1. To deny the resurrection would be to say that Jesus Christ is not risen. The point is this: it is absurd to argue that God cannot raise up a dead body; He has already done it. He has already raised up a Man, the Man Christ Jesus. Paul declares loudly and clearly to every person who questions and disbelieves the resurrection of the human body: "Suppose there can be no resurrection of dead bodies. Do you know what this means? If there can not be a resurrection—if God cannot raise dead bodies—then it means that the resurrection of Christ never took place. A terrible consequence!"

The point is clearly stated: since a resurrection has taken place, the resurrection of the Man Christ Jesus, a future resurrection can take place. God can raise up bodies in the future just as He raised up the body of Jesus Christ.

2. To deny the resurrection (either of Christ or of us) means that our preaching is vain. The word "vain" (kenon) means empty, groundless, void of all truth and meaning. How does denying the resurrection of the body make our preaching meaningless? There are two ways.

- a. The message we preach is the gospel (good news) of the resurrected Lord who has been raised to give us the glorious privilege:
  - ⇒ of living forever in the presence of God.
  - ⇒ of having a personal face to face relationship with God.
  - ⇒ of being made perfect and serving God face to face in a new heavens and earth.

There is no way disembodied spirits can serve God. What is a disembodied spirit anyway? It takes a body, a whole and real person to serve God. If we are not to be whole and real persons then we cannot be alive and serving God. The only way we can live with God eternally is for God to resurrect our bodies and make them perfect by changing their corruptible nature into an incorruptible nature.

Therefore, to deny the resurrection of Christ or of believers is to deny what we preach. Our preaching of the resurrected Lord and of our living forever is empty and meaningless. We may as well be doing something else; there is no need to preach a false hope.

- b. The message we preach is that Jesus Christ is the Son of God who died for our sins and rose again conquering death for us. The fact that God raised Him from the dead is the glorious proof that He is the Son of God, the proof that God accepted His sacrifice for our sins (Ro.1:4). If Christ did not arise, then it means that God left Him in the grave, that He is no more than what other men are, a man doomed to die and remain in the grave forever with all other men. But if God did raise Christ up from the grave, then it means that death is conquered and that He will raise us up to live forever with Him.

The point is this: if there is no resurrection—no resurrection of Christ and no resurrection of us—then the consequence is terrible. Jesus Christ is not the Son of God. What we are preaching is empty and meaningless. We may as well keep quiet.

3. To deny the resurrection of Christ means that our faith is vain, that it is empty, groundless, and meaningless. If Christ is in the grave, then our faith is in a dead man, and no dead man can save a living man. We are doomed, for we are following a mere man, a man who is still dead and lying in a grave. Our faith is empty, groundless, and meaningless.

4. To deny the resurrection of Christ means that we are bearing a false witness, that we are deliberately lying. Very simply, the apostles bore strong testimony that Jesus Christ had been resurrected from the dead. If He did not arise, then they were liars. They were either lying or simply bearing witness to that which they had seen.

Now note the point, the last clause of the verse: if the dead do not arise, then Christ is not raised. This is clearly seen. Jesus Christ died; He was dead and buried in a grave:

- ⇒ If the dead can be raised, then Christ arose.
- ⇒ If the dead cannot be raised, then Christ did not arise.

If God can raise up the dead, then the very first person He would raise up would naturally be His own dear Son. And if He raised up His own Son, then He is bound to raise us up since His Son died to free us from death.

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain: whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it” (Acts 2:23-24).

“But ye denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murderer to be granted unto you; and killed the Prince of life, whom God hath raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses” (Acts 3:14-15).

“And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all” (Acts 4:33).

“And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree: him God raised up the third day, and showed him openly; not to all the people but unto witnesses chosen before of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead” (Acts 10:39-41).

“And Paul as his manner was, went in unto them, and three sabbath days reasoned with them out of the scriptures, opening and alleging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ” (Acts 17:2-3).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:4).

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour” (1 Th.4:4).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

3 (15:16-19) Resurrection, The—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the second set of consequences. In this particular set of consequences four severe things are said to happen if we deny the resurrection of the dead.

1. To deny the resurrection would be to say that Christ is not raised. If Christ arose, then we too shall arise just as He arose; if Christ did not arise, then we will not arise.

Paul is simply saying that what happened to Christ will happen to us. If He arose, then our resurrection is possible. He is our Savior; therefore, we too shall arise. If He did not arise, then being resurrected is not possible; He is not our Savior. Therefore, we shall not arise. The resurrection of Jesus Christ goes hand in hand with our resurrection. He arose to conquer death and to blaze the way for us, for our whole being—body and spirit—to be raised and to live forever with God.

“Remember that Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to my gospel” (2 Tim.2:8).

2. To deny the resurrection (either of Christ or of us) means that our faith is vain (mataia). The word means fruitless or futile; that is, we are still in our sins. If Jesus Christ has not risen from the dead, then He is still dead, still in the grave; therefore, there is no redemption, no forgiveness of sins.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

3. If Jesus Christ did not arise from the dead, then dead believers have perished. If believers are not to be resurrected, Jesus would be no more than any other human being. He would be powerless to penetrate the other world, the spiritual dimension of being. He would know no life beyond the life of this world. He, just as all other men have always done no matter how great their philosophy, would have perished in the ground of the earth. Therefore, all our loved ones who have gone on before are perished. They are nothing more than decayed flesh and bones lying in a cemetery. They have ceased to be, for if there is no resurrection, then Jesus Christ has not risen. A horrible consequence!

Note that deceased believers are “asleep in Christ.” This does not mean soul-sleep, but simply that they are at rest in Jesus, resting from all the pain and suffering, trouble and corruption of this world.

4. If there is no resurrection, then we are to be pitied above all people. Why?

- ⇒ Because believers are hoping in a false belief and philosophy. They are believing a lie, and they shall experience great disappointment.
- ⇒ Because believers are expecting the superspiritual power of God to help through the trials of this life, and if there is no resurrection, then God does not love us, and His power is a farce and a lie. It will not be present to help the believer through life.
- ⇒ Because the righteousness and strength and godly lifestyles of believers are misunderstood and opposed; therefore, the true believer suffers for Christ throughout life.
- ⇒ If there is no resurrection, no hope for salvation and eternal life, then the believer is suffering for nothing.
- ⇒ Because the true believer denies himself, giving and sacrificing all he is and has in order to reach and minister to a world reeling in desperate need and death. If there is no resurrection, then the believer is wasting his life and money.

“And they [Peter and other apostles] departed from the presence of the council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name” (Acts 5:41).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“And our hope of you is stedfast, knowing, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation” (2 Cor.1:7).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh’s daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season; esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward” (Heb.11:24-26).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened to you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

DIVISION VIII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD, 15:1-58

C. Argument Three: The Consequences of Christ's Resurrection, 15:20-28

(15:20-28) Introduction: What is the best way for God to prove that He can raise the dead? The answer is obvious. There is no greater way for God to prove that He can raise the dead than for Him to actually raise a dead man. This He did when He raised up the Man Christ Jesus. The consequences of the Lord's resurrection are both phenomenal and glorious. Because He arose, we too shall arise. Since Christ has risen, we know that God has the power to raise the dead. His resurrection is the guarantee of our resurrection. No person could want for a greater hope nor for a greater promise.

1. Christ assures life, guarantees the resurrection (v.20-23).
2. Christ assures the coming reign of God's Kingdom: the end of all evil (v.24-28).

1 (15:20-23) Resurrection, The—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: Christ assures life, guarantees the resurrection. He has done three marvelous works to guarantee it.

1. Christ has risen from the dead; He has become the first fruit of them that slept. The term "firstfruits" refers to the harvest of a farmer's first crop. The Jewish farmer was to take part of his very first fruit and give it as an offering to God. Note two points.

- ⇒ The word "first" means the first in order of time: the first fruit is to be reaped.
- ⇒ The offering of the first fruit to God assures God's blessing upon the rest of the harvest: the dedication of the first fruit guaranteed and assured the blessing of God upon all the fruit that followed.

The point is this: the resurrection of Jesus Christ is the first fruit of the harvest, the first resurrection of a Man who would never die again. Jesus Himself had raised others from the dead, but they were all to die again. But not Christ. Christ was raised from the dead to live forever, and His resurrection was the guarantee that we, too, shall be raised from the dead.

"But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you" (Ro.8:11).

Note the words, "but now." The words connect this passage to the former verses where some were arguing that Christ did not arise from the dead. If Christ did not arise from the dead, then the consequences are terrible, for it means that...

- our preaching is meaningless.
- our faith is futile.
- we are liars and false witnesses.
- we are still in our sins.
- our loved ones who have already died have perished.
- we are, of all men, most miserable.

"But now is Christ risen!" He is not dead; He is not lying as a decayed corpse in the grave. We are not living in hopeless misery. In fact, the very opposite is true. We have the greatest hope in the world, the hope of being resurrected from the dead. And the great guarantee of our resurrection is the resurrection of Jesus Christ Himself. He has risen; therefore, we shall arise. He is the first fruit—the guarantee, the seal, the assurance of our resurrection.

“And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body” (Ro.8:23).

“And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence” (Col.1:18).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him” (1 Th.4:14).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

2. Christ has counteracted what Adam did: reversed the sin and death of Adam. He did this through His own resurrection and life. Adam and Christ are pictured as the two pivotal points of human history. Adam stands as the head of the human race, the first to bring death to man. Christ stands as the head of the human race, the first to intervene into the process of death and to arise from the dead. The place of Adam and Christ as the representative heads of the human race is discussed in detail in the Book of Romans (see outline and notes—Ro.5:12-21). Very simply stated, the sin of Adam brought death into the world, but the Man Jesus Christ brought the resurrection of life to the world. How is this possible? Note two things.

a. Note the words “in Adam all die.” The word “in” means to be inside, within, included, united, connected; to be vitally related; to be in the position and operation and power of something. Every person born into the world inherits the nature of his father and mother, which is a corruptible and dying nature. Adam was the first to have a corruptible and dying nature; therefore everyone born into the race of Adam inherits the very same corruptible and dying nature.

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12; cp. Gen.2:15-17; 3:6f).

“For since by man came death” (1 Cor.15:21).

“Thy first father hath sinned” (Is.43:27).

b. Note the words “in Christ shall all be made alive.” The word “in” connects us to Christ just as it does to Adam. We are vitally connected and united to Christ. Just as we partake of the nature of Adam, of our mothers and fathers, so we partake of the nature of Christ. What is the nature of Christ?

⇒ The nature of Christ is a sinless and divine nature.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“For such a high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

⇒ The nature of Christ is a resurrected nature.

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the Spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“[The power of God] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

Note the word “all”: it does not mean every human person shall be made alive. It means that all who are “in Christ shall be made alive.” All persons are not “in Christ”; that is, all do not believe and entrust their lives “in Christ” (Jn.3:16; Ro.10:9).

3. Christ has fulfilled and completed His purpose: He was the first to arise. Why was it necessary for Him to be the first to arise? Because He had to complete the work of salvation for man before man could be saved and raised up from the dead. He had to arise first; then man could arise.

⇒ No man can save himself; no man can arise from the dead. If a man is ever to arise, Someone with the power to conquer death must first of all arise. And then by His resurrection, that Someone must promise and guarantee that He will use the same power to raise man.

That Someone is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the firstfruit, the first Man to arise, and He assures and guarantees us that He will raise us up from the dead. Jesus Christ has completed and fulfilled His purpose upon earth. He has been the first to arise, and sometime out in the future, He will also resurrect us.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:25).

“Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:13).

“But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:13-18).

2 (15:24-28) Resurrection, The—Kingdom of God: Christ assures the coming reign of God’s kingdom, the end of all evil. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Kingdom of God—Mt.19:23-24 for more discussion.) After Christ has resurrected believers, He will then move to deliver the kingdom to God. This clearly points to the end of time, the climax and consummation of human history. The Greek word (telos) means the purposed end, the determined goal, the destined climax, the sought after consummation. Note three significant facts:

- ⇒ The length of time between the resurrection of Christ and believers (v.23) has already been over 1900 years.
- ⇒ The length of time between the resurrection of believers and Christ’s delivering the kingdom to God is not given.
- ⇒ The words “then” (eita) and “when” (hotan) both indicate indefinite periods of time, long intervals of time.

These facts clearly indicate that great events and generations of time can occur between the resurrection of believers and the end of the world, for example, the one thousand year millennial reign of Christ. When will Christ deliver up the kingdom to God? After four things have happened.

1. Christ must first subject all evil power and enemies under His rule of righteousness and love (v.24-25). This refers to both human and spiritual enemies, to the evil of both men and Satan. When Christ returns in glory to rule and reign in majesty, he will subdue all the enemies of God and present the kingdom to God.

Thought 1. Today, sin and evil run rampant throughout the world. Any daily newsstand clearly proves the point through the reports of fighting and war, immorality and crime, selfishness and greed, corruption and death. The news can easily become discouraging and make a person wonder what the fate of society and man will ultimately be. But not to the true Christian believer. The day is coming when Jesus Christ Himself will “put all enemies under His feet,” all sin and shame, deceit and lying, violence and abuse, hurt and murder, crime and injustice—all enemies shall be subjected to Jesus Christ. The kingdom of love and righteousness will be presented to God and love and righteousness will rule forever and ever.

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power; when he shall come to be glorified in his saints, and to be admired in all them that believe (because our testimony among you was believed) in that day” (2 Th.1:7-10).

“The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. The LORD shall send the rod of thy strength out of Zion: rule thou in the midst of thine enemies. Thy people shall be willing in the day of thy power, in the beauties of holiness from the womb of the morning: thou hast the dew of thy youth” (Ps.110:1-3).

“For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given: and the government shall be upon his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this” (Is.9:6-7).

“And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed” (Dan.7:14).

2. Christ must subject the great enemy of man: death. Note that death is the last enemy that will be destroyed.
  - ⇒ Death has an end; death will cease to be; the reign of death will be stopped.
  - ⇒ Man shall be delivered once-for-all from death. Death will be swallowed up in victory.

“He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath spoken it” (Is.25:8).

“I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction: repentance shall be hid from mine eyes” (Hos.13:14).

“So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:54).

“[God’s purpose and grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death” (Rev.20:14).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:4).

3. Christ must subject all things under Him and His rule, all things except God the Father. The verb “hath put under” is aorist tense which points to the finality, the once-for-all fact. Not only will the enemies of Christ be subjected to Christ, but all things will be subjected:

- |                                   |                   |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------|
| ⇒ all men                         | ⇒ all angels      |
| ⇒ all beings                      | ⇒ all nature      |
| ⇒ all the earth                   | ⇒ all the heavens |
| ⇒ all the universe, seen & unseen |                   |

Every thing that has ever existed or ever will exist, both visible and invisible, shall be under the rule and reign of Christ, under the rule and reign of His love and righteousness. Nothing shall be exempted from His authority, except God Himself.

“So then, after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“For David is not ascended into the heavens: but he saith himself, The LORD said unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, until I make thy foes thy footstool. Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:34-36).

“[God’s mighty power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church, which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:20-23).

“But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom. Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:8-9).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man. For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:9-10).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

4. Christ must subject Himself to God. This refers to the saving ministry and function of Christ, not to His eternal person and being. It does not mean that Christ is to become inferior to God and less than God. Such inferiority is impossible, for both the Son and the Father have the nature of God. They are One in their Godly nature, person, and being. It simply means that God sent Christ on the great mission to conquer all the enemies of God. Therefore, when Christ has completed His mission, He will return to God the Father and present all to God. When Christ presents all, He will also present Himself to His Father as the great and glorious conqueror. Barclay says it well:

“It is not a case of the Son being subject to the Father as a slave or even a servant is to a master. It is a case of one who has accomplished the work that was given him to do, and who returns with the glory of complete obedience as his crown. As God sent forth His Son to redeem the world so in the end God will receive back a world redeemed, and then there will be nothing in heaven or in earth outside the love and the power of God” (The Letters to the Corinthians, p.169).

“And in that day shall ye say, Praise the LORD, call upon his name, declare his doings among the people, make mention that his name is exalted” (Is.12:4).

“The LORD is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteousness” (Is.33:5).

DIVISION VIII

D. Argument Four: The Religious Observances & Personal Sacrifice, 15:29-34

(15:29-34) Introduction: the fourth argument for the resurrection of the dead is religious observances and personal sacrifice. If there is not to be a resurrection, then there is absolutely no need to live a religious life nor to sacrificially deny ourselves for Christ. If there is to be no resurrection, then our religious worship and personal sacrifice are empty and meaningless.

1. Think and ask yourself: If there is no resurrection, then why practice religious observances and rituals? (v.29).
2. Think and ask yourself: Why should we put ourselves in jeopardy? (v.30-32).
3. Watch being deceived: evil associations corrupt behavior (v.33).
4. Awaken, sober up, do not sin: some do not know God (v.34).

1 (15:29) Resurrection, Believers: think and ask yourself—if there is no resurrection, why practice religious observances and rituals? The particular ritual mentioned here is baptism, but the question is applicable to all religious practices and rituals. Why worship, why be baptized, why observe the Lord’s Supper, why pray, why read the Bible if there is no resurrection of the dead? All religious worship and rituals are empty; they are meaningless and profit nothing if there is no resurrection. This is the meaning of this particular point and it is easily understood. However, the particular practice or form of baptism to which Paul refers is not so easily understood. What does he mean by the phrase, being “baptized for the dead.” Who is baptized, and who is dead? Someone is being baptized for someone who is dead. Who are the baptized persons, and who is the dead person or persons? Has the church ever practiced baptism for the dead, that is, allowed a living believer to be baptized for a loved one who had died before he or she could be baptized? The practice did take place in the second century, but as Leon Morris points out it was apparently by heretics (Leon Morris. The First Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians. “Tyndale Bible Commentaries.” Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans Publishing Company, p.219). Is it possible that the practice had begun as early as the early church and had seeped into the Corinthian church? Some think so, and some think this is the only possible explanation of the words. Others argue that this could not possibly be the meaning...

- because it is superstitious and a misunderstanding of what baptism is.
- because there is no other record of the practice until the second century and then it is apparently only practiced by heretical groups.
- because it has always been condemned as heresy by the main body of believers.
- because Paul would never refer to the practice without condemning it.

(For a more detailed discussion of this position and the arguments against it, see Charles Hodge, An Exposition of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1973, p.337.)

However, those who hold that the practice had seeped into the early church argue the following:

- ⇒ Paul does separate himself from the practice. Note the verse: Paul says “they,” not “we.” He disassociates himself.
- ⇒ Paul does sometimes differ with a practice, and yet uses the practice in an argument. (For example, he discusses the practice of attending a social function in the temple of an idol. He used the practice to argue his position without denouncing it, but he thought it was wrong, 1 Cor.8:10.)

Just what Paul means is not known, and it is extremely difficult to know, for there are over thirty different positions (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1930, p.192).

Note what could be two significant points.

- ⇒ When reading verse 29 and verse 30 together, there does seem to be a sharp contrast between “they” (v.29) and “we” (v.30). Paul does seem to be saying “they”: they who oppose me; they who deny the resurrection; they who are in error.
- ⇒ When comparing verses 30-34 with verse 29, there does seem to be a sharp contrast. Verse 29 uses the word “they”; verse 30 “we”; and verse 31, 33-34 “you” and “your.” This strongly suggests that “they” stand in opposition to Paul and the mainline believers of the church.

In light of the details of the Scripture itself, it seems best to say that “they” are...

- the persons who opposed Paul so strongly.
- the false teachers and persons who were denying the resurrection.
- the false teachers and persons who were allowing their followers to be baptized for their loved ones who had failed to be baptized before they died.

Following this interpretation, Paul is saying: if they agree that the dead do not rise, then...

- what shall they do who are being baptized for their dead?
- why are they being baptized for the dead? What they are doing is useless, empty, futile, meaningless. If they do not believe in the resurrection of the dead, they are practicing a ritual that will do them absolutely no good.

2 (15:30-32) Resurrection, Believers: think and ask yourself—if there is no resurrection, why should we put ourselves in jeopardy every hour? The point is clear: the believer shall suffer persecution from the world. The true believer...

- separates and lives a different lifestyle than the world, and he witnesses to the Lord Jesus Christ and His demand for righteousness and godliness.

The life and witness of the true believer is contrary to the world, and it convicts the world; therefore, the world opposes, ridicules, abuses, and tries to hush and get rid of the believer—as much as the law, neighborhood, and workplace will allow.

Why would a believer ever jeopardize himself—his life, job, position, friends, acceptance—if there is no resurrection?

Paul uses his own experience to strike the point home.

1. If there is no resurrection, why would he face danger to witness, to joy and rejoice over the conversion of people? Why would he seek to reach people for Christ and to stir joy and rejoicing in them if there is no resurrection? The price—risking one’s life and exposing oneself to persecution—is not worth it if there is no resurrection. Paul is saying, “I would not be jeopardizing my life if there was no resurrection of the dead.”
2. If there is no resurrection, why would he suffer threats, abuse, and ill treatment? This is the same argument, except Paul actually refers to some savage threat he experienced.
3. If there is no resurrection, why would he not eat, drink, and live in pleasure? He may as well, for there would be nothing after death. This life would be all there is.

“And behold joy and gladness, slaying oxen, and killing sheep, eating flesh, and drinking wine: let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we shall die” (Is.22:13).

“And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God” (Lk.12:19-21).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“And [they] shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices” (2 Pt.2:13-14).

3 (15:33) Deception—Worldliness: watch being deceived—evil associations corrupt behavior.

1. The phrase “be not deceived” (me planasthe) means do not be led astray, led in the error of such a false teaching. There is to be a resurrection of the dead. “They”—those who deny the resurrection—are wrong. Do not be deceived by their error. It is an utterly false teaching and it is corrupting.
2. The word “communications” does mean conversation, but it also means the communion among companions and associates.

The point is this: we should not associate with those who hold to error and false teaching. If we associate with them—accept them as friends and companions—they will influence us and corrupt our behavior, lead us into sin and error.

Thought 1. Our companions do influence us. If they do not believe in the resurrection of the dead, in the glorious life to come, then their beliefs, ideas, morals, speech, and behavior will...

- influence us
- loosen us
- weaken us
- pollute us
- mislead us

“I wrote unto you in an epistle not to company with fornicators” (1 Cor.5:9).

“But now I have written unto you not to keep company, if any man that is called a brother be a fornicator, or covetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner; with such an one no not to eat” (1 Cor.5:11).

“Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?” (2 Cor.6:14).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed” (2 Jn.10).

“Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil; neither shalt thou speak in a cause to decline after many to wrest judgment” (Ex.23:2).

“Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful” (Ps.1:1).

“Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men” (Pr.4:14).

4 (15:34) Awaken—Resurrection: awaken, sober up, sin not; for some do not know God. Note three points.

1. The word “awake” (eknepsate) means to become sober; to arouse out of a drunken, sleepy state. Some in the Corinthian church were following the false teachers as though they were drunken and senseless, in a stupor, in a stupid state. They desperately needed to awaken to righteousness—to sin not. The denial of a resurrection is totally wrong; it is sin. There is to be a resurrection of the dead. To deny it is to put oneself in a drunken, senseless, unthinking state of mind.

2. The phrase “some have not the knowledge of God” refers to those in error, the persons who do not believe in the resurrection of the dead.

3. The words, “I speak this to your shame” mean that the church should be ashamed for allowing the error in their midst. The very fact that the church would accept men who deny one of the cardinal doctrines is a shame. The church should be ashamed, for a person who does not believe in the resurrection of the dead (a cardinal doctrine) does not have “the knowledge of God.”

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

“Wash you, make you clean, put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

DIVISION VIII

E. Argument Five: The Kind of Body, 15:35-49

(15:35-49) Introduction: what will the resurrected body be like? The kind of body we shall have throughout eternity has always intrigued men. The very picture of a body somewhat like our present bodies has even caused some persons to mock and ridicule the idea of the resurrection. This passage discusses the kind of body believers will receive in the resurrection.

1. Two questions by an intellectual objecter (v.35).
2. The pictures demonstrating the resurrection (v.36-41).
3. The contrasting body of the resurrection (v.42-44).
4. The strong fact: there is a natural body and a spiritual body (v.44-49).

1 (15:35) Resurrection, Body of: two questions are asked by some objecter.

1. How are the dead raised up; how can a decayed, decomposed body arise? How can life possibly come back into a body, especially after it has decayed, and in some cases been scattered over the earth?
2. What kind of body would a resurrected person have? What kind of body would it be if it was decayed and decomposed?

Every generation has its skeptics who question and sometimes scoff at the idea of the resurrection and of a spiritual world where those who follow Christ will actually live with God forever. In fact, Christ Himself faced the very skepticism Paul is facing here (see outline and notes—Mt.22:23-33). Most skeptics make one great mistake: when they think of the resurrection, they think of a person raised in the very same body he had while on earth. Christ and Paul both show that this just is not the case. The resurrected body will not be like our present body. Our future bodies will apparently look like our present bodies, but their material and nature will be completely different. (See outline and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.21:1; Mt.22:23-33 for more discussion.)

2 (15:36-41) Resurrection, Body of: the pictures demonstrating the resurrection. Nature is full of examples and parallels that clearly show the possibility of the resurrection. Man is just so familiar with the examples that he fails to think of them as examples and parallels. Note how strongly Paul introduces this point: he addresses the skeptic, "Fool." Paul is not speaking to the skeptic in contempt and bitterness, but he is angry at the lack of thought about the matter and at the total lack of belief in God and in His omnipotent power. Even if there were no parallels in nature, we should believe God. Therefore, Paul exclaims: “Fool, think—think about what you yourself do. You work and live in the midst of the very things that parallel and give example after example of the resurrection of the body.”

1. There is the picture of the seed and grain. Several points are made.
  - a. A seed is not quickened, cannot live unless it first dies. A seed has the potential of a new life and a new body in it, but it does not produce the new life and body until it dies. In fact, the seed cannot produce it unless it does die.
  - b. The seed that is planted is only a seed; it is not the full plant itself. The seed differs radically from the new life and body of the plant. What comes up out of the ground is radically different from what is put into the ground.
    - ⇒ Note how nature clearly shows us that the resurrected body will have a different nature than our present bodies.
  - c. God is the One who gives every seed its own body. God is the One who is behind the whole process, who is behind the seed and the plant. God is the One who causes the plant to arise from the death of the seed. It is His will, His power, His process that He set in motion at creation.

Thought 1. Those who are skeptical and question the resurrection make two gross errors—so said Jesus.

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God...God is not the God of the dead, but of the living” (Mt.22:29, 32).

“For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living; for all live unto him” (Lk.20:38).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

2. There is the picture of animals; they all differ. There are so many different bodies of animals—their organization, shapes, forms, natures—why can a man not be given a different body from the one he now has? Why can a man’s body not be reorganized and rearranged?

3. There is the picture of earthly and heavenly bodies (v.40-41). The bodies upon earth differ from the bodies of the heavens. Each has its own glory and each differs from the other, including the sun, moon, and stars.

The point is simply this: everywhere you look you see...

- an unlimited number of different bodies—different organizations, forms, shapes, arrangements, varieties.
- that God’s universe flows with planting and growing, life and change, organization and reorganization, disintegration and rebirth.

Thought 1. The major points to see are twofold:

- 1) Living things have both the nature and power to be reproduced in a different form or body. Therefore, it should not surprise us if we ourselves have the nature and power to be resurrected with a different nature and body.
- 2) All things have different bodies and a glory that differs from all other things. Therefore, we too will have a resurrected body with its own glory. The glory of our resurrected body will differ from the glory of our earthly bodies.

3 (15:42-44) Resurrection, Body of: the contrasting body of the resurrection. There are four significant differences between our body now and the body that will be given us in the resurrection.

1. Our earthly body is corruptible; our resurrected body will be incorruptible. Corruptible means that they age, deteriorate, die, decay, and decompose. But our heavenly bodies will differ radically. They shall be incorruptible: never age, never deteriorate, never die, never decay, and never decompose. They will be transformed and never perish. They will be completely free from defilement and depravity, from death and decay.

“Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption” (1 Cor.15:50).

“Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days” (Jn.11:39).

“For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption: but he, whom God raised again, saw no corruption” (Acts 13:36-37).

“All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again” (Eccl.3:20).

“So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption” (1 Cor.15:42).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1-2).

2. Our earthly body is buried in dishonor; our resurrected body will be raised in glory. Our body is dishonorable, and nothing shows its dishonor any more than its death and burial. Every human body is ultimately shamed and disgraced, degraded and deprived of all it has. Every human body is doomed to become nothing more than a handful of dirt. Think about it. Nothing could be any more dishonorable than to take the wonderful mechanism and beauty of a man’s body and see it become nothing more than dirt. Yet that is exactly what happens.

But not the resurrected body: the human body will be transformed into a body of glory. Glory means to possess and to be full of perfect light; to dwell in the perfect light, brilliance, splendor, brightness, luster, magnificence, dignity, majesty and grace of God Himself.

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands” (Rev.7:9).

“Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory” (Ps.73:24).

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

3. Our earthly body is buried in weakness; our resurrected body is raised in power. While on earth our body is ever so weak: subject to sickness, disease, and a host of other infirmities and limitations. Eventually it becomes so weak that it dies. In death the human body is utterly powerless: helpless, devoid of any strength and capability whatsoever. In death the human body is so powerless, it is unable to lift a simple finger. It can do nothing, absolutely nothing.

The resurrected body, however, is raised in power. It shall have a mind and body filled with strength, might, health, authority, and control. It will be a perfect body, never subject to disease, accident, or suffering. It will be a body so powerful that it will be able to control its acts and the circumstances around it—all for good.

4. Our earthly body is buried a natural body; our resurrected body is raised a spiritual body. Note exactly what is said:

“There is a natural body [soma psuchikon] and there is a spiritual body [soma pneumatikon]” (1 Cor.15:44).

Note that the spiritual body (soma) is still a body just like the earthly body (soma). The spiritual body still retains the qualities of the earthly body. The difference lies in this: it will no longer be a natural (soulish) body. It will be spiritual. What does this mean? In essence, the body will have a different composition: it will be made for a different world, a different dimension. The body will be perfected and glorified: no longer subject to aging, deterioration, death, decay, pain, tears, sorrow, or crying (Rev.14:4).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21. See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Body, Resurrected—Jn.21:1 for more discussion.)

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

4 (15:44-49) Resurrection, Body of: the strong fact—there is a natural body and a spiritual body. In addition to what has already been given, there are three strong evidences that there is both a natural body and a spiritual body.

1. There is the evidence of Scripture: the evidence of the first Adam and the second Adam, which is Christ.
  - a. Their natures differed. The first Adam was made a living soul. This simply means that Adam was given “physical or human life” to live on this earth (see DEEPER STUDY # 5, Soul—Mt.22:37). Therefore, he could only pass on the physical or human life to his children or family. But not Christ: Christ was a quickening Spirit, that is, a life-giving Spirit. Therefore, He can give a new kind of life to His family.
  - b. Their order was properly placed. Adam, the natural and physical, was first; then came the spiritual which is eternal. Therefore, those who belong to Christ can be given spiritual bodies and live forever.
  - c. Their origin differs. The first Adam is of the earth: he was born of the earth. But Christ is the Lord from heaven. He is, therefore, able to transform those who are His so that they can live in heaven with Him.

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

“For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world....For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me” (Jn.6:33, 38).

“The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread which came down from heaven. And they said, Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? how is it then that he saith, I came down from heaven?” (Jn.6:41-42).

“This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die. I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world” (Jn.6:50-51).

“This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live for ever” (Jn.6:58).

“What and if ye shall see the Son of man ascend up where he was before?” (Jn.6:62).

“And he said unto them, Ye are from beneath; I am from above: ye are of this world; I am not of this world” (Jn.8:23).

“Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me” (Jn.8:42).

“Jesus knowing that the Father had given all things into his hands, and that he was come from God, and went to God” (Jn.13:3).

“Now are we sure that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should ask thee: by this we believe that thou camest forth from God” (Jn.16:30).

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5)

“The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven” (1 Cor.15:47).

2. There is the evidence of man’s nature and his destiny. Men pattern their lives either after Adam or Christ, either after the world or after heaven. They who live for the earth and its worldliness are those who are living only after the first Adam; therefore, the only body they will have will be a body of death; that is, a body that will be separated from God.

However, the persons who pattern their lives after the heavenly Christ, will be given a body just like the body of Christ, a perfect heavenly body. All persons who turn from the image of the earthly to the heavenly (Christ) will bear the image of the heavenly.

“It is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:44).

“And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly” (1 Cor.15:49).

“For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven” (2 Cor.5:2).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

DIVISION VIII

F. Argument Six: The Radical Change of the Body, 15:50-58

(15:50-58) Introduction: if a person is going to live eternally, if it is possible for a person to live in the presence of God, then the human body must first undergo a radical change. The human body must be completely remade. This passage discusses the change that is to take place.

1. The change is needed (v.50).
2. The change is a brand new revelation (v.51-52).
3. The change will be the infusion of a totally new nature (v.53).
4. The change will swallow death; it will bring victory over the grave (v.54-56).
5. The change will be wrought through our Lord Jesus Christ (v.57).
6. The change demands staunch labor (v.58).

1 (15:50) Body, Resurrection of: there are two clearly understood reasons why the change is needed.

1. The human body is flesh and blood. It is physical, not spiritual. It is made of physical material and substance, not spiritual material and substance. It is of the earth, not of heaven; and they who are of the earth are physical and earthly, not spiritual and heavenly.

Man's body in its present state is made...

- to live in the physical world and dimension, not in the spiritual world and dimension.
- to oversee the kingdoms of this world, not to inherit the Kingdom of God.

2. The human body is corruptible, not incorruptible. This is clearly seen in everyday experiences. The human body ends: it ages, dies, decays, deteriorates, and wastes away to nothing but dirt and dust. It has embedded within its very nature the seed of corruption (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Pt.1:4. Cp.1 Pt.1:23.)

The point is that the human body must be completely changed if it is to ever become incorruptible and given the privilege of living in the Kingdom of God. The human body must be changed and recreated, totally remade.

2 (15:51-52) Body, Resurrection of: the change is a brand new revelation. The word "mystery" means revelation, a fact that would never be known unless God revealed it. Man could never find out about the resurrection without God telling him. Man knows about the resurrection and radical change of man's body because God told him. Man has no other way to find out about it. It is one of the mysteries, one of the revelations that God has chosen to make known to man. And what a glorious hope it is! Note four quick facts stated about the radical change of the body.

1. The resurrection involves both the living and the dead. The word "sleep" refers to those who have passed on into the presence of the Lord and are now resting from their labor and suffering in this world (cp. v.18).

Note the words "we shall not all sleep." Paul is not saying that he and some others will be alive when the resurrection takes place. He is revealing a mystery about all believers: when Christ returns there will naturally be some believers still living and some who have already died. The point is that both the living and the dead will receive recreated bodies, new bodies, bodies radically and completely changed.

2. The resurrection will be a quick, sudden change. The word for “moment” (atomos) means indivisible, that which cannot be cut. It is the word from which we get the English word atom. The idea is that the resurrection will take place so quickly...

- that you could not divide the time into two moments.
- that you could not blink an eye.

3. The resurrection will be at the end time, at the end of the world. This is what is primarily meant by the last trumpet. It will be the last trumpet ever blown; however, it will be the trumpet that will summon the end of our bodies lying in the graves and living in this corruptible world. It will be the trumpet that will sound the end of the world as we now know it. (Cp. 1 Th.4:16.)

4. The resurrection and the change of the body are both an absolute surety. Note the strong affirmative “shalls” of this verse:

“The trumpet shall sound.”
“The dead shall be raised incorruptible.”
“We shall be changed.”

There is no question about the event to take place. God has revealed the glorious fact: He Himself shall raise the dead and change all our bodies.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live....Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:25, 28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive” (1 Cor.15:22).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first” (1 Th.4:16).

3 (15:53) Body, Resurrection of: the change will be the infusion of a totally new nature. Note two significant facts.

1. The nature of the believer’s present body is corruptible and mortal; the nature of his new body will be incorruptible and immortal.

⇒ The “corruptible and “mortal” nature means that men are earthly; that they age, deteriorate, die, decay, and decompose. Every man, no matter who he is, is earthly and will return to the earth once he dies unless Jesus returns while he is living on the earth.

⇒ The “incorruptible” and “immortal” nature means this: believers will be made heavenly; they will be transformed and given a perfect nature that will never age, deteriorate, die, decay, or decompose. They will be completely free from defilement and depravity. They will be given a body that is perfect, a body that is diametrically opposed to their present body, a body that is perfected forever to live with God in the new heavens and earth. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.21:1; note—1 Cor.15:42-44.)

2. The word “must” shows the absolute necessity for the change of man’s body. If man is to live with God, his body must be changed. It is essential, a must, an absolute necessity if man is to live forever.

“Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection” (Lk.20:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:26).

“To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life” (Ro.2:7).

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:53).

“For we know that, if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:17).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

4 (15:54-56) Body, Resurrection of: the change will swallow death; it will bring victory over the grave. Paul pictures the believer in the future, as already standing before the Lord in the Kingdom of God. He sees the believer as already incorruptible and immortal. When that day comes, then it can be shouted that “Death is swallowed up in victory.” Note what is said about this glorious day of victory.

1. The victory was promised by God long, long ago.

“He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord GOD will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the LORD hath spoken it” (Is.25:8).

2. The victory conquered the “sting” of death. The “sting” of death is sin (v.56). There are two reasons why the sting of death will be gone forever.

- a. Sin gives death its power. Men die because of sin (Ro.5:12). When God gives man a perfect body, then the sting is removed. Death will be no more.
- b. Sin surrounds death with all its fears. If men are perfected, then sin is erased from the picture, and there is no death or surrounding fears. Death becomes helpless.

3. The victory will be over the strength of sin. What is it that gives power to sin, that gives sin control over men? It is the law of God. When believers stand perfected before God, the law hovering over men’s heads will be done away with. There are two reasons why the strength of sin will be gone forever.

- a. The law gives sin its power. The law and its standards show men their shortcomings. If men are perfected, then there is no need for the law because there is no sin (Ro.4:15)
- b. If men are perfected and there is no law, then there is no condemnation (Ro.5:13).

“The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death” (1 Cor.15:26).

“So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:54).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:4).

5 (15:57) Body, Resurrection of: the glorious victory over death has been wrought through the Lord Jesus Christ. It is through Him and Him alone that man can be resurrected from the dead and given an incorruptible and immortal body. How is it possible for man to live forever through the Lord Jesus Christ? Very simply, because He fulfilled the law of God. This means at least two things. (See note—Mt. 5:17-18; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro. 8:3 for more detailed discussion.)

1. Christ fulfilled the law of God by never sinning. He never broke the law of God, not even once. Therefore, He secured perfect righteousness; and because His righteousness is perfect and ideal, it becomes the model and pattern for all men. It stands for and covers the unrighteousness of all men. His perfect righteousness overcomes sin and its penalty—it condemns sin. It is to be noted that He condemned sin “through the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

2. Christ fulfilled the law in that He bore the condemnation and punishment of the law for man. As the Perfect and Ideal Man, Jesus Christ could bear all the violations and punishment of the law for man. Jesus Christ as the Ideal Man could die for all men.

When a person believes in Jesus Christ, truly believes in Him, God counts that person’s faith as righteousness. The person is not righteous, but God loves His Son so much that He honors any person who honors His Son. He takes the person’s honor of His Son, the person’s faith, and counts it as righteousness, as the right to live in His presence. It is the person of faith, the person who believes in the Lord Jesus Christ that shall be resurrected and given a body that is incorruptible and immortal. The victory over death is through the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit....For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:1, 3).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith” (1 Jn.5:4).

6 (15:58) Body, Resurrection of: the change demands staunch labor. Note four points.

1. The charge is to believers, genuine believers: “beloved brother.” The promise of a resurrected and changed body is not to unbelievers.

2. The believer is to be steadfast and unmoveable. Why? Because he has such a glorious hope: the hope of being resurrected and given an incorruptible and immortal body. The hope of this glorious fact should stir the believer to be steadfast and unmoveable in serving the Lord Jesus Christ.

- ⇒ The word stedfast (hedraioi) means to be firm, fixed, determined, purposed, faithful. The believer is to stand fast and fixed in his belief and labor for the Lord, determined to live for the Lord and to carry out his purpose for the Lord. The believer is to be faithful to the end.
- ⇒ The word “unmoveable” (ametakineto) means to be unyielding, unshaken, undisturbed. The believer is not to be fickle in his service for the Lord. He is to stand as solid as a rock in his beliefs and in the serving of the Lord.
3. The believer is to abound in the work of the Lord. Note two significant points.
- ⇒ The word “labor” (kopos) means toiling and working to the point of exhaustion and fatigue, to the point of collapse.
- ⇒ The word always means never cease, never stop, never slacken up, never quit, never retire.
4. The believer will be rewarded. What a challenge to the believer! Yet, how could less be expected when the promise of being resurrected and given a new body has been given to a person? The believer’s labor will not be in vain, that is, left empty and unrewarded. The believer who...
- is stedfast,
  - is unmoveable,
  - is always abounding and laboring in the work of the Lord,
  - will be rewarded: resurrected and given a new body.

“As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love” (Jn.15:9).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“The righteous also shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger” (Job 17:9).

DIVISION IX

THE FINAL THOUGHTS, 16:1-24

A. Some Instructions on Financial Collections, 16:1-4

(16:1-4) Introduction: this passage spells out some wise instructions on church offerings and collections. The instructions have too often been ignored; and the result has been scandal, rumor, and destruction of the cause of Christ. (See outlines and notes—Acts 20:4-6; 2 Cor.8:16-24 for more discussion.)

1. First, the instructions are for every church (v.1).
2. Second, the instructions (v.2-4).

1 (16:1) Stewardship: first, the instructions on giving are for every church. Note that Paul had given the very same instructions to the churches of Galatia which numbered several churches. What Paul taught here, he apparently taught everywhere. This seems to be the set order in which church offerings and collections are to be handled.

“As I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye.”

The collection referred to was a special offering being taken for the poor believers in Jerusalem (cp. Ro.15:26; 1 Cor.16:1, 3; 2 Cor.8:1f; 9:1f; Acts 24:17). For some reason the Jerusalem believers were suffering extreme poverty. Some commentators have speculated that the suffering was due...

- to severe persecutions by the Jews (cp. 1 Th.2:14-16).
- to the failure of common ownership which the early church practiced, expecting the Lord’s immediate return (cp. Acts 4:32-37).

It had been some thirty years since the early church had begun to practice common ownership of goods. The opinion of some is that the system had failed and caused widespread poverty among the Jerusalem believers.

Whatever the immediate cause of the poverty, the Jerusalem believers were in desperate need. Their need was so desperate that a worldwide offering from all Christian churches was needed to meet the crisis.

Thought 1. The lesson is clear. The church must meet the desperate needs of men: the needs of the poor, the hungry, the diseased, the homeless, the lost, and the multitudes of others who have little if anything in this world including health and hope. Believers must give, and give sacrificially. Believers must do all they can. The instructions of this Scripture are for all the churches of the world.

“Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away” (Mt.5:42).

“He answereth and saith unto them, He that hath two coats, let him impart to him that hath none; and he that hath meat, let him do likewise” (Lk.3:11).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

2 (16:2-4) Stewardship—Offerings: second, the instructions. Note six significant points.

1. When is the offering to be received? “Upon the first day of the week,” which is Sunday. According to the Jewish calendar, the first day of the week was Sunday. The Jews, of course, worshipped on the Sabbath, but the early Christian believers began to worship on the first day of the week. Their primary reason for switching the day of worship was to commemorate the resurrection of the Lord. In fact, they even began to call the first day of the week The Lord’s Day (cp. Jn.20:19; Acts 20:7; Rev.1:10).

Note: the believers were not to make only occasional offerings, they were to give regularly, every Lord’s day: “Upon the first day of the week.”

“Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come” (1 Cor.16:2).

2. Who is to give? “Every one of you.” The instruction is clearly stated. But why would God expect the poor to give as well as the middle class and the rich? Paul deals with this same offering in another passage and gives two strong reasons why everyone is to be involved in meeting the needs of the world (2 Cor.9:12-14).

- a. Giving stirs people to praise God. Praising God...
  - excites and motivates people
  - pleases God
- b. Giving builds a strong fellowship among believers (2 Cor.9:14).

“But this I say, He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully” (2 Cor.9:6).

“For the administration of this service not only supplieth the want of the saints, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings unto God; whiles by the experiment of this ministration they glorify God for your professed subjection unto the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution unto them, and unto all men” (2 Cor.9:12-14).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16; cp. Pr.11:25; 22:9; Is.58:10; Lk.6:38).

3. How is the offering to be given? By laying “in store,” that is, by laying aside one’s offering. This could not mean that a person is to keep his offering “stored up” or set aside for long periods of time before giving it. Paul explicitly says that it is to be given to the church every week so that there will be no need for a special offering when he comes to the church. Therefore, to lay “in store” must mean...

- to put the offering in the storehouse, that is, the treasury of the church.
- to lay the money aside at home during the week so that the person will not spend the offering.

Thought 1. The importance of this point can never be over-stressed. How often believers spend the Lord’s money simply because they failed to set it aside.

“Honor the LORD with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase” (Pr.3:9).

“Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it” (Mal.3:10).

4. Why are believers to give? Because God has prospered them. God looks after His people; He blesses them. The Lord Jesus clearly taught that all the necessities of life would be given to His people. Therefore, God expects believers to give as He has prospered them. Closely note the principle: a believer is to give on the basis of his prosperity. This definitely means that the rich are to give generously, very generously. (See outline and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for more discussion.)

“Then the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judaea” (Acts 11:29).

“For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not” (2 Cor.8:12).

“Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver” (2 Cor.9:7).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee” (Dt.16:17).

5. Where are believers to give the offerings? At the regular services of their church. Paul is clear: there is not to be the need for a special offering when he returns to the church. The offering is to be taken weekly as they meet for worship.

“Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come” (1 Cor.16:2).

“Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it” (Mal.3:10).

6. In receiving the offering there was one administrative function that had to be carefully handled. The men who were to handle the offering were to be hand-picked. Note that they were to be men of character:

- ⇒ men whom the church could “approve” and trust to handle the money.
- ⇒ men whom Paul could commend through letters of commendation. He would have to write letters in their behalf to the Jerusalem church.

Note also that Paul himself would not touch the money. He would thereby be above reproach at all times. Verse four really stresses the point: if his schedule allows him to make the journey to Jerusalem, then the men will still personally deliver the money to the Jerusalem believers.

Thought 1. This is a lesson that needs to be heeded by all preachers, whether pastor, evangelist, or teacher.

DIVISION IX

THE FINAL THOUGHTS, 16:1-24

B. Some Personal Concerns of Paul, 16:5-24

(16:5-24) Introduction: Paul’s heart burned with a passion to reach, grow, and help people for Christ. This was so true that even in his final words to a church, his passion and concern to help is clearly seen.

1. Concern 1: to reach and to nurture all (v.5-9).
2. Concern 2: a disciple’s welfare (Timothy’s) (v.10-11).
3. Concern 3: a brother following the will of the Lord (Apollos) (v.12).
4. Concern 4: to exhort immature believers (v.13-14).
5. Concern 5: Paul’s shining examples (v.15-18).
6. Concern 6: to stress love and not division (v.19-24).

1 (16:5-9) Paul, Ministry: Paul’s first concern was to reach and nurture everyone he could. Note the points of the outline, and the beat of Paul’s heart is clearly seen.

1. Paul planned to “pass through” Macedonia, that is to make quick visits to the churches in Macedonia.

Thought 1. There is always a need to keep in touch with God’s people, strengthening and building them up. This was the constant beat of Paul’s heart.

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Beside, those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the churches” (2 Cor.11:28).

“Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith” (1 Th.3:10).

2. Paul wanted to spend the winter with the Corinthian church. Note the practice and expectation of Paul that churches would support the ministry of the preachers (cp. v.11).
3. However, Paul had to remain at Ephesus until Pentecost. Note the two reasons for staying at Ephesus:
⇒ The opportunity for reaching and growing people was great: there was a “great door” opened to Paul.

“For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries” (1 Cor.16:9).

“Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christ’s gospel, and a door was opened unto me of the Lord” (2 Cor.2:12).

“I know thy works: behold, I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name” (Rev.3:8).

- ⇒ The adversaries of the gospel were many (cp. Acts 19 for a picture of the adversaries). Therefore, the young church needed his help to walk through the trial of opposition.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

Note: Paul was able to carry out his plans (Acts 20:2-3).

- 2 (16:10-11) Paul, Ministry: Paul’s second concern was for a disciple’s welfare, the welfare of Timothy. It was Paul’s plan for Timothy to visit Corinth (1 Cor.4:17), and the Book of Acts tells us that he indeed did visit Corinth right after this. Timothy was Paul’s own disciple. He was young; therefore, he still had much growing to do and needed a great deal of encouragement (cp. 2 Tim.1:6f). Paul feared the church in Corinth might be somewhat hesitant in accepting him. Note four strong lessons.

1. The word “despise” is a strong word meaning to treat as nothing, as worthless, as a nobody. It means to treat with contempt; to look down upon. The use of this word shows the deep concern Paul had for the welfare of this disciple.
2. Churches are to be very receptive to young members.
3. Despite his youth, Timothy was a minister who worked for the Lord just like Paul did (v.10).
4. Churches are to support young ministers as they serve the Lord (v.11).

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest” (Mt.9:37-38).

- 3 (16:12) Paul, Ministry: Paul’s third concern was to make sure that a brother followed the will of the Lord. As the verse says, the brother was Apollos. Remember that the division within the church was caused partly by those who favored Apollos’ preaching over Paul’s. The rivalry between Paul and Apollos existed only in the minds and actions of the Corinthians. No such rivalry existed as far as Paul and Apollos were concerned. They were “brothers” and fellow servants of the Lord Jesus Christ. Each was gifted and called as the Lord so willed. Note: they consulted with one another about the possibility of Apollos making a trip to Corinth.

- 4 (16:13-14) Paul, Ministry: Paul’s fourth concern was to exhort immature believers. There are five charges in this exhortation, and all five are in the present tense; that is, this is the way believers are to live. These things are to be continually done.

1. “Watch” (gregoreite): to be awake, alert, and constantly on guard; never to be sleepy-eyed or sluggish; never to let one’s guard down.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night nor of darkness. therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober” (1 Th.5:5-6).

2. “Stand fast in the faith”: do not listen or give heed to false teachers and false doctrine; do not question the word and truth of Christ. Stand against those who mishandle and abuse the Word of God.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

3. “Quit you like men” means either to be courageous as real men or to quit living like immature men. It means to live as courageous men of God.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

“I go the way of all the earth: be thou strong therefore, and show thyself a man” (1 Ki.2:2).

“Gird up thy loins now like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me” (Job 40:7).

“Remember this, and show yourselves men: bring it again to mind, O ye transgressors” (Is.46:8).

“And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none” (Ezk.22:30).

4. “Be strong”: to grow in strength; to be men of real strength; to stand against the world and its enticements.

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might” (Eph.6:10).

“Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.2:1).

5. Do all in love: the word “with” should be translated “in.” The believer is to live “in” love and to do all “in” love. Remember the love chapter, 1 Cor.13. The greatest answer to the division and other problems within the church was love. Love must prevail in the hearts and behavior of believers and their church.

“By love serve one another” (Gal.5:13).

“And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins” (1 Pt.4:8).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

“And this commandment have we from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also” (1 Jn.4:21).

5 (16:15-18) Paul, Ministry: Paul’s fifth concern was to set forth shining examples for the church to follow.

1. There was the example of Stephanas and his household. Note what is said about this lay servant and his household.

⇒ They were the first converts of Achaia, which was the large province of which Corinth was a part. Imagine the courage it took to be the first to step forward for Christ, especially in a society that had become a cesspool of immorality, injustice, and worldliness.

⇒ They not only ministered to others, they were addicted to meeting the needs of believers. The word “addicted” (etaxan) means they devoted themselves, appointed themselves, diligently gave themselves to meeting the day to day needs of the believers.

Paul says that such a dynamic example is to be followed. In fact, any person who is so devoted to the ministry of the Lord is to be followed.

Thought 1. Those who devote their lives to serve the Lord and are faithful in their ministry are to be highly esteemed and followed as leaders.

“That ye submit yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth” (1 Cor.16:16).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

2. There was the example of Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus. Two men are now mentioned with Stephanas. These three men were the messengers sent by the Corinthian church to Paul. Paul says three simple things about them:
- ⇒ They had been faithful in their duty as appointed by the church, and had actually gone beyond, sharing even more.
  - ⇒ They had refreshed his spirit just as they would refresh the spirit of the Corinthians by being faithful to their charge.
  - ⇒ They serve as shining examples of what believers should be. Such faithful believers are to be acknowledged.

6 (16:19-24) Paul, Ministry: Paul's sixth concern was to stress love and not division. These verses are the final words of Paul's first letter to the Corinthian church. Note how his stress is upon love and brotherhood.

1. There was the final salutation. Four salutations are given and each one stresses the bond of love and unity that is in Christ.
  - a. There was the salutation from all the churches of Asia. The Corinthian believers were not the only church on the globe: not superior, not better, not super-spiritual. The church was a part of the whole, one unit among many, and the others were now sending their greetings. They were all the followers of the Lord Jesus, and they belonged to the body of the Lord as much as the Corinthian church.
  - b. There was the salutation from Aquila and Priscilla, two former leaders of the Corinthian church (see Introduction, Special Features, the Church at Corinth).
  - c. There was the salutation from all the brothers who were with Paul. Note the stress upon "brothers" and the holy kiss, a term and act of unity and brotherly love.

"Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God" (Eph.2:19).

"For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren" (Heb.2:11).

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (2 Cor.13:11).

"Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Pt.3:8).

"Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Ph.1:27).

"Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph.4:3).
  - d. There was the salutation of Paul. Paul's signature was the sign of the authenticity of his letters (Col.4:18; 2 Th.3:17).
2. There was the terrifying importance of love for Christ. The word "anathema" means accursed; under the ban; cast away. It is something doomed to utter destruction. Paul uses the word four times (Ro.9:3; 1 Cor.12:3; 16:22; Gal.1:8; cp. Acts 23:14). The word "maranatha" means the Lord comes! The idea is that any man who does not love the Lord Jesus Christ will be accursed. And the Lord is coming: they will be accursed.
3. There was the love of Paul for all. This is clearly seen in his benediction of grace and expression of love for the believers and their church.

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love" (Gal.5:22).

"And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness" (Col.3:14).

"And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 Jn.4:16).

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle (see I Corinthians, Introductory Notes, Author).

DATE: A.D. 56-57.

There is an indication that the Epistle was written almost immediately after hearing of the church's repentance (2 Cor.2:13; 7:2-16). The letter was probably written from the province of Macedonia, more specifically from the city of Philippi.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "The church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints who are in all Achaia" (2 Cor.1:1).

PURPOSE: Paul writes for three reasons.

1. To vindicate the purity of his life and the authority of his ministry.
2. To crush the false accusations against him with a final blow, and to solidify the church more firmly in the gospel.
3. To encourage the church to complete its special mission project to the poor saints in Jerusalem and Judea.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Corinth (see I Corinthians, Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 1).
2. The Church at Corinth (see I Corinthians, Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 2).
3. II Corinthians is "The Epistle That Combats the Severe Charges Against Paul." There was a certain person in the Corinthian Church who caused great grief to Paul. This person evidently stood face to face with Paul when Paul made a hurried and painful visit to Corinth. This divisive person slandered Paul and his character beyond imagination. The Corinthian Church as a whole became affected—tragically so (2 Cor.2:5-6)—so much so that several cliques were formed against Paul. It was Paul himself that was being attacked, both his character and his right and authority as a minister of the gospel.

The attacks and accusations were so severe that Paul made it clear that his relationship with the church was to remain at a standstill until they dealt with the offender (2 Cor.2:1-4). An idea of the severity of the accusations and just what they were can be gleaned from a study of II Corinthians (see notes—2 Cor.1:12-22; 3:1). The seriousness of the situation is seen when one tries to imagine the statements made against Paul: "Some...think of us as if we walked according to the flesh" (2 Cor.10:2); and "the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom...we have had our conversation [behavior, conduct] in the world" (2 Cor.1:12).

It was accusations such as these that were thrown in Paul's face when he made his hurried visit to Corinth. This is the reason commentators label this visit the "painful visit." The accusations and their seriousness and severity were a threat to Paul's ministry. Thus Paul was forced to pen his "severe letter" to the Corinthian Church (see I Corinthians, Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 3).

The personal distress of the whole situation can be gleaned from the above and from a study of the letter. In fact, a quick scanning of long passages such as 2 Cor.1:3-2:17 will clearly show Paul's distress: "God...who comforts us in all our trials" (2 Cor.1:4); "the sufferings of Christ abound in us" (2 Cor.1:5); "ye are partakers of the sufferings" (2 Cor.1:7; cp. 2:5-6); "our trouble which came to us in Asia...." (2 Cor.1:8-9). This certainly refers to the trials caused by the Corinthian Church, as well as the Ephesian disturbance recorded in Acts. "The testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity [holiness] and godly sincerity [purity, moral purity], not with fleshly wisdom...I trust ye shall acknowledge even to the end" (2 Cor.1:12-13).

What all this shows is that Paul underwent such strain and stress from the accusations and trouble within the church that it almost did him in. It was almost fatal. He actually faced death (2 Cor.1:8-10). He adds, "Our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side; without were fightings, within were fears" (2 Cor.7:5).

See I Corinthians for a complete outline of these events (Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 3).

4. II Corinthians is "The Most Personal of Paul's Epistles." It opens up his life for all to see. It shows that he was human, just like all other men; he experienced joy and pain, victories and setbacks.

5. II Corinthians is "The Epistle of the Minister and the Ministry." A quick glance at the General Outline will show this. A study of the Epistle stirs the heart of the minister to endure and proclaim Christ more than ever before.

THE GOD OF PAUL, 1:1-11

A. God and His People, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: this is the introduction of Paul's second letter to the Corinthians, but note a striking point. Note how God and His people are stressed. God is the source of all that concerns His people.

1. God is the source of the believer's call (v.1).
2. God is the source of brotherhood among believers (v.1).
3. God is the source of the church and of all saints (v.1).
4. God is the source of grace and peace (v.2).

1 (1:1) Ministers, Call of: God is the source of the believer's call. Paul says that he is "an apostle...by the will of God." By "apostle" he means that he has been called to be a messenger, an ambassador, a witness, a teacher, a missionary, a minister for God. Paul says that he has been called by God to serve God. He has been appointed by God to be the messenger of God. He has been chosen by God to work for God. God is the source of his call and appointment. Paul's work and employment are due to God. What he does in life—his work and ministry—he does because God chose him to do it. His life's work is not due to men; it is not even due to his own choice. It is due to God and to God alone.

Note that the very first thing Paul does is stress his apostleship. Some of the Corinthian believers were questioning and denying Paul's call by God (2 Cor.1:21; 3:1, 5-6; 10:10; cp. 1 Cor.9:1-2).

Thought 1. A believer does not serve God because he chooses to serve God, nor because other men choose him to serve God. A person does not preach and teach or minister and pastor because he thinks the ministry is a good profession to enter. A person serves God because God chooses and gifts him to serve. God is to be the source of the believer's call, not men.

"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you" (Jn.15:16).

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God" (2 Cor.5:20).

"Paul, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead)" (Gal.1:1).

"But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ" (Gal.1:11-12).

"I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart" (Ps.40:8).

"Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me" (Is.6:8).

2 (1:1) Brotherhood: God is the source of brotherhood among believers. Paul calls Timothy "our brother," which means that he was a brother in Christ. Timothy was a young man who had been led to the Lord at a very early age. Paul had sensed God's call upon Timothy's life, so Paul encouraged him to give his life to the ministry. This Timothy did, serving and ministering with Paul all over the Roman world (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Timothy—Acts 16:1-3 for more discussion). Note that Timothy is with Paul in the district of Macedonia (probably the city of Philippi) while Paul is writing this letter to the Corinthians. Apparently Timothy had just returned from the mission tour which Paul had mentioned in his first letter to the Corinthians. Paul had said that Timothy was on a mission tour making his way to the Corinthians (1 Cor.4:17), but he also said that there was a possibility that Timothy might not be able to extend his mission tour as far as Corinth (1 Cor.16:10). We do not know if Timothy ever reached Corinth or not.

The point is this: the messenger of God, no matter how great his call or ministry, is not better or superior to other believers. Just think of Paul, who he was and what a great ministry he had. His call and ministry were to be respected, but his great call and ministry did not make him a superior person. He served God not because he was a better person, but because God had a work to do and out of His sovereign mercy God had called Paul to do it.

Thought 1. The messenger of God is not above other servants; he is a brother to all other servants. Regardless of his call and ministry, he is one among all brothers who serve under the will of God.

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

- 3 (1:1) Church: God is the source of the church and of all saints or believers (see note, Church—1 Cor.1:2-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—1:2 for discussion).

Note that Paul is writing not only to the church at Corinth, but to all the other churches in Achaia. He knew that writing would help all the churches, so he wanted the letter to be circulated among them all.

- 4 (1:2) Grace—Peace: God is the source of grace and peace (see note, pt.4—1 Cor.1:2-3; see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for discussion).

DIVISION I

THE GOD OF PAUL, 1:1-11

B. God and Suffering, 1:3-11

(1:3-11) Introduction: suffering has always posed a problem for man. It may be disease, accident, trial, temptation, abuse, death—no matter what the suffering is, every person who suffers wonders, “Why me? Why do I have to suffer this affliction?” Suffering is the great discussion of this passage: “God and Suffering.”

1. God is the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort (v.3).
2. God comforts the sufferer—so that he might be a testimony to other sufferers (v.4).
3. God matches the comfort to equal the sufferings (v.5).
4. God uses suffering to stir other believers (v.6-7).
5. God uses suffering to teach trust (v.8-10).
6. God uses suffering to teach prayer and thanksgiving (v.11).

1 (1:3) Suffering—Mercy—Comfort—God, Nature: God is the Father of mercies and the God of all comfort.

1. The word “mercies” (oiktirmon) means compassion, pity, and mercy. It means looking upon people in need and having compassion and mercy upon them.
  - ⇒ Note that God is not the God of mercies but the Father of mercies. His very nature and behavior toward us is that of a Father, not of a God. He is our Father, a Father who is merciful and compassionate, and who shows His mercies and compassions upon us.
  - ⇒ Note that the word mercies is plural. God does not show mercy just once, nor just here and there. God shows His mercies upon us continuously (cp. Ro.12:1; Ph.2:1; Col.3:12; Heb.10:28).
2. The word “comfort” (parakleseos) means to be by the side of another; to relieve and support; to give solace, consolation, and encouragement. But there is always an underlying meaning to the word. There is the idea of strength, an enablement, a confidence. It consoles and relieves a person, but it strengthens him at the same time. It charges a person to go out and face the world. Note the word is used ten times in 2 Cor.1:3-7.
  - ⇒ Note that the word comfort (parakleseos) is the same word that is used for the Holy Spirit (paraklete). The Holy Spirit is given the title The Comforter by Christ.

“If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:15-18).

3. How do we know God is like this? How do we know that God is “the Father of mercies” and the “God of all comfort”? Because of Jesus Christ. God is “the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.” It was God...
  - who “so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).
  - who demonstrated “his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

A father could show no greater mercy than to give the life of his son to save others. This is exactly what God did: He gave Christ to die for His enemies, for those who were in rebellion against Him. God has had mercy upon us, and He continues to have mercy upon us. He continues to pour out His mercy and comfort upon men. Why? Because of His nature: His very nature is that of a Father—a Father of mercies and a God of all comfort.

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children’s children” (Ps.103:17).

“For thy mercy is great above the heavens: and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds” (Ps.108:4).

“It is of the Lord’s mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil” (Joel 2:13).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

2 (1:4) Suffering—Affliction—Trials—Trouble—Comfort: God comforts the sufferer so that he might be a testimony to other sufferers.

1. The word “tribulation” (thlipsei) means to be weighed down exceedingly; to be pressed and crushed. It is the picture of a beast of burden being crushed beneath a load that is just too heavy. It is the picture of a person having a heavy weight placed on his breast and being pressed and crushed to the point that he feels he is going to die. Note the word is used four times in 2 Cor.1:3-7.

2. Note the words “us” and “all tribulation.” Paul is not only talking about his own trials and sufferings, but about ours as well. God comforts us all—all believers. He does not have favorites; His mercies and comfort are for everyone. And note: He comforts us in “all,” not in just a few of our trials and sufferings. We do not have to bear a single trial or moment of suffering by ourselves. Our Father—the Sovereign Majesty of the universe who controls all—is not off in the distance someplace far removed from us. His Spirit, the precious Holy Spirit, is right here with us to comfort us in all our suffering.

- ⇒ God’s purpose in comforting us is to make us a testimony to others.
- ⇒ God comforts us so that we can comfort others who are suffering.
- ⇒ God carries us through trials so that we can carry others through trials.
- ⇒ God strengthens us so that we can strengthen others.
- ⇒ God helps us so that we can help others.
- ⇒ God encourages us so that we can encourage others.

“Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God” (Is.40:1).

“So that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow” (2 Cor.2:7).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

3 (1:5) Suffering—Trials—Comfort: God matches the comfort to equal the sufferings. Note that the sufferings being stressed are “the sufferings of Christ,” that is, the very kind of sufferings which Christ Himself bore. What kind of sufferings did Christ bear? Very simply, Christ bore every kind of suffering imaginable, even the suffering of death. He had to experience every situation, condition, and trial of man in order to become the Perfect Sympathizer or Savior. For this reason, He experienced the most humiliating experiences possible. He experienced...

- being born to an unwed mother (Mt.1:18-19).
- being born in a stable, the worst of conditions (Lk.2:7).
- being born to poor parents (Lk.2:24).
- having his life threatened as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- being the cause of unimaginable sorrow (Mt.2:16f).
- having to be moved and shifted as a baby (Mt.2:13f).
- being reared in a despicable place, Nazareth (Lk.2:39).
- having His father die during His youth (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- having to support His mother and brothers and sisters (see note, pt.3—Mt.13:53-58).
- having no home, not even a place to lay His head (Mt.8:20; Lk.9:58).
- being hated and opposed by religionists (Mk.14:1-2).
- being charged with insanity (Mk.3:21).
- being charged with demon-possession (Mk.3:22).

- being opposed by His own family (Mk.3:31-32).
- being rejected, hated, and opposed by listeners (Mt.13:53-58; Lk.4:28-29).
- being betrayed by a close friend (Mk.14:10-11, 18).
- being left alone, rejected, and forsaken by all of His friends (Mk.14:50).
- being tried before the high court of the land on the charge of treason (Jn.18:33).
- being executed by crucifixion, the worst possible death (Jn.19:16f).

Note that each of these experiences reaches the depth of humiliation. Christ stooped to the lowest point of human experience in every condition in order to become the Perfect Sympathizer (Savior). He can now identify with and feel for any person's circumstances.

“For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham. Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:16-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

The point is this: no matter what the suffering is nor how terrible it may be, God showers us with the comfort of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. He does not just give us some strength and comfort to bear the suffering; He gives us all the strength and comfort necessary to handle all the suffering. There are no trials too great, no pressures too heavy, that God cannot match them with the comfort of the Lord Jesus Christ. Christ has borne every trial and suffering for us.

“And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not” (Lk.7:13).

“I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:18).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

4 (1:6-7) Suffering—Trials—Comfort: God uses suffering to stir up other believers. A person who suffers often becomes self-centered and begins to feel sorry for himself. He sometimes begins to feel self-pity and apathy and to want special attention. He may even become bitter. A believer must never let this happen. This is what these two verses are all about. Note that both the affliction and the comfort are for the same purposes. God uses both suffering and comfort in a believer to stir four things in other believers.

1. God uses suffering to stir consolation or comfort in others who suffer (see note, Comfort—2 Cor.1:3 for discussion).
2. God uses suffering to stir salvation. A person cannot trust God today and not trust Him tomorrow. A person cannot bless God when things are going well and curse God when things go bad. A person who truly believes in God trusts Him no matter the circumstance. He continues with God throughout life...
  - through the good times as well as the bad,
  - through suffering as well as health,
  - through rejection as well as acceptance,
  - through persecution as well as honor.

The point is this: when a believer sees another believer being comforted through some suffering, he is stirred to continue in the faith. He is stirred to continue on in the way of salvation no matter how great the suffering he has to bear.

“But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved” (Mt.24:13).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

3. God uses suffering to stir endurance. Very simply, when we suffer and allow God to comfort us, others are encouraged to endure through their sufferings.

4. God uses suffering to stir sharing among believers. Believers who suffer are not to become self-centered, bitter, discouraged, apathetic, nor are they to begin complaining. They are to allow God to comfort them. This should be the hope and expectation of every believer. God expects us to suffer with the right attitude, to allow Him to share His comfort with us. We are to share the comfort of God with others, and believers should be able to expect us to bear up under suffering. They should be able to expect us to know the comfort of God so that we can share His comfort. How can a person share the comfort of God unless he has suffered and experienced the comfort of God?

⇒ God expects us to bear suffering and to receive His comfort.

⇒ Other believers expect us to bear suffering and to receive God's comfort.

Why? Because we are to be comforting and ministering and helping each other. But how can we comfort each other unless we have experienced the comfort of God through suffering?

God uses our suffering to stir sharing with others. We are all to be busy in sharing God's comfort with each other. This is to be the hope and expectation that we have in each other.

“If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (Ph.2:1-2).

5 (1:8-10) Suffering—Trials—Comfort: God uses suffering to teach trust. God allows great suffering. He allowed Paul, probably the greatest missionary of all time, to experience terrible suffering time and again. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.1:8-10 for more discussion.) What was the suffering that is referred to in these three verses? We do not know. There is no record of it anywhere in Scripture. At first reading, it seems to be referring to the mob violence in Ephesus (Acts 19:23-41). However, this is unlikely, for Paul apparently escaped the particular trouble mentioned in the account of Acts.

The point to see is that God allowed Paul to suffer some terrible trouble. And note the intensity of the trouble: “we were pressed [weighed down, crushed by a very heavy weight]”...

- out of measure.
- above strength.
- we despaired even for our life.
- we had the sentence of death in ourselves (sensed he was going to die).

Why does God allow His dear servant to go through such suffering, especially when he is such a great servant, a servant who labors so faithfully for God? There are two primary reasons.

1. Note that God is called the “God which raises the dead.” The one thing that man must learn is that he cannot save himself; he cannot raise himself up from the dead. Only God can save man and raise him up and give him eternal life. Suffering teaches man that he is helpless to save himself. If he wishes to be saved, he must trust God. Therefore, suffering teaches man that he is not self-sufficient. Man must have the presence and help of God if he wishes to conquer the sufferings of this world—the sufferings that eventually end in the suffering of death.

2. God allows suffering to teach a daily trust for deliverance. Note: Paul says that God continued to deliver him through the trials of life and that he continued to trust God to deliver him. The point is that we must trust God daily, trust Him to deliver us from daily sufferings.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us” (2 Cor.1:10).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“And deliver them, who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:15).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliver thee, saith the Lord” (Jer.1:8).

“He delivereth and rescueth, and he worketh signs and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions” (Dan.6:27).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:8-10) Paul, Sufferings: Paul suffered greatly.

1. Paul’s life was threatened by a huge, angry mob led by Demetrius, the silversmith (Acts 19:23-40).
2. Paul knew the trouble that awaited him in Asia. “Trials which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews...in every city...bonds and afflictions await me” (Acts 20:18-27).
3. Paul says Priscilla and Aquila...risked their lives for him (Ro.16:3-4).
4. Paul says Andronicus and Junia...were his fellow prisoners (Ro.16:7).
5. Paul expresses the great victory experienced through terrifying trials (1 Cor.4:9-13).
6. Paul fought with beasts at Ephesus (1 Cor.15:32).
7. Paul says he was crushed by some fearful burden which made him despair of life itself. He told himself it was the sentence of death (2 Cor.1:8-10).
8. Paul expresses an extremely anxious mood while the memory of his days at Ephesus was still vivid (2 Cor.4:8-12; 6:4-11; cp. Acts 20:18-19).
9. Paul lists his terrifying trials. Clement of Rome says that Paul “was seven times in bonds,” which seems to agree with Paul’s description (2 Cor.11:23-27).
10. Paul, at some point while a prisoner in Rome, experienced some sorrow so great that it threatened to crush him into a frightening despair: he had feared lest “sorrow upon sorrow” befall him (Ph.2:27).

6 (1:11) Suffering—Trials—Comfort: God uses suffering to teach prayer and thanksgiving. This is a great lesson on suffering and prayer: the prayers of believers “help” us. Paul definitely says that the prayers of others helped him.

Prayer causes God to move in our behalf and to deliver us through our suffering. And when we are strengthened and delivered, everyone praises God. Intercessory prayer, prayer for others, works. God hears and answers prayer. He hears and answers our prayers for others. This is the reason Scripture stresses intercessory prayer.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me; that I may be delivered from them that do not believe in Judaea; and that my service which I have for Jerusalem may be accepted of the saints” (Ro.15:30-31).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“For I know that this shall turn to my salvation through your prayer, and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:19).

“Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God” (Col.4:12).

“Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much” (Jas.5:16).

THE PERSONAL DEFENSE OF PAUL, 1:12-2:11

A. Paul Answers Charges Against Himself: A Minister's Answer to His Attackers, 1:12-22

(1:12-22) Introduction—Paul, Accusations Against: Paul was criticized with what seems an innumerable list of charges. These criticisms or charges, which called forth the writing of this letter, are found primarily in the following passages. (See PAUL, Master Subject Index.)

1. 2 Corinthians 1:12-21. The charges were:
  - a. Unholy and improper conduct (v.12).
  - b. Hidden and selfish motives (v.13; cp. 3:12).
  - c. Fickle and indecisive (v.15).
  - d. Inconsistent in his message and preaching (v.18; cp. 6:3).
  - e. Weak and shaky in the faith (v.21).
  - f. Unanointed for the ministry (v.21; cp. 3:5).
2. 2 Corinthians 3:1. The charge was that he praised himself and lacked letters of commendation.
3. 2 Corinthians 4:1-2. The charges were:
  - a. Being sometimes faint-hearted and slack.
  - b. Doing some shameful, disgraceful, scandalous things.
  - c. Walking about deceiving people.
  - d. Mishandling the Word of God.
4. 2 Corinthians 5:12-15. The charge was that Paul was beside himself, mad, insane.
5. 2 Corinthians 7:2. The charges were:
  - a. Wronging people; treating people unjustly.
  - b. Corrupting, injuring, and destroying people.
  - c. Defrauding, cheating, and stealing from people.
6. 2 Corinthians 10:1-13. The charges were:
  - a. Walking after the flesh (unsaved or carnal) (vs.1-2).
  - b. Being a coward (vs.1-2; cp. 11:32).
  - c. Not of Christ (v.7).
  - d. Claiming unauthorized authority (v.8).
  - e. Having a weak appearance (v.10).
  - f. Being a poor speaker (v.10; cp. 11:6).
  - g. Exceeding his authority (v.13).

7. 2 Corinthians 12:11-18. The charges were:
- Not being an apostle (v.11).
  - Damaging the church's image (v.13).
  - Taking money through middle men (vs.17-18; cp. 8:20-22. See note, pt.2—2 Cor.12:13-18.)

These criticisms, so long in number, point out one thing. Paul was an extraordinary servant of God. Several other factors point to the same conclusion: his experience of every conceivable trial and suffering (2 Cor.4:8-12; 11:23-33); his special vision of heaven and the revelations given at that time (2 Cor.12:1f); his unusual thorn to keep before his mind that he was but a mere man—except in the mission and responsibility to which God had called him (2 Cor.12:7f); and his dramatic vision of the Lord at conversion (Acts 9:1f).

It is probably true to say that God chose Paul, a mere man, to make of him an example for all men. For although most ministers and Christian believers...

- have suffered some of the things Paul suffered
- have been criticized for some of the things for which Paul was criticized
- have experienced some unspeakable spiritual experiences
- have been given a thorn of some suffering
- have perhaps been converted dramatically

...there is hardly a servant who would claim to have had all the experiences that Paul had. He was a servant to whom we can all look as an example and as an encouragement—no matter what trouble confronts us.

“But the Lord said unto him [Ananias], Go thy way: for he [Paul] is a chosen vessel....” (Acts 9:15-16).

The present passage gives Paul's answer to some of the charges against him.

- He had a pure conscience (v.12).
- He did not write one thing and mean another (v.13-14).
- He was not fickle and indecisive in his plans (v.15-17).
- He was not inconsistent in his message and preaching (v.18-20).
- He was just as much in Christ and anointed as others (v.21-22).

1 (1:12) Conscience—Believer, Life: Paul had a pure conscience. He was not pricked by a violated conscience, nor consumed or nagged by guilt. The testimony of Paul's conscience was that of purity.

1. Paul lived a life of simplicity (aploteti), which means singleness of mind, a mind set upon God and being unmoved. It is the opposite of duplicity, of a dual mind and conduct. It means not being distracted or turned aside, not being double minded. It means setting one's life upon God and staying there. It means determining to follow God in all the simplicity or singleness of mind possible and doing it.

“And they, continuing daily with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread from house to house, did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart” (Acts 2:46).

“For your obedience is come abroad unto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf: but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

“But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ” (2 Cor.11:3).

“Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ” (Eph.6:5).

“Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God” (Col.3:22).

“The LORD preserveth the simple: I was brought low, and he helped me” (Ps.116:6).

“The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple” (Ps.119:130).

Note: some translations have the word “holiness” (hagioteti) instead of “simplicity.” This would simply mean that Paul lived a life of holiness, not of filth and uncleanness.

2. Paul lived a life of “godly sincerity” (eilikrineia theou) which means purity. It is the unadulterated, the pure that has been shaken and rolled through a sieve. It means the unadulterated, the pure that shows up unstained and untainted when examined in the sunlight. Paul is saying that he is pure, unstained, untainted, unadulterated in his conduct and behavior. This word is used only one other time by Paul in 1 Cor.5:8.

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth [godly sincerity]” (1 Jn.3:18).

“Now therefore fear the LORD, and serve him in sincerity and in truth: and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood, and in Egypt; and serve ye the LORD” (Josh.24:14).

3. Paul lived by the grace of God, not in fleshly wisdom. By “fleshly wisdom” is meant the human, natural, corrupt wisdom of men. It is the natural reasoning of the human mind. Paul is saying that he did not use his own reasonings...
- to set his mind upon God
  - to make new year resolutions
  - to discipline his body
  - to change his life
  - to govern his behavior
  - to control his conduct

What Paul did was set his mind upon the grace of God. By grace is meant the glorious favor of God in saving us and in showing us how to live. God’s grace has not only given us the written Word of God to tell us how to live; it has given us the living Word of God, His very own Son to live and walk as a Man upon the earth. God’s grace has given us Jesus Christ to demonstrate and show us exactly how God wants us to live. Jesus Christ shows us how to live with a pure conscience. Jesus Christ Himself is the gift of God, the grace of God to the world. God has favored the world by giving His very own Son to the world.

The point is this: Paul lived by God’s grace, by Jesus Christ. He set his mind and life upon Jesus Christ, not upon rules and principles thought up by his own fleshly mind. He gave his heart and life to Christ; therefore, God forgave his sins and removed his guilt. Thereby, he had a pure conscience.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation [behavior] in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

2 (1:13-14) Paul, Writings—Ministry: Paul did not write with a hidden and deceptive motive. Some in the church were saying that Paul’s first letter (1 Corinthians) was full of deception, claiming that Paul did not really believe in nor live the things he had written about. It was charged that in writing about spiritual matters, he was only trying to sound pious and to secure the support of the church. Paul’s response was twofold.

1. He meant and lived exactly what he had written: all that he had written and only what he had written—no more, no less. He was utterly sincere, and what he had written was the truth. There was no hidden meaning nor any duplicity in what he said; what they read and understood was exactly what he meant.

2. He had only one motive: to rejoice in the day of Christ. The Corinthians had acknowledged his testimony in the past and rejoiced in it, even as he had in their testimony. His only motive was to write and live in such a way that he and God’s people could rejoice in the day of the Lord Jesus.

3 (1:15-17) Paul, Ministry: Paul was not fickle and indecisive in his plans. The story lying behind this point is interesting. Paul had changed his plans, and by such he had left himself wide open to the charge of indecisiveness. Just what happened is unknown. One possibility is as follows.

1. Paul wrote 1 Corinthians, telling the Corinthians that he was going to visit them on his way back from Macedonia (1 Cor.16:5).

2. He later made the plans mentioned here—to visit on his way to Macedonia and on his return—thus seeing them twice (2 Cor.1:15-16).

3. But he did neither; therefore, some in the church were saying that Paul could not be trusted; that he made promises that he did not keep; that he was indecisive, fickle and frivolous; that he could not be depended upon; that he was not definite; that he could not be trusted to stick to his word “yes, yes” or “no, no.”

There is possibly another reason for Paul changing his plans.

1. Paul wrote 1 Corinthians, but he later heard that the letter had not achieved the desired effect.

2. So, he struck out for Corinth, making a quick visit. He was verbally attacked with severe accusations (2 Cor.1:12-22). His presence caused such a disturbance and had so little effect that he left the church a brokenhearted man. (See note—2 Cor.1:23-24 for more discussion.)

3. After regaining his composure and spiritual strength, he fired off a “harsh, severe letter” that has since been lost.

4. Sometime later, Paul so anxiously wanted to know the response of the Corinthians that he set out to meet Titus, the carrier of the letter, on his return trip. He meets Titus in Macedonia and learns that the letter went a long way in correcting the corruption in the church.

5. So Paul sits down to write again. He writes 2 Corinthians (his third letter to them) to further deal with the charges against himself and the corruption in the church.

In either case, what Paul is saying is that he was not indecisive and fickle. He changed his plans because he was the center of controversy and disturbance within the church—unjustifiably so—and the best way for him to handle the situation was to write and not visit (cp. 1 Cor.16:5; 2 Cor.1:15-17, 23-2:4).

Thought 1. Every believer must guard and protect what he promises. He should do everything he can to keep his word. It is the change of plans and the breaking of promises, whether justified or not, that causes the charge of being indecisive, fickle, untrustworthy, and undependable.

“Why gaddest thou about so much to change thy way?” (Jer.2:36).

“Their heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty” (Hos.10:2).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

4 (1:18-20) Paul, Accusations Against: Paul was not inconsistent in his message and preaching. Some in the church were saying that Paul’s word could not be trusted, that what he preached and taught could not be trusted. If a man treats his word so lightly, how can anything he says be trusted? How can we be sure that God has revealed His Word to Paul?

Emphatically, Paul declares that his words were not the words of a vascillator nor were they inconsistent. Note how emphatically Paul answers those who oppose him: “As God is true so is what I preach: my words were not the words of a vascillator, not yes and no; not this is true, then turning around and saying this is false. I did not preach one thing and then another.” Paul gives two forceful reasons why he preached with strong affirmation and authority, two reasons why he insisted that what he preached and taught was the truth.

1. The Son of God, Jesus Christ, was not fickle and inconsistent. He was the absolute truth; therefore, He had to proclaim “yes”—that is, nothing but the truth. The Son of God could have nothing to do with uncertainty and inconsistency, with being untrustworthy and undependable. What he preached and taught had to be the truth.

“The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)” (Acts 10:36).

“And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three sabbath days reasoned with them out of the scriptures, opening and alleging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ” (Acts 17:2-3).

2. All the promises of God are sure and certain in Christ. In Christ all the promises of God...

- are “yes”—fulfilled in Him.
- are “amen”—so be it; yes, indeed.

And when we say “Amen,” we glorify God.

The point is this: the preaching of Paul, Timothy, and Silas to the Corinthians was not untrustworthy. It is dependable. It is the truth coming from the very words of the Son of God Himself. The very words and truth of the Son of God, of Jesus Christ, have been passed on down to the Corinthians through Paul and the other apostles. The preaching and teaching of both Christ and Paul are “Yes! The promises of God in Christ are true.” And “Amen! Yes indeed.”

“And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment” (Pr.12:19).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

5 (1:21-22) Paul, Ministry: Paul was just as much in Christ and anointed as others. The word “us” refers primarily to Paul. He is comparing himself with the Corinthians and he is also including those who oppose him. In no uncertain terms, Paul says that the same God who has worked in the Corinthians has also worked in him. Note the four great things that God does for believers.

1. God “establishes” (bebaion) believers. The word means to confirm; to make firm, steadfast, and constant.

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him: rooted and built up in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving” (Col.2:6-7).

“Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work” (2 Th.2:16-17).

2. God “anoints” believers: the word means to be consecrated and qualified for service.

“The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised” (Lk.4:18).

“But ye have an unction from the Holy One, and ye know all things” (1 Jn.2:20).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

3. God “seals” (sphragizo) believers. The word means to mark, to stamp, to place a seal upon. God places His seal, His stamp, His mark upon believers.

“[God] hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:22).

4. God gives “the earnest of the Spirit” in the hearts of believers. The word “earnest” (arrobos) means guarantee, security, deposit, payment. It was the first installment paid on an item to guarantee that the rest would be paid. It was the engagement ring that guaranteed the marriage.

God has given the Holy Spirit as the guarantee of eternal life. The Holy Spirit is an advanced payment, a down payment on His promise to believers.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God” (Ro.8:16).

“And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:6).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth” (1 Jn.5:6).

DIVISION II

THE PERSONAL DEFENSE OF PAUL, 1:12-2:11

B. Paul's Reasons for Delaying a Visit to the Church: When a Minister is Under Attack, 1:23-2:4

(1:23-2:4) Introduction: What should a minister do when he is under attack by some persons in the church? Paul faced the problem, and it almost broke his heart. In fact, he changed his plan of ministry because of it. He had planned to return to Corinth, but he could not because he was the center of controversy, being heavily criticized. Rumors and falsehoods were flying everywhere, and he stood no chance of ministering to the people. Therefore, he had to go elsewhere and do what he could for Corinth from a distance. In this passage Paul gives the reasons why he could not presently minister in Corinth.

1. It was best for him to spare the rod of discipline (v.23-24).
2. It was best for him not to be the cause of pain (Ch.2, v.1).
3. It was best for him not to conflict with those whom he loved (v.2).
4. It was best for him not to be attacked and hurt time and again (v.3).
5. It was best for him to write a strong appeal (v.4).

1 (1:23-24) Minister—Paul, Ministry: it was best for the minister to spare the rod of discipline. Some within the Corinthian church were attacking Paul, accusing him of every conceivable weakness and fault (see note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor. 1:12-22). Some in the church had also become corrupt, morally and doctrinally—living in sin and teaching contrary to the Word of God.

The point is this: Paul felt it best that he not be with the church in the midst of such controversy and corruption. Therefore, he changed his plans: he did not go to them as he had originally planned. Note why: if he had gone to them, it would have been necessary for him to carry the rod of discipline so long as they were corrupt. As the minister of God, he had spiritual authority over their welfare; therefore, he would be forced to deal with their sin and shame.

But note a crucial point: in mentioning ministerial authority, he does not mean...

- that he had dominion over their faith.
- that he had the authority of a tyrant.
- that he controlled their spiritual lives.
- that he could dictate and take authority over their behavior.

What he means was this: when he came to them, he wanted to be able to minister to them, to be as he says, a “helper of their joy.” This simply means that his job as a minister was...

- to be a helper.
- to work along with them.
- to join them in their efforts to grow.
- to help them in fulfilling their joy in Christ.

Note that Paul says, “By faith ye stand [firm].” They did not stand firm because of him, but because of their faith in Christ. Paul had no personal power to make people believe in Christ nor could he make people stand firm in Christ; he could only help them. They had to make the effort to fulfill the joy of life themselves. He was only the helper in their joy. He was only the minister to serve with them. They had to seek the joy of the Lord and the joy of life themselves.

Again, the point is this: Paul felt it was best that he not be with the church, for they were not standing firm in Christ. They were engulfed in controversy over him and in sin before God. If he had gone to them, he would have become involved in discipline and not ministry. He would not have been able to help them in their growth in Christ, not while they were unwilling to seek the joy of life in Christ.

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God’s heritage, but being ensamples to the flock” (1 Pt.5:2-3).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding” (Jer.3:15).

“And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them: and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, saith the Lord” (Jer.23:4).

2 (2:1) Minister—Paul, Ministry, Trips to Corinth: it was best for the minister not to be the cause of pain. Note Paul’s words, “But I determined...that I would not come again to you in heaviness.” This just cannot apply to Paul’s first visit to Corinth, for his first visit did not end in failure and rejection. When Paul first left Corinth, he was filled with joy over the great success God had given. Therefore, he must be speaking about some other visit when the church rejected him and cut his heart, causing great heaviness.

Note also the statement in Chapter 1:23, “I came not as yet [ouk eti elthon] to Corinth.” The statement can be equally translated, “I came no more to Corinth.” This, too, points toward Paul having made a quick visit to Corinth after writing his first letter, a visit that resulted in the people rejecting him and breaking his heart (see Introduction, Special Features, pt.3—1 Corinthians for more discussion).

The point is strong: Paul loved and cared for the people and their church; he just did not want to be the cause of more pain and hurt; therefore, he stayed away.

3 (2:2) Minister—Paul, Ministry: it was best for the minister not to conflict with those whom he loved. Very simply, if Paul returned to the church, his presence would only cause pain, not gladness and joy. His presence would only cause a gloom and heaviness to settle over the congregation because of the rumors and controversy about him. There could be no gladness or joy until the rumors and sin were stopped.

Thought 1. A minister’s presence should bring joy and cheer to a congregation, not conflict and stress.

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance: but by sorrow of the heart the spirit is broken” (Pr.15:13).

4 (2:3) Minister—Paul, Ministry: it was best for the minister not to be attacked and hurt time and again. Paul longed to minister, not to have controversy and sin swirling around him, certainly not in the church. Therefore, he had written a letter urging the church to put the Lord first and to quit the controversy. The letter which he had written is the discussion of the next verse and point. His point in this verse is tragic: if he had come to them, he would be cut and hurt just as he had been before. Those who should have brought joy to him would only have attacked and criticized him again. And he just could not bear to be hurt and sorrowed by their rejection again. He could not bear to be the center of controversy and disturbance again.

“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not” (Mt.23:37).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ” (Ph.3:18).

“But if ye will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places for your pride; and mine eye shall weep sore, and run down with tears, because the Lord’s flock is carried away captive” (Jer.13:17).

“I beheld the transgressors, and was grieved; because they kept not thy word” (Ps.119:158).

5 (2:4) Minister—Paul, Ministry: it was best for the minister to write a strong appeal. Paul chose to write before he returned to the Corinthians. His heart was just broken; he could not face them and go through the pain and controversy again. The words “affliction and anguish” mean deep sorrow and distress, unbelievable pain and hurt, grief and heaviness of heart.

⇒ Note that Paul had shed many tears over the situation.

⇒ Note also that Paul had written the church not to cause grief for them, but that they might know his love for them—a love that overflowed with concern and care.

It should be kept in mind that Paul’s purpose and the church’s purpose is to reach and grow people. This was the beat of Paul’s heart. He wanted nothing to do with controversy and shame. He wanted to love and care for people.

2 CORINTHIANS 1:23-2:4

“For I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established” (Ro.1:11).

“My little children, of whom I travail in birth again until Christ be formed in you, I desire to be present with you now, and to change my voice; for I stand in doubt of you” (Gal.4:19-20).

“For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better: nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you. And having this confidence, I know that I shall abide and continue with you all for your furtherance and joy of faith; that your rejoicing may be more abundant in Jesus Christ for me by my coming to you again” (Ph.1:23-26).

“For I would that ye knew what great conflict I have for you, and for them at Laodicea, and for as many as have not seen my face in the flesh” (Col.2:1).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:4) Paul, Writings: the letter Paul refers to is either 1 Corinthians or a painful letter that has presently been lost (see note—2 Cor.1:15). This verse, when taken with the tone of the whole passage, gives great weight to a painful letter being written between 1 and 2 Corinthians. (See Introduction, Special Features, pt.3—1 Corinthians for more discussion.)

DIVISION II

THE PERSONAL DEFENSE OF PAUL, 1:12-2:11

C. Paul's Treatment of an Offender: Church Discipline & Forgiveness, 2:5-11

(2:5-11) Introduction: When a person within the church is causing trouble, what should the church do? If the divisive person is criticizing and attacking the minister or others in the church, causing controversy and disturbance, should he be disciplined and corrected? If he is gathering a clique to oppose the minister or some program in the church, what should be done with him? Should he be left alone to do his damage and disturbance? Or, should he be dealt with? Church discipline is the subject of this passage.

1. There was the offender (v.5).
2. There was church discipline and correction (v.6).
3. The first purpose for discipline: to restore the offender (v.7-8).
4. The second purpose for discipline: to free the church to fulfill its ministry (v.9).
5. The forgiving spirit of the minister (Paul) (v.10-11).

1 (2:5) Church Discipline—Division: there was the offender, a person who caused grief for the whole church. Some interpreters believe the offender was the immoral man dealt with in 1 Cor.5:1f. Others think he was the ringleader of those who opposed Paul. It is not necessary to know who the offender was to understand the passage; however, the weight of the Scripture points toward the offender being the ringleader of the opposition to Paul. How do we know this? Because the problem being dealt with was not immorality (v.1-11). There is no hint of a moral problem in these verses. The problem concerned someone who had mistreated Paul, someone who had made him the center of controversy, someone who had criticized and insulted him to such a degree that it had caused him severe pain and heaviness of heart (see outline and notes—2 Cor.1:23-2:4).

The point is this: there was a person in the church who was attacking the minister of God, Paul. The man was stirring up controversy and causing a great disturbance, and terrible grief and pain. The name and ministry of the church were being affected throughout the community.

Note a crucial point: the attacks against the minister, Paul, were not just a personal matter; that is, the attacks did not just affect the minister. The attacks affected the whole church. The man was guilty of disturbing and hurting the whole church—a very serious offense to God.

⇒ The offender needed to be dealt with lest he be destroyed.

“If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are [you is plural, meaning the church]” (1 Cor.3:17).

⇒ The offender needed to be dealt with in order to free the minister to serve without the hindrance of controversy.

“Who art thou that judgest another man's servant [God's servant]? to his own master [God] he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

⇒ The offender needed to be dealt with in order to free the church from controversy, so that it could focus upon the ministry.

“Only let your conversation [conduct, behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

2 (2:6) Church Discipline—Division: there was church discipline and correction. Apparently, one person had initially poisoned and led a clique of people to oppose Paul. Paul had insisted that the church deal with the problem and discipline the offender. Note two points.

1. The church voted on the matter and the majority agreed. They did discipline the offender. Note that the vote was not unanimous; it was only a majority (“many”).
2. Some in the church felt the discipline was not stern enough. They wanted the offender to be disciplined more severely.

Thought 1. There have been and always will be questions and different opinions about church discipline. Just like Corinth...

- some feel that the church should discipline; others feel that it should not discipline.
- some feel that discipline should be light; others feel that it should be more heavy-handed.

There are three lessons seen in this passage thus far:

1. A man was committing so much wrong in the Corinthian church that the minister felt the man had to be disciplined and corrected. Therefore, the minister encouraged the church to deal with the matter.
2. The church followed the advice of the minister and considered the matter, and the majority of the church members agreed. They disciplined and corrected the offender.
3. Not everyone agreed with the discipline, nor with the severity of the discipline. However, the church did discipline the man, and the man was corrected despite differences of opinion. The minister and the majority of church members did rule.

“I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare” (2 Cor.13:2).

“Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness [discipline], according to the power which the Lord hath given me to edification, and not to destruction” (2 Cor.13:10).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself” (Tit.3:10-11).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

3 (2:7-8) Church Discipline: the first purpose for discipline is the restoration of the offender. This is critical to note: it is one of the two major purposes for church discipline. Any believer who attacks God’s minister and disturbs the church must be corrected. The offending brother must be corrected not only for the sake of the church and the minister, but for his own sake. The offending believer must be restored to the point that he loves God and the people of God, including the minister of God.

Note that the man had repented of his sin: he was gripped with sorrow—much sorrow (v.7). Therefore, the purpose of the discipline had been achieved. Hence, Paul encouraged the church to restore him. Note the four things involved in restoration.

1. There is the forgiveness of the church. The man had committed a terrible sin: criticizing and attacking God’s minister, disturbing the fellowship of the church, and affecting the name and witness of the church in the community. There was the danger of some church members holding bad feelings and not forgiving the man. The exhortation of Paul and Scripture is strong: “Forgive him.”

Forgiveness would also involve bringing the person back into the fellowship of the church if he had been excommunicated or had his membership withdrawn.

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have aught against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil” (Lk.11:4).

“And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him” (Lk.17:4).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ hath forgiven you” (Col.3:13).

2. There is the comfort or the encouragement of the church. The man needed to be comforted and encouraged. Unquestionably, he felt shame and embarrassment, for he had been the focus of church-wide attention and discipline. He would also be wondering just how people really felt about him. Would they be forgiving and accepting or withdrawn and begrudging. The man had created a scandal and hurt both Paul and the church; therefore, the only way he could ever be comforted and relieved of guilt would be for both Paul and the church to strengthen him in that comfort and assurance.

“So that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow” (2 Cor.2:7).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do. And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you; and to esteem them very highly in love for their work’s sake. And be at peace among yourselves. Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:11-14).

“Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God” (Is.40:1).

3. There is the repentance of the offender. The man who attacked Paul had repented. He had demonstrated a repentant, godly sorrow (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Godly Sorrow—2 Cor.7:10). Therefore, it was time for restoration. The purpose for the discipline had been achieved.

However, note Paul’s concern and warning. There is danger that the discipline can last too long and be too severe. There is a point at which the discipline can become destructive instead of corrective. Where is that point? The offender must be forgiven and comforted...

- before he is “swallowed up with sorrow,” that is, before he falls into deep depression and despair.

Once he has repented and demonstrated genuine sorrow, he is to be restored back into the fellowship of the church.

“I have shewed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Him that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations [arguments, discussions]” (Ro.14:1).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

4. There is the assurance and demonstration of love by the church. The believers were to go out of their way to show the man that he was loved. The discipline and correction were only to straighten out the mess and to get everyone back on the track of loving one another and ministering for the Lord.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you [sacrificially]” (Jn.15:12).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind [loving] one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:31-32).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another [sacrificially]” (1 Jn.4:10-11).

4 (2:9) Church Discipline: the second purpose for the discipline was the obedience of the church to its mission. Very simply, as long as the church allowed the man to continue his disturbance, the church could not focus upon its mission and ministry. It could not do its work; it was being disobedient to God, allowing controversy and division to rule. Its fellowship was being ruined, and its very purpose for being upon earth was being drastically affected.

The point is this: Paul had instructed the church to discipline the offender in order to prove its obedience to Christ.

- ⇒ If the church was concerned about obeying Christ, then it had to deal with the man.
- ⇒ If the church was not concerned with obeying Christ, then it would continue to allow its minister to be attacked, focusing its attention on controversy instead of on its ministry.

As stated, the second purpose for disciplining the offender was to free the church from controversy, allowing it to focus upon its mission and ministry.

It is through the correction of offenders and disturbances that the church proves...

- its love for the offending brother and its minister.
- obedience to Christ “in all things.”

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Only let your conversation [conduct, behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

5 (2:10-11) Church Discipline: there was the forgiving spirit of the minister. Paul says that he forgave the man for three reasons.

1. Paul forgave the man in order to help the church and himself. The very foundation and nature of the church is forgiveness. The church exists because God forgives our sins. Therefore, if the church refuses to forgive a person who truly repents, the church is denying its very nature and purpose for existing. The church has no reason for ever existing if it does not forgive and restore people into the fellowship.

The point is this: the minister must take the lead in forgiving and in teaching forgiveness. Therefore, Paul forgave the man and encouraged the Corinthian church to forgive the man as well. As Paul says, “I forgave it [the wrong done me], for your sakes.”

2. Paul forgave the man for the sake of Christ. “In the person of Christ” means in the presence or face of Christ, that is, before Christ. Christ is so displeased with an unforgiving spirit, that he refuses to forgive the sins of any man who is unforgiving. The heart of Christ pours out in forgiveness; therefore, he expects all men to be forgiving of others. Paul loved Christ, loved Him with all of his heart; therefore, Paul could not cut the heart of Christ with an unforgiving spirit. Paul had to forgive the man for the sake of Christ.

3. Paul forgave the man to keep Satan from getting an advantage. The results would have been tragic.

- a. Satan would have had an advantage over the man. If the church had not forgiven him...
  - he would have remained out of the church, out in the world.
  - he would have been subject to falling into depression and despair, to being swallowed up with sorrow.
- b. Satan would have had an advantage over Paul. Paul’s ministry would have become ineffective, for God could no longer bless a man who did not do what he was preaching: forgiving the sins of men.
- c. Satan would have had an advantage over the church for the same reason. God would not be able to use the church any longer, for it would be denying its very purpose for existing. Instead of opening its doors to the repentant sinner, it would be closing its doors to meeting the needs of people—people who are ever so precious to God.

Note what Paul says: “We are not ignorant of his [Satan’s] devices.” Satan has great influence upon men and their affairs. Believers must not be ignorant of his devices to tempt and destroy people.

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:26-27).

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph.6:10-11).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

A. The Ministry: An Overview, 2:12-17

(2:12-17) Introduction: this is a clear picture of the minister and the ministry to which God has called him. It is a strong challenge for the minister to be just what God has called him to be and to do just what God has called him to do.

1. The minister is gripped with a passion (v.12-13).
2. The minister always triumphs in Christ (v.14).
3. The minister is a sweet fragrance to God (v.15-16).
4. The minister has stern demands laid upon him (v.16-17).

1 (2:12-13) Minister—Ministry: the minister is gripped by a burning passion to preach and a deep concern for troubled churches. Paul is still describing his great love and concern for the believers in the Corinthian church (v.4).

When he was forced to leave Ephesus (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.1:8-10), he had planned to go to Corinth, but the personal attacks against him by some members made it unwise (see outline and notes—2 Cor.1:23-2:4). Instead of making a personal visit, he felt it would be much wiser to try to solve the problem by writing a stern letter to them. He apparently sent Titus to Corinth with the stern letter and with instructions to do what he could to help the church in correcting the controversy. After he had done all he could, Titus was supposed to meet Paul in Troas where Paul would be ministering. The point is twofold.

1. The minister had a burning passion to preach Christ. Paul could not sit still; he had to preach Christ. He wanted to minister in Corinth, but the Corinthian church had allowed a clique to form against him. Therefore, it was impossible to minister there. But Paul could not cease to minister; God had called him and he could not fail God. The passion to preach Christ burned within him. The Corinthians might shut the door to his ministering among them, but they could not stop him from ministering elsewhere. Therefore, he changed his plans; he went to Troas. And because he was faithful in seeking opportunities to preach and minister, the Lord opened a great door of ministry for him at Troas.

“...necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou and preach the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:60).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

2. The minister had a deep concern for troubled churches. The Corinthian church was in trouble, serious trouble. As with any faithful minister, Paul's heart reached out to all involved. Week after week passed, apparently stretching into several months, and no word had come from Titus about the welfare of the Corinthian church. Paul was anxious and concerned. As he said, “I had no rest [relief] in my spirit.” The situation got to Paul: he could not stand the suspense any longer. Therefore, he struck out for Macedonia looking for Titus along the great highway stretching across the province.

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“Beside, those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the churches” (2 Cor.11:28).

“For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults” (2 Cor.12:20).

“I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labour in vain” (Gal.4:11).

“Night and day praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might perfect that which is lacking in your faith” (1 Th.3:10).

2 (2:14) Minister—Victory: the minister always triumphs in Christ. Paul found Titus, and he covers the meeting in Chapter 7. The news was glorious: the church had responded and experienced revival. Just the thought of what had happened in the church caused Paul to break forth in thanksgiving. Paul had every reason to thank God, for he had been heavily criticized and attacked by a clique in the church and the church was about to be destroyed by controversy and divisiveness. He thanked God for the glorious triumph which God always gives to His ministers through Christ. God never fails His ministers, and He had not failed Paul. He had caused Paul to triumph in Christ.

The picture of triumph is descriptive. It is the picture of a military commander returning to Rome after some great victory. The commander was always welcomed into the city in a great march of triumph. Most people have seen such scenes in films either on television or in movies.

What Paul pictures is the triumph of Christ. He sees God giving Christ the glorious and triumphant victory as the Word of God is proclaimed throughout the world. And Paul sees himself, as a minister of God, being a part of that glorious and triumphant victory.

Note several points.

1. It is God who causes the minister to triumph. God Himself is looking after the minister, never taking His eyes or care off His dear servant. The journey may sometimes get rough, and the minister may even be attacked and abused, but God never forsakes the minister.

2. God always causes the minister to triumph over all attacks and all trouble and problems. The true minister of God will never know defeat—not permanently. Even if he falls and fails for a period of time, God will eventually reach him and restore him and continue to use him. God will always cause His dear servant to triumph over all. There is nothing, absolutely nothing that can conquer and gain the final victory and triumph over God’s minister—not if he is truly called of God. The glorious triumph over all is assured.

3. The triumph of the minister is “in Christ” and in Christ alone. The minister must...

- |                       |                      |
|-----------------------|----------------------|
| • believe in Christ   | • minister in Christ |
| • trust in Christ     | • live in Christ     |
| • be called in Christ | • move in Christ     |
| • serve in Christ     | • be in Christ       |

The minister is no different from anyone else: his only victory is in Christ. He must trust and live in Christ just as everyone else. He is not acceptable to God apart from Christ. His acceptance before God is based upon the same thing as everyone else’s: faith in Christ. Therefore, to triumph “in Christ” the minister must be “in Christ”; that is, he must believe in and live in Christ. The minister triumphs in Christ and in Christ alone.

4. God uses the minister to spread the knowledge of Christ everywhere. This is the reason God causes the minister to triumph: to spread the glorious message of Christ all over the world. God is out to reach every person He can: to see to it that every person knows about the love of Christ. The word “savour” simply means fragrance or aroma, like the fragrance of a flower. God spreads the fragrance of His Word through His ministers.

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us” (Ro.8:35-37).

“Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place” (2 Cor.2:14).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?” (1 Jn.5:4-5).

“And he that overcometh, and he that keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give authority over the nations” (Rev.2:26).

“He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment: and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels” (Rev.3:5).

“Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name” (Rev.3:12).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

“He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son” (Rev.21:7).

3 (2:15-16) Minister: the minister is a sweet fragrance to God, for he spreads the message of Christ among the saved and the perishing. The picture is that of a flower. The flower is a sweet fragrance to men; therefore, the flower is acceptable to men. The minister is a sweet fragrance to God; therefore, the minister is acceptable to God. But it means more than just being acceptable, much more. It means this: to God the minister is...

- |              |              |                          |
|--------------|--------------|--------------------------|
| • acceptable | • satisfying | • worthy of attention    |
| • pleasing   | • fulfilling | • worthy of care         |
| • enjoyable  | • precious   | • worthy of preservation |

Thought 1. This is a most reassuring and comforting truth to the minister, especially the minister who is under attack as Paul had been. The minister is precious, very precious to God; he is under the wing of God's eternal love and care.

Note what it is that makes the minister a sweet fragrance to God: it is the fact that the minister spreads the message ("knowledge") of Christ. And note to whom he spreads it: to both the saved and the perishing. The minister is the fragrance of life to those who are saved and the fragrance of death to those who perish. Wherever the faithful minister is, he spreads the fragrance of life and death, the message that men can have life in Christ or else the message that men shall die without Christ—die and be separated from God eternally.

Picture the faithful minister in a room with a group of people. The minister's presence and words give off a fragrance to everyone present.

1. To the saved, the minister represents the life that is in Christ, the fact that our lives are to be dedicated to God and ministering to the needs of people. The minister spreads the fragrance of "life unto life," that people can live now and live forever.

2. To the unsaved (those who perish), the minister represents death, the fact that one does not believe in the life of Christ represented by the minister. Therefore, the minister spreads the fragrance of death unto death, that people are dead to God now and shall be eternally dead to God in the hereafter.

Thought 1. The message of Christ is either life or death to a person.

1) Christ is either counted precious and accepted or counted unworthy and rejected.

"Unto you therefore which believe he is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner" (1 Pt.2:7).

2) Christ is either loved as the Light of the world or hated as the Light of condemnation.

"And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved" (Jn.3:19-20).

4 (2:16-17) Minister: the minister has stringent demands laid upon him. The minister has an awesome responsibility. Just imagine being responsible for a message that involves both eternal life and eternal death.

Who is sufficient or qualified for such a task? Is any man? Paul says, "Yes," but not many. The only men who are qualified are those who meet five stringent demands.

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

1. The qualified man does not "corrupt the word of God." The word "corrupt" (kapeleuontes) is taken from an old word meaning huckster or peddler. It means to peddle, to adulterate, to whittle down, to contaminate, to tamper with the Word of God. It means to mix other things into the gospel, for example, personal ideas, speculations, the latest religious fads or novel ideas.

"Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God" (Mt.22:29).

"For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ" (2 Cor.2:17).

"But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God" (2 Cor.4:2).

2. The qualified man is "sincere" (eilikrineia). This means that the minister and his motives are pure and unadulterated, that he and his motives have been shaken and rolled through a sieve. The minister is unstained and untainted when inspected. He is in the ministry to serve God and to help people. He is not in the ministry because he respects it as a profession, nor for any other reason. God has called him, and he is gripped by the necessity to serve God.

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

3. The qualified man is “of God.” He is called, commissioned, and sent by God; and he lives by the grace and strength of God and for God. It also means that he is “of God,” of God’s nature and character, living a godly life.

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

4. The qualified man lives “in the sight of God.” He is conscious and aware of God’s presence, knowing that he lives and moves in the sight of God every moment of every day. He knows...

- that God sees him in his every need; therefore, God looks after and cares for him.
- that God sees everything he does; therefore, he walks carefully and righteously so that he can please God.

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:3-6).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever” (Heb.13:20-21).

5. The qualified man “speaks in Christ.” He speaks in the communion and fellowship and power of Christ. He does not speak in his own energy and strength, but in the energy and strength of Christ. He lives in fellowship with Christ; therefore, when he witnesses and preaches, he is able to share the fellowship and presence of Christ under the anointing of the Lord’s presence.

“Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing. If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:4-7).

“Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

“And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?” (Lk.24:32).

“God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord” (1 Cor.1:9).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

“The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth” (Ps.145:18).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

B. The Ministry: Its Credentials, 3:1-5

(3:1-5) Introduction: churches often have to consider the credentials of ministers, in particular when they are either seeking a new minister or handling some problem surrounding a minister. What are the credentials that should be considered? The present passage gives several important considerations.

1. The minister's credentials are not letters of commendation (v.1).
2. Credential 1: lives written upon the minister's heart (v.2).
3. Credential 2: lives written by Christ through the minister (v.3).
4. Credential 3: being qualified and made fit by God (v.4-5).

- 1 (3:1) Ministers, Qualification: the minister's credentials are not letters of commendation. There were those in the Corinthian church who accused Paul...
- of pride and arrogance
  - of acting as though he was the messenger of God, more special than others
  - of claiming that what he said was the Word of God itself and what others said was less than the Word of God
  - of acting as though he had a corner on the truth
  - of praising and commending himself
  - of exalting himself above others

Paul had just declared that he did not corrupt the Word of God as many do, and that his ministry was based upon a true call of God (2 Cor.2:17). He knew that those who opposed him were going to jump on his claim and again accuse him of exalting himself—accuse him of acting as though he was the messenger of God who had a corner on the truth. Therefore, Paul begins to head off and prevent the accusation.

Very simply, why should the Corinthians or anyone else listen to Paul, the minister? What credentials does he have that should cause people to listen to him and his claims?

In answering the questions and in establishing his credentials, there is one basic truth: the minister's credentials are not letters of commendation. Men always have and probably always will place some confidence in letters of reference or commendation, but as all responsible people know, such letters are often exaggerated and uncertain. They are not always accurate or truthful. Therefore, a person is not really known until he has proven himself on some field of ministry or in some position.

Note: Paul says that some in the Corinthian church had used letters of reference to recommend themselves to the church. This apparently refers to some other teachers or ministers in the church, perhaps the very ones who were opposing Paul. Paul's point is this: his commendation to the church is not letters of reference, but something of far more value. The credentials he presents to the church mean much more, far more than letters of commendation.

Thought 1. The minister's letters of commendation are not his primary credentials. He is not qualified for the ministry because some people think highly of him, nor because some people recommend that he minister or enter the ministry. There are some qualifications, some credentials that mean far more than excellent letters of commendation.

- 2 (3:2) Minister—Paul, Ministry: the first credential of the minister is the human lives written upon his heart. Two striking things are being said.
1. Paul says that the Corinthian believers were written upon his heart. Anyone who knew him could see that he deeply cared for the Corinthian church; that he was always praying for them and expressing love and concern for them. He cherished them. They were dear to him, so dear that he could actually say that they were written in his heart.

2 CORINTHIANS 3:1-5

The point is this: people are far more important than letters. A minister's commendation is not letters of recommendation, but a heart...

- that has people written upon it
- that endears people to itself
- that loves and cares for people
- that deeply feels for people
- that cannot let people go
- that must reach and grow people for Christ

This is the true letter of commendation that should matter to a church: a heart that has people written upon it.

2. Paul says that the fact was known and read by all men. Anyone could look and read the lives of the Corinthian believers and tell that they were in the heart of Paul. Paul had gone to Corinth to minister to the people, and some had been reached and others grown in the Lord. Their testimony was his letter of commendation, and their testimony before the world was far more important than a letter of commendation.

Thought 1. A minister's greatest commendation is the changed lives of people. The fact that a minister has led people to Christ and grown them in Christ speaks far more than letters of commendation.

“Am I not an apostle? am I not free? have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? are not ye my work in the Lord? If I be not an apostle unto others, yet doubtless I am to you: for the seal of mine apostleship are ye in the Lord” (1 Cor.9:1-2).

“For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming? For ye are our glory and joy” (1 Th.2:19-20).

“And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you; and to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:12-13).

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine” (1 Tim.5:17).

“Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation” (Heb.13:7).

Thought 2. The believer is said to be “read by all men.” Day by day believers must be careful what they write by their lives, for the public is closely observing and reading exactly what they do.

3 (3:3) Minister—Paul, Ministry: the second credential of the minister is the lives written by Christ through the minister. This is a critical point to note, for the minister is not the one who converts and changes the lives of people.

1. It is Christ and Christ alone who converts and grows people.

- a. The lives of believers are said to be “the epistle [letter] of Christ.” Christ is the author of the believer's life, the author of his conversion and righteousness. Whatever change is wrought in the believer's life—whatever love, joy, peace, and assurance of life—is all due to Christ.
- b. The lives of believers are not written with ink which men use, but with the Spirit of the living God. Christ uses the Spirit of God when He wishes to communicate a message to men.
  - ⇒ He does not write the message upon tables of stone as He did when He gave the commandments to Moses.
  - ⇒ he writes upon the fleshy tables of the heart. He puts his message upon the hearts of men, which causes men to live changed lives.

2. It is the minister who ministers to the lives of believers. Note the words “ministered by us.” Paul is saying that Christ creates the letter, the lives of believers, and the minister looks after and cares for it.

Thought 1. The greatest commendation that a minister can have is not letters of recommendation, but...

- Christ written in the lives of people
- the Spirit of the living God written in the conduct and behavior of people
- the law of God written upon the hearts of people

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

4 (3:4-5) Minister—Paul, Ministry: the third credential is the minister being qualified and made fit by God. Paul declares two significant points about his ministry.

1. He was made fit for the ministry through Christ. He was not sufficient for the ministry, not in and of himself. His only sufficiency was of God. He could not make himself fit for the ministry even if he had wished to do so. He had no power...

- to change the heart of a person
- to give life to a person

2 CORINTHIANS 3:1-5

- to give the assurance and security of God's presence and care to a person.
- to give the Spirit of God to a person.
- to write the law of God in the heart of a person.

Only Christ could do such spiritual work; therefore, only Christ can qualify and fit the minister to share God's Word with people. The gift of life and the power to give life is of God and of God alone.

⇒ Therefore, no man could share the gift of life unless God called him to share it.

⇒ And no man has the power to share the gift of life unless God gives him the power.

2. Note the words "to God-ward." The words mean that the minister serves God and that he serves before God, before the gaze and inspection of God. The minister is not only qualified and made fit by God, he is responsible to God for how he ministers. The minister has no greater commendation than the fact that he is qualified and fitted for the ministry by both Christ and God.

The point is striking: a minister's credentials are the presence and power of Christ in his life...

- the fact that God is moving and working in and through his ministry
- the fact that great works are being done that could not be done by the sufficiency of men
- the fact that great works are being done that could be done only by God

"John answered and said, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven" (Jn.3:27).

"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing" (Jn.15:4-5).

"Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God" (2 Cor.3:5).

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

C. The Ministry: Its New Covenant, 3:6-18

(3:6-18) Introduction: this is a graphic picture of the minister's ministry—he serves the new covenant. This passage is also a graphic contrast between the old covenant and the new covenant.

1. The minister serves a new covenant (v.6).
2. The old was a written law; the new is the Spirit (v.6).
3. The old kills; the new gives life (v.6).
4. The old was glorious; the new is more glorious (v.7-8).
5. The old brought condemnation; the new brings righteousness (v.9-10).
6. The old faded away; the new is permanent (v.11).
7. The old spoke with veiled meanings; the new speaks with plain meaning (v.12-16).
8. The new covenant brings liberty through the Lord Jesus Christ (v.17-18).

1 (3:6) Covenant—Minister: the minister serves the new covenant. The word "testament" (diathekes) is better translated covenant. It means an agreement made between two parties; a contract drawn up between two or more people; a special relationship set up and established between persons. In the Old Testament period of history, God had set up an old covenant between Himself and man which is here called the covenant of the letter. This simply means a written covenant or the covenant of the law. Since Christ, He has set up a new covenant with man which is here called the "new covenant of the Spirit." This is simply another way of describing the covenant of grace or of the gospel (Heb.8:8). Vine points out that this covenant is called the "new" (Heb.9:15), the "second" (Heb.8:7), and the "better" (Heb.7:22). (Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell Co. No date listed.)

The point is this: God used to deal with man by law, but now He deals with man through the Holy Spirit. The law was the old covenant between God and man. The Spirit is the new covenant between God and man. Today, since Christ, the minister serves the new covenant of the Spirit, not the old covenant of the law.

This is significant for the minister: it means that the new covenant has to do with God's Spirit, that is, with a personal relationship with God. Therefore, the only way a minister can share the new covenant of God's Spirit with people is for God to allow Him. It is God's presence and God's Spirit being dealt with; therefore, no man can share God's presence and God's Spirit unless God allows him. God has to make the man fit, able, and adequate. This is what Paul is saying. God has allowed us to share His Spirit, His new covenant. God has called us and qualified and equipped us to minister the new covenant. And the new covenant of His Spirit—of a personal relationship with Him—is far superior to the old covenant.

2 (3:6) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant was a written law; the new covenant is the Spirit of God Himself. The old covenant was written words and letters, a written document, a set of laws that men had to obey (Ex.24:1-8). The fact to note is this: the law was external; it sat outside man and insisted that man subject himself to the rule and obey it.

The new covenant is different, entirely different. It is internal, within man. It is a personal relationship with God, a relationship that is created by God Himself. When a person believes in God's Son, God places His Spirit in the heart of the person, and the person becomes a Spirit filled person.

"But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you" (Jn.14:26).

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1 Cor.3:16).

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor.6:19-20).

3 (3:6) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant or law killed; the new covenant gives life. How does the law kill? There are two ways.

First, when society sets a law before a man, he has to obey it. If he fails to obey it, he breaks and severs his relationship with society and he has to bear the punishment of a broken and severed relationship. He has to be put away, cut off, separated from society. The punishment for breaking God's law is the same: when a man breaks God's law, he breaks and severs his relationship with God. He cuts himself off from God; he has no relationship, no connection, no life with God. The law kills him, his relationship and life with God.

Second, the law is only letters and words written on paper, stone, or wood. It is external and outside man. It only commands; it does not give man the power to do the command. The will, ability, and power to obey are entirely left up to the man. The man may wish to keep the commandment, but he may not have the will or power to keep it. Therefore, he breaks the law, and the law kills him. It should be noted that the law not only kills man externally, but through guilt and despair, it kills his human spirit and will, sapping his energy, ambition, drive, and hope.

"For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them" (Ro.10:5).

"Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them" (Gal.3:10).

"The man that doeth them shall live in them" (Gal.3:12).

The new covenant is different, wonderfully different. The Spirit gives life. He gives life by doing two things.

1. The Holy Spirit enters a believer's life, imparting the "divine nature" of God to him (2 Pt.1:4). The believer becomes a "new creation," a "new man," a spiritual man with a transformed mind that focuses upon God.

"Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust" (2 Pt.1:4).

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Cor.5:17).

"And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph.4:24).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

2. The Holy Spirit infuses the desire to please God. And, although the new man fails often, he is pricked by the indwelling Spirit of God to confess, ask forgiveness, and to cast himself afresh upon the strength and care of God. His whole desire is now to trust God, to depend upon Him completely for life and breath and all the necessities of life. Simply put, his whole life is now wrapped up in God and the things of God.

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 Jn.1:9).

"Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you" (1 Pt.5:7).

"But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you" (Mt.6:33).

4 (3:7-8) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant or law was glorious; the new covenant is more glorious.

1. How can the law which kills and ministers death be said to be glorious?

⇒ The law was glorious in that it was given to Moses by God Himself—face to face.

⇒ The law was glorious in that it reveals the nature of God Himself, that He is holy and righteous and must be approached in holiness and righteousness.

⇒ The law was glorious in that it pointed men to their desperate need for salvation. It showed men as nothing else could that they were sinners and short of God's glory and desperately needed a Savior.

The glory of the old covenant is illustrated by Moses' experience in receiving the law from God. God Himself gave Moses the law face to face, and being in the presence of God caused Moses' face to shine with the glory of God. In fact, the glory upon Moses' face was so bright, the people could not continually look upon him (Ex.34:30).

Note what Paul says: the glory of God which was upon Moses' face was to pass away. Paul is saying that this was a symbol of God upon the old covenant. The glory of God upon the old covenant was to pass away. The old covenant, the law, was meant to be only a temporary arrangement between God and man.

2. The new covenant is different, gloriously different. The difference is clearly seen in the thought provoking question asked: if the old covenant that ministered death was glorious, how shall the ministry of the Spirit not be more glorious? The answer is obvious: the ministry of the Spirit is to give life to men and the power to live life; and life is far more glorious than death. In fact, life is eternally more glorious than death.

5 (3:9-10) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant or law brought condemnation; the new covenant brings righteousness. The law condemned a man when he broke the law. He was condemned to a broken and severed relationship with God. The man was to die. However the new covenant, the Spirit of God, imparted righteousness, the very nature of God to a man (2 Pt.1:4). Therefore, the glory of the new covenant exceeds the old covenant so much that by comparison the old covenant has no glory at all (v.10).

6 (3:11) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant or law faded away; the new covenant remains and is permanent. As Matthew Henry points out: when the sun rises, the light of a lamp fades and diminishes (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.5. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell Co., p.614). It might be added that its function is no longer needed. The light of the lamp is superceded by a much greater light.

The glory of the new covenant is permanent. Its glory and function will never be superceded. There will be no new relationship set up between man and God, no new way for man to become related to God. The final covenant between God and man has been set and established forever. If a man is ever to have a relationship with God, he must allow God's Spirit to enter his heart and life. There is no other way to live with God. If a man wishes to live forever with God, he must invite God's Spirit into his life.

"But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Ro.8:9).

"But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken [eternally] your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you" (Ro.8:11).

"For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live [eternally]" (Ro.8:13).

Thought 1. The point of this whole section (v.6-11) is to discuss the new covenant which the minister serves. The minister does not serve the old covenant of the law; he serves the new covenant of God's Spirit.

"For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Mt.26:28)

"For this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins" (Ro.11:27).

"A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you: and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh. And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them" (Ezk.36:26-27; cp. Heb.8:8-13).

7 (3:12-16) Covenant, Old vs. New: the old covenant spoke with veiled meaning; the new covenant speaks with plain (outspoken, clear, and bold) meaning.

1. The new covenant gives such a glorious hope that the minister of God can proclaim it clearly and boldly. Of course, the reason he can proclaim it so clearly and boldly is because the new covenant is given by the Spirit in a clear and unveiled message.

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual" (1 Cor.2:12-13).

2. The old covenant was not like the new covenant. The old covenant was set up by God with veiled meanings.
- a. The veiled meaning is illustrated by Moses. When the people saw the glory of God shining in the face of Moses, Moses had to put a veil upon his face. Why? Because the people withdrew from the glory of God, and because the people were not to see the fading away of the glory from Moses' face. Note the exact words of Paul: Moses veiled his face so that they "could not stedfastly look to the end of that which is abolished." Paul is saying that what Moses did was an illustration of how man sees the old covenant or law. Man looks at the law and sees that he is to obey it if he wishes to please God. Therefore, man works and works to keep the law, believing all the time that he is earning the favor and acceptance of God. Man is blinded to the real meaning of the law. The glory and meaning of the law are veiled from his sight; he is unable...
    - to see the real meaning of the law
    - to see that the law was given to reveal the nature of God's glory and perfection
    - to see that man comes short of the glory and perfection of God

- to see that man cannot keep the law, not perfectly
- to see that the law was given to show man his desperate need for a Savior

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which vail is done away in Christ” (2 Cor.3:14).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:7).

“They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course” (Ps.82:5).

“But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel” (Mic.4:12).

- b. Even today when the Old Testament is read, those who still follow the law are blinded to the truth. The veil still remains covering the true glory of God. They still do not understand the true purpose of the law: to point men to their need for a Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ. It is Christ and Christ alone who has removed the veil to the glory of God. Men can face and see the glory of God only in Jesus Christ.

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest; because I said, I am the Son of God? If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him” (Jn.10:36-38).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works” (Jn.14:9-10).

- c. The veil of the old covenant is removed only when a person turns to the Lord. When a person truly turns to Jesus Christ, he is shown how Jesus Christ is the glory of God and the end, purpose, and fulfillment of the law. The veil is removed from the law, and he understands the marvelous glory of God.

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith. But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster” (Gal.3:24-25).

8 (3:17-18) Covenant, New: the new covenant brings liberty through the Lord Jesus Christ. Note that the Lord is identified as the Spirit: “the Lord is that Spirit.” This does not mean that the Lord Jesus and the Holy Spirit are the same Person. They are two different Persons, but they are one in their Godhead and Deity. Jesus Christ is One with the Spirit in the same way He is one with God the Father: one in mind, spirit, being, nature, and essence. Therefore, they are one in will, purpose, and work.

“He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you. All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it unto you” (Jn.16:14-15).

Note how the Father, Christ, and the Holy Spirit are all involved in showing and revealing salvation to man. This is what is meant by saying the Lord is that Spirit. The Lord Himself was actually the One who secured salvation and liberty for man, but it is the Spirit who is actively involved in revealing the truth of salvation and liberty to man. “Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.”

1. In Christ there is liberty and freedom: “Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty [freedom].”
  - a. Christ frees the believer from the dominion of sin.

“For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace” (Ro.6:14).

2 CORINTHIANS 3:6-18

- b. Christ frees the believer from the law.

“Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God” (Ro.7:4).

“But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held; that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter” (Ro.7:6).

“But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law” (Gal.5:18).

- c. Christ frees the believer from the bondage of fear.

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage agan to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

- d. Christ frees the believer from the power of Satan, which is the fear of death.

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

- e. Christ frees the believer from the bondage of corruption.

“Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God....and not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body” (Ro.8:21, 23).

2. In beholding Christ, believers are transformed into His image. The phrase “we all” means believers, those who have turned to Christ...

- who have had the veil removed from their face
- who stand face to face with the glory of the Lord

When a believer receives Jesus Christ as his Savior, he is given the privilege to stand face to face with Christ. This simply means that he is given the privilege to know and understand Christ. Note several points.

- a. The phrase “open face” means that the believer is given the privilege of standing face to face with Christ, the privilege of knowing Christ personally and learning all about Him. There is no veil over the face or eyes of the believer, nothing to keep him from knowing the Lord.
- b. The object of the believer is to behold the glory of the Lord. This means to behold the Godhead and deity of the Lord, the splendor, brilliance, and excellence of His person and Being. Jesus Christ is the Son of God who became Man. His “glory” refers to the glorious fact that He as the Son of God did become Man. When a person grasps this fact, he understands the “glory of the Lord,” the incomprehensible fact that the Lord paid the supreme and ultimate price, the unbelievable price, for the salvation of man.

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

- c. The believer, however, never grasps the full glory of the Lord. No man, who is only finite and flesh, could ever understand the Lord, who is infinite Spirit. The believer only sees and understands the glory of the Lord as in a glass or a mirror. That is, he only sees a reflection of the Lord, not the full image. Presently, the believer is able to see the Lord only through the Word and the Holy Spirit; in the future, he shall stand face to face with the Lord throughout all eternity. Then he will know the Lord even as the Lord now knows him.

“For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face: now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known” (1 Cor.13:12).

- d. The believer is changed or transformed into the image of Christ from glory to glory. This probably means two things.
  - ⇒ When the believer beholds (grasps, understands, studies, lays hold of) the glory of the Lord, the same glory is created in him.
  - ⇒ When the believer beholds the glory of the Lord, the believer progresses and grows from one stage of glory to a higher stage.

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

D. The Ministry: Its Demands, 4:1-6

(4:1-6) Introduction: the demands of the ministry are clear and are to be heeded by every minister of Christ.

1. The ministry demands constancy, demands that we not faint (v.1).
2. The ministry demands honesty and integrity in life and ministry (v.2).
3. The ministry demands not hiding the gospel (v.3-4).
4. The ministry demands servitude, demands that we preach Christ and serve man, not self (v.5).
5. The ministry demands personal conversion, demands the very presence of God Himself shining in a person's heart (v.6).

1 (4:1) Ministry—Stedfastness—Faint Not: the ministry demands constancy, demands that one never faint. The words "faint not" (ouk egkakoumen) mean not to give up, not to lose heart, not to become discouraged, spiritless, faint-hearted, despondent, or discouraged. The minister, Paul, did not quit or give up for any reason, not even because of persecution or weariness and exhaustion. There are two reasons why he did not quit.

1. The minister did not quit because of the greatness of his ministry: "We have this ministry." "This ministry" refers to the great task God had given him, the task of proclaiming the new covenant, the message that man can now have a glorious relationship with God through the Spirit of God. This ministry is the ministry of the glorious gospel, the good news about Jesus Christ, that men can now be saved and forgiven their sins and redeemed to live forever in the glory of God. (See former outline and note 2—2 Cor.3:6-18 for a discussion of the new covenant.) No greater task could be given a person than to proclaim the cure for death to men. That cure is the new covenant, the glorious news about Jesus Christ. Because of this great task, Paul did not faint; he did not quit, no matter the demands or circumstances.

2. The minister does not quit because he has received mercy. Paul had personally received the mercy of God.
⇒ God's mercy had forgiven his sins and given him life forever with Christ.

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of this grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus" (Eph.2:4-7).

⇒ God's mercy had given him his great task: to be a minister and to preach the unsearchable riches of Christ.

"Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ" (Eph.3:8; cp. Ro.15:15-16; 1 Cor.15:9-10).

Thought 1. The servant of God must never faint, regardless of circumstances. Neither weariness nor opposition are to drive the minister to quit. He must not shrink from the ministry for any reason. His task is too great, and God's mercy has done too much for him and will continue to sustain him.

"And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved" (Mt.10:22).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Only let your conversation [behavior, conduct] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour; whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

2 (4:2) Ministry—Word of God—Dishonesty—Deceit—Preaching: the ministry demands honesty and integrity in life and ministry. Note four points.

1. The minister is to renounce dishonesty, “the hidden things of dishonesty.” The word “dishonesty” (aischunes) means shame, disgrace, scandal. The hidden or secret things that shame and disgrace men, that cause scandals are to have no part in the minister’s life. The minister is to renounce all secret and hidden...

- immorality
- feelings
- greed
- desires
- covetousness
- methods
- thoughts
- ambitions

The minister is to live an open and above-board life, a life of honesty and integrity.

“If iniquity be in thine hand, put it far away, and let not wickedness dwell in thy tabernacles [home]” (Job 11:14).

“Wash ye, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:11-12).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation [behavior] the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

2. The minister is not to “walk in craftiness” (panourgiai). The word means trickery, cunning, cleverness, shrewdness, evil design. It means a man who will do anything and use any means to get what he wants. Note the minister is not to “walk” this way; he is not to walk using and misusing people, circumstances, events, and things for his own end. The minister of God is to walk as Jesus walked.

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

3. The minister is not to handle “the word of God deceitfully” (dolountes). The word means to falsify, adulterate, corrupt, deceive, ensnare. It is “the Word of God”; that is, it has come from God, not man. The Author of the Word of God is God. God is the Authority of the Word of God. The minister is only the spokesman for God; therefore, he is...

- not to falsify the Word of God
- not to adulterate the Word of God
- not to corrupt the Word of God
- not to deceive or ensnare people by mishandling the Word of God

The minister is not to add the ideas, traditions, philosophies, or speculations of men to the Word of God. Neither is he to take away portions of Scripture, denying that they are the Word of God; nor is he to neglect, ignore, or keep silent about some part of God’s Word. The minister of God is not to distort the Word of God in any form or fashion.

“Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you, neither shall ye diminish aught from it, that ye may keep the commandments of the Lord your God which I command you” (Dt.4:2).

“What thing soever I command you, observe to do it: thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it” (Dt.12:32).

“Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar” (Pr.30:6).

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God” (Mt.22:29).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:2).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

“And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book” (Rev.22:19).

4. The minister proclaims the truth honestly, openly, and purely. The minister is to be true to the truth of God as revealed in God’s Word. He is to be both humble and receptive before God in his study and prayer life. He is not to be wise in his own conceits. And when he goes before people, he is to proclaim and teach the truth as God’s Word reveals it. As Charles Hodge says:

“Those ministers who are humble and sincere, who are not wise in their own conceit, but simply declare the truth as God has revealed it, commend themselves to the consciences of men. That is, they secure the testimony of the conscience even of wicked men in their favour” (An Exposition of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1973, p.83).

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice” (Jn.18:37).

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment” (Pr.12:19).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

Note: Paul was being accused of these four things. (See note 2 Cor.1:12-22 for more discussion.) There were some in the church who were charging Paul with...

- being sometimes faint-hearted
- doing some shameful, disgraceful, and scandalous things
- walking about deceiving people
- mishandling the Word of God

3 (4:3-4) Ministry—Gospel—Satan: the ministry demands openness, never hiding the gospel. Paul never mishandled the Word of God; he never deceived people with a false gospel. He was honest and true to the gospel; he openly proclaimed the gospel in all its purity. If the gospel was hid to men, if there were men who did not believe...

- it was not due to Paul’s faint-heartedness. He had proclaimed the gospel with all the energy he had and under the most severe circumstances. He had been as steadfast as a man could be.

2 CORINTHIANS 4:1-6

- it was not due to Paul's living an impure life nor to Paul's mishandling of the Word of God. Paul had proclaimed the pure Word of God, the pure gospel, just as the Word of God had revealed it.

Paul says that the gospel was and is hid to men for two terrible reasons.

1. The gospel is "hid" to men because they are "lost" (apollumenois). The word means perishing. Men are on the road to being lost, to perishing. They have turned away from God and are travelling in the opposite direction along the road that leads to perdition. The word "perishing" means to be lost, to be in the process of being destroyed or ruined, corrupted and put to death.

The thing to note is this: when a person is on the road to perdition, he has turned away from God and is pointed in the opposite direction. He is travelling away from God. He has deliberately separated himself from God and severed all ties with God.

Therefore he cannot see God, nor the things of God. His face and eyes are not turned toward the gospel, but toward the world that perishes. The gospel is hid to him because he is perishing, because he is travelling the road of the lost, the road of those who are perishing. He is simply facing in the wrong direction, looking away from the gospel.

2. The gospel is hid to men because the "god of this world" has blinded the minds of those who do not believe. Note several facts.

- a. The "god of this world" is Satan (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Satan—2 Cor.4:4 for discussion).
- b. Satan blinds the minds of unbelievers lest they should believe the gospel. This is Satan's purpose: to keep people from believing the gospel and from becoming followers and worshippers of the Lord Jesus. How does he blind a person's mind? By appealing to his flesh, by enticing him with the lust of the eyes, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life (1 Jn.2:15-16). If Satan can get a person to focus his life upon himself and the world, the person will become enslaved to his flesh and the things of the world. This is clearly seen in the enslaved habits of...
  - possessing more and more
  - eating more and more
  - lusting more and more
  - seeking more and more
  - drinking more and more
  - smoking more and more
  - cursing more and more
  - indulging more and more

The more evil a person sows, the more enslavement he reaps. Satan is able to blind the person's mind more and more. The point is simply this: Satan blinds the mind of a person by appealing to his flesh (sensual appetites) and hooking him on the pleasures of sin. And the more he becomes hooked, the blinder and harder he becomes to the gospel.

- c. Jesus Christ is the "image of God." When Jesus Christ came to earth, men were able to see God, to see exactly what God is like:
  - ⇒ loving, compassionate, caring
  - ⇒ healing, restoring, saving
  - ⇒ correcting, disciplining, controlling
  - ⇒ holy, righteous, just

A person could look at Jesus Christ and see exactly what God is like.

"I and my Father are one" (Jn.10:30).

"If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him" (Jn.10:37-38).

"And he that seeth me seeth him that sent me" (Jn.12:45).

"Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?" (Jn.14:9).

"Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God" (Ph.2:6).

"Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high" (Heb.1:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:4) Satan: Scripture definitely teaches that Satan is real, a living person who lives in the spiritual world or dimension of being. He is a living being who opposes God.

1. Scripture says that Satan rules and reigns over the world.

- a. Jesus called Satan several things:

⇒ Satan is "the prince of this world."

"Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out" (Jn.12:31).

"Hereafter I will not talk much with you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me" (Jn.14:30).

"Of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged" (Jn.16:11).

⇒ Satan is the “evil one” from whom we must pray to be delivered.

“And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil [the evil one, referring to Satan in the Greek]” (Mt.6:13).

⇒ Satan is a “liar” and a “murderer.”

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

b. Paul called Satan the following:

⇒ The “god of this world.”

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

⇒ The “prince of the power of the air.”

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience” (Eph.2:2).

c. Peter called Satan the “adversary” of man.

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

d. John called Satan the Devil and Satan.

“And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years” (Rev.20:2).

2. What does it mean when Satan is called the “god of this world”?

a. It means that Satan’s evil nature and ways rule throughout the world. Any news report on any given day is clear evidence of this fact. The nature and ways of Satan are such things as these:

⇒ selfishness and pride

“How are thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son the morning! how art thou cut down to the gound, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High” (Is.14:12-14).

⇒ lust and greed

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do” (Jn.8:44; cp. Jas.4:1-3).

⇒ anger and murder

“...He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him” (Jn.8:44).

“Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: but I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment” (Mt.5:21-22).

“...When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

“But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:3-4).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

- b. It means that Satan rules over the kingdom of this world. Again this fact is clearly evident in any daily news report and in the history and behavior of nations and governments. It should always be remembered that when Satan tempted Jesus, he claimed to possess all the kingdoms of the world and to have the authority to give them to whomever he wished.

“Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and showeth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me” (Mt.4:8-9).

This, of course, does not mean that every government or government leader is a puppet of Satan. There are many godly leaders serving in the governments of the world, and many governments serve their citizens in godly ways. It means that the systems of governments and leaders who base their rule on the evil nature and ways of Satan are under his control. A government leader cannot be of God—he has to be of Satan—if his rule is based upon such things as...

- selfishness and pride
- lust and greed
- wrath and murder
- lies and deception

4 (4:5) Ministry—Preaching: the ministry demands servitude, demands that we preach Christ and serve man, not self.

1. The minister must preach Christ, not self.
  - ⇒ The minister does not preach to build himself up in the eyes of people.
  - ⇒ He does not preach his own ideas, notions, thoughts, opinions, or philosophy.
  - ⇒ He does not preach to impress people with his charisma, ability, fluency, speech, or leadership.

The minister preaches Jesus Christ and Him alone (see note, Preaching—1 Cor.1:17; 2:2; 9:16-23 for discussion). Note what he preaches: “Christ Jesus as Lord.” In the Greek, there is no definite article (the). The message of the gospel is that “Christ Jesus is Lord.”

- ⇒ Christ means the Messiah, the Messianic Savior promised by God from the beginning of history.
- ⇒ The Messiah is Jesus, the carpenter from Nazareth.
- ⇒ Jesus is Lord, the Lord God Himself.

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)” (Act 10:36).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“[God’s power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: and hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:20-22).

“[Christ] who, being in the form of God thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:6-9).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

2. The minister must serve men, not self. Note the word “servant” (doulos): it means bond-slave. The minister is to be a slave to others, serving and ministering to them. He is to be as devoted to people as a slave is to his master; as ready to help them and to meet their needs as a slave would be required to do by his master. Note why: for Jesus’ sake. What does this mean?

Jesus became our servant or slave. He sacrificed Himself every day and He did it for us. He struggled and struggled to overcome the world and the flesh for our sake, to conquer sin and lust, to gain freedom from the enslaving bondages and habits of life. Jesus Christ suffered daily and then sacrificed Himself in the ultimate sense by dying and bearing our punishment for us. He gave Himself for our sakes, became a slave to us in order to save us. Therefore, all ministers are to become servants to men, to sacrifice themselves in serving men for the sake of Jesus Christ—because Jesus Christ did it for the minister. No higher service can be done than to serve others for the sake of Christ, the sake of Him who loved us and gave Himself for us.

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another’s feet” (Jn.13:14).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

5 (4:6) Ministry: the ministry demands personal conversion, demands the very presence of God Himself shining in one’s heart. The reason Paul preached Christ is that God had shined in his heart, that is, God had actually entered his heart and converted him. Note several points.

1. Conversion is said to be such a dramatic experience that it is best illustrated as light breaking through and overcoming darkness. In fact, creation is the only dramatic event strong enough to illustrate conversion. Conversion is so dramatic that it is like creating something new: a new creature, a new man.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God” (Jn.3:19-21).

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

2. Conversion is wrought by God. It is God Himself who shines in our hearts and converts us.

“And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.16:17).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother’s womb, and called me by his grace, to reveal his Son in me, that I might preach him among the heathen; immediately I conferred not with flesh and blood” (Gal.1:15-16).

“But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God” (1 Cor.2:10).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

3. Conversion is seeking “the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.” It is the knowledge that the glory of God was in Jesus Christ, that Jesus Christ was the image of God.

“Christ, who is the image of God” (v.4. See note—1 Cor.4:3-4 for more verses.)

“[Christ] Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords; who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting” (1 Tim.6:14-16).

2 CORINTHIANS 4:1-6

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God” (Mt.16:16).

“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God” (Jn.1:1-2).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(4:6) Glory: this is a picture of creation. God commands the light to “shine out of darkness” (Gen.1:3; cp. Jn.8:12; Jas.1:1). Creation is the only event dramatic enough to illustrate conversion.

The word “glory” is used time and time again in connection with Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4—Mt.6:9; Jn.17:1-4.)

1. In the Old Testament, the Jews spoke of the Shekinah glory of God. Shekinah simply means “that which dwells.” The Shekinah glory was the visible presence of God which sometimes shone among men. God’s glory came at times when God was very near and very close to His people. (Cp. Ex.16:10; 24:16-17; 40:34; 1 Ki.8:11; Is.6:3; Ezk.1:28.)

2. The glory of Jesus Christ is the very presence of God in Christ—permanently. God dwelt in Him and He in God. God was manifested in His body and in His life at all times (cp. Jn.1:14; 17:5; 2 Cor.4:6; Jas.2:1-2; 2 Pt.1:16-18).

3. The glory which Jesus Christ gives to His followers is the very presence of God. God dwells in the believer and the believer dwells in God. God manifests Himself to the world in the believer’s life (cp. Jn.15:1-5, 22; 1 Cor.3:16; 6:19; Gal.2:20).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

E. The Ministry: Its Sustaining and Enduring Spirit, 4:7-18

(4:7-18) Introduction: the diligent minister faces trial after trial. He experiences fatigue and weariness, strain and pressure, trouble and doubt, criticism and opposition, conflict and persecution—the list could go on and on. The minister needs a strong spirit of endurance. He needs a very special power to sustain him. This passage deals with his enduring spirit, with the things that do sustain him. It is a desperately needed discussion.

1. The presence of God sustains (v.7).
2. The power of God sustains (v.7-9).
3. The spirit of dying daily sustains (v.10-12).
4. The spirit of faith sustains (v.13).
5. The hope of being resurrected sustains (v.14).
6. The need of others and the glory of God sustain (v.15).
7. The inner man being renewed day-by-day sustains (v.16).
8. The hope of eternal glory sustains (v.17-18).

1 (4:7) Indwelling Presence—God: the presence of God sustains the minister. This is a precious, yet very striking verse. “This treasure” refers back to the former verse (v.6). It is the presence of God Himself shining in the believer’s earthly vessel, in his heart, in his earthly body.

1. God’s presence is a treasure, a precious and priceless treasure.
2. God’s presence is placed into (enters) earthen vessels. God enters our bodies, bodies that are like earthly vessels made of pottery or glass. They are ever so weak and worthless, corruptible and perishable. Yet imagine—God’s presence is placed into such earthly bodies!
3. God’s purpose for entering our bodies is to show His power by overcoming all weaknesses, even death itself.
  - ⇒ “The excellency of the power” is a picture of the grandeur, glory, and preeminence of His power. It is the excellency, the great and overcoming power of God.

The presence of God in our hearts and bodies is power.

- a. It is the power to convert and transform us into new creatures.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

- b. It is the power to convert and transform us into new men.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

c. It is the power to put His divine nature into us.

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

d. It is the power to give us life, both abundant and eternal.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

The point is this: the treasure of God’s presence is in this earthly vessel, this earthly body that is ever so weak and frail. God does so much for us, and it is all wrought by Him. Therefore, God and God alone gets all the credit, and He is thereby praised (cp. v.15). As the verse says, the power is of God, not of us.

Thought 1. No man can dispute his mortality, for no man can convert and transform himself into an eternal being. Only the presence of God, this glorious treasure, can enter our lives and change us into eternal beings. The presence of God alone can sustain us.

“Remember, I beseech thee, that thou hast made me as the clay; and wilt thou bring me into dust again?” (Job 10:9).

“What man is he that liveth, and shall not see death? shall he deliver his soul from the hand of the grave?” (Ps.89:48).

“All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again” (Eccl.3:20).

“But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us” (2 Cor.4:7).

“For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day” (2 Cor.4:16).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up in life” (2 Cor.5:4).

Thought 2. The glorious treasure of God’s presence lives within the believer—in the power of God’s Holy Spirit.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“That good thing which was committed unto thee keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us” (2 Tim.1:14).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

2 (4:7-9) God, Power: the power of God sustains the minister. The minister (and believers) of God faces all kinds of trouble and difficult situations in life. However, he has one great resource: the presence and power of God within him. God never forsakes him; God saves and delivers him through every situation and trial, no matter how difficult.

