36 So Sanheríb King of Aſſhúr departed, and went his way, and returned, and dwelt in Ninuéh.

37 And as he was in the temple worſhiping Niſróch his god, Adramélech and Sharézer his ſonnes [y] ſlewe him with the ſworde: and they eſcaped into the land of Ararát, ad Eſarhaddón his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

[y] This was ſ iuſte iudgemẽt of God for his blaſphemie, that he ſhulde be ſlaine before that idole, whome he preferred to the liuing God, & by them by whome he ought by nature to haue bene defended

Hezekiáh is ſicke, and receyueth the ſigne of his health 12 He receyueth rewardes of Berodách, 13 Sheweth his treaſures, and is reprehẽded of Iſaiáh 22 He dyeth and Manaſſéh his ſonne reigneth in his ſteade

1 ABout that time *was Hezekiáh ſicke vnto death: and ſ Prophet Iſaiáh the ſonne of Amóz came to him, and ſaid vnto him, Thus ſayth the Lord, Put thine houſe in an ordre: for thou ſhalt dye, and not liue.

*2 Chro 32.24 Iſa 38.1. eccleſ 48.46.

2 Then he turned his face to the [a] wall, & prayed to the Lord, ſaying,

[a] That his minde might not be troubled.

3 I beſeche thee, ô Lord, remember now, how I haue walked before thee in trueth & with a [b] perfit heart, and haue done that which is good in thy ſight: and Hezekiáh [c] wept ſore.

[b] Meaning, without all hypocriſie

[c] Not ſo muche for his owne death, as for feare that idolatrie ſhulde be reſtored, which he had deſtroyed, and ſo Gods Name be diſhonored.

4 ¶And afore Iſaiáh was gone out into the middle of the court, the worde of the Lord came to him, ſaying,

5 Turne againe, and tel Hezekiáh the captaine of my people, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy [d] prayer, and ſene thy teares: beholde, I haue healed thee, and the third day thou ſhalt go vp to the [e] houſe of the Lord,

[d] Because of his vnfained repentance & prayer God turned away his wrath

6 And I wil adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yere, & wil deliuer thee and this citie out of the hand of the King of Aſſhúr, and wil defend this citie for mine owne ſake, and for Dauid my ſeruants ſake.

7 Then Iſaiáh ſaid, Take a [f] lompe of drye figs. And they toke it, and layed it on the boyle, and he recouered.

[f] He declareth ſ albeit God cã heale without other medecines, yet he ſheweth that he wil not haue theſe inferior meanes contemned

8 ¶For Hezekiáh had ſaid vnto Iſaiáh, What ſhalbe the ſigne that the Lord wil heale me, and that I ſhal go vp into the houſe of the Lord the third day?

9 And Iſaiáh anſwered, This ſigne ſhalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord wil do that he hathe ſpoken, Wilt thou that the ſhadowe go forwarde ten degrees, or go backe ten degrees?

[g] I ret the ſenne go ſo manie degrees backe that ſ houres may be ſo manie the fewer in the Kings dial

10 And Hezekiáh anſwered, It is a light thing for the ſhadowe to paſſe forwarde ten degrees: not ſo then, but let the ſhadowe [g] go backe ten degrees.

11 And Iſaiáh the Prophet called vnto the Lord, and he broght againe the ſhadowe tẽ degrees backe by the degrees whereby it had gone downe in the [h] dial of Aház.

[h] Which dial was ſet in the top of the Bayres that Aház had made. Iſa 19.1.

12 ¶*The ſame ſeaſon Berodách Baladán the ſonne of Baladán King of Babél, ſent letters and a [i] preſent to Hezekiáh: for he had heard how that Hezekiáh was ſicke

[i] Moued with the fauour ſ God ſhewed to Hezekiáh, & alſo becauſe he had declared him ſelfe enemie to Sanheríb his enemie which was now deſtroied

13 And Hezekiáh heard them, and ſhewed them all his treaſure houſe, to wit, the ſiluer, & the golde, & the ſpices, and the precious ointment, & all the houſe of his armour, and all that was founde in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, and in all his [k] realme, that Hezekiáh ſhewed them not.

[k] Being moued with ambition and vaine glorie, & alſo becauſe he ſemed to reioyce in ſ friendſhip of him ſ was Gods enemie & an infidele

14 Then Iſaiáh the Prophet came vnto King Hezekiáh, and ſaid vnto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiáh ſaid, They be come from a farre countrey, euen from Babél.

15 Then ſaid he, What haue they ſene in thine houſe? And Hezekiáh anſwered, All that is in mine houſe haue they ſene: there is nothing among my treaſures, that I haue not ſhewed them.

16 And Iſaiáh ſaid vnto Hezekiáh, Heare the worde of the Lord.

17 Beholde, the dayes come, that all that is in thine houſe, and whatſoeuer thy fathers haue laied vp in ſtore vnto this day, * ſhal be caried into Babél: Nothing ſhalbe left, ſaith the Lord.

*2 Kin 24.13, & 25.13. Iere 27.19.

18 And of thy ſonnes, that ſhal procede out of thee, & which thou ſhalt beget, ſhal they take away, and they ſhalbe eunuches in the palace of the King of Babél.

19 Then Hezekiáh ſaid vnto Iſaiáh, The worde of the Lord which thou haſt [l] ſpoken, is good: for ſaid he, Shal it not be good, if [m] peace and trueth be in my dayes?

[l] He acknowledgeth Iſaiáh to be the true Prophet of God, and therefore humbleth him ſelfe to his worde

[m] Seíg ſ God hathe ſhewed me this fauour to grant me quietnes durig my life: for he was afraied leſt ſ enemies ſhulde haue had occaſion to reioyce, if the Church had decaied in his time becauſe he had reſtored religion

20 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Hezekiáh, and all his valiant dedes, and how he made a poole & a cõdite, & broght water into the citie, are they not written in the boke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudáh?

21 And Hezekiáh ſlept with his fathers: & Manaſſéh his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

CHAP. XXI.

King Manaſſéh reſtoreth idolatrie, 16 And vſeth great crueltie 18 He dyeth, and Amón his ſonne ſucceedeth, 23 Who is killed of his owne ſeruants 26 After him reigneth Iſiáh

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoſte of the heauen in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

a Read Chap 16,3 6 And he cauſed his ſonnes a to paſſe through the fyre, and gaue him ſelfe to witchcraft and ſorcerie, and he vſed them that had familiar ſpirits and were ſothe-ſayers, and did muche euil in the ſight of the Lord to angre him.

7 And he ſet the image of the groue, that he had made, in the houſe, whereof ỹ Lord had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomón his ſonne, *In this houſe, and in Ieruſalém, 1 King 8,29. & 9,3. which I haue choſen out of all the tribes of Iſraél, wil I put my Name for euer. 2 king.7,10.

8 Nether wil I make ỹ feete of Iſraél moue anie more out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: ſo that they wil b obſerue and do all that I haue commanded them, & according to all the Lawe that my ſeruant Moſés commanded them.

b Therefore ſeing they obeyed not the cõmãdemẽt of God, they were iuſtly eaſt forthe of that lãd which they had but on cõdicion.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manaſſéh led them out of the way, to do more wickedly then did the heathen people, whome the Lord deſtroyed before the children of Iſraél.

10 Therefore the Lord ſpake by his ſeruãts the Prophetes, ſaying,

Iere.15,4. 11 *Becauſe that Manaſſéh King of Iudáh hathe done ſuche abominacióṡ, and hathe wroght more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, & hathe made Iudáh ſinne alſo wt his idoles, 12 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil bring an euil vpon Ieruſalém and Iudáh, that whoſo heareth of it, bothe his eares ſhal c tingle.

c Meaning, ỹ whoſoeuer ſhal heare of this great plague, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed 13 And I wil ſtretch ouer Ieruſalém the line d of Samaria, and the plommet of the houſe of Aháb: and I wil wipe Ieruſalém, as a man wipeth a diſh, which he wipeth, and turneth it vpſide downe.

d As I haue deſtroyed Samaria and the houſe of Aháb, ſo wil I deſtroye Iudáh

14 And I wil forſake the e remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hãd of their enemies, and they ſhalbe robbed & ſpoiled of all their aduerſaries, e Meaning Iudáh and Beniamin, which were onely left of the reſt of the tribes.

15 Becauſe they haue done euil in my ſight, and haue prouoked me to angre, ſince the time their fathers came out of Egypt vntil this day.

f The Ebrewes write that he ſlewe Iſaiáh ỹ Prophet, who was his father in Lawe.

16 Moreouer Manaſſéh ſhed f innocent blood exceding muche, til he repleniſhed Ieruſalém from corner to corner, beſide his ſinne wherewith he made Iudáh to ſinne, and to do euil in the ſight of the Lord.

17 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Manaſſéh, and all that he did, and his ſinne ỹ he ſinned, are they not writen in ỹ boke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudáh?

18 And Manaſſéh ſlept with his fathers, and was buryed in ỹ gardẽ of his owne houſe, euen in the garden of Vzzá: and Amón his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

19 ¶ *Amón was two and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned two yere in Ieruſalém: his mothers name alſo was Meſhullémeth the daughter of Harúz of Iotbáh. 2 Chro 33,20.

20 And he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, as his father Manaſſéh did.

21 For he walked in all the waie, that his father walked in, and ſerued the idoles that his father ſerued, and worſhiped them.

22 And he forſoke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the g way of the Lord.

g That is, according to his cõmandements.

23 And the ſeruants of Amón conſpired againſt him, and ſlewe the King in his owne houſe.

24 And the people of the land ſlewe all them that had conſpired againſt King Amón, and the people made Ioſiah his ſonne King in his ſteade.

25 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Amón, which he did, are they not writen in the boke of ỹ Chronicles of the Kings of Iudáh?

26 And *they buryed him in his ſepulchre in the garden of Vzzá: and Ioſiáh his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

Or, he buryed him ſo it, Ioſiah his ſonne.

CHAP. XXII.

4 Ioſiáh repareth the Temple & Helkiáh findeth the boke of the Lawe, and cauſeth it to be preſented to Ioſiah. 12 Who ſendeth to Huldáh the propheteſſe to inquire the Lords wil.

1 IOſiáh was *eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned one and thirtie yere in Ieruſalém. His mothers name alſo was Iedidáh the daughter of Adaiáh of Bozcáth. 2 Chro 34, 1.

a His zeale was prophecied of, & his name mencioned by Iddó the Prophet, more then three hundreth yeres before, 1 King.13,2: and being but eight yere olde, he ſought ỹ God of his father Dauid, 2 Chro 34,3.

2 And he did vprightly in the ſight of the Lord, & a walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed nether to the right hand, nor to the left.

Or, yeer, as verſ 9

3 ¶ And in the eightenth yere of King Ioſiáh, the King ſent Shaphán the ſonne of Azaliáh the ſonne of Meſhullám the chãceller to the houſe of the Lord, ſaying,

Or, verſ.

4 Go vp to Hilkiáh the hie Prieſt, that he may *ſumme the ſiluer which is broght into the houſe of the Lord, which the kepers of the b dore haue gathered of the people.

b Certeine of the Prieſts were appointed to this office, as Chap 12,9 5 And let them c deliuer it into the hand of them that do the worke, and haue the ouerſight of the houſe of the Lord: let them giue it to them that worke in the houſe of the Lord, to repaire the decaied places of the houſe:

c From the time of Ioáſh for the ſpace of 224 yeres the Temple remained without reparatiõ through the negligence of ỹ Prieſts this declareth that they that haue a charge and execute it not, ought to haue it taken from them.

6 *To wit, vnto the artificers and carpenters & maſons, and to bie tymber, and hewed ſtone ſtone to repaire the houſe.

7 Howbeit let no rekening be made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale [d] faithfully.

d So God pronuced him of faithful ſeruãts, ſeing he went about ſo zealouſly to ſet forthe the worke of God.

8 And Hilkiáh the hie Prieſt ſaid vnto Shaphán the chanceller, I haue founde the [e] boke of the Lawe in the houſe of the Lord: and Hilkiáh gaue the boke to Shaphán, and he red it.

e This was the copie that Moſes left them, as appeareth 2 Chro 34.14 which ether by the negligence of the Prieſts had bene loſt, or els by the wickednes of idolatrous Kings had bene abolished 9 So Shaphán the chanceller came to the King, and broght him worde againe, & ſaid, Thy ſeruãts haue "gathered the money, that was founde in the houſe, and haue deliuered it vnto the hands of them that do the worke, and haue the ouerſight of the houſe of the Lord.

"Or melted.

10 Alſo Shaphán the chanceller ſhewed the King, ſaying, Hilkiáh the Prieſt hathe deliuered me a boke. And Shaphán red it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard the wordes of the boke of the Lawe, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the King commanded Hilkiáh the Prieſt, and Ahikám the ſonne of Shaphán, and Achbór the ſonne of Michaiáh, and Shaphán the chanceller, and Aſahiah the Kings ſeruant, ſaying, 13 Go ye and [f] inquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Iudáh, concerning the wordes of this boke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled againſt vs, becauſe our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this boke, to do according vnto all that which is writen therein for vs.

f Meaning to ſome Prophet whome God reueleth the knowledge of things vnto, as Ier 21,1 thogh at other times they inquired the Lord by Vrim & Thũmim.

14 ¶ So Hilkiáh the Prieſt and Ahikám, and Achbór and Shaphán, and Aſahiáh went vnto Huldáh the Propheteſſe the wife of Shallúm, the ſonne of Tikuáh, the ſonne of Harhás keper of the wardrobe: (and ſhe dwelt in Ieruſalém in the [g] colledge) and they communed with her.

g Or, the houſe of doctrine which was nere to the Temple, & where the learned aſſembled to intreat the Scriptures, & the doctrine of the Prophetes

15 And ſhe anſwered them, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſraél, Tel the man that ſent you to me,

16 Thus ſayth the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring euil vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, euen all the wordes of the boke which the King of Iudáh hathe red,

17 Becauſe they haue forſaken me, and haue burnt incenſe vnto other gods, to anger me with all the [h] workes of their hands: my wrath alſo ſhalbe kindled againſt this place, and ſhal not be quenched.

h The workes of mans hand here ſignifie all that mã inuenteth beſide the worde of God which are abominable in Gods ſeruice.

18 But to the King of Iudáh, who ſent you to inquire of the Lord, ſo ſhal ye ſay vnto him, Thus ſayth the Lord God of Iſraél, The wordes that thou haſt heard, ſhal come to paſſe.

i Meaning that he did repent as they, that do not repent, are ſaid to harden their heart, Pſal 95,8.

19 But becauſe thine heart did [i] melt, and thou haſt humbled thy ſelfe before the Lord, when thou heardeſt what I ſpake againſt this place, and againſt the inhabitãts of the ſame, to wit, that it ſhulde be deſtroyed and accurſed, and haſt rent thy clothes, and wept before me, I haue alſo heard it, ſayth the Lord.

20 Beholde therefore, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou ſhalt be put in thy graue in [k] peace, and thine eyes ſhal not ſe all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this place. Thus they broght the King worde againe.

k Whereupon we may gather that the augre of God is ready againſt the wicked, when God taketh his ſeruants out of this worlde.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Ioſiáh readeth the Lawe before the people 3 He maketh a couenant with the Lord 4 He putteth downe the idoles, after he had killed their prieſts 22 He kepeth Paſſouer. 24 He deſtroyeth the conuerts 29 He was killed in Megiddó. 30 And his ſonne Iehoahaz reigneth in his ſtede 33 After he was taken, his ſonne Iehoiakim was made King.

1 THen the King [a] ſent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudáh and of Ieruſalém.

2 Chro.34.36

a Becauſe he ſawe the great plagues of God that were threatned, he knewe no more ſpedie waye to auoide them, then to turne to God by repentance, which can not come but of faith, and faith by hearig of the worde of God

2 And the King went vp into the houſe of the Lord, with all the men of Iudáh and all the inhabitãts of Ieruſalém with him, and the Prieſts and Prophetes, and all the people bothe ſmall & great: and he red in their eares all the wordes of the boke of the couenant, which was found in the houſe of the Lord.

3 And the King ſtode by [b] the piller, and made a [c] couenant before the Lord, that they ſhulde walke after the Lord, and kepe his commandements, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes with all their heart, & with all their ſoul, that they might accompliſh the wordes of this couenant writen in this boke. And all the people ſtode to the couenant.

b Where the King had his place, Chap 11,14

c As Ioſhúa did, Ioſ 24.22

4 Then the King commanded Hilkiáh the hie Prieſt and the [d] Prieſts of the ſecond ordre, and the kepers of the dore, to bring out of the Temple of the Lord all the veſſels that were made for Báal, and for the groue, and for all the hoſte of heauen, and he burnt them without Ieruſalém in the fields of Kedrón, and caryed [e] the powdre of them into Beth-él.

d Meaning the prieſts of Báal, which were called Chemirims, ether becauſe they ware blacke garments, or els were ſmoked with burning incenſe to idoles e In contempt of that altar, which Ieroboám had there buylt to ſacrifice to his calues.

5 And he put downe the [f] Chemerím, whome the Kings of Iudáh had foũded to burne incẽſe in the hie places, & in the cities of Iudáh, and about Ieruſalém, & alſo them that burnt incenſe vnto Báal, to the ſunne and to the moone, and to the planets, & to all the hoſte of heauen.

f Meaning that groue idolaters for deuotion had planted nere vnto the Temple, contrarie to the commãdement of the Lord, Deu 16, 20 or as ſome read, the ſimilitude of a groue which was hanged in the Temple

6 And he broght out the [g] groue from the Tẽple of the Lord without Ieruſalém vnto the valley Kedrón, and burnt it in the valley Kedrón, and ſtampt it to powdre, and caſt the duſt thereof vpon the [h] graues of the children of the people.

g He remoued that groue idolaters had worſhiped them in their liues.

h Bothe in cõtempt of the idoles, & reproche of them

7 And he brake downe the houſes of the ſodomites, that were in the houſe of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Also he broght all the prieſtes out of the cities of Iudáh, and defiled the hie places where the prieſts had burnt incenſe, euen from Géba to Beer-ſhéba, and deſtroied the hie places of the gates, that were in ỹ entring in of the gate of Ioſhúa the gouernour of the citie which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheles the prieſts of the hie places [i] came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ieruſalém, ſaue onely thei did eat of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 He defiled alſo [k] Tópheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnóm, that no man ſhulde make his ſonne or his daughter paſſe through ỹ fyre to Mólech.

11 He put downe alſo the [l] horſes that the Kings of Iudáh had giuen to the ſunne at the entring in of the houſe of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-mélech the eunuche, which was ruler of the ſuburbes, and burnt the charets of the ſunne with fyre.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Aház, which the Kings of Iudáh had made, and the altars which Manaſſéh had made in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord, did the Kíg breake downe, and haſted thence, and caſt the duſt of them in the [n] brooke Kedrón.

13 Moreouer the King defiled the hie places that were before Ieruſalém and on the right hand of the [m] mount of corruption (which *Salomón the King of Iſraél had buylt for Aſhtóreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemóſh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchóm the abomination of the children of Ammón)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore [n] the altar that was at Beth-él, & the hie place made by Ieroboám the ſonne of Nebát, which made Iſraél to ſinne, bothe this altar and alſo the hie place brake he downe, & burnt the hie place, & ſtampt it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Ioſiáh turned him ſelfe, he ſpied the graues, that were in the mount, and ſent and toke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lord that the [o] man of God proclaimed which cryed the ſame wordes.

17 Thé he ſaid, What title is that which I ſe? And the mé of the citie ſáid vnto him, It is the ſepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudáh, and tolde theſe things that thou haſt done to the altar of Beth-él.

18 Thé ſaid he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were ſaued with the bones of the [p] Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Ioſiáh alſo toke away all the houſes of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the Kings of Iſraél had made to angre the Lord, and did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-él.

20 And he ſacrificed all the prieſts of the hie places, that were there vpō the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ieruſalém.

21 ¶ Then the King commanded all the people, ſaying, *Kepe the Paſſeouer vnto the Lord your God, *as it is writen in the boke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Paſſeouer holden [q] like that from the daies of the Iudges that iudged Iſraél, nor in all the dayes of the Kings of Iſraél, and of the Kings of Iudáh.

23 And in the eightenth yere of King Ioſiáh was this Paſſeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ieruſalém.

24 Ioſiáh alſo toke away them that had familiar ſpirits, & the ſothe ſayers, and the images, and the idoles, & all the abominacions that were eſpied in the land of Iudáh & in Ieruſalém, to performe the wordes of the *Lawe, which were writen in the boke that Hilkiáh the Prieſt founde in the houſe of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no King before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his ſoule, & with all his might according to all the Lawe of Moſés, nether after him aroſe there anie like him.

26 Not withſtanding the Lord turned not from the [r] fearcenes of his great wrath wherewith he was angrie againſt Iudáh, becauſe of all the prouocacions where with Manaſſéh had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord ſaid, I wil put Iudáh alſo out of my ſight, as I haue put away Iſraél, and wil caſt of this citie Ieruſalém, which I haue choſen, and the houſe whereof I ſaid, *My Name ſhalbe there.

28 Concenring the reſt of the actes of Ioſiáh, and all that he did, are they not writen in the boke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudáh?

29 ¶ *In his dayes Pharaóh Nechóh King of Egypt went vp againſt the King of Aſſhúr to the riuer Peráth. And Kíg Ioſiáh [s] went againſt him, whome when Pharaóh ſawe, he ſlewe him at Megiddó.

30 Then his ſeruants caried him dead from Megiddó, and broght him to Ieruſalém, & buryed him in his owne ſepulchre. And the people of the land toke Iehoaház the ſonne of Ioſiáh, and annointed him, and made

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend bothe these bokes in one, which the Grecians becauſe of the length deuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, becauſe they note briefly the hiſtories from Adám to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylón. But theſe are not theſe bokes of Chronicles, which are ſo oft mencioned in the bokes of Kings of Iudáh and Iſraél, which did at large ſet forthe the ſtorie of bothe the kingdomes, and afterward periſhed in the captiuitie: but án abbridgement of the ſame, and were gathered by Eſra, as the Iewes write, fter their returne frō Babylón. This fyrſt boke conteineth a brief rehearſal of the children of Adám vnto Abrahám, Izhák, Iaakób, and the twelue Patriarches, chiefly of Iudáh and of the reigne of Dauid, becauſe Chriſt came of him according to the fleſh. And therefore it ſetteth forthe more amply his actes, bothe cōcerning ciuil gouernement, and alſo the adminiſtracion, and care of things concerning religion, for the good ſucceſſe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thankes to the Lord.

41 The ſonne of Ethní, the ſonne of Zérah, the ſonne of Adaiáh, 42 The ſonne of Ethán, the ſonne of Zimmáh, the ſonne of Shimeí, 43 The ſonne of Iáhath, the ſonne of Gerſhóm, the ſonne of Leuí.
44 And their brethren the ſonnes of Merarí were on the left hand, euen Ethán the ſonne of Kíſhí, the ſonne of Abdí, the ſonne of Mallúch, 45 The ſonne of Haſhabiáh, the ſonne of Amaziáh, the ſonne of Hilkiáh, 46 The ſonne of Amzí, the ſonne of Baní, the ſonne of Shámer, 47 The ſonne of Mahlí, the ſonne of Muſhí, the ſonne of Merarí, ỹ ſonne of Leuí.
48 ¶And their [i] brethren the Leuites were [k] appointed vnto all the ſeruice of the Tabernacle of the houſe of God, 49 But Aarón and his ſonnes burnt incenſe vpon the altar of burnt offring, and on the altar of incenſe, for all that was to do in the moſte holy place, and to make an atonement for Iſráél, according to all that Moſés the ſeruant of God had commanded.
50 Theſe are alſo the ſonnes of Aarón, Eleazár his ſonne, Phinehás his ſonne, Abiſhúa his ſonne, 51 Bukki his ſonne, Vzzí his ſonne, Zerahiáh his ſonne, 52 Meraióth his ſonne, Amariáh his ſonne, Ahitúb his ſonne, 53 Zadók his ſonne, & Ahimáaz his ſonne.
54 ¶And theſe are the [l] dwelling places of them throughout their townes & coaſtes, euen of the ſonnes of Aarón for the familie of the Kohathites, for the [m] lot was theirs.
55 So they gaue them [n] Hebrón in the land of Iudáh and the ſuburbes thereof rounde about it.
56 But the field of the citie, and the villages thereof they gaue to Caléb the ſonne of Iephunnéh.
57 And to the ſonnes of Aarón they gaue the cities of Iudáh for [o] refuge, euen Hebrón and Libná with their ſuburbes, and Iattír, and Eſhtemóa with their ſuburbes, 58 And [p] Hilén with her ſuburbes, & Debir with her ſuburbes, 59 And Aſhán and her ſuburbes, and Beth-ſhémeſh and her ſuburbes:
60 ¶And of the tribe of Beniamín, Gebá and her ſuburbes, and [q] Alémeth with her ſuburbes, & Anathóth with her ſuburbes: all their cities were thirtene cities by their families.
61 And vnto the ſonnes of [r] Koháth the remnant of the familie of the tribe, euen of the halfe tribe of the halfe of Manaſſéh, by lot ten cities.
62 And to the ſonnes of Gerſhóm accordig to their families out of the tribe of Iſſachár, and out of the tribe of Aſhér, & out of the tribe of Naphtalí, and out of the tribe of Manaſſéh in Baſhán, thirtene cities.
63 Vnto the ſonnes of Merarí according to their families out of the tribe of Reubén, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulún, by lot twelue cities.
64 Thus the children of Iſraél gaue to the Leuites cities with their ſuburbes.
65 And they gaue by lot out of the tribe of ỹ children of Iudáh, & out of the tribe of the children of Simeón, & out of the tribe of the children of Beniamín, theſe cities, which they called by their names.
66 And they of the families of the ſonnes of Koháth, had cities and their coaſtes out of the tribe of Ephráim.
67 *And they gaue vnto them cities of refuge, Shechém in mount Ephráim, & her ſuburbes, and Gézer and her ſuburbes, 68 Iokmeám alſo and her ſuburbes, & Bethhorón with her ſuburbes, 69 And Aialón and her ſuburbes, and Gath Rimmón and her ſuburbes, 70 And out of the halfe tribe of Manaſſéh, [t] Aner and her ſuburbes, and [u] Bileám and her ſuburbes, for the families of the remnant of the ſonnes of Koháth.
71 Vnto the ſonnes of [f] Gerſhóm out of the familie of the halfe tribe of Manaſſéh, Golán in Baſhán, & her ſuburbes, & [w] Aſhtaróth with her ſuburbes, 72 And out of the tribe of Iſſachár, [x] Kédeſh and her ſuburbes, Daberáth and her ſuburbes, 73 [y] Ramóth alſo and her ſuburbes, and [z] Aném with her ſuburbes, 74 And out of the tribe of Aſhér, Maſhál and her ſuburbes, and Abdón and her ſuburbes, 75 And [a] Hukók and her ſuburbes, and Rehób and her ſuburbes, 76 And out of the tribe of Naphtalí, Kédeſh in Galilea & her ſuburbes, & [b] Hammón and her ſuburbes, and [c] Kiriathaim and her ſuburbes.
77 Vnto the reſt of the children of Merarí were giuen out of the tribe of Zebulún, [d] Rimmón and her ſuburbes, [e] Tabór and her ſuburbes, 78 And on the other ſide Iordén by Ieríchó, euen on the Eaſtſide of Iordén, out of the tribe of Reubén, Bézer in the wildernes with her ſuburbes, and Iahzáh with her ſuburbes, 79 And Kedemóth with her ſuburbes, and Mephaáth with her ſuburbes,

1 AND the ſõnes of Iſſachár were Tola & [a]Puah, [a] Iaſhúb, & Shimrón, foure, 2 And the ſonnes of Tola, Vzzí, and Rephaiáh, and Ieriél, and Iahmái, & Iibſám, and Shemuél, heades in the houſholdes of their fatheis. Of Tolá were valiant men of warre in their generacions, [b] whoſe nomber was in the daies of Dauid two & twentie thouſand, and ſix hundreth.
3 And the ſonne of Vzzí was Izrahaiáh, & ỹ ſonnes of Izrahaiáh, Michaél, & Obadiáh, and Ioél, & Iſhiáh, [c] fiue men all princes.
4 And with them in their generacions after the houſholde of their fatheis were bands of mẽ of warre for battel, ſix & thirtie thouſand: for thei had many wiues and children.
5 And their [e]brethren among all the families of Iſſachar were valiãt men of warre, rekened in all by their genealogies foure ſcore and ſeuen thouſand.
6 ¶ The ſonnes of Beniamín were Béla, & Bécher, and [d] Iediaél, [e] three.
7 And the ſonnes of Béla, Ezbón, & Vzzí, and Vzziél, and Ierimóth, & Irí, fiue heads of the houſholdes of their fatheis, valiant men of warre, and were rekened by their genealogies, two and twentie thouſand & thirtie and foure.
8 And the ſonnes of Bécher, Zemiráh, and Ioáſh, and Eliézer, and Elioenái, & Omrí, & Ieremóth, & Abiáh, & Anathóth, & Alámeth: all theſe were the ſõnes of Bécher.
9 And thei were nombred by their genealogies according to their generacions, and the chief of the houſes of their fatheis, valiant men of warre, twentie thouſand & two hundreth.
10 And the ſonne of Iediaél was Bilhán, and the ſonnes of Bilhán, Ieúſh, and Beniamín, and Ehúd, and Chenaanáh, and Zethán, and Tharſhíſh, and Ahiſháhar.
11 All theſe were ỹ ſonnes of Iediaél, chief of the fatheis, valiant men of warre, ſeuẽtene thouſand & two hundreth, marching in battel aray to the warre.
12 And Shuppím, & Huppím were the ſonnes of [f] Ir, but Huſhim was the ſonne [f] of [f] another.
13 ¶ The ſonnes of Naphtalí, Iahziél, and Guní, and Iézer, and [g] Shallúm s of the ſonnes of Bilháh.
14 The ſõne of Manaſſéh was Aſhriél whome ſhe bare vnto him, but his concubine of Aram bare Machír the * father of Gileád.
15 And Machír toke to wife the ſiſter of Huppim & Shuppím, and the name of their ſiſter was Maachàh. And the name of the ſecõde ſonne was Zelophehad, and Zelophehád had daughters.
16 And Maachàh the wife of Machir bare a ſonne, and called his name [r] Péreſh, and the name of his brother was Shéreſh: and his ſonnes were Vlám and Rakém.
17 And ỹ ſonne of Vlám was Bedán. Theſe were the ſonnes of Gileád the ſonne of Machír, the ſonne of Manaſſéh.
18 And [h] his ſiſter Molécheth bare Iſhód, & Abiézer, and Mahaláh.
19 And the ſonnes of Shemidá were Ahián, and Shéchem, and Likhí, and Aniám.
20 ¶ The ſonnes alſo of Ephráim were Shuthélah, & Béred his ſonne, & Táhath his ſonne, and his ſonne Eladáh, & Táhath his ſonne, 21 And Zabád his ſonne, and Shuthélah his ſonne, and Ezér, and Eleád: and the men of [i] Gath that were borne in the land, ſlewe them, becauſe thei came downe to take away thein cattel.
22 Therefore Ephráim their father mourned many dayes, and his [r] brethren came to comforte him.
23 And when he went in to [r] his wife, ſhe conceiued, and bare him a ſonne, & he called his name Beriáh, becauſe affliction was in his houſe.
24 And his [r] daughter was Sheráh, which buylt Beth horón the nether, and the vpper, and Vzzén Sheeráh.

CHAP. IX.

1 All Iſraél and Iudáh nombred to Of the Prieſts, and Leuites, 11, 28 And of their offices

1 THis all Iſraél were nõbred by their genealogies: & beholde, they are writen in the boke of the Kings of Iſraél and of Iudáh, and they were a caryed away to Babél for their tranſgreſsion.

a Hitherto he hathe deſcribed their genealogies before they were into captiuitie, and now he deſcribeth their hiſtorie after their returne

2 ¶ And the chief inhabitants that dwelt in their owne poſſeſsions, and in their owne cities, euen Iſraél the Prieſts, the Leuites, and the b Nethinims.

b Meaning the Gabaonites, which ſerued in the Temple, read Ioſh 9,21.

3 And in Ieruſalém dwelt of the children of Iudáh, & of the children of Beniamín, & of the children of Ephraím, & Manaſſéh.
4 Vthái ỹ ſonne of Amihúd ỹ ſõne of Omrí, the ſonne of Imrí, the ſonne of Baní: of the childrẽ of Phárez, the ſonne of Iudáh.
5 And of Shiloní, Aſaráh the eldeſt, and his ſonnes.
6 And of the ſonnes of Zérah, Ieuél, and their brethren ſix hundreth and ninetie.

7 And of the ſonnes of Beniamín, Sallú, the ſonne of Meſhullám, the ſonne of Hodauiáh, the ſonne of Haſenuáh, 8 And Ibneiáh the ſonne of Ierohám, and Eláh the ſonne of Vzzí, the ſonne of Michrí, & Meſhullám the ſonne of Shephatiáh, the ſonne of Reuél, the ſonne of Ibniiáh.
9 And their brethren according to their generacions nine hundreth, fiftie and ſix: all theſe men were [a] chief fathers in the houſholdes of their fathers.

[a] Or, chief of the families.

10 ¶ And of the Prieſts, Iedaiáh, and Iehoiaríb, and Iachín, 11 And Azariáh the ſonne of Hilkiáh, the ſonne of Meſhullám, the ſonne of Zadók, the ſonne of Meraióth, the ſonne of Ahitúb the [c] chief of the houſe of God, [c] That is, he was the hie Prieſt.

12 And Adaiáh the ſonne of Ierohám, the ſõne of Paſhhúr, the ſonne of Malchiiáh, and Maaſái the ſonne of Adiél, ỹ ſonne of Iahzérah, the ſonne of Meſhullám, ỹ ſonne of Meſhillemíth, the ſonne of Immér.
13 And their brethrẽ the chief of the houſholdes of their fathers a thouſand, ſeuen hundreth and thre ſcore valiãt men, for ỹ [d] worke of the ſeruice of the houſe of God.

[d] To ſerue in the Temple, euerie one according to his office.

14 ¶ And of the Leuites, Shemaiáh the ſonne of Haſſhúb, the ſonne of Azrikám, the ſõne of Haſhabiáh of the ſõnes of Merarí, 15 And Bakbakkár, Héreſh and Galál, and Mattaniah the ſonne of Michá, the ſonne of Zichrí, the ſonne of Aſáph, 16 And Obadiáh the ſonne of Shemaiáh, the ſonne of Galál, ỹ ſonne of Ieduthún, and Berechiáh, the ſonne of Aſá, the ſonne of Elkanáh, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.
17 ¶ And the porters were Shallúm, and Akkúb, and Talmón, and Ahimán, and their brethren: Shallúm was the chief.
18 For they were porters to this time by companies of the children of Leuí vnto the [e] Kings gate Eaſtwarde.

[e] So called becauſe the King came into the Tẽple thereby, & not the commune people

19 And Shallúm the ſonne of Kóre the ſonne of Ebiaſáph the ſonne of Kórah, & his brethren the Korathites (of the houſe of their father) were ouer the worke, and office to kepe the gates of the [f] Tabernacle: ſo their families were ouer the hoſte of the Lord, keping the entrie.

[f] Their charge was, that none ſhulde entre into thoſe places, wher were onely appointed for ỹ Prieſts to miniſter in.

20 And Phinchás the ſonne of Eleazár was their guide, and the Lord was with him.
21 Zechariáh the ſonne of Meſhelemiáh was the porter of the dore of the Tabernacle of the Congregacion.
22 All theſe were choſen for porters of the gates, two hundreth and twelue, which were nombred according to their genealogies by their townes. Dauid eſtabliſhed theſe and Samuél the Seer [g] in their perpetual office.

[g] Or, for their fidelitie.

23 So they and their children had the ouerſight of the gates of ỹ houſe of ỹ Lord, euẽ of the houſe of the Tabernacle by wardes.
24 The porters were in foure quarters Eaſtward, Weſtward, Northward and Southward.
25 And their brethren, which were in their townes, came at [h] ſeuen dayes from time to time with them.

[h] They ſerued wekely, as Ezek 4,10.

26 For theſe foure chief porters were in perpetual office, and were of the Leuites and had charge of the [i] chambers, & of the treaſures in the houſe of God.

[i] Or, opening of the doores.

27 And they laye round about the houſe of God, becauſe the charge was theirs, & they cauſed it to be opened euerie morning.
28 And certeine of them had the rule of the miniſtring veſſels: for they broght them in by tale, and broght them out by tale.
29 Some of them alſo were appointed ouer the inſtruments, and ouer all the veſſels of the Sanctuarie, and of the [k] floure, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incenſe, and the ſwete odours.

[k] Whereof ỹ meat offring was made, Leuit 2,1.

30 And certeine of the ſonnes of the Prieſts made ointments of ſwete odours.
31 And Mattithiáh one of the Leuites which was the eldeſt ſonne of Shallúm the Korhite, had the charge of the thĩgs that were made in the fryingpan.
32 And other of their brethren the ſonnes of Kohath had ỹ ouerſight of the* ſhewbread to prepare it euerie Sabbath.

*Exod. 25,30.

33 And theſe are the ſingers, the chief fathers of the Leuites, which dwelt in the chãbers, [l] and had none other charge: for they had to do in that buſines day and night.

[l] But were cõtinually occupied in ſinging praiſes to God

34 Theſe were the chief fathers of the Leuites according to their generacions, and the principal which dwelt at Ieruſalém.
35 * And in Gibeón dwelt [m] the father of Gibeón, Ieiél, and the name of his wife was Maachah.

*Chap 9,39. [m] Or, Abigibeon.

36 And his eldeſt ſonne was Abdón, then Zur, & Kiſh, & Báal, and Ner, & Nadáb, 37 And Gedór, and Ahió, and Zechariáh, and Miklóth.
38 And Miklóth begate Shimeám: they alſo dwelt with their brethren at Ieruſalém, euen by their brethren.
39 And * Ner begate Kiſh, & Kiſh begate Saúl, and Saúl begate Ionathán and Malchiſhúa, and Abinadáb and Eſhbáal.

*1 Sam 14,51. chap 8,33.

40 And the ſonne of Ionathán was Meribbáal: and Merib-báal begate Micáh.
41 And the ſonnes of Micáh were Píthon, & Mélech and Tahréa.
42 And Aház begate [k] Iaráh, and Iaráh begate Alémeth, and Azmáueth & Zimrí, and Zimrí begate Mozá.

[k] Who was alſo called Iehoadáh chap. 8,36.

43 And Mozá begate Bineá, whoſe ſonne was Rephaiáh, and his ſonne was Eleaſáh, and his ſonne Azél.

44 And

44 And Azél had six sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikám, Bocherú, & Ismael, & Shearíah, and Obadíah, and Hanán: these are the sonnes of Azél.

CHAP. X.

1 The battel of Saúl against the Philistims. 4 In which he dyeth. 5 And his sonnes also. 13 The cause of Sauls death.

1.Sam.31.1. 1 THen * the Philistims fought against Israél: and the men of Israél fled before the Philistims, and fel downe slaine in mount Gilbóa.

2 And the Philistims pursued after Saúl & after his sonnes, and the Philistims smote Ionathán, and Abinadáb, & Malchishúa the sonnes of Siúl.

3 And the battel was sore against Saúl, and the archers hit him, and he was "wounded of the archers.

"Or, sounde.

4 Then said Saúl to his armour bearer, Drawe out thy sworde, and thrust me through therewith, lest these vncircumcised come & mocke at me: but his armour bearer wolde not, for he was sore afraid: therefore Saúl toke the sworde & fel vpó it.

5 And when his armour bearer sawe that Saúl was dead, he fel likewise vpon the sworde, and dyed.

6 So Siúl dyed and his thre sonnes, and all his house, they dyed together.

7 And when all the men of Israél that were in the valley, sawe how they fled, and that Saúl and his sonnes were dead, they forsoke their cities, & fled away, and the Philistims came, and dwelt in them.

8 And on the morowe when the Philistims came to spoile them that were slaine, they found Saúl & his sonnes "lying in mount Gilbóa.

"Or fallen.

9 And when they had stript him, they toke his head and his armour, and sent them into the land of the Philistims round about, to publish it vnto their idoles, and to the people.

10 And they laied vp his armour in ỹ house of their god, and set vp his head in the house of [a] Dagón.

a Which was the idole of ỹ Philistims, & from the belly downeward had the forme of a fish & vpwarde of a man.

11 ¶ Whē all thei of Iabésh Gileád heard all that the Philistims had done to Saúl, 12 Then they arose (all the valiant men) and toke the body of Saúl, and the bodies of his sonnes, and brogh them to Iabésh, and buryed the bones of them vnder an oke in Iabésh, and fasted seuen dayes.

13 So Saúl dyed for his transgression, that he committed against the Lord, * euen against the worde of the Lord, which he kept not, and in that he soght and asked counsel of a "* familiar spirit,

CHAP. XI.

2 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebrón. 5 The Iebusites rebell against Dauid, from whome he taketh the towre of Zión. 6 Ioáb is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

1 THen * all Israél [a] gathered them selues to Dauid vnto Hebrón, saying, Beholde, we are thy bones and thy flesh.

2.Sam.5.1.

a This was after the death of Ishbosheth Sauls sonne, whē Dauid had reigned ouer Iudáh seuen yeres and six moneths in Hebrón, 2. Sam. 5.5.

2 And in time past, euen when Saúl was King, thou leddest Israél out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt fede my people Israél, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israél.

3 So came all the Elders of Israél to ỹ King to Hebrón, & Dauid made a couenāt with thē in Hebrón before the Lord. And they anointed Dauid King ouer Israél, * according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Samuél.

1.Sam.16.13.

4 ¶ And Dauid & all Israél went to Ierusalém, which is Iebús, where were the Iebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Iebús said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuer theles Dauid toke the towre of Zión, which is the citie of Dauid.

6 And Dauid said, * Whosoeuer smiteth ỹ Iebusites first, shal be the chief & captaine. So Ioáb the sonne of Zeruiáh wēt first vp, and was captaine.

2.Sam.5.8.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the towre: therefore thei called it the citie of Dauid.

8 * And he buylt the citie on euerie side, frō Milló euen round about: & Ioáb repaired the rest of the citie.

2.Sam.5.9.

9 And Dauid prospered, & grewe: for the Lord of hostes was with him.

10 ¶ * These also are the chief of the valiant men that were with Dauid & ioyned their force with him in his kingdome w̄ all Israél, to make him King ouer, Israél, according to the worde of the Lord.

2.Sam.23.8.

11 And this is the nombei of the valiant mē whome Dauid had, Iashobeám the sonne of Hachmoní, the [b] chief among thirty: he lift vp his speare against thre hundreth, whome he slewe at one time.

b Meaning the moste excellēt & best esteemed for his valiātnes some read, the chief of the princes 12 And after him was Eleazár the sonne of "Dódo the Ahohite, which was one of the thre valiant men.

"Or, his vncle.

13 He was with Dauid at Pas-dammím, & there the Philistims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcel of ground ful of barly, and the people fled before the Philistims.

14 And thei stode in ỹ middes of the field, [c] and saued it, and slewe the Philistims: so the Lord gaue a great victorie.

c This act is referred to Shāmáh, 2 Sam 23, 11. w̄ semeth was the chiefest of these three that is Eleazár & his two companions.

15 ¶ And thre of the [d] thirtie captaines wēt to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullám. And the armie of the Philistims camped in the valley of Rephaím.

16 And when Dauid was in the holde, the Philistims garison was at Beth-léhem.

2.Sam 23,15. 17 And Dauid longed, and ſaid, * Oh, that one wolde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-léhem that is at the gate.

18 Then theſe thre brake thorowe the hoſte of the Philiſtims, and drewe water out of the well of Beth-léhem that was by the gate, and toke it and broght it to Dauid: but Dauid wolde not drinke of it, but powred it for an oblacion to the Lord,

19 And ſaid, Let not my God ſuffer me to do this: ſhulde I drinke the [c] blood of theſe mẽ liues: for they haue broght it with the ieopardye of their liues: therefore he wolde not drinke it: theſe things did theſe thre mightie men.

c That is, this water, for the which they ventured their blood.

20 ¶ And Abſhái the brother of Ioáb, he was chief of the thie, and he lift vp his ſpeare againſt thre hũdreth, and ſlewe thẽ, and had the name among the thre.

21 Among the thie he was more honorable then the two, & he was their captaine: * but he attained not vnto the firſt thre.

2.Sam 23,19.

22 Benaiáh the ſonne of Iehoiadá (the ſonne of a valiant man) which had done manie actes, and was of Kabzeél, he ſlewe two [d] ſtrong men of Moáb: he went downe alſo and ſlewe a lion in the middes of a pit in time of ſnow.

d Or, lions.

23 And he ſlewe an Egyptian, a mã of great ſtature, euen fiue cubites long, and in the Egyptiãs hand was a ſpeare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a ſtaffe, and plucked the ſpeare out of the Egyptians hand, and ſlewe him with his owne ſpeare.

24 Theſe things did Benaiáh the ſonne of Iehoiadá, & had the name among the thie worthies.

25 Beholde, he was honorable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto the [f] firſt thre. * And Dauid made him of his counſel.

CHAP. XII.

1 Who they were that went with Dauid when he fled from Saúl 14 Their valiantnes 23 Thei that came vnto him vnto Hebrón out of euerie tribe to make him King

1 THeſe alſo are they that came to Dauid to [a] Ziklág, while he was yet kept cloſe, becauſe of Saúl the ſonne of Kiſh: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battel.

a To take his parte against Saul, who perſecuted him.

2 Thei were weaponed with bowes, & colde vſe ỹ right and the left hãd with ſtones and with arrowes & with bowes, and were of Sauls [b] brethren, euen of Beniamin.

b That is, of the tribe of Beniamin, where of Saul was, & wherein were excellẽt throwers w slings, Iudg 20,16.

3 The chief were Ahiézer, and Ioáſh the ſonnes of Shemaáh a Gibeathite, and Ieziél, and Pélet the ſonnes of Aſmáueth, Berachah and Iehú the Antothite,

4 And Iſhmaiáh the Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, & aboue the thirtie, and Ieremiáh, and Iahaziél, and Iohanan, and Ioſhabád the Gederathite,

5 Eluzái, and Ierimóth, and Bealiáh, and Shemariáh, and Shephatiáh, the Haruphite, 6 Elkanáh, and Iſhiáh, and Azariél, and Ioézer, Iaſhobeám of Hakorehím, 7 And Ioeláh, and Zebadiáh, the ſonnes of Ierohám of [e] Gedór.

e Or, Gedid.

8 And of the Gadites there ſeparated them ſelues ſome vnto Dauid into the holde of the wildernes, valiant men of warre, and mẽ of armes, & apt for battel, which colde handle [f] ſpeare and ſhield, and their faces were like the faces of [g] lyons, and were like the roes in the mountaines in ſwiftenes, f Or, buckler.

g Meanig fierce, & terrible.

9 Ezér the chief, Obadiáh the ſecoade, Eliáb

Eliáb the third,
10 [o] Mishmanáh the fourte, Ieremiáh the fifte,
11 Attái the sixt, Eliél the seuente, 12 Iohanán the eight, Elzabád the ninte, 13 Ieremiáh the tente, Macbannái the eleuente.
14 These were the sonnes of Gad, captaines of the hoste: one of the least colde resist an hundreth, and the greatest a thousand.
15 These are they that went ouer Iordén in the [d] first moneth whē he had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, towarde the East and the West.
16 And there came of the children of Beniamín, and Iudah to the holde vnto Dauid, 17 And Dauid went out to mete them, and answered and said vnto them, If ye be come peaceably vnto me to helpe me, mine heart shalbe knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seing there is no wickednes in myne hādes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.
18 And the [e] spirit came vpon Amasái, which was the chief of thirtie, and he said, Thine are we, Dauid, & with thee, ô sonne of Ishái. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Thē Dauid receiued them, & made them captaines of the garison.
19 ¶And of Manasséh some fel to Dauid, when he came with the Philistims against Saúl to battel, but they [f] helped them not: for the princes of the Philistims * by aduisement sent him away, saying, He wil fall to his master Saúl [o] for our heades.
20 As he went to Ziklág, there fel to him of Manasséh, Adnáh, and Iozabád, and Iediaél, and Michaél, and Iozabád, and Elihú, & Zilthái, heades of the thousands that were of Manasséh.
21 And they helped Dauid against the bāde. for they were all valiant men and were captaines in the hoste.
22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntil it was a great hoste, like the hoste of [h] God.
23 And these are the nombers of the captaines that were armed to battel, & came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saúl to him, according to the worde of the Lord.
24 The children of Iudáh that bare shield & [o] speare, were six thousand & eight hundreth armed to the warre.
25 Of the children of Simeón valiant men of warre, seuen thousand and an hundreth.
26 Of the children of Leuí foure thousand and six hundreth.
27 And Iehoiadá was the chief of them of [i] Aarón: and with him three thousand and seuen hundreth.
28 And Zadók a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers housholde came two and twentie captaines.
29 And of the children of Beniamín the brethrē of Saúl thre thousand: for a great parte of them vnto that time [k] kept the warde of the house of Saúl.
30 And of the children of Ephraím twēntie thousand, & eight hundreth valiant men & famous men in the housholde of their fathers.
31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasséh eightene thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.
32 And of the children of Issachár which were men that had vnderstanding of the [l] times, to knowe what Israél ought to do: the heades of them were two hundreth, & all their brethren were at their commandement.
33 Of Zebulún that went out to battel, expert in warre, & in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand [o] which colde set the battel in aray: they were not of [p] a double hearte.
34 And of Naphtalí a thousand captaines, and with them with shield and speare seuē & thirtie thousand.
35 And of Dan expert in battel, eight and twentie thousand, and six hundreth.
36 And of Asher that went out to the battel and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.
37 And of the other side of Iordén of the Reubenites and of the Gaddites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasséh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twentie thousand.
38 [m] All these men of warre [o] that colde lead an armie, came with [o] vpright heart to Hebrón to make Dauid King ouer all Israél: & all the rest of Israél was of one accorde to make Dauid King:
39 And there they were with Dauid thre dayes, eating and drinking: for their [n] brethren had prepared for them.
40 Moreouer they that were nere them vntil Issachár, and Zebulún, and Naphtalí broght bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euen meat, floure, figges, & raisins, and wine & oyle, & beues and shepe abundantly: for there was ioye in Israél.

1 AND Dauid counseled with the captaines of thousands & of hundreths, & with all the gouernours.
2 And Dauid said to all the Cõgregacion of Israél, If it seme good to you, and that it procedeth of the Lord our God, we wil send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israél (for with them are the Priests and the Leuites in ỹ cities and their suburbes) that thei may assemble them selues vnto vs.
3 And we wil bring againe the [a]Arke of our God to vs: for we soght not vnto it in the dayes of Saúl.
4 And all the Congregacion answered, Let vs do so: for the thing semed good in the eyes of all the people.
5 ¶*So Dauid gathered all Israél together fro [c]Shihór in Egypt, euẽ vnto the entring of Hamáth, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearím.
6 And Dauid went vp & all Israél to [c]Baaláth, in Kiriath-iearím, ỹ was in Iudáh, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his name is called on.
7 And they caried the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadáb: and Vzzá and Ahió [e] guided the cart.
8 And Dauid and all Israél plaied before [d] God with all their might, bothe w̃ songs & with harpes, and with violes, and with timbrels and with cimbales and with trũpets.
9 ¶And when they came vnto the threshing floore of [e]Chidón, Vzzá put forthe his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.
10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzzá, and he smote him, because he laied his hand vpon ỹ Arke: so he dyed there [f] before God.
11 And Dauid was angrie, because the Lord had made a breache in Vzzá, and he called the name of that place Pérez-vzzá vnto this day.
12 And Dauid feared God that day, sayíng, How shal I bring in to me the Arke of God?
13 Therefore Dauid broght not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of [g] Obéd Edóm the Gittite.
14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obéd Edóm, euen in his house thre moneths: and the Lord blessed the house of Obéd Edóm, and all that he had.

Hirám sendeth wood and workemen to Dauid. 4 The names of his children 8. 14. By the counsel of God he goeth against the Philistims & ouercommeth thẽ. 15 God fighteth for him.

1 THen *sent Hirám the King of "Tyrus messengers to Dauid, & cedre trees, with masons & carpẽters to buylde him an house.
2 Therefore Dauid knewe that the Lord had confirmed him King ouer Israél, & that his kingdome was lift vp on hie, because of his [a] people Israél.
3 ¶Also Dauid toke mo wiues at Ierusalém, & Dauid begate mo sonnes & daughters.
4 And these are the names of the children which he had at Ieruselém, Shammúa, and Shobáb, Nathán, & Salomón, 5 And Ibhár, and Elishúa, and [b] Elpálet,
6 And Nógah, and Népheg and Iaphía,
7 And Elishamá, and [c]Beeliadá, and Eliphálet.
8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anointed King ouer Israél, all ỹ Philistims came vp to seke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.
9 And the Philistims came, and spred them selues in the valley of Rephaím.
10 Then Dauid asked counsel at God, sayíng, Shal I go vp against ỹ Philistims, & wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Go vp: for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.
11 So they came vp to Báal-perazím & Dauid smote them there: and Dauid said, God hathe deuided mine enemies with mine hãd, as waters are deuided: therefore thei called the name of that place, [c] Báal-perazím.
12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fyre.
13 Againe the Philistims came and spred them selues in the valley.
14 And whẽ Dauid asked againe coũsel at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou maiest come vpon them ouer against the mulbery trees.
15 And when thou heariest the noise of one going in the toppes of the mulbery trees, then go out to battel: for God is gone forthe before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.
16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeón euen to Gézer.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, thei offer ſacrifices. 4 Dauid ordeineth Aſaph and his brethren to miniſter before the Lord. 8 He appointeth a notable Pſalme to be ſung in praiſe of the Lord.

1 SO * thei broght in the Arke of God, &

2 Sam 6,17.

2 And when Dauid had made an end of offring ỹ burnt offring & the peace offrings, he [a] bleſſed the people in the Name of the Lord.

[a] He cryed vpon the Name of God desiring him to proſper ỹ people, and giue good ſucceſſe to their beginnings.

3 And he dealt to euerie one of Iſraél bothe man and woman, to euerie one a cake of bread, and a piece of fleſh, and a bottel of wine.

4 And he appoīted certeine of the Leuites to miniſter before the Arke of the Lord, and to [b] rehearſe and to thanke and praiſe the Lord God of Iſraél,

[b] To wit, Gods benefites towarde his people

5 Aſáph the chief, and next to him Zechariáh, Ieiél, and Shemiramóth, and Iehiél, and Mattithiáh, and Eliáb, and Benaiáh, & Obéd Edóm, euen Ieiél with inſtruments, violes and harpes, and Aſáph to make a ſounde with cymbales, [c] Dauid giue thē this Pſalme to praiſe ỹ Lord, ſignifying that in all our ēterprises the Name of God ought to be praiſed and called vpon. Pſal.105,1. iſa.12,4.

7 Then at that time Dauid did [c] appoint at the beginning to giue thankes to the Lord by the hād of Aſáph & his brethrē.

8 *Praiſe the Lord & call vpon his Name: declare his [d] workes among the people.

[d] Whereof this is ỹ chiefeſt that he hathe choſen him ſelfe a Churche to call vpō his Name

9 Sing vnto him, ſing praiſe vnto him, and talke of all his [e] wonderful workes.

[e] Who of his wonderful prudence hathe choſen a fewe of the ſtocke of Abrahám to be his children

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts of them that ſeke the Lord reioyce.

11 Seke the Lord and his ſtrength: ſeke his face continually.

12 Remember his maruelous workes that he hathe done, his wonders, and the [f] iudgements of his mouth,

[f] In ouercomming Pharaóh, which iudgements were declared by Gods mouthe to Moſés

13 O ſede of Iſraél his ſeruant, ô the children of Iaakób his [g] choſen.

[g] Meaning hereby that the promes of adoption onely appertaineth to ỹ Church

14 He is the Lord our God: his iudgemēts are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his couenant for euer, & the worde, which he commanded to a thouſand generacions:

Gen 22,16. luk.1,73 ebr. 6,17.

16 *Which he made with Abrahám, and his othe to Izhák:

Heb coarde, whereby parcels of lande were meaſured

17 And hathe confirmed it to Iaakób for a Lawe, & to Iſraél for an euerlaſting couenant, [h] Meaning, frō the time that Abrahám entred, vnto the time, ỹ Iaakób went into Egypt for famine 18 Saying, To thee wil I giue the land of Canáan, the "lot of your inheritance.

19 When ye were [h] fewe in nomber, yea, a very fewe, and ſtrangers therein,

[i] As Pharaóh & Abimelech.

20 And walked about from nacion to nacion, and from one kingdome to another people,

[k] Mine elect people & them whome I haue ſanctified

21 He ſuffred no mā to do them wrong, but rebuked [i] Kings for their ſakes, ſaying,

[l] To whome God declared his worde, & they declared it to their poſteritie

23 *Sing vnto the Lord all the earth: declare his ſaluacion from day to day.

24 Declare his glorie among the nacions, and his wonderful workes among all people.

25 For the Lord is great and muche to be praiſed, and he is to be feared aboue all gods.

26 For all the gods of the people are [m] idoles, but the Lord made the heauens.

[m] His ſtrong faith appeareth herein ỹ thogh all the worlde wolde follow idoles, yet he wolde cleaue to the liuing God.

27 Praiſe and glorie are before him: power and beautie are in his place.

28 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glorie and power.

29 Giue vnto the Lord the glorie of his Name, bring an offring and come before him, & worſhip the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

30 [n] Tremble ye before him, all the earth: ſurely the worlde ſhal be ſtable and not moue.

[n] Hūble your ſelues vnder ỹ mightie hād of God

31 Let the [o] heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad, and let them ſay among the nacions, The Lord reigneth.

[o] He exhorteth the dumme creatures to reioyce & him in cōſidering ỹ greatnes of the grace of God

32 Let the ſea roare, and all that therein is: let the field be ioyful and all that is in it.

33 Let the trees of the wood thē reioycē at the preſence of the Lord: for he commeth to [p] iudge the earth.

34 Praiſe the Lord, for he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

35 And ſay ye, Saue vs, ô God, our ſaluacio, and gather vs, & deliuer vs from the heathē, that we may praiſe thine holy Name, and [q] glorie in thy praiſe.

[q] He eſteemeth this to be the chiefeſt felicitie of man.

36 Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſraél for euer and euer: and let all people ſay, [r] So be it, and praiſe the Lord.

[r] He willeth all the people bothe in heart and mouthe to cōſent to theſe praises.

37 ¶ Then he left there before the Arke of the Lords couenant Aſáph and his brethren to miniſter continually before the Arke, that which was to be done euerie day:

38 And Obéd Edóm and his brethren, thre ſcore and eight: and Obéd Edóm the ſonne of Ieduthún, and Hoſáh were porters.

39 And Zadók the Prieſt and his brethren the Prieſts were before the Tabernacle of the Lord, in the hie place that was at Gibeón, 40 To offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, vpon the burnt offring altar continually, in the morning and in the euening, euen according vnto all that is written in the Lawe of the Lord, which he commanded Iſraél.

41 And with them [s] were Heman, and Ieduthún, and the reſt that were choſen, (which were appointed by names) to praiſe the Lord, becauſe his mercie endureth for euer.

42 Euen with them were Heman and Ieduthún to make a ſounde with the cornets & with the cymbales, with excellent inſtruments of muſike: and the ſonnes of Ieduthún were at the gate.

43 And

t Declaring yt after our duetie to God we are chiefly bounde to our owne houſe, for the which as for all other things, we ought to pray vnto God, and inſtruct our families to praiſe his Name.

1 AND a Satan ſtode vp againſt Iſraél, and prouoked Dauid to nomber Iſraél.

a He tempted Dauid in ſetting before his eyes his excellencie & glorie, his power & victories, read 2 Sam 24,1 2 Therefore Dauid ſaid to Ioáb, and to the rulers of the people, Go & nomber Iſraél from b Beer-ſhéba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the nombet of them.

b That is, frō Southe to North.

3 And Ioáb anſwered, The Lord increaſe his people an hundreth times ſo many as they be, ô my lord the King: are they not all my lords ſeruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why ſhulde he be a cauſe of c treſpaſſe to Iſraél.

c It was a thing indifferent & vſual to nomber the people, but becauſe he did it of an ambitious minde, as though his ſtrength ſtode in his people, God punished him

4 Neuertheles the Kings worde preuailed againſt Ioáb. And Ioáb departed and wēt through all Iſraél, and returned to Ieruſalém.

5 And Ioáb gaue the nomber & ſumme of the people vnto Dauid: & all Iſraél were d eleuen hundreth thouſand men ỹ drewe ſworde: and Iudáh was e foure hundreth and ſeuentie thouſand men that drewe ſworde.

d Ioáb partely for grief and partly through negligence gathered not the whole ſūme as it is here declared.
e In Samuél is mentiō of eight tie thouſand more: ẅ was either by ioyning to them ſome of the Beniamites, ẅ were mixed ẅ Iudáh, or as ỹ Ebrewes write, here ỹ chief & princes are left out

6 But the Leuites and Beniamín counted he not among them: for the Kings worde was abominable to Ioáb.

7 ¶ And God was diſpleaſed with this thīg: therefore he ſmote Iſraél.

8 Then Dauid ſaid vnto God, I haue ſinned greatly, becauſe I haue done this thing: but nōw, I beſeche thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy ſeruant: for I haue done very fooliſhly.

9 And the Lord ſpake vnto Gad Dauids f Seer, ſaying,

f Or, Prophet

10 Go and tel Dauid, ſaying, Thus ſayth the Lord, I offre thee thre things: choſe thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and ſaid vnto him, Thus ſayth the Lord, Take to thee

12 Ether thre yeres famine, or thre moneths to be deſtroyed before thine aduerſaries, and the ſworde of thine enemies g to take thee, or els the ſworde of ỹ Lord and peſtilence in the land thre dayes, that ỹ Angel of the Lord may deſtroy throughout all the coaſtes of Iſraél: now therefore aduiſe thee, what worde I ſhal bring againe to him that ſent me.

g Or, ſmite thee.

23 And Dauid ſaid vnto Gad, I am in a wōderful ſtrait. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exced.ng great, & let me not fall into ỹ hand of mā.
24 So the Lord ſent a peſtilence in Iſraél, and there fell of Iſraél ſeuentie thouſand men.
15 ¶ And God ſent the Angel into Ieruſalém to deſtroye it. And f as he was de-ſtroying, the Lord behelde, and g repented of the euil and ſaid to the Angel that deſtroyed, It is now ynough, let thine hād ceaſe. Then the Angel of the Lord ſtode by the threſhing floore of Ornan the Iebuſite.
16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and ſawe the Angel of the Lord ſtād betwene the earth and the heauen with his ſworde draw n in his hand, and ſtretched out towarde Ieruſalém. Then Dauid and the Elders of Iſraél, which were clothed in ſacke, fell vpon their faces.
17 And Dauid ſaid vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to nomber the people?
It is euen I that haue ſinned and haue committed euil, but theſe ſhepe what haue they done? ó Lord my God, I beſeche thee, let thine hand be on me and on my fathers houſe, and not on h thy people for their deſtruction.
18 ¶ Thē the Angel of the Lord cōmanded Gad to ſay to Dauid, that Dauid ſhulde go vp, and ſet vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threſhing floore of Ornán the Iebuſite.
19 So Dauid went vp according to ỹ ſaying of Gad, which he had ſpokē in the Name of the Lord.
20 And Ornán turned about, and ſawe the Angel, and his foure ſonnes that were with him, i hid them ſelues, and Ornán threſ-ſhed wheat.
21 And as Dauid came to Ornán, Ornán loked and ſawe Dauid and went out of the threſhing floore, and bowed him ſelfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.
22 And Dauid ſaid to Ornán, Giue me the place of thy threſhing floore, that I may buylde an k altar therein vnto the Lord:
giue it me for ſufficient money, that the plague may be ſtayed from the people.
23 Then Ornán ſaid vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the King do that which ſeemeth him good. lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offrings, & threſhing inſtruments for wood, & wheat for meat offring. I giue it all.
24 And King Dauid ſaid to Ornán, Not ſo: but I wil bye it for ſufficient l money.
for I wil not take that which is thine for ỹ
Lord, nor offer burnt offrings without coſt.
25 So Dauid gaue to Ornán for that place n ſix hūdreth ſhekels of golde by weight.
26 And Dauid buylt there an altar vnto the Lord, and offred burnt offrings, and peace offrings, and called vpon the Lord, and he n anſwered him by fyre from heauē vpon the altar of burnt offring.
27 And when the Lord had ſpoken to the Angel, he put vp his ſworde againe into his ſhethe.
28 At that time when Dauid ſawe that the Lord had heard him in the threſhīg floo-re of Ornán the Iebuſite, then he ſacrificed there.
29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moſes had made in the wildernes, and the altar of burnt offring were at that ſeaſon in the hie place at Gibeón.
30 And Dauid colde not go before it to aſke counſel at God: for he was afraied of the ſworde of the Angel of the Lord)

h Thus he boothe ſheweth a true repentāce and a fatherlie care toward his people, wh deſireth God to ſpare them and to puniſh him and his.
i If man hide him ſelfe at ỹ ſight of an Angel which is a creature, how muche leſſe is a ſinner able to appeare before the face of God?

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things neceſſarie for the buylding of the Tēple. 6 He cōmaneth his ſonne Salomon to buylde the Tēple of the Lord, whom thing he him ſelfe was forbidden to do. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomón Chriſt is promiſed.

1 AND Dauid ſaid, This is the a houſe of the Lord God & this is the altar for the burnt offring of Iſraél.
2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the b ſtrangers that were in the land of Iſraél, and he ſet maſons to hewe and poliſh ſtones to buylde the houſe of God.
3 Dauid alſo prepared c muche yron for the nailes of the dores & of the gates, and for the ioynings, and abundance of braſſe paſsing weight, 4 And cedre trees without nomber: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus broght muche cedre wood to Dauid.
5 And Dauid ſaid, Salomón my ſonne is yong and tender, and we muſt buylde an houſe for the Lord, magnifical, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countreis. I wil therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.
6 Then he called Salomón his ſonne, and charged him to buylde an houſe for the Lord God of Iſraél.
7 And Dauid ſaid to Salomón, *My ſonne,
I purpoſed with my ſelfe to buyld an hou-ſe to the Name of the Lord my God, 8 But the worde of the Lord came to me, ſaying, *d Thou haſt ſhed muche blood, & haſt made great battels: thou ſhalt not buylde an houſe vnto my Name: for thou haſt ſhed muche blood vpon the earth in my ſight.
9 Beholde, a ſonne is borne to thee, which ſhalbe a mā of reſt, for I wil giue him reſt from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomón: and I wil ſend peace and quietnes vpon Iſraél in his dayes.

d This declareth how greatly God deteſteth the ſheding of blood, ſeing Dauid for this cauſe is ſtaied to buylde the Temple of the Lord, albeit he enterpriſed no warre, but by Gods commādemēt & againſt his enemies.

2 Sam 7,13. king 5,5.

10 *He shal buylde an house for my Name, and he shal be my sonne, and I wil be his father, and I wil establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israél for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shalbe with thee, and thou shalt e prosper, and thou shalt buylde an house to the Lord thy God, as he hathe spoken of thee.

e He sheweth that there can be no prosperitie, but when the Lord is with vs 12 Onely the Lord giue thee f wisdome & vnderstanding, and giue thee charge ouer Israél, euen to kepe the Law of the Lord thy God.

f These are onely the meanes whereby Kings gouerne their subiectes aright & where by the realmes do prosper and florish.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take hede to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lord commanded Moses for Israél: bè strong and of good courage: feare not, nether be afraied.

g For Dauid was poore in respect of Salomon.

14 For beholde, according to my g pouertie haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundreth thousand talents of golde, and a thousand thousand talents of siluer, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timbre and stone, and thou maiest prouide more thereto.

15 Moreouer thou hast workmen with thee ynough, "hewers of stone, and workemen for timbre, and all men expert in euerie worke, "Or, masons, & carpenters.

16 Of golde, of siluer, and of brasse, and of yron there is no nomber. h Vp therefore, & be doing, & the Lord wil be with thee.

h That is, go about it quickely.

17 Dauid also commanded all the princes of Israél to helpe Salomón his sonne, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, & hathe giuen you rest on euerie side? for he hathe giuen the i inhabitants of the land into mine hand, & the land is subdued before ỹ Lord & before his people.

The nations round about.

19 Now set k your hearts and your soules to seke the Lord your God, and arise, and buylde the Sanctuarie of the Lord God to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house buylt for ỹ Name of the Lord.

k For els he knewe that God wolde plague them, & not prosper their labours except they sought w all their hearts to set forthe his glorie

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordeineth Salomón King. 3 He causeth the Leuites to be nombred, 4 And assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the hie Preest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

1 SO when Dauid was olde and ful of daies, * he made Salomón his sonne King ouer Israél.

1. King 1,30.

2 And he gathered togethet all the princes of Israél with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were nombred from the age of thirtie yere and aboue, and their nomber according to their summe was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these foure and twentie thousand were set to "aduãce the worke of the house of the Lord, and six thousand were ouerseers and iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, & foure thousand praised ỹ Lord with instrumẽts which "he made to praise the Lord.

"Ebr. I made, meanig Dauid.

6 *So Dauid deuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leuí, to * Gershón, Kohath, and Merarí.

*Chap 6,1. Exod. 6,15.

7 Of the Gershonites were "Laadán and Shimeí.

"Or, Ládé, Chap 6,27.

8 The sonnes of Laadán, the chief was Iehiél, and Zethám and Ioél, thre.

9 The sonnes of Shimeí, Shelomíth, and Haziél and Harám, thre: these were the chief fathers of Laadán.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimeí were Iáhath, Zimá, Ieúsh, and Beriáh: these foure were the sonnes of Shimeí.

11 And Iáhath was the chief, & "Zizáh the seconde, but Ieúsh & Beriáh had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

"Or, Zizah.

12 ¶ The sonnes of Kohath were Amrám, Izhár, Hebrón and Vzziél, foure.

13 *The sonnes of Amrám, Aarón and Moses: and Aarón was separated to a sanctifie the moste holy place, he & his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

*Exod 2,2. & 6,20. ebr 3,5.

a That is, to serue in the moste holy place & to cõsecrate ỹ holy things.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God, & his children were named with the b tribe of Leuí.

b Thei were but of the ordre of the Leuites & not of the Priests as Aarós sonnes.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershóm, and Eliézer, 16 Of the sonnes of * Gershóm was Shebuél the chief.

*Exod. 2,22. & 18,3.

17 And the sonne of Eliézer was Rehabiáh the c chief: for Eliézer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiáh were very many.

c The Scripture vseth to call chief or ỹ first borne, although he be alone, & there be none borne after. Matt 1,25.

18 The sonne of Izhár was Shelomíth the chief.

19 The sonnes of Hebrón were Ieriáh the first, Amariáh the seconde, Iahaziél the third, and Iekamiám the fourt.

20 The sonnes of Vzziél were Micháh the first, and Isshiáh the seconde.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merarí were Mahlí and Mushí. The sonnes of Mahlí, Eleazár and Kish.

d Meaning their cousins.

22 And Eleazár dyed, and had no sonnes, but daughters, and their d brethren the sonnes of Kish toke them.

23 The sonnes of Mushí were Mahlí, and Edér, and Ierimóth, thre.

e Dauid did chose the Leuites twise, first at the age of thirtie, as ver. 3, & agaime afterwarde at twentie, as the necessitie of ỹ office did require at ỹ beginning they had no charge in the Temple, before they were fiue and twentie yere olde, and had none after this, Nub 4

24 These were the sonnes of Leuí according to the house of their fathers, euen the chief fathers according to their offices, according to the nomber of names & their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of e twenty yeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid ſaid, The Lord God of Iſraél hathe giuen reſt vnto his people, that they may dwel in Ieruſalém for euer.
26 And alſo the Leuites ſhal nomore beare the Tabernacle and all the veſſels for the ſeruice thereof.
27 Therefore according to the laſt wordes of Dauid, the Leuites were nõbred from twentie yere and aboue, 28 And their office was vnder the hand of the ſonnes of Aarón, for the ſeruice of the houſe of the Lord in the courtes, and chambers, and in the [f] purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the ſeruice of the houſe of God,
29 Bothe for the ſhewebread, and for the fine floure, for the meat offring, and for the vnleauened cakes, and for the fryed things, and for that which was rolled, and for all meaſures and eiſe,
30 And for to ſtand euerie morning, to giue thankes and to praiſe the Lord, & likewiſe at euen, 31 And to offer all burnt offrings vnto the Lord, in the Sabbaths, in the moneths, and at the appointed times, according to the nomber & according to their cuſtome continually before the Lord,
32 And that they ſhulde kepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregacion, and the charge of the holie place, and the charge of the ſonnes of Aarón their brethren in the ſeruice of the houſe of the Lord.

[f] In waſſhing and cleanſing all the holy veſſels

CHAP. XXIIII.

Dauid aſſigneth offices vnto the ſonnes of Aarón.

1 THeſe are alſo the *diuiſions of the ſonnes of Aarón, The ſonnes of Aarón were Nadab, and Abihú, Eleazár, and Ithamár.
2 But Nadáb and Abihú dyed [a] before their father, and had no childrẽ, therefore Eleazár and Ithamár executed ỹ Prieſts office.
3 And Dauid diſtributed them, euen Zadók of the [b] ſonnes of Eleazár, and Ahimélech of the ſonnes of Ithamár according to their offices in their miniſtration.
4 And there were found mo of the ſonnes of Eleazár by the [c] nomber of men, then of the ſonnes of Ithamár. and they deuided them, to wit, among the ſonnes of Eleazár, ſixteen heades, according to the houſholde of their fathers, and among the ſonnes of Ithamár, according to the houſholde of their fathers, eight.
5 Thus they diſtributed them by lot the one from the other, and ſo the rulers of the Sanctuarie and the rulers of the houſe of God were of the ſonnes of Eleazar and of the ſonnes of Ithamár.
6 And Shemaiáh the ſonne of Nethaneél the ſcribe of the Leuites, wrote them before the King and the princes, and Zadók the Prieſt, and Ahimélech the ſonne of Abiathár, and before the chief fathers of the Prieſts and of the Leuites, one famílie being reſerued for Eleazár, & another reſerued for Ithamár.
7 And the firſt [b] lot fel to Iehoiaríb, and the ſecond to Iedaiáh, 8 The third to Harim, the fourt to Seorím, 9 The fift to Malchiiáh, the ſixt to Miiamín,
10 The ſeuent to Hakkóz, the eight to Abiiáh, 11 The ninte to Ieſhúa, the tent to Shecaniáh, 12 The eleuent to Eliaſhib, the twelft to Iakím, 13 The thirtente to Huppáh, the fourtente to Ieſhebeáb, 14 The fiftente to Bilgáh, the ſixtente to Immér, 15 The ſeuentente to Hezír, the eightente to Happizzér, 16 The netente to Pethahiáh, the twentieth to Iehezckél, 17 The one and twentie to Iachín, the two and twentie to Gamúl, 18 The thre and twẽtie to Deliáh, the foure and twentie to Maaziáh.
19 Theſe were their ordres according to their offices, when they entred into the houſe of the Lord according to their cuſtome vnder [d] the hand of Aarón their father, as the Lord God of Iſrael had commanded him.
20 ¶ And of the ſonnes of Leuí that remained of the ſonnes of Amrám, was Shubaél, of the ſonnes of Shubaél, Iedeiah, 21 Of Rehabiáh. euen of the ſonnes of Rehabiáh, the firſt Iſſhiiáh, 22 Of Izharí, Shelomóth, of the ſonnes of Shelomóth, Iahath, 23 And his ſonnes Ieriáh the firſt, Amariáh the ſeconde, Iahaziél the thirde, and Iekameám the fourt, 24 The ſonne of Vzziél was Michah, the ſonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah was Iſſhiiáh, the ſonne of Iſſhiiáh, Zechariáh, 26 The ſonnes of Merarí were Mahlí and Muſhí, the ſonne of Iaaziiah was Benó, 27 The ſonnes of Merarí of Iahaziáh were Benó, and Shóham, and Zaccúr and Ibrí.
28 Of Mahlí came Eleazár, which had no ſonnes.
29 Of Kiſh. the ſonne of Kiſh was Ierahmeél, 30 And the ſonnes of [e] Muſhí were Mahlí, and Edér, and Ierimóth: theſe were ſonnes of the Leuites after the houſholde of their fathers.

f That is, euerie one had y dignitie & fel vnto him by lot.

31 And these also cast f lottes w̄ their brethren the sonnes of Aarón b fore King Dauid, and Zadók and Ahimélech and the chief fathers of the Priests, and of the Leuites, euen the chief of the families against their yonger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

The singers are appointed, with their places & lottes.

a The singers were deuided into four and twentie courtes, both euerie course or ordre contained twelue, & in all there were 288, as verse 7

1 SO Dauid & the captaines of ȳ armie a separated for the ministerie the sonnes of Asáph, and Hemán, and Ieduthún, who shulde sing prophecies with harpes, with violes, and with cymbales, and their nomber was euen of the men for the office of their ministerie, to wit,

2 Of the sonnes of Asáph, Zaccúr, and Ioseph, & Nethaniah, & Asharélah the sonnes of Asáph were vnder the hand of Asáph, which sang prophecies by the "Ebr. hads. "commission of the King.

3 Of Ieduthún, the sonnes of Ieduthún, Gedaliáh, & Zeri, and Ieshaiáh, Asshabiáh and Mattithiah, b six, vnder the hands of their father: Ieduthún sang c prophecies with an harpe, for to giue thankes and to praise the Lord.

b Whereof one is not here nor bred c Meaning, Psalmes and songs to praise God.

4 Of Hemán, the sonnes of Hemán, Bukkiáh, Mattaniah, Vzziél, Shebuél, and Ierimóth, Hananiáh, Hanáni, Eliáthah, Giddálti, & Romámti-ézer, Ioshbekáshah, Mallóthi, Hothir & Mahazióth.

5 All these were the sonnes of Hemán the Kings "Seer in the wordes of God to lift vp the "horne: and God gaue to Hemán fourtene sonnes and three daughters.

"Or, Prophet. "Or, prophesying of the King

6 All these were vnder the "hand of their father, singing in the house of ȳ Lord with cymbales, violes & harpes, for the seruice of the house of God, & Asaph, and Ieduthún, and Hemán were at the Kings "cōmandement.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Becauſe Dauid was forbidden to buylde the Tẽple, he willeth Salomón and the people ẽ performe it, & Exhorting him to feare the Lord.

1 NOw Dauid aſſembled all the princes of Iſraél: the princes of the tribes, & the captaines of the bandes that ſerued the King, and the captaines of thouſands & the captaines of hundreths, and the rulers of all the ſubſtance, and poſſeſsion of the King, & of his ſonnes, with the [f] eunuches, and the mightie, and all the mẽ of power, vnto Ieruſalém.
2 And King Dauid ſtode vp vpon his fete, and ſaid, Heare ye me, my brethren & my people: I purpoſed to haue buylt an houſe of [g] reſt for the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, & for a * foote ſtole of our God, and haue made ready for the buylding, 3 But God ſaid vnto me, * Thou ſhalt not buylde an houſe for my Name, becauſe thou haſt bene a mã of warre, & haſt ſhed blood.
4 Yet as the Lord God of Iſraél choſe me before all the houſe of my father, to be King ouer Iſraél for euer (for in Iudáh wolde he chuſe a prince, & of the houſe of [h] Iudáh is the houſe of my father, & amõg the ſonnes of my father he delited in me to make me King ouer all Iſraél)
5 *So of all my ſonnes (for the Lord hathe giuen me manie ſonnes) he hathe euẽ choſen Salomón my ſonne to ſit vpõ the throne of the kingdome of ỹ Lord ouer Iſraél.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offring of Dauid and of the princes for the buylding of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thankes to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the ſame. 22 Salomón is created King. 28 Dauid dyeth, and Salomón his ſonne reigneth in his ſteade.

1 MOreouer Dauid the King ſaid vnto all the Cõgregacio, God hathe choſen Salomón mine onelie ſonne yong and tendre, & the woike is great: for this houſe is not for man, but for the [a] Lord God.

a And therefore it ought to be excellent in all poinctes,

2 Now I haue prepared with all my power for the houſe of my God, golde for veſſels of golde, and ſiluer for them of ſiluer, and braſſe for things of braſſe, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood & onix ſtones, and ſtones to be ſet, and carbuncle ſtones and of diuers colour, and all precious ſtones, & marble ſtones in abundãce.

3 Moreouer becauſe I haue [b] delite in the houſe of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and ſiluer, which I haue giuẽ to the houſe of my God, beſide all that I haue prepared for the houſe of the Sanctuarie, b His great zeale toward the furtherãce of the Tẽple made him to ſpare no expenſes, but to beſtowe his owne peculiar treaſure.

4 Euen [c] thre thouſand talents of golde of the golde of Ophir, and ſeuen thouſand talents of fined ſiluer to ouerlay the walles of the houſes.

c He ſheweth what he had of his owne ſtore for ỹ Lords houſe.

5 The golde for the things of golde, and the ſiluer for things of ſiluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is [d] willing [e] to fil his hand to day vnto the Lord?

d He was not onely liberal him ſelfe, but prouoked others to ſet forthe ỹ worke of God

"Or, is offre.

6 So the Princes of the families, and the prices of the tribes of Iſraél, & the captaines of thouſands & of hundreths, with the rulers of ỹ Kings worke, offred willingly,

7 And they gaue for the ſeruice of the houſe of God fiue thouſand talents of golde, and ten thouſand pieces, and ten thouſand talents of ſiluer, and eightene thouſand talents of braſſe, and one hundreth thouſand talents of yron.

8 And

8 And they with whome precious ſtones were e founde, gaue them to the treaſure of the houſe of the Lord, by the hand of Iehiél the Gerſhunnite.

e Meaning, the that had anie

9 And the people reioyced when they offred willingly: for they offred willingly vnto the Lord, with a f perfite heart. And Dauid the King alſo reioyced with great ioye.

f That is, with a good courage & without hypocriſie.

10 Therefore Dauid bleſſed the Lord before all the Congregacion, & Dauid ſaid, Bleſſed be thou, ô Lord God, of g Iſraél our father, for euer and euer.

g Which did reueile thy ſelfe to our father Iaakób.

11 Thine, ô Lord, is greatnes and power, and glorie, and victorie and praiſe: for all that is in heauen & in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, ô Lord, and thou excelleſt as head ouer all.

12 Bothe riches and honour come of thee, & thou reigneſt ouer all, and in thine hād is power and ſtrength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue ſtrength vnto all.

13 Now therefore our God, we thanke thee, and praiſe thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we ſhulde be able to offer willingly after this ſorte? for all things h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

h We gaue thee nothing of our owne, but that which we haue receiued of thee, for whether ỹ gifts be corporal or ſpirituall, we receiue them all of God, and therefore muſt giue him the glorie

15 For we are i ſtrangers before thee, and ſoiourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the ſhadowe vpon the earth, and there is none "abiding.

i And therefore haue this land but lent to vs for a time

" Ebr waiting for them to returne

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to buylde thee an houſe for thine holy Name, is of thine hand and all is thine.

17 I knowe alſo, my God, that thou *tryeſt the heart, and haſt pleaſure in righteouſnes: I haue offred willingly in ỹ vprightnes of mine heart all theſe things: now alſo haue I ſene thy people which are founde here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioye.

1 Sam 16, 7. & chap. 28, 9.

18 O Lord God of Abrahám, Izhák and Iſraél our fathers, kepe this for euer in the k purpoſe, and the thoghts of the heart of t hy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

k Cõtinue thẽ in this good minde, that they may ſerue thee willingly.

19 And giue vnto Salomón my ſonne a perfit heart to kepe thy commandements, thy teſtimonies, and thy ſtatutes, and to do all things, and to buylde the houſe which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid ſaid to all the Congregacio, Now bleſſe the Lord your God. And all the Congregacion bleſſed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heades, & worſhipped the Lord and the l King.

l That is, did reuerence to the King.

21 And they offred ſacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morowe after that day, they offred burnt offrings vnto the Lord, euen a thouſand yong bullockes, a thouſand rammes, & a thouſand ſheepe, with their m drinke offrings, and ſacrifices in abundãce for all Iſraél.

m Meaning, all kide of licour which they mingled, with their ſacrifices, as wine, oyle, &c.

22 And they did eat and drinke before the Lord the ſame day with greate ioye, and they made Salomón the ſonne of Dauid King the ſeconde time, and anointed him prince before the Lord, and Zadók for the hie Prieſt.

23 So Salomón ſate on the n throne of the Lord, as King in ſteade of Dauid his father, and proſpered: and all Iſraél obeyed him.

n This declareth that the Kings of Iudáh were figures of Chriſt, who was the true anointed, & to whome God gaue the euer- gouernme t of all things

" Ebr gaue the hand.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the ſonnes of King Dauid "ſubmitted them ſelues vnder King Salomón.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomón in dignitie, in the ſight of all Iſraél, and gaue him ſo glorious a kingdome, as no King had before him in Iſraél.

26 ¶* Thus Dauid the ſonne of Iſhái reigned ouer all Iſraél.

* 1. King 2, 11.

27 And the ſpace that he reigned ouer Iſraél, was fourtie yere: ſeuen yere reigned he in Hebrón, and thre & thirtie yere reigned he in Ieruſalém:

28 And he dyed in a good age, ful of dayes, riches and honour, and Salomón his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

29 Concerning the actes of Dauid the King firſt and laſt, beholde, they are writen in the boke of Samuél the Seer, and in the boke of ° Nathán the Prophete, and in the boke of Gad the Seer, o The bokes of Nathán & Gad are thoght to haue bene loſt in the captiuitie.

THE SECONDE BOKE of the Chronicles.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis ſeconde boke conteineth briefely in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bokes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomón to the deſtruction of Ieruſalém, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this ſtorie are certeine things declared and ſet forthe more copiouſly then in the bokes of the Kings, and therefore ſerue greatly to the vnderſtanding of the Prophetes. But thre things are here chiefly to be conſidered. Firſt that the godlie Kings, when they ſawe the plagues of God prepared againſt their countrey for ſinne, had recourſe to the Lord, and by earneſt prayer were heard, and the plagues removed. The ſeconde how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that ſuche as feare him and profeſſe his religion, ſhulde ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdely how the good rulers euer loued the Prophetes of God, and were very zealous to ſet forthe his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrarie wiſe the wicked hated his miniſters, depoſed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, ſet vp idolatrie, and ſerued God according to the fantaſie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chief actes from the beginning of the worlde to the buylding againe of Ieruſalém, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darius, and conteine in the whole, thre thouſand, foure hundreth foure ſcore and eight yeres, and ſix moneths.

1 THé Salomón the ſóne of Dauid was [e] cófirmed in his kingdome: & ỹ *Lord his God was with him, & magnified him highlie.

2 And Salomón [a] ſpake vnto all Iſraél, to the captaines of thouſands, and of húdreths and to the iudges, and to all the gouernours in all Iſraél, euen the chief fathers.

3 So Salomón and all the Congregacion with him went to the hye place that was at [b] Gibeón: for there was the Tabernacle [c] of the Cõgregacion of God which Moſés the ſeruant of the Lord had made in the wildernes.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid broght vp from Kiriath-iearím, when Dauid had made preparacion for it: for he had pitched a tent for it in Ieruſalém.

5 Moreouer the [d] braſen altar * that Bezaleél the ſonne of Vrí, the ſonne of Hur had made, did he ſet before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomón and the Cõgregacion ſoght it.

6 And Salomón offred there before ỹ Lord vpon the braſen altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregacion: * euen a thouſand burnt offrings offred he vpon it.

7 ¶ The ſame night did God appeare vnto Salomón, and ſaid vnto him, Aſke what I ſhal giue thee.

8 And Salomón ſaid vnto God, Thou haſt ſhewed great mercie vnto Dauid my father and haſt made me to reigne in his ſteade.

9 Now therefore, ô Lord God, let thy promes vnto Dauid my father be [e] true: for thou haſt made me King ouer a great people, like to the duſt of the earth.

10 Giue me now wiſdome and knowledge, ỹ I may [f] go out & go in before this people: for who cã iudge this thy great people?

11 And God ſaid to Salomón, Becauſe this was in thine heart, & thou haſt not aſked riches, treaſures nor honour, nor the [g] liues of thine enemies, nether yet haſt aſked long life, but haſt aſked for thee wiſdome & knowledge that thou mighteſt iudge my people, ouer whome I haue made thee King,

12 Wiſdome & knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I wil giue thee riches and treaſures and honour, ſo that there hathe not bene the like amõg the Kings ẅ were before thee, nether after thee ſhal there be ỹ like.

13 Then Salomón came from the hie place, that was at Gibeón, to Ieruſalém from before the Tabernacle of the Congregació, and reigned ouer Iſraél.

14 * And Salomón gathered the charets & horſmen: and he had a thouſand and foure húdreth charets, & twelue thouſand horſmen, whome he placed in the [h] charet cities, and with the King at Ieruſalém.

15 And the King gaue ſiluer and golde at Ieruſalém as [i] ſtones, & gaue cedre trees as the wilde fig trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Alſo Salomón had horſes broght out of Egypt and * fine linen: [k] the Kings marchãts receiued the fine linen for a price.

17 They came vp alſo and broght out of Egypt ſome charet, worthe ſix hundreth ſhekels of ſiluer, that is an horſe for an hundreth and fiftie: & thus they broght horſes to all the Kings of the Hittites, and to the Kings of Arám by their "meanes.

2 And Salomón tolde out ſeuentie thouſand that bare burdens, and foure ſcore thouſand men to hewe ſtones in the mountaine, and thre thouſand and [a] ſix húdreth to ouerſee them.

3 And Salomón ſent to Hurám the King of Tyrus, ſayīg, As thou haſt done to Dauid my father, & * dideſt ſend him cedre trees to buyld hī an houſe to dwel in, ſo do to me.

11 Then Huram King of Tyrus anſwered in writing which he ſent to Salomón, Becauſe the Lord hathe loued his people, he hathe made thee King ouer them.

12 Hurám ſaid moreouer, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Iſraél which made the heauen and the earth, and that hathe giuen vn to Dauid the King a [e] wiſe ſonne, that hathe diſcretion, prudence and vnderſtanding to buylde an houſe for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

15 Now therefore the wheat and the barly, the oyle & the wine, which my lord hathe ſpoken of, let him ſend vnto his ſeruants.

16 And we wil cut wood in Lebanón as muche as thou ſhalt nede, and wil bring it to thee in raftes by the ſea to [o] Iaphó, ſo thou maieſt cary them to Ieruſalém.

17 ¶ And Salomón nōbred all the ſtrangers that were in the land of Iſraél, after the nombring that his father Dauid had nombred them: and they were founde an hundreth and thre and fiftie thouſand, and ſix hundreth.

18 And he ſet ſeuentie thouſand of them to the burden, and foureſcore thouſand to hewe ſtones in the mountaine, & thre thouſand and ſix hundreth ouerſeers to cauſe the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

The Temple of the Lord, and the porche are buylded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 SO *Salomón began to buyld the houſe of the Lord in Ieruſalém, in mount [a] Moriáh which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threſſhing floore of *Ornán the Iebuſite. 1.King.7.1.

2 And he began to buyld in the ſeconde moneth & the ſeconde day, in the fourt yere of his reigne.

3 And theſe are the meaſures, whereon Salomón groūded to buyld the houſe of God: the length of cubites after the firſt [b] meaſure was threſcore cubites, & the breadth twenty cubites:

4 And the porche, ỹ was before the length in the fronte [c] of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an [d] hundreth and twētie, & he ouerlaied it within with pure golde.

5 And the greater houſe he ſyled with firre tree which he ouerlaied with good golde, & graued thereon palmetrees & chaines.

6 And he ouerlaied ỹ houſe with precious ſtone for beautie: and the golde was golde of [e] Paruáim.

7 The houſe, I ſay, the beames, poſtes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof ouerlaied he with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ He made alſo ỹ houſe of the moſte holy place: the length thereof was in the fronte of the breadth of the houſe, twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaied it with the beſt golde, of ſix hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie ſhekels of golde, and he ouerlaied the chābers with golde.

10 ¶ And in the houſe of the moſte holy place he made two Cherubims wroght like children, and ouerlaied them with golde.

11 * And the wings of the Cherubims were twentie cubites long: the one wing was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the houſe, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to ỹ wing of the other Cherūb. 1.King.6.19.

k 1. King. 7.51. & 8.1.

2 Then Salomón aſſembled the Elders of Iſraél, and all the heades of the tribes, the chief fathers of the children of Iſraél vnto Ieruſalém to bring vp the Arke of the couecouenant of the Lord from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zión.

3 And all the mē of Iſraél aſſembled vnto the King at the [b] feaſt: it was in the ſeuent [c] moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Iſraél came, & the Leuites toke vp the Arke.

5 And they caryed vp the Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregacion, and all the holy veſſels that were in the Tabernacle, thoſe did the Prieſts & Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomón and all the Congregacion of Iſraél that were aſſembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offring ſhepe & bullockes, which colde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Prieſts broght the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the houſe, into the moſte Holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims ſtretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drewe out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be ſene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not ſene [e] without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, ſaue [d] the two Tables, which Moſés gaue at Horéb, where the Lord made a couenant with the children of Iſraél, when they came out of Egypt.

2 So that the Prieſts colde not enter into the houſe of the Lord,becauſe the glorie of the Lord had filled the Lords houſe.

3 And when all the children of Iſraél ſaw the fyre,and the glorie of the Lord come downe vpon the houſe, they bowed them ſelues with their faces to the earth vpon the pauement, and worſhiped and praiſed the Lord, ſaying, For he is good, becauſe his mercie liſteth for euer.

1.King.8.65. 4 *Then the King and all the people offred ſacrifices before the Lord.

5 And King Salomón offred a ſacrifice of two and twentie thouſand bullockes, and an hundreth and twentie thouſand ſhepe. ſo the King and all the people dedicated the houſe of God.

1. King 12. 1.

r After the death of Salomón.

2 And when Ieroboám the ſonne of Nebát heard it, (which was in Egypt, whether he had fled frõ the preſence of Salomón the King) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they ſent and called him: ſo came Ieroboám and all Iſraél, and cõmuned with Rehoboám, ſaying, 4 Thy father s made our yoke grieuous: now therefore make ỹ the grieuous ſeruitude of thy father, and his ſore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we wil ſerue thee.

s That is, hãdeled vs rudely. It ſemeth that God bareded their heartes, ſo that they thus murmured without cauſe: which declareth alſo the inconſtãcie of the people.

5 And he ſaid to thẽ, Departe yet thre dayes, thẽ come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboám toke counſel with the olde men that had ſtand before Salomón his father, while he yet liued, ſaying, What counſel giue ye that I may anſwer this people?

7 And they ſpake vnto him, ſaying, If thou be kinde to this people, and pleaſe them, and ſpeake louing wordes to them, they wil be thy ſeruants for euer.

8 But he left the coũſel of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and toke counſel of the yong mẽ that were broght vp with him, and t waited on him.

t Or, that ſtode by him, that is, which were of his counſel and ſecretes.

9 And he ſaid vnto them, What counſel giue ye, that we may anſwer this people, ỹ haue ſpoken to me, ſaying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were broght vp with him, ſpake vnto him, ſaying, Thus ſhalt thou anſwer the people that ſpake to thee, ſaying, Thy father made our yoke heauy, but make thou it lighter for vs;

thus ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, My [d] leaſt parte ſhal be bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now where as my father did burdē you wt a grieuous yoke, I wil yet increaſe your yoke: my father hathe chaſtiſed you with roddes, but I wil correct you with [e] ſcourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboám and all the people came to Rehoboám the third day, as the King had appointed, ſaying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the King anſwered them ſharpely: and King Rehoboám left the counſel of the ancient men, 14 And ſpake to them after the counſel of the yong men, ſaying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I wil increaſe it: my father chaſtiſed you with roddes, but I wil correct you with ſcourges.

15 So the King hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the [f] ordinance of God that the Lord might performe his ſaying, which he had ſpoken [g] by Ahiáh the Shilonite to Ieroboám the ſonne of Nebát.

16 So when all Iſraél ſawe that the King wolde not heare them, the people anſwered the King, ſaying, *What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritance in the ſonne of Iſhái: O Iſraél, euerie man to your tents: now ſe to thine owne houſe, Dauid. So all Iſraél departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboám reigned ouer the children of Iſraél, that dwelt in the cities of Iudáh.

18 Then King Rehoboám ſent Hadorám that was [h] ouer the tribute, & the children of Iſraél ſtoned him with ſtones, that he dyed: then King Rehoboám [i] made ſpede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ieruſalém.

19 And Iſraél rebelled againſt the houſe of Dauid vnto this day.

CHAP. XI.

4 Rehoboám is forbidden to fight againſt Ieroboám. 5 Cities which he buylt. 21 He hath eightene wiues & threſcore concubines, and by them eight and twentie ſonnes, and threſcore daughters.

1 AND [k] when Rehoboám was come to Ieruſalém, he gathered of the houſe of Iudáh and [a] Beniamín nine ſcore thouſand choſen men of warre to fight againſt [b] Iſraél, & to bring the kingdome againe to Rehoboám.

2 But the worde of the Lord came to Shemaiáh the man of God, ſaying,

3 Speake vnto Rehoboám, the ſonne of Salomón King of Iudáh, and to all Iſraél that are in Iudáh, and Beniamín, ſaying, 4 Thus ſayth the Lord, Ye ſhal not go vp, nor fight againſt your brethren: returne euerie man to his houſe for this thing is done of me. They obeied therefore the worde of the Lord, and returned from going againſt Ieroboám.

5 And Rehoboám dwelt in Ieruſalém, and [c] buylt ſtrong cities in Iudáh.

6 He buylt alſo Beth-léhem, and Etám, and Tekóa,

7 And Beth-zúr, and Shocó, & Adullám,

11 And he [l] repaired the ſtrong holdes and put captaines in them, and ſtore of vitaile, and oyle and wine.

12 And in all cities he put ſhields & ſpeares, & made them exceding ſtrong: ſo Iudáh and Beniamín were his.

13 ¶ And the Prieſts and the Leuites that were in all Iſraél, [m] reſorted vnto him out of all their coaſtes.

14 For the Leuites left their ſuburbes and their poſſeſsion, and came to Iudáh and to Ieruſalém: *for Ieroboám and his ſonnes had caſt them out from miniſtring in the Prieſts office vnto the Lord.

17 So they ſtrengthened the kingdome of Iudáh, and made Rehoboám the ſonne of Salomón mightie, three yere long: for three yere they [o] walked in the way of Dauid & Salomón.

18 ¶ And Rehoboám toke him Mahaláth the daughter of Ierimóth the ſonne of Dauid to wife, & Abiháil the daughter of Eliáb the ſonne of Iſhái, 19 Which bare him ſonnes Ieúſh, and Shemariáh, and Záham.

20 And after her he toke Maakáh ỹ daughter of Abſalóm which bare him Abiiáh, and Atthái, and Zizá, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboám loued Maakáh ỹ daughter of Abſalóm aboue all his wiues & his concubines: for he toke eightene wiues, & three ſcore concubines, and begate eight and twētie ſonnes, & threſcore daughters.

22 And Rehoboám made [p] Abiiáh the ſonne of Maakáh the chief ruler among his brethren: for he thoght to make him King.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Asá destroieth idolatrie & commandeth his people to serue the true God 11 He praieth vnto God when he shulde go to fight 12 He obteineth the victorie.

1 SO [*] Abiah slept with his fathers, & thei buryed him in the citie of Dauid, & Asá his sonne reigned in his steade: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yere.

2 And Asá did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he toke away the altars of the strange gods & the hie places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the [a] groues,

4 And cõmanded Iudáh to seke the Lord God of their fathers, & to do according to the Lawe and the commandement.

5 And he toke away out of all the cities of Iudáh the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was [b] quiet before him.

6 He buylt also strong cities in Iudáh, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Iudáh, Let vs buyld these cities and make walles about, and towres, gates, and barres, whiles the lãd is [c] before vs: because we haue soght ỹ Lord our God, we haue soght him, and he hathe giuen vs rest on euerie side: so they buylt and prospered.

8 And Asá had an armie of Iudáh that bare shields and speares, thre hundreth thousand, and of Beniamín that bare shields & drewe bowes, two hundreth & foure score thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against then Zérah [d] of Ethiopia with an hoste of ten húdreth thousand, and thre hundreth charets, and came vnto [e] Maresháh.

10 Then Asá went out before him, and thei set the battel in aray in the valley of Zephátháh beside Maresháh.

11 And Asá [*] cryed vnto the Lord his God, & said, Lord, it is nothíg with thee to helpe [f] with many, or with no power: helpe vs, ô Lord our God. for we rest on thee, and in thy Name are we come against this multitude: ô Lord, thou art our God, [f] let not man preuaile against thee.

12 ¶ So ỹ Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asá and before Iudáh, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asá and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerár. And the Ethiopians hoste was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord and before his hoste: & they caryed away a mighty great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerár: for the [g] feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceding muche spoile in them.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattel, & caryed away plentie of shepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalém.

1 AND* Iehoſhaphát had riches & honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in [a] affinitie with Aháb.

2 And after certeine [b] yeres he went downe to Aháb to Samaria: & Aháb ſlewe ſhepe and oxen for him in great nomber, & for the people that he had with him, and entiſed him to go vp vnto [c] Ramóth Gileád.

3 And Aháb King of Iſraél ſaid vnto Iehoſhaphát King of Iudáh, Wilt thou go with me to Ramóth Gileád? And he anſwered him, I am as thou art, & my people as thy people, & we wil ioyne wᵗ thee in the warre.

4 And Iehoſhaphát ſaid vnto the King of Iſraél, Aſke counſel, I pray thee, at the [d] worde of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the King of Iſraél gathered of [e] Prophetes foure hundreth men, and ſaid vnto them, Shal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battel, or ſhal I ceaſe? And they ſaid, Go vp: for God ſhal deliuer it into the Kings hand.

6 But Iehoſhaphát ſaid, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord ỹ we might inquire of him?

phát, There is yet one man, by whome we may aſke counſel of the Lord, but I [f] hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto me, but allway euil: it is Michaiáh the ſonne of Imlá. Thē Iehoſhaphát ſaid, Let not the King ſay [g] ſo.

8 And the King of Iſraél called an eunuche, and ſaid, Call quickly Michaiáh the ſonne of Imlá.

9 ¶And the King of Iſraél, and Iehoſhaphát King of Iudáh ſate ether of them on his throne clothed in their [h] apparel: they ſate euen in the threſſhing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: & all the Prophetes prophecied before them.

10 And Zidkiáh the ſonne of Chenaanáh made him [i] hornes of yron, & ſaid, Thus ſaith ỹ Lord, With theſe ſhalt thou puſh ỹ Aramites vntil thou haſt conſumed them.

11 And all the Prophetes prophecied ſo, ſaying, Go vp to Ramóth Gileád, & proſper: for the Lord ſhal deliuer it into the hand of the King.

12 ¶And the meſſenger that wēt to call Michaiah, ſpake to him, ſaying, Beholde, the wordes of the Prophetes declare good to ỹ King with one [k] accorde: let thy worde therfore, I pray thee, be lyke one of theirs, and ſpeake thou good.

13 And Michaiáh ſaid, As the Lord liueth, whatſoeuer my God ſaith, ỹ wil I ſpeake.

14 ¶So he came to the King, and the King ſaid vnto him, Michaiah, ſhal we go to Ramóth Gileád to battel, or ſhal I leaue of? And he ſaid, [l] Go ye vp, and proſper, and they ſhal be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the King ſaid to him, How oft ſhal I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the trueth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he ſaid, I ſawe all Iſraél ſcatered in the mountaines, as ſhepe that haue no ſhepheard: and the Lord ſaid, [m] Theſe haue no maſter: let thē returne euerie man to his houſe in peace.

17 And the King of Iſraél ſaid to Iehoſhaphát, Did I not tel thee, that he wolde not prophecie good vnto me, but euil?

18 Againe he ſaid, Therefore heare ye the worde of the Lord: I ſawe the Lord ſit vpon his throne, and all the [n] hoſte of heauen ſtanding at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord ſaid, Who ſhal [o] perſuade Aháb King of Iſraél, that he may go vp and fall at Ramóth Gileád? And one ſpake and ſaid thus, and another ſaid that.

20 Thē there came forthe a ſpirit and ſtode before the Lord, and ſaid, I wil perſuade him. And the Lord ſaid vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he ſaid, I wil go out, and be a falſe ſpirit in the mouthe of all his Prophetes. And [p] he ſaid, Thou ſhalt perſuade, and ſhalt alſo preuaile: go forthe and do ſo.

22 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hathe put a [q] falſe ſpirit in the mouthe of theſe thy Prophetes, & the Lord hathe determined euil againſt thee.

23 Then Zidkiáh the ſonne of Chenaanáh came nere, and ſmote Michaiáh vpon the [r] cheke, and ſaid, By what way wēt the ſpirit of ỹ Lord frō me, to ſpeake with thee?

24 And Michaiáh ſaid, Beholde, thou ſhalt ſe that day whē thou ſhalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the King of Iſraél ſaid, Take ye Michaiáh, and carie him to Amón the gouernour of the citie, & to Ioáſh the Kings ſonne, 26 And ſay, Thus ſaith the King, Put this man in the priſon houſe, & fede him with bread of [s] affliction and with water of affliction vntil I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiáh ſaid, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hathe not ſpoken by me. And [t] he ſaid, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Iſraél and Iehoſhaphát the King of Iudáh wēt vp to Ramóth Gileád.

29 And the King of Iſraél ſaid vnto Iehoſhaphát, I wil [u] change my ſelfe, and entre into the battel: but put thou on thine apparel. So the King of Iſraél chāged him ſelfe, and they went into the battel.

30 And the King of Arám had commanded the captaines of the charets that were with him, ſaying, Fight you not with ſmall nor great, but againſt ỹ King of Iſraél onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets ſawe Iehoſhaphát, they ſaid, It is the King of Iſraél: and they compaſſed about him to fight. But Iehoſhaphát [x] cryed, & ỹ Lord helped him & moued them to departe from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charets ſawe that he was not the King of Iſraél, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certeine man drewe a bowe [y] myghtely, & ſmote the King of Iſrael betwene the ioyntes [z] of his brigādine: therefore he ſaid to his charetman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the hoſte: for I am hurt.

34 And the battel increaſed that day: and the King of Iſraél [a] ſtode ſtil in his charet againſt the Aramites vntil euen, and dyed at the time of ỹ ſunne going down.

*2.King.8.24.

a Meaning, the Philistims.

2 Two and b fourty yere olde was Ahaziáh whē he began to reigne, & he reigned c one yere in Ierusalém. and his mothers name was Athaliáh the daughter d of Omrí.

b Read Chap. 21.20

c That is, after the death of his father.

d She was Ahabs daughter, who was the sonne of Omri.

3 He walked also in the waies of the house of Aháb: for his mother counseled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euil in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his e counselers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

e He sheweth, that it must nedes followe that the rulers are suche as their counselers be, & that there can not be a good King, that suffreth wicked counselers.

5 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Iehorám the sonne of Aháb King of Israél to fight against Hazaél King of Arám at Ramóth Gilcád: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶And he returned to be healed in Izreél, because of the woūdes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramáh, when he fought with Hazaél King of Arám. Now Azariáh the sonne of Iehorám King of Iudáh went downe to se Iehorám the sonne of Aháb at Izreél, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziáh f came of God in that he wēt to Iorám: for when he was come, he went forthe with Iehorám against Iehú the sonne of Nimshí, *whome the Lord had anointed to destroye the house of Aháb.

f Hereby we se how nothīg can come to any, but by Gods prouidēce & as he hathe appointed, & therefore he causeth all meanes to serue to his wil. 2 Kng. 9.7. *Or, take vengeaūce.

8 Therefore when Iehú *executed iudgement vpon the house of Aháb, and foūde the princes of Iudáh and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziáh that waited on Ahaziáh, he slewe them also.

9 And he soght Ahaziáh, and they caught hī where he was hid in Samaria, & broght him to Iehú, and slewe him, and buryed him, because, said they, he is the sonne of g Iehoshaphát, which soght the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziáh was not able to reteine the kingdome.

g This was ỹ iuste plague of God, because he ioyned him selfe w Gods enemies: yet God to declare the worthines of Iehoshaphát his grandfather, moued them to giue him ỹ honour of buryal 2.King 12.21.

10 ¶*Therefore when Athaliáh the mother of Ahaziáh sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and h destroyed all the Kings sede of the house of Iudáh.

h So the intēt ỹ there shulde be none to make rule to the crowne, & so she might vsurpe the gouernement.

11 But Iehoshabeáth the daughter of the King, toke Ioásh the sonne of Ahaziáh, and stale him from among the Kings sonnes, that shulde be sleane, and put him and his nurce in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeáth the daughter of King Iehorám the wife of Iehoiadā the Priest (for she waſthe ſiſter of Ahaziáh)hid him from Athaliáh:ſo ſhe ſlewe him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the [i]houſe of God ſix yeres, whiles Athaliáh reigned ouer the [k] land.

i Meaning, in the chamber, where the Prieſts and Leuites ſlept, & kept their courſes weekly in ỹ Tẽple

k To wit, of Iudáh

CHAP. XXIII.

Ioáſh the ſonne of Ahaziáh is made King. 3 Athaliah is put to death 17 The Temple of Báal is deſtroyed. 19 Iehoiadá appoynteth miniſters in the Temple.

2 King. 11, 4.

1 AND* [a] in the ſeuente yere Iehoiadá waxed bolde, and toke the captaines of hundreths, to wit, Azariáh the ſonne of Ierohám, and Iſhmaél the ſonne of Iehohanán, and Azariáh the ſonne of Obéd, and Maaſiáh the ſonne of Adaiáh, and Eliſhaphát the ſonne of Zichrí in couenant with him.

a Of the reigne of Athaliáh, or after ỹ death of Ahaziah.

2 And they went about in Iudáh, & gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudáh, and the chief fathers [b] of Iſraél: and they came to Ieruſalém.

b Meaning of Iudah & Beniamin read why they are called Iſrael, Chap. 15, 17

3 And all the Congregacion made a couenant with the King in the houſe of God: & he ſaid vnto them, Beholde, the Kings ſonne muſte reigne, *as ỹ Lord hathe ſaid of the ſonnes of Dauid.

2. Sam. 7, 12. 1 king. 2, 4. chap. 21, 7.

4 This is it that ye ſhal do, The third parte of you that come on the Sabbath of the Prieſts, and the Leuites, ſhalbe porters of the dores.

5 And another third parte towarde the Kings houſe, and another third parte at the *gate of the [c] fundacion, and all the people ſhalbe in ỹ courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

2. King. 11, 6.

c Which was the chief gate of the Temple toward ỹ East

6 But let none come into the houſe of the Lord, ſaue the Prieſts, and the Leuites that miniſter: they ſhal go in, for they are holy: but all the people ſhal kepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites ſhal compaſſe the Kīg round about, and euerie mā with his weapon in his hand, and he that entreth [d] into the houſe, ſhalbe ſleane, and be you with the King, when he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

d Meaning, to make any tumulte or to hinder their enterpriſe.

8 ¶So the Leuites and all Iudáh did according to all things that Iehoiadá the Prieſt had commanded, and toke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that [e] went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiadá the Prieſt did not diſcharge the courſes.

e Which had finiſhed their courſe on the Sabbath, & to the other part entred to kepe their turne.

9 And Iehoiadá the Prieſt deliuered to the captaines of hundreths ſpeares, and ſhields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the houſe of God.

10 And he cauſed all the people to ſtād (euerie man with his weapon in his hand) from the right ſide of the houſe, to the left ſide of the houſe by the altar and by the [f] houſe rounde about the King.

f Meaning the moſte holy place where ỹ Arke ſtode.

11 Then they broght out the Kings ſonne, and put vpon him the crowne and gaue him the [g] teſtimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiadá and his ſonnes anointed him, and ſaid, God ſaue the King.

g That is, the boke of the Law, or as ſome read, they put vpon him his royal apparel.

12 ¶But when Athaliáh heard the noiſe of the people running and praiſing the King, ſhe came to the people into the houſe of the Lord.

13 And whē [a] ſhe loked, beholde, the King ſtode by his piller at the entring in, & the princes & the trumpets by the King, & all the people of the land reioyced, and blewe the trumpets, and the ſingers were with inſtruments of muſike, and they that colde ſing praiſe: then Athaliáh rent her clothes, and ſaid, [h] Treaſon, treaſon.

a Or, ſawe the King ſtanding.

h Declaring her vile ipudēcie, which hauing vniuſtly, & by murther vſurped the crowne, wolde ſtil haue defeated the true poſſeſſor, and therefore called true obediēce, treaſon.

14 Then Iehoiadá the Prieſt broght out the captaines of hundreths that were gouerners of the hoſte, and ſaid vnto them, Haue her forthe of the ranges, & he that [i] followeth her, let him dye by ỹ ſworde: for the Prieſt had ſaid, Slea her not in the houſe of the Lord.

15 So they layed hands on her: and when ſhe was come to the entring of the horſe-gate by the Kings houſe, thei ſlewe her there.

i To ioyne ẅ her partie, & to maintein her authoritie.

16 ¶And Iehoiadá made a [k] couenant betwene him, and all the people, and the King, that they wolde be the Lords people.

k That they wolde onely ſerue him and renounce all idolatrie

17 And all the people went to the houſe of Báal, and [l] deſtroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and ſlewe [m] Mattán the Prieſt of Báal before the altars.

l According to their couenant made to the Lord

m As the Lord commanded in his Lawe bothe for the perſone and alſo the citie, Deu. 13, 9 & 15

18 And Iehoiadá appointed officers for the houſe of the Lord, vnder the [o] hands of the Prieſts and Leuites, whome Dauid had diſtributed for the houſe of the Lord, to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, *as it is written in the Lawe of Moſes, with reioycing and ſinging by the appointement of Dauid.

o Or, charge.

Numb. 28, 3.

19 And he ſet porters by the gates of the houſe of the Lord, that none that was vncleane in any thing, ſhulde entre in.

20 And he toke the captaines of hundreths, and the noble men, and the gouerners of the people, and all the people of the land, and he cauſed the King to come downe out of the houſe of the Lord, and they went through [n] the hie gate of the Kings houſe, and ſet the King vpon the throne of the kingdome.

n Which was the principal gate, that the King might be ſene of all the people.

21 Then all the people of the land reioyced, & the citie was quiet, [o] after that thei had ſleane Athaliáh with the ſworde.

o For where a tyrant & an idolater reigneth, there can be no quietnes for ỹ plagues of God are euer amōg ſuch people.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Ioáſh repayreth the houſe of the Lord 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie 21 He ſtoneth to death Zecharíah the Prophet 25 Ioáſh is killed of his owne seruants 27 After him reigneth Amaziáh.

2.King. 12,1. IOash* was seuen yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yere in Ierusalém: and his mothers name was Zibiáh of Beer-shéba.

2 And Ioásh did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, all the dayes of [a] Iehoiadá the Prieſt.

a Who was a faithful counſeler, and gouerned him by the worde of God.

3 And Iehoiadá [o] toke him two wiues, and he begate ſonnes and daughters.

o Or, gaue him two wiues.

4 ¶ And afterward it came into Ioásh minde, to renue the houſe of the Lord.

5 And he aſſembled the Prieſtes and the Leuites, & ſaid to them, Go out vnto the cities of Iudáh, and gather of all [b] Israél money to repaire the houſe of your God, from yere to yere, and haſte the thing: but the Leuites haſted not.

b He meaneth not the ten tribes, but onely the two tribes of Iudáh and Beniamin.

6 Therefore the King called Iehoiadá, the [c] chief, and ſaid vnto him, Why haſt thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudáh and Ieruſalém * the taxe of Moſés the ſeruant of the Lord, and of the Congregacion of Israél, for the Tabernacle of the teſtimonie?

c For he was the hie Prieſt.

Exod. 30,13.

7 For [d] wicked Athaliáh, & her children brake vp the houſe of God: and all the things that were dedicate for the houſe of the Lord, did thei beſtowe vpon Baalím.

d The Scripture doeth terme her thus, becauſe ſhe was a cruel murtherer, and a blaſphemous idolatreſſe

8 Therefore the King commanded, * and they made a cheſt, and ſet it at the gate of the houſe of the Lord.

2.King. 12,9.

9 And they made proclamacion through Iudáh and Ieruſalém, to bring vnto the Lord * the taxe of Moſés the ſeruant of God, laid vpon Israél in the wildernes.

Exod. 30,13.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and broght in, and caſt into the cheſt, vntil they had finiſhed.

11 And when it was time, [e] thei broght the cheſt vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they ſawe that there was muche ſiluer, then ỹ Kings Scribe (& one appointed by ỹ hie Prieſt) came and emptied the cheſt, and toke it, and caried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered ſiluer in abundance.

e Such as were truſtie men, whome the king had appointed for that matter.

12 And the King and [f] Iehoiadá gaue it to ſuche as did the labour & worke in the houſe of the Lord, and hyred maſons and carpenters to repaire the houſe of the Lord: they gaue it alſo to workers of yron and braſſe, to repaire the houſe of the Lord.

f Signifying, ỹ this thing was done by aduiſe and counſel, and not by any one mans affection.

13 So the workemen wroght, and the worke [g] amended through their hands: and they reſtored the houſe of God to his ſtate, & ſtrengthened it.

g For a medicine was vpon the worke, meaning, it was repaired.

14 And when they had finiſhed it, they broght the reſt of the ſiluer before the King and Iehoiadá, and he made thereof veſſels for the houſe of the Lord, euen veſſels to miniſter, bothe morters & incenſe cuppes, and veſſels of golde, and of ſiluer: and they offred burntoffrings in the houſe of the Lord continually all the dayes of Iehoiadá.

g For the wicked Kings his preuecessours and Athaliah had deſtroied the veſſels of the ſemple, or turned the to ỹ vſe of their idoles.

15 ¶ But Iehoiadá waxed olde, and was ful of daies and dyed. An hundreth and thirtie yere olde was he when he dyed.

16 And thei buryed him in the citie of Dauid with the [h] Kings, becauſe he had done good in Israél, and toward God and his houſe.

h Signifying, that thei colde not honour hī to muche, who had ſo excellently ſerued in ỹ worke of ỹ Lord, and in the affaires of ỹ cōmune wealth

17 ¶ And after the death of Iehoiadá, came the [i] princes of Iudáh, and did reuerēce to the King, & the King hearkened vnto them.

i Which were flatterers, and knewe now ỹ the King was deſtitute of hī who did watche ouer him as a father, & therefore broght him to moſte vile idolatrie

18 And they left the houſe of the Lord God of their fathers, and ſerued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Iudáh and Ieruſalém, becauſe of this their treſpas.

19 And God ſent Prophetes among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and thei [k] made proteſtation among them, but they wolde not heare.

k They toke heauē & earth and all creatures to witnes, that except they returned to the Lord, he wolde moſte grieuouſly puniſh their infidelitie & rebellion.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zechariáh the ſonne of Iehoiadá the Prieſt, which ſtode [l] aboue the people, and ſaid vnto them, Thus ſaith God, Why tranſgreſſe ye the commandements of ỹ Lord, ſurely it ſhal not proſper: becauſe ye haue forſaken the Lord, he alſo hathe forſaken you.

l In a place aboue the people to the intēt ỹ he might be heard 21 Then they conſpired againſt him and ſtoned him with ſtones at the [m] commandement of the King, in the court of the houſe of the Lord.

m There is no rage ſo cruel & beaſtely as of them whoſe heartes God hathe hardened, and ỹ delite more in ſuperſtition & idolatrie, then in the true ſeruice of God & pure ſimplicitie of his worde n Reuenge my death & require my blood at your hands or he ſpeaketh this by prophecie, becauſe he knewe that God wolde do it This Zacharie is alſo called the ſonne of Barachie Mat 23, 35, becauſe his progenitours were Iddó, Barachiáh, Iehoiadá, &c.

22 Thus Ioásh the King remembred not ỹ kindenes which Iehoiadá his father had done to him, but ſlewe his ſonne. And whē he dyed, he ſaid, The Lord [n] loke vpō it, & require it.

23 ¶ And when the yere was out, the hoſte of Arám came vp againſt him, and thei came againſt Iudah and Ieruſalém, & deſtroyed all the princes of the people frō among the people, and ſent all the ſpoile of them vnto the King of Damaſcus.

24 Thogh the armie of Arám came with a ſmall company of mē, yet the Lord deliuered a very great armie into their hand, becauſe they had forſaken the Lord God of their fathers: and they [o] gaue ſentence againſt Ioáſh.

o That is, reproued & checked him, and handeled him rigorouſly

25 And when thei were departed from him, (for thei left him in great diſeaſes) his owne ſeruants conſpired againſt him for the blood of the [p] children of Iehoiada the Prieſt, and ſlewe him on his bed, and he dyed, and they buryed him in the citie of Dauid: but they buryed him not in the the ſepulchres of the Kings.

26 And the reſt of the actes of Amaziáh, both the firſte and the laſte, behold, are they not writen in the boke of the Kings of Iudáh and Iſráel?

27 From the time that Amaziáh turned away from the LORD, they made a conſpiracie againſt him in Ieruſalém, and he fled to Lachís: but they ſent after him to Lachís, and ſlewe him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horſes, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Iudáh.

CHAP. XXV.

3 Amaziáh putteth them to death which ſlewe his father. 10 He ſendeth backe them of Iſrael. 11 He ouercõmeth the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatrie. 17 And Ioáſh King of Iſrael ouercommeth Amaziáh. 27 He is ſlayne by a conſpiracie.

1 AMaziáh was fiue and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & he reigned nine and twentie yere in * Ieruſalém: & his mothers name was Iehoaddán, of Ieruſalém.

2 And he did [a] vprightly in the eyes of the LORD, but not with a perfite heart.

3 And when the kingdome was eſtabliſhed vnto him, he ſlewe his ſeruants, that had ſlayne the King his father.

4 But he ſlewe not their children, but did, as it is writen in the Law, and in the boke of Moſés, where the LORD commanded, ſaying, * The fathers ſhal not dye for the [b] children, neither ſhal the children dye for the fathers, but euerie man ſhal dye for his owne ſinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziáh aſſembled Iudáh, and made them captaines ouer thouſands, & captaines ouer hundreths according to the houſes of their fathers, throughout all Iudáh and Beniamín: & he nombred them from [c] twentie yere olde and aboue, and founde among them three hundreth thouſand choſen mé, to go forthe to the warre, and to handle ſpeare and ſhield.

6 He hyred alſo an hundreth thouſand valiant men [d] out of Iſráel for an hundreth talents of ſiluer.

7 But a man of God came to him, ſaying, O King, let not the armie of Iſráel go with thee: for the LORD is not [e] with Iſráel, nether with all the houſe of Ephráim.

