment and punishment of sin and He died for it all. He bore the penalty for our sins.

How could Christ do this? How could one person bear the sins of all people? By having lived a sinless life. Jesus Christ was the Perfect and Ideal Man; therefore, whatever He did was acceptable to God. When Jesus Christ died, His death was the death of the Ideal and Perfect Man. Therefore, His death stands for and covers the death of all men.

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

5. Christ suffered for sins that we might die to sins and live unto righteousness (v.24). What does this mean? How can a person die to sins? By believing in Jesus Christ and His death for our sins. There is no other way to die to sins. Every honest and thinking person knows this. We all sin and are ever so short of perfection and righteousness. Our only hope of ever being counted righteous and acceptable by God has to be through the righteousness of some ideal and perfect person. It has to be, for there is no righteous man. None of us have ever seen or ever will see a man who is perfect and sinless and righteous. But this is the glorious gospel: the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ covers us. When we truly believe that Jesus Christ died for us, God takes our belief and counts it so.

⇒ He counts us as having died when Christ died.

⇒ He counts the death of Christ for our death.

Jesus Christ died for us; He bore the penalty, the judgment, and the punishment for our sin. Therefore, when we really believe and trust Jesus Christ as our Savior, we become free of sin. God actually accepts us in the righteousness of Jesus Christ. God no longer charges or counts sin against us. We are freed of sin and we stand before God as righteous and perfect—all because of Christ. We are healed of all our sins by the stripes which He suffered and bore. (See note, Justified—Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:3).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

3 (2:25) Salvation—Jesus Christ, Names and Titles, Shepherd and Bishop: there is the great need that believers have: to return to the Lord. Believers need to always remember what they were, and note: what is said about their past is true of all men.

1. Believers had been as sheep going astray. They had wandered away from God. They had been attracted by the greener grass of the world and had forsaken God for the world and its food and pleasures. They had wanted to live and wander about as they desired and to do their own thing. Therefore, they turned away from God and His pasture.

2. Believers had, however, returned to the Shepherd and Bishop of their souls. They had repented and turned back to God.

- a. They had returned to the Shepherd of their soul. The shepherd is a picture of Christ, a picture of the love, peace, joy, care, provision, protection, and security which He gives to those who turn to Him and follow Him day by day. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—1 Pt.2:25 for more discussion.)
- b. They had returned to the Bishop of their souls. The word “bishop” (episkopon) means overseer and caretaker, guardian, protector, guide, and director (William Barclay. The Letters of James and Peter, p.258). It is the picture of Christ watching over our souls and looking after them with the greatest of care. Jesus Christ is our Overseer, Caretaker, Guardian, Protector, Guide, and Director. When we come to Him, He takes complete charge of our lives.

“And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Mt.3:2).

“Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted” (Mt.5:4).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy” (Pr.28:13).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“Only acknowledge thine iniquity, that thou hast transgressed against the LORD thy God, and hast scattered thy ways to the strangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, saith the LORD” (Jer.3:13).

“But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.18:21).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(2:25) Shepherd: the Shepherd leads and shepherds the sheep. He loves them as His own; therefore He must lead them to the green pastures and still waters. He must see that they are nourished and protected and given the very best care possible. (See note—Mk.6:34 for more discussion, what happens to sheep without a Shepherd.)

1. He feeds the sheep even if He has to gather them in His arms and carry them to the feeding pasture.

“He shall feed the flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young” (Is.40:11).

2. He guides the sheep to the pasture and away from the rough places and precipices.

“The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name’s sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me” (Ps.23:1-4).

3. He seeks and saves the sheep who get lost.

“For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost. How think ye? if a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?” (Mt.18:11-12).

“I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick” (Ezk.34:16).

1 PETER 2:21-25

4. He protects the sheep. He even sacrifices His life for the sheep.

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant” (Heb.13:20).

5. He restores the sheep who go astray and return.

“For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls” (1 Pt.2:25).

6. He rewards the sheep for obedience and faithfulness.

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

7. He shall keep the sheep separate from the goats.

“And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats: and he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left” (Mt.25:32-33).

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

K. Submit to One's Own Husband, 3:1-6

(3:1-6) Introduction: What is the duty of the Christian wife to her husband and of the Christian husband to his wife? This is the discussion of this passage and of the next passage. Remember: the major subject of chapters 1:13-3:12 is giving your life to God. If a woman wants to give her life to God, then she has to give herself, that is, submit herself, to her own husband. Scripture says that she has to do five specific things.

1. Live in subjection to your own husband (v.1).
2. Live a chaste life (v.2).
3. Live a reverent life before God (v.2).
4. Do not dress to attract attention (v.3).
5. Adorn your heart with a meek and quiet spirit (v.4-6).

1 (3:1) Wife—Family—Marriage: the wife's duty is to subject herself to her own husband even if he does not obey God's Word. Scripture is clear and pointed about this. The word "subject" (hupotassomenai) means just what it says—to be in subjection; to submit oneself. The Greek scholar Marvin Vincent says that it is used of the submission of servants (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.1. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1946, p.65). (Cp. 1 Pt.2:18.) The word means that a Christian wife is to place herself under the authority and control of her husband; that she is to subject and submit herself to her own husband's authority, control, and leadership. There is no question but that this is what the word means.

⇒ Vine says that it is primarily a military term meaning to rank under (Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, 1966).

⇒ Robertson says that the word has a military air and that the word is the same kind of obedience that a citizen is to give to the government. (See his comments on Col.3:18, Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6.)

In modern society this is strong; in fact, it is too strong for many. Many reject the idea of woman's subjection as archaic, outdated, and old-fashioned. Some even react in anger and hostility against the Word of God and those who preach the duty of wives.

Are they right? Has Scripture gone too far in declaring that wives should be subject to their husbands? Has God made a mistake within the order of the family? To the Christian, the answer is no. The problem is not in what God has said, but in our understanding of what He has said or in our rebellion against what He wills. Any wife who reacts to God's command is reacting either because she does not understand what God is saying or is just unwilling to give her life to God and follow Him as He says. What does God mean by subjection? God does not mean dictatorial subjection...

- that a wife is to subject herself to a tyrant.
- that a wife is to submit herself to the demands of a husband who acts like a beast.
- that a wife is to be a slave or footstool for the husband.
- that a wife is to serve her husband without restraint.
- that a wife is to be treated as inferior to her husband.

What God means by subjection is order, cooperation, relationship, and partnership—that a husband and wife are to walk together, hand in hand, throughout life. Every body of people—even when the body is only two persons—must have a leader who takes the lead in plowing through the wilderness of the world and its trials and temptations and difficulties. Between the two, wife and husband, one of them has to be the primary leader. God's order for the two is that the husband take the lead. The Christian wife, in obedience to her Lord, subjects herself to her husband's leadership, authority, and control.

Note one other factor that points out just how seriously God takes the wife's subjection to her husband. Even if the husband does not obey God's Word, the wife is to subject herself to him. Imagine what is being said to the wife, how strong this exhortation is:

- ⇒ Some husbands are unbelievers; they just refuse to heed God's Word.
- ⇒ Some husbands not only fail to believe in God, they rebel against and curse God. And they make life difficult for their wives because their wives do trust God.
- ⇒ Some husbands disobey God's Word by living unholy and sinful lives, and they neglect and ignore their wives.
- ⇒ Some husbands are believers in Christ, but they do not obey God's Word. They, too, mistreat their wives.

What does God expect of the wife? This passage of Scripture is clear: the wife is to subject herself to her own husband. But note why: that the husband may be won to Christ by the godly behavior of the wife. By living a life of purity and reverence, and by demonstrating a quiet and meek spirit, the wife stands a good chance of winning her husband to the Lord.

Just what Scripture means by subjection is clearly stated. Four things are meant. These are covered in the next four notes.

2 (3:2) Wife—Marriage: the wife is to subject herself by living a chaste life. The word "chaste" (hagnen) means to be pure from all fault; to be clean and holy and free from all defilement; to act and behave in the most pure and modest way possible. When a woman marries a man, she sets herself apart for him and him alone. She keeps herself clean and pure for him and for him alone. Note that the verse says, "Wives, be in subjection to your own husbands." She does not subject or give herself to some other husband or man. She is her husband's and his alone.

Thought 1. A dirty wife or husband is never to be named among Christian believers. Nothing destroys the testimony of believers any more than sexual impurity. And nothing affects the love and the trust that couples can put in one another any more than sexual impurity. For this reason, the Christian wife is to subject herself to her own husband by living a chaste life.

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God" (Mt.5:8).

"But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart" (Mt.5:28).

"For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication" (1 Th.4:3).

"Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned" (1 Tim.1:5).

"That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed" (Tit.2:4-5).

"These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb" (Rev.14:4).

3 (3:2) Wife: the wife is to subject herself out of her fear and reverence for God. To fear God means that the wife stands in awe and reverence of all that God is—in reverence and awe of the magnificence of God's being. She stands in awe and reverence of His love, care, power, justice, and judgment. It is this that stirs her to live for God and to do what God says. She knows that God will strengthen her to live as she should: to subject herself to her husband no matter how much he fails to obey God's Word. And she fears lest she herself fall under the condemnation of God.

It is this fear and reverence that makes her subject herself to her husband. It is this fear and reverence for God that attracts her husband and wins him to the Lord.

"And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell" (Mt.10:28).

"And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear" (1 Pt.1:17).

"Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king" (1 Pt.2:17).

"Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness" (Ps.29:2).

"Let all the earth fear the LORD: let all the inhabitants of the worlds stand in awe of him" (Ps.33:8).

"O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together" (Ps.34:3).

"O LORD, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth" (Is.25:1).

4 (3:3) Wife—Dress: the wife is to subject herself by not dressing to attract attention. The word "adorning" is really an accurate translation of what Scripture means. The word means the dress, ornaments, and arrangement of clothing upon the body; but the word also refers to behavior and demeanor, that is, the way a woman carries herself, walks, moves, and behaves in public. Remember: this passage is being written to genuine Christian women—women who truly believe in the Lord and wish to honor the Lord and to have a strong testimony for Him. The Christian woman wants to guard her clothing and to dress modestly; she wants to watch the way she dresses, walks, moves, and behaves in public. She wants to bring honor to the Lord and to build a strong testimony—a testimony that she does love the Lord and has committed her life...

- to help people, not to seduce them.
- to serve people, not to destroy them.
- to point people to Jesus, not to attract them to herself.
- to teach people righteous behavior, not fleshly and worldly behavior.

The point is that the wife does not dress, walk, move, speak, or behave to attract attention to her body. She is not to adorn herself...

- with plaiting the hair: elaborate hairstyles; hairstyles that are so different that they break away from acceptable custom and attract attention to herself.
- with gold or expensive clothing: elaborate jewelry and clothing that is extravagant, ostentatious, flamboyant, and that attracts attention to herself.

How a woman dresses shows whether she lives in the fear and reverence of God or has desires for the world and the gaping and lustful attention of men. The Christian wife is not to adorn herself in a sensual or excessive manner.

- ⇒ She is not to adorn herself with unusual hairstyles.
- ⇒ She is not to adorn herself with extremely expensive clothes and jewelry.
- ⇒ She is not to adorn herself in any manner that will be immodest or impure and unclean.
- ⇒ She must not dress or behave in any manner that would not be modest enough to appear before and to be seen by God—in any manner that does not show fear and reverence for God.
- ⇒ She must not adorn herself in any manner that would cause her to be proud or puffed up.
- ⇒ She must not adorn herself with any dress or behavior that would attract and cause sensual or tempting thoughts to a man. (This shows anything but fear and reverence for God.)

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array; but (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works” (1 Tim.2:9-10).

“Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price. For after this manner in the old time the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands” (1 Pt.3:3-5).

Thought 1. A wife who dresses, walks, moves, speaks, and behaves to attract attention to herself (her body) is a great disappointment to her husband. Such behavior cuts and hurts her husband deeply. He may not admit it, out of pride. But such behavior mars his respect and love for his wife, usually forever.

5 (3:4-6) Wife—Dress: the wife is to subject herself by adorning her heart and spirit, by focusing upon the hidden man of her heart. The hidden man of the heart means the inner life, the inward person, the new creation that Christ has made her. Jesus Christ has given her a new heart, a new life, a new character. He has made her a new person, a totally new person. He has recreated her heart and spirit. Therefore, the Christian woman, the woman who has truly believed and surrendered her heart to Jesus Christ, focuses upon adorning her heart and spirit, but...

- not with corruptible things such as clothes which pass out of style, become moth-eaten, wear out, age, and deteriorate.
- not with corruptible things such as gold and jewelry that can be stolen and that are useless when we lie sick and that are left behind when we die and that always deteriorate and waste away.
- not with corruptible things such as hairstyles that soon pass out of style.

All earthly things are corruptible and soon fall to the ground just as our hair does. These are not the things that a Christian wife focuses upon. She does not adorn herself with corruptible things. What then does she adorn herself with?

- With a quiet and meek spirit.

The Christian woman focuses upon her heart, upon the things that are hidden and that cannot be seen by the naked eye, upon developing a quiet and meek spirit.

- ⇒ A meek spirit means a spirit that is gentle, tender, humble, mild, and considerate. It is a spirit that is disciplined and under control at all times. It does not flare up, talk back, act defensively, cut in, rant, rave, or go on and on, talking and talking. Neither does a meek spirit whine or whimper or act persecuted or take on a martyr complex because the husband does not obey God’s Word. A meek spirit is as stated: gentle, tender, meek, considerate, disciplined, and controlled.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

1 PETER 3:1-6

⇒ A quiet spirit means a quiet and peaceful spirit, a spirit that is at peace with God and with itself and that builds peace with its husband. A quiet spirit spreads peace all throughout its home and around to everyone who enters its home.

Note that the meek and quiet spirit is of great value to God. God has His eyes upon the Christian woman who has a meek and quiet spirit: “in the sight of God [they are] of great price.”

“Stand in awe, and sin not: commune with your own heart upon your bed, and be still” (Ps.4:4).

“Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth” (Ps.46:10).

“An evil man seeketh only rebellion: therefore a cruel messenger shall be sent against him” (Pr.17:11).

“Better is a handful with quietness, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of spirit” (Eccl.4:6).

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you” (1 Th.4:11).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

There is a strong reason why Christian women should focus upon adorning their hearts with a meek and quiet spirit. It was exactly what the holy women of history did, including Sarah who is the spiritual mother of every Christian woman. Note these facts.

- ⇒ This is not a new commandment. Holy women have always subjected themselves to their own husbands. Women who have loved and trusted God have subjected themselves to God and to their own husbands (v.5).
- ⇒ Holy women trusted in God, not in fashionable hairstyles, clothes, and jewelry (v.5).
- ⇒ Holy women, by trusting in God, sought inward beauty, not outward beauty. They adorned themselves with a meek and quiet spirit, not with the worldly concerns and cares of this life (v.5).
- ⇒ Holy women, including Sarah, the spiritual mother of all believers, obeyed their own husbands and acknowledged their leadership in the family (v.6).
- ⇒ Christian women, the holy women of today, are not to live in fear and terror of their husbands, even if they do not obey God’s Word. They are to trust God and His care and strength and to do well; that is, they are to adorn their hearts with a meek and quiet spirit.
- ⇒ Christian women who truly trust God and who do well are the true daughters of Sarah. What is the significance of this? Sarah is the first great woman of belief. She stands as the spiritual mother of all women who believe. Every Christian woman who truly believes and adorns her heart with a quiet and meek spirit is a daughter of Sarah, a true daughter of God.

Thought 1. The point is made as strongly as it can be made: the Christian wife must win her husband to the Lord by subjecting herself to him. What is meant by subjection? It means...

- that she lives a chaste or pure life.
- that she lives in the fear and reverence of God.
- that she does not dress and behave to attract attention.
- that she adorns her heart with a meek and quiet spirit.

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord” (Col.3:18).

“Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence. For Adam was first formed, then Eve” (1 Tim.2:11-13).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior, conduct] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness” (Pr.31:27).

“Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee” (Gen.3:16).

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

L. Understand One's Wife, 3:7

(3:7) Introduction: What is the duty of the Christian husband? Scripture pulls no punches with the husband. He is to live with his wife, not with some other woman, and he is to understand and honor her with the highest esteem.

1. Dwell with your wife (v.7).
2. Live with your wife in knowledge (v.7).
3. Honor your wife (v.7).

1 (3:7) Husbands—Family—Marriage: husbands are to dwell with their wives. The Greek word “dwell with” (sunoikein) means to live with; to remain with; to reside with; to dwell together. Alan Stibbs points out that it is a word that is often used in the Greek for sexual intercourse. It is similar to the Hebrew verb to know which means that a man and woman know each other sexually (cp. Gen.4:1; Mt.1:25). (The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.127).

The point is this: the husband is to dwell with his wife and with no one else. He is not to know anyone else; he is not to have sexual intercourse with any other woman. The husband has a wife and he is to dwell with her in purity, righteousness, and holiness, and not as an adulterer.

Note one other fact as well: to dwell with his wife means that he is not to be gone all of the time. He stays at home and dwells with her: he is a close and supportive companion. He is not out and away from the home all of the time pursuing his own interests and hobbies. A good husband dwells at home; he is close to his wife and he is supportive of her in all of life. In fact, the term dwell with actually means to dwell together. The husband and wife are a team; they are as one body, one body that dwells and lives and moves together. This is not to do away with individuality. But individuality never has been and never will be the problem within a marriage of normal people. The problem with normal people will always be denying self and sacrificially giving oneself to one's spouse. Husbands must always remember this: they are to dwell with—to live and move and have their being with—their wives.

“For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife; and they twain shall be one flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder” (Mk.10:7-9).

“And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of man. Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh” (Gen.2:23-24).

“Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sun” (Eccl.9:9).

2 (3:7) Husbands—Family—Marriage: husbands are to live with their wives in knowledge. This is an eye-opener, a fact that is too often ignored and neglected. But the Scripture is clear: a husband is not to be ignorant in living with his wife. He is to know and understand...

- the marriage relationship: what marriage is and what it is to be.
- his wife: her nature and emotional makeup; what she needs and wants emotionally and spiritually, her strengths and weaknesses.
- the Word of God: what God says about the husband and his duties.

A husband is to be a knowledgeable and understanding person. He is to live with his wife, not as a thoughtless and ignorant fool, not as a blind and close-minded beast, not as a detached and inconsiderate observer. The husband is not to be a fool, beast, or observer. He is to be a man of knowledge, a husband who knows and understands his wife and marriage and understands God and his own duty as a husband.

Thought 1. Matthew Henry states it in a simple and pointed way:

“[Husbands are to dwell] with the wife according to knowledge; not according to lust, as brutes; nor according to passion, as devils; but according to knowledge, as wise and sober men, who know the word of God and their own duty” (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6, p.1023.)

3 (3:7) Husband—Marriage: husbands are to honor their wives. The word “honor” (timen) means to value; to esteem; to prize; to count as precious. A husband is to count his wife as a precious gem, as a prize of extreme value. He is to highly esteem her, set her up on a pedestal before his very eyes. Note three points.

1. The husband is to honor his wife as the weaker vessel. By nature, the wife is just more delicate and frail. This means that the husband is...

- to protect her.
- to be the primary provider.
- to take the lead.
- to oversee the family and its welfare.
- to be the driving force.
- to plow the way.
- to be the initiator.

Husbands are to honor their wives by loving and tenderly taking care of them. They are to look after and care for them with warmth and tenderness, treating them in the most precious of spirits and esteeming them ever so highly.

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth” (Pr.5:18).

2. The husband is to honor his wife as a joint heir of the grace of life. Note this point: in God’s eyes men and women are joint or equal heirs. The husband is not above the wife nor the wife above the husband. God has no favorites. Spiritual gifts and rights are given equally to wives and husbands. Women receive the spiritual gifts of God just as readily as men do.

The point is well made: husbands are to honor their wives as being equal in life. Life is a grace; it is an undeserved gift of God. Therefore in life, the husband is to treat the wife as an equal. He is not to be a tyrant, not to dominate and enslave her to serve and to meet his needs and wants. He is to be understanding, loving, gentle, and considerate. He is to honor her as a fellow heir of life, of the wonderful grace and gift of life that God has given us all.

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:27-29).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

3. Failure to honor the wife hinders the prayers of the husband. God will not answer the prayers of any husband who dishonors his wife, no matter who he is or how much he professes Christ. What God hears is the sigh of the wife, not the prayers of a mean and domineering husband. The husband can cry out to God all he wants, but God’s back is turned away from him and toward the sigh of the wife. God is going to hear the broken and contrite heart, not the prayers of the arrogant and dominating spirit. Both husband and wife must love one another and live as God says to live, both fulfilling their duty to one another, if they wish God to answer their prayers.

“If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me” (Ps.66:18).

“But your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear” (Is.59:2).

M. Live at Peace with Others, 3:8-9

- 1 Be of one mind
- 2 Have compassion
- 3 Have brotherly love
- 4 Have pity
- 5 Be courteous
- 6 Do not retaliate, but bless those who do evil against you
 - a. Do not react
 - b. Bless, that is, forgive
 - c. You shall be rewarded

8 Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous:

9 Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING:
GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

M. Live at Peace with Others, 3:8-9

(3:8-9) Believers—Peace: this is a great passage for believers. It deals with peace. We are to live at peace with other Christian believers. When the world looks at believers, they are to see a most unusual unity, a spirit of oneness that is not found anyplace else on earth. They are to see believers who are so unified and so closely knit together that they are as brothers and sisters—brothers and sisters who stand together, who love and support each through all the trials and temptations of life. The world is not to see believers...

- arguing
- bickering
- biting
- brawling
- grumbling
- griping
- enticing
- complaining
- in division

The world is to see believers unified, standing together through thick and thin regardless of circumstances. How can believers live in unity? How can people with such diverse personalities and backgrounds be closer than earthly brothers and sisters? In the clearest of terms this verse spells out how in six points.

1. Be of one mind (v.8).
2. Have compassion (v.8).
3. Have brotherly love (v.8).
4. Have pity (v.8).
5. Be courteous (v.8).
6. Do not retaliate, but bless those who do evil against you (v.9).

1 (3:8) Unity—Brotherhood—Mind: believers must be of one mind (homophrones). The word means to be likeminded; to be of the same mind. Believers must keep their minds on the same things. They must focus their minds upon Jesus Christ and His mission.

1. Believers must keep their minds upon becoming just like Jesus, upon being conformed to the image of Christ.

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

2. Believers must keep their minds upon living holy, righteous, and pure lives.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?" (2 Pt.3:11-12).

3. Believers must keep their minds upon developing spiritual character and fruit.

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law" (Gal.5:22-23).

4. Believers must keep their minds upon carrying out the ministry and mission of Christ.

"Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many" (Mt.20:28).

"For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Lk.19:10).

"Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you" (Jn.20:21).

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (2 Cor.5:20).

"And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also" (2 Tim.2:2).

- 2 (3:8) Compassion—Sympathy: believers must have compassion for one another. The word compassion (sumpatheis) means sympathy; to actually feel with others. It means to feel for others so much that...

- one suffers with those who suffer.
- one weeps with those who weep.
- one rejoices when others are honored.
- one understands the pressure that a leader is under when he has to lead.
- one hurts with those who are criticized and attacked.
- one grieves with the sorrows of others.

Unity cannot exist unless believers feel compassion and sympathy for one another. Believers cannot be selfish and aloof; they cannot be seeking attention and seeking to get their own way if they are to be unified. Unity demands sympathy; unity demands that believers feel for one another—that they feel deeply, so deeply that they actually experience what other believers experience: pain, hurt, abuse, suffering, joy, and rejoicing.

"Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep" (Ro.12:15).

"We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves" (Ro.15:1).

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ" (Gal.6:2).

- 3 (3:8) Love, Brotherly: believers must have brotherly love for one another. "Brotherly love" (philadelphoi) has already been discussed by Peter (see note, Love—1 Pt.1:22-25 for discussion).

- 4 (3:8) Pity—Tenderhearted: believers must have pity for one another. The word "pity" (eusplagchnoi) means to be tenderhearted; to be sensitive and affectionate toward the needs of others; to be moved with tender feelings over the pain and sufferings of others. We live in a world that desperately needs pity, a world of extreme suffering. So many suffer and continue to suffer without ever having their needs met. The means and resources to meet their needs exist, but so many within the world have become hardened to the sufferings of others. They bank, hoard, and build up asset after asset instead of sacrificing and reaching out to meet the needs of the world. But this is not to be true of the believer. Believers are to have pity upon the sufferings of others. Believers are to feel pity to the point that they are moved to act, moved to sacrifice and to reach out and meet the needs of the suffering.

Again, note how pity leaves no room for selfishness. Pity demands that a person deny himself and help others in their desperate needs and sufferings. Note also how pity draws people together. Helping and ministering to one another binds and knits people together. Having pity—feeling for one another and sacrificing and reaching out to help one another—unites people together. A great bond is created between the believer and those to whom he ministers.

"I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35).

"Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body" (Heb.13:3).

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world" (Jas.1:27).

- 5 (3:8) Courteous—Humility: believers must be "courteous" (tapeinophrones). The word means to be humble-minded; to be lowly in mind. It means to offer oneself as lowly and submissive; to walk in a spirit of lowliness; to present oneself as lowly; to be of low degree and low rank; not to be highminded, proud, haughty, arrogant, or assertive.

Note: a humble person may have a high position, power, wealth, fame, and much more; but he carries himself in a spirit of lowliness and submission. He denies himself for the sake of Christ and in order to help others.

Men have always looked upon humility as a vice. A lowly man is often looked upon as a coward, a cringing, despicable, slavish type of person. Men fear humility. They feel humility is a sign of weakness and will make them the object of contempt and abuse and cause them to be shunned and overlooked.

Because of all this, men ignore and shun the teaching of Christ on humility. This is tragic:

- ⇒ for a humble spirit is necessary for salvation (Mt.18:3-4).
- ⇒ for God's idea of humility is not weakness and cowardice.

God makes people strong, the strongest they can possibly be. By humility God does not mean what men mean. God infuses a new and strong spirit within a person and causes that person to conquer all throughout life. He just does not want the person walking around in pride. He wants the person to do what the definition says: to offer himself in a spirit of submissiveness and lowliness; not to act highminded, proud, haughty, arrogant, or assertive.

Humility is to be developed. Scripture tells us how:

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

“Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:3-4).

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“Walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:1-2).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:12-13).

“Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:6).

6 (3:9) Believers, Life and Walk: do not retaliate, but bless those who do evil against you. This point refers to both believers and unbelievers. As tragic as it is, some believers do evil and rail against other believers. Nevertheless, no matter the source of the evil and railing, true believers are not to retaliate. What are they to do when someone does evil against them?

1. The believer is not to react; he is not to return evil for evil to anyone. In the world and in the course of behavior between men, everyone is mistreated and reacted against at one time or another. Therefore, the believer suffers evil and mistreatment just as everyone else does—just in the course of behavior as a man. However, the genuine believer suffers additional evil: he suffers evil and mistreatment because he is a follower of Jesus Christ. As a follower of Christ...

- the believer is living a life of righteousness and purity, honesty and truthfulness; and such behavior is often opposed by the world. Therefore, the worldly person often opposes and abuses the believer.
- the believer is bearing testimony to the corruption of the world and to God's salvation; to man's need to escape the corruption by turning to Jesus Christ and His righteousness. Again, the worldly person often opposes the message of Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

The point is this: the believer is not to react against a person who mistreats and does evil against him. There are at least two reasons why he is not to react.

- a. Reaction will most likely lose the friendship of the person and lose all hope of ever reaching the person for Jesus Christ. The evil doer will be able to say, “A Christian did that to me.” The believer will have made Christ an unappealing Savior. On the other hand, if the believer returns good for evil, he opens the door for eventual friendship and bears testimony to the love of God for all men, even for those who do evil.
- b. Reaction is not the way of God or of Christ.

“But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also....That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust” (Mt.5:39, 45).

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

“Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:18).

“Say not thou, I will recompense evil; but wait on the LORD, and he shall save thee” (Pr.20:22).

“Say not, I will do so to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work” (Pr.24:29).

1 PETER 3:8-9

2. The believer is to bless those who do evil against him. The word “bless” (eulogountes) means to speak well of.
- It means to speak well to our persecutors. We do not react against them by cursing, speaking harshly, or striking out at them. We do not try to hurt them either verbally or physically. On the contrary, we seek to find something that is commendable about them and we commend them for it.

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:31-32).

- It means to speak well about our persecutors. When speaking to others, we do not down the persecutor, but we mention some commendable trait. We praise some good thing about the person; we do not tear him down.
- It means to pray for our persecutors. We must do as Jesus said and did.

“But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you” (Mt.5:44).

“Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots” (Lk.23:34).

Thought 1. Think of the impact upon persecutors when an attitude of love and blessing is demonstrated toward them. Every persecutor would not be won to Christ, but every persecutor would have a strong witness that could be used by the Holy Spirit in the persecutor’s quiet, thoughtful moments; and some persecutors would be won to Christ. This is what God is after.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

- It means to do good to our persecutors.

“But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you” (Lk.6:27).

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head” (Ro.12:20).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

“If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldest forbear to help him, thou shalt surely help with him” (Ex.23:5).

“If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink” (Pr.25:21).

3. The believer who blesses those who do evil against him will be greatly rewarded. Note: the believer is actually called to receive a blessing. The Amplified New Testament states it well:

“For know that to this you have been called, that you may yourselves inherit a blessing [from God]—obtain a blessing as heirs, bringing welfare and happiness and protection” (v.9).

The idea is that believers shall inherit eternal life. If they forgive others, God will forgive them. God will forgive them and give them the inheritance of heaven, of eternal life itself.

“But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:44-45).

“For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses” (Mt.6:14-15).

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

	N. Love & Enjoy Life, 3:10-12
1 Step 1: Stop your tongue	10 For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:
a. From speaking evil
b. From speaking deceitfully
2 Step 2: Turn away from evil & do good	11 Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.
3 Step 3: Seek peace & pursue it
4 Step 4: Remember the source of life, the Lord Himself	12 For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.
a. He sees & hears the righteous
b. He is against evildoers

DIVISION II

HOW TO LIVE THROUGH SUFFERING: GIVE YOUR LIFE TO GOD, 1:13-3:12

N. Love and Enjoy Life, 3:10-12

(3:10-12) Introduction: we live in a world that is full of sickness and desperate needs. Many are hungry, homeless, dressed in rags, diseased, and physically and emotionally ill. And to top it off, millions are lonely, empty, and unfulfilled. They feel they have no significant purpose in life. They do not love or enjoy life: life is more routine and drudgery than enjoyment. This is the subject of this great passage: how to love and enjoy life. There are four steps to loving and enjoying life. (Note that these verses are a quotation of Ps.34:12-16.)

1. Step 1: stop your tongue (v.10).
2. Step 2: turn away from evil and do good (v.11).
3. Step 3: seek peace and pursue it (v.11).
4. Step 4: remember the source of life, the Lord Himself (v.12).

1 (3:10) Tongue: first, stop your tongue. If you wish to love and enjoy life, the very first thing you must do is stop your tongue. Few tongues are disciplined and controlled. By far most tongues run, wag, and blaze ever so loosely.

The tongue is easily stirred to run loose. It is easily ignited and just as easily set ablaze. The tongues of so many people are ever so ready...

- to react
- to attack
- to defend
- to rail
- to poison
- to cut
- to hurt

A tongue that runs loose and is not controlled and disciplined knows little love and little enjoyment of life. What can be done? How can a person control and discipline his tongue? By doing two things:

1. A person must stop his tongue from speaking evil. Note: the honest and thinking person knows that no person can control and discipline his tongue perfectly. But Scripture is clear: God does not excuse us, and He expects us to stop our tongue from speaking evil. What we must remember—every couple and every believer—is that there is a vast difference between the occasional offender and the constant offender. An evil tongue is a tongue that constantly...

- cuts in and takes the floor
- reacts
- refuses instructions
- curses
- backbites
- argues
- interrupts and disrupts others
- defends oneself
- retaliates
- gossips
- criticizes

The list could go on and on until every act of behavior is covered. It is very difficult to live with a constant offender of the tongue. A person whose tongue constantly does evil is destroying his or her life. And we must always remember that an evil tongue is a tongue that is constantly doing evil, evil that ranges all the way from constantly interrupting and disrupting others over to cursing and blaspheming the name of God. An evil tongue shows disrespect for others regardless of what a person claims. It shows disrespect and displeasure.

Note what the antidote is: "Let him refrain his tongue from evil." This is an imperative, a command. The believer is personally responsible. He is to stop his tongue—hush, be quiet, quit allowing his tongue to do evil.

2. A person is to keep his lips from speaking guile. The word "guile" (dolon) means deceit. A deceitful tongue is...
 - a false tongue
 - a cheating tongue
 - a treacherous tongue
 - a deceptive tongue
 - a lying tongue
 - a mistreating tongue
 - a beguiling tongue
 - a flattering tongue

1 PETER 3:10-12

We deceive and smooth talk others in order to get what we are after or to protect ourselves. But note what Scripture says: the very first step to loving and enjoying life is to keep our tongues from deceiving and beguiling others. Deception leads to sin and sin destroys. Just think about the deceptive tongues that have...

- destroyed marriages
- damaged friendships
- caused wars
- caused injuries
- prevented promotions
- disturbed children
- ruined reputations
- aroused fights
- maimed bodies

If we wish to love and enjoy life, we must stop our tongues from doing evil and from deceiving others. We must control and discipline our tongues.

Thought 1. This is the duty of the believer. It is not something that God is going to do for the believer. Of course, God will help us and give us strength. Our tongues are controlled by us; they are under our power. We either do good or evil with our tongues.

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work, to speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:1-2).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For I have heard the slander of many: fear was on every side: while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life” (Ps.31:13).

“Whoso privily [secretly] slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath a high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a slander, is a fool” (Pr.10:18).

“A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbour: but through knowledge shall the just be delivered” (Pr.11:9).

“Take ye heed every one of his neighbour, and trust ye not in any brother: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbour will walk with slander” (Jer.9:4).

“For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies, your tongue hath muttered perverseness” (Is.59:3).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord: looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled” (Heb.12:14-15).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

2 (3:11) Evil—Good Works: second, turn away from evil and do good.

1. A person is to eschew evil. Eschew means to avoid and shun evil; to turn aside and away from evil. What evil is being talked about? Scripture clearly tells us what it is that we are to turn away from and flee. There are some things that we are to stop doing, some things that we are to turn away from and flee.

⇒ We must flee fornication.

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

⇒ We must flee idolatry.

“Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry” (1 Cor.10:14; cp. Acts 14:15).

⇒ We are to flee foolish and hurtful lusts and the love of money.

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows. But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:9-11).

⇒ We are to flee youthful lusts.

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

⇒ We are to turn away from all forms of evil.

“This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:1-5).

⇒ We are to stop and turn our tongue and lips away from evil.

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

The charge is direct and forceful: we are to stop doing evil. The idea is that we are to stop dead in our tracks, snatch our hands back, snap our eyes away, shut our ears from the evil. We are to turn away and flee evil lest it consume and destroy us.

Note a crucial fact: evil is being pictured as a deliberate choice. We choose to do evil. The command of God is to turn away and flee evil. Turning away and fleeing is also a deliberate choice. Turning away and fleeing evil is up to us. We are the ones who have to repent; we are the ones who have to turn away from wrongdoing and turn to God. This is the second step to loving and enjoying life.

2. A person must do good. Note: it is not enough to turn away from evil. When a person turns away from evil, he is like a vacuum. All the things that had been filling his life are set aside and his life is left with empty spaces. Whereas he had been spending time in the pleasures of the world, he now has blocks of time that must be filled. What is it that is to fill these blocks of time? What is it that is to fill the life of the person who turns away from evil and turns to God? Good works. A person who truly turns to God is a person who gives all he is and has to God. He commits his life...

- to live a holy and righteous life.
- to make Christ known throughout his community and all over the world.
- to minister and meet the needs of the desperate in the world.

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

3 (3:11) Peace: third, seek peace and pursue it. Believers are not only to desire peace, but they are to actively pursue and go after it. The word “pursue” (dioxato) means to run after, chase after, press after, and to pursue. It has the idea of swiftness and endurance—of hotly pursuing and staying after peace. We live in a world that is full of corruptible and evil people who could care less about peace and holiness just so they get what they are after. However, the believer must not give up, for peace is the very reason he is on earth.

The believer is to follow after peace (eirenen) with all men. The fact that he has to follow after peace means that peace is not always possible.

- ⇒ Some persons within the church are troublemakers: grumblers, complainers, gossipers, critics; some are self-centered leaders full of pride; some people within the church are just selfish and self-centered and care more about pushing themselves forward and getting their own way than they do about peace. Self is put before Christ and the church and its mission.
- ⇒ Some persons within the world are troublemakers and they cause great trouble for the believer. They oppose the believer: ridicule, mock, poke fun at, curse, abuse, persecute, ignore, and isolate him.
- ⇒ Some persons within the world are troublemakers for the world at large: dissenters, dividers, fighters, egotists, power-builders, and warmongers. Some people have no interest in peace whatever unless they can have their own way.

The point is this: the believer is to follow after peace with all men—no matter who they are. The very purpose for the believer being on earth is to bring peace between men and God and between men and all other men. Therefore, the believer is to do all he can to live at peace with everyone and to lead others to live in peace.

The believer is to live at peace with all men. The believer is to work for as much peace as possible. Some level of harmony and concord can be achieved at least some of the time. The believer is never to give up, not as long as there is hope for some degree of peace. He is to achieve as much peace as possible. However remember, peace is not always possible—not with everyone.

4 (3:12) Life: fourth, remember the source of life, the Lord Himself. No person has life apart from God, and God sees exactly who it is that is to receive life.

1. God sees the righteous, the very person who has been described in the first three points of the outline.
 - ⇒ God sees the person who controls his tongue, who does not speak evil nor deceive people.
 - ⇒ God sees the person who turns away and flees from evil.
 - ⇒ God sees the person who seeks peace and pursues it.

This is the righteous person, the person to whom God gives life and good days. Note also that it is the righteous person whose prayers are answered. God's ears are open to their prayers. The idea is that He hears their cries in times of need and He meets their need. God cares and looks after the righteous day by day, never letting them suffer more than they can bear. This is a most wonderful thing: it means that the inner cry for life is met. God gives life, both abundant and eternal life, to the righteous, and He looks after them by answering their prayers while they journey throughout life.

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:16).

“And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us: and if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him” (1 Jn.5:14-15).

“The eyes of the LORD are upon the righteous, and his ears are open unto their cry” (Ps.34:15).

“He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him” (Ps.91:15).

“And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear” (Is.65:24).

2. God sees those who do evil. Who are the evil? Being very specific, they are those who do not do what is covered in the first three points.

- ⇒ The evil are people who do not control their tongues and who speak evil and who deceive others with enticing and smooth talking words.
- ⇒ The evil are people who do not turn away from evil, who do not turn away from fornication (immorality), idolatry, foolish and hurtful lusts, the love of money, youthful lusts, and all forms of evil.
- ⇒ The evil are people who do not seek and pursue peace, who are divisive, who grumble, complain, criticize, backbite, plot, fight, and war.

Note that the very face of God stands against those who do evil. The picture is that God does not only see the evil person, God stands face to face against him. He stands face to face to judge them.

“And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:23).

“Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and take him away, and cast him into outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.22:13).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

“And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:46).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

DIVISION III

HOW TO HANDLE AND CONQUER SUFFERING: LIVE FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS AND NOT FOR EVIL, 3:13-4:19

A. Stand Up For Christ: Suffer for Righteousness' Sake, 3:13-17

(3:13-17) Introduction: this passage begins a new section dealing with persecution. Genuine believers suffer all kinds of persecution: being ridiculed and mocked, ignored and bypassed, isolated and cut off, abused and beaten, imprisoned and murdered. All genuine believers face some persecution at one time or another, all to varying degrees. The question is this: How can we bear up under the persecution? How can we be assured that we will stand up under the persecution and be counted faithful by God? How can we be assured that we will endure and inherit the hope of eternal life, of living with Christ forever and ever? There is only one way: we must stand up for Christ no matter the suffering or its ferociousness.

1. First, do what is right and good (v.13-14).
2. Second, set your heart on Christ and the great hope He gives (v.15).
3. Third, readily answer and defend the hope of salvation (v.15).
4. Fourth, keep a good conscience (v.16-17).

1 (3:13-14) Persecution—Zeal—Good Works: the first answer to persecution is to do what is right and good. Note the verse: it actually says to become “a follower of that which is good.” The word “follower” (zelotai) means zealot. The believer is to be so zealous for what is right that he is actually known as a zealot for good. Imagine being gripped with so much passion and zeal for good that one becomes known as a zealot! This is the challenge of this passage. Several attitudes toward doing good permeate society.

- ⇒ Some persons have a care less attitude toward goodness. Doing what is right and good matters little. What is right and good is rebelled against, ignored, cursed, and rejected. The person has little conscience about right and wrong. His values are ever so weak. He could care less if he does what is right and good.
- ⇒ Some persons have a selfish attitude toward goodness. If doing what is right and good benefits them, then they do it. If it helps them, meets their need and enlarges their holdings, then they do what is right. But if it costs them, demands discipline and control, and takes away from their pleasure and holdings, then they reject the good and refuse to do what is right.
- ⇒ Some persons have a surface or sentimental attitude to what is good and right. They readily profess to believe in what is good and right and want to be known as moral and upright. But behind the scenes they go ahead and live like they want and do their own thing.

Some persons, of course, have a zealous attitude toward what is right and good. They have committed their lives to seeking and doing what they should. This is exactly what Scripture is saying: “Be a zealot—be a fanatic—be a passionate follower—after that which is good and right.” Note three points.

1. The believer who does good will be less likely to suffer persecution (v.13). Most people will appreciate the good that we do, including our neighbors and civil authorities. Doing good will keep us from getting into trouble with the law and from offending our neighbors, fellow workers, and community. Therefore, the chance of our being persecuted becomes less likely.

“Let your conversation [behavior] be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:5-6).

“And who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?” (1 Pt.3:13).

“And thou shalt be secure, because there is hope; yea, thou shalt dig about thee, and thou shalt take thy rest in safety” (Job 11:18).

“Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day” (Ps.91:5).

“He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the LORD” (Ps.112:7).

“When thou liest down, thou shalt not be afraid: yea, thou shalt lie down, and thy sleep shall be sweet” (Pr.3:24).

2. The believer who suffers persecution will be happy, that is, blessed by God. How can a person who is suffering persecution be happy and blessed? When a person focuses his mind and life upon the things of this world, they can be snatched from him overnight. The person can be stricken with a disease, suffer a heart attack, have an accident, go through bankruptcy, lose everything he has through an economic slump or stock market crash. A black Monday can happen anytime and anywhere in this world. A person of the world can suffer such a crushing blow that he is destroyed and left hopeless and helpless in life, but not a true believer. The mind and life of the true believer are focused upon Jesus Christ; therefore, no matter what he suffers, he still has his most cherished possession—Jesus Christ, the very Son of God. He knows that Jesus Christ is going to look after him and take care of him: that Christ is going to work everything out for good.

The very same thing happens when the believer is persecuted for righteousness’ sake. His mind and life are focused upon Christ; therefore, he possesses Christ and all the promises of Christ. He possesses such promises as these:

⇒ God will work all things out for good for him.

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

⇒ God will provide all the necessities of life for him.

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

⇒ God will give him a very special spirit of glory to rest upon him.

“If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:14).

⇒ The life of Christ will be manifested in his flesh.

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

⇒ God will give him a great reward in heaven.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Mt.5:11-12).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins” (Heb.10:26).

⇒ The Lord will take him on to heaven and preserve him through all of eternity when the time comes for him to leave this earth.

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

Note how wonderful and glorious these promises are. There are so many more promises, so many in fact that, as John the Apostle says, the world itself could not contain enough shelves to hold the books if all the promises of God were written out (cp. Jn.21:25).

3. The believer is not to fear nor be troubled by the terror of persecution. No matter what the suffering is—ridicule, mockery, abuse, assault, rejection, being bypassed, imprisoned, or martyred—if the believer is persecuted because he stands up for Christ, he is not to fear. God will meet his need. God has great things in store for the believer; therefore, God shall never forsake him.

⇒ God will strengthen him to bear the persecution.

⇒ God will use his suffering as a strong testimony for Christ and touch the hearts of some of the persecutors.

⇒ God will use his suffering to make him a far stronger believer, to make him more and more secure in Christ.

“The LORD shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace” (Ex.14:14).

“Be strong and of a good courage, fear not, nor be afraid of them: for the LORD thy God, he it is that doth go with thee; he will not fail thee, nor forsake thee” (Dt.31:6).

“For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him. Herein thou hast done foolishly: therefore from henceforth thou shalt have wars” (2 Chron.16:9).

“The angel of the LORD encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them” (Ps.34:7).

“He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shall thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler” (Ps.91:4).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“For I the LORD thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not: I will help thee” (Is.41:13).

“But now thus saith the LORD that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:1-2).

“But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows” (Mt.10:30-31).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel; and in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God. For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:27-29).

“And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last: I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death” (Rev.1:17-18).

2 (3:15) Persecution—Dedication: the second answer to persecution is to set your heart upon Christ and the great hope He gives to believers. The believer is to receive Christ into his heart. Christ alone is to fill the heart of the believer. The believer’s heart is to be sanctified, that is, filled with Christ and focused upon Christ. Why? Because Christ is his only hope of salvation. Jesus Christ promises to save all who receive Him into their hearts. Therefore, if a person wishes to be saved, he must have Jesus Christ in his heart.

The point is this: if Jesus Christ is in the heart of the believer, then the believer has the greatest of hopes, the hope of salvation and of living forever. It is this hope that stirs the believer to bear persecution. Christ, who lives within the believer, strengthens the believer. How? Christ stirs the hope of salvation within the heart of the believer and arouses him to endure the suffering no matter how fierce and threatening. Christ arouses great assurance within the believer, the assurance that the hope of salvation is true and that it is right around the corner. The person who has truly sanctified Christ within his heart loves Christ and wants to please Christ. He knows that Christ has died for him and is going to conform him into the very image of the Son of God Himself. Therefore, the true believer wants to please Christ. The believer would never think of displeasing Christ nor of hurting and causing Christ pain, especially by buckling under to persecution and denying Him. But remember: only the person who has sanctified Christ within his heart can stand fast against persecution. Our hearts must be filled with Christ and focused upon Christ to bear suffering for righteousness’ sake.