1. The minister (or believer) may be troubled on every side, but God’s power saves him from distress.

⇒ “Troubled” (thlibomenoi) means to be pressed, squeezed, oppressed, hedged in, pressured.

⇒ “Distressed” (stenochoroumenoi) means to be kept in a narrow, cramped place; to be crushed.

⇒ “On every side” means in every imaginable way and place and occasion.

The minister experiences all kinds of trouble and pressure. He sometimes feels as though he is pressured and troubled beyond what he can bear. It is as though a heavy weight is pressing in upon him and about to crush him. But then God steps in and saves him from being distressed and crushed. The presence and power of God sustains His dear minister.

2. The minister (or believer) may be perplexed, but God's power saves him from despair.
- ⇒ "Perplexed" (aporoumenoi) means to be at a loss, to be doubting, not knowing, questioning, wondering which way to go, what to do, what to say. It means being perplexed and unable to find an answer.
  - ⇒ "Despair" (exaporoumenoi) means to be hopeless, to have no confidence or assurance, to be without any sense of security.

The minister is often perplexed, not understanding why this or that happened, what should be done or said, how the situation should be handled, and on and on. Sometimes situations become so puzzling that he is almost stymied and the threat of despair faces him. There is the danger that his confidence and assurance will be shaken. But again, the presence and power of God steps in and saves the minister from despair. God gives him hope and stirs his confidence and shows him the way out. God never allows him to be overcome by despair.

"For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope" (Ro.15:4).

3. The minister (or believer) may be persecuted, but he is not forsaken. Ministers are sometimes opposed, and sometimes the opposition is hot and severe. The persecution may be behind his back or to his face. It may take such forms as...
- ridicule
  - isolation
  - martyrdom
  - jokes
  - criticism
  - withdrawl
  - mockery
  - threats
  - confrontation
  - abuse
  - slander
  - neglect
  - imprisonment
  - being ignored
  - being censored

However, God never forsakes, abandons, or deserts his dear servant. God never leaves him alone. The companionship of God, His presence and power, is always with His dear servant.

4. The minister (or believer) may be cast down, but he is never destroyed.
- ⇒ "Cast down" (kataballomenoi) means to be smitten down, struck down, or knocked down.
  - ⇒ "Destroyed" (apollumenoi) means to perish, to die, to strike out.

The minister may be struck down, but he is never allowed to strike out; he may be knocked down, but he is never knocked out. As William Barclay says:

"The supreme characteristic of the Christian is not that he does not fall, but that every time he falls he rises again. It is not that he is never beaten, but he is never ultimately defeated. He may lose a battle, but he knows that in the end he can never lose the campaign" (William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians. "Daily Study Bible Series." Philadelphia, PA: Westminster Press, p.223).

"...lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world" (Mt.28:20).

"And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you" (Jn.14:16-18).

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid" (Jn.14:27).

"For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day" (2 Cor.4:16).

"That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man" (Eph.3:16).

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:6-7).

"Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness" (Col.1:11).

"And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever" (2 Tim.4:18).

"Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee" (Heb.13:5).

"And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of" (Gen.28:15).

"And he said, My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest" (Ex.33:14).

"The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms: and he shall thrust out the enemy from before thee; and shall say, Destroy them" (Dt.33:27).

"Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath holden me up, and thy gentleness hath made me great" (Ps.18:35).

"And as for me, thou upholdest me in mine integrity, and settest me before thy face for ever" (Ps.41:12).

“But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint” (Is.40:31).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God: yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:2).

“And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar [gray] hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you” (Is.46:4).

3 (4:10-12) Minister—Self-Denial—Cross: the spirit of dying daily sustains the minister. Note three points.

1. The minister is to bear in his own body the dying of the Lord Jesus, and he is to do it all the time—continually—as he walks about day by day. Simply put, Paul...

- carried about the dying of the Lord Jesus
- took up the cross of Christ (cp. Lk.9:23)
- died to self, that is, to his own desires and wishes
- denied himself in order to live for Christ

Paul died to self. “Dying” means the sense in which Jesus was dying every day. When Jesus came to earth, He came to secure a perfect righteousness for man. To do this, He had to live a sinless life; He had to struggle against sin every day. He had to die to self, to deny His own desires and live for God. He had to struggle against the daily temptations which men face, and He had to conquer them all.

Spiritually, the Lord Jesus was always dying to self, that is...

- always subjecting His body: its passions and urges
- always denying His will in order to do God’s will
- always struggling to conquer the pressures of temptation
- always wrestling against the forces of evil and never giving in to them

Physically, the Lord Jesus was always dying to self. He was always expending enormous energy to share the truth. As RVG Tasker says, he experienced continuous hunger and thirst, and subjected his body to exhausting days and sleepless nights for the sake of others. He faced continuous opposition from political and religious leaders in order to share and preach the truth (RVG Tasker. The Second Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians. “Tyndale Bible Commentaries.” Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1958, p.73f).

A true minister of the gospel is to die daily; he is to die to the point that the actual passing from this life into eternity is but the final stage of suffering and death for him.

2. The minister is to die to self so that Christ might be seen in his body. Paul denied himself so that the presence of Christ could be seen conquering the flesh, temptations, and trials of life. When Paul disciplined his body and kept it under control—when he put his urges and desires to death—when he denied his will and did God’s will—he demonstrated that Jesus Christ lived within his body. The life of Jesus was manifested and shown to be in his body.

3. The minister is to die to self so that others might receive life. When a minister dies to self, really denies himself so that Christ can live in his body and conquer the flesh and trials of life, others see the power of Christ. They too long for such power. They are led to turn to Christ in order to receive the same conquering life and power. They are led to seek life in Christ, life that is abundant in this world and eternal in the next world.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:24).

“God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?” (Ro.6:2).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:3).

4 (4:13) Minister—Faith: the spirit of faith sustains the minister. When nothing else sustains the minister, his faith will sustain him. The minister may be tempted to give up: the trouble and pressure against him may be so great that he is tempted to leave the ministry. to never share the gospel again. However as stated, when nothing else sustains the minister, his faith will sustain him. His faith will not allow him to become discouraged to such a point that he would leave the ministry and fall into the depths of despair. The minister’s faith is the same great faith that the Psalmist David had (Ps.116:10). And in the words of Charles Hodge:

“The Psalmist was greatly afflicted; the sorrows of death compassed him, the pains of hell gat hold of him, but he did not despair. He called on the Lord, and he helped him. He delivered his soul from death, his eyes from tears, and his feet from falling. David’s faith did not fail. He believed, and therefore, in the midst of his afflictions, he proclaimed his confidence and recounted the goodness of the Lord. Paul’s experience was the same. He also was sorely tried. He also retained his confidence, and continued to rely on the promises of God” (Charles Hodge. An Exposition of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1972, p.97).

By faith the minister believes the promises of God: he stays in the ministry and continues to speak just as David and Paul did. The minister believes with all his heart...

- that the presence of God will sustain him
- that the power of God will sustain him
- that the spirit of dying daily will sustain him

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

“Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked” (Eph.6:16).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering; for he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed” (Jas.1:5-6).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith” (1 Jn.5:4).

5 (4:14) Minister—Resurrection, The: the hope of being resurrected sustains the minister. The minister bears in his body the “dying of the Lord Jesus” (denies himself and dies daily) for one great reason: he knows that he is to die some day.

Above all else, the one thing the minister wants is to be with Jesus; therefore, that glorious day of resurrection, the day of full redemption, is ever before his eyes. The minister suffers and bears all—he continues to preach and teach, to serve and meet the needs of people—all because he knows that the day of resurrection is coming. Just as God raised up the Lord Jesus, so God is going to raise him up to be with all those to whom he has ministered.

How does the minister know this? Because God raised up the Lord Jesus. When God raised up Christ, He demonstrated that it was His will to raise the dead, and that He had the power to raise the dead.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:25).

“Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“And God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power” (1 Cor.6:14).

“If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept. For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive” (1 Cor.15:19-22).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

6 (4:15) Minister: the need of others and the glory of God sustain the minister. Note the words “all things.” The minister of God bears all things for two reasons: for the sake of the people and for the glory of God. The minister bears and suffers all...

- so that people can experience the abundant grace of God. As he ministers to people, they learn more and more about God. They experience more and more of God’s wonderful grace and blessings.
- The result is a marvelous happening: the people joy and rejoice in God. They walk around offering up praise and thanksgiving to God, and God is thereby glorified.

The minister refuses to be defeated, because people need the grace of God and because God needs to be glorified. And the only way people will glorify God is for them to experience the grace and blessings of God.

Thought 1. The purpose of the minister is twofold.

1) He is to meet the needs of people. Fulfilling his ministry will sustain him with a great sense of satisfaction.

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more” (Acts 20:25).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feeble minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

2) He is to lead people to praise and glorify God.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

7 (4:16) Minister—Inner Man: the inner man being renewed day by day sustains the minister. Note three significant points.

1. The minister does not faint (cp. v.1). He does not give up or quit; he does not lose heart or become discouraged; he does not allow anything to defeat him: not people, circumstances, events, fatigue, exhaustion, or even persecution and severe opposition. Nothing, absolutely nothing can drive him from the ministry nor keep him from preaching the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Keep in mind the things that give him the strength to continue preaching: the presence and power of God (v.7-9); the spirit of his faith (v.13); the hope of the resurrection (v.14); the needs of people and the glory of God (v.15).

2. The minister’s outward man perishes every day.
 ⇒ The “outward man” is the earthen vessel (v.7), the human body (v.10), the mortal flesh (v.11), and the earthly house (5:1).

⇒ The word “perish” (diaphtheiretai) means to age, wear out, waste away, deteriorate, decay, corrupt, and die. Paul says that his “outward man” or body was wearing out and wasting away every day. It was in the process of perishing and dying.

3. The minister’s “inner man” is renewed day by day. The inner man is...
 • the spirit of man that has been “born again” or created anew by the Spirit of God (Jn.3:3, 5-6).
 • the spirit of man that was dead in trespasses and sins until it was quickened and made alive by Christ (Eph.2:2, 4-5).
 • the “new creature” (2 Cor.5:17) and the “new man” (Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).
 • the highest and deepest part of a man’s being where the Holy Spirit dwells.
 • the “hidden man of the heart” (1 Pt.3:4).

The minister is renewed day by day when he draws near God for strength and growth, for relief and deliverance from trials, pressure, and trouble. But remember: it is the presence and power of God within his body that renews him. (See notes —2 Cor.4:7; 4:7-9 for more verses.)

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

“If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?” (Lk.11:13).

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:1-2).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me” (2 Cor.12:9).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life” (Rev.2:10).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away” (Rev.21:4).

“Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the Lord delivereth him out of them all” (Ps.34:19).

“The Lord will strengthen him upon the bed of languishing: thou wilt make all his bed in his sickness” (Ps.41:3).

“And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me” (Ps.50:15).

“Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me: thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me” (Ps.138:7).

“But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint” (Is.40:31).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“...Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine. When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:1-2).

8 (4:17-18) Glory—Minister: the hope of glory sustains the minister. Note two significant points.

1. The minister’s afflictions are light when compared to the glory he shall receive in heaven. Note the phrase “weight of glory.” This picture should always be kept in mind by every minister. The picture is that of a set of scales sitting before the minister. He balances his afflictions on one end and the eternal glory he is to receive on the other end. The afflictions may be heavy and severe, but when he places the eternal glory he is to receive on the scales, the afflictions become light. It is as though they weigh nothing. (See note, Reward—Lk.16:10-12 for a complete list of rewards.)

2. The minister’s eyes are not focused on the physical and temporal, but on the spiritual and eternal. The word “look” (scopeo) means to focus one’s eyes and attention on a set goal or end. The goal, of course, is spending eternity with God in the new heavens and earth. The minister does not look at the things which are seen (the physical and corruptible), but at things which are not seen (the spiritual and incorruptible).

The reason is strikingly clear: the things which are seen are temporal (brief, temporary, fading, passing, fleeting, transient); but the things which are not seen are eternal (lasting, endless, forever, permanent, immortal, glorious).

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together. For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:17-18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“[Moses] esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward” (Heb.11:26).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

F. The Ministry: Its Hope and the Assurance of An Eternal Home, 5:1-10

(5:1-10) Hope—Heaven—Death—Reward—Body: What is Paul talking about in this passage? Is he referring to a temporary body, or to the heavenly house or mansion which is to be given to the believer when he dies and goes to heaven?

One thing is sure: Paul is not talking about the resurrection body he is to receive when Christ returns. That body is not in heaven; it is to be created when Christ returns. The believer does not receive his resurrected body until he is raised from the dead at Christ's return (cp. 1 Cor.15:12; 1 Th.4:14f).

If Paul is talking about receiving a body when he passes from this life into heaven, then he is talking about receiving a temporary body, a body that will house his spirit up until the resurrection. However, Scripture has nothing to say about a temporary body, although God may actually give us a temporary body when we die and go to heaven. There is nothing to keep Him from doing it, but Scripture is silent about the matter. It is one of the subjects that is not necessary for our faith and salvation; it is one of the "exceeding riches" that God has locked up in Himself and that He is going to show and lavish upon us in the eternal ages to come (Eph.2:7). What Scripture teaches is what Paul is saying here: the believer goes immediately to be with the Lord at death. And, as already pointed out, the Scripture also teaches that the believer's earthly body is to be raised from the dead and perfected when Christ returns (cp. 1 Cor.15:1-58).

In light of this, curiosity naturally asks what happens to us when we die? How do we exist before God: with a temporary body or only as a disembodied or bodyless spirit? Note two facts.

1. Scripture is clear: when we die, we immediately go to heaven to be with the Lord.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death" (Jn.8:51).

"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die [but be present with the Lord]. Believest thou this?" (Jn.11:25-26).

"For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. But if I live in the flesh, this is the fruit of my labour: yet what I shall choose I wot not. For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ [immediately]; which is far better: nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you" (Ph.1:21-24).

"...I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living" (Mt.22:32).

"And as he [Christ] prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistening. And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias: who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem" (Lk.9:29-31).

"And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom [heaven]" (Lk.16:23).

"And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom. And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise [heaven]" (Lk.23:42-43. Cp. 2 Cor.12:2, 4 where paradise is revealed to be the third heaven.)

2. Scripture is not clear about how we exist between death and the resurrection. Shall we be disembodied spirits or be given temporary bodies? Any comments about the matter are pure speculation, for Scripture is silent. However, two things must always be kept in mind about God.

- a. God can cause us to exist as spirits without bodies. True, it is difficult for man to imagine a person without a body, but God can do it if that is the method He has chosen to use.
- b. God can also give us temporary bodies if He chooses. Man can more easily imagine this, for he lives within a temporary body now. God could even cause the temporary bodies to become a part of our eternal bodies that we are to receive at the resurrection.

Just as our present bodies are to be a part of our eternal bodies, the temporary bodies could be a part of our eternal bodies. This is not to say nor even to suggest that we shall receive temporary bodies when we die. Scripture is silent, saying nothing about the matter. The point is simply what the former point was: if God has chosen to give believers temporary bodies when they die, He can do it. God is God. In dealing with this subject we must keep in mind what has already been said:

⇒ How we exist before Christ at death is one of the subjects that is not necessary for our faith and salvation. It is one of the “exceeding riches” of His grace that He has locked up in Himself and that He is going to show and lavish upon us in the ages to come (Eph.2:7).

In light of the above facts, the present passage will be interpreted to mean two things: that we shall receive immortality and that we shall receive a house, an eternal mansion in heaven.

1. Assurance 1: personal conviction—the conviction that we have a house in heaven (v.1-4).
2. Assurance 2: God—He guarantees the hope by the Spirit (v.5).
3. Assurance 3: the Holy Spirit—He enhances the hope (v.5-8).
4. Assurance 4: judgment—it stirs the hope (v.9-10).

1 (5:1-4) Heaven: the first assurance is personal conviction—the conviction that we have a hope, that we have a house in heaven. Note the word “know.” The conviction is firm and sure. It is not the kind of conviction that hopes something is true. It is the conviction of knowledge. Paul knew beyond question: he had a building, a house in heaven.

The earthly body is pictured as a tent that houses man’s spirit, his real self, during its earthly pilgrimage. But the tent (body) is ever so frail and temporary; it goes through the wears and tears of this life, and it deteriorates and eventually dissolves. The believer’s body dies (cp. 2 Pt.1:13-14). However, the Christian believer never fears, for he is to receive a building from God, a spiritual house made eternal in the heavens. The heavenly house lasts forever; it does not have to suffer wear and tear. It is not corruptible: it does not age, fade, deteriorate, or waste away; and he never has to leave it. This is the believer’s glorious hope. However, while in the world—while in his present tabernacle (body)—the believer has two significant experiences.

1. He groans for his house in heaven. Note how deeply Paul desired his heavenly home: he groaned and earnestly desired. He yearned, longed, and ached for his heavenly home.
2. He groans to be clothed with his heavenly home and fitted for it just as though he was being fitted and clothed with a suit. It means that he wanted to be sheltered, covered, and enclosed in his heavenly home.
3. He groans both for release and for immortality (v.2-3). Paul does not just groan to be naked, that is, to die and be released from the trials of this world; he is burdened (note that he says this) to be clothed with his heavenly home.

The minister suffers, and sometimes he suffers terrible trouble as discussed in the former passage and outline (1 Cor.4:7-18). The burden sometimes becomes so heavy that he just groans under the weight. But the groaning, as stated, is not to die in order to be released from the burden. The groaning is for his eternal home, that his mortal body might be swallowed up by eternal life.

If a person interprets this passage to be speaking of a heavenly body which the believer is to receive at death, then William Barclay’s comments are descriptive:

“But with Paul there is a difference. He is not looking for a Nirvana with the peace of extinction; he is not looking for absorption in the divine; he is not looking for the freedom of a disembodied spirit; he is waiting for the day when God will give him a new body, a spiritual body, in which he will be able, even in the heavenly places, to serve and to adore God....He [Paul] saw eternity not as escape into nothingness, not as release into permanent inaction, but as the entry into life and into a body in which service could be complete” (William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians, p.228).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:2).

To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life” (Ro.2:7).

“For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:53).

“For we know that, if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens” (2 Cor.5:1).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building” (Heb.9:11).

“For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:10).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country” (Heb.11:13-14).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God” (Rev.21:10).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

2 (5:5) God—Holy Spirit: the second assurance is God—God guarantees that we shall receive immortality, shall receive our immortal house in heaven, guarantees it by the Holy Spirit. Paul had just said that he knew he had a house in heaven. He did not just hope that such existed nor was he just expressing a wishful thought. How could he be so certain? Because of God. God has done two things for us.

1. God has “wrought” us, that is, made us, worked us out, fitted us, fashioned us to undergo an immortal change. How? By entering our lives (see note—2 Cor.4:7 for more discussion). When we trust Christ as our Savior, God puts His presence and power into our bodies and we become immortal or eternal beings.

a. The believer partakes of the divine nature.

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

b. The believer becomes a new creature.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

c. The believer becomes a new man.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

2. God gives us the presence of His Spirit. This is separated from the above point because the above point deals more with God making the believer into a new creature or new man. This point deals more with the presence of God’s Spirit within the believer.

The point is this: the Holy Spirit Himself is the “earnest” or “guarantee” or “pledge” that God is going to give us immortality, that He is going to give us an immortal home in heaven. The Holy Spirit is the very “first installment” of heaven (William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians, p.229).

“Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:21-22).

“In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:16-18).

“But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

3 (5:5-8) Holy Spirit—Assurance: the third assurance is the Holy Spirit—He enhances the knowledge that we have a house in heaven. He does three significant things for us.

1. The Holy Spirit stirs confidence and courage to face the present life. The word “confidence” (tharroumen) means courage, or to be cheered up (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.229). In this world all believers face such things as:

- pressure
- trouble
- sorrow
- rejection
- loss
- disease
- accident
- death

But no matter what they face, the Holy Spirit stirs the courage to face it all. How? Again, note the word “knowing.” The Holy Spirit enhances our knowledge...

- that our present home is the body, but it is temporary and passing. Therefore all trials and problems will quickly pass away.
- that we are now absent from the Lord. The idea is that we are to be with Him. The Holy Spirit stirs a longing within us to be with Him. And that longing gives us courage to march on through this life.

2. The Holy Spirit stirs faith within us. Knowing that our present home (body) is only temporary—that we are soon to move to our heavenly home—stirs great faith in us. True, we do not yet see our heavenly home, but the Holy Spirit stirs faith within us—faith to walk through all the trials and problems of this life.

3. The Holy Spirit stirs great courage, even a preference to be with the Lord. This is a crucial point, extremely important for day to day living. The Holy Spirit not only gives courage to live day by day; He gives the courage to die. He even stirs within the faithful believer a preference to be “present with the Lord.” Some people may question this fact, and some may even scoff at the idea. It is certainly true that many do not understand it. Nevertheless, it is a fact that many believers often experience. They actually long to be with the Lord; to be clothed with immortality and perfection, and enabled to worship and serve Him without infirmity and failure.

It must be stressed that this desire and longing is not born of the believer himself:

- ⇒ It is not a creation of his own ideas and thoughts.
- ⇒ It is not worked up by his own desires and man-made hopes.
- ⇒ It is a conviction—the sure knowledge, a state of mind—that is created by the Holy Spirit who is within the believer.

4 (5:9-10) Judgment: the fourth assurance is judgment—judgment stirs the longing to please God and to receive our heavenly home. Judgment stirs diligent “labor” (philotimoumetha) in order to please God. The word means to constantly aim, to be constantly ambitious, to strive earnestly. Paul says that he is to be judged; therefore, he works his fingers to the bone. Why? That he may be accepted (euaestoi) by God. The word means well pleasing in the sense of being accepted. But note the major point. There was a second reason why Paul labored so diligently: he was to face the judgment of Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.5:10 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:10) Judgment Seat of Christ: this is the judgment of believers, not of unbelievers. Note carefully the words, “We must all appear.” By “we...all” Paul means all those who have a nature like him, a new nature in Christ. That is, all those who believe in Christ are the ones who will stand at the judgment seat of Christ. Several important points are stressed.

1. The judgment of believers is a surety: it will happen and nothing can stop it from happening. “We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.” Not a single believer will be excused from the judgment.

2. The believer will be judged by Christ Himself. Every believer will face the scrutiny and searching eyes of Christ and be judged.

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him” (Jn.5:22-23).

“And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead” (Acts 10:42).

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ” (Ro.14:10).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

3. The believer will be judged for “the things done through (dia) his body.” What kind of things are done through the human body? Acts, behavior, works. Note three significant points.

a. The believer’s sins are forgiven once he has confessed and repented of them (Eph.1:7; 1 Jn.1:9; 2:1-2). He never has to worry about God charging him with sin, for Christ has already paid the penalty for his sins. His sins are forgiven once-for-all.

b. The believer will be conformed perfectly to the image of Christ. In fact, he is even predestined by God to eternal perfection just like God’s own dear Son (see notes—Ro.8:29; 1 Jn.3:2). He is destined to receive a perfect and an eternal body—a body just like Christ’s (1 Cor.15:50-58).

c. However, the believer is called and gifted for a special task and work while on earth (1 Cor.12:4-14:40; Eph.4:7-13). Just how well the believer accomplishes this task and work will determine his judgment (see notes—1 Cor.3:13-15; 6:2-3; 9:24-27, esp. 9:27; Mt.19:27-30; 25:20-23; Lk.16:10-12; 19:15-23; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16).

4. The judgment of the believer will determine his reward and the degree of reward, whether good (gain) or bad (loss). Some believers will definitely be ashamed before Christ at His coming (1 Jn.2:28), and they will suffer loss (1 Cor.3:11-15). The believer who survives the fire of judgment will be greatly rewarded, so greatly that the rewards explode the human mind (see note, Rewards—1 Cor.3:13-15 for a complete list of the rewards).

5. When studying the judgment of believers, several passages need to be studied carefully (see outline and notes—1 Cor.3:13-15; 6:2-3; 9:24-27, esp. 9:27; Mt.19:27-30; 25:20-23; Lk.16:10-12; 19:15-23; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

G. The Ministry: Its Compelling Motives, 5:11-16

(5:11-16) Introduction: What is it that drives and compels a person to minister? What is it that constrains a person to enter the ministry? When ministers are attacked and criticized and opposed so much, what is it that makes them continue on in the ministry? When ministers have to deal with so many problems and are so troubled and pressured, what is it that forces them to stay in the ministry? This passage discusses the compelling motives of the ministry or the minister.

1. The fear of the Lord compels the minister (v.11).
2. The testimony of a genuine heart compels the minister (v.12).
3. The glory of God and the needs of people compel the minister (v.13).
4. The love of Christ compels the minister (v.14-16).

1 (5:11) Fear—Reverence—Witness: the fear of the Lord compels the minister. The word “terror” (phobon) means fear, reverence, standing in awe of the Lord. It does not mean the kind of terror or fear that trembles and shrinks back from God. Paul knows he is to face the judgment seat of Christ (v.10); therefore he fears the Lord: holds Him in the highest regard and respect, reverences Him, stands in awe of His high and exalted position.

The judgment of Christ compels Paul—compels him to persuade men:
⇒ of the truth of the gospel.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“And he reasoned in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks” (Acts 18:4).

“And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging; to whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening” (Acts 28:23).

⇒ of the judgment of God.

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom; preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:1-2).

⇒ of the death of Christ for all men.

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

⇒ of the desperate need for reconciliation to God.

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

⇒ of his own sincerity and integrity in the ministry.

“For we commend not ourselves again unto you, but give you occasion to glory on our behalf, that ye may have somewhat to answer them which glory in appearance, and not in heart” (2 Cor.5:12).

Note a crucial point: Paul says that God knows what kind of person he is. The minister’s life is inspected by God; it is manifested, perfectly known to God. God knows his faithfulness...

- that he labors to be accepted, that is, to please God and God alone (1 Cor.5:9).
- that he “faints not” in the ministry (1 Cor.4:1).
- that he preaches not himself, but Christ Jesus the Lord (1 Cor.5:5).
- that he always bears “the dying of the Lord Jesus” (1 Cor.4:10).
- that he does all things for the sake of the ministry (1 Cor.4:15).

Paul hopes that the Corinthians are convinced of his faithfulness and have no question about it. Others may oppose, question, criticize, and defame him; but he trusted that they knew his sincerity and commitment to Christ and the ministry.

Thought 1. Every minister should fear the judgment of Christ—fear it to such a degree that he is stirred to walk faithfully before God: persuading men and living a life of integrity and commitment to the ministry.

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles. For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:11-12).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“...be not highminded, but fear: for if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee. Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off” (Ro.11:20-22).

2 (5:12) Minister—Testimony: the testimony of a genuine heart compels the minister. Paul was under heavy attack; a barrage of charges were being launched against him by some in the church. (See note—2 Cor.1:12-22 for a complete list of the accusations.) Paul, just as every minister, had given his credentials and commended himself when he first began to minister at the church. Note two points.

1. Just about everything Paul has said to the Corinthians up to this point has concerned the ministry, in particular his own personal ministry. He has been explaining the ministry and showing how he had labored ever so diligently in carrying out the ministry. By talking about himself, there was a possibility that some would again jump on his case and charge him with boasting in himself. True, he had been sharing his part in the ministry, but his purpose was not to commend himself. As stated, he trusted his credentials were well known by now. His purpose had been to give the faithful believers more ammunition to answer his critics. The only way to solve the controversy surrounding him was to deal with it. They needed to confront and take the offensive in answering his critics. They needed to get the matter settled, for the church needed to get back to the ministry of reaching and growing people for Christ.

2. Those who opposed Paul (the minister) were those who gloried in their appearance and not in heart. They took pride in such things as...

- their novel ideas
- their interpretations of Scripture
- their gifts and abilities
- their positions of leadership
- their spiritual zeal and commitment
- their recognition and esteem
- their godly roots and traditions
- their church loyalty
- their possessions

But note: their hearts were not upon Christ. Their hearts were upon themselves. They were not glorying in Christ and what He had done for them, but in self and what they were doing. They felt as though they were above others: more privileged, more gifted, more acceptable, more intelligent, more blessed, more spiritual. Their profession was false, for it was not of the heart.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men’s bones, and of all un-

cleanness. Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity” (Mt.23:27-28).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment” (Jn.7:24).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

3 (5:13) Minister: the glory of God and the needs of people compel the minister. One of the charges against Paul was that he was beside himself (exestemen), that he was mad, insane, out of his mind. It means to act in the extreme, abnormally, unlike what others act. Paul was charged with being a “fool” for Christ. Note that he accepts the charge as true. But he says it is true for two reasons:

1. Paul was a fool for God’s glory.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“That the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:12).

“If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever” (1 Pt.4:11).

2. Paul was a fool for the sake of people—to meet their needs.

“For I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh” (Ro.9:3).

“Brethren, my heart’s desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved” (Ro.10:1).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain” (1 Cor.9:24).

“Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before” (Ph.3:13).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him” (Acts 10:38).

4 (5:14-16) Christ, Love of; Death—Minister, Justification: the love of Christ compels the minister. The word “constrain” (sunechei) means to press, to hold together, to hold fast. The love of Christ presses, compels, and stirs Paul to hold fast to the ministry. The love of Christ is the great thing that constrains Paul to minister. Note that Paul does not say that he is driven to minister because of...

- the great teaching of Christ
- the great example of Christ
- the great ministry of Christ
- the great life of Christ

All of these areas of the Lord’s life are important, critically so, but they are not the foundation of our salvation and ministry. The foundation of the believer’s life is the love of Christ. The love of Christ is seen in three acts.

1. Christ died that all persons might die in Him. In the Greek this verse says:

- ⇒ “One died for all” (heis huper panton apethanen).
- ⇒ “Therefore, all died” (ara hoi pantes apethanon).

Note the exact words: “One died for all; therefore, all died.” Paul is saying...

- that Jesus Christ died for all men; therefore all men died when He died
- that since Christ died for all, then it follows that all men died in Him
- that all men were represented in Christ when He died
- that all men are counted as having died when Christ died
- that Jesus Christ died the ideal death, the death that stands for all men

Of course, this is simply saying the same thing in different ways so that we can more easily grasp exactly what Paul is saying. But note: the word “all” is not teaching universal salvation, that is, that every human being is saved by the death of Christ. This passage has to be kept in context with the rest of Scripture; therefore “all” means all who are redeemed by faith in the death of Christ.

Very simply stated, when a person believes that Jesus Christ died for him, God takes that person’s faith and counts it as his death in Christ.

⇒ God counts him as having died in Christ.

⇒ God credits him as having already died in Christ.

God credits the death of Christ to him so that he never has to die.

Another way to say the same thing is this: God takes the person’s faith...

- and identifies the person with the death of Christ
- and accepts the death of Christ as the death of the person

Although these statements may help some to more clearly understand what Paul is saying, there is no clearer statement than the one stated in Scripture: “Christ died for all; therefore, all died [in Him].” The death of Jesus Christ was the representative death for all. His death stands as the death for all men. No person has to ever die. All he has to do is believe that Jesus Christ died for him, and God will take his belief and count it as his having already died in Christ. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1; 1 Cor.6:11 for more discussion.)

The point is this: it is the glorious love of Christ that constrains Paul to stick to the ministry and to serve the Lord so faithfully.

2. Christ died that all men might live for Him. Two significant facts are stressed.

a. Christ died that men might not live for themselves. Most persons are self-centered, focusing most of their thoughts and efforts upon meeting their own needs, upon satisfying themselves through...

- |               |               |               |

| • acceptance  | • possessions | • family      |
| • recognition | • fame        | • benevolence |
| • position    | • power       | • service     |

A person must take care of himself, but he is not to live for himself. Christ died so that we would not live for ourselves.

b. Christ died that we might live for Him. This is made abundantly clear in Scripture.

⇒ Christ died to bring us near to God.

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

⇒ Christ died that we might live unto righteousness.

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

⇒ Christ died to purify us so that we would be zealous to do good works.

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

⇒ Christ died so that we would serve Him as Lord.

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

Note: Christ not only died, He also arose from the dead. The minister does not serve a dead Savior, but a risen Lord!

3. Christ died to create a new man: a man that no longer judges after the flesh. Combine v.17 with this verse and the point is clearly seen. Christ died so that we would no longer judge men after the flesh, no longer judge men to be only fleshly, human, earthly beings. Men are also spiritual beings who are to exist forever. Christ died so that all men could be made into new creatures and into new men. Note that Christ once lived in this world and was known to be in the flesh, but He is no longer known to be upon the earth. He has risen from the dead and is with the Father, and He shall be with Him eternally.

This is the very reason He died and rose again: that man’s spirit could be created anew and man could live forever. Therefore, men are no longer to be looked upon as being “in the flesh,” but as being in the spirit. They are to be brought to Christ so that they can be made into new creatures.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

H. The Ministry: Its Message, 5:17-6:2

(5:17-6:2) Another Outline: The Ministry—Its New World Order.

1. A world of regeneration: a world of new creatures (v.17).
2. A world of reconciliation: a world of men brought back to God (v.18-19).
3. A world of ambassadors: a world of men made co-workers with God (v.20; cp. 6:1).
4. A world of redemption: a world reconciled by a substitution for sin (v.21).
5. A world of decision for God: a salvation that can be accepted or rejected (Ch.6:1-2).

(5:17-6:2) Introduction: this is one of the great passages of Scripture. So much is covered, a lifetime could be spent in its depths. Two overall subjects leap out at the reader: the message of the ministry and the new world order of the ministry.

The outline chosen for this study is the Message of the Ministry. The Outline for the New World Order can be seen in footnote one. The message of the ministry is powerful, and it offers the only hope for a sinful person who is aging and moving ever so rapidly toward death.

1. A message of regeneration: man can become a new creature, a new man (v.17).
2. A message of reconciliation: a world of men brought back to God (v.18-19).
3. A message committed to ambassadors: a world of men made co-workers with God (v.20).
4. A message of redemption: a world reconciled by a substitution for sin (v.21).
5. A message that demands a decision (Ch.6:1-2).

1 (5:17) New Creature—New Man—Regeneration: the message is one of regeneration, the making of a "new creature."

1. What does it mean for a man to become a "new creature"? Very simply, it means just what the Scripture says: the man actually becomes a new creature—his whole being, nature, life, and behavior changes:
  - ⇒ Whereas a man was dead to God, as a new creature he becomes alive to God.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man had no relationship with God, as a new creature he is given a relationship with God.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man was not sure about God, as a new creature he is absolutely certain about God.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man never fellowshiped and communed with God, as a new creature he fellowships and communes with God all the time.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man was living in sin and immorality, as a new creature he lives in righteousness and holiness.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man had to face death, as a new creature he never has to die.
  - ⇒ Whereas a man was doomed to judgment and eternal separation from God, as a new creature he is destined to live eternally in the presence of God.

2. How does a person become a new creature? Note the words of this Scripture: "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." It is being "in Christ" that makes a person a new creature. When a person truly believes in Christ, God places and positions him in Christ, in all that Christ is. Christ lived and died and arose, so to be in Christ means that a person lives, dies, and arises in Christ. The person who believes in Jesus Christ is identified with Christ: that is, he is counted and considered to be "in Christ," reckoned and credited as "in Christ."

Spelled out in a little more detail, when a person believes in Christ, God places and positions the believer "in" Christ. The believer's faith actually causes God to identify the believer with Christ...

2 CORINTHIANS 5:17-6:2

- to count the believer as having lived in Christ when Christ lived upon earth. Therefore, the believer is counted sinless and righteous because Christ was sinless and righteous.
- to count the believer as having died in Christ. Therefore, the believer never has to die (Jn.3:16). The penalty and condemnation of his sins are already paid for in the death of Christ.
- to count the believer as having been raised in Christ. Therefore, the believer has received the “new life” of Christ. Just as Christ had a new life after His resurrection, even so the believer receives the “new life” of Christ when he believes in Christ. (See outline and notes—Ro.6:3-5. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22; 5:1; 6:14-15.)

To be in Christ means that a believer walks and lives in Christ day by day. It means that he does not “walk after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1, 4). It means that “denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:12). It means that he bears the fruit of the Spirit (Gal.5:22-23). It means that he abides in Christ, that he becomes as connected and attached to Christ...

- as members of the body are connected and attached to each other (1 Cor.12:12-27).
- as the branch is connected and attached to the vine (Jn.15:4-7).

From this, it is clearly seen that a person who is “in Christ” is a new creature. This is what is meant by such Scriptural terms as being “born again” and becoming a “new man.” However, no better words describe the experience than the words of this verse: “old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.” This is the message of the Christian ministry: a man can start life all over, no matter how corrupt he has become or how far down he has fallen. God longs to make a new creature out of him.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

“Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:9-10).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

2 (5:18-19) Reconciliation: the message is one of reconciliation—a world of men can be brought back to God. Reconciliation means to change thoroughly, to change from enmity to friendship, to bring together, to restore. The idea is that two persons who should have been together all along are brought together; two persons who had allowed something to come between them are restored and reunited.

The thing that broke the relationship between God and man was sin. Men are said to be enemies of God (Ro.5:10), and the word “enemies” refers back to the fact that men had become sinners and ungodly (Ro.5:6, 8). The “enemies” of God are the sinners and ungodly of this world. This simply means that every man is an enemy of God, for every man is a sinner and ungodly. This may seem unkind and harsh, but it is exactly what Scripture is saying. The fact is clearly seen by thinking about the matter for a moment.

The sinner cannot be said to be a friend of God’s. He is antagonistic toward God, opposing what God stands for. The sinner is...

- rebelling against God
- rejecting God
- cursing God
- ignoring God
- disobeying God
- fighting against God
- denying God
- refusing to live for God

When any of us sin, we work against God and promote evil by word and example.

⇒ When the sinner lives for himself, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because God does not live for Himself. God gave Himself up in the most supreme way possible: He gave His only Son to die for us.

⇒ When the sinner lives for the world and worldly things, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because he chooses the temporal over God. He chooses that which passes away over God. He chooses it when God has provided eternal life for him through the death of His Son.

This is the point of God’s great love or reconciliation. He did not reconcile and save us when we were righteous and good. He reconciled and saved us when we were enemies, ignoring and rejecting Him. As stated above, it is because we are sinners and enemies that we need to be reconciled.

1. There are three persons involved in reconciliation.

a. God Himself is the first person involved in reconciliation. God is the One who reconciles us. Note the words, “All things are of God.” If the time ever comes when a person wishes to be reconciled to God and to change his life and become a new creature, he has to come to God. God alone has the power to change a man; God alone can give a man a new birth and make a new creature out of him. No man has the power to change enough to make himself acceptable to God. Men just do not reconcile themselves to God. They cannot do enough work or enough good to become perfectly acceptable to God. Reconciliation is the act of God and of God alone. God is the One who reaches out to man and reconciles him. Man does not earn reconciliation; he receives the reconciliation of God.

b. Jesus Christ is the second person involved in reconciliation. God reconciles us to Himself by the death of Jesus Christ. Very simply stated, when a man believes that Jesus Christ died for him...

- God accepts the death of Jesus Christ for the death of the man
- God accepts the sins borne by Christ as the sins committed by the man
- God accepts the condemnation borne by Christ as the condemnation due to the man

Therefore, the man is freed from his sins and the punishment due his sins. Christ bore both the sins and the punishment for the man. The man who truly believes that God loves that much—enough to give His only begotten Son—becomes acceptable to God, reconciled forever and ever.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

- c. Ministers are the third persons involved in reconciliation. God reconciled us to Himself by committing the ministry of reconciliation to men. The only way the world can ever hear about the great ministry of reconciliation is through believers. Believers must proclaim the message of reconciliation or it will never be heard.

“How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?” (Ro.10:14).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

2. Note how God wrought or worked out reconciliation. God did three things to make reconciliation possible.

- a. First, God came to earth “in Christ,” that is, in the person of Christ. As this verse says, “God was in Christ.” This is a phenomenal statement. This means that...
- when Jesus Christ came to earth, God Himself came to earth
  - when Jesus Christ bore sin for man, God Himself was bearing sin for man
  - when Jesus Christ died for man, God Himself was dying for man

This means that God Himself was in the person of Jesus Christ reaching out to man—that God himself had come to earth to reconcile man. This means that God Himself loved man so much that He came to earth to seek and to save that which was lost. The truth is so glorious that Jesus Christ Himself pounded the truth home to the hearts of people.

“As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep” (Jn.10:15).

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him” (Jn.10:37-38).

“Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works” (Jn.14:10).

- b. Second, God does not impute sin to men. The word “impute” (logizomenos) means to reckon, count, and credit. It means to charge or put to a person’s account. If God does not impute or charge sin against men, then it means that He forgives their sins. When Jesus Christ died on the cross, God was in Christ dying for the sins of men. God was making it possible for men to be freed from the guilt and condemnation of their sins.

Picture the scene: hanging there on the cross, God in Christ was not charging men with sin. He was dying for the sins of men. God was not there upon the cross to impute sin against men; He was there making it possible for men to be forgiven their sins.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (Heb.9:22).

- c. Third, God has committed the word of reconciliation to ministers. God has not left the word of reconciliation up to men. God has taken the initiative. God calls and equips ministers of God to proclaim the word of reconciliation. He has done everything possible to reconcile men.

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust” (1 Tim.1:11).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

3 (5:20) Ministers—Preaching—Message: the message of reconciliation is committed to ambassadors. This is a great passage for ministers of the gospel. Note two striking points.

1. Ministers are given the highest of titles: they are “ambassadors for Christ.” The “ambassadors” (presbeuomen) are persons who are sent forth as official envoys to represent the Sender and to announce the message of the Sender. Four things are always true about the ambassador.

- ⇒ The ambassador belongs to the One who sent him out.
- ⇒ The ambassador is commissioned to be sent out. He exists only for the purpose for which he was sent.
- ⇒ The ambassador possesses all the authority and power of the One who sent him out.
- ⇒ The ambassador is sent forth with the message of the Sender.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:9-11).

2. Ministers are given the greatest of messages: “Be reconciled to God.” The message is so critical that ministers are to “beseech” (deometha) men: beg, intreat, cry, and plead with them to be reconciled to God.

Note that it is “for Christ’s sake” that we are to plead with men. Christ has paid the ultimate price to make reconciliation available to men: He has taken the sins of men upon Himself and borne the condemnation for them. Because He has done so much, every man owes his life to Christ—every man owes it to Christ to be reconciled to God. For Christ’s sake, a man should give himself to God.

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

4 (5:21) Jesus Christ, Death: the message is unbelievable—a message of redemption, that is, of a substitution for sin. This is one of the great verses proclaiming the unbelievable love of God. It is a verse that has so much compacted in it that even a lifetime of study could not fathom its depths. It is impossible for man to grasp how God could make Christ become sin for us. Yet, this is exactly what Scripture declares: “[God] hath made him to be sin for us.” How was it possible for Christ to be made sin for us? Note the three points that are declared.

1. Christ “knew no sin.” One of the very reasons Jesus Christ came to earth was to live a sinless and perfect life. As Man He never broke the law of God; He never went contrary to the will of God. He never sinned, not even once. He lived a perfect life. Therefore, He stood before God as the Perfect, Ideal Man. He was the Ideal, the Pattern of what a man should be. He had secured the ideal, perfect righteousness; therefore, His righteousness could stand as the ideal righteousness for man. His righteousness could embrace and cover man. As the Ideal Pattern, the righteousness of the Lord Jesus Christ could be counted as righteousness for man.

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows” (Heb.1:9).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

2. God “made Christ to be sin for us.” This was absolutely necessary. Why? Because man needs more than just righteousness to stand perfect before God. To stand righteous before God is not enough, for man has already sinned. Man already stands guilty of breaking God's law, and the judgment and condemnation of death has already taken effect upon man. Man is dying both spiritually and physically, and the fact is clearly witnessed by the dying of people throughout every community of the world. Therefore, the condemnation and judgment against sin had to be taken care of. This, too, God did. God did it by laying all the sins of man upon Christ—all the guilt and condemnation of sin. God placed all sin upon Christ and let Him bear it all Himself. Christ became sin for us. How was Christ able to do this for us?

He was the Ideal, Perfect Man. Therefore, He could become the Ideal, Perfect Sin-Bearer. He could die the Ideal death, the death that would satisfy the justice of God's eternal court and holy nature.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us [the same as saying made sin for us]: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

“For the zeal of thine house hath eaten me up; and the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me” (Ps.69:9).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

3. God's purpose was that we might be made the righteousness of God in Christ. What does this mean? Very simply, when a person believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness. The man is not righteous, but God considers and credits the man's faith as righteousness. Why is God willing to do this?

a. God is willing to justify man because He loves man that much. God loves man so much that He sent His Son into the world and sacrificed Him in order to justify man (Jn.3:16; Ro.5:8).

b. God is willing to justify man because of what His Son Jesus Christ has done for man.

⇒ Jesus Christ has secured the Ideal righteousness for man. He came to earth to live a sinless and perfect life. As Man He never broke the law of God; He never went contrary to the will of God, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for the righteousness of every man.

⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to die for man. As the Ideal Man He could take all the sins of the world upon Himself and die for every man. His death could stand for every man. He exchanged places with man by becoming the sinner (2 Cor.5:19). He bore the wrath of God against sin, bearing the condemnation for every man. Again, He was able to do this because He was the Ideal Man, and as the Ideal Man His death could stand for the death of every man.

⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to arise from the dead and thereby to conquer death for man. As the Ideal Man His resurrection and exaltation into the presence of God could stand for every man's desperate need to conquer death and to be acceptable to God. His resurrected life could stand for the resurrected life of the believer.

Now, as stated above, when a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man's belief and...

- counts it as the righteousness (perfection) of Christ. The man is counted as righteous in Christ.
- counts it as the death of Christ. The man is counted as already having died in Christ.
- counts it as the resurrection of Christ. The man is counted as already having been resurrected in Christ.

Very simply, God loves His Son Jesus Christ so much that He honors any man who honors His Son by believing in Him. He honors the man by taking the man's faith and counting (crediting) it as righteousness and by giving him the glorious privilege of living with Christ forever in the presence of God. This is what is called justification. The word justify (diakioun) is a legal word taken from the courts. It pictures man on trial before God. Man is seen as having committed the most heinous of crimes; he has rebelled against God and broken his relationship with God. How can he restore that relationship? Within human courts if a man is acquitted, he is declared innocent, but this is not true within the Divine Court. When a man appears before God, he is anything but innocent; he is utterly guilty and condemned accordingly.

But when a man sincerely trusts Christ, then God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness. God counts the man—judges him, treats him—as if he was innocent. The man is not made innocent; he is guilty. He knows it and God knows it, but God treats him as innocent. “God justifies the ungodly”—an incredible mercy, a wondrous grace. (See notes—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25; DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—4:22.)

How do we know this? How can we know for sure that God is like this? Because Jesus said so. He said that God loves us. We are sinners, yes; but Christ said that we are very, very dear to God.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

Thought 1. The message of God’s ministry is an unbelievable yet glorious message. It is the only message that can truly save a sinful, dying person—the message of redemption, of a substitution for sin.

5 (6:1-2) Decision: the message demands a decision. Note three facts.

1. Ministers are co-workers with God. They actually have the great privilege of working together with God. What is the work that they do with God? The minister who works with God does exactly what Scripture says: he “beseeches,” that is, urges, begs, and pleads with men to receive the wonderful grace of God. What is that grace? It is the glorious truth...

- that God has provided salvation through Christ and proclaimed that salvation through Christ

2. The message of redemption is not to be received in vain. A person must not hear the message with empty, deaf ears. Redemption and salvation are available. God has made it possible—He even begs and pleads with men—to be saved; but a person can receive the message with empty ears and heart. He can either do nothing about the message or deliberately reject it. In either case he refuses...

- to let the grace of God take effect in his life
- to let God’s grace work in his heart through regeneration
- to let the death and righteousness of Christ be counted as his death and righteousness

A person must not receive the grace of God in vain. God’s grace is much too wonderful—it is the only hope and way of redemption and salvation.

3. The decision to be saved is to be made now. Now is the only reasonable time to be saved. There may be no tomorrow; in fact, there may not even be one hour left for any of us. Any person’s life can be snatched away any moment of any day by accident, disease, or heart attack. Verse two declares two significant facts (note that this is an Old Testament quotation and God Himself is the spokesman, Is.49:8):

- a. This is the acceptable time when God has heard the cries of men. This is the day of salvation when God has succoured men.
- b. Paul, the minister, cries out: “Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.” Note the forceful implication: the day is coming when the day of salvation will no longer be present.

“See, I have set before thee this day life and good and death and evil” (Dt.30:15).

“I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing; therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live” (Dt.30:19).

“Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest: go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, take up the cross, and follow me” (Mk.10:21).

“From that time many of his disciples went back, and walked no more with him. Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away?” (Jn.6:66-67).

“And if it seem evil unto you to serve the Lord, choose you this day whom ye will serve...but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord” (Josh.24:15).

“And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him” (1 Ki.18:21).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

I. The Ministry: Its Call to Consistency and Endurance, 6:3-10

(6:3-10) Introduction: one of the greatest needs of the ministry is for consistency and endurance. Too often the daily activities and duties of the ministry are allowed to become routine and mundane. Purpose and zeal—the very reason for which God called the minister—are allowed to fade from memory. Lethargy, complacency, routineness, and professionalism are allowed to slip into the life of the minister and the spirit of fervency is dimmed. There is little zeal to help and reach people for Christ. The present passage speaks strongly to this problem: the call of God to the minister is to be consistent and enduring.

1. Paul's great concern was consistency—to offend in nothing (v.3).
2. In much endurance—the supreme quality of consistency (v.4).
3. In physical sufferings and mental stress (v.4-5).
4. In moments of overwork, sleepiness, and hunger (v.5).
5. In spiritual growth and behavior (v.6-7).
6. In disregarding the world's reaction (v.8).
7. In social abuse and persecution (v.9).
8. In being content—always (v.10).

1 (6:3) Ministry—Faithfulness: Paul had one great concern—consistency, to offend in nothing. Paul wanted his life and ministry to be so consistent that he would never give any reason for anyone to reject or to turn sour on the Lord Jesus Christ. The word “offense” (proskope) means to stumble, to strike against. Paul was careful; he guarded his behavior and conduct lest he cause a person to stumble and fall and reject the gospel of Christ. Note the reason: he did not want to be a poor reflection upon the ministry. Paul knew the nature of man, that people looked for excuses to reject Christ and to avoid His church. He knew that some people were always searching for juicy gossip to use against the followers of Christ and especially against the ministers of the gospel. He also knew that God had called him to the ministry of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and that no higher call could be issued. Therefore, Paul sought to bring only honor to the ministry and to the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. He struggled against the lusts of the flesh and eyes and against the pride of life. He struggled...

- to avoid all temptation
- to keep from giving any offense
- to keep from being a stumbling block to anyone
- to conquer all trials
- to see to it that the ministry was never blamed because of a weakness or failure on his part

Thought 1. Every minister of the gospel must be aware of the great call God has given him. The ministry of Christ demands consistency—consistency in behavior and work. The minister of the gospel must strive just as diligently as Paul did to be consistent. He must be trustworthy and blameless before the Lord Jesus Christ.

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled. In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unreprouable in his sight” (Col.1:21-22).

“That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory. For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:12-13).

2 CORINTHIANS 6:3-10

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“A bishop [minister] then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders [ministers] in every city, as I had appointed thee: if any be blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children not accused of riot or unruly” (Tit.1:5-6).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

2 (6:4) Endurance: Paul was consistent in endurance. “Patience” (hupomone) means stedfast endurance. Endurance is the supreme quality, the very backbone of consistency. Unless a man endures, he will never be consistent, not in a corruptible and sinful world. A corruptible and sinful world presents obstacle after obstacle and sin after sin that have to be endured and overcome if a person is to live a consistent life. Stedfast endurance is the basic ingredient and force that a person must have to live a consistent life for the Lord Jesus. When trials, fatigue, temptations, or opposition confront the minister of God, he must do all he can to endure:

|                    |               |                  |
|--------------------|---------------|------------------|
| ⇒ to continue      | ⇒ to overcome | ⇒ to remain firm |
| ⇒ to stand fast    | ⇒ to triumph  | ⇒ to last        |
| ⇒ to be unyielding | ⇒ to bear     | ⇒ to conquer     |

Note four points.

1. The picture being painted is not that of a man who sits with folded hands and passively accepts whatever comes. It is the active struggle of the believer’s spirit to confront the obstacle or sin and to conquer it.
2. Also note the word much—much endurance is necessary if this world is to be overcome.
3. Paul again says that his primary purpose is to live a life that will commend the ministry. “In all things” he sought to build up, to commend, to approve the ministry.
4. Paul’s point is this: he has lived a life of endurance for the sake of the ministry. And he lists all the areas in which he has endured. They are covered in the rest of this passage. Note how the areas span all the areas of a minister’s life and ministry.

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:3-4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh” (Jas.5:7-8).

3 (6:4-5) Ministry: Paul was consistent and enduring in physical and mental suffering and stress. Six particular things are mentioned.

1. Paul endured “afflictions” (thlipseis): pressure, strain, tension that comes both from within and without. Things often press in upon a man, weigh upon and burden down his heart. Sometimes the pressure is so heavy and tight that a man feels like he is going to explode or be crushed. The pressure may come from some lustful temptation or from some strong trial, but no matter, he is to stedfastly endure all pressing afflictions.

2. Paul endured “necessities” (anagkai): inescapable hardship, difficulties, privation, and pain of life. William Barclay points out that the word literally means “the necessities of life” (The Letters to the Corinthians, p.238). A minister is called upon to face the necessities of life: he has to eat and drink, clothe and shelter himself and his family; and he has to face the sorrows and struggles and pains of life, including death itself—sometimes beyond what the average citizen has to face. Only one thing can carry the minister through the necessities and experiences of life: endurance. He must stedfastly endure for the sake of the Lord Jesus Christ and His ministry.

3. Paul endured “distresses” (stenochorai): straits, calamities, tight places, inescapable situations. It is the picture of being cornered and being unable to escape; a picture of having no room or place to turn, of being forced to confront the situation or else being utterly devastated and defeated. When the minister is cornered by temptation or trial—when there seems to be no escape—his only resource is endurance. He must stedfastly endure lest he offend the gospel and become a stumbling block to others.

4. Paul endured “stripes”: scourgings, beatings, lashings, whippings. This was a savage, excruciating punishment. The whip (phagellow) was made of leather straps with two small balls attached to the end of each strap. The balls were made of rough lead or sharp bones or spikes, so that they would cut deeply into the flesh. Paul’s hands were tied to a post above his head and he was scourged. It was the custom for the prisoner to be lashed until he was judged near death by the presiding centurion (Jewish trials allowed only forty lashes.) The criminal’s back was, of course, nothing more than an unrecognizable mass of torn flesh.

Paul was scourged at least eight times—just imagine! Eight times—five times by the Jews and three times by the Gentiles (2 Cor.11:24-25). Tragically, believers all over the world are sometimes whipped and abused because of their testimony for the Lord Jesus. In such times, only one thing can give the believer a consistent life and testimony: stedfast endurance.

5. Paul endured “imprisonments.” Paul was arrested and imprisoned several times: in Philippi (Acts 16), Jerusalem, Cesarea, and Rome. The early church Christian, Clement of Rome (A.D. 96), says that Paul was imprisoned seven times throughout the whole span of his ministry. When the believer, minister or layman, faces imprisonment for Christ, the call of the hour is for consistency: he must endure despite the threat. He must not weaken lest he become an offense to the name of Christ and to the ministry.

6. Paul endured “tumults”: mob uprisings and attacks. Paul often faced angered mobs: at Antioch of Pisidia (Acts 13:50); Lystra (Acts 14:19); Philippi (Acts 16:19); Ephesus (Acts 19:29); and at Jerusalem (Acts 21:30). Mob uprisings present one of the most difficult and frightening situations imaginable for a believer, for a mob cannot be controlled by reason. The believer is unable to be heard, so speech is useless. Believers often face the abuse and ridicule of crowds because of the righteous lives they live and because they refuse to join in the worldly pleasures and indulgences of life. At such times the believer must be consistent in his testimony—no matter the temptation to go along with the crowd. The true believer, layman and minister alike, must steadfastly endure.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.10:39).

“And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my names’ sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.19:29).

“But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me....for I will show him how great things he must suffer for my name’s sake” (Acts 9:15-16).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe” (1 Tim.4:10).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

4 (6:5) Ministry—Labor—Faithfulness: Paul was consistent and enduring in moments of overwork, sleepiness, and hunger. Paul covers all three areas.

1. Paul endured “labors” (kopois): toil, laborous work to the point of exhaustion. As we study the life of Paul, one striking characteristic about Paul’s ministry becomes clear: he never stopped preaching, teaching, or ministering until he just had to have rest. He was not lazy, lethargic, slothful, or complacent. He got up in the mornings and put his hand to the plow: praying, studying, ministering, and witnessing—just as God had called him.

2. Paul endured “watchings,” that is, sleepless nights. As stated, the record of his life indicates that he arose early and rested only as he needed. He spent nights in prayer, and sometimes found the weight of the churches on his mind so much that he could sleep little if any. The point to see is Paul’s great concern for people and their needs: concern so great that it would keep him awake at nights praying and figuring out how to better reach and help people for Christ. Paul was steadfast in the ministry, even enduring sleepless nights for the cause of Christ.

3. Paul endured “fastings.” This means not only deliberate fastings, but being so involved in his work that he forgot to eat or else chose to keep working instead of eating.

Thought 1. How many ministers honestly...

- endure overwork—laboriously work to the point of exhaustion? And how often?
- endure sleepless nights for the sake of prayer and figuring out how to better help and reach people for Christ?
- endure missed meals in order to get more done for Christ?

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance, that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent” (Rev.3:19).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest” (Mt.9:37-38).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“...lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“For we are labourers together with God: ye are God’s husbandry, ye are God’s building” (1 Cor.3:9).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

5 (6:6-7) Ministry: Paul was consistent and enduring in spiritual growth and behavior. Nine areas in particular are covered.

1. Paul endured in “purity” (hagnotetic): innocence, cleanliness; free from the dirt, filth, and pollution of the world; free from immoral and unjust behavior and motive. Note that it involves both heart and acts, both motive and behavior. It means to be spotless and stainless, holy and righteous, godly and just. The minister of the Lord Jesus Christ is to live a pure life.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure” (1 Tim.5:22).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

2. Paul endured in knowledge: the study and understanding of God’s revelation and Word. Paul did not neglect the meditation and study of God’s Word and revealed will. He learned all he could about how God wanted men to live, and he applied himself to living and teaching that way.

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God” (Col.1:10).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge” (2 Pt.1:5).

3. Paul endured in “longsuffering” (makrothumia): patience, bearing and suffering a long time with people, especially when they were wrong, unjust, abusive, slanderous, and injurious. The minister of God must always suffer and bear a long time with people, even when they are ever so wrong.

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“And account that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisdom given unto him hath written unto you” (2 Pt.3:15).

“For my name’s sake will I defer mine anger, and for my praise will I refrain for thee, that I cut thee not off” (Is.48:9).

4. Paul endured in “kindness” (chrestotes): goodness and benevolence of heart and behavior. It is being kind and good, gentle and sweet even when others are abusive and evil, severe and hurting, unappreciative and unthankful.

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity” (2 Pt.1:5-7).

5. Paul endured in the “Holy Spirit”: in the presence, power, and gifts of the Spirit. The great proof that he was a true minister of God was the fact that the Spirit of God worked in and through him. Paul was able to live for Christ and to build the ministry because he walked in the presence and power of the Spirit of God (see outline and notes, Holy Spirit—Ro.8:1-17; Jn.14:15-26; 16:7-15 for more discussion).

“And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power” (1 Cor.2:4).

“For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake” (1 Th.1:5).

6. Paul endured in “unfeigned love”: love that is not counterfeited or faked; love that is sincere, genuine, and pure; love that is unlimited, selfless, and sacrificial. No matter what a person does, unfeigned love forgets self and sacrifices whatever is necessary to reach out and help the person. The minister of God must always be consistent and endure in unfeigned love.

“...thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

7. Paul endured in the “word of truth”: the preaching and teaching of the truth, that is, of the gospel, of the Word of God. The minister must always preach the truth of God’s Word, not the thinking, philosophies, and ideas of men. The novel ideas of men are always coming upon the scene as the latest fashion of the day, but only the Word of God endures. God has called the minister to proclaim His Word; therefore, the minister must endure in proclaiming the word of truth.

“Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him” (Acts 28:31).

“And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Mt.10:7).

“What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops” (Mt.10:27).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

8. Paul endured in the “power of God”: the power of God was an absolute essential, for no human being could deliver men from sin, death, and judgment. Only God had the power to create men anew and give them eternal life. Therefore, Paul had to have the power of God upon his life and ministry if his labor was to be effective and bear genuine fruit.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all” (Acts 4:33).

“And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God” (1 Cor.2:4-5).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

9. Paul endured in “the armor of righteousness”: the righteousness or justification of Christ; the power to live a life of righteousness; the acts of righteousness to which Christ had called him. All of these meanings are probably meant here. No matter what the attacks were or against which hand they attacked, from the right hand or the left hand, Paul resorted to righteousness. He proclaimed...

- that he stood in the righteousness of Jesus Christ
- that he had committed his life totally to the Lord Jesus Christ, to live a life committed totally to the righteousness of the Lord Jesus Christ
- that he acted righteously for the sake of the ministry

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breast-plate of righteousness” (Eph.6:14).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

“But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:11).

6 (6:8) Ministry: Paul was consistent and enduring in disregarding the world's reaction. The world's reaction to Paul is covered in three sharp contrasts.

1. Paul was honored by some and dishonored by others. Some showed respect; others did not. Some gave him the honor due a minister of God; others did all they could to dishonor him. However, Paul stood and endured all dishonor done him.

2. Paul was talked about: some spread evil reports about him; others good reports. He was criticized and censored and had rumors spread far and wide by those who opposed him, but others loved and understood and stood by the good he was doing. Whatever the situation, Paul consistently endured and continued to minister for his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

3. Paul was treated as a deceiver, yet he was as true as a person could be. The word “deceiver” means to be an imposter, a false teacher, a quack. However, he stood fast: no matter the charge, he endured and continued right on preaching the truth and doing all he could to help and reach people for Christ.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

7 (6:9) Ministry: Paul was consistent and enduring in the face of social abuse and persecution.

1. Some treated Paul as unknown; others as well known. The word “unknown” means to dismiss, ignore, disregard. Some just wanted nothing to do with the minister of God. But others loved Paul because of what he had done for them and was doing for people throughout the church. No matter the treatment, Paul endured for the sake of the gospel and people.

“To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out” (Jn.10:3).

“I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine” (Jn.10:14).

“But if any man love God, the same is known of him” (1 Cor.8:3).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

2. Paul was treated as dying, yet he lived. Some looked upon Paul as reckless and unwise, as a man who courted the disfavor, anger, and rejection of men. They saw Paul as a “fool” who was doomed, who was rapidly walking the road to death. But others understood and knew the truth: he was a new creature in Christ, a man who had found eternal life, and he was compelled to share the glorious news with the world no matter the threat to his own safety. He knew the truth and he had to do all he could to awaken men to the truth—regardless of the consequences. Therefore, he endured the cross, dying to the world, in order to share the glorious news of eternal life.

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter” (Ro.8:36).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:23-24).

3. Paul was chastened, yet he was never killed. Being chastened means suffering. Paul was constantly suffering for the cause of Christ and he was willing to be chastened in order to help and reach people for Christ. No person and no thing could kill him until Christ was ready for him to depart for heaven. Until that time, he would endure any suffering, any chastening as long as he had breath to bear witness for Christ.

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away; and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit” (Jn.15:2).

“Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that per- isheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.1:6-7).

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy" (1 Pt.4:12-13).

8 (6:10) Ministry: Paul was consistent and enduring in being content—always. Three contrasts are again made.

1. Paul was looked upon as sorrowful, yet he was always rejoicing. The worldly and carnal saw him as seldom if ever having fun. He never joined the crowd in their worldly pleasures and activities, nor did he seek the comforts and possessions of the world. He was viewed as an extremist in separation, a man who missed out on the pleasures and fun of living. However, Paul was filled with joy, true joy—the joy that comes from knowing where he had come from, why he was here, and where he was going. He was gripped with the utmost security, confidence, and assurance of life.

"These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full" (Jn.15:11).

"Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full" (Jn.16:24).

"For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost" (Ro.14:17).

"Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory" (1 Pt.1:8).

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy" (1 Pt.4:12-13).

2. Paul was considered poor, yet he made many rich. He was a travelling missionary, a man who in the eyes of the world was homeless and without worldly possessions. Yet, he possessed the true wealth, the only wealth that can really make a man secure—the wealth of God's presence and love and care. And Paul shared his wealth with others. He always shared how men could possess the eternal treasures of heaven.

"But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (Mt.6:20).

"Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me" (Mt.19:21).

"Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not" (Lk.12:33).

"Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ" (Ph.3:8).

"Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim.6:19).

"[Moses] esteeming the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompence of the reward" (Heb.11:26).

"Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?" (Jas.2:5).

"I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see" (Rev.3:18).

3. Paul was looked upon as having nothing, yet he possessed all things. He had no worldly goods, but he did have the promise of God: he was to possess all things very shortly, as soon as Jesus returned. He was an heir of God, even a joint-heir with Christ (Ro.8:16-17. See note, Reward—1 Cor.3:13-15.)

"In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also" (Jn.14:2-3).

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Ro.8:16-17).

"That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Tit.3:7).

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Pt.1:3-4).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

J. The Ministry: Its Call to Separation and Consecration, 6:11-7:1

(6:11-7:1) Introduction: when the subject of separation is approached, it is often dreaded. People just misunderstand what separation really means. To most people, spiritual separation means that they have to give up this, quit going there, and stop doing that. They feel it means never again having fun and enjoying the pleasures of this world. This is all most people see and think when they hear of spiritual separation. However, the greatest call in all the world is the call to separation and consecration. A person can be saved from this world and given absolute assurance of living forever as a son or daughter of God. Just imagine the glory of being truly adopted as a son or daughter of God! This is the truth of separation and consecration.

1. Call 1: open your heart (v.11-13).
2. Call 2: do not be unequally yoked with unbelievers—you are different (v.14-16).
3. Call 3: come out from among unbelievers and be separate (v.17-18).
4. Call 4: cleanse yourselves and perfect holiness (Ch.7:1).

1 (6:11-13) Heart, Open: the first call is for an open heart. An open heart is an absolute essential for separation and consecration. No person is going to separate himself from the world and consecrate his life to God unless he has an open heart and mind.

1. Note how Paul's heart is open and full of affection for the Corinthian church.
  - a. "O ye Corinthians": he speaks directly to the church as though face to face, which always shows strong feelings.
  - b. "Our mouth is open to you": he has spoken openly and honestly, without hesitation or equivocation.
  - c. "Our heart is enlarged": his heart is open to them, and his affection has grown as he has been sharing the truth with them.
  - d. "You are not straitened in us": the word "straitened" (stenochoreisthe) means to be restricted, to lack room, to be pressed or distressed, to be in anguish or straits. Paul says there was no lack of room in his heart for the church; no restriction against them. He held nothing against them. His heart was wide open to receive them.
2. Note how narrow and closed the church was to Paul. Their hearts were straitened (stenochoreisthe), restricted, closed, had little if any room for Paul.

Paul appeals to them: "recompense," that is, return to him the same enlarged and open heart that he has shown them. Note that Paul calls them his children; therefore, just as children open their hearts and receive their parents with affection, he begs them to receive him and his instructions with affection.

Thought 1. Two things are absolutely essential if the church is going to ever hear the call of God and His ministry.

- 1) A minister with an open, honest, and loving heart toward God and His people.
- 2) A church with an open, honest, and loving heart toward God and His chosen minister.

"By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (Jn.13:35).

"This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you" (Jn.15:12).

"Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good" (Ro.12:9).

“Now he that ministereth seed to the sower both minister bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness” (2 Cor.9:10).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:14-15).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

2 (6:14-16) Separation: the second call is for believers not to be unequally yoked with unbelievers. The reasons are clearly stated: believers are different from unbelievers, ever so different. Just how different is seen in the word “unequally yoked” (heterozugountes). It refers back to the Old Testament where God forbade the plowing of an ox with an ass (Dt.22:10), or the union of different kinds of animals (Lev.19:19). The point is...

- that the union of a genuine believer with an unbeliever would be as different as the union between two kinds of animals.
- that the plowing through life of a believer with an unbeliever would be as difficult as the plowing of a field with an ox and an ass yoked together.

Genuine believers are radically different from unbelievers. Five areas clearly reveal the fact. Note that each area is introduced with a question.

1. Believers differ from unbelievers in fellowship. “What fellowship does righteousness have with unrighteousness?” The word “unrighteousness” (anomia) means lawlessness. Unbelievers have not and do not obey God. They live and do as they wish, not as God says. They reject God and what God says and go about doing their own thing. They rebel against God and His commandments, living lawless and unrighteous lives.

- a. They have not believed in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to save them.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

- b. They do not seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

- c. They do not hunger and thirst after righteousness.

“Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled” (Mt.5:6).

Note the word “fellowship” (metoche) means sharing and participation. How can a believer who focuses his life upon the righteousness of Jesus Christ share and participate with unbelievers who care little if anything about Jesus Christ and His call to righteousness?

2. Believers differ from unbelievers in communion. “What communion does light have with darkness?” The word “communion” (koinonia) means to be in union, in partnership, in a bound fellowship, to be closely bound together. It means to be so closely bound together that there is open and mutual sharing: what one has belongs to the other. The point is clear: there is no such communion or union between light and darkness. On the contrary, light and darkness are mutually exclusive, of different natures entirely. They cannot co-exist.

- a. Light is the symbol or picture of believers.

- ⇒ Believers are said to become “children of light” through belief in the Light, Jesus Christ Himself (Jn.12:36).
- ⇒ Believers have been transferred from the dominion of darkness into the Kingdom of Christ, the inheritance of light (Col.1:13).
- ⇒ Before they come to Christ, believers are not only in darkness but are an embodiment of darkness. But when they come to Christ, believers are placed in the Light and become an embodiment of the Light itself (Eph.5:8).
- ⇒ Believers are the light of the world (Mt.5:14-16).
- ⇒ Believers are to set their light on a candlestick—to make their light conspicuous (Mt.5:15).
- ⇒ Evil-doers shun the light (Jn.3:20f).
- ⇒ The creation of light is a picture of the expulsion of spiritual darkness (Gen.1:2f).

- b. Darkness is the symbol or picture of unbelievers. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Darkness—2 Cor.6:14 for discussion.)

The point is striking: the nature of believers and unbelievers differs as radically as light differs from darkness.

- ⇒ As children of light, believers know the light of God, live by the light of God, and are blessed by the light of God.
- ⇒ As children of darkness, unbelievers know the darkness of this world, live by the darkness of the world, and receive only the blessings of the world’s darkness (temporary pleasure and possessions, and the hopelessness of death and judgment).

2 CORINTHIANS 6:11-7:1

3. Believers differ in attachment and covenant. “What concord does Christ have with Belial?” Belial refers to Satan. The name “Belial” refers in particular to the worthlessness, wickedness, and impurity of Satan’s character. He is pictured as the head or leader of unbelievers; whereas Christ is pictured as the Head or Leader of believers. The picture is striking:
- ⇒ the forces of good and evil stand opposed to each other.
  - ⇒ Christ stands opposed to Belial.
  - ⇒ the Righteous One stands opposed to the wicked one.
  - ⇒ the Worthy One stands opposed to the worthless one.
  - ⇒ the righteousness and purity of Christ stand opposed to the wickedness and impurity of Belial.

If a person does not follow Christ, then Scripture says he is following Belial or Satan. Therefore, it is impossible for a genuine believer to live in concord or harmony with those who follow the lead of Belial instead of Christ. Believers cannot be attached to those who live wicked and impure lives—persons who follow the leader of all unworthiness, that is, the devil.

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils” (1 Cor.10:21).

4. Believers differ in faith or belief. “What part does he who believes have with an infidel?” The word “infidel” (apistou) means a person who has chosen to disbelieve in Christ and has deliberately rejected Him. The word “part” (meris) means a person’s portion, lot, sphere, realm, or participation in life.

The believer’s faith is pictured as changing his whole life: his belief causes him to move in a whole new sphere or realm of life. He may live among unbelievers, living and working next to them, but he moves in a different realm. His purpose and behavior upon earth is different:

- ⇒ The believer believes that Christ is the Son of God and the Savior of the world; the infidel does not.
- ⇒ The believer lives as Christ dictates; the infidel lives as he wishes.
- ⇒ The believer seeks to honor Christ by putting Christ first and serving Him; the infidel lives for self and the world and its possessions.

The very meaning, purpose, and significance of life differ radically between the believer and infidel. The believer seeks Christ and the things of Christ, whereas the infidel focuses his life primarily upon this world and self.

5. Believers differ in worship. “What agreement does the temple of God have with idols?” The word “agreement” (sunkatathesis) means a close understanding, a close union and bond of mind and spirit. There can be no agreement, no union, and no bond whatsoever between the temple of God and idols. Idolatry, above all else, is despised by God, for an idol is the substitute god of a man. An idol replaces God in a man’s life. A man’s worship or idol may range from self or personal ideas all the way to graven images or possessions. A man may worship and make an idol out of anything, such as...

- money
- land
- position
- power
- fame
- recognition
- houses
- vehicles
- recreation
- family
- religion
- profession

An idol can be anything to which a man gives his primary allegiance—his time, energy, money. Wherever a man puts his primary time, energy, and money and allegiance is where his heart and worship are.

This is one of the most significant differences between the believer and the unbeliever: the believer is not an idolater. In fact, he himself is the very temple of God. His very body is said to be one of the special places where God’s presence dwells. The believer is able to know, sense, and feel God’s presence and power within him. Note that Paul quotes from the Old Testament to illustrate his point:

“I will dwell in them; and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people” (v.16; cp. Lev.26:11-12; Ezk.37:27).

The point is clear: the believer worships the living and true God, not idols. He cannot agree with the worship of unbelievers; he cannot live and walk with unbelievers in worship, for his worship differs radically from the worship of unbelievers.

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?” (1 Cor.6:19).

“And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people” (2 Cor.6:16).

“In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:22).

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:14) Darkness (skotos, skotia): the word is used in Scripture to describe both the state and the works of man. Darkness is very real in Scripture.

1. The darkness refers to the world of the natural man who does not know Jesus Christ (Jn.8:12). The natural man walks in ignorance...
  - of Jesus Christ.
  - of God as revealed by Jesus Christ.
  - of the real purpose and destiny of life as shown by Jesus Christ.

The natural man stumbles and gropes about in this world. He knows nothing other than the things of this world as he sees them. His only hope is the hope of living a long life before death overtakes him. He walks in darkness, ignorant of real life now and hereafter (cp. Jn.12:35, 46).
2. The darkness symbolizes unpreparedness and unwatchfulness. It symbolizes the time when evil occurs (1 Th.5:4-8).
3. The darkness is loved by men. Sinful men do their evil deeds under the cover of darkness. Men therefore hate the light because the light uncovers their evil behavior (Jn.3:19-20).
4. The darkness is hostile to light (see DEEPER STUDY # 4—Jn.1:5).

3 (6:17-18) Separation—Adoption—the third call is for believers to come out from unbelievers and be separate. These two verses are a quote from the Old Testament (Is.52:11-12). When God led Israel out of the Babylonian captivity, He told them to leave everything behind. They were to take nothing out of the defiled land, for they were to begin a totally new life under His leadership. Note three significant points.

1. First, believers are to come out from among unbelievers and be separate. What does this mean? Of course, it does not mean that believers are to leave the cities, communities, and work places of the world. Believers are not to isolate themselves from unbelievers. It does not mean that believers have nothing to do with unbelievers—never talking, sharing, or associating with them. Both believers and unbelievers are in the world, and they have to share the world together.

What God means is at least two things.

- a. God means what has just been discussed (v.14-16). Believers differ from unbelievers; they differ radically. Therefore...
  - believers are not to be “unequally yoked” with unbelievers. They are not to be yoked, be intimately involved in a relationship with unbelievers.
  - believers are not to be in “fellowship” with unbelievers. They are not to share and participate in the worldly life and functions and events of unbelievers.
  - believers are not to be in “communion” with unbelievers. They are not to be closely bound in partnership with unbelievers. They are not to be so united with unbelievers that there has to be open and mutual sharing of person and possessions.
  - believers are not to be attached nor in covenant with unbelievers. Believers must not follow the worthless leader, Belial (Satan), of the unbelievers.
  - believers are not to move about in the sphere, the realm, the life and position of the infidel, the person who has rejected Jesus Christ.
  - believers are not to worship with unbelievers.
- b. God means what He says in this verse: believers are not to touch the unclean thing. Believers are no longer to live as the sinners of the world. They are not to participate in the sins of unbelievers.

“Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them” (Ro.1:29-32).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:9-10).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

Thought 1. Very simply stated, believers are in the world, but they are not to be of the world. They live in the world, but they are not to take part in the sins of the world.

2. Second, note that separation is a command of God Himself. “Be ye separate, saith the Lord.” There is to be no questioning, rationalizing, twisting, or ignoring of the command. God demands separation. In fact, separation is so important to God, it is one of the essentials to be received by God (see next point, point 3).

3. Third, the results of separation are phenomenal.

- a. If we separate ourselves and consecrate our lives to God, He receives us. The word means to accept, approve, welcome. Imagine being accepted and approved by God Himself! God cannot receive a person who lives in sin and shame, in worldliness and immorality, in covetousness and idolatry. But if a person comes out from the world and separates himself, God receives that person.

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

- b. If we separate ourselves and consecrate our lives to God, God will become our Father and adopt us as sons and daughters of His. Note that it is the “Lord Almighty” who adopts us, the only Person who has the might and power to do such a glorious thing. God’s relationship to us is that of a father to his sons and daughters! God favors and nurtures us with...

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:5-6).

4 (7:1) Separation: the fourth call is for believers to cleanse themselves and to perfect holiness. God gives two of the most wonderful promises imaginable: to receive us and to adopt us as His sons and daughters. Therefore, God expects two things from us.

1. God expects us to cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit. All sin makes man dirty, but there are certain sins that especially pollute his flesh and other sins that especially pollute his spirit. A glance at the list of sins in the verses of the former note will clearly show this (Ro.1:29-32; 1 Cor.6:9-10; Gal.5:3-7). Sins of the flesh would be such sins as immorality and drunkenness, and sins of the spirit would be such sins as hatred and jealousy.

“And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord” (Acts 22:16).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master’s use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye doubleminded” (Jas.4:8).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“Wash ye, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil” (Is.1:16).

“O Jerusalem, wash thine heart from wickedness, that thou mayest be saved. How long shall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee?” (Jer.4:14).

2. God expects us to perfect holiness in the fear of God. Note that this is continuous action. The word “perfecting” (epitelountes) is an aggressive word demanding aggressive action. It means not only to practice but to finish and complete. The believer is, of course, to practice holiness. That is, he is to practice doing the things that will make him holy. But he is to do much more: he is to pursue holiness aggressively, seeking to perfect and complete holiness in his life. Of course, the believer can never become perfectly holy: he cannot become God. But he is to set his mind and heart upon becoming holy.

Note the motive for holiness: the fear of God. The word fear means not only fear, but also awe and reverence. When a man really sees and understands God and what God has done for him he ceases to fear men. Instead he fears God and stands in awe of God, seeking to please God by living a holy and pure life.

“And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation” (Lk.1:50).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

DIVISION III

THE MINISTRY AND ITS DESCRIPTION, 2:12-7:16

K. The Ministry: Its End—A Transforming Revival, 7:2-16

(7:2-16) Introduction: this is the passage that covers the great revival that took place in Corinth. All the hurt that Paul had suffered from the Corinthians and all the hours of prayer that he had offered up in their behalf bore fruit—great fruit. The church repented. And God sent His Spirit of revival upon them. This is a great passage on the factors involved in revival. It is a great passage on the end toward which the ministry aims: the end of a transforming revival.

1. The revival had a solid foundation: a faithful minister (v.2-6).
2. The revival was stirred by godly sorrow and repentance (v.7-12).
3. The revival brought a renewed spirit to a young disciple (v.13-15).
4. Conclusion: the minister held great confidence in the church since its revival (v.16).

1 (7:2-6) Revival—Minister—Faithfulness: the revival had a solid foundation—a faithful minister. Faithfulness is an absolute essential if there is to be revival in the church. No church has ever experienced more problems than the Corinthian church.

2 CORINTHIANS 7:2-16

- ⇒ The Corinthian church was filled with division (1 Cor.3:3); pride (1 Cor.3:18; 4:18; 8:1; 14:37); immorality (1 Cor.5:1); fraud (1 Cor.6:8); questionable practices (1 Cor.8:1f); abusing the Lord's Supper (1 Cor.11:17f); abusing spiritual gifts (1 Cor.12-14); and denying the bodily resurrection of believers (1 Cor.15:12f).
- ⇒ The Corinthian church had some members who were levelling every charge imaginable against Paul, ranging from being a poor speaker and damaging the church's image over to stealing from the offerings and living an immoral life (see note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for discussion).

If there has ever been a church where revival seemed impossible, it was probably Corinth. Yet, revival came in the force of God's Spirit. One of the primary reasons was the faithfulness of its minister, Paul the apostle. These four verses cover his faithfulness.

1. There was Paul's (the minister's) great desire to be received by the church and be reconciled with those who opposed him. Note how he wrote about securing reconciliation.
  - a. He tenderly and warmly appealed to the opposition: receive us. He let them know that he wanted reconciliation; he wanted to be received by them.
  - b. He declared that he was innocent of the charges levelled against him.
    - ⇒ He had wronged no man: treated no man unjustly.
    - ⇒ He had corrupted no man; he had not destroyed any person either morally or doctrinally. He had lived a moral life, always guarding himself; and he had preached and taught only the Word of God, not the ideas of other men nor of his own mind.
    - ⇒ He had defrauded no man; he had not taken advantage of anyone financially or morally. He had not stolen or confiscated money from the offerings nor taken advantage of families or friends who helped and supported his ministry.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men” (Ro.12:17).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (Ro.13:8).

2. There was Paul's (the minister's) great love for the church. Note how softly and tenderly Paul spoke to the church and to those who opposed him.
  - ⇒ “I do not speak this to condemn you”: that is, I do not mean to accuse or down you while defending myself.
  - ⇒ “You are in our hearts”: I love you—love you so much I would die with you and for you, even as I long to live with you.

The point to see is Paul's great love for his people—a love that reaches out to people despite the terrible wrong they had been doing to him. Great love—love that forgives wrongdoing—is an absolute essential for revival.

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

“Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity” (Eph.6:24).

“So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us” (1 Th.2:8).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And now I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another” (2 Jn.5).

3. There was Paul's (the minister's) boldness in proclaiming the truth. Glance at the awful corruptions of the church listed above in this note and imagine the terrible accusations against Paul. Then take a moment and think through how boldly Paul has written in I and II Corinthians. His boldness is clearly seen! The faithful minister of God must always confront error and corruption with a clear and bold proclamation of God's Word. This is without question one of the essential requirements for revival.

“What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops” (Mt.10:27).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

4. There was Paul's (the minister's) confidence that the people would respond. The word "glorying" means boasting. In the present passage the church has already repented and experienced revival, and Paul was actually experiencing the joy and rejoicing of the church's repentance. He was boasting in them, for his confidence in them had proven to be well-founded.

The point is this: Paul had always hoped. He never lacked confidence in the Corinthian church—that they would repent and be reconciled to God and to him, their minister. It was his confidence in them that kept him going after them. He knew they were not hopeless. If people are hopeless, then there is no need to continue trying to reach them. But no people are hopeless until God Himself determines they are and removes them from the earth.

Thought 1. Confidence, hope, and belief in the church are essential if the minister is to stay after a people. Revival can come only as a minister perseveres after his people, ever believing that they will repent of their sins and turn to God.

"For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming? For ye are our glory and joy" (1 Th.2:19-20).

5. There was Paul's (the minister's) faithfulness despite great trouble both within and without. Very simply, Paul is saying that he, his flesh, never had rest from trouble.

⇒ He was troubled on every side: in every conceivable way and place.

⇒ There were fightings without from those who opposed him. From people both inside and outside of the church there was criticism, censorship, ridicule, abuse, attacks, and persecution.

⇒ There were fears within: concern for the church and fellow believers, for the Lord's mission and the gospel, for the lost and the needy.

"For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake" (Ph.1:29).

"Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not" (2 Cor.4:1).

"For which cause we faint not; but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day. For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory" (2 Cor.4:16-17).

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

"But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, charity, patience, persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me. Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution" (2 Tim.3:10-12).

"Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.1:6-7).

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings, that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy" (1 Pt.4:12-13).

6. There was Paul's (the minister's) great sufficiency: God and His comfort. When God's dear servants are under attack, God always meets the need of His servants. If a minister has ever needed God's presence and comfort, Paul did. Disliked, belittled, criticized, accused and slandered by others, and ever weighed down with a driving sense of duty and mission, Paul desperately needed God to sustain him as he worked with the Corinthians to correct the sin and errors within the church.

Remember: Paul had probably made a hurried visit to Corinth after writing I Corinthians. He had heard that many had not received his exhortation to correct matters and that things had deteriorated. Apparently when he arrived at the church he was rejected (2 Cor.2:1; 12:14; 13:1-2. See note—2 Cor.1:15-17 and Introduction, Special Features, pt.3, I Corinthians.) Paul had left Corinth, and after regaining his composure he had sat down and written a severe letter calling for repentance. This severe letter was sent by Titus. It was the return of Titus from Corinth that is referred to in this verse. Paul is anxiously awaiting word to see if the church has listened and finally returned to the Lord and holiness.

The word was positive: the church had repented. Their repentance is discussed in the next few verses. The present point is this: God met Paul's need by returning Titus safely with the answer to Paul's prayers: the church had repented. Note how descriptively Paul gives all the credit to God:

"God, that comforts those that are cast down, comforts us by the coming of Titus" (v.6).

Thought 1. God will always meet the need of His faithful servant. Sometimes it will be dramatic just as it was with Paul. Sometimes it will be in some natural and ordinary way. But note this: Paul had to endure heavy trials for a long time before God moved. Just like Christ, Paul had to learn obedience by the things which he suffered (Heb.5:8). God meets the need of His servant, but He grows His servant while He meets that need.

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Mt.28:19-20).

“I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:18).

“Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God” (2 Cor.1:3-4).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

2 (7:7-12) Sorrow, Godly; Worldly—Repentance—Revival: the revival was stirred by godly sorrow and repentance. These verses give clear insight into what brings about revival within a corrupt and divided church, a church that is attacking its minister.

1. The church had an earnest desire to correct its evil. They longed, yearned, and ached to be reconciled to their minister.
  - ⇒ They mourned: wept, wailed, lamented over the sin within their midst and over the mistreatment of their minister.
  - ⇒ They now had a “fervent mind,” a zeal to correct the sin and to defend Paul, their dear minister.
2. The church experienced sorrow. Paul had proclaimed the truth: the church needed to cleanse itself of sin and of false teachers. It needed to stop the attacks upon its minister. It needed to repent and get back to ministering for Christ instead of living in sin and being embroiled in controversy. The church would not let Paul stand in the pulpit, so he had proclaimed the truth in a letter to them. The letter had done its work: the church, at least a majority of its members, had been stricken with a spirit of sorrow.

Note Paul’s spirit: he regretted the necessity of having to take such a stern approach. But he was glad he had declared the truth, for the letter had led to the church’s conviction and sorrow.

3. The minister rejoiced, but note over what: Paul’s rejoicing was not over the church being made to feel guilty and sorrowful, but over the fact of their repentance. He says that he would not damage or harm them in any way whatsoever.

Thought 1. What a crucial lesson for so many believers who find joy in the guilt and sorrow of those who had opposed them.

4. The church’s experience of true sorrow: godly sorrow vs. worldly sorrow (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Cor.7:10 for discussion).
5. The church’s evidence of godly sorrow. There are eight results of godly sorrow, of true repentance and revival mentioned in this verse.
  - a. Carefulness or earnestness and eagerness to correct the sin, pollution, dirt, wrong, and hurt.
  - b. The cleansing of oneself: the church acknowledged its sin and repented. The church turned away from sin and turned back to God. It dealt with the leader of the opposition against Paul (v.12) and apparently dealt with and corrected all the wrongs in its midst.
  - c. Indignation with sin: there was anger at the fact that the sin was ever allowed to seep into the church. In fact, there was a renewed anger at sin itself—a renewed commitment to combat sin with all the resources available in the power of God’s Spirit.
  - d. Fear: there was fear of the wrath of God and fear that great damage had been done to the church and to one of God’s great servants, and to the name of Christ.
  - e. Vehement desire: there was a fervent desire to correct all the wrong done.
  - f. Zeal: there was a zealous commitment to tackle the task immediately because so much wrong had been done. A strenuous and long effort was needed to overcome for Christ. There was also a zeal to lead all sinners to repentance.
  - g. Revenge: this means vengeance, punishment, the avenging of wrong. There was a renewed sense of justice, of punishing and correcting wrong-doers. This was necessary if some persons persisted in their sin and in attacking the minister, and in disturbing the fellowship of the church. There was a renewed commitment to allow no more open sin or underhanded divisiveness.
  - h. Innocence: the church, by its godly sorrow and repentance, had cleared itself. Note the words “in all things.” What a glorious picture of true repentance and of God’s glorious grace. As corrupt and polluted as the church was, when they truly repented, God cleared them of all things!
6. The minister’s purpose for reaching out to the church became clear to all. This is a difficult verse to break down into clauses, even in the Greek. The point deals with Paul’s purpose for staying after the Corinthians. He straightened out the mess in their midst. Paul had not written and called them to repentance...
  - for the sake of the wrong-doer,
  - nor for the sake of the one who suffered the wrong (himself),
  - but for the sake of the church as a whole: that the church might learn its true character. It is a genuine church; the church does care for its minister and for righteousness and for the Lord’s cause.

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(7:10) Godly Sorrow—Worldly Sorrow—Repentance: sin and irresponsibility cause regret and disappointment, guilt, and remorse. In short, sin causes sorrow. But sorrow has no healing power by itself. Only repentance, a change of mind or a turn of life, can heal the heart of man (see note 7 and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 17:29-30).

There are two kinds of sorrow.

1. Worldly sorrow. This sorrow can be a sorrow over doing wrong or of coming up short from what one expects. It is a violation of one's values. It can also be a sorrow caused by being found out, or suffering consequences, or being punished. In either case "the sorrow of the world works death" (2 Cor.7:10). It works death in two ways:

- ⇒ It eats a man up with guilt and remorse, depression and despair, defeat and inactivity (cp. Judas, Mt.27:3-5).
- ⇒ It embitters a man in rebellion and resentment against the consequences and punishment of sin (cp. Esau, Heb.12:16-17).

2. Godly sorrow. This is the sorrow that is wrought in the heart of the believer by the conviction of the Holy Spirit. When the believer does wrong or falls short, the Holy Spirit is grieved (Eph.4:30). His work is quenched (1 Th.5:19). His ministry of making the believer like Jesus is hindered and hampered. So He begins His convicting work. Under the weight of conviction the believer's heart is thereby led to repent. The believer changes his mind and turns his behavior around to what it should be (cp. Peter, Mt.26:75). Godly sorrow always leads to repentance. A believer who refuses to repent wallows around and eventually dwells in the realm of worldly sorrow. He always bears the mark of indwelling and unconfessed sin and failure.

"Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted" (Mt.5:4).

"Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord" (Acts 3:19).

"For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death" (2 Cor.7:10).

"Therefore also now, saith the LORD turn ye even to me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning" (Joel 2:12).

"If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land" (2 Chron.7:14).

"The LORD is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart; and saveth such as be of a contrite spirit" (Ps.34:18).

"The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise" (Ps.51:17).

"Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon" (Is.55:7).

"For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word" (Is.66:2).

3 (7:13-15) Revival—Titus: the revival brought a renewed spirit to a young disciple. The points of the outline for the most part cover this discussion. Revival always stirs a renewed spirit within young disciples. This was certainly true of Titus.

1. The young disciple, Titus, had the wonderful privilege of being one of God's instruments in bringing revival to the church. Being in the midst of a church-wide repentance (revival) had eased his concern for the church and given him a refreshed and rested spirit.

Note that Titus was so affected by the revival that his joy greatly affected Paul. The joy of the Corinthian revival not only stirred joy within Paul, but the excitement of Titus caused the joy of Paul to overflow.

2. The young disciple had been informed of the church's good qualities by Paul. Apparently, Titus had heard Paul boast in the qualities and strengths of the Corinthians many times. He had heard Paul share his expectation of God granting a revival of true repentance among the Corinthians. The young disciple had the privilege of witnessing the proof of a true church: the Corinthian church proved worthy of Paul's boasting.

3. The young disciple joyed greatly over the church's submissive obedience to the proclamation of God's Word. Titus, no doubt, not only delivered the letter written by Paul, but he also proclaimed the Word of God himself. Note how the church responded: with fear and trembling. They realized that they stood before a holy and righteous God who loved them, but they also realized that a loving God demanded repentance or else the facing of judgment. They feared lest they fail to do all that God's wonderful love demanded.

4 (7:16) Conclusion: the minister held great confidence in the church since its revival and repentance. The church had experienced...

- a revival of unity: its problem of division was solved (1 Cor.3:3).
- a revival of humility: its problem of pride was solved (1 Cor.3:18; 4:18).
- a revival of morality: its problem of tolerating immorality in its midst was solved (1 Cor.5:1).
- a revival of honesty: its problem of tolerating the wrongdoing and cheating within its midst was corrected (1 Cor.6:8).
- a revival of love: its problem of allowing questionable social practices and stumbling blocks in its midst was corrected (1 Cor.8:1f).
- a revival of observing the Lord's Supper properly: its problem of allowing abuse of the Lord's Supper was corrected (1 Cor.11:17f).
- a revival of exercising the spiritual gifts properly: its problem of allowing the abuse of the gifts was corrected (1 Cor.12-14).
- a revival of doctrinal truth: the problem of allowing doctrinal error was handled and corrected (1 Cor.15:12f).

DIVISION IV

THE MINISTRY AND ITS FINANCIAL COLLECTIONS, 8:1-9:15

A. The Challenge to Give, 8:1-15

(8:1-15) Introduction: the churches throughout Judea were suffering great poverty and needed help badly. This is what this passage is about: meeting the desperate need of fellow believers and human beings who were being threatened with starvation and death, many of whom were without Christ and doomed to an eternity apart from Christ.

The need of missions is an unending call, a call that never ends. The desperate needs of the world must always confront man. Why? Because the world is sinful and corrupt, full of greed and covetousness, banking and hoarding. People who have more than they need should be helping and giving, serving and ministering. Instead they are banking and hoarding. The result is a world reeling in desperate need. The challenge to the church is clear! Give—give all you are and have to reach and help the desperate of the world.

1. Know the spirit of the Macedonians: they gave because of the grace and favor of God (v.1-5).
2. Excel in the same spirit of giving (v.6-7).
3. Prove the sincerity of your love (v.8).
4. Know the example of Christ—He gave (v.9).
5. Remember your own past record (v.10).
6. Give readily and willingly (v.11-12).
7. Meet the needs of one another—equally (v.13-15).

1 (8:1-5) Stewardship—Giving—Offerings: the first challenge is to know the spirit of the Macedonians. The Roman province of Macedonia included all of northern Greece. The known churches of the region were Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea. The first two are well known by every generation of Christians because of the two letters addressed to them in the New Testament. At one time, the Macedonian province had been known for its natural resources. But down through the centuries the area had been ravaged by war, and Rome had stripped it of its wealth. Because of this the churches of the area were somewhat poor in material wealth. But note a glorious fact: they were extremely wealthy in the grace of God. God had bestowed an abundance of grace upon the churches—so much grace that Paul is able to use them as a dynamic example of God’s grace. Remember that grace means the favor and blessings of God, all the good things of life which God gives us—the greatest of which is salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ. God’s blessings were “bestowed on” the churches. The idea is that God just poured or laid blessing after blessing upon the churches. They knew the grace, the favor, and the blessings of God in a very, very special way. Note four dynamic facts about their testimony.

1. They gave to help others, and gave liberally. They gave despite terrible trial and deep poverty. There was great suffering among the believers and churches of Macedonia.

⇒ Believers suffered afflictions and persecutions, and the afflictions were a “great trial” for them to bear. When they accepted Christ and took their stand for Him, they were heavily persecuted.

“And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost” (1 Th.1:6).

“For ye, brethren, became followers of the churches of God which in Judaea are in Christ Jesus: for ye also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews” (1 Th.2:14).

“So that we ourselves glory in you in the churches of God for your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye endure” (2 Th.1:4).

⇒ Believers suffered “deep poverty,” which means utter poverty, poverty down to the depths. As mentioned, this was due to the ravages of war and the battles which were fought on their own soil, and to the heavy taxation and stripping of resources by the Roman government.

However, note that the believers were filled with an “abundance of joy.” They had come to know Christ: their sins had been forgiven and the Spirit of God was living in their hearts and lives, strengthening and guiding them through all. God was now looking after their lives and taking care of them. God was giving them the absolute assurance of His care and provision day by day and of eternal life when they departed this world. They joyed and rejoiced in all that God was doing for them and was going to do for them.

The point is this: they knew the Lord—really knew Him—and they were committed to living for the Lord. Therefore, when someone needed help, they were ready to help. They gave liberally. The word “liberality” (haplotetos) means singleness of mind, sincerely, with an open and free heart. The churches of Macedonia determined to give, to open their hearts and give all they could.

2. They gave beyond their ability. They willingly gave: no special appeal had to be made; no pressure had to be executed. They gave freely and readily. And note: they did not give according to their ability, but they went beyond what they were able to give.

3. They gave insistently, begging for the privilege to share. Apparently, they were giving so much that Paul felt it was just beyond their means. However they insisted, and note why: they wanted to share in the fellowship of ministering to the saints. Some fellow believers were in need, and they wanted the privilege of fellowshiping with them by giving to them. Note how giving is said to be a means of fellowshipping with others.

4. They gave themselves to the Lord first. This is a most striking verse and point. What it means is this: these dear believers gave all they were and had to the Lord. They used this occasion, the occasion of an offering—the occasion when they were asked to help others—to rededicate their lives and possessions to Christ. Note that this involved three steps:

⇒ the dedication of their lives to Christ: all they were.

⇒ the dedication of their possessions to Christ: all they had.

⇒ the dedication of themselves to the minister, Paul, in order to serve by his side and to allow them to serve Christ together.

Paul distinctly says that they gave “their own selves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God.” This is essential if the needs of a world reeling in desperate needs are to ever be reached: believers must join hand in hand with the ministers of God.

Thought 1. The dynamic example of the Macedonian church needs to be studied by the churches of every generation. They clearly demonstrate the spirit that is absolutely essential for meeting the desperate needs of the world, a world that is lost and doomed unless it is reached with the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me” (Mt.25:35-36).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

“Is it [the fast that pleases God] not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?” (Is.58:7).

2 (8:6-7) Stewardship—Giving: the second challenge is to excel in the same spirit of giving as the Macedonians. Sometime earlier the Corinthian church had begun to take up an offering for the poor churches of Judea, but something had happened that caused the church to stop the project. Just what is not actually known, but it was probably all the trouble and problems covered in the letters of I and II Corinthians. Since the church had experienced revival, it was now time for the offering project to be completed. Very simply, Paul says two things that apply to every church.

1. The grace of giving is to be completed in you. The Corinthians were to financially support the Lord’s work, the very ministry of God Himself. They were to support the ministry of meeting the needs of desperate people and of proclaiming the gospel to a lost and dying world. This glorious privilege is clearly seen when it is remembered that God has not given to angels the privilege of supporting His work; God has committed this grace, this privilege only to men.

2. The other graces abound in you; therefore, the grace of giving is to abound in you. The Corinthians had an abundance of spiritual resources, especially the gifts that involved...

- faith: the trust in God that enabled them to walk through life victoriously and to serve God faithfully.
- utterance: the ability to share the gospel and the doctrines of God’s Word.
- knowledge: the understanding of God’s Word.
- diligence: the energy and zeal to carry on the ministry of the Lord Jesus.
- love to us: the care for the minister of God who serves Christ so faithfully.

Because the church was so strong in these gifts, they needed to abound in the gift of giving as well. Giving and helping others in their desperate need was as much a duty as any other responsibility.

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

3 (8:8) Stewardship—Giving: the third exhortation is to prove the sincerity of your love. Note that Paul does not command the Corinthians to give. If giving is forced or coerced, it benefits nothing; it does not please God. God is pleased only with gifts that are willingly and cheerfully given. He blesses only those who willingly help others. Therefore, giving must be based upon two things.

1. Giving must be based upon love for those who are lost and needy. Giving must be based upon love for the Lord Jesus who has commanded us to go into all the world to reach and help the people of the world.

2. Giving must be based upon the example of those who give sacrificially. In the case of the Corinthians, they had the dynamic example of the Macedonians. The Corinthians should have been stirred to follow the example of such sacrificial giving. In our case, we should be stirred to follow the dynamic example of all those who give willingly and sacrificially.

Note how love is proven by action. Love cannot be known unless it is demonstrated by deeds of compassion and giving. Love demands sacrificial giving. In fact, there is no love unless there is sacrificial giving.

“...Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

4 (8:9) Stewardship—Giving—Jesus Christ, Humiliation; Condescension: the fourth challenge is to know the example of the Lord Jesus Christ. Above all others, Jesus Christ demonstrates not only that we are to give, but how we are to give.

1. The Lord Jesus Christ was rich. He was the Son of God, possessing the very nature and being and fullness of God (Jn.1:1-3; Ph.2:6).

⇒ He dwelt in the glory and majesty, dominion and power of the Godhead (Jude 24-25).

⇒ He dwelt in light which no man can approach, in all the splendor and brilliance of the Godhead (1 Tim.6:16).

⇒ He possessed every good and perfect thing that can be possessed (Jas.1:17).

⇒ He had all the worship and adoration of heavenly beings (Rev.4:6f; 5:11f).

2. The Lord Jesus Christ became poor. This refers to the incarnation of Jesus Christ, that is, to His condescension or humiliation. It refers to the great gulf He had to span in coming to earth. The Lord Jesus Christ, who was King of kings and Lord of lords, who was God of very God, left all the glory and worship of heaven to become a man. He who was...

- God became an humble man.
- the Lord took on flesh and blood.
- the Holy God took the place of the lowest.
- the Sovereign Lord became the subject.
- the Beloved became the rejected.

- the Perfect One became the Sacrifice for sin.
- the Life became the Substitute for death.

As Scripture declares so aptly, “He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor.” Because He became poor, we can become rich. We can receive the adoption of sons, actually become sons and daughters of God and live with Him forever and ever in the new heavens and earth (2 Cor.6:17-18).

The point is this: since Christ willingly sacrificed so much to help us, we ought to sacrifice to help those in need. Just as Christ gave everything for us when we were in desperate need, so we are to give everything to meet the needs of those who are desperately lost in this world.

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross” (Ph.2:5-8).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

5 (8:10) Stewardship—Giving: the fifth challenge is to remember your own past record. As mentioned above, the Corinthians had undertaken the mission project of meeting the needs of the poor churches in Judea, but they had backed off the project when divisiveness had reared its ugly head in the church (see note 2—2 Cor.8:6-7). Now that they had experienced revival, Paul gives his advice: pick up the mission project again. “This is expedient for you”: expedient and beneficial for you personally and for your ministry. Recommitting yourselves to missions will stir God to bless the church.

Note that the church had been forward, that is, zealous in undertaking the mission project about a year before. Since the revival of recommitment, they should be even more zealous to launch a ministry of missions for the Lord.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves? And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise” (Lk.10:36-37).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

6 (8:11-12) Stewardship—Giving: the sixth challenge is to give readily and willingly. Four quick points are made in these two verses, points that give clear directions on missions to any church that is willing to listen. Note: Paul is no longer giving advice; he is now charging the church to give itself to missions and to undertake this particular mission project.

1. Give yourselves to missions. This is implied, understood. Paul is dealing with one mission project, but underlying the whole discussion is the absolute necessity for a permanent commitment to missions. After a mission need has been met, there is always another need to meet—a need just as critical. The world reels under the weight of sin and disease, corruption and death, hunger and thirst, poverty and ignorance, homelessness and exposure to the elements. Literally thousands die prematurely and without Christ every day—die because no one cared enough to help them. The call of missions is the constant call of Christ:

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

2. Finish the mission. The Corinthian church had begun the project; they needed to finish it. The church is to reach out in mission projects all over the world, and it is to finish the projects. Remember that Jerusalem was a foreign field to the Corinthians.

3. Give readily and willingly—lay hold of “a willing mind.” Note that this is the first requirement when a person gives. Above all else, he is to give willingly.

4. The reason is simply stated: God is going to judge us for what we give. The idea is this: in the day of judgment God is going to look at what we gave and at what we kept back. If we have banked, hoarded, and lived extravagantly, He is going to reject us. But if we gave all that we had beyond our needs, then we will be “accepted,” that is, approved to live in the presence of Christ who sacrificed all He had for us. (See outline and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for more discussion.)

“But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and behold, all things are clean unto you” (Lk.11:41).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me” (Lk.18:22).

“Then the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judaea” (Act 11:29).

“Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come” (1 Cor.16:2).

“For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not” (2 Cor.8:12).

“Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver” (2 Cor.9:7).

“Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord thy God which he hath given thee” (Dt.16:17).

7 (8:13-15) Stewardship—Giving: the seventh challenge is to meet the needs of one another—equally. It is critical to note that these verses are not dealing with possessions or property, not with what a person has, but with needs.

1. One person’s need is not to be eased while another person is left burdened and without help.
2. Each need is to be equally met. This is an explosive principle, for it goes contrary to what society practices. It eliminates the hoarding and keeping of goods beyond our needs. God wants the needs of the starving and lost masses met. The only way they can be met is by giving all we are and have beyond what is needed to take care of our own families.
3. The Old Testament Scripture supports this principle (Ex.16:18). When God miraculously fed Israel with the manna from the sky, the people were to gather only what they needed. If they gathered too much and attempted to hoard and put it back, it spoiled overnight. If a person was unable to gather enough due to some illness or inability, his need was either met by the help of others or by God Himself.

The point is striking: every believer is to use all he has and give it to meet the needs of a desperate world. He is to particularly meet the needs of fellow believers. (Again, see outline and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for more discussion.)

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

THE MINISTRY AND ITS FINANCIAL COLLECTIONS, 8:1-9:15

B. The Men Who Handle the Collection, 8:16-24

(8:16-24) Introduction: men who handle collections in the church have an important function, very important. They hold a position that is very visible. People are always aware of the persons who handle their money. Therefore, within the church it is important that such persons be trustworthy and moral; that they live a good and clean life, and that they have a strong Christian testimony.

In the present passage, a special mission project is being undertaken to help the poor churches in Judea. A large sum of money ("this abundance") is involved. Paul wants to make absolutely sure that everything is above board, that he leaves no door open for questioning what happened to the money. He wants to protect the name of Christ and his own name. Therefore, he chooses Titus to head up a delegation of men to handle the offerings. And note: the men are chosen by the church, not by Paul (v.19).

Again, the importance of the men who handle collections cannot be overstressed. For this reason, this passage discusses these men and their character. (See outline and notes—Acts 20:4-6; 1 Cor. 16:1-4 for more discussion.)

1. They care for the church—earnestly care (v.16-17).
2. They have a reputation for the gospel, a testimony for witnessing (v.18).
3. They are representatives chosen by the church in order to avoid charges of misconduct against the minister (v.19-21).
4. They are diligent in many things, but especially in collections (v.22).
5. They are partners of the minister (v.23).
6. They are to be loved by the church (v.24).

I (8:16-17) Stewardship—Offerings: men who handle collections (ushers) care for the church, earnestly care. Paul says that Titus had the "same earnest care" for the Corinthian church that he had. Imagine caring for the church as much as Paul cared! The word "earnest" means zeal. Men who handle collections must have a zealous concern for the church and its welfare. But note where the concern and zeal must come from.

1. The concern for the church must come from God. It was God that put the care and concern into the heart of Titus. Titus did not care for the church...

- because of tradition.
- because it was the church of his parents or forefathers.
- because he felt that it made him acceptable to God.
- because he sought to be seen and recognized by the people.

Titus had a zealous care for the church because God had put the care into his heart. Men who handle the collections must know God personally, know Him so intimately that God can move upon their hearts and put a spirit of caring within them.

2. The concern for the church must come from within the heart. This was true of Titus. Titus was not void of feelings; his heart was tender and warm toward the church. He had a natural care for the church and for the things of God.

The point is this: the men who handle the collections must have a zealous concern for the church, a concern that comes both from the Spirit of God and from a warm, tender heart for the things of God.

2 (8:18) Stewardship—Offerings: men who handle collections (ushers) have a reputation for the gospel, that is, for believing the gospel and for bearing witness to it. The man mentioned in this verse is never named, and any attempt to identify him is futile and worthless conjecture. Three significant things are said about him.

1. He was a “brother” in the Lord, a Christian brother to Paul and to other believers. This is essential for those who handle collections:

⇒ They must be men who have trusted Jesus Christ as their Savior.

⇒ They must be acting like brothers, living in fellowship, harmony, and unity with other believers. There is no room for criticism, murmuring, or divisiveness.

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

2. He had a strong testimony in the gospel. This means that he was a strong witness to the gospel. He not only lived for Christ, but he bore witness to the saving power of Christ—that Christ could and would change a person’s life: transforming him into a new creature, forgiving his sins and giving him eternal life.

3. His testimony was so strong that it was known throughout “all the churches.”

Thought 1. What a dynamic testimony for all those who handle collections! How important...

- that they be true brothers in the Lord.
- that they have strong testimonies in the gospel.
- that their testimonies be so strong that people know that they follow the Lord.

“For by it [faith] the elders obtained a good report” (Heb.11:2).

“For your obedience is come abroad unto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalf: but yet I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold” (Pr.22:1).

“Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul” (Ps.66:16).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

3 (8:19-21) Stewardship—Offerings—Ushers: men who handle collections (ushers) are representatives chosen by the church in order to avoid charges of misconduct against the minister. This is a very significant fact—a lesson that must be heeded by ministers and churches alike. If Paul had handled the offering himself, he could have left himself open to the charge of confiscating or stealing money. The only wise course was to have the church elect one of its own men to handle the offering.

Note that the offering was called “this grace.” As Charles Hodge points out, any free gift is a grace (An Exposition of the Second Epistle to the Corinthians, p.209). Therefore, the offering of a church is a grace; it is the heart of the church being poured out in a free gift to reach and help the desperate of the world. The church must pour its soul out in offerings for the lost and needy of the world. They reel under the weight of sin, hunger, thirst, disease, ignorance, loneliness, helplessness, purposelessness, and death. This alone stresses the awesome importance of the ushers and men who handle the collections.

Note another significant point: why the offering was being ministered. It was for the glory of the Lord. When people saw the offering and knew what it was to be used for, their hearts would glorify the Lord. The Lord would be praised more than He otherwise would be.

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“And Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after” (Heb.3:5).

“Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot and blameless” (2 Pt.3:13-14).

Note: Paul clearly states why he had taken such precautions. He wanted all men to know that he was honest, that he would never put his hand into the till and take money out of the offerings. He did not want anyone to have a question about his personal conduct. Appearance mattered—what people thought mattered—for he had dedicated his very life to reaching and helping people.

4 (8:22) Stewardship—Offerings—Ushers: men who handle collections (ushers) are diligent in many things, but especially in collections. Who this unnamed brother was is not known. Three significant points are made about him, points that should speak to the heart of every usher and person who handles collections.

1. He was a brother, a true believer who was in fellowship with other believers and cooperated with the church in its mission endeavors.
2. He had often “proved diligent” when other ministries had been assigned to him. The word “diligent” (spoudaion) means earnest, zealous, devoted. He gave himself wholeheartedly to whatever task the church gave him.
3. He observed and was alert to the testimony of churches. When Paul told him about the Corinthian church—about the great revival of the church—he became excited and was more willing than ever to serve Christ in the midst of the church.

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“And we desire that every one of you do show the same diligence to the full assurance of hope unto the end” (Heb.6:11).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

- 5 (8:23) Stewardship—Offerings—Ushers: men who handle collections (ushers) are partners of the ministers. Note that Paul expected people to be asking who these men were. This is a natural inquiry, for the men handle the offerings for the church. Therefore, it was extremely important that the credentials of the men be of the highest quality.
1. Titus was the partner and fellow helper of Paul—especially in ministering to the Corinthian church. Most of the Corinthians would know this, for Titus had been God’s main instrument in bringing revival to the church.
  2. The other two men were messengers of the church, men especially chosen by the church to represent the church. Note also that they were the messengers of the glory of Christ. They were to reflect and share the glory of Christ as they served the church.

Thought 1. Both points are to be true of all ushers and men who handle collections in the church.

- 1) Ushers are to be the partners of the minister.
- 2) Ushers are to be messengers of both the church and of the glory of God.

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal” (1 Cor.12:5-7).

“But all these worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will. For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ” (1 Cor.12:11-12).

- 6 (8:24) Stewardship—Offerings—Ushers: men who handle collections (ushers) are to be loved by the church. This is essential: the church had to prove its love to the men who were handling the money if they were to effectively fulfill their ministry. The church was to prove its love in two ways:
- ⇒ First, by receiving the men, accepting both them and their ministry.
  - ⇒ Second, by helping the men fulfill their ministry. The church had to let the men present the mission project and then contribute to it.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:10).

“If ye fulfill the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well: but if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors” (Jas.2:8-9).

DIVISION IV

THE MINISTRY AND ITS FINANCIAL COLLECTIONS, 8:1-9:15

C. The Givers Who Please God, 9:1-7

(9:1-7) Introduction: giving pleases God, for giving is of the very nature of God. God is the very One who has given the supreme gift—the Lord Jesus Christ. The most loved passage of Scripture clearly proclaims the glorious truth.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

To repeat the truth, giving pleases God. However, not every giver pleases God. This is clearly seen in this passage. Who, then, are the givers who please God?

1. They have a readiness, an eagerness to give (v.1-2).
2. They are not caught unprepared to give (v.3-5).
3. They give much and reap much: reap what they sow (v.6).
4. They give deliberately, not grudgingly, not from compulsion (v.7).

1 (9:1-2) Stewardship—Giving: givers who please God have a readiness, an eagerness to give. This is seen in four clear statements made by Paul.

1. He expected the Corinthians to give. Why? Because some dear “saints” of God needed help. The term “saints” (hagioi) means those who are set apart and devoted to God. It is a term referring to genuine believers. The point is striking. Some fellow believers were in desperate need. The churches in Judea were poor and desperately needed help; therefore the Corinthians were expected to help them. In fact, the expectation was so strong there was little need to even say anything about it.

Thought 1. Christian believers should be so devoted to God that people expect and know that they will give to meet the needs of the world. In fact, as long as a need exists, believers should be giving all they are and have to meet that need. (See outlines and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for more discussion.)

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

2. Paul knew the forwardness, the readiness of their minds to give. How often can this be said of believers? Of a church? Are we honestly forward, reaching out, searching for needs to meet? Can others actually know that our minds are ready, set, and focused to give?

3. Paul boasted in the Corinthians, in their readiness to give. It had happened a year earlier. The spirit of the Corinthians had been so committed to ministry, to meeting the needs of their fellow believers, that they had immediately underwritten the mission project to help the churches of Judea. But soon afterward some problems had arisen, and the church backed off its commitment. Before the problem, Paul had boasted in the zeal of the Corinthians, how quickly they had committed themselves to the mission project.

Thought 1. The commitment to missions is always commendable and is a great testimony to be shared with others. Every church needs such commitment, but it needs to follow through on its commitment. It needs to live day by day for Christ, lay aside differences and get rid of divisiveness and sin in its midst, and get to the task at hand: ministering to the needs of those who are in desperate straits.

4. The zeal and commitment of the Corinthians stirred “many” to help in the mission project.

Thought 1. This is the spirit and testimony needed by the Lord’s churches: a zeal for missions so strong that it stirs “many” to make the same commitment.

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:34-35).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him” (Acts 10:38).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

2 (9:3-5) Stewardship—Giving: givers who please God are not caught unprepared to give. As Paul travelled from place to place, he was always training young disciples in the ministry, and these disciples often travelled with him. In addition to these, Paul was sometimes escorted to the next city by men from the place where he had just completed his ministry. This was soon to be the case: some men from Macedonia were going to escort him to Corinth. This fact is the background for what Paul now says.

1. Being unprepared to give causes shame. Paul says that he was sending Titus and the two other men to reactivate the mission project among the Corinthians. He was doing this lest he be ashamed and embarrassed when he and the other Macedonians arrived. He had boasted in the Corinthians a year earlier, using their commitment to missions as a testimony to stir the Macedonians to underwrite the same project. If he and their representatives arrived and the Corinthians had slipped back and failed to follow through, the situation would be a reflection upon Christ, Paul, and the Corinthian church.

Thought 1. A Christian who is unprepared to give brings shame to the very name of Christian. The very purpose for Christ coming to earth was to give—to give sacrificially and to give all. He gave His very life to meet the needs of desperate humanity. Therefore, it is a shame, an embarrassment to the name of Christ for a professing Christian not to give; for Christ existed to give. The very name of Christ and of Christian means to give and to give sacrificially—to give all.

2. Being prepared shows love, not covetousness. Paul says that he was sending the men ahead of him so that the church could reactivate the mission project and offering. They needed to have the collection ready when he arrived. Note why Paul felt this was necessary: so that the Corinthians would demonstrate love and generosity, not covetousness. If the mission project was still being delayed when he and the Macedonians arrived, the church would seem to be covetous and worldly. They would be failing in their very purpose for being on earth: to minister to those in need.

Thought 1. Honest believers and churches have to confess to covetousness. Few really give all they are and have to meet the desperate plight of the human race, a human race of men and women, boys and girls dying without Christ; and so many are dying prematurely from hunger, cold, disease, loneliness, emptiness, worthlessness, sin, and evil.

How terrible covetousness is! Living extravagantly, spending beyond our needs, banking, hoarding, building up estates, constructing larger and larger homes, buying more and more—all to the deprivation and destruction of human life and to the doom of human souls. Covetousness has no place in the Christian’s heart nor in the church, much less upon earth. It’s results are too devastating. Believers must be prepared to give, demonstrating the very sacrificial love of Christ Himself who gave all to meet the needs of the desperate.

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me” (Lk.18:22).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away” (Mt.5:42).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

3 (9:6) Stewardship—Giving—Reaping—Reward: givers who please God give much and reap much. In fact, when it comes to reaping, they reap exactly what they sow. Note that the picture is that of sowing seed: when a man plants the seed, the same is returned to him; in fact, much more is returned to him—a full harvest. This is one of the great principles of Scripture, but it must be carefully noted: it is not the man who pretends to sacrificially give who shall be greatly blessed by God. It shall be the man who actually does sacrifice all he is and has. This man will never go lacking; God will abundantly provide for him.

“Honor the LORD with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase: so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst out with new wine” (Pr.3:9-10).

“There is that scattereth, and yet increaseth; and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but it tendeth to poverty. The liberal soul shall be made fat: and he that watereth shall be watered also himself” (Pr.11:24-25).

“He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the LORD; and that which he hath given will he pay him again” (Pr.19:17).

“He that hath a bountiful eye shall be blessed; for he giveth of his bread to the poor” (Pr.22:9).

“He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack: but he that hideth his eyes shall have many a curse” (Pr.28:27).

“Cast thy bread upon the waters: for thou shalt find it after many days” (Eccl.11:1).

“And if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noonday” (Is.58:10).

“Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it” (Mal.3:10).

“He that receiveth you receiveth me, and he that receiveth me receiveth him that sent me” (Mt.10:41).

“Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again” (Lk.6:38).

“Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap” (Gal.6:7).

“But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity” (Ph.4:10).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

4 (9:7) Stewardship—Giving: the giver who pleases God gives deliberately, not grudgingly and not from compulsion. It is absolutely crucial to note one thing: God does not accept the gift of a person who does not want to give. God expects three things of the person who gives.

1. The giver must give as he purposes in his heart. This does not mean that people are not to be encouraged to give nor that they cannot be stirred to give. It means that a person is...

- to think about the need
- to think about what he should give sacrificially
- to make a deliberate decision about what he should sacrifice in order to give what he should
- to give exactly what he should give

2. The giver must not give grudgingly: not out of sorrow, not with reluctance or regret. If the giver is going to be mulling over his gift and regretting that he had given it, his gift is unacceptable to God. The person needs to straighten his heart out with God, for...

- he is failing to see the desperate needs of the world.
- he is failing to see what Jesus Christ has done for him.

3. The giver must not give out of necessity. A person's gift is not acceptable to God when he...

- is forced to give
- gives because he fears what others will think
- gives just to please others
- gives to keep others from pestering him
- gives out of a desire for personal honor and recognition

4. The giver must give cheerfully if he wishes God to accept his gift. The word "cheerful" (hilaron) means joyful. The giver is pleased and delighted to give to meet the needs of God's people and of the world. Note that God loves the cheerful giver, for the cheerful giver is just like His Son, Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ willingly and cheerfully gave all He was and had to meet the needs of the world.

"But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you" (Lk.11:41).

"And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing" (1 Cor.13:3).

"Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" (1 Cor.16:2).

"For if there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not" (2 Cor.8:12).

"Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth" (Eph.4:28).

DIVISION IV

THE MINISTRY AND ITS FINANCIAL COLLECTIONS, 8:1-9:15

D. The Motives for Giving Generously and Sacrificially, 9:8-15

(9:8-15) Introduction: there are many reasons why believers should give to meet the desperate needs of the world. This passage covers the motives for giving generously and sacrificially.

1. Motive 1: to be enriched more and more by God (v.8-11).
2. Motive 2: to meet needs and bring praise to God (v.12).
3. Motive 3: to prove one's loyalty to Christ (v.13).
4. Motive 4: to enhance prayer, love, and fellowship (v.14).
5. Motive 5: to praise God for His unspeakable gift (v.15).

1 (9:8-11) Stewardship—Giving: the first motive for giving is to be enriched more and more by God. The Christian is called upon to give sacrificially; in fact, he is to give all he is and has to meet the needs of a desperate world. This seems very risky and unwise to many, but it is the clear teaching of Scripture. How could God expect us to give sacrificially, to give all beyond what we need for our own families? The answer is simple, yet pointed. (See outlines and notes—Mt. 19:16-22; 19:23-26; 19:27-30 for a clear discussion of this truth.)

1. God is able to make all grace abound and overflow toward us. God is able to pay us back what we give. In fact note exactly what God says and note the fullness of God's gifts in the words "all" and "always":

"God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things...." (v.8).

In Scripture the word "grace" refers to the favor and blessings of God, both spiritual and material. In this particular passage the subject is primarily material blessings, although spiritual blessings are certainly included in the phrases "all grace" and "all things." Therefore, what God says is a great encouragement to the sacrificial giver. God will more than return what the giver gives. God will return...

- all grace
- all sufficiency
- all things

2. God expects the believer to give sacrificially so that the believer may abound to every good work. That is, God gives the believer more and more so that he can give more and more.

This is the point of the next verse: God gives to the believer so that...

- the believer can scatter God's blessings all abroad.
- the believer can give to the poor.
- the believer's righteousness (just deeds, goodness, kindness, gifts) may endure forever. Just think: whatever gifts the believer gives endure forever.

Note something else as well; note what God does for the sacrificial giver: God ministers seed to the sower. The oldest and best Greek texts make this a declaration of fact and not a prayer:

- ⇒ God will minister and give bread to the sacrificial giver.
- ⇒ God will multiply the gift given by the sacrificial giver.
- ⇒ God will increase the fruits of the believer's just and good deeds or righteousness.
- ⇒ God will enrich everything in all ways so that the believer can continue to give liberally and bountifully.

Thought 1. This is a striking truth: the believer receives so that he can give. This means that no believer has an excuse for hoarding and keeping back more than he needs. God did not give it to him to keep back. God gave it to the believer to meet the desperate needs of the world. This is an earth-shaking truth, for it means that all the believer has is to be given. It is not to be kept. He is only a channel through which God sends His blessings to the world. To keep back more than what one needs is stealing—not only stealing from the desperate of the world, but stealing from God.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

Thought 2. Giving sacrificially depends upon one thing: believing, truly believing, that God is able to take care of us—that God will provide the necessities of life and bless abundantly.

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity. Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:10-13).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

2 (9:12) Stewardship—Giving: the second motive for giving is to meet the needs of the world and to bring praise to God.

1. When there are so many needs in the world, every single person who has anything beyond the necessities of life will be held accountable—severely accountable. Since there is a God in heaven who oversees all, it could be no other way. How could God look down upon a child who is dying, and see a person standing off to the side with more than enough to save the child, and just bypass it? Man—be he Christian or unbeliever—is a fool to think God will overlook such selfishness and extravagance, indulgence and hoarding. God could not be God if He did not judge such irresponsible and corrupt behavior with the severest punishment. Just think of the desperate needs...

- starvation
- disease
- ignorance
- loneliness
- homelessness
- inadequate clothing
- sin
- emptiness

...and the most terrible fate of all: dying without ever knowing the love and salvation of God in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

One of the greatest motives for giving is to meet the desperate needs of the world.

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you” (Lk.11:41).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“Now when Jesus heard these things, he said unto him, Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me” (Lk.18:22).

“And Zacchaeus stood, and said unto the Lord; Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, I restore him fourfold” (Lk.19:8).

2. There is another motive that is just as important (this fact could be stated as a result if preferred): the praise of God. When needs are truly met...

- the recipient gives thanks and praises God.
- the witnesses or observers give thanks and praise God.
- the giver gives thanks and praises God.

Note that “many thanksgivings” are offered up to God.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the LORD thy God for the good land which he hath given thee” (Dt.8:10).

“And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his words with rejoicing” (Ps.107:22).

3 (9:13) Stewardship—Giving: the third motive for giving is to prove one's loyalty to the gospel of Christ. The gospel is the proclamation of the greatest love and gift ever made known—that of God's love and of God's very own Son. Any person who claims to follow the gospel of God's love must be loyal in carrying the gospel of love forth. He must live a sacrificial life just as Jesus did, a life that gives all it is and has to meet the needs of the desperate.

Note that the mission project undertaken by the Corinthians is called an "experiment" or a test. Every ministry undertaken is a test of the believer's loyalty to the gospel. Believers prove their loyalty to Christ by ministering the gospel and meeting the needs of people. In fact, how else can we prove that we belong to the gospel? The answer is obvious: there is no other way. If we are loyal to Christ and His gospel, then we give and give and keep on giving to share the gospel and to meet the needs of the world.

Note something else as well. The glory of God which is stirred by our giving is mentioned again—a third time (v.11, 12, 13). The fact that it is mentioned three times shows how important a reason it is. We are to give because it stirs people to glorify God.

Thought 1. Loyalty to Christ and His gospel includes stewardship, the giving of tithes and offerings. In fact, it involves giving all we are and have, for Christ will not accept just part of a person. A person either surrenders himself totally to Christ or he does not truly surrender himself.

"Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me" (Mt.19:21).

"Then said Jesus unto his disciples, Verily I say unto you, That a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven. And again I say unto you, It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God" (Mt.19:23-24).

"Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come" (1 Cor.16:2).

"As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal.6:10).

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim.6:17-19).

"Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the LORD thy God which he hath given thee" (Dt.16:17).

"Honor the LORD with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase" (Pr.3:9).

4 (9:14) Stewardship—Giving: the fourth motive for giving is to enhance prayer, love, and fellowship. Very simply, when believers give to people in their desperate needs, the people give thanks for them and their fellowship in the Lord. Giving stirs great prayer, love, and fellowship among God's people. This is a fact that is often overlooked, yet it is so important that it alone merits sacrificial giving. What greater results could we ask than for prayer, love, and fellowship among God's people?

"Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints, cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers" (Eph.1:15-16).

"I thank my God upon every remembrance of you, always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy" (Ph.1:3-4).

"We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints" (Col.1:3-4).

"We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers; remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father" (1 Th.1:2-3).

5 (9:15) Stewardship—Giving: the fifth motive for giving is to praise God for His unspeakable gift. The greatest gift ever given was God's gift to the world: the gift of His own Son. No greater gift could ever be given. God has given the supreme gift (see note—2 Cor.8:9 for discussion).

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

"Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water" (Jn.4:10).

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Ro.6:23).

"He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?" (Ro.8:32).

"Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift" (2 Cor.9:15).

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph.2:8-9).

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

A. The Minister: His Warfare & Weapons, 10:1-6

(10:1-6) Introduction: this section begins a sharp break from what Paul has been saying and teaching. He disassociates himself from Timothy. He no longer says “we,” but “now I Paul myself beseech you.” The phrase is forceful. Paul is now going to deal primarily with his critics, both with the false teachers who had crept into the church and with any of their followers who had not shared in the revival of repentance that had taken place (2 Cor.7:2-6).

This was necessary, for the church needed to make sure that the false teachers did not regain a foothold in the church. They needed to know that Paul intended to personally confront any who had not repented. He was going to deal with those who were attacking him and teaching false doctrine.

The present passage deals with the minister: his warfare and weapons.

1. Paul accused of walking after the flesh (v.1-2).
2. The minister wars and fights, but not in a fleshly way (v.3-5).
3. The minister stands ready to deal with rebels—but only after genuine believers are clearly seen (v.6).

1 (10:1-2) Paul, Accusations Against: Paul was accused of walking after the flesh. (See note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for a full discussion.) This charge can be seen behind the words of Paul in these two verses. He was answering “some” who thought of him as walking after the flesh (v.2). They were saying two things about Paul.

1. Some were saying that Paul was a coward (v.1). This is what is meant by the word “base” (tapeinos). They were saying that Paul was bold in his instructions; that is, he rebuked the church when he was writing to them, but he was a coward when it came to speaking face to face with them.

Note Paul’s answer to the church and to his critics; it was that of tenderness in the midst of warning: “I beseech you by the meekness and gentleness of Christ.” Christ was meek and gentle in handling the insults, attacks, rumors, lies, wrong, and evil done to Him. Paul was saying that Jesus Christ was his example in dealing with people; that is the reason he was meek and gentle when preaching and confronting people face to face. He was not base and lowly because he was a coward, but because Jesus Christ demonstrated how people are to be handled, even people who are evil and in error. Jesus Christ confronted people in meekness and gentleness; therefore, he, Paul, was meek and gentle.

2. Some were saying that Paul was carnal—that he walked after the flesh. This means several things:
  - ⇒ that Paul was unregenerate, that is, not really saved.
  - ⇒ that Paul was preaching and ministering in the flesh; he was not really called of God.
  - ⇒ that Paul was living in the flesh; he was an ungodly and immoral man seeking only to please and live for himself.
  - ⇒ that Paul was only ministering in the flesh; he was only after a personal following—only seeking to sell his own ideas and position—only interested in lining his own pockets and in securing personal recognition and honor.

Very simply, Paul says that he will confront these critics when he arrives in Corinth. He has the confidence, that is, the inner strength and boldness, to confront them; and he will. But note a crucial point: even in this declaration of spiritual strength and boldness, Paul was meek and gentle. He beseech them twice in these two verses; that is, he begged and pleaded with them to turn to God—to repent of their attacks and false teaching—so that he might not have to confront them. Paul longed for everyone in the church to make sure that they had trusted Christ as Savior and that they held to the truth of the gospel: that they “stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

Thought 1. Every minister needs to pay close attention to the meekness and gentleness of Christ and of Paul when dealing with people. They approached everyone with meekness and gentleness, giving everyone a chance to repent. And they continued to demonstrate meekness and gentleness for the longest time. True, there was to be a day of confrontation: Paul says so in these verses, and Christ certainly confronted false teachers and their followers who opposed Him. But the first approach was that of meekness and gentleness.

“He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth” (Is.53:7).

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

“And he spake boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus, and disputed against the Grecians: but they went about to slay him” (Acts 9:29).

“And he went into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three months, disputing and persuading the things concerning the kingdom of God” (Acts 19:8).

“For consider him that endured such contradiction [hostility] of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds” (Heb.12:3).

“Who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously” (1 Pt.2:23).

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

2 (10:3-5) Minister—Spiritual Warfare—Mind—Thoughts: the minister wars and fights, but not in a fleshly way. This is a great passage of Scripture. It deals with the believer’s spiritual warfare, a passage that every believer should memorize and chew upon often. It often stirs the believer to discipline and gain control over his mind and thoughts. Note three significant points. (See outlines and notes—Ro.8:5-8; 12:2 for more discussion.)

1. The believer is in a spiritual warfare. Scripture is perfectly clear about this:

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

The war is not waged against flesh and blood, against physical and material beings, but against spiritual forces. Spiritual forces lie behind man’s evil and lustful behavior, unbelief and arguments against God. These spiritual forces attack and prey upon the imaginations and thoughts of men. They inject selfish and devilish ideas against God and against other men. And from the energy of these ideas come the evil acts of men. Note two things:

- ⇒ Selfish, evil, and lustful thoughts are mental and immaterial. Ideas and thoughts are not physical and material substances. They are invisible and mental substances.
- ⇒ Selfish, evil, and lustful ideas are by nature not of God. God is not evil, selfish, or lustful; therefore, such evil thoughts and reasonings are often injected into the mind of men by spiritual forces that stand opposed to God.

Paul’s point is this: he and other believers “walk in the flesh”; that is, they live in a body just like all other people. But they do not war in the flesh. They do not fight the struggles of life using only their own strength. Why? Because believers know that there is a spiritual warfare going on for the minds and lives of people. Believers know that the evil forces of the spiritual world lie behind...

- sin and evil
- disorder and devastation
- corruption and deterioration
- death and hell

Believers know that they cannot “war after the flesh”; that no man nor any combination of men can conquer the spiritual forces that tear and eat away at man until they destroy him. No matter how strong, educated, or scientific man may become, he cannot deliver himself from the spiritual forces that cause sin and death.

2. The believer’s weapons are not physical but spiritual. Physical or carnal weapons would be human weapons of the mind and body such as...

- |                              |                                    |
|------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| • discipline and control     | • resolutions and rules            |
| • strength and ability       | • health and esteem                |
| • knowledge and intelligence | • education and social development |
| • science and technology     | • wealth and welfare               |
| • ideas and thoughts         | • eloquence and personality        |
| • beliefs and doctrines      | • appearance and attractiveness    |
| • laws and principles        |                                    |

Naturally, every human power and weapon available should be developed and used to the fullest extent possible. The human body and the world are said to be the temple of the Lord, two of the places where He dwells. But the believer knows that there is nothing in the world that can conquer the spiritual forces that lie behind the evil and death of this world. Therefore, he fights the spiritual battles of this life with spiritual weapons, weapons that are of God and are made mighty and powerful by God.

Note that the believer uses spiritual weapons to “pull down strongholds.” The evils of this world are deeply entrenched and fortified. This is clearly seen in the daily newscasts and behavior of people day by day. Evil and its inevitable consequence of destruction and death can never be permanently overcome by carnal weapons. Only the spiritual weapons of God can permanently conquer evil.

3. The believer’s method of conquering the forces of evil are clearly described.

- a. The believer casts down imaginations (logismous): thoughts and imaginations that are uncontrolled, wild, evil, lustful, immoral, unjust, wrong, untrue, devilish, and set against God.

“For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened....And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful; who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them” (Ro.1:20-21, 28-32).

The believer wars, fights, and struggles to “cast down” evil imaginations. He fights to bring his imaginations under control.

- b. The believer casts down “every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God”: false ideas about God, false doctrine, false teaching, false reasonings; the human pride and arrogance, self-sufficiency and self-righteousness that set themselves up against God.
- c. The believer seeks to captivate every thought to the obedience of Christ. A phenomenal statement—every thought controlled and subjected to Christ! This is the spiritual objective of the true Christian believer. God created man for fellowship and communion, and the believer knows it; therefore, the believer wars—struggles and fights—to captivate every thought and focus it upon God and His righteousness. He seeks to walk in an unbroken fellowship and communion with God. How is the control of every thought possible? By the Spirit of God and by Him alone. Note what Scripture says.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind [work to keep their minds upon] the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit” (Ro.8:5).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ” (1 Cor.2:16).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:23-24).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

3 (10:6) Minister—Church Discipline: the minister stands ready to deal with false teachers and rebels, but only after genuine believers have stepped forward. Paul had just shared how he struggled and fought to live for Christ every day—struggled and fought to conquer every imagination and thing that exalted itself against the knowledge of God. Therefore, he would not hesitate to punish all disobedience. But note: he would discipline only after giving everyone a chance to be obedient. The Corinthians who were willing to submit to the truth had to come forward first. Then Paul would act swiftly. He would never resort to severity until he knew for sure who stood for the truth and who stood against the truth. He would make no mistake in discipline. Therefore, the church had to step forward for God first. Every means of repentance and correction had to be exhausted; the disobedient had to have every conceivable chance to repent through the appeal of this letter and the corrective action of the church. (See outlines and notes—1 Cor.5:1-5; 5:6-13; Mt.18:15-20 for more discussion.)

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:1-3).

“And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the decrees for to keep, that were ordained of the apostles and elders which were at Jerusalem” (Acts 16:4).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

B. The Minister: His Right to Be Accepted, 10:7-18

(10:7-18) Introduction: the minister has many rights, but the one right that means as much to him as any other is the right to be accepted. Every church, no matter the situation or circumstances, should open its arms and accept the minister. If he needs help, then the church should help him—no matter the problem.

1. The minister is to be accepted because he belongs to Christ (v.7).
2. The minister is to be accepted because he is set for edification, not for destruction (v.8).
3. The minister is to be accepted because of the authority God has given, not because of appearance (v.9-13).
4. The minister is to be accepted because he ministers and preaches the gospel (v.14-16).
5. The minister is to be accepted because he glories in the Lord and not in men (v.17-18).

1 (10:7) Minister—Paul, Accusations Against: the minister is to be accepted because he belongs to Christ as much as any other minister. The troublemakers and critics of Paul felt that Paul ranked less than other ministers. They said that Paul did not measure up as a minister, that he was not as called or gifted as other ministers of God; therefore, he did not belong in the pulpit at Corinth, nor should his authority be accepted at Corinth.

Paul's claim is that all ministers are equal. Note how Paul exposes the shameful emphasis upon "outward appearance" and upon the ranking of ministers. Apparently some were judging Paul...

- because of his past sinful life as the persecutor and murderer of early believers (see notes—Acts 8:1-4; 9:1-2 for discussion).
- because other ministers and teachers appeared to have stronger and more appealing gifts.
- because other ministers and teachers had more charisma and were stronger speakers (cp. v.10).

Paul is forceful in his rebuke: "Why do you look upon and judge by outward appearance? If any man claims that he belongs to Christ and that Christ has called him, I, too make the same claim. Think about it, and think it over again. A claim is a personal conviction, and a personal conviction is subjective. One man's personal conviction and claim is as good as another man's. Therefore, if a man says that he belongs to Christ, I, too belong to Christ. I belong to Christ as much as he does. My claim is as valid as his."

The point is explicitly clear: personal conviction is a factor in the ministry, and a man's conviction that he has been called by Christ must be listened to and heeded. But much more is needed to prove whether or not a man is a true minister of Christ.

"For it hath been declared unto me of you, my brethren, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you. Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am of Paul; and I of Apollos, and I of Cephas; and I of Christ. Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you: or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?" (1 Cor.1:11-13).

"Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye are like unto whited sepulchres, which indeed appear beautiful outward, but are within full of dead men's bones, and of all uncleanness" (Mt.23:27).

"Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment" (Jn.7:24).

"For we commend not ourselves again unto you, but give you occasion to glory on our behalf, that ye may have somewhat to answer them which glory in appearance, and not in heart" (2 Cor.5:12).

"Do ye look on things after the outward appearance? If any man trust to himself that he is Christ's, let him of himself think this again, that, as he is Christ's, even so are we Christ's" (2 Cor.10:7).

- 2 (10:8) Minister—Paul, Accusations Against: the minister is to be accepted because he is set for edification and not for destruction. The charge against Paul was that he destroyed people...
- by claiming to be a minister of Christ when in fact he was not
  - by preaching his own ideas and philosophy
  - by seeking to secure a personal following

Paul forcefully claimed that Christ had called him for edification, not for destruction. He was called to build up people, not to destroy them. In no way had he ever damaged or destroyed the church. Note: Paul says that he could boast in his ministry and in his faithfulness. He could even boast more than most other ministers; and if he chose to do this, it would not shame him, for he had every right to boast. He had served Christ faithfully and well in the ministry of building up the church.

"Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another" (Ro.14:19).

"But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort" (1 Cor.14:3).

"Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying" (2 Cor.12:19).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph.4:11-12).

"Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers" (Eph.4:29).

- 3 (10:9-13) Minister—Paul, Accusations Against: the minister is to be accepted because of the authority and rule God has given him, not because of appearance. The charge against Paul was that he was weak in appearance and a poor preacher; therefore, he could not possibly be called of God nor possess the authority of God. William Barclay says:

"A description of Paul's personal appearance has come down to us from a very early book called The Acts of Paul and Thecla. It dates back to about A.D. 200. It is so unflattering that it may well be true. It describes Paul as 'a man of little stature, thin-haired upon the head, crooked in the legs, of good state of body, with eyebrows meeting, and with nose somewhat hooked, full of grace, for sometimes he appeared like a man and sometimes he had the face of an angel.' A little, balding bandy-legged man, with a hooked nose and shaggy eyebrows—it is not a very impressive picture, and it may well be that the Corinthians made great play with it. We might do well to remember sometimes that not seldom a great spirit has been lodged in a very humble body" (William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians, p.271).

In addition to his personal appearance, Paul was apparently what most people would call a poor preacher. He was not eloquent; some people even went to sleep during his preaching (Acts 20:9). His critics in Corinth called his preaching contemptible, that is, of no account, unimpressive, a waste of time, unauthoritative. Note that his preaching was being compared to his writings, which were said to be weighty and powerful (impressive and strong, stirring and vigorous).

Thought 1. This criticism hurt Paul. The fact can be seen as one reads and looks behind the words of this passage and others (cp. 1 Cor. 1:17; 2:1-4; 2 Cor. 11:6). Paul could do nothing about body features, the way he looked, and his gift to preach had been given by God. He could and did work at improving, as any true preacher does; nevertheless, he was who he was, and he could not change the gift of God. So the criticism was bound to hurt. Lay believers should always build the minister up, not tear him down.

Note Paul's answer to the criticisms.

1. There is a definite time for authority and discipline within the church. And if authority and discipline are needed, Paul will exercise it when he visits the church with the same bold authority that is evident in his writings (v.11). (See note—2 Cor.10:1-2 for more discussion.)

2. Human commendations and judgments are unwise. Paul would never do what his critics and some others did: seek the praise and testimonials of men. Apparently, some were seeking letters of commendation in order to secure more recognition, honor, and position.

With clear insight, Paul says that such self-seeking only pits one minister against another; it compares one to another. And such measuring of ministers is not wise.

3. A minister is to exercise authority only in the area and within the limits God has given him. The minister has no other legitimate authority, but he does have that authority. And it is that authority that is recognized and acknowledged.

“Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God; who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life” (2 Cor.3:5-6).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:18-20).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“But [God’s grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:10-11).

4 (10:14-16) Minister, Authority—Paul, Accusations Against: the minister is to be accepted because he ministers and preaches the gospel of Christ. This is the authority of the minister, the only authority that he has: the authority to minister and preach the gospel. Paul forcefully declares that he did not stretch himself beyond this limit. The false teachers in Corinth were the ones who were stretching beyond their limits, not Paul. Paul had been called and gifted by God to minister and preach at Corinth, not they. The implication is this: the false teachers needed to repent and become one with the other believers of the church and work and strive together with the believers for the sake of the gospel.

Note: Paul used another term to spell out exactly what his concern and area of ministry was: their faith and its growth. He wanted their faith to grow, and note why: so that they could help send him and the gospel to other parts of the world—to regions beyond.

Thought 1. What a lesson! There is no room for division and competitiveness in the church; no room for tearing down the minister of God. The minister has his area of concern and authority:

- ⇒ that of ministering and preaching the gospel.
- ⇒ that of building up the faith of the people.
- ⇒ that of leading people to send the gospel to other regions of the world.

No one should hamper or stop this work of the minister. He is the minister of God to do the work of God among God’s people.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation” (Heb.13:7).

5 (10:17-18) Minister: the minister is to be accepted because he glories in the Lord and not in men. Paul has had much to say about boasting and self-glorying throughout this passage (v.7, 8, 12, 13, 15, 16). Now he forcefully drives the point home: he that glories must glory in the Lord, or he is not approved or accepted by God. A minister is not a true minister, no matter what he thinks, preaches, or claims if he...

2 CORINTHIANS 10:7-18

- exalts himself
- seeks praise
- loves position
- craves recognition
- seeks his own things
- is puffed up

A true minister of God does not commend himself; he seeks only the glory of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“I have therefore whereof I may glory through Jesus Christ in those things which pertain to God. For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient, by word and deed” (Ro.15:17-18).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence” (1 Cor.1:27-29).

“My soul shall make her boast in the LORD: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad” (Ps.34:2).

“In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever” (Ps.44:8).

“Thus saith the LORD, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: but let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:23-24).

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

C. The Minister: His Warning Against Seduction, 11:1-15

(11:1-15) Introduction: some false teachers and critics in the church were attacking Paul and his ministry with every conceivable accusation (see note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for more discussion). They wanted to destroy Paul's influence and ministry at Corinth and to gain control of the church themselves. The way they went about gaining control was to use the same methods that every power seeking person uses: seduction and deception and lies. They seduced the people with false teaching and at the same time lied about Paul in order to destroy his credibility.

Paul had to save the church, at least do all he could to save it. In the present passage he warns the church against seduction and deception.

1. He has a godly jealousy for the church (v.1-2).
2. Fear seduction—corrupted minds (v.3).
3. Fear the preaching of another Jesus (v.4).
4. Fear comparing ministers with one another (v.5-6).
5. Fear those who criticize honest money policy (v.7-12).
6. Fear false apostles, deceitful workers (v.13-15).

1 (11:1-2) Minister—Church: the minister has a godly jealousy for the church. The church was dear, very dear to Paul; he just would not offend the church in any way. He had to expose the error of the false teachers and of his critics, and to do so he had to defend himself. This bothered Paul; he did not want to talk about himself. He would much rather talk about Jesus Christ. But he had no choice, he had to defend himself. Note the soft, loving, positive approach he took:

“Bear with me a little in my folly [foolishness]: and indeed I know you bear with me.” (Note how Paul builds up the church in this last clause: he knows they will come through the trial and stand with him in the truth against the false teachers and the critics.)

Paul had a godly jealousy for them because he had led so many of them to Christ. He loved them and loved them dearly.

“For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel” (1 Cor.4:15).
“...are not ye my work in the Lord?” (1 Cor.9:1).