8 If [f] not, go thou on, do it, make thy ſelfe ſtrõg to the battel, but God ſhal make thee fall before ỹ enemie: for God hathe power to helpe, and to caſt downe.

9 And Amaziah ſaid to the man of God, What ſhal we do then for the hundreth talents, ẅ I haue giuen to the hoſte of Iſraél? Then ỹ man of God anſwered, The LORD is able to [g] giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziáh ſeparated thé, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephráim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly againſt Iudáh, and they returned to their places with great angre.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forthe his people, & went to the ſalt valley, and ſmote of the children of [h] Seír, ten thouſand.

12 And other ten thouſand did the children of Iudáh take aliue, and caryed them to the toppe of a [i] rocke, and caſt thé downe from the toppe of the rocke, and they all burſt to pieces.

13 But the men of the [k] armie, which Amaziáh ſent away, that they ſhulde not go with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Bethhorón, and ſmote thre thouſand of them, and toke muche ſpoyle.

14 Now after that Amaziáh was come frõ the ſlaughter of the Edomites, he broght the gods of the children of Seír, and ſet them vp to be his gods, and [l] worſhiped them, and burned incenſe vnto them.

15 Wherefore the LORD was wroth with Amaziáh, and ſent vnto him a Prophet, which ſaid vnto him, Why haſt ỹ ſoght the gods of the people, which were not able to [m] deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, [n] he ſaid vnto him, Haue thei made thee ỹ Kings counſeler? ceaſe thou: why ſhulde they [o] ſmite thee? And the Prophet ceaſed, but ſaid, I knowe that God hathe determined to deſtroye thee, becauſe thou haſt done this, and haſt not obeyed my counſel.

17 ¶ Then Amaziáh King of Iudáh toke counſél, and ſent to Ioáſh the ſonne of Iehoahaz, the ſonne of Iehú King of Iſraél, ſaying, Come, [p] let vs ſe one another in the face.

18 But Ioáſh King of Iſraél ſent to Amaziáh King of Iudáh, ſaying, The thiſtle that is in Lebanón, ſent to the cedre that is in Lebanón, ſaying, * Giue thy daughter to my ſonne to wife: & the wilde beaſt that was in Lebanón went & trode downe the thiſtle.

19 Thou thinkeſt: lo, thou haſt ſmiten Edóm, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why doeſt thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou ſhuldeſt fall, and Iudáh with thee?

20 But Amaziáh wolde not heare: for [q] it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, becauſe they had ſoght the gods of Edóm.

21 So Ioáſh the King of Iſraél went vp: & he, and Amaziáh King of Iudáh ſawe one another in the face at Bethſhémeſh, which is in Iudáh.

22 And Iudáh was put to the worſe before Iſraél, and they fled euerie man to his tents.

9 Moreouer Vzziáh buylt towres in Ieruſalém at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, & at the *[f] turning, and made them ſtrong. Nehem.3.19. & 24

10 And he buylt towres in the wildernes, and digged many [g] ciſternes: for he had muche cattel bothe in the valleis and plaines, plowmen, and dreſſers of vines in the mountaines, and in [g] Carmél: for he loued houſbandrie.

11 Vzziáh had alſo an hoſte of fighting mẽ that wẽt out to warre by bãdes, according to the counte of their nomber vnder the hand of Ieiél the ſcribe, and Maaſeiáh the ruler, & vnder the hand of Hananiáh, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole [h] nomber of the chief of the families of the valiãt men were two thouſand and ſix hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, thre hundreth and ſeuen thouſand, and fiue hundreth that foght valiantly to helpe the King againſt the enemie.

14 And Vzziáh prepared them throughout all the hoſte, ſhields, and ſpeares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and ſtones to ſling.

15 He made alſo verie [i] artificial engins in Ieruſalém, to be vpon the towres and vpõ the corners, to ſhote arowes and great ſtones: and his name ſpred farre abroade, becauſe God did helpe him meruelouſly, til he was mightie.

16 ¶ But when he was ſtrong, his heart [i] was lift vp to his deſtruction: for he tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord his God, & went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incenſe vpon the altar of incenſe.

[i] Thus proſperite cauſeth men to truſt in them ſelues, & by forgetting him, which is the author thereof, procure their owne perdition.

17 And Azariáh ỹ Prieſt went in after him, and with him foure ſcore Prieſts of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withſtode Vzziáh the King, & ſaid vnto him, * It perteineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incenſe vnto the Lord, but to ỹ Prieſts the ſonnes of Aarón, that are conſecrated for to offer incenſe: [k] go forthe of the Sanctuarie: for thou haſt trãſgreſſed, and thou ſhalt haue none honour of the Lord God. Numb.18.7.

[k] Thogh his zeale ſemed to be good & alſo his intencíõ, yet becauſe they were not gouerned by the worde of God, he did wickedly, and was therefore bothe iuſtely reſiſted & alſo punished.

19 Then Vzziáh was wroth, and had incenſe in his hand to burne it: & while he was wroth with the Prieſts, the leproſie roſe vp in his forehead before the Prieſts in the houſe of the Lord beſide the incẽſe altar.

20 And whẽ Azariáh the chief Prieſt with all the Prieſts loked vpon him, beholde, he was leprous in his forehead, and they cauſed him haſtely to departe thence: and he was euen compelled to go out, becauſe the Lord had ſmiten him.

d This by the iuſte iudgemēt of God Iſraél deſtroyed Iudáh.

9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whoſe name was Odéd) and he went out before the hoſte that came to Samaria, & ſaid vnto them, Beholde, [e] becauſe the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudáh, he hathe deliuered them into your hand, and ye haue ſlaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

e For they thoght they had ouercome them by their owne valiantnes, & did not conſider that God had deliuered them into their hāde, becauſe Iudáh had offended him

10 And now ye purpoſe to kepe vnder the children of Iudáh and Ieruſalém, as ſeruants and handmaides vnto you: but are not you ſuche, that [f] ſinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

f May not God alwel puniſh you for your ſinnes, as he hathe done theſe men for theirs, ſeing yours are greater?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captaines againe, which ye haue take priſoners of your brethren: for ẏ fearce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

12 Wherefore certeine of the chief of the children of [g] Ephráim, Azariáh the ſonne of Iehohanán, Berechiáh the ſonne of Meſhillemóth, and Iehizkiáh the ſonne of Shallúm, and Amaſá the ſonne of Hadlái, ſtode vp againſt them that came from the warre, CHAP. XXX.

1. 13 The keping of the Paſſeouer by the Kings commādement. 6 He exhorteth Iſrael to turne to the Lord. 18 He praieth for the people 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites bleſſe the people

1 AND Hezekiah ſent to all Iſraél, and Iudáh, and alſo wrote letters to [a] Ephraim and Manaſſéh, that thei ſhulde come to the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalém, to kepe the Paſſeouer vnto the Lord God of Iſraél.

a Meaning all Iſrael whome Tilgáth Pilneſar had not taken away into the captiuitie, 2 King 15,29.

2 And the King and his princes and all the Congregacion had taken counſel in Ieruſalém to kepe the Paſſeouer in the [b] ſecōde moneth.

b Though thei ought to haue done it in the firſt moneth, as Exod 12,18 nom 9,3, yet if any were not cleane, or elſe had along iorney, thei might differ it vnto the ſecōde moneth, as Nom, 9,10.

3 For thei colde not kepe it at this time, becauſe there were not Prieſts ynow ſanctified, nether was the people gathered to Ieruſalém.

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregacion.

5 And they decreed to make proclamacion throughout all Israél from c Beersheba euen to Dan, that they shulde come to kepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israél at Ierusalém: for they had not done it of a great time, d as it was written.

c Frō one end of the land to ỹ other, North and South

d In suche sort and perfectiō, as God had appointed.

6 ¶So the postes went with letters by the commission of the King, and his princes, throughout all Israél and Iudáh, and with the commandement of the King, saying, Ye childrē of Israél, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abrahám, Izhák, and Israél, and e he wil returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the Kings of Asshúr.

e He wil haue compassion on them, and preserue them.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate, as ye se.

8 Be not ye now stifnecked like your fathers, but f giue the hād to the Lord & come into his Sāctuarie, which he hathe sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fearcenes of his wrath shal turne away from you.

f Submit your selues to the Lord, and rebelle no more.

9 For if ye returne vnto ỹ Lord, your brethren and your children shal finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shal g returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and wil not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

g God will not onely preserue you, but through your repentance restore your brethren, which for their sinnes he gaue into the handes of the enemies.

10 ¶So the postes went from citie to citie through the land of Ephráim and Manasséh, euen vnto Zebulún: but they h laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

h Though the wicked mocke at the seruants of God, by whome he calleth thē to repentance, 2 Pet. 3.4. yet the worde ceaseth not to frutifie in the eares of Gods children.

11 Nertheles diuers of Asher, and Manasséh, and of Zebulún submitted them selues and came to Ierusalém.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudáh, so that he gaue them one i heart to do the cōmandemēt of the King, and of the rulers, according to the worde of the Lord.

i He sheweth the cause why some obey & some mock at Gods calling, to wit, because his Spirit is with the one sort & not the other. Their heart, & the other are left to themselues.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalém muche people, to kepe the feast of ỹ vnleauened bread in the seconde moneth, a very great assemblie.

14 ¶And they arose, & toke away the k altars that were in Ierusalém: and all those for incense toke they away, and cast them into the broke Kidrón.

k Which declareth that we must put away those things wherewith God is offended, before we can serue him aright.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passeouer the fourtenth day of the seconde moneth: and the Priests and Leuites were l ashamed, and sanctified them selues, and brought the burnt offrings into the house of the Lord.

l Seing their owne negligēce (who shulde haue bene most prompt) & the readines of the people.

16 And they stode in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the m blood, receiued of the hands of the Leuites.

m To wit, of the lambe of the Passeouer.

17 Because there were manie in the Cōgregacion that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of ỹ Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephráim, & Manasséh, Issachár & Zebulún had not clensed them selues, yet did eat the Passeouer, but not as it was writen: wherefore Hezekiáh prayed for them, saying, The n good Lord be merciful toward him, n He knewe, ỹ farth and sincerite of heart was more agreable to God, then the obseruatiō of these ceremonies, & therefore he praied vnto God to pardon this faute vnto the people, which did not offend of malice but of ignorance.

19 That prepareth his whole heart to seke ỹ Lord God, the God of his fathers, thogh he be not clensed, according to the purification of the Sanctuarie.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiáh, & o healed the people.

o That is, did accept thē as purified.

21 And the children of Israél that were present at Ierusalém, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes w great ioye, and the Leuites, and the Priests praised the Lord, day by day, singing with lowde instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiáh p spake comfortably vnto all ỹ Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: & they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, & offred peace offrings, & praised the Lord God of their fathers.

p Ebr. Spake to the heart.

23 And the whole assemblie toke counsel to kepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioye.

24 For Hezekiáh King of Iudáh had giuen to the Congregacion a q thousand bullockes, and seuen thousand shepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregacion a thousand bullockes, and ten thousand shepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

q This great liberalitie declareth how Kings, princes & all they, to whome God hathe giuen wherewith, ought to be most ready to bestowe it in setting forthe of Gods glorie.

25 And all the Congregacio of Iudáh reioyced with the Priests and the Leuites, & all the Congregacion that came out of Israél, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israél, & that dwelt in Iudáh.

26 So there was great ioye in Ierusalém: for since the time of Salomón the sonne of Dauid King of Israél there was not the like thing in Ierusalém.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and r blessed the people, and their voyce was heard, and their prayer came vp vn to heauen, to his holy habitacion.

r According to that which is writen Nō. 6.23, whē they shulde dismisse the people.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroye idolatrie. 2 Hezekiáh appointeth Priests & Leuites. 4 And prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euerie one his portion.

1 AND whē all these thigs were finished, all Israél that were founde in ỹ cities of Iudáh, went out & s brake the images, & cut downe the groues, & brake downe the hie places, and the altars through out all Iudáh & Beniamín, in Ephráim also and Manasséh, s According to the cōmandemēt of the Lord, Deut. 7.5 Ios. 7.1. 2. mac. 12.40.

Manaſſéh, vntil they had made an end: afterward all the [b] childrē of Iſraél returned euerie mā to his poſſeſsion, into their owne cities.

[b] That is, all they which came to the Paſſeouer.

2 And Hezekiáh appointed the courſes of the Prieſts and Leuites by their turnes, euerie man according to his office, both Prieſts & Leuites, for the burnt offring & peace offrings, to miniſter & to giue thankes, and to praiſe in the gates of the [c] tents of the Lord.

[c] That is, in ỹ Temple where they aſſembled as in a tent

3 (And the Kings porcion was of his owne ſubſtance for the burnt offrings, euen for the burnt offrīgs of the morning & of the euening, and the burnt offrings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, & for the ſolemne feaſtes, * as it is writen in the Law of the Lord)

Nom. 28. 3. & 9.

4 He commāded alſo the people that dwelt in Ieruſalém, to giue a [d] parte to the Prieſts, and Leuites, that they might be [e] encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

[d] The tithes & firſt frutes for the maintenāce of ỹ Prieſts and Leuites

[e] That their mindes might not be intangled with prouiſion of wordely thīgs but ỹ they might wholy & chefully ſerue the Lord

5 ¶ And whē the commāderm nt was ſpred, the children of Iſraél broght abundance of firſt frutes, of corne, wine, & oyle, & honie, & of all the increaſe of the field, and the tithes of all things broght they abundantly.

Or, publiſhed

6 And the childrē of Iſraél & Iudáh that dwelt in ỹ cities of Iudah, they alſo broght the tithes of bullockes and ſhepe, and the holy tithes [f] w̄ were cōſecrate vnto ỹ Lord their God, & laid them on [g] many heapes.

[f] Which they had dedicate to the Lord by a vowe

[g] For the relief of the Prieſts, Leuites, widowes, pupills, fatherleſſe, ſtrangers & ſuche as were in neceſsitie

7 In the third moneth they began to laye the fundacion of the heapes, and finiſhed them in the ſeuent moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiáh & the princes came, and ſawe the heapes, they [h] bleſſed the Lord and his people Iſraél.

[h] They praiſed the Lord, and prayed for all proſperitie to his people

9 And Hezekiáh queſtioned [w] the Prieſts and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariáh ỹ chief Prieſt of the houſe of Zadók anſwered him, & ſaid, Since the people begā to bring the offrings into the houſe of the Lord, we haue [i] eaten & haue bene ſatiſficed, & there is left in abū dāce: for the Lord hathe bleſſed his people, and this abundance that is left.

[i] He ſheweth that this plēteous liberalitie is expedīēt for ỹ maintenance of the miniſters, and that God therefore proſpereth his people, & increaſeth by his bleſsing that which is giuē.

11 ¶ And Hezekiáh cōmanded to prepare chambers in the houſe of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caryed in the firſt frutes, and the tithes, & the dedicate things faithfully: & ouer thē was Conaniáh the Leuite, ỹ chief, and Shimeí his brother the ſeconde.

13 And Iehiél, and Azaziáh, & Náhath, & Aſahél, & Ierimóth, and Iozabád, and Eliél, and Iſmachiáh, and Máhath, and Benaiáh were ouerſeers "by the appointement of Conaniáh, and Shimeí his brother, & by the cōmandement of Hezekiáh the King, and of Azariáh the chief of the houſe of God.

"Ebr. by the hand.

14 And Koré the ſōne of Imnáh the Leuite porter toward the Eaſt, was ouer the things ỹ were willingly offred vnto God, to diſtribute the oblations of the Lord, & the holy things that were conſecrate.

15 And at his hand were Edén, & Miniamín, & Ieſhúa, & Shemaiah, Amariáh, and Shechaniáh, in the cities of the Prieſts, to diſtribute with fidelitie to their brethrē by courſes, bothe to the great and ſmall, 16 Their daily porcion: beſide their generacion being males [k] from three yer olde and aboue, euen to all that entred into the houſe of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courſes:

[k] Who had alſo a portion & alowance in this diſtribution.

17 Bothe to the generacīō of the Prieſts after the houſe of their fathers, & to the Leuites from twentie yere olde & aboue, according to their charge in therr courſes:

18 And to the generacion of all their children, their wiues, & their ſonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregacion: for by their [l] fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

[l] Meanīg, that ether by the faithful diſtributions of the officers, euerie one had their parte in the thīgs that were offred, or els that their wiues & childrē were relieued, becauſe the Leuites were faithful in their office, and ſo depended on them.

19 Alſo to the ſonnes of Aarón, the Prieſts, which were in ỹ fields & ſuburbes of their cities, in euerie citie the men that were appointed by names, ſhulde giue porcions to all the males of the Prieſts, and to all the generacion of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiáh throughout all Iudáh, and did wel, and vprightly, & truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that he began for the ſeruice of the houſe of God, bothe in the Law and in the commandements, to ſéke his God, he did it with all his heart, & proſpered.

CHAP. XXXII.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and 7 Be strong and courageous: feare not, nether be afraied for the King of Asshur, nether for all the multitude that is with him: for there be mo with vs, then is with him.

d That is, the power of man e This declareth that Ezekiah did euer put his trust in God, and yet made him self strong and vsed lawful meanes, lest he shulde seme to tempt God: 2 Kin. 18. 17.

8 With him is an d arme of flesh, but with vs is the e Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah King of Iudah.

f While he beseged Lachish.

9 *After this, did Sanneherib King of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalém (while he was f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalém, saying,

10 Thus saith Sanneherib the King of Asshur, Wherein do ye trust, that ye wil remaine in Ierusalém, during the siege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine & by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shal deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Asshur?

g This wicked put no difference betwene true religion & false, God & idoles: for Hezekiah onely destroied idolatrie & placed true religion thus ỹ Papists slander the seruats of God for when they destroie idolatrie, they say that they abolish religion

12 Hathe not ỹ same Hezekiah take awaie his hie places and his g altars and commanded Iudah and Ierusalém, saying, Ye shal worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreies? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

h This is his blasphemie, ỹ he wil compare the liuig God to vile idoles

14 Who is he of all the h gods of those nacions (that my fathers haue destroied) that colde deliuer his people out of mine hand? that your God shulde be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

i When man hathe prosperitie, he swelleth in pride and thinketh him self able to resist and ouercome eue God him self. k Herein wese that when ỹ wicked speake euil of the seruants of God, they care not to blaspheme God him self. for if they feared God, they wolde loue his seruants.

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sorte, nether beléue ye him: for none of all ỹ gods of any nacion or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of i mine hand and out of ỹ hand of my fathers: how muche lesse shal your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, & against his k seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israél and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nacions of other countreis colde not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shal not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

l Their wordes are writē 2 King 18. 3.

18 Then they l cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speache vnto the people of Ierusalém that were on the wall, to feare thē and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalém, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the m workes of mans hands, m Which were inuēted, made and autorized by man

20 But Hezekiah the King, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz n praied against this and cryed to heauen.

n This sheweth what is ỹ best refuge in all troubles & dangers.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroied all the valiant men, and the prices and o captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so he returned "with shame to his owne land. And when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forthe of his owne bowels, slewe him there with the sworde.

o To the nomber of an hundreth fourescore and fiue thousand, as 2 King 19. 35.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalém from the hand of Sanneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and p mainteined thē on euerie side.

p Meanig, Adramelech, and Sharezer his sonnes.

23 And many broght offrings vnto ỹ Lord to Ierusalém, and presents to Hezekiah King of Iudah, so that he was q magnified in the sight of all nacions from thence forthe.

o Or, gouerned.

q This after trouble, God sendeth cōfort to all them ỹ patiētly waite on him, and cōfirmeth their trust in his mercies

24 *In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and praied vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him r a signe.

2. King 20. 1. Isa. 38. 1

25 But Hezekiah did not rendre accordig to the rewarde bestowed vpon him: for his heart s was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalém.

r To confirme his faith in Gods promes, who declared so him by his Prophet that his life shulde be prolonged fifteene yere 26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalém, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the daies of Hezekiah.

s He was lifted vp with ỹ pride of his victorie & treasures & shewed them for an ostentation to the ambassadours of Babylon.

27 Hezekiah also had excedig muche riches & honour, & he gate him treasures of siluer, & of golde, and of precious stones, & of swete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for the increase of wheat, and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beastes, and t rowes for the stables.

t Or, ranges, and partitions.
u Or, packes.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of shepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceding muche.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of u Gihon, and led thē streight vnderneth toward ỹ citie of Dauid Westward. so Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

u Which also was called Siloe, whereof mention is made Isa 8. 6. Ioh 9. 7.

31 But becauſe of the ambaſſadours of the princes of Babél, which ſent vnto him to enquire of the wondre that was done in the land, God left him to [u] trye him, & to knowe all that was in his heart.

u Here we ſe the cauſe, why the faithful are tempted, ẅ as to trye whether they haue faith or no, and that they may fele the preſence of God, who ſuffreth them not to be ouercome by tentacions, but in their weakenes miniſtreth ſtrength.

32 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Hezekiáh, and his goodnes, beholde, they are writen in the viſion of Iſhaiáh the Prophet, the ſonne of Amóz, in the boke of the Kings of Iudáh and Iſraél.

33 So Hezekiáh ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in the higheſt ſepulchre of the ſonnes of Dauid: and all Iudáh and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém did him honour at his death. and Manaſséh his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manaſséh an idolater 9 He cauſeth Iudáh to erre. 11 He is led away priſoner into Babylón. 12 He praieth to the Lord, and is deliuered 14 He aboliſheth idolatrie, 16 And ſetteth vp true religion 20 He dyeth and Amon his ſonne ſuccedeth, 24 Whome his owne ſeruants ſlay.

2.King.21.1 1 MAnaſſéh was twelue yere olde, * whē he began to reigne, and he reigned fiue and fiftie yere in Ieruſalém:

2 And he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, like the abominacions of the heathen, Deut.18.9. * whome the Lord had caſt out before the children of Iſraél.

3 For he went backe and buylt the hie places, * which Hezekiáh his father had broken downe: * and he ſet vp altars for Baalím, and made groues, and worſhiped all the hoſte of the heauen, and ſerued them. 2 King.18.4. Iere 32.34

4 Alſo he buylt altars in the houſe of the Lord, whereof the Lord had ſaid, * In Ieruſalém ſhal my Name be for euer. 2.King 21.5.

5 And he buylt altars for all the hoſte of the heauē in the two courtes of the houſe of the Lord.

a Read 2 King 16.3. 6 [a] And he cauſed his ſonnes to paſſe through ỹ fyre in the valley of Ben-hinnóm: he gaue him ſelfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to ſorcerie, and he vſed them that had familiar ſpirits, and ſothe-ſayers: he did verie muche euil in ỹ ſight of the Lord to angre him.

7 He put alſo the karued image, which he had made, in the houſe of God: whereof God had ſaid to Dauid and to Salomón his ſonne, * In this houſe & in Ieruſalém, 2 King 8.29. & 9.3.2 king 7.10. & 21.7. which I haue choſen before all the tribes of Iſraél, wil I put my Name for euer,

2.Sam.7.10. 8 Nether wil * I make the foote of Iſraél to remoue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, ſo that they take hede, & do all that I haue commanded them, according to the Law and ſtatutes and iudgements by the [b] hand of Moſés.

b By the charge giuē to Moſes.

9 So Manaſséh made Iudáh and the inhabitāts of Ieruſalém to erre, & to do worſe then the heathen, whome the Lord had deſtroyed before the children of Iſraél.

10 ¶ And the Lord ſpake [c] to Manaſséh & to his people, but they wolde not regarde.

c Meaning, by his Prophetes, but their hearts were not touched to beleue & repent without the ẅ the preaching of the worde taketh no place.

11 Wherefore the Lord broght vpon them the captaines of the hoſte of the King of Aſſhúr, which toke Manaſséh & put him in fetters, and bounde him in chaines, and caryed him to Babél.

12 And when he was in tribulaciō, he prayed to the Lord his God, and humbled him ſelfe greatly before ỹ God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him. and God was [d] entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and broght him againe to Ieruſalém into his kingdome: thē Manaſséh knewe that the Lord was God.

d Thus affliction goeth vnderſtāding: for he that hated God in his proſperitie, now in his miſerie he ſeketh vnto him 14 Now after this he buylt a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the Weſtſide of [e] Gihón in the valley, euē at the entrie of the fiſh gate, & compaſſed about [f] Ophél, and raiſed it very hie, and put captaines of warre in all the ſtrong cities of Iudáh.

e Read Chap. 32.30.
f Read Chap. 27.3.

15 And he toke away the ſtrange gods and the image out of the houſe of the Lord, and all the altars that he had buylt in the mount of the houſe of the Lord, and in Ieruſalém, and caſt them out of the citie.

16 Alſo he prepared the [g] altar of ỹ Lord, and ſacrificed thereon peace offrings, and of thankes, and commanded Iudáh to ſerue the Lord God of Iſraél.

g Which Salomón had cauſed to be made.

17 Neuertheles the people did ſacrifice ſtil in the hie places, but vnto ỹ [h] Lord their God.

h Thus by ignorance they were deceiued thinking it nothing to kepe the altars, ſo that they worſhiped God: but it is idolatrie to worſhip God anie otherwiſe then he hathe appointed 18 ¶ Concerning the reſt of the actes of Manaſséh, and his [i] prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that ſpake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Iſraél, beholde, they are writen in the boke of the Kings of Iſraél.

i Which albeit that it is not contemned in the Ebrew, yet becauſe it is here mēcioned & is writē in the Greke, we haue placed it in ỹ end of this boke. Or, Hozai.

19 And his prayer and how God was intreated of him, and all his ſinne, and his treſpaſſe, and the places wherein he buylt hie places, and ſet groues and images (before he was humbled) beholde, they are writen in the boke of [k] the Seers.

20 So Manaſséh ſlept with his fathers, and they buryed him in his owne [l] houſe: and Amón his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

k Becauſe he had ſo horribly offended againſt ỹ Lord, they did not burye him in ỹ ſepulchres of the kings, but in the garden of the Kings houſe.

21 ¶ Amón was two and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yere in Ieruſalém.

22 But he did euil in the ſight of the Lord, as did Manaſséh his father. for Amón ſacrificed to all the images, which Manaſséh his father had made, and ſerued them, 23 And he humbled not him ſelf before the Lord, as Manaſséh his father had humbled him ſelfe: but this Amón treſpaſſed more and more.

24 And his ſeruants * conſpired againſt him, and ſlewe him in his owne houſe. 2.King.21.23

25 But the people of the land slewe all thē that had conspired against King Amón: and the people of the land made Iosiáh his sonne King in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Iosiáh destroyeth the idoles, 8 And restoreth the Temple. 14 The boke of the Lawe is founde. 21 He sendeth to Huldáh the prophetesse for counsel. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a couenant with God.

2.King.22.1. 1 IOsiáh * was eight yere olde whē he began to reigne, and he reigned in Ierusalém one and thirtie yere.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of [a] Dauid his father, and bowed nether to the right hand nor to the left.

a He followed Dauid in all poyntes that he followed ỹ Lord.

3 And in the eight yere of his reigne (when he was yet a [b] childe) he began to seke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yere he began to purge Iudáh, and Ierusalém from the hie places, and the groues, and the kerued images, and molte images:

b When he was but sixteene yere olde, he shewed him selfe zealous of Gods glorie, & at twēte yere olde he abolished idolatrie and restored ỹ true religion

4 And they brake downe [c] in his sight the altars of Baalím, and he caused to cut downe the images that were on hie vpon them: he brake also the groues, & the kerued images, and the molten images, and stampt them to poudre, and strowed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

c Which sheweth that he wolde se the reformacion w his owne eies.

d Read 2.Kig. 23,16. 5 Also he burnt the [d] bones of the Priests vpon their altars, and purged Iudáh and Ierusalém.

6 And in ỹ cities of Manasséh, & Ephráim, and Simeón, euen vnto Naphtalí, with their maules they brake all rounde about.

e This great zeale of this godlie King ỹ holie Gost setteth forthe as an example & paterne to other Kings & rulers, to teache thē what God requireth of them.

7 And when he had [e] destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to poudre the images, and had cut downe all the idoles throughout all the land of Israél, he returned to Ierusalém.

8 ¶ * Then in the eightente yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphán the sonne of Azaliáh, and Maaseáh the gouernour of the citie, and Ioáh the sonne of Ioaház the recorder, to repare the house of the Lord his God.

*2.King 22,3.

9 And when they came to Hilkiáh the hie Priest, they deliuered the money that was broght into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the dore, had gathered at the hand of Manasséh, and Ephráim, & of all the residue of Israél, and of all Iudáh and Beniamín, and [f] of the inhabitáts of Ierusalém.

f Or, they returned to Ierusalem, meaning, Shaphan, &c.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that shulde do the worke & had the oversight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workemen that wroght in the house of the Lord, to repaire & amende the house.

11 Euen to the workemen & to the buylders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone and timber for couples & for beames of the [f] houses, which the Kings of Iudáh had destroyed.

f For there were many portions and pieces annexed to the Temple 12 And the men did the worke [g] faithfully, and the ouerseers of them were Iaháth and Obadiáh the Leuites, of the children of Merarí, and Zechariáh, and Meshullám, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forwarde: and of the Leuites all that colde skil of instruments of musike.

g Meaning, ỹ they were in suche credite for their fidelitie, that they made none accōptes of that which they receiued. 2.Kig. 22,9.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdēs, and them that set forwarde all the workemen in euerie worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, & officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they broght out the money that was broght into the house of the Lord, Hilkiáh the Priest foūde the [h] boke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hād of Mosés.

h Read 2 Kig. 22,8.

15 Therefore Hilkiáh answered and said to Shaphán the chanceler, I haue founde the boke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiáh gaue the boke to Shaphán.

16 And Shaphán caryed the boke to [i] the King, and broght the King worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

i For ỹ King was commanded to haue continually a copie of this boke, & to read therein day & night, Deut. 17,18.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shāphán the chanceler declared to the King, saying, Hilkiáh the Priest hathe giuen me a boke, & Shaphán read it before the King.

19 And when the King had heard the wordes of the Lawe, he [k] tare his clothes.

k For sorow that ỹ worde of God had bene so long suppressed, and ỹ people kept in ignorance, cōsidering also the curses cōteined therein against ỹ trāsgressours.

20 And the King commanded Hilkiáh, and Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, & Abdón the sonne of Micáh, & Shaphán the chanceler, and Asaiáh the Kings seruant, saying, 21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israél and Iudáh, concerning the wordes of this boke that is founde: for great is the wrath of the Lord ỹ is fallen vpon vs, because our [l] fathers haue not kept the worde of the Lord, to do after all that is writen in this boke.

l Thus ỹ godlie do not only lament their owne sinnes, but also that their fathers and predecessours haue offended God.

22 Then Hilkiáh and they that the King had appointed, went to Huldáh the prophetesse the wife of Shallúm, the sonne of [m] Tokháth, the sonne of [m] Hasráh keper of the [n] wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalém within the [n] colledge) and they communed hereof with her.

n Meaning, either of the Priests apparel, or of the Kings

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Tel ye [o] the man that sent you to me, n Read hereof 2 King. 22, 15

o That is, to the King.

24 Thus

24 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil brīg euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, euen all the curses, that are writen in the boke which they haue red before the King of Iudáh: 25 Because they haue forsakē me, and burnt incēse vnto other gods, to angre me with all the workes of their p hands, therefore shal my wrath fall vpon this place, & shal not be quenched.
26 But to the King of Iudáh, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shal ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, The wordes which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.
27 But because thine heart did q melt, and thou dideſt humble thy self before God, whē thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy seife before me and tarest thy clothes, and wepteſt before me,
I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.
28 Beholde, I wil gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shal not se all the euil, which I wil bring vpon this r place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King worde againe.
29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalém.
30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, and all the men of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ierusalém, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all the people frō the greatest to the s smallest, and he red in their eares all the wordes of the boke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lord.
31 And the King stode by his piller, and made a couenant before the Lord, to wal-ke after the Lord, and to kepe his commā-dements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, & ỹ he wolde accōplish the wordes of the couenant writen in the same boke.
32 And he caused all that were founde in Ierusalém, and Beniamín to stand to it: & the inhabitants of Ierusalém did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.
33 So Iosiáh toke away all the abominacions out of all the countreis that pertened to the children of Israél, and compelled all t that were found in Israél, to serue the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

p This she speaketh in cōtempt of the idolaters, who contraerie to reason and nature make their a god, which they haue mi-de, and framed with their owne hands

q This declareth what is ỹ end of Gods threatnings, to call his to repentance, & to assure the vnrepentant of their destruction.

r It may appeare that very fewe were touched w̄ true repentance, seing that God sparcd thē for a time onely for the Kings sake.

s Forasmuch as neither yōg nor olde could be excepted frō the curses cōteined therein, if they did trans'gresse, he knewe it appertained to all & was his duetie to se it red to all sortes, that euerie one might learne to auoyde those punishements by serving God aright.

t Because he had charge ouer all & must answer for euerie one that perished, he thought it his duetie to se ỹ all shulde make professiō to receiue the worde of God

CHAP. XXXV.

Iosiáh kepeth the Passeouer. 2 He setteth for the Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the King of Egypt, & dyeth. 24 The people bewayle him.

2 King 23,21 1 MOreouer u Iosiáh kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalém, & they slewe the a Passeouer in the fourtente day of the first moneth.
2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and incouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord, 3 And he said vnto ỹ Leuites, that b taught all Israél and were sanctified vnto ỹ Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Sa-lomón the sonne of Dauid King of Is-raél did buyld: it shal be no more a c burden vpon your shulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israél, 4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as *Dauid the King of Israél hathe writen, & according to the writing of Salomón his sonne, 5 And stand in the Sanctuarie according to the diuisiō of the familes of your brethren "the children of the people, and after the diuision of the familie of the Leuites: 6 So kil the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and d prepare your brethren that they may do according to the worde of the Lord by the hand of Moses.
7 Iosiah also gaue to the "people shepe, lā-bes and kidds, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the nomber of thirty thousand, & thre thousand bullockkes: these were of the Kings substance.
8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests & to the Leuites: Hilkiáh, and Zechariáh, and Iehiél, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto ỹ Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and six hundreth shepe, & thre hūdreth bullockes.
9 e Conaniáh also and Shemaiáh and Ne-thanēl his brethren, and Hashabiáh and Ieiél, & Iozabád, chief of the Leuites ga-ue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fyue thousand shepe, & fyue hūdreth bullockes.
10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stode in their places, also the Leuites in their ordres according to the Kings commandement:
11 And they slewe the Passeouer, & ỹ Priests f sprinkled the blood with their hands, & the Leuites slayed them.
12 And they toke away from the g burnt offring to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is writen in the boke of Moses, & so of ỹ bullockes.
13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fy-re, according to the custome, but the san-ctified things they sod in pottes, panns, and caulderns, & distributed them quickely to all the people.
14 Afterwarde also they prepared for thē selues & for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aarón were occupied in offring of burnt offrigs, & the fat vntil night therefore the Leuites prepared for thē selues, &

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to kepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiáh.

17 And the childrē of Israél that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that, in Israél, from the dayes of Samuél the Prophet: nether did all ẏ Kings of Israél kepe suche a Passeouer as Iosiáh kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, & all Iudáh, and Israél that were "present, and the inhabitants of Ieruselém.

23 And the shoters shot at King Iosiáh: thē the King said to his seruants, Cary me away, for I am very sicke.

24 So his seruants toke him out of that charet, & put him in the seconde charet which he had, and when they had broght him to Ieruselém, he dyed, and was buryed in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudáh and Ieruselém m mourned for Iosiáh.

THE PRAYER OF MANASSÉH King of the Iewes.

The prayer is not in the Ebrewe, but tranſlated out of the Greke.

O Lord almightie, God of our fathers, Abram, Iſaac and Iacob, and of their righteous ſede, which haſt made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which haſt bound the ſea by the worde of thy commandement, which haſt ſhut vp the depe and ſealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whome all do feare & tremble before thy power: for the maieſtie of thy glorie can not be borne, & thine angrie threatning toward ſinners is importable, but thy merciful promes is vnmeaſurable & vnſearcheable. For thou art the moſte high Lord, of great compaſsiō, long ſuffring & moſte merciful, & repēteſt for mās miſeries. Thou, ô Lord, accordīg to thy great goodnes haſt promiſed a repentance & forgiuenes to them that ſinne againſt thee, & for thine infinite mercies haſt appointed repentance vnto ſinners that thei may be ſaued. Thou therefore, ô Lord, that art the God of the iuſte, haſt not appointed repentance to the iuſte, as to Abram, and Iſaac and Iacob, which haue not b ſinned againſt thee, but thou haſt appointed repentance vnto me that am a ſinner: for I haue ſinned aboue the nōber of the ſand of the ſea. My tranſgreſsions, ô Lord, are multiplied: my tranſgreſsions are exceding many: and I am not worthy to beholde & ſe the height of the heauēs for the multitude of mine vnrighteouſnes. I am bowed downe with many yrō bādes, that I cā not lift vp mine head, nether haue any releaſe. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euil before thee. I did not thy wil, nether kept I thy commandements. I haue ſet vp abominations & haue multiplied offenſes. Now therefore I bowe the kne of mine heart, beſechīg thee of grace. I haue ſinned, ô Lord, I haue ſinned, & I acknowledge my trāſgreſsiōs: but I humbly beſeche thee, forgiue me: ô Lord, forgiue me, & deſtroye me not with my tranſgreſsions. Be not angry with me for euer by reſeruing euil for me, nether condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt ſhewe all thy goodnes: for thou wilt ſaue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I wil praiſe thee for euer all the dayes of my life. for all the power of the heauens praiſe thee, & thine is the glorie for euer & euer, Amen.

a Thou haſt promiſed that repētance ſhal be the way for thē to returne to thee

b He ſpeaketh this in cōparīſon of him ſelfe & thoſe holy fathers which haue their commēdacion in the Scriptures, ſo that in reſpect of him ſelf he calleth their ſinnes no thing, but attributeth vnto them righteouſnes

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer merciful vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they shulde se their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the worlde and aspire vnto the heauens. so after that he had visited the Iewes and kept thē now in londage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infideles and idolaters, he remembred his tendre mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and moued bothe the heart of the chief ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished suche, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding lest they shulde growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he keepeth them stil in exercise, and raiseth domestical enemies, which endeuour as muche as they can to hindre their moste wortlie enterprises: yet by the exhortacion of the Prophetes they went forward by litle and litle til their worke was finished. The autor of this boke was Ezrá, who was Priest, and scribe of the Law, as chap. 7, 6. he returned to Ierusalém the sixt yere of Darius, who succeded Cyrus, that is, more then fourtie yeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabél, when the Temple was buylt. He broght with him a great companie, and muche treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all suche things as shulde be necessarie for the Temple: and at his cōming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good ordre.

1 NOw *in a ẏ first yere of Cyrus King of Persia (ẏ the worde of the Lord, spoken by the b mouth of Ieremiah, might be accōplished) the Lord stirred vp the c spirit of Cyrus King of Persia, and he made a proclamacion through all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus King of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hathe giuen me d all the kingdomes of the earth, and he hathe commanded me to buyld him an house in Ierusalém, which is in Iudáh.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is? let him go vp to Ierusalém which is in Iudáh, and buyld the house of the Lord God of Israél: he is the God, which is in Ierusalém.

4 And euerie one that remaineth in anie place (where he sojourneth) e let the men of his place relieue him with siluer & with golde, and with substance, & with cattel, f and with a willing offring, for the house of God that is in Ierusalém.

5 Then the chief fathers of Iudáh & Beniamín, & the Priests & Leuites rose vp, with all thē whose spirit God had raised to go vp, to buyld the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalém.

6 And all g they that were about thē, strēgthened their hands with vessels of siluer, with golde, with substance & with cattel, & with precious thīgs, besides all that was willingly offred.

2 Then Zerubbabél the ſonne of Shealtiél, & Ieſhúa the ſonne of Iozadák aroſe, and began to buylde thè houſe of God at Ieruſalém, and with them were the Prophetes of God, which a helped them.

a Which incouraged thẽ to go forward & accuſed thẽ that they were more careful to buylde their owne houſes, then zealous to buylde the tẽple of God.

3 ¶ At the ſame time came to them Tatnái, which was captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shether-boznái and their companions, & ſaid thus vnto them, Who hathe giuen you commandemẽt to buylde this houſe, and to lay the fundacions of theſe walles?

4 b Then ſaid we vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the men that buylde this buylding?

b That is, the enemies aſked this, as ver. 10.

5 But the c eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Iewes, that they colde not cauſe them to ceaſe, til the matter came to Darius: and then they anſwered by letters thereunto.

c His fauour & the ſtrut of ſtrength

6 The copie of the lettre, that Tatnái captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether boznai and his companions Apharſechaié, (which wer beyonde the Riuer) ſent vnto King Darius.

7 They ſent a lettre vnto him, wherein it was writen thus, VNTO DARIVS the King, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the King, that we wēt into the prouince of Iudea, to the houſe of the great God, which is buylded with [o] great ſtones, and beames are layed in the walles, and this worke is wroght ſpedely, and proſpereth in their hands.

9 Then aſked we thoſe Elders, and ſaid vnto them thus, Who hathe giuen you commandement to buyld this houſe, and to laye the fundacion of theſe walles?

10 We aſked their names alſo, ỹ we might certifie thee, & that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But thei anſwered vs thus, & ſaid, We are the ſeruants of ỹ God of heauen & earth, & buyld the houſe that was buylt of olde [d] many yeres ago, which a [d] great King of Iſraél *buylded, & founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath, *he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzár King of Babél the Caldean, and he deſtroyed this houſe, and caryed the people away captiue vnto Babél.

13 But in the [e] firſt yere of Cyrus King of Babél, Kīg Cyrus made a decree to buyld this houſe of God.

14 And the veſſels of golde & ſiluer of the houſe of God, which Nebuchadnezzár toke out of the Tẽple, that was in Ieruſalém, and broght them into the Temple of Babél, thoſe did Cyrus the King take out of the Tẽple of Babél, & they gaue them vnto one [f] Sheſhbazzár by his name, whome he had made captaine.

15 And he ſaid vnto him, Take theſe veſſels and go thy way, & put them in the Temple that is in Ieruſalém, and let the houſe of God be buylt in his place.

16 Then came the ſame Sheſhbazzár and layed the fundacion of the houſe of God, which is in Ieruſalém, and ſince that time euen vntil now, hathe it bene in buylding, yet is it not finiſhed.

17 Now therefore if it pleaſe the King, let there be ſearche made in the houſe of the Kings [g] treaſures, which is there in Babél, whether a decree hathe bene made by King Cyrus, to buylde this houſe of God in Ieruſalém, and let the King ſend his minde concerning this.

At the commandement of Darius King of Perſia, after the Temple was buylded and dedicate, the children of Iſraél kepe the feaſt of vnleauened bread.

1 THen *King Darius gaue commandement, and they made ſearche in the "librarie of the treaſures, which were there layed vp in Babél.

2 And there was founde in a [a] coffre (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, & therein was it thus writē, as a memorial,

3 IN THE FIRST yere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the houſe of God in Ieruſalém, Let the houſe be buylt, euen the place where they offred ſacrifices, & let the walles thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be thre ſcore cubites, & the breadth thereof thre ſcore cubites, 4 Thre [o] orders of [o] great ſtones, and one order of tymbre, and let the expences be giuen of the Kings houſe.

5 And alſo let them render ỹ veſſels of the houſe of God (of golde & ſiluer, ẅ Nebuchadnezzár toke out of the Tẽple, which was in Ieruſalém, and broght vnto Babél) and let [b] him go vnto the Temple that is in Ieruſalém to his place and put them in the houſe of God.

6 Therefore Tatnái captaine beyonde the Riuer, and Shethár Boznái, (& their companions Apharſecaié, which are beyonde the Riuer) be ye farre [c] from thence.

7 Suffre ye the worke of this houſe of God, that the captaine of the Iewes & the Elders of the Iewes may buylde this houſe of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what ye ſhal do to the Elders of theſe Iewes for the buylding of this houſe of God, that of the reuenues of the King, which is of the tribute beyonde the Riuer, there be incontinently expenſes giuen vnto theſe mē that they [d] ceaſe not.

9 And that which thei ſhal haue nede of, let it be giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be yong bullockes, or rams, or lambs for the burnt offrings of the God of heauen, wheat, ſalt, wine, & oyle, according to the appointemēt of the Prieſts that are in Ieruſalém, that there be no faute,

10 That they may haue to offer ſwete odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the Kings life, and for his ſonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, ỹ whoſoeuer ſhal alter this ſentence, the wood ſhal be pulled downe from his houſe, and ſhalbe ſet vp, & he ſhal be hanged thereon, & his houſe ſhal be made a dung hil for this.

12 And the God that hathe cauſed his Name [e] to dwel there, deſtroye all Kings and peopie that put to their hand to alter, and to deſtroye this houſe of God, which is in Ieruſalém. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with ſpede.

13 ¶ *Then Tatnái the captaine beyonde the Riuer, & Shethár Boznái and their cōpanions, according to that which Darius had ſent, ſo thei did ſpedely.

16 ¶ And the children of Isráél, the Priests, & the Leuites, and the residue of the children of the captiuitie kept the dedicacion of this house of God with ioye, 17 And offred at the dedicacion of this house of God an hundreth bullockes, two hundreth rams, fourehundreth lambes & twelue goates, for the sinne of all Isráél, according to the nomber of the tribes of Isaél.

18 And they set the Priests in their ordre, and the Leuites in their courses ouer the seruice of God in Ierusalém, as it is writen in the* boke of Moses.

Nomb. 3. 6. & 8. 9.

19 And the children of the captiuitie kept the Passeouer on the fourtente day of the first moneth.

20 (For the Priests & the Leuites were purified all together) & they killed the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, & for their brethren the Priests, & for themselues.

i Which were of the heathe and forsaked their idolatrie to worship the true God

21 So the children of Isráél which were come againe out of captiuitie, and all suche as had i separated themselues vnto them, from the filthines of the heathen of the lánd, to seke ỹ Lord God of Isráél, did eat, 22 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes with ioye: for the Lord had made them glad, and turned the heart of the King of k Asshúr vnto them, to "incourage them in the worke of the house of God, euen the God of Isráél.

CHAP. VII.

7 By the commãdement of the King, Ezrá and his companiõs come to Ierusalem. 27 He giueth thãkes to God.

NOw after these things, in the reigne of a Artahshásháte King of Persia, was Ezrá the sonne of Seraiáh, the sonne of Azariáh, the sonne of Hilkiáh, a The Ebrewes write, that diuers of the Kings of Persia were called by this name as Pharaóh was a cõmune name to the Kings of Egypt, and Cesar to ỹ Emperours Romain

2 The sonne of Shalúm, the sonne of Zadók, the sonne of Ahitúb, b Ezrá deduceth his kinred, til he cõmeth to Aarón, to proue that he came of him

3 The sonne of Amariáh, the sonne of Azariáh, the sonne of Meraióth, c He sheweth here what a scribe is, who had charge to write the Law & to expõnde it, whom Marke calleth a scribe, Mar. 12, 28 Mat and Luke call him a lawyer, or doctor of the Law, Mat 22, 35 Luk 10, 25

4 The sonne of Zeraiáh, the sonne of Vzzí, the sonne of Bukkí,

5 The sonne of Abishúa, the sonne of Phinehás, the sonne of Eleazár, the sonne of b Aarón; the chief Priest.

6 This Ezrá came vp from Babél, and was a c scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Isaél had giuen, and the King gaue him all his requeste according to the hand of the Lord his God whiche was vpon him.

7 And there went vp certein e of the children of Isráél, and of the Priests, and the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims vnto Ierusalém, in the seuent yere of King Artahshásháte.

8 And he came to Ierusalém in the d fift moneth, which was in the seuent yere e of the King.

d That conteineth parte of Iulie and parte of August e Of King Darius.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to go vp from Babél, and on the first day of the fift moneth came he to Ierusalém, according to the good hand of his God that was vpon him.

10 For Ezrá had prepared his heart to seke the Law of the Lord, and to do it, & to teache the precepts & iudgements in Isráél.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that King Artahshásháte gaue vnto Ezrá the Priest & scribe, euẽ a writer of the wordes of the cõmandements of the Lord, and of his statutes ouer Isráél.

12 ARTAHSHASHTE King of Kings to Ezrá ỹ Priest & perfite scribe of the Law of the God of heauen, and to f Cheéneth.

f Some take this for the name of a people, some for time or cõmunaũce meaning ỹ the King wished him long life

13 I haue giuen cõmandement, that euerie one, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Isráél, and of the Priests, and Leuites g to go to Ierusalém with thee, shal go.

g Which remained as yet in Babylon, & had not returned with Zerubbabél.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his seuen counselers, to h enquire in Iudáh and Ierusalém, according to the Law of thy God, which is in i thine hand, h To examine who lived according to the Law

15 And to carie the siluer and the golde, w the King and his cõselers willingly offer vnto the God of Isráél (whose habitacion is in Ierusalem) i Whereof thou art expert.

16 And all the siluer and golde that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babél, with the free offring of the people, and that which the Priests offre willingly to ỹ house of their God which is in Ierusalém, 17 That thou maiest bye spedely with this siluer, bullockes, rams, lambes, with their meat offrings and their drinke offrings: & thou shalt offer thẽ vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Ierusalém.

18 And whatsoeuer it pleaseth thee & thy brethrẽ to do with the rest of the siluer, and golde, do ye it according to the wil of your k God.

k As we know best may serue to Gods glorie.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Ierusalém.

20 And the residue that shalbe nedeful for the house of thy God, which shalbe mete for thee to bestowe, thou shalt bestowe it out of the Kings treasure house,

21 And I King Artahshásháte haue giuen commandement to all the treasurers which are beyonde l the Riuer, that whatsoeuer Ezrá the Priest and scribe l Which was the Riuer Euphrates, and they were beyond it in respect of Babylon.

of the Law of ỹ God of heauē ſhal require of you, that it be done incontinently, 22 Vnto an hundreth talents of ſiluer, vnto an hundreth* meaſures of wheat, and vnto an hundreth baths of wine, and vnto an hundreth [m] baths of oyle, and ſalt without writing.

*Ebr Corim.

m Read 1 King 7,26, and 2 Chro 2,10.

23 Whatſoeuer is by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done ſpedely for the houſe of the God of heauen: for why ſhulde he be wrath [n] againſt the realme of the King, and his children?

n This declareth that the feare of Gods iudgemēts cauſed him to vſe this liberalitie, and not the loue that he bare to Gods glorie or affection to his people

24 And we certifie you, that vpon anie of ỹ Prieſts, Leuites, ſingers, porters, Nethinims, or miniſters in this houſe of God, there ſhal no gouernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute nor cuſtome.

25 And thou Ezrá (after the wiſdome of thy God, ỹ is in thine hand) [o] ſet iudges & arbiters, which may iudge all ỹ people that is beyond the Riuer, euen all that knowe the Law of thy God, & teache ye them that knowe it not.

o He gaue Ezrá ful autoritie to reſtore all things according to the worde of God, and to puniſh thē that reſiſted and wolde not obeie.

26 And whoſoeuer wil not do the Law of thy God, and the Kings law, let him haue iudgement without delay, whether it be vnto death, or to baniſhment, or to confiſcation of goods, or to impriſonement.

p Thus Ezrá gaue God thākes for that he gaue him ſo good ſucceſſe in his affaires by reaſon of the King.

27 [p] Bleſſed be the Lord God of our fathers, which ſo hathe put in the Kings heart, to beautifie the houſe of the Lord that is in Ieruſalém, 28 And hathe enclined mercie towarde me, before the King and his counſelers, and before all the Kings mightie princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lord my God which was vpon me, and I gathered the chief of Iſraél to go vp with me.

14 And of the ſonnes of Biguái, Vthái, and Zabbúd, and with them ſeuentie males.

15 And I gathered them to the [c] Riuer that goeth toward Ahauá, and there abode we thre dayes: then I vewed the people, and the Prieſts, and founde there none of the ſonnes of Leuí.

c To that place of Euphrates, where Ahaua the riuer entreth into it.

16 Therefore ſent I to Eliézer, to Ariél, to Shemeiáh, & to Elnathán, & to Iaríb, and to Elnathán, and to Nathán, and to Zechariáh, and to Meſhullám the chief, and to Ioiaríb and to Elnathán, men of vnderſtanding, 17 And I gaue them commandement, to Iddó the [d] chiefeſt at the place of Caſephiá, and I* tolde them the wordes that they ſhulde ſpeake to Iddó, and to his brethren the Nethinims at the place of Caſiphiá, that they ſhulde cauſe the miniſters of the houſe of our God to come vnto vs.

f He ſheweth that the end of faſting is to hūble the body to the ſpirit, which muſte proceede of the heart lyuely touched, or els it is but hypocriſie

21 And there at the Riuer, by Ahauá, I proclaimed a faſt, that we might humble [f] our ſelues before our God, and ſeke of him a right waye for vs, and for our children, & for all our ſubſtance.

g He thoght it better to cōmit him ſelfe to the protection of God, then by ſeking theſe ordinarie meanes, to giue an occaſion to others to thinke that he did doute of Gods power.

22 For I was [g] aſhamed to require of the King an armie and horſemen, to helpe vs againſt the enemie in the way, becauſe we had had ſpoken to the King, ſaying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that ſeke him, in goodnes, but his power and his wrath is againſt all them that forſake him.

23 So we faſted, and beſoght our God for this and he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I ſeparated twelue of the chief of the Prieſts, Sherebiáh, and Haſhabiáh, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And weighed thē the ſiluer & the golde, & the veſſels, euen the offring of the houſe of our God, which the King and his coūſelers, and his princes, and all Iſraél that were preſent had offred.

26 And I weighed vnto their hand ſix hundreth and fifty [h] talents of ſiluer, and in ſiluer veſſel, an hundreth talents, and in golde, an hundreth talents:

[h] Read 1 Kin 9.14.

27 And twentie baſins of golde, of a thouſand [i] drammes, and two veſſels of ſhining braſſe very good, and precious as golde.

[i] Read Chap. 2.69.

28 ¶ And I ſaid vnto thē, Ye are conſecrate vnto the Lord, and the veſſels are conſecrate, and the golde and the ſiluer are freely offred vnto the Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watche ye, & kepe them vntil ye weigh them before the chief Prieſts and the Leuites, and the chief fathers of Iſraél in Ieruſalém in the chambers of the houſe of the Lord.

30 So the Prieſts and the Leuites receiued the weight of the ſiluer and of the golde, and of the veſſels to bring them to Ieruſalém, vnto the houſe of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the Riuer of Ahauá on the twelft day of the firſt moneth, to go vnto Ieruſalém, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemie, and of ſuche as layed [k] waite by the way.

[k] This declared that their iourney was ful of danger, and yet God deliuered thē according to their prayer

32 And we came to Ieruſalém, and abode there thre dayes.

33 And on the fourte day was the ſiluer weighed, and the golde and the veſſel in the houſe of our God by the hand of Meremóth the ſonne of Vriáh the Prieſt, and with him was Eleazár the ſonne of Phinehás, and with them was Iozabád the ſonne of Ieſhúa, and Noadiáh the ſonne of Binnúi the [l] Leuites,

34 By nomber and by weight of euerie one, and all the weight was writen at the ſame time.

35 Alſo the childrē of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offred burnt offrīgs vnto the God of Iſraél, twelue bullockes for all Iſraél, ninetie and ſix rams, ſeuentie and ſeuen lambes, and twelue he goates for ſinne: all was a burnt offring of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the Kings commiſſion vnto the Kīgs officers, & to the captaines beyonde the Riuer: and they promoted the people, and the houſe of God.

8 And now for a litle ſpace grace hathe bene ſhewed from the Lord our God, in cauſing a remnant to eſcape, & in giuing vs a [f] nayle in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, & giue vs a litle reuiuing in our ſeruitude.

14 Shulde we returne to breake thy cõmandements, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of ſuche abominaciõs? woldeſt not thou be angrie toward vs til thou haddeſt cõſumed vs, ſo that there ſhulde be no remnant nor anie eſkaping?

15 O Lord God of Iſraél, thou art iuſte, for we haue bene h reſerued to eſcape, as appeareth this day: beholde, we are before thee in our treſpaſſe: therefore we cannot ſtand before thee becauſe of it.

h He ſheweth that God is iuſte in puniſhing his people, & yet merciful in reſeruing a reſiduc to whome he ſheweth fauour.

CHAP. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their ſtrange wiues.

1 WHiles *Ezrá prayed thus, & a confeſſed him ſelfe weping, and falling downe before ỹ houſe of God, there aſſembled vnto him of Iſraél a very great Congregacion of men and women & children: for the people wept with a great lamentacion.

1 Eſdr.8,92.

a He confeſſed his ſinnes and the ſinnes of the people.

2 Then Shechaniáh the ſonne of Iehiél one of the ſonnes of Elám, anſwered, and ſaid to Ezrá, We haue treſpaſſed againſt our God, and haue taken ſtrange wiues of the people of the land, yet now there is b hope in Iſraél concerning this.

b Meaning, that God wolde receiue the to mercie

3 Now therefore let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away c all the wiues (and ſuche as are borne of them) according to the counſel of the Lord, and of thoſe that feare the commandements of our God, and let it be done according to the Law.

c Which are ſtrangers and maried contrarie to the Law of God

4 Ariſe: for the matter d belongeth vnto thee: we alſo wil be with thee: be of comforte and do it.

d Becauſe God hathe giuen thee authoritie, & learning to perſuade ỹ people herein and to cõmande them.

5 ¶ Then aroſe Ezrá, and cauſed the chief Prieſts, the Leuites, & all Iſraél, to ſweare that they wolde do according to this worde. So they ſware.

6 *And Ezrá roſe vp from before the houſe of God, and went into the chambre of Lohanán the ſonne of Eliaſhíb: he went euen thither, but he did eat nether bread, nor dronke water: for he mourned, becauſe of the trãſgreſsion of thẽ of the captiuitie.

1 Eſdr.9,3.

7 And they cauſed a proclamacion to go throughout Iudáh and Ieruſalém, vnto "all them of the captiuitie, that they ſhulde aſſemble them ſelues vnto Ieruſalém.

8 And whoſoeuer wolde not come within thre dayes according to the counſel of the princes and Elders, all his ſubſtance ſhulde be "forfait, & he ſhulde be ſeparate from the Congregacion of them of the captiuitie.

"Or, ſtãdemned.

9 ¶ Then all the men of Iudáh & Beniamin aſſembled them ſelues vnto Ieruſalém within thre dayes, which was the twẽtieth day of the e mnte moneth, and all the people ſate in the ſtrete of the houſe of God, trembling for this matter, and for the f raine.

e Which contemed part of Nouember & part of December

f For the ſeaſon was giuen to raine, & ſo ỹ wether was more ſharpe & colde, and alſo their conſcience tormented them

10 And Ezrá the Prieſt ſtode vp, and ſaid vnto them, Ye haue tranſgreſſed, and haue taken ſtrange wiues, to g increaſe the treſpaſſe of Iſraél.

g Ye haue layed one ſinne vpon another

11 Now therefore h giue praiſe vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and do his wil and ſeparate your ſelues from the people of the land, & from the ſtrange wiues.

h Read Ioſh. 7,19.

12 And all the Congregacion anſwered, & ſaid with a loude voyce, So wil we do according to thy wordes vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rayny wether, and we are not able to ſtand without, nether is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers ſtand therefore i before all the Congregacion, and let all them which haue taken ſtrange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euerie citie and the iudges thereof, til the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

i Let them be appointed to examine this matter.

15 Then were appointed Ionathán the ſonne of Aſah-él, and Iahaziáh the ſonne of Tikuah ouer this matter, and Meſhullám and Shabbethái the Leuites helped them.

16 And thei of the captiuitie did ſo and k departed, euen Ezrá the Prieſt, & the mẽ that were chief fathers to the familie of their fathers by name, and ſate downe in the firſt daye of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

k Thei went to the chief cities to ſit on this matter w was thre moneths in finiſhing.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times ſet vp worthy perſones for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as now within the compaſſe of ſeuentie yeres he raiſed vp diuers excellent men for the preſeruation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabél, Ezrá, and Nehemiáh. Whereof the firſt was their captaine, to bring them home, and prouided that the Temple was buylded: the ſeconde reformed their maners and planted religion: & the third buylded vp the walles, deliuered the people from oppreſſion, and prouided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godlie man and in great autoritie with the King, ſo that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him moſte ample letters for the accompliſhement of all things which he colde deſire. This boke is alſo called of the latins the ſeconde of Ezrá, becauſe he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiáh bewaileth the calamitie of Ieruſalém. 5 He confeſſeth the ſinnes of the people, & prayeth God for them

1 THe wordes of Nehemiáh the ſonne of Hachaliáh, in the moneth [a] Chiſléu, in the twentieth yere, as I was in the palace of Shuſhán,

[a] Which conteineth part of November & part of Decẽber, and was their ninth moneth.

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, he & the men of Iudáh, and I aſked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the reſidue of ỹ captiuitie, and concerning Ieruſalém.

[b] A Iewe as I was.

3 And they ſaid vnto me, The reſidue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproche, and the wall of Ieruſalém is broken downe, & the gates thereof are burnt with fyre.

[c] Meaning, in Iewry.

4 And when I heard theſe wordes, I ſate downe and wept, and mourned certeine dayes, and I faſted and prayed before the God of heauen,

5 And ſaid, *O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that kepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obſerue his commandements, Dan. 9. 4.

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day & night for the children of Iſraél thy ſeruants, & confeſſe the ſinnes of the children of Iſrael, which we haue ſinned againſt thee, bothe I & my fathers houſe haue ſinned:

7 We haue "grieuouſly ſinned againſt thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the ſtatutes, nor the iudgements, ẅ thou commandedſt thy ſeruant Moſés.

8 I beſeche thee, remember the worde that thou commandedſt thy ſeruant Moſés, ſaying, Ye wil tranſgreſſe, and I *wil ſcatre you abroade among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and kepe my cõmandements, and do them, tho̅gh your ſcatering were to the vttermoſt parte of the heauẽ, yet wil I gather you from thẽce and wil bring you vnto the place that I haue choſen, to place my Name there.

10 Now theſe are thy ſeruants & thy people, whome thou haſt redemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beſeche thee, let thine eare now hearken to the prayer of thy ſeruant, and to the prayer of thy ſeruãts, who deſire to [d] feare thy Name, and, I pray thee, cauſe thy ſeruant to proſper this day, and giue him fauour in the preſence of [e] this man: for I was the Kings butler.

*Deut 30.4.

[d] That is, to worship thee.

[e] To wit, the King Artahſhaſhte.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiáh had obteined letters of Artaxerxes. 11 He came to Ieruſalem. 17 And buylded the walles.

[a] Which was ỹ first moneth of the yere & cõteineth parte of Marche & parte of April

[b] Who is also called Darius read Ezr 7.1.

1 NOw in the moneth [a] Niſan in the twẽtieth yere of King [b] Artahſhaſhte, the wine ſtode before him, and I toke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. now I was not before time ſad in his preſence.

2 And the King ſaid vnto me, Why is thy countenance ſad, ſeing thou are not ſicke? this is nothing, but ſorowe of heart. Then was I ſore afraied,

3 And I ſaid to the King, God ſaue the King for euer: why ſhulde not my countenance be ſad, when the citie & houſe of ỹ ſepulchres of my fathers lieth waſte & the gates thereof are deuoured with fyre?

4 And the King ſaid vnto me, For what thing doeſt thou require? Then I praied [c] to the God of heauen, [c] I deſired God in mine hart, to proſper mine enterprise.

5 And ſaid vnto the King, If it pleaſe the King, and if thy ſeruant haue founde fauour in thy ſight, I deſire that thou woldeſt ſend me to Iudáh vnto the citie of the ſepulchres of my fathers, that I may buylde it.

6 And the King ſaid vnto me, (the quene alſo ſitting by him) How long ſhal thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleaſed the King, and he ſent me, and I ſet him a time.

7 After I ſaid vnto the King, If it pleaſe ỹ King, let them giue me letters to the captaines beyonde the [f] Riuer, that they may conuaye me ouer, til I come into Iudáh, [f] Or, Euphrates.

8 And letters vnto Aſáph the keper of the Kings [g] parke, that he may giue me timber to buylde the gates of the palace (which appertained to the houſe) & for the walles of the citie, and for the houſe that I ſhal entre into. And the King gaue me according to [d] the good hand of my God vpon me.

[d] As God moued me to aſke, & as he gaue me good ſucceſſe therein.

9 ¶ Then came I to the captaines beyond the Riuer, & gaue them the Kings letters. And the King had ſent captaines of the armie and horſmen with me.

10 But [e] Sanballát the Horonite, and Tobiáh a ſeruant an Ammonite heard it, and it greued thẽ ſore, that there was come a man which ſoght the wealth of the children of Iſraél.

[e] These were great enemies to the Iewes & labored alwaies bothe by force & ſubtiltie to ouercome them, & Tobiáh becauſe his wife was a Iewes, had aduertiſement euer of their affaires and ſo wroght them great trouble.

11 So I came to Ieruſalém, and was there thre dayes.

12 And I roſe in the night, I, and a few mẽ ẅ me: for I tolde no man, what God had put in mine heart to do at Ieruſalém, and there was not a beaſt with me, ſaue the beaſt whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the draggon well, and to the dung porte, and vewed the walles of Ieruſalém, how they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fyre.

14 Then I went forthe vnto the gate of ỹ "fountaine, and to the Kings fiſh poole, & there was no roume for the beaſt that was vnder me to paſſe.

"Or, conduits.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the broke, & vewed the wall, and turned backe, and comming backe, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knewe not whether I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Prieſts, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the reſt that laboured in the worke.

[f] That is, cõtemned of other natiõs, tho̅gh God had forſaken vs

17 Afterward I ſaid vnto them, Ye ſe the miſerie that we are in, how Ieruſalém lieth waſte, and the gates thereof are burnt with fyre: come and let vs buylde the wall of Ieruſalém, that we be no more a reproche.

[g] They were incouraged & gaue themſelues to do wel, & to trauel in this worthy enterprise.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and alſo of the Kings wordes that he had ſpoken vnto me. And they ſaid, Let vs riſe, & buylde. So they [g] ſtrengthened their hand to good.

[h] Theſe were thre chief gouerners vnder ỹ King of Perſia beyõde Euphrates

19 But whẽ Sanballát the Horonite, & Tobiáh the ſeruant an Ammonite, and [h] Geſhém the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and deſpiſed vs, and ſaid, What a thing is this that ye do? Wil ye [i] rebell againſt the King?

[i] Thus ỹ wicked when thei wil burthen ỹ children of God, euer lay treaſon vnto their charge, bothe becauſe it meeteth thẽ moſte odious to the worlde, & alſo ſtirreth ỹ hatred of princes moſte againſt them.

20 Then anſwered I them, and ſaid to thẽ, The God of heauen, he wil proſper vs, &

we his ſeruants wil riſe vp and buylde: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor [k] memorial in Ieruſalém.

k Nether ye are of the nóber of the children of God (to whome he hathe appointed this citie onely) nether did anie of your predeceſſours euer feare God

CHAP. III.

The nomber of them that buylded the walles.

1 THen aroſe Eliaſhíb the hie Prieſt with his brethren the Prieſts, & they buylt the ſhepegate: they [a] repared it, & ſet vp the dores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Meáh repared they it, & vnto the towre of Hananéel.

a In Ebrewe, they ſanctified it, that is, they finiſhed it, and ſo dedicated it to the Lord by prayer, in deſiring him to maiſteine it

2 And next vnto him buylded the men of Iericho, and beſide him Zaccúr the ſonne of Imrí.

3 But the fiſh porte did the ſonnes of Senaáh buylde, which alſo layed the beames thereof, and ſet on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto thē fortified Merimóth, the ſonne of Vriiah, the ſonne of Hakkóz: and next vnto them fortified Meſhullam, the ſonne of Berechiáh, the ſonne of Meſhezabeél: and next vnto them fortified Zadók, the ſonne of Baaná:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites. but the great men of them [b] put not their neckes to the worke of their lords.

b The riche & mightie wolde not obey thē, which were appointed officers in this worke, nether wolde they helpe thereūto Iſa 22,11.

6 And the gate of the olde fiſhpoole fortified Iehoiadá the ſonne of Paſéah, & Meſhullám the ſōne of Beſodaiáh, they layed the beames thereof, and ſet on the dores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them alſo fortified Melatiáh the Gibeonite, & Iadón ȳ Meronothite, men of Gibeón, and of Mizpáh, vnto the [c] throne of the Duke, which was beyonde the Riuer.

c Vnto ȳ place where the Duke was worte to ſit in iudgement, who gouerned the countrey in their abſence.

8 Next vnto him fortified Vzziél the ſonne of Harhohiáh [d] of the golde ſmithes: next vntō him alſo fortified Hananiah, the ſonne [e] of Harakkahím, and they repared Ieruſalém vnto the broad wall.

d Or, of Zorephim
e Or, of the apoticaries.

9 Alſo next vnto them fortified Rephaiáh, the ſonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ieruſalém.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedaiáh the ſonne of Harumáph, euen ouer againſt his houſe: and next vnto him fortified Hattúſh, the ſonne of Haſhabniáh.

11 Malchiiáh the ſonne of Harím, and Haſhúb the ſonne of Pahath Moáb fortified the ſeconde [f] portion, & the towre of the fornaces.

f Or, meaſure.

12 Next vnto him alſo fortified Shallúm, the ſonne of Halloéſh, the ruler of the halfe parte of Ieruſalém, he, & his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanúm, & the inhabitants of Zanuáh: they buylt it, and ſet on the dores thereof, ȳ lockes thereof, & the barres thereof, euen a thouſand cubites on the wall vnto the dung porte.

14 But the dung porte fortified Malchiáh, the ſonne of Rechāb, the ruler of ȳ fourte parte of Beth haccárem: he buylt it, & ſet on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallún, the ſonne of Col-hozéh, the ruler of ȳ fourte parte of Mizpáh: he buylded it, and coueied it, and ſet on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the baires thereof, and the wall vnto the fiſhpoole of [g] Sheláh by the Kings garden, and vnto the ſteppes that go downe from the citie of Dauid.

g Or, Silua.

16 After him fortified Nehemiáh the ſonne of Azbák, the ruler of the halfe parte of Beth-zúr, vntil the otherſide ouer againſt the ſepulchres of Dauid, and to the fiſhpoole that was repared, and vnto the houſe of the mightie.

17 After him fortified the Leuites, Rehúm the ſonne of Baní, and next vnto him fortified Haſhabiah the ruler of the halfe parte of Keiláh in his quarter.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Bauái, the ſonne of Henadád the ruler of the halfe parte of Keiláh:

19 And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the ſonne of Ieſhúa the ruler of Mizpáh, the other portion ouer againſt the going vp to the [d] corner of the armoure.

d Where the weapons and armour of the citie laye

20 After him was earneſt Barúch the ſonne of Zacchái, & fortified another portion from the corner vnto the dore of the houſe of Eliaſhíb the hie Prieſt.

21 After him fortified Merimóth, the ſonne of Vriiáh, the ſonne of Hakkóz, another portion from the dore of the houſe of Eliaſhíb, euen as long as the houſe of Eliaſhíb extended.

22 After him alſo fortified the Prieſts, the men of [e] the plaine.

e Which dwels in ȳ plaine countrey by Iordan & Ieriché.

23 After them fortified Beniamín, & Haſhúb ouer againſt their houſe: after him fortified Azariáh, the ſonne of Maaſeiáh, the ſonne of Ananiáh, by his houſe.

24 After him fortified Binnúi, the ſonne of Henadád another portiō, from the houſe of Azariáh vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25 Palál, the ſonne of Vzai, from ouer againſt the corner, and the high towre, that lyeth out from the Kings houſe, which is beſide the courte of the priſon. After him, Pedaiáh, the ſonne of Paróſh.

26 And the [f] Nethinims they dwelt in the fortereſſe vnto the place ouer againſt the water gate, Eaſtward, & to the towre that lyeth out.

f Read Ezra Chap 2,43

27 After him fortified ȳ Tekoites another portion ouer againſt the great towre, that lyeth out, euen vnto the wall of the forteresſe.

28 Frō aboue the horſegate forthe fortified ỹ Prieſts, euerie one ouer againſt his houſe.
29 After them fortified Zadók the ſonne of Immér ouer againſt his houſe: and after him fortified Shemaiáh, the ſonne of Shechaniáh the keper of the Eaſtgate.
30 After him fortified Hananiáh, the ſonne of Shelemiáh, & Hanún, the ſonne of Zaláph, the g ſixt, another portion: after him fortified Meſhullám, the ſonne of Berechiáh, ouer againſt his chamber.
31 After him fortified Malchiáh the goldſmithes ſonne, vntil the houſe of the Nethinims, & of the marchants ouer againſt the gate h Miphkád, and to the chamber in the corner.
32 And betwene the chamber of the corner vnto the ſhepegate fortified the goldſmithes and the marchants.

g Meaning, the ſixt of his ſonnes.

h Which was the place of iudgement, or execution.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The buylding of Ieruſalém u hindred, 15 But God breaketh their enterpriſe. 17 The Iewes buylde with one hand, and holde their weapons in the other.

1 BVt when Sanballát heard that we buylded the wall, then was he wroth and ſore grieued, and mocked the Iewes,
2 And ſaid before his a brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he ſaid, What do theſe b weake Iewes? wil they fortifie thē ſelues? wil they ſacrifice? wil they finiſh it in a day? wil they make the ſtones whole againe out of ỹ heapes of duſt, ſeing they are burnt?
3 And Tobiáh the Ammonite was beſide him, and ſaid, Although they buylde, yet if a foxe go vp, he ſhal euen breake downe their ſtony wall.
4 c Heare, ô our God (for we are deſpiſed) and turne their ſhame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray d in the land of their captiuitie,
5 And couer not their e iniquitie, nether let their ſinne be put out in thy preſence: for they haue prouoked vs before the buylders.
6 So we buylt the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the f halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.
7 ¶ But when Sanballát, and Tobiáh, & the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Aſhdodims heard that the walles of Ieruſalém were repaired, (for the breaches begā to be ſtopped) then they were verie wroth, 8 And conſpired altogether to come and to fight againſt Ieruſalém, & to f hinder thē.
9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and ſet watchemen by them, day & night, becauſe of them.
10 And Iudáh ſaid, The ſtrength of ỹ bearers is weakened, and there is muche earth, ſo that we are not able to buylde the wall.
11 Alſo our aduerſaries had ſaid, They ſhal not knowe, nether ſe, til we come into the middes of them and ſlaye them, and cauſe the worke to ceaſe.
12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beſide them) came, they tolde vs g ten times, h Frō all places whence ye ſhal returne, they wil be vpon vs.
13 Therefore ſet I in the lower places behinde the wall vpon ỹ toppes of the ſtones, & placed ỹ people by their families, with their ſwordes, their ſpeares & their bowes, 14 Then I beheld, and roſe vp, & ſaid vnto the princes, & to the rulers, & to the reſt of the people, Be not afraied of them: i remēber the great Lord, & feareful, & fight for your brethren, your ſonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houſes.
15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counſel to noght, & we turned all againe to the wall, euerie one vnto his worke.
16 And frō that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe parte of them helde the ſpeares, and ſhields, & bowes, and habergins: and the rulers ſtode k behinde all the houſe of Iudáh.
17 They that buylded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, & they that laded, did the worke with one hand, & with the other helde the ſworde.
18 For euerie one of the buylders had his ſworde girde on his loynes, & ſo buylded: & he that blewe the trūpet, was beſide me.
19 Then ſaid I vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are ſeparated vpon the wall, one farre from another.
20 In what place therefore ye heare the ſoūd of the trumpet, l reſorte ye thither vnto vs: our God ſhal fight for vs.
21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the ſpeares, from the appearing of the morning, til the ſtarres came forthe.
22 And at the ſame time ſaid I vnto the people, Let euerie one with his ſeruant lodge within Ieruſalém, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.
23 So nether I, nor my brethren, nor my ſeruants, nor the mē of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put of our clothes, ſaue euerie one put them of m for waſhing.

a Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria b Thus the wicked, that conſider not ỹ God's power as euer in a readines for the defēce of his, mocke thē as though they were weake and feble
c This is the remedie that the childrē of God haue againſt the deriſiō & threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.
d Let them be ſpoiled & led away captiue.
e Let thy plagues declare to the worlde ỹ they ſet them ſelues againſt thee, & againſt thy Church thus he prayeth, onely hauing reſpect to Gods glorie, & not for any priuate affection, or grudge.
f Or, halfe height

g They, which broght the tidīgs, ſaid thus, Whē you leaue your worke, & go either to eat, or to reſt, your enemies wil aſſaile you.
h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therefore ſeig they ſhulde fight for the maintenāce of Gods glorie & for the preſeruation of their owne liues & of theirs, he incourageth them to play the valiāt mē.
i To ouerſee them & to incourage them to their worke.
k Meaning, to reſiſt their enemies, if nede required.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppreſſed and in neceſſitie 6 Nehemiáh remedieth it 14 He take not the portion of others that had ruled before, leſt he ſhulde grieue the people.

1 NOw there was a great crye of the people, and of their wiues a againſt their brethren the Iewes.
2 For there were that ſaid, We, our ſōnes & our daughters are many, therefore we take vp b corne, that we may eat and liue.
3 And there were that ſaid, We muſt gage our lands,& our vineyardes,& our houſes and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were alſo that ſaid, We haue borrowed money for the Kings [c] tribute vpon our lands and our vineyardes.

5 And now our fleſh is as [d] the fleſh of our brethrē,& our ſonnes as their ſonnes: and lo,we bring into ſubiection our ſonnes,and our daughters,as ſeruāts,and there be of our daughters now in ſubiection, and there is no power [e] in our hands. for other mē haue our lāds & our vineyardes.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crye and theſe wordes.

7 And I thoght in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and ſaid vnto them, You laie [f] burdens euerie one vpon his brethren:and I ſet a great [g] aſſemblie againſt them,

8 And I ſaid vnto them, We(according to our abilitie) haue redemed our brethren the Iewes,which were ſolde vnto the heathen:and wil you ſell your brethren againe,or ſhal they be [h] ſolde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and colde not anſwere.

9 [i] I ſaid alſo, That which ye do,is not good. Oght ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k] reproche of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my ſeruāts do lend them money & corne:I pray you, let vs leaue of this [l] burden.

11 Reſtore,I pray you, vnto them this day their lands,their vineyardes, their oliues, and their houſes, and remit the hundreth parte of the ſiluer and of the corne, of the wine,& of the oyle [l] that ye exact of thē.

12 Then ſaid they, We wil reſtore it, and wil not require it of them: we wil do as thou haſt ſaid. Then I called the Prieſts,& cauſed them to ſweare,that they ſhulde do according to this promes.

13 So I ſhooke my lappe,& ſaid.So let God ſhake out euerie man that wil not performe this promes from his houſe,and from his labour:euen thus let him be ſhakē out, and emptied. And all the Congiegacion ſaid,Amen,and praiſed the Lord. and the people did accordīg to this promes.

14 And frō the time that the King gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudáh from the twentieth yere,euē vnto the two and thirtieth yere of King Artahſhaſhte,that is, twelue yere,I, and my brethrē haue not eatē the [m] bread of ỹ gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beſides fourtie ſhekels of ſiluer:yea, and their ſeruantes bare rule ouer the people: but ſo did not I, becauſe of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a porcion in the worke of this wall, and we boght no land, and all my ſeruants came thether together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daiely an ox[n], & ſix choſen ſhepe, & birdes were prepared for me,and [o] with ten dayes wine for all [p] in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, ô my God,in goodnes, according to all that I haue done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

Nehemiáh anſwereth with great wiſdome,and zeale to his aduerſaries. 11 He is not diſcouraged by the falſe Prophetes.

1 AND when Sanballát,and Tobiáh,& Géſhem the Arabian, and the reſt of our enemies heard that I had buylt ỹ wall, & that there were no mo [a] breaches therein(thogh at that time I had not ſet vp the dores vpon the gates)

2 Thē ſent Sanballat and Géſhē vnto me, ſaying, Come thou that we may mete together in the villages in the plaine of Onó:and they thoght to do me euil.

3 Therefore I ſent meſſengers vnto them, ſaying, I haue a great worke to do,& I can not come downe: [b] why ſhulde the worke ceaſe,whiles I leaue it,and come downe to you?

4 Yet they ſent vnto me foure times after this ſorte And I anſwered them after the ſame maner.

5 Then ſent Sanballát his ſeruant after this ſorte vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was writē, It is reported amōg the heathen,and [o] Gaſhmú hathe ſaid it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cauſe thou buyldeſt the wall and thou wilt be their King according to theſe [c] wordes.

7 Thou haſt alſo ordeined [d] the Prophetes to preache of thee at Ieruſalém,ſayīg, There is a King in Iudáh: and now according to theſe wordes it ſhal come to the Kings eares:come now therefore, and let vs take counſel together.

8 Thē I ſent vnto him,ſaying,It is not done according to theſe wordes ỹ thou ſayeſt. for thou faineſt them of thine owne heart.

9 For all ther afraied vs,ſaying,Their hāds ſhal be weakened frō ỹ worke,& it ſhal not be done now therefore [p] incourage ỹ me.

Temple: for they wil come to ſlay thee:
yea, in ỹ night wil they come to kil thee.

f He doubted not but God was able to preſerue him, & knewe that, if he had obeyed this counſel, he ſhuld haue diſcouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his, to reſiſt falſe propheties thogh they ſeme to haue neuer ſo great probabilitie.

11 Then I ſaid, f Shulde ſuche a man as I, flee? Who is he, being as I am, that wolde go into the Temple to liue? I wil not go in.

12 And lo, I perceiued, that God had not ſent him, but that he pronoũced this prophecie againſt me: for Tobiáh and Sanballát had hyred him.

13 Therefore was he hyred, that I might be afrayed, and do thus, and ſinne, and that they might haue an euil reporte that they might reproche me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiáh, and Sanballát according vnto theſe their workes, and Noadiáh the g Propheteſſe alſo, and the reſt of the Prophetes that wolde haue put me in feare.

g Very grief cauſed him to pray againſt ſuche, which vnder the pretence of being the miniſters of God, were aduerſaries to his glorie, and went about to ouerthrow his Church, declaring alſo hereby that where there is one true miniſter of God, ỹ deuil hathe a great ſorte of hierlings

CHAP. VIII.

[a] Ezrá gathereth together the people, and readeth to the the Law. 12 They reioyce in Iſraél for the knowledge of the worde of God. 15 They kepe the feaſt of Tabernacles or boothes.

1 AND all the people aſſembled them ſelues "together, in ỹ ſtreat that was before the watergate, and they ſpake vnto Ezrá the [a] ſcribe, that he wolde bring the boke of the Law of Moſés, which the Lord had commanded to Iſraél.

"Ebr. as one man.

a Read Ezrá 7.11.

2 And Ezrá the Prieſt broght the Law before the Congregacion bothe of men and women, and of all that [b] colde heare and vnderſtand it, in the firſt day of the ſeuent moneth, b Which had age and diſcretion to vnderſtand.

3 And he red therein in the ſtreat that was before the watergate (from the morning vntil [c] the midday) before men and women, and of them that vnderſtode it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the boke of the Law.

c This declareth the great zeale, that the people had to heare ỹ worde of God.

4 And Ezrá the ſcribe ſtode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beſide him ſtode Mattithiáh, and Shéma, and Ananiáh, and Vriiáh, & Hilkiáh, and Maaſeiáh on his right hãd, and on his left hand Pedaiáh, & Miſhaél, and Malchiáh, and Haſhúm, and Haſhbadána, Zechariáh, and Meſhullám.

5 And Ezrá opened the boke before all the people: for he was [d] aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people ſtode vp.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

6 And Ezrá praiſed ỹ Lord the great God, and all the people anſwered, Amen, Amẽ, with lifting vp their hãds: & they bowed them ſelues, and worſhiped the Lord with their faces toward the grounde.

7 Alſo Ieſhúa, and Baní, and Sherebiáh, Iamín, Akkúb, Shabbethái, Hodiiáh, Maaſeiáh, Kelitá, Azariáh, Iozabád, Hanán, Pelaiáh, & the Leuites cauſed the people to vnderſtand the Law, and the people ſtode in their place.

8 And they red in the boke of the Law of God diſtinctly and gaue the ſenſe, & cauſed them to vnderſtand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiáh (which is Tirſhátha) and Ezrá the Prieſt & ſcribe, and the Leuites that inſtructed the people, ſaid vnto all the people, This daye is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, nether wepe: for all the people [e] wept, whẽ they heard the wordes of the Law.

e In conſidering their offenſes againſt the Law. Therefore the Leuites do not reproue them for mourning, but aſſure thẽ of Gods mercies for almuche as they are repentant.

10 He ſaid alſo vnto them, Go, and eat of the fat, & drinke the ſwete, and ſend parte vnto them, for whome none is [f] prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not ſory therefore: for the [g] ioye of the Lord is your ſtrength.

f That is, remember the poore g Reioyce in the Lord, and he wil giue you ſtrength.

11 And the Leuites made ſilence throughout all the people, ſaying, Holde your peace: for ỹ day is holy, be not ſad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to ſend away parte, & to make great ioye, becauſe they had vnderſtand the wordes that they had taught them.

13 And on the ſecõde day the chief fathers of all the people, the Prieſts and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezrá the ſcribe, that he alſo might inſtruct them in the wordes of the Law.

14 And thei founde writẽ in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moſés) that the childrẽ of Iſraél ſhulde dwell in *boothes in the feaſt of the ſeuent moneth,

15 And that thei ſhulde cauſe it to be declared and proclaimed in all theis cities, and in Ieruſalém, ſaying, Go forthe vnto the mount, and bring oliuebranches, and pinebranches, and branches of [h] myrtus, and palmebranches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is writen.

h Or, goodly braunches, as Leui.23.40.

16 So the people went forthe and broght thẽ & made them boothes, euerie one vpon the [i] rofe of his houſe, and in their courts, and in the courts of the houſe of God, & in the ſtrete by the watergate, and in the ſtrete of the gate of Ephráim.

i For their houſes were mide flat aboue, read Deu 22.8.

17 And all the Cõgregacion of them ỹ were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, & ſate vnder the boothes: for ſince the [k] time of Ieſhúa the ſonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Iſrael done ſo, & there was very great ioye.

k Which was almoſt a thouſand yeres.

18 And he red in the boke of the Law of God euerie day, from the firſt daye vnto the laſt daye. And thei kept the feaſt ſeuen dayes, & on the eight daye a ſolẽne aſſemblie, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, & forſake their ſtrange wiues. 5 The Leuites exhorte them to praiſe God. 6 Declaring his wonders. 26 And their ingratitude. 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

3 And they ſtode vp in their place and red in the boke of the Law of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and thei [b] cõfeſſed and worſhiped ỹ Lord their God foure times.

b Thei made cõfeſsiõ of their ſinnes & vſed praiers.

4 Then ſtode vp vpon the ſtaires of the Leuites Ieſhúa, and Baní, Kadmiél, Shebaniáh, Bunní, Sherebiáh, Baní & Chenáni, & cryed with a loude voice vnto the Lord their God.

5 And ỹ Leuites ſaid, euẽ Ieſhúa & Kadmiél, Baní, Haſhabniáh, Sherebiáh, Hodiiáh, Shebaniáh & Pethahiáh, Stãd vp, & praiſe ỹ Lord your God for euer, & euer, & let them

Exod.3,7. 9 * Thou haſt alſo conſidered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their crye by the red Sea,

10 And ſhewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaóh, and on all his ſeruants, & on all the people of his land: for thou kneweſt that thei dealt proudely agaīſt thē: therefore thou madeſt thee a Name, as appeareth this day.

Exod.14,22. 11 * For thou dideſt breake vp the Sea before them, and they went through the middes of the Sea on drye lād: and thoſe that purſued them, haſt thou caſt into the bottoms as a ſtone, in the mightie waters:

Exod.13,21. 12 And * leddeſt thē in the daye with a piller of a cloude, & in the night with a piller of fyre to giue them light in the way that thei went.

Exod.20,1. 13 * Thou cameſt downe alſo vpon mount Sinái, and ſpakeſt vnto them from heauen, & gaueſt them right iudgements, & true lawes, ordinãces & good commandemẽts, 14 And declaredſt vnto thē thine holy Sabbath, and commandedſt them precepts, & ordinances, and laws, by the hand of Moſés thy ſeruant:

Exod 16,15. Exod 17,6. 15 * And gaueſt them bread from heauen for their hungre, * & broghteſt forthe water for them out of the rocke for their thirſt: & * promiſedſt them that thei ſhulde goin, & take poſſeſsion of the land: for the which thou haddeſt lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

Deu.1,8.

16 But thei and our fathers behaued them ſelues proudely and hardened their necke, ſo that they hearkened not vnto thy commandements, 17 But refuſed to obey, and wolde not remember thy maruelous workes that thou hadeſt done for them, but hardened their neckes and had in their heades to returne to thein bondage by their rebellion: but thou, ô God of mercies, gracious and ful of compaſsion, of long ſuffring and of great mercie, yet forſokeſt them not.

18 Moreouer when they made them a molte calfe (and ſaid, This is thy god ỹ broght thee vp out of the land of Egypt) & committed great blaſphemies, 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forſokeſt them not in the wildernes: * the piller of the cloude departed not from them by day to lead them the way, nether the piller of fyre by night, to ſhewe them light, & the way whereby they ſhulde go.

20 Thou gaueſt alſo thy good Spirit to inſtruct them, & withheldeſt not thy MAN from their mouth, and gaueſt them water for their thirſt.

23 And thou dideſt multiplie their childrē, like the ſtarres of the heauen, & broghteſt them into the lād, whereof thou hadeſt ſpoken vnto their fathers, that they ſhulde go, and poſſeſſe it.

24 So the children went in, and poſſeſſed the land, and thou ſubdueſt before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gaueſt them into their hāds, with their Kings and the people of the land, that they might do with them what they wolde.

25 And they toke their ſtrōg cities and the fat land, and poſſeſſed houſes, full of all goods, ciſternes digged out, vineyardes, & oliues, and trees for fode in abundance, and they did eat, and were filled, and became fat, & liued in pleaſure through thy great goodnes.

26 Yet they were diſobedient, and rebelled againſt thee, & caſt thy Law behinde their backes & ſlewe thy Prophetes (which [e] protеſted among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blaſphemies.

[e] Taking heauen and earth to witnes that God wolde deſtroye thē, except thei returned, as 2. Chro 24,19.

27 Therefore thou deliueredſt them into the hand of their enemies that vexed thē: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardeſt them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gaueſt them ſauiours, who ſaued them out of the hand of their aduerſaries.

28 But when they had [f] reſt, they returned to do euil before thee: therefore lefteſt thou them in the hand of their enemies, ſo that thei had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardeſt them from heauen, and deliueredſt them according to thy great mercies many times,

[f] He declareth how Godsmercies euer contended with the wickednes of the people, who euer in their proſperitie forgate God

29 And proteſtedſt among them that thou mightest bring thē againe vnto thy Law: but they behaued them ſelues proudely, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but ſinned againſt thy iudgements (*which a man ſhulde do and liue in them) and g pulled away the ſhuldre, and were ſtifnecked, and wolde not h heare.

"Ebr thou didſt prolong vpon thē many yeres.

31 Yet for thy great mercies, thou haſt not conſumed them, nether forſaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

Exod.34.6.

32 Now therefore our God, *thou great God, mightie and terrible, that kepeſt couenant and *mercie, let not all the affliction that hathe come vnto vs, ſeme a little before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our princes, & to our Priests, and to our Prophetes and to our fathers, & to all thy people ſince the time of the Kings of iAſſhúr vnto this day.

Pſal.143.2.

i By whome we were led away into captiuitie, & haue bene appoſited to be ſlaine, as Eſter 3.13 33 Surely thou art iuſt in all that is come vpon vs: for thou k haſt delt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

k He confeſſeth that all theſe things came to them iuſtely for their ſinnes, but he appealeth frō Gods iuſtice to his mercies

34 And our Kings and our princes, our Priests and our fathers haue not done thy Law, nor regarded thy commandements nor thy proteſtatiōs, wherewith thou haſt l proteſted among them.

l That thou woldeſt deſtroy them, except thei wolde returne to thee.

35 And they haue not ſerued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou ſhewedſt vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou ſetteſt before them, and haue not conuerted from their euil workes.

36 Beholde, we are ſeruants this day, & the lād that thou gaueſt vnto our fathers, to eate the m frute thereof, and the goodnes thereof, beholde, we are ſeruants therein.

m That is, to be the lords thereof.

37 And it yeldeth muche frute vnto ỹ Kīgs whome thou haſt ſet ouer vs, becauſe of our ſinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattel at their pleaſure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now becauſe of all this we make n a ſure couenāt, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Prieſts ſeale vnto it.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites, which came with Zerubbabél vnto Ierusalém, are nõbred. 27 And the wall is dedicated.

1 THese also are the Priests & the Leuites that a went vp with Zerubbabél, the sonne of Shealtiél, and Ieshúa: to wit, Seraiáh, Ieremiáh, Ezrá, a From Babylon to Ierusalem.

2 Amariáh, Mallúch, Hattúsh,

3 Shecaniáh, Rehúm, Merimóth,

4 Iddó, Ginnethó Abiá.,

5 Miamín, Maadiáh, Bilgáh,

6 Shemaiah, & Ioiarib, Iedaiáh,

7 Sallú, Amók, Hilkiáh, Iedaiáh: these were the b chief of the Priests, & of their brethren in the daies of Ieshúa.

b Next in dignitie to ỹ hie Priests, and ỹ were of the storke of Aarón

8 And the Leuites, Ieshúa, Binnúi, Kadmiél, Sherebiáh, Iudáh, Mattaniáh c were ouer the thankesgiuings, he, & his brethren.

c Had charge of them that sang the Psalmes

9 And Bakbukiáh and Vnní, & their brethren were about them in the d watches.

d They kept their wardes and watches according to their turnes, as 1 Chro 23,6 10 And Ieshúa begate Ioiakim: Ioiakím also begate Eliashíb, & Eliashíb begate Ioiadá.

11 And Ioiadá begate Ionathan, & Ionathán begate Iaddúa.

12 And in the daies of Ioiakím were these, the chief fathers of the Priests: vnder e Seraiáh was Meraiáh, vnder Ieremiáh, Hananiáh, e That is, next to Seraiáh, or rather of that order, which was called after the name of Seraiáh.

13 Vnder Ezrá, Meshullám, vnder Amariáh, Iehohanán,

14 Vnder Melicú, Ionathán, vnder Shebaniáh, Ioséph,

15 Vnder Harím, Adná, vnder Meraióth, Helkái,

16 Vnder Iddó, Zechariáh, vnder Ginnithón, Meshullam, 17 Vnder f Abiáh, Zichrí, vnder Miniamín, & vnder Moadiah, Piltái, f Whereof was Zacharie Iohn Baptists father.

18 Vnder Bilgáh, Shámúa, vnder Shemaiáh, Iehonathán,

19 Vnder Ioiarib, Mattenái, vnder Iedaiáh, Vzzí,

20 Vnder Sallái, Kallái, vnder Amók, Eber,

21 Vnder Hilkiáh, Hashabiáh, vnder Iedaiáh, Nethaneél.

22 In ỹ daies of Eliashíb, Ioiadá, & Iohanán and Iaddúa were the chief fathers of the Leuites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.

23 The sõnes of Leuí, the chief fathers were written in the boke of the Chronicle euen vnto the daies of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chief of the Leuites were Hashabiáh, Sherebiáh, and Ieshúa the sonne of Kadmiél, & their brethren about them to giue praise and thankes, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, warde ouer g against warde.

g That is, one after another, and euerie one in his course.

25 Mattaniáh and Bakbukiáh, Obadiáh, Meshullám, Talmón and Akkúb were porters keping the warde at the thresholdes of the gates.

26 These were in the daies of Ioiakím the sonne of Ieshúa, the sonne of Iozadak, & in the daies of Nehemiáh the captaine, & of Ezrá the Priest and scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ierusalém they sought the Leuites out of all their places, to bring them to Ierusalém to kepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbales, violes and with harpes.

28 Then the h singers gathered them selues together both from the plaine countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of h Netophathí, h The sonnes of the singers

h Whiche were a certeine familie & had their possessions in ỹ fields, 1 Chro 2,54.

29 And from the house of Gilgál, and out of the countreis of Géba, and Azmáueth: for the singers had buylt thẽ villages rounde about Ierusalém.

30 And the Priests & Leuites were purified, and clensed the people, and the gates, and the wall.

31 And i I broght vp the princes of Iudáh vpon the wall, & appointed two great cõpanies to giue thankes, and the one went on the right hand of the wall towarde the dung gate.

i Meaning, Nehemiáh

32 And after them went Hoshaiáh, & halfe of the princes of Iudah, 33 And Azariáh, Ezrá and Meshullám,

Zechariáh the ſonne of Ionathán, the ſonne of Shemaiáh, the ſonne of Mattaniáh, the ſonne of Michaiáh, the ſonne of Zaccúr, the ſonne of Aſáph.

36 And [k] his brethren, Shemaiáh, and Azareél, Milalái, Gilalái, Maái, Nethaneél, & Iudáh, Hanáni, with ỹ muſical inſtruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezrá the ſcribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ouer againſt them went they vp by [l] the ſtaires of the citie of Dauid, at the going vp of the wall beyonde the houſe of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eaſtwarue.

38 And the ſeconde companie of them that gaue thankes, went on the otherſide, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the furnaces euen vnto the broade wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpō the olde gate, and vpon the fiſhgate, and the towre of Hananeél, and the towre of Meáh, euen vnto the ſhepegate: and they ſtode in the gate of the warde.

40 So ſtode the two companies (of them that gaue thankes) in the houſe of God, & I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Prieſts alſo, Eliakím, Maaſeiáh, Miniamin, Michaiáh, Elioenái, Zechariáh, Hananiáh, with trumpets, 42 And Maaſeiáh, and Shemaiáh, & Eleazár, and Vzzí, and Iehohanán, and Malchiáh, and Flám, & Ezer: and the ſingers [n] ſang loude, hauing Izrahiáh which was the ouerſeer.

43 And the ſame day they offred great ſacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioye, ſo that bothe the women, and the children were ioyful: and the ioye of Ieruſalém was heard farre of.

44 Alſo at the ſame time were men appointed [m] ouer the chambers of the ſtore for the offrings (for the firſt frutes, and for the tithes) to gather in to thē out of the fields of the cities, the porcions of the Law for the Prieſts and the Leuites: for Iudáh reioyced for the Prieſts & for the Leuites, that ſerued.

45 And bothe the ſingers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, & the warde of the purification according to the commandement of Dauid, and Salomón his ſonne.

46 [*] For in the dayes of Dauid and Aſáph, of olde were chief ſingers, and ſongs of praiſe and thankeſgiuing vnto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabél, and in the dayes of Nehemiáh did all Iſraél giue porcions vnto the ſingers and porters, euerie day his porcion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites [n] gaue the holy things vnto the ſonnes of Aarón.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is red 3 They ſeparate from them all ſtrāgers 15 Nehemiáh reproueth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to ſerue God.

1 AND on that day did they read in the boke of Moſés, in the audiēce of the people, & it was founde writtē therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite * ſhulde not enter into the Congregacion of God, Deu. 23, 3.

2 Becauſe they met not the children of Iſraél wᵗ bread & with water, * but hired Balaám againſt thē, that he ſhulde curſe thē. & our God turned the curſe into a bleſſing. Numb. 22, 5.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they ſeparated from Iſraél [a] all thoſe that were mixed.

4 ¶ And before [b] this had the Prieſt Eliaſhib the ouerſight of the chamber of the houſe of our God, being [c] kinſman to Tobiáh:

5 And he had made him a great chamber & there had they aforetime laid the offrings, the incenſe, and the veſſels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the ſingers, & the porters) and the offrings of the Prieſts.

6 But in all this time was not I in Ieruſalém: for in the two and thirtieth yere of [d] Artahſhaſhte King of Babél, came I vnto the King, and [e] after certeine dayes I obteined of the King.

7 And when I was come to Ieruſalém, I vnderſtode [f] ỹ euil that Eliaſhib had done for Tobiáh, in that he had made him a chāber in the court of the houſe of God,

8 And it grieued me ſore: therefore I caſt forth all ỹ veſſels of the houſe of Tobiáh out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanſe the chambers: and thether broght I againe the veſſels of the houſe of God with the meat offring and the incenſe.

10 And I perceiued that the porcions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euerie one was fled to his lād, euen the Leuites & ſingers that executed the worke.

11 Thē reproued I the rulers & ſaid, Why is the houſe of God forſakē? And I aſſembled them, and ſet them in their place.

12 Then broght all Iudáh the tithes of corne & of wine, & of oyle vnto ỹ treaſures.

13 And I made treaſurers ouer ỹ treaſures, Shelemiáh the Prieſt, & Zadók the ſcribe, & of the Leuites, Pedaiáh, & vnder their hand Hanán the ſonne of Zaccúr the ſonne of Mattaniáh: for they were counted faithful, and their office was to diſtribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, ô my God, herein, and wipe not out my [f] kindenes that I haue ſhewed on the houſe of my God, and on the offices t. reof.

15 In thoſe daies ſaw I in Iudáh thē, ỹ trode

[a] That is, all ſuche, which had ioyned in vnlawful marriage, and alſo thoſe, with whome God had forbidde them to haue ſocietie

[b] That the ſeparation was made wine preſſes on ỹ Sabbath, & that broght in ſheaues, and which laded aſſes alſo with wine, grapes, and figges and all burdens, and broght them into Ieruſalém vpon the Sabbath day: and g I proteſted to them in the day that they ſolde vitailes.

g I declared vnto thẽ, that God wolde not ſuffer ſuche tranſgreſſours of his Law to be vnpuniſhed.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus alſo therein, which broght fiſh and all wares, and ſolde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudáh euen in Ieruſalém.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Iudáh, & ſaid vnto them, What euil thing is this that ye do, and breake the Sabbath daye?

h Was not this a great cauſe, why God plagued vs in times paſt? meaning, that if they tranſgreſſed now in the ſame againe, their plague ſhulde be greater 18 Did not your fathers h thus, and our God broght all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet ye increaſe the wrath vpon Iſraél, in breaking the Sabbath?

i About the time that the ſunne went downe for the Sabbath lafted from the ſunne goingdowne of the one day to ỹ ſunne ſetting of the other.

19 And when the gates of Ieruſalém began to be i darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to ſhut the gates, and charged, that they ſhulde not be opened til after the Sabbath, and ſome of my ſeruants ſet I at the gates, that there ſhulde no burden be broght in on the Sabbath daye.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandiſe remained once or twiſe all night without Ieruſalém.

21 And I proteſted among them, and ſaid vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I wil lay hands vpon you. Frõ that time came they nomore on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I ſaid vnto the Leuites that they ſhulde clenſe them ſelues, and that they ſhulde come and k kepe the gates, to ſanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, ô my God, cõcerning this, and pardone me according to thy great mercie.

k Meaning, of the Tẽple that none, that was vncleane, ſhulde entre.

23 In thoſe dayes alſo I ſawe Iewes that maried wiues of l Aſhdód, of Ammón, and of Moab.

l Which was a citie of the Philiſtims, & they had maried wiues thereof, and ſo had corrupted their ſpeache, and religion.

24 And their children ſpake halfe in the ſpeache of Aſhdód, & colde not ſpeake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, & of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and m curſed them, and ſmote certeine of them, and pulled of their heere, & toke an othe of them by God, Ye ſhal not giue your daughters vnto their ſonnes, nether ſhal ye take of their daughters vnto your ſonnes, nor for your ſelues.

m That is, I did excommunicate them, & driue thẽ out of th' Cõgregacion.

26 * Did not Salomón the King of Iſraél ſinne by theſe things? yet among manie nacions was there no King like him: for he was beloued of his God, and God had made him King ouer Iſraél: yet ſtrange women cauſed him to ſinne.

1. King. 3. 7.

27 *Shal we then obey vnto you, to do all this great euil, and to tranſgreſſe againſt our God, euen to mary ſtrange wiues?

1 King. 11.

28 And one of the ſonnes of Ioiadá the ſonne of Eliaſhib the hye Prieſt was the ſonne in law of Sanballát the Horonite: but I chaſed him from me.

29 Remember them, ô my God, that n defile the Prieſthode, and the couenant of the Prieſthode, and of the Leuites.

n Puniſh thẽ accordíng to their faults, & euil example, which they haue giuen to the reſt of thy people, cõtrarie to their vocation.

30 Then clenſed I them from all ſtrangers, and appointed the wardes of the Prieſts & of the Leuites, euerie one in his office, 31 And for the offring of the wood at times appointed, & for the firſt frutes. Remember me, ô my God, o in goodnes.

THE ARGVMENT.

Becauſe of the diuerſitie of names, wherely they vſed to name their Kings, and the ſuppulacion of yeres, whereon the Ebrewes, and the Grecians do varie, diuers authors write diuerſly as touching this Ahaſhuerôſh, but it ſemeth Daniél 6, 1, and 9, 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and ſonne of Aſtyages, called alſo Ahaſhuerôſh, which was a name of honour, and ſignified great and chief, as the ſpirit of Herenius declined the great mercies of God toward his Church, who neuer faileth them in their greateſt dangers, but when all hope of worldely helpe faileth, he euer ſtirreth vp ſome, by whome he ſendeth conſort, and deliuerance. Herein alſo is deſcribed the ambition, pride and cruelte of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their ſodayn fall when they are at higheſt. And how God preſerueth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glorie, and haue a care and loue towarde their brethren.

CHAP. I.

1 King Ahashuerósh maketh a royal feast, 10 Wherunto the Quene Vashti wil not come, 19 For which cause she is diuorced. 20 The Kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

a Called also Darius, who was now the soueregne Monarch, & had ỹ gouernemẽt of the Medes, Persians and Chaldeans some thirtene he was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes

b Daniél chap 6, 1 maketh mẽcion but of six score, leauing out the nomber that is vnperfit, as the Scripture in diuers places vseth

c That is, hid rest, and quietnes

Nehem. 1, 1.

IN the dayes of a Ahashuerósh (this is Ahashuerósh that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an b hũdreth, and seuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the King Ahashuerósh c sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushán,

3 In the thirde yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruãts, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That he might shewe the riches & glorie of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie manie dayes, euẽ an hũdreth and foure score dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the King made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushán, bothe vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the courte of the garden of the Kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, grene, and blewe clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillers of marble: the d beddes were of golde, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyrie, and marble and alabaster, and blewe coulour.

d Which they vsed in those countreis in stead of tables

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessel after vessel, and royal wine in abundance according to the e power of the King.

e As was beseming for so magnifical a King

8 And the drinking was by an ordre, none might f compel: for so the King had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shulde do according to euerie mans pleasure.

f None might be cõpelled to drinke more then it pleased him.

9 ¶ The Quene Vashtí made a feast also for the womẽ in the royal house of King Ahashuerósh.

10 Vpon the g seuent day when the King was mery with wine, he commanded Mehumán, Bizthá, Harboná, Bigthá, and Abagthá, Zethár, and Carcás, the seuen eunuches (that serued in the presence of Kĩg Ahashuerósh)

g Which was the last day of the feast that the King made for ỹ people, as verse 5.

11 To bring Quene Vashtí before the King with ỹ crowne royal, that he might shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to loke vpon.

12 But the Quene Vashtí refused to come at the Kings worde, * which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

* For which cause he had geue the chamcher.

13 Then the King said to the wise men, h that knewe the times (for so was the Kĩgs maner towardes all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

h That had experience of things, as thei had learned by diligent marking in cõtinuance of time

14 And the next vnto him was Carshená, Shethár, Admátha, Tarshish, Méres, Marsená & Memucán the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the i Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome)

i Which were his chief counsellers, that might haue alwaies accesse to him.

15 What shal we do vnto ỹ Quene Vashtí according to the lawe, because she did not according to the worde of the King Ahashuerósh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucán answered before the King and the princes, The Quene Vashtí hathe not onely done k euil against the King, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerósh.

k By her disobedience she hathe giuen an example to all women to do the like to their housbands

17 For the l acte of the Quene shal come abrode vnto all women, so that they shal despise their housbãds in their owne eies, and shal say, The King Ahashuerósh cõmanded Vashtí the Quene to be broght in before him, but she came not.

l That is, her disobedience.

18 So shal the m princesses of Persia & Media this day say vnto all the Kings Princes, whẽ thei heare of the acte of the Quene. thus shal there be muche despitefulnes and wrath.

m Meaning, ỹ thei wolde take first occasiõ here of to do ỹ like, & that ỹ rest of womẽ wolde by continuance do ỹ same.

19 If it please the King, let a royal decree procede from him, and let it be writen among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashtí come n nomore before King Ahashuerósh. and let the King giue her royal estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

n Let her be diuorced & a nother made Quene.

20 And when the decree of the King which shalbe made, shalbe published throughout all his kingdome (thogh it be o great) all the women shal giue their housbands honour, bothe great and small.

o For he had vnder him an hundreth twẽtie and seuen countreis.

21 And this saying pleased the King & the princes, & the King did according to the worde of Memucán.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the King, into euerie prouince according to the writig thereof, & to euerie people after their language, that euerie man shulde p beare rule in his owne house, and that he shulde publish it in the language of that same people.

p That is, that ỹ wife shulde be subiect to the housband and at his cõmandement.

CHAP. II.

2 After the Quene is put away, certeine yong maides are broght to the King. 14 Estér pleaseth the King, & is made Quene. 22 Mordecái discloseth vnto the King those that wolde betray him.

1 AFter these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerósh was appeased, he q remembred Vashtí, & what she had doq That is, he called ỹ matter againe into cõmunicatiõ.

ne, and what was decreed [b] againſt her.

2 And the Kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſaid, Let them ſeke for the King beautiful yong virgins,

3 And let ỹ King appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let thē gather all the beautiful yong virgins vnto the palace of Shuſhán, into the houſe of the women, vnder the hand of Hegé the Kings eunuche, [c] keper of the women, to giue them their things [d] for purification.

[c] The abuſe of theſe courtes was ſo great, that they inuented manie meanes to ſerue the luſtes of princes, and therefore, as they ordeined wicked lawes that the King might haue whole daughters he wolde, ſo they had diuers houſes appointed, as one for them, while they were virgines, another when they were concubines, & for the Quenes another.

4 And the maid that ſhal pleaſe the King, let her reigne in the ſtead of Vaſhti. And this pleaſed the King, and he did ſo.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shuſhán, there was a certeine Iewe, whoſe name was Mordecái the ſonne of Iaír, the ſonne of Shimeí, the ſonne of K ſh a man of Iemíni,

6 Which had bene caryed away from Ieruſalém *with the captiuitie that was caryed away with Iekoniáh King of Iudáh (whome Nebuchadnezzár King of Babél had caryed away)

7 And he nouriſhed Hadaſſáh, that is Eſtér, his vncles daughter: for ſhe had nether father nor mother, and the maid was faire, and beautiful to loke on: & after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecái toke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, & his decree was publiſhed, and manie maides were broght togeher to the palace of Shuſhán, vnder the hād of Hegé, Eſtér was broght alſo vnto the Kings houſe vnder ỹ hand of Hegé the keper of the women.

9 And the maid pleaſed him, and ſhe founde fauour in his ſight: therefore he cauſed her things for purificatiō to be giuen her ſpedely, and her *portions, and ſeuen comely maides to be giuen her out of the Kings houſe, and he gaue change to her and to her maides of the beſt in the houſe of the women.

10 But Eſtér ſhewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecái had charged her, that ſhe ſhulde not tel it.

11 And Mordecái walked [e] euerie day before the courte of the womens houſe, to knowe if Eſtér did wel, and what ſhulde be done with her.

[e] For though ſhe was taken away by a cruel law, yet he ceaſed not to haue a fatherlie care ouer her, and therefore did reſort oft times to heare of her.

12 And when the courſe of euerie maid came, to go in to King Ahaſhuerósh, after that ſhe had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for ſo were the dayes of their purifications accompliſhed, ſix moneths with oyle of myrrhe, & ſix moneths with ſwete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maids vnto the King) whatſoeuer ſhe required, was [f] giuen her, to go with her out of the womens houſe vnto the Kings houſe.

[f] What apparel ſhe aſked of the eunuch, that was he bounde to giue her.

14 In the euening ſhe went, and on the morow ſhe returned into the ſeconde houſe of the women vnder the hand of Shaaſhgáz the Kings eunuche, which kept the cócubines: ſhe came into the King nomore, except ſhe pleaſed the King, & that ſhe were called by name.

15 Now when the courſe of Eſtér ỹ daughter of Abihaíl the vncle of Mordecái (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, ỹ ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, ſhe deſired nothing, but what *Hegé the Kings eunuche the keper of the women ſaid: and Eſtér founde fauour in the ſight of all them that loked vpon her.

*Or, Hegái.

16 ¶ So Eſtér was takē vnto King Ahaſhuerósh into his houſe royal in the tenth moneth, which is the [h] moneth Tebéth, in the ſeuent yere of his reigne.

[g] Wherein her modeſtie appeared becauſe ſhe feght not apparel to cōmend her beautie, but ſtode to ỹ eunuches appointment.

17 And the King loued Eſtér aboue all the women, and ſhe founde grace and fauour in his ſight more then all the virgins: ſo that he ſet the crowne of the kingdome vpō her head, & made her Quene in ſteade of Vaſhti.

18 Then the King made a great feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruants which was [i] the feaſt of Eſtér and gaue reſt [k] vnto the prouinces, and gaue giftes, according to [l] the power of a King.

[i] That is, made for her ſake

[k] He releaſed their tribute.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the [m] ſeconde time, then Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate.

[m] That is, as the mariage of Eſter, which was ỹ ſeconde mariage of ỹ King.

20 Eſtér had not yet ſhewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecái had charged her: for Eſtér did after the worde of Mordecai, as when ſhe was nouriſhed with him.

21 ¶ In thoſe daies when Mordecái ſate in the Kings gate, two of the Kings eunuches, Bigthán and Téreſh, which kept the dore, were wroth, & ſoght to lay [n] hand on the King Ahaſhuerósh.

[n] Meaning, to kil him.

22 And the thing was knowē to Mordecái, and he tolde it vnto Quene Eſtér, and Eſtér certified the King thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquiſitiō was made, it was founde ſo: therefore thei were bothe hanged on a tre: and it was writen in the boke of the [o] Chronicles before the King.

[o] In the Chronicles of the Medes & Perſiās, as Chap. 10, 2.

CHAP. III.

1 Hamán, after he was exalted, obteined of the King, that all the Iewes ſhulde be put to death, becauſe Mordecás had not done him worſhip as other had.

1 AFter theſe things did King Ahaſhuerósh promote Hamán the ſonne of Hammedátha the Agagite, & exalted hī, and ſet his ſeat aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the Kings ſeruants that were at the Kings gate, bowed their knees, & reuerēced Hamán: for the Kīg had ſo cōmāded ded cõcerning him: but Mordecái [a] bowed not the knee, nether did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings ſeruants which were at the Kings gate ſaid vnto Mordecái, Why tranſgreſſeſt thou the Kings commandement?

4 And albeit they ſpake daiely vnto hĩ, yet he wolde not heare them: therefore they [b] tolde Hamán, that they might ſe how Mordecais matters wolde ſtãd: for he had tolde them, that he was a Iewe.

5 And when Haman ſawe that Mordecái bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was ful of wrath.

6 Now he "thoght it to litle to lay hands onely on Mordecái: & becauſe they had ſhewed him the people of Mordecái, Hamán ſoght to deſtroye all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole kingdome of Ahaſhuerósh, euen ỹ people of Mordecái.

7 In the firſt moneth (that is the moneth [c] Niſán) in the twelft yere of King Ahaſhuerósh, they caſt Pur (that is a lot) [d] before Hamán, from day to day, and frõ mon th to moneth, vnto the twelft mon th, that is the moneth [e] Adár.

8 Then Hamán ſaid vnto King Ahaſhuerósh, There is a people ſcatred, and diſperſed among the people in all the prouin ces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they do not obſerue the [f] Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profite to ſuffre them.

9 If it pleaſe the King, let it be writen that they may be deſtroyed, & I wil "paye ten thouſand talents of ſiluer by the hãds of them that haue the charge of this buſines to bring it into the Kings treaſurie.

10 Then the King toke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Hamán the ſonne of Hammedátha the Agagite the Iewes aduerſarie.

11 And the King ſaid vnto Hamán, Let ỹ ſiluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaſeth thee.

12 Then were the Kings [g] ſcribes called on the thirtent day of the firſt moneth, and there was writen (according to all that Hamán commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euerie prouince, and to the rulers of euerie people & to euerie prouince, accordĩg to the writing thereof, & to euerie people according to their language: in the name of King Ahaſhuerósh was it writen, and ſealed with the Kings ring.

13 And the lettres were ſent "by poſtes into all the Kings prouinces, to rote out, to kill and to deſtroye all the Iewes, bothe yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirtent day of the twelft moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to ſpoile them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there ſhulde be giuen a cõmandemẽt in all prouinces, & publiſhed vnto all people, that they ſhulde be ready againſt the ſame day.

15 And the poſtes compelled by the Kings cõmandement went forthe, and the commandement was giuẽ in the palace at Shuſhan: and the King and Hamán ſate drinking, but the [g] citie of Shuſhán was in perplexitie.

[a] The Perſiãs maner was to knele downe and reuerence their Kings, & ſuche as he appointed in chief autoritie, ẃ Mord. cái wolde not do to this ambitious & proude mã

[b] Thus we ſe that there is none ſo wicked, but they haue their flatterers to accuſe the godlie.

[g] To wit, the Iewes, ỹ were in Shuſhan

CHAP. IIII.

Mordecái giueth the Quene knowledge of the cruel decree of the King againſt the Iewes 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

1 NOw when Mordecái perceiued all that was done, Mordecái rent his clothes, and put on ſackecloth, & aſhes, and went out into the middes of the citie, & cryed with a great crye, and a bitter.

2 And he came euẽ before the Kings [a] gate, but he might not entre within the Kings gate, being clothed with ſackecloth.

[a] Becauſe he wolde aduertiſe Eſter of this cruel proclamation.

3 And in euerie prouince, & place, whether the Kings charge and his commiſsion came, there was great ſorowe among the Iewes, and faſting, & weping and mournĩg, and "many laye in ſackecloth & in aſhes.

["Ebr ſackecloth & aſhes were ſpred for many.

4 ¶ Then Eſters maides and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Quene was very heauy, and ſhe ſent raiment to clothe Mordecái, and to take away his ſackecloth frõ him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Eſtér Hatách one of ỹ Kings eunuches, whome he "had appointed to ſerue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecái, to knowe what it was, and why it was.

["Ebr. had cauſed to ſtand before her.

6 So Hatách wẽt forthe to Mordecái vnto the ſtreat of the citie, which was before the Kings gate.

7 And Mordecái tolde hĩ of all that which had come vnto him, and of the "ſumme of the ſiluer that Hamán had promiſed to paye vnto the Kings treaſuries, becauſe of the Iewes, for to deſtroye them.

8 Alſo he gaue him the [c] copie of the writĩg & commiſsion that was giuen at Shuſhán, to deſtroye thẽ that he might ſhewe it vnto Eſtér and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that ſhe ſhulde go in to the King, & make petition and ſupplication beſore him for her people.

[c] Or, contents.

9 ¶ So when Hatách came, he tolde Eſtér the wordes of Mordecái.

10 Then Eſtér ſaid vnto Hatách, and commanded him, to ſay vnto Mordecái, 11 All the Kings ſeruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do knowe, that whoſoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his,

[d] To knowe what moneth and day ſhulde be good to enterprice this thing, that it might haue good ſucceſſe: but God diſappointed their lottes & expectation.

[e] Containing part of February, & parte of March.

[f] There be the two argumẽts which commonly ỹ worldlings & the wicked vſe to aduãce ỹ, that is, ỹ contempt of their lawes, & diminiſhing of their profit without reſpect how God is either pleaſed or diſpleaſed that he ſhal dye, except him to whome the King holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King theſe thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecái of Eſters wordes.

13 And Mordecái ſaid, that thei ſhulde anſwer Eſtér thus, Thinke not with thy ſelf that thou ſhalt eſcape in the Kings houſe, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdeſt thy peace at this time, "comfort and deliuerãce [b] ſhal appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers houſe ſhal periſh: and who knoweth whether thou art come to ỹ kingdome for [c] ſuch a time?

15 Then Eſtér commãded to anſwer Mordecái,

16 Go, & aſſemble all the Iewes that are found in Shuſhán, & faſt ye for me, & eat not, nor drinke in thre dayes, day nor night. I alſo and my maides wil faſt likewiſe, and ſo wil I go in to the King, which is not according to the Law: and if I periſh, [d] I periſh.

17 So Mordecái went his way, and did according to all that Eſtér had commanded him.

" Ebr breathig

b Thus Mordecai ſpake in ỹ confidence of that truth, ỹ all Gods children ought to haue: which is that God wil deliuer them, though all worldely meanes faile

c For to deliuer Gods Church out of theſe preſent dãgers.

d I wil put my life in danger & referre the ſucceſſe to God, ſeing it is for his glorie & the deliuerance of his Church.

CHAP. V.

1 Eſtér entreth in to the King, and biddeth him and Hamán to a feaſt. 11 Hamán prepareth a galous for Mordecái.

1 AND on the third [a] day Eſtér put on her royal apparel, and ſtode in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer againſt the Kings houſe: and the King ſate vpon his royal throne in the Kings palace ouer againſt the gate of the houſe.

a To wit, after that the Iewes had begone to faſt.

2 And when the King ſawe Eſtér the Quene ſtanding in the court, ſhe found fauour in his ſight: & the Kig [b] held out the golde ſceptre ỹ was in his hãd: ſo Eſtér drewe nere, and touched the toppe of the ſceptre.

b Which was a ſigne ỹ her commig was agreable vnto him, as Chap. 4.11

3 Then ſaid the King vnto her, What wilt thou, Quene Eſtér? & what is thy requeſt? it ſhalbe euen giuen [c] thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

c Meaning hereby, ỹ what ſoeuer ſhe aſked, ſhuld be granted, as Mar 6.23.

4 Then ſaid Eſtér, If it pleaſe the King, let the King and Hamán come this day vnto the bãket, ỹ I haue prepared for him.

5 And the Kig ſaid, Cauſe Hamán to make haſt that he may do as Eſtér hathe ſaid. So the King and Hamán came to the bãket that Eſtér had prepared.

6 And the King ſaid vnto Eſtér at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhal euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

d Becauſe thei vſed to drinke exceſsiuely in their bankets, they called the bãket by the name of that, which was moſte in vſe or eſteemed

7 Then anſwered Eſtér, and ſaid, My petition and my requeſt is,

8 If I haue founde fauour in the ſight of the King, and if it pleaſe the King to giue me my peticion, and to performe my requeſt, let the King and Hamán come to the banket that I ſhal prepare for them, & I wil do tomorowe according to the Kigs [e] ſaying.

e I wil declare what thing I demande.