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation [trials, sufferings]: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations [trials, sufferings], and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup [fellowship] with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

3 (3:15) Persecution—Witnessing: the third answer to persecution is to readily answer and defend the hope of salvation to every man, but to do so with meekness and fear. The word “answer” or “defend” (apologian) means just that, to answer back or to give a defense of the believer’s hope (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.114).

1. The believer is to answer every man who asks him about his hope of salvation and of living forever. He is to answer every...

- neighbor
- foe
- employer
- classmate
- stranger
- friend
- civil authority
- employee
- legal authority
- fellow worker

1 PETER 3:13-17

The believer is to miss no opportunity to witness for Christ. He is not to shirk his duty in witnessing, and he is not to neglect or ignore anyone. Day by day as he crosses the path of others, he is to give an answer and defend the hope of salvation to all who ask and will listen.

2. The believer is to be ready to answer and defend the hope of salvation. This means preparation; it means study, meditation, and prayer. The believer must study the Scripture, study all about God and Christ, all about the salvation and promises of God. The believer must know the Scripture and live in prayer in order to be ready to witness.

Thought 1. The great tragedy is that most professing believers do not know what they believe. They know little about Christ, what it is that makes Him so unique and superior. Few can witness and lead anyone else to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. Few are willing to take the time or exert the effort to study God's Word and to learn the truth. Most are just not willing to pay the price to learn about God and Christ and to prepare themselves to be dynamic witnesses for Christ.

3. The believer is to be very careful about how he answers and defends the hope of salvation. He is to answer people with a spirit of meekness and of fear before God.

⇒ By meekness is meant a spirit of tenderness and softness, of care and love, of humility and brokenness. But note: meekness also means a spirit of strength and courage. Meekness does not put up with sin and shame, license and indulgence. It does all it can to relieve and correct evil and mistreatment. Too often witnessing is done in a spirit of superiority and arrogance, argument and controversy, criticism and divisiveness.

⇒ By fear is meant fearing God lest one misrepresent or twist the truth of God's salvation. It means to hold God in such reverence and awe that one bears witness only in a spirit of constant prayer and dependence upon God. One knows and acknowledges that God is the Source of salvation; He alone can save a person. Therefore, one is ever so careful to present only the truth of God's Word and of salvation.

Thought 1. Too often witnessing is done in a spirit of pride and bitterness, of pushing oneself forward instead of God. The spirit of fearing God is all but forgotten; God is not revered: the truth of His salvation is twisted to make oneself more acceptable and recognized.

The point is this: the answer to persecution is to bear a clear and strong witness for Christ, but to do so with meekness and in the fear of God. By bearing a strong but gentle witness, those who oppose us will understand more about why we hold to such a glorious hope. In some cases, some of them will even be saved.

Thought 2. Alan Stibbs has an excellent statement on this point that is well worth our noting:

"We have here some practical guidance concerning Christian witness. It is wrong to be always preaching at people. The Christian wife has been encouraged by Peter to seek to win her unbelieving husband without speaking to him on the subject (3:1). But the whole situation is changed if the other person asks for an explanation. Also, if Christians are on the alert, they may often rightly discern an implied question in some passing comment. Then is the time to speak; but one can do so only if one is seeking to be ready.

"The Christian is then to engage, not in an aggressive attack on the other person's will or prejudice, but in a logical account...or reasoned explanation of the hope that is [in him]" (The First Epistle General of Peter. "The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.136).

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Mt.28:19-20).

"And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mk.16:15).

"For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Lk.19:10).

"Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you" (Jn.20:21).

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:20).

"We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak" (2 Cor.4:13).

"Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God" (2 Tim.1:8).

"And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also" (2 Tim.2:2).

"These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee" (Tit.2:15).

"But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear" (1 Pt.3:15).

4 (3:16-17) Persecution—Conscience: the fourth answer to persecution is to keep a good conscience. Note the reference...

- to a good or clear conscience.
- to a good conversation, that is, good conduct or behavior.

The only way a person can have a clear conscience is to have good conduct. If the believer is to stand against persecution, he must have a clear conscience, and to have a clear conscience he must have good conduct and behavior. The believer must be living a good life; his conduct and behavior must be holy, righteous, pure, decent, upright, and above reproach. He must have a conscience and a behavior that are without blame, that cannot be justly blamed with any sin or evil. Note two points.

1. Those who oppose and persecute believers will be put to shame by the believer's good behavior and clear conscience. Some people will always oppose and persecute believers. If a person really lives for Jesus Christ, his righteousness and self-denial convicts those who love this world and its pleasures and possessions. Therefore, they often persecute the believer, ridicule, mock, isolate, abuse, imprison, or kill him. The worldly do all they can to stop the witness of the believer. But note: eventually those who oppose and persecute the believer will be put to shame. The good and righteous behavior of the believer will vindicate the believer either in this world or in the next world. The persecutor will stand ashamed of his attacks against the believer; the idea is that he will be eternally shamed.

2. It is better for believers to suffer for doing good than for doing evil. This is only common sense: a person can bear suffering much easier if he is suffering for a good and just cause. It is very difficult to stand up under suffering when it is an unjust and evil cause. Note also that it is the will of God for believers to suffer, that is to bear up under persecution, but not for doing evil. God wants believers living righteous and pure lives and He wants them witnessing for Him even if they do face persecution for it. This is the will of God; therefore, believers are to keep a good conscience before God.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“For from you sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to Godward is spread abroad; so that we need not to speak any thing” (1 Th.1:8).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:18).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation [behavior] his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-12).

HOW TO HANDLE AND CONQUER SUFFERING: LIVE FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS AND NOT FOR EVIL, 3:13-4:19

B. Understand the Death and Triumph of Christ, 3:18-22

(3:18-22) Introduction: this is a great passage on the salvation wrought by the death of Jesus Christ. It is also an interesting passage in that it gives us some glimpse into what Jesus Christ was doing while he was dead, that is, between His crucifixion and resurrection. Two significant points are discussed.

1. The death of Christ (v.18).
2. The triumph of Christ (v.18-22).

1 (3:18) Jesus Christ, Death: there is the death of Christ. This is a verse that explains exactly what Christ did when He died. In the clearest of terms it tells us why Christ died and what the death of Christ does for man. In fact, this verse explains the death of Christ so clearly that it leaves the hearer without excuse if he fails to understand why Christ died. Because of its clarity every believer should study the verse in all of its depth and memorize it.

1. Christ died once for sins. It was for the sins of man that He died. Man is sinful; he is guilty before God, guilty...
 - of disbelieving God. Just think how often people do not believe God, how often they do not take God and His Word seriously.
 - of disobeying God. Just think how often people transgress and break the law of God.
 - of cursing God. Just think how often people curse and blaspheme the name of God.
 - of rebelling against God. Just think how often people choose to go their own way and do their own thing instead of doing what God says.
 - of rejecting God. Just think how many people reject God.

This is sin—all of this and so much more. Man has transgressed the law of God, and when the law has been broken, the penalty has to be paid. Man has to be judged; he has to bear the punishment for his sins. What is the judgment and punishment? Death. Man has to die and he has to be separated from God forever. Why? Because God is perfect and only perfect beings can live in God's presence. This is the reason man's sin dooms him to death and eternal separation from God. But this is the glorious gospel; this is the declaration of this great verse: Jesus Christ died for our sins. He took the sin and guilt of man upon Himself and bore the judgment and punishment for man.

Note the words "for sins" (peri hamartion). These words are the very words used in the Old Testament for the sin-offering (Lev.5:7; 6:30; cp. Ro.8:3; Heb.10:6, 8). The point is clear: Jesus Christ offered Himself for sin; He was the fulfillment of the sin-offering itself. This means a most wonderful thing: we can now become acceptable to God. We no longer have to stand before God guilty of sin, for Jesus Christ has died for our sin. If we trust His death to cover us, then sin and its guilt have been removed from us. In Christ we stand acceptable to God.

Note one other fact: Christ died once for our sins. His death never has to be repeated; His death upon the cross satisfies God completely and covers the sins and death of men forever. How? This is the discussion of the next point.

"For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures" (1 Cor.15:3).

"Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal.1:4).

"And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

2. Christ died vicariously; He was the just One dying for the unjust. What does this mean? It means two things.
 - a. Jesus Christ was perfectly just or righteous. He was sinless: as Man He lived a sinless life. Therefore, He stood before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man. He was the ideal pattern of what every man should be. His righteousness was the ideal righteousness. This means a most wonderful thing:

1 PETER 3:18-22

- ⇒ It means that whatever Jesus Christ did could stand for and cover all men.
- ⇒ It means that His righteousness could stand as the ideal and perfect righteousness. His ideal righteousness could cover every person and make him acceptable to God.
- ⇒ It means that His death could stand as the ideal and perfect death. His ideal death could cover the death of every person and make him acceptable to God.
- ⇒ It means that Jesus Christ could become the ideal and perfect sin-offering for man. His ideal sin-offering could cover every man's sin-offering and make him acceptable to God.

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

- b. Jesus Christ loves man; therefore, He gave His life for man. Man deserves to die and to be separated from God, for he is unjust and sinful. But Christ loves us; therefore He has become our substitute: borne our sin and judgment, condemnation and punishment. Therefore, we never have to die or be separated from God. If we surrender our lives to Christ—if we give ourselves over to Him—His righteousness covers us and His death covers us. In Christ we become acceptable to God. But we must always remember why. It is because Christ died for us: the just One died for the unjust. He sacrificed and substituted His life for us.

Note: this is the reason the death of Christ never has to be repeated. Christ never has to die again because He is the Perfect and Ideal Man. As the Ideal Man He has made the perfect sacrifice that satisfied the righteousness and justice of God. He has made the perfect sacrifice once-for-all (see notes—Heb.7:27; pt.3—Heb.9:11-14; 10:5-10 for more discussion).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

3. Christ died to bring us to God. How? It is our sin that separates and alienates us from God. It is sin that makes us imperfect and unacceptable to God. But note the most wonderful truth:

⇒ When Jesus Christ took our sin upon Himself, sin was removed from us. Therefore, we stand before God in the righteousness and sinlessness of Christ. In Christ we become acceptable to God.

⇒ When Jesus Christ took the guilt of our sin and died for us, our death penalty was paid. In Christ we no longer have to die or be separated from God.

However, note the critical point: we are acceptable to God only in Christ. That is, we must cast ourselves—all that we are and have, our mind, body, and soul, our past, present, and future—upon Christ. We must believe with our whole heart that Jesus Christ has died for our sins. When we genuinely believe, God accepts us in Christ, covering us in His righteousness and death.

Thought 1. Note a terrible and tragic fact. Not everyone is in Christ. Not everyone believes in Christ. In fact, most people curse and reject Christ either by word or act. Few obey God and His Word; few trust Christ; few have given their lives to follow Christ fully and completely. Therefore, few people are covered by the death of Christ; few sins have been forgiven. Most people continue to bear their sins and the guilt of them.

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:18-19).

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ” (Eph.2:13).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

2 (3:18-22) Jesus Christ, Victory; Triumph; Resurrection: there is the triumph of Christ. The triumph is seen in four glorious facts.

1. Jesus Christ was quickened, that is, made alive. Jesus Christ was raised from the dead. Most translators say that the words “the spirit” refer to Jesus’ spirit and not to the Holy Spirit. Jesus Christ was put to death in the flesh, but He was quickened and made alive in the spirit. In either case the meaning is pretty much the same: right after Jesus Christ died in the flesh, His spirit passed into a new life, a life that could not be tempted to sin nor undergo trials and sufferings. Jesus Christ was transferred into heaven, into the spiritual and perfect world or dimension where He lives, in the glory and majesty of God forever.

Thought 1. The same quickening is experienced by every believer. The spirit of every true believer is quickened and made alive in Christ, made alive by God. And in that glorious day when it is time for the believer to depart this world and go on to live with God, God shall transfer the believer’s spirit into heaven. Immediately—quicker than the eye can blink—the believer’s spirit will be transferred into heaven, into the perfect and eternal world and dimension of being. The believer’s spirit shall be perfected forever; it shall never again be subject to the trials and temptations of this corruptible world. The believer’s spirit shall be perfected to live in the glory and majesty of God forever.

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection” (Ro.6:5).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins....And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:1, 6).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God” (Col.3:1).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:3-4).

2. Jesus Christ victoriously proclaimed His triumph (v.19-20). He proclaimed the victory of His death and resurrection to the spirits in prison and to the disobedient of Noah’s day. What does this mean? It means that right after Christ died, between the cross and His resurrection, He went before the spirits in prison and proclaimed that God’s promise of salvation was fulfilled in Him, the Savior of the world. But who are the spirits to whom He preached?

Scripture says that they were...

- the disobedient who were living upon earth while Noah was preparing the Ark.
- the disobedient toward whom God was longsuffering.
- the disobedient who were not saved during the flood.

This passage definitely says that Christ preached to the spirits of the unbelievers who had lived in Noah’s day and were in prison, that is, the prison of hell. Does this mean that Christ gave them a second chance to be saved? No! It means that Jesus Christ went before them and proclaimed His triumph; that is, He went to vindicate the way of faith—to proclaim that the faith of Noah was victorious. Noah’s life and his proclamation of faith in God were never vindicated in his day. Therefore, Christ Himself went before the spirits of unbelievers and personally proclaimed the victory.

Does this mean that Christ proclaimed His triumph only to the disobedient spirits of Noah’s day? Not likely, for none of the Old Testament believers had ever had their faith vindicated and proven. They had only confessed that they believed in God and His promise to send the Messiah and Savior to the world. They never knew...

- who He would be
- how God would send Him
- how God would use Him to save the world
- when God would send Him

They knew little about the Savior, but they believed and trusted in Him before a mocking and unbelieving world. Therefore, it is most likely that Christ preached and vindicated the gospel before all the spirits who had disobeyed and rebelled against God. If this is so, then why did Peter focus only upon the disobedient spirits of Noah’s day instead of mentioning all the spirits of the disobedient? Verse 21 tells us. Peter’s very purpose is to stress how the triumph of Christ saves the believer, and he wants to stress the part that baptism (that is, the cleansing of the conscience) has in salvation. Therefore, Peter uses the saving of Noah and his family through the flooding waters as an illustration of his point.

Whatever the case, the point is this: Christ went before the spirits of the disobedient in the prison of hell and He proclaimed that God's salvation had been completed. He Himself was the Savior and Messiah of the world, the fulfillment of God's promise of salvation. Noah's faith (and the faith of all believers) was now fulfilled. Noah and the other seven members of His family were truly saved. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.3:19-20 for more discussion.)

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And all flesh shall see the salvation of God” (Lk.3:6).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:11-12).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

3. Jesus Christ saves the believer through baptism: not the baptism by water, but the baptism of a good conscience wrought by the power of the resurrection of Jesus Christ (v.21).

a. The water which saved Noah and his family is a type of the cleansing that saves us. The water...

- bore up the ark and saved them through the judgment of God.
- delivered them from the ridicule and mockery of evil men.
- delivered them from the corruption of the world and led them to a new life.
- put to death the old world and gave them the hope of a new world.
- put to death their old life and gave them a new beginning.
- saved the race of man and created a new people of God.
- delivered them from the old world right into the new world.

What is Peter saying? Note the word “figure” (antitupon). The figure or picture of baptism is just like the water that saved Noah and his family.

⇒ The flooding waters of Noah’s day picture the judgment of God upon sin. The flooding waters picture how man was saved from a corruptible world and carried into a new world.

⇒ The baptismal water pictures the judgment of God upon Christ, a judgment of death that was due sinners. It pictures how man is saved from a corruptible life and world and carried into a new life and world by the resurrection of Christ.

b. Note: Peter says that baptism now saves us, but he hastens to explain what he means. He is not saying that the water or act of baptism saves us. Peter is clear about this, as clear as it can be stated.

⇒ It is not the cleansing of the flesh, not the outward form and ceremony that cleanses and saves. We may cleanse the outside with the most scrupulous care, but much more is needed in order to be saved.

⇒ It is the cleansing of a good conscience wrought by the power of the resurrection that saves a person. The great Greek scholar A. T. Robertson says:

“Baptism...does not wash away the filth of the flesh either in a literal sense, as a bath for the body, or in a metaphorical sense of the filth of the soul. No ceremonies really affect the conscience (Heb.9:13f)...[A person is saved] having repented and turned to God and now making this public proclamation...by means of baptism.” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.119). (Underlining is done by us.)

Alan Stibbs says:

“Peter deliberately adds two statements in parenthesis in order to make unmistakably plain that it is not...the outward form of baptism that saves. It is only Christ who can save through His death and resurrection, not the baptismal water and its administration. Those who would share in this salvation must enter into Christ crucified and risen” (The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.144).

The Pulpit Commentary states the significance of baptism well:

“The outward and visible sign doth not save if separated from the inward and spiritual grace. The first [baptism] is necessary, for it is an outward sign appointed by

1 PETER 3:18-22

Christ; but it will not save without the second; those who draw near to God must have their bodies washed with pure water, but also their hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience (Heb.10:22). The inner cleansing of the soul results in a good conscience, a consciousness of sincerity, of good intentions and desires, which will instinctively seek after God” (B.C. Coffin. First Peter. “The Pulpit Commentary,” Vol.22, p.137.)

- c. Note that our consciences are cleansed by the resurrection of Christ. How does the resurrection cleanse our consciences?

If God raised up Christ from the dead then it means that Christ is who He claimed to be: the Savior of the world. Therefore, He is able to save us from our sins. He is able to cleanse us from all sin and to free our consciences. He is able to give us a clear and pure conscience. (See note, pt.3—1 Pt.1:3 for more discussion.)

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:1-4).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God” (Heb.9:14).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

4. Jesus Christ saves the believer from all angels, authorities, and powers (v.22). All beings of all dimensions and worlds are subject to Him. He has gone into heaven and is on the right hand of God. He rules and reigns over all, subjecting all to His sovereign will and power.

Thought 1. This means a most wonderful thing. Believers need never fear anyone or anything. Christ Jesus the Lord is looking after them. He will provide, protect, and deliver through all the trials and temptations of life no matter how terrible and severe.

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come; and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:19-22).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace” (Is.9:6).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:19-20) Hell—Jesus Christ, Triumph: this passage clearly says that Jesus Christ “went and preached unto the spirits in prison.” It says in particular that He preached to the souls of those who had lived in the days of Noah but had rejected God’s salvation and longsuffering. What does all this mean? In order to determine the meaning, we must note four points.

1. First, note where the spirits of unbelievers go when they leave this world. Scripture says that the place where unbelievers go is a prison (1 Pt.3:19), and the picture in the Greek is actually that of a prison. Just as men put rebellious people into prison, so God shall imprison those who rebel against Him. Scripture even pictures God having Satan bound with a chain and cast into the prison of the bottomless pit. It also pictures God having the angels who rebelled with Satan bound with the chains of darkness and cast into the prison of hell. The point is that hell, the place where unbelievers go after leaving this world, is pictured as a prison. Scripture uses four words or terms to describe the prison. Note how each word or term describes a different section or cell block or compartment to the prison of hell.

- a. There is the cellblock or compartment which is called Hell or what the Greeks called Hades and the Hebrews called Sheol. This is the place where unbelievers go when they die and enter into the next world. Hell is the torment section for the human race, the place where all unbelievers are placed and punished until the end of the world. At the end of the world, they are all taken out of hell and cast into the lake of fire (cp. Lk.16:19-31. See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:22 for more discussion.)

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?” (Mt.23:33).

- b. There is the cellblock or compartment of Tartarus. This is the place where fallen angels are kept until the end of the world. At the end of the world they too shall be cast into the lake of fire. Note the description of Tartarus. It is a place...
- of imprisonment where fallen angels are chained (2 Pt.2:4; Jude 6).
 - of darkness (2 Pt.2:4; Jude 6).
 - of vengeance (Jude 7).
 - of eternal fire (Jude 7).

Note: some commentators interpret the “sons of God” of Genesis 6:1-4 as angels and say that they are the only angels imprisoned in Tartarus. In this view Tartarus is thought to be the worst of all hells because the sin of Gen.6:1-4 is thought to be the worst imaginable sin. In this view some of the other angels are said to be imprisoned in the bottomless pit and still others are thought to be roaming throughout the universe working for Satan and oppressing men.

“For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment” (2 Pt.2:4).

“And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day. Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 6-7).

- c. There is the cellblock or compartment called the Abyss or the Bottomless Pit. This is the place where demons and evil spirits are kept until the end of the world. As pointed out in the previous point, some commentators think that some angels are also imprisoned in the Abyss.

“And they [evil spirits] besought him that he would not command them to go out into the deep” (Lk.8:31).

“And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit. And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came out of the smoke locusts [demons] upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power....And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon” (Rev.9:1-3, 11).

“And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast [antichrist] that ascendeth out of the bottomless pit shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them” (Rev.11:7).

“The beast [antichrist] that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is” (Rev.17:8).

“And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years” (Rev.20:1-2).

- d. There is the cellblock or compartment called Gehenna or the Lake of Fire. This is the place where all those who have rebelled against God are to be cast at the end of the world—all unbelieving men, fallen angels, demons, and the devil. At the final judgment of unbelievers, the lake of fire is the final hell to which all the wicked shall be judged and condemned, and the judgment of Gehenna is said to be eternal.

“The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; and shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.13:41-42).

“Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire” (Mt.18:8).

“And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever” (Rev.20:10).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels: for I was an hungered, and ye gave me no meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me no drink....And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:41, 46).

“And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them. And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works. And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works. And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death. And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire” (Rev.20:11-15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

2. Second, note where believers go when they leave this world. Scripture says that the place where believers go is paradise or heaven, and after the end of the world they shall become the citizens of the new heavens and earth.

- a. There is paradise or heaven, the place of perfection and glory where God is perfectly glorified, worshipped, and served. It should be noted that some scholars say that paradise is one compartment or place in God’s presence and that heaven is another compartment or place. They say that paradise was the place where all believers went before Christ, but now, since Christ, believers are much more honored and glorified. Believers are now taken to the compartment and place of heaven. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Paradise—Lk.16:23.) However, note this: the word paradise is found only three times in the New Testament.

“And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, to day shalt thou be with me in paradise” (Lk.23:43).

“I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth;) such an one caught up to the third heaven. And I knew such a man, (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth;) how that he was caught up into paradise, and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter” (2 Cor.12:2-4. Note that Paul says that the third heaven is the same as paradise, v.2, 4.)

“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God” (Rev.2:7).

Scripture is clear about where believers go since the death and resurrection of Christ: they go immediately to be with Christ. Genuine believers never taste or experience death. They are transferred into heaven, transferred quicker than the eye can blink.

“We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord” (2 Cor.5:8).

“For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better” (Ph.1:23).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:17).

- b. There is the new heavens and earth. The present heavens and earth are to be destroyed by fire and recreated. They are to be remade and created perfect without any seed of corruption whatsoever. The new heavens and earth are to be the eternal dwelling place for both Christ and believers.

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful” (Rev.21:1-5).

“For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind” (Is.65:17).

“For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the LORD, so shall your seed and your name remain” (Is.66:22).

3. Third, note exactly what this verse says: “He [Christ] went and preached unto the spirits in prison.” What spirits? Who were the spirits to whom Christ went and preached? Note that the unbelievers of Noah’s day are mentioned. But did Christ proclaim His triumph only to them? Not likely. He probably proclaimed His triumph to all those who had rebelled against God from the beginning of time.

- a. He probably proclaimed His triumph to all the unbelievers in hell. He vindicated the way of faith, proclaimed that the faith of Noah and of all other believers was victorious. Remember that Noah’s faith and life were never vindicated during his lifetime. He was mocked, abused, and rejected by the people of his day. Therefore, Christ Himself proclaimed the victory personally. The same shall be true in the end time. Scripture says that Christ shall vindicate the faith of His followers before all the enemies of God’s people. The way of faith will triumph and Christ Himself will once again go before all men and proclaim the triumph of the way of faith. He shall be exalted as Lord, to the glory of God the Father (Ph.2:9-11). (See note, pt.2—Eph.4:8-10 for more discussion.)
- b. He probably proclaimed His triumph to the fallen angels in Tartarus. All through history the fallen angels have rebelled against God and fought to keep the promised seed of the Savior from coming to earth. They have done all they can to lead men to reject God. Jesus Christ was able to stand before them and proclaim that He was the promised seed, the Savior of the world, and that the way of salvation was now provided for man.

If the angels in Tartarus are the “sons of God” mentioned in Gen.6:1-4, then they were trying to destroy the human race and to prevent the promised seed, the Savior, from ever coming. Christ would then be appearing before them to proclaim that their plan did not work and to vindicate the love and power of God to carry out His will. Christ was able to declare, “Here I am. God’s plan has triumphed; He has now fulfilled His promise of salvation through my death and resurrection.”

- c. He probably proclaimed His triumph to the demons and evil spirits in the abyss. He probably vindicated the faith of all believers who had been oppressed by the evil spirits down through the centuries.
- d. If paradise is a separate place or compartment from heaven, then Christ probably showed Himself to the Old Testament saints in paradise, proclaiming the fulfillment of their salvation. It should also be noted that some interpreters hold that He opened the door to paradise and took the Old Testament saints to heaven with Him when He arose from the dead. Remember: some of the Old Testament believers were raised and appeared to many in Jerusalem when Christ arose (Mt.27:52-53). This would have been to confirm and strengthen the faith of the early believers—to make them stronger witnesses for the Lord. By seeing their loved ones raised from the dead, they would know beyond any question that Jesus is who He claimed: the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

4. Fourth, note a significant question: if the fallen angels and demons are in the prison of hell, how then can they attack and oppress man? There are at least two possible answers.

- a. All fallen angels and demons are not in the prison of hell and its various compartments. Some are still able to roam about the universe and have access to oppress and influence men. However, if this is true, why are some imprisoned by God and some are not? Since they are all guilty of rebellion against God, it seems unlikely that God would imprison some and not others.
- b. The prison of hell is another dimension of being, a spiritual world or dimension of corruption and suffering. It is a world of so much corruption and punishment that it can be called the prison of hell. An example would be the prison of corruption and suffering that man experiences. All men, including believers even after they are saved, are imprisoned and enslaved to corruption and suffering. Perhaps angels and evil spirits live in a sphere, dimension, compartment, or section of the spiritual world that is totally corrupt and involves the torment of judgment and punishment. If hell is another dimension of being, a spiritual world of corruption and suffering, then this would explain the influence of angels and demons on this world. The spiritual world definitely has access to the physical world. Therefore, fallen angels and demons, who are spiritual beings, are able to influence and oppress men so long as men are in the physical world. The spiritual world is a spiritual dimension of being just as the physical world is a material dimension of being. The spiritual world or dimension is much greater in power; therefore, it has access to the physical dimension or world.

Another way to say the same thing is this. Within the spiritual world there are good spirits and bad spirits. Therefore, the spiritual world has a good section or compartment called heaven and a bad section or compartment called hell. Hell, which can be called a prison, has several sections or compartments. As just stated above, the spiritual world or dimension has greater power and has access to the physical world. This would explain why Satan and the fallen angels and the demons of the other world have access to influence and oppress men. This would also fit what we scientifically know today about the possibility of other dimensions of being.

DIVISION III

HOW TO HANDLE AND CONQUER SUFFERING: LIVE FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS AND NOT FOR EVIL, 3:13-4:19

C. Arm Yourself with the Mind of Christ, 4:1-6

(4:1-6) Introduction: living for Jesus Christ is not easy. When we live for Christ, really live righteous and godly lives, the unbelievers of the world reject us. They want little to do with pure righteousness and pure godliness. A godly life convicts them and demands that they live like God or else face His judgment. Therefore, the world often ridicules, mocks, abuses, and sometimes kills the genuine believer. How can the believer handle and conquer such persecution when he is so unjustly treated? There is one way: he should arm himself with the mind of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ suffered persecution and He suffered persecution to the ultimate degree. He has shown us how to handle and conquer persecution. Therefore, arm yourself with the mind of Christ.

1. It is dying to self, denying oneself, ceasing from sin (v.1).
2. It is doing God's will for the rest of one's days (v.2).
3. It is being fed up with sin, knowing that one has sinned enough (v.3).
4. It is bearing the strange look by the world (v.4-5).
5. It is following the example of those gone before (v.6).

1 (4:1) Self-Denial—Suffering: arm yourself with the mind of Christ. What does this mean? First, it means to die to self; to deny oneself. Jesus Christ denied Himself to the ultimate degree: He suffered for us in the flesh. Jesus Christ lived a pure and righteous life and men persecuted Him for it. But He bore the humiliation, ridicule, mockery, beatings, and even death in order to please God and to save men. In the flesh He did not want to suffer. He had a flesh just like ours, the flesh of humanity; therefore, His flesh wanted and desired to escape the abuse of men (cp. Heb.2:14-15). But Jesus Christ denied Himself and went ahead and did the will of God. The exhortation is strong:

“Now, you do the same thing. Arm yourself with the mind of Christ. You are in a warfare with the desires and lusts of the flesh and they are going to destroy you unless you conquer them. Therefore, you must arm yourself; you must put on the armor that will protect you. What is that armor?

⇒ The mind of Christ. The very same mind that delivered and saved Christ. Christ kept His mind and thoughts upon righteousness and salvation. Therefore, Christ gave Himself up—denied Himself—and suffered for us. We must do the same: we must keep our minds upon righteousness and salvation. We must die to self and suffer for Christ. We must become identified with Christ in His self-denial and suffering of death. We must identify with Him by denying ourselves and suffering for His name. Jesus Christ denied the desires of the flesh in order to please God and to save us. We are to do the same; we are to deny the desires of the flesh in order to please God and save men. We do this by keeping our thoughts upon the suffering and self-denial of Christ. We can conquer the flesh and its desires by arming ourselves with the mind of Christ. Therefore, our minds and thoughts are to be armed, that is, clothed, with the very armor of Christ's mind.

Note one other significant fact: the person who suffers in the flesh has “ceased from sin.” What does this mean? When the world persecutes us, we do not want to suffer and bear the judgment of ridicule, mockery, and abuse of men. Now if we give in to the fleshly desires and go along with the world, we sin and doom ourselves. But if we arm ourselves with the mind of Christ, deny our fleshly desires and suffer for Christ and for the salvation of men, then we deny sin. We do just what Christ did: we deny sin and live righteously. Our suffering for Christ has delivered us from sin and it has caused us to cease from sin. We have done the right thing, and in doing the right thing, we are delivered from sin. We are living righteously—all for Christ and His cause.

Another way to say the same thing is this: the person who suffers for Christ has chosen to identify himself with Christ. He has chosen to deny himself and his fleshly desires and to identify himself with Christ and His sufferings of death. Therefore, in suffering for Christ, the person is not sinning; he is living righteously. He is doing the right thing; he has ceased from sin. Note this: the more a person suffers for Christ, the closer he becomes to Christ; and the closer he becomes to Christ, the more the desires and lusts of the flesh (sin) lose their appeal and power over the person.

“God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:2-4).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. For he that is dead is freed from sin. Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him: knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God” (Ro.6:6-10).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:11-13).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:3).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

2 (4:2) God, Will—Believer, Life and Walk: arm yourself with the mind of Christ. What does this mean? Second, it means to do the will of God—do it for the rest of your days. Note that the phrase “lusts of men” is plural. It is the picture of the believer being pulled every which way by different persons or groups. The believer is being pulled to live like the world lives, fulfilling the desires and lusts of the flesh. Men lust after the pleasures and possessions of the world...

- | | | | |
|----------|---------------|---------------|--------------|
| • houses | • position | • drink | • partying |
| • lands | • power | • sex | • recreation |
| • wealth | • recognition | • stimulation | • excitement |

Lusting after these things is not the will of God. God’s will is for believers to live pure and righteous lives and to focus upon proclaiming the gospel of eternal life to a lost and dying world. Genuine believers do this. They do not make the lusts and desires of men the rule of their lives. The rule of their lives is God. And note the Scripture: they have committed the rest of their days to the will of God. This is what the mind of Christ means: just as Christ was totally committed to the will of God, so we are totally committed to the will of God. Just as His thoughts were consumed with God’s will, so our thoughts are consumed with God’s will. We arm ourselves with the very mind of Christ: we become consumed in mind and thought with the will of God, not with the lusts of men. We focus and concentrate upon living righteous lives and upon carrying the gospel to every person in the world (cp. v.6).

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

“Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness” (Ps.143:10).

3 (4:3) Sin: arm yourself with the mind of Christ. What does this mean? Third, it means being fed up with sin, knowing that one has sinned enough. The believer’s life is divided into two parts: his old life and his new life. Note the force of this verse: in his old life, he sinned enough. He has already followed the desires and lusts of the ungodly (Gentiles) enough. He has already worked the will of the ungodly. He has walked after them, walked just as they walk, and enough is enough. The believer is no longer to fulfill the desires of the flesh. Note that six sins in particular are mentioned.

1. Lasciviousness (aselgeiai): filthiness, indecency, shamelessness, license, without restraint. A chief characteristic of the behavior is open and shameless indecency. It means unrestrained evil thoughts and behavior. It is giving in to brutish and lustful desires, a readiness for any pleasure. It is a man who knows no restraint, a man who has sinned so much that he no longer cares what people say or think. It is something far more distasteful than just doing wrong. The man who misbehaves usually tries to hide his wrong, but a lascivious man does not care who knows about his exploits or shame. He wants; therefore he seeks to take and gratify. Decency and opinion do not matter. Initially when he began to sin, he did as all men do: he misbehaved in secret. But eventually, the sin got the best of him—to the point that he no longer cared who saw or knew. He became the subject of a master—the master of habit, of the thing itself. Men become the slaves of such things as unbridled lust, wantonness, licentiousness, outrageousness, shamelessness, insolence (Mk.7:22); wanton manners, filthy words, indecent body movements, immoral handling of males and females (Ro.13:13); public display of affection, carnality, gluttony, sexual immorality (1 Pt.4:3; 2 Pt.2:2, 18). (Cp. 2 Cor.12:21; Gal.5:19; Eph.4:19; 2 Pt.2:7.)

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly [homosexuality], and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrhah, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

2. Lusts (epithumias): the word means strong desire or craving and passion; it means that the pull of sin is sometimes very, very strong. All men know what it is to lust after things, after more and more, and never to be satisfied even after the things are secured. (See note—1 Pt.1:14; 2:11 for more discussion.)

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

3. Excess of wine or drunkenness (oinophlugiai): excess amounts of wine, drunkenness, winebibbing. It would include taking drink or drugs to affect one’s senses for lust or pleasure; becoming tipsy or intoxicated; partaking of drugs; seeking to loosen moral restraint for bodily pleasure.

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:10).

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess” (Eph.5:18).

“For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:7).

“Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise” (Pr.20:1).

“Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine” (Pr.23:29-30).

“Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them!” (Is.5:11).

“For while they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry” (Nah.1:10).

4. Revellings (komois): carousing; uncontrolled license, indulgence, and pleasure; taking part in wild parties or in drinking parties or in orgies; lying around indulging in feeding the lusts of the flesh.

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children” (2 Pt.2:13-14).

“Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:21).

“And they rose up early on the morrow, and offered burnt offerings, and brought peace offerings; and the people sat down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play” (Ex.32:6; cp. Judges 9:27; 1 Sam.30:16).

5. Banquetings (potoi): drinking parties; partying and getting drunk.

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:7).

6. Abominable idolatries (athemitois eidoloatriais): the worship of idols, whether mental or made by man’s hands; the worship of some idea of what God is like, of an image of God within a person’s mind; the giving of one’s primary devotion (time and energy) to something other than God. (See note, Idolatry—1 Cor.6:9 for detailed discussion.)

“Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry” (1 Cor.10:14).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

- 4 (4:4-5) Persecution—Judgment: arm yourself with the mind of Christ. What does this mean? Fourth, it means to bear the strange look of the world. This fact is easily understood and it is often experienced by believers. The worldly just cannot understand...

- why a genuine believer separates himself from the world and does not participate in its pleasures and in getting all of the possessions he can.
- why a genuine believer gives all he is and has to spreading the gospel around the world and meeting the desperate needs of the world.

This is particularly true if the believer participated in the pleasures and ways of the world before his conversion. Once he has been converted and begins to separate himself from his old life, his former associates begin to look at him as a strange creature, and they often begin to speak evil of him. They ridicule, mock, and withdraw from him because he no longer shares with them in the drinking parties or in the crooked and covetous ways of the world.

Note: the worldly and ungodly shall be judged. They shall give an account to Christ for all their ridicule, abuse, and persecution of believers. And Scripture is clear: Christ is ready to judge both the living and the dead.

“And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:32).

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son” (Jn.5:22).

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ” (Ro.14:10).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works” (Rev.20:12).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

“I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings” (Jer.17:10).

5 (4:6) Gospel—Preaching: arm yourself with the mind of Christ. What does this mean? Fifth, it means to follow the example of believers who have gone before. God is going to judge the world. This is the reason He has seen to it that the gospel be preached. And note: the gospel was preached to believers who have already died.

- ⇒ The gospel was preached in order to judge them while they were still men in the flesh: preached to condemn them for living after the sinful and fleshly ways of men; preached to convict them of sin, and righteousness, and judgment.
- ⇒ The gospel was preached in order to give them life, a spiritual life, a life that is just like God's life; a life that has the power to live in the spirit forever and ever, to live just like God; a life that is eternal; a life that is eternal just like God's life.

The point is this: believers who have gone on heard the gospel. They heard the judgment and condemnation of the gospel while they were living on earth, and they accepted the gospel. Therefore, they shall escape the judgment to come (v.5). They now live with God, possessing the very life of God Himself which is eternal life. They shall live forever and ever with God. It is this that we are to keep our minds upon. We are to arm ourselves with the example of those who have gone on before. We must let the gospel judge and convict us of sin, and we must repent. We must turn away from sin and turn to God. When we so respond to the gospel, we receive the very life of God Himself. We shall live with God forever and ever just like those who have gone on and now live in His presence.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain” (Ph.1:21).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

1 Live seriously & soberly 2 Live watching & praying 3 Live with fervent love a. Among brothers b. Because love covers a multitude of sins 4 Live showing hospitality & do it ungrudgingly	D. Amen.	5 Live using your gift a. Serve—ministering to one another b. Serve—as good stewards c. Serve—speaking the Word of God d. DIVISION III

D. Live Under the Shadow of History's Climax, 4:7-11

(4:7-11) Introduction—History, Climax—End Time: believers often suffer. They suffer ridicule and abuse on the job and in their community. They suffer all forms of persecution at the hands of their neighbors, fellow workers, employers, competitors, school mates, society, and civil authorities. How can the believer handle and conquer suffering? By living under the shadow of history's climax. Note verse seven: "the end of all things is at hand." All things are soon to be consummated; the climax of history is at hand. Jesus Christ is returning and He is returning soon. Our suffering is to end; we are going to be freed from all the sufferings and trials of this corruptible and evil world. And not only this: the consummation of our faith is to soon take place. We are going to see Jesus face to face and be given the glorious privilege of living with Him and serving Him forever and ever (cp. Ro.13:12; Ph.4:5; Jas.5:8; 1 Jn.2:18; Rev.1:3; 22:20).

How can we handle and conquer all the trials and sufferings of this life? By living under the climax of history. How do we live under the climax of history? By doing five things.

1. Live seriously and soberly (v.7).
2. Live watching and praying (v.7).
3. Live with fervent love (v.8).
4. Live showing hospitality and do it ungrudgingly (v.9).
5. Live using your gift (v.10-11).

1 (4:7) Sober—Believers, Life and Walk: How do we live under the climax of history? We live lives that are "sober" (sophronein). This means to be serious and to have a sound mind; to be in control of oneself and to be self-restrained; to be calm and sensible. The believer lives under the climax of history; he keeps his mind upon the return of Christ by doing three things.

1. He keeps a serious and sound mind about everything. He is not a jolly, back-slapping, frivolous type of person. He takes life seriously, knowing that man has a purpose for being on earth, that life is the most meaningful and significant possession that man has. Therefore, he measures the importance of things. He measures all things in light of eternity as well as time. He considers the future as well as the present. He knows that his life could be snatched from him overnight by some accident or by the news of some disease. The believer who keeps his mind upon the climax of history, upon the return of the Lord Jesus Christ, is a sober person; he is a serious and sound minded person.

2. He controls and restrains his desires and lusts and appetites. He never gives in to excess—to the lust for more and more. He controls sex and uses it for marriage. He controls desire for food and uses it for health. He controls the desire for material possessions and uses it to meet the needs of his family and the desperate needs of the world.

3. He is calm and sensible about all things. He is not overly shaken by trouble, problems, or circumstances that arise within his family, employment, society, or world. Family problems and world events just do not shake him. He is concerned but not shaken. He does not get overly excited with recreation, sports, or any other happening of life. He enjoys the happenings and experiences of life, but he keeps a sensible perspective of all things and gives each thing its proper place.

"For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith" (Ro.12:3).

"Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Th.5:6-9).

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world" (Tit.2:11-12).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

2 (4:7) Prayer—Watch: How do we live under the climax of history? We watch and pray. The word “watch” (nephate) means to stay sober and alert and awake at all times. This says two things.

1. The believer is to keep his mind sober, always watching. He is not to drink intoxicating beverages or take drugs or do anything else that dulls and numbs his mind. He is to keep his mind sober and alert at all times. He is not to be escaping reality; he is to be grasping reality. He is to be praying always for all things, and he cannot be praying if his mind is dull and numb because of drink and drugs.

2. The believer is to keep his mind alert, keep it from being sleepy-eyed and lazy and wandering about. The mind is always thinking; it is always upon something; it is never without thought. Therefore, the believer is to keep his mind alert and active. He is to control his thoughts even to the point of captivating every thought. Every moment that his thoughts are not engaged with the necessary activities of life, he is to focus his thoughts upon prayer. Even while carrying on the activities of life, he needs to flicker his thoughts to prayer here and there. He needs to acknowledge God in all His ways. This is what it means to watch and pray. The believer is to stay sober and alert to every opportunity to pray.

Thought 1. Imagine how much better the world would be if believers prayed all the time! How much better the world would be if God were really sought this much! If His people never left the throne of God seeking His love and power for the earth!

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them” (Lk.12:37).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober” (1 Th.5:5-6).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:7-8).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

3 (4:8) Love: How do we live under the climax of history? We live with fervent love for one another. The word “fervent” (ektenes) is an athletic word. It means to stretch and reach out; to strain and exert to the utmost degree just like an athlete in a race. It has the idea of burning and boiling and of being passionate about loving one’s brother in Christ. Note how a fervent love is far more than the human love of warm feelings and attraction. It is far more than sentimental and caring feelings for a person.

The believer is to love with the ultimate love, the love of fervency. And note: fervent love is to be put before all else. It is the most important duty of the believer. We are to strain every ounce of energy in our minds and hearts to love. This means that we love others even when they...

- hurt us
- persecute us
- oppose us
- ridicule us
- abuse us
- speak evil against us
- injure us
- mock us

The most wonderful thing happens when we love each other with a fervent love: a multitude of sins is covered. What does this mean?

- ⇒ It means that when we love, we are not hating and reacting and sinning.
- ⇒ It means that when we love, we are living with a forgiving spirit and we are forgiving others, not living with a sinful and unforgiving spirit.
- ⇒ It means that when we love, we are more likely to reach those who do evil toward us and thereby to win them to Christ and to a life of love and ministry upon the earth.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity [love], these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

“And above all these things put on charity [love], which is the bond of perfectness” (Col.3:14).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

4 (4:9) Hospitality: How do we live under the climax of history? We show hospitality and we do it ungrudgingly. The early believers had to open their homes to one another or else the church would have had difficulty surviving. The reasons are clear:

- ⇒ When believers were persecuted and forced to flee to other cities, they had no place to live.
- ⇒ When missionaries and evangelists travelled about, they needed a place to stay, and many of them were poor. The inns were just too dirty and immoral; therefore, room and board had to be provided for them.
- ⇒ When the jobs of Christians required them to travel, they needed homes to stay in because of the unsuitability of the inns.
- ⇒ In addition to this, we must always remember what William Barclay points out: there were no church buildings until about two hundred years after Christ. Therefore, the early believers had to meet for worship in the homes of willing believers. (The Letters of James and Peter, p.302.)

Hospitality was an absolute essential for the early church, and it is an absolute essential within the church today. Why? For love and care and ministry and close fellowship. It is almost impossible to maintain a loving and caring church and a dynamic ministry unless believers are fellowshiping together in their homes. In fact, Christ taught that we are to use our homes as centers of Christian love, fellowship, and outreach. This is a fact that is often unknown or ignored (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.9:4; note—10:5-6).

Note that we are to open our homes without grudging, that is, without murmuring or complaining. We are to willingly and cordially open our homes, open them joyfully expecting great things of God.

Thought 1. What would happen if we began to set up a home within every community for Christ, a home that was a center for love, fellowship, worship, and outreach. May God touch the hearts of many ministers and churches to adopt the very method laid down by Christ Himself (see outline and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.9:4; 10:5-6).

- ⇒ The bishop or minister must be given to hospitality.

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

- ⇒ All believers must open their door—even to strangers in need.

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares” (Heb.13:2).

- ⇒ All believers must use hospitality as a means to minister and use it without grumbling.

“Given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

- ⇒ Widows in particular are to use hospitality as a means to minister.

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

5 (4:10-11) Spiritual Gifts: How do we live under the climax of history? We use our gifts ministering as good stewards of God. The word “gift” (charisma) means the very special ability given to the believer by God. Note that the gift is from God; it is not a natural talent. The believer could not have attained nor secured the ability himself. It is a spiritual gift; that is, it is given by the Spirit of God for spiritual purposes. It is given to the believer so that he can fulfill his task on earth.

1. Note: believers are to use their gifts serving and ministering to one another. Every believer’s task is to use his gift to build up believers in the church and in witnessing and ministering to the world. What are the spiritual gifts that God gives to believers? The great tragedy is that most believers just do not know anything about spiritual gifts, yet God covers them in His Word. They should be diligently studied (see outline and notes—Ro.12:6-8; 1 Cor.12:8-11; Eph.4:11 for discussion).

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of the little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of the disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“Having them gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering; or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness. Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord; rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer; distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality. Bless them which persecute you: bless, and curse not. Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep" (Ro.12:6-15).

"Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit; to another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues: but all these worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will" (1 Cor.12:4-11).

"As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal.6:10).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph.4:11-12)

2. Note: the believer is to serve by being a good steward of the grace or gift of God. The steward was a slave who was given the responsibility of the master's estate, both his home and property. He was in full charge of all the affairs of the master. The believer is the steward of God; he is in full charge of the grace and gift which God has given him. No one else can look after or use the gift he has. If it is to be used, the believer has to use it. Think about this: the awesome responsibility has been placed into our hands. No one can exercise the gift of the believer except the believer himself. The only energy and effort that can arouse and use the gift is the believer's own energy and effort. If he fails to exercise and use his gift, then the gift lies dormant and is never used. He fails in his task. His mission upon earth is unfulfilled. And he has to face God as a failure in life. He failed to use the gift God had given him, failed to complete his task and mission upon earth. But note: this is not to be the case with believers. Believers are to use their gifts, and they are to be as faithful as enslaved stewards in carrying out their tasks upon earth. Two gifts in particular are mentioned. They are covered in the next two points.

"For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey" (Mt.25:14-15).

"And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come" (Lk.19:13).

"Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful" (1 Cor.4:2).

"For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor.6:20).

"O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called" (1 Tim.6:20).

"As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God" (1 Pt.4:10).

3. Believers are to serve by speaking the Word of God. This would include such gifts as teaching, preaching, exhortation, prophesy, and the other gifts that involve proclaiming the Word of God. Note: we are to speak as the oracles of God. This means two things. We are to speak for the Word of God and the Word of God alone, and we are to let God speak through us. We are to depend upon God to do the speaking, totally depend upon Him.

"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Mt.28:20).

"But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort" (1 Cor.14:3).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers" (Eph.4:11).

"Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine" (2 Tim.4:2).

"Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers" (Tit.1:9).

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee" (Tit.2:11-15).

4. Believers are to serve by ministering. This would include such gifts as hospitality, visiting, mercy, giving, and the other gifts of ministering to people. Note: the believer who ministers is to do it in the ability and strength of the Lord. This also means that we minister acknowledging that our strength and ability come from God and from Him alone.

1 PETER 4:7-11

The point is this: How can we handle and conquer suffering in this life? By living under the climax of history. By being so occupied and set upon our ministry and task upon earth that nothing deters or sidetracks us. We are to be obsessed with God's gift and call, with the mission and task He has given us. We are to be so obsessed that absolutely nothing, not even suffering and persecution, can keep us from using God's gifts and from completing our task and mission.

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of the disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come” (1 Cor.16:2).

“Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver” (2 Cor.9:7).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

5. Believers are to serve so that God may be glorified in all things through Jesus Christ. This is the sole aim of the believer. He does not preach or teach to draw attention and gain a name for himself. He proclaims God's Word in order to glorify God through Jesus Christ. He does not minister, visit, and give to secure recognition, honor, or praise. He ministers to stir praise and thanksgiving to God in the name of Jesus Christ. God and Christ alone deserve all the praise and dominion throughout the universe. No man deserves this; God alone is sovereign.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips, giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“Sing praises to the Lord, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings” (Ps.9:11).

“Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee” (Ps.67:3).

DIVISION III

HOW TO HANDLE AND CONQUER SUFFERING: LIVE FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS AND NOT FOR EVIL, 3:13-4:19

E. Stand Up Under the Fiery Trial of Persecution, 4:12-19

(4:12-19) Introduction: persecution is a strange thing. Why would God ever allow a person who believes in God, who really loves and follows God, to suffer persecution? This is the point of this passage, to discuss the question of persecution, of the fiery trial that the believer sometimes has to suffer. The believer is to stand up under the fiery trials of persecution.

1. First, do not think it strange that you suffer persecution (v.12).
2. Second, rejoice in persecution (v.13).
3. Third, know God's Spirit, that a glow of God's glory rests upon you (v.14).
4. Fourth, do not bring suffering and persecution upon yourself (v.15).
5. Fifth, do not be ashamed to suffer for being a Christian (v.16).
6. Sixth, accept persecution as the purifying judgment of God (v.17-18).
7. Seventh, keep on doing good and commit your souls to the keeping of God (v.19).

1 (4:12) Persecution—Suffering: first, do not think it strange that you are persecuted and have to suffer. (See note—1 Pt.1:12 for more discussion.) Believers often do not understand why they have to suffer. When they suffer, they are surprised and astonished, and they wonder why God does not protect them from suffering and from persecution. This is especially true when persecution is fiery, and so long as the believer is upon earth, he is going to be called upon to face fiery trials. Being a genuine believer in a corrupt world is difficult. People often oppose the believer's stand for Christ. The world just cannot understand the demands of Christ for self-denial and discipline, for purity and righteousness, and in particular His insistence that they give all they are and have to His cause. Therefore, when a person really begins to live for Christ, the world often wants little to do with him. It may be next door, in the office, in school, in the government, or a hundred other places, but the genuine Christian is often...

- avoided
- ridiculed
- mocked
- isolated
- ignored
- neglected
- overlooked
- by-passed
- cursed
- questioned
- abused
- mistreated
- slandered
- persecuted
- imprisoned
- martyred

Why does God allow the believer to suffer persecution? This verse says that God allows it for one very basic reason: to test and try and prove us. This means at least four things.

- ⇒ Persecution measures how strong our faith is. Any person's faith can be measured by how much he is willing to sacrifice and bear for it. Suffering persecution for Christ shows how strong or weak our faith really is.
- ⇒ Persecution proves our trust in God and teaches us to depend upon God more and more. The more we suffer for Christ, the more we draw near God and plead for His help and strength. This, of course, teaches us to trust and depend upon Him more and more.
- ⇒ Persecution proves and strengthens our patience and endurance. The more we are tried and persecuted, the more we endure; and the more we endure, the more we are taught to endure. Persecution strengthens our patience, endurance, perseverance, and steadfastness in Christ.
- ⇒ Persecution proves our faith and attracts others to Christ. When we suffer and are persecuted, others can see the strength of Christ in us. They see that our faith in Christ is a living reality and they are drawn to Christ, to His salvation and love and care and strength. When others see us suffer for the hope of salvation and eternal life, the Holy Spirit uses our suffering to speak to the hearts of the persecutors and observers. He convicts them, and some eventually turn to Christ. Our faith is proven to be true, and it bears fruit.

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

“If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before it hated you....If I had not come and spoken unto them, they had not had sin: but now they have no cloak for their sin” (Jn.15:18, 22).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you” (1 Jn.3:13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:12) Persecution—Suffering: the sufferings of the early Christians were just what Peter says, “fiery.” Most of us have seen pictures of believers being fed to wild lions and burned at the stake. But these were mild deaths compared to what some believers suffered. Some had boiling lead poured over their scorching bodies; others had fiery red branding irons put to the private parts of their bodies; others were wrapped in the bloody skins of wild game and chased in a hunt by man and dogs; others were soaked with flammable oil and set aflame; others had their limbs torn apart from their bodies one by one, both by machine and animals; others were subjected to the most devilish imaginations in torture chambers; and so the list goes on and on. (See Foxes Book of Martyrs for a complete discussion of the persecution of believers down through the centuries.)

William Barclay points out that there were essentially five slanders made against the church in the early days of its history (The Gospel of Matthew, Mt.5:10, p.108-109. Cp. his commentary on Revelation 2:8-11, Vol.1, p.98.)

1. Christian believers were thought to be cannibals. There were two reasons for this slander. (1) The teaching that one had to eat the flesh of Christ and drink His blood in order to have life (Jn.6:51f). (2) The practice of the Lord’s Supper and its words, “This is my body and this is my blood” (Mt.26:26; Mk.14:22; Lk.22:19; 1 Cor.11:24).

2. The church was also charged with breaking up homes and tampering with family relationships. This was because some members of families became believers and others did not (Mt.10:34-39).

3. The church was charged with heresy.

⇒ Judaism, the religion of the Jews, charged the Christians with heresy because the believers refused to put tradition before God and people, and they refused to obey the rules and regulations as prescribed by the traditional beliefs.

⇒ Other people charged believers with heresy because they refused to pay homage to Caesar and to worship the gods and goddesses of society.

4. The church was charged with lust and immorality. This was because they practiced the Agape or The Love Feast. This was simply a fellowship meal in which Christian brotherhood was shared and experienced. But because it was called “The Love Feast” and such a close bond was seen between Christians, their behavior was twisted to be immoral.

5. The church and its believers were charged with being revolutionary and with insurrection. They were thought to be traitors for three primary reasons.

a. Christians preached Jesus Christ the Lord who is to return and establish His kingdom right here upon earth.

b. Christians also preached the destruction of the world by fire.

c. Christians refused to worship Caesar, the symbol of Roman government. This was the major reason for the official persecution of Christians by the government.

Rome had conquered the world with its vast number of peoples and their different cultures, politics, beliefs, philosophies, and languages. How could one government pull and hold all the diverse people of the world together as one nation and one people?

Rome needed a symbol, an object, something that could be held up before the people that would naturally demand their loyalty. As Rome began to conquer the world, the leaders began to notice something. The conquered people eventually became settled and thankful for the peace, prosperity, and civilization that Rome brought to the world. They were glad for a one-world government. And in the eyes of the people that government was centered in the emperor. The emperor was therefore set up as the one unifying principle around which the vast empire was built and held together. A law was passed which demanded that every citizen go once a year and burn a dab of incense to the idol of Caesar and say, “Caesar is Lord.” The worshipper was then given a certificate showing that he was loyal to the empire. He was free to worship as he wished for the rest of the year.

Christians were just unable to bow and worship and say “Caesar is Lord.” Therefore, in the eyes of the government they were lawbreakers and disloyal to Rome. They were hunted down and charged with being revolutionaries and insurrectionists. The result was, of course, just what Peter says, “fiery persecution.”

2 (4:13) Persecution: second, rejoice in persecution. This is difficult to do, for no person likes to suffer abuse or pain of any sort, but especially when it is inflicted by neighbors, friends, or co-workers. No person likes to be isolated, ridiculed, bypassed, scorned, imprisoned, or called upon to face death. Therefore, it is difficult to rejoice in persecution. Nevertheless this is the exhortation of Scripture. But note: there is a way to rejoice in persecution. How? By keeping our eyes and minds upon two things.

1. When we suffer, we are sharing in Christ's sufferings. Christ was rejected by men because He lived and proclaimed the righteousness and salvation of God. Therefore, when we suffer for following Christ—for living and proclaiming the righteousness and salvation of God—we are suffering for the very same reason that Christ suffered. We are sharing in the very sufferings of Christ Himself. We are denying ourselves and suffering for God and His righteousness just as Christ did. We become identified with Christ, associated with Him in the deepest devotion possible, the very sacrifice of ourselves for the cause of God and His glorious salvation. No greater privilege could be given to a person than to become so devoted to God that he would join Christ in the sacrifice of himself to God. To be so identified with Christ, who is the very Son of God Himself, is the height of privileges, a great reason for joy and rejoicing.

“And they departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41).

“And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely: who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks. And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God: and the prisoners heard them” (Acts 16:23-25).

“As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things” (2 Cor.6:10).

“For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance” (Heb.10:34).

“If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen. Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange things happened unto you” (1 Pt.4:11-12).

2. When we suffer, we shall be greatly rewarded when Christ returns in glory. This is exactly what Scripture declares time and again. (See note, Reward—1 Pt.1:4 for discussion.)

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Mt.5:11-12).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“Persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me” (2 Tim.3:11).

“Esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward” (Heb.11:26).

3 (4:14) Persecution: third, know God's Spirit, that a glow of God's glory rests upon you. The words “reproached for...Christ” mean suffering for righteousness; being persecuted or abused or ridiculed for Christ. When a believer suffers for Christ, “the spirit of glory and of God rests upon [him].” He is given a very special closeness, a oneness with Christ that is beyond imagination and unexplainable (Acts 7:54-60). The Holy Spirit infuses him with a deep, intense consciousness of the Lord's presence. The Holy Spirit actually causes a glow of God's glory to shine in and through the believer's body. This is apparently the Shekinah glory of God's presence. It is the same glory that shone upon Stephen's face when he was martyred. It is an anointing, a consciousness so deep that it cannot be experienced apart from some severe experience of suffering.

In suffering for Christ the believer also experiences a very special identification with Christ, an identification that stirs a sense of happiness and joy within him. The Lord suffered on behalf of the believer, so now the believer suffers on behalf of the Lord. There is a sense in which the believer's sufferings fill up the sufferings of Christ and complete the sufferings of Christ for the church (see note—Col.1:24).

These two experiences—gaining a deeper consciousness of the Lord's presence and being used to complete the sufferings for the church—are gained only through suffering. They make suffering a privilege and a joy for the believer, for the believer suffers even as his Lord suffered. Note: Christ is glorified by the believer's sufferings. The believer honors Christ and proves that Christ is the Savior of the world by standing up for Him.

4 (4:15) Persecution: fourth, do not bring suffering and persecution upon yourself by breaking some law or doing some evil thing. If a person violates the laws of the land and harms others, then he deserves to suffer. This is not suffering for Christ's name. Suffering for Christ means that a person is persecuted because he is living for and proclaiming Christ. Therefore, a believer is not to bring suffering upon himself. If he is ever to suffer or be persecuted, it is to be because he is living for Christ and not because he is a lawbreaker.

⇒ The believer is not to suffer as a murderer: he is not to take the life of another person. In fact, he is never to become unjustly angry or to demean another person.

⇒ The believer is not to suffer as a thief: he is not to steal, no matter how small the item is nor how much he may need or desire it.

- ⇒ The believer is not to suffer as an evil doer, as any kind of lawbreaker or evil person.
- ⇒ The believer is not to suffer as a busybody or meddler or troublemaker in other people's affairs. No believer is to interfere in the life or affairs of anyone else—never in matters that do not concern him.

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine” (1 Tim.1:9-10).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words; for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6).

“For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

5 (4:16) Persecution: fifth, do not be ashamed to suffer for being a Christian. The name Christian was given to the early believers by unbelievers. It was a name of derision and ridicule and mockery. Early believers called themselves brothers, believers, disciples, and saints. Apparently they did not call themselves Christians until much later. It is used only three times in the New Testament:

- ⇒ in Acts 11:26 where the world called the believers at Antioch Christians.
- ⇒ in Acts 26:28 where King Agrippa uses the name in scorn.
- ⇒ here in 1 Peter 4:16.

The point is this: if a believer is being ridiculed, mocked, cursed, abused, or persecuted because he is a Christian, he is not to be ashamed. No believer should ever be ashamed of the fact that he is a Christian. He is to take a stand for Christ and stand firm. He is to glorify God by standing up for and honoring the name of Christ.

Thought 1. The world will usually ridicule and mock or withdraw from and isolate us if we do not join them in their worldly parties and ways. But Scripture is clear:

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death” (Ph.1:20).

“Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf” (1 Pt.4:16).

“And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming” (1 Jn.2:28).

“Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness” (Ps.29:2).

“O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together” (Ps.34:3).

“Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens; let thy glory be above all the earth” (Ps.57:5).

“Let them exalt him also in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the elders” (Ps.107:32).

“O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth” (Is.25:1).

6 (4:17-18) Persecution—Judgment: sixth, accept persecution as the purifying judgment of God. Note: Scripture clearly says that persecution is used by God as a judgment upon believers. Judgment, in fact, must begin at the house or church of God. What does this mean? When things are going well for the believer, he tends to feel more and more secure in himself and tends to partake of the world more and more. Perhaps he partakes of only little tidbits of the pleasure and possessions of the world, but nevertheless, he is still partaking of some worldliness. The result is that the believer does not concentrate and focus upon Christ like he should. When things are going well, he does not pray and worship nor fellowship and commune with God like he should. He becomes somewhat contaminated and polluted with a sense of self-sufficiency and worldliness. When this happens, God has to do something to awaken the believer. One thing that He often does is use persecution to arouse the believer. God can use persecution as a means of judgment, as a means to stir the believer to clean up his life and to draw closer to God. Think about it: When a believer is persecuted, to whom can he turn? There is only one sure deliverer and that is God. Therefore, persecution causes the believer to flee to God for deliverance and protection; it causes the believer to turn his attention from self and the world and to focus and concentrate upon God. Two things happen:

- ⇒ The believer forgets self and self-sufficiency and he acknowledges that he is totally dependent upon God.
- ⇒ The believer cleans up his life. He turns away from the tidbits of worldliness and focuses upon God, fellowshiping and communing with Him as God wills.

The point is this: persecution is used by God as a purifying judgment, as a means of chastening and cleaning up the life of the believer. Therefore, the believer is to stand fast against persecution knowing that God wants to use it to draw him closer and closer to Christ.

Note one other significant truth: if believers have to suffer the judgment of God while on earth—if the righteous are scarcely saved—where shall the ungodly and sinner appear? What shall be the end of the person who lives an impure and unrighteous life? Who disobeys God and rebels and rejects Him and curses His name? What kind of judgment shall they bear? The point is this: they will never be allowed to appear in God's presence; they will never be acceptable to God. Their judgment shall be terrible; they shall be eternally doomed from the presence of the Lord—forever and ever separated from Him.

“And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:46).

“But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation” (Mk.3:29).

“Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable” (Lk.3:17).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath” (Ro.2:8).

“What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death” (Ro.6:21).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:9).

“But that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing: whose end is to be burned” (Heb.6:8).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

“And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?” (1 Pt.4:18).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire” (Rev.20:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

7 (4:19) Persecution: seventh, keep on doing good and commit your souls to the keeping of God. Note that the believer's suffering is in the will of God. God is either glorifying the name of Christ or purifying the life of the believer by the suffering. Therefore, the believer must do two things:

⇒ He must keep on doing good.

⇒ He must commit the keeping of his soul to God.

The word “commit” (paratithesthosan) means to deposit; to entrust into the hands of a trusted banker or friend. God can be trusted; He will not fail the believer. He will either deliver the believer through the suffering or else bring him on home to be with Christ forever. God will save the believer's soul. The believer can trust God, trust Him far more than any friend on earth, for God never fails. God is a faithful Creator. He has created us to be with Him eternally, and His plan will not be defeated. If we commit our souls to Him, no matter what men may do to us, God will save us. He will fulfill His plan and purpose in our lives.

“And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are” (Jn.17:11).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land [Canaan, a type of heaven]; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of” (Gen.28:15).

“And the LORD commanded us to do all these statutes, to fear the LORD our God, for our good always, that he might preserve us alive, as it is at this day” (Dt.6:24).

“O love the LORD, all ye his saints: for the LORD preserveth the faithful, and plentifully rewardeth the proud doer” (Ps.31:23).

“For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off” (Ps.37:28).

“Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep” (Ps.121:4).

“He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints” (Pr.2:8).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

DIVISION IV

HOW THE CHURCH IS TO FUNCTION UNDER SUFFERING: BE FAITHFUL, 5:1-11

A. The Duties of the Elder or Minister, 5:1-4

(5:1-4) Introduction: this is a critical passage. It is a personal message from Peter to the elders and ministers of the church. Never is the church in need of leadership any more than when it is being attacked and persecuted. At such times, the ministers must stand forth and be more vigilant than ever.

1. Peter stresses his right to be heard (v.1).
2. The charge: feed the flock of God (v.2-3).
3. The result: a crown of glory (v.4).

1 (5:1) Peter: Peter stresses his right to be heard and the importance of listening to him. Peter was deeply concerned for the believers of God's church. They were being persecuted and savagely attacked by the wolves of this world. They were just like sheep under attack, sheep who needed the pastoral care of the shepherd. This is the reason Peter writes this exhortation to the leaders of the church. The top leader was the elder or minister; he was the person most responsible for the church. He was the person who needed to take the lead in facing the persecution. He was the one who needed to feed the flock of God and to lead them to stand fast for Christ. But how? How could Peter stir the elders to take the lead and do their duty? How could he arouse them to stand in the forefront against such savage persecution? By stressing his right to be heard and the importance of listening to him. Note that Peter stresses three things that should arouse all ministers to heed his exhortation.

1. Peter himself was an elder, a man called by God to be a minister to the flock of God. Therefore, Peter held the very same calling and office as all other elders. He was one with them; he could identify with them. He knew what they felt and experienced, for he faced and went through the same experiences they did. He was the elder sharing with the elders. He was one who had been where they now were and who wanted to help them. Therefore, they needed to listen and hear what he had to say. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Elder—Titus 1:5-9 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Think about this fact for a moment: we hold the very same calling and office that Peter the great apostle did, the calling of being an elder, a minister of God's flock. Just think: these words are a special message to us—all elders and ministers—from Peter himself.

2. Peter was an eye-witness to the sufferings of Christ. He actually saw...
 - the ridicule, mockery, and cursing of Christ.
 - the questioning and doubting of Christ.
 - the unbelief and rejection of Christ.
 - the denial and rebellion against the claims of Christ.
 - the accusation and charges against Christ.
 - the sufferings of Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane.
 - the beatings and abuse Christ bore in His trials.
 - the mockery and death of Christ upon the cross.

Peter knew that the sufferings of Christ were real: that Jesus Christ actually did suffer for man. He knew that man could now be saved by the sufferings of the cross if man would only believe and endure to the end. Therefore, the elders—all ministers of the gospel—need to listen and hear the exhortation of Peter.

3. Peter was to be a partaker of Jesus' glory. Remember: Peter had witnessed the transfiguration of Christ. He had seen and experienced a little taste of the glory that is to come. While writing this his heart must have beat a little faster, for he was recalling the promise of the Lord to return. And the Lord gave the promise often, always sharing that His followers would share in the glory of the resurrection and of life eternal with Him (cp. Mt.5:11-12; 13:43; 19:28-29; 25:23; Lk.6:35; 13:29; Jn.5:24-26; 5:28-29; 6:40; 8:51; 11:25-26; 12:26; 14:2-3; 17:24).

This was the reason Peter was willing to serve Christ as a minister: he had witnessed and tasted a little of the glory of heaven. He knew what lay ahead. He knew that Christ was truly the Savior of the world and that His promise of eternal glory was true. Therefore, Peter was willing to serve and bear anything, no matter how severe the suffering. He knew that the glory of heaven was worth bearing anything, no matter how terrible.

Thought 1. These three reasons state clearly why all elders—all ministers of the Lord—must listen and heed Peter's exhortation.

- ⇒ Peter was an elder himself, one who could identify with us, one who experienced just what we experience.
- ⇒ Peter was an eyewitness of the Lord's sufferings. He actually saw Christ die; therefore, he knows that the claims of Christ are true. Jesus Christ is the true Messiah, the Savior who died for our salvation.
- ⇒ Peter was a partaker of the glory that we are all to share. In the transfiguration of Christ he actually witnessed and tasted a little of the glory that is to be revealed and brought to us when Christ returns. He knew that heaven and the glory of life eternal are real.

2 (5:2-3) Minister, Duty—Church: the exhortation to ministers is direct and forceful, but as clear as it can be. "Feed the flock of God." The word "feed" (poimante) is an all inclusive word that covers all the duties of the minister. It means not only to preach and teach the Word of God, but to tend and shepherd the flock. It means to act like a shepherd, to carry out the duties of a shepherd. The duties of the shepherd are severalfold (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—1 Pt.2:25 for more discussion):

- ⇒ to feed the sheep even if he has to gather them in his arms and carry them to the pasture.
- ⇒ to guide the sheep to the pasture and away from the rough places and precipices.
- ⇒ to seek and save the sheep who get lost.
- ⇒ to protect the sheep. He is even willing to sacrifice his life for the sheep.
- ⇒ to restore the sheep who go astray and return.
- ⇒ to reward the sheep for obedience and faithfulness.
- ⇒ to keep the sheep separate from the goats.

But note this: in all the duties of tending and looking after the flock of God, we must never forget what the great Greek scholar W.E. Vine stresses:

"In the spiritual care of God's children, the feeding of the flock from the Word of God is the constant and regular necessity; it is to have the foremost place. The tending (which includes this) consists of other acts, of discipline, authority, restoration, material assistance of individuals, but they are incidental in comparison with the feeding" (Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words).

Note another significant fact: the flock is the flock of God; it is not the flock of the minister. Ministers are only undershepherds to God. But they are to be undershepherds: they are to tend the flock of God, to look after and care for the flock. The fact that God is the Chief Shepherd does not mean that the minister can leave the care of the flock up to God as though He was going to automatically care for the flock. God looks after the flock through the undershepherds whom He chooses. This is the way He shepherds. Therefore, every minister is important; every minister is to feed and tend and shepherd the flock of God. And Scripture pulls no punches about the fact: Scripture lays down exactly how the minister is to go about feeding the flock.

1. The elder or minister is to take the oversight of the flock willingly, not by force. This does not mean that a person is not to feel the constraint of God and His love in the ministry. He is. All ministers are to sense the constraint of God. Paul forcefully declared the fact:

"Necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!" (1 Cor.9:16).
"For the love of Christ constraineth us" (2 Cor.5:14).

The person should not have to be forced and coerced to minister. He should willingly feed the flock of God. The minister must willingly do the will of God. He should never have to be constrained or coerced to minister to God's people.

Thought 1. The great tragedy is this: many have been called by God into the ministry, called to feed His flock, but they refused. Why?

- ⇒ Some felt unworthy and inadequate.
- ⇒ Some felt it would cost them too much.
- ⇒ Some felt it required too much sacrifice.
- ⇒ Some did not want to bear the reproach of the ministry.
- ⇒ Some felt the demands and duties and expectations were too much to bear.

On and on the list could go, but Scripture is clear. If we have been called into the ministry by God, we must not reject His call. We must not have to be constrained and coerced to do God's will. We must willingly minister and feed the flock of God.

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven" (Mt.7:21).
For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother" (Mt.12:50).

"He also that had received two talents came and said, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents beside them. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord" (Mt.25:22-23).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God” (Acts 20:24).

“So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us” (1 Th.2:8).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:7-8).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

2. The elder or minister must take the oversight of the flock not for personal profit and gain, but of a ready mind. The Greek says that no person is to enter the ministry for “filthy lucre” (mede aischrokerdos), that is, for base gain, or for some soiled and dirty advantage. No person should ever enter the ministry...

- as a profession.
- as a means of livelihood.
- as a means to serve mankind.
- because people say he has the gifts for it.
- because people say he would make a good minister.
- because family and friends encourage him to enter the ministry.

All of these reasons usually surround a person’s entrance into the ministry. But they must never be the reasons why a person enters the ministry and cares for God’s people. The ministry is a call from God, and no person dare enter the ministry without a personal call to the ministry. But note: when the call comes, the person is to have a ready mind. He is to minister to God’s people; he is to readily feed the flock of God.

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:26-27).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God’s sake, who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting” (Lk.18:29-30).

“I have coveted no man’s silver, or gold, or apparel” (Acts 20:33).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

3. The elder or minister is to take the oversight of the flock not as a lord, but by being an example. Note: the flock of God is called God’s heritage (kleron). This is the word that was used of Israel in the Old Testament. It means that the Jews were the people who were set apart and allotted and assigned to God. They were His very special allotment and assignment, the people charged to His care and oversight. This is the picture painted of the elder or minister and the flock of God. God has given the minister a very special heritage or allotment and assignment: the minister has been assigned to feed the heritage of God, the very flock that belongs to God Himself.

Now note how the minister is to lead God’s flock. He is not to lord it over them, but he is to lead by example. The minister...

- is not to be a dictator but an example.
- is not to preach one thing and do something else.

The minister is to lead people by living for Christ. He is to preach and teach Christ, but he is to first of all live a pure and righteous life just like Christ lived. The minister is to live exactly what he preaches. He is to be a pattern and model for Christ, a pattern and model of just what God wants His people to be.

“Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men” (Mt.5:13).

“But Jesus called them to him, and saith unto them, Ye know that they which are accounted to rule over the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and their great ones exercise authority upon them. But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:42-44).

“For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you” (Jn.13:15).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps” (1 Pt.2:21).

3 (5:4) Minister—Reward: the reward for elders or ministers is glorious. It is a crown of glory that never fades away. Note two things.

1. Jesus Christ is the Chief Shepherd and He is going to appear, that is, return, to earth. The idea is that nothing will stop His return; He is going to appear and reward His ministers.

Note the title of Christ, the Chief Shepherd (archipoimenos). Alan Stibbs says that it is the “Archshepherd” or “Archbishop” who is over all and to whom we shall all give an account (The First Epistle General of Peter. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.168).

The work of Jesus as the Shepherd is fourfold.

- a. Jesus Christ is the Good Shepherd. He is called good because He risks and sacrifices His life for the sheep (Jn.10:11, 15; cp. Ps.22).
- b. Jesus Christ is the Great Shepherd. He is called great because He arose from the dead and He perfects the sheep (Heb.13:20-21).
- c. Jesus Christ is the Shepherd and Bishop of our souls. He is called the shepherd and bishop because He welcomes those who wandered off and went astray (1 Pt.2:25).
- d. Jesus Christ is the Chief Shepherd. He is called chief because He is to appear and return to earth with great glory and reward the faithful (1 Pt.5:4).

2. The reward for elders is glorious: it is to be a crown of glory. What does this mean? It means that the faithful minister shall share in the glory of heaven and be crowned with a very special portion of glory. By crown is meant rule and reign, the assignment of heavenly service for Christ. (See note—1 Pt.1:4 for a list of all rewards.)

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:2).

“Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free” (Eph.6:8).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

DIVISION IV

HOW THE CHURCH IS TO FUNCTION UNDER SUFFERING: BE FAITHFUL, 5:1-11

B. The Duties of the Believer (Part I): Humility and Subjection, 5:5-7

(5:5-7) Introduction: this is a great passage on humility. Humility is one of the very first duties of the believer. Some people shrink back when they hear the word humility mentioned. When they think of humility, they picture a shy, weak, unimpressive type of person. But this is not what God means by humility. The humility demanded by God strengthens a person and makes him one of the most striking and impressive persons around.

1. Be subject to the elders (v.5).
2. Be subject to one another and be clothed with humility (v.5).
3. Humble yourself under the mighty hand of God (v.6-7).

1 (5:5) Humility: first, be subject to the elders or ministers of the church. The word subject (hopotagete) means to submit and to place oneself under the authority and leadership of the elder or minister. The minister is the leader of the church. God has chosen and ordained the minister to be the leader among the flock of God. Therefore, his leadership is to be...

- esteemed
- recognized
- acknowledged
- honored
- followed
- obeyed
- subjected to

But remember: the minister is not to be a lord over God's heritage, but an example to the flock (v.3). He is to lead and exercise his authority by being an example, not by using authoritarian methods and bypassing people. It is this that gives balance to the minister's authority. But at the same time, the flock of God is to subject to the authority of the minister.

Note: the word younger is used to describe the laity or believers of a church. The idea being conveyed is that believers are to be as youth who sit at the feet of the parent to be fed and to learn and grow. The very term conveys the idea of subjection. This shows how important this charge is to God—so important that he terms believers the younger. However, it should be noted that some commentators say that this refers to the younger people of the church. They are to subject themselves to the older believers. But this does not seem to fit the context in light of two facts:

- ⇒ The preceding verses discuss the elder or minister of the church.
- ⇒ The rest of verse 5 exhorts all believers to be subject to one another.

The thrust seems to be that younger refers to believers. Simply put, believers are to subject themselves to the minister as the parent of the church, the parent who feeds them the Word of God and who willingly takes the oversight of their welfare (cp. v.2-3).

“That ye submit yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth” (1 Cor.16:16).

“And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you; and to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:12-13).

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine” (1 Tim.5:17).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

2 (5:5) Humility: second, be subject to one another and be clothed with humility. Not only are we to be subject to our ministers, but we are to subject ourselves to one another. Note several things.

1. The word all means every one of us, all ages, sexes, and classes (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.132). No person is exempt. All of us are to subject ourselves to all believers no matter who we may be: male or female, poor or rich, young or old.

Thought 1. Subjection takes concentration and effort. It takes a deliberate decision to subject to someone else. But this is just what Scripture is demanding. Every believer is unique to God and has a very special gift and contribution to make to the world and to the church. All believers are to subject themselves to one another, to each one's uniqueness and gift. All believers are to acknowledge, respect, and honor one another, all because of who each one is and because of the gift God has given each one of us.

2. Note: to subject to one another is not enough, not for God. Scripture says that we must also "be clothed with humility." The phrase "be clothed" (egkombosasthe) means to gird oneself with an apron. It is the picture of what Jesus did in the upper room when He girded Himself with an apron and assumed the role of a servant and washed the feet of the disciples. Jesus, the Son of God and Sovereign Majesty of the universe, actually clothed Himself with the apron of humility and served the disciples. And, when he finished, He said:

"Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am. If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet. For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you" (Jn.13:13-15).

Alan Stibbs states it well: "The exhortation here is not to feel humble, nor to pray for humility, but to act it" (The First Epistle General of Peter. "The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," p.169). The word "humility" (tapeinophrosunen) means to offer oneself as lowly and submissive; to walk in a spirit of lowliness; to present oneself as lowly; to act of low degree and low rank. It is the opposite of being high-minded, above and better than others, prideful, arrogant, superior, haughty, and self-assertive. The believer may have a high position, power, wealth, fame, and much more; but he is to carry himself in a spirit of lowliness and submission. He is to deny himself for the sake of Christ and in order to help others. (See note, Humility—1 Pt.3:8. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ph.2:3 for full discussion.)

3. Note why we are to subject to one another and to clothe ourselves with humility: because God resists the proud and gives grace to the humble (cp. Pr.3:34).

a. God resists the proud. He stands against all...

- who look down upon others.
- who feel superior to others.
- who discriminate against others.
- who are prejudiced.
- who are boastful.
- who are haughty.

God opposes the proud—all who oppress others—no matter who they are. The word "resist" (antitassetai) is a strong word. It is the picture of an army being set and arrayed against the enemy. Marvin Vincent says that "pride calls out God's armies. No wonder, therefore, that it 'goeth before destruction' " (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.1, p.668). Those who walk upon this earth exalting themselves above others shall be destroyed by God Himself.

b. God gives grace to the humble. Grace means the favor and blessings of God. The person who walks humbly before God, recognizing and acknowledging the value of others, shall receive the favor and blessings of God. He shall be highly favored and blessed—rewarded beyond all imagination. The humble person shall bear the fruit of God's spirit in this life...

- | | | |
|---------|-----------------|----------------|
| • love | • longsuffering | • faith |
| • joy | • gentleness | • meekness |
| • peace | • goodness | • self-control |

In addition, the humble person has the full assurance of being cared for and looked after by God, that God will work all things out for his good while he is on earth. And then in the future, when Christ returns, the humble person will be abundantly rewarded with the glorious privilege of living and reigning with Christ forever and ever. (See note—1 Pt.1:4 for a full list of the rewards.)

"Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls" (Mt.11:29).

"Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven" (Mt.18:3-4).

"And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted" (Mt.23:12).

"Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits" (Ro.12:16).

"Walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love" (Eph.4:1-2).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:12-13).

“Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:6).

3 (5:6-7) Humility—God, Hand of: third, humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God. There are three reasons for this.

1. God is to be feared, for He resists and stands opposed to the proud. The very thing we do not want to be is prideful. The only way to escape the judgment of God’s hand is to humble ourselves under His mighty hand. If we stand up to His hand, we shall be stricken down, but if we humble ourselves under His hand, we shall be protected and lifted up, exalted forever and ever. The picture of God’s mighty hand is a different picture for the proud and the humble:

To the humble, God’s mighty hand means...

- strength and power
- sovereignty and control
- salvation and security
- care and protection
- assurance and confidence

To the proud, God’s mighty hand means...

- strength and power
- sovereignty and control
- warning and fear
- anger and wrath
- judgment and condemnation

Note: God’s mighty hand provides two entirely different things for the humble and the proud. Right now the hand of God stands over the world in all of its strength and power and its sovereignty and control. God’s hand stands to save everyone, even the proud if he will only humble himself. But if he refuses to humble himself, then the hand of God stands for something entirely different than salvation. The mighty hand of God stands...

- as a warning and a threat
- in anger and wrath
- in judgment and condemnation

This is the reason we must humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God—to escape the terrifying judgment of God.

“My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father’s hand” (Jn.10:29).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:6).

“That all the people of the earth might know the hand of the LORD, that it is mighty: that ye might fear the LORD your God for ever” (Josh.4:24).

“Thou hast a mighty arm: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand” (Ps.89:13).

“O sing unto the LORD a new song; for he hath done marvellous things: his right hand, and his holy arm, hath gotten him the victory” (Ps.98:1).

“The voice of rejoicing and salvation is in the tabernacles of the righteous: the right hand of the LORD doeth valiantly. The right hand of the LORD is exalted: the right hand of the LORD doeth valiantly. I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the LORD” (Ps.118:15-17).

“Behold, the LORD’S hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear” (Is.59:1).

2. We should humble ourselves under God’s mighty hand because He is going to exalt the humble. Note that the humble are not yet exalted. But in due time they will be. The day is coming when they shall be exalted in all the glory and majesty of Christ. They shall be exalted to live with Christ and to rule and reign with Him and to serve Him throughout the universe. They shall be with Christ, worshipping and serving Him forever and ever—all to His glory and praise, honor, and grace. (See note—1 Pt.1:4 for more discussion.)

3. We should humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God because God cares for us; He cares about all our anxiety. Remember: the believers of Peter’s day were suffering terrible persecution. They had been forced to flee for their lives, leaving everything behind: homes, jobs, and possessions. They had only what they could carry by hand, and they fled to whatever places they felt were safe. They were, so to speak, an underground people, having to live, work, and worship in secret and to find housing and food wherever they could. They never knew when they would be discovered and forced to flee again.

The point is this: imagine the anxiety, the pressure, tension, and stress being experienced by the believers. Yet there was great help: God was available to help them. Note that the exhortation is not only clearly stated; it is a command: “cast all your care [Greek, merimna, anxiety] upon Him, for He cares for you.” God’s mighty hand will...

|-------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| • save and deliver you | • provide and protect you |
| • look after and care for you | • give you assurance and confidence |
| • strengthen and secure you | |

“So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:6).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“But thou, O God, shalt bring them down into the pit of destruction: bloody and deceitful men shall not live out half their days; but I will trust in thee” (Ps.55:23).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment? Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?...But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:25, 33).

“But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows” (Lk.12:7).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ: shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Ro.8:35-39).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:6).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

HOW THE CHURCH IS TO FUNCTION UNDER SUFFERING: BE FAITHFUL, 5:1-11

C. The Duties of the Believer (Part II): Vigilance and Resistance Against the Devil, 5:8-9

(5:8-9) Introduction: this is one of the most important duties of the believer. The believer must be vigilant in this duty or his life and testimony for Christ will be devoured and destroyed. What is the duty? Vigilance and resistance against the devil. The believer must constantly watch for and resist the devil.

1. The way: be sober; be vigilant (v.8).
2. The reason: the devil is your adversary, a roaring lion seeking to devour all whom he can (v.8).
3. The duty (v.9).

1 (5:8) Satan—Believer, Duty: how can we stand against the attacks and temptations of the devil? There is only one way: we must be sober and be vigilant.

1. First, be sober (nephate). The word means...
 - not to become intoxicated with drugs or alcohol of any kind.
 - to be sober in mind and behavior; to be controlled in all things; not given over to indulgence, license, or extravagance. It is the opposite of indulgence in anything such as eating, drinking, and recreation. It means to live a sober, solid, controlled, and strong life.

The believer has to be sober as he watches for the attacks of the devil. If he is not sober, he will not be alert enough to conquer the attacks and the temptations of the devil. The believer will be overcome and led into sin and destruction. And no believer can be alert enough to stand up against the devil if he indulges and gratifies his flesh in...

- sex
- food
- sleep
- relaxation
- pornography
- position
- clothing
- possessions
- alcohol and drugs
- recognition
- power

The believer is to live a sober and controlled life. He is to stay alert to the devil and his temptations at all times. He must be alert enough to see the temptations and attacks coming and have a mind and spirit strong enough to stand against the temptations and attacks.

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:6-8).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer” (1 Pt.4:7).

2. How do we stand against the devil? Second, be “vigilant” (gregoresate). The word means to be watchful and awake. It has the idea of being constantly aroused and on the lookout; to always be aroused, awake, and watching for the devil and his attacks. Again, if a person’s mind and body are dull, flabby, and weak from drink, drugs, overeating, slothfulness, and indulgence in sleep, recreation, pleasure, or in anything else—that person cannot be watching and waiting; he cannot be constantly aroused to look for the devil’s temptations and attacks.

The believer must be sober and serious about the devil; he must be vigilant in looking for the devil's temptations and attacks. It is the only conceivable way the believer can conquer and overcome in this life; it is the only way he can keep his life and testimony from being destroyed by the devil.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Blessed are those servants, whom the lord when he cometh shall find watching: verily I say unto you, that he shall gird himself, and make them to sit down to meat, and will come forth and serve them” (Lk.12:37).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober” (1 Th.5:5-6).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame” (Rev.16:15).

2 (5:8) Satan: Why should we stand against the attacks and temptations of the devil? There is one strong reason: he is our adversary, a roaring lion who seeks all whom he can devour. Note three points.

1. The devil is our “adversary” (antidikos). The Greek word means a legal opponent such as an opponent in a lawsuit. It also means a common day-to-day opponent like a neighbor who opposes and stands as an enemy against us. The picture is that of the devil opposing us in every conceivable way.

⇒ It is the picture of Satan standing in a law court, standing as an adversary in the court of God and accusing us before God.

⇒ It is the picture of Satan standing here on earth, standing against us and doing all he can to trip us up and to defeat and destroy us.

2. The word “devil” (diabolos) itself means slanderer or false accuser. The devil is a malicious enemy who accuses us before God and makes false charges against us. Scripture teaches that Satan is constantly bringing up our sins and transgressions before God, that he is constantly reminding God of our disobedience. But note: the accusations against us are false. The charges are not true. How can they not be true when we are sinners, for no true believer denies his sin? By Christ. We believe Christ and we have cast ourselves upon Christ, upon the glorious fact that He died for our sins. We have trusted Christ for forgiveness of sin, and when He forgives us, our sins are removed from us. We are no longer guilty of sin. Therefore, the accusations and charges of Satan against us are false. Why then would he accuse and charge us before God? Why would he remind God time and again of our sins? To hurt God, to cut the heart of God. He is the devil, the one who stands opposed to God and to all that God stands for. Eons ago, sometime before the world was ever created, he was apparently the highest angel in all of creation. God had created him as the highest spiritual being in the universe. At that time his name was Lucifer. But he did what so many men do—rebelled against God—and he led other angelic beings to rebel with him. Therefore, God judged him and cast him from his exalted position in heaven. From what we can glean from Scripture this is what happened to Satan, how he became the devil, the terrible opponent to God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Rev.12:9 for more discussion. Cp. Is.14:12-17; Ezk.28:11-19. Also see note—2 Cor.4:4.)

The point is this: the devil does all he can to cut and hurt the heart of God. Therefore, he constantly reminds God of our sins. This, of course, means that he does all he can to tempt and lead us into sin, for the more we sin the more he can hurt God.

Thought 1. Think what this means: how deeply God’s heart must be cut and hurt when we sin. We are believers, persons for whom God gave His Son to die. When God paid such a price—actually cast His wrath against His own Son because of sin—think about how much He must hurt when we sin, especially when we profess to love Him. The devil is a slanderer; he will constantly slander us before God. He will use our sin to hurt God as much as possible. This is the reason we must stand against the devil: we must protect the heart of God. We must not bring hurt and pain to our Father’s heart.

“And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him. And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night” (Rev.12:9-10).

“Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them. And the LORD said unto Satan, Whence comest thou? Then Satan answered the LORD, and said, From going to and fro in the earth and from walking up and down in it. And the LORD said unto Satan, Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a perfect and an upright man, one that feareth God, and escheweth [shuns] evil? Then Satan answered the LORD, and said, Doth Job fear God for nought? Hast not thou made a hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the work of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land. But put forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curse thee to thy face. And the LORD said unto Satan, Behold, all that he hath is in thy power; only upon himself put not forth thine hand. So Satan went forth from the presence of the LORD” (Job 1:6-12).

“And he showed me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and Satan standing at his right hand to resist him” (Zech.3:1).

3. He is as a roaring lion seeking to devour all whom he can. The roaring lion is a picture of anger, strength, fierceness, and cruelty. Satan is being pictured as angry (against God and all believers), strong, fierce, and cruel. Note: Scripture says he roams about roaring in anger and cruelty and in the roaring ferociousness of his strength, seeking someone to attack and devour. How can Satan devour a person? Jesus tells us in one of the most shocking statements ever made about man. He said that a person who does not trust and follow God as his Father is actually following the devil as his father. In other words, Jesus says that all unbelievers have the devil as their father.

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

Note that Jesus is telling us how the devil devours man. He consumes man by leading him to do four things.

- a. The devil leads us to lust. He tempts us to give in to the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life.

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

- b. The devil leads us to murder. The devil is behind the murder of human life and behind the loss of man experiencing real life here on earth. The devil destroys life and all abundant living when he can: all love, joy, peace, patience, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, discipline.

“When any one heareth the word of the kingdom, and understandeth it not, then cometh the wicked one, and catcheth away that which was sown in his heart. This is he which received seed by the wayside” (Mt.13:19).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doth Job fear God for nought? Hast not thou made a hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the work of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land. But put forth thine hand now, and touch all that he hath, and he will curse thee to thy face” (Job 1:9-11).

Jesus was saying that one thing is certain: God is not the father of murder—the devil is. They who commit murder are children of the devil. But note the real meaning of murder revealed by Jesus (see note—Mt.5:22 for discussion). Murder is...

- anger
- bitterness
- enmity
- an uncontrolled spirit
- desiring a person’s ruin
- striking out at a person
- slandering, maligning, speaking ill about a person, and destroying a person’s image (who is created in God’s image)
- envying & killing a person’s happiness

- c. The devil leads men to reject the truth.

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

“He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil” (1 Jn.3:8).

- d. The devil leads men to lie and deceive.

“But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:3-4).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his temptations also be transformed as the temptations of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

3 (5:9) Satan—Believer, Duty: What is our duty in standing against the attacks and temptations of Satan? Our duty is twofold.

1. We must resist the devil; we must resist him stedfastly in the faith. The word “resist” (antistete) means to withstand the devil; to stand firm against him; to strive and struggle against him. Note that we must be stedfast in our resistance. We must not...