Note that Paul’s one aim was to present the church to Christ as a chaste virgin, that is, pure, holy, and without blemish or error. In Paul’s day the bridegroom had what was called a friend of the bridegroom. This friend took care of the wedding arrangements, especially the particular function of guaranteeing the chastity of the bride. In modern society it is usually the father of the bride who handles the arrangements. He is also the one responsible for guaranteeing the chastity of his daughter, the bride. Paul is here claiming to be the friend, the father of the Corinthians, who loved and cared so much for them that he must guarantee their chastity to the Lord. Therefore, they must listen to him.

“...Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, that he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish” (Eph.5:25-27).

“Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God” (Ro.7:4).

“Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honour to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready” (Rev.19:7).

“And while they [the virgins, the church] went to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage: and the door was shut. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not. Watch therefore, for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the Son of man cometh” (Mt.25:10-13; cp. Mt.25:1-13).

2 (11:3) Seduction—Church: the church must fear seduction, fear having their minds corrupted. Note that their minds were not yet corrupted, but the danger was there. There were false teachers within the church, and wherever false teachers are, there is the likelihood that some minds will be corrupted.

The danger was that the believers would be led away from the simplicity (aplotetos) that is in Christ. The word means devotion, loyalty, and commitment to Christ. Believers are to have their minds and lives focused upon Christ and upon Him alone. There was great danger that the false teachers would break the loyalty and focus of some believers in Christ and lead them to focus upon...

- some false belief or doctrine
- some new idea or position
- some ritual or ceremony
- some emphasis or program
- some person or preacher

The result of such focuses is devastating: the mind becomes corrupted. It turns away from Christ, away from the truth of God and His saving grace which is in Christ Jesus and in Him alone. Too many are following false beliefs and doctrines, ideas and positions, rituals and ceremonies, persons and preachers—expecting God to accept them because of their loyalty to such religious practices or persons.

But loyalty to Christ alone—devotion to God’s own dear Son—is the only thing that stirs God to accept men. This was the danger facing the Corinthian church and it is the danger that faces church after church today: minds that are corrupted and led away from loyalty to Christ by false teachers.

Note the illustration that Paul uses: the seduction of Eve by the serpent. Eve illustrates how easily a believer can be corrupted and led away from Christ. Remember these facts about Eve: she was...

- created perfectly, without a sinful nature
- placed in a perfect environment
- given a personal relationship and fellowship with God
- given every conceivable blessing imaginable

Yet, despite all these advantages, Eve was seduced by Satan. She was seduced...

- to disbelieve God and what He had said.
- to believe another person and what he said.

Eve gave in to the seduction: she was disloyal to God and His Word. Therefore she lost her devotion and commitment to God. In comparison to Eve and to what Eve had, believers stand in a precarious (very dangerous) position. Therefore, they must be protected from false teachers. They must be warned against seduction, against having their minds corrupted. When false teachers are present in a church, they must be dealt with or some believers will be corrupted and misled.

“Jesus answered and said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the scriptures, nor the power of God” (Mt.22:29).

“Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices” (2 Cor.2:11).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“But have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:2).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience” (Eph.2:2).

“Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph.6:11).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

3 (11:4) Preaching—False Teachers: the church must fear the preaching of another Jesus. This is always the danger of false teachers. Note: it is not another Christ (Messiah) that they were preaching, but another Jesus. That is, they were mixed up about who Jesus the carpenter was and who Jesus the Son of God was. They were confused about the humanity of Jesus. They were teaching that...

- Jesus was only a good man who lived as men should live.
- Jesus was only a great teacher who taught man how to live.
- Jesus was only a wonderful martyr who showed men how they should die.

They stressed the humanness of Jesus and ignored or denied His deity.

Note what Paul says: he says men can receive another spirit other than the Spirit of God, and that they can receive another gospel other than the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. There are other spirits and gospels who seek after the loyalty of men; therefore, the church and its believers must be on guard against the preaching of another Jesus.

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:6-9).

“Whosoever therefore shall break one of the least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:19).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm” (1 Tim.1:7).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness” (1 Tim.6:3).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [legalists]: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s [personal gain] sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

4 (11:5-6) Ministers: the church should fear comparing ministers with one another. The false teachers were saying that Paul was not a true apostle, that he had not been called by God to be a minister. His appearance and speaking ability were too weak; he did not speak forcefully enough to be gifted and called by God (1 Cor.9:1; 2 Cor.1:21; 10:7, 10; 12:11).

Very simply, the essential gift of God is not the ability to speak, but knowledge—the knowledge of God and of Christ and of the truth. Note: Paul says that he had fully revealed and proclaimed the truth in all things (salvation and redemption). (A dynamic example for every one of us! See note—1 Cor.4:1-2 for more discussion.)

5 (11:7-12) Finances—Minister: the church should fear those who criticize honest money policy.

- ⇒ Paul had ministered at Corinth free of charge, not accepting any gifts or financial support (v.7).
- ⇒ However, he did receive support from other churches (v.8).
- ⇒ This he did because he had need when he was in Corinth, but he did not want to be a burden to the Corinthians nor did he want to be obligated to them. He wanted no restraints upon the preaching of the truth and its gospel. He did not want any man to have the right to influence his ministry, nor did he want to be threatened because of financial obligations.
Paul's policy was to secure support from churches in other areas so that he could keep the gospel free where he was ministering. This, he declared, would continue to be his policy (v.9).
- ⇒ Paul was criticized for this policy. There were apparently two criticisms: first, he refused to take anything because he knew his teaching was inferior. He was thereby ashamed. Second, he was too proud to allow himself to be ministered to by others. Such criticisms clearly show that these men were only looking for opportunity to criticize Paul (v.12).
- ⇒ Paul followed this policy because he loved the church. The truth was not what the critics and false teachers were saying: that he did not care enough for the church to allow them to be a part of his ministry. Contrariwise, he practiced the policy of self-support because he did love them. If he took money from them, his critics would charge him with ministering for the sake of money. Such criticism would only disturb the church. Therefore, his policy was the proof that he loved the church (v.11-12).

Thought 1. The minister must always guard against giving people a chance to criticize his financial policies. But he must not tone down the gospel because he fears loss of livelihood or fears that he will upset the people.

6 (11:13-15) Satan—False Teachers: the church should fear false ministers and deceitful workers. False ministers are clearly exposed and identified in these three verses.

1. False ministers are disguised as the ministers of Christ, but they are deceitful workers.
  - a. They are religious workers, workers who serve in religion.
  - b. They are false ministers: they claim to be ministers of Christ, but they are not.
  - c. They transform themselves (metashematizomenoi) into ministers of Christ. The word means to fashion, to change one's outward appearance. They pose as "gentlemen of the cloth," but they are nothing but cloth. (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.259). They are false ministers.
  - d. They are religious workers who deceive and mislead people away from Christ:
    - ⇒ into false beliefs and doctrine
    - ⇒ into new ideas and positions
    - ⇒ into ritual and ceremony
    - ⇒ into organizations and programs
    - ⇒ into focusing upon some person or minister instead of Christ
2. False ministers are disguised just like Satan—as ministers of light. Satan often appears as an angel or messenger of light, especially in industrialized societies. His position is always presented as the truth, as the path of intelligence and knowledge and enlightenment. His way is always presented as the way to go, as the way that...

Satan never presents himself as Satan; neither does he present sin as sin (Tasker. The Second Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians. "Tyndale Bible Commentaries," p.153). Satan always presents himself as the supreme intelligence who knows what is best for man and who will provide real pleasure, enjoyment, and fulfillment for man. When Satan presents his way to men, it attracts, appeals, and pulls man to want, desire, and lust. His way always seems to be the way of light, that is, of intelligence or pleasure.

3. False ministers are of Satan: disguised as ministers of righteousness. Since Satan disguises himself into an angel or messenger of light, so do his ministers. They appear to be ministers of righteousness, and they preach and teach that a man is saved by righteousness, a righteousness of...

They stress the life and teachings of Jesus, all the good qualities of life—all the traits that should characterize people. They tell people to copy the life of Jesus and to focus their hearts upon these good qualities of life, and if they do, God will accept them. However, they make one fatal mistake: they ignore and deny...

- the righteousness of Jesus Christ which He had to secure for man by living the ideal, perfect, sinless life.
- the death of Jesus Christ which He had to die in order to bear the judgment, condemnation, and punishment of sin for man.
- the resurrection of Jesus Christ which He had to experience in order to conquer death and to provide a new life for man. (See notes—2 Cor.5:17; 5:21 for more discussion.)

Scripture unmistakably teaches that God accepts no person apart from Jesus Christ—no matter how moral or good. Because Jesus Christ paid such a great price—the supreme price of dying for our sins—God loves Jesus Christ with a supreme love. Therefore, God will accept only the person who honors His Son. There is no other way to be acceptable to God. Not even the preaching of morality and goodness will stir God to accept a person. God wants men to live moral and good lives, but the first thing He wants is the love and worship of His Son, Jesus Christ. And to be acceptable to God, we must do first things first: we must love His Son Jesus Christ. Then we must go forth giving all we are and have to meet the needs of a desperate world that is dying without any relationship with God.

The point is this: the strategy of Satan is to turn men away from the truth, away from Christ. He leads ministers to preach what is true righteousness, but he has them to ignore the truth of God's supreme love, the death of Jesus Christ for the sins of men, and the absolute demand of God: that men must follow the example of Jesus Christ, give all they are and have to meet the desperate needs of men.

The ministers of Satan are ministers of righteousness, but they are not ministers of the righteousness of God which is Jesus Christ Himself. They are in the pulpits throughout the world, but they are the ministers of the world's way of righteousness. They are not the ministers of God's righteousness, which is the righteousness and death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another [serve, give all we are and have as Christ did], as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

4. False ministers are to be judged according to their works.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“[God] will render to every man according to his deeds....for there is no respect of persons with God” (Ro.2:6, 11).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:8-9).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction....The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:1, 9).

“And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to the works” (Rev.20:12).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

D. The Minister: His Boast and Costly Labors, 11:16-33

(11:16-33) Introduction: should a minister or any other believer ever boast of who he is or what he has done? This passage discusses the subject.

1. The minister appeals to be received and heard (v.16-21).
2. The minister stands equal in heritage (v.22).
3. The minister must be more than a minister (v.23-29).
4. The minister is not guilty of cowardice; he was only escaping death (v.32-33).

[1] (11:16-21) Boasting—Minister, Defense: the minister appeals to be received and heard. The minister, Paul, was being attacked by some false teachers and critics in the Corinthian church. They were claiming that Paul and his gospel had no place in the church, that his authority and ministry should be rejected. They were either claiming or thinking...

- that they were the true ministers and he was the false minister.
- that their ideas were right and his ideas were wrong.
- that they had the true authority of God, and he was acting in his own authority.
- that their charisma and speaking ability and his poor appearance and lack of oratory were proof that they were the ones to be followed (cp. 2 Cor.10:10; 11:6; 1 Cor.2:1. See note—2 Cor.1:12 for more discussion.)

Paul was forced to defend his ministry and authority as a minister of God. If he failed to defend himself, his critics would interpret his silence as weakness. They would begin to spread the rumor that his silence was proof that he was not called of God, for he did not consider his ministry worth defending.

However, there was another reason for Paul defending his ministry: to save the Corinthian church from the false leaders and teachers. The outline of these six verses shows how Paul appealed to the Corinthians to receive him and to hear him.

1. He needed to boast a little. Only a “fool” boasts in himself, and Paul hesitated to defend himself by boasting in his call and ministry. But it was the only way to defend himself against these critics. Therefore, he appealed to the church to receive him as a fool and allow him to do a foolish thing: to boast in his ministry for a few moments (v.16).

2. However, his boasting was not the way the Lord talked. The Lord did not go about boasting in His ministry. But he, Paul, was confident that his boasting was the thing that had to be done in order to defend himself against his critics and to save the church from the false teachers (v.17).

3. This is the crucial point: Paul will boast in his ministry because the critics and false teachers are boasting and talking big about who they are and what they have done (v.18).

4. The church was receiving such “fools gladly,” and in receiving them the church felt it was wiser than others. Therefore, the church ought to receive Paul and let him play the fool (v.19).

5. The church was receiving people...

- who enslaved believers.
- who devoured and took money from believers.
- who preyed upon believers.
- who exalted and lorded themselves over believers.
- who slapped, that is, humiliated believers.

Therefore, the church ought to bear with Paul who planned no harm whatsoever to the believers of the church (v.20).

6. The need now was for the minister to be strong in boasting. Paul was ashamed that he had appeared to be weak in the past. But now, he would be bold and speak as foolishly and boastfully as the critics and false teachers (v.21). He would defend his ministry and be bold in his defense.

2 (11:22) Paul—Minister: the minister is to stand equal in having a godly heritage. It is interesting that the false teachers and critics in Corinth were apparently Jewish converts.

1. The false teachers claimed to be Hebrews; that is, they were so loyal to God that they had kept up the Hebrew language. Their primary purpose for doing this was so they could study the Holy Scripture in its original language (Hebrew). This was a most unusual feat, for the Jews had been scattered all over the world by the nations that had conquered them. The depth of a Jew’s commitment to God was measured by his being a Hebrew, his having kept up with the language of the ancient people of God, and his studying the Scripture in its original language. Note: Paul said that he, too, was a Hebrew. He could make the very same claim as the false teachers.

2. The false teachers claimed to be Israelites; that is, they were citizens of God’s chosen race, Israel. All Israelites were considered the descendants of the great patriarch Jacob. The history of Jacob shows that he had always been a supplanter, a man who was always deceiving or mistreating others. However, in facing a particular crisis, he began to seek the Lord. Despite his seeking, peace and assurance would not come, but he did not give up. He struggled and struggled with God hour after hour throughout the night, confessing and repenting of his sinful life. His perseverance paid off. God met him, forgave his sin, and reaffirmed the covenant of His love with Jacob. As a symbol of His covenant and of Jacob’s changed life, God changed Jacob’s name to Israel, the name that was to become the covenant name of God’s people throughout the Old Testament.

As stated above, by claiming to be Israelites the false teachers were claiming to be citizens of God’s chosen people, to be the covenant people of God, the people who had been adopted by God as His very special people. Note that Paul claimed to be an Israelite.

3. The false teachers claimed to be “the seed of Abraham”; that is, they were to receive all the promises made to Abraham (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Abraham—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25 for more discussion):

- ⇒ that he would be the father of a great nation.
- ⇒ that his nation of people would be a blessing to all the other nations of the earth.
- ⇒ that his line of people would be the roots or lineage of the Messiah or Savior of the world.

Again, Paul claimed to be of “the seed of Abraham.” The false teachers and critics were not superior to him in their godly heritage. He was as committed as they were...

- to the study of the Scripture (a Hebrew).
- to being a true follower of God’s covenant (an Israelite).
- to trusting and hoping in the promises made to Abraham (a seed of Abraham).

Thought 1. Every minister of the gospel must have a godly heritage. He must live and move and have his being in God, never failing to walk in the Lord. He must develop...

- the godly heritage of faithfully studying the Scripture.

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: is so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

- the godly heritage of faithfully following the covenant, that is, the will and commandments of God.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock” (Mt.7:24-25).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

- the godly heritage of faithfully trusting and hoping in the promises of God.

“He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform. And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness. Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him; but for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead” (Ro.4:20-24).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

“And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life” (1 Jn.2:25).

3 (11:23-31) Paul—Minister: the minister must be more than a minister. He must go well beyond ministering and laboring and suffering. The minister must do far more than most people. Paul says that he was more of a minister than the false leaders and teachers. He was able to make such a claim because he went well beyond in laboring and sacrificing for Christ.

Thought 1. Every minister of Christ should go well beyond most in laboring and sacrificing for Christ.

- 1) Diligent labor and sacrifice are the strongest answers to critics.
- 2) Diligent labor and sacrifice are the only conceivable ways the world and its desperate needs will be reached and met for Christ. We must heed the commission of the Lord—all of us who have been called to be His ministers.

1. The minister must be more than a minister in that he labors and suffers more than most men do for Christ. Note the general sacrifices and sufferings of Paul.

- a. He labored more than those who were claiming to be ministers of Christ. He worked longer hours and more diligently than they. He focused upon ministering for Christ throughout the day and did not allow his attention to become diverted and waste time here and there with non-essentials as so many of them did. He just labored more diligently than they did.
- b. He suffered beatings and stripes beyond measure, that is, a countless number of times.
- c. He suffered being imprisoned far more than those who claimed to be ministers of Christ. Clement of Rome says that Paul was in prison seven times (Tasker, The Second Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians. “Tyndale Bible Commentaries,” p.161).
- d. He often suffered the threat of death. He was almost constantly facing death for Christ. Imagine living under such pressure! What an unbelievable love this great minister had for our Lord!

2. The minister must be more than a minister in that he remains faithful while suffering for Christ. Note the specific sufferings of Paul.

So little is really known about Paul. This passage points out just how little. He was writing the Corinthian church from Ephesus. His stay in Ephesus is found in Acts 19. Naturally, this list of sufferings only records what had happened to Paul before that time. Only the annals of eternity will record what sufferings were borne after Ephesus. Paul said in Acts 20:23, “The Holy Spirit witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions await me.” (See outline and notes—2 Cor.6:4-10 for more discussion.)

- a. “Five times...stripes”: none of these events are recorded (v.25).
- b. “Thrice...rods”: only one event is recorded (v.25. Cp. Acts 16:22.)
- c. “Once stoned” (v.25. Cp. Acts 16:19.)
- d. “Shipwrecked three times”: none of these is recorded. The shipwreck recorded in Acts 27 happened after this writing (v.25). This means he was shipwrecked at least four times. Just imagine the terror!
- e. “Journeys often”: perilous and fatiguing, dangerous, and uncomfortable (v.26).
- f. “Perils of waters”: literally, rivers, swollen streams, flash floods. There were few bridges in that day (v.26).
- g. “Perils of robbers”: compare the Good Samaritan (v.26. Cp. Lk.10:25-37.)
- h. Perils of his own countrymen, the Jews (v.26. Cp. Acts 9:23, 29; 13:50; 14:5; 17:5, 13; 18:12; 23:12; 24:27.) This was due to the fact that Paul preached:
  - ⇒ a crucified Messiah to all men instead of a Messiah of glory who was to come to free Israel and set the nation up as the leading nation of the world.
  - ⇒ a salvation of grace instead of law, of faith instead of works.
- i. Perils from the heathen: for example, in Philippi (Acts 16:20f) and in Ephesus (Acts 19:23f) (v.26).
- j. Perils in the city: for example at Damascus (Acts 9:23f) and at Ephesus (Acts 19:23f) (v.26).

- k. Perils in the wilderness: for example, exposure to the heat, cold, storms, wild animals, and robbers (v.26).
- l. Perils of the sea: for example, pirates and unexpected storms (v.26).
- m. Perils among false brothers: those who professed to be Christians, yet were only making false professions and stood as a constant threat in opposing the mission of the church and the true minister of Christ (v.26).
- n. "In weariness and painfulness": severe work and labor, toil, fatigue, exhaustion, travail to the point that the body ached and hurt (v.27).
- o. "In watchings often": being unable to sleep because of being burdened, anxious, weary, or because of praying for the needs of God's people (v.27).
- p. "In hunger and thirst": going without food and water because of sacrificing all he was and had to preach and minister to the desperate needs of others (v.27).
- q. "In fastings often": going without in order to seek God's face for others or to give to meet the needs of others (v.27).
- r. "In cold and nakedness": being exposed to the elements of nature and giving all that he had to help the needy, even to the point of giving his clothes and suffering the cold of winters and the dampness and cold of dungeons and prisons (v.27).
- s. "That which comes upon me daily": means to press upon. The force of the Greek cannot be adequately expressed. It is like being smothered in a blanket; crushed by a great animal; bearing one down. It is an intolerable load—a heavy, heavy burden. Paul held a daily pressure of anxiety for the churches, a daily burden for their moral and doctrinal purity (v.28).
- t. He suffered and sympathized and felt the sufferings of others: when others were weak, he counted himself as weak in order to drive himself to teach them more. When others were offended, that is, led astray and caused to stumble into sin, he became indignant and inflamed against those who set the evil example or taught the false doctrine (v.29).

The point to note is Paul's faithfulness through all his sufferings. Nothing turned him away from Christ or his ministry. Christ had called him to preach and minister, and he would not be stopped except by death.

"Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake" (Mt.5:11).

"And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved" (Mt.10:22).

"He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it" (Mt.10:39).

"For I will show him how great things he must suffer for my name's sake" (Acts 9:16).

"And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Ro.8:17).

"[Moses] choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season" (Heb.11:25).

3. The minister must boast only in his infirmities. Remember: Paul had started out to boast in who he was and in what he had accomplished. But note what he has ended up doing: sharing those things about which most men would be ashamed and never mention: the rejections and humiliating experiences he has suffered at the hands of men and nature. Men and society were constantly rejecting him, and nature was always posing a threat to his safety and livelihood.

The point is this: Paul had laid down the principle that a minister must boast only in his infirmities and sufferings for Christ, not in his position, achievements, accomplishments, or results. Men do not applaud rejections, weaknesses, sufferings, and shameful experiences. But when a minister suffers for Christ, he has something to boast about—something that is acceptable to God: the minister's faithful witness to Christ.

4. The minister must not exaggerate or lie about his sufferings. Paul calls God to witness that he has not exaggerated or lied about his sufferings. Of course, no minister should ever boast of anything he has ever done or borne for Christ—unless he is forced to defend himself. And, if he is ever called upon to boast...

- he is to boast only of his infirmities.
- he is not to exaggerate or lie.

Thought 1. What an indictment against so many of us! May God stir out hearts to totally commit our lives to Christ. And may He teach us...

- to quit boasting in our numbers.
- to quit seeking recognition and praise.
- to boast only in our wonderful Lord and His glorious grace—the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 (11:32-33) Paul—Minister: the false teachers and critics were probably saying that Paul had acted like a coward in his earlier flight from Damascus. A coward is unworthy to be followed and obeyed. Paul answered by showing that a powerful ruler was after him, but God's purposes could not be stopped. He was delivered and sent on his way to further the gospel. (Cp. Acts 9:23f.)

Thought 1. No matter the opposition, God will deliver his dear servant to continue on in the ministry and to preach Christ. The minister may be led by God to move on elsewhere, but God will continue to use him to share the gospel of Christ and to minister to the needs of people. God will strengthen him to overcome all disappointment and discouragement.

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER’S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

E. The Minister: His Spiritual Experiences, 12:1-10

(12:1-10) Introduction: Paul seldom if ever talked about himself from the pulpit. He certainly did not boast in himself or in his achievements (cp. 2 Cor.11.1, 16-17). This is clear from what he often said.

“I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all: yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue” (1 Cor.14:18-19).

“What? came the word of God out from you? or came it unto you only? If any man think himself to be a prophet, or spiritual, let him acknowledge that the things that I write unto you are the commandments of the Lord” (1 Cor.14:36-37).

“But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world” (Gal.6:14).

Because of his hesitancy to speak about himself, the false teachers and critics of Paul were saying that he lacked in spiritual experiences, that his salvation and ministry were suspect because he had not had the kind of experiences they were privileged to have. They thought to themselves and questioned others: “How could Paul be called of God if he has not had spiritual visions and revelations from the Lord? We have had them. If he has really been called of God, why has he not had them?”

Paul had to defend himself against his critics, and he had to save the Corinthian church from the false teachers. He was left with no choice. This is the reason he shares this spiritual experience. However, even in sharing this experience, He does not share anything about it. He wants no attention upon himself, but rather all attention upon Christ Jesus our Lord.

1. His boasting is unprofitable, but he must defend himself (v.1).
2. He had experienced unspeakable spiritual experiences—visions and revelations (v.2-6).
3. He had experienced the spiritual power of Christ (v.7-10).

1 (12:1) Minister—Boasting: the minister’s boasting is unprofitable, but he must defend himself. As stated, Paul had no choice; he had to defend himself against the false accusations. His salvation and call from God were real. God had saved him and called him into the ministry; therefore, he had to do all he could to substantiate his salvation and call.

Paul says that boasting is unprofitable, but it was necessary in order to defend himself. Therefore, he would share the visions and revelations which the Lord had given him.

Thought 1. Note how cautiously Paul moved in boasting or in sharing any of his spiritual experiences. This is a much needed lesson: we must always lift up Jesus and not ourselves. The gospel of Christ alone can reach and grow people, not our personal spiritual experiences. Paul knew this, and we must learn it.

2 (12:2-6) Paul—Minister: Paul had experienced unbelievable spiritual experiences, that is, visions and revelations. Note that Paul called himself “a man in Christ”; he did not share this experience in the first person. He was reluctant to speak about himself and his spiritual experiences. (Cp. v.7, which shows that Paul was referring to himself.)

1. The experience happened fourteen years ago. This experience is not referring to his conversion experience on the Damascus road, for his conversion had occurred earlier, about twenty years before the writing of II Corinthians. Apparently, God had given Paul this wonderful experience one or two years before the launch of his missionary journeys. In a most wonderful way God was beginning to prepare His dear servant for the strenuous ministry upon which he was soon to embark.

2. Paul was caught up into the third heaven. The third heaven is God’s dwelling place (cp. Lk.24:43), the very special place where the presence and the glory of the Lord are fully manifested and experienced. Paul called it “paradise” (v.4. See DEEPER STUDY # 1,2-2 Cor.12:2; 12:4.)

3. Paul had an indescribable experience. Note the depth of the experience.

- a. How it took place is not known, whether in the body or out of the body; only God knows. The transference from earth to heaven was entirely of God and not of self, nor of any other person; therefore, God is to be glorified, not self or man.
- b. Paul was caught up into paradise (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Paradise—2 Cor.12:4 for discussion).
- c. Paul heard unspeakable words which were unlawful for him to utter. Note this: it means that the deep, intimate experience was for Paul and for Paul alone. God forbade him to reveal and share it. Paul needed a very special experience and strengthening from the Lord; therefore, the Lord met Paul in a very special way. The intimacy was not to be shared.

Thought 1. What a lesson for us! Our intimate experiences with the Lord are to be as personal as our intimate experiences with our spouses! We are not to be boasting of experiences with the Lord. Such boasting...

- makes us appear super-spiritual
- tends to make others feel inferior
- tends to make others seek and focus on experiences instead of the Lord

4. A man with such spiritual experiences has the right to boast, but Paul says that he will boast only in his infirmities. Very simply, if Paul knew a man who had had such a spiritual experience, he would personally boast in that man, but he will not boast in himself.

5. Paul desired but one thing: not to be judged by such spiritual experiences, but by what is really essential—what they saw in his life and what they heard him preach and teach.

Paul could have proclaimed the truth of his experience describing it in detail, but he would not, lest people begin to think too highly of him. Exalting the person who has had some unusual experience is always dangerous; therefore, Paul kept his experiences to himself. He wanted men to know only the absolute essential in life: the testimony of his pure life and witness for the Lord.

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; that ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:9-10).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(12:2) Heaven: the third heaven is God’s dwelling place (cp. Lk.23:43). The clouds are the first heaven; the stars are the second heaven.

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(12:4) Paradise (paradeison): the other world, the unseen world, the spiritual world, the spiritual dimension of being. Jesus Himself revealed that paradise is a place which is divided into two huge areas, sections, compartments, worlds, or dimensions of being. The two areas or worlds are separated by a great gulf that is impassable. One area or world is the place of sorrow, a place called hell. Hell is where unbelievers go. The other area or world is the place of paradise where believers go. Paradise is the picture of heaven, the place where God’s presence and glory are fully manifested and experienced. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Paradise—Lk.16:23 for more discussion.)

“And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise” (Lk.23:43).

“How that he was caught up into paradise, and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter” (2 Cor.12:4).

“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God” (Rev.2:7).

3 (12:7-10) Paul—Minister: Paul had experienced the spiritual power of Christ. God had given Paul deep and intimate spiritual experiences. There was the danger that he might begin to think too highly of himself; therefore, God gave Paul a “thorn in the flesh.”

1. Paul needed a “thorn” to keep him ever mindful that he was no better than other men. He was totally dependent upon God despite the indescribable spiritual experiences. What was his “thorn in the flesh?” The word “thorn” (skolops) means either thorn or stake. It is generally taken to mean thorn in this verse.

There are many guesses as to what the “thorn” was:

- ⇒ some spiritual suffering such as constant attacks by Satan or opposition by men, or occasional evangelistic failure in order to keep Paul humble and on his face before God seeking supernatural strength.
- ⇒ some physical suffering such as a recurring fever (for example, malaria), or epilepsy, or poor eyesight.

Just what the thorn was is not known. The best guess seems to be some physical ailment, for suffering is what this passage is all about (cp. 2 Cor.11:16-12:10). The words flesh, strength, weakness, and infirmities are used; and, although these same words could be used to describe spiritual sufferings, the context does not weigh toward spiritual suffering (cp. also 2 Cor.10:10).

The clearest description of the thorn is probably eye trouble (cp. 2 Cor.10:10; Gal.4:13-15; 6:11). Paul had been stricken blind for three days at his conversion, and he had been badly beaten and stoned several times (2 Cor.11:24-27). A serious injury to his eyes, or for that matter to any other part of his body, could have occurred at any of these tragedies.

2. Paul wanted deliverance and relief; he wanted God to remove the thorn. Why? Because...

- it pricked and bothered him
- it distracted him from his labor
- it made him appear personally weak and sickly

Note that Paul prayed three times for God to remove the thorn. Jesus Christ had also prayed three times for the suffering of the cross to be removed (cp. Mt.26:36-46).

3. There were three reasons why God refused to remove the thorn from Paul’s flesh.

a. First, God wanted to guard against Paul’s being puffed up (see pt.1 of this note).

b. Second, God wanted to reveal His power in Paul. The weaker the vessel, the more God is glorified when the vessel really serves Christ. Note God’s answer to Paul:

⇒ “My grace is sufficient for thee”: the presence, love, favor, and blessings of God are sufficient to help the believer walk through any suffering. The word “sufficient” (arkei) means the power or strength to withstand any danger. God’s grace within the believer can carry the believer through anything. In Paul’s case, it was physical suffering. In our case it may be either physical or spiritual attacks; but no matter: God’s grace is sufficient to see us through whatever the thorn is.

⇒ “My strength is made perfect in weakness”: the weaker the believer, the more God can demonstrate His strength. If a man is self-sufficient, he does not need God; but if he is weak, he needs God: the help, provision, and sufficiency of God.

⇒ “Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities that the power of Christ may rest upon me.” Note the point of this statement: infirmities or weaknesses are purposeful. The believer suffers for a reason: that the power of Christ may be demonstrated and clearly seen in his life. The word “rest” (episkenosei) means to fix a tent upon. The idea is that the power of Christ rests upon the suffering believer just as the Shekinah glory dwelt in the holy place of the tabernacle. What a glorious thought! The strength of Christ fixes itself upon and dwells within the believer—filling him with the Shekinah glory of God—when he suffers.

c. Third, God wanted to teach Paul to live “for Christ’s sake.” When Paul suffered some infirmity or weakness, it gave Christ the chance to infuse power into Paul and to overcome the weakness for Paul. Paul’s infirmity gave Christ an opportunity to prove Himself. Therefore, Paul says that he took pleasure...

- “in infirmities”: a general term meaning all kinds of sufferings and weaknesses, whether moral or physical. The power of Christ can overcome any weakness or temptation for the believer.
- “in reproaches”: whether ridicule, insult, slander, rumor, or whatever.
- “in necessities”: hardships, needs, deprivations, hunger, thirst, lack of shelter or clothing, or any other necessity.
- “in persecutions”: verbal or physical attack, abuse, or injury.
- “in distresses”: tight situations, perplexities, disturbances, anxious moments, inescapable problems and difficulties.

When the believer is weak, he is strongest. How? By the power of Christ. And the power of Christ is much stronger than all the combined forces of mankind.

Thought 1. The great need of the believer is to acknowledge his weakness before the Lord. When he does, the Lord pours His strength into the believer’s mind and heart. The Lord empowers the believer to overcome and conquer all infirmities and weaknesses.

“But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible” (Mt.19:26).

“For with God nothing shall be impossible” (Lk.1:37).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty” (1 Cor.1:27).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“[Believers] who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens” (Heb.11:33-34).

“Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger” (Ps.8:2).

“God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God” (Ps.62:11).

“But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint” (Is.40:31).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

F. The Minister: His Behavior Before the Church, 12:11-21

(12:11-21) Introduction: how the minister behaves before the church is critical. Few subjects are as important as the minister's behavior before people, especially before those whom he serves. Why? Because many lives are at stake—their present welfare and their eternal destiny.

1. The minister seeks only to prove his ministry and call (v.11-12).
2. The minister seeks only people, nothing else (v.13-18).
3. The minister seeks only repentance from wrong-doers, from the carnal (v.19-21).

1 (12:11-12) Minister—Call: the minister seeks only to demonstrate and prove his ministry and call. Some false teachers and critics in the Corinthian church had attacked Paul, his call and ministry. They had spread rumor after rumor about him in order to tear down his ministry. The rumors and attacks had caused a severe division in the church. (See note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for more discussion.) In the former chapters Paul has been forced to defend himself by talking about his call and ministry and about his own personal commitment to the Lord and His kingdom. Talking about himself had embarrassed Paul and it had hurt him. He said that such was glorying in oneself, and such glorying was foolishness, but the church had forced him to do it. How?

The church had forced Paul to boast in himself by not coming to his aid. The church should have defended Paul, but it had failed to silence the critics when they first arose. Now the situation had gotten out of hand. Therefore, Paul had no choice: for the sake of his ministry and for the protection of the church he had to defend himself and handle the critics and false teachers.

Note the specific charge against Paul: he was either an inferior apostle or minister or not an apostle or minister at all.

Paul answered in no uncertain terms: he was equal to any apostle or minister, and his ministry among the church proved it. The signs of an apostle had been wrought among the church. And note: they had been wrought under the most severe circumstances requiring great patience (endurance, perseverance, constancy). What were the signs? They were...

- “signs” (semeia): miracles.
- “wonders” (terata): the effect of miracles upon the observers.
- “mighty deeds” (dunameis): great works; powerful deeds.

Thought 1. Every church should come to the aid of its minister when critics arise to attack him. The leaders especially should come to his aid. No church should ever allow false teachers or critics to arise or to seep into its fellowship. If it does, the inevitable result is division.

Thought 2. Every minister should ask himself:

- ⇒ Could I defend my ministry if it became necessary to defend it?
- ⇒ Is my ministry proven by the signs of the ministry?
- ⇒ Is the presence and power of God upon my life and work?
- ⇒ Is my commitment to the ministry equal to the commitment of faithful ministers?

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me” (Jn.5:36).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles. For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:11-12).

“Having your conversation [behavior, conduct] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

2 (12:13-18) Minister—Stewardship: the minister seeks only people, nothing else. Two charges dealing with finances are made against Paul in these verses.

1. There was the charge that he had damaged the church’s image by not accepting financial support from the church. By not allowing the church to support him, he had made the church appear inferior to other churches who supported Paul. By failing to adequately support Paul, the church appeared to be...

- |                |                      |                 |
|----------------|----------------------|-----------------|
| • inferior     | • miserly            | • unconcerned   |
| • neglectful   | • self-centered      | • selfish       |
| • carnal       | • worldly            | • non-visionary |
| • lacking love | • non-mission minded |                 |

Paul’s answer to the charges and criticism was threefold.

- a. Paul asked the church to forgive him this wrong. He did not mean for his action to reflect so negatively upon them. He loved them too much to deliberately make them appear inferior to anyone.
- b. Paul sought them for Christ, not their money. Paul was soon to visit the Corinthian church for a third time. Note that he planned to continue his policy: he would not be able to personally accept money from them. (See note—2 Cor.11:7-12 for more discussion.) His primary reason is clearly stated: he sought them for Christ, not their money. He must reach them and grow them in Christ. They were what he was after, not their money and possessions. The implication is that if he accepted their money his critics would say that he was mercenary and taking advantage of the church. Note that Paul drew support for his policy from the illustration of a father and his children. He says that he was the spiritual father of the church, and the father was the one who laid up for the children, not the children for the father.
- c. Paul loved the church with an intense love. He, as the minister of God, was the father and they were his dear children. He loved them deeply; therefore, he would gladly spend all he had and was for them:
  - ⇒ all his money and possessions
  - ⇒ all his time and effort
  - ⇒ all his energy and strength
  - ⇒ all his health and life

However, it seemed that the more he loved them, the less they loved him. They were just not showing and expressing their love nor defending him when critics spoke up against him.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (Ro.13:8).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God” (1 Jn.4:7).

2. There was the charge that Paul took money through middle men (v.17-18). This shows just how mean and unprincipled the critics of Paul were—how they strained to find things with which to criticize and charge Paul. They said that his policy in not accepting money was a ploy, a crafty scheme; that he wanted to appear sacrificial and disinterested in money in order to keep from arousing suspicion about what he was really doing. What did they think he was doing? Using middle men to take advantage of the church financially. They said that when Titus and others were sent to challenge the church to underwrite special mission projects, Paul was confiscating some of the money. The charge was that Paul had “sticky fingers,” that some of the money given to the poor at Jerusalem was taken by Paul (cp. 2 Cor.8:20-22).

Paul dramatically declared that the Corinthians knew the truth. He fired question after question at the church:

- ⇒ Did I take advantage or steal money from you by the messengers which I sent to you? The implied answer is forceful: You know better!
- ⇒ Did Titus take advantage or steal money from you? The implied answer is forceful: You know better!
- ⇒ Did not Titus and I have the same spirit of Christ? The implied answer is forceful: We have the same spirit of Christ! We belong totally to Christ.
- ⇒ Did not Titus and I walk in the same steps? The implied answer is forceful: We walk in the steps of Christ, living righteously and godly lives, not the lives of two crafty cheats and thieves.

Thought 1. The church is to adequately take care of its minister.

“Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses, nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat” (Mt.10:9-10).

“Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel” (1 Cor.9:14).

“Let him that is taught in the word communicate [give, share, support] unto him that teacheth in all good things” (Gal.6:6).

“Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate [give, share, support] with my affliction” (Ph.4:14).

“For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward” (1 Tim.5:18).

Thought 2. The minister must always guard against greed and worldliness, against giving any impression that he is a cheat or thief.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows’ houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation” (Mt.23:14).

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But he that is an hireling, and not the shepherd, whose own the sheep are not, seeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the sheep, and fleeth: and the wolf catcheth them, and scattereth the sheep” (Jn.10:12).

“His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber. Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are shepherds that cannot understand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter. Come ye, say they, I will fetch wine, and we will fill ourselves with strong drink; and tomorrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant” (Is.56:10-12).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord GOD unto the shepherds; Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks? Ye eat the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool, ye kill them that are fed: but ye feed not the flock” (Ezk.34:2-3).

3 (12:19-21) Minister: the minister seeks only repentance from wrong-doers, from the carnal within the church. Note two points.

1. Paul had a deep awareness that he stood accountable to God and not to men. For what? To edify (build up) the church. He had not been defending himself before the church in order to have them pass judgment upon him. He was called of God, no matter what some of them thought. They were not his judge; God was his judge. Therefore, he had been speaking and defending himself before God. Why? Because God had called him to edify and build up the church. He had to defend himself before the church because God expected him to keep his ministry clean and clear so that he could minister freely and build up the believers in the church.

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification. For even Christ pleased not himself; but, as it is written, The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me” (Ro.15:2-3).

“For though I should boast somewhat more of our authority, which the Lord hath given us for edification, and not for your destruction, I should not be ashamed” (2 Cor.10:8).

“...we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying” (2 Cor.12:19).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers” (Eph.4:29).

2. Paul was stricken with fear, fear lest the church fail to be what it should be and reject him and his ministry. Paul feared that the church would fail to deal with the carnal critics and continue putting up with their evil attacks against him. He lists eight evils that were and still are characteristic of divisive critics in the church.

⇒ “Debates” (ereis): strife, contention, rivalry, competitiveness, quarrelling.

⇒ “Envyings” (zeloi): jealousy, begrudging what others have, whether position, abilities, recognition, acceptance, loyalty, wealth, or anything else.

⇒ “Wraths” (thumoi): fiery anger, outbursts of anger, fits of anger.

⇒ “Strifes” (eirtheiai): factions, a party-like spirit or clique that stands as a rival to others, a factious spirit caused by selfishness or self-seeking.

⇒ “Backbiting” (katalaliai): open slander, insult, vilification, attacks.

⇒ “Whisperings” (psithurismoi): gossip, behind-the-back talk, spicy rumor, secret and wild imaginations that are passed on to a close friend who has a close friend who has a close friend, and on and on.

⇒ “Swellings” (phusioseis): pride, insolence, conceit, arrogance, haughtiness.

⇒ “Tumults” (akatastasiai): disorder, anarchy, confusion.

The point is forceful: the church is allowing such flagrant sins in its midst—all being caused by false teachers and critics. Paul says in no uncertain terms that unless the church and the carnal repent of their sins, he will deal with both when he arrives.

Remember: many in the church had already repented and experienced revival, but there were some who still persisted in their false teaching and in their critical and divisive spirit. And the church was still reluctant to deal with them. The church desperately needed to correct the situation.

Paul closes by adding three more sins from which some must repent:

⇒ “Uncleanness” (akatharsia): the impure, unclean, indulgent, and extravagant things people do out in the world.

⇒ “Fornication” (porneia): immorality, sexual vice, premarital sex, adultery.

⇒ “Lasciviousness” (aselgeia): sensuality and indecency; uncontrolled, undisciplined, and unrestrained lust and passion.

Again, the point is forceful: those living in sin had to repent or else be dealt with and disciplined when Paul arrived. Paul had poured his heart out declaring his deep love for them (v.15) and doing all he could to lead them to repentance. The decision was now up to them.

“And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son” (Lk.15:21).

“Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted” (Lk.18:10-14).

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“And the times of this ignorance God winked at; but now commandeth all men every where to repent” (Acts 17:30).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die” (Ezk.18:21).

CHAPTER 13

G. The Minister: His Final Warning, Prayer, Challenge, & Blessing, 13:1-14

1 The minister's warning

- a. Warning 1: He will demand proof of the charges
- b. Warning 2: He will not spare, but will exercise his spiritual authority
  - 1) Because there are those who have sinned
  - 2) Because they seek proof of his authority
  - 3) Because he lives by the power of God

- c. Warning 3: He demands immediate self-examination
  - 1) To see if one is genuine

This is the third time I am coming to you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established.

2 I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare:

3 Since ye seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty in you.

4 For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you.

5 Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray to God that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.

8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong; and this also we wish, even your perfection.

10 Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.

12 Greet one another with an holy kiss.

13 All the saints salute you.

14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen.

- 2) To see if one is reprobate
- 3) To prove he is not reprobate

2 The minister's prayer for a carnal church

- a. His prayer
  - 1) That they do no evil, but only that which is good & righteous
  - 2) That they all stand for the truth
  - 3) That they be strong & perfected

- b. His reason
  - 1) To prevent sharpness—harshness
  - 2) To edify, not to tear down

3 The minister's challenge

4 The minister's blessing

DIVISION V

THE MINISTER'S ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS, 10:1-13:14

G. The Minister: His Final Warning, Prayer, Challenge, & Blessing, 13:1-14

(13:1-14) Introduction: this is the concluding passage of Paul's letter to the Corinthian church. He has done all he can to lead the false teachers, the critics, and those who are in sin to repent and turn back to the Lord. His final words include a warning, a prayer, a challenge, and a blessing.

- 1. The minister's warning (v.1-6).
- 2. The minister's prayer for a carnal church (v.7-10).
- 3. The minister's challenge (v.11-13).
- 4. The minister's blessing (v.14).

1 (13:1-6) Minister, Authority—Reprobate—Self-Examination: there was the minister's warning. There were some in the Corinthian church who were teaching false doctrine, criticizing and making false accusations against Paul. Paul was soon to visit the church, so he issued three warnings to the church.

1. The first warning was that he would demand proof of the charges against him. He had put up with the criticisms, rumors, accusations, and divisiveness long enough—for over a year. Now it had to stop. It was time to deal with the problem face to face. It could not be allowed to go on, for many in the church had already repented of their sins and experienced revival (see outline note—2 Cor.7:2-16). If the false teachers and critics who refused to repent were allowed to go on, they would again affect the whole church. Paul just could not allow that to happen again. He could not allow the renewed spirit of the majority within the church to be destroyed. He had to confront the false teachers and critics: it was now time for them to either repent or be disciplined by him and the church. Therefore, when he arrived, he would do exactly what Christ and Scripture say: he would demand that two or three witnesses be presented to prove his guilt or innocence (Dt.19:15). The critics and false teachers had to repent or else leave the church before he arrived. If they refused, they would have to face him and prove their criticisms and rumors.

“But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established” (Mt.18:16).

“It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true” (Jn.8:17).

“One witness shall not rise up against a man for any iniquity, or for any sin, in any sin that he sinneth: at the mouth of two witnesses, or at the mouth of three witnesses, shall the matter be established” (Dt.19:15).

2. The second warning was that he would not spare; he would exercise his spiritual authority and discipline all offenders when he arrived. There were three reasons why he would take this action.

a. First, there were some in the church who had sinned and others who were thinking about sinning, thinking about giving in to the sinful ways of the world. This warning was given to those who were guilty of the sins just mentioned (cp. 2 Cor.12:20-21). They were those who were guilty of...

- arguments & contention
- envy & jealousy
- wrath & fiery anger
- a swelled head & pride
- uncleanness & indulgent living
- lasciviousness & uncontrolled lust and passion
- strife & a factious spirit
- backbiting & open slander
- whispering & gossip
- disorder & confusion
- fornication & immoral sexual vice

Paul had warned these before; now, he warned them again. Such sins did not belong in the church. Therefore, when he arrived, he would deal with all those who were guilty of divisiveness and immorality.

b. Second, Paul said that he would not spare the false teachers and critics, those who demanded proof that he was a true apostle and minister of God. They wanted proof that Christ was in him and spoke in him. His ministry and appeals to them were not enough to convince them; therefore, when he came to the church, he would give them proof of his ministerial call and authority.

c. Third, Paul would deal with those who lived in sin because he lived by the power of God. Note that Paul used Christ as his example. When Christ was on earth, He appealed to men time and again, doing all He could to reach and save them. By so doing, He appeared weak in that He allowed men to abuse and crucify Him; but today Christ lives by the power of God. So it is with the minister of God. He does all he can to appeal to men, and by so doing the minister appears to be weak in that he accepts rejection and abuse time after time. But this is not the whole truth. The minister not only lives in the weakness and forbearance of God; he lives by the power of God, and that power is to be exercised under certain circumstances. In the case of the Corinthian church, it was now time for a demonstration of God's power, time for the disciplining hand of God to fall upon the false teachers, critics, and sinners in the church.

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

3. The third warning was that the believers must examine themselves to make sure they were in the faith.
- ⇒ They needed to make sure they were genuine. Living in sin makes a person's faith suspect. Some were living in sin: “Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves.”
  - ⇒ They needed to make sure that Jesus Christ was in them and that they were not reprobate (adokimoi). The word means to be tested and disqualified and rejected; to be found unfit and disapproved; to be doomed and condemned to perdition (see note, Castaway—1 Cor.9:27 for more discussion).
  - ⇒ They needed to know that he was not reprobate.

The only way the Corinthians could know these things was to examine themselves.

“Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD” (Lam.3:40).

“Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye” (Mt.7:5).

“But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup” (1 Cor.11:28).

“Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?” (2 Cor.13:5).

2 (13:7-10) Minister—Prayer: there was the minister's prayer for a carnal church. He made three very specific requests.

1. He prayed that they do no evil. He wanted them to stop their sinning, their attacks against him, their divisiveness, and their immorality. Note a significant point: his reason was not selfish. He was not seeking to be approved by them, but that they might do the honest thing (tokalon). The word means right, noble, good, pleasing. Paul was under attack, and suffered the tension and pressure of the attack, but that was not the reason he wanted his critics to repent. His purpose was not selfish or self-centered: he wanted his critics to repent for the sake of righteousness, that the good and right thing might be done. He wanted this despite the fact that they treated him as a reprobate. They might not love him, but he loved them and wanted only the best for them. He did not want to discipline them; he wanted them to repent before he arrived.

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Abstain from all appearance of evil” (1 Th.5:22).

“Let him eschew [turn away from] evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it” (1 Pt.3:11).

2. He prayed that they might all stand for the truth. Most commentators understand this verse to be referring to Paul, but it is probably best to see it as part of Paul's prayer, that is, as applying to everyone involved, to both Paul and the Corinthian church. The verse is certainly applicable to every believer and should be a part of our daily prayer:

“For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth” (v.8).

The truth would refer to the gospel in its broadest meaning—the fulness of truth. The truth is to be lived and proclaimed under any and all circumstances.

Thought 1. No minister and no people should ever act against the truth...

- in the way they treat each other
- in the way they speak about others
- in their morals
- in their behavior
- in their church

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness” (Eph.6:14).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

3. He prayed that they might be strong and perfected. Paul was glad when the believers were strong in the Lord and he was able to appear weak, that is, when he did not have to be exercising authority and discipline. At such times, the believers and the church were growing toward perfection (katartisis). The word means to repair what is broken and to restore it to a more perfect condition. What the Corinthian church needed was to become strong and perfected, that is, repaired and restored, to have its fellowship cleansed of critics and false teachers.

“Be ye therefore perfect [growing, maturing], even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

“[Christ] whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

Note Paul's reasons for praying and writing these things:

- ⇒ to prevent his having to confront those who were sinning and having to use sharp, severe discipline.
- ⇒ to have the opportunity to edify and build up the sinners and not to be forced to destroy them. He did not want to be forced to tear them and their lives down in order to save the church and its ministry.

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:2).

“How is it then, brethren? when ye come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a revelation, hath an interpretation. Let all things be done unto edifying” (1 Cor.14:26).

“Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying” (2 Cor.12:19).

“Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers” (Eph.4:29).

3 (13:11-13) Minister—Challenge: there was the minister's challenge. The challenge was encouraging.

1. “Be perfect”: restore, reform, correct, mend yourselves and your ways. Stop your sinning: criticism, divisiveness, immorality.
2. “Be of good comfort”: be assured, consoled, and helped by repenting and turning back to God. The word comfort (parakaleisthe) could also mean “be exhorted”; that is, listen and heed what I have said.
3. “Be of one mind”: in faith, belief, purpose, mission, and ministry.
4. “Live in peace”: love, care, forbear, be longsuffering and concerned for each other. Have nothing to do with criticism, divisiveness, snobbishness, pride, or feeling superior.

If the believers of the church would do these four things then the God of love and peace would be with them. Note that God is the author, the Giver of love and peace. Therefore, if a man wishes to know true love and true peace, he must accept the challenge and live accordingly.

Note: Paul expected the church to follow through. He challenged them, "Greet one another with an holy kiss." It was the practice of early believers to show their love and communion by greeting each other with a kiss.

Note also that Paul attempted to stir the Corinthian believers by sending greetings from "all the saints." Just the mention of the word "saints" would be meaningful to the Corinthians, for it means those who are set apart from the world to God.

4 (13:14) Minister—Blessing: there was the minister's blessing. This is one of the most used blessings in the Bible. Note how clearly the Trinity is seen in this verse. The blessing includes three parts.

1. The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ: Paul wished them to experience all the favor and blessings of the Lord Jesus Christ. He wanted them to know the saving power of the Lord's death and His day by day deliverance which is to be consummated in the glorious day of eternal redemption.

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (2 Cor.8:9).

"And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness" (2 Cor.12:9).

"Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim.2:1).

2. The love of God: Paul wished them to experience all the love of God, ranging from the gift of Christ to save the world over to the day by day provision of necessities.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Ro.5:8).

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Ro.8:38-39).

"But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)" (Eph.2:4-5).

"Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not" (1 Jn.3:1).

3. The Communion of the Holy Spirit: Paul wished them to experience the presence and power of God's Spirit as they walk in fellowship with the Father and the Son and with other believers.

"For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again of fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Ro.8:15-16).

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor.6:19-20).

"And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father" (Gal.4:6).

"That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ" (1 Jn.1:3).

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE GALATIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

There is little if any question of Paul's authorship.

DATE: Uncertain. Somewhere between A.D. 48-60. Some scholars hold an early date of A.D. 48-50 and some a later date of A.D. 51-60.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To the churches of Galatia" (Gal.1:2).

Some believe the letter was written to churches in southern Galatia, others to churches in northern Galatia. Acts 13 and 14 are a record of the southern mission. There is no account in Acts of a northern venture.

PURPOSE: To vindicate Paul's call by God and the gospel of grace.

Paul and the gospel of Christ were both under attack. Some false teachers, who were professing Jewish Christians (called Judaizers), were teaching a double error. They taught (1) that a person was saved partly by faith and partly by works, and (2) that a person grew in Christ partly by faith and partly by his own effort. A person had to believe in Christ, yes, but he also...

- had to undergo the main ritual of religion which was circumcision (compare baptism, church membership, and other requirements today).
- had to observe all the ceremonies and rituals of religion.

(See notes—Gal.1:6-7; 2:3-5; 2:4; 2:11-13 for more discussion.)

Of course, Paul did not teach this. He taught something different—that a man is saved by Christ and by Christ alone. His message was the message of God's grace, of pure grace. A person does not win, earn, or merit salvation. A person is saved by the grace of God through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Because of this, the Judaizers charged Paul with deceit: his apostleship was a false claim of his own making, created in his own imagination. They said that he was not a true minister of God—not a true apostle as he claimed, for he minimized the law of God and no true minister would ever minimize the law of God.

Paul thus sits down and pens Galatians to combat these charges. Writing with great force and stern insistence, he lays down the wonder of God, the wonder of God's glorious grace.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The Area of Galatia. Galatia was a district that stretched across the middle of Asia Minor. The Galatian district sat in the highlands, several thousand feet above sea level. It was formerly settled by the Gauls. The cities visited by Paul stretched across southern Galatia. They were Iconium, Lystra, Derbe, Pisidion, and Antioch of Pisidia. There is no record of Paul ever visiting northern Galatia.

The native Galatians were themselves an emotional, impulsive, and changeable people. They were an impetuous, fickle, arguing, loud, boastful, and immoral people. They had a love for the strange, the curious, the unknown. They were attached to a religion that was mainly the worship of nature. The area was also heavily populated by Jews who clung to their staunch Judaistic religion. Greeks were also numerous and gave the area a strong Hellenistic influence. The nature and strange mixture of people in southern Galatia can be seen in their treatment of Paul. They could both worship and stone him (Acts 14:13-19).

2. The churches in Galatia. Paul visited Galatia on his first and third missionary journeys (Acts 13:14; 18:23f). He was forbidden by the Holy Spirit to preach in Galatia on his second mission (Acts 16:6).

The church was spiritually immature. The very reason for Paul writing the Epistle was to deal with the basic doctrine of Christianity: salvation by grace. As one would expect, there were Gentile converts in the churches. In Acts 20:4 Paul lists the delegates who were going to Jerusalem with him. There is at least one Gentile delegate, perhaps two, from Galatia. This would point to a large group of Gentiles within the churches. There was also a large number of Jewish converts. The problem of mixing the law with grace is evidence of an influential body of Jewish members.

3. Galatians is "The Heart of the Gospel." Man must receive the gospel by faith. He does not work for it by keeping the law. The law does not produce faith. It only works a curse. Therefore, Christ Himself has to redeem man. But man must go beyond receiving the gospel; he must live it out in his life. This is done by the power of the cross and by the power of the Holy Spirit (Gal.5:1-6:18).

The one point Paul makes is that man cannot earn or win or do anything for salvation. Human effort is nothing more than a fleshly sign, a sign that is born within man himself, of his own thought and energy. It is earthly, and the earthly and corruptible perishes. The works of men and of the law do not last. Human effort is not of a spiritual or eternal nature. It has nothing to do with spirit. Salvation is a free gift of God. It is eternal and lasting. It is spiritual. Therefore, salvation is by the grace of God and by the grace of God alone.

4. Galatians is "The Message of Liberty, yet Subjection; of Unity, yet Diversity; of Oneness, yet Difference."

- a. There is a recognition that Gentiles do not have to live as Jews, and Jews do not have to live as Gentiles (Gal.2:11f). Paul never says it is wrong for Jews to be circumcised. He never says it is wrong for them to keep the law or to observe special festivals. What he says is that these have nothing to do with salvation. Customs and practices differ, but salvation never differs. There is only one way to be saved: by the grace of God.

- b. There is also a recognition that ministers are not all alike (Gal.2:1f). They are not all called to serve the same kinds of people, nor are ministers themselves called to observe the same customs and life-styles. Paul was called to the Gentiles; Peter to the Jews. The customs and life-styles of Gentiles and Jews differed radically. Yet both Paul and Peter were still ministers of the same Lord.
  - c. There is also a recognition that all Christians are to fellowship and share with one another, and they are to cooperate. Paul just could not see how two different groups of Christians could be in the same place and refuse to eat with one another because of some theological difference (Gal.2:11f). This was the very point that brought about the crises. And Paul came down hard upon it—fighting tooth and nail for a gospel of grace and a life to match that grace.
5. Galatians has been called “The Magna Charta of the Church.” God has used its message to stir world revivals in former generations. The great spiritual awakening of Martin Luther and of the Reformation was stirred as Luther studied its message. John Wesley received peace of heart—peace for which he had so long searched—when he heard a sermon preached from Galatians.
- The message of Galatians will pierce the heart of any generation and stir it to action—if that generation will just hear and heed its message.

OUTLINE OF GALATIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Galatians have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Galatians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

DIVISION I

GREETING, 1:1-9

A. God's Minister and His Authority—Paul, 1:1-5

(1:1-5) Introduction: Paul's greeting to the Galatians is different from his greetings to other churches. He was writing under heavy stress and strain. False teachers and critics had arisen in the church who were criticizing and attacking him. They were questioning his call to the ministry and his authority as God's messenger. Some were even questioning the very gospel itself. Therefore, the usual affection expressed toward churches and individuals is missing. From the very first sentence his writing is abrupt. He assails the Galatian churches with words straight to the point: he is a true minister of God, a true apostle and messenger of the Lord Jesus Christ.

1. He is commissioned by God alone (v.1).
2. He is recognized as God's man by Christian believers (v.2).
3. He wishes the very best for other believers (v.3).
4. He proclaims the work of Christ (v.4-5).

1 (1:1) Minister—Call—Apostle: the minister of God is called and commissioned by God alone. There were those in the church who questioned Paul's call and ministry, questioned if he had really been called by God to be a minister. They were set on destroying Paul's ministry. Why?

- ⇒ Because he had lived such a terrible life before his conversion: he had been the savage persecutor of believers (cp. Gal.1:13; see notes—Acts 8:1-4; 9:1-2 for more discussion).
- ⇒ Because he was not one of the select officials of the church; that is, he had not been taught by the Lord Himself when the Lord was on earth. This was one of the basic qualifications for being recognized as an apostle (cp. Gal.1:17-18; see DEEPER STUDY # 5, Apostle—Mt.10:2 for more discussion).
- ⇒ Because he had not been appointed by the official or mother church, that is, the home church of the apostles, the church in Jerusalem (cp. Gal.1:17-18).
- ⇒ Because he by-passed the religious forms and rituals of the official church (cp. Gal.4:9-10; 5:6; 6:12-15).
- ⇒ Because he preached a different message than the official church: that a person is not saved by ritual and works, but by the love and grace of God demonstrated in the death of Jesus Christ (Gal.1:4-9; 2:16; 3:1f, esp. v.10,11, DEEPER STUDY # 2,3).

Paul answered his critics in no uncertain terms: he was an apostle (apostolos). The word apostle means a person called and sent forth on a very special commission (see DEEPER STUDY # 5, Apostle—Mt.10:2 for more discussion). The apostle...

- is like an ambassador who is sent forth to represent the Person who called and appointed him.
- is like a very special messenger who is called and sent forth to proclaim the message of the Sender.
- is like a very special minister who is called and sent forth to serve as the Leader wills.
- is like a very special servant who is called and sent forth to do the bidding of the Master.

Note that Paul was not arguing with his critics: he was declaring that God had called and appointed him to the ministry. He was making his call a part of his personal testimony (Acts 9:1f; 22:7f; 26:16f; 1 Cor.9:1).

1. His call and ministry were "not of men, neither by man."
  - ⇒ "Not of men": men were not the source of his call and ministry. His call had not come from man.
  - ⇒ "Neither by man": no man had qualified or made him fit for the ministry. He was not made a minister by man.
2. His call and ministry were by Jesus Christ and God the Father.
  - ⇒ Note that Jesus Christ is placed side by side with God the Father. This is a crucial fact, for it means that Paul's call and ministry came from the highest source possible: from both God the Father and God the Son.

Note also that Jesus Christ is said to be raised from the dead. Therefore, Paul's call and ministry came from the Risen and Living Lord Himself. He was called to serve the Living Lord, the very same Lord served by the twelve apostles. If they were true ministers, then he also was a true minister, for he had been called by the same Living Lord who had been raised from the dead by God the Father.

Thought 1. Critics often arise and cause trouble for the minister of God. At such times the minister must boldly declare his call and ministry—not in a boastful and super-spiritual way, but in a humble and clear way.

Thought 2. Every minister should examine his heart to make sure his call and ministry have been commissioned by God. The ministry is...

- not a profession to be chosen.
- not a job to earn a living.
- not a position to secure recognition and esteem.
- not a service agency founded by men.
- not an ordained commission from men.
- not a call of men nor by men.

The ministry is of God; therefore a call to the ministry must come from God. God alone can give a true call and commission to the ministry.

“[God] who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament” (2 Cor.3:6).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry [from God] as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation....Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:18, 20).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“But [God’s grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher and an apostle and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:10-11).

2 (1:2) Minister—Call: the minister of God is recognized as God’s man by Christian believers. Note: the brothers with Paul were not just sending their greetings to the Galatian churches, they were agreeing with everything that Paul was writing. They were as concerned as Paul over the critics and false teachers in the churches of Galatia, and they clearly recognized Paul’s call and commission as being of God. This is the stress of the point. Paul called them brothers, not friends. A true brother in Christ is much more than a friend. True brothers have a much deeper and richer bond and relationship: they are of one faith, mind, spirit, and purpose. They may have different abilities and be assigned different work, but they believe in and serve the same Lord.

This is what Paul was saying: there were brothers in the Lord who knew him and his call. They readily verified his call and ministry. In fact, they joined him in writing and declaring the truth.

Note: there was more than one church that was questioning Paul’s call and ministry. All the churches in Galatia were attacking him.

“And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me” (Mt.25:40).

“And he answered and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it” (Lk.8:21).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren, saying I will declare thy name unto my brethren, in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto thee” (Heb.2:11-12).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night” (Rev.12:10).

Thought 1. When critics attack the minister, it is time for true brothers in the Lord to step forward and support him in his ministry and in declaring the truth. True brothers always defend and come to the aid of a brother when he is criticized and attacked.

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

“For I have no man like-minded, who will naturally care for your state. For all seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ’s. But ye know the proof of him, that, as a son with father, he hath served with me in the gospel” (Ph.2:20-22).

“A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity” (Pr.17:17).

“There is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother” (Pr.18:24).

“Iron sharpeneth iron; so a man sharpeneth the countenance of his friend” (Pr.27:17).

“Arise; for this matter belongeth unto thee: we also will be with thee: be of good courage, and do it” (Ezra 10:4).

“But Moses’ hands were heavy; and they took a stone, and put it under him, and he sat thereon; and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands, the one on the one side, and the other on the other side; and his hands were stayed until the going down of the sun” (Ex.17:12).

3 (1:3) Minister—Grace—Peace: the minister wishes the very best for other believers. The minister, Paul, wanted the believers of Galatia to experience the grace and peace of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ. (Note again how the deity of Jesus Christ is proclaimed: He is placed side by side with God.)

1. Grace (charis) means the undeserved favor and blessings of God. (See notes—Ro.4:16; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Tit.2:11-15.) The word undeserved is the key to understanding grace. Man does not deserve God’s favor; he cannot earn God’s approval and blessings. God is too high and man is too low for man to deserve anything from God. Man is imperfect and God is perfect; therefore, man cannot expect anything from God. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16 for more discussion.) Man has reacted against God too much. Man has...

| • rejected God         | • sinned against God |
| • rebelled against God | • disobeyed God      |
| • ignored God          | • denied God         |
| • neglected God        | • questioned God     |
| • cursed God           |                      |

Man deserves nothing from God except judgment, condemnation, and punishment. But God is love—perfect and absolute love. Therefore, God makes it possible for man to experience His grace, in particular the favor and blessing of salvation which is in His Son, Jesus Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for more discussion.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

2. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and weaved together with God and with everyone else. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to have a sense, a consciousness, and a knowledge that God will...

| • sustain    | • give life, real life both now and forever |

A person can experience true peace only as he comes to know Jesus Christ. Only Christ can bring peace to the human heart, the kind of peace that brings deliverance and assurance to the human soul.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“I will both lay me down in peace, and sleep: for thou, Lord only makest me dwell in safety” (Ps.4:8).

The point is this: not everyone in the church was experiencing the grace and peace of God. Some had fallen from the grace of God, no longer trusting Christ to save them; they depended upon their own works and goodness to make them acceptable to God. As a result they did not have peace of heart. Some had even fallen into all forms of sin and shame (Gal.5:19-21). Others had become extremely critical and divisive, standing against Paul and any who supported Paul. Note: Paul wished the very best for the churches of Galatia—even for the false teachers and critics. He wanted everyone to experience...

- the grace of God by coming to know Jesus Christ as their personal Savior and Lord.
- the peace of God as they walked through life confronting all its struggles and trials.

Thought 1. Every minister should wish the very best for all believers, even for his critics and enemies. It might be difficult, but his very call to the ministry is to proclaim the grace and peace of God.

Thought 2. Believers must guard against falling from grace, guard against trusting their own works and goodness to save them and to make them acceptable to God.

4 (1:4-5) Jesus Christ, Work of; Death: the minister of God proclaims the work of Christ. This verse is one of the great summaries of the gospel, that is, of the work of the Lord Jesus Christ. Note four significant points.

1. The message of the gospel is that Christ “gave Himself for our sins.” Christ died as our substitute. He took the place of the sinner before God. Two things show this.

- a. The word “for” (huper) means instead of, in place of, as our substitute, in behalf of our sins.
- b. The phrase “gave Himself” (dontos eauton) means that He sacrificed Himself for us. He gave His life for the sinner’s life. Jesus Christ...
  - offered Himself to God as the sacrifice for our sin.
  - offered Himself as the sin-offering, the offering that was to stand as the substitute for our sin.
  - accepted the judgment and condemnation of sin for us.
  - bore the punishment of God’s justice against sin for us.

Note that “our sins” are not listed or described. This means that Christ died for all our sins: big sins as well as little sins, known sins as well as unknown sins, terrible sins as well as mild sins, sins of the flesh as well as sins of the spirit.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation [sacrifice] for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“Unto him that loved us and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

2. The purpose of Jesus’ death was “to deliver us from this present evil world.” Note that the present world or age is said to be evil. It is evil in at least two senses:

- ⇒ The present world is sinful: it causes men to ignore, neglect, deny, and curse God. It also stirs and excites ungodliness, unrighteousness, immorality, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness, envy, murder, strife, deceit, ill will, cruelty, back-biting, gossip, slander, pride, boasting, inventions of evil things, disobedience to parents, misunderstanding and false understanding, the breaking of covenants, and the destruction of true love and mercy. (Cp. Ro.1:29-32.)
- ⇒ The present world is corruptible: it keeps both man and his world from being healthy and from living eternally. The present world of corruption causes man and his world to suffer and experience disaster, accident, disease, distress, sorrow, and calamities. It causes everything to age, deteriorate, waste away, decay, and die.
- ⇒ The present world causes man to die and face the judgment of God who is perfectly holy. Therefore, the present world dooms man to face the holiness of God as an unholy, sinful, and corruptible creature. The world dooms man to an eternity of death and judgment—dooms him to be separated from God forever.

But note the point: this was the very purpose for Jesus’ death. He died to deliver us from this present evil world. The word “deliver” (exelatai) means to rescue and to pluck out. Jesus Christ died to rescue and to pluck us out of this present evil world. How? As stated above, “He gave Himself for our sins.” He delivers or rescues us from both the power and the fate of the world. The believer experiences both abundant and eternal life now and forever.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

3. The reason Christ died for us is because God willed it. This is a most glorious truth: God loves us even as Christ loves us. It was God’s will that we be saved and delivered from this evil world. God loves us so much that He wills us to be saved—wills it so much that He sacrificed His own Son for us.

Note that God wills to be our Father. The death of Jesus Christ makes it possible for us to be adopted by God as His sons and daughters (Ro.8:15-16; Gal.4:4-6).

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain” (Acts 2:23).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

4. The result of Jesus’ death is the glory of God. Note: Paul could not mention the death of Christ and the will of God without breaking forth in praise. All men should praise Him for His wonderful love and the unspeakable gift of His Son.

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

“Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong: because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors” (Is.53:12).

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly....But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:6, 8).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

DIVISION I

GREETING, 1:1-9

B. God's Only Message—the Gospel of Christ, 1:6-9

(1:6-9) Introduction: the churches of Galatia were being led astray by false teachers, and the very souls of the believers were at stake. Paul had no choice; he had to be strong in what he wrote, for Christ had taught that the value of a single soul was worth more than all the wealth of the world.

“For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mk.8:36-37).

Again, the souls of the Galatians were at stake. Forcefully and powerfully, Paul warned both the false teachers and believers: God has only one message—the gospel of Christ. It is God's gospel and God's gospel alone that must be obeyed, preached, taught, and heeded.

1. God's gospel (v.6).
2. Some individuals turned to false gospels (v.6-7).
3. Preachers of false gospels are accursed (v.8-9).

1 (1:6) Gospel: God's gospel had just been clearly stated by Paul.

“[Christ] gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4. See note—Gal.1:4-5 for more discussion.)

The message of the gospel is that Christ died to rescue us from this present evil world, that is, from this world's sin...

- lawlessness
- corruption
- deterioration
- judgment
- doom
- unrighteousness
- aging
- death
- condemnation

Christ died that we might be delivered from sin and death and live eternally with God in a new heavens and earth.

Very practically, what happens is this: when a person looks at Jesus Christ and truly believes that Christ took his sins upon Himself and died for them, God counts it so. God credits it as a fact. God sees Christ bearing the person's sin, and He looks upon the person as being sinless and perfect, that is, completely free of sin. Therefore, the person becomes acceptable to God. God sees him in Christ who is without sin, completely righteous and perfect. But note a critical fact: the person is not sinless; no person is without sin; no person is perfectly righteous. But God counts the person as sinless, as perfectly righteous.

Why does God do such a wonderful and marvelous thing? Because He loves us that much; He loves us with an eternal, unlimited love. This is the message of the glorious gospel. We cannot earn the acceptance of God, for we are unrighteous and imperfect, and only righteousness and perfection can live in the presence of God. But God loves us so much that He has provided the way for us to become righteous and acceptable to him. This is what is meant by justification and the wonderful grace of Christ. This is the glorious message of the gospel. (See notes, Justification—also DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16 for more discussion.)

“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world!” (Jn.1:29).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him. For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:8-10).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures: and that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve” (1 Cor.15:3-5).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

2 (1:6-7) Gospel, False—False Teachers—Apostasy—Backsliding—Desertion: some persons turned to false gospels.

This is the subject of The Book of Galatians, the very reason Paul wrote to the churches of Galatia. Some false teachers had joined the church, false teachers who did not believe in the gospel as proclaimed by Paul and the apostles. They were adding to and taking away from the gospel of the Scriptures and attacking the minister. As a result, some believers were following the false teachers and turning to their false gospels. Paul warned the believers of the churches, and his warning was direct and forceful.

1. The believers were deserting God, removing themselves away from God. The word “removed” (metatitheste) means to turn away, to change places, to transfer elsewhere. The tense of the verb is present which means the Galatians were in the process of turning; they had not yet fully turned. There was still hope for them to repent and return to God. Note three striking facts.

- a. A person who turns away from the gospel is not turning away from a set of beliefs or principles, nor from a church. The person is turning away from God Himself. It is God who loves us and saves us, not a set of beliefs. It is God who personally calls us into the grace of Christ, not a message or a preacher. Therefore, to turn away is to desert God Himself, the Person who has loved us enough to save us and to give us eternal life in His Son, Jesus Christ.
- b. The words “so soon” show how quickly people can be led away from God. The false teachers had apparently just joined the church and had impressive ability and charisma, so much so that they were almost immediately accepted as teachers in the church. The result had been devastating: many were immediately swayed by the force of their charisma, ability, ideas, and worldly wisdom.
- c. The word “marvel” means astounded, astonished, surprised. Paul could hardly believe the fact, for the Galatians had been grounded in the true gospel and had been growing in Christ. But here they were turning away ever so quickly. The believers needed to be warned: they were treading on shaky ground. They were turning away from and deserting God Himself.

“And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold” (Mt.24:12).

“They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away” (Lk.8:13).

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first” (Lk.11:24-26).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love” (Rev.2:4).

2. The believers were turning to another gospel, that is, to a false gospel. The word “another” (heteron) means a different kind of gospel, not just a difference in emphasis or spirit (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4. Nashville: Broadman Press, 1931, p.276). It means a different kind of gospel that presents...

- a different Jesus
- a different grace
- a different way to be saved
- a different God
- a different picture of God's love

But note what Scripture declares: the gospel to which the Galatians were turning was not another gospel. There is no other gospel; there is only one true gospel by which men can become acceptable to God, and that is the gospel of God Himself revealed in the death of His Son, even "the grace of Christ" (v.6).

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

"Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life" (Jn.6:68).

"I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (Jn.8:24).

"Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

"For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified" (1 Cor.2:2).

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.3:11).

3. The believers were following those who twisted the gospel of Christ. They were following false teachers. Note what it was that made the teachers false teachers: a perverting of the gospel. The word "pervert" (metastrepsai) means to turn about, to change completely, to distort. They were taking the gospel of God's love and grace as demonstrated in His Son, Jesus Christ, and changing it. The false teachers claimed to be Christians, followers of Christ. They even believed with Paul...

- that God did love the world and send His Son into the world.
- that Jesus Christ was the Son of God who did actually come to earth.
- that Jesus Christ did die and arise from the dead.

However, the false teachers were adding to and taking away from the gospel, twisting its meaning and making it say something entirely different from the Scripture Paul preached. They distorted the gospel by saying...

- a. That God did show His love for the world by sending His Son, but He sent His Son in particular for the religious person (the Jew and the religionist). They were saying that God loves the world, but He especially loves the people who live religious lives. (Note how this makes God show favoritism and partiality and opens the door for caste systems and prejudice.)
- b. That Jesus Christ did come to earth; however, it was not to secure a perfect righteousness for men, but to show men how to live a good life that pleases God and merits God's approval.
- c. That Jesus Christ did die for man; however, He did not die for man's sin, but to show man how he should be so committed to God that he would die for God's cause.
- d. That the death of Jesus Christ is not sufficient by itself; it cannot stand alone; it is not enough to make man acceptable to God. More is needed than the raw love of God and the pure grace of Christ.
- e. That a person must undergo the ritual that had been the main ritual of believers down through the centuries: circumcision (church membership, baptism, etc.).
- f. That a person must work to keep the law of God and certain church ceremonies and rituals, rules and regulations.

Note how devastating the false teaching was: believers were troubled, that is, disturbed, bewildered, perplexed, confused. As pointed out above, they were not only turning away from the gospel, but from God Himself and from the glorious grace of Christ (v.6).

Thought 1. Note a shocking fact: how close false teaching within the church is to the truth! How a little addition here and a little subtraction there distorts the purity of the gospel! How diligently we must guard against adding our own ideas to the gospel of God.

"Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven" (Mt.5:19).

"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves" (Mt.7:15).

"Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast our devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity" (Mt.7:22-23).

"In vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Mt.15:9).

"Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in" (Mt.23:13).

“For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock. Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them” (Acts 20:29-30).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:17-18).

“We are not as many, which corrupt the word of God” (2 Cor.2:17).

“Such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“Be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Some indeed preach Christ even of envy and strife; and some also of good will: the one preach Christ of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds” (Ph. 1:15-16).

“Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the concision” (Ph.3:2).

“This I say, lest any man should beguile you with enticing words” (Col.2:4).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind, and not holding the head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:18-19).

“I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine, neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do. Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned: from which some having swerved have turned aside unto vain jangling; desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm” (1 Tim.1:3-7).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron; forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats” (1 Tim.4:1-3).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called: which some professing have erred concerning the faith” (1 Tim.6:20-21).

“Evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“There are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition reject; knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself” (Tit.3:10-11).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines” (Heb.13:9).

“There were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of” (2 Pt.2:1-2).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world. Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world. Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world. They are of the world: therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them” (1 Jn.4:1-5).

“Many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist. Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward” (2 Jn.7-8).

“There are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ” (Jude 4).

3 (1:8-9) Ministers—False Teachers—Gospel, False: preachers of false gospels are accursed. This is a strong statement, but it is clearly understandable. The gospel is the means by which men are saved out of the grip of sin, death, and condemnation. Without the gospel no person is saved—no person can become acceptable to God—no person can inherit eternal life. Scripture is clear about the matter and warns all false teachers and all churches.

1. The gospel is greater than the apostle Paul himself. This is a striking statement, for remember who Paul was: probably the most committed servant of God who has ever lived. He had ventured forth as a pioneer into the heathen areas of the world to reach people with the gospel of Christ, the good news that men could be delivered from sin and death and live forever. He loved the Galatians so much that he had risked all he was and had for their sake. To some Paul must have been a giant, and he must have been held ever so dear to their hearts. But note: Paul says that if he returned to them preaching any other gospel, he was to be accursed. The Galatians were not to receive him no matter how much they esteemed him: they were to reject him. The gospel in all its simplicity and purity was far more important than Paul himself.

2. The gospel is greater than the angels from heaven. Even if an angel came from heaven and began to preach another gospel, he was to be rejected, for he too would be accursed. The glorious message of the gospel is far more important than even the angels in heaven.

3. The gospel is greater than any man (v.9). If any man preached any other gospel, he was to be accursed. The gospel is far more important than any man.

4. The preachers of the false gospels shall suffer the judgment of a double curse. The word “anathema” means to be accursed, doomed to destruction, given over to eternal punishment, placed under the wrath of God. The idea is that of eternal death. This is clear from Paul’s use of the word elsewhere where he applies it to himself: “I could wish that myself were accursed from Christ for my brethren...” (Ro.9:3). Paul was a Jew; he was saying that he loved his Jewish brothers so much that he would gladly suffer eternal punishment for their salvation (the very same love that Christ had demonstrated for all men).

This is one of the most severe warnings in all of Scripture, and note to whom it is given: it is given to teachers, the false teachers. Lehman Strauss points out that every person who does not love the Lord Jesus Christ shall be accursed. How much more, then, shall the false teacher suffer at the hands of God’s eternal wrath (Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians. Neptune, NJ: Loizeaux Brothers, 1947, p.21)?

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?...Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire” (Mt.7:15-16, 19).

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“But woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye shut up the kingdom of heaven against men: for ye neither go in yourselves, neither suffer ye them that are entering to go in. Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye devour widows’ houses, and for a pretence make long prayer: therefore ye shall receive the greater damnation” (Mt.23:13-14).

“Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell?” (Mt.23:33).

“But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption....These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever” (2 Pt.2:12, 17).

“As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction” (2 Pt.3:16).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world” (1 Jn.4:1).

“Therefore thus saith the LORD God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people; ye have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them: behold, I will visit upon you the evil of your doings, saith the LORD” (Jer.23:2).

DIVISION II

THE PROOF OF GOD'S MESSENGER AND MESSAGE, 1:10-2:21

A. The Minister's Life Was Completely Changed, 1:10-15

(1:10-16) Introduction: critics of Paul and false teachers had arisen in the churches of Galatia. They were saying that Paul's call and the gospel he preached were false. He was not a true minister of God; he was a self-made minister who was only using the ministry for a livelihood and other greedy purposes.

Paul's answer was direct and forceful: his message and life were of God. His old life and old message had been radically changed.

1. He sought to please God not men (v.10).
2. He proclaimed the gospel (v.11-12).
3. He had a radical change of life (v.13-16).

1 (1:10) Minister—Paul: the minister sought to please God not men. The critics of Paul were saying that he was inconsistent...

- seeking the favor and approval of men instead of God.
- striving to please men instead of God.
- living by the law when he was with the religionists (Jews) and living a looser life when he was with the heathen and non-religionists (Gentiles).
- saying one thing to one group of people and something else to another group of people.
- living a life of duplicity and deception in order to secure the support of the people.

Paul minced no words; he fired two questions at his critics: "Am I now seeking the favor of men or of God? Do I seek to please men?" As stated, Paul minced no words. He answered his own questions by making a startling statement: he agreed with his critics. "If I yet [still] pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ."

The point is clear: note the word "yet" or still. Paul was saying that there was a time when he was a man-pleaser, a time when he sought the favor and approval of men instead of God. But no more: he was not "still pleasing men." He was now seeking to please God and God alone. Pleasing men, courting their favor, and securing their acceptance, approval and recognition used to be part of his life. But now, honor, position, and wealth did not matter to him anymore. He now wanted one thing and one thing alone: the favor and approval of God. For this reason, he was the slave (doulos) of Jesus Christ.

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour" (Jn.12:26).

"For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant (1 Cor.7:22).

"Not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men" (Eph.6:6-7).

"Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ" (Col.3:24).

"But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts, For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloak of covetousness; God is witness" (1 Th.2:4-5).

"Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear" (Heb.12:28).

2 (1:11-12) Minister—Paul: the minister proclaimed the gospel. Some critics of Paul were saying that he was not a true apostle of the Lord Jesus because he had not been a follower of the Lord when the Lord was upon the earth. Therefore, what he was teaching was a man-made gospel taught by mistaken and misguided men.

Note that the word “certify” (gnorizo) is a solemn word, a strong declaration that what follows is of crucial importance and needs to be heard.

1. The gospel Paul preached was not a man-made gospel. It was not a gospel created by man’s...
  - mind
  - ideas
  - rationalizations
  - hopes
  - religions
  - dreams
  - imaginations
  - science
  - energy

The gospel was not a human thing; it did not originate with man. The gospel was not the good news of men.

2. The gospel Paul preached was not received of man. It was not a taught message, not a message which he had learned from any man. The gospel he preached was not a message...

- handed down to him like tradition
- learned by him from an educational institution
- taught to him by men.

3. The gospel Paul preached was given to him by a direct revelation from Jesus Christ. Revelation means a truth that is shared by God to man, a truth that man never knew. It is crucial to note this point, for Paul’s call to the ministry and the gospel which he preached rested upon this single fact: did Jesus Christ really reveal Himself and the truth of His death and resurrection to Paul or not? If Paul was lying, then he was not a true minister of the gospel. He would be a fraud, a deceiver, a man who viewed the ministry only as a profession to provide a livelihood, to secure honor, and to secure power over people.

However, as Paul plainly declared, he received the gospel by the direct revelation of Jesus Christ. Time and again he declared the fact (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.2:7 for a complete list of the revelations or mysteries of Scripture).

“But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery [revelation], even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory” (1 Cor.2:7).

“[God] having made known unto us the mystery [revelation] of his will, according to his good pleasure which he hath purposed in himself” (Eph.1:9).

“Whereby, when ye read, ye may understand my knowledge in the mystery [revelation] of Christ which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit; that the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel” (Eph.3:4-6).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God; even the mystery [revelation] which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints: to whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:25-27).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust” (1 Tim.1:11).

“[God] hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

3 (1:13-16) Minister—Paul: the minister of God had a radical change of life. This was clearly seen by comparing his former life with his present life.

1. Paul’s former life included two terrible things.
  - a. Paul had been the first arch-persecutor of the church. He had been an inflamed man who struck out more than anyone else against the early believers.

“And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest....And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven: and he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?” (Acts 9:1, 3-4).

Apparently Paul had launched the persecution of the church on the very day of Stephen’s death. Saul had wanted to act and act quickly in wiping out the church. The believers were frightened and on the run; therefore, Paul felt that he had to strike immediately in order to catch them before they could escape.

The point to see is that Paul had been bent on violence; he had sought to utterly stamp out the church; to wipe believers off the face of the earth. The word “wasted” (eporthoun) means to make havoc; to utterly rack or lay waste; to devastate, destroy, ruin, or wipe out. (See note, Church, Persecution of—Acts 8:3 for more discussion.)

“As for Saul, he made havoc of the church, entering into every house, and haling men and women committed them to prison” (Acts 8:3).

“And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem” (Acts 9:1-2).

“And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women. As also the high priest doth bear me witness, and all the estate of the elders: from whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus, to bring them which were there bound unto Jerusalem, for to be punished” (Acts 22:4-5).

“I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth. Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests; and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them. And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme; and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities” (Acts 26:9-11).

“For ye have heard of my conversation [behavior] in time past in the Jews’ religion, how that beyond measure I persecuted the church of God, and wasted it” (Gal.1:13).

“Concerning zeal, persecuting the church” (Ph.3:6).

“For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God” (1 Cor.15:9).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry; Who was before a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious: but I obtained mercy, because I did it ignorantly in unbelief” (1 Tim.1:12-13).

- b. Paul had been the supreme example of self-righteousness. Paul declared that he had “profited” in the Jews’ religions above and beyond what others had done. The idea is that he had blazed a path and given well beyond what they had achieved. He had been much more zealous than they.

But note where his commitment had laid: in religion and in the traditions of the religious leaders. His focus and fanaticism had been placed upon religion and its traditions, rituals, and ceremonies and not upon God.

“But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition?” (Mt.15:3).

“For laying aside the commandment of God, ye hold the tradition of men” (Mk.7:8).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2.8).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

2. Paul’s radical change included four significant points.

- a. God had set Paul apart and called him by His grace. Paul clearly said...

- that it was God’s grace that had saved him from a life of self-righteousness and destruction.
- that God’s grace had separated him to serve Christ “from his mother’s womb.” The idea is that God had Paul in his mind even before Paul’s birth. Paul’s call and ministry were not due to Paul, but to God and His grace. God had His eye on Paul throughout all eternity.

Thought 1. The believer’s call and ministry is of God not of himself.

“For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called: but God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty” (1 Cor.1:26-27).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:13-14).

“That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kindgom and glory” (1 Th.2:12).

“Whereunto he called you by our gospel, to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.2:14).

“[God] who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began” (2 Tim.1:9).

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus” (Heb.3:1).

GALATIANS 1:10-16

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

- b. God called Paul as a vessel to reveal Christ. Note the words “in me.” God’s primary call to Paul was the same as it is for every believer: to reveal His Son Jesus Christ both to him and through him. God wants the believer both to know Christ and to make Christ known. We are chosen to fellowship and commune with the Lord more and more and to let Him be seen in us more and more. The believer is a mere vessel in and through whom Jesus Christ lives.

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God” (1 Cor.2:9-10).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“To whom [believers] God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

- c. God called Paul to preach Christ. Believers are not only called to know Christ, but also to make Christ known. We must preach and bear witness to Christ.

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“And straightway he [Paul] preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

- d. God called Paul to seek his gospel from God alone. Paul was not to seek his gospel from men but from God. God and God alone is the source of the gospel; therefore, God alone must be sought for the message of the gospel.

Thought 1. This does not mean, of course, that ministers are not to learn from others; it means that ministers are not to proclaim the gospel of men. God has given us the gospel to study and preach. It is His message, not man’s message, that the world needs.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life” (Jn.6:68).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

DIVISION II

THE PROOF OF GOD'S MESSENGER AND MESSAGE, 1:10-2:21

B. The Minister Followed God First in His Life, 1:17-24

(1:17-24) Introduction: Paul was under attack by some critics in the churches of Galatia. They were saying that he was not a God-called minister and that he preached a false gospel. They sowed the poison of gossip: that he was in the ministry only as a profession and for what he could get out of it.

The present passage is a continuation of the former verses. Paul was proving that his call and message did come from God, that he was a God-called minister and his message was the true gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. In fact, he had never received the gospel from anyone other than Christ Himself. To prove his point, he recounted his journeys right after his conversion. The point is this: he sought to learn the truth from God and from God alone. In the first few years after his conversion, he followed God first in his life, not men.

1. First, he went to Arabia: he got alone with God (v.17).
2. Second, he returned to Damascus: he corrected the wrong he had previously done (v.17).
3. Third, he went to Jerusalem: he faced his past (v.18-20).
4. Fourth, he went to Syria and Cilicia, that is Tarsus: he faced his hometown (v.21).
5. The result of a God-centered life (v.22-24).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:17-24) Paul, Journeys; Trips to Jerusalem: Paul said "immediately...I went into Arabia." The time-table of his ministry would seem to be as follows. (See notes—Acts 15:1-31.)

1. His conversion (Gal.1:15-16; Acts 9:1f).
2. His "immediate" preaching and ministry in Damascus (Acts 9:19-22).
3. His time alone with God in Arabia (Gal.1:17). The three years could be three full years or parts of three calendar years. In comparing this passage with Acts, Paul's Arabian experience would seem to fit in best at the close of Acts 9:22. There seems to be a natural break there. Acts 9:23 begins by saying, "And after that many days were fulfilled," which seems to be saying there was a long period of time between his conversion visit to Damascus (Acts 9:3, 10-22) and the ministry which he launched after his Arabian seclusion. He launched the ministry in the most natural place, Damascus, among the believers whom he knew (Acts 9:23).
4. His second ministry in Damascus after returning from Arabia (Acts 9:23-25).
5. His first trip to Jerusalem for fifteen days to see Peter (Gal.1:18-19; Acts 9:23-30). The apostles in Acts 9:27 would be Peter and James, the Lord's brother.
6. His ministry in and around Tarsus which apparently lasted for about eleven years (Gal.1:21-2:1).
7. His call by Barnabas to help him minister in Antioch (Acts 11:25-26).
8. His second trip to Jerusalem to carry relief goods during a famine (Gal.2:1f; Acts 11:30; 12:25). Some say that this return trip to Jerusalem is the trip to the Jerusalem Council described in Acts 15. However, two significant problems exist with this position. First, Paul emphasizes a private interview in Gal.2:2, whereas the Acts account is a public meeting. Second, where does the famine visit fit in? If the account given in the second chapter of Galatians is not the famine visit, then Paul omitted the famine visit altogether from the account in Galatians. This is difficult to explain in light of the fact that Paul goes to extra pains in giving his contacts with the Jerusalem church. In listing his visits, he declares that he speaks the plain truth, "I lie not" (Gal.1:20).
9. His call and commissioning as a missionary (Acts 13:2-3).
10. His first great mission to the Gentiles: to Cyprus and Galatia (Acts 13:1-14:28).
11. His return to Antioch after completing his first missionary journey (Acts 14:26-28).
12. His third trip to Jerusalem to defend the gospel of grace before the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15:1-30).
13. His return to Antioch with the message from the Jerusalem Council (Acts 15:30-35).
14. His second great mission to the Gentiles: to Europe (Acts 15:36-18:22).
15. His return to Antioch after completing his second missionary journey (Acts 18:22).
16. His third great mission to the Gentiles: Asia Minor and Europe (Acts 18:23-21:16).

17. His fourth and final trip to Jerusalem when he was arrested (Acts 21:17-26:32).
 18. His journey to Rome as a prisoner (Acts 27:1-28:15).
 19. His ministry in Rome while a prisoner (Acts 28:16-31).

1 (1:17) Paul, Devotions—Scripture—Study: first, Paul went to Arabia to be alone with God. He had just been converted, and his conversion was a most dramatic experience (cp. Acts 9:1f). Paul's former life had taken two terrible turns.

1. Paul had been very self-righteous. He had been steeped in religion and its traditions, form, and ritual. He had felt that he was acceptable to God because he was religious and did as much good as he could. He felt that his own goodness and religion made him righteous before God. He failed to see the absolute perfection and love of God and the absolute imperfection and unlovingness of man. He was utterly deceived about the true nature of man and God, of unrighteousness and righteousness, of sin and forgiveness, of life and death. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.2:15-16 for more discussion.)

2. Paul had become so self-deceived that he had launched a campaign of hatred and murder against the followers of Christ. He had used everything at his disposal to stamp out the name of Christ from the face of the earth. (See notes—Acts 8:1-4 for more discussion.)

The point is that Paul was saved from a terrible life of sin and shame, a life steeped in as much sin and shame as a man could be. He was self-righteous and arrogant, full of bitterness, hatred, and murder; and he went about misusing his position and power just like a tyrant—to the point of imprisoning and murdering those who differed with him.

When Paul was converted, he had a dire need to be alone with God. He did not need the counsel and help of men; he needed the presence and help of God and His Spirit. He already knew the Scripture. He had studied them at the feet of the greatest religious teachers of his day, but he had not known God nor Christ, not in a personal way. Paul had no knowledge of God, not a personal knowledge. What he had known about God had been twisted and corrupted, misapplied and misused. He desperately needed...

- time to learn how to live with Christ day by day, drawing confidence and strength from Him.
- time to learn the real meaning of the Scriptures: how they applied to Christ.
- time to accurately handle the Word of Truth (the Scriptures).
- time to learn how to fellowship with Christ in daily worship (devotions, quiet times).
- time to learn how to walk in the presence and communion and fellowship of Christ all day.
- time to learn the commandments and will of Christ.
- time to think through how to go about making Christ known to a world steeped in dire need, sin, and darkness.

How much time did Paul need? Apparently, he spent about three years in Arabia (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Paul, Journeys—Gal.1:17-24). Imagine spending three years seeking the Lord and learning how to live and serve Him!

Thought 1. What a lesson for believers and ministers! What power would be in our lives and ministries if we sought to know Christ as Paul did!

“And when he had sent the multitudes away, he went up into a mountain apart to pray: and when the evening was come, he was there alone” (Mt.14:23).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water” (Heb.10:22).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you” (Jas.4:8).

“But if from thence thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.4:29).

“Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day” (Ps.25:5).

“Wait on the LORD: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the LORD” (Ps.27:14).

“My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him” (Ps.62:5).

“But it is good for me to draw near to God: I have put my trust in the Lord GOD, that I may declare all thy works” (Ps.73:28).

“He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty” (Ps.91:1).

“But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint” (Is.40:31).

“Seek ye the LORD while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near” (Is.55:6).

“Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually” (Hos.12:6).

2 (1:17) Paul—Restitution: second, Paul returned to Damascus to correct the wrong he had previously done. When Paul was converted, he was on his way to Damascus to arrest and stamp out the followers of Christ. It was his intent and purpose to literally cleanse Damascus of all Christians. The bitter persecution had, of course, greatly disrupted the lives of believers. It had forced many to flee for their lives, leaving their families, homes, jobs, and all means of livelihood.

The point is this: Paul had returned to Damascus to do what he could to right the terrible wrong he had done to the believers of Damascus. He wanted to ask their forgiveness and assure them that he had been saved; and no doubt, he wanted to share Christ among the very people he had been so bent on destroying.

“Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God” (Mt.5:9).

“Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift" (Mt.5:23-24).

"Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another" (Ro.14:19).

"And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you" (Eph.4:32).

"Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye" (Col.3:13).

3 (1:18-20) Paul—Home Evangelism: third, Paul went to Jerusalem to face his past. Before his conversion, Paul had lived in Jerusalem and had been one of the officials of the ruling body (the Sanhedrin) or else had been close to the leaders of the Sanhedrin. We know this because the Sanhedrin had been the official body which stood behind Paul's attack against the Christians. Whatever the case, Paul was well known in Jerusalem, and he knew that some of his former friends would consider him a betrayer to their religion and cause. Nevertheless, Paul wanted to share his testimony with as many of them as could be trusted.

However, Paul's primary reason for going to Jerusalem was to see Peter, the leader of the early Christians. By sharing with Peter, Paul felt that many of the believers would know that he had been truly converted. They would thereby be more ready to accept him and his ministry.

But note: the other apostles were apparently away on evangelistic and mission tours. Paul saw no other Christian leader except James, the Lord's brother, who was pastor of the great Jerusalem church. Imagine the sharing that must have taken place between Paul and Peter...

- as Paul shared his past, his conversion, and his experiences with the Lord in Arabia.
- as Peter shared the life of Christ while on earth.

Remember that Paul was relating his journeys to the Galatians for a very specific purpose: to show that he had not learned the gospel from men; he had received it from the Lord Himself. He was a true apostle and minister of the Lord, and his gospel was the true gospel, the gospel revealed to him by Christ Himself. Paul asserted the truth of his claim with the solemn declaration:

"Now the things which I write unto you, behold, before God, I lie not" (v.20).

Thought 1. As much as possible...

- believers should seek to share Christ with former friends and associates. Unbelievers need to see the change Christ can make in lives.
- believers should seek counsel and help as they launch their ministries, in particular the counsel and help of leaders.

"Howbeit Jesus suffered him not, but saith unto him, Go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee" (Mk.5:19).

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem [home], and in Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear" (1 Pt.3:15).

4 (1:21) Paul—Home Evangelism: fourth, Paul went to Syria and Cilicia, that is, to Tarsus, to face his hometown. Tarsus was where Paul's family lived and where his childhood friends were, the place where he had gone to school and played as a child. It was, of course, Paul's desire to share Christ with as many of his family and friends as he could.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Mt.5:16).

"Howbeit Jesus suffered him not, but saith unto him, Go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee" (Mk.5:19).

"Return to thine own house, and show how great things God hath done unto thee. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done unto him" (Lk.8:39).

"For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:20).

"And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved? And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house" (Acts 16:30-31).

"Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul" (Ps.66:16).

5 (1:22-24) Paul: the results of a God-centered life are twofold, and they are powerful results.

1. The testimony of a God-centered life was spread throughout the whole area. Paul had not yet visited the churches in Judaea, that is, the area surrounding Jerusalem. Nevertheless, the believers of the area had heard about Paul's conversion, that he who had formerly persecuted the church was now preaching Christ.

2. The testimony of a God-centered life stirred believers to honor God. The churches of Judaea had never seen Paul, but they glorified God because of his strong testimony about which they had heard.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Mt.5:16).

DIVISION II

THE PROOF OF GOD'S MESSENGER AND MESSAGE, 1:10-2:21

C. The Minister Defended the Gospel, 2:1-10

(2:1-10) Introduction—Paul, Accusations Against: Paul was under attack by some false teachers and critics in the Galatian churches. They were charging him with being a self-proclaimed minister and with preaching a false gospel. Paul was defending himself and the gospel which he preached. In the present passage he defended the gospel which he preached in no uncertain terms, and he showed how he defended it before the recognized leaders of the church, the apostles themselves.

1. Paul's second Jerusalem trip (v.1).
2. He defended the work of the gospel (v.2).
3. He defended the gospel before false believers (v.3-5).
4. He defended the gospel before any and all persons (v.6).
5. He defended the special call given each man to proclaim the gospel (v.7-10).

1 (2:1) Paul, Journey: Paul clearly said this was his second trip to Jerusalem. It must be remembered that Paul was being very careful and going to extra pains to list his contacts with the Jerusalem church. He had to show that his call and gospel had come from Christ and not from men, not even from the leaders in Jerusalem. This was absolutely necessary, for the basic qualification for being an apostle was having been called by Christ Himself. Christ had appeared to him on the Damascus road; Christ had saved and called Paul to preach the gospel. Therefore, Paul met the basic qualification of being an apostle: he had seen the Lord Jesus face to face. Christ had confronted him and personally called him to be an apostle.

What Paul was doing in this particular verse was answering his critics: he did not visit Jerusalem to discuss his call and gospel until fourteen years after his first trip to see Peter, whom he had visited for fifteen days (cp. Gal.1:18-20). He had been serving the Lord Jesus as a minister and preaching the gospel for years before he visited the church leaders at Jerusalem. His call and message had been proven by years of service. His ministry for Christ was set; it could not legitimately be questioned and denied—not by an honest person. The critics were terribly wrong to be questioning his call and message. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.1:17-24 for a list of Paul's journeys, esp. pt.8 for a discussion of this trip being discussed in Gal.2:1f.)

2 (2:2) Gospel—Missions: the minister defended the work of the gospel. God led Paul to go to Jerusalem. The trip was not a man-planned journey; it was a God-called journey. God wanted Paul to go to Jerusalem and protect the worldwide mission work of the gospel. There were those in the church who were pressing the necessity of ritual and rules for salvation, in particular the necessity of being circumcised and of subjecting oneself to keep the law of Moses.

Paul knew something: if men were allowed to add ritual and rules to the gospel, he and his ministry would have been in vain (fruitless). Every person who had trusted in Jesus Christ and every person who would trust in Jesus Christ for salvation would have to undergo the ritual of circumcision. He would have to focus his life upon the law instead of Jesus Christ.

This was the reason God led Paul to Jerusalem: to save the message and work of the true gospel.

- ⇒ Just imagine the thousands of Gentile believers who had been led to the Lord, and all the churches that had already been established by Paul and others throughout the world.
- ⇒ Just imagine the catastrophic devastation upon the believers and the churches if they had to return to their conversion experience and add a ritual and other rules to their lives.

Note the method used by Paul to defend his case: private discussions with the leaders, in particular with the apostles.

Thought 1. The minister must not run in vain. He must preach the gospel and only the gospel, and he must build his ministry upon the gospel and only the gospel. He must not allow ritual, rule, ceremony, or law to be added to the gospel. People are saved and people grow only by the gospel, only by the good news of God's love for the world—a love that was demonstrated in the supreme gift of His Son to die for us.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3-4).

3 (2:3-5) Paul—Teachers, False—Judaizers: the minister defended the gospel before false believers. A brief look at what lies behind these verses will greatly help the reader. Paul was preaching the gospel of grace and of grace alone and this aroused some of the Jewish believers. Remember that most of the believers at Jerusalem were Jews. They had been circumcised when eight days old and had been steeped in the law of Moses since childhood. When they accepted Christ, some just refused to forsake their Judaistic religion. They saw Christianity only as an extension of Judaism. In their minds Christ had only added new teachings to their existing law and religion. Therefore, if a person wished to accept Christ, he had to become a Jew first...

- to undergo the ritual of circumcision.
- to commit himself to the law of Moses.
- to observe all the ceremonies and rituals of Jewish religion.

Once a person had done these things, that is, become a Jew, then and only then could he receive Christ and be baptized. Only then could he be accepted into the church.

Paul, of course, had gone against these beliefs and practices. He had...

- allowed people to receive Christ by grace through faith alone without undergoing the ritual of circumcision.
- allowed people to follow and focus upon Christ instead of the law of Moses.

This shocked those who were still loyal to their Judaistic religion, and they began to form an alliance and oppose Paul vehemently. They felt he was out to destroy their religion and its form and rituals. Therefore, they set out to discredit and destroy him...

- by questioning his salvation and call.
- by denying that his apostleship and ministry were of God.
- by planting their own teachers in the churches where Paul had ministered and by indoctrinating the churches with their own false teaching.
- by sending their own emissaries to follow and hound Paul by stirring up the people against him—stirring them to question his message and call.

These men were called Judaizers, men who mixed ritual and law with the gospel of Christ. Paul's argument was that this teaching was the very opposite of the true gospel. A man is not saved by fleshly signs nor by ritual nor by his own ability to keep the law and regulations and rules. A man just cannot earn, win, or do anything to save himself. Salvation is by faith in Jesus Christ alone (Gal.2:16). A man can only accept salvation, and then in thankfulness for God's gift, he must depend upon the power of the Holy Spirit to live for God.

Now to the point of the present verses. When Paul went to Jerusalem, he took Barnabas and Titus, two co-workers, with him. Barnabas was a Jew who had been converted in Jerusalem. He was well known by most believers, for he was one of the very first missionaries, and he had experienced great movements of God wherever he had carried the gospel.

Titus, however, was a different matter. He was a heathen (Gentile) convert. He was not a Jew, which meant he had never undergone the ritual of circumcision, nor had he committed himself to keep the law of Moses and the rituals of religion. Titus was a perfect example of salvation by grace alone, for he had been saved and called by Christ to preach without ever having been circumcised and without submitting to the law of Moses. Apparently, it was Paul's intention to present him as a prime example of God saving people by grace through faith alone—without any religion, ritual, or rule whatsoever.

However, when the Judaizers heard about Titus, they planted several of their followers in the church who reacted and demanded that Titus undergo the ritual of circumcision and make the law of Moses the focus of his life. Note that they entered the church hypocritically; they were not true believers. Paul calls them "brothers," but "false brothers."

Note that Paul refused to subject to the false teachers. He would not tell Titus he had to undergo a ritual and focus upon the law in order to be saved. Paul fought to preserve the pure gospel in all its truth. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Judaizers—Gal.2:4 for more discussion.)

"[Christ] who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal.1:4).

"Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified" (Gal.2:16).

"This only would I learn of you, Received ye the Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith? Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh?" (Gal.3:2-3).

"But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The just shall live by faith. And the law is not of faith: but, The man that doeth them shall live in them. Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal.3:11-13).

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father" (Gal.4:4-6)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:4) Judaizers—Legalists: these were Jews who professed Christ but still hung on to their Judaistic religion, in particular to the rite of circumcision and to the law of Moses (cp. Acts 5:1-35, esp. 1, 24-29). They believed a man became a Christian...

- by first becoming a Jew. The man was to embrace Judaism with all its rituals and ceremonies and be circumcised, and begin to obey the laws of Moses,
- then the man could accept Christ as his Savior.

In the mind of the circumcised, Christianity was a mixture of Judaism and the teachings of Christ. The law was just as important as Christ and Christ was no more important than the law. They failed to grasp...

- that Christ was the fulfillment of the law.
- that Christ had kept the law perfectly, thereby becoming the Ideal Man, the Perfect Pattern of what every man should be.
- that Christ was not only the embodiment of the law, but so much more—the very embodiment of God Himself, the Ideal Man, the Perfect Pattern to whom all men were to look for their salvation and standard.
- that Christ, as the Son of God, as the Ideal Man, and as the Perfect Pattern, was the One to whom all men were now to look and obey.

Some Jews were impressed with Christ and professed Him, but they were never able to understand or else were unwilling to accept Christ as the fulfillment of the law and as the Savior of all men. Therefore, they never turned to Christ alone, never broke away...

- from their legalistic religion.
- from requiring men (Gentiles) to become Jews before they could become Christians.

This was the great battle the church had to fight in its beginning. It was the great problem that faced God: how to break the church away from its Judaistic roots and away from excluding and shutting out the other people of the world (Gentiles). This had always been the problem of the Jews—the problem of keeping the Gentiles away from God and the glorious salvation He had planned for all men. Now, since Christ had come, God had to lead the early church away from the Judaistic approach, away from making a man become a Jew before he could accept Christ. This just was not the will of God, for God had sent Christ into the world to save all men, not just the Jews. The message had to be carried to all. He had to break the early Jewish believers away from their legalism, away from their...

- making distinctions between themselves and others.
- making others become religionists before accepting Christ.
- discriminating against others.
- building barriers and walls for others to cross (legalistic rules).
- being separatists and being divisive.
- being a people of prejudice and bigotry.

However, note this: all through the history of the church, extending from the early church up to the present time, there have been some who have refused to follow Christ alone. They have laid the burden of the law, ritual, and ceremony (legalism, becoming a religionist, a Jew) upon people. In the past such people were known as the circumcision or the Judaizers; in modern times they are known as religionists or legalists .

“And certain men which came down from Judaea taught the brethren, and said, Except ye be circumcised [undergo a ritual] after the manner of Moses, ye cannot be saved” (Acts 15:1).

“Forasmuch as we have heard, that certain which went out from us have troubled you with words, subverting your souls, saying, Ye must be circumcised [undergo a ritual], and keep the law: to whom we gave no such commandment” (Acts 15:24).

“And that because of false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily [secretly] to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage” (Gal.2:4).

“As many as desire to make a fair show in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised [undergo a ritual]; only lest they should suffer persecution for the cross of Christ. For neither they themselves who are circumcised keep the law; but desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh. But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision [a ritual] availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:12-15).

4 (2:6) Gospel—Partiality: the minister defended the gospel before any and all persons. The false brothers were saying that Paul should not be followed, for he was not a true minister. His call was not equal to the apostles of Christ: he had never been an associate of Jesus Christ nor of the other leaders of the church. How then could he be a true minister of God? He did not have the right credentials or education and he was not an associate of the right leaders.

Bluntly, Paul declared the piercing truth:

⇒ God accepts no man’s person; God shows no partiality.

⇒ No man, not even a man of reputation, can add anything to another man’s call or to the gospel. God is the creator of the gospel and the One who calls men to the ministry. Men have not developed the gospel, not the real gospel, and men do not call other men to the ministry, not to the real ministry.

Thought 1. All believers, especially ministers, need to search their hearts with such questions as:

⇒ How many of us seek the approval of leaders over the approval of God?

⇒ How many of us seek the call of churches or leaders over the call of God?

⇒ How many of us seek the favor and help of men over the favor and help of God?

⇒ How many of us seek to add to our reputation by associating with leaders instead of seeking God and His place of service?

⇒ And, of extreme danger, how many of us add and teach our own ideas, rituals, and rules instead of the pure gospel?

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain; that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“But the Lord said unto him, Go thy way: for he is a chosen vessel unto me to bear my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel” (Acts 9:15).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence” (1 Cor.1:27-29).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry [from God], as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:18-21).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“[God] who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:9-11).

Thought 2. God treats all men alike. He has no favorites and shows no partiality. Every person is saved by the same gospel, and every true minister is called by the same Lord.

“Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:34-35).

“And God, which knoweth the hearts, bare them witness, giving them the Holy Ghost, even as he did unto us; and put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith” (Acts 15:8-9).

“For there is no respect of persons with God” (Ro.2:11).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:12-13).

5 (2:7-10) Gospel—Call: the minister defended the special call given each man to proclaim the gospel. Note the word “contrariwise” (tounantion): the leaders of the church did not agree with the Judaizers as the Judaizers had hoped; on the contrary they stood with and championed the call and gospel of Christ. They saw that God had called Paul to preach to the Gentiles (the uncircumcision) just as he had called Peter to preach to the Jews (the circumcision). They championed the truth that God gives to every man a particular task.

Note who the leaders were in Jerusalem: James, the Lord’s brother who was pastor of the great Jerusalem church, and Peter and John. The point to note is that the great pillars of the church were now standing together proclaiming...

- that salvation by grace through faith alone was the true gospel.
- that God was the Person who called Paul and all other ministers to preach the gospel.
- that Paul and all other ministers should remember and minister to the poor, not just to the middle classes and wealthy.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel! For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation [trust, trusteeship, commitment] of the gospel is committed unto me” (1 Cor.9:16-17).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation [trust, trusteeship, stewardship] of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

DIVISION II

THE PROOF OF GOD'S MESSENGER AND MESSAGE, 1:10-2:21

D. The Minister Proclaimed the Gospel to Those Who Had Drifted Away, 2:11-21

(2:11-21) Introduction: this is a passage packed full of truth and meaning for all men, but especially for the believer. It is a passage that deals with backsliders, with righteousness and self-righteousness, works and faith, the law and God's grace. It is a passage that needs to be proclaimed to the world. It is the message of the gospel proclaimed to those who drift away.

1. Paul confronted Peter (v.11-13).
2. A believer cannot have double standards (v.14).
3. A believer is justified by faith alone (v.15-16).
4. A man is not misled by Christ (v.17-18).
5. A man is justified by living for God (v.19-21).

1 (2:11-13) Paul—Inconsistency—Double-minded: Paul confronted Peter. What happened is simply explained. Paul and Barnabas were ministers of the Antioch church and they had apparently invited Peter, or else Peter had taken it upon himself to conduct some services in Antioch (cp. Acts 11:25-26). Antioch was not only a great church, but the first great Gentile church and the very first church to send missionaries forth. It was comprised mainly of Gentile believers (cp. Acts 11:20-21; 13:1-3). When Peter began his ministry in Antioch, he joined right in with the Gentiles, fellowshiping, eating, and sharing with them. However, some Judaizers or religionists came to Antioch and began to visit the church. They were astounded to find Peter fellowshiping and eating so freely with Gentiles, even if they were Christians. Remember: the Judaizers believed in the gospel of Jesus Christ, but they thought it was only an addition to the existing religion (Judaism). They said that if people wished to be saved...

- they had to undergo the ritual of circumcision.
- they had to subject themselves to the law of Moses.
- they had to adopt the ritual and ceremonies of the existing religion.
- they had to practice the rules and regulations of religion, for example, observe strict food laws which prohibited the eating of pork and meat bought in the marketplace.
- they had to separate themselves and have no fellowship with Gentiles who had not been circumcised nor subjected themselves to the law of Moses and the rules and regulations of religion.

When the Judaizers saw Peter, the great Jewish apostle, eating with Gentiles who had not done these things, they apparently "rebuked him." They even used James' name to support their position. Of course, James did not support their posit-tion or false teaching (cp. Acts 15:24). However, Peter weakened under their attack and withdrew himself from close fellowship with the Gentiles. When Peter withdrew, the inevitable happened: the church split. The church became tragically divided just as any church does when a leader becomes a man-pleaser and begins to follow critics and cliques.

Note how severe the split was: Peter and the other Jews separated themselves from the Gentiles. And note another fact: their argument was so strong that the senior minister, Barnabas, was even led to join their ranks. Paul stood alone among the leaders to fight for the truth of the gospel.

Another way to look at Peter's failure is to look at the three gross sins he committed. (See note—Gal.2:14 for discussion.)

2 (2:14) Double-minded—Inconsistency: a believer must not have double standards. In common language, Peter was two-faced; he was a man-pleaser. He ate with the Gentile Christians; but when some Judaizers arrived, he separated himself completely from the Gentiles. He feared what the Judaizers would think. His failure was threefold.

- ⇒ He was hypocritical. He said one thing (Gal.2:9) but lived something else (Gal.2:11-12).
- ⇒ He followed the crowd simply because they put pressure upon him—even when he knew better.
- ⇒ He esteemed some persons better than others (Gal.2:12).

1. Peter was walking an unrighteous path, not living according to the truth of the gospel. The gospel declares that God loves and receives all men. But Peter was separating himself from those who followed Christ differently than he and the mother church at Jerusalem.

2. Peter was walking a hypocritical path, living one way while telling others to live another way. When the Judaizers were not around to see him, he fellowshipped with the Gentiles; but when the strict religionists arrived, he began to be more strict and follow their strict lifestyle. Note: he even began to compel the Gentiles to undergo the ritual of circumcision and submit to the law of Moses in order to be accepted into the true church of Christ.

Thought 1. The fact that Peter could be led astray is a strong warning to every believer, especially to ministers.
 ⇒ We must guard against an unrighteous walk, against not being true to the gospel.

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein” (Heb.13:9).

⇒ We must guard against a hypocritical walk, against living one way while telling others to live another way.

“And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?” (Mt.7:3).

“And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?” (Lk.6:46).

“Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things” (Ro.2:1).

“Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal?” (Ro.2:21).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

3 (2:15-16) Justification—Faith vs. Works: a believer is justified by faith alone. Note that Paul now identifies himself with the Jews, for he was a Jew by nature, that is, by birth. Note also the reference to the Gentiles as “sinners.” The meaning is rank sinners. The Jews considered themselves to be religionists and considered the Gentiles to be rank sinners. What Paul was saying is this: all Jews (religionists) who had believed in Christ had confessed the very same thing the rank sinners had confessed: a person is justified by faith alone and not by the works of the law.

By coming to Christ the Jewish religionists were confessing that their religion, ritual, works, and law were not able to save them. They needed something more, much more; therefore, they had turned to Christ. Note three crucial points.

1. A person is not justified and made acceptable to God by works nor by law. Why? Because man is short of God's glory; he is imperfect, incomplete, and less than what he should be. Yet everything that lives in God's presence must be perfect and complete, full to the ultimate degree, for God is the very embodiment of perfection, completeness, and fullness. Therefore man, who is imperfect and incomplete, cannot stand or live in God's presence.

However, a question needs to be asked: Is there a work that man can do or a law that he can keep that will make him perfect? God says, “No!” For everything that an imperfect being does is imperfect and incomplete. An imperfect being cannot do anything perfectly good, and certainly not good enough to make him perfect. An imperfect man is short of God's perfection; therefore, no matter what man does, he is short of what he should be. He could always be better and do better, much better in the world of infinity and perfection.

Hence, man is not saved by works nor by law. If our salvation is dependent upon some work or works that we can do, then we are hopelessly lost. For what work can we do that will make us a perfect and eternal creature? No man can make us perfect and eternal and cause us to live forever in a perfect and righteous world—and we know it. What can any person do to make his loved one live forever—to be perfected and made eternal? There is no work that we can do or law that we can keep to save ourselves from unrighteousness and death. If we are to be justified before God, accepted as perfect and complete, it will not be by the works of the law. (See outline and notes—Ro.4:14-15; 7:1-6; 7:7-13; 7:14; DEEPER STUDY # 1—8:3 for more discussion.)

“Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:19-20).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one” (Job 14:4).

“If thou, LORD, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand?” (Ps.130:3).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

“For there is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not” (Eccl.7:20).

What then is our hope? How can we become justified, made perfect and complete before God? God says there is only one way. Note the middle of the verse:

We must believe “in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ” (v.16).

2. A person is justified by the faith of Christ alone (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16; 2:16 for discussion).

3. No person is ever justified by works nor by law (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Faith vs. Works—Gal.2:16 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:15-16) Justification: (diakioun): to count someone righteous. It means to reckon, to credit, to account, to judge, to treat, to look upon as righteous. It does not mean to make a man righteous. All Greek verbs which end in “oun” mean not to make someone something, but merely to count, to judge, to treat someone as something.

There are three major points to note about justification.

1. Why justification is necessary.

a. Justification is necessary because of the sin and alienation of man. Man has rebelled against God and taken his life into his own hands. Man lives as he desires...

- fulfilling the lust of the eyes and of the flesh.
- clinging to the pride of life and to the things of the world.

Man has become sinful and ungodly, an enemy of God, pushing God out of his life and wanting little if anything to do with God. Man has separated and alienated himself from God.

b. Justification is necessary because of the anger and wrath of God. “God is angry with the wicked every day” (Ps.7:11). Sin has aroused God’s anger and wrath. God is angry over man’s...

- rebellion
- ungodliness
- sin
- hostility
- unrighteousness
- desertion

Man has turned his back upon God, pushing God away and having little to do with Him. Man has not made God the center of his life; man has broken his relationship with God. Therefore, the greatest need in man’s life is to discover the answer to the question: How can the relationship between man and God be restored?

2. Why God justifies a man. God justifies a man because of His Son Jesus Christ. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man’s faith and counts it as righteousness. The man is not righteous, but God considers and credits the man’s faith as righteousness. Why is God willing to do this?

a. God is willing to justify man because He loves man that much. God loves man so much that He sent His Son into the world and sacrificed Him in order to justify man (Jn.3:16; Ro.5:8).

b. God is willing to justify man because of what His Son Jesus Christ has done for man.

⇒ Jesus Christ has secured the Ideal righteousness for man. He came to earth to live a sinless and perfect life. As Man He never broke the law of God; He never went contrary to the will of God, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for the righteousness of every man.

⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to die for man. As the Ideal Man He could take all the sins of the world upon Himself and die for every man. His death could stand for every man. He exchanged places with man by becoming the sinner (2 Cor.5:19). He bore the wrath of God against sin, bearing the condemnation for every man. Again, He was able to do this because He was the Ideal Man, and as the Ideal Man His death could stand for the death of every man.

⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to arise from the dead and thereby to conquer death for man. As the Ideal Man His resurrection and exaltation into the presence of God could stand for every man’s desperate need to conquer death and to be acceptable to God. His resurrected life could stand for the resurrected life of the believer.

Now, as stated above, when a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man’s belief and...

- counts it as the righteousness (perfection) of Christ. The man is counted as righteous in Christ.
- counts it as the death of Christ. The man is counted as having already died in Christ, as having already paid the penalty for sin in the death of Christ.
- counts it as the resurrection of Christ. The man is counted as already having been resurrected in Christ.

Very simply, God loves His Son Jesus Christ so much that He honors any man who honors His Son by believing on Him. He honors the man by taking the man’s faith and counting (crediting) it as righteousness and by giving him the glorious privilege of living with Christ forever in the presence of God.

3. How God justifies a man. The word justify (diakioun) is a legal word taken from the courts. It pictures man on trial before God. Man is seen as having committed the most heinous of crimes; he has rebelled against God and broken his relationship with God. How can he restore that relationship? Within human courts if a man is acquitted, he is declared innocent, but this is not true within the Divine Court. When a man appears before God, he is anything but innocent; he is utterly guilty and condemned accordingly.

But when a man sincerely trusts Christ, then God takes that man’s faith and counts it as righteousness. By such God counts the man—judges him, treats him—as if he was innocent. The man is not made innocent; he is guilty. He knows it and God knows it, but God treats him as innocent. “God justifies the ungodly”—an incredible mercy, a wondrous grace. (See notes—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25; DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—4:22.)

How do we know this? How can we know for sure that God is like this? Because Jesus said so. He said that God loves us. We are sinners, yes; but Christ said that we are very, very dear to God.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you; but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(2:16) Faith vs. Works—Self-Righteousness: Why is it that a man can never be justified nor secure righteousness by works and law? Why is it that a man can never approach God by works and law?

1. There are two ways that a man can try to secure righteousness and approach God.

a. A man can try to work to secure righteousness; he can do all he can to keep the law of God and to please God. But note: a man can do this...

- only if he can keep the law perfectly, never breaking it once and never violating it a single time
- only if he can make sure that every single thing he ever does or thinks is perfectly good and righteous and pure
- only if he can please God in every act, word, and thought, never displeasing God in anything

Only if a man can do this can he secure righteousness by works and law. But what man can be perfect and good and righteous and pure in every single act, word, and thought? It is absolutely impossible to secure righteousness by works and law. A person may try to approach God through works and law, but he can never achieve perfection—not perfect righteousness and holiness without which no man shall ever see God.

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

b. A man can believe that Jesus Christ is God’s gift of righteousness to the world—that God so loved the world...

- that He gave His Son to live a perfect life upon earth in order to secure the Perfect and Ideal Righteousness for man.
- that He gave His Son to take the unrighteousness of man upon Himself and to die for man, that is, to bear the judgment of unrighteousness for man.
- that he gave His Son to arise from the dead for man in order to conquer death and to give man a new and perfect life that is eternal.

A man can believe that God loves him and takes his faith in Christ and counts it as righteousness.

A man can believe that God loves him and accepts him because he honors His Son Jesus Christ—honors Jesus Christ by believing and following Him.

A man can believe that God loves His Son so much that He will take any man who honors His Son and do anything for him. If the man believes in Jesus Christ for righteousness, then God will count the man righteous.

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

2. Note another point: the two ways that men try to approach God are completely different from each other. Faith and works are incompatible. Faith is always the opposite of works.

- ⇒ If a man works to keep the law in order to be righteous, then he can offer to God only self-righteousness, only the righteousness of the works he has done.
- ⇒ If a man trusts the righteousness of Jesus Christ for his righteousness, then he can offer the righteousness of Christ to God. He can come to God in the righteousness of Christ.

God always accepts the righteousness of His Son, Jesus Christ. For any man who truly trusts the righteousness of Christ—who truly gives Christ all he is and has—God accepts that man’s trust as righteousness. The man is not righteous, but God takes his trust in Christ and accepts it as righteousness.

3. Note still another fact: a man who believes God for righteousness approaches God entirely differently than the man who approaches God in his own self-righteousness.

a. The man who approaches God in his own righteousness...

- presents his self-righteousness to God by himself.
- depends upon his own righteousness.
- trust his own righteousness.
- believes in his own righteousness.
- declares that he has the strength and power to make himself righteous and acceptable to God.

b. The man who approaches God in the righteousness of Jesus Christ...

- presents his love and trust in the righteousness of Jesus Christ as his righteousness. (God could never turn down a person who loved and trusted His Son with all his heart.)
- rejects dependence upon himself and depends upon the righteousness of Jesus Christ.
- gives up trusting his own righteousness and trusts the righteousness of Christ.
- no longer believes in his own righteousness, but believes in Christ for righteousness.
- declares that he does not have the power to make himself righteous and acceptable to God; he trusts the power of God to make him righteous and acceptable.

Note what this is saying: a man either believes he has the power to save himself and to keep himself from dying or else he believes that God has the power to save him. A man either trusts his own power for salvation and life or else he trusts God’s power. If he believes that he has the power to save himself, then he works to make himself righteous and to live forever. If he believes that God alone has the power to save him, then he trusts God for righteousness and life.

In conclusion, no one is ever justified by works or by law. We may try to secure righteousness by works and law, but it is always self-righteousness, and self-righteousness always ends up with self: in the grave—dead, having passed the way of all flesh—short of God’s glory, perfection, and disqualified from ever living with God. Self-righteousness is never acceptable to God; works and law can never justify a man and make him perfect.

However, we can secure righteousness by faith. We can trust God as a child trusts his father. We can trust that God loves us enough to count our love and trust for His Son as righteousness.

FAITH IN CHRIST IS GOD'S RIGHTEOUSNESS, THE ONLY RIGHTEOUSNESS THAT MAKES A PERSON ACCEPTABLE TO GOD

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested....even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe” (Ro.3:21-22).

“For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:4).

“...Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

“But of him [God] are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:3).

4. Note one other fact: righteousness by works honors and makes man supreme and preeminent, the center and core of life. Righteousness by faith honors God and makes God supreme and preeminent, the center and core of life. God is the One to be obeyed out of a heart of love, adoration, and appreciation for what He has done (Ro.2:29).

4 (2:17-18) Righteousness—Law—Works: a believer is not misled by Christ. The question is, “Could Christ be making us sinners by our trusting that we are justified by faith in Him alone?” Some argued that Paul was making Christ a minister of sin. Their reasoning went like this: when men turned away from the law and trusted Christ for righteousness, Christ caused them to sin, for Christ made it easy for them to transgress the law. They said that Christ tore down the law, for He led men away from the law. He removed the restraints and barriers of the law; therefore, men became transgressors by rejecting the law.

Paul simply says two things about this argument. First, God forbid! Second, the man who tries to keep the law makes himself a sinner, for it is the law that condemns him (Gal.3:19).

The believer, of course, rejects the righteousness which comes by law, for the law gives him no righteousness. It only shows him where his failures are. The law condemns his conscience and makes him feel miserable and broken. However, the law has its place in the plan of God just as much as faith does (see outline and notes—Ro.3:31; 4:14-15; 7:1-6; 7:7-13; 7:14; DEEPER STUDY # 2—8:3). Very simply, when a man sees what God has done for him, he is driven to please God. The believer sees Christ bearing the guilt and punishment for his crimes (sins) and then bows in love and adoration arising to work in appreciation for such amazing love. The believer tries to be good, not to earn or to win righteousness but to serve God out of appreciation for salvation. He does not try to put God in debt for salvation, but he thanks God for righteousness. He sees that he owes God whatever service he can perform. The genuine believer has come to know above all others that love is a much stronger force than fear. He follows Christ—does all he can to live like Christ—because he loves Christ. He loves Him because Christ has done so much for Him.

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

5 (2:19-21) Believer, Position—Indwelling Presence—Christ, In the Believer: a believer is justified by living for God. A believer lives for God by doing four things.

1. The believer lives for God by dying to the law. The law shows a man that he is a sinner and that he comes ever so short of perfection and righteousness. The law shows man that he is to be punished and separated from the society of God forever. The law shows man that he stands no chance of ever being accepted by God—not if he has to approach God by keeping the law. He just cannot keep the law—not continually, not consistently—for he is always coming short of the law and of God’s glory. The law slays man; it kills him and condemns him to death. The only hope man ever has of being acceptable to God is to die to the law—somehow, some way to be delivered out from under the law—to be removed so far away from the law that it has no bearing upon him. How can man do this? By turning away from the law and finding Someone who can stir God to count him righteous and to accept him. The first thing that a man must do in order to live for God is to die to the law and to self-righteous works.

2. The believer lives for God by being crucified with Christ (v.20). How in the world can a man be crucified with Christ when Christ died so many centuries ago? Scripture tells us how. When a man believes that Jesus Christ died for him—that Jesus Christ bore the punishment of sin for him—God takes that man’s faith and...

- counts his faith as his having died in Christ.
- counts his faith as his identification with Christ in death.
- counts his faith as his having already been punished for sin in the death of Christ.

As Scripture says, the man is “crucified with Christ.” God counts or credits the believer as having already died—as having died with Christ. (See notes—Ro.6:3-5; note 3—Ro.8:1 for more discussion.)

3. The believer lives for God by allowing Christ to live His life through his body. (See outline and notes—Ro.6:1-10; 6:11-13; 6:14-23; 8:1-17.) Now note: the believer is “crucified with Christ,” yet he is still living upon earth. However, he is not to be the one in charge of his life. By faith he has died with Christ; therefore, he is to live with Christ. He is to allow Christ to live in and through his body, to control and to be in charge of his life.

- ⇒ The believer is to be so merged into Christ that it is as though Christ is walking upon the earth in his body.
- ⇒ The believer is to be so much in union and fellowship with Christ that it is as though he is but a branch drawing his very life and nourishment from Christ (cp. the Vine and the branches, Jn.15:1-6).

Thought 1. Jesus Christ (God's Spirit) lives in the body of the believer.

"At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you" (Jn.14:20).

"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me. I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing" (Jn.15:4-5).

"I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me" (Jn.17:23).

"I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me" (Gal.2:20).

"That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God" (Eph.3:17-19).

"To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory" (Col.1:27).

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Rev.3:20).

Thought 2. The believer is to allow Christ to live through his body.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:1-2).

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are" (1 Cor.3:16-17).

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor.6:19-20).

"And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (2 Cor.6:16-18).

4. The believer lives for God by trusting the grace of God, that is, by trusting Jesus Christ who is God's righteousness. The word "frustrate" (atheto) means to set aside, void, invalidate, make ineffective, and nullify. If a man sets aside the grace of God and seeks righteousness by the law, then Christ died in vain. The person who preaches that a man can be good enough—that he can work enough and keep enough law—to become righteous and acceptable to God...

- voids and does away with the love and grace of God.
- makes the death of Christ empty and meaningless.

The only way a man can live for God is by trusting the grace and love of God, that is, by trusting the death of Jesus Christ for His righteousness.

"But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe" (Ro.3:21-22).

"For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth" (Ro.10:3-4).

"But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption" (1 Cor.1:30).

"And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith" (Ph.3:9).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

A. The Proof of a Believer's Experience, 3:1-5

(3:1-4:7) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Justification—Faith vs. Works: this passage begins the major teaching of the Book of Galatians, that a man is justified by faith alone and not by good works nor by law. Of course, a man should be good and do good, be as good as he can be and do as much good as he can. A man should live a moral and just life like the law says. But this is not the point; this is not what Scripture is saying. Scripture is saying that a person is not justified before God by doing good and keeping the law. No man can do enough good nor keep enough laws to become perfect and acceptable before God. God is perfect, and no matter how much good and how much law we keep, we do not become perfect. We are still short: we still fail, sin, age, and die. Good works and law do not perfect us; they do not make us acceptable to God, nor impart to us eternal life. Only God Himself can perfect us, accept us, and give us eternal life. Any thinking and honest person knows that there is nothing—absolutely nothing—on earth that can keep us from coming short and dying. There is absolutely nothing on earth that can give us eternal life in a perfect world where there is nothing but love, joy, and peace. If we are to ever inherit eternal life, then God has to give it to us. (See outlines, notes, and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal. 2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21 for more discussion.)

The point is this: How do we know that God will justify us? How do we know that God will accept us and give us life with Him forever? The answer to this question is the discussion of the present passage. There are six proofs that God will justify us by faith alone, six proofs that God will not justify us by works and law.

1. The proof of a believer's experience (3:1-5).
2. The proof of Scripture (3:6-14).
3. The proof of God's Covenant or promise (3:15-18).
4. The proof of the law's powerlessness (3:19-22).
5. The proof of what faith does for us (3:23-29).
6. The proof of Christ and the fullness of time (4:1-7).

(3:1-5) Introduction: some influential people had joined the churches of Galatia and the churches took pride in their presence. The new members were so capable and the churches were so glad to have them that they were immediately placed in positions of leadership and teaching. However, these new members had not been truly converted by Christ or else their understanding of the gospel was all confused. They began to teach that faith alone was not enough to save a person, that a person had to undergo the basic ritual of religion (circumcision) and focus his life upon the law in order to become acceptable to God.

Paul's answer is direct: the experience of the Galatian believers disproves that a person becomes acceptable to God by law. The believer's experience proves that he is justified by faith alone, and all a believer has to do is to rethink his experience and he will see the truth.

1. A believer corrects error (false teaching) (v.1).
2. A believer receives the Spirit by faith, not by works nor by law (v.2).
3. A believer grows by faith (v.3).
4. A believer suffers by faith (v.4).
5. A believer experiences God's miraculous working by faith and not by works nor by law (v.5).

1 (3:1) Deception: a believer corrects error. There are four reasons why he must do so.

1. Error makes a person "foolish." Note that Paul calls the Galatian believers "foolish Galatians." The word "foolish" (anoetoi) means misunderstanding, thoughtless, and unthinking. The Galatians were listening to false teaching and passively accepting it. They were not thinking through what was being taught. They were lazily sitting and soaking it up. They were not applying their minds to see if what was being taught was true or not. They were foolish, acting like senseless people who were incapable of thinking.

2. Error deceives a person. The word “bewitched” means to fascinate, cast a spell upon, mislead, deceive. The false teachers were, as so many are, very capable, fluent, and persuasive speakers with dynamic personalities and charisma. Their teaching sounded reasonable and logical.

- ⇒ A man must keep the ritual of religion.
- ⇒ A man must do good works to be good.
- ⇒ A man must keep the law in order to be acceptable to God

It all sounded reasonable and logical, especially to a person who was not thinking and comparing the teaching to the gospel of Christ. The error was bewitching, deceiving the believers.

3. Error shows disobedience. The Galatians simply were not obeying the truth. They were trying to become acceptable to God...

- by undergoing the ritual of religion (circumcision, baptism, etc.) instead of trusting the death of Jesus Christ.
- by subjecting themselves and focusing their lives upon the law instead of Christ.

4. Error leads a believer away from Christ. This is tragic, for the true believer is a person who has seen Christ crucified for him. The Galatians had clearly seen the death of Christ through the preaching of Paul. Paul’s preaching had plainly pointed out and explained the death of Christ. In fact, the Lord’s death had been so clearly explained that it was as though the Lord Jesus had been crucified in their presence, before their very eyes. There was, therefore, no excuse for their following false teachers. They knew what Christ had done for them, that Christ had died for them and had taken their sins upon Himself and borne their punishment for them.

They knew that God loved them, that God loved the world...

- that He had sent His Son into the world to die for them.
- that God expected all men to believe in the death of His Son, Jesus Christ.
- that God took their faith and love in His dear Son and accepted them because they believed and loved His Son.

How then could they be so foolish and bewitched and not obey the truth—especially when they had clearly seen and understood the death of Jesus Christ?

2 (3:2) Holy Spirit—Faith vs. Works: a believer receives the Holy Spirit by faith, not by works nor by law. Note that this whole passage is a series of questions. Paul is stirring the Galatians to think. The present question strikes at the very heart of the gospel: How did you begin your Christian life? Did you receive the Holy Spirit by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith?

There is one thing genuine believers know, and the genuine believers in the Galatian churches knew it too: no person earns, wins, or merits the Spirit of God. Man is too polluted and too short of God’s glory to deserve the Spirit of God. His thoughts and behavior are too often...

- |           |            |                 |               |
|-----------|------------|-----------------|---------------|
| • ugly    | • unjust   | • lustful       | • unrighteous |
| • selfish | • negative | • undisciplined | • imperfect   |
| • greedy  | • immoral  | • impure        | • unholy      |

No matter how much good and how much of the law is kept, the believer knows that he did not and cannot eliminate such thoughts and behavior—not fully, not perfectly. Therefore, he did not become a Christian—he did not receive the Holy Spirit—by good works nor by the keeping of laws. He became a Christian and received the Spirit of God by hearing about faith in Christ. He heard the glorious news that Christ had died for him and his sins, and he believed the news. Therefore, God took his faith and counted it for righteousness. The believer knows that he is not righteous, but God counts him righteous because he believes and loves His Son. The believer knows that the Holy Spirit does not dwell in him because of any goodness or work of his own; he knows that he has the Holy Spirit because God counts his faith in Christ as reason enough to put His Spirit into his heart. That is how the believer receives the Spirit of God, and that is how the Galatians received the Spirit of God.

Thought 1. Every person must hear the glorious message of faith. “The hearing of faith” is the only way a person can ever become acceptable to God. A person must hear and believe the report of faith. The message of faith is the gospel of salvation—faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and His death for our sins.

“How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things! But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Esaias saith, Lord, who hath believed our report? So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:14-17).

Thought 2. The Holy Spirit is the gift of God. No man can earn, win, or merit the Spirit of God. God’s Holy Spirit is given by God and by God alone.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

3 (3:3) Growth, Spirit—Maturity—Faith—Flesh: a believer grows and will be perfected only by faith and not by the flesh. Again, note the question: “Having begun your Christian life in the Spirit, are you now maturing and being made perfect by the flesh?”

A believer does not become spiritually mature by focusing upon his flesh, upon what he can do...

- his efforts
- his works
- his goodness
- his discipline
- his morality
- his just behavior

No matter how strong and disciplined his flesh is—no matter how many good deeds and laws he is able to do in his own flesh—the believer’s flesh does not make him grow spiritually. Focusing upon his flesh and upon the strength and work of the flesh only causes the believer to concentrate upon himself. It emphasizes self, not the Spirit—the human and physical, not the spiritual and heavenly.

Note another fact: no matter how many good works are done and no matter how many laws are kept, they cannot make a man perfect; they cannot impart eternal life to a man. There is no man upon earth that is living eternally because of works. There is no law whatsoever that can keep a man alive forever and ever. No matter how many works of the law a man has done in his flesh, he has not achieved perfection—not the holy perfection that makes him acceptable to God. If he is ever to be perfect enough to be acceptable to a Holy God, it will be because God perfects him, not because he has worked and become perfect through his corruptible flesh and human efforts.

As Paul says, “Are you so foolish?” Is God so low that corruptible and dying man can achieve so much? Is man so exalted that he has so little to achieve in order to be perfected? Any thinking and honest heart knows not.

⇒ A man begins his journey to God when he truly believes in Jesus Christ and is “born again”—a spiritual thing.

⇒ A man continues his journey as he is daily renewed by the Holy Spirit—also a spiritual thing.

The only way a believer can spiritually grow and mature is to focus his life and mind upon Jesus Christ. The believer must focus his mind upon the things of Christ moment by moment, and as he does, the Spirit of God will draw his mind to spiritual things. Remember: the Spirit of God lives within the believer. He is there to work within the believer and to help him grow and mature in Christ.

⇒ The believer keeps his mind and thoughts upon Christ, casting down imaginations and making every thought obedient to Christ.

“Casting down imagination, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

⇒ The believer focuses and keeps his mind and thoughts upon being conformed more and more to the image of Christ. He keeps his mind and thoughts upon Christ all day long—praising, honoring, worshipping, and asking for His help and guidance. He learns to live and move and have his being in Christ.

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting [progress, growth] may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

⇒ The believer who focuses his love, attention, and life upon the Lord Jesus Christ is accepted by God. God loves His Son so much that He accepts any person who truly loves and focuses his life upon His Son. And someday—in the glorious day of redemption—God will perfect the believer and conform him perfectly to the image of Christ.

“For our conversation [citizenship, behavior] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

4 (3:4) Faith vs. Works—Suffering: a believer suffers by faith. When the Galatians accepted Christ, they had suffered ridicule, abuse, isolation and persecution from their neighbors; and apparently the persecution had continued for some time (Acts 14:1-7, 19, 22). The point is this: if the Galatians now turned away from Christ to some false teaching, then the suffering they had borne for Christ would be in vain. They would have suffered for nothing. In fact, they would now appear foolish if they turned away from Christ when they had suffered so much in order to embrace Him.

Thought 1. Every believer who truly turns to Christ has some suffering to bear. It may be mild, but some suffering is borne. There are the sufferings of...

- separating from the world.
- denying self.
- taking up the cross-dying to one's own will and way every day.
- giving everything that one has to Christ and His cause (money, time, energy, effort).

The list could go on and on, but the point is clearly seen. If Christ is worth suffering for, why then forsake Him and turn to some false teaching?

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name's sake, shall receive an hundredfold, and shall inherit everlasting life” (Mt.19:29).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it. For what is a man advantaged, if he gain the whole world, and lose himself, or be cast away?” (Lk.9:23-25).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

5 (3:5) Faith vs. Works: a believer experiences God's miraculous working by faith and not by works nor by law. What were the miracles experienced by the Galatians? They were miraculous works of healing (cp. Acts 14:8-15). But note: the miracles were not due to the Galatians; they were due to God. The Galatians did not earn, win, or merit the miracles. They simply heard about faith, the power of faith, and they believed that God would count their faith as the miracle and meet their need. And God did—God worked miracles among them because of the “hearing of faith.” They heard the glorious message of faith in Christ, and they believed in the power of faith in Christ; therefore, God honored their faith and met their need.

Thought 1. What a lesson for us! To believe “the hearing of faith”—the glorious message of faith in Christ and its power—and then to experience that power!

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Lk.11:9).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16. The miracle of regeneration.)

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us [the Holy Spirit, faith]” (Eph.3:20).

“He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him” (Ps.91:15).

“And it shall come to pass, that before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear” (Is.65:24).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

B. The Proof of Scripture, 3:6-14

(3:6-14) Introduction—Scripture—Justification—False Teachers: some false teachers had arisen in the churches of Galatia. They were teaching that a man must focus his life upon the rituals and teachings of religion—upon the works of the law—instead of focusing upon Christ. Simply stated, they were saying that a man had to be ritualized (circumcised, church membership, baptism) and give his life to keeping the law in order to be acceptable to God. They placed ritual and law—their own works and effort—before Jesus Christ.

- ⇒ They focused upon what they had to do instead of Christ.
- ⇒ They concentrated upon themselves—upon what they could do to save themselves and make themselves acceptable to God—not upon Christ and His saving power.
- ⇒ They stressed the flesh, the physical and the natural, the strength of man instead of Gods love given to the world in His Son, Jesus Christ.

The answer of Paul is forceful: Scripture proves that a man is justified by faith and not by works or law.

1. Scripture uses Abraham to illustrate the truth (v.6-7).
2. Scripture “preached the gospel of faith to Abraham” (v.8-9).
3. Scripture says “the law puts a man under the curse” (v.10-12).
4. Scripture says “Christ has redeemed us from the curse” (v.13-14).

1 (3:6-7) Abraham—Justification—Faith—Righteousness: Scripture uses Abraham to illustrate the truth that justification is by faith and faith alone. Abraham held a unique position in the Jewish nation, for he was the founder of the nation. He was the man whom God had challenged to be a witness to the other nations of the world—a witness to the only living and true God. God had appeared to Abraham and challenged him to leave his home, his friends, his employment, and his country. God made two great promises if Abraham would follow God unquestionably: Abraham would become the father of a new nation, and all nations of the earth would be blessed by his seed (Gen.13:14-17; 15:1-7; 17:1-8, 15-19; 22:15-18; 26:2-5, 24; 28:13-15; 35:9-12). (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22.)

Note two points.

1. Abraham believed God; therefore, he was judged righteous. He went out—left his home and risked all—not knowing where he was going (Heb.11:8). He completely and unquestionably trusted God and took God at His word.

Now note: it was not Abraham’s keeping of the law that pleased God. In fact, the law had not yet been given (Gal.3:17). What pleased God and what caused God to justify Abraham was Abraham doing as God had said. Abraham simply believed the promise of God that God would give him a new life—in a new nation—with a new people. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.3:8, notes—Gal.3:16; Heb.11:9-19.)

- a. Abraham and his “seed” were the only ones to whom God gave the promises. This is emphatically stated (Ro.4:13-25; Gal.3:6-16, 26, 29).
- b. Only a promise was given to Abraham (Ro.4:13-21; Gal.3:14, 18-21, 29). No other information whatsoever was given. God did not identify the country nor tell Abraham where he was to go. Neither did God tell Abraham when his wife Sarah would bear the seed (the male child) from whom the promised nation would be born. God made a simple promise, and all Abraham had to go on was that simple promise, that is, the sheer Word of God.
- c. Only one condition was attached to the promise: Abraham had to believe God. No works whatsoever were involved.

- d. Abraham did believe God (Gen.12:4-5; Ro.4:3, 11-22; Gal.3:6; Heb.11:8f).
- e. Abraham was counted righteous because he believed God (Ro.4:3-5, 9-13, 19-22; Gal.3:6; cp. Gen.15:6). God did not count him righteous because of who he was or what he had done. He simply believed God. Therefore, God took his faith and counted his faith as righteousness (see notes—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—4:22; note—5:1).
- f. The proof that Abraham really believed God was that he did what God had said. His faith preceeded his obedience. He believed God and then he obeyed God. If he had not believed God, he would not have left his home or his employment. He would not have left his surroundings and friends, his meaningful relationships and personal attachments. The fact that he did as God asked was evidence that he believed the promise of God.

2. Those who are of faith are the true sons of Abraham. The person who believes God is the person who receives the promises of God (Ro.4:5-12, 16-17, 23-25; Gal.3:7-9, 14, 22, 26, 29). Paul argues that neither heritage nor nationality, neither merit nor works, neither the law nor the rules of the law have anything to do with the promises of God (Gal.3:6-7). The true sons of Abraham are those who believe God—any person of any nation. In fact, God’s promise that a nation would be born to Abraham and “his seed” was the promise of an eternal nation. This eternal nation is to be of another world, of another dimension of being: the spiritual dimension, a dimension just as real as the physical dimension. But it is to have one distinction: every citizen is to be a believer—one who has believed God and His Word. This is exactly what this passage is saying: “They who believe are the children of Abraham, the children of God’s promise. They are to be blessed along with faithful Abraham. They are to be the citizens of God’s Kingdom, ‘the new heavens and the new earth.’” (Cp. Heb.11:8-18; 2 Pt.3:10-14.)

2 (3:8-9) Scripture—Justification—Faith: Scripture “preached the gospel of faith to Abraham.” To Paul, Scripture was the Word of God, the very voice of God Himself. Therefore, Paul could just as easily say that Scripture spoke to Abraham as he could that God spoke to Abraham. (Note Paul’s high view of Scripture, a strong rebuke to many.)

1. Scripture declared the gospel of faith long before Christ ever came: Scripture declared the gospel to Abraham. As stated in the former note, God told Abraham that He would accept him and bless him if Abraham would believe (love and follow) the promise of God. What was the promise?

“In thee shall all nations be blessed.”

Abraham believed God; he separated himself from the world and gave his life totally to God; therefore, God accepted and judged Abraham righteous.

2. Those who are of faith are judged righteous with Abraham. Abraham was justified by believing God. What happened was this. Abraham believed God, and God took Abraham’s belief and counted his belief as righteousness. It was not Abraham’s works, but his faith that God took and counted as righteousness. It was all an act of God; therefore, all glory belonged to God, not to Abraham. Man is saved by faith; in other words, God takes a man’s faith and counts that man’s faith as righteousness. This has to be the case:

- ⇒ God is perfect; He is perfectly righteous. No man can achieve perfection; therefore, no man can live in the presence of God.
- ⇒ God is love; therefore, what God does is take a person’s faith and counts that faith as righteousness and perfection. Therefore, a man is able to live in God’s presence by faith or justification

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:8, 16) Abraham: the Scripture...preached the gospel to Abraham (Gal.3:8). What does this mean?