9 ¶ Then went Hamán forthe the ſame day ioyful & with a glad heart. But when Hamán ſawe Mordecái in the Kigs gate, that he ſtode not vp, nor moued for him, then was Hamán ful of indignacion at Mordecái.

10 Neuertheles Hamán refrained him ſelf: and when he came home, he ſent, and called for his friends, and Zéreſh his wife.

11 And Hamán tolde them of the glorie of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had [f] promoted him, and how that he had ſet him aboue the princes and ſeruants of the King.

f Thus ỹ wicked when thei are promoted, in ſtead of acknowledging their charge & humbling theſelues, waxe ambitious diſdainful and cruel.

12 Hamán ſaid moreouer, Yea, Eſtér the Quene did let no man come in with the King to the banket that ſhe had prepared, ſaue me: and tomorowe am I bidden vnto her alſo with the King.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile me, as long as I ſe Mordecái the Iewe ſitting at the Kings gate.

14 Then ſaid Zéreſh his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tre of fiftie cubites hie, and tomorowe ſpeake thou vnto the King, that Mordecái may be hanged thereon: thẽ ſhalt thou go ioyfully with the King vnto the banket. And the thing pleaſed Hamán, and he cauſed to make the tre.

g Meaning, ỹ higheſt tree colde be founde.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecái. 10 And commandeth Haman, to cauſe Mordecái to be had in honour.

1 THe ſame night "the King ſlept not, & he commanded to bring the boke of the records & the chronicles: and thei were red before the King.

" Ebr the Kings ſlepe is paſſed.

2 Then it was founde writen that Mordecái *had tolde of Bigtána, & Téreſh two of the Kings eunuches, kepers of the dore, who ſoght to lay hands on the King Ahaſhuerósh.

Chap. 2.22

3 Thẽ the King ſaid, What honour & dignitie hathe bene giuen to Mordecái [a] for this? And the Kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſaid, There is nothing done for him.

a For he thoghs it vnworthie his eſtate to receiue a benefite, & not reward it.

4 And the King ſaid, Who is in the court? (Now Hamán was come into the inner court of the Kings houſe, that he might ſpeake vnto the King to [b] hang Mordecái on the tre that he had prepared for him.)

b Thus while the wicked imagine the deſtruction of others, thei thẽ ſelues fall into the ſame pit.

5 And the Kings ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Beholde, Hamán ſtandeth in the court. And the King ſaid, Let him come in.

6 And

6 And when Haman came in, the King ſaid vnto him, What ſhalbe done vnto the mā, whome the King wil honour? Thē Haman thoght in his heart, To whome wolde the King do honour more then to me?

7 And Hamán anſwered the King, The man whome the King wolde honour, 8 Let thē bring for him royal apparel, which the King vſeth to weare, and the [c] horſe that the King rydeth vpon, and that the crowne royal may be ſet vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horſe be deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings moſte noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whome the King wil honour) & cauſe him to ride vpon the horſe through the ſtrete of the citie, & proclaime before him, Thus ſhal it be done vnto the man, whome the King wil honour.

10 Then the King ſaid to Hamán, Make haſte, take the raymēt & the horſe as thou haſt ſaid, & do ſo vnto Mordecai ỹ Iewe, that ſitteth at the Kings gāte: let nothing faile of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Hamán toke the rayment & the horſe, and arayed Mordecai, and broght him on horſe backe through the ſtrete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus ſhal it be done to the man whome the King wil honour.

12 And Mordecái came againe to ỹ Kings gate, but Hamán haſted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Hamán tolde Zéreſh his wife, & all his friends all that had befallen him. Thē ſaid his wiſe men, and Zéreſh his wife vnto him, If Mordecái be of the ſede of the Iewes, before whome thou haſt begōne to fall, thou ſhalt not preuaile againſt him, [d] but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches and haſted to bring Hamán vnto the bāket that Eſtér had prepared.

[c] Meaning hereby, that the King ſhulde make nomē vnto him ſelf, as Ioſeph hereby was knowen to be next to Pharaoh, Gen 41, 42.

[d] Thus God ſometime putteth in the mouthe of the very wicked, to ſpeake that thīg, which he hathe decreed ſhal come to paſſe.

CHAP. VII.

3 The quene biddeth the King & Hamán againe & praieth for her ſelfe and her people 6 She accuſeth Hamán and he is hanged on the gallous, which he had prepared for Mordecái.

1 SO the King and Hamán came to banket with the Quene Eſtér.

2 And the King ſaid againe vnto Eſtér on the ſeconde day at the banket of [a] wine, What is thy peticion, Quene Eſtér, that it may be giuē thee? and what is thy requeſt? It ſhalbe euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Eſtér the Quene anſwered, and ſaid, If I haue founde fauour in thy ſight, ô King, and if it pleaſe the King, let my life be giuen me at my peticion, & my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſolde, I, and my people, to be deſtroyed, to be ſlayne and to periſh: but if we were ſolde for ſeruants, & for handmaides, I wolde haue held my tongue: althogh the aduerſarie colde not [b] recōpenſe the Kings loſſe.

[a] Read Chap. 5, 6.

[b] Hamán cold not ſo muche profite ỹ King by this his malice, as he ſhulde hinder him by ỹ loſſe of the Iewes, & the tribute which he hath of them

5 Thē King Ahaſhuerósh anſwered, & ſaid vnto ỹ Quene Eſtér, Who is he? & where is he that [a] preſumeth to do thus?

6 And Eſtér ſaid, The aduerſarie and enemie is this wicked Hamán. Then Hamán was afraied before the King & the Quene.

7 And the King aroſe from the banket of wine in his wrath, & went into the palace garden: but Haman ſtode vp, to make requeſt for his life to ỹ Quene Eſtér: for he ſawe that there was a [c] miſchief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the houſe where they dranke wine, Hamán was [d] fallen vpon the bed whereon Eſtér ſate: therefore the King ſaid, Wil he force ỹ Quene alſo before me in the houſe? As the worde wēt out of the Kings mouthe, they [e] couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonáh one of the eunuches, ſaid in the preſence of the King, Beholde, there ſtandeth yet the tree in Hamans houſe fiftie cubites hie, which Hamán had prepared for Mordecái, that ſpake [f] good for the King. Then the King ſaid, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Hamán on the tre, that he had prepared for Mordecái: then was the Kings wrath pacified.

[c] His conſcience did accuſe him that as he had conſpired the death of innocents, ſo the vengeance of God might fall vpon him for the ſame

[d] He fel downe at the beddes fete or couche, whereupon ſhe ſate, and made requeſt for his life

[e] This was the maner of the Perſians, when one was out of the Kings fauour [f] Which diſcouered the conſpiracie againſt ỹ King, Chap. 2, 22.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Hamán was Mordecái exalted. 14 Comfortable lettres are ſent vnto the Iewes.

1 THe ſame day did King Ahaſhuerósh giue the houſe of Haman the aduerſarie of the Iewes vnto the Quene Eſtér. And Mordecái [a] came before the King: for Eſtér tolde what he was [b] vnto her.

2 And the King toke of his ring, which he had taken from Hamán, and gaue it vnto Mordecái: and Eſtér ſet Mordecái ouer the houſe of Hamán.

3 And Eſtér ſpake yet more before ỹ King, and fell downe at his fete weping, and beſoght him that he wolde put away the [c] wickednes of Hamán the Agagite, and his deuiſe that he had imagined againſt the Iewes.

4 And the King held out the golde [d] ſceptre toward Eſtér. Then aroſe Eſtér, and ſtode before the King,

5 And ſaid, If it pleaſe the King, and if I haue founde fauour in his ſight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I pleaſe him, let it be writen, that the lettres of the deuiſe of Hamán the ſonne of Ammedátha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to deſtroye ỹ Iewes,

[a] That is, was receiued into the Kings fauour and preſence that are in all the Kings prouinces.

For how can I ſuffer and ſe the euil, that ſhal come vnto my people? Or how can I ſuffer and ſe the deſtruction of my kinred?

7 And the King Ahaſhuerósh ſaid vnto ỹ Quene Eſtér, & to Mordecái the Iewe, Behólde, I haue giuen Eſtér the houſe of Hamán, whome they haue hanged vpon the tre, becauſe he layed hand vpon the Iewes.

Or, went about to ſlay the Iewes.

8 Write ye alſo for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the Kings name, and ſeale it with the Kings ring, (for the writings writen in the Kings name, and ſealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke)

c This was ỹ lawe of the Medes & Perſians, as Dan 6,15 notwithſtanding the King reuoked the former decree grãted to Hamán, for Eſters ſake.

9 Thẽ were the Kings ſcribes called at the ſame time, cué in the third moneth, that is the moneth f Siuán, on the thre & twẽtieth day thereof: and it was writen, according to all as Mordecái commanded vnto the Iewes and to the prouinces, & captaines, and rulers of the princes, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundreth & ſeuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euerie prouince, according to the g writing thereof, and to euerie people after their ſpeache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

f Which conteineth parte of May and parte of Iune.

g That is, in ſuche letters & lãguage, as was vſial in euerie prouince.

10 And he wrote in the King Ahaſhuerósh name, and ſealed it with the Kings ring: & he ſent lettres by poſtes on horſebacke & that rode on beaſtes of price, as dromedaries & h coltes of mares.

h Or, mules.

11 Wherein the King granted the Iewes (in what cities ſoeuer they were) to gather them ſelues together, & to ſtand for i their life, & to roote out, to ſlay & to deſtroye all the power of the people & of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to ſpoyle their goods:

i That is, to defend them ſelues againſt all that wolde aſſaile them.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahaſhuerósh, euen in the thirtent day of the twelft moneth, which is the moneth k Adár.

k Which hath parte of February & part of March.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there ſhulde be a commandement giuen in all and euerie prouince, publiſhed among all the people, and that the Iewes ſhulde be readie againſt that day to k auenge them ſelues on their enemies.

k The King gaue them libertie to kill all ỹ did oppreſſe them.

14 So the poſtes rode vpon beaſtes of price, & dromedaries, & wẽt forthe with ſpede, to execute the Kings commandement, & the decree was giuen at Shuſhán ỹ palace.

15 And Mordecái went out from the King in royal apparel of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of golde, and with a garment of fine linen and purple, and the citie of Shuſhán reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and l ioye and gladnes, and honour.

l He ſheweth by theſe wordes that follow what this light was.

17 Alſo in all and euerie prouince, and in all and euerie citie and place, where the Kings commãdement & his decreé came, there was ioye and gladnes to the Iewes, a feaſt and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

m Cõformed them ſelues to the Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King the Iewes put their aduerſaries to death. 14 The ten ſonnes of Hamán are hanged. 17 The Iewes kepe a feaſt in remẽbrance of their deliuerance.

1 SO in the twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adái, vpon the thirtent day of the ſame, when the Kings commãdement and his decree drewe nere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it a turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth ỹ ioye of the wicked into ſorow, & the teares of the godlie into gladnes.

2 The Iewes gathered thẽ ſelues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the King Ahaſhuerósh, to laye hand on ſuche as ſoght their hurt, and no man colde withſtande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, & the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the King b exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecái fell vpon them.

b Did thẽ honour, & ſhewed thẽ friendſhip.

4 For Mordecái was great in the Kings houſe, and the reporte of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecái waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes ſmote all their c enemies with ſtrokes of the ſworde and ſlaughter, and deſtruction, and did what they wolde vnto thoſe that hated them.

c Which had cõſpired their death by the permiſsion of the wicked Hamán.

6 And at Shuſhán the palace ſlewe ỹ Iewes and deſtroyed d fiue hundreth men, d Beſides thoſe thre hundreth, ỹ they ſlewe the ſeconde day, as verſ. 15.

7 And Parſhandátha, and Dalphón, and Aſpátha,

8 And Porátha, and Adaliá, and Aridátha,

9 And Parmáſhta, and Ariſái, and Aridái, and Vaiezátha,

10 The ten ſonnes of Hamán, the ſonne of Ammedátha, the aduerſarie of the Iewes ſlewe they: but they layed not their hãds e on the ſpoyle.

e Whereby they declared, that this was Gods iuſt iudgement vpon ỹ enemies of his Church, for as muche as they ſoght not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

11 On the ſame day came the nomber of thoſe that were ſlayne, vnto the palace of Shuſhán before the King.

12 And the King ſaid vnto the Quene Eſtér, The Iewes haue ſlayne in Shuſhán the palace and deſtroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten ſonnes of Hamán: what haue they done in the reſt of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee? or what is thy requeſt moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then ſaid Eſtér, If it pleaſe the King, let it be granted alſo tomorowe to the Iewes that are in Shuſhán, to do according

f That she requireth not for deſire of vengeance, but zeale to ſe Gods iudgemẽts executed against his enemies

f vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tre Hamans ten ſonnes.

14 And the King charged to do ſo, and the decree was giuen at Shuſhán, and they hãged Hamans ten ſonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shuſhán, aſſembled them ſelues vpon the fourtent day of the moneth Adár, and ſlewe thre hũdreth men in Shuſhan, but on the ſpoile they layed not their hand.

16 And the reſt of the Iewes that were in the Kings prouinces aſſembled thẽ ſelues, and ſtode for g their liues, and had reſt from their enemies, & ſlewe of them that hated them, h ſeuentie and fyue thouſand: but they layed not their hãd on the ſpoile.

g Read Chap. 8, 11

h Meaning ỹ they laide hãdes on none, ỹ were not the enemies of God

17 This they did on the i thirtente day of the moneth Adar, and reſted the fourtẽte day thereof, and kept it a daye of feaſting and ioye.

i Meaning, in all places ſaining in Shuſhan.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shuſhán, aſſembled them ſelues on the thirtẽte day, & on the fourtente thereof, & then reſted on the fiftente of the ſame, & kept it a day of feaſting and ioye.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, k kept the fourtente day of the moneth Adar with ioye and feaſting, euen a ioyful day, and euerie one ſent preſents vnto his neighbour.

k As ỹ Iewes do, euẽ to this day, cealling it in the Perſians language Purim, that is the day of lots

20 ¶ And Mordecái wrote l theſe wordes, and ſent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahaſhuerósh, both e nere and farre, l The Iewes gather hereof that Mordecái wrote this ſtorie, but it ſeemeth that he wrote but onely theſe letters, and decrees that followe.

21 Inioining them that they ſhulde kepe the fourtente day of the moneth Adár, and the fiftente day of the ſame, euerie yere.

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes reſted from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them fró ſorow to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyful day, to kepe them the dayes of feaſting, and ioye, and m to ſend preſents euerie man to his neighbour, and gifres to the poore.

m He ſetteth before our eies the vſe of this feaſt, which was for the remembrance of Gods deliuerãce, the maintenance of mutual friẽdſhip, and relief of the poore.

23 And the Iewes promiſed to do as they had begonne, and as Mordecái had written vnto them, 24 Becauſe Haman the ſonne of Hammedátha the Agagite all the Iewes aduerſarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to deſtroye them, & had n caſt Pur (that is a lot) to conſume and deſtroye them.

n Read Chap 3.7.

25 And whẽ o ſhe came before the King, he cõmanded by letters, Let his wicked p deuiſe (which he imagined against ỹ Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his ſonnes on the tre.

o That is, Eſter.

p These are ỹ wordes of the Kings commandemẽt to diſannull Hamans wicked enterpriſe.

26 Therefore they called theſe dayes Purím, by the name of Pur, and becauſe of all the wordes of this lettre, and of that which they had ſene beſides this, & of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes alſo ordeined, and promiſed for them and for their ſede, and for all that ioined vnto them, that they wolde not q faile to obſerue thoſe q two dayes euerie yere, according to their writing, and according to their ſeaſon, q Or, tranſgreſſe q Meaning the fourtente, and the fiftẽte day of the moneth Adár

28 And that theſe dayes ſhulde be remembred, and kept throughout euerie generation and euerie familie, and euerie prouince, and euerie citie: euen theſe dayes of Purím ſhulde not faile among the Iewes, and the memorial of them ſhulde not periſh from their ſede.

29 And ỹ Quene Eſtér the daughter of Abihail & Mordecái the Iewe wrote with all autoritie (to cõfirme this letter of Purím the ſeconde time) r Or ſtrength, & efficacie.

30 And he ſent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and ſeuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahaſhuerósh, with r wordes of peace and trueth, r Which were letters declaring vnto the quietnes, and aſſurance and putting them out of doute and feare

31 To confirme theſe dayes of Purím according to their ſeaſons, as Mordecái the Iewe and Eſtér the Quene had appointed them, and as they had promiſed for them ſelues and for their ſede with s faſting and prayer.

s Or faſtes.

s That they wolde obſerue this feaſt with faſting, & earneſt prayer, which in Ebrewe is ſignified by this worde (tzaat cryc)

32 And the decree of Eſtér confirmed theſe wordes of Purím, & was writen in the boke.

CHAP. X.

The eſtimation and autoritie of Mordecái.

1 AND the King Ahaſhuerósh layed a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the ſea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecái, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not writen in the boke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Perſia?

3 For Mordecái the Iewe was the ſeconde vnto King Ahaſhuerósh, and great amõg the Iewes, and t accepted amõg the multitude of his brethren, who procured the welth of his people, & ſpake peaceably to all his ſede.

t These thre pointes are here ſet forth as commendable, and neceſſarie for him, that is in autoritie to haue the fauour of the people to procure their welth, & to be gentle, and louing toward them.

IOB.

THE ARGVMENT.

In this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular pacience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outwarde things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chief friends: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputations broght him almoste to dispaire. for they set forthe God as a seuere iudge, and mortal enemie vnto him, which had caste him of, therefore in vaine he shulde seke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob mainteineth a good cause, but handeleth it euil: againe his aduersaries haue an euil matter, but they defend it craftely. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man colde not reason against God therein, but he shulde be conuicted. Moreouer he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments, & affliction he brasteth forthe into manie inconueniencies bothe of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe as a desperate man in manie things, and as one that wolde resist God: and thus in his good cause which he doeth not handel wel. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine with manie goodlie argumẽts, that God punsheth continually according to the trespas, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinne, yet their intention is euil: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they mainteine an euil cause. Ezekiél commendeth Iob as a iuste man, Ezek. 14, 14, and Iames setteth out his pacience for an example, Iam. 5, 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holines, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 20 Satán hathe permission to tempt him. 13 He tempteth him by taking away his substance, and his children. 20 His faith and pacience.

1 THere was a mã in the lãd of [a] Vz called Iob, and this mã [b] was an vpright and iuste man, [c] one that feared God, & eschewed euil.

2 And he had seuẽ sonnes, and thre daughters.

3 His [d] substance also was seuen thousand shepe, and thre thousand camels, and fyue hundreth yoke of oxen, and fyue hundreth she asses, and his familie was verie great, so that this man was the greatest of all the [aa] men of [e] the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banketted in their houses, euerie one his day, and sent, & called their thre sisters to eat & to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob sent, and [f] sanctified thẽ, and rose vp early in the morning, and [g] offred burnt offrings according to the nomber of thẽ all. For Iob thoght, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and [h] blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob [i] euerie day.

6 ¶ Now on a day when the [k] children of God came and stode [l] before the Lord, Satán [m] came also among them.

7 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whẽce [n] commest thou? And Satán answered the Lord, saying, [o] From cõpassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satán, Hast thou not cõsidered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil?

9 Thẽ Satán answered the Lord, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for [p] noght?

10 Hast thou not made [q] an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hathe on euerie side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is encreased in the land.

11 But stretche out now thine hand and [r] touche all that he hathe, to se if he wil not blaspheme thee to [s] thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Lo, all that he hathe is in [t] thine hand. onely vpõ him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hãd. So Satán departed from the [u] presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feding in their places,

15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, & toke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the swoorde: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

l Because our infirmitie cã not comprehend God in his maiestie, he is set forthe vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderstand that, yt is spoke of him.

m This declareth that although Satán be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and do him all homage, without whose permission, & appointement he cã do nothing n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knewe whence he came o Herein is described the nature of Satán, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet 5 8 p He feareth thee nor for thine owne sake, but for the cõmoditie that he receiueth by thee

q Meaning, ye grace of God, which serued Iob as a rasiparre against all tentations.

r This signifieth that Satan is not able to touche vs, but it is God that must do it.

s Satán noteth the vice, whereunto mẽ are cõmonly subiect, that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vse is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie

t God giueth not Satán power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The [y] fyre of God is fallen from the heauen, and hathe burnt vp the shepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone, to tel thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Caldeans set out thre bandes, and fel vpon the camels, and haue taken them; and haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the swoorde: but I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, & said, Thy [z] sonnes, & thy daughters were eating, & drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And beholde, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernes, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fel vpon the childrē, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tel thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garmēt, and shaued his head, and fel downe vpon the grounde, and worshiped, 21 And said, *Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, & naked shal I returne [b] thether: the Lord hathe giuen, and the Lord hathe taken it: [c] blessed be the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God [d] foolishly.

y Which thig was also done by ỹ craft of Satán to tempt Iob the more grieuously, for asmuche as he might se, that not ouely men were his enemies, but that God made war reagainst him

z This last plague declareth, that whē one plague is past which semeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trye his, & teache them obedience a Which came not of impacience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but ỹ in their pacience they fele affliction, and grief of minde yet they kepe a meane hereán, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do.

6 Satán hathe permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tēpteth him to forsake God. 11 His thr: friends visite him.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap 1, 6

b Read Chap. 1, 12.

AND on a day the [a] children of God came and stode before the Lord, and [b] Satán came also among them, and stode before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satán, Whence commest thou? And Satán answered the Lord, and said, From cōpassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

Ezek. 14, 14.

c He proueth Iobs integrite by this that he ceased not to feare God whē his plagues were grieuously vpon him

3 And the Lord said vnto Satán, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth? * an vpright and iuste man, one that feareth God, and eschueth euil? for yet he continueth in his vprightnes, [c] although thou mouedst me against him, to destroye [d] him without cause.

d That is, whē ỹ hast nought against him, or whē thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe

4 And Satán answered the Lord, and said, [e] Skin for skin, & all that euer a mā hathe, wil he giue for his life.

e Hereby he meeteth a mās owne sinne is dearer vnto him then another mans.

5 But stretche now out thine hand, and touche his [f] bones and his flesh, to see if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.

f Meaning his owne persone

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue [g] his life.

g Thus Satán can go no further in punishing the God hathe figured vnto vs

7 ¶So Satán departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore [h] boyles, from the sole of his fote vnto his crowne.

h This sore was most vehemēt, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo 9, 9 and threatneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut 28, 27 so that this tentation was most grieuous. for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, he might haue thoght ỹ God had cast him of.

8 And he toke a [i] potsharde to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorowe of his disease.

9 Thē said his [k] wife vnto him, Doest thou [l] continue yet in thine vprightnes? [m] Blaspheme God, and dye.

k Satán vseth the same instrumēt against Iob, as he did against Adám.

l Meaning, What gaineth thou to serue God, seing he thus plageth thee as though he were thine enemie? This is ỹ moste grieuous tentation of the faithful, when their faith is assailed, and when Satán goeth about to persuade them, that their trust in God is vayne

10 But he said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shal we receiue good at the hand of God, and not [n] receiue euil? In all this did not Iob sinne with his [o] lippes.

m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, & so she ment that he shulde be sone ridde out of his peine

n That is, to be pacient in aduersitie, as we reioice, when he sendeth prosperitie, & so to acknowledge him to be bothe merciful and iuste

o He so brideled his affections, that his tōgue through impacience did not murmure against God

11 Now when Iobs thre [p] friends heard of all this euil that was come vpon him, thei came euerie one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildád the Shuhite, and Zophár the Naamathite. for thei were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

p Which were men of autoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, and came to comfort him but when they saw how he was visited, they conceiued an euil opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustely plagued of God for his sinnes 12 So whē they lift vp their eyes a farre of, they knewe him not. therefore thei lift vp their voyces and wept, and euerie one of them rent his garmēt, & [q] sprinkled dust vpon their heades toward the heauen.

q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreis, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorowe &c.

13 So thei sate by him vpon the grounde seuen dayes, and seuen nights, & none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the grief was very [r] great.

r And therefore thoght that he wolde not haue hearkened to their counsel.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to dye, as though death were the end of all māner misere.

AFterward [a] Iob opened his mouthe, and [b] cursed his day.

a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2, 13

b Here Iob beginneth to fele his great imperfection in this battel betwene the Spirit and ỹ flesh, Rom 7, 18, and after a maner yeldeth, yet in the end he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded

2 And Iob cryed out, and said,

3 Let the daye [c] perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a manchilde conceiued.

c Mē ought not to be weary of their life, & curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuē to sinne and rebellion against God

4 Let ỹ day be darkenes, let not God [d] regarde it from aboue, nether let the light shine vpon it, d Let it be put out of the nōber of dayes,

5 But let darkenes, & the [e] shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, & let them make it feareful as a bitter day.

6 Let darkenes possesse that night, let it not be ioined vnto the dayes of the yere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate be that night, & let no ioye be in it.

8 Let them that curse the day, (beīg [f] ready to renue their mourning) curse it.

and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night.

e That is, moste obscure darknes, which maketh them afraied of death, that are in it

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them ly that curse vpon this night.

9 Let the ſtarres of that twilight be dim through darkenes of it: let it loke for light, but haue none: nether let it ſe "the dawning of the daye,

10 Becauſe it ſhut not vp the dores of my mothers wombe: nor hid ſorowe from mine eyes.

11 [h] Why dyed I not in ỹ birth? or why dyed I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I ſucke the breaſtes?

13 For ſo ſhulde I now haue lyen and bene quiet, I ſhulde haue ſlept then, and bene at reſt, 14 With the Kings and counſellers of the earth, which haue buylded them ſelues [k] deſolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had golde, & haue filled their houſes with ſiluer.

16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, ether as infants, which haue not ſene the light?

17 The wicked [l] haue there ceaſed from their tyrãne, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at reſt.

18 The [m] priſoners reſt together, and heare not the voyce of the oppreſſour.

19 There are ſmall & great, and the ſeruãt is fre from his maſter.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miſerie? and [n] life vnto them that haue heauy hearts?

21 Which long for death, & if it come not, they wolde euen ſearch it more thẽ treaſures:

22 Which ioye for gladnes and reioyce, when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the mã whoſe way is [o] hid, & whome God hathe hedged in?

24 For my ſighing cometh before I eat, and my rorings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I [p] feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afrayed of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, nether had I quietnes, nether had I reſt, [q] yet trouble is come.

g Let it be alwais nigh, and neuer ſe day "Lbr the eye lidder of the morninge.

h This & that which followeth declareth that when mã giueth place to his paſsiõs, he is not able to ſtay nor kepe meaſure, but rũneth headlong into all euil, except God call him backe

i The vehemẽcie of his afflictions made him to vtter theſe wordes, as though death were the end of all miſeries and as if there were no life after this, ẅ he ſpeaketh not as though it were ſo, but ỹ infirmities of his fleſh cauſed him to braſt out into this error of the wicked

k He noteth the ambition of thẽ, which for their pleaſure, as it were, change the order of nature, and buylde in moſte bare places, becauſe they wolde hereby make their names immortal

l That is, by death ỹ cruelte of the tyrames hathe ceaſed

m All they ỹ ſuſteine anie kinde of calamitie and miſerie in this worlde which he ſpeaketh after the iudgement of the fleſh

n He ſheweth that the benefites of God are not cõforcable, except the heart be ioiful, and the conſcience quieted

o That ſeeth not how to come out of his miſeries, becauſe he depẽdeth not on Gods prouidence p In my proſperitie I loked euer for a fall, as is come now q The feare of troubles that ſhulde inſue, cauſed my proſperitie ſo ſeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iob is reprehended of impacience, 7 And vniuſtice, 17 And of the preſumption of his owne righteouſnes.

1 THẽ Elipház the Temanite anſwered, and ſaid,

2 If we aſſay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but [a] who can withholde him ſelf from ſpeaking?

3 Beholde, thou haſt taught manie, & [b] haſt ſtrengthened the wearie hands.

4 Thy wordes haue confirmed him that was falling, & thou haſt ſtrengthened the weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, & thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, & thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy [c] feare, thy confidence, thy pacience, and the vprightnes of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer periſhed being an [d] innocẽt? or where were the vpright deſtroied?

8 As I haue ſene, they that [e] plowe iniquitie, and ſowe wickednes, reape the ſame.

9 With the [f] blaſt of God they periſh, and with the breath of his noſtrilles are they conſumed.

10 The roring of the [g] lion, and the voice of the lionneſſe, and the teeth of the lions whelpes are broken.

11 The lion periſheth for lacke of praye, and the lions whelpes are ſcatred abrode.

12 But a thing was broght to me [h] ſecretly, and mine eare hathe receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoghts of the viſions of the night, when ſlepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread which made all my bones [i] to tremble.

15 And the winde paſſed before me, & made the heeres of my fleſh to ſtand vp.

16 Then ſtode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, & in [k] ſilence heard I a voyce, ſaying, 17 Shal man be more [l] iuſt then God? or ſhal a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Beholde, he founde no ſtedfaſtnes in his Seruants, & laied folie vpon his [m] Angels.

19 How muche more in them that dwel in houſes of [n] clay, whoſe fundacion is in the duſt, which ſhalbe deſtroyed before the moth?

20 They be deſtroyed from [o] the morning vnto the euening: they periſh for euer, [p] without regarde.

21 Doeth not their dignitie go away with them? do they not dye, and that without [q] wiſdome.

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite & had no true feare nor truſt in God

d He concludeth that Iob was reproued, ſeing that God handeled him ſo extremely, which is the argument that the carnal men make againſt the children of God

e They that do euil, can not but receiue euil

f He ſheweth that God needeth no great preparation to deſtroy his enemies for he can do it with the blaſt of his mouthe.

g Though men according to their office do not puniſh tyrants (whome for their cruelte he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelpes) yet God bothe is able, and his iuſtice wil puniſh them

h A thing that I knewe not before, was declared vnto me by viſion; that is, that whoſoeuer thinketh him ſelfe iuſte, ſhal be founde a ſinner, whẽ he commeth before God

i In theſe viſions which God ſheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certeine feare ioyned, that the autoritie thereof might be had in greater reuerence k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was ſomwhat aſwaged, as God appeared to Eliáb 1 King 19, 12.

l He proueth that if God did puniſh the innocent, the creature ſhulde be more iuſte then the Creator, which were a blaſphemie

m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintened by his power, how muche more ſhal he lay folie to mans charge, when he wolde iuſtifie him ſelfe againſt God?

n That is, in this mortal body, ſubiect to corruption, 2 Cor 5, 1

o They ſe death continually before their eies, and daily approching toward them

p No man for all this doeth conſider it q That is, before

h That is, the earth is not ꝙ cauſe of barennes and maus miſerie, but his owne ſinne.
i Which declareth that ſinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before ſinne it was not ſubiect to pene & affliction.
k If I ſuffred as thou doeſt, I wolde ſeke vnto God l He counſeleth Iob to hūble him ſelfe vnto God, to whome all creatures are ſubiect, and whoſe workes declare that man is inexcuſable, except he glorifie God in all his workes

1 Cor. 3. 19.
n In things plaine and euident they ſhewe them ſelues fooles in ſtead of wiſe men.
o This declareth that God puniſheth the worldely wiſe, as he threatened, Deu 28, 29 p That is, he that humbleth him ſelfe before God q He cōpareth the ſklader of the wicked to ſharpe ſwordes r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to ſtoppe their mouthes, muche more they ꝙ profeſſe God.
ſ He will ſend trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually truſt in humbur they ſhal haue a comfortable iſſue, euen in [illegible] laſt, which is cōmonly called the ſeuent
t Where as in their troubles, thou ſhalt haue occaſion to reioice u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures ſhal ſerue vs x God ſhal ſo bleſſe thee that thou ſhalt haue occaſion to reioice in all things, and not to be offended

3 I haue ſene the c fooliſh wel rooted, & ſodenly I d curſed his habitacion, ſaying, 4 His e children ſhalbe farre from ſaluatiō, and they ſhalbe deſtroied in the f gate, and none ſhal deliuer them.
5 The hungrie ſhal eat vp his harueſt: yea, thei ſhal take it from among the g thornes, and the thirſtie ſhal drinke vp their ſubſtance.
6 For miſerie commeth not forthe of the duſt, h nether doeth affliction ſpring out of the earth.
7 But man is borne vnto i trauail, as the ſparkes flye vpward.
8 But I wolde inquire k at God, and turne my talke vnto God:
9 Which l doeth great things and vnſearcheable, and maruelous things without nomber.
10 He m giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the ſtretes, 11 And ſetteth vp on hie them that be lowe, that the ſorowful may be exalted to ſaluation.
12 He ſcatereth the deuiſes of the craftie: ſo that their hands can not accōpliſh that which they do enterpriſe.
13 n He taketh the wiſe in their craftines, & the counſel of the wicked is made fooliſh.
14 They mete with o darkenes in the day time, and o grope at noone day, as in the night.
15 But he ſaueth the p poore frō the ſworde, from their q mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hathe his hope, but iniquitie ſhal r ſtop her mouth.
17 Beholde, bleſſed is the man whome God correcteth: therefore refuſe not thou the chaſtiſing of the Almightie.
18 For he maketh the wounde, and bindeth it vp: he ſmiteth, and his hāds make whole.
19 He ſhal deliuer thee ſ in ſix troubles, and in the ſeuent the euil ſhal not touche thee.
20 In famine he ſhal deliuer thee frō death: and in battel from the power of the ſworde.
21 Thou ſhalt be hid from the ſcourge of ꝙ tongue, and thou ſhalt not be afraied of deſtruction when it cometh.
22 t But thou ſhalt laugh at deſtruction and dearth, & ſhalt not be afrayd of the beaſt of the earth.
23 For the ſtones of the field u ſhalbe in league with thee, and the beaſtes of the field ſhal be at peace with thee.
24 And thou ſhalt knowe, that peace ſhalbe in thy tabernacle, & thou ſhalt viſite thine habitacion, and ſhalt not x ſinne.
25 Thou ſhalt perceiue alſo, that thy ſede ſhalbe great, & thy poſteritie as the graſſe of the earth.
26 Thou ſhalt go to thy graue in y a ful age, as a ricke of corne cometh in due ſeaſon into the barne.
27 Lo, z thus haue we inquired of it, and ſo it is: heare this and knowe it for thy ſelf.

y Thogh the children of God haue not alwaies this promes performed, yet God doeth recompence it other wiſe to their aduantage z We haue learned theſe pointes by experience, that God puniſheth not the innocent, that man can not compare in iuſtice [illegible] and that the affliction [illegible]

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob anſwereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his faute. 8 He wiſheth death. 14 He cōplaineth of his frēds.

1 BVt Iob anſwered, and ſaid,
2 Oh that my grief were wel weighed, and my miſeries were laied together in the a balance.
3 For it wolde be now heauyer thē the ſand of ꝙ ſea: therefore my wordes are b ſwallowed vp.
4 For the arowes of the Almightie are in me, ꝙ venime whereof doeth drinke vp my ſpirit, & the terrours of God c fight againſt me.
5 Doeth the d wilde aſſe braye when he hathe graſſe? or loweth the oxe when he hathe foddre?
6 That which is e vnſauery, ſhal it be eaten without ſalt? or is there any taſte in the white of an egge?
7 Suche things as my ſoule refuſed to touche, as were ſorowes, are my meate.
8 Oh that I might haue my f deſire, & that God wolde graunt me the thing that I long for!
9 That is, that God wolde deſtroye me: that he wolde let his hād go, & cut me of.
10 Then ſhulde I yet haue comfort, (thogh I burne with ſorowe, let him not ſpare) g becauſe I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holie one.
11 What power haue I that I ſhulde endure? or what is mine h end, if I ſhulde prolong my life?
12 Is my ſtrēgth the ſtrength of ſtones? or is my fleſh of braſſe?
13 Is it not ſo, that there is in me no i helpe? and that k ſtrength is taken from me?
14 He that is in miſerie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but mē haue forſaken the feare of the Almightie.
15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a l brooke, & as the riſing of the riuers they paſſe away.
16 Which are blackiſh with yce, & wherein the ſnowe is hid.
17 But in time thei are dryed vp with heat & are conſumed: and when it is hote they faile out of their places, a To knowe whether I cēplaine without iuſt cauſe b My grief is ſo great, that I lacke wordes to expreſſe it c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conſcience, which is ꝙ greateſt battel that the faithful can haue.

d Thinke you that I crye without cauſe, ſeing ꝙ brute beaſtes do not cōplaine when thei haue what thei wolde?
e Can a mans taſte delite in that ꝙ hath no ſauour? meaning that none take pleaſure in affliction, ſeing thei can not away with things that are vnſauery to ꝙ mouth
f Herein he ſinneth double, bothe in wiſhing through impacience to dye, and alſo in deſiring of God a thing which was not agreable to his wil.
g That is, let me dye at once, before I come to diſtruſt in Gods gifts through mine impacience.
h He feareth leſt he ſhulde be brought to inconuenientes, if his ſorowes ſhulde continue.
i Haue I not ſoght to helpe my ſelfe as mucho as was poſſible?
k Or, wiſdome, or Law
l He compareth thoſe friends which comfort vs not in miſerie, [illegible] we nede waters, is ꝙ ſeaſon winter is hard. [illegible] we haue no nede, ouerfloweth with water.

18 Or thei departe from their way & courſe, yea, they vaniſh and periſh.
19 Thei that go to Temá, [l] conſidered thē, & thei that go to Shebá, waited for them.
20 But they were confounded: when thei hoped, thei came thether and were aſhamed.
21 Surely now are ye like [m] vnto it: ye haue ſene my feareful plague, and are afrayed.
22 Was it becauſe I ſaid, Bring vnto me? or giue a rewarde to me of your [n] ſubſtance?
23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ranſom me out of the hand of tyrants?
24 Teach me, & I wil [o] holde my tongue: & cauſe me to vnderſtand, wherein I haue erred.
25 How [p] ſtedfaſt are the wordes of righteouſnes? and what can any of you iuſtely reproue?
26 Do ye imagine to reproue [q] wordes, that the talke of the afflicted ſhulde be as the winde?
27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherles, and digge a pit for your friend.
28 Now therefore be content to [r] loke vpon me: for I wil not lye before your face.
29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none miquitie: returne, I ſay, & ye ſhal ſe yet my righteouſnes in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tēgue? doeth not my mouthe fele ſorowes?

l Thei that paſſe thereby to go into ſy hote countreſes of Arabia, thinke to finde water there, to queeh their thirſt, but they are deceiued.
m That is, like to this broke, which deceiueth them, that thinke to haue water there in their nede, as I loked for cōſolation at your hands n He toucheth ſy worldelings, which for no neceſsitie wil giue parte of their goods, and muche more theſe men, which wolde not giue him comfortable wordes.
o Shewe me wherein I haue erred, and I wil confeſſe my faute.
p He ſy hathe a good cōſcience, doeth not ſhrinke at the ſharpe wordes or reaſonings of others, except thei be able to perſuade him by reaſon.
q Do you cauill at my wordes, becauſe I ſhulde be thought to ſpeake foolihly, which am now in miſerie?
r Conſider whether I ſpeake as one that is driuen to this impacience through very ſorowe, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

s Iob ſheweth the ſhortenes and miſerie of mans life.

1 IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an [a] hyreling?
2 As a ſeruant longeth for the ſhadowe, & as an hyreling loketh for the end of his worke,
3 So haue I had as an inheritance the [b] moneths of vanitie, and peineful nights haue bene appointed vnto me.
4 If I laied me downe, I ſaid, When ſhal I ariſe? and meaſuring the euening I am euen ful with toſsing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.
5 My fleſh is [c] clothed with wormes & filthines of the duſt: my ſkin is rent, & become horrible, 6 My dayes are ſwifter thē [d] a weauers ſhittle, and they are ſpent without hope.
7 Remember that my life is but a winde, & that mine eye ſhal not returne to ſe pleaſure.
8 The eye that hathe ſene me, ſhal ſe me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I ſhalbe no longer.
9 [e] As the cloude vaniſheth & goeth away, ſo he that goeth downe to the graue, ſhal [f] come vp nomore.
10 He ſhal returne nomore to his houſe, nether ſhal his place knowe him any more.
11 Therefore I wil not [g] ſpare my mouthe, but wil ſpeake in the trouble of my ſpirit, & muſe in the bitternes of my minde.
12 Am I a ſea [h] or a whaleſiſh, that thou kepeſt me in warde?
13 When I ſay, My couche ſhal relieue me, & my bed ſhal bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then feareſt thou me [i] with dreames, and aſtoniſheſt me with viſions.
15 Therefore my ſoule [k] choſeth rather to be ſtrangled & to dye, then to be in my bones.
16 I abhorre it, I ſhal not liue alway: [l] ſpare me then, for my daies are but vanitie.
17 What is man, that thou [m] doeſt magnifie him, and that thou ſetteſt thine heart vpon him?
18 And doeſt viſit him euerie morning, and tryeſt him euerie moment?
19 How long wil it be yer thou departe frō me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may ſwallowe my ſpetle.
20 I haue [n] ſinned, what ſhal I do vnto thee? ô thou preſeruer of men, why haſt thou ſet me as a marke againſt thee, ſo that I am a burden vnto my ſelf?
21 And why doeſt thou not pardone my treſpas? and take away mine iniquitie? for now ſhal I ſlepe in the duſt, and if thou ſekeſt me in the morning, I ſhal [o] not be founde.

a Hathe not an hyred ſeruant ſome reſt and eaſe? then in this my continual torment I am worſe then an hyreling.
b My ſorowe hathe continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue loked for hope in vaine.
c This ſignifieth that his diſeaſe was rare and moſte horrible d Thus he ſpeaketh in reſpect of the breuitie of mans life, which paſſeth without hope of returning: incōſideratiō whereof he deſireth God to haue compaſsion on him.
e If thou beholde me in thine angre, I ſhal not be able to ſtand in thy preſence.
f Shal nomore enioye this mortal life.
g Seing I can by nonother meanes cōfort my ſelfe, I wil declare my grief by wordes and thus he ſpeaketh as one ouercome with grief of minde h Am not I a poore wretch? what nedeſt thou then to lay ſo muche peine on me?
i So that I cā haue no reſt, night nor day.
k He ſpeaketh as one ouercome w ſorowes, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.
l Seing my terme of life is ſo ſhorte, let me haue ſome reſt and caſe.
m Seing that mā of him ſelfe is ſo vile, why doeſt thou giue him that honoure to contende againſt him?
n Iob vſeth all kindes of perſuaſion with God, that he might ſtay his hand.
o After all tētations faith braſteth forthe & leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in ſuche perfection, that he colde bridel him ſelfe frō reaſoning with God, becauſe that he ſtil tryed his faith.
o That is, I ſhalbe dead.

CHAP. VIII.

a Bildād ſheweth that Iob is a ſinner, becauſe God puniſheth the wicked, and preſerueth the good.

1 THen anſwered Bildād the Shuhite, and ſaid,
2 How long wilt thou talke of theſe thīgs? & howlōg ſhal the wordes of thy mouthe be as a mightie winde?
3 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the almighty ſubuert iuſtice?
4 If thy ſonnes haue ſinned againſt him, & he hathe ſent them into the place of their [b] iniquitie,
5 Yet if thou [c] wilt early ſeke vnto God, & pray to the Almighty, 6 If thou be pure and vpright, then ſurely he wil awake vp vnto thee, & he wil make the habitation of thy righteouſnes proſperous.
7 And thogh thy beginning [d] be ſmale, yet thy later end ſhal greatly increaſe.
8 [e] Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy ſelfe to ſearche of their fathers.

c That is, if ſy turne betimes while God calleth thee to repentance.
d Thogh the begimmings be not ſo pleaſant, as thou woldeſt deſire, yet in the end thou ſhalt haue ſufficient occaſion to cōtent thy ſelf.

10 Shal not thei teache thee & tel thee, and vtter the wordes of their heart?

g As a ruſh can not growe without moiſtnes, ſo can not the hypocrite, becauſe he hathe not faith, which is moiſtened with Gods Spirit.

11 Can a g ruſh growe without myre? or can the graſſe growe without water?

12 Thogh it were in grene & not cut downe, yet ſhal it wither before anie other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope ſhal periſh.

h Which is to day, and to morowe ſwept away

14 His confidence alſo ſhal be cut of, & his truſt ſhalbe, as the houſe of a h ſpyder.

i He cõpareth the iuſte to a tre, which althogh it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet floriſheth. ſo the affliction of the godlie turneth to their profite 15 He ſhal leane vpon his houſe, but it ſhal not ſtand: he ſhal holde him faſt by it, yet ſhal it not endure.

k That is, ſo ỹ there remaine nothing there to proue whether ỹ tre had growen there, or no.

16 The i tre is grene before the ſunne, and the branches ſpread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rotes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, & are folden about the houſe of ſtones.

l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleaſure.

18 If anie plucke it from his place, and it k denie, ſaying, I haue not ſene thee, 19 Beholde, it wil reioyce l by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde.

20 Beholde, God wil not caſt away an vpright man, nether wil he take the wicked by the hand, m If thou be godlie, he wil giue thee occaſion to reioyce, & if not, thine affliction ſhal increaſe.

21 Til he haue filled thy mouthe w m laughter, and thy lippes with ioye.

22 They that hate thee, ſhalbe clothed with ſhame, & the dwelling of the wicked ſhal not remaine.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mãs righteouſnes is nothing.

a Iob here anſwereth to ỹ point of Eliphaz and Bildads oracion, touching the iuſtice of God & his innocẽcie, confeſsing God to be infinit in iuſtice, and man to be nothing in reſpect.

1 Then Iob anſwered, and ſaid,

2 I knowe verely that it is ſo: for how ſhulde man compared vnto God, be a iuſtified?

b Of a thouſand things, w God colde lay to his charge, mã can not anſwer him one.

3 If he wolde diſpute with him, he colde not anſwer him one thing of a b thouſand.

c He declareth what is the infirmitie of mã by ỹ mightie and incomprehẽſible power that is in God, ſhewing what he colde do, if he wolde ſtr forthe his power.

4 He is wiſe in heart, & mightie in ſtrength: who hathe bene fearce againſt him & hathe proſpered?

5 He remoueth the mõtaines & they fele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 He c remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillers thereof do ſhake.

d Theſe are ỹ names of certeine ſtarres, whereby he meaneth that all ſtarres both knowen & vnknowen are at his appoinctment.

7 He commandeth the ſunne, and it riſeth not: he cloſeth vp the ſtarres, as vnder a ſignet.

8 He him ſelf alone ſpreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the ſea.

9 He maketh the ſtarres d Arctúrus, Oríon, and Pleiades, and the climats of ỹ South.

10 He doeth great things, and vnſearcheable: yea, meruelous things without nomber.

11 Lo, when he goeth e by me, I ſe him not: & when he paſſeth by, I perceiue him not.

e I am not able to cõprehend his workes, which are commune and daily before mine eyes, muche leſſe in thoſe things, which are hid and ſecret

12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to reſtore it? who ſhal ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

f He ſheweth that whẽ God doeth execute his power, he doeth it iuſtely, for aſmuch as none can controle him.

13 God g wil not withdrawe his angre & the moſte mightie helpes h do ſtoupe vnder him.

g God wil not be appeaſed for oght that man can laie for him ſelf for his iuſtification 14 How muche leſſe ſhal I anſwer him i or how ſhulde I finde out k my wordes with him?

h That is, all ỹ reaſons that men can laie to approue their cauſe

15 For thogh I were iuſte, yet colde I l not anſwer, but I wolde make ſupplicacion to my Iudge.

i How ſhulde I be able to anſwer him by eloquence: whereby he noteth his frends, that albeit their were eloquent in talke, yet their felt not in hart, that which their ſpake 16 If I m crye, and he anſwer me, yet wolde I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.

k Meaning, in his owne opinion, ſignifying that man wil ſomerime flatter him ſelf tobe righteo⁹, which before God is abomination 17 For he deſtroyeth me with a tempeſt, & woundeth me n without cauſe.

l While I am in my pangs, I can not but braſt forthe into many inconueniences, althogh I know ſtil that God is iuſt.

18 He wil not ſuffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternes.

19 If we ſpeake of ſtrength, beholde, he is o ſtrong: if we ſpeake of iudgement, who ſhal bring me in to plaide?

m I am not able to fele my ſinnes ſo great, as I fele the weight of his plagues: & this he ſpeaketh to condemne his dulnes, and to iuſtifie God 20 If I wolde iuſtifie my ſelf, mine owne mouth ſhal condemne me: p if I wolde be perfite, he ſhal iudge me wicked.

n After he hathe accuſed his owne weakenes, he continueth to iuſtifie God and his power.

21 Thogh I were perfite, yet I knowe not my ſoule: therefore abhorre I my lyfe.

o If I wolde ſtande in mine owne defence, yet God hathe iuſte cauſe to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, & conſcience 22 This is one point: therefore I ſaid, He deſtroyeth the q perfite and the wicked.

p If God puniſh according to his iuſtice, he wil deſtroye aſwel them that are counted perfite, as them that are wicked

23 If the ſcourge ſhulde ſodenly r ſlaie, ſhulde God ſ laugh at the puniſhment of the innocent?

q To wit, the wicked

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he t couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where u is he? or who is he?

r This is ſpoken according to our apprehenſion, as though he wolde ſay, If God deſtroye but the wicked, as chap 5.3. why ſhulde he ſuffer the innocẽts to be ſo long tormented by them

25 My daies haue bene more ſwift then a poſte: they haue fled, & haue ſene no good thing.

ſ That they can not ſe to do iuſtice

26 They are paſſed as with the moſte ſwift ſhippes, and as the egle that flieth to the praye.

t That can ſhewe the contrary

27 If x I ſay, I wil forget my complaint, I wil ceaſe from my wrath, & comfort me, u I thinke not to fall into theſe affections, but my ſorowes bring me to theſe manifolde infirmities, & my conſcience condemneth me

28 Then I am afrayed of all my ſorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

x Why doeth not God deſtroye me at once? thus he ſpeaketh according to the infirmitie of the fleſh 29 If I be wicked, why y labour I thus in vaine?

y Thogh I ſeme neuer ſo pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God

30 If I z waſh my ſelf with ſnowe water, and purge mine hands moſte cleane, z Whatſoeuer I wolde vſe to couer my filthines with, ſhal diſcloſe me ſo muche more.

31 Yet ſhalt thou plonge me in the pit, and mine owne a clothes ſhal make me filthy.

a For he is not a man as I am, that I ſhulde answer him, if we come together to iudgement.

a Which might make an accorde betwene God and me, speaking of impacience, & yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him 33 Nether is there any vmpire [a] that might laie his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away fro me, & let not his feare astonish me:

35 Then wil I speake, & feare him not: [b] but because I am not so, I holde me stil.

b Signifying y Gods iudgements kepe him in awe

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

1 MY soule is cut of [a] thogh I liue: I wil leaue my [b] complaint vpon my self, & wil speake in the bitternes of my soule a I am more like to a dead man then to one y liueth

b I wil make an ample declaratio of my tormẽts, accusing my self & not God

2 I wil say vnto God, [c] Condẽne me not: shewe me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

c He wolde not that God shulde procede against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinarie meanes that he punisheth others

3 Thinkest thou it [d] good to oppresse me, & to cast of the [e] labour of thine hands, and to fauour the [f] counsel of the wicked?

d Is it agreable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

e Wilt thou be without compassion?

f Wilt thou gratifie y wicked & condẽne me?

4 Hast thou [g] carnal eyes? or doest thou se as man seeth?

g Doost thou this of ignorance?

5 Are thy dayes as mans [h] dayes? or thy yeres, as the time of man?

h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to date a friend, to morowe an enemie?

6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, & searchest out my sinne.

7 Thou knowest that I can not do [i] wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

i By affliction thou kepest me as in a prison, & restraynest me from doing euil, neither can any set me at libertie

8 Thine [k] hands haue made me, and facioned me wholy rounde about, & wilt thou destroye me?

k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wõderful creation of 9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as [l] the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powred me out as mylke? and turned me to cruds like chese?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and [m] grace: & thy [n] visitacion hathe preserued my spirit.

13 Thogh thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe [o] y it is so with thee.

not shew him self rigorous against him.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straightly loke vnto me, and wilt not holde me giltles of mine iniquitie.

l As brittel as a pot of clay

15 If I haue done wickedly, wo vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I wil not [p] lift vp mine head, being ful of confusion, because I se mine affliction.

m That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other giftes whereby man excelleth all earthlie creatures

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne & shewe thy self [q] marueilous vpon me.

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: [r] changes and armies of sorowes are against me.

n That is, thy fatherlie care & prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, and without the which I shulde perish streight way

o Though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must nedes confesse them to be so

p I wil alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iuste before thee

q Iob being sore assaulted in this battel betwene the flesh and the Spirit, breaketh out into these affections, wishing rather short dayes then long paine

r That is, diuersitie of diseases and in great coundãce, shewing that God hathe infinite meanes to punish mã

18 Wherefore thẽ hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had sene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue.

s He wisheth y God wolde leaue of his afflictiõ, considering his great miserie & the breuitie of his life

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him [s] cease, and leaue of fro me, that I may take a litle comfort, t He speaketh thus in y person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions & w the feling of Gods iudgements, & therefore can not apprehẽd in y state the mercies of God & cõfort of the resurrection

21 Before I go and shal not [t] returne, euen to the land of darkenes and shadowe of death:

22 Into a lãd, I say, darke as darkenes it self, & into the shadow of death, where is none [u] order, but the light is there as darkenes.

u No distinctiõ betwene light and darkenes, but where all is verie darkenes it self

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophár. 7 God is incõprehensible. 14 He is merciful to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godlie

1 THen answered Zophár the Naamathite, and said,

2 Shulde not the multitude of wordes be answered? or shulde a great [a] talker be iustified?

a Shulde he persuade by his great talke, that he is iuste?

3 Shulde men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest others, shal none make thee ashamed?

b He chargeth Iob with this, that he shulde say, that the thing, which he spake, was true, and that he was without sinne in y sight of God

4 For thou hast said, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God wolde speake and open his lippes against thee!

c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy self: the signifieth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake of the controuersie, and stop mans mouth

6 That he might shewe thee the [c] secrets of wisdome, how y hast deserued double, according to right: knowe therefore that God hathe forgoten thee for thine iniquitie.

d That is, this perfection of God, & if man be not able to comprehend

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out the Almightie to his perfection?

8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou do? [d] it is deper then the hel, how canst thou knowe it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broder then the sea.

the height of the heauẽ, the depth of hel, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?

10 If he cut of and [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

e If God shulde turne the state of thigs, and establish a newe order in nature, who colde cõtrole him?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, & him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man wolde be wise, thogh man newe borne is like a wilde asse [f] colte.

f That is, without vnderstanding so that whatsoeuer gifts he hath afterwarde, come of God and not of nature

13 If thou [g] prepare thine heart, & stretche out thine hands towarde him:

g If thou repent, pray vnto him

14 If iniquitie be in thine [h] hand, put it farre away, & let no wickednes dwel in thy tabernacle.

h Renounce thine olde euil workes, and se that they offende not God, ouer whome thou hast charge

15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without i He declareth what qualities of conscience and of life in all things suche shal haue, which turne to God by true repentãce.

without spot, and shalt be stable, & shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shal appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pittes, and shalt lye downe safely.

Leuit 26,5. 19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shal make thee afraied: yea, manie shal make sute vnto thee.

k He sheweth that contrarie things shal come vnto them that do not repent.

20 But the eyes [k] of the wicked shal faile, and their refuge shal perish, and their hope shalbe sorowe of minde.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance 7 He declareth the might, and power of God, 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

a Because you fele not that, & you speake, you thinke & whole stadeth in wordes, and so flatter your selues as though none knewe ante thing, or colde knowe but you Prou.14,2.

1 THen Iob answered, and said,

2 In dede because that ye are the people onely, [a] wisdome must dye with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding aswel as you, & am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not suche things?

b He reproueth these his friends of two fautes: the one & they thoght they had better knowledge the in dede they had, & & other that in stead of true cõsolatiõ they did deride, and despise their friend in his aduersitie

4 *I am [b] as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he [c] heareth him: the iuste and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hathe all thigs that he desireth

5 [d] He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the riche.

d As the riche esteme not a light, or torche that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie

6 The tabernacles of robbers do prosper, and they are in sauetie; that prouoke God, "whome God hathe enriched with his hand.

*Ebr is whome God hathe brought in with his hand.

7 Aske now the beastes, [e] and they shal teache thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shal tel thee:

e He declareth to them that did dispute agaīst him, that their wisdome is cõmune to all, & suche as & very brute beasts do darlie teache

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shal shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shal declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hathe made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of euerie liuing thing, and the breath of all "mankinde.

*Or, flesh.

11 Doeth not the eares [f] discerne the wordes? and the mouth taste meat for it self?

f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudgmg, and aswel to know the right vse why God hathe giuen them eares, as he hathe done a mouth

12 Among the [g] ancient is wisdome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

g Thogh men by age, and continuance of time attcine to wisdome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisdome, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alleaged, Chap 8,8.

13 With him is wisdome and strength: he hathe counsel and vnderstanding.

14 Beholde, he wil breake downe, and it can not be buylt: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be loosed.

15 Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and thei drye vp: but when he sendeth thē out, they destroye the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdome: he that is deceiued, and that [h] deceiueth, are his.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this worlde without Gods wil, and ordinance: for els he shulde not be almightie.

17 He causeth the counselers to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 [i] He loseth [k] the colar of Kings, and girdeth their loines with a girdle.

i He taketh wisdome frō them

k He abateth the honour of princes, and bringeth them into the subiectiō of others.

19 He leadeth away the princes as a pray, & ouerthroweth the mightie.

20 He taketh away the speache from the [l] faithful counselers, & taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

l He causeth that their wordes haue no credit, which is when he wil punish sinne

21 He powreth cõtempt vpon princes and maketh the strēgth of the mightie weake.

22 He discouereth the depe places from their darkenes, & bringeth forthe the shadowe of death to light.

m In this discourse of Gods wonderful workes Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this worlde, bothe in & ordre and chāge of thigs is by Gods wil and appointement: wherein he declareth that he thinketh wel of God, and is able to set forthe his power in wordes as they that reasoned agaīnst, were 23 He [m] increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he inlargeth the nacions, & bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chief ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wāder in the wildernes out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: & he maketh them to stagger like a dronken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experiēce of his friends. 16 The penitent shalbe saued, and the hypocrite condemned 20 He prayeth vnto God that he wolde not handle him rigorously.

Chap. XIII

a For although he knewe that God had a iustice, & was manifest in his ordinarie working, and another in his secret counsel, yet he wolde vtter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him

1 LO, mine eye hathe sene all this: mine eare hathe heard, and vnderstand it.

2 I knowe also asmuche as you knowe: I am not inferior vnto you.

3 But I wil speake to the Almightie, and I desire [a] to dispute with God.

b You do not wel applye your medicine to the disease.

4 For in dede ye forge lyes, and all you are [b] phisicions of no value.

5 Oh, that you wolde holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisdome!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lippes.

c He cõdēneth their zeale & had not knowledge, neither regarded they to cõfort him, but alwaie grated on Gods iustice, as thogh it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vndertake the probation thereof

7 Wil ye speake [c] wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Wil ye accept his persone? or wil ye contend for God?

d Your fame shal come to nothing

9 Is it wel & he shulde seke of you? wil you make a lye for him, as one lyeth for a mā?

10 He wil surely reproue you, if ye do secretly accept anie persone.

e Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I do not complaine without cause, seing & I am thus tormēted as though I shulde teare mine owne flesh, & put my life in dāger?

11 Shal not his excellēcie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your [d] memories may be cõpared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of claye.

13 Holde your tōgues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon me what wil.

14 Wherefore do I [e] take my flesh in my tethe, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Lo, thogh he slay me, yet wil I trust in him, and I wil reproue my wayes in his sight.

f Whereby he declareth that he is not an hypocrite as thei charged him

16 He shal be my saluation also: for the f hypocrite shal not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

g Thas is, cleared, and not cast of for my sinnes, as you reason 18 Beholde now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shal be g iustified.

h To proue ỹ God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes

19 Who is he, that wil pleade h with me? for if I now holde my tongue, I i dye.

i If I defend not my cause, euerie mā wil condemne me.

20 But do not these two things vnto me: thē wil I not hide my self from thee.

k He sheweth what these two thigs are 21 k Withdrawe thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraied.

22 Then call thou, and I wil answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me.

l His pāgs thus moue him to reason vnto God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great sinnes ỹ had deserued suche rigour, wherein he ofended, that he wolde knowe a cause of God why he did punish him

23 How manie are l mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?

25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drye stubble?

m Thou punishest me now for the fautes that I cōmitted in my youth.

26 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse m the iniquities of my youth.

n Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so presse me that I can not stirre hād nor fote 27 Thou puttest my fete also in the n stockes, and lokest narowly vnto all my paths, and makest the printe thereof in the "heeles of my fete.

28 Suche one consumeth like a roten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

CHAP. XIIII.

Iob describeth the shortenes and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustaineth the godlie. 22 The condition of mans life.

a Taking occasion of his aduersaries wordes, he describeth ỹ state of mās life from his birth to his death

1 MAn a ỹ is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and ful of trouble.

2 He shooteth forthe as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as a shadow, & continueth not.

Chap 8.9. Psal 144.4.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpō suche b one, and causest me to entre into iudgement with thee.

b His meaning is, that seing that man is so fraile a creature, God shulde not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth ỹ wickednes of the flesh, whē it is not subiect to the Spirit

4 *Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthines? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the nōber of his moneths are with thee. thou hast appointed his boundes, which he can not passe.

Psal. 51.7.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntil his desired day, c as an hyreling.

c Vntil ỹ time that thou hast appointed for him to dye, w he desireth, as the hyreling waiteth for ỹ end of his labour to receyue his wages

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it wil yet sprout, and the branches thereof wil not cease.

8 Thogh ỹ rote of it waxe olde in the earth & the stocke thereof be dead in ỹ groūde, 9 Yet by the sent of water it wil bud, and bring forthe bowes like a plant.

d He speaketh not here as thogh he had not hope of ỹ immortalitie, but as a mā in extreme peine, when reason is ouercom by affections & torments.

10 d But man is sicke, and dyeth, & man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man slepeth and riseth not: for he shal not wake againe, nor be raised from his slepe til the heauen be nomore.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to dye 13 Oh that thou woldest hide me in the graue, and kepe me secret, vntil thy e wrath were past, and woldest giue me terme, and f remember me.

f That is, release my peines and take me to mercie

14 If a man dye, shal he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time wil I waite, til g my changing shal come.

g Meaning, vnto the day of the resurrectiō whē he shulde be changed, & renued.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shal h answer thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

h Thogh I be afflicted in this life yet in the resurrection I shal fele thy mercies, and answer when thou callest me

Prou 5.21.

16 But now thou * nombrest my steps, and doest not delay my sinnes.

i Thou layest thē all together & suffrest none of my sinnes vnpunished

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a i bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednes.

k He murmureth through ỹ impaciēcie of ỹ flesh against God, as thogh he vsed as great seuerite against him as against ỹ hard rockes, or waters ỹ ouerflowe so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away

18 And surely as the moūtaine that falleth, cometh to nogh t, and the k rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerfloweſt the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou casteſt him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shalbe honorable, nether shal he vnderstand concerning thē, whether they shalbe of lowe degre, l Yet whiles he liueth, he shalbe in peine & miserie.

22 But while his l flesh is vpon him, he shalbe sorowful, and while his soule is in him, it shal mourne.

CHAP. XV.

Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdome, and pureness to himself. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

1 THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said, a That is, vaine wordes, & without consolation?

2 Shal a wise man speake wordes of the a winde, and fil his belly b with the East winde?

b Meaning, v matters that are of none importāce which are forgotten assone as they are vttered, as the East winde drieth vp the moisture assone as it falleth

3 Shal he dispute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

c He chargeth Iob as thogh his talke caused mē to cast of the feare of God & prayer.

4 Surely thou hast cast of c feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seing thou hast chosen d the tongue of the crafty.

d Thou speakest as do the mockers, and contemners of God

6 Thine one mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lippes testifie against thee.

e That is, the moste ancient, and so by reason the moste wise?

7 Art thou the e first man, that was borne? and wast thou made before the hils?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsel of God, and doest thou restraine wisdome f to thee?

f Art thou onely wise?

9 What knowest thou that we knowe not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, ỹ wil not be cōforted by God, nor by their counsel.

10 With vs are bothe ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seme the consolations of God g smale vnto thee, is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why

12 Why doeth thine heart [h] take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God " at thy pleasure, and bringest suche wordes out of thy mouth?
14 What is man, that he shulde be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he shulde [i] be iust?
15 Beholde, he founde no stedfastnes in his Saintes: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.
16 How muche more is man abominable, & filthie, which [k] drinketh iniquitie like water?
17 I wil tel thee: heare me, and I wil declare that which I haue seene:
18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:
19 To whome alone the land was [l] giuen & no stranger passed through them.
20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauelleth of childe, and the nomber [m] of yeres is hid from the tyrant.
21 A sound of feare is in his eares, & in his prosperitie [n] destroyer shal come vpon him.
22 He beleueth not to returne out of [o] darkenes: for he seeth the sworde before him.
23 He wādreth [p] to and fro for bread where he may: he knoweth that the day of darkenes is prepared at hand.
24 Affliction and [q] anguish shal make him afraid: they shal preuaile against him as a King ready to the battel.
25 For he hathe stretched out his hād against God, and made him self strong against the Almightie.
26 Therefore God shal runne vpon him, euen vpō his necke, & against the moste thicke part of his shield.
27 Because he hathe couered his face with [r] his fatnes, & hathe collopes in his flācke.
28 Though he dwel [s] in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shal not be riche, nether shal his substance continue, nether shal he prolong the [t] perfection thereof in the earth.
30 He shal neuer departe out of darkenes: [u] flame shal drye vp his branches, & he shal go away with the breath of his mouth.
31 He [x] beleueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change.
32 His branche shal not be grene, but shalbe cut of before his day.
33 God shal destroy him as the vine her sower [y] grape, and shal cast him of, as the oliue doeth her flowre.
34 For the congregacion of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, & fyre shal deuoure the houses of [z] bribes.
35 For thei [a] conceiue mischief and bring forthe vanitie, & their bellie hathe prepared deceite.

h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite? "Ebr. in thy spirit.
i His purpose is to proue, that Iob as an vniust man & an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, Chap 4,18 k Which hathe a desire to sinne as he is thirstie to drinke.
l Who by their wisdome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, & so the land seemed to be giuē to them alone.
m The cruel man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience n Out of that miserie where into he once falleth.
o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times: but euen in their prosperitie he punisheth thē with a gredines euer more to gather: which is as a beggerie p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against [b] wicked which lift vp thē selues against him, to wit, terror of conscience, & outward afflictions q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperitie, & abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting, that Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God
r Though he buylde, & repare ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to naught, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie.
s Meaning, that his sumptuous buyldings shulde neuer come to perfection
t He standeth so in his owne conceite, that he wil giue no place to good counsel, therefore his owne pride shal bring him to destruction u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.
x Which were buylt or maintened by pouling, and briberie.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the importunacie of his friends. 7 Counteth in what extremitie he is. 19 And taketh God witnes of his innocencie.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 I haue oft times heard suche things: miserable comforters are ye all.
3 Shal there be none [a] ēd of wordes of winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to [b] answer?
4 I colde also speake as ye do: (but wolde God your [c] soule were in my soules stead) I colde kepe you companie in speaking, and colde [d] shake mine head at you,
5 But I wolde strengthen you [e] with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips shulde aswage your sorowe.
6 Though I speake, my sorowe [f] can not be aswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?
7 But now she maketh me weary: o God, thou hast made all my [h] congregacion desolate,
8 And hast made me ful of [i] wrīkles which is a witnes thereof, and my leannes riseth vp in me, testifying the same in my face.
9 [k] His wrath hathe torne me, and he hateth me, & gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemie hathe sharpened his eies against me.
10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, & smitten me on the [l] cheke in reproche: thei gather thē selues together against me.
11 God hathe deliuered me to the vniust, and hathe made me to turne out of the way by the [m] hands of the wicked.
12 I was in welth, but he hathe broght me to nought: he hathe taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set in me as a marke for him self.
13 His [n] archers compasse me round about: he cutteth my reines, & doeth not spare, and powreth my gall [o] vpon the grounde.
14 He hathe broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant.
15 I haue sowed a sackecloth vpō my skin, and haue abased mine [p] horne vnto the dust.
16 My face is withered with weping, & the shadow of death is vpon mine eies, 17 Though there be no wickednes in [q] mine hands, and my prayer [r] be pure.
18 O earth, couer not thou my [s] blood, and let my crying finde no place.
19 For lo, now my [t] witnes is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.

a Which serue for vaine ostentation and for no truccō fort b For Elipház did replie against Iobs answer c I wolde you felt ȳ which I do d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you do at mine e If this were in my power, yet wolde I comfort you, and not do as ye do to me
f If thei wolde say, Why doest thou not then comfort thy selfe? he answereth, ȳ the iudgemēts of God are more heauy, then he is able to aswage ether by wordes or silence.
g Meaning, God
h That is, destroyed most of my familie.
i In token of sorowe and grief
k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of wordes & hie stile he expresseth how grieuous ȳ hād of God was vpon him.
l That is, hathe handeled me moste contēpteously: for so smiting on the cheke signified, 1 King. 22,24 Mar 14. 65
m Thei haue led me whither thei wolde n His manifolde afflictions.
o I am wounded to ȳ heart
p Meaning, his glorie was broght lowe q Signifying, ȳ he is not able to cōprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment
r That is, vnfained, and without hypocrisie s Let my sinne be knowen, if I be suche a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me finde no iauour
t Though man condemne me, yet God is witnes of my cause

20 My friends [u] speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might [x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeres accounted come, and I shal go the way, whence I shal not retume.

u Vse painted wordes in stead of true consolatiõ.
x Thus by his great torments he is caryed away, and braseth out into passions, and speaketh vnaduisedly, as though God shulde intreat man more gētly, seing he hathe but a short time here to liue

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob saith that he consumeth away, and yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance. 13 Shewing that he loketh but for death.

1 MY breath is corrupt: my daies are cut of, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but [a] mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternes.

3 [c] Laye downe now and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that [d] wil touche mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from [e] vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vpon hie.

5 [f] For the eyes of his children shal faile, that speaketh flaterie to his friends.

6 He hathe also made me a [g] byworde of the people, and I am as a tabret [h] before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dim for grief, and all my strength is like a shadowe.

8 The righteous shal be astonied at [i] this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous wil holde his [k] waye, and he whose hands are pure, shal increase his strength.

10 All [l] you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shal not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoghts of mine heart

12 Haue changed the [m] night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenes.

13 Thogh I hope, [n] yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shal make my bed in the darke.

14 I shal say to corruption, Thou art my [o] father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now mine hope? or who shal consider the thing, that I hoped for?

16 [p] They shal go downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shal lye together in the dust.

a Wse of mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternes.
c Laye downe now and put me in suretie for thee: who is he, that [d] wil touche mine hand?
e For thou hast hid their heart from [e] vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not set them vpon hie.
f For the eyes of his children shal faile, that speaketh flaterie to his friends.
g He hathe also made me a [g] byworde of the people, and I am as a tabret [h] before them.
i This, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.
k But the righteous wil holde his [k] waye, and he whose hands are pure, shal increase his strength.
l All [l] you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shal not finde one wise among you.
m Haue changed the [m] night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenes.
n Thogh I hope, [n] yet the graue shalbe mine house, and I shal make my bed in the darke.
o I shal say to corruption, Thou art my [o] father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.
p They shal go downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shal lye together in the dust.

Chap. XVII
a Instead of cõforte, being now at deaths dore, he had but them, that mocked at hi, and discouraged him
b I se ful that they seke but to vexe me c He reasoneth with God as a mã beside him selfe to the intẽt ỹ his cause might be broght to light d And answer for thee?
e That these mine afflictiõs are thy iuste iudgements, though man know not the cause f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happy in his prosperitie, shal not him self onely, but in his posteritie be punished.
g God hathe made all the worlde to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.
h That is, as a continual sounde in their eares i To wit, whẽ they se ỹ godlie punished: but in the end they shal come to vnderstanding, and knowe what shal be the reward of the hypocrite k That is, wil not be discouraged, considering that the godlie are punished aswel as the wicked l Iob speaketh to thẽ three, ỹ came to cõfort him
m That is, haue broght me sorow in stead of cõfort n Thogh I shulde hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie as your discours pretendeth
o I haue nomore hope in father, mother, sister, or ante worldely thing: for the dust and wormes shalbe to me in stead of them p All worldely hope, and prosperitie faile, which you say, are onely figures of Gods fauour: but seing that these things perish, I set mine hope in God, and in that life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rebuketh the peines of the vnfaithful and wicked.

1 THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, & said,

2 When wil [a] ye make an end of your wordes? [b] cause vs to vnderstand, & thẽ we wil speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beastes, & are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art [c] as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shal the [d] earth be forsaken for thy sake? or ỹ rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shalbe [e] quẽched & ỹ sparke of his fyre shal not shine.

6 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candel shalbe put out with him.

7 The steppes of his strẽgth shalbe restrained, and his owne counsel shal cast him downe.

8 For he is taken in the net by his fete, & he [f] walketh vpon the snares.

9 The gronne shal take him by the heele, & the theefe shal come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the grounde, & a trappe for him in the way.

11 Fearfulnes shal make him afraid on euery side, and shal driue him to his fete.

12 His strength shalbe [g] famine: & destruction shalbe readie at his side.

13 It shal deuoure the partes of his skinne, & the [h] first borne of death shal deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe roted out of his dwelling, & shal cause him to go to the [i] King of feare.

15 Feare shal dwel in his house (because it is not [k] his) [l] and brimstone shalbe scatred vpon his habitacion.

16 His rotes shalbe dryed vp beneth, and aboue shal his branche be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shal perish from the earth, and he shal haue no name in the strete.

18 They shal driue him out of the [m] light vnto darkenes, and chase him out of the worlde.

19 He shal nether haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his [n] day, & feare shal come vpon the anciẽt.

21 Surely suche are the habitacions of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

a Which counte your selues suite? as Chap 12,3.
b Whome you take to be but beastes, as Chap 12,7.
c That is, like a mad man
d Shal God chãge the ordre of nature for thy sake, by dealing ỹ otherwise then he doeth with all men?
e When ỹ wicked is in his prosperitie, thẽ God changeth his state: & this is his ordinarie workig for their sinnes f Meaning that the wicked are in continual danger.
g That which shulde nourish him, shalbe consumed by famine
h That is, some strong and violẽt death shal consume his strength: or as ỹ Ebrew worde signifieth, his membres or parts.
i That is, with most great feare.
k Meaning, not truely come by l Thogh all ỹ worlde wolde fauour hi, yet God wolde destroie him & his m He shal fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.
n When thei shal se what came vnto hi.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproueth his friends. 15 And recounteth his miseries & grieuous peines. 25 He assureth him selfe of the generall resurrection.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 How long wil ye vexe my soule, and torment me with wordes?

3 Ye haue now [a] ten times reproched me, & are not ashamed: ye are impudẽt toward me.

4 And thogh I had in dede erred, mine error [b] remaineth with me.

5 But in dede if ye wil aduãce your selues against a That is, many times, as Nehem 4,12.

b That is, I my self shalbe punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.

against me, & rebuke me for my reproche,
6 Knowe now, ỹ God hathe c ouerthrowen me, & hathe compaſſed me with his net.
7 Beholde, I crye out of violẽce, but I haue none anſwer: I crye but there is no iudgement.
8 He hathe hedged vp my waye that I can not d paſſe, and he hathe ſet darkenes in my paths.
9 He hathe ſpoiled me of mine honour, & taken the e crowne away from mine head.
10 He hathe deſtroied me on euerie ſide & I am gone: & he hathe remoued mine hope like f a tre.
11 And he hathe kidled his wrath againſt me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.
12 His g armies came together, and made their way vpon me, & camped about my tabernacle.
13 He hathe remoued my brethren faire frõ me, and alſo mine acquaintance were ſtrãgers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forſaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.
15 h They that dwel in mine houſe, and my maides toke me for a ſtranger: for I was a ſtranger in their ſight.
16 I called my ſeruãt, but he wolde not anſwer, though I praied him with my mouth.
17 My breath was ſtrange vnto my wife, though I praied her for the childrens ſake of mine i owne body.
18 The wicked alſo deſpiſed me, & when I roſe, they ſpake againſt me.
19 All my ſecret friẽds abhorred me, & thei whome I loued, are turned againſt me.
20 My bone k cleaueth to my ſkin & to my fleſh, and I haue eſcaped with the l ſkinne of my tethe.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue m pitie vpon me, (ô ye my friends) for the hãd of God hathe touched me.
22 Why do ye perſecute me, as n God? and are not ſatiſfied with my o fleſh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now writen! oh that thei were writen euen in a boke!
24 And grauen with p an yron pẽne in lead, or in ſtone for euer.
25 For I am ſure, that my q Redemer liueth, and he ſhal ſtand the laſt on the earth.
26 And thogh after my ſkin wormes deſtroy this bodie, yet ſhal I ſe God r in my fleſh.
27 Whome I my ſelf ſhal ſe, and mine eies ſhal beholde, and none other for me, thogh my reines are conſumed within me.
28 But ye ſaid, Why is he perſecuted? And there was ſ a depe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the ſworde: for ỹ ſworde wil be t auenged of wickednes, that ye may know that there is a iudgement.

c He braſteth out againe into his paſsiõs and declareth ſtil that his afflictiõ cometh of God, thogh he be not able to ſéle ỹ cauſe in him ſelf.
d Meaning, out of his afflictiõs e Meaning, his children and whatſoeuer was dere vnto him in this worlde f Which is pluckt vp, and hathe no more hope to grow g His manifolde afflictions
h Mine houſhold ſeruãts: by all theſe loſſes Iob ſheweth that touching the fleſh he had great occaſion to be moued.
i Which were hers & mine.
k Beſides theſe great loſſes & moſte cruel vnkindenes, he was touched in his owne perſon as followeth.
l All my fleſh was cõſumed
m Seing I haue theſe iuſt cauſes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite; ipecially ye ſhulde comfort me n Is it not ynough ỹ God doeth puniſh me except you by reproches increaſe my ſorowe?
o To ſe my body puniſhed, except ye trouble my minde?
p He proteſteth that notwithſtanding his ſore paſsions, his religion is perfite, & that he is not a blaſphemer, as thei iudged hi q I do not ſo iuſtifie my ſelfe before the worlde, but I knowe that I ſhal come before the great iudge, who ſhalbe my deliuerer & Sauiour
r Herein Iob declareth plainely that he had a ful hope, that bothe the ſoule and body ſhulde enioye the preſence of God in the laſt reſurrection ſ Thogh his friends thoght ỹ he was but perſecuted of God for his ſinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deper conſideration: to wit, the tryal of his faith & pacience, and ſo to be an example for others t God wilbe reuenged of this haſtie iudgement, wherby you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

Zophár ſheweth, that the wicked and the couetous ſhal haue a ſhorte end, tho Thogh for a time they floriſh.

1 Thé anſwered Zophár the Naamathite and ſaid,
2 Doutles my thoghts cauſe me to anſwer, and therefore I make haſte.
3 I haue heard a the correction of my reproche: therefore ỹ ſpirit of mine vnderſtanding cauſeth me to anſwer.
4 Knoweſt thou not this of olde? & ſince God placed man vpon the earth?
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is ſhorte, & that the ioye of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Thogh b his excellencie mounte vp to the heauen, and his head reache vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet ſhal he periſh for euer, like his dung, and they which haue ſene him, ſhal ſay, Where is he?
8 He ſhal flee away as a dreame, & thei ſhal not finde him, and ſhal paſſe away as a viſion of the night.
9 So that the eye which had ſene him, ſhal do ſo no more, and his place ſhal ſe him no more.
10 His children ſhal c flatter the poore, and his hands ſhal d reſtore his ſubſtance.
11 His bones are ful of the ſinne of his youth, & e it ſhal lye downe with him in the duſt.
12 Whẽ wickednes f was ſwete in his mouthe, & he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and wolde not forſake it, but kept it cloſe in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of aſpes was in the middes of hi.
15 He hathe deuoured ſubſtãce, and he ſhal vomit it: for God ſhal drawe it out of his belly.
16 He ſhal ſucke the g gall of aſpes, and the vipers tongue ſhal ſlaye him.
17 He ſhal not ſe the h riuers, nor the floods & ſtreames of hony and butter.
18 He ſhal reſtore ỹ labour, & ſhal deuoure no more therof: euen according to the ſubſtance ſhalbe his exchange, i and he ſhal enioye it no more.
19 For he hathe vndone many: he hathe forſaken the poore, & hathe ſpoiled houſes which he buylded not.
20 Surely he ſhal ſele no quietnes in his body, neither ſhal he reſerue of that which he deſired.
21 There ſhal none of his k meat be left: therefore none ſhal hope for his goods.
22 Whẽ he ſhalbe filled with his abundãce, he ſhalbe in peine, & the hand l of all the wicked ſhal aſſaile him.
23 He ſhalbe about to fil his belly, but God ſhal ſend vpõ hi his fearce wrath, m & ſhal cauſe to raine vpõ him, euen vpõ his meat
24 He ſhal flee from the yron weapons, and the bowe of ſtele ſhal ſtrike him through a He declared that two thigs moued him to ſpeake; to wit, becauſe Iob ſemed to touche him, & becauſe he thoght he had knowledge ſufficient to confute him

b His purpoſe is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, & an hypocrite, becauſe God puniſhed him, and changed his proſperitie into aduerſitie.
c Where as ỹ fathers through ambition & tyrannie oppreſſed the poore, th childrẽ through power tie & miſerie ſhal ſeke fauour at ỹ poore.
d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violẽce, ſhalbe reſtored againe by force e Meaning, that he ſhal cary nothing away with him, but his ſinne
f As poyſon ỹ is ſwete in the mouthe bringeth deſtruction, when it cometh into ỹ body ſo all vice at ỹ firſt is pleaſant, but afterward God turneth it to deſtruction
g He compareth euil gotten goods to ỹ venim of aſpes, which ſerpent is moſte dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, & therefore God did plague hi iuſtely for the ſame
h Thogh God gaue to all other abundance of his bleſſings, yet he ſhal haue no parte therof i That is, theſe rauiners & ſpoilers of ỹ poore ſhal enioye their theft but for a time: or after God wil take it from them and cauſe thẽ to make reſtitutiõ, ſo ỹ it is but an exchãge k He ſhal leaue nothing to his poſteritie.
l The wicked ſhal neuer be in reſt: for one wicked man ſhal ſeke to deſtroy another.

m Some read, vpon his fleſh, alluding to Iob, whoſe fleſh was ſmiten with a ſcabbe 25 The arowe is drawen out, and cometh forthe of the [n] body, and shineth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 [o] All darkenes shalbe hid in his secret places: the fyre that is not [p] blowen, shal deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shalbe destroied.
27 The heauen shal declare his wickednes, and the earth shal rise vp against him.
28 The [q] increase of his house shal go away: it shal flowe away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the porcion of the wicked man from [r] God, & the heritage that he shal haue of God for his [s] wordes.

n Some read, of ỹ quiuer
o All feare & sorow shal light vpō him, when he thinketh to escape p That is, fyre frō heauen, or ỹ fyre of Gods wrath
q Meaning, ỹ children of ỹ wicked shal flowe away like riuers and be dispersed in diuers places.
r Thus God wil plague the wicked
s Against God, thinking to excuse him selfe, and to escape Gods hand

CHAP. XXI.

Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude. 15 In so muche that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, nether good for prosperitie.

1 BVt Iob answered, and said,
2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this [a] shalbe in stead of your consolations.
3 Suffre me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.
4 Do I direct my talke to man? If it [b] were so, how shulde not my spirit be troubled?
5 Marke me, and be abashed, and lay your hand vpon your [c] mouth.
6 Euen when I remember, I am afraied, & feare taketh holde on my flesh.
7 Wherefore do the wicked [d] liue, and waxe olde, and growe in welth?
8 Their sede is established in their sight with them, and their generacion before their eies.
9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.
10 Their bullocke gendreth, & faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.
11 They send forthe their children [e] like shepe, and their sonnes dance.
12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sounde of the organs.
13 They spend their daies in welth, and sodenly [f] they go downe to the graue.
14 Thei say also vnto God, Depart frō vs: for we desire not the [g] knowledge of thy waies.
15 Who is the Almightie, that we shulde serue him? and what profite shulde we haue, if we shulde pray vnto him?
16 Lo, their welth is not in their hand: [h] therefore let the counsel of the wicked [i] be farre from me.
17 How oft shal the candel of the wicked be put out? and their destructiō come vpon them? he wil deuide their liues in his wrath.
18 They shal be as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme caryeth away.

a Your diligēt marking of my wordes shalbe to me a great consolation.
b As though he wolde say, I do not talke with man, but with God, who wil not answer me, & therefore my minde mustnedes be troubled c He chargeth them as though they were not able to cōprehēd this his feling of Gods iudgement, & exhorteth thē therefore to silence d Iob proueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straight waies the wicked, but oft times giueth thē long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iuste or vniuste by the things that appeare to our eye
e They haue store of children, lustie & helthful, & in these pointes he answereth to that which Zophár alledged before f Not beig tormented with long sickenes.
g: They desire nothing more thē to be exēpt from all subiection that they shulde beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, ỹ if they reason onely by ỹ which is sene by cōmune experience, ỹ wicked that hate God, are better dett with all, then they that loue him. It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them, God kepe me from their prosperitie.

19 God wil lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shal knowe it.
20 [k] His eies shal se his destruction, and he shal drinke of the wrath of ỹ Almightie.
21 For what pleasure hathe he in his house after him, when the nomber of his moneths is cut of?
22 Shal any teache [l] God knowledge, who iudgeth the hiest things?
23 One [m] dyeth in his ful strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.
24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne ful of marowe.
25 And another [n] dyeth in the bitternes of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.
26 They shal slepe bothe in [o] the dust, and the wormes shal couer them.
27 Beholde, I know your thoghts, and the enterpriises, wherewith ye do me wrong.
28 For ye say, Where is the princes [p] house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?
29 May ye not [q] aske thē that go by ỹ way? and ye can not denie their signes.
30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of [r] destructiō, & they shal be broght forthe to the day of wrath.
31 Who shal declare his waie [s] to his face? and who shal rewarde him for that he hathe done?
32 Yet shal he be broght to the graue, and remaine in the heape.
33 The [t] slimie valley shalbe swete vnto hī, and euerie man shal drawe after him, as before him there were innumerable.
34 How thē comfort [u] ye me in vaine, seīg in your answers there remaine but lyes?

k When God recompenseth his wickednes he shal knowe ỹ his prosperitie was but vanitie l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, & punisheth the godlie m Meanīg, the wicked.
n To wit, the godlie
o As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to ỹ commune iudgement p Thus they cal Iobs house in derision, concluding ỹ it was destroied because he was wicked q Which through long trauailing haue experience & tokens here of, to wit, that the wicked do prosper & the godlie liue in affliction r Though the wicked florish here, yet God wil punish hī in the last day.
s Though men do flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this worlde, yet death is a tokē that God wil bring him to an account.
t He shal be glad to lie in a slimie pit, where before colde not be content with a royal palace u Saying, that the iust in this worlde haue prosperitie & ỹ wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnes. 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance

1 THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,
2 May a man be [a] profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to him self?
3 * Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?
4 Is it for feare [b] of thee that he wil accuse thee? or go with thee in to iudgement?
5 Is not thy wickednes great, & thine iniquities innumerable?
6 For thou hast taken the [c] pledge from thy brother for noght, and spoiled the clothes of the naked.
7 To suche as were weary, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.

a Though a man were iuste, yet God colde haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore when he punisheth him, he hathe no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne. Chap. 35, 7.
b Lest ỹ shuldest reproue or hurt him?
c Thou hast bene cruel and without charitie, & woldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

8 But

8 But the mightie man [d] had the earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.
9 Thou haſt caſt out widowes emptie, and the armes of [e] the fatherles were broken.
10 Therefore ſnares are rounde about thee, and feare ſhal ſodenly trouble thee:
11 Or darkenes that thou ſhuldeſt not ſe, and [f] abũdance of waters ſhal couer thee.
12 Is not God on [g] hie in the heauen? & beholde the height of the [h] ſtarres how hie they are.
13 But thou ſaieſt, How ſhulde God [i] know? can he iudge through the darke cloude?
14 The cloudes hide him that he can not ſe, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.
15 Haſt thou marked the way of ỹ worlde, [k] wherein wicked men haue walked?
16 Which were [l] cut downe before the time, whoſe fundacion was as a riuer that ouerflowed:
17 Which ſaid vnto God, Departe from vs, and aſked what the Almightie colde do for them.
18 Yet he [m] filled their houſes with good things: but let the counſel of the wicked be farre from me.
19 The righteous ſhal ſe them, and ſhal reioyce, [n] and the innocent ſhal laugh them to ſcorne.
20 Surely [o] our ſubſtance is hid: but the fyre hathe deuoured the remnant of [p] them.
21 Therefore acquaint thy ſelf, I pray thee, [q] with him, and make peace: thereby thou ſhalt haue proſperitie.
22 Receiue, I pray thee, the law of his mouth, and laie vp his wordes in thine heart.
23 If thou returne to the Almightie, thou ſhalt [r] be buylt vp, & thou ſhalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.
24 Thou ſhalt lay vp golde for [ſ] duſt, and the golde of Ophir, as the ſtints of the riuers.
25 Yea, the Almightie ſhalbe thy defence, and thou ſhalt haue plentie of ſiluer.
26 And thou ſhalt thẽ delite in the Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.
27 Thou ſhalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he ſhal heare thee, and thou ſhalt rendre thy vowes.
28 Thou ſhalt alſo decree a thing, & he ſhal eſtabliſh it vnto thee, and the [t] light ſhal ſhine vpon thy waies.
29 [u] When others are caſt downe, then ſhalt thou ſay, I am lifted vp: and God ſhal ſaue the humble perſone.
30 The innocent ſhal deliuer the [x] yland, and it ſhalbe preſerued by the purenes of thine hands.

d When thou waſt in power and autoritie, thou didſt not iuſtice, but wrong
e Thou haſt not onely not ſhewed pitie, but oppreſſed them f That is, manifolde afflictions
g He accuſeth Iob of impietie & contẽpt of God, as though he wolde ſay, If thou paſſe not for men, yet conſider the height of Gods maieſtie
h That ſo muche the more by that excellent worke ỹ maieſt feare God and reuerence him i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Godsprouidẽce, and that he colde not ſe ỹ thigs that were done in this worlde k How God hath puniſhed them from the beginning?
l He proueth Gods prouidence by the puniſhement of the wicked, whome he taketh away before they can brig their wicked purpoſes to paſſe m He anſwereth to that, which Iob had ſaid Chap 21, 7 that the wicked haue proſperitie in this worlde: deſiring that he might not be partaker of ỹ like n The iuſt reioyce at the deſtruction of the wicked for two cauſes: firſt, becauſe God ſheweth him ſelf iudge of the worlde, & by this meanes continueth his honour and glorie: ſecõdly, becauſe God ſheweth that he hathe care ouer his in that he puniſheth their enemies.
o That is, the ſtate and preſeruation of ỹ godlie is hid vnder Gods wings.

p Meaning, of the wicked q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God. r God wil reſtore vnto thee all thy ſubſtance ſ Which ſhalbe in abundance like duſt t That is, the fauour of God.
u God wil deliuer his when the wicked are deſtroyed rounde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom x God wil deliuer a whole countrey from peril, euen for the iuſte mans ſake.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth and feareth the power and ſentence of the Iudge. 10 And that he is not puniſhed onely for his ſinnes.

1 BVt Iob anſwered and ſaid,
2 Thogh my talke be this day in [a] bitternes, and my plague greater thẽ my groning,
3 Wolde God yet I knewe how to finde him, I wolde entre vnto his place.
4 I wolde pleade the cauſe before him, and fil my mouth with arguments.
5 I wolde knowe the wordes, that he wolde anſwer me, and wolde vnderſtand what he wolde ſay vnto me.
6 Wolde he [b] plead againſt me with his great power? No, but he wolde [c] put ſtrength in me.
7 [d] There the righteous might reaſon with him, ſo I ſhulde be deliuered for euer frõ my Iudge.
8 [e] Beholde, if I go to the Eaſt, he is not there: nor to the Weſt, yet I can not perceiue him:
9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I can not ſe him: he wil hide him ſelf in the South, and I can not beholde him.
10 But he knoweth my [f] way, and tryeth me, and I ſhal come forthe like the golde.
11 My fote hathe followed his ſteppes: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
12 Nether haue I departed from the commandement of his lippes, & I haue [g] eſtemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed fode.
13 Yet he is in one minde, and who can [h] turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde deſireth.
14 For he wil performe that, which is decreed of me, and [i] many ſuche things are with him.
15 Therefore I am troubled at his preſence, & in conſidering it, I am afrayed of him.
16 For God [k] hathe ſoftened mine heart, & the Almightie hathe troubled me.
17 For I am not cut of in [l] darkenes, but he hathe hid the darkenes from my face.

a He ſheweth the iuſte cauſe of his cõplaining, & as touching that Elphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, chap 22, 21, he declareth that he defaieth nothing more: but it ſemed that God wolde not be foũde of him
b Vſing his abſolute power & ſaying, Becauſe I am God, I may do what I wil c Of his mercie he wolde giue me power to anſwer hi d When he of his mercie hathe giuen ſtrength ro maiſcine their cauſe e Meaning, ỹ if he conſider Gods iuſtice, he is not able to cõprehende his iudgemẽts on what ſide or parte ſoeuer he turneth him ſelf
f God hathe this preeminẽce aboue me that he knoweth my waye: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he ſheweth alſo his conſidẽce, that God doeth viſite him for his profite
g His worde is more precious vnto me, theo the meat wherewith the bodie is ſuſteined

h Iob confeſſeth that at this preſent he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was aſſured, that he had appointed him to a good end i In many pointes man is not able to atteine to Gods iudgemẽts k That I ſhulde not be without feare l He ſheweth the cauſe of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, ſeeth none end, nether yet knoweth the cauſe

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Iob deſcribeth the wickednes of men, and ſheweth what curſe belongeth to the wicked. 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence. 17 And the deſtruction of the wicked.

1 HOw ſhulde not the times [a] be hid frõ the Almightie, ſeing that they which knowe him, ſe not his [b] daies?
2 Some remoue the land markes, that robbe the flockes and fede thereof.
3 They lead away the aſſe of the fatherles: and take the widowes oxe to pledge.

Mm 1.

a Thus Iob ſpeaketh in his paſſions and after the iudgement of the fleſh: that is, ỹ he ſeeth not the things that are done at times, nether ỹ he hathe a peculiar care ouer all, becauſe he puniſheth not the wicked, nor rewardeth the godlie.
b When he puniſheth the wicked and rewardeth the good

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, ſo that the poore of the earth hide them ſelues [c] together.

[c] And for crueltie & oppreſsion dare not ſhewe their faces

5 Beholde, others as wilde aſſes in the wildernes, go forthe to their buſines, and [d] riſe early for a pray: the wildernes [e] giueth him & his children fode.

[d] That is, ſpare no diligence.
[e] He and his, liue by robbing and murdering

6 They reape [f] his prouiſiō in the field, but thei gather the latter [g] vītage of the wicked.

[f] Meaning the poore mans.
[g] Signifying, that one wicked man wil not ſpoile an other, but for neceſsitie.

7 Thei cauſe the naked to lodge without garmēt, & without couering in the colde.

8 They are wet with the ſhowres of the mountaines, [h] and thei imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.

[h] The poore are driuen by the wicked into rockes and holes, where thei cā not lie drye for the rayne.

9 They plucke the fatherles [i] frō the breaſt, and take the pledge [k] of the poore.

[i] That is, they ſo powle and pille ỹ poore widowe, ỹ ſhe can not haue to ſuſteine her ſelf, that ſhe may be able to giue her childe ſucke.
[k] That is, his garment, wherewith he ſhulde be couered or clad.

10 They cauſe him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungrie.

11 Thei ỹ make oyle [l] betwene their walles, and treade their winepreſſes, ſuffer thirſt.

[l] In ſuche places, ỹ are appointed for ỹ purpoſe: meaning, ỹ thoſe that labour for ỹ wicked, are pined for hunger.

12 Mē [m] crye out of the citie, & the ſoules of the ſlayne [n] crye out: yet God doeth [o] not charge them with follie.

[m] For ỹ great oppreſsion & extortion
[n] Crye out & call for vengeance.
[o] God doeth not condemne ỹ wicked, but ſeemeth to paſſe ouer it by his lōg ſilēce.

13 Theſe are thei, that abhorre the [p] light: thei knowe not the waies thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

[p] That is, Gods worde, becauſe they are reproued thereby

14 The murtherer riſeth earely & killeth the poore and the nedie: and in the night he is as a theſe.

15 The eye alſo of the [q] adulterer waiteth for the twylight, and ſaith, None eye ſhal ſe me, and diſguiſeth his face.

[q] By theſe particular vices, & the like ce thereūto, he wolde proue ỹ God puniſheth not ỹ wicked & rewardeth the iuſte

16 Thei digge through houſes in the darke, which they marked for them ſelues in the day: they knowe not the light.

17 But the morning is [r] quen to them as the ſhadow of death: if one knowe thē, they are in the terrours of the ſhadowe of death.

[r] He fleeth to the waters for his ſuccour

18 He is ſwift vpon the [s] waters: their [t] porcion ſhalbe curſed in the earth: he wil not beholde the way of the vineyardes.

[s] They thinke that all the worlde is bent againſt them, & dare not go by the hie way.
[t] As the drye grounde is neuer ful with waters, ſo wil thei neuer ceaſe ſinning, til thei come to the grane.

19 As the drye grounde & heat cōſume the ſnowe waters, ſo ſhal the graue [u] the ſinners.

[u] Thogh God ſuffer the wicked for a time, yet their end ſhal be moſte vile deſtruction, & in this point Iob cometh to him ſelf and ſheweth his confidence 20 [x] The pitiful man ſhal forget him: the worme ſhal fede his ſweetenes: he ſhalbe no more remēbred, & the wicked ſhalbe broken like a tree.

[x] He doeth euil intreat the baren, that doeth not beare, nether doeth he good to the widowe.

21 He draweth alſo ỹ [y] mightie by his power, & whē he riſeth vp, none is ſure of life.

[y] He ſheweth why the wicked ſhal not be lamented, becauſe he did not pitie others

22 Thogh men giue him aſſurance to be in ſauetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

23 Thei are exalted for a litle, but thei are gone, and are broght lowe as all others: thei are deſtroyed, and cut of as the top of an eare of corne.

[y] He declareth that after that the wicked haue deſtroyed the weakeſt, ther wil do like to the ſtronger, and therefore are iuſtely preuented by Gods iudgements.

25 But if it be not [z] ſo, where is he? or who wil proue me a lyer, & make my wordes of no value?

[z] That is, that contrary to your reaſoning no man can giue a perfite reaſon of Gods iudgements, let me be reproued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildād proueth that no man is cleane nor without ſinne before God.

Chap. XXV.

1 THen anſwered Bildād the Shuhite, & ſaid,

2 [a] Power & feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.

[a] His purpoſe is to proue, ỹ albeit God trye and afflict the iuſte, yet ſone after he ſendeth proſperitie, & becauſe he did not ſo to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked

3 Is there any nomber in his armies? & vpō whome [b] ſhal not his light ariſe?

[b] Who cā hide him frō his preſence?

4 And how may a man [c] be iuſtified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

[c] That is, be iuſte in reſpect of God?

5 Beholde, he wil giue no light to the moone, [d] and the ſtarres are vncleane in his ſight.

[d] If God ſhew his power, the moone & ſtarres cā not haue that light, wīch is giuen thē, muche leſſe cā man haue any excellēcie, but of God

6 How muche more man, a worme, euē the ſonne of man, which is but a worme?

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob ſheweth that man can not helpe God, & proueth it by his miracles.

Chap. XXVI.

1 BVt Iob anſwered, and ſaid,

2 [a] Whome helpeſt thou? him that hathe no power? ſaueſt thou the arme that hathe no ſtrength?

[a] Thou cōcludeſt nothing: for nether ỹ helpeſt me, wīch am deſtitute of all helpe, nether yet ſpeakeſt ſufficiētly on Gods behalfe, who hathe no nede of thy defence

3 Whome counſeleſt thou? him that hathe no wiſdome? thou [b] ſheweſt right wel as the thing is.

[b] But ỹ doeſt not applie it to ỹ purpoſe

4 To whome doeſt ỹ declare theſe wordes? or whoſe ſpirit [c] cometh out of thee?

[c] That is, moueth thee to ſpeake this?

5 The [d] dead things are formed vnder the waters, and nere vnto them.

[d] Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power & prouidence in the mines and metals in the depe places of the earth

6 The graue is [e] naked before him, & there is no couering for [f] deſtruction.

[e] There is nothing hid in ỹ bottom of the earth, but he ſeeth it [f] Meaning, the graue wherein thigs putrifie.

7 He ſtretcheth out the [g] North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

[g] He cauſeth ỹ whole heauen to turne about ỹ North pole.

8 He bindeth the waters in his cloudes, and the clonde is not broken vnder them.

9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: [h] and ſpreadeth his cloude vpon it.

[h] That is, hideth ỹ heauens, which are called his throne

10 He hathe ſet bondes about the waters, vntil the [i] day and night come to an end.

[i] So lōg as this worlde endureth

11 The [k] pillers of heauen tremble and quake at his reproſe.

[k] Not that heauē hathe pillers to vpholde it, but he ſpeaketh by a ſimilitude, as thogh he wolde ſay, The heauen it ſelf is not able to abide his reproche

12 The ſea is calme by his power, & by his vnderſtanding he ſmiteth ỹ pride thereof.

13 His Spirit hathe garniſhed the heauēs, & his hand hathe formed ỹ crooked [l] ſerpēt.

14 Lo, theſe are parte of his wayes: but [m] how litle a portion heare we of him? and who can vnderſtand his feareful power?

[m] If theſe fewe things, which we ſe daily without eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how muche more wolde they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The conſtancie and perſitnes of Iob. 13 The rewarde of the wicked and of the tyrants.

1 MOreouer Iob proceded and continued his parable, ſaying,

2 The

2 The liuing God hathe taken away my a iudgement: for the Almightie hathe put my soule in bitternes.
3 Yet so lōg as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shal speake no wickednes,
b and my tongue shal vttei no deceit.
5 God forbid, that I shulde c iustifie you:
vntil I dye, I wil neuer take away mine d innocencie from my self.
6 I wil kepe my righteousnes, and wil not forsake it: mine heart shal not reproue me of my e dayes.
7 Mine enemie shalbe as the wicked, & he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
8 For what f hope hathe the hypocrite whē he hathe heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?
9 Wil God heare his crye, when trouble cometh vpon him?
10 Wil he set his delite on the Almightie?
wil he call vpō God at all times?
11 I wil teach you what is in ỹ hād of g God,
& I wil not conceil that which is with the Almightie.
12 Beholde, all ye your selues h haue sene it:
why then do you thus vanish i in vanitie?
13 This is the k porcion of a wicked man with God, & the heritage of tyrāts, which they shal receiue of the Almightie.
14 If his children be in great nomber, the sworde shal destroy them, and his poste rite shal not be satisfied with bread.
15 His remnant shal be buryed in death, & his widowes l shal not wepe.
16 Thogh he shulde heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay, 17 He may prepare it, but the iuste shal put it on, and the innocēt shal deuide ỹ siluer.
18 He buyldeth his house as the m mothe, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.
19 When the riche man slepeth, n he shal not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.
20 Terrours shal take him as waters, and a tempest shal carie him away by night.
21 The East wind shal take him away, & he shal departe: and it shal hurlle him out of his place.
22 And God shal cast vpon him & not spare, though he wolde faine flee out of his hand.
23 Euerie man shal clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a He hathe so sore afflicted me, that mē cā not iudge of mine vprightnes: for they iudge onelyby outward signes
b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet wil I not speake cōtrarie to that, which I haue said, and to do wickedly in betraying the trueth c Which condemne me as a wicked mā, because ỹ hād of God is vpō me d I will not cōfesse that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes e Of my life past
f What aduātage hathe the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seing he shal lose his owne soule?
g That is, what God reserueth to him self, & whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet do not vnderstand them i Why maintaine you thē this errour?
k Thus wil God ordre the wicked, & punish him euen vnto his posteritie l None shal lament him
m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garmēt, but is soone shaken out.
n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shal not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honorably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdome of God is Vnsercheable.

1 THe siluer surely hathe his vaine, a & the golde his place, where thei take it.
2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.
3 God putteth an end to darknes, b & he tryeth the perfectiō of all things: he setteth a bōde of darkenes, & of ỹ shadow of death.
4 The flood breaketh out against the c inhabitant, and the waters d forgotten of the fote, being higher thē mā, are gone away.
5 Out of the same earth cometh e bread, & vnder it, as it were fyre is turned vp.
6 The stones thereof are a place f of sa-phirs, and the dust of it is golde.
7 There is a path which no foule hathe known, nether hathe the kites eye sene it.
8 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.
9 He putteth his hand vpon the g rockes, & ouerthroweth the moūtaines by ỹ rootes.
10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euerie precious thing.
11 He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflowe, & the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.
12 But where is wisdome foūde? h & where is the place of vnderstanding?
13 Man knoweth not i the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.
14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.
15 k Golde shal not be giuen for it, nether shal siluer be weighed for ỹ price thereof.
16 It shal not be valued with the wedge of golde of Ophir, nor with the precious o-nix, nor the saphir.
17 The golde nor the christal shal be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde.
18 No mencion shalbe made of coral, nor of the l gabrish: for wisdome is more precious then perles.
19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shal not be equal vnto it, nether shal it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.
20 Whence thē cometh wisdome? and where is the place of vnderstanding, 21 Seing it is hid from the eyes of all the liu-ing, & is hid frō the m foules of ỹ heauē?
22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.
23 But God vnderstādeth the n way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.
24 For he beholdeth the ends of ỹ worlde, & seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make the weight of the windes, & to weigh the waters by measure.
26 When he made a decree for the raine, &
a way for the lightening of the thunders, 27 Then did he se it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.
28 And vnto man he said, Beholde, * the o feare of the Lord is wisdome, and to departe from euil is vnderstanding.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this worlde to diuers secrets of nature, but mā is neuer able to comprehēd the wisdome of God.
b There is nothing but it is cōpased within certeine limites, & hathe an end, but Gods wisdom
c Meaning him that dwelleth thereby.
d Which a mā can not wade through e That is, cornes and vnder nethe as brimstone or cole, which easily conceiueth fyre.
f He alludeth, to the mines and secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, whereinto nether foules nor beastes cā entre.
g After that he hathe declared the wisdome of God in the secretes of nature, he describeth his power
h Thogh Gods power, & wisdome may be vnderstand in earthly thīgs, yet his heauēlie wisdome can not be atteined vnto
i It is to hie a thing for man to atteine vnto in this worlde k It cā nether be boght for golde, nor precious stones, but is onely ỹ gift of God l Which is thoght to be a kinde of precious stone.
m Meaning, ỹ there is no naturall meanes, whereby man might atteine to the heauenlie wisdome: which he meaneth by the foules, that flie hie n He maketh God onely ỹ autor of this wisdome, and the giuer therof.
* Prouerb. 1, 7
o He declareth that mā hathe so muche of this heauenlie wisdome as he sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euil

CHAP. XXIX.

Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past.
7 and his authoritie. 12 Iustice and equitie.

1 SO Iob proceded and continued his parable, saying,
2 Oh that I were as " in times past, when God preserued me!

a When I felt his fauour

29 When his a light ſhined vpō mine head: & when by his light I walked through the b darkenes, b I was fre from affliction.

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when c Gods prouidēce was vpō my tabernacle:

c That is, ſemed by euident tokens to be more preſent with me

5 When the Almightie was yet with me, & my children rounde about me:

d By theſe ſimilitudes he declareth the great proſperitie, that he was in, ſo that he had none occaſion to be ſuche a ſinner as they accuſed him.

6 When I waſhed my paths d with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

e Being aſhamed of their lightnes, and afraied of my grauitie.

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgemēt ſeat, and when I cauſed them to prepare my ſeat in the ſtrete.

8 The yong men ſawe me, and e hid them ſelues, and the aged aroſe, and ſtode vp.

9 The princes ſtayed talke, and laied their hand on their f mouth.

f Acknowledging my wiſdome

10 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to ỹ roofe of their mouth.

g All that heard me, praiſed me

11 And when the g eare heard me, it bleſſed me: and when the eye ſawe me, it gaue witnes to h me.

h Teſtifying ỹ I did good iuſtice

12 For I deliuered the i poore that cryed, and the fatherles, and him that had none to helpe him.

i Becauſe his aduerſaries did ſo much charge him with wickednes, he is cōpelled to rendre a coūte of his life

13 k The bleſsing of him that was ready to periſh, came vpon me, and I cauſed the widowes heart to reioyce.

k That is, I did ſuccour him ỹ was in deſtreſſe, and ſo he had cauſe to praiſe me 14 I put l on iuſtice, and it couered me: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

l I delited to do iuſtice as others did, to weare coſtely apparel.

15 I was the eyes to the blinde, and I was the fete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cauſe, I ſoght it out diligently.

17 I brake alſo the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the praye out of his tethe.

m That is, at home in my bed without all trouble, and vnquietnes.

18 Then I ſaid, I ſhal dye in my m neſt, and I ſhal multiplie my dayes as the ſande.

n My felicitie doeth increaſe

19 For my roote is n ſpred out by the water, and the dewe ſhal lye vpon my branche.

o That is, was pleaſant vnto them

20 My glorie ſhal renue toward me, and my bowe ſhal be reſtored in mine hand.

p As the drye grounde thirſteth for the raine.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and helde their tongue at my counſel.

22 After my wordes thei replied not, & my talke o dropped vpon them.

q That is, thei thoght it not to be a ieſt, or thei thoght not ỹ I wold cōdeſcēd vnto thē 23 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth p as for the latter raine.

r They were afraied to offend me, and cauſe me to be angrie 24 If I q laughed on them, they beleued it not: nether did they cauſe the light of my countenance r to fall.

s I had them at commandement

25 I appointed out s their way, and did ſit as chief, and dwelt as a King in the armie, and like him that comforteth ỹ mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the moſte contemptible, 11. 21. Becauſe of his aduerſitie and affliction. 23 Death is the houſe of all fleſh.

t That is, mine eſtate is chāged, & where as before the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.

BVt now they that are yonger then I, t mocke me: yea, thei whoſe fathers I haue refuſed to ſet with the u dogges of my flockes.

u Meaning, to be my ſhepherdes, or to kepe my dogges.

2 For where to ſhulde the ſtrength of their hands haue ſerued me, ſeing age x periſhed in them?

x That is, theſe fathers dyed for famine before they came to age.

3 For pouertie and famine they were ſolitarie, fleing into the wildernes, which is darke, deſolate and waſte.

4 They cut vp y nettels by the buſhes, and the iuniper rootes was their meat.

y Or, malue.

5 Thei were z chaſed forthe from among men: they ſhowted at them, as at a theefe.

z Iob ſheweth that theſe that mocked him in his afflictiō, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewde fellowes, ſuche as he here deſcribeth.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the cleſts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the buſhes, and vnder the thiſtels they gathered them ſelues.

8 They were the children of fooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their a ſong, & I am their talke.

a They make ſongs of me, & mocke at my miſerie.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and ſpare not to ſpit in my face.

11 Becauſe that God hathe loſed my b corde and humbled me, c they haue loſed the bridel before me.

b God hathe take frō me ỹ force, credit & autoritie, wherewith I kept them in ſubiection.

c He ſaid that the yong men whē they ſaw him, hid them ſelues, as chap. 29, 8. and now in his miſerie they were impudent and licencious 12 The youth riſe vp at my right hād: they haue puſht my fete, and haue trode on me as on the d paths of their deſtruction.

d That is, thei ſoght by all meanes how thei might deſtroye me

13 They haue deſtroyed my paths: they toke pleaſure at my calamitie, they had none e helpe.

e They nede none to helpe them.

14 They came as a great breache of waters, and f vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

f By my calamitie they toke an occaſiō againſt me

15 Feare is turned vpō me: and thei purſue my ſoule as the winde, and mine health paſſeth away as a cloude.

g My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead

16 Therefore my ſoule is now g powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

h Meaning, ſorowe.

17 h It perceth my bones in the night, and my ſinewes take no reſt.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garmēt chāged, which compaſſeth me about as the colar of my coate.

i That is, God hathe broght me into contempt.

19 i He hathe caſt me into the myre, and I am become like aſhes and duſt.

20 When I crye vnto thee, ỹ doeſt not heare me, nether regardeſt me, whē I ſtād vp.

k He ſpeaketh not thus to accuſe God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caryed beſide hiſelf.

21 Thou turneſt thy ſelf k cruelly againſt me, and art enemie vnto me with the ſtrength of thine hand.

l He compareth his afflictions to a tēpeſt, or whirle winde 22 Thou takeſt me vp and cauſeſt me to ride vpon the l winde, and makeſt my m ſtrength to faile.

m Or, wiſdome, or Law

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the houſe appointed for all the liuing.

24 Doutles none can ſtretche his hand q vnto the graue, thogh they crye in his deſtruction.

q None can deliuer me thence thogh they lament at my death.

25 Did not I wepe with him ỹ was in trouble?

ble? was not my ſoule in heauines for the poore?

26 Yet when I loked for good, [r] euil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenes.

27 My bowels did boyle without reſt: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I wēt mourning [s] without ſunne: I ſtode vp in the congregacion [t] and cryed.

29 I am a brother to the [u] dragons, and a companion to the oſtriches.

30 My ſkinne is blacke vpō me, and my bones are burnt with [x] heat.

31 Therefore mine harp is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voyce of them that wepe.

r In ſtead of cōforting they mocked at me.
s Not deliting in anie worldely thing, no not ſo muche, as in the vſe of the ſunne.
t Lamenting thē that were in affliction, & mouing others to pitie them.
u I am like ỹ wilde beaſtes that deſire moſte ſolitarie places x With the heat of affliction.

CHAP. XXXI.

Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and nomber of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithful.

1 I Made [a] couenant with mine eyes: why thē ſhulde I thinke on [b] a maid?

2 For what porcion ſhulde I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almightie from on hie?

3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked & ſtrāge puniſhement to [c] the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my ſteppes?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my fote hath made haſte to deceit,

6 Let God weigh me in the iuſte balance, and he ſhal knowe mine [d] vprightnes.

7 If my ſtep hathe turned out of the way, or mine heart hathe [e] walked after mine eye, or if anie blot hathe cleaued to mine hands,

8 Let me ſowe, & let another [f] eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hathe bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue layd wayte at the dore of my neigbour, 10 Let my wife [g] grinde vnto another mā, and let other men bowe downe vpon her.

11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to be condemned.

12 Yea, this is a fyre that ſhal deuoure [h] to deſtruction, and which ſhal roote out all mine increaſe, 13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my ſeruant, and of my maid, when they [i] did contend with me.

14 What then ſhal I do when [k] God ſtādeth vp? and when he ſhal viſite me, what ſhal I anſwer?

15 He that hathe made me in the wombe, hathe he not made [l] him? hathe not he alone facioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I reſtrained the poore of their deſire, or haue cauſed the eyes of the widowe [m] to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my morſels alone, & the fatherles hathe not eaten thereof,

18 (For from my youth he hathe growē vp with me [n] as with a father, & from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her)

19 If I haue ſene anie periſh for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, 20 If his loines haue not bleſſed me, becauſe he was warmed w̄ the fleece of my ſhepe,

21 If I haue lift [o] vp mine hand againſt the fatherles, when I ſawe that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine [p] arme fall frō my ſhulder, & mine arme be broken from the bone.

23 For Gods puniſhment was [q] fearful vnto me, and I colde not be deliuered from his highnes.

24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue ſaid to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced becauſe my ſubſtance was great, or becauſe mine hand had gotten muche,

26 If I did beholde the [r] ſunne, when it ſhined, or the moone, walking in her brightenes,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in ſecret, or if my mouth did kiſſe mine [s] hand,

28 (This alſo had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denyed the God [t] aboue)

29 If I reioyced at his deſtruction that hated me, or was moued to ioye when euil came vpon him, 30 Nether haue I ſuffred my mouth to ſinne, by wiſhing a curſſe vnto his ſoule.

31 Did not the men of my [u] tabernacle ſay, Who ſhal giue vs of his fleſh? we can not be ſatiſfied.

32 The ſtrāger did not lodge in the ſtrete, but I opened my dores vnto him, that wēt by the way.

33 If I haue hid [x] my ſinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my boſom, 34 Thogh I colde haue made afraied a great multitude, yet the moſt contemptible of the families did [y] feare me: ſo I kept [z] ſilence, and went not out of the dore.

35 Oh that I had ſome to heare me! beholde my [a] ſigne that the Almightie wil witnes for me: thogh mine aduerſarie ſhulde write a boke againſt me, 36 Wolde not I take it vpon my ſhulder, & binde it as [b] a crowne vnto me?

37 I wil tel him the nomber of my goings, and go vnto him as to a [c] prince.

38 If my land [d] crye againſt me, or the forrowes thereof complaine together,

39 If I haue eaten the frutes thereof without ſiluer: or if I haue grieued [e] the ſoules of the maſters thereof, 40 Let thiſtles growe in ſtead of wheat, & cokle in the ſtead of barly.

THE [f] VVORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED

a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lokes.
b Wolde not God then haue puniſhed me?
c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridel to ſtay him from all wickednes.
d He ſheweth wherein his vprightnes ſtādeth: that is, in as muche as he was blameles before men, & ſinned not againſt the ſecond table.
e That is, haue accompliſhed the luſt of mine eye.
f According to the curſe of the Law, Deu. 28, 33
g Let her be made a ſlaue
h He ſheweth that albeit mā neglect the puniſhement of adulterie, yet the wrath of God wil neuer ceaſe til ſuche be deſtroyed
i When they thoght them ſelues euil intreated by me k If I had oppreſſed others, how ſhulde I haue eſcaped Gods iudgement?
l He was moued to ſhewe pitie vnto ſeruants, becauſe they were Gods creatures as he was.
m By long waiting for her requeſt n He nouriſhed ỹ fatherles & maintened the widowes cauſe.
o To oppreſſe him & do him iniurie.
p Let me rott in pieces
q I refrained not from ſinning for feare of men, but becauſe I feared God
r If I was proude of my worldelie proſperitie & felicitie, which is ment by the ſhining of the ſunne & brightenes of the moone
s If mine owne doings delited me t By putting confidence in any thing, but in him alone u My ſeruants moued me to be reuēged of mine enemie, yet did I neuer wiſh him hurt.
x And not confeſſed it frely: whereby it is euident that he iuſtified hi ſelfe before men and not before God y That is, I reuerenced the moſte weake & contemned & was afraied to offend them z I ſuffred thē to ſpeake euil of me and wēt not out of my houſe to reuēge it.
a This is a ſufficient token of my righteouſnes, that God is my witnes and wil iuſtifie my cauſe b Shulde not this boke of his accuſatiōs be a praiſe & condemnation to me?
c I wil make him a coūte of all my life, without feare.
d As thogh I had withholden their wages that laboured in it.
e Meaning, that he was no briber nor extortioner
f That is, the talke which he had with his three frendes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihú reproueth them of foly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

1 SO these thre men ceased to answer Iob, because he "esteemed him selfe iust.

[b] Ebr. was iust in his owne eyes

2 Thē the wrath of Elihú the sonne of Barachél the [a] Buzite, of ỹ familie of [b] Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified him self [c] more then God.

a Which came of Buz ỹ sonne of Nahor Abrahams brother

b Or, as the Chalde paraphraſt readeth, Abram

c By making him self innocent, and by charging God of rigour

3 Also his anger was kindled against his thre friends, because they colde not finde an answer, and yet condemned Iob.

4 (Now Elihú had waited til Iob had spoken: for [d] they were more ancient in yeres then he) d That is, the thre mēcioned before.

5 So when Elihú sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the thre men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihú the sonne of Barachél, the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I douted, and was afrayed to shewe you mine opinion.

[e] Meaning, the ancient, which haue experiēce

7 For I said, The dayes [e] shal speake, and the multitude of yeres shal teache wisdome.

[f] It is a special gift of God that man hathe vnderstanding, and cometh nether of nature nor by age:

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, [f] but the inspiracion of the Almightie giueth vnderstanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, nether do the aged all way vnderstand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I wil shewe also mine opinion.

11 Beholde, I did waite vpon your wordes & hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you soght out [g] reasons.

[g] To proue ỹ Iobs affliction came for his sinnes.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor answered his wordes:

[h] And flatter your selues, as though you had ouercome him

13 Lest ye shulde say, We haue [h] founde wisdome: for God hathe cast him downe, & no man.

[i] To wit, Iob

14 Yet hathe [i] he not directed his wordes to me, nether wil I answer [k] him by your wordes.

[k] He vseth almost the like arguments, but without taūting, and reproches.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left of their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stode stil and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my turne, & I shewed mine opinion.

[l] I haue conceiued in my minde great store of reasons.

18 For I am ful of [l] matter, & the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Beholde, my bellie is as the wine, which hathe no vent, & like the newe bottels that braſt.

20 Therefore wil I speake, that I may take breath: I wil open my lippes, and wil answer.

[m] I wil nether haue regarde to riches, credit nor autoritie, but wil speake the veritie truely.

21 I wil not now accept the persone of mā, [m] nether wil I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue [n] titles, lest my Maker shulde take me away sodenly.

[n] The Ebrew worde signifieth to change the name, as to call a foole a wise man: meaning that he wolde not cloke the trueth to flatter men

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihú accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hathe diuers meanes to instruct man and to drawe him from sinne. 19 He afflicteth man and sodenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thankes to God.

1 WHerefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.

Chap XXXIII.

a I confesse ỹ power of God, & am one of his therefore thou oghtest to heare me

2 Beholde now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hathe spoken in my mouth.

b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap 16, 21, so that he might do it without feare, Elihú sayth, he wil reason in Gods stead, whome he nedethnot to feare, because he is a man made of the same matter that he is.

3 My wordes are in the vprightenes of mine heart, and my lippes shal speake pure knowledge.

4 The [a] Spirit of God hathe made me, & the breath of the Almightie hathe giuen me life.

c I wil not handle thee so roughly as the se others haue done

5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe & stand before me.