- let our guard down
- slip one step
- look one time
- touch at all
- taste a single bite
- listen to one word
- think a single thought
- give way to any desire
- loosen the restraint

It might look good, taste good, and feel good, but we must resist the desire and lust and be stedfast in our resistance. We must not give in at all. Giving in one step leads to a second step, and before we know it, we have caved in and are engaged in the sin. Satan has devoured us.

Our duty is to resist the devil and to be stedfast in our resistance. Note what it is that Satan is after: the believer’s faith. He wants the believer to deny his faith, to turn away from Christ. The devil’s crowd may say...

- “Oh come on! It won’t hurt you.”
- “Do your own thing.”
- “You’re a fool if you don’t get all you can.”
- “Live, drink, and be merry.”

A person’s desires and lusts may want more and more of the possessions and pleasures of this world. The temptation will always be there to turn away from Christ and His righteousness, to turn away from one’s faith and to return to the world and its ways. Our duty is to resist the devil stedfastly in the faith, trusting God for the necessary strength to conquer the temptation.

2. The believer is to keep in mind the fact that other believers are suffering the same afflictions of the devil, and they are conquering them. When a believer refuses to go along with the world and its ways, he is misunderstood, withdrawn from, ridiculed, mocked, abused, and persecuted by unbelievers. In addition he is attacked and tempted by the devil. The believers of Peter’s day were suffering terrible attacks from Satan, attacks that had broken out in severe persecution. How do believers stand against so much? By keeping in mind that other believers are also being attacked, and many are faithfully resisting the devil. They are standing stedfast in their faith. Therefore, their example encourages us. We are not alone in the world. There are others suffering the very same afflictions of the devil as we are, and they are resisting ever so faithfully. They are standing fast for Christ. Therefore, we must let their example stir us to stedfastly resist the devil. We must use their example to arouse us to stand fast for Christ.

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:26-27).

“Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand” (Eph.6:13).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the save word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not” (Pr.1:10).

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

DIVISION IV

HOW THE CHURCH IS TO FUNCTION UNDER SUFFERING: BE FAITHFUL, 5:1-11

D. The Suffering of the Believer and God, 5:10-14

(5:10-14) Introduction: this passage concludes Peter's letter to the believers. But before he makes his concluding remarks, he has one more important subject to discuss: the suffering of the believer and God. The believer suffers greatly in this world. The believer not only bears the natural sufferings of this world that all men suffer, but he is attacked because of his faith in Christ. He is attacked by both the devil and unbelievers because he lives a righteous and godly life and proclaims the hope of salvation for all men. Most people want nothing to do with pure godliness and holiness: they want to live in the comfort and enjoyment of their desires and in the pleasures and possessions of this world. Therefore, they reject and oppose anyone who stresses pure godliness and holiness.

But the genuine believer has a great promise: God will take care of him through all the sufferings of this life. God will keep and preserve the believer and eventually take him on home to heaven. This is the great study of this passage.

1. God's great resource (v.10).
2. God's great provision (v.10).
3. God's great power (v.11).
4. The final greeting (v.12-13).
5. The conclusion: the kiss of love and peace (v.14).

1 (5:10) God—Grace—Glory: there is God's great resource. Two great resources are mentioned: His grace and His call to eternal glory. Everything that God does for the believer is because of His grace. Note that He is even called the God of all grace. Grace means favor, the favor of God. God favors us; therefore, He blesses us. Every blessing we ever receive comes from the favor of God, even life itself. All good things come from God and from His grace.

But note another fact as well: God has called us to eternal glory. He wants us in heaven with Him, free from all the sin, dirt, filth, evil, corruption, disease, and death of this world. God wants us perfected and glorified, made just like His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. God wants us living with Him forever and ever, worshipping and serving Him. He has called the believer to eternal glory. Therefore, God will do anything—do what is necessary—to save and keep the believer for glory. God has called the believer to glory; therefore, He is committed to keep and preserve the believer for glory.

This is the glorious truth: God's grace and God's call to eternal glory will keep us through all the sufferings of this life. No matter how much Satan attacks us, no matter how severe the suffering, God will keep us. He will keep us...

- because He is gracious to us; He has favored us.
- because He has called us to His eternal glory.

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Ro.8:16-17).

"But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God" (Eph.2:4-8).

"For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself" (Ph.3:20-21).

"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:19).

"When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory" (Col.3:4).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

2 (5:10) God: there is God’s great provision. How does God keep and preserve the believer? The temptations and trials of life are severe and fierce. How does God make sure the believer makes it to heaven and its eternal glory? God does four wonderful things for the believer. Note: in the Greek the emphasis is upon God Himself doing these things. God Himself becomes actively involved in taking care of the believer, in keeping and preserving and taking the believer to heaven and its glory.

1. God Himself uses the believer’s suffering to perfect the believer. The word “perfect” (katartisei) means to make fit or join together; to restore. The Greek authority Marvin Vincent says:

“The radical notion of the verb is...adjustment—the putting of all the parts into right relation and connection.

We find it used...

- “of mending the nets (Mt.4:21)
- “of restoring an erring brother (Gal.6:1)
- “of framing the body and the worlds (Heb.10:5; 11:3)
- “of the union of members in the church (1 Cor.1:10; 2 Cor.13:11)

“Out of this comes the general sense of perfecting (Mt.21:16; Lk.6:40; 1 Th.3:10).” (Word Studies In The New Testament, Vol.1, p.671.) (Note: the paragraph has been outlined for simplicity.)

God takes all of the displaced joints and broken limbs of life and uses them to adjust our character. He uses all the trials and temptations, difficulties and persecutions—all the sufferings of life—and makes us more and more like Christ. If we are truly called of God and if we truly love God, then God will take all that ever happens to us and work it out for good. He will perfect us, fit all the parts of life together and lead us to glory. This is the glorious grace and call of God to eternal glory.

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:12-13).

“Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:3-4).

“But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him” (1 Jn.2:5).

2. God Himself uses the believer’s sufferings to stablish the believer. The word “stablish” (sterixei) means to make steadfast, firm, and solid. It means to be firmly set, as firmly as if one was set in reinforced concrete. It means to be immovable. God is able to attach us to Himself to such a degree that we will be immovable, no matter how severe the attack of temptation or suffering. But remember our duty: we must resist the devil and resist him steadfastly (v.8). The promise is clear: if we resist the devil and draw near God, He will draw near us (Jas.4:7-8).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:7-8).

“To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:13).

“Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work” (2 Th.2:16-17).

“Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh” (Jas.5:8).

3. God Himself will “strengthen” (sthenosei) us. This is the only time this word is used in the New Testament. Most translators say that it means strength. It would, therefore, mean to be filled with all strength, with all the strength necessary to overcome all the trials and temptations and sufferings of life. Again, remember that it is only God Himself who can give us such enormous strength. And He will, if we will only draw near Him.

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion” (2 Tim.4:17).

4. God Himself will settle us. The word “settle” (themeliosei) means to secure as in a foundation; to ground with security. God is able to make us secure through all the sufferings of life, no matter what they are. He is able to settle and secure our nerves, thoughts, and fears—all the uneasy and unnerving emotions that disturb us. God can settle us if we will only do one thing: resist the devil and draw near to Him.

“That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded [settled] in love” (Eph.3:17).

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock” (Mt.7:24-25).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

3 (5:11) God—Power: there is God’s power. This is a doxology, an exclamation of praise. In thinking about all that God does for us, Peter just breaks forth with praise. God assures our salvation—despite all our sins, failures, shortcomings, weaknesses, and frailties—God calls us to eternal glory and secures us forever and ever. He makes us perfect, stablishes, strengthens, and settles us through all the temptations and trials and sufferings of life. He is God who possesses all power—power which no person or thing can defeat. He is God, the glorious and Sovereign Majesty of the universe; therefore, He is able to secure us. “To Him be glory and dominion for ever.”

4 (5:12-13) Believer’s, Hall of Fame: this is the final greeting of the letter of First Peter. Peter has completed his exhortation and is about to close his letter. It is now time to send greetings from those with him.

1. There was Silas. This was most likely the same Silas who served so much with Paul. He became one of the great missionaries of the early church (cp. Acts 15:40). He was an outstanding believer, a disciple and a close companion of Paul. He was apparently a Roman citizen (Acts 16:37). Silas...

- was a leader in the Jerusalem church (Acts 15:27).
- was sent to Antioch to share the great decree of salvation (Acts 15:27, 32-33).
- was a prophet (Acts 15:32).
- was a disciple of Paul, joining Paul on his second missionary journey (Acts 15:40).
- was imprisoned with Paul (Acts 16:19-40).
- remained in Berea with Timothy to minister to the believers (Acts 17:14).
- was with Paul in Corinth (Acts 18:5; 2 Cor.1:19).
- ministered with Peter, apparently after Paul’s death (1 Pt.5:12).
- is mentioned in the following New Testament books: 1 Th.1:1; 2 Th.1:1; 2 Cor.1:19; 1 Pt.5:12.

2. There was Peter himself (see Introduction, Author). Note: Peter says that he had written for the purpose of declaring the truth of the grace of God.

a. He declared the grace of God that has given us the incorruptible inheritance.

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you. Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:3-5).

b. He declared the grace of God that has saved our souls, the salvation that had been prophesied by the prophets of the Old Testament.

“Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls. Of which salvation the prophets have inquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you” (1 Pt.1:9-10).

c. He declared the grace of God that has redeemed us.

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

d. He declared the grace of God that stirs us to be born again.

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

e. He declared the grace of God that makes us the very special people of God.

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

- f. He declared the grace of God that led Christ to bear our sins in His own body on the tree.

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

- g. He declared the grace of God that led Christ to suffer for sins, to die as the just for the unjust.

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

- h. He declared the grace of God that has exalted Christ over all the powers and enemies of men.

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

- i. He declared the grace of God that gives us the great privilege of suffering and living for Christ.

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin; that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:1-2).

- j. He declared the grace of God that shall exalt us in due time.

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away....Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:4, 6).

- k. He declared the grace of God that shall keep and preserve us for eternal glory.

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

3. There was the church at Babylon, that is, Rome. Remember: the believers were being severely persecuted throughout Rome during these days. Therefore when secrecy was necessary, believers referred to Rome as Babylon. Peter was apparently in Rome while he was writing this letter. Therefore, he uses the symbolic name Babylon.

4. There was Mark. Note that Peter calls Mark his son. His first name was John. John Mark had a godly mother (Acts 12:12). Her home seemed to be the center of the Christian church (Acts 12:12). In fact, her home may have been the upper room which Jesus used for the Last Supper (Lk.22:10f) and for Pentecost (Acts 1:13). John Mark was related to Barnabas (Col.4:10) and was a disciple of Paul and Barnabas (Acts 12:25). As a young man and disciple something happened that caused his faith to weaken, and he forsook Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey (Acts 13:13; 15:38). However, he later recommitted his life to missionary service and became so staunch in his commitment that he was willing to let Paul and Barnabas argue over his seriousness and divide their team efforts over him (Acts 15:36-40). Scripture is silent about what happened after this. Mark is seen only as a man who had redeemed himself in the eyes of Paul (Col.4:10; Phile.1:24; 2 Tim.4:11). And Peter said Mark was serving with him (1 Pt.5:13). When writing to the churches of Asia Minor, Peter sent his special greetings from Mark. This points toward the churches knowing Mark personally. Mark apparently joined Peter on his missionary journeys. This is significant, for it means that much of what is in Mark's gospel probably comes from what Peter had told him. The Gospel of Mark, which Mark wrote, was probably the preaching material of Peter. (See note—Acts 13:13.) John Mark also may have been the man carrying the pitcher of water as a sign for the disciples to approach him in order to secure a room for the Passover (Lk.22:10f). He was probably the young man who fled the scene of Jesus' arrest (Mk.14:51-52).

5 (5:14) Conclusion: the conclusion stresses two significant points.

1. Peter encourages the believers to greet one another with a kiss of love. This was an act of unity and brotherhood. Believers must stand together as one in facing the trials and sufferings of the world. Therefore, by doing this one simple act, believers would be reminded that they did not stand alone, and they would be encouraged by the expression of oneness and brotherly love.

2. Peter gives them the benediction of peace (see note—1 Pt.1:2 for discussion).

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF

PETER

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Simon Peter, the Apostle (2 Pt.1:1). However, note several facts. (Much of the following is taken from Michael Green. He makes an excellent and scholarly case for Peter's authorship.) (The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. "The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries," ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1968, p.13f).

1. The author is questioned by many commentators. The questioning centers primarily around external evidence such as the following two facts.

⇒ There are no direct references to the book by the earliest Christian writers.

⇒ The first person to mention Second Peter by name was Origen who lived around the middle of the third century.

When all of the evidence is considered, however, it points to Peter being the author.

a. The earliest church fathers do have statements that are similar to parts of II Peter: I Clement (A.D. 950), II Clement (A.D. 150), Aristides (A.D. 130), Valentinus (A.D. 130), and Hippolytus (A.D. 180).

b. The discovery of Papyrus 72, dated in the third century, shows that II Peter was well known in Egypt long before. Eusebius also states that Clement of Alexandria had II Peter in his Bible and wrote a commentary on it.

2. II Peter was not fully accepted into the canon of Scripture until the middle or latter part of the fourth century. Why did it take the church so long to accept II Peter as part of the canon of Scripture? This can be explained by two facts.

a. Some letters were sent to obscure destinations and were small in content (II Peter, Jude, I, II, and III John). This kept these particular letters from becoming well-known. When they were finally circulated, the church would naturally delay in accepting them as Scripture until they could be proven to be the Word of God.

b. Peter's name was often used to try to secure acceptance of various letters circulating at that time. The church was bound to hesitate in accepting a writing which claimed to be Peter's until proof could be secured.

3. Despite the questioning of the external evidence, the internal evidence favors Peter rather convincingly.

a. The epistle says that it was written by Peter (2 Pt.1:1).

b. The author wrote a previous epistle to the same recipients (2 Pt.3:1).

c. The author was familiar with Paul's writings that had been sent to the same recipients (2 Pt.3:15-16). He also knew Paul rather intimately. He calls him "our beloved Paul" (2 Pt.3:15; cp. Gal.2:18f).

4. The author was an eyewitness of the transfiguration (2 Pt.1:16-18).

5. The author was aware of his pending death (2 Pt.1:13), and Peter's death was predicted by Christ (2 Pt.1:14; cp. Jn.21:18-19).

6. The epistle possesses no teaching that is inconsistent with the rest of Scripture. It is entirely free of personal feats to build up the author, and it is free of imaginative fables which characterized the false writings of later centuries (apocryphal books). Its content fit in much better with the early church period.

Note: the persecution that so heavily concerns First Peter had apparently now passed.

DATE: Uncertain. A.D. 61-68.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To them who have obtained...faith with us" (2 Pt.1:1). "This second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you" (2 Pt.3:1).

The epistle was apparently sent to the same believers who had received I Peter. Remember: they were scattered all throughout Asia. It was also probably written from the same place, Rome. (See Introductory Notes, To Whom Written—I Peter.)

PURPOSE: To combat and warn the church against false teachers and false doctrine.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. II Peter is "A General Epistle." That is, it is not written to a specific church or individual, but rather, it is written to all Christian believers.

2. II Peter is "An Epistle Written to Combat False Teaching." From its earliest days, the church had been born in controversy.

⇒ At first, it was the judaizing or legalistic problem which arose at Antioch (see Acts 15:1f).

⇒ Then there was the denial of the literal resurrection of the body by some in the Corinthian church (1 Cor.15:1f).

⇒ There was also arising the corruptible beginnings of antinomianism and gnosticism. These false doctrines were appearing all throughout the Roman empire. They were using God's grace as an excuse for sinning (see Colossians, Introductory Notes, Purpose, and Master Subject Index). The epistles of II Peter, I, II, and III John, and Jude were written to combat such errors as these.

3. II Peter is "An Epistle Stressing the Importance of Knowledge." The words know and knowledge are used about twelve times. Knowing the truth is the answer to false teaching.

4. II Peter is "An Epistle Verifying the Inspiration of the Scripture." Peter says "No prophecy of the Scripture is of any private interpretation [explanation or illumination]. For the prophecy came not of old time by the will of man, but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (2 Pt.1:20-21). Peter's statement that Paul's writings were Scripture shows that the canon was already being formed by the early church even while the early apostles were still alive (2 Pt.3:16; cp. 2 Tim.2:15; 3:16). The word canon simply means a collection of the writings considered to be inspired and breathed forth by God.

5. II Peter is "An Epistle of the Missionary Apostle to the Jews." Peter was given the primary responsibility of reaching the circumcision throughout the world. He was the apostle to the Jews (Gal.2:7-8, 11-21). (See Author, point 10.)

DIVISION I

THE GREAT SALVATION OF GOD, 1:1-21

A. The Great Gift of Christ the Messiah: Salvation, 1:1-4

(1:1-4) Introduction: this is a great passage of Scripture. In the mind of the author it is one of the greatest in all of Scripture. It is a passage that takes Jesus Christ and lifts Him up as the great Messiah, the Savior of the world who can meet the desperate needs of man. Here is Christ and here is the great gift of Christ the Messiah, the great gift of salvation.

1. He is the Messiah worthy of total devotion (v.1).
2. He is the Messiah of faith (v.1).
3. He is the Messiah of grace and peace (v.2).
4. He is the Messiah of life and godliness (v.3).
5. He is the Messiah of the divine nature (v.4).

1 (1:1) Servant—Apostle: Jesus Christ is the Messiah worthy of total devotion. This is seen in the two claims made by Peter.

1. Peter calls himself the servant of Christ. The word servant (doulos) means far more than just a servant. It means a slave totally possessed by the master. It is a bond-servant bound by law to a master.

A look at the slave market of Peter's day shows more clearly what Peter meant when he said he was a "slave of Jesus Christ."

- a. The slave was owned by his master; he was totally possessed by his master. This is what Peter meant. Peter was purchased and possessed by Christ. Christ had looked upon him and had seen his degraded and needful condition. And when Christ looked, the most wonderful thing happened: Christ loved him and bought him; therefore, he was now the possession of Christ.
- b. The slave existed for his master and he had no other reason for existence. He had no personal rights whatsoever. The same was true with Peter: he existed only for Christ. His rights were the rights of Christ only.
- c. The slave served his master and he existed only for the purpose of service. He was at the master's disposal any hour of the day. So it was with Peter: he lived only to serve Christ—hour by hour and day by day.
- d. The slave's will belonged to his master. He was allowed no will and no ambition other than the will and ambition of the master. He was completely subservient to the Master and owed total obedience to the will of the master. Peter belonged to Christ.
- e. There is a fifth and most precious thing that Peter meant by "a slave of Jesus Christ." He meant that he had the highest and most honored and kingly profession in all the world. Men of God, the greatest men of history, have always been called the servants of God. It was the highest title of honor. The believer's slavery to Jesus Christ is no cringing, cowardly, shameful subjection. It is the position of honor—the honor that bestows upon a man the privileges and responsibilities of serving the King of kings and Lord of lords.
 - ⇒ Moses was the slave of God (Dt.34:5; Ps.105:26; Mal.4:4).
 - ⇒ Joshua was the slave of God (Josh.24:9).
 - ⇒ David was the slave of God (2 Sam.3:18; Ps.78:70).
 - ⇒ Peter was the slave of Jesus Christ (Ro.1:1; Ph.1:1; Tit.1:1; 2 Pt.1:1).
 - ⇒ James was the slave of God (Jas.1:1).
 - ⇒ Jude was the slave of God (Jude 1).
 - ⇒ The prophets were the slaves of God (Amos 3:7; Jer.7:25).
 - ⇒ Christian believers are said to be the slaves of Jesus Christ (Acts 2:18; 1 Cor.7:22; Eph.6:6; Col.4:12; 2 Tim.2:24).

“If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour” (Jn.12:26; cp. Ro.12:1; 1 Cor.15:58).

“[Laboring] not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:6-7).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“And ye shall serve the Lord your God” (Ex.23:25).

“What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

“Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing” (Ps.100:2).

2. Peter calls himself an apostle of Jesus Christ. The word apostle (apostolos) means either a person who is sent out or a person who is sent forth. An apostle is a representative, an ambassador, a person who is sent out into one country to represent another country. Three things are true of the apostle: (1) he belongs to the One who has sent him out; (2) he is commissioned to be sent out; and (3) he possesses all the authority and power of the One who has sent him out.

Note three forceful lessons.

- a. Peter said that he was called to be an apostle. He was not in the ministry because he...
 - chose to be.
 - had the ability.
 - had been encouraged by others to choose the ministerial profession.
 - enjoyed working with people.

He was an apostle, a minister of the gospel for one reason only: God had called him.

“But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I [the Lord] have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee” (Acts 26:16).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Now the Lord had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy Father’s house, unto a land that I will show thee” (Gen.12:1).

“Come now therefore, and I will send thee [Moses] unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt” (Ex.3:10).

“And the Lord looked upon him [Gideon], and said, Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites: have not I sent thee?” (Judg.6:14).

“Also I [Isaiah] heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me” (Is.6:8).

- b. Peter had heard and answered God’s call. God did not override Peter’s will—He wanted Peter in the ministry, so He called Peter. But note: it was up to Peter to hear and respond.
- c. Peter was called to be an apostle, that is, to be a minister. He was not called to occupy a position of authority or to be honored by men.

Thought 1. These two points stress one thing: Peter thought that Jesus Christ was worthy of total devotion. Peter made a decision to deliberately and wholly give himself to Jesus Christ. He centered his whole life around Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ was the Messiah, the Savior of the world who had been promised by God from the beginning of time, the Messiah who was worthy of total devotion.

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Levi [Matthew], sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me. And he left all, rose up, and followed him” (Lk.5:27-28).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:26-27).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God’s sake, who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting” (Lk.18:29-30).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

2 (1:1) Faith—Righteousness: Jesus Christ is the Messiah of faith; that is, He is the Messiah who has made us acceptable to God by faith.

1. The faith of Christ is a most precious faith. The word “precious” (time) means of great honor and price; of great value and privilege. The faith of Jesus Christ is precious because it makes us acceptable to God. It ushers us into the very presence of God Himself.

Note this: the faith of Jesus Christ is the same precious faith that is given to all believers. The Greek word that Peter uses for “precious” (isotimos) is an unusual word. This is the only time it is used in the New Testament. It is really a double word. The isos means equal, and time means honor (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.147). Therefore, by precious faith is meant like faith, a faith that is like everyone else’s faith. This is a most wonderful thing. It means that we are all given the very same faith; we are all equal in value and honor and privilege before God. God does not discriminate; He does not have favorites. God loves us all equally and He values and honors us all as much as He did Peter and James and John and Paul.

Thought 1. This means that the faith of Jesus Christ eliminates prejudice and discrimination. We all stand on an equal footing before God...

- the rich and the poor
- the upper class and the lower class
- the well fed and the hungry
- the free person and the prisoner
- the religionists and the heathen
- the male and the female

If a person has obtained the precious faith of Jesus Christ, then he is acceptable to God no matter who he is. He receives the highest and most valued privilege in the whole universe: to live in the presence of God forever and ever.

2. The faith of Jesus Christ is obtained not earned. The word “obtained” (lachousin) means to secure by lot; to receive by allotment; to be given a share or a portion. No person deserves the precious faith of Jesus Christ. No person can work and earn it. It is a gift of God, a free gift that is given to every person who believes in Jesus Christ.

3. The faith of Jesus Christ comes through the righteousness of Christ. What is the righteousness of Christ? It is two things.

a. The righteousness of Christ means that He is the righteous Man, the Perfect and Ideal Man who can stand for and cover all men. Man is not perfect, but imperfect and unrighteous. Therefore, man by his very nature cannot live in God’s presence, for God is perfect and the very embodiment of righteousness. How then can man ever become acceptable to God and be allowed to live in God’s presence? Jesus Christ is the answer, for He is the righteousness of God. That is, God sent Jesus Christ to earth to live the perfect, ideal, and sinless life. Jesus Christ never sinned, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for the righteousness of every man.

When a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man’s faith and counts it (his faith) as righteousness. The man is not righteous; he and everyone else knows it. But God counts his faith and belief as righteousness. Why would God do such an incredible thing? Because God loves His Son that much and God loves man that much. God loves so much that He will take any man who honors His Son by believing in Him and count that man’s faith as though it were the real thing: righteousness. Very simply stated: Jesus Christ is the righteousness of God. He is the only way a man can become righteous and acceptable to God.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

b. The righteousness of Christ means that He bore the sins of men and died for them. It is not enough for the ideal and perfect righteousness to exist, for we are already sinners. We have already transgressed God’s law; we have already rebelled against God and gone our own way in life, living just like we want instead of following God. Therefore, the penalty for rebellion and treason—for sinning against God—has to be paid.

We have to die or else someone else has to die for us. That someone has to be the ideal and perfect Man, for only perfection is acceptable to God. This is just what Jesus Christ did; He died for our sins. He bore the penalty and punishment for our sins. And it was acceptable to God because He was the Ideal and Perfect Man. His death stands for and covers our sins and death. Therefore, we are completely and totally free of sin. We stand before God as righteous. Now we are not righteous; we of all people know that. But God counts us righteous by the death of Christ. He credits the death of Christ to our sins. He counts us free of sin—credits us as being righteous by the death of Christ.

When does God do this? When we believe in Jesus Christ. When we really believe, God counts the death of Jesus Christ for our sins; therefore, He is able to count us free from sin, as righteous before Him. This is the righteousness of Jesus Christ; this is the way we become acceptable to God.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:8-9).

“Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens; who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people’s: for this he did once, when he offered up himself” (Heb.7:26-27).

“For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:13-14).

“Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others; for then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:25-26).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God....For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified” (Heb.10:12, 14).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:4-6).

3 (1:2) Grace—Peace—Knowledge: Jesus Christ is the Messiah of grace and peace. No greater gifts exist than grace and peace. Note three things.

1. Grace (charis) means the undeserved favor and blessings of God. (See notes—Ro.4:16; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Tit.2:11-15.) The word undeserved is the key to understanding grace. Man does not deserve God’s favor; he cannot earn God’s approval and blessings. God is too high and man is too low for man to deserve anything from God. Man is imperfect and God is perfect; therefore, man cannot expect anything from God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16 for more discussion.) Man has reacted against God too much. Man has...

- rejected God
- rebelled against God
- ignored God
- neglected God
- cursed God
- sinned against God
- disobeyed God
- denied God
- questioned God

Man deserves nothing from God except judgment, condemnation, and punishment. But God is love—perfect and absolute love. Therefore, God makes it possible for man to experience His grace, in particular the favor and blessing of salvation which is in His Son, Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1 Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for more discussion.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

2. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and woven together. It also means to be bound, joined, and woven together with others and with God. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to have a sense, a consciousness, a knowledge that God will...

- provide
- guide
- strengthen
- sustain
- deliver
- encourage
- save
- give real life both now and forever

A person can experience true peace only as he comes to know Jesus Christ. Only Christ can bring peace to the human heart, the kind of peace that brings deliverance and assurance to the human soul.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled; neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord, only makest me dwell in safety” (Ps.4:8).

3. Note that Jesus Christ multiplies grace and peace. He gives an abundance of grace and peace; He causes grace and peace to overflow in the life of the genuine believer. There is never to be a lack of grace and peace in the life of any true believer. Every believer is to always be overflowing with joy, with the favor and blessings of God and with peace within his own spirit and with God and others.

How can a person always be overflowing with the grace and peace of God? Through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord. We have to know God in order to receive the grace and peace of God. What does it mean to know God? The word “knowledge” (epignosei) means “full, personal, precise, and correct” knowledge (The Amplified New Testament).

⇒ It means to know Christ personally; to know Him by experience. It means to know Christ just like we know any person: by walking and talking with Him.

⇒ It means to know Christ fully; to know Him in all of His person, exactly who He is. It means to be precise and correct in what we know about Him.

The point is this: if a person knows Christ fully and personally, precisely and correctly, then he knows Christ as Savior and Lord. He knows Christ as the Son of God who was sent to earth by the Father to save the world. The person does not look upon Christ as a mere man, as a great religious leader who founded the religion of Christianity. The person looks upon Jesus Christ as the Savior and Lord of men, and he knows Christ personally. He experiences Christ: he comes to Christ and asks Christ to save him and to be the Lord of his life. He gives all that he is and has to Christ, surrendering totally to Christ as his Lord. It is the person who so surrenders to Christ that comes to know Christ, and day by day, the person experiences the overflow of the Lord’s grace and peace.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

4 (1:3) Life—Godliness: Jesus Christ is the Messiah of life and godliness. What is meant by life and godliness? It means all things that are necessary for life.

First, life is the energy, the force, and the power of being. The life which Jesus Christ gives is a life of energy, force, and power.

⇒ The life given by Christ is the very opposite of perishing. It is deliverance from condemnation and death. It is the stopping or cessation of aging, deterioration, decay, and corruption. It is a life that is eternal, that lasts forever and ever. It is the very life of God Himself (Jn.17:3).

⇒ The life given by Christ is an abundant life, a life of the very highest quality, a life that overflows with all the good things of life: love, joy, peace, goodness, satisfaction, and security.

Whatever is necessary for life is given by Christ. He longs for man to live, to have an abundance of life; therefore He gives all things that will make a person overflow with life. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Life—Jn. 1:4, DEEPER STUDY # 1—10:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—17:2-3 for more discussion.)

Second, godliness is living like God and being a godly person. It is living life like it should be lived. God gave man life; therefore, God knows what life should be, and above all things life should be godly just like God. The word “godliness” (eusebeian) actually means to live in the reverence and awe of God; to be so conscious of God’s presence that one lives just as God would live if He were walking upon earth. It means to live seeking to be like God; to seek to possess the very character, nature, and behavior of God. The man of God follows and runs after godliness. He seeks to gain a consciousness of God’s presence—a consciousness so intense that he actually lives as God would live if He were on earth.

Note: godliness means to be Christlike. Godliness is Christlikeness: it is living upon earth just as Christ lived.

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

Now note the verse. Two significant points are made, points that are absolutely essential for us to heed if we wish to have real life.

1. Note where life comes from. It does not come from man himself; life is not in and of man himself. Man dies. He is a dying creature, always in the process of dying, always moving onward toward the grave. Man is as good as dead. And in the process of dying, he experiences all kinds of trials and sufferings such as sickness, disease, accident, emptiness, loneliness, corruption, evil, shortcomings, failures, lies, thefts, killings, wars, and death after death of friends and loved ones.

Man has anything but life; at best he only exists for a few years that are ever so short and frail. Where then can man find life? Who has the power to stop the process of death and to deliver us from death? No man has such power. But note this verse: there is “divine power,” the very power of Christ Himself that can stop death and give us life—life abundant, life now and life eternally. Jesus Christ is the Son of God who came to earth...

- to secure the perfect and ideal life for us.
- to die for our sins in order to free us from sin so that we could stand sinless before God, perfectly righteous in the eyes of God.

This is the power of Christ, the power to save us from death and to give us life and godliness.

2. Note how we receive life and godliness: by the knowledge of Christ. We must know Christ personally. We must know Him as our Savior and Lord, surrendering all that we are and have to him. We must be willing to walk and share with Him all day every day, serving Him as the Lord of our lives. We must be willing to know Him by living a godly life, by actually experiencing the life of God as we walk day by day.

Note: Christ has called us to glory and virtue. This is the very life to which He has called us: a life of glory and moral excellence both here on this earth and in heaven. We are to live pure and righteous lives, glorious lives; and when we do, He promises to give us a place in the glory and perfection of heaven. Note that this may read in the Greek: “Christ has called us by His glory and virtue.” That is, it is His glory and virtue (moral excellence) that attracts man and pulls man to seek life and godliness in Him.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my Word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain” (Ph.1:21).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

5 (1:4) Divine Nature—New Man—New Creation—Corruption: Jesus Christ is the Messiah of the divine nature or new man. Note: exceeding great and precious promises have been given to us. The promises are those that have to do with the divine nature of God, the divine nature that is planted within the heart of a person who believes in Jesus Christ. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, God sends His Spirit, the Holy Spirit, to indwell the heart of the believer. God places within the heart of the believer His own divine nature and makes him a new creature and a new man. The believer is actually born again spiritually. He actually partakes of the divine nature of God through the presence of God’s Holy Spirit.

And note what happens: the believer escapes the corruption that is in the world. He lives eternally, for the divine nature of God can never die. When it is time for the believer to depart this life, quicker than the blink of an eye, his spirit is transferred into heaven, into the very presence of God Himself. Why? Because of the divine presence of God: the believer is a new creature, a new man, a person in whom the very Spirit of God Himself dwells; and the Spirit of God cannot die. The person thereby escapes the corruption of this world. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Corruption—2 Pt.1:4 for more discussion.)

⇒ The believer is born again.

2 PETER 1:1-4

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother’s womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:3-6).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

⇒ The believer is made into a new creature.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

⇒ The believer is made into a new man.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

⇒ The believer is given the divine nature of God.

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:4) Sin—Death—Corruption: the body of man has within it the principle or the seed of corruption, and the world in which man lives has within it the principle or the seed of corruption. Therefore, man deteriorates and decays—he dies and returns to dust.

This seed of corruption is caused by sin. Sin is selfishness or lust. Sin is acting against God, against others, and even against oneself.

When a man offends—when he acts selfishly, does what he wants instead of what he should do—when he acts against instead of for—he energizes and sets in motion the process of corruption. Man’s selfishness corrupts himself and the world in which he lives—including the ground and the air and the water of the earth (Ro.8:21). His selfishness corrupts the relationship between himself and God and between himself and other persons and even the relationship between other persons. His selfishness and sin corrupt his own body (1 Cor.15:42). It may be nothing more than eating too much or failing to stay physically fit, but his selfishness and sin set in motion the process of corruption. And the process of corruption just continues and continues to eat and eat away at life. Sin, that is, selfishness, has caused and is causing death, both physically and spiritually. DIVISION I

B. The Great Things of the Believer's Life, 1:5-15

(1:5-15) Introduction: this is one of the most important passages in all of Scripture for the believer, a passage that must be studied and heeded time and again. It covers the great things (qualities and virtues) which are to be in the life of the believer. The great importance of these things is seen in three facts that are forcefully stressed by Peter.

First, a person is to give all diligence, to add “these things” to his faith and life. As Scripture says, the believer “is to work out his own salvation” (Ph.2:12).

Second, the great power of “these things” stresses their importance. These things work within the life of the believer to meet five desperate needs of man, five things for which the soul of the believer aches and longs. Glancing at the five points of verses 8-11 in the outline of the Scripture will again show the great importance of these things in the believer's life.

Third, Peter's heavy stress upon the importance of “these things” is phenomenal.

⇒ Note v.12: Peter says that he is going to always preach these things despite the fact that the believer already knows them. But this is not all.

⇒ Note v.13: Peter says that as long as he is living, he is going to stir up the believers by reminding them of these things. But this is not all.

⇒ Note v.14-15: Peter says that these things are so important that he is going to see to it that the believers are reminded of them even after his death.

What more could Peter say?

Another way to look at this passage is this: verses 1-4 are God's part in salvation. God's part includes...

- faith and righteousness (v.1).
- grace and peace (v.2).
- life and godliness and all things that pertain to life and godliness (v.3).
- the divine nature or new man (v.4).

Note that God's part in salvation involves seven things. Now note that man's part in salvation involves seven things (v.5-7). The things of the believer's life are of critical importance.

1. The charge to add these things (v.5-7).
2. The great power of these things (v.8-11).
3. The great importance of these things (v.12-15).

1 (1:5-7) Believer, Duty of: there is the charge to add these things to one's life. The word “add” (epichoregein) means in addition to God's great salvation—right along side of what God has done—add these things. And give all diligence to adding them. Hasten, jump, act now to add them; don't wait. Be energetic and earnest, strenuously work to add these things to your faith and salvation.

1. Add “virtue” (aretē): moral excellence and goodness of character; moral strength and moral courage. It means manliness; being an excellent person in life, a real man or a real woman in life; living life just like one should, in the most excellent way. It means always choosing the excellent way.

“Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more. For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus. For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication: that every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence [evil passion], even as the Gentiles which know not God: that no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified. For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness” (1 Th.4:1-7).

“And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you; that ye may walk honestly toward them that are without, and that ye may have lack of nothing” (1 Th.4:11-12).

2. Add “knowledge” (gnōsin): practical intelligence, practical wisdom, practical insight. It means knowing what to do in every situation and doing it; it is practical, day to day knowledge that sees situations and knows how to handle them. It is seeing the trials and temptations of life and knowing what to do with them and doing it.

Remember the charge: we must add knowledge to our faith. We must give diligent attention to the situations of life and figure out how to conquer them.

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed” (Jn.8:31).

“And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another” (Ro.15:14).

“That in every thing ye are enriched by him, in all utterance, and in all knowledge” (1 Cor.1:5).

“In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge” (Col.2:3).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation [behavior, conduct] his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding; if thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God” (Pr.2:3-5).

“The heart of him that hath understanding seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of fools feedeth on foolishness” (Pr.15:14).

“Buy the truth, and sell it not; also wisdom, and instruction, and understanding” (Pr.23:23).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

3. Add “temperance” (ēgkrateian): to master and control the body or the flesh with all of its lusts. It means self-control, the master of desire, appetite and passion, especially sensual urges and cravings. It means to be strong and controlled and restrained. It means to stand against the lust of the flesh and the lust of the eye and the pride of life (1 Jn.2:15-16).

⇒ The believer is to know that self-control is of God, a fruit of the Holy Spirit.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ The believer is to proclaim self-control to the lost.

“And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee” (Acts 24:25).

⇒ The believer is to control his sexual desires.

“But if they cannot contain [control], let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn” (1 Cor.7:9).

⇒ The believer is to strenuously exercise self-control, just as an athlete controls himself.

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

⇒ The believer is to grow in self-control.

“And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness” (2 Pt.1:6).

⇒ The aged believer is especially to be on guard to control himself.

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience” (Tit.2:2).

4. Add “patience” (hupomonein): endurance, fortitude, steadfastness, constancy, perseverance. The word is not passive; it is active. It is not the spirit that just sits back and puts up with the trials of life, taking whatever may come. Rather it is the spirit that stands up and faces life’s trials, that actively goes about conquering and overcoming them. When trials confront a man who is truly justified, he is stirred to arise and face the trials head on. He immediately sets out to conquer and overcome them. He knows that God is allowing the trials in order to teach him more and more patience (endurance).

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:2-4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

5. Add “godliness” (eusebeian): see note, Godliness—2 Pt.1:3 for discussion.

6. Add “brotherly kindness” (philadelphian): the very special love that exists between brothers and sisters within a loving family, brothers and sisters who truly cherish one another. It is the kind of love...

- that binds each other together as a family, as a brotherly clan.
- that binds each other in an unbreakable union.
- that holds each other ever so dearly within the heart.
- that knows deep affection for each other.
- that nourishes and nurtures each other.
- that shows concern and looks after the welfare of each other.
- that joins hands with each other in a common purpose under one father (Leon Morris. The Epistles of Paul to the Thessalonians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentary,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1956, p.80).

How can people possibly love one another like this when they are not true blood brothers and sisters? Here is how. The Greek word “brother” (adelphos) means from the same womb. The word used for love is phileo which means deep-seated affection and care, deep and warm feelings within the heart. It is the kind of love that holds a person near and dear to one’s heart. Now note: the two Greek words are combined together by the writer to convey what he means by brotherly love.

⇒ People who have brotherly love have come from the same womb, that is, from the same source. They have been born again by the Spirit of God through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. When they receive this new birth, God gives them a new spirit—a spirit that melts and binds their hearts and lives in love for all the family of God.

Believers may not even know each other. They may even be from different parts of the world, but there is a brotherly love between them because they have been given a new birth and a new spirit of love by God. They are brothers and sisters in the family of God—the family of those who truly believe in God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—the family who has received a new spirit that binds them together in brotherly love. This new spirit, of course, comes from the Holy Spirit of God Himself. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Fellowship—Acts 2:42 for more discussion.)

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“These things I command you, that ye love one another” (Jn.15:17).

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love” (Gal.5:22).

“Let brotherly love continue” (Heb.13:1).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth. And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him” (1 Jn.3:18-19).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

7. Add “love” (agapen): the love of the mind, of the reason, of the will. It is the agape love of God, the love that goes so far...

- that it loves regardless of feelings—whether a person feels like loving or not.
- that it loves a person even if the person does not deserve to be loved.
- that it actually loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Note four significant points about agape love.

a. Selfless or agape love is the love of God, the very love possessed by God Himself. It is the love demonstrated in the cross of Christ.

⇒ It is the love of God for the ungodly.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

⇒ It is the love of God for unworthy sinners.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

⇒ It is the love of God for undeserving enemies.

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

b. Selfless or agape love is a gift of God. It can be experienced only if a person knows God personally—only if a person has received the love of God, that is, Christ Jesus, into his heart and life. Agape love has to be shed abroad (poured out, flooded, spread about) by the Spirit of God within the heart of a person.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

c. Selfless or agape love is the greatest thing in all of life according to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:29-31).

d. Selfless or agape love is the greatest possession and gift in human life according to the Scripture (1 Cor.13:1-13).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity [love], these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

2 (1:8-11) Believer, Life and Walk—Salvation, Power of—Faith, Power of: there is the great power of these things.

Note how the great needs of man’s heart and life are covered in these verses:

- ⇒ Man is barren and unfruitful in life (v.8).
- ⇒ Man is blind, cannot see the purpose, meaning, and significance of life and cannot see how to be absolutely sure of tomorrow, much less the distant future (v.9).
- ⇒ Man forgets, does not know how to deal with sin. Or if he knows how—knows the gospel—he is unwilling to give up his sin (v.9).
- ⇒ Man does not know how to keep from falling in life, from failing and coming short. He does not know how to meet his full potential; how to control the problems of life; to bring love, peace, and joy to himself and his loved ones and the world (v.10).
- ⇒ Man does not know how to gain and be perfectly assured of eternal life; he does not know how to receive an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of Christ (v.11).

But note: all these needs can be met perfectly. They are met if these things of verses 7-8 are added to our lives in abundance. The word “abound” (pleonazonta) means to increase and grow; to overflow and be filled with more and more, ever learning how to increase these things in our lives. In other words, do not be satisfied...

- with your life as it is.
- with present growth.
- with staying where you are spiritually.
- with just knowing Jesus.
- with doing no more than what you are.

To have the needs of our hearts and lives met, we have to continue on in these things. We have to grow and grow in them; give them utmost attention; go after them ever so diligently, never slackening. If we abound in them, then the needs of our hearts and lives will be met to the fullest.

1. We will not be barren nor unfruitful.

⇒ The word “barren” (argous) means idle and slothful; being empty and useless. It is the very opposite of being fruitful and productive in life. Therefore if we do these things, if we really work at our salvation, we will not live a barren, dry life. We will not be unfruitful nor live a life that is empty and useless, idle and slothful. On the contrary, we will live a life that flows with nourishment and that bears the ripest of fruit: love, joy, and peace (cp. Gal.5:22-23).

But note the source of such a life: the source is our Lord Jesus Christ. We must know Him and grow in the knowledge of Him. The knowledge of Him must be our aim and purpose in life. Only as we know Him can we overcome the barrenness and unfruitfulness of life. He and He alone can give us real life. Therefore, we must do these things—really work at our salvation—really seek fellowship and communion with Christ moment by moment and day by day—in order not to be barren or unfruitful in the knowledge of Him. We must learn to pray all day long and to take set times for prayer every day, set times for concentrated prayer. We must learn to keep our minds on Christ.

“But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty” (Mt.13:23).

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned” (Jn.15:5-6).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper” (Ps.1:1-3).

2. We will not be blind and shortsighted. Without Christ men are blind. They do not see...

- the purpose, meaning, or significance to life.
- the importance of morality and virtue, love, joy, peace, and the goodness of God and Christ.
- the way to conquer sin and evil, trials and suffering, life and death.

Men are pictured as being unable to see afar off, as being short-sighted. They are pictured as keeping their eyes only on the earth and its pleasures and possessions, only upon enjoying life now, only upon living as they want and doing their own thing. They give little if any thought to the eternal consequences of their behavior and actions. The result is devastating: they are blind and shortsighted. They lack real and permanent purpose, meaning, and significance in life. They experience ever so much emptiness and loneliness, often wondering...

- what is life all about?
- what is its purpose and end?
- what is there after death?
- is there meaning to this life at all?

But note: if we do these things, if we work at our salvation, we will not be blind or unable to see ahead. We will not lack purpose, meaning, or significance in life. These things, the things of salvation, will not only give us purpose in this life, they will give us eternal purpose. We will understand life, what life is all about. We will know the purpose, meaning, and significance of life. We will never be empty or lonely, or without purpose in life.

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light [understanding, purpose] of life” (Jn.8:12).

“Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth” (Jn.12:35).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined” (Is.9:2).

3. We will not forget that we have been cleansed from our sins. Very frankly, the person who fails to do these things, who fails to work out his own salvation, soon forgets the death of Christ. He forgets the great price that Christ paid to forgive his sins. The person becomes a backslider. How can we say this? Because a person is either moving ahead in Christ or else sliding back from Christ. And the person sliding back thinks little about sin and the consequences of sin. His thoughts and actions are in the world, and he is focusing upon the world and its pleasures and possessions. He has just forgotten that Christ purged him from his sins. He has slipped away from Christ and slipped back into the world.

The point is this: we must do these things, work out our own salvation, or else we will backslide. We will forget Christ and His death and the glorious fact that He has forgiven our sins. These things, the wonderful things of salvation, have the power to keep us near Christ and to keep us from ever backsliding.

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements?” (Gal.4:9).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

4. We will never fall. How often we come short, stumble, and fall. We just do not do what we should. If there is any single trait that runs through human life, it is stumbling, coming short, and falling. People stumble and come short and fall...

| • in marriage | • in school | • in planning | • in devotions |
| • in family duties | • in responsibilities | • in behavior | • in witnessing |
| • in relationships | • in life | • in resolutions | • in serving Christ |
| • in work | • in promises | • in the Christian life | • in worship |

How can we keep from stumbling and falling? God has called and elected us to live a rich and fruitful life and to be rich and fruitful for all of eternity. How can we live such a rich, fruitful life? Note the verse:

“Give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (v.10).