God had promised Abraham an earthly son and a great earthly nation. But behind God’s promise lay something more than just an earthly, human fulfillment. Abraham’s son, Isaac, was a type of the real seed that was to come, and the Jewish nation was a type of the real nation that was to be born. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25; notes—9:7-13; Heb.11:9-19.)

Paul gives at least two proofs for this typology.

1. The word “seed” is singular, not plural (Gal.3:16). God’s promise does not point to a great crowd of people, but to one single person. That person is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the fulfillment of the promise to Abraham. And the nation promised is the new nation of believers that God is creating to inherit the new heavens and earth (see notes—Gal.3:16; Eph.1:9-10; 2:11-18; 3:6; 4:17-19).

2. The major events of Isaac’s life parallel the life of Christ.

- ⇒ First, Isaac was miraculously born (Gen.15:2-3; 18:11; cp. Ro.4:18-22; Heb.11:11).
- ⇒ Second, Isaac was to be offered up as a sacrifice (Gen.22). Abraham was willing to offer up Isaac, and God accepted his willingness and motive as an actual fact. The word of Heb.11:17 tells us this: “by faith Abraham...[who] received the promise offered up his only begotten son.”

⇒ Third, Isaac was delivered from death by a miracle of God (Gen.22:10-13). Abraham knew that God was able to raise up Isaac from the dead, in order to fulfil His promise, if need be (Heb.11:19).

3 (3:10-12) Law—Faith: Scripture says that “the law puts a man under the curse.” Note a critical point: in this verse the word “curse” (kataran) means to be condemned and doomed to punishment by the righteous judgment of God. How do we know this? By verse 13 where it is said that Christ bore the curse of the law for us (the condemnation, doom, death, and punishment due us for having broken the law). The law carries with it a curse. A person either keeps the law or else he is cursed; that is, he is to stand before the Judge and bear the punishment of a lawbreaker. The curse (penalty or punishment) for violating the law is...

- the mark of death (2 Cor.3:7).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions [energy] of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

- the mark of condemnation (2 Cor.3:9).

“And the commandment, which was ordained to life, I found to be unto death. For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me” (Ro.7:10-11).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Ro.9:27).

Why does the law put a curse upon men? There are two clear reasons.

1. The man who approaches God by law is cursed because he does not keep the whole law. Note a crucial fact: there is a righteousness that is of the law (Ro.10:5; Gal.3:12). That righteousness promises life to any man who can obey the law perfectly. If a man can meet every requirement of the law during his lifetime and never once fall below God’s holy standard, then that man can escape the penalty for sin, which is death. However, every thinking and honest man knows that he cannot keep the law of God in every single detail—not all the time. He knows that he sometimes comes short in...

- behavior
- motive
- service
- emotions
- worship

Every thinking and honest person knows that he is nowhere close to being perfect nor to attaining perfection. He knows that he fails and comes short too often. He knows that what this verse says is exactly true: no man can continue in and do all things which are written in the law of God.

“For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them” (Ro.10:5).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them....the man that doeth them shall live in them” (Gal.3:10, 12).

2. God’s chosen way for approaching Him is to “live by faith.” Scripture declares as clearly as it can: no man is justified by the law in the sight of God. As stated above, God is perfect; He is perfectly righteous. No man can achieve perfection; therefore, no man can live in the presence of God. No matter how good he is or how much good he does, he cannot achieve perfection. The fact is evident, for if a man had achieved perfection, he would be perfect—living forever in a perfect state of being, even on this earth.

But note this: God is love. So what God does is take a person’s faith and count that faith as righteousness, as perfection. Therefore, a man is able to live in God’s presence by faith or justification. The point is this: God’s way for a man to approach Him is the way of faith: “The just shall live by faith.”

Note also that the law is not of faith, but any man who attempts to live by the law will be allowed to so live. But the man must realize: he shall be judged by the law.

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(3:10) Law, The: Chapter 3 gives an excellent study of the law.

1. The law carries with it a curse (Gal.3:10). The curse is the mark of death and the mark of condemnation or guilt: alienation from God both in this life and throughout all eternity (cp. Dt.27:1f; 28:15; Ro.6:23; 2 Cor.3:7, 9).

2. There is a righteousness which is of the law (Ro.10:5-10; Gal.3:12). That righteousness promises life to any man who can obey the law perfectly. If a man can meet every requirement of the law during his lifetime and never once fall below God’s holy standard, then that man can escape the penalty of sin which is death.

3. Jesus Christ delivers man from the curse of the law (Gal.3:13). What does this mean? Jesus Christ kept the law in every single detail. Therefore, He bore no guilt; and He bore no penalty, no mark of death. He had the right to stand before God and claim eternal life, the right to never experience death. He was perfect; He had secured incorruptible righteousness. The glorious gospel is that instead of claiming this right for Himself, He offered to give His perfection and righteousness to the people of the earth and to take their sins upon Himself. He offered to swap His righteousness for man's unrighteousness, to swap His life for man's life. This glorious expression of substitutionary love was the very purpose for which God had created the earth. God willed to show His great and unsearchable love that gave itself so perfectly (Eph.1:5f). The great tragedy is that man has so much difficulty accepting so great a love (1 Cor.1:18).

It also means another thing. Jesus Christ accomplishes the same purpose that God intended for the law, except much more. He not only sets the same ideals and standards before us, but He also relates Himself to us. Whereas the law is a set of cold letters with no power to give life (Gal.3:21), Jesus Christ is a living person possessing the power to raise the dead to life again. He sets the standards and gives the power to keep the standards. He has replaced the law in showing men the awfulness of their sin (through His death), and He adds the extra dimension of strength to live as He lived (Gal.5:22f; Eph.1:19f; 3:20).

4. The law was only meant to be a temporary arrangement between God and man (Gal.3:16). It was to extend only from Moses to Jesus Christ, for Jesus Christ is "the seed" to whom the promise of righteousness was given (see note—Mt.5:17). God never intended the law to be the way of salvation. It was for the temporary purpose of showing men their sin and its awfulness. Since Jesus Christ has come, He (His perfect life and righteousness) is to be the standard for men.

5. The law was given to show men their sin and to instill within them a personal guilt for disobeying God and His law (Ro.3:19-20; 7:7; Gal.3:19). This guilt was to lead men to seek and trust God for salvation. Thus, the law stops every mouth from claiming self-righteousness and makes all the world guilty before God.

6. The law is inferior to God's promise of grace (Gal.3:19c-20). Three arguments show this.

- ⇒ First, the law was not given directly by God. The law was given by angels to men through Moses. Moses was a mediator. But God and God alone gave the promise of grace and righteousness to Abraham.
- ⇒ Second, the law was between two parties—man and God. If man kept the law, he would receive the reward of righteousness. The gift of righteousness was conditional under the law. But the promise of grace is given by God alone. No one can break that promise. If man simply believes, he receives the promise of righteousness.
- ⇒ Third, the giving of the law came after the promise to Abraham—four hundred and thirty years after. The promise of grace was given first before the law. Therefore, the law cannot void the promise. The promise of God stands.

7. The law has no power to give life (Gal.3:21). The law demands that each commandment be kept and obeyed. But it is mere words, cold and lifeless. It is entirely external to man; it sets outside the being of man. It has no energy whatever to help in keeping the law.

8. The Scripture is conclusive: all men are lawbreakers and under sin (Gal.3:22).

9. The believer is no longer under the law, but under grace (Ro.6:14; 7:4; Gal.3:22). Man is unable to participate in the righteousness of the law, for he is totally incapable of fulfilling the law. But he can experience the grace of God by trusting the righteousness which Jesus Christ has secured. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ judges that man righteous. That man becomes a "partaker of the divine nature of God" (2 Pt.1:4).

10. The law shuts man up under sin (Gal.3:23). Man is a permanent prisoner under the law. Under the law he is put in bondage and held captive all the days of his life. The only avenue of escape is Jesus Christ, that is, faith in Him. If Christ fails to deliver, then there is no escape, for the law does not free man; it enslaves.

11. The law was man's guardian to lead him to see his need for Christ (Gal.3:24). The schoolmaster (paidagogos) was usually a trusted slave who was in charge of a child's moral welfare, but he had one particular duty to which Paul was referring. Every day the guardian took the child to school and delivered him to the teacher. And then at the end of the day, he returned for the child and brought him safely back home. This was what the law was to do. The law was to lead man to Christ, the true Teacher. The law does this by showing man that he cannot secure righteousness by himself. He must look to Christ, the real Teacher, for righteousness and acceptance by God. And once faith in Christ has come, there is no need for the law nor for any other guardian, for Jesus Christ brings us face to face with God.

12. The law is still in force for the unbeliever (1 Tim.1:8-14). It remains in force to condemn and to lead the unbeliever to see his need for God.

13. Men were not always transgressors (Ro.4:15; 5:20). There is no transgression where there is no law, for there is no law to transgress. But men were still sinners before the law was given to Moses. They were just not as aware of their sin nor did they sense as much guilt as was necessary to show their need for God. For that reason the law was given, that men might be more and more aware that they were sinners before God (see note—Ro.5:19-21).

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(3:11) Justification—Faith: this verse is used three times in the new Testament. A different point is emphasized each time it is used. It tells how a man can be just with God (cp. Hab.2:3-4).

1. "The just shall live by faith" (Ro.1:17). Who can live by faith? Only the just. People make two claims to justification. The man who says, "I am justified by doing the best I can" is simply saying that he expects God to excuse his sin. But God does not excuse sin; God forgives sin. Excusing sin is nothing more than license—allowing man to go on living as he wishes and always coming up short. Therefore, a man is not justified by doing the best he can—by living after the law. He is justified by faith, by trusting God to forgive him. Once a man has really trusted God, he is just. And the just then begins to live by faith. The former man, whether a legalist or a man of fleshly indulgence, has no opportunity to live by faith. Why? Simply because he never started the life of faith. It is the just, not the legalist or the man of sinful indulgence, who lives by faith.

2. "The just shall live by faith" (Gal.3:11). By what rule does a person live? By the principle of faith, not by the principle of works. The person declared just by faith shall live apart from works. The believer is saved by faith, and the believer lives by faith (Gal.3:11).

3. "The just shall live by faith" (Heb.10:38). By what power does a person live? By the power that is given us by God because of faith. The Christian believes God, believes in the promises God has made. Therefore, the believer does what God says. The power of faith energizes him to live a just life. Works have nothing to do with making him just nor with keeping him just.

4 (3:13-14) Jesus Christ, Death—Redemption—Curse: Scripture says that "Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law." The word "redeemed" (exegorasen) means to buy back or to buy from or to ransom. Christ has bought man back and ransomed him from the curse of the law. That man has broken the law of God is unquestionable; every honest man knows this. Therefore, every man stands guilty before God and must be judged and condemned to bear the curse and punishment of the law. But this is the glorious news: Jesus Christ has redeemed us from the curse of the law. How?

1. Jesus Christ was made a curse for us. Simply stated, Jesus Christ took our condemnation, doom, death, and punishment upon Himself and bore them all for us. Jesus Christ took our place as the lawbreaker and guilty party before God, and He bore the punishment of the lawbreaker for us. How was this possible?

⇒ Because Jesus Christ had obeyed and kept the law of God perfectly. He had never broken the law, not even once. He was sinless and perfect. He had secured the Ideal Righteousness and Perfection before God. Therefore, He bore no guilt, no penalty, and no mark of death. He had the right to stand before God and claim eternal life, the right to be accepted by God and to never experience death. He was perfect; He had secured incorruptible righteousness.

⇒ Because God is love. The glorious gospel is that instead of claiming the right to live in God's presence, Christ determined to give His perfection and righteousness to the people of the earth, and to take their sin upon Himself. He was determined to swap His ideal righteousness for man's unrighteousness, to swap His ideal life for man's sinful life.

Stated as simply as possible, Jesus Christ substituted Himself, His perfect life, for man's sinful life. He substituted His obedience to God for man's disobedience. He bore man's sin and punishment so that man might stand righteous and perfect before God. Jesus Christ bore the curse of the law for us. (See notes—Gal.1:4-5; 1:6-9; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21 for more discussion. Also cp. all the notes in Romans dealing with the subjects of Justification and Law.)

Note the Old Testament quotation: "Cursed is everyone that hangs on a tree" (Dt.21:23). This does not mean that a man is cursed because he is executed upon a tree, but rather that a man who is executed upon a tree is there because he is cursed, having been judged as a lawbreaker. Jesus Christ took the sins of man, taking the place of the transgressor; therefore, He was cursed (condemned) to die as the unlawful and disobedient sinner died.

2. The purpose for Jesus Christ bearing the curse of the law was to open the door of blessing to all men. Christ bearing the curse of the law was the way God fulfilled His promise to Abraham: that all nations would be blessed in him. Christ bearing the curse of the law is also the way that God gives the promises made to Abraham to the world. Any man who believes in Jesus Christ—that Christ bore the curse of the law for him—is accepted by God and given the blessings of the promised land eternally.

In summary, the man who believes in Christ receives the promise of God's Holy Spirit, that is, the promise...

- of the divine nature.

"Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust" (2 Pt.1:4).

- of the new birth.

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (Jn.3:3-6).

"Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever" (1 Pt.1:23).

- of being made a new creature.

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Cor.5:17).

- of being made into a new man.

"And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph.4:24).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

C. The Proof of God's Covenant and Promise, 3:15-18

(3:15-18) Introduction: some teachers in the Galatian churches were teaching a false doctrine, a very dangerous doctrine. They were saying that a person was not saved by the grace of God through faith alone; a man had to keep the rituals of the church and focus his life upon the law and upon doing all the good works he could possibly do. Very simply stated, if a man wanted to be acceptable to God, he had to be the very best person he could, be as religious as he could, and keep all the laws of God that he could.

This, of course, is totally wrong. A person is justified by faith alone; he is not justified by being religious, by doing good, and by keeping the law. Religion, good works, and the law all have their place in the plan of God and in the life of man. But man is not saved and made acceptable to God by his own effort. Man cannot earn, win, or merit God's acceptance; for no matter how good and disciplined man may become, he is still short of God's glory which is perfection. Despite all of man's goodness and achievements, man is still too often polluted with...

- selfishness
- injustice
- transgression
- pride
- lack of love
- envy
- anger
- bitterness
- unkindness
- favoritism
- lust
- evil thoughts
- immorality
- prejudice
- impatience
- being puffed up
- anger
- hatred
- failure to hope
- greed
- trespasses
- aloofness
- failure to honor God
- failure to worship
- unbecoming behavior
- being easily provoked
- failure to endure
- failure to pray

The list could go on and on. The point is that no matter how good we are, we are all guilty of so much so often—we are short of God's glory, ever so short of perfection. Our goodness just cannot earn or merit acceptance with God. If God is going to accept us, it will be because we believe Him, truly believe that He will accept us and that He loves us enough to honor that belief. If God does not love us enough to accept our faith in Him, then we are hopelessly lost forever. Faith in Him—in His love and in His promise—is our only hope for salvation and acceptance by God.

This is the point of the present passage. God's covenant and promise to Abraham proves that justification is by faith and not by works of the law.

1. The illustration of a covenant (v.15).
2. God made His covenant with Abraham and his seed (v.16).
3. God gave His covenant of faith before He gave the law (v.17).
4. God gave His covenant or inheritance (righteousness) by promise—not by law (v.18).

1 (3:15) Covenant—God, Promises: there is the illustration of a covenant between men. (See note, Covenant—2 Cor.3:6; Cp. Ro.9:4.) A covenant (diatheke) is an agreement made between two parties, a special relationship set up and established by two or more persons. The point is that once a covenant has been made and executed, it stands: it cannot be annulled or added to. By law the promises of the covenant are sealed; both parties are bound to keep their word, their promise.

2 (3:16) Covenant—Testament—Seed, The—Abraham—God, Promises: How do we know that a person is justified by faith alone? Because God made His covenant with Abraham and his seed. Note that the promise was not given to Abraham alone, but it was also given to the seed, the descendants and offspring of Abraham. The promise or covenant with Abraham is covered in the Book of Genesis:

“And I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee, and to thy seed after thee. And I will give unto thee, and to thy seed after thee, the land wherein thou art a stranger, all the land of Canaan, for an everlasting possession; and I will be their God” (Gen.17:7-8. See note, Abraham—Gal.3:6-7 for more discussion.)

GALATIANS 3:15-18

The important question is: Who is meant by the seed of Abraham? Scripture declares that it is Jesus Christ. The word “seed” is singular, not plural. Therefore, God’s promise points to one single person, and that person is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is...

- the seed promised to Abraham.
- the seed who is to receive the promises made to Abraham. This is a phenomenal truth, and it means three significant things.

1. It means that the promises made to Abraham have passed down to Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the descendent who is to inherit the promised land, the land of Canaan for an everlasting possession. Canaan, of course, is a type of heaven and of the new heavens and earth which God has promised to recreate (see note, The Promise—Ro.4:13 for more discussion). The point is that Jesus Christ is to inherit the world and be exalted as the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, ruling and reigning forever and ever.

2. It means that believers, too, shall inherit the world and reign with Christ through all eternity. Abraham was promised that he would be the father of many nations or of many children, and believers are those children.

“Blessed are the meek [the humble, trusting, believing]: for they shall inherit the earth” (Mt.5:5)

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed” (Gal.3:29).

3. It means that faith is the way men become justified and acceptable to God.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“Therefore it [the promise] is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham; who is the father of us all” (Ro.4:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness. Know ye therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham” (Gal.3:6-7).

“So then they which be of faith are blessed with faithful Abraham” (Gal.3:9).

In summary Abraham believed God, and because he believed, God kept His covenant and promise.

⇒ Abraham has been given a seed, a descendent who has blessed the whole world, that is, Jesus Christ.

⇒ Abraham has also been given nations of people who are heirs of his and of Christ. And there is only one condition to receiving the inheritance: believing God, that is, following in the “steps of that faith of our father Abraham” (Ro.4:12).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“To him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness” (Ro.4:5).

“The promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not...through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

⇒ He, Christ, and his descendents are to receive the promised land—a new heavens and earth that will be perfected eternally.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith. For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect” (Ro.4:13-14).

“By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:8-10).

“...These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country...But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-14, 16).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son” (Rev.21:1-7).

3 (3:17) Covenant—Law: How do we know that a person is justified by faith alone? Because God gave His covenant of faith before He gave the law. The covenant of faith preceded the covenant of law. The law of God did not even appear upon the scene until four hundred and thirty years later. Note two significant things.

1. When the law was given, the promise to Abraham had not yet been fulfilled; therefore, the law could not void or change the covenant of faith with Abraham. The promises of God to Abraham and his descendent, Jesus Christ, still stood. As Lehman Strauss points out:

⇒ The covenant of faith finds its roots in eternity past.

“For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ” (Jn.1:17).

⇒ Since Jesus Christ, who is eternal, existed before Abraham, the covenant of faith was given to Christ even before it was given to Abraham (Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians, p.45).

2. The covenant made with Abraham told man how he was to follow God and receive the promises of God, that is, by faith. Therefore, when the law was given, it must have been given for a different purpose entirely. It could not have been given to show men how to follow God, for that truth was already established in the covenant of faith given to Abraham.

The point is clear: no man is justified by the law, that is, by self-effort and works, trying to become good and righteous through obeying the law. That was not the purpose of the law. A person is justified by faith and by faith alone. (See outlines and notes—Gal.3:19-22; Ro.3:19-20; 7:7-13 for the purposes of the law.)

Thought 1. God’s covenant of faith or of grace is sure. It cannot be revoked or changed. Believers shall inherit the promises made to Abraham and Christ.

“Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away” (Lk.21:33).

“Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham; who is the father of us all” (Ro.4:16).

“For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, he swore by himself....For men verily swear by the greater: and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all strife. Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath: that by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:13, 16-18. The promise and the oath of God are the two immutable things which guarantee the promise.)

4 (3:18) Covenant—Law—Inheritance: How do we know that a person is justified by faith alone? Because God gave His covenant or inheritance by promise, not by law.

William Barclay sums up this passage in a most descriptive way.

“Again and again Paul comes back to the same point. The whole problem of human life is to get into a right relationship with God. So long as we are afraid of God, so long as God is a grim stranger, there can be no peace in life. How can we achieve this right relationship? Shall we try to achieve it by a meticulous and even self-torturing obedience to the law, by performing endless deeds, by observing every smallest regulation the law lays down? If we take that way we are forever in default, for man’s imperfection can never fully satisfy the perfection of God; we are forever frustrated, forever climbing up a hill in which the peak never comes in sight, forever under condemnation; but if we simply abandon this hopeless struggle and bring ourselves and our sin to God, then the grace of God opens its arms to us and we are at peace with a God who is no longer judge but father. Paul’s whole argument is that that is what happened to Abraham; it was on that basis that God’s covenant with Abraham was made. And nothing that came in later can change that covenant any more than anything can alter a will that has already been ratified and signed.” (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1954, p.30.)

GALATIANS 3:15-18

The inheritance given to Abraham is that of righteousness, of being accepted by God and given the privilege of living forever with Him in the new heavens and earth. The inheritance was not given to Abraham by law. Abraham could not earn, win, or merit it; but as Scripture declares: "God gave it [the inheritance] to Abraham by promise."

Thought 1. The same promise is given to believers, that is, to all those who walk in the faith of Abraham: the promise of being counted righteous and acceptable to God, and of being given the privilege of living forever in the new heavens and earth.

"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you" (Jn.14:1-2).

"For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith" (Ro.4:13).

"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Ro.8:16-17).

"And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise" (Gal.3:29).

"That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Tit.3:7).

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Pt.1:3-4).

"But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Pt.3:10-13).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

D. The Proof of the Law's Powerlessness, 3:19-22

(3:19-22) Introduction: there were some teachers in the Galatian churches who were teaching that a person is justified, that is, acceptable to God because...

- he does the very best he can: he honestly tries to obey the law of God and to do as much good as he can.
- he practices religion: he keeps the rituals, ceremonies, and rules of the church.
- he has submitted to the basic ritual of the church (circumcision, church membership, baptism, or whatever).

All of these are important: everyone should be faithful in obeying the law, in practicing religion, and in being baptized. However, Scripture is abundantly clear: these are not the things that actually justify a person. Jesus Christ alone justifies a person. Man can do nothing whatsoever—exert no energy, no effort, no work—to make himself acceptable to God. A person is acceptable and justified before God only when he believes, truly believes in God's Son, Jesus Christ. There are many people...

- who exert all kinds of energy and effort in keeping the law and doing the best they can, but they do not believe in Jesus Christ.
- who practice religion, but they do not believe in Jesus Christ.
- who have been circumcised and baptized, but they do not believe in Jesus Christ.

The raw energy—the fundamental act—that saves a person is faith in Jesus Christ, true faith in God's very own Son. When a person truly believes in God's Son, God takes that person's belief and counts his belief as righteousness. God accepts that person because he honors God's Son—honors Jesus Christ by entrusting and giving all he is and has into His keeping.

Since this is so, why then did God give the law to man? If we are not saved and justified by obeying the law of God and doing the best we can, what is the purpose of the law? This is the discussion of this passage: to show that the law is powerless in saving a man. And the powerlessness of the law actually proves that a person is justified or made acceptable to God by faith.

1. The law was given to reveal sin—to make men more aware of their sins (v.19).
2. The law was temporary (v.19).
3. The law was not given by God, but through a mediator; therefore, it is inferior (v.19-20).
4. The law has no power to give life (v.21).
5. The law imprisons all men under sin (v.22).

1 (3:19) Law, Purpose: How do we know that the law does not justify or make a person acceptable to God? Because the law was given to reveal sin—to make people more aware of their sins. Note the crucial fact: the law was not given to make men righteous, but...

- to make men aware of their sin and condemnation.
- to show men that they are short of God's glory.
- to stir men to pay attention to the fact that they are sinners.
- to stop every mouth from boasting and claiming self-righteousness.
- to awaken men to their crying need for God's help.
- to plant in man's mind that he desperately needs God to save him from sin and death.
- to arouse every mouth to confess its need for a Savior from sin and its punishment (death).

"Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin" (Ro.3:20).

"Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound" (Ro.5:20).

"What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet" (Ro.7:7).

"Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made" (Gal.3:19).

"Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal.3:24).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

2 (3:19) Law: How do we know that the law does not justify or make a person acceptable to God? Because the law was temporary. It had a certain course to run and when it was run, it was to be set aside. To say that the law was temporary frightens some believers, for they fear that such a teaching makes way for loose living. Nothing could be further from the truth. Note what Scripture says:

“[The law] was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come” (Gal.3:19).

When Jesus Christ came, the law was to be set aside. The law was meant to have only a temporary purpose and life span. It was to extend only from Moses to Jesus Christ, for Jesus Christ is “the seed” to whom the promise of righteousness was given (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:17-18 for full discussion). God never intended the law to be the way of salvation. It was only for the temporary purpose of showing men their sin and its awfulness.

⇒ However, note: since Jesus Christ has come, He (His perfect life and righteousness) is to be the standard for men. Jesus Christ fulfilled the law; that is, in Jesus Christ God gave man more than just mere words to describe how He wants man to live. He gave man the Life, the Person who perfectly pictures and demonstrates the law before the world’s very eyes. Jesus Christ is the Picture, the Living Example, the Pattern, and the Demonstration of life as it is to be lived. He is the Perfect Picture of God’s will, the Ideal Man, the Representative Man, the Pattern for all men.

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps: who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth: who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when he suffered, he threatened not; but committed himself to him that judgeth righteously” (1 Pt.2:21-23).

Now note: since the law was meant to be temporary until Christ came, does that mean that the law has no value for men today? Could we just cut the law out of our Bibles and be just as well off? No, a thousand times no! Jesus Christ fulfilled the law; therefore, He embodies the law. True, He embodies much more than the law, but He does embody the law. The law and its righteousness is part of His nature. Therefore, when a man looks at Jesus Christ, he sees the perfection of His nature, and that perfection includes the righteousness of the law. To cut the law out of our Bibles would be to erase part of our understanding of Jesus Christ and part of His very nature.

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law” (Gal.5:16-18).

“For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people” (Heb.8:10).

“Whereof the Holy Ghost also is a witness to us: for after that he had said before, This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, saith the Lord, I will put my laws into their hearts, and in their minds will I write them; and their sins and iniquities will I remember no more” (Heb.10:15-17).

Note another point as well: the law is still in force for the unbelieving world. Why? Because all unbelievers who have not trusted Jesus Christ are trusting their own righteousness to make them acceptable to God. They are still trying to become righteous by the law. Therefore, God shall judge them by the law.

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

Matthew Henry points out another fact that should be noted: the law can still be used to convince men of sin and to restrain them from living loose and evil lives (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.661).

3 (3:19-20) Law—Mediator: How do we know that the law does not justify or make a person acceptable to God? Because the law was not given directly by God, but through a mediator; therefore, it is inferior. Two arguments show this.

1. The law was not given directly by God. The law came from God, but it was given by angels to Moses and then to man. Moses stood as a mediator between God and man in the giving of the law; therefore, the law came to man as a second-hand thing. But not the promise of God. God Himself gave the promise of grace and righteousness (that is, His acceptance and eternal life or the promised land). Abraham received the promise of God directly from God. Therefore, the promise of God is bound to be superior to the law, for it involves more of a personal contact (relationship) with God.

2. The law was between two parties—man and God. In the covenant of law, man and God both had responsibilities or work to do. Man had to keep the law, and if he did, God would act and reward him with the gift of righteousness. The gift of righteousness was conditional under the law.

However, the promise of righteousness or grace was given by God alone. No one could break that promise. If man (Abraham) simply believed God's promise, he received the promise of righteousness and grace.

4 (3:21) Law: How do we know that the law does not justify or make a person acceptable to God? Because the law has no power to give life.

1. The law is only words and rules. It can only inject the idea of behavior into the mind of a person. It can only demand—demand that each precept be kept and obeyed. The law is mere words, cold and lifeless. It is entirely external to man, outside the body of man. It has no spirit, no life, no power to enable a person to do the law. It cannot help man to any degree whatsoever as he tries to keep the law. The law demands obedience, but it leaves man entirely on his own as he struggles to obey.

2. The law cannot give life to man. It is not a living being with the power to give life. If it was, then righteousness would have come by law. But, as stated, the law has no life and it has no power. It is mere writing, mere words and rules. However, this is not true of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is both a Person and life. Therefore, He is able to put spirit and life to the words and rules of the law. He is able to live the life described by the words and rules. As such, He is able to inject both the idea and the power to behave into a person's mind and life. It is now His life that sets the standard and the rule for the believer; it is His spirit and life that gives the believer power to obey.

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin. But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:20-22).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

5 (3:22) Law—Promise: How do we know that the law does not justify or make a person acceptable to God? Because the law imprisons all men under sin. Note several significant facts.

1. “The Scripture” refers to the law. The law of God, or the Scripture, is conclusive: all men are lawbreakers—all men are under sin.

2. “Under sin” (hupo hamartian) means to be shut up as a prisoner in the solitary hopeless depths or solitary confinement of a dungeon.

“What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have before proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin; as it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one: there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good, no, not one. Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips: whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness: their feet are swift to shed blood: destruction and misery are in their ways: and the way of peace have they not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes. Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God. Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:9-20).

“For God hath concluded them all in unbelief, that he might have mercy upon all” (Ro.11:32).

3. The great purpose of the law is stated again: to drive men to seek the promise of Jesus Christ, that is, righteousness by faith. When men look at the law and see that they are sinners, they are driven to seek a Savior, even Jesus Christ. Man can seek and trust the righteousness which Jesus Christ has secured. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, Jesus Christ judges that man righteous, and that man becomes a “partaker of the divine nature of God” (2 Pt. 1:4).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

E. The Proof of What Faith Does for Us, 3:23-29

(3:23-29) Introduction: some in the churches of Galatia were spreading a false teaching. They were saying that a person is justified by works and law; that is, that a person becomes acceptable to God by subjecting himself to Christ, but he must also subject himself to the law and do the very best he can. Christ is important, yes, but a commitment to live by the law—a commitment to do the very best one can—is also essential in order to be saved and acceptable to God.

The false teaching sounds good, for a person not only should, but he must, do the best he can. Actually a person should not only do the best he can in seeking God, but in everything he undertakes. However, Scripture is very clear: man is not justified by being good and doing good. Man just cannot be good enough nor do enough good to become perfect. God is perfect; therefore, man must become perfect if he is to live with God.

How then can a person become acceptable to God? By faith in Jesus Christ. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, he honors God's Son, and God honors the person who honors His Son. God honors the person by doing the very thing the person believes. Therefore, when a person honors God's Son by believing in Him, God honors the person by doing the very thing for which the person trusted Christ. God counts the person righteous, credits his faith as righteousness. Note, however: belief does not mean mental assent, just believing in one's thoughts and mind that Jesus Christ is the Savior. True belief is spiritual commitment, the commitment of one's heart and life—all that one is and all that one has to Christ.

How do we know that we are justified by faith, and not by the law and doing the best we can? Because of what faith does for us.

1. Two pictures of the law (v.23-25).
2. Faith makes us children of God (v.26-27).
3. Faith in Christ makes us one: eliminates all distinctions and prejudices (v.28).
4. Faith in Christ makes us heirs of the promise (v.29).

1 (3:23-25) Law, The—Schoolmaster: there are two pictures which clearly illustrate the purpose of the law.

1. The law was a prison for man. Before faith came, that is, before Christ died, man was "kept under the law." The word for "kept under" (ephrouroumetha) means to be guarded, kept in custody, imprisoned, held in bondage. Very simply, the law shuts man up under sin; it imprisons and holds man in bondage to sin. How?

- a. The law shows man exactly where he fails—exactly where he comes short. There is no question about it: the law said to do this, but the man did that. He did not do this. The failure is clearly spelled out, just as clearly as a speed limit sign spells out the violation of the speeder.
- b. The law accuses and condemns man. As soon as a person violates the law, the law charges him. The law is in black and white, written down, so there is no question about it having been broken. Therefore, it preys upon his mind, cuts and convicts his heart. Guilt and conviction take over and the man is troubled and vexed to varying degrees, all dependent on the seriousness of the violation.
- c. The law has no life and no power to deliver man from the punishment due him for his violation. This is the whole point: the law reveals the violation and condemns man; it imprisons him. The law does not deliver man; it condemns man to bondage. It continues and continues to point out man's sins and failures. And the case of the law is endless: its finger of accusation points out the man's failure everytime he violates it. The bondage to the law is perpetual.

The only hope for man is for someone to appear on the scene with the power to release him. That someone has appeared: Jesus Christ has come to set us free. But note: as prisoners we have to accept His deliverance. The choice is ours. We can believe and trust His power to deliver us or not.

2. The law was a schoolmaster or guardian (paidagogos) for man. The law was man's guardian to lead him to see his need for Christ. The paidagogos was usually a trusted slave who was in charge of a child's moral welfare, but he had one particular duty to which Paul was referring. Every day the guardian took the child to school and delivered him to the teacher. And then at the end of the day, he returned for the child and brought him safely back home. This was what the law was to do. The law was to lead man to Christ, the true Teacher. The law does this by showing man that he is utterly unable to secure righteousness by himself. He must look to Christ, the real Teacher, for righteousness and acceptance by God, that is, for justification by faith. And once Christ (faith in Him) has come, there is no need for the law nor for any other guardian, for Jesus Christ brings us face to face with God.

2 (3:26-27) Faith—Believers, Position: How do we know that we are justified by faith and not by the law and by doing the best we can? Because faith makes us children of God. As stated in the previous point, Jesus Christ bring us face to face with God. He stirs God to adopt us as children of God. How? by faith. Note two crucial points.

1. Faith causes us to focus upon God's Son, Jesus Christ. Man can rest upon one thing: God will accept anyone who focuses upon His Son Jesus Christ, for God loves His Son to the ultimate degree. God is no less than any normal father who loves his son. In fact, God is much more than man; He is perfect. Therefore, God loves His Son, Jesus Christ, with a perfect love. This simply means that God will honor any person who honors His Son by believing and trusting Him. If a person believes in Jesus Christ for righteousness, then God will honor that man by counting him righteous.

The point is this: the person who tries to become acceptable to God by the law and by doing the best he can—the man who focuses upon the law and good works—that man keeps his mind upon the law and struggles to be good. God is not the center and focus of his thoughts and life; the law and works are.

But the person who has faith in Jesus Christ focuses upon Christ. He honors God's Son; therefore, God accepts his faith, the focus of his life, as righteousness. The person becomes acceptable to God. God actually accepts the person as a child of His. How is this possible? The answer is the subject of the following point.

2. Faith clothes us with Christ, with His righteousness and Sonship. This is a most wonderful truth, for it tells us that we can actually "put on" Christ—a glorious revelation! The phrase "put on" is the picture of putting on clothes, of covering oneself. All that Christ is can cover us. Christ is two things that hold great significance for us.

a. Christ is the very embodiment of righteousness. He is the Son of God who came to earth to secure righteousness for us. He lived a sinless and perfect life; He always obeyed God, never violating the law or will of God—not even once. Therefore, He was the Perfect, Ideal Man; He was the Pattern of what every man should be. As the Ideal and Perfect pattern, He could represent all men; and this is exactly what happened. Jesus Christ is our righteousness. When we believe in Him, God clothes us with Christ, with His righteousness. And, because we are clothed with the righteousness of Jesus Christ, God sees us in His Son and accepts us.

Picture this illustration. If my left hand wraps itself around the index finger of my right hand, what is seen? My left hand, not my index finger, for my left hand covers my index finger. Now, let my left hand represent Christ, and my index finger me. When Christ covers me, who is seen? Christ, of course, not me; for Christ covers me. So it is with faith. When I believe in Jesus Christ, my faith covers me with Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:21).

"And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith" (Ph.3:9).

"For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (Heb.4:15-16).

"Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens" (Heb.7:25-26).

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Pt.1:18-19).

"And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses" (Acts 13:39).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

b. Christ is the Son of God; therefore, to be clothed with Christ means that we are covered with His Sonship. When God looks at the believer, He sees His Son Jesus Christ covering him; therefore, He counts the believer as a son of His. This is the way we become children of God: by faith in Jesus Christ, God's Son. When we believe that Jesus Christ is God's Son, God takes our faith and places us in Christ, and to be in Christ is to be in the Sonship of Christ. God actually sees us in Jesus Christ, in His Son. Therefore, He accepts us as children of His—all because our faith has covered us with Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Adoption—Gal.4:5-6.)

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (Jn.1:12).

"But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof" (Ro.13:14).

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (Gal.3:27).

“And that ye put on the new man [Christ], which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man [Christ], which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:27) Baptism: note the reference to baptism instead of belief:

“For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ” (v.27).

Why did Paul switch from using the word believe to the word baptism? Why did he not say:

“For as many of you as have believed in Christ have put on Christ”?

Is Paul saying that a person is saved by baptism? Any thinking and honest person knows that there are thousands and thousands of people who have been baptized and yet they live like the devil himself. Therefore, Paul could not mean that it is baptism that causes God to clothe a person with Christ.

Similarly, any honest and thinking person knows that there are thousands and thousands of people who profess faith and yet live like the devil himself. Therefore, Paul could not mean what the general public means by faith.

What Paul is saying is what Scripture declares: a true believer fulfills all the righteousness of Christ which includes baptism. The believer lives for Christ and living for Christ includes the ordinance that pictures his faith. Baptism (and repentance) is the first and immediate evidence of faith; therefore, faith and baptism are closely linked, so closely that Paul can speak of baptism as faith. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Baptism—Ro.6:3-5; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 2:38 for detailed discussion.)

3 (3:28) Faith—Brotherhood—Unity: How do we know that we are justified by faith and not by the law and by doing the best we can? Because faith in Christ makes us one, eliminating all distinctions and prejudices.

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (v.28).

This is a startling truth: Jesus Christ is the answer to all the prejudice, bitterness, hatred, oppression, and inequalities of earth. How can He solve the divisions among men? Note the phenomenal statement: “Ye are all one in Christ Jesus.” What is there about Jesus Christ that makes us one?

1. Every believer stands on an equal footing before Jesus Christ: the footing of faith. No person is accepted for any other reason than faith. All persons who come to Jesus Christ come...

- because they are ever so short of Christ.
- because they are ever so different from Christ.
- because they are ever so imperfect.

Yet, Jesus Christ accepts them. Jesus Christ reaches out and embraces all believers despite their being so much less and so different from Him. Therefore, when we look at another believer and he differs from us, we do just what Jesus Christ did for us. We love, accept, and embrace him; differences do not matter. All that matters is love, acceptance, and brotherhood in Christ.

2. Every true believer loves and stands in Jesus Christ. Therefore, when we look at another believer we see him in Christ. We do not see the believer, but we see Christ covering the believer. We pay no attention to his color, nationality, sex, social status, or any other differences. Differences just do not matter. All that matters is that we all grow into the image of Christ—love, accept and become more and more the brothers and sisters of God.

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him” (Ro.10:12).

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

“Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?” (Jas.2:5).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts” (Ps.119:63).

“The rich and poor meet together: the LORD is the maker of them all” (Pr.22:2).

4 (3:29) Faith—Inheritance: How do we know that we are justified by faith and not by the law and by doing the best we can? Because faith in Christ makes us heirs of the promise.

⇒ Remember the promise made to Abraham: the promise of God's blessing, of God's presence and leadership, of being accepted by God and given the privilege of living forever in the land of Canaan (the type and symbol of heaven, of the new heavens and earth). (See outline and notes—Gal.3:15-18 for more discussion.)

The point is this: Jesus Christ is the heir of Abraham; therefore, if a person is in Christ, then he inherits the promise made to Abraham. He inherits the promise of God's acceptance, of righteousness, and of living forever in the new heavens and earth as a son of God.

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:1-2).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ” (Gal.4:7).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath” (Heb.6:17).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

DIVISION III

THE PROOF THAT A MAN IS JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE AND NOT BY WORKS, 3:1-4:7

F. The Proof of Christ and the Fulness of Time, 4:1-7

(4:1-7) Introduction: some in the churches of Galatia were teaching that a person is saved by law; that is, he is saved by being good and religious and by doing the best he can. Of course, every person...

- should be good, ever striving to be better and better.
- should be faithful in worshipping God in church.
- should do the best he can—always.

However, Scripture is clear and forceful: a person is not saved by these things, for no amount of effort, energy, or work can make a person perfect. And to be acceptable to God—to be given the right to live with God—a person must be perfect.

How then can man be saved—be justified and made acceptable to God? This passage deals with the issue; it gives the answer. It shows how Christ and the fulness of time prove that a man is justified by faith and not by law nor by works.

1. There was a time when the world was in bondage (v.1-3).
2. There was a fulness of time when God delivered the world (v.4-7).

1 (4:1-3) Law—World, Elementary Things of—God, Misconceptions of: there was a time when the world was in bondage. The illustration is brief, yet descriptive: an heir who is a young child is under the care of guardians, trustees, or managers until the time appointed for him to receive his inheritance. Until the appointed time arrives, he has no more right to the inheritance than a slave.

The point is striking: there was a time when man was in bondage under the elementary things of the world. What is meant by the elements or elementary things of the world? Very simply, it means man's elementary notions and ideas about God and the various ways he tries to approach God. Letting Scripture interpret Scripture:

- ⇒ It means the first principles (the ABC's) of the Word of God, that is, the sacrifices, observances, rituals, and ceremonies of the Old Testament (Heb.5:12).
- ⇒ It means philosophy, the traditions of men, and the rudimentary or elementary teachings of men—the ABC approaches of men to God (Col.2:8).
- ⇒ It means the elements, the heavenly bodies of the universe (2 Pt.3:10). (There have always been men who tried to rule their lives by the heavenly bodies or astrology and the signs of the zodiac.)
- ⇒ It means the ordinances, rules, and regulations of men (Col.2:20).
- ⇒ It means the ceremonial laws, the legal yoke placed upon men as they try to approach God (Acts 15:10).
- ⇒ It means the law of the Old Testament, the yoke of bondage (Gal.5:1; cp. 4:3).
- ⇒ It means the observances of religious days, months, and years (Gal.4:9).

Very simply, the elements of the world refers to all the things that men use to get right with God and to secure the favor and approval of God. It refers to anything that man uses to justify himself before God, any approach to God that is taken by man through his own energy and effort...

- law or works
- ritual or ceremony
- church membership or ordinance
- astrology or science
- philosophy or religion

The point is this: before Christ, all approaches to God were only elementary approaches. No approach was the right approach, for man had only little knowledge of God—an elementary knowledge that required the discipline and guidance of the law. (See note—Gal.4:9-11 for more discussion.)

However, when everything was ready for the world to come of age and to gain an adult knowledge of God, Christ came to release men from the law and to reveal that man was intended to have a father-son relationship with God. In Christ men are no longer to be slaves to the law, they are to be sons of God. In Christ they are to enter into their inheritance.

“Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat” (Heb.5:12).

2 (4:4-7) Adoption—Redemption: there was a fulness of time when God delivered the world. This is one of the great passages of Scripture dealing with the mission or work of God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Note several significant points.

1. Note that God had prepared the world for the coming of Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Fulness of Time—Gal.4:4 for discussion).

2. Note that God sent His own Son into the world to deliver men. It was not an angel or some other creature that God sent—nor was it some great leader from among men. It was God’s very Son that He sent. God cared and loved men so much that He would send no less than His own Son to deliver men from the terrible condemnation of the law: the bondage of sin and death.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me” (Jn.6:38).

“But I know him: for I am from him, and he hath sent me” (Jn.7:29).

“Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me” (Jn.8:42).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest; because I said, I am the Son of God? If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him” (Jn.10:36-38).

3. Note that God sent His Son “made of a woman” (genomenon ek gunaikos), that is “born out of [ek] a woman.” He came into the world just as all men do, through a woman. But note the most glorious truth: He was “sent forth” by God. Jesus Christ was “His Son,” the Son of God. God spoke the Word and the woman conceived miraculously. The Virgin Birth did take place: God’s very own Son has been sent into the world as a man to save men. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Jesus Christ, Birth—Mt.1:16; DEEPER STUDY # 8—1:23; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.1:27; note—1:34-35. Especially see Lk.1:27.)

“And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS” (Lk.1:31).

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:7).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God” (1 Jn.4:2).

4. Note that God sent His Son born under the law. Jesus Christ had to live under the law in order to secure the perfect righteousness of the law for man. He had to obey the law in every single precept and stand before God as the Perfect and Ideal Man—the Ideal Embodiment of Righteousness. As stated, He had to do what no other person had ever done: secure the Ideal Righteousness and Perfection so that the Ideal and Perfect could stand for all men.

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh: that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:3-4).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

5. Note why God sent His Son: to redeem men (see note, Redemption—Gal.3:13-14 for discussion).

6. Note the result of God sending His Son to redeem men.

a. Believers are adopted as sons of God. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, God takes his faith and counts the person as being in Jesus Christ. Since Christ is God’s Son, the believer is counted as a son of God—all because he is seen as being in Jesus Christ. His faith in Jesus Christ causes God to cover him with the Sonship of His Son, to adopt him as a son of God. (See notes, Believers, Position, pt.2—Gal.3:26-27; DEEPER STUDY # 2, Adoption Gal.4:5-6.)

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

b. Believers receive assurance of being accepted by God through the Spirit of His Son. The Spirit of Christ is sent by God to dwell in our hearts and to give us a personal relationship with God. The Spirit of Christ, that is, the Holy Spirit, gives us a fellowship of communication and communion with God: He stirs our hearts to cry out to God as our Father: “Father, Father.”

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God” (Ro.8:16).

“And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:6).

“And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth” (1 Jn.5:6).

c. Believers are made heirs of God. But note: they are heirs because they are sons of God. Both sonship and heirship are “through Christ”—through faith in Him.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?” (Heb.1:14).

“Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath” (Heb.6:17).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively [living] hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:4) Fulness of Time: the coming of Christ upon the world scene was not by chance. His coming was under the strategic timing providentially set aside by God. His coming was not one day before or behind the appointed time (see note—

Mk.1:15). A child who is placed under the control of guardians is under their control until “the date fixed by his father” (Gal.4:2). God and God alone decided the fulness of time for the coming of Christ. Christ was born of a particular person, at a particular time, in a particular way (incarnation), and under a particular system (the law). He shared the frustration and agony of being subjected to the very system from which He came to save men. The world had been wonderfully prepared for His coming.

1. The law had done its educational work. It had shown through the Jewish nation that men are terrible transgressors, and despite all of God’s favor and blessings, men still failed to worship God in love. The world now had a picture of the depraved heart of man. (Cp. Ro.3:10-18 for a clear description of man’s sinfulness.)

2. The world was full of people spiritually starved. The worship of self, pleasure, gods, and philosophical ethics—all had left many empty and barren. The soul was now ready to have its hunger met.

3. The world was at peace under Roman rule. The world was an open door for the spread of the gospel—without any restraint.

4. The world spoke Greek as a basic language, making communication possible with many from all over the world.

5. The world had a system of roads for mass travel which allowed Christian missionaries to reach the farthest parts of the earth. It also brought commercial travelers to metropolitan centers where Christian believers were concentrated.

“And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel” (Mk.1:15).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law” (Gal.4:4).

“Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:6).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(4:5-6) Adoption: the word “adoption” (huiothesia) means to place as a son. The picture of adoption is a beautiful picture of what God does for the Christian. In the ancient world the family was based on a Roman law called “patria potestas,” the father’s power. The law gave the father absolute authority over his children so long as the father lived. He could work, enslave, sell, and if he wished, he could pronounce the death penalty. Regardless of the child’s adult age, the father held all power over personal and property rights.

Therefore, adoption was a serious matter. Yet, it was a common practice to ensure that a family would not become extinct by having no male children. And when a child was adopted, three legal steps were taken.

1. The adopted son was adopted permanently. He could not be adopted today and disinherited tomorrow. He became a son of the father—forever. He was eternally secure as a son.

2. The adopted son immediately had all the rights of a legitimate son in the new family.

3. The adopted son completely lost all rights in his old family. The adopted son was looked upon as a new person—so new that old debts and obligations connected with his former family were cancelled out and abolished as if they never existed.

The Bible says several things about the believer’s adoption as a son of God.

1. The believer’s adoption establishes a new relationship with God—forever. He is eternally secure as a child of God. But the new relationship is established only when a person comes to Christ through faith (Gal.3:26; 4:4-5).

2. The believer’s adoption establishes a new relationship with God as father. The believer has all the rights and privileges of a genuine son of God (Ro.8:16-17; 1 Jn.3:1-2).

3. The believer’s adoption establishes a new dynamic experience with God as father, a moment by moment access into His very presence (Ro.8:14, 16; Gal.4:6).

4. The believer’s adoption gives him a very special relationship with other children of God—a family relationship that binds him with others in an unparalleled spiritual union (see notes—Eph.2:11-18; 2:19-22; 3:6; 4:4-6; 4:17-19. Cp. Acts 2:42. See outline and notes—Mt.12:46-50.)

5. The believer’s adoption makes him a new person. The believer has been taken out from under the authority and power of the world and its sin. The believer is placed as a son into the family and authority of God. The old life with all of its debts and obligations are cancelled and wiped out (2 Cor.5:17; Gal.3:23-27; 2 Pt.1:4. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 3—4:24.)

6. The believer’s adoption is to be fully realized in the future at the return of Jesus Christ (Ro.8:19; Eph.1:14; 1 Th.4:14-17; 1 Jn.3:2).

7. The believer’s adoption and its joy will be shared by all creation on a cosmic scale (Ro.8:21). There is to be a new heavens and earth (2 Pt.3:12-14; Rev.21:1-7).

DIVISION IV

THE FIVEFOLD APPEAL TO BE JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE, 4:8-5:12

A. Appeal One: Do Not Turn Back, 4:8-11

(4:8-5:12) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Justification: a person is justified by faith and not by law nor by works. It does not matter how many good works a person does nor how good he may become; he can never secure perfection. Therefore, a man can never earn or win the right to live in God's presence. A man cannot make God accept him—put God in debt—by being good and doing good. God is perfect; therefore, if a man is ever going to live in God's presence, it will be because God loves man enough to provide some way for man to become perfect. Glorious is the news! God has provided the way through His very own Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. When a man believes in the Lord Jesus Christ, God takes His belief and counts it as righteousness, as perfection. God accepts the man on the basis of faith, the kind of faith that says, "Lord God, I believe that your Son died for me. He took my imperfection, my shame, my sin, and my being short of your glory; then He died for it all. I honor Him. I give my life, all I am and have, to serve Him. Save me—accept me in Him."

When a man approaches God in such a spirit, he honors God's Son, Jesus Christ. And God honors any person who honors His Son. He honors the person by doing the very thing the man believes or asks. If a man believes in Jesus Christ for righteousness, then God counts that man's belief (commitment to Christ) as righteousness. This is justification; this is the way a person becomes acceptable to God.

Justification by faith in Jesus Christ has been proven. This has been the point of the last six passages in the Book of Galatians. Now Paul launches a fivefold appeal to the church: a fivefold appeal to be justified by faith.

1. Appeal One: Do Not Turn Back (4:8-11).
2. Appeal Two: Restir Affection for the Minister of God (4:12-20).
3. Appeal Three: Listen to What the Law Really Says (v.4:21-31).
4. Appeal Four: Stand Firm in the Liberty of Christ (v.5:1-6).
5. Appeal Five: Obey the Truth (5:7-12).

(4:8-11) Introduction: the first appeal is just what would be expected. A people who have or are about to turn their backs upon God need but one message: do not turn back!

1. Remember your former life (v.8).
2. Look at your present life: you know God and are known of God (v.9).
3. Consider your turning back (v.9-11).

1 (4:8) Idolatry—Backsliding: remember your former Life. Remember what you were when you were an unbeliever, before you ever believed in Jesus Christ and experienced salvation. The unbeliever is characterized by two significant traits.

1. The unbeliever does not know God. This means that he does not know God in a personal way; God's Spirit does not dwell in the unbeliever filling the unbeliever with the fulness of God. The unbeliever does not experience God's...

- divine nature (2 Pt.1:4)
- presence
- assurance
- care
- love
- life
- power
- confidence
- provision

The unbeliever does not have the day by day experience of knowing God, of experiencing the presence and fellowship and communion and care and provision of God—of experiencing the abundance of life with God. And as tragic as any of his shortcomings, the unbeliever does not have the absolute assurance of living forever with God.

2. The unbeliever serves false gods. Even before their conversion, the Galatians had sensed the need for God. They had not been atheists or agnostics. They had been a religious people seeking to become acceptable to God. Their worship had been the worship of many gods including both Jupiter (Zeus) and Mercury (Hermes). This, of course, meant that they had been enslaved to heathen gods, religion and worship, rituals and ceremonies, rules and regulations, superstitions and idols.

Note what is said about the unbeliever: he serves gods which by nature are not gods. By their very nature, the objects of man's worship are not gods. How could they be, for they are only a creation of the unbeliever's mind. He may count them as gods, but they are no more than ideas in his own mind.

Thought 1. What most people worship is only a creation of their own mind. They have an idea of god, who he is and what he is like, and they worship that idea. Few ever seek after God's revelation of Himself, the revelation of Himself in Jesus Christ. If men really believed that Jesus Christ was the living revelation of God, then they would study Him and His life and seek to know Him with every ounce of energy they had. But few ever do, and this failure is a clear indication that they do not believe, not really.

The point is this: since the unbeliever does not believe in Jesus Christ, the One who came to reveal God to the world, then whatever it is that he worships is false—a false god. It is a figment of his imagination, only an idea in his mind. Whether a man bows to an idol or not, he is merely worshipping his own idea, thought, concept, and imagination.

“But all these things will they do unto you for my name's sake, because they know not him that sent me [Jesus Christ]” (Jn.15:21).

“And these things will they do unto you, because they have not known the Father, nor me [Jesus Christ]” (Jn.16:3).

“For as I passed by, and beheld your devotions, I found an altar with this inscription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD. Whom therefore ye ignorantly worship, him declare I unto you” (Acts 17:23).

“Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:7).

“Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device [thought, idea, concept, imagination]” (Acts 17:29).

“That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world” (Eph.2:12).

Thought 2. Every believer needs to remember where he came from before he came to know God. God has been most merciful to us all; therefore, we must never forget that Jesus Christ has purged us from our sins.

“According as his divine power hath given unto us all things [God and His blessings] that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue” (2 Pt.1:3).

2 (4:9) Knowledge, of God: look at your present life. You are given the most wonderful privilege of knowing God, or more accurately stated, you are known of God. Think about the glorious privilege of knowing God and being known of God Himself!

As R.A. Cole points out, when a person accepts Jesus Christ as His Savior, he comes to know God personally not just intellectually—but in a much deeper way, for in the Bible “to know” means far more than just intellectual knowledge. It means an intimate relationship; that is why the Bible uses the word “know” to express the most intimate relation between man and wife: “And Adam knew Eve his wife; and she conceived” (Gen.4:1). (The Epistle of Paul to the Galatians. “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1965, p.118.)

However, note a critical point. When a person turns away and separates himself from the world to know God, the most wonderful thing happens: God accepts him and becomes a Father to him and knows him as his son or daughter. The person becomes known by God. This is exactly what Scripture says:

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

Again, imagine the glorious privilege of such a precious relationship! Not only to know God as Father, but to be known by God as His son or daughter!

“...I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine” (Is.43:1).

“But if any man love God, the same is known of him” (1 Cor.8:3).

“To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out” (Jn.10:3).

“I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine” (Jn.10:14).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

Thought 1. Believers should constantly look at their present lives—the glorious salvation God has given them: the privilege of knowing Him and of being known by Him. But note that we must always remember that we do not come to know God by our own efforts or works, not by doing the best we can and obeying the law, as important as all these are. We come to know God through justification, that is, by faith in Jesus Christ and by faith in Him alone.

3 (4:9-11) Backsliding—Law: consider your turning back.

1. Note a critical point: the Galatians were about to turn back to the elementary things or notions about God (see note—Gal.4:1-3). Does this mean they were about to turn back to their pagan idolatrous worship? No, that was not what they were about to do. What were they turning back to? The false teachers (Judaizers) in Galatia were teaching that a man was to approach God by the law and works—that a man became acceptable to God by his own efforts, by working and doing as much good as he could.

Of course, this is exactly what all religious people do, no matter their religion: they try to please their god, to secure the god's approval by doing what pleases him. This means that all religions (except Christianity) are religions of works and of law. Therefore, if the Galatians subjected themselves to the law and to a religion of works, they would be returning to a life of bondage—the bondage of working and working to get God to pay attention to them and to receive and accept them.

The crucial point is this: there is no difference between seeking God through the law and seeking God through pagan worship. The foundation of all religious seeking (except Christianity) is the same: that of working to keep the laws that please a person's god—that of doing good so that a person's god will accept him.

Note that Paul calls man's elementary notions of God weak and beggarly.

- a. The law and other approaches to God are weak in that they are helpless in saving man. The law itself could only point out man's sin, but it could never justify and make him acceptable to God.
- b. The law and other approaches to God are beggarly, that is worthless in saving man. The law itself is meaningless, of no use whatsoever in justifying and making man acceptable to God. It is not the law nor man's works and attempts to be good that saves him.

Note also that Paul illustrates his point by referring to special religious holidays. The point is that ritual, ceremony, and the keeping of religious days will not justify and make a person acceptable before God. Christ and Christ alone—faith in Him—saves a person.

2. Note the results of backsliding, of turning back to the world and seeking to please God by self-effort and self-righteousness.

- a. A person becomes enslaved in that he tries and tries to please God by keeping the rules of the law, but he finds he cannot. But he still slavishly tries and tries again. However, it is all to no avail, for the man finds himself still in the bondage of sin and death. He still sins and he still dies, and there is no absolute assurance within of eternal life. And it is the lack of assurance, of knowing that one is acceptable to God, that is so enslaving. The question and doubt of living with God gnaws and gnaws at man—always without the sure knowledge and assurance of God's love. Perfect assurance, confidence, and security come only through faith in Jesus Christ.
- b. A person lives a wasted life. Every approach to God fails except faith in Jesus Christ. Every approach leads to death and condemnation; therefore, every life that approaches God by any other means than faith in Jesus Christ is a wasted life.

“And Jesus said unto him, No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God” (Lk.9:62).

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel” (Gal.1:6).

“Are ye so foolish? having begun in the Spirit, are ye now made perfect by the flesh?” (Gal.3:3).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him” (Heb.10:38).

“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love” (Rev.2:4).

DIVISION IV

THE FIVEFOLD APPEAL TO BE JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE, 4:8-5:12

B. Appeal Two: Restir Affection for the Minister of God, 4:12-20

(4:12-20) Introduction: a backsliding people need appeal after appeal, for they are walking a dangerous course when they turn their backs upon God. Also, a backsliding person is usually alienated from his minister: he wants little to do with the minister when he is turning away from God. The Galatian churches went even further. False teachers and critics of Paul had begun to attack Paul personally, both his person and his ministry. They were tearing down his character every way they could (see outlines and notes—Gal.1:10-16; 2:3-5; etc. for more discussion). There was great danger that the churches would reject his ministry; therefore, Paul had to do all he could to stop the chaos and to save the churches from destruction and apostasy. The present passage is an appeal for the believers to remember and restir their affection for the minister of God.

1. Treat the minister of God as a brother (v.12).
2. Welcome true ministers of God (v.13-16).
3. Guard against and reject false ministers (v.17).
4. Receive true ministers—always (v.18-20).

1 (4:12) Ministers, Duty Toward: treat the minister of God as a brother. Remember that some in the churches of Galatia were criticizing and attacking Paul. But note several significant facts.

1. Paul called them brothers: he did not treat them as enemies, not even as antagonists. He did not murmur, gripe, complain, or even attack them. The very opposite is true: he sensed and expressed deep brotherly affection for them.
2. Paul beseeched them; that is, he was not commanding or instructing, but he was begging and pleading from the heart of a true minister of God.

3. Paul begged them to be as he was, for he had become one of them. He had always loved and cared and shown affection for them, and he wanted them to do the same for him—not to abandon and turn against him and his ministry.

It should be noted that many commentators understand Paul to be saying that he had become as they were, that is, a Gentile; therefore, he wanted them to remain as he was, a Gentile who trusted Christ, and not to turn to Jewish law in seeking God's approval.

4. Paul assured them that what they had done had not injured him: he held no bitterness, anger, or malice against them.

Thought 1. The heart of a true minister is clearly seen in verse twelve: love, affection, kindness, and care for a people who had become critics of the minister of God.

Thought 2. Believers must heed the appeal of the minister of God: "Be as I am in affection and love—do not abandon and turn away from me."

2 (4:13-16) Ministers: welcome true ministers of God. There are three areas in which true ministers should be welcomed.

1. True ministers should be welcomed in their witness. Note: the Galatians had welcomed Paul when he first preached the gospel to them, and they had readily responded to his message. They did not question his call to preach nor the message he preached. There was no criticism nor censoring of his person or preaching. Their arms were wide open and their hearts were receptive.

Note that Paul was appealing for the same spirit of welcome and receptivity now. No other spirit should ever characterize God's people—not toward the minister of God—not toward any child of God.

2. True ministers should be welcomed even in the infirmities and weaknesses of their flesh. Too often, this is not true. Churches and believers sometimes abandon and ignore the minister of God when he is stricken in body or spirit. When Paul first went to the Galatian churches, he was stricken with some infirmity. Just what the infirmity was is not known, although the best guess seems to be some serious eye problem (v.15. See note—2 Cor.12:7-10 for full discussion. Also cp. Gal.6:11.) The point is that the Galatians...

- did not despise him
- did not reject him
- received him as an angel or messenger from God Himself.

This last fact stresses just how wide open the welcome to Paul was. There was no lack in receiving and caring for the minister of God. They would have even plucked out their own eyes and given them to Paul if they had been able.

3. True ministers should be welcomed in the truth they proclaim. Paul had been proclaiming the truth: a person is justified by faith and not by law nor by works—not by trying to earn God’s acceptance by doing good deeds here and there. Was the church going to treat Paul as an enemy because he had told them the truth?

Thought 1. How many churches turn against the minister of God because he preaches and tells the truth? The church must always welcome the minister who speaks and proclaims the truth.

“Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness; and hold such in reputation” (Ph.2:29).

“And to esteem them very highly in love for their work’s sake. And be at peace among yourselves” (1 Th.5:13).

“Let the elders [ministers] that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine” (1 Tim.5:17).

“Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation [behavior]” (Heb.13:7).

3 (4:17) Ministers: guard against and reject false ministers. Note that the false teachers (Judaizers, religionists) were zealous in their teaching and they were out to secure as large a following as possible. And note how they went about it: by excluding the people, trying to cut them off from the minister of God. They not only sought people through the merits of their own teaching, but they attacked and tore down the minister in order to alienate the people from him.

Note the difference between what the Christian minister (Paul) was doing and what the false teachers were doing. Or, to put it in the form of a question: What is the difference between the evangelistic efforts of the true minister of God and false teachers?

- ⇒ False teachers seek to focus people upon law, works, effort, ritual, ceremony, observances, sacrifice, rules, and regulations—upon something that requires man to work at being good or doing good in order to become acceptable to God.
- ⇒ The true minister of God seeks to focus people upon God Himself: His love, honor, and praise—upon the fact that God Himself has provided the way for man to become acceptable to Him, and that way is through His Son Jesus Christ. (See outline, notes, and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; notes—2:19-21; 3:1-5; 3:6-14 for more discussion.)

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves” (Mt.7:15).

“Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:19).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them” (Acts 20:30).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [the doctrine of the law and of works]: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us” (1 Jn.2:18-19).

“Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son” (1 Jn.2:22).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

4 (4:18-20) Ministers: Paul said that the church should always welcome ministers who seek to do well, ministers who labor for the church’s welfare. Note that he was encouraging the church not only to accept his ministry but the ministry of other true ministers. They must reject false ministers and have nothing to do with them, but they must receive the ministry of true ministers in order to grow in Christ. Paul himself demonstrated three reasons why the church is to receive true ministers of God.

Thought 1. No believer or church should ever reject the ministry of a minister who seeks to help him and to help him grow in Christ.

1. True ministers hold believers within their hearts as dear children. The minister’s heart is ever so tender, warm, caring, protecting, and providing toward the church.
2. True ministers agonize over the growth of believers. They seek “Christ to be formed” in the believers. They want them living as Christ lived and conformed into the image of Christ.

“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not” (Mt.23:37).

“Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears” (Acts 20:31).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord (2 Cor.3:18).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

“But if ye will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret places for your pride; and mine eye shall weep sore, and run down with tears, because the Lord’s flock is carried away captive” (Jer.13:17).

3. True ministers guard the church against error. Note: if there is any doubt about the matter, he warns the church.

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ” (Ph.3:18).

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

DIVISION IV

THE FIVEFOLD APPEAL TO BE JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE, 4:8-5:12

C. Appeal Three: Listen to What the Law Really Says, 4:21-31

(4:21-31) Introduction: the way to heaven is not by works nor by the law. A person cannot do enough works nor keep enough laws to become perfectly good. And for a person to live in God’s presence he has to be perfect. What then is the way to heaven? If a person cannot be good enough nor do enough works to make it to heaven, how can he get there? By faith in the promise of God. God has promised heaven to those who believe on His Son—to those who genuinely trust Jesus Christ to save them.

However, most people in the world do not believe the promise of God. They still think they have to earn and work their way into the favor of God—that they have to build up a long list of good works that will force God to accept them. They think that they have to make themselves righteous by being good and doing religious things in order to enter heaven. Therefore, they place themselves under the rules and regulations of the law and of religion, and they do the best they can to make it to heaven. This is the appeal of this passage; the person who approaches God through the works of religion and law must listen to what the law really says.

1. Hearing the law is absolutely essential for the legalist or religionist (v.21).
2. Hear 1: Abraham had two sons (v.22-23).
3. Hear 2: the two mothers represent two covenants (v.24-28).
4. Hear 3: legalism persecutes and enslaves believers (v.29).
5. Hear 4: legalism is to be cast out—have no inheritance (v.30).
6. Hear 5: legalism has no claim upon the children of grace (v.31).

1 (4:21) Law—Religion; hearing the law is absolutely essential for the legalist or religionist. The legalist or religionist is the person who approaches God by the law or by the works of goodness or religion. The legalist and religionist need to hear and really understand what they are doing, just how they are approaching God. They need to understand the implication of what they are doing.

2 (4:22-23) Abraham—Sarah—Isaac—Hagar—Ishmael: first, hear that Abraham had two sons. Remember that the way to become acceptable to God and to enter heaven is not by law nor by the works of goodness, but by the promise of God. Paul uses the illustration of Abraham to prove the point (cp. Genesis Chapters 16, 17, and 21). Briefly and simply, Abraham had two sons. One son had been promised by God to Abraham through his wife Sarah; however, many years passed without Sarah ever having a child. She seemed incapable. She became discouraged, so she sent a slave girl, Hagar, in to Abraham. Hagar bore a son, Ishmael. Sometime later, however, God kept His promise and the impossible happened: Sarah, well beyond childbearing years, bore a son and his name was Isaac (Ro.4:10).

1. Note the facts about Ishmael. He was...
  - born after the order and process of nature.
  - born into slavery, being born of a slave girl.
  - born because of the work, effort, and will of Sarah.
  - born because of the fleshly impulses, urges, and attraction of Abraham.

2. Note the facts about Isaac. He was...

- born as a free man, born of a free woman, Sarah.
- born by the promise of God alone. God had promised Abraham that Sarah would bear a son, and when Isaac was born, Abraham and Sarah were both well beyond the years of childbearing—one hundred years old. Isaac was a miracle-child, born miraculously by the working of God—all because God had promised Abraham a son. Isaac was, therefore, a promised child.

The point is this and it must be remembered: Ishmael, the child born by human ingenuity, energy, and effort, was born into slavery. But Isaac, the child promised by God, was born miraculously by the promise of God—by His love and power alone—all because He alone had made the promise.

3 (4:24-28) Covenants—Law—Grace: second, hear that the two mothers represent two covenants. Note: Paul says that these things are an allegory, that is, an illustration of truth can be seen and drawn from the event. When looking closely at the story, we can see how the mothers, Hagar and Sarah, represent the two covenants—the covenant of law and the covenant of God's grace or promise.

1. Hagar was a type of the old covenant between God and man—the law. Two things are said about the law.

- a. Hagar, that is, the law, bears children in slavery. The law says do this and don't do that. It demands and insists on obedience. It enslaves a person to do exactly what it says. Therefore, if a person hopes to approach God in his own goodness, merit, virtue, morality, and righteousness, he is in bondage to the law. He must keep it in order to be good and moral and righteous and to earn the favor of God. The law, the rules, and, regulations of goodness and righteousness, enslaves him. (Keep in mind, Paul is not saying the law is not good. We are to live righteously and morally, but we are not acceptable to God because of our goodness and self-efforts. We do not save ourselves; we are not to be praised because of our works and goodness. Praise belongs to God. God is the One who saves us. This is what is being discussed.)
- b. Hagar, the law, represents the very center of a religion of law and works which was Jerusalem of that day (v.25). Note that Paul makes two connections to stress the point:
  - ⇒ Hagar stands for Mt. Sinai, the Mount in Arabia where the law was given.
  - ⇒ Hagar and Mt. Sinai both picture the very center of a religion of law and works, the Jerusalem of that day. Of course, Hagar also pictures any religion, church, people, or person who seeks to be righteous and acceptable to God and heaven through works and law.

2. Sarah was a type of the new covenant between God and man, the covenant of grace or of promise. Two things are said about the grace and promise of God to man.

- a. Sarah, that is, grace, is seen in the Jerusalem which is above, the heavenly Jerusalem. Heavenly Jerusalem is the spiritual and eternal city which God has promised to those who approach Him through faith.
- b. Grace and the promise of a heavenly city are both free. Any person who accepts God's promise of a heavenly city which is eternal—who accepts His promise enough to believe it with all his heart, basing all he is and has upon that promise—is acceptable to God. God takes the man's sheer faith—the faith that has cast itself totally upon the promise of God—and counts it as the man's righteousness. Therefore, the man becomes acceptable to God: he is given the promise of God freely—without price—without having to work for it by keeping rules and laws.
- c. Note a second result as well: the covenant of grace ends up with more children than the Jewish legalist. This is a prophecy which simply predicted that more Gentiles would believe the grace of God than Jews (Is.55:1).

3. The point is forcefully stated: "Now we, brothers, as Isaac was, are the children of promise." Believers—all those who have believed in Jesus Christ—have been given birth by God—a spiritual birth. We receive the promise of God. God freely takes our faith and counts it as righteousness.

⇒ Our faith is credited, imputed, and counted as the righteousness which we lack within ourselves.

This is the glorious promise of God's grace, the covenant of grace which God has now made with man. Man can now inherit the promised land (Canaan, the heavenly Jerusalem or city of God) and live eternally with God. (See outline and notes—Heb.12:18-24 for more discussion.)

"For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith. For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect" (Ro.4:13-14).

"By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Heb.11:8-10).

"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country....But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city" (Heb.11:13-14, 16).

"But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels, to the general assembly and church of the first-born, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect" (Heb.12:22-23).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:14-15).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband” (Rev.21:1-2).

“And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain, and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, having the glory of God: and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper stone, clear as crystal” (Rev.21:10-11).

“And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book” (Rev.22:19).

4 (4:29) Law—Legalism—Persecution: third, hear that those who are born of the flesh persecute those who are born after the Spirit. Ishmael ridiculed, mocked, and persecuted Isaac. Paul draws upon this fact to show why believers are persecuted. It is because men try and try to approach God in the flesh, that is, by their own energy and effort in trying to be good and righteous.

1. The person in the flesh consciously or subconsciously is trying to secure credit, recognition, esteem, approval, acceptance, and praise from God—all by his own energy and effort. Therefore, he mocks, ridicules, and persecutes the believer who says that self-effort and self-righteousness are not enough and will not make a person acceptable to God.

2. The person in the flesh has to confess human weakness and inadequacy—that he cannot make himself acceptable to God because he is...

- too sinful
- too short of God’s glory
- too unrighteous
- too unholy
- too polluted
- too hopeless
- too helpless
- too undeserving

The person in the flesh refuses to accept this fact. He wants to think highly of himself and place himself on a level close to God. Therefore, when a believer comes along and says that a person has to be born again by the Spirit of God, the natural man reacts. He refuses to accept the fact that his flesh, his own energy and effort, is unable to earn, win, and merit God’s approval.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.10:38-39).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:12-13).

5 (4:30) Law—Legalism: fourth, hear that legalism is to be cast out and have no inheritance with God. The law cannot coexist with the grace of God. The son of Hagar, the law, shall not be heir with the son of Sarah, that is, grace. The fact of coming judgment could not be illustrated any clearer: Ishmael was cast out so that he would not share in the inheritance with Isaac (Gen.21:10f).

God never will accept anyone who approaches Him by law or by works. Why? Because the person has to stand before God saying, “God, here are my works, my goodness, my righteousness, a list of laws I have kept, a list of my contributions.” Such a claim is merely deceptive boasting. Such a profession presents to God only human effort and energy, works and deeds. God is perfect; therefore, only perfection can exist with Him. No matter how much good and how many good works a person presents to God, they are not enough, for they do not make him perfect. Therefore, he must be cast from God’s presence. But not the person of promise. The person of promise approaches God saying:

“Father, you are my Savior and Lord. You have loved me so much that you sent your Son to die for me. I believe with all my heart that Christ did die for me, and I surrender all I am and have into His keeping. I cast myself totally upon His righteousness and His death for my sins.”

God has promised that the person who sincerely believes in His Son shall never perish but shall have everlasting life. He shall inherit the promise of God. God will accept his belief and count it as righteousness, and the man shall inherit the promise.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

6 (4:31) Law—Legalism: believers are the children of grace, not of law. The fact is clearly seen in all that has been stated above. Believers—yea, all men if they would only accept the fact—have so much for which to thank God. God has so loved the world and demonstrated His love beyond anything any person could ever ask.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph.2:4-10).

DIVISION IV

THE FIVEFOLD APPEAL TO BE JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE, 4:8-5:12

D. Appeal Four: Stand Fast in the Liberty of Christ, 5:1-6

(5:1-6) Introduction: straightforward and direct, a much needed appeal is given to backsliding churches and their people—stand fast in the liberty of Christ.

1. Stand fast because Christ has freed the believer (v.1).
2. Stand fast because the law is not God's way for man to be justified (v.2-4).
3. Stand fast because the hope of righteousness is by faith (v.5-6).

I (5:1) Jesus Christ, Work—Liberty, Spiritual: stand fast because Christ has freed the believer. Note two points.

1. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, he is freed from the law and its enslaving power. He no longer has to worry if he is good enough, if he has done enough good works, or if he has kept enough laws to be acceptable to God. Why? Because Christ has fulfilled the law for him. When Christ was on earth He was sinless; He obeyed the law perfectly, never violating it a single time. Therefore, He secured the Ideal Righteousness and stood before God as the Perfect Man. But Christ did something else much more wonderful. It was not enough for the Ideal Righteousness to be secured for man. There was also the problem of the penalty of the law; once the law had been broken, the penalty had been enacted; it had to be paid. This is the glorious message of the cross—what the death of Jesus Christ is all about. Jesus Christ not only secured the ideal righteousness for us, He took the penalty for our trespassing upon Himself and bore it. Jesus Christ bore our judgment and punishment for having broken the law which was death.

If righteousness has been secured for us and if the punishment for our transgressions has been paid, then we stand before God perfect—absolutely righteous and free from transgression—and acceptable to Him. Does this mean everyone is accepted by God and covered by the life and death of Jesus Christ? No! And the reason is easily seen: not everyone accepts what Jesus Christ has done for him—not everyone believes in Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ has set us free; we do stand in liberty free from the bondage of sin and death wrought by the law—but only if we believe it. Naturally—it is as obvious as can be—if we do not believe and accept a gift freely given, then the Giver still possesses it. We do not receive the gift; therefore, we do not have it.

The point is this: Christ has freed the believer from the bondage of the law. Therefore, we must stand fast in the liberty He has provided for us.

2. The Galatians were about to become entangled again with the yoke of bondage. False teachers had arisen who were teaching that the basic work of Christ was to live as a great example and to bring us the great teachings of God. That is, they accepted Jesus Christ as the Son of God, but they did not accept the message of salvation by grace (the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ). They taught that Jesus Christ had not come to give us a new approach to God; He came to add new teachings to the law. Therefore, a person was still to approach God...

- by undergoing the basic ritual of Jewish religion (circumcision, baptism, church membership, etc.).
- by committing himself to the law.
- by observing all the rituals and ceremonies of Jewish religion.

All of this of course sounds familiar to every generation, for if we simply omit the word Jewish, the three stipulations are seen to be present in so many teachings, religions, and churches of society.

Again, the exhortation is that a person must not become entangled with approaching God by law or works, for no person can do enough good to ever become perfect before God. Our perfection and acceptance before God has already been secured for us—in Christ Jesus our Lord. Therefore, let us stand fast in the liberty of Christ. For the only person who will ever be acceptable to God is the person who stands before God free of sin and condemnation, a person who has been set free by God's very own Son. (See note—Gal.4:4-7.)

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death. For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:2-3).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ” (Gal.4:4-7).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

2 (5:2-4) Circumcision—Law—Apostasy: stand fast because law is not God’s way for man to be justified. Three significant warnings are strongly issued.

1. If a person is ritualized, Christ shall profit him nothing. Ritualized means a person is depending upon some religious thing to make him acceptable to God. In the case of the Galatians, it was the ritual of circumcision; but it can apply to anything: ritual, ceremony, works, law, goodness, church membership, baptism, last rites, prayer, religious services, ministry, or even religion itself. If a person approaches God and tries to secure God’s acceptance by any means other than Christ, then Christ shall profit him nothing. What Christ has done for man will have no effect upon the man whatsoever. The righteousness and death of Jesus Christ will be of no avail to the man, for the man is trusting his own works and goodness, not the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ.

2. If a person is ritualized, he has to do the whole law. Think for a moment: if a person trusts a ritual to save him, really depends upon a ritual to make him acceptable to God, then he had better keep the whole law. Why? Because he is accepting the law (works, religion) as the way to approach God. He is subjecting himself to ritual, walking the way of law in order to approach God. Therefore, he must continue to approach God by law. He must keep the whole law.

In a summary statement: if a person approaches God by ritual, any ritual, he assumes responsibility for doing the whole law.

3. If a person seeks to be justified by law, Christ can have no effect upon him—he is fallen from grace. What does this mean?

Remember: Paul is warning the Galatian believers by issuing a strong warning. False teachers were saying this: a person could be saved only by obeying the law and by doing as much good as possible. They were teaching that the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ was not what it took to approach God and to receive eternal life. They said more than Christ was needed: one’s own righteousness, goodness, works, and efforts, were also needed.

Keep this in mind: we can readily see why Paul issued such a severe warning to the Galatian believers. They must not follow the false teachers, must not turn away from Christ and become apostates.

The point is this: not only the Galatians, but we also, must heed the warning lest we begin to deny Christ. To deny Christ, His righteousness and death, is bound to lead to the doom of the apostate. We must always remember: Paul himself said that he was to be accused if he ever preached any other gospel than that of God’s glorious love in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Eternal security is not the issue here, as it is so often made to be. The issue is God’s own dear Son, His righteousness and death—His very life and work—His honor and Person. No person is living or ever will live who will be allowed to tamper with the righteousness and death of God’s dear Son. We are fools to think so, even if we are trying to defend and explain a doctrinal position. This was certainly the thought and position of Paul when he said he was to be cursed if he became apostate.

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“But Israel, which followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness. Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. For they stumbled at that stumblingstone” (Ro.9:31-32).

“For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth. For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them” (Ro.10:2-5).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them” (Eph.2:8-10).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:10).

“But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:8-9).

3 (5:5-6) Faith—Righteousness—Law—Ritual: stand fast because the hope of righteousness is by faith. The hope of the believer is for righteousness. Hope does not mean the uncertainty of worldly hope, that the believer might—but then again he might not—secure righteousness before God. The believer’s hope is in Jesus Christ, and it is as assured as God exists. Hope in the Bible means the focus, the concentration, the longing, the craving, and the desire for righteousness—the privilege of being redeemed and spending eternity with God. Note the source of such an assurance and secured hope.

1. The hope for righteousness comes through the Spirit of God. It is the presence of the Spirit who dwells within the believer that stirs the hope. The Holy Spirit stirs hope and gives absolute assurance that God will take His faith and count it for righteousness.

2. The hope for righteousness comes through Jesus Christ alone, not by a ritual (circumcision, law) nor by the lack of a ritual. Note exactly what this is saying:

⇒ neither undergoing a ritual (circumcision) nor being without a ritual brings hope.

⇒ neither having and keeping the law nor being without law brings hope.

⇒ neither working for righteousness nor not working for righteousness brings hope.

Nothing, absolutely nothing, can provide the sure hope of righteousness within a person except Jesus Christ: His righteousness and His death alone can offer hope to man.

3. The hope for righteousness comes by faith wrought by love. It was God’s love that sent His Son to secure our righteousness to die for us. When a person really sees this, it breaks him; and he bows and surrenders his own love, faith, life, and loyalty to Christ. The love of God stirs us to love Him and to believe Him. We love Him because He has loved us.

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:1-3).

“And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you. For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God” (2 Cor.4:14-15).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:4-5).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:18).

DIVISION IV

THE FIVEFOLD APPEAL TO BE JUSTIFIED BY FAITH ALONE, 4:8-5:12

E. Appeal Five: Obey the Truth, 5:7-12

(5:7-12) Introduction: the Galatian churches had backslidden. They were turning away from the truth, from Jesus Christ Himself. In this passage, Paul makes one last appeal to them: obey the truth. The only hope for the backslider is to turn back to Christ and obey the truth.

1. Obey the truth because the Christian life is a race (v.7).
2. Obey the truth because God called you to freedom (v.8).
3. Obey the truth because a little untruth corrupts the whole (v.9).
4. Obey the truth because of the confidence others have in you (v.10).
5. Obey the truth because false teachers will be judged (v.10-12).

1 (5:7) Obedience—Christian Race: obey the truth, for the Christian life is a race. The phrase “you did run well” is a picture of athletes running in a race.

1. The Galatians had been running and running well. When they first heard the gospel, they believed...
  - in God’s love—that God loved the world so much that He sent His Son into the world to save it.
  - in the righteousness of Christ—that Jesus Christ lived a perfect and righteous life, securing righteousness for them.
  - in the death of Christ—that Jesus Christ died for their sins—that He actually bore the punishment for their transgressions.

As stated, the Galatians had been running the Christian race well. Having believed in Christ, they had been living for Christ: living clean and pure lives and bearing testimony for Him. They had been worshipping and serving Him with zeal. They had been living what they were professing. There had been no false profession about them: no counterfeit and no hypocrisy. They had not been Sunday only Christians; they had been busy for Christ seven days a week, and people from all over the city were coming to know Christ.

But note: some person had stepped in and had begun to hinder their running the Christian race. We know from the previous four chapters that some false teachers had arisen in the churches of Galatia. However, the present reference is to a single individual. Apparently one person had taken charge and become a ringleader of the trouble and false teaching. The word “hinder” (enekopsen) means to cut in, to edge in, to interfere, to obstruct. The picture is still that of the running track. While the Galatians had been running the Christian race, some had edged in on them and begun to hinder and interfere with their running. They were no longer obeying the truth. They were now trying to approach God by some other way than Christ. They were now thinking...

- that God accepted them because they had been ritualized: circumcised and baptized.
- that God accepted them because they tried to keep the law: tried to be as good as they could and did good deeds as opportunity arose.
- that God approved them because they were faithful to the church: its rituals, ceremonies, services, rules and regulations.

They were no longer running well. They had allowed some false teacher to hinder them and to turn them from the truth. They had a need to think about the matter, a desperate need...

- to think about the race they had been running.
- to think about who it was that was now hindering their running.

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain” (1 Cor.9:24).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither laboured in vain” (Ph.2:16).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith” (2 Tim.4:7).

“Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:8).

2 (5:8) God, Call: obey the truth, for God does not call you to error. Note how concise and forceful this statement is; it is direct and to the point: “This persuasion does not come from him who calls you!” The Greek word is persuasion (peismone). Any persuasion, any position, any teaching that leads away from the truth of Jesus Christ is not of God. God and God alone determines how He can be approached, and He has determined it. A person approaches Him through the righteousness and death of His Son Jesus Christ. There is no other way to be justified and saved other than by His Son. There is absolutely no other way to approach God. Therefore, any person who teaches otherwise is teaching a false doctrine; the person’s persuasion or teaching is not the persuasion of God.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life” (Jn.6:68).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

3 (5:9) Leaven: obey the truth, for a little leaven (untruth) corrupts the whole. Leaven stands for evil and corruption, fermentation and infection. It takes only a little leaven to permeate and influence the whole lump of dough. So it is with false teachers. (Remember, Paul was referring only to the ringleader in this present passage.) One false teacher can inject his false teaching into the church and it will soon permeate and influence the whole church. This is what Paul and Scripture are proclaiming. If the Galatians did not root out the false teaching, the whole church would soon be corrupted and the truth would be destroyed. Jesus Christ would no longer be the focus of attention. The church and its people would be focusing upon their rituals, ceremonies, and good works instead of Christ.

They would be trying to approach God through their own goodness and merit. Jesus Christ would soon be placed on the back burner, deemphasized, and lost sight of by many. His prominence and the absolute necessity of His righteousness and death would be diminished and downplayed. This always happens when false teaching is allowed in a church. The only answer to false teaching is what has been stated: root it out.

“Then understood they how that he bade them not beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees” (Mt.16:12).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein” (Heb.13:9).

“For the vile person will speak villany, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice hypocrisy, and to utter error against the LORD, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and he will cause the drink of the thirsty to fail” (Is.32:6).

4 (5:10) Minister: obey the truth, for the minister of God has confidence in you. What an amazing statement! When you think about all that has been written in the Book of Galatians (the terrible attacks against Paul himself and the seriousness of the false teaching that had threatened the church), Paul’s confidence in the Galatians is shocking.

However, note exactly what he said: his confidence is “through the Lord;” that is, the Galatians could overcome the false teaching only through the Lord. Through Christ they could conquer the situation and come out victorious. In fact, Paul had confidence that the churches would heed his warnings and turn back to the Lord and begin to obey the truth.

Thought 1. The only way false teaching or any other difficulty in the church can be handled is “through the Lord.”

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing” (Jn.15:5).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever” (Jude 24-25).

5 (5:10-12) False Teachers: obey the truth, for false teachers shall be judged. The fact is stated in no uncertain terms: the false teacher who was troubling the church would bear the judgment of God. Paul gave four reasons why false teachers will be judged.

1. False teachers shall be judged because they trouble the church and its believers. By trouble is meant to unsettle and disturb. The false teachers were loosening the cords of faith in Christ, disturbing the security and lives of the believers and the ministry of the churches. They were misleading believers and defiling the church of God with false teaching.

“If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are” (1 Cor.3:17).

2. False teachers shall be judged because they spread falsehood about the minister of Christ. Paul did not preach that ritual was necessary for salvation (circumcision, baptism, church membership, etc.); but the false teachers were saying that he did. However, the fact that Paul did not preach circumcision was the main reason the Jews persecuted him so much. That is the reason Paul simply asks: Why am I persecuted by the Jews so much if I preach salvation by ritual (circumcision, baptism, church membership, etc.)?

The point is this: the false teachers had attacked Paul, attempting to discredit him and his ministry among the believers. And one thing God does not tolerate is an attack of His anointed.

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (Jas.4:12).

3. False teachers shall be judged because they are offended by the cross. Paul preached the cross, that a person was justified and acceptable to God only by the cross of Jesus Christ. The false teachers (Judaizers) were offended by this. The word “offense” means stumbling or staggering. It was the cross that had caused the false teachers to stumble in their approach to God. They had taught that the death of Jesus Christ was not enough to make a person acceptable to God. The cross was not sufficient by itself; more was needed. A person had to be ritualized (circumcised, baptized) and subject himself to the law of God and keep all the rituals, ceremonies, and rules of the church. If he did, then he was a true Christian.

Salvation by works and law, of course, is false. Salvation is through God’s Son, Jesus Christ, and through Him alone. Scripture is clear: anyone who follows or teaches any other salvation shall be severely judged by God.

4. False teachers shall be judged because they deserve condemnation. Paul is gripped with intense emotion here: he wishes the false teachers would just go and castrate themselves—cut themselves completely off. This is a repulsive thought to some and rightly so, for false teaching is the most serious offense. Nothing surpasses it, in particular when it adds or takes away from the cross of Christ. God gave His Son to die for men, and if men miss Him, they miss the righteousness necessary to live in God’s presence. There is no other righteousness than the righteousness of Jesus Christ, and there is no other death that can stand as the Ideal substitute for man’s death—not to God. God will not accept any death other than Christ’s death—not to cover the death of man. If a man wishes to approach God, he must come through the cross, through the death of Jesus Christ. God accepts no other way. Therefore, if a person takes any other way to God, it would be best if he just went ahead and went all the way with whatever he teaches—better if he just went all the way and cut himself off and got out of the way—much better than to continue destroying the people of God.

The point is this: a false teacher deserves to be judged. There is no punishment too good for him. As stated above, “He shall bear his judgment.”

“For the son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“The lord of that servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in sunder, and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. And that servant, which knew his lord’s will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes” (Lk.12:46-47).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptation, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men” (2 Pt.3:7).

“Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints, to execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him” (Jude 14-15).

“And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be” (Rev.22:12).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

A. The Believers Great Law of Life: Love, 5:13-15

(5:13-6:18) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Believer, Walk: this passage begins the last section of Galatians. Up until now everything has dealt with doctrine; now Paul begins to deal with the practical day to day affairs of the believer. Paul has six very practical subjects to discuss. Bunching all six subjects together, a simple title would be: "The Believer's Life and Walk: Free and Spiritual."

1. The Believer's Great Law of Life: Love (5:13-15)
2. A Walk Combating the Great Enemy in Life: The Lusts of the Flesh (5:16-21).
3. A Walk Bearing God's Nature: The Fruit of the Spirit (5:22-26).
4. A Walk Restoring the Man Who Slips (6:1-5).
5. A Walk Doing Good to One's Teacher (6:6-10).
6. A Walk Boasting in the Cross of Christ (6:11-18).

(5:13-15) Introduction: Jesus Christ has set the believer free. The believer no longer has to work and work in order to secure God's approval and acceptance. The believer is accepted by God through the work of Jesus Christ. However, there is a critical fact that must always be remembered: Christian liberty is not license, that is, being free to sin, to do as a person likes. Christian liberty is being free not to sin. It is being free to overcome the passions and urges of the flesh that unceasingly wage war against the better judgment of man. The believer is a person who is so conscious of the indwelling Holy Spirit and His power that he is able to purge himself and to love his neighbor as himself. (See note—Ro.6:1-2.)

The point is this: the believer does not walk in sin, for he loves God and loves his neighbor. The believer walks and lives under the greatest of laws—the law of love. Love is the guiding law of the believer's life and walk.

1. Liberty vs. license (v.13).
2. Love is serving others (v.14).
3. Love is not offending, but caring for one's neighbor (v.14).
4. Love is not biting and devouring one another (v.15).

1 (5:13) Liberty vs. License—Law vs. Faith—Love: there is liberty vs. license. It has been well established that the believer does not live by the law nor by some work or act of goodness. The believer knows that he can never become perfect, no matter how much good he does. He knows that he cannot keep enough laws nor can he work to make himself like God. He knows that he is short, far short, of God. If he is ever to be acceptable to God, it has to be because God loves him enough...

- to provide an Ideal Righteousness for him.
- to provide Someone to bear his punishment for having violated the law.

The believer knows that God has loved him and everyone else that much. He knows that God has loved the world so much that he sent His Son, Jesus Christ, into the world to do both things for him and for all the people of the earth. He knows...

- that Jesus Christ lived a sinless life and secured the Ideal Righteousness for him.
- that Jesus Christ died for him—died bearing the judgment of the law for him.

The point is this: when a person believes this about Christ—that Christ is His Savior—God takes that man's belief and counts it as righteousness. The man becomes acceptable to God. This is what the believer knows: he is not acceptable to God because he works and becomes better and better by keeping some law or rule or ritual. He is acceptable to God because Christ has set him free from having to struggle to be good enough to be saved and always wondering if he has done enough good. Man no longer has to work and keep laws to be saved. Living by law was always a hopeless task that left man lost and helpless (see notes—Gal.3:10-12; 3:19). Man is saved by the grace of God in giving His Son for the world: by believing that Jesus Christ is his Savior—that Jesus Christ died for him. However, having said this, note two things.

1. There is the danger of license. A question needs to be asked: if Christ sets us free from the law, does this mean that a person can believe in Christ and then go out and live like he wants, doing his own thing? Can he use his liberty as an occasion to go out and satisfy the flesh knowing that God will forgive him? Can a person continue to seek the things of the world and give way to the desires and lusts of his flesh? Can he believe in Christ and still live in worldliness? No! A thousand times no, Scripture declares!

A person who thinks and declares such an idea fails to understand belief—true belief. In the Bible belief does not mean intellectual belief, to just believe something in the mind. Belief means a committed belief, to believe something with one's life. To believe Christ is to commit one's life to Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Believe—Jn.2:24 for more discussion). Just think about it for a moment and it becomes perfectly clear: if a person is not willing to commit his life to Christ, he does not believe in Christ. He could not believe, not really; for if he really believed, he would beyond all question give all he is and has to the Son of God. (Cp. Ro.6:16; Heb.5:9.)

2. There is the restraint of love. A person who thinks that belief in Christ frees him and gives him license to sin does not understand what love is. This is the subject of the present passage. The true believer is freed from having to secure God's approval by law, but love is the one restraint that is placed upon him. The believer needs no restraint but love. There are at least two reasons for this.

⇒ God has loved him, so the person who truly sees the love of God is drawn to love God and to love all God's creatures.

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

⇒ Love embraces all the commandments of God. Jesus Himself said so, and the fact is clearly seen in the points of this passage.

“Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets” (Mt.22:36-40).

2 (5:13) Love—Service: love is serving one another. A believer is free in Christ: he is set free of all law, restraints, and works. He is under nothing, absolutely nothing but Christ. He lives in Christ, moves and has his being in Christ. The love of Christ is his law and restraint. Why? Because Christ loved the believer, served and gave Himself for the believer, and the believer knows it. Therefore, the believer loves Christ with all his heart and life. He wants to please Christ and do all he can to serve Him. And this is just the point: how can the believer serve Christ? By doing exactly what Christ did: loving and serving others.

“By love serve one another.”

A person who loves does not act like a lord over people; he...

- serves and helps
- shows kindness and gentleness
- expresses concern and care
- demonstrates sympathy and empathy

The person who truly loves identifies with a person, gets down where they are, even below where they are, and ministers to them. Love serves—always reaches out to do whatever it can for the other person. It never withdraws from the other person, feeling that he or she...

- does not deserve the effort or help.
- is not worth the effort or help.
- is less than what he should be.
- is too derelict, immoral, uneducated, unrecognized, below others.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves? And he said, He [the good Samaritan] that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise” (Lk.10:36-37).

“For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth” (Lk.22:27).

“He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself. After that he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded....If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet” (Jn.13:4-5, 14).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:7).

3 (5:14) Love: love is not offending but caring for one’s neighbor—caring as much as one cares for oneself. It must be admitted:

⇒ If a person cared for everyone else as much as he cared for himself, he would need no law. He would be living and doing exactly what he should.

This is the reason love fulfills all the law. Love does not take advantage of other people. Love will not use other people to fulfill one’s own purpose, greed, or lust. Love will not hurt someone else any more than we would want someone to hurt us.

Love involves some very practical acts that are clearly spelled out in Scripture (1 Cor.13:4-7).

- ⇒ Love suffereth long (endures long and is patient).
- ⇒ Love is kind.
- ⇒ Love envies not (is not jealous).
- ⇒ Love vaunts not itself (does not brag; does not boast).
- ⇒ Love is not puffed up (vainglorious, arrogant, prideful).
- ⇒ Love does not behave itself unseemingly (unbecomingly, rudely, indecently, unmannerly).
- ⇒ Love seeks not her own (is not selfish or self-seeking; does not insist on its own right and way).
- ⇒ Love is not easily provoked (not touchy, angry, fretful, resentful).
- ⇒ Love thinks no evil (harbors and plans no evil thought; takes no account of a wrong done it).
- ⇒ Love rejoices not in iniquity (wrong, sin, evil, injustice), but rejoices in the truth (justice and righteousness).
- ⇒ Love bears all things.
- ⇒ Love believes all things (exercises faith in everything; is ready to believe the best in everyone).
- ⇒ Love hopes all things (keeps up hope in everything and under all circumstances).
- ⇒ Love endures all things (without weakening; it gives power to endure).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

4 (5:15) Love: love is not biting and devouring one another. A.T. Robertson says that the picture is that of a fight between a dog and cat or a fight between wild animals (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.311). Biting and devouring refers to much more than just feuding and fighting. Men bite and devour each other when they violate each other. For example, nothing takes a hunk out a person any more than the biting or devouring that takes place between a wife or husband. However, love respects the other person—no matter who he is or what he has done. Love does not bite or devour others in any way whatsoever. Love does not...

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now” (1 Jn.2:9).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen? And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also” (1 Jn.4:20-21).

“Hatred stirreth up strifes: but love covereth all sins” (Pr.10:12).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

B. A Walk Combating the Great Enemy in Life: Lusts of the Flesh, 5:16-21

(5:16-21) Introduction: this and the next passage are two critical passages for the believer's walk. They deal with walking in the Spirit of God and conquering the flesh. The lessons being taught need to be diligently followed by the believer.

1. The answer to conquering the lusts of the flesh: the Holy Spirit (v.16-18).
2. The works or acts of the flesh (v.19-21).
3. The judgment of those who live by the flesh (v.21).

1 (5:16-18) Holy Spirit—Flesh: the answer to conquering the lusts of the flesh is the Holy Spirit of God. The believer is to walk in the presence and power of the Holy Spirit. It is the only conceivable way he can keep from fulfilling the lusts of the flesh. No person has the power to control the lusts of his flesh—not within himself. Why is clearly seen in the four reasons given by Scripture.

1. The flesh fights for dominance. It lusts against the Spirit, struggles and fights to control the man. The picture is that of a tug of war (A.T. Robertson. Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.311). The flesh stands contrary to the Spirit—toe to toe, face to face—and it seeks to control man.

The word "lusts" (epithumei kata) means a yearning passion for. Every person has experienced the flesh...

| • yearning | • craving   | • grasping |
| • pulling  | • hungering | • grabbing |
| • desiring | • thirsting | • taking   |
| • wanting  | • longing   |            |

Every person knows what it is to have his flesh lusting after something, to have it yearning and yearning to lay hold of something. The flesh is very strong and difficult to control. This is the first reason why a believer's only hope to control the flesh is the Spirit of God.

"But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members" (Ro.7:23).

"Because the carnal [fleshly] mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be" (Ro.8:7).

"From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not" (Jas.4:1-2).

2. The flesh is contrary to the Spirit. The flesh has within itself base and unregulated urges and passions. A man desires the desire to do what he likes, to lift the restraints and follow his own inclinations, desires, passions, and emotions. This is what the Bible means when it speaks of the "lust of the flesh."

However, the genuine believer has another force within his life—the force of the Holy Spirit. When the believer feels the constraint and the pressure between the flesh and the Holy Spirit, the Holy Spirit is giving the power to overcome the flesh. The constraint is the power. The believer who listens to the constraint and walks away from the object of the pressure, and calls upon God for the courage to stay away is the believer who walks in the Spirit. The believer is to know no such thing as peaceful coexistence between the flesh and the Spirit. (See notes—Ro.7:14-25; 8:18; 8:28-39.)

3. The flesh keeps a person from doing what he would. Every person has experienced the power of the flesh; everyone has caved in to the flesh and done something that he did not want to do. He fought against doing it—knew it was harmful or hurtful—yet he did not resist the flesh. He gave in to the power of the flesh and did it. He...

| • got drunk     | • cursed          |                           |

Note another fact as well. All of us have been tempted, and we have known how to combat and overcome the temptation. However, the flesh was so strong we did not overcome it. The struggle we experienced involved that of...

| • reaching out | • giving in     | • giving           |
| • loving       | • being patient | • helping          |

The point is this: the flesh is so strong that it often keeps us from doing what we would. The only hope of ever controlling the flesh is to walk in the Spirit of God—in His presence and power.

“For that which I do I allow not: for what I would, that do I not; for what I hate, that do I. If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law that it is good. Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me. For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not. For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do. Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me” (Ro.7:15-20).

“For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal [fleshly], but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds” (2 Cor.10:4).

4. The flesh fails to keep the law. This has been clearly shown in the previous point. No person keeps the law all the time: the flesh causes us to fail, and no matter how much we try, we cannot do everything the law says—not all the time. What then is the answer? It is essential to know the answer, for every time we fail to keep the law, the law is broken and we stand condemned. We cannot satisfy the demands of the law, not perfectly. Therefore, we are guilty and must pay the penalty. Note another fact: our consciences condemn us. They bother and bug us if we are trying to live for Christ and yet continue failing time after time. Again, what is the answer?

The Spirit of God is the answer; being led by the Holy Spirit will free us from the flesh and from the condemnation of the law. What does this mean? (See note, Holy Spirit, Life—Ro.8:2-4 for more discussion.) It means that the Holy Spirit frees us to live as Christ lived, to actually live out the life which Christ lived. The active energy of life, the dynamic force and being of life—all that is in Christ Jesus—is given to the believer. The believer actually lives in Christ Jesus. And the Spirit of life which is in Christ frees the believer from the fate (law) of sin and death. This simply means that the believer lives in a consciousness of being free. He breathes and senses a depth of life, a richness, a fulness of life that is indescribable. He lives with power—power over the pressure, strain, impediments, and bondages of life—even the bondages of sin and death. He lives now and shall live forever. He senses this and knows this. Life to him is a spirit, a breath, a consciousness of being set free through Christ. Even when he sins and guilt sets in, there is a tug, a power (Holy Spirit) that draws him back to God. He asks forgiveness and removal of the guilt (1 Jn.1:9), and immediately upon asking, the same power (the Holy Spirit) instills an instantaneous assurance of cleansing. The spirit of life, the consciousness of living instantaneously, takes up its abode within him once again. He feels free again, and he feels full of life in all its liberating power and freedom. He bubbles over with all the depth of the richness and fulness of life itself. He is full of the “Spirit of life.” Life itself becomes once again a spirit, a consciousness of living. He lives now and forever.

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death. For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:2-4).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:14).

“Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come” (Jn.16:13).

2 (5:19-21) Flesh: the works or acts of the flesh show just how strong the flesh is. Note a fact of extreme importance: the flesh in itself is not sinful. The flesh or human body is given by God; it is for God’s use. In fact, when a person is converted to Christ, his body becomes a temple for God to dwell in through the Holy Spirit. The Christian is not told to cleanse himself from the flesh but from “the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16), “the filthiness of the flesh” (2 Cor.7:1), and from “the works of the flesh” (Ro.13:12; Gal.5:19). The works of the flesh are the fruit of indwelling sin, and sin originates in the heart not in the flesh. The sins of the flesh listed in this passage are clearly seen all throughout society; and tragically they are not only seen on the daily newscasts of every city, but within every community, home, and life on planet earth. The very presence of such fleshly sins shows just how strong the flesh is and how helpless man is to control his flesh.

1. Adultery (moicheia): sexual unfaithfulness to husband or wife. It is also looking on a woman or a man to lust after her or him. Looking at and lusting after the opposite sex whether in person, magazines, books, on beaches or anywhere else is adultery. Imagining and lusting within the heart is the very same as committing the act.

“But I say unto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Thou shalt not commit adultery” (Ex.20:14; cp. Lev.20:10).

“The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face. In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light. For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death. He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards. Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so doth the grave those which have sinned” (Job 24:15-19).

2. Fornication (porneia): a broad word including all forms of immoral and sexual acts. It is premarital sex and adultery; it is abnormal sex, all kinds of sexual vice.

“Flee fornication. Every sin that man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

3. Uncleanness (akatharsia): moral impurity; doing things that dirty, pollute, and soil life.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves” (Ro.1:24).

“I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness” (Ro.6:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

4. Lasciviousness (aselgeia): filthiness, indecency, shamelessness. A chief characteristic of the behavior is open and shameless indecency. It means unrestrained evil thoughts and behavior. It is giving in to brutish and lustful desires, a readiness for any pleasure. It is a man who knows no restraint, a man who has sinned so much that he no longer cares what people say or think. It is something far more distasteful than just doing wrong. The man who misbehaves usually tries to hide his wrong, but a lascivious man does not care who knows about his exploits or shame. He wants; therefore, he seeks to take and gratify. Decency and opinion do not matter. Initially when he began to sin, he did as all men do: he misbehaved in secret. But eventually, the sin got the best of him—to the point that he no longer cared who saw or knew. He became the subject of a master—the master of habit, of the thing itself. Men become the slaves of such things as unbridled lust, wantonness, licentiousness, outrageousness, shamelessness, insolence (Mk.7:22), wanton manners, filthy words, indecent body movements, immoral handling of males and females (Ro.13:13), public display of affection, carnality, gluttony, and sexual immorality (1 Pt.4:3; 2 Pt.2:2, 18). (Cp. 2 Cor.12:21; Gal.5:19; Eph.4:19; 2 Pt.2:7.)

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

5. Idolatry (eidololatreia): the worship of idols, whether mental or made by man’s hands; the worship of some idea of what God is like, of an image of God within a person’s mind; the giving of one’s primary devotion (time and energy) to something other than God. (See note, Sin, pt.2—1 Cor.6:9 for detailed discussion.)

“Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry” (1 Cor.10:14).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

6. Witchcraft (pharmakeia): sorcery; the use of drugs or of evil spirits to gain control over the lives of others or over one’s own life. In the present context it would include all forms of seeking the control of one’s fate including astrology, palm reading, seances, fortune telling, crystals, and other forms of witchcraft.

“So Saul died for his transgression which he committed against the LORD, even against the word of the LORD, which he kept not, and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to inquire of it” (1 Chron.10:13).

“And when they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God? for the living to the dead? To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them” (Is.8:19-20).

“And I will cut off witchcrafts out of thine hand; and thou shalt have no more soothsayers” (Mic.5:12).

“Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:20-21).

7. Hatred (echthrai): enmity, hostility, animosity. It is the hatred that lingers and is held for a long, long time; a hatred that is deep within.

“He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now” (1 Jn.2:9).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?” (1 Jn.4:20).

“Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thine heart: thou shalt in any wise rebuke thy neighbour, and not suffer sin upon him” (Lev.19:17).

“Hatred stirreth up strifes: but love covereth all sins” (Pr.10:12).

8. Variance (ereis): strife, discord, contention, fighting, struggling, quarreling, dissension, wrangling. It means that a man fights against another person in order to get something: position, promotion, property, honor, recognition. He deceives, doing whatever has to be done to get what he is after.

“He is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings” (1 Tim.6:4).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“The beginning of strife is as when one letteth out water: therefore leave off contention, before it be meddled with” (Pr.17:14).

“As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire; so is a contentious man to kindle strife” (Pr.26:21).

9. Emulations (zeloi): jealousy, wanting and desiring to have what someone else has. It may be material things, recognition, honor, or position.

“And when his brethren saw that their father loved him more than all his brethren, they hated him, and could not speak peaceably unto him” (Gen.37:4).

“For jealousy is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance” (Pr.6:34).

“And he [the elder son] answering said to his father, Lo, these many years do I serve thee, neither transgressed I at any time thy commandment: and yet thou never gavest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends; but as soon as thy son [the prodigal son] was come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou hast killed for him the fatted calf” (Lk.15:29-30).

10. Wrath (thumoi): bursts of anger; indignation; a violent, explosive temper; quick-tempered explosive reactions that arise from stirred and boiling emotions. But it is anger which fades away just as quickly as it arose. It is not anger that lasts.

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath: for the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God” (Jas.1:19-20).

“An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression” (Pr.29:22).

11. Strife (eritheiai): conflict, struggle, fight, contention, faction, dissension; a party spirit, a cliquish spirit.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

12. Seditious (dichostasiai): division, rebellion, standing against others, splitting off from others.

“For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king” (1 Sam.15:23).

“Woe to the rebellious children, saith the LORD, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my spirit, that they may add sin to sin” (Is.30:1).

“I have spread out my hands all the day unto a rebellious people, which walketh in a way that was not good, after their own thoughts” (Is.65:2).

“But chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. presumptuous are they, selfwilled, and they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities” (2 Pt.2:10).

13. Heresies (aireseis): rejecting the fundamental beliefs of God, Christ, the Scriptures, and the church; believing and holding to some teaching other than the truth.

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils” (1 Tim.4:1).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [quietly, secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

14. Envyings (phthonoi): this word goes beyond jealousy. It is the spirit...

- that wants not only the things that another person has, but begrudges the fact that the person has them.
- that wants not only the things to be taken away from the person, but wants him to suffer through the loss of them.

“A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones” (Pr.14:30).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the LORD all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

“Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them” (Pr.24:1).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

15. Murders (phonois): to kill, to take the life of another person. Murder is sin against the sixth commandment.

“He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness” (Mt.19:18).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Ro.13:8-9).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

16. Drunkenness (methai): taking drink or drugs to affect one’s senses for lust or pleasure; becoming tipsy or intoxicated; partaking of drugs; seeking to loosen moral restraint for bodily pleasure.

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:10).

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess” (Eph.5:18).

“For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:7).

“Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise” (Pr.20:1).

“Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine” (Pr.23:29-30).

“Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them!” (Is.5:11).

“For while they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry” (Nah.1:10).

17. Revellings (komoi): carousing; uncontrolled license, indulgence, and pleasure; taking part in wild parties or in drinking parties; lying around indulging in feeding the lusts of the flesh; orgies.

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children” (2 Pt.2:13-14).

“Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:21).

“And they rose up early on the morrow, and offered burnt offerings, and brought peace offerings; and the people sat down to eat and to drink, and rose up to play” (Ex.32:6; cp. Judges 9:27; 1 Sam.30:16).

3 (5:21) Flesh—Judgment: the judgment of those who live by the flesh. Very simply, they shall not inherit the kingdom of God. This can be clearly seen: if God is righteous, then people must live righteous lives in order to be accepted by Him. However, people ignore the fact of God’s righteousness and His demand for righteousness. People divorce their behavior from religion. People...

- profess religion.
- practice religion.
- talk religion.
- defend their beliefs about religion.

However, they go ahead and live like they want regardless of their religion. If they want to do something, they do it feeling that God will forgive them. There are few people who really think that God will reject them. They feel that they will have done enough good to be acceptable to God...

- enough kindness
- enough religion
- enough works
- enough service

In the final analysis, most people just think that God will accept them. This attitude comes from a false concept of God, a concept that looks upon God as a father who is indulgent and who gives his children the license to do some wrong.

This is a fatal mistake. It was the mistake that some of the Galatian church members were making, and it is the same mistake that teeming multitudes of religious people have made down through the centuries.

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?” (1 Cor.6:9).

Believers are to inherit a kingdom, a new heavens and earth where God will rule and reign. They are to be given eternal life and given the glorious privilege of being citizens in God’s kingdom and world. They are to live with Him and serve Him in perfection for all eternity. (See note, Reward—1 Cor.6:2-3; Lk.16:10-12 for more discussion.) But this glorious privilege is to be given only to genuine believers, those men and women who have truly given their lives to the Lord Jesus Christ—given their lives to live as Jesus Christ says to live. No matter how religious a person is—no matter how much zeal a person may have in keeping religious rituals and in attending services and in giving to charity—if he does not live a pure and righteous life, he “shall not inherit the kingdom of God.”

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?” (1 Cor.6:9).

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit corruption” (1 Cor.15:50).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

“For without [the Kingdom of God] are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

C. A Walk Bearing God's Nature: The Fruit of the Spirit, 5:22-26

(5:22-26) Introduction: a genuine believer stands before God approved and acceptable. He is embraced and loved by God, looked after and cared for by God. And he is the recipient of eternal life and of the absolute assurance of eternal life.

But note: the believer has not been accepted by God because he deserves it, not because he kept enough laws to win the approval of God. The believer has been accepted by God because of Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ died to pay the penalty for man's transgressions of the law. He died to free men from the law, from its judgment and condemnation. Therefore, standing before God, the believer is not there because he has kept laws and has earned the right to stand there. He is there because of his faith in Jesus Christ. His faith honors God's Son, and God loves His Son so much that He honors anyone who believes in His Son. He honors the person by doing exactly what the person believes. Therefore, the man who believes that Jesus Christ makes him acceptable to God becomes acceptable to God.

The point is this: since the believer has to approach God through Jesus Christ and not through the law, he is freed from the law. He is under Jesus Christ, not the law. Does this mean then that the believer has no restraint upon his life and behavior—that he is free to live like he wants? Is he free to follow the desires and lusts of his flesh—to seek the things of the world and give in to the urges to look, think, touch, taste, and do?

The answer is no! A thousand times no! For the believer has been given God's nature; he walks through life bearing God's nature (2 Pt.1:4; Eph.4:24; Col.3:10; 1 Cor.6:19-20). God has absolutely nothing to do with sin, not within His nature. Therefore, the believer is not to cave in to the lusts of the flesh; he is to walk bearing the fruit of God's nature, that is, the fruit of God's Spirit.

1. The believer is to walk bearing God's nature (v.22-23).
2. The believer is to walk bearing a crucified flesh (v.24).
3. The believer is to walk consistently with his position in Christ (v.25).
4. The believer is to walk free from selfishness, super-spirituality and envy (v.26).

1 (5:22-23) Holy Spirit—Believer, Walk: the believer is to walk bearing God's nature, that is, the fruit of God's Spirit. Note that the word "fruit" is singular, not plural. The Holy Spirit has only one fruit. It is broken down into a list of traits in order to help us understand His nature. However, the Spirit has only one nature, one fruit. Therefore, when He lives within a person, all these traits are present. The genuine believer does not experience and bear just some of them: the Spirit of God produces them all in the life of the believer.

1. There is the fruit of love (agape). Agape love is the love of the mind, of the reason, of the will. It is the love that goes so far...
  - that it loves regardless of feelings—whether a person feels like loving or not.
  - that it loves a person even if the person does not deserve to be loved.
  - that it actually loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Note four significant points about agape love.

- a. Selfless or agape love is the love of God, the very love possessed by God Himself. It is the love demonstrated in the cross of Christ.
  - ⇒ It is the love of God for the ungodly.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

⇒ It is the love of God for unworthy sinners.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

⇒ It is the love of God for undeserving enemies.

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

- b. Selfless or agape love is a gift of God. It can be experienced only if a person knows God personally—only if a person has received the love of God, that is, Christ Jesus, into his heart and life. Agape love has to be shed abroad (poured out, flooded, spread about) by the Spirit of God within the heart of a person.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

- c. Selfless or agape love is the greatest thing in all of life according to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:29-31).

- d. Selfless or agape love is the greatest possession and gift in human life according to the Scripture (1 Cor.13:1-13).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

2. There is the fruit of joy (chara): an inner gladness; a deep seated pleasure. It is a depth of assurance and confidence that ignites a cheerful heart. It is a cheerful heart that leads to cheerful behavior. (See note, Joy—Ph.1:4 for full discussion.)

3. There is the fruit of peace (eirene): it means to bind together, to join, to weave together. It means that a person is bound, woven and joined together with himself and with God and others.

The Hebrew word is shalom. It means freedom from trouble and much more. It means experiencing the highest good, enjoying the very best possible, possessing all the inner good possible. It means wholeness and soundness. It means prosperity in the widest sense, especially prosperity in the spiritual sense of having a soul that blossoms and flourishes. (See note, Peace—Eph.2:14-15 for more discussion.)

- a. There is the peace of the world. This is a peace of escapism, of avoiding trouble, of refusing to face things, of unreality. It is a peace that is sought through pleasure, satisfaction, contentment, the absence of trouble, positive thinking, or the denial of problems.
- b. There is the peace of Christ and of God.
- ⇒ The peace of God is, first, a bosom peace, a peace deep within. It is a tranquility of mind, a composure, and a restfulness that is undisturbed by circumstances and situations. It is more than feelings—even more than attitude and thought.
- ⇒ The peace of God is, second, the peace of conquest (cp. Jn.16:33). It is the peace that is independent of conditions and environment; the peace which no sorrow, danger, suffering, or experience can take away.

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

- ⇒ The peace of God is, third, the peace of assurance (cp. Ro.8:28). It is the peace of unquestionable confidence; the peace with a sure knowledge that one’s life is in the hands of God and that all things will work out for good to those who love God and are called according to His purpose.

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

- ⇒ The peace of God is, fourth, the peace of intimacy with God (cp. Ph.4:6-7). It is the peace of the highest good. It is the peace that settles the mind, strengthens the will, and establishes the heart.

- c. There is the source of peace. Peace is always born out of reconciliation. Its source is found only in the reconciliation wrought by Jesus Christ. Peace always has to do with personal relationships: a man’s relationship to himself, to God, and to his fellow men.

- ⇒ A man must be bound, woven, and joined together with himself in order to have peace.
- ⇒ A man must be bound, woven, and joined together with God in order to have peace.
- ⇒ A man must be bound, woven, and joined together with his fellow man to have peace.

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one [both Jew and Gentile, all men], and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:13-14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven. And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled” (Col.1:20-21).

4. There is the fruit of longsuffering (makrothumia): patience, bearing and suffering a long time, perseverance, being constant, steadfast, and enduring. Longsuffering never gives in; it is never broken no matter what attacks it.
- ⇒ Pressure and hard work may fall upon us, but the Spirit of God helps us suffer long under it all.
  - ⇒ Disease or accident or old age may afflict us, but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it.
  - ⇒ Discouragement and disappointment may attack us, but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it.
  - ⇒ Men may do us wrong, abuse, slander, and injure us; but the Spirit of God helps us to suffer long under it all.

Two significant things need to be noted about longsuffering.

- a. Longsuffering never strikes back. Common sense tells us that a person who is attacked by others could strike back and retaliate. But the Christian believer is given the power of longsuffering—the power to suffer the situation or person for a long, long time.
- b. Longsuffering is one of the great traits of God. As pointed out in this verse, it is a fruit of God’s very own Spirit, a fruit that is to be in the life of the believer.
  - ⇒ God and Christ are longsuffering toward sinners.

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

⇒ God saves believers so that they may be examples of longsuffering.

“Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might show forth all longsuffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting” (1 Tim.1:16).

⇒ God withholds His judgment from the world because He is longsuffering, waiting for more and more to be saved.

“And account that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisdom given unto him hath written unto you” (2 Pt.3:9; cp. 1 Pt.3:20).

“For my name’s sake will I defer mine anger, and for my praise will I refrain for thee, that I cut thee not off” (Is.48:9).

William Barclay says that if God had been a man, He would have long ago wiped man off the face of the earth because of his terrible disobedience (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.56). But God loves and cares for man; therefore, God is longsuffering toward man. God is suffering a long, long time with man, allowing more and more men to be saved.

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and long-suffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long-suffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

5. There is the fruit of gentleness (chrestotes): it is being kind and good, useful and helpful, gentle and sweet, considerate and gracious through all situations no matter the circumstances. A person who is gentle does not act...

- hard
- indifferent
- harsh
- unconcerned
- too busy
- bitter

Gentleness cares for the feelings of others and feels with them. It experiences the full depth of sympathy and empathy. It shows care and gets right into the situation with a person. Gentleness suffers with those who suffer, and struggles with those who struggle, and works with those who work.

⇒ God is kind.

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

⇒ Believers are to be kind to one another.

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity “ (2 Pt.1:5-7).

6. There is the fruit of goodness (agathosune): it is being full of virtue and excellence, kindness and helpfulness, peace and consideration. It means that a person is full of all good and he does all good. It means...

- that he has a good heart and good behavior.
- that he is good and does good.
- that he is a quality person.

Note that a good person lives and treats everyone just as they should be treated. He does not take advantage of any person nor does he stand by and let others take advantage. He stands up and lives for what is right, good, and just. This means that goodness involves discipline and rebuke, correction and instruction as well as love and care, peace and conciliation. A good person will not give license to evil, will not let evil run rampant. He will not allow evil to indulge itself and treat others unjustly. He will not allow others to suffer evil. Goodness steps forward and does what it can to stop and control evil.

“And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another” (Ro.15:14).

⇒ God is full of goodness.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth” (Eph.5:9).

“Wherefore also we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power” (2 Th.1:11).

“He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the LORD” (Ps.33:5).

“O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him” (Ps.34:8).

“And I looked, and there was none to help; and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine own arm brought salvation unto me; and my fury, it upheld me” (Is.63:5).

⇒ Believers are to be full of all goodness.

“And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another” (Ro.15:14).

“And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God” (Eph.3:19).

7. There is the fruit of faith or faithfulness (pistis): it means to be faithful and trustworthy; to be loyal and steadfast in devotion and allegiance. It means to be constant, staunch, and enduring. A faithful person denies and sacrifices himself—all he is and has—and trusts God. He believes God and knows that God will work all things out for good. Therefore, he casts himself totally upon God and becomes faithful to God.

- ⇒ Faithfulness does not doubt God—not His salvation, provision, or strength to help.
- ⇒ Faithfulness does not begin with God then back off and give up.
- ⇒ Faithfulness does not walk with God then give in to the lusts of the flesh.

Faithfulness begins with God and continues with God. Faithfulness continues on and on; it never slackens or surrenders.

⇒ God is faithful.

“God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord” (1 Cor.1:9).

“Wherefore, let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator” (1 Pt.4:19).

“Know therefore that the Lord thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations” (Dt.7:9).

“Blessed be the Lord, that hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed one word of all his good promise, which he promised by the hand of Moses his servant” (1 Ki.8:56).

“I will sing of the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulness to all generations” (Ps.89:1).

⇒ Believers are to be faithful.

“And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities” (Lk.19:17).

“Moreover it is required in stewards [believers], that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“And Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after” (Heb.3:5).

“Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine” (Ex.19:5).

8. There is the fruit of meekness (prautes): it means to be gentle, tender, humble, mild, and considerate, but strongly so. Meekness has the strength to control and discipline, and it does so at the right time.

- a. Meekness has a humble state of mind. But this does not mean the person is weak, cowardly, and bowing. The meek person simply loves people and loves peace; therefore, he walks humbly among men regardless of their status and circumstance in life. Associating with the poor and lowly of this earth does not bother the meek person. He desires to be a friend to all and to help all as much as possible.
- b. Meekness has a strong state of mind. It looks at situations and wants justice and right to be done. It is not a weak mind that ignores and neglects evil and wrong-doing, abuse and suffering.
  - ⇒ If someone is suffering, meekness steps in and does what it can to help.
  - ⇒ If evil is being done, meekness does what it can to stop and correct it.
  - ⇒ If evil is running rampant and indulging itself, meekness actually strikes out in anger. However, note a crucial point: the anger is always at the right time and against the right thing.
- c. Meekness has strong self-control. The meek person controls his spirit and mind. He controls the lusts of his flesh. He does not give way to ill-temper, retaliation, passion, indulgence, or license. The meek person dies to himself, to what his flesh would like to do, and he does the right thing—exactly what God wants done.

In summary, the meek man walks in a humble, tender, but strong state of mind; he denies himself, giving utmost consideration to others. He shows a control and righteous anger against injustice and evil. A meek man forgets and lives for others because of what Christ has done for him.

⇒ God is meek.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ Jesus Christ was meek.

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

⇒ Believers are to be meek.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:1-3).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation [behavior] his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

9. There is the fruit of temperance (egkrateia): to master and control the body or the flesh with all of its lusts. It means self-control, the master of desire, appetite and passion, especially sensual urges and cravings. It means to be strong, controlled, and restrained. It means to stand against the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye, and the pride of life (1 Jn.2:15-16).

⇒ Self-control is of God, a fruit of the Holy Spirit.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ The believer is to proclaim self-control to the lost.

“And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee” (Acts 24:25).

⇒ The believer is to control his sexual desires.

“But if they cannot contain [control], let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn” (1 Cor.7:9).

⇒ The believer is to strenuously exercise self-control, just as an athlete controls himself.

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

⇒ The believer is to grow in self-control.

“And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness” (2 Pt.1:6).

⇒ The aged believer is especially to be on guard to control himself.

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate, sound in faith, in charity, in patience” (Tit.2:2).

In concluding our discussion we should remember that the fruit of the Spirit is the very nature of God (Gal.2:20; Eph.5:18). The believer is to walk in the Spirit; that is, he is to walk in such a consciousness of God and in such open confession that he is kept constantly clean from sin. God keeps him clean and pure and acceptable as though he were perfect. As the believer so walks in such an awareness of God, he assimilates the very nature of God and the Holy Spirit’s fruit is produced. No law can stand against such things. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.15:1-8.)

2 (5:24) Believer, Position—Old Man—Flesh: the believer is to walk bearing a crucified flesh. This is a striking verse. Note several points.

1. Note the words, “they that are Christ’s.” A person becomes the property and the possession of Christ when he first trusts Christ as his Savior. When a person comes to Jesus Christ to save him, he is coming because he wants to be delivered from the enslavement and bondage of sin, death, and judgment. He wants to live forever with God. He does not want to continue being the slave of the flesh, subjected to its lusts, death and sure judgment. He wants to be saved from the flesh of a corruptible world. Therefore, when a person comes to Christ, he is turning away from the flesh to God; he is turning his back upon the mastery of the flesh and all that it stands for. He is turning to Jesus Christ as his new master. Consequently...

- the believer no longer belongs to the flesh; he belongs to Jesus Christ.
- the flesh no longer possesses the believer; Jesus Christ possesses him.
- the believer no longer serves the flesh; he serves the Lord Jesus Christ.

2. Note that the believer has crucified the flesh with the affections (passions) and lusts. How? By dying with Jesus Christ. How can a person die with Jesus Christ? By an act of God. Only God can count a person to have died with Jesus Christ and it be true, an actual occurrence. This is exactly what God does. When a person genuinely believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that person’s belief and counts it as his death with Jesus Christ. God honors his faith by identifying him with Christ. God counts and considers the person...

- to have died in Christ’s death.
- to be placed into Christ’s death.
- to be identified with Christ’s death.
- to be a partaker of Christ’s death.
- to be in union with Christ’s death.
- to be bound in Christ’s death.

Now, note the point: if the believer is counted by God as having been crucified with Christ, then the believer...

- has died to the flesh.
- has died to the passions of the flesh.
- has died to the lusts of the flesh.
- is freed from the flesh.
- is freed from the passions of the flesh.
- is freed from the lusts of the flesh.

Once a person has died, he is dead. The rule, reign, the habits, and desires of the flesh no longer have control over him. The flesh ceases to have a place or a position in his life. He is free from the flesh, free from...

- |                    |                        |
|--------------------|------------------------|
| • fleshly habits   | • fleshly enslavement  |
| • fleshly control  | • fleshly condemnation |
| • fleshly bondage  | • fleshly death        |
| • fleshly judgment |                        |

To be crucified with Christ means that we no longer live in the flesh, in the place and position of the flesh. We cannot live apart from the flesh, for we are in this body upon this earth. But we are free from living after the flesh. We no longer follow the passions and lusts of the flesh. We desire and follow righteousness, seeking to please God in all that we do.

“God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?” (Ro.6:2).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:3).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

3 (5:25) Believer—Holy Spirit: the believer is to walk consistently with his position in Christ. To be in Christ is to be in God’s Spirit. When the believer trusts Jesus Christ as his Savior, God places His Spirit in the heart of the believer. The Spirit is placed there to guide and direct the believer day by day. Therefore, the believer is to walk in the Spirit; he is to live just as the Spirit of God directs. This is the point of this verse. If we live by the Spirit, let us also walk by the Spirit. The Spirit gives us life, the life of God; therefore, let us walk and live out the life He gives us.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:13-14).

“For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love” (Gal.5:6).

4 (5:26) Believer, Walk: the believer is to walk free from super-spirituality and envy. When believer’s are challenged to live spiritual lives, there is always the danger that some will become super-spiritual and others will begin to envy the spiritual gifts of those who are genuinely spiritual and greatly blessed by God.

1. There is the danger of super-spirituality. There is the temptation of pride and of showing superiority. It is the attitude that says, “I have it, and you don’t.” This attitude, of course, irritates and provokes people. It causes division within the church.

“Woe unto you that are full [who say they are full]! for ye shall hunger. Woe unto you that laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep” (Lk.6:25).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“They are inclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly” (Ps.17:10).

2. There is the danger of envy (see note, Flesh, pt.14—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

D. A Walk Restoring the Man Who Slips, 6:1-5

(6:1-5) Introduction: note the word “man.” This means a person who is just like the rest of us; that is, he has desires, passions, and urges just like us. He walks and lives in the flesh just like we do. Therefore, he faces the very same temptations we do, for all temptation is common to all men (1 Cor.10:13).

What is to be done when a Christian brother has succumbed to temptation, stumbled, or fallen? What is to be the spirit and attitude of the church? How are we to approach the problem? Are we to...

- |                      |                            |
|----------------------|----------------------------|
| • ignore him?        | • dismiss him?             |
| • criticize him?     | • isolate him?             |
| • withdraw from him? | • spread rumors about him? |
| • shame him?         | • slander him?             |
| • censor him?        |                            |

Note a fact: no sin is specified. The sin may be large or small, black or gray, despicable or acceptable (to man), serious or innocent, harmful or harmless. The point to note is this: a true Christian brother can be overtaken by sin. The word “overtaken” is interesting; it means to be taken beforehand, by surprise, or unexpectedly. A true Christian is surprised when he is overtaken by sin; he never suspected it. In fact, being overtaken by serious sin was seldom, if ever, a concern; for he belonged to Christ and lived in Christ.

However, when a brother is caught in sin and slips and falls, what should be done? Scripture is clear: Christian brothers are to restore him. The word “restore” (katartizete) is a word that is used for setting a broken arm or leg or for mending nets or for cutting some growth out of a body (William Barclay. The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.58). Believers are to help the brother:

- |                        |                 |
|------------------------|-----------------|
| • set him right        | • mend him      |
| • restore him          | • lead him back |
| • help cut the sin out |                 |

However, there is a right way and a wrong way to help the fallen brother. This is the point that is being stressed and that is desperately needed by believers and the church. All believers are mere men of like passions with all other men, and there are always some being overtaken by sin. This, of course, means that we need to constantly stay alert and available to fallen brothers.

But again, how we approach a fallen brother is of utmost importance. It is a very delicate matter. The brother will be very sensitive, perhaps embarrassed, and easily shamed. He could become so ashamed that he would be too embarrassed to return to the fellowship of believers. He could also feel that he would be unwelcomed, for what he has done is just not acceptable among believers. He has failed and failed publicly, and he has damaged the name of Christ and hurt the image of the church. He knows the attitude of the church and its believers about the matter.

Therefore, unless he is approached in the right spirit, he could be lost to the kingdom forever. This, of course, means that the ministry of restoration is of paramount importance, for the life of a dear brother is at stake. What the church needs to realize is this: the ministry of restoration, is the ministry of God. It is the ministry to which God has called us. We are to walk restoring men to the Kingdom of God and the fellowship of His church.

1. First, let the spiritual believers handle the matter (v.1).
2. Second, approach the brother in a spirit of meekness (v.1).
3. Third, consider yourself (v.1).
4. Fourth, bear one another's burden (v.2).
5. Fifth, confess your own nothingness (v.3).
6. Sixth, examine your own work (v.4).
7. Seventh, realize your own responsibility (v.5).

1 (6:1) Restoration—Backsliders—Believers, Duty: first, let the spiritual believers handle sinning brothers. Spiritual believers are those who walk in the Spirit. How can the church tell if a believer is spiritual, if he is truly walking in the Spirit? The former passage spells out how.

1. Does the believer bear the fruit of the Spirit? (Gal.5:22-23).
  - love
  - joy
  - peace
  - longsuffering
  - gentleness
  - goodness
  - faith
  - meekness
  - self-control
2. Does the believer live a crucified life with Christ, that is, a sacrificial, self-denying life? Has the believer crucified his flesh with the passions and lusts? (Gal.5:24).
3. Does the believer walk in the Spirit—live a life that is consistent with his position in Christ? (Gal.5:25).
4. Does the believer walk free from super-spirituality, envy, pride, jealousy, arrogance, and selfishness? (Gal.5:26).

- 2 (6:1) Backsliders—Restoration: second, approach the brother in a spirit of meekness. How desperately this charge is needed! Too often what is displayed is a spirit of...
- hardness
  - indifference
  - harshness
  - rejection
- criticism
  - censorship
  - rumor
  - slander
- reproof
  - super-spirituality
  - “holier-than-thou”
  - ostracism

This approach, of course, is not ever concerned with restoring a brother. It is bent more on downing or destroying him. And the great tragedy is that it forces him to turn more and more to the world, to those who are more understanding of his weaknesses because they, too, are weak.

However, the spirit of rejection is not what Scripture is telling believers to show. Scripture is saying to approach the brother in meekness: to be gentle, tender, warm, loving, and caring. Discuss his sinning, yes, but with him not with others! Approach and love him, reach out to him, minister to him, help him, show care and concern and above all else, stay after him. Open your arms and welcome him back. Restore him into your fellowship. Let him know that he is forgiven, forgiven by all and accepted by all, warmly and tenderly.

“But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another” (Gal.6:4).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation [calling] wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:1-2).

“In meekness instructing those that oppose themselves; if God peradventure will give them repentance to the acknowledging of the truth” (2 Tim.2:25).

- 3 (6:1) Restoration—Backsliders: third, consider yourself, for you, too, can be tempted and overtaken by sin. This is a crucial point, for all believers are tempted with all kinds of sin (1 Cor.10:13). There is a real possibility that we may be overtaken by sin; therefore, we are to love and help our fallen brothers just like we would want to be loved and helped. The word “consider” (skoapon) means to look to oneself, to think about oneself and to give attention to oneself. It means to keep an attentive eye on oneself. If we really consider the matter, then we will reach out in love and meekness to help our fallen brothers. We have to help them, for we are all ever so subject to being overtaken by sin.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

- 4 (6:2) Burdens—Restoration—Backsliding: fourth, bear one another’s burden. The law of Christ is the law of ministry and love.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

Christ gave and sacrificed Himself to reach out to man. He bore the sins of man for man. We, of course, cannot bear the sins of men; but we can bear the burdens of each other, for we all suffer under the weight of sin—whether the sins are known or not. We can...

- be compassionate
  - encourage
  - pray
  - forgive
- be warm and tender
  - share the promises of God
  - sympathize
  - empathize

“And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more” (Acts 20:25).

“Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep” (Ro.12:15).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

5 (6:3) Pride—Conceit—Super-Spirituality: fifth, confess your own nothingness. This is the reason so many fallen brothers are locked out of the fellowship of believers and churches. They are looked upon as being...

- unfit
- less capable
- weaker
- less spiritual
- too tarnished
- insufficient

This attitude, of course, is contrary to the Spirit of Christ. Note the words, “When he is nothing.” Christ came to save “nothings,” that is, sinners. All men are sinners whether they know it or not. Even believers, after they are saved, are sinners. This is too often forgotten, yet believers are both saved and kept by the righteousness of Christ and not by their own righteousness. We must always remember this, for the only acceptable approach to God is through the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

The point is this: no person is better than any other person, not in righteousness and godliness. All men stand before God as sinners; in fact, they stand as totally depraved sinners. There is not a single man who is righteous, no, not one—not today, not tomorrow, not ever. If a man, believer or unbeliever, wants to stand in God’s presence, he has to come by Jesus Christ and his righteousness alone. Therefore, there is absolutely no place among God’s people for...

- super-spirituality
- spiritual snobbishness
- spiritual pride

There is absolutely no place for feeling superior or spiritually better than others. Only one person can make that claim: Jesus Christ. Within the church and its believers there is to be only one attitude: that of confessing our nothingness before God—that of confessing our total dependency upon the grace of God—that of confessing the righteousness of Jesus Christ. Note that any other confession is a deception. If we think otherwise, we only deceive ourselves.

When a believer understands this truth, then he is ready to reach out and help restore the erring brother. He knows he is no better; he has to approach Christ just like the erring brother—as nothing, for he is nothing. Righteously and godly, he stands on the same footing as the fallen brother: neither one of them has any righteousness or godliness to offer God. Therefore, they both must approach God through His Son Jesus Christ. Knowing this truth is what will stir love, concern, and care within the hearts of believers for fallen brothers.

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise” (2 Cor.10:12).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican” (Lk.18:11).

“Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind, ye should have no sin: but now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth” (Jn.9:41).

“I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me” (Job 33:9).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

6 (6:4) Self-Examination: sixth, examine your own work and conduct. The word “work” refers more to conduct and behavior than to employment. Of course, employment or work is involved, but the point of this verse deals with all our behavior. We are to be examining and judging our own lives, not the life of a fallen brother. Scripture is forceful on this point: every man is to keep busy examining his own work and life, and no man is exempt. There is so much evil flying around the world and the flesh is so weak that it is difficult for a person to remain unsoiled and clean. The flesh lusts...

- for acceptance
- for recognition
- for position
- for honor
- for compensation
- for approval
- to look
- to taste
- to feel
- to do
- to have
- to experience

Of course, every one of these desires is needful and beneficial until they cross over into the forbidden or are taken too far. Tasting food is good; tasting too much food is bad. Wanting recognition is good; loving recognition is sin.

The point is that temptation just swirls around us—all of us. Therefore, we must be busy examining and judging ourselves and not others. In fact, so much temptation swirls around us, if we lower our guard to examine and judge others, we are immediately overcome by sin ourselves. Remember: criticizing and judging others is sin; therefore, by turning away from examining ourselves to judging others, we have sinned.

We must measure ourselves against the Word of God, not against others. Our attitude toward others is to be that of love, care, ministry and restoration—not criticism and judgment.

Note that the believer who constantly examines himself has reason to rejoice in himself and not only in others. It is when our hearts and lives are pure that joy fills us. Nothing fills us with joy as much as a pure conscience. True, we do joy when we see others walking as they should, but deep joy comes from knowing that we ourselves are pleasing God by the way we walk.

“Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam out of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother’s eye” (Mt.7:5).

“Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?” (2 Cor.13:5).

“But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another” (Gal.6:4).

“Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord” (Lam.3:40).

7 (6:5) Judgment—Responsibility: seventh, realize your own duty and responsibility. The point of this verse is to warn the believer: he is personally responsible to the Lord for his own behavior and shall be judged for what he has done. Every believer has his own burdens, his own weight of faults and sins to bear. It is these that he is to be carrying, looking after, examining, and judging. He can never overcome them unless he gets his eyes off the failure of others and concentrates on the burden of his own failure.

“But I say unto you, That every idle word that men shall speak, they shall give account thereof in the day of judgment” (Mt.12:36).

“Therefore is the kingdom of heaven likened unto a certain king, which would take account of his servants” (Mt.18:23).

“So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God” (Ro.14:12).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that everyone may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

E. A Walk Doing Good to One's Teacher, Sowing and Reaping, 6:6-10

(6:6-10) Introduction: few people are as important to a society as are teachers. The relationship between teacher and student is a subject that is never stressed enough within the church. The present passage deals with this subject, in particular with the student's responsibilities to the teacher. Keep in mind that every believer is a student who sits at the feet of God's teachers whether they be ministers or Bible teachers.

1. How to do good to a teacher: by sharing in the ministry of the teacher (v.6).
2. Why do good to a teacher (v.7-9).
3. When to serve with a teacher: as we have opportunity (v.10).

1 (6:6) Teacher: How does a believer do good to a teacher? Very simply, by communicating and sharing in the ministry of the teacher. This means much more than just giving financial support. Of course it means financial support, but as stated, it means much more. Note that Scripture is speaking directly to the learner, that is, to a believer in the church, to the person who is taught in the Word of God. The learner has a responsibility to the teacher just as the teacher has a responsibility to the learner. What is that responsibility? To share with the teacher in all good things and to participate in the ministry of the teacher. The learner shares in the ministry of the teacher by...

- being present when the teacher teaches.
- being attentive and learning what the teacher teaches.
- sharing in discussions of what the teacher teaches.
- passing on what the teacher teaches.
- participating with the teacher in his or her full ministry.
- supporting the teacher financially.
- encouraging others to come and learn from the teacher.

Note another point: the reference to the "Word" means the Word of God. A teacher should always be teaching the Word of God, and a learner should always be sure that he is sitting under a teacher who is teaching the Word of God.

"Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses, nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat" (Mt.10:9-10).

"Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel" (1 Cor.9:14).

"Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate with my affliction" (Ph.4:14).

"Let the elders [ministers] that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine. For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward" (1 Tim.5:17-18).

2 (6:7-9) Sowing—Reaping—Ministers—Teachers: Why should believers do good to their teachers? Two very strong reasons are given.

1. A person can be deceived about facing the judgment of God. The word "deceived" (planasthe) means to be led astray. Some Galatians were being led astray in this matter. They were failing to share in the ministry of Paul, becoming critics instead of supporters. (See note—Gal.1:1 for more discussion.) And note what attacking the teacher of God equals:

it equals mocking God. The word “mocked” (mukterizetai) means to turn one’s nose up at God. By rejecting God’s minister, the teacher whom God had sent to them, the Galatians were rejecting God. They were not only mocking and turning their noses up at the teacher of God, but they were mocking God. However, Scripture declares in no uncertain terms: “God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap.” If a man sows a life...

- that is not present when the teacher teaches
- that is not attentive and learning what the teacher teaches
- that does not pass on what the teacher teaches
- that does not participate with the teacher in his ministry
- that does not encourage others to learn from the teacher

...if a man sows this rejection, this turning up of the nose, he rejects and turns his nose up at God. And if he rejects God, he shall be rejected by God. Whatever a man sows toward his teacher, he reaps. He shall bear the judgment of his behavior toward God’s teacher.

- a. If a believer sows corruption to his flesh, he shall reap corruption (v.8). If he does not listen to the teacher’s warnings about the lusts of the flesh, he shall reap the lusts of the flesh. He will be overtaken by the appeal, pull, cravings, passion, and lust...
- to worship as he desires
  - to seek his destiny from astrology and sorcery instead of prayer
  - to live as he pleases
  - to seek earthly position, power, and honor
  - to strive against others as he pleases
  - to party as he likes
  - to have illicit sex
  - to hoard
  - to seek the things of this world

The list could go on and on, but the point is well understood. The flesh perishes. It ages, dies, and decays. If a person sows to the flesh, he shall go the way of all flesh: die and face the judgment of God. God will not be mocked. His teachers must be heard and their lessons learned, for they teach His Word. If a man rejects God’s messenger and chooses to sow to his flesh, he shall reap the flesh and its destiny: death and judgment. God is not mocked; there is no escape.

“For to be carnally [fleshly] minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:6-8).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27)

“Even as I have seen, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same” (Job 4:8).

“He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity” (Pr.22:8).

“For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind” (Hos.8:7).

- b. If a believer sows to the Spirit, he shall reap life everlasting. If he listens to the teacher’s exhortations about the salvation that is in God’s Son and the life God expects him to live, he shall reap the Spirit of God. The Spirit of God will actually enter his life and take up residence there. The Spirit will implant the divine nature of God within the heart of the believer, the divine nature that shall live now and forever. The believer shall be enabled (given the strength and power) to live a life of...

| • love  | • longsuffering | • faithfulness |
| • joy   | • gentleness    | • meekness     |

And most important, as stated, he shall live forever with God in the new heavens and earth.

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal” (Jn.12:25).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

“Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:13-14).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

“Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you” (Hos.10:12).

2. A person shall reap if he does not faint in serving with his teacher. The believer or pupil must join with his teacher in the ministry if he wishes to reap the reward. He must not...

- withdraw
- fall back
- slack off
- allow weariness
- allow routineness
- give into pressure
- allow interruptions
- cave into persecution
- give into temptation

The pupil must be constant, steadfast, and persevering—just as he is taught to be by his teacher. He must join right in with his teacher in serving the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not” (2 Cor.4:1).

“But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them” (2 Tim.3:14).

“Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Behold, I come quickly: hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

Note the motive for not fainting: the student shall reap in due season. The day of reaping is coming. God is going to reward the pupil (believer) who serves and works by the side of his teacher.

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:36).

“Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free” (Eph.6:8).

3 (6:10) Teacher—Pupil—Ministry: When is a believer to serve with his teacher? Very simply, at every opportunity. He is to join right in and do good every chance he can. The idea is that he is...

- to stay alert to opportunity.
- to keep his eyes open to make opportunities.
- to rush to all opportunities.

When a teacher goes to meet a need, the believer must not miss the opportunity to join his teacher and minister with him. No chance to minister should ever be missed. Opportunity can be missed, and a believer can miss the privilege of ministering and of being more greatly rewarded in the glorious day of redemption. Therefore, he must stay alert and not be weary if he wants a full reward.

Note to whom he is to minister: to all men (unbelievers), but especially to believers. A person is responsible for his own family first; then he adds on the burden of the world. God has placed us all within a family and we are the ones who are first responsible for that family. Others may help us, but we are the ones who are primarily responsible. The same is true with the family of God. A Christian brother is the one who is responsible for the family of God. Therefore, we must always meet the needs of our Christian family before moving on out among unbelievers.

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:17-18).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed” (Ps.37:3).

DIVISION V

THE BELIEVER'S LIFE AND WALK: FREE AND SPIRITUAL, 5:13-6:18

F. A Walk Boasting in the Cross of Christ, 6:11-18

(6:11-18) Introduction: this passage concludes Paul's letter to the Galatians. Paul's heart was pounding with concern over the Galatian believers and their churches. They had allowed false teachers to enter their ranks, and many of them had begun to listen and follow the false teachers. The churches were on the precipice of deserting God and destroying their witness for Christ and world missions. Usually Paul dictated his letters to a scribe, and when he was through dictating the letter, he closed the letter with a brief blessing and his signature. But note what he did as he closed this letter to the Galatians: he took the pen himself and closed the letter, closed it with a strong exhortation and with a defense of his ministry and of the gospel. He declared in no uncertain terms: believers—minister and layman alike—are to walk boasting in nothing but the cross of Christ.

1. An important section—Paul himself writes (v.11).
2. False ministers make a good showing in the flesh—seeking popularity (v.12-13).
3. True ministers boast in the cross of Christ (v.14-17).
4. Conclusion: a benediction of grace (v.18).

1 (6:11) Paul—Scripture: this is an important passage of Galatians, so important that Paul took the pen from his scribe and wrote it himself. The reference to writing a large letter means large print. Why did Paul write with large print? Several explanations are given.

1. Because Paul wanted to boldly emphasize the points of what he was saying. It should be noted that this is possible, but the scribe could have done this as well as Paul.
2. Because Paul could not write well, so he had to write in bold print in order for it to be read. This too is unlikely, for Paul was a well educated man.
3. Because Paul had some kind of eye problem or blurred vision. Of all explanations, this seems most likely. (See note—2 Cor.12:7-10 for more discussion. Cp. Gal.4:14-15.)