6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in [b] Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

d He repeateth Iobs wordes, whereby he pretted his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13, 16 & 36 Chap

7 Beholde, my terrour shal not feare thee, nether shal mine hād [c] be heauy vpō thee.

8 Douteles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes.

9 I am [d] cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

e The cause of his iudgemēts is not alwayes declared to man

10 Lo, he hathe founde occasions against me, and counted me for his enemie.

11 He hathe put my fete in the stockes, and loketh narowly vnto all my paths.

12 Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, ỹ God is greater thē mā

f Though God by soundrie examples of his iudgments speake vnto man, yet the reason thereof is not knowen: yea & though God shulde speake, yet he is not vnderstand

13 Why doest thou striue against him? for he doeth not [e] giue account of all his matters?

14 For God speaketh [f] once or twise, & one seeth it not.

g God, saith he, speaketh cōmunely, either by visions to teache vs the cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictiōs, or by his messenger

15 In dreames & [g] visions of the night, whē slepe falleth vpon men, and they slepe vpon their beddes, 16 Then he openeth the eares of mē, euen by their corrections, which he [h] had sealed, h That is, determined to send vpon thē.

17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the [i] pride of man, i He sheweth for what end God sendeth afflictions: to beat downe mās pride, & to turne frō euil.

18 And kepe backe his soule frō the pit, & ỹ his life shulde not passe by the sworde.

k That is, his painful & miserable life.

19 He is also striken with sorow vpon his bed, and the grief of his bones is sore, 20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meat.

l To them that shal burie him

21 His flesh faileth that it can not be sene, & his bones which were not sene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, & his life [l] to the buriers.

m A man sent of God to declare his wil.

23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnes, n A singular man, & as one of God vnto sinners: & wherein mans righteousnes standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ & saith therein 24 Then wil he haue [o] mercie vpon him, and say, Deliuer him, that he go not down into the pit, for I haue founde a raunsome.

o He sheweth that it is a sure toke of Gods mercie towards sinners, whē he causeth his worde to be preached vnto thē:

25 His flesh shal be fresher then a childes: he shal returne to the dayes of his youth.

26 He shal pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he shal see his face with ioye: for he wil render vnto man his righteousnes.

27 He shal looke vpon men, and if any say, I haue sinned, and peruerted that which was right, and it profited me not,

28 He wil deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shal see the light.

29 Lo, all these things God worketh twise or thre times with man,

30 To bring his soule from the pit, that he may be lightened with the light of the liuing.

31 Marke wel, Iob, hearken vnto me: hold your peace, and I wil speake.

32 If thou haste any thing to say, answer me: speake, for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If not, hearken thou vnto me: hold your peace, and I shal teache thee wisdome.

and wil ſaie, p Deliuer him, that he go not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Thē ſhal his fleſh be q as freſh as a childs, & ſhal returne as in ỹ daies of his youth.

26 He ſhal pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he ſhal ſe his face with ioy: for he wil rendre vnto man his r righteouſnes.

27 He loketh vpon mē, and if one ſay, I haue ſinned, and ſ peruerted righteouſnes, and it did not profit t me, 28 u He wil deliuer his ſoule from going into the pit, and his life ſhal ſe the light.

29 Lo, all theſe thīgs wil God worke x twiſe or thriſe with a man, 30 That he may turne backe his ſoule frō the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke wel, ô Iob, & heare me: kepe ſilence, and I wil ſpeake.

32 If there be y matter, anſwer me, & ſpeake: for I deſire to z iuſtifie thee.

33 If thou haſt not, heare me: holde thy tongue, and I wil teache thee wiſdome.

p That is, the miniſter ſhal by the preaching of the worde pronounce vnto him ỹ forgiuenes of his ſinnes.
q He ſhal fele Gods fauour and reioyce: declarīg hereby, wherein ſtandeth the true ioy of the faithful: and ỹ God wil reſtore hī to health of body, which is a token of his bleſsing
r God wil forgiue his ſinnes and accept hī as iuſte s That is, done wickedly
t But my ſinne hathe bene the cauſe of Gods wrath toward me.
u God wil forgiue the penitent ſinner x Meaning, ofte times, euen as oft as a ſinner doeth repent y If thou doute of any thing, or ſe occaſion to ſpeake againſt it.
z That is, to ſhewe thee, wherein mans iuſtification conſiſteth.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Elihú chargeth Iob, that he called him ſelfe righteous. 12 He ſheweth that God is iuſt in his iudgemēts. 24 God deſtroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

1 MOreouer Elihú anſwered, and ſaid,
2 Heare my wordes, ye a wiſe men, and harkē vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.
3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as ỹ mouth taſteth meat.
4 Let vs ſeke b iudgement among vs, & let vs knowe among our ſelues what is good.
5 For Iob hathe ſaid, I am righteous, and God hathe taken c away my iudgement.
6 Shulde I lye in my d right? my wounde of the arowe is e grieuous without my ſinne.
7 What mā is like Iob, that drinketh f ſcornefulnes like water?
8 Which goeth in the g companie of them that worke iniquitie, & walketh with wicked men?
9 For he hathe ſaid, h It profiteth a mā nothing that he ſhulde i walke with God.
10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wiſdome, God forbid ỹ wickednes ſhulde be in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.
11 For he wil rendre vnto man according to his worke, & cauſe euerie one to finde according to his way.
12 And certeinly God wil not do wickedly, nether wil the Almightie peruert iudgement.
13 Whome k hathe he appointed ouer ỹ earth beſide him ſelf? or who hathe placed the whole worlde?
14 If k he ſet his heart vpon man, and gather vnto him ſelf his ſpirit l and his breath, 15 All fleſh ſhal periſh together, and man ſhal returne vnto duſt.
16 And if ỹ haſt vnderſtanding, heare this & hearken to the voyce of my wordes.
17 Shal he that hateth iudgement, m gouerne? & wilt thou iudge him wicked that is moſte iuſt?
18 Wilt thou ſay vnto a Kīg, Thou art n wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodlie?
19 How muche leſſe to him that accepteth not the perſones of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for thei be all the worke of his hands.
20 They ſhal dye ſodenly, o and the people ſhalbe troubled at midnight, p & they ſhal paſſe forthe and take away the mightie without hand.
21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he ſeeth all his goings.
22 There is no darkenes nor ſhadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.
23 For he wil not lay on man ſo muche, that he ſhulde q entre into iuſpgemēt with God.
24 He ſhal breake the mightie without r ſeking, and ſhal ſet vp other in their ſteade.
25 Therefore ſhal he declare their ſ workes: he ſhal turne the t night, and they ſhalbe deſtroyed.
26 He ſtriketh them as wicked men in the places of the u ſeers, 27 Becauſe they haue turned backe from him, and wolde not conſider all his waies:
28 So that they haue cauſed the voyce of the poore to x come vnto him, and he hathe heard the crye of the afflicted.
29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nacions, or vpon a man onely?
30 Becauſe the y hypocrite doeth reigne, & becauſe the people are ſnared.
31 Surely it apperteineth vnto God z to ſay, I haue pardoned, I wil not deſtroye.
32 a But if I ſe not, teache thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil do no more.
33 Wil he performe the thing through b thee? for thou haſte reproued c it, becauſe that thou haſt choſen, and not I. now ſpeake what thou knoweſt.
34 Let men of vnderſtanding tel me, and let a wiſe man hearken vnto me.
35 Iob hathe not ſpoken of knowledge, nether were his wordes according to wiſdome.
36 I deſire that Iob may be d tryed, vnto the end touching the anſwers for wicked men.
37 For he e addeth rebellion vnto his ſinne: he clappeth his hāds among vs, & multiplieth his wordes againſt God.

a Which are eſteemed wiſe of the worlde.
b Let vs examine the mater vprightly
c That is, hathe afflicted me without meaſure d Shulde I ſay, I am wicked, being an innocent?
e I am ſorer puniſhed, then my ſinne deſerueth
f Which is compelled to receiue the reproche & ſcornes of many for his fooliſh wordes.
g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, becauſe he ſemed not to glorifie God, & ſubmit him ſelfe to his iudgements.
h He wraſteth Iobs wordes, who ſaid that Gods childrē are oft times puniſhed i this worlde, & the wicked go free
i That is, liue godly, as Gen 5.22
Chap 36.23.
k To deſtroye him
l The breath of life, which he gaue man
m If God were not iuſt, how colde he gouerne the worlde?
n If man of nature feare to ſpeake euil of ſuch as haue power, thē muche more oght thei to be afraid to ſpeake euil of God
o When they loke not for it p The meſſengers or viſitation that God ſhal ſend q God doeth not afflict man aboue meaſure, ſo that he ſhulde haue occaſion to cōtend with hī r For all his creatures are at hand to ſerue him, ſo that he nedeth not to ſeke for annie other annie ſ Make them manifeſt that they are wicked t Declare the thīgs that were hid u Meanīg, openly in the ſighe of all men x By their crueltie & extortion
y Whenty rāts ſit in the throne of iuſtice & vnder pretēce of executing iuſtice are but hypocrites & oppreſſe the people, it is a ſigne that God hathe drawen backe his cōtenance and fauour from that place z Only it belōgeth to God to moderat his correctiōs, & not vnto man.
a Thus Elihú ſpeaketh in ỹ perſone of God, as it were mockīg Iob becauſe he wolde be wiſer then God
b Wil God vſe thy counſel in doing his workes?
c Thus he ſpeaketh in ỹ perſone of God, as though Iob ſhulde chuſe & refuſe afflictiō at his pleaſure
d That he may ſpeake as muche as he can, that we may anſwer him & all the wicked that ſhal vſe ſuche argumēts e He ſtandeth ſtubbernly in the maintenāce of his cauſe.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Nether doeth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crye vnto God and are not heard.

1 ELihú spake moreouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am [a] more righteous then God?
3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee and what auaileth it me, to purge me from my sinne?
4 Therefore wil I answer thee, and thy [b] companions with thee.
5 Loke vnto the heauen, and se and beholde the [c] cloudes which are hier then thou.
6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou [d] against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?
7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?
8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: thy rigteousnes may profite the sonne of man.
9 They cause many that are oppressed, [e] to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mightie.
10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?
11 Which teacheth vs more thē the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdome then the foules of the heauen.
12 Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but [f] he answereth not.
13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie, nether wil the Almightie regarde it.
14 Althogh thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regarde it, [g] yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.
15 But now because his angre hathe not visited, nor called to coūt the euil with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob [h] openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

a Iob neuer spake these wordes: but because he maintened his innocencie, it semed as though he wolde say, that God tormented him without iust cause.
b Suche as are in the like errour c If thou canst not controle the cloudes, wilt thou presume to instruct God?
d Nether doeth thy sinne hurt God, nor thy iustice profite hī: for he wil be glorified without thee
e The wicked may hurt man and cause him to crie, who if he soght to God, which sendeth comfort, shulde be deliuered
f Because thei pray not in faith as feling Gods mercies g God is iust, howsoeuer iudgeth of hī.
h For if he did punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shuldest not be able to open thy mouth

CHAP XXXVI.

a He sheweth that when we speake of God we must lift our spirits more hie, then our natural sense is able to reache
b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithful instructour, & that I speake to thee in ỹ name of God
c Strong and constant, & of vnderstāding: for these are ỹ gifts of God, & he loueth them in man: but for asmuche as God punished now Iob, it is a figne that these are not in hī.
d Therefore he wil not preserue the wicked: but to the humble & afflicted heart he wil shewe grace e He preferreth the godlie to honour.

1 Elihú sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The properties of the wicked.

1 ELihú also proceded and said,
2 Suffre me a litle, & I wil instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.
3 I wil fetche [a] my knowledge a farre of, & wil attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker.
4 For truely my wordes shal not be false, & he that is [b] perfite in knowledge, speaketh with thee.
5 Beholde, the mightie God casteth away none that is [c] mightie & valiant of courage.
6 [d] He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.
7 He withdraweth not his eies from the righteous, but thei are with [e] Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.
8 And if thei be bound in fetters & tyed with the cordes of affliction, 9 Then wil he shewe them their [f] worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude.
10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.
11 * If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperitie, & their yeres in pleasures.
12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by the sworde, & perish [g] without knowledge.
13 But the hypocrites [h] of heart increase the wrath: for thei [i] call not when he bindeth them.
14 Their soule dyeth in [k] youth, & their life among the whoremongers.
15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.
16 Euen so wolde he haue taken thee out of the streight place into a broad place & not shut vp beneth: and [l] that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene ful of fat.
17 But thou art ful of the [m] iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie mainteine all things.
18 [n] For Gods wrath is, lest he shulde take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.
19 Wil he regarde thy riches? he regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.
20 [o] Be not careful in the night, how he destroieth the people out of their place.
21 Take thou hede: loke not to [p] iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.
22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?
23 Who hathe appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?
24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men beholde.
25 All men se it, and men beholde it [q] a farre of.
26 Beholde, God is excellent, [r] & we knowe him not, nether can the nomber of his yeres be searched out.
27 When he restraineth the droppes of water, the raine [s] powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the cloudes do droppe & let fall abundantly vpon man.
29 Who cā knowe the diuisiōs of the cloudes & the thunders of his [t] tabernacle?
30 Beholde he spreadeth his light vpon [u] it, and couereth the [x] bottome of the sea.

f He wil moue their heartes to fele their sinnes ỹ thei may come to him by repentance as he did Manasses Isa 1.19.
g That is, in their follie or obstination, & so shalbe cause of their owne destruction.
h Which are malicieusly bēt against God and flatter thē selues in their vices i When they are in affliction they seke not to God for succour, as Asa. 2. Chro 16,12. reuel 16,11 k Thei dye of some vile death and that before they come to age l If thou hadest bene obedient to God, he wolde haue broght thee to libertie & welth m Thou art al togither after the maner of the wicked: for thou doest murmure against ỹ iustice of God.
n God doeth punish thee, lest thou shuldest forget God in thy welth and so perish o Be not thou curious in seking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.
p And so murmur against God through impacience q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may se thē a farre of and knowe God by the same r Our infirmitie hindereth vs so, that we can not attayne to the perfite knowledge of God s That is, the raine cometh of those dropes of water, which he keepeth in ỹ cloudes t Meaning, of the cloudes, wher he calleth ỹ Tabernacle of God u Vpon the cloude.
x That men cā not come to ỹ knowledge of ỹ springs that proceed

y He sheweth that the raine hathe double vse: the one ỹ it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerthrowe any places, & ỹ other that it maketh ỹ lād fruteful

31 For thereby he iudgeth y the people, and giueth meat abundantly.

z That is, one cloude to dash against another.

32 He couereth the light with the cloudes, and commandeth them to go z against it.

a His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is angre in rising vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Elihu proueth that the vnsearcheable wisdome of God is manifest by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The snowe, 9 The whirle winde, 11 And the rayne.

a The colde vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloude of the hote exhalatiō, which being taken in ỹ colde cloude mounteth vp towarde the place where ỹ fyre is, and so angre is ingendred: ỹ is, not se and thunder claps

1 AT this also mine heart is a astonied, & is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the b sounde of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the worlde.

4 After it a noyse soundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he wil not stay c them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth marueilously w̄ his voyce: he worketh great things, which we knowe not.

Chap XXXVII

a At the marueilling of the thunder, and lightenings: whereby he declareth that the faithful are liuely touched with the maiestie of God, whē they beholde his workes:

b That is, the thunder, whereby he speaketh to men to waken their dulnes and to bring them to the consideration of his workes

6 For he saith to the snowe, Be thou vpon ỹ earth: d likewise to the smale raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he e shutteth vp euerie man, that all men may knowe his worke.

8 Then the beasts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirle wide cometh out of ỹ South, and the colde from the f North winde.

c Meaning, the raines and thunders

d So ỹ neither smale raine nor great, snowe nor anie thing els cometh without Gods appointement

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, & the breadth of the waters g is made narrowe.

e By raines & thunders God causeth men to kepe themselues within their houses

f In Ebrewe it is called ỹ scatering winde, becausse it driueth away the cloudes & purgeth the ayre.

11 He maketh also the cloudes to h labour, to water the earth, & scatereth the cloude of i his light.

g That is, is frosen vp and dryed

12 And it is turned about by his gouernemēt, that thei may do whatsoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole worlde:

13 Whether it be for k punishmēt, or for his land, or of mercie, he causeth it to come.

h Gather the vapours, and moue to & fro to water the earth

14 Hearken vnto this, ô Iob: stand and consider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddest thou knowe when God disposed them? and caused the l light of his cloude to shine?

i That is, the cloude ỹ hath lightenig in it. k Raine, colde, heat, tempestes and suche like are sent of God, ether to punish mē, or to profite ỹ earth, orto declare his fauour toward man, as Chap 36, 31. l That is, the lightning to breake forth in the cloudes?

16 Hast thou knowen the m varietie of the cloude, & the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are n warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through the South winde?

m Which is some time changed into raine; or snowe, or haile or suche like 18 Hast thou stretched out ỹ heauens, which are strong, & as a molten o glasse?

n Why thy clothes shulde kepe thee warme; when the South winde bloweth, rather then when anie other winde bloweth?

19 Tel vs what we shal say vnto him: for we can not dispose our matter because of p darkenes.

o For their clearenes

p That is, our ignorance: signifying that Iob was so presumpteous that he wolde controle the workes of God.

20 Shal it be q tolde him when I speake? or shal mā speake when he shalbe r destroied?

q Hathe God nede that anie shulde tel him when mā murmureth against him?

21 And now men se not the light, s which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and clenseth them.

r If God wolde destroye a man, shulde he repine?

22 The t brightnes cometh out of ỹ North: the praise thereof is to God, which is terrible.

s The cloude stoppeth the shining of ỹ sunne, that mā cā not se it til the winde haue chased away ỹ clouder 23 It is the Almightie: we cā not finde him out: he is excellent in power & iudgement, & abundant in iustice: he u afflicteth not.

and if man be not able to atteine to the knowledge of these things, how muche lesse of Gods iudgements?

24 Let men therefore feare him: for he wil not regarde any that are wise in their owne conceit.

t In Ebrewe, golde: meanig faire wether and cleare as golde u Meaning, without cause.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice and prouidence of the Creator is knowen.

Chap. XXXVIII.

a That his wordes might haue greater maiestie, and ỹ Iob might knowe with whome he had to do.

1 THen answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the a whirle winde, & said,

2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counsel by wordes without knowledge?

b Which by seking out the secret cōsel of God by mans reason, maketh it more obscure & sheweth his owne folie

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I c wil demande of thee and declare thou vnto me.

c Because he had wished to dispute with God, Chap. 13, 3. God reasoneth with him to declare his rashnes.

4 Where wast thou when I layed the d fundacions of the earth? declare, if thou hast vnderstanding, d Seig he colde not iudge of those thigs, ẅ were done so long before he was borne, he was not able to cōprehend all Gods workes: muche lesse the secret causes of his iudgements.

5 Who hathe layed the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hathe stretched the line ouer it:

6 Where vpon are the fundacions thereof set: or who layed the corner stone thereof:

e The starres and dumme creatures are said to praise God, because his power, wisdome and goodnes is manifest & knowē therein.

7 When the starres of the morning e praised me together, and all the f children of God reioyced:

f Meaning, the Angels.

8 Or who hathe shut vp the sea with dores, when it ysſued and came forthe as out of the wombe:

g As though ỹ great sea were but as a litle babe in the hands of God

9 When I made the cloudes as a couering thereof, and darkenes as the g swadeling bandes thereof:

10 When I stablished my commandement vpon it, and set barres and dores, 11 And said, Hetherto shalt thou come, but no farther, and here h shal it staye thy proude waues.

so turne to & fro

h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as verse 10.

12 Hast thou commanded the i morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to knowe his place?

i To wit, to rise, sinee thou wast borne?

13 That it might take holde of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be k shaken out of it?

k Who hauing in the night bene giuen to wickednes, can not abide the light but hide themselues 14 It is turned as clay to facion, l & all stand vp as a garment.

l The earth which semed in the night to haue no forme, by the rising of the sunne is as it were created a newe, and all thinge therein clad with newe beautie.

15 And from the wicked their light shalbe taken away, and the hie arme shalbe broken.

16 Haſt thou entred into the bottomes of the ſea? or haſt thou walked to ſeke out the [m] depth?

m If thou art not able to ſeke out ỹ depth of the ſea, how muche leſſe art thou able to cõprehend ỹ counſel of God?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſene the gates of the ſhadow of death?

18 Haſt thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tel if thou knoweſt all this.

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkenes, n That ỹ mightest appoint it his way and limites.

20 That thou [n] ſhuldeſt receiue it in the boundes thereof, and that thou ſhuldeſt knowe the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Kneweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then borne, & becauſe the nõber of thy daies is great?

22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnowe? or haſt thou ſene the treaſures of the hayle, o To puniſh mine enemies ſuch them, as Exod. 9.18 toſh.10,11.

23 Which I haue [o] hid againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of warre & battel?

24 By what way is the light parted, which ſcatereth the Eaſt winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hathe deuided the ſpowtes for the raine? or the way for the lightening of the thunders, p The yce couereth it, as though it were paued with ſtone:

26 To cauſe it to raine on the earth where no man is, & in the wildernes where there is no man?

q Which ſtarres ariſe when the ſunne is in Taurus, which is the ſpring time, & bring ſoures

27 To fulfil the wilde & waſte place, & to cauſe the bud of the herbe to ſprig forthe?

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hathe begotten the droppes of the dewe?

r Which ſtarre bringeth in winter.

29 Out of whoſe wombe came the yce? who hathe ingẽdred the froſt of ỹ heauen?

ſ Certeine ſtarres ſo called: ſome thinke they were the twelue ſignes.

30 The waters are hid [p] as with a ſtone: and the face of the depth is froſen.

t The North ſtarre w thoſe that are about him?

31 Cãſt thou reſtraine the ſwete influences of [q] ỹ Pleiades? or looſe the bãds of [r] Oríon?

32 Canſt thou bring forthe [ſ] Mazzaróth in their time? canſt thou alſo guide [t] Arctúrus with his ſonnes?

u Canſt thou cauſe ỹ heauẽlie bodies to haue ane power ouer the earthlie bodies?

33 Knoweſt thou the courſe of heauen, or cãſt thou ſet [u] the rule thereof in ỹ earth?

x In the ſecret partes of mã

34 Canſt thou lift vp thy voyce to ỹ cloudes that the abundance of water may couer thee?

ỹ That is, the clouds, wherein the water is conceiued as in bottels.

35 Cãſt ỹ ſende the lightenigs that thei may walke, & ſay vnto thee, Lo, here we are?

z For when God doeth not open theſe hot ſeaſons, the earth cometh to this inconuenience.

36 Who hathe put wiſdome in the [x] reines? or who hathe giuen ỹ heart vnderſtanding?

37 Who can nõber cloudes by wiſdome? or who can cauſe to ceaſe the [ỹ] bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardenes, [z] and the clottes are faſt together?

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauens, giueth manful occaſion to put his cõfidence in God. 37 Iob confeſſeth & humbleth himſelf.

a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he ſheweth his marueilous prouidence in earth, eſpecially toward the brute beaſts.

WIlt [a] thou hunt the praye for the lyon? or fil the appetite of ỹ lyons whelpes,

2 When they couche in their places, & remaine in the couert to lye in waite?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat, when his byrdes [b] crye vnto God, wandering for lacke of meat?

b Read Pſal. 147.9.

4 Knoweſt thou the time when the wilde goates bring forthe yong? or doeſt thou marke when the [c] hindes do calue?

c He chiefly maketh mencion of wilde goates & hindes, becauſe they brig forthe their yong with moſte difficultie

5 Canſt thou nõber the moneths that they [d] fulfil? or knoweſt thou the time whẽ they bring forthe?

d That is, how lõg they go w yong?

6 They bowe them ſelues: they [e] bruiſe their yong and caſt out their ſorowes.

e Thei bring forthe with great difficultie.

7 Yet their yong waxe fat, and growe vp with corne: they go forthe and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hathe ſet the wilde aſſe at libertie? or who hathe looſed the bondes of the wilde aſſe?

9 It is I which haue made the wildernes his houſe, and the [f] ſalt places his dwellings.

f That is, the baren grounde where no good frutes growe.

10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the crye of the driuer.

11 He ſeketh out the mountaine for his paſture, & ſearcheth after euerie grene thig.

g Is it poſſible to make the vnicorne tame? ſignifiing that if man can not rule a creature, that it is muche more impoſſible ỹ he ſhulde appome the wiſdome of God, whereby he gouerneth all the worlde.

12 Wil the vnicorne [g] ſerue thee? or wil he tary by thy crybbe?

13 Canſt thou bynde the vnicorne with his band to labour in ỹ forowe? or wil he plowe the valleis after thee?

14 Wilt ỹ truſt in him, becauſe his ſtrength is great, and caſt of thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleue him, that he wil bring home thy ſede, and gather it vnto thy barne?

16 Haſt thou giuen the pleaſant wings vnto the pecockes? or wings & fethers vnto the oſtriche?

17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth & maketh [h] them hote in the duſt, h Thei write ỹ the oſtrich couereth her egges in ỹ ſand, and becauſe ỹ cõtrey is hote and the ſunne ſtil kepeth them warme, they are hatched

18 And forgetteth that the fote might ſcatter them, or that the wilde beaſt might breake them.

i If he ſhulde take care for them

19 He ſheweth him ſelf cruel vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed [i] in vaine.

k That is, to haue a care, & naturall affect on toward his yong 20 For God hathe depriued him of [k] wiſdome, & hathe giuen him no parte of vnderſtanding.

l When time is, he mounteth on hye: he mocketh the horſe and his rider.

21 When [l] time is, he mounteth on hye: he mocketh the horſe and his rider.

22 Haſt thou giuen the horſe ſtrength? or couered his necke with [m] neying?

m When the yong oſtrich is growen vp, he out runneth the horſe

23 Haſt thou made him afraied as the graſhoper? his ſtrong neying is feareful.

n That is, giue hi courage? which is ment by neying and ſhaking his mane, for w his breath couereth his necke.

24 He [n] diggeth in the valley, & reioyceth in his ſtrength: he goeth forthe to mete the harneſt man.

25 He mocketh at feare, & is not afraied, & turneth not backe from the ſworde, o He beateth w his hoofe.

26 Though the quiuer rattle againſt him, the glittering glittering ſpeare and the ſhield.

o He ſo rid-deth ẏ groũde that it ſemeth nothing vndeo him

27 He o ſwalloweth the grounde for fearcenes and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the noyſe of the trumpet.

28 He ſaith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he ſmelleth the battel a farre of, and the noyſe of the captaines, and the ſhouting.

29 Shal the hauke flie by thy wiſdome, ſtretching out his wyngs toward the p South?

p That is, whẽ colde cometh, to flie into the warme countreis.

30 Doeth the egle mount vp at thy cõmandement, or make his neſt on hye?

31 She abideth and remaineth in the rocke, euen vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

32 From thence ſhe ſpieth for meat, and her eyes beholde a farre of.

33 His yong ones alſo ſucke vp blood: and where the ſlaine are, there is ſhe.

34 Moreouer the Lord ſpake vnto Iob, and ſaid, q Is this the way for a man that wil learne to ſtriue wt God? which thing he repro ueth in Iob 35 Is this to q learne to ſtriue with the Almightie? he that reproueth God, let him anſwer to it.

r Whereby he ſheweth that he repented, & deſired pardon for his faultes.

36 ¶ Then Iob anſwered the Lord, ſaying,

37 Beholde, I am r vile: what ſhal I anſwer thee? I wil lay mine hand vpõ my mouth.

38 Once haue I ſpoken, but I wil anſwer no more, yea twiſe, but I wil proceede no farther.

CHAP. XL.

2 How weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whoſe power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beaſtes.

Chap. 38. 1.

1 AGaine the Lord anſwered Iob out of * the whirlewinde, and ſaid,

2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I wil demãde of thee, & declare thou vnto me.

a Signifying that they that iuſtifie them ſelues, condẽne God as iniuſt

3 Wilt thou diſanul a my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayeſt be iuſtified?

4 Or haſt thou an arme like God? or doeſt thou thunder with a voyce like him?

b Meaning, ẏ theſe were ꝓpre vntõ God, and belonged to no man

5 Decke thy ſelf now with b maieſtie and excellencie, & araye thy ſelf with beautie and glorie.

c Cauſe them to dye if thou canſt

6 Caſt abroad the indignacion of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proude, and abaſe him.

d Proouing hereby ẏ whoſoeuer attributeth to him ſelf power, & abilitie to ſaue him ſelf, maketh him ſelf God

7 Loke on euerie one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and deſtroy the wicked in their place.

e This beaſt is thoght to be the eliphãt, or ſome other, wch is vnknowen

8 Hide them in the duſt together, & binde c their faces in a ſecret place.

f Whome I made aſwel as thee.

9 Then wil I confeſſe vnto thee alſo, that thy right hand can d ſaue thee.

g This cõmẽdeth the prouidẽce of God toward mã: for if he were giuen to deuoure as a liõ, nothing were able, to reſiſt him or contẽd him.

10 ¶ Beholde now e Behemóth, (whome I made f with thee) which eateth g graſſe as an oxe.

11 Beholde now, his ſtrength is in his loines, and his force is in the nauil of his belly.

12 When he taketh pleaſure, his taile is like a cedre: ẏ ſinewes of his ſtones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like ſtaues of braſſe, and his ſmall bones like ſtaues of yron.

h He is one of the chiefeſt workes of God amõg ẏ beaſts.

14 h He is the chief of the wayes of God: i he that made him, wil make his ſworde to approche vnto him.

i Thogh man dare not come nere him, yet God can kil him.

15 Surely the mountaines bring him forth the graſſe, where all the beaſts of the field playe.

16 Lyeth he vnder the trees in the couert of the rede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their ſhadowe? or can the willowes of the riuer cõpaſſe him about?

k He drinketh at leaſure, and feareth no body

18 Beholde, he ſpoileth the riuer, k and haſteth not: he truſteth that he can drawe vp Iordén into his mouth.

19 He taketh it with his eyes, and thruſteth his noſe through whatſoeuer meteth him.

l Meaning, the whale.

20 ¶ Canſt thou draw out l Liuiathán with an hooke, and with a line which thou ſhalt caſt downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canſt thou caſt an hooke into his noſe? canſt thou perce his iawes with an angle?

m Becauſe he feareth leſt thou ſhuldeſt take him

22 Wil he make manie m prayers vnto thee, or ſpeake thee faire?

n To do thy buſines, & be at thy cõmandement?

23 Wil he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take n him as ſeruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?

25 Shal the companions banket with him? ſhal they deuide him among the marchants?

26 Canſt thou fill the baſket with his ſkinne? or the fiſhpanyer with his head?

27 Laye thine hand vpon him: remember o the battel, and do nomore ſo.

o If thou once conſider the danger, thou wilt not medle with him.

28 Beholde, p his hope is in vaine: for ſhal not one periſh euen at the ſight of him?

p To wit, that truſteth to take him.

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnes of the monſtre Leuiathán God ſheweth his greatnes, and his power, which nothing can reſiſt.

1 NOne is ſo fearce that dare ſtirre him vp. Who is he then that can ſtand a before me?

a If none dare ſtand againſt a whale, which is but a creature, who is able to cõpare with God the Creator?

2 Who hathe preuented me that I ſhulde b make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

b Who hath he taught me to accompliſh my worke?

3 I wil not kepe ſilence concerning c his partes, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

c The partes, and members of the whale.

4 Who can diſcouer the face d of his garment? or who ſhal come to him with a double e bridel?

d That is, who dare put of his ſkinne?

e Who dare put a bridel in his mouth?

5 Who ſhal f open the dores of his face? his teeth are feareful round about.

f Who dare loke in his mouth?

6 The maieſtie of his ſcales is like ſtrong ſhields, and are ſure ſealed.

7 One is ſet to another, that no winde can come betwene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they ſticke together, that they can not be ſondred.

g That is, caſteth out flames of fyre.

9 His nieſings g make the light to ſhine, & his eyes are like ẏ eye lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth go lampes, and ſparkes of fyre leape out.

21 Out of his noſtrelles cometh out ſmoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.
22 His breath maketh the coles burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
23 In his necke remaineth ſtrength, & [h] labour is reiected before his face.
24 The members of his bodie are ioyned: they are ſtrong in them ſelues, and can not be moued.
25 His heart is as ſtrong as a ſtone, and as hard as the nether milſtone.
26 The mightie are afraied of his maieſtie, and for feare they faint in them ſelues.
27 When the ſworde doeth touche him, he wil not riſe vp, nor for the ſpeare, dart nor habergeon.
28 He eſteemeth yron as ſtrawe, and braſſe as rotten wood.
29 The archer can not make him flee: the ſtones of the ſling are turned into ſtubble vnto him.
30 The dartes are counted as ſtraw: and he laugheth at the ſhaking of the ſpeare.
31 Sharpe ſtones [i] are vnder him, and he ſpreadeth ſharpe things vpon the myre.
32 He maketh the depth to [k] boyle like a pot, and maketh the ſea like a pot of oyntment.
33 He maketh a path to [l] ſhine after him: one wolde thinke the depth as an hore head.
34 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.
35 He beholdeth [m] all hie things: he is a King ouer all the children of pride.

h Nothing is peinful or hard vnto him i His ſkinne is ſo hard, that he lieth with as great eaſe on the ſtones as in the myre.

k Eyther he maketh ſ ſea to ſeme as it boiled by his wallowing, or els he ſpowteth water in ſuche abundance, as it wolde ſeme that the ſea boyled.

l That is, a white froth, & ſhinig ſtreame before him.

m He deſpiſeth all other beaſts, & monſters, & is the proudeſt of all others.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are reſtored double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

Chap XLII.

1 THen Iob anſwered the Lord, and ſaid,
2 I knowe that thou canſt do all things, and that there is no [a] thoght hid from thee.
3 Who is he that hideth counſel without [b] knowledge? therefore haue I ſpoke that I vnderſtode not, euen things to wonderful for me, [c] and which I knewe not.
4 Heare, I beſeche thee, and I wil ſpeake: I wil demande of thee, [d] and declare thou vnto me.
5 I haue [e] heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye ſeeth thee.
6 Therefore I abhorre my ſelf, and repent in duſt and aſhes.

a Nothing is ſo ſecret, but thou doeſt ſe it, nor anie thing that ſ ſhakeſt, but thou canſt bring it to paſſe.

b Is there anie but I? for this God laid to his charge, Chap. 38, 2.

c I confeſſe here in mine ignorance, and that I ſpake I wiſt not what.

d He ſheweth that he will be Gods ſcholer to learne of him.

e I knewe thee onely before by heareſay: but now thou haſt cauſed me to feele what ſ art to me, that I may reſigne my ſelf ouer into thee.

7 ¶Now after that the Lord had ſpoken theſe wordes vnto Iob, the Lord alſo ſaid vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled againſt thee, and againſt thy two friēds, for ye haue not ſpokē of me ſ thing that is [f] right, like my ſeruant [g] Iob.
8 Therefore take vnto you now ſeuen bullockes, and ſeuen rams, and go to my ſeruant Iob, & offer vp for your ſelues a burnt offring, and my ſeruant Iob ſhal [h] pray for you: for I wil accept him, leſt I ſhulde put you to ſhame, becauſe ye haue not ſpokē of me the thing, which is right, like my ſeruant Iob.
9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had ſaid vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.
10 ¶Then the Lord turned the [i] captiuitie of Iob, when he prayed for his friēds: alſo the Lord gaue Iob twiſe ſo muche as he had before.
11 Then came vnto him all his [k] brethrē, and all his ſiſters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his houſe, and had compaſſion of him, and comforted him for all the euil, that the Lord had broght vpon him, and euerie man gaue him a [l] piece of money, & euerie one an earing of golde.
12 So the Lord bleſſed the laſt dayes of Iob more then the firſt: for he had [l] fourteene thouſand ſhepe, and ſix thouſand camels, and a thouſand yoke of oxen, and a thouſand ſhe aſſes.
13 He had alſo ſeuen ſonnes, and thre daughters.
14 And he called the name of one [m] Iemimáh, and the name of the ſecond [n] Keziáh, and the name of the thirde [o] Kerenhappúch.
15 In all the land were no women founde ſo faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brēthren.
16 And after this lived Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeres, and ſawe his ſonnes, and his ſonnes ſonnes, euen foure generacions.
17 So Iob dyed, being olde, & ful of dayes.

f You take in hand an euil cauſe, in ſ you condēned him by his outward afflictiōs and not comforted him w my mercies.

g Who had a good cauſe, but handeled it euil.

h When you haue reconciled your ſelues to him for the faures that you haue committed againſt him, he ſhal pray for you, & I wil heare him.

i He deliuered him out of the affliction wherein he was.

k That is, all his kinred, read Chap. 19, 13.

l Or, Lambe, or money ſo marked.

l God made him twiſe ſo riche in cattel as he was afore, & gaue him as manie children, as he had taken from him.

m That is, of long life, or beautiful as ſ day.

n As pleaſant as caſſia, or ſweet ſpice.

o That is, the horne of beautie.

THE

THE PSALMES of Dauid.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis boke of Pſalmes is ſet forthe vnto vs by the holie Goſt to be eſtemed as a moſte precious treaſure, wherein all thinges are conteined that apperteine to true felicitie: aſwel in this life preſent as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenlie wiſdome are here ſet open for vs, to take thereof moſte abundantly. If we wolde knowe the great, and hie maieſtie of God, here we may ſe the brightnes thereof ſhine moſte clearely. If we wolde ſeke his incomprehenſible wiſdome, here is the ſchole of the ſame profeſſion. If we wolde comprehend his vneſtimable bontie, and approche nere thercunto, and fil your hands with that treaſure, here we may haue a moſte liuely, and comfortable taſte thereof. If we wolde knowe wherein ſtandeth our ſaluation, and how to atteine to life euerlaſting, here is Chriſt our onely redemer, and mediator moſte euidently deſcribed. The riche man may learne the true vſe of his riches. The poore man may fynde ful contentation. He that wil reioyce, ſhal knowe the true toe, and how to kepe meaſure therein. They that are afflicted and oppreſſed, ſhal ſe wherein ſtandeth their comforte, and how they ought to praiſe God when he ſendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the perſecuters of the children of God ſhal ſe how the hand of God is euer againſt them: and thogh he ſuffer them to proſper for a while, yet he brideleth them, in ſomuche as they can not touche an heere of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their deſtruction is moſte miſerable. Briefly, here we haue moſte preſent remedies againſt all tentations, and troubles of minde and conſcience, ſo that being wel practiſed herein, we may be aſſured againſt all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length atteine to that incorruptible crowne of glorie, which is laid vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

* Or, Praiſes, according to ỹ Ebrewes: and were chiefly inſtitute to praiſe, and giue thankes to God for his benefites. Thei are called the Pſalmes, or Sōgs of Dauid becauſe the moſte parte were made by him.

PSALME I.

Whether it was Eſdras, or anie other that gathered the Pſalmes into a boke, it ſemeth he did ſet this Pſalme firſt in maner of a preface, to exhorte all godlie men to ſtudie, and meditate the heauenlie wiſdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be bleſſed, which giue them ſelues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, thogh they ſeme for a while happie, yet at length ſhal come to miſerable deſtruction.

1 BLeſſed is the man that doeth not walke in the a counſel of the wicked, nor ſtand in the way of ſinners, nor ſit in the ſeat of the ſcorneful:

2 But his delite is in the *Law of the Lord, & in his b Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he ſhal be like a* tre planted by the riuers of waters, that wil bring forthe her frute in due ſeaſon: whoſe leafe ſhal not fade: ſo whatſoeuer he ſhal do, ſhal proſper.

4 d The wicked are not ſo, but as the chaffe, which the winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked ſhal not ſtand in the e Iudgement, nor ſinners in the aſſemblie of the righteous.

6 For the Lord f knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked ſhal periſh.

a When a man hathe giuē once place to euil counſel, or to his owne cōcupiſcence, he beginneth to forget him ſelf in his ſin, & ſo falleth in to contēpt of God, which cōtempt is called the ſeat of the ſcorners. Deut.6,6. Ioſh.1,8. Pro.6,20.

b In the holie Scriptures. Iere.17,8.

c Gods children are ſo moyſtened euer with his grace, ỹ whatſoeuer cometh vnto them, tendeth to their ſaluation.

d Thogh the wicked ſeme to beare the ſwinge in this worlde, yet the Lord driueth them downe that thei ſhal not riſe nor ſtand in the companie of the righteous. e But trēble, when they fele Gods wrath. f Doeth approue and proſper, like as not to knowe, is to reproue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

a The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithſtanding his enemies rage, yet God wil cōtinue his kingdome for euer & aduāce it euen to the end of the worlde. 10 And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they wolde humbly ſubmit them ſelues vnder Gods yoke, becauſe it is in vaine to reſiſte God. Herein is figured Chriſts kingdome.

1 WHy do the a heathen * rage, & the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band them ſelues, and the princes are aſſembled together againſt the Lord, and againſt his *Chriſt.

3 b Let vs breake their bands, and caſt their cords from vs.

4 * But he that dwelleth in the heauen ſhal laugh: the Lord ſhal haue thē in deriſiō.

5 c Then ſhal he ſpeake vnto them in his wrath, & vexe them in his ſore diſpleaſure, ſaying, 6 Euen I haue ſet my King vpon Zión mine holie mountaine.

7 I wil declare the d decree: that is, the Lord hathe ſaid vnto me, * Thou art my Sonne: this e day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aſke of me, & I ſhal giue thee the heathē for thine inheritance, and the f endes of the earth for thy poſſeſsion.

9 * Thou ſhalt kruſh them with a ſceptre of yron, & breake them in pieces like a potters veſſel.

10 g Be wiſe now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 h Kiſſe the Sonne, leſt he be angrie, and ye periſh in the waie, when his wrath ſhal a The conſpiracie of ỹ Gentiles, ỹ murmuring of the Iewes, & power of Kings can not preuaile againſt Chriſt. Act.4,25.

*Or, anoynted.

b Thus the wicked ſay, ỹ they wil caſt of the yoke of God & of his Chriſt. Prou.1,18.

c Gods plagues wil declare that in reſiſting his Chriſt, they foght againſt him.

d To ſhewe that my vocation to the kingdome is of God. Act.13,33. ebr.1,5.

e That is to ſay, as touching mans knowledge, becauſe it was ỹ firſt time that Dauid appered to be elected of God. So is it applied to Chriſt in his firſt comming & manifeſtatiō to the worlde.

f Not onely ỹ Iewes but the Gentiles alſo. Reue.2,27.

g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time.

me. h In ſigne of hommage. i When the wicked ſhal ſay, Peace & reſte, ſeming yet to be but in the midway of their purpoſes, then ſhal deſtructiō ſodenly come, 1. Theſſa.5,3.

ſuddenly burne. bleſſed are all that truſt in him.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driue̅ forthe of his kingdome, was greatly torme̅ted in minde for his ſinnes againſt God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, & waxeth bolde through his promeſes againſt the great railings and terrors of his enemies, yea, againſt death it ſelf, which he ſawe preſent before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyceth for the good ſucceſſe, that God gaue him, and all the Church.

A Pſalme of Dauid, when he fled from his ſonne Abſalom.

a This was a token of his ſtable faith, that for all his troubles he had his recours to God.

1 LOrd, how are mine aduerſaries a increaſed? how manie riſe againſt me?
2 Manie ſaye to my ſoule, There is no helpe for him in God. b Sélah.
3 But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glorie, and the lifter vp of mine head.
4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holie mountaine. Sélah.
5 I laied me downe & ſlept, and roſe vp againe: for the Lord ſuſteined me.
6 I wil not be afrayed for c ten thouſand of the people, that ſhulde beſet me round about.
7 O Lord, ariſe: helpe me, my God: for thou haſt ſmitten all mine enemies vpon the cheke bone: thou haſt broken the teeth of the wicked.
8 d Saluacio̅ belongeth vnto the Lord, & thy bleſsing is vpon thy people. Sélah.

b Sélah here ſignifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cauſe vs to conſider the ſentence, as a thing of great importance.

c When he cõſidered the trueth of Gods promes, and tried the ſame, his faith increaſed marueloully.

d Be the dangers neuer ſo great or manie, yet God hathe euer meanes to deliuer his.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul perſecuted him, he called vpõ God, truſting moſte aſſuredly in his promes, and therefore boldely reproueth his enemies, who wilfully reſiſted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before all worldelie treaſures.

a To him that excelleth on Neginóth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

1 HEare me when I call, b ô God of my righteouſnes: thou haſt ſet me at libertie, when I was c in diſtres: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer.
2 O ye d ſonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glorie into ſhame, e louing vanitie and ſeking lyes? Sélah.
3 For be ye ſure that the Lord hathe choſen to him ſelf f a godlie man: the Lord wil heare when I cal vnto him.
4 g Tremble, and ſinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be h ſtil. Sélah.
5 i Offer the ſacrifices of righteouſnes, and truſt in the Lord.
6 Manie ſaye, Who wil ſhew vs anie k good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenace vpon vs.
7 Thou haſt giuen me more ioye of heart, then they haue had, when their wheat and their wine did abunde.
8 I wil laye me downe, & alſo ſlepe in peace: for thou, Lord, l onely makeſt me dwel in ſauetie.

a Among the that were appointed to ſing the Pſalmes, and to play on the inſtruments, one was appointed chief to ſet ỹ tune, & to begin: who had the charge, becauſe he was moſte excellent, and he begã this Pſal. on the inſtrument called Neginoth, or in a tune ſo called.

b Thou ỹ art ỹ defender of my iuſt cauſe.

c Both of mi̅de and body.

d Ye that thinke your ſelues noble in this worlde.

e Though your enterpriſes pleaſe you neuer ſo muche, yet God wil bring them to nought.

f A King that walketh in his vocation.

g For feare of Gods Iudgemẽt.

h Ceaſe your rage.

i Serue God purely and not with outward ceremonies.

5 The Lord is the porcion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou ſhalt mainteine my lot.

e Wherewith my porcion is meaſured

6 The e lines are fallen vnto me in pleaſant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I wil praiſe the Lord, who hathe giuen me counſel: my f reines alſo teache me in the nights.

f God teacheth me continually by ſecret inſpiracio

8 I haue ſet the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand: therefore I ſhal not ſlide.

g The faithful are ſure to perſeuere to the end

9 Wherefore h mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my fleſh alſo doeth reſt in hope.

h That is, I reioyce bothe in bodie & in ſoule

10 For thou i wilt not leaue my ſoule in the graue: nether wilt thou ſuffer thine holie one to ſe corruption.

i This is chiefly ment of Chriſt, by whoſe reſurrection all his mẽbers haue immortalitie 11 Thou wilt ſhewe me the path of life: in thy k preſence is the fulnes of ioye: and at thy right hãd there are pleaſures for euermore.

k Where God fauoreth, there is perfite felicitie.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruel pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the reſt of his enemies, who thus raged with out cauſe giuen on his parte. 6 Therefore he deſireth God to reuenge his innocencie, and deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

a My righteouſ cauſe.

1 HEare a the right, ô Lord, cõſider my crye: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.

b The vengeãce that ỹ ſhalt ſhewe againſt mine enemies.

2 Let my b ſentence come forthe from thy preſence, & let thine eyes beholde equitie.

c When thy Spirit examined my conſcience

3 Thou haſt c proued & viſited mine heart in the night: thou haſt tryed me, & foundeſt nothing: for I was purpoſed that my d mouth ſhulde not offend.

d I was innocent towarde mine enemie bothe in dede and thoght.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the e wordes of thy lippes I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

e Thogh the wicked prouoked me to do euil for euil, yet thy worde kept me backe

5 Stay my ſteps in thy paths, that my fete do not ſlide.

f He was aſſured that God wolde not refuſe his requeſt

6 I haue called vpon thee: f ſurely thou wilt heare me, ô God: incline thine eare to me, & hearken vnto my wordes.

g For all rebell againſt thee, ẽ trouble thy Churche.

7 Shewe thy maruelous mercies, thou that art the Sauiour of them that truſt in thee, from ſuche as g reſiſt thy right hand.

8 Kepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the ſhadow of thy wings, 9 From the wicked that oppreſſe me, from mine enemies, which compaſſe me rounde about for h my ſoule.

h For their cruelnes can not be ſatiſfied but with my death

10 They are incloſed in their owne i fatt, and they haue ſpoken proudly with their mouth.

i They are puffe vp with pride, as the ſtomake that is choked with fat 11 They haue compaſſed vs now in our ſteps: they haue ſet their eyes to bring downe to the grounde:

k Stop his rage

12 Like as a lyon that is gredie of praye, & as it were a lyons whelpe lurking in ſecret places.

Or, which is thy ſworde

13 Vp Lord, k diſapoint him: caſt him downe: deliuer my ſoule from the wicked l with thy ſworde, l By thine heauenlie power

14 Frõ men by thine l hand, ô Lord, from men m of the worlde, who haue their n porcion in this life, whoſe belies thou filleſt with thine hid treaſure: their childrẽ haue ynough, and leaue the reſt of their ſubſtãce for their children.

Or, whoſe tyrãnie hathe to long endured

m And feele not the ſmart that Gods children oft times do n This is ỹ fulfelicitie, comforting againſt all aſſaltes, to haue the face of God & fauorable countenãce opened vnto vs

15 But I wil beholde o thy face in righteouſnes, & when I p awake, I ſhalbe ſatiſfied with thine image.

o And am deliuered out of my great troubles

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Pſalme is the firſt beginning of his gratulacion, and thankeſgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein he extolleth & praiſeth moſte highly the maruelous mercies and grace of God, who hathe thus preſerued and defended him. 32 Alſo he ſetteth forthe the image of Chriſts kingdome, that the faithful may be aſſured that Chriſt ſhal alwayes conquer & ouercome by the vnſpeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole worlde ſhulde ſtriue thereagainſt.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid the ſeruant of the Lord, which ſpake vnto the Lord the wordes of this ſong (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, & from the hand of Saul) and ſaid,

2.Sam.22.1.

a He vſeth this deuerſitie of names, to ſhewe ỹ as the wicked haue many meanes to hurt, ſo God hathe manie waies to helpe

1 I * Wil loue thee dearely, ô Lord my ſtrength.

2 a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortreſſe, and and he that deliuereth me, my God & my ſtrength: in him wil I truſt, my ſhield, the horne alſo of my ſaluacio, & my refuge.

3 I wil call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be [b] praiſed: ſo ſhal I be ſafe from mine enemies.

4 The [c] ſorowes of death compaſſed me, and the floods of wickednes made me afraied.

5 The [d] ſorowes of the graue haue cõpaſſed me about: the ſnares of death ouertoke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crye did come before him, euen into his eares.

7 [d] Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the fundacions alſo of the mouñtaines moued and ſhoke, becauſe he was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his noſtrels, and a [e] cõſuming fyre out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens alſo and came downe, and [f] darkenes was vnder his fete.

10 And he rode vpon [g] Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darkenes his [h] ſecret place, & his pauilion rounde about him, euen darkenes of waters, and cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnes of his preſence his cloudes paſſed, haileſtones & coles of fyre.

13 The Lord alſo thundred in the heauen, and the Higheſt gaue [i] his voyce, haileſtones and coles of fyre.

14 Then he ſent out [k] his arrowes & ſcatered them, and he increaſed lightnings and deſtroyed them.

15 And the chanels of waters were ſene, and the [l] fundaciõs of the worlde were diſcouered at thy rebuking, ô Lord, at the blaſting of the breath of thy noſtrels.

16 He hathe ſent downe from aboue and taken me: he hathe drawen me out of [m] mame waters.

17 He hathe deliuered me from my [n] ſtrõg enemie, and from them which hate me: for they were [o] to ſtrong for me.

18 They preuented me in the daye of my calamitie: but the Lord was my ſtay.

19 He broght me forthe alſo into a large place: [p] he deliuered me becauſe he fauored me.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my [q] righteouſnes: according to the purenes of mine hands he recompenſed me:

21 Becauſe I kept the wayes of the Lord, & did not wickedly againſt my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before me, and I did not caſt away his [r] commandements from me.

23 I was vpright alſo with him, & haue kept me from my [ſ] wickednes.

24 Therefore [ſ] the Lord rewarded me according to my righteouſnes, & according to the purenes of mine hands in his ſight.

25 With the [t] godlie thou wilt ſhewe thy ſelf godlie: with the vpright mã thou wilt ſhewe thy ſelf vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt ſhewe thy ſelf pure, & with the frowarde thou wilt ſhewe thy ſelf froward.

27 Thus thou wilt ſaue the poore people, & wilt [u] caſt downe the proude lokes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candel: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenes.

29 For by thee I haue [x] broken through an hoſte, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The waye of God is vncorrupt: the [y] worde of the Lord is tryed in the fyre: he is a ſhield to all that truſt in him.

31 For who is God beſides the Lord? and who is mightie ſaue our God?

32 God girdeth me with ſtrength, and maketh my [z] waye vpright.

33 He maketh my fete like hindes fete, and ſetteth me vpon mine [a] high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: ſo that a bowe of [ſ] braſſe is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou haſt alſo giuẽ me ſ̃ [b] ſhield of thy ſaluacion, and thy right hand hathe ſtayed me, and thy [c] louing kindenes hathe cauſed me to increaſe.

36 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteppes vnder me, and mine heles haue not ſlid.

37 [d] I haue purſued mine enemies, and take them, and haue not turned againe til I had conſumed them.

38 I haue wounded thẽ, that they were not able to riſe: they are fallen vnder my fete.

39 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength to battel: them that roſe againſt me, thou haſt ſubdued vnder me.

40 And thou haſt [e] giuen me the neckes of mine enemies, that I might deſtroye them that hate me.

41 They [f] cryed, but there was none to ſaue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he anſwered them not.

42 Then I did beate them ſmale as the duſt before the winde: I did tread them flat as the claye in the ſtretes.

43 Thou haſt deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou haſt made me the head of the [g] heathen: a people, whome I haue not [h] knowen, ſhal ſerue me.

44 As ſone as thei heare, thei ſhal obey me: the ſtrangers ſhal [i] be in ſubiection to me.

45 Strangers ſhal [k] ſhrinke away, & feare in their priuie chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and bleſſed be my ſtrength, and the God of my ſaluacion be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auēge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.
48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me vp from them, that rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from the [l] cruel man.
49 Therefore [m] I wil praise thee, ô Lord, among the nations, and wil sing vnto thy Name.
50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, & sheweth mercie to his anointed, euen to Dauid, and to his [n] sede for euer.

That is, Saul, who of malice persecuted hi. m This prophecie apperteineth to the kingdome of Christ, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15, 9.
n This did not properly apperteine to Salomón, but to Iesus Christ.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent he might moue the faithful to a deeper consideration of Gods glorie, he setteth before their eyes the moste exquisite workemanship of the heauens with their proportion, and ornaments: 8 And afterward calleth thē to the Law, wherein God hathe reueiled him self more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law he setteth forthe more at large.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 THe [a] heauens declare the glorie of God, and the firmament sheweth the worke of his hands.
2 [b] Daie vnto daie vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.
3 There is no speache nor [c] language, where their voyce is not heard.
4 Their [d] line is gone forthe through all the earth, and their wordes into the ends of the worlde: in them hathe he set a tabernacle for the sunne.
5 Which commeth forthe as a bridegrome out of his [e] chambre, and reioyceth like a mightie man tō runne his race.
6 His going out is from the end of the heauen, and his compas is vnto the ends of the same, & none is hid from the heate thereof.
7 The [f] Law of the Lord is perfite, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wisdome vnto the simple.
8 The statutes of the Lord are right and reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.
9 The feare of the Lord is cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are [g] trueth: they are righteous [h] all together, 10 And more to be [i] desired then golde, yea, then muche fine golde: sweeter also thē honie and the honie combe.
11 Moreouer by them is thy seruant made circumspect, & in keping of them there is great [k] rewarde.
12 Who can vnderstand his [l] faultes? clense me from secret faultes.
13 Kepe thy seruant also from [m] presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer me: [n] so shal I be vpright, and made cleane from muche wickednes.
14 Let the wordes of my mouth, and the [o] meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, ô Lord, my strength, and my remeder.

a He reproueth vnto mā his ingratitude, seing y heauens, which are dumme creatures, set forthe Gods glorie.
b The continual succesſe of the daye & the night is sufficiēt to declare Gods power and goodnes.
c The heauens are a scholemaster to all natiōs, be they neuer so barbarous.
d The heauens are as a line of great capital letters to shewe vnto vs Gods glorie.
e Or, vaile. The maner was that the bride and bridegrome should stand vnder a vaile together, & after come forthe w great solemnitie and reioycing of y assemblie.
f Thogh the creatures can not serue, yet this ought to be sufficient to lead vs vnto him.
g So that all mās inuentiōs and intentions are lies.
h Euerie one without exception.
i Except Gods worde be estemed aboue all worldelie things, it is contemned.
k For God accepteth our indeuour, thogh it be farre vnperfite.
l Then there is no rewarde of duetie, but of Grace: for where sinne is, there death is the rewarde.
m Which are done purposly and of malice.
n If thou suppresse my wicked affections by thine holie Spirit.
o That I may obey thee in thoght, worde and dede.

8 [g] They are broght downe and fallen, but we are risen, and stande vpright.
9 Saue Lord: [h] let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

a Hereby Kings are also admonished to call to God in their affaires.
b The vertue, power & grace of God.
c In token y thos are acceptable vnto him.
d Granted to the King, in whose wealth our felicitie standeth.
e The Church feeleth that God hathe heard their petition

h Let the King be able to deliuer vs by thy strength, when we seke vnto him for succour.

PSAL. XXI.

1 Dauid in the persone of the people praiseth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Wherein the holie Goſt directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

c Dauid did not onely obteine life, but also assurance that his posteritie shulde reigne for euer.
d Thou hast made him thy blessings to others, & a perpetual exaple of thy fauour for euer.
e Here he describeth the power of Christs kingdome against the enemies thereof.

24 For he hathe not deſpiſed nor abhorred ỹ affliction of the o poore: nether hathe he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

25 My praiſe ſhalbe of thee in the great Cōgregation: my p vowes wil I performe before them that feare him.

26 q The poore ſhal eat and be ſatiſfied: thei that ſeke after the Lord, ſhal praiſe him: your heart ſhal liue for euer.

27 All the ends of the worlde ſhal remembre them ſelues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations ſhal worſhip before thee.

28 For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.

29 All thei that be fat r in the earth, ſhal eat and worſhip: all they that go downe into the duſt, ſhal bowe before him, ſ euen he that can not quicken his owne ſoule.

For thy [c] louing kindenes is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.

I haue not [d] hanted with vaine perſones, nether kept cõpanie with the diſſemblers.

I haue hated the aſſemblie of the euil, & haue not companied with the wicked.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

THe Lord is my [a] light and my ſaluation, whome ſhal I feare? the Lord is the ſtrength of my life, of whome ſhal I be afraid?

When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eat vp my fleſh they ſtumbled and fel.

Thogh an hoſte pitched againſt me, mine heart ſhulde not be afraid: thogh warre be raiſed againſt me, I wil truſt in [b] this.

[c] One thing haue I deſired of the Lord, that I wil require, euen that I may dwel in the houſe of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord, & to viſite his Temple.

For in the time of trouble he ſhal hide me in his Tabernacle: in the ſecret place of his pauilion ſhal he hide me, & ſet me vp vpon a rocke.

[d] And now ſhal he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies roũd about me: therfore wil I offer in his Tabernacle ſacrifices of ioye: I wil ſing and praiſe the Lord.

Hearken vnto my voice, ô Lord, when I crye: haue mercie alſo vpon me and heare me.

When thou ſaideſt, [e] Seke ye my face, mine heart anſwered vnto thee, O Lord, I wil ſeke thy face.

Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor caſt thy ſeruant awaie in diſpleaſure: thou haſt bene my ſuccour: leaue me not, nether forſake me, ô God of my ſaluation.

[f] Thogh my father and my mother ſhulde forſake me, yet the Lord wil gather me vp.

Teache me thy waie, ô Lord, and leade me in a right path, becauſe of mine enemies.

Giue me not vnto the [g] luſt of mine aduerſaries: for there are falſe witneſſes riſẽ vp againſt me, & ſuche as ſpeake cruelly.

I ſhulde haue fainted, except I had beleued to ſee the goodnes of the [h] Lord in the land of the liuing.

[i] Hope in the Lord: be ſtrong, & he ſhal comfort thine heart, & truſt in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare & heauines of heart to ſe God diſhonored by the wicked, he deſireth to be rid of them, 4 And cryeth for vengeance againſt them. & at length aſſureth him ſelfe, that God hathe heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whoſe tuition he commendeth all the faithful.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid.

VNto thee, ô Lord, do I crye: ô my ſtrength, be not deafe toward me, leſt, if thou anſwer me not, I be [a] like them that go downe into the pit.

Heare the voice of my petitions, when I crye vnto thee, when I holde vp mine hãds toward thine [b] holy Oracle.

[c] Drawe me not awaie with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which ſpeake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

[d] Reward them according to their dedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompenſe them after the worke of their hands: rẽder them their reward.

For thei regard not the workes of ŷ Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore [e] breake them downe, & buylde thẽ not vp.

[f] Praiſed be the Lord, for he hathe heard the voice of my petitions.

The Lord is my ſtrength and my ſhield: mine heart truſted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart ſhal reioyce, & with my ſong wil I praiſe him.

The Lord is [g] their ſtrength, and he is the ſtrength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

Saue thy people, and bleſſe thine inheritãce: fede them alſo, & exalt thẽ for euer.

PSAL. XXIX

f Becauſe he felt the aſſurãce of Gods help in his heart, his mouthe was opened to ſing his praiſes g Meaning, his ſoldiers, who were as meanes, by whome God declared his power.

a He exhorteth ŷ proude tyrants to hũble thẽ ſelues vnder Gods hand and not to be inferiour to brute beaſts & dũme creatures

2 Giue vnto the Lord glorie due vnto his Name: worſhip the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

3 The [b] voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thũder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voice of the Lord is mightie: the voice of the Lord is glorious.

5 The [c] voice of the Lord breaketh the cedres: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedres of Lebanón.

6 He maketh thẽ alſo to leape like a calfe: Lebanón alſo and [d] Shirión like a yong vnicorne.

7 The voice of the Lord deuideth the [e] flames of fyre.

8 The voice of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of [f] Kadéſh to tremble.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh the hindes to [g] calue, & [h] diſcouereth the foreſts: therefore in his [i] Temple doeth euerie man ſpeake of his glorie.

10 The Lord ſitteth vpon the [k] flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for euer.

11 The Lord ſhal giue ſtrẽgth vnto his people: ỹ Lord ſhal bleſſe his people ẅ peace.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great dãger, he rendred thankes to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then ſeuere and rigorous towards his children. 8 And alſo that the fall from proſperitie to aduerſitie ſudden. 9 Thus done, he returneth to prayer, promiſing to praiſe God for euer.

1 I Wil magnifie thee, ô Lord: [b] for thou haſt exalted me, and haſt not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou haſt [c] reſtored me.

3 O Lord, thou haſt broght vp my [d] ſoule out of the graue: thou haſt reuiued me frõ them that go downe into the pit.

4 Sing praiſes vnto the Lord, ye [e] his Saints, and giue thankes [f] before the remembrãce of his Holines.

5 For he endureth but a while in his angre: but in his fauour is life: weping maie abide at euening, but ioye cometh in the morning.

6 And in my [g] proſperitie I ſaid, I ſhal neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnes hadeſt made my [h] mountaine to ſtand ſtrong: but ỹ dideſt hide thy face, and I [i] was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, ô Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, whẽ I go downe to ỹ pit? ſhal the duſt [k] giue thãkes vnto thee? or ſhal it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, ô Lord, and haue mercie vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

12 Therefore ſhal my [l] tongue praiſe thee and not ceaſe: ô Lord my God, I wil giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortres: therefore for thy Names ſake direct me & guide me.

4 Drawe me out of the [b] net, that they haue laied priuely for me: for thou art my ſtrength.

5 Into thine [c] hand I commende my ſpirit: for thou haſt redemed me, ô Lord God of trueth.

6 I haue hated them that giue them ſelues to deceitful vanities: for I [d] truſt in the Lord.

7 I wilbe glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou haſt ſene my trouble: thou haſt knowen my ſoule in aduerſities,

8 And thou haſt not ſhut me vp in the hãd of ỹ enemie, but haſt ſet my fete at [e] large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, ô Lord: for I am in trouble: mine [f] eye, my ſoule & my belie are conſumed with grief.

10 For my life is waſted with heauines, and my yeres with mourning: my ſtrength faileth for my peine, & my bones are conſumed.

11 I was a [g] reproche among all mine enemies, but ſpecially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, [h] who ſeing me in the ſtrete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken veſſel.

13 For I haue heard the railing of [i] great men: feare was on euerie ſide, while they conſpired together againſt me, & conſulted to take my life.

14 But I truſted in thee, ô Lord: I ſaid, [k] Thou art my God.

15 My [l] times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that perſecute me.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praiſe God for that he hathe not onely created all things, and by his prouidence gouerneth the ſame, but alſo is faithful in his promiſes, 10 He vnderſtandeth mans heart, and ſcatereth the counſel of the wicked. 16 So that no man can be preſerued by ane creature or mans ſtrength but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, ſhalbe preſerued frõ all aduerſities.

1 REioyce in the Lord, ô ye righteous: for it [a] becometh vpright men to be thankeful.
2 Praiſe ỹ Lord with harpe: ſing vnto him with viole & [b] inſtrument of ten ſtrings
3 Sing vnto him a new ſong: ſing cherefully with a loude voyce.
4 For the [c] worde of the Lord is righteous, and all his [d] workes are faithful.
5 He [e] loueth righteouſnes & iudgement: the earth is ful of the goodnes of ỹ Lord.
6 By the worde of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoſte of them by the breath of his mouth.
7 He [f] gathereth the waters of the ſea together as vpon an heape, and laieth vp the depths in his treaſures.
8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all thẽ that dwel in the worlde, feare him.
9 For he ſpake, & it was done: he commanded, and it [g] ſtode.
10 The Lord breaketh the [g] counſel of the heathen, & bringeth to noght the deuiſes of the people.
11 The counſel of the Lord ſhal ſtand for euer, & the thoghts of his heart through out all ages.
12 Bleſſed is that nacion, whoſe [h] God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hathe choſen for his inheritance.
13 The Lord [i] loketh downe from heauen, & beholdeth all the children of men.
14 From the habitacion of his dwelling he beholdeth all then. that dwel in the earth.
15 He [k] facioneth their hearts euerie one, & vnderſtandeth all their workes.
16 The [l] King is not ſaued by the multitude of an hoſte, nether is the mightie mã deliuered by great ſtrength.
17 A horſe is a vaine helpe, and ſhal not deliuer anie by his great ſtrength.
18 Beholde, [m] the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, & vpon them, that truſt in his mercie, a It becometh the godlie to be thankeful for the benefites receiued of God, & to ſhew the ſame by their liues.

b Pſal. 92. 3.
c That is, the worde of the Lord is true in all his promiſes.
d That is, he is conſtant in his promiſes, & performeth them. e He loueth righteouſnes & iudgement, becauſe he is righteous & iuſt himſelf.
f He ſheweth that the waters are gathered together by the power of God, & not by nature.
g No counſel can ſtand againſt God, but he ſcatereth it & it ſhal haue euil ſucces h He ſheweth that all our felicitie ſtãdeth in this, that ỹ Lorde is our God.
i He proueth that all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence & not by fortune k Therfore he knoweth their wicked enterpriſes
l If Kings and the mightie of the worlde can not be ſaued by worldelie meanes, but onely by Gods prouidence, what haue others to truſt in, that haue not like meanes?
m God ſheweth that towarde his mercie, which man by no meanes is able to compaſſe.
1 If men can rule brute beaſtes, thinke thei, that God wil not bridle and tame their rage?

19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.

n Thus he speaketh in ỹ name of the whole Church, which only depend on Gods prouidence.

20 n Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.

21 Surely our heart shal reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holie Name.

22 Let thy mercie, ô Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

PSAL. XXXIIII.

1 After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam 21.11, whome in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a general name to all the Kings of the Philistims) he praiseth God for his deliuerance. 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God to feare & serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godlie with his Angels, 15 And vtterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who drone him awaie, & he departed.

a He promiseth neuer to become vnmindefull of Gods great benefite for his deliuerance

1 I Wil a alwaie giue thankes vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually.

b Thei ỹ are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils

2 My soule shal glorie in the Lord: the b hũble shal heare it, and be glad.

3 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

c Which I cõceemed for the dangers wherein I was.

4 I soght the Lord, and he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of all my c feare.

d Thei shalbe bolde to flee to thee for succour, whẽ thei shal se thy mercies towarde me

5 They d shal loke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shal not be ashamed, saying,

e Though Gods power be sufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels towatche ouer vs

6 This poore man cryed, & the Lord heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The e Angel of the Lord pitcheth roũde about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

f The godlie by their paciẽt obediẽce profit more then thei, which ranine & spoile.

8 Taste ye & se, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

g If thei abide the last tryal.

9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The f lyons do lacke and suffer hungre, but they, which seke the Lord, shal g want nothing that is good.

h That is, the true religiõ & worship of God 1. Pet. 3.10.

11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I wil teache you the h feare of the Lord.

i Seing all mẽ naturally desire felicitie, he wondereth why thei cast them selues willingly into miserie

12 * What man is hee, that desireth life, and loueth long daies for to i se good?

13 Kepe thy tongue from euil, and thy lippes, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschew euil and do good: seke peace & followe after it.

k The angre of God doeth not onely destroie the wicked, but also aboliseth their name for euer

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, & his eares are open vnto their crye.

16 But the k face of the Lord is against them that do euil, to cut of their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous crye, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

l When thei seme to be ouerwhelmed vp with afflictions, thẽ God is at hãd to deliuer them.

18 The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a l contrite heart, and wil saue suche as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but ỹ Lord deliuereth him out of thẽ all.

20 m He kepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shal slay the n wicked: & thei that hate the righteous, shal perish.

22 The Lord o redemeth the soules of his seruants: & none, ỹ trust in him, shal perish.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had ane authoritie vnder him to flatter their King (as is the course of the worlde) did also moste cruelly persecute Dauid against whome he praieth God to pleade & to auenge his cause. 8 That they may be taken in their nets & snares, which thei laied for him, that his innocẽcie may be declared. 27 And that the innocents, which taketh parte with him, maie reioyce & praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruãt. 28 And so he promiseth to speake forthe the iustice of the Lord, & to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalme of Dauid.

1 PLeade thou my a cause, ô Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me.

2 b Laie hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare and stoppe the waie against them, that persecute me: saie vnto my c soule, I am thy saluacion.

4 Let thẽ be confounded & put to shame, that seke after my soule: let them be turned backe, and broght to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord d scater them.

6 Let their waie be darke & slipperie: & let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For e without cause thei haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon f him at vnwares, & let his net, that he hathe laied priuely, take him: let him fall into s the same destruction.

9 Thẽ my soule shalbe ioyful in the Lord: it shal reioyce in his saluacion.

10 All my h bones shal saie, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him, that is to strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoileth him!

11 i Cruel witnesses did rise vp: thei asked of me things that I knewe not.

12 They rewarded me euil for good, to k haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when thei were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and l my praier was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my seife, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine m aduersitie thei reioyced, & gathered them selues together: the abiects

m And as Christ saith, all the heeres of his head

n Their wicked enterprises shal turne to their owne destruction

o For when thei seme to be ouercome with great dãgers & death it self, then God shewech him self their redemer

Psal XXXV

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against them that did persecute him and slander him

b Albeit God can with his breath destroy all his enemies, yet ỹ holie Gost attributeth vnto him these outward weapons to assure vs of his ỹsent power

c Assure me against these tentatiõs, that thou art ỹ autor of my saluation

d Smite them with the spirit of giddines that their entreprises may be fooliſh, & thei receiue iuste rewarde.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou beholde this? deliuer my soule from their tumulte, euen my desolate soule from the lions.
18 So wil I giue thee thankes in a great Cōgregacion: I wil praise thee among muche people.
19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer me, nether let them p winke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.
20 For they speake not as friends: but they imagine deceitful wordes against the q quiet of the land.
21 And they gaped on me with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, r our eye hathe sene.
22 Thou hast sene it, ô Lord: kepe not silēce: be not farre from me, ô Lord.
23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, euen to my cause, my God, and my Lord.
24 Iudge me, ô Lord my God, according to thy s righteousnes, and let them not reioyce ouer me.
25 Let them not saye in their hearts, t O our soule reioyce: nether let them saye, We haue deuoured him.
26 Let them be confounded, and put to shame u together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them be clothed u with cōfusion and shame, that lift vp them selues against me.
27 But let thē be ioyful & glad, x that loue my righteousnes: yea, let them saye alwaie, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the y prosperitie of his seruant.
28 And my tōgue shal vtter thy righteousnes, & thy praise euerie day.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grieuously Vexed by the wicked, doeth cōplaine of their malicious wickednes. 6 Then he turneth to cōsider the vnspeakable goodnes of God towards all creatures. 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof he maie be comforted & assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked & saueth the iuste.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psal. of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

1 WIckednes saieth to ỹ wicked mā, a euen in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.
2 For he b flattereth him self in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is found worthie to be hated.
3 The wordes of his mouthe are iniquitie and c deceite: he hathe left of to vnderstand & to do good.
4 He d imagineth mischief vpon his bed: he setteth him selfe vpon a ware, that is not good & doeth not abhorre euil.
5 Thy e mercie, ô Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulnes vnto the cloudes.
6 Thy righteousnes is like the " mightie mountaines: thy iudgemēts are like a great f deepe: thou, Lord, doest saue man and beast.
7 How excellent is thy mercie, ô God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings.
8 They shal be g satisfied with the fatnes of thine house, & thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.
9 For with thee is the well of life, & in thy light shal we se light.
10 Extend thy louing kindenes vnto them that h knowe thee, and thy righteousnes vnto them that are vpright in heart.
11 Let not the i fote of pride come against me, and let not the hand of the wicked mē moue me.
12 k There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shal not be able to rise.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalme contemeth exhortation & consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, & the affliction of the godlie. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked do liue for the time, he doeth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous semeth to liue in the worlde, yet his end is peace, & he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked & preserued.

¶ A Psalme. of Dauid.

1 FReate not a thy self because of the wicked men, nether be enuious for the euil doers.
2 For they shal soone be b cut downe like grasse, and shal wither as the grene herbe.
3 c Trust thou in the Lord & do good: dwel in the land, & thou shalt be fed assuredly.
4 And delite thy self in the Lord, and he shal giue thee thine hearts desire.
5 d Commit thy waye vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shal bring it to passe.
6 And he shal bring forthe thy righteousnes as the light, & thy e iudgement as the noone daye.
7 Waite pacientlie vpon the Lord & hope in him: freat not thy self for him f which prospereth in his waye: nor for the mā that bringeth his entreprises to passe.
8 Cease from angre, & leaue of wrath: freat not thy selfe g also to do euil.
9 For euil doers shalbe cut of, and they that waite vpon the Lord, they shal inherite the land.
10 h Therefore yet a litle while, and the a I se euidētly by his dedes, that sinne pusheth forward ỹ reprobat frō wickednes to wickednes, albeit he go about to couer his impietie.

b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himself seeth it not.

c The reprobat mocke at holsome doctrine and put not difference betwene good and euil d By describing at large the nature of the reprobat, he admoniseth the godlie to beware of these vices.

e Though wickednes semeth to ouerfloe all the worlde, yet by thine heauenlie prouidence thou gouernest heauen & earth.

" Hebr. the mightie mountains of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called.

f The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth thē, albeit the wicked seme to ouerwhelme the worlde.

g Onely Gods children haue ynough of all things both cōcerning this life & the life to come.

h He sheweth who are Gods children, to wit. they ỹ know him, and lead their liues vprightly.

i Let not the proude aduance him self against me, nether ỹ power of the wicked driue me away k That is, in their pride wherein they flatter them selues.

s He admoniseth vs nether to vexe our selues for the prosperous estate of ỹ wicked, nether to desire to be like thē to make our state the better.

b For Gods iudgemēt cutteth downe their state in a moment.

c To trust in God, and do according to his wil, are sure toknes, that his prouidence wil neuer faile vs.

d Be not led by thine owne wisdome, but obey God, and he wil finish his worke in thee.

e As the hope of ỹ dailight causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenes of the night: so ought we pacientlie to trust that God wil cleare our cause and restore vs to our right.

f When God suffereth the wicked to prosper, it semeth to the flesh that he fauoreth their doings.

g Meaning, except he moderate his affectiōs, he shalbe led to do as they do.

h He correcteth the impetuositie of our nature, which can not abide til the fulnes of Gods time be come.

wicked shal not appeare, and thou shalt loke after his place, and he shal not be founde.

Matt 5.5.

11 But * meeke men shal possesse the earth, and shal haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

i The godlie are assured ỹ the power and craft of the wicked shal not preuail against them, but fall on their owne neckes, & therfore ought patiently to abide Gods time, & in the meane while bewaile their sinnes, & offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience 12 i The wicked practiseth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shal laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his daye is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawne their swordes, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and nedie, and to slay suche as be of vpright conuersation.

15 But their swordes shal entre into their owne heart, & their bowes shal be broken.

k For thei are daily fed as ẅ Manna frō heauen, & haue sufficient, when ỹ wicked haue neuer ynough, but euer hūgre

16 k A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked and mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shalbe broken: but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, & by what meanes to deliuer them.

18 The Lord l knoweth ỹ dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shalbe perpetual.

m For God wil giue them cōtēted mindes, & that ẅ shalbe necessarie.

19 They shal not be cōfounded in the perilous time, and in the dayes of famine they shal haue m ynough.

n They shal vanish awaye suddenly: for they are fed for the daie of slaughter.

20 But the wicked shal perish, and the enemies of the Lord shalbe consumed as the n fat of lambes: euen with the smoke shal they consume awaye.

o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.

21 The wicked boroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is merciful, and o giueth.

22 For suche as be blessed of God, shal inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut of.

p God prospereth the faithful, because they walke in his waies with an vpright cōscience.

23 p The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his waye.

q When God doeth exercise his faith & diuers tentations.

24 Thogh he q fall, he shal not be cast of: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

r Thogh the iust man dye, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and thogh God suffer some iuste man to lacke temporal benefites, yet he recōpenseth him with spiritual treasures.

25 I haue beneyong and am olde: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his r sede begging bread.

26 But he is euer merciful and lendeth, and his sede enioyeth the blessing.

f They shal continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inwarde rest.

27 Flee from euil and do good, and dwel for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, & forsaketh not his Saints: they shalbe preserued for euermore: but the sede of the wicked shalbe cut of.

29 The righteous mē shal inherit the land, and dwel therein f for euer.

t These thre pointes are required of the faithful, that their talke be godlie, ỹ Gods Law be in their heart, & that their life be vpright

30 The t mouth of the righteous wil speake of wisdome, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the Law of his God is in his heart, & his steppes shal not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seketh to slay him.

33 But ỹ Lord wil not leaue him in his hād, nor condemne him, when he is u iudged.

u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glorie & [illegible] wil approue their cause, & reuenge their wrong.

34 Waite thou on the Lord, and kepe his waye, & he shal exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the lād: when the wicked men shal perish, thou shalt se.

35 I haue sene the wicked strong, & spreading him self like a grene baye tre.

x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloude, which vanisheth away in a moment.

36 Yet he x passed away, and lo, he was gone, and I soght him, but he colde not be founde.

y He exhorteth the faithful to marke diligently the exāples bothe of Gods mercies, & also of his iudgemēts.

37 y Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressours shalbe destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shalbe cut of.

z He sheweth that ỹ patient hope of the godlie is neuer in vaine, but in the end hathe good successe, though for a time God proue them by sundrie tentations.

39 But the z saluation of the righteous mē shalbe of the Lord: he shalbe their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: he shal deliuer them from the wicked, and shal saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 Dauid lying sicke of some grieuous disease, acknowledgeth him self to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, & therfore praieth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnes of his grief by manie wordes & circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euil intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, & hopeth for spedie helpe at his hand.

a To put him self & others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne.

1 O Lord, rebuke me not in thine b angre, nether chastise me in thy wrath.

b He desireth not to be exēpted frō Gods rod, but that he wolde so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it.

2 For thine c arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me.

c Thy sickenes, wherewith thou hast visited me.

3 There is nothing sounde in my flesh, because of thine angre: nether is there rest in my bones because of my d sinne.

d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iuste in his punishments because his sins had deserued muche more.

4 For e mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, & as a weightie burden they are to heauie for me.

e He cōfesseth his sins, Gods iustice, & maketh prayer his refuge.

5 My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of f my foolishnes.

f That rather gaue place to mine owne lustes, then to the wil of God

6 I am bowed, and croked very sore: I go ᵍ mourning all the daye.

Or, blacke, or so that is disfigured & disfumed with sicknes.

7 For my reines are ful of burning, & there is nothing sounde in my flesh.

g This exāple warneth vs neuer to despaire, but the torment neuer so great but alwaies to crye vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I ʰ roare for the verie grief of mine heart.

Ebr. Kamath

9 Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart ⁱ panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen ʲ they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my ᵏ kinsmen stand a farre of.

about, or, is tossed to & fro, meaning that he was destitute of all helpe & counsel. h My sight faileth me for verie sorowe. i Partely for feare, and partely for pride they denien all duetie and friendship.

13 But I as [k] a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, & in whose mouth are no reproues.

15 For on thee, ô Lord, do I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, Heare me, lest they reioyce ouer me: for [l] when my fote slippeth, they extoll them selues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to [m] halte, and my sorow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my peine, & am sorie for my sinne,

19 Then mine [n] enemies are aliue & are mightie, and they that hate me wrongfully are manie.

20 They also, that rewarde euil for good, are mine aduersaries, because I followe [o] goodnes.

21 Forsake me not, ô Lord: be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haste thee to helpe me, ô my Lord, my [p] saluation.

k For I can haue no audiẽce before mẽ, and therefore paciently waite for the helpe of God.

l That is, if they se ẏ thou succourme not in time, they wil mocke & triumph, as thogh thou hadest forsaken me

m I am without hope to recouer my strength

n In my greatest miserie they most reioyce

o He had rather haue the hatred of all ẏ worlde, thẽ to faile in ante parte of his duetie to Godward p Which are the autor of my saluation: & this declareth that he prayed vñ sure hope of deliuerance.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great grief & bitternes of minde he was driuen to these outrageous complaints of his infirmities 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he brast forthe yet into wordes that he wolde not, through the greatnes of his grief 4 Then he rehearseth certeine requestes which saue of the infirmitie of mã. 8 And maketh with thẽ manie prayers. but all de shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it maye plainely appeare how he did striue mightely against death and desperation.

¶ To the excellent musician [a] Iedithũn. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Thoght, [b] I wil take hede to my waies, that I sinne not with my tõgue: I wil kepe my mouth brideled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, [c] and my sorow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, and while I was musing, the fyre kindled, & [d] I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine end, & the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euerie man in his best state is altogether [e] vanitie. Sélah.

6 Douteles man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth him self in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, & cã not tel who shal gather thẽ.

7 And now Lord, what waite I for [f] mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the [g] foolish.

9 I shulde haue bene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because [h] thou didest it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hãd.

11 When thou with rebukes doest chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth [i] makest his [k] beautie to consume: surely euerie mã is vanitie. Sélah.

12 Heare my praier, ô Lord, & hearken vnto my crye: kepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, & a soiourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine angre from me, that I maie recouer my strength, [l] before I go hence & be not.

a This was one of ẏ chief singers, 1 Chr 16,41.

b Albeit he had appointed with him self paciently to haue taryed Gods leasure, yet the vehemencie of his peine caused him to breake his purpose

c Thogh whẽ the wicked ruled, he thoght to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his minde d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering the greatnes of his sorowes, & the shortnes of his life

e Yet Dauid offended in ẏ that he reasoned vñ God, as thogh that he were to seuere towarde his weake creature.

f Make me not a mockig stocke to the wicked, or wrap me not vp wt the wicked, when they are put to shame

g Seing my troubles came of thy prouidẽce, I ought to haue endured thẽ paciently

h Thogh thine open plagues light not euermore vpõ them, yet thy secret curse cõtinually fretteth them

i The worde signifieth all ẏ he desireth, as health, force, strength, beautie, and in whatsoeuer he hathe delite, so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this worlde k For his sorow caused him to thinke that God wolde destroy him vtterly: whereby we se how hard it is for the verie Saintes to kepe a measure in their wordes, when death & despare assaile them.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doeth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, & cõmendeth his prouidence towards all mankinde. 5 Then doeth he promise to giue him self wholly to Gods seruice, & so declareth how God is truely worshiped. 14 Afterward he giueth thankes & praiseth God, & hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aide and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 I Waited [a] paciently for the Lord, & he inclined vnto me, and heard my crye.

2 He broght me also out of the [b] horrible pit, out of the myrie claie, and set my fete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hathe put in my mouth [c] a new song of praise vnto our God: manie shal se it and feare, and shal trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man, that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth [d] not the proude, nor suche as turne aside to lies.

5 [e] O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderful woikes so manie, that none can counte in ordre to thee thy thoghts toward vs: I wolde declare, & speake of them, but thei are mo then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offring thou didest not desire: (for [f] mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring and sin offring hast thou not required.

7 [g] Then said I, Lo, I come: for in the rolle of the boke it is writen of me,

8 I desired to do thy good wil, ô my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnes in the [h] great Congregation: lo, I wil not refreine my lippes: ô Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnes within mine heart, but I haue declared thy [i] trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercie and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

a Thogh God differred his helpe, yet he paciently abode, til he was heard

b He hathe deliuered me frõ moste great dãgers

c That is, a speciall occasiõ to praise him: for Godsbenefites are so manie occasiõs for vs to praise his Name d To follow their example, which he must nedes do, that trusteth not onely in the Lord

e Dauid goeth from one kinde of Gods fauour to the contemplation of his prouidẽce ouer all, & confesseth that his counsels towards vs are farre aboue our capacities: we cãnot so much as tel thẽm in ordre

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand the spirtual meaning of the sacrifices and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the Law nothing in respect of the spiritual seruice

g When thou hadest opened mine eares & heart, I was readie to obei thee, being assured that I was writen in the boke of thine elect for this end

h In the Church assembled to ẏ Sanctuarie

i Dauid here nõbreth ẏ degrees of our saluaciõ: Gods mercie, whereby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continual protection, and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that hereof procedeth our saluation.

11 Withdrawe not thou thy tendre mercie from me, ô Lord: let thy mercie and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken suche holde vpon me, that I am not able to loke vp: yea, they are mo in nomber then the heeres of mine head: therefore mine heart hathe [k] failed me.

13 Let it please thee, ô Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, ô Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them be [l] confounded & put to shame together, ỹ seke my soule to destroye it: let them be driuē backeward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a rewarde of their shame, ẅ saye vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all thē, that seke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: & let thē, that loue thy saluation, saye alway, [n] The Lord be praised.

17 Thogh I be poore and nedie, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper & my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsel. yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to praye

l He desireth that Godsmercie maye contend for him against the rage of his enemies

m Let the same shame, and cōfusion light vpon them, ẅ they intended to haue brought vpon me.

n As the faithful alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictiōs

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them that pitie his case. 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends & familiares, as came to passe in Iudas. Iohn 13,18 After he feling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, & not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giueth moste heartie thankes vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 BLesſed is he that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shal deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord wil kepe him, & preserue him aliue: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, & thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the wil of his enemies.

3 The Lord wil strengthen him vpon the [b] bed of sorowe: thou hast turned all his [c] bed in his sickenes.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies [d] speake euil of me, saying, When shal he dye, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to se me, he speaketh [e] lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within hī, & whē he cometh forthe, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.

8 [f] A mischief is light vpon him, & he that lieth, shal no more rise.

9 Yea, my [*] familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eat of my bread, [g] hathe lifted vp the hele against me.

10 Therefore, ô Lord, haue mercie vpō me, & raise me vp: so I shal rewarde them.

11 By this I know that thou fauorest me, because mine enemie doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me [h] in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy [i] face for euer.

13 Blessed be ỹ Lord God of Israél worlde without end. [k] So be it, euen so be it.

a Not cōdemning him as accursed, whome God doeth visite, knowing that there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hād vpō vs: yea, & afterwarde he restoreth vs

b When for sorow & grief of minde he casteth him selfe vpon his bed

c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed & set him comfort

d That is, curse me, and can not haue their cruel hate quēshed, but with my shameful death

e For pretending to cōfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, & braggeth thereof

f The enemies thoght by his sharpe punishments ỹ God was become his mortal enemie

Ebr. The man of my peace

g As Dauid felt this falshod, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13,18, so shal his mēbers cōtinually proue the same.

h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in ỹ true feare of God against all temptations i Shewing me euident signes of thy Fatherlie prouidence.

k By this repetition he stirreth vp ỹ faithful to praise God

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors he colde not be present in the Cōgregaciō of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in bodie frō them, yet his heart was thitherwarde affectioned 7 And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farre ouercome with these sorowes & thoghts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, [a] cōmitted to the sonnes of Kórah.

1 AS the hart braieth for the riuers of water, so [b] pāteth my soule after thee, ô God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shal I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 [c] My teares haue bene my meat daie and night, while they daiely say vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remēbred [d] these things, I powred out my verie heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the House of God with the voice of singing, & praise, as a multitude ỹ kepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? [e] waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, [f] becausse I remember thee, from the land of Iordén, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizár.

7 One [g] depe calleth another depe by ỹ noise of thy water spoutes: all thy waues and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord [h] wil grante his louing kindenes in the daie, and in the night shal I sing of hī, euē a praier vnto ỹ God of my life.

9 I wil saie vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten me? why go I mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me?

10 My [i] bones are cut a sunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daiely vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 [k] Why art thou cast downe, my soule? & why art thou disquieted within me? waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes: he is my present helpe, and my God.

a To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.

b By these similitudes of thirst & panting he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.

c As others take pleasure in eating & drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping.

d That is, how I led ỹ people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, & now seing my contrarie estate, I dye for sorowe

e Though he sustained grieuous assaltes of the flesh to cast hī into desparre, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth the victorie

f That is, whē I remember thee in this lād of my bānishment among ỹ mountaines

g Afflictions came so thicke vpon me, that I felt my self as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our miserie, til God be pacified, & send remedie

h He assureth him selfe of Gods helpe in time to come i That is, I am most grieuously tormented k This repetition doeth declare ỹ Dauid did not ouercome at once: to teache vs to be constant for asmuche as God wil certenly deliuer his PSAL. XLIII.

1 He praieth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might ioyfully praise God in his holie Congregacion

1 IVdge [a] me, ô God, & defend my cause against the vnmerciful [b] people: deliuer me from the deceitful and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strēgth: why hast thou put me awaie? why go I so mourning, when the enemie oppresseth me.

3 Send thy [c] light and thy trueth: let them lead me: let thē bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he wolde restore him to the Tabernacle

b That is, the cruel companie of mine enemies.

4 Then [d] wil I go vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy & gladnes:
and vpon the harpe wil I giue thankes vn to thee, ô God, my God.
5 Why art thou caſt downe, my ſoule [a] and why art thou diſquiered within me? [e] waite on God: for I wil yet giue him thankes, be is my preſent helpe, and my God.

d He [p]miſeth to offre a ſolēne ſacrifice of thankesgiuing in token of his great deliuerance

e Whereby he admoniſheth ỹ faithful not to relent, but conſtantly to waite on the Lord, thogh their troubles be lōg & great PSAL. XLIIII.

1 The faithful remember the great mercie of God toward his people. 9 After, thei complaine, becauſe thei fele it no more. 17 Alſo thei alledge the couenant made with Abrahám, for the keping whereof thei ſhewe what grie uous things thei ſuffred. 23 Finally they praie vnto God that it contemne their affliction, ſeing the ſame redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme to giue inſtructiō, committed to the ſonnes of Kórah.

1 WE haue heard with our [a] eares, ô

This Psalme partely conteineth meditatiõs, whereby Dauid encourageth him self to trust in God against the assaults of temptations And because our mindes are easely drawẽ from God by the alluremẽts of the worlde, he sharply reproueth this vanitie, to the intent he might cleaue fast to the Lord.

¶ To the excellent musician * Iedúthún. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 YEt a my soule kepeth silence vnto God: of him cometh my saluacion.
2 b Yet he is my strength and my saluaciõ, & my defence: therefore I shal not muche be moued.
3 How lõg wil ye imagine mischief against a c man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shalbe as a bowed wall, or as a d wall shaken.
4 Yet they consulte to cast him downe frõ his dignitie: their delite is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Sélah.
5 e Yet my soule kepe thou silẽce vnto God: for mine hope is in him.
6 Yet is he my strength, & my saluacion, & my defence: therefore I shal not be moued.
7 In God is my saluacion and my f glorie, ỹ rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.
8 Trust in him alwaie, ye people: g powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Sélah.
9 Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chief mẽ are lies: to lay thẽ vpon a balance thei are altogether lighter thẽ vanitie.
10 Trust not in oppression nor in roberie: h be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.
11 God spake i once or twise, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God,

3 For thy louing kindenes is better then life: therefore my lippes shal praise thee.
4 Thus wil I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name.
5 My soule shal be satisfied, as with d marow and fatnes, and my mouth shal praise thee with ioyful lippes, 6 When I remember thee on my bed, & when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.
7 Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings wil I reioyce.
8 My soule e cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.
9 Therefore they that seke my soule to destroy it, they shal go into the lowest partes of the earth.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are mo then the heeres of mine head: thei that wolde destroye me, and are mine enemies e falsely, are mightie, so that I restored that which I f toke not.

e Comdemning me giltles.

f Thei iudged me pore innocent as a thief and gaue my goods to others as thogh I had stollen them.

5 O God, thou knowest my g fooliſhnes, & my fautes are not hid from thee.

g Thogh I be giltie to thee warde, yet am I innocēt towarde them

6 Let not them that trust in thee, ô Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for h me: let not those that seke thee, be confounded through me, ô God of Israél.

h Let not mine euil intreatie of the enemies be an occasiō, ỹ the faithful fall frō thee.

7 For thy sake haue I suffred reproſe: shame hathe couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethrē, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

i When I sawe thine enemies pretend thy Name onely in mouth, and in their life denie the same, thine holie Spirit thrust me forwarde, to reproue thē & defend thy glorie.

9 i For the zeale of thine house hathe eaten me, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

A Pſalme for

¶ A Psalme [a] of Salomón.

GIue thy [b] iudgements to the King, ô God, and thy righteousnes to the Kings [c] sonne.

Then shal he iudge thy people in righteousnes, and thy poore with equitie.

The [d] mountaines and the hils shal bring peace to the people by iustice.

He shal [e] iudge the poore of the people: he shal saue the children of the nedie, and shal subdue the oppressor.

They shal [f] feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.

He shal come [g] downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, & as the showres that water the earth.

In his daies shal the righteous florish, & abundance of peace shalbe so long as the moone endureth.

His dominion shalbe also from [h] sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the ends of the land.

They that dwell in the wildernes, shal knele before him, and his enemies shal licke the dust.

The Kings of [i] Tarshish & of the yles shal bring presentes: the Kings [k] of Sheba and Seba shal bring giftes.

Yea, all Kings shal worship him: all nations shal serue him.

For he shal deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the nedie also, and him that hathe no helper.

He shalbe merciful to the poore and nedie, and shal preserue the soules of the poore.

He shal redeme their soules from deceit and violence, and [l] deare shal their blood be in his sight.

Yea, he shal liue, and vnto him shal they giue of the [m] golde of Sheba: they shal also praye for him continually, and daily blesse him.

An handful of corne shalbe sowen in the earth, euen in the top of the mountaines, and the [n] frute thereof shal shake like the trees of Lebanón: and the children shal florish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.

His name shalbe for euer: his name shal indure as long as the sunne: all natiõs shal blesse [o] him, and be blessed in him.

Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israél, which onely doeth [p] wonderous things.

And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glorie. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE [q] praiers of Dauid, the sonne of Ishái.

a Cõposed by Dauid as reuching ỹ reigne of his sonne Salomon

b Endue the King with the Spirit of wisdome & iustice

c That he reigne not as do the worldelie tyrants

d To wit, to his posteritie

e Whe iustice reigneth, euen ỹ places moste barren shal be enriched with thy blessings

f He sheweth wherefore the sworde is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent and suppresse the wicked

g The people shal imbrace thy true religion, whe thou giuest a King, that ruleth according to thy worde

g As this is true in all godlie Kings: so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who ỹ his heauenlie dewe maketh his Church euer to florish

h That is frõ the red Sea to the sea called Syriacum, and frõ Euphrates forwarde meaning, ỹ Christs kingdome shuld be large & vniuersal

i Of Cilicia & of all other countreis bevõd the sea, which he meaneth by the yles k That is, of Arabia ỹ riche coũtrei, wherof Sheba was a parte bordering vpon Ethiopia

l Though tyrants passe not to shed blood, yet this godlie King shal preserue his subiects from all kinde of wrong

m God wil bo the prosperhis liffe, & also make the people moste willing to obeie him

n Vnder suche a King shalbe moste great plentie, bothe of frute & also of the increase of mankinde

o They shal praie to God for his continũace, & know that God doeth prosper them for his sake

¶ A Psalme committed to Asáph.

YEt [a] God is good to Israél: euen, to the pure in heart.

As for me, my fete were almost gone: my steps had welneie slipt.

For I freated at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked.

For there are [b] no bands in their death, but they are lustie & strong.

They are not in trouble as other men, nether are they plagued with other men.

[c] Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto thẽ, & crueltie couereth them as a garment.

Their eyes stand out for fatnes: [*] they haue more then heart can wish.

They are licencious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: their talke presumpteously.

They [d] set their mouth against heauen, & their tongue walketh through the earth.

Therefore his [e] people turne hither: for waters of a ful cup are wrung out to them.

And they [f] say, How doeth God know it? or is there knowledge in ỹ moste High?

Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, & increase in riches.

Certeinly I haue clensed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

For daily haue I bene punished, and chastened euerie morning.

If I say, [g] I wil iudge thus, beholde the generacio of thy children: I haue trespaced.

Thẽ thoght I to knowe this, but it was to peinful for me,

Vntil I went into the [h] Sanctuarie of God: then vnderstode I their end.

Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, and casteste them downe into desolation.

How suddenly are they destroyed, perished & [i] horribly consumed,

As a dreame when one awaketh! ô Lord, when [k] thou raiseste vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, & are not drawen to death like prisoners that is by sickenes, wh is dentes messẽger.

c They glorie in their pride as some do in their shames: & in crueltie, as some do in apparel

* Ebr They passe the desires of the heart

d They blaspheme God & feare not his powers, & raile vpon men, because they esteme thẽselues aboue all others

e Not onely ỹ reprobate, but also ỹ people of God often times fall backe, seing ỹ prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorowes, thinking ỹ God cãsidereth not aright the state of the godlie.

f Thus ỹ flesh moueth euen ỹ godlie to dispute with God touchig their poore estate & the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 We wil not hide them from their children, but to the generacion to come we wil ſhewe the praiſes of the Lord, his power alſo, and his wonderful workes that he hathe done:

By the teſtimonie & Law he meaneth ỹ Law written, which they were commãded to teache their childrẽ, Deu 6,7.

5 How he eſtabliſhed a [d] teſtimonie in Iaakób, and ordeined a Law in Iſraél, which he commanded our fathers, that they ſhulde teache their children:

e He ſheweth wherein ỹ children ſhulde be like their fathers, that is, in maintening Gods pure religion

6 That the [e] poſteritie might knowe it, and the children, which ſhulde be borne, ſhulde ſtand vp, & declare it to their children:

f He ſheweth wherein ỹ vſe of this doctrine ſtandeth in faith, in ỹ meditation of Godsbenefites & in obedience

7 That they might [f] ſet their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God but kepe his commandements:

g Thogh theſe fathers were the ſede of Abrahám & the choſen people, yet he ſheweth by their rebellion, prouocation, falſehode & hypocriſie, that the children ought not to followe their exiples.

8 And not to be as their [g] fathers, a diſobedient and rebellious generation: a generacion that ſet not their heart aright, and whoſe ſpirit was not faithful vnto God.

h By Ephráim he meaneth alſo the reſt of the tribes, becauſe thei were moſte in nomber whoſe punishmẽt declareth that they were vnfaithful to God, and by their multitude and autoritie had corrupt all others 9 The children of [h] Ephráim being armed & ſhooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battel.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but refuſed to walke in his Law, 11 And forgate his Actes, and his wonderful workes that he had ſhewed them.

i He proueth that not onely the poſteritie, but alſo their forefathers were wicked and rebellious to God

12 He did maruelous things in the ſight of their [i] fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zóan.

Exod.14,21.

13 *He deuided the Sea, and led them through: he made alſo the waters to ſtand as an heape.

Exod 14.24.

14 *In the daietime alſo he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fyer.

Exod.17,6.

15 *He claue the rockes in the wildernes, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

num 20,11.

16 *He broght floods alſo out of the ſtonie rocke, ſo that he made the waters to deſcend like the riuers.

pſal.105,41.

17 Yet they [k] ſinned ſtil againſt him, and prouoked the Higheſt in the wildernes,

1.Cor.10,4.

18 And tempted God in their heartes in [l] requiring meat for their luſt.

Wiſd.11,4.

19 *They ſpake againſt God alſo, ſaying, Can God [m] prepare a table in the wildernes?

k Their wicked malice colde be ouercome by no benefites, which were great & manie 20 *Beholde, he ſmote the rocke, that the water guſhed out, and the ſtreames ouerflowed: can he giue bread alſo? or prepare fleſh for his people?

l Then to require more then is neceſſarie, & to ſeparate Gods power from his wil, is to tempt God

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angrie, and the *fyer was kindled in Iaakób, and alſo wrath came vpon Iſraél, 22 Becauſe they beleued not in God, and [n] truſted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the [o] cloudes aboue, and had opened the dores of heauen, o So that thei had ỹ, which was neceſſarie & ſufficient but their luſt made them to couet that which thei knewe God had denied them.

24 And had rained downe MAN vpon thẽ for to eat, and had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.

Iob.6,31.

25 *Man did eat the bread of Angels: he ſent them meat ynough.

1.cor 10,3.

26 He cauſed the [p] Eaſtwinde to paſſe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the Southwinde.

p God vſed ỹ meanes of the winde to teach them, that all elementes were at his cõmandement, & that no diſtance of place coldeſtop his working.

27 He rained fleſh alſo vpon them as duſt, and feathered foule as the ſand of the ſea.

28 And he made it fall in ỹ middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So thei did eat and were wel filled: for he gaue them their deſire.

30 They were not turned from their [q] luſt, but the meat was yet in their mouthes, q Suche is the nature of concupiſcence, ỹ the more it hath, ỹ more it luſteth

31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and ſlew the ſtrongeſt of them, and ſmote downe the choſen men in Iſraél.

r Thogh other were not ſpared, yet chiefly thei ſuffred, ỹ truſted to their ſtrength againſt God

32 For all this, thei [r] ſinned ſtil, and beleued not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their daies did he cõſume in vanitie, and their yeres haſtely.

s Thus ſinne by continuãce maketh men inſenſible, ſo ỹ by no pleagues thei can be amended 34 And when he [s] ſlewe them, thei ſoght hi & they returned, & ſoght God early.

t Becauſe of their hypocriſie, that thei ſoght vnto God for feare of punishmẽt, thogh in their heart thei loued him not 35 And thei remembred that God was their ſtrength, & the moſte high God their redemer.

u Whatsoeuer commeth not from the pure fountaine of ỹ heart, is hypocriſie.

36 But thei flattered him with their mouth and diſſembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their [u] heart was not vpright with him: nether were they faithful in his couenant.

x Becauſe he wolde euer haue ſome remnant of a Church to praiſe his Name in earth, he ſuffred not ỹ ſinnes to ouercome his mercie.

38 Yet he being merciful [x] forgaue their iniquitie, and deſtroied them not, but oft times called backe his angre, and did not ſtirre vp all his wrath.

39 For he remembred that thei were fleſh: yea, a winde that paſſeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernes? & grieue him in the deſert?

y That is, thei tempted him oft times,

41 Yea, they [y] returned, and temoted God, and [z] limited the Holie one of Iſraél.

z As thei all do ỹ meaſure the power of God by their capacitie.

42 Thei [a] remembred not his hand, nor the daie when he deliuered them from the enemie, a The forgetfulnes of Gods benefits is the rote of rebellion & all vice 43 Nor him that ſet his ſignes in Egypt, & his wonders in the field of Zóan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that thei colde not drinke.

46 He e gaue alſo their frutes vnto the caterpiller, and their labour vnto the grashopper.

47 He deſtroied their vines with haile, & their wilde figgetrees with the haile-ſtone.

d So called, either of the effect: that is, of puniſhing the wicked, or els becauſe thei were wicked ſpirits, whome God permitted to vexe men 48 He gaue their cattel alſo to the haile, and their flockes to the thunderboltes.

49 He caſt vpon them the fiercenes of his angre, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the ſending out of d euil Angels.

e The firſtborne are ſo called, as Gen. 49.3

50 He made awaie to his angre: he ſpared not their ſoule from death, but gaue their life to the peſtilence, 51 And ſmote all the firſtborne in Egypt, euen the e beginning of their ſtrength in the tabernacles of f Ham.

f That is, Egypt: for it was called Mizraim or Egypt of Miziáim, that was the ſonne of Ham 52 But he made his people to go out like ſhepe, and led them in the wildernes like a flocke.

g That is, thei had none occaſion to feare, for aſmuch as God deſtroied their enemies and deliuered them ſafely 53 Yea, he caried them out ſafely, and they g feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.

h Meanig Canáan, ẅ God had conſecrate to him ſelfe, & appointed to his people Ioſh. 11.1. & 13.7.

54 And he broght them vnto the borders of his h Sanctuarie: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchaſed.

i Nothing more diſpleaſeth God in ſ children, thē when thei cōſume in ſ wickednes, which their fathers had begōne 55 *He caſt out the heathen alſo before thē and cauſ d them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Iſráél to dwell in their tabernacles.

k By ſeruing God otherwiſe then he had appoin d

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the moſt high God, and kept not his teſtimonies, l For their ingratitude he ſuffred ſ Philiſtims to take the Arke, ẅ was the ſigne of his preſēce, frō amōg thē 57 But turned backe and deſ r faſſely like their fathers: thei turned like a deceitful bowe.

m The Arke is called his power & beautie, becauſe thereby he defēded his people, & beautifully appeared vnto them

58 And thei k prouoked him to angre with their high places, & moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

n Thei were ſuddenly deſtroyed, 1 Sam 4.10

59 God heard this and was wroth, & greatly abhorred Iſráél, o That had no marriage ſonges ſ is, thei were not maried

60 So that he l forſoke the habitation of Shiló, euē the Tabernacle where he dwelt among men, p Either thei were ſlaine before or taken priſoners of their enemies, & ſo were forbidden.

61 And deliuered his m power in to captiuitie, and his beautie into the enemies hand.

62 And he gaue vp his people to the ſworde, and was angrie with his inheritance.

q Becauſe thei were drunken in their ſinnes,

63 The fyer n deuoured their choſen men, and their maides were not o praiſed.

64 Their Prieſts fell by the ſworde, & their p widowes lamented not.

r Shewing that he ſpared not altogether the Iſraelites, though he puniſhed their enemies.

65 But the Lord awaked as one out of ſlepe, and as a ſtrong man that after his q wine cryeth out, 66 And ſmote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetual ſhame.

67 Yet he refuſed the tabernacle of r Ioſéph, and choſe not the tribe of Ephráim:

68 But choſe the tribe of Iudáh, & mount Zión which he loued.

69 And he ſ buylt his Sanctuarie as an high palace, like the earth, which he ſtabliſhed for euer.

ſ By buylding the Temple & eſtabliſhing ſ kingdome, he declareth that the ſignes of his fauour were among thē.

70 He choſe Dauid alſo his ſeruant, & toke him from the ſhepefoldes.

71 Euen from behinde the ewes withyong broght he him to fede his people in Iaakób, and his inheritance in Iſraél.

tHe ſheweth wherein a Kīg chargeſtāideth: to wit, to prouide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counſel, & defend them by power.

72 So he fed them according to the ſimplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the diſcretion of his hands.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hathe pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a moste tender Father towards his childrē. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to man and Angels to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 MY soule, [a] praise ỹ the Lord, & all that is within me, praise his holie Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.

3 Which [b] forgiueth all thine iniquitie, & healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redemeth thy life from ỹ [c] graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy [d] youth is renued like the egles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his waies knowen vnto [e] Moses, & his workes vnto the children of Israél.

8 The Lord is ful of compasion and mercie, slowe to angre and of great kindenes.

9 He wil not alwaie [f] chide, nether kepe his angre for euer.

10 He hathe not [g] dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as [h] the East is from the West: so farre hathe he remoued our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hathe compassiō on his children, so hathe the Lord compasion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The daies of [i] mā are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so florisheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shal knowe it no more.

17 But the louing kindenes of the Lord endureth for euer & euer vpon them that feare him, and his [k] righteousnes vpon children childrens children, 18 Vnto them that kepe his [l] couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hathe prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye [m] his Angels, that excel in strength, that do his commandement in obeying the voice of his worde.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hostes, ye his seruants that do his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

a He waketh his dulnes to praise God, shewing ỹ both vnderstanding & affectiōs, minde & heart are to litle to set forthe his praise.

b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefites: remission of sinne

c For before ỹ we haue remission of our sinnes, we are as dead mē in the graue

d As the egle, whether beake overgroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renued in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strēgth to his Church aboue all mās expectation.

e As to his chief minister & next to his people.

f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as the sinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie

g We haue proue by cōtinual experience, ỹ his mercie hathe euer prevailed against our offences

h As great as the worlde is, so ful is it of signes of Gods mercies towarde his faithful, when he hathe removed their sinnes

i He declareth that mā hathe nothig in him selfe to moue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmitie & miserie.

k His iuste & faithful kepig of his promes.

l To whome he giueth grace to feare hī, & to obey his worde.

m In that that we, which naturally are slowe to praise God, exhort the Angels, ỹ willigly do it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our duetie, & awake out of our sluggishnes.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the worlde & the gouernance of the same by his marueluous prouidence. 35 Wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisshed his blessings

1 MY soule, praise thou ỹ Lord: ô Lord my God, thou art exceding great, ỹ [u] art [a] clothed with glorie & honour.

2 Which couereth him self with light as with a garment, & spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which laieth the beames of his chābers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which [b] maketh the spirits his messengers, & a flaming fyre his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her fundacions, so ỹ it shal neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with ỹ [c] deepe as with a garment: the [d] waters wolde stand aboue the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke thei flee: at the voice of thy thunder thei haste awaie.

8 And the moūtaines ascend, & the valleis descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bonde, which thei shal not passe: thei shal not returne to couer the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into the valleis, which runne betwene the mountaines.

11 Thei shal giue drinke to all the [e] beastes of the field, and the wilde asses shal quenche their thirst.

12 By these [f] springs shal the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the brāches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his [g] chambers, & the earth is filled with the frute of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for the cattel, and herbe for the vse of [h] man, that he maie bring forthe bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, & oyle to make the face to shine, a The Prophet sheweth that we nede not to enter into the heauēs to seke God, for asmuch as all the ordre of nature, with ỹ proprietie and placing of the elements, are moste liuely mirrours to se his maiestie in b As the Prophet here sheweth ỹ all visible powers are readie to serue God: so the Apostle to ỹ Ebr 1, 7 beholdeth in this glasse, how ỹ verie Angels also are obedient to his cōmandement

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto ỹ earth

d If by thy power ỹ diddest not bridle the rage of ỹ waters, it were not possible, but the whole worlde shulde be destroied.

e If God prouide for ỹ verie beastes, much more wil he extend his prouident care to man.

f There is no part of the worlde so baren, where moste euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not g From the cloudes.

h He describeth Gods prudent care ouer man, who doeth not only prouide necessarie thigs for him, as herbes & other meate but also thigs to reioyce and comforte him, as wine & oyle or ointmēte.

& bread that ſtrengtheneth mans heart.
16 The high trees are ſatiſfied, euen the cedries of Lebanón, which he hathe planted, 17 That the birdes maie make their neſtes there: the ſtorke dwelleth in the fire trees.
18 The high mountaines are for the goates: the rockes are a refuge for the conies.
19 He appointed the [l] moone for certeine ſeaſons: [k] the ſunne knoweth his going downe.
20 Thou makeſt darkenes, and it is night, wherein all the beaſtes of the foreſt crepe forthe.
21 The lions roare after their praie, and ſeke their meate [l] at God.
22 When the ſunne riſeth, they retire, and couche in their dennes.
23 [m] Then goeth man forthe to his worke, and to his labour vntil the euening.
24 O Lord, how [n] manifolde are thy workes! in wiſdome haſt thou made them all: the earth is ful of thy riches.
25 So is this ſea great & wide: for therein are things creping innumerable, bothe ſmale beaſtes and great.
26 There go [o] ſhippes, yea, that [o] Liuiathán, whome thou haſt made to plaie therein.
27 [p] All theſe waite vpon thee, that thou maieſt giue them fode in due ſeaſon.
28 Thou giueſt it to them, & thei gather it: thou openeſt thine hand, & thei are filled with good things.
29 But if thou [p] hide thy face, thei are troubled: if thou take awaie their breath, they dye and returne to their duſt.
30 Againe if thou [q] ſend forthe thy ſpirit, thei are created, and thou renueſt the face of the earth.
31 Glorie be to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.
32 He loketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth [r] the mountaines, & thei [r] ſmoke.
33 I wil ſing vnto the Lord all my life: I wil praiſe my God, while I liue.
34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I wil reioyce in the Lord.
35 Let the ſinners be [s] conſumed out of the earth, & the wicked til there be no more: [ô] my ſoule, praiſe thou the Lord. Praiſe ye the Lord.

1 The people diſperſed Vnder Antiochus do magnifie the goodnes of God among the iuſte and repentãt: 4 Deſiring to be broght againe into the land by Gods merciful viſitation 8 And after the manifolde maruels of God wroght in their deliuerance forthe of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearſed, 47 They do pray & deſire to be gathered from amõg the heathẽ to the intent they may praiſe the Name of the God of Iſraël

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to praiſe God for his benefites paſt, ỹ thereby their mindes maie be ſtẽgthened agãſt all preſent troubles & deſpaire

1 PRaiſe a ye ỹ Lord becauſe he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his g counſel, i By ỹ greatnes of the puniſhment the hainous offence maie be cõſidered: for they that riſe againſt Gods miniſters, rebel againſt him.

14 But luſted with concupiſcẽce in the wildernes, & tempted God in the deſert.

15 Then he gaue them their deſire: but he ſent h leannes into their ſoule.

k He ſheweth ỹ all idolaters renounce God to be their glorie, when in ſtead of him they worſhip anie creature, muche more wood, ſtõne, metal or ẽxlues.

16 They enuied Moſés alſo in the tentes, & Aarón the holie one of the Lord.

d By earneſt confeſsion aſwel of their fathers ſinnes, they ſhew that they had hope that God according to his promes wolde pitie them.

e The ineſtimable goodnes of God appeareth in this, that he wolde change the ordre of nature, rather then his people ſhulde not be deliuered, although they were wicked.

35 But were mingled among the heathen, & learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
a He sheweth how mōstruo⁹ a thing idolatrie is, ẅ can winne vs to things abhorring to nature, where as Gods worde can not obteine moste smale things. 37 Yea, they offred their a sonnes, and their daughters vnto diuels, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whome they offred vnto the idols of Canáan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they steined with their owne workes, and went x a whoring with their owne inuentions.
x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholly & onely vnto God. 40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
y The Prophet sheweth ẏ neither by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except we be all together newly reformed, & ẏ his mercie ouercōuer and hide our malice. 43 Manie y a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were broght downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he sawe when they were in afflictiō, and he heard their crye.
45 And he remembred his couenāt toward them, and z repēted according to the multitude of his mercies, z Not ẏ God is chaogeable in him self, but that then he semeth tovs to repent, whē he altereth his punishment, & forgiueth vs 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them, that led them captiues.
a Gather thy Church, ẅ is dispersed, and giue vs constācie vnder the crosse, that ẅ one cōsent we may all praise thee. 47 Saue vs, ô Lord our God, and a gather vs from among the heathen, that we maie praise thine holie Name, and glorie in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israél for euer & euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVII.

b The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him to giue thankes. 9 For this merciful prouidence of God gouerning all things at his good pleasure. 20 Sending good & euil, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him 42 Therefore as the righteous therat reioyce, so shal the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

1 PRaise a the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed, as the fote or tenour of the song, ẅ was often times repeted.
2 Let them, b which haue bene redemed of the Lord, shewe how he hathe deliuered them from the hand of the oppresser, b As this was true in ẏ Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, ẏ fele not his helpe in their necessitie 3 And gathered them out of the lāds, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the c South.
c Or, from the Sea: meaning the red Sea, which is on the South parte of the land 4 When they wandered in the desert & wildernes out of the way, and founde no citie to dwell in, c He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous, out of the which God wil not deliuer vs, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be mindeful of so great a benefite. 5 c Bothe hungrie & thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distres, 7 And led thē forthe by the right way, that they might go to a citie of habitacion.
8 Let them therefore cōfesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
d Then ẏ true way to obeie God, is to followe his expresse cōmandement: also hereby all are exhorted to de scēde into thē selues, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes 9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungrie soule with goodnes.
10 They, that dwell in darkenes and in the shadowe of death, being bounde in miserie and yron, e He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is becauſe we cā be broght vnto him by none other meanes. 11 Because they d rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsel of the moste High, 12 When he humbled their heart with heauines, then they fell downe and there was no helper.
f When there semeth to mā iudgement no recouerie, but all things are broght to despaire, thē God chiefly sheweth his mightie power 13 Then they e cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distres.
14 He broght them out of darkenes, and out of the shadowe of death, and brake their bands a sunder.
15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.
g Then ẏ haue no feare of God, by his sharp rods are broght to call vpon him and so finde mercie 16 For he hathe broken ẏ f gates of brasse, and brast the barres of yron a sundre.
17 g Fooles by reason of their transgression & because of their iniquities are afflicted.
h By healing thē he declareth his good wil toward them 18 Their soule abhorreth all meat, & they are broght to deaths dore.
i Meaning their diseases, ẃ had almost broght thē to the graue & corruption 19 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, & he deliuereth them from their distres.
20 h He sendeth his worde and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their i graues.
k Praise and confession of Gods benefits are the true sacrifices of the godlie 21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, & his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men, l He sheweth by ẏ sea what care God hathe ouer man, for in that ẏ he deliuereth thē from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were, from a thousand deaths 22 And let them offer sacrifices of k praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.
m Their feare & danger is so great 23 They that go downe to the l sea in shippes, & occupie by the great waters, n When their arte & meanes faile thē, they are compelled to cōfesse that onely Gods puidēce doeth preserue them 24 They se the workes of the Lord, & his wonders in the depe.
o Though before euerie drop semed to fight one against an other, yet at his cōmandement they are as stil, as though they were frosen. 25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.
26 They mounte vp to the heauē, & descēd to the depe, so that their soule m melteth for trouble.
27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their n cunning is gone.
28 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distres.
29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are stil.
30 When they are o quieted, they are glad, & he he bringeth them vnto the hauen, where they wolde be.

31 Let thē therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindenes, and his wonderful workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the p Congregacion of the people, and praise him in the assemblie of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drienes, 34 And a fruteful land into *barrennes for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

35 Againe he q turneth the wildernes into pooles of water, & the drye land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they buyld a citie to dwell in,

37 And sowe the fields, & plant vineyardes, which bring forthe fruteful r increase.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie excedingly, and he diminisheth not their cattel.

39 sAgaine men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppression, euil and sorowe.

40 He powreth t contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of shepe.

42 The u righteous shal se it, and reioyce, and all iniquitie shal stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise that he maie obserue these things? for they shal vnderstād the louing kindenes of the Lord.

p This great benefite ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places & assemblies

q For the loue y he beareth to his Church he changeth y ordre of nature for their commoditie r Cōtinual increase & yearlie.

s As God by his prouidēce doeth exalte men, so doeth he also hūble them by afflictiōs to knowe them selues t For their wickednes and tyrānie he causeth y people & subiects to contēne them.

u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shal reioyce to se Gods iudgements against the wicked & vngodlie.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen and fiftieth & the sixtieth. The matter here conteined is, 1 That Dauid giueth him self with heart and voyce to praise the Lord. 7 And assureth him self of the promes of God concerning his kingdome ouer Israél, and his power against other nacions: 11 Who though he seme to forsake vs for a time, yet he glorie wil in the end cast downe our enemies.

¶ A song or Psalme of Dauid.

1 O God, mine heart is a prepared, so is my tongue: I wil sing & giue praise.

2 Awake viole & harpe: I wil awake early.

3 I wil praise thee, ô Lord, amōg the b people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nacions.

4 For thy mercie is great aboue the heauēs, and thy trueth vnto the cloudes.

5 c Exalt thy self, ô God, aboue the heauēs, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth,

6 That thy beloued maie be deliuered: d helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hathe spoken in his e holines: therefore I wil reioyce, I shal diuide Shechém and measure the valley of Succóth.

8 Gileád shalbe mine, and Manasséh shalbe mine: Ephráim also shalbe the strength of mine head: Iuda is my Lawegiuer.

9 *Móab shalbe my washpot: ouer Edóm wil I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina wil I triumph. Psal 60.8.

10 Who wil leade me into the strong citie? who wil bring me vnto Edóm?

11 f Wilt not thou, ô God, which hadest forsaken vs, & didest not go forthe, ô God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shal do valiantly: for he shal tread downe our enemies.

a Let all the worlde se thy iudgements, in that that thou art God ouer all, & so cōfesse that thou art glorious

b Whē God by his benefites maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admonisheth vs to be earnest in praier to desire him to continue and finish his graces

c As he hathe spoken to Samuél concerning me, so wil he shewe him self constant, and holie in his promes, so that these nacions following shalbe subiect vnto me.

d He prophecieth of y calling of y Gentiles: for except thei were called, they colde not heare the goodnes of God

e This earnest affection declareth that he is fre frō hypocrisie, and y sluggishnes staieth hī not

*Or, my glorie, because it chiefly seeketh forthe the glorie of God

f From y sixte verse of this psalme vnto y last read y exposicion in the threscore psalme, and fifte verse.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falsely accused by flatterers vnto Saúl, praieth God to helpe him and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder thē he speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies maie knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doeth he promise to giue praises vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

1 HOlde not thy tongue, ô God of my a praise.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth ful of deceit are opened vpon me: thei haue spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 Thei compassed me about also with wordes of hatred, and fought against me without a cause.

4 For my friendship thei were mine aduersaries, b but I gaue my self to praier.

5 And they haue rewarded me euil for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 c Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let y aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When he shalbe iudged, let him be condemned, and let his d praier be turned into sinne.

8 Let his daies be fewe, and let another take his e charge.

9 Let his children be fatherles, & his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be vagabunds & begge and seke bread, comming out of their places destroied.