We must be diligent in doing these things. We must give ourselves totally to the things of salvation. We must work and work at them. If we do, then we shall never stumble and fall, not in a tragic, devastating or destructive sense. On the contrary, we will live the most abundant and fruitful life imaginable.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end” (Heb.6:11).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:13-14).

5. We will be given eternal life and more. We will receive an abundant entrance into the kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. The word abundant means rich. We will be richly and gloriously welcomed into heaven. The idea is that there will be different degrees of reward, of richness and wealth in heaven. Some of us will not inherit the kingdom, wealth, and service that others will inherit. How can we be sure of receiving the richest entrance into heaven? By being diligent in doing these things, in working out our salvation. (See note, Reward—1 Pt.1:4 for a list of the rewards of the believer.)

“Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me” (Mt.25:34-36).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:11).

3 (1:12-15) Salvation—Peter: the great importance of these things. What Peter now does is most interesting. He tells us how important he considers these things.

1. They are so important that he is always going to preach and teach these things. He is going to remind and remind believers of them. Genuine believers know them and are even established in these things. But Peter says he is going to repeat and repeat them. He will not neglect them.

One thing is sure: Peter thought that these things, the things of salvation, were essential. How much more should we stress them! But note the next point. Peter has even more to say about these things.

2. They are so important that he is going to stir believers to do them as long as he is alive. He is going to remind and remind them of these things as long as he is in “this tabernacle,” the tent of his body. Peter has to repeat and repeat these things. Why? Because it is right (dikaion), the only right thing to do. Believers must do these things in order to experience the rich and fruitful life Christ gives. Therefore, he must stress them and drive them home to the hearts of his dear people. But note: this is not all that Peter has to say about these things.

3. They are so important that Peter is going to see that believers are stirred to do these things even after his death. Peter apparently knew that he was soon to be taken on home to heaven. But these things were so important that he was going to make arrangements with those left behind to teach these things.

Thought 1. How important are these things? How important is it that we preach these things? Few Scriptures are stressed and emphasized as much as these. Peter says he is going to see to it these things are taught to believers; he says this three times. This alone should stir us to preach and teach them—always—ever so diligently and faithfully.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus” (1 Th.4:2).

“If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained” (1 Tim.4:6).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

DIVISION I

THE GREAT SALVATION OF GOD, 1:1-21

C. The Great Proof of Salvation, 1:16-21

(1:16-21) Introduction: How do we know that we can really be saved? That the glorious gospel of salvation is true? How do we know that Jesus Christ is really the Son of God, the Messiah and Savior of the world? This is the subject of this great passage—the great proof of salvation.

1. The great truth: salvation is not a fable; it is the power and coming of Christ (v.16).
2. The first proof of salvation: the great eyewitness account of Christ's majesty and transfiguration (v.16-18).
3. The second proof of salvation: Scripture—the more sure account of prophecy or Scripture (v.19-21).

1 (1:16) Salvation, Proof of: there is the great truth—salvation is not a fable; it is the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

1. The word fable is called a cunningly devised fable. The gospel of salvation is not a story, some fictitious creation of man's mind. It is not an invention of man's imagination. It has not been thought up in order to give man more...

- peace
- security
- love
- joy
- morality
- goodness
- righteousness
- justice
- life

Man has created great value systems, religions, and laws to meet his need for peace, security, hope, and life. Some persons even declare that science and technology, education and social services are the answer to meeting man's needs. They think through the problems of life, and with great creative imagination they work out how technology and education can meet these needs. They then put their thoughts in writing and declare to the world that the salvation of man is found in technology and education. They declare that the needs of man for peace, security, and life are found in the works of man's own hands...

- in human religion and value systems
- in human laws and good behavior
- in science and technology
- in education and social services

But note: there is one terrible flaw in all this. Nothing on this earth is permanent; nothing lasts, not beyond this life. The cry of man's heart is for life, for fullness of life, for completeness, fulfillment, and satisfaction. Man longs for life, for more and more life, for security, hope, assurance, and peace. Man cries out for an abundance of life both now and in the future, life in this world and in the next world. In addition to the cry for life, man has a spiritual sense of God and of living forever, the need to worship God and to live with Him forever. But man dies and leaves this world. If he depends upon his own man-made efforts to meet his needs, then his efforts die when he dies. Why? Because no man can give him life beyond the grave. He depended upon his own mind and hands to make him secure in the future and in the hereafter, but when his mind and hands died, they were dead. His mind and hands could not deliver him; they were lifeless and powerless.

This means something: all the man-made efforts to save man, all the creations of man's mind and hands that claim to be the salvation of man—they are all fabrications of the human mind. They are the real cunningly devised fables. They may be helpful to man; they may meet some needs to some degree. In fact, all great thoughts and acts of men do help to some degree. But no thought of man and no act of man can meet the needs of man, not perfectly and not eternally. For all men die. In just a few short years there will not be a single person alive who is living upon the earth today—not a single person. We shall all be gone forever, never to return. No matter how great a thought we think and no matter how great a human salvation we make with our hands, we shall be gone forever. If we are going to meet our needs for life, if we are going to live abundantly both now and in the other world (heaven), then God Himself has to show us how to live and how to get into the other world. God Himself has to show us how to please Him so that He will take us there.

Note: if there is a God in another world, in a spiritual dimension, who has made us and the world, then He is interested in our getting to where He is. He is interested in our living with Him. There is too much good and love within the world and too much longing for Him and for life eternal within us for God not to love us. And this is the glorious gospel: God does love us. He has not left us in the dark to grope and grasp after Him. He has revealed Himself and shown us how to reach and please Him. He has shown us how to be acceptable to Him and to receive eternal life. The gospel of salvation is not a fable; it is not a cunning device of man's imagination that deceives people. It is the truth that God loves us and has provided a way for us to be saved, a way for us to have peace and life now while on this earth and eternally when we enter the next world.

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves” (Mt.7:15).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed. For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ” (Gal.1:6-10).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do” (1 Tim.1:4).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils” (1 Tim.4:1).

“But refuse profane and old wives’ fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness” (1 Tim.4:7).

“Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth” (Tit.1:14).

“For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty” (2 Pt.1:16).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not” (2 Pt.2:1-3).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world. Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world” (1 Jn.4:1-3).

2. Salvation is the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. What does this mean?

a. First, it means the first coming of Jesus Christ. God has not left man in the dark to seek and search for peace and life—to see if there is such a thing as absolute peace of heart and such a thing as real life both now and hereafter. Only a God of hate would leave man in the dark to grasp and grasp after the truth within a corruptible world. But this is not God, not the true and living God. God is love and He cares deeply for man. How do we know this? By Jesus Christ. By the power and coming of Jesus Christ into this world. God loves man so much that He has sent His own Son into the world to save man. And note this:

⇒ The fact that God sent Christ into the world to save us means that God loves us, and God has the power to save us. God loves us enough and has enough power to give us peace and life both now and eternally. The power and coming of Jesus Christ into the world proves this.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ” (Gal.4:4-7).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world” (1 Jn.4:2-3).

- b. Second, it means the second coming of Christ. God is going to reveal His love and power again; God is going to prove His power to give us peace and life by sending Christ back to earth. Jesus Christ is going to come again just as He came before. Note the verse: this is not a “cunningly devised fable...the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.” God has the power to bring peace to this earth, and He is going to personally come to earth to bring peace to it. He is coming again in the person of His Son Jesus Christ.

“For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be” (Mt.24:27).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh” (Jas.5:8).

2 (1:16-18) Salvation, Proof—Jesus Christ, Deity: there is the first proof of salvation, the great eyewitness account of Christ’s majesty. The word “majesty” (megaleiotes) means the majesty of God, the divine nature of God (Michael Green. The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.83). It means that the majesty and glory of God filled and surrounded Christ when He walked upon earth. The early disciples and believers knew that Jesus Christ was the Savior of men because they saw the majesty and glory of God in His life and works. Jesus Christ went to great pains to reveal the majesty and glory of God; He proved time and again that He was the Son of God.

Now note verses 17-18: there was one event where the majesty and glory of God was allowed to shine out of Christ’s very being; one event where the light of God’s glory was so clearly seen that it proves beyond question that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world, the very Son of God Himself. What was that event? It was the transfiguration of Christ. In the transfiguration of Christ, the very glory of God was seen to be in Christ. Scripture actually says that He was “transformed” (metamorphothe). The word means a change into another form; to undergo a transformation, a change of countenance, a complete change. Luke said, “the fashion of His countenance was altered” (Lk.9:29). Note how the gospel writers described what happened.

“His face did shine as the sun and His raiment was white as the light” (Mt.17:2).

“His raiment became shining, exceeding white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them” (Mk.9:3).

“The fashion of His countenance was altered, and His raiment was white and glistening” (Lk.9:29).

Apparently the glory of His Godly nature was allowed to shine through His body to some degree. “The glory which [He] had with God before the world” shone through His body, shone right through His clothes (Jn.17:5). Peter said, “We were eyewitnesses of His majesty.” In John’s vision of Christ in The Revelation, he described the glory of Christ as the sun which shineth in its strength (Rev.1:16).

The scripture says:

“God is light” (1 Jn.1:5).

“[God]...dwelling in the light which no man can approach” (1 Tim.6:16).

“[God] who coverest thyself with light as with a garment” (Ps.104:2).

Peter, James, and John witnessed the event; they had the wonderful privilege of tasting a little of heaven’s glory. They experienced the very presence of God Himself and tasted some of heaven’s peace, joy, security, fulfillment, and perfection. Note that...

- they saw the honor and glory of Christ.
- they heard God call Jesus His Son; they actually heard God say, “This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Note also the exact words concerning the voice. The fact is repeated in both verse 17 and verse 18.

“There came such a voice to him [Christ]” (v.17).

“This voice which came from heaven” (v.18).

Peter emphatically stresses that they heard the voice from heaven. It was not a dream nor a vision nor a figment of their imagination. A voice from heaven actually called Jesus Christ His Son.

Thought 1. Peter unequivocally claims that he, the other apostles, and all the early believers witnessed the power and coming of the Lord Jesus Christ. He claims that they were eyewitnesses of God’s great love, that God loves the world and has sent His Son into the world to save men. We either believe or do not believe their eyewitness account. It is that simple: we believe or do not believe their testimony.

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Forasmuch as many have taken in hand to set forth in a declaration of those things which are most surely believed among us [about Jesus Christ], even as they delivered them unto us, which from the beginning were eyewitnesses, and ministers of the word; it seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus, that thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed” (Lk.1:1-4).

“And we are his witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him” (Acts 5:32).

“And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree” (Acts 10:39).

“And he was seen many days of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jerusalem, who are his witnesses unto the people” (Acts 13:31).

“Moreover, brethren, I declare unto the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the Scriptures; and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve; after that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once; of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep. After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apostles. And last of all he was seen of me also, as of one born out of due time” (1 Cor.15:1-8).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

“For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty” (2 Pt.1:16).

3 (1:19-21) Salvation, Proof of—The Word of God: the second proof of salvation is the more sure account of prophecy or Scripture. Note three significant points.

1. Scripture is more sure than an eyewitness account. The phrase word of prophecy is better translated the prophetic Word (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.157). There are an enormous number of prophecies in the Scripture about the coming Messiah and Savior of the world. When they are studied, it is clearly seen that Jesus Christ is the promised Savior. He fulfills all the prophecies perfectly. Therefore, the prophetic Word is a much more sure account of salvation. Just by the sheer number of prophecies and their fulfillment in Christ, the Scriptures prove themselves to be a far greater witness to Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prophecy—2 Pt.1:19-21 for a list of the Old Testament prophecies and their fulfillment in Christ.)

Thought 1. If the transfiguration of Christ had never taken place, the prophetic Scripture would still stand and prove that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world. But if the prophetic Scriptures did not exist, the transfiguration by itself would be a much weaker proof that Christ is the Savior of the world. The transfiguration itself is greatly supported and substantiated by the prophetic Word. The prophetic Word helps tremendously to explain who Christ is and what was happening on the mount of transfiguration.

2. Scripture is to be heeded. This is descriptive language: we are to heed the Word of God, for the Word of God is like “a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts,” (v.19). What does this mean?

⇒ The Word of God is like a light that shines in dark places. It shows us how to walk in the dark forest of this world. It reveals the narrow path to follow and exposes the stumbling stones and dangerous pits and poisonous creatures along the path.

⇒ The Word of God will show us how to walk “until the day dawn.” What day? The glorious day of Christ’s return. In that day, “the day star [Christ Himself shall] arise in our hearts” and perfect us. Our great salvation will be fulfilled and completed. We shall be transformed into His image, for we shall see Him as He is (1 Jn.3:2).

Michael Green has an excellent comment on the glorious day when the day star (Christ) shall arise in our hearts:

“Our inner transformation, deepened continually by the Spirit as we study the Scriptures (2 Cor.3:18), will be completed on the great day when we shall see Him as He is, and be made like Him (1 Jn.3:2)” (The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.89).

Thought 1. The point is this: we are to study and heed the Scripture. We are to study the Old Testament and the New Testament, the prophecies of Christ and the fulfillment of the prophecies by Christ. The Scripture is the light that guides us through this dark and dangerous world.

3. Scripture is not of any private interpretation (v.20-21). What does this mean? Verse 21 tells us. Men cannot interpret Scripture as they want. Scripture is to be interpreted by Scripture itself and by the Holy Spirit who dwells within the believer to teach him the truth. Note what verse 21 says.

a. First, Scripture did not come from the will of man. No prophecy of Scripture arose out of the prophet’s own interpretation. God moved upon the prophet’s heart and gave him a vision and then the prophet wrote down exactly what the Spirit of God spoke to him. The prophet did not seek to place his own interpretation upon God’s Word. Scripture is not of the will or mind of man. It is of God. (See note, Scripture—2 Tim.3:16 for more discussion.)

b. Second, Scripture was given by the Holy Spirit. Men were moved (borne along, moved, impelled) by the Holy Spirit to speak the Word from God. (From God is the Greek phrase, A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.159).

“For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Mt.5:18).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“All scripture is given by inspiration [God-breathed] of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved [borne along, impelled] by the Holy Ghost” (2 Pt.1:21).

“These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God” (1 Jn.5:13).

The point is this: Scripture can be trusted; it is the Word of God. Therefore, Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world. Man can be saved; his needs can be met. We can now have peace and life eternally. Salvation is now available through Jesus Christ our Lord. The proof is twofold: the eyewitnesses of the Lord and the prophetic Scriptures. Both prove beyond any question that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, the Savior and Lord of all men.

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:19-21) The Bible—Scripture: “word of prophecy” is better translated prophetic word, referring to the whole prophetic message centered in Jesus Christ. The prophetic word did not begin or originate in the mind of man, but in the mind of God. However, God used men as instruments and authors to communicate His message to the world. Over a period of some 1500 years He chose kings, soldiers, peasants, farmers, scholars, priests, statesmen—approximately thirty-five authors from different nations, professions, and social strata. The original manuscripts were written in three different languages—Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek.

1. The word Bible comes from the Greek word biblos, meaning a book. The Bible is also called “the Scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4) and “the Word of God” (Heb.4:12). The Bible is divided into two parts:
 - ⇒ The first part, the Old Testament, was written before Christ.
 - ⇒ The second part, the New Testament, was written after Christ came. The word testament means a covenant or an agreement. Therefore, the Bible is God’s covenant, an agreement He has made with man. The Old Testament is His covenant with man before Christ came, and the New Testament is His covenant with man after Christ came.
2. The Old Testament has thirty-nine books which were designated as “the Law, the Prophets, and the Holy Writings or Psalms” (Lk.24:25-27). The books are sometimes divided as follows:
 - ⇒ Five Law Books: Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy. These five are known as the Pentateuch.
 - ⇒ Twelve History Books: Joshua, Judges, Ruth, I and II Samuel, I and II Kings, I and II Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther.
 - ⇒ Five Poetic Books: Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and the Song of Solomon.
 - ⇒ Twelve Short or Minor Prophetic Books: Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi.
 - ⇒ Five Long or Major Prophetic Books: Isaiah, Jeremiah, Lamentations, Ezekiel, and Daniel.
3. The New Testament has twenty-seven books which are sometimes divided as follows:
 - ⇒ Four Gospels which cover the life of Christ: Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.
 - ⇒ One History Book which deals with the early believers and early church: Acts.
 - ⇒ Fourteen Pauline Letters or Epistles written to specific churches or individual Christians: Romans, I and II Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, I and II Thessalonians, I and II Timothy, Titus, Philemon, and perhaps Hebrews.
 - ⇒ Seven General Letters or Epistles written by other men to specific groups, each bearing the author’s name: James, I and II Peter, I, II, and III John, Jude.
 - ⇒ One Prophetic Book: Revelation.
4. The Bible has one central theme: Jesus Christ. He is the key to understanding what God reveals. He is the focal point of human history. In Him God reveals His purpose and program for the ages (Heb.1:1-2).
5. The unity of the Bible is a miracle of God. Think of the facts: thirty-five different authors from unbelievably diverse backgrounds wrote over a 1500 year period. Think of the number and diversity of subjects, yet look at the harmony of purpose and theme. There is only one explanation. God has spoken and has preserved an authoritative record of His message: “Holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost” (2 Pt.1:21).
6. The Bible claims to be the record of Jesus Christ (Jn.5:39), and it claims to be the written Word of God (2 Pt.1:21). As such it is inseparably linked with the living Word of God, Jesus Christ (Heb.4:12; 1 Pt.1:23). Jesus Christ is the living Word of God and the Bible is the written Word of God. The written Word testifies to the living Word even as the living Word [Christ Himself] testified to the written Word.

THE WARNING AGAINST FALSE TEACHERS, 2:1-22

A. The Description and Judgment of False Teachers, 2:1-9

(2:1-9) Introduction: if the world ever needed a warning, it needs to be warned against false teachers. Why? Because false teachers lead a person to doom himself quicker than any other single thing. Too many people are too quick to believe a lie. Why? So they can go ahead and live like they want. They want some excuse to get away from the restraints and demands that Jesus Christ puts upon them. Therefore, they grope after any teaching that lowers the Person of Christ. The more He is lowered, the less binding His demands are. But note: there is one major problem with false teaching. It is a lie; it is not the truth. A person dooms himself to an eternal hell if he follows false teaching. This is the critical message of this section of Second Peter: the warning against false teachers. This particular passage describes false teachers for us.

1. False teachers have always existed (v.1).
2. False teachers teach destructive heresies (v.1).
3. False teachers mislead people (v.2).
4. False teachers exploit people (v.3).
5. False teachers shall be judged and destroyed (v.3-9).

1 (2:1) Teachers, False—Heresy: false teachers and false prophets have always existed. They have always carried on their destructive work. Note the verse:

“There were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you” (v.1).

When did the false prophets do their destructive work in the world? When did the false prophets move among the people and introduce their destructive heresies? Note the previous verse along with this verse:

“For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.1:21-2:1).

The false prophets were at work while God was giving His Word to men. Imagine! Even while God was speaking and giving His Word to men there were some who were denying His Word and teaching destructive heresies and misleading people. There were false prophets all throughout the Old Testament period. They were the people who were denying God and His Word. But note: false teachers did not only exist throughout the Old Testament period. Scripture declares plainly: “there shall be false teachers among you.” The idea is this: there will always be false teachers; false teachers will fill every generation of man and they will continue to introduce their destructive heresies until the world ends.

Thought 1. This means there are false teachers among us. We must, therefore, be alert to what every man and woman teaches. This does not mean that we should be on a witch hunt; it means that we should test all preaching and teaching by the Word of God.

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves” (Mt.7:15).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“That thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine” (1 Tim.1:3).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [those who teach that one becomes acceptable to God by good works and by being as good as one can]” (Tit.1:10).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world” (1 Jn.4:1).

2 (2:1) Teachers, False—Heresy—Destruction: false teachers secretly teach destructive heresies. Note: Scripture says that false teachers secretly introduce or bring in destructive heresies. They teach destructive heresies, but they do not do it openly. They do it deceptively, quietly, secretly, slipping in false doctrine here and there.

Note where false teachers teach their destructive heresies. In the church, right among believers. The false teachers are not out in the world, but they are within the church. They have joined the church and they have been outstanding members long enough to become teachers and preachers within the church. They hold leadership positions from which they can teach their destructive heresies. Note that the word “heresies” (haireseis) is plural. What are the heresies being referred to? Any teaching that goes contrary to the Scripture, that is, the Word of God or Bible. This is clearly what is meant, for the exhortation has just been given: “Take heed to the word of prophecy, to the Scripture” (cp. 2 Pt.1:19-21).

“[Scripture is the] more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed...for the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost” (2 Pt.1:19, 21).

The point is this: any teaching that is contrary to God’s Word is a destructive heresy. It destroys God’s purpose for the church, and it destroys the lives of people within the church. Teachings that are contrary to God’s Word are destructive and there is no escaping the fact. No matter how personable a person may be, no matter how much we may like him, if he is teaching a destructive heresy, he is destroying the church and the lives of people. William Barclay states it well:

“A heretic [is]...a man who believes what he wishes to believe instead of accepting the truth of God which he must believe.

“What was happening in the case of Peter’s people was that certain men, who claimed to be prophets, were insidiously persuading men to believe the things they wished to be true rather than the things which God has revealed as true. They did not set themselves up as opponents of Christianity. Far from it. Rather they set themselves up as the finest fruits of Christian thinking. Insidiously, unconsciously, imperceptible, so gradually and so subtly that they did not even notice it, people were being lured away from God’s truth to men’s private opinions, for that is what heresy is” (The Letters of James and Peter, p.374). (Italics are added by us for emphasis.)

1. The most tragic heresy is the heresy that denies the Lord who bought us. Jesus Christ has bought us, and He has paid the supreme price to buy us. He gave all that He is and all that He has—even His life—in order to buy us out of sin and death. We owe our lives to Him; we owe everything to Him. The picture is that of a servant: we owe Christ our minds and hearts, our duty and service. Therefore, to deny Him is to deny our Lord and Master. And we all know what happens to the servant who denies his Lord and Master: swift destruction. No matter who the servant is, no matter how high a position he holds or how influential he is, if he denies his Master, he brings swift destruction upon himself. What does it mean to deny Christ? It means...

- to deny that Jesus Christ is the Son of God: that He left heaven above and came to earth as Man (the God-Man) to reveal God’s great love for man.
- to deny that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world: that He lived a perfect and sinless life and secured the perfect righteousness for man.
- to deny that Jesus Christ died for man: that He took man’s sin upon Himself and bore the judgment and condemnation and punishment for man.
- to deny that Jesus Christ arose from the dead and conquered death for man.

- to deny that Jesus Christ is seated at the right hand of God to receive all the worship and glory and honor and praise of the universe.

The list could go on and on to include all that the Scriptures teach about Christ. To deny any teaching of Scripture about Christ is to deny Christ. This is the very point that Peter is making: we must take heed to the Scriptures...

- for the Scriptures have been given by God Himself (2 Pt.1:21), and there are false teachers among us.

Thought 1. Remember: these men are in the church. They are the preachers and teachers who profess Christ and say that they are following Christ and building up His church. But what they are preaching and teaching is a complete denial of Him, and it is destroying the church.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.10:33).

“Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:38).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [insidiously] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist [against Christ], that denieth the Father and the Son” (1 Jn.2:22).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

2. False teachers shall be destroyed swiftly. Note that they bring destruction upon themselves. They are responsible for their own actions. They do not have to teach false doctrine; they make the choice to teach it. They could teach the truth [the Holy Scriptures], but they make a deliberate choice to teach contrary to what God has said. Therefore, they shall bring swift destruction upon themselves. The idea of swift is both certain and quick. When the judgment comes, there will be no discussion about the matter—no questioning, no leniency, no mercy, no love. There will be pure justice: swift, immediate judgment and destruction.

⇒ The word “destruction” (apoleian) means to lose one’s well being; to be ruined; to be wasted; to perish; to be destroyed; to suffer perdition.

“The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; and shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.13:41-42).

“Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?” (Mt.23:33).

“And shall cut him asunder, and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.24:51).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

“And if thy hand offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thy foot offend thee, cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched” (Mk.9:43-48).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are” (1 Cor.3:17).

“”For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

“[False teachers are] raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever” (Jude 13).

3 (2:2) Teachers, False—Grace, Abuse of—Love: false teachers mislead many people. False teachers do two terrible things.

1. False teachers encourage people to live immoral and licentious lives. This is what is meant by pernicious ways. Pernicious means the ways of immorality and of the flesh. How do false teachers lead men to live worldly and fleshly lives?

a. False teachers say this: Christ is not the Son of God and the Bible is not the Word of God. But note this: if this is so, then there is no Lord over our lives and God has not told us how to live. There is no absolute authority over us, no absolute Word telling us how to live and how to get to God. The only authority that we have is the best thinking we as men can do. This teaching, of course, leads to worldly and fleshly living, for man cannot lead men above what he himself is. And man by nature is worldly and fleshly. If there is no absolute truth, no instructions telling us how to live, then we are free to live pretty much as we want just so we turn to some idea of God—some idea that we have of what He is like—just so we turn to Him every now and then. And if God has not instructed us how to live—clearly instructed us—then He cannot hold us accountable if we mess up here and there. As stated, this kind of teaching lends itself to worldly and fleshly living. And remember: any religion and any philosophy that stresses that man is his own authority can go no higher than man. And man is worldly and fleshly by nature.

b. False teachers take the love of God and twist it. They say that God is so loving that He would never condemn man to an eternity of hell. They say that a man must believe in Christ and follow Him, but if he fails, God still loves him and will forgive him and will never condemn and punish him—certainly not for long if at all.

Of course, the consequence of this teaching is devastating. For if a man is not to be judged and punished for his sin, he can go ahead and live like he wants. He will never be condemned or punished for his sin, not for long if at all.

c. False teachers take the grace of God and faith and pervert them. They say that a person must believe in Jesus Christ. This, of course, is true: we are saved by believing in Jesus Christ; we are saved by grace through faith. But false teachers add that once we believe, we are okay forever and ever even if we do return to the world and live in sin. False teachers say that God accepts us even if we live like the devil and live after the world and flesh—just so we believe in Jesus Christ. False teachers say that faith exists without ever producing fruit: that a person can believe in Jesus Christ...

- without repenting
- without changing his life
- without separating from the world
- without denying and controlling his flesh
- without following Christ

False teachers say that God's love and grace are so inexhaustible that a man is free to sin just so he believes in Jesus Christ. The result of this teaching, of course, is the indulgence and license to sin. A man never has to worry about being rejected by God. He can live like he wants and sin as much as he wants just so he believes in Jesus Christ, for God's grace will forgive him and still make him acceptable.

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

2. False teachers cause the name of Christ to be abused. They cause people to speak evil of God, Christ, the church, believers, and the Scriptures. The very name of God is blasphemed because of hypocritical living and false profession. How often we hear comments such as “those hypocrites.” Note that the blame lies at the feet of the false teachers. It is they who mislead people.

“Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God? For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written” (Ro.2:23-24).

“The aged women likewise, that they be in behaviour as becometh holiness, not false accusers, not given to much wine, teachers of good things; that they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children, to be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:3-5).

“Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme, the child also that is born unto thee shall surely die” (2 Sam.12:14).

“Also I said, It is not good that ye do: ought ye not to walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the heathen our enemies?” (Neh.5:9).

4 (2:3) Teachers, False: false teachers exploit people. They use people just like they use merchandise, for their own ends. They are in the church ministering and teaching, but they are covetous, full of greed and lust. What is it that they are coveting?

- | | |
|------------------|----------------------|
| ⇒ popularity | ⇒ attention |
| ⇒ recognition | ⇒ a following |
| ⇒ a large church | ⇒ success |
| ⇒ livelihood | ⇒ money |
| ⇒ security | ⇒ increased salaries |
| ⇒ position | ⇒ gifts |
| ⇒ leadership | ⇒ fame |

A false teacher is often more interested in being popular and having the people accept him and his idea than he is in ministering to them. He is more concerned with a people following him, thinking he is a good teacher or preacher than he is in ministering to them. False ministers exploit people for their own ends.

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them” (Acts 20:30).

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake [personal gain, livelihood]” (Tit.1:10-11).

“His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber, Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are shepherds that cannot understand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter” (Is.56:10-11).

“Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD unto the shepherds; Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks? Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock” (Ezk.34:2-3).

5 (2:3-9) Judgment—Teachers, False: false teachers shall be judged and destroyed. Verse 3 is descriptive language. Upon earth it may seem that false teaching goes on and on forever without ever being corrected or handled by God. But no matter how successful or prosperous a false teacher may seem to be, judgment does not linger; it is not idle. The damnation of false teachers has not fallen asleep. The day is coming when all false teachers will pay for teaching destructive heresies. They will be damned (apoleia), that is, destroyed, because they did not teach the truth of Christ and of God’s Word. (See note, pt. 2, Teachers, False—2 Pt.2:1 for discussion.)

Now, how do we know that false teachers will be judged and destroyed? Because God is God, which means that He is not only love but He is also just. He has the power not only to love people with a perfect love, but He also has the power to judge people with a perfect justice. Note four clear facts.

1. God did not spare the angels who sinned (v.4). He cast them down to hell (tartarus). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, pt.1—1 Pt.3:19-20 for discussion.) Eons ago in the distant past, Satan was apparently the highest created being ever created by God. At that time his name was Lucifer. But he did what so many people have done: he chose to go his own way; he rebelled against God. And he led a host of angels to rebel with him. Therefore, God judged him and cast him from his exalted position into hell. From what we can glean from Scripture, this is how Satan and the angels fell and became antagonists of God. (See note, Satan, pt.2—1 Pt.5:8 for more discussion.)

The point is this: even angels were cast down to hell and chained with darkness. And God is reserving them for eternal judgment. If God judged such glorious beings as Lucifer and the angels, how much more will He judge men, especially if they teach false doctrine and mislead people? (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, pt.1, 3, 4—1 Pt.3:19-20; note—1 Pt.5:8-9 for more discussion.)

“By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison; which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water” (1 Pt.3:19-20).

“For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment” (2 Pt.2:4).

“And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day” (Jude 6).

“And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore days. And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon [the devil]; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven” (Rev.12:6-8).

“How are thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High. Yet thou shalt be brought down to hell, to the sides of the pit” (Is.14:12-15).

“Moreover the word of the LORD came unto me, saying, Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus [type of Satan], and say unto him, Thus saith the the Lord GOD; Thou seal-est up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty. Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God; every precious stone was thy covering, the sardius, topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy tabrets and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created. Thou art the anointed cherub that covereth; and I have set thee so: thou wast upon the holy mountain of God; thou hast walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire. Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee. By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the midst of thee with violence, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountain of God: and I will destroy thee, O covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire. Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground, I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee. Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thine iniquities, by the iniquity of thy traffic; therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, it shall devour thee, and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth in the sight of all them that behold thee. All they that know thee among the people shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and never shalt thou be any more” (Ezk.28:11-19).

2. God did not spare the old world (v.5; cp. Gen.6:5f). The world had become totally wicked; wickedness prevailed in every mind, heart, and life.

“And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually” (Gen.6:5).

He destroyed the whole world of the ungodly by a flood. God had no choice; His righteousness demanded that He judge the world of the ungodly. And this He did. God sent a flood of water to cover the world, and all the ungodly were destroyed. But note: there was one family saved—a preacher and his family. The preacher’s name was Noah, and note what he preached: righteousness. He preached the righteousness of God. All the other preachers and priests of that day perished with all the other ungodly. But not Noah; he was saved, and the reason he was saved was because he was faithful to God and His righteousness. He lived and preached the truth of God and His Word.

The point is this: if God judged and destroyed the whole world of the ungodly, He will certainly judge and destroy a false teacher.

3. God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah (v.6-8; cp. Gen.19:1f). God caused an explosion, a combustion of fire, to fall upon Sodom and Gomorrah. Note the facts of the outline:

- a. The cities were turned into ashes (v.6).
- b. The cities were made an example to all who live ungodly lives (v.6).
- c. The reason for the judgment and destruction was twofold:
 - ⇒ The citizens were living filthy, immoral, and unjust lives.
 - ⇒ The sin and shame of the citizens were disturbing the heart of Lot. There was so much sin and shame that Lot’s heart was distressed and tortured to see the law of God violated so much.

Note what happened: everyone in the city was judged and destroyed except one man, Lot. And note why he was saved—because he was righteous. (A study of Lot’s life shows a selfish and carnal man; nevertheless, Lot believed God and when the time came, he separated from the ungodly and the world. He obeyed God.)

The point is this: if God judged and destroyed two great cities and all the people in them, He will certainly judge and destroy a false teacher.

4. God knows how to deliver the godly and reserve the unjust until the day of judgment to be punished. This verse completes the sentence begun in verse 4. Note what it is that God delivers the godly from: temptations and trials (peirasmoi); all the temptations and trials of life. There is no excuse for a false teacher preaching or teaching false doctrine—no excuse for him to fear other preachers or teachers or other men within his church nor to shy away from the truth—for God knows how to meet the needs of the man. God knows how to deliver the man from every obstacle and through every difficulty, no matter how great a trial or temptation. No matter who opposes the teacher, God knows how to deliver him. He delivered Noah and Lot both through the most trying opposition and ungodliness. But note this: God also knows how to keep the ungodly until the day of judgment and doom. All false teachers shall be judged and doomed to punishment.

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“The Son of man shall send forth his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all things that offend, and them which do iniquity; and shall cast them into a furnace of fire: there shall be wailing and gnashing of teeth” (Mt.13:41-42).

“But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea....Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire” (Mt.18:6, 8-9).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

“And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:46).

2 PETER 2:1-9

“Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:38).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire” (Rev.20:15).

DIVISION II

THE WARNING AGAINST FALSE TEACHERS, 2:1-22

B. The Character and Conduct of False Teachers, 2:10-22

(2:10-22) Introduction: this is a graphic picture of false teachers. It shows how horrible God considers false teachers to be, and it serves as a severe warning to every person who would even dare to deny Christ and the teachings of God's Word. No matter who the teacher is—no matter how suave and charismatic, no matter how fluent and great an orator, no matter how creative and sharp a thinker, no matter how well liked and appreciated—if he teaches and denies Christ and God's Word, then he is a false teacher (cp. 2 Pt.2:1).

Here is one of the most horrible pictures painted in all the Bible. It is the picture of the character and conduct of false teachers.

1. They walk after the flesh (v.10).
2. They despise authority (v.10).
3. They are presumptuous or arrogant (v.10).
4. They are self-willed (v.10).
5. They speak evil of dignitaries (v.10-12).
6. They carouse around in pleasure and they do it openly, that is, along with the unbelievers of the world (v.13).
7. They have eyes full of adultery (v.14).
8. They entice unstable souls (v.14).
9. They are covetous (v.14).
10. They have forsaken the right way and gone astray (v.15-16).
11. They are filled with emptiness and instability (v.17).

12. They speak great swelling words of emptiness (v.18).
13. They lure people through the lusts of the flesh (v.18).
14. They promise liberty, but they only enslave people (v.19).
15. The conclusion: a warning to false teachers (v.20-22).

1 (2:10) False Teachers—Flesh, The: false teachers walk after the flesh. The flesh itself is not evil. It is what man does with the flesh that is evil. Man is both flesh and spirit. The spirit desires God; and the flesh desires food, security, recognition, love, companionship, and all the other necessities of life. But note: these are normal and natural desires. If we did not have these desires, we could not survive in the world. Again, man is both flesh and spirit. But note what the false teachers do: they walk after the flesh, in the lusts of the flesh. They ignore the spirit and follow the passions of the flesh. They indulge and gratify the flesh. They teach their false doctrine for personal gain. They desire...

- to live like they want.
- to gain recognition and honor and a following.
- to gain a livelihood and security.
- to gain worldly freedom and do away with godly restraints and demands.

As stated, the flesh desires these things and there is nothing wrong with them: a person needs recognition to feel that he is meaningful and significant. He also needs freedom and a livelihood. But when a person seeks more and more of these, when he takes the desires of the flesh and begins to lust and lust after the desires, they become harmful and sinful.

- ⇒ One helping of food is good; two helpings are damaging to the body.
- ⇒ Some recognition is good; too much leads to pride and arrogance or indulgent selfishness.
- ⇒ Being free to secure the necessities of life is right, but trying to seek them without law leads to sinful transgression and lawlessness. As an example, we have all seen scenes of a community without law, all the looting and evil that runs rampant.

The point is this: false teachers walk after the flesh, not after the spirit. They are teaching in order to satisfy the flesh, to please people and to gain recognition, security, or livelihood. They teach a false doctrine in order to do away with the Lordship of Christ, for the Lordship of Christ demands the sacrifice of all one is and has. They want to live like they want, to do their own thing; therefore, they try to do away with the demands of God as much as they can. Again, false teachers walk after the flesh, not the spirit.

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

“Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts” (2 Pt.3:3).

“How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts” (Jude 18).

2 (2:10) False Teachers—Authority: false teachers despise authority. They stress rights, freedom, and liberty. They stress the right to live like they want, to do their own thing. They want few if any restraints or control over them. What is wrong with this? There is nothing wrong with rights, freedom, and liberty. But law is necessary, especially the law of God. Without God’s law to control us, man becomes selfish and indulgent, and he gives license to his own personal desires. Without God’s authority, man grabs for more and more; he takes more and more away from the earth and from the weaker people of the earth. This is a picture of the false teacher and his doctrine. He denies the Lord Jesus Christ. If Jesus Christ is not Lord, then His demand for self-denial and the sacrifice of all one is and has is not valid. The false teacher can pretty much live like he wants.

Thought 1. Despising authority within society is dangerous. What happens is that those in power create human laws that favor themselves, the rich and the powerful. Human law is not enough for man, for man cannot create a law higher than himself. Therefore, whoever is in power will always be influenced by some selfishness. He will seldom if ever give all he is and has to be perfectly just and equal to all. Therefore, God’s law is necessary. Man must have a law that is above and beyond himself. Man must have a law that controls and governs all men. And more than this, man must have a living Lord who can give him the power and who can motivate him to live like he should. This is the reason the Lord Jesus Christ, who reveals and fulfills the law of God perfectly, must be proclaimed. He must be exalted and not denied. The only hope for man is to deny himself and give all he is and has to meet the desperate needs of all the people and not of just a few.

“Beware therefore, lest that come upon you, which is spoken of in the prophets; behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and perish: for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it unto you” (Acts 13:40-41).

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“He that despised Moses’ law died without mercy under two or three witnesses: of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:28-29).

3 (2:10) False Teachers—Presumption: false teachers are presumptuous, that is, arrogant, rash, or daring in a bad sense. A daring spirit can be good; it can be courageous and brave. A person can set out on a daring venture for a good cause that reaps great benefits. But a daring spirit can be bad, very bad. A person can dare to do something that is difficult, but if it is wrong, he should not do it. His daring is nothing more than arrogance.

False teachers are daring and presumptuous. They venture into the theory of some false teaching, feeling courageous because they have the gumption to question God's Word and Christ. But note: this kind of daring is wrong. It is presumptuous. It is arrogance against the truth and against God.

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

“Therefore pride compasseth them about as a chain” (Ps.73:6).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“He that is of a proud heart stirreth up strife: but he that putteth his trust in the LORD shall be made fat” (Pr.28:25).

4 (2:10) False Teachers—Stubborn: false teachers are self-willed. They are set on doing what they want, and nothing is going to stop them. They are going to claim the right of free thought and free speech, the right to teach what they want. They are going to get what they are after, and no one is going to change them. The false teacher is going to share his opinion and denial of Christ and the Word of God even if it does hurt and damage others. Note the hardness of heart and obstinacy and stubbornness in this spirit.

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“He, that being often reprov'd hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy” (Pr.29:1).

5 (2:10-12) False Teachers—Unbelief: false teachers speak evil of dignitaries. This means speaking against and doubting and questioning spiritual beings such as angels and the cherubim and seraphim. They ridicule the ideas of Christ and angels and other spiritual beings living in a spiritual world. They question whether there are even beings in a spiritual world, beings who are living and functioning just as we are in this world.

⇒ The idea of another dimension of being, of a spiritual world that is as real and alive as the physical world is questioned.

⇒ The idea of levels of authority in a spiritual world or some other dimension, of principalities and powers and rulers in a spiritual world, is mocked.

⇒ The idea of Christ being exalted to the right hand of God, of believers someday ruling and serving and ministering for Christ in a new heavens and earth, is doubted and often ridiculed.

But note two things.

1. The angels themselves do not dare rail and mock the principalities and powers of the spiritual world. This is a strong warning to the false teachers.

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

“And [Christ] having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it [the cross]” (Col.2:15).

2. False teachers are like brute beasts who have no understanding. They are speaking of things they do not understand. No person knows what the spiritual world is like, for no person has ever been there. There is only one Person who has ever been there, and that is the Person who came to earth from the other world, the Lord Jesus Christ. He alone knows what the other world is like. This is the very reason He came to earth: to bring the Word and promise of heaven to us. We either believe Him or not. It is that simple. But note this: the Word of God is the prophecy and record concerning the Lord Jesus Christ. If a person does not believe Christ, then he has no right to claim to be a follower and minister of Christ. He should not abuse the Word of God through hypocrisy. When he does he is as a brute beast, speaking of things he knows nothing about. And note what the Scripture says about him:

- ⇒ He is as a beast made to be taken and destroyed (v.12).
- ⇒ He shall utterly perish in his own corruption. That is, in trying to pollute the Word of God and Christ, he destroys lives; therefore, he shall be utterly destroyed. His own corruption shall destroy him.

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:13).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth” (1 Jn.1:6).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

- 6 (2:13) False Teachers—Carousing—Pleasure Seeking: false teachers carouse around in pleasure and they do it openly; that is, they carouse around with the unbelievers of the world. They reject the Lordship of Jesus Christ and the strict demands of God’s Word. Therefore, the demand for separation from the world and its pleasures and possessions are rejected. False teachers, therefore, participate and share in the world, in its parties, social affairs, drinking, eating, smoking, and in being merry. They join in with the worldly, indulging the flesh. The ideas of Christian separation and sanctification are rejected by them. They reject the Lordship of Christ and His demand for total separation and self-denial and the sacrifice of all one is and has.

Note: Scripture says that false teachers are deceived. They think that sharing and participating in the world is acceptable. But they are wrong and deceived. They are spots and blemishes on the name of Christ and on the church. They soil and dirty the name Christian. They profess to be believers and are even teachers of God’s Word, but they are not pure. Their worldliness—their partying, drinking, indulgence, and pleasure—dirties and blemishes the name of Christ.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

- 7 (2:14) False Teachers—Immorality: false teachers have eyes full of adultery, eyes that cannot cease from sin. The world has always worshipped at the shrine of sex. Even today, in a society that has learned so much about human behavior and health, sex is used to sell everything from cars to soap. The human body is exposed to attract attention and to stir action whether to buy or to boost one’s image. The result is loose morals and adultery.

The point is this: false teachers have chosen to deny Christ and the supreme authority of God’s Word. Therefore, they feel more free to share in the ways of the world. By sharing in the worldliness of the world, they are attracted to look and think about the opposite sex. Thereby they are more easily aroused and stirred to desire. The result is catastrophic. They fall into immorality, desiring and lusting...

- to read or look at pornographic material
- to look at attractive bodies
- to make suggestive remarks
- to have adulterous affairs

But note: Christ is clear about the lust of the flesh and immorality.

“Thou shalt not commit adultery” (Ex.20:14).

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell. And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:28-30).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication: that every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God: that no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified. For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness" (1 Th.4:3-7).

8 (2:14) False Teachers: false teachers beguile and entice and lure away unstable souls. They trap people with their false teaching. They take people who are not grounded in the faith and lure them over to their opinion. They want the recognition or following...

- as a thinker or learned person
- as the creator of a new and creative idea
- as a great teacher or preacher
- as an influential leader

Whatever the reason, false teachers reach out with their opinions. They reach out to entice unstable souls to approve and accept their opinion.

"But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees [religionists], hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in" (Mt.23:13).

"And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea" (Mk.9:42).

"For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple" (Ro.16:18).

"For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works" (2 Cor.11:13-15).

9 (2:14) False Teachers—Covetousness: false teachers have hearts trained in covetous practices. They are worldly minded, desiring the pleasures and possessions of the world...

- | | | | |
|---------------|------------------|--------------|---------------|
| • popularity | • large churches | • gifts | • leadership |
| • attention | • success | • livelihood | • fame |
| • recognition | • money | • security | • possessions |
| • a following | • raises | • position | |

They have coveted and coveted until their hearts are set on their worldly ambitions. They have struggled and struggled against God, conscience, Scripture, and what they know is right. They have focused upon their ambition and it alone, focused so much that their hearts are now trained to focus only upon their ambition. The truth of Christ and of God's Word no longer matter at all. All that matters is whatever the false teacher is after. Therefore, he drives and drives to get across his false doctrine.

Note: false teachers are said to be doomed, "accursed children." They are living under the curse of God and shall be destroyed.

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's" (Ex.20:17).

"And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Lk.12:15).

"For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely" (Jer.6:13).

"Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!" (Hab.2:9).

10 (2:15-16) False Teachers—Backsliding—Balaam: false teachers have forsaken the right way and have gone astray. Jesus Christ is the way to God. He said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life" (Jn.14:6). Therefore, if a person denies Jesus Christ, he has...

- forsaken the way to God
- forsaken the truth of God
- forsaken the life of God

The false teacher has forsaken the right way and has gone astray. He has forsaken the way that leads to life and has gone astray, following the way that leads to death. Note that Balaam is used as an example (cp. Num.22:1f). The king of Moab, Balak, began to fear the strength of Israel. Therefore, he sent messengers to a diviner named Balaam to come and put a curse upon Israel. At first Balaam refused to go and discuss the matter with the king. But the king continued to offer more and more position and wealth to Balaam. Finally the offer was so much that Balaam's heart coveted after the world. Therefore, he agreed to go and meet with the king. However, along the way, God gave the power of speech to the donkey that Balaam was riding and God rebuked Balaam through the donkey. Balaam was also the person who was later to turn Israel away from God and lead them into sin (Num.31:16; cp. Num.3:1f).

The point is this: Balaam is an example of a false teacher who became worldly and led God's people into sin and destruction. All false teachers who deny the Lord Jesus Christ...

- become worldly (seeking the possessions, acceptance, and security of the world) and forsake the right way and go astray.
- lead people into sin and destruction.

“Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat” (Mt.7:13).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an example. (For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things)” (Ph.3:17-19).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries: wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you: who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead” (1 Pt.4:3-5).

“Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts” (2 Pt.3:3).

“How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts” (Jude 18).

11 (2:17) False Teachers—Emptiness—Instability: false teachers are filled with emptiness and instability. Two illustrations are given that describe false teachers.

⇒ They are like wells that offer water to travellers who have been crossing a dry, barren desert. But when the travellers reach the wells, they are dry.

⇒ They are like clouds that offer rain to the farmer. But when the clouds arrive, they are driven away by the rushing wind of a storm.

The picture is that of the false teacher offering hope to people, but his hope is empty and unstable, just as empty and unstable as the desert of the world itself. The false teacher cannot quench the thirst of people nor water the seed of God’s Word in people’s hearts. His false teaching is nothing more than the idea of a man; therefore, it ends up where all the ideas of men end—in the grave. The opinion of the false teacher cannot give hope at the end of life’s journey nor in facing the trials and temptations of life. In dealing with eternity and God and Christ and Scripture, the false teacher is a well without water, as clouds driven away by the winds of a storm.

Note: the mist or gloom of darkness is forever reserved for false teachers. They are going to remain in darkness forever, both in this life and hereafter, unless they surrender to the Lordship of Jesus Christ.

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity [emptiness] of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“In the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even! and at even thou shalt say, Would God it were morning! for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see” (Dt.28:67).

“Then I looked on all the works that my hands had wrought, and on the labor that I had labored to do: and, behold, all was vanity [emptiness] and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun” (Eccl.2:11).

“For all his days are sorrows, and his travail grief; yea, his heart taketh not rest in the night. This is also vanity” (Eccl.2:23).

“Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not? hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness” (Is.55:2).

“But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt” (Is.57:20).

12 (2:18) False Teachers: false teachers speak great swelling words of emptiness. They use lofty words, excellency of speech, flowery language, and descriptive phrases; but what they say is empty. It is not the truth. It is only their own idea and opinion. As stated above, their false teaching can offer no hope, not in dealing with the trials and temptations of life and not in dealing with death. Their teaching ends up empty and unstable. Their teaching dies with the grave. It cannot carry us across the portals of death into life everlasting. Only Jesus Christ can do that. Therefore, if the teacher’s message denies Jesus Christ, there is no hope of heaven, not a true hope.

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [religionists]: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“Should he reason with unprofitable talk? or with speeches wherewith he can do no good?” (Job 15:3).

“The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness” (Eccl.10:13).

13 (2:18) False Teachers: false teachers lure people through the lusts of the flesh (see note, False Teachers—2 Pt.2:2 for discussion). Note who it is that the false teachers lure away: the immature believer and the young believer, those who have barely escaped the world. This is a warning to those who are not rooted and grounded in the Lord and in God's Word. Believers must be consistent in studying God's Word and in following Christ. This is the believer's only hope to escape the doom that is to fall upon those who follow false teachers.

14 (2:19) False Teachers—Sin, Enslaves: false teachers promise liberty, but they only enslave people. Sin always enslaves. No matter what the false teaching is, it will enslave. The false teacher who denies Christ and God's Word removes the supreme authority over man's life. Therefore, man is pretty much free to live in selfishness and greed, desire and lust. He is pretty much left to seek as much pleasure and as many possessions as he desires upon earth. But in the end, man discovers something. The more he gets, the more he wants. It may be comfort, money, sex, position, or authority; it does not matter. Man's nature is such that he wants more and more. Man must be restrained by an authority above himself, that is, by God and by God's Word. If he is not, then he becomes enslaved to his passions and to the corruption of the world. This is one of the terrible fallacies of all false teachings. They all enslave man to this world: not a single false teaching can usher a man through the door of death into eternal life. Only Jesus Christ can do that. Note the clear truth: whatever overcomes a man, that very thing enslaves him.

- ⇒ If a false teacher overcomes a man, then the man is enslaved to that teaching.
- ⇒ If the world overcomes a man, then the man is enslaved by the world.

“Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin” (Jn.8:34).

“Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?” (Ro.6:16).

“But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members” (Ro.7:23).

“And that they may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are taken captive by him at his will” (2 Tim.2:26).

“While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage” (2 Pt.2:19).

“His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins” (Pr.5:22).

15 (2:20-22) False Teachers—Warning: this is a strong warning to false teachers, a threefold warning.

1. Warning one: against returning to the world and its entanglements. If a false teacher once knew Christ and has returned to the world, his fate is going to be worse than if he had never begun with Christ. Why? Because he has known the truth and he has chosen to deliberately reject it. And even more, he is teaching against it. He has corrupted the truth of Christ and is leading others into destruction, dooming their very souls.

Thought 1. Teaching is the most responsible profession on earth. Therefore, the greater accountability falls upon the teacher's shoulders. God will have no mercy upon a false teacher; the false teacher will be judged much more severely than a person who never knew the truth.

2. Warning two: against turning from the way of righteousness and from the holy commandment.
- ⇒ The way of righteousness is Jesus Christ. He is the One who has made it possible for God to count us righteous and to accept us (see note, pt.3—2 Pt.1:1 for more discussion).
 - ⇒ The holy commandment is the Word of God, that is, all the commandments of God.

It is far better for a person not to have ever known Christ or God's Word than to have known them and to turn back. The judgment shall be far worse, much more severe upon such persons.

3. Warning three: against becoming uncouth, repulsive to God. The illustration given is clear. Imagine being compared to a dog that returns to its vomit and to a washed hog that returns to wallowing around in the foul, smelly mud. The judgment of God will be severe and terrible for all false teachers. (See note, Destruction—2 Pt.2:1 for more discussion.)

“But I say unto you, It shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, than for you” (Mt.11:22).

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“And when they saw him, they were amazed: and his mother said unto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have sought thee sorrowing” (Lk.2:48).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works” (Rev.20:12).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST AND THE END OF THE WORLD, 3:1-18

A. The First Thing to Know: Scoffers Shall Come, 3:1-7

(3:1-7) Introduction: the coming again of Jesus Christ and the end of the world—this is the subject of this final section of the book of Second Peter. This is a subject that literally fascinates tens of thousands of people. But note: fascination is not what God is after in discussing the return of His Son and the end of the world. What God is after is preparation—for man to prepare himself to receive God's Son. Man must be ready for the return of Christ or else he will be doomed. This first passage covers a critical subject: the first thing to know—scoffers shall come.

1. Arouse your pure minds; arouse them so that you can remember (v.1-2).
2. They come in the last days, in our day and time (v.3).
3. They walk after passion (v.3).
4. They scoff and ridicule the return of Christ (v.4).
5. They are willingly ignorant (v.5-7).

1 (3:1-2) Mind—Word of God—Preaching—Teaching: arouse your pure mind; arouse it so that you can remember. If a person is to know and understand the return of the Lord, his mind has to be aroused. The mind cannot be lazy or wandering about. It has to be watchful, alert, focused, concentrated, and actively engaged upon two things.

First, the mind must remember the words spoken by the prophets. They had much to say about the return of Christ to earth.

Second, the mind must remember the commandments of the Lord that have been preached and taught by the apostles. Jesus Christ taught much about His return. The apostles in turn shared His teachings with their people.

The importance of the mind being aroused cannot be overstressed. Note how Peter drives the point home:

- ⇒ "Stir up your pure minds" (v.1)
- ⇒ "Be mindful" (v.2)
- ⇒ "Know this first" (v.3)
- ⇒ "Do not be ignorant of this one thing" (v.8)

The phrase "pure minds" (eilikrine dianoiān) means to have a clear, pure, unmixed, uncontaminated, focused, and concentrating mind. It is the picture of thoughts being sifted just like wheat is sifted in order to be separated from the chaff. Thoughts are to be sifted in order to separate the true and pure from the untrue and impure. There is always so much false teaching about the end time that the mind must be pure in order to sift the true teaching from the false. The picture of a pure mind is this: the mind must be exposed to the light of the sun and be found flawless. The mind must be pure and clear from wandering and impure thoughts if it is to study the Word of God and learn its great teachings. The mind must be pure and clear if it is to grasp the great truth of the return of Jesus Christ to earth.

Note one other fact in these first two verses: the unity of Scripture. The prophets of the Old Testament and the words of Jesus Christ and the preaching and teaching of the apostles are all tied together and put on an equal footing—at least by the time the letter of Second Peter was written. They were all considered to be authoritative, to be the Word of God. Note that Paul's writings were also considered to be Scripture by Peter when he was writing this letter (v.15-16). Paul's writings were already considered to be the very Word of God to men.

Thought 1. The stress is upon the mind—a pure and clear mind, a mind that is focused and learning and remembering what it has been taught. But note this: before a person can remember something, he first has to study and learn the facts. This stresses the utter necessity for him to study the Scriptures, to learn all he can about the return of Christ to earth. There is no place in the Christian life for lazy, lethargic, unfocused, and wandering minds. Christ demands total dedication from a person, the total commitment of a person's mind and life to His teaching. This requires intense and diligent study of the Word of God.

This also speaks directly to preachers and teachers. The early apostles studied the prophets and the words of Jesus. They studied the Scripture; therefore they knew all about the return of Christ to earth. Consequently, they were able to offer great hope to their people, the great hope of the second coming of Christ to earth.

2 (3:3) Last Days—Jesus Christ, Return—Scoffers—World, Judgment of: know that scoffers “shall come in the last days.” The first coming of Jesus Christ to earth was the pivotal point of human history.

- ⇒ Jesus Christ came in “the fulness of time” (Gal.4:4).
- ⇒ Jesus Christ came “in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:20).
- ⇒ God has “in these last days spoken unto us by His Son” (Heb.1:2).
- ⇒ John the Apostle says, “it is the last time” (1 Jn.2:18).

Since Jesus Christ first came to earth, history is in its last stage. Right now, the time between Christ's first coming and His second coming, is called the age of grace—the age when God's mercy and grace are flowing out to the world through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The thing to remember is that this period of history is called...

- “these last times” (1 Pt.1:20).
- “the last days” (2 Pt.3:3; 2 Tim.3:1).
- “these last days” (Heb.1:2).
- “the last time” (1 Jn.2:18; Jude 18).

Note John's term for the end time: “the last time” (eschate hora). The Greek really means the last hour, the midnight hour, when the world is to end. But note this: the end time does not mean annihilation; it does not mean that everything will cease to exist. As William Barclay describes so well:

“In biblical thought the last time is the end of one age and the beginning of another. It is not only a time of ending; it is a time of new beginning. It is not only a time of destruction; it is a time of recreation. It is last in the sense that things as they are pass away; but leads not to world obliteration, but world recreation. In other words, the last hour and the last days lead not to extinction, but to consummation” (The Letters of John and Jude. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1958, p.71).

The final chapter of human history is now being written. Soon Jesus Christ will return to earth and time will be no more. When? Jesus Christ said that no man knows nor can know. Only God knows. And we must always keep in mind what verse eight says, “that a thousand years is as one day” with the Lord. Therefore, we must not be projecting dates. What we must do is obey the Lord's exhortation to watch and be ready. We are to look for His return every day and be prepared for His return any moment. And when He returns, not only will the earth and the heavens be destroyed, but He is going to recreate the whole universe, both the heavens and the earth. The new universe will be the home of all those who have followed Jesus Christ.

Thought 1. This then is the message that we must heed: it is the last days. What are we going to do about it? Are we going to attach ourselves to the world and be destroyed with it or attach ourselves to Jesus Christ and enter into the glory of the new world that is soon coming? The choice is ours. We either follow the world that is doomed to destruction or else we follow Jesus Christ and enter the new world promised by Him. The end time, the destruction of the world that is coming, is not a message of gloom; it is the most glorious message of hope—the hope of a new world. There is a new world coming that will be gloriously perfected: no corruption, evil, sin, or death—only glory and splendor, health and life; and it will last forever and ever, world without end.

But note the point: there are scoffers in these last days, people who scoff at the idea of Christ returning to earth and recreating the universe. Three significant facts are said about the scoffers. The next three notes discuss these facts.

“Then certain philosophers of the Epicureans, and of the Stoics, encountered him. And some said, What will this babblers say? other some, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods: because he preached unto them Jesus, and the resurrection” (Acts 17:18).

“Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts” (2 Pt.3:3).

“How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts. These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit” (Jude 18-19).

“And they say, How doth God know? and is there knowledge in the most High?” (Ps.73:11).

“That say, Let him make speed, and hasten his work, that we may see it: and let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel draw nigh and come, that we may know it!” (Is.5:19).

“Behold, they say unto me, Where is the word of the LORD? let it come now” (Jer.17:15).

- 3 (3:3) Jesus Christ, Return—Scoffers: know that scoffers walk after their own lusts. They live like they want and do their own thing. They want the possessions and pleasures of this world.
- ⇒ They want the right to seek and keep as much as they can of money, houses, lands, furnishings, recognition, popularity, honor, position, authority, power, fame, recreation, comfort.
 - ⇒ They want the right to enjoy all the pleasure they feel safe doing such as partying, drinking, eating, and engaging in suggestive immoralities and sexual relationships.

These are the mockers, people who walk after their own lusts. They have to mock and reject the second coming of Christ. If they accepted it, they would have to change their lives; they would have to repent and turn to Christ or else live under the terrible fear of eternal judgment. They are unwilling to change their lives; therefore, they reject Jesus Christ and His return to earth in judgment.

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

“Among whom also we all had our conversation [behavior, conduct] in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:4-5).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:1-2).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

- 4 (3:4) Jesus Christ, Return—Scoffers: know that scoffers ridicule the return of Jesus Christ. They scoff for two reasons.
1. They scoff because it has been thousands of years since Jesus Christ came to earth the first time. They scoffingly ask:

“Where is the promise of Christ’s return? What has happened to His promise? It has been thousands of years since He first came, and Christians have always been proclaiming that He was coming soon. Even today you are declaring that He is coming soon, declaring that His coming is just around the corner, declaring that everyone must expect His return today. What has happened? Where is He? If He was coming back to earth, He would have surely returned by now.”

Some mockers even argue this:

“There is so much suffering and evil in the world, Christ would have certainly returned by now if He was going to. He would have returned and brought the peace and abundance of life that Christians proclaim.”

Note: the first argument of the scoffers is based upon the teaching that the second coming is false. They feel that Christ would have returned long ago if the teaching were true. The fact that He has not yet returned proves that the teaching of the second coming is false. Christ is not returning to earth. A person can, therefore, forget the doctrine and go ahead and live like he wishes.

“For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be....But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but My Father only” (Mt.24:27, 36).

“And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory” (Lk.21:27).

“Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven” (Acts 1:11).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

2. They scoff because the world continues on just as it always has. They argue:

“There has never been a change in the way the world operates; there has not been a change since creation itself, not a convulsive event that would shake the world like the return of Jesus Christ to earth in a worldwide judgment.”

Note: this second argument is based upon the stability of the universe and its laws, upon the fact that the laws of nature run the world and keep it stable and functioning. The laws of nature have kept the universe running on and on without any major convulsive event. Therefore they argue:

“Why then should people get excited and become concerned about the world ending? The laws of nature run the universe, not an imaginary God. Nothing has ever changed the world; the world has been going on for millions of years. In fact, it has been continuing on for thousands of years since Christ came. Why then get concerned about a change now? The laws of nature will continue to run the universe and keep it stable.”

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry” (Lk.12:19).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleasures, that dwellest carelessly, that sayest in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children” (Is.47:8).

“They have belied the LORD, and said, It is not he; neither shall evil come upon us; neither shall we see sword nor famine” (Jer.5:12).

“The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground?” (Obad.3).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.26:12).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

5 (3:5-7) Jesus Christ, Return: the scoffers are ignorant of three facts, and note, Scripture says that they are willingly ignorant. They choose to ignore, to be unreasonable, and to reject the fact that God is the Creator and Sustainer of the world. Note these facts.

1. Scripture declares that the world is not self-creating and self-sufficient (v.5). It was not made by the laws of nature and it does not run and operate itself by the laws of nature. The heavens and earth were created by the Word of God. It was God, His speaking the world into existence, who created the universe and the laws of nature. The heavens and earth were created by God simply speaking and bringing them into being. God is God, the Supreme Intelligence and Power; therefore, God can simply will and speak, and His Word creates whatever He wills.

The point is this: mockers willingly choose to ignore and reject God, to deny God’s absolute intelligence and power. Therefore, they are willingly ignorant that God created the world and that He sustains it by the mere power of His Word. The world and its laws are existing today only because God keeps them existing today. The only reason Jesus Christ has not yet returned to earth is because it is not yet God’s time. God is not yet ready for Christ to return. When God’s day arrives, God will simply speak the Word and Christ will return. The final chapter of human history will then be closed.

“In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth” (Gen.1:1).

“Thou, even thou, art Lord alone; thou hast made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee” (Neh.9:6).

“He stretcheth out the north over the empty place, and hangeth the earth upon nothing” (Job 26:7).

“Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands” (Ps.102:25).

“And saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and preach unto you that ye should turn from these vanities unto the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein” (Acts 14:15).

“Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear” (Heb.11:3).

2. Scripture declares that the world has not always continued on as it presently does (v.6). The idea that worldwide convulsive events do not happen is totally false. The earth has perished before; God spoke the Word and judged the world. His Word destroyed the world with a flood and all life was destroyed except Noah and his family and two of every creature. God did not let people go on and on in their sin forever. God judged and punished sinners. The world is a moral universe. God created it to be moral, and He expects man to live righteous and godly lives while here on earth. If they refuse, then He speaks His Word and judges the earth.

Again, note that the mockers willingly choose to ignore and reject the facts about a flood that destroyed all of life. The bones and the imprint of the bones of sea life can be found all over the dry land of the earth, yet men continue to reject the evidence of a cataclysmic flood that destroyed life upon earth. They ignore and reject that this is a moral universe that is answerable to a loving and just God. They reject Him because they want to control their own lives and live as they wish (v.3).

The point is this: the world was destroyed by God’s Word once; it can therefore be destroyed by God’s Word again. One cataclysmic destruction took place; therefore, another catastrophic destruction can occur. In fact, the only reason the world has not yet been destroyed is that it is not yet God’s time. But Scripture is clear; God has spoken: Jesus Christ is going to return to the world and the world is going to be judged and destroyed again.

“But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only. But as the days of Noe were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be. For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be” (Mt.24:36-39).

“Which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water” (1 Pt.3:20).

“And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly” (2 Pt.2:5).

“And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them” (Gen.6:5-7).

“And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven; and every thing that is in the earth shall die” (Gen.6:17).

“In the six hundredth year of Noah’s life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened” (Gen.7:11).

“Hast thou marked the old way which wicked men have trodden? which were cut down out of time, whose foundation was overflown with a flood: which said unto God, Depart from us, and what can the Almighty do for them?” (Job 22:15-17).

“For this is as the waters of Noah unto me: for as I have sworn that the waters of Noah should no more go over the earth; so have I sworn that I would not be wroth with thee, nor rebuke thee” (Is.54:9).

3. Scripture declares that the heavens and earth are being kept, reserved, and stored up for destruction by fire (v.7). How? By God’s Word. God is controlling the heavens and the earth. They have not yet been destroyed because God has not yet spoken the Word. But note: he is keeping, reserving, and storing up the world for destruction by fire. Why? Because of ungodly men. As stated, this is a moral universe and God expects men to live moral and pure lives. The day of judgment and perdition (destruction) is coming because men have chosen to live ungodly lives. It is this that men and mockers have chosen to ignore and reject: they are accountable to a loving, holy, and just God. It is this that they refuse to study and know and submit to. Therefore, they continue on in their selfish and hoarding and unjust and immoral ways. And they continue to scoff at the coming again of the Lord Jesus Christ to judge the earth.

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies, your tongue hath muttered perverseness” (Is.59:3).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord: looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled” (Heb.12:14-15).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST AND THE END OF THE WORLD, 3:1-18

B. The One Thing Not to Be Ignorant About: Why Christ Has Not Yet Returned, 3:8-10

(3:8-10) Introduction: Jesus Christ is coming back to earth. This is the declaration of Scripture time and again.

“Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven” (Mt.26:64).

“And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory” (Lk.21:27).

“Which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven” (Acts 1:11).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of man; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory; and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick [living] and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

Every generation of believers has proclaimed that Jesus Christ is coming soon. Even believers today proclaim that He is returning and that His return is just over the horizon. But it has been two thousand years since these promises were made. Does this mean then that the teaching of His return is false, that Jesus Christ is not going to return to earth? Have Christians been wrong in declaring that Jesus Christ was to return soon? How can thousands of years be said to be soon? There are those who ask questions like this and there are even those who use these questions to mock the return of Christ. The mockers of the second coming of Christ were the discussion of the former passage (see outline and notes—2 Pt.3:1-7 for discussion). But what are the answers to these questions? Why has Christ not yet returned? This is the one thing we must not be ignorant about: why Christ has not yet returned to earth.

1. The Lord does not measure time the same as man (v.8).
2. The Lord is not slow in sending Christ back to earth, but longsuffering (v.9).
3. The Day of the Lord is coming (v.10).

1 (3:8) Time—Jesus Christ, Return: Why has Christ not yet returned to earth? First, because God does not measure time the same as man. There are two differences between the time of God and the time of man.

1. There is the span of time. To God, a thousand years is only as one day. God is eternal. Think of thousands of years heaped upon thousands of years. Multiply ten thousand years times ten thousand and then multiply that by thousands of years again and keep on multiplying, never quitting. That is eternity. What then is one thousand years? Time is relative; it has no span to God. But this is not so to man. Man measures time by days and years, and he walks minute by minute throughout the day, all 365 days of the year. Therefore, time stretches on and on to him. But to God, who is eternal, it takes one thousand years to make a day. Therefore, to ask why Jesus Christ has not yet returned after two thousand years is ridiculous. To God it has only been about two days since Christ died and arose. Two thousand years may seem like a long time to man, but not to God. To God two days is only a drop in a bucket.

The point is this: believers must not be discouraged because Christ has not yet returned. God may want a lot more to take place on earth before He sends Christ back to earth. Our task is not to question when He is returning, but to watch and be ready in case He returns before we depart this life and go to Him.

2. There is the intensity of time. Note that one day with God is as a thousand years. Picture one day on the earth and consider...

- all the trials and temptations
- all the suffering and pain
- all the accidents and diseases
- all the sin and evil
- all the cursing and blasphemy against God
- all the selfishness and hoarding while millions are in desperate need
- all the people dying and being sent to hell

God feels every ounce of all the events. He loves us; therefore He feels it all. He suffers along with us, and the intensity of His feeling is absolute. God is absolute and perfect; therefore He feels in an absolute and perfect sense. He suffers with us with such intensity that we could never even imagine the experience. This is what is meant by "one day is with the Lord as a thousand years." The feelings of one day are so intense that it feels like a thousand years. Whereas we bear only the sufferings of our own personal experience, God bears the sufferings of all the experiences of all men. Therefore, to God the experience during just one day of an evil earth is as a thousand years to Him.

This point is significant: it is a warning to man. God will not bear evil forever. He will not suffer the rejection and rebellion of men too long. He will speak the Word and send Christ back to judge the world. Scripture definitely teaches that we are living in the last days.

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away" (2 Tim.3:1-5).

"[God] hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds" (Heb.1:2).

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot: who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you" (1 Pt.1:18-20).

"Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts" (2 Pt.3:3).

"Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time" (1 Jn.2:18).

"But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; how that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts" (Jude 17-18).

2 (3:9) Salvation—Longsuffering: Why has Christ not yet returned to earth? Because God loves man; He does not want any person to perish, not a single person. God is not slack in fulfilling His promise nor is He powerless to return and judge the earth. He has not returned for one reason and one reason only. He wants more and more people to come to repentance. Note two significant points.

1. God is longsuffering (makrothumei). The word means...
 - that God is patient with us.
 - that God bears and suffers a long time with us.
 - that God perseveres and is constant in suffering with us.
 - that God is steadfast and enduring in being patient with us.

Very simply, God is slow to give in and to judge and condemn us. God loves and cares for us despite our sin and rebellion, cursing and rejection. This is the very reason He sent Christ to save us. He loves and cares for us; therefore, He is suffering a long time with us.

"And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent: because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead" (Acts 17:30-31).

"Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" (Ro.2:4).

"Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God" (Ro.3:25).

"But to Israel he saith, All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people" (Ro.10:21).

2. God wants no person to perish. To perish is a terrible thing. It means to be utterly lost and destroyed. It means to lose eternal life and to be cut off from life forever and ever. It means to be spiritually destitute, completely empty of all good. It means to suffer the judgment, condemnation, and punishment of separation from God forever and ever. It means to perish; to be in a state of suffering forever and ever apart from God.

The point is this: God does not want us perishing; He does not want us cut off and separated from Him. God wants us to spend eternity with Him not apart from Him.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

3. God wants all to come to repentance (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Pt.3:9 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:9) Repent—Repentance: to change; to turn; to change one’s mind; to turn one’s life. It is a turning away from sin and turning to God. It is a change of mind, a forsaking of sin. It is putting sin out of one’s thoughts and behavior. It is resolving never to think or do a thing again. (Cp. Mt.3:2; Lk.13:2-3; Acts 2:38; 3:19; 8:22; 26:20.) The change is turning away from lying, stealing, cheating, immorality, cursing, drunkenness, and the other so-called glaring sins of the flesh. But the change is also turning away from the silent sins of the spirit such as self-centeredness, selfishness, envy, bitterness, pride, covetousness, anger, evil thoughts, hopelessness, laziness, jealousy, and lust.

1. Repentance involves two turns. There is a negative turn away from sin and a positive turn toward God. It is a turning to God away from sin, whether sins of thought or action. (See note, Repentance—Lk.3:3. Cp. 1 Th.1:9; Acts 14:15.)

2. Repentance is more than sorrow. Sorrow may or may not be involved in repentance. A person may repent simply because he wills and acts to change; or a person may repent because he senses an agonizing sorrow within. But the sense or feeling of sorrow is not repentance. Repentance is both the change of mind and the actual turning of one’s life away from sin and toward God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.7:10.)

“And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Mt.3:2).

“I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish” (Lk.13:3).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent” (Acts 17:30).

3 (3:10) Day of the Lord—Jesus Christ, Return: Why has Christ not yet returned to earth? The glorious fact is that He shall return. The Day of the Lord is coming. He is going to bring about the glorious day of redemption, giving all believers the wonderful privilege of living with Him forever and ever.

1. The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night. Note a significant fact: a man never knows when a thief is going to hit his house. No thief tells a man ahead of time that he is going to strike his house. If a man knew, he would watch and prepare. This is just the point: the Lord Jesus Christ has told us that He is coming back to earth. He has forewarned us, but He has not told us when. Why?

⇒ Not knowing when Jesus is returning keeps us focused upon Him and His return. It keeps us looking and longing for Him. It keeps us watching, and it stirs us to live pure and holy lives.

⇒ Not knowing when Jesus is returning serves as a warning to unbelievers. It warns them that they must repent now, today, for He could return today and catch them unprepared.

The day of the Lord is coming, but it is coming as a thief in the night. His return is going to be totally unexpected by most people. The believer must...

- not be careless: get tired of waiting up, get sleepy, be caught off guard, begin to disbelieve. (All of this can happen to a homeowner waiting on a burglar.)
- watch: sit up, stay awake, listen, look, take notice of all noises and sights (signs). (The burglar always comes in an unexpected hour.)

“Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrowing, or in the morning” (Mk.13:35).

“For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be” (Mt.24:27).

“But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels of heaven, but my Father only” (Mt.24:36).

“Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh” (Mt.24:44).

“And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh” (Mt.25:10-13, cp. v.6-9).

“For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night” (1 Th.5:2).

“Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee” (Rev.3:3).

“Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk naked, and they see his shame” (Rev.16:15).

2. The heavens and universe shall pass away: all “the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein.” Based upon what we know about the universe today—the basic elements such as the atom—nothing really needs to be said about how the universe is going to be destroyed. It is rather a matter of belief in God, that God is God, the Supreme Intelligence and Force of the universe. If a person believes in God, then he knows that God can destroy the universe. How? By doing what He did when He created the world and when He destroyed the earth the first time (cp. v.5-6), that is, by simply speaking the Word, by simply commanding a universal atomic explosion to take place.

Man himself has enough intelligence to burst the atom and to cause a chain reaction that would be so devastating that it would destroy the earth and melt the elements of the earth with fervent heat. Man himself can cause an atomic explosion so severe that every element of the earth would melt with fervent heat. Why then doubt God?

All God has to do is speak the Word and all the atoms throughout the universe will burn up in a chain reaction. There would be an atomic explosion that would destroy the whole universe.

The point is this: “the day of the Lord will come.” There is no question about it.

- ⇒ Just as God spoke the Word and created the world...
- ⇒ just as God spoke the Word and destroyed the earth in Noah’s day...
- ⇒ so God is going to speak the Word and the day of the Lord will come.

“The heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up” (v.10).

Now note: Why is God going to destroy both heaven and earth? There is one glorious reason and verse thirteen tells us: so that He can create a new heavens and earth where righteousness dwells. God wants a perfect world in which there will be nothing but righteousness. Note: verse ten says that the earth and “the works that are therein shall be burned up.” By “works” is meant all the works of man’s hands:

- | | |
|---------------|--------------|
| ⇒ buildings | ⇒ services |
| ⇒ offices | ⇒ evil works |
| ⇒ houses | ⇒ businesses |
| ⇒ religion | ⇒ murder |
| ⇒ governments | ⇒ wars |

Everything that man has ever done, all of his corruptible works, shall be burned up and destroyed by the fire of God’s judgment. The whole universe will be destroyed by fire; a fiery explosion will take place and the fire will be so hot that every element will melt from the fervent heat. But note: it is all so that God’s eternal purpose for the universe can be fulfilled. God is going to create a new heavens and earth in which only righteousness will exist. The righteous, those who have trusted the Lord Jesus Christ for righteousness, shall be the citizens of the new heavens and earth. The new heavens and earth will be the home where God’s people will live and serve Him for all of eternity.

Thought 1. What man must do is watch and prepare. He must repent, turn to God, and turn away from his sin and the coming destruction. Scripture is clear, and it is stated as clearly as it can be.

“For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled” (Mt.5:18).

“Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away” (Mt.24:35).

“But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you. For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:1-3).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day” (Jude 6).

“And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?” (Rev.6:17).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea” (Rev.21:1).

“For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind” (Is.65:17).

“For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the LORD, so shall your seed and your name remain” (Is.66:22).

“Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands. They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: yea, all of them shall wax old like a garment; as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end” (Ps.102:25-27).

“And all the host of heaven shall be dissolved, and the heavens shall be rolled together as a scroll: and all their host shall fall down, as the leaf falleth off from the vine, and as a falling fig from the fig tree” (Is.34:4).

“Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished” (Is.51:6).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST AND THE END OF THE WORLD, 3:1-18

C. The Things Believers Must Do Since Jesus Christ is Coming Again (Part I), 3:11-14

(3:11-14) Introduction: Jesus Christ is coming to earth again. Therefore, there are some things that believers must do, and they are of critical importance.

1. Believers must live holy and godly lives (v.11).
2. Believers must look for and speed up the day of God (v.12).
3. Believers must look for the new heavens and new earth (v.13).
4. Believers must be prepared for the coming of Christ (v.14).

1 (3:11) Jesus Christ, Return—Holiness—Godliness—World, Judgment of: believers must live holy and godly lives. In fact, note the Scripture: all of our behavior must be holy and godly. There is to be no area of our lives—no part, no act—that is not holy and godly. Why? Why such a stress upon holiness and godliness? One strong reason is given.

The heavens and earth are to be dissolved because of the sin and evil of man. It is the sin and evil of man that has made the world so corrupt—corrupt beyond repair. God will be forced to destroy the world because of our sin and evil. The sin and evil of man has put the world under a curse of destruction. Sin and evil are therefore terrible things, abominable things! They should be hated and despised by every man, woman, and child. All sin and evil should be despised because of the terrible things they do and have done. They have caused a curse of corruption and utter destruction upon the earth. For this reason, we should hate sin and evil and love holiness and godliness. We should be holy and godly in all of our behavior.

1. Holy means that our behavior is sanctified, that is, set apart unto God; separated from the world and given over to God; given over to live pure and righteous lives (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Holy—1 Pt.1:15-16).

“For I am the Lord that bringeth you up out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: ye shall therefore be holy, for I am holy” (Lev.11:45).

“That he would grant unto us, that we, being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear. In holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

“Exalt the Lord our God, and worship at his holy hill; for the Lord our God is holy” (Ps.99:9).

“And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory” (Is.6:3).

“Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name: for thou only art holy; for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest” (Rev.15:4).

2. Godliness means that we live like God and seek to be a godly person; that we live and do all things in the reverence and awe of God; that we are so conscious of God’s presence that we live like God would live if He were walking upon earth (see note, Godliness—2 Pt.1:3).

Thought 1. Note: godliness means to be Christlike. Godliness is Christlikeness: it is living upon earth just as Christ lived.

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

2 (3:12) Jesus Christ, Return—World, Judgment of; Destruction of: believers must look for and seek to bring the day of God about. The day of God refers to the day when God shall dissolve and destroy the heavens and earth, the day when the universe “shall be set aflame by fire and shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat” (v.12; see note—2 Pt.3:10 for discussion). What is to be the attitude of the believer toward the day of God?

1. The believer is to be “looking for” (prosdokontas) the day of God. The word means to wait; to wait patiently but expectantly; to eagerly anticipate and long for the day of God; to be in expectation (W.E. Vine. Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words).

2. The believer is to hasten the day of God. The word “hastening” (speudontas) can mean two things.

- a. To hasten can mean to hurry after; to earnestly desire; to rush toward. The believer is to live a holy and godly life looking for and hastening toward the day of God. Keeping his eyes upon that terrible day of judgment is to arouse him to live a holy and godly life. Every day that he lives upon earth is to be a day in which he hastens toward the judgment of God; he should never take his eyes off the terrible day of God that is coming. If he takes his eyes off that day, if he fails to direct his life toward the day of God, then he will most likely slip into unholiness and ungodliness. He must, therefore, stay focused upon the day of God, the day of the terrible judgment to come upon the heavens and earth.
- b. To hasten can also mean to hasten on the day of God; to rush the coming of Christ; to cause the day of God to come sooner. The believer has a part in bringing about the eternal kingdom of God; he has a part in bringing about the return of Christ and the great day of God. How? God is “longsuffering...not willing that any should perish” (v.9). This is the reason He is delaying the return of Christ. Apparently, God has a certain number of believers that He has ordained to be brothers and sisters of His dear Son; apparently there are to be a certain number of believers to rule and manage the new heavens and earth for Christ. In His eternal knowledge God certainly knows the number who will be saved and serving His dear Son. Whatever the number and whatever the case, that number has to be reached before Christ can come and before the great day of God can destroy the universe and make a new heavens and earth. This much is known for sure:

⇒ God does have a certain number of believers in mind. Being God, He has purposed that His Son have many brothers who will reign with Him and who will worship and serve God through all eternity (cp. Ro.8:28-29 where God will allow nothing to stop Him from giving Christ “many brothers.”)

⇒ This Scripture tells us that we are to hasten on, to help bring about the day of God.

Thought 1. How can we help the day of God to come? How can we quicken the return of Christ and the end of the world? By living more holy and godly lives so that more people will more readily be attracted to Christ. The more they see Christ in us, His presence and power carrying us through the trials and temptations of life, the more they are going to want Christ and His power in their lives. The more holy and godly we live the more people will see the things for which they long...

- strength to conquer the trials and temptations of life
- hope in the future
- assurance and confidence of living forever
- conviction, purpose, meaning, and significance in life
- love, joy, and peace

When people see these things, the things for which they long, they will be attracted to Christ much quicker. The result will be more souls for Christ. They will be won much quicker and the number that God has in mind will be reached much sooner. Therefore, the way we are to speed up the day of God is to live more dynamic lives for Christ. We must live more holy and godly lives for Christ, and we must witness more diligently than ever before. We must begin to tell everyone that the Messiah, the Savior of the world, has come—that He has come to save us from the sin and death of the world and to give us a life of love, joy, peace, and power—the power to live abundantly both now and forever.

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel; which is come unto you, as it is in all the world; and bringeth forth fruit, as it doth also in you, since the day ye heard of it, and knew the grace of God in truth” (Col.1:5-6).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.

Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure" (1 Jn.3:1-3).

3 (3:13) Jesus Christ, Return—New Heavens and Earth: believers must look for a new heavens and earth. Scripture clearly says that God is going to create a new heavens and a new earth. No matter what men may think and say about the issue, God declares as simply and as clearly as human language can describe that He is going to make a new heavens and a new earth. Why? So that the world will be perfect and nothing but righteousness will exist therein. God has ordained a perfect world, a world in which only righteous people will live. God wants a world where there will be no more sin and evil, no more accidents, disease, suffering, murder, drunkenness, drugs, adultery, sexual perversion, war, or death. God wants a people who know only the fulness of love, joy, and peace, a people who worship and serve Him forever and ever. (See note, pt.2—2 Pt.3:10 for more discussion.) The old but great Pulpit Commentary says:

"St. John, like St. Peter, speaks of a new earth, and tells us that that new earth will be the dwelling place of the blessed [believer]. He saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven; the throne of God and of the Lamb (he tells us shall be in it). 'The tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them.' The holy city, Jerusalem, which is above, is in heaven now...But heaven will come down to earth; the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be there [upon earth]; there his servants shall serve him" ("The Pulpit Commentary," Vol.22, p.69f).

The great Biblical commentator Matthew Henry says:

"In these new heavens and earth...only righteousness shall dwell; this is to be the habitation of such righteous persons as do righteousness, and are free from the power and pollution of sin...those only who are clothed with the righteousness of Christ, and sanctified by the Holy Ghost, shall be admitted to dwell in this holy place" (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6, p.1057.)

"For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us. For the earnest expectation of the creature [creation] waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God. For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope. Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now" (Ro.8:18-22).

"For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Heb.11:10).

"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city" (Heb.11:13-16).

"Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Pt.3:13).

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful" (Rev.21:1-5).

"For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Is.65:17).

"For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the LORD, so shall your seed and your name remain" (Is.66:22).

4 (3:14) Jesus Christ, Return—Believer, Life and Walk—Blameless: believers must be diligent and prepared for the coming of Christ. The word "diligent" (spoudasate) means to be eager; to strive earnestly; to be zealous in seeking after. The believer is to be diligent, that is, eager, earnest and zealous in preparing himself for the return of the Lord. Why? So that the Lord will find him prepared. Note that three preparations are necessary.

1. The believer must be found in peace. He must be at peace with both God and man. He must not be living in rebellion against God nor be divided against his brothers and sisters. He must not be...

- living like he wants instead of how God says
- doing his own thing
- disobeying God
- living in sin
- cheating, lying, or stealing
- being selfish and hateful

- gossiping and criticizing
- grumbling and backbiting
- stirring up trouble within the church
- neglecting and ignoring God

The believer must be at peace with God and with men. He must be living just like God says to live, and he must be living as one with his brothers and sisters. When Christ comes, no believer dare be found criticizing and being divided from a brother or sister. And no believer dare be found at odds with Christ and not living for Christ. Such sinful behavior will be severely judged.

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful” (Col.3:15).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

“Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee” (Job 22:21).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

2. The believer must be without spot. This means to be clean, pure, and unsoiled; to have no dirt, pollution, or contamination of sin whatsoever. The believer is to be confessing his sins always, all day long. He is to be walking in constant communion and fellowship with Christ, walking in open confession, confessing all the sin and contamination that he picks up from the world. Just being in the world means that some of the pollution of sin catches the eye and ears of the believer and causes unclean thoughts to cross his mind. The believer must walk in open confession, praying always for the power of Christ’s blood to cleanse him and to keep him pure. This is the only way a believer can ever be found spotless by Christ when He returns.

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins” (Acts 13:38).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

3. The believer must be found “blameless” (amometoi). The word means free from fault and censure; to be faultless; above reproach and rebuke. The believer is to live a blameless, faultless, and pure life, both in the church and in the world. No one is to be able to point to the Christian and accuse or blame him with anything. The Christian is to be clean, unpolluted, spotless, holy, righteous, and pure before man and God.

“I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple [harmless] concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“They ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

DIVISION III

THE COMING AGAIN OF JESUS CHRIST AND THE END OF THE WORLD, 3:1-18

D. The Things Believers Must Do Since Jesus Christ is Coming Again (Part II), 3:15-18

(3:15-18) Introduction: this passage concludes the second letter of Peter. The emphasis of this concluding exhortation is striking. Jesus Christ is coming again, but His coming has been delayed. Believers are still on earth waiting for Him to come. What then are we to be doing? There are some critical things we should be doing. What are they? (Note: this is a continuation of the former passage and subject, 2 Pt.3:11-14.)

1. Believers must count the Lord's longsuffering as salvation (v.15-16).
2. Believers must beware lest they be led into error (v.17).
3. Believers must grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord (v.18).

1 (3:15-16) God, Longsuffering—Salvation—Paul: believers must count the longsuffering of the Lord as salvation.

1. Remember: scoffers ridicule the coming again of Jesus Christ. They say such is foolishness. They say that the world is operated and run by the natural laws of nature; they say that if God existed and cared about the world, He would have come long ago and saved the world from all the evil, corruption, murder, and war that rages on and on (v.3-4). Remember what Scripture says, why it is that Jesus Christ has not yet come: because God is longsuffering and does not want any person to perish. He wants all to repent and to be saved (v.9). Now note: this is what the present verse is referring to. We are to count the longsuffering of God as salvation. The Lord Jesus has not yet returned to earth for one reason and one reason only: that more and more people might be saved, that more and more might be snatched out of the claws of death and judgment. This is the reason the Lord delays His return. His delay...

- is not because He has forgotten the earth.
- is not because He is angry with man because man has not paid more attention to His Word and teaching.
- is not because He does not care and love man enough to deliver him out of the evil, corruption, and suffering of the world.

The Lord cares and loves man so much that He wants all men to be saved. He longs for all men to repent and turn to Him. He shrinks from the thought of returning because He knows that when He returns every single unbeliever is doomed forever and ever. Therefore, He waits one more day; He waits longing for a few more to be saved; He waits because He knows that all unbelievers will be doomed to judgment and destruction.

The point is this: the believer must count the longsuffering of the Lord as salvation, as His concern for souls. We must never look upon the Lord's delay as unconcern or lack of care for His people and for the world. God loves all people, every single person on earth; therefore, He is longsuffering with the sin and evil of men. He is suffering a long time with man and his cursing and rebellion and rejection. But the day will come when God cannot bear sin and evil any longer. When that day comes, He will return and all the unbelievers and ungodly of this world will fall into the hands of an angry God, a God who is just and holy and righteous—just as much so as He was loving and longsuffering and caring.

2. Note a significant fact: Peter says that Paul wrote the same thing in his writings. That is, Paul taught that God delayed the coming of Christ so that more and more people could be saved.

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus: whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance [longsuffering] of God” (Ro.3:24-25).

“What if God, willing to show his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction: and that he might make known the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercy, which he had afore prepared unto glory” (Ro.9:22-23).

“For if God spared not the natural branches [Israel, God's chosen people in the Old Testament], take heed lest he also spare not thee. Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off” (Ro.11:21-22).

3. Note that some people twist the Scripture to their viewpoint. The point is this: believers are not to take the delay of Christ and assume that it is going to be years and years before He ever comes and before we have to face judgment. We must keep our eyes on His return, watch, prepare, and be ready at all times. If we are not watching, then we are being lazy and complacent and are much more likely to fall into sin and worldliness. And if this happens, we will be caught unprepared and be spotted and dirtied with sin and stand blameable before Him (cp. v.14).

The Lord is not delaying His return so that we can enjoy this world and its pleasures and possessions more. This earth is to be dissolved, utterly destroyed, and melted down. The Lord is delaying His return because He is longsuffering, wanting more and more people to be saved. Our task is to be more evangelistic; to live more spotless and blameless lives so that we can reach more and more people for Christ. The delay of Christ should not cause us to become lethargic and complacent and worldly; it should stir us to be more diligent in the mission of Christ. If we twist the Scripture, allowing the longsuffering of God to stir the thought that we have a little more time to wait, then we are destroying ourselves.

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God” (Mt.22:29).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:2).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloak of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

Thought 1. Note two things.

- 1) Peter said that Paul wrote some things that were difficult to understand. He also says that some people twisted what Paul said just as they twisted the truth of God’s longsuffering. What were those things?
 - ⇒ Paul’s teaching on justification by faith. This teaching led some people to say that when a person believed in Christ, he was saved no matter how he lived. Even if a person lived like the devil himself, if he believed in Christ, he was saved. This, of course, leads to the abuse of grace (cp. Ro.3:5-8; 6:1f; Jas.2:14-26).
 - ⇒ Paul’s teaching on Christian liberty and freedom. This teaching led some people to say that Paul was removing the restrictions of God upon behavior and giving license to live and do as one likes (Ro.8:1-2; 7:4; 14:1-23; 1 Cor.6:12; Gal.3:10; 5:13).
- 2) Peter said that Paul’s writings were accepted as Scripture by the early church (v.16). He says that they twisted Paul’s writings even as they did “the other Scriptures.” The great Greek scholar A.T. Robertson says:

“There is no doubt that the apostles claimed to speak by the help of the Holy Spirit (1 Th.5:27; Col.4:16) just as the prophets of old did (2 Pt.1:20f.). Peter thus puts Paul’s Epistles on the same plane with the Old Testament, which was also misused (Mt.5:21-44; 15:3-6; 19:3-10)” (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.179).

The commentator Michael Green says:

“Notice how Peter admires Paul’s wisdom—not without reason! Yet his is a gift from God, as Paul was the first to admit (1 Cor.3:10; 2:6, 16). Polycarp writes in the same vein (c AD 115), ‘Neither I nor anyone like me can attain to (lit. ‘keep up with’) the wisdom of the blessed and glorious Paul, who also, when he was absent from you, wrote you letters. It is interesting to see the difference here between the first and early second century references to Paul. To Peter he is a ‘beloved brother’: to Polycarp, though himself one of the most distinguished of subapostolic bishops and a sufferer for the faith, he had already become ‘the blessed and glorious Paul’. If 2 Peter is a pseudepigraph, it is a very good one!” (The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.146).