There is no question that Paul chose to personally write this section because he wanted to emphasize its message and to verify that he was the true author of the letter. Why he wrote in large print is unknown.

The lesson for us is this: the message of this passage is important enough for Paul to take the pen from the scribe and write it himself. Therefore, we need to give utmost attention to what is said.

2 (6:12-13) False Teachers—Flesh: false ministers seek to make a good showing in the flesh, that is, they seek worldly popularity; they want to be accepted and approved by the world. Remember: false teachers had infiltrated the churches of Galatia (see note, False Teachers—Gal.1:6-7 for what they taught). They opposed both Paul and the gospel he preached. Their major stress was that a person had to undergo the basic ritual of religion, that of circumcision (baptism, church membership, etc.). They made circumcision necessary for salvation. If a person was circumcised, he was well on his way to being saved. Paul attacked this position and made a strong charge against false teachers. He charged them with being driven by worldly motives. Keep in mind that he was dealing with false teachers and ministers within the church. What he had to say is a strong lesson for teachers of every generation.

1. The false teachers sought to gain the approval of their peers and to escape persecution. They sought the favor of men over the favor of God. Many of the earliest ministers of the gospel were priests who saw Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world. However, they accepted Him only as an addition to the law. They said that Jesus Christ came primarily to show how God wants us to live; therefore, He only added to the law. The law was still important in approaching God: we were to approach God through both the law and Jesus Christ. Therefore, it was unpopular in the ministry of that day to proclaim that Christ alone was the way to God. The ministers who proclaimed Christ alone were persecuted through ridicule, mockery, abuse, and rejection. A minister who preached salvation through the cross of Christ alone was thought to be destroying both the law and established religion. Therefore, the ministers of established religion persecuted the ministers of the cross. As a result, it took real courage to stand up and proclaim the truth. Most chose the easy way out and went along with the established ministry in order to avoid the persecution.

Thought 1. How many go along with the established and popular religion of the world instead of proclaiming the truth of Jesus Christ and His Word? How many fear the ridicule, rejection, and abuse of the cross? How often is a minister tempted to tone down the message of the cross to keep from offending some in the congregation? How many ministers have to fear reaction if they proclaim the simple message of salvation by faith in the cross of Christ alone? How many have to fear reaction from their peers and denominational leaders?

2. The false teachers sought to make a good showing by adding to their statistical numbers (v.13). Note exactly what Scripture says: they wanted to have people circumcised so that they could boast in their numbers. Their interest was not so much in teaching people to obey the Lord and the law as it was in building up their own security. They wanted recognition through the appearance of a growing ministry. They sought the approval and acceptance of people more than the welfare of the people. Of course, keeping the law and leading the people to obey God was important, just as every man's teaching is important to him. But their primary concern was the appearance of a growing ministry so that they could secure their own livelihood and position with the people.

Thought 1. People are impressed with increased numbers on statistical growth. Everyone knows this, both religious and lay leaders. As a result ministers are often drawn into the temptation to stress growth in baptism, church attendance, Bible study, programs, or activities. Increased numbers...

|------------------------|--------------------------------|
| • build image          | • point to gifts and abilities |
| • boost egos           | • stress charisma              |
| • convey success       | • open doors                   |
| • enlarge reputation   | • help to increase income      |
| • secure position      | • attract attention            |
| • increase opportunity |                                |

3 (6:14-17) Ministers: true ministers boast in the cross of Christ. The cross of Christ is the only boast of a true minister of God, for there is no other approach to God. God accepts a person only if he comes to Him by way of the cross. There is no other way to become acceptable to God. Therefore, the true minister has no other message, no other truth of which to boast. Paul gave four reasons why the cross is the minister's only boast.

1. The cross crucifies the world to men and men to the world. What does this mean?
  - a. First, the cross crucifies the world to men. The world has all kinds of attractions that appeal to men, and men lust after the attractions. There are such attractions as...

|               |               |
|---------------|---------------|
| • position    | • sex         |
| • power       | • pleasure    |
| • acceptance  | • honor       |
| • recognition | • food        |
| • money       | • possessions |

The list could go on and on to include every appealing attraction on earth, but what is the end of it all? Deterioration, decay, death, and a sense of judgment. Even man himself ages, dies, and decays. There is nothing on earth that lasts and lives eternally. If man wishes to live forever, someone with unlimited power has to re-structure this world. Someone has to destroy the world and remake it, everything in it, including the flesh of man. The glorious news is that God has done this very thing. God has shown that He loves this world, and He has demonstrated His love in the most perfect way possible. How?

God sent His Son into the world to die for men and to free them from the world. When Jesus Christ died upon the cross, He bore the penalty of our transgressions. He took the law's condemnation of death against us and bore the condemnation for us. Therefore, any person who believes that Jesus Christ died for him shall be saved from this world of death. God declares that he will count that person as having been crucified with Christ. The person never has to die. When the moment comes for the person to pass from this world into the next, God will transfer the person right into His presence to live eternally. It will all happen within the blinking of an eye. The person who believes in Christ will never die, never taste or experience death.

This is what is meant by the world being crucified to the believer. The believer never has to go the way of the world, that is, the way of sin, corruption, death, and judgment.

- ⇒ Jesus Christ died to deliver the believer from the world, all its bondages including the bondage of death.
- ⇒ The Spirit of Jesus Christ (the Holy Spirit) lives within the believer to give him the power to overcome the world in all its corruptible attractions. Through the Spirit of God, the believer has the power to conquer the lusts of the flesh.

- b. Second, the cross crucified men (believers) to the world. What does this mean? When the believer dies to the world, he turns away from the attractions and pleasures of the world; therefore, the believer becomes unattractive to the world. Worldly men do not like what they see, for the believer is rejecting the lifestyle and pleasures of the world. Consequently, the worldly want nothing to do with the believer. They want him out of their way. They want him as non-existent, as a dead person to them. Therefore, when a person comes to the cross of Christ, the cross crucifies him to the world and its ways. He is no longer attractive to the world.

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

2. The cross creates a new man. Nothing makes a person acceptable to God except God’s very own Son, Jesus Christ. No religion, no law, no ritual—nothing can avail anything with God except Jesus Christ. Therefore, if any man wishes to live with God, he has to believe in Jesus Christ and approach God in the name of Jesus Christ.

Now a very practical question arises: How does using the name of Jesus Christ make a person live forever? Does a person become acceptable to God by just approaching God and saying, “God, I come to you in the name of Jesus Christ”? No! And there is one good reason. God knows who is really sincere and who is not. God cannot be deceived. Words and false profession—just using the words “in the name of Jesus Christ”—will not save anyone. A person has to be genuinely sincere.

The point is this: when a person is sincere in his belief, God gives the person a new spirit—a recreated spirit. God actually places His divine nature, the presence of His own Spirit, into the person’s life. The person is “born again” spiritually. He becomes what Scripture calls a new creature, a new man.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother’s womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:3-6).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God” (1 Jn.4:7).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten [born again] of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

3. The cross brings peace and mercy (v.16). Note who it is that experiences peace and mercy: those who walk by the rule of the cross and of the new creature. A person who walks after the cross, seeking to live as a new creature in Christ Jesus will be given...

- the peace of God (see note, Peace—Gal.1:3 for discussion).
- the mercy of God. He will experience both the forgiveness of sins and the acceptance of God. And most wonderfully, he will be given the perfect assurance of eternal life and of God’s care. (See note, Mercy—Eph.2:4-5 for more discussion.)

Note that the church and believers are called “the Israel of God.” This simply means that the church and believers are the true Israel of God, the ones in whom God fulfills His promises. (See outlines and notes—Romans, Chapters 9-11 for a full discussion of Israel and its place in God’s world-wide plan.)

4. The cross gives purpose to the scars of life. Christ had suffered for Paul; therefore, Paul was willing to suffer for Christ. And suffer he did. He bore as much as any man has had to bear for Christ (see note, Paul, Suffering—2 Cor.1:8-10 for a list of Paul’s sufferings). The word for marks (stigmata) means the branding marks that masters put upon their slaves. The marks identified the slaves as belonging to them.

The point is clear: Paul had subjected his body so much and suffered so much persecution for Christ that his body bore the marks of such subjection and suffering. He could say that the marks upon his body were the branding marks of Christ—the marks that proved his slavery and service to Christ. Therefore, let no man deny his call and ministry for the Lord. He had strong evidence that he was a true minister of the Lord Jesus: the very marks upon his body. The cross of Jesus Christ drove Paul to serve Christ, even to the point of suffering beyond imagination.

Thought 1. The believer who suffers reproach, ridicule, mockery, and other persecutions because of his stand for Christ—that believer bears the marks of Christ in his body.

4 (6:18) Conclusion: Paul ends the letter to the Galatians abruptly. He will have no more attacks upon his ministry nor upon the gospel of Christ. The churches and their people need to repent and get rid of the false teachers. Until then:

“Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen” (v.18. See note, Grace—Gal.1:3.)

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE

---

EPHESIANS

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE EPHESIANS INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul. Few critics deny this. His ministry at Ephesus is covered in Acts 18:18-21; 19:2-41; 20:17-35.

DATE: Probably between A.D. 60-63. The letter was written while Paul was in prison in Rome (Eph.3:1; 4:1; 6:20). Paul probably arrived in Rome in the spring of A.D. 60 or 61. He was under house arrest for two years (Acts 28:30). During his two year imprisonment (either A.D. 60-62 or A.D. 61-63) he wrote the letters that are usually called “The Prison Epistles”: Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: Uncertain. There are strong reasons why the words “to the Ephesians” are questioned.

1. The words “to the Ephesians” are not in the oldest and best manuscripts of the Greek New Testament (The Chester Beatty Papyrus, about A.D. 200; the great fourth century Codices Sinaiticus and Vaticanus). The third century writer Origen states that the words “to the Ephesians was not in the original text.” Basil and Jerome, of the fourth century, said that the best manuscripts did not have the words in their texts (Francis Foulkes. The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians, ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, no date listed, p.17).

2. The letter is the most impersonal of Paul’s letters. There is no affection or warm touch in it—no personal greeting—no personal message. This is strange, for Paul spent at least three years in Ephesus (Acts 20:17-35).

3. The indication is that Paul and the recipients of the letter did not know one another. The word “heard” is used instead of the word “know” (Eph.1:15; 3:2).

4. The letters to the Ephesians and Colossians have much the same message. This points toward Paul writing both letters about the same time. In fact, Paul mentions another letter saying it too was being circulated among the churches about the same time that Colossians was being circulated (Col.4:16).

The evidence points to a wonderful truth! The letter is from “Paul...to all those who are saints and faithful in Christ Jesus.” It is written to saints everywhere, to all generations. It is written to the believers and the churches of today.

PURPOSE: Paul writes Ephesians for at least two reasons.

1. To reveal the purpose of God for the whole universe. God has shown His purpose through His Son, Jesus Christ, and He is working out His purpose through the church, which is His body on earth.

2. To encourage the church to walk in a spirit of oneness and unity: to “be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

Note the word “together” (Eph.1:10; 2:5, 6, 22) and the word “one” (Eph.2:15, 16, 18; 4:4, 5, 6).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Ephesus. At its height Ephesus was the most important city along the coast of Asia Minor. Two hundred and thirty cities dotted the coast line of Asia Minor. Many had ideal harbors, but Ephesus was the queen among these coast communities. The city had been founded to command one of the main highways of Asia Minor. Its attraction was not only its natural harbor, but the rich, fertile land that covered the inland area.

Ephesus was, of course, a great commercial city. Its natural harbor and strategic location on one of the main roads of the world made it such. However, in the middle of the first century, the harbor had silted up so badly that trade had declined astronomically from the days of Ephesian glory. There had been attempts to drag the silt out, but the efforts were half-hearted and finally abandoned. The people’s hearts were just not in the effort. Part of the reason for this attitude was the successful and profitable trade Ephesus enjoyed from its religious cult. The great temple of Diana, or Artemis, was there. Diana was the goddess who had a grotesque head and many breasts and focused upon the sensual pleasure of the flesh. The worshipping pilgrims found their satisfaction in prostitution with a host of priestesses who promoted the cult of the goddess. A great trade of silversmiths had developed over the years, and tourist commercialism boomed year-round. This accounts for the guild of silversmiths finding the crowds an easy mark for arousing opposition against Paul (Acts 19:24). As the years went by, the great harbor silted up more and more, and the Ephesians depended more and more upon the trade that came from their religion and superstition. The natural harbor of Smyrna, which lay close by, became a more suitable port and began to take away more and more of the commercial traffic of Ephesus. As a result Ephesus became a dying city, living on its past reputation as a religious and philosophical center. The great city of Ephesus had a disease, the disease of sensual unrighteousness, and the disease did its work: it corrupted the people. The people, sensual and self-centered, lost their will and willingness to ply a commendable trade. Thus, the disease of Ephesus proved mortal. The “lampstand” of Ephesus crumbled, and the light of Ephesus died out (see Rev.2:1-7, esp. 5).

2. The Church at Ephesus. The church in Ephesus had a small beginning. When Paul visited Ephesus, he found only twelve believers in the city. They had been won to the Lord by the immature but impressive preacher Apollos. As a result they had been misinformed on the presence of the Holy Spirit; they seemed to lack a consciousness of the Spirit in the life of the believer and the awareness that He had already been sent into the world (Acts 19:1-7). After Paul’s instruction to these twelve, he began to teach in the synagogue. He taught for three months, but the Jews were hardened and refused to believe the gospel. They murmured against the message. Therefore, Paul moved the church into the school of a philosopher, Tyrannus. There he preached Christ for two whole years. During this time it is said that the church was instrumental in sounding forth the Word throughout all Asia: “So all they which dwelt in Asia heard the Word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks (Acts 19:10).

The Lord worked special miracles by Paul in Ephesus and the church witnessed some amazing things. From all evidence, the spectacular was necessary in order to get through to the people. As always, God did everything He could to reach a people. These experiences show the great love and movement of God toward man (see Acts 19:11-20). In viewing these accounts, we must keep the background of the city in mind. Ephesus was a hot bed of Oriental magic and superstition. The people were an emotional and sensual lot, easily moved to feelings. They were a devoted people, an expressive people, a loving people, and equally a lovable people (Rev.2:1-7, esp. 4).

As Paul preached and God worked miracles, many believed and the church grew mightily. The believers gave great evidence of changed lives by living for Christ right in the middle of an immoral and pagan society. On one occasion, the church demonstrated its new found faith by building a great bonfire and setting aflame all of its pagan and magical literature.

3. The Great Message of Ephesians is “Reconciliation.” Paul deals with the major problem of man—the problem of division, disunity, and disharmony. He deals with the major divisions and dissensions throughout the universe.

- a. Man is seen divided against God (Eph.2:1f).
- b. Man is seen divided against man (Eph.2:11f).
- c. Christians are seen out of harmony with Christians (Eph.4:1f).
- d. Christians are seen out of harmony with God (Eph.5:1f).
- e. Family members are seen divided against family members (Eph.5:22f).
- f. Slaves (employees) are seen divided against masters (employers) (Eph.6:5f).
- g. Man is seen out of harmony with cosmic powers (Eph.2:2; 6:10, 11-12; 3:10, 15; cp. 1:10, 20-21. See also Ro.8:18 for man’s division against nature).

This terrible and terrifying division is said to hound and haunt man and to demand his constant attention and struggle. Paul’s answer is onefold. And it should be noted, his answer is one of the great revelations of Scripture. “[God] having made known unto us the mystery of his will...that in the dispensation of the fulness of times he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven, and which are on earth” (Eph.1:9-10).

Christ is the answer to division, to disunity, and to disharmony. He is the One who breaks down all barriers; He is the One who reconciles all things.

- a. He reconciles man to God by the blood of the cross (Eph.2:4-13, esp. 13).
- b. He reconciles man to man by bringing all men together into one body, His church (Eph.2:13-22; cp. 1:22-23).
- c. He reconciles Christians to Christians by the power of the Holy Spirit and by giving individual gifts and functions for each member to perform (Eph.4:1-32).
- d. He reconciles believers to God by the power and fruit of the Holy Spirit (Eph.5:1-21).
- e. He reconciles family members to family members by giving the example of Christ’s love for the church (Eph.5:22-24).
- f. He reconciles slaves (employees) to masters (employers) by putting both on an equal footing before Christ (Eph.5:5-9).
- g. He enables man to overcome the cosmic and spiritual powers and the evil forces of the universe by the armor of God (Eph.6:10-18).

4. The Great Picture of Ephesians is “God’s Redemptive Purpose.” His redemptive purpose reads like a theological picture of four scenes.

- a. Scene 1: God’s Election (Eph.1:3-14). Before the earth was ever founded, God chose (the literal word is “elected”) believers in Christ. He chose all who would trust and commit themselves to Christ.
- b. Scene 2: God’s Reconciliation (Eph.2:1-18). All things are out of harmony; all is presently out of order. Division, disunity, and disharmony reign now. But the day is coming when God is to gather all things together, as one, and place them before Jesus Christ in His Kingdom—all things that are in heaven and earth (Eph.1:9-10). Christ is the center and the cord that binds all things together. He is the great Reconciler, the One to whom all things can look for salvation and peace—eternally.
- c. Scene 3: God’s Body, His Church (Eph.2:19-3:13; cp. 1:22-23). God has a body, a body of people that He is supernaturally recreating. He is recreating them to experience the great truth of reconciliation and peace and to carry the message to all other men. Christ is God’s instrument of reconciliation, and the church is Christ’s instrument of reconciliation.
- d. Scene 4: The Church, the Followers of Christ (Eph.4:1-6:20). The followers of Christ are to walk worthy of such a glorious life by being reconciled as one. They are to live together in unity and harmony, and they are to carry the message of reconciliation to a world swallowed up in division.

5. The Great Similarity to Colossians. There are more than fifty-five verses that are exactly the same, and twenty-five verses that are very similar. This means that of the one hundred and fifty-five verses in Ephesians, seventy-five are closely connected with Colossians. Both Ephesians and Colossians begin with a doctrinal section and end with a practical section, and both were apparently delivered by the same man, Tychicus (Eph.6:20; cp. Col.4:7).

Such similarity is to be expected. Paul wrote both while in prison in Rome, probably one right after the other.

6. Ephesians has been called “The Queen of the Epistles.” It is a book greatly loved; it is probably loved more than any other book by most people. With strong wings it soars among the heights of theological thought and glides upon the winds of the greatest of truths.

It is like the delivery of a great sermon that holds a person spellbound. It is like the greatest of prayers that draws a person into the very presence of God. It is like a great doxology that leaves a person with a deep sense of worship.

OUTLINE OF EPHESIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Ephesians have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Ephesians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE EPHESIANS

CHAPTER 1

GREETING: THE CALL
OF GOD, 1:1-2

- 1 God's call to Paul
  - a. To be an apostle
  - b. By God's will
- 2 God's call to the church & its believers
  - a. To be saints & faithful
  - b. To receive grace<sup>grace</sup> and peace

Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the the faithful in Christ Jesus:
2 Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

GREETING: THE CALL OF GOD, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: Paul begins the letter to the Ephesians with one of the greatest subjects imaginable—the call of God. Nothing could be any more meaningful to a person than to be called by God.

- 1. God's call to Paul (v.1).
- 2. God's call to the church and its believers (v.1-2).

1 (1:1) Call—Paul—Apostle—God's Will: there was God's call to Paul. Paul says that he was “an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God.” Note four significant points.

1. Paul was greatly privileged. There is no greater privilege in all the world than the privilege of serving Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the very Son of God Himself, the Supreme Lord of the universe in all its enormity. No matter how far out the universe reaches and no matter how many universes there are, Jesus Christ is the Majestic Lord of all. He rules and reigns as God Almighty. There could be no greater privilege than serving the Lord Jesus Christ, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe.

2. The word “apostle” (apostolos) means one called and sent forth on a very special mission (see DEEPER STUDY # 5, Apostle—Mt.10:2 for more discussion). The mission given to Paul was that of a messenger. The Lord Jesus Christ called Paul to proclaim the glorious message of salvation to the world.

The point is this: Jesus Christ is not only the Sovereign Lord of the universe, He is the Savior of the world. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son to save the world. Any person who believes on Jesus Christ shall not perish, but have everlasting life (Jn.3:16). Christ needs messengers—messengers who will take the glorious news of salvation to the world. This was the call of God to Paul: to be a messenger of Jesus Christ to the world. (See note, Minister, Call—Gal.1:1 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Christ needs messengers. Many hundreds of years have passed and the world still has not been reached with the glorious news of Jesus Christ, God's very own Son. Woe to the man who has been called and does not go! If God calls us, we must go or else face a terrible day of accountability.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee” (Acts 26:16).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:18-21).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

3. Paul was possessed by Jesus Christ. The supreme Lord and Majesty of the universe had condescended and humbled Himself to come to this earth and to save it. God's very own Son has given man the privilege of knowing Him in the most personal way—as his Savior and Lord. Paul knew Christ—knew Him personally—knew Him as his Savior. Imagine knowing the Son of God personally! No greater privilege could exist. Paul knew this; therefore, he surrendered his life completely to Christ. All he was and all he had, Paul turned over to Christ. He was possessed and obsessed with Christ. He lived for Christ and for Christ alone. Christ was Paul's Savior, but He was also his Lord and Master. He was possessed totally by Christ. He was not his own to do as he willed; he was Christ's, to do only as Christ willed.

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me” (Mt.16:24).

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God’s sake, who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting” (Lk.18:29-30).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:7-8).

“My son, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes observe my ways” (Pr.23:26).

4. Paul was called by the will of God. Who he was and what he was doing was God’s will. His work and employment were chosen by God, not him. He had not chosen the ministry because it was a good profession to enter nor because some friends thought he would make a good preacher. He was a minister because God had called him to be a minister.

Thought 1. How many of us can say that what we are doing is God’s will? How many of us are sure that our work and profession are of God—that we are right where God wants us? Are we working and serving where God wants us or where we want to be? Are we in God’s will or out of God’s will?

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“[Serve] not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart” (Eph.6:6).

“For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that” (Jas.4:15).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

2 (1:1-2) Church—Believers, Call—Saints—Faithful: there was God’s call to the church. This is Paul’s greeting to the church, and it is very similar to the usual greeting he gave to all churches. Note the depth of meaning in what he says: he is actually covering the scope of God’s call to a church and its believers.

1. God calls believers to be saints and faithful.

a. In the Bible the word “saint” does not refer to just a few people who have done great works for God. It refers to all people. The word “saint” (hagioi) means set apart, consecrated, sacred, and holy. A saint is a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ who has been set apart to live for God. The saint has given himself to live a consecrated, sacred, and holy life—all for the glory of God. Note that believers are saints in both senses:

⇒ Believers are saints in the sense that they have been given a new heart by God: a heart that is renewed and recreated in righteousness and true holiness.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

⇒ Believers are saints in the sense that they are set apart to live consecrated and holy lives in this world.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]” (1 Pt.1:14-15).

- b. The word “faithful” (pistois) means a person who has placed his faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. The faithful person is a person who has looked upon the Lord Jesus Christ and...
- believed that Christ could and would save him.
  - counted Christ worthy of his trust.
  - placed his confidence in Christ and His Word.
  - entrusted his salvation into the hands of Christ.
  - committed his life to Christ.

Very simply, the faithful are those who have surrendered and set their lives apart to Jesus Christ, trusting Him to save them. This is the very first call God gives to people: to be the saints and the faithful of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thought 1. Every human being should make absolutely sure that God counts him among the saints and the faithful of the world. Unless he is so counted, there is no escape from the enslavements and corruptions of this world; and most tragic of all, his end is death, eternal death.

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

2. God calls believers to grace and peace (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Eph.1:2; Gal.1:3; Peace—Gal.1:3; 5:22-23 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:2) Grace (charis): probably the most meaningful word in the language of men. The Bible means something far more than men mean by grace. To men the word “grace” means three things.

- ⇒ Grace is that something, that quality within a thing, that is beautiful or joyful. It may be the fragrance of a flower, the rich green of the grass, the beauty of a lovely person.
- ⇒ Grace is anything that has loveliness. It may be a thought, an act, a word, a person.
- ⇒ Grace is a gift, a favor that someone might extend to a friend. The favor is always freely done, expecting nothing in return, and the favor is always done for a friend.

In light of this, grace means two very significant things.

1. Grace means all the favors and gifts of God. It means all the good and perfect gifts of God, all the good and beneficial things He gives us and does for us, whether physical, material, or spiritual (Jas.1:17).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

2. Grace means the favor of God showered upon men—men who did not deserve His favor. When the early Christians looked at what God had done for men, they had to add a deeper and much richer meaning to the word grace. For God had saved sinners, those who had acted against Him. Grace became the kindness and love that God freely gives to His enemies—men who are...

- “without strength” (Ro.5:6).
- “ungodly” (Ro.5:6).
- “sinners” (Ro.5:8).
- “enemies” (Ro.5:10).

No other word so expresses the depth and richness of the heart and mind of God. This is the distinctive difference between God’s grace and man’s grace. Whereas man sometimes does favors for his friends and thereby can be said to be gracious, God has done a thing unheard of among men: He has given His very own Son to die for His enemies (Ro.5:8-10). (See notes—Jn.21:15-17; Eph.2:8-10.)

- a. God’s grace is not earned. It is something completely undeserved and unmerited.

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

- b. God’s grace is the free gift of God. God extends His grace out toward man.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

- c. God’s grace is the only way man can be saved.

“If through the offence of one [Adam] many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many” (Ro.5:15).

“I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.1:4).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“[Salvation] which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:6-7).

DIVISION I

THE ETERNAL PLAN OF GOD FOR THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 1:3-23

A. The Blessings of God, 1:3-14

(1:3-14) Introduction: among all the great passages of Scripture, this is one of the greatest. Its importance can never be overstated. It deals with God's plan for the world, His eternal plan; it deals with the great blessings of God which He pours out upon those who trust His Son Jesus Christ as their Savior.

1. God's blessings are heavenly blessings, not material (v.3).
2. God has chosen us to be holy and blameless (v.4).
3. God has adopted us as children (v.5-6).
4. God has redeemed us—forgiven our sins (v.7).
5. God has given us wisdom and understanding (v.8).
6. God has revealed the mystery of His will to us (v.9-10).
7. God has given us an inheritance, that is, made us the heritage of God (v.11-13).
8. God has sealed us with the Holy Spirit (v.14).

1 (1:3) Blessings: God's blessings are spiritual and heavenly, not material blessings. Throughout history God has used two methods of blessings to deal with man. Before Christ, God dealt with man by blessing him with material blessings. He promised Abraham and Israel land, wealth, and fame. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25. Cp. Gen.12:1f; 13:14-17; 15:1-7, 15-19; 22:16-18; 26:2-5, 24; 28:13-15; 31:13; 35:9-12.) But Israel misused and hoarded the material blessings. Instead of sharing its blessings with other nations, Israel isolated itself and claimed superiority and God-given rights over other nations of the earth. However, since Christ, God deals with man spiritually, blessing him with spiritual blessings.

Five things should be noted about this.

1. Spiritual blessings are of the Spirit. It is the Spirit that controls man and the circumstances that surround him. A man may feel bad; he may be down, depressed and oppressed; but if his spirit is strong, he arises and conquers his feelings. He controls and overcomes the oppressing circumstances, and he lives a victorious day. But if his spirit is weak, whether at work or at play, he often wallows around in self-pity, grumbling and griping and living a defeated day. And too often the days stretch into weeks and months until a person's life is down more than it is up—all because the spirit is too weak to conquer. Thus, the major blessings of God are bound to be blessings that are spiritual—that enable a person to control his life.

2. Spiritual blessings are the very opposite of temporal blessings. They are the blessings of the inner man, the blessings of the immortal. But of all blessings, they are the most glorious and satisfying. They are the blessings that erase the loneliness, alienation, and purposelessness of man. They are the blessings that give man an over-abundance of life.

3. Spiritual blessings are vastly superior to material blessings. They are permanent and perfect and eternal, lasting forever. They are of the very same nature as God Himself. Spiritual blessings exist and can be experienced both upon earth (the physical dimension of being) and in heaven (the spiritual dimension of being).

4. Spiritual blessings are found only in Christ. Jesus Christ has been raised from the dead and exalted to the right hand of God the Father. He is in heaven, surrounded by all the heavenly atmosphere and blessings. All heavenly blessings are His; He is Lord and Possessor of all blessings. Therefore, if a person is to experience the spiritual blessings, he must be in Christ. If a person is in Christ, then he sits in heaven with Christ. How is this possible? When a person believes in Christ, truly believes, God takes his faith and counts it as righteousness. God counts the person to be the same as Christ, righteous and acceptable. In God's mind faith in Christ makes a person just like Christ: holy and righteous and acceptable for heaven. Therefore, when a person believes in Christ, God's mind sees the person in Christ; God sees the person identified with Christ, seated in heaven. And being seated in heaven, the person can experience all the blessings of heaven. Simply stated, to be in Christ means to believe in God's Son so much that God becomes elated—elated so much that He counts the person to be just like Christ: acceptable and worthy to be blessed with all the blessings of heaven. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Justification—Gal.2:15-16 for more discussion.)

5. God dealt with man in material blessings first because man had to learn several things.

- a. An earthly inheritance does not last. It is subject to being lost or stolen. We either watch our material possessions deteriorate or else we leave our material possessions behind for others.
- b. An earthly nation and material inheritance cannot bring peace and security. Peace and security are of the spirit. Earthly nations and material things are of the earth, of a corruptible nature. Thus nations and material things do not solve the spiritual struggle that man senses within his own being. Neither can nations and material things erase the spiritual divisions between men and between man and God.
- c. Man has within his inner being a basic selfishness and greed. Man finds a tendency, an unregulated urge, that desires and seeks the material and hoards the corruptible to the neglect of the spiritual.
- d. Man must undergo a basic change of character to be freed of this urge, this tendency that causes so much bondage, disruption, and division within one's self and between men. Man must be born again, made into a new creation, created into a new man—spiritually, permanently, perfectly, eternally. And such a spiritual creation must be performed by Someone much greater than himself. Man must be recreated by the hand of God Himself.

2 (1:4) Holy—Blameless: the first blessing—God has chosen us to be holy and blameless. This is a wonderful verse. Just imagine! God determined before the world was ever created that He would have a people...

- who would be “in Him,” that is, in His Son, Jesus Christ.
- who would be “holy and without blame.”
- who would live “before Him in love”—forever and ever.

This means a most wonderful thing; God wants us to be with Him. God does not want us separated from Him, gripped by sin and shame, sorrow and pain, death and hell. God wants us to live forever and ever with Him. In fact, note that God has determined that some will live with Him and Christ. He has “chosen us”—chosen believers—to live with Him. No amount of rebellion and rejection, cursing and denial of Him will stop His purpose and plan. God will have a people who will live with Him, and He will continue to choose us until He has the number He has purposed.

Now, note the great blessing of God: that we should be holy and without blame before Him.

1. The word “holy” (hagios) means to be set apart and consecrated to God. It is the same word that is used for “saint” in verse one (see note, Saint—Eph.1:1-2 for discussion).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

2. The word “blameless” (amomous) means to be free from sin, dirt, and filth; to be above reproach and without blemish; to be without fault and defilement.

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unproveable in his sight” (Col.1:21-22).

“To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:13).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

Simply stated, the great blessing of God is perfection; God has chosen the believer to be perfect. But note: the believer's perfection is in Christ and in Christ alone. No man—not even a believer—can live a perfect and sinless life. No man is righteous or ever will be. Jesus Christ is the only Person who has ever lived a sinless and perfect life; therefore, He is the only Person who has the right to live with God. Our only hope of ever living with God is to believe in Jesus Christ—believe so much that God will take our faith and count it as the righteousness of Christ. This is the glorious gospel: God loves us so much that He has accepted us in the righteousness of Jesus Christ. He has taken our faith in Christ and counted it as the righteousness of Christ. Therefore, we are acceptable to God because we trust in Christ and in His righteousness—accepted as being perfect in the perfection of Jesus Christ. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21 for more discussion.)

3 (1:5-6) Adoption—Predestination—Foreordained: the second blessing—God has adopted us as children. How unbelievable—what a glorious privilege to be adopted as a child of God! And note:

⇒ It was predestinated, that is, foreordained (proorisas).

⇒ It was the pleasure of God to adopt us—the good pleasure of His will. And it was His purpose to adopt us, and His purpose and His pleasure and His will were all good.

This is most striking when we consider how sinful and depraved we are and how much we have cursed, rebelled, and rejected God. The fact that God wills and finds pleasure in adopting us and that He counts it as good is too much to believe. Yet, it is exactly what He says. Now note two significant things.

1. The word “foreordained” does not mean that God chooses some persons for salvation and everyone else for eternal punishment. Scripture teaches the exact opposite.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:13).

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:3-4).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

“And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:2).

The word “predestination” (proorisas) means to destine or appoint before, to foreordain, to predetermine. The basic Greek word (proorizo) means to mark off or to set off the boundaries of something. The idea is a glorious picture of what God is doing for the believer. The boundary is marked and set off for the believer: the boundary of being adopted as a child of God. The believer shall be adopted, made just like Christ and conformed to His very likeness and image. Nothing can stop God's purpose for the believer. It is predestinated, set and marked off. The believer may struggle and suffer through the sin and shame of this world; he may even stumble and fall or become discouraged and down-hearted. But if he is a genuine child of God, he will not be defeated, not totally. He will soon arise from his fall and begin to follow Christ again. He is predestinated to be a brother of Christ, to worship and serve Christ throughout all eternity. And Christ will not be disappointed. God loves His Son too much to allow Him to be disappointed by losing a single brother. Jesus Christ will have His joy fulfilled; He will see every brother of His adopted and conformed perfectly to His image. He will have the worship and service of every person chosen to be His by God the Father. The believer's eternal destiny, that of being an adopted brother to the Lord Jesus Christ, is determined. The believer can rest assured of this glorious truth. God has predestinated him to be delivered from the suffering and struggling of this sinful world. (See notes, Predestination—Jn.6:37; 6:39; 6:44-46 for God's part and man's part in salvation. See DEEPER STUDY # 3—Acts 2:23; Ro.8:28-39; 9:11-13; 9:14-33 for more discussion.)

“According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love: having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will” (Eph.1:4-5).

“According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord: in whom [Christ] we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:11-12).

2. The word “adoption” means place as a son (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Adoption—Gal.4:5-6 for discussion).

3. Adoption is by Jesus Christ and by Him alone. God accepts us because we believe and trust His Son Jesus Christ. He tells us plainly that He wants His Son to have many brothers and sisters who will love, worship, and serve Him both now and forever. Therefore, when a person wants to live for Jesus Christ—wants to live for Him so much that he entrusts all he is and has to Christ—God takes that person's trust and adopts him, makes him a brother or sister to Jesus Christ (see note—Ro.8:29).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren. Moreover whom he did predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also justified: and whom he justified, them he also glorified” (Ro.8:28)

4. God's purpose in adoption is that we might live forever—live to the praise of the glory of His grace.

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7; cp. Eph.1:18).

4 (1:7) Redemption—Ransom: the third blessing—God has redeemed us and forgiven our sins. The word “redemption” (apolutrosin) is one of the great words of the Bible. It conveys the idea of deliverance or setting a man free by paying a ransom. For example, a prisoner of war or a kidnapped person is ransomed or redeemed; or a convicted criminal is freed from the penalty of death. In every case the man is powerless to free himself. He cannot pay the penalty demanded to liberate himself from his situation or bondage. Note several significant facts.

1. Man has been captivated or kidnapped by several forces.
  - a. The force of sin. All men sin and cannot help but sin. Man is sold under sin. Sin has captivated him (Ro.3:23; 7:14).
  - b. The force of corruption and death. The whole creation is corrupt (Ro.8:21). Everything wastes away; it deteriorates, decays, ages, and eventually dies. Corruption and death have captivated man. (Cp. 1 Cor.15:42, 50; Gal.6:8; 2 Pt.1:4; 2:12, 19.)
  - c. The force of Satan. All unbelievers are under the power and influence of Satan. He has blinded their minds to the gospel (2 Cor.4:4). He works in the children of disobedience (Eph.2:2). They are captivated by him (1 Jn.5:19).
2. Three key ideas are included in the concept of redemption.
  - a. Man needs to be liberated, delivered, and set free.
  - b. Man is unable to liberate himself. He has no energy, no power, no ability to free himself.
  - c. God has redeemed man by the blood of His Son Jesus Christ. God Himself has paid the ransom for man's release—the ransom of a life for a life. God gave His own Son so that man might be set free. Man has been redeemed through the blood of Jesus Christ (cp. Lev.17:11; Mt.20:28; Ro.3:24; 1 Cor.6:20; 7:23; Col.1:14; 1 Tim.2:5-6; Heb.9:15; 1 Pt.1:18f; 2 Pt.2:1; Rev.5:9; 14:3-4). This is extremely important to note: when a man truly calls upon the Lord to save him, God buys him right out of the marketplace of this corruptible life (Ro.10:13). God redeems him once for all, purchases and removes him from further sale. He is redeemed eternally (cp. Gal.3:13; 4:5; Col.4:5).
3. God redeems man because of the riches of His grace (see note, Grace—Eph.2:8-9 for discussion). He loves man with an unbelievable love—a love so great that it spurs Him to do whatever is necessary to save man.

“For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul” (Lev.17:11).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye are bought [redeemed] with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

“Ye are bought [redeemed] with a price; be not ye the servants of men” (1 Cor.7:23).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought [redeemed] them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

“And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the four beasts, and the elders: and no man could learn that song but the hundred and forty and four thousand, which were redeemed from the earth. These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb withersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb” (Rev.14:3-4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:7) Forgiveness: the word “forgiveness” (aphesin) means to send off, to send away, to release, to let go. The word for “sin” (paraptomaton) means transgression, trespass, a falling by the way, or deviating from the way. All men...

- have transgressed the law of God.
- have deviated from God.
- have fallen from the way of God.

Therefore, all men stand guilty of having broken the law of God, and the penalty for breaking the law is death. However, the blood of Jesus Christ brings forgiveness to men. How? Jesus Christ died for man. He took the penalty of sins and bore the punishment Himself. He was able to do this because He was the Perfect and Ideal Man, and as the Ideal Man, He could stand for and represent all men. When He died, He died as the Ideal Man, as the Representative for all men. Any person who really believes that Jesus Christ died for him is forgiven his sins. God takes his faith and counts it as the death of Jesus Christ. God sees the man as being in Jesus Christ, as being in the death of Jesus Christ. God counts the death of Jesus Christ for the death of the man. Therefore, the guilt and penalty for breaking God's laws are completely removed. The man's sins and guilt are sent away or washed away by the blood of Jesus Christ.

"Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins" (Acts 5:31).

"Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins" (Acts 13:38).

"To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me [Christ Jesus]" (Acts 26:18).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

5 (1:8) Wisdom—Prudence—Understanding: the fourth blessing—God has given us wisdom and understanding. Again, note that both blessings come to us through Jesus Christ. Common sense tells us that God will give His wisdom and understanding only to those who honor Him and His Son.

1. The word "wisdom" (sophia) means seeing and knowing the truth. It is seeing and knowing what to do. It grasps the great truths of life. It sees the answers to the problems of life and death, God and man, time and eternity, good and evil—the deep things of God and of the universe.

This wisdom is found only in Jesus Christ and is promised only to those who search after Him with all their heart (1 Cor.1:30; 2:10-16; Eph.1:8; Ph.2:5f; Jas.1:5).

"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!" (Ro.11:33).

"But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greek, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God" (1 Cor.1:24).

"But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption" (1 Cor.1:30).

"But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the Spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. But he that is spiritual judgeth all things, yet he himself is judged of no man. For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ" (1 Cor.2:9-16).

"Wherein he hath abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence" (Eph.1:8).

"In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge" (Col.2:3).

2. The word "prudence" (phronesei) means seeing how to use and do the truth. It is seeing the direction to take. It is understanding, insight, the ability to solve day to day problems. It is a down-to-earth practical understanding of things.

"That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him: the eyes of your understanding being enlightened" (Eph.1:17-18).

"For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding" (Col.1:9).

"That their hearts might be comforted, being knit together in love, and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, to the acknowledgement of the mystery of God, and of the Father, and of Christ" (Col.2:2).

"Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things" (2 Tim.2:7).

"And we know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in him that is true, even in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life" (1 Jn.5:20).

“For the LORD giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding” (Pr.2:6).

“Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom: I am understanding; I have strength” (Pr.8:14).

6 (1:9-10) Mystery, of God’s Will: the fifth blessing—God has revealed the mystery of His will to us. This is the key thought and great theme of Ephesians. (William Barclay has an excellent description of this point and he should be consulted by the person who wishes to study the point in depth. The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.96f.) Remember: in the Bible a mystery is not something mysterious and difficult to understand. Rather, it is a truth that has been locked up in God’s plan for ages until He was ready to reveal it to man. When the time came, He unlocked the truth and opened it up to man. A mystery is a truth revealed by God that had never before been known. (See 1 Cor.2:7 for a list of all the mysteries of the Bible.) The mystery of God’s will can be simply stated: God is to gather together and unify all things in a spirit of peace and harmony—all things, both visible and invisible. All things are to be brought to a peaceful and eternal state under the authority and glorification of Jesus Christ. God is moving history toward that climactic consummation.

Paul’s great thought in verses 9-10 says several things. (It is impossible to list all the points beside the Scripture in the outline.)

1. God has an eternal purpose and plan for the world, and it is His pleasure to bring it about. He joys and rejoices to bring it about, and what He does is good. It is all good.

2. There is terrible division throughout the universe. The need for God “to gather all things in heaven and earth” indicates division (cp. Eph.6:12). And the fact that God’s primary concern through all the ages has been to harmonize the divisions shows how devastating and horrible the division really is. (See Introductory Material, Special Features, point 3, The Great Message of Ephesians is Reconciliation.)

3. There is to be a consummation, a climax of history—a fulness of time, a new order—in which all things will be unified and harmonized and brought to a peaceful state under the authority of Jesus Christ. History is in the hands of God. The word Paul uses is dispensation (oikonomia) which literally means, “household arrangement.” The idea is that the universe is a house under the management of God. God is handling, planning, arranging, and administering all things toward a climactic consummation for Christ and His followers. In that climactic day all disharmony and division and evil will be subjected and harmonized (anakephalaioo) under Christ. A new and perfect and eternal creation will be established for the Lord and His followers throughout the universe.

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love” (Eph.1:4).

“And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ: to the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God, according to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Eph.3:9-11).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures” (Jas.1:18).

4. Jesus Christ is God’s appointed Head over the new creation and new order. He is God’s Head over the church, which is God’s new creation in the present world and order of things (Eph.1:22-23). And He is to be God’s Head over the new creation in the future world and order of things (Jas.1:18).

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church, which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:22-23).

“But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:15).

“For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the Saviour of the body” (Eph.5:23).

“And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence” (Col.1:18).

“And not holding the head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:19).

5. The church is the Lord’s instrument of reconciliation and peace, His representative body upon the earth. As the instrument of the Lord, the church is to do two things.

a. The church is to take Christ and His message of reconciliation and peace to the world. Through “His body, the church,” all division and disorder among men are to be condemned, and His message of harmony and peace is to be proclaimed.

- b. The church is to practice reconciliation upon the earth. "In the church" all laws, barriers, and divisions are to be done away with. They are to be nonexistent. The church is to be a speck, an embryo of heaven upon the earth.

"To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:19-21).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph.4:11-12).

7 (1:11-13) Inheritance: the sixth blessing—God has given us an inheritance, that is, made us the heritage of God Himself. Note several significant points.

1. The inheritance or heritage was predestinated, that is, foreordained. God works all things out after the counsel of His own will. He must, for only God knows what is best. And nothing could be better than to be given the greatest inheritance possible: that of being made the very heritage of God, the very possession of God. (See note, Foreordain—Eph.1:5-6.)

2. The inheritance is clearly stated in the words "that we should be," that is, that we should exist eternally. God gives the believer an eternal state of being—an eternal existence. In fact, the word "inheritance" (eklerothemen) means heritage. God takes the believer and makes him His own heritage and possession. The believer himself is made the inheritance of God. He is given the glorious privilege of being, of living and existing forever as God's most cherished possession and heritage. He becomes the most precious gem and treasure of God. This is the believer's inheritance, his heritage.

"Yet they are thy people and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest out by thy mighty power and by thy stretched out arm" (Dt.9:29; cp. Ex.19:5).

"For the LORD'S portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of his inheritance" (Dt.32:9).

"Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine" (Ex.19:5).

"For the LORD hath chosen Jacob unto himself, and Israel [believers] for his peculiar treasure" (Ps.135:4).

"...I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine" (Is.43:1).

"And they [believers] shall be mine, saith the LORD of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels; and I will spare them, as a man spareth his own son that serveth him" (Mal.3:17).

"But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us" (2 Cor.4:7).

"Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the spirit" (Eph.2:19-21).

"But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light" (1 Pt.2:9).

3. The reason God makes us His inheritance is that we should exist to the praise of His glory. We shall live forever in the new heavens and earth as the perfect demonstration of His glory. The fact that God would take sinners—totally depraved sinners—and save them will cause praise upon praise to be heaped upon His name. His unbelievable love will be seen and glorified forever and ever by all creatures—both of heaven and of earth, both visible and invisible, both now and yet to be. All shall stand in stark amazement at God's spectacular glory—the glory of His eternal grace and love shown to the world in His dear Son, Jesus Christ.

"To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved" (Eph.1:6).

"For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name" (Heb.13:14-15).

"But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light" (1 Pt.2:9).

"And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing" (Rev.5:11-12).

"After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands; and cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb. And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and wor- shipped God, Saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen” (Rev.7:9-12).

“And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God” (Rev.19:1).

4. How does a person receive the inheritance? This verse says there are two ways (v.13).
- a. By hearing the Word of God. A person has to hear the Word of God before he can ever know the truth, the glorious gospel of salvation. He cannot believe in Jesus Christ unless he first hears about Christ.

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

- b. By believing and trusting in Jesus Christ.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

8 (1:13-14) Holy Spirit—Seal—Guarantee: the seventh blessing—God has sealed us with the Holy Spirit. The word “earnest” (arrabon) means pledge, guarantee, a down payment. The Holy Spirit is given to the believer to give the believer perfect assurance of his salvation. We know that we are redeemed—that we are God’s cherished possession—by the Holy Spirit who lives within us.

Again note: Why does God give us such a glorious guarantee as His own wonderful presence? That His glory might be praised eternally.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God” (Ro.8:16).

“Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:22).

“And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying Abba, Father” (Gal.4:6).

DIVISION I

THE ETERNAL PLAN OF GOD FOR THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 1:3-23

B. The Knowledge of God, 1:15-18

(1:15-18) Introduction: Paul had just declared the eternal plan of God for the world (v.3-14). It is crucial that believers come to know the God of this plan in the most personal and intimate sense. This is the great subject of this passage: the knowledge of God—it is absolutely essential that believers grow more and more in the knowledge of God and that the world come to know God as their personal Savior.

1. The basis: faith and love (v.15-16).
2. The need: a growing knowledge of God—the God of Christ and the Father of glory (v.17-18).
3. The results of knowing God (v.18).

1 (1:15-16) Church—Testimony: the basis of knowing God is faith and love. The Ephesian church had a strong testimony, a testimony so strong that it was being buzzed about all over the world. Their testimony and its strength had reached the ears of Paul. And note what it was that he had heard: the church had a strong faith in the Lord Jesus and had a strong love for all the saints (believers) of God.

- ⇒ He had heard about their faith in God's love (that God had sent His Son to save the world) and about their loyalty to the Lord Jesus in carrying the message of God's love throughout the world.
- ⇒ He had heard that they were ministering to the saints of God—demonstrating a great love for God's people.

It was this fact—their strong testimony of faith and love—that had stirred Paul to write the Ephesians. He knew that the Christian life never sat still. A person has to grow or else he slips backward. Therefore, Paul wanted the Ephesian believers to grow in their knowledge and power of God. He had just shared the great blessings of God which was theirs when they first came to know God (cp. Eph.1:3-14). Now he wanted them to grow in these blessings, the blessings of knowing God and experiencing the power of God. Therefore, he told them that he prayed for them. In fact, he never ceased to ask God that they might grow in the knowledge and power of God.

2 (1:17-18) Knowledge, of God: the great need of believers is to grow in the knowledge of God. Note that the God we are to know is clearly identified. He is not the god of our own minds and thoughts—the god we conceive when we picture what God is like—the god made by men's minds and hands—the god of religion.

- ⇒ The God we are to know is the God of Jesus Christ: that is, the God whom Jesus Christ worshipped when He was on earth as a Man; the God whom Jesus Christ came to reveal to men. There is no other God—not a true and living God. If we are to really know God, we must come to know the God whom Christ worshipped and revealed.
- ⇒ The God we are to know is the Father of glory, that is, the only true and living God, the Supreme Majesty and Sovereign Lord of the Universe—the One who is the Supreme intelligence and power of the universe and who has created all and rules over all—the One who is omnipotent (all powerful), omnipresent (present everywhere), and so expansive that His very being and presence reaches out beyond the stars and embraces all that is or ever will be—the One who declares that He has "set His glory above the heavens" (Ps.8:1).

This is the God we are to know. As stated, He is the only living and true God, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the God of glory. Believers must grow more and more in the knowledge of Him; they must gain an ever-increasing knowledge of Him.

Three things are essential if believers are to grow in the knowledge of God. And remember these things are so important that Paul prayed unceasingly for God to give them to the believer.

1. First, to grow in the knowledge of God a believer must have the spirit of wisdom (sophia). (See note, Wisdom—Eph.1:8 for meaning.)

- a. Note the phrase "the spirit of wisdom." What the believer needs from God is a spirit...
  - a spirit that reaches out and grasps after wisdom.
  - a spirit that hungers and thirsts after wisdom.
  - a spirit that seeks and seeks after wisdom.

- b. Wisdom can best be understood by the single words what and how. Wisdom means knowing what something is, what is behind something, and what can be done. It is knowing how to use or relate to something. Therefore, spiritual wisdom means...
  - knowing who God is and how to relate to Him.
  - knowing the truth and how to use it.

- knowing what to do and how to do it.
  - knowing how to live more and more fruitful lives—for the glory of God and for the welfare of men.
- c. Wisdom differs from knowledge. Knowledge is the grasping of facts, but grasping facts is not enough. Much more is needed: a person must know how to use the facts. That is where wisdom comes in. Wisdom knows how to use the facts. The point is this: it is not enough to know the facts about God; a person must know God personally. He must know how to experience the facts about God. He must use the facts to develop a personal relationship with God—a growing relationship—a relationship that is intimate, that grows deeper and deeper. This is the meaning of the word “knowledge” (epignosei): a personal and intimate relationship with God; a personal experience with God. It is not an intellectual knowledge of God, but an experiential knowledge of God.

Thought 1. If the believer is to grow in the knowledge of God, he must seek the wisdom of God more than anything else on this earth. It is the person who hungers and thirsts after God and His righteousness that is filled.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock” (Mt.7:24).

“In whom [Christ] are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge” (Col.2:3).

“And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.3:15).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

2. Second, to grow in the knowledge of God a believer must have the spirit of revelation.
- a. Again, note the phrase “the spirit of revelation.” It is the Holy Spirit who reveals God to the believer. This is made abundantly clear by Scripture.

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God” (1 Cor.2:9-12).

The believer is indwelt by the Spirit of God (Jn.14:16-17; 14:26; 16:12-15; 1 Cor.6:19-20; 2 Cor.6:16). The Spirit of God dwells in him to teach him the deep things of God. But note what the believer must have in order to grow in the knowledge of God: “the spirit of revelation”...

- a spirit that drives after God.
  - a spirit that seeks to know God.
  - a spirit that hungers and thirsts after God above all else.
- b. The word “revelation” (apokalypseos) means to manifest; to reveal; to unveil; to uncover; to open. It is the work of the Holy Spirit to reveal the knowledge of God to Christians. In fact it is the work of the Holy Spirit to reveal the meaning of all truth to the Christian (Jn.14:26; 16:12-15). This is clearly seen in 1 Cor.1:9-16 where the wisdom of the world is contrasted with the wisdom of God. A spiritual Christian sees (through the Spirit revealing to him) the meaning behind world events as well as day to day experiences. He understands who and what is behind the events of history and human experience. Therefore, he gains a growing knowledge of God day by day.

Thought 1. If the believer is to grow in his knowledge of God, the richness and deep things of God must be opened up to the believer. But the things of God are like everything else that is worthwhile: they are not handed over to men on a silver platter. A man must seek to learn more and more about God. He must seek to have the truth of God revealed to him.

Thought 2. Lehman Strauss points out that human philosophy says, “know thyself” (Devotional Studies in Galatians & Ephesians, p.132). However, Jesus said, “And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent” (Jn.17:3).

To know oneself is important—very, very important. But the greatest thing in all the world is to know God personally and to know that one shall live with God forever. God and eternal life are the summits of knowledge. It is better to know that one shall never die, than to know all there is about oneself and lose that knowledge at death.

3. Third, to grow in the knowledge of God a believer must have the eyes of his heart enlightened. This is a beautiful description of the heart: “the eyes of the heart.” The heart must be opened so that the light of God can be seen and grasped. An open heart is the responsibility of both the believer and the Holy Spirit.

- ⇒ The believer must open his heart and focus its affection, intelligence, and will upon knowing God.
- ⇒ The believer must seek the Holy Spirit to enlighten and flood his heart with the things of God.

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“For thou wilt light my candle: the LORD my God will enlighten my darkness” (Ps.18:28).

“The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding unto the simple” (Ps.119:130).

3 (1:18) Knowledge, of God: the results of knowing God are threefold.

1. A believer comes to know the hope of God’s calling. What is the hope of the believer’s call? It is what has already been covered in the great spiritual blessings of God (Eph.1:13-14):

- ⇒ that we should be holy and without blame, living before Him forever and ever in love (v.4).
- ⇒ that we should experience what it means to be adopted as children of God—forever and ever (v.5-6).
- ⇒ that we should experience eternal redemption and forgiveness of sin (v.7).
- ⇒ that we should possess the wisdom and understanding of God (v.8).
- ⇒ that we should live in the perfect heaven and earth where there will be no more division but only peace and unity in Christ Jesus (v.9-10).

Very simply stated, God has called us to stand before Him in the name and righteousness of Jesus Christ—to stand before Him just as Jesus Christ stands before Him: perfect. It is evident that we are not perfect—not now, not yet. But the day is coming when we shall be. Right now we experience the blessings of God only in part, only imperfectly. But when the glorious Day of Redemption comes, we shall be made just like our Lord Jesus Christ, righteous and perfect, enabled to live in God’s presence, worshipping and serving Him forever and ever. This is the believer’s hope; this is the believer’s calling.

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren. Moreover whom he did predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also justified: and whom he justified, them he also glorified” (Ro.8:29-30).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph. 3:20-21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

2. A believer comes to know God’s inheritance—His inheritance in the saints. Believers are themselves the inheritance, that is, the heritage and possession of God. When we come to know God, we learn who we are—the glorious position God has given us: He has made us His very own possession and heritage. (See note, Inheritance—Eph.1:11-13 for discussion.)

3. A believer comes to know and to experience the enormous power of God. In discussing this glorious result, Paul explodes into a discussion of God’s power which was clearly shown in what He did for Christ. Because of its length, it is discussed in a separate subject in the next outline.

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

DIVISION I

THE ETERNAL PLAN OF GOD FOR THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 1:3-23

C. The Power of God: Demonstrated in Christ's Exaltation, 1:19-23

(1:19-23) Introduction: this is a great passage covering a much needed subject—the power of God. If men ever needed anything, they need the power of God in their lives. If men have ever been gripped by evil and shame, bitterness and hate, lust and immorality, cursing and anger, robbery and assault, murder and war, selfishness and greed, division and strife, disappointment and emptiness, boredom and purposelessness, it is today. Men desperately need the power of God to help them in their daily lives and to right the wrongs of society.

The glorious news is that God offers His power to men—if they will only turn to His Son Jesus Christ. He promises His power to all believers. Note that this passage is a continuation of the prayer of Paul. He is praying that the Ephesian believers might know God personally and intimately, for God gives His power to those who truly come to know Him. Coming to know God is the key to receiving the power of God.

1. God's power: A great power (v.19).
2. The power that raised Him from the dead (v.20).
3. The power that took Him to heaven and set Him at God's right hand (v.20).
4. The power that exalted Christ above all creatures: in this world and in the next world (v.21).
5. The power that exalted Him as the Supreme Head of the church (v.22-23).

- 1 (1:19) God, Power of: when a believer really knows God, he experiences power—the power of God Himself. Note how God's power is described:
- ⇒ It is "exceeding" (hyperballon): surpassing, unlimited, immeasurable, beyond imagination.
  - ⇒ It is "great" (megathos): mighty, explosive, beyond measure. This is the word from which we get the English word megathon which measures atomic explosives. Imagine the great explosive power of God!

The thing to note is that God's power is to us-ward; that is, God takes His power and extends it, presents it, makes it available to the believer. How do we know this? Because of what God did for Christ. What God did for Christ He will do for us. God's power is demonstrated by what He did for Christ.

- 2 (1:20) Power—God, Power of—Jesus Christ, Resurrection—Resurrection: believers are to experience the power of God—the same power that raised Jesus Christ from the dead. Imagine the enormous power needed to raise a person from the dead. God wrought such power when He raised Jesus Christ.

"Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain: whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it" (Acts 2:23-24).

"But ye denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murderer to be granted unto you; and killed the Prince of life, whom God hath raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses" (Acts 3:14-15).

"And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree: Him God raised up the third day, and showed him openly; not to all the people, but unto witnesses chosen before of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead" (Acts 10:39-41).

"[Jesus Christ is] declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead" (Ro.1:4).

The point is this: when God raised Jesus Christ, He demonstrated three things for men. He showed men that He had the power to do three things.

1. The power to raise Christ shows that God has the power to conquer all the trials and temptations of life. When God exercised the power to raise Christ, He conquered the most powerful trial that faces man—death. And in conquering death, God demonstrated that He has the power to conquer any trial or temptation of man, no matter what it is.

“There hath no temptation [trial] taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me” (2 Cor.12:9).

2. The resurrection of Jesus Christ shows that God has the power to give man a new life and the power to live a new life before Him. After Jesus Christ had been raised from the dead, He was not living His old life, the life He had before His death. He was a new Man; He had a new life. He had been raised from the dead to live a new life before God forever. He walked before God in newness of life.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory [power] of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

3. The power to raise Christ from the dead shows that God has the power to raise men from the dead. The believer shall experience the great resurrection power of God and be resurrected from the dead.

“Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

3 (1:20) Power—Jesus Christ, Exaltation: believers are to experience the power of God—the same power that took Jesus Christ to heaven and set Him at God’s right hand. God did not just have the power to resurrect Jesus Christ, He had the power to take Jesus Christ into another dimension of being—into the spiritual world, that is, the world of the Spirit. God brought Jesus Christ to Himself and set Him at His own right hand. He is literally there; His body is in heaven—the spiritual world and dimension of being.

“So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged on a tree. Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:30-31).

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

The point of God’s power is clear: He took Christ into heaven and exalted Him in order to demonstrate that He has the power to take men to heaven and to exalt them.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“But he, being full of the Holy Ghost, looked up stedfastly into heaven, and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God. And said, Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God” (Acts 7:55-56).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city” (Rev.22:14).

4 (1:21) Power, God—Believers, Exalted: believers are to experience the power of God—the same power that exalted Jesus Christ above all creatures, both in this world and in the next world. Being seated at the right hand of God simply means having the highest seat of honor and authority in the universe. What God did was exalt Jesus Christ to rule and reign over all authority, no matter how great or powerful. Christ has been exalted above “all principality, and power, and might, and dominion.” And to make sure nothing is excluded—Jesus Christ has been exalted above “every name that is named, not only in this world, but in that [world] which is to come” (v.21). All things are placed in subjection under Him.

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth” (Ph.2:9-10).

“Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above all fellows” (Heb.1:9).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

The point is this: God gave Jesus Christ the authority to rule and reign over all; He demonstrated that He has the power to exalt us to rule and reign with Christ. This God promises to do.

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world” (Mt.25:34).

“And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities” (Lk.19:17).

“Do ye not know that the saints shall judge [rule, hold authority over] the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters? Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?” (1 Cor.6:2-3).

“And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come” (Heb.6:5).

“Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?” (Jas.2:5).

“And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth” (Rev.5:10).

“And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them” (Rev.20:4).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

5 (1:22-23) Church—Jesus Christ, Head of Church: believers are to experience the power of God—the same power that made Jesus Christ the head of the church. Jesus Christ paid the supreme price to start and build the church: He died for it. Therefore, God has given Him the supreme position over the church. Note two points.

1. The church is called the body of Christ. This is one of the Bible’s most descriptive pictures of Jesus Christ and the church: the picture of the human body with Christ being the Head and the church being His body (see note—1 Cor.12:12-31). William Barclay points out that this picture says something of enormous value. Christ needs the church and church needs Christ (Jn.20:21) (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.108.) The head cannot function without the body, nor can the body function without the head. The head dreams dreams and plans plans. But a head, a mind by itself, is of no use. A head must have a body to carry out the plans so that the dream can be realized. Christ came to bring the dream and plan of peace and reconciliation to a world of lost men, men who were alienated from God and from one another. Now the body, the church, must carry out the dream and plan. The message of peace, in the power of Christ, must be taken to men by the church.

The point is this: if God had the power to create the church and to make Christ the head of the church, then He has the power to make the body function and work for Christ. God has the power to get us busy for the Lord—the power to help us in our witnessing—the power to stir us to proclaim the message of reconciliation and to minister to the desperate needs of a world lost and reeling under the weight of sin, darkness, starvation, disease, and suffering.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“Now ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular. And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily, prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues” (1 Cor.12:27-28).

“Which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:23).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body’s sake, which is the church” (Col.1:24).

“And not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:19).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

2. The church completes all for Christ. William Barclay again points out that the church is the instrument through which the fulness of Christ fills all in all—everything. Jesus Christ is working throughout the world and in human history to bring about God’s eternal plan for the world. He is working and fitting everything into its proper place bit by bit, and He is doing it through the church. The church is the instrument of God for bringing His will about on earth. (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.109.)

Again, the point is that God has the power to use the church and its believers to work out His eternal plan for the world. Just think—the church is the body upon the earth that God is using to work out human history!

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him: and he is before all things, and by him all things consist. And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence. For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell; and, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:16-20).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments [elementary knowledge and notions] of the world, and not after Christ. For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power” (Col.2:8-10).

“The Lord is not slack concerning his promise [to return], as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:9-13).

DIVISION II

THE LIFE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 2:1-22

A. The Believer's Life Before Conversion: Life Without Christ, 2:1-3

(2:1-22) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Believers, Life of: this chapter is one of the most important chapters in the Bible. It focuses upon the life of the Christian believer. It discusses his past, present, and future. It shows what life was like before Christ came and what it is like since He has come. It discusses what God has done for man in the work of His mercy and the gift of His grace. It also paints six pictures of the church. It is a chapter that should be lived in; it should be studied and taught time and again.

- A. The Believer's Life Before Conversion: Life Without Christ (2:1-3).
- B. The Believer's Conversion (Part 1): The Work of God's Mercy (2:4-7).
- C. The Believer's Conversion (Part 2): The Work of God's Grace—Salvation (2:8-10).
- D. Remember What Life Is Like Since Christ Came: Reconciliation and Peace (2:11-18).
- E. Remember Who You Are: Six Pictures of the Church (2:19-22).

(2:1-3) Introduction: the believer's life—what was it like before conversion? What was the believer's life like before he came to know Christ? When God looks down upon a man who is unconverted, how does God see him? What is the picture in God's mind of a man who is unsaved? William Barclay descriptively titles this passage, "Life without Christ." Well, what is it like—this life without Christ? What kind of life did the believer live before conversion?

- 1. A life of death (v.1).
- 2. A life of trespasses and sins (v.1-2).
- 3. A life spent with the disobedient of the world (v.3).
- 4. A life under God's wrath (v.3).

1 (2:1) Death: before conversion man lives a life of death. Note the words "you...were dead." How can a man be living and yet be dead? To answer this question, we must understand what death means. The basic meaning of death (nekros) is separation. Death never means extinction, annihilation, non-existence, or inactivity. Death simply means that a person is separated, either separated from his body or from God or from both. H.S. Miller says, "Death is the separation of a person from the purpose or use for which he was intended" (quoted by Lehman Strauss, Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians, p.137). Man was created to know, fellowship, worship, and serve God; but man does not do it. If he worships at all, he worships his own ideas and concepts of God, creating a god to suit his own notions—a god that will allow him to go ahead and live as he wishes.

The point is this: man does not fulfil his purpose on earth, not the purpose for which he was created. He has little if anything to do with God. He is separated from and dead to God. The Bible speaks of three deaths.

1. Physical death: the separation of a man's spirit from his body. This is what men commonly call death. It is when a person ceases to exist on this earth and is buried.

"For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (1 Cor.15:21-22).

"And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Heb.9:27).

2. Spiritual death: the separation of a man from God while he is still living and walking upon earth. This is the natural state of a man on earth without Jesus Christ. Man is seen as still in his sins and dead to God.

⇒ A person may walk in life without God and Christ, rejecting, rebelling and cursing God. The man is spiritually separated from God; he is dead to God.

⇒ A person may walk in life as a religious person, worshipping a god of his own thoughts and notions, rejecting the only living and true God who was revealed by Jesus Christ. The religious person is spiritually separated from God; he is dead to God.

Spiritual death speaks of a person who is dead while he still lives (1 Tim.5:6). He is a natural man living in this present world, but he is said to be dead to the Lord Jesus Christ and to God and to spiritual matters.

a. A person who wastes his life in riotous living is spiritually dead.

“It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was lost, and is found” (Lk.15:32).

- b. A person who has not partaken of Christ is spiritually dead.

“Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you” (Jn.6:53).

- c. A person who does not have the spirit of Christ is said to be spiritually dead.

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

- d. A person who lives in sin is said to be spiritually dead.

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).
“And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses” (Col.2:13).

- e. A person who is alienated from God is said to be spiritually dead.

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:18-19).

- f. A person who sleeps in sin is spiritually dead.

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

- g. A person who lives in sinful pleasure is dead while she lives.

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

- h. A person who does not have the Son of God is dead.

“He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:12).

- i. A person who does great religious works but does the wrong works is dead.

“And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead” (Rev.3:1).

3. Eternal death: the separation of man from God’s presence forever. This is the second death, an eternal state of being dead to God. It is spiritual death, separation from God that is prolonged beyond the death of the body. It is called the “second death” or eternal death.

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“Who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:9).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins” (Jas.5:20).

“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death” (Rev.2:11).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

Thought 1. Everyone who has not trusted Christ is spiritually dead—dead to God, dead even while he lives upon this earth. This was the life of the believer before he was converted.

2 (2:1-2) Trespass—Sin—Satan—Worldliness: before conversion, man lives a life of trespasses and sins. Note that it is trespasses and sins that separate men from God, that place him in a state or process of death. It is while men are living in trespasses and sins that they are dead (separated from God).

The word “trespasses” (paraptoma) means to fall, slip, blunder, deviate, turn aside, or wander away. It is a person who...

- falls from the right way.
- slips from doing what he should.
- blunders and fails.
- deviates off the right road.
- turns aside from what is right.
- wanders away from God and righteousness.

“[Christ] who was delivered for our offences [trespasses], and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:19).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins [trespasses, Greek paraptomaton], according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“And you, being dead in your sins [trespasses, Greek] and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses” (Col.2:13).

The word “sins” (hamartia) means to miss the mark. W.E. Vine points out that sin is the term most often used to describe man’s fallen condition. It is what is meant by coming short of the glory of God. Man should live in a state of God’s glory, but it is evident that he does not. There is no glory—no glow, splendor, brilliance, or light shining out from his body. And there is certainly no glory or light emanating from his behavior. Listening to any newscast on any given day is clear evidence of man’s inglorious behavior.

The point is this: God is perfect but man is imperfect. And imperfection is as different from perfection as day is from night. Imperfection is short—totally and absolutely short—of perfection. Man is ever so short of God’s perfect glory:

- ⇒ man does not measure up to God.
- ⇒ man is not on the same level as God.
- ⇒ man does not reach up to God.

Man sins; he misses the mark of life. He does not live a perfect life. He may be respectable, but he is imperfect. He is never all he could be.

- ⇒ No husband or wife is free from selfishness and disturbance all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No father or mother treats his child like they should all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No child obeys his or her parent all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No workman is diligent in his labor every minute of every day—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No neighbor is as good and kind and helpful as he should be all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No person disciplines his body in eating, exercising, and sleeping all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No person controls his mind from impure and selfish thoughts all the time—not perfectly.
- ⇒ No person uses his mind fully, to the maximum all the time—not perfectly.

Man is not perfect; he is short of perfection—short of God’s glory—short of the purpose for which God created him. This is what is meant by sin. Sin separates man from God. Man is dead (separated) in trespasses and sins. He is dead because he blunders and comes short of God.

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23).

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

Now, note a significant fact: the man who sins is said to be walking after three things.

1. The sinner walks after the “course of this world [or age, aion, Greek].” This simply means he follows the world in its...

“For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mt.16:26).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:4).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him” (1 Jn.2:15).

2. The sinner walks under the power of Satan. Note that Satan is called the “prince of the power of the air.” Man was never created to be evil or to do evil. Evil originated with an alien force, an alien force that exists in another world, the spiritual world or dimension of being. The Bible calls that evil force a person and he is named Satan or the devil. The spiritual world has access to this world and can influence the spirit of man. What has happened is that man, who has free will, has chosen to follow the evil way of Satan. When Satan tries to influence the spirit of man to sin, man often listens and sins. This is exactly what Scripture declares:

“Ye are of your father the devil and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

“And supper being ended, the devil having now put into the heart of Judas Iscariot, Simon’s son, to betray him” (Jn.13:2).

“But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:3-4).

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil” (Heb.2:14).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour” (1 Pt.5:8).

“He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil” (1 Jn.3:8).

“In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother” (1 Jn.3:10).

3. The sinner walks in disobedience. Very simply, he refuses to obey God, refuses to do what God says. He chooses to do what he wants instead of what he should do. And note: he is classified by God as one of the “children of disobedience.” He is a child of disobedience; that is, he is in the family of disobedience, not in the family of God.

“And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:26-27).

“For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls” (1 Pt.2:25).

“[The disobedient] have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness” (2 Pt.2:15).

“The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead” (Pr.21:16).

3 (2:3) Lusts: before conversion man lives a life with the disobedient of the world. Note the words, “among whom.” They refer to the children of disobedience mentioned in the previous verse. Note that the major stress of the disobedient is the desires of the flesh and of the mind. When most persons think of desire or lust, they think of the sins of the flesh such as:

- ⇒ illicit sex
- ⇒ overeating
- ⇒ intoxication
- ⇒ laziness
- ⇒ pornography

But note: the mind also desires and lusts. Some sinful lusts of the mind would be:

- ⇒ immoral thoughts
- ⇒ anger
- ⇒ unbelief
- ⇒ idolatry
- ⇒ envy
- ⇒ false beliefs

The point is this: the unconverted man lives to fulfill the desires of his flesh and mind. In reality, he has nothing else for which to live. He knows nothing but this world and its appeals; therefore, he seeks as much of the world as he can possess and enjoy. His life is self-centered, not God-centered; world-centered, not heaven-centered; selfish, not giving; banking and hoarding, not sacrificial—not meeting the needs of a world reeling in desperate need and death. The unconverted man spends his life with the disobedient of the world living after the desires of the flesh and of the mind.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:26-27).

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:16-17).

“Mortify therefore your members [fleshly desires] which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence [immorality], even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:4-5).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts. Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:1-4).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

4 (2:3) Wrath, of God: before conversion, man lives under the wrath of God. Note the wording of this statement: “Were by nature the children of wrath.”

⇒ The unconverted man acts against God; he does not act for God.

⇒ The unconverted man rejects God; he does not receive God.

⇒ The unconverted man ignores God; he does not confess God.

⇒ The unconverted man denies God; he does not acknowledge God.

⇒ The unconverted man curses God; he does not praise God.

⇒ The unconverted man serves religion; he does not serve God.

⇒ The unconverted man honors a personal idea; he does not honor Christ, the very Son of God.

Man acts in wrath against God: he is a child of wrath, not a child of God. Therefore, he shall reap what he has sown. What he has measured to God shall be measured to him. The wrath of God shall fall upon him.

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath” (Ro.2:8).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“For if the word spoken by angels was steadfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:2-3).

DIVISION II

THE LIFE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 2:1-22

B. The Believer's Conversion (Part I): The Work of God's Mercy, 2:4-7

(2:4-7) Introduction: the most astounding interruption in human history is the word “but” in this passage. Man is dead in trespasses and sins, but God is rich in mercy. He has intervened in the destiny of man; He has interrupted the doom of death and judgment. God has had mercy upon us!

1. God has quickened us with Christ (v.4-5).
2. God has raised us up with Christ (v.6).
3. God has made us sit in heavenly places—in Christ (v.6).
4. God had one great purpose: to show us the riches of His grace in the ages to come (v.7).

1 (2:4-5) Quickened—Mercy—Love: the work of God's mercy is to quicken us with Christ. The word “quicken” means to be made alive. We were dead in trespasses and sins, but God has made us alive. Note three significant points.

1. Why has God quickened us? Because of His very nature. God does not have a nature like most men picture: distant, disinterested, unconcerned, vengeful, and fearful.
  - a. God is full of mercy (eleei): feelings of pity, compassion, affection, kindness. It is a desire to succor, to tenderly draw unto oneself and to care for. Two things are essential in order to have mercy: seeing a need and being able to meet that need. God sees our need and feels for us (Eph.2:1-3). Therefore, He acts; He has mercy upon us...
    - God withholds His judgment.
    - God provides a way for us to be saved.
  - b. God is love; He is full of love (agape): a selfless and sacrificial love; a love of the mind, of the reason, of the will as well as of the heart and affections. It is the love that goes so far...
    - that it loves a person even if he does not deserve to be loved.
    - that it loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.
    - that it is compelled to sacrifice itself for its enemies (Ro.5:8, 10).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

2. When did God quicken and make us alive to Him? When we were dead in sins. This refers back to the former passage and outline (see outline and notes—Eph.2:1-3 for discussion).

3. How did God quicken us? By quickening and making us alive together with Christ. Christ is alive; He is in heaven face to face with God right now. God quickens or regenerates and makes us alive with Christ. How does He do this? This is the discussion of the next two major points. As they are discussed remember that it is by God's grace that we are saved. Salvation is all of Him; none of it is of us. We are saved by the act of God and God alone.

2 (2:6) Salvation—Justification—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the work of God's mercy is to raise us up with Christ. Note a crucial fact. Scripture plainly declares that God has raised up believers together with Christ. How is this possible when Christ was crucified and raised up thousands of years ago? What does Scripture mean? It means this: God raised Jesus Christ for three reasons.

1. Jesus Christ lived a sinless and perfect life. God loved man and wanted to save man but He had a problem. Man had already sinned. Righteousness and perfection had already been lost and only perfection can live in the presence of God. However, there was one hope. If a man could live a perfect and ideal life, that man could secure the perfect, ideal righteousness. And then the ideal man could stand for and cover all men who would trust Him. This is what Jesus Christ did. He came to earth as a Man and lived a perfect and sinless life. He never broke the law nor went against God's will—not even once. He secured perfect righteousness. He was the Ideal and Perfect Man. Therefore, He did not deserve to die; He deserved to live eternally with God.

2. Jesus Christ died for man. God loved man and wanted to save man but He had a problem. Man had already sinned and broken the law; he had already committed rebellion against God. Therefore, the penalty of death had already been enacted and pronounced. Man had to die. However, there was one way out of the dilemma. If the Perfect and Ideal Man would bear the penalty of sin for man, then His ideal death could stand for and cover any man who really trusted Him. This is exactly what Jesus Christ did. He was the Ideal and Perfect Man who loved God with all His heart. Therefore, when God willed Christ to bear man's penalty and judgment for sin, He surrendered and sacrificed Himself. He died for man; He bore man's penalty and punishment for sin. He was perfectly obedient to God the Father even in death. Therefore, He did not deserve to die; He deserved to live forever with God.

3. Jesus Christ was raised up from the dead. He was the Ideal and Perfect Man; therefore, His resurrection can stand for and cover any person who truly trusts Him.

Now, how does God raise up the believer together with Christ? By belief—trust—faith. When a person truly believes in Jesus Christ, God loves His Son so much that He counts the person's faith as his identification with Christ. God sees the persons' faith and love for Christ, and He honors his faith and love by doing the very thing the person believes. The person believes and loves Christ for His righteousness, death, and resurrection; therefore, God counts the person as being together with Christ in His righteousness, death, and resurrection. God counts or credits the persons' faith...

- as his having already died and been raised with Christ.
- as his having been placed in the death and resurrection of Christ.
- as his having been identified in the death and resurrection of Christ.
- as his having been made a partaker in the death and resurrection of Christ.
- as his having been in union with the death and resurrection of Christ.
- as his having been bound together with the death and resurrection of Christ.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“...[righteousness] shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead; who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:24-25).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

3 (2:6) Heaven—Salvation: the work of God's mercy is to sit us in heavenly places in Christ. Note two facts.

1. “Heavenly places” should read “in the heavenlies.” The believer is said to be in Christ. Christ is said to be “in the heavenlies.” Therefore, the believer is in the heavenly realm of experience with Christ. True, the believer physically lives on earth, but spiritually he has already been placed “in the heavenlies.” The believer is of both realms. He belongs to two worlds. He has two addresses: in Ephesus and in Christ. He maintains two relationships: one to earth and one to heaven (cp. Heb.3:1; 1 Pt.2:11).

2. The believer's salvation, his resurrection and exaltation, is an accomplished fact. In the word “together” (synegeiro) or “with Him” (RV), a profound truth is unfolded.

- a. God's unsurpassing power is said to have raised Christ from the dead and made Him to sit at God's right hand in the heavenly places (Eph.1:20).

- b. Believers are said to have been raised with Christ and are urged to “seek those things which are above, where Christ sits on the right hand of God...” (Col.2:12; 3:1, 3).
- c. It is said that believers are already raised from the dead with Christ and already seated with Christ at the right hand of God. The words “quicken” and “raised” and “made to sit” are all in the Greek aorist tense. They express what God has already done for His children in Christ. Christ has already died and been raised and exalted to live in heaven with God forever. God sees all things as they really are. Therefore, He sees believers as having already been raised and exalted to live eternally with Him—all because He sees them in Christ Jesus. He sees their faith and counts them—considers them, looks upon them—as being in Christ. (Cp. Acts 1:10-11; Ph.2:9; 1 Pt.2:9; Rev.1:6; 5:10.)

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

“And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth” (Rev.5:10).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

“Because he hath set his love upon me, therefore will I deliver him: I will set him on high, because he hath known my name” (Ps.91:14).

“And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness, as the stars for ever and ever” (Dan.12:3).

4 (2:7) Salvation, Purpose: the work of God’s mercy has one great purpose—to show believers the riches of His grace throughout all the ages to come. Very simply stated, God’s one great purpose is...

- to show the riches of grace toward us demonstrated in Christ Jesus.

God has done so much for us through Christ Jesus that it will take an eternity to show it all off. “Ages” (aiosin) literally means in the ages that are coming one upon another; that roll in one upon another. It means an eternity of ages. Grasping the verse is helped by breaking it up like this...

- the exceeding riches
- of His grace in His kindness
- toward us
- through Christ Jesus

God is going to be eternally glorified for His grace and kindness toward us. All creatures will live in stark amazement at God’s wondrous mercy shown toward men—all through Christ Jesus (cp. Eph.3:10).

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

DIVISION II

THE LIFE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 2:1-22

C. The Believer's Conversion (Part II): The Work of God's Grace—Salvation, 2:8-10

(2:8-10) Introduction: this passage is one of the great evangelistic summaries of the Bible. As F.F. Bruce points out, this passage is the watchword for reformation theology: "By grace alone, through faith alone, to God alone be the glory" (sola gratia, sola fida, soli deo gloria) (F.F. Bruce. The Epistle to the Ephesians. Westwood, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, 1961, p.51.) If a man wants to be saved, these verses tell him how to be saved. Salvation is the work of God, of God's grace and of God's grace alone. It is not of man, not to any degree whatsoever.

- ⇒ Salvation is a free gift of God. It is by grace alone that man is saved. Man can do nothing whatsoever to save himself. He cannot earn, win, or merit salvation. All man can do is accept the fact that God says He will save him, accept as true the free offer of salvation (Ro.11:6).
- ⇒ Salvation is received by faith (Ro.3:27; 4:2, 5; 1 Cor.1:31). Man must believe just what God says and accept His Word, accept His free offer of salvation. And when he accepts the fact that God says He will save him, God takes him and creates him into a "new man" (2 Cor.5:17; Eph.4:24; 1 Pt.1:23; 2 Pt.1:4).

1. You are saved (v.8-9).
2. You are God's workmanship (v.10).

1 (2:8-9) Salvation—Grace—Faith: you are saved by God and by God alone. This is the major stress of this passage.

1. You are saved by God's grace. Grace means the favor and kindness of God, but there is a uniqueness about God's favor and kindness. His favor and kindness are given despite the fact that it is undeserved and unmerited. God has done a thing unheard of among men: God has given His grace to men...

- despite their cursing Him.
- despite their rejecting Him.
- despite their rebelling against Him.
- despite their hostility toward Him.
- despite their denial of Him.
- despite their neglect of Him.
- despite their half-hearted commitment to Him.
- despite their worship of religion instead of Him.
- despite their false worship.
- despite their idolatrous worship.
- despite their trespasses.
- despite their sins.

Grace is getting what we do not deserve

 mercy is not getting what we do deserve

Grace is giving, but it is giving to people who do not deserve the gift. What is the gift that God has given? Jesus Christ. God has given His Son, Jesus Christ, to save men. He did not have to give His Son. God could have wiped man from the face of the earth. Man deserved it, but this is God's grace. God is full of mercy and love and kindness—by His very nature He is full of these glorious qualities. Therefore, God was bound to shower His grace upon man. God was bound to send His Son to save man.

God is not off someplace in the distance, far removed from man, disinterested and unconcerned with man's sufferings and death. God is gracious, full of mercy, love, and kindness for man; therefore, He has reached out through His Son Jesus Christ to help man. How?

- ⇒ By giving His Son to die for man. When Jesus Christ hung upon the cross, He was taking our sins upon Himself and bearing the punishment for our sins. We had committed high treason against God: rejected and rebelled against Him. The penalty for high treason is death; we are condemned to die. But Christ took our penalty and condemnation upon Himself. He died for us—in our place, in our stead, as our substitute. This is what Scripture means when it says that Christ died for us.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

Note that the people for whom Christ died did not deserve His sacrificial love. They were men who were...

- “without strength” (Ro.5:6).
- “ungodly” (Ro.5:6).
- “sinners” (Ro.5:8).
- “enemies” (Ro.5:10).

This is the grace of God—God’s grace that showered itself upon sinful men who were lost and condemned—God’s grace that gave the greatest gift possible to men—the gift of His Son to save the world. (See notes, Salvation—Eph.2:6; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

2. You are saved through faith. What does it mean to be saved through faith? Simply this: Jesus Christ died for us. He bore our sin and punishment upon the cross. When we believe, really believe, that Jesus Christ died for us, God does a wonderful thing. God takes our faith and counts it as the death of Jesus Christ for us. That is, when we honor God’s dear Son by believing in Him so much that we give all we are and have to Him, God takes the death of Jesus Christ and applies it to us.

The point is this: it is our faith that causes God to look upon us as having been in Christ when He died. It is our faith that causes God to credit us with salvation. (See notes, Salvation—Eph.2:6; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; note—2:19-21 for more discussion.)

Jesus Christ is God’s gift to us. Salvation through Christ has been wrapped up as a gift and God hands it over to us. But note: a gift is not ours until we believe it is ours and we take and receive it. Suppose I hand you my Bible and say, “Here, this is yours. I give it to you as a gift. It is yours; take it.” What is necessary for the Bible (the gift) to become yours? You have to believe it is yours and reach out and receive it. You could say, “No thank you...”

- I do not believe you.
- I don’t want it.
- I deny its existence.
- I don’t have the time to use it.”

If this is your attitude, what happens to the gift? It never becomes yours. In my mind I gave it to you, but you never received it. You either did not believe it or did not want it.

This is what is meant by faith. If you believe, really believe that Jesus Christ died for you, you will reach out and receive the gift of God’s grace.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

3. You are not saved of yourselves. God is perfect, and to live in His presence, a person must be perfect. This is the great problem of man. Man is not perfect; therefore, he can never live in God’s presence—not in and of himself. Even if man could be good enough and do enough good to become perfect (he cannot, but even if he could) he would not be acceptable to God. Why? Because he has already transgressed and become imperfect. He already stands imperfect, corruptible, aging, dying, and decaying. If man is ever to be acceptable to God—if he is ever to be perfected and have his past wiped clean—it will not be by his own hands. He cannot save himself. Salvation is not of man.

“For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise” (2 Cor.10:12).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

“The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground? Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.3-4).

4. You are saved as a gift of God, not of works. There are at least seven reasons why salvation must be a free gift. (Note: some of these were stirred by thoughts from William Barclay, The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.121f.)

- a. Man cannot make God owe him. Man cannot put God in debt for work performed. A man who works puts his employer in debt for his services (Ro.4:4). God is completely independent. He cannot be put in debt to any man. God cannot be made to owe anything or to be obligated for anything. God does not save man because He is obligated to man or owes man, but because He loves and wills to save man.
- b. Man cannot bring perfection to God. God is perfect, incorruptible, and permanent. Man and everything about man is imperfect, corruptible, and decaying (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.1:7). Man cannot offer and cannot give anything to God that will satisfy His perfection. Any offer or gift from an imperfect man to a perfect God is ever so short and inadequate. God accepts man’s offer of himself not because man merits acceptance, but simply because God loves and wills to accept man.
- c. Man cannot make God forgive him. Man is the one who has done wrong, offended and hurt God. It is man who has broken off the friendship and relationship with God (Ro.3:23; 8:6-8). Therefore, man is the one who is to apologize and ask forgiveness, and God is the One who is to have mercy and do the forgiving. If God chooses to have mercy, it comes from a heart of grace, not because man deserves it.
- d. Man cannot heal God’s heart. Man’s sin breaks the heart of God (Ro.5:6, 8, 10). Therefore, man’s offense is primarily against love; it is primarily against God’s very nature of love, mercy, and peace. Since man’s main offense is breaking the heart of God, he can only cast himself upon the love of God, apologize and ask forgiveness and trust God to forgive. This is the glorious message of salvation. If man turns to God and asks forgiveness, God forgives and accepts man back into His glorious grace.
- e. Man cannot save himself (Eph.2:8-9). No matter what law or work was chosen to be the channel for salvation, there would be some men who could never keep that particular law or perform that particular work. If salvation were by law and works, man could never be saved. There are always many who are totally unable to work and earn their way: the deformed, the poor, the sick, the weary, the underprivileged, the disadvantaged, the oppressed, and many, many others. However, the needy are always before God’s keen eyes, and He counts them precious. Therefore, He has made provision for salvation by grace and by grace alone.
- f. Man cannot make God love him (Tit.3:4-7). If salvation were by law and works, the love of God could never be known. God would be forced to save and bless us because He owes us, not because He loves us. Our works would forever require Him to pay our wages. He would not be free to do something for us freely simply because He loved us. We would never know what it is to be loved by God. We would know only what it is to be paid by God for work done.
- g. Man cannot set himself free and bring about liberty of conscience (see DEEPER STUDY # 4—Mt.26:28). If we are saved by law and works, liberty and freedom of spirit and conscience would never be experienced. We constantly fail and come short. This eats and gnaws away at us. If God does not forgive us simply because He loves us, then what can remove the guilt and aggravation of failure from our hearts? The law? No, for the law only points out our failure, and once we have failed we have failed, and the gnawing away of conscience begins (see note—Ro.3:21-22). The only way for the gnawing and guilt of conscience to be removed is for God to forgive us for failing and to convince us of His forgiveness. This He has done by grace—His grace.

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

5. The reason salvation is by grace and not by works is to prevent men from ever boasting. God is the Supreme and Majestic Being of the universe. He is the Creator of all that is in heaven and earth. God is the One who dwells in the ultimate of light and holiness and who deserves all the worship and glory of eternity. The honor and glory due His name are not to be shared with anyone. If man was saved by some effort of his own, he would be due some credit, some boast, some honor. This God cannot allow. His very nature forbids it. As God, He is the Supreme glory of the universe, and as the Supreme Being, He is to receive the supreme glory—that is, all glory and praise. His Supremacy—His being God—demands it.

Thought 1. How small we are and how glorious God is!

“Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped [from boasting], and all the world may become guilty before God” (Ro.3:19).

“Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? Nay: but by the law of faith” (Ro.3:27).

2 (2:10) Salvation—Works, God—New Man: you are God’s workmanship (poiema). Note two points.

1. We are God’s workmanship, created in Christ Jesus. The believer experiences two creations, both a natural birth and a spiritual birth. The spiritual birth is the point of this verse. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God creates him in Christ. What does this mean?

⇒ It means that God quickens the spirit of the believer and makes his spirit alive. Whereas the believer’s spirit was dead to God, God creates it anew and makes it alive to God.

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:5).

⇒ It means that God causes the believer to be born again spiritually.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:3, 5-6).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

⇒ It means that God actually places His divine nature into the heart of the believer.

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

⇒ It means that God actually makes a new creature of the believer.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

⇒ It means that God actually creates a new man out of the believer.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

⇒ It means that God renews the believer by the Holy Spirit.

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

2. We are created to do good works. God saves man for good works not by good works. F.F. Bruce points out that the believer is God's "workmanship" (poiema), God's work of art, God's masterpiece (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.52). God fashions man and creates a masterpiece. God's workmanship is always a work of art. The believer does not create the beauty, the art that shows in the canvas of his life. The believer just shows that he is God's workmanship by the life he lives and displays. Works are an evidence of salvation. Those who walk in trespasses and sins (Eph.2:1-2) show that they are not God's workmanship no matter what profession they make. God's people give ample evidence of the power of a new life which operates in them.

Note that God has ordained us to walk in good works. Doing good works is not an option for the believer; it is the very nature of the believer. If a man has been created in Christ—if God has truly worked in him—the man does good works. His very nature dictates it. He cannot do otherwise. He is not perfect, and he fails; but he keeps coming back to God and falling upon his knees, believing and asking forgiveness, and getting back up and going forth once again to do all the good he can. As stated, it is his nature. He is a new creature created to do good works. Therefore, he does them. Just like a tree, he bears the fruit of his nature.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven" (Mt.5:16).

"That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God" (Col.1:10).

"That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate" (1 Tim.6:18).

"In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity" (Tit.2:7).

"This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men" (Tit.3:8).

"And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works" (Heb.10:24).

"Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works" (Jas.2:17-18).

"Having your conversation honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evil doers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation" (1 Pt.2:12).

"But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:7).

DIVISION II

THE LIFE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 2:1-22

D. Remember What Life Is Like Since Christ Came: Reconciliation & Peace, 2:11-18

(2:11-18) Introduction—New Creation—The Church: in verses 11-22 Paul wants the reader to grasp what God has done for man from three points of view.

1. From an historical view. Before Christ, God dealt with man through the Jewish nation. Since Christ, God has been moving on a world-wide scale to include both Jews and Gentiles who are willing to follow Christ. God takes both Jew and Gentile believers and He makes them the citizens of His new race, His new nation, His new creation (see notes—Eph.2:14-15; 4:17).

2. From an individual view. The Jewish nation was made up of individual Jews, and the Gentile nations are made up of individual Gentiles. Therefore, God deals with each single person even as He deals with the Jewish nation and with the corporate nations of the Gentile world (1 Cor.10:32; Eph.2:10).

3. From a new creation view. God is no longer dealing with earthly divisions of nations. He is dealing with a new nationality of people, a new body of people who make up the true citizens of His Kingdom. These citizens are individuals from all the nations of the world who now approach God through the Lord Jesus Christ. God promises to spiritually recreate any person who approaches Him through Christ. God causes that person to be born again; He makes a new man out of him. God further promises the new man that he will become a member of God's new body and new nation of people—His true church (1 Cor.10:32). It is these believers—those who believe in Christ—who are to constitute the true family of God and to inhabit the new heavens and earth which God is to create in the future (2 Pt.3:10-13; Rev.21:1f).

The present passage is one of the most wonderful passages in all of Scripture. Remember what life is like since Christ came: reconciliation and peace.

1. We were far off and separated from God (v.11-13).
2. Christ brings us near to God (v.13).
3. Christ brings us peace (v.14-15).
4. Christ brings us reconciliation (v.16-17).
5. Christ brings us access to God (v.18).

1 (2:11-12) Division—Separation—Man, State of: we were far off and separated from God. Note that Paul addresses the second person here, "you." He is referring to Gentiles, that is, to everyone who was not a Jew. Glance at the words "far off" in verse 13. There was a time when all of us who are Gentiles were "far off" and separated from God, a time when great division separated us from heaven. When? Before Christ. Before Christ there was a great gulf, a great distance that separated most of the world from God. This is the discussion of these two verses. Six things kept us from God. (Note: the same six things keep a man from God today. See outline and notes—Ro.9:3-5 for more discussion.)

1. We were barricaded from God by the Jews. God Himself had caused the Jewish nation to be born of Abraham. He had challenged the Jews to be the missionary force to the world, proclaiming that He and He alone was the only true and living God, and that He was going to send the Messiah to save the world. But the Jews failed in their mission. They became exclusive, super-spiritual, prideful, and boastful in their religion and failed to reach out to the other people of the world.

- ⇒ They took their own name, Jews, and called themselves by that name, but they classified everyone else in a package by the name of Gentile.
- ⇒ They took the major ritual of their religion, circumcision, and called themselves by that name, but they classified everyone else as the uncircumcised.

The point is that we as Gentiles were barricaded from God by religion, a religion that had known the truth but had allowed itself to become corrupted. (See notes and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Israel—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 1, Circumcision—Ro.4:11.)

Thought 1. Religion can keep a man from God—a corrupted religion. We must be on guard to protect the truth of Jesus Christ from corruption.

2. We were “without Christ.” This means that we as Gentiles neither knew nor expected the Messiah, that is, the anointed One of God. As Gentiles we had no hope of the coming Saviour for the world.

3. We were “aliens” from God’s people, that is, from Israel. This means that we as Gentiles were not citizens of God’s people—the nation of people being built by God for Himself. As Gentiles we had no destiny.

4. We were “strangers from the covenant and promises of God.” This means that we as Gentiles were not the covenant people of God. God did not approach the Gentiles directly with the covenant relationship. The Jews alone had a covenant relationship with God.

5. We had “no hope.” This means that we as Gentiles lived in all the fears and the anxieties of life and in constant expectancy of death. We had no hope of a life beyond this world beyond human history.

6. We were “without God in the world.” This means that we as Gentiles stood alone in this world. We had no source of strength or hope beyond that which we ourselves could muster or which others like us could provide. There was nothing to which we could look beyond ourselves. We had “gods many, and lords many” (1 Cor.8:5), but we were alienated from the only living and true God.

“This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me” (Mt.15:8).

“For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools....who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever” (Ro.1:20-22, 25).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness [all forms of immorality], to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:17-19).

“The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies” (Ps.58:3).

2 (2:13) Jesus Christ, Blood—Reconciliation: Christ brings us near to God. The words “but now” are cataclysmic, a forceful contrast. Christ Jesus has now come into the world. There was a time when He had not entered the world, a time when men were divided and separated from God and from each other, but now Christ has come to bring all men to God and to each other. How does Christ bring us near God? Note how clearly and unmistakably Scripture declares: “By the blood.” It is by the blood of Christ that men are brought near God. But why blood? Why was it necessary for Christ to die in order to bring us near God? There are at least two reasons.

1. Man was estranged from God: he had rejected and rebelled against God, committing high treason against Him. Man was working all kinds of evil and injustice in the world—all against the will and law of God. And, even as the case is among men, the penalty for high treason and insurrection is exile and separation or death.

Now note: there was only one way man could ever be brought back to God—if God loved him enough to forgive his transgression and rebellion. The glorious gospel is that God did love man that much. God was willing to forgive man. However, there was one problem. The judgment of exile or death had already been pronounced, and the Lord’s Word could not be revoked. What could God do? Only one thing: God had to provide a Perfect, Ideal Man for men, a Man who could stand as the Pattern for all men. If He could provide the Ideal Man, then He could die for man and His death would stand for the death of all men.

This God has done. God has loved man with a perfect love—a love so strong that He was willing to substitute His Son for man. Only God and God’s Son could love that much. This is the first reason Christ had to die, to shed His blood for man.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

2. God wanted to show just how much He loves the world. No “greater love can a man give than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13). However, God has gone much farther than just giving His life for His friends. But note the point: we were not friends of God. We were enemies, in rebellion against Him, rejecting Him and every righteous law of His. Therefore, when Christ died, He died for men who were...

- “without strength” (Ro.5:6).
- “ungodly” (Ro.5:6).
- “sinners” (Ro.5:8).
- “enemies” (Ro.5:10).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him. For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:8-10).

3 (2:14-15) Peace—Reconciliation—Law—Brotherhood—Unity—Division—New Man : Christ brings us peace. Note that Jesus Christ Himself is our peace.

- ⇒ Christ brings us peace when we realize that He died for us and offers us deliverance from the bondage of sin and death and a life of eternity with God.
- ⇒ Christ brings a deeper sense of peace when we realize that He gives the daily power to overcome the aggravating and terrible weight of anguish and guilt and loneliness and emptiness and fear.
- ⇒ Christ brings a still deeper sense of peace when we realize that He has brought perfect love and unity to the world—that He has eliminated all divisions and barriers and differences between God and man and between men.

Christ is man’s peace because He does four things for man.

1. Christ brings peace by bringing men together as “one” (v.14). Note that He has made “both one,” that is, Jew and Gentile. There are two ways that Christ makes men as one.

- a. All men now approach God on the same basis, on an equal footing: by the blood of Jesus Christ. There is no other way. Therefore, when a man comes to the cross, he comes with everyone else who is standing at the feet of Jesus. He stands as one with them—all on an equal basis: sinners who need a Savior. Standing there he is not accepted by God because he is better, healthier, wealthier, more intelligent, more capable, and more religious than anyone else. He is acceptable to God because He acknowledges his unworthiness and nothingness—his desperate need—to be saved by the blood of Christ. He is acceptable to God because he acknowledges that he is as all other men—lost and needful—and he comes as one with all other men to confess Christ as his Savior.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousnes, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

- b. All men who come to Christ for salvation receive a common love and purpose and work.
- ⇒ First, there is the common love. Every believer who comes to Jesus Christ loves Him, and that common love among believers stirs a common love between believers. Love for Jesus Christ stirs love for all those whom Christ loves—which is everyone. Christ leads men to love one another.
  - ⇒ Second, there is the common purpose and work: that of living righteously and bearing testimony to the glorious message of salvation and to life eternal.

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

“For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:12-13).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

2. Christ brings peace by breaking down all barriers (v.14). This is a picture taken from the temple. The temple was surrounded by a series of courts. Each court had a high wall separating it from the preceding court. As one approached the temple, he entered first of all the outer Court of the Gentiles. This is where the buying and selling of animals and the exchanging of money for foreign worshippers took place (see note—Mk.11:15). Then there was the Court of the Women. A Jewish woman was limited to this court unless she had come to make a sacrifice. The next court was the Court of the Israelites. This is where the whole congregation gathered on the great feast days and where sacrifices were handed over to the priests. The Court of the Priests was next. This court was in the temple proper where the temple itself stood. This area was considered sacred and was accessible only to the services of the priests. Finally, within the very heart of the temple stood the Holy of Holies or the Most Holy Place where the very presence of God was to dwell. Only the High Priest could enter the Holy Place and he could enter only once a year—at the great Passover Feast.

Partition after partition separated people from the presence of God. Tablets hung around the wall of the Gentile Court announcing that if any Gentile walked into any other court, he was to be put to death. The picture is that of Jesus Christ breaking down all barriers and walls that separate man from God. All men can now approach God equally through the death of Jesus Christ. Men build all kinds of barriers and prejudices against other men. Society is plagued with barriers and prejudices built around such things as...

- race
- color
- religion
- organizations
- wealth
- position
- morality
- dress
- appearance
- health
- commitment
- ability

But Christ has now done away with all barriers and prejudices. He has broken them all down by the blood of His cross. All men now approach God and become worthy on the same basis: by bowing before the cross and surrendering their lives to God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

“But be not ye called Rabbi: for one is your Master, even Christ and all ye are brethren” (Mt.23:8).

“But God hath showed me that I should not call any man common or unclean” (Acts 10:28).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him” (Ro.10:12).

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

“Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?” (Jas.2:5).

“The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all” (Pr.22:2).

3. Christ brings peace by wiping out the enmity of the law against us. Before Christ, man had to approach God through law. However, man discovered something: the law did not make him acceptable to God: it condemned him and showed him how far away from God he really was—totally depraved. Every time he broke the law, the law cried out “guilty” and pronounced the penalty of being imperfect and unworthy and unacceptable to God. Man discovered that the law was against him—at enmity with him. But now, Christ has done away with the enmity and condemnation of the law.

⇒ He has lived a sinless life, fulfilling the law perfectly; and thereby He has secured the Perfect and Ideal Righteousness.

⇒ He has also paid the penalty for man's having broken the law. As the Ideal and Perfect Man He could do this. When He died on the cross, He bore our condemnation and punishment for us.

The point is this: when Christ fulfilled the law, He became the embodiment of the law. He is now the Way. A man is to approach God through Him, not the law. Therefore, there are no laws, no rules, and no decrees to keep men from God. There is only one thing that keeps a man away from God: refusing to come to God through His Son Jesus Christ. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.2:15-16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—2:16; notes—2:19-21; 3:13-14; 4:4-7; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.8:3 for more discussion.)

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons” (Gal.4:4-5).

4. Christ brings peace by creating a “new man.” God planned and promised a “new creation”—the creation of a new man individually and corporately, a new man in whom Jesus Christ dwells (Col.1:27).

Individually when a man turns to Christ, Christ causes the man to be born again. He recreates the man—creates the man all over again. The man has a new life; he begins life all over again. He has a new beginning, and this new beginning brings peace—peace of heart and mind. (See note, New Man—Eph.2:10 for more discussion.)

Corporately in Jesus Christ all men who believe, both Jew and Gentile, make up one new body (Eph.2:16), one new family (Eph.2:19), one new building (Eph.2:20-22), one new temple (Eph.2:21), one new fellowship (Eph.1:22). (See note—Eph.4:17; DEEPER STUDY # 3—Eph.4:24.)

4 (2:16-17) Reconciliation—Jesus Christ, Cross: Christ brings us reconciliation. The word “reconcile” (apokatalasso) means to change, to change thoroughly, to exchange, to change from enmity to friendship, to bring together, to restore.

The idea is that two persons who should have been together all along are brought together; two persons who had something between them are restored and reunited.

Five points should be noted about reconciliation.

1. The thing that broke the relationship between God and man was sin. Men are said to be enemies of God (Ro.5:10), and the word “enemies” refers back to the sinners and the ungodly (Ro.5:6, 8). The “enemies” of God are the sinners and ungodly of this world. This simply means that every man is an enemy of God, for every man is a sinner and ungodly. This may seem unkind and harsh, but it is exactly what Scripture is saying. The fact is clearly seen by thinking about the matter for a moment.

The sinner cannot be said to be a friend of God’s. He is antagonistic toward God, opposing what God stands for. The sinner is...

- rebelling against God
- rejecting God
- cursing God
- ignoring God
- disobeying God
- fighting against God
- denying God
- refusing to live for God

When any of us sin, we work against God and promote evil by word and example.

- ⇒ When the sinner lives for himself, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because God does not live for Himself. God gave Himself up in the most supreme way possible: He gave His only Son to die for us.
- ⇒ When the sinner lives for the world and worldly things, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because he chooses the temporal, things which pass away, over God. Man chooses temporal things when God has provided eternal life for him through the death of His Son.

This is the point of God’s great love or reconciliation. He did not reconcile and save us when we were righteous and good. He reconciled and saved us when we were enemies, ignoring and rejecting Him. As stated above, it is because we are sinners and enemies that we need to be reconciled.

2. The way men are reconciled to God is by the death of His Son, Jesus Christ. Very simply stated, when a man believes that Jesus Christ died for him...

- God accepts the death of Jesus Christ for the death of the man.
- God accepts the sins borne by Christ as the sins committed by the man.
- God accepts the condemnation borne by Christ as the condemnation due to the man.

Therefore, the man is freed from his sins and the punishment due his sins. Christ bore both the sins and the punishment for the man. The man who truly believes that God loves that much—enough to give His only begotten Son—becomes acceptable to God, reconciled forever and ever.

3. God is the One who reconciles, not men. Men do not reconcile themselves to God. They cannot do enough work or enough good to become acceptable to God. Reconciliation is entirely the act of God. God is the One who reaches out to men and reconciles them unto Himself. Men receive the reconciliation of God.

4. All men can be reconciled to one another, can be brought together, if they look up to God “through the Lord Jesus Christ.” Men who look up to Jesus Christ for reconciliation and peace with God are linked arm in arm under the same Lord. (See notes—Jn.14:27; Eph.2:13; 2:14-15; 1 Jn.1:3-4; 2:1-2.)

5. Men learn about reconciliation by the preaching of Jesus Christ. Christ was the first to preach the message. His followers are to follow in His trail, for there is no other way men can ever know that they can be reconciled to God apart from preaching.

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:18; cp. v.19-21).

“...His grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved” (Eph.1:6).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“We love him, because he first loved us” (1 Jn.4:19).

5 (2:18) Access: Christ brings us access to God. The word access (prosagoge) means to bring to, to move to, to introduce, to present. The thought is that of being in a royal court and being presented and introduced to the King of kings. Jesus Christ is the One who throws open the door into God’s presence. He is the One who presents us to God, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe.

Note that it is the Holy Spirit who escorts us into God’s presence. The idea is that of daily access—hour by hour, moment by moment. The Holy Spirit keeps us in the presence of God.

- ⇒ The Holy Spirit is the Divine Nature of God within us that gives us permanent access into God’s presence. (Jn.3:5; Ro.8:11; 2 Pt.1:4).
- ⇒ The Holy Spirit is the One who works in us and stirs us to move more and more into God’s presence (Ro.8:14; Gal.4:6-7).
- ⇒ The Holy Spirit is the constant companion with us, teaching us to live in God’s presence (Jn.14:26; 1 Cor.2:12-13).
- ⇒ The Holy Spirit is the One within us who bears witness that we are children of God and should approach God continually (Ro.8:15-16; Gal.4:4-6).

DIVISION II

THE LIFE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 2:1-22

E. Remember Who You Are: Six Pictures of the Church, 2:19-22

(2:19-22) Introduction—The Church: this is an excellent description of the church. Six pictures are given in these four short verses.

1. Picture 1: a new nation (v.19).
2. Picture 2: God's family (v.19).
3. Picture 3: God's building (v.20).
4. Picture 4: a growing organism (v.21).
5. Picture 5: a worldwide temple—the universal church (v.21).
6. Picture 6: a local temple—the local church (v.22).

1 (2:19) Church—Believers—New Nation: first, the church is pictured as a new nation or society. Note the word "fellowcitizens." We, the Gentiles, are no longer strangers and foreigners to God; we are now fellowcitizens with all the saints of God.

1. We were strangers and foreigners. The word "stranger" (xeno) means an outsider, an unknown person, a person who does not belong. The word "foreigner" (paroikoi) means sojourner, alien, a migrant, an exile. There was a time when we...

- were outside God and His kingdom.
- were unknown to God and His kingdom.
- did not belong to God and His kingdom.
- were sojourners, living outside God and outside His kingdom.
- were alien to God and to His kingdom.
- were migrants, not belonging to God nor to His kingdom.
- were exiles to God and to His kingdom.

There was a time when we were as a stranger and a foreigner to God, when we were not citizens of God's kingdom. We had no relationship and no fellowship with God and no home and no rights to citizenship in His kingdom.

But note the glorious news: we are no longer strangers and foreigners to God. Jesus Christ has brought us to God (see outline and notes—Eph.2:13-18). We are now fellowcitizens with all of God's people. We now have a home and all the rights of citizenship in God's kingdom.

2. Note the word "saints." It means those who are set apart or separated to God. The picture is that of a people who are fellowcitizens in a nation being created by God. The people are called...

- Saints: a people set apart to God.
- Fellowcitizens: a people being built into a new nation under God.

"For our conversation [Greek politeuma, citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ" (Ph.3:20).

"By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God" (Heb.11:9-10).

"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city" (Heb.11:13-16).

"Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Pt.3:13).

"And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away" (Rev.21:1).

"And there shall in no wise enter into it [God's city, God's nation] any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life" (Rev.21:27).

2 (2:19) Church—God, Family of: second, the church is pictured as the family of God. Note the phrase “household of God.” Jesus Christ has brought us into the family of God. This involves two glorious privileges.

1. The privilege of adoption. We have been adopted as children of God, sons and daughters of His (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Adoption—Gal.4:5-6 for discussion). We now live in the same house with God and His family, and all the experiences of God’s family are now ours:

- |            |              |              |                 |
|------------|--------------|--------------|-----------------|
| • love     | • help       | • clothing   | • direction     |
| • care     | • provision  | • food       | • fellowship    |
| • interest | • protection | • training   | • companionship |
| • concern  | • shelter    | • discipline | • intimacy      |

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“Have ye suffered so many things in vain? if it be yet in vain. He therefore that ministereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it by the works of the law, or by the hearing of faith? Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:4-6).

“For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren” (Heb.2:11).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

2. The privilege of responsibility and service. Again, note the term household. Every person of the household has duties to perform, some service to render for the sake of the family. We are responsible to love and care, provide and teach each other—do all the things mentioned in the previous point and everything else that will build up and strengthen the family of God.

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth” (Lk.22:27).

“If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another’s feet” (Jn.13:14).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord; rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:10-11).

“For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another” (Gal.5:13).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

3 (2:20) Church—Building, God’s: third, the church is pictured as God’s building. Believers are pictured as being the building stones which are being used to construct a building for God. Note two significant points.

1. Jesus Christ Himself is the chief cornerstone. The symbolism of the chief cornerstone says three significant things to us.

a. The cornerstone is the first stone laid. All other stones are placed after it. It is the preeminent stone in time. So it is with Christ. He is the first of God’s new movement.

⇒ Christ is the captain of our salvation. All others are crew members who follow Him.

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

⇒ Christ is the author of eternal salvation and of our faith. All others are the readers of the story.

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

⇒ Christ is the beginning and the end. All others come after Him.

“I am the Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty” (Rev.1:8; cp. 21:6; 22:13).

⇒ Christ is the forerunner into the very presence of God. All others enter God’s presence after Him.

“Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec” (Heb.6:19-20).

- b. The cornerstone is the supportive stone. All other stones are placed upon it and held up by it. They all rest upon it. The cornerstone is the preeminent stone in position and power. So it is with Christ. He is the support and power, the Foundation of God’s new movement.

⇒ Christ is the head cornerstone, the only true foundation upon which man can build. All crumble who are not laid upon Him.

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

⇒ Christ is the chief cornerstone upon which all others are fitly formed together. All who wish to be fitly formed together have to be laid upon Him.

“And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:20-22).

- c. The cornerstone is the directional stone. It is used to line up the whole building and all the other stones. It can be called the instructional stone—upon it all the lines and instructions of the building are based. So it is with Christ. He is the Person who gave and gives the directions and instructions to God’s people. We—the church—are to build our lives upon His instructions and His instructions only. If we follow any other instructions or directions, we will be out of line; and when we are noticed, we will have to be removed, cast aside and replaced with a stone that can be set in line. Jesus Christ is the chief cornerstone. God used Him to give direction to all the other stones.

“Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded. Unto you therefore which believe he is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed” (1 Pt.2:6-8).

Thought 1. Jesus Christ is the chief cornerstone. If He is removed, the church will collapse: no Christ, no church. Christ holds everything within the church together. Therefore, it is an absolute necessity that He and He alone be preached, taught, and lived.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

2. We, the church, are built upon the foundation laid by the testimonies of the apostles and prophets. They surrounded the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. Their record and testimony of the Word of God itself is the foundation upon which the church is to be laid.

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“But what saith it? The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart: that is, the word of faith, which we preach; that if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:8-10).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:14-15).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

4 (2:21) Church—Building: fourth, the church is pictured as a growing organism. The word “grows” is a biological word, the idea of a living organism. The church is pictured as a living organism—the union of various parts of a living being, of a dynamic body. This may seem strange to speak of a building in biological terms—a building that grows. The point is that more and more parts, more and more believers are brought and fitted into the building as each day passes. The building grows and grows and shall continue to grow until the Lord Jesus Christ returns.

Note another fact as well. Peter calls Jesus Christ the living stone. Christ is the living stone upon which all others are built up a spiritual house. All others have to be built upon Him if they wish to live and have their spiritual sacrifice accepted by God.

“To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious, ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:4-5).

Note that it is all of God; it is all due to God’s work. He is the One who raises up the Savior. Note also that the Savior is the object of marvel and wonder.

Thought 1. The church and its believers have two dynamic challenges in this point.

- 1) The church must grow. It must be bringing new stones (believers) and fitting them into the building of God. The church must be adding on to the building. Its structure is not yet finished.
- 2) Every believer within the building is a part of the building and expected to fulfill its function within the building; that is, every believer is a laborer, a laborer who is expected to be busy adding on to the building of the church. We are all to be bringing new stones and fitting them into the great building of God, the church.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what he hath done for my soul” (Ps.66:16).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“I will mention the lovingkindnesses of the LORD, and the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses” (Is.63:7).

5 (2:21) Church—Universal Temple: fifth, the church is pictured as a world-wide temple, as the universal church. Note the word “all”—all believers make up the holy temple of God. All believers are pictured as a building, a universal church being structured for God’s presence. Each new believer and each generation of believers are seen as being placed and fitted into God's universal structure. As the little chorus says, "Red and yellow, black and white—they are precious in His sight." All believers of every generation who are being called from all across the world are being fitted into God's universal building which will literally be the new heavens and earth. We, the church—the believers of the earth from all generations—shall be a part, a building stone, of the new universe when God makes the new heavens and earth (see verses above; note 1—Eph.2:19). However, note that each person is placed into the structure only by Christ. Only the person and the body of people who come to Christ as the chief cornerstone are fitted into the building. A man must build upon the foundation laid by the apostles and prophets, which is the foundation of Christ Himself. Any other cornerstone or any other foundation constructs some other kind of building, not God's building. People may follow their own thought structure or some man's profound philosophy or even their own life-style, but it is not God's building that they structure. In Christ and in Christ alone and upon the foundation laid by the apostles is God's building being structured.

Thought 1. The gospel of Jesus Christ is open to all people everywhere. There is no place for division and prejudice, privilege and partiality, classes and caste systems in the temple or church of God. Every nation, even the uttermost part of the earth, is to be brought into the universal temple or church of God.

"And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" (Mt.16:18).

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost" (Mt.28:19).

"And the gospel must first be published among all nations" (Mk.13:10).

"And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mk.16:15).

"And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem" (Lk.24:47).

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him" (Ro.10:12).

"There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal.3:28).

"That the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel" (Eph.3:6).

"And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people" (Rev.14:6).

6 (2:22) Church—Holy Spirit, Indwelling Presence: sixth, the church is pictured as a local temple, as the local church. Note that Paul now uses the word "you," referring to the Ephesian church in particular. Each local church is pictured as a building structured for God's presence (v.22). And each member is seen as an integral and essential stone being placed and fitted into the building (Eph.4:16; 1 Pt.2:5). The church's stability lies in each stone being placed, fitted and cemented by the same Lord, and by each stone holding up its load, fulfilling its purpose in the structure. Note that the local church exists for the purpose of providing a habitation, a home for the presence of God—through His Spirit. The church is to allow the Spirit of God to live out His life through the church. The Holy Spirit dwells within the church to help its believers when they are...

- troubled, distressed, or confused.
- discouraged or dispirited.
- suffering or dying.
- joyful and excited.
- slothful and inactive.
- witnessing and teaching.
- preaching and ministering.

The Spirit of God dwells within the church to conform the church to the image of God's will. The effectiveness of any local church depends upon how much it allows the Holy Spirit to dwell within and to control its body of members.

"Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you" (Jn.14:17).

"But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Ro.8:9).

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1 Cor.3:16).

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (1 Cor.6:19).

"That good thing which was committed unto thee keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us" (2 Tim.1:14).

"But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him" (1 Jn.2:27).

DIVISION III

THE ETERNAL PURPOSE OF GOD FOR THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 3:1-21

A. A New Body of People: The Great Mystery of Christ, 3:1-13

(3:1-21) DIVISION OVERVIEW: God, Purpose: chapter three begins a new division in Ephesians, "The Purpose of God for Christian Believers." But note: the passage discusses "The Eternal Purpose of God." God's purpose for believers involves much more than life on this earth. God has planned an eternal purpose for believers.

1. First, His purpose is to make a new body of people on earth who will love Him supremely. This is what is called the mystery of Christ (Eph.3:1-13).

2. Second, His purpose is to make the believer into a mature person filled with all the fulness of God (Eph.3:14-21).

(3:1-13) Introduction: prejudice, bitterness, segregation, hatred, disturbance, hurt, anger, and division rage between people. They rage in the hearts of husbands and wives, children and parents, student and teacher, employer and employee, race and religion, denomination and organization, neighborhoods and nations. Division in all its various forms is one of the greatest problems confronting the world. It is the most serious problem confronting God, for as long as men are divided from Him and from each other, there is no hope of men ever being reconciled to God. This is the subject of this passage: how God has dealt with the terrible division in the world. God's eternal purpose has been to create a new body of people, a people who will love Him and each other supremely. Note that this is what is known as the great mystery of Christ.

1. It gave Paul purpose for existing (v.1-2).
2. It was a mystery: it required a special revelation to become known (v.3-5).
3. It was a threefold revelation (v.6).
4. It affected Paul—profoundly (v.7-9).
5. It affects heavenly beings even now, profoundly so: causes them to stand in stark amazement (v.10-12).
6. It stirred a willingness within (v.13).

1 (3:1-2) Paul—Ministers: these two verses give a glimpse into the very purpose for Paul's existence.

1. Paul existed to serve Christ, no matter the cost. Note: he says that he was a prisoner of Jesus Christ. He was speaking literally; he was a prisoner in Rome when he was penning these words. He was there because he was enslaved to Christ, enslaved to the point that he would bear any suffering to share the glorious news of Christ even if it meant imprisonment and death.

2. Paul existed to be a steward of God. The word “dispensation” (oikonomian) means stewardship, management, administration, ownership. Paul was given the duty to oversee and administer the grace of God to the world.

Thought 1. What an enormous responsibility laid upon ministers of God!

1) Every minister of God is a slave of the Lord Jesus Christ. He is to serve Christ no matter the cost—even if it means imprisonment.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth” (Lk.22:27).

“If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another’s feet” (Jn.13:14).

2) Every minister of God is a steward of God’s grace. He is responsible for ministering the grace of God to men.

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:1-2).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

2 (3:3-5) Mystery—Revelation: the mystery of Christ required a special revelation to become known. Note two points.

1. The mystery is called the mystery of Christ (v.4). Just what the mystery involves is discussed in the next note (v.6).

2. The word mystery (musterion) is defined in these verses. It was some truth that had to be revealed by God for man to know it. As verse five says: “in other ages it was not made known to the sons of men.” Glance at verse nine where it is said to be “the mystery, which from the beginning of the world has been hid in God.” All this simply means that the mystery of Christ was...

- a truth that was not known before the apostles and prophets.
- a truth that could not be discovered by human reason.
- a truth that had to be revealed by God if it was to ever be known.

Note a striking point that needs to be noted by all men. The mystery of Christ was not a creation of man’s mind, of his rationalizations, concepts, thoughts, and ideas. Man could have never figured out the mystery. No man in this physical world could ever penetrate the spiritual world and discover the truth, no matter what some have claimed. Jesus said so:

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

The spiritual world and the mystery of Christ had always been a mystery, and they would have remained a mystery if God had not acted and revealed them to Paul and the other apostles and prophets of his day.

3 (3:6) Mystery of Christ—Church—Body—Heirs: the mystery of Christ was a threefold revelation.

1. We, the Gentiles, are fellowheirs of God with the Jews. Scripture declares that “salvation is of the Jews” (Jn.4:22). Before Jesus Christ, if a person wished to be saved, he had to approach God through the Jewish religion. The Jews who really believed the promises of God were the heirs of God. (See notes—Eph.2:11-18; 2:11-12; Gal.3:6-7; 3:8-9; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:8, 16; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22 for more discussion.) However, since Christ, Gentile believers—all peoples of the earth—no longer have to approach God through any other people or religion. No matter who we are, we are now to approach God face to face through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. Every person now has the glorious privilege of approaching God no matter...

- who he is
- what he has done
- where he is or has been
- when he comes

- how he comes
- why he comes

If a person is genuine in seeking after God, he can now approach God through Jesus Christ. There are no barriers—none whatsoever—to prevent him from coming to God and being adopted by God as an heir of God with all other believers.

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of his counsel, confirmed it by an oath: that by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:17).

“Wheren ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:6-7).

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

2. We, the Gentiles, are of the same body with the Jews. No longer does man have to approach God through one body or nation of people. God’s love is universal. God is now allowing all men to approach him through the Lord Jesus Christ. God is now creating a new body of people made up of people from all nations and races—all centered around His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Believers now form what is called the body of Christ. But note: this means far more than just an organizational body. The body of Christ (believers in Christ) is actually a living organism. How is this possible?

⇒ By the Spirit of God. Believers are actually indwelt by the Spirit of God who energizes and empowers the spirit of believers. He creates a spiritual union by melting and molding the heart of the Christian believer to the hearts of other believers. He attaches the life of one believer to the lives of other believers. Through the Spirit of God, believers become one in life and purpose. They have a joint life sharing their blessings and needs and gifts together.

“Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me” (Jn.17:20-21).

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“Now ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular” (1 Cor.12:27).

“[The church] which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:23).

“In whom [Christ] all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:21-22).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

“Who now rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh for his body’s sake, which is the church” (Col.1:24).

“And not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:19).

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

3. We, the Gentiles, receive the same promise of Christ as the Jews did. The promise in Christ, of course, involves all the promises of God. But note: God had promised Abraham that he would inherit the promised land and have a great nation born of his loins. That great nation was the Jewish nation. This is the reason the Jews, even today, consider Palestine their land. However, there was a spiritual meaning to God’s promise: Canaan is a type of heaven and of the new heavens and earth God is going to recreate. (See note, Promised Land—Acts 7:2-8 for more discussion.) Therefore, the primary promise in Christ has to do with the glorious privilege of being saved and living with God and Christ for eternity in the new heavens and earth.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

4 (3:7-9) Paul—Minister: the mystery of Christ profoundly affected Paul. Barclay points out that Paul’s greatest glory was God’s call and God’s work (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.145). Paul saw the dignity of the ministry, the dignity of being especially chosen by God. The ministry was a radiant privilege for Paul. God did not have to persuade Paul to be a minister. No one had to persuade Paul to teach (Eph.4:1); to sing (Eph.5:19); to speak for God (Eph.4:17); to visit (2 Cor.13:1f); to administer the affairs of the church (1 Cor.7:1f); to give his money (2 Cor.8:1f; 9:1f). Paul did not have to be coerced. He saw his call to be a minister of God as the greatest of all privileges.

Something else of primary importance: Paul says that his call to be a minister and a preacher was a gift, a free gift of God’s grace. God had the right to call him simply because God has all rights. God is God. There was no merit, no worth, no value within Paul that caused God to choose him as a minister and as a preacher. Paul simply exclaims, “what a privilege! What a responsibility! the less of the least called of God to minister and to preach!”

1. The salvation in Christ caused Paul to become a minister (v.7).

“Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament” (2 Cor.3:6).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:18-21).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“If ye continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister” (Col.1:23).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

2. The salvation in Christ caused Paul to become a preacher. Note Paul’s utter humility. He had what we all need: a deep, intense sense of unworthiness before God.

“And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three sabbath days reasoned with them out of the scriptures, opening and alleging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ” (Acts 17:2-3).

“For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect” (1 Cor.1:17).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power” (1 Cor.2:2-4).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come” (1 Th.1:9-10).

“Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:11).

3. The salvation in Christ caused Paul to become a dynamic witness or evangelist. Note the statement “to make all men see...the mystery [salvation].”

“Then spake the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace: for I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this city” (Acts 18:9-10).

“And he said, The God of our fathers hath chosen thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and see that Just One, and shouldest hear the voice of his mouth. For thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard” (Acts 22:14-15).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

5 (3:10-12) Church—Salvation: the mystery of Christ profoundly affects heavenly beings. It causes them to stand in stark amazement at three things.

1. Heavenly beings stand in stark amazement at what God is doing in the church. This is the meaning of verse ten. Looking at several different translations will show this.

“In order that the manifold wisdom of God might now be made known through the church to the rulers and the authorities in the heavenly places” (NAS).

“So that the many phases of God’s wisdom may now through the church be made known to the rulers and authorities in heaven” (Williams).

“So that through the church God’s many-sided wisdom would now be shown to the rulers and authorities in heaven” (Beck).

God’s glorious purpose in salvation and in the church is to show His love and wisdom to the whole universe—to stir every creature in heaven to stand in stark amazement at what He is doing. Note that the heavenly beings see what is happening right now.

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Ro.11:33).

“For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God” (Ro.14:11).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; and hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth. And I beheld, and I heard the voice of many angels round about the throne and the beasts and the elders: and the number of them was ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousands of thousands; saying with a loud voice, worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing. And every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, and such as are in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I saying, Blessing, and honour, and glory, and power, be unto him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever" (Rev.5:9-13).

2. Heavenly beings stand in stark amazement at God's eternal purpose in Christ Jesus. (See outline and notes—Eph.1:3-14; 2:7 for discussion.)

"Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began" (2 Tim.1:9).

"In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began" (Tit.1:2).

3. Heavenly beings stand in stark amazement at the believer's access into God's presence—at the fact that access is granted to us by faith in Christ (see note, Access—Eph.2:18 for discussion).

"I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture" (Jn.10:9).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God" (Ro.5:1-2).

"For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father" (Eph.2:18).

"In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith in him" (Eph.3:12).

6 (3:13) Conclusion: Paul is, therefore, willing to suffer for the church. The glory of all that lies ahead for the believer is so glorious that any suffering is worth the reward. Therefore, no believer should ever faint in suffering or in seeing other believers suffer. It is all worth the price of whatever suffering we are called to bear, even martyrdom.

DIVISION III

THE ETERNAL PURPOSE OF GOD FOR THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 3:1-21

B. A Mature Believer in Christ: The Great Prayer, 3:14-21

(3:14-21) Introduction: this is the great prayer of Paul for the church and the believer. It is probably the second most important prayer in all the Bible, ranking second only to the Lord's model prayer (Mt.6:9-13). Because of its importance, it should be prayed by believers every day. Certainly, this is the reason God has had it included in Holy Scripture. Note the detail as it is read and studied. Its focus is a mature believer in Christ.

1. The prayer (v.14-15).
2. Request 1: for strength, power within—by God's Spirit (v.16).
3. Request 2: for Christ to rule and reign within—by faith (v.17).
4. Request 3: for love (v.17).
5. Request 4: for understanding—a full understanding of all spiritual things (v.18).
6. Request 5: to know the love of Christ (v.19).
7. Request 6: for the fulness of God (v.19).
8. Conclusion: the encouragement to pray and trust God for the answer (v.20-21).

1 (3:14-15) Prayer: note four things about the prayer.

1. The prayer was for a specific cause, a specific purpose. The words "for this cause" refers back to the eternal plan of God and the life of the Christian believer which he has discussed (Eph.2:1-3:13). That is, Paul is referring back to the great salvation and birth of the church which God has wrought through Christ. No greater thing has ever been wrought upon earth than what God has done through Christ. Through Christ...

- God has wrought salvation (Eph.2:1-10).
- God has given birth to the church, the new body of believers which He is building (Eph.2:11f).

Therefore, it is of utmost necessity that the work be completed. The work of salvation must be completed, and the building of the body of believers (the church) must be completed. This is the great cause for which Paul prays.

2. The prayer was so important that it drove Paul to his knees. Bowing is a sign of desperate need and dependency. It shows that a person...

- is utterly dependent upon God.
- is earnest.
- is reverencing God.
- is humble before God.

3. The prayer addresses God as the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ came into the world to reveal God, to show men just what God is like. Before Christ, men had thought of God as far away, distant, and unconcerned with man and his world. But Christ revealed that this is just not true; it is a false picture of God. God is near and vitally interested in man and his world. In fact, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

The point is this: when Paul prayed to God the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ, he was praying to the God who would listen and answer his prayer. He was not praying to the ceiling, nor into thin air, nor to some lifeless concept or idea in his mind. He was praying to the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ who was the only living and true God—to the very God who would hear his prayer.

4. The prayer was also addressed to the Father of the whole family of God. That is, God is the Father of all believers who have ever believed and trusted His promise, both past and present.

2 (3:16) Holy Spirit—Power: the first request is for strength and power in the inner man, for the strength and power of God's Spirit, for His presence and power in our lives. Note several facts.

1. The word "strengthen" (krataiothenai) means to be made strong, tough, enduring. It means to have energy or force; to act, endure, or resist.

2. The word "power" (dunamei) means force, energy, might.

3. The believer needs to be strengthened with power in the "inner man," that is, in the deepest part of his being, in his soul, in his heart, in his spirit—in the spirit that God has renewed. It is there that he must be strengthened with power. Why?

a. Because it is the only way he can overcome the flesh with all its weakness. It is the only way he can conquer...

- temptation and sin
- trouble and trials
- disease and suffering
- grief and death
- selfishness and worldliness
- problems and circumstances

(See note, God's Blessings, pt. 1—Eph. 1:3 for more discussion.)

b. Because it is the only way the believer can ever lay claim to all the blessings of God and fulfill God's eternal purpose for his life (Chapter 1-3). The believer must be strengthened with power in order to break loose from the flesh and focus upon the eternal promises and call of God. Simply stated, his spirit must be strong and powerful...

- to be everything God wants him to be.
- to do everything God wants him to do.

4. Note the source of such conquering strength and power: the Holy Spirit of God. And note that He dwells within the inner man of the believer. There is no other source that has enough power to conquer the severe trials and corruptions of this world, all of which result in death and decay. No group of men—not even all the men in the world with all their science and technology—possesses the power to control the evil and death of man. We do not even have the power to make one single person perfect nor to stop one single person from dying. If there is a Power strong enough to conquer the evil and corruption of this world, it is in the Spirit of God and in Him alone. Therefore, the great prayer of the believer is that God would grant to His church—to all the believers of the world...

- "that you might be strengthened with might by His Spirit in the inner man."

5. Note one other thing: How do we know God will hear and answer our prayer? How do we know that God will give us this strength and power? Because of what this verse says: "...according to the riches of his glory." The "riches of God's glory" is seen in Jesus Christ. It is God's glorious grace and salvation revealed in Christ. God loves us! That is the reason He will strengthen us with might by His Spirit. (Cp. Eph. 2:4-10.)

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake; for when I am weak, then am I strong" (2 Cor. 12:9-10).

"And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power" (Eph. 1:19).

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us" (Eph. 3:20).

"Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness" (Col. 1:11).

"Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions" (Heb. 11:33).

"But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint" (Is. 40:31).

"Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness" (Is. 41:10).

3 (3:17) Jesus Christ, Indwelling Presence: the second request is for Christ to dwell, that is, rule and reign, in our hearts—by faith. The word "dwell" means a permanent not a temporary dwelling. It means to take up permanent residence; to live in a home; to enter, settle down, and be at home. When a person believes in Jesus Christ for the first time, Christ enters his life. Therefore, the believer is not praying for Christ to enter the hearts and lives of believers; Christ is already in their hearts and lives. What then does this request mean? Just what the verse says:

- ⇒ that Christ would be at home and live in a permanent sense within the believer.
- ⇒ that the believer would be aware and conscious of Christ within his heart—always aware and conscious that Christ has taken up residence within him.
- ⇒ that the believer would let Christ control and guide his life—permanently and constantly—because Christ is at home in his heart.

It is the presence of Christ within that motivates the believer to follow Christ. The more the believer is aware and conscious of Christ within him, the more he will walk and live in Christ.

Note that Christ dwells within the believer by faith. But note that Biblical faith is not a wish or hope that something is true. It is not perhaps something is true but perhaps it is not. Biblical faith always means the belief and commitment of a person's life to truth and reality; it is a belief and commitment to fact.

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

4 (3:17) Love: the third request is for love. This is agape love, the very same love God has for us (see notes, Love—Eph.2:4-5; Gal.5:13-15; 5:14; 5:22-23 for discussion).

5 (3:18) Understanding: the fourth request is for understanding, a full understanding of all spiritual things. It is crucial that the believer grasp God’s eternal plan and glorious salvation—all that has been covered in chapters one through three:

- ⇒ the great blessings of God (Eph.1:3-14).
- ⇒ the knowledge and power of God (Eph.1:15-23).
- ⇒ the mercy and grace of God (Eph.2:1-10).
- ⇒ the reconciliation and peace wrought by Christ (Eph.2:11-18).
- ⇒ the church: who and what it is (Eph.2:19-22).
- ⇒ the new body of people God is forming, that is, the great mystery of Christ (Eph.3:1-13).

God has done so much for the believer that it cannot be measured. Therefore, believers must pray and seek God to increase their understanding and the understanding of all saints. All believers must comprehend the breadth and length and depth and height of what God has done for them and the church. The more believers comprehend, the more they will surrender their lives to Christ and serve Him.

Thought 1. The more we understand what God has done for us, the more we will reach out to take the love and salvation of God to a world reeling under the plight of evil, poverty, and death.

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God” (1 Cor.2:9-12).

“Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things” (2 Tim.2:7).

“For the LORD giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding” (Pr.2:6).

“Counsel is mine, and sound wisdom: I am understanding; I have strength” (Pr.8:14).

6 (3:19) Jesus Christ, Love of: the fifth request is to know the love of Christ which surpasses all knowledge. It is utterly impossible to grasp and experience the love of Christ anywhere close to its full measure, but we should pray for God to help us learn more and more of His love—and we should make the request often every day. (See notes—Gal.1:4-5; 3:13-14; Eph.2:6; 2:8-10; 2:13 for discussions on the love or death of Jesus Christ. See note, Jesus Christ, Humiliation, pt.2—Lk.2:40 for a complete picture of the depth of the love of Jesus Christ.) There has never been penned a greater description of the unsurpassing love of Christ than that of F.M. Lehman in the song, “The Love of God”: “Could we with ink the ocean fill, and were the skies of parchment made; were every stalk on earth a quill, and every man a scribe by trade, to write the love of God above would drain the ocean dry. Nor could the scroll contain the whole, though stretched from sky to sky. O love of God, how rich and pure! How measureless and strong! It shall forever more endure. The saints and angels song.”

“Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again. No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father” (Jn.10:17-18).

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him. For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:8-10).

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?” (Ro.8:35).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

7 (3:19) God, Fulness of: The sixth request is for the fulness of God. The Amplified New Testament is excellent in describing the meaning of this request:

“That you may be filled (through all your being) unto all the fullness of God...[that is] may have the richest measure of the divine Presence, and become a body wholly filled and flooded with God Himself!”

The believer possesses the indwelling presence of the Spirit, Christ, and of God. When Jesus Christ was promising to send the Holy Spirit to believers, He promised that the trinity—the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—would all three come and indwell believers:

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever....If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:16, 23).

The point is this: each Person of the Godhead has a different function within the believer. Therefore, the believer is to ask specific things concerning each. He has already prayed to be strengthened by the Spirit and to have Christ dwell within and control his heart. Now the believer is to pray for “all the fulness of God Himself”—for God and His presence in all its fulness to fill and flood him, ruling and reigning and having His perfect way in the life of the believer.

Note one other point stressed by F.F. Bruce. The preposition “unto” (eis) suggests a progressive experience. The believer is to pray for God to constantly fill him, to constantly flood him with all the fulness of God (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.69).

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord! or who hath been his counsellor! or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again! For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever” (Ro.11:33-36).

“For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding” (Col.1:9).

8 (3:20-21) Conclusion: there is the encouragement to pray and to trust God for the answer. Note two points.

1. God is able to do what we ask. Note just how strong and powerful God is. He is able to do...
  - “exceedingly”: to surpass; to go beyond any request; to overcome and do anything.
  - “abundantly”: to overflow and to do more than enough.
  - “above”: to go over and above, beyond any need.
  - “all that we ask.”
  - all that we can think. Imagine going beyond anything we can think! What is the greatest answer or deliverance we can think? God is able to do exceedingly, abundantly, above all that we can think.

Thought 1. Thompson Chain Reference Bible points out what Scripture says about God’s power: He is able...

- to raise up children from stones.

“Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham to our father: for I say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham” (Lk.3:8).

- to fulfill promises even if they are humanly impossible.

“And being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform” (Ro.4:21).

- to make grace abound.

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

- to do exceeding abundantly.

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

- to subdue all things.

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

- to guard the soul’s treasure.

“For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that [the soul] which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

- to save to the uttermost.

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

- to keep from falling.

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

(Thompson, Frank Charles. The New Comprehensive Bible Helps. “The New Chain Reference Bible,” Indianapolis, IN: B.B. Kirkbride Bible Co., 1964, p.153, number 3810.)

2. Note the source of answered prayers: it is the power that works in us. What is that power within us? It is the combined power of all that God has put within us, all that for which we are praying:

- ⇒ the power of the Spirit strengthening us.
- ⇒ the power of Christ indwelling us.
- ⇒ the power of love working in us.
- ⇒ the power of understanding all that God does.
- ⇒ the power of the fulness of God Himself.

“But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible” (Mt.19:26).

“For with God nothing shall be impossible” (Lk.1:37).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power” (Eph.1:19).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

3. Note the purpose of God in answering prayer and in doing all this for us: that He might be glorified in the church through Christ Jesus. And note how long He is to be glorified: throughout all ages, world without end.

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

A. The Believer is to Walk Worthy of His Calling, 4:1-6

(4:1-6:9) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Believers: How is the believer to live as he walks day by day throughout life? This chapter begins a discussion on the walk of the Christian believer. The instructions are very practical. Up until now the instructions have dealt with doctrine:

- ⇒ the eternal plan of God for Christian believers.
- ⇒ the great blessings of God.
- ⇒ the knowledge and power of God.
- ⇒ the work of God's mercy and the gift of God's grace: our great salvation.
- ⇒ reconciliation and peace.
- ⇒ the church—the true church—the new body of people God is creating to be the citizens of the new heavens and earth.

We have seen great theological truths revealing the believer's position in Christ—truths that show the believer soaring in the heavenlies! But now, coming down to earth and dealing with where we are: How are we to live day by day? How does our position in Christ work itself out in our lives? How does Christ help us deal with the trials, problems, difficulties, and sufferings of day to day living? The believer's walk is the subject of Ephesians from this point on.

(4:1-6) Introduction: we owe God more than we could ever pay. God has taken His own dear Son and...

- provided the Ideal and Perfect righteousness for us.
- provided a Substitute to die for us—to actually bear our punishment for having rejected, rebelled, and cursed God, and for having broken God's law.
- provided deliverance from death for us through the reconciliation of Christ.
- provided a new life for us—a life of love, joy, peace, and power through the Holy Spirit living within us.
- provided the absolute assurance of living eternally with God forever and ever.
- provided so much more that even an eternity could not describe it.

God has honored us as much as a creature can be honored. He has seated us with Christ in the heavenlies to rule and reign with Christ forever and ever. God has done so much for us that He could do no more than what He has done. We do not see it all yet, for we are still on this earth—left here to be witnesses to the great and glorious salvation that is in Christ Jesus. But the day is soon coming when we will experience it all. God is going to make a new heavens and earth that will be perfect, in which there will be no suffering and no death, and we shall live eternally, ruling and reigning with Christ.

As stated, we owe God; we owe God so much that we could never even begin to pay Him. What then can we do? Very little, but there is one thing that we must do: we must walk worthy of our calling. We must walk worthy of the honored position to which God has exalted us.

1. The way to walk worthy (v.1-2).
2. The purpose for walking worthy: to keep the unity, the peace (v.3).
3. The seven basic reasons (v.4-6).

1 (4:1-2) Believer, Walk: How can the believer walk worthy? What must the believer do to please God as he lives day by day...

- |              |                   |                          |
|--------------|-------------------|--------------------------|
| • at work?   | • at church?      | • with fellow believers? |
| • at play?   | • at home?        | • with family?           |
| • at school? | • with neighbors? | • with friends?          |

Once a person believes in Jesus Christ and becomes a member of God's people and of God's church, what must he do to walk worthy of God's great calling—to bring honor to the name of Christ and His church?

1. The believer must walk with all lowliness (see note, Humility—Ph.2:3 for discussion).
2. The believer must walk with all meekness (see note, Meekness—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion).
3. The believer must walk with longsuffering (see note, Longsuffering—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion).
4. The believer must walk forbearing others in love (see note, Love—Gal.5:22-23. Also see notes, Love—Gal.5:13-15 for more discussion.)

2 (4:3) Unity—Brotherhood: the purpose for walking worthy is onefold—unity. Believers are to work at keeping the peace so that they can stay bound together in the unity of God's Spirit. Jesus Christ has broken down all walls and barriers existing between men. Everyone can now be saved:

- |                     |             |              |
|---------------------|-------------|--------------|
| • all nationalities | • the poor  | • the white  |
| • all peoples       | • the rich  | • the red    |
| • all languages     | • the black | • the yellow |

Every person is precious in the sight of God. When a person approaches God through Jesus Christ, he comes like everyone else: on the same ground and on the same level. He is no better and no worse than anyone else: he is a man who stands in need of God's forgiveness; and he, along with everyone else, is bowing before Christ and accepting Him as his Lord and Master. The man, just like everyone else, is subjecting himself to become the servant of Christ. Wealth, position, social status—it is all forgotten. The only thing that matters is the salvation and life which Christ offers.

The point is this: when a person comes to Christ in such a spirit, the Spirit of God enters his life and binds the person to all other believers. There is a great spiritual bond of peace wrought by the Spirit of God between all believers. All divisiveness, differences, and prejudices are set aside; and a spirit of love, peace, and unity exist.

Within the church there is a prevailing spirit of peace wrought by God's Spirit. However, note a tragic fact: not every believer walks in the Spirit—not all the time. Too often, believers allow self and the old life to re-enter the picture—their old...

| • prejudices  | • complaints | • pride       |
| • differences | • criticisms | • arrogance   |
| • hurts       | • grumblings | • comparisons |
| • jealousies  | • gripes     | • dislikes    |

The result is catastrophic for the church: divisiveness and a disturbance of the peace and spirit of unity. This is the reason for this charge. Note the word "endeavor" (spoudazontes). It means being diligent, working to take care and to do one's very best, and to make haste to do it. The only way to walk worthy of God's great calling is to work at keeping the peace and unity which God has given us. Nothing cuts the heart of God like divisiveness between His people, divisiveness which tears apart His church. The very thing God is doing is creating a new body of people to live together in the love and unity of His Son. He is going to create a new heavens and earth in which there will be no other spirit. Therefore, He expects us to live in the love and unity of His Spirit now.

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor.1:10).

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (2 Cor.13:11).

"Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph.4:3).

"Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Ph.1:27).

"Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Pt.3:8).

3 (4:4-6) Believers, Walk: there are seven basic reasons why we should walk worthy and strive to keep the peace and unity of God's Spirit in the church. Note what has just been said, for the point needs to be stressed: there is great need to keep the peace and unity within the church. Far too often the church is the place where the peace and unity of believers fly apart. Again, there are seven reasons why this should never happen—seven reasons why believers should always walk in the peace and unity of the Spirit.

1. There is only "one body." There are not two bodies nor several bodies of believers. However, in this imperfect world, there are many different denominations and churches. But note what God is doing: God is creating only one body of people who trust and follow His dear Son. When a person places his trust in Jesus Christ, God does six things to the believer that place him into the body of Christ:

- ⇒ God gives a new birth to the believer—quickens him spiritually—causes him to be born again (Jn.1:12-13; 3:3-6; Tit.3:5; 1 Pt.1:23; 1 Jn.5:1).
- ⇒ God makes a new creature, a new man out of the believer (2 Cor.5:17; Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).

- ⇒ God places His divine nature into the believer (2 Pt.1:4).
- ⇒ God puts His Holy Spirit into the believer, actually has His Spirit enter the believer's body. The believer's body becomes a temple for the presence of God's Spirit (Jn.14:16-17; 1 Cor.3:16; 6:19-20).
- ⇒ God causes the believer to bear the fruit of the Holy Spirit which is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, control (Gal.5:22-23).
- ⇒ God places the believer into the new body of people He is creating, that is, into the body of Christ, His church.

“For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit” (1 Cor.12:13).

Note the last two experiences in particular. There is no way a believer can be in conflict with another believer unless he is walking after the flesh and is in a backslidden condition. There are just some things that are contrary to love and joy and peace that hurt and damage the body...

- |                             |                       |
|-----------------------------|-----------------------|
| • an ill spirit             | • seeking our own way |
| • struggling for position   | • forming cliques     |
| • self-centered differences | • selfishness         |
| • reactions                 | • envy                |
| • feeling superior          | • anger               |

Such things have no place in the church, not in the new body which God is creating. There is only one body of true believers, not two—not one body over here and another body over there. This is the reason we are to strive to keep the peace and the unity of the Spirit. There is only one body, and only as we keep the peace and unity of the body can we walk worthy of God's great calling.

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“Now ye are the body of Christ [church], and members in particular” (1 Cor.12:27).

“[The church] which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:23).

“For the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:12).

“...his body's sake, which is the church” (Col.1:24).

“And not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:19).

2. There is only “one Spirit.” The same Spirit that dwells within one member of the body dwells in all members of the body.

⇒ It is God's Spirit that causes a man to be born again.

“Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:5-6).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

⇒ It is God's Spirit that calls and gifts and directs each member to fit in and work within the body.

“As they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them” (Acts 13:2).

“For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:14).

“But the manifestation [gifts] of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal” (1 Cor.12:7; cp. 12:8f).

The point is this: each member is to do his part in carrying out the mission of the body—for Christ. Acting independent of the body is of another spirit, for there is only One Spirit creating the body of Christ.

3. There is only “one hope.” Every genuine believer has the same hope: the great day of redemption. It is to be a new world created perfectly for Christ Jesus and His people. Life in the new heavens and earth will be a life of love and joy and peace—a life of oneness and unity and brotherhood—all perfected. What God is after is for us to live as we shall live in the future. Our future lives in the new heavens and earth are to be the pattern for the way we live together now. We shall be redeemed and reconciled to God and to each other—all living together in a perfect world of love and joy and peace for ever and ever. The hope for eternity—the hope that fills our hearts for such a world—is to be the driving force that stirs us to live together in peace and unity.