11 Let f the extorcioner catche all y the hathe, and let the strangers spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercie vnto him: nether let there be anie to shewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

13 Let his posteritie be destroied, & in the generacion following let their name be put out.

14 g Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done awaie.

a Though all y worlde condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, & that is a sufficiēt praise to me.

b To declare y I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my cōscience was at rest

c Whether it were Doeg or Saúl, or some familiar friēd y had betrated hī, he praieth not of priuate affection, but moued by Gods Spirit, y God wolde take vengeāce vpon him

d As to the elect all things turne to their profite: so to y reprobat euen those things, y are good, turne to their damnation e This was chiefly accōplished in Iudas, Act 1 20.

f He declareth that y curse of God lieth vpō the extorcioners: who thīking to enriche their children by their vnlawful gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all

g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third, and fourth generacion the wickednes of the parents in their wicked children 15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he maie cut of their memorial from the earth.

h He ſheweth ỹ God accuſtometh to plague them after a ſtrange ſort, ỹ ſhewe them ſelues cruel toward other.

16 Becauſe h he remembred not to ſhewe mercie, but perſecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the ſorowful hearted to ſlaye him.

i Thus mueth the Lord to enerie miſ the thing, wherin he deliteth, ỹ the reprobate can not accuſe God of wrõg, when thei are giuen vp to their luſts and reprobat mindes.

17 As he loued curſing, i ſo ſhal it come vnto him, & as he loued not bleſsing, ſo ſhal it be farre from him.

18 As he clothed him ſelf with curſing like a raiment, ſo ſhal it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith he ſhalbe alwaie girded.

k For being deſtitute of mans helpe, he fully truſted in the Lord, that he wolde deliuer him.

20 Let this be the rewarde of mine aduerſarie k from the Lord, and of them, that ſpeake euil againſt my ſoule.

l As ỹ art ꝛa med merciful, gracious and long ſuffring, ſo ſhewe thy ſelf in effect in Meaning: ỹ he hathe no ſtaie nor aſſurance in this worlde

21 But thou, ô Lord my God, deale with me according vnto thy l Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good) m For hunger, that came of ſorow, he was leane, and his natural moyſture failed hi.

22 Becauſe I am poore and nedie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I departe like ỹ ſhadowe that declineth, and am ſhaken of as the m graſhopper.

n The more grieuous ỹ Satan aſſailed him, the more earneſt & inſtant was he in praier.

24 My knees are weake through faſting, & my fleſh n hathe loſt all fatnes.

25 I became alſo a rebuke vnto them: they that loked vpon me, ſhaked their heads.

o The more grieuous ỹ Satan aſſailed him, the more earneſt & inſtant was he in praier.

26 Helpe me, ô Lord my God: o ſaue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they ſhal knowe, that this is thine hand, & that thou, Lord, haſt done it.

p They ſhal gaine nothing by curſing me.

28 Though they p curſe, yet thou wilt bleſſe: they ſhal ariſe and be confounded, but thy ſeruant ſhal reioyce.

q Not onely in cõfeſsing it ſecretly in my ſelf, but alſo in declaring it before all the cõgregacion.

29 Let mine aduerſaries be clothed with ſhame, and let them couer thẽ ſelues with their confuſion, as with a cloke.

r Hereby he ſheweth ỹ he had not to do wt them, that were of litle power, but wt the iudges and princes of the worlde.

30 I wil giue thãkes vnto the Lord greatly with my q mouthe, and praiſe him amõg the multitude.

31 For he wil ſtand at the right hand of the poore, to ſaue him from them that wolde r condemne his ſoule.

PSAL. CX.

Dauid prophecieth of the power and euerlaſting kingdome giuẽ to Chriſt. 4 And of his Prieſthode, which ſhulde put an end to the Prieſthode of Leui.

a Deſcribe Chriſt in the two & twentie of Mare gueth the interpretacion hereof, & ſheweth ỹ this cãnot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to him ſelf

1 THe a Lord ſaid vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntil I make thine enemies thy foteſtole.

2 The Lord ſhal ſend the rod of thy power out of b Zión: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies.

3 Thy people ſhal come willingly at the time of aſſembling: c thine armie in holie beautie: the youth of thy wombe ſhalbe as the morning dewe.

b He ſhalbe mighty, & ſhal ſtretch through all the worlde: & this power chiefly ſtandeth in the preaching of his worde.

c By thy worde thy people ſhalbe aſſembled into thy Church, whoſe increaſe ſhalbe ſo abundant & wonderful, as the drops of the dewe.

4 The Lord ſware and wil not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for euer after the ordre of d Melchi-zédek.

d As Melchizédek ỹ figure of Chriſt was bothe King & Prieſt: ſo the effect can not be accompliſhed in anie King, ſaue onely in Chriſt. 2 Chro. 26. 21.

5 The Lord, that is at thy right hand, ſhal wounde Kings in the daie of his wrath.

e No power ſhalbe able to reſiſt him

6 He ſhalbe Iudge among the heathen: he ſhal fil all with dead bodies, and ſmite the e head ouer great countreis.

f Vnder this ſimilitude of a captaine, that is ſo gredie to deſtroie his enemies, that he wil not ſtarue nor drinke by the waie, he ſheweth how God wil deſtroy his enemies.

7 He ſhal f drinke of the brooke in ỹ waie: therefore ſhal he lift vp his head.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thankes to the Lord for his merciful workes toward his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wiſdome and right knowledge conſiſteth.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

a The Prophet declareth that he wil praiſe God bothe priuately & openly, & that from ỹ heart, as he ỹ conſecrateth hi ſelfe wholly & onely vnto God

1 I Wil a praiſe the Lord with my whole heart in the aſſemblie and Congregacion of the iuſt.

b He ſheweth ỹ Gods workes are a ſufficient cauſe, wherefore we ſhulde praiſe him, but chiefly his benefites toward his Church.

2 The workes of the Lord are b great, and ought to be ſoght out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautiful and glorious, and his righteouſnes endureth for euer.

c God hathe giuen to his people all that was neceſſarie for thẽ, & wil do ſtil euẽ for his couenants ſake, and in this ſenſe the Ebrewe worde is takẽ, Prou. 30, 8 & 31, 15

4 He hathe made his wonderful workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is merciful and ful of compaſsion.

5 He hathe giuen c a portion vnto thẽ that feare him: he wil euer be mindeful of his couenant.

*Or, praie, & ſo it

6 He hathe ſhewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

d As God promiſed to take the care of his Church: ſo in effect doeth he declare himſelfe iuſt and true in ỹ gouernement of the ſame

7 The d workes of his hands are trueth and iudgement: all his ſtatutes are true.

8 Thei are ſtabliſhed for euer & euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.

9 He ſent redemption vnto his people: he hathe commanded his couenant for euer: holie and feareful is his Name.

e Thei onely are wiſe, that feare God: and none haue vnderſtanding, but thoſe that obey his worde.

10 e The beginning of wiſdome is the feare of the Lord: all they that obſerue f them, haue good vnderſtanding: his praiſe endureth for euer.

f To wit, his commandements, as vers. 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 He praiſeth the felicitie of thẽ that feare God, 10 And condemneth the curſed ſtate of the contemners of God.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

a He meaneth thus reuerent feare, which is in ỹ children of God, whereby they ſeruẽ them to delite onely in ỹ worde of God

1 BLeſſed is the man, that a feareth the Lord, & deliteth greatly in his commandements.

b The godlie ſhal haue abõdance & contentement, becauſe their hearte is ſatisfied in God

2 His ſede ſhalbe mightie vpon earth: the generacio of the righteous ſhalbe bleſſed.

3 b Riches and treaſures ſhalbe in his houſe, and his righteouſnes endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the c righteous ariſeth light in darkenes: he is merciful and ful of compaſsiõ and righteous.

c The faithful in all their aduerſities knowe that all ſhal go well with them: for God wilbe merciful and iuſte.

d He sheweth what is ỹ frute of mercie: to lend frely & not for game, & so to measure his doings, that he maie be able to helpe where nede requireth, and not to bestowe all on hi self e The godlie pinche not nigardely, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of ỹ poore requireth, & as his power is able f His power & prosperous estate

5 A good man is merciful and d lendeth, and wil measure his affaires by iudgement.
6 Surely he shal neuer be moued: but the righteous shalbe had in euerlasting remembrance.
7 He wil not be afraid of euil tidings: for his heart is fixed, & beleueth in the Lord.
8 His heart is stablished: therefore he wil not feare, vntil he se his desire vpon his enemies.
9 He hathe e distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnes remaineth for euer: his f horne shalbe exalted with glorie.
10 The wicked shal se it and be angrie: he shal gnash with his teeth, and g consume awaie: the desire of the wicked shal perish.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortacion to praise the Lord for his prouidence. 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

g The blessings of God vpon his children shal cause the wicked to dye for enuie a By this ofte repeticion he stirreth vp our colde dulnes to praise God, seing his workes are so wõderful, & that we are created for the same cause

b If Gods glorie shine through all ỹ world, therefore of all ought to be praised, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whome chiefly it shineth, if they shulde not carnestly extoll his Name?

c By preferrig the poore to high honour, and giuing the barre childe, he sheweth ỹ God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles

1 PRaise, ô ye seruãts of the Lord, a praise the Name of the Lord.
2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord from hence forthe and for euer.
3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.
4 The Lord is high aboue all b nacions, & his glorie aboue the heauens.
5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hathe his dwelling on high!
6 Who abaseth him self to beholde things in the heauen and in the earth.
7 He raiseth the nedie out of the dust, & lifteth vp the c poore out of the dung, 8 That he maie set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.
9 He maketh the baren woman to dwell with a familie, & a ioyful mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXIIII.

1 How the Israelites were deliuered forthe of Egypt, & of the wonderful miracles, that God wroght at that time Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature faileth, preserueth his miraculously a That is, frõ thẽ that were of a strãge language

Exod. 14. 21

b The whole people were witnesses of his holie maiestie, in adopting them, and of his mightie power in deliuering them

c Seing that theese deade creatures felt Gods power, & after a sorte sawe it, muche more his people ought to consider it & glorifie him for the same

1 WHen a Israél went out of Egypt, & the house of Iaakób from the a barbarous people,
2 Iudáh was b his sanctificacion, & Israél his dominion.
3 The Sea sawe it and fled: Iordén was turned backe.
4 The c moũtaines leaped like rams, & the hilles as lambs.
5 What ailed thee, ô Sea, that thou fleddest? ô Iordén, why wast thou turned backe?
6 Ye mountaines, why leaped ye like rams, and ye hilles as lambs?
7 The d earth trembled at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Iaakób.
8 Which e turneth the rocke into waterpooles, & the flint into a fountaine of water.

d Oght them his people to be insensible, when thei se his power & maiestie?

e That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in moste abũdance. Exod. 17, 6.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A praier of the faithful oppressed by idolatrous tyrãts against whome they desire that God wolde succour thẽ, 9 Trusting moste constantly that God wil preserue thẽ in this their nede, seing that he hathe adopted and receiued them to his fauour, 18 Promising finally that thei wil not be vnmindeful of so great a benefite, if it wolde please God to heare their praier, & deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his Name, Isa 48, 11, therfore they grounde their praier vpon this promes

b Whẽ ỹ wicked se ỹ God accomplisheth not his pines, as thei imagine, thei thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen ỹ impedimẽts to serue his wil d Seing that nether ỹ matter, nor ỹ forme can commẽd ỹ idoles, it followeth ỹ there is nothig, why thei shulde be estemed e He sheweth what great vanitie it is to aske helpe of thẽ, which not onely haue no helpe in them, but lacke sense and reason.

f As muche with out sense, as blockes & stones

g For thei were appointed by God as instructers & teachers of faith and religion for others to followe

h That is, he wil continue his graces toward his people i And therfore doeth stil gouerne & cõtinue all thigs therein

k And thei declare ynough his sufficiẽcie, so ỹ the worlde serueth hi not

1 NOt a vnto vs, ô Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie and for thy trueths sake.
2 Wherefore shal the heathen saie, b Where is now their God?
3 But our God is in heauen: he doeth what soeuer he c wil.
4 Their idoles are d siluer and golde, euen the worke of mens hands.
5 Thei haue a mouth and speake not: thei haue eyes and se not.
6 Thei haue eares and heare not: thei haue noses and smell not.
7 Thei haue e hands and touche not: thei haue fete and walke not: nether make thei a sounde with their throte.
8 Thei that make them are f like vnto thẽ: so are all that trust in them.
9 O Israél, trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
10 g O house of Aarón, trust ye in ỹ Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.
11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield.
12 The Lord hathe bene mindeful of vs: he wil blesse, he h wil blesse the house of Israél, he wil blesse the house of Aarón.
13 He wil blesse them that feare the Lord, bothe smal and great.
14 The Lord wil encrease his graces toward you, euẽ toward you and toward your children.
15 Ye are blessed of the Lord, which i made the heauen and the earth.

18 But we wil praise the Lord from hence forthe and for euer. Praise ye the Lord.

thing but to shewe his fatherlie care toward men

l Thogh the dead set forthe Gods glorie, yet he meaneth here, that thei praise hi not in his Church and Congregacion.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 Dauid being in great dænger of Saúl in the deſert of Maón, perceiuing the great and meſtimable loue of God toward him, magnifieth ſuche great mercies. 13 And proteſteth that he wil be thákeful for the ſame.

1 I [a] Loue ỹ Lord, becauſe he hathe heard my voice and my praiers.
2 For he hathe inclined his eare vnto me, when I did call vpon him [b] in my daies.
3 When the ſnares of death compaſſed me, and the griefs of the graue caught me: whē I founde trouble and ſorowe,
4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, ſaying, I beſeche thee, ô Lord, deliuer my ſoule.
5 The Lord is [c] merciful & righteous, and our God is ful of compaſsion.
6 The Lord preſerueth the ſimple: I was in miſerie and he ſaued me.
7 Returne vnto thy reſt, ô [d] my ſoule: for ỹ Lord hathe bene beneficial vnto thee,
8 Becauſe thou haſt deliuered my ſoule from death, mine eies from teares, & my fete from falling.
9 I ſhal [e] walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.
10 [f] I beleued, therefore did I ſpeake; for I was ſore troubled.
11 I ſaid in my [g] feare, All men are lyers.
12 What ſhal I rendre vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me?
13 I wil [h] take the cup of ſaluacion, and call vpon the Name of the Lord.
14 I wil paie my vowes vnto ỹ Lord, euen now in the preſence of all his people.
15 Precious in the ſight of the Lord is the [i] death of his Saints.
16 Beholde, Lord: for I am thy ſeruant, I am thy ſeruant, & the ſonne of thine hand maied: thou haſt broken my bonds.
17 I wil offer to thee a ſacrifice of praiſe, & wil call vpon the Name of the Lord.
18 I wil paie my [k] vowes vnto the Lord, euen now in the preſence of all his people, 19 In the courtes of the Lords houſe, euen in the middes of thee, ô Ieruſalém. Praiſe ye the Lord.

a He granteth ỹ no pleaſure is ſo great, as to fele Gods helpe in our neceſsitie, nether that anie thīg more ſtirreth vp our loue toward him
b That is, in cōuenīēt time to ſeke helpe. ỹ was whē he was in diſtres
c He ſheweth forthe ỹ frute of his loue in calling vpon him, cōfeſsing him to be iuſt & merciful, & to helpe them ỹ are deſtitute of aide & cōſel d Which was vnquieted before, now reſt vpō the Lord: for he hathe bene beneficial towards thee
e The Lord wil preſerue me, & ſaue my life f I felt all the ſe things, and therefore was moued by faith to cōfeſſe thē, 2. Cor 4, 13
g In my great diſtreſſe I thoght God wolde not regarde man, ỹ is but lies and vaoitie, yet I ouercame this temtacion, and felt ỹ cōtrarie h In the Law thei vſed to make a bāket, whē thei gaue ſolēne thākes to God, and to take the cup & drinke in ſigne of thankeſgiuing
i I perceiue ỹ God hathe a care ouer his, ſo that he bothe diſpoſeth their death and taketh an account.
k I wil thanke him for his benefites: for that is a iuſte puniſhement, to confeſſe that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

2. He exhorteth the Gentiles to praiſe God, becauſe he hathe accompliſhed his counſel to them as to the Iewes, the promes of life euerlaſting by Ieſus Chriſt.

Rom. 15, 11. 1 All * nacions, praiſe ye the Lord: all ye people, praiſe him.
2 For his louing kindenes is great toward vs, and the [a] trueth of the Lord endureth for euer. Praiſe ye the Lord.

a That is, the moſte certeine & cōtinual teſtimonies of his Fatherlie grace.

PSAL. CXVIII.

3. Dauid reiected of Saúl and of the people, at the time appointed obteined the kingdome. 4 For the which he biddeth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankeful. And vnder his perſone in all this was Chriſt liuely ſet forthe, who ſhulde be of his people reiected.

1 PRaiſe [a] ye ỹ Lord, becauſe he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
2 Let Iſraél now ſaie, That his mercie endureth for euer.
3 Let the houſe of Aarón now ſaie, That his mercie endureth for euer.
4 Let them, that feare the Lord, now ſaie, That his mercie endureth for euer.
5 I called vpon the Lord in [b] trouble, and the Lord heard me, and ſet me at large.
6 The Lord is with me: therefore I wil not feare what [c] man can do vnto me.
7 The Lord is with me among them that helpe me: therefore ſhal I ſe my deſire vpon mine enemies.
8 It is better to truſt in the Lord, then to haue confidence [d] in man.
9 It is better to truſt in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.
10 All nacions haue compaſſed me: but in the Name of the Lord I ſhal deſtroie them.
11 Thei haue compaſſed me, yea, they haue compaſſed me: but in the Name of the Lord I ſhal deſtroie them.
12 Thei came about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fyre of thoines: for in the Name of the Lord I ſhal deſtroie them.
13 [e] Thou haſt thruſt ſore at me, that I might fall. but the Lord hathe holpen me.
14 The Lord is my ſtrength and [f] ſong: for he hathe bene my deliuerance.
15 The [g] voice of ioye and deliuerance ſhalbe in the tabernacles of the righteous, ſaying, The right hand of the Lord hathe done valiantly.
16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: [h] the right hand of the Lord hathe done valiantly.
17 I ſhal not dye, but liue, and declare the workes of the Lord.
18 The Lord hathe chaſtened me ſore, but he hathe not deliuered me to death.
19 Open ye vnto me the [i] gates of righteouſnes, that I maie go in to thē, & praiſe the Lord.
20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous ſhal entre into it.
21 I wil praiſe thee: for thou haſt heard me, and haſt bene my deliuerance.
22 *The ſtone, which the buylders [k] refuſed, is the head of the corner.
23 This was the Lords doing, & it is marueious in our eyes.
24 This is the [l] daie, which the Lord hathe made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.
25 [m] O Lord, I praie thee, ſaue now: ô Lord, I praie thee now giue proſperitie.

a Becauſe God by creating Dauid King, ſhewed his mercie toward his afflicted Church, ỹ Prophet doeth not onely hī ſelf thanke God, but exhorteth all ỹ people to do the ſame b We are here taught, that ỹ more ỹ troubles oppreſſe vs, the more ogīt we to be inſtāt I praier.
c Beig exalted to this eſtate, he aſſured him ſelfe to haue mā euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God wolde maineine him becauſe he had placed him d He ſheweth ỹ he had truſted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue bene preferred to ỹ kīgdome, & therefore he put his truſt in God & obteined.
e He noteth Saúl his chief enemie f In ỹ he was deliuered, it cam not of him ſelfe, nor of ỹ power of man, but onely of Gods fauour: therefore he wil praiſe hī.
g He promiſeth bothe to rēdre graces him ſelf, & to taūſe others to do ỹ ſame, becauſe ỹ in his perſone the Church was reſtored.
h So that all, ỹ are bothe farre & nere, maie ſe his mighte power l Whereí God hathe ſhewed chiefly his mercie by appointing me King, and deliuering his Church.

m The people praie for the proſperitie of Dauids kingdome, who was the figure of Chriſt.

26 Bleſſed be he, that cometh in the Name of the Lord: [n] we haue bleſſed you out of the houſe of the Lord.

27 The Lord [o] is mightie, and hathe giuen vs light: binde the ſacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I wil praiſe thee, euen my God: therefore I wil exalt thee.

29 Praiſe ye the Lord, becauſe he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.

n Which are the prieſts and haue the charge thereof, as Nomb 6,23

o Becauſe he hathe reſtored vs from darkenes to light, we wil offer ſacrifices and praiſes vnto him

PSAL. CXIX.

The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holie worde. 123 Alſo he ſheweth wherein the true ſeruice of God ſtandeth. that is, whē we ſerue him according to his worde, & not after our one fantaſies.

ALEPH.

1 BLeſſed are [a] thoſe that are vpright in their waie, & walke in the Lawe of ỹ Lord.

2 Bleſſed are thei that kepe his teſtimonies, & ſeke him with their whole heart.

3 Surely they woike [b] none iniquitie, that walke in his waies.

4 Thou haſt commanded tō kepe thy precepts diligently.

5 [c] Oh that my waies were directed to kepe thy ſtatutes.

6 Then ſhulde I not be confounded, when I haue reſpect vnto all thy commandements.

7 I wil praiſe thee with an vpright [d] heart, when I ſhal learne the [e] iudgements of thy righteouſnes.

8 I wil kepe thy ſtatutes: forſake me not [f] ouerlong.

a Here thei are not called bleſſed, which thinke themſelues wiſe in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themſelues a certeine holines, but thei whoſe cōuerſation is without hypocriſie b For thei are ruled by Gods Spirit and imbrace no doctrine but his.

c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfectiō, deſiring God to reforme it that his life maie be conformable to Gods worde d For true religion ſtādeth in ſeruing God without hypocriſie.

e That is, thy precepts, ỹ cōteine perfite righteouſnes.

f He refuſeth not to be tryed by tentatiōns, but he feareth to faint, if God ſuccor not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

9 Wherewith ſhal a [a] yong mā iedreſſe his waie? in taking hede thereto according to thy worde.

10 With my whole heart haue I ſoght thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.

11 I haue [b] hid thy promes in mine heart, that I might not ſinne againſt thee.

12 Bleſſed art thou, ô Lord: teache me thy ſtatutes.

13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great [c] delite in the waie of thy teſtimonies, as in all riches.

15 I wil meditate in thy precepts, and conſider thy waies.

16 I wil delite in thy ſtatutes, & I wil not forget thy worde.

a Becauſe youth is moſt giuen to licentiouſnes, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods worde

b If Gods worde be grauen in ỹ heartes, we ſhalbe more able to reſiſt the aſſaltes of Satan: and therefore the Prophet deſireth God to inſtruct him dately more & more therein

c The Prophet doeth not boaſt of his vertues, but ſetteth forthe an exāple for others to followe Gods worde & leaue worldelie vanities

GIMEL.

17 Be benificial vnto thy ſeruāt, that I maie [a] liue and kepe thy worde.

18 Open mine eies, that I maie ſe the wonders of thy Law.

19 I am a [b] ſtranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

20 Mine heart breaketh for ỹ deſire to thy iudgements alwaie.

21 Thou [c] haſt deſtroied the proude: curſed are they that do erre from thy commandements.

22 Remoue from me ſhame and contempt: for I haue kept thy teſtimonies.

23 [d] Princes alſo did ſit, & ſpeake againſt me: but thy ſeruant did meditate in thy ſtatutes.

24 Alſo thy teſtimonies are my delite, & my counſelers.

a He ſheweth that we oght not to deſire to liue but to ſerue God, and that we can nor ſerue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes

b Seing mans life in this worlde is but a paſſage, what ſhulde become of him, if thy worde were not his guide?

DALETH.

25 My ſoule cleaueth to the [a] duſt: quicken me according to thy worde.

26 I haue [b] declared my waies, and thou heardeſt me: teache me thy ſtatutes.

27 Make me to vnderſtand the waie of thy precepts, and I wil meditate in thy wōderous workes.

28 My ſoule melteth for heauines: raiſe me vp according vnto thy [c] worde.

29 Take from me the [d] waie of lying, and grant me graciouſly thy Law.

30 I haue choſen the waie of trueth, & thy iudgements haue I laied before me.

31 I haue cleaued to thy teſtimonies, ô Lord: confounde me not.

32 I wil runne the waie of thy commandements, when ỹ [e] ſhalt enlarge mine heart.

a In all ages ỹ haſt plagued all ſuche, ỹ maliciouſly & contempteouſly depart from thy trueth

b When the powers of the worlde gaue falſe ſentence againſt me, thy worde was a guide & counſeler to teache me what to do, & to comfort me.

c That is, it is almoſt broght to the graue, & without thy worde I can not liue

b I haue confeſſed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee

c If God did not maintene vs by his worde, ô life wolde drop awaie like water.

d Inſtruct me in thy worde, whereby my minde maie be purged frō vanitie & taught to obey thy wil

e By this he ſheweth ỹ we can neither chooſe good, cleane to Gods word, nor runne forwarde in his waie, except he make ô hearts large to receiue his grace, & willig to obey.

HE.

33 Teache [a] me, ô Lord, the waie of thy ſtatutes, and I wil kepe it vnto the end.

34 Giue me vnderſtanding, and I wil kepe thy Law: yea, I wil kepe it with my whole [b] heart.

35 Direct me in the path of thy commādements: for therein is my delite.

36 Incline mine heart vnto thy teſtimonies, and not to [c] couetouſnes.

37 Turne awaie mine [d] eyes from regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy waie.

38 Stabliſh thy promes to thy ſeruant, becauſe he feareth thee.

39 Take awaie [e] my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.

40 Beholde, I deſire thy commandements: [f] quicken me in thy righteouſnes, a He ſheweth that he cā not followe on to ỹ end, except God teache him oft times and lead him forwarde

b Not onely in outward cōuerſation, but alſo w̄ inward affection

c Hereby meaning all other vices, becauſe ỹ couetouſnes is the rote of all euil

d Meaning, all his ſenſes

e Let me not fall to thy diſhonour, but let mine heart ſtil delite in thy gracious worde

f Giue me ſtrength to cōtinue in thy worde euen to the end

VAV.

41 And let thy [a] louing kindenes come vnto me, ô Lord, & thy ſaluacion according to thy promes.

42 So ſhal I [b] make anſwer vnto my blaſphemers: for I truſt in thy worde.

43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I wait for thy iudgements.

44 So ſhal I alwaie kepe thy Lawe for euer and euer.

45 And I wil [c] walke at libertie: for I ſeke a He ſheweth ỹ Gods mercie and loue is the firſt cauſe of our ſalnacion.

b By truſting in Gods worde he aſſureth hi ſelf to be able to confute the ſclanders of his aduerſaries c Thei, that ſim ply walke after Gods worde, haue no lets to intangle them, where as thei that do contrary, are euer in nets and ſnares.

thy precepts.

46 I wil ſpeake alſo of thy teſtimonies before [d] Kings, and wil not be aſhamed.

47 And my delite ſhalbe in thy commandements, which I haue loued.

48 Mine hands alſo wil I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I wil meditate in thy ſtatutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remẽbre [a] the promes made to thy ſeruãt, wherein thou haſt cauſed me to truſt.

50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promes hathe quickened me.

51 The [b] proude haue had me excedingly in deriſion: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.

52 I remembred thy [c] iudgements of olde, ô Lord, and haue bene comforted.

53 [d] Feare is come vpon me for the wicked, that forſake thy Law.

54 Thy ſtatutes haue bene my ſongs in the houſe of my [e] pilgrimage.

55 I haue remembred thy Name, ô Lord, in the [f] night, and haue kept thy Law.

56 [g] This I had becauſe I kept thy precepts.

CHETH.

57 O Lord, that art my [a] porcion, I haue determined to kepe thy wordes.

58 I made my ſupplication in thy preſence with my whole heart: be merciful vnto me according to thy promes.

59 I haue conſidered my [b] waies, & turned my fete into thy teſtimonies.

60 I made haſte and delayed not to kepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue [c] robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

62 At midnight wil I riſe to giue thankes vnto thee, becauſe of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am [d] companion of all them that feare thee, and kepe thy precepts.

64 The earth, ô Lord, is ful of thy mercie: [e] teache me thy ſtatutes.

TETH.

65 O Lord, thou haſt delt [a] graciouſly with thy ſeruant according vnto thy worde.

66 Teache me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleued thy commandements.

67 Before I was [b] afflicted, I went aſtraie: but now I kepe thy worde.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teache me thy ſtatutes.

69 The proude haue imagined a lie againſt me: but I wil kepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

70 [c] Their heart is fat as greaſe: but my delite is in thy Law.

71 It is [d] good for me that I haue bene afflicted, that I maie learne thy ſtatutes.

72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thouſands of golde and ſiluer.

IOD.

73 Thine hands haue [a] made me and facioned me: giue me vnderſtanding therefore, that I maie learne thy commandements.

74 So thei ỹ [b] feare thee, ſeing me ſhal reioyce, becauſe I haue truſted in thy worde.

75 I knowe, ô Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou haſt afflicted me "iuſtly.

76 I praie thee that thy mercie maie comfort me according to thy promes vnto thy ſeruant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I maie liue: for thy Law is my delite.

78 Let the proude be aſhamed: for thei haue dealt wickedly and falſely with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.

79 Let ſuche as feare thee [d] turne vnto me, and thei that [e] knowe thy teſtimonies.

80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy ſtatutes, that I be not aſhamed.

CAPH.

81 My ſoule [a] fainteth for thy ſaluacion: yet I waite for thy worde.

82 Mine eyes faile for thy promes, ſaying, When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am like a [b] bottel in the ſmoke: yet do I not forget thy ſtatutes.

84 How manie are the [c] daies of thy ſeruãt? when wilt thou execute iudgement on thẽ that perſecute me?

85 The proude haue [d] digged pittes for me, which is not after thy Law.

86 All thy commandements are true: they perſecute me falſely: [e] helpe me.

87 They had almoſt conſumed [f] me vpon the earth: but I forſoke not thy precepts.

88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindenes. ſo ſhal I kepe the teſtimonie of thy mouth.

LAMED.

89 O Lord, thy worde endureth for euer in [a] heauen.

90 Thy trueth is from generacion to generacion: thou haſt laied the fundacion of the earth, and it abideth.

91 Thei [b] continue euen to this daie by thine ordinances: for all are thy ſeruants.

92 Except thy Law had bene my delite, I ſhulde now haue periſhed in mine affliction.

93 I wil neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou haſt quickened me.

94 I am [c] thine, ſaue me: for I haue ſoght thy precepts.

95 The wicked haue waited for me to deſtroye me: but I wil conſider thy teſtimonies.

96 I [d] haue ſene an end of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceding large.

f Let the effect of thy grace bothe appeare in the Prieſts & in the people.

10 For thy [g] ſeruant Dauids ſake refuſe not the face of thine Anointed.

g As thou firſt madeſt promes to Dauid, ſo continue it to his poſteritie, that whatſoeuer thei ſhal aſke for their people, it maie be granted.

11 The Lord hathe ſworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he wil not ſhrinke from it, saiyng, Of the frute of thy bodie wil I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes kepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shal teache them, their sonnes also shal sit vpon thy throne for [h] euer.

13 For the Lord hathe chosē Zión, & loued to dwell in it, saiyng, 14 This is my rest for euer: here wil I dwell, for I haue a [i] delite therein.

15 I wil surely blesse her vitailes, & wil satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And wil clothe her Priests with [k] saluacion, and her Saintes shal showte for ioye.

17 There wil I make the [l] horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted.

18 His enemies wil I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shal florish.

h Because this can not be accōplished but in Christ, it followeth that ỹ promes was spiritual

i Meaning, for his owne sake, & not for the plentifulnes of the place: for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before, ỹ it was barrē k That is, with my protection, whereby thei shalbe safe.

l Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This psalme conteineth the commendacion of brotherlie amitie among the seruants of God

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

1 BEholde, how good and how comelie a thīg it is, brethren to dwell euen [a] together.

2 It is like to the precious [b] ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which wēt downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dewe of [c] Hermón, which falleth vpon the moūtaines of Zión: for [d] there the Lord appointed the blessing & life for euer.

a Because the greatest parte were against Dauid, though some fauoured him, yet when he was establi shed King, at length thei ioyned all togethet like brethren: & therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherlie loue

b The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come frō Christ the head vnto his Church

c By Hermón & Zión he meaneth the plentiful countrey about Ierusalém

d Where there is suche concorde

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to praise the Lord.

¶ A song of degrees.

1 BEholde, praise ye the Lord, all ye [a] seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the House of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your [b] hands to the Sanctuarie, & praise the Lord.

3 The Lord, that hathe [c] made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zión.

a Ye ỹ are Leuites & chiefly appointed to this office

b For their charge was not onely to kepe ỹ Temple, but to praie there & to giue God thankes

c And therefore hathe all power, blesse thee with his Fatherlie loue declared in Zión Thus the Leuites vsed to praise the Lord, and blesse the people

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithful, of what estate so euer thei be, to praise God for his maruelous workes, 12 And specially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hathe declared his maiestie. 15 To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

1 PRaise the Name of the Lord: ye seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Ye ỹ stand in the [a] House of the Lord, & in the [b] courtes of the House of our God,

3 Praise ye ỹ Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comelie thing.

a Ye Leuites ỹ are in his Sanctuarie

b Meaning the people: for the people and Leuites had their courtes, which were places of the Temple separate.

4 For the Lord hathe [c] chosen Iaakób to him selfe, and Israél for his chief treasure.

5 For I knowe that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that [d] did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, & in all the depths.

7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the * lightnings with the raine: he draweth forthe the winde out of his treasures.

8 *He smote the first borne of Egypt bothe of man and beast.

9 He hathe sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, ô Egypt, vpon Pharaóh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 *He smote manie nacions, & slewe mighty Kings:

11 As Sihón King of the Amorites, and Og King of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canáan:

12 And [e] gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israél his people.

13 Thy Name, ô Lord, endureth for euer: ô Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord wil [f] iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

15 The [g] idoles of the heathen are siluer & golde, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 Thei haue a mouth, & speake not: thei haue eyes and se not.

17 Thei haue eares and heare not, nether is there anie breath in their mouth.

18 Thei that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Praise the Lord, ye house of Israél: praise the Lord, ye house of Aarón.

20 Praise the Lord, ye house of Leuí: ye that feare the Lord, praise the Lord.

21 Praised be the Lord out of Zión, which dwelleth in Ierusalém. Praise ye the Lord.

c That is, hath frely loued the posteritie of Abrahám.

d He ioyneth Gods power w his wil, to the intent that we shulde not separat them: & hereby he wil leth Gods people to depend on his power, & he cōfirmeth by examples. Ier. 10. 12. exod 12. 29.

Nom 21. 1. & 24. 33.

e He sheweth what frute the godlie cōceme of Gods power. whereby thei se how he destroyeth his enemies, & deliuereth his people.

f That is, gouerne & defende his people.

g By shewing what punishment God appointeth for ỹ heathen idolaters, he warneth his people to beware the like offence, seing ỹ idoles haue nether power nor life, & ỹ their deliuerance came not by idoles, but by ỹ might tie power of God read psal 115 vers. 4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A moste earnest exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things which stādeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his mere liberalitie.

1 PRaise ye ỹ Lord, because he is good: for his [a] mercie endureth for euer.

2 He is my goodnes & my fortres, my tower & " my deliuerer, my ſhield, and in him I truſt, which ſubdueth my b people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardeſt him! or the ſonne of man that thou thinkeſt vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his daies are like a ſhadowe, that vaniſheth.

5 d Bowe thine heauens, ô Lord, and come downe: touche the mountaines & thei ſhal ſmoke.

6 e Caſt forthe the lightening and ſcatter them: ſhote out thine arrowes, and conſume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great f waters, and from the hand of ſtrangers, 8 Whoſe mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand g of falſehode.

9 I wil ſing a h newe ſong vnto thee, ô God, & ſing vnto thee vpon a viole, & an inſtrument of ten ſtrings.

b Thogh all meanes failed him, yet he knewe ỹ God wolde neuer forſake him

c For he was on all ſides beſet w his enemies, as thogh he had bene in a moſt ſtrait priſon

d Ether to reioyce at my wonderful deliuerance, or to ſet a crowne vpon mine head.

a That is, as ỹ haſt promiſed to be faithful i in thy promes to all that truſt in thee b That is, according to thy 2 fre goodnes, whereby thou defẽdeſt thine.

c He knewe ỹ 3 his afflictions were Gods meſſingers to call him to repentance for his ſinnes, thogh toward his enemies he was innocent; & ỹ In Gods ſight all men are ſinners

d He acknowledgeth that God is the onelie & true phiſicion to heale him: & that he is able to raiſe him to life, thogh he were dead long ago, & turned to aſhes

e So that onely by faith, & by the grace of Gods Spirit he was vpholden.

f To wit, thy great benefites of olde, & the manifolde examples of thy fauour toward thine

Kings, & reſcueth Dauid his [i] ſeruãt frõ the hurtful ſworde.

11 Reſcue me, and deliuer me from the hãd of ſtrangers, whoſe mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falſehode:

12 That our [k] ſonnes maye be as the plantes growing vp in their youth, & our daughters as the corner ſtones, grauen after the ſimilitude of a palace:

13 That our [l] corners may be ful, and abunding with diuers ſortes, and that our ſhepe may bring forth thouſands and tẽ thouſand in our ſtreetes:

14 That our [m] oxen may be ſtrong to labour: that there be none inuaſiõ, nor going out, nor no crying in our ſtreetes.

15 Bleſſed are the people, that be [n] ſo, yea, bleſſed are the people, whoſe God is the Lord.

i Though wicked Kings be called Gods ſeruãts, as Cyrus, Iſa 45.1, foraſmuche as he ſerueth thẽ to execute his iudgements yet Dauid becauſe of Gods gifts, and they, that rule godly, are properly ſo called, becauſe they ſerue not their owne affections, but ſet forthe Gods glorie.

k He deſireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting the procreaciõ of children and their good educatiõ among ỹ chiefeſt of Gods benefites

l That the verie corners of our houſes may be ful of ſtore for the great abundance of thy bleſsings

m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the leaſt alſo to Gods fauour n And if God giue not to all his children all theſe bleſsings, yet he recompenſeth them with better things

PSAL. CXLV.

This Pſalme was compoſed, when the kingdome of Dauid flouriſhed. 1 Wherein he deſcribeth the wonderful prouidence of God, aſwel in gouerning man, as in preſeruing all the reſt of his creatures. 17 He praiſeth God for his iuſtice & mercie. 18 But ſpecially for his louing kindenes toward thoſe that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promiſeth to praiſe him for euer.

¶ A Pſalme of Dauid of praiſe.

1 O My God and King, [a] I wil extoll thee, and wil bleſſe thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I wil bleſſe thee daily, and praiſe thy Name for euer and euer.

3 [b] Great is the Lord, & moſte worthie to be praiſed, and his greatnes is incomprehenſible.

4 Generacion ſhal praiſe thy workes vnto [c] generacion, and declare thy power.

5 I wil meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maieſtie, & thy wonderful workes,

6 And they ſhal ſpeake of the power of thy [d] feareful Actes, and I wil declare thy greatnes.

7 They ſhal breake out into the mencion of thy great goodnes, & ſhal ſing aloude of thy righteouſnes.

8 * The Lord is gracious and [e] merciful, ſlowe to angre, and of great mercie.

9 The Lord is good to all, & his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praiſe thee, ô Lord, and thy Saints bleſſe thee.

11 [f] They ſhewe the glorie of thy kingdome and ſpeake of thy power, a He ſheweth what ſacrifices are pleaſant & acceptable vnto God: euen praiſe & thãkeſgiuing, and ſeing that God ſtil cõtinueth his benefites towards vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in praiſing him for the ſame

b Herby he declareth ỹ all power is ſubiect vnto God, & ỹ no worldlie promotion ought to obſcure Gods glorie.

c For aſmuche as the end of mans creation, & of his preſeruatiõ i this life is to praiſe God, therefore he requireth, ỹ not onely we our ſelues do this, but cauſe all other to do the ſame

d Of thy terrible iudgemẽts againſt the wicked

Exod. 34.6.

e He deſcribeth after what ſorte God ſheweth him ſelf to all his creatures, though our ſinnes haue prouoked his vengeance againſt all: to wit, merciful not onely in pardoning the ſinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, though they cã not fele the ſwete comfort of the ſame

f The praiſe of thy power appeareth in all thy creatures: & though ỹ wicked wolde obſcure ỹ glorie of them by their ilfeee, yet ỹ faithful are euer mindeful of the ſame

12 To cauſe his [g] power to be knowen to the ſonnes of men, & the glorious renome of his kingdome.

13 Thy * kingdome is an euerlaſting kingdome, & thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all [h] that fall, and lifteth vp all that are readie to fall.

15 The eyes of [i] all waite vpon thee, and thou gieueſt them their meat in due ſeaſon

16 Thou openeſt thine hand, and filleſt all things liuing of thy good pleaſure.

17 The Lord is [k] righteous in all his waies, and holie in all his workes.

18 The Lord is nere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in [l] trueth.

19 He wil fulfil the [m] deſire of them that feare him: he alſo wil heare their crye, & wil ſaue them.

20 The Lord preſerueth all them that loue him: but he wil deſtroye all the wicked.

21 My mouth ſhal ſpeake the praiſe of the Lord, and all [n] fleſh ſhal bleſſe his holie Name for euer and euer.

g He ſheweth ỹ all thigs are out of ordre, but onely where God reigneth Luk. 1.33. dan 7.14.

h Who being in miſerie and afflictiõ wolde fainte and fall away, if God did not vpholde them, and therefore they ought to reuerence him, that reigneth in heauen, and ſuffer them ſelues to be gouerned by him

i To wit, aſwel of man, as of beaſt k He praiſeth God, not onely for that he is beneficial to all his creatures, but alſo in that that he iuſtly puniſheth ỹ wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the croſſe, giuing them ſtrength & deliuering them

l Which onely appertaineth to the faithful: and this verue is contrarie to infidelitie, douting, impacience and murmuring

m For they wil aſke or wiſh for nothing but ſuch thing as is agreeable to his wil, 1 Ioh 5. 14

n That is, all men ſhalbe [illegible] to glorifie him

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hathe to praiſe God. 3 And teacheth, not to truſt in man, but onely in God almightie. 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted. 9 Defendeth the ſtrangers, comforteth the fatherles, and the widowes. 10 And reigneth for euer.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

1 PRaiſe thou the Lord, ô my [a] ſoule.

2 I wil praiſe the Lord during my life: as long as I haue anie being, I wil ſing vnto my God.

3 Put not your truſt in [b] princes, nor in the ſonne of mã, for there is none helpe in hĩ.

4 His breath departeth, & he returneth to his earth: then his [c] thoghts periſh.

5 Bleſſed is he, that hathe the God of Iaakób for his helpe, whoſe hope is in ỹ Lord his God.

6 Which made [d] heauen & earth, the ſea, and all that therein is: which kepeth his fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iuſtice [e] for the oppreſſed: which gieueth bread to the hũgrie: the Lord looſeth the priſoners.

8 The Lord gieueth ſight to the blinde: the Lord raiſeth vp the croked: the Lord [f] loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord kepeth the [g] ſtrangers: he relieueth the fatherles and widowe: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

a He ſtirreth vp him ſelf, & all his affectiõs to praiſe God.

b That God may haue the whole praiſe wherin he forbiddeth all vaine cõfidẽce, ſhewing ỹ of nature we are more enclined to put our truſt in creatures, then in God ỹ Creator

c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered them ſelues, and ſo imagined wicked entrepriſes

d He encourageth vs to truſt onely in the Lord, bothe for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, & for his promes ſake his wil is moſte readie to do it

e Whoſe faith & pacience for a while he tryeth, but at length he puniſheth ỹ aduerſaries, that he may be knowen to be iudge of the worlde

f Though he viſit them by afflictiõs, he is [illegible] yet his Fatherlie loue and [illegible] are ſignes of his loue

g Meaning all them, that are deſtitute of worldelie meanes and ſuccour.

h He aſſureth the Church ſ God reigneth for euer for ſ preſeruatiō of the ſame.

10 The Lord ſhal h reigne for euer: ô Zión, thy God endureth from generacion to generacion. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiſeth the bountie, wiſdome, power, iuſtice & prouidence of God vpō all his creatures. 2 But ſpecially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their diſperſion. 19 Declaring his worde and iudgements ſo vnto them, as he hathe done to none other people.

1 PRaiſe ye the Lord, for it is good to ſing vnto our God: for it is a pleaſant thing, & praiſe is comelie.

a He ſheweth wherī we ogħt to exerciſe our ſelues continually, & to take our paſtime: to wit, in praiſing God

2 The Lord doeth buyld vp b Ieruſalém, & gather together the diſperſed of Iſraél.

3 He healeth thoſe that are c broken in heart, and bindeth vp their ſores.

b Becauſe the Lord is ſ foūder of ſ Church it can not be deſtroyed, thogh ſ mēbers thereof be diſperſed, and ſeme, as it were, for a time to be cut of.

4 He d counteth the nomber of the ſtarres, & calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wiſdome is infinite.

6 The Lord releueth the meke, & abaſeth the wicked to the e grounde.

c With affliction or ſorow for ſinne.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praiſe: ſing vpō the harpe vnto our God, d Thogh it ſeme to man incredible, that God ſhulde aſſemble his Church, being ſo diſperſed, yet nothing cā be to hard to him, that can nōber & name all the ſtarres.

8 Which f coūereth the heauē with cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the graſſe to growe vpon the mountaines:

e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end.

9 Which giueth to beaſtes their fode, and to the yong rauens that g crye.

f He ſheweth by the exāples of Gods mightie power, goodnes & wiſdome, that we cā neuer wāt moſte iuſt occaſiō to praiſe God.

10 He hathe not pleaſure in the h ſtrength of an horſe, nether deliteth he in the legges of man.

g For their crying is as it were a confeſſion of their nede, which cā not be relieued but by God onely: then if God ſhew him ſelf mindeful of ſ moſte cōtēptible foules, can he ſuffer them to dye ✠ famine, whome he hathe aſſured of life euerlaſting?

11 But the Lord deliteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praiſe the Lord, ô Ieruſalém: praiſe thy God, ô Zión.

13 For he hathe made the barres of thy gates i ſtrong, and hathe bleſſed thy childrē within thee.

14 He ſetteth peace in thy borders, & ſatiſfieth thee with the " floure of wheat.

15 He ſendeth forthe his k commandemēt vpon earth, and his worde runneth verie l ſwiftly.

16 He giueth ſnow like wool, & ſcattereth the hoare froſt like aſſhes.

17 He caſteth forthe his yce like morſels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He ſendeth his worde and melteth thē: he cauſeth his winde to blowe, & the waters flowe.

19 He ſheweth his m worde vnto Iaakób, his ſtatutes and his iudgements vnto Iſraél.

20 He hathe not dealt ſo with euerie nacion, nether haue they n knowen his iudgemēts. Praiſe ye the Lord.

h Thogh to vſe lawful meanes is bothe profitable & pleaſeth God, yet to put our truſt in them, is to defraude God of his honour

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praiſe the Lord in heauē and earth and all places. 14 Specially his Church for the power that he hathe giuen to the ſame after that he had choſen them and ioyned them vnto him.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

1 PRaiſe ye the Lord from the heauen: praiſe ye him in the high places.

2 Praiſe ye him, all ye a his Angels: praiſe him, all his armie.

3 Praiſe ye him, b ſunne and moone: praiſe ye him all bright ſtarres.

4 Praiſe ye him, c heauens of heauens, & d waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praiſe the Name of the Lord: for he commāded, and they were created.

6 And he hathe eſtabliſhed them for euer and euer: he hathe made an ordinance, which ſhal not paſſe.

7 Praiſe ye the Lord frō the earth, ye e dragons and all depths:

8 f Fyre and haile, ſnowe and vapors, ſtormie winde, which execute his worde:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruteful trees and all cedres:

10 Beaſtes and all cattel, creaping things & feathered foules:

11 g Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the worlde:

12 Yong men and maidens, alſo olde men and children:

13 Let them praiſe the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praiſe aboue the earth and the heauēs.

14 For he hathe exalted the h horne of his people, which is a praiſe for all his Saincts, euen for the i children of Iſraél, a people that is nere vnto him. Praiſe ye the Lord.

a Becauſe thei are mēbers of ſ ſame bodie, he ſetteth thē before our eyes, wherē we ought the willig hertunto, and by their prompt obedience teache vs to do our duetie

b In that Gods glorie ſhineth in theſe inſenſible creatures, this their beautie is as a cōtinual praiſing of God

c Not ſ there are diuers heauens, but becauſe of the ſpheres and of the ſituacion of the fixed ſtarres & planets, he cōprehendeth by this worde ſ whole heauē

d That is, the raine, which is in the midle region of the aire, which he here compreendeth vnder the name of the heauens e Meaning, ſ great and monſtruous fiſhes, as whales and ſuche like.

f Which come not by chaunce or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance

g For the greater giftes that anie hathe receiued, and the more high that one his preferred, the more bound is he to praiſe God for the ſame, but nether high nor lowe condition of degre can be exempted from this duetie.

h That is, the dignitie, power and glorie of his Church i By reaſon of his couenant made with Abrahám.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praiſe the Lord for his victorie and conqueſt that he giueth his Saints againſt all mans power.

Praiſe ye the Lord.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this boke: foraſmuche as the ſumme and effect of the whole Scriptures is here ſet forthe in theſe briefe ſentences, which partely conteine doctrine, and partely maners, and alſo exhortacions to bothe. Whereof the nine firſt chapters are as a preface ful of graue ſentences, and depe myſteries, to allure the haerts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a moſte precious iewel to the Churche, of thoſe thre thouſand parables mencioned 1. King. 4, 32, and were gathered and commit to writing by Salomons ſeruants and indited by him.

19 Suche are the wayes of euerie one that is gredie of gaine: he wolde take away the p life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ q Wiſdome crieth without: ſhe vttereth her voyce in the r ſtretes.

21 She calleth in the hye ſtrete among the preaſe in the entrings of the gates, & vttereth her wordes in the citie, ſaying, 22 O ye ſ fooliſh, how long wil ye loue fooliſhnes? & the ſkorneful take their pleaſure in ſkorning, & the fooles hate knowledge?

23 (Turne you at my correction: lo, I wil powre out my minde vnto you, & make you vnderſtand my wordes)

24 Becauſe I haue called, and ye refuſed: I haue ſtretched out mine hand, and none wolde regarde.

25 But ye haue deſpiſed all my counſel, & wolde none of my correction.

26 I wil alſo t laugh at your deſtruction, and mocke, when your feare cometh.

27 When u your feare cometh like ſudden deſolation, and your deſtruction ſhal come, like a whirle winde: when affliction & anguiſh ſhal come vpon you,

28 Then ſhal they call vpon me, but I wil not anſwer: they ſhal ſeke me early, but they ſhal not x finde me, 29 Becauſe they hated knowledge, and did not chuſe the feare of the Lord.

30 Thei wolde none of my coũſel, but y deſpiſed all my correction.

31 Therefore ſhal they eat of the z fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuiſes.

32 For a eaſe ſlayeth the fooliſh, and the proſperitie of fooles deſtroyeth them.

33 But he that obeieth me, ſhal dwell ſafely, & be quiet from feare of euil.

CHAP. II.

1 Wiſdome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preſerueth from wickednes.

1 MY ſonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and a hide my commandements within thee,

2 And cauſe thine eares to hearken vnto wiſdome, & encline b thine heart to vnderſtanding,

3 (For if thou calleſt after knowledge, c & cryeſt for vnderſtanding:

4 If thou ſekeſt her as ſiluer, and ſearcheſt for her as for d treaſures,

5 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand the feare of the Lord, and finde the e knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wiſdome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderſtanding.

7 He f preſerueth the ſtate of ỹ righteous: he is a ſhield to them that walke vprightly,

8 That they may kepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preſerueth the way of his Saincts)

9 Then ſhalt thou vnderſtand righteouſnes, and iudgement, and equitie, & euerie good path.

10 ¶ Whẽ wiſdome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy ſoule, 11 Then ſhal f counſel preſerue thee, & vnderſtanding ſhal kepe thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euil way, and from the man that ſpeaketh froward things, 13 And from them that leaue the g waies of righteouſnes to walke in the waies of darkenes:

14 Which reioyce in doing euil, & delite h in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whoſe waies are croked and they are lewde in their paths.

16 And it ſhal deliuer thee from the ſtrange i woman, euen from the ſtranger, which flattereth with her wordes.

17 Which forſaketh the k guide of her youth, and forgetteth the l couenant of her God.

18 Surely her m houſe tendeth to death, & her paths vnto n the dead.

19 All thei that go vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they holde of the waies of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in the waie of good men, & kepe the waies of the righteous.

21 For the iuſt ſhal dwell in the o land, and the vpright men ſhal remaine in it.

22 But the wicked ſhalbe cut of from the earth and the tranſgreſſers ſhalbe rooted out of it.

CHAP. III.

1 The worde of God giueth life 5 Truſt in God 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffre his correction. 22 To them that follow the worde of God, all things ſhal ſuccede wel.

1 MY ſonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart kepe my commãdements.

2 For thei ſhal increaſe the length of thy a daies and the yers of life, and thy proſperitie.

3 Let not b mercie and trueth forſake thee: binde them on thy c necke, & write them vpon the table of thine d heart.

4 So ſhalt thou finde fauour and good vnderſtanding in the ſight of God and man.

5 ¶ Truſt in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wiſdome.

6 In all thy waies acknowledge him, and he ſhal direct thy waies.

7 ¶ Be not wiſe in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and departe from euil.

8 So health ſhalbe vnto thy e nauel, and marow p Whereby he concludeth ỹ the couetous man is a murtherer

q This wiſdome is the eternal worde of God

r So that none can pretend ignorance.

ſ Wiſdome reproueth thre kindes of mẽ: the fooliſh or ſimple, which erre of ignorãce, and ỹ mockers, that can not ſuffer to be taught, & ỹ fooles which are drowned in worldelie luſtes, & hate the knowledge of godlines

t This is ſpoken according to our capacitie, ſignifying that the wicked, ẅ mocke & ieſt at Gods worde, ſhal haue the iuſte rewarde of their mocking.

u That is, your deſtruction, ẅ thing you feared x Becauſe thei ſoght not with an affection to God, but for eaſe of their owne grief

y Shewing ỹ without faith and obedience we cã not call vpon God aright.

z They ſhal feele what cõmoditie their wicked life ſhal giue thẽ.

a That is the proſperitie, & ſenſualitie, wherein they delite.

a That is, kepe them in thine heart.

b If thou giue thy ſelf to the true knowledge of God without hypocriſie

c Meaning, ỹ we muſt ſeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.

d Shewing ỹ no labour muſt be ſpared

e This ſayeth he, is the true wiſdome to knowe, & feare God

f Or, braeth the ſalnacion.

f The worde of God ſhal teache thee & counſel thee how to gouerne thy ſelf

g That is, the worde of God, ẅ is the onelie light, to ſtoppe their owne fantaſies ẅ are darkenes

h Whẽ thei ſe anie giuen to euil as thei are 12 *For ỹ Lord correcteth him, whome he loueth, euẽ as the father doeth the childe in whome he deliteth.

13 Bleſſed is the man that findeth wiſdome, and the man that getteth vnderſtanding.

14 For the marchandiſe thereof is better then the marchandiſe of ſiluer, and the gaine thereof is better then golde.

15 It is more precious then pearls: and all things that thou canſt deſire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of daies is in her right hand, h & in her left hand riches and glorie.

19 The Lord k by wiſdome hathe laied the fundacion of the earth, and hathe ſtabliſhed the heauens through vnderſtanding.

20 By his knowledge the deapths are broken vp, and the cloudes droppe downe the dewe.

21 My ſonne, let not theſe things departe frõ thine eies, but obſerue wiſdome, and counſel.

22 So thei ſhalbe life to thy ſoule, and grace vnto thy l necke.

23 Thẽ ſhalt thou walke ſafely by thy waie: and thy fote ſhal not ſtumble.

24 If ỹ m ſleapeſt, thou ſhalt not be afraied, and when thou ſlepeſt, thy ſlepe ſhalbe ſwete.

25 Thou ſhalt not feare for anie ſuddẽ feare, nether for the n deſtruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord ſhal be for thine aſſuiance, & ſhal preſerue thy fote from taking.

27 ¶ Withholde not the good from o the owners thereof, thogh there be power in thine hand to do it.

28 Saie not vnto thy neighbour, Go & come againe, and to morowe wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Intẽde none hurt agaīſt thy neighbour, ſeing he doeth dwell p without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man cauſeles, when he hathe done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Be not q enuious for the wicked man, nether chuſe anie of his waies.

32 For the froward is abominacion vnto the Lord: but his r ſecret is with the righteous.

33 The curſe of the Lord is in the houſe of the wicked: but he bleſſeth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the ſkorneful s he ſkorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wiſe ſhal inherite glorie: but fooles diſhonour, thogh they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wiſdome and her frutes oght to be ſearched 14 The way of the wicked muſt be refuſed 20 By the worde of God the heart, eyes and courſe of life muſt be guided

1 HEare, ô ye children, the inſtruction of a t father, and giue eare to learne vnderſtanding.

2 For I do giue you a good doctrine: therefore forſake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers ſonne, tender and u dere in the ſight of my mother,

4 When he x taught me, and ſaid vnto me, Let thine heart holde faſt my wordes: kepe my commandements, and thou ſhalt liue.

5 Get wiſdome: get vnderſtanding: forget not, nether decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forſake her not, and ſhe ſhal kepe thee: loue her and ſhe ſhal preſerue thee.

7 y Wiſdome is the beginning: get wiſdome therefore: and aboue all thy poſſeſſion get vnderſtanding.

8 Exalt her, and ſhe ſhal exalt thee: ſhe ſhal bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She ſhal giue a comelie ornament vnto thine head, yea, ſhe ſhal giue thee a crowne of glorie.

10 ¶ Heare my ſonne, and receiue my wordes, and the yeres of thy life ſhalbe manie.

11 I haue z taught thee in the waie of wiſdome, and led thee in the paths of righteouſnes.

12 When thou goeſt, thy gate ſhal not be a ſtrait, and when thou runneſt, thou ſhalt not fall.

13 Take holde of inſtruction, & leaue not: kepe her, for ſhe is thy life.

14 ¶ Entre not into the way of the wicked, & walke not in the waie of euil men.

15 Auoide it & go not by it: turne from it, & paſſe by.

16 For thei can not b ſlepe, except thei haue done euil, and their ſlepe departeth, except thei cauſe ſome to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of c wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of ỹ righteous ſhineth as the light, that d ſhineth more and more vnf As was commanded in the lawe, Exod 23, 19 deut. 26, 2 & by this thei acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that thei were ready to beſtowe all at his cõmandement g For to the faithful diſtributer God giueth in greater abundance Ebr. 12, 5 Peuel 3, 17.

h Meaning ỹ he that ſeketh wiſdome: that is, ſuffreth him ſelf to be gouerned by the worde of God, ſhal haue all ỹ heritte both corporal and ſpiritual.

i Which bringeth forthe ſuche frute ỹ thei that eat thereof, haue life: and he alludeth to the tre of life in Paradiſe.

k Hereby he ſheweth ỹ this wiſdome, whereof he ſpeaketh, is euerlaſting, becauſe it was before all creatures, & ỹ all thigs, euen the whole worlde were made by it. Ebr. 1, 2 throte, read chap. 1, 9

l For whẽ God deſtroieth the wicked, he wil ſaue his, as he did Lot in Sodom

m Not onely from them to whome ỹ poſſeſſion belongeth, but alſo thou ſhalt not kepe it from them, ẅ haue nede of the vſe thereof n That is, putteth his truſt in thee.

o Deſire not to be like vnto them

p That is, his couenant & fatherlie affectiõ ẅ is hid & ſecret from the worlde

q He wil ſhewe by his plagues that their ſkornes ſhal turne to their owne deſtruction, as Chap 1, 26.

a He ſpeaketh this in the perſone of a prezcher & miniſter, w is as a father vnto ỹ people read Chap 1, 8

b In Ebrewe it is Onely: for thogh ſhe had thre others by Vriáh, yet Salomón was onely her ſonne by Dauid c Meaning Dauid his father.

d He ſheweth that we muſt firſt begin at Gods worde, if ſo be we wil ỹ other things proſper with vs coerarie to the iudgement of the worlde, which make it their laſt ſtudy or els, care not for it at all.

e Salomón declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids proteſtation

f Thou ſhalt walke at libertie without offence

g Meaning, that to do euil is more propre & natural to the wicked, then to ſleep, eat or drinke

h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruel oppreſsion

i Signifying ỹ the godlie increaſe daily in knowledge & perfection, til thei come to ful perfection, ẅ is whẽ thei ſhalbe ioyned to their head in the heauens to the perfite daie.

19 The waie of the wicked is as the darkenes: they knowe not wherein thei shal fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearkē vnto my wordes, encline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not departe from thine eyes, but kepe them in the middes of thine heart.

22 For thei are life vnto those that finde them, and helthe vnto all their [k] flesh.

k That is, thei shal haue health of body. vnder the which all other blessings promised in ỹ sawe are conteined.

23 Kepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout cometh [l] life.

l For as the heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

24 Put awaie from thee a frowarde mouth, and put wicked lippes farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes beholde the right, and let thine eyeliddes direct thy way before thee.

26 [m] Pondre the path of thy fete, & let all thy waies be ordred aright.

m Kepe a measure in all thy doinge.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, but remoue thy fote from euil.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidde. 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a mā to liue on his labours & to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednes.

1 MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisdome, and encline thine eare vnto my [n] knowledge, n Or, vnderstādig

2 That thou maiest regarde counsel, and thy lippes obserue knowledge,

3 For the lippes [a] of a strange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more soft then [b] oyle.

a That is, an harlot which giueth her self to another then to her housband.

b By oyle and honie he meaneth flatterig and craftie intisements.

4 But the end of her is bitter as worme wood, & sharpe as a two edged sworde.

5 Her [c] fete go downe to death, and her stepes take holde on hel.

c All her doings lead to destruction.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are [d] moueable: thou cāst not knowe them.

d She hathe euer newe meanes to allure to wickednes.

7 Heare ye me now therefore, ô children, & departe not from the wordes of my mouthe.

8 Kepe thy waie farre from her, and come not nere the dore of her house,

9 Lest thou giue thine [e] honour vnto others, and thy yeres to the cruel:

e That is, thy strength and goods to her ỹ wil haue no pitie vpon these as is red of Samson, & the prodigal sonne.

10 Lest the stranger shulde be filled with thy strength, and thy [f] labours be in the house of a stranger, f The goods gotten by thy trauail.

11 And thou mourne at thine end, & when thou hast consumed thy flesh and thy bodie)

12 And saie, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeied the voice of them that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

g Although I was faithfully instructed in ỹ trueth, yet had I almoste falle to vtter shame and destructiō, notwithstādig my good bringing vp in the assemblie of the godlie.

14 I was almost brought into all euil in the middes of the Congregacion & assemblie.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of [h] thy cisterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.

h He teacheth vs sobrietie, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours & to be beneficial to ỹ godlie that want.

16 Let thy fountaines flowe forthe, and the riuers of waters in the stretes.

17 But let them be thine, euen [i] thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

i Distribute them not to the wicked & infidelles, but reserue them for thy self, thy family & them that are of the housholde of faith.

18 Let thy [k] fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy [l] youth.

k Thy childrē ỹ shal come of thee in great abundāce, shewing ỹ God blesseth mariage and curseth whoredome.

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, & delite in her loue continually.

l Which thou didest marie in thy youth.

20 For why shuldest thou [m] delite, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

m Or, go astray with a stranger?

21 For the waies of mā are before the [n] eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.

n He declareth that except man do ioyne to his wife bothe in heart and in outward conuersation, that he shal not escape the iudgements of God.

22 His owne iniquities shal take the wicked him self, and he shalbe holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.

23 He shal [o] dye for faute of instruction, & shal go astray through his great folie.

o Because he wil not giue eare to Gods worde and be admonished.

CHAP. VI.

1 Instruction for suerties. 6 The slouthful and sluggish is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the worde of God. 24 To flee adulterie.

1 MY sonne, if thou be suertie for thy neighbour, & hast striken hāds with the stranger, a He forbiddeth vs not to become suretie one for another, according to the rule of charitie, but ỹ we cōsider for whome and after what sort, so that the creditour may not be defrauded.

2 Thou art [a] snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

b If the word of God cā not instruct thee, yet learne at the little pismire to labour for thy self and not to burden others. Chap. 24, 32.

3 Do this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy self: seing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, go, and humble thy self, & solicit thy friends.

4 Giue no slepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eyeliddes.

5 Deliuer thy self as a doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a birde from the hand of the fouler.

c He expresseth liuely ỹ nature of the slugga ds, ỹ thogh they slepe neuer so lōg yet haue neuer ynough, but euer seke occasiōs thereunto.

6 ¶ Go to [b] the pismire, ô sluggard: beholde her waies, and be wise.

d That is suddely, & when ỹ lokest not for it.

7 For she hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler,

8 Prepareth her meat in the sommer, & gathereth her fode in haruest.

9 * How long wilt thou slepe, ô sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy slepe?

e It shal come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.

10 Yet a litle slepe, a litle slumber, [c] a litle folding of the hands to slepe.

f He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persones & sluggardes come, by calling them vnthriftie or the men of Belial & scladerous.

11 Therefore thy pouertie cometh as one that [d] trauaileth by the waie, & thy necessitie like [e] an armed man.

12 The vnthriftie man [f] & the wicked man walketh with a frowarde mouth.

13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he [*] signifieth

 Ebr. speaketh*

g Thus all his geſture tēdeth to wickednes.

fieth with his fete: he g inſtructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euil at all times, and raiſeth vp contentions.

15 Therefore ſhal his deſtructiō come ſpedely: he ſhalbe deſtroyed ſuddenly without recouerie.

16 ¶ Theſe ſix things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his ſoule abhorreth ſeuen:

17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that ſhede innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterpriſes, h fete that be ſwift in running to miſchief, h Meaning, the raging affections, which carie a man away in ſuche ſort that he cā not tel what he doeth

19 A falſe witnes that ſpeaketh lyes, & him that raiſeth vp cōtentions amōg brethrē.

Or, neighbours

20 ¶ My ſonne, kepe thy fathers commandement, and forſake not thy mothers inſtruction.

i Read Chap 3.3

21 Binde them alway vpon thine i heart, and tye them about thy necke.

22 It ſhal leade thee, when thou walkeſt: it ſhal watch for thee, when thou ſlepeſt, and when thou wakeſt, it ſhal talke with thee.

k By the commandement I e meaneth the worde of God: & by the inſtruction, the preaching and declaration of the ſame, wh is cōmitted to the Church

23 For the k commandement is a lanterne, and inſtruction a light: and l corrections for inſtruction are the waie of life, l And reprehēſions whē the worde is preached bring vs to life

24 To kepe thee from the wicked woman, & from the flatterie of the tongue of a ſtrange woman.

m With her wanton lokes and geſture

25 Deſire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her m eyeliddes.

n Meaning, ỹ ſhe wil neuer ceaſe, til ſhe haue broght thee to beggerie, & thē ſeke thy deſtructiō 26 For becauſe of the whooriſh womā a man is brought to a morſel of bread, & a woman wil hunte for the precious life of a man.

o He approueth not theft, but ſheweth that it is not ſo abominable as whoredome, foraſmuche as theft might be redemed: but adulterie was a perpetual infamie, and death by the Law of God

27 n Can a man take fyre in his boſome, & his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man go vpon coles, and his fete not be burnt?

p Meaning, for very neceſſitie

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, ſhal not be innocent, whoſoeuer toucheth her.

Eb faileth in heart

30 Men do not o deſpiſe a thief, when he ſtealeth, to ſatiſfie his p ſoule, becauſe he is hungrie.

q That is, death appointed by ỹ Law

31 But if he be founde, he ſhal reſtore ſeuen folde, or he ſhal giue all the ſubſtance of his houſe.

r He ſheweth that man by nature ſeketh his death, that hathe abuſed his wife, and ſo concludeth that neither God is Law nor the law of nature admitteth any raunſome for the adulterie.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he " is deſtitute of vnderſtanding: he ỹ doeth it, deſtroyeth his owne ſoule.

Or, lacketh

33 He ſhal finde q a wounde and diſhonour, & his reproche ſhal neuer be put away.

34 For ielouſie is ỹ rage of a man: therefore he wil not r ſpare in the day of vēgeance.

35 He can not beare the ſight of anie raunſome: nether wil he conſent, thogh thou augment the giftes.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortacion to wiſdome and to the worde of God. 5 Which wil preſerue vs from the harlot. 6 Whoſe maners are deſcribed.

MY ſonne, kepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

a By this diuerſitie of wordes he meaneth ỹ nothing ought to be ſo dere vnto vs, as the worde of God, nor ỹ we loke on any thing more, nor mīde any thing ſo muche

2 Kepe my commandements, & thou ſhalt liue, and mine inſtruction as the a apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Saie vnto wiſdome, Thou art my ſiſter: and call vnderſtanding thy kinſwoman,

5 That they maie kepe thee from the ſtrange woman, euen from the ſtranger that is ſmothe in her wordes.

b Salomōn vſeth this parable to declare their folie, ỹ ſuffer thē ſelues to be abuſed by harlottes

6 ¶ b As I was in the windowe of mine houſe, I loked through my windowe, c He ſheweth that there was almoſt none ſo impudent, but they were afraid to be ſene, and alſo their owne cōſciences did accuſe them, which cauſed them to ſeke the night to couer their filthines

7 And I ſawe among the fooles, and conſidered among the children a yong man deſtitute of vnderſtanding,

8 Who paſſed through the ſtrete by her corner, and went toward her houſe,

Or, garment.

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke and darke.

Or, bid

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots " behauiour, and " ſubtil in heart.

d He deſcribeth certeine condicions, wh are peculiar to harlottes 11 (She d is babling and lowde: whoſe fete can not abide in her houſe.

Ebr ſhe ſtrengthened her face

12 Now ſhe is without, now in the ſtretes, & lieth in waite at euerie corner)

e Because that in peacoffrigs a portion retur ned to them, ỹ offred, ſhe ſheweth him that ſhe hath meat at home to make good chere with: or els ſhe wolde vſe ſome cloke of holines, til ſhe had goten him in her nas

13 So ſhe caught him & kiſſed him & " with an impudent face ſaid vnto him, f Which declareth that harlottes outwardly wil ſeme holie & religious: bothe becauſe they may the better deceiue others, and alſo thinking by obſeruing of ceremonies & offrings to make ſatisfactiō for their ſinnes 14 I haue e peace offrings: this f day haue I paied my vowes.

Or, ſtarued worke.

15 Therefore came I forthe to mete thee, ỹ I might ſeke thy face: & I haue foūde thee.

Ebr in hu hād

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, " carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

g Which thinking he goeth to the paſture, goeth willigly to his owne deſtructiō

18 Come, let vs take our fil of loue vntil the morning: let vs take our pleaſure in dalīāce.

19 For mine houſband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre of.

h Which goeth cheruſully, not knowing that he ſhalbe chaſtiſed

20 He hathe taken " with him a bagge of ſiluer, and wil come home at the day appointed.

Eb it is for hu life.

21 Thus with her great craft ſhe cauſed him to yelde, & with her flattering lippes ſhe entiſed him.

i Nether wit nor ſtrength cā deliuer thē that fall into the hands of the harlot.

22 And he followed her ſtraightwaies, as an g oxe that goeth to the ſlaughter, & h as a foole to the ſtockes for correction, 23 Til a darte ſtrike through his liuer, as a birde haſteth to the ſnare, not knowing that " he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, ô children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her waies: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For ſhe hathe cauſed manie to fall downe wounded, and the i ſtrong men are all ſlayne by her.

27 Her houſe is the waie * vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

Chap. 2. 18.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdome declareth her excellẽcie. 11 Riches. 15 Power 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and followe her.

Chap.1,20. a Salomón declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition, and that he can pretend no ignorãce, for asmuche as God calleth to all men by his worde, and by his workes to followe vertue and to flee frõ vice.

1 Doeth not a wisdome crye? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce?
2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.
3 She cryeth besides b the gates before the citie at the entrie of the dores, 4 O men, I call vnto you, and vtter my voice to the children of men.
5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, and ye, ô fooles, be wise in heart.
6 Giue care, for I wil speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shal teache things that be right.
7 For my mouth shal speake the trueth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.
8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdenes, nor frowardenes in them.
9 Thei are all c plaine to him that wil vnderstand, and straight to them that wolde finde knowledge.
10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.
11 For wisdome is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.
12 I wisdome dwell with d prudence, and I finde forthe knowledge and counsels.
13 The feare of the Lord is to hate e euil as pride, and arrogancie, and the euil waie: and a mouth that speaketh lewde things, I do hate.
14 I haue counsel and wisdome: I am vnderstanding, & I haue strength.
15 By me, Kings f reigne, and princes decree iustice.
16 By me princes rule and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.
17 I loue them that loue me: & thei that seke me g early, shal finde me.
18 Riches and honour are with me: h euen durable riches and righteousnes.
19 My frute is better then golde, euen thẽ fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.
20 I cause to walke in the waie of righteousnes, & in the middes of the paths of 21 iudgement, That I maie cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I wil fil their treasures.
22 The Lord hathe possessed me in the beginning of his waie: I was k before his workes of olde.
23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning & before the earth.
24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abunding with water.
25 Before the mountaines were setled: & before the hilles, was I begotten.
26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the worlde.
27 When he prepared the heauens, I was l there, when he set the compas vpon the depe.
28 When he established the cloudes aboue, when he confirmed the fountaines of the depe, 29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters shulde not passe his commandement: when he appointed the fundacions of the earth,
30 Then m was I with him as a nourisher, and I was daily his delite reioycing alwaie before him, 31 And toke my n solace in the compasse of o his earth: & my delite is with the childrẽ of men.
32 Therefore now hearken, ô children, vnto me: for blessed are thei that kepe my waies.
33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, & refuse it not. blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, & giuing attendance at the postes of my dores.
34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shal obteine fauour of the Lord.
35 But he that sinneth against me, hurteth his owne soule: & all that hate me, loue death.

b Where the people did moste resort, and which was ỹ place of iustice.
c Meanig, that the worde of God is easie vnto all, that haue a desire vnto it, & ẅ are not blinded by the prince of this worlde.
d That is, except a man haue wisdome, ẅ is ỹ true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counseller e So that he ỹ doeth not hate euil, feareth not God.
f Whereby ỹe declareth that honors, dignitie or riches come not of mans wisdome or industrie, but by the prouidẽce of God
g That is, studie the worde of God diligently, and ẅ a desire to profite.
h Signifying ỹ he chiefly meaneth the spiritual treasures and heauenlie riches.
i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdome.
k He declareth hereby the diuinitie & eternitie of this wisdome, ẅ he magnifieth and praiseth through this boke: meaning thereby ỹ eternal Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whome S. Iohn calleth the worde ỹ was in ỹ beginning, Iohn.1,1.
l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is ment by this worde Wisdome, who was before all time and euer present ẅ the Father.
m Some read a chief worker: signifying that this Wisdome, euen Christ Iesus, was equal ẅ God his Father, and created, preserued and stil worketh ẅ him, as Ioh.5, 17.
n Whereby is declared that the worke of ỹ creation was no peine, but a solace vnto the wisdome of God.
o By earth, he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whome wisdome toke pleasure: in somuche as formans sake ỹ Diuine Wisdome toke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, & filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this is that solace & passetime whereof is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

2 Wisdome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scorner wil not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The condicions of the harlot.

1 Wisdome hathe buylt her a house, & hewen out her b seuen pilliers.
2 She hathe killed her vitailes, drawen her wine, and c prepared her table.
3 She hathe sent forthe her d maidens and cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, saying,
4 Whoso is e simple, let him come hether, & to him ỹ is destitute of wisdome, she saith,
5 Come, & eat of my f meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawen.
6 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shal liue: & walke in ỹ waie of vnderstanding.
7 He that reproueth a scorner, purchasseth to him self shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth him self g a blot.
8 Rebuke not a h scorner, lest he hate thee: but rebuke a wise man, & he wil loue thee.
9 Giue admonicion to the wise, and he wil be the wiser: teache a righteous man, & he wil increase in learning.
10 The beginning of wisdome is ỹ feare of the Lord, & the knowledge of holy thigs, is vndera Christ hathe prepared him a Church.

b That is, many chief states and principal partes of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophetes, Apostles, Pastors & Doctors.
c He compareth wisdome with great princes ỹ kepe open house for all ỹ come.
d Meanig true preachers, ẅ are not infected with mãs wisdome.
e He that knoweth his owne ignorance and is voide of malice.
f By the meat and drinke, is ment the worde of God and the ministratiõ of the sacramẽts, whereby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, ẅ 15 ỹ Church. g For the wicked wil contemne him & labour to diffame him.
h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogs & swine: or he speaketh this in comparison, not that ỹ wicked shuld not be rebuked, but he shewеth their malice, and the smale hope of profite.

15 [1] vnderſtanding.
11 For thy dayes ſhalbe multiplied by me, and the yeres of thy life ſhalbe augmẽted.
12 If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt be wiſe for [k] thy ſelf, and if thou be a ſcorner, thou alone ſhalt ſuffre.
13 ¶A [l] fooliſh woman is troubleſome: ſhe is ignorant, and knoweth nothing.
14 But ſhe ſitteth at the dore of her houſe on a ſeat in the hye places of the citie, 15 To call them that paſſe by the way, that go right on their way, ſaying, 16 Who ſo is ſimple, let him come hether, and to him that is deſtitute of wiſdome, ſhe ſaith alſo, 17 Stollen waters are ſwete, and hid bread is pleaſant.
18 But he knoweth not, that the dead are there, and that her gheſtes are in the depth of hel.

s He ſheweth what true vnderſtanding is, to know ſ wil of God in his worde, ẅ is ment by holie things.
k Thou ſhalt haue the chief profite, and commoditie there of.
l By ſ fooliſh woman, ſome vnderſtand, the wicked preachers, who cõterfait ſ worde of God, as appeareth verſ. 16. ẅ were the wordes of the true pachers, as verſ. 4: but their doctrine is but as ſtollẽ waters: meanig that they are but mens tradi tions, which are more pleaſant to ſ fleſh then ſ worde of God and therefore they them ſelues boaſt thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that followe vnto the thirteth, the wiſe man exhorteth by diuers ſentences, which he calleth parables, to followe vertue, and flee vice and ſheweth alſo what profite cõmeth of wiſdome, & what hinderance proceadeth of fooliſhnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

Chap 15,20. 1 A Wiſe [*] ſonne maketh a glad father: but a fooliſh ſonne is an heauines to his mother 2 The treaſures of wickednes [a] profite nothing: but righteouſnes deliuereth frõ death.
3 The Lord wil [b] not famiſh the ſoule of the righteous: but he caſteth away the ſubſtance of the wicked.
4 A [*] ſlouthful hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh riche.
5 He that gathereth in ſommer, is the ſonne of wiſdome: but he that ſlepeth in harueſt, is the ſonne of confuſion.
6 Bleſsings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie ſhal couer the mouth of [c] the wicked.
7 The memorial of the iuſte ſhalbe bleſſed: but the name of the wicked ſhal [d] rotte.
8 The wiſe in heart wil receiue commãdemẽts: but the fooliſh in [*] talke ſhalbe beatẽ.
9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh [*] boldely: but he that peruerteth his waies, ſhal be knowen.
10 He that [e] winketh with the eye, worketh ſorowe, and he that is [f] fooliſh in talke, ſhalbe beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a well ſpring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred ſtirreth vp contentions: [*] but loue couereth all treſpaſſes.
13 In the lippes of him that hathe vnderſtãding wiſdome is foũde, and [g] a rod ſhalbe for the backe of him that is deſtitute of wiſdome.
14 Wiſe men laye vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a preſent deſtruction.
15 The riche mans goods are his [h] ſtrongcitie: but the feare of the nedie is their pouertie.
16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to ſinne.
17 He that regardeth inſtruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuſeth correctiõ, goeth out of the way.
18 He that diſſembleth hatred with lying lippes, and he that inuenteth ſclandre, is a foole.
19 In manie wordes there can not wãt iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lippes, is wiſe.
20 The tongue of the iuſte man is as fined ſiluer: but the heart of the wicked is litle worthe.
21 The lippes of the righteous do [i] fede manie: but fooles ſhal dye for want of wiſdome.
22 The bleſsing of the Lord, it maketh riche, and he doeth adde [k] no ſorowes with it.
23 It is as a paſſe time to a foole to do wickedly: but wiſdome is vnderſtanding to a man.
24 That which the wicked feareth, ſhal come vpon him: but God wil grante the deſire of the righteous.
25 As the whirle winde paſſeth, ſo is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlaſting fundacion.
26 As vinegre is to ſ teeth, and as ſmoke to the eyes, ſo is the ſlouthful to them that [l] ſend him.
27 The feare of the Lord increaſeth the dayes: but the yeres of the wicked [m] ſhalbe diminiſhed.
28 The pacient abiding of the righteous ſhalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked ſhal periſh.
29 The way of the Lord is ſtrength to the vpright mã: but feare ſhalbe for the workers of iniquitie.
30 The righteous ſhal [n] neuer be remoued: but the wicked ſhal not dwell in the land.
31 The mouth of the iuſte ſhalbe fruteful in wiſdome: but the tongue of the frowarde ſhal be cut out.
32 The lippes of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked ſpeaketh frowarde things.

a That is, wickedly gotten.
b Thogh he ſuffer ſ iuſte to want for a time, yet ne wil ſend him comforte in due ſeaſon.
*Or, deceiful.
c When their wickednes ſhalbe diſcouered, they ſhal be as dumme, & not knowe what to ſay
d Shal be vile and abhorred bothe of God and man, contrarie to their owne expectation, ẅ thinke to make their name immortal.
*Ebr. lippes.
*Or, ſurely.
e He that beareth a faire countenance, & imagineth miſchief in his heart, as Chap. 6,13
f For the corruption of his heart is knowẽ by his taike.
*2 Cor. 13,4.
1 Pet. 4,8.
g That is, God wil finde him out to puniſh him.
h And ſo maketh him bolde to do euil, where as pouertie bridleth the poore from manie euil thinges.
i For they ſpeake truth and edifie manie by exhortations, admonition and counſel.
k Meaning, ſ all worldelie things bring care, & ſorow, where as they that feele the bleſsings of God, haue none.
l He is but a trouble, and grief to him ſ ſetteth him about anie buſines.
m The time of their proſperitie ſhalbe ſhort, becauſe of their great fall, thogh they ſeme to liue long.
n They enioye in this life by faith, and hope their euerlaſting life.

CHAP. XI.

1 FAlſe [a] balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite "weight pleaſeth him.
2 When pride cometh, then cometh [b] ſhame: but with the lowlie is wiſdome.

a Vnder this worde he condẽneth all falſe weights, meaſures and deceit.
"Ebr. ſtone.
b When man forgetteth himſelf, and thinketh to be exalted aboue his vocation, then God bringeth him to confuſiõ

3 The vprightenes of the iuſte ſhal guide them: but the frowardnes of the tranſgreſſers ſhal deſtroye them.

Ezek.7.19. ecclef.5.18. 4 *Riches auaile not in the day of wrath: but righteouſnes deliuereth from death.

5 The righteouſnes of the vpright ſhal direct his way: but the wicked ſhal fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteouſnes of the iuſte ſhal deliuer them: but the tranſgreſſers ſhalbe take in their owne wickednes.

Wiſd.5.15. 7 *When a wicked man dyeth, his hope periſheth, and the hope of the vniuſt ſhal periſh.

8 The righteous eſcapeth out of trouble, & the wicked ſhal come in his [c] ſtead.

c That is, ſhal enter into trouble.

9 An [d] hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous ſhalbe deliuered by knowledge.

d A diſſembler that pretendeth friendſhip, but is a priuie enemie.

10 In the proſperitie of the righteous the citie [e] reioyceth, and when the wicked periſh, there is ioye.

e The countrey is bleſſed, where there is godlie men, & they ought to reioyce, when the wicked are take away.

11 By the [f] bleſsing of ỹ righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is ſubuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

f Or, proſperitie.

12 He that deſpiſeth his neighbour, is deſtitute of wiſdome: but a man of vnderſtanding wil [f] kepe ſilence.

f Wil not make light report of others.

13 He that goeth about as a ſclãderer, diſcouereth a ſecret: but he that is of a faithful heart, conceileth a matter.

14 Where no counſel is, the people fall: but where manie [g] counſelers are, there is health.

g Where God giueth ſtore of men of wiſdome, and counſel

15 He ſhal be ſore vexed, that is ſuretie for a [h] ſtranger, and he [i] that hateth ſuretieſhip, is ſure.

h Whoſe conuerſation he knoweth not i He ỹ doeth not without iudgement, and conſideratiõ of the circumſtãces put him ſelf in danger, as Chap 6,1.

16 A [k] gracious woman atteineth honour, & the ſtrong men atteine riches.

k Or, modeſt

17 He that is merciful, [l] rewardeth his owne ſoule: but he that troubleth his owne [m] fleſh, is cruel.

k Is bothe good to him ſelf, and to others

l Or, neighbour.

18 The wicked worketh a diſceitful wórke: but he that ſoweth righteouſnes, ſhal receiue a ſure rewarde.

19 As righteouſnes leadeth to life: ſo he that followeth euil, ſeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way, are his delite.

l Though they make neuer ſo manie friends, nor thinke thẽ ſelues neuer ſo ſure, yet they ſhal not eſcape.

21 [l] Though hand ioyne in hãd, the wicked ſhal not be vnpuniſhed: but the ſede of the righteous ſhal eſcape.

m Or, in vnſeemely behauiour

22 As a iewel of golde in a ſwines ſnoute: ſo is a faire woman, which [n] lacketh diſcretiõ.

m They cã looke for nothing but Gods vengeance

23 The deſire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked [o] is indignacion.

n Meaning thẽ, that giue liberally, whome God bleſſeth.

24 There is that ſcatereth, [p] and is more increaſed: but he that ſpareth more [q] then is right, ſurely cometh to pouertie.

o That is, the niggard

25 The [r] liberal perſone ſhal haue plentie: and he that watereth, ſhal alſo haue raine.

r Ebr. the ſoule of bleſſing ſhalbe made fat.

26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people wil curſe him: but bleſsing ſhal be vpon the head of him that [s] ſelleth corne.

p That prouideth for ỹ vſe of them that are in neceſsitie.

27 He that ſeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that ſeketh euil, it ſhal come to him.

28 He that truſteth in his riches, ſhal fall: but the righteous ſhal floriſh as a leafe.

29 He that troubleth his owne [t] houſe, ſhal inherite ỹ winde, and the foole ſhalbe [u] ſeruant to the wiſe in heart.

q The couetous men ỹ ſpare their riches to the hinderance of their families, ſhalbe depriued thereof miſerably.

r For thogh ỹ wicked be riche, yet are thei but ſclaues to ỹ godlie, & are the true poſſeſſers of ỹ giftes of God.

30 The fruite of the righteous is as a tre of life, and he that [x] winneth ſoules, is wiſe.

f That is, bringeth them to the knowledge of God.

31 Beholde, the righteous ſhalbe [y] recompenſed in the earth: how muche more the wicked and the ſinner?

CHAP. XII.

1 HE that loueth inſtructiõ, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correction, is a foole.

t Shal be puniſhed as he deſerueth, as 1 Pet 4,18.

2 A good man getteth fauoure of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginacions wil he condemne.

3 A man can not be eſtabliſhed by wickednes: but the [a] roote of the righteous ſhal not be moued.

a They are ſo grounded in ỹ fauour or God, that their rote ſhal proſper continually 4 A [b] verteous woman is the crowne of her houſband: but ſhe that maketh him aſhamed, is as corruption in his bones.

b Ebr ſtrong or puiſſant.

5 The thoghts of the iuſte are right: but the counſels of the wicked are diſceitful.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous wil [c] deliuer them.

b As their conſcience is vpright, ſo ſhal they be able to ſpeake for them ſelues againſt their accuſers.

7 God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the houſe of ỹ righteous ſhal ſtand.

8 A man ſhalbe commended for his wiſdome: but the froward of heart ſhalbe deſpiſed.

9 He that is deſpiſed, [d] and is his owne ſeruant, is better thẽ he that boaſteth him ſelf and lacketh bread.

c The poore man that is cõtemned, & yet liueth of his owne trauail.

10 A righteous man [e] regardeth the life of his beaſt: but the mercies of the wicked are cruel.

d Is merciful, euen to the very beaſt that doeth him ſeruice.

11 *He that tilleth his land, ſhal be ſatiſfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, is deſtitute of [f] vnderſtanding.

Chap 28,19. eccleſ 20,30.

e Or, defeate

12 The wicked deſireth the [g] net of euils: but the [h] roote of the righteous giueth frute.

e Continually imagineth meanes how to do harme to others.

13 The euil man is ſnared by the wickednes of his lippes, but the iuſt ſhal come out of aduerſitie.

f Meaning, their heart within, which is vpright, and doeth good to all.

14 A man ſhal be ſatiate with good things by the frute of his mouth, and the recompenſe of a mans hands ſhal God giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole is [i] right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counſel, is wiſe.

g He ſtandeth in his owne cõceit, and condemneth all others in reſp & of him ſelf.

16 A foole in a day ſhal be knowen by his angre:

angre: but he [h] that couereth ſhame, is wiſe.

17 He that ſpeaketh trueth, wil ſhewe righteouſnes: but a falſe witnes vſeth diſceit.

18 *There is that ſpeaketh wordes like the prickings of [i] a ſworde: but the tongue of wiſe men is health.

19 The lippe of trueth ſhalbe ſtable for euer: but a lying tongue vanyeth incontinently.

20 Diſceit is in the heart of them that imagine euil: but to the counſeilers of peace ſhalbe ioye.

21 There ſhal none iniquitie come to the iuſte: but the wicked are ful of euil.

22 The lying lippes are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely are his delite.

23 A wiſe man conceileth knowledge: but [y] heart of the fooles publiſheth fooliſhnes.

24 *The hand of the diligent ſhal beare rul: but the idle ſhalbe vnder tribute.

25 Heauines in the heart of mã doeth bring it downe: but a [k] good worde reioyceth it.

26 The righteous [l] is more excellent then his neighbour: but the way of the wicked wil diſceiue them.

27 The diſceitful man roſteth not, that he [m] toke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteouſnes, and in that pathway there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 A Wiſe ſonne wil obey the inſtruction of his father: but a ſkorner wil heare no rebuke.

2 A man ſhal eat good things by the frute [a] of his mouth: but the ſoule of the treſpaſſers ſhal ſuffer violence.

3 He that kepeth his mouthe, keepeth his life: but he that opneth his lippes, deſtruction ſhalbe to him.

4 The ſluggarde [b] luſteth, but his ſoule hathe nought: but the ſoule of the diligent ſhal haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked cauſeth ſclander and ſhame.

6 Righteouſnes preſerueth the vpright of [c] life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the ſinner.

7 There is that maketh him ſelf riche, and hathe nothing, & that maketh him ſelf poore, hauing great riches.

8 A mã wil giue his riches for the raũſome of his life: but the poore [c] cã not heare the reproche.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked ſhalbe put out.

10 *Onely by pride [d] doeth man make contention: but with the wel aduiſed is wiſdome.

11 The [e] riches of vanitie ſhal diminiſh: but he that gathereth with [f] the hand, ſhal increaſe them.

12 The hope that is differred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the deſire commeth, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that deſpiſeth the worde, he ſhalbe deſtroied: but he that feareth the commãdement, he ſhal be rewarded.

14 The inſtruction of a wiſe man is as the well ſpring of life, to turne away from the ſnares of death.

15 Good vnderſtading maketh acceptable: but the way of the diſobedient is hated.

16 Euerie wiſe man wil worke by knowledge: but a foole wil ſpread abroad follie.

17 *A wicked meſſenger falleth [h] into euil: but a faithful ambaſſadour is preſeruation.

18 Poueritie and ſhame is to him that refuſeth inſtructiõ: but he that regardeth correction, ſhal be honored.

19 A deſire accõpliſhed deliteth the ſoule: but it is an abominatiõ to fooles to departe from euil.

20 He that walketh with the wiſe, ſhalbe wiſe: but a companion of fooles ſhalbe [i] afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth ſinners: but vnto the righteous God wil recompenſe good.

22 The good mã ſhal giue inheritance vnto his children's children: and the [k] riches of the ſinner is laied vp for the iuſte.

23 Muche foode is in the field of the [l] poore: but the field is deſtroyed without diſcretiõ.

24 *He [y] ſpareth his rod, hateth his ſonne: but he that loueth him, chaſteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentatiõ of his minde: but the bellie of the wicked ſhal want.

1 A Wiſe woman [a] buyldeth her houſe: but the fooliſh deſtroieth it with her owne hands.

2 *He that walketh in his [b] righteouſnes, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his waies, deſpiſeth him.

3 In the mouth of the fooliſh is the [c] rodde of pride: but the lippes of the wiſe preſerue them.

4 Where none [d] oxen are, there the crib is emptie: but muche increaſe cometh by the ſtrength of the oxe.

5 A faithful witnes wil not lye: but a falſe recorde wil ſpeake lyes.

6 A ſcorner [e] ſeketh wiſdome, and findeth it not: but knowledge is eaſie to him that wil vnderſtand.

7 Departe from the fooliſh man, when thou perceiueſt not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wiſdome of the prudent is to vnderſtand his way: but the fooliſhnes of the fooles is diſceit.

9 The foole maketh a mocke [f] of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

f Doeth not knowe ỹ grieuousnes therof nor Gods iudgemẽts against the same.

10 The heart knoweth the [g] bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shal not medle with his ioye.

g As a mans conscience is witnes of his owne grief: so another cã not feele the ioye and comforte, which a man feeleth in him self.

11 The house of ỹ wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shal florish.

12 * There is a way which semeth right to a man: but the yssues thereof are the wayes of death. Chap.16,25.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorowful, [h] and the end of that mirth is heauines.

h He sheweth that the alluremẽt vnto sinne semeth swete, but the end thereof is destruction.

14 The heart that declineth, [i] shalbe saciate with his owne wayes: but a good man shal departe from him.

i He that forsaketh God, shal be punished, and made wearie of his sinnes wherein he delited.

15 The foolish wil beleue euerie thing: but the prudent wil consider his steppes.

16 A wise man feareth, and departeth from euil: but a foole rageth, and is careles.

17 He that is hastie to angre, committeth folie, and a "busie bodie is hated.

"Ebr. the mã of imaginations.

18 The foolish do inherite folie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euil shal bowe before the good, and the wicked [k] at the gates of the righteous.

k If this come not daiely to passe, we muste cõsider that it is because of our sinnes, & let Gods working.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the riche are manie.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hathe mercie on the poore, is blessed.

22 Do not they erre that imagine euil? but to them that thinke on good things, shalbe mercie, and trueth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth onely want.

24 The crowne of the wise is their riches, & the folie of fooles is foolishnes.

25 A faithful witnes deliuereth soules: but a disceiuer speaketh lies.

26 In ỹ feare of ỹ Lord is an assured strẽgth, and his children shal haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord is as a well spring of life, to auoide the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the [l] people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people cometh the destruction of the prince.

l That is, the strength of a King standeth in many people.

29 He that is slowe to wrath, is of great wisdome: but he that is of an hastie minde, exalteth folie.

30 A sound heart is the life of the "flesh: but enuie is the rotting of the bones.

"Or, bodie.

31 * He that oppresseth the poore, reproueth him that made him: but he honoreth him that hathe mercie on the poore. Chap.17.5.

32 The wicked shalbe cast away for his malice: but the righteous hathe hope [k] in his death.

33 Wisdome resteth in the heart of him that hathe vnderstanding, and is knowen [m] in the middes of fooles.

m For as much as they are conuict thereby, and put to silence.

34 Iustice exalteth a nation, "but sinne is a shame to the people.

"Or, & the mercie of the people is a sacrifice for sinne.

35 The pleasure of a King is in a wise seruãt: but his wrath shalbe toward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

2 The tongue of the wise vseth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles * bubleth out foolishnes. Vers 28.

3 The eyes of the Lord in euerie place beholde the euil and the good.

4 A wholsome tongue is as a tre of life: but the frowardnes thereof is the breaking of the minde.

5 A foole despiseth his fathers instructiõ: but he that regardeth correctiõ, is prudẽt.

6 The house of the righteous hathe muche treasure: but in the reuenues of the wicked is [a] trouble.

a For though thei haue muche, yet it is ful of trouble & care.

7 The lippes of the wise do spread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the fooliish doeth not so.

8 The [b] sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the praier of ỹ righteous is acceptable vnto him.

b That thing is abominable before God, & the wicked thinke to be moste excellẽt, and whereby thei thinke moste to be accepted.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him ỹ followeth righteousnes.

10 Instructiõ is euil to him that [c] forsaketh the way, & he ỹ hateth correctiõ, shal dye.

c He that swareth from the worde of God, can not abide to be admonished.

11 [d] Hel & destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the sonnes of men?

Chap. 18,22.

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but * a prudent wife cometh of the Lord.

15 Slouthfulnes causeth to fall a slepe, and a disceitful person shal be affamished.

16 He that kepeth the commandement, kepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his waies, shal dye.

17 He that hathe mercie vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord wil recōpense him that which he hathe giuē.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his mur muring.

19 A man of muche angre shal suffer punishment: & thogh thou f deliuer him, yet wil his angre come againe.

f Though for a time he giue place to counsel, yet sone after wil he giue place to his raging affections

20 Heare counsel, and receiue instruction, that thou maiest be wise in thy latter end.

21 Manie deuices are in a g mans heart: but the counsel of the Lord shal stand.

g Mans deuice shal not haue succes, except God gouerne it, whose purpose is vnchangeable 22 That that is to be desired of a man, is his h goodnes, and a poore man is better then a lyer.

h That is, that he be honest: for the poore man that is honest, is to be esteemed aboue ỹ riche which is not verteous

23 The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and he that is filled therewith, shal continue, & shal not be visited with euil.

Chap 26,15.

Chap 21,11.

24 *The slouthful hideth his hand in his bosome, and wil not put it to his mouth againe.

25 *Smite a scorner, and i the foolish wil beware: and reproue the prudent, and he wil vnderstand knowledge.

i That is, the simple and ignorant men learne, when thei se the wicked punished.

26 He that destroyeth his father, or chaseth away his mother, is a lewde and shameful childe.

27 My sonne, heare no more the instructiō, that causeth to erre from the wordes of knowledge.

28 A wicked witnes mocketh at iudgemēt, and the mouth of the wicked k swalloeth vp iniquitie.

k Taketh a pleasure and delite therein, as gluttons & drunkardes in delicate meats and drinkes.

29 But iudgemēts are prepared for the scorners, & stripes for the backe of the fooles.

Chap.19,18.

2 *The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lyon: he that prouoketh him vnto angre, b sinneth against his owne soule.

b Putteth his life in danger.

3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euerie foole wil be medling.

4 The slouthful wil not plowe, because of winter: therefore shal he begge in sommer, but haue nothing.

5 The counsel in the heart of c man is like depe waters: but a man that hathe vnderstanding, wil drawe it out.

c It is hard to finde out: for it is as depe waters, whose bottome can not be found: yet the wise mā wil knowe a man ether by his wordes or maners.

6 Manie men wil boast, euerie one of his owne goodnes: but who can finde a faithful man?

7 He that walketh in his integritie, is iuste: & blessed shal his children be after him.

8 A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, d chaseth away all euil ẅ his eyes.

d Where righteous iudgement is executed, there sinne ceaseth and vice dare not appeare

13 Loue not slepe, lest thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

14 It is naught, it is naught, saith the byer: but when he is gone a parte, he boasteth.

15 There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lippes of knowledge are a precious iewel.

16 * Take his f garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

17 The bread of deceit is swete to a man: but afterwarde his mouth shalbe filled with grauel.

18 Establish the thoghts by counsel: and by counsel make warre.

19 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discouereth * secrets: therefore medle not w̄ him that flattereth with his lippes.

20 * He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shalbe put out in obscure darkenes.

21 An heritage is hastely gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shal not be blessed.

22 Say not thou, * I wil recompense euil: but waite vpon the Lord, and he shal saue thee.

23 * Diuers weightes are an abominacion vnto the Lord, and disceitful balances are not good.

24 * The steppes of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is a destruction for a man to ꝫ deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to inquire.

26 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and causeth the h whele to turne ouer them.

27 The i light of the Lord is the breth of man, and sercheth all the bowels of the bellie.

28 * Mercie and trueth preserue the King: for his throne shalbe established w̄ mercie.

29 The beautie of yong mē is their strēgth, and the glorie of the aged is the graye head.

30 k The blewenes of the wounde serueth to purge the euil, and the stripes within the bowels of the bellie.

CHAP. XXI.

1 THe a Kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters: he turneth it whether ſoeuer it pleaseth him.

2 Euerie * way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord ponderēth the hearts.

3 * To do iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

4 * A hautie loke, and a proude heart, which is the * b light of the wicked, is sinne.

5 The thoghts of the diligent do surely bring abundance: but c whosoeuer is hastie, cometh surely to pouertie.

6 * The gathering of treasures by a disceitful tongue is vanitie tossed to and fro of them that seke death.

7 The d robberie of the wicked shal destroye them: for thei haue refused to execute iudgement.

8 The way of some is peruerted and strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right.

9 * It is better to dwell in a corner of ỹ house toppe, then with a contentious woman in a * wide house.

10 The soule of the wicked wisheth euil: and his neighbour hathe no fauour in his eyes.

11 e When the scorner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he wil receiue knowledge.

12 The righteous f teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euil.

13 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shal also crye and not be heard.

14 A g gift in secret pacifieth angre, and a gift in the bosome great wrath.

15 It is ioye to the iust to do iudgement: but destruction shalbe to the workers of iniquitie.

16 A man that wandereth out of the way of wisdome, shal remaine in the congregacio̅ of the dead.

17 He that loueth pastime, shalbe a poore man: & he that loueth wine & oyle, shal not be riche.

18 The h wicked shalbe a ransome for the iust, and the trāsgressour for the righteous.

19 * It is better to dwell in the wildernes, then with a contentious & angrie womā.

20 In ỹ house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and i oyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it.

21 He that followeth after righteousnes & mercie, shal finde life, righteousnes, and glorie.

22 A k wise man goeth vp into the citie of the mightie, and casteth downe ỹ strength of the confidence thereof.

23 He that kepeth his mouth and his tōgue, kepeth his soule from afflictions.

25 The desire of the slouthful l slaieth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

26 He coueteth gredely, but the righteous giueth, and spareth not.

27 The * sacrifice of the wicked is an abominacio̅: how muche more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde?

28 * A false witnes shal perish: but he that heareth, m speaketh continually.

ECCLESIASTES, OR the Preacher.

THE ARGVMENT.

Salomõ, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiuable vanities of this worlde, that man shulde not be addicted to anie thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenlie life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited with God and shal inioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as muche as they further vs to attaine to this heauenlie treasure, which is sure and permanent, and can not be founde in anie other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this worlde are ful of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisdome is but folie and grief.

THE wordes of the a Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalém.

2 b Vanitie of vanities, saith ỹ Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto mã in all his c trauail, which he suffreth vnder the sunne?

4 One generacion passeth, and another generacion succedeth: but the earth remaineth for d euer.

5 The sunne riseth, & the sunne goeth downe, & draweth to his place, where he riseth.

6 The e winde goeth toward ỹ South, & cõpasseth toward ỹ North: the winde goeth round about, & returneth by his circuites.

7 *All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not ful: for the riuers go vnto the place, a Salomõ is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, & how men ought to passe their life in this transitorie world

b He condemneth the opinions of all mẽ that set felicitie in anie thing, but in God alone, seing that in this worlde all thinges are as vanitie and nothing

c Salomon doeth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no ful contentation in anie thing vnder ỹ heauen, nor in anie creature, for asmuche as all things are transitorie.

d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last daie, which yet is subiect to corruption

e By the sunne, winde and riuers he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest hath an end, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this worlde

f The sea ẅ compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the ẅ powre out springs and riuers into the sea againe

g He speaketh of times & seasons & things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe

h He proueth that if anie colde haue attained to felicitie in this worlde by labour and studie, he chiefly shulde haue obteined it, because he had giftes and aydes of God thereunto aboue all other i Man of nature hathe a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, ẅ is the punishment of sinne, to humble man, and to teache him to depende onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to go otherwise then they do nether can he nombre the faultes that are committed, muche lesse remedie them f whence they returne, and go.

8 All things are ful of labour: man can not vtter it: the eye is not satisfied with seing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 g What is it that hathe bene? that that shalbe: & what is it that hathe bene done that which shalbe done: and there is no new thing vnder the sunne.

10 Is there anie thing, whereof one may say, Beholde this, it is newe? it hathe bene alreadie in the olde time ỹ was before vs.

11 There is no memorie of ỹ former, nether shal there be a remẽbrance of the later that shalbe, with them that shal come after.

12 ¶ h I the Preacher haue bene King ouer Israél in Ierusalém:

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search & finde out wisdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen. (this sore trauail hathe God giuen to the sonnes of men, i to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, and beholde, all is vanitie, and vexacion of the spirit.

15 That which is k croked, can none make straight: & that ẅ faileth, cã not be nõbred.

16 I thoght in mine heart, & said, Beholde, I am become great, and excel in wisdome all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalém: and mine heart hathe sene muche wisdome and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdome & knowledge, l madnes & foolishnes: I knewe also ỹ this is a vexaciõ of the spirit.

18 For in ỹ multitude of wisdome is muche m grief: & he that encreaseth knowledge, encreaseth sorowe.

l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherin was no commoditie, but grief & trouble of conscience m Wisdome & knowledge can not be come by without great peine of bodie and minde for when a man hathe attained to the hieft, yet is his minde neuer fully content. therefore in this worlde is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buyldings, riches and possessiõs are but vanitie. 14 The wise and the foole haue bothe one end, touching the bodelie death.

1 I Said in mine heart, Go to now, I wil proue a thee with ioye: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: & beholde, this also is vanitie.

a Salomõn maketh this discours with him self, as though he wolde trye whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioye, What is this that thou doest?

3 I soght in mine heart "to giue my self to wine, & to lead mine heart in b wisdome, and to take holde of folie, til I might se where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they "enioye vnder the sunne: the whole nomber of the daies of their life.

"Ebr drawe my flesh to wine.

b Albeit I gaue my self to pleasures, yet I thoght to kepe wisdome & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue buylt me houses: I haue plãted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens and "orchardes, and planted in them trees of all frute.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to "watter therewith the woods that growe with trees.

"Ebr do

"Ebr. paradises

7 I haue gotten seruants & maids, and had children borne in the c house: also I had great possession of beues and shepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalém.

c Meaning, of the seruants or sclaues, ẅ he had boght: so the childrẽ borne in their seruitude, were the masters.

8 I haue gathered vnto me also siluer and golde, and the chief treasures of Kings & prouinces: I haue prouided me mẽ singers and women singers, and the d delites of the sonnes of men, as a woman e taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

d That is, what soeuer men take pleasure in.

e Which were the most beautiful of them that were taken in warre, as Iudges. 5, 30. Some vnderstand by these wordes, noe women but instruments of musike

9 And I was great, and encreased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisdome f remained with me.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me

10 And what soeuer mine eyes desired, I withhelde it not from thẽ: I withdrew not mine heart from anie ioye: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my g portion of all my trauail.

g This was ỹ frute of all my labour, a certeine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse

11 Thẽ I loked on all my workes that mine hands had wroght, and on the trauail that I had labored to do: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexacion of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to beholde h wisdome, & madnes and folie: (for who is the man that 'wil come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)

h I bethoght with my self whether it were better to followe wisdome, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes.

'Or, compare with the King. Prou. 17, 24.

13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisdome, more then in folie: as the light is more excellent then darkenes.

14 *For the wise mans i eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darkenes: yet I knowe also that the same k condition falleth to them all.

i He foreseeth things, ẅ the foole can not for lacke of wisdome k For bothe dye & are forgotten, as verse 16, or they bothe alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

15 Then I thoght in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole. Why therefore do I thẽ labour to be more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shalbe no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole l for euer. for that that now is, in the daies to come shal all be forgotten. And m how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

l Meaning, in this worlde.

m He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, assone as they do a foole.

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke ỹ is wroght vnder ỹ sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanitie, & vexacion of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder ỹ sunne, which I shal leaue to the man that shalbe after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shalbe wise or foolish? yet shal he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, & wherein I haue shewed my self wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.

n That I might seke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefs this was not ỹ least to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauail, to one ỹ had taken no peine therefore, and whome he knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart n abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauail is in wisdome, & in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a mã that hathe not trauailed herein, shal he o giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great grief.

22 For

22 For what hathe man of all his trauail and griefe of his heart, wherein he hathe trauailed vnder the sunne?
23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his trauail griefe. his heart also taketh not rest in the night, which also is vanitie.
24 There is no profite to mā but that he eat, and drinke, and delite his soule with the profite of his labour. I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.
25 For who colde eat, and who colde haste to outward things more then I?
26 Surely to a mā that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdome, and knowledge, and ioye: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God this is also vanitie, & vexacion of the spirit.

g When man hathe all his labour can get no more then our mere sustenaunce he cōcludeth also that the chiefe ende of Gods seruice, as Christ also willeth vs, is not to pleasures.

CHAP. III.

All things haue their time 14 The workes of God are perfite, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shal iudge bothe the iuste, and vniuste.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes, first to declare y there is nothing in this worlde perpetuall next to teache vs not to be grieued, sith we haue not all things at once according to our desires, nether enioye them so long as we wolde wish.

1 TO all things there is an a appointed time, and a time to euerie purpose vnder the heauen.
2 A time to be borne, & a time to dye: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that, which is planted.
3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to buylde.
4 A time to wepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.
5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.
6 A time to seke, and a time to lose: a time to kepe, and a time to cast away.
7 A time to rēt, & a time to sowe: a time to kepe silence, and a time to speake.
8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

b Read Chap 3,13.
c God hathe giuen man a desire and affection to labour out the things of this worlde and to labour therein
d Read Chap 2,24 and these places declare that we shulde do all things with sobrietie, & by feare of God, forasmuche as he giueth not his gifts to y intēt that they shulde be abused
e That is, man shal neuer be able to let Gods workes, but as he hathe determined, so it shal come to passe: & God onely considereth that, which is past, to returne.

9 What profite hathe he that worketh, of y thing wherein he trauaileth?
10 I haue sene the trauail that God hathe giuen to the sonnes of men b to humble them therby.
11 He hathe made euerie thing beautiful in his time: also he hathe set the c worlde in their heart, yet can not man finde out the worke that God hathe wroght from the beginning euen to the end.
12 I knowe that there is nothing good in thē, but to reioyce, & to do good in his life.
13 And also that euerie mā eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour. this is the d gift of God.
14 I knowe that whatsoeuer God shal do, it shalbe for euer: to it can no man adde, and frō it can none diminish: for God hathe done it, y they shulde feare before him.
15 What is that that hathe bene? that is now: & that that shalbe, hathe now bene: for God f requireth that which is past.
16 And moreouer I haue sene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.
17 I thoght in mine heart, God wil iudge the iuste & the wicked. for time is g there for euerie purpose and for euerie worke.
18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had h purged them: yet to se to, they are in thē selues as beasts.
19 For the condition of the children of mē, and the condition of beastes are euē as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth the other. for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast. for all is vanitie.
20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shal returne to the dust.
21 Who k knoweth whether the spirit of man ascende vpward, and the spirit of the beast descend downeward to the earth?
22 Therefore I se that there is nothing better then y a man shulde l reioyce in his affaires, because y is his portion. For who shal brīg him to se what shalbe after him?

g Meaning, y God, howsoeuer man neglecte his duetie h And made them pure in their first creation i Man is not able by his reason, & iudgement to put difference betwene man & beast, as touching those things as hereto both are subiect & for the eye cā not iudge one other wise of a man being dead, thē of a beast, y is dead yet by y worde of God and faith we easily knowe the diuersitie, as vers 21
k Meaning, that reason cā not comprehend y which faith beleueth herein l By the often repetition of this sentēce, as Chap 2,24 & chap 3,12, and 22 chap 5,17 & chap 8,15 he declareth that mā by reason cā cōprehend nothing better in this life thē to vse the gifts of God iustly & cōtentedly for to know further is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are ful of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie 13 A yong man poore, and wise is to be preferred to an olde King that is a foole.

1 SO a I turned, and cōsidered all the oppressions that are wroght vnder the sunne, & beholde, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them. and lo, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.
2 Wherefore I praised the b dead which now are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.
3 And I counte him c better then them bothe, which hathe not yet bene. for he hathe not sene the euil workes which are wroght vnder the sunne.
4 Also I behelde all trauail, and all d perfection of workes that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour. this also is vanitie and vexacion of spirit.
5 The foole foldeth his hands, and e eateth vp his owne flesh.
6 Better is an handful with quietnes, then two handfuls with labour and vexacion of spirit.
7 Again I returned, and sawe vanitie vnder the sunne.
8 There is one alone, and there is not a secōde, which hathe nether sonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his trauail, nether cā his eye be satisfied with riches: nether doth he thinke, For whome do I trauail and defraude my soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euil trauail.
9 f Two are better then one: for they haue a He maketh here another discours with him self cōcerning the tyrānie of them y oppressed the poore

b Because they are no more subiect & to the oppressions of the speaker, according to y iudgemēt of y flesh, w cā not abide to se, or sensibly feele the miseries of the wicked
c The more part of the workes of the wicked is enuied of y wicked d For vtterlie he is cōpelled to destroye him self e Forasmuche as when mā is aloue, he can neither helpe him self nor others, he sheweth y mē ought to liue in mutuall societie, to y intent they may helpe one another, & y their things may encrease better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one wil lift vp his fellowe: but wo vnto him that is alone: for he falleth, and there is not a ſeconde to lift him vp.

g By this prouerbe he declareth how neceſſarie it is, ẏ men ſhulde liue in ſocietie

h That is, frō a poore, & baſe eſtate, or out of trouble, & priſon, as Ioſeph did, Gen 41, 14

i Meaning, ẏ is borne a King.

11 Alſo if two ſlepe together, then ſhal they haue heat: but to one how ſhulde there be heat?

k Which follow, & flatter ẏ Kings ſonne, or him ẏ ſhal ſucceede to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine.

12 And if one ouercome him, two ſhal ſtande againſt him: and a threfolde g coard is not eaſely broken.

l They neuer ceaſe by all meanes to crepe into fauour: but when they obteine not their greadie deſires, they thinke thē ſelues abuſed, as other haue bene ī time paſt, and ſo care no more for him 13 Better is a poore and wiſe childe, then an olde and fooliſh King, which wil no more be admoniſhed.

m That is, w what affection thou comeſt to heare ẏ worde of God.

14 For out of the h priſon he cometh forthe to reigne: when as he that is i borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

n Meaning, of the wicked, w thinke to pleaſe God w ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

15 I behelde all the liuing, which walke vnder the ſunne, k with the ſeconde childe, which ſhal ſtande vp in his place.

16 There is none l end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, ſhal not reioyce in him: ſurely this is alſo vanitie and vexation of ſpirit.

17 Take hede to thy m foote when thou entreſt into he Houſe of God, and be more nere to heare then to giue the ſacrifice of n fooles: for they knowe not that they do euil.

CHAP. V.

Not to ſpeake lightely, chefely in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue ynough. 11 The laborers ſlepe is ſwete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contēted minde is the gift of God.

1 BE not a raſh with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be haſtie to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on ẏ earth: therefore let thy wordes be b fewe.

a Ether ſ vowing or in praying meaning ẏ we ſhulde vſe all reuerēce to God warde

b He heareth thee not for thy manie wordes ſake, or often repetitions, but conſidereth thy faith, and feruent minde

2 For as a dreame cometh by the multitude of buſines: ſo the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of wordes.

3 Deut. 23, 21. *When thou haſt vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he deliteth not in fooles. paye therefore ẏ thou haſt c vowed.

c He ſpeaketh of vowes, w are approued by Gods worde, and ſerue to his glorie.

4 It is better that thou ſhuldeſt not vowe, then that thou ſhuldeſt vowe and not paye it.

d Cauſe not thy ſelf to ſinne by vowing raſhely: as thei do w make a vowe to liue vnmaried, and ſuche like.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy d fleſh to ſinne: nether ſay before the e Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore ſhal God be angrie by thy voyce, & deſtroye the worke of thine hands?

e That is, before Gods meſſenger whē he ſhal examine thy doing: as though thy ignorāce ſhulde be a iuſt excuſe

6 For in the multitude of dreames, & vanities are alſo manie wordes: but feare thou God.

f Meaning, ẏ God wil redreſſe theſe things, & therfore we muſt depēd vpō hī.

7 If in a countrey thou ſeeſt the oppreſsiō of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iuſtice, be not aſtonied at the matter: for he that is f higher then the higheſt, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the g abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King h alſo conſiſteth by the field that is tilled.

g The reuenues of ẏ earth are to be preferred aboue all things, w apperteine to this life.

h Kings and princes cā not maintein their eſtate without tillage, w thīg commēdeth ẏ excellencie of tillage.

9 He that loueth ſiluer, ſhal not be ſatiſfied with ſiluer, & he that loueth riches, ſhal be without the frute therof: this alſo is vanitie.

10 Whē goods encreaſe, they are encreaſed that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

i That is, his great abūdāce of riches, or ẏ ſurfeting, w cometh by his great feding.

11 The ſlepe of him that trauaileth, is ſwete, whether he eat litle or muche: but the i ſacietie of the riche wil not ſuffer him to ſlepe.

k When couetous men heape vp riches, which turne to their deſtruction.

12 There is an euil ſickēnes that I haue ſene vnder the ſunne: to wit, riches k reſerued to the owners thereof for their euil.

l He doeth nor enioye his fathers riches. Iob. 1, 21. Wiſd. 7, 6. 1 Tym. 6, 7.

13 And theſe riches periſh by euil trauail, & he begetteth a ſonne, and in his l hand is nothing.

14 As he came forthe of his mothers belly, he ſhal returne naked to go as he came, & ſhal beare away nothing of his labour, which he hathe cauſed to paſſe by his hād.

15 And this alſo is an euil ſickenes that in all pointes as he came, ſo ſhal he go, and what profite hathe he that he hathe trauailed for the m winde?

m Meaning, in vaine, & without profit

16 Alſo all his dayes he eateth in n darkenes with muche grief, and in his ſorow & angre.

n In affliction, and griefe of minde.

17 Beholde then, what I haue ſene good, that it is comelie to o eat, and to drinke, & to take pleaſure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the ſunne, ẏ whole nōber of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

o Read Chap. 3, 22.

18 Alſo to euerie man to whome God hathe giuen riches and treaſures, and giueth him power to eat thereof, and to take his parte, and to enioye his labour: this is the gift of God.

p He wil take no greate thoght for the peines that he hathe endured in time paſt.

19 Surely he wil not muche remember the dayes of his p life, becauſe God anſwereth to the ioye of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miſerable eſtate of him to whome God hathe giuen riches, and not the grace to vſe them.

1 THere is an euil, which I ſawe vnder the ſunne, and it is muche among mē:

q He ſheweth that it is the plague of God when ẏ riche man hathe not a liberal heart to vſe his riches

2 A man to whome God hathe giuen riches and treaſures and honour, and he wanteth nothing for his ſoule of all that it deſireth: but a God giueth him not power to eat thereof, but a ſtrange man ſhal eat it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euil ſickenes.

b If he cā neuer haue ynough.

c As we ſe often times, that ẏ couetous mā ether falleth into crimes ẏ deſerue death, or is murthered or drowned or hangeth hī ſelf or ſuch like, & ſo lacketh the honour of buryal which is the laſt office of humanitie

3 If a man beget an hundreth children and liue manie yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his ſoule be not b ſatiſfied with good things, and he be not c buryed, I ſay that an vntimelie frute is better then he.

d Meaning, ẏ vntimelie ſcrute whole life did neither profite or hurt aule.

4 For d he cometh into vanitie and goeth into into darkenes: & his name ſhalbe couered with darkenes.

563/1224

5 Alſo he hathe not ſene ỹ ſunne, nor knowē it: therefore this hathe more reſt then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thouſād yeres twiſe tolde, and had ſene no good, ſhal not all go to one place?

a His deſire & affection is to get knowledge, but he findeth to vse his goods well in the one nor the other.

7 All the labour of mā is for his mouth: yet the [c] ſoule is not filled.

b He ſpeaketh this to ſhew that which God hathe giuen, is better then to followe the deſires that neuer can be ſatisfied in this liuing. God who wil make him to feele that he is mortal

8 For what hathe the wiſe man more then the foole? what hathe ỹ poore that [f] knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The [g] ſight of the eye is better then to walke in the luſtes: this alſo is vanitie and vexacion of ſpirit.

10 What is that that hathe bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man, and he can not ſtriue with him that is [h] ſtronger then he.

Diuers precepts to followe that which is good, and to auoide the contrarie.

Chap VII

a There is no ſtate, wherein man can liue to haue perfite quietnes in this life Iob 14,2. pſal 145,4. Prou 22,1.

b He ſpeaketh thus after the iudgement of ỹ fleſh, which thinketh death to be the end of all euils or elſe, b cauſe ỹ this corporal death is the entring into the euerlasting life. c Where we muſt learne ỹ hād of God & learne to examine our liues d Which crackel for a while and profite nothing

1 Vrely there be manie things that increaſe vanitie & what auaileth it mā?

2 For who knoweth what is [a] good for man in the life & in the nomber of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, ſeing he maketh thē as a* ſhadow? For who can ſhewe vnto man what ſhalbe after him vnder ỹ ſunne?

*A good name is better then a good oyntment, and the day of [b] death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the houſe of [c] mourning, then to go to the houſe of feaſting, becauſe this is the end of all men. and the liuing ſhal lay it to his heart.

5 Angre is better then laughter: for by a ſad ſoke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wiſe is in the houſe of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the houſe of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wiſe man, then that a mā ſhulde heare the ſong of fooles.

8 For like the noiſe of the [d] thornes vnder the pot, ſo is the laughter of the foole. this alſo is vanitie.

9 Surely oppreſsiō maketh a wiſe mā mad: and the rewarde deſtroyeth the heart.

e A man that is eſteemed wiſe, when he falleth to oppreſsion, becōmeth like a beaſt

10 The [e] end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, & the pacient in ſpirit is better then the proude in ſpirit.

f He noteth their lightnes ẅ entreprise a thing, & ſuddenly leaue it of againe 11 Be not ỹ [n] of an haſtie ſpirit to be angrie: for angre reſteth in the boſome of fooles.

g Murmure not againſt God when he ſendeth aduerſities for mans ſinnes 12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better thē theſe? for thou doeſt not enquire [g] wiſely of this thing.

h He anſwereth to them ỹ eſteme not wiſdome, except riches be ioyned therewith, ſhewing that bothe are the gifres of God, but that wiſdome is farre more excellent & may be without riches.