Michael Green again says:

“There can, in any case be no question that long before AD 60 Christian writings were being read in church alongside the Old Testament, and consequently were well on the way to being rated as equivalent in value to it...The point was this. The apostles were conscious that they spoke the word of the Lord (1 Th.2:13) as surely as did any of the prophets. There is nothing, therefore, unnatural about their placing each other alongside the Old Testament prophets. The same Holy Spirit who inspired the prophets was active in themselves. That is quite enough to explain how Peter could have put Paul alongside the Old Testament writers in this verse. Bigg

[of the International Critical Commentaries] remarks that, so far from having an inferiority complex about Moses and the prophets, the apostles believed themselves to be even higher in the purposes of God. St. Paul sets apostles before prophets (Eph.4:11)...And it follows from 1 Pt.1:12 that the Christian evangelist was superior to the old prophets, as Christ Himself was greater than Moses” (The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.148f).

2 (3:17) Believer, Duty: believers must beware lest they be led into error. Note that Peter addresses the believers of the churches as beloved. He loves God’s people, and it has been his love that has stirred him to warn them of the great day of God that is coming, the terrible judgment and destruction of the ungodly and of the heavens and earth. Now Peter gives the beloved believers one more warning:

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (v.17).

The believer has been warned; he now knows all about these things. He has read and studied the letter of Second Peter...

- the message of the great love and salvation of God and of the coming judgment of God upon man and his world.
- the message that warns against false teachers who pervert and twist the Scriptures. They deny the Lord (2 Pt.2:1f) and the Scripture (2 Pt.2:1f) and the return of Christ and the judgment to come (2 Pt.3:3f).

The believer has been warned; therefore, he must now beware, guard and stand against the error of false teachers. If he does not stay alert and guard against the teaching of false teachers, he will be led away by their error. The believer will fall and no longer be stedfast. He will lose the exciting hope of the Lord’s return and no longer look forward to the glorious union with Christ nor to eternal life with God the Father.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you [living] like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“And Jesus answering them began to say, Take heed lest any man deceive you” (Mk.13:5).

“Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is” (Mk.13:33).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils” (1 Tim.4:1).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

3 (3:18) Grace—Knowledge: believers must grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. (See note—2 Pt.1:2 for discussion.)

Note the close of Peter’s letter, a glorious exaltation of praise: “To Him be glory both now and forever.” All the glory that belongs to God, Peter says belongs to Jesus Christ. And if any one person should know, Peter should. Peter is the big fisherman, the man chosen by Christ to be one of His closest associates and to be the leader of His small apostolic band. No one knew Jesus Christ any better than Peter. And Peter says that the glory due God belongs to Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is God incarnate in human flesh, God who came down to earth to reveal Himself and to save men.

“What a telling final ejaculation! It reveals the mainspring of Peter’s Christianity. Christ the Saviour; Christ the Lord; to Christ belongs glory for ever. In this incidental phrase we have the highest possible Christology. For glory belongs to God (Ro.11:36, Jude 25). But Peter had learnt that ‘all men should honour the Son even as they honour the Father’ (Jn.5:23)” (Michael Green. The Second Epistle of Peter and The Epistle of Jude. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.151).

Matthew Henry says:

“We must grow in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. Follow on to know the Lord. Labour to know him more clearly and more fully, to know more of Christ...so as to be more like him and to love him better. This is the knowledge of Christ the apostle Paul reached after and desired to attain, Ph.3:10. Such a knowledge of Christ as conforms us more to him and [will] preserve us from falling off in times of...apostasy; and those who experience...the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ will...give thanks and praise to him, and join with our apostle in saying, To him be glory both now and for ever. Amen” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.1059).

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF

JOHN

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF

JOHN

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: John, the Apostle (see the Gospel of John, Introductory Notes, Author).

The author does not give his name nor give himself a title. But the author is easily identifiable. The style, vocabulary, and content point to the same author writing the Gospel of John and the Epistles of I, II, and III John.

John Stott points out that all three epistles are found in the earliest Greek manuscripts. There has never been any question about their being Scripture. The earliest reference to the three epistles was by Polycarp (about A.D. 155 in his letter to the Philippians, 7th chapter). But there are what seem to be quotations from the epistles made by earlier writers (Clement of Rome, the Didache, and the Epistle to Diogenetus). Eusebius verifies that John wrote at least the first two epistles. And Clement of Alexandria mentions “the greater epistle” of John which shows that he knew of more than one letter (John RW Stott. The Epistles of John. “Tyndale New Testament Commentary,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964, p.14f).

It should be mentioned, however, that some say there were two Johns: John the Apostle and John the Elder, who is said to have been a member or minister of the church at Ephesus. But the weight of evidence points directly to John the Apostle as the author of all four books.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 85-90 (see the Gospel of John, Introductory Notes, Date).

There is no mention of the persecution under the Emperor Domitian in A.D. 95, so the letter most likely was written before that date. It is thought that the three epistles were written about the same time. Some even feel that II and III John were written and sent at the same time as First John. If both Second and Third John are personal letters to individuals, they could have easily accompanied the letter of First John to the church.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: To the church at large. Note: there is no greeting, farewell, or personal references that would reveal the recipients. This means a most wonderful thing: each local church can look upon First John as though the letter has been personally written to it.

Tradition says that all three epistles were written from Ephesus where John pastored during the latter years of his life.

PURPOSE: “These things have I written...that ye may know that ye have eternal life” (5:13) (see Special Features, point 3). However, John also wrote to defend the faith and to strengthen the church against false teachers and heretical doctrine. John confronted the first stages of the same heretical teachings that Paul often confronted—the beginning stages of Gnosticism. Briefly stated, Gnosticism said that the human body was evil. This teaching resulted in two different attitudes toward the body and life.

⇒ Some said that the body needed to be disciplined, controlled, and taken care of as much as possible. By controlling its urges and appetites and keeping it fit, the corruption and evil of the body could be mastered more easily.

⇒ Others said that what was done with the body mattered little, for it was evil and doomed to death. Therefore, if a person took care of his spirit, he could eat, drink, and be merry and do whatever else he wanted with his body.

a. The parallel with the false teaching of today is clearly seen.

⇒ Some concentrate upon the body and its health through recreation and discipline, seeking to overcome the evil, that is, the corruption, disease, aging, and dying of the body as much as possible.

⇒ Others live as they please, eating and drinking and partying as they wish, thinking that it matters little how they live. Just think how many people feel that they can do their own thing—what they want, when they want—just so they believe in God and worship occasionally and do a good deed here and there.

The point to see is this: each person gives attention to the spiritual only as he wishes, only as much as he feels is necessary to keep his spirit in touch with God. But his concentration is the body and its pleasure, whether the pleasure is the exhibition of discipline and control or the stimulating of the flesh.

There are teeming millions, and have been since Christ, who believe that they are safe and acceptable to God just so they have been baptized, belong to a church, practice the rituals of the church, and worship here and there. They think they can pretty much live like they want during the week: eat, drink, party, seek the pleasures and possessions of the world, bank, hoard, even curse and be immoral here and there. What they do with their bodies, just so it is not too serious in their minds, does not matter that much. What it is that makes them acceptable to God is what has just been stated: being baptized and belonging to the church.

b. Note how the truth destroys this life-style and teaching. The human body is not evil; Jesus Christ, the image of God, came to earth in a human body. Therefore, the human body could not be evil, for God cannot be touched with evil. He is perfect. The conclusion is shocking and convulsive for the life of man. Since the body is honorable, it means that everything a man does with his body is important to his spiritual welfare. What he does with his body determines his relationship and destiny with God. It is totally impossible to keep one’s spirit right with God and let one’s body go its own way. A person is a person, both spirit and body. Therefore, he is to honor God with both his spirit and body, just as Jesus Christ did in the body given him by God. (See outline and notes—Ro.12:1-2; 1 Cor.6:12-20 for more discussion. See Colossians, Introductory Notes, Purpose. Also see note, pt.2—Col.1:15 for more detailed discussion.)

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. I John is "A General Epistle." That is, it is not written to a specific church, but rather it is written to all Christian believers. It is "An Epistle Written From a Father to His Children." It is written from the heart of a pastor who feels the tenderness of a father for his children (1 Jn.2:1, 12, 18, 28; 3:1, 2, 7, 18, 21; 4:1, 4, 7, 11; 5:2, 21). See James, Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 1.)
2. I John is "An Epistle Combating False Teachers and Doctrinal Error." (See Purpose above.)
3. I John is "An Epistle of Christian Certainty or Assurance." The phrase "we know" is used thirteen times to give assurance to the believer. The epistle assures the believer time and again that God has sent His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, into the world to save man (the incarnation). In addition, John assures the believer of eternal life. In contrast, the Gospel of John was written to stir faith "that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God..." (Jn.20:31).
4. I John is "The Epistle of Tests." It was written to give the believer test after test by which he could prove whether or not he knows God. The tests also strengthen the believer's faith and love for God. A quick glance at the outline will show this.
5. I John is "A Personal and a Spiritual Epistle." It is not written so much from a doctrinal point of view, although it is filled with doctrinal teaching. Its emphasis is personal righteousness, purity, love, and a knowledge and loyalty to Jesus Christ, the Son of God Himself.
6. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses Love" (1 Jn.2:7-11; 3:1-3; 3:11-17; 3:23; 4:7-21).
7. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, the Messiah, the Anointed One of God" (1 Jn.1:7; 2:1, 22; 3:8; 4:9-10, 14-15; 5:1, 5, 9-13, 18, 20).
8. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses that Jesus Christ Did Come As a Man" (1 Jn.1:1-3, 5, 8; 4:2-3, 9-10, 14; 5:6, 8, 20).
9. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses that Jesus Christ is the Savior: He Did Die for Man's Sins" (1 Jn.1:7; 2:1-2; 3:5, 8, 16; 4:9-10, 14).
10. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses the Spirit Living Within the Believer" (1 Jn.2:20, 27; 3:24; 4:13, 15-16; 5:12).
11. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses the Need for Separation From the World" (1 Jn.2:15-17; 3:1, 3, 13; 4:3-5; 5:4; 5:19).
12. I John is "An Epistle that Stresses Righteousness and Obedience to God's Commandments" (1 Jn.2:3-8, 29; 3:3-15, 22-24; 4:20-21; 5:2-4, 17-19, 21).

DIVISION I

THE GREAT TESTIMONY OF JOHN: THE SON OF GOD HAS COME TO EARTH, 1:1-5

(1:1-5) Introduction: John jumps right into the great subject he wants to cover. There is no greeting and no salutation. What he has to say is of unparalleled importance; he must get right to the point: God's Son has come to earth. God is not living off in outer space someplace like so many people think and say; God has not forgotten the earth. God is not unconcerned and disinterested in the world. The very opposite is true. God loves and cares for us and He has proven it in the most supreme way possible: God has sent His Son into the world. This is the glorious testimony of John: God's Son has come into the world and His name is Jesus Christ. Jesus is the Messiah, the Savior of the world.

1. Jesus Christ has always existed (v.1).
2. Jesus Christ has proven who He is (v.1).
3. Jesus Christ has revealed who He is: the Word of Life (v.1-2).
4. Jesus Christ came to earth for the most glorious purpose (v.3-4).
5. Jesus Christ preached the most wonderful message (v.5).

(1:1-5) Another Outline: The Son of God Has Come to Earth.

1. The basic fact: He has always existed (v.1).
2. The clear proof: Man heard, saw, looked upon, and handled (v.1).
3. The most glorious revelation (v.1-2).
 - a. He manifested Himself, revealed the life to us.
 - b. He identified with man: Gave man the opportunity to see Him.
4. The most glorious purpose (v.3-4).
 - a. That we might have fellowship together.
 - b. That our joy might be full (v.4).
5. The most wonderful message (v.5).
 - a. That God is light.
 - b. That there is no darkness in God.

1 (1:1) Jesus Christ, Son of God—Eternal—Pre-existent: Jesus Christ has always existed. This is what is meant by the words "that which was from the beginning." Jesus Christ was existing before the world was ever created. He was living and had always been living. He possessed life—the energy, the force, the power of life. He was the very being and essence of life, the very embodiment of life. Life was wrapped up in Him, for He was the very energy and force of life itself.

Thought 1. The point is clear: from the beginning Jesus Christ was already there. He did not have a beginning; He was not created. He "was from the beginning with God." Our Lord and Savior knows what the other world is all about, for He has come from there. Therefore, all that He told us is true. We can trust His Word.

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God" (Jn.1:1).

"Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God" (Ps.90:2).

"I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was" (Pr.8:23).

"And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was" (Jn.17:5).

“[Christ Jesus] who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross” (Ph.2:6-8; cp. 2 Cor.8:9).

2 (1:1) Jesus Christ, Deity; Revelation, Proof of—John, Testimony of: Jesus Christ proved who He is. How? By partaking of human flesh, by becoming a man and letting people hear, see, look upon, and handle him.

1. John and the early believers heard the Son of God. The Son of God actually partook of flesh and blood and became a man and spoke to men (cp. Heb.2:14-15). They heard Him teach and share the glorious news that God loves man, that man can be delivered from sin and death and live forever with God. The twelve apostles and thousands of others not only heard about Him, they actually heard Him proclaim the words of life. They heard Him deal with individuals and heard Him teach audiences of thousands. They themselves spoke to Him and heard Him speak to them. For three years John and the apostles and many others were in constant conversation with Him, listening and hanging on to every word He said.

Thought 1. One of the great needs of man is a Word from God—a Word that tells us the truth about God and about life—who we are, why we are here, and where we are going.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

2. John and the early believers saw the Son of God with their eyes. The Son of God actually became a man. Men saw Him in the flesh just as they see all other men. Note: John says they saw Him with their eyes. He wants us to know that Jesus Christ was not a phantom, ghost, or spirit. He was real; He had actually partaken of flesh and blood and become a man. He and the others saw Him with their eyes. They were as Matthew Henry says, “Eyewitnesses as well as ear-witnesses” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.1061).

⇒ They were witnesses of His life upon earth for three years, from His baptism by John the Baptist to His resurrection from the dead. They saw all his wonderful works: the healings and miracles and good deeds that He ministered to people. They saw the most wonderful event of all, His resurrection and conquest of death for man.

“Wherefore of these men which have companied with us all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us, beginning from the baptism of John, unto that same day that he was taken up from us, must one be ordained to be a witness with us of his resurrection” (Acts 1:21-22).

⇒ They were eyewitnesses of His majesty and they declare the truth to us.

“For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty” (2 Pt.1:16).

3. John and the early believers looked upon the Son of God. This means more than just seeing Jesus Christ in a human body. The Greek word for “looked upon” (etheasametha) means to gaze and look upon for a long time in order to study and understand and grasp. It means to look intensely and earnestly; it means to grasp the meaning and significance of a person. John is testifying that he and the other apostles and believers looked and gazed upon Jesus Christ in order...

- to study and understand Him.
- to seek and grasp the meaning and significance of His person.

Thought 1. A person will never see and understand who Christ is by just glancing at Him. If a person wants to know Christ, he has to look intensely and seriously; he has to seek to understand if Christ really is who John and other believers claim He is.

“But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:24).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed” (Jn.8:31-32).

4. John and the early believers handled Jesus Christ, the Son of God. The word “handled” (epselaphesan) means more than just touching. It means to grope and grasp after in order to understand; to handle in order to examine closely (John RW Stott. The Epistles of John. “Tyndale New Testament Commentary,” p.60). A.T. Robertson, the Greek scholar, says that it is a graphic word, the very same word that Jesus used to prove that He was not a spirit after His resurrection (Word Pictures In The New Testament, Vol.6, p.205).

“Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have” (Lk.24:39).

“Then saith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy finger, and behold my hands; and reach hither thy hand, and thrust it into my side: and be not faithless, but believing” (Jn.20:27).

Thought 1. The Son of God came to earth; He partook of flesh and blood and became a Man just like all other men. He is called Jesus Christ or Jesus the Messiah, the Savior of the world. He was heard, seen, intensely looked upon and handled by John and the other apostles and by many others who believed and followed Him. Jesus Christ did everything He could to show man that the Son of God had come to earth—that He had come to save man, to deliver man from this corruptible world of sin and death—that He had come to give man life eternal, the glorious privilege of living in heaven with God forever and ever.

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?” (Jn.14:9).

“Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever” (Ro.9:5).

“Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Which in his [Jesus Christ] times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords; who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting” (1 Tim.6:15-16).

“And he [Jesus Christ] hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS” (Rev.19:16).

3 (1:1-2) Jesus Christ, Person—Revelation—Word, The: Jesus Christ revealed who He was, the Word of Life. This means two things:

⇒ First, Jesus Christ Himself is the Word. Remember what a word is: it is the expression of an idea, a thought, an image in the mind of a person. A word describes what is in the mind of a person. John is saying this: in the life of Jesus Christ, God was speaking to the world, speaking and demonstrating just what He wanted to say to man. This means the most wonderful thing. It means that God has given us much more than mere words in the Holy Scriptures. God has given us Jesus Christ, The Word. As The Word, Jesus Christ was the picture, the expression, the pattern, the very image of what God wished to say to man. The very image within God’s mind of the Ideal Man was demonstrated in the life of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ was the perfect expression of all that God wishes man to be. Jesus Christ was God’s utterance, God’s speech, God’s Word to man. Jesus Christ was the Word of life who came to earth to show us that the very energy, force, power, and essence of life is in God and in God alone. Therefore, if a person wants life, he must trust and depend upon God for life. For life in all of its energy and force and being exists only in God.

“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God” (Jn.1:1).

⇒ Second, Jesus Christ Himself is the Word of life, the very message of life, the good news (gospel) of life. He is the very embodiment of life, the energy and force of life; therefore, when He came to earth, He brought the Word of life to man. Jesus Christ—His life, His acts, His teaching—tells men how to live. In Jesus Christ and in Jesus Christ alone is the Word of life, the Word that tells man how to conquer death and to live abundantly both now and eternally. Jesus Christ is the Word of life. This is the great thing that He revealed to man. But note: How did He reveal this great message to man? Verse two tells us in clear language. The verse is here given just as it reads in the Greek text:

“(And the life was revealed, and we have seen and bear witness, and report to you the life, the eternal, which was with the Father, and was revealed to us).”

1. Jesus Christ manifested or revealed the life to us (v.2). That is, He came to earth and showed us the life that was in Him. He showed us what life is...

⇒ that it is the very energy and force of living forever just as God Himself lives. Life never dies and never ceases to be.

⇒ that it is the very energy and force of living abundantly, of experiencing love, joy, and peace just as God experiences. Life never lacks and never ceases to experience the fulness of life to the ultimate.

Thought 1. The point is this. Jesus Christ revealed who He was; He came to earth and showed us life—showed us that life is in God and in God alone. Therefore, if man wants to really live, he has to put his life into the hands of God, for life exists only in God. God alone can give man life.

2. But Jesus Christ did a second thing: He identified with man. He gave men the opportunity to see Him and the life which He was bringing to man. As covered in verse one, men heard, saw, looked upon, and touched Christ. He made Himself available to men, allowed them to use all their physical senses in order to prove that He was indeed the Son of God, the very embodiment of life eternal. He allowed men to use all their physical senses so they could have perfect proof and never be able to question that the Son of God had come to earth, not if they were honest and willing to study and know the truth.

Note the testimony of John: “we have seen and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested to us” (v.2). There is compulsion here: the witnesses to the Son of God must proclaim the truth. The Son of God, Jesus Christ, has come to earth. He came to bring the glorious message of the Word of life. Men do not have to live in sin and the dread of corruption and death; men can live in the abundance of love, joy, and peace with God, both now and eternally.

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this? She saith unto him, Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world. And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee” (Jn.11:25-28).

“He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal” (Jn.12:25).

“That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.5:21).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:11-12).

4 (1:3-4) Jesus Christ, Purpose—Fellowship: Jesus Christ came to earth for the greatest of purposes.

1. Jesus Christ came that men might have fellowship with God and with His Son Jesus Christ and with one another. This is the most wonderful declaration, for it means that God is not far off in outer space someplace. God is not disinterested and uncaring about what happens to man. God has not left us to fend for ourselves upon earth with nothing but death and the grave to look forward to. The very opposite is true: God has revealed Himself in the Lord Jesus Christ and has shown us that He deeply loves and cares for us and that He wants to fellowship with us. Imagine! Jesus Christ, the Son of God, came to earth to show us that we can know God personally and fellowship with Him. We can actually fellowship with God...

- become acceptable to Him
- relate to Him and talk and share with Him
- have Him walk with us throughout the day, looking after and caring for us step by step
- cast our problems upon Him
- trust Him to help us in meeting our needs
- ask Him for strength to conquer the trials and temptations of life
- know that He will constantly give us a life of love, joy, and peace
- know that He will deliver us from sin and death and give us life eternal
- depend upon Him for righteousness so that we can be acceptable to Him

We can know both God and His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, know them personally just like all the above describes. And we can experience fulness of life with all other believers who truly give their lives to follow Christ. We can all have fellowship together, the kind of fellowship that exists within the greatest of all families—the family of God Himself.

2. Jesus Christ came that our joy might be full (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Joy—1 Jn.1:4 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:4) Joy (chara): an inner gladness; a deep seated pleasure. It is a depth of assurance and confidence that ignites a cheerful heart. It is a cheerful heart that leads to cheerful behavior.

Several things need to be said about the believer's joy.

1. Joy is divine. It is possessed and given only by God. Its roots are not in earthly or material things or cheap triumphs. It is the joy of the Holy Spirit, a joy based in the Lord. It is His very own joy (Jn.15:11; Acts 13:52; Ro.14:17; Gal.5:22; 1 Th.1:6).
2. Joy does not depend on circumstances or happiness. Happiness depends upon happenings, but the joy that God implants in the believer's heart overrides all, even the matters of life and death (Ps.5:11; 2 Cor.6:10; 7:4).
3. Joy springs from faith (Ro.15:13; Ph.1:25; 2 Tim.1:4; cp. Mt.2:10).
4. Joy of future reward makes and keeps one faithful (Mt.25:21, 23; Acts 20:24; Heb.12:2).

The source of the believer's joy is severalfold.

1. The fellowship of the Father and His Son brings joy (1 Jn.1:3-4).
2. Victory over sin, death, and hell brings joy (Jn.14:28; 16:20-22).
3. Repentance brings joy (Lk.15:7, 10).
4. The hope of glory brings joy (Ro.14:17; Heb.12:2; 1 Pt.4:13).
5. The Lord's Word—the revelations, commandments, and promises which He made—brings joy (Jn.15:11).
6. The commandments of Christ and the will of God bring joy. Obeying and doing a good job stirs joy within the believer's heart (Jn.15:11, 32; 17:13; Acts 13:52).
7. Prayer brings joy (Jn.16:24).
8. The presence and fellowship of believers brings joy (1 Jn.1:3-4).
9. Converts bring joy (Lk.15:5; Ph.4:1; 1 Th.2:19-20).
10. Hearing that others walk in the truth brings joy (3 Jn.1:4).
11. Giving brings joy (2 Cor.8:2; Heb.10:34).

5 (1:5) Jesus Christ, Message of—God, Nature—Light: Jesus Christ preached the most wonderful message. It included two wonderful things.

1. God is light. What does this mean? It means several things.
 - a. God is light by nature and character. Light is what God is within Himself, within His being, essence, nature, and character. God dwells in the splendor, glory, and brilliance of light. Wherever He is, the splendor, glory, and brilliance of light shines out of His being. In fact, there is not even a need for the sun when God's glory is present. The glory of His presence just beams forth the most brilliant light imaginable, so brilliant and glorious that it would consume human flesh.

“And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof” (Rev.21:23).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

- b. God is light in that He reveals the light of all things, the truth of all things.
 - ⇒ Jesus, the Light, tells us that God is holy, righteous, and pure. Light is the symbol of purity and holiness. Light means the absence of darkness and blindness; it has no spots of darkness and blackness, of sin and shame.
 - ⇒ Jesus, the Light, reveals. His light shows clearly the nature, the meaning, and the destiny of all things. His light beams in, spots, opens up, identifies, illuminates, and shows things as they really are. The light of Jesus Christ shows the truth about the world and man and God. The light of Christ reveals that God loves and cares for man and wants man to love and care for Him.
 - ⇒ Jesus, the Light, guides. His light allows a man to walk out of darkness. Man no longer has to grope, grasp, and stumble about trying to find his way through life. The path of life can now be clearly seen.
 - ⇒ Jesus, the Light, does away with darkness and with chaos. His light routs, wipes out, strips away and erases the darkness. The empty chaos of creation was routed by the light given by God (Gen.1:3). Jesus Christ is the Light that can save man from chaos (Jn.14:1, 17; 12:46; 16:33).
2. There is no darkness in God. What does this mean? (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Darkness—1 Jn.1:5 for discussion. Observe that none of the descriptions of darkness are true of God.) (Also see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Darkness—Jn.8:12 for more discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:5) Darkness (skotos, skotia): the word darkness describes both the state and works of a person. It symbolizes evil and sin, everything that life should not be and everything that a person should not do.

1. The darkness means that man is ignorant of God.
 - ⇒ The darkness means that a person is vain in his imaginations about God and foolish in his thoughts about God.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened” (Ro.1:21).

⇒ The darkness means that a person does not live and walk in the light of God and Christ.

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12).

⇒ The darkness means that a person is blind to the light of Christ and stumbles about through life.

“Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any man walk in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world. But if a man walk in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him” (Jn.11:9-10).

⇒ The darkness means that a person does not understand the light and is powerless to extinguish the light.

“And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not [does not understand or extinguish it]” (Jn.1:5).

⇒ The darkness means that a person does not see the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

2. The darkness means evil behavior and deeds.

⇒ The darkness means that a person’s deeds are evil and that he hates the light.

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God” (Jn.3:19-21).

⇒ The darkness means that a person walks in the darkness of hate and antagonism against others.

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now. He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him. But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes” (1 Jn.2:9-11).

⇒ The darkness means that a person lives a secretive life, a life that is gripped by the hidden things of darkness, that cannot bear the light.

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall ever man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

3. The darkness means man’s nature, that his nature is darkness.

⇒ The darkness means that a person is the very embodiment of darkness, that his very nature and character are that of darkness.

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

⇒ The darkness means that a person’s eye is focused upon evil; therefore, his whole being is full of darkness or evil.

“The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:22-23).

⇒ The darkness means that a person is an unbeliever and has communion with darkness.

“Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?” (2 Cor.6:14).

4. The darkness means that man is unfruitful in life.

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

5. The darkness means that man dwells in darkness.

⇒ The darkness means that a person dwells in darkness and is blind to the glorious day of salvation and of the Lord's return.

“But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief. Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness” (1 Th.5:4-5).

⇒ The darkness means that a person has rejected the call of God and still dwells in darkness.

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished: but chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. Presumptuous are they, selfwilled, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities” (2 Pt.2:9-10).

6. The darkness means the influence and power of Satan.

⇒ The darkness means that a person is under the power of Satan and is guilty of sin; that his sins are not forgiven.

“To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me” (Acts 26:18).

7. The darkness means the place of punishment and hell, the pit of darkness.

⇒ The darkness means the place of punishment and hell where all the ungodly shall be cast in the final judgment.

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever” (Jude 13).

DIVISION II

THE THREE MISCONCEPTIONS OF MAN, 1:6-2:2

A. Misconception 1: Man Can Fellowship with God and Still Walk in Sin, 1:6-7

(1:6-7) Introduction—Man, Unbelief: the Son of God has come to earth. This is the great testimony of John the Apostle. He came to earth so that man can have fellowship with God and with His Son Jesus Christ.

“But wait,” man shouts. “We already have fellowship with God. We already worship God and feel safe and acceptable in our religion. We do not need someone else to show us how to become acceptable to God. We can reach God on our own; we can secure His approval by ourselves. We don’t need someone else telling us how to approach God and how we should worship God and secure His approval.”

This is the great subject of this particular section (1 Jn. 1:6-2:2). Man objects to the idea that Jesus Christ is the Son of God, that He is truly God’s very own Son. Man objects to the idea...

- that the way he worships is wrong.
- that he has no merit with God.
- that he is unacceptable to God.

This is the reason many reject John’s declaration: “the Son of God has come to earth.” Jesus Christ came so that man can have true fellowship with God. But man objects to the idea that he needs help in reaching God. He feels sufficient within himself. He objects to the idea that he cannot reach God on his own. This passage strikes at these objections and exposes their fallacies. There are basically three misconceptions of man.

1. Misconception 1: man can fellowship with God and still walk in sin (1:6-7).
2. Misconception 2: man is not totally sinful and depraved (1:8-9).
3. Misconception 3: man can become righteous and sinless on his own (1:10-2:2).

The first misconception is the subject of the present passage. The other two misconceptions are discussed in the next two studies. Note that the first misconception strikes at the belief that is held by most people on earth. Most people believe that they can fellowship with God even while they walk in darkness and sin.

1. We can fellowship with God and walk in darkness (v.6).
 - a. This is a lie.
 - b. This is not the truth.
2. The truth: we must walk in the light (v.7).
 - a. Then we have fellowship.
 - b. Then we are cleansed from sin.

1 (1:6) Fellowship—Darkness—Man—Salvation: first, why does man object to the deity of Jesus Christ? To the Son of God coming to earth? That it was necessary for Him to come? Because they believe that man can fellowship with God and walk in darkness at the same time. What does it mean to walk in darkness?

⇒ It means that the world is in the dark about God. Man cannot see God nor talk face to face with God. Man cannot hear God nor touch God. How then can man know that God really exists? Man and his world are in the dark about God.

⇒ It means that man does not know exactly how God wants him to live: how moral and pure, how righteous and just. Man cannot talk with God; he has no way to communicate with God, for he cannot see God and he does not know where God is so that he can set up communication with Him. Therefore, man has no way to discover God nor to find out how God wants him to live.

Note four significant facts.

1. First, the world is in the dark about God. When it comes to God, man is in darkness, for he cannot see God nor talk with God. He cannot even be sure that God exists, not absolutely sure. Why? Because man’s physical senses and flesh can know only the things of the physical and material world. If there is a God, if there is a spiritual world, man has absolutely no way to penetrate it. Man can take all his technology and science, all his intellectual and creative reasoning, and he will never be able to penetrate the spiritual world, not with his physical and material nature. The physical and material world cannot and never will be able to penetrate and cross over into the spiritual world. Man and his world are completely in the dark about God. No matter what any person claims, no matter how religious or how much a spiritist the person may be, no person from the physical world can cross over and enter into the spiritual world to find out if God exists, much less fellowship with God.

2. Second, how then can man ever know God and fellowship with God? There is only one way: God has to leave the spiritual world and dimension and enter the physical world and dimension. God has to come to earth and reveal Himself to us. This is the only conceivable way man could ever fellowship with God. This is the glorious gospel: this is exactly what John declares: that the Son of God has come to earth. He came to reveal God to us (see outline and notes—1 Jn.1:1-5 for discussion).

3. Third, note the foolishness of man: man rejects the Son of God and declares...
 “We [can] have fellowship with God and walk in darkness.”

- Man declares that he can find God on his own, that he can relate to God and be good enough to fellowship with God and to secure God’s approval by himself.
- Man believes that he can use his own mind and reasonings and find out enough about God to become acceptable to Him and to fellowship with Him.
- Man believes that he can use his own hands and energy and do enough to please God and to receive His approval.

Man thinks this: if he believes in God and does half-way right, then his belief and good deeds will put God in debt to him. God will never reject him; God will accept him. Therefore, man concludes that he can reject Jesus Christ as the Son of God. He concludes that he can fellowship and become acceptable to God by believing that God exists and by doing enough good to please God.

4. Fourth, note what the Scripture says to any of us who say this: we lie and do not the truth. No matter how great our minds and thoughts imagine God to be—no matter how many good works we do—we are not doing the truth. And note: a thinking and honest person knows this, for no person can cross over into the spiritual world. If we are ever to know God, God Himself has to come to us. It would not even be enough for some lesser spiritual being to come, for he would not be God. The only way we can ever hope to know God and to know Him accurately is for God Himself to come to earth. Therefore, to profess that “we can fellowship with God and walk in darkness” is a lie. Whatever we do—all the approaches to God that men use—they are not the truth. By taking any approach to God other than by the Son of God, we do not take the true approach; we take a false approach.

Thought 1. The Word of God is strong. It says this: if a person says that he is saved, and then lives in the darkness of this world, he lies. God is light; therefore, if a person walks in darkness, he does not know God. He is not fellowshiping with God. Light and darkness cannot dwell together. A person has to choose in which he wants to live: he has to choose to live in either the light of God or in the darkness of the world.

“For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD, Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you” (Acts 17:23).

“And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not” (Jn.1:5).

“He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not” (Jn.1:10).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water” (Jn.4:10).

“Then said they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also” (Jn.8:19).

“The man answered and said unto them, Why herein is a marvellous thing, that ye know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes” (Jn.9:30).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?” (Jn.14:9).

“If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth” (1 Jn.1:6).

“They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course” (Ps.82:5).

“The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble” (Pr.4:19).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

“Wherefore their way shall be unto them as slippery ways in the darkness: they shall be driven on, and fall therein: for I will bring evil upon them, even the year of the visitation [judgment], saith the LORD” (Jer.23:12).

2 (1:7) Light—Fellowship—Forgiveness of Sin: man cannot fellowship with God and walk in darkness. The truth is that man must walk in the light if he is to fellowship with God. What is the light of God?

- ⇒ The light of God is the revelation of God Himself. The Lord Jesus Christ came to earth to reveal God. Jesus Christ has the very nature of God; therefore, He was able to show us exactly what God is like.
- ⇒ The light of God is the revelation of just how God wants us to live while upon earth. When the Son of God came to earth He told us and showed us exactly how to live, exactly what God expects of us.

Therefore, to walk in the light means to believe in the Son of God who came to earth and to follow Him. If we walk upon earth believing in Jesus Christ and doing exactly what He said to do, then we are in the light just “as he is in the light.” Note: this is exactly what this verse says: we are to “walk in the light, as he is in the light.” This means two most wonderful things.

1. If we walk in the light of Christ, then we have fellowship with Christ and with God and with all other believers. Jesus Christ is the Son of God; therefore, when He was upon earth, He was in constant fellowship with God. He is the One who shows us how to relate to and fellowship with God. Therefore, when we walk in the light of Christ, we do what Christ did. We approach God through Christ and fellowship with God just as Christ showed us. The result is glorious. It means that we have true fellowship—that we actually know God and fellowship with God, that we actually know and fellowship with His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and with all who believe and walk in His light.

Thought 1. Note: God is light and in Him is no darkness at all. Few if any persons would deny this. But note this: it is impossible to walk in both light and darkness at the same time. Therefore, if we walk in darkness, we are not walking and fellowshiping with God. As stated, it is totally impossible.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

“I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts” (Ps.119:63).

“Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

2. If we walk in the light of Christ, then the blood of Jesus Christ, God’s Son, cleanses us from all sin. This is a critical point to note. It was not enough for God’s Son to come to earth and reveal God to man. Man is sinful; he has transgressed God’s law. Man has chosen to live like he wants to live upon earth, to do his own thing. Man has...

- ignored God
- neglected God
- disbelieved God
- disobeyed God
- cursed God
- rebelled against God
- rejected God

Man is guilty of offending God and of transgressing God’s law. Therefore, just as with any law, when the law is broken, the penalty has to be paid. The lawbreaker has to pay or else someone has to step forward to pay the penalty for him. This is just what Jesus Christ did. He not only came to reveal God to us, He came to take our sins and transgressions upon Himself—all the guilt of them. Jesus Christ died for our sins.

- ⇒ He faced the judgment for us.
- ⇒ He suffered the punishment for us.
- ⇒ He bore the condemnation for us.

The blood of Jesus Christ was shed upon the cross for us. Therefore, to walk in the light of Christ means that we walk believing that Christ died for us. It means that we believe His blood cleanses us from sin, that He actually paid the penalty for our sins, that we are thereby freed from the guilt of sin. When we walk in the light of Christ, God sees our sins covered by the blood of Christ. He accepts us in Christ. Our sins are forgiven by the blood of God’s Son.

But note: the word “cleanses” is in the present tense. This means...

- that the blood of Christ continually cleanses us from sin.
- that if we are walking in the light of Jesus Christ, then His blood is always cleansing us from our sins.
- that if we walk in fellowship with Jesus Christ we are constantly confessing our sins, we are living in open confession before Him.

The believer is to walk in fellowship with Christ all day long every day. He is to walk acknowledging God in all His ways, praying, praising, and confessing his shortcomings and sins all day long. The believer who walks in fellowship with Jesus Christ like this is being constantly cleansed by the blood of Jesus Christ.

1 JOHN 1:6-7

Thought 1. This is the point so often missed by man: he cannot erase the sins of his past. He has no way to pay the penalty and judgment of his sins, and they have already been committed. Therefore, the penalty has to be paid. And note: the payment has to be made by Someone who is perfect, for God is perfect. Only perfect sacrifices can be acceptable to God. And this is the terrible problem that man faces, for who is perfect other than God? No man is; only the Son of God is perfect. This is the reason the Son of God had to come to earth. He had to come to sacrifice Himself for man. He had to take man's sins upon Himself and become man's substitute in death. He had to die for man. It is His death, the sacrifice of the blood of God's Son, that covers our sins. No person is ever acceptable to God unless he is free of sin, unless his sins are cleansed and forgiven by the blood of Christ.

"For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Mt.26:28).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him" (Ro.5:8-9).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col.1:14).

"How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Heb.9:14).

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:18-19).

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:7).

"Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

	B. Misconception 2: Man is Not Totally Sinful & Depraved, 1:8-9
1 We are not totally sinful & depraved	8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.
a. This is a deception
b. The truth is not in us
2 The truth: We must confess our sins	9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.
a. Because God is faithful & just
b. Because God forgives

DIVISION I

THE THREE MISCONCEPTIONS OF MAN, 1:6-2:2

B. Misconception 2: Man is Not Totally Sinful and Depraved, 1:8-9

(1:8-9) Introduction: the great testimony has been borne; the great proclamation has been made. John the apostle has declared: “the Son of God has come to earth. He has come to earth to reveal who God is and what God is like and how God wants us to live. In addition to this, He has come to die for us and to cleanse us from our sin.”

But note: man objects to the idea that Jesus Christ had to die for our sins. Man shouts at the idea:

“We are not that sinful, so sinful that we cannot handle the problem of sin ourselves. We can change our behavior and act responsibly. Man has the capacity to reform himself, to discipline and control his own life. Man has the ability to live a responsible life: he can resolve to change and live a decent, moral, and responsible life. Man has the power to please God himself. Man can do good and be good enough to make himself acceptable to God. Man is not so terrible a sinner, not down deep within. Man can become a moral and righteous person on his own. All he needs is...

- to be educated to understand himself and his world.
- to have a set of moral values and religious worship to encourage him in his values.
- to use his technology and science for moral and just causes.”

The point is this: man rejects the idea that he needs someone to die for his sins, that he cannot become acceptable to God on his own. Man objects to the idea that the perfect and sinless Son of God had to come to earth to die for his sins. Man objects because it means that man is...

- sinful and depraved.
- so sinful and depraved that he is totally unacceptable to God.
- so sinful and depraved that he cannot become acceptable to God by his own efforts.
- so sinful and depraved that no matter what he does, he cannot secure God’s approval.
- so sinful and depraved that he can never fellowship with God, that all his prayers, worship, and thoughts about God are vain and empty.

This is the reason many persons object to Jesus Christ. This is the reason many accept Him as a great religious teacher, but reject His claim to be the Son of God and the Savior of the world. They are unwilling to accept the fact that man is depraved, totally sinful. This is the great subject of this passage, the second major misconception of man about the deity of Jesus Christ, about the Son of God coming to earth: man is not totally sinful and depraved.

1. We are not totally sinful and depraved (v.8).
 - a. This is a deception.
 - b. The truth is not in us.
2. The truth: we must confess our sins (v.9).
 - a. Because God is faithful and just.
 - b. Because God forgives.

1 (1:8) Man—Sin—Depravity: the misconception is forcefully stated—“we have no sin.” Note that the word sin is not plural but singular. The sin being talked about is sin as a root within man, as a part of man’s nature, as a principle, a law, a force, an energy within man. Persons who say that they can approach God on their own are saying that they have no sin, no root of sin, no nature of sin, no principle of sin within them. They are saying...

- that they can handle sin themselves; that they can change their lives and stop sinning enough to please God and to become acceptable to Him.
- that they do not need the Son of God to come to earth and die for their sins.
- that they can control their lives enough to keep from sinning.

Note what Scripture says about this misconception: we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us. No person can keep from sinning. If any person thinks that he can keep from sinning, the truth is not in him; he is utterly deceived. And note: if we cannot keep from sinning, this means that we have a nature, a root of sin within us. The force and energy of the root shoots out and we sin. As stated, we cannot keep from sinning: this fact alone proves that we have sin within our nature, a nature that is depraved. To say differently is to be deceived and to deny the truth of all human experience. Remember: sin is imperfection. Sin is coming short of God’s glory and perfection, missing the mark of His glory and perfection. This is the reason no person can ever live with God. God is perfect; therefore, only perfection can live in His presence. Man is imperfect and short of God's glory; he is sinful. Therefore, man can never live in God's presence. This is what the objector needs to see. If he misses this, then he will miss the eternal salvation that is in Christ Jesus our Lord, the very Son of God who came to earth to die for our sins.

1 JOHN 1:8-9

Thought 1. Note a significant fact. There are those who say that man is not responsible for his sin; therefore, he cannot be charged with sin. They say that man acts the way he does because of his upbringing, parents, society, environment, education or the lack of it, playmates and associates. They say that man is a product of his environment; therefore, God cannot charge man with guilt. Man just is not responsible for his behavior. For this reason, God nor society can hold man accountable for his actions. The reason man sins is because someone else made him do it.

The problem with this is that it is only partly true. Environment and upbringing do affect us and have some bearing on our actions. But this is not all that we are; we are not just robots responding to the trigger of environment. We are free moral creatures with a free will that chooses to sin or not to sin. And it is deception to deny the fact. The truth is just not in us if we deny that we have a great degree of freedom in all that we do. The problem is not our environment; we just cannot keep from sinning and acting irresponsibly. We sin because there is a root, a nature, a force of sin within us. To object to what is so clear and visible is to be deceived, to show that the truth is not in us.

Thought 2. The person who thinks that he can control sin enough to become acceptable to God has a low view of God and too high a view of himself. Think how weak man really is: how weak his flesh is. He is not only sinful by acts, but he walks short of God's glory every day. And he is so corruptible that he dies after just a few brief years on earth.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:21-23).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23).

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us” (1 Jn.1:8).

“And we know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness” (1 Jn.5:19).

“So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked: I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see” (Rev.3:16-18).

“And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually” (Gen.6:5).

“Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one” (Ps.53:3).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away” (Is.64:6).

2 (1:9) Confession of Sins—Forgiveness of Sin: the truth is this—we must confess our sins. Man is deceived if he denies that he has sinned, if he denies that he has a root and force of sin within him. He deceives himself if he says that he does not need the Son of God to deliver him from sin and its guilt. Remember: the Son of God came to die for our sins, and it is His blood that cleanses us from sin. Therefore, if we will confess our sins, God will forgive our sins. And He will do even more: He not only will forgive us for the sins we know about and confess, He will cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

⇒ To forgive our sins means that God forgives the guilt of sin. God justifies us: He counts the death of Christ as our punishment. Jesus Christ bore our guilt of sin. When we believe in Jesus Christ and confess our sins, God counts our belief and confession as the guilt which Christ bore. We stand before God, no longer guilty of sin.

⇒ To cleanse us from all unrighteousness means that God cleanses us from all the dirt, filth, pollution, and contamination of sin. Not a single stain or spot of sin remains on us. We stand before God sinless and perfect, but remember why: because we believe in Jesus Christ and confess that we are sinners who trust the blood of God's Son to cleanse our sins.

How do we know that God will forgive our sins and cleanse us? How do we know that God will count the death of Jesus Christ as the punishment for our sins? Because God is faithful and just or righteous.

⇒ God is perfectly just or righteous; therefore He must condemn and punish sin. But note: God is also perfect love and mercy; therefore, He must demonstrate His love and mercy and provide a way of forgiveness for man. This is exactly what He has done in Jesus Christ. God has demonstrated His love in the most perfect and supreme way possible: He has given His Son to die for the sins of man.

1 JOHN 1:8-9

The point is this: having done this for man—having given His Son to die for man's sins—God will forgive man. He is faithful and righteous; therefore, He will keep His Word. He will do exactly what He says. He would be unfaithful and unrighteous if He did not forgive us. Therefore, God will forgive any repentant sinner who truly turns away from his sin and turns to God and confesses his sin. God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins.

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins” (Acts 13:38).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“Now therefore make confession unto the LORD God of your fathers, and do his pleasure: and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from the strange wives” (Ezra 10:11).

“He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy” (Pr.28:13).

“I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee” (Is.44:22).

“All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth” (Is.53:6-7).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“Only acknowledge thine iniquity, that thou hast transgressed against the LORD thy God, and hast scattered thy ways to the strangers under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice, saith the LORD” (Jer.3:13).

C. Misconception 3: Man Can Become Sinless & Righteous on His Own, 1:10-2:2

10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

CHAPTER 2

My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous:

2 And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.

1 We can become righteous & sinless on our own

2 The truth: We are sinful, but we should not sin

3 The provision is made if we do sin

a. Jesus Christ, the Advocate

b. Jesus Christ, the propitiation, the perfect sacrifice, for our sins^{DSJ}

DIVISION I

THE THREE MISCONCEPTIONS OF MAN, 1:6-2:2

C. Misconception 3: Man Can Become Sinless and Righteous on His Own, 1:10-2:2

(1:10-2:2) Introduction: sin is a terrible thing. We see it blazed across the headlines of news reports every day: murder, mayhem, assault, fraud, cheating, lying, deceit, adultery, divorce, fightings, wars. Sin is so corrupt and common that every conceivable sin is seen or heard about in one form or another practically every day. Sin is so much a part of human life that we hardly pay attention to it unless it is some major crime or else it involves our own lives and families. Sin is just everywhere. No matter where we turn we see people mistreating others—criticizing, backbiting, and gossiping about them. We see people verbally tearing other people down. We see husbands and wives living together but lacking true love. They are just together, living in coldness and being withdrawn from one another. We see all kinds of selfishness in children and fellow workers. We see lying, deception, stealing, cheating, and all sorts of sexual immorality. We see people dressing in tight clothes or else exposing parts of the human body in order to attract attention, and then we see all kinds of promiscuity and rapes, assaults and murders. The list of sins and shortcomings in life could fill a book.