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints, for the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:4-5).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation” (1 Pt.1:15).

“And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world. And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments” (1 Jn.2:2-3).

4. There is only “one Lord.” There is only one Master and King. Every believer has bowed before the same Lord to become His subject and to receive His orders. As His subjects, believers are unequivocally instructed...

- to live as He said: holy and righteous and pure, bearing the fruit of His Spirit (Gal.5:19-21).
- to carry out His orders as one body (Mt.7:21-23; 1 Cor.12:5; Ph.2:9-11).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven. Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:21-23).

“And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord” (1 Cor.12:5).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

5. There is only “one faith.” There are not two faiths nor several faiths. There is only one faith that leads into God’s presence and that is the faith founded by the Lord Jesus Christ. There is no other approach to God. If a person wishes to live with God—to be approved and accepted by Him—that person has to approach God through the faith of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The point is this: every believer has come to God in the very same way—by believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. Faith in Him is the only way, the only true faith. Therefore, standing before God and having come to Him through the same faith, there is no room for any differences. We all stand on the same ground, on the same level: the ground and level of faith.

“But they had heard only, That he which persecuted us in times past now preacheth the faith which once he destroyed” (Gal.1:23).

“Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints” (Jude 3).

6. There is only “one baptism.” All believers have given public witness to their faith by submitting to the ordinance of water baptism. Each has been identified as being members of the same body because each has been initiated through the same ritual. Therefore, having entered the church through the same ordinance, we should not become divisive. Divisiveness denies and brings shame to the meaning of the ordinance. Divisiveness is a reflection of the depth of our commitment. It shows that our sincerity in being baptized was lacking, greatly lacking. It shows that we care little for Christ and for our baptism experience, for the great ordinance which initiated us into the church.

“Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death?” (Ro.6:3).

“For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit” (1 Cor.12:13).

“For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ” (Gal.3:27).

7. There is only “one God and Father of all.” This is probably a primitive confession of faith.

⇒ “One God”: God is creator of all and as such is supreme over all.

⇒ “One Father of all”: as Father, God loves all. The Christian belief begins with God as love.

⇒ “Above all”: God controls all.

The point is striking: If there is only one God and Father of all believers, how then could He be leading two believers to stand toe to toe against each other? The answer is obvious: He could not. One or both believers are following their own fleshly carnal ways. Someone is not following the only God and Father.

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord” (Mk.12:29).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three agree in one” (1 Jn.5:7).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

B. The Believer is to Walk by Using His Gifts, 4:7-16

(4:7-16) Introduction: note the word “but.” It is strong. As studied in the previous passage, the church is one body, and every member is to strive to keep the oneness and unity of the Spirit. But believers are not only a unity, they are a diversity. There are differences between believers. What are those differences? They are gifts, special abilities given by God which are to be used to strengthen believers and to reach the world and minister to it. Gifts—spiritual gifts given by God—are the subject of the present passage. The believer is to walk using the gifts God has given him. (See outlines and notes—Ro.12:3-8; 1 Cor.12:1-14:40 for more discussion.)

1. Every believer is gifted (v.7).
2. Every believer's gift has cost the greatest possible price (v.8-10).
3. Every believer's gift is Christ-centered (v.11).
4. Every believer's gift has a threefold purpose (v.12-16).

1 (4:7) Gifts, Spiritual: every believer is gifted. Note the words, “But unto every one of us is given...the gift of Christ.” There is not a single believer exempted or left out; Christ has given every believer some spiritual gift. It is important to note what is meant by spiritual gifts. A spiritual gift does not mean the natural ability or talent of a person. God, of course, keeps natural abilities and talents in mind when He gifts a person, but spiritual gifts are special gifts given to believers. They are highly specialized gifts—gifts that are given to build up believers in the church and in witnessing and ministering to the world. The point to note is that every genuine believer has received a spiritual gift, a highly specialized gift. He has received his gift to carry out the ministry of the Lord upon the earth.

Note another significant point. Jesus Christ gives us the grace to use our gifts. Grace means the strength, wisdom, courage, motivation, love, concern, care, and power—all the favor and blessings of Christ. Whatever is needed to use the gift, Christ gives us. He measures out the exact amount of grace needed for the maximum use of a gift.

Thought 1. What a glorious truth! What a spark of encouragement! Everyone of us is gifted by Christ—gifted with a highly specialized gift. And we have the measure of grace—whatever measure is needed—to use our gifts. Christ pours out His grace upon us, equipping us to carry out our task upon earth. This is significant, for it means that our gift is the gift of Christ. It is the very best gift for us. We should not be displeased with our gift, nor covet to be like someone else and have his gift. Christ has placed us and given us the very best gift for us—if we are truly His, yielded and committed to serve Him.

“And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey” (Mt.25:15).

“God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith” (Ro.12:6).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

“Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit” (1 Cor.12:4).

“But the manifestation [illuminations, gifts] of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal” (1 Cor.12:7).

2 (4:8-10) Gifts, Spiritual: every believer’s gift has cost the greatest possible price.

1. Note the picture. The picture of Christ giving gifts to men is dramatic. It is the picture of an ancient king who has conquered his enemies. The king is sitting astride his white stallion and riding under the arch of triumph as he enters the city. Teeming thousands shout their adoration and praise. Following in his train is his army. And then following his army they come, the enemy stumbling along on foot in chains, looking like the defeated foe they are. They had initially come to fight tooth and nail to subject the people of the great king to their tyranny. But now they come to offer gifts to the great conqueror. The conqueror receives the gifts and in turn bestows the gifts upon his own people. (Cp. Ps.68:18.)

There are great enemies of man—enemies that attack time and time again—enemies that try to make man aimless and meaningless.

⇒ There is the great enemy of alienation and separation. Alienation is the energy and tendency that tries to shut God and others out of a person’s life. Tragically, alienation results in a sense of emptiness, uselessness, and loneliness.

⇒ There are two great enemies that snap away all meaning for man—sin and death.

However, Christ has gone to war in behalf of man. Christ has conquered all enemies that make life useless and meaningless. Now He gives the greatest gift of all—the gift of meaning, purpose, and significance in life. He fills life with all that a man could possibly desire and use. He gives the greatest gifts, gifts that keep a person busy with the most meaningful and purposeful life imaginable.

Thought 1. If Christ has really given such meaning and purpose to life, why then are so many people bored with their work and life? Why are so many (even believers) dissatisfied, empty, without purpose, and wanting a change? Scripture tells us, and it tells us plainly.

1) A person has not committed his life to Christ—not fully, not totally. He does not really deny himself and follow Christ.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

2) A person has not sacrificed himself, all he is and has, to serve Christ and mankind. A person has not committed himself to a life of service. Real life is found only in service. God has ordained it so.

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.16:25).

“But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant” (Mt.23:11).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:35).

3) A person lives and sows to his flesh instead of the Spirit.

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting [meaning, purpose, significance]” (Gal.6:8).

2. Note the great cost Christ paid to gain the right to gift believers. He had to die and descend into the lower parts of the earth. F.F. Bruce points out that the “lower regions” of the earth may mean three things: the earth to which Christ came; the sepulchre in which the Lord’s body was laid; or Hades—the abode of the dead (Acts 2:25-35; cp. Ps.16:10; 110:1). (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.83.) (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.3:19-20.)

In allowing Scripture to interpret Scripture, the correct interpretation would seem to be “Hades.” When other Scriptures contrast the descent of Christ with the ascent of Christ, the two farthest extremes seem to be indicated.

- In Ro.10:6-7 “ascending into heaven” is contrasted with “descending into the abyss”—the abode of the dead.
- In Ph.2:8f, Christ humbling Himself to the lowest “depths of death” is contrasted with Him being “exalted to the highest” heavens by God.
- In Mt.12:40, Christ being “three days and three nights in the heart of the earth” is taken from Jonah 2:3-4 “in the heart of the seas.” In light of these facts, Christ’s descending into the lower parts of the earth must mean more than Christ just being placed in a sepulchre. It must mean the place of departed spirits or the abode of the dead.

The point is this: Jesus Christ had to die and experience hell for men in order to gain the right to gift men. That is the enormous price our gifts cost. If He had not died, then we could not be saved or gifted with spiritual gifts. There would be no purpose or significance to life—not beyond a few short years upon this earth. All we would have to look forward to would be death. But Christ has died, and He has conquered all the enemies of man—conquered them in order to gain the right to save and gift us.

“Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out” (Jn.12:31).

“Wherefore he saith, When he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men. (Now that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth? He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might fill all things)” (Eph.4:8-10).

“And having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it” (Col.2:15).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil” (Heb.2:14).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit: by which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison; which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water” (1 Pt.3:18-20).

“He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil” (1 Jn.3:8).

3. The great value of what Christ did is glorious. He died that He might ascend above the heavens and fill all things, that is, fill the whole universe with His presence. Jesus Christ is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. He is seated at the right hand of God the Father, and He rules and reigns over all. He is now able to save and gift men. But remember: it is because He paid the greatest price possible. He died for us—died to gain the right to pour His grace and gifts out upon us.

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:8-9).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

3 (4:11) Gifts, Spiritual: every believer’s gift is Christ-centered. Note the words, “He gave.” It is Christ and Christ alone who gives spiritual gifts to men. Men cannot work up the gifts, nor give the gifts to other men. Christ alone possesses the spiritual gifts to give to men. Five gifts are mentioned here.

1. The gift of an apostle. The word “apostle” (apostolos) means to send out. An apostle is a representative, an ambassador, a person who is sent out into one country to represent another country. Three things are true of the apostle.

⇒ He belongs to the One who has sent him out.

⇒ He is commissioned to be sent out.

⇒ He possesses all the authority and power of the One who sends him out.

The word “apostle” has both a narrow and a broad usage in the New Testament.

a. The narrow sense. It refers to the twelve apostles and to Paul as an apostle (Acts 1:21-22; 1 Cor.9:1). In this narrow sense there were at least two basic qualifications.

1) The apostle was a man chosen directly by the Lord Himself or by the Holy Spirit (cp. Mt.10:1-2; Mk.3:13-14; Lk.6:13; Acts 9:6, 15; 13:2; 22:10, 14-15; Ro.1:1). He was a man who had either seen or been a companion of the Lord Jesus.

2) The apostle was a man who had been an eyewitness of the resurrected Lord (Acts 1:21-22; 1 Cor.9:1).

b. The broad sense. The word “apostle” refers to other men who preached the gospel. It is used of two missionaries, Barnabas (Acts 14:4, 14, 17) and Silas (1 Th.2:6); and two messengers, Titus (2 Cor.8:23) and Epaphroditus (Phil.2:25). There is also a possibility that James, the Lord’s brother (Gal.1:19) and Andronicus and Junia (Ro.16:7) are referred to as apostles.

In the narrow sense, the gift of an apostle was bound to die out because of the unique qualifications to receive the gift. But historically, in the broad sense, there is perhaps a sense in which the qualifications and gift itself are still given and used by the Lord. The Lord’s servant of any generation must see the Lord and know Him intimately. Similarly, the servant must personally see and experience the power of the resurrection. Certainly there are some in every generation who have seen the Lord Jesus and who know and experience the power of the Lord’s resurrection. Perhaps the Lord Jesus endues them with the very special gift of an apostle to be used throughout His most precious domain—the church.

2. The gift of a prophet. This is the gift of speaking under the inspiration of God’s Spirit. It includes both prediction and proclamation, and neither one should be minimized despite the abuse of the gift.

There is no question, the gift to predict events has been abused to the point of the ridiculous. However, the abuse of a gift does not eliminate the fact that the Spirit of God sometimes gives believers a glimpse into coming events in order to prepare and strengthen them to face the events.

However, the major function of prophecy is clearly stated by Scripture, and the fact should be heeded by all believers:

“But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort” (1 Cor.14:3).

3. The gift of an evangelist. This is the gift of carrying the gospel all over the world. It is the gift that specializes in proclaiming the gospel to the lost of the world. It would include both what we call the evangelist and the missionary.

“And the next day we that were of Paul’s company departed, and came unto Caesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip the evangelist, which was one of the seven; and abode with him” (Acts 21:8; cp. Acts 8:26-40).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers” (Eph.4:11).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

4. The gift of a pastor (poimenas). This word means shepherd. A.T. Robertson points out that the Lord Jesus told Peter to shepherd His sheep (Jn.21:16), that Peter told other ministers to shepherd the flock of God (1 Pt.5:2), and that Paul told the elders (ministers) of Ephesus to shepherd the church of God for which Christ had died (Acts 20:28) (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.53.) The traits of a shepherd can be seen by looking at the references to Christ as the shepherd of believers. The pastor is an under-shepherd to the Chief Shepherd, Christ Jesus our Lord.

a. The shepherd knows the sheep; He knows each one by name. This is said to have been a fact among shepherds and their sheep in Jesus’ day. Shepherds actually knew each sheep individually, even in large herds. The fact is certainly true with Christ and His sheep.

“I am the good shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of mine” (Jn.10:14).

“But if any man love God, the same is known of him” (1 Cor.8:3).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine” (Is.43:1).

b. The shepherd feeds the sheep even if He has to gather them in His arms and carry them to the feasting pasture.

“He shall feed the flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young” (Is.40:11).

c. The shepherd guides the sheep to the pasture and away from the rough places and precipices.

“The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name’s sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me” (Ps.23:1-4).

d. The shepherd seeks and saves the sheep who get lost.

“For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost. How think ye? if a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?” (Mt.18:11-12).

“I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick” (Ezk.34:16).

e. The shepherd protects the sheep. He even sacrifices His life for the sheep.

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant” (Heb.13:20).

f. The shepherd restores the sheep who go astray and return.

“For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls” (1 Pt.2:25).

g. The shepherd rewards the sheep for obedience and faithfulness.

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

- h. The shepherd shall keep the sheep separate from the goats.

5. The gift of a teacher. Some commentators consider teaching to be part of the gift of the pastor, that is, the pastor is the pastor-teacher. The function of the teacher is the gift to instruct believers in the truth of God and His Word. It is the gift to root and ground people in doctrine, reproof, correction, and righteousness. Teaching is a high calling, one of the greatest of callings. Teaching is ranked second only to the spiritual gifts of apostle and prophet (Acts 13:1; 1 Cor.12:28; Eph.4:11). Every apostle, prophet, and pastor has the gift of teaching, but every teacher is not an apostle or prophet or pastor. The gift of teaching bears one of the largest responsibilities given by God; therefore, the teacher will be required to give a strict account to God for his faithfulness in using his gift (see note, Teacher—Jas.3:1).

The spiritual gift of teaching is the gift of understanding and communicating the Word of God, of edifying believers in the truths of God’s Word. It involves understanding, interpreting, arranging, and communicating the Word of God. The gift of teaching is given to the believer who commits his life to the Word of God, to sharing its glorious truths with God’s people.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, diversities of tongues” (1 Cor.12:28).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers” (Eph.4:11).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

4 (4:12-16) Gifts, Spiritual: every believer’s gift has a threefold purpose. Note a significant fact: the five gifts described above are gifts that involve speech or proclamation. They are very specialized gifts, gifts that are usually looked upon as being the official or professional gifts of the church. They are not given in full measure to every believer although every believer...

- should be as an apostle in that he is serving Christ in a very special ministry and faithfully using the gift God has given him.
- should be as a prophet in that he is daily proclaiming God’s Word.
- should be as an evangelist in that he is bearing witness to the lost.
- should be as a pastor in that he is shepherding and caring for people all the time.
- should be as a teacher in that he is teaching the truths of God’s Word to all whom he knows.

1. There is an immediate purpose for the professional or office-bearing gifts in the church and among God’s people. It is to equip believers to do the work of the ministry. The word “perfecting” (katartizo) means to equip for service and ministry. This is critical to see, for the office bearer in the church is not to be the only one who goes about doing the work of the ministry. In fact, his primary task is to be an equipper, a person who makes disciples and prepares others to serve Christ (see note, Discipleship—Mt.28:19-20). Note another critical point: the very purpose for equipping laymen is so that the body of Christ, the church, may be built up. This is a significant point, for it means that the church cannot be built up without the members themselves doing the work of the ministry. All believers within a church must be involved in the work of the ministry. As Wuest says: “This is an order that the Body of Christ, the Church might be built up, by additions to its membership in lost souls being saved, and by the building up of individual saints.” (Wuest, Kenneth S. Ephesians and Colossians. “Wuest Word Studies,” Vol.1. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1953, p.101.)

If the work of the ministry was left up to the professional ministers, the task would never get done, for there are too few official ministers. Lay persons must be equipped to reach the lost and to minister to the needs of a world reeling under the weight of evil and suffering and death.

2. There is an eternal purpose for the office-bearing or professional gifts. It can be stated no clearer than what the verse itself says. It says three things:

- a. The minister of God works to bring about a perfect unity among God’s people. The minister of God is called...
  - to bring peace and reconciliation to the church.
  - to lead people into perfect harmony and oneness of spirit.
  - to shepherd people out of cliques, divisiveness, murmuring, grumbling, griping, and all the other sins that militate against a perfect unity.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

- b. The minister of God works to bring about the knowledge of the Son of God.

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, bring fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God” (Col.1:10).

- c. The minister of God works to bring about a perfect man, a man who measures up to the stature of Christ Himself—to the fulness of His stature.

“When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things” (1 Cor.13:11).

“But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil” (Heb.5:14).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“And besides this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness” (2 Pt.1:5-6).

“But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever” (2 Pt.3:18).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

3. There is the personal purpose for the professional or office-bearing gifts. This purpose also involves three parts.
- a. That we no longer be children and immature, being led astray by false teaching. Again, the verse is the best commentary on itself. Ministers are given to us to keep us from being “children, tossed to and fro, and carried about by every wind of [false] doctrine” or false teaching. We must always remember, there is such a thing as...
- “the sleight of men”: deceivers, cheaters in the faith, men who will cheat us out of the truth.
  - “cunning craftiness”: deceivers who act clever and have novel ideas that sound correct, but they are only deceptions of the truth.

Note that such men are plentiful, so plentiful that they are just lying, waiting to deceive.

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves” (Mt.7:15).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men” (Mt.15:9).

“Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them” (Acts 20:30).

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein” (Heb.13:9).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

- b. That we grow up in all things—in Christ. Note there is only one way to do this: by speaking and proclaiming the truth. This is the task of the minister.

“Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you” (Jn.15:3).

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

- c. That we do our part in building up the church. Note that every joint or every believer “supplies” something to the body of Christ (the church). And what every joint or believer supplies is very significant. Note how the significance is stressed: Christ takes every joint or believer and the believer...
- is fitly joined together with all the other believers.
  - has his work compacted with that supplied by other believers.
  - has an effective and productive work along with that measured by other believers.
  - helps to increase the body.
  - helps to edify the body in love.

What more could be said about the contribution made by every believer? What greater challenge could be given to a believer? We must give all we are and have to get the job done. Much is at stake for each of us. An eternal weight of responsibility rests upon every single believer, for each one is responsible for reaching people and building them up. Some people will never be reached and ministered to if a single one of us comes up short. For this reason, everyone of us is gifted by Christ Jesus our Lord.

“Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal” (1 Cor.12:4-7).

“Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all” (1 Tim.4:15).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“The righteous shall flourish like the palm tree: he shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon” (Ps.92:12).

“But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day” (Pr.4:18).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

C. The Believer is to Walk Differently From the Gentiles, 4:17-24

(4:17-24) Introduction: this passage contains an astounding truth—believers are neither Gentiles nor Jews; they are a third race of people. Therefore, they are not to walk like men; they are to walk like Christ.

1. The believer is not to walk after the Gentiles, that is, after men (v.17-19).
2. The believer is to walk after Christ (v.20-24).

1 (4:17-19) Believer, Life and Walk: the believer is not to walk as the Gentiles, that is, as ungodly men. This is very significant. Remember: Paul is writing to Gentiles. The church at Ephesus was a Gentile church. Now note the verse. In the authorized version (King James) believers are told to no longer walk as “other Gentiles” walk, as though they were still classified as Gentiles. But the word “other” is not in the best and oldest manuscripts. Thus, the exhortation is to “no longer walk as Gentiles walk.” That is, believers are set off and set apart from Gentiles. They are no longer classified as Gentiles or Jews (cp. 1 Cor.10:32). Who then are believers? The point being made is that they are a third race on earth. They are the new creation; the creation of a new body of people, a new nation, a new race. They are the children of God who are to inhabit the new heavens and earth. (F.F. Bruce makes this point and refers to two ancient writers who also used the phrase of a third race. Clement of Alexandria in his Miscellanies (VI. 5.39), a second century document called the Preaching of Peter, and Diogenetus in his second century work, The Epistle to Diogenetus, chapter 1. They call Christians “a new race,” a race distinct from Jews and Greeks. The Epistles to the Ephesians, p.90.) (See notes—Lk.8:21; Eph.2:11-18; 2:14-15; 2:19-22; 4:17-19.)

The point is this: believers are not to walk as other men walk. Why? Because believers are new creatures in Christ Jesus, and the walk of other men does not please God. What is it that other men do that does not please God? This passage gives five traits about unbelievers that displease God. Remember: believers are to have nothing to do with any of these. They are never to return to the paths of their former life.

1. Unbelievers walk in the vanity of their mind (v.17). The mind (nous) includes the ability to will and to do the truth as well as know the truth; it includes morality as well as reasoning and understanding. The word “vain” means empty, futile, senseless, aimless, unsuccessful, worthless.

When men push God out of their minds, their minds are void and empty of God and of His truth and morality. God is not in their thoughts. Their minds are ready to be filled with some other god or supremacy, that is, with the things of the world:

- |                       |                     |
|-----------------------|---------------------|
| ⇒ worldly pleasures   | ⇒ worldly religions |
| ⇒ worldly possessions | ⇒ worldly ideas     |
| ⇒ worldly power       | ⇒ worldly honor     |
| ⇒ worldly position    | ⇒ worldly gods      |

“And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually” (Gen.6:5).

“The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts” (Ps.10:4).

“The LORD knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity” (Ps.94:11).

“These six things doth the LORD hate; yea, seven are an abomination unto him: a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies and he that soweth discord among brethren” (Pr.6:16-19).

“The thoughts of the wicked are an abomination to the LORD” (Pr.15:26).

“Then said he unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they say, The LORD seeth us not; the LORD hath forsaken the earth” (Ezk.8:12).

The mind of man walks after these things, neglecting, ignoring, and rejecting God. The believer must never return to the walk of an empty mind; he must never again allow his mind to become empty of God.

2. Unbelievers walk with their understanding darkened (v.18). To understand means to grasp, comprehend, perceive. To be darkened means to be blinded, and unable to see. The unbeliever does not grasp or understand God; his understanding is darkened and blinded, and unable to see God. He often understands this world and the things of this world, and he gives his life over to the things of this world. But he is not able to understand God and His eternal plan for the world through the Lord Jesus Christ.

The believer is not to allow his understanding to become darkened. He is not to return to the world of the spiritually blind, the world of those who walk with darkened understanding.

“They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course” (Ps.82:5).

“Who leave the paths of uprightness, to walk in the ways of darkness” (Pr.2:13).

“The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble” (Pr.4:19).

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:7).

3. Unbelievers walk alienated from the life of God. Unbelievers are spiritually dead and doomed to eternal death. “Alienated” (apallotrio) means to be estranged, separated, cut off, detached. There are always unfriendly or hostile feelings involved in alienation. The unbeliever is alienated from the life of God. He is...

- estranged from God with unfriendly or hostile feelings.
- separated from God with unfriendly or hostile feelings.
- cut off from God with unfriendly or hostile feelings.
- detached from God with unfriendly or hostile feelings.

Why? Not because of God. The Bible is clear about this issue. Unbelievers are alienated from God because of their own wilful ignorance and hardness of heart. The word “blindness” is the word hardness (porosis) in the Greek. Note the words “in them.” The cause is “in them”:

⇒ They choose to be ignorant within their minds—choose to be ignorant of God.

⇒ They choose to harden their own hearts.

Unbelievers are responsible for their own death. God has provided the fountain of youth for man, the way for man to live forever. God had given His life, that is, eternal life, to man. The only way man can ever miss God’s gift of eternal life is to reject God and His gift.

“This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me” (Mt.15:8).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:16-19).

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world” (Eph.2:12).

“But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“The wicked are estranged from the womb: they go astray as soon as they be born, speaking lies” (Ps.58:3).

“Thus saith the Lord, What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?” (Jer.2:5).

“That I may take the house of Israel in their own heart, because they are all estranged from me through their idols” (Ezk.14:5).

4. Unbelievers are past feeling (apalgeo); that is, they reach a point where they no longer have feelings for God and His standard of morality. To be past feeling means to become callous, insensible, hardened. The more a person walks without God the more callous a person becomes to God. The more a person walks in sin, the more callous his conscience becomes to righteousness. Sin becomes more and more acceptable. The person’s conscience no longer bothers him. He reaches a point of being past feeling. The believer is not to return to sin. He is not to walk as other men walk—in sin, becoming callous and insensitive to God.

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing” (Heb.5:11).

5. Unbelievers give themselves over to lasciviousness, to all forms of sensual living (see note, Lasciviousness, pt.4—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).

6. Unbelievers indulge in all uncleanness with greediness. The word “uncleanness” (akatharsias) means to be dirty and filthy; to be infested with every kind of unclean, immoral, dirty, and polluted behavior. It is the most immoral behavior imaginable. It is unbridled lust turned loose.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness” (Ro.6:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness” (1 Th.4:7).

“Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge” (Heb.13:4).

7. The word “greediness” (pleonexia) means avarice, coveting, craving, grasping, desiring to have more and more; hoarding all one can get and still craving more. It is being enslaved and held in bondage by the things of this earth: for example, food, drink, and a host of fleshly sins and self-centered behavior.

Believers are not to walk in such a life. They are not to walk as other men walk.

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour’s” (Ex.20:17).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness: and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!” (Hab.2:9).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

2 (4:20-24) Believer, Walk—Old Man—New Man: the believer is to walk in Christ. He is not to walk as men walk.

The reason is clearly stated: believers did not learn such a sinful life from Christ. Christ did not live a sinful life, and He has not taught us to live a sinful life as other men live. If a man has heard Christ and been taught by Christ, then he has heard and been taught the truth. Note that the Teacher is Christ Himself, not the minister. By the Holy Spirit, Christ uses the body and voice of the minister to teach people how they are to live. If a person has really heard Christ speaking to their hearts, then what they heard was not the kind of life lived by unbelievers. The true walk is a walk in Christ, and a walk in Christ involves three actions. (Because of their importance and length, the three actions are covered in separate notes.)

1. The believer is to put off the old man (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.4:22 for discussion).

2. The believer is to be renewed in the spirit of his mind (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Eph.4:23 for discussion).

3. The believer is to put on the new man (see DEEPER STUDY # 3—Eph.4:24 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:22) Old Man: the “old man” refers to what a man is before he accepts Christ. It is the very nature of man, the natural, corruptible seed which is passed on from generation to generation and leads to death. It is what is called the nature of Adam. (See note, Natural Man—1 Cor.2:14 for a much more detailed discussion.)

Three things are taught about the old man in the Scriptures.

1. The believer's old man has already been put to death. It was crucified with Christ (Ro.6:6). When the believer received Christ, God began immediately to count him buried with Christ and united with Christ in the very likeness of His death. This is the meaning symbolized in baptism.
2. The deeds of the old man have been put off from the believer (Col.3:9). The power of evil deeds has been broken and the believer is no longer in bondage to them.
3. In this passage, the believer himself is exhorted to put off the old man. He is told to exercise his own will in putting off the old man. He so wills by realizing and acting upon three truths.
  - a. The old man, from God's perspective, is counted dead. Therefore, the believer counts his old man as already being dead.

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

- b. The old man is recognized as being very much alive. The old man is tempted to look, taste, feel, think—to experience sin. But the believer rejects the temptation. He refuses to participate in sin. He puts off the old man as he walks day by day.

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:12-13).

- c. The old man (including all creation) is seen aging and dying day by day. The believer realizes that this world and all that is within it, including his old man, is in a constant process of dying. He knows that all is dying because the evil desires of nature are deceitful, and deceit disturbs and destroys relationships—the very nature of things (Eph.4:22). Such destruction deteriorates and corrupts; it eats away at life and at the balance of things until all things become nothing but decayed matter. Therefore the believer puts off the old man and puts on the new man—by faith in the love of God. When a person believes in the love of God, God responds by loving him so much that He makes a permanent man out of him, a new man who is to live eternally and become a citizen of the new heavens and earth.

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds” (Col.3:9).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins” (2 Pt.1:9).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(4:23) Mind, Renewed: the believers mind is to be renewed (ananeousthai), which means to be made new, readjusted, changed, turned around, and regenerated.

- a. The mind of man has been affected by sin. It desperately needs to be renewed. The mind is far from perfect. It is basically worldly, that is...

|  |  |
|--|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• selfish</li> <li>• self-centered</li> <li>• self-seeking</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• centered on this world</li> <li>• centered on the flesh</li> <li>• centered on this life</li> </ul> |
|--|--|

Scripture is clear about the corruption of man's mind. The human mind has just been tragically corrupted by man's selfishness and sin. Man's mind...

- has become vain, empty, and futile in its *imagination*s.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened” (Ro.1:21).

- has become reprobate.

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient” (Ro.1:28).

- has become carnal and full of enmity against God.

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:7).

- has become blinded by Satan lest it believe the glorious gospel of Christ.

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

- has become full of vanity, futility, emptiness.

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of the mind” (Eph.4:17).

- has become focused upon earthly things.

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

- has become alienated from God and an enemy to God.

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled” (Col.1:21).

- has become fleshy.

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind” (Col.2:18).

- has become defiled.

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

- b. The mind is renewed by the presence of Christ in the life of the believer. When a person receives the Lord Jesus Christ as His Lord, the man is spiritually...
- born again (Jn.3:3-8; 1 Pt.1:23).
  - made into a new man (Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).
  - made into a new creature (2 Cor.5:17).
  - given the mind of Christ (1 Cor.2:16; cp. v.9-15).

What this means is a most wonderful truth, and it is easily seen. When a person receives Jesus Christ into his life, he receives the mind of Christ as well. Christ places His mind into the believer’s mind; that is, Christ changes the believer’s mind to focus upon God. Whereas the believer’s mind used to be centered upon the world, it is now centered upon spiritual matters. The believer’s mind is renewed, changed, turned around, and regenerated to focus upon God. However, it is critical to remember that only Christ can renew the human mind. Only Christ can implant the mind of Christ within a person. Only Christ can give a person His thoughts and the spirit to live out His thoughts.

- c. The believer is to live a transformed life; that is, he is to walk day by day renewing his mind more and more. He is to allow the Spirit of Christ (the Holy Spirit) to focus his mind more and more upon God and spiritual things.
- ⇒ The believer is to love the Lord with all his mind.

“Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind” (Mt.22:37).

- ⇒ The believer is to keep his mind upon spiritual things, not carnal things.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

- ⇒ The believer is to cast down imaginations and every thought that interrupts his knowledge of God and to captivate every thought for Christ.

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

⇒ The believer is not to let his mind be corrupted.

“But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ” (2 Cor.11:3).

⇒ The believer is not to fulfill the desires of the flesh and of the mind.

“Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

⇒ The believer is not to walk as the world walks, in the vanity of their mind.

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

⇒ The believer is to be renewed in the spirit of his mind.

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind” (Eph.4:23).

⇒ The believer is to let the mind of Christ be in him by walking humbly before God and men.

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:5).

⇒ The believer is to think only upon the things of praise and virtue.

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

⇒ The believer is to live by the laws of God which God has put into his mind.

“For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people” (Heb.8:10).

⇒ The believer is to arm himself with the same mind as Christ in bearing suffering.

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin” (1 Pt.4:1).

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(4:24) New Man: a man regenerated, renewed, born again who has become spiritually minded. It is a new man created by Christ; he has been given a holy nature and an incorruptible life. It is opposed to the old man with a corrupt nature. It is a man who is...

- in fellowship with God.
- obedient to God's will.
- devoted to God's service.

There are two Greek words translated by the English word new. There is the word neos which refers to something new that has just been made, but there are already many others existing just like it. There is the word kainos which refers to something new, something just made and there is nothing like it in existence. Kainos is the word used here. Jesus Christ makes a new man entirely—a creation unlike any other creation existing. The Gentile believer is not made into a Jew; neither is a Jewish believer made into a Gentile. Each, through the Lord Jesus Christ, is made into a new kind of person—a new man in God. Every person can begin life all over again; every person can have a new beginning, a new life by coming to Jesus Christ.

How is this possible? By the power of God. When a person believes in God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ—really believes and entrusts his life into the hands of Jesus Christ—God creates the spirit of the person in righteousness and true holiness. God takes the faith of the person and credits it as the righteousness of Jesus Christ. God actually credits the person's faith as the perfect righteousness and holiness of Jesus Christ. Therefore, the person stands before God in the righteousness and holiness of Jesus Christ. But note: this is not all that God does. He does more marvellous things for the believer—all having to do with creating the believer into a new person.

1. God quickens the spirit of the believer and makes his spirit alive. Whereas the believer's spirit was dead to God, God creates it and makes it alive to God.
2. God causes the believer to be born again spiritually.
3. God actually places His divine nature into the heart of the believer.
4. God actually creates a new man out of the believer.
5. God renews the believer by the Holy Spirit.

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

D. The Believer is to Walk Putting Off the Garments of the Old Man, 4:25-32

(4:25-32) Introduction: this is a most practical passage. When a person clothes himself, he wants to be sure to put on the right clothes. If he dresses improperly and puts on clothes that clash and are unacceptable, he is unacceptable and rejected by most people. Most people avoid the person who is improperly dressed, for he embarrasses them. So it is with God. There are things that we are to put on and things that we are not to put on; things that are to clothe our lives and things that are not to clothe our lives. The present passage discusses the things that are to be stripped off. The believer is to put off the garments of the old man.

1. The garment of lying (v.25).
2. The garment of anger (v.26-27).
3. The garment of stealing (v.28).
4. The garment of worthless talk (v.29).
5. The garment of being contrary (v.30).
6. The garments of unkindness (v.31).
7. The garments of the new man (v.32).

1 (4:25) Lying: the believer is to strip away the garment of lying (pseudo). (See note, False Witness—Ro.13:9 for more discussion.) The word lying means that which is false. It is untruthfulness, deception, misrepresentation, exaggeration.

1. A lie does at least three things.
  - a. Lying misrepresents the truth. It camouflages and hides the truth. The person lied to does not know the truth; therefore, he has to act or live upon a lie. If the lie is serious, it can be very damaging:
    - ⇒ A lie about a business deal can cost money and cause terrible loss.
    - ⇒ A lie about the salvation of the gospel can cost a person the hope of eternal life.
    - ⇒ A lie about loving someone can stir emotions that lead to destruction.
  - b. Lying deceives a person. It leads a person astray. A person deceives...
    - to get what he wants.
    - to seduce someone.
    - to cover up or hide something.
    - to cause harm or hurt.

The point to see is that lying is a deception, and deception eventually causes misunderstanding, disappointment, bewilderment, helplessness, and emotional upheaval.
  - c. Lying builds a wrong relationship, a relationship built upon sinking sand. Two people cannot possibly be friends or live together if the relationship is based upon lies. Lying destroys...
    - confidence                      • love
    - assurance                        • trust
    - security                            • hope

2. Scripture gives one strong reason for believers to speak only the truth: they are members of one another. Every believer is a member of the great body of people which God is building, the body of Christ, that is, the church. William Barclay has an excellent description of this point.

“We can only live in safety because the senses and the nerves pass true messages to the brain. If in fact the senses and the nerves took to passing false messages to the brain, if, for instance, they told the brain that something was cool and touchable when in fact it was hot and burning, life would very soon come to an end. A body can only function accurately and healthily when each part of it passes true messages to the brain and to the other parts. If then we are all bound into one body, that body can only function when we

“speak the truth. All deception impairs the working of the body of Christ.” (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.184.)

3. The believer is to be altogether what he says. There is to be nothing covered, nothing hid, no shame, no pretense. He is to be exactly the same before men that he is in private and the same in private that he is before men. His life is not to be a lie.

⇒ Lying or bearing false witness is one of the Ten Commandments.

“Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor” (Ex.20:16).

⇒ Lying is one the gross sins that defile men.

“For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies” (Mt.15:19).

⇒ Lying takes its stand with the father of lies, the devil.

“Ye are of your father the devil and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

⇒ Lying is closely associated with idolatry. It causes a person to profess something other than the truth.

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

“For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

⇒ Lying or deceiving men is to be a characteristic of the antichrist.

“Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders” (2 Th.2:9).

⇒ Lying is not what it professes to be.

“I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth” (1 Jn.2:21).

“Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders” (2 Th.2:9).

⇒ Lying is opposed to the truth.

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

2 (4:26-27) Anger (orgizesthe): the believer is to strip away the garment of anger. Men do become angry: note that Scripture recognizes this. There are times when anger is called for, but we are to guard against sinning when we become angry. Anger causes us to either react, lash out and hurt others, or else it motivates us to right wrongs and correct injustices.

1. There is wrong anger or what may be called unjustified or selfish anger.

- a. There is the anger that broods, that is selfish. It harbors malice; it will not forget; it lingers; it broods; it wills revenge and sometimes seeks revenge.
- b. There is the anger that holds contempt (raca). It despises; it ridicules; it arrogantly exalts self and calls another person empty and useless. This is an anger that is full of malice. It despises and scorns (raca). It arises from pride—a proud wrath (Pr.21:24). Such feelings or anger walk over and trample a person. It says that whatever ill comes upon a person is deserved.
- c. There is the anger that curses. It seeks to destroy a man and his reputation morally, intellectually, and spiritually.

2. There is right anger or what may be called justified anger. The believer must be an angry person—angry with those who sin and do wrong and who are unjust and selfish in their behavior. However, a justified anger is always disciplined and controlled; it is always limited to those who do wrong either against God or against others. The distinguishing mark between justified and unjustified anger is that a justified anger is never selfish; it is never shown because of what has happened to oneself. It is an anger that is purposeful. The believer knows that he is angry for a legitimate reason, and he seeks to correct the situation in the most peaceful way possible (see notes—Ro.12:18; Jn.2:12-16).

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath” (Eph.4:26).

“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men” (Ro.12:18).

“And the Jews’ passover was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem, and found in the temple those that sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the changers of money sitting; and when he had made a scourge of small cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the sheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changer’s money, and overthrew the tables” (Jn.2:13-16).

Thought 1. Anger is cast against many. Too often hurt feelings exist between those who are supposed to be the closest: husband and wife, parent and child, neighbor and friend, employer and employee. The Lord is clear about the matter: we must never allow anger to take hold of us without just cause.

3. Note that the devil exploits selfish anger and uses it for his own ends. He sows discord and disturbance and dissension. Paul usually prefers to use the word “satnas” for Satan, but here he uses “diabolos.” “Diabolos” means slanderer, a tale-bearer who murders reputations. (See notes, Anger—Mt.5:21; 5:22 for more discussion.)

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth” (Col.3:8).

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath” (Jas.1:19).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him” (1 Jn.3:15).

“Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil” (Ps.37:8).

“He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly; and a man of wicked devices is hated” (Pr.14:17).

“He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city” (Pr.16:32).

“The discretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression” (Pr.19:11).

“Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools” (Eccl.7:9).

3 (4:28) Stealing: the believer is to strip away the garment of stealing. The word “steal” (klepto) means to cheat, to take wrongfully from another person, either legally or illegally. Note that the laws of men are not the determining rule governing whether a person is stealing or not. This is what is so often misunderstood about stealing.

⇒ Men can sometimes use the law to steal.

⇒ Men can take from others without ever breaking a law.

⇒ Men can secure too much of something, well beyond what they need; and when they hoard, they are taking something that by nature belongs to others.

Very simply stated, the Bible teaches that stealing is the taking of anything that rightfully or by nature belongs to others. There are at least three forms of stealing.

1. A person steals by taking something which is actually possessed or personally owned by another person. If a person owns it and we take it, then we are guilty of stealing. It may be something as simple as a pencil from the office or an answer to a test from a fellow student, or it may be something as complex as embezzlement of funds through bookkeeping procedures. If we take it, we have broken God’s commandment and stand guilty as thieves.

“Not purloining [stealing], but showing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” (Tit.2:10).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief” (1 Pt.4:15).

“A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight” (Pr.11:1).

“It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth” (Pr.20:14).

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

“He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to oppress” (Hos.12:7).

2. A person steals by hoarding and banking more than he needs. Keeping back is stealing. It is...

- keeping what is not needed for one’s own needs.
- keeping back what is desperately needed by others.
- taking away what nature and the earth have provided to meet the needs of the human population.
- hoarding the knowledge and gifts and blessings God gave to be used for the welfare of a desperate world filled with so many who are less privileged and gifted.

We may call it by whatever name we wish, but to God it is stealing. God has put within the earth enough resources to meet the needs of His people, and He has given men both the ability and command to subdue and have dominion over the earth. Look closely at His command:

“And God blessed them [man and woman], and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth” (Gen.1:28).

The earth is to be subdued and taken dominion over by men. Men are commanded by God to develop the technology to explore the universe and to control nature, and to feed, clothe, house and give health to people. Note what God is saying. He is not saying some are to have the benefits and blessings of the earth. He is saying that men are to love each other and share the blessings of the earth together. When men use their God-given ability to make money and produce goods, and then begin to keep back and hoard, they are stealing; they are keeping for themselves what rightfully belongs to others. Therefore, they will suffer catastrophic loss in the next world. They will suffer total devastation (Lk.12:20; 16:22-23). Why? Because they did not love enough to do what they and their particular talents were put on earth to do: provide for those who were less gifted and less fortunate.

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also” (Mt.6:19-21).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“Thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord GOD” (Ezk.22:12).

3. A person steals by living extravagantly, beyond what he needs. There are some who give to meet the crying needs of the world, yet they do not live sacrificially. They keep plenty for themselves, indulging their flesh...

- in clothing
- in food
- in jewelry
- in housing
- in transportation
- in recreation
- in possessions
- in property

Many within industrialized nations are guilty of selfishness despite a tenderness and concern for the needy in the world. However, concern and some giving are not enough to fulfill the demand of God that we share and meet the needs of our fellow men throughout the world. Every day that we awaken and arise out of bed, the world is reeling under the weight of masses...

- who are hungry and starving to death.
- who are without drinking water.
- who are without adequate clothing.
- who are diseased and without medicine.
- who have no roof over their heads.
- who have no one to teach them.

There is no question, the means to help meet the needs of the world exist today. The lack is not manpower and resources; the lack is sacrificial commitment to give the resources and to go and become personally involved. The extravagant and indulgent are stealing from the needy, and the gifted are not meeting the needs of the less gifted. The scene is tragic, for God put the gifted upon earth to sacrificially meet the needs of the less gifted. But instead of meeting their needs, the gifted are living in excessive comfort and pleasure, indulging the whims of their flesh.

“Go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat: ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them” (Amos 5:11).

What is the answer? Diligent work—working and working so that we can have enough to help others. This is the will of God: working in order to have enough to give away. Work is to be honest and to meet the necessities of one’s family; however, working just for self is selfish. And selfishness corrupts and leaves a person’s heart and work empty and aimless. But working in order to help others in the name of Christ—this is the will of God. This is the only way the needs of the world can be met. Work is to be for the Lord’s purpose and cause—the cause that provides the means to reach and to help people (1 Jn.3:17). (See note, Steal—Ro.13:9 for more discussion.)

4 (4:29) Worthless Talk: the believer is to strip away filthy and foul talk. The word “corrupt” (sapros) means rotten, foul, putrid and polluting. Corrupt talk, of course, would include cursing and unholy talk and even the worthless conversation that is so often carried on by people. The Amplified New Testament has a good description.

“Let no foul or polluting language, nor evil word, nor unwholesome or worthless talk [ever] come out of your mouth” (Eph.4:29).

Scripture says that a man with a foul mouth has a mouth that is “an open sepulchre [grave]” (Ro.3:13). An open grave is foul, and it is a symbol of corruption. So is a man with a sinful mouth. His mouth is...

- |           |              |                |
|-----------|--------------|----------------|
| • foul    | • polluted   | • profane      |
| • dirty   | • filthy     | • dishonorable |
| • obscene | • detestable | • offensive    |

The obscene mouth may range from off-colored humor to dirty jokes, from immoral suggestions to outright propositions for sex. But no matter, a man with a foul mouth stinks just like an open grave; his filthiness causes corruption, the decay of character. The filth from his mouth eats and eats away at his character and at the character of his listeners—so much so that he becomes as offensive as that of a decayed corpse. The foul, filthy mouth kills character, its attractiveness, trust, faithfulness, morality, honor, and godliness.

“O generation of vipers, how can ye, being evil, speak good things? for out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh” (Mt.12:34).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“For their heart studieth destruction, and the lips talk of mischief” (Pr.24:2).

The believer is to speak only that which is good and which will edify or build up people. Speech is for the purpose...

- of sharing good things.
- of building up and strengthening people.
- of ministering grace (favor, blessings) and helping each other as we plow through life.

“And they said one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?” (Lk.24:32).

“Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:19).

“How forcible are right words! But what doth your arguing reprove?” (Job 6:25).

“Set a watch, O LORD, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips” (Ps.141:3).

“They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power” (Ps.145:11).

“Pleasant words are as a honeycomb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones” (Pr.16:24).

“A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver” (Pr.25:11).

“The words of a wise man’s mouth are gracious; but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself” (Eccl.10:12).

“The Lord GOD hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned” (Is.50:4).

“Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

5 (4:30) Holy Spirit: the believer is to strip away the garment of being contrary or of grieving the Holy Spirit. “Grieving” (lupeite) means to pain; to offend; to vex; to sadden the Holy Spirit. When a child acts contrary to the counsel of his parents, he hurts and grieves them. So when a person acts contrary to the counsel of the Holy Spirit, he hurts and grieves Him. Note three points.

1. The command is forceful, very forceful. This is seen in the name of the Holy Spirit. He is not only called the Holy Spirit here, He is called both the Holy Spirit and “the Spirit of God”—a double reference.

2. There are at least four ways the Holy Spirit can be grieved.

a. He is grieved when believers allow impure things to penetrate their life or thoughts.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:5-7).

b. He is grieved when believers behave immorally.

“Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:12-13).

c. He is grieved when believers act unjustly.

“But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land? Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God” (Acts 5:3-4).

d. He is grieved when believers participate in anything contrary to the nature of the Holy Spirit. Note the context of this passage: the command to “grieve not the Spirit” is surrounded by a series of negative commands.

“So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his. And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness” (Ro.8:8-10).

3. The reason we should not grieve the Spirit of God is because of His great ministry to us: He has sealed us until the day of redemption (see note, Holy Spirit, Seal—Eph.1:13-14 for discussion).

6 (4:31) Believer, Walk—Sins, List: the believer is to strip off the garment of unkindness.

1. There is “bitterness” (pikria): resentment, harshness. A man who is bitter is often...
  - sharp
  - resentful
  - cynical
  - cold
  - harsh
  - stressful
  - intense
  - relentless
  - distasteful
  - unpleasant

Any expression involving any of these is sin to God. God desires men to be filled with love and joy and peace and to express such. Anything less than the expression of these is sin.

2. There is “wrath” (thumos): (see note, Wrath, pt.10—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).
3. There is “anger” (orge): (see note, Anger—Eph.4:26-27 for discussion).
4. There is “clamor” (krauge): arguing, fussing, quarrelling, brawling. It means insulting, boistrous behavior, and loud talking.
5. There is “malice” (blasphemia): slander, hurtful, injurious speech.

7 (4:32) Believer, Walk: the believer is to put on the garments of the new man. Frankly, this verse speaks for itself more forcefully than any commentary ever could.

1. The word “kind” means to be gentle, caring, helpful, courteous, good, useful, giving, and showering favors upon people. It is the opposite of being neglectful, harsh, sharp, bitter, and resentful. Lehman Strauss points out that kindness comes from such words as kin and kindred which means that it treats a person as one’s own kin. Believers are brothers in the Lord (Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians, p.189).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

2. The word “tenderhearted” means to show compassion, mercy, understanding, love, tenderness, and warmth. It means to be aware of a person’s hurts and sufferings, problems and difficulties, emotions and mental state, physical and spiritual condition. It means to be tenderhearted toward them.

“Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy” (Mt.5:7).

“Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful” (Lk.6:36).

“By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

3. The word “forgiving” means to be gracious to a person, to pardon him for some wrong done. Note that the person has done wrong; he has hurt and caused us pain. But the command is to still forgive him.

4. The reason we should forgive each other is because God has forgiven us. No matter how much a person has done against us, it does not come close to what we have done against God. Yet, God has forgiven us. Why? For Christ’s sake. Jesus Christ died for us—died for our sins so that we could be forgiven. Therefore, God forgives us. No matter what we have done, God forgives us when we want forgiveness. He forgives us despite our having rejected, cursed, ignored, neglected, and rebelled against Him.

The point is this: because of what Christ has done for us, we should forgive others no matter what they have done.

“At that time Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes” (Mt.11:25).

“...ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil. Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful” (Lk.6:35-36).

“And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him” (Lk.17:4).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

E. The Believer is to Walk Following God, 5:1-7

(5:1-7) Introduction: the challenge of this passage is one of the greatest challenges in all the Word of God. Just imagine—the great Pattern for the believer is God Himself. The believer is to follow the Person of God. The believer is to walk through life following God.

1. By becoming a follower of God (v.1).
2. By loving as Christ loved (v.2).
3. By being clean-bodied, that is, morally pure (v.3).
4. By being clean-mouthed (v.4).
5. By knowing God's solemn warning (v.5-6).
6. By separating oneself from the unclean (v.7).

1 (5:1) Believer, Duty: the believer follows God, first, by becoming a follower of God. Note the word “be” (ginomai). It means to become a follower of God. The idea is that of commitment, attachment, devotion, allegiance, attention. Before a person can be a follower of God, he must commit and attach himself to God. He must surrender and devote his life to God and then begin to follow after God.

The word “followers” (mimetai) means imitators. Some prefer the translation that we are to become imitators of God. Note the phrase “as dear children.” Just as children learn by imitating their parents, so we are to learn by imitating God. The very idea that we are to be followers and imitators of God is a bold idea. Just imagine, Scripture boldly proclaims that we are to become like God!

- ⇒ Christ said: “Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).
- ⇒ God demanded: “Ye shall be holy: for I the LORD your God am holy” (Lev.19:2).
- ⇒ Paul declared: “But we all...are changed into the same image [of Christ] from glory to glory” (2 Cor.3:18).
- ⇒ Peter charged: “But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16)
- ⇒ The early church saint, Clement of Alexandria said: “The Christian practices being God” (Quoted by William Barclay, The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.190).

2 (5:2) Jesus Christ, Death—God, Glory of—Believer, Duty: the believer follows God, second, by loving as Christ loved. Two things about the death of Christ should be noted here.

1. The phrase “gave Himself for us” is a simple phrase with profound meaning. It does not mean that Christ died only as an example for us, showing us how we should be willing to die for the truth or for some great cause. What it means is that Christ died in our place, in our stead, as our substitute. This meaning is unquestionably clear. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.2:21-25 for more discussion.)

- a. The idea of sacrifice to the Jewish and pagan mind of that day was the idea of a life given in another's place. It was a substitutionary sacrifice
- b. The idea of sacrifice is often in the very context of the words, “Christ gave Himself for us” (Eph.5:2).

“I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world” (Jn.6:51).

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the sheep” (Jn.10:15).

“He prophesied that Jesus should die for that nation” (Jn.11:51).

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

“And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth” (Jn.17:19). (Cp. Jn.10:11; Ro.8:32; Gal.1:4; 2:20; 1 Tim.2:6; Tit.2:14.)

2. The words “Christ gave Himself...an offering...to God for a sweet-smelling savour [smell]” gives a higher meaning to the death of Christ than just meeting our need. The word “offering” refers to the burnt offering of the Old Testament (Lev.1:1f). The burnt offering was given to God not merely because of sin, but because a person wished to glorify and honor God. A person wished to show his love and adoration to God. This is an aspect of Christ’s death that is often overlooked—an aspect that rises far above the mere meeting of our need. In giving Himself as an “offering to God,” Christ was looking beyond our need to the majestic responsibility of glorifying God. This means that His first purpose was to glorify God. He was concerned primarily with doing the will of God—with obeying God. God had been terribly dishonored by the first man, Adam, and by all those who followed after him. Jesus Christ wished to honor God by showing that at least one man thought more of God’s glory than of anything else. Christ wished to show that God’s will meant more than any personal desire or ambition that He might have.

He said: “That the world may know that I love the Father, and as the Father hath given commandment [to die for man] even so I do. Arise, let us go hence” (Jn.14:31; cp. Lk.2:42; Jn.5:30).

The point is this: the believer is to walk in love, just as Christ has loved us and has given Himself as an offering and a sacrifice to God. The believer is to love so much that he gives himself as an offering and a sacrifice. There is to be no limit to the offerings and sacrifice of our lives to God and to men. Remember: God’s love—agape love—is always an acting love.

“As Christ also hath loved us, and hath given Himself for us” (Eph.5:2).

“By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. But whoso hath this world’s good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:16-18).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love” (1 Jn.4:7-8).

“If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?” (1 Jn.4:20).

3 (5:3) Believer, Duty—Fornication—Uncleanness—Covetousness: the believer follows God, third, by being clean-bodied, that is, morally pure. If a believer is to follow and imitate God, he has to be morally pure; he has to keep his body clean. He cannot let it become dirty and spotted.

⇒ He has to keep his body free of fornication (see note, pt.2—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).

⇒ He has to keep his body free of uncleanness (see note, pt.6—Eph.4:17-19 for discussion).

⇒ He has to keep his body free of covetousness (see note, pt.7—Eph.4:17-19 for discussion).

Note the importance of rejecting these sins: they are not to be named even once among us. And the command is an imperative: “Let it not be once named”—not even mentioned once. You, that is, your body, is never to engage in fornication, uncleanness, or covetous acts. Note another fact: such things are not even to be talked about. They are not to be named, talked about, or mentioned in our conversation. Immorality and indecent conversation and jokes are to be the farthest thing from the mind of the believer who follows God. God has nothing to do with such dirt and filth.

“Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God” (Mt.5:8).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“...neither be partaker of other men’s sins: keep thyself pure” (1 Tim.5:22).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

4 (5:4) Believer, Duty—Tongue—Speech—Conversation: the believer follows God, fourth, by being clean-mouthed. If a believer is to follow and imitate God, he has to be pure in speech and conversation; he has to keep his mouth or tongue clean. He cannot let his mouth become foul, polluted, filthy, and vile.

1. He is never, not once, to be engaged in “filthiness” (aischrotes): using the mouth in obscene, shameful, foul, polluted, base, immoral conduct and conversation. What an indictment of our day—a day of sodomy and perversion. And note: the word refers to both conduct and speech. How polluted and foul-mouthed so many have become—so much so that society could easily be known as a second Sodom and Gomorrah.

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:26-27).

“I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members [body parts] servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness” (Ro.6:19).

“Neither filthiness, nor foolish talking, nor jesting, which are not convenient: but rather giving of thanks” (Eph.5:4).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished: but chiefly them that walk after the flesh in the lust of uncleanness” (2 Pt.2:9-10).

2. The believer is never once to engage in “foolish talking” (morologia): empty, unthoughtful, senseless, wasted, idle, aimless, or purposeless talk; talk that just fritters away and wastes time, that has absolutely no purpose to it. It also means sinful, foolish, silly, and corrupt talk.

“For whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine” (1 Tim.1:10).

“Should a wise man utter vain knowledge, and fill his belly with the east wind?” (Job 15:2-3).

“In the multitude of words there wanteth not sin: but he that refraineth his lips is wise” (Pr.10:19).

“A fool uttereth all his mind: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward” (Pr.29:11).

“For a dream cometh through the multitude of business; and a fool’s voice is known by multitude of words” (Eccl.5:3).

“The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness: and the end of his talk is mischievous madness” (Eccl.10:13).

3. The believer is never once to engage in “jesting: (eutrapelia): to joke, talk foolishly, poke fun, act or speak without thought; to be suggestive in conversation; to make wisecracks. It also has the idea of being cunning and clever, of being polished in suggestive and off-colored joking and using it to attract attention and win favors (Wuest. Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.121). Jestings is often used in off-colored jokes or conversation, at parties or breaks in order to be suggestive.

“As a mad man who casteth firebrands, arrows, and death, so is the man that deceiveth his neighbor, and saith, Am not I in sport [joking]?” (Pr.26:18-19).

“For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts” (2 Tim.3:6).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile [deception]” (1 Pt.3:10).

Note that such talk is not fitting or becoming to believers. Believers are to be engaged in conversation that builds people up and offers thanks and praise to God.

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit; speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:18-19).

“And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him” (Col.3:17).

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you” (1 Th.5:18).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus (2 Tim.1:13).

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

“The words of a wise man’s mouth are gracious; but the lips of a fool will swallow up himself” (Eccl.10:12).

5 (5:5-6) Believer, Duty—Immorality—Uncleanness: the believer follows God, fifth, by knowing God’s solemn warning. Note three significant points.

1. Uncleanness has no part with God, no part whatsoever. The profession of a person does not matter: if he practices these things, he will not share in the kingdom of Christ and of God. And, note, the doom pronounced is not future, it is present. It does not say, “he shall not have,” but rather, “he does not have an inheritance with God.” He may have houses, lands, and all kinds of possessions; but he does not have one scrap of the kingdom. He has lost all that is really worth having. Note the specific sins mentioned that doom a person.

- ⇒ Being a “whoremonger” ( pornos ): illicit sexual intercourse; fornication; prostitution; immoral behavior.
- ⇒ Being an “unclean person” ( akathartos ): unclean, immoral, dirty thoughts or behavior.
- ⇒ Being a “covetous person” ( see note above—Eph.5:3 for discussion).
- ⇒ Being an “idolator” ( see note, Idolatry, pt.5—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).

2. There are deceivers walking all about us. There are people who will tell us...
  - that sex is the normal and natural thing for man—that a one time affair will not hurt—that it is acceptable and will not harm us.
  - that securing possessions is normal behavior and banking and storing up is acceptable. It builds position, ego, and self-image, and that could never be wrong; and having more than what we need enables us to give to help the needy as we desire.

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light” (2 Cor.11:13-14).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers” (Tit.1:10).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

3. Barclay points out that there were and still are two main deceptions about Christianity (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.192f).

- a. There were those who felt that they could say and do anything and still be acceptable to God. This argument came primarily from those outside the church, although there were some within the church who held the same argument. This idea finds its roots in the philosophy of Gnosticism. Gnosticism said that man is both body and spirit. They felt that the spirit is the only important part of man—the only part that really matters. It is the only part that really concerns God. What a man does with his body does not matter; the body is not important. It makes no difference whatsoever if a man abuses his body: gorges, dirties, and fouls it.

However, Christianity counters, “Never!” Both body and soul are important. We see this in Jesus Christ. He honored the body by taking a body upon Himself (Heb.2:14). Today He honors the body by making it the “holy temple” for His presence in the person of the Holy Spirit (1 Cor.6:19). Jesus Christ is interested in the body of man as well as the spirit of man. He is interested in the whole man, and He saves the whole man.

- b. There were those primarily within the church who felt that sin was irrelevant. How much a person sinned just did not matter. God is love and He forgives and forgives no matter how much wrong we do. In fact, some argued that the more we sin, the more God is able to forgive and demonstrate His mercy in us. So why not live the way we want? Why not sin and let God’s mercy and love shine through us, for the more we sin the more God’s grace will be seen. But Christianity counters, “Never!” God’s love and grace are not only a gift and a privilege, but a responsibility and an obligation.

However, note what God says: “Because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the children of disobedience” (v.6; cp. Eph.2:2). The wrath (orge) of God is a decisive anger, a deliberate anger that arises from His very nature of holiness. It is an anger that is righteous, just, and good—that stands against the sins and evil of men—their dirt and pollution and immoralities—their injustices and neglects of a world that reels under the weight of lost, starving, diseased, and dying masses. God could never overlook the whoremonger who destroys family life nor the covetous man who overlooks the needy. He would not be God; He would not be loving or just if He overlooked such evil persons.

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:5-6).

“Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him” (Ps.2:12).

- 6 (5:7) Believer, Duty—Separation: the believer follows God, sixth, by separating himself from the unclean. No believer is to take part in the sins discussed in these verses. In fact, he is to separate himself from all who do take part in such sins.

“And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this unto-ward generation” (Acts 2:40).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“I wrote unto you in an epistle not to company with fornicators” (1 Cor.5:9).

“Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?” (2 Cor.6:14).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

F. The Believer is to Walk as a Child of Light, 5:8-14

(5:8-14) Introduction: two walks through life are available to men. There is the life and walk of darkness or the life and walk of light. There is a world of difference between the two. In fact, a person's eternity is determined by which life and walk he pursues.

1. Light, not darkness, is the nature of believers (v.8).
2. Light bears the things of life—the fruit of the Spirit (v.9).
3. Light shows what is acceptable (v.10).
4. Light exposes the works of darkness (v.11-12).
5. Light reveals and converts everything it touches (v.13).
6. Light awakens the sleeping (v.14).

1 (5:8) Darkness—Light—Believer, Nature: light, not darkness, is the nature of believers.

1. Before a person is saved, he is not only in darkness, but he is darkness—the very embodiment of darkness. What does this mean? Think for a moment: a person who does not know God is all alone. He may have plenty of people and friends moving about him, but they—everyone of them—will soon die and be gone. In fact, so will he, and he will have died in darkness—never having known God. A person who does not know God is in darkness:

- ⇒ He does not know where he has come from. To him everything is a result of human and natural process. It is the way of the world and of man: we are born and here we are. Man is blind—in darkness about the truth of where he and his world originated.
- ⇒ He does not know why he is on earth—not really. He arises in the morning, goes about his daily affairs, and retires at night. Arises the next morning, goes about his daily affairs, and retires at night. Arises the next morning, and on and on. Where he is heading and why he is here—the inner core of life—is all a mystery. The real purpose, meaning, and significance of life are not understood—not really. He lives in darkness as to why he and everyone else are really on earth.
- ⇒ He does not know where he is going—not after death. Is there really a God or not, a heaven or not? How can he know and be absolutely sure? He is in darkness about the future, that inevitable day of death and eternity that rushes ever so rapidly toward every one of us.

This is what is meant about man being in darkness, about his being the very embodiment of darkness. He is wrapped up in darkness: past, present, and future. Apart from God, no man knows the truth: no man knows where he has come from, why he is here, or where he is going. His whole life is shadowed and covered, permeated and filled with darkness. He is not walking as light; he is walking as darkness.

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not” (Jn.1:5).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light” (Ro.13:12).

“But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief” (1 Th.5:4).

2. However, the truth is glorious: the believer was darkness, but now he is light in the Lord. Jesus Christ said: “I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12). It is Christ who brings light to life. He shows us the truth of life, of God, of creation, of death, and of destiny. He shows us...

- the beginning and origin of all things.
- the purpose, meaning, and significance of all things.
- the truth of death and eternity.

But note: Jesus Christ has not only shown us light; He has made us light. He has changed our nature from darkness to light. The light of life has been immersed into our very nature. We are now the very embodiment of light itself; we shall live eternally. We are the light of the eternal God in the midst of a world of darkness. Therefore, we are to walk as children of light (see outlines and notes, Light—Mt.5:14; DEEPER STUDY # 3—Jn.1:5; note—1:9; DEEPER STUDY # 1—8:12; DEEPER STUDY # 5—12:35-36 for more discussion).

“Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hid” (Mt.5:14).

“And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not” (Jn.1:5).

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son” (Col.1:13).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness” (1 Th.5:5).

2 (5:9) Holy Spirit, Fruit: light bears all good things—the fruit of the Spirit. (See note, Holy Spirit, Fruit—Gal.5:22-23 for more discussion.) A life that illuminates light will give off three things in particular.

1. Goodness (see note, Goodness—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion).
2. Righteousness: (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Righteousness—Eph.5:9 for discussion).
3. Truth: (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Truth—Eph.5:9 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:9) Righteousness (dikaiousune): means two simple but profound things. It means both to be right and to do right. (See DEEPER STUDY # 5, Righteousness—Mt.5:6 for more discussion.)

1. There are those who stress being righteous and neglect doing righteousness. This leads to two serious errors.
  - a. False security. It causes a person to stress that he is saved and acceptable to God because he has believed in Jesus Christ. But he neglects doing good and living as he should. He neglects obeying God and serving man.
  - b. Loose living. It allows one to go out and do pretty much as he desires. He feels secure and comfortable in his faith in Christ. He knows that what he does may affect his fellowship with God and other believers, but he thinks his behavior will not affect his salvation. He thinks that no matter what he does he is still acceptable to God.

The problem with this stress is that it is a false righteousness. Righteousness in the Bible means being righteous, but it also means doing righteousness. The Bible knows nothing about being righteous without living righteously.

2. There are those who stress doing righteousness and neglect being righteous. This also leads to two serious errors.
  - a. Self-righteousness and legalism. It causes a person to stress that he is saved and acceptable to God because he does good. He works and behaves morally and keeps certain rules and regulations. He does the things a Christian should do by obeying the main laws of God. But he neglects the basic law: the law of love and acceptance—that God does not love him and accept him because he does good, but because he loves and trusts the righteousness of Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 5—Mt.5:6).
  - b. Being judgmental and fault-finding. A person who stresses that he is righteous (acceptable to God) because he keeps certain laws often judges and finds fault with others. He feels that rules and regulations can be kept, he keeps them. Therefore, anyone who fails to keep them is judged, criticized, and censored.

The problem with this stress is that it, too, is a false righteousness. Again, righteousness in the Bible is being righteous as well as doing righteousness. The Bible knows nothing of being acceptable to God without being made righteous in Christ Jesus (see DEEPER STUDY # 5—Mt.5:6; note—Ro.5:1 for more discussion. Cp. 2 Cor.5:21.)

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness” (Eph.6:14).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

“But thou, O man of God, flee these things; and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness” (1 Tim.6:11).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(5:9) Truth (aletheia): moral truth, saving truth, working truth, living truth. It is not simply something to be known; it is something to be done (Jn.8:31). It is the knowledge and the experience of true reality as opposed to false reality. It is truth in "the inward parts" (cp. Ps.51:6; Eph.5:9). It is diametrically opposed to sham and hypocrisy. It permits no compromise with evil. It even abstains from the appearance of evil (1 Th.5:22). It is a regard for truth in every respect: believing it, reverencing it, speaking it, acting it, hoping in it, and rejoicing in it. Such truthful behavior frees one from all the bondages and impediments of life. (See notes—Jn.1:9; DEEPER STUDY # 2—14:6.)

"Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (Jn.7:16-17).

"That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death" (Ph.3:10).

"That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowlege of God" (Col.1:10).

"Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth" (Hos.6:3).

God's Word is said to be the truth (Jn.17:17), and Jesus Christ Himself claimed to be the Truth (Jn.14:6). To distinguish between the two, God's Word is sometimes said to be the Written Truth or Word, and Jesus Christ is sometimes said to be the Living Truth or Word.

1. The truth sets man free from the shadow of doubt and despair. Man no longer has to grasp and grope about to know the truth, whether it be the truth of God or of his own world. Jesus Christ has revealed the truth: the nature, the meaning, and the destiny of all things.

"That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world....And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (Jn.1:9, 14).

"Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (2 Cor.3:17).

2. The truth sets men free from the bondages of sin. Man no longer has to grasp after the power to overcome; nor does he have to struggle against the weight of guilt. The search for deliverance and for the power to conquer, to overcome, to attain, and to live is now over. It is all found in Jesus Christ. (Cp. Ro.6:1f. See note—Ro.8:28-39.)

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (Jn.1:12).

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (Jn.14:6).

"But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Ro.7:23-25).

"For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace....For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father" (Ro.8:6, 15).

3. The truth sets man free from the bondage of death. Man no longer has to be subjected to the fear of death. By His death and resurrection Jesus Christ has now conquered death. And in His death and resurrection man now has the most glorious of hopes: he can now live eternally (Heb.2:14-15).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live. For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself; and hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man. Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation" (Jn.5:24-29).

"For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death" (Ro.8:2).

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage" (Heb.2:14-15).

4. The truth sets man free from the bondage of judgment and hell. The darkness of an unknown future and the apprehension of an impending judgment constantly faces man. At best, man can only hope for annihilation, and he shudders at the thought. At worst, he can expect torture by the gods that be, and he trembles at the possibility. But Jesus Christ has revealed the truth. He Himself has borne the judgment and the punishment of judgment for man.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly....But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:6, 8-9).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

5. The truth sets man free to be saved to the uttermost. Existence, love, joy, peace, satisfaction, pleasure, hope—nothing has to be incomplete any longer. No good thing ever again has to be denied man. Jesus Christ, the Truth, is able to save man to the uttermost—completely, perfectly, finally, and for eternity. All a person has to do is to come to Christ for salvation, for He lives forever to intercede for every man.

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power” (Col.2:9-10).

3 (5:10) Light—Believer, Walk: light proves things; it shows what is acceptable. What does this mean? As the believer walks in the light...

- he proves what is acceptable and not acceptable to the Lord.
- he discriminates between what is acceptable and not acceptable to the Lord.
- he shows to the world what is acceptable and not acceptable to the Lord.
- he shows what path to take and what path not to take.
- he shows what a person should do and not do.

Thought 1. Everything the believer does is to be “unto the Lord”; that is, he is to set his attention and energy upon pleasing the Lord. He is to strive to will and to do the pleasure of the Lord. He is to struggle to bring his will under control and to control his behavior in order to fulfill the joy of the Lord. Why? Because the Lord loved and gave Himself for the believer; therefore, the believer is to love and give himself to please the Lord.

“Proving what is acceptable unto the Lord” (Eph.5:10).

“Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more” (1 Th.4:1).

“Prove all things; hold fast that which is good” (1 Th.5:21).

“By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God” (Heb.11:5).

“But to do good and to communicate [share] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world” (1 Jn.4:1).

4 (5:11-12) Darkness—Light—Believer, Walk: light exposes the works of darkness.

1. The charge is clear and forceful: believers are to have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness. Note that the works of darkness are...

- dark: leaving a man stumbling and groping about in the world, lost and unable to see where he is going.
- unfruitful: bearing no lasting fruit beyond this world when death overtakes him.

The unfruitful works of darkness are those works covered in the previous passage (Eph.5:3-6) and in the works of the flesh (Gal.5:19-21). They lead to death; therefore, the believer is to have no fellowship—no fellowship whatsoever—with the unfruitful works of darkness.

“And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this un-toward generation” (Acts 2:40).

“I wrote unto you in an epistle not to company with fornicators” (1 Cor.5:9).

“Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?” (2 Cor.6:14).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all. If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth” (1 Jn.1:5-6).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

2. The believer’s task on earth is striking: he is not to fellowship with the works of darkness; he is to live in so much light that his life reprove (elegcho, that is, exposes, rebukes, and convicts) people of their sins or dark works.

Thought 1. Sin is never to be taken lightly. The very fact that we are charged to reprove it is clear evidence. Our task is to reflect so much light that all the works of darkness around us are exposed and expelled. Remember when light appears, the darkness is always extinguished. But if the light leaves or is turned off, the darkness reappears.

“Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:3).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“The elder women as mothers; the younger as sisters, with all purity” (1 Tim.5:2).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

3. The reason why we should not have fellowship with the dark works of the world is this: it is a shame to even speak of those things which are done by them in secret. What a rebuke! We are not even to talk about dark works! We are not to be sharing conversation about the dark works of this world (see note—Eph.5:8; Jn.3:18-20; DEEPER STUDY # 2—8:12).

“But let your communication be, Yea, yea Nay, nay: for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil” (Mt.5:37).

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

5 (5:13) Conversion—Light—Believer, Walk: light reveals and converts everything it touches. Note two things.

1. When light touches something it becomes light. It is lit up and to some degree the object gives off light itself. It is converted and changed. When the light of Jesus Christ touches the life of a person in darkness, that life is changed: it becomes light. The darkness is done away with and eliminated. Note another fact as well: that person begins to touch the lives of those in darkness who surround him.

2. So long as evil is done in secret it thrives, but when it is dragged out of the dark corners and closed rooms into the light, it dies. When a person confronts Christ, his dark works are exposed in all their hurt, damage, filth, and corruption. We must always remember, this is the very reason many refuse to confront Christ. They prefer their dark works (Jn.3:20f). But when a man confronts Christ and abandons his dark sins, he becomes “light in the Lord” (Eph.5:8). He is transformed by the person of Christ. William Barclay points out that this is seen in the healing that is found in the rays of the sun. The light of Jesus Christ is just like the rays of the sun. The light of Jesus Christ not only illuminates and reveals, it also cleanses. The light of Jesus Christ is not only a revealing and condemning thing, it is a healing thing as well. (The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.195f.)

6 (5:14) Sleep, Spiritual—Death, Spiritual—Conversion: light awakens the sleeping, those who are spiritually dead. Most people in the world are as sleeping men when it comes to walking in the light of God. They are living in the darkness of spiritual sleep and spiritual death—ever rushing on to that inevitable day of eternal darkness and death. Note a most unfortunate fact: this passage is being written to believers. Too many professing believers are passing through life just like unbelievers: asleep—living in the darkness of spiritual sleep and spiritual death—fellowshipping with and too often participating in the works of darkness. They are unaware and ignorant of the great heritage and promises God has given us in Christ Jesus. (See note, Death—Eph.2:1 for more discussion.)

“And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed” (Ro.13:11).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

Thought 1. Note that the only Source to awakening out of spiritual sleep and death is Jesus Christ and Him alone.

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12).

“Then Jesus said unto them, Yet a little while is the light with you. Walk while ye have the light, lest darkness come upon you: for he that walketh in darkness knoweth not whither he goeth” (Jn.12:35).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

“Again, a new commandment I write unto you, which thing is true in him and in you: because the darkness is past, and the true light now shineth” (1 Jn.2:8).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

G. The Believer is to Walk Carefully and Strictly, 5:15-21

(5:15-21) Introduction: how the believer walks day by day throughout life is crucial to the cause of Christ and to the welfare of society. He either contributes to the building up of society or to the tearing down of society. He either carries the message of life to the world or he carries the message of silence and death. For this reason, it is important that the believer walk carefully and strictly throughout life.

1. By looking around and watching every step (v.15).
2. By redeeming the time (v.16).
3. By understanding the Lord's will (v.17).
4. By rejecting drunkenness (v.18).
5. By being filled with the Spirit (v.18-21).

1 (5:15) Believer, Walk: walk carefully and strictly by looking around and watching every step. Life is a walk, a path that we trod every day. When we arise in the morning, we begin to walk about. God expects us to walk circumspectly (akribos), that is, carefully and accurately—exactly as we should. Note: there are two kinds of persons who walk throughout life.

1. There is the fool or unwise person: this simply means the person who is unthinking, thoughtless, careless, uncaring, and worldly minded.

The unwise is the person who gives little thought about where he should go and where he should not go. He just arises in the morning and goes to work or about his daily routine with little thought about God and about what happens beyond this life. If he makes a mistake here and there, it does not matter that much, not to him. Making mistakes is just the way of all human life.

He thinks that he will be acceptable to whatever God there is, if he just lives a life..

- that is fairly decent and honorable and useful
- that pays its dues to God here and there

The unwise person is not concerned about watching every step and being alert to every temptation and pitfall in life. He could care less about struggling and being exact and strict in life. Living a careful, accurate, strict, disciplined, controlled life is not that important to him.

2. There is the wise person: the thinking, thoughtful, careful, caring, spiritually minded person. This is the person on mission. He knows God personally and he knows that he is on earth to live a righteous and godly life and to bear testimony to the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, when he arises in the morning and goes to work or about his daily affairs, he walks in the presence and praise of God. His thoughts are upon God all day long. Mistakes matter to him. It all matters—the daily reports and talk about man's...

- |               |             |                     |                  |
|---------------|-------------|---------------------|------------------|
| • sin         | • war       | • shame             | • selfishness    |
| • cursing     | • hunger    | • evil              | • power struggle |
| • murder      | • divorce   | • off-colored jokes | • neglect        |
| • immorality  | • suffering | • obesity           | • hate           |
| • drunkenness | • drugs     |                     |                  |

The wise man is not only concerned about every step of life, but he struggles to watch every step—to make sure that he walks throughout life exact, strict, disciplined, and controlled. He knows that the only answer to the evil and problems of life is Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation [calling] wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

2 (5:16) Time—Opportunity: walk carefully and strictly by redeeming the time. The idea is not to buy time. Time is the gift of God; a man has time. What he is to do is to use his time to buy things of value. He is to redeem time, to turn his time in, for things of value. This means two things.

1. A person is to use his time wisely; he is not to waste time. Time is a gift of God. A man does not have to redeem or buy time; he already has time. When he is born into the world, he is born into time. Time exists—it is here with or without us. We do not have to do a single thing to redeem it. What we have to do is to use time—use it wisely—use it to do the best that we can.

Thought 1. The choice is ours. We can sit and twiddle away hours and engage in activity and conversation that is of little, if any, value or worth; or we can use time wisely, keeping our thoughts and hands busy...

- in our profession and work, contributing to the good of society.
- in our worship, and service for Christ—all day long—joining with others of God's church in witnessing and ministering to the lost and needy of our communities and cities.
- in meeting the needs of a world reeling under the weight of desperate masses gripped in suffering, sin, and death.

2. A person is to use his time by taking advantage of the opportunities that arise throughout the day. This, too, is what redeeming the time means. The believer is to redeem the opportunities...

- to live righteously and godly.
- to witness and share Christ.
- to be diligent on the job.
- to set an example of commitment and discipline with work, at home, and at play.
- to be faithful to God and family.
- to speak up for Christ and righteousness.
- to pray instead of allowing time to be wasted. (See outline and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prayer—Mt.6:9-13; note—Eph.3:14-21 for what we should pray for every day. If a believer commits himself to pray as Christ and Paul prayed, he will find that he has no time to waste.)

Note why we are to redeem the time: because the days are evil. This refers to all the evil that confronts the believer as he walks day by day—so much evil that he must stay alert to keep from falling and failing. He must be alert to live righteously and to bear testimony to Christ. The evil can range from mild temptations over to persecutions, from small money problems to a world economic collapse, from a minor family squabble to war. The evil of the world is ever before us—small and great. The task of the believer is to redeem the time—make the most use of what time he has. The opportunity will soon pass because the days are evil.

- ⇒ The opportunity to witness will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to show diligence will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to speak up will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to love will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to minister will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to work hard will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to pray will pass.
- ⇒ The opportunity to give will pass.

Thought 1. How many of us waste time? So much time is wasted by so many...

- by not really being efficient
- by watching television
- by lack of diligence at work
- by unprofitable activity on weekends
- by what we read
- in restaurants
- in the evenings at home

Each of us needs to take a moment and think through where we waste so much time and correct it. More than ever we need to give ourselves to make a significant contribution to our work and society, to our church and community, to living righteously and godly, to witnessing and helping a world of people who are discouraged and lonely, hungry and cold, hurting and suffering, needy and helpless—all lost in sin—all without the knowledge of Christ and of eternal life. The call of the hour is to redeem the time.

“But this I say, brethren, the time is short: it remaineth, that both they that have wives be as though they had none; and they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as though they possessed not; and they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion of this world passeth away”
(1 Cor.7:29-31).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ”
(2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil” (Eph.5:15-16).

“Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time” (Col.4:5).

“So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom” (Ps.90:12).

“Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them” (Eccl.12:1).

3 (5:17) Jesus Christ, Will of—Believer, Walk: walk carefully and strictly by understanding the Lord’s will. Note how both the unwise man and the wise man are defined in this verse.

⇒ The unwise man is a man who does not understand the will of the Lord.

⇒ The wise man is a man who does understand the will of the Lord.

The word “understand” (suniemi) means to grasp, perceive, see with the mind and comprehend. As stated in the previous verse, the days are evil—full of all sorts of evil. The believer must understand what God’s will is in order to conquer the evil. If he does not, then he is as a fool and acting unwisely. How can a person know what the will of the Lord is?

⇒ By knowing the Word of God—by knowing it so well that he can apply it to the situations that confront him every day.

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

“Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word” (Ps.119:9).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

⇒ By being sensitive to the leadership of the Holy Spirit.

“But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment” (Jn.16:7-8).

“Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come. He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you” (Jn.16:13-14).

“That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit” (Ro.8:4-5).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:13-14).

“Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness” (Ps.143:10).

4 (5:18) Drunkennes: walk carefully and strictly by not becoming drunk with wine. Drunkennes means to be intoxicated with drink or drugs (cp. Lk.21:34; Ro.13:13; Gal.5:21; cp. Pr.20:1; Is.28:7; Ezk.23:32; 39:19). The word “excess” is excessive behavior. The Greek means...

- the dissipation and wasting away of the body.
- uncontrolled behavior
- rioting, debauchery, wild and outrageous behavior and conduct.

Drunkennes is a work of the flesh and it often leads to other sins of the flesh: partying, loose behavior, immodest clothing, exposure of the body, sexual thoughts, immorality, wicked or evil and unjust behavior or violence and physical abuse, notions of grandeur, strength or power. The Bible says several things about drunkennes.

1. Drunkennes excludes a person from the kingdom of God.

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:10).

“Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:21).

2. Drunkenness leads to other forms of misbehavior and sin.

“And not many days after the younger son gathered all together, and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living” (Lk.15:13).

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit” (Eph.5:18).

3. Drunkenness makes it impossible to grasp the fleeting opportunities of time.

“Redeeming the time, because the days are evil. Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is. And be not drunk with wine” (Eph.5:16-18).

5 (5:18-21) Holy Spirit, Infilling: walk carefully and strictly by being filled with the Spirit. This command is in the present tense which means that the believer is to be constantly filled with the Spirit; he is to keep on being filled. The Holy Spirit is to infill the believer continuously (Eph.5:18; cp. Acts 2:4; 4:29-31). The Spirit’s filling is the personal manifestation of Christ to the believer who walks obediently day by day (Jn.14:21). It is a consciousness of His presence, of His leadership—moment by moment. This consciousness is the believer’s privilege. But the Spirit’s filling is not an automatic experience. The responsibility of being filled with the Spirit rests upon the shoulders of the believer. He is filled only as he walks obediently to Christ. (See notes—Acts 2:1-4 for more discussion.)

In understanding the infilling of the Spirit, it is helpful to reweiv what the Lord had to say about the manifestations of the Spirit in the Gospel of John.

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him. Judas saith unto him, not Iscariot, Lord, how is it that thou wilt manifest thyself unto us, and not unto the world?” (Jn.14:21-22).

Note that the Holy Spirit is the very special manifestation of Christ within the believer. Apparently, this refers to very special manifestations of the Lord to the heart of the believer, those very special times when there is a deep consciousness of love between the Lord and His dear follower (see note—Jn.14:21). This is bound to be what Christ means, for He has already spoken about His personal presence within the believer (Jn.14:18-20). When believers go through terrible trials and severe crises, God knows and He loves and cares; so He moves to meet the need of His dear children. He moves within the believer’s heart, manifesting His presence and giving a deep sense of His love and care, helping and giving confidence, forgiveness, and assurance—giving whatever the believer needs. The depth of the experience and the intensity of the special manifestation depends upon the need of the believer. God knows and loves His dear child perfectly, so He gives whatever experience and depth of emotion are needed to meet the need of His child. We must always remember that God loves each one of us so much He will do whatever is needed...

- to lift us up.
- to strengthen us.
- to conform us to the image of His dear Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Note that the special manifestations of the Lord’s presence are given only to the believer who does two things.

- ⇒ The believer who receives the commandments of Christ. To have the commandments of Christ means that the believer has searched the commandments of Jesus Christ. He has them in his heart, knows them and has made them his own (Jn.14:21-22 above; cp. Ps.119:11).
- ⇒ The believer who keeps the commandments of Jesus.

The believer who does these two things shows that he truly loves the Lord Jesus. And it is he who loves and obeys the Lord Jesus who receives the very special manifestations and infillings of the Holy Spirit.

Note an important fact: the special manifestation is questioned. Judas asked the question for the first time, but the special manifestation of Christ’s presence has been questioned and doubted by thousands ever since. Judas was thinking like all men think—in terms of a physical manifestation, a visible appearance.

The word “manifestation” (phaneroo; emphanizo) means unveiling or revelation. It suggests that a new thing has come to light; that something never known by man before is made known. Some mystery has now been revealed. It is something that cannot be discovered by man’s reason or wisdom. It is a mystery that is hidden from man and beyond his grasp. In Jn.14:21-22 it means that Jesus’ presence is revealed (brought to light), illuminated, manifested, quickened in the life of the believer. It means that He manifests Himself to His disciples in a very special way. He discloses His person, His nature, His goodness. He illuminates Himself within their hearts and lives. He gives a very special consciousness within their souls. (See notes—Jn.14:21-22; Acts 2:1-4.)

“He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water. (But this spake he of the Spirit, which they that believe on him should receive)” (Jn.7:38-39).

“And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance” (Acts 2:4).

“And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God with boldness” (Acts 4:31).

“And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Ghost” (Acts 13:52).

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit” (Eph.5:18).

Now, note the three traits of a Spirit-filled person.

1. A Spirit-filled person has a singing spirit. This is in contrast to the drunken person. The mention of singing is the picture of joy and happiness. The worldly person often seeks joy and happiness in drink and partying. This is not to be the case with the true believer. He is to seek his joy and happiness by being filled with the Spirit of God and by singing to himself. Note a crucial point: singing to oneself helps a person to experience the fullness of the Spirit. What do we sing? God tells us:

⇒ Psalms: the psalms of the Old Testament. We need to learn them—yes, by memory—so that we can sing them. Think how victoriously we could walk through life if we knew the Psalms.

⇒ Hymns: the great hymns of the church. Again we must learn them.

⇒ Spiritual Songs: F.F. Bruce suggests that these may refer to songs being made up by the person as he walks along singing praise to the Lord throughout the day (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.111). We have all experienced walking along making melody in our hearts to the Lord; therefore, his suggestion makes sense.

⇒ It is certainly a good practice.

“What is it then? I will pray with the Spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also” (1 Cor.14:15).

“Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:19).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

“Sing aloud unto God our strength: make a joyful noise unto the God of Jacob” (Ps.81:1).

“O come, let us sing unto the LORD: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation” (Ps.95:1).

2. A Spirit-filled person has a thankful spirit. Note the words “always” and “for all things.” Our lives are in God’s hands. He guides and directs us through all things. Therefore, we can thank Him for all things—no matter what the things are. He controls all. Giving thanks as we walk along throughout the day—always giving thanks—helps us to experience the fullness of God’s Spirit.

“Be careful [anxious] for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:6).

“And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him” (Col.3:17).

“In every thing give thanks” (1 Th.5:18).

“Give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people” (1 Chron.16:8).

3. A Spirit-filled person has a submissive and respectful spirit. A Spirit-filled person does not have a spirit of criticism, dissension, envy, divisiveness, or selfishness. He has a spirit of submissiveness. The same is true of churches: a Spirit-filled church has a body of people who are submissive—going out of their way to minister and serve each other. There is no dissension or divisiveness, no envy or selfishness among its people. In the fear of God, they submit to each other before they break the fullness of God’s Spirit.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“That ye submit yourselves unto such, and to every one that helpeth with us, and laboureth” (1 Cor.16:16).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

H. The Believing Wife & Husband are to Walk in a Spirit of Submission & Love, 5:22-24

(5:22-33) Introduction: when dealing with wives and husbands, we must always remember that God's instructions are not grievous. In fact, they are easy and light. God instructs and guides us down the easiest and lightest path possible. As Christ said:

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light” (Mt.11:28-30).

If we walk down the path God has laid for us—if we do just what He says—we experience the most loving and peaceful, the richest and fullest life imaginable. This is doubly true for husband and wife, for they have the companionship of each other as well of the Lord.

1. The wife is to walk in a spirit of submission (v.22-24).
2. The husband is to love his wife (v.25-33).

1 (5:22-24) Wife—Family: the wife is to walk in a spirit of submission. There are three reasons why the wife is to be submissive to her husband.

1. To submit is God's will. In fact, it is a commandment of God. There is to be no equivocation, no argument, not even a question about it: “Wives submit yourselves unto your own husbands.”

God is God, and as God, He has the right to demand anything of us. But note the words “as to the Lord.” When we do anything, we are to do it as to the Lord. Why? Because we love Him. The Lord has loved and given Himself for us, given Himself that He might save us. He loved us; therefore, we love Him. This is always the first reason we obey Him. We love Him; therefore, when He says to do something, we do it as to Him—to please Him.

Now, let us ask ourselves: What kind of spirit is the Christian wife to have as she obeys God?

- ⇒ A spirit of slavery or love?
- ⇒ A spirit of grudging or love?
- ⇒ A spirit of resentment or love?
- ⇒ A spirit of reaction or love?

The answer is obvious: she acts out of love. She loves the Lord; therefore, to please Him she submits herself to her husband. The point is this: God instructs wives to walk in a spirit of submission with their husbands. Therefore, Christian wives do not obey the Lord out of resentment and reaction because of the commandment. They obey the Lord out of love because they love both the Lord and their husbands. Therefore, they focus and set their lives upon pleasing the Lord and their husbands. If the Lord says do it, then they do it because they love the Lord and want to please Him above all else.

2. To submit is God's order for the family (v.2). There is to be a partnership and order within the family. This is basic for the family and society to exist. In fact, no organization, no matter what it is, can survive and exist without a spirit of partnership and order. Note three important facts.

- a. The husband is the head of the wife. The word “head” in Scripture refers to authority not being. Neither man nor woman is superior to the other in being. Men and women are equal in God’s eyes.
 ⇒ There is an essential partnership between men and women. Neither is independent of the other. Both are from the other, and the relationship that exists between them has come from God.

“Nevertheless neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord. For as the woman is of the man, even so is the man also by the woman; but all things of God” (1 Cor.11:11-12).

- ⇒ There is neither male nor female in God’s eyes. He sees both men and women as one, each as significant as the other.

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

When God talks about man being the head of the woman, He is not talking about ability or worth, competence or value, brilliance or advantage. God is talking about function and order within an organization. Every organization has to have a head for it to be operated in an efficient and orderly manner. There are no greater organizations than God’s universe, His church, and His Christian family. Within God’s order of things there is a partnership, but every partnership must have a head, and God has ordained that man is the head of the partnership.

- b. The great pattern for the wife to follow is Christ and the church. Christ is the head of the church. This simply means that Christ has authority over the church. So long as the church lives by this rule, the church experiences love and joy and peace—orderliness—and it is able to carry out its function and mission on earth to the fullest. So it is with the husband; he is the head of the family, the ultimate authority in the family. The wife is to be submissive to that authority just as the church is to be submissive to Christ. So long as she and the rest of the family live by this rule, the family experiences love, joy, and peace—orderliness—and it fulfills its function and purpose on earth. This, of course, assumes that the husband is fulfilling his part in the family. As in any organization, each member must do his part for the organization to be orderly and accomplish its purpose.
- c. The husband is the savior of the body just as Christ is the Savior of the church. Christ is the great Protector and Comforter of the church. So the husband is to be the protector and comforter of the wife. By nature, that is, by the constitution and build of the body, the husband is stronger than the wife. Therefore, in God’s order of things, he is to be the main protector and comforter of the wife. These two functions are two of the great benefits which the wife receives from a loving husband who is faithful to the Lord.

3. To submit is a spiritual mystery (v.23). The wife’s submission is comparable to Christ and the church. Again, Christ is the pattern for the wife:
 ⇒ as she submits to Christ, so she is to submit to her husband.
 ⇒ as she depends upon Christ for help and protection, so she is to depend upon her husband for help and protection.
 ⇒ as she depends upon Christ for companionship and comfort, so she is to depend upon her husband for companionship and comfort.

In summary, the submission that wives are to show to their husbands is an example of the submission that all believers are to show to one another (Eph.5:21). It does not mean that women are inferior to men. It simply means that there is to be an arrangement, an order in the household. Every body must have such order, and every body must have a head. Two heads in any body or organization would be a monstrosity and make for disorder. Therefore, in God’s order of things for the family, the husband is the head over the family. He arranges things in a spirit of tenderness and love and the wife is to submit herself in a sweet spirit of understanding and reasonableness. (Cp. Pr.31:10-31.)

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord” (Col.3:18).

“Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection. But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence. For Adam was first formed, then Eve” (1 Tim.2:11-13).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior, conduct] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness” (Pr.31:27).

“Unto the woman he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy conception; in sorrow thou shalt bring forth children; and thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee” (Gen.3:16).

2 (5:25-33) Husband—Family: the husband is to love his wife. Note five significant points.

1. The love which the husband is to have for his wife is the very love of God Himself (agape love). Agape love is a selfless and unselfish love, a giving and sacrificial love. It is the love of the mind and will as well as of the heart. It is not only a love of affection and feelings; it is a love of the will and commitment. It is a love that wills and commits itself to love a person. It is the love that works for the highest good of the person loved...

- that loves even if the person does not deserve to be loved.
- that loves even if the person is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Thought 1. Just imagine! What would happen in most marriages if the husband so loved his wife, loved her...

- with a selfless and unselfish love.
- with a giving and sacrificial love.
- with a love of the will as well as of the heart.
- with a love of commitment as well as of affection.

One thing that would happen in most marriages would be this: the wife would willingly accept his authority as the head of the family.

Note that the standard of the husband's love is the love of Christ for the church. The love of Christ for the church can be described in one simple statement: Christ gave Himself for the church. Christ loved the church so much that He gave Himself—sacrificed Himself totally—gave all He was and had for it. This is the love the husband is to have for his wife. Chrysostom, a great minister in the early church, said:

“If it be needful that thou shouldst give thy life for her, or be cut to pieces a thousand times, or endure anything whatever, refuse it not....He brought the Church to His feet by His great care, not by threats nor fear nor any such thing; so do thou conduct thyself towards thy wife.” (Quoted by Barclay. The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.206.)

The sacrificial love of the husband involves three things. Note that the very things said about Christ and the church are to be true of the husband and wife.

a. The husband's love involves being set apart and cleansed. The word sanctify means to be set apart. When a young man asks a young lady to be his wife, he sets himself apart for her and for her alone. His word, his act, his promise of marriage also causes her to set herself apart. When he speaks the word and makes the promise of marriage, he and she both are thereafter set apart and cleansed for each other.

A dirty bride or groom—a dirty, defiled marriage—is unthinkable. The one thing above all else that will keep the marriage sanctified and cleansed is the husband's sacrificial love. If the husband will love his wife to the point that he gives himself sacrificially, his love will not only protect him, but it will go a long way in protecting the sanctity and purity of his wife.

b. The husband's love involves having no spot or wrinkle or any such thing. Spots would mean the mistakes that tarnish one's life and marriage, mistakes so serious that they are very difficult to wash off one's body and out of one's mind. They would include such things as...

- mistreatment and abuse.
- loose and immoral behavior.
- withdrawal and avoidance.

Wrinkles would mean things that cause friction and rattle the nerves and that need ironed out. They would include such things as...

- temper and reaction.
- broken promises and serious neglect.
- severe selfishness and rejection.

c. The husband's love involves being holy and without blemish. The word “holy” (hagia) means to be separate and untouched by evil. The husband's love—if it is a real love—will stir him to be holy and unblemished and go a long way in stirring his wife to be holy and without blemish.

Thought 1. This point is striking—a real eye-opener. It shows just how dependent the marriage is upon the love of the husband—how much effect the husband's love has upon the marriage. Few wives could reject such love; few wives would refuse to walk hand in hand with their husbands if they truly loved them with the love that is unselfish and sacrificial.

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

2. The love which the husband is to have for his wife is the very same love he has for his own body. This is a startling statement. Note again what it says: the husband is to love his wife just as much as he loves his own body.

a. This means that he is to nourish and cherish his wife as he does his own body.

⇒ The word “nourish” (ektrephei) means to feed, clothe, nurture, and look after until she is mature in the marriage and then to continue nourishing her as long as she lives.

⇒ The word “cherish” (thalpei) means to hold ever so dear within the heart; to treat with warmth, tenderness, care, affection, and appreciation.

Thought 1. What a difference would exist in marriage if the husband just nourished and cherished his wife as he does his own body. Think through the meaning of the two words for just a moment and imagine the difference that could exist.

- b. This means that he is to become one body, one flesh and one set of bones with his wife. Two people could never become any closer. This is complete absorption and assimilation of each into the other—a complete union and oneness...
- of body and spirit.
  - of mind and thoughts.
  - of objective and purpose.
  - of behavior and activity.

The husband becomes one with his wife, and the wife becomes one with her husband. The two become one flesh. (This is dealt with more fully in the following point.)

3. The love which the husband is to have for his wife is to be the love that will stir him to leave his parents and be joined to his wife (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Joined—Eph.5:31 for discussion).

4. The love which the husband is to have for his wife is a spiritual mystery—a spiritual love—a love just like Christ's love for the church (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Spiritual Union—Eph.5:32 for discussion).

5. The conclusion is simple and straightforward: the husband is to love his wife as himself, and the wife is to revere (respect and esteem) her husband (v.33).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:31) Joined (proskollao): to join fast together; to glue together; to cement together; to be joined in the closest union possible; to be bound together; to be so totally united that two become one. Therefore, to join means a spiritual union. It is a union higher and stronger than the union of parent and child. It is a union that means more than living together, more than having sex and bearing offspring. Animals do this. It is a union that can be wrought by God alone (v.11). It is a spiritual union that places man above the physical plane of animals. It is a spiritual fulness, a spiritual sharing of life together: a dedication, a consecration, a completeness, a satisfaction that makes a person the exclusive possession of God and of the spouse. As said, such a cleaving or spiritual union is wrought by God alone. Both husband and wife must be willing and submissive for God to bring about such a cleaving in their lives. "Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear [trust] of God" (Eph.5:21; see outlines and notes—Eph.5:22-33).

There are three unions within a true marriage, that is, a marriage that really cleaves and is really joined together by God (Mt.19:6).

1. There is the physical union: the sharing of each other's body (1 Cor.7:2-5). But note: physical sharing cannot reach its ultimate fulness unless it is experienced while conscious of God's warm and tender mercies (Eph.5:25-33).

2. There is the mental union: the sharing of each other's life and dreams and hopes, and the working together to realize those dreams and hopes. It is important to note that this union still deals only with the physical and material world.

3. There is the spiritual union: the sharing and melting and moulding of each other's spirit (see Eph.5:25-33). This can be wrought only by God. Therefore, there has to be a sharing together with God for there to be a nourishing and nurturing of the spirit.

Now here is the point: the greatest thing in the world is to know God personally and to be perfectly assured that we shall live now and eternally—to have life abundant with all the love, significance, meaning, and purpose humanly possible. But a man and a woman cannot experience abundant life of and by themselves. They can only nurture the mind and mesh themselves together mentally and physically. To be meshed together spiritually, the couple must share God and His saving grace together. When a couple shares God together day by day, God works supernaturally within their spirits, melting their beings and moulding them into what He calls one flesh. They actually become as one person. This is what is meant by "God hath joined together." The Greek word for "joined together" (sunzeugen) actually means to yoke together. It is God's yoking, joining, and binding the couple together into such a spiritual union that causes them to become one person.

A couple who is spiritually united does two very practical things.

1. The couple "submits themselves one to the other in the fear of God" (Eph.5:21). They submit, yield, surrender, sacrifice, give themselves up to the other as they live day by day in the fear (trust) of God. Day by day they deliberately set out to nourish and cherish the other, even as the Lord nourishes and cherishes the church (Eph.5:29). They work to become part of each other—so deliberately that they seek to become part of each other's body, each other's flesh, each other's bones (Eph.5:30). They seek to be joined "as one flesh," no matter the surrender and sacrifice required. The meshing together is done by God. God takes such deliberate purpose and behavior, such a melting of one's being, and moulds it into the flesh of the other—so much so the two actually become as one, not only physically and mentally, but spiritually as well.

2. The couple shares the presence of God and His saving grace together. As a result God gives them a spiritual assurance and strength which they share together throughout life. They share the knowledge and confidence...

- that God shall care for and look after them now and forever.
- that God shall carry them through the devastating trials of life that confront every human being every so often.
- that God shall bless them with all that is necessary as they walk through life together.
- that God shall give them an abundant entrance into the everlasting kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ—forever and ever.

Again, the point is this: God takes such deliberate sharing of spiritual things and melts and moulds the man and woman into one flesh spiritually—so much so that they actually become one. A man and a woman being spiritually united by God as one person is what cleaving means. Cleaving to one another in God's Spirit is true marriage—the glorious gift of God.

Thought 1. No more beautiful picture of marriage could be painted, yet two serious problems exist in far too many marriages.

- 1) The problem of one or both of the spouses being unwilling to be bound together by the Spirit of God.
- 2) The problem of one or both of the spouses being unwilling to break away from dependency upon the parents.

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(5:32) Spiritual Union—Marriage: marriage is a spiritual union that can be wrought by God and by God alone (see note—Mt.19:10-11). It is much more than two people merely agreeing to live together and to be loyal to one another. It is much more than natural affection or infatuation. It is much more than a mere piece of paper, more than a legal contract, more than bearing offspring. After all, animals do the same. Marriage, when it is brought together and honestly committed to God, is a totally unique union that is unlike any other relationship in life. When consummated by God and placed into the hands of God day by day, it is a spiritual union lifted ever so high and full of splendor and warmth and tenderness. It is the real experience of love and warmth and tenderness—the full preciousness and richness of sharing all with one another. In reality, a true marriage is indescribable. For a true marriage is a spiritual experience that is beyond anything known in the physical world. It is a spiritual union mutually experienced only by the couples who truly know the love of Christ for His church.

A true marriage is love (v.25). It is sacrificial love (v.25); a love for another person that is just as great as one's love for oneself (v.28, 33). It is a love that cherishes (v.29).

A true marriage is a union (v.30). It is a union so completely and spiritually wrought that two persons become as one body and as one flesh (v.30-31).

A true marriage is a mystery (v.32). It is a spiritual fact that has to be revealed by God if it is to be experienced by couples (v.32). It is a spiritual mystery that can be illustrated only by the great love Christ has for His church (v.23-33).

Christ and His love are the symbolic example for the husband. The church and its love for Christ are the symbolic example for the wife. This picture says several practical things.

1. The Christian home is to be lived in the very presence and atmosphere of the Lord.
2. The Christian home is to be governed by the Lord. Its decisions are to be made in light of the Lord and His will.
3. The Christian home is not to have two partners, but three—husband, wife, and Christ.

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

I. Believing Children & Parents are to Walk Under God's Authority, 6:1-4

(6:1-4) Introduction: this is an important passage, not only for the day of Paul, but for every generation. It is particularly crucial for our day and time. Our generation is a generation of problem children and problem parents, and one of the major causes of the tension is the failure to heed the instructions of God’s Word. Children and parents are to walk together under God’s authority.

1. Believing children are to obey (v.1-3).
2. Believing parents are not to provoke their children, but to nurture them in the Lord (v.4).

1 (6:1-3) Children—Obedience: children are to obey their parents. The word “obey” (hupakouo) means to submit to; to comply with; to hearken; to heed; to follow the directions or guidance of some instruction. When a parent guides and directs a child, the child is to obey the parent. But what about the problems that are so repulsively evident in society: the problems of parental abuse—the problems of physical abuse, sexual abuse, and mental abuse? Is a child to obey a parent when the parent is so devilishly wrong? No! A thousand times no!

1. First, to obey means to obey in the Lord. Note the command again: “Children, obey your parents in the Lord.” The phrase “in the Lord” means at least two things.

- a. There is a limit to the child’s obedience. When a parent is not acting in the Lord, he is not to be obeyed. The Lord has nothing whatsoever to do with the filth of unrighteousness and abuse of precious children. If a child can break away and free himself from such parental corruption, he has every right to be freed from his parent. The Lord came to set men free from the abuse and the filth of sin, not to enslave men to it, and especially not to enslave children to it.

One of the most severe warnings ever issued in all of history was issued by the Lord Jesus to adults who abuse children:

“And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea. And if thy hand offend thee [by abusing a child], cut it off: it is better for thee to enter into life maimed, than having two hands to go into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thy foot offend thee [by abusing a child], cut it off: it is better for thee to enter halt into life, than having two feet to be cast into hell, into the fire that never shall be quenched: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched. And if thine eye offend thee [by lusting after a child], pluck it out: it is better for thee to enter into the kingdom of God with one eye, than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire: where their worm dieth not, and the fire is not quenched” (Mk.9:42-48).

The abusing parent had better heed, for one of the things that God will not tolerate—absolutely not tolerate—is the abuse of a child. We must proclaim the Word of God: children are to obey their parents, but they are to obey only if the parents’ desire and instructions are in the Lord. If a parent is beating a child black and blue or sexually abusing a child, the child should go to some other adult he feels close to and ask for his help. And we as ministers of the Lord—ministers who are called to proclaim Christ and to do what we can to bring His righteousness to earth—must teach the truth from the pulpits of the world.

- b. The phrase “in the Lord” also tells why the child is to obey his parents. “Children, obey your parents in the Lord”—obeying your parents is right; it is of the Lord; it pleases the Lord; therefore, obey them. When they guide and instruct you, follow them (cp. Col.3:20).

Lehman Strauss points out that obedience is the first law of the universe—that the law of obedience regulates everything in the world: the stars, the planets, the seasons. Even man himself tries to govern the world by the law of obedience. He wants obedience in the state, at work, at play, and at home. (Devotional Studies in Galatians and Ephesians, p.212.) The point is simply this: the law of obedience is the very nature of things, at the very core of the universe and of man’s life and behavior upon earth. Therefore, it is to be expected that God would command children to obey their parents. Children are to obey—obey because it pleases the Lord and it is the right thing to do.

Note the emphasis here; it is striking. Children are not told to obey parents because it pleases the parent, but because it pleases the Lord. Pleasing one’s parents is, of course, a reason for obeying them. But the first reason for obeying parents is that it pleases the Lord. The child is to know the Lord to such a degree that he is continually thinking about the Lord and about pleasing Him. The child is to walk so closely to the Lord that his mind is constantly upon the Lord—upon what he can do to please the Lord. When the child so knows the Lord, then obeying his parents will become an automatic response.

“For Moses said, Honour thy father and thy mother; and, Whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death” (Mk.7:10).

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right” (Eph.6:1).

“Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord” (Col.3:20).

“My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.1:8).

“My son, keep thy father’s commandment, and forsake not the law of the mother” (Pr.6:20).

“My son keep my words, and lay up my commandments with thee” (Pr.7:1).

“A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother” (Pr.10:1).

“Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right” (Pr.20:11).

“Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old” (Pr.23:22).

“Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them” (Eccl.12:1).

2. Second, to obey parents means to honor one’s father and mother. The word “honor” (timao) means to “esteem and value as precious” (The Amplified New Testament); to show respect, reverence, kindness, courtesy, and obedience (Wuest. Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.136). Scripture is not speaking to any certain age child. It is speaking to all of us who are children with parents still living. We are to honor our fathers and mothers: to esteem and value them as precious—to respect and reverence them. Tragically, this is a rarity today. Too often a child’s response to his parent is that of...

- talking back
- cutting the parent
- ignoring
- grumbling
- disregarding the instruction
- speaking disrespectfully
- not listening
- acting like a “know it all”
- calling the parent a cute, but disrespectful name
- putting off the instruction

In addition to these, there is the dishonor of delinquency, crime, drugs, alcohol, and the abuse of property; and the list could go on and on. And when it comes to adult children with aged parents, there is the dishonor of neglect, the ignoring of their needs and the shuffling of them to the side and failing to adequately care for them. Too many adult children forget how much their parents have done for them—bringing them into the world and taking care of them for years. Too many children forget the rich experience and knowledge that their parents have gained through the years and that could be put to great use in meeting community and world needs. And even if the parents failed to be and to do all they should have, we as Christian children are instructed to honor them as followers of the Lord Jesus Christ.

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right” (Eph.6:1).

“But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite [repay, pay back] their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God....But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel” (1 Tim.5:4, 8).

“Whoso curseth his father or his mother, his lamp shall be put out in obscure darkness” (Pr.20:20).

“The eye that mocketh at his father, and despiseth to obey his mother, the ravens of the valley shall pick it out, and the young eagles shall eat it” (Pr.30:17).

“Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee” (Ex.20:12).

“Ye shall fear every man his mother, and his father, and keep my sabbaths: I am the Lord your God” (Lev.19:3).

“Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honor the face of the old man, and fear thy God: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:32).

“Cursed be he that setteth light by his father or his mother: and all the people shall say, Amen” (Dt.27:16).

Note the two promises made to children who honor their parents.

- ⇒ Things will go well for the child. Does this mean that the child will never have problems or have to suffer? No! This is not what the Scripture means. God means that He will be with the child, strengthen and take care of him so that he can walk through the trials of life victoriously. The child will be strengthened and made strong where it counts—in the inner man. He will be enabled to conquer and be victorious over whatever confronts him as he journeys through life.
- ⇒ The child is assured that he will live a long life on earth. Frankly, there is little question but that Paul meant this and that we should take it for what it says. If a child honestly obeys and honors his parents faithfully—really obeys and honors from the depths of his heart—God will give him a long life on earth.

Is there ever an exception to this? And what about small babies and children who are taken on to heaven? Does this violate the promise? No! If a child was really obedient, then all we can say is that God knows what is best, and for some reason, God wanted the precious little life with Him now. God just could not wait for the fellowship and joy which the precious little life would bring Him.

2 (6:4) Parents—Children: parents are not to provoke their children to wrath. Parents are bound to upset and irritate their children sometimes; we all upset and irritate people sometimes. Discipline, correction, and reproof are seldom enjoyable experiences. Their very nature is that of disturbance and irritation. This is not what this instruction means. The word “provoke” (parorgizo) means to arouse to wrath or anger, to provoke to the point of utter exasperation and resentment. Note two significant discussions.

1. Four things will provoke a child.

- a. Failing to accept the fact that things do change. Time and generations do change. This does not mean that a child should participate nor be allowed to do everything that his generation does. But it does mean that parents need to be alert to the changes between generations and allow the child to be a part of his own generation instead of trying to conform the child to the parent’s childhood generation. The parent’s childhood generation does not exist nor will it ever exist again.

What changes should and should not be allowed by a Christian parent? Three words provide a good guideline: rebellion, immorality, and injustice. Open defiance or resistance to authority and immorality and injustice are contrary to God’s Word. Any change that involves rebellion, immorality or injustice needs to be dealt with and controlled by the parent. We are probably safe to say that any change not involving one of these areas should be allowed. Whether true or not, these three areas provide a good practical guideline.

The point is this: a parent must not resist normal and natural change that takes place between generations. If he resists and forbids his child to grow up in his own generation, the parent is asking for trouble. Most likely the child will be provoked to wrath—to react.

- b. Overcontrolling a child will also provoke a child to wrath. Overcontrol ranges all the way from stern restriction and discipline to child abuse (dealt with above in footnote two, point one). Disciplining and restricting a child too much will either stifle the growth of a child or stir him to react and rebel, causing the child to flee from the parent. What is too much discipline? How much should a child be restricted? Should he be allowed to do everything he wants? No! There is a limit, and the limit must be placed upon the child and discipline must be exercised when the limit is crossed over. What Christian parents need to remember is this:

⇒ Some parents allow their children to participate in every function and activity offered to the child. They are usually the ones without proper parental guidance.

The point is this: there must be a balance between family life and the child’s community life. The child should be allowed to do his own thing sometime, and should be required to share with the family at other times. As he grows older, he should, of course, be allowed to break away from the family more and more in order to prepare him for the day when he will step out into the world on his own. A child needs free time away from the parent and family as well as some family time in order to grow into a healthy person.

“And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord” (Eph.6:4).

“Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged” (Col.3:21).

- c. Undercontrolling a child can provoke a child. It should be noted that this is the most prevalent problem in an industrialized society. There is a tendency for those with plenty or with wealth to pamper, indulge, and give a child everything imaginable—well beyond what a child needs and what is really best for him. Parents pamper and indulge children for five reasons.

⇒ A parent indulges and pampers—gives in to the child—in order to escape responsibility for the child: to keep a child from interrupting the parents’ time or schedule or desires; to get a child out from under the parents’ feet. The parent, of course, needs some free time; but too many parents live selfishly, wanting nothing interfering with their own desires and needs. Too many parents push their children out and away and allow their children to run around too much. Too few sacrifice their own time and desires to look after their children as much as they should.

EPHESIANS 6:1-4

- ⇒ A parent indulges and pampers—gives in to a child—in order to gain social standing or to relive his own childhood. The parent did not have and was not allowed to do what he wanted as a child; therefore, he sees to it that his child has everything and does everything that everyone else does. He is determined that his child will have everything no matter what it costs.
- ⇒ A parent indulges and pampers—gives in to a child—because he has a false understanding or philosophy of child-rearing. He gives in to ill behavior, whining, pouting, sulkiness, and temper tantrums just to secure peace and quiet.
- ⇒ A parent indulges and pampers—gives in to a child—because of misguided devotion and love: to keep from losing the loyalty, quietness, cooperativeness, and affection of the child.
- ⇒ A parent indulges and pampers—gives in to a child—because of insecurity and lack of purpose. For example, some pamper and cling to a child because they (the parents) are insecure in the world. Others cling and pamper because they lack any other purpose. The child fills the need for security and purpose. Playing house is lived to the limit: the parent plays house with his child, clinging and pampering to the limit.

“He that spareth his rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him chasteneth him be-times” (Pr.13:24).

“Chasten thy son while there is hope, and let not thy soul spare for his crying” (Pr.19:18).

“Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child; but the rod of correction shall drive it far from him” (Pr.22:15).

“Withhold not correction from the child: for if thou beatest him with the rod, he shall not die” (Pr.23:13).

“The rod and reproof give wisdom: but a child left to himself bringeth his mother to shame” (Pr.29:15).

“For I have told him that I will judge his house for ever for the iniquity which he knoweth; because his sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not” (1 Sam.3:13).

- d. Living an inconsistent life before a child can provoke a child. A parent who tells a child one thing and then turns around and does the opposite thing himself is full of hypocrisy and false profession. Yet, how common! How many children are doing things because their parents do them:
- ⇒ drinking alcohol
  - ⇒ taking drugs
  - ⇒ watching sexual scenes on television or movies
  - ⇒ reading immoral stories
  - ⇒ looking at magazines exposing the human body
  - ⇒ eating too much
  - ⇒ wasting time
  - ⇒ dressing or exposing the body to attract attention
  - ⇒ attending socials or parties that are loose on decency, morality, marital faithfulness, and on and on

Seeing an inconsistent life in a parent can provoke children.

“And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin” (1 Ki.22:52).

“He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab: for his mother was his counselor to do wickedly” (2 Chron.22:3).

“But have walked after the imagination of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them” (Jer.9:14).

“And she, being before instructed of her mother, said, Give me here John Baptist’s head in a charger” (Mt.14:8).

2. A parent is to bring up a child in the ways of the Lord, in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.
- ⇒ The word “nurture” (paideia) means “the whole training and education of children which [involves]...the cultivation of mind and morals...commands and admonitions...reproof and punishment...correcting mistakes and curbing the passions...the increase of virtue” (Thayers Greek - English Lexicon).
  - ⇒ The word “admonition” (nouthesia) means counsel, exhortation, correction.

Note that the parent is not to rear the child after his own ideas and notions of what is best for the child, but after the nurture and admonition of the Lord. The Lord’s Word is to be the guide for Christian parents in rearing their child. The benefits in bringing up a child in the Lord are innumerable. Just a few are as follows:

- a. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning love: that he is loved by God and by all who trust God. He grows no matter how evil some may act, knowing that he is to love even those who do wrong.
- b. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning power and triumph: that God will help His followers through all; that there is a supernatural power available to help, a power to help when mother and dad and loved ones have done all they can.

EPHESIANS 6:1-4

- c. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning hope and faith: that no matter what happens, no matter how great a trial, we can still trust God and hope in Him. He has provided a very special strength to carry us through the trials of this life (no matter how painful); that He has provided a very special place called heaven where He will carry us and our loved ones when we face death.
- d. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning the truth of life and endurance (service): that God has given us the privilege of life and of living in a beautiful earth and universe; that the evil and bad which exists in the world is caused by evil and bad people; that despite such evil, we are to serve in appreciation for life and the beautiful earth upon which God has placed us. We are to work and work diligently, making the greatest contribution we can.
- e. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning trust and endurance: that life is full of temptations and pitfalls which can easily rob us of joy and destroy our lives and the fulfillment of our purposes; that the way to escape the temptations and pitfalls is to follow Christ and endure in our work and purpose.
- f. A child who is brought to Christ grows up learning peace: that there is an inner peace despite the turbulent waters of this world; that peace is knowing and trusting Christ.

“And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord” (Eph.6:4).

“Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged” (Col.3:21).

“One that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity” (1 Tim.3:4).

“Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well” (1 Tim.3:12).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Only take heed to thyself, and keep thy soul diligently, lest thou forget the things which thine eyes have seen, and lest they depart from thy heart all the days of thy life: but teach them thy sons, and thy sons’ sons” (Dt.4:9).

“And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:6-7).

“Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it” (Pr.22:6).

“Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts” (Is.28:9).

“The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shall make known thy truth” (Is.38:19).

“Arise, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thy hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every street” (Lam.2:19).

DIVISION IV

THE WALK OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 4:1-6:9

J. Believing Slaves & Master (Employers-Employees) are to Walk Under God's Authority, 6:5-9

(6:5-9) Introduction: this passage points out in strong terms what the world’s problem really is. It is not an economic problem; it is a spiritual problem. Hunger and economic relationships between individuals and nations can only be solved when men turn to the Lord Jesus Christ. He is Lord, and when men serve Him as Lord, they serve Him in all they do. This means they work for Him; and in working for Him, they work not only to provide for themselves, but also to secure enough to give to others (Eph.4:29). They work and partake of the fruits of their labor; then they give to others. Such is the will of God for every man and for the world which He made. But remember what it is that stirs men to live such sacrificial lives: Christ—commitment to Him.

There were millions and millions of slaves in the Roman Empire during the days of Paul. One source says that there were over sixty million (Barclay, The Letters to the Galatians and Ephesians, p.212). The gospel was bound to reach many of these, and the churches all over the Empire were bound to be filled with slaves. For this reason the New Testament has much to say to slaves (1 Cor.7:21-22; Col.3:22; 4:1; 1 Tim.6:1-2; Tit.2:9-10; 1 Pt.2:18-25 and the whole book of Philemon is written to a slave). However, slavery is never directly attacked by the New Testament. If it had been, there would have probably been so much bloodshed the scene would have been unimaginable! The slave owners and government would have...

- attacked the church, its preachers and believers, seeking to destroy such a doctrine.
- imprisoned and executed any who refused to be silent about such a doctrine.
- reacted and killed all of the slaves who professed Christ.

The Expositors Greek Testament has an excellent statement on how Christianity went about destroying slavery:

- the equality of men in the sight of God
- a common Christian brotherhood
- the spiritual freedom of the Christian man
- the Lordship of Christ to which every other lordship is subordinate” (Salmond, SDF. The Epistle to the Ephesians. “The Expositor’s Greek Testament,” Vol.3, ed. by W. Robertson Nicoll. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1970, p.377.)

The instructions to slaves and masters in the New Testament are applicable to every generation of workman. As Francis Foulkes says, “...the principles of the whole section apply to employees and employers in every age, whether in the home, in business, or in the state” (The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians, “Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, p.167).

1. The workman: to obey (v.5-8).
2. The employer (v.9).

1 (6:5-8) Employees—Workmen—Labor—Slaves: the workman is to obey; that is, he is to follow the instructions of the employer. Note the phrase “according to the flesh.” This means that employers are to be obeyed in matters involving the workplace. The employer has no authority in the spiritual realm. That authority belongs to Christ and to Christ alone. Six specific instructions are given to the Christian workman.

1. The Christian workman is to work with fear and trembling. As F.F. Bruce says, this does not mean working with the slavish fear of men, but with the fear of God in the heart (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.123). Fear and trembling is to be the mark of the Christian workman, but not the fear of a superior nor the trembling that something unpleasant might happen. The Christian workman...

- is to fear and tremble before God lest he perform some irresponsible work and bring reproach upon his Lord's name.
- is to respect and be eager to serve his employer.

“And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation” (Lk.1:50).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“What man is he that feareth the Lord? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose” (Ps.25:12).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

2. The Christian workman is to work in singleness of heart, as to Christ. “Singleness of heart” means with purpose and focused attention, in sincerity and without any pretense or hypocrisy or slack. It means that the workman does not beat time; he is totally committed to his work. There is no fakiness, no pretending to be a good workman at all. The Christian workman is a good workman. His heart is single-minded and focused upon doing his job and doing it well. And note why: because he offers his labor to the Lord.

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

“If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land” (Is.1:19).

3. The Christian workman is not to work with eyeservice as a manpleaser. He is not to work just when the boss is looking. There are those who seek to curry the favor of the boss. There are those who slow down when the boss is not looking and speed up when the boss is looking. They are guilty of seeking favor they do not deserve. Such standards rob labor of its dignity and bring ill repute to the name of Christ. When a man returns home from a day's work there is only one question to ask: Has he pleased his Lord?

“For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God” (Jn.12:43).

“The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the LORD shall be safe” (Pr.29:25).

4. The Christian workman is to work as the servant of Christ doing the will of God from his heart. “From the heart” (ek psyches) means with interest and energy. It is the opposite of routineness and listlessness, of having no energy or heart for the work. The Christian workman must always remember this: even if the boss is not looking, Christ sees what kind of work he is doing. Therefore, he must work as though he is working for Christ. In fact, the very drive of his heart and life must be to work for Christ. He must work...

- to serve Christ
- to do the will of God
- to do both from the heart

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptable with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“And ye shall serve the LORD your God, and he shall bless thy bread, and thy water; and I will take sickness away from the midst of thee” (Ex.23:25).

5. The Christian workman is to work with good will, and he must do it as to the Lord, and not to men. Again, the drive and energy of his life must be to work as the servant of Christ. It could be stated no clearer: the Christian workman serves the Lord, not other men. No matter where he works and no matter what he does—if it is not immoral or unjust labor—the Christian workman is to work and work diligently. He is to work as though his boss is the Lord Jesus Christ, and not man.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

6. The result of such diligent labor is to be a reciprocal reward. The Lord is going to give the Christian workman exactly what he labored for, no more and no less. There is no respect of persons with God. Everyone is going to get exactly what he has labored for upon this earth...

- regardless of his profession.
- regardless of his wealth.
- regardless of his position.
- regardless of his poverty.

A person may have been honest or dishonest, a good or poor workman, a white collar or blue collar workman, a professional or laborer, a business man or workman, disabled or gifted—it matters not. Everyone is going to receive from God exactly what he has put into his day to day work. If he has diligently worked as though he were working for Christ, he shall be abundantly rewarded. If he has been working for men and for self, he shall go the way of all men and end up eternally lost. If he has been sometimes slack and sometimes diligent, then he is going to receive a piecemeal reward. “Whatsoever good thing any man does, the same shall he receive of the Lord.”

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:25).

2 (6:9) Employer—Business Man—Managers—Masters: the employer or manager is given two clear commandments governing how he is to treat the workmen under him.

1. The manager is to do the very same things that are required of the workman. He is to treat the workman just like he expects the workman to treat him. (What a difference this would make in labor-manager relations if it were really practiced by both parties!)

The manager or employer must realize that he lives and works...

- to serve both the Lord and the employees with fear and trembling, that is, managing with respect and eager concern (The Amplified New Testament).
- to serve in singleness of heart, managing as to Christ.
- to serve not with eye-service, as menpleasers.
- to serve as the servants of Christ, managing and doing the will of Christ from the heart.
- to serve with good will, managing as to the Lord, and not to men.
- to serve knowing that he is to receive a reciprocal reward for how well he managed.

The employer or manager expects at least two things from his workmen: diligence and loyalty. The charge to the employer is the same: be diligent in your management and in your loyalty to the workmen under you. Demonstrate your loyalty with fair wages and job security.

2. The manager is to forbear threats. This does not mean a workman cannot be corrected or released if he is not diligent and loyal. God does not encourage slothfulness nor license nor indulgence. God chastens and disciplines when needed. But note: stern measures are taken only after all other corrective measures have been taken. Every person—no matter how sorry a worker—is worth saving and developing into a conscientious workman if possible. He is a fellow human being who is on earth with the rest of us and as long as he is on earth, God will continue to reach out to him. Therefore, he is worth reaching if we can. For this reason alone, every step should be taken to reach and train even the most unproductive workman.

The point is this: employers and managers must guard against unwarranted threats, for they too have a Master in heaven, and He has no favorites and shows no favoritism. As employers and managers, we hold every workman accountable to us; so the Lord holds us accountable to Him. Therefore, threats should always be issued courteously and carefully.

“And, ye masters, do the same things unto them, forbearing threatening: knowing that your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect of persons with him” (Eph.6:9).

“Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven” (Col.4:1).

“Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbor, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning” (Lev.19:13).

“At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the LORD” (Dt.24:15).

“If I did despise the cause of my manservant or of my maidservant, when they contended with me” (Job 31:13).

“Woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbor’s service without wages, and giveth him not for his work” (Jer.22:13).

“And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling [the hired workman] in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts” (Mal.3:5).

DIVISION V

THE WARFARE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 6:10-24

A. The Armor of the Christian Soldier, 6:10-20

(6:10-20) Introduction--Spiritual Warfare: Paul has been discussing the believer's walk (Eph.4:1-6:9). Now suddenly he jolts the reader and hearer; he changes course. He says there is another way to look at the believer's life in Christ. The believer's life is a battlefield. Immediately upon receiving Christ, the believer finds himself in a constant struggle. He is engaged in an unceasing fight, an unending war. He is a combatant, a soldier in conflict. His calling is not to a life of enjoyment and ease, but to a life of hard conflict. There are foes within and foes without. From the cradle to the grave there is constant struggle against the corruptible lusts of the flesh and the imposing temptations offered by the world and Satan--a struggle against an excessive corruption that inevitably leads to death (Ro.7:21; Gal.5:17; 6:8; Eph.4:22<sup>b</sup>; 6:10).

1. The soldier's charge (10-11).
2. The soldier's enemy: the devil and his strategies (v.11).
3. The soldier's warfare: not human, but spiritual (v.12).
4. The soldier's duty: to take the whole armour of God (v.13).
5. The soldier's armour (v.14-17).
6. The supernatural provision: prayer--always praying (v.18-20).

1 (6:10-11) Spiritual Warfare: there is the charge to the Christian soldier. Note the word "brothers." It is Christian believers who need the charge, not the world. Christian believers must diligently heed what is about to be said. There is no other way to conquer the enemies who stand so violently opposed to the Christian believer. Unless the believer heeds the charge and message of this passage, he will cave in to temptation and sin and end up walking through life just as most men do:

- ⇒ not experiencing the abundance and joy of life.
- ⇒ not experiencing the power and deliverance, care and concern, love and fellowship of God's daily presence.
- ⇒ being uncertain and unsure of the future.
- ⇒ not having the confidence of being acceptable to God.
- ⇒ not being assured of living forever with God.

A believer must heed what God says in this passage; he must do exactly what God says in order to conquer the great enemies of life. The charge is twofold.

1. The believer must be strong in the Lord and in the power of His might. Note the stress upon power and strength. Three different words are used:
  - ⇒ be strong
  - ⇒ in the Lord's power
  - ⇒ in the Lord's might

Each of these words is used to stress the utter necessity of the believer being strong and possessing power.

- ⇒ The word “strong” (endunamoo) means power, might, strength. The believer must possess power, might, and strength as he walks through the course of this life.
- ⇒ The Lord’s “power” (kratos) means His sovereign unlimited power and dominion over all.
- ⇒ The Lord’s “might” (ischuos) means strength, force, ability. It means His ability to use His strength and force wisely, that is, in perfection.

The believer is to be strong in the sovereign unlimited power of the Lord--in the power of His might--in His ability to use His power exactly as it should be used. (See outline and notes--Eph.1:19-23 for more discussion on the power of God.)

But note the critical point: the believer’s strength is not human, fleshly strength; it is not the strength of anything within this world. The believer’s strength is found in the Lord--in a living, dynamic relationship with Him. The Lord is the source of the believer’s strength. There is no other source that can give man the strength to overcome this world with all its trials and temptations and death.

2. The believer must put on the armour of God. Once the believer is strong within, then he is ready to be clothed with the armour of God. But note: no amount of armour is worth the material it is made of unless the soldier has the heart to fight. The believer must--absolutely must--be strong in the Lord before he can be clothed with the armour of God and begin to wage war against the foes of life. Once a man has the presence and power of God within his heart, it is then that he begins to arm himself to wage war against the spiritual enemies of life. But note a most critical point: he must put on the whole armour of God, leaving nothing out. If he leaves a piece of the armour off, he exposes himself to the enemy and stands a good chance of being wounded, perhaps killed.

The charge is to be strong in the Lord, in the power of His might. Put on the whole armour of God.

“For with God nothing shall be impossible” (Lk.1:37).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

“For thou hast girded me with strength to battle: them that rose up against me hast thou subdued under me” (2 Sam.22:40).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

2 (6:11) Satan--Spiritual Warfare: there is the enemy of the Christian soldier. The enemy is the devil and his strategies. The word “wiles” (methodei) means the deceits, craftiness, trickery, methods, and strategies which the devil uses to wage war against the believer. He will do everything he can to deceive and capture the believer.

1. There are the strategies that appeal to the lust of the eyes. Satan will see to it that something crosses the eyesight of the believer, something that is very appealing to the flesh and pride of life:

- ⇒ some delicious food
- ⇒ some attractive person
- ⇒ some person who is exposing the body
- ⇒ some possession: clothing, land, cars, houses, whatever
- ⇒ some position
- ⇒ more authority and power

Satan will present something to the eyes that is so appealing, the believer is doomed unless he is clothed in the full armour of God. Satan will entice the believer to eat the second helping, take the second look, buy the unneeded possession, or begin to selfishly seek more power and more position. He will use all the strategies he can to appeal to the flesh and pride of the believer.

“Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it” (Jn.8:44).

“Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?” (Ro.6:16).

“I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness” (Ro.6:19).

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience: among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:2-3).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts. Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:1-4).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

2. Another strategy of the devil is to send a false teacher, a very impressive teacher, across the path of the believer. We must never forget that Satan is not a fiery red person with horns, a pointed tail, and a pitch fork in his hands. He is a living being in the spiritual world--a being who is transformed into a messenger of light. And he has ministers who walk about as ministers of righteousness, but they proclaim a righteousness other than that of Christ. Their message is that of self-righteousness, that of...

- human goodness and works.
- ego and self-image.
- personal development and growth.
- self-improvement and correction.
- mind and will.

Such messages appeal to the flesh of man, and they are helpful. This must be realized and acknowledged, but such messages are not the basic power needed by man. They cannot deliver man from the great trials and sufferings of life or death. They can only lead man down the path of all flesh--that of death, decay, and eternal judgment.

The point is this: one of the most prominent strategies of the devil is to deceive man with false teachers and ministers and their appealing but false messages. The believer is doomed unless he is clothed in the full armour of God.

“Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices” (2 Cor.2:11).

“But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ” (2 Cor.11:3).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph.6:11).

“Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders” (2 Th.2:9).

“And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him” (Rev.12:9).

3 (6:12) Spiritual Warfare: third, there is the warfare of the Christian soldier. The warfare is not human or physical, but spiritual. Wuest has a descriptive picture of the believer’s great spiritual struggle:

“In the word ‘wrestle’ [pale], Paul uses a Greek athletic term. Thayer defines as follows: ‘a contest between two in which each endeavors to throw the other, and which is decided when the victor is able to press and hold down his prostate antagonist, namely, hold him down with his hand upon his neck.’ When we consider that the loser in a Greek wrestling contest had his eyes gouged out with resulting blindness for the rest of his days, we can form some conception of the Ephesian Greek’s reaction to Paul’s illustration. The Christian’s wrestling against the powers of darkness is no less desperate and fateful” (Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.141).

The point to see is that the believer’s struggle is not against flesh and blood. His foes are not human or physical: they are spiritual--spiritual forces that possess unbelievable power. Note exactly what is said: the believer fights...

- against principalities
- against power
- against the rulers of darkness
- against spiritual wickedness

This reveals some very clear things to us.

1. The forces of evil are powerful forces. The thrust of this verse is to stress the enormous power of evil forces which stand against the believer.

2. The forces of evil are numerous. Principalities, powers, rulers--all convey the idea of a large number of evil forces who are struggling against the believer.

3. The forces of evil are apparently organized into a government or a hierarchy of evil. Again, principalities, powers and rulers of this world in high places--all point toward a ranking of spiritual forces with enormous authority, position, and rule.

4. The forces of evil are the rulers of the darkness of this world. Darkness in the Bible means the ignorance of truth and reality, of the real nature and purpose of things. For example...

- What is the source of man and his world?
- Where have man and his world come from?
- What is the purpose of man and his world? Why are man and his world existing?

- What is the end of man and his world? Is there even a place to go after this life--another world, another life?

Darkness is not knowing these things; it is being ignorant of them. Light is knowing God and His Son, Jesus Christ--that God and Christ stand as the Source and Purpose and end of man and his world. Light is knowing the truth and reality of man and his world: that God created all for Himself, and that He loves and saves all to live with Him eternally--if all will only believe and trust Him.

The forces of evil are the rulers of darkness, the rulers who blind the minds of men lest they believe the glorious gospel of eternal salvation.

5. The forces of evil are spiritual forces of wickedness. They seek to receive the loyalty and devotion that is due God. Therefore, they are after the spirit of man--that part of man that is destined to worship and serve God and exist forever. If they can capture the spirit of man, they have him eternally--his life and presence forever and ever. Therefore, they do all they can to lead man's spirit into wickedness. They are the spiritual forces of wickedness.

Thought 1. Some persons have always scoffed at the idea of a personal devil or demons who actually exist in a so-called spiritual world. They feel they are too educated and intelligent to believe such nonsense. They proclaim that such ideas are outdated and belong to the dark ages of man's ignorance and superstitions. But note a significant fact: man is ever so conscious of what he terms...

- sub-conscious horrors that affect both his mind and body.
- unseen and uncontrollable forces that greatly affect his behavior.
- unregulated behavior that he cannot control even when he knows better and wills to do differently.
- cosmic forces that affect and determine his behavior.
- blind fate that controls his life like a puppet.

F.F. Bruce words it well:

Satan and his demonic forces "rank among the highest angel-princes in the hierarchy of the heavenly places, yet all of them owe their existence to Christ, through whom they were created [Col.1:16], and who is accordingly the head of all principality and power' [Col.2:10]. But some at least of the principalities and powers have embarked upon rebellion against God and not only seek to force men to pay them the worship that is due to Him, but launched an assault upon the crucified Christ at a time when they thought they had Him at their mercy. But He, far from suffering their assault without resistance, grappled with them and overcame them, stripping them of their armour and driving them before Him in His triumphal procession [Col.2:15]. Thus the hostile powers of evil which Christians must encounter are already vanquished powers, but it is only through faith-union with the victorious Christ that Christians can make His triumph theirs" (The Epistle to the Ephesians, p.127f).

Think for a moment and be honest. Think of all the wickedness and evil and wrong-doing and selfishness in the world--all the...

- |              |               |              |
|--------------|---------------|--------------|
| • division   | • war         | • arrogance  |
| • prejudice  | • killing     | • stealing   |
| • favoritism | • arguing     | • lying      |
| • anger      | • selfishness | • cursing    |
| • hate       | • immorality  | • bitterness |
| • pride      |               |              |

The list could go on and on, ad infinitum. The evil of man consumes the news reports every day. Just think about it! Do we not know better? Do not enough of us know better--enough of us that we could change things? Yes we do. Why then do we not change the world? This passage tells us why:

"For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places" (Eph.6:12).

God--because He is God--has to tell us the truth. He cannot do otherwise. Therefore, God reveals to us a fact that is as clearly evident as any other single fact on earth: there is an evil force that has access to the spirit of man and can influence and enslave man to do evil. He is called Satan, who rules over the darkness and spiritual wickedness of this world. The only hope for the believer is to put on the whole armour of God.

"And the devil said unto him, All this power will I give thee, and the glory of them: for that is delivered unto me; and to whomsoever I will I give it" (Lk.4:6).

"And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat" (Lk.22:31).

"But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them" (2 Cor.4:3-4).

"For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places" (Eph.6:12).

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour" (1 Pt.5:8).

Thought 2. The great Greek scholar Kenneth Wuest identifies the forces of evil as follows:

- ⇒ The principalities (arche): “the first ones, preeminent ones, leaders.”
- ⇒ The powers (exousias): “the authorities,” the demons of Satan in the lower atmosphere who constitute his kingdom in the air.”
- ⇒ The rulers of the darkness of this world (kosmokrator): Satan and his demons.
- ⇒ The spiritual wickedness in high places (pneumatika tes ponerias): Satan and all his demonic forces. (Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.141.)

4 (6:13) Spiritual Warfare: there is the duty of the Christian soldier. His duty is to take the whole armour of God.

Note how the believer’s need for the whole armour of God is again stressed. This shows how essential the armour is. We must put on the armour of God. It is an absolute necessity. Why? Because of the “evil day.” What is the “evil day?”

- ⇒ It refers to today--to the onslaught of evil that is in the world today: “the days are evil” (Eph.5:16).
- ⇒ It refers to any day--to the onslaught of temptations and trials that confront us at any given moment during a day.
- ⇒ It refers to the day of unusual temptation and trial--to a special onslaught and barrage of evil that is thrown against us.

We must withstand the day of evil. But we cannot withstand unless we have done our duty--unless we have obeyed and prepared ourselves--unless we have taken the whole armour of God.

“The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness and let us put on the armour of light” (Ro.13:12).

“For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds” (2 Cor.10:4).

“Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses” (1 Tim.6:12).

5 (6:14-17) Spiritual Struggle--Warfare--Armour of God: there is the armour of the Christian soldier. Remember that Paul was in prison and under constant guard when writing the Ephesian church. He was forced to stare at the soldier’s armour day in and day out. He had an ideal picture of the armour needed by the Christian believer to combat the forces of evil.

1. The belt of truth. The belt was used to hold the soldier’s clothing next to his body. This kept his clothing from flapping about and allowed him freedom of movement. The belt was also used to strengthen and support the body. The sign of the Christian soldier is the belt of truth...

- not truth individually or subjectively thought out.
- not truth as a man or a group of men see it.
- not truth that is found in a man’s novel idea.
- not truth that is taught by religion.

Such truth is self-centered and restrictive. Such truth is only from finite man--a being so small, so impure, and so frail that he cannot possibly discover enough truth to embrace all men. He cannot discover enough truth to bring life to man, not eternal life. God and God alone can possess and give enough pure truth to embrace all men. God alone can share the truth of abundant and eternal life.

a. What specifically is the belt of truth? What is God’s truth that the believer is to put on?

- ⇒ First, Christ is the truth. The believer is to put on Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 3--Eph.4:24).

“And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth” (Jn.1:14).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

- ⇒ Second, the Word of God is truth. The believer is to put on the Word of God. He is sanctified by the Word of God.

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:26).

- ⇒ Third, speaking and living a life of truthfulness is the truth.

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

b. Truth does several things for the Christian soldier.

⇒ It keeps him from flapping about from one thing to another, from being tossed to and fro by every attack of the enemy.

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

⇒ It keeps him from becoming entangled with the affairs of this life.

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

⇒ It supports him in the battles and trials of life.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

2. The breastplate of righteousness. The breastplate covered the body of the soldier from the neck to the thighs. It was used to protect the heart. The believer’s heart is focused upon the Lord Jesus Christ and His righteousness, and that focus must be protected. The sign of the Christian soldier is righteousness. When a man is saved, God imputes the righteousness of Jesus Christ to him, or to say it another way, God counts him righteous (see notes--Gal.2:15-16 for discussion). However, it is not enough to stand in the righteousness of Christ. The Christian soldier must protect his heart. This he does by living righteously. Righteousness keeps the heart from ever being wounded and losing its focus. The Christian soldier is...

- to strive after the very righteousness of Jesus Christ.
- to live righteously in this present world.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:11-12).

3. The sandals of the gospel. The sandals were a sign of readiness--readiness to march and to do battle. The Roman sandals were made with nails that gripped the ground firmly even when it was sloping or slippery. The sign of the Christian soldier is readiness--a readiness to march and to bear witness to the gospel. Wherever the Christian soldier’s feet take him, he shares the gospel that can firmly ground a world reeling under the weight of desperate need and conflict.

Thought 1. Lehman Strauss makes a statement about this point that startles the mind of modern man: “The soldier’s shoes are not the dancing slippers of this world or the lounging slippers of the slothful, but the shoes of the Christian warrior who knows Christ and makes Him known” (Galatians and Ephesians, p.232f).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

4. The shield of faith in God. The word “shield” does not mean the small round shield which the soldier held in his hand to fight off the weapons of the enemy. It means the great oblong shield worn by the soldier to protect his body from the fiery darts thrown by the enemy. The darts were dipped in pitch or some other combustible material and set afire. When they struck, they served the purpose of small incendiary bombs. Satan has his fiery darts--those things that cause the believer...

- to question his salvation
- to question his call
- to question if he is worthy
- to question if he can really serve
- to question if the project can really be done
- to question, doubt, and wonder
- to become discouraged, depressed, and defeated
- to burn with passion and desire

Such fiery darts often assault the mind--one doubting and evil thought after the other--fighting against the will--struggling to get hold of the mind and subject it to doubt or evil.

However, the sign of the Christian soldier is that of the shield of faith, faith in God--a complete and perfect trust that God will quench the darts of doubt and evil that attack him, that God will help him control his mind and conquer the evil doubts and thoughts. The Christian soldier's consciousness of God's presence is so great that God's presence itself becomes his shield and defender (Gen.15:1). As Scripture says, God is his help and shield (Ps.33:20; 84:9), his sun and shield (Ps.84:11).

“But thou, O LORD, art a shield for me; my glory, and the lifter up of mine head. I cried unto the LORD with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy hill” (Ps.3:3-4).

“Our soul waiteth for the LORD: he is our help and our shield” (Ps.33:20).

“The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate” (Ps.34:22).

“Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“Behold, O God our shield, and look upon the face of thine anointed” (Ps.84:9).

“For the LORD God is a sun and shield: the LORD will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly” (Ps.84:11).

“It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man” (Ps.118:8).

“The fear of man bringeth a snare: but whoso putteth his trust in the Lord shall be safe” (Pr.29:25).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the Lord for ever: for in the Lord JEHOVAH is everlasting strength” (Is.26:3-4).

“And Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God....Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them” (Mk.11:22, 24).

“Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me” (Acts 27:25).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

5. The helmet of salvation. The helmet covered the head and the mind of the soldier. The head, of course, was the core of a soldier's power to wage war. His thinking ability was the most important factor in determining his victory or defeat. Therefore, the soldier needed a helmet to protect his head and mind. The sign of the Christian soldier is the helmet of salvation (deliverance). He must protect his mind and its thoughts, keeping all thoughts focused upon the Leader, the Lord Jesus Christ, and His objective of reaching the world with the glorious news that men can live forever.

The helmet that protects the mind of the Christian soldier is salvation. Unless a man has been saved, his mind cannot be protected from the fiery darts of temptation. The mind of an unsaved man is focused upon this earth; it is normal and natural for him...

- to seek more and more.
- to possess more and more.
- to look at the opposite sex with desire.
- to taste and indulge the good things of the earth.
- to feel and experience, satisfying his desires and passions.
- to have and hoard even when others have little or nothing.

The unsaved man sees nothing wrong with being his own person and doing his own thing just so he is reasonably considerate of others. His mind and thoughts are upon the earth; and the fiery darts of extravagance, indulgence, pleasure, self-centeredness, worldliness, license, hoarding, and immorality are a part of the unsaved world's daily behavior.

But this is not so with the saved man. The mind of the saved man is focused upon Christ and His mission of sharing the good news of life, both life abundant and life eternal. Because of this, Satan launches his fiery darts of temptation against the mind of the believer, trying to get his thoughts and attention off of Christ and the conquest and ministry to souls. The Christian soldier desperately needs the helmet of salvation. The helmet of salvation means the knowledge and hope of salvation. Knowing that we are saved and hoping for the glorious day of redemption...

- stirs us to keep our minds and thoughts upon Christ and off of sin and this world.
- arouses us to focus upon Christ and His mission to carry the gospel to a needy and dying world.

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

“And he saw that there was no intercessor: therefore his arm brought salvation unto him; and his righteousness, it sustained him. For he put on righteousness as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation upon his head” (Is.59:16-17).

6. The sword of the Spirit is the Word of God. The sword was a weapon used for both defense and offense. The sword was used both to protect and to fight off and slay the enemy. The sign of the Christian soldier is his use of the Word of God. By living in the Scriptures, he protects himself from the onslaught of the enemy; and he fights and wins battle after battle, day after day. Remember: Jesus Christ Himself overcame the onslaught of the devil by using Scripture (Mt.4:4, 7, 10). The written Word is the one weapon that assures victory for the Christian soldier, for the “Word of God is living and active and sharper than any twoedged sword.”

“For the word of God is quick and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

“And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword [God’s Word]: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength” (Rev.1:16).

“And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write; These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges....repent; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth” (Rev.2:12, 16).

“Wherewith shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word” (Ps.119:9).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

6 (6:18-20) Prayer--Spiritual Warfare: there is the supernatural provision of the Christian soldier--prayer--a constant spirit of prayer. The soldier enters the conflict fully dressed and armed, but something else is essential: great confidence and assurance and courage. Such comes from a spirit of prayer.

The following things need to be noted about the soldier's prayer.

1. He must pray--always pray. The soldier who is not always praying is not assured of God's protection. The Christian soldier must pray all the time to maintain a constant unbroken consciousness of God's presence and care. Such infuses the needed assurance, confidence, and courage.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:6).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

“Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

EPHESIANS 6:10-20

2. He must pray “in the Spirit,” that is, in the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of the only living and true God. Prayer to any other god or to one’s own thoughts or to some other man-made god is empty and useless.

“Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered. And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God” (Ro.8:26-27).

3. He must be sleepless in prayer. The Christian soldier must concentrate and persevere in prayer. He must go to the point of being sleepless in prayer--sometimes so intensely involved in prayer that he actually goes without sleep in order to pray.

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man” (Lk.22:26).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

4. He must pray unselfishly. The soldier is not in battle alone; many are engaged in the same warfare. The outcome of the battle is determined by the welfare of all involved. The Christian soldier must pray for those who fight with him. The Christian soldier must pray as much and as intensely for his fellow soldiers as for himself.

“Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints, cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers” (Eph.1:15-16).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

5. He must pray for leaders in particular. Leaders, their decisions and example, often determine the outcome of the battle. The Christian soldier has leaders who teach and preach and administer throughout the church and around the world. Boldness and decisiveness and purity are needed to put the enemy to flight and to capture souls for the gospel (Acts 28:20).

“Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken come upon me” (Acts 8:24).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, for the Lord Jesus Christ’s sake, and for the love of the Spirit, that ye strive together with me in your prayers to God for me” (Ro.15:30).