13 Wiſdome [h] is good with an inheritāce, and excellent to them that ſe the ſunne.

14 For man ſhal reſt in the ſhadowe of wiſdome, & in ỹ ſhadowe of ſiluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wiſdome giueth life to the poſſeſſers thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make * ſtraight that which he hathe made croked? Chap.1,15.

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, & in the day of affliction [i] conſider: God alſo hathe made this contrary to that, to the intent that mā ſhulde finde [k] nothing after him.

i Conſider wherefore God doeth ſend it and what mate comfort thee k That man ſhulde be able to controlle nothing in his workes.

17 I haue ſene all things in the daies of my vanitie: there is a iuſte man that periſheth in his [l] iuſtice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

l Meaning, that cruel tyrants put the godlie to death and let the wicked go free 18 Be not thou iuſte [m] ouermuche, nether make thy ſelf ouer wiſe: wherefore ſhuldeſt thou be deſolate?

m Boaſt not to muche of thine owne iuſtice and wiſdome

19 Be not thou wicked [n] ouermuche, nether be thou fooliſh: wherefore ſhuldeſt thou periſh not in thy time?

n Tarie not long when ỹ art admoniſhed to come out of the waie of wickednes

20 It is good that thou laie holde on [o] this: but yet withdrawe not thine hand from [p] that: for he that feareth God, ſhal come forthe of them all.

o To wit, on theſe admonitions that go before p Conſider what deſolatiō & deſtructiō ſhal come, if thou do not obeie them 1 King 8,46. 2 chro 6,48. prou 20,9. 1 ioh 1,8.

21 Wiſdome ſhal ſtrengthen the wiſe man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 * Surely there is no man iuſt in the earth, that doeth good and ſinneth not.

23 Giue not thine [q] heart alſo to all ỹ wordes that men ſpeake, leſt thou do heare thy ſeruant curſing thee.

q Credit them not, nether care for them, for ofte ſpoken euil of others

24 For often times alſo thine heart knoweth that thou likewiſe haſt [r] curſed others

25 All this haue I proued by wiſdome: I thoght I wil be wiſe, but it went farre from me.

r Meaning, wiſdome

26 It is farre of, what maner it be? and it is a profound depenes, who can finde it?

27 I haue compaſſed about, bothe I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to ſearche wiſdome and reaſon, and to knowe the wickednes of folie, and the fooliſhnes of madnes, 28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whoſe heart is as nettes & ſnares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, ſhalbe deliuered from her, but ỹ ſinner ſhalbe taken by her.

29 Beholde, ſaith the Preacher, this haue I founde, ſeking one by one to [s] finde ỹ cōſute:

s That is, to come to a concluſion

30 And yet my ſoule ſeketh, but I finde it not. I haue founde one man of a thouſand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde.

31 Onely lo, this haue I founde, that God hathe made man righteous: but they haue ſought manie [t] inuentions.

t And ſo are cauſe of their owne deſtruction

CHAP. VIII.

To obey Princes and Magiſtrates. 17 The workes of God paſſe mans knowledge.

1 Who is as the wiſe man? and who knoweth the interpretacion of a thing? the wiſdome of a man [a] eth make his [a] face to ſhine: and the [b] ſtrength of his face ſhalbe changed.

2 I aduertiſe thee to take hede to the [c] mouth of the King, and to the worde of the othe of God.

3 [d] Haſte not to go forthe of his ſight: ſtand not in an euil thing: for he wil do whatſoeuer pleaſeth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, there is power, and who ſhal ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

5 He that kepeth the commandement, ſhal knowe none euil thing, and the heart of the wiſe ſhal knowe the [e] time and iudgement.

6 For to euerie purpoſe there is a time and iudgement becauſe the [f] miſerie of man is great, vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which ſhalbe: for who can tel him when it ſhalbe?

8 Man is not lord [g] ouer the ſpirit to reteine the ſpirit: nether hathe he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, nether ſhal wickednes deliuer the poſſeſſers thereof.

9 All this haue I ſene, and haue giuen mine heart to euerie worke, which is wroght vnder the ſunne, and I ſawe a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne [h] hurt.

10 And likewiſe I ſawe the wicked buryed, and [i] they returned, and they that came from the holie [k] place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this alſo is vanitie.

11 Becauſe ſentence againſt an euil worke is not [l] executed ſpedely, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully ſet in thē to do euil.

12 Though a ſinner do euil an hūdreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I knowe that it ſhalbe wel with them that feare the Lord, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it ſhal not be wel to the wicked, nether ſhal he prolong his dayes: he ſhalbe like a ſhadowe, becauſe he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpō the earth, that there be righteous men to whome it cometh according to the [m] worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whome it cometh according to the worke of the iuſte: I thoght alſo that this is vanitie.

15 And I praiſed ioye: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the ſunne, ſaue [n] to eat and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hathe giuen him vnder the ſunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to knowe wiſdome, and to beholde the buſines that is done on earth, that nether day nor night the eyes of man take ſlepe,

17 Then I beheld e ẏ whole worke of God, that mā can not finde out the worke that is wroght vnder the ſunne. for the which man laboreth to ſeke it, and can not finde it: yea, and thogh the wiſe man thinke to knowe it, he can not finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whome God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wiſdome excelleth ſtrength.

1 I haue ſuerly giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iuſte, & the wiſe, and their workes are in the hand of God. & no man knoweth ether loue or [a] hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the ſame condition is to the iuſte and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, & to the polluted, & to him that ſacrificeth, & to him that ſacrificeth not: as is the good, ſo is the ſinner, he that ſweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euil among all that is done vnder the ſunne, that there is one [b] condition to all, and alſo the heart of the ſonnes of men is ful of euil, and madnes is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whoſoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

5 For the liuing knowe that they ſhal dye, but the dead knowe nothing at all: nether haue they anie more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Alſo their loue, and their hatred, & their enuie is now periſhed, and they haue no more portion foreuer, in all that is done vnder the ſunne.

7 Go, eat thy bread with ioye, & drinke thy wine with a chereful heart: for God now [d] accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be [e] white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 "* Reioyce with the wife whome ỹ haſt loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, ẅ God hathe giuen thee vnder the ſunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, & in thy trauail wherein thou laboreſt vnder the ſunne.

10 All that thine hand ſhal finde to do, do it with all thy power: for there is nether worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wiſdome in the graue whether thou goeſt.

11 I returned, & I ſawe vnder thē ſunne that the race is not to the ſwift, nor the battel to thē ſtrōg, nor yet bread to the wiſe, nor alſo riches to men of vnderſtāding, nether yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and [f] chance cometh to them all.

12 For nether doeth man knowe his [g] time, but as the fiſhes, which are taken in an euil net, a That is, doeth get him fauour & proſperitie

b Whereas before he was proude and arrogant, he ſhal become humble and meke.
c That is, that thou obey the King, & kepe the othe that thou haſt made for the ſame cauſe d Withdrawe not thy ſelfe lightly from the obedience of thy prince.
e That is, whē time is to obey, and how farre he ſhulde obey
f Man of him ſelf is miſerable, and therefore ought to do nothing to increaſe the ſame, but to worke all things by wiſdome, & counſel g Man hathe no power to ſaue his owne life, & therefore muſt not raſhely caſt him ſelf into danger.
h As cometh oft times to tyrāts, and wicked rulers.
i That is, others as wicked as they k They that feared God, & worſhiped hī according as he had appointed.

a Meaning, what things he eg it to enuie or refuſe or mā knoweth not by theſe outward things, ỹ is by proſperitie or aduerſitie, whome God doeth fauour or hate: for he ſendeth them aſwel to the wicked as to the godlie
b In outward things as riches, and pouertie, ſickues, & helth there is no differēce betwene the godlie, & the wicked but ỹ difference is that ỹ godlie are aſſured by faith of Gods fauour & aſſiſtance
c He noteth ỹ Epicures, and carnal men, ẅ made their belly their god, & had no pleaſure but in this life, wiſhing rather to be an abiect, & vile perſone in this life, then a man of authoritie, and ſo to dye, which is ment by the dog and lyon.

e Reioyce, be merry, and ſpare for no coſt. thus ſpeake ỹ wicked belligods net, & as the birdes that are caught in the ſnare: ſo are the children of men ſnared in the euil time when it falleth vpon them ſuddenly.

13 I haue alſo ſene this wiſdome vnder the ſunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A litle citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came againſt it, and compaſſed it about, and buylded fortes againſt it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wiſe man, and he deliuered the citie by his wiſdome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then ſaid I, Better is wiſdome then ſtrength: yet the wiſdome of the poore is deſpiſed, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wiſe are more heard in quietnes, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wiſdome then weapons of warre: but one ſinner deſtroyeth muche good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of fooliſhnes and wiſdome. 11 A ſclanderer is like a ſerpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of fooliſh Kings, and dronken princes. 17 And of good Kings and princes.

1 DEad flies cauſe to ſtinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: ſo doeth a litle folie him that is in eſtimation for wiſdome, and for glorie.

a So that he doeth all thigs wel, & iuſtly, where as the foole doeth ỹ contrary

2 The heart of a[a] wiſe mã is at his right hãd: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

b By his doĩgs he bewraieth him ſelf.

3 And alſo whẽ the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he [b] telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

c If thy ſuperiour be angry with thee, be thou diſcrete, & not moued

4 If the [c] ſpirit of him that ruleth, riſe vp againſt thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenes pacifieth great ſinnes.

d Meaning, ỹ it is an euil thing whẽ thei that are in authoritie, faile, & do not their duetie

5 There is an euil that I haue ſene vnder the ſunne, as an [d] error that procedeth frõ the face of him that ruleth.

e They that are riche in wiſdome and vertue.

6 Folie is ſet in great excellencie, and the [e] riche ſet in the lowe place.

7 I haue ſene ſeruants on horſes and princes walking as ſeruants on the grounde.

Pſal.7.16. prou.26,27. eccleſ.27,30.

8 *He that diggeth a pit, ſhal fall into it, & he that breaketh the hedge, a ſerpent ſhal bite him.

9 He ỹ remoueth ſtones, ſhal hurt him ſelf thereby, & he that cutteth wood, ſhalbe in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hathe not whet the edge, he muſt then put to more [f] ſtrength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wiſdome.

f Without wiſdome what ſoeuer a man taketh in hãd, turneth to his owne hurte.

11 If the ſerpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wiſe man haue grace: but the lippes of a foole deuoure him ſelf.

13 The beginning of ỹ wordes of his mouthe is fooliſhnes, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnes.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, ſaying, Man knoweth not what ſhalbe: and who can tel him what ſhalbe after him?

15 The labour of the fooliſh doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the [g] citie.

g The ignorance & beaſtlines of ỹ wicked is ſuch, ỹ thei knowe not cõmune thigs, & yet wil thei diſcuſſe hie matters.

16 Wo to thee, ô land, when thy King is a [h] childe, and thy princes [i] eat in the morning.

h That is, without wiſdome and coũſel.

i Are giuen to their luſtes & pleaſures.

17 Bleſſed art thou, ô land, when thy King is the ſonne [k] of nobles, and thy princes eat in time, for ſtrength and not for dronkinnes.

k Meaning, whẽ he is noble for vertue & wiſdome & with the giftes of God.

18 By ſlouthfulnes ỹ roofe of the houſe goeth to decay, and by the ydlenes of the hands the houſe droppeth through.

19 Thei prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but ſiluer anſwereth to all.

20 Curſe not the Kĩg, no not in thy thoght, nether curſe the riche in thy bed chamber: for the [l] foule of the heauen ſhal cary the voice, & that which hathe wings, ſhal declare the matter.

l Thou canſt not worke euil ſo ſecretly, but it ſhal be knowen.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doute of Gods prouidẽce. 8 All worldelie proſperitie is but vanitie. 9 God wil iudge all.

1 CAſt thy bread vpon the [a] waters: for after manie daies thou ſhalt finde it.

a That is, be liberal to the poore, & though it ſeme to be as a thing ventred on ỹ ſea, yet it ſhal brĩg thee profite.

2 Giue a portion to ſeuen, & alſo to eight: for thou knoweſt not what euil ſhalbe vpon the earth.

b As the cloudes that are ful, powre out raine, ſo theriche that haue abũdance, muſt diſtribute it liberally

3 If the [b] cloudes be ful, they wil powre forthe raine vpon the earth: and if the [c] tre do fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tre falleth, there it ſhalbe.

c He exhorteth to be liberal, while we liue: for after there is no power

4 He that obſerueth the [d] winde, ſhal not ſowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, ſhal not reape.

d He that feareth inconueniences, when neceſſitie requireth, ſhal neuer do his duetie.

5 As thou knoweſt not which is the way of the ſpirit, nor how the bones do growe in the wombe of her that is with childe: ſo thou knoweſt not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning ſowe thy ſede, and in the euening let not thine hand [e] reſt: for thou knoweſt not whether ſhal proſper, this or [f] that, or whether bothe ſhalbe alike good.

e Be not weary of well doing.

f That is, ỹ of thy workes are moſte agreable to God.

7 Surely the light is a pleaſant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to ſe ỹ ſunne.

8 Though a man liue manie yeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he ſhal remember the daies of [g] darknes, becauſe thei are manie, all that cometh is vanitie.

g That is, of affliction & trouble

9 [h] Reioyce, ô yong man, in thy youth, & let thine heart chere thee in the daies of thy youth: and walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the ſight of thine eyes: but knowe that for all theſe things, God wil bring thee to iudgement.

h He derideth them that ſet their delite in worldelie pleaſures, as though God wolde not call them to an accounte.

10 Therefore take away [a] grief out of thine heart, and cauſe euil [k] to departe from thy fleſh. for childehoode & youth are vanitie.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth and not to differre til age. 7 The ſoule returneth to God as it came to the gift of God and conſiſteth in fearing him and keping his commandements.

1 REmember now thy Creator in the [b] daies of thy youth, whiles the euil daies come not, nor the yeres approche, wherein thou ſhalt ſay, I haue no pleaſure in them:

2 Whiles the ſunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the ſtarres, nor the [a] cloudes returne after the raine:

3 When the [b] keepers of the houſe ſhal tremble, and the [c] ſtrong men ſhal bowe themſelues, and the [d] grinders ſhal ceaſe, becauſe thei are fewe, and they [e] waxe darke that loke out by the windowes:

4 And the [f] doores ſhal be ſhut without by the baſe ſounde of the [g] grinding, and he ſhal riſe vp at the voice of the [h] birde: & all the [i] daughters of ſinging ſhalbe abaſed.

5 Alſo thei ſhalbe afraied of the [k] hie thing, and feare ſhalbe in [l] the way, and the almonde tree ſhal [m] floriſh and the [n] graſshopper ſhalbe a burden, and concupiſcence ſhalbe driuen away. for man goeth to the houſe of his age, and the mourners go about in the ſtrete.

6 Whiles the [o] ſiluer corde is not lengthened, nor the golden [p] ewer broken, nor the [q] pitcher broke at the [r] well, nor the [s] wheele broken at the [t] ciſterne.

7 And duſt returne to the earth as it was, and the [u] ſpirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanitie of vanities, ſaith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wiſe the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, & cauſed them to heare, & ſearched forthe, and prepared manie parables.

10 The Preacher ſought to finde out pleaſant wordes, & an vpright writing, euē the wordes of trueth.

11 The wordes of the wiſe are like goades, and like nailes [x] faſtened by the maiſters of the aſſemblies, which are giuē by one [y] paſtour.

12 And of other thīgs beſides theſe, my ſonne, take thou hede. for there is none end in making manie bookes: and muche reading is a wearines of the fleſh.

13 Let vs heare the end of all: feare God & kepe his commandements: for this is the whole dueтie of man.

14 For God wil bring euerie worke vnto iudgement, with euerie ſecret thing, whether it be good or euil.

a To wit, anger, and crudelitie. Meaning, euerie euil ſuffered in youth is punished.

AN EXCELLENT SONG which was Salomons.

a Ebr. a ſong of ſongs, ſo called because it excelleth all other ſongs, which Salomon made as aforetime, 1 Kin. 4. 32.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this Song, Salomón ly moſte ſwete and comfortalle allegories and parables deſcribeth the perfite loue of Ieſus Chriſt, the true Salomón and King of peace, and the faithful ſoule or his Church, which he hathe ſanctified and adorned to be his ſpouſe, holy, chaſt and without reprehenſion. So that here is declared the ſingular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doth enriche her of his pure bountie and grace without ame of her deſeruings. Alſo the earneſt affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Chriſt deſiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forſaken for ame ſpot or blemiſh that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 LEt him kiſſe me with the kiſſes of his mouth: for thy loue is better than wine.

2 Becauſe of the [b] ſauour of thy good ointments thy name is as an ointment powred out: therefore the [c] virgines loue thee.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church deſireth to reſt Vnder the ſhadowe of Chriſt. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dooue. 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

1 I Am the roſe of the field, & the lilie of the valleis.

a Thus Chriſt preferreth his Church aboue all other thigs

2 Like a lilie among the thornes, ſo is my a loue among the daughters.

b The ſpouſe teſtifieth her great deſire toward her houſband, but her ſtrẽgth faileth her, and therefore ſhe deſireth to be comforted, & felt ir

3 b Like the apple tre amõg the trees of the foreſt: ſo is my welbeloued among the ſonnes of men: vnder his ſhadowe had I delite, & ſate downe: and his frute was ſwete vnto my mouth.

4 He broght me into the wine celler, and loue was his banner ouer me.

c Chriſt chargeth them ẅ haue to do in the Church, as it were by a ſolemne othe, that thei trouble not the quietnes thereof

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am ſicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, & his right hand doeth imbrace me.

7 c I charge you, ô daughters of Ieruſalém, by the roes & by the hindes of the field, that ye ſtirre not vp, nor wakẽ my loue, vntil ſhe pleaſe.

d This is ſpoken of Chriſt, who toke vpõ him our nature to come to helpe his Church.

8 d It is the voice of my welbeloued. beholde, he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and ſkipping by the hilles.

e For aſmuche as his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our fleſh 9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong heart: lo, he e ſtandeth behinde our wall, loking forthe of the windowes, ſhewing him ſelfe through the f grates.

f So that we can not haue ful knowledge of him in this life

10 My welbeloued ſpake & ſaid vnto me, Ariſe, my loue, my faire one, & come thy way.

g That is, ſinne and error is driuen backe by the comming of Chriſt which is here ofter bed by ỹ ſpring time, when all things flouriſh

11 For beholde, g winter is paſt. the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in ỹ earth· the time of the ſinging of birdes is come, & the voice of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The figtre hathe broght forthe her yong figges. & the vines with their ſmall grapes haue caſt a ſauour: ariſe my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My dooue, that art in the h holes of the rocke, in ỹ ſecret places of ỹ ſtaires, ſhewe me thy ſight, let me heare thy voice: for thy voyce is ſwete, and thy ſight comelie.

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

God, according to his promes Deut. 18, 15. that he wolde neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hathe from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof thei had a special reuelation, but also to interpret & declare the Law, and to applie particularly the doctrine, conteined briefely therein, to the vtilitie & profite of those, to whome thei thoght it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to thre things, which were the grounde of their doctrine: First to the doctrine conteined briefly in the two tables: secondely to the promises & threatenings of the Law: & thirdely, to the couenant of grace & reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto thei neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, thei applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for anie care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their sauegarde by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation they haue more clearely intreated it then Moses, and set forthe more liuely Iesus Christ, in whome this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophetes, and was moste diligent to set out the same, with moste vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he sawe that the disease of the people required. He declareth also manie notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as moste principal pointes conteined in this boke, and a gathering of his sermons that he preached. Which after certeine daies that thei had stand vpon the Temple dore (for the maner of the Prophetes was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certeine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8, 1. & Habak. 2, 2.) the Priests toke it downe and reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bokes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his persone and time, he was of the Kings stocke: for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agre, and prophecied more then 64 yeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whome he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophetes this one thing among other is to be obserued, that thei speake of things to come as thogh thei were now past, because of the certeintie thereof, and that thei colde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsel, and so reueiled them to his Prophetes.

CHAP. I.

2 Isaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbernes, that nether for benefites nor punishmet wolde amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifises are reiected, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 24 He prophecieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 25 And of the restitution thereof a This is a reuelation, prophecie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himselfe to his seruants in olde time, as Nom 12,6 & therefore the Prophetes were called Seers, 1 Sam 9,9 b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah and Ierusalem, but not onely for in this boke are propheties cocerning other nations also 7 Your land is waste, your cities are burnt with fyre, strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrowe n of strangers.

8 And the daughter of o Zión shal remaine like a cotage in a vineyarde, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, & like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hostes p had reserued vnto vs, euen a smale remnant: we shulde haue bene as Sodóm, & shulde haue bene like vnto Gomoráh.

10 Heare the worde of the Lord, ô r princes of Sodóm: hearken vnto the Law of our God, ô people of Gomoráh.

11 What haue I to do with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am ful of the burnt offrings of rams, & of the fat of fed beastes: and I f desire not the blood of bullockes, nor of lambes, nor of goates.

12 Whẽ ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hãds to tread in my courtes?

13 Bring no mo oblacions, t in vaine incẽse is an abominacion vnto me. I can not suffer, our newe moones, nor sabbaths, nor solemne daies (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

14 My soule hateth your u newe moones & your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me, I am weary to beare them.

15 And whẽ you shal stretch out your hãds, I wil hide mine eyes from you: and thogh ye make manie prayers, I wil not heare: for your hands are ful x of blood.

16 y Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euil of your workes from before mine eyes, cease to do euil.

17 Learne to z do wel seke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudge the fatherles & defend the widowe.

18 Come now, & let vs reasõ together, saith the Lord. though your sinnes were as crimsin, they shalbe made a white as snowe: thogh they were red like skarlet, they shal be b as woll.

19 If ye c consent and obey, ye shal eat the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sworde: for the mouth of the Lord hathe spoken it.

21 How is the d faithful citie become an harlot? it was ful of iudgement, & iustice lodged therein, but now e they are murtherers.

22 Thy f siluer is become drosse, thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious and companions of g theues: euerie one loueth gifts, & followeth after rewards, they iudge not the fatherles, nether doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hostes, the h mightie one of Israél, Ah, I wil ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

25 Then I wil turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drosse, til it k be pure, & take away all thy tynne.

26 l And I wil restore thy iudges as at the first, and thy coũsellers as at the beginning.

t Without faith & repentaunce

u Your sacrifices offred in the newe moones & feastes x That is, ye conducte hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, & they themselues are voide of faith and mercie

y That is, he meaneth ye spirituall exercising the Iewes to repent & amend their liues

z This kinde of reasoning, by the secondarie table, the Scriptures vse in manie places against the hypocrites, who pretend moste holines & religion in worde, but when their charitie & loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare ye they haue neither faith nor religion

a To knowe if I do accuse you without cause

b Lest sinners shulde pretend anie rigour on Gods parte, he onely willeth the to be pure in heart, & he wil forgiue all their sinnes, were they neuer so manie or great

c He sheweth that whatsoeuer aduersitie a man indureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulitie and disobedience

d That is Ierusalém, which had promised fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her husband

e Giuen to couetousnes and extorcion, which he signified before by blood, vers 15

f Whereas we was pure in thee before, is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shewe

g That is, they maintene the wicked & the extorcioners, & not onely do not punish them, but are them selues suche

h When God wil shewe him self merciful to his Church, he calleth him self, The holie one of Israél but when he hathe to do with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whome no power is able to resist

i I wil take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Iewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them

Which thing yet he doeth with a grief because of his couenant

k Lest the faithful among them shulde be ouercome with this threatning, he addeth this consolacion

l It is onely the worke of God to pourge the heart of man, which thing he doeth because of his promes, made concerning the saluacion of his Church

1 What auaileth it to seke to amend you by punishment, seing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell k By naming the chief partes of the boare, he signifieth, that there was no parte of the whole bodie of the Iewes free from his roddes

l Euerie parte of the bodie, as wel the least as the chefest was plagued m Their plagues were so grieuous that they were incurable, and yet they wolde not repent

n Meaning, of them, that dwell farre of, which, because they loke for no aduauntage of that, which remaineth, destroye all before them o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he wil euer haue a Church to call vpon his Name

q That is, all destroyed

r Ye that for your vices deserued all to be destroyed as they of Sodóm, saue that God of his mercie reserued a little nomber, Lam 3,22

s Although God commanded these sacrifices for a time, as rites and exercises of their faith yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them, Psal 50,14 Ier 6,20. amos 5,21 mich 6,7.

afterwarde shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, & a faithful citie.
27 Zión shalbe redemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in m iustice.
28 And the n destruction of the trangressours and of the sinners shalbe together:
and they that forsake the Lord, shalbe consumed.
29 For they shal be cõfounded for the o okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shalbe ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen.
30 For ye shalbe as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: & as a garden that hathe no water.
31 And the strong shalbe as p towe, and the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shal bothe burne together, & none shal quenche them.

m By iustice is meant Gods faithful promes, ẅ is the cause of ỹ deliuerance of his Church n The wicked shal not be partakers of Gods promes, Psal. 92,9 o That is, the trees & pleasant places, where ye commit idolatrie, which was forbidden, Deut 16,22 p The false god, wherein ye put your cõfidence, shal be consumed as easely, as a piece of towe.

CHAP. II.

2 The Church shalbe restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious & obstinate.

1 THe worde that Isaiáh the sonne of Amóz sawe vpon Iudáh and Ierusalém.
2 *It a shalbe in the last daies, that the moũtaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the moũtaines, & b shal be exalted aboue the hilles, & all nacions shal c flowe vnto it.
3 And manie people shal go, & say, Come, and let vs go vp to d the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iaakób, & he wil teache vs his waies, and we wil walke in his paths: for the e Law shal go forthe of Zión, and the worde of the Lord from f Ierusalém,
4 And g he shal iudge among the natiõs, & h rebuke manie people: they shal i breake their swordes also into mattockes, & their speares into sithes. nacion shal not lift vp a sworde against nacion, nether shal they learne k to fight anie more.
5 O house of Iaakób, come ye, and let vs l walke in the light of the Lord.
6 Surely thou m hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakób, because they are n ful of the East maners, and are sorcerers as the Philistims, o and abunde with strange children.
7 Their land also was ful of p siluer and golde, and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was ful of horses, and their charets were infinite.
8 Their land also was ful of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne hãds, which their owne fingers haue made.
9 And a man bowed him self, and a man q hũbled him self: therefore r spare thẽ not.
10 Enter into the rocke, & hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie.
11 The hie loke of man shalbe humbled, and the loftines of men shalbe abased, & ỹ Lord onely shalbe exalted in s that day.
12 For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shalbe made lowe.
13 Euen vpon all the cedres of Lebanón, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan, 14 And vpon all the high t mountaines, & vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp,
15 And vpon euerie hie towre, and vpon euerie strong wall, 16 And vpon u all the shippes of Tarshísh, and vpon all pleasant pictures.
17 And the hautines of men shalbe brogh lowe, and the loftines of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shal onely be exalted in that day.
18 And the idoles wil he vtterly destroye.
19 Then they shal go * into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, & from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shal arise to destroye the earth.
20 At that day shal man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made them selues to worship them) x to the mowles and to the backes, 21 To go into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shal rise to destroy the earth.
22 Cease you from the man whose y breath is in his nostrelles. for wherein is he to be estemed?

Mich. 4,1.
a The decre and ordinance of God, touching the restauracion of the Church, ẅ is chiefly ment of the time of Christ.
b In an euident place to be sene and discerned
c When the kingdome of Christ shalbe enlarged by ỹ preaching of the doctrine Here also is declared the zeale of the children of God, when they are called d Alluding to mount Zion, where the visible Church then was e Meaning, the whole doctrine of salvacio f This was accomplished, whẽ the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went through all ỹ worlde g The Lord, ẅ is Christ, shal haue all power giuen him
h That they may acknowledge their sinnes, & turne to him i He sheweth the frute of the peace, which the Gospel shulde bring to wit, that men shulde do good one to another, where as before they were enemies
k He speaketh not against the vse of weapons and lawful warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godlie shalbe affected one toward another which peace and loue doeth begynne and growe in this life, but shal be perfited, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus l Seing the Gentiles wilbe so readie, make you haste and shewe them the way to worship God m The Prophet seing the smale hope, that the Iewes wolde conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their sinnes.
n Ful of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East partes o They altogether gaue them selues to the factions of other nacions p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatrie, next their couetousnes, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldelie meanes.
q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superfticions
r This ỹ Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glorie, & that he might feare them ẅ Gods iudgement s Meaning, assone as God shal begin to execute his iudgements.
t By high trees & mountaines are ment them ỹ are proude, and lofty, and thinke them selues moste strong in this worlde u He cõdemneth their vaine cõfidence, which they had in strong holdes, & in their riche marchandise, ẅ brogne in vaine pleasures, wherewith mes mindes became effeminate. Hoseáh 10, 8. luk 23,30. reuel 6,36. & 9,6.
x They shal cast them into moste vile and filthie places, when they perceiue ỹ they are not able to helpe them.
y Cast of your vaine confidẽce of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, & consider that you haue to do with God.

Chap III.

a Because they trusted in their abundance & prosperitie, he sheweth that they shulde be taken frõ thẽ
b The téporal gouernour & the minister c By these he meaneth that God wolde take away euerie thing that was in any estimacion, and wherein they had matie occasion to vãte them selues d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners knowledge & strength.
e For lacke of good regimẽt and order.

3 When

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that cõtrarie to the cõmune maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shalbe founde able or willig to be their gouernour

6 When euerie one shal f take holde of his brother of the house of his father, & say, Thou hast clothing thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand.

7 In that day he shal s sweare, saying, I can not be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 Douteles Ierusalém is fallen, and Iudáh is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glorie.

9 The h tryal of their coũtenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodóm, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euil vnto them selues.

10 i Say ye, Surely it shalbe wel with ỹ iuste: for they shal eat the fruite of their workes.

11 Wo be to the wicked, it shalbe euil with him: for the reward of his hãds shalbe giuen him.

12 k Children are extorcioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: ô my people, they that lead thee, cause thee to erre, and destroye the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shal entre into iudgemẽt with the l Anciẽts of his people and the princes thereof. for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue ye to do, that ye beat my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hoste,

16 The Lord also saith, m Because the daughters of Zión are haute, and walke with o stretched out neckes, and with p wandring eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a r tinkeling with their fete, 17 Therefore shal the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zión balde, and the Lord shal discouer their secret partes.

18 In that day shal the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, & the calles, & the roundetyres,

19 The swete balles, and the brasselets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, & the head bands, & the tablets, & ỹ earings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costelie apparel and the vailes, and the wimpels, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses and the fyne linen, and the hoodes, and the slaunes.

24 And in stead of swete sauour, there shalbe stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, & in stead of diessing of ỹ heer, baldnes, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sacke cloth, & burning in stead of beautie.

25 Thy men t shal fall by the sworde, & thy strength in the battel.

26 Then shal her gates mourne and lamẽt, and she, being desolate, shal sit vpon the grounde.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The smale remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpõ them that remaine.

1 AND in that day shal a seuen women take holde of one man, saying, We wil eat our owne bread, and we wil weare our owne garments: onely b let vs be called by thy name, & take away our c reproche.

2 In that day shal the d budde of the Lord be beautiful and glorious, and the frute of the earth shalbe excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zión, and he ỹ shal remaine in Ierusalém, shal be called holie, and euerie one shalbe e written among the liuing in Ierusalém,

4 When the Lord shal wash the filthines of the daughters of Zión, & purge the f blood of Ierusalém out of ỹ middes thereof by the spirit of g iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shal creat vpon euerie place of mount Zión, and vpõ the assemblies thereof, h a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fyre by night: for vpon all the i glorie shalbe a defense.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadowe in the day for the heat, and a place of refuge and a couert for ỹ storme k & for the raine.

t Meaning, ỹ God wil not onely punish ỹ women, but their housbãdes, ẃ haue suffred this dissolutenes, and also ỹ cõmune weale, ẃ hath not remeded it a When God shal execute his vengeance, there shal not be one man foũde to be ỹ head to manie women, & their contrarie to womanly shamefastnes, shal sue vnto men, and offer them selues to ame condition

Chap IIII

b Be thou our housband, and let vs be called thy wiues

c For so they thoght it to be without an head & housband

d He comforteth ỹ Church in this desolatiõ, which shal spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces shalde be as plentiful towarde the faithful, as though they sprung out of the earth, as Chap 45,8

Some by the bud of ỹ Lord meane Christ

e He alludeth to the boke of life, whereof read Exod 32, 32 meaning Gods secret counsel, wherein his electiõ stedfastly standeth to life euerlasting

f That is, out of cruelte, extorsion, iniurice, and all wickednes

g When things shalbe redressed, that were amisse

h He alludeth to the piller of the cloude, Exod 13, 21 meaning that Gods fauour & protectiõ shulde appeare in euerie place

i The faithful are called the glorie or God because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in them

k God promiseth to be the defeate of his Church against all troubles and dangers

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine he describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice. 11 Their drũkennes 13 Of their captiuitie

1 NOw wil I sing to my b beloued a sõg of my beloued to his vineyard. * My beloued had a c vineyard in a verie fruteful hil,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, d and he buylt a towre in ỹ middes thereof, & made a wine presse therein e thẽ he loked ỹ it shulde bring forthe grapes: but it broght e forthe wilde grapes.

3 Now therefore, ô inhabitants of Ierusalém & mẽ of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, f betwene me, and my vineyarde.

4 What colde I haue done anie more to my vineyarde ỹ I haue not done vnto it? why haue I loked that it shulde bring forthe grapes, & it bringeth forthe wilde grapes?

5 And now I wil tel you what I wil do to my vineyard: I g wil take away ỹ hedge

1 The Prophet by this song teacheth yet before ỹ peoples wives their ingratitude, and Gods mercie

b That is, to God

c Meaning, ỹ he had plãted his Church in a place meete plentiful and abundãt

d He spared no diligence nor cost e In ỹ seuenth verse he declareth what thes were.

f He maketh thẽ iudges in their own cause, for ỹ muche as it was enidẽt ỹ they were the cause of their owne ruine g I wil take no more care for it meaning ỹ he wolde take frõ thẽ his worde & all other cõfortes, & send them contrarie plagues.

as can not be content ẃ comelie apparel according to their degre.

thereof, & it ſhal be eaten vp: I wil breake the wall thereof, & it ſhal be trodē downe:
6 And I wil lay it waſte it ſhal not be cut, nor digged, but briers, & thornes ſhal growe vp. I wil alſo commande the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

h Iudgement and righteouſnes are true frutes of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruel oppreſſers there is no religion

7 ¶Surely the vineyarde of the Lord of hoſtes is the houſe of Iſraél, and the men of Iudáh are his pleaſant plant, and he loked for [h] iudgemēt: but beholde oppreſſiō: for righteouſnes, but beholde [i] a crying.

i Of them that are oppreſſed.

8 Wo vnto thē that ioyne houſe to houſe, and lay field to field, til there be no [k] place, that ye may be placed by your ſelues in the middes of the earth.

k To wit, for the poore to dwell in 9 Thus in mine [l] eares, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes. Surely manie houſes ſhalbe deſolate, euē great, & fayre without inhabitāt.

l I haue heard the cōplaint, and crye of ſ poore

10 For ten acres of vines ſhal yelde one [m] bath, & the ſede of an [n] hómer ſhal yelde an [o] epháh.

m Which cōteineth about tē pottels ſo ỹ euerie acre ſhulde but yelde one pottel n Which conteineth an hūdreth pottels.

o An Epháh conteineth ten pottels, & is in drye things as muche as bath is in licours 11 ¶Wo vnto them, that [p] riſe vp early to followe drunkennes, and to them that cōtinue vntil [q] night, til the wine do inflame them.

p That ſpare no peine nor diligence to followe their luſtes

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feaſtes: but they regarde not the [r] worke of ỹ Lord, nether conſider the worke of his hands.

q Which are neuer weary of their riotig and exceſsme pleaſures but vſe all meanes to pronoke to the ſame r They regarde not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end he hathe created them.

13 Therefore my people [s] is gone into captiuitie, becauſe they had [t] no knowledge, and the glorie thereof are men famiſhed, & the multitude thereof is dryed vp with thirſt.

s That is, ſhal certeinly go: for ſo the Prophetes vſe to ſpeake, as thogh the thig which ſhal come to paſſe, were done already

t Becauſe thei wolde not obey the worde of God

14 Therefore [u] hel hathe inlarged it ſelf, and hathe opened his mouth, without meaſure, and their glorie, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyceth among them, ſhal deſcende into it.

u Meaning, ỹ graue ſhal ſwallowe vp them that ſhal dye for hungre and thirſt, and yet for all this great deſtruction it ſhal neuer be ſatiate

15 And man ſhalbe broght downe, and man ſhalbe humbled, euē the eyes of the proude ſhalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hoſtes ſhalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holie God ſhalbe ſanctified in iuſtice.

17 Then ſhal [x] the lambes fede after their maner, and the ſtrangers ſhal eat the deſolate places of the fat.

x God comforteth ỹ poore lambes of his Church, w had bene ſtrangers in other coūtreis, promiſing that they ſhulde dwel in thoſe places againe, whereof thei had bene depriued by the fat, and cruel tyrants

18 ¶Wo vnto them, that drawe iniquitie [w] y cordes of vanitie, and ſinne, as with cart ropes:

w Which vſe all allurements, occaſions, and excuſes to harden their conſcience in ſinne

19 Which ſay, [z] Let him make ſpede let him haſten his worke, that we may ſe it: & let the coūſel of the holie one of Iſraél drawe nere and come, that we may knowe it.

z He ſheweth what are the wordes of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements, 2 Pet 3.4

20 Wo vnto them that ſpeake good of euil, [a] and euil of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for ſwete, and ſwete for ſowre.

a Which are not aſhamed of ſinne, nor care for honeſtie, but are growen to a deſperate impietie.

21 Wo vnto them that are [b] wiſe in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne ſight.

b Which are contemners of all doctrine & admonition

22 Wo vnto them that are [c] mightie to drinke wine, and to them that are ſtrong to powre in ſtrong drinke c Which are neuer weary, but ſhew their ſtrength, and brągge in gluttonie and drūkennes.

23 Which iuſtifie the wicked for a rewarde, and take away the righteouſnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as ỹ flame of fyre deuoureth the ſtubble, and as the chaffe is conſumed of the flame: ſo their [d] roote ſhalbe as rottennes, and their budde ſhal riſe vp like duſt, becauſe they haue caſt of the Law of the Lord of hoſtes, and contemned the worde of the holie one of Iſraél.

d Bothe they and their poſteritie, ſo that nothing ſhalbe left.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, & he hathe ſtretched out his [e] hand vpon them, and hathe ſmitten them that ỹ mountaines did trēble: and their karcaſes were torne in the middes of the ſtretes, & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was ſtretched out ſtil.

e He ſheweth that God had ſo ſore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene ſo plagued, wolde haue bene more ſenſible, and therefore his plagues muſt continue, til they begin to fele them

26 And he will liſt vp a ſigne [f] vnto the nations a farre, and wil hiſſe vnto them from the end of the earth: & beholde, they ſhal come haſtely with ſpede.

f He wil make ỹ Babylonias to come againſt thē at his becke, and to fight vnder his ſtāderd

27 None ſhal [g] faint nor fall among them: none ſhal ſlumber nor ſlepe, nether ſhal the girdle of his loynes be loſed, nor [h] the latchet of his ſhoes be broken:

g They ſhalbe prompt, and lustie to execute Gods vengeāce

28 Whoſe arrowes ſhalbe ſharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horſe hooſes ſhalbe thoght like flint, & his wheles like a whirle wīde.

h The enemie ſhal haue none impediment

29 His roaring ſhalbe like a lyon, and he ſhal roare like lyons whelpes: they ſhal [i] roare, and lay holde of the pray: thei ſhal take it away, and none ſhal deliuer it.

i Whereby is declared the cruelnie of the enemie

30 And in that day ỹ they ſhal roare vpon them, as the roaring of the ſea: & if [k] they loke vnto the earth, beholde darkenes, and ſorow, and the light ſhalbe darkened in their [l] ſkie.

k The Iewes ſhal finde no ſuccour l In the land of Iudáh.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iſaiáh ſheweth his vocation by the Viſion of the diuine maieſtie 9 He ſheweth the obſtinacie of the people. 11 The deſtruction of the land. 13 The remnant reſerued.

1 IN the yere of the death of King Vzziáh, [a] I ſawe alſo the Lord ſitting vpō an [b] high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower [c] paites thereof filled the temple.

a God ſheweth not him ſelf to mā in his maieſtie, but according as mās capacitie is able to cōprehend him that is by viſible ſignes, as Iohn Baptiſt ſawe the holie Goſt in the forme of a doone a worlde is ful of his glorie.

4 And the linsels of the dore chekes b moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.
5 Then I said, c Wo is me: for I am vndone,because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lippes.for mine eyes haue sene the King and Lord of hostes.
6 Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand,which he had take from the d altar with the tongs:
7 And he touched my mouth, & said, Lo, this hathe touched thy lippes, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away,and thy e sinne shalbe purged.
8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord,saying,Whome shal I send? and who shal go for vs? Then I sayd,Here am I,send me.
9 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, f Ye shal heare in dede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shal plainly se, & not perceiue.
10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie,and shut their eyes,lest they se with their eyes,& heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.
11 Then said I, Lord, g how long? And he answered,Vntil the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man,and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away,and the e be a great desolation in the middes of the land.
13 But yet in it shalbe h a tenth, and shal retuine,and shalbe eaten vp as an elme i or as an oke,which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues so the holie sede shalbe the substance thereof.

His glorie doeth not onely appeare in ỹ heauens, but through all ỹ worlde, and therefore all creatures are boūde to praise him
b Which thīgs were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man and by the smoke was signified the blindenes ỹ shulde come vpon the Iewes
c He speaketh this for two causes ỹ one, because he ỹ was a mortal creature, and therefore had more nede to be ornide of God then the Angels,didst not and the other, because ỹ more nere ỹ man approcheth to God,the more doeth he knowe his owne sinne, & corruption d Of ỹ burnt offrings where the tyre neuer went out e This declareth that man can not rendre true obedience to God, til he haue purged vs
f Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God wil not immediatly take away his worde,but he wil cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his wil,and be saued hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duetie,and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardned, Mat 13,14 act 28,26 rom 11,8 g As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glorie,so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people
h Meaning,the tenth parte or as some write, it was reuciled to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophecie,that ten Kings shulde come before their captiuitie,as were from Vzziah to Zedekiáh i For the fewenes they shal serue to be eaten vp yet they shal after florish as a tre,which in winter loseth his leaues,and semeth to be dead,yet in sommer is fresh,and grene.

2 And it was told the house of b Dauid, saying, Arám is ioyned with c Ephráim: therefore his heart was d moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.
3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiáh, Go forthe now to mete Aház (thou and e Shear-iashúb thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole,in the path of the fullers field,
4 And say vnto him, Take hede, & be stil: feare not,nether be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking f fyrebrandes, for the furious wrath of Rezín and of Aram,and of Remaliahs sonne:
5 Because Arám hathe taken wicked counsel against thee,& Ephráim,& Romaliahs sonne,saying,
6 Let vs go vp against Iudáh, & let vs wake them vp,and make a breche therein for vs,and set a King in the middes thereof, even the sonne of g Tabeal.
7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand,nether shal it be.

b God calleth for the Aſſyrians to be his executioners of his vengeance vpon the Iewes, which were but hypocrites & in their ſinnes

c God declareth ẏ difference of ẏ worke of God & of ẏ wicked in one verſe thing and ſo for God is ment to chaſtice them for their amendement, and the Aſſyrians purpoſe is to deſtroie them to enriche them ſelues thus in reſpect of Gods iuſtice, it is Gods worke, but in reſpect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuil

8 For he ſaith, Are not my princes all together Kings?
9 Is not Calnó as g Carchemiſh? Is not Hamáth like Arpád? Is not Samaria as Damaſcus?
10 Like as mine hãd hathe founde the kingdomes of the idoles, ſeing their idoles were aboue Ieruſalém, and aboue Samaria:
11 Shal not I, as I haue done to Samaria, & to the idoles thereof, ſo do to Ieruſalém and to the idoles thereof?
12 ¶ But when the Lord hathe accõpliſhed h all his worke vpon mount Zión and Ieruſalém, I wil viſit the frute of the proude heart of the King of Aſſhúr, and his glorious and proude lokes, 13 Becauſe he ſaid, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wiſdome, becauſe I am wiſe: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, and haue ſpoiled their treaſures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.
14 And mine hand hathe founde as a neſt the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, ſo haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whiſper.
15 Shal the k axe boaſt it ſelf againſt him ẏ heweth therewith? or ſhal the ſawe exalt it ſelf againſt him that moueth it? as if the rod ſhulde lift vp it ſelf againſt him that taketh it vp, or the ſtaffe ſhulde exalt it ſelf, as it were no wood.
16 Therefore ſhal the Lord God of hoſtes ſend among his fat men, leanenes, and vnder his glorie he ſhal kindle a burning, like the burning of fyre.
17 And the light of Iſraél ſhalbe as a l fyre, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it ſhal burne, and deuoure m his thornes and his briers in one day:
18 And ſhal conſume the glorie of his foreſt, & of his fruteful fields bothe ſoule n and fleſh: and he ſhalbe as the o fainting of a ſtanderd bearer.
19 And the reſt of the trees of his foreſt ſhalbe fewe, that a childe may tel them.
20 ¶ And at that day ſhal the remnant of Iſraél, and ſuch as are eſcaped of the houſe of Iaakób, ſtaye no more vpon him that ſmote them, but ſhal p ſtay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Iſraél in trueth.
21 The remnant ſhal returne, euen the remnant of Iaakób vnto the mightie God.
22 For thogh thy people, ô Iſraél, be as the ſand of the ſea, yet ſhal the remnant of thẽ returne. The conſumption q decreed ſhal ouerflowe with righteouſnes.
23 For the Lord God of hoſtes ſhal make the conſumption, euen r determined, in the middes of all the land.
24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, O my people, that dwelleſt in Zión, be not afraied of Aſſhúr: he ſhal ſmite thee with a rod, and ſhal lift vp his ſtaffe againſt thee after the maner of s Egypt
25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath ſhalbe conſumed, and mine angre in their deſtruction.
26 And the Lord of hoſtes ſhal raiſe vp a ſcõurge for him, according to the plague of t Midian in the rocke Oréb: and as his ſtaffe was vpon the u Sea, ſo he wil lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.
27 And at that day ſhal his burdẽ be taken away from of thy ſhulder, & his yoke frõ of thy necke: & the yoke ſhalbe deſtroyed becauſe of x the anointing.
28 He is come y to Aiáth: he is paſſed into Migrón: at Michmáſh ſhal he lay vp his armour.

30 Lift vp thy voice, ô daughter Gallím, cauſe Laiſh to heare, ô poore Anathóth.
31 Madmenáh is remoued: the inhabitãts of Gebím haue gathered them ſelues together.
32 Yet there is a time ẏ he wil ſtay at Nob: he ſhal lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zión, the hil of Ieruſalém.
33 Beholde, the Lord God of hoſtes ſhal cut of the z bough with feare, and thei of high ſtature ſhalbe cut of, and the hie ſhalbe humbled.

CHAP. XI.

1 Chriſt borne of the roote of Iſhái: 2 His Vertues and kingdome 6 The frutes of the Goſpel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 BVt there ſhal come a a rod forthe of ẏ ſtocke of Iſhái, & a grafe ſhal growe out of his rootes.
2 And the Spirit of the Lord ſhal reſt vpon him: the Spirit of wiſdome and vnderſtanding, the Spirit of counſel & ſtrength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,
3 And ſhal make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he ſhal not iudge after the ſight of his eyes, nether reproue by the hearing of his eares.
4 But with righteouſnes ſhal he iudge the poore, and with equitie ſhal he reproue for the meke of the earth: and he ſhal b ſmite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, & with the breath of his lippes ſhal he ſlaye the wicked.
5 And iuſtice ſhalbe the girdle of his loynes, & faithfulnes the girdle of his raines.

g Seing that I haue ouercome, aſwel one citie as another, ſo that none colde reſiſt, ſhal Ieruſalem be able to eſcape mine hands?

h Whẽ he hathe ſufficiently chaſtified his people (for he beginneth at his owne houſe) thẽ wil he burne the roddes i Meaning, of Sancherib.

k Here we ſe that no creature is able to do ante thing, but as God appointeth him, & that they are all but his inſtruments to do his worke, thogh the intentions be diuerſe, as ver 6

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, & a fyre to burne his enemies

m That is, the Aſſyrians

o When ẏ hoſt is loſt and the ſtanderd taken p This is the end of Gods plagues towards his, to bring them to him and to forſake all truſt in others

q This ſmale nomber, which ſeemed to be conſumed, and yet according to Gods decre is ſaued, ſhalbe ſufficient to fil all the worlde with righteouſnes

r God wil deſtroye thus lãd as he hathe determined, and after ſome a ſmale portiõ.

t Read Chap. 9.4

u When the Iſraelites paſſed through by ẏ lifting vp of Moſes rod, & the enemies were drowned, Exod 14.28

x Becauſe of ẏ promes made to that kingdome, whereby Chriſts kingdome was ſignified

y He deſcribeth by what way the Aſyrias ſhulde come againſt Ieruſalem to cõfirme ẏ faithful, when it ſhulde come to paſſe, that as their plague was com'o ſhulde thei be delivered.

z Perre & deſtruction ſhal come vpon Iudah for the princes and ẏ people ſhal all be led awaie captiues.

a Becauſe the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of ẏ ſpiritual captiuitie vnder ſinne, he ſheweth that our true deliuerance muſt come by Chriſt for as David came out of Iſhái a mã with out dignitie ſo Chriſt ſhulde come of a poore carpenters houſe as out of a dead ſtocke, Chap 53.2

b All theſe properties can agre to none but onely vnto Chriſt for it is he that toucheth the hearties of the faithful and mortifieth their concupiſcences & to the wicked he is ẏ ſauour of death & to them that ſhal periſh: ſo ẏ all ẏ worlde ſhal be ſmitten w this rodde, ẏ is his worde.

6 The c wolfe alſo ſhal dwell with the lãbe, and the leoparde ſhal lye with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beaſt together, and a litle childe ſhal lead them.
7 And the kowe and the beare ſhal fede. their yong ones ſhal lie together: and the lyon ſhal eat ſtrawe like the bullocke.
8 And the ſucking childe ſhal play vpon ỹ hole of the aſpe, & the weaned childe ſhal put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.
9 Then ſhal none hurt nor deſtroy in all the mountaine of mine holines: for the earth ſhalbe ful of the knowledge of the Lord, as d the waters that couer the ſea.
10 And in that day ỹ roote of Iſhái, which ſhal ſtand vp for a ſigne vnto the e people, the naciõs ſhal ſeke vnto it, & his f reſt ſhal be glorious.
11 And in the ſame day ſhal the Lord ſtretch out his hand g againe the ſecond time, to poſſeſſe the remnant of his people, (which ſhalbe left) of Aſſhúr, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elám, & of Shinár, and of Hamáth, and of the yles of the ſea.
12 And he ſhal ſet vp a ſigne to the nacions, and aſſemble the diſperſed of Iſraél, and gather the ſcattered of Iudáh from the foure corners of the worlde.
13 The hatred alſo of Ephráim ſhal departe, and the aduerſaries of Iudah ſhalbe cut of. Ephraim ſhal not enuie h Iudáh, nether ſhal Iudáh vexe Ephráim:
14 But they ſhal flee vpon the ſhoulders of the Philiſtims toward the Weſt: they ſhal ſpoyle them of the East together: Edóm & Moáb ſhalbe the ſtretching out of their hands, & the children of Ammón ſhalbe in their obedience.
15 The Lord alſo ſhal vtterly deſtroye the i tongue of the Egyptians ſea, & with his mightie winde ſhal lift vp his hand k ouer the riuer, and ſhal ſmite him in his ſeuen ſtreames, and cauſe men to walke therein with ſhoes.
16 And there ſhalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Aſſhúr, like as it was vnto Iſraél in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thankeſgiuing of the faithful for the mercies of God.

1 AND thou a ſhalt ſay in that day, O Lord, I wil praiſe thee: thogh thou waſt angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comforteſt me.
2 Beholde, God is my b ſaluació: I wil truſt, and wil not feare: for the Lord God is *my ſtrength and ſong: he alſo is become my ſaluacion.
3 Therefore with ioy ſhal ye c drawe waters out of the welles of ſaluacion.
4 And ye ſhal ſay in that day, ᵛ Praiſe the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.
5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hathe done excellent things: this is known in all the worlde.
6 Crye out, and ſhoute, d ô inhabitant of Zión for great is the holy one of Iſraél in the middes of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Perſians ſhal deſtroye Babylon.

1 THE a burden of Babél, which Iſaiáh the ſonne of Amóz did ſe.
2 Lift vp a ſtãdard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the b hãd, that thei may go into the gates of the nobles.
3 I haue cõmanded them, that I haue c ſanctified. and I haue called the mightie to my wrath, & thẽ that reioyce in my d glorie.
4 The noyſe of a multitude is in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the naciõs gathered together: the Lord of hoſtes nombreth the hoſte of the battel.
5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: euen the Lord with the e weapons of his wrath to deſtroy the whole land.
6 Howle f you, for the day of the Lord is at hand. it ſhal come as a deſtroyer from the Almightie.
7 Therefore ſhal all hands be weakened, & all mens hearts ſhal melt,
8 And thei ſhalbe afrayed: anguiſh & ſorow ſhal take them, and they ſhal haue peine, as a woman that trauaileth: euerie one ſhalbe amaſed at his neighbour, and their faces ſhalbe like g flames of fyre.
9 Beholde, the daye of the Lord cometh, cruel, with wrath and fierce angre to lay the land waſte: and he ſhal deſtroy the ſinners out of it.
10 For the h ſtarres of heauen and the planets thereof ſhal not giue their light: the ſũne ſhalbe darkened in his going forthe, and the moone ſhal not cauſe her light to ſhine.
11 And I wil viſite the wickednes vpon the i worlde, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I wil cauſe the arrogancie of the k proude to ceaſe, and wil caſt downe the pride of tyrants.
12 I wil make a l man more precious then fine golde, euen a man aboue the wedge of golde of Ophir.
13 Therefore I wil ſhake the heauen, and the earth ſhal remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hoſtes, and in the day of his fierce angre.

m Meanig, the power of Babylon with their hired souldiers.

14 And m it shalbe as a chased doe, and as a shepe that no man taketh vp. euerie man shal turne to his owne people, and flee eche one to his owne land.

15 Euerie one that is found, shalbe striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth him self, shal fall by the sworde.

Psal 137,9. n This was not accomplished when Cyrus roke Babylon, but after the death of Alexandre ỹ Great.

16 *Their n children also shalbe broken in pieces before their eies: their houses shalbe spoiled, and their wiues rauished.

17 Beholde, I wil stirre vp the Medes against them, which shal not regard siluer, nor be desirous of golde.

18 With bowes also shal they destroie the children, & shal haue no compassion vpō the frute of the wombe, and their eies shal not spare the children.

19 And Babél the glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God * in Sodóm & Gomoráh.

Genes. 19,25. &c. 50,40.

20 It shal not be inhabited for euer, nether shal it be dwelled in from generacion to generacion: nether shal the o Arabian pitche his tēts there, nether shal the shepherdes make their foldes there.

o Who vseth to go from countrey to coūtrey to finde pasture for their beasts, but there shal thei finde none

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

a He sheweth why God wil haste to destroy his enemies to wit, because he wil deliure his Church

1 For a the Lord wil haue compassion of Iaakób, and wil yet chuse Israél, and cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger b shal ioyne him self vnto them, and they shal cleaue to the house of Iaakób.

b Meaning, ỹ the Gentiles shalbe ioyned with the Church and worship God.

2 And the people shal receiue thē & bring them to their owne place, & the house of Israél shal possesse them in the land of the Lord, for c seruants & handmaids: & they shal take thē prisoners, whose captiues thei were, & haue rule ouer their oppressors.

c Signifying ỹ ỹ Iewes should be superiours to the Gētiles, & ỹ thei should be broght vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby all are broght to the subiectiō of Christ, 2 Co 10,5.

3 ¶ And in that day whē the Lord shal giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didest serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babél, and say, How hathe the oppressor ceased? and the golde thirstie Babél rested?

5 The Lord hathe broken the rodde of the wicked, and the sceptre of the rulers:

a That is, he suffred all violence and iniuries to be done.

6 Which smote the people in angre with a continual plague, & ruled the nations in wrath: if anie were persecuted, he did d not let.

7 The whole worlde is at e rest & is quiet: they sing for ioye.

e Meanig, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thig tyrānie is, seing the inuen sible creatures h ue occasion to reioyce at their destructiō

8 Also the fyrre trees reioyced of thee, & the cedres of Lebanón, saying, Since thou art laide downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

f As though thei feared lest thou shuldest trouble the dead, as ỹ didest the lyuing and here he derideth ỹ proude tyrannie of the wicked, which knowe not ỹ all creatures wish their destruction that thei mai reioyce

9 Hell beneth is moued for thee to f mete thee at thy comming, raising vp the dead for thee, euen all the princes of the earth, and hathe raised from their thrones all the Kings of the nations.

10 All thei shal crye, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is broght downe to the graue, & the sounde of thy violes: the worme g is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings

12 How art thou fallen from heauē, ô h Lucifer, sonne of the morning? & cut downe to the grounde, which didest cast lottes vpon the nations?

h Thou that thoughtest thy self most glorious, and as it were, placed in ỹ heauē for ỹ morning starre, that goeth before the sunne, is called lucifer to whome Nebuchad-nezzar is compared 13 Yet thou saidest in thine heart, I wil ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I wil sit also vpon the mount of the Congregacion in the sides of the i North.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, whereof the Temple was on the North side, as psal 48 2 whereby he meaneth that tyrāts fight against God, when thei persecute his Church, and wolde set thē selues in his place

14 I wil ascēd aboue ỹ height of the cloudes, & I wil be like the moste high.

15 But thou shalt be broght downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

k In marueling at thee

16 Thei that se thee, shal k loke vpon thee & consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, & that did shake the kingdomes?

17 He made the worlde as a wildernes, and destroied the cities thereof, & opened not l the house of his prisoners.

l To set them at liberte noting his crueltie

18 All the Kings of the nacions, euen they all slepe in glorie, euerie one in his owne house.

m Thou wast not buryed in the sepulchre of thy fathers thy tyrannie was so abhorred.

19 But thou art m cast out of thy graue like an abominable branche: like the raimēt of thos ỹ are slaine, & thrust thorowe with a sworde, which go downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder fete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned w̄ them in the graue, because ỹ hast destroied thine owne land, & slaine thy people: the sede of the wicked shal not be renoumed for euer.

n He calleth to the Medes and Persians and all those that shulde execute Gods vengeance.

21 n Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fil the face of the worlde with enemies.

22 ¶ For I wil rise vp against thē (saith the Lord of hostes) and wil cut of from Babél the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephewe, saith the Lord:

23 And I wil make it a possession to ỹ hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I wil swepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

o Or swepers.

24 The Lord of hostes hathe sworne, saying,

Sure-

Surely like as I haue purpoſed, ſo ſhal it come to paſſe, and as I haue conſulted, it ſhal ſtand:

o As I haue begóne to deſtroy the Aſſyrians in Sancherib, ſo wil I continue, & deſtroye them wholy, when I ſhal deliuer you from Babylón 25 o That I wil breake to pieces Aſſhúr in my land, and vpon my mountaines wil I treade him vnder fote: ſo ẏ his yoke ſhal departe from p them, and his burden ſhal be taken from of their ſhuldre.

p Frō ẏ Iewes

26 This is the counſel that is cōſulted vpō the whole worlde, and this is the hād ſtretched out ouer all the nacions, q Read Caap 13,1

27 Becauſe the Lord of hoſtes hathe determined it, and who ſhal diſanul it? and his hand is ſtretched out, and who ſhal turne it away?

r He willeth ẏ Philiſtims not to reioyce becauſe ẏ Iewes are diminiſhed in their power for their ſtrēgth ſhalbe greater then euer it was 28 ¶ In the yere that King Aház dyed, was this q burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole r Paleſtina) becauſe the rod of him that did beat thee, is brokē: for out of the ſerpents roote ſhal come forthe a cockatriſe, and the frute thereof ſhalbe a fyrie flying ſerpent.

ſ The Iſraelites, ẅ were broght to moſte extreme miſerie

t To wit, my people

30 For the ſ firſtborne of the poore ſhalbe fed, & the nedie ſhal lye downe in ſafety: and I wil kil thy roote with famine, & t it ſhal ſlay thy remnant.

u That is, frō the Iewes, or Aſſyrians for they were borne North from Paleſtina x But they ſhalbe all ready, and come together

31 Howle, ô gate, crye ô citie: thou whole land of Paleſtina art diſſolued, for there ſhal come from the u North a ſmoke, and none ſhalbe alone, x at his time appointed.

y Which ſhal come to enquire of the ſtate of the Church z Thei ſhal anſwer, ẏ ẏ Lord doeth defēnu his Church, & thē that ioyne them ſelues thereunto.

32 What ſhal then one anſwer y ẏ meſſengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hathe ſtabliſhed z Zión, & the poore of his people ſhal truſt in it.

CHAP. XV.

A prophecie againſt Moáb.

a Read Chap 15,1

b The chief citie, whereby the whole countrey was ment

THe a burden of Moáb. Surely b Ar of Moáb was deſtroyed & broght to ſilence in a night: ſurely Kir of Moáb was deſtroyed, & broght to ſilence in a night.

c The Moabites ſhal flee to their idoles for ſuccour, but it ſhalbe to late

d Which were cities of Moáb

2 c He ſhal go vp to the temple, and to Dibón to the hie places to wepe: for d Nebó and for Medebá ſhal Moáb howle: vpon all c their heads ſhalbe baldenes, and euerie beard ſhauen.

e For as in the Weſt partes ẏ people vſed to let their heere growe long, when they mourned, ſo in the eaſt partes they cut it of.

3 In their ſtretes ſhal they be girded with ſackecloth: on the toppes of their houſes, and in their ſtretes euerie one ſhal howle, and come downe with weping.

f The Prophet ſpeaketh this in the perſone of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God that ſhulde come vpon them

4 And Heſhbón ſhal crye, & Elealéh: their voyce ſhalbe heard vnto Iáhaz: therefore ẏ warriers of Moáb ſhal ſhowte: the ſoule of euerie one ſhal lament in him ſelf.

g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleaſure, and neuer felt ſorowe.

5 Mine f heart ſhal crye for Moáb: his fugitiues ſhal flee vnto Zóar, g an heiffer of thre yere olde: for they ſhal go vp ẅ weping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonáim they h ſhal raiſe vp a crye of deſtruction.

h He deſcribeth the miſerable diſſipation, and flight of the Moabites.

6 For the waters of Nimrim ſhal be dryed vp: therefore the graſſe is withered, the herbes conſumed, & there was no grene herbe.

7 Therefore what euerie man hathe left, & their ſubſtance ſhal they beare to ẏ i broke of the willowes.

i To hide thē ſelues, & their goods there

8 For the crye went rounde aboute ẏ borders of Moáb: & the howling thereof vnto Eglaím, & the ſkriking thereof vnto Beer Elím, k Of thē that are ſlaine

9 Becauſe the waters of Dimón ſhalbe ful k of blood: for I wil bring more vpon Dimón, euen lyons l vpon him that eſcapeth of Moáb, and to the remnant of the land.

l So that by no meanes they ſhulde eſcape the hand of God thus wil God punith ẏ enemies of his Church

CHAP. XVI.

The cauſes wherefore the Moabites are deſtroyed.

a That is, offer a ſacrifice whereby he derideth their long delay, which wolde not repent whē the Lord called thē, ſhewing them that it is now to late, ſeing the vengeance of God is vpō thē.

1 SEnd a ye a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernes, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zión.

b There is no remedie, but you muſt flie

2 For it ſhalbe as a birde that b flyeth, and a neſt forſaken: the daughters of Moáb ſhal be at the foordes of Arnón.

c He ſheweth what Moab ſhulde haue done, when Iſrael their neighbour was in affliction, to whome becauſe they wolde gyue no ſhadowe nor cōfort, they are now left cōfortles.

3 Gather a counſel, execute iudgement: c make thy ſhadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chaſed out: bewraye not him that is fled.

d The Aſſyrians ſhal oppreſſe the Iſraelites, but for a while 4 Let my baniſhed dwel with thee: Moáb be thou their couert from the face of the deſtroyer: for the extorcioner d ſhal end: the deſtroyer ſhalbe conſumed, & the oppreſſour ſhal ceaſe out of the land.

e Meaning, Chriſt

5 And in mercie ſhal the throne be prepared, e and he ſhal ſit vpon it in ſtedfaſtnes, in the tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and ſeking iudgement, and haſting iuſtice.

f Their vaine confidence, & prowde bragges ſhal deceiue them, as Ier 48,2 6 We haue heard of the pride of Moáb (he is verie proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignacion, but his f lies ſhal not be ſo.

g For all your mourning, yet the citie ſhalbe deſtroyed, euen vnto the foundations

7 Therefore ſhal Moáb howle vnto Moáb: euerie one ſhal howle: for the foundacions of Kir-haréſeth ſhal ye mourne, yet thei ſhal be g ſtriken.

h That is, the Aſſyrians, and other enemies.

8 For the vineyardes of Heſhbón are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmáh: h the lords of the heathen haue broken the principal vines thereof. they are come vnto i Iaazér: they wandred in the wildernes: her goodlie branches ſtretched out them ſelues, & went ouer the ſea.

i Meaning, ẏ the countrey of Moáb was now deſtroyed and all the precious thīgs thereof were caried into the borders, yea, into other countreys, and ouer the ſea

9 Therefore wil k I wepe with the weping of Iaazér, & of ẏ vine of Sibmáh, ô Heſhbón: and Elealéh, I wil make thee drunke with my teares, becauſe vpon thy ſommer frutes, and vpon thy harueſt l a ſhowting is fallen.

k He ſheweth that their plague was ſo great, that it wolde haue moued anie mā to lament with them, as Pſal 141,5 l The enemies are come vpon thee, and ſhowte for ioye, when they carie thy commodities from thee, as Ier 48,33.

10 And gladnes is taken away, & ioye out of the plentiful field: and in the vineyardes ſhalbe no ſinging nor ſhouting for ioye: the treader ſhal not tread wine in the wine preſſes: I haue cauſed the reioycing to ceaſe.

11 Wherefore, my [m] bowels ſhal ſounde like an harpe for Moáb, and mine inwarde partes for Ker-háreſh.

12 And when it ſhal appeare that Moáb ſhalbe wearie of his hie places, then ſhal he come to his [n] temple to pray, but he ſhal not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lord hathe ſpoken againſt Moáb ſince that time.

14 And now the Lord hathe ſpoken, ſaying, [o] In thre yeres, as the yeres of a [p] hyreling, and the glorie of Moáb ſhalbe contẽned in all the great multitude, & the remnãt ſhalbe very ſmale & feble.

m For verie ſorow and cõpaſsion.
n They ſhal vſe all meanes to ſeke helpe of their idoles & all in vaine: for Chemóz their great god ſhal not be able to helpe them o He appointed a certeine time to puniſh the enemies in.
p Who wil obſerue iuſtely ỹ time, for the which he is hyred, & ſerue no longer, but wil euer long for it.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophecie of the deſtruction of Damaſcus and Ephráim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

1 THe [a] burden of [b] Damaſcus. Beholde, Damaſcus is taken away from being a citie, for it ſhalbe a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of [c] Aroér ſhalbe forſaken: they ſhalbe for ỹ flockes: for thei ſhal lye there, and none ſhal make them afraide.

3 The munition alſo ſhal ceaſe from [d] Ephráim, & the kingdome from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Arám ſhalbe as the [e] glorie of the children of Iſraél, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

4 And in that day the glorie of [f] Iaakób ſhalbe impoueriſhed, and the fatnes of his fleſh ſhal be made leane.

5 And it ſhalbe as when the harueſt man gathereth [g] the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he ſhalbe as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of [h] Repháim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes ſhal [i] be left in it, as the ſhaking of an oliue tre, two or thre beries are in the top of the vpmoſte boughs, & foure or fiue in the hye branches of the frute thereof, ſaith the Lord God of Iſraél.

7 At that day ſhal a man loke to his [k] maker, and his eyes ſhal loke to the holie one of Iſraél.

8 And he ſhal not loke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, nether ſhal he loke to thoſe things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day ſhal the cities of their ſtrẽgth be as the forſaking of boughs & brãches, which [l] they did forſake, becauſe of the childrẽ of Iſraél, & there ſhalbe deſolatiõ.

10 Becauſe thou haſt forgotten the God of thy ſaluacion, and haſt not remembred the God of thy ſtrength, therefore ſhalt thou ſet pleãſant plants, and ſhalt graffe ſtrange [m] vine branches:

11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſede to floriſh: but the harueſt ſhal be gone in the day [n] of poſſeſsion, and there ſhalbe deſperate ſorow.

12 [o] Ah, the multitude of manie people, they ſhal make a ſounde like the noyſe of the ſea: for the noyſe of the people ſhal make a ſounde like the noyſe of mightie waters.

13 The people ſhal make a ſounde like the noyſe of manie waters: but God ſhal [p] rebuke them, and they ſhal flee farre of, and ſhalbe chaſed as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a rolling thing before the whirle winde.

14 And lo, in the euening there is [q] trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the porcion of them that ſpoile vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

1 OH, the [a] land ſhadowing with wings, which is beyonde the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending ambaſſidours by the ſea, euẽ in veſſels of [b] redes vpon the waters, ſaying, [c] Go, ye ſwift meſſengers, to a nacion that is ſcatred abroad, and ſpoiled, vnto a terrible [d] people from their beginning cuẽ hitherto: a nacion by litle and litle, euen troden vnder fote, whoſe land the [e] floods haue ſpoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the worlde and dwellers in the earth, ſhal ſe when [f] he ſetteth vp a ſigne in the mountaines, and whẽ he bloweth the trumpe, ye ſhal heare.

4 For ſo the Lord ſaid vnto me, I wil [g] reſt & beholde in my tabernacle, as [h] the heat drying vp the raine, & as a cloude of dewe in the heat of harueſt.

5 For afore the harueſt when the floure is finiſhed, & the frute is riping in the floure, then he ſhal cut downe the branches with hookes, and ſhal take away, & cut of the boughs:

6 They ſhal be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the [i] beaſtes of the earth: for the foule ſhal ſommer vpõ it, and euerie beaſt of the earth ſhal winter vpon it.

7 At that time ſhal a [k] preſent be broght

1 The deſtruction of the Egyptians by the Aſſyrians. 18 Of theer converſion to the Lord.

1 THe [a] burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord [b] rideth vpon a ſwift cloude, & ſhal come into Egypt, & [y] idoles of Egypt ſhal be moued at his preſence, & the heart of Egypt ſhal melt in the middes of her.

2 And I wil ſet the Egyptians againſt the Egyptiās. ſo euerie one ſhal [c] fight againſt his brother, and euerie one againſt his neighbour, citie againſt citie, & kingdome againſt kingdome.

3 And the [d] ſpirit of Egypt ſhal faile in the middes of her, and I wil deſtroye their counſel, and they ſhal ſeke at the idoles, & at the ſorcerers, & at them that haue ſpirits of diuination, and at the ſouthſayers.

4 And I wil deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruel lords, and a mightie King ſhal rule ouer them, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes.

5 Then the waters of the ſea ſhal [e] faile, & the riuer ſhal be dryed vp, and waſted.

6 And the riuers [f] ſhal go farre away: the riuers of defenſe ſhalbe emptyed & dryed vp: the redes & flagges ſhalbe cut downe.

7 The graſſe in the riuer, and at the [g] head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer, ſhal wither, & be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fiſhers alſo ſhal [h] mourne, and all they that caſt angle into the riuer, ſhal lament, and they that ſpread their net vpon the waters, ſhalbe weakened.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flax of diuers ſortes, ſhalbe confounded, and they that weaue nettes.

10 For their nettes ſhalbe broken, and all they, [i] make ponds, ſhalbe heauie in heart.

11 Surely [y] princes of [l] Zoán are fooles: the counſel of the wiſe counſelers of Pharaóh is become fooliſh: how ſay ye vnto Pharaóh, I [k] am the ſonne of the wiſe? I am the ſonne of the ancient Kings?

12 Where are now thy wiſe men, that they may tel thee, or may know what the Lord of hoſtes hathe determined againſt Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoán are become fooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the [m] corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hathe mingled among them the ſpirit [n] of errours and they haue cauſed Egypt to erre in euerie worke thereof, as a dronken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Nether ſhal there be anie worke [o] in Egypt, which the head maie do, nor the taile, the branche nor the ruſh.

16 In that daie ſhal Egypt be like vnto women: for it ſhalbe afraide & feare becauſe of the mouing of the hand of the Lord of hoſtes, which he ſhaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah ſhalbe a feare [p] vnto Egypt euerie one [y] maketh mencion of it, ſhalbe afraid thereat, becauſe of the counſel of the Lord of hoſtes, which he hathe determined vpon it.

18 In that daie ſhal fiue cities in the land of Egypt [q] ſpeake the language of Canáan, and ſhal [r] ſweare by the Lord of hoſtes: one ſhalbe called the citie of [s] deſtruction.

19 In that daie ſhal the altar of the Lord be [t] in the middes of the land of Egypt, and [t] a pillar by the border thereof vnto [y] Lord.

20 And it ſhalbe for a ſigne and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hoſtes in the land of Egypt: for thei ſhal crye vnto the Lord, becauſe of the oppreſſers, and he ſhal ſend them [u] a Sauiour and a great man, and ſhal deliuer them.

21 And the Lord ſhalbe knowen of the Egyptiās, and the Egyptians ſhal knowe the Lord in that daie, and do [x] ſacrifice & oblacion, & ſhal vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord ſhal ſmite Egypt, he ſhal ſmite and heale it: for he ſhal returne vnto the Lord, and he ſhalbe intreated of the and ſhal heale them.

23 In that daie ſhal there be a path fro [y] Egypt to Aſſinúr, & Aſſhúr ſhal come into Egypt, & Egypt into Aſſhúr. ſo the Egyptians ſhal worſhip with Aſſhúr.

24 In that daie ſhal Iſraél be the third with Egypt and Aſſhúr, euen a bleſſing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hoſtes ſhal bleſſe it, ſaying, Bleſſed be my people Egypt and Aſſhúr, the worke of mine hands, and Iſraél mine inheritance.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophecie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued, shal praise the Lord.

1 BEholde, the Lord maketh the [a] earth emptie, & he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, & scatereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.
2 And there shalbe like people, like [b] Priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mastresse, like byer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.
3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vterly spoyled: for the Lord hathe spoken this worde.
4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the worlde is febled & decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened.
5 The earth [c] also deceiueth, because of the inhabitāts thereof: for thei trāsgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.
6 Therefore hathe the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and fewe mē are left.
7 The wine faileth, ỹ vine hathe no might: all that were of merie heart, do mourne.
8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioye of the harpe ceaseth.
9 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.
10 The citie of [f] vanitie is broken downe: euerie house is shut vp, that no man may come in.
11 There is a crying for wine in the stretes: all ioye is darkened: the [g] mirth of the worlde is gone away.
12 In the citie is left desolacion, & the gate is smitten with destruction.
13 ¶ Surely thus shal it be in the middes of the earth, among the people, [h] as the shaking of an oliue tre, and as the grapes when the vintage is ended.
14 They shal lift vp their voyce: thei shal shoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they shal reioyce from [i] the sea.
15 Wherefore praise ye ỹ Lord in the valleis, euē the Name of the Lord God of Israél, in the yles of the sea.
16 From the vttermost parte of the earth we haue heard praises, euen glorie to the [k] Iuste, & I said, [l] My leanenes, my leanenes, wo is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grieuously offended.
17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, ô inhabitant of the earth.
18 And he that fleeth from the noise of the feare, shal fall into the pit: & he that commeth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the fundacions of the earth do shake.
19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth [n] is moued excedingly.
20 The earth shal rele to & fro, like a dronken man, and shalbe remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shalbe heauie vpon it: so that it shal fall, and rise no more.
21 ¶ And in that day shal the Lord [o] visite ỹ hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the Kings of the worlde that are vpon the earth.
22 And thei shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and thei shalbe shut vp in the prison, & after manie daies shal thei be [o] visited.
23 [p] Then the moone shalbe abasshed, & the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shal reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalém: and glorie shalbe before his ancient men.

a This prophecie is as a cōclusiō of that, which hathe bene threatened to the Iewes & other nacions from the 13 Chap. & therefore by ỹ earth he meaneth those lands, which were before named b Because this was a name of a ḡuise, it was also applied to thē, which were not of Aarōs familie, & so signifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2 Sam 8,18 and 20,25 1 chron. 18,17 and by these wordes the Prophet signifieth an horrible confusion, where shalbe neither religiō, order nor policie, Hosea. 4.9.
c That is, rendreth not her fruite for the sinne of ỹ people, whome ỹ earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deemed God of his honour.
d Writen in the Law, as Leui. 26,14 deut. 28,16. thus the Prophetes vsed to applie particularly the menaces, and promises which are general in the Law e With heat and drought, or els, that they were consumed with the fyre of Gods wrath.
f Which as it was without ordre, so now shulde it be broght to desolacion and confusion and this was not onely ment of Ierusalém, but of all ỹ other wicked cities.
g Because thei did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures shulde faile, and they fall to mourning h He comforteth the faithful, declaring that in this great desolacion the Lord wil assemble his Church, & shal praise his name, as Chap 10,22.
i From ỹ vtmost coastes of the worlde, where ỹ Gospel shal be preached, as vers 16 k Meaning, to God, who wil publish his Gospel through all ỹ worlde l I am consumed with care, considering the afflictiō of the Church, bothe by forē enemies & domestical Some read, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reuealed to ỹ Prophet, that the good shulde be pserued & the wicked destroyed.
m Meaning, ỹ Gods wrath, and vengeance shulde be ouer & vnder them: so that thei shuld not escape no more then thei did at Noahs flood.
n There is no power so high or mightie, but God wil visite him & his roddes.
o Not with his roddes, as vers 21, but shalbe cōforp When God shal restore his Church, the glorie thereof and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the moone shal be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thankesgiuing to God in thas that he shewth him self iudge of the worlde, by punishing the wicked & maintening the godlie.

1 O Lord, thou [a] art my God: I wil exalte thee, I wil praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to ted.

a Thus the Prophet giueth thankes to God, because he wil bring vnder subiectiō these nacions by his corrections, & make them of his Church, & before were his enemies.

to the counſels of olde, with a ſtable trueth.

2 For thou haſt made of a [b] citie an heap, of a ſtrong citie, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of ſtrangers of a citie, it ſhal neuer be buylt.

3 Therefore ſhal the [d] mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the ſtrong nacions ſhal feare thee.

4 For thou haſt bene a ſtrength vnto the poore, euen a ſtrength to the nedie in his trouble, a refuge againſt the tempeſt, a ſhadowe againſt the heate: for the blaſt [e] of the mightie is like a ſtorme againſt the wall.

5 Thou ſhalt bring downe the noiſe of the ſtrangers, [f] as the heat in a drye place: he wil bring downe the ſong of the mightie, as [g] the heat in the ſhadowe of a cloude.

6 And in this [h] mountaine ſhal the Lord of hoſtes make vnto all people a feaſt of fat things, euen a feaſt of fined wines, & of fat things ful of marowe, of wines fined & puryfied.

7 And he wil deſtroye in this mountaine [i] the couering that couereth all people, & the vaile that is ſpred vpon all nacions.

8 He wil deſtroye death for euer: and the Lord God wil [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hathe ſpoken it.

9 And in that day ſhal men ſay, Lo, this is our God, we haue waited for him, and he wil ſaue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we wil reioyce and be ioyful in his ſaluacion.

10 For in this mountaine ſhal the hand of the Lord reſt, and [l] Moáb ſhalbe threſhed vnder him, euen as ſtrawe is threſhed in [m] Madmenáh.

11 And he ſhal ſtretch out his hand in the middes of thé (as he that ſwimmeth, ſtretcheth them out to ſwimme) and with the ſtrength of his hands ſhal he bring downe their pride.

12 The defenſe alſo of the height of thy walles ſhal he bring downe and lay lowe, & caſt them to the grounde, euen vnto the duſt.

b Not only of Ieruſalém, but alſo of their other cities, which haue bene thine enemies

c That is, a place where all vagabónds may liue without danger, and as it were, at eaſe, as in a palace.

d The righteous and proude wil beare no lorde ouer them e God ſhal by thy correctiós feare & glorifie thee

f The rage of the wicked is furious, til God breake ỹ force therof. Meaning, ỹ as the heate is aſſwaged by the raine, ſo ſhal God bring downe the rage of the wicked

g As a cloude in adow thrō ỹ heat of the ſunne, ſo ſhal God aſwage ỹ reioyſing of ỹ wicked againſt the godly h In Sion, in Ieruſalém, whereby he vnderſtandeth his Church, which ſhulde vnder Chriſt be aſſembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and ſometime deſcribed vnder the figure of a coſtly banket, as Mat 22,2 i Meaning that ignorance and blindeneſs, whereby we are kept backe frō Chriſt k He wil take away all occaſions of ſorow & ſhewith perfite ioye, Reuel 7,17 & 21,4 l By Moáb are ment all the enemies of his Church

m There were two cities of this name one in Iudáh, 1 Chron 2,49, and another in the land of Moáb, Ierc 48,2 which ſemeth to haue bene a plentiful place of corne Chap 10,31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A ſong of the faithful, wherein is declared, in what conſiſteth the ſaluacion of the Church, and wherein they ought to truſt.

1 IN that day ſhal [a] this ſong be ſung in the land of Iudáh, We haue a ſtrong citie: [b] ſaluacion ſhal God ſet for walles & bulwarkes.

2 [c] Opē ye the gates that the righteous nació, which kepeth the trueth, may entre in.

3 Ỹ an aſſuried [d] purpoſe wilt thou preſerue perfite peace, becauſe they truſted in thee.

4 Truſt in the Lord for euer for in ỹ Lord God is ſtrength for euer more.

5 For he wil bring downe them that dwell on hie. [e] the hie citie he wil abaſe, euen vnto the grounde wil he caſt it downe and bring it vnto duſt.

6 The fote ſhal treade it downe, euen the fete of the [f] poore, and the ſteps of the nedie.

7 The way of the iuſte [g] righteouſnes: thou wilt make equal the righteous path of the iuſt.

8 Alſo we, ô Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy [h] iudgements the deſire of our ſoule [i] is to thy Name, & to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my ſoule haue I deſired thee in the night, and with my ſpirit within me wil I ſeke thee in the morning: for ſeing thy iudgements [k] are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde ſhal learne [l] righteouſnes.

10 Let mercie [m] be ſhewed to the wicked, yet he wil not learne righteouſnes: in ỹ lād of vprightnes wil he do wickedly, and wil not beholde the maieſtie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they wil not beholde thine hie hand but they ſhal ſee it, and be confounded with [n] the zeale of the people, & the fyre of thine enemies ſhal deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou alſo haſt wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other [o] lords beſide thee haue ruled vs, but we wil remember thee onely, & thy Name.

14 The [p] dead ſhal not liue, neither ſhal the dead ariſe, becauſe thou haſt viſited and ſcattered them, & deſtroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou haſt encreaſed [q] ỹ nacion, ô Lord: thou haſt encreaſed the nacion: thou art made glorious: thou haſt enlarged all the coaſtes of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they [r] viſited thee. they powred out a prayer when thy chaſtening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth nere to the trauail, is in ſorow, & crieth in her peines, ſo haue we bene in thy [s] ſight, ô Lord.

18 We haue conceiued, we haue borne in peine, as thoghwe ſhulde haue broght forth winde. there was no helpe in ỹ earth, neither did the inhabitants of [t] the worlde fall.

19 ¶ [u] Thy dead men ſhal liue: euen with my bodie ſhal they riſe. Awake, & ſing, ye that dwell in duſt for thy [u] dewe is as the dewe

a This ſong was made to comfort the faithful, when their captiuitie ſhulde come, aſſuring them alſo of their deliuerance, for the which they ſhulde ſing this ſong

b Gods protection and defence ſhalbe ſufficient for vs.

c He aſſureth the godlie to returne after the captiuitie to Ieruſalém.

d Thou haſt decreed ſo, & thy purpoſe cā not be chāged

e There is no power to hie, that can let God, when he wil deliuer his f God wil ſet the poore aſſiſted ouer ỹ power of the wicked

g He haue cōtinuly aboūdāce of iuſtifications wherewith ỹ hote afflicted vs

h Meaning ỹ by iuſtificatiō he ſhal learne to feare God i The hatred thegh God ſhewe them eminent ſignes of his grace, ſhalbe neuer the better

k Through ſeuere & ſharpe correctiō agaīſt thy people

l The fyre & vēgeāce, wherewith the wicked deſtroye thine enemies, is the obſeruatiō of thy lawes, which haue not gouerned accordīg to thy worde n Meaning ỹ the repētāt, euen in this life ſhal haue the beginning of euerlaſting death

o To wit, the cōpanie of ỹ faithful by the ſeruīg of the Gētiles p That is, the faithful by thy rooddes were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerance

q To wit, in exceadīg ſorowe

r Our forefwes had none ād neither did we ſo feele the correctiō, that we loued for s The wicked and men without religion were not deſtroyed

t He comforteth the faithful in their afflictiōs ſhewing them that as euen in death they ſhal haue life, and that they ſhulde moſte certainly riſe to glorie the contrarie ſhulde come to the wicked, as verſ. 14.

u As herbes dead in winter, floriſh againe by the raine in the ſpring time ſo they ỹ lie in the duſt, ſhal riſe vp to ioye when they feele ỹ dewe of Gods grace.

of herbes, & the earth ſhal caſt out ỹ dead.

x He exhorteth the faithful to be patient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.

20 Come, my people: x entre thou into thy chambers, and ſhutte thy dores after thee: hide thy ſelf for a very litle while, vntil the indignacion paſſe ouer.

y The earth ſhal vomit & caſt out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crye for vengeance againſt the wicked.

21 For lo, the Lord cometh out of his place, to viſite the iniquitie of the inhabitáts of the earth vpon them: and the earth ſhal diſcloſe her y blood, and ſhal no more hide her ſlayne.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophecie againſt the kingdome of Satán, 2 And of the ioye of the Church for their deliuerance.

Chap. XXVII

a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mightie power and by his worde. He prophecieth here of the deſtruction of Satán and his kingdome vnder the name of Liuiathán, Aſſhúr and Egypt

IN that a day the Lord with his ſore & great and mightie b ſworde ſhal viſite Liuiathán, that pearcing ſerpent, euen Liuiathán, that croked ſerpent, & he ſhal ſlay the dragon that is in the ſea.

c Meaning, of the beſt wine, which this vineyarde, that is ỹ Church, ſhulde bring forthe as moſte agreeable to the Lord

2 In that day ſing of the vineyarde c of red wine.

3 I the Lord do kepe it: I wil watter it euery moment: leſt anie aſſaile it, I wil kepe it night and day.

d Therefore he wil deſtroy ỹ kingdome of Satán, becauſe he loueth his Church for his owne mercies-ſake, & ſhal not be angrie ẅ it, but wiſheth that he may powre his angre vpon ỹ wicked infideles, whome he meaneth by briers & thornes

4 Angre d is not in me: who wolde ſet the briers and the thornes againſt me in battel? I wolde go through them, I wolde burne them together.

e He marueileth, that Iſrael wil not come by gentleneſs, except God make thẽ to fele his rod ſhe, & ſo brig thẽ vnto him.

5 Or wil he e fele my ſtrength, that he may make peace with me, & be at one with me?

f Here after, Iaakób ſhal take rote: Iſraél ſhal floriſh and growe, and the worlde ſhal be filled with frute.

6 f Hathe he ſmitten him as he ſmote thoſe that ſmote him? or is he ſlayne according to the ſlaughter of them that were ſlayne by him?

g He ſheweth that God puniſheth his enemeis in meaſure, & his enemies in iuſtice

7 In h meaſure in the branches thereof wilt thou cõtend ẅ it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the Eaſt winde.

h That is, thou wilt not deſtroie the rote of thy Church thogh ỹ branches thereof ſeme to periſh by the ſharpe winde of affliction.

8 By this therefore ſhal ỹ iniquitie of Iaakób be purged, and this is all the i frute, the taking away of his ſinne: when he ſhal make all the ſtones of the altars, as chalke ſtones, broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not ſtand vp.

i He ſheweth that there is no true repentance, nor ful reconciliacion to God, til the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof deſtroyed k Notwithſtanding his fauour that he wil ſhewe them after, yet Ieruſalém ſhalbe deſtroyed, and graſſe for cattel ſhal growe in it

l God ſhal not haue nede of mightie enemies: for the verie women ſhal do it, to their great ſhame.

9 Yet the k deſenſed citie ſhalbe deſolate, & the habitacion ſhalbe forſaken, and left like a wildernes. There ſhal the calfe fede, and there ſhal he lie, & conſume the branches thereof.

10 When the boughs of it are drye, they ſhalbe broken: the women come, and ſet them on fyre. for it is a people of none vnderſtanding: therefore he that made them, ſhal not haue compaſsion of them, and he that formed them, ſhal haue no mercie on them.

11 And in that day ſhal the Lord threſh frõ the chanel of the m Riuer vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye ſhalbe gathered, one by one, ô children of Iſraél.

m He ſhal deſtroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for ſome fled toward Egypt, thiking to haue eſcaped n In the time of Cyrus, by whome they ſhulde be delmered but this was chiefly accõpliſhed vnder Chriſt.

12 In that day alſo ſhal the great trumpe be n blowen, and they ſhal come, which periſhed in the land of Aſſhúr: and they that were chaſed into the land of Egypt, and they ſhal worſhip the Lord in the holy mount at Ieruſalém.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Againſt the pride & dronkennes of Iſraél, 9 The vntowardnes of them that ſhulde learne the worde of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Chap XXVIII

a Meaning, the proude kingdome of the Iſraelites, ẅ were dronken with worldly proſperitie

b Becauſe the Iſraelites for the moſt parte dwelt in pleaſaũt valleis, he meaneth here by ỹ valley of them, ỹ had abundãce of worldelie proſperitie, & were, as it were, crowned therewith, as with garlãds.

1 WO to the a crowne of pride, the dronkards of Ephráim: for his glorious beautie ſhalbe a fading floure, ẅ is vpon the head of the b valley of them that be fat, & are ouercome with wine.

c He ſemeth to meane the Aſſyrians, by whome ỹ ten tribes were caryed away.

2 Beholde, the Lord hathe a mightie and c ſtrong hoſte, like a tempeſt of haile, & a whirlwinde that ouerthroweth, like a tempeſt of mightie waters ỹ ouerflowe, which throwe to the grounde mightely.

d Which is not of long cõtinuance, but as ſone ripe, & firſt eaten

3 They ſhalbe troden vnder fote, euen the crowne and the pride of the dronkards of Ephráim.

4 For his glorious beautie ſhalbe a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as d ỹ haſtie frute afore ſommer, which, whẽ he that loketh vpon it, ſeeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

e Signifying, ỹ the faithful, ẅ put not their truſt in anie worldely proſperitie, but made God their glorie, ſhalbe preſerued

5 In that day ſhal the Lord of hoſtes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the e reſidue of his people:

f He wil giue counſel to the gouernour, & ſtrength to the captaine, to drive the enemies in at their owne gates.

6 And for a ſpirit of iudgemẽt to him that ſitteth in iudgement, & for f ſtrength vnto thẽ that turne away the battel to the gate.

g Meaning, the hypocrites, ẅ were among them, & were all together corrupt in life & doctrine, ẅ is here ment by dronkénes & vomiting.

7 But g thei haue erred becauſe of wine, & are out of the way by ſtrong drinke: the Prieſt & the Prophet haue erred by ſtrong drinke: they are ſwallowed vp with wine: they haue gone aſtray through ſtrong drinke: thei faile in viſion: thei ſtomble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are ful of filthy vomiting: no place is cleane.

h For there was none that was able to vnderſtãd anie good doctrine: but were fooliſh, & as vnmete as yong babes

9 h Whome ſhal he teache knowledge? and whome ſhal he make to vnderſtand the things that he heareth? them that are weined from the milke and drawen from the breaſts.

i They muſt haue one thig oft times told.

10 For i precept muſt be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle.

k Let one teache what he can, yet they ſhal no more vnderſtãd him, thẽ if he ſpake in a ſtrange language

11 For with a ſtammering k tongue & with a ſtrange lãguage ſhal he ſpeake vnto this people.

l That is, the Prophet, whome God ſhulde ſend.

12 Vnto whome l he ſaid, m This is the reſt: n giue reſt to him that is wearie. and this is the refreſhing, but thei wolde not heare.

m This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to ſtay & reſt n Shewe to them that are wearie and haue nede of reſt, what is the true reſt.

Therefore

o Because they wil not receiue the worde of God, when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, is before Chap 6,9 13 Therefore shal the worde of the o Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle & there a litle, that they may go, and fall backewarde, and be broken and be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lord, ye scorneful men ỹ rule this people, which is at Ierusalém.

p They thoght they had shiftes to auoid Gods iudgemẽts, and thought they colde escape though all other perished

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a p couenant with death, & w hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, & passe through, it shal not come at vs: for we haue made q falshode our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid,

q Though the Prophetes cõdemned their idoles, & vaine trust, of falshode, & vanitie, yet the wicked thoght in them selues that it wolde auayle in these thinges 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil lay in Zión a stone, a tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure fundacion. He that beleueth, r shal not make haste.

r That is, Christ, by who me all ỹ bylding must be tryed and vpholden, Psal 118,22 mat 21, 42 act 4, 11 rom. 9,33 1 pet. 2,6 17 Iudgement also wil I laye to the rule, & s righteousnes to the balace, and the t haile shal swepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shal ouerflowe u the secret place.

s He shal be quiet and seke none other remedies, but be content with Christ

t In the repentẽce of his Church, iudgement, and this shal be the remedie

u Gods correctiõs and afflictiõ

18 And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, & your agreement with hel shal not stand: when a scourge shal runne ouer and passe through, then shal ye be trodde downe by it.

a ffl & thō shal discouer their vanitie to thẽselues

19 When it passeth ouer, it shal take you away for it shal passe through euerie morning in the day, and in the night, and there shalbe onely vexacion to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

y Terrour and destrucō shal make you to learne that, w exhortations and gentlenes colde not brīg you vnto 20 For the bed is streict that it can not suffise, and the couering narowe that one cā not wrap him self.

z Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it 21 For the Lord shal stand as in mount a Perazím: he shalbe wrath as in the valley b of Gibeón, ỹ he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

a When Dauid ouercame the Philistims, 2 Samuel 5 20 1 chro 14,11

b Where Iosuá discomfited fiue Kings of the Amorites, Iosh 10,12

22 Now therefore be no mockers, lest your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearké ye, and heare my speache.

c As ỹ plowe man hathe his appointed time, and druers instruments for his labour, so hathe the Lord for his vengeance for he punisheth

24 Doeth the plow man plow all the day, to sowe? doeth he opē, and breake the clottes of his grounde?

25 When he hathe made it c plaine, wil he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheat by measure, & the appointed barly and rye in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discrecion, and doeth teache him.

27 For fitches shal not be thresshed with a thresshing instrumẽt, nether shal a cart whele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is thresshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, nether doeth the whele of his cart stil make anoyse, nether wil he breake it with the tethe thereof.

29 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderful in counsel, & excellent in workes.

some at one time, and some at another, some after one sorte and some after another, so that his chosen sede is beaten, and tryed, but not broken, as are the wicked.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

1 AH d altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yere vnto yere. e let them kil lambes.

d Or hearth

e Or, let them kil the sacrifices

2 but I wil bring the altar into distres, and there shalbe heauines & sorow, and it shalbe vnto me like f an altar.

f The Ebrewe worde Ariel signifieth the lyon of God, & significth ỹ altar, because the altar seemed to deuoure the sacrifice ỹ was offred to God, as Ezek. 43,16

3 And I wil besege thee as a circle, & fight against thee on a mount, & wil cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, & shalt speake out of the g grounde, and thy speache shal be as out of the dust. thy voyce also shalbe out of the grounde like him that hathe a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.

g Your citie shalbe ful of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice

h Thy speache shalbe no more loftie, but abased, & low as the very charmers, w are in lowe places, and whisper, so ỹ the prouoce cā scarce be heard

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy h strangers shal be like smale dust, and the multitude of strong men shalbe as chaffe that passeth away, and it shalbe in a moment, euen suddenly.

h Thine hired souldiers, in whome ỹ trust is, shalbe destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlwinde

6 Thou shalt be visited of ỹ Lord of hostes with thundre, and shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlwinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fyre.

7 And the i multitude of all the nacions ỹ fight against the altar, shalbe as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and laye sege vnto it.

i The enemies ỹ I wil bring to destroye thee, and that which thou maiest feare, shal come at vnwares, euen as a dreame

8 And it shalbe like as an hũgrie man dreameth, and beholde, k he eateth and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and lo, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, he is fainte, and his soule longeth: so shal the multitude of all nacions be that fight against mount Zión.

k The thoght that he eateth

9 l Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blinde, & make you blinde: they are dronken, but not with wine: they staggei, but not by strong drinke.

l Muse hereon as long as ye list yet shal ye finde nothing, but occasion to be astonied, for your Prophetes are blinde, and therefore can not direct you

10 For the Lord hathe couered you with a spirit of slomber, and hathe shut vp your eyes: the Prophetes, and your chief Seers hathe he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a boke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. Then shal he say, I can m not: for it is sealed.

m Meaning, ỹ it is ill aiske other to read, or not to reade, except God open ỹ eies to vnderstãde

12 And the boke is giuen vnto him that can not read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And he shal say, I can not read.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people [k] come nere vnto me with their mouth, and honour me with their lippes, but haue remoued their heart far frō me, and their [l] feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I wil againe do a maruelous worke in this people, euen a maruelous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdome of their wisemen shal [m] perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.

15 Wo vnto them that [n] seke depe to hide their counsel from the Lord: for their workes are in darknes, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shal it not be estemed [o] as the potters claye? for shal ỹ worke say of him that made it, He made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, He had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanón shalbe [p] turned into Carmél? & Carmél shalbe counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shal the deafe heare the wordes of the boke, & the eyes of the blind shal se out of obscuritie, and out of darkenes.

19 The meke in the Lord shal receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shal reioyce in the holie one of Israél.

20 For the cruel man shal cease, and the scorneful shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut of:

21 Which made a man to sinne in ỹ [q] worde, & toke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iuste to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakób, euen he that redemed Abrahám, Iaakób shal not now be confounded, nether now shal his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hāds, in the middes of him, they shal sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakób, & shal feare the God of Israél.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, [r] shal haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shal learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, and sought helpe of the Egyptians to Despising the Prophetes 16 Therefore he sheweth what destruction shal come vpon them. 18 But offreth mercie to the repentant.

WO to the [a] rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forthe to go downe into Egypt (& haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen them selues with the strength of Pharaóh, and trust in the shadowe of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaóh shalbe your shame, & the trust in ỹ shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zóan, and his ambassadours came vnto Hanés.

5 They shalbe all ashamed of the people ỹ can not profite them, nor helpe nor do thē good, but shalbe a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The [d] burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shal come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fyrie flying serpent against them that shal beare their riches vpō the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that can not profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] is to sit stil.

8 Now go, & write it before them in a table, & note it in a boke that it may be for the [h] last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, & children that wolde not [i] heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, Se not: and to the Prophetes, Prophecie not vnto vs right things but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie [k] errours.

11 Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path. cause the holie one of Israél to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holie one of Israél, Because you haue cast of this worde, and trust in [l] violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breache that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like ỹ breaking of a potters por, which is broke without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde [m] a sheard to take fyre out of the heith, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the [n] Lord God, the holie one of Israél, In rest and quietnes shal ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye wolde not.

16 For ye haue said, No, but we wil flee away vpon [o] horses. Therefore shal ye flee. We wil ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shal your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shal flee at the rebuke of one:

k Because they are hypocrites & not sincere in heart, as Mat 15 8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mās doctrine, & not by my worde

m Meaning, ỹ where as God is not worshiped according to his worde, bothe magistrates, and ministers are but fooles, & without vnderstanding.

n This is spoken of thē, ẃ in heart despised Gods worde & mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face

o For all your craft, saith the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine hands no more thē the claye, that is in the potters hande, hathe power to deliuer it silf

p Shal there not be a chāge of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shalbe then, may be taken, as a forest, as Chap 32, 15. & thus he speaketh to comfort the faithful

q They that went about to finde faute ẃ the Prophetes wordes, and wolde not abide admonitions, but wolde intāgle thē and bring thē into daoger.

r Signifying, ỹ except God giue vnderstāding, & knowledge, man can not but stil erre, and murmure against him.

s Who cōtrarie to their promes, take not me for their protectour, & contrarie to my commandement, seke helpe at strangers t They seke shiftes to cloke their doings, and not godlie meanes.

a Whereas God had promised to be their protectour, & saued them, if they had called vpon him, they wolde not, but sought helpe of the Egyptians.

b Meaning, in their stubbernes against God, and the admonitiōs of his Prophetes.

c The chiefe of Israél went into Egypt in ambassage to seke helpe, and abode at these cities.

d That is, a heauy sentence or propharcie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernes, ẃ was South frō Iudáh signifying that if ỹ beastes shalbe not spared, the men shulde be punished muche more grieuously

e To wit, to Ierusalem

f And not to come to & fro to seke helpe

g That is, this prophecie.

h That it may be a witnes, against them for all posterite

i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, & bringeth also all miserie to mā to wit, because they wolde not heare the worde of God, but delited to be flattered, and led in errour.

k Threaten vs not by ỹ worde of God, nether be sorrowous, nor talke vnto vs in the name of the Lord, as Ier 11, 21 l Meaning, in their stubbernes against God, and the admonitiōs of his Prophetes.

m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shalbe without recouerie n Oft times by his Prophetes he put you in remembrance of this, ỹ you shulde onely depēd on him.

o We wil trust to escape by our horses.

591/1224

of one: at the rebuke of fiue shal ye flee, til ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the p top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpō an hill.

p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or thre to make masts.

18 Yet therefore wil ỹ Lord waite, that he may haue q mercy vpon you, and therefore wil he be exalted, that he may haue cōpassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of r iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

q He commēdeth the great mercies of God who with pacience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.

r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Ier.10, 24, and 30,11.

19 Surely a people shal dwell in Zión, & in Ierusalém: thou shalt wepe no more: he wil certeinly haue mercie vpō thee at ỹ voyce of thy crye: whē he heareth thee, he wil answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hathe giuē you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shal se thy s raine.

s Or, instructour.

21 And thine eares shal heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, t walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

t God shal direct all thy wayes, and appoint thee how to go ether hether or thether.

22 And ye shal u pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the riche ornament of thine images of golde, & cast thē away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, x Get thee hence.

u Ye shal cast away your idoles, which you haue made of golde, & siluer with all that belongeth vnto them, as a moste filthy thing and polluted.

x Shewing that there can be no true repentāce except both in heart and dede we shewe our selues enemies to idolatrie.

23 Then shal he giue raine vnto thy sede, when thou shalt sowe the groūde, & bread of the increase of the earth, and it shalbe fat and as oyle: in that day shal thy cattel be fed in large pastures.

y By these diuerse maners of speache he sheweth ỹ the felicitie of the Church shalbe so great, ỹ none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that til the grounde, shal eat cleane prouendre, which is winowed with the shouel and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euerie hie z mountaine, and vpon euerie hie hil shal there be riuers & streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shal fall.

z When the Church shalbe restored, ỹ glorie thereof shal passe seuē times ỹ brightnes of ỹ sunne: for by the sunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shalbe the glorie of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.

26 Moreouer, the light of the moone shalbe as the light of the a sunne, and the light of the sunne shal be seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shal binde vp the breache of his people, & heale the stroke of their woūde.

a This threatning is against the Assyrians, the chief enemies of the people of God 27 Beholde, b the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie: his lippes are ful of indignacion, and his tongue is as a deuouring fyre.

b To driue thee to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by ỹ meanes, whereby he clenseth his.

28 And his Spirit is as a riuer ỹ ouerfloweth vp to ỹ necke: it diuideth asondre, to fanne the nations with the fanne of c vanitie, and there shalbe a bridle to cause them to erre in the chawes of the people.

c Gods plague

29 But there shalbe a song vnto you as in the d night, whē a solemne feast is kept: & gladnes of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Israél.

d Ye shal reioice at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioye of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.

30 And the Lord shal cause his glorious voyce to be heard, & shal declare the lighting downe of his arme with the angre of his countenance, and flame of a dououring fyre, with scattering & tempest, and haile stones.

d It shal destroy.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shal Asshúr be destroyed, which smote with the e rodde.

e With ioye & assurance of ỹ victorie.

32 And in euerie place that the staffe shal passe, it shal f cleaue fast, which the Lord shal lay vpon him with g tabrets and harpes: and with battels, & lifting vp of hands shal he fight h against it.

f Against Babél: meaning ỹ Assyrians and Babylonians.

g Here it is taken for hel, where the wicked are tormented. read 2. King.23,10.

33 For i Tóphet is prepared of olde: it is euē prepared for the k King: he hathe made it l depe and large: the burning thereof is fyre & muche wood: the breth of the Lord, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

h So that their estate or degre can not exēpt the wicked.

i By these figuratiue speaches he declareth ỹ condition of ỹ wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He curseth them that forsake God, and seke for the helpe of men.

1 WO vnto them that a go downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charettes, because they are manie, and in horsemen, because they be very strong: but thei loke not vnto the holie one of Israél, nor b seke vnto the Lord.

a There were two special causes, why ỹ Israelites shuld de not ioyne amitie with ỹ Egyptiās: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thether, Deu 17,16. & 28,68, left they shulde forget the benefite of their redemption: & secōdly, left they shulde be corrupted with the superstitiō & idolatrie of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Ier.2,18.

b Meanig, that thei forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldelie things: for thei can not trust in bothe.

2 But he yet is c wiseste: therefore he wil bring euil, and not turne backe his worde, but he wil arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

c And knoweth their craftie enterprises & wil bring all to naught.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, & not God, and their horses flesh and not spirit: and when the Lord shal stretche out his hand, the d helper shal fall, and he that is holpē shal fall, and thei shal altogether faile.

d Meaning, both the the Egyptians and the Israelites.

4 For thus hathe the Lord spoken vnto me, As the lion or lions whelpe roareth vpon his praie, against whome if a multitude of shepherds be called, he wil not be afraide at their voice, nether wil humble him self at their noise: so shal the Lord of hostes come e downe to fight for mount Zión, and for the hill thereof.

e He sheweth the Iewes, that if thei wolde put their trust in him, he is so able, that none can resist his power: and so careful ouer thē, as a bird ouer her yōg, which euer flieth about them for their defence: which similitude the Scripture vseth in diuerse

5 As birdes that flie, so shal the Lord of hostes defend Ierusalém by defending and deliuering, by passing through & preseruing it.

6 O ye children of Israél, turne againe, in asmuche as ye are f sunken depe in rebellion.

f He toucheth their conscience that thei might earnestly sele their grieuous sinnes and so truely repent, forasmuche as now thei are almost drowned and past recouerie.

7 For in that day euerie man shal g cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, euē a sinne.

g By these frutes your repentance shalbe knowen, as Chap.2,18.

8 Thē shal Asshúr fall by h the sworde, not of man, nether shal the sworde of man h When your repentace appeareth.

places, as Deut. 32,11. matt.23,37.

deuoure him, and he ſhal flé fró the ſworde, and his yong men ſhal faint.

9 And he ſhal go for feare to his [i] towre, & his princes ſhal be afraide of the ſtandart, ſaith the Lord, whoſe [k] fyre is in Zión, and his fornace in Ieruſalém.

i This was accompliſhed ſone after whē Sancheribs armie was diſcomfited, and he fled to his caſtell in Nineueh for ſuccour k To deſtroye his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers deſcribed by the gouernement of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Chriſt.

1 BEholde, [a] a King ſhal reigne in iuſtice, & the princes ſhal rule [b] in iudgement.

2 And that man ſhalbe as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tẽpeſt, as riuers of water in a drye place, and as the ſhadowe of a great rocke in [c] a wearie land.

3 The eyes of [d] the ſeing ſhal not be ſhut, and the eares of them that heare, ſhal hearken.

4 And the heart of the fooliſh ſhal vnderſtand knowledge, and the tongue of the ſtutters ſhalbe ready to ſpeake diſtinctly.

5 A [e] nigarde ſhal no more be called liberal, nor the churle riche.

6 But the nigarde wil ſpeake of nigardnes, and his heart wil worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and ſpeake falſely againſt the Lord, to make emptie the hungrie ſoule, and to cauſe the drinke of the thirſtie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he diuiſeth wicked counſels, to vndo the poore with lying wordes, and to ſpeake againſt the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberal man wil diuiſe of liberal things, and he wil continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶Riſe vp, ye womẽ that are at eaſe: heare my voyce, ye [f] careles daughters: hearkẽ to my wordes.

10 Ye womẽ, that are careleſs, ſhalbe in feare [g] aboue a yere in dayes: [h] for the vintage ſhal faile, & the gathering ſhal come no more.

11 Ye women, that are at eaſe, be aſtonied: feare, ô ye careles womẽ put of the clothes: make bare, and girde ſacke clothe vpon the loynes.

12 Men ſhal lament for the [i] teates, euen for the pleaſant fields, & for the fruteful vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people ſhal growe thornes & briers: yea, vpon all the houſes of ioye in the citie of reioycing,

14 Becauſe the [j] palace ſhalbe forſaken, and the [k] noyſe of ỹ citie ſhalbe left: the towre & fortreſſe ſhal be dennes for euer, & the delite of wilde aſſes, and a paſture for flockes, 15 Vntil the [l] Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernes become a fruteful field, & the [m] plenteous field be counted as a foreſt.

16 And iudgemẽt ſhal dwell in the deſert, & iuſtice ſhal remaine in the fruteful field.

17 And the worke of iuſtice ſhalbe peace, euen the worke of iuſtice & quietnes, and aſſurance for euer.

18 And my people ſhal dwell in the tabernacle of peace and in ſure dwellings, & in ſafe reſting places.

19 Whē it haileth, it ſhal fall on the foreſt, and the [n] citie ſhalbe ſet in the lowe place.

20 Bleſſed are ye [o] that ſowe vpon all waters, and [p] driue thether the fete of the oxe and the aſſe.

a This propheſie is of Hezekiah who was a figure of Chriſt, & therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him

b By iudgemẽt and iuſtice is mẽt an vpright gouernment, both in policie & religiõ

c Where men are wearie & ſtriuling, for lacke of water

d He promiſeth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods worde, & vnderſtãding, and zeale of the ſame, contrarie to ỹ threatnings againſt ỹ wicked, Chap 6, 9. & 29 10 e Vice ſhal no more be called vertue, nor vertue eſteemed by power, and riches.

f He propheſieth of ſuche calamitie to come, that thei wil not ſpare the women & children, and therefore willeth them to take hede and prouide

g Meaning, ỹ the affliction ſhulde continue long, and when one yere were paſt, yet they ſhulde loke for newe plagues

h God wil take from you ỹ meanes and occaſions, which made you to contemne him, to wit, abundãce of worldly goods

i By the teates he meaneth ỹ pleaſaũt fieldes, whereby men are nouriſhed, as children with the teate or the mothers ſorow, & leanes ſhal lacke milke

Or, multitude

k That is, when the Church ſhal be reſtored thus the Prophetes after they haue denoũced Gods iudgements againſt the wicked, vſe to comfort the godly, leſt they ſhulde faint.

l The field which is now fruteful, ſhalbe but as a barē foreſt in compariſon of ỹ it ſhalbe then, as Chap 29, 17. which ſhalbe fulfilled in Chriſts time: for then they that were before as the barē wildernes, being regenerat, ſhalbe fruteful, and they that had ſome beginning of godlines ſhal bring forthe fruites in ſuch abundance, ỹ their former life ſhal ſeme but as a wildernes, where no fruites were

m They ſhal not nede to build or it in thē places for feare of the enemie for God wil defend it and tume away the ſtormes from hurting of their commodities

n That is, vpon ſuche ground & wel watered, which bringeth forth in abundance or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vſes

o The fields ſhal be ſo rancke, that they ſhal ſuffer their cattel to eat vp the firſt croppe, which abundance in deede ſignifies of Gods fauour and loue towards them

CHAP. XXXIII.

The deſtruction of them, by whome God hathe puniſhed his Church.

1 WO to thee that [a] ſpoileſt, and waſt not ſpoiled: and doeſt wickedly, and thei did not wickedly againſt thee: whē thou ſhalt [b] ceaſe to ſpoile, thou ſhalt be ſpoyled. when thou ſhalt make an end of doing wickedly, [c] they ſhal do wickedly againſt thee.

2 [d] O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee be thou, which [e] waſt their arme in the morning, our helpe alſo in time of trouble.

3 At the noiſe of the tumult, the [f] people fled, at thine [g] exalting the nations were ſcatered.

4 And your ſpoile ſhal be gathered like the gathering of [h] caterpillers. and [i] he ſhal go againſt him like the leaping of graſſhoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on hie: he hathe filled Zión with iudgement and iuſtice.

6 And there ſhalbe ſtabilitie of [k] thy times, ſtrength, ſaluacion, wiſdome & knowledge: for ỹ feare of the Lord ſhalbe his treaſure.

7 Beholde, [l] their meſſengers ſhal crye without, and the [m] ambaſſadours of peace ſhal wepe bitterly.

8 The [n] paths are waſte: the waifaring man ceaſeth: he hathe broken the couenant: he hathe contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanón is a ſhamed, and hewen downe: [o] Sharon is a Meaning the enemies of the Church, as were ỹ Chaldeãs, and Aſſyrians but chiefly of Sancherib, but not onely.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioye of them that beleue in Christ, 3 Their office which preache the Gospel. 4 The frutes that followe thereof.

a He propheciseth of the ful restauratiõ of the Church bothe of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shalbe fully accomplished at ỹ last day: albeit as yet it is cõpared to a desert and wildernes.

1 a THe desert and the wildernes shal reioyce: and the waste grounde shalbe glad and florish as the rose.

2 It shal florish abundantly & shal greatly reioyce also and ioy: the glorie of Lebanón shalbe giuen vnto it: the beautie of b Carmél, and of Sharón, they shal se the glorie of the Lord, & the excellẽcie of our God.

b The Church ẅ was before compared to a baren wildernes, shal by Christ be made moste plenteous and beautiful.

3 d Strengthen the weake hands, & comfort the feble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are feareful, Be you strõg, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with e vengeance: euen God with a recompence, he wil come and saue you.

c He sheweth ỹ the presence of God is the cause that the Church doeth bring forthe frute and florish

5 Thẽ shal the eyes of the f blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

d He willeth all to encourage one an other, and specially the ministers to exhort & strẽg then the weake, ỹ thei may patiently abide the comig of God, ẅ is at hand

6 Then shal the lame man leape as an hart, & the dõme mans tongue shal sing: for in the g wildernes shal waters breake out, & riuers in the desert.

e To destroy your enemies.

7 And the drye grounde shal be as a poole, and the thistle (as springs of water in the habitation of dragõs: where thei lay) shal be a place for redes and rushes.

f When the knowledge of Christis reuerled.

8 And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called h holy: the polluted shal not passe by it: for i he shalbe with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shal not erre.

g They ỹ were baren & destitute of ỹ graces of God. shal haue them giuen by Christ.

9 There shalbe no lyon, nor noisome beastes shal ascend by it, nether shal they be founde there, that the redemed may walke.

h It shalbe for ỹ Saits of God & not for the wicked

10 Therefore the l redemed of the Lord shal returne and come to Zión with praise: and euerlasting ioy shal be vpon their heads: thei shal obtaine ioy and gladnes, & sorowe and mourning shal flee away.

i God shal lead and guide them, alluding to the bringing forthe of Egypt

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sancherib sendeth Rabshakéh to besege Ierusalém. 15 His blasphemies against God.

a This historie I is rehearsed, bicause it is as a seale & confirmation of the doctrine afore, bothe for the threatnings & promises to wit, that God wolde suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length wolde send deliuerance

NOw a in the b fourteenth yere of King Hezekiáh, Sancherib King of Asshúr came vp against all the strong cities of Iudáh, and toke them.

2 And the King of Asshúr sent Rabshakéh frõ Lachísh toward Ierusalém vnto King Hezekiáh, with a great hoste, and he stode by the conduite of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

restored religion, yet God wolde exercise his Church to trye their faith and patience.

b When he had abolished superstition, & idolatrie, &

3 Then came forthe vnto him Eliakím the sonne of Hilkiáh the c steward of the house, and Shebná d the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asáph the recorder.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiáh had prophecied, Chap 22, 20

4 And e Rabshakéh said vnto them, Tel you Hezekiáh, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshúr, What confidence is this, wherein thou trusteste?

d This declareth that there were fewe godlie to be founde in the Kigs house, whe he was driuen to send this wicked man in sũche a weightie matter

5 I saie, f Surely I haue eloquence, but counsel and strength are for the warre: on whome then doeste thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

e Sancheribs chiefe captaine.

6 Lo, thou trusteste in this broken staffe of rede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it wil go into his hand, and perce it: so is g Pharaóh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

f He speaketh this in the persone of Hezekiah, falsely charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, where as his onelie confidẽce was in the Lord

7 But if thou say to me, We trust in the Lord our God. Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiáh toke downe, and said to Iudáh and to Ierusalém, Ye shal worship before this altar?

g Satan laboreth to pul the godlie King from one vaine confidence to another. to wit, from trust in ỹ Egyptiãs, whose power was weake & wold deceiue them: to yelde him self to ỹ Assyrians and (o not to hope for any helpe of God

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the King of Asshúr, & I wil giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy parte to set riders vpon them.

*Or, turne backe

9 For how canst thou *despise anie captaine of the h least of my lords seruants: and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

h He reprocheth to Hezekiáh his smale power, which is not able to resist one of Sancheribs least captaines

10 And am I now come vp without ỹ Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, i Go vp against this land & destroy it.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, wil pretend the Name of ỹ Lord but we must trye the spirits, whether thei be of God or no 11 ¶ Then said Eliakím, and Shebná and Ioáh vnto Rabshakéh, k Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

k Thei were afraid, lest by his wordes he shulde haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

12 Then said Rabshakéh, Hathe my master sent me to thy master, & to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eat their owne doung, and drinke their owne " pisse with you?

" Ebr. the waters of their feete.

13 So Rabshakéh stode, & cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of ỹ King of Asshúr.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiáh deceiue you: for he shal not be able to deliuer you.

15 Nether let Hezekiáh make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs: this citie shal not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Asshúr.

l The Ebrewe word signifieth blessing whereby this wicked captaine wolde haue persuaded ỹ people, that their condition shulde be better vnder Sancherib then vnder Hezekiah

16 Hearken not to Hezekiáh: for thus saith the King of Asshúr, Make l appointment with me, and come out to me, that euerie man may eat of his owne vine, and euerie man of his owne figtre, and drinke euerie man the water of his owne well, 27 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyardes, 28 Lest Hezekiah discreiue you, seying, The Lord wil deliuer vs. Hathe anie of ỹ gods of the naciõs deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Asshúr?

m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of ẽwhiche two other cities also were wherby we se how euery towne had his peculiar idole and how the wicked make God an idole, because they do not vnderstãd that God mitigeth them his scourge & punisheth cities for sinne n Neither did they did not mowe by euident signes ỹ their idol detest his blasphemie for whi had now rent their clothes, but they knewe it was in vaine to vse lõg reasoning with this infidel, whose rage ther shulde haue so much more prouoked 29 Where is the god of m Hamáth, and of Arpád? Where is the god of Sepharuáim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?
30 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hathe deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord shulde deliuer Ierusalém out of mine hand?
31 Then they n kept silence, and answered him not a worde: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.
32 Then came Eliakím the sonne of Hilkiáh the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancellor, and Ioáh the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiáh with rẽt clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakéh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Hezekiáh asketh counsel of Isaiáh, who promiseth him the Victorie 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sancherib is slayne of the Angel. 38 And he him self of his owne sonnes.

1 AND *whẽ the King Hezekiáh heard it, he a rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth & came into the House of the Lord.
2 And he sent Eliakím the steward of the house, and Shebná the chancellor, with the Elders of the Priests, clothed in sackecloth vnto b Isaiáh the Prophet, the sonne of Amóz.
3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiáh, This day is a day of tribulacion & of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the c birth, and there is no strength to bring forthe.
4 If so be the Lord thy God hathe d heard the wordes of Rabshakéh, whome the King of Asshúr his master hathe sent to raile on ỹ liuing God, & to reproche him with wordes which ỹ Lord thy God hathe heard, then e lift thou vp thy praier for the remnant that are left.
5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.
6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraied of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the King of Asshúr haue blasphemed me.
7 Beholde, I wil send a blast vpon him, & he shal heare a f noise, and retu ne to his owne land, and I wil cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne land.
8 ¶ So Rabshakéh returned, and founde the King of Asshúr fighting against g Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed frõ Lachísh.
9 He heard also men say of Tirhakáh, King of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiáh, saying,
10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Ierusalém shal not be giuen into the hand of the King of Asshúr.
11 Beholde, thou hast heard what ỹ Kings of Asshúr haue done to all lands in destroying them, & shalt thou be deliuered?
12 Haue the gods of the nacions deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozán, and k Harán, and Rézeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassár?
13 Where is the King of Hamáth, and the King of Arpád, and the King of the citie of Sepharuáim, Hena and Iuáh?
14 ¶ So Hezekiáh receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and red it, and he went vp into the House of the Lord, and Hezekiáh spred it before the Lord.
15 And Hezekiáh praied vnto the Lord, saying,
16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israél, which l dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen & the earth.
17 Encline thine eare, ô Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, ô Lord, and se, and heare all the wordes of Sancherib, who hathe sent to blaspheme the liuing God.
18 Trueth it is, ô Lord, that the Kings of Asshúr haue destroyed all lands, & m their countrey, 19 And haue cast their gods in the fyre: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.
20 Now therefore, ô Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that n all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.
21 ¶ Then Isaiáh the sonne of Amóz sent vnto Hezekiáh, saying, Thus saith ỹ Lord God of Israél, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Sancherib King of Asshúr, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hathe spoken against him, O o virgine, daughter of Zión, he hathe despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: ô daughter of Ierusalém, he hathe shaken his head at thee.