But the point is this: some people say they have not sinned. Despite all the sin in the world—all the sin that swirls around and engulfs human lives and society—some persons say that they can become righteous on their own. They say they can become so righteous that God will approve their behavior—that God will accept them because of their own righteousness and sinlessness. They say they do not need a Savior; they are able to save themselves. They say that the Son of God does not need to die for the sins of man because man can become righteous and sinless enough on his own, righteous and sinless enough to become acceptable to God.

This is the subject of the present passage. There are those who object to the idea that Jesus Christ had to die for the sins of man. They object to the preaching of sin, the idea that they are sinners, to the idea that they need the blood of God's Son to cleanse their sins. They object and declare that man can become righteous and sinless on His own.

1. We can become righteous and sinless on our own (v.10).
2. The truth: we are sinful, but we should not sin (Ch.2:1).
3. The provision is made if we do sin (v.1-2).
 - a. Jesus Christ, the Advocate.
 - b. Jesus Christ, the propitiation, the perfect sacrifice, for our sins.

1 (1:10) Sin—Self-righteousness—Self-Sufficient: the misconception is forcefully stated—“we have not sinned.” How could any person conceivably claim this? Who would claim such a thing in light of all the sin that swirls and engulfs man and society? Many people! There are many people who object to being called sinners, and they are insistent in their objection. They believe they are righteous and sinless enough that God would never reject them. They believe they can become good enough and sinless and righteous enough for God to accept them. They accept Jesus Christ as a great moral teacher and as the founder of Christianity, one of the great religions of the world. And they claim to be Christians; they follow the teachings of Jesus Christ. But they reject His deity, the fact that He is the Son of God who had to die for the sins of the world. They look upon the death of Jesus Christ as the death of a martyr, as a great man who was showing us how we should be willing to pay any price for what we believe—even death.

Who would make such a claim? Who would say “we have not sinned”? Who is it that objects to being called a sinner?

⇒ There is the religious perfectionist. This is a person who actually believes that he can achieve a state of sinlessness. Often he believes in Christ, but he believes that once he is saved, he can live so righteous and so pure a life that he can achieve a state of sinlessness and righteousness before God. He believes that the Holy Spirit will help him to walk perfectly before God.

⇒ There is the social perfectionist. This is a person who is a social Christian, who accepts Jesus Christ as a great teacher but rejects Him as the Savior from sin. He objects to being called a sinner; he objects to the fact that he is sinful enough that he can be termed a sinner. He believes that he is righteous and sinless enough for God to accept, that God would never reject them. He believes he is too good for God to reject. He cannot accept the fact that he is bad enough and sinful enough for God to condemn him.

Note what the problem is with these two objectors. They just do not have a clear view of what sin is. To them sin is the gross violation of law and morality, the thing that society looks upon as gross sins: murder, fraud, and abuse—the kinds of things that would grab a neighbor’s attention and cause talk. They fail to see what sin is to God. God is perfect; therefore, to God:

- ⇒ Sin is any imperfection.
- ⇒ Sin is coming short of God’s glory.
- ⇒ Sin is missing the mark of God’s perfection.

This is the reason no person can ever live with God. God is perfect; therefore, only perfection can live in His presence. Man is imperfect and short of God’s glory; he is sinful. Therefore, man can never live in God’s presence. This is what the objector needs to see. To God man is a sinner, a person who is ever so short of God’s glory, a person...

- who fails to use his mind to the fullest degree and who focuses it upon evil.
- who sometimes thinks impure and wrong thoughts and who commits impurity.
- who sometimes acts unlovely and mean to people.
- who sometimes acts impatiently and abuses others.
- who sometimes acts selfishly and steals.
- who sometimes owns too much and banks and hoards instead of living sacrificially to meet the desperate needs of the world.

All men are short in so much—short in worshipping God like they should, short in praying and fellowshiping and communing with God. No person obeys God perfectly all the time. All men come short of loving others like they should, short in witnessing and sharing Christ and in sacrificing and reaching out to help everywhere they should. No person is perfect; all are ever so short and sinful, so sinful that to God we are all sinners. We are sinners who need a Savior, the very Son of God Himself, to save us from our sins. Now, note what the verse says:

“If we say that we have no sin, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us” (v.10).

God’s Word plainly tells us that we are sinners, and it tells us often. If we, therefore, deny sin, we make God out to be a liar. In addition, we show that God’s Word is not in us; that is, we are not acceptable to God. No matter what we may claim, we are not acceptable to God...

- if God’s Word is not in us.
- if we call God a liar.
- if we say we do not need God’s Son to save us from our sin.
- if we say we can become good enough and righteous enough and sinless enough to be acceptable to God.

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23).

“For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another” (Tit.3:3).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us” (1 Jn.1:8).

“And we know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness” (1 Jn.5:19).

“For there is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not” (Eccl.7:20).

“And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually” (Gen.6:5).

“Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one” (Ps.53:3).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:6).

“But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away” (Is.64:6).

2 (2:1) Sin—Spiritual Struggle: the truth is that we are sinful, but we should not sin. This is a tender exhortation: John addresses the believers “my little children.” They are very, very dear to him. He was their pastor, their spiritual father; and they were his spiritual children, the ones under his care. He loved them with the love of a strong and caring father. Therefore, he must exhort them. He must exhort them in the areas where they needed strength. Where was that? In sinning. Note exactly what John says:

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not” (v.1).

These things refer to the things John has just said, to the fact that all have sinned and all do sin. Because of man’s nature, the very fact that he lives within a corruptible world, he cannot keep from sinning. But note the strong exhortation: “Sin not! I am writing these things to you, that you sin not.” The believer lives in a corruptible world, and he is housed in a body of flesh that is so easily aroused and attracted to eat more, take more, have more, be more, and receive more. But the believer is to struggle and fight against sin. He is not to give in to sin. He is to cast down imaginations and struggle to captivate every thought for Christ (2 Cor.10:5). He is to do all he can to become more and more like Christ and to be a stronger and stronger witness for righteousness in the world. He will never achieve perfection; he will never be sinless so long as he is in the flesh and in this corruptible world. But he is to struggle to be as good as he can. He is to be as righteous as possible and he is to gain ground; he is to grow in righteousness. The believer is to become more and more like Christ as long as he is on earth.

Thought 1. Believers must prove they are sincere when they come to Christ for forgiveness of sins. Christ has no patience with hypocrisy and no place for half-hearted commitment. He can look at our lives and tell whether we love Him or not, whether we are sincere or not. He can watch our struggle against sin and tell if we really want to follow Him or not. The genuine believer struggles against sin; he fights, wrestles, and wars against sin with every ounce of energy he has. He does all he can to please God and to receive God's approval.

“Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

“Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse things come unto thee” (Jn.5:14).

“She said, No man, Lord. And Jesus said unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more” (Jn.8:11).

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles” (Job 11:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

3 (2:1-2) Jesus Christ, Death: there is the great provision. The believer is not to sin, but if he sins he has the most wonderful provision—that is Jesus Christ, the Son of God Himself. Two things are said about Jesus Christ that show the wonderful provision God has made for us.

1. Jesus Christ is our “Advocate” (parakleton). The word “advocate” means someone who is called in to stand by the side of another. The purpose is to help in any way possible. (This is the word [parakletos] used of the Holy Spirit. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn. 14:16 for discussion.)

⇒ There is the picture of a friend called in to help a person who is troubled or distressed or confused.

⇒ There is the picture of a commander called in to help a discouraged and dispirited army.

⇒ There is the picture of a lawyer, an advocate called in to help a defendant who needs his case pleaded.

There is no one word that can adequately translate parakletos. The word that probably comes closest is simply helper. Sin causes the believer to be distressed and confused, discouraged and dispirited. Sin separates the believer from God and makes him guilty of transgression and worthy of condemnation and punishment. But Jesus Christ is the believer's Advocate. Jesus Christ stands before God and pleads the case of the believer. Note two significant points.

a. What is it that gives Jesus Christ the right to plead the case of the believer? Note exactly what the verse says: Jesus Christ is the righteous One. He is the Son of God who came to earth and lived a sinless life as man. He is the One who secured the perfect and ideal righteousness for man. Therefore, Jesus Christ is the only Person who has the right to stand before God. Why? Because God is perfect, and only a perfect person can stand in God's presence. This is the reason man must approach God through Jesus Christ: He alone is perfect and righteous. He alone has the right to stand in the court of God as the Advocate or attorney to represent man. There is no other righteousness, no other goodness that is acceptable to God; only the perfect and ideal righteousness of Christ has been approved to stand as the advocate in the court of heaven.

This means a most wonderful thing. God will never turn down a person who has Jesus Christ as his advocate. The person who has Jesus Christ to approach God for him will never be turned down, for Jesus Christ has the right to stand as the advocate before God in the court of heaven.

b. What is it that Jesus Christ pleads?

⇒ He does not plead the reputation of the believer.

⇒ He does not plead the good works of the believer.

⇒ He does not plead not guilty, that the believer did not commit sin.

⇒ He does not plead the personal righteousness of the believer.

⇒ He does not plead that the believer has been as good as he can be.

What is it that Jesus Christ pleads? Again, note the verse:

“We have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.”

He pleads His own righteousness. How can He do this? This is the discussion of the next point.

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:14-15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Now of the things which we have spoken this is the sum: We have such an high priest, who is set on the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens” (Heb.8:1).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

2. Jesus Christ is the propitiation for our sins. “Propitiation” (hilasmos) means to be a sacrifice, a covering, a satisfaction, a payment, an appeasement for sin. It means to turn away anger or to make reconciliation between God and man. Remember: God is holy and just. He is perfect love, but He is also perfect holiness and justice. Therefore He must execute justice against the sinner. He must judge and condemn sin. His justice must be perfectly satisfied. Now there is only one way God’s justice can be perfectly satisfied: His justice has to be cast against the perfect sacrifice. If there was a Perfect and Ideal Man, then that Man could accept the guilt and punishment for sin. The Perfect Man could step forward and bear the punishment for sin and satisfy the justice of God.

This is the glorious gospel, the wonderful love and provision of God. Jesus Christ is the Ideal and Perfect Man. Therefore, He sacrificed His life for man and His sacrifice covered all men. As the Ideal Man, Jesus Christ accepted the guilt and punishment of sin for all men. He died for all men. When He died, He died as the perfect sacrifice for sins. Therefore, God accepts His death...

- as the sacrifice for our sins.
- as the covering for our sins.
- as the satisfaction for our sins.
- as the payment for the penalty of our sins.
- as the appeasement of His wrath against sin.

When Jesus Christ carries a man’s case before God, He pleads His own righteousness and death, and God accepts His righteousness and death for man. It is by this, by the sacrifice of His death for our sins, that we become acceptable to God.

Note one other point: Jesus Christ is the propitiation for the sins of the whole world. He is the eternal Son of God, the Ideal and Perfect Man. Therefore, all that He ever did covers eternity. His sacrifice for sin covers the first man ever born and spans all of time over to the last man, and then continues right on throughout all of eternity. Jesus Christ paid the penalty of sin for all sinners of all generations. He died for the sins of all people, no matter who they are or what they have done.

But note a critical fact: a person has to come to Jesus Christ and trust Him to be his advocate before God. Jesus Christ is the only Person who has the right to stand as an advocate in the court of God’s perfect justice. He is the only Person who can present man’s case before God and have man declared righteous. Therefore, a person is not covered by the advocacy of Christ unless he comes to Christ and has Christ represent him before God.

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins” (1 Jn.4:10).

“And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful [propitious] to me a sinner” (Lk.18:13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:2) Propitiation (hilasmos): to sacrifice in order to appease; to satisfy; to cover; to pay the penalty for. It is a sacrificial word. In the Old Testament when a man sinned or something went wrong, he brought a sacrifice to God. The idea was that the sacrifice would appease and pacify and satisfy God. He thought God would be gracious to him and place the punishment for his sin upon the animal. When things go wrong, man has always offered to fast and pray and serve with renewed vigor, or else he has offered to give up some meaningful pleasure or possession. There is a feeling that this kind of denial or renewed sacrifice appeases and satisfies God.

It is true that God told Israel to offer sacrifices. But He did it for a reason: to teach Israel, and through them the world, that the answer does not lie in human or animal sacrifice. A human sacrifice cannot bring about a right relationship with God. Man's problem is too deep for human sacrifice; his contamination too severe; his disease too terrible; his infection too deadly. The paraphernalia of earthly sacrifice can never put things right with God.

The reason is simply stated. Man's sin has cut him off from God, severed his relationship with God, put God out of arm's reach. Man instinctively senses this. Thus, when man fails to get satisfaction from his sacrifice, he often returns to his former behavior and practices.

What man needs is to be disinfected, to have his sins covered. He needs to know beyond a doubt that God does accept him and is satisfied with him. And then he needs a power to live for God.

This comes about through propitiation. Four things need to be said about propitiation.

1. God is the One who has to be appeased, satisfied, and propitiated. The Bible is not speaking of reconciliation. The Bible never says that God has to be reconciled to man. God is already the friend of man; He loves man. It is man who needs to be reconciled to God. Man is the one who holds enmity, who ignores, neglects, and rejects God. Thus, God is the One who has to be appeased or propitiated (cp. Lk.18:13).

There is another thought here as well. God is righteous and holy, and His righteousness and holiness have to be satisfied. He can only accept a person who is perfectly righteous and holy. It might be said that anything less than perfection would contaminate the very atmosphere around God. And the presence and dwelling place of God would no longer be the utopia which God has prepared for the believer and for which man dreams.

2. Jesus Christ is the propitiation, the satisfaction for sins. Christ was completely righteous and holy; therefore, He was the perfect and ideal Man. This means that His death was the perfect and ideal sacrifice. God was able to satisfy His justice against sins by casting it against Christ. The perfect sacrifice of Jesus Christ completely satisfied and appeased the righteousness of God (1 Jn.4:9-10).

3. Propitiation means coverage. Christ covers our sins so that God no longer can see them (Ro.3:25; Heb.2:17; 1 Jn.2:2).

4. Propitiation finds its type in the mercy seat, that is, in the lid of the ark (Heb.9:5). God had said that man was to approach Him through the sacrifice of an animal, through the shedding of blood. The lid or covering of the ark was sprinkled once a year with the blood of a perfect animal. This signified that the life of the people was being offered to God in the blood of the victim. God was thereby appeased and satisfied. (Cp. Lk.18:13; Ro.3:25; Heb.2:17; 1 Jn.2:2; 4:10.)

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT ONE REALLY KNOWS GOD: SEVEN TESTS, 2:3-29

A. Test 1: Keeping God's Commandments, 2:3-6

(2:3-6) Introduction: How do we know if we really know God? We live in a day when many people are not even interested in knowing God. They could care less about knowing God. They want to live like they want and get all the possessions and enjoy all the pleasures of the world they can. To know God is the furthest thing from their minds. But this is dangerous ground, for if God really exists then the rejectors of God are going to miss out:

- ⇒ They are going to miss out on the purpose, meaning, and significance of life; they are going to miss out on real love, joy, and peace and the abundance of a rich and full life both now and eternally. If God really exists and they fail to know Him, they are going to miss out on all of what life really is. Why? Because God created life and He knows what life should be. Therefore, if we do not know God, God who gave us life, then we miss out on everything that God meant life to be. But this is not all that the rejectors will face if they do not know God.
- ⇒ If God exists, then it means that all those who reject Him must face His holiness and justice. They must stand before Him having rejected Him and face His judgment.

The point is clear: we must know God. But how can we tell if we really know Him? There are seven tests that will show us. The first test is the discussion of this passage: Do we keep God's commandments?

1. The test: do we keep God's commandments (v.3)?
2. The professing man: says he knows God but does not keep His commandments (v.4).
3. The obedient man: keeps God's Word (v.5).
4. The responsible man: lives up to his profession (v.6).

1 (2:3) Commandments—Knowledge, of God—Believers: How do we know if we really know God? There is a test that will show us. Do we keep God's commandments? Man faces an enormous problem, a problem that any thinking and honest person can see. If God really exists, man can never know it—not by his own reasonings and energy or effort. No matter how much thought or creative thinking and inner feelings man may have, man can never know for sure if God exists—not in and of himself. There is a clear reason for this. Man lives in a physical and material world, and the physical and material world cannot penetrate or cross over into the other world, that is, into the spiritual world. If man is ever to know the spiritual world, if he is ever to know God, then God has to enter the physical and material world and reveal Himself to man. And note: this is exactly what God has done. God has sent His Son Jesus Christ into the world to tell man the truth: the truth about God, about man himself, about the world in which man lives, and about the world to come. This is exactly what Jesus Christ and His followers said time and again. This is exactly what Jesus Christ and Scripture declare:

⇒ No man has ever crossed over into the spirit world and returned, no man but Jesus Christ.

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

“For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world....For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me” (Jn.6:33, 38).

“This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man eat thereof, and not die. I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world” (Jn.6:50-51).

“Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me” (Jn.8:42).

“Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God” (Jn.13:3).

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5).

1 JOHN 2:3-6

⇒ Jesus Christ came to save man from perishing and to give man an abundant life both now and eternally.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

⇒ Jesus Christ said that God had sent Him to make God known.

“And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not” (Jn.5:38).

“Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:29).

“Then cried Jesus in the temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me, and ye know whence I am: and I am not come of myself, but he that sent me is true, whom ye know not” (Jn.7:28).

“I have many things to say and to judge of you: but he that sent me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him” (Jn.8:26).

“He that seeth me seeth Him that sent me” (Jn.12:45).

“If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him” (Jn.14:7).

“All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it unto you” (Jn.16:15).

“In Him dwelleth all the fulness of God” (Col.2:9).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Who [Christ] being the brightness of God’s glory, and the express image of His person” (Heb.1:3).

This means something very significant: if we are to know God, we must know Jesus Christ. God has revealed Himself and made Himself known through Jesus Christ and through Christ alone. Therefore, to know God we must know Jesus Christ whom He has sent. How do we know if we know God? If we know Jesus Christ, then we know God.

Now, note exactly what the verse says.

“Hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments” (v.3).

This verse says explicitly that we know God if we keep God’s commandments. What are God’s commandments?

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

God’s chief commandment is this: that we believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ and love one another. There are two things said here.

1. First, to know God we must believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ. If we believe in Christ, then we come to know God, for Jesus Christ came to earth to reveal God. By believing in Jesus Christ we keep God’s commandment.

2. Second, to know God we must love one another. Love covers all the commandments of God. If we love one another, we will not hurt or cause pain for one another; we will not offend or sin against one another. We will be keeping all the commandments of God. This is exactly what Scripture declares.

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

The point is this: How do we know if we know God? Take a test: Do we keep God’s commandments? If we keep God’s commandments, then we believe in Jesus Christ, that He is God’s Son, and we love one another. We surrender all we are and have to Jesus Christ and to loving one another. Unless we are doing these two things, we do not know God. No matter what a person may say, he does not know God if he has never given his life to Jesus Christ. And he does not know God if he criticizes, grumbles, and backbites his brother and commits adultery, kills, steals, lies, covets, or does anything else against his brother. If a person really knows God, then he wants to please God. He wants to know more and more about God, and the only way he can know more and more about God is to follow God. He has to do the things that God does, to walk and love as God walks and loves. The more we walk and love as God does, the more we will come to know God. Therefore, if we keep His commandments, we know Him. This is the way we can tell if we know Him, the only way.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed” (Jn.8:31).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, He shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments” (1 Jn.2:3).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

Thought 1. Some people seek to know God. They seek after God, but they do it in the wrong way.

- 1) Some speculate about God. This is the route most people take in trying to know God. They imagine what God is like and hold that image in their mind and try to live by what they imagine. They have their own teachings and their own images of what God is like, and they govern their lives by that image.
- 2) Some try to seek and know God by mystical or emotional experiences. They seek to know the spiritual world and its focus through spiritists, astrology, seances, magic, and a host of other man-made mystical experiences.

2 (2:4) Profession, False: there is the man who makes a false profession. Scripture is direct and pulls no punches:

“He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him” (v.4).

It is absolutely impossible to know God and not to keep His commandments. Why? For one clear reason: if God really exists, then He created us. We came from God. He created us for some purpose; He put us on earth for some reason. Therefore, He is bound to tell us why He created us; He is bound to tell us what He wants us to do and exactly how to do it. He would defeat His purpose if He did not. Therefore, God would never leave us in the dark, groping and grasping and trying to find out the truth. He would be a God of hate if He left us in the dark, and He is the farthest thing from hate. Jesus Christ has shown us that God is love, that God loves us so much that He has given us the Holy Scriptures to tell us what to do. But more than this, God has shown us His love by giving His Son to live the truth out right before our eyes. God has not only given us His written Word that tells us how to live, He has given us the Living Word in the life of His Son. God has sent His very own Son to live the perfect and ideal life upon earth so that we might know how to live. Jesus Christ lived out the will of God; He lived just like God commands man to live. Therefore, He knew God perfectly. He had perfect communion and fellowship with God.

The point is this: if a person says that he knows God and does not keep God’s commandments, he is a liar. The only way a person can know God is to follow Jesus Christ, to walk in fellowship with God just like Jesus Christ did. A person has to follow the perfect and ideal life of Jesus Christ. The person has to walk and live as Jesus Christ walked and lived; he has to follow Jesus Christ and do exactly what Jesus Christ says in order to know God. This is what Jesus Christ did: He kept all the commandments of God; therefore, He knew God perfectly. This is exactly what man must do. Man must follow Jesus Christ and do exactly what Christ did: keep the commandments of God. When man keeps the commandments of God, then he will come to know God.

But note: the converse is also true. If a man does not keep God’s commandments, then he does not know God. This is exactly what this verse says. Note it again.

“He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him” (v.4).

Note: this person makes a false profession. His knowledge of God—what he thinks God is like—is false. His image of God and the ideas within his mind of God are not true. They are false, counterfeit, not genuine. The person does not know God at all. How can we tell? Because he does not keep the commandments of God. He has not truly believed in Jesus Christ, nor is he loving his brother like God commands. He is not walking like Jesus Christ walked, not obeying God nor doing what God says to do. The verse is clear; note it: the person is a liar and the truth is not in him. He is making a false profession.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:35).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; and walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour. But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints; neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks. For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:1-6).

“And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer. Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth and they lied unto him with their tongues” (Ps.78:35-36).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness. And, lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not” (Ezk.33:31-32).

3 (2:5) Profession, True—Obedience: there is the obedient man. The obedient man keeps God’s Word and knows God and loves God. Note how obedience is tied to knowing and loving God. All these things are involved in knowing anyone. The only way to know anyone is...

- to get near them.
- to study them, learn all about them—all about their will, desires, and wants, their nature and thoughts and behavior.

The same is true with God. The only way to know God is to get near Him and study Him, learning all we can about His will, desires, and wants; all about His nature and thoughts and behavior. But how can we do this when God is in the spiritual world, another whole dimension of being, a world that is far removed from this world? By Jesus Christ. Remember: Jesus Christ came to earth to reveal God and to show us how to draw near God. Therefore, to know God, we must draw near Jesus Christ and follow the example He left us. We must follow the Word of Christ; we must keep the Word of Christ, living exactly as He lived. This is the person who knows God.

Note a most wonderful result: the person who keeps God’s Word has the love of God perfected in his life. What does this mean? When we draw near God and begin to keep His Word, we begin to establish a relationship with God. It is just like a boy who meets a girl and begins to draw near her. He begins to know her and to develop affection for her, and the more he associates with her, the more he loves her. So it is with God. The more we draw near Him and keep His Word and please Him, the more we learn about Him and love Him. The word “keep” (tereĩ) is continuous action. It means to continue on and not to stop. It means day by day obedience. If we keep God’s Word day by day, then we learn more and more about God; we learn to love Him more and more. His love becomes perfected, completed, and fulfilled in us.

The obedient person is the person who knows God and loves God. He is the person who knows the love of God; he knows all the fulness of life that God’s love brings. No matter what a person may profess—no matter how religious a person may be—if he does not obey God, he does not know God. Neither does he love God.

“And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:25-27).

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:17).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence [that I may die]” (Jn.14:31).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love” (Jn.15:10).

“Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:14).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

“O that there were such a heart in them, that they would fear me, and keep all my commandments always, that it might be well with them, and with their children for ever!” (Dt.5:29).

4 (2:6) Believer, Duty—Walk, Spiritual: there is the responsible man, the man who lives up to his profession. The word “walk” (peripatein) is continuous action. It means to keep on walking; to continuously walk. If a person says that he abides in Christ, he must be a responsible person. He ought to walk as Jesus Christ walked. In fact, the word ought means debt, constraint, obligation. The person who professes Jesus Christ, who claims that he knows God, is obligated to walk as Jesus Christ walked. He is in debt to walk as Christ walked. How did Christ walk upon earth? He walked...

- believing and trusting God
- worshipping and praying to God
- fellowshiping and communing with God
- giving and sacrificing all He was and had to God
- seeking and following after God
- teaching and telling others about God
- loving and caring for others just as God said to do
- obeying and keeping all of God’s commandments

1 JOHN 2:3-6

This is the responsible man, the man who lives what he professes. If he professes to know God, he walks even as the Lord Jesus Christ walked upon earth. He believes and trusts God; he worships and prays to God, and he does all the other things that Christ did. He walks in the footsteps of Christ, doing exactly what Christ did. This is the person who knows God.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For we walk by faith, not by sight” (2 Cor.5:7).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me” (Mt.16:24).

“For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you” (Jn.13:15).

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:5).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus; who was faithful to him” (Heb.3:1-2).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps” (1 Pt.2:21).

THE PROOF THAT ONE REALLY KNOWS GOD: SEVEN TESTS, 2:3-29

B. Test 2: Loving One's Neighbor, 2:7-11

(2:7-11) Introduction: How do we know if we really know God? (See note—1 Jn.2:3-6 for introductory discussion.) There are seven tests that will show us. This passage covers the second test: it deals with love. Do we love our neighbors? If we criticize, grumble, gripe, backbite, ignore, neglect, curse, abuse, slander, hate, or mistreat our neighbors in any way, then we do not know God. No matter what we may claim nor how loudly we claim it, we do not know God if we do not love our neighbors. God is love; therefore any person who truly knows God is bound to love. Loving others is a strong test of our knowledge of God. We can tell whether or not we know God by testing our love for others.

1. The test: the supreme commandment—love (v.7-8).
2. The professing man: professes God but hates his brother (v.9).
3. The obedient man: loves his brother (v.10).
4. The bitter and hating man (v.11).
 - a. Is in darkness and walks in darkness.
 - b. Has no direction and is blind.

1 (2:7-8) Commandment—Love: How do we know if we know God? There is a test that shows us: Do we follow after the supreme commandment, the commandment to love our neighbors? Note three significant facts.

1. This is not a new commandment, but an old commandment. Observe: John does not come right out and say that he is talking about love, not immediately. He says that the commandment he is about to talk about...
 - is not a new commandment but an old commandment.
 - is the commandment that they had heard from the beginning of time.

One of the very first things that God ever said to man was this: man must love his neighbor (Lev.19:18). Why then would John not just go ahead and mention the commandment? Why take a backdoor approach to the subject of love? John had a very good reason: what John is about to say is new, so new that people would say that it was his own idea and not the truth. Therefore, John had to establish the fact that God had said the same thing from the beginning of time. But note a crucial question: If the commandment of love has been with man from the beginning of time, how can it be a new commandment? What is there about the commandment that might upset people and cause them to turn away from John's exhortation? This is the second thing discussed by John.

2. The commandment is a new commandment (v.8). It is not only an old commandment but a new commandment. Again, what is so new about love? Jesus Christ! Jesus Christ gave love a new meaning. Jesus Christ...
 - loved not only friends, but enemies.
 - loved not only good people, but bad people.
 - loved not only the righteous, but the sinner.
 - loved not only the acceptable, but the rejected.
 - loved not only the clean, but the dirty.

Jesus Christ Himself stated the fact as clearly as it can be stated:

“Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:43-45).

This was a totally new concept of love. Man has always felt free to mistreat others, especially those who had mistreated him. He has felt free to...

- | | | |
|---------------|-------------|-------------|
| • hate | • ignore | • be unkind |
| • strike back | • neglect | • backbite |
| • hurt | • criticize | • retaliate |

But Jesus Christ has shown that we cannot mistreat people no matter what they have done, that we must love everyone no matter who they are. Note His words above: “That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:45). The only way we can become children of God is to love even as God loves. If we do not love, then we do not know God, for God is love. He is the love that loves all people no matter who they are. Note another statement of Jesus Christ:

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

Jesus Christ says an astounding thing: the only way people can tell that we are His disciples is by our love for one another. Our discipleship and our knowledge of God can be measured by whether or not we love our brothers and sisters in the Lord. This is exactly what John says in verse 8: “the new commandment...is true in Him [Christ] and in you [true believers].” The person who truly follows God has the love of God in him. The love of God dwells not only in Christ but in the believer also.

3. Note another fact about the new commandment of love. Love is now made known by the true light that shines and erases the darkness (v.8). “The darkness is now past and the true light now shineth” (v.8).

The darkness refers to man’s old idea of love, that he could react against anyone who mistreated him. But Jesus Christ, who is the light of the world, has now shone forth the truth. Man is to love his neighbor no matter what the neighbor does. In fact, man is to love all men no matter who they are or what they have done. God is love; therefore man is to be as God: man is to love. It is by his love that man knows whether or not he knows God. No man knows God unless he loves as Christ loves, loves even his enemies.

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12).

“Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth” (Jn.12:35).

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

“For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret” (Eph.5:12).

“The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined” (Is.9:2).

2 (2:9) Hate—Profession, False: there is the professing man, the man who professes that he knows God but who hates his brother. How many persons do just what this scene pictures? A person says that he is in the light, that is, that he is in Christ. He says that he...

- believes in Christ
- has been baptized in Christ
- belongs to the church of Christ
- has been confirmed in Christ
- takes the supper of Christ
- reads the Word of Christ
- prays to Christ
- lives for Christ
- teaches for Christ

But the person hates his brother. He says, “Oh, I don’t hate my brother. I just don’t like him. I don’t know how to get along with him.” Or, “He just turns me off: his appearance, his behavior.” Or, “He did me wrong; he mistreated me.” Whatever the reason, it is not love. Love is love; it is not mistreatment or hate. And Jesus Christ revealed the light of love to us. We must love our neighbors, even those who are our enemies, if we are to become children of God and followers of Him. No man walks in the light of God, no man knows God, unless he loves his neighbor—even the neighbors who stand against him. If we hate our neighbors—neglect, dislike, disregard, criticize, backbite, and mistreat them—we are not living in the light, not living in Christ. We are making a false profession. We do not know God, not really, no matter what we claim. We are living in the darkness of this world—living like most people in the world live—hating some of our brothers.

“But if thine eye be evil [focused upon hatred], thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth” (1 Jn.1:6).

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now” (1 Jn.2:9).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?” (1 Jn.4:20).

“Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him” (Lev.19:17).

“Hatred stirreth up strifes: but love covereth all sins” (Pr.10:12).

“Better is a dinner of herbs where love is, than a stalled ox and hatred therewith” (Pr.15:17).

3 (2:10) Love: there is the obedient man, the man who loves his brother. Two wonderful things are said about the person who loves his brother.

1. He is a man who abides in the light, that is, in Christ. The obedient man lives and walks in Jesus Christ. He walks in love just as Jesus Christ walked in love. What does it mean to walk in love? Scripture spells out some very practical acts.

- ⇒ Love suffereth long (endures long, is patient).
- ⇒ Love is kind.
- ⇒ Love envies not (is not jealous).
- ⇒ Love vaunts not itself (brags not, boasts not).
- ⇒ Love is not puffed up (is not vainglorious, arrogant, prideful).
- ⇒ Love does not behave itself unseemly (unbecomingly, rudely, indecently, unmannerly).
- ⇒ Love seeks not her own (is not selfish, self-seeking, insisting on one’s rights and way).
- ⇒ Love is not easily provoked (is not touchy, angry, fretful, resentful).
- ⇒ Love thinks no evil (harbors no evil thought, takes no account of a wrong done it).
- ⇒ Love rejoices not in iniquity (in wrong, sin, evil, injustice), but rejoices in the truth (in justice, in righteousness).
- ⇒ Love bears all things.
- ⇒ Love believes all things (exercises faith in everything, under all circumstances).
- ⇒ Love endures all things (never weakens; has the power to endure).

2. The man who loves his brother has no occasion of stumbling in him. There is nothing in him to make him stumble, nothing to trip him up in life, nothing to make him fall and hurt himself or destroy his life. How can this be? How can it be said of any man that he will not stumble? Because love is the great binding force of the universe.

- ⇒ God is love; therefore the more we love God, the closer and closer we draw to Him. And the closer we get to Him, the more we learn to trust His care, provision, protection, and power. When God is taking care of us, there is absolutely nothing that can touch us (cp. Ro.8:35-39).
- ⇒ The great need of man is love. Man needs to be loved, but not with the sentimental feelings and passions of the world that come and go as freely as the falling star that shoots across the sky. Man needs to be loved with the love of God, the kind of love just covered above, the kind of love that will help him to know that God loves him. Man needs to know that God cares for him and wants to deliver and strengthen him against all the trials of life. This kind of love will pull men together, not alienate them. The man who loves his neighbor like this will not fail to live the kind of life he should live.

“Love ye therefore the stranger: for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt” (Dt.10:19).

“Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:11) Hate—Darkness: there is the bitter, hating man. This person differs from the professing person in that he does not profess to know God. He is a man who is totally lost in the darkness of this world. Several things are said about this man.

1. He is in darkness and walks in darkness. He is not in the light, not in Christ. Therefore, he does not know God. He does not even profess to know God. He is wrapped up and focused only upon the world. When it comes to God and Christ, he is totally in the dark and often could care less. He takes what he can and accumulates all that he can, no matter who it hurts. He cares little about other people except perhaps family and close friends. He lives mainly for the pleasures and passions of the world. Therefore, how he treats his neighbor matters little, just so he gets what he wants.

2. He has no direction and is blind. He does not look beyond this life and he is blind to it. He sees little if any meaning to life other than getting all he can of its comfort, pleasures, and possessions. Therefore, to hate his neighbor means nothing to him if his neighbor gets in the way.

Note: when a man hates or is bitter against another person, it blinds him even more. He often focuses upon getting back at the person and loses sight of what he should be doing. He just cannot see the truth.

Thought 1. How often a person has opposed a good project simply because he was upset with the leader. The great good of the project is often clearly visible, but hatred blinds the mind and more tragically the heart—so much so that a person makes a fool out of himself without even knowing it. But more tragically, he often causes damage and division among people, and his soul is doomed to be in darkness forever—forever separated from the light of God and of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes” (1 Jn.2:11).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT ONE REALLY KNOWS GOD: SEVEN TESTS, 2:3-29

C. Test 3: Remembering Your Spiritual Growth, 2:12-14

(2:12-14) Introduction: note that three groups of people are addressed by John—little children, fathers, and young men. Note also that each one is addressed twice. In verses 12-13 John uses the present tense and says “I am writing to you.” In verse 14 he uses the past tense and says, “I have written to you.” Two questions immediately arise: Who are these people and why does John change tenses?

1. First, who are the people John is addressing? Is he addressing the various age groups in the church: the children, the aged fathers, and the young men? Or is he talking about stages of spiritual growth? Now note a significant fact: there are within the church other adults other than fathers and young men. There are full grown men who are aged and there are women. It is doubtful that John would be referring to the various age groups within the church and addressing only the fathers and young men among the adults. This points rather strongly to John's classification being the stages of spiritual growth.

2. Second, why does John change tenses from “I am writing” (v.12-13) to “I have written to you” (v.14)? For emphasis: John is driving home the point that believers must grow in Christ. They must confirm their growth in Christ, confirm their great relationship with God over and over again. To stress the point John says...

- “I am writing this part of the letter and what is to follow so that you will grow and grow in Christ.”
- “I have written the first part of the letter so that you grow and grow in Christ.”

The following chart will help us to grasp what John is doing. (Note: the idea of this chart was stirred by the chart of A. Plummer. The Epistles of St. John. “The Pulpit Commentary,” Vol.22, ed. by HDM Spence and Joseph S. Exell. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1950, p.23.)

I AM WRITING this part of the letter...

- To the little children among you, that is, the newborn Christians
- To spiritual fathers among you, that is, the spiritually mature with a deep and rich knowledge of God
- To the young men among you, that is, the mature believers

Reasons for writing

- Because your sins are forgiven
- Because you have known God and have been faithful from the beginning
- Because you have overcome the wicked one

I HAVE WRITTEN the first part of the letter...

- To little children among you, that is, the newborn Christians
- To spiritual fathers among you, that is, the spiritually mature with a deep and rich knowledge of God
- To the young men among you, that is, the mature believers

Reasons for writing

- Because you have known the Father
- Because you have known God and have been faithful from the beginning
- Because you are strong, have the Word of God abiding in you, and have overcome the wicked one

Now, to the discussion of the passage. Remember the overall subject that John is discussing: How do we know if we really know God? (See note—1 Jn.2:3-6 for introductory discussion.) There are seven tests that will show us. This passage covers the third test, a test that shows us beyond any question whether or not we know God. It is the test of spiritual growth.

- ⇒ Do you remember your spiritual growth?
- ⇒ Do you remember how you have grown in Christ from the beginning of your conversion?
- ⇒ Do you remember how God has grown and matured and developed you in Christ?

If you really know Christ, then you have grown in Christ; you have developed and matured stage by stage. Have you grown in Christ since you professed Christ? If you have grown, then you know God. You are a child of God. If you have not grown in Christ, you do not know God. Once a person is truly converted he grows in Christ. That is what conversion means: to convert over; to change over; to become a new person; to be born again; to exchange the old life without Christ for the new life with Christ. If a person is truly born again in Christ, then he begins to live and walk in Christ. If he is truly converted over to Christ, then he is a follower of Christ; he focuses upon Christ and grows in Christ.

The point is perfectly understandable to a clear and honest mind: a person who truly knows God follows God. He grows spiritually; he grows in the knowledge of God and of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The person who truly knows God remembers his spiritual growth. He has a spiritual growth to remember.

1. Step 1: remember your spiritual growth (v.12-13).
2. Step 2: confirm who you are—your great relationship to God—over and over again (v.14).

I (2:12-13) Growth, Spiritual—Maturity—Stages, Spiritual: first, remember your spiritual growth. In the church, in God's family, there are various stages of growth. Note: what John is writing applies to every stage of the believer's growth. No matter who the believer is, how weak or strong he is, this message applies to him. This is a message for the whole church.

1. There are little children, people who have just received Jesus Christ and begun to follow Him. If you are a new-born Christian, remember this: your sins are forgiven. You are...

- no longer guilty of sin
- no longer to be judged for sin
- no longer to be condemned for sin
- no longer to be punished for sin

You have trusted Jesus Christ as the great Bearer of your sins. You believe that Jesus Christ took your sins upon Himself and bore the condemnation and punishment for them. You believe that Jesus Christ became your substitute in bearing the judgment for your sins. Therefore, you are cleansed of sin; your sins are forgiven.

But note why: "for his name's sake." God forgives our sins for Christ's sake. He cleanses us for the sake of Christ far more than He does for us. God loves us perfectly, yes, but God loves His own Son with a very special love. God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, is God's Son by nature. In addition, Christ has obeyed and fulfilled the will of God perfectly. In obedience to God's will, He left the glory of heaven and came to this corrupt world to die for our sins. Jesus Christ did exactly what God willed and ordained; He obeyed God perfectly. Therefore, no person can ever take the place of Christ in the heart of God. For this reason God has destined that Jesus Christ have many adopted brothers and sisters, many believers who follow and attach themselves to Him. God has ordained that believers live forever with Christ, worshipping and serving Him throughout all eternity. This is what is meant by the words "for Christ's sake." Because of what Christ has done, for His sake, God has forgiven our sins. God loves His Son so much that He honors any person who honors His Son. Any person who believes in God's Son, who gives his life to Jesus Christ, God will take and do exactly what that person believes. He does it for Christ's sake—does it so that Jesus Christ will have another brother or sister to worship and serve Him throughout all eternity. Our sins are forgiven for Christ's sake.

The point is this: all believers must remember that their sins are forgiven. But young believers—you who are young children in the faith—you in particular must remember this. Because you are young in the faith, because you have just recently left the world and its pleasures and possessions, you are more likely to forget what Jesus Christ has done for you. You must focus and concentrate upon Jesus Christ, upon the glorious fact that He has forgiven your sins. You must guard against returning to the world and its enticements.

"Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins" (Acts 5:31).

"Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins" (Acts 13:38).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Eph.4:32).

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 Jn.1:9).

2. There are fathers, spiritual fathers, believers who are spiritually mature with a deep and rich knowledge of God. What is the exhortation to these who have such a deep and rich knowledge of God? To these few who have walked so faithfully for so many years, the exhortation is this: remember, you have known God from the very beginning of your conversion, and you have faithfully and diligently served Him. Day by day you have...

- fed upon the Word of God.
- set aside time for prayer and learned to walk in prayer all day long.
- learned to fellowship and commune with God all day long, striving for an unbroken communion and fellowship with Him.
- witnessed to the saving power of Jesus Christ.
- been loyal to the church, its members, mission, and ministry.
- committed your life to minister to the needs surrounding you and reached out beyond to the world through your prayers and gifts.
- given all you are and have to Christ and His mission, meeting the desperate needs of the world.

The point is this: the spiritually mature who have a deep and rich knowledge of God must never forget where they have come from, never forget how they grew in Christ. They must remember how they grew and came to know the Father so well. They must remember how they gained such a deep and rich knowledge of God. Remembering and staying focused upon the Father is the only way a person can finish the Christian race faithfully and receive his reward. The spiritually mature, those with a deep and rich knowledge of God, must remember and continue to grow in the knowledge of God.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith: that I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:7-10).

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

3. There are young men, mature believers in the church. These must remember how far they have come. They have come a long way: they have fought a long battle and they have now overcome the wicked one. The wicked one used to attack them right and left, at every turn. He attacked them with every temptation imaginable, but especially with the sins that were so common before their conversion, the sins of...

| • drunkenness | • arrogance | • loving money |

The point is this: believers who have walked faithfully with Christ over a long period of time have overcome the temptations of the wicked one. The temptations do not strike as often nor with the force that they once did. It was a difficult struggle, a fierce battle all along the way, for it is never easy to die to self, never easy to deny self completely. It is never easy to give up all one is and has to Christ and His mission. In fact, after we have committed our lives and possessions to Christ, the wicked one attacks us more fiercely than ever before. Satan does not want to lose us and our loyalty to sin; he wants to cause God as much pain as possible. Therefore right after we accept Christ, he attacks us with far greater force than ever before. But the mature believer overcomes. However, he must remember how he overcame, for Satan stays after the believer as long as he is on earth. The attacks perhaps are not as often nor as fierce as when the believer was younger, but the believer must stay strong or else he will be caught off-guard and fall into sin. The mature believer must remember how he overcame the wicked one and continue to combat him in the Word.

Thought 1. How do believers overcome Satan?

⇒ They overcome by drawing near God, by praying and asking for wisdom.

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

⇒ They overcome by using God’s Word, quoting it over and over in their minds, to conquer the temptation.

“And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve” (Lk.4:8).

⇒ They overcome by learning and knowing that God allows temptation to teach endurance.

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience” (Jas.1:2-3).

⇒ They overcome by not yielding their bodily members to sin.

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

⇒ They overcome by clothing themselves with the armor of God.

“Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand” (Eph.6:13).

⇒ They overcome by being on guard and watching for the tempter’s temptations.

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

⇒ They overcome by not giving in to anger nor giving place to the devil.

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:26-27).

⇒ They overcome by submitting to God and resisting the devil.

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

⇒ They overcome by not giving in to the enticement of sinners.

“My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not” (Pr.1:10).

⇒ They overcome by not entering into the path of the wicked.

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

2 (2:14) Growth, Spiritual—Maturity—Diligence—Faithfulness: second, remember your great relationship to God over and over again. Note the emphasis in this second exhortation to each of the believers: the stress is upon the believer’s relationship to God and His Word. What John has written has been written to stir up their relationship to the Father. Believers, no matter their stage of spiritual growth, must never forget who it is they know: God the Father. They have the greatest privilege in all the world, the privilege of knowing God Himself, of being adopted into the very family of God and of becoming a son or a daughter of God. The believer receives the great privilege of calling God “Father.”

1. Little children, young believers, must remember that they have known the Father. They have just been adopted into the family of God. God Himself, the Supreme Force of the universe, the Supreme Intelligence and Power of the universe, is not some abstract energy way off in outer space. God is a Person, the Supreme Person in all the universe, the only living and true God. And He desires the most wonderful thing in all the world: to relate to man. He wants to become a Father to people. He wants to adopt people as His children, to have people believe in Him and trust Him to look after them. Young believers know this; therefore they have come to God through Jesus Christ, and they have experienced the privilege of adoption. They now know God as their Father.

But note: young believers must remember this glorious truth. They must remember and focus upon God as their Father; they must not let the thought of God slip from their mind. They must come to God day by day as their Father. They must...

- bring their needs to Him
- trust Him to look after them
- ask and depend upon Him to teach them
- trust Him to discipline them when they need it
- study Him and His Word, and listen and do what He says
- fellowship and commune with Him
- love Him and receive His love
- do nothing that would shame Him
- share with others what a wonderful Father He is

“After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name” (Mt.6:9).

“If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?” (Mt.7:11).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

2. Fathers, the believers who have a deep and rich knowledge of God, must remember that they have known God who is from the beginning. They must remember everything that has been said to them in the above note (1 Jn.2:12-13). But in addition, they must never be lifted up with pride—no matter how long they have walked with God. Note the words: “Him [God] that is from the beginning.” God has been around from the beginning of time, much longer than the fathers of the faith. No matter how deep and rich the believer’s knowledge of God is, there is so much more to know. God is eternal and He has an eternity of experience for us to learn about. Therefore, we must never be lifted up with pride as though we know God and have arrived. There is still an eternity of things to learn about God. Mature believers, those with a rich and full knowledge of God, must remember from where they have come and continue to seek to know God. They have known God from the beginning of their conversion and they must continue to grow and grow in their relationship with God.

“When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things” (1 Cor.13:11).

“Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).