“Brethren, pray for us” (1 Th.5:25).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

DIVISION V

THE WARFARE OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 6:10-24

B. The Examples of Faithful Christian Soldiers, 6:21-24

(6:21-24) Introduction: this passage presents two Christian soldiers who were faithful to the Lord Jesus Christ. They are a dynamic example for every person who has enlisted in the great army of the Lord.

1. There was the Christian soldier Tychicus (v.21-22).
2. There was the Christian soldier Paul (v.23-24).

1 (6:21-22) Tychicus—Believers: there was the Christian soldier Tychicus (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.6:21-22 for more discussion). Paul says three significant things about this great soldier of Christ.

1. He was a beloved brother: he was a man who had believed in Jesus Christ and demonstrated it by loving others ever so deeply. He treated others as brothers, loving and helping them as he could. Therefore, others counted him as dear to their heart—as a beloved brother.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]” (1 Tim.6:17-18).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

2. He was a faithful minister: a man called and gifted by Christ to preach the gospel and to minister to the needs of God's dear people. He was a man who had a world-wide vision: he gave his life to reach the people of the world with the glorious news that living forever was now possible. And note: he was faithful. There was no slack or slumber, no routine-ness or slothfulness, no complacency or neglect, no questioning or weakening; he did not fail in his ministry. He was a faithful minister—faithful in the Lord. He knew where his strength came from, and he drew his strength from the Lord day by day.

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

3. He was a friend of believers, a messenger of encouragement. Paul was in prison. The believers of Ephesus were concerned about Paul's welfare, and Paul was concerned that they know that he was doing well through the strength of the Lord. But how was Paul going to communicate with the church which was so far away? The answer lay in a dear, dear friend and fellow minister, Tychicus. Note this: Tychicus had his own ministry. He could have been out preaching, witnessing and ministering on his own. Remember he was a world-wide minister, having given his life to world evangelism and missions. Yet, here he was giving his time and energy to helping Paul and serving in Paul's ministry. He is seen giving up a separate ministry in order to serve as a dear friend and fellow minister with Paul. Apparently he was the ideal minister and messenger of encouragement.

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee” (Lk.14:10).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:21-22) Tychicus: Tychicus was a native of Asia. He was a companion of Paul who often travelled with him (Acts 20:4).

- ⇒ He was commissioned by Paul as a messenger to various churches (Eph.6:21f; Col.4:7; 2 Tim.4:12; Tit.3:12).
- ⇒ He was entrusted to deliver the letters of Paul to the Ephesians, Colossians, and Philemon (Eph.6:21-22; Col.4:7-8).
- ⇒ He was sent on a special mission to Ephesus (2 Tim.4:12).
- ⇒ He was to be sent to Crete for the purpose of relieving Titus (Tit.3:12).
- ⇒ He was called not only Paul’s beloved brother and faithful minister, but also his fellow-slave (Col.4:7).

2 (6:23-24) Paul—Believers: there was the Christian soldier Paul. A glimpse into Paul’s heart can be gleaned from these two verses.

1. Paul was a spiritual brother to other believers. Note that his concern was for the spiritual welfare of others.
  - a. He invoked peace upon them (see note, Peace—Eph.2:14-15; Gal.1:3; 5:22-23 for discussion).
  - b. He invoked love upon them (see note, Love—Eph.2:4-5; Gal.5:13-15; 5:14; 5:22-23 for discussion).
  - c. He invoked faith upon them (see note, Faith or Faithful—Eph.1:1-2; 2:8-10; Gal.5:22-23; cp. Gal.2:15-16; 2:16; 2:19-21; 3:6-14 for discussion).
2. Paul was a prayer warrior for other believers. He prayed that God’s grace would rest upon them. (See note, Grace—Eph.2:8-9; 2:8-10 for discussion.)

PHILIPPIANS

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE PHILIPPIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

Clement of Rome, who lived in the first century, wrote a letter to the Corinthians and referred to Paul's letter to the Philippians. Polycarp, who lived in the second century, wrote the Philippians and mentioned Paul's letter. Ignatius, another early church leader, alluded to it. There are other references to Paul's authorship by Irenaeus, Clement of Alexandria, and Tertullian—all early church writers (Ralph P. Martin. The Epistle of Paul to the Philippians. "Tyndale Bible Commentaries," ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1959, p.28, 36).

DATE: Uncertain. Probably somewhere around A.D. 60-63 while Paul was in prison at Rome.

The letter has been listed among Paul's Prison Epistles along with Ephesians, Colossians, and Philemon. Paul says, "My bonds became manifest in Christ throughout the whole Praetorian Guard and to all the rest" (Ph.1:13), and he conveys a greeting from those "that are of Caesar's household" (Ph.4:22). The Praetorian Guard seems to be the Praetorian Guard of Rome, the elite soldiers who were hand-chosen to guard and serve the emperor.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To all the saints in Jesus Christ which are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons" (Ph.1:1). The message is certainly applicable to all the saints of every church.

PURPOSE: Paul wrote Philippians for several reasons.

1. He wished to prevent any criticism against a very dear friend and servant of Christ, Epaphroditus. Epaphroditus had been sent by the Philippian church to deliver a gift and to encourage Paul while he was a prisoner in Rome. But Epaphroditus became extremely sick, almost to the point of death, while with Paul. His return to Philippi was delayed, apparently for a long time. Because of this, Paul feared criticism of Epaphroditus by the church. They might think he was a weakling or a quitter. So Paul wrote to ease the path for Epaphroditus and to prevent any criticism of him (Ph.2:25-30).

Paul wished to thank the Philippian church for its help throughout his ministry. They had sent him a gift right after he had founded the church and moved on (Ph.1:5; 4:15; 2 Cor.8:1f). They had also sent gifts to him at Thessalonica (Ph.4:16) and at Corinth (2 Cor.11:9). And now they sent him not only a gift, but even more, a dear, dear saint to minister to his needs while he was in prison (Ph.2:25-30; 4:18).

3. Paul wished to call the church to unity and harmony. There were two ladies who quarreled and were causing a disturbance (Ph.4:2; cp. 1:27; 2:2-4, 14). It is this disturbance that calls forth one of the greatest pictures of Christ in the Holy Scriptures (Ph.2:5-11).

4. Paul wished to deal with some false teachers who were just beginning to arise in the church (Ph.3:2f).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Philippi. Philippi was the gateway to Europe. It lay on the great Roman road known as the Egnatian Way. The city was named after Philip of Macedonia, the father of Alexander the Great. The site was a natural fortress, sitting on a range of hills that separated Europe from Asia, the East from the West. The city was a strategic center commanding the great Egnatian Way.

Philippi was also a proud Roman colony. In fact, it was famous as a miniature Rome. A city became a Roman colony in one of two ways. At first Rome founded colonies throughout the outer reaches of the Empire to keep the peace and to guard against invasions from barbaric hordes. Veteran soldiers, ready for retirement, were usually granted citizenship if they would go out and settle these colonies. Later on, however, a city was granted the distinctive title of a Roman Colony for loyalty and service to the Empire. The distinctive thing about these colonies was their fanatic loyalty to Rome. The citizens kept all their Roman ties, the Roman language, titles, customs, affairs, and dress. They refused to allow any infiltration of local influence whatsoever. They totally rejected the influence of the world around them. They were Roman colonists within an alien environment.

A picture of the loyalty of the Philippian Colony to its Roman citizenship is seen in Acts 16:20-21. Paul draws an illustration from the loyalty of these colonies and says to the Philippian church, "Our citizenship is in heaven" (Ph.3:20).

The city of Philippi fit right into Paul's master plan. Its strategic location on the Egnatian Way assured the spread of the gospel throughout the Roman Empire. As Paul carried on his ministry, he was moving toward Rome and the regions beyond into Spain. He knew that the converts from Philippi, whose employment took them from Philippi throughout the Empire, could move on out ahead of him. Some time could be gained and some ground could be laid to assure world evangelization sooner (cp. Acts 28:13f).

2. The Church at Philippi. Acts 16:1-40 describes the founding of the Philippian church on Paul's second missionary journey. It is one of the most exciting adventures in all of literature. Philippi witnessed the entrance of the gospel into Europe. Paul had made several attempts to go elsewhere, but the Holy Spirit prohibited him (Acts 16:6-7); therefore, he made his way to Troas, not really knowing why. While in Troas Paul experienced the incredible vision of a man in Macedonia crying out, "Come over and help us." Through that one vision, the Holy Spirit changed the cradle of society. He thrust Paul forth into Europe with the glorious gospel of Christianity, and since that day, the world has never been the same.

From Troas, Paul landed at the European or Macedonian port of Neapolis and immediately made his way to the strategic city of Philippi. When Paul arrived in Philippi he found what he calls "a crooked and perverse generation" (Ph.2:15). He also found a small nucleus of women who had a Jewish background to which he could appeal. From this group there were two significant conversions: Lydia, a prominent business woman, and an unnamed slave girl who was possessed with a spirit of fortune-telling. Later on there was also a Roman jailer and his household who were converted. Paul was soon attacked and imprisoned and forced to leave Philippi. Consequently, the church had only a small beginning under Paul's personal leadership.

When Paul left, Luke remained with the handful of converts (Acts 17:1). The church met at Lydia's house and continued to grow (Acts 16:40). The converts came primarily from the pagan Gentile world (Ph.2:25; 4:2-3; Ro.15:26-27).

The strength of the Philippian church is seen in the fact that the church continued to support Paul throughout his ministry despite the little time he had with them. They supported him even while they themselves were suffering and being persecuted (cp. Ph.1:7, 27-30; 2:15; 3:10-11; 4:1). No wonder Paul called them "brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown" (Ph.4:1) and boasted of them to other churches (2 Cor.8:1f).

3. Philippians is "The Most Personal of Paul's Epistles." It is written to a church dearly loved by the minister (cp. Ph.4:1).

4. Philippians is "The Epistle of Stewardship" (see Purpose, point 2).

5. Philippians is "The Epistle of Joy." The words "joy" and "rejoicing" are used sixteen times in four short chapters.

6. Philippians is "The Epistle That Stresses the Little Phrase 'In Christ' or 'In the Lord'." The whole thesis of Paul is that life is "in Christ" and that Christ is to be "in life" (cp. Ph.1:13, 14, 26, 29; 2:1, 5, 19, 24, 29; 3:1, 4, 9, 14; 4:1, 4, 6-7, 10, 13, 17, 21).

OUTLINE OF PHILIPPIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you--verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Philippians have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Philippians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

Paul and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons:
2 Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

DIVISION I

THE MARKS OF GOD'S PEOPLE, 1:3-30

A. The Marks of a Healthy Church, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: this is a most unusual greeting to a church from Paul. He does not refer to himself as an apostle of Jesus Christ. Why? There was no need for him to defend his call from God. His relationship with the church at Philippi was just what it should be: a relationship founded and rooted in Jesus Christ and in the love and respect for each other. The church held its minister, Paul, ever so closely to its heart; they loved and cared for him as few churches love and care for their ministers. This greeting gives some outstanding distinctives of Christian believers.

1. A healthy church discip-
ples young people (v.1).
2. A healthy church serves Christ (v.1).
3. A healthy church is full of true saints (v.1).
4. A healthy church has leaders who lead by example (v.1).
5. A healthy church experiences grace and peace (v.2).

1 (1:1) Discipleship—Young People: a healthy church discip-ples young people. In the words “Paul and Timothy” we see a father and son in the faith—the adult and the young person together. There was deep affection that bound Paul and Timothy together. That affection found its root and purpose in the mission of the Lord Jesus Christ. Paul contributed the wisdom of experience, and Timothy the hope and vibrant energy of youth. It should be noted that the adult, Paul, is mentioned first. The adult always holds the primary responsibility and privilege for taking hold of young people and making disciples of them. This was the command of the Lord’s great commission; therefore, the believer must always keep his focus upon finding young people and making disciples of them (see note, Discipleship—Mt.28:19-20 for more discussion). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Timothy—Acts 16:1-3 for discussion on Timothy’s life.)

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching [making disciples] them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

2 (1:1) Servants—Slaves (doulos): a healthy church serves Jesus Christ, really serves Him. The word “servant” (doulos) is the word bond-slave in Greek. There is a distinct difference between a servant and a slave. A servant is free to work for whomever he wishes; a slave is bought and purchased—completely and totally owned by a master. A slave is bound by law to his master.

Paul calls himself and Timothy the slaves of Jesus Christ. A look at the slave market of Paul’s day shows more clearly what Paul meant when he said he was a “slave of Jesus Christ.”

1. The slave was owned by his master; he was totally possessed by his master. This is what Paul meant. Paul was purchased and possessed by Christ. Christ had looked upon him and had seen his degraded and needful condition. And when Christ looked, the most wonderful thing happened: Christ loved him and bought him. Therefore, he was now the possession of Christ.

2. The slave existed for his master and he had no other reason for existence. He had no personal rights whatsoever. The same was true with Paul: he existed only for Christ. His rights were the rights of Christ only.

3. The slave served his master and he existed only for the purpose of service. He was at the master’s disposal any hour of the day. So it was with Paul: he lived only to serve Christ—hour by hour and day by day.

4. The slave’s will belonged to his master. He was allowed no will and no ambition other than the will and ambition of the master. He was completely subservient to the master and owed total obedience to the will of the master. Paul belonged to Christ. In fact, he even said that he fought and struggled to bring every thought into captivity “to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5, esp. 5).

5. There is a fifth and most precious thing that Paul meant by his being “a slave of Jesus Christ.” He meant that he had the highest and most honored and kingly profession in all the world. Men of God, the greatest men of history, have always been called “the servants of God.” It was the highest title of honor. The believer’s slavery to Jesus Christ is no cringing, cowardly, or shameful subjection. It is the position of honor—the honor that bestows upon a man the privileges and responsibilities of serving the King of kings and Lord of lords.

- ⇒ Moses was the slave of God (Dt.34:5; Ps.105:26; Mal.4:4).
- ⇒ Joshua was the slave of God (Josh.24:9).
- ⇒ David was the slave of God (2 Sam.3:18; Ps.78:70).
- ⇒ Paul was the slave of Jesus Christ (Ro.1:1; Ph.1:1; Tit.1:1).
- ⇒ James was the slave of God (Jas.1:1).
- ⇒ Jude was the slave of God (Jude 1).
- ⇒ The prophets were the slaves of God (Amos 3:7; Jer.7:25).
- ⇒ Christian believers are said to be the slaves of Jesus Christ (Acts 2:18; 1 Cor.7:22; Eph.6:6; Col.4:12; 2 Tim.2:24).

Thought 1. The great need today is for men and women to become slaves of the Lord Jesus Christ. We must become His slaves and do what He says. Then and only then will the world be reached with the glorious news of eternal life. Then and only then will the desperate needs of the world be met.

“If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour” (Jn.12:26; cp. Ro.12:1; 1 Cor.15:58).

“[Laboring] not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:6-7).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“And ye shall serve the Lord your God” (Ex.23:25).

“What doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

“Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing” (Ps.100:2).

3 (1:1) Saints—Sanctified—Holy: a healthy church is full of true saints. The Bible never uses the word saint to refer to a few people in the church who have achieved unusual spiritual maturity. The word saints refers to the sanctified or holy ones. It simply means to be set apart and to be separated. Therefore, every believer who has truly trusted Jesus Christ as his Savior is separated from the world and set apart to live for God. Every true believer is a “saint,” a person set apart unto God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Pt.1:15-16 for more discussion.) There are three stages of sanctification.

1. There is initial or positional sanctification. When a person believes in Christ, he is immediately set apart for God—once and for all—permanently.

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus” (Heb.3:1).

“By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all” (Heb.10:10).

2. There is progressive sanctification. The true believer makes a determined and disciplined effort to allow the Spirit of God to set him apart day by day. The Spirit of God takes him and conforms him into the image of Christ more and more—for as long as he walks upon this earth.

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:25-26).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it” (1 Th.5:23-24).

3. There is eternal sanctification. The day is coming when the believer will be perfectly set apart unto God and His service—without any sin or failure whatsoever. That day will be the great and glorious day of the believer’s eternal redemption.

PHILIPPIANS 1:1-2

“That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish” (Eph.5:27).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

Thought 1. We are the property of the Lord Jesus, set apart as His holy possession. Let us, therefore, live as the possession of the Lord. Let us walk as the separated people of God, living holy and righteous and pure lives.

Thought 2. Lehman Strauss points out the following (Devotional Studies in Philippians. Neptune, NJ: Loizeaux Brothers, 1959, p.32f).

1) God is a thrice-holy God.

“And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory” (Is.6:3).

“And the four beasts had each of them six wings about him; and they were full of eyes within: and they rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come” (Rev.4:8).

2) The Lord Jesus Christ who saved us is holy.

“For of a truth against thy holy child Jesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the people of Israel, were gathered together” (Acts 4:27).

“And now, Lord, behold their threatenings: and grant unto thy servants, that with all boldness they may speak thy word, by stretching forth thine hand to heal; and that signs and wonders may be done by the name of thy holy child Jesus” (Acts 4:29-30).

3) The Spirit of God who indwells our bodies is holy.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

4) The Bible, which is to be the guide of our lives, is called the Holy Scripture.

“Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures” (Ro.1:2).

5) One of the names given to us is that of holy brothers.

“I charge you by the Lord that this epistle be read unto all the holy brethren” (1 Th.5:27).

“Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High priest of our profession, Christ Jesus” (Heb.3:1).

6) One of the great gifts of God is to make us a holy priesthood before God.

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

7) The great call of God to us is a holy calling.

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began” (2 Tim.1:9).

8) The great purpose for the Lord’s return is to present us holy before God.

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unproveable in his sight” (Col.1:21-22).

9) One of the great inheritances we shall receive when the Lord returns is the holy city.

“And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband” (Rev.21:2).

In light of all that God has done for us, how can we do anything less than to live a sanctified, holy life before God? How can we be lethargic and complacent, sleepy-eyed, and unmotivated? How can we allow ourselves to live lives of routine and unconcern? How can we live lives of indulgence, license, selfishness, immorality, perversion, wickedness, and evil?

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation [behavior] and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” (2 Pt.3:10-12).

4 (1:1) Bishops—Deacons: a healthy church organizes for ministry and has leaders who lead by example. Note that both bishops and deacons are mentioned as being in the Philippian church. What Paul is doing is addressing the leaders of the church and setting them apart from the membership whom he addressed as “saints.” This is significant, for it means that the leadership or officers of the early church are here named: they were bishops and deacons. A complete discussion of these two offices is given elsewhere (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Bishop—Tit.1:5-9; note, Deacons—Acts 6:1-7; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Tim.3:8-13). The point to see in this passage is that believers organize for ministry.

1. The bishops (episkopois) were apparently the same as the elders (presbuteros) or ministers of a church. The two words are used interchangeably to refer to the same men (Acts 20:17, 28; Tit.1:5, 7). The word “bishop” means to oversee, look after, manage. The instructions in the Epistle of Titus say that his duties included primarily exhortation and overseeing the lives of the believers. The bishop was the person whom we call the minister of the church. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Tit.1:5-9 for full discussion.)

2. The deacons (diakonoi) were spiritually minded men who had dedicated their lives to the Lord to minister to the saints of God. They were persons who were chosen to minister to the widows and widowers and to the poor and sick of a church in order to free the minister to concentrate on prayer and preaching. But note a significant fact:

⇒ Preachers are sometimes called deacons, that is servants.

“Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers [diakonoi] by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every man?” (1 Cor.3:5).

“Who also hath made us able ministers [diakonous] of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life” (2 Cor.3:6).

⇒ The first deacons preached as well as ministered to the needy of the church.

“And Stephen [a deacon], full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people” (Acts 6:8).

“Then Philip [a deacon] went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them” (Acts 8:5).

Thought 1. Two significant points need to be stressed.

- 1) The church must organize for ministry and must always be careful to ordain only persons who have proven to be spiritually mature in the Lord.
- 2) The two ordained officers of the church must be diligent in both their duty and in sharing the Word of the Lord. Every believer is needed to bear witness for the Lord Jesus and the leadership must take the lead. How can we expect others to be witnessing and ministering if we, the leadership, are not witnessing and ministering?

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“She hath done what she could: she is come aforehand to anoint my body to the burying” (Mk.14:8).

“For unto whosoever much is given, of him shall be much required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more” (Lk.12:48).

“If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another’s feet” (Jn.13:14).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“For we are labourers together with God: ye are God’s husbandry, ye are God’s building” (1 Cor.3:9).

“We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain” (2 Cor.6:1).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ: to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever” (1 Pt.4:11).

5 (1:2) Grace—Peace: a healthy church experiences grace and peace (see notes, Grace—Gal.1:3; Eph.2:8-9; Peace—Gal.1:3; 5:22-23 for discussion).

DIVISION I

THE MARKS OF GOD'S PEOPLE, 1:3-30

B. The Marks of Mature Believers, 1:3-11

(1:3-11) Introduction: What are the marks of a mature Christian believer? What are the marks of a dynamic, mature Christian church? This passage answers these questions. Concisely and clearly, the marks so desperately needed by believers and churches are spelled out.

1. The mark of a thankful heart (v.3).
2. The mark of prayer (v.4).
3. The mark of joy (v.4).
4. The mark of fellowship (v.5).
5. The mark of confidence in God's salvation (v.6).
6. The mark of partnership (v.7-8).
7. The mark of a growing and discerning love (v.9-10).
8. The mark of righteousness (v.11).

1 (1:3) Brotherhood—Fellowship—Church: there is the mark of a thankful heart. Paul did not stand alone in the world. He was not the only person living for God and sharing Christ. He belonged to a great family, a family of believers who constituted the family of God. They, too, were living for God and sharing Christ with a lost and needful world. Remember that Paul was in prison in Rome and that he was a great distance from the Philippian believers. He did not have their presence; all he had was the memory of their time together. And sitting there in prison, remembering their love and care and support, his heart swelled up with thanksgiving for them, and he thanked God for them.

Thought 1. What a lesson for us! If Paul thanked God for believers who were so far away from him, how much more should we thank God for each other. We have the love and care and support of each other week by week and day by day, and we can call upon each other for help any hour of any day. Yet how often do we thank God for each other?

Another point is this: we should be following Paul's example and thanking God for all believers every day. We are not alone in the world. God is building a body of people world-wide—a body of people who are just like us—committed to live for the Lord Jesus Christ and to carry His gospel of salvation and love and care to a world that reels under the weight of desperate need.

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

“And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful” (Col.3:15).

2 (1:4) Prayer: there is the mark of prayer. Paul says that he always prayed for the church. The idea is that he prayed all throughout the day for them. They were constantly on his mind and in his prayers. As Matthew Henry says, Paul prayed by name for all the churches he knew, and he had seasons of prayer for each church (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.6. Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, no date listed, p.724.

Thought 1. What a dynamic lesson in prayer!

- 1) To pray by name for all the churches we know.
- 2) To take blocks of time (seasons of prayers) to pray for each church.
- 3) To always—all day long—pray for the churches of our living Lord.

“Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word” (Jn.17:20).

“For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you [the Roman church] always in my prayers” (Ro.1:9).

“[I] cease not to give thanks for you [the Ephesian church], making mention of you in my prayers” (Eph.1:16).

“For this cause [the church] I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Eph.3:14).

“We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you [the church]” (Col.1:3).

“Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God” (Col.4:12).

“We give thanks to God always for you [the church] all, making mention of you in our prayers” (1 Th.1:2).

3 (1:4) Joy: there is the mark of joy. Remember that Paul is in prison, yet his heart is filled with joy. Joy (chara) means an inner gladness; a deep seated pleasure. It is a depth of assurance and confidence that ignites a cheerful and rejoicing heart. It is a cheerful heart that leads to cheerful and rejoicing behavior.

The joy of the Lord is not the same as the joy of the world. The joy of the world is more of a temporary pleasure than joy. The world’s joy is always nagged by some incompleteness, some lack, some unfulfilling thing, some missing ingredient, some need still existing. There is not a completeness—not a complete sense of assurance, confidence, and satisfaction. There is the knowledge, the haunting awareness, that something can go wrong: circumstances can change or some situation can arise to disturb the joy (sickness, death, financial loss, war). The haunting awareness always keeps the world’s joy from being full and complete, assuring and satisfying.

Several things need to be said about the believer’s joy.

1. Joy is divine. It is possessed and given only by God. Its roots are not in earthly or material things or cheap triumphs. It is the joy of the Holy Spirit, a joy based in the Lord. It is His very own joy (Jn.15:11; Acts 13:52; Ro.14:17; Gal.5:22; 1 Th.1:6).
2. Joy does not depend on circumstances or happiness. Happiness depends upon happenings, but the joy that God implants in the believer’s heart overrides all, even the matters of life and death (Ps.5:11; 2 Cor.6:10; 7:4).
3. Joy springs from faith (Ro.15:13; Ph.1:25; 2 Tim.1:4; cp. Mt.2:10).
4. Joy of future reward makes and keeps the believer faithful (Mt.25:21, 23; Acts 20:24; Heb.12:2).

The source of the believer’s joy is severalfold.

1. The fellowship of the Father and His Son brings joy (1 Jn.1:3-4).
2. Victory over sin, death, and hell brings joy (Jn.14:28; 16:20-22).
3. Repentance brings joy (Lk.15:7, 10).
4. The hope of glory brings joy (Ro.14:17; Heb.12:2; 1 Pt.4:13).
5. The Lord’s Word—the revelations, commandments, and promises which He made—brings joy (Jn.15:11).
6. The commandments of Christ and the will of God bring joy. Obeying and doing a good job stirs joy within the believer’s heart (Jn.15:11, 32; 17:13; Acts 13:52).
7. Prayer brings joy (Jn.16:24).
8. The presence and fellowship of believers brings joy (1 Jn.1:3-4).
9. Converts bring joy (Lk.15:5; Ph.4:1; 1 Th.2:19-20).
10. Hearing that others walk in the truth brings joy (3 Jn.1:4).
11. Giving brings joy (2 Cor.8:2; Heb.10:34).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

“Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore” (Ps.16:11).

“Therefore with joy shall ye draw water out of the wells of salvation” (Is.12:3).

“I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels” (Is.61:10).

4 (1:5) Fellowship: there is the mark of fellowship. Note two significant points.

1. The source of fellowship is the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, the great salvation of God. The gospel of Christ is the glorious news that He has died for our sins, risen again, and conquered death that we might live with God eternally, never having to die (cp. 1 Cor.15:3). Christian believers have fellowship, a spiritual bond, a spiritual union because...

- they have experienced the same salvation, the salvation of God.
- they have embraced the same faith.

Forcefully stated, genuine believers—believers who have totally committed their lives to the gospel of Christ—live and proclaim the gospel. Therefore, true believers are bound together around the gospel—all living the same kind of life and doing the same kind of things. They live, serve, and bear witness to the same Lord; therefore, their lives are bound together in the Spirit of Christ and His fellowship.

2. The fellowship of believers is to exist from the very first day of salvation. What a glorious testimony the Philippian church had! It had been about ten years since some of the members had given their lives to follow Christ and had founded the church. And note: the fellowship of the church had continued from the very first day of its founding. As all churches experience, there must have been differences and problems which had arisen, but the believers handled them in Christ—just as they should have. Therefore, the peace and unity of the Spirit was kept alive and the fellowship of the church remained strong. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Fellowship—Acts 2:42 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. One of the most critical needs facing the church today is the need for peace and unity in the Spirit of God—a strong fellowship rooted around the gospel of Christ. Lehman Strauss gives the secret: “There was no conflict, no confusion, but continuance. A continuing fellowship is a prayer fellowship. Today a very narrow conception of fellowship prevails. If we attend the same church, recite the same creed, say the same prayers, eat at the same church supper, and socialize with the same crowd, we call this Christian fellowship. But is it? For years I have watched all of these things going on among professing Christians where there was often little conception of true fellowship in the gospel. Among Christians there may be difficulties and disappointments along the way, but never a disruption where there is prayer fellowship” (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.42).

“And they continued stedfastly in the apostles’ doctrine and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers” (Acts 2:42).

“That is, that I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me” (Ro.1:12).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“I am a companion of all them that fear thee, and of them that keep thy precepts” (Ps.119:63).

“Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

5 (1:6) Power, God’s—Confidence—Assurance: there is the mark of confidence in God’s salvation. God will complete His good work in believers. Confidence and assurance are two of the striking traits of genuine believers. Believers know God, know Him personally. God’s Spirit actually lives within the heart and body of the believer (Jn.14:16-17; 14:26; 1 Cor.19:20; etc.). The Spirit of God actually bears witness with the spirit of the believer, that he is going to be redeemed someday—presented perfect before God. In fact, the presence of the Holy Spirit within the believer’s body is the very guarantee of the believer’s salvation (cp. 2 Cor.1:22; 5:5; Eph.1:14).

1. The believer has absolute confidence in the work of salvation or redemption which God has begun in his life. He has confidence through the presence of God’s Spirit who dwells within him.

2. The work begun by God is a good work; that is, it is a work that revolutionizes or radically changes the life of the believer. No matter what kind of life a person was living, once God converts him, the new believer begins to live a good life: a life of..

- righteousness, purity, and holiness.
- love, joy, and peace.
- faith, humility, and control.

3. The good work is incomplete as long as the believer lives on this earth. He is never perfected, not while a man. There is always work for God to do; therefore, God is always working within the life of the believer to mature him more and more. God is always working to make the man more and more pure and more and more faithful in his service to the Lord Jesus.

4. The good work is to be completed when Jesus Christ returns to this earth. At that time, the believer will be transformed into a perfect man and given a perfect body. He will become a perfect man who will live in the new heavens and earth with Christ. And he will worship and serve the Lord Jesus in perfection throughout all eternity.

“And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are” (Jn.17:11).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:7).

“...I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:8).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

“He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness [the Holy Spirit] in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son” (1 Jn.5:10).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever” (Jude 24-25).

“Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth” (Rev.3:10).

“And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of” (Gen.28:15).

“O love the LORD, all ye his saints: for the LORD preserveth the faithful” (Ps.31:23).

“For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever” (Ps.37:28).

“The LORD will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O LORD, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands” (Ps.138:8).

6 (1:7-8) Sympathy—Service—Ministry: there is the mark of “Christian partnership” (Barclay, William. The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1957, p.21.) Note how closely bound together Paul and the church were.

1. They were partners in heart. Paul loved them as he loved himself; he held them ever so dear to his heart and they constantly filled his thoughts.

2. They were partners in the sufferings of Paul. This means...

- that they were sympathizing with Paul in his imprisonment.
- that they were sending hope to Paul while he was in prison.
- that they had or were themselves suffering because of the gospel just as Paul was.

The point is this: the affection between Paul and the Philippians was so tender that their hearts went out to each other. What one experienced, the other felt, even the sufferings of each other.

Thought 1. What a striking picture of the kind of sympathy needed for those who suffer. We must learn to be partners in suffering. Then and only then can we bear each other’s burdens and truly minister to each other.

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:17-18).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

3. They were partners in the gospel. The Philippians had not given up the gospel, nor had they become silent or complacent in sharing the gospel. They were actively defending and proclaiming the truth of the gospel. The church and its members were busy for Christ—actively bearing witness to the saving grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. They were taking the great commission of our Lord seriously.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

4. They were partners in the grace of God. Paul was expressing the wonderful grace of God—the favor and blessings of God. And the Philippian church was expressing the same grace. God was pouring the richest blessings upon both Paul and the church. Why? What was it that was causing God to so richly bless these two? Their faithfulness: as this passage shows, they were bearing the marks of mature believers.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

“Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.2:1).

5. They were partners with Christ. The word “bowels” (splanchnois) means tender mercies, compassion, deep affection. And note: it is the tenderness of Jesus Christ that Paul says he has for the Philippians. He longs for them with the very affection and tenderness of Christ Himself.

Thought 1. How desperately the minister and church need such tenderness and affection for each other! What a tremendous difference would exist in churches if believers held each other ever so tenderly—held each other with the tenderness and affection of Christ Himself.

Thought 2. The great need of the church today is for partnership—partnership among its members. Believers desperately need to become partners with each other and with the minister of God:

- ⇒ partners in heart
- ⇒ partners in suffering
- ⇒ partners in proclaiming and defending the gospel
- ⇒ partners in the grace of God
- ⇒ partners with the Lord Jesus Christ

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if we have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Wherefore when we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to be left at Athens alone” (1 Th.3:1).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

7 (1:9-10) Love: there is the mark of a growing and discerning love. Note this: love in the Bible never focuses upon good feelings. Feelings may and usually do come to the person who truly loves another person, but feelings are never the focus—not with true love. What then is the focus?

- ⇒ The focus of love is knowledge. If we truly love someone, we want to know that person. In fact, we want to know all we can about the person.
- ⇒ The force of love is judgment (aisthesei). The word means intelligence or discernment. If we truly love someone, we not only want to know a person but we want to learn all we can about the person. We want to gather all the intelligence and facts possible and discern them so that we can please the person.

Note that Paul wants the believer’s love to grow more and more. We need to know more and more about Christ and each other; we need to gather more and more understanding, more and more discernment, more and more intelligence about each other. The more we know about Christ and each other, the more our love for each other will grow.

There are three reasons why we need a love that grows more and more.

1. A growing love is needed to approve things that are excellent. It is not enough just to know what is right and wrong. It is not enough just to do what is right. Sometimes the choice is between the good and the excellent, the acceptable and the best. Only a growing love will stir us to choose the excellent and the best.

⇒ The more we love the Lord, the more we will choose the excellent and best for Him.

⇒ The more we love each other, the more we will choose the excellent and best for each other. A growing love will not want to do anything that would even come close to causing a person to stumble.

2. A growing love is needed to be sincere and pure. The word sincere (eilikrineis) means to sift about through a sieve in order to make pure. Therefore, the word means pure, uncontaminated, not polluted, untainted. Note that we are to stay pure until the return of Christ. Only a growing love will keep our eyes focused upon Christ. If we do not love Him, we will not look to Him. If we love Him, we will keep our eyes fastened upon Him, longing to see and be with Him. Only love—true love—will keep us pure waiting for His return.

Thought 1. A good illustration of this point is found in the young lady who loves the soldier and is awaiting his return. If she truly loves him, she will keep her eyes fastened upon him and keep herself pure.

3. A growing love is needed to keep us from causing others to stumble. We must always guard against being an offense (aproskopoï) or a stumblingblock to others. Note: we must be willing to choose the best and the excellent for the sake of others. We may be able to control, but others may not be able to control...

- drinking
- television
- movies
- dancing
- social functions
- eating
- the latest fashion and dress
- makeup

The list could go on and on with almost everything we do. We must control everything we do, not slipping over into the questionable—sometimes not even doing the acceptable and good, but we must choose the best. Approve only the things that are excellent. Why?

⇒ To keep from causing a brother to stumble.

⇒ To offer up to the Lord the very best we can. This point should break our hearts. Just think how often we have chosen to do less than the best for our Lord. We have offered up to Him behavior, words, thoughts, deeds, works that were second best—and we knew it! How His heart must have been cut—especially when He went to the ultimate limit in loving and giving Himself for us.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

8 (1:11) Righteousness: there is the mark of righteousness. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Righteousness—Eph.5:9; 6:14-17, pt.2 for discussion. Cp. also Gal.2:15-16; 3:6-14.)

DIVISION I

THE MARKS OF GOD'S PEOPLE, 1:3-30

C. The Marks of a Mature Witness, 1:12-19

(1:12-19) Introduction: circumstances often throw and defeat people. The maturity of a person can be seen by how well he handles the things that happen to him—the things that affect a person with mood changes ranging from mild to severe. The one thing that a believer must do is to learn to live above circumstances—to keep his witness for Christ strong and mature. This is the subject of the present passage: the marks of a mature witness.

1. He shares the gospel regardless of circumstances (v.12-14).
2. He holds no personal jealousy nor desire for credit or prestige (v.15-18).
3. He possesses the assurance of a happy ending: salvation (v.19).

1 (1:12-14) Witnessing—Believer: a mature witness shares the gospel regardless of circumstances. Note two significant points.

1. Paul faced dark circumstances: he was a prisoner in Rome. The dark circumstances stared Paul right in the face. No circumstances could ever be any more severe—no matter what they were. Paul was waiting to appear before the Supreme Court of Rome: he was facing a trial before Nero, the Roman Emperor, and he was innocent. He had done nothing that should cause his arrest and imprisonment. Yet there he was, and he was having to wait the arrival of his Jewish prosecutors with their trumped-up and malicious charges. True, he had some privileges—renting his own house and receiving friends—but these privileges were minor when the strains of his sufferings are seen. He was imprisoned for over two years, and as is the case with all prisoners, the days wore on ever so slowly—hour by hour and day after day. Whatever pressures hang over a man's head who is awaiting a trial that is to determine whether he lives or dies hung over Paul's head. As he says in Eph.3:13, his tribulations were intense and protracted.

But note something: Paul...

- did not grumble and complain
- did not question God and wonder why
- did not whine and murmur
- did not fall to pieces
- did not curse God nor give up his faith

2. Paul used his dark circumstances to spread the gospel. Paul did not see himself as a prisoner of Rome nor of Nero. He saw himself as a prisoner for Jesus Christ. He did not see himself as a victim; he saw himself as a conqueror for Jesus Christ. In Acts 28:20 Paul says he was "bound with this chain," and in Eph.6:20 he calls himself an "ambassador in bonds." The word "halusis" is used. The "halusis" was a small length of chain that bound a prisoner to the wrist of a guard to prevent his escape. Just imagine! Paul was bound to a Roman guard every day and night for over two years. What do you suppose Paul talked about with the guards? He tells us: "The things which happened to me have fallen out to the furtherance of the gospel."

- a. Paul spread the gospel through the Praetorian Guard, the elite of the Roman army. These soldiers were the Imperial Guard of Rome, men who had been hand-picked to protect the emperor and to carry out the major armed functions of the state. There were sixteen thousand of them, most of whom were stationed in Rome at any given time (William Barclay, The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.26). It was these soldiers who guarded and were chained to the wrist of Paul day and night for two years—young men who were the elite of Roman youth. How many Paul led to the Lord is unknown. But note: Christ was shared so much that the gospel spread throughout...
- the whole Praetorian guard.
  - the palace of the emperor.
  - all other places.

Paul—his imprisonment and stand for Christ and the gospel which he preached—became the conversation throughout Rome, the conversation among all the social circles including the upper strata, the very palace of the emperor himself.

Thought 1. The lesson for us is this: we must never let circumstances get us down—never let them defeat our testimony and witness for Christ, no matter what they are...

- |                  |                       |                |
|------------------|-----------------------|----------------|
| • persecution    | • bankruptcy          | • imprisonment |
| • accident       | • sin                 | • age          |
| • failure        | • loss of a loved one | • abuse        |
| • financial loss | • rejection           | • poverty      |
| • divorce        |                       |                |

If we are living for Christ, we must know that God is in control of our lives. He will strengthen us to bear whatever circumstances fall upon us. We must use the circumstances to witness to the saving power of Christ—to the eternal hope He gives of forgiveness and of living forever. We must witness to all around us when we...

- lie in the bed of sickness
- are in the midst of death
- are facing money problems
- are being abused and persecuted

And if we have sinned and failed—no matter how terribly—we must repent and get back to the task of witnessing, overcoming the circumstances of having failed and sinned so much. We must do all we can to conquer the circumstances for Christ and continue to witness, sharing all the good we can in order to reach all we can. All must be done for Christ, for He is worthy. He has died for us, bearing our sin and punishment and freeing us to live perfectly before God for all eternity. The world does not know this—the world does not know that the cure for the cancer of sin is now available. They cannot know unless we tell them. We must share the good news—share it regardless of circumstances. We must always remember:

- ⇒ we conquer circumstances for Jesus Christ.
  - ⇒ we are not the victim of circumstances; we are the conquerors of circumstances—all for Jesus Christ.
  - ⇒ we are not to allow our circumstances to discourage others; we are to use our circumstances to encourage others.
- b. Paul spread the gospel by encouraging other believers to be more fearless in witnessing. How was this possible? Note several things.
- ⇒ Paul’s dynamic witness and the converts among the Imperial guard were being noised about all over the city. Of course, the new converts among the soldiers were beginning to share Christ.
  - ⇒ Paul’s fellow ministers who visited him (Timothy and others) were sharing news about Paul and witnessing themselves.
  - ⇒ Paul was allowed visitors. While a prisoner, many of the believers throughout Rome visited him and he shared Christ with them—boldly shared Christ. Note what is said:

“And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him, preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him” (Acts 28:30-31. Read the brief account for an encouraging picture of just how much Paul shared the gospel—no matter his circumstances, Acts 28:17-31.)

Paul’s dynamic witness made a strong impact upon all those around him. His strong witness, despite his terrible circumstances, stirred many believers to become much more confident in their own witnessing. Many of the believers began to witness wherever they were—no matter their circumstances.

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

2 (1:15-18) Faithfulness—Jealousy—Self-seeking: a mature witness holds no personal jealousy nor desire for credit or prestige. This is a strange experience shared by Paul, yet it is an experience that is so often and tragically repeated in the church and among believers. Some preachers in Rome were jealous of Paul and envious...

- of the results he was having.
- of the favorable attention and prestige he was gaining from society and the social circles of the community.
- of the support and loyalty believers were giving him.
- of the attention he was receiving from so many of their members.
- of the position he was gaining as the leader of the Christian community in Rome.

Note: the preachers were true followers of Christ. They were not the Judaizers, the false preachers who sometimes followed and opposed Paul. These were genuine preachers who were ministers in and around the metropolis of Rome. We know this because Paul agreed with their preaching; he just regretted their opposition to him. Instead of supporting him, they were speaking out against him, hoping to silence his influence and to get rid of him (v.16).

However, not all the preachers throughout Rome opposed Paul. Some were preaching Christ out of love, and they were encouraging their members to show their love for Paul by visiting and supporting him in his ministry of proclaiming Christ.

Thought 1. How often has this scene been repeated? How many are repeating the scene right now? How many believers and Christian workers are jealous and envious...

- of the position of someone else?
- of the attention, support, and loyalty that someone else receives?
- of the results that another worker is having?

How many of us begin to question and speak against a Lord's servant because of these things—speak quietly perhaps to only one or two others; nevertheless, we do speak out? God forgive us!

We must always remember: we are all ministers and workers if we have been truly called by Christ to preach and teach His gospel. Each one has his call, and no matter the call, the road is always difficult. Therefore, we must support each other. The Lord does not require big ministries and big names and big followers from us all. What he requires is faithfulness—only faithfulness in the ministry to which he has called us. Therefore, let us be faithful and support all the ministers of the gospel of Christ.

“Peter seeing him saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do? Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me” (Jn.21:21-22).

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:1-2).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre [personal gain], but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

“His watchmen are blind: they are all ignorant, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark; sleeping, lying down, loving to slumber. Yea, they are greedy dogs which can never have enough, and they are shepherds that cannot understand: they all look to their own way, every one for his gain, from his quarter” (Is.56:10-11).

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding” (Jer.3:15).

“Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people; Ye have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them: behold, I will visit upon you the evil of your doings, saith the Lord” (Jer.23:2).

“Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel, prophesy, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds; Woe be to the shepherds of Israel that do feed themselves! should not the shepherds feed the flocks?” (Ezk.34:2).

3 (1:19) Deliverance: a mature witness possesses the assurance of a happy ending—that of deliverance. Again, remember Paul's circumstances: he was in prison, but he was, as always, preaching Christ. No matter his circumstances, he was always preaching Christ; and because he was so faithful to his call, God was honoring his preaching. Tremendous results were occurring: unbelievers from all over were being saved, and believers were being encouraged to step forward and become bolder witnesses for Christ. The result was that everyone throughout all of Rome, believers and non-believers, were talking about Paul, esteeming and holding him ever so highly in their minds. However, some were beginning to show so much attention and support and loyalty to him that some of the local preachers were becoming nervous, jealous, and envious, so they began to speak out against Paul and his ministry.

The point of the present verse is this: Paul is sure God will save and deliver him from their criticism and opposition. He is sure of God's help and deliverance because of two things:

1. There was the prayer of those who supported him—both those in Rome and those around the world who were praying for him daily. Note that he was writing to the Philippians, so he knew they would begin to pray for him immediately, and God answered their prayer. Therefore, he knew that God would deliver him from such antagonistic opposition because the Philippians were praying for him even if no one else was.

Thought 1. What a glorious teaching for a church—a church so strong in the Lord that the answer to its prayers are always answered.

2. The supply of the Holy Spirit would deliver him. Paul knew that the Holy Spirit would supply whatever he needed to get through his circumstances. No matter what our need is nor how great our need is, the Holy Spirit will deliver us. Strauss points out why the Holy Spirit has been given to believers, and Paul knew the reasons; therefore, he knew that he would be delivered (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.79).

- a. The Holy Spirit was given to be our compassion.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever” (Jn.14:16).

- b. The Holy Spirit was given to counsel us.

“But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

- c. The Holy Spirit was given to give us courage for witnessing no matter the circumstances.

“But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall testify of me: and ye also shall bear witness, because ye have been with me from the beginning” (Jn.15:26-27).

- d. The Holy Spirit was given to put conviction in our lives and ministry.

“Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment” (Jn.16:7-8).

- e. The Holy Spirit was given to share the deep things of God with us.

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God” (1 Cor.2:9-10).

- f. The Holy Spirit was given to pray and intercede for us and to help us pray.

“Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered” (Ro.8:26).

- g. The Holy Spirit was given to bear His fruit in us.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

- h. The Holy Spirit was given to fill us and to put a song and joy in our hearts despite circumstances.

“...be filled with the Spirit; speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:18-19).

- i. The Holy Spirit was given to give us assurance that we are children and heirs of God.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

DIVISION I

THE MARKS OF GOD'S PEOPLE, 1:3-30

D. The Marks of the Great Christian Believer, 1:20-26

(1:20-26) Introduction: if a man has ever lived a life of commitment to our Lord Jesus Christ, it was Paul. Remember, he was in prison facing a capital crime with his deliverance looking almost hopeless. Death was staring him in the face. This passage is one of the great passages of Scripture. Verse 21 has been adopted by many believers as their life verse. Many have committed their lives to pursue either verse twenty or twenty-one. This is the personal testimony of Paul: the marks of the great Christian believer.

1. One great expectation and hope: to magnify Christ in his body (v.20).
2. One great commitment in life and death: Christ (v.21).
3. One great dilemma: to live or to depart to be with Christ (v.22-23).
4. One great willingness: to serve sacrificially (v.24-26).

1 (1:20) Believer, Purpose—Hope: the great Christian believer has only one great expectation and hope—to magnify Christ in his body.

1. Note the words “earnest expectation” (apokaradokian). It means to gaze into the distance with the head erect and outstretched just like a watchman on a tower. It is aiming one’s attention at an object with concentration, eagerness, and intensity. It is turning the eyes away from everything else and focusing upon one object and one object alone. It is total concentration upon a person’s desire.

2. Note what Paul’s expectation and hope was. Remember Paul was in prison being charged with a capital crime which carried with it the penalty of death. The one hope of most prisoners would be release from prison or else to have the death penalty reduced to a lesser punishment. But note Paul’s “earnest expectation and hope”: to magnify Christ in his body. Paul’s mind was not upon his terrible plight and circumstances; it was upon Christ—upon magnifying Christ in his body. As a prisoner he wanted to guard his body from...

- wondering and questioning God
- becoming discouraged and depressed
- becoming complacent and lethargic
- becoming inactive and undisciplined
- denying and turning away from God
- reacting and cursing God

Paul knew the weakness of the human body, how it tended toward doubt, questioning, self-centeredness, pride, boasting, self-satisfaction, indulgence, extravagance, habit, lethargy, complacency, laziness, enslavement, bondage, and neglecting and ignoring God. Since his conversion, Paul had totally committed himself to magnifying Christ. And there was only one place where Christ could be magnified and seen: that was in his body. The only place that men can see Jesus Christ living is in the body or life of a person. Jesus Christ was no longer on the earth; therefore, He could not be seen unless Paul and others allowed Christ to magnify Himself through their bodies. Paul knew this; therefore, he gave his body to Jesus Christ.

3. Note the reference to “by life, or by death.” Paul was facing death. He did not know if he was going to die or continue living. If he was to be executed, he wanted to be as faithful as ever and to magnify Christ in death. If he was to be declared innocent and set free, he wanted to continue to magnify Christ in his body.

4. Note why Paul wanted Christ to be magnified in his body: that he might not be ashamed in anything. Paul knew that he was going to face the same thing that every believer is to face: the judgment seat of Christ. He knew that everyone of us has to give an account for what we have done with our bodies while on earth. In fact, Lehman Strauss points out that it had been only about four years earlier that Paul had written the piercing words (Devotional Studies in Philipians, p.81):

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

When believers face Christ in judgment, the experience will not necessarily be peaches and cream.

⇒ There will be some believers who will be ashamed.

“And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming” (1 Jn.2:28).

⇒ There will be some believers who will suffer loss and look like a burned out building.

“Every man’s work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man’s work of what sort it is. If any man’s work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. If any man’s work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss: but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire” (1 Cor.3:13-15).

This is what Paul meant: he did not want to be ashamed when he stood before Christ. He loved Christ with all of his heart, for Christ had done so much for him. Therefore, his one expectation and hope was for Christ to be magnified in his body. He wanted Christ to be honored both in his life and in his death. Above all, he did not want to be ashamed when he stood before his wonderful Lord. (See notes and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Body—Ro.12:1 for more discussion.)

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:23-24).

“Neither yield ye your members [bodily parts] as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

2 (1:21) Believer, Purpose: the great Christian believer has one great commitment in life and death—Jesus Christ. Paul declares two phenomenal statements:

1. First, “To me to live is Christ.” What did he mean by this? He meant at least five things.
  - a. He presented his body as a living sacrifice to Jesus Christ.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1).

- b. He struggled to yield the parts of his body—every member of his body—to Christ as a tool for righteousness.

“Neither yield ye your members [bodily parts] as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

- c. He struggled to control his mind—to control every thought and to focus every thought upon Jesus Christ and the great virtues of life.

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

- d. He committed himself to work for love and justice within all of society.

“Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets” (Mt.7:12).

“And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

- e. He gave his life—every moment of it—to reach and minister to as many people as possible during his journey upon earth.

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21. Cp. Mt.20:28 and Lk.19:10, the two verses below.)

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

Thought 1. What does life mean to you? Why are you living? What is your great purpose in life?

- ⇒ Are you living for money and possessions (clothes, houses, cars, property)? If so, what do you do in a few years when you die—if you escape accident or disease? What do you do if you lose it? When that day comes—and it is coming, there is nothing in heaven or earth that can stop it—if you have lived for money, what good will it do you?
- ⇒ Are you living for comfort (a good job, a nice place to live, plenty to eat, and enough money to do what you desire now and at retirement)? If so, what happens when disease or accident or tragedy strikes or old age comes? And one or the other is coming. It cannot be stopped. If you have lived for comfort, what good will it do you?
- ⇒ Are you living for a position? If so, what do you do when you are edged out, removed, demoted, transferred, by-passed, face disease or accident? What good will position do you?
- ⇒ Are you living for family? If so, what do you do when the family has transferred, moved away, or when the various family members die? And it happens to everyone of us. What good will family do you when you face Christ?
- ⇒ Are you living for recognition, honor, popularity, recreation, gratification, sensuality—whatever? What do you do when you face the crises of life and then in the end come face to face with death? At that moment if not before, what good will anything on this earth do you?

2. This brings us to the second point of Paul. He declares that “to die is gain.” He knew better than to base his life upon these things. He knew that everything upon earth was aging and passing away including man himself. Therefore, Paul reached out for a Savior, a Person who could save him and give him an eternal world that would never age or pass away. This is the reason he grabbed hold of Christ. Jesus Christ is God’s only begotten Son whom God sent into the world to reveal the truth of another world to us, a world that is permanent and that has no corruption—no aging—no passing away in it. Therefore, Paul grabbed hold of Christ when he found out...

- that Christ saved men from sin, death, and condemnation.
- that Christ made it possible for men to live forever with God in a new heavens and earth.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain” (Ph.1:21).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth” (Heb.11:13).

“Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:13-14).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

3 (1:22-23) Believer, Life: the great Christian believer has one great dilemma—to live or to depart and be with Christ. The word “depart” (anulusai) is descriptive. It has a twofold meaning that speaks to the believer’s heart.

1. It means to break up; to loosen as in breaking camp and loosening the ropes of the tent. It is the picture of breaking loose; packing up; and moving on to a new location. The same picture is true of the believer when he departs this life. He is not ceasing to exist; he is simply breaking loose and moving on to a new campsite, in fact, a perfect campsite.

2. It means to loosen the moorings of a ship, weigh anchor, and set sail for another port. Again, the believer does not cease to exist, he simply loosens the moorings of this life, pulls the anchor up, and sets sail for God’s eternal presence.

Paul says that he is caught between two great desires:

- ⇒ One desire is to live a life of fruitful service for the Lord Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The other desire is to depart and go on to be with Christ which is far better.

The natural mind wonders and questions how a person in his right mind could ever want to go ahead and die. The reason is simply answered: the genuine believer does not die; he never tastes death. He is transferred into the presence of Christ. Immediately—quicker than the blinking of an eye—the believer is transported into the perfect world of God which is named heaven. The believer is perfected—never again to experience pain, suffering, sin, corruption, infirmity, weakness, deformity, disappointment, fear, loss, or death. He will be perfected to work for Christ throughout the new heavens and earth, and he will serve and worship Christ for ever and ever. The promises of God to the believer are phenomenal; they just explode the human mind. It is for this reason that the believer can declare: “To die is gain.”

⇒ There is the promise of never dying and of living forever with Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“[God’s grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

⇒ There is the promise that is most dear to the heart of every faithful believer, the promise of being with the Lord Jesus Christ Himself forever and ever.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord” (2 Cor.5:8).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:16-17).

⇒ There is the promise of receiving a glorious body just like our Lord’s glorious body.

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:50-53).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

⇒ There is the promise of being made an heir of God.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

⇒ There is the promise of ruling and reigning with Christ forever and ever.

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth the light; and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

Promise after promise could be listed, and reason after reason could be given as to why the faithful believer sometimes aches to go on to be with the Lord. As Barclay so aptly says, it will be a glorious day of union and reunion—a glorious day of union with our wonderful Lord and a glorious day of reunion with all our loved ones who have gone on ahead of us (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.34). The only word that can adequately express all that God has prepared for us who know Him is the word that is the same in all human languages: Hallelujah!

“Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh” (Mt.24:44).

“Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrowing, or in the morning” (Mk.13:35).

“Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning; and ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their lord, when he will return from the wedding” (Lk.12:35-36).

4 (1:24-26) Believer—Ministry: the great Christian believer has one great willingness—to serve sacrificially. This is an interesting statement by Paul. Sitting there in prison waiting for the trial which would determine whether he lived or died, something happened to Paul. Either through thinking about the needs that existed in the world and in the churches, or through some sense from the Holy Spirit, Paul became convinced that he would be found innocent of the false charges and released from prison. But note why: it was not for his sake and enjoyment of life, but so that he could continue to minister.

The point to see is Paul’s heart—how it longed to reach people for Christ and to meet the needs of a world that reels under the weight of desperation.

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:2).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

DIVISION I

THE MARKS OF GOD'S PEOPLE, 1:3-30

E. The Marks of the Great Christian Church, 1:27-30

(1:27-30) Introduction: Paul was in prison. He faced a capital crime and there was a strong chance he might be executed. He did not think so, but there was a possibility. He was not sure if he would ever see the Philippian church again, so he sat down and began to write to them. What would you say if you were writing to a group of God's people for the last time? One of the subjects that concerned Paul was the subject of this passage: the marks of a great church. The Philippian church was a great church, and Paul wanted it to remain great. Therefore, he reviewed with them the marks of a great Christian church.

1. Mark 1: Christian conduct—heavenly citizenship (v.27).
2. Mark 2: honoring the gospel (v.27).
3. Mark 3: standing fast (v.27).
4. Mark 4: courage and fearlessness (v.28-30).

1 (1:27) Citizenship, Heavenly—Believers, Duty: the first mark of a great church is Christian conduct or heavenly citizenship. The word “conversation” or “conduct” (politeuesthe) is significant. A.T. Robertson points out that this word is used only twice in the New Testament (Acts 23:1; Ph.1:27) (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.441). Usually, when the New Testament refers to behavior or conduct, it uses a word meaning how a person should walk about day by day (peripatein). But Paul switches the word in writing to the Philippians. Why? The reason is significant. As stated in the introductory material, Philippi was a proud Roman colony. In fact, it was famous as a miniature Rome. A city became a Roman colony by one of two ways. At first Rome founded colonies throughout the outer reaches of the Empire to keep the peace and to guard against invasions from barbaric hordes. Veteran soldiers, ready for retirement, were usually granted citizenship if they would go out and settle these colonies. Later on, however, a city was granted the distinctive title or a Roman Colony for loyalty and service to the Empire. The distinctive thing about these colonies was their fanatic loyalty to Rome. The citizens kept all their Roman ties: the Roman language, titles, customs, affairs, and dress. They refused to allow any infiltration of local influence whatsoever. They totally rejected the influence of the world around them. They were Roman colonists within an alien environment.

This is the reason Paul uses the word politeuesthe. It means conduct and behavior, but more accurately it means the conduct and behavior of citizenship, of a person who is the citizen of a great nation. The Philippian church knew exactly what Paul was saying: they were citizens of heaven. Therefore, they must...

- keep their close ties with heaven.
- speak the clean and pure language of heaven.
- bear the title of heaven, Christian, and do so proudly.
- bear witness to the customs of heaven.
- carry on the affairs of heaven.
- dress as a citizen of heaven.
- allow no infiltration of worldly influence whatsoever.
- live and conduct themselves as a heavenly colony within a polluted and dying environment.

“And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; that ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:9-10).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation [behavior, conduct] his works with meekness of wisdom” (Jas.3:13).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hastening unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness”

(2 Pt.3:10-13).

2 (1:27) Church—Believers: the second mark of a great church is honoring the gospel. The word “becometh” or worthy (axios) means to fit, correspond, be suitable, be worthy. The believer’s behavior is to...

- fit the gospel he professes.
- correspond to the gospel he professes.
- be suitable to the gospel he professes.
- be worthy of the gospel he professes.

No church and no believer within the church is to bring dishonor to the gospel. If a person professes the gospel he is to live worthy of the gospel. His conduct and behavior is to fit and correspond to the gospel he professes.

Lehman Strauss points out that this is the picture of clothing which is so often stressed by Scripture (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.94). We often say that some piece of clothing is becoming to a person. What we mean is that the clothing matches and enhances the person’s looks and personality. The same with the gospel of Christ. If we put on the gospel, we are to wear the gospel. Scripture declares:

“Adorn the doctrine of God our Savior in all things” (Tit.2:10).

“But now ye also put off [as clothing] all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth. Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:8-10).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye. And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness” (Col.3:12-14).

3 (1:27) Stedfastness—Church: the third mark of a great church is standing fast. Remember that Paul was in prison, awaiting trial on a capital charge. There was a chance he would be executed for a false crime. He thought he would be released, but he was not absolutely sure. Therefore, whether he was able to return to the church or not, there was a much needed exhortation that the church must heed: the exhortation to stand fast.

1. The church must stand fast in unity: “in one spirit, with one mind.”

⇒ One spirit means that all the members of a church must be born again by the Spirit of Christ. All members must have a renewed spirit from the same source, from the same Person. They must all be committed to the Lord Jesus Christ. They must all have a heart given to Him.

⇒ One mind means that all members must be set upon the same purpose; they must all be focused upon the purpose of Jesus Christ.

The point is this: the world—its people, families, and nations—may be split and divided, arguing and differing, fussing and feuding, fighting and divorcing, warring and killing, seeking and grasping; but the church is not to live that way. The church is to be unified; it is to be one in spirit and one in mind; one in heart and one in purpose.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

2. The church must stand fast in striving together for the faith of the gospel. The word “striving together” (sunathlountes) is the word taken from an athletic contest. It is the picture of a team working and struggling together against strong opposition (cp. a football team). The church—every member of it—is to strive for the faith of the gospel: strive, work, struggle, push, exert all the energy possible; everyone cooperating together, not a single person letting up or turning aside or walking off the field. The opposition is difficult; therefore, the faith of the gospel needs every member working and struggling together.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints” (Jude 3).

4 (1:28-30) Courage—Persecution: the fourth mark of a great church is courage and fearlessness. Being a Christian believer in a corrupt world is hard. People oppose our stand for Christ and righteousness. It may be next door, in the office, at school or a hundred other places—the Christian believer is sometimes...

- |             |              |              |              |
|-------------|--------------|--------------|--------------|
| • avoided   | • ignored    | • cursed     | • slandered  |
| • ridiculed | • neglected  | • questioned | • persecuted |
| • mocked    | • overlooked | • abused     | • imprisoned |
| • isolated  | • by-passed  | • mistreated | • martyred   |

Note the exhortation: we are not to be terrified by our adversaries. There are four reasons why.

1. Persecution is a sign that the persecutors are doomed. And note: it is a sign to them. The Spirit of God is able to take their persecution of us and convict their hearts of the evil they are doing. Their persecution of a fellow human being strikes the fact of doom and judgment to their hearts: it convicts them, and by that conviction they stand a better chance of being saved.

2. Persecution is a sign of salvation for us. Of course, it is not the only sign, but it is one sign. If a believer stands fast in persecution, it is a clear sign that he is being strengthened by the Spirit of God and is a true believer.

3. Persecution is a privilege, not a terror. When we are persecuted, we are suffering for Christ, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. Christ is not some insignificant rebel, some leader of men hiding out in some remote spot who embarrasses us and of whom we should be ashamed. Christ is the Son of God, the Lord of lords, the God of the universe, the Sovereign Majesty of all. It is a privilege to be numbered among His followers and to represent Him. If we happen to be cornered by some who oppose and rebel against Him, we are not to deny Him, nor be ashamed to own His name. We are not to be terrified by persecution. It is the highest honor imaginable to represent and serve the Lord God of all. He is coming soon to subject all opponents and enemies and to rule and reign over all. We could have no greater privilege than preparing the way for Him—even if some do oppose us.

4. Paul (and others) had left the church a dynamic example to follow in bearing persecution. Paul had been arrested, beaten, and jailed when he was in Philippi; and the church had witnessed the whole scene. He bore it all for Christ. Therefore, we are to follow in his steps and bear whatever persecution is launched against us—all for Christ. The great Christian soldier can bear it—through the presence and power of Christ—bear it as a great Christian soldier for Christ.

“But beware of men: for they will deliver you up to the councils, and they will scourge you in their synagogues” (Mt.10:17).

“Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name’s sake” (Mt.24:9).

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto” (1 Th.3:3).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:12-14).

“Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf” (1 Pt.4:16).

“All thy commandments are faithful: they persecute me wrongfully; help thou me” (Ps.119:86).

DIVISION II

THE STEPS TO UNITY, 2:1-18

A. Christ—The Traits of His Life in Us, 2:1-4

(2:1-4) Introduction: the Philippian church was a strong church—a very strong church. When a church is strong, it is always full of vision and planning, and it is always working out a strategy to carry forth the gospel. A strong church launches ministry after ministry and program after program. It is never still and never complacent—neither the minds of the people nor the hands of the people. Because of this, there is always the danger of differences of opinion: differences in vision, desires, concern, emphasis, and interest. There are always different ideas as to which ministry or project should be undertaken and supported and a host of other differences.

The point is this: the more strength and activity a church has, the more attention it must give to unity. Why? Because a strong church has more minds and bodies working, and where more people are working more differences are bound to arise. Consequently, the members must give more attention to unity.

Paul knew this; he knew that he had to put the Philippian church on guard. The church had to protect itself against disunity and division. This is the subject of chapter two: The Steps to Unity (2:1-18).

The first step to unity is Christ—allowing His life to be lived out in us. In particular there are seven traits that will hold the church together and keep it unified.

1. The trait of consolation (v.1).
2. The trait of love (v.1).
3. The trait of fellowship in the Spirit (v.1).
4. The trait of compassion (v.1).
5. The trait of concern for one another's joy (v.2).
6. The trait of humility or lowliness of mind (v.3).
7. The trait of controlling self-interest or concentration upon oneself (v.4).

1 (2:1) Consolation—Encouragement: there is the trait of consolation (paraklesis). The word means many things throughout Scripture; but in the present context it means encouragement, comfort, solace, exhortation, and strengthening. Note that this trait is a characteristic of Christ Himself. The very beat of His Spirit is to encourage, comfort, and strengthen believers to be one in spirit and busy about the ministry of His church. Christ wants no murmuring, no grumbling, disturbance, or weakening of the unity within the church. The Spirit of Christ is to take the disturbed or upset person and...

- console him
- comfort him
- encourage him
- strengthen him

Now glance at the charge of verse two:

⇒ “Be likeminded”—be just like Christ: console, comfort, encourage, exhort, and strengthen each other.

Let absolutely nothing interfere with the spirit of unity in the church. But note, we are not only to help those who are disturbed, we are to let the comfort and encouragement of Christ flow in us when we are disturbed. When disturbed, we are to let Christ comfort us; and when others are disturbed, we are to comfort them. Just imagine the spirit of unity that would flow through a church if all the members would let the consolation of Christ flow through them. There would be no murmuring, grumbling, disturbance—no disunity whatsoever.

“I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:18).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

“Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God” (Is.40:1).

2 (2:1) Love: there is the trait of love. There is a comfort (paramuthion) of love that is in Christ. The love of Christ stirs a person to keep the unity with other believers. The word “love” is agape love, the love that is selfless and sacrificial. Agape love is the love of the mind, of the reason, and of the will. It is the love that goes so far...

- that it loves a person even if he does not deserve to be loved.
- that actually loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Agape love is the love of Christ, the love which He showed when He gave and sacrificed Himself for us. We did not deserve it and were utterly unworthy of such love, yet Christ loved us despite all.

Imagine the spirit of unity that would exist within a church if every member would let the love of Christ flow through him. There would be no bitterness, anger, or strife—no action that would hurt another person whatsoever. If the person was wrong and deserved punishment, the church’s members would sacrifice and give themselves for him. Note verse two:

⇒ “Have the same love”—the same love Christ had for you.

Thought 1. This is the answer to unity: the Lord’s spirit of love! How desperately the church needs its members to let the love of Christ flow through them to each other!

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

3 (2:1) Holy Spirit, Fellowship: there is the trait of fellowship in the Spirit. Once a person has trusted Jesus Christ as his Lord, God’s Spirit does two significant things to him.

⇒ The Holy Spirit enters the believer’s heart and life to comfort, guide, teach, equip, and use him as a witness for Christ.

⇒ The Holy Spirit creates a spiritual union between the new believer and other believers. He melts and moulds the heart of the believer to the hearts of other believers. He attaches all their lives together, and they become one in life and purpose. They have a joint life sharing their blessings and needs and gifts together—all focused upon their Lord and His purpose.

The mind of the Holy Spirit is set upon unity and fellowship—all centered around Jesus Christ and His mission. The church and its believers are to have the same mind. There are to be no discordant elements whatsoever in the church: no talk about differences; no sharing of bad news; no gossip, rumors, cliques, nothing whatsoever that would tamper with or disturb the fellowship of the Spirit in the church. Again, quickly glance at verse two:

⇒ “Be of one accord”—keep the unity of the Spirit, the fellowship of the Spirit.

4 (2:1) Compassion: there is the trait of compassion. Compassion is the trait that stirred Christ to reach out for us. Compassion is the force that drives Him to keep after us time and again—even if we are in rebellion and stand opposed to Him. We may be cantankerous; we may even curse Him and take up arms against His movement. But His compassion drives Him to stay after us so long as we live.

If we allowed His compassion to flow through us, can you not see what would happen in the church? What would happen if we were driven by compassion to go after those...

- who have been hurt?
- who differed?
- who withdrew?
- who have been disturbed?
- who were critical?

The list could go on and on. But just think how many would have already been reconciled back into the fellowship of the church if we had been compassionate and gone after them. Just think how much less trouble would have happened if we had reached out in compassion when a difference first appeared.

The point is this: we are to let the compassion of Christ flow both in and through us. His compassion will comfort us when we differ and are disturbed; it will stir us to reach out in compassion when others differ and become disturbed. The compassion of Jesus Christ flowing in and through us keeps the unity of the church. It will also keep our minds together—keep them focused upon the needs of a world that must be reached and ministered to in compassion.

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

“Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him” (Ps.103:13).

“In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the Angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old” (Is.63:9).

5 (2:2) Joy: there is the trait of joy. The believers in a church are to be concerned for each other’s joy. And note: the one thing that brings joy to a church quicker than anything else is unity.

“Fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (v.2).

Paul’s point is simple but direct: his joy in Christ would be fulfilled by only one thing—the unity of the Philippian church. The leaders and members of a church usually have joy in Christ, but their joy can be fulfilled only if unity exists between them. Joy is always disturbed when there is criticism, dissatisfaction, grumbling, murmuring, cliques, opposition, and a host of other divisive negatives. We are to worship, plan, organize, program, build, staff, finance, minister, and serve in the joy of Christ. But the only way we can do that is...

- to be likeminded.
- to have the same love.
- to be of one accord.
- to be of one mind.

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“For the kingdom of God [the church] is not meat and drink; but righteousness and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

6 (2:3) Humility—Lowliness of Mind: there is the trait of humility or lowliness of mind. Note two significant points.

1. A strong and active church will always have two problems to stick their ugly heads up: strife and empty glory.
  - a. Some people are just going to strive with others. They are not mature in the Lord, not yet; therefore, they give in to...

- |                             |                          |                   |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------|
| • talking about differences | • desire for position    | • loving flattery |
| • jealousy                  | • desire for recognition | • forming cliques |
| • envy                      | • opposition             |                   |

If they do not get their way or what they want, they strive against the church or other members. The result is disunity and divisiveness, one of the most terrible crimes within the church to God.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth” (Jas.3:14).

“Strive not with a man without cause, if he have done thee no harm” (Pr.3:30).

“It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling” (Pr.20:3).

“Go not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame” (Pr.25:8).

“He that passeth by, and meddleth with strife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears” (Pr.26:17).

- b. Some people are going to seek glory within the church. But note what Scripture calls it: vainglory, which means empty glory. Some people just want the attention, the recognition, the position, the flattery, the praise, the honor. They want people seeking their advice and counsel and opinion. They want to be on the major committees and acknowledged as a leader of the church.

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“And there was also a strife among them, which of them should be accounted the greatest” (Lk.22:24).

“How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?” (Jn.5:44).

“He loveth transgression that loveth strife: and he that exalteth his gate seeketh destruction” (Pr.17:19).

“For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds: I will be like the Most High” (Is.14:13-14).

“Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord” (Obad.4).

2. The spirit that must prevail in a strong church is that of humility or lowliness of mind. In fact, the only way a church can remain strong and be blessed by God is for its people to walk in a spirit of humility (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Humility—Ph.2:3).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:3) Humility (tapeinophrosune)—Lowliness of Mind (tapeinos): to offer oneself as lowly and submissive; to walk in a spirit of lowliness; to present oneself as lowly and low-lying in mind; to be of low degree and low rank; not to be high-minded, proud, haughty, arrogant, or assertive.

Note: a humble person may have a high position, power, wealth, fame, and much more; but he carries himself in a spirit of lowliness and submission. He denies himself for the sake of Christ and in order to help others.

Men have always looked upon humility as a vice. A lowly man is often looked upon as a coward, a cringing, despicable, slavish type of person. Men fear humility. They feel humility is a sign of weakness and will make them the object of contempt and abuse and cause them to be shunned and overlooked.

Because of all this, men ignore and shun the teaching of Christ on humility. This is tragic:

⇒ for a humble spirit is necessary for salvation (Mt.18:3-4).

⇒ for God’s idea of humility is not weakness and cowardice.

God makes people strong, the strongest they can possibly be. By humility God does not mean what men mean. God infuses a new and strong spirit within a person and causes that person to conquer all throughout life. He just does not want the person walking around in pride. He wants the person to do what the definition says: to offer himself in a spirit of submissiveness and lowliness; not to act highminded, proud, haughty, arrogant, or assertive.

Humility is to be developed. Scripture tells us how:

“Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls” (Mt.11:29).

“Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:3-4).

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“Walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:1-2).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering; forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:12-13).

“Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:6).

Contrary to what the world thinks, humility reaps unbelievable benefits. A close study of the above verses shows this.

1. Humility results in a person coming to Christ and learning of Him. It leads to self-evaluation, an honest and courageous evaluation. When a person looks at Jesus Christ, he sees what he should be and it motivates him to become what he should be. He sees where he needs improvement and he is driven to fill in the gaps.

2. Humility results in conversion, assuring our entrance into the kingdom of heaven.

3. Humility results in our being exalted by Christ in that glorious day of redemption.

4. Humility results in healthy relationships and in community and social benefits (cp. Ro.12:16; Eph.4:1-2; Ph.2:3-4; Col.3:12-13; 1 Pt.5:6). For example...

- It acknowledges and boosts others.
- It leads to better relationships.
- It encourages and helps others.
- It motivates others to grow and do more.

Christ demands that His followers walk in humility. Practicing humility demands two things.

1. Humility requires an honest evaluation of oneself. Barclay points this out (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.39). Humility comes from knowing ourselves, just who we really are. It comes from an honest appraisal of ourselves. It takes courage to look at ourselves and it takes honesty to see ourselves as we really are: basically self-centered, a bundle of self-admiration and self-love. We tend to dramatize ourselves. We tend to see ourselves unrealistically. We see ourselves...

- at the center of action.
- as the hero of some spectacular rescue.
- as the great politician marching to victory.

- as the reknown sportsman saving the game in the last second or bagging a record catch.
- as the beauty queen dazzling the crowds.
- as the laborer of brilliance.
- as Prince Charming or Cinderella sweeping others off their feet.

We are always at the center of the picture. Humility begins to come when we honestly face ourselves and admit our self-centeredness. Self-centeredness weakens and limits relationships and achievements. Humility reaches its height when we lose our lives in the cause of Christ and welfare of others.

2. Humility requires courage. It takes courage to be honest about our self-centeredness, and courage to convert or to change by coming to Christ as a small child (Mt.18:3-4). It takes courage to become Christ-centered and people-centered and to give ourselves to the cause of Christ and others.

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:16).

“Thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayest bring them down” (2 Sam.22:28).

“The wicked in his pride doth persecute the poor: let them be taken in the devices that they have imagined” (Ps.10:2).

“When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom” (Pr.11:2).

“Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom” (Pr.13:10).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

“A high look, and a proud heart, and the plowing of the wicked, is sin” (Pr.21:4).

“Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.26:12).

“He that is of a proud heart stirreth up strife: but he that putteth his trust in the LORD shall be made fat” (Pr.28:25).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

“The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languisheth and fadeth away, the haughty people of the earth do languish” (Is.24:4).

“Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.4).

“Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him” (Hab.2:4).

“In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy doings, wherein thou hast transgressed against me: for then I will take away out of the midst of thee them that rejoice in thy pride, and thou shalt no more be haughty because of my holy mountain” (Zeph.3:11).

7 (2:4) Humility: there is the trait of controlling self-interest or what Barclay calls concentration on self (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.40). Very simply, a Christian believer must forget himself. He must quit looking upon his own things, his...

Believers are to concentrate upon Christ and His ministry to people and reaching the world with the glorious gospel of salvation. They are not to be focused upon self. The world is too needful and too desperate for any believer to be focused upon himself. Every believer is needed to reach the lost and lonely, the shut-ins and helpless, the hungry and cold, the sinful and doomed of his community and city, country and world. Every believer does not need to be thinking on his own things, but on the things of others. He needs to be out...

DIVISION II

THE STEPS TO UNITY, 2:1-18

B. Humbling One's Self, 2:5-11

(2:5-11) Introduction: this is one of the greatest passages ever written about Jesus Christ. It paints the perfect picture of humility—the humility of Jesus Christ. No one has ever come close to humbling himself like Jesus Christ did, and no one ever will. Yet, if the problems of the church and of the world are to ever be solved, we must humble ourselves just as Christ did. The church is too often divided, too often rumbling with criticism, murmuring, differences, jealousy, envy, ambition, outside talk, negative feelings, and desires for position and recognition. The only answer is the declaration of this passage: humility—letting the humility of Jesus Christ flow in and out of our minds. Humility is the second step to unity. The unity of a church depends upon one thing: its members walking in humility—in the humility of Jesus Christ.

1. Christ is the supreme example (v.5).
2. Christ is of the very nature of God (v.6).
3. Christ emptied Himself and became a man (v.7).
4. Christ humbled Himself to the point of utter humiliation—to the very point of death (v.8).
5. Christ was rewarded—highly exalted by God (v.9-11).

1 (2:5) Jesus Christ, Humility: Jesus Christ is the supreme example of humility. As stated, this is one of the greatest passages ever written about Jesus Christ. Very simply, the passage says that Jesus Christ is God, yet He humbled Himself and became Man. Jesus Christ is the Person who dwelt in all the glory of perfection, but He humbled Himself and came to this corruptible world that knows little else other than selfishness, greed and death. Just imagine the enormous step down that Jesus Christ had to take to become a Man. It is utterly impossible to grasp the humility it took. Yet, this is exactly what He did and it is what we are to do. The very same mind that existed in Jesus Christ—that led Christ to give up everything He was and had—that very mind is to be in us. The only way the problems of the world can be solved is for every person to let the mind of Christ flood his mind. Consider the problems of...

- war
- hate
- anger
- arguing
- abuse
- prejudice
- selfishness
- pride
- cockiness
- haughtiness
- arrogance
- cursing
- indulgence
- extravagance
- hoarding
- greed
- stealing
- envy
- hunger
- homeless
- poverty
- disease
- jealousy
- immorality

The list could go on and on. How can these problems ever be solved unless we step down from where we are to where needy people are? Unless we step down and humble ourselves—step down to where hurting people are—these problems will never be solved. Realistically, most people are not going to do this. Most people are not going to take all they are and have and get down to where the needs really are. But the Christian is to do this. This is the point of the present passage: Jesus Christ set and focused His mind upon humbling Himself. He took all He was and had and came down where we are and met our need. Now...

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.”

Take the mind of Christ and let it flow through you. Let the mind of humility and lowliness surge through your mind. Take all you are and have and get down where the needs really are. Do all you can to solve the divisiveness and cliques, grumbling and murmuring, selfish ambition and pride, desire for position and power, greed and selfishness, hurt and pain—both in the church and in the world. Humble yourself and do all you can to solve the awful problems that afflict the church and the world. Humble yourself as Christ did and become part of the solution instead of the problem. Look at the mind of Christ. Lay hold of it as it is descriptively pictured in the notes that follow. Do not miss out on the opportunity of an eternity—the glorious privilege of possessing the very mind of Christ Himself.

2 (2:6) Jesus Christ, Deity: Christ is of the very nature of God. This is critical to note, for it means...

- that Jesus Christ was not like God; He is God.
- that Jesus Christ did not just achieve a high level of righteousness when on earth, He was the very embodiment of righteousness.
- that Jesus Christ did not just walk more perfectly than other men walk, He was the very picture (essence) of perfection.
- that Jesus Christ did not become God when on earth, He has been God throughout all eternity.

Three points in this verse clearly show that Jesus Christ is God. Jesus Christ is of the very nature of God.

1. Jesus Christ is of the “being” of God. The word “being” (huparchon) means existence, what a person is within and without. It is the very essence of a person, what a person is; that part of a person that cannot be changed. It is who a person is and all that he is.

This is a most glorious truth because it means that Jesus Christ is God; He is the very being of God.

“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God” (Jn.1:1).

2. Jesus Christ is in the form of God. The word form (morphe) means the permanent, constant being of a person. It is the very essence of a person, that part of him that never changes. It is the unchangeable being. Barclay points out that there is another Greek word translated “form” (schema). In contrast, it means the fleeting, outward form of a person that is always changing. For example, a man is always changing (schema) in looks because of age and fashion. But his manhood (morphe) never changes. (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.44.)

This means a most glorious thing. Jesus is of the very essence and being and image of God. He is the divine, unchangeable God Himself. He dwells in the very perfection and essence of God; He possesses the very attributes of God Himself.

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

3. Jesus Christ is “equal with God” (Greek). The word “equal” (isa) means to be on an equal basis with God; to possess all the qualities and attributes of God Himself. Note also the word “robbery” (arpagmon). It is the picture of a thief seeking to snatch or take something that is not his. When Jesus Christ was on earth, He was constantly claiming...

- to be God.
- to be the Son of God.
- to have the nature of God.
- to be one with God.
- to be on an equal basis with God.

Was He a thief? Was He robbing and snatching the title of God or was He truly God?

The answer is a most glorious truth. Jesus Christ did not have to rob or snatch at equality with God. He did not have to rob and grasp after the deity of God; He was already on an equal basis with God.

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“Jesus answered them, Many good works have I showed you from my Father; for which of those works do ye stone me? The Jews answered him, saying, For a good work we stone thee not; but for blasphemy; and because that thou, being a man, makest thyself God” (Jn.10:32-33).

“Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am” (Jn.8:58).

3 (2:7) Jesus Christ, Humiliation; Condescension: Christ emptied Himself and became a man. Remember that we are dealing with the subject of humility—the fact that Jesus Christ took one great step down from heaven to earth. The step down was so great and so far that theologians do not call it the humility of Christ, but the humiliation of Christ. The Sovereign Lord of the universe—He who existed...

- in eternity and perfection
- in glory and majesty
- in dominion and power

...stepped down and became a man. But more than this: He who was the Lord and Master of the universe—who deserved all the honor and service of all living creatures—took upon Himself the form of a servant. He became the Servant of men—not only of God, but the servant of men. Imagine!

- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to serve, came and served us.
- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to love, came and loved us.
- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to adore, came and adored us.
- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to wait upon, came and waited upon us.
- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to minister to, came and ministered to us.
- ⇒ The Lord whom we are to seek, came and sought us.

The great distance between the majesty of Christ in heaven and the humiliation of Christ upon earth can never be measured. Our understanding of the distance would amount to no more than a small bucket of water compared to the great ocean. But we are commanded to let the same mind of humility flow through us; therefore, we must study the deep humility of Jesus Christ and do our best to grasp and practice it. Two statements in this verse need diligent study.

1. Jesus Christ made Himself of no reputation; that is, He emptied Himself. The word “emptied” (ekenosen) means to completely empty. It is the picture of pouring water out of a glass until it is empty or of dumping something until it is all removed (Barclay, The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.44). The very picture of being completely empty stirs a feeling of just how far Christ went in humbling Himself for us. What was it that was poured or emptied out of Jesus Christ when He left heaven and came to earth? (This is what theologians call the kenosis theory.) Note that this passage does not say. It only says that Christ emptied Himself. Other Scriptures, however, give some indication. (See note, pt.4—Mk.13:32 for more discussion.)

- a. Christ did not lay aside His deity when He came to earth. He could not cease to be who He was: God. No person can ever cease to be who he is. A person may take on different traits and behave differently; a person may change his behavior and looks, but he is the same person in being, nature, and essence. Jesus Christ is God; therefore, He is always God—He always possesses the nature of God (See notes—Jn.1:1-2 for more discussion.)
- b. Christ laid aside some of His rights as God:
  - ⇒ He laid aside His right to experience only the glory and majesty, honor and worship of heaven. In coming to earth as a man, He was to experience anything but glory and majesty, honor and worship. Men would treat Him far differently than a heavenly being.
  - ⇒ He laid aside His right to appear only in heaven and to appear only as the Sovereign God of heaven. In coming to earth as a man, He was, of course, to appear as a man on earth.

Matthew Henry has a brief but excellent statement of the fact:

“He emptied Himself, divested Himself of the honors and glories of the upper world, and of His former appearance, to clothe Himself with the rags of human nature” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.732f).

As stated above, Jesus Christ emptied Himself of certain rights: the right to appear only in heaven and to experience only the glory of heaven. This is exactly what Jesus Christ Himself said when He was about to be crucified and return to heaven. He was praying to the Father when He said:

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5).

⇒ This is also the point of other Scriptures.

“For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham [the nature of man]. Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted (Heb.2:16-18).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

2. Jesus Christ “was made in the likeness of men.” The word “was made” (genomai) means to become; a definite entrance into time. It is not a permanent state. Jesus became a man, but it was not to be a permanent state. It was only for a time, a particular period. In the fulness of time He made a definite entrance into the world as a man.

Thought 1. Note that Jesus Christ did not come to earth as a prince or some great leader upon earth. He did not come to receive the homage and service of men. He came as the humblest of men, as a servant to serve men. “He was brought up meanly, probably working with his supposed father at his trade. His whole life was a life of humiliation, meanness, poverty, and disgrace; he had nowhere to lay his head, lived upon alms, was a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, did not appear with external pomp, or any marks of distinction from other men. This was the humiliation of his life” (Matthew Henry, Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.6, p.732f).

“For whether is greater, he that sitteth at meat, or he that serveth? is not he that sitteth at meat? but I am among you as he that serveth” (Lk.22:27).

“He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments and took a towel, and girded himself. After that he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples’ feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded” (Jn.13:4-5).

“For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich” (2 Cor.8:9).

“But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:7).

4 (2:8) Jesus Christ, Death; Humiliation; Condescension: Christ humbled Himself to the point of utter humiliation—to the very point of death—“even the death of the cross.” Note two significant points.

1. Jesus Christ humbled Himself to the Father. He was obedient to God the Father. It was the Father's will for Christ to come to earth and to die for the sins of men. And Christ did it; He obeyed God the Father.

"No man taketh it [His life] from me, but I lay it down of myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This commandment have I received of my Father" (Jn.10:18).

"But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do [go forth and die]. Arise, let us go hence" (Jn.14:31).

"For as by one man's [Adam's] disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one [Christ] shall many be made righteous" (Ro.5:19).

"Then said he, Lo, I come to do thy will, O God. He taketh away the first, that he may establish the second" (Heb.10:9).

2. Jesus Christ humbled Himself to men. He willingly allowed men to kill Him. He did not have to bear such hostile humiliation and rebellion, but He did. Just picture what is involved in the death of the cross.

- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to die.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to come out of the spiritual and eternal world (dimension) into the physical and corruptible world in order to die.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to lay aside His eternal glory and majesty and become a man for the purpose of dying.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to suffer rejection, denial, cursing, abuse, arrest, torture, and murder at the hands of rebellious men—whom He had originally created for the joy of eternity—rebellious men whom He had come to save.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to take all the sins of men upon Himself and to bear the weight and suffering of them all.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to bear the judgment and condemnation and punishment of sin for every man.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to suffer the awful experience of having God the Father turn His back upon Him.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to suffer the terrible justice and wrath of God against sin.
- ⇒ Christ humbled Himself to bear the pain of suffering for sin eternally. Christ is eternal; therefore, His death is ever before the face of God. (Just imagine! It is beyond our comprehension, but the Lord's eternal agony is fact because of the eternal nature of God.)

The discussion could go on and on, but the point is well made by Scripture. Jesus Christ not only humbled Himself to become the servant of men, He humbled Himself to suffer the ultimate degree of humiliation:

⇒ Jesus Christ became sin for men and died as their sin before the just wrath of God.

In a sense, hanging there upon the cross Christ was not even a man; He was sin, the very embodiment of sin. In some way He embraced all the sin of the world and died for the sins of men.

"For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (2 Cor.5:21).

"Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one [all criminals] that hangeth on a tree" (Gal.3:13).

"But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Heb.2:9).

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness; by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

Thought 1. Remember the point of this passage: the fact that we must let the humility of Jesus Christ flow in and through us. We are to be humble—to walk in humility before each other—to go to the extreme of humility, even if it means humiliation before each other. Why? So that the church can be unified. Unity is to prevail among us. We are to live and breathe unity. There is to be no discord in God's church:

- no divisiveness
- no grumbling
- no murmuring
- no criticism
- no jealousy
- no personal ambition
- no self-seeking
- no prejudice
- no negative truth
- no downing of others
- no air of superiority

But note: the only way we can ever know such unity is to let the mind of Christ captivate our mind. We must study, think, and learn the humility of Christ. We must let His humility flow in and through us.

"Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Ph.2:3-5).

5 (2:9-11) Jesus Christ, Exaltation: Christ was rewarded—God highly exalted Him. Christ had humbled Himself in obedience to God the Father, and because He was faithful in being humble, God rewarded Him by exalting Him ever so highly. The point is well made: God will reward and exalt any believer who will walk as Christ walked—humbly before Him and men.

Note how highly God has rewarded and exalted Christ.

1. God has highly honored Christ. God has given Christ a name above every name. Right now, the name of Jesus Christ is cursed all over the world. In fact, at every passing tick of the clock, the name of Jesus Christ is being cursed thousands of times by hordes of people all over the world. But note: not everyone curses His name. Some of us love His name. To us His name is the most glorious name every uttered by human voice, for His name is...

- the name that forgives our sins.

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations” (Lk.24:47).

- the name that gives us access into God’s presence.

“And in that day ye shall ask me nothing. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you. Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:23-24).

2. God has given Christ supreme power and authority. God has destined every knee to bow before Christ—the knees of everything in heaven and earth and under the earth. Nothing shall be exempt. The day is coming when every creature in all the worlds and dimensions of being shall bow their knees in subjection to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:22).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else. I have sworn by myself, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not return, That unto me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear” (Is.45:22-23).

3. God has given Christ supreme worship. God is going to see to it that every creature confesses that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father:

- ⇒ every nation, tongue, and language
- ⇒ every person, mind, and body
- ⇒ every race, color, and shape
- ⇒ every belief, creed, and religion
- ⇒ every man, woman, and child
- ⇒ every king, leader, and authority
- ⇒ every professional worker and laborer

Every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is exactly who He claimed to be: the Son of the living God. Every creature is going to worship Him as Lord, the Lord God of the universe.

“For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God” (Ro.14:11).

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

“Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest” (Rev.15:4).

Thought 1. The point is clear: God will exalt the man who humbles himself and works for the unity of the church.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee” (Lk.14 10).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble” (Jas.4:6).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble. Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:5-6).

“A man’s pride shall bring him low: but honour shall uphold the humble in spirit” (Pr.29:23).

“For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones” (Is.57:15).

“For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word” (Is.66:2).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:11) Lord (kurios): means master, owner. Jesus was called Lord from the very first of His ministry (Mt.8:2) and He accepted the title. He even called Himself Lord (Mt.7:21). The word had been a title of respect throughout history. During the Roman empire it became the official title of Roman emperors. It was also a title given to the gods. The Hebrew title Adonai is translated Lord (Gen.15:2), so is Jehovah (Mt.1:20-22; 2:15; 3:3; 4:7, 10; 11:25; 21:9; Mk.12:29-30; Lk.1:68; 2:9). Both titles, Adonai and Jehovah, are translated Lord in Mt.22:44. Jesus Himself called God the Father, “Lord” (Mt.4:7, 10). But the title is more often given to Jesus. There is no question but that Jesus is recognized as Lord, being identical with the Old Testament Jehovah and Adonai (Mt.3:3; 12:8; 21:9; 22:43-45; Lk.1:43; Jn.14:8-10; 20:28; Acts 9:5). When Jesus is called Lord, it means that He is Master and Owner, the King of kings and Lord of lords, the only true God. He is Jehovah, Adonai, God Himself.

DIVISION II

THE STEPS TO UNITY, 2:1-18

C. Working Out One's Own Salvation or Deliverance, 2:12-18

(2:12-18) Introduction: this passage is still dealing with unity—unity in the church and unity among believers. But the passage is unique because it brings up the great subject of salvation. Keep in mind that salvation means deliverance and that salvation is of God. It is God who has saved and delivered you: “For by grace are ye saved” (Eph.2:8-9). But once you are saved, go to work—work out your own salvation and deliverance. Salvation is not stagnant and complacent. A saved person is not to be sitting around doing nothing and letting the chips fall where they may. A saved person is to get up and go to work. He is to do all he can to work out his own deliverance. This is the subject of the present passage. If the church is to be unified—if believers are to walk in a spirit of unity, then they must look at their salvation—at the whole scope of their life and the glorious salvation God has given them—and they must do all they can to work out their own deliverance.

1. The first work: to work out one's own salvation (deliverance) with fear and trembling (v.12).
2. The second work: to work at obedience—to work out the stirrings of God within the heart (v.13).
3. The third work: to work at not murmuring (v.14).
4. The fourth work: to work at being pure (v.15).
5. The fifth work: to work at witnessing (v.16).
6. The sixth work: to follow the example of sacrificial labor (v.17-18).

1 (2:12) Salvation—Deliverance: believers are to work out their own salvation with fear and trembling. Remember Paul is in prison being held on false charges. There is a good chance he will be executed. He is not sure he will ever see and share with the Philippians again. Therefore, what he is now writing is carefully chosen. So far as he knows, these words could be his last words to the Philippian church. This is the reason we need to pay close attention to the instructions.

What does it mean to work out your own salvation? The word “work out” (katargazesthe) means to work on to the finish, to completion, to perfection. It always means to complete the effort and the work begun; to accomplish it perfectly; to bring it to completion. The point is: do not go half-way in salvation. Do not take bits and pieces when there is a whole parcel. Do not be satisfied with a little when you can have much. Go on, grow until salvation is completed in you. It is your own salvation. No friend, no pastor can work it out for you. You alone must do it.

The point is clearly stated: once God has saved a person, that person is to get busy obeying God. He is to take hold of the new life and salvation God has given him, and he is to work on it until it is completed and finished, that is, until God takes him home and perfects it.

Note that the Philippians are an excellent example. Paul says that they had always obeyed God, not only when he was with them, but also when he was away. Now, as he was facing death, he wanted them more than ever to work out their salvation—to continue obeying God until their salvation was completed and perfected.

Note also the words “fear and trembling.” Life is not a bed of roses. It is full of trial, pain, hurt, tragedy, disease, accident, loss, temptation, sin, evil, corruption, and death. Every human being experiences such things until he comes face to face with death. Life is sometimes beautiful and wonderful, but reality is what has just been listed: life is a journey of trials until the point of death. And no amount of denial or camouflage can hide or escape the fact. The only thing that can bring abundance of life is the absolute confidence that we shall live eternally in a perfect world. What is the point of mentioning all this? The point is forceful: we are expected to work out our own salvation and to do it with fear and trembling.

⇒ We are to fear and tremble because of the trials and temptations of life. Anyone of them can throw us or cause us to buckle under. The world and its temptations and trials are strong and the flesh is weak. We can slip into sin and failure before we know it unless we are constantly working out our deliverance—fearing and trembling lest we fail.

⇒ We are to fear and tremble lest we disappoint the Lord. He has saved us, and He has gone to the ultimate limit in order to do it. He has demonstrated a perfect love for us by taking all our sins upon Himself and bearing our punishment for us. Therefore, when we sin and fail, it cuts His heart to no end. For His sake—to keep from hurting Him—we must work out our salvation, fearing and trembling lest we do cut His heart.

⇒ We are to fear and tremble because we are to face the judgment seat of Christ. If we sin, we shall be judged and judged severely. Though we may try to reason away the fact, our thoughts about the judgment of God do not affect God's judgment one iota. Every one of us who sins and fails to work out his own salvation shall be judged and suffer loss—great loss. Scripture teaches nothing else. For this reason, the reason of judgment, we must work out our salvation—work it out with fear and trembling.

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:11-12).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

“Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man” (Eccl.12:13).

“Sanctify the Lord of hosts himself; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread” (Is.8:13).

2 (2:13) Salvation—Obedience: the second work of salvation is to obey. Believers are to work out their salvation by working at obedience—by obeying the stirrings of God within their hearts.

“It is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure” (v.13).

The word “worketh” (energon) means to energize. God arouses, stirs, and energizes the heart of the believer to do God's will. This is a most wonderful truth. Just think about it: we all experience movements and stirrings within our heart toward God. These stirrings are of God. God is working within us—energizing us—giving us both the will and power to do what pleases Him.

As stated, this is a most wonderful truth. Our duty is to grab hold of the stirrings—not to let them pass. We are to grab hold of them and do exactly what the stirrings are arousing and energizing us to do.

Thought 1. This is a most wonderful truth. It means that God does not leave us alone to work out our salvation and deliverance. He works within us: moves, stirs, energizes, and arouses us to get up and get to it. And whatever the energy points toward is what we need to do. God uses the energy and stirring to direct and guide us. The point to see is that God is forever working within us—never leaving us alone—working and stirring us to complete our salvation.

Thought 2. The tragedy is this: ignoring, neglecting, and refusing to respond to the stirrings and workings of God. When we feel the stirrings, we desperately need to respond and do whatever God is stirring us to do. Just think how often the stirrings are rejected, ignored, or neglected. How often we continue to sit or go about our own affairs instead of heeding the working and stirring of God. How complacent and lethargic we are. Just think how much growth we lose and how often we must cut the heart of God to the core—all because we choose the things, possessions, and activities of this world instead of Him and His stirrings.

“For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth [makes alive] whom he will” (Jn.5:21).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring [stir] all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove [convict and stir] the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment” (Jn.16:7-8).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know [be stirred to know] the things that are freely given to us of God” (1 Cor.2:12).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God” (Col.3:1).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

3 (2:14) Murmuring—Division: believers are to work out their salvation by working at not murmuring and disputing or arguing. The word “murmuring” (goggusmon) means to mutter, murmur, grumble, and complain. Note: it means the quiet, soft, behind-the-back, undertone of murmuring and grumbling. It is the kind of criticism, dissatisfaction, fault-finding and gossip that goes on within small groups or cliques.

The word “disputings” (dialogismon) means arguments, outward and vocal questionings, and expressions of doubt. Simply stated, it is just as Scripture says: disputes or arguments that have broken out into the open.

Note several significant facts.

1. Murmurings and disputes are not to be allowed in the church. As the verse says: all things are to be done without murmurings and disputings. If murmuring begins among a clique or even between two people, the spiritual leaders of the church are to deal with it just as Christ laid out (see outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20). It is not to be allowed to fester. Murmurings, unless they are stopped, will lead to disputes, turmoil, and divisiveness.

2. Murmuring and disputes are never of God—never! This is the very point of this charge. All things—nothing is left out—are to be done without murmuring and disputes.

3. Murmuring and disputes were the very sins that brought judgment upon so many Jews in the wilderness wanderings of Israel.

“Neither murmur ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer” (1 Cor.10:10; cp. Num.20:2f; 21:4).

4. The person who murmurs and disputes is not working at his salvation or deliverance. He is doing the very opposite: working to bring judgment upon himself.

Thought 1. The results of murmuring are far worse than people ever think. This is the primary reason God forbids murmuring and disputes in no uncertain terms. Murmuring...

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?” (1 Cor.3:3).

“For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults” (2 Cor.12:20).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Go not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to do in the end thereof, when thy neighbor hath put thee to shame” (Pr.25:8).

4 (2:15) Purity: believers are to work out their salvation by working at being pure.

1. Believers are to work at being “blameless” (amempto): free from fault and censure; to be faultless; above reproach and rebuke. The believer is to live a blameless, faultless and pure life, both in the church and in the world. No one is to be able to point to the Christian and accuse or blame him with anything. The Christian is to be clean, unpolluted, spotless, holy, righteous, and pure before man and God.

2. Believers are to work at being harmless (akeraioi): unmixed and unadulterated. It is the idea of flour or grain passing through a sieve to separate the pure from the impure. It means that our thoughts and lives...

- are not to be polluted by watching, reading, and listening to worldly and sexual attractions.
- are not to be given over to worldly and sexual attractions.

Our thoughts and lives are to be pure, clean, uncontaminated, and unpolluted.

“I would have you wise unto that which is good, and simple [harmless] concerning evil” (Ro.16:19).

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen” (2 Tim.4:18

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

3. Believers are to work at being “without rebuke” (amoma): without blemish, spot, or defect. This is a word that is taken from the Old Testament sacrifices made to God. The idea is that the believer is to live and walk upon earth under the eyes and scrutiny of God. He is to walk without any blemish, spot, or defect.

However, note a fact: the believer lives in a crooked and perverse generation. The world is wicked and evil, twisted and perverted; therefore, the believer has a difficult path to walk. But walk he must, for he is to be the light of the world. He is to shine as a light in the world. He is to reflect the purity and holiness of God Himself.

“Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid” (Mt.5:14).

“For so hath the Lord commanded us, saying, I have set thee to be a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be for salvation unto the ends of the earth” (Acts 13:47).

“For ye were sometimes darkness, but now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light” (Eph.5:8).

“That ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world” (Ph.2:15).

“Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness. Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation. For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him. Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:5-11).

5 (2:16) Witnessing: believers are to work out their salvation by working at witnessing. The wording is descriptive: “Holding forth the word of life.” Imagine! There is a Word of life. Men can live, truly live—both now and forever. Men never have to die.

⇒ It is like saying the fountain of youth has been discovered with one difference: the Word of life not only brings eternal youth, it brings perfection—a perfect world and a perfect life.

⇒ It is like saying the cure for cancer has been discovered with one difference: the Word of life not only cures the cancer, it injects the energy of everlasting life into the other cells of the body.

But note the terrible tragedy! So many of us do not hold forth the Word of life. We hold back. We do not share the message of the glorious gospel of life. The Word of life is just what it says: it is the message of life that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand” (Jn.10:28).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed” (Jn.6:27).

“But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life” (Ro.6:22).

“But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began” (Tit.1:2).

“And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life” (1 Jn.2:25).

“Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life” (Jude 21).

Thought 1. The one thing we must work at is holding forth the Word of life. The Word of life is the only hope for a world that reels under the weight of so many desperate needs, especially the desperate need to handle sin and evil and the terrible destiny of death.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

6 (2:17-18) Sacrifice—Labor: believers are to work out their salvation by following the example of sacrificial labor. Very simply stated, Paul had offered himself as a sacrifice to serve men. The picture is that of the sacrifice and offerings made by people to the heathen gods. Paul had taken his body and offered it as a sacrifice and service for people. He lived for nothing else except to hold forth the Word of life to people. His body was totally sacrificed for that purpose and that purpose alone.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

DIVISION III

THE EXAMPLES OF SOME CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 2:19-30

A. The Example of Timothy—a Young Man Who Willingly Served in Second Place, 2:19-24

(2:19-24) Introduction: nothing challenges the human heart any more than the faithful example of others. This passage gives us the dynamic example of a man who was totally committed to Jesus Christ: Timothy. Timothy was a young man who willingly served in second place.

1. Timothy—a young man who willingly served in second place (v.19).
2. He had a kindred, brotherly spirit in caring for others (v.20).
3. He was willing to deny himself—to be obsessed with the things of Christ (v.21).
4. He was willing to be a son, a disciple (v.22-24).

1 (2:19) Timothy—Ministers, Associates—Assistants: there is the example of Timothy, a young man who willingly served in second place. The scene is this. Paul is deeply concerned about the Philippian church and its believers. He loves them deeply and he longs to minister among them. Note that his pastoral heart reaches out to them: he mentions their state (condition, welfare) twice:

- ⇒ He wants to know their state or condition (v.19).
- ⇒ He wants to care for them, for their state or welfare (v.20).

But he is in prison; he cannot personally visit the church. What can he do? He does the next best thing. He plans to send his faithful companion and co-worker, Timothy, just as soon as he can.

The point to note is the pastoral heart of both Paul and Timothy, especially Timothy, for he is the subject of these verses. Timothy was a man who was called to serve in second place. However, of all the persons covered in Scripture, Timothy was as faithful to the Lord as any. He willingly and sacrificially served in second place.

Thought 1. Serving in second place is a privilege. The second man not only leads those under his responsibility, but he also contributes to the life and ministry of the first man.

2 (2:20) Timothy—Care—Church: Timothy had a kindred, brotherly spirit in caring for others. In fact, he was unequalled. There were many excellent ministers of the gospel, but Timothy's spirit came closest to Paul's than all the others. Timothy cared for the churches and their believers just as Paul cared. His heart naturally cared (gnesios). His care arose from deep within: it was genuine and sincere—the same kind of care that a genuine brother would have. Timothy's ministry—his care and concern for the believers—would be deep and genuine, a true concern.

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding” (Jer.3:15).

“And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them: and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, saith the LORD” (Jer.23:4).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

3 (2:21) Self-denial—Selfishness—Covetousness: Timothy was willing to deny himself—to be obsessed with the things of Christ. In no uncertain terms, Paul says:

“All seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's” (v.21).

What a sweeping indictment of believers and in particular ministers. Note what several commentators have to say about the issue:

Matthew Henry asks: “Did Paul say this in haste, as David said, All men are liars? (Ps.116:11). Was there so general a corruption among ministers so early that there was not one among them who cared for the state of their people? We must not understand it so: he means the generality; all, that is, either the most, or all in comparison of Timothy. Note, seeking our own interest to the neglect of Jesus Christ is a very great sin, and very common among Christians and ministers. Many prefer their own credit, ease, and safety, before truth, holiness, and duty, the things of their own pleasure and reputation before the things of Christ's kingdom and his honour and interest in the world: but Timothy was none of these" (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.5, p.736).

Ralph P. Martin asks: "Does this verse represent the apostle's bitter complaint that, when he sought a fellow-believer to go to Philippi, there was none forthcoming because they were 'wrapped up in their own affairs' and did 'not really care for the business of Jesus Christ' [J.B. Philipps]. ...he remembers that, in a world of selfishness and self-seeking (cf. Mt.6:32), it is such a rare thing to find a man like Timothy who is really anxious to promote the welfare of other people, and to give himself to a fatiguing journey and to the resolving of personal quarrels in the Philippian church. This would be a delicate issue to handle, calling for tact, wisdom and patience" (The Epistle of Paul to the Philippians. "Tyndale Bible Commentaries," ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1959, p.124f).

Lehman Strauss states: "This pathetic condition of self-seeking is the curse of Christendom in general and of the ministry in particular. Paul's words are a scathing indictment against the awful sin of selfishness. It must have been present in the early Church, for we remember his exhortation at the beginning of our chapter: 'Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others' [2:4].

"There are so few who devote their lives in selfless service. We are more concerned with our interests, our goods, our getting ahead, than we are with the needs of others. Genuine Christian love 'seeketh not her own' [1 Cor.13:5]. 'Let no man, then, set his own advantage as his objective, but rather the good of his neighbor' [1 Cor.10:24, Phillips].

"In spite of these holy admonitions, self-seeking and self-glorifying gain momentum with the passing of time. Few are seeking to follow closely in the steps of Christ and of Christlike men such as Paul. Most of us seek our own interests while we profess Christ's Name. One wonders if the claims of Christ ever enter the calculations of some Christians. The late William Lincoln of Beresford, London, said: 'Rest assured, that if you put Christ in the second place, and your own things in the first, you will hear of it at the Judgment Seat.' " (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.133.)

The point is well made: Timothy did not seek his own things. He denied himself. He had not fallen into the trap of so many. His primary concern was for the mission and truth of Christ and the welfare of the church. But this was not true with most of the believers and ministers in Rome, and tragically, it has not been true with many believers and ministers down through the centuries. Many have sought their own things first; many have made the things of Christ second in order to protect their...

"Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me" (Mt.19:21).

"I was a stranger, and ye took me not in: naked, and ye clothed me not: sick, and in prison, and ye visited me not" (Mt.25:43).

"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it" (Lk.9:23-24).

"And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" (Lk.12:15).

"And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple" (Lk.14:27).

"For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Ro.8:13).

"It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak" (Ro.14:21).

"We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves" (Ro.15:1).

"Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth" (1 Cor.10:24).

"And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts" (Gal.5:24).

"Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ" (Ph.3:8).

"Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry" (Col.3:5).

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour's" (Ex.20:17).

"For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness: and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely" (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

4 (2:22-24) Discipleship: Timothy was willing to be a son, a disciple tried and proven. There was a close bond between Paul and Timothy. Timothy was as a son to Paul, and note: Timothy looked upon Paul as a father to him. Paul could never have said this if Timothy thought and acted otherwise.

Paul enlisted Timothy as one of his disciples and missionary partners on his second missionary journey (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Timothy—Acts 16:1-3 for more discussion). From that time forth, Timothy became a dynamic minister of the Lord—a minister who was called to serve in second place. Barclay gives an excellent summary of the verses that connect Timothy to Paul (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.59).

1. Timothy was a close companion of Paul.
  - a. Paul called Timothy his son in the faith (1 Cor.4:17).
  - b. Timothy was with Paul...
    - in Philippi (Acts 16:1f).
    - in Thessalonica and Berea (Acts 17:1-14).
    - in Corinth (Acts 18:1-5).
    - in Ephesus (Acts 19:21-22).
    - in prison in Rome (Col.1:1; Ph.1:1).
2. Timothy was involved in one way or another with seven of the writings of Paul.
  - 1 and 2 Thessalonians
  - 2 Corinthians
  - Romans (he sends greetings to the church)
  - Colossians and Philippians
  - 1 and 2 Timothy
3. Timothy was closely connected to Paul in ministering to the churches. Timothy was sent by Paul to minister...
  - in Thessalonica (1 Th.3:6).
  - in Corinth (1 Cor.4:17; 16:10-11).
  - in Philippi (Ph.2:19).

Thought 1. The point to see is how closely bound together Paul and Timothy were and how faithful Timothy was. He was a tried and proven minister, a minister willing to serve in the place the Lord had put him—the position of serving in second place.

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God” (1 Cor.4:1).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

DIVISION III

THE EXAMPLES OF SOME CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 2:19-30

B. The Example of Epaphroditus—a Man Who Was Not a Quitter Nor a Coward, 2:25-30

(2:25-30) Introduction—Epaphroditus—Minister: Barclay points to a dramatic story behind Epaphroditus. The Philippian church had heard that Paul was in prison, and that he was having an extremely difficult time. Their hearts went out to him, so they decided to do two things: to take up an offering to meet Paul’s material needs and to send a dedicated layman who could remain with him and help him. Such a man would have to be savagely brave, for by attaching himself to a man facing a capital crime, he would be leaving himself open to the charge of being an accomplice. By helping Paul the man would be risking his own life. The man chosen was Epaphroditus.

While in Rome, Epaphroditus fell seriously ill and came close to death. News of his illness reached Philippi. And in turn, news returned to Epaphroditus that his home church was worried over his welfare. He in turn began to worry over them. But God spared him, and after gaining his strength, Paul felt for some reason (perhaps to keep this illness from recurring or to eliminate the possibility of his being arrested) that Epaphroditus should return to Philippi.

But the possibility of a problem existed. If he returned before Paul’s fate was known, some would call him a quitter, a coward, a failure. (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.60f.) The answer to this criticism is the very reason for this passage. Paul gives a glowing appraisal of their messenger.

1. He did not quit nor forsake his brother (v.25).
2. He did not quit nor forsake the church (v.26).
3. He did not quit nor forsake God (v.27).
4. Conclusion: the appeal (v.28-30).

1 (2:25) Servant—Ministering: Epaphroditus did not quit nor forsake his Christian brother. He had been sent to Rome to minister to Paul who was in prison. Epaphroditus became critically ill and almost died. He could have easily returned to Philippi after he recovered, but he did not. He stuck to his call and mission, and he completed it. Epaphroditus was so staunch a believer that Paul gives him five titles.

1. He was a Christian brother. Note the tenderness: Paul called him “my brother.” A brother is a person who has the same parent. Epaphroditus was born of God. He had placed his faith and trust in the Lord Jesus Christ, and God had honored his faith by giving him a new birth—a spiritual birth. God had made a new creature or new man out of him (2 Cor.5:17; Eph.4:24; Col.3:10). Therefore, he was a brother to Paul and a member of God’s family.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God” (Eph.2:19).

2. He was a companion in the work of the Lord. Many persons serve in the work of the Lord, but not everyone is a true companion in labor. A true companion is by the side of his friend; he is there with him: understanding, feeling, supporting, consoling, comforting, encouraging, and helping whenever needed. There is nothing between true companions...

- no distance
- no envy
- no withdrawal
- no competition
- no neglect
- no forsaking

As stated, a true companion in the ministry is there by the side of his friend and he is always there. He never forsakes his friend regardless of the circumstances. Epaphroditus was a true example of a companion in labor. Paul was a prisoner about to stand trial for his life, and he had been forsaken by most believers (2 Tim.4:16). But note Epaphroditus: he stood by Paul despite the severe circumstances. And remember: he had become deathly ill; but even then, when he had every reason to return home for recuperation, he stayed in Rome by Paul's side. Epaphroditus was a companion indeed. He was not a quitter! He was not a coward!

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:13-14).

“A man that hath friends must show himself friendly: and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother” (Pr.18:24).

“Two are better than one; because they have a good reward for their labour. For if they fall, the one will lift up his fellow: but woe to him that is alone when he falleth; for he hath not another to help him up” (Eccl.4:9-10).

3. He was a fellowsoldier. No doubt this refers to the hardiness and steadfastness of Epaphroditus. By sticking so closely to Paul, he ran the risk of being identified as a follower of Paul who was being falsely tried as an insurrectionist against the state. This danger was probably the reason so many believers forsook Paul (2 Tim.4:16). But not Epaphroditus; he stood fast—he stood as a fellowsoldier with Paul...

- despite the danger.
- despite his own ill health.

Epaphroditus was set on completing his ministry and on helping Paul in his ministry as much as possible—despite the terrible circumstances of imprisonment and illness that drug him to the brink of death. Epaphroditus was a true soldier—willing to risk his life for the sake of the gospel of God's people. He was not a quitter! He was not a coward!

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

4. He was a messenger of the church. The word “messenger” is apostolos which is the very word for apostle. The word means messenger, an ambassador sent on a very special mission. Paul is saying that this dear saint of God had been called as a very special messenger and ambassador for God. He was a very special apostle, a very special messenger of God. He was far from being a quitter! Far from being a coward!

5. He was a very special minister (leitourgon). Barclay points out that this word would have great meaning to the Greek minds of the Philippian church. The word (leitourgon) was a great word and was used only of great men. The title was bestowed only upon great benefactors, men who loved their city, culture, arts, or sports so much that they gave huge sums of money to support these functions. The person was looked upon as a great servant or minister given over to his cause. (The Letters to the Phillipians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.61.) Paul is here bestowing the great title of minister (leitourgon) upon Epaphroditus. Epaphroditus was an extraordinary minister of God who ministered to Paul's needs. He was not a quitter! He was not a coward!

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“He riseth from supper, and laid aside his garments; and took a towel, and girded himself. After that he poureth water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet, and to wipe them with the towel wherewith he was girded....If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet” (Jn.13:4-5, 14).

“Moreover it is required in stewards [ministers] that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

2 (2:26) Dedication—Loyalty—Service: Epaphroditus did not quit nor forsake the church. The Philippian church had sent Epaphroditus to help and minister to Paul. While there in Rome he had become deathly sick. At that point, Epaphroditus could have forsaken the mission of the church. He could have concluded that the mission was not worth losing his life over and returned home. The threat of being identified as a cohort of Paul would have been understood and accepted by many if not all, and his illness and the need to recuperate from a deathly illness would have definitely been understood by all. Epaphroditus had every human reason to return home and let someone else take up the gauntlet and resume the task.

But as a true soldier of Jesus Christ, he would not, and he did not. In fact, note the glorious testimony of this verse. Epaphroditus was not concerned over his welfare, but over the church's welfare. News of his illness had reached the church back home, and Epaphroditus was concerned about his family, friends, and the church worrying over him. What a heart of tenderness, warmth, softness, and of ministry! Just the kind of heart we all need—especially the ministers of the gospel.

The point to note is this: Epaphroditus was faithful to his call and to his church. He did not quit nor forsake the church. He had every reason to, but he did not. He stood fast despite the worst kind of circumstances and the threat to his own life.

- 3 (2:27) Dedication: Epaphroditus did not quit nor forsake God. It looked like God had forsaken him. It seemed as though God had blessed him ever so richly until he had arrived in Rome. God had led the church in Philippi...
- to appoint him as a special messenger for the Lord and for the great Philippian church.
  - to give him the coveted task of joining and ministering to the great evangelist and missionary Paul.

But when he arrived in Rome, he found out that by associating with Paul there was the danger of being judged as an insurrectionist—as a cohort of Paul. He was risking his own life by associating with Paul. And then, to top it off, he had become ill and almost died. God could have prevented it from happening. Why did He not stop it? A thousand questions flooded Epaphroditus' mind—each one tempting him to question and doubt God. He could have quit and forsaken the mission and not too many people would have questioned his decision. In fact, the vast majority would have agreed, thinking it the course of wisdom.

But not Epaphroditus. He was not a quitter! He was not a coward! He was a true minister of God! God had done so much for him—especially in saving him and giving him the assurance of living forever—he could never quit nor forsake God.

- 4 (2:28-30) Dedication—Minister: the conclusion is an appeal by Paul. Paul was sending Epaphroditus back to the church. The church was to joy in him and in his steadfast faithfulness. In no sense of the word were they to question him because he was returning. He was returning because Paul was sending him back, not because he was choosing to return.

Note the words “not regarding his life” (paraboleusamenos). A.T. Robertson points out that this is a gambling word, that it means to gamble one's life; to stake everything; to chance everything; to recklessly gamble. Epaphroditus staked his life for the ministry of Christ. He courageously risked his life. (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.449.)

Thought 1. Epaphroditus both challenges and rebukes a soft, easy going Christianity and ministry. His life shows that Christianity is stern and demanding. It calls for self-denial and self-effacing sacrifice. It gives little thought to personal comfort and safety.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:23-24).

“If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:26).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

DIVISION IV

THE “PRESSING ON” OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 3:1-21

A. Pressing On: Guarding Oneself, 3:1-3

(3:1-3) Introduction: this chapter is one of the great chapters of the Bible, a chapter that needs to be studied time and again. It includes the great personal testimony and ambition of Paul. It gives us some of the great principles that governed Paul’s life. The subject of the chapter is “The Pressing On Of The Christian Believer.” These are some things the Christian believer must do as he presses on for Christ. First, he must guard himself.

1. By rejoicing in the Lord (v.1).
2. By heeding what is written (the Scripture) (v.1).
3. By watching out for false teachers (v.2).
4. By knowing that you are the true (spiritual) circumcision (v.3).

1 (3:1) Rejoicing: guard yourself by rejoicing in the Lord. A person who is always rejoicing in the Lord will not go astray. As the believer walks through life, two things are always confronting him: circumstances and false teaching. No matter where he goes, the trials of life, both minor and major, confront him. He has to stand face to face with the awful trials of life including...

- enticing temptations
- lust of the eyes
- lust of the flesh
- greed
- selfishness
- arguments
- divisions
- inhuman behavior
- criminal acts
- death
- accidents
- disease

The list could go on and on. No person escapes the trials of life—not if he walks upon this earth. He is confronted with the awful reality of trials every day of his life. Note another fact as well. No matter where he walks, the false teachings of this life confront him. No matter which way the believer turns, he is confronted with different ideas about how to handle life and its great trials.

- ⇒ There is the teaching that says, “Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we die. Ignore the trials and problems of life. Life is to be enjoyed by those who have the health and money to enjoy it, so get all the gusto out of life possible. Do your own thing.”
- ⇒ There is the teaching that says, “Discipline and control yourself. Take care of your body and mind. Don’t give in to the lusts and passions of this life. The abuse of a mind and body is a waste. Live as long and contribute as much as you can by walking a disciplined and controlled life.”
- ⇒ There is the teaching that says, “Don’t go overboard. Enjoy life—join in—do what you want; but do it within reason. Don’t overly abuse your mind and body. It’s all right to join and indulge occasionally; just don’t do it too often and hurt yourself.”
- ⇒ There is the teaching that says religion is the answer to both life and death, “Join a religious body, undergo its rituals, adopt its beliefs, and live the best you can. This will give you a strong self-image and confidence that God will accept you. Just be as good as you can and God will accept what goodness you are able to build up.”

The list of false teachings could go on and on. The point is this: the believer is bombarded by both trials and false teachings every day of his life. He must, therefore, guard himself; and the first guard is to rejoice in the Lord. If he walks throughout the day rejoicing in the Lord, his mind is upon the Lord. He rejoices over what Christ has done for him—rejoices over the Lord...

- justifying him
- adopting him
- reconciling him
- saving him
- loving him
- delivering him
- guiding and directing him
- securing righteousness for him
- dying for him—bearing his condemnation and judgment
- arising for him—giving him a new life
- looking after him
- giving him the privilege of knowing God
- giving him victory over sin
- giving him an eternal hope and the glorious confidence of eternal life

PHILIPPIAN 3:1-3

The believer just walks about joying and rejoicing in all that the Lord has done and is doing for him. This is essential if the believer is to guard himself against the onslaught of trials and false teaching in this life. If the believer is to press on in his Christian life, he must walk about rejoicing in the Lord.

Now note: the great thing that rejoicing does is this: it places and keeps a person in the presence of Christ. No matter what confronts the believer—no matter how terrible the trial—he knows that he is being looked after by Christ Jesus his Lord. He knows that nothing can separate him from the Lord and His love—that he shall never die, but rather live eternally. Therefore, he knows that whatever comes upon him can never conquer and overcome him. Christ will give him supernatural power and strength to overcome it. And if he is called upon to lay down his body and move on to heaven, he knows that he shall never taste or experience death; he knows that Jesus Christ is going to escort him right on into God's presence immediately—quicker than the eye can blink—about 11/100 of a second. The believer is forever secure in the keeping power of the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, he walks rejoicing in the Lord: he rejoices no matter what confronts him.

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter. Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us. For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Ro.8:35-39).

Thought 1. Rejoicing in the Lord is one of the very best ways to guard oneself against the trials of life and false teaching. When a person rejoices in the Lord, his mind is focused upon the Lord, upon what the Lord has done for him. And the mind cannot be two places at once. If it is upon the Lord and His glorious salvation, then it cannot be upon the trials and false teachings of this world.

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep” (Ro.12:15).

“As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things” (2 Cor.6:10).

“Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice” (Ph.4:4).

“Rejoice evermore” (1 Th.5:16).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“And there ye shall eat before the LORD your God, and ye shall rejoice in all that ye put your hand unto, ye and your households, wherein the LORD thy God hath blessed thee” (Dt.12:7).

“But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them: let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee” (Ps.5:11).

“Be glad in the LORD, and rejoice, ye righteous: and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart” (Ps.32:11).

“Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labor of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls: yet I will rejoice in the LORD, I will joy in the God of my salvation” (Hab.3:17-18).

“The meek also shall increase their joy in the LORD, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel” (Is.29:19).

2 (3:1) Scriptures: guard yourself by heeding what is written, that is, the Scriptures. Note: Paul says that he is writing some things that he had apparently written before. What he is about to write is so important that it has to be repeated. The church must do what is being said.

The point is this: the writings of Paul and of Scripture must be heeded. What Scripture says was written to instruct us and to help us in pressing on for Christ. No person can press on apart from heeding the Scriptures. If he fails to study and obey the Scripture, he will cave in either to the trials of life or to false teaching. Only as we obey the Scripture—the commandments of the Lord—can we show our love and loyalty to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“If ye love me, keep my commandments” (Jn.14:15).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love” (Jn.15:10).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not” (2 Pt.2:2-3).

3 (3:2) Teachers, False: guard yourself by watching out for false teachers. Paul was always facing false teachers who were savage in their attacks upon him. He mentions three groups of false teachers in this verse.

1. Beware of false teachers who act like dogs (kunas). It should be noted that both Jew and Gentile called each other dogs as a term of contempt. The word “dogs” was the lowest title possible to convey contempt and ridicule. Dog does not refer to the house pet of today, but to the wild dogs that roamed in the forests by day and the city streets by night. They were scavengers and snarlers who could be very vicious and dangerous.

The point is descriptive: there are some false teachers who are just like wild dogs.

⇒ They are scavengers who seek out all whom they can consume with their false teaching. And if any step forward to defend the sheep and the truth, they snarl and often become vicious and dangerous, ready to attack the defender and destroy him.

“Give not that which is holy unto the dogs, neither cast ye your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn again and rend you” (Mt.7:6).

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves” (Mt.7:15).

“Fear them not therefore: for there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known” (Mt.10:26).

“Beware of dogs, beware of evil workers, beware of the concision” (Ph.3:2).

“While they [false teachers] promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage. For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning. For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them. But it is happened unto them according to the true proverb, The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire” (2 Pt.2:19-22).

“For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

“For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet” (Ps.22:16).

2. Beware of false teachers who are evil workers. The world is full of people who work evil things.

⇒ This refers to those who hold to and teach high standards of righteousness, morality, and religion. They are absolutely sure they are righteous and good—at least good enough to be acceptable to God. There is just no way God would ever reject them—they think.

⇒ This also refers to those who live and teach evil by the way they live and talk about morality, righteousness and religion. Some live base, immoral, indulgent, and extravagant lives, while others try to mix both a religious and indulgent life-style together.

The point is this: there are those who are always opposing the Lord Jesus Christ and His salvation by grace alone. They do not accept that He is God’s Son—that He is the Lord of man’s life; the Lord who is to be given all we are and have. Therefore, they accept His teaching, but ignore or deny salvation by His blood. They stand opposed to the gospel of salvation by His grace alone. They go about establishing their own way to God, doing whatever good they feel is needed to make themselves acceptable to Him. The result is false teaching—a way to God that stands against the Lord Jesus Christ and His way. Such false teachers are evil workers—workers who stand opposed to the truth.

3. Beware of false teachers who are of the concision. The concision refers to the Judaizers (see note, Judaizers—Gal.2:3-5; DEEPER STUDY # 1—2:4 for discussion. It is important to read this note before proceeding with this point.)

“Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:19-20).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth. For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law, That the man which doeth those things shall live by them” (Ro.10:3-5).

“Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm” (1 Tim.1:7).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables” (2 Tim.4:3-4).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

4 (3:3) Believers—Circumcision: guard yourself by knowing that you are the true circumcision (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Circumcision—Ph.3:3 for discussion). Note that believers are called the circumcision. What does Paul mean?

1. Believers are those who worship God as He really wishes to be worshipped: in the spirit; that is, they have circumcised or cut away the flesh as the means by which they worship God. Think for a moment: How do most people attempt to worship God?

- ⇒ By attending church services
- ⇒ By praying
- ⇒ By making occasional gifts to needy causes
- ⇒ By thinking of God occasionally
- ⇒ By being circumcised or baptized or undergoing some other ritual
- ⇒ By keeping the rituals and ceremonies of a church
- ⇒ By joining a church
- ⇒ By observing special days

But note a critical point: as good as all of these are, they are not the basis of true worship. They are things that we do because we worship; they are the result and activities of worship. They are not the basis or spirit of worship. True, they may help us to focus upon God and stir us to worship Him, but as stated, they are not the basis and spirit of worship.

⇒ The basis of worship is the Spirit of God, and the spirit of worship is the Spirit of God.

To worship God, man must have the Spirit of God living within his body and spirit. He no longer worships God externally through rituals and ceremonies. He now worships God inwardly through the Spirit of God who lives within him. True worship is no longer through anything that is of the physical or material world, no longer of anything that is of man’s flesh. True worship is of the spirit.

Thought 1. True worship has to be of the heart and spirit. Why? Because a man can attend church, keep all the rituals and ceremonies, and still be living in the depths of sin. But if a man’s spirit is right with God, he worships God with a clean and pure heart, free from all sin and defilement. The truly circumcised person is the person who worships God in spirit.

“God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth” (Jn.4:24).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

2. Believers are those who rejoice as God really wants us to rejoice: in Christ Jesus. Christ Jesus...
- is God’s only begotten Son.
  - is the Person who gave Himself to die for us, bearing our sins and condemnation.
  - is the Person who has saved us, made it possible for us to live forever in the presence of God.
  - is the only Savior, the only acceptable way to enter God’s presence.

Therefore, it is only natural that God expects us to rejoice in Christ Jesus. How could we boast and rejoice in ritual and ceremony and religion? The Source—the Author and Finisher—of our faith is Christ Jesus. Therefore, the true circumcision, the true believer does not boast in anything physical or material—not in ritual or ceremony or religion. The true circumcision rejoices and boasts in Him who has given us salvation and access to God, even in Christ Jesus our Lord.

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice” (Ph.4:4).

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

“I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels” (Is.61:10).

“Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart: for I am called by thy name, O Lord God of hosts” (Jer.15:16).

3. Believers are those who have no confidence in the flesh. The flesh...
- is only physical and material.
  - can only handle physical and material things.

- can only do good works and keep external rituals and ceremonies and religious practices.
- can do nothing beyond the physical and material.
- cannot penetrate the spiritual world or dimension of being.

The flesh ages, deteriorates, and corrupts. Therefore, the flesh goes the way of all material and physical substances: it dies and decays. And no matter what the flesh has done and accomplished in this physical world, it takes all its works to the grave with it. The flesh dies and all that concerns the flesh dies with it. Therefore, the true circumcision, the true believer, has no confidence and puts no stock in the flesh. He has confidence only in Jesus Christ.

“For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not” (Ro.7:18).

“I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin” (Ro.7:25).

“So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:8).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:17).

“For he that soweth to this flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:3) Circumcision: before Christ, circumcision was the physical sign that a man was a follower of the true God. It was the sign that a man believed the promises that God had made to Abraham and Israel (cp. Gen. 17:10-14; Ro.4:11). God never intended circumcision to have any value other than being a sign. It was not to bring righteousness to any man—not even to Abraham (Ro.4:9-10). It was given only as a sign—a sign of the faith that a man already had in God’s promises. Righteousness was imputed to the man because he believed God’s promises; then the man was circumcised as a sign of his faith in God (see note—Ro.4:11 for more discussion).

However, many abused God’s purpose for circumcision.

1. Some made circumcision a substitute for true righteousness. A man was thought to be safe and secure in the arms of God if he was circumcised. Believing God and loving men had little to do with being a child of God. Many forgot the circumcision of a pure heart and became Jews of the circumcision in name only. Circumcision became merely an external and physical sign.

2. Some used circumcision as a way to divide and categorize people. A great wall of division was thrown up around the uncircumcised (cp. Acts 10:1; 1 Sam.17:26, 36; 2 Sam.1:20). Any man who was uncircumcised was thought to be cut off and far off, not only from those thought to be the people of God (the Jews and the circumcised) but from God Himself. (See notes—Acts 10:1-33; DEEPER STUDY # 3—10:11-16; 15:1-3 for more discussion.) An uncircumcised man was looked upon with bitter contempt. In the mind of the Jew, God was thought to love only Israel, despising and rejecting all other people (the Gentile nations).

3. God has done away with circumcision as a sign of righteousness since Christ has come (Gal.5:6; 6:15; Col.2:11). Righteousness is now of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter of rules and regulations (cp. Ro.2:25-29; 4:8-12, 23-25). The truly righteous man is the man who is God’s inwardly—the man whose spirit has been recreated into the very nature of God. God’s very own righteous nature is implanted into the very nature of man when he is born again. A man born again by the Spirit of God is God’s “new creation” (Jn.3:3f; 1 Pt.1:20; 2 Pt.1:4).

DIVISION IV

THE "PRESSING ON" OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 3:1-21

B. Pressing On: Paul's Personal Testimony—Rejecting Self-Righteousness & Seeking Perfection, 3:4-16

(3:4-16) Introduction: all across the world men sense they need a relationship with God. They have a sense of God, but they sense there is something wrong between them and God. Sometimes they feel things are right; other times as though things are wrong. But underlying whatever feelings they have, men are never sure whether or not things are right with God. They lack perfect assurance and confidence that they please God enough to be acceptable to Him. They have a hope that God will accept them, but they do not know, not with absolute certainty.

It is these feelings that have stirred the religions of the world. Men want to be right with God; they want to be approved and accepted by God. They want God to look after them and help them, and they want God to accept them when this life is over. Therefore, they set out to do what they feel will make them good enough to be acceptable to God. They try to do whatever good they feel is necessary to please their god. Granted, the degree to which men feel this differs among all men. One man will feel that he has to be extremely good, whereas another man feels that he has to be moderately good. The point to note is this: this kind of religion is a religion...

- of works
- of doing good
- of securing God's favor
- of making oneself acceptable to God
- of being good
- of preparing oneself for God
- of making oneself approved by God

It is a religion of self-righteousness—of becoming as righteous and good as a person can—of earning and meriting God's favor—of working one's way into God's presence. There is, of course, a severe fallacy with this approach to God.

⇒ God is perfect and not a single person is perfect. No person can do enough good to become perfect no matter what he does. In fact, man is already imperfect; and once perfection is lost, it is lost. Imperfection can never become perfection, not by the efforts of human (imperfect) flesh. Imperfection cannot make perfection.

The point is this: no person can ever earn or merit the right to live in God's presence. If a person is ever going to live in God's presence, it will be because God loves the person enough to accept him and to transform him into a perfect person. This is exactly what God does through Jesus Christ. God accepts men through His Son, through the love and grace of His Son.

PHILIPPIANS 3:4-16

It was this, the gospel of Jesus Christ, that Paul had missed. And it is this that so many in the world miss. Paul had never seen the great love of God for man. Yet, above all men, he had given his life to seeking after God, doing all the good he could to make himself acceptable to God. But despite all his achievements, he still did not have peace with God. Perfect assurance and confidence—of living eternally with God—was still lacking. This is the message of the present passage: Paul's personal testimony—his rejection of self-righteousness and turning to the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

1. Paul had achieved the height in self-righteousness (v.4-6).
2. Paul sought to win Christ—His righteousness and perfection (v.7-11).
3. Paul did not count himself as having yet arrived—he was not yet perfect (v.12-16).

1 (3:4-6) Self-righteousness—Paul: Paul had achieved the height of self-righteousness. Paul ranks among the greatest of men who have attempted to work their way into God's presence. Paul did all the good he could to secure God's approval. Few if any men have ever attained what Paul did by human effort. Yet, it was all to no avail. His goodness and his attainments did not make him acceptable to God. And there is one primary reason: he could not make himself perfect.

However, note what Paul says: "If any man thinks he can trust in the works and attainments of his flesh, I more. I can trust and boast in the goodness and morality and works of the flesh as much as any man who has ever lived." This is a phenomenal claim, but Paul lists seven privileges and achievements which show the total inadequacy of man to save himself. Paul divided the list under "Privileges of Birth" and "Achievements by Self-Effort."

1. The privileges of birth are three in particular.
  - a. "Circumcised the eighth day": Paul was saying that he had the right birth. A true Jewish family always had its male child circumcised when he was just eight days old. Circumcision was the sign that a person believed in old and in His promises—in particular the promise that the Jews were the promised and covenant people of God. Paul was claiming to be a true Jewish believer who had the privilege of believing parents.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in birth nor in religious rituals and ceremonies. Yet, how many people think they are acceptable to God because they...

- have godly parents?
- have a godly spouse?
- have godly children?
- have godly friends?
- have kept religious rituals and ceremonies?

How many expect the godliness of others to rub off on them—to count for them and to make them acceptable to God?

- b. "Of the stock of Israel": Paul was saying that he had the right national heritage and a very special relationship with God. He was born in the right nation, among the right people. The name Israel goes back to the time when God changed Jacob's name to Israel. Jacob had a special need, and God met his need in a very special way through a dream and changed his name (Gen.32:28). When a Jew wished to stress his special relationship to God, he called himself an Israelite; that is, he was of the nation and descent of Israel which had a very special relationship with God and who had received a very special name from God.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in ancestors nor in social superiority. Yet, how many think that being born in a Christian nation and surrounded by Christian principles carry some merit with God? How many feel that the people of a so called Christian nation are more acceptable to God than the heathen of some idol-worshipping tribe in the depths of a jungle? How many feel that they have some merit with God because they have a Christian name? How many feel they have a little better relationship with God and are a little more acceptable to God because they live in a so called religious nation?

- c. "Of the tribe of Benjamin": Benjamin was considered the aristocratic tribe of Israel because of the tribe's loyalty when so many were disloyal (1 Ki.12:1) and because of the tribe's courageous acts throughout Israel's history (Judg.5:14; Hos.5:8). Paul was saying that he was of the highest aristocracy, of the most noble, of the most respectable persons of Israel.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in social or religious status. Yet, how many feel they are more acceptable to God because they belong to...

- an upper class?
- a more elite church?
- a more dynamic church?
- a more active ministry?

2. The achievements by self-effort are four in number.

- a. "An Hebrew of the Hebrews": Paul claimed to have the right language and the right customs. When the Jews were conquered and scattered over the world, a believing Jew refused to give up his Jewish language and customs. He continued using Hebrew and he continued to practice Jewish customs. Every Jew did not, but Paul says he and his family did. What Paul meant was that he had the mark of faithfulness. He had deliberately kept the Hebrew tongue and refused to forget it. In his day, this was extremely difficult, for the Jews were literally scattered across the world and the world had one common language, Greek. But Paul remained steadfast. He learned and refused to forget the right language. He was loyal to the elect race of God. He was untinged by other philosophies.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in religious faithfulness, nor in a spiritual language, nor in the ability to know and speak in religious terms. Yet, how many think that they are acceptable to God because they..

- do good and are faithful in being good?
- are faithful in studying their religion, the Bible, and the great doctrines of the faith?
- are faithful in talking about and sharing spiritual things?
- know and use religious terms and languages?

- b. “A Pharisee”: Paul claimed to have had the right religion; to have been a Pharisee. The Pharisees were strict religionists, so strict their very name meant The Separated Ones. Paul said that he was of the strictest religious sect ever known. He devoted his whole life to the most separated and demanding religion ever known to man. He achieved separation, an exacting separation from other men.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in religion, not even in being a follower of the true religion. Yet, how many feel the very opposite?

- c. “Zeal”: Paul had zealously stood and fought for his religion. He hotly pursued and persecuted the church. Paul had such a zeal for his religion that he sought to wipe out any cause that differed from his (Acts 22:2-21; 26:4-33; 1 Cor.15:8-10; Gal.1:13).

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in religious commitments or zeal. Few have ever been committed to their religion like Paul—few have ever been as faithful to the worship services, ordinances, rituals, and ceremonies of his religion as Paul. Paul was a religionist among religionists. Few have ever proclaimed and protected their religion like Paul. Paul was as zealous as a person could be in trying to reach converts for his religion and in keeping his religion as pure as he could. Paul was full of zeal for his religion, as faithful as a person could be.

- d. “Blameless”: Paul claimed he had sought to keep the law and he had kept it—completely and fully. This does not mean that Paul was sinless; it means that when Paul sinned, he obeyed the law and took his sacrifice to the temple. He obeyed all the commandments, rituals, and ceremonies just like Scripture said. He followed all the laws and instructions of the Scripture. He was blameless—ritually and ceremonially—in the righteousness of the law.

Thought 1. Paul was saying that goodness and righteousness are not found in keeping all the rituals and ceremonies of religion. They are not even found in keeping all the commandments of the Scripture.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise” (2 Cor.10:12).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

2 (3:7-11) Righteousness—Perfection—Paul: Paul sought to win Christ, to win His righteousness and His perfection. The one thing in life that Paul sought was the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ. He knew that no matter how good he could become, he could never become perfect. He still came short and he was still doomed to face death. Therefore, his only hope for living forever was the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ. He had to trust Christ; he had to focus his heart and life—all he was and had—upon Jesus Christ. He had to trust the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ to cover him. Therefore, he cast his heart and life upon Christ. He lived for Jesus Christ, and he trusted God to honor his commitment. He trusted God to count his faith as the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ. If God did not do this, he was lost and doomed to death forever; he could never gain perfection. His only hope was Christ and Christ alone. This is what the present passage is all about. Paul believed with all his heart that if he trusted Jesus Christ—that if he sought after the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ with all that he was and had—God would take his faith and count it as righteousness. God would honor his commitment to His Son by accepting and giving him eternal life. Note five significant points.

1. Paul had a past experience with Christ: there was a time when he had counted his own righteousness as loss (v.7). Paul was referring to his conversion experience. There was a time when he had given up his own self-righteousness and works, his own attempts to become perfect. There was a time when he had accepted the fact that he could not become perfect—he could not gain righteousness—he could not make himself perfectly acceptable to God.

- a. Note that this is a past experience, a once-for-all experience. It is a definite time when Paul made a definite decision—a decision that he was unable to secure righteousness and perfection himself. If he was to become righteous and perfect, he had to trust the love of God—that God loved him enough to cover him with the righteousness and perfection of Christ.
- b. Note also that this did not mean that Paul quit trying to live for God. On the contrary, it meant that Paul tried more diligently than ever to live for God. When God saw Paul's total commitment to Christ, God knew that Paul's faith was genuine. He knew that Paul really believed that Christ was his Savior, his hope for perfection and righteousness—for eternity. If Paul had not committed himself totally to Christ, God would have known his faith was not genuine and God would not have saved Paul.

Thought 1. God sees our faith; whether or not it is genuine. Genuine faith makes a total commitment to Jesus Christ. A person who truly believes in Jesus Christ gives all he is and has to Christ. He counts his own effort and works, his own righteousness as loss—as nothing—in order to gain Christ.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

2. Paul had a continuous experience with Christ: he constantly counted all things as loss and as waste in order to win Christ (v.8). The word “count” is in the present tense; it is continuous action. When a person has made the decision to seek after Christ, he is to continue to seek after the knowledge of Christ—to learn all he can about the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ.

- ⇒ It is not a matter of making a decision to follow Christ, and then turning and walking on as a person has always walked—doing his own thing and fulfilling the desires of the flesh and the mind.
- ⇒ It is making a decision to follow Christ and continuing to seek after the knowledge of Him—continuing to seek to know Him more and more.

- a. Note that the knowledge of Christ is said to be excellent: it is the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord. The knowledge of Jesus Christ is the most excellent knowledge in all the world. No other knowledge can give a person righteousness and perfection. No other knowledge can make a person acceptable to God and give him the right to live eternally.
- b. Note what Paul says: “I have suffered the loss of all things.” The words “have suffered” mean to forfeit and to cast away. The phrase all things includes not only the religious position Paul had attained, but the “social, financial, intellectual, and political” gains he had made as well (Lehman Strauss, Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.163). Wuest gives a graphic description of what Paul gave up to become a Christian believer.

“Paul was a citizen of Tarsus. At the time he lived there, only families of wealth and reputation were allowed to retain their Tarsian citizenship. This throws a flood of light upon Paul’s early life. He was born into a home of wealth and culture. His family were wealthy Jews living in one of the most progressive of oriental cities. All this Paul left to become a poor itinerant missionary.

*“But not only did he forfeit all this when he was saved, but his parents would have nothing to do with a son who had in their estimation dishonored them by becoming one of those hated, despised Christians. They had reared him in the lap of luxury, had sent him to the Jewish school of theology in Jerusalem to sit at the feet of the great Gamaliel, and had given him an excellent training in Greek culture at the University of Tarsus, a Greek school of learning. But they had now cast him off. He was still forfeiting all that he had held dear, what for? He tells us, ‘that I may win Christ’” (Kenneth S. Wuest. Wuest’s Word Studies, Vol.2. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1966, p.91).*

“Then Peter began to say unto him, Lo, we have left all, and have followed thee” (Mk.10:28).

“And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Levi, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me” (Lk.5:27).

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it” (Lk.9:24).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“And he said unto them, Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God’s sake, who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting” (Lk.18:29-30).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

3. Paul sought a future experience with Christ: he sought to be found in Christ (v.9). Paul was looking ahead either to death or to the return of Christ. When he came face to face with God, he wanted to be found in Christ. He wanted to stand before God in the righteousness of Jesus Christ, not in his own righteousness.

Note that the righteousness of God is Christ Himself. The righteousness of God does not refer to behavior or works or deeds of righteousness. No person can ever secure the righteousness of God by behavior or works or deeds—no matter how good the works or deeds may be. The righteousness of God is Jesus Christ Himself. A person has to trust the righteousness of Christ to cover him if he wishes to become acceptable to God.

“Christ, the righteousness which is of God” (v.9).

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

4. Paul sought a victorious experience with Christ: he sought to know Christ—to know His glorious power over the world and all that is in the world (v.10). This is one of the Bible’s great verses of Scripture, a verse that should be memorized and that should dominate the believer’s life. As clearly seen throughout this whole passage, Paul’s great pursuit in life was to know Christ. This verse spells out exactly what he meant by knowing Christ.

- a. To know Christ is to know the power of His resurrection. The power of the Lord’s resurrection refers to three great things (see note, Power—Eph.1:20 for discussion).
- b. To know Christ is to know the fellowship of His sufferings. Most of us are willing to share in the blessings of Christ but we want nothing to do with the sufferings of Christ. We shrink from the ridicule, questioning, and abuse He had to bear. There is nothing pleasant about suffering pain and having people oppose us. There is nothing wrong with being honest about the fact. Paul said that he wanted to know the fellowship of the Lord’s sufferings. That is, he wanted to share in the purpose for which Christ was suffering. Why did Christ suffer? He suffered because He proclaimed the righteousness and salvation of God—because He proclaimed the way men could become acceptable to God and live forever. Paul was saying that he wanted to suffer right along with Christ, suffer for the same cause—suffer for proclaiming the righteousness and salvation of God.

There is no question about it: if we live for Christ—proclaim the righteousness and salvation of God—we shall suffer persecution. Why? Why would the world persecute anyone who brings the hope of eternal life to them? Because some persons want to live their lives like they want, and a righteous life and message condemns them. Therefore, they oppose anything that keeps them from living a life that pleases their own personal desires and flesh. The believer must know: he shall suffer persecution if he truly follows Christ.

“Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God” (Acts 14:22).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:12).

“But and if ye suffer for righteousness’ sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled; but sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear: having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:14-16).

“For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps” (1 Pt.2:21).

Note one other thing: God draws close to the believer when he suffers for the cause of Christ. God gives a very special sense of His presence, love, and care when the believer is suffering. In fact, His presence is so near and dear it is called “the spirit of glory and of God” which rests upon the suffering believer.

“If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified” (1 Pt.4:14).

- c. To know Christ is to be made conformable to His death. Jesus Christ subjected Himself totally to God. He put His own flesh and desires to death; He did only what God willed and desired. Even when He died, His flesh did not desire to die. He did not want to take the sins of the world upon Himself and be separated from God (cp. Mt.26:39, 42). But He subjected Himself to God’s will. God willed Him to die for the sins of the world; therefore, Christ subjected His flesh and desires to do exactly what God willed. He subjected His flesh and desires and died for the sins of men.

Paul sought to be conformed to the death of Christ. He sought to subject himself totally to God—to put his flesh and desires to death and to do only the will and desire of God.

⇒ Paul sought to deny himself and take up the cross of Christ daily.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

⇒ Paul sought to crucify his old man with Christ.

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

⇒ Paul sought to count himself dead to sin but alive to God.

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

⇒ Paul sought to kill himself all day long.

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter” (Ro.8:36).

⇒ Paul sought to die daily.

“I protest by your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily” (1 Cor.15:31).

⇒ Paul sought to be always delivered to death for Jesus’ sake.

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

⇒ Paul sought to be crucified with Christ.

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

⇒ Paul sought to be dead with Christ.

“Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances” (Col.2:20).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

5. Paul sought an eternal experience with Christ: he sought to be resurrected from the dead (v.11). Paul sought to use all means—to commit himself totally—for this one great purpose: to attain to the resurrection of the dead. The words “if by any means” are not expressing doubt and uncertainty. Paul was not questioning the resurrection nor if he would be resurrected. Paul was simply saying what he had already stated (v.7-11). He uses all he is and has—all the means at his disposal—for this one great purpose: to attain to the resurrection from the dead. He is totally committed to that glorious day of redemption. He lives for that day and for that day alone.