1 Hezekiáh is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fiftene yeres after. 10 He giueth thanke for his benefit

Chap XXXVIII

1 ABout* that a time was Hezekiáh sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiáh sonne of Amóz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an oidre, for thou shalt dye, and not liue.

2 King 20,1. 2 chro 32,24.

a Sone after that the Assyrians were slayne so that God wil haue the exercise of his childrē continual, that they may learne only to depend vpō God & aspire to y heauens

2 Then Hezekiáh b turned his face to the wall, and praied to the Lord,

b For his heart was touched w feare of Gods iudgement, seing he had appointed him to dye, so quickely after his deliuerance frō so great calamitie, as one vnworthie to remaine in y estate, & also foreseing the great change, y shulde come in the Church, forasmuche as he left no sonne to reigne after him (or is yet Manasseh was not borne & when he reigned, we se what a tyrant he was

3 And said, I beseche thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, & with a perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: & Hezekiah wept sore.

4 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord to Isaiáh, saying,

5 Go, & say vnto Hezekiáh, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy praier, & sene thy teares: beholde, I wil adde vnto thy daies fiftene yeres.

c He doeth not onely promise to prolong his life, but to giue him rest & quietnes from the Assyrians, who might haue renued their armie to reuenge their former discomfiture.

6 And I wil deliuer thee c out of the hand of the King of Asshúr, and this citie: for I wil defend this citie.

7 And d this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that y Lord wil do this thing, that he hathe spoken, d For Hezekiáh had asked for y confirmacīo of his faith a signe, as vers 22 and 2. King 20,8 8 Beholde, I wil bring againe y shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in y dial of Ahaz by the e sunne) ten degrees backeward: so the sūne returned by tē degrees, by the w degrees it was gone downe.

wh reunto he was moued by y singular mocion of Gods Spirit 9 f The writing of Hezekiáh King of Iudah, when he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sickenes.

f He left this song of his lamentacion & thankesgiuing to all posterite, as a monument of his owne infirmitie & thākeful heart for Gods benefites, as Dauid did, Psal 51

10 I said in y g cutting of of my daies, I shal go to y gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeres.

g At what time it was told me, that I shulde dye

11 I said, h I shal not se the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shal se man no more amōg the inhabitants of the worlde.

h I shal no more praise the Lord here in his Temple among the faithful thus God suffreth his deerest children to want his consolacion for a time.

12 Mine habitacion is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepherds tent: I i haue cut of like a weauer my life: he wil cut me of from the height: from day k to night, thou wilt make an end of me.

y his grace afterward may the more appeare whē they feele th ir owne weaknes

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me

13 I reckened l to the morning: but he brake

k That is, in one day, or shortly

l Our right I thoghte y I shulde liue til morning, but my pangs in the night perswaded me the contrarie he sheweth the horrour, that the faithful haue when they apprehend Gods iudgement against their sinne.

all my bones, like a lion: from daie to night wilt thou make an end of me.

m I was ſo oppreſt with ſorowe, that I was not able to vtter my wordes, but onely to grone & ſigh 14 Like a crane or a ſwalow, ſo did I [m] chatter: I did mourne as a doue. mine eies were lift vp on hie. ô Lord, [n] it hathe oppreſſed me, comfort me.

n To wit, ſorow, and grief bothe of bodie and minde

15 What ſhal I ſaie? o for he hathe ſaid it to me, and he hathe done it: I ſhal walke [p] weakely all my yeres in the bitternes of my ſoule.

o God hathe declared by his Prophet

16 O Lord, [q] to them that ouerliue them, & to all that are in them, the life of my ſpirit ſhalbe knowen, that thou cauſedſt me to [r] ſlepe and haſt giuen life to me.

p I ſhal haue no releaſe, but continual ſorowes while I liue

17 Beholde, for [s] felicitie I had bitter grief, but it was thy pleaſure to deliuer my ſoule from the pit of corruption: for thou haſt caſt all my [t] ſinnes behinde thy backe.

q They that ſhal ouerliue the men that are now alive, and all they ỹ are in theſe yeres ſhal acknowledge this benefite 18 For [u] the grane cã not cõfeſſe thee: death can not praiſe thee: thei that go downe into the pit, can not hope for thy trueth.

r That after that thou hadeſt condemned me to death, thou reſtoredſt me to life 19 But the liuing, the liuing, he ſhal confeſſe thee, as I do this day: the father to the [x] children ſhal declare thy trueth.

s Where as I thoght to haue liued in reſt and eaſe, being deliuered from mine enemies, I had griefe vpon griefe 20 The Lord was ready to ſaue me: therefore we wil ſing my ſong, all the dayes of [y] our life in the Houſe of the Lord.

t He eſteemeth more the remiſſion of his ſinnes, & Gods fauour then a thouſand liues

21 Thẽ ſaid Iſaiáh, Take a lumpe of drye figges and [z] laie it vpon the boile, and he ſhal recouer.

22 Alſo Hezekiáh [a] had ſaid, What is the ſigne, that I ſhal go vp into the Houſe of the Lord?

u For aſmuche as God hathe placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godlie take it as a ſigne of his wrath when their dayes were ſhortened, either becauſe that they ſemed vnworthie for their ſinnes to liue longer in his ſeruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, ſeing that there is ſo fewe in earth, that do regarde it as Pſal 6,5 and 115,17

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiáh is reproued, becauſe he ſhewed his treaſures vnto the ambaſſadours of Babylon.

2.King.20,12.

1 AT *the ſame time, [a] Merodách Baladán, the ſonne of Baladán, King of Babél, ſent [b] letters, & a preſent to Hezekiáh: for he had heard that he had bene ſicke, and was recouered.

a This was ỹ firſt King of Babylõ which ouercame the Aſſyrians in ỹ tenth yere of his reigne.

b Partely moued with ỹ greatnes of ỹ miracle, partely becauſe he ſhewed him ſelf enemie to his enemies, but chiefly, becauſe he wolde ioine with thẽ whome God fauoured, and haue their helpe, if occaſion ſerued

2 And Hezekiáh was [c] glad of them, and ſhewed them the houſe of the treaſures, the ſiluer, and the golde, and the ſpices, & the precious ointement, and all the houſe of his armour, and all that was found in his treaſures: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiáh ſhewed them not.

c Read 2 King 20,13, & 2.chr. 32,25.

3 Thẽ came Iſaiáh the Prophet vnto King Hezekiáh, and ſaid vnto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiáh ſaid, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babél.

4 Thẽ ſaid he, What haue [d] they ſene in thine houſe? And Hezekiáh anſwered, All that is in mine houſe haue they ſene: there is nothing among my treaſures, that I haue not ſhewed them.

d He aſketh him of the particulers to make him vnderſtand the craft of the wicked, which he before being ouercome with their flatterie, and blinded with ambition colde not ſe.

5 And Iſaiáh ſaid to Hezekiáh, Heare the worde of the Lord of hoſtes, 6 Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine houſe, and which thy fathers haue laid vp in ſtore vntil this day, ſhalbe [e] caryed to Babél. nothing ſhalbe left, ſaith the Lord.

e By the grieuouſnes of the puniſhment is declared how greatly God deteſteth ambition & vaine glorie

7 And of thy ſonnes, that ſhal procede out of thee, & which thou ſhalt beget, ſhal they take away, and they ſhalbe [f] eunuches in the palace of the King of Babél.

f That is, officers and ſeruantes

8 [g] Then ſaid Hezekiáh to Iſaiáh, The worde of the Lord is good, which thou haſt ſpoken: and he ſaid, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

CHAP. XL.

2 Remiſſion of ſinnes by Chriſt 3 The comming of Iohn Baptiſt 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters and them that truſt not in the Lord.

1 COmfort [a] ye, comfort ye my people, wil your God ſay.

a This is a cõſolacion for the Church, aſſuring them that thei ſhalbe neuer deſtitute of Prophetes, whereby he exhorteth the true miniſters of God that thẽ were, & thoſe alſo that ſhulde come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to aſſure them of their deliuerãce bothe of body and ſoule

2 Speake comfortably to Ieruſalém, & crye vnto her, that hir [b] warrefare is accompliſhed, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for ſhe hathe receiued of the Lords hand [c] double for all her ſinnes.

b The time of her affliction

c Meaning, ſufficiẽt, as chap. 61,7 & ful correction, or double grace, where as ſhe deſerued double puniſhment

3 A [d] voyce cryeth in the [e] wildernes, [f] Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make ſtreight in the deſert a path for our God.

d To wit, of ỹ Propheres

e That is, in Babylon, and other places where they were kept in captiuitie, and miſerie

f Meaning, Cyrus and Darius which ſhulde deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ieruſalem & this was fully 4 Euerie valleie ſhalbe exalted, and euerie [g] mountaine and hill ſhalbe made lowe: & the croked ſhalbe ſtreight, and the rough places plaine.

g Meaning, vnſufficiẽt, as chap. 61,7 & ful correction, or double grace, where as ſhe deſerued double puniſhment

5 And ỹ glorie of the Lord ſhalbe reueiled, and all [h] fleſh ſhal ſe it together: for the mouth of the Lord hathe ſpoken it.

h To wit, of ỹ Propheres

6 A [i] voyce ſaid, Crye. And he ſaid, What ſhal I crye? All fleſh is graſſe, and all the [k] grace thereof is as ỹ floure of the field.

i That is, in Babylon, and other places where they were kept in captiuitie, and miſerie

7 The graſſe withereth, the floure fadeth, becauſe the [l] Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: ſurely the people is graſſe.

l Meaning, Cyrus and Darius which ſhulde deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ieruſalem & this was fully 8 The graſſe withereth, ỹ floure fadeth: but thẽ worde of our God ſhal ſtãd for euer.

9 ¶ O Zión, that bringeſt good tidigs, get thee vp into the hie [n] mountaine: ô Ieruſalém, that bringeſt good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with ſtrength. lift it vp, be not afraide: ſay vnto the cities of Iudáh, Beholde [o] your God.

10 Beholde, the Lord God wil come with accõpliſhed, whẽ Iohn ỹ Baptiſt broght tidings of Ieſus Chriſts cõming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church frõ ſinne and Satán, Mat 3,3 g Whatſoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, ſhalbe removed

h This miracle ſhalbe ſo great, that it ſhalbe knowen through all the worlde

i The voyce of God, which ſpake to the Prophete Iſaiáh k Meaning, all mans wiſdome and natural powers, Iohn 1,10 1 pet 1,24

l The Spirit of God ſhal diſcouer the vanitie in all that ſeme to haue ane excellencie of them ſelues.

m Thogh cõſidering ỹ frailtie of mans nature manie of ỹ Iewes ſhulde periſh & ſo not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promiſe ſhalde be fulfilled, & they that remained, ſhulde fele ỹ frute thereof

n To publiſh this benefite through all the worlde

o He ſheweth at one worde the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods preſence power, and p his arme shal rule for him: beholde, his wages is with him, & his worke before him.

11 He shal fede his flocke like a shepherd: he shal gather the lambes with his arme, & carie them in his bosome, and shal guide them with q yong.

12 Who hathe measured the waters in his r fist, and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance?

13 Who hathe instructed the Spirit of the Lord, or was his coūsellour or taught him?

14 Of whome toke he counsel, and who instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement, or taught him knowledge, & shewed vnto him the way of vnderstāding?

15 Beholde, the nations are as a droppe of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balāce: beholde, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanón is not sufficient for fyre, nor the beastes thereof sufficient for a burnt offring.

17 All nations before him are as t nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whome then u wil ye liken God? or what similitude wil ye set vp vnto him?

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldesmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldesmith maketh siluer plates.

20 Doeth not x the poore chuse out a tre that wil not rote, for an oblation? he seketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shal not be moued.

21 Knowe ye nothīg? haue ye not heard y it? hathe it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstād it by the z fundacion of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, & the inhabitāts thereof are as grashoppers, he stretcheth out the heauēs, as a curtaine, & spreadeth thē out, as a tent to dwell in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not plāted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke toke no roote in the earth: for he did euē a blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirle winde wil take them away as stubble.

25 To whome now wil ye liken me, that I shulde be like him, saith the holie one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and beholde, who hathe created these things, and bringeth b out their armies by nomber, and calleth them all by names, by the greatnes of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth.

27 Why saiest thou, ô Iaakób, and speakest ô Israél, c My waye is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God.

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hathe created the d ends of the earth? he nether fainteth, nor is weary there is no searching of his e vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strēgth vnto him that fainteth, & vnto him that hathe no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 f Euen the yong men shal faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shal stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lord, shal renue their strength: they shal lift vp the wings as the egles: they shal runne, & not be wearie, & they shal walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercie in chusing his people 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion

1 KEpe a silence before me, ô ylands, & let the people b renue their strength: let them come nere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp c iustice from the East, & called him to his fote? and gaue the nacions before him, and subdued the Kings? he gaue them as dust to his sworde, & as scatred stubble vnto his bowe.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his fete.

4 Who hathe wroght and done it? he that calleth the d generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the e first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles sawe it, & did f feare, & the ends of the earth were abashed, drewe nere, and g came.

6 Euerie man helped his neighbour and said to his brother, h Be strong.

7 So the workeman comforted the founder & he that smote w the hammer, him that smote by course, sayīg, It is ready for the sodering, & he fastened it with nailes that it shulde not be moued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israél, art my i seruant, & thou Iaakób, whome I haue chosen, the sede of Abrahám my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the ends of the earth, and called thee before the chief thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I wil strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and wil susteine thee with the k right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they y prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, & they that striue with thee, shal perish.

12 Thou shalt seke thē and shalt not l finde p His power shalbe sufficient without helpe of anie other, and shal haue all meanes in him selfe to bring his wil to passe.

q He shal shewe his care & fauour ouer them that are weake, and tender

r Declaring y as God onely hathe all power so doeth he vse y same for y defence, and maintenace of his Church

s He sheweth Gods infinite wisdome for y same end and purpose

t He speaketh all this to the intent y they shulde nether feare man nor put their truste in anie, saue onely in God

u Hereby he armeth them against y idolatrie, wherewith they shulde be tempted in Babylon x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters seing that the poore that haue not to suffise their owne necessities, wil defraude them selues to serue their idoles y Haue ye not the worde of God, w plainely condēneth idolatrie?

z Cā you not learne by y visible creatures whome God hathe made to serue your vse, that you shuld not serue them nor worshipthem?

a So that his power appeareth in euerie place whereso euer we turne our eyes

b Who hathe set in order y infinit nomber of the starres

c He rebuketh the Iewes, because they did not rest on the prouidence of God, but thoght y he had forsaken them in their troubles.

d And therefore all power is in his hād to deliuer when his time cometh

e Shewing y man muste patiently abide, & not curiously seke out the cause of Gods delay in our afflictions

f They y trust in their owne vertue, and do not acknowledge that all cometh of God.

a God, as though he pleaded his cause w all nacions, requireth silence that he may be heard in his right

b That is, gather all their power & supportes

c Who called Abrahám (who was the paterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Churche) from the idolatrie of y Chaldeans to go to and fro at his cōmandemeot, & placed him in the land of Canaan?

d Who hathe created man & maintened his succession

e Though the worlde set vp neuer so manie gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glorie. for I am all one, vnchāgeable, w haue euer bene, and shalbe for euer

f Considering mine excellent workes among my people

g They assembled them selues, and conspired against me, to maintein their idolatrie.

h He noteth y obstinacie of y idolaters to maiteine their superstitions.

i And therefore ought not to pollute thy self with the superstitiō of the Gētiles.

k That is, by the force of my promes in y performāce whereof I wil shewe my self faithful and iuste.

l Because they shalbe destroyed.

them: to wit, the men of thy ſtrife, for they ſhalbe as nothing, and the men that warre againſt thee, as a thing of naught.

13 For I the Lord thy God wil holde thy right hand, ſaying vnto thee, Feare not, I wil helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme, Iaakób, & ye men of Iſraél: I wil helpe thee, ſaith the Lord & thy redemer [y] holie one of Iſraél.

15 Beholde, I wil make thee a roller, and a newe threſhing inſtrument hauing tethe: thou ſhalt threſh the [n] mountaines, and bring them to poudre, and ſhalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou ſhalt fanne them, & the winde ſhal carye them away, & the whirlwinde ſhal ſcater them: and thou ſhalt reioyce in the Lord, & ſhalt glorie in the holy one of Iſraél.

17 When [o] the poore and the nedie ſeke water, and there [s] none (their tongue faileth for thirſt: I the Lord wil heare them: I the God of Iſraél wil not forſake them)

18 I wil open riuers in the toppes of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I wil make the wildernes as a poole of water, & the waſte plád as ſprings of water.

19 I wil ſet in the wildernes the cedre, the ſhittah tre, & the myrre tre & the pine tre, & I wil ſet in the wildernes the fyrre tre, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them ſe and knowe, and let them conſider and vnderſtand together that the hand of the Lord hathe done this, and the holie one of Iſraél [q] hathe created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cauſe, ſaith the Lord: bring forthe your ſtrong reaſons, ſaith the King of Iaakób.

22 Let thé bring thé forthe, & let thé tel vs what ſhal come: let them ſhewe the former things what thei be, that we maie conſider them, and knowe the later end of them: ether declare vs things for to come.

23 Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yea, do good or do euil, that we may declare it, and beholde it together.

24 Beholde, ye are of no value, & your making is of naught: man hathe [t] choſen an abomination by them.

25 ¶ I haue raiſed vp [t] from the North, and he ſhal come: from the Eaſt ſunne ſhal [u] he call vpon my Name, and ſhal come vpon [x] princes as vpon claye, and as the potter treadeth myre vnder the fote.

26 Who hathe declared frō the beginning, that we may knowe [y] or before time, that we may ſay, He is righteous? Surely there is none that ſheweth: ſurely there is none [ỹ] declareth: ſurely there is none that heareth [y] your wordes.

27 I am the firſt, that ſaith to Zión, Beholde, beholde [z] them: and I wil giue to Ieruſalém [a] one that ſhal bring good tidings.

28 But when [b] I behelde, there was none, & when I enquired of them, there was no counſelour, & whē I demanded of them, thei anſwered not a worde.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde & confuſion.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was ſent vnto the worlde. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

1 BEholde, [a] my ſeruant: [b] I wil ſtay vpon him: mine elect, in whome my ſoule [c] deliteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he ſhal bring forthe [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He ſhal not [e] crye, nor lift vp, nor cauſe his voyce to be heard in the ſtrete.

3 A [f] bruiſed rede ſhal he not breake, and the ſmoking [g] flax ſhal he not quenche: he ſhal bring forthe iudgement in [h] trueth.

4 He ſhal not faile nor be diſcouraged til he haue [i] ſet iudgement in the earth: and the [k] yles ſhal wait for his law.

5 Thus ſaith God the Lord (he that created the heauens and ſpred them abrode: he that ſtretched forthe the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breth vnto the people vpon it, and ſpirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in [l] righteouſnes, and wil holde [m] thine hand, and I wil kepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, & for a light of the Gentiles, n As him, by whome the promiſe, made to all nations in Abrahám, ſhal be fulfilled

o I wil not ſuffer my glorie to be diminiſhed which I ſhuld do, if I were not faithful in performing the ſame, and the idolaters thereby wolde extol their idoles aboue me p As in time paſt I haue bene true in my promiſes, ſo wil I be in time to come q Meaning the Arabians, vnder whome he comprehendeth all the people of the Eaſt doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes ſing: let them ſhoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glorie vnto the Lord, & declare his praiſe in the ylandes.

r He ſheweth the zeal of ỹ Lord, and his power in the conſeruatiõ of his Church

13 The Lord ſhal go forthe as a [1] gyant: he ſhal ſtirre vp his courage like a mã of warre: he ſhal ſhoute and crye, & ſhal preuaile againſt his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene ſtil & refrained my ſelf: now wil I crye like a [ſ] trauailing woman: I wil deſtroye and deuoure at once.

ſ I wil haſte to execute my vengeance, ẅ I haue ſo long differred, as a woman that deſireth to be deliuered whẽ ſhe is in trauail 15 I wil make waſte mountaines, and hilles, and drye vp all their herbes, and I wil make the floods ylandes, and I wil drye vp the pooles.

t That is, my poore people, which are in perplexitie & care.

16 ¶And I wil bring the [t] blinde by a way, that they knew not, & leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I wil make darkenes light before them, and croked things ſtreight. Theſe things wil I do vnto them, and not forſake them.

u To wit, Iſraél, ẅ ſhulde haue moſte light becauſe of my Law

17 They ſhalbe turned backe: they ſhalbe greatly aſhamed, that truſt in grauẽ images, and ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

x The Prieſt to whome my worde is cõmitted, which ſhulde not onely heare it him ſelf, but cauſe others to heare it 18 ¶Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regarde, that ye may ſe.

y As ỹ Prieſts & Prophetes that ſhulde be lights to others

19 Who is blinde but my [u] ſeruant? or deafe as my [x] meſſenger, that I ſent? who is blinde as the [y] perfite, and blinde as the Lords ſeruant?

z Becauſe thei wil not acknowledge this benefite of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he ſuffreth them to be ſpoiled of their enemies through their owne fawte and incredulitie

20 Seẽg manie things, but thou kepeſt them not? opening the eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteouſnes ſake that he may magnifie the Law, & exalt it.

a There ſhalbe none to ſuccour them, or to wil the enemie to reſtore that, ẅ he hathe ſpoiled.

22 But this people is [z] robbed and ſpoiled, and ſhalbe all ſnared in dongeons, & they ſhalbe hid in priſon houſes: thei ſhalbe for a pray, and none ſhal deliuer: a ſpoile, and none ſhal ſay, [a] Reſtore.

b Meaning, Gods wrath.

23 Who amõg you ſhal hearken to [c] this, & take hede, and heare for [b] afterwardes?

24 Who gaue Iaakób for a ſpoile, and Iſraél to the robbers? Did not the Lord, becauſe we haue ſinned againſt him? for they wolde not walke in his wayes, nether be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore he hathe powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the ſtrength of battel: and it ſet him on fyre round about, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he cõſidered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiſeth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

a After theſe threatnings he promiſeth deliuerance to them & called them.

BVt now thus ſaith the Lord, [a] that created thee, ô Iaakób: and he that formed thee, ô Iſraél, [b] Feare not: for I haue redemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

b When thou ſeeſt dangers and conſpiracies on all ſides, remember this benefite and the loue of thy God, and it ſhal encourage thee

2 When thou paſſeſt through the [c] waters, I wil be with thee, & through the floods, that thei do not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkeſt through the verie fyre, thou ſhalt not be burnt, nether ſhal the flame kindle vpon thee.

c By water & fyre, he meaneth all kinde of troubles and perils

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Iſraél, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ranſome, Ethiopia, and Sebá for thee.

d I turned Sanecheribs power againſt theſe countreies and made thẽ to ſuffer that afflictiõ which thou ſhuldeſt haue done, and ſo were as the payment of thy ranſome, Cha. 37,9.

4 Becauſe thou waſt precious in my ſight, & thou waſt honorable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue [e] man for thee, & people for thy ſake.

e I wil not ſpare ane man rather then thou ſhuldeſt periſhe: for God more eſteemeth one of his faithful, then all the wicked in the worlde

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I wil bring thy ſede from the [f] Eaſt, and gather thee from the Weſt.

f He propheciethe of their deliuerance from the captiuitie of Babylon, and ſo of the calling of the vniuerſal Church, alluding to that which is writen Deut 30,3.

6 I wil ſaie to the North, Giue: and to the South, Kepe not backe: bring my ſonnes from farre, and my daughters from the endes of the earth.

g Meaning, that he colde not be vnmindful of them, except he wolde neglect his owne Name & glorie

7 Euerie one ſhalbe called by my [g] Name: for I created him for my glorie, formed him and made him.

h Signifying, that no power can reſiſt him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to do the like, as Chap 41,22

8 I wil bring forthe the blinde people, and thei ſhal haue eyes, and the deafe, & they ſhal haue eares.

22 And thou hast not x called vpō me, ô Iaakób, but thou hast y wearied me, ô Israél.

23 Thou z hast not broght me the shepe of thy burntoffrings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offring, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boghtest me no swete a sauour w̄ monie, neither hast thou made me drunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me b to serue with thy sinnes, & wearied me with thine iniquities.

1 The Lord promiseth comfort and that he wil assemble his Church of diuers nations 9 The Vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlines of idolaters.

1 YEt now heare, ô Iaakób my seruant, and Israél, whome I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed a thee from the wōbe: he wil helpe thee. Feare not, ô Iaakób, my seruant, and thou righteous, b whome I haue chosen.

3 For I wil powre water vpon c the thirstie, & floods vpon the drie ground: I wil powre my Spirit vpon thy sede, and my blessing vpon thy buddes,

4 And thei d shal growe as among the grasse, & as the willowes by the riuer of waters.

5 One shal say, I am ỹ Lords: another e shal be called by the name of Iaakób: & another shal subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name him self by the name of Israél.

6 Thus saith the Lord the King of Israél & his redemer, the Lord of hostes, f I am ỹ first, and I am the last, and without me is there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shal g call, and shal declare it, and set h it in order before me, since I appointed the i ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come let k them shewe vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraied: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I knowe not

9 All thei that make an image, are vanitie, and m their delectable things shal nothing profite: & thei are their owne witnesses, n that thei se not nor knowe: therefore thei shalbe confounded.

10 Who hathe made o a god, or molten an image, that is p profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the q felowship thereof, shalbe cōfounded: for the workemen them selues are men: let them all be gathered together, and r stand vp, yet thei shal feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, & worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, & worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an s hungred, & his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, & is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreieth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, & according to the beautie of a man that it maie remaine in an house.

14 He wil hewe him downe cedres, and take the pine tre and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a fyrre tre, and the raine doeth nourish it.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iuſt in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 THus ſaith the Lord vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anointed, whoſe right hand I haue holden [c] to ſubdue nations before him: therefore wil I weakē the loynes of Kigs and open the dores before him, & the gates ſhal not be ſhut.

2 I wil go before thee & make ỹ [d] croked ſtreight: I wil breake the braſen dores, & burſt the yron barres.

3 And I wil giue thee ỹ treaſures of darkenes, and the things hid in ſecret places, that thou maiſt [e] knowe that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Iſraél.

4 For Iaakób my ſeruants [f] ſake, and Iſraél mine elect, I wil euē call thee by thy name & name thee, thogh thou haſt not knowen me.

a These were the chief idoles of Babylõ.

b Becauſe thei were of golde and ſiluer, the Medes & Perſians caryed them away

2 c They are bowed downe, & fallen togeather: for thei colde not rid thẽ of the burden, & thei d ſoule is gone into captiuitie.

c The beaſts that caryed ỹ idoles, fel downe vnder their burden

3 Heare ye me, ô houſe of Iaakób, & all that remaine of the houſe of Iſraél, which are e borne of me from the wombe, and broght vp of me from the birth.

d He derideth the idoles, which had neither ſoule nor ſence

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the ſame, euẽ I wil beare you vntil the hore heeres: I haue made you, I wil alſo beare you, and I wil carye you f and I wil deliuer you.

e He ſhewth the difference betwene the idoles and the true God for thei muſt be caryed of others, but God him ſelf caryeth his, as Deut 32,11

5 ¶ To whome wil ye make me like, or make me equal, or g compare me, that I ſhulde be like him?

f Seing I haue begotten you I wil nouriſh and preſerue you for euer

6 They drawe golde out of the bagge and weigh ſiluer in the balance, and hyre a goldſmith to make a god of it, & they bowe downe, and worſhip it.

g The people of God, ſeing their owne calamitie & the florißhing eſtate of the Babylonis, muſt not be tempted to thinke that their God was not ſo mightie as the idols of their enemies therefore he deſcribeth the original of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men

7 They beare it vpon the ſhoulders. they cary him and ſet him in his place: ſo doeth he ſtand, & can not remoue from his place. Thogh one crye vnto him, yet can he not anſwer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulacion.

8 Remember this, and be aſhamed: bring it againe h to minde, ô you tranſgreſſers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me, shewing that the moſte that can be ſpoken in their commendacio is but to giue them vile, Bar 6,25

10 Which declare the laſt thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, ſaying, My counſel ſhal ſtand, & I wil do whatſoeuer I wil.

h Become wiſe, meaning ỹ all idolaters are without wit or ſenſe, like mad mẽ

11 I call a i birde from the Eaſt, & the man of my k counſel from far: as I haue ſpoken, ſo wil I bring it to paſſe: I haue purpoſed it, and I wil do it.

i That is Cyrus, which ſhal come as ſwift as a birde ind fight againſt Babylon k Him by whome I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

12 Heare me, ye ſtubburne hearted, that are farre from l iuſtice.

l Which by your incredulitie wolde let the performance of my promes

13 I bring m nere my iuſtice: it ſhal not be farre of, and my ſaluacion ſhal not tary: for I wil giue ſaluacion in Zión, and my glorie vnto Iſraél.

m He ſheweth that mans incredulitie can not aboliſh the promes of God, Rom 3,3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The deſtruction of Babylon and the cauſes wherefore.

1 COme downe and ſit in the duſt: ô virgine, daughter Babél, ſit on the grounde: there is no b throne, ô daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called, Tendre and delicate.

a Which haſt liued in wealth, & wantõnes, and haſt not yet bene ouercome by any enemie

b Thy gouernement ſhalbe taken from thee

2 Take the mille ſtones, & c grinde meale.

c Thou ſhalt be broght to moſte vile ſeruitude for to turne the mille was the office of ſlaues.

looſe thy lockes: d make bare the fete: vncouer ỹ legge, & paſſe through the floods.
3 Thy filthines ſhalbe diſcouered, and thy ſhame ſhalbe ſene: I wil take vengeance, and I wil not mete thee as a e man.
4 f Our redemer, the Lord of hoſtes is his Name, the holy one of Iſraél.
5 g Sit ſtil, and get thee into darkenes, ô daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes.
6 I was wrath with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou dideſt ſhewe them no h mercie, but thou dideſt lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.
7 And thou ſaideſt, I ſhalbe a ladie for euer, ſo that thou dideſt not ſet thy minde to theſe things, nether dideſt thou remember the latter end thereof.
8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleaſures, & dwelleſt careles, She ſaith in her heart, I am and none els: I ſhal not ſit as a widdow, nether ſhal knowe ỹ loſſe of children.
9 But theſe two things ſhal come to thee ſuddenly on one day, the loſſe of children and widdowehead: they ſhal come vpon thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinacions, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.
10 For thou haſt truſted in thy wickednes: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me. Thy k wiſdome & thy knowledge, thei haue cauſed thee to rebell, and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I am, and none els.
11 Therefore ſhal euil come vpon thee, and thou ſhalt not know the morning thereof: deſtruction ſhal fall vpõ thee, which thou ſhalt not be able to put away: deſtruction ſhal come vpon thee ſuddenly, or thou beware.
12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy ſoti eſayers (with whome thou haſt l wearied thy ſelf from thy youth) if ſo be thou maieſt haue profite, or if ſo be thou maieſt haue ſtrength.
13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counſels: let now the aſtrologers, the ſtarre gaſers, & pronoſticatours ſtand vp, and ſaue thee from theſe things, that ſhal come vpon thee.
14 Beholde, they ſhalbe as ſtubble: the fyre ſhal burne them: thei ſhal not deliuer their owne liues from the powei of the flame: there ſhal be no coles m to warme at, nor light to ſit by.
15 Thus ſhal they ſerue thee, with whome thou haſt wearied thee, euẽ thy marchants from thy youth: euery one ſhal wander to his owne n quarter: none ſhal ſaue thee.

d The things wherin ſhe ſetteth her greateſt pride ſhal be made vile, euen from the head to the foote
e I wil vſe no humanitie nor pitie toward thee
f The Iſraelites ſhal confeſſe, that the Lord doeth this for his Church ſake.
g For very ſhame, & hide thy ſelf
h Thei abuſed Gods iudgements thinkíg that he puniſhed ỹ Iſraelites, becauſe he wolde vtterly caſt them of, and therefore in ſtead of pitying their miſerie, thou diddeſt increaſe it.
i So that thy puniſhment ſhalbe ſo great, as is poſſible to be imagined.
k Thou dideſt thinke ỹ thine owne wiſdome & policie wolde haue ſaued thee
l He derideth their vaine cõfidence, ỹ put their truſt in any thing, but in God, conſidering alſo ſuche vaine ſcieces, which ſerue to no vſe, but to delude the people and to bring them frõ depending onely in God
m They ſhal vtterly periſh and no parte of thẽ remaine n They ſhal flee euery one to that place, & he thoght by his ſpeculacions to be moſte ſure: but that ſhal deceiue them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocriſie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lord alone wil be worſhipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

1 HEare ye this, ô houſe of Iaakób, which are a called by the name of Iſraél, and are come out of b the waters of Iudáh: which ſweare by the Name of the Lord, and make mencion of the God of Iſraél, but not in trueth, nor in righteouſnes.
2 For they are called of the holy citie, and ſtaie them ſelues c vpon the God of Iſraél, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſtes.
3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I ſhewed d them: I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſſe.
4 Becauſe I knewe, that e thou art obſtinate, and thy necke is an yron ſinew, and thy browe braſſe,
5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to paſſe, I ſhewed f it thee, leſt thou ſhuldeſt ſay, Mine idole hathe done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hathe commanded them.
6 Thou haſt heard, beholde all this, & wil not ye g declare it? I haue ſhewed thee new things, euen now, and hid things, which thou kneweſt not.
7 They are created now, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardeſt them not, leſt ỹ ſhuldeſt ſay, Beholde, I h knewe them.
8 Yet thou heardeſt thẽ not, nether dideſt knowe them, nether yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou woldeſt grieuouſly tranſgreſſe: therefore haue I called thee a tranſgreſſour from the i wombe.
9 For my Names ſake wil I differ my wrath, and for my praiſe wil I refraine it from thee, k that I cut thee not of.
10 Beholde, I haue fined thee, but l not as ſiluer: I haue m choſen thee in the fornace of affliction.
11 For mine owne ſake, for mine owne ſake wil I do it: for how ſhulde my Name n be polluted? ſurely I wil not giue my glorie vnto another.
12 Heare me, ô Iaakób & Iſraél, my called, p I am, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt.
13 Surely mine hãd hathe layed the fundacion of the earth, & my right hand hathe ſpanned the heauens: when I call them, q they ſtand vp together.
14 All you, aſſemble your ſelues, & heare: which among them hathe declared theſe thigs? The Lord hathe loued r him: he wil a He deteſteth their hypocriſie, which vanted them ſelues to be Iſraelites & were not ſo in dede.

b Meaning, the fountaine and ſtocke c They make a ſhew, as though they wolde haue none other God d He ſheweth that thei colde not accuſe him in anie thing, for aſmuche as he had performed whatſoeuer he had promiſed e I haue done for thee more then I promiſed, that thy ſtubbernes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.
f How ỹ ſhuldeſt be deliuered out of Babylon g Wil he not acknowledge this my benefite & declare it vnto others?
h Shewing ỹ mans arrogancie is the cauſe why God doeth not declare all thigs at once, leſt thei ſhuld attribute this knowledge to their owne wiſdome
i From ỹ time that I brought thee out of Egypte for that deliuerance was as ỹ birth of the Church.
k As it was my fre mercie ỹ I did chuſe thee. ſo is it my fre mercie that muſt ſaue thee l For I had reſpect to thy weakenes and infirmitie for in ſiluer there is ſume pureneſ, but in vs there is nothing, but droſſe.
m I toke thee out of the fornace where thou ſhuldeſt haue bene conſumed n God ioyneth the ſaluacion of his with his owne honour ſo that they can not periſh, but his glorie ſhulde be diminiſhed, as Deut 32,27
o Read Chap 42,8 p Read 41,4
q To obey me, & to do whatſoeuer I commande them.
r Meaning, Cyrus, whome he had choſen to deſtroy Babylon.

do do his wil in Babél, and his arme shalbe against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brogh̄t him, and his waie shal prosper.

16 Come neie vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret frō the [f] beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his spirit hathe [t] sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redemer, the Holie one of Israél, I am the Lord thy God, which teache thee [u] to profite, & lead thee by the waie, that thou shuldest go.

18 O [x] that thou hadest hearkened to my commandements, then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy sede also had bene as the sande, and ỹ frute of thy bodie like the grauel thereof. his [y] name shulde not haue bene cut of nor destroied before me.

20 [y] Go ye out of Babél flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ioye: tel and declare this: shewe it forthe to the end of the earth: saye ye, The Lord hathe redemed his seruant Iaakób.

21 And they [z] were not thirstie: he led them through the wildernes he caused ỹ waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no [a] peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

CHAP. XLIX.

The Lord exhorteth all nacions to beleue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluacion of all that beleue, and wil deliuer them from the tyranne of their enemies.

1 HEare ye me, ô yles, & hearké, ye people frō farre. The Lord hathe called [a] me from [b] the wombe, and made mencion of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hathe made my mouth like a sharpe [c] sworde: vnder the shadowe of his hād hathe he [d] hid me, and made me a chosen shafte & hid me in his quiver,

3 And said vnto me, Thou art my seruant, [e] Israél, for I wil be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue [f] labored in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed me frō the wombe to be his seruant, that I maie bring Iaakób againe to him (thogh Israél be not gathered, [g] yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a smale thing that thou shuldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakób, and to restore the desolations of Israel. I wil also giue [h] thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou maiest be my saluacion vnto the end of the worlde.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redemer of Israél, & his Holie one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a [i] seruant of rulers, Kings shal se, and [k] arise, and princes shal worship, because of the Lord, that is faithful, and the Holie one of Israél, which hathe chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, [l] In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluacion haue I helped thee. and I wil preserue thee, and wil giue [m] thee for a couenant of the people, that thou maiest raise vp the [n] earth, and obteine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to ỹ [o] prisoners, Go forthe: and to them that are in darkenes, Shewe your selues: they shal fede in the wayes, & their [p] pastures shalbe in all the toppes of the hilles.

10 They shal not be [q] hūgrie, nether shal thei be thirstie, nether shal the heat smite thē nor the sunne: for he that hathe compassion [r] on them, shal lead them, euen to the springs of waters shal he driue them.

11 And I wil make all my mountaines, as a way, & my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shal come frō farre. & lo, these from the North and from the West, and these from the land of [s] Sinim.

13 Reioyce, ô [t] heauens: and be ioyful, ô earth braste forthe in to praise, ô mountaines: for God hathe comforted his people, & wil haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hathe [v] forsaken me, and my Lord hathe forgotte me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wōbe? thogh they shulde forget, yet wil I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue grauē thee vpon the palme of mine [u] hands, thy [x] walles are euer in my sight.

17 Thy buylders make ỹ haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about & beholde: all these gather thē selues together & come to thee. as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely [z] put thē all vpō thee as a garmēt, & gird thy self w̄ thē like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, & thy waste places, & thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them: ỹ shal dwell in it, & thei that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barennes shal say againe in thine eares, The place is straict for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Thē shalt ỹ say in thine heart, Who hathe begotten me these, seing I am baren and f Since the time that I declared my self to your fathers

t Thus ỹ Prophet speaketh for him self, & to assure them of these thīgs w what things shal do thee good x That is, the prosperous estat of Israel

y After that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause therof, he sheweth them the great ioye, ỹ shal come of their deliuerance

z He sheweth that it shalbe as easy to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt

a Thus he sheweth that the wicked hypocrites shuld not abuse Gods promises in whome was neither faith, nor repentance, as Chap 57,21

u This is spoken in the persone of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises shulde come to passe for they were all made in him, and in him shulde be performed

b This is mēt of the time, ỹ Christ shulde be manifested to the worlde, as Psal 2,7 c By the sworde, and shafte, he signifieth ỹ vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine

d God hathe takē me to his protection and defence this chiefly is mēt of Christ, and may also be applied to ỹ ministers of his worde

e By Israél is mēt Christ, & all the body of ỹ faithful as the members and their head

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth, that his labour, and preaching take none effect, yet he is conten ed, ỹ his doings are approued of God.

g Thogh the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God wil approue my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Cha 42,6 act 13,47 luk 2,32.

i Meaning, the Iewes whome tyrants kept in bondage k The benefit of their deliuerance shalbe so great, that great, & smale shal acknowledge it, & reuerēce God for it l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he wolde shew his merete toward it, 2. Cor 6,2.

m Meaning, Christ alone

n Signifying, ỹ before Christ reuse ỹ earth by his worde, there is no thing, but cōfusiō & disorder.

o To thē that are in the prison of sinne, & death

p Being in Christs protection, they shal be sure against all dangers, & fre from the feare of the enemies

q Meaning, ỹ there shulde be nothīg in their way from Babylon ỹ shulde hinder or hurt them but this is accomplished spiritually

r Meaning, ỹ Southcountrey so that Christ shal deliuer his from all the partes of the worlde

s Read Chap. 44,23

t He obiecteth what ỹ faithful might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a moste proper similitude, and ful of consolatiō

u Because I wolde not forget thee

x Meaning, ỹ good order of policie & discipline

y I haue a cōtinual care to buylde thee vp againe, & to destroye thine enemies

z He sheweth what are the ornamēts of ỹ Church to haue mane childrē, which are assembled by the worde of God & gouerned by his Spirit desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? & who hathe nourished thē? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil lift vp mine hand to the [a] Gentiles and set vp my standart to the people, and they shal bring thy sonnes in their armes: and thy daughters shalbe caryed vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kigs [b] shalbe thy nourcing fathers, and Quenes shalbe thy nources: thei shal worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy fete: & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shal not be ashamed ỹ waite for me.

24 Shal the praie be [d] taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shalbe taken awaie: & the praie of the tyrant shalbe deliuered: for I wil contend with him that contendeth with thee, & I wil saue thy children, 26 And wil fede them that spoile thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shalbe drunken with their owne blood, as with swete wine: & all flesh shal knowe that I ỹ Lord am thy Sauiour & thy redemer, the mightie one of Iaakób.

a He sheweth, ỹ Christ wil not onely gather this great nōber of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles

b Meaning, ỹ Kings shalbe cōuerted to ỹ Gospel and be stow their pow er, & autoritie for the preseruation of the Church

c Being ioyned with the Church, they shal hūble thē selues to Christ their head, and giue him all honour

d He maketh this as an obiectiō, as though the Chaldeas were strong, & had them in iuste possessiō.

e This is, the answer to their obiectiō, ỹ none is strōger then the Lord, nether hathe a more iuste title vnto them

f I wil cause them to destroye one another, as Iud. 7, 22. 2 chro 20, 22. chap. 19, 2.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience & victorie.

1 THus saith the Lord, Where is that [a] bil of your mothers diuorcement, [b] whome I haue cast of? or who is the creditour [c] to whome I solde you? Beholde, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, & there was no mā? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so [e] shortened, that it can not helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? beholde, at my rebuke I dryc vp the Sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dyeth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauēs with darknes, & make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hathe giuen [g] me a tōgue of the learned, that I shulde knowe to minister a worde in time to him ỹ is [h] weary: he wil raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he wil waken mine eare to heare, [i] as the learned.

5 The Lord God hathe opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, nether turned I backe.

a Meaning, ỹ he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasiō, as Hosea 2, 2 b Which shulde declare, ỹ I haue cut her of. meaning, ỹ they colde shewe none

c Signifying ỹ he solde them not for anie det or pouertie, but ỹ they solde thē selues to sinne to bie their owne lustes, & pleasures

d He came by his Prophetes and ministers, but thei wolde not beleue their doctrine and conuert

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dryed vp ỹ red Sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, & also afterwarde in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in tokē of my displeasure, Exod 10, 21

g The Prophet doeth represente here the persone and charge of them that are iustely called to the ministerie of Gods worde

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie

i As they that are taught, and made meete by him.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the [k] smiters, and my chekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

k I did no shrinke from God for anie persecution or calumitie

7 For the Lord God wil helpe me, therefore shal I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I knowe that I shal not be ashamed.

8 He is nere that iustifieth me: who wil cōtend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God wil helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? lo, thei shal waxe olde as a garment: the mothe shal eat them vp.

Whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can loke for none other recompence of ỹ wicked but after this sorte and also what is their comfort.

10 [l] Who is amōg you that feareth ỹ Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant. he that walketh in darkenes, & hathe no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, & stay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kindle [m] a fyre, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in ỹ light of your fyre, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shal ye haue of mine hand: ye shal lie downe in sorowe.

l Shewing ỹ it is a rare thing that anie shulde obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring thē frō hel to heauen.

m Yon haue soght consolacion by your owne deuises, & haue refused the light, and consolation, ỹ God hathe offred therefore ye shal remaine in sorowe, and not be cōforted

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, & her deliuerance.

1 HEare me, ye [a] that follow after righteousnes, & ye that seke the Lord: loke vnto the [b] rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

a He comforteth ỹ Church, that thei shulde not be discouraged for their smale nomber

2 Consider Abrahám your father, and Saráh that bare you: for I called him alone, & blessed him, and increased him.

b That is, to Abrahám, of whome ye were begotten, & to Saráh, of whome ye were borne 3 Surely the Lord shal comfort Zión: he shal comfort all her desolations, and he shal make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioye and gladnes shalbe founde therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

c As plēteful as Paradise, Genes 2, 3.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, ô my people. for a [d] Law shal procede from me, and I wil bring forthe my iudgement for the light of the people.

d I wil rule, & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.

5 My [e] righteousnes is nere: my saluacion goeth forthe, and mine [f] armes shal iudge the people: the yles shal waite for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

e The time, ỹ I wil accomplish my promes f My power, and strength.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and loke vpon the earth beneth: for the [g] heauens shal vanish away like smoke, and the earth shal waxe olde like a garment, and thei that dwell therein, shal perish in like maner: but my saluacion shalbe for euer, & my righteousnes shal not be abolished.

g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes & mutations of all things, & how he wil preserue his Church in the middes of all these dangers.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that knowe righteousnes, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproche of men, nether be ye afraied of their rebukes.

For

8 For the mothe ſhal eat thẽ vp like a garment, and the worme ſhal eat them like wolle: but my righteouſnes ſhal be for euer, and my ſaluacion from generacion to generacion.

9 Riſe vp, riſe vp, and put on ſtrength, ô arme of the Lord: riſe vp, as [g] in the olde time in the generacions of the worlde. Art not thou the ſame, that haſt cut [h] Rahab, and wounded the [i] dragon?

10 Art not thou the ſame, which hath dryed the Sea, euen the waters of the great depe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redemed to paſſe ouer?

11 Therefore the redemed of the Lord ſhal [l] returne, and come with ioye vnto Zión, and euerlaſting ioye ſhalbe vpon their head: they ſhal obteine ioye & gladnes: & ſorowe and mourning ſhal flee away.

12 I, euen I, am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou ſhuldeſt feare a mortal man, and the ſonne of man, which ſhalbe made as graſſe?

13 And forgeteſt the Lord thy maker, that hathe ſpred out the heauens, and laide the fundacions of the earth? and haſt feared continually all the day, becauſe of the rage of the oppreſſour, which is ready to deſtroye? Where is now the rage of the oppreſſour?

14 The captiue [m] haſteneth to be looſed, and that he ſhulde not dye in the pit, nor that his bread ſhulde faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy [n] mouthe, and haue defended thee in the ſhadow of mine hand, that I may plant [o] heauẽs, and laye the fundacion of the earth, & ſay vnto Zón, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and ſtand vp, ô Ieruſalém, which haſt drũke at the hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou haſt drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all [q] ſonnes, whome ſhe hathe broght forthe: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the ſonnes that ſhe hathe broght vp.

19 Theſe two [r] things are come vnto thee: who wil lament thee? deſolation and deſtruction, and famine, and the ſworde: by whome ſhal I comforte thee?

20 Thy ſonnes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the ſtretes as a wilde bulle in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, & rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou [s] miſerable and dronken, but [t] not with wine.

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, euen the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou ſhalt drinke it no more.

23 But I wil put it into their hãd that ſpoile thee, which haue ſaid to thy ſoule, Bowe downe, that wẽ may go ouer, and thou haſt laid thy bodie as the ground, and as the ſtrete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A conſolation to the people of God. 7 Of the meſſengers thereof.

1 ARiſe, ariſe: put on thy ſtrength, ô Zión: put on the garments of thy beautie, ô Ieruſalém, the holy citie: for hence forthe there ſhal no more come into thee the vncircumciſed and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy ſelf from the [b] duſt, ariſe, and ſit downe, ô Ieruſalém: looſe the bandes of thy necke, ô thou captiue daughter, Zión.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord, Ye were ſolde for [c] naught: therefore ſhal ye be redemed without money.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God, My people went [d] downe afore time into Ægypt to ſoiourne there, and Aſſhúr [e] oppreſſed them without cauſe.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, ſaith the Lord, that my people is takẽ away for naught, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, ſaith the Lord? & my Name all the day continually is [f] blaſphemed?

6 Therefore my people ſhal knowe my Name: therefore they ſhal knowe in that day, that I am he that do ſpeake: beholde, it is I.

7 How beautiful vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth & publiſheth peace: that declareth good tidings, & publiſheth ſaluacion, ſaying vnto Zión, Thy God reigneth!

8 [g] The voice of thy watchemen ſhalbe heard: they ſhal lift vp their voyce, and ſhout together: for they ſhal ſe eye to eye, when the Lord ſhal bring again Zion.

9 O ye deſolate places of Ieruſalém, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hathe comforted his people: he hathe redemed Ieruſalém.

10 The Lord hathe made [h] bare his holy arme in the ſight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth ſhal ſe the ſaluacion of our God.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose worde fewe wil beleue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnes. 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

1 WHo [a] wil beleue our report? and [b] to whome is the arme of the Lord reueiled?
2 But he shal growe vp before him as a branche, & as a [c] roote out of a drye [d] grounde: he hathe neither forme nor beautie:
whẽ we shal se him, there shalbe no forme that we shulde desire him.
3 He is despised and reiected of mẽ: he is a man ful of sorows and hathe experience of [e] infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was dispised and we estemed him not.
4 Surely he hathe borne our infirmities, & caried [f] our sorowes: yet we did iudge hĩ, as [g] plagued, and smitten of God, & humbled.
5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the [h] chastisemẽt of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.
6 All we like shepe haue gone astraie: we haue turned euerie one to his owne way, and the Lord hathe layed vpon him the [i] iniquitie of vs all.
7 He was oppressed & he was afflicted, yet did he not [k] opẽ his mouth: he is broght as a shepe to the slaughter, and as a shepe before her shearer is dumme, so he openeth not his mouth.
8 He was taken out from [l] prison, and frõ iudgement: [m] & who shal declare his age?
for he was cut out of the lãd of the liuig:
for the transgression of my people was he plagued.
9 [n] And he made his graue with ỹ wicked, and with the riche in his death, thogh he had done no wickednes, nether was anie deceite in his mouth.
10 Yet the Lord wolde breake him, & make him subiect to infirmities: whẽ [o] he shal make his soule an offring for sinne, he shal se his sede & shal prolong his daies, and the wil of the Lord shal prosper in his hand.
11 He shal se of the [p] trauaile of his soule, & shalbe satisfied: by his knowledge shal my [q] righteous seruant iustifie manie: for he shal beare their iniquities.
12 Therefore wil I giue him a portion with the great, and he shal deuide the spoyle with the strong, because he [r] hathe powred out his soule vnto death: and he was counted with the transgressers, and he bare the sinne [s] of many, and praied for the trespassers.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ & Gods counsels are not as mans 12 The ioy of the faithful

1 HO, euerie one [a] that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue [b] no siluer, come bie and eat: come, I saie, bie [c] wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye laie out siluer [d] & not for bread? & your labour without beīg satisfied? hearkē diligently vnto me, & eat that which is good, and let your soule delite in [e] fatnes.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto me: heare, and your soule shal liue, and I wil make an euerlasting couenant with you, even the [f] sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Beholde, I gaue him for a witnes to the people, for a prince and a maister vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, [h] and a nation that knewe not thee, shal rūne vnto thee, because of [g] the Lord thy God, and the holie one of Israél. for he hathe glorified thee.

6 Seke ye the Lord while he maie [l] be founde: call ye vpon him while he is nere.

7 Let the wicked [k] forsake his waies, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is verie readie to forgiue.

8 For my [l] thoghts are not your thoghts, nether are your waies my waies, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are hier thē the earth, so are my waies hier then your waies, and my thoghts aboue your thoghts.

10 Surely as the raine cometh downe and the snowe from heauen, and returneth not thether, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring forthe and budde that it maie giue sede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shal my [m] worde be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shal not returne vnto me voyde, but it shal accomplish that which I wil, and it shal prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shal go out with ioye, and be led forthe with peace: the [n] mountaines and the hils shal breake forthe before you into ioye, and all the trees of the field shal clappe their hands.

13 For thornes there shal growe fyrre trees: for nettles shal growe the myrthe tree, and it shalbe to the Lord [o] for a name, and for an euerlasting [p] signe that shal not be taken awaie.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortacion to iudgement and iustice to Against Shepherds that deuoure their flocke.

1 THus saith the Lord, [a] Kepe iudgemēt & do iustice: for my saluacīō is at hād to come & my [b] righteousnes to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the [c] Sabbath and polluteth it not, and kepeth his hand from doing anie euil.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which [d] is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hathe surely separat me frō his people: nether let the Eunuch say, Beholde, I am a drye tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that kepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take holde of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto thē wil I giue in mine [e] House & within my walles, a place and a [f] name better then of the sonnes & of the daughters: I wil giue them an euerlasting name, that shal not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, & to be his seruants: euerie one that keepeth the Sabbath, & polluteth it not & imbraceth my couenant,

7 Thē wil I bring also to mine holy mountaine, & make them ioyful in mine House of prayer: their burnt [g] offrings and their sacrifices shalbe accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shalbe called an house of prayer for [h] all people.

God taketh awaie the good, that he shulde not se the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters. 9 And their vaine confidence.

1 THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and merciful men are taken awaie, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken awaie [a] from the euil to come.

2 [b] Peace shal come: thei shal rest in their beddes, euerie one that walketh before him.

3 But you [c] witches children, come hither, the sede of the adulterer and of ỹ whore.

4 On whome haue ye iested [d] vpon whome haue ye gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, and a false sede?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euerie grene tree? and sacrificing the [d] children in the valleis vnder the toppes of the rockes?

6 Thy porcion is in the smooth stones [e] of the riuer, thei, thei are thy lotte: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offring: thou hast offred a sacrifice. Shulde I delite in [f] these?

7 Thou hast made thy [g] bed vpon a verie hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thether, euen thether wentest thou to offre sacrifice.

8 Behinde the [h] dores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy self to another then me, and wentest vp and didest [i] enlarge thy bed, & make a couenant betwene thee and them, and louedst their bed in euerie place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the Kīgs with oyle, & didest increase [l] thine oyntmentes & send thy messengers farre of, and didest humble thy selfe vnto hel.

10 Thou weariedst thy self in thy manifold iourneis, yet saidest thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast founde life by thine hād, therefore thou wast not grieued.

11 And whome didest thou reuerence or feare, seing thou hast [n] lied vnto me, and hast not remēbred me, nether set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long [o] time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I wil declare thy [p] righteousnes & thy workes, and thei shal not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but ỹ winde shal [q] take thē all away: vanitie shal pul them awaie: but he that trusteth in me, shal inherit the land, and shal possesse mine holie Mountaine.

14 [r] And he shal saie, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the waie: take vp the stōbling blockes out of the waie of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is hie and excellēt, he that inhabiteth ỹ eternitie, whose Name is the Holie one, I dwell in the hie & holie place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

18 I haue sene his waies, and wil [u] heale him: I wil leade him also, & restore cōfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I creat the [x] frute of ỹ lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are [y] farre of, and to them that are nere, saith the Lord: for I wil heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that cā [z] not rest, whose waters cast vp myre and dirt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

a From ỹ plague that is at hand, & also because God wil punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shal be in ioye & their bodie shal rest in ỹ graue vnto the time of ỹ resurrection; because thei walked before the Lord.

c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of ỹ name of Gods people derided Gods worde & his promises: boasting openly that thei were ỹ childrē of Abrahám, but because they were not faithful & obedient as Abrahám was, he calleth thē bastards, & the childrē of sorcerers, whē forsoke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

h Instead of setting vp the worde of God in the open places on the postes & dores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6,9. & 27,2. thou hast set vp figures and markes of thine idolatrie in euerie place.

i That is, dide st increase thine idolatrie more and more.

k Thou didest seke the fauour of ỹ Assyrians by giftes and presents, to helpe thee against ỹ Egyptians: & when thei failed, ỹ soughtest to ỹ Babylonians & more and more didest torment thy self.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithful. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

1 CRye ā [a] loud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, & to the house of Iaakób, their sinnes.

2 Yet thei [b] seke me daily, & wil knowe my waies, euen as a nacion that did rightea The Lord thus speaketh to ỹ Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence & feuentie to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They wil seme to worship me and haue outward holines.

ouſly, and had not forſaken the ſtatutes of their God: thei aſke of me the ordinances of iuſtice: they wil drawe nere vnto God, ſaying,

3 [c] Wherefore haue we faſted, & thou ſeeſt it not? we haue puniſhed our ſelues, & thou regardeſt it not. Beholde, in ỹ day of your faſt you wil ſeke [d] your wil, and require all your dettes.

4 Beholde, ye faſt to ſtrife and debate, and to ſmite with the fiſt of wickednes: ye ſhal not faſt as ye do to day, to make your voyce be [e] heard aboue.

5 Is it ſuche a faſt, that I haue choſen that a man ſhulde afflict his ſoule for a day, & to bowe downe his head, as a bulle ruſh, and to lie downe in ſackecloth and aſhes? wilt thou call this a faſting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this ỹ faſting, that I haue choſen, to looſe the bands of wickednes, to take of the heauy burdens, & to let the oppreſſed go fre, and that ye breake euery [f] yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, & that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine houſe? when thou ſeeſt the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy ſelf from [g] thine owne fleſh?

8 Then ſhal thy [h] light breake forthe as the morning, and thine health ſhal growe ſpedely: thy [i] righteouſnes ſhal go before thee, and the glorie of the Lord ſhal embrace thee.

9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the Lord ſhal anſwer: thou ſhalt crye and he ſhal ſay, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forthe of the [k] finger, and wicked ſpeaking:

10 If thou [l] powre out thy ſoule to the hungry, & refreſh the troubled ſoule: then ſhal thy light ſpring out in the [m] darkenes, and thy darkenes ſhalbe as the none day.

11 And the Lord ſhal guide thee cõtinually, and ſatiſfie thy ſoule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou ſhalt be like a watred garden, and like a ſpring of water, whoſe waters faile not.

12 And they ſhalbe of thee, that ſhal buylde the olde [n] waſte places: thou ſhalt raiſe vp the fundacions for manie generacions, & ỹ ſhalt be called the repairer of ỹ breache & the reſtorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou [o] turne away thy fote from the Sabbath, from doing thy wil on mine holy day, & call the Sabbath a delite, to conſecrat it, as glorious to the Lord, and ſhalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor ſeking thine owne wil, nor ſpeaking a vaine worde, 14 Then ſhalt thou delite in the Lord, and I wil cauſe thee to mounte vpon the hie places of the earth, and fede thee with the heritage of Iaakób thy father. for ỹ mouth of the Lord hathe ſpoken it.

c He ſetteth forthe the malice and diſdayne of ỹ hypocrites, & grudge againſt Gods iuſtice, if their workes be not accepted

d Thus he cõmaundeth the hypocrites by the ſecõde table & by their duetie toward their neighbor, that hei haue neither faith nor religion e So long as you vſe oppreſſion & oppreſſion, your faſting & prayer ſhal not be hard.

f That you leaue of all your extorſions.

g For in him thou ſeeſt thy ſelf as in a glaſſe

h That is, the proſperous eſtate, wherewith God wil bleſſe thee.

i The teſtimonie of thy goodnes ſhal appeare before God & mã.

k Whereby is mẽt all maner of iniurie.

l That is, haue compaſsiõ on their miſeries.

m Thine aduerſitie ſhalbe turned into proſperitie.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked periſh through their owne iniquities. 12 The confeſsion of ſinnes. 16 God alone wil preſerue his Church, though all men faile.

1 BEholde, * the Lords hand is not ſhortened, that it can not ſaue: nether is his eare heauy, that it can not heare. Nomb 11,23. chap.50,2.

2 But * your iniquities haue ſeparated betwene you and your God, and your ſinnes haue hid his face from you, that he wil not heare. Iere.5,25.

3 For your hands are defiled with [a] blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lippes haue ſpoken lies & your tongue hathe murmured iniquitie. a Read Chap. 1,15

4 No man calleth for iuſtice: no man [b] contendeth for trueth: they truſt in vanitie, & ſpeake vaine things: thei cõceiue miſchief, and [c] bring forthe iniquitie.

5 They hatche cockatrice [d] egges, & weaue the ſpiders [e] webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dyeth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a ſerpent.

6 Their webbes ſhalbe no garment, nether ſhal they couer them ſelues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their fete runne to euil, and they make haſte to ſhed innocẽt blood: their thoghts are wicked thoghts: deſolacion & deſtruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equitie in their goings: thei haue made them croked paths: whoſoeuer goeth therein, ſhal not knowe peace.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement fatre from vs, nether doeth [g] iuſtice come nere vnto vs: we waite for light, but lo, it is darkenes, for brightnes: but we walke in darkenes.

10 We grope for the wall like the [h] blinde, and we grope as onẽ without eyes: we ſtõble at the none day as in the twilight: we are in ſolitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: we loke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our treſpaces are manie before thee, and our [k] ſinnes teſtifie againſt vs: for our treſpaces are with vs, and we knowe our iniquities

13 In treſpacing & lying againſt the Lord, and we haue departed away frõ our God, & haue ſpoken of crueltie and rebellion, concerning and vttering out of the heart falſe [l] matters.

14 Therefore [m] iudgement is turned backeward, and iuſtice ſtandeth farre of: for trueth is fallen in the ſtrete, and equitie can not enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euil, maketh him ſelf [n] a pray: and b All mẽ wilbe at the iniuries & oppreſsions, & none go about to remedie them

c According to their wicked deuiſes, they hurt their neighbours.

d Whatſoeuer cometh from thẽ, is poyſon and bringeth death

e Their are profitable to no purpoſe.

f That is, Gods vengeãce to puniſh our enemies.

g Gods protectiõ to defẽd vs

h We are altogether deſtitute of counſel and can finde no end of our miſeries

i We expreſſe our ſorowes by outwarde ſignes, ſome more ſome leſſe k This confeſſion is general to the Church to obteine remiſsiõ of ſinnes, & the Prophetes did not exempt themſelues frõ the ſame.

l To wit, againſt our neighbours.

m There is neither iuſtice nor vprightnes among men n The wicked wil deſtroye him.

o Meaning, to do iustice & to remedie the things ỹ were so irre out of order p That is, his Church or his arme did helpe it self, and did not seke ayde of any other q Signifying ỹ God hath al meanes at hād to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

when the Lord sawe it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he saw that there was no mā, he wondred that none wolde offer him self. o Therefore his arme did p saue it, & his righteousnes it self did sustayne it.

17 For he put on righteousnes, as an habergeon, and an q helmet of saluacion vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, & was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompence to his enemies: he wil fully repaire the r ylands.

r Towns, your enemies, ẅ dwel in diuers places, and beyonde the sea 19 So shal they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glorie from the rising of the sunne: for the enemie shal s come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shal chase him away.

s He sheweth ỹ there shalbe great afflictiō in ỹ Church, but God wil euer deliuer his 20 And the Redemer shal come vnto Zión, and vnto t them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakób, saith the Lord.

t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuerance from sinne & Satan belongeth to more, but to ỹ children of God, whome he iustifieth

21 And I wil make this my couenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, & my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, u shal not departe out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy sede, nor out of the mouth of the sede of thy sede, saith the Lord, from hence forthe euen for euer u Because the doctrine is made profitable by the vertue of the Spirit, he ioyneth the one with ỹ other, and promiseth to giue them bothe to his Church

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shal come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shal come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shal haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

1 Chap LX

a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie where as speaking of Babylon he cōmāded her to go downe, Chap 47,1

A Rise, ó Ierusalém: be bright, for thy a light is come, & the glorie of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For beholde, darkenes shal couer ỹ b earth, and grosse darkenes the people: but the Lord shal arise vpon thee, and his glorie shalbe sene vpon thee.

b Signifying, ỹ all men are in darkenes til God giue thē the light of his Spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church

3 And the Gentiles shal walke in c thy light, & Kings at ỹ brightnes of thy rising vp.

c Meaning, ỹ Iudea shulde be as the morning starre & ỹ the Gētiles shulde receiue light of her d An infinite nomber from all countres, as Chap 49,18.

4 Lift vp thine eyes rounde about, & beholde: all d these are gathered, & come to thee: thy sonnes shal come from farre, and thy daughters shalbe nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt se and shine: thine heart shalbe astonied e & enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shalbe conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shal come vnto thee.

e For ioye, as ỹ heart is drawen in for sorowe

6 The f multitude of camels shal couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midián & of Epháh: all they of Shebá shal come: they shal bring golde & incense, and shewe forthe the praises of the Lord.

f Meaning, ỹ euery one shal honour ỹ Lord with that, wherewith he is able signifyig

7 All the shepe g of Kedár shalbe gathered vnto thee: ỹ rams of Nebaióth shal serue thee: they shal come vp to be accepted vpon mine h altar: and I wil beautifie the house of my glorie.

g That is, the Arabians ỹ haue great abundance of cattel

8 Who are these i that flee like a cloude, & as the doues to their windowes?

i Shewing what great nōber shal come to the Church & with what great diligence and zele.

9 Surely the yles shal waite for me, and the shippes k of Tarshish, as at the beginning ỹ they may bring thy sonnes from farre, & their siluer, and their golde with thē, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, & to the holy one of Israél, because he hathe glorified thee.

k The Gētiles that are now enemies, shal become frēds & letters for the of the Church

10 And the sonnes of strangers shal buylde vp thy walles, and their l Kings shal minister vnto thee? for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

l Meaning, Cyrus and his succ ssors but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ beig cōuerted by his Gospel.

11 Therefore thy gates shal be open continually: nether day nor night shal they be shut that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their Kings may be broght.

12 For the nacion and the m king dome, that wil not serue thee, shal perish. & those nacions shalbe vtterly destroyed.

m He sheweth ỹ God hathe gyuē all power & autoritie here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which wil not serue and profit ỹ same, sh. be destroyed.

13 The n glorie of Lebanón shal come vnto thee, ỹ fyre tre, the elme & ỹ boxe tre together, to beautifie ỹ place of my Sanctuarie: for I wil glorifie the place of my o fete n There is nothing so excellent which shal not serue the necessitie of ỹ Church.

o Signifying, that Gods maiestie is not included in ỹ temple, ẅ is but the place for his fete, ỹ we may learne to rise vp to ỹ heauens.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shal come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shal fall p downe at the soles of thy fete: and they shal call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zión of the holy one of Israél.

p To worship their head Christ by obeyig his doctrine

15 Where as thou hast bene forsaken & hated: so that no man went by thee, I wil make thee an eternal glorie, and a ioye from generacion to generacion.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the q breasts of Kings: and ỹ shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, & thy Redemer, ỹ mightie one of Iaakób.

q Bothe hie and lowe shal be readie to helpe and succour thee

17 For brasse wil I bring golde, & for yron wil I bring siluer, & for wood brasse, & for stones yrō. I wil also make thy gouernemēt peace, & thine exactours righteousnes.

r Thy gouernours shal loue thee and seke ỹ welth and prosperitie 18 Violence shal no more be heard of in thy land, nether desolacion, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call s saluacion, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

s Meaning, not a temporal felicitie, but a spiritual, ẅ is fulfilled in Christs kingdome 19 Thou shalt haue no more sonne to shine by day, nether shal the brightnes of the t moone shine vnto thee: for the Lord shal be thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glorie.

t Signifying that all worldly meanes shal cease, & that Christ shalbe all in all, as Reuel 21,22 & 22,5.

20 Thy sunne shal neuer go downe, nether shal thy moone be hid. for the Lord shal be thine euerlasting light, & the daies of thy sorowe shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shalbe all righteous: they shal possesse the land for euer, the u grafte of my planting shalbe the worke of mine hands, that I maie be glorified.

x Meaning, ỹ ỹ Church shulde be miraculously multiplied

22 A litle one shal become as a x thousand, & a smale one as a strong nation: I the Lord wil hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophecyeth that Christ shalbe anointed and sent to preache. 10 The ioye of the faithful.

Luk 4,18.
a This appertaineth to all the Prophetes and ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundãt graces euerie one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.
b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes
c Which are in the bondage of sinne d The time when it pleased God to shewe his good fauour to man, which S Paul calleth the fulnes of time, Gal 4,4 e For when God deliuereth his Church, he punisheth his enemies
f Which was the signe of mourning g Trees that bring forthe good frutes, as Mat 3,8 h That is, for a long time i Thei shalbe readie to serue you in all your necessities k This is accõplished in the time of Christ, by whome all ỹ faithful are made Priests and Kings, 1 Pet 2,9, reuel 1,6, & 5,10.
l Read Chap. 60,16, & chap. 60,11 m Abundãt recompence, as this worde is vsed, Chap 40,2 n That is, the Iewes.
o To wit, of the Gentiles
p Where as the Gentiles had dominion ouer ỹ Iewes in times past, now they shal haue double autoritie ouer them and possesse twise so much

1 THe *Spirit of the Lord God is a vpon me, therefore hathe the Lord anointed me: he hathe sent me to preache good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the b broken hearted, to preache libertie to the c captiues, and to them that are bounde, the opening of the prison,

2 To preache the d acceptable yere of the Lord, and the daie of e vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne,

3 To appoint vnto thẽ that mourne in Zión, & to giue vnto thẽ beautie for f ashes, the oyle of ioye for mourning, the garmẽt of gladnes for the spirit of heauines, that thei might be called g trees of righteousnes, the planting of ỹ Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And thei shal buylde the olde waste places, & raise vp the former desolations, & thei shal repaire the cities ỹ were desolate and waste through manie h generations.

5 And the strangers shal i stande and fede your shepe, & the sonnes of the strangers shalbe your plowe men & dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shalbe named k the Priests of the Lord, & men shal saie vnto you, The ministers of our God, Ye shal eat the l riches of the Gentiles, and shalbe exalted with their glorie.

7 For your shame you shal receiue m double, and for confusion n they shal reioyce in o their porcion: for in their land thei shal possesse the p double: euerlasting ioye shalbe vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate q robberie for burnt offring, and I wil direct their worke in trueth, and wil make an euerlasting couenant with them.

9 And r their sede shal be knowen among ỹ Gentiles, & their buddes among the people. All that se thẽ, shal knowe them, ỹ thei are the sede which the Lord hathe blessed.

10 s I wil greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shalbe ioyful in my God: for he hathe clothed me with the garments of saluacion, and couered me with the robe of righteousnes: he hathe decked me like a bridegrome, and as a bride tireth her self with her iewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forthe her budde, & as the garden causeth to growe that which is sowen in it: so the Lord God wil cause righteousnes to growe & praise before all the heathen.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophetes haue had for Christs comming. 6 The diligence of the Pastors to preache.

1 FOr Zions sake I wil not a holde my tongue, and for Ieruselems sake I wil not rest, vntil the righteousnes thereof breake forthe as the b light, and saluacion thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shal se thy righteousnes, and all Kings thy glorie: and thou shalt be called by c a newe name, which ỹ mouth of the Lord shal Name.

3 Thou shalt also be a d crowne of glorie in the hand of the Lord, & a royal diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shal no more be said vnto thee, e Forsaken, nether shal it be said any more to thy lãd, Desolate, but ỹ shalt be called f Hephzi-báh, and thy land g Beuláh: for the Lord deliteth in thee, and thy land shal haue an h housband.

5 For as a yong man marieth a virgine, so shal thy sonnes i mary thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shal thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set k watche men vpõ thy walles, ô Ieruselém, which all the daie and all the night continually shal not cease: l ye that are mindeful of the Lord, kepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, til he repaire and vntil he set vp Ieruselém the k praise of the worlde.

8 The Lord hathe sworne by his right hãd & by his strõg arme, Surely I wil no more giue thy corne to be meat for thine enemies, & surely the sonnes of the strangers shal not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast labored.

9 But thei that haue gathered it, shal eat it, & praise the Lord, & the gatherers thereof shal drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuarie.

10 l Go through, go through the gates: prepare you the waie for the people: cast vp, cast vp the waie, and gather out the stones & set vp a standart for the people.

11 Beholde, the Lord hathe proclaimed vn to the ends of the worlde: m tel the daughter Zión, Beholde, thy Sauiour commeth: beholde, his wages n is with him, and his worke is before him.

12 And thei shal call thẽ, The holie people, the redemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named, A o citie sought out & not forsaken.

a The Prophet saith that he wil neuer cease to declare vnto the people ỹ good tydings of their deliuerance
b Til they haue ful deliuerance: and thus the Prophet speaketh to all courage all other ministers to the setting forth of Gods mercies towarde his Church
c Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hetherto.
d He shal esteme thee as dere & pcious as a King doeth his crowne
e Thou shalt nomore be cõtemned as a woman forsaken of her housband f Or, my delite in her g Or, married
f That it may be replenished with children.
g For asmuche as thei confesse one faith & religion with thee, thei are in the same bond of marriage with thee: and thei are called the children of the Church, in asmuch as Christ maketh her plentiful to bring forthe children vnto him.
h Prophets, pastors, and ministers
i He exhorteth the ministers neuer to cease to call vpon God by praier for the deliuerance of his Church and to teache others to do ỹ same k For the restauraciõ whereof all the worlde shal praise him l Signifying ỹ great nomber ỹ shulde come to the Church, & what meanes he wolde prepare for ỹ restitution of ỹ same, as Chap. 57,14
m Ye Prophets and ministers shew ỹ people of this their deliuerance ẅ was chiefly ment of our saluaciõ by Christ, Zach 9,9 mat. 21,5.
n He shal haue all power to bring his purpose to passe, as Chap. 40,10 o That is, one ouer whome God hathe had a singular care to recouer her whe she was lost.

r That is, of the Church.
s He sheweth what shalbe the affection, when they sele this their deliuerance.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God shal destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods benefites towards his Church.

WHo is this that commeth a from Edóm, with red garments from Bozráh? he is glorious in his apparel and walketh in his great strength? b I speake in righteousnes, & am mightie to saue.

c Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the wine presse?

I haue troden the wine presse alone, and of all people there was none with me: for I wil tread them in mine angre, & tread them vnder fote in my wrath, and their blood shalbe sprincled vpon my garmentes, and I wil staine all my raiment.

For the daie of vengeance is in mine heart, & the d yere of my redemed is come.

And I loked, & there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to vphold: therefore mine owne e arme helped me, and my wrath it self susteined me.

Therefore I wil treade downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken f in mine indignatiō, & wil bring downe their strength to the earth.

I wil g remembre the mercies of ỹ Lord & the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hathe giuen vs, and for the great goodnes towarde the house of Israél, which he hathe giuen them according to his tendre loue, and according to his great mercies.

For he said, Surely thei are my h people, children that wil not lie: so he was their sauiour.

In all their troubles he was i troubled, & the Angel k of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie he redemed them, and he bare them and caried them all waies continually.

But thei rebelled and vexed his holie Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie & he foght against them.

Then he l remembred the olde time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is he that broght them vp out of the Sea with the m shepherd of his shepe? where is he ỹ put his holie Spirit within n him?

He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make him self an euerlasting Name.

He led thē through the depe, as an o horse in the wildernes, that thei shulde not stomble,

As the beast goeth downe into ỹ valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so didest thou lead thy people, to make thy self a glorious Name.

p Loke downe from heauē, and beholde frō the dwelling place of thine holines, & of thy glorie. Where is thy q zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, & of thy compassions? they are restrained from r me.

Doutles ỹ art our Father: though s Abrahám be ignorant of vs, and Israél knowe vs not, yet thou, ô Lord, art our Father, and our redemer: thy Name is for euer.

O Lord, why hast t thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy u seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

The people of thine holines haue possessed it, but a litle x while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

We haue bene as they, ouer whome ỹ neuer barest rule, and vpon whome thy Name was not called.

a This prophecie is against ỹ Iuuenals, and enemies which persecuted ỹ Church, on whome God wil take vengeance, and is here set for the all bloody after that he hathe destroyed them in Bozráh, the chief citie of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcisiō, and the kinred of Abrahám claimed to thē selues ỹ chief religion, and hated ỹ true worshippers, Psal 137, 7 b God answereth them that asked this question, Who is this? &c and saith, Ye se now performed in dede the vengeance, ẅ my Prophetes threatned.

c Another question, to the which ỹ Lord answereth

d Shewing, ỹ when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the profite and deliuerance of his Church

e God sheweth that he hathe no nede of mans helpe for the deliuerance of his, and thogh men refuse to do their duetie through negligence, & ingratitude, yet he him self wil deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, read cha. 59, 16

CHAP LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mās righteousnes is like a filthy cloth.

OH, that thou woldest a breake the heauens, & come downe, and that ỹ mountaines might melt at thy presence!

As ỹ melting fyre burned, as the fyre caused b the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

When thou didest terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest downe, & the mountaines melted at thy presence.

For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not c heard nor vnderstand with the eare, nether hathe the eye sene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

Thou didest mete him, d that reioyced in thee, and did iustely: they remēbred thee in thy e wayes: beholde, thou art angrie, for we haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we g shal be saued.

But we haue all bene as an vncleane thig & all our h righteousnes is as filthy cloutes, and we all do fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, nether that stirreth vp him self to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

But now, ô Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i claye, and thou art our potter, & we i Albeit, o Lord, by thy iuste iudgement thou mayst vtterly destroye vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hathe pleased thee to accept vs to be thy children.

we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Be not angrie, ô Lord, [k]aboue measure, neither remẽber iniquitie for euer: lo, we beseeche thee beholde, we are all thy people.

10 [l] Thine holie cities lye waste: Zión is a wildernes, & Ierusalém a desert.

11 The House of our Sanctuarie & of our glorie, [m] where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fyre, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy self stil [n] at these things, ô Lord? wilt thou holde thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAP. LXV.

The Vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect and the punishment of the wicked.

1 I Haue bene soght of them that [a] asked not: I was founde of them that soght me not: I said, Beholde me, beholde me, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue [b] spred out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne [c] imaginacions:

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in [d] gardens, and burneth incense vpon [e] brickes.

4 Which remaine among the [f] graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eat [g] swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, [h] Stand aparte, come not nere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath & a fyre that [i] burneth all the day.

6 Beholde, it is [k] writen before me: I wil not kepe silence, but wil rendre it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities & the iniquities of your fathers shalbe [l] together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore wil I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is foũde in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a [m] blessing is in it, so wil I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I wil bring a sede out of Iaakób, & out of Iudáh, that shal enherit my mountaine: and mine elect shal inherit it, & my seruants shal dwell there.

10 And Sharón [n] shalbe a shepe folde, and the valley of Achór shalbe a resting place for the cattel of my people, that haue soght me.

11 But ye are thei that haue forsaken the Lord and forgotten mine holie Mountaine, & haue prepared a table for the [o] multitude, & furnish the drinke offrings vnto the nomber.

12 Therefore wil I [p] nomber you to the sworde, and all you shal bowe downe to ỹ slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I [q] spake, & ye heard not, but did euil in my sight and did chuse that thing which I wolde not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shal [r] eat, & ye shal be hungrie: beholde, my seruants shal drinke, and ye shal be thirstie: beholde, my seruãtes shal reioyce, and ye shalbe ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shal sing for ioye of heart, and ye shal crye for sorowe of heart, & shal howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shal leaue your name as a curse vnto my [s] chosen: for the Lord God shal slaie you and call his seruants by [t] another name.

16 He that shal blesse in the [u] earth, shal blesse him self in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shal sweare by the true God: for the former [x] troubles are forgotten, and shal surely hide them selues from mine eyes.

17 For lo, I wil creat [y] newe heauens and a newe earth: and the former shal not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But be you glad & reioyce for euer in ỹ things that I shal creat: for beholde, I wil creat Ierusalém as a reioycing & her people as a ioye, 19 And I wil reioyce in Ierusalém, & ioye in my people, and the voice of weping shalbe no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying.

20 There shalbe no more there a childe of yeres, nor an olde man that hathe [z] not filled his daies: for he that shalbe an hũdreth yeres olde, shal dye as a yong man: but the sinner being [a] an hũdreth yeres olde shalbe accursed.

21 And thei shal [b] buylde houses and inhabit them, and thei shal plant vineyardes, and eat the frute of them.

22 Thei shal not buylde, and another inhabit: thei shal not plant, and another eat: for as the daies of the tre are the daies of my people, and mine elect shal inioye in olde age the worke of their hands.

23 Thei shal not labour in vaine, nor bring forthe in feare: for thei are the sede of the blessed of ỹ Lord, & their buddes with thẽ.

24 Yea, before thei call, I wil answer, & whiles thei speake, I wil heare.

IEREMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiáh borne in the citie of Anathóth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the ſonne of Hilkiáh, whome ſome thinke to be he that founde out the boke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Ioſiáh. This Prophet had excellent gifties of God, and moſte euident reuelations of prophecie, ſo that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophecie, that is, in the thirtenth yere of Ioſiáh, and continued eightene yere vnder the ſaid King, and thre moneths vnder Iehoahás, and vnder Iehoiakím eleuen yeres, and thre moneths vnder Iehoiachín, and vnder Zedekiáh eleuen yeres: vnto the time that they were caryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourty yere, beſides the time that he prophecied after the captiuitie. In this boke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the deſtruction of Ieruſalém, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetouſnes, ſubtiltie, crueltie, exceſſe, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the conſolacion of the Church, reuealeth the iuſte time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be conſidered thre things. Firſt the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more ſtubberne and obſtinate, when the Prophetes do admoniſh them moſte plainely of their deſtruction. Next how the Prophetes and miniſters of God ought not to be diſcouraged in their vocatiō, though they be perſecuted & rigorouſly handeled of the wicked for Gods cauſe. And thirdely, though God ſhewe his iuſte iudgemēt againſt the wicked, yet wil he euer ſhewe him ſelf a preſeruer of his Church, and when all meanes ſeme to mans iudgement to be aboliſhed, thē wil he declare him ſelf victorious in preſeruing his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiáh prophecied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is ſtrengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord ſheweth him the deſtruction of Ieruſalém. 17 He commandeth him to preache his worde without feare.

1 THE [a] wordes of Ieremiáh the ſonne of [b] Hilkiáh one of the Prieſts that were at [c] Anathóth in the land of Beniamín.

2 To whome the [d] worde of the Lord came in the daies of Ioſiáh the ſonne of Amón King of Iudáh in the thirtenth yere of his reigne:

3 And alſo in the daies of Iehoiakím the [e] ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh vnto the end of the eleuenth yere of Zedekiáh the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh, euen vnto the caryīg awaie of Ieruſalém captiue in the fift [f] moneth.

4 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſayīg,

5 Before I [g] formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou cameſt out of the wombe, I ſanctified thee, & ordeined thee to be a Prophet vnto the [h] nations.

6 Then ſaid I, [i] Oh, Lord God, beholde, I can not ſpeake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lord ſaid vnto me, Saie not, I am a childe: for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhal ſend thee, and whatſoeuer I commande thee, ſhalt thou ſpeake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord ſtretched out his hand & [k] touched my mouth, and the Lord ſaid vnto me, Beholde, I haue put my wordes in thy mouth.

10 Beholde, this daie haue I ſet thee ouer [l] natiōs and ouer the kingdomes to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to deſtroy and throwe downe, to buylde, and to plant.

11 After this the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſayīg, Ieremiáh, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſe a [m] rod of an almonde tre.

12 Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, Thou haſt ſene aright: for I wil haſten my worde to performe it.

13 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me the ſeconde time, ſayīg, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I ſe a ſeething [n] pot lokīg out of the North.

14 Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, Out of the [o] North ſhal a plague be ſpred vpon all the inhabitans of the land.

15 For lo, I wil call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, ſaith the Lord, and thei ſhal come, and euerie one ſhal ſet his throne in the entring of the gates of Ieruſalém, and on all the walles thereof rounde about, and in all the cities of Iudáh.

16 And I wil declare vnto them my [p] iudgements touching all the wickednes of them that haue forſaken me, and haue burnt incenſe vnto other gods, and worſhiped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore truſſe vp thy loynes, & ariſe & ſpeake vnto them all that I commande thee: be not afrayed of their faces, leſt I [q] deſtroye thee before them.

18 For I, beholde, I this day haue made thee a r Signifying on ỹ one parte, that the more that Satan, and the worlde rage against Gods ministers, the more present wil he be to help thē, Iosh. 1,5. chr. 13,5. & on the other parte, that thei are vtterly vnmete to serue God, and his Church, which are afraide, and do not resist wickednes, whatsoeuer danger depende thereon, Isa. 50,7, ezek. 3,8.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 9 Against the Priests and false prophetes. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

1 MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Go, and cry in the eares of Ierusalém, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the [a] kindenes of thy youth and ỹ loue of thy mariage, when thou wentest after me in the wildernes [b] in a land that was not sowen.

a According to that grace, and fauour, w I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and maried thee to my self, Ezek. 16,3.
b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

3 Israél was as a thing [c] halowed vnto the Lord, & his first frutes: all they [d] that eat it, shal offend. euil shal come vpon them, saith the Lord.

c Chosen aboue all other to serue the Lord onely, & she first offred to the Lord of all other natiōs d Whosoeuer did chaleng this people, or els did annoy them, was punished.

4 Heare ye the worde of the Lord, ô house of Iaakób, and all the families of the house of Israél.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers founde in me, that they are gone [e] farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become [f] vaine?

e That is, fallen to moste vile idolatrie.
f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blinde and insensible as the idoles, that thei serue.

6 For they said not, Where is ỹ Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs through ỹ wildernes, through a desert, and waste land, through a drye land, and [g] by the shadowe of death, by a land that no man passed through, and where no man dwelt?

g Where for lacke of all things necessarie for life, ye colde loke for nothing euerie houre but present death.

7 And I brought you into a plentiful countrey, to eat the frute thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entred, ye defiled [h] my land, and made mine heritage an abominacion.

h By your idolatrie, & wicked maners, Psal. 78,58, and 106,38.

8 The Priests said not, [i] Where is the Lord? and they that shulde minister the [k] Law, knewe me not: ỹ [l] pastours also offended against me, and the prophetes prophecied in [m] Báal, and went after things that did not profite.

i Thei taught not the people to seke after God.
k As the Scribes, w shulde haue expounded the Law to the people.
l Meaning, the princes and ministers. signifying that all estates were corrupt.

9 Wherefore I wil yet [n] plead with you, saith the Lord, and I wil plead with your childrens children.

10 For go ye to the yles of [o] Chittím, & beholde, and send vnto [p] Kedár, and take diligent hede, and se whether there be suche things.

m That is, spake vaine things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Báal, which was the chief idole of the Moabites, are ment all idoles.

11 Hathe anie nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue chāged their [q] glorie, for that which doeth not [r] profite.

n Signifying, that he wolde not as he might, streight way condemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed, and repent.
o Meaning, the Grecians & Italians.
p Vnto Arabia.

12 O ye [s] heauens, be astonied at this: be afrayed and vtterly cōfounded, saith the Lord.

13 For my people haue cōmitted two euils: they haue forsakē me [t] the fountaine of liuing waters, to digge thē pittes, euen broken pittes, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israél a [u] seruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoiled?

15 The [x] lyons roared vpon him & yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without [y] an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of [z] Noph and Tahapanés haue [a] broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy self, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he [b] led thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to do in the way of [c] Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshúr? to drinke the water of the [d] Riuer?

19 Thine owne wickednes shal [e] correct thee, and thy turnings backe shal reproue thee: knowe therefore and beholde, that it is an euil thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hostes.

q That is, God which is their glorie, & who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reproouing the Iewes, that they were lesse diligēt to serue ỹ true God, then were the Idolaters to honour their vanities.
r Meaning, the idoles, which were their destruction, Psal. 106,36
s He sheweth, that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, and as it were, tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same.
t Signifying, ỹ when men forsake Gods worde, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God hī selfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, & vaine confidēce, and procure to the selues destructiō. Iona 2,8. zach. 10,2.
u Haue I ordered them like seruants, & not like dereliē beloued children: Exo. 4,22. therefore it is their faut onely, if the enemie spoile them.
x The Babylonians, Chaldeans & Assyrians.
y Not one shal be left to dwell there.
z That is, the Egyptians: for there were two great cities in Egypt a Haue grieuously vexed thee at sondrie times.

20 For of olde time I haue brokē thy yoke, & burst thy bōds, and thou saidest, [f] I wil no more trāsgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hilles, and vnder all grene trees.

21 Yet I had plāted thee, a noble vine, whose [g] plants were all natural: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Thogh thou wash thee with [g] nitre, & take thee muche sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, nether haue I [h] followed Baalím? beholde thy wayes in the valley, and knowe, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift [i] dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes.

24 And as a wilde [k] asse, vsed to the wildernes, that snoffeth vp the winde by occasiō at her pleasure: who cā turne her backe? all thei that seke her, wil not weary them selues, but wil finde her in her [l] moneth.

b Shewing, ỹ God wolde haue stil led them aright, if thei wolde haue followed hī.
c To seke helpe of man, as thogh God were not able ynough to defende thee, which is to drinke of the puddels, and to leaue the fountaine, read Isa 31,1.
d To wit, Euphrates.
e Meaning, that the wicked are insensible til the punishment for their sinne waken them, as verse. 26. Isa. 3,9.
f When I deliuered thee out of Egypt, Deu. 27,12. Iosh. 24,16. ezra. 10, 12. nehem. 8,7. "Ebr. sede was all true.
g Thogh thou vse all ỹ purifications and ceremonies of the Law, thou canst not escape punishment, except thou turne to me by faith, and repentance.
h Meaning, that hypocrites denie ỹ thei worship the idoles, but that they honour God in them, and therefore they call their doings Gods seruice.
i He compareth the idoles to these beastes, because they neuer cease running to and fro: for bothe valleys, and hils are ful of their idolatrie.
k He compareth the idolaters to a wilde asse: for she cā neuer be tamed, nor yet wearied: for as she rūneth, she can take her winde at euerie occasion.
l That is, whē she is w fole, & therefore the hūters waite their time: so thogh thou canst not be turned backe now from thine idolatrie, yet when thine iniquitie shalbe at the ful, God wil mete with thee.

m Hereby he warneth them that thei ſhulde not go into ſtrange countreis to ſeke helpe: for thei ſhuld but ſpēd their labour, & hurt them ſelues, which is here ment by the bare fote and thirſt, Iſa. 57,10.

25 Kepe thou thy fete from m barenes, and thy throte from thirſt: but thou ſaidſt deſperatly, No, for I haue loued ſtrangers, & them wil I followe.

n As a thefe wil not acknowleage his faute, til he be taken with the dede, & ready to be puniſhed, ſo they wil not confeſſe their idolatrie, til the plagues due to ỹ ſame light vpon them.

26 As the n theefe is aſhamed, when he is founde, ſo is the houſe of Iſraél aſhamed, they, their Kings, their princes and their Prieſts, and their Prophetes, o Meaning, ỹ idolaters ſpoyle God of his honour: & where as he hathe taught to call him the father of all fleſh, they arrribute this title to their idoles.

27 Saying to a tre, Thou art my o father, & to a ſtone, Thou haſt begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in ỹ time of their trouble they wil ſay, Ariſe, and helpe vs.

p Thou thoghteſt that thy gods of blockes and ſtones colde haue holpē thee, becauſe they were many in nomber & preſent in euery place: but now let vs ſe whether eſher the multitude, or their preſence can deliuer thee from my plague, Chap 11,13

28 But where are thy gods, that thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe, if thei can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according p to the nomber of thy cities, are thy gods, ô Iudáh.

q As thogh I did you iniurie in puniſhig you, ſeing that your fautes are ſo euident:

29 Wherefore wil q ye pleade with me? ye all haue rebelled againſt me, ſaieth the Lord.

r That is, you haue killed your Prophetes, that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariáh, Iſaiáh, &c.

30 I haue ſmitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your r owne ſwerde hathe deuoured your Prophetes like a deſtroying lyon.

ſ Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things?

31 O generacion, take hede to the worde of the Lord: haue I bene as a ſ wildernes vnto Iſraél? or a land of darkenes? Wherefore ſaith my people then, We are t lords, we wil come no more vnto thee?

t But wil truſt in our owne power & policie.

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, daies without nomber.

u With ſtrangers.

33 Why doeſt thou prepare thy way, to u ſeke amitie? euen therefore wil I teache thee, that thy waies are wickednes.

x The Prophetes and the faithful are ſlayne in euery corner of your countrey.

34 Alſo in thy x wings is founde the blood of the ſoules of the poore innocents: I haue not founde it in holes, but vpon all theſe places.

35 Yet thou ſaiſt, Becauſe I am giltles, ſurely his wrath ſhal turne frō me: beholde, I wil entre with thee into iudgement, becauſe thou ſaieſt, I haue not ſinned.

y For the Aſſyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Iſraél, and deſtroyed Iudá, euen vnto Ieruſalém: and the Egyptians ſlewe Ioſiáh, and vexed the Iewes in ſondry ſortes.

36 Why runneſt thou about ſo muche to change thy waies? for thou ſhalt be confounded of Egypt, y as thou art confounded of Aſſhúr.

z In ſigne of lamentacion, as 2 Sam. 13,19.

37 For thou ſhalt go forthe from thence, & thine hands vpon z thine head, becauſe the Lord hathe reiected thy confidence, and thou ſhalt not proſper thereby.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people vnto repentance. 14 He promiſeth the reſtitucion of his Church. 20 He reproueth Iudáh & Iſraél, comparing them to a woman diſobedient to her houſband.

a According as it is writē, Deut. 24,4.

THey a ſay, If a mā put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and become another mans, ſhal he returne againe vnto her? ſhal not this land b be polluted? but ỹ haſt plaied the harlot with manie c louers: yet d turne againe to me, ſaith the Lord.

b If he take ſuche one to wife againe

c That is, with idoles, & with them, whome thou haſt put thy confidence in 2 Lift vp thine eies vnto the high places, & beholde, where thou haſt not plaied the harlot: thou haſt ſit waiting for them in the waies, as the e Arabian in the wildernes: & ỹ haſt polluted the land with thy whordomes, and with thy malice.

d And I wil not caſt thee of, but receiue thee, accordig to my mercie.

e Which dwelleth in tents & waiteth for thē that paſſe by to ſpoyle them

3 Therefore the ſhowres haue bene reſtrained, and the f latter raine came not, and thou haddeſt a g whores forheade: thou woldeſt not be aſhamed.

f As God threatned by his Law, Deut 28, 24

4 Dideſt thou not ſtil crye h vnto me, Thou art my father, & the guide of my youth?

g Thou woldeſt neuer be aſhamed of thine actes & repent: & this impudencie is cōmune to idolaters, & wil not giue of, though they be neuer ſo manifeſtly cōuicted

5 Wil he kepe his angre for euer? wil he reſerue it to the end? thus haſt thou ſpoken, but thou doeſt euil, euen more and more.

h He ſheweth that ỹ wicked in their miſeries wil crye vnto God and vſe outward praier as the godlie do, but becauſe they turne not frō their euil, they are not heard, Iſa 18,41

6 The Lord ſaid alſo vnto me, in the daies of Ioſiáh the King, Haſt thou ſene what this rebel i Iſraél hathe done? for ſhe hathe gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery grene tre, & there plaied the harlot.

i Meaning, ỹ ten tribes

7 And I ſaid, when ſhe had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but ſhe returned not, as her rebellious ſiſter Iudáh ſawe.

k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Aſſyrians.

8 When I ſawe, how that by all occaſions rebellious Iſraél had plaied the harlot, I caſt k her away, & gaue her a byl of deuorcement: yet her rebellious ſiſter Iudáh was not afrayed, but ſhe went alſo, & plaied the harlot.

l The Ebrew worde may ether ſignifie lightnes & wā tones, or noiſe and brute.

9 So that for the l lightnes of her whoredome ſhe hathe euen defiled the land: for ſhe hathe committed fornicaciō with ſtones and ſtockes.

m Iudáh fayned for a time as that ſhe did returne, as vnder Ioſiáh and other good Kings, but ſhe was neuer truely touched, or wholy reformed, as appeared when occaſion was offred by any wicked prince 10 Neuertheles for all this, her rebellious ſiſter Iudáh hathe not returned vnto me with m her whole heart, but fainedly, ſaith the Lord.

n Iſraél hathe not declared her ſelf ſo wicked, as Iudáh, which yet hathe had more admonicions and examples to call her to repentance

11 And the Lord ſaid vnto me, The rebellious Iſraél hathe n iuſtified her ſelf more then the rebellious Iudáh.

o Where as ỹ Iſraelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Aſſyrians, to whome he promiſeth 12 Go and crye theſe wordes towarde o the North and ſaie, Thou diſobedient Iſraél, returne, ſaith the Lord, & I wil not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, ſaith the Lord, & I wil not alway kepe mine angre.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou haſt rebelled againſt the Lord thy God & haſt p ſcatered thy waies to the ſtrange gods vnder euerie grene tre, but ye wolde not obeye my voyce, ſaith the Lord.

14 O ye diſobedient childrē, turne againe, ſaith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I wil take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe and wil bring you to Zión, 17 At that time they ſhal call Ieruſalém, r The throne of the Lord, & all the nacions ſhalbe gathered vnto it, euen to ỹ Name of the Lord in Ieruſalém: and thence forthe they ſhal followe no more the hardenes of their wicked heart.

18 In thoſe daies the houſe of Iudáh ſhal walke with the houſe of Iſraél, & thei ſhal come together out of ỹ land of ỹ t North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I ſaid, How did I take thee for children & giue thee a pleaſant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and ſaid, Thou ſhalt call me, ſaying, My father, and ſhalt not turne frō me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth againſt her t houſbād: ſo haue ye rebelled againſt me, ô houſe of Iſraél, ſaith the Lord.

21 u A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weping and ſupplicacions of the childrē of Iſraél: for thei haue peruerted their way, & forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye diſobedient children, returne and I wil heale your rebellions. x Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord out God.

23 Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Iſraél.

24 For confuſion hathe deuoured our y fathers labour, from our youth their ſhepe & their bullockes, their ſonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confuſion, and our ſhame couereth vs! z for we haue ſinned againſt the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth: euen vnto this day, & haue not obeied the voyce of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumciſion of the heart. 5 The deſtruction of Iudáh is prophecied. 7 for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamēteth it.

1 O Iſraél, if thou returne, a returne vnto me, ſaith the Lord: & if thou put away thine abóminacións out of my ſight, then ſhalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou ſhalt b ſweare, The Lord liueth in trueth, in iudgement, and in righteouſnes, and the nacions ſhalbe bleſſed in him, and ſhal glorie in him.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Iudáh, and to Ieruſalém,

4 Breake vp c your fallow grounde, & ſowe not among the thornes: be circumciſed to the Lord, and take away the foreſkinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudáh, and inhabitants of Ieruſalém, leſt my wrath come forthe like fyre, and burne, that none can quench it, becauſe of the wickednes of your inuentions.

5 d Declare in Iudáh, and ſhewe forthe in Ieruſalém, and ſay, Blowe the trumpet in the land: crye, and gather together, & ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues, and let vs go into ſtrong cities.

6 Set vp the ſtandart in Zión: e prepare to flee, & ſtay not: for I wil bring a plague from the North, and a great deſtruction.

7 The f lyon is come vp from his denne, and the deſtroyer of the Gentiles is departed, & gone forthe of his place to lay thy land waſte, and thy cities ſhalbe deſtroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Wherefore girde you with ſackecloth: lament, and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lord, the heart of the King ſhal periſh, and the heart of thē princes and the Prieſts ſhalbe aſtoniſhed, and the g Prophetes ſhal wonder.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah, Lord God, ſurely thou haſt h deceiued this people & Ieruſalém, ſaying, Ye ſhal haue peace, and the ſworde perceth vnto the heart.

ſ Their wiſdome and policie tende to their owne deſtruction, and pulleth them from God.

t By theſe maner of ſpeaches he ſheweth the horrible deſtruction that ſhulde come vpon the land, and alſo condemneth the obſtinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of theſe terrible tydings, ſeing that ŷ inſēſible creatures are moued therewith, as if the order of nature ſhulde be chāged, Iſa. 13, 10 and 24, 23. ezek. 32, 7. ioel. 2, 31. & 3, 15.

CHAP. V.

a In Iudáh no righteous man found nether among the people nor the rulers. 13 Wherefore Iudáh is deſtroied of the Caldeans.

1 RVnne to & fro by the ſtretes of Ieruſalém, and beholde now, & knowe, & inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgement, and ſeketh the trueth, and I wil ſpare a it.

2 For thogh thei ſay, The b Lord liueth, yet do thei ſweare falſely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eies vpon ŷ c trueth? thou haſt d ſtriken them, but thei haue not ſorowed: thou haſt cōſumed them, but thei haue refuſed to receiue correction: thei haue made their faces harder then a ſtone, and haue refuſed to returne.

4 Therefore I ſaid, Surely thei are poore, they are fooliſh, for thei knowe not the way of the Lord, nor ŷ iudgement of their God.

5 I wil get me vnto the e great men, and wil ſpeake vnto them: for thei haue knowen ŷ way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but theſe haue altogether broken the yoke, and burſt the bondes.

6 Wherefore f a lion out of the foreſt ſhal ſlay them, and a wolfe of the wildernes ſhal deſtroye them: a leoparde ſhal watche ouer their cities: euerie one that goeth out thence, ſhalbe torne ī pieces, becauſe their treſpaces are many, and their rebellions are encreaſed.

7 How ſhulde I ſpare thee for this? thy children haue forſakē me, & g ſworne by them ŷ are no gods: thogh I fed them to ŷ ful, yet thei committed adulterie, and aſſembled them ſelues by companies in the harlottes houſes.

8 They roſe vp in ŷ morning like fed horſes: for euerie man neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shal I not viſit for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? Shal not my ſoule be auenged on ſuche a nation, as this?

10 h Clime vp vpon their walles, and deſtroy them, but make not a ful end: i take away their batilmēts, for thei are not the Lords.

11 For the houſe of Iſraél, and the houſe of Iudáh haue grieuouſly treſpaced againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thei haue k denied the Lord, & ſaid, It is not he, nether ſhal ŷ plague come vpon vs, nether ſhal we ſe ſworde nor famine.

13 And the Prophetes ſhalbe as l winde, and the worde is m not in them: thus ſhal it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, Becauſe ye ſpeake ſuche wordes, beholde, I wil put my wordes n into thy mouth, like a fyre, and this people ſhal be as wodde, and it ſhal deuoure them.

15 Lo, I wil bring a nation vpon you o from far, ô houſe of Iſraél, ſaith the Lord, which is a mightie nacion, & an ancient nacion, a nacion whoſe language ŷ knoweſt not, nether vnderſtandeſt what thei ſay.

16 Whoſe quiuer is as an p open ſepulchre: thei are all very ſtrong.

a That is, the citie.

b Thogh they pretend religion and holines, yet all is but hypocriſie for vnder this kinde of ſweāring is conteined the true religion.

c Doeſt not ŷ loue vprightnes and faithful dealing?

d Thou haſt oft times puniſhed them, but all is in vayne, Iſa. 9, 13

e He ſpeaketh this to the reproche of thē, which ſhulde gouerne and teache others, & yet are farther out of ŷ way then the ſimple people.

f Meaning, Nebuchadnezzar and his armie.

g He ſheweth that no ſweare by any thing then by God, is to forſake him.

m Thei are not ſent of ŷ Lord, & therefore that ŵ thei threaten to vs, ſhal come vpō them.

n Meaning Ieremiáh.

o To wit, the Babylonians & Caldeans.

p Who ſhal kil many with their arrowes.

17 And thei ſhal eat thine haruest and thy bread: thei ſhal deuoure thy ſonnes & thy daughters: thei ſhal eat vp thy ſhepe and thy bullocks: thei ſhal eat thy vines & thy figtrees: thei ſhal deſtroie with ỹ ſworde thy fenſed cities, wherein ỹ dideſt truſt.

18 Neuertheles at thoſe daies, ſaith the Lord, I wil not make a ful end of [q] you.

19 And when* ye ſhal ſaie, Wherefore doeth ỹ Lord our God do theſe things vnto vs? then ſhalt [r] thou anſwer them, Like as ye haue forſaken me and ſerued ſtrange gods in your land, ſo ſhal ye ſerue ſtrangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the houſe of Iaakób & publiſh it in Iudáh, ſaying, 21 Heare now this, ô fooliſh people, and "without vnderſtãding, which haue* eyes and ſe not, which haue eares & heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, ſaith the Lord? or wil ye not be afraid at my preſence, which haue placed the ſande for the bondes of the ſea by the perpetual decre that it can not paſſe it, and thogh the waues thereof rage, yet can thei not preuaile, thogh thei roare, yet can thei not paſſe ouer it?

23 But this people hathe an vnfaithful and rebellious heart: thei are departed & gone.

24 For they ſay not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine bothe early & late in due ſeaſon: he reſerueth vnto vs the appointed wekes of the haruest.

25 Yet your [f] iniquities haue turned awaie theſe things, and your ſinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are founde wicked perſones, that laie waite as he that ſetteth ſnares: thei haue made a pit to catche mẽ.

27 As a cage is ful of birdes, ſo are their houſes ful of deceit: thereby thei are become great and waxen riche.

28 Thei are waxen fat & ſhining: thei do ouerpaſſe the dedes of ỹ wicked: * thei execute no iudgement, no not the iudgemẽt of the fatherles: yet thei [t] proſper, thogh thei execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shal I not viſite for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? or ſhal not my ſoule be auenged on ſuche a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthie thing is committed in the land.

31 The [u] Prophetes Prophecie lies, and the Prieſtes [v] receiue gifies in their hãdes, and my people delite therein. What wil ye then do in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

1 The comming of the Aſſyrians and Caldeans. 16 He exhorteth the Iewes to repentance.

1 OYe children of [a] Beniamín, prepare to flee out of the middes of Ieruſalém and blow the trumpet in [b] Tekoá: ſet vp a ſtandart vpon [c] Beth-haccérem: for a plague appeareth out of the North and great deſtruction.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zión to [d] a beautiful and deintie woman.

3 The paſtors with their flockes [e] ſhal come vnto her: thei ſhal pitch their tents round about by her, & euerie one ſhal fede in his place.

4 [f] Prepare warre againſt her: ariſe, and let vs go vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the ſhadowes of the euening are ſtretched out.

5 Ariſe, and let vs go vp by night, and deſtroy her palaces.

6 For thus hathe the Lord of hoſtes ſaid, Hewe downe wood, and caſt a mount againſt Ieruſalém: this citie muſt be viſited: all oppreſion is in the middes of it.

7 As ỹ fountaine caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her malice: [g] crueltie and ſpoile is continually heard in her before me with ſorow and ſtrokes.

8 Be thou inſtructed, ô [h] Ieruſalém, leſt my ſoule departe from thee, leſt I make thee deſolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Thei ſhal gather as a vine, the reſidue of Iſraél: turne [i] backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baſkets.

10 Vnto whome ſhal I ſpeake, & admoniſh that thei may heare? beholde, their eares are* [k] vncircumciſed, and thei can not hearken: beholde, the worde of ỹ Lord is vnto them as a reproche: thei haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am ful of the wrath of the Lord: I am wearie with holding it: [l] I wil powre it out vpon the [m] childrẽ in ỹ ſtrete, & likewiſe vpô ỹ aſſemblie of the yong men: for the houſband ſhal euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is ful of daies.

12 And their houſes with their lands, and wiues alſo ſhalbe turned vnto ſtrangers: for I wil ſtretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the Lord.

13 For frõ the leaſt of them, euen vnto the greateſt of them, euerie one is giuen vnto couetouſnes, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Prieſt, thei all deale falſely.

14 Thei haue healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people with ſwete wordes, ſaying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were thei aſhamed when they had committed abomination? nay, thei were not aſhamed, no nether colde they haue anie ſhame: therefore thei ſhal fall among the "ſlaine: when I ſhal viſit them, they ſhalbe caſt downe, ſaith the Lord.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand in the waies and beholde, and aſke for the [o] olde waie, which is the good waye & walke therein, 19 Do thei prouoke me to angre, saith the Lord, and not them selues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, mine angre and my wrath shalbe powred vpon this place, vpon man & vpon beast, and vpon the tre of the field and vpon the frute of the grounde, and it shal burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, Put your burnt offrings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

k Shewing that it was not his chief purpose and intet that thei shulde offer sacrifices: but that thei shuld regarde, wherefore thei were ordeined: to wit, to be ioyned to the worde as seales and confirmations of remissionof sins in Christ: for without ỹ worde thei were vaine & vnprofitable.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, cõcerning burnt offrings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, & I wil be your God, and ye shal be my people: and walke ye in all the waies which I haue commanded you, that it maie be wel vnto you.

24 But thei wolde not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubbernes of their wicked heart, & went backewarde and not forwarde.

25 Since the daie that your fathers came vp out of the Land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes, m rising vp early euerie daie, and sending them.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendement. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine & the couetousnes of the Prophetes & Priests.

1 AT that time, saith the Lord, thei shal bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudáh, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the Priestes and the bones of the Prophetes, and the bones of the inhabitans of Ierusalém out of their a graues.

a The enemie for greedines of gaine shal rifle your graues, and laye you before those idoles, which in your life you worshiped, no se if they can helpe you.

2 And thei shal spread thẽ before the sunne & the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whome they haue loued, and whome thei haue serued, & whome thei haue followed, & whome thei haue soght, and whome thei haue worshiped: thei shal not be gathered nor be buryed, but shal be as dung vpon the earth.

b Because of the afflictions that thei shal fele through Gods iudgements.

3 And death shalbe desired b rather then life of all ỹ residue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scatred them, saith ỹ Lord of hostes.

c Is there no hope, that thei wil returne?

4 Thou shalt saie vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shal thei c fall & not arise? shal he turne awaie and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalém turned backe by a perpetual rebellion? thei gaue thẽ selues to deceit, & wolde not returne d They are ful of hypocrisie, and euerie one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideracion.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saying, What haue I done? euerie one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battel.

e He accuseth them in that ỹ they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements then these birdes are of their appointed seasons to discerne the colde and heat, as Isa. 1, 3.

7 Euen the storcke in the aire knoweth her appointed times, & the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the e iudgement of the Lord.

f The Lawe doeth not profite you, nether ned it to haue bene writen for ought that you haue learned by it.

14 Why do we ſtay? i aſſemble your ſelues, & let vs entre into the ſtrong cities, & let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hathe put vs to ſilence and giuen vs water with k gall to drinke, becauſe we haue ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 *We loked for peace, but no good came, & for a time of health, & beholde troubles.

16 The neying of his horſes was heard frō l Dan, the whole land trembled at the noiſe of the neying of his ſtrōg horſes: for they are come, and haue deuoured the lād with all that is in it, the citie, and thoſe that dwell therein.

17 For beholde, I wil m ſend ſerpents, & cockatrices among you, which wil not be charmed, & they ſhal ſting you, ſaith ỹ Lord.

18 I wolde haue n cōforted my ſelf againſt ſorowe, but mine heart is heauie in me.

19 Beholde, the voyce of the crye of ỹ daughter of my people for feare of thē of a farre countrey, Is not ỹ Lord in Zión? is not her King in her? Why o haue they prouoked me to angre with their graué images, and with the vanities of a ſtrange god?

20 The p harueſt is paſt, the ſomer is ended and we are not holpen.

21 I am q ſore vexed for ỹ hurt of ỹ daughter of my people: I am heauy, & aſtoniſhment hathe taken me.

22 Is there no balme r at Gileád? is there no Phiſicō there? Why thē is not ỹ health of the daughter of my people recouered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we onely to reioyce. 26 The Uncircumciſion of the heart.

1 OH, that mine head were ful of a water and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might wepe day and night for the ſlaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wildernes a b cottage of way faring men, that I might leaue my people, & go from them: for they be all c adulterers & an aſſemblie of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for d lies: but they haue no courage for the trueth vpon ỹ earth: for they procede from euil to worſe, and they haue not knowen me, ſaith the Lord.

4 Let euerie one take hede of his neighbour, & truſt you not in anie e brother: for euerie brother wil vſe deceit, and euerie friend wil deale deceitfully,

5 And euerie one wil deceiue his friend, & wil not ſpeake the trueth: for they f haue taught their tongues to ſpeake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the middes of deceiuers: g becauſe of their deceit they refuſe to knowe me, ſaith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Beholde, I wil h melt them, & trye thē: for what ſhulde I els do for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrowe ſhot out, & ſpeaketh deceit: one ſpeaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth waite for him. Pſal.28,3. & 120,4.

9 Shal I not viſit thē for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? or ſhal not my ſoule be auenged on ſuche a nation as this?

10 Vpon the i mountaines wil I take vp a weping and a lamentacion, and vpon the faire places of the wildernes a mourning, becauſe they are burnt vp: ſo that none cā paſſe through them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of ỹ aire, & the beaſt are fled away & gone.

11 And I wil make Ieruſalém an heape, & a den of dragons, & I wil make the cities of Iudáh waſte, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is k wiſe, to vnderſtand this, and to whome ỹ mouth of the Lord hathe ſpokē, euē he ſhal declare it. Why doeth ỹ land periſh, & is burnt vp like a wildernes, that none paſſeth through?

13 And the Lord ſaith, Becauſe they haue forſaken my Law, which I ſet before them, & haue not obeied my voice, neither walked there after,

14 But haue walked after the ſtubbernes of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which l their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil fede this people with wormewodde, and giue them waters of gall m to drinke:

16 I wil ſcatre them alſo among the heathē, whome neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I wil ſend a ſworde after thē, til I haue conſumed them.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Take hede, & call for n the mourning women, ỹ they may come, & ſend for ſkilful womē that they may come,

18 And let thē make haſte, & let thē take vp a lamētation for vs, ỹ our eyes may caſt out teares & our eye liddes guſh out of water.

19 For a lamentable noyſe is heard out of Zión, How are we deſtroyed, and o Thus the Lord ſpeaketh.

p The people wonder that they haue ſo long time loked for ſuccour in vaine.

q The Prophet ſpeaketh this.

r Meaning, ỹ no mans helpe or meanes cold ſaue thē, for in Gileád was precious balme, Chap. 46. 11. or els deriding the vaine confidēce of the people who loked for helpe at their Prieſts, who ſhulde haue beneficiſions of their ſoules, & dwelt at Gilead, Hoſe. 6,8.

s The Prophet ſheweth the great cōpaſſiō that he had toward this people, ſeing, that he colde neuer ſufficiently lament the deſtruction that he ſaw to hāg ouer them. Which is a ſpecial note to diſcerne the true paſtours from the hireſigs, read chap. 4,19 vtterly confounded for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings o haue cast vs out.

o As though thei were weerie of vs, because of our iniquities, Leu. 18,28, & 20,22.

20 Therefore heare the worde of ỹ Lord, ô ye womẽ, and let your eares regarde the wordes of his mouth, and p teache your daughters to mourne, and euerie one her neighbour to lament.

p He derideth the superstitiõ of the women, which made an arte of mourning, & taught to wepe with fained teares.

21 For death is come vp into our q wĩdowes, & is entred into our palaces, to destroye ỹ children without, and the yong men in the stretes.

q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer ỹ wicked frõ Gods iudgemẽts: but whẽ thei thinke to be moste sure, and moste farre of, then are they soneste taken.

22 Speake, thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shal lie, euen as the dung vpon the field, & as the hãdful after the mower, and none shal gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the r wise man glorie in his wisdome, nor the strong man glorie in his strength, nether the riche man glorie in his riches.

r Forasmuche as none cã saue him self by his owne labour or anie worldlie meanes, he sheweth ỹ it is in vaine to put our truste therein, but ỹ we trust in the Lord, & reioyce in him, who onely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1,31. 2 cor. 10, 17.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which s shewe mercie, iudgement, and righteousnes in the earth: for in these things I delite, saith the Lord.

s These thre pointes are necessarie to knowe aright: his mercie wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, ẅ he executeth cõtinually against the wiked, and his iustice, whereby he defendeth, and maintaineth the faithful.

25 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil visit all them, which are t circũcised with the vncircumcised:

t Meaning, bothe Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, read Chap. 4,4.

26 Egypt and Iudáh, and Edóm, and the children of Ammón, and Moáb, & all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderners: for all these nations are vncircumcised, & all the house of Israél are vncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellacions of the starres are not to be feared. 5 The weaknes of idoles, & of the power of God. 21 Their pastours are become brute beasts.

1 HEare ye the worde of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, ô house of Israél.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraide for the a signes of heauen, thogh the heathen be afraide of suche.

a God forbiddeth his people to giue credit or feare the constellations & commũciõs of starres, and planers, which haue no power of thẽ selues, but are gouerned by him, & their secret motions & influẽces are not knowẽ to mã, and therefore there can be no certaine iudgemẽt thereof, Deut. 18,9.

3 For the b customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tre out of the forest (which is the worke of the hãds of the carpenter) with the axe,

4 And another decketh it c with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes, and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tre, but speake not: they are borne because they cã not go: feare them not, for they can not do euil, nether can they do good.

b Meaning not onely in the obseruation of the starres, But their laws and ceremonies whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden, Deu. 12,30. c The Propheres vse thus plainely & simply to set forthe the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of ỹ, whereunto their corrupt nature is moste subiect, read Isa. 44,12.

6 There is none like vnto thee, ô Lord: d thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

d He teacheth ỹ people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hathe all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and hereein he sheweth them not onely the euil that they ought to eschew but the good, which they ought to follow Reuel. 15,4.

7 Who wolde not feare thee, ô King of nations? for to thee apperteineth the dominion: for amõg all the wise men of the Gẽtiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether thei dote, and are fooliish: for the stocke is a e doctrine of vanitie.

e Because the people thoght that to haue images was a meane to serue God and to bring them to ỹ knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor brigeth man into greater errors & ignorãce of God: & therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, ỹ worke of errors, ver. 15, & Habak 2,18. calleth them ỹ teachers of lies: contrarie to that wicked opinion, ỹ thei are the bokes of the laye people.

9 Siluer plates are broght from Tarshísh, and golde f from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blewe silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

f Where as they founde ỹ best golde: shewing, ỹ thei thoght nothig to deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1 Kin. 9,28.

10 But the Lord is the God of trueth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his angre the earth shal tremble, & the nations can not abide his wrath.

g This declareth that all, ỹ hathe bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes whẽ they shulde be in Caldea among ỹ idolaters, and now ẅ one sẽtence he instructeth thẽ bothe how to protest their owne religion against ỹ idolaters, & how to answer thẽ to their shame which shulde exhorte thẽ to idolatrie, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memorial, where as all the rest of his writing is Ebrewe.

11 (Thus shal you say vnto them, The gods g that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shal perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 He hathe made the earth by his power, and e stablished the worlde by his wisdome, and hathe stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forthe the winde out of his treasures.

14 Euerie man is a h beast by his owne knowledge: euerie foũder is cõfounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehode, and there is no breth therein.

h The more that man thinketh to do anie thing wel by his owne wisdome, and not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he proue him self to be a vile beast.

15 They are vanitie, & ỹ worke of errours: in the time of their visitation they shal perish.

16 The i portion of Iaakób is not like thẽ: for he is the maker of all things, & Israél is the rod of his inheritante: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

i By these wordes, Portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God shulde be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, & therefore thei ought to renounce all other helpes, & succours as of idoles. &c. Deut. 32,9. psal. 16,5.

17 ¶ k Gather vp thy wares out of the lãd, ô thou that dwellest in the strong place.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare thẽ selues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they shulde fele the things, whereof he had tolde thẽ.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, at this time I wil throwe as with a sling the inhabitans of the land, and wil trouble them, and they shal finde it so.

19 Wo is me for my destruction, & my grieuous plague: but I thoght, Yet it l is my sorowe, and I wil beare it.

l It is my moste plague & therefore I will take it paciently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue thẽ selues toward God.

20 m My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, & are not: there is none to ſpread out my tent any more, and to ſet vp my courtaines.

n The gouernours and miniſters. o Read Chap. 4.15.

21 For the paſtors n are become beaſtes, and haue not ſoght ỹ Lord: therefore haue they none vnderſtanding: and all the flockes of their paſtures are ſcatered.

p He ſpeaketh this, becauſe ỹ Nebuchadnezzár purpoſed to haue made warre againſt ỹ Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedechiahs rebelliõ, he turned his power to go againſt Ierusalém, Ezek. 21,21. therefore ỹ Prophet ſaith, ỹ this was the Lords direction.

22 Beholde, the noiſe of the brute is come, and a great commotion out of the o North countrey to make the cities of Iudáh deſolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I knowe, that p the way of man is not in him ſelf, nether is it in man to walke and to direct his ſteps.

q Conſidering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap 7,16, he onely prayeth, that he wolde puniſh them with mercie, which Iſaiáh calleth, in meaſure, Chap 27,8. meaſuring his roddes by their infirmitie, 1. Cor. 10,13. for here by iudgement is ment not onely the puniſhment, but alſo the merciful moderation of the ſame, as Chap 30,11. r For aſmuche as God can not onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that he vſeth toward his Church, but alſo by his iuſtice in puniſhing his enemies, he praieth that his glorie may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Pſal. 79,6.

24 O Lord, correct me, but with q iudgement, not in thine angre, leſt thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out r thy wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakób & deuoured him & conſumed him, and haue made his habitacion deſolate.

CHAP. XI.

A curſe of them that obey not the worde of Gods couenant. 10 The people of Iudáh following the ſteppes of theer fathers, worſhippe ſtrange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ieremiáh to praie for them.

1 THe worde that came to Ieremiáh frõ the Lord, ſaying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, & ſpeake vnto the men of Iudáh, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, s He calleth ỹ Iewes to the conſideracion of Gods mercies, who freely choſe thẽ, made a couenant of eternal felicitie with them, & how he-euer perfourmed it on his behalf, & how they euer ſhewed them ſelues rebellious & ingrate toward him & brake it on their parte, & ſo are ſubiect to the curſe of the Law, Deut. 27,26.

3 And ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſraél, s Curſed be the man that obeieth not the wordes of this couenant,

4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I broght them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron fornace, ſaying, Obey my voyce, and do according to all theſe things, which I commande you: ſo ſhal ye be my people, and I wil be your God,

5 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue ſworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then anſwered b I & ſaid, So be it, ô Lord.

b Thus he ſpeaketh in ỹ perſone of the people, which agreed to the couenant.

6 Then the Lord ſaid vnto me, Crye all theſe wordes in the cities of Iudáh, and in the ſtretes of Ieruſalém, ſaying, Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and do thẽ.

c Read Chap. 7.25.

7 For I haue proteſted vnto your fathers, when I broght them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, c riſing earely & proteſting, ſaying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuertheles they wolde not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the ſtubbernes of his wicked d heart: therefore I wil bring vpon them all the e wordes of this couenant, which I commanded them to do, but thei did it not.

d According to his owne faſhe, and not as my worde appointed him. e Meaning, the menaces and curſes conteined in ỹ Law. Leu. 26,14. deut. 28,16.

9 And the Lord ſaid vnto me, A f conſpiracie is founde among the men of Iudáh, & among the inhabitants of Ieruſalém.

f That is, a generall conſent to rebellie againſt me.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refuſed to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to ſerue them: thus the houſe of Iſraél, and the houſe of Iudáh haue broken my couenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon them, which they ſhal not be able to eſcape, and thogh they crye vnto me, g I wil not heare them.

g Becauſe thei wil not pray with true faith & repentance, but for the ſmart & griefe which thei feſe, Prou. 1,28.

12 Then ſhal the cities of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalém go, and crye vnto the gods vnto whome thei offer incenſe, but they ſhal not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 h For according to the nomber of thy cities were thy gods, ô Iudáh, and according to the nomber of the ſtretes of Ieruſalém haue ye ſet vp altars of confuſion, euen altars to burne incenſe vnto Báal.

h Read Chap. 2,28.

14 Therefore thou ſhalt not pray i for this people, nether lift vp a crye, or prayer for them: for when thei crye vnto me in their trouble, I wil not heare them.

i Read Chap. 7,16. & 14,11.

15 What ſhulde my k beloued tary in mine houſe, ſeing they haue committed abominacion with many? and the holy fleſh l goeth away frõ thee: yet when thou doeſt euil, thou reioyceſt.

k My people of Iſraél whome I haue hetherto ſo greatly loued. l Meaníg, that they offer not in the Temple to God, but vpon the altars of Báal & the idoles, and ſo reioyced in their wickednes.

16 The Lord called thy name, A grene olíue tre, faire, and of goodlie frute: but with m noiſe and great tumult he hathe ſet fyre vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

m Of the Babylonians and Caldeans.

17 For the Lord of hoſtes that planted thee, hathe pronounced a plague againſt thee, (for the wickednes of the houſe of Iſraél, and of the houſe of Iudáh) which thei haue done againſt them ſelues to proucke me to angre in offring incenſe vnto Báal.

n Which wer about priuely to cõſpire my death. o Let vs deſtroy ỹ Prophet & his doctrine. Some read, let vs corrupt his meat with wood, meaníg, poyſon.

18 And the Lord hathe taught me, and I knowe it, euen then ỹ ſhewedſt me n their practiſes.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is broght to the ſlaughter, and I knewe not ỹ thei had deuiſed thus againſt me, ſaying, Let vs o deſtroye the tre with the frute thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

p Thus he ſpake not for hatred, but being moued with the Spirit of God, he deſireth the aduãcemẽt of Gods glorie and the verifying of his worde, which is by the deſtrũctiõ of his enemies.

20 But ô Lord of hoſtes, that iudgeſt righteouſly, and tryeſt the reines & the heart, let me ſe thy p vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cauſe.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of q Anathóth, (that seke thy life, & say, r Prophecie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou dye not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil visit them: the yong men shal dye by ỹ sworde: their sonnes & their daughters shal dye by famine, 23 And none of them shal remaine: for I wil bring a plague vpō the men of Anathóth, euen the yere of their visitacion.

q To wit, both the the priests and the reste of the people: for this towne was the priests, & they dwelt in it, read Chap 1,1.

r Not ỹ they colde not abide to heare God named: (for herei thei wolde shewe them. selues most holy) but becaus they colde not abide to be sharpely reproued and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30, 10, and to be mainteined in their pleasures, Mich 2, 11, and not to heare vice cōdēned, Amos 7.12

CHAP. XII.

1 The Prophet marueleth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsakē of the Lord 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nacions, that troubled Iudáh.

1 O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art a righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements; wherefore doeth the waye of the wicked b prosper? why are all they in welth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: thei growe, and bring forthe frute: thou art nere in their mouth, and farre from their c reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knoweste me: thou hast sene me, and tryed mine heart toward thee: pul them out like shepe for the slaughter, and d prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shal the land mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein? the beasts are cōsumed and the byrdes, because they said, e He wil not se our last end.

5 If thou hast runne with the f fotemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou matche thy self with horses? & if thou thoghtest thy self safe in a peaceable lād, what wilt thou do in the swelling of Iordén?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen thei haue delt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not, thogh they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken g mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the derelie beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me, as a h lyon in the forest: it cryeth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shal mine heritage be vnto me, as a birde i of diuerse colours are not ỹ birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

10 Many pastors haue destroyed my k vineyarde, and troden my porcion vnder foote: of my pleasant porcion they haue made a desolate wildernes.

11 They haue laid it waste, and it, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lyeth waste, becaus no mā setteth his minde on l it.

12 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wildernes: for ỹ sworde of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shal haue peace.

13 m They haue sowen wheat, and reaped thornes: they were n sicke, and had no profite: and they were ashamed of o your frutes, because of the fierce wrath of ỹ Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine euil p neighbours, that touche the inheritāce, which I haue caused my people Israél to inherite, Beholde, I wil plucke them out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudáh from among them.

15 And after that I haue plucked them out, I q wil returne, and haue compassion on them, and wil bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they wil learne the r wayes of my people, to sweare by my Name, (s The Lord liueth, as they taught my people to sweare by Báal) then shal they be buylt t in the middes of my people.

17 But if they wil not obey, then wil I vterly plucke vp, and destroye that nacion, saith the Lord.

a The prophet confesseth God to be iuste in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes

b This question hathe bene alway a great tentation to ỹ godlie, to se ỹ wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his dere children in aduersitie, as Iob 21,7 psal 37,1. 73,1 Haba 1,3 c They professe God in mouthe, but denie him in heart, which is here ment by the reines, Isa 29, 13. mat 15, 8

d The Ebrewe worde is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God wolde be sanctified in ỹ destruction of the wicked, to whome God for a while giueth prosperitie, that afterwarde they shulde ỹ more fele his heauy iudgemēt whē they lacke their riches, & were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie & his promises, they flattered thē selues as thogh God wolde euer be mereiful, and not vtterly destroy thē: therfore they hardened them selues in sinne, til at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubberne rebellion against God

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiáh in that, that he wolde reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to matche with men, that he were farre vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the fotemen, meane them of Anathóth, & by ỹ horse men them of Ierusalém, which shulde trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

g God willeth the Prophet to denounce his iudgements against Ierusalém, notwithstanding that they shal bothe by threatnings and flatteries labour to put him to silence.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured 11 Why Israél was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

1 THus saith the Lord vnto me, Go, and bye thee a linen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I boght the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the seconde time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast boght, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward a Peráth, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, & hid it by Peráth, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many daies, the Lord said vnto me, Arise, go toward Peráth, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee a Because this riuer Perāth or Euphrates was farre frō Ierusalém, it is euidēt, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes shulde passe ouer Euphrates to be captiues in Babylon & there for length of time shulde seme to be rotē: although they were ioyned to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

thee to hide there.

7 Then wēt I to Peráth, and digged, & toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner wil I destroye the pride of Iudáh, & the great pride of Ierusalém.

10 This wicked people haue refused to hea re my worde, & walke after the stubbernes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a man, so haue I tyed to me the whole house of Israél, and the whole house of Iudáh, saith the Lord, that thei might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glorie, but thei wolde not heare!

12 Therefore thou shalt saie vnto them this worde, Thus saith ỹ Lord God of Israél, Euerie [b] bottel shalbe filled with wine, and thei shal saie vnto thee, Do we not knowe that euerie bottle shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil fil all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests and the Prophetes and all the inhabitants of Ierusalém with drunkēnes.

14 And I [c] wil dash them one against a nother, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I wil not spare, I wil not pitie nor haue compassiō, but destroie them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hathe spoken it.

16 Giue glorie to ỹ Lord your God before he bring [d] darkenes, and or euer your fete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you loke for [e] light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye wil not heare this, my soule shal [f] wepe in secret for your pride, & mine eye shal wepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried awaie captiue.

18 Saie vnto the [g] King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glorie shal come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of [h] the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them: all Iudáh shal be caried awaie captiue: it shalbe wholy caried awaie captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and beholde them ỹ come from the North, where is ỹ [i] flocke ỹ was giuē thee, euen thy beautiful flocke.

21 What wilt thou saie, when he shal visit thee? (for thou hast [k] taught thē to be captaines & as chief ouer thee) shal not sorow take thee as a woman in trauail?

22 And if thou saie in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts [l] discouered & thy heles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spottes? then maie ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euil.

24 Therefore wil I scatre thē, as the stubble that is taken awaie with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the parte of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgoten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, [m] that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue sene thine adulteries, & thy [n] neyings, ỹ filthines of thy whoredome on the hilles in [o] the fields, and thine abominatiós. Wo vnto thee, ô Ierusalém: wilt thou not be made cleane? when shal it once be?

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that shulde come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithful people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophetes that seduce the people.

1 THe worde of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiáh, concerning the [a] dearth.

2 Iudáh hathe mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene [b] brogh t to heauines vnto the grounde, and the crye of Ierusalém goeth vp,

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed & confounded, and [c] couered their heads.

4 For the grounde was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heades.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsoke [d] it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stād in the high places, and drewe in their winde like [e] dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 [f] O Lord, thogh our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are manie, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israél, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a [g] stranger in the lād, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as [h] a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, ô Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

b Euerie one of you shalbe filled with spiritual drunkēnes, and be without all knowledge to seke how to helpe your selues.

c It shalbe as easie for me to destroye ỹ greatest, and ỹ strongest, as it is for a man to breake earthē bottels.

d That is, affliction & miserie by the Babylonians, Isa. 8, 22.

e Meaning, for helpe and support of the Egyptians.

f You shal surely be led away captiue & I, according to mine affection toward you, shal wepe, and lamēt for your stubbernes.

g For Iehoiachin, & his mother rendred them selues by Ieremiahs counsel to the King of Babylon, 2. King. 24, 12.

h That is, of Iudáh wherin lieth Southward frō Babylon.

i He asketh ỹ King, where his people is become.

k By seking to strāgers for helpe thou hast made thē skilful to fight against thee.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie shal be pulled of and thy shame sene.

m As thine iniquities haue bene manifest to all the worlde: so shal thy shame, & punishment.

n He compareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares.

o There is no place so hie nor lo, where as the markes and signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

a Which came for lacke of raine, as ver. 4.

b The worde signifieth to be made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorowe.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe.

d Meaning, ỹ ỹ brute beasts for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, cōtrarie to nature, & to go seke water, which they colde not finde.

e Which are so hote of nature, that thei can not be cōuled with drinking of water, but stil gape for the aire to refresh them.

f He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfained confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentāce.

g That taketh no care for vs.

h As one that hathe strength to helpe, & yet is afraid to put to his handes

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wãdre: they haue not refrained their fete, therefore the Lord hathe no delite in thẽ: but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes.

i Read Chap. 7.16 & 11.14.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, [i] Thou shalt not praye to do this people good.

12 Whẽ thei fast, I wil not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offring, and an oblation, I wil not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the [k] Prophetes say vnto them, Ye shal not se the sworde, nether shal famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place.

k He pitieth the people, & accuseth the false prophetes, which deceiued them: but the Lord answered, that bothe ỹ Prophetes, which deceiued, and the people, ẃ suffred thẽ selues to be seduced, shal perish, Chap. 23. 15. & 27,21, & 29,8. Chap.23,21. & 27.21. & 14.14.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The Prophetes prophecie lies in my Name: [*] I haue not sent them, nether did I commande them, nether spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false visiõ, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophetes that prophecie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sworde & famine shal those Prophetes be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these Prophetes do prophecie, shalbe cast out in the stretes of Ierusalém, because of the famine, & the sworde, & there shalbe none to burye them, bothe they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them.

l The false prophets promised peace, & assurãce, but Ieremiáh calleth to teares, and repentance for their affliction, ẃ is at hand, as Chap. 9,1. lament. 1, 16 & 2,18.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe [l] teares night and day without ceasing: for ỹ virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

m Bothe hie, & lowe shalbe led captiues into Babylon.

18 For if I go into the field, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I entre into the citie, beholde thẽ that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring [m] into a land that they know not.

n Though the Prophet knew that God had erst of ỹ multitude, which were hypocrites, and bastard children, yet he was assured that for his promes sake he wolde haue sau a Church, for the which he prayeth.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected [n] Iudáh, or hathe thy soule abhorred Zión? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We loked for peace, & there is no good, & for the time of health, & beholde trouble.

o He teacheth the Church a forme of prayer, to humble thẽ selues to God by true repentance, ẃ is the onelie meane to auoide this famine, ẃ was the beginning of Gods plagues.

20 We [o] acknowledge, ô Lord, our wickednes & the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

p Meaning, their idoles, read Chap. 10,15.

22 Are there anie among ỹ [p] vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauẽs giue showers? is it not thou, ô Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpõ thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord wolde heare no prayer for the Iewes, 3 But threatneth to destroye them with foure plagues.

1 THẽ said the Lord vnto me, [a] Though Moses and Samuél stode before me, yet mine affectiõ colde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them departe.

a Meaning, that if there were anie man liuing moued with so great zeale toward ỹ people, as were these two, yet that he wolde not grante this requst, to rase muche as he had determined the contrarie, Ezek. 14,14. Zach.11,9.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shal we departe? then tel them, Thus saith the Lord, [*] Suche as are appointed to death, vnto death: & suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde, & suche as are for the famine to the famine, and suche as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

b The dogs, birdes & beastes shulde deuoure them, ỹ were slaine.

3 And I wil appointe ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the [b] doggs to teare in pieces, & the fowles of the heauen, & the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroye.

c The worde signifieth to rũne to & fro for feare, and vnquietnes of cõscience, as did Kain.

4 I wil [c] scater them also in all kingdomes of the earth, [d] because of Manasséh the sõne of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, for that which he did in Ierusalém.

d Not that ỹ people was punished for the Kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they cõsented to his wickednes, 2. King.21,9.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpõ thee, ô Ierusalém? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shal go to pray for thy peace?

e That is, I wil not call backe my plagues, or spare thee anie more.

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, & gone backwarde: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroye thee: for I [e] am wearie with repenting.

f Meaning, the cities.

7 And I wil scatre thẽ with the fanne [f] in ỹ gates of the earth: I haue wasted, & destroyed my people, yet they wolde not returne from their wayes.

g Because I had slaine their housbands.

8 Their widdowes [g] are increased by me aboue the sand of the sea: I haue broght vpon thẽ, & against the [*] assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at none day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and [*] spedely.

*Or, mother. Or, fearefully.

h She that had manie, lost all her children.

i She was destroyed in the middes of her prosperitie.

9 She that hathe borne [h] seuen, hathe bene made weake: her heart hathe failed: the sunne hathe failed [i] her, whiles it was day: she hathe bene confounded, & ashamed, and the residue of them wil I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith ỹ Lord.

k These are ỹ Prophets words, cõplaining of ỹ obstinacie of ỹ people, & that he was reserued to so wicked a time wherei also he sheweth what is the cõditiõ of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the worlde against thẽ, though they giue none occasion.

10 ¶ [k] Wo is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a mã that striueth with ỹ whole earth: I haue nether [l] lent on vsurie, nor mẽ haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euerie one doeth curse me.

l Which is an occasion of cõtention and hatred.

11 The Lord said, [m] Surely thy remnãt shal haue welth: surely I wil cause thine enemie to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

m In this perplexitie the Lord cõforted me, & said ỹ my last dayes shulde be quiet: & by ỹ enemie he meaneth here, Nebuzardán the captaine of Nebuchadnezzar, who gaue Ieremiáh ỹ choise either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whether he wolde: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, ẃ shulde afterward knowe Ieremiahs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him.

12 Shal

12 Shal the n yron breake the yron, and the braſſe that commeth from the North?

13 Thy ſubſtance & thy treaſures wil I giue to be ſpoiled without o gaine, and that for all thy ſinnes euen in all thy borders.

14 And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a lād that thou knowest not: for a fyre is kindled in mine angre, which ſhal burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knoweſt, remembre me, & viſit me, and reuenge me of my p perſecuters: take me not awaie in the continuance of thine angre: knowe that for thy ſake I haue ſuffred rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did q eat them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioye and reioycing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, ô Lord God of hoſtes.

17 I ſate not in the aſſemblie of the mockers, nether did I reioyce, but ſate alone r becauſe of thy plague: for thou haſt filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauines continual? & my plague deſperate & can not be healed? why art thou vnto me ſ as a lyer, and as waters that faile.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, If thou t returne, then wil I bring thee againe, & thou ſhalt ſtand before me: and if thou take awaie the u precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be x according to my worde: let them returne y vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I wil make thee vnto this people a ſtrong braſen wall, and thei ſhal fight againſt thee, but thei ſhal not z preuaile againſt thee: for I am with thee to ſaue thee & to deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

21 And I wil deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I wil redeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

CHAP. XVI.

The Lord forbidding Ieremiáh to marie, ſheweth him what ſhulde be the afflictiõs vpõ Iudáh. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 THe worde of the Lord came alſo vnto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue ſonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord concerning the ſonnes, and cõcerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land.

4 Thei ſhal dye of deaths & diſeaſes: thei ſhal not be lamented, nether ſhal thei be buryed, but thei ſhalbe as dongue vpon the earth, and thei ſhalbe conſumed by the ſworde, and by famine, and their carkeiſes ſhalbe meat for the foules of the heauen, and for the beaſtes of the earth.

5 For thus ſaith the Lord, b Entre not into the houſe of mournig, nether go to lamẽt, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace frõ this people, ſaith the Lord, euen mercie and compaſsion.

6 Bothe ŷ great, & the ſmale ſhal dye in this land: thei ſhal not be buryed, nether ſhal men lamẽt for them c nor cut them ſelues, nor make them ſelues bald for them.

7 Thei ſhal not ſtretche out the hands for them in the mourning to cõfort them for the dead, nether ſhal thei giue them the d cup of conſolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting to ſit with thẽ to eat & to drinke.

9 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, euen in your daies the voice of mirth, & the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bride grome and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou ſhalt ſhewe this people all theſe wordes, & thei ſhal ſaie vnto thee, *Wherefore hathe the Lord pronounced all this great plague againſt vs? or what is e our iniquitie? and what is our ſinne that we haue f omitted againſt ŷ Lord our God?

11 Then ſhalt thou ſaie vnto them, Becauſe your fathers haue forſaken me, ſaith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue ſerued them, & worſhiped thẽ, & haue forſakẽ me, & haue not kept my Law,

12 (*And ye haue done worſe then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euerie one after the ſtubbornes of his wicked heart, and wil not heare me)

13 Therefore wil I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, nether you, nor your fathers, and there ſhal ye ſerue other gods daie and night: for I wil ſhewe you no grace.

14 *Beholde, therefore, ſaith the Lord, the daies come that it ſhal no more be ſaid, The Lord liueth, which broght vp ŷ children of Iſraél out of the land of Egypt,

15 But the Lord liueth, that broght vp the children of Iſraél f from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had ſcatered them, and I wil bring them againe into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.

16 Beholde, ſaith the Lord, I wil ſend out many g fiſhers, and thei ſhal fiſh them, and after, wil I ſend out many hunters, & thei ſhal hunt them from euerie mountaine and from euerie hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their waies: thei are not hid from my face, nether is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

18 And firſt I wil recompence their iniquitie and their ſinne double, becauſe they

1 The frowardnes of the Iewes. 5 Curſed be thoſe that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the ſearcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forſaken. 21 The right keping of the Sabbath commanded.

1 THe ſinne of Iudáh is [a] writen with a penne of yron, & with the point of a diamõde, & graué vpõ the [b] table of their heart, & vpon the hornes of your [c] altars.

2 [d] They remẽber their altars as their children, with their groues by the grene trees vpon the hie hilles.

18 Let them be confounded, that perſecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduerſitie, [r] & deſtroy them with double deſtruction.

19 Thus hathe the Lord ſaid vnto me, Go and ſtand in the [ſ] gate of the children of the people, whereby ỹ Kings of Iudáh come in, and by the which thei go out, and in all the gates of Ieruſalém, 20 And ſay vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudáh, and all Iudáh, and all the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, that entre in by theſe gates.

2 God ſheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to deſtroie the diſpiſers of his worde. 18 The conſpiracie of the Iewes againſt Ieremiáh. 19 His praier againſt his aduerſaries.

1 THe worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, & go downe into the potters houſe, and there ſhal I ſhewe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters houſe, and beholde, he wroght a worke on the wheles.

a As the potter hathe power ouer the clay to make what pot he wil, or to breake thẽ, when he hathe made them: ſo hathe I power ouer you to do with you as ſemethgood to me, Iſa 45,9 wiſd 15,7 rom 9,20

4 And the veſſel that he made of a claie, was broken in the hand of the potter. ſo he returned, & made it another veſſel, as ſemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

6 O houſe of Iſraél, can not I do with you as this potter, ſaith the Lord? behold, as ỹ claie is in the potters hand, ſo are you in mine hand, ô houſe of Iſraél.

b When ỹ Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doeth contrary to that which he hathe ordeined in his ſecret counſel: but whẽ he threateneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, ỹ threatening (which euercõteineth a condition in it) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, becauſe it ſo appeareth to mans iudgement

7 I wil ſpeake ſuddẽly againſt a nation or a againſt a kingdome to plucke it vp, & to roote it out and to deſtroie it.

8 But if this nation, againſt whome I haue pronounced, turne frõ their wickednes, I wil b repent of ỹ plague that I thoght to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil ſpeake ſuddenly concerning a nacion, and concerning a kingdome to buylde it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my ſight and heare not my voice, I wil repẽt of the good that I thoght to do for them.

11 Speake ỹ now therefore vnto the men of Iudáh, and to the inhabitãrs of Ieruſalém, ſaying, Thus ſaith ỹ Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpoſe a thing againſt you: returne you therefore euerie one from his euil waie, and make your waies and your workes good.

& As men that had no remorſe, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne ſelf wil.

CHAP. XIX.

He propheciath the deſtruction of Ieruſalém for the contempt and deſpiſing of the worde of God.

1 THus ſaid the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Prieſts,

2 And go forthe vnto ỹ vallei of Ben-himnóm, which is by the entrie of the 'East gate: & thou ſhalt preache there the wordes, that I ſhal tel thee,

3 And ſhalt ſay, Heare ye the worde of the Lord, ô [a] Kings of Iudáh, and inhabitáts of Ieruſalém, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, ỹ God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon this place, the which whoſoeuer heareth, his eares ſhal [b] tingle.

4 Becauſe they haue forſaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incenſe in it vnto other gods, whome nether they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudáh (they haue filled this place alſo with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buylt the hie places of Báal, to burne their ſonnes with fyre for burnt offrings vnto Báal, which I [c] commãded not, nor ſpake it, nether came it into my minde)

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhal nomore be called [d] Tópheth, nor the vallei of Benhinnóm, but the vallei of ſlaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counſel of Iudáh & Ieruſalém to noght in this place, and I wil cauſe thẽ to fall by the ſworde before their enemies, & by the hand of them that ſeke their liues: & their carkeiſes wil I giue to be meat for the foules of ỹ heauen, and to the beaſtes of the field.

8 *And I wil make this citie deſolate & an hiſſing, ſo that euerie one ỹ paſſeth thereby, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed & hiſſe becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 *And I wil fede thẽ with ỹ fleſh of their ſonnes and with the fleſh of their daughters, and euerie one ſhal eat the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege and ſtreitnes, wherewith their enemies that ſeke their liues, ſhal holde them ſtreit.

10 Then ſhalt thou breake the bottle in the ſight of the men that go with thee, 11 And ſhalt ſaie vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Euen ſo wil I breake this people & this citie, as one breaketh a [e] potters veſſel, that can not be made whole againe, & thei ſhal buryе them in Tópheth til ſhere be no place to burye.

12 Thus wil I do vnto this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitans thereof, and I wil make this citie like Tópheth.

13 For the houſes of Ieruſalém, and the houſes of the Kings of Iudáh ſhalbe defiled as the place of Tópheth, becauſe of all the [f] houſes vpon whoſe [g] rofes thei haue burnt incenſe vnto all the hoſte of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiáh from Tópheth, where the Lord had ſent him to prophecie, and he ſtode in the court of the Lords houſe, and ſaid to all the people,

15 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues ỹ I haue pronounced againſt it, becauſe they haue hardened their neckes, and wolde not heare my wordes.

Ieremiáh is ſmitten and caſt into priſon for preaching of the worde of God. 3 He propheciеth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking ſtocke for the worde of God 9 He is compelled by the ſpirit to preache the worde.

1 WHen Paſhúr, the ſonne of Immér, the Prieſt, which was appointed gouernour in ỹ Houſe of the Lord, heard that Ieremiáh prophecied theſe things,

2 Then Paſhúr ſmote Ieremiáh the Prophet, and put him in the [a] ſtockes that were in the hie gate of Beniamín which was by the Houſe of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Paſhúr broght Ieremiáh out of the ſtockes. Then ſaid Ieremiáh vnto him, The Lord hathe not called thy name Paſhúr, but [*] Magór-miſſabíb.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy ſelf, & to all thy friends, and thei ſhal fall by the ſworde of their enemies, & thine eyes ſhal beholde it, and I wil giue all Iudáh into the hand of the King of Babél, and he ſhal carie them captiue into Babél, and ſhal ſlaie them with the ſworde.

5 Moreouer I wil deliuer all the ſubſtance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things thereof, and all ỹ treaſures of the Kings of Iudáh wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, which ſhal ſpoyle them, and take them awaie and carie them to Babél.

6 And thou Paſhúr, & all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhal go into captiuitie, and thou ſhalt come to Babél, and there thou ſhalt dye, and ſhalt be buryed there, thou & all thy [b] friends, to whome thou haſt prophecied lies.

He prophecieth that Zedekiáh shalbe taken, and the citie burned.

1 THe worde which came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, when King Zedekiáh sent vnto him Pashúr, the sonne of Malchiáh, & Zephaniáh, the sonne of Maaseáh the Priest, saying, a Not that the King was touched with repentāce of his sinnes and so sought to God, as did Hezekiáh when he sent to Isaiáh, 2 King 19, 1 isa 37, 2, but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaōh sought vnto Moses, Exod 9,28

2 a Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord wil deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiáh, Thus shal you say to Zedekiáh,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Beholde, I wil b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babél, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, & I wil assemble them into the middes of this citie.

b To wit, from your enemies to destroye your selues.

5 And I my self wil fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme, euen in angre and in wrath, and in great indignacion.

6 And I wil smite the inhabitants of this citie, bothe man, and beast: thei shal dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I wil deliuer Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh, and his seruants, and the people, and suche as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the hād of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

23 Thou that dwelleſt in Lebanón, and ma-keſt thy neſt in the q cedres, how beautiful ſhalt thou be when ſoꝛowes come vpon thee, as the ſoꝛow of a woman in trauail?
24 As I liue, ſaith the Lord, thogh r Coniáh the ſonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, were the ſignet of my right hand, yet wolde I plucke thee thence.
25 And I wil giue thee into the hand of thẽ that ſeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whoſe face thou feareſt, euẽ into the hand of Nebuchad nezzá King of Ba bél, and into the hand of the Caldeans.
26 And I wil cauſe them to cary thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another countrey, where ye were not boꝛne, & there ſhal ye dye.
27 But to the land, whereunto they deſire to returne, they ſhal not returne thether.
28 Is not this man Coniáh as a deſpiſed and broken idole? oꝛ as a veſſel, wherein is no pleaſure? Wherefore are thei caryed away, he and his ſede, & caſt out into a land that they knowe not?
29 O ſ earth, earth, earth, heare the worde
of the Lord.
30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Write this t man deſtitute of children, a man that ſhal not proſper in his dayes: for there ſhalbe no man of his ſede that ſhal proſper and ſit

Againſt falſe Paſtors. 5 A prophecie of the great Paſtor Ieſus Chriſt.

1 WO be vnto a the Paſtors that deſtroie and ſcatter b the ſhepe of my paſture, ſaith the Lord.
2 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſraél vnto the Paſtors that c feede my people, Ye haue ſcattred my flocke and thruſt them out, & haue not viſited thẽ: beholde, I wil viſite you for the wickednes of your worke, ſaith the Lord.
3 And I wil gather the d rẽnant of my ſhe-pe out of all countreys, whether I had dri uen them, and wil bring them againe to their foldes, and they ſhal growe and encreaſe.
4 And I wil ſet vp ſhepherdes ouer them, which ſhal fede them: and they ſhal dread no more nor be afraid, nether ſhal any of them be lacking, ſaith the Lord.

d Thus the Prophets euer vſe to mixt the promiſes with ỹ threatnings, leſt the godlie ſhulde be to muche beaten downe, and therefore he ſheweth how God wil gather his Church after this diſperſion.

5 Beholde, The daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil raiſe vnto Dauid a righteous [e] branche, & a King ſhal reigne, and proſper, and ſhal execute iudgement, and iuſtice in the earth.

6 In his daies * Iudáh ſhalbe ſaued, and Iſraél ſhal dwell ſafely, and this is the name whereby thei ſhal call him, * The Lord our righteouſnes.

7 Therefore beholde, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that thei ſhal no more ſay, The [f] Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Iſraél out of ỹ land of Egypt,

8 But the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the ſede of the houſe of Iſraél out of the North countrey & from all contreys where I had ſcattered them, and thei ſhal dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, becauſe of the [g] Prophetes, all my bones ſhake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whome wine hathe "ouercome) for the preſence of the Lord and for his holie wordes.

10 For the land is ful of adulterers, and becauſe of othes ỹ land mourneth, the pleaſant places of the wildernes are dryed vp, and their [h] courſe is euil, and their force is not right.

11 For bothe the Prophet and the Prieſt [o] do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I founde in mine [i] Houſe, ſaith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their waie ſhalbe vnto them as ſliperie waies in the darkenes: thei ſhal be driuen forthe and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yere of their viſitacion, ſaith the Lord.

13 And I haue ſene fooliſhnes in the Prophetes of Samaria, ỹ prophecied in Báal and cauſed my people Iſraél to erre.

14 I haue ſene alſo in the Prophetes of Ieruſalém [k] filthines: thei commit adulterie & walke in lies: thei ſtrengthen alſo the hãds of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: thei are all vnto [l] me as Sodóm, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomoráh.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes concerning the Prophetes, Beholde, I wil fede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from ỹ Prophetes of Ieruſalém is [n] wickednes gone forthe into all the land.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, and teache you vanitie: thei ſpeake the viſiõ of their owne [o] heart & not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 Thei ſaie ſtil vnto them that deſpiſe me, The Lord hath ſaid, Ye [p] ſhal haue peace: & thei ſaie vnto euerie one that walketh after the ſtubbernes of his owne heart, No euil ſhal come vpon you.

18 For [r] who hathe ſtand in the counſel of the Lord that he hathe perceiued & heard his worde? Who hathe marked his worde and heard it?

19 Beholde, the tempeſt of the Lord goeth forthe in his wrath, & a violent whirlwinde ſhal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The angre of the Lord ſhal not returne vntil he haue executed, and til he haue performed the thoghts of his heart: in the latter daies ye [q] ſhal vnderſtand it plainely.

21 * I haue not ſent theſe Prophetes, ſaith the Lord, yet thei ranne: I haue not ſpokẽ to them, and yet thei prophecied.

22 But if thei had ſtand in my counſel, and [r] had declared my wordes to my people, then they ſhulde haue turned them from their euil waie, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, ſaith the Lord, and not a God [s] farre of?

24 Can anie hide him ſelf in ſecret places, that I ſhal not ſe him, ſaith the Lord? Do not I fil heauen and earth, ſaith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the Prophetes ſaid, that prophecie lies in my Name, ſaying, I [t] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long [u] "Do the Prophetes delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke thei to cauſe [x] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which thei tel euerie man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotte my Name for Báal?

28 The Prophet that hathe a dreame, let him [y] tel a dreame, and he that hathe my worde, let him ſpeake my worde faithfully: [z] what is ỹ chaffe to the wheat, ſaith the Lord?

29 Is not my worde euen like a fyre, ſaith the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the ſtone?

30 Therefore beholde, I wil come againſt the Prophetes, ſaith the Lord, that [a] ſteale my worde euerie one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I wil come againſt the Prophetes, ſaith the Lord, which haue ſwete tongues, and ſaye, [b] He ſaith.

32 Beholde, [c] wil come againſt them that prophecie falſe dreames, ſaith the Lord, & do tel them, and cauſe my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I ſend them not, nor cõmanded them: therefore thei bring no profite vnto this people, ſaith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Prieſt ſhal aſke thee, ſaying, What is the [d] burden of the Lord? thou ſhalt then ſay vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forſake you, ſaith the Lord.

34 And the Prophet, or the Prieſt, or the people that ſhal ſay, The [c] burden of the Lord, I wil euen viſit euerie ſuche one, & his houſe.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The viſion of the baſkets of figges 5 Signifieth that parte of the people ſhulde be broght againe from captiuitie. 8 And that Zedekiáh and the reſt of the people ſhulde be caryed away.

1 THe Lord ſhewed me, & beholde, two [a] baſkets of figges were ſet before ỹ Tēple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzár Kīg of Babél had caried away captiue Ieconiáh ỹ ſonne of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh, and the princes of Iudáh with the workemen, and cunning men of Ieruſalém, and had broght them to Babél.

2 One baſket had verie good figgs, euen like the figges that are firſt ripe: & the other baſket had verie noghtie figges which colde not be eaten, thei were ſo euil.

3 Then ſaid the Lord vnto me, What ſeeſt thou, Ieremiáh? And I ſaid, Figges: the good figgs verie good, & the noghtie verie noghtie, which can not be eaten, thei are ſo euil.

4 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſraél, Like theſe good figges, ſo wil I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudáh to be good, whome I haue ſent out of this [b] place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil ſet mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil buylde them, and not deſtroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I wil giue them [c] an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they ſhalbe my* people, and I wil be their God: for they ſhal returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 *And as the noghtie figges which can not be eaten, they are ſo euil (ſurely thus ſaith the Lord) ſo wil I giue Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh, and his princes, and the reſidue of Ieruſalém, that remaine in this land, & them that dwell [d] in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commune talke, and for a curſſe, in all places, where I ſhal caſt them.

10 And I wil ſend the ſworde, the famine, and the peſtilence among them, til they be conſumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

1 He prophecieth that thei ſhalbe in captiuitie ſeuentie yeres, 12 And that after the ſeuentie yeres the Babylonians ſhulde be deſtroyed. 14 The deſtruction of all nations is prophecied.

1 THe worde that came to Ieremiáh, concerning all the people of Iudáh in the [a] fourth yere of Iehoiakím the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh that was in the firſt yere of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél:

2 The which Ieremiáh the Prophet ſpake vnto all the people of Iudáh, & to all the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, ſaying,

3 From the thirtéth yere of Ioſiáh the ſonne of Ammón King of Iudáh, euen vnto [b] this daye (that is the thre and twentieth yere) the worde of the Lord hathe come vnto me, & I haue ſpoken vnto you [c] riſing early and ſpeaking, but ye wolde not heare.

4 And the Lord hathe ſent vnto you all his ſeruants the Prophetes, riſing early and ſending them, but ye wolde not heare, nor encline your eares to obeie.

5 Thei [d] ſaid, Turne againe now euerie one from his euil waie, and from the wickednes of your inuencions, & ye ſhal dwell in the land that the Lord hathe giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And go not after othei gods to ſeruue thē & to worſhip them, and prouoke me not to angre with the workes of your hands, & I wil not puniſh you.

7 Neuertheles ye wolde not heare me, ſaith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to angre with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

10 * Moreouer f I wil take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride, the noise of the h millestones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shal be desolate, and an astonishment, & these nacions shal serue the King of Babél seuenty yeres.

12 And when the i seuentie yeres are accomplished, I wil visite k the King of Babél and that nacion, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and wil make it a perpetual desolation, 13 And I wil bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all ỹ is writen in this boke, which Ieremiáh hathe prophecied against all nations.

14 For many nacions, and great Kings shal euen l serue them selues of them: thus wil I recompẽce them according to their dedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hathe the Lord God of Israél spoken vnto me, m Take the cup of wine of this mine indignacion at mine hand, and cause all the nacions, to whome I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shal drinke, and be moued & be madde, because of the sworde, that I wil send among them.

17 Then toke I the cuppe at ỹ Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalém, and the cities of Iudáh, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, n as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaóh also, King of Egypt, and his seruantes, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the land o of Vz: and all the Kings of the land of the Philistims, & p Ashkelón, and Azzáh, & Ekrón, and ỹ remnant of Ashdód:

21 q Edóm, and Moáb, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the Kings of Zidón, & the Kings of ỹ r Yles, that are beyonde the sea,

23 And Dedán, and s Temá, & Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermost corners,

24 And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the t desert, 25 And all the Kings of Zimrí, and all the Kings of u Elám, and all the Kings of the Medes.

26 And all ỹ Kings of the North farre, and nere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, & the King of x Sheshách shal drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I wil send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take ỹ cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith ỹ Lord of hostes, ye shal certeinly drinke.

29 For lo, y I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, & shulde you go free? Ye shal not go quite: for I wil call for a sworde vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou against them all these wordes, and saie vnto them, * The Lord shal roare from aboue, and thrust out his voice from his holie habitacion: he shal roare vpon his habitacion, & crye aloude, as they that presse the grapes against all ỹ inhabitants of the earth,

31 The sounde shal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hathe a controuersie w the natiõs, and wil entre into iudgement with all flesh, & he wil giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, a plague shal go forthe from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewinde shalbe raised vp from the coastes of the earth, 33 And z the slaine of the Lord shalbe at ỹ daie, from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth. they shal not be mourned, nether gathered nor buryed, but shalbe as the dõgue vpon the grounde.

34 Howle, a ye shepherds, and crye, and wallowe your selues in the ashes, ye principal of the flocke: for your daies of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispersion, and ye shal fall like b precious vessels.

35 And the c flight shal faile from the shepherds, and the escaping from the principal of the flocke.

36 A voice of the crye of the shepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flocke shalbe heard: for the Lord hathe destroyed their pasture.

37 And the d best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hathe forsaken his couert, as the lion: for their land is waste, because of ỹ wrath of the oppressor, and because of the wrath of his indignation.

Iii. iii.

CHAP. XXVI.

Ieremiáh moueth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the falſe Prophetes and Prieſtes and broght to iudgement. 23 Vriiáh the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim cõtrarie to the wil of God.

1 IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakím the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde from the Lord, ſaying, a That is, in that place of the Temple whereunto the people reſort out of all Iudáh to ſacrifice 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Stand in the a court of the Lords Houſe, and ſpeake vnto all the cities of Iudáh, which come to worſhip in the Lords Houſe, all the wordes ỹ I commãd thee to ſpeake: kepe not b a worde backe, b To the intent that they ſhulde pretend no ignorance, as Act 20,27.

3 If ſo be they wil hearken, and turne euerie man from his euil way, that I may c repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, becauſe of the wickednes of their workes.

c Read Chap 18,8.
4 And ỹ ſhalt ſay vnto thẽ, Thus ſaith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue ſet before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my ſeruants the Prophetes, whome I ſent vnto you, both riſing vp early, and ſending them, and wil not obeie them,

d Read Chap 7,12
6 Then wil I make this Houſe like d Shilóh, and wil make this citie e a curſſe to all the nacions of the earth.

e So ỹ when they wolde curſſe any, they ſhal ſay, God do to thee as to Ieruſalém.
7 So the Prieſtes, and the Prophetes, and all the people heard Ieremiáh ſpeaking theſe wordes in the Houſe of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiáh had made an end of ſpeaking all that the Lord had commanded him to ſpeake vnto all the people, thẽ the Prieſtes, and the Prophetes, and all the people toke him, and ſaid, Thou ſhalt dye the death.

f Becauſe of Gods promes to the Temple, Pſal. 132, 14. ỹ he wolde for euer remaine there, ỹ hypocrites thoght this Temple colde neuer periſh, and therefore thoght it blaſphemie to ſpeake againſt it, Mat 26, 61. act 6,13, not cõſidering ỹ this was ment of ỹ Church, where God wil remaine forever.
9 Why haſt thou prophecied in the Name of ỹ Lord, ſaying, This f Houſe ſhalbe like Shilóh, & this citie ſhalbe defolate without an inhabitãt? & all the people were gathered againſt Ieremiáh in the Houſe of the Lord.

g So called, becauſe it was repaired by Ioathám, 2 Kings 15,35.
10 And when the princes of Iudáh heard of theſe things, thei came vp from ỹ Kings houſe into the Houſe of the Lord, & ſate downe in the entrie of the g newe gate of the Lords Houſe.

By iudgement of death belongeth to thē man.
11 Then ſpake the Prieſtes, and the Prophetes vnto the princes, & to all ỹ people, ſaying, "This man is worthie to dye: for he hathe prophecied againſt this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

h He bothe ſheweth the cauſe of his doings plainely, and alſo threateneth them ỹ they ſhulde nothig auaile, thogh they ſhulde put him to death, but heape greater vengeance vpon their heads.
12 Then ſpake Ieremiáh vnto all the princes, & to all the people, ſaying, The Lord hathe h ſent me to prophecie againſt this Houſe and againſt this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amẽd your waies & your workes, & heare the voice of ỹ Lord your God, ỹ the Lord may repent him of ỹ plague, ỹ he hathe pronounced againſt you.

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But knowe ye for certeine, ỹ if ye put me to death, ye ſhal ſurely bring innocent blood vpon your ſelues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a trueth ỹ Lord hath ſent me vnto you, to ſpeake all theſe wordes in your eares.

16 Then ſaid the princes and all the people vnto the Prieſts & to the Prophetes, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hathe ſpoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then roſe vp certeine of the Elders of the land, and ſpake to all the aſſemblie of the people, ſaying, 18 Michàh the Moraſhite *prophecied in ỹ dayes of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and ſpake to all the people of Iudáh, ſaying, Thus ſaith ỹ Lord of hoſtes, Zión ſhalbe plowed like a field, and Ieruſalém ſhalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the i Houſe ſhalbe as the high places of the foreſt.

Michàh 1,1. & 3,12.

i That is, of the Houſe of ỹ Lord: to wit, Zión, and theſe examples the goulie alledged to deliuer Ieremiáh out of the Prieſts hands whoſe rage els wold not haue bene ſatiſfied, but by his death

19 Did Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and all Iudáh put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the k plague, that he had pronoũced againſt them? thus might we procure great euil againſt our ſoules.

k So that the citie was not deſtroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Sancherib.
20 And there was alſo a man that prophecied in ỹ Name of the Lord, one Vriiáh the ſonne of Shemaiáh, of Kiriáth-iarem, who prophecied againſt this citie, and againſt this land, according to all the wordes of Ieremiáh.

l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods worde declared, but perſecute the miniſters thereof, and yet in the end they preuaile nothing, but prouoke Gods iudgements ſo muche ỹ more.
21 Now when Iehoiakím the King with all his men of power, & all the princes heard his wordes, the King ſoght to ſlaie him. But when Vriiáh heard it, he was afraied and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Thẽ Iehoiakim the King l ſent men into Egypt, euen Elnathán the ſonne of Achbór, and certeine with him into Egypt.

m As in the firſt Hezekiahs example is to be followed. ſo in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his houſholde 23 And thei fet Vriiáh out of Egypt, and broght him vnto Iehoiakím the King, who ſlewe him with the ſworde, and m caſt his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

n Which declareth that nothing colde haue appeaſed their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to ſtãd valiantly in his defence.
24 But the hand of Ahikám n the ſonne of Shaphán was with Ieremiáh ỹ thei ſhulde not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ieremiáh at the commandement of the Lord ſendeth bondes to the King of Iudáh and to the other Kings that were nere, whereby thes are monſhed to ſubmitte them vnto Nebuchad-nezzár. 9 He warneth the people & the Kings & rulers that thei beleue not falſe Prophetes.

1 IN the beginning of the reigne of a Iehoiakím ỹ ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iu a As touching the diſpoſitiõ of theſe prophecies, they that gathered them into a booke, did not altogether obſerue the order of times, but did ſet ſome afore, which ſhulde be after, and contrarie wiſe: which if the reader marke wel, it ſhal auoide many doutes, & make the reading muche more eaſy.

dáh

dáh came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord to me, Make thee [b] bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And ſend them to the King of Edóm, & to the King of Moáb, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidón, by the hād of the meſſengers which come to Ieruſalém vnto Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh,

4 And commande them to ſay vnto their maſters, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, Thus ſhal ye ſay vnto your maſters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beaſt that are vpō the groūde, by my great power, & by my outſtretched arme, & haue giuen it vnto whome it pleaſed me.

6 But now I haue giuen all theſe lands into the hād of Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babél my [c] ſeruant, and the beaſtes of the field haue I alſo giuē him to ſerue him.

7 And all nations ſhal ſerue him, and his [d] ſonne, and his ſonnes ſonne vntil the verie time of his land come alſo: then manie nations and great Kings ſhal [e] ſerue them ſelues of him.

8 And the nation & kingdome which wil not ſerue ỹ ſame Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and that wil not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, the ſame nation wil I viſite, ſaith the Lord, with the ſworde, and with the famine, and with the peſtilence, vntil I haue wholy giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your Prophetes nor your ſouthſayers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your ſorcerers, which ſaie vnto you thus, Ye ſhal not ſerue the King of Babél.

10 For their prophecie a lie vnto you to cauſe you to go farre from your land, and that I ſhulde caſt you out, and you ſhulde periſh.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, & ſerue him, thoſe wil I let remaine ſtil in their owne land, ſaith the Lord, and their ſhal occupie it and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I ſpake alſo to Zedekiáh King of Iudáh according to all theſe wordes, ſaying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babél, and ſerue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why wil ye dye, thou, & thy people by the ſworde, by the famine, and by the peſtiléce, as the Lord hathe ſpokē againſt ỹ nation, that wil not ſerue ỹ King of Babél?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophetes, that ſpeake vnto you, ſaying, Ye ſhal not ſerue the King of Babél: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * ſent thē, ſaith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my Name, that I might caſt you out, and that ye might periſh, bothe you, & the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you. Chap 14.13. & 23.21. & 29.8.

16 ¶ Alſo I ſpake to ỹ Prieſtes, & to all this people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, ſaying, Beholde, * the veſſels of the Houſe of the Lord ſhal now ſhortely be [f] broght againe from Babél, for they prophecie a lie vnto you. Chap. 28.3.

17 Heare thē not, but ſerue the King of Babél, that ye may liue: wherefore ſhulde this citie be deſolate?

18 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lord be with thē, let them [g] intreat the Lord of hoſtes, that the veſſels, which are left in the Houſe of the Lord, & in the houſe of the King of Iudáh, & at Ieruſalém, go not to Babél.

19 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, concerning the * pillers, and concerning the ſea, and concerning the baſes, and concerning the reſidue of the veſſels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél toke not, when he caryed * away captiue Ieconiáh the ſonne of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh from Ieruſalém to Babél, with all the nobles of Iudáh and Ieruſalém. 2 King 25.13 2. King 24.12

21 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes ỹ God of Iſraél, cōcerning the veſſels ỹ remaine in the Houſe of the Lord, & in ỹ houſe of the King of Iudáh, and at Ieruſalém, 22 They ſhalbe broght to Babel, and there they ſhalbe vntil the day that I viſite [h] thē, ſaith the Lord: then wil I bring them vp, and reſtore them vnto this place.

[b] By ſuche ſignes ỹ Prophetes vſed ſome times to confirme their prophecies, wꝰ notwithſtanding they colde not do of them ſelues, but inaſmuche as they had a reuelation for the ſame, Iſa. 20,2. and therefore the falſe prophetes to get more credit did vſe alſo ſuche viſible ſignes, but they had no reuelation, 1. King 22,11.

[c] Read Chap. 25,9.

[d] Meaning, Euilmerodách, and his ſonne Beilſhazar

[e] They ſhal bring him, and his kingdome in ſubiection, as Chap 25,14.

[f] Which were taken whē Ieconiáh was led captiue into Babél.

[g] For it was not onely the Prophetes office to ſhewe the worde of God, but alſo to pray for the ſinnes of the people, Gen 20, 7 Which theſe colde not do becauſe they had no expreſſe worde for God had pronounced ỹ contrarie

[h] That is, for the ſpace of ſeuentie yeres, til I haue cauſed the Medes and Perſiās to ouercome the Caldeans.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The falſe prophecie of Hananiáh 12 Ieremiáh repro ueth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

1 AND that ſame yere in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh in the [b] fourth yere, and in the fift moneth Hananiáh the ſonne of Azúr the Prophet, ẅ was of [c] Gibeón, ſpake to me in the Houſe of the Lord in the preſence of the Prieſts, and of all the people, and ſaid,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, ſaying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babél.

3 "Within two yeres ſpace I wil bring into this place all the veſſels of the Lords Houſe, ỹ Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél toke away from this place, and caried them into Babél.

4 And I wil bring againe to this place Ieconiáh the ſonne of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh, with all thē that were caryed away captiue of Iudáh, and wēt into Babél, ſaith the Lord: for I wil breake the yoke of the King of Babél.

[a] When Ieremiáh began to beare theſe bondes and yokes

[b] After that the land had reſted, as Leu. 25,1 deu 15,1

[c] This was a citie in Benamín belonging to the ſonnes of Aarón, Ioſh. 21,17.

"Eyr two yeres of dayes.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiáh ſaid vnto the d He was ſo eſteemed, though he was a falſe Prophet.
d Prophet Hananiáh in the preſence of the Priests, & in the preſence of all the people 6 that ſtode in the House of the Lord.
Euē the Prophet Ieremiáh ſaid, So be it:
e That is, I wolde with ȳ ſame for Gods honour, & welthe of my people, but he hathe appointed the contrarie.
the e Lord ſo do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou haſt prophecied to reſtore the veſſels of the Lords House, and all that is caried captiue from Babél into this place.
7 But heare thou now this worde that I wil ſpeake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.
8 The Prophetes that haue bene before me and before thee in time paſt, f prophecied f Meaning, that the Prophetes that did ether denounce warre or peace, were tryed ether true or falſe by the ſucceſſe of their prophecies. Albeit God maketh to come to paſſe ſometime that which the falſe prophet ſpeaketh, to trye the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.
againſt manie countreis, and againſt great kingdomes, of warre, & of plagues, and of peſtilence.
9 And the Prophet which prophecieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet ſhal come to paſſe, then ſhal the Prophet be knowen that the Lord hathe truely ſent him.
10 Then Hananiáh the Prophet toke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs necke, and g brake it.
g This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the trueth, but are led w ambition to get the fauour of mē, & therefore can not abide any, that might diſcredit them, but burſt forthe into rages and contrarie to their owne cōſcience, paſſe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, ſo ȳ thei may maintein their eſtimation 11 And Hananiáh ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith ȳ Lord, Euen ſo wil I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, frō the necke of all nations within the ſpace of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremiáh went his way.
12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh the Prophet, (after that Hananiáh the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremiáh) ſaying, 13 Go, & tel Hananiáh, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood: but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of yron.
14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, I haue put a h yoke of yron vpon ȳ necke of all theſe natiōs, that they may ſerue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél: for thei ſhal ſerue him, and I haue giuen him the i beaſts of the field alſo.
h That is, a hard, and cruel ſeruitude.
i Signifying, that all ſhulde be his, as Dan. 2,38.
15 Thē ſaid the Prophet Ieremiáh vnto the Prophet Hananiáh, Heare now Hananiáh, the Lord hathe not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lye.
16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil caſt thee from of the earth: this yere thou ſhalt dye, becauſe thou haſt ſpoken rebelliouſly againſt the Lord.
k Seing this thing was euident in the eyes of ȳ people, and yet they returned not to ȳ Lord, it is manifeſt, that miracles can not moue vs, nether the worde it ſelf, except God touche the heart.
17 So Hananiáh the Prophet k dyed the ſame yere in the ſeuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

Ieremiáh writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophecieth their returne after ſeuentie yeres. 16 He prophecieth the deſtruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ieruſalém. 21 He threateneth the prophetes that ſeduce the people. 25 The death of Semeiah is prophecied.

NOw theſe are ȳ wordes of the l boke that Ieremiáh the Prophet ſent frō Ieruſalém vnto a the reſidue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophetes, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzár had caryed away captiue from Ieruſalém to Babél.
l Or, letter.
a For ſome dyed in the way.
2 (After that Ieconiáh the King, and the b Quene, and the eunuches, the * princes of Iudáh, and of Ieruſalém, and the worke men, and cūning men were departed from Ieruſalém)
b Meaning, Ieconias mother
* Or, captains
(chap 24.1.
3 By the hand of Elaſáh the ſonne of Shaphán and Gemariáh the ſonne of Hilkiah (whome Zedekiáh King of Iudáh c ſent vnto Babél to Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél) ſaying, c To intreat of ſome equal cōditions.
4 Thus hathe the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél ſpoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue d cauſed to be caried away captiues from Ieruſalém vnto Babél d To wit, the Lord, whoſe worke this was.
5 Buylde you houſes to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the frutes of them.
6 Take you wiues, and beget ſonnes, and daughters, and take wiues for your ſonnes, and giue your daughters to houſbands, that they may beare ſonnes & daughters, that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed.
e The Prophet ſpeaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they ſhulde pray for the commune reſt, and quietnes, ȳ their troubles might not be increaſed, and that they might w more pacience and leſſe grief waite for the time of their deliuerance, which God had appointed moſte certeine: for els not onely the Iſraelites, but all the worlde: yea, & the inſenſible creatures ſhulde reioyce when theſe tyrants ſhulde be deſtroyed, as Iſa. 14.4 7 And ſeke the proſperitie of the citie, whether I haue cauſed you to be caryed away captiues, and e pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof ſhal you haue peace.
8 ¶ For thus ſaith ȳ Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, Let not your prophetes, & your ſothe ſayers that be amōg you, deceiue you, nether giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.
9 For they prophecie you a lye in my Name: I haue not ſent them, ſaith the Lord.
10 But thus ſaith the Lord, That after ſeuentie yeres be accompliſhed at Babél, I wil viſit you, and performe my good promes toward you, and cauſe you to returne to this place.
f When your oppreſsion ſhalbe great, & your afflictiōs cauſe you to repent your diſobedience, & alſo whē ȳ ſeuentie yeres of your captiuitie ſhalbe expired, 2. Chro 36,22 ezrá 1,1. chap 25 10. dan 9,2.
11 For I knowe ȳ thoghts, that I haue thoght towardes you, ſaith the Lord, euen the thoghts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.
12 Then ſhal you crye vnto me, and ye ſhal go and pray vnto me, and I wil heare you, 13 And ye ſhal ſeke me and finde me, becauſe ye ſhal ſeke me with all f your heart.
14 And I wil be founde of you, ſaith ȳ Lord, and I wil turne away your captiuitie, and I wil gather you from all the nations and from all the places, whether I haue caſt you, ſaith the Lord, and wil bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue.

15 ¶Because ye haue said, The Lord hathe raised vs vp g Prophetes in Babél, g As Aháb, Zedekiáh, and Shemaiáh.

16 Therefore thus saieth the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, & of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forthe with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil send vpon them the h sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, & wil make them like vile i figges, that can not be eatē, they are so noghtie.

h Whereby he assureth them, ỹ there shalbe no hope of returning before the time appointed

i According to ỹ comparison, Chap. 24,1 18 And I wil persecute them with the sworde, with the famine, & with the pestilēce: & I wil make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, & k a curse, and astonishmēt and an hissing, and a reproche among all the nations whether I haue cast them, k Read Chap. 26,6.

19 Because thei haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruāts the Prophetes, l rising vp earely, & sending them, but ye wolde not heare, saith the Lord.

l Read Chap. 7,13 & 25,3 & 26,5.

20 ¶Heare ye therefore the worde of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalém to Babél.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, of Aháb the sonne of Kolaiáh, & of Zedekiáh the sonne of Maaseiáh, which prophecie lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I wil deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár Kīg of Babél & he shal slaye them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudáh, that are in Babél, shal take vp this curse against them & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiáh and like Aháb, whome the King of Babél burnt m in the fyre, m Because thei gaue the people hope of spedy returning.

23 Because they haue cómitted n vilenie in Israél, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, & testifie it, saith the Lord.

n Which was adulterie, and falsifying the worde of God.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiáh the o Nehelamite, saying,

o Or, dreamer

25 Thus speaketh ỹ Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, saying, Because thou hast sēt letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalém, & to Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseiáh the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

o Shemaiáh ỹ false prophet flattereth Zephaniáh the chief Priest, as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiadá to punish wnotocuer trespaced against the worde of God, of the w he wolde haue made Ieremiáh one, calling him a rauer & a false pphet

26 The Lord hathe made thee Priest, for o Iehoiadá the Priest, that ye shulde be officers in the House of ỹ Lord, for euery mā that raueth & maketh him self a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiáh of Anathóth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babél, saying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

29 And Zephaniáh the Priest red this lettre in the eares of Ieremiáh the Prophet.

30 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, saying,

31 Send to all thē of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiáh hathe prophecied vnto you, & I sent him not, & he caused you to trust in a lye, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil visite Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, and his sede: he shal not haue a man p to dwell among this people, nether shal he beholde the good, that I wil do for my people, saith ỹ Lord, because he hathe spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

p He & his sede shalbe destroied, so that none of thē shulde se the benefite of this deliuerance.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies. 18 And comforteth the Church.

1 THe worde, that came to Ieremiáh frō the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israél, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in a a boke.

a Because thei shulde be assured and their posteritie confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.

3 For lo, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe ỹ captiuitie of my people Israél and Iudáh, saith the Lord: for I wil restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, & they shal possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes ỹ the Lord spake concerning Israél, and concerning Iudáh.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a b terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

b He sheweth that before ỹ this deliuerāce shal come, the Caldeans shulde be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and ỹ they shulde be in suche perplexitie & sorow as a woman in her trauail, as Isa. 13, 8.

6 Demande now & beholde, if man trauail with childe? wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauail, & all faces are turned into a palenes?

7 Alas, for this c day is great: none hathe bene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shal he be deliuered from it.

c Meaning, ỹ the time of their captiuitie shulde be grieuous

8 For in that d day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil breake e his yoke from of thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shal no more serue them selues f of him.

d Wheo I shal visit Babylon.

e Of the King of Babylon

f To wit, of Iaakób

9 But they shal serue the Lord their God, & g Dauid their King, whome I wil raise vp vnto them.

g That is, Messiáh, w̄ shulde come of ỹ stocke of Dauid, according to the flesh and shulde be the true pastor, as Ezek. 34,23 who is set forth and his kingdome that shulde be euerlasting in the persone of Dauid, Hos. 3,5.

10 Therefore feare not, ô my seruāt Iaakób, saith the Lord, nether be afraied, ô Israél: for lo, I wil deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy sede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iaakób shal turne againe, & shalbe in rest and prosperitie & none shal make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee, thogh I vtterly destroy all the nacions where I haue scattered thee: yet wil I not vtterly destroy thee, but I wil correct thee by iudgement, and not [b] vtterly cut thee of.

[b] Read Chap 10,24.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Thy bruiſing is incurable, and [i] thy wounde is dolorous.

[i] Meaning, that no man is able to finde out a meane to deliuer them, but ẏ it muſt be the worke of God

13 There is none to iudge thy cauſe, or to lay a plaiſter: there are no medecines, nor helpe for thee.

[k] The Aſſyrians & Egyptians whome thou dideſt entertein with giftes, who left thee in thine affliction.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: thei ſeke thee not: for I haue ſtriken thee with the wounde of an enemie, & with a ſharpe chaſtiſemẽt for the multitude of thine iniquities, becauſe thy ſinnes were increaſed.

15 Why cryeſt thou for thine affliction? thy ſorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: becauſe thy ſinnes were increaſed, I haue done theſe thigs vnto thee.

[l] Herein is commended Gods great mercie toward his, who doeth not deſtroye them for their ſinnes, but correct and chaſtiſe them, til he haue purged & pardoned them, & ſo burneth the roddes by the which he did puniſh them, Iſa 33,1.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, ſhal be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one ſhal go into captiuitie: and they that ſpoyle thee, ſhalbe ſpoyled, & all thei that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed.

17 For I wil reſtore helth vnto thee, & I wil heale thee of thy woundes, ſaith the Lord, becauſe they called thee, The caſt away, ſaying, This is Zión, whome no man ſeketh after.

18 Thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil brig againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tentes, and haue compaſsion on his dwelling places: and the citie ſhalbe buylded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace ſhal remaine after the maner thereof.

[m] Meaning, ẏ the citie and the Temple ſhulde be reſtored to their former ſtate.

19 And out of them ſhal procede [n] thankeſgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I wil multiplie them, and thei ſhal not be fewe: I wil alſo glorifie them, and they ſhal not be diminiſhed.

[n] He ſheweth how the people ſhal with praiſe and thankeſgiuing acknowledge this benefite.

20 Their childrẽ alſo ſhalbe as afore time, and their congregacion ſhalbe eſtabliſhed before me: & I wil viſite all that vexe thẽ.

[o] Meaning, Zerubbabél, who was the figure of Chriſt, in whome this was accompliſhed

21 And their [o] noble ruler ſhalbe of them ſelues, and their gouernour ſhal procede from the middes of them, and I wil cauſe him to drawe nere, and approche vnto me: for who is this that directeth his [p] heart to come vnto me, ſaith the Lord?

[p] Signifying, ẏ Chriſt doeth willingly ſubmit him ſelf to the obedience of God his Father 22 And ye ſhalbe my people, and I wil be your God.

[q] Leſt the wicked hypocrites ſhulde flatter thẽ ſelues with theſe promiſes, the Prophet ſheweth what ſhalbe their portion 23 Beholde, [q] the tẽpeſt of the Lord goeth forthe with wrath: the whirlwinde ẏ hangeth ouer, ſhal light vpon the head of the wicked.

[r] When this Meſsiáh and deliuerer is ſent.

24 The fierce wrath of the Lord ſhal not returne, vntil he haue done, and vntil he haue performed the intents of his heart: in the [r] latter daies ye ſhal vnderſtand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

He rehearceth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the ſpiritual ioye of the faithful in the Church.

[a] When this noble gouernour ſhal come: meaning Chriſt, not onely Iudáh & Iſraél, but the reſt of ẏ worlde ſhalbe called.

AT the [a] ſame time, ſaith the Lord, wil I be the God of all the families of Iſraél, and they ſhalbe my people.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, The people which [b] eſcaped the ſworde, founde grace in the wildernes: [c] he walked before Iſraél to cauſe him to reſt.

[b] Which were deliuered frõ the cruelte of Pharaóh

[c] To wit, God.

3 The Lord hath he appeared vnto me [d] of olde, ſay they: [e] Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlaſting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.

[d] The people thus reaſon as thogh he were not ſo beneficial to them now, as he had bene of olde.

[e] Thus the Lord anſwereth that his loue is not changeable

4 Againe I wil buylde thee, and thou ſhalt be buylded, ô virgine Iſraél: thou ſhalt ſtil [f] be adorned with thy tymbrels, and ſhalt go forthe in the dãce of thẽ that be ioyful.

[f] Thou ſhalt haue ſtil occaſiõ to reioyce: which is mẽt by tabrets and dancing, as their cuſtome was after notable victories, Exod 15, 20. Iudg 5,2 and chap. 11,34

5 Thou ſhalt yet plãt vines vpon the mountaines of [g] Samaria, and the planters that plant them, [h] ſhal make them commune.

[g] Becauſe the Iſraelites, ẅ were the ten tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this muſt be ſpiritually vnderſtand vnder ẏ kingdome of Chriſt, which was ẏ reſtauracion of the true Iſraél.

[h] That is, ſhal eat the frute therof, as Leu. 19,23 dan 20,6 6 For the daies ſhal come that thei [i] watchemen vpon the mount of Ephráim ſhal crye, Ariſe, and let vs go vp vnto [k] Zión to the Lord our God.

[i] The miniſters of the worde

[k] They ſhal exhorte all to the imbracig of the Goſpel, as Iſa 2,3.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iaakób, and ſhoute for ioye among the chief of the [l] Gentiles: publiſh praiſe, and ſay, O Lord, ſaue thy people, the remnant of Iſraél.

[l] He ſheweth what ſhal be the concorde and loue of all vnder the Goſpel, where none ſhalbe refuſed for their infirmities: & euery ône ſhal exhort one another to imbrace it.

8 Beholde, I wil bring thẽ from the North countrey, and gather them from the coaſtes of the worlde, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, & her that is deliuered alſo: a great companie ſhal returne hether.

9 They ſhal come [m] weping, and with mercie wil I bring them againe: I wil leade them by the riuers of [n] water in a ſtraight way, wherein they ſhal not ſtumble: for I am a Father to Iſraél, and Ephráim is [o] my firſt borne.

[m] That is, lamenting their ſinnes, which had not giuen eare to the Propheres, & therefore it followeth ẏ God receiued thẽ to mercie, Chap 50, 4 Some take it ẏ they ſhulde wepe for ioy.

[n] Where they founde no impedimẽts, but abundance of all things.

[o] That is, my derely beloued, as ẏ firſt childè is to the father

10 ¶ Heare the worde of the Lord, ô ye Gẽtiles, and declare in the yles a farre of, & ſay, He ẏ ſcattered Iſraél, wil gather him and wil kepe him, as a ſhepherd doeth his flocke.

[p] That is, from the Babylonians, and other enemies

11 For the Lord hathe redemed Iaakób, & rãſomed him from the hand [p] of him, that was ſtronger then he.

[q] By theſe temporal benefites he meaneth the ſpiritual graces, which are in the Church, and whereof there ſhulde be euer plentie, Iſa 58 21

12 Therefore they ſhal come, and reioyce in the light of Zión, and ſhal [q] runne to the bountifulnes of the Lord, euen for ẏ wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increaſe of ſhepe, and bullockes: and their ſoule ſhalbe as a watered gãrden, and thei ſhal haue no more ſorow.

[r] In the compaſſe of the faithful, which euer praiſe God for his benefites.

13 Thẽ ſhal the virgine reioyce in the [r] dãce, and the yong men, & the olde men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioye, and wil comforte them, & giue them ioye for their ſorowes.

[ſ] Meaning the Spirit of wiſdome, knowledge and zeale.

14 And I wil repleniſh the ſoule of the Prieſts with [ſ] farnes, and my people ſhalbe ſatiſfied with my goodnes, ſaith the Lord.

15 Thus

15 Thus ſaith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weping. [t] Rahél weping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe thei were not.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke ſhalbe rewarded, ſaith ỹ Lord, and thei ſhal come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine end, ſaith the Lord, that thy children ſhal come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard [u] Ephráim lamenting thus, Thou haſt corrected me, and I was chaſtiſed as an [x] vntamed calfe: [y] conuert thou me, and I ſhalbe conuerted: for thou art ỹ Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: & after that I was inſtructed, I ſmote vpon my [z] thigh: I was aſhamed, yea, euen confounded, becauſe I did beare the repro che of my youth.

20 Is Ephráim [a] my dere ſonne or pleaſant childe? yet ſince I ſpake vnto him, I ſtil [b] remembred him: therefore my bowelles are troubled for him: I wil ſurely haue cõpaſſion vpon him, ſaith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp [c] ſignes: make thee heapes: ſet thine heart towarde the path and waie, that thou haſt walked: turne againe, ô virgine of Iſraél: turne againe to theſe thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go aſtraie, ô thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hathe created [d] a newe thing in the earth: A WOMAN ſhal compaſſe a man.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Yet ſhal thei ſaie this thing in the land of Iudáh, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bleſſe thee, ô habitation of iuſtice & holie mountaine.

24 And Iudáh ſhal dwell in it, & all the cities thereof together, the houſbandmen and thei that go forthe with the flocke.

25 For I haue ſatiat the weary ſoule, and I haue repleniſhed euerie ſorowful ſoule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my ſlepe [e] was ſwete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I wil ſowe the houſe of Iſraél, and the houſe of Iudáh [f] with the ſede of man and with the ſede of beaſt.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, & to throwe downe, and to deſtroye, and to plague them, ſo wil I watche ouer them, to buylde and to plant them, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe dayes ſhal they ſay no more, The fathers haue eaten a ſowre grape, & the childrens teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But euerie one ſhal dye for his owne iniquitie: euerie man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhalbe ſet on edge.

31 ¶ Beholde, the daies come, ſaith ỹ Lord, that I wil make a [h] newe couenant with the houſe of Iſraél, and with the houſe of Iudáh, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I toke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they [i] brake, althogh I was [k] an houſband vnto them, ſaith the Lord.

33 But this ſhalbe the couenant that I wil make with the houſe of Iſraél, After [k] thoſe daies, ſaith the Lord, I wil put my Law in their inwarde partes, & write it in their hearts, & wil be their God, and thei ſhalbe my people.

34 And thei ſhal [l] teache no more euerie mã his neighbour and euerie man his brother, ſaying, Knowe the Lord: for they ſhal all knowe me from the leaſt of them vnto the greateſt of them, ſaith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and wil remember their ſinnes no more.

35 Thus ſaith the Lord, which giueth [m] the ſunne for a light to the day, and the courſes of ỹ moone and of the ſtarres for a light to the night, which breaketh the ſea, whẽ the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hoſtes.

36 If theſe ordinances departe out of my ſight, ſaith the Lord, then ſhal the ſede of Iſraél ceaſe from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord, If the heauens can be meaſured, [n] or the fundacions of the earth be ſearched out beneth, then wil I caſt of all the ſede of Iſraél, for all that they haue done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the [o] citie ſhalbe buylt to the Lord frõ the tower of Hananeél, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the meaſure ſhal go forthe in his preſence vpon the hil Garéb, & ſhal compaſſe about to Goáth.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the aſſhes, and all the fields vnto the broke of Kidrón, and vnto the corner of the horſegate towarde the Eaſt, ſhalbe holie vnto the Lord, nether ſhal it be plucked vp nor deſtroyed anie more for euer.

c To declare the greatnes of Gods mercie in deliuering the Iewes he ſheweth them that thei were like to the Beniamites, or Iſraelites: that is, vtterly deſtroyed, and caryed away in ſo muche that if Rahél the mother of Beniamin colde haue riſen againe to ſeke for her childrẽ ſhe ſhulde haue founde none remaining

u That is, the people that were led captiue x Which was wanton and colde not be ſubiect to the yoke

y He sheweth how ỹ faithfulvſe to pray: that is, deſire God to turne them, for as muche as they can not turne ot them ſelues

z In ſigne of repentance, & deteſtation of my ſinne a As thogh he wolde ſay, No: for by his iniquitie he did what laye in him to caſte me of b To wit, in pitying him for my promes ſake

c Marke by what way thou dideſt go into captiuitie, and thou ſhalt turne againe by the ſame

d Becauſe their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from ſinne, he ſheweth how this ſhulde be procured, to wit by Ieſus Chriſt whome a woman ſhulde conceiue, & beare in her wõbe Which is a ſtrange thing in earth, becauſe he ſhulde be borne of a virgine without man or, he meaneth, that Ieruſalém which was like a barẽ woman in her captiuitie ſhulde be fruteful as ſhe, that is ioyned in mariage, and whome God bleſſeth with children

e Hauing vnderſtand this viſiõ of the Meſsiah to come in whome the two houſes of Iſraél, and Iudáh ſhulde be ioyned, I reioyced.

f I wil multiplie, and enrithe them with people and cattel.

g The wicked vſed this prouerbe, when they did murmure againſt Gods iudgements pronoũced by the Prophetes, ſaying, That their fathers had committed the faute, and that the children were puniſhed, Eze. 18,3 h Thogh the couenant of redemptiõ made to the fathers, & this which was giuen after, ſeme diuers, yet thei are all one, & grounded on Ieſus Chriſt, ſaue that this is called newe becauſe of the manifeſtation of Chriſt, and the abundant graces of the holie Goſt giuen to his Church vnder the Goſpel.

i And ſo were the occaſion of their owne diuorcement through their infidelitie, Iſa. 50,1 k Or, maſter.

k In the time of Chriſt my Law ſhal in ſtead of tables of ſtone be writen in their hearetes by mine holie Spirit. Ebr 8,8 l Vnder the kingdome of Chriſt there ſhalbe none blinded with ignorance, but I wil giue thẽ faith, & knowledge of God for remiſsion of their ſinnes, and daily increaſe the ſame: ſo that it ſhal not ſeme to come ſo muche by the preaching of my miniſters, as by the inſtruction of mine holie Spirit, Iſa 54,13. but the ful accompliſhing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Chriſt, when we ſhalbe ioyned with our head

m If the ſunne, moone, and ſtarres can not but giue light according to mine ordinance, ſo long as this worlde laſteth ſo ſhal my Church neuer faile, nether ſhal anie thing hinder it: and as ſure as I wil haue a people, ſo certeine is it, that I wil leaue them my worde for euer to gouerne them with n The one and the other is impoſsible

o As it was performed, Nehemiáh 3,1 By this deſcription he ſheweth that the citie ſhulde be as ample, and beautiful as euer it was: but he alludeth to the ſpiritual Ieruſalém, whoſe beautie ſhulde be incomparable

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiáh is caſt into priſon becauſe he prophecied that the citie ſhulde be take of the King of Babylon. 7 He ſheweth, that the people ſhulde come againe to their owne poſſeſſion. 38 The people of God are his ſeruants, and he is their Lord.

1 THe worde that came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzár.

a So that Ieremiáh had now prophecied frō the thirteenth yere of Ioſiáh vnto the laſt yere ſauelone of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almoſt fourtie yeres.

2 For then the King of Babels hoſte beſieged Ieruſalém: and Ieremiáh the Prophet was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, which was in the King of Iudahs houſe.

3 For Zedekiáh Kīg of Iudáh had ſhut him vp, ſaying, Wherefore doeſt thou prophecie, & ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, *Behold, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babél, and he ſhal take it?

*Chap. 29. 16. & 34. 2.

4 And Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh ſhal not eſcape out of the hand of ỹ Caldeans, but ſhal ſurely be deliuered into the hāds of the King of Babél, and ſhal ſpeake with him mouthe to mouthe, and his eyes ſhal beholde his face, b Til I take Zedekiáh away by death: for he ſhal not dye by the ſworde, as Chap 34. 4.

5 And he ſhal lead Zedekiáh to Babél, and there ſhal he be, vntil [b] I viſite him, ſaith the Lord: thogh ye fight with the Caldeans, ye ſhal not proſper.

c Whereby was ment that the people ſhulde returne againe out of captiuitie and enioye their poſſeſsions & vineyardes, as ver 15, & 44.

6 ¶ And Ieremiáh ſaid, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

*Or, right to redeme it.

7 Beholde, Hanameél, the ſonne of Shallúm thine vncle, ſhal come vnto thee and ſaie, [c] Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathóth: for the [*] title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee [d] to bye it.

d Becauſe he was next of ỹ kinred, as Ruth 4. 4.

8 So Hanameél, mine vncles ſonne, came to me in the court of the priſon, according to the worde of the Lord, and ſaid vnto me, Bye my [e] field, I praie thee, that is in Anathóth, which is in the countrei of Beniamín: for the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, and the purchaſe belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

e Of the poſſeſſion of the Leuites read Leu. 25. 32.

9 And I boght the field of Hanameél, mine vncles ſonne, that was in Anathóth and weighed him ỹ ſiluer, euen ſeuen [f] ſhekels, and ten pieces of ſiluer.

f Which moūteth to of our money, about ten ſhilings ſix pence, if this ſhekel were ỹ commune ſhekel, read Gen. 23. 15. for the ſhekel of the Temple was of double value & tē pieces of ſiluer were halfe a ſhekel: for twentie made the ſhekel

10 And I writ it in the boke and ſigned it, & toke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſiluer in the balances.

11 So I toke the boke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed [g] according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the boke that was open, g According to the cuſtome the inſtrumēt or euidēce was ſealed vp with ỹ cōmune ſeale, and a copie thereof remained, which cōteined the ſame in effect, but was not ſo authentical as the other, but was left open to be ſene if any thīg ſhulde be called into doum.

12 And I gaue the boke of the poſſeſſion vnto Barúch the ſonne of Neriáh, the ſonne of Maaſeiáh, in the ſight of Hanameél mine vncles ſonne, and in ỹ preſence of the witneſſes, writen in the boke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Iewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Barúch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Take the writings, euen this boke of the poſſeſsion, bothe that is ſcaled, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] veſſel, that thei maie continue a long time.

h And ſo to hide them in the grounde, ỹ thei might be preſerued as a token of their deliuerance.

15 For the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél ſaith thus, Houſes and fields, and vineyardes ſhalbe poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the boke of the poſſeſsion vnto Barúch, the ſonne of Neriáh, I prayed vnto the Lord, ſaying, 17 Ah Lord God, beholde, thou haſt made the heauē and the earth by thy great power, and by thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing [*] hard vnto thee.

*Or, hid

18 *Thou ſheweſt mercie vnto thouſands, and recompenceſt the iniquitie of the fathers into ỹ boſome of their [i] childrē after them: ô God the great and mightie, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſtes,

*Exod 34. 7. deut. 5. 9.

i Becauſe the wicked are ſubiect to the curſe of God, he ſheweth, ỹ their poſteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, ſhalbe puniſhed bothe for their owne wickednes & that the iniquitie of their fathers, wh is likewiſe in thē, ſhal be alſo reuenged on their head.

19 Great in counſel, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are opē vpon all the waies of the ſonnes of men, to giue to euerie one according to his waies, and according to the frute of his workes)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this [k] day, & in Iſraél, and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie, k Meaning, ỹ his miracles in deliuering his people, ſhulde neuer be forgotten.

21 And haſt broght thy people Iſraél out of the lād of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, with a ſtretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And haſt giuen them this land, which thou dideſt ſweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedſt them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come vpon them.

l The worde ſignifieth anie thing that is caſt vp, as a mount or rampart, and is alſo vſed for ingines of warre, which were layed on an hie place to ſhoot into a citie, before that gonnes were in vſe

24 Beholde, the [l] mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it by meanes of the ſworde, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and beholde, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaid vnto me, ô Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for ſiluer, and take witneſſes: for the citie ſhalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Thē came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying, m That is, of euerie creature: who as thei are his worke, ſo doeth he gouerne and guide them as pleaſeth him, whereby he ſheweth ỹ, as he is the autor of this their captiuitie for their ſinnes, ſo wil he for his mercies be their redemer to reſtore thē againe to libertie.

27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all [m] fleſh: is there anie thing to hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár chad-nezzár, King of Babél, and he shal take it.

29 And the Caldeans shal come and fight against this citie, and set fyre on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooses they haue offred incense vnto Báal, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto angre.

30 For the children of Israél, and the children of Iudáh haue surely done euil before me from their [n] youth: for the children of Israél haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

n From the time, ỹ I brought them out of Egypt, & made them my people. & called them my first borne.

31 Therefore this citie hathe bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, and of my wrath, from the daye, that they buylt it, euen vntothis daye, that I shulde remoue it out of my sight, 32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israél, and of the children of Iudáh, which they haue done to prouoke me to angre, euen they, their Kings, their princes, their Priests, and their Prophetes, and the mẽ of Iudáh, and the inhabitáts of Ieruśalém.

o Read Prou 1,25 Iia 65,2 chap 7,13 and 19,7 & 25,3 & 26,5 & 29,19.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe & not the face: thogh I taught them, [o] rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obediẽt to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it, p That is, the altars, which were made to offer sacrifice vpon to their idoles

35 And they buylt the hye [p] places of Báal, which are in the valley of [q] Ben-hinnóm, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to [r] passe through the fyre vnto Moléch, [s] w̃ I commáded them not, nether came it into my minde, that they shulde do suche abomination, to cause Iudáh to sinne.

36 And now [s] therefore, thus hathe the Lord God of Israél spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babél by the sworde, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, Deut.30,3.

37 * Beholde, I wil gather thẽ out of all countreis, wherein I haue scatred them in mine angre, & in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cause them to dwell safely.

Chap.30,22.

38 And they shal be * my people, and I wil be their God.

t One consent and one religion, as Ezek. 11,19, & 39,27.

39 And I wil giue thẽ [t] one heart & one way ỹ thei may feare me for euer for the welth of them, & of their children after them.

u Read Chap. 32,32.

40 And I wil make an [u] euerlasting couenãt w̃ thẽ, that I wil neuer turne away frõ thẽ to do thẽ good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, ỹ thei shal not departe frõ me.

41 Yea, I wil delité in thẽ to do thẽ good, & I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, & with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue broght all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shal be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Mẽ shal bye [x] fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamín, and round about Ieruśalém, & in the cities of Iudáh, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

x This is the declaration of that, which was spoken, ver 8.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God for giueth sinnes for his owne glorie. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdome of Christ in the Church shal neuer be ended.

1 MOreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh the seconde time (while he was yet shut vp in the [a] court of the prison) saying, a Which was in the Kings house at Ieruśalém, as Chap 32,1 2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker [b] thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

b To wit, of Ieruśalém, who as he made it, so wil he preserue it, read Isa.37,26.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answer thee, and shewe thee great & mightie things, which thou knowést not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israél, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudáh, which are destroied by the [c] mountes, and by the sworde,

c Read Chap. 32,24

5 Thei come to [d] fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fil thẽ selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine angre and in my wrath: for I haue hid my [e] face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

d The Iewes thinke to ouercome the Caldeans, but thei seke their owne destruction.

e He sheweth ỹ Gods fauour is cause of all prosperitie, as his angre is of all aduersitie.

6 ¶ Beholde, [f] I wil giue it helth & amendement: for I wil cure them, and wil reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

f In the middes of his threatnings God remembreth his and comforteth them.

7 And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudáh, and the captiuitie of Israél to returne, & wil buylde them as at the first.

8 And I wil [g] cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardone all their iniquities, whereby thei haue sinned against me, and whereby thei haue rebelled against me.

g Declaring ỹ there is no deliuerance nor ioye, but where as we fele remissiõ of sinnes

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a [h] ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nacions of the earth, which shal heare all the good that I do vnto them: and thei shal feare, & tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the welth, that I shewe vnto this citie.

h Whereby he sheweth that the Church, wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour & glorie, so ỹ whosoeuer is enemie to it, laboreth to dishonor God.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Againe there shalbe heard in this place (which ye say shalbe desolote, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudáh, & in the stretes of Ieruſalém, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voyce of ioye & the voyce of glad-nes, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shal say, [1] Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie en- dureth for euer, & of them that offre the sa- crifice of praise in ỹ House of the Lord, for I wil cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.
12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shalbe dwelling for shepherdes to rest their flockes.
13 In the cities of the [k] mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamín, and about Ieruſalém, and in the cities of Iudáh shal the shepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.
14 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil performe ỹ good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israél, and to the house of Iudáh.
15 In those daies and at that time, wil I cause [l] the brãche of righteousnes to growe vp vnto Dauid, & he shal execute iudge-ment, and righteousnes in the land.
16 In those dayes shal Iudáh be saued, and Ieruſalém shal dwell safely, & he that shal call [m] her, is the Lord our [n] righteousnes.
17 For thus saith the Lord, Dauid shal neuer want a man to sit vpõ the throne of the house of Israél.
18 Nether shal the Priests and Leuites wãt a man before me to offer [o] burnt offrings, and to offer meat offrings, and to do sacrifice continually.
19 ¶And the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh, saying,
20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my couenãt of the [p] day, and my couenãt of the night, that there shulde not be day, and night in their season, 21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that he shulde not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, & Priests my ministers.
22 As ỹ armie of heauen can not be nõbred, nether the sand of the sea measured: so wil
I multiplie the sede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.
23 ¶Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiáh, saying, 24 Considerest thou not what [q] this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, which the Lord hathe chosen, he hathe euen cast them of? thus they haue despised my people, that they shulde be no more a nacion before them.
25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the ordre of heauen and earth, 26 Then wil I cast away the sede of Iaakób and Dauid my seruãt, & not take of his sede to be rulers ouer the sede of Abrahám, Izhák, and Iaakób: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiáh shalbe giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon.
11 He rebuketh their cruelnie towarde their seruants.

1 THe worde ẅ came vnto Ieremiáh frõ the Lord (when [a] Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and all his hoste, & all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people foght against Ieruſalém, and against all the cities thereof) saying, 2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Go, and speake to Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, & tel him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold,
[b] I wil giue this citie into the hand of the King of Babél, and he shal burne it ẅ fyre, 3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hãd, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eies shal beholde the face of the King of Babél, and he shal speake with thee mouthe to mouthe, and thou shalt go to Babél.
4 Yet heare the worde of the Lord, ô Zede kiáh, King of Iudáh: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not dye by ỹ sworde, 5 But thou shalt dye in [b] peace: & according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shal thei burne odours for thee, and thei shal lament thee, saying, Oh [c] lord: for I haue pronounced the worde, saith the Lord.
6 Then Ieremiáh ỹ Prophet spake all these wordes vnto Zedekiáh King of Iudáh in Ieruſalém,
7 (When the King of Babels hoste foght against Ieruſalém, and against all the cities of Iudáh, that were left, euen against Lachísh, & against Azekáh: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudáh) 8 This is the worde that came vnto Iere-miáh from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiáh had made a couenant with all ỹ people, which were at Ieruſalém, [d] to proclaime libertie vnto them, 9 That euerie man shulde let his [e] seruant go fre, & euerie man his handmaide, which was an Ebrue or an Ebruesse, & that none shulde serue him selue of them, to wit, of a Iewe his brother.
10 Now when all the princes, & all the peo ple which had agreed to ỹ couenant, heard that euerie one shulde let his seruãt go fre,
&

l That is, I wil sende the Meſsiáh, which shal come of ỹ house of Dauid, of whome this prophecie is ment, as testifie all the Iewes, and that which is writen Chap 23, 6

m To wit, Christ that shal call his Church.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousnes, sanctification, & redemptiõ, 1 Cor 1, 30.

b Not of any violent death.

c The Iewes shal lamẽt for thee their lord & King.

d When the enemie was at hand, and thei sawe them selues in danger, thei wolde seme holy, & so began some kinde of reformation: but sone after they vttered their hypocrisie and euerie one his handmaide, and that none ſhulde ſerue them ſelues of them any more, thei obeied and let them go.

[a] Ebr returned. 11 But afterwarde thei [a] repented and cauſed the ſeruants & the handmaids, whome thei had let go free to returne & helde thē in ſubiection as ſeruants and handmaides.

12 Therefore the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith ỹ Lord God of Iſraél, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I broght them out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of [a] ſeruants, ſaying,

[a] Or, bondage.

Deut 15.12. 14 *At the terme of ſeuen yeres let ye go, euerie mā his brother an Ebrewe which hathe bene ſolde vnto thee: & when he hathe ſerued thee ſix yeres, thou ſhalt let him go fre from thee: but your fathers obeied me not, nether inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight in proclaiming libertie, euerie man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in [f] the Houſe, whereupon my Name is called.

[f] Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a moſt ſolemne & ſtreit couenant, made in the Name of ỹ Lord.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue cauſed euerie man his ſeruant, & euerie man his handmaide, whome ye had ſet at libertie at their pleaſure, to returne, and holde them in ſubiection to be vnto you as ſeruants and as handmaides.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Ye haue not obeied me, in proclaiming fredome euerie man to his brother, and euerie man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, ſaith ỹ Lord, to [g] the ſworde, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, & I wil make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

[g] That is, I giue the ſworde libertie to deſtroy you.

18 And I wil giue thoſe men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which thei had made before me, when thei [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and paſſed betwene the partes thereof.

[h] As touching this maner of ſolemne couenant which the Ancient vſed by paſſing betwene the two partes of a beaſt, to ſignifie that ỹ tranſgreſſor of the ſame couenant ſhulde be ſo diuided in pieces, read Ge 15.10.

19 The princes of Iudáh, and the princes of Ieruſalém, the Eunuches, and the Prieſtes, and all the people of the land, which paſſed betwene the partes of the calfe, 20 I wil euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of thē that ſeke their life: and their dead bodies ſhalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, and his princes wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thē that ſeke their life, & into the hand of the King of Babels hoſte, ẅ [i] are gone vp from you.

[i] To fight againſt ỹ Egyptians, as Chap. 37.11.

22 Beholde, I wil cōmande, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to returne to this citie, and thei ſhal fight againſt it, and take it, and burne it with fyre: and I wil make ỹ cities of Iudáh deſolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He propoſeth the obedience of the Rechabites, & thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

1 THe worde which came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, in the daies [a] of Iehoiakím the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh, ſaying,

[a] For the diſpoſition and order of theſe prophecies, read, Chap 27. 1

2 Go vnto the houſe of the [b] Rechabites, & ſpeake vnto them, & bring them into the Houſe of ỹ Lord into one of the chābers, and giue them wine to drinke.

[b] Thei came of Hobáb Moſes father in law, who was no Iſraelite, but after ioyned with them in the ſeruice of God.

3 Then toke I Iaazaniáh, the ſonne of Ieremiáh the ſonne of Habazziniáh, and his brethren, and all his ſonnes, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites,

4 And I broght them into ỹ Houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſonnes of Hanán, the ſonne of Igdaliáh a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaſeiáh the ſonne of Shallúm, the keper of the [d] treaſure.

[c] That is, a Prophete.

[d] Or, dore.

5 And I ſet before the ſonnes of the houſe of the Rechabites, pottes ful of wine, and cuppes, and [d] ſaid vnto them, Drinke wine.

[d] The Prophet ſaith not, The Lord ſaith thus: for then thei ought to haue obeyed. but he tendeth to another end: ỹ is, to declare their obedience to man, ſeing the Iewes wolde not obey God him ſelfe

6 But thei ſaid, We wil drinke no wine: for [e] Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb our father commanded vs, ſaying, [f] Ye ſhal drinke no wine, nether you nor your ſonnes for euer.

[e] Whome Iehu the King of Iſrael fauored for his zeale, 2 King 10.15

[f] Teaching them hereby to flee all occaſiō of intemperaancie, ambicion and auarice, and that thei might knowe that thei were ſtrangers in ỹ earth, and be ready to departe at all occaſions

7 Nether ſhal ye buylde houſe, nor ſowe ſede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye ſhal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus haue we obeied ỹ voice of Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb our father, in all that he hathe charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, nether we, our wiues, our ſonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Nether buylde we houſes for vs to dwell in, nether haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor ſede,

10 But we haue remained in tētes, and haue obeied, & done according to [g] all that Ionadáb our father commanded vs.

[g] Which was now for the ſpace of thre hundreth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél came vp into the land, we ſaid, Come, and let vs go to Ieruſalém, from the hoſte of the Caldeans, and from the hoſte of Arám: ſo we [h] dwell at Ieruſalém.

[h] Which declareth that thei were not ſo bound to their vowe, that it colde not be broke for any neceſsitie: for where thei were recōmanded to dwel in tētes, thei dwel now at Ieruſalém for feare of ỹ warres

12 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Go, and tel the men of Iudáh, and the inhabitans of Ieruſalém, Wil ye [i] not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, ſaith the Lord?

[i] Whome I haue choſen to be my childré, ſeing these ẅ were the children of an heathen man, obeied the commandement of their father?

14 The cōmandement of Ionadáb the ſonne of Recháb that he cōmanded his ſonnes, that thei ſhulde drike no wine, is ſurely kept: for vnto this day thei drike none, but obey their fathers commandement:

notwithſtanding I haue ſpoken vnto you, k rifing early, and ſpeaking, but ye wolde not obeie me.
15 I haue ſent alſo vnto you all my ſeruan-tes the Prophetes, riſing vp early, and ſen-ding them, ſaying, *Returne now euerie mā from his euil waie, and amende your wor-kes, and go not after other gods to ſeiue them, & ye ſhal dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye wolde not incline your eare, nor o-beie me.
16 Surely the ſonnes of Ionadáb the ſonne of Rechāb, haue kept ỹ cōmandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hathe not obeied me.
17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, ỹ God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil bring vp-on Iudáh, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ieruſalém, all ỹ euil that I haue pronounced againſt them, becauſe I haue l ſpoken vnto them, but thei wolde not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but thei wolde not anſwer.
18 And Ieremiáh ſaid to the houſe of the Rechabites, Thus ſaith ỹ Lord of hoſtes thē God of Iſraél, Becauſe ye haue obeied the commandement of Ionadáb your father, and kept all his precepts, and done ac cording vnto all that he hathe commanded you,
19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſraél, Ionadáb the ſonne of Rechāb ſhal m not want a man, to ſtād before me for euer.

k I haue moſt diligently exhorted & warned you bothe by my ſelfe & my Prophetes. Chap 18,11. & 25,5.

l That is by his Prophets & miniſters: which ſheweth that it is as muche as thogh he ſhulde ſpeake to vs him ſelfe, whenſoeuer he ſendeth his miniſters to ſpeake in his Name.

m His poſterītie ſhal continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Barúch writeth as Ieremiáh enditeth, the boke of the curſes againſt Iudáh and Iſraél. 9 He is ſent with the boke vnto the people and readeth it before them all, 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before thē alſo. 23 The King caſteth it in the fyre. 28 There is another writen at the commandement of the Lord.

a Read Chap. 1 25,1.

AND in the fourth a yere of Iehoiakím the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, ſaying, 2 Take thee a roole or boke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue ſpoken to thee againſt Iſraél, & againſt Iudáh, and a-gainſt all the nacions, from the daie that I ſpake vnto thee, euen b from the daies of Ioſiáh vnto this daie.
3 It maie be that the houſe of Iudáh wil heare of all the euil, which I determined to do vnto them that thei may ſeturne euerie man from his euil waie, that I maie forgiue their iniquitie and their ſinnes.
4 Then Ieremiáh called Barúch the ſonne of Neriáh, and Barúch wrote c at ỹ mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the Lord, which he had ſpoken vnto him, vpō a roole or boke.
5 And Ieremiáh cōmanded Barúch, ſaying,
I am ſhut vp, d & can not go into ỹ Hou-ſe of the Lord.
6 Therefore go thou, and read the roole wherein thou haſt writen at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords Houſe vpon the e faſting day: alſo thou ſhalt read them in the hearing of all Iudáh, ỹ come out of their cities.
7 It may be that thei wil f pray before the Lord, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for the angre & the wrath, that the Lord hathe declared againſt this people.
So Barúch the ſonne of Neriáh did according vnto all, that Ieremiáh ỹ Prophet commanded him, reading in the boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords Houſe.
9 ¶ And in the fift g yere of Iehoiakím the ſonne of Ioſiáh King of Iudáh, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Ieruſalém, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudáh vnto Ieruſalém.
10 Then red Barúch in the boke the wor-des of Ieremiáh in the Houſe of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariáh the ſonne of Shaphán the ſecretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the h newe gate of the Lords
Houſe, in the hearing of all the people.
11 When Michaiáh the ſonne of Gemariáh, the ſonne of Shaphán had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord, 12 Then he went downe to the Kings hou-ſe into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all ỹ princes ſate there, euen Eliſhamá the Chancellour, & Delaiáh the ſonne of She-maiáh, and Elnathán ỹ ſonne of Achbór, and Gemariáh the ſonne of Shaphán, and Zedekiáh the ſonne of Hananiáh, and all the princes.
13 Then Michaiáh declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard whē Barúch red in the boke in the audience of the people.
14 Therefore all the princes ſent Iehudí the ſonne of Nethaniáh, the ſonne of Shelemiáh, the ſonne of Chuſhí, vnto Barúch, ſaying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou haſt red in the audience of the people, and come. So Barúch the ſonne of Neriáh, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.
15 And thei ſaid vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Barúch red it in their audience.
16 Now when thei had heard all the wor-des, they where i afraied bothe one and other, and ſaid vnto Barúch, We wil cer-tifie the King of all theſe wordes.
17 And thei examined Barúch, ſaying, Tel vs now, how dideſt ỹ write all theſe wor-des at his mouth.

b Which were twenty and thre yere, as Cha 25,3 counting from the thirteenth yere of Ioſiahs retgne.

c As he did ſudite.

d Meaning, in priſō, through the malice of the Prieſtes.

e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their cuſtome was when thei ſe redwar re or any great plague of God f He ſheweth that faſting without prair and repentāce auaileth nothing, but is mere hypocriſie.

g The faſt was then proclaimed, and Barúch red this roole, which was a litle before that Ieruſalém was firſt taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his cōpanions were led away captiues.

h Which is ỹ Eaſt gate of the Temple.

i The godlie were afraid, ſeing God ſo offended, & the wicked were aſtonied for ỹ horror of the puniſhement.

18 Then

28 Then Barúch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the boke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Barúch, Go, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiáh, and let no man knowe where ye be.

k Thei ỹ were godlie among the princes, gaue this counsel, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiáh was deliuered: for thei knewe the rage of ỹ King and of ỹ wicked to be such that they colde not escape without dãger of their liues.

20 ¶ And thei wẽt in to the Kíg to ỹ court, but thei laied vp ỹ roole in the chãbre of Elishamá the Chancellour & tolde ỹ King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudí to fet ỹ roole, & he toke it out of Elishamá the Chancellors chambre, and Iehudi red it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winter house, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

l Which contained parte of Nouember & parte of Decẽber.

23 And when Iehudi had red thre, or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fyre, that was on the herth vntil all the roole was cõsumed in the fyre, that was on the herth.

m Shewing, ỹ the wicked in stead of repenting, when thei heare Gods iudgements, grow into farther malice against him and his wordes.

24 Yet thei were not afraid, nor rent [m] their garments, nether the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathán, and Delaiáh, and Gemariáh had besought the King, that he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeél the sonne of Hammélech, & Seraiáh the sonne of Azriél, & Shelemiáh the sonne of Abdiél, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiáh the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

n Thus we se the continual care, that God hathe euer ouer his to preserue them frõ the rage of the wicked.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Ieremiáh (after that the King had burnt the roole and the wordes ẅ Barúch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiáh) saying,

o Thogh the wicked thinke to haue abolished the worde of God, when they haue burnt the boke thereof: yet this declareth that God wil not onely raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as vers. 32.

28 Take thee againe [o] another roole and write in it all ỹ former wordes that were in the first roole which Iehoiakím ỹ King of Iudáh hathe burnt,

p Theſe are Iehoiakims wordes

29 And ỹ shalt say to Iehoiakím Kíg of Iudáh, Thus saith ỹ Lord, Thou hast burnt this roole, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the King of Babél shal certeinly come and destroye this land, and shal take thence bothe man and beast?

q Thogh Iehoiachin his sone succeeded hi, yet because he reigned but thre moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne r Ad Chap. 22.19.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh, He shal haue [q] none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead bodie shalbe cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I wil visite him and his sede, and his seruãtes for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitans of Ierusalém, & vpon the men of Iudáh all the euil that I haue pronoũced against them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Ieremiáh another roole, and gaue it Barúch the scribe ỹ sonne of Neriáh, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the boke which Iehoiakím Kíg of Iudáh had burnt in the fyre, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiáh succeded Ieconiáh. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiáh to praye for him. 12 Ieremiáh, going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

1 AND [*] Kíg Zedekiáh the sonne of Iosiáh reigned for [a] Coniáh the sonne of Iehoiakím, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél [b] made King in the land of Iudáh.

2. King 24, 17. 2 chro. 36, 10. chap 52, 1.

a Who was called Iehoiachín or Iecomiáh

b And called him Zedekiáh where as before his name was Mattaniáh 2 King 24, 17.

2 But nether he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land wolde obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the "ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiáh.

"Ebr hand

3 And Zedekiáh the King [c] sent Iehucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, and Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseiáh the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord out God for vs.

c Because he was afraid of the Caldeans that came against him

4 (Now Ieremiáh [d] went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

d That is, was out of prison and at liberte.

5 Thẽ Pharaohs hoste was [e] come out of Egypt: and whẽ the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalém, heard tidings of them, thei "departed from Ierusalém)

e To helpe the Iewes.

"Ebr. went vp.

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudáh, ỹ sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forthe to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shal come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it & burne it with fyre.

9 Thus saith the Lord, [*] Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely departe from vs: for thei shal not departe.

Or, lift not vp your minder.

10 For thogh ye had smiten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet shulde euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fyre.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalém, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiáh went out of Ierusalém to go into the [f] land of Beniamín, separating him self thence from among the people.

f As some thinke, to go to Anathoth his owne towne.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Beniamín, there was a chief officer, whose name was Iriáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Hananiáh, and he toke Ieremiáh the Prophet, saying, Thou "flest to the Caldeans.

g By ỹ which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

"Ebr falleſt.

14 Then ſaid Ieremiáh, That is falſe, I flee not to the Caldeás: but he wolde not heare him: ſo Iriiáh toke Ieremiáh, and broght him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiáh, and ſmote him, and laid him in priſon in the houſe of Iehonathán the ſcribe: for they had made that the h priſon.

h Becauſe it was a vile and ſtraite priſon.

16 When Ieremiáh was entred into the dõgeon, and into the priſons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiáh the King ſent, and toke him out, and the King aſked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiáh ſaid, Yea: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babél.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiáh ſaid vnto King Zedekiáh, What haue I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſeruants, or againſt this people, that ye haue put me in priſon?

Chap. 28. 4. 19 *Where are now your Prophetes, which prophecied vnto you, ſaying, The King of Babél ſhal not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, ô my lord the King: let my prayer "be accepted before thee, that thou cauſe me not to returne to the houſe of Iehonathán the ſcribe, leſt I dye there.

"Ebr fall.

21 Then Zedekiáh the King commanded, that they ſhulde put Ieremiáh in the court of the priſon, and that they ſhulde giue him daiely a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtrete vntil all the i bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiáh remained in the court of the priſon.

i That is, ſo long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God prouideth for his ẏ he wil cauſe their enemies to preſerue them to ẏ end whereunto he hathe appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the mocion of the rulers Ieremiáh is put into a dongeon. 14 At the requeſt of Ebed-mélech the King commandeth Ieremiáh to be broght forthe of the dongeon. 17 Ieremiáh ſheweth the King how he might eſcape death.

1 THen Shephatiáh the ſonne of Mattán, and Gedaliáh the ſonne of Paſhhúr, and Iucál the ſonne of Shelemiáh, & Paſhhúr the ſonne of a Malchiáh, heard the wordes that Ieremiáh had ſpoken vnto all the people, ſaying, a For Zedekiáh had ſent theſe to Ieremiáh to inquire at the Lord for the ſtate of the cõtrey now whẽ Nebuchad-nezzár came, as Chap 21, 1 2 Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, ſhal dye by the ſworde, by the famine and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forthe to the Caldeans, ſhal liue: for he ſhal haue his life for b a pray, and ſhal liue.

b Read Chap. 21, 9.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This citie ſhal ſurely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which ſhal take it.

c Or, diſcouraged.

4 Therefore the princes ſaid vnto ẏ King, We beſeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he c weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuche wordes vnto them: for this man ſeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

d Thus we ſe how the wicked whẽ they can not abide to heare ẏ truth of Gods worde, ſeke to put the miniſters to death as tranſgreſſors of politiqs.

5 Then Zedekiáh the King ſaid, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can denie d you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuouſly offended in that that not onely he wolde not heare the truth ſpoken by ẏ Prophet, but alſo gaue him to ẏ luſts of the wicked to be cruelly intreated

6 Then toke they Ieremiáh, and caſt him into the dongeon of Malchiáh the ſonne of Hammélech, that was in the court of the priſon: and they let downe Ieremiáh with coards: and in the dongeon there was no water but myre: ſo Ieremiáh ſtacke faſt in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-mélech the "blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings houſe, heard that they had put Ieremiáh in the dongeon (then the King ſate in the e gate of Beniamín)

"Ebr. Cuſhite, or Ethiopian.

e To heare matters & giue ſentence.

8 And Ebed-mélech wẽt out of the Kings houſe, and ſpake to the King, ſaying, 9 My lord the King, f theſe men haue done euil in all ẏ they haue done to Ieremiáh the Prophet, whome they haue caſt into ẏ dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

f Hereby is declared that the Prophet founde more fauour at this ſtrãgers hands then he did by all them of his cõtrey which was to their great condemnatiõ.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-mélech ẏ blacke More, ſaying, Take frõ hence thirtie men "with thee, and take Ieremiáh the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

"Ebr vnder thine hand.

11 So Ebed-mélech toke the men with him and went to the houſe of the King vnder the treaſurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dongeon to Ieremiáh.

12 And Ebed-mélech the blacke More ſaid vnto Ieremiáh, Put now theſe olde rotten ragges and worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes. And Ieremiáh did ſo.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiáh with coardes and toke him vp out of the dongeon, and Ieremiáh remained in g the court of the priſon.

g Where the King had ſet him before to be at more libertie, as Chap 37. 21.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiáh the King ſent, and toke Ieremiáh the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the Houſe of the Lord, & the Kĩg ſaid vnto Ieremiáh, I wil aſke thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiáh ſaid to Zedekiáh, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou ſlaye me? and if I giue thee counſel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King ſware ſecretly vnto Ieremiáh, ſaying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs theſe ſoules, I wil not ſlaie thee, nor giue thee into the hands of thoſe men that ſeke thy life.

17 Then ſaid Ieremiáh vnto Zedekiáh, Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, ẏ God of Iſraél, If thou wilt go forthe vnto the King h And yelde thy ſelf vnto them.

King of Babels h princes, then thy ſoule ſhal liue, and this citie ſhal not be burnt vp with fyre, and thou ſhalt liue, and thine houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not go forthe to ỹ King of Babels princes, then ſhal this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and thei ſhal burne it with fyre, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiáh the King ſaid vnto Ieremiáh, I am careful for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, leſt thei deliuer me into their hands, and thei i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproche of men, then ỹ threatenings of God.

20 But Ieremiáh ſaid, Thei ſhal not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lord, I beſeche thee, which I ſpeake vnto thee: ſo ſhal it be wel vnto thee, and thy ſoule ſhal liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to go forthe, this is the worde ỹ the Lord hathe ſhewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the King of Iudahs houſe, ſhalbe broght forthe to ỹ King of Babels princes: and thoſe women ſhal ſay, Thy frendes haue perſuaded thee, and haue preuailed againſt thee: thy fete are faſtened in the myre, and thei are turned backe.

k When Ieconiáh and his mother with others were caryed away, the fewe ome of the Kings houſe were left: ẅ ſhalbe taken, ſaith the Prophet, and tel ỹ King of Babél how Zedekiáh hathe bene ſeduced by his familiar friéds and falſe Prophetes, which haue léft him in the myre.

23 So thei ſhal bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the King of Babél: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to be burnt with fyre.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiáh vnto Ieremiáh, Let no man knowe of theſe wordes, and thou ſhalt not dye.

25 But if the princes vnderſtand that I haue talked with thee, and thei come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou haſt ſaid vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we wil not ſlay thee: alſo what the King ſaid vnto thee,

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly l beſoght the King that he wolde not cauſe me to returne to Iehonathans houſe, to dye there.

l Herein, appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did diſſemble to ſaue his life albeit it was not to the denial of his doctrine, or to ỹ hurte of any.

27 Thẽ came all the princes vnto Ieremiáh and aſked him. And he tolde them according to all theſe wordes that ỹ King had commanded: ſo thei left of ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Ieremiáh abode ſtil in ỹ court of the priſon, vntil the day that Ieruſalém was taken: and he was there, when Ieruſalém was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Nebuchad-nezzár beſiegeth Ieruſalém. 4 Zedekiáh fleing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His ſonnes are ſlaine. 7 His eyes are thruſt out. 11 Ieremiáh is prouided for. 15 Ebed-mélech is deliuered from captiuitie.

8. King. 25, 1. & chap. 52, 4.

IN* the ninth yere of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh in ỹ tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél and all his hoſte againſt Ieruſalém, and thei beſieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiáh in the fourth moneth, the ninth daie of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

a The gates & wales were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the King of Babél came in, and ſate in the middle gate, euen Neregál, Sharézer, Samgar-nébo, Sarſechím, Rab-ſarís, Neregál, Sharézer, Rab-mag with all the reſidue of the princes of the King of Babél.

4 And when Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh ſawe them, and all the men of warre, then thei fled, & went out of the citie by night, through the Kings garden, & by the b gate betwene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

b Which was a poſterne dore, read 2 Kig. 25, 4.

5 But the Caldeans hoſte purſued after them, and ouertoke Zedekiáh in the deſert of Ierichó: and when thei had taken him, thei broght him to Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél vnto c Ribláh in the land of Hamáth, where he gaue iudgemẽt vpon him.

c which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the King of Babél ſlewe the ſonnes of Zedekiáh in Ribláh before his eyes: alſo the King of Babél ſlewe all the nobles of Iudáh.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chames, to carye him to Babél.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings houſe, and the houſes of the people with fyre, and brake downe the walles of Ieruſalém.

9 Then Nebuzar-adán the d chief ſteward caryed away captiue into Babél the remnãt of the people, that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

d Or, captaine of the garde.

10 But Nebuzar-adán ỹ chief ſteward left the e poore that had nothing in the land of Iudáh, and gaue them vineyardes and fields at the ſame time.

e For ỹ riche & the mighty ẅ put their truſt in their ſhuldes & meanes, were by Gods iuſt iudgements moſte rigorouſly handled 11 Now Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél gaue charge concerning Ieremiáh "vnto Nebuzar-adán ỹ chief ſteward, ſaying, "Ebr by the hand of 12 Take him, and "loke wel to him, and do him no harme, but do vnto him f euen as he ſhal ſay vnto thee.

"Ebr ſet thine eyes vpon him.

f Thus God preſerued his Prophet by his meanes, whome he made ỹ ſcourge to puniſh the King, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adán the chief ſteward ſent and Nebuſhazbán, Rabſaris, & Neregál, Sharézer, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen thei ſent, and toke Ieremiáh out of the court of the priſon, and cõmitted him vnto g Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám the ſonne of Shaphán, that he ſhulde carie him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

g Whome the King of Babél had now appointed gouernour ouer the reſt of the Iewes that he left behinde.

15 Now ỹ worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh, while he was ſhut vp in ỹ court of the priſon, ſaying,

16 Go & ſpeake to Ebed-mélech the blacke More, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, Beholde, I wil bring my wordes vpon this citie for euil, and not for good, and thei ſhalbe accompliſhed in that daie before thee.

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that daie, ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou feareſt.

18 For I wil ſurely deliuer thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſworde, but thy life ſhalbe for a pray vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

g Thus God recompenſed his zeale and fauour, which he ſhewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

Ieremiáh hathe licence to go whether he wil. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliáh.

1 THe worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord after that Nebuzaradan the chief ſteward had let him go frō Ramáth, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caryed awaie captiue of Ieruſalém and Iudáh, which were caryed awaie captiue vnto Babél.

a From this ſecōde verſ vnto chap 42,7 it ſeemeth to be as a parenthesis, and ſeparated matter: & there this ſtorie beginneth again, & this viſiō is declared what it was.

2 a And the chief ſteward toke Ieremiáh, and ſaid vnto him, The Lord thy God hathe pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hathe broght it, & done according as he hathe ſaid: becauſe ye haue b ſinned againſt the Lord, and haue not obeied his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

b God moued this infidele to ſpeake this, to declare the great blindnes and obſtinacie of the Iewes, which colde not fele that which this heathen man confeſſed.

4 And now beholde, I loſe thee this daie from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it pleaſe thee to come with me into Babél, come, and I wil loke wel vnto thee: but if it pleaſe thee not to come with me into Babél, "tary ſtil: beholde, all the land is °before thee: whether it ſemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thether go.

"Or ceaſe.

°Or, as thy commandement.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he ſaid, Returne to Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, the ſonne of Shaphán, whome the King of Babél hathe made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudáh, and dwell with him among the people, or go whereſoeuer it pleaſeth thee to go. So the chief ſteward gaue him vitailes and a rewarde, and let him go.

6 Then went Ieremiáh vnto Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, c to Mizpáh, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

c Which was a citie of Iudáh.

7 Now when all the captaines of the hoſte, d which were in the fields, euen thei and their men heard, that the King of Babél had made Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caryed away captiue to Babél, d Which were ſcattered abroad for feare of the Caldeans.

8 Then they came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, euen e Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh, and Iohanán, and Ionathán the ſonnes of Karéah, and Seraiáh the ſonne of Tanehuméth, and the ſonnes of Ephái, the Netophathite, and Iezaniáh the ſonne of Maachathí, thei and their men.

e Who was of the Kings blood and after ſlew him, Cha. 41.2.

9 And Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, the ſonne of Shaphán * ſware vnto them, and to their men, ſaying, Feare not to ſerue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerue the King of Babél, and it ſhalbe wel with you.

* 2. King. 25.24

10 As for me, beholde, I wil dwell at Mizpáh to f ſerue the Caldeans, which wil come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and ſommer frutes, and oyle, and put them in your veſſels, & dwell in your citties, that ye haue g taken.

f Or, to receiue them, or to intreat them for vs.

g Or, choſen to dwel in.

11 Likewiſe when all the Iewes that were in h Moáb, and among the Ammonites, and in Edóm, and that were in all the countreis, heard that the King of Babél had left a remnant of Iudáh, and that he had ſet ouer them Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám the ſonne of Shaphán, h Which were fled alſo for feare of the Caldeans.

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where thei were driuen, and came to the land of Iudáh to Gedaliáh vnto Mizpáh, and gathered wine and ſommer frutes, very muche.

13 Moreouer Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, 14 And ſaid vnto him, Knoweſt thou not that i Baalís the King of the Ammonites hathe ſent Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh to ſlay thee? But Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám beleued them not.

i For vnder the colour of interteining of Iſhmaél he ſoghe onely to make the to deſtroy one another.

15 Then Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah ſpake to Gedaliáh in Mizpáh ſecretly, ſaying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I wil ſlay Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh, and no man ſhal knowe it. Wherefore ſhulde he kyl thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, ſhulde be ſcattered, and the remnant in Iudáh periſh?

k Thus the godlie, which thinke no harme to others, are ſoneſt deceiued & neuer lacke ſuch as conſpire their deſtruction.

16 But Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám ſaid vnto Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, Thou ſhalt k not do this thing: for thou ſpeakeſt falſely of Iſhmaél.

CHAP. XLI.

Iſhmaél killeth Gedaliáh guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Iſhmaél.

1 BVt in the a ſeuenth moneth came Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh, the a The citie was deſtroied in the fourth moneth and in the ſeuēth moneth, which cōteined part of September, & part of October, was the gouernour Gedaliáh ſlaine.

ſonne of Eliſhamá of the ſede royal, and the princes of the [b] King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám to Mizpáh, and there thei did [c] eate bread together in Mizpáh.

[b] Meaning, Zedekiáh.

[c] They did eate together as familiar friends.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh with theſe ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám the ſonne of Shaphán with the ſworde, and ſlewe him, whome the King of Babél had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Iſhmaél alſo ſlewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliáh at Mizpáh, & all the Caldeans that were founde there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the ſeconde daie that he had ſlaine Gedaliáh, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechém, frō Shilóh, & from Samaria, euen foure ſcoremen, hauing their beardes ſhauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offrings and incenſe in their hands to offre in the Houſe of the Lord.

[d] For they thoght that ỹ Temple had not beene deſtroied, & therefore came vp to the feaſt of Tabernacles.

6 And Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh went forthe from Mizpáh to mete them, weping as he went: & when he met them, he ſaid vnto them, Come [e] to Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám.

[e] But hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they ſhewed theſe ſignes of ſorowe.

7 And when thei came into the middes of the citie, Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh ſlewe thē, and caſt them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

[e] For his death was kept ſecret, & he fained that he lamented for the deſtructiō of Ieruſalém & the Temple: but after ſlewe ihē when thei ſemed to fauour Gedaliáh

8 But ten men were founde among them, that ſaid vnto Iſhmaél, Slay vs not: for we haue treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: ſo he ſtaied, and ſlewe them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmaél had caſt the dead bodies of the men (whome he had ſlaine becauſe of Gedaliáh) is it, which Aſá the King had [f] made becauſe of Baſhá King of Iſráel, and Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh filled it with them that were ſlaine.

[f] Aſa fortified Mizpáh for feare of the enemie, and caſt dyches & trenches, 1. King. 15.22.

10 Then Iſhmaél caryed away captiue all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpáh, euen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpáh, whome Nebuzar-adán the chief ſteward had cōmitted to Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, and Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh caryed them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, & all the [g] captaines of the hoſte that were with him, heard of all the euil that Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh had done, [g] Which had beene captaines vnder Zedekiáh.

12 Then they all toke their men, and went to fight with Iſhmaél ỹ ſonne of Nethaniáh, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeón.

13 Now when all the people whome Iſhmaél caryed away captiue, ſawe Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Iſhmaél had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanán the ſonne of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh, eſcaped from Iohanán with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

[h] For Baalis ỹ King of the Ammonites was the cauſe of this murther.

16 Thē toke Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, & all the captaines of the hoſte, that were with him all the remnant of the people, whome Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh, had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, (after that he had ſlaine Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám) euen the ſtrong men of warre, and the women, and the children, & the eunuches, whome he had broght againe from Gibeón:

17 And thei departed and dwelt in Gerúth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-léhem, to go & to entre into Egypt,

[i] Which place Dauid of olde had giuen to Chimhám the ſonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2. Sam. 19.38.

18 Becauſe of the Caldeans: for they feared them, becauſe Iſhmaél the ſonne of Nethaniáh had ſlaine Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, whome the King of Babél made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aſke counſel of Ieremiáh what they ought to do. 7. He admoniſheth the remnant of the people not to go into Egypt.

1 THen all the captaines of the hoſte, and Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, & Iezaniáh the ſonne of Hoſhaiáh, and all the people from the leaſt vnto the moſte came, ugh let my prayer fall before thee, as Chap 36.7

2 And ſaid vnto Ieremiáh ỹ Prophet, "Heare our prayer, we beſeche thee, & pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euē for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of manie, as thine eyes do beholde)

a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which wold de knowe of Gods worde what they ſhulde do, but wil not follow it, but in aſmuche as it agreeth with ỹ thing which they haue purpoſed to do.

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may [a] do.

4 Then Ieremiáh the Prophet ſaid vnto them, I haue heard you: beholde, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatſoeuer thing the Lord ſhal anſwer you, I wil declare it vn to you: I wil kepe nothing backe frō you.

b There are none more ready to abuſe ỹ Name of God and take it in vaine, thē the hypocrites, ỹ to colour their falſehode vſe it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the ſimple, and the godlie.

5 Then they ſaid to Ieremiáh, [b] The Lord be a witnes of trueth, and faith betwene vs, if we do not, euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God ſhal ſend thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euil, we wil obey the voyce of the Lord God, to whome we ſend thee that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

c Here is declared the viſion & the occaſiõ thereof, whereof mencion was made, Chap 40,1.

7 ¶ c And ſo after ten dayes came ỹ worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh.

8 Then called he Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the moſte,

9 And ſaid vnto thẽ, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſraél, vnto whome ye ſent me to preſent your prayers before him, 10 If ye wil dwell in this land, then I wil buyld you, and not deſtroye you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I d repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

d Read Chap. 18,8.

11 Feare not for the King of Babél, of whome ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you, to ſaue you, and to deliuer you e from his hand, e Becauſe all Kings hearts and wates are in his hands, he can turne them & diſpoſe them as it pleaſeth him, and therefore they nede not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prou. 21,1 Or, Ieremiáh.

12 And I wil grant you mercie that he may haue compaſsion vpon you, and he ſhal cauſe you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye ſay, We wil not dwell in this land, nether heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we wil go into the lãd of Egypt, where we ſhal ſe no warre, nor heare the ſounde of the trumpet, nor hãr hungre of bread, and there wil we dwell,

15 (And now therefore héare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudáh: thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſraél, If ye ſet your faces to entre into Egypt, and go to dwell there) f Thus God turneth ỹ policie of the wicked to their owne deſtruction. for they thoght thẽſelues ſure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzár deſtroyed them, and the Egyptians, Chap. 46,25.

16 Then the ſworde that ye feared, f ſhal take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for ỹ which ye care, ſhal there hãg vpõ you in Egypt, & there ſhal ye dye.

17 And all the men that ſet their faces to entre into Egypt to dwell there, ſhal dye by the ſworde, by the famine & by ỹ peſtilence, & none of them ſhal remaine nor eſcape frõ the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

g Read Chap. 26,6 & 24,22. ſhewing that this ſhulde come vpon them for their infidelitie & ſtubbornes.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes ỹ God of Iſraél, As mine angre and my wrath hathe bene powred forthe vpõ the inhabitants of Ieruſalém: ſo ſhal my wrath be powred forthe vpõ you, when ye ſhal entre into Egypt, & ye ſhalbe a deteſtation, & an aſtoniſhmẽt, and a g curſſe, and a reproche, and ye ſhal ſe this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudáh, the Lord hathe ſaid concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certeinly that I haue admoniſhed you this day.

h For you were fully minded to go into Egypt, whatſoeuer God ſpake to the contrarie.

20 Surely ye h diſſembled in your hearts when ye ſent me vnto the Lord your God, ſaying, Pray for vs vnto ỹ Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God ſhal ſay, and we wil do it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor anie thing for the which he hathe ſent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore, knowe certeinely that ye ſhal dye by the ſworde, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, i in the place whether ye deſire to go and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanán caryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Ieremiáh. 8 Ieremiah prophecieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

1 NOw whẽ Ieremiáh had made an end of ſpeaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which ỹ Lord their God had ſent him to them, euen all theſe wordes, a Who was alſo called Iezaniáh, Chap. 42,1 2 Then a ſpake Azariáh the ſonne of Hoſhaiáh, and Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah and all the b proude men, ſaying vnto Ieremiáh, c Thou ſpeakeſt falſly: the Lord our God hathe d not ſent thee to ſay, Go not into Egypt to dwell there, b This declareth that pride is the cauſe of rebellion, & contempt of Gods miniſters

c When the hypocriſie of the wicked is diſcouered their braſt forthe into open rage: for they cãnot abide nothing but flatteries, read Iſa. 30,10.

d He ſheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to fame that they wolde obey God and imbrace his worde, if they were aſſured that his meſſengers ſpake the trueth: thogh in dede they be moſte farre from all obedience.

3 But Baruch the ſonne of Neriáh e prouoketh thee againſt vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might ſlaye vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babél.

e Thus the wicked do not onely condemne, & hurt the meſſengers of God, but ſclander, and ſpeake wickedly of all thẽ that ſupport or fauour the godlie.

4 So Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudáh.

5 But Iohanán the ſonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoſte toke all ỹ remnant of Iudáh, that were returned from all f nacions, whether they had bene driuẽ, to dwell in the land of Iudáh:

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap 40,11.

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euerie perſone, that Nebuzar-adán the chief ſteward had left with Gedaliáh the ſonne of Ahikám, the ſonne of Shaphán, and Ieremiáh g the Prophet, & Baruch the ſonne of Neriáh.

g Whome thefe wicked led away by force.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they h to Tahpanhes.

h A citie in Egypt nere to Nilus.

8 ¶ Thẽ came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh in Tahpanhes, ſaying,

9 Take great ſtones in thine hand, and i hide them in the clay in the bricke kil, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs houſe in Tahpanhes in the ſight of the men of Iudáh, i Which ſignified that Nebuchad-nezzár ſhuld come eũe to the gates of Pharaoh, where were his bricke killes for his buyldings.