What is so significant about the resurrection of the dead? What is to be so different about that day? At death, we go to be with the Lord. Quicker than the eye can blink, when our time comes, we shall stand face to face with Christ. What is the difference between meeting Christ then and the resurrection? Why did Paul long for the resurrection over and above his meeting the Lord at death? There are at least two significant reasons why the resurrection, the glorious day of redemption, takes precedence over our meeting the Lord at death.

- a. The glorious day of resurrection will launch the events that will soon bring about the new heavens and earth. At death, when we go to be with the Lord, the world continues on in its sin and shame, disease and death, evil and corruption. God is still being...
  - cursed and dishonored.
  - denied and ignored.
  - rebelled against and rejected.

But as stated, the resurrection will launch the events that bring about the glorious day of redemption—the new heavens and earth—the day when all evil and sin and the cursing and dishonor of God will be stopped. God will become All in All: worshipped and served in glory and majesty, dominion and power forever and ever.

“Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:16-17).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

- b. The glorious day of resurrection will be the day when believers will have earthly bodies transformed and recreated into perfect eternal bodies. At death when we go to be with the Lord, we do not receive our perfect eternal body. We will either be given temporary spiritual bodies or live with Christ as disembodied spirits. But as stated, at the resurrection the elements of our present bodies will be called forth by God from all over the world, and the elements shall be transformed into perfect and eternal bodies. And we shall live with and for God forever.

“So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: it is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: it is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:42-44).

“And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly. Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:49-54; cp. 1 Cor.15:12-58).

“For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven: if so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked. For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life” (2 Cor.5:1-4).

“For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

3 (3:12-16) Righteousness—Perfection—Paul: Paul did not count himself as having yet attained—he was not yet perfect. Perfection is the great end of the believer. God has apprehended or laid hold of the believer for one reason only: to perfect the believer—to make him perfect so that he can live and worship and serve Christ forever.

Now note a critical point: no person achieves perfection on this earth. The fact is so evident to the thinking and honest man that it is actually ridiculous to even make the statement. Yet, too many are so narrow in their thinking that they seldom if ever grasp what perfection would really mean. For example...

- Consider the brain and the mind. It has been estimated that man uses only one-tenth of one percent of his mental capacity. Imagine how far short this is of perfection!
- Consider the body. What would a perfect body be like? A body that never desired, thought, or did wrong; that never came up short; that never aged, deteriorated, died or decayed?

The examples could go on and on, but note what Paul says: he had not attained perfection. In fact, he was always emphasizing how far short he came.

“For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not. For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do” (Ro.7:18-19).

“Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing as of ourselves; but our sufficiency is of God” (2 Cor.3:5).

“Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ” (Eph.3:8).

Beyond doubt, Paul was one of the greatest men who has ever lived. The great Book of Second Corinthians clearly shows this. If Paul was so short of perfection, how much further are we? The point bears repeating: no person achieves perfection on this earth. But note: Paul says five significant things.

1. Paul followed after perfection, after his God-given purpose. When Christ saved Paul, that was just the beginning, not the end. He had been saved to live for Christ and to serve Christ, and as long as he was on this earth he was going to live for Christ and do all he could to serve Christ. The word “follow after” (dioko) means to press; to pursue just like a runner in a race. There was no place for walking, much less for sitting or lying around in comfort, complacency and lethargy. Christ had saved Paul for perfection—to attain to the resurrection of the dead—and as long as Paul was on this earth, he was going to press and run after perfection.

⇒ Paul was going to do all he could to help the Lord in the Lord’s great task of perfecting him.

⇒ Paul was going to do all he could to lay hold of perfection—the perfection for which the Lord had laid hold of him.

Thought 1. There is no such thing as a genuine believer sitting still after he has been saved. The believer must not...

- become comfortable, complacent, lethargic, or lazy.
- waste time and lose opportunity.
- begin to think he is safe and secure forever; therefore, he can sometimes do what he likes and give in to his own desires.

The believer must follow, run, and press after perfection—the perfection for which Christ has saved him. The believer must be active in living for Christ.

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible. I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air: but I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:24-27).

“But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us. We are troubled on every side, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not in despair” (2 Cor.4:7-8).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

2. Paul worked at forgetting the past. This is a verse that is of enormous help to believers who have failed God—miserably failed Him. Paul had so failed God, and he was always confessing how far short he came (cp. Ro.7:18-19; 2 Cor.3:5; Eph.3:8). Paul faced what so many of us face:

⇒ failure and shortcoming

⇒ the struggle to forget it and to move on

How does a person do this? It is one of the most difficult things in all the world to do. And it is especially difficult if others are not forgiving and willing to let the believer put his failure behind him. But note: Paul tells us how to deal with the past. How? By concentrating and controlling the mind and by reaching forth to those things which are before us. Note the concentration and focus:

⇒ but one thing.

⇒ but this one thing I do.

In one focused act, we must forget the things that are past and reach forth to those things that are before us. The act involves two parts: both forgetting and reaching forth. The past cannot be forgotten without reaching forth to what lies ahead. A person cannot sit around moaning and regretting the past. To do so is to be concentrating upon the past. The things of the past are to be forgotten. The things of the future are to be the focus of the mind. The believer is to zero in on the things at hand and on the things that lie ahead. If we do this, there is no time to wallow around in the past and its failure.

“Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able” (Lk.13:24).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily” (Col.1:29).

“Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin” (Heb.12:4).

PHILIPPIANS 3:4-16

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

3. Paul pressed on toward the goal, toward God’s purpose in Christ Jesus. What is God’s purpose for us in Christ Jesus? It is to be conformed to the image of Christ—to be perfect even as He is perfect. Once we are perfect...

- we shall be incorruptible and eternal.
- we shall live in honor and glory.
- we shall live in God’s perfect presence and power.
- we shall live in perfect righteousness and purity.
- we shall live worshipping and serving God eternally.

Perfection means eternal life, a perfect life that never ends—that goes on and on doing the things that God created us to do. Perfection means the eternal life of Jesus Christ—being conformed to the perfection of Jesus Christ. (See notes—Ro.8:29; 1 Cor.15:42-44 for more discussion.)

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:24).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

4. Paul kept his mind on growing and maturing in Christ. All believers are ordained by God to be perfect in Christ Jesus, and we shall be perfected in the glorious day of redemption. Let us, therefore, as many as are ordained by God to be perfected, keep our minds on perfection.

Note: this is sometimes difficult to do because we live in a world that is gripped by the lust for...

- comfort and ease
- pleasure and plenty
- possessions and recognition
- indulgence and extravagance
- more and more

But note something: God will not let the genuine believer rest unless his mind is on righteousness and purity, the gospel and witnessing. God pricks our hearts, reveals that we are failing and coming short. God stirs us to get our minds back upon living like we should—upon pressing for perfection.

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

“Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?” (Jas.4:1).

5. Paul maintained the growth he had already achieved. Too many live up and down lives. We gain some discipline and some growth, then before too long, we slip right back. It may involve...

- lying, stealing, or cheating
- devotions or prayer
- control of thoughts and mind
- discipline of body and habits

Growth takes place, but then some circumstance or interruption takes place, and the new man and new growth are forsaken and we slip back into being the old man, living just like we used to live.

But note the strong exhortation of Scripture: take what you have learned and attained and walk by that rule; keep your mind upon that rule.

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

DIVISION IV

THE “PRESSING ON” OF THE CHRISTIAN BELIEVER, 3:1-21

C. Pressing On: Marking Those Who Walk as Examples, 3:17-21

(3:17-21) Introduction: this is one of the most important passages in the Bible. It has to do with the example we set before the world and before our families and friends. The way we live and what we do influences people. We may not want to influence them, but it does not matter whether we want to or not: they are influenced. Family, friends, and children—everyone who knows us—watch us; and they follow both the good and the bad of our example. It may be conscious or unconscious, intentional or unintentional; we may be willing or we may not be willing for them to follow in our steps—it matters not—they follow our example. We influence people by how we live and by what we do.

- ⇒ If we follow good and do good, it encourages them to do good.
- ⇒ If we follow bad and do bad, it sets a pattern of bad before others. It even causes some (in particular, the young and immature) to think that since we did it and still got along fairly well, they can do it and get along fairly well, too.

The point is this: the life we live sets a pattern for others to follow. Others are going to follow us no matter what we do. This says something to us, something of critical importance: we must live lives on the highest plane possible. We must set the most dynamic example possible. We must set the most perfect pattern possible for others to follow. But it also says something else: we must follow after those who live on the highest plane of life. We must mark those who walk as examples and follow after the great traits of their lives. We must take those who live as examples and dissect the traits of their lives, and apply those traits to our own lives. This is the subject of the present passage: marking those who walk as examples for us all.

1. Reason 1: some walk as examples (v.17).
2. Reason 2: many walk as enemies of the cross (v.18-19).
3. Reason 3: the believer is a citizen of heaven (v.20-21).

1 (3:17) Paul—Testimony: we must mark those who walk as examples, first, because they do walk as examples. Note what Paul said: he and others followed Christ ever so diligently; therefore, they were dynamic examples as to how people should walk and live. When a person lives a life on the highest plane—when he lives like Christ said to live—he is an example. He is living just like we all should live: just as Christ said.

What did Paul mean? Was he claiming perfection—claiming to be the perfect pattern for men to follow? No! A thousand times no! In fact, the very opposite is true. He had just declared...

- that he could never stand before God in his own righteousness (v.9).
- that he had not yet attained (v.12).
- that he was not perfect (v.12).
- that he had not apprehended that for which Christ had laid hold of him (v.13).

What then did Paul mean? Just what he said. He was a dynamic example...

- in forgetting the things that were past.
- in reaching forth to the things that lay ahead.
- in pressing toward the prize, even the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

Paul was a dynamic example in seeking to follow Christ. He was forever reaching forth, forever pressing to be like Christ. He never reached the perfect pattern of Christ—he could not, not as long as he was a man—but he pressed and pressed to be all he could for Christ. It is this that Paul sets before us as a pattern. We are to follow Paul...

- in forgetting the past, no matter how terrible it is.
- in reaching forth to the things that lie ahead.
- in pressing toward the prize, even the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

We will never achieve perfection, not in this life, but we are to follow after Christ and seek to be like Him. Now note the point: when we see a person sharing Christ with such dynamic commitment and energy, that person is an example for us. We should follow that person. He is following after Christ, doing the very thing we should be doing. Therefore, he is a living example for us.

Note the word “example” (tuupon). The underlying meaning of the word is that of an imprint or mark made by a blow or some mould or dye. The idea is that we are to be seeking Christ with such diligence that our example will be like a powerful blow being thrown at those around us. Take the most powerful boxing blow of the heavyweight champion and our example for Christ should strike others with just as much power.

Thought 1. No believer should ever claim or think that he has come anywhere close to perfection. But every believer should follow Christ with so much commitment and diligence that he is a dynamic example for others. Every believer should be able to say “follow me”—follow my seeking after Christ—my seeking to be like Christ.

“Wherefore I beseech you, be ye followers of me” (1 Cor.4:16).

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an ensample” (Ph.3:17).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost” (1 Th.1:6).

“Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe” (1 Th.2:10).

“For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:7).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“But above all things, my brethren, swear not, neither by heaven, neither by the earth, neither by any other oath: but let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay; lest ye fall into condemnation” (Jas.5:12).

2 (3:18-19) Testimony—Jesus Christ, Cross: we must mark those who walk as examples, second, because many walk as enemies of the cross. Who are the enemies of the cross? Many commentators say they are the hypocritical and false believers within the church, those who are nominal Christians. They say that the word “walk” is used of Christians in verse 17; therefore, it also refers to church members in verse 18. It is also said that Paul would weep only for false believers within the church.

It is true that Paul could have been referring to false and hypocritical believers within the church; however, every unbeliever both in and out of the church walks as an enemy of the cross...

- whether the leader of a nation or a movement who is set on wiping out the church and the cross.
- whether a professing believer who really doubts the substitutionary death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Note something else as well: it is a common thing for believers to weep for the lost. Certainly Paul wept many times over the lost of the world and not just over false believers within the church. (Cp. Mt.23:37; Lk.13:34; Ro.9:1-3; 10:1; 1 Tim.2:1-4.)

“I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men; for kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:1-4).

Again, who are the enemies of the cross? It seems best to take the verse for just what it says: there are many who walk as “the enemies of the cross”—no matter who they are, whether within or without the church. Unquestionably, the enemies of the cross are many. Note what is said about them.

1. Their end is destruction (apoleia). The word means perdition, destroyed, or slayed; to lose one’s well-being; to be wasted and ruined and given a worthless existence. It does not mean that a person will cease to exist. It means a person will be destroyed and devastated and condemned to a worthless existence. He will suffer waste and loss and ruin forever and ever.

If a person stands as an enemy of the cross, he shall be destroyed. It does not matter who he is, either within or without the church, he shall suffer perdition, that is, utter destruction. Who is an enemy of the cross? It is the person...

- who rejects the cross of Christ as the only way to God.
- who does not accept the death of Christ as payment for his sins.
- who does not believe that Christ died for him, that is, as the punishment for his transgressions.
- who does not believe that the penalty for his imperfection was borne by Christ on the cross.
- who does not approach God claiming that he is coming by the death of Christ—that is, that he wants God to accept him in the death of Christ.
- who claims that there are other ways to approach God—ways other than the cross of Christ.
- who considers the cross of Christ to be foolishness.
- who opposes and curses Christ and His cross.
- who persecutes and attempts to stamp out Christ and His cross.
- who denies and questions that Christ died for our sins.

“And these shall go away into everlasting punishment: but the righteous into life eternal” (Mt.25:46; cp. v.25-45).

“But he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation” (Mk.3:29).

“...he [Christ] will throughly purge his floor, and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable” (Lk.3:17).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:8-9).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power” (2 Th.1:7-9).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace? For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:29-30).

“The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished” (2 Pt.2:9).

“And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire” (Rev.20:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

2. Their god is their belly (koilia), that is, their appetite, their sensuality, their desire for the physical pleasures of this world. Physical and material gratification is their god. They center their lives around...

- possessions and property
- houses and furnishings
- food and appetite
- comfort and plenty
- money and wealth
- pleasure and sex
- acceptance and social standing
- position and success
- honor and fame

Just take a moment and think upon any of the above, how some persons center and focus their lives upon such things. Some persons spend more time in front of a mirror or eating or thinking about acceptance or success or possessions or some business deal than they do in prayer.

The point is this: when a person has a craving and an appetite for such things, they become his god. The craving begins to consume his thoughts, energy, and effort. Before long his craving is taking up so much of his energy that he has very little if any time for God or for anything else. His appetite and craving, or as the Scripture says, his belly, becomes his god. Marvin Vincent quotes the Cyclops in Euripides as saying: “My flocks which I sacrifice to no one but myself, and not to the gods, and to this my belly the greatest of the gods: for to eat and drink each day, and to give one’s self no trouble, this is the god for wise men” (Word Studies in the New Testament, Vol.3, p.452).

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:18).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind, having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:17-19).

3. Their glory is their shame. This simply means that men boast in their sins and shame. They boast in and pride themselves...

- in their comfort
- in their drunkenness
- in their gluttony
- in their conquests
- in their sex
- in their partying
- in what they eat
- in what they have purchased
- in their authority and power
- in how much they have

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence [desire], and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Let your conversation [behavior] be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

4. They keep their mind on earthly things. This is simply another way of saying that a person is worldly. He focuses his mind, energy and effort upon the things of the world. But note: the things of the world include much more than the physical and material gratifications of this world. Worldly things also include the commendable things that are accepted by society such as...

- religions and spiritual pursuits
- self-development programs
- rules of virtue and morality
- the pursuit of ambition or success
- employment and jobs and business

As stated, such things are commendable and some are even necessary for survival and health. But the point is this: the basis of our lives must be the cross of Christ, not the things of this world. The only hope for conquering the ills and corruption of society and the evil and death of man is the cross of Christ. Nothing on this earth, no matter how good and beneficial it is, can give us life—not abundant and eternal life. Only Jesus Christ can give us life that conquers all and that infuses us with life that lasts forever. Therefore, the focus of our lives must be Christ and His cross. Yes, we must give our attention to our jobs and families and to the other good and beneficial pursuits of life, but underlying everything we do must be Christ and His cross. He and His cross must be the consuming passion and purpose of our lives. The person who sets his mind on earthly things is an enemy of the cross of Christ.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

3 (3:20-21) Heaven—Believer: we must mark those who walk as examples, third, because the believer is a citizen of heaven. Note three points.

1. The believer’s life is to be heaven-centered, for his citizenship is in heaven. The word “conversation” (politeuma) means citizenship in this context. Remember that Philippi was a Roman colony and its citizens, although in Macedonia, were citizens of Rome. As pointed out earlier, the citizens of Roman colonies lived as Romans: they dressed as Romans, spoke the Roman language, lived by the laws of Rome, engaged in Roman pleasures and social affairs, and worshipped the Roman gods. Despite the fact that they lived in Macedonia, their citizenship was in Rome. (See note, Citizenship, Heavenly—Ph.1:27 for more discussion; cp. Eph.2:6.)

The point to see is this: the Philippian believers knew exactly what it meant to live in one place and to be a citizen of another place. They knew exactly what it would mean to live upon the earth and...

- to dress as a citizen of heaven and not of the earth.
- to speak as a citizen of heaven and not of the earth.
- to engage in the pleasures of a citizen of heaven and not of the earth.
- to live by the laws of heaven as well as the laws of earth.
- to worship the God of heaven and not the religions and gods of this earth.

Thought 1. Believers are to live as citizens of heaven and not of this world. The point is forceful.

“Notwithstanding in this rejoice not, that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice, because your names are written in heaven” (Lk.10:20).

“That ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel” (Lk.22:30).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God” (Eph.2:19).

“For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ” (Ph.3:20).

“By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:9-10).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-16).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb’s book of life” (Rev.21:27).

2. The believer’s life is to be focused upon the return of Christ. He is to be looking for the Lord’s return—constantly looking—looking every day of his life. Lehman Struss makes a strong point in the following:

“The greatest event in any country on earth is a visit from its chief emperor. History records the most elaborate preparations and memorials for such an event. Special coins have been minted, commemorative stamps issued, and highways built. Looking forward to the Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ is the highlight of Christian expectation. We should be dwelling daily in this thought of His return....Imagine how the residents in your neighborhood would feel if the President of the United States had announced that he was making a personal appearance in your community. I feel certain there would be some special preparations for his coming” (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.207f).

Kenneth Wuest points out that the Greek word “look” is made up of three words put together. There is...

- the word “receive” which speaks of welcoming as the welcoming of a guest. It also has the idea of preparation for the guest.
- the word “off” which speaks of withdrawing one’s attention from other objects.
- the word “out” which has the idea of waiting for, of stretching out the neck and waiting out or for the return of Christ. (Philippians, Vol.1, p.102.)

Combined together, the word “look” (apekdechometha) means to yearn, to eagerly look and wait for the coming of the Lord Jesus to take His dear people to heaven.

“Therefore be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh” (Mt.24:44).

“And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come” (Lk.19:13).

“Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you” (Jn.14:1-2).

“So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.1:7).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father” (1 Jn.2:24).

3. The believer’s life is to focus upon the glorious body he is to receive when Christ returns.

a. Right now the believer’s body is vile, that is, lowly and humiliating. The human body is so lowly and humiliating...

- because it has its origin out of the earth: it is nothing more than earthly chemicals or human flesh.
- because it is subject to sin and selfishness, evil and destruction.
- because it is so weak: it becomes sick and diseased, injured and maimed, aged and deteriorated.
- because it is corruptible and dying, aging and mortal, offering no hope of ever lasting beyond a few short years—no hope whatsoever.

PHILIPPIANS 3:17-21

- b. However, note the wonderful declaration: the Lord Jesus Christ shall change the believer's body and fashion or make it just like His glorious body. The word "fashion" (summorphon) points out a most wonderful thing. The word means the permanent, constant, and unchangeable being of a person. Our bodies shall be fashioned just like the glorious body of Christ. Imagine! To have a body that is permanent, constant, and unchanging. (See note, pt.2—Ph.2:6 for more discussion on the word fashion.) The believer will receive a spiritual body.

"There is a natural body [soma psuchikon] and there is a spiritual body [soma pneumatikon]" (1 Cor.15:44).

"Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself" (Ph.3:21).

We shall be "conformed to the image of His Son" (Ro.8:29).

"We shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is" (1 Jn.3:2).

- c. How is such possible? By the power of God, the very power which is able to subdue all things to Christ. The very power that created the world and all that is in the world...
- is sovereign over the world.
  - is able to control the world.
  - is able to subdue the world.
  - is able to recreate the world.
  - is able to transform the body of man.

"But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (2 Pt.3:10-13).

DIVISION V

THE SECRET OF PEACE—THE PEACE OF GOD HIMSELF, 4:1-9

A. The Steps to Peace (Part I): Standing Fast, Unity, Rejoicing, & Gentleness, 4:1-5

(4:1-9) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Peace: the point of this whole passage (4:1-9) is the peace of God (v.7) and the presence of the God of peace (v.9<sup>b</sup>). There are six steps that a believer must take to maintain the peace of God within his heart and life (see outlines—Ph.4:1-9). If the believer fails to take these steps, he grieves both the Lord and fellow believers, those who have made a special contribution to his growth, those who look upon him as their “joy and crown” (Ph.4:1). Unfortunately, when a believer loses his peace with God, several things happen...

- He becomes self-conscious, and sheepishly shy and guilty, and perhaps discouraged and defeated.
- He becomes cantankerous, critical, murmuring, grumbling, and divisive.
- He begins to slip back into sin.

The peace he once had with God and man becomes disturbed, and restlessness grips his soul. His restlessness stirs him into being a troublemaker or into sin or else it plummets him into despair and defeat. He has failed; therefore, he feels unworthy and unable to walk victoriously with God. This is the importance of this passage: the secret of peace—the peace of God Himself. (See note—Jn.14:27.)

(4:1-5) Introduction: this passage is speaking to Christian believers, not to unbelievers. Unbelievers do not have peace with God. They reject, question, deny, curse, and oppose God. God feels no peace between Himself and an unbeliever. No matter how mild the unbeliever’s questioning and rejection is, it is still questioning and rejection and not peace. But when an unbeliever surrenders his life and accepts God, peace is made between him and God. Peace rules both within and between the person and God. In fact, God causes a flood of peace to surge through the heart and life of the new believer.

The question is this: once we have the peace of God flooding our lives, how do we maintain that peace? How do we keep the peace of God ruling and reigning within our souls? How do we stay aware that God’s very own presence is within us—stay aware that the God of peace lives within our very being? This is the discussion of this passage: the steps to peace.

1. Step 1: peace comes through standing fast (v.1).
2. Step 2: peace comes through agreement and unity (v.2-3).
3. Step 3: peace comes through rejoicing continually and repeatedly (v.4).
4. Step 4: peace comes through a strong gentleness (v.5).

1 (4:1) Standing Fast—Peace: the first step to peace is standing fast. This verse is a transitional verse between what has been said and what is about to be said. Paul has just said...

- there are enemies of the cross of Christ,
  - the believer’s citizenship is in heaven,
  - the Lord is going to return and take us out of this world into heaven, transforming our bodies;
- ...therefore, stand fast in the Lord.

However, note how the verse fits in with what is to follow. Verse nine is the conclusion of this section:

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (v.9).

If a person wants the God of peace, he must do the things which Paul taught and did, and one of the major things he taught was to stand fast in the Lord. If a person wishes the God of peace, he must stand fast in the Lord.

The word “stand fast” (stekete) means simply to stand firm, persist, persevere. It is the picture of a soldier standing fast against the onslaught of an enemy. He refuses to give ground no matter the pressure and strength of attack. He does not flinch; he is not unstable and he is never defeated. The Christian believer is to stand fast...

- no matter how great the trial
- no matter the pressure of the temptation
- no matter the influence, offer, and allurements made by others.

But how does a believer stand fast? When the temptation to surrender is so appealing and the trial is so terrible, where can the believer find the strength to stand fast? There are two places.

1. There is the believer's source of strength: the Lord Himself. Note the words, "Stand fast in the Lord." There is only one place the believer can stand fast, and that is "in the Lord." The believer must be living and moving and having his being in the Lord; that is, he must be...

- praying, talking, and sharing with the Lord all day long.
- keeping his thoughts upon the Lord: the glorious salvation, hope, and mission He has given believers.
- serving and ministering for the Lord, bearing testimony of Him and meeting the needs of those who hurt and need help.

When a believer is walking in the Lord throughout the day, his mind and thoughts are upon the Lord. Therefore, when the temptations and trials come, he is conscious and aware of the Lord's presence and strength. He has been thinking and sharing and talking with the Lord—standing and walking in the Lord—all day long; therefore, he is much more able to stand fast against the temptation and trial. This is exactly what is meant by being "in the Lord."

⇒ Believers are to be walking in prayer and praise all day long. This is what keeps the peace of God dwelling in their lives—the "peace of God" that conquers all trials and temptations.

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:6).

⇒ Believers are to be walking with their minds upon the Lord and the things that are pure and honorable. This is what gives them a sense that the "God of peace" walks with them—the God of peace who gives the believer the power to conquer all trials and temptations.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you" (Ph.4:8-9).

⇒ Believers are to actually work at bringing every single thought into subjection to Christ.

"Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ" (2 Cor.10:5).

Thought 1. The believer who walks praying and keeping his mind and thoughts upon the Lord is the believer who stands fast in the Lord. Common sense tells us this. There is no way to be "in the Lord" unless we are thinking, talking, and walking in the Lord. Very simply we are in whatever we are thinking, talking, and walking in. The first step to peace is to "stand fast in the Lord."

2. There is the encouragement: a minister or brother who loves and cares about his fellow-believer's standing fast. Note how Paul, the minister, feels about his flock—how deeply he feels for those under his care:

- ⇒ my dearly beloved brothers.
- ⇒ whom I long to see.
- ⇒ my joy and crown.

- a. He calls them my "dearly beloved brothers": they were his brothers and sisters in Christ. They had all trusted Christ as their Savior and become sons and daughters of the family of God. They were all brothers and sisters of the Lord and Paul is reminding them of this relationship. Therefore, they should all stand fast in the Lord.
- b. He says that he longs to see them. He is in prison and unable to be with them, but his heart is with his dear family, the family of God. Therefore, they need to please his heart by standing fast.
- c. He says they are his "joy and crown." This is probably a reference to the rewards to be given in the glorious day of redemption. The word "crown" (stephanos) refers to the crown or wreath that was given and set upon the head of a victorious athlete after he had won the victor's crown in his particular event. Paul says that his joy and crown will be the lives of the Philippians themselves when they all appear before Christ. Therefore, if he was to receive the joy and crown of their presence, they must stand fast in the Lord.

The thing to see is this: the need of believers for personal encouragement. If believers are to stand fast, they must be loved and cared for by the minister and other believers. Nothing encourages us any more than knowing that we are loved and cared for by others. The love of others stirs us to live like we should and to stand fast against temptation and trial.

Thought 1. Scripture exhorts believers to stand fast in several things.

1) Believers are to stand fast in the faith.

“Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong” (1 Cor.16:13).

2) Believers are to stand fast in the liberty of Christ.

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

3) Believers are to stand fast in one spirit, striving together for the faith of the gospel.

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

4) Believers are to stand fast in the Lord which is the secret of peace.

“Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved” (Ph.4:1).

5) Believers are to stand fast and hold the teachings or doctrines that have been taught.

“Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle” (2 Th.2:15).

2 (4:2-3) Unity—Brotherhood—Restoration: the second step to peace is agreement and unity. There is no peace if people are...

- |             |             |               |
|-------------|-------------|---------------|
| • arguing   | • brawling  | • dissenting  |
| • bickering | • wrangling | • grumbling   |
| • biting    | • disputing | • criticizing |

Paul knew this, a fact that is easily seen by all, but too often ignored by some. Paul knew something else as well, something that the Lord Himself knew. There were some in the Philippian church who were being critical, arguing, grumbling, and quarreling. The Lord had already had Paul to charge the believers:

⇒ To stand fast in one spirit and in defending the gospel.

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

⇒ To love each other and to be of one accord and mind.

“If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (Ph.2:1-2).

⇒ To esteem others better than self.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

1. The plea is for all quarrelers to agree in the Lord. The source of the disturbance in the church was due to two prominent ladies in the church: Euodia and Syntyche. Who they were and what caused the trouble between them is not known. Only one thing is known about them: they were quarrelers—two women who differed and who bickered and argued, criticized and dissented, murmured and grumbled.

Note what Paul did: he pleaded for the two ladies to get their minds together “in the Lord.” As stated in the former point, if a person is living and moving and having his being “in the Lord,” then he is walking and serving the Lord. He is consumed with the Lord and His mission. There is no time for arguing and divisiveness. In fact, the very opposite is true. He has time only for joining hands with others who are living and moving in the Lord—all seeking to fulfil the Lord’s mission upon earth. A person walking in the Lord is consumed with keeping the presence of the Lord alive in his heart and life. His thoughts are upon the Lord and His mission, not upon differences with other believers and arguing and divisiveness.

2. The need is for a true friend, a yokefellow, to step in and help any who are quarreling. The word “yokefellow” (sunzuge) is thought by some to be a proper name given to some Christians when they were baptized. It was a common practice for believers to be given new names at their baptism in order to symbolize their spiritual birth. Just who this yokefellow was is not known, but he must have been a man deeply respected by the people of the church. His name refers to the yoke or collar that was fitted around the neck of oxen for plowing. The collar attached the plow and held the two oxen together so that they would pull together and more quickly get the work done. Therefore, “yokefellow” means a person who pulls and works cooperatively with others. The very fact that Paul would ask him to help the two quarreling ladies shows that he was highly esteemed. Paul felt that he cared and that the two quarrelers would listen to him—that he could solve the dispute and bring about reconciliation.

PHILIPPIANS 4:1-5

Thought 1. Most churches have one or more yokefellows, persons...

- who love and care deeply for others.
- who are always helping and ministering to others.
- whom God has gifted and appointed to be ministerial helpers to the flock.
- who are highly respected and esteemed by most in the congregation.

The yokefellow is the person who should step in when quarrels and divisiveness begin to arouse their poisonous heads. The yokefellow is the person especially gifted by God to bring reconciliation and peace to the church.

Note: a message is given to the yokefellow as well as to the two quarrelers. The yokefellow is to help; helping is not an option. God has called and gifted him with a loving and caring nature that was especially suited for this kind of ministry. Therefore, he was to use his gift by stepping forward and doing his best to bring reconciliation and peace. Note also: there are two other reasons why he must help.

- a. The quarrelers were co-laborers in the gospel. They had helped Paul and Clement and others in the church. They needed to be serving in the gospel, not arguing and differing. Therefore, every effort possible had to be exerted in trying to salvage them.
- b. Second, their names were in the Book of Life. They were true believers who had slipped back into a life of sinful divisiveness. Despite their sin, they were true believers; therefore, every effort needed to be made to restore them.

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all” (Mk.10:43-44).

“Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the thieves? And he said, He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus unto him, Go, and do thou likewise” (Lk.10:36-37).

“If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another’s feet” (Jn.13:14).

“He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:16).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:1-2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the Lord our God” (Jer.3:22).

“I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him” (Hos.14:4).

“He will turn again, he will have compassion upon us; he will subdue our iniquities; and thou wilt cast all their sins into the depths of the sea” (Mic.7:19).

3 (4:4) Rejoicing: the third step to peace is that of rejoicing in the Lord. Note that a person is to rejoice always, that is, continually; and then he is to rejoice again, that is, repeatedly.

Remember: Paul is in prison and the church is having a problem with some false teaching. Yet, Paul tells the believers that they are to walk about rejoicing in the Lord. In fact they are to rejoice in the Lord always—no matter the circumstances (see note, Rejoicing—Ph.3:1 for discussion).

4 (4:5) Moderation—Gentleness: the fourth step to peace is a strong gentleness. The word “moderation” (epieikes) is a difficult word to translate into English. It is translated by others as gentleness, forbearance, reasonableness, consideration, agreeableness, courtesy, patience, and softness. There is a tendency to say that either forbearance or gentleness is the better translation. Barclay says that the word has the idea of justice in it, but that the meaning goes beyond and claims that there is something better than justice—a gracious gentleness.

1. Believers are to be gentle and forbearing in dealing with unbelievers. Note the phrase, “all men.” The exhortation not only deals with believers within the church, but with unbelievers. Barclay makes an excellent exposition of this point:

“The Christian, as Paul sees it, is the man who knows that for him there is something beyond justice. When the woman taken in adultery was brought before Him, Jesus could have applied the letter of the Law, and she should, according to it, have been stoned; but He went beyond justice. As far as justice goes, there is not one of us who deserves anything but the condemnation of God, but God goes far beyond justice. Paul lays it down that the mark of a Christian in his personal relationships with his fellow-men must be that he knows when, and when not, to insist on justice, and that he always remembers that there is something which is beyond justice, and which makes a man like God” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thesalonians, p.94.)

Thought 1. The point is well-taken: we must be gentle and forbearing in dealing with unbelievers. The last thing we must do is criticize, condemn, censor, neglect, and ignore unbelievers. We must reach out to the world with the gospel and treat them with a loving gentleness. We must be gentle, having absolutely nothing to do with harshness. Too many of us are harsh and critical or neglectful and withdrawn. Too many of us are wrapped in the cloak of religion having nothing to do with reaching out to the lost. The desperate need of the hour is for us to reach out with the gospel in a spirit of love and gentleness.

“With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:2).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

“But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children” (1 Th.2:7).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“To speak evil of no man, to be no brawlers, but gentle, showing all meekness unto all men” (Tit.3:2).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

2. The reason we must be gentle to men is because the Lord is at hand. He is ready to come, and His coming is near. This simply means that when He comes, everyone of us will need Him to treat us with gentleness. We are sinners—men and women, boys and girls—who sin too often. The Lord will have every right to be critical and condemning of us. Our only hope is that He will be gentle with us. Therefore, we must be gentle with all other men. Only if we are forgiving toward them will the Lord be forgiving toward us.

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors” (Mt.6:12).

“For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you: but if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses” (Mt.6:14-15).

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again” (Lk.6:38).

“And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him” (Lk.17:4).

DIVISION V

THE SECRET OF PEACE—THE PEACE OF GOD HIMSELF, 4:1-9

B. The Steps to Peace (Part II): Prayer & Positive Thinking, 4:6-9

(4:6-9) Introduction: remember we are answering a question—once we possess the peace of God, how do we maintain the peace? (See note—Ph.4:1-5 for more discussion.) Once we have made peace with God, then the peace of God floods our lives. How do we maintain that peace? How do we keep the peace of God ruling and reigning within our souls? How do we keep a consciousness of God’s very own presence within us—an awareness that the “God of peace” lives within our very being? This passage discusses two of the most important steps to possessing peace. Above all other passages, it tells us how to have peace and how to maintain peace. If we will take these two steps, the peace of God will rule and reign in our hearts and lives. We will never lose our peace or be without peace.

1. Peace comes through prayer (v.6-7).
2. Peace comes through positive thinking (v.8-9).

1 (4:6-7) Peace—Prayer—Anxiety: peace comes through prayer. Note three significant points.

1. There is the charge: be anxious (merimnate) about nothing. The idea is that the believer is not to worry or fret about a single thing. The word “nothing” (meden) means not even one thing. Humanly speaking, the Philippians had every reason to worry and be anxious.

- ⇒ They were suffering severe persecution (Ph.1:18-19).
- ⇒ They were facing a disturbance in the church, some disunity and quarreling (Ph.1:27, 42).
- ⇒ They had some carnal members within their fellowship, some members who were prideful, super-spiritual, and self-centered (Ph.2:3-4; 3:12).
- ⇒ They were facing some false teachers who had joined their fellowship, and the teachers were fierce in attacking the cross of Christ (Ph.3:2-3, 18-19).
- ⇒ Some of the believers were having to struggle for the necessities of life: food, clothing, and shelter (Ph.4:19).

There was little else that could confront these dear believers. They were facing about every trial and temptation imaginable, the kind of trouble that arouses anxiety and worry. Humanly, a person is going to fret, worry and suffer anxiety...

- when he is either about to lose or lacks food, clothing, or shelter.
- when he is persecuted, ridiculed, abused, or threatened.
- when he is surrounded by quarrels, disturbance, carnality, or false teaching.

In the midst of such circumstances, the only way a person can keep from worrying is to receive an injection of supernatural power.

This is the very point of Scripture. There is an answer to worry and anxiety, a supernatural answer: the peace of God. God will enable the believer to conquer worry and anxiety. God will overcome the trials of life for the believer, no matter how terrible and pressuring they may be. God will infuse the believer with peace—with the very peace of God Himself—a peace so great and so wonderful that it carries the believer right through the trial. Of course, this does not mean the believer is not to be concerned about the problems of life. He is, but there is a difference between concern and anxiety or worry. Concern drives us to arise and tackle the problems of life with an indomitable courage and diligence. Concern drives us to tackle and conquer all that we can handle. Anxiety and worry cause all kinds of problems...

PHILIPPIANS 4:6-9

Of course the list could go on and on, but the point to see is the seriousness of anxiety and worry. Just take a moment and think about a few of the above problems: how anxiety and worry cause a person to act and suffer. The seriousness is easily seen. We all know people who suffer greatly because of anxiety and worry; they simply lack the peace of God. Yet, the charge of Scripture is forceful: be anxious for nothing, not even for a single thing.

“Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Where-withal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles [unbelievers] seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31-33).

“And Jesus answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things” (Lk.10:41).

“And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind” (Lk.12:29).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

2. The remedy for anxiety and worry: prayer. The four words used for prayer show exactly how prayer is the answer to anxiety and worry.

⇒ The word “prayer” (proseuche) refers to the special times of prayer that we share in periods of devotion and worship. We are to have set times for prayer, times that we especially set aside for devotion and worship.

⇒ The word “supplication” (deesis) refers to the prayers that focus upon special needs. We feel a deep, intense need, therefore, we go before God and supplicate, that is, pour out our soul to God. Need—great need—confronts us, and the only possible help and deliverance is God. Therefore, we come and lay our need before Him as a child: crying, pleading and begging for His help, comfort, deliverance, and peace.

⇒ The word “thanksgiving” (eucharistia) means that we thank and praise God for all that He is and for all that He has done for us.

⇒ The word “requests” (aitemata) means specific and definite requests. Our praying is not to be general, but specific. We are to lay before God exactly what is needed and we are not to fear that we are being too detailed with God or bothering God. Neither are we to hold back from asking because we fear He will not answer something so specific. Too often believers fear not receiving the answer to a specific request, fear that it will show how weak they are spiritually if the request is not granted.

Note what Scripture says: “In everything” pray like this—use all four ways of praying and use them in praying for everything. This means two things.

a. We are to walk in God—live, move, and have our being in Him—and we do this by prayer. We live and move in God through prayer. We pray “in everything”—all day long as we walk and move about our daily affairs.

⇒ We pray in times that are specifically set aside for devotion and worship.

⇒ We supplicate—struggle in prayer—when facing times of deep and intense need.

⇒ We offer thanksgiving (and praise) all day long as we walk and move about.

⇒ We offer our requests—specific requests—to God. We ask Him to do definite things as we walk throughout the day.

As stated, we walk in God—live, move, and have our being in Him; and the way we do this is through prayer.

b. We are to pray about every thing no matter how small and insignificant it may seem. God is interested in the details of our lives, in the most minute details. He wants us acknowledging Him in all our ways or steps because He wants to care and look after every single step.

Now picture the scene: we are walking throughout the day, sharing with God every step of the way, and God is taking care of every step of the way. What then can take the peace of God away from us? Absolutely nothing! For as we walk in prayer and fellowship with God, God is infusing us with His presence and peace. No matter the conflict or trial, we are continuing to share with God and God is continuing to infuse us with His peace. Through prayer He is giving us the peace to conquer and walk through the trial. Our relationship with God and His peace is unbroken.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man” (Lk.21:36).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).
“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

3. The promise: peace. Peace (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and woven together. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to have a sense, a consciousness, a knowledge that God will...

- provide
- guide
- strengthen
- sustain
- deliver
- encourage
- save
- give real life both now and forever

A person can experience the peace of God only as he walks and moves about in prayer. Why? Because only God can deliver man through the most severe circumstances and tragedies of life; only God can infuse assurance and security within the human soul. The wonderful promise about the peace of God is twofold.

- a. First, the peace of God passes all understanding. It is beyond anything we can ask or think. It surpasses all our imaginations. Think of the most terrible situation you can imagine; then think of the peace you would want as you went through that trial. In actual experience, the peace of God is far greater than anything you could ever imagine or understand. The peace of God actually carries the faithful believer through the very midst of trial and tribulation.
- b. Second, the peace of God keeps our hearts and minds. The word “shall keep” (phrouresei) is a military word meaning to garrison, to keep guard and protect. The peace of God is like a most elite soldier who guards and protects the most precious possession of God: the believer’s heart and mind.

However, note that God can keep us only as we are “in Christ Jesus.” We can know the peace of God only if we have trusted Christ as our Lord and Savior and only if we walk in fellowship with Him. To be in Christ means to walk in Christ—to live, move and have our being in Him.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

“The LORD will give strength unto his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace” (Ps.29:11).

2 (4:8-9) Mind—Thoughts—Thinking Positive: peace comes through positive thinking. The word “think” (logizesthe) means to consider, reflect, reason, and ponder. The idea is that of focusing our thoughts until they shape our behavior. The truth is:

- ⇒ what we think is what we become.
- ⇒ where we have kept our minds is where we are.
- ⇒ our thoughts shape our behavior.
- ⇒ what we do is what we think.

William Barclay says, “...it is a law of life that, if a man thinks of something often enough and long enough, he will come to the stage when he cannot stop thinking about it. His thoughts will be quite literally in a groove out of which he cannot jerk them” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.97).

A person who centers his thoughts upon the world and its things will live for the world and its things: money, wealth, lands, property, houses, possessions, position, power, recognition, honor, social standing, fame, and a host of other worldly pursuits. Very simply stated, a person who centers his thoughts...

- upon the flesh and its lusts will live to satisfy the flesh through such things as pride, self, greed, pleasure, and sex.
- upon the eyes and its lusts will live to satisfy the eyes and its lusts through such things as the immoral, pornographic filth flaunted in magazines, films, books, and television; the exposing of the human body; dressing to attract attention; looking a second time.
- upon the pride of life will live to satisfy such things as the desire for recognition, honor, position, and authority.

A mind set upon the world and the flesh is what leads to anxiety and worry, emptiness and restlessness. This was the stress of the former point (v.6-7). A worldly mind never knows peace—not true peace, not the peace of God. God will just never allow a worldly mind to have peace, for it is the restlessness of the human soul that He uses to reach men for salvation.

The point is this: when a person accepts Jesus Christ, his mind is renewed by the Spirit of God.

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:23-24).

“And have put on the new man which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

Once a person has been converted to Christ and becomes a new man, he is to focus his thoughts upon the good things of life and upon God. He is to give his mind to positive thinking. In fact, he is to think only positive thoughts. The believer is never to allow an immoral, fleshly, worldly, selfish, sinful or evil thought to enter his mind. There is never to be a negative thought whatsoever in the mind of the believer. Sinful and negative thoughts disrupt and destroy peace. For this reason, the believer is to struggle to conquer his mind and thoughts. He is to exert every cell of energy possible to captivate and control every thought. What we think is so important that God tells us what we are to think.

1. The charge is to think and practice positive thinking.

a. “Whatsoever things are true” (alethe): real and genuine.

Many things in the world seems to be true, but they are not; they are false and deceptive, an illusion, and a counterfeit. They seem to offer peace, but what they offer is a deceptive, a counterfeit peace—only escapism. We are to keep our minds upon things that are true, and we are to live lives that are true to both men and God. When our thoughts and lives are centered upon true things, peace comes to the human heart.

b. “Whatsoever things are honest” (semna): honorable, worthy, revered, highly respected, and noble. Barclay says: “The word really describes that which has the dignity of holiness upon it. There are things in this world which are flippant and cheap, things which are attractive to the light-minded; but it is on the things which are grave and serious and dignified that the Christian will set his mind” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.98).

c. “Whatsoever things are just” (diakia): right and righteous behavior. It has to do with right behavior toward man and God.

The believer is to keep his thoughts upon his duty toward men and God—upon doing what is right toward both. Man is to be a responsible being while on earth. He is responsible for the earth and his fellow human beings, and he is to be held accountable by God for both. Therefore, he is not to focus his thoughts upon comfort and selfish pleasures and pursuits. He is to focus his thoughts upon the things that are just and righteous. He owes his thoughts and mind to the world and to his fellow men and especially to God. He owes whatever contribution he can make to the world and to God. A mind filled with just and righteous thoughts will know peace.

d. “Whatsoever things are pure” (hagna): morally clean, spotless, stainless, chaste, undefiled, free from moral pollution, filth, dirt, and impurities.

The believer’s mind and thoughts are to be pure—every thought.

e. “Whatsoever things are lovely” (prosphele): pleasing, winsome, kind, gracious; things that excite love and kindness.

The believer’s thoughts are not to be thoughts of unkindness and meanness, grumbling and murmuring, criticism and reaction. The believer’s thoughts are to be focused upon things that are lovely—that build people up, not tear them down.

f. “Whatsoever things are of good report” (euphema): reputable, high-toned, worthy things; things of the highest quality.

The believer is to think only upon worthy things. He is not to fill his mind with junk; he is not to listen to bad reports, no matter how juicy they may seem. Neither is he to fill his mind with junk, whether through rumor, radio, television, music, off-colored jokes, or by whatever source. His thoughts are to be focused only upon worthy things—only upon that which is of good report.

g. “If there be any virtue [excellence] and if there be any praise [in any thought], think on these things.” Positive thinking is the answer to peace for the Christian believer.

2. The source or power for positive thinking is twofold.

a. There is the Word of God. Paul says that he had preached and taught the very virtues of positive thinking to the Philippians and that they had learned them. What Paul had preached and taught was the will of God; therefore, the source or power for positive thinking comes from the Word of God. It is in the Word of God that a person finds the things that are to fill his mind. His thoughts are to be upon the teachings of God’s Word.

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart” (Heb.4:12).

“The statutes of the LORD are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the LORD is pure, enlightening the eyes” (Ps.19:8).

PHILIPPIANS 4:6-9

“Wherewithal shall a young man cleanse his way? by taking heed thereto according to thy word” (Ps.119:9).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

“Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path” (Ps.119:105).

- b. There are noble examples. Paul says that he lived as a testimony before the Philippians. Therefore, they could follow his example because he kept his thoughts and life upon the very virtues of positive thinking.

“Brethren be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an ensample” (Ph.3:17).

“For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:7).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, charity, patience” (2 Tim.3:10).

3. There is the energy and power of self-effort and discipline. Note the words, “Those things...do.” The believer is expected to control and discipline his mind. He is to struggle against all sinful and negative thoughts, and fight to think only positive thoughts. Note the result of positive thinking: the God of peace shall be with the believer.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit” (Ro.8:5).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ” (1 Cor.2:16).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:23-24).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee” (Is.26:3).

DIVISION VI

THE APPRECIATION FOR GOOD CHRISTIAN RELATIONSHIPS, 4:10-23

A. Appreciation: For a Church That Revives Its Sacrificial Giving, 4:10-19

(4:10-19) Introduction: this passage deals with stewardship, in particular the giving of money to meet the needs of ministers and missions or the spread of the gospel to the world. Remember: Paul is in prison facing the false charge of insurrection against the government. He is facing the death penalty if convicted. The Philippians had heard about his plight, and they had heard how Paul was standing fast and continuing to preach the gospel to everyone who visited him. The church was stirred to do two things: to take up a love offering and to send a man, Epaphroditus, to minister to Paul’s needs. (See outline and notes—Ph.2:25-30 for more discussion.)

This passage is Paul’s appreciation for a church that is stirred to revive its interest in missions—stirred to begin giving once again to the support of God’s ministers worldwide.

1. Their giving was revived and it flourished (v.10).
2. Their giving was not necessary, but it was needed (v.11-14).
3. Their giving was distinctive: they were the only church that gave and they gave consistently (v.15-16).
4. Their giving was sacrificial and it was seen and rewarded by God (v.17-19).

1 (4:10) Stewardship—Giving: the church revived its giving and its giving flourished. Note the words “flourished again” (anethalete): it means to revive again. It is the picture of plants and flowers sprouting, shooting up, and blossoming again. The key word is again. When the church had been founded, the believers had supported Paul and his mission work on a regular basis. But for some reason they had dropped their mission support. That had probably been over ten to twelve years before (Strauss). Why they had stopped sending support to Paul is not known. However, the point to see is the glorious revival of mission support that took place in the church. They picked up the support of Paul once again, and their giving flourished and blossomed anew. The joy and rejoicing of Paul’s heart can just be imagined. He says, “I rejoiced in the Lord greatly.”

Thought 1. Why had the church dropped its mission support of Paul? As stated, the reason is not known. In his gracious and kind way, Paul just passes over the issue by saying that he knew they cared for him, but they had just lacked opportunity to support him. Was their lack of support...

- legitimate: that is, due to persecution or poverty?
- illegitimate: that is, due to neglect and unconcern for the spread of the gospel and missions worldwide?

Being honest about the matter, it is difficult to conceive of a legitimate reason for dropping mission support. It is especially difficult to see a reason that would last as long as the ten to twelve years that the Philippian church had failed to support Paul. Whether legitimate or not, we all need to search our hearts about our own personal support of God’s ministers and missions worldwide.

⇒ The gospel must be supported.

PHILIPPIANS 4:10-19

- ⇒ The gospel must be carried worldwide.
- ⇒ The need of the hour is for churches to awaken to the worldwide mission of Christ.
- ⇒ Preachers, that is, ministers, missionaries, teachers, and evangelists—all of God's appointed preachers and teachers—must be supported as they carry the gospel to the world.

Note this: it has been centuries heaped upon centuries since Jesus Christ came to die for the sins of men and to give them life. Yet, look at how little has been done—at how many have still not heard or believed.

- ⇒ Where are the laborers to carry the message? Where are those who actually pray for laborers as He instructed? Look at how many stay at home and then look at the few out in the communities and fields of the world ministering and witnessing to the lost. Is this God's method? His will? Thought and honesty give us the answer. The problem is not that we don't know the truth. We know the truth: we know that we are to go. The problem is that we do not go. We are just unwilling to commit ourselves to go. We are unwilling to leave the comfort and security of our homes and offices, jobs and families to go into the communities and nations of the world.

The need of the hour is for laborers—laborers who will do exactly what Christ commanded: “Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15). And if we cannot go, then we must commit ourselves to support those who are willing to go!

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few” (Mt.9:37).

“Therefore said he unto them, The harvest truly is great, but the labourers are few: pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he would send forth labourers into his harvest” (Lk.10:2).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

2 (4:11-14) Stewardship—Ministers—Provision: the church's giving was not necessary, but it was needed. Very simply, what this means is that God will take care of His dear servant even if churches do not adequately care for him. Down through the centuries most churches have not adequately cared for their ministers. This has been part of the sufferings most ministers have to bear in order to carry the gospel forth to a world reeling in desperate need. Yet, God's dear servants have gone forth despite whatever suffering they have had to bear. Note three significant points.

1. Giving is not necessary because God teaches His servants to be content, no matter the circumstances (v.11-12). The word “content” (autarkeia) means to be self-sufficient; to be completely detached from circumstances. Note the word “learned.” It was a learning experience. Paul had to learn to conquer circumstances and not to let circumstances worry him. But note: he had learned contentment. He says three descriptive things:

- ⇒ that he knew how to be abased (to live humbly with little) and how to abound (to live with plenty and prosperity).
- ⇒ that he knew the secret to facing every situation, whether being full or going hungry.
- ⇒ that he knew how to abound (live in plenty) and how to suffer need.

Lehman Strauss says:

“In those early days of my Christian experience I could not see how some Christians I knew could be content with so little of this world's goods. I sincerely trust that I am learning the secret. From what I see about me I do not hesitate to say that it is a secret many Christians have yet to learn. Paul needed to learn it. He said, ‘I have learned....’ The lesson of contentment was one he learned by degrees in varying circumstances. As a young unbelieving Jew, he had no want insofar as this world's possessions are concerned. He did not always know the divine provision of satisfaction, but after he was saved he came to learn it, not in the academic classroom, but as the result of a lengthy experience of trials and discipline, ‘I have learned’ is the language of a good student. Have you learned to be satisfied with your place and position and possessions in this life?” (Devotional Studies in Philippians, p.321.)

What was the secret Paul had learned? It is the next point.

“Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content” (Ph.4:11).

“But godliness with contentment is great gain. For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out. And having food and raiment let us be therewith content. But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:6-10).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

2. Giving is not necessary because the minister can do all things through Christ who strengthens him (v.13). Note the verse:

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

God’s servant (minister) can be content in all circumstances no matter how severe they are—through Christ—but he cannot be content in any circumstance apart from Christ. Note exactly what the verse says:

- ⇒ “I can...through Christ”
- ⇒ “Christ who strengthens me”

Christ does not do everything for the believer; neither does the believer do everything for himself. Both Christ and the believer have a part in conquering circumstances. The believer declares, “I can,” and he gets up and faces the circumstances head on. It is then that Christ steps in and strengthens the believer. Christ infuses strength into the believer while the believer is tackling the problem.

Facing reality, there is no need for strength unless the believer is facing and struggling against the circumstance.

- ⇒ The believer does not need extra strength to arise and face the circumstance. Any believer, no matter who he is, has the strength himself to arise and face any circumstance that confronts him.
- ⇒ The believer does not even need strength to begin struggling to conquer and solve the circumstance. He has the strength himself to fight against the circumstance that confronts him.

It is only when the believer has exhausted what he can do that a special infusion of the strength of Christ is needed. Christ steps in when our strength is no longer sufficient. It is then that He is able to demonstrate His wonderful love and care for His dear servant. Note something else as well: all praise and glory is then due Christ and not man. Giving is not necessary; God will provide and care for His dear servant.

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me, Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ’s sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong” (2 Cor.12:9-10).

“Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us” (Ro.8:37).

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

“So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:6).

“The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him” (Ps.28:7).

“But I am poor and needy; yet the Lord thinketh upon me: thou art my help and my deliverer; make no tarrying, O my God” (Ps.40:17).

“Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

3. However, giving is needed, and it is work well done (v.14). The minister needs daily provision and the gospel needs to be supported so that it can be carried around the world. Money and support are greatly needed. They are not necessary; God can take care of His dear servants and the gospel with or without any church. But His will is for every single church to become involved in supporting His servants and worldwide missions. God can do the job without us; God can bypass us and put us on the shelf just like a useless book. But He wants His people to give and give generously. When they do, they perform a work that is well done, that is commendable and noble.

“I have showed you all things how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:9-10).

3 (4:15-16) Stewardship—Minister—Missions: the church’s giving was distinctive—they were the only church that gave and they gave consistently. This is a point that desperately needs to be heeded by churches everywhere. When the Philippian church was founded, it underwrote the ministry of Paul and it was consistent in its support. But note: it was the only church that was supporting Paul. The unfaithfulness of the other churches cut Paul’s heart. This is clear from his words that no church supported him—none except the Philippian church.

It was while he was in Thessalonica that the Philippians had been consistent in their mission support. And how he had needed their support in Thessalonica, for it was there that he had faced severe persecution (cp. Acts 17:1f).

Thought 1. Imagine! Just one church supporting Paul and his mission to the world! And that church was a church that had just been founded. Two questions desperately need to be asked by all of us.

- 1) What are we doing for the Pauls and missions of today?

- 2) Have we made a commitment to support any minister or mission and backed off the commitment?

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, Verily I say unto you, That a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.19:23).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out” (1 Tim.6:7).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“For he seeth that wise men die, likewise the fool and the brutish person perish, and leave their wealth to others” (Ps.49:10).

“Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven” (Pr.23:5).

“For riches are not for ever: and doth the crown endure to every generation?” (Pr.27:24).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

4 (4:17-19) Stewardship—Mission: the church’s giving was sacrificial, and it was seen and rewarded by God. The gift cost the Philippian church. They were a church that gave, not just a percentage (so to speak) but sacrificially. This is seen in two points. Their gift is said to be a definite sacrifice, acceptable and well pleasing to God. Their gift is also said to have created a need among themselves. But Paul answers them, “God shall supply all your needs....” (v.19). Note three points.

1. God saw who sacrificially gave to support Paul and He deposited a reward to their account (v.17). This was what Paul desired in giving: not a gift for himself, but a reward for the giver. Paul knew that God saw and rewarded the believers who gave sacrificially; therefore, Paul desired believers to give and to give sacrificially.

“But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal” (Mt.6:20).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“Who shall not receive manifold more in this present time, and in the world to come life everlasting” (Lk.18:30).

2. God was well pleased with the giving of the Philippians (v.18). Paul compares it to an Old Testament sacrifice which a person offered up to God. The person’s sacrificial commitment to God was just like the pleasant smell of the animal sacrifice: it was acceptable. The sacrificial commitment was a sweet or pleasant smell to God. So it was and is with sacrificial giving. The commitment of the gift is acceptable to God just like the pleasant smell of an animal sacrifice.

“But I have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an odour of a sweet smell, a sacrifice acceptable, wellpleasing to God” (Ph.4:18).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, and holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

3. God promised to supply all the needs of His dear people (v.19). This is one the great promises of Scripture: “But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

a. There is the great Provider: God Himself. No matter what the need is, the need is not greater than God. God can and will meet the need. But note the pronoun “my.” It is “my God” who shall provide for the needs. A person has to make sure...

- that the God who can really provide for needs is his God.
- that he knows God personally—well enough that he can trust and depend upon God to meet his need.

b. There is the great assurance of provision: “my God shall supply.” There is no question about the provision being supplied. God is God; therefore, He is able to provide and He will supply whatever provision His dear child needs.

c. There is the great provision: “all your needs.” This promise does not refer only to the physical needs for food, clothing, and shelter. It refers to mental, emotional, social, and spiritual needs. It refers to any need that arises, engulfs, or confronts the believer. No need will be omitted or overlooked. No need is too big or too little. No need is unimportant—not to God, not if His dear child is really experiencing the need.

- ⇒ There may be a lesson for the believer to learn before the need can be met, some lesson such as more trust, endurance, love, joy, peace, gentleness, meekness, or control.
- ⇒ There may be some testimony that the believer needs to share as to the strength of Christ which carries us through trials.

PHILIPPIANS 4:10-19

But no matter what the trial or need is, God will supply all our needs.

- d. There is the great resource: “according to His riches in glory.” Take all the riches and wealth, glory and majesty of heaven—it is all available to meet the needs of God’s dear people. There is no limit—not even a fraction—to the great resources at God’s disposal. God can provide for any need.
- e. There is the great Mediator: “By Christ Jesus.” This is critical to note, for God does nothing apart from Christ. No person can approach God without coming to Him through Christ Jesus. This is the key to having our needs met: surrendering our lives to Jesus Christ, and asking God to meet our needs in Him. We must always remember that God has only one child: the Lord Jesus Christ. God loves Christ so much that He will do anything for the person who honors Christ by sacrificially giving to share the glorious news about Him.

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again” (Lk.6:38).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

“Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:8).

“For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:11).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

DIVISION VI

THE APPRECIATION FOR GOOD CHRISTIAN RELATIONSHIPS, 4:10-23

B. Appreciation: For God & for Fellow Christians, 4:20-23

(4:20-23) Introduction: the great Letter of Philippians is now being closed. But before it is closed, one more thing must be done. Appreciation must be expressed—appreciation for God and for fellow Christian believers.

1. God is to be praised as God and as our Father (v.20).
2. Believers are to salute every saint (v.21-22).
3. Believers are to wish the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ upon each other (v.23).

1 (4:20) God—Praise: God is to be praised as God and as our Father.

1. First, God is to be praised as God. He is God, the Creator and Sovereign Ruler of the universe. God has made all, and He rules and governs all.
  - ⇒ He is the only wise God who dwells in majesty and glory, dominion and power (Jude 24-25).
  - ⇒ He is the only One who possesses the bottomless depth of wisdom and knowledge, who possesses all the riches of wisdom and knowledge. He is the One whose judgments are unsearchable, and whose ways are past finding out. He is the One who has a mind that no man can know and who has such wisdom that no man can be a counsellor to Him: “For of Him, and through Him, and to Him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen” (Ro.11:36).
  - ⇒ He is the only One who reigns and is clothed with majesty and strength, whose very voice is the embodiment of power and of creation. Before Him are both honor and majesty (Ps.29:4; 93:1; 96:6).
  - ⇒ He is the only One whose glory is like a devouring fire (Ex.24:17). He is the One whose glory is declared by the heavens, and whose handiwork is shown by the firmament (Ps.19:1).

An eternity of declaration could be proclaimed about God. God is God, and because He is God, He is to be praised as God.

2. God is to be praised as our Father. Imagine! The Sovereign Majesty of the universe has humbled Himself so much that He has adopted us as His sons and daughters. Just think about the fact. He is the Sovereign Power not only of this earth, but of the whole universe. Yet...

- we have criticized, grumbled, and complained about His rule.
- we have cursed His very name.
- we have rebelled and rejected Him.
- we have questioned and denied Him, and even scoffed at the very idea of Him.
- we have deliberately disobeyed Him.
- we have chosen to live as we please and to do our own thing instead of following Him.

Just think about our attitude and behavior toward God—toward Him who is the Ruler of the universe in all its glory and vastness. Yet, He has not wiped us out; He has not destroyed us. On the contrary, He has sent His Son into the world to declare that He loves the world and that He wants to reconcile us to Himself. How? Through the death of His Son Jesus Christ. God wants to adopt men and women as sons and daughters through faith in the death of His Son. (See note, Adoption—Gal.4:4-7; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:5-6 for more discussion.)

This is the great humility (or condescension) and mercy of God—that He, as the Sovereign Ruler of the universe whom we have rejected and cursed so much, would still save and adopt us and let us call Him Father (see outline and notes—Ph.2:5-11).

The great condescension of God demands one thing: that we praise and glorify Him as our Father for ever and ever.

“After the manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name” (Mt.6:9).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

2 (4:21-22) Brotherhood—Greeting—Prejudice—Partiality: believers are to salute every saint, that is, every true believer. “Saint” (hagion) means those who are separated or set apart unto God; those who are different from the person who lives for the world, for its possessions and pleasures. Note: every saint is to be greeted. There is to be no discrimination or favoritism shown. Among saints there is to be...

- |                  |                 |                                  |
|------------------|-----------------|----------------------------------|
| • no clique      | • no neglect    | • no sense of pride              |
| • no ignoring    | • no snubbing   | • no sense of superiority        |
| • no downgrading | • no separation | • no sense of super-spirituality |
| • no withdrawal  | • no avoiding   | • no sense of being better       |

Poverty, education, handicap, unattractiveness, clothing, social standing, employment, race, nationality—nothing is to cause believers to discriminate or to show partiality and favoritism. All saints are equally acceptable to God. Therefore, all saints are to be greeted by all believers.

1. Christian leaders are to greet every saint. Note that “all the brothers” with Paul send their greetings. This apparently refers to the ministers who accompanied and served with Paul in his ministry—men such as Timothy and Luke. Paul does not name them, so we do not know who they were. The point to note is that the Christian leaders are to take the lead in greeting every saint. If the leader shows discrimination and favoritism, then others in the church will do the same. The minister and other leaders must always demonstrate love, interest, and care for all.

2. All the saints, including government officials, are to greet every saint. Caesar’s household does not necessarily refer to members of Caesar’s family. The term is very similar to what we call civil servants, or government employees. As in our day, Rome had its government employees scattered all over the world. But note: Paul was in Rome, so this means that some government officials had been reached for Christ. The lesson for us is that humility must be demonstrated even by those in the echelons of government, no matter how high their position is. Even if a person is in Caesar’s household, in the highest position of government, he must walk humbly before God and greet all the saints, even the lowest saint.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility; for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble. Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time” (1 Pt.5:5-6).

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“And he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them are called benefactors. But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:25-26).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

3 (4:23) Grace: believers are to wish the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ upon each other (see notes, Grace—Gal.1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.1:2; 2:8-9 for discussion).

COLOSSIANS

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE COLOSSIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

Paul's authorship is disputed by some commentators, but the majority still hold that Paul was the author. The strongest argument for Paul's authorship is seen in the great similarity between Colossians, Philemon, and Ephesians (See Ephesians, Introductory Notes, To Whom Written, point 4). Philemon definitely comes from Paul's hand. Note five other facts as well:

1. Paul's son in the faith, Timothy, was his companion in both letters (Col.1:1; Phile.1).
2. Paul's companions in Philemon were also present at the writing of Colossians: Epaphras, Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke (Col.4:12f; Phile.22-23).
3. Paul was in prison while writing both letters (Col.4:7f; Phile.1).
4. Paul sent a message to the same man in both letters—Archippus (Col.4:17; Phile.2).
5. Paul had Onesimus to travel with Tychicus in taking the letter to the church of Colosse. Onesimus was the slave or the subject of the Philemon letter (Col.4:7-9; Phile.10).

DATE: Uncertain. Probably between A.D. 60-63.

Colossians was probably written during Paul's imprisonment at Rome. But this too is disputed by some. Some hold that the letter was written from Caesarea (A.D. 58-60) or Ephesus (A.D. 55-56).

TO WHOM WRITTEN: To the believers and faithful brothers in Christ which are at Colosse (Col.1:2).

PURPOSE: To combat an extremely dangerous and threatening heresy that was arising in the Colosse church.

There have been several suggestions as to what the heresy was. But the value in identifying the name of the heresy is questionable, since few if any ever hold to a belief in its entirety or in its pure form. The Christian believer and carnal church can, however, benefit from a study of its characteristics. (See notes—Col.1:15; 2:8-10; 2:11-12; 2:13-15; 2:16-19; 2:20-23 for more discussion.)

1. It stressed astrology, the signs and spirits of the stars and planets. Paul warns, "Beware lest any man spoil you...after the rudiments [elementary signs and spirits] of the world, and not after Christ" (Col.2:8). Then Paul asks, "If ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances?" (Col.2:20).
2. It stressed philosophy. The heresy attacked the simplicity of the gospel. It prided itself in being original and in its ability to rationalize. Paul warns, "Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit" (Col.2:8).
3. It stressed "enlightenment." It had a strong emphasis upon wisdom and knowledge (Col.2:3); philosophy and tradition (Col.2:8); delving into the unknown and using one's fleshly mind (Col.2:18); and worshipping man's own ability and will to control and discipline himself (Col.2:23).
4. It stressed soul over body. The body was considered evil, a prison house that imprisoned the soul. The consequences were twofold. First, some said the way to release or take care of the soul was to subdue the body, discipline and control it. Therefore, asceticism became the inevitable result: "Touch not, taste not, handle not" (Col.2:21). Second, some said that since the soul is what is important, the body does not matter. One can do what he wishes with his body just so he takes care of his soul by participating in religious worship and ordinances. Therefore, loose living became acceptable. One could be worldly so long as he was also religious. This is what is so strongly attacked by Paul in passages such as Col.3:5-8 and by John in 1 Jn.1:6-2:2.
5. It stressed ritual and tradition. Special foods and drinks, days and festivals, traditions and man-made rules were insisted upon (Col.2:16, 22).
6. It stressed other mediators between God and man: elementary spirits (Col.2:8, 20) and angels (Col.2:18).
8. It stressed spiritual humility. Man was considered to be so unworthy that he was unable to approach God himself. Man had to submit to other mediators to approach God for him. This evidently resulted in a great spiritual pride and snobbishness and in false humility (Col.2:23). Note also the stress upon "every man" of Col.1:28. Paul is pointing out that salvation is not limited to a special few.)

The heresy attacked Jesus Christ at every point.

1. It attacked His supremacy, His deity, His messiahship and His incarnation. The heresy said this: if the world and its material, including man's body, is evil and imprisons the soul, then God would never take human flesh upon Himself. Why? Human flesh is evil. And God would become evil by taking man's flesh upon Himself. This argument took two directions.
  - a. There was Docetism. Docetism said that Christ was not really human; He only appeared human. The word "Docetism" means to seem. Jesus only seemed to have a body. He was never really flesh and blood. He came to earth only as a pure spiritual being.
  - b. There was Cerinthianism. Cerinthianism said that there was a clear distinction between the human and the divine Christ. This just had to be, for God could never suffer and die. He could not really be God if He suffered and died. Thus it was claimed that the Spirit of God Himself did not enter Jesus until His baptism, and He left Jesus right before His death.

Paul has to insist that Jesus is “the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15); that “it pleased the Father that in Him should all fulness dwell” (Col.1:19); that “in Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge” (Col.2:3); that “in Him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9). John combated the same heresy by saying that the eternal God has come to earth and entered time and space (1 Jn.1:1-4; see Outline). He asks, “Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ” (1 Jn.22). He pointedly says, “Every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus is come in the flesh is not of God, and this is that spirit of antichrist” (1 Jn.4:3). In answer to Cerinthus John says, “This is He that came by water and blood, even by Jesus Christ; not water [baptism] only, but by water and blood [death]” (1 Jn.5:6).

2. It attacked the creative power and supreme role of Jesus Christ in creation. Paul has to insist that “by Him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or power; all things were created by Him, and for Him; and He is before all things and by Him all things consist” (Col.1:16-17).

3. It attacked the humanity of Jesus Christ. Paul says it was “in the body of His flesh” that He redeemed man (Col.1:22); that “in Him [His body] dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily [in His bodily form]” (Col.2:9).

4. It attacked the redemptive power of Jesus Christ. The heresy was claiming that something more than Christ was needed to defeat the powers that oppose man. Christ has His place, but only as one among others. He is one way to God, but there are other ways as well. Paul insists that “you...hath He reconciled in the body of His death” (Col.1:21-22); that “ye are complete in Him, which is the head of all principality and power” (Col.2:10); that “having spoiled principalities and powers, He made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it” (Col.2:15).

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The city of Colosse. Colosse was one of three cities within sight of one another in the Lycus Valley, sitting by the Lycus River. The other cities, Hierapolis and Laodicea, the chief city of the area, were only six miles apart. Colosse was twelve miles away and was the least important of the three. The city was about one hundred miles east of Ephesus. The area was a fertile land providing a feast for flocks. It was also one of the clothing and dye centers of the world.

2. The Church at Colosse. Paul never visited Colosse so far as is known. The church had never seen his face (Col.2:1), and the book of Acts does not record a mission to the area. He was writing the city to combat the heresy discussed in the Purpose above. Paul mentions both Laodicea and Hierapolis (Col.2:1; 4:13, 16). Apparently some of Paul’s converts founded the church. While in Ephesus for three years, Paul saw to it that “all they which dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus” (Acts 19:10). Epaphras, who was the fellow servant of Paul, was the pastor of the Colosse church. Apparently, he was also the area pastor of Laodicea and Hierapolis (Col.1:7; 4:12-13; Phile.23). The church met in Philemon’s home, a convert of Paul (Phile.10). The church was primarily Gentile in membership, for they were aliens from God’s promises to Israel (Col.1:21). He speaks of making known the “mystery of God to the Gentiles” (Col.1:27). And he gives a list of sins that were viewed as common to the Gentiles (Col.3:5-7).

The church showed some strengths despite the heresy. They held “faith in Christ Jesus” and showed “love to all the saints” (Col.1:4). They were bearing evangelistic fruit, reaching people for Christ (Col.1:6). They were steadfast in their faith (Col.2:5). This seems to indicate that the heresy was just beginning to seep into the church and had not yet become a major problem. Paul’s task was to stop it dead in its tracks.

3. Colossians is “The Epistle Similar to Ephesians” (see Ephesians, Introductory Notes, To Whom Written, point 4). In Ephesians, the church is seen as the body of Christ. In Colossians, Christ is seen as the Head of the church (cp. Col.1:15f).

OUTLINE OF COLOSSIANS

THE PREACHER'S OUTLINE & SERMON BIBLE™ is unique. It differs from all other Study Bibles & Sermon Resource Materials in that every Passage and Subject is outlined right beside the Scripture. When you choose any Subject below and turn to the reference, you have not only the Scripture, but you discover the Scripture and Subject already outlined for you—verse by verse.

For a quick example, choose one of the subjects below and turn over to the Scripture, and you will find this marvelous help for faster, easier, and more accurate use.

In addition, every point of the Scripture and Subject is fully developed in a Commentary with supporting Scripture at the bottom of the page. Again, this arrangement makes sermon preparation much easier and faster.

Note something else: The Subjects of Colossians have titles that are both Biblical and practical. The practical titles sometimes have more appeal to people. This benefit is clearly seen for use on billboards, bulletins, church newsletters, etc.

A suggestion: For the quickest overview of Colossians, first read all the major titles (I, II, III, etc.), then come back and read the subtitles.

DIVISION I

THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE BELIEVER'S LIFE, 1:1-11

A. The Great Beliefs of a Great Christian, 1:1-2

(1:1-2) Introduction: no person could ever pack so much in so little space as the Word of God does. This is one of the proofs of the inspiration of Scripture. The opening verses of Colossians—just two verses—are a prime example. In just a few words the great beliefs of a great Christian are covered.

1. Life has but one profession: the will of God (v.1).
2. Life has one essential relationship: brotherhood (v.1).
3. Life has two levels of spiritual maturity: a carnal saint vs. a faithful saint (v.2).
4. Life has two basic spiritual needs: grace and peace (v.2).

1 (1:1) Profession—Will of God: life has but one profession—the will of God. Two things are stressed.

1. What Paul did was “by the will of God”; that is, his profession and work was exactly what God wanted him to do. Paul did not choose his life’s work, for he did not want to make a mistake; he did not want to waste his life. He did not want to come up to the end of his life and be reckoned a failure by God. To Paul there was but one work or profession: the job God wanted him to do. The profession he wanted did not matter; only God’s will for his life mattered.

Thought 1. There is only one profession for any believer: the work God wants him to do. God has put every believer upon earth for a specific task. If the believer chooses some profession or job other than the work God wants him to do, then he is out of the will of God. He is not fulfilling his purpose for being upon earth.

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:17).

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“[God] make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever” (Heb.13:21).

“For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that” (Jas.4:15).

2. The profession chosen by God for Paul was that of being a minister, in particular, an apostle (apostolos) means a person who is especially sent to go among men as an ambassador or messenger. The key thought is this:

⇒ He is sent forth by God. He does not go forth on his own nor by the authority of other men. His profession and authority are both of God.

⇒ He is the messenger of God. In fact, his very call or profession exists only to deliver the message of God. He has no right to proclaim his own message and thoughts nor the message and thoughts of others.

(See note, Apostle—Gal.1:1 for more discussion.)

“[God] who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament” (2 Cor.3:6).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry [from God] as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation....Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:18, 20).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“But [God’s grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher and an apostle and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:10-11).

2 (1:1) Brotherhood: life has but one essential relationship—brotherhood. Paul mentions Timothy, a young disciple or student of his. Timothy had joined Paul to learn all he could about the ministry and to serve right along the side of Paul. But note that the relationship mentioned by Paul was not that of a student or disciple. It was not even that of a fellow preacher, teacher, or administrator. It was that of being a brother in Christ. And note the word “our.” The basic relationship between Timothy and the believers at Colosse was that of being a brother. Note also that he calls the Colossians brothers (v.2). This stresses a significant fact: there are many different relationships in life. There are relationships such as...

- employer and employee
- neighbor and neighbor
- teacher and student
- friend and friend
- worker and worker
- merchant and customer
- minister and parishioner

All the relationships of life are important and have their place in the welfare of society, but there is one relationship that is essential: that of brotherhood. A man does not walk as a solitary figure upon this earth. He walks among people—people just like himself. Thus, a man who walks aloof does not understand life. Brotherly relationships are essential. Paul knew this: wherever he went, he initiated and nourished relationships. Here he calls Timothy brother and the Colossians brothers (v.2). One of the most cherished abilities in all the world is knowing how to properly relate to people.

The one essential for believers is to walk as brothers to other believers. Within the church there is not to be any sense of...

- |                      |             |                |
|----------------------|-------------|----------------|
| • superiority        | • criticism | • envy         |
| • pride              | • grumbling | • cliquishness |
| • arrogance          | • judging   | • divisiveness |
| • super-spirituality | • censoring | • self-seeking |

A true brotherhood is to be the fundamental relationship within the church and with believers. Treating one another as brothers is the secret to peace in both the world and the church.

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5; cp. 1 Cor.10:17; 12:12-13; Eph.4:13).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“But as touching brotherly love ye need not that I write unto you: for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another” (1 Th.4:9).

“Let brotherly love continue” (Heb.13:1).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

3 (1:2) Maturity, Spiritual: life has two levels of spiritual maturity—being a carnal believer or being a faithful believer. Note that Paul addresses his letter to the saints (believers) and faithful brothers in the church. Paul is making a clear distinction between two classes of believers.

1. There are the “saints” (hagios), that is, the carnal saints or believers, within the church. This refers to those who in the past had set their lives apart to follow the Lord Jesus. They had separated themselves from the world and had turned to the Lord Jesus to save them. However, a saint or believer may or may not continue on with the Lord Jesus. Some in the Colossian church were not continuing on. They were not fully committed. Their commitment to the Lord Jesus Christ was lacking. Therefore, they were running the risk of falling into the error of false teaching and turning away from Christ. The point is this: a person can be a carnal believer or carnal “saint” within the church. Just because a person has made a profession and given some semblance of following Christ does not mean he is safe and secure forever—that he is automatically mature in Christ. When a person truly comes to know Christ, he is just beginning a journey with Christ, a journey that has a much higher level of spiritual growth to reach.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us. For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly. For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die. But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:5-8).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

2. There are faithful saints or believers in the church. This refers to those who had set their lives apart to Christ and had continued on. They were loyal and steadfast in their allegiance and they held firm against the attacks of worldliness and false teaching. They were not shaken by the temptations of the devil nor by the urges of the flesh. They were faithful against all foes.

The point is this: once a person has become a saint, that is, set his life apart to follow Christ, he is to be faithful. And he is to grow in his faithfulness. In fact, the highest level of spiritual maturity is that of faithfulness. Being faithful or obedient to Christ is the one thing that pleases Christ above all else.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams” (1 Sam.15:22).

Thought 1. Note something that needs to be stressed about the church: the church is people; it is not a vague, abstract entity. It is men, women, boys, and girls. It is made up of saints, genuine believers and faithful brothers.

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:2) Citizenship—Believer: life has two dimensions of being—the physical and the spiritual. There is not room to outline this point beside the Scripture. But note that believers are said to be both in Christ and at Colosse. The believer is a citizen of the city or place where he happens to live upon earth, but he is also a citizen of the kingdom of Christ, that is, of heaven. (See notes, Citizenship, Heavenly—Eph.2:6; Ph.1:27; 3:20-21 for discussion.)

William Barclay has an excellent description of this point that is well worth quoting.

“[Paul] writes to the Christians who are in Colosse and who are in Christ. A Christian always moves in two spheres. He is in the town, the place, the society where he happens to stay in this world; but he is also in Christ. The Christian lives in two dimensions. He lives in this world, and he does not take the duties and relationships of this world lightly; he fulfils his every obligation to the world in which he lives. But above and beyond that he lives in Christ. In this world he may move from place to place, so that now he is in one place and now in another; but wherever he is, he is in Christ. That is why outward circumstances will make very little difference to the Christian; his happiness and his peace and his joy are not dependent on them; these things can change, but the fact that he is in Christ can never change. That is why the Christian will do any job and any task with all his heart. It may be menial; it may be unpleasant; it may be painful; it may be far less distinguished than he might expect to have; its rewards may be small, and its praise may be non-existent; nevertheless the Christian does it diligently, uncomplainingly and cheerfully, for he is in Christ and does all things as to the Lord. We are all in our own Colosse, wherever that Colosse may be, but we are all in Christ, and it is Christ who sets the tone of our life and our living” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.125).

4 (1:2) Grace—Peace: life has two basic spiritual needs—grace and peace (see notes, Grace—Gal.1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.1:2; notes—2:8-9; 2:8-10; Peace—Gal.1:3; 5:22-23; Eph.2:14-15 for discussion). A person may wish a man wealth, pleasure, fame, or even health. But there is really only one necessary benediction—the benediction of God’s grace and peace. If a man possesses God’s grace and peace, he possesses all the inner strength and confidence that are needed to overcome and to walk joyfully in the world, regardless of circumstances (cp. Ph.4:11-13).

DIVISION I

THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE BELIEVER'S LIFE, 1:1-11

B. The Great Pillars of the Christian Life, 1:3-8

(1:3-8) Introduction: this is a power-packed passage, a passage that covers the great pillars of the Christian life—the pillars of faith and love. It also covers the great hope of the Christian and the source of hope which is the Word of God. As stated, this is a power-packed study! As this passage is studied, note how it lays a solid foundation against false teaching—the great threat which the Colossian church was facing and which the church of every generation faces.

1. The great pillars are good reasons for giving thanks to God (v.3).
2. The great pillars are faith and love (v.4).
3. The great pillars have one great basis: the believer's hope (v.5).
4. The believer's hope has one great source: the gospel (v.5-8).

1 (1:3) Thanksgiving: the great pillars are good reasons for giving thanks to God. The pillars will be identified in just a moment in the next point. But for now, note just how great the pillars are. They are so great, such wonderful qualities of life, that they stir Paul to thank God that the pillars exist in the lives of the Colossian believers. The pillars are the very supports that hold together the lives of believers. The Colossian believers could not exist as a church without the foundational support of the pillars.

Note one other fact: Paul gives thanks to God, but he gives thanks to the only living and true God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. There is no God except the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. This means something of critical importance: Jesus Christ is the Son of God; He is exactly whom He claimed to be (see notes—Jn.1:34; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:31; DEEPER STUDY # 2—10:25. Also see Subject Index, Jesus Christ, Claims.)

2 (1:4) Believer—Faith—Love: the great pillars of the Christian life are faith and love. Faith and love are the two basic or foundational qualities of life for true Christians. In fact, they form the one great commandment of God Himself.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

1. There is the great pillar of faith. But note: the faith being spoken about...
  - is not the energy of faith itself that is so often taught as being necessary for life.
  - is not the energy of faith needed to grasp the great qualities of life.
  - is not the faith needed to plow through life.
  - is not the faith in self or others that is needed to live successfully as a human being.

The great pillar of faith is faith in a particular person: the person of Christ Jesus our Lord. What is there about Jesus Christ that makes faith in Him so superior to faith in other great leaders or to faith in the great qualities of human life? Stated as simply as possible, Jesus Christ brings us in touch with God and makes it possible for God to adopt us as sons and daughters of His. As stated in the former verse and point, God is the Father of Jesus Christ. Therefore, Jesus Christ is able to bring any person who is spiritually fatherless to His father. Jesus Christ has the right to ask His Father to adopt the fatherless person. Jesus Christ makes a Father-son relationship possible between God and the believer. But we must always remember: the Father-son relationship with God does not automatically exist. The only natural relationship between God and man is that of Creator and subject. Jesus Christ alone brings about the Father-son relationship between God and man. (See note, Adoption—Gal.4:4-7 for more discussion.)

The point is this: faith in Christ Jesus assures a person of God's wonderful presence and blessings. It means...

- that God looks after the believer as a father looks after his child.
- that God helps and directs the believer through all the trials and temptations of life.
- that the believer has the very strength of God at his disposal as he faces life day by day.
- that the believer is assured of living with God forever and ever.

The believer lives by his faith in Christ. He believes in Christ; therefore he lives by his belief. He governs his life by Christ. He does nothing that his faith in Christ forbids. He lives, moves, and has his being in Christ—in the faith of Christ. His faith in Christ becomes one of the great pillars of his life.

Another way to look at the great pillar of faith is this. Faith in Christ is like a sphere, an area, a territory, a world in which the believer lives. He believes in Christ Jesus; therefore, he lives within the sphere or world of that belief. He governs his life by Christ. He does nothing that his faith in Christ forbids. He has accepted the sphere and area and territory of Christ as the world in which he is to live. Therefore, the believer lives and moves and has his being in that world, in the faith of Christ. Again, his faith in Christ becomes his very world, the great pillar of his life.

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“Therefore being justified by faith [in Christ], we have peace with God through out Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

2. There is the great pillar of love. But note: the love being spoken about is not the natural love which all men should have for one another. We are fellow members of the human race and fellow citizens of the same globe; therefore, all men should love one another with a natural love. But, as stated, this is not the love being spoken about in this passage. The great pillar of love is the love which believers hold for each other. Why is the love of believers for one another greater than the natural love of men for fellow men? There are two reasons.

- a. The love of believers is based upon the love of Jesus Christ, and the love of Jesus Christ is the summit of love. This is seen in His sacrificial death for men. He paid the ultimate price for man: He sacrificed His life before God to bear the sins of men—men who opposed Him and stood against Him. No greater love could ever be demonstrated. Therefore, when a man gives his life to follow Christ, he is giving himself to love as Christ loved. He is proclaiming that he will love to the ultimate degree: he will sacrifice himself for men even as Christ sacrificed Himself.
- b. The love of believers is stirred by the Holy Spirit; that is, the believer’s love is a supernatural love. The Holy Spirit, who lives within the believer, arouses the love of God within the heart of the believer. The believer is actually stirred to love others by the Spirit of God.

The point is this: believers possess a great love for all men: the very love of Christ. But they possess a very special love for fellow believers. Why? Because they have all committed themselves to follow the same Lord. They all live and move in the faith of Christ, in the same sphere or world of faith. There is bound to be a very special attachment and love between two persons who live and move and have their being in the faith of Christ. And remember: believers are indwelt by the same Holy Spirit. There is bound to be a close bond, a very special bond, between all who are indwelt by the same Spirit of God. As stated, a true believer has a special love for everyone on earth, but he has a very special love for his fellow believers.

Thought 1. This is a striking point. It means that there is no room within the church or among believers for...

- division
- cliques
- grumbling
- envy
- criticism
- argument
- strife
- hard feelings

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God” (1 Jn.4:7).

In conclusion, faith and love are the two great pillars of the Christian life. A person who has faith in Christ Jesus and loves as Christ loved is the person who constructs the two foundational pillars of life. It is utterly impossible to have a successful life without faith in Christ Jesus and love—utterly impossible to build a life that will be given the privilege of living forever.

3 (1:5) Hope: the great pillars have one great basis, the believer’s hope. Hope, the hope that God gives, is the reason we surrender our lives to Jesus Christ and go to such limits to love one another. Only one thing could make a man love to such a point that he would sacrifice himself for another man—especially when the man is attacking or trying to destroy him. That one thing is the hope of some great promise—the hope of some great reward. Note what the hope or reward is: it is the hope that is laid up for us in heaven. What is that hope?

⇒ It is the hope of being raised from the dead and being given a new and perfect and glorious body—a body just like Jesus Christ.

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:50-54).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

⇒ It is the hope of the Lord’s return and of being with the Lord Himself forever.

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:16-17).

⇒ It is the hope of entering the veil of heaven and of living there forever.

“It was impossible for God to lie, [that] we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us: which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil [heaven]; wither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus” (Heb.6:18-20).

⇒ It is the glorious inheritance we are to receive from God as sons and daughters of His.

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

4 (1:5-8) Word of God—Gospel: the believer’s hope has one great source: the gospel, that is, the Word of God. Note that both “the Word” and “the gospel” are mentioned in verse 5. It is the Word of God that reveals the great hope for man. Man cannot find hope—not a permanent or eternal hope, not a hope that lasts forever—anyplace else. The only lasting hope ever offered to man is found in the Word of God—in the glorious message of its gospel (good news). Note what is said about the Word of God or the gospel in these four verses. (These verses provide an excellent study of the gospel or of the Word of God.)

1. The gospel or Word is truth. It is not false; it is not false teaching. Neither is it just a wish or guess that its message is true. The gospel is the truth of God, the very Word and promise of the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. This means a most wonderful thing: the hope offered to man is true. It is not a desire or guess that may or may not be true. The hope promised in the gospel is the very truth of God Himself.

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

2. The gospel or Word is for individuals. Paul says that it has come to you. He is addressing all the believers together, but he is saying that the gospel is for everyone of them—for every individual. It is the individual who has to respond to the gospel; no one can respond for him. The hope laid up in heaven is for the individual, and the individual has to give up his heart and life to pursue the hope.

“Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God: but he that denieth me before men shall be denied before the angels of God” (Lk.12:8-9).

“But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life” (Jn.4:14).

“To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins” (Acts 10:43).

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:13).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

“And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

3. The gospel or Word is for the world: it is universal as well as individual. The gospel is...

- not for a particular body of people
- not for a particular nation or nationality
- not for a particular religion or denomination
- not for a particular church
- not for a particular social class
- not for a particular intelligence

The gospel is not to be limited in any sense of the word: it is to be proclaimed to the whole world. The hope offered by God is for every human being who lives and ever will live on the earth. There is to be no discrimination, partiality, or favoritism shown whatsoever—not to anyone.

“God is no respecter of persons” (Acts 10:34).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

4. The gospel or Word produces fruit. It produced fruit in the Colossians and it will produce fruit within any person who surrenders his life to follow the gospel. What fruit?

⇒ There is the fruit of the Spirit.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.2:22-23).

⇒ There is the fruit of bearing converts, of reaching others for Christ.

“Now I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that oftentimes I purposed to come unto you, (but was let [hindered] hitherto,) that I might have some fruit among you also, even as among other Gentiles” (Ro.1:13).

⇒ There is the fruit of sanctification, that is, of purity and cleanliness of life.

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you” (Jn.15:2-3).

The great hope of the gospel is the very thing just mentioned: a life of love, joy, and peace; a life that works to change society by converting individuals; a life that seeks the purity of sanctification in Christ. It is the gospel and the gospel alone that offers the hope of such a life to man.

5. The gospel or Word comes by hearing. This is common sense, yet it is seldom thought about. Men will sit under the gospel and never listen. They allow their minds to wander or to focus upon other subjects or else they close their ears lest they hear the gospel. Yet, no person can ever hear the gospel until he opens his ears and willingly receives the message. The power of the ear is in the hands of man: he can either open or shut his ear. The decision is his. But note: the gospel, the message of the glorious hope offered to man, comes only by hearing the Word of God (Ro.10:17).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

6. The gospel or Word is the message of God’s grace. There is no greater message than the gospel of God. The grace of God is the great hope which he offers man—the great gifts and blessings which He extends to men. But note: the hope and blessings are offered and extended to men, not forced upon them. It is up to men to receive the hope and blessings of God. God’s grace is available, but His grace has to be received. (See notes, Grace—Gal.1:3; Eph.2:8-10; 2:8-9 for more discussion.)

“But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they” (Acts 15:11).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:11-12).

7. The gospel or Word is shared by men. The Colossians learned the hope of the gospel from their minister, Epaphras. God has not committed the gospel to angels, but to men. He has chosen man and holds man accountable for sharing His Word.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Let a man so account of us, as of the ministers of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:1-2).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

8. The gospel or Word results in love. The Colossian believers were true believers, so they were filled with love in the Spirit of God. They had given their hearts over to the hope of the gospel. Therefore, the love of Christ was generated in their hearts by the Holy Spirit.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love” (Gal.5:22).

DIVISION I

THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE BELIEVER'S LIFE, 1:1-11

C. The Great Requests of Prayer, 1:9-11

(1:9-11) Introduction: Paul was in prison in Rome when writing the Colossian believers. At some point he had been visited by Epaphras, the pastor of the great Colossian church. Apparently Epaphras had felt a need for some counsel and advice on how to handle the false teaching that had seeped into the church. Paul, God's chosen apostle to the Gentiles, was the natural person to turn to for advice. This is the purpose for the letter to the Colossians: to encourage the church and its believers to get rid of the false teaching and to continue on with Christ.

Remember: Paul had never visited the Colossian church. The believers had never seen him face to face, and he was unable to visit them now because of being in prison. They needed him, for the false teaching was extremely dangerous and the very ministry of the church was threatened. Being in prison and unable to reach them, what could he do? Only two things:

- ⇒ He could write them and share the Word of God in a letter.
- ⇒ He could pray for them.

Paul did both. The present passage covers his prayer: what he asked God to do for the Colossian believers. He asked three things; he made three great requests. All three requests are needed by every church and all believers, in particular those who face false teaching. Note how these three requests lead to a deeper experience with the Lord, a much stronger walk than most believers experience. Every believer should covet these three things and covet them diligently.

1. Request 1: to know God's will—to be filled with the knowledge of God's will (v.9).
2. Request 2: to walk worthy of Christ (v.10).
3. Request 3: to possess the power of God (v.11).

1 (1:9) God, Will of—Wisdom—Understanding: the first great request is to know God's will. But note exactly what Scripture says: we are to be filled with the knowledge of God's will. It is not enough to just know God's will; we are to be filled with the knowledge of His will. The will of God is to permeate our very being. Nothing is to flow through us nor out of us that is not of God's will. But note: what is being talked about is not God's will for a particular thing nor for a few things. What is being talked about is the whole scope of life. God's will involves all of life, everything we do every moment of every day. The will of God involves what we do, say, and even think. Simply stated, we are to live and move and have our being in the will of God. God has willed a life that he wants us to live. We are to learn about that life and be filled with the knowledge of that life.

- ⇒ Briefly stated, God's will for us involves our very behavior and conduct; it even reaches down into the depth of imagination and thought. Imagine! Even every thought is to be controlled by God's will.

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

The point is this: God tells us how to live life, and what He tells us is His will. Therefore, we are to study what God has said. We are to study God's Word: learn and gain all the knowledge we can about His will—about how to live. We are to study and learn until the knowledge of His will just floods our lives—floods us to such a degree that doing His will flows out into conduct and behavior.

“Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven” (Mt.6:10).

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work” (Jn.4:34).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

“Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God: thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness” (Ps.143:10).

Note a most wonderful thing: knowing God's will involves both wisdom and understanding. The person who is filled with God's will possesses wisdom and understanding—spiritual wisdom and spiritual understanding.

- ⇒ “Wisdom” (sophiai) means that a person knows the first principles or basic principles of life.
- ⇒ “Understanding” (sunesei) means that a person has the ability to apply the basic principles to everyday life, to the circumstances and decisions of life.

The believer needs both wisdom and understanding: he must learn all the basic principles of life, and he must learn how to apply them to everyday life. But how? How can he secure wisdom and understanding?

- ⇒ By studying God’s Word.

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples; and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come” (1 Cor.10:11).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:2).

“My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; so that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding” (Pr.2:1-2).

- ⇒ By prayer—praying to be filled with the knowledge of God’s will.

“That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him” (Eph.1:17).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

Thought 1. Think about the shallow lives that so many people live. Think about how little most people know about God’s will. Compare this tragic fact with the kind of life God wills man to live. Is it any wonder...

- that so many have been deceived by false teaching?
- that so much of our ministry is superficial and formal?

2 (1:10) Believer, Walk: the second great request is to walk worthy of Christ. This is the critical point for the believer. It is the point that must be preached and taught time and again. In fact, it must be hammered into the minds and hearts of believers:

- ⇒ It is not enough to know God’s will.
- ⇒ It is not enough to possess wisdom: to possess the basic principles of life.
- ⇒ It is not even enough to possess understanding: to have the ability to apply the basic principles of life to everyday living.

Knowing something and having the ability to do something are very important, but they involve only head knowledge. The critical point is putting what we know into practice. We are to live out the will of God; we are to practice and do the will of God. Knowing the will of God is of no value until we have committed our lives to do it.

- ⇒ The word “walk” (peripatesai) means that we set our lives—our behavior and conduct—after Christ.
- ⇒ The word “worthy” (axios) means to have the weight of or to weigh as much as something else (Wuest, Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.176).

This means an amazing thing: our walk is to weigh as much as the walk of Christ. Our conduct is to conform to the will of God as much as the conduct of Christ. We are to live a life just as worthy as the life of Christ. The will of God is to control our behavior as much as it did the behavior of Christ.

- ⇒ Christ is the pattern, and we are the copy. The copy is to be just like the pattern (Wuest).

How is such a walk possible? There is only one way. We must be totally committed to do two things.

1. We must be fruitful in every good work; that is, we must do every good work. Note the word “every.” Everything that God says is to be done. Dealing with God is just like dealing with anyone. No person is pleased when we do only half of what he says. To please anyone we have to do all that he says. How much more true with God! If we are to please Him, we must do every good work and we must do it fruitfully, bearing as much fruit as possible.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone. Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works” (Jas.2:17-18).

“Having your conversation [behavior] honest among the Gentiles: that, whereas they speak against you as evildoers, they may by your good works, which they shall behold, glorify God in the day of visitation” (1 Pt.2:12).

2. We must grow in the knowledge of God. Note a critical question: How do we get to know God—how do we gain a personal knowledge and relationship with God?

⇒ We do not know God just because we know about God. Just knowing the Word of God does not mean that we know God Himself—not in a personal and intimate way.

Note exactly what the verse says: “that ye might walk worthy of the Lord...increasing in the knowledge of God.” The way we get to know God is the same way we get to know anyone. We walk with them: associate, fellowship, and share with them. So it is with God, and the more we walk with Him, the more we increase in the knowledge of Him.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For we walk by faith, not by sight” (2 Cor.5:7).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly [carefully and strictly], not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

3 (1:11) Power: the third great request is for the power of God. God’s power is an absolute essential for the believer. This is easily seen by asking two questions.

⇒ What good is it if the believer knows God’s will, but he does not have the power to do God’s will?

⇒ How can the believer walk worthy of Christ if he does not have the power to walk worthy?

Many in the world believe that man has the strength within himself to become spiritually strong; that it is a matter of the will and discipline; that man can apply himself and conquer the circumstances of life. And, to some degree, this is true. But man’s flesh fails in three critical areas.

⇒ The flesh cannot become perfect, neither can it do anything about perfection. Therefore, no matter what the flesh becomes or does, it is still unacceptable to God. Why? Because God is perfect, and being perfect, God can accept only perfection.

⇒ The flesh cannot conquer death. No matter what the flesh does, it all ends up as dead matter. One thing is certain: death has no part with God.

⇒ The flesh cannot do what this verse says: it cannot be patient and longsuffering against all the traumatic trials and temptations of life and be joyful at the same time.

It is for these three reasons that we need the power of God. Man’s power can overcome some of the problems of life, but his power cannot overcome all the problems, especially the three mentioned.

⇒ Only God’s power can make us acceptable (perfect) before Him.

⇒ Only God’s power can conquer death, that is, raise us up to live eternally.

⇒ Only God’s power can infuse enough strength in us to make us endure any and all trials with a spirit of joyfulness.

Imagine some of the trials we have to face: disease, accident, poverty, loss, death. There is no way for the flesh to work up a joyful spirit through some of the traumas of life. But God has the power, the power...

- to give us understanding and peace

- to strengthen and settle us

- to give us hope and security

Where does such power come from? From God. And we secure His power through prayer. This is the point of this great request of Paul. Now, note the results of God’s power.

1. God’s power gives us a spirit of patience (hupomonen): endurance, fortitude, steadfastness, constancy, perseverance. The word patience is not passive; it is active. It is not the spirit that just sits back and puts up with the trials of life, taking whatever may come. Rather it is the spirit that stands up and faces the trials of life, that actively goes about conquering and overcoming them. When trials confront a man who is truly justified, he is stirred to arise and face the trials head on. He immediately sets out to conquer and overcome them. He knows that God is allowing the trials in order to teach him more and more patience (endurance).

“In your patience possess ye your souls” (Lk.21:19).

“Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise” (Heb.10:36).

“My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:2-4).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain” (Jas.5:7).

2. God’s power gives us a spirit of longsuffering (see note, Longsuffering, pt.4—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion).

3. God’s power gives us a spirit of joyfulness through all the trials and tribulations of life (see note, Joy—Ph.1:4 for discussion).

DIVISION II

THE PREEMINENT CHRIST: GOD'S DEAR SON, 1:12-23

A. God and Man: What God Has Done for Man, 1:12-14

(1:12-23) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Jesus Christ, Person & Works: this is one of the greatest passages of Scripture ever written. Its importance cannot be overstressed. It is a passage that reveals the supremacy of the Lord Jesus Christ. He is supreme, above all both in His Person and in His work. Who He is and what He has done for man can never be matched. This is the purpose of this great passage, a passage that covers so much in twelve brief verses: to show to the world just who Jesus Christ is and what He has done.

Griffith Thomas says, “[This] constitutes one of the most important documents in the New Testament for the study of Christology” (Studies in Colossians and Philemon, ed. by His Daughter. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1973, p.45).

Bishop W.R. Nicholson is quoted by Griffith Thomas as saying: “[This is] a Christological statement [that] has scarcely an equal, certainly no superior” (Studies in Colossians and Philemon, p.45).

William Barclay says, “This is a passage of...such importance that we shall have to spend some considerable time on it” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.135). He then proceeds to write some seventeen pages on the twelve verses.

A.T. Robertson says: “[This is a] wonderful picture of the person and work of Christ...a full and final answer to the...[false teaching] about Jesus Christ by speculative philosophy and to all modern efforts [to give a] ‘reduced’ picture of Christ” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.477).

Matthew Henry forcefully says: “Here is a summary...of the gospel concerning the great work of our redemption by Christ” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.752).

The Preeminent Christ: God’s Dear Son, 1:12-23

- A. God and Man: What God Has Done for Man, 1:12-14
- B. God and Christ (Part I): The Person of Christ, 1:15
- C. God and Christ (Part II): Christ the Creator, 1:16-17
- D. God and Christ (Part III): Christ the Head of the Church, 1:18-19
- E. God and Christ (Part IV): Christ the Reconciler of All Things, 1:20-23

Note one other thing about this passage. It is couched in the midst of praise and thanksgiving, not in a sermon (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.752).

(1:12-14) Introduction: God has done three great things for man, things that are so great that they just explode human imagination. If we diligently concentrate upon these three things, the depth of what God has done will erupt in our lives for good. We will never be the same. What has God done for man?

- 1. God has given us an inheritance (v.12).
- 2. God has delivered us from the power of darkness (v.13).
- 3. God has redeemed us, even forgiven our sins (v.14).

1 (1:12) Inheritance: God has given us an inheritance. Before we proceed to discuss the inheritance, note two other points.

1. We have to be prepared, that is, qualified and made fit before we can receive the inheritance. Man is not qualified or fit to receive anything from God, especially an inheritance, not in his present sinful and corruptible state. If he is to ever receive an inheritance from God, he first has to be made fit and acceptable to God. Note: this is exactly what Scripture says: God has made us fit. It does not yet say what He did to make us fit; it simply declares that God has fitted us to receive an inheritance from Him. (What He did to make us qualified will be discussed in verses 13-14.)

2. We share the inheritance with all other saints in light. Remember, saints (hagios) simply means those who have set their lives apart to live for God (see note, pt.2—Col.1:2). God is Light, therefore, when a person turns his life over to God, he is turning his life over to Light. He is to live and move and have his being in light, that is, in God. He is to walk in the light of God Himself, so much so that he, the believer, is called the light of the world. This is what is meant by “saints in light.” They are people who have committed their lives to walk in the light of God. Therefore, they are saints, persons set apart in the light of God.

The point is this: every saint who lives and moves in the light of God is to receive the inheritance of God. But note: since God is light, only those set apart in light can live with God. Any person who sets his life apart in darkness can never receive the inheritance of God, for darkness can never dwell in light. The light destroys and eliminates the darkness.

3. God has given believers an inheritance. What is the inheritance? Scripture describes the inheritance in the following ways.

a. We are heirs of eternal life.

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

b. We are heirs of salvation.

“Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?” (Heb.1:14).

c. We are heirs of the promises made to Abraham, that is, the promises to inherit the world and to be a citizen of a great nation of people.

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29. See note—Ro.4:13.)

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

d. We are heirs of glory.

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

e. We are heirs of righteousness.

“By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith” (Heb.11:7).

f. We are heirs of the grace of life.

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

g. We are heirs of God’s very special favor—heirs that shall stir the praise of His glory.

“In whom [Christ] also we have obtained an inheritance....that we should be to the praise of his glory, who first trusted in Christ” (Eph.1:11-12).

“[The Holy Spirit] is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:14).

h. We are heirs of the reward, of the inheritance and all that it includes.

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet [fit] to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

“Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:24).

i. We are heirs of the eternal inheritance.

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

j. We are heirs of an immortal and perfected body that shall be given us when Christ returns.

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:50-54; cp. 1 Pt.1:3-4).

2 (1:13) Deliverance—Darkness—Kingdom of Heaven: God has delivered us from the power of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of His dear Son.

1. Note two things about the “power of darkness.”
  - a. The “power of darkness” indicates there is a kingdom, a realm, a world of darkness. Darkness means just what is indicated: a person is unable to see and understand or know. Picture the scene: a person trying to walk and stumble through a world of darkness. He cannot see or understand:
    - ⇒ who he really is
    - ⇒ where he has come from
    - ⇒ where he is
    - ⇒ where he is going

This is the very situation of natural man, the man who has not been delivered from the world of darkness by God. The man in darkness does not know...

- who he is: why God created him and what God has planned for man.
- where he has come from: that his origin is God; that God created him.
- where he is: that the world was made by God and that it has an eternal purpose in the plan of God.
- where he is going: that he is an eternal being who is to either live forever in the light of God’s presence or in the darkness away from God’s presence.

The point to see is that darkness is a realm or a world in which the unbeliever lives and moves. He never knows these things, never knows the truth of his world and life nor of God. He walks in a life and world of darkness, blinded from the truth. (See note, Darkness—Eph.5:8 for more discussion.)

- b. The “power of darkness” also indicates that the darkness is not only a realm or world, but a power—an active power that enslaves men and stands in opposition to the light of God. The world of darkness is a kingdom in rebellion against God. This is the very reason men struggle against God so much. It is difficult to imagine the antagonism of most men against God, yet it is true. Just imagine how contradictory it is to see a rational creature...

- cursing God
- denying God
- rejecting God
- hurting people
- damaging himself
- ridiculing, persecuting, and killing those who profess God

There is no way a rational creature would act like this unless he was enslaved by the power of darkness.

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“In him [Christ] was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not” (Jn.1:4-5).

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil” (Jn.3:19).

“The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light” (Ro.13:12).

“But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which vail is done away in Christ” (2 Cor.3:14).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes” (1 Jn.2:11).

2. Note that it is God Himself who has delivered us from darkness. The word “delivered” (erurato) means to rescue or snatch from darkness. A person lost in pitch black darkness is hopeless unless someone rescues him. And note: he cannot be rescued by those who are lost in the same darkness as he is. No person who is in the world of darkness has light, or else he would use the light to get out of the darkness. This is the very reason God had to rescue man. He alone is light; therefore, He alone could reach down and snatch man from the darkness. How did He do this? The answer is given in the next point.

3. God transferred us into the kingdom of His dear Son, into the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ. We must always remember that the kingdom of Christ already exists.

⇒ His rule and reign already exists in the spiritual world or spiritual dimension of being, that is, in heaven.

⇒ His rule and reign already exists in the hearts and lives of believers in this physical world or physical dimension of being.

The message of the glorious gospel is that God has transferred the believer from the power of darkness into the kingdom of His dear Son. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Kingdom of Heaven—Mt.19:23-24 for more discussion.)

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence. Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that

I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice" (Jn.18:36-37).

"Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God" (Acts 14:22).

"For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost" (Ro.14:17).

"For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet" (1 Cor.15:25).

"But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom" (Heb.1:8).

"And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever" (Rev.11:15).

"Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this" (Is.9:7).

"Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth" (Jer.23:5).

3 (1:14) Redemption-Forgiveness: God has redeemed us, even forgiven our sins (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.1:7 for full discussion. Eph.1:7 and Col.1:14 are almost identical verses.)

DIVISION II

THE PREEMINENT CHRIST: GOD'S DEAR SON, 1:12-23

B. God and Christ (Part I): The Person of Christ, 1:15

(1:15) Introduction: this Scripture is one of the most important passages ever written. It does two very significant things.
 ⇒ It destroys false teaching and false thoughts about God and Jesus Christ.
 ⇒ It reveals exactly who God and Jesus Christ are.

This was the very purpose of Paul. False teaching had seeped into the Colossian church, false teaching that attacked Jesus Christ. It was called Gnosticism. This was one of the major reasons the pastor of the Colossian church (Epaphras) had visited Paul: to get Paul's advice in dealing with the heresy. The unfortunate thing is this: the teachings of Gnosticism have continued to plague the church down through the centuries, even today. In one form or another similar teachings are always being used to attack the church. Because of this, the teachings of Gnosticism and its modern counterpart will be dealt with in the points where they apply. The point to remember is this: throughout this passage Paul is answering the false teaching that had seeped into the church. And there is no better way to counteract false teaching than to present the truth. The false teaching was an attack against Jesus Christ, against both His work and Person. Therefore, Paul takes up the pen and proclaims God and Christ (Part I): the Person of Christ.

1. Jesus Christ is the image of the invisible God (v.15).
2. Jesus Christ is above all things (v.15).

1 (1:15) Jesus Christ, Deity—God, Revelation—Gnosticism: Jesus Christ is the image of the invisible God. The word "image" (eikon) means the exact likeness, the very person of God.

- ⇒ It means that Jesus Christ was the very representation of God—God in every respect. Wuest quotes Lightfoot as saying that "image" means a mark or figure burned or stamped on (something)...a precise reproduction in every respect.
- ⇒ It means that Jesus Christ was the perfect manifestation or revelation of God. God is invisible or unseen, but Jesus Christ reveals God to the world. He reveals God as the exact image, as the perfect representation of God.

The impact of this truth about Jesus Christ has explosive repercussions for man. It destroys all false teaching about God and Christ, and it reveals God to man. It shows man who God is and what He is like. As stated in the introduction, this was the very purpose of Paul. False teaching had seeped into the Colossian church, false teaching that had attacked who Jesus Christ was. Note how forcefully the truth destroys the error.

1. Gnosticism said there were many intermediaries—many mediators (emanations)—between God and man, that Jesus Christ was not the only mediator.

- a. The parallel with false teaching down through the centuries is clearly seen. There have been and always will be those who proclaim...
  - that Jesus Christ is not the only person who can bring us near God; that He is not the only mediator between God and man; that there are other mediators and intermediaries of God—other great teachers who are just as important as Jesus Christ—who can bring us in touch with God. (Cp. Buddha, Mohammed, and other leaders of various cults, and self-proclaimed messiahs.)
- b. However, note how the truth destroys this false teaching. Jesus Christ, who lived and walked among men, is the express image of God, the very Lord of the universe. This means a most significant thing: God is not what most men think. He is not an unconcerned and distant God who is off in outer space someplace. He is not separated from man by a host of intermediaries, by many different ways to reach Him. God is not out of touch with the world; He has not made it difficult to reach Him. He is close at hand, so close that He has come to earth and lived as a Man among us. And in doing so He has done two great things for us through the Lord Jesus Christ. First, He has shown us exactly who He is and what He is like; and second, He has shown us the way to reach Him.

Think for a moment about all that Jesus Christ shows us about God.

- ⇒ The fact that He came to earth shows us that He and He alone is the Supreme Person who can take us to God.
- ⇒ The fact that He came to earth shows us that God is near.
- ⇒ The fact that Jesus Christ lived as a Man, ministering and helping, shows us that God cares.
- ⇒ The fact that Jesus Christ died at the hands of men shows that God is love—He willingly sacrificed Himself. Being God He did not have to die. As Scripture says, He could have called down a host of angels to deliver Him.
- ⇒ The fact that Jesus Christ proclaimed salvation to man shows that God is a Savior.
- ⇒ The fact that Jesus Christ proclaimed judgment upon evil and warned men of destruction shows that God is a just Lord.

The list could go on and on, but the point is clearly seen. God is not so unconcerned and far away from man that He has left man to grope and stumble through life on his own seeking after God. God loves and cares so much for man that He has shown man exactly who He is and what He is like and the way to reach Him. Jesus Christ alone is the image of God, the Supreme Person of the universe. He alone is the Mediator between God and Man. God is as close as Jesus Christ is.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6; cp. Heb.12:24).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“[Christ] is a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us” (Heb.10:20).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel” (Heb.12:24).

“For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell” (Col.1:19).

2. Gnosticism said the human body was evil. This teaching resulted in two different attitudes toward the body and life.
  - ⇒ Some said the body needed to be disciplined, controlled, and taken care of as much as possible. By controlling its urges and appetites and keeping it fit, the corruption and evil of the body could be mastered more easily.
  - ⇒ Others said the very opposite: what was done with the body mattered little, for it was evil and doomed to death. Therefore, once a person took care of his spirit, he could then eat, drink, and be merry.
- a. The parallel with the false teaching of today is clearly seen.
  - ⇒ Some concentrate upon the body and its health through recreation, discipline, and strict living, seeking to overcome the evil, that is, the corruption, disease, aging, and dying of the body, as much as possible.
  - ⇒ Others live as they please, eating and drinking and partying as they wish, thinking that it matters little how they live. Just think how many people feel they can do their own thing—what they want, when they want—just so they believe in God and worship and do a good deed here and there.

The point to see is this: each gives attention to the spiritual only as he wishes, only as much as he feels is necessary to keep his spirit in touch with God. But his concentration is the body and its pleasure, whether the pleasure is the exhibition of discipline and control or the stimulating of the flesh.

- b. Note how the truth destroys this lifestyle and teaching. The human body is not evil; Jesus Christ shows us this. He is the image of God—the very Son of God Himself—who came to earth in a human body. Therefore, the human body could not be evil, for God cannot be touched with evil.

The human body has to be honorable or else Jesus Christ would not have wrapped Himself in a human body and come to earth. The conclusion is shocking and convulsive for the life of man. Since the body is honorable, it means that everything a man does with his body is important to his spiritual welfare. What he does with his body determines his relationship and destiny with God. It is totally impossible to keep one's spirit right with God and let one's body go its own way. A person is a person, both spirit and body. Therefore, he is to honor God with both his spirit and body, just as Jesus Christ did in the body given him by God. (See outline and notes—Ro.12:1-2; 1 Cor.6:12-20 for more discussion.)

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1).

“Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord; and the Lord for the body” (1 Cor.6:13).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and un-reproveable in his sight” (Col.1:22).

3. Gnosticism said the way to God was through learning a certain amount of knowledge and certain key words that would assure the opening up of spiritual insight. The emphasis was upon the intellect and learning, knowledge and insight, personal improvement and self-effort in achieving acceptance with God.

COLOSSIANS 1:15

- a. The parallel with so much of man's natural thinking is evident. So many feel safe and secure if they...
- know about God and religion.
  - know religious phrases and words and can talk in pious and religious language.
  - are religious enough to learn about God and religion.
- But note: knowing about someone is not knowing the person; it is not personal knowledge.
- b. The truth revealed by Jesus Christ strikes at the very foundation of such thoughts and teachings. God does not save a person because he thinks about God and knows some things about religion and God. God saves the uneducated as well as the educated, the simple as well as the intellectual, the ignorant as well as the knowledgeable, the poor as well as the rich, the young as well as the adult. This is seen in that Jesus Christ, who is the image of God...
- came to earth as a baby.
  - was reared by simple, poor parents.
  - was not educated at a university or any other school beyond the local community synagogue.
  - always ministered and reached out to the needy of the world—those who had need, regardless of age, simplicity, suffering, ignorance, or any other unfortunate circumstance.
- Jesus Christ reveals that God saves all who come to the Father through Him—through Him who redeems us and forgives our sins (Col.1:14).

“Go ye therefore into the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage” (Mt.22:9).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved” (Ro.10:12-13).

“Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

“Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

“And the Spirit and bride say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

“Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else” (Is.45:22).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price” (Is.55:1).

The conclusion is forceful: Jesus Christ is the express image, the exact representation, the perfect manifestation, the very Person of God Himself. There is no other person who can bring us near God and no other life-style to follow in reaching God. Jesus Christ is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe who came to earth as God to save men.

“God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:19-21).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

2 (1:15) Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ is above all things. The word “firstborn” does not mean that Jesus Christ was the first created being of the universe. It means priority, superiority, preeminence, supremacy. It means that He existed before all creation as the Supreme Being of the universe. All creation is His heritage. (See note, Jesus Christ, Eternal—Col.1:16; 1:17 for more discussion. Cp. Ro.8:29; Col.1:18.)

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works” (Jn.14:9-10).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“[Christ] who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God” (Ph.2:6).

“[Christ] who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

DIVISION II

THE PREEMINENT CHRIST: GOD'S DEAR SON, 1:12-23

C. God and Christ (Part II): Christ the Creator, 1:16-17

(1:16-17) Introduction—Creation: this passage concerns the creation of the universe. It deals with such questions as...

- What is the origin of the universe?
- How did the world come into existence?
- What was the force that brought the universe forth?
- Is there more than one world or universe? More than the physical dimension of being? Are there invisible worlds in other dimensions?
- What is the purpose or end of things or of creation?
- What holds things together? What is the cohesive force that gives order to the universe? What is the power behind the laws of nature such as gravity?

There are basically three views of creation.

First, there is the secularist or humanist view, the idea that the world just happened by chance. No force or power created the world. No power stands behind the world. There was nothing, and then by some means and in some way some gas or some element of some sort just appeared...

- out of nothing.
- out of nowhere.

Then through eons of ages, the single gas or element became two elements and the evolutionary process began until eventually the world was created. Of course, there have been and always will be various ideas as to how the evolutionary process happened (cp. the present idea of the Big Bang theory that is somewhat popularized). However, the essence or seed of the secularist or humanist is that the world or universe began out of nothing and out of nowhere.

Second, there is the view that some god did create the world, but he is far off and removed from the world. The far off god is thought of in various ways:

- ⇒ Some see him as good; others as evil.
- ⇒ Some think he created the world himself; others that he used intermediary forces.

This was the view of Gnosticism, the false teaching that had seeped into the church at Colosse. It is also the view held by men in today's society. They just feel that God is far away, completely removed from the world. If they think about creation at all, they cannot see God as having created the world, for He is too far removed from it. He therefore must have used other forces or beings, other intermediaries or some other way to make the world.

Third, there is the pure Christian view, the truth that God Himself, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, created the world in the person of Jesus Christ. This is, of course, the discussion of this passage. As it is studied, note the force of its proclamation: it declares in no uncertain terms how the cosmos or universe began. Note also how the proclamation destroys all false teaching and how much more logical and understandable the truth is in comparison to the false beliefs. Christ is the Creator of the universe.

1. Christ created all things (v.16).
2. Christ created all things for Himself (v.16).
3. Christ is before all (v.17).
4. Christ holds all things together (v.17).

1 (1:16) Creation—Jesus Christ, Creator: Jesus Christ created all things. This is a matter of fact declaration, yet note how profound the truth is and how much is covered in the verse.

1. The words "by Him" (en autoi) mean in Him; that is, creation took place in Christ, within His very being.
  - ⇒ The heart of Christ desired the world.
  - ⇒ The mind of Christ planned the world.
  - ⇒ The will of Christ destined the world.
  - ⇒ The Word of Christ created the world.

The creation of the world took place within Christ, within His personality and being. The world was born within Him.

- ⇒ It was the love of Christ that moved His heart to create the world.
- ⇒ It was the knowledge of Christ that aroused His mind to plan the world.

- ⇒ It was the riches of His grace that stirred Him to will the world.
- ⇒ It was the power of His Word that energized or brought the world into existence.

The universe exists because of Christ and because of Him alone. The idea for the universe was born in Him, and the actual creation of the universe took place by His own energy and effort. Jesus Christ Himself brought the universe into existence.

2. The words “all things” (ta panta) are very significant. They mean...
- “all things” collectively, that is, all the things within the universe were created by Christ.
  - “all things” individually, that is, every single detail of creation, was created by Christ. Each particle and thing, each being and element has come into being in Christ and in Him alone.

The point is that nothing exists that was not created by Christ. All things were made by Him, even the very details of every single thing.

3. The words “were created” (ektisthe) are in the Greek aorist tense which simply means that creation was an historical event. Creation actually took place in this way. Jesus Christ Himself created the world. There was a time, a day, an hour, a moment when He spoke the Word and all things in their intricate detail came into being.

4. The creation of Christ includes all the worlds of all the dimensions of being. This is what is meant by the statement, “that are in heaven, and in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers.” Note how all inclusive the statement is:

- ⇒ If there are other visible and living planets and beings in outer space, Christ created them.
- ⇒ If there are invisible worlds and beings in other dimensions, Christ created them.

It does not matter what kind of world or creatures they may be—thrones, dominions, principalities, or powers—Christ created them all. There is nothing in existence that He has not created.

- |                |                 |
|----------------|-----------------|
| ⇒ no planet    | ⇒ no vegetation |
| ⇒ no star      | ⇒ no mineral    |
| ⇒ no creature  | ⇒ no element    |
| ⇒ no dimension | ⇒ no thing      |

“All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made” (Jn.1:3).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

“And to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God, who created all things by Jesus Christ” (Eph.3:9).

“For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him” (Col.1:16).

2 (1:16) Creation, Purpose—Jesus Christ, Creator: Christ created all things for Himself. Think for a moment: if Christ really created all things, to whom would creation look? Who would creation praise, honor, worship, and serve? The answer is obvious: creation looks to its Creator. Creation owes its existence to its Creator; therefore, creation is to exalt its Creator. Creation finds its end and consummation in Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ created the universe...

- that in the ages to come He might show the riches of His grace and kindness (Eph.2:7).
- that He might reveal His glory (Ro.8:18).

Simply stated, the universe was created for Christ, that it might be His...

|-------------|--------------|
| • to love   | • to receive |
| • to bless  | • to save    |
| • to redeem | • to exalt   |

Therefore, creation owes its praise and honor, worship and service to the Lord Jesus Christ. The universe exists for its Creator.

“And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him that put all things under him, that God may be all in all” (1 Cor.15:28).

“That in the dispensation of the fulness of times he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven, and which are on earth; even in him” (Eph.1:10).

“For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell; and, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:19-20).

“Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds” (Heb.1:2).

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

“For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever” (Ro.11:36).

3 (1:17) Jesus Christ, Eternal: Jesus Christ is before all things. This is a critical point; it means two things.

1. Jesus Christ was before all things in time. Before the first thing was ever created, Jesus Christ was already there. He is not a created being; He is the Creator. There was nothing existing in the universe when He created. Before the beginning of time, before the universe ever existed, He was there. He alone is eternal.

“Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God” (Ps.90:2).

“I was set up from everlasting, from the beginning, or ever the earth was” (Pr.8:23).

“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God” (Jn.1:1).

“Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am” (Jn.8:58).

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5).

“[Christ Jesus] who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross” (Ph.2:6-8).

“I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last” (Rev.22:13).

2. Jesus Christ is before all things in importance, supremacy, and preeminence. Nothing is superior to Him. He alone is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe. He alone stands before all as Supreme; all else—every single thing—stands under Him owing their existence, worship, and service to Him.

“Whose are the fathers, and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever” (Ro.9:5).

“Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature” (Col.1:15).

“And he is before all things” (Col.1:17).

Thought 1. This point destroys all ideas that Jesus Christ is only a great teacher, only one among many great men who can lead us to God.

4 (1:17) Jesus Christ, Creator: Jesus Christ holds all things together. Wuest quotes Lightfoot as making an excellent statement on this point:

“[Jesus Christ] is the principle of cohesion in the universe. He impresses upon creation that unity and solidarity which makes it a cosmos (an ordered system) instead of a chaos (an unformed mass). Thus (to take one instance) the action of gravitation, which keeps in their places things fixed and regulates the motions of things moving, is an expression of His mind” (Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.185).

Barclay, as is so often the case, is descriptive in his exposition:

“...it is the Son who, as it were, holds the world together. That is to say, all the laws by which this world is an order and not a chaos are an expression of the mind of the Son. The law of gravity and all the so-called scientific laws are not only scientific laws; they are divine laws. They are the laws which make sense of the universe. They are the laws which make this a reliable and a dependable world. Every law of science and of nature is, in fact, an expression of the thought of God. It is by these laws, and therefore by the mind of God, that the universe hangs together, and does not disintegrate in chaos” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.144).

The point is clear: Jesus Christ is what holds the world together. It is His love and power...

- that keeps the universe from flying apart and disintegrating.
- that keeps all creatures from utterly destroying themselves through savagery.

All things are held together by Jesus Christ, by His...

- energy
- force
- power
- order
- unity
- solidarity
- cohesion

“And he is before all things, and by him all things consist” (Col.1:17).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

Thought 1. Jesus Christ is eternal. This says several important things about Christ.

- 1) Christ reveals the most important Person in all the universe. He reveals all that God is and wants to say to man. Therefore, Christ must be diligently studied, and all that He is and says must be heeded to the utmost (cp. Jn.5:24).
- 2) Christ reveals God perfectly. He is God; therefore, when we look at Christ we see God (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.14:6. Cp. Jn.14:9.)
- 3) Christ reveals that God is the most wonderful Person. God is far beyond anyone we could have ever dreamed. He is loving and caring, full of goodness and truth; He will not tolerate injustices: murder, stealing, lying, cheating, abuse, mistreatment, ignoring, neglecting of husband, wife, child, neighbor, brother, sister or stranger. God loves and is working and moving toward a perfect universe that will be filled with people who choose to love, worship, live, and work for Him (cp. Jn.5:24-29).

Thought 2. The very nature of Christ is...

- to exist eternally.
- to exist in a perfect state of being, knowing nothing but eternal perfection.
- to exist in perfect communion and fellowship eternally (cp. 1 Jn.1:3).

Note: it is the very nature of Christ that shall be imparted to believers; therefore, all three things will become our experience.

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

DIVISION II

THE PREEMINENT CHRIST: GOD'S DEAR SON, 1:12-23

D. God and Christ (Part III): Christ is the Head of the Church, 1:18-19

(1:18-19) Introduction: this is one of the great pictures of Christ and of the church. It pictures in the clearest of terms what the relationship is between Christ and the church. It is a passage that should be studied by every local church time and again.

1. He is the head of the church (v.18).
2. He is the beginning of the church (v.18).
3. He was the first from the dead (v.18).
4. He is supreme in all things (v.18).
5. He is filled with all the fulness of God Himself (v.19).

1 (1:18) Church—Jesus Christ, Head of the Church: Jesus Christ is the head of the church. (See note, Church—Mt.16:19 for the meaning of the word church.) This is the most common description of Christ and the church: the picture of the human body with Christ as the Head and the church as His body. When the church is called the body of Christ at least three ideas are pictured. (See outlines and notes—Ro.12:3-8; 1 Cor.12:12-31; Eph.1:22-23; 2:19-22 for more discussion.)

1. There is the idea of life, of the most vital connection and relationship. A body cannot live apart from the head and a head cannot live apart from the body. Both the head and body are absolutely necessary for there to be life. Without Jesus Christ, the church does not exist, and without the church the life of Christ on earth could not be known or exist. Christ is made known only through the lives of His people, the church. That is His chosen method to make Himself known.

Thought 1. This means something of critical importance.

- 1) If any part of the world is without the church (His body), that part of the world cannot know Christ the Head.
- 2) If the world sees a body of people with some head other than Christ, then that body of people is not the church, not the true church.

2. There is the idea of activity and its source. It is the body that acts, but it is the head that tells the body to act. It is the head that...

- plans for the body
- directs the body
- guides the body
- inspires the body
- arouses the body
- activates the body
- drives the body

The body does nothing without the head. All that the body does begins in the head.

Thought 1. This is significant. It means that the church is totally dependent upon the Head, Jesus Christ. The body finds its purpose, meaning, and significance in the Head who is Jesus Christ. Therefore, the body or church must learn more and more to acknowledge and honor the Head. The body must learn to look to the Head for its plans, guidance, and motivation.

3. There is the idea of control. The head is to rule and reign over the body. The body is to be controlled by the head. The body is not to act apart from the head. But note: sometimes a body does act apart from the head. But when it does, it is because of disease, handicap, or injury. There is some malfunction—some physical, emotional or mental problem. So it is with the church. When Christ does not control the church body, it is because there is some malfunction, some problem within the body.

Thought 1. The church body is to let Christ control it. The church is to walk a disciplined, controlled life just like Christ says. When the church lives like Christ dictates, then the church body lives a life free of disease and injury.

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:22).

“But speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:15).

“For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body” (Eph.5:23).

“And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence” (Col.1:18).

“And not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:19).

2 (1:18) Church: Jesus Christ is the beginning of the church. The word “beginning” (arche) has a twofold idea.

1. “Beginning” means creative power. When something first begins, it is created or brought into being by some person or thing greater than itself. Jesus Christ was the Person who gave birth to the church. He is greater than the church; therefore, He had the power to create the church and bring it into existence.

⇒ The church is the idea of His mind: He was the One who dreamed of the church, thought it up, and saw the great purpose it could accomplish upon earth.

⇒ The church is the plan of His heart: He saw how the church could be founded and built upon the earth and His heart wanted it.

⇒ The church is the desire of His will: He desired and longed for the church; therefore, He willed to create it.

⇒ The church is the activity of His hands and life. Jesus Christ came to earth and gave birth to the church (see outline, notes and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Church—Mt.16:18).

⇒ The church is the result of His love: He loved the world; therefore, He founded His church and He reaches out to the world through His church.

⇒ The church is the subject of His care: He looks after and oversees the welfare of His church, making sure that it fulfils its purpose on earth. Even the very gates of hell cannot prevail against the church because of His love and care (Mt.16:18).

The point is this: Jesus Christ began the church. He is the beginning, the creative power who founded and gave birth to the church.

Thought 1. Jesus Christ is the Person—the only Person—who is to be honored and acknowledged as the beginning of God’s church on earth. No other person is to ever usurp the place of Christ in the church. He and He alone is to be praised as the Source of the church’s life and being. He and He alone can bring men to God.

2. “Beginning” means first in time. Jesus Christ was the first Person of the church. He began the church; therefore, He was the first member, the great and glorious Founder of the church. All others who come into the church follow Him.

Thought 1. This means something of extreme significance. A person who does not follow Christ the Founder fails to really enter the church which He founded. A person may sit in the pews of a building and hear the voice of the preacher, but unless he follows Christ, he is not in the body and movement of the church’s Founder. He follows some other body and movement. And one thing must be noted: Christ was very clear about His body and movement—about how His church and followers are to live. Therefore, to be a part of His church, a person has to live in the will and movement which He established.

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive; but speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ” (Eph.4:14-15).

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind. and not holding the Head, from which all the body by joints and bands having nourishment ministered, and knit together, increaseth with the increase of God” (Col.2:18-19).

“Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: [but] he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also. Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father” (1 Jn.2:23-24).

3 (1:18) Church—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: Jesus Christ was the first to arise from the dead. There are three ways that the resurrection of Christ and the church are closely related.

1. The resurrection of Christ is the very reason the church exists. If Jesus Christ had not arisen from the dead, there would be no church. God loves man and longs for man to live forever in His presence. He made such possible through the resurrection of Jesus Christ and by establishing the church. What happened was this: Jesus Christ became the first person who ever arose from the dead and who never has to die again. He has blazed the path of conquering death; and because He has, He stands as the First, the Pattern, the Forerunner, the Ideal Man in conquering death. Therefore, when a person truly believes in the resurrection of Christ, God takes that belief and counts the person as being in Christ. God counts the man’s trust in the resurrection of Christ as the energy and power of the Lord’s resurrection. Therefore, when the man is ready to leave this world, he is in the energy and power of Christ’s resurrection, and the Lord’s energy and power transfers the person right into the presence of God.

Now note: this is the message and hope of the gospel. It is the people who believe in the resurrection of Christ who make up the church. This is what the church is: a body of people who have trusted the power of Christ's resurrection to conquer death for them and to transfer them into the eternal presence of God. Apart from the resurrection of Christ there would be no hope and no message of conquering power; therefore, there would be no church.

Thought 1. The resurrection of Christ and the church are tied together.

- ⇒ Every person who truly believes in the resurrection of Christ is a true member of the Lord's church.
- ⇒ Every true member of the church is a person who has truly believed in the resurrection of Christ.
- ⇒ There is no person who is a true member of the church who has not believed in the resurrection of Christ.
- ⇒ There is no person who is a member of God's true church who has not believed in the Lord's resurrection.

Thought 2. The church is a body of people who truly believe in the resurrection of Christ. The conquest of death is the church's great message of hope. It is this very belief that distinguishes it from all other organizations of men such as social and civic clubs.

2. The resurrection of Christ and the life of the church means there is a new life available for people. When Christ was raised from the dead, His body and life were entirely different from His former body and life. He had a changed body and life; He was raised to live a new life, to live face to face with God forever. So it is with the church. The church is to be a picture of the resurrected and changed life of Christ. The church is...

- to be entirely different from the world.
- to be separated from the world and given over completely to God.
- to live its life as though it is face to face with God.

3. The resurrection of Christ is the power by which the church is to live. The resurrection of Christ proves there is unlimited, enormous power available for living and conquering all the foes of life, even the foes of death and judgment. The church is to live as resurrected beings—beings with a new life, a life of power and energy that conquers all the trials of life. Just imagine! Power to conquer all the trials and temptations of life, including the terrible trials of death and judgment. Such power is available, and it is to be alive and active in the church. In fact, the resurrected power of the Lord Jesus Christ is to be the very life blood of the church.

“Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come: that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should show light unto the people, and to the Gentiles” (Acts 26:22-23).

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:4).

“And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

4 (1:18) Jesus Christ, Preeminence: Jesus Christ is supreme in all things. God the Father has only one child, the Lord Jesus Christ who is God the Son.

Note two points.

1. Jesus Christ is the preeminent Person in the universe because He died and arose again for man's salvation. It is because Christ was perfectly obedient to God the Father in dying and being raised from the dead that God the Father has made God the Son preeminent in all things.

Another way to say the same thing is this: God the Son willingly came to earth to die and to arise again for man's salvation. Therefore, God the Father is bound to love God the Son with a supreme love. He is bound to do the ultimate for Christ, to give Christ the preeminence of all things.

Still another way to say the same thing is this. God the Father has only one child who is the Lord Jesus Christ, God the Son. God the Son was perfectly obedient in coming to earth to die for man and to arise from the dead. Therefore, God the Father is bound to love His only Son with a supreme love. He is bound to do everything and to arrange everything to focus around His only Son.

The point is this: God's great love for His Son explains why the church exists. God had created the world and man to worship and serve Him, but when man rebelled and refused to honor Him, God had to accomplish His purpose some other way. All men were not going to worship and serve Him, but He knew that some would if He provided a way. This God did. He provided the way through His Son Jesus Christ and the church. The person who believes in His Son Jesus Christ is forgiven for his rebellion and accepted into the new body of people God is creating, the body called “the church.”

- ⇒ This is what the church is: a body of people who have approached God through the Lord Jesus Christ to worship and serve God.

2. This is the reason Jesus Christ is to have the preeminence in all things: He is the Person who came to earth to suffer and die. He is One who has loved and given Himself for the church. He is the One who died to establish the church (Eph.5:25). Therefore, God has made Christ the preeminent and supreme Majesty of the universe.

⇒ Jesus Christ has been exalted to the right hand of God the Father.

“So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“[God’s power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

⇒ Jesus Christ has been given a name above every name.

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

⇒ Jesus Christ has been given all things.

“Saying with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing” (Rev.5:12).

⇒ Jesus Christ has been made both Lord and Christ (Messiah, Savior).

“Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

“But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him” (1 Cor.8:6).

⇒ Jesus Christ has been exalted above all.

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

⇒ Jesus Christ is Lord of both the living and dead.

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

⇒ Jesus Christ has a more excellent name than the angels.

“Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they” (Heb.1:4).

⇒ Jesus Christ has more glory than even the greatest of men.

“For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses inasmuch as he who hath builded the house hath more honour than the house” (Heb.3:3).

⇒ Jesus Christ is the Alpha and Omega, the first and the last.

“Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last” (Rev.1:11).

⇒ Jesus Christ has all things put under His feet.

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:22).

⇒ Jesus Christ has all things subject to Him.

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

5 (1:19) Jesus Christ, Person: Jesus Christ is filled with all the fulness of God Himself. All that God is dwells in Jesus Christ. This is what this verse means. Jesus Christ is fully God in all God’s divine nature. The word “dwell” (katoikeo) means to make permanent abode or to be at home permanently. All the fulness of God was at home in Christ before He came to earth, at home in Him while He was on earth, and shall continue to be at home within Him throughout all eternity. Jesus Christ is God, the Son of God who possesses the perfect nature of God the Father in all His Being and attributes.

This is significant for the church because it means...

- that God is the Head of the church.
- that God is the beginning of the church.
- that God is the One who came to earth, died, and arose from the dead.
- that God is the preeminent Person of the universe.
- that God in all His fulness dwells in Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

It means that the church worships God when it worships the Son of God. It means that God the Father is honored when God the Son is honored. Both the Father and the Son have the same perfect nature; therefore, what is done for the Son is done for the Father. The Son is to be worshipped and served even as the Father is. In fact, because of what God the Son has done in coming to earth—dying and arising from the dead—God the Father wants His Son to have the preeminence. Note the word “pleased”: it pleases the Father that His Son has His nature and is the preeminent majesty of the universe. (See outline and notes—Ph.2:5-11 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. The church can please the Father only by praising and serving the Lord Jesus Christ, the One in whom dwells all the fulness of God.

“In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God” (Jn.1:1-2).

“And of his fulness have all we received, and grace for grace” (Jn.1:16).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9).

“[Christ] is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all” (Eph.1:23).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Which in his times he shall show, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords” (1 Tim.6:15).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

DIVISION II

THE PREEMINENT CHRIST: GOD'S DEAR SON, 1:12-23

E. God and Christ (Part IV): Christ the Reconciler of All Things, 1:20-23

(1:20-23) Introduction: this passage is one of the great studies of Scripture, the message of reconciliation. Man can now be reconciled to God because of Christ. It is an astounding passage, for it reveals that God has not only reconciled man to Himself, but He has reconciled the whole universe—all of creation—to Himself. And not only this, He has reconciled all things to Himself, whether they be things in earth or things in heaven.

1. God has reconciled all things to Himself—through Christ (v.20).
2. God has reconciled those who were alienated and were enemies of God—through Christ (v.21-22).
3. God had one great purpose in reconciliation: to present the believer perfect (v.22).
4. God has made reconciliation conditional (v.23).

1 (1:20) Reconciliation: God has reconciled all things to Himself—all creation, both in earth and in heaven. (See outline and notes, Reconciliation & Peace—Eph.2:11-18 for more discussion.) This is one of the great verses of Scripture, but it is a shocker, an eye-opener. It seems to be teaching universal salvation, that is, that everything in heaven and earth has been saved through the blood of Christ. This, of course, could not be what Paul meant, for it is not what the rest of Scripture teaches. Note three significant facts.

1. There is a great need for peace between God and man. Man is not at peace with God. His soul is restless and disturbed, lonely and empty, without direction and purpose: his soul is as separated from God as it can be. Man's relationship with God can be described in three ways.

- a. Man is not at peace with God. Note the word "with." Peace with God refers to man's relationship with God. Man does not know God personally; he is not near God nor close to God. He often questions the very existence of God, and even if he believes that God exists, he knows little if anything about talking and sharing with God.

Instead of sensing peace with God, he senses separation from God, as though God is out in space somewhere, far away from the earth.

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

- b. Man does not experience the peace of God. Note the word "of": the peace "of" God refers to possessing the peace of God within one's heart and life. As man walks throughout the day taking care of his affairs, his heart is not settled; he lacks peace; he knows little if anything of the peace of God. He lacks complete assurance as he faces the circumstances, problems, difficulties, trials, and temptations of life.

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:6-7).

- c. Man does not experience the God of peace dwelling within his heart and flooding his soul. As he walks through life, he does not know what it is to have the presence of God with him; he does not know what it means to have the God of peace helping him face the affairs and trials of daily life.

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you" (Ph.4:8-9).

The point is this: man has a need, a great need for peace with God. God has met that need by reconciling all men to Himself through His Son, Jesus Christ.

2. There is the means of reconciliation: the blood of the cross. How does the blood of the cross reconcile us to God? There are two pictures that show us.

- a. There is the picture of unjust punishment and death. The cross was the place where criminals were executed. This means that Jesus Christ died as an unjust criminal, yet He was not a criminal. He did not deserve to die, for He had broken no law. He was not upon the cross because He deserved to die; He was not there because of His own sins. Therefore, He was bound to be dying for someone else. He was the Just dying for the unjust.

This is very significant. If the Just died for the sins of the unjust, then the unjust is no longer guilty of sin. He is freed from the charge of being a sinner: he is no longer considered unjust; he is considered just. How? By faith. When a person truly believes that the Just Christ died for his unjust sins, God counts it so. God takes the person's faith and accepts it as his identification with Christ. Being freed from the charge of sin, the person becomes acceptable to God. The person is reconciled and brought near God by Christ dying for his unjust sins.

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

- b. There is the picture of blood or of sacrifice. When the blood of Christ is mentioned, the idea of sacrifice is meant. The blood of Christ is tied to the blood of animal sacrifices in the Old Testament. Down through the centuries God had told man that sin was serious, very serious—a matter worthy of death. It was sin that separated man from God. Therefore, man either had to die for his sins or else someone else who was innocent and without transgression had to be sacrificed for him. That Someone, of course, had to be God Himself, for no one else is innocent and perfect. But it was not yet time for God to come to earth in the person of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ; the fulness of time had not yet come. Man had not yet learned the awfulness of sin and the great price that God would be paying in sacrificing His Son for man.

Animal sacrifice was one of the ways God was going to teach these truths to man. A man was to believe that the animal was sacrificed for him. If he truly believed, then God accepted the animal sacrifice as bearing his sins. This, of course, meant the man was freed from the charge of sin. He was thereby reconciled and made acceptable to God by the blood that was shed.

The point is this: the shed blood of Christ is the supreme sacrifice. The perfect blood of God's own Son has now been sacrificed for man's sins. Therefore, the sacrifice of animals find their fulfillment in Christ. If a man believes that the blood of Christ (His life) was sacrificed for his sins, then God accepts his faith as the fact. God credits the believer's faith as the death of Christ. The believer is identified with the death of Christ, as having already died. Therefore, he never again has to die. He is reconciled and brought near God by the blood or sacrifice of Christ.

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

- c. There is the picture of the cross or of being cursed. The death of Christ on the cross is always the picture of a curse:

“Cursed is everyone that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

The curse, of course, is death. Everyone who ever hung on the cross was doomed to die as a criminal. However, the picture goes much deeper than physical death. Spiritual and eternal death are also meant. Man is doomed to spiritual and eternal death and there is no escape other than Christ. When Christ hung on the cross, He bore the curse of condemnation, punishment, and death for man. The man who truly believes that Christ bore his curse and condemnation becomes acceptable to God. Very simply, God loves His Son so much that He will accept any person who honors His Son through genuine trust and belief. If a person believes that his sins are forgiven through the cross of Christ, then God will forgive his sins. God loves His Son that much. He will make His Son's death effective for whatever a man believes. Therefore, if a person believes that the blood of Christ reconciles him to God, God will reconcile him. God will honor His Son by doing it; God will allow the person of true faith to draw near Him.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:8-9).

3. There is the result of the death of Christ. All things are reconciled to God, whether they be things in earth or things in heaven. As stated earlier, this does not mean universal salvation. Scripture does not teach that every person shall be reconciled to God. Common sense and looking around with a dose of honesty tell us this. The next verse and point make it clear that only true believers are reconciled to God. The height of injustice would be for the unjust to be accepted by God. If the unjust continues to deny and curse God and to act selfishly toward his neighbor, God would not be God if He accepted the unjust. What this verse means is this:

- a. God has reconciled all things in earth: both man and his world have been reconciled to God. The door of reconciliation with God is now open, and man is to enter and live with God forever. God has done all He can: He has made it possible for man to draw near Him through reconciliation. It is up to man to draw near. God has done His part; man must now do his part. Man must now turn to God through faith in the blood of Christ.

Note another point as well. The reconciliation of “all things” includes all of creation, the world itself. The earth was created for man, to be his place of residence; therefore, creation shall be redeemed even as man shall be redeemed. There shall be a new heaven and a new earth even as there shall be a new man that lives eternally.

“Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now. And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body” (Ro.8:21-23).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

- b. God has reconciled all things in heaven: by heaven is probably meant all the worlds of all dimensions. All worlds, all dimensions of being, have been reconciled to God by Christ. No matter what dimensions there are—even if there is only one other dimension, the spiritual dimension—every being in it has been reconciled to God through the death of Christ. The death of Christ is so great and wonderful, it embraces all worlds, no matter what or where they are.

Note: the idea of the verse is looking ahead—looking ahead to the life that will exist in the new heavens and earth. The life of the future will be a life of reconciliation with God, a life that will see everything in the new heavens and earth reconciled to God. This does not mean that murderers, adulterers, idolaters, and the host of other unbelievers will be there. It means that everyone who is there will be reconciled to God.

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:18-19).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

2 (1:21-22) Reconciliation—Jesus Christ, Death: God has reconciled those who were alienated and were enemies of God. This verse shows that Paul was not thinking about universal salvation. He is addressing believers, those who truly believe that the blood of Jesus Christ has reconciled them to God. He wants them to remember how wonderful reconciliation is. God had done a marvelous thing for them.

1. Believers had been alienated (apellotriomenous) from God. The word means estranged, alienated, and separated because of dislike; it means to be unattached because of indifferent and unfriendly feelings. Man is alienated from God...

- because he dislikes who God is. Man is unwilling to submit to the sovereignty of God and to the Lordship of Christ.
- because he dislikes what God says, and he refuses to give up all he is and has and to obey God fully.
- because he feels God will overlook his sin. Man just feels that God would never condemn him, not in the final analysis.
- because he thinks God is far away, mostly removed from the world and the affairs of daily life. Man thinks God is unconcerned and that He has little interest in day to day living.

2. Believers had been enemies (extrous) of God. The word means hostile, hateful, and rebellious. Just think for a moment: think about how men act toward God. They...

- |                 |                                |
|-----------------|--------------------------------|
| • ignore Him    | • deny Him, His very existence |
| • curse Him     | • disobey Him                  |
| • blaspheme Him | • falsely profess Him          |
| • mock Him      | • half-heartedly serve Him     |
| • neglect Him   |                                |

Note where rebellion takes place: in the mind and in the thoughts. A man thinks about doing something and he knows it is against God’s will and Word. But the thought is planted in his mind, and he harbors the thought. It is the thought, the mind that leads to wicked works. And any behavior or act that is not in accordance with God’s will is rebellion. When the human heart is aroused to disobey God, it acts against God. And acting against the King of kings is insurrection. It is going contrary to the explicit orders of the King of kings. The terrible tragedy is that every person has rebelled and too often does rebel against God. Every human being has stood or is standing upon the earth as an enemy of God, an enemy who is in open defiance against God. Every human being has refused to obey the commandments of the King, and every human being who is open and honest knows it. The great task of man...

- is not to disprove the charge that he is an enemy of God.
- is not to prove that he is good enough to be acceptable to God.
- is not to deny and disprove God (denial and disproof can never eliminate truth and fact).

The fact of man's alienation—that he is an enemy of God—is clearly seen. The great task of man is to seek how to be reconciled to God.

3. Believers have been reconciled to God by the body of Jesus Christ through death. Note the unique wording of this statement (v.22<sup>a</sup>). The body of Jesus Christ is being stressed. He came to earth in the body of a human being. He actually partook of flesh and blood. He had to—it was necessary.

- a. Jesus Christ had to have a real body so that He could secure perfection for the human body. He had to live a perfect and righteous life; He had to live a sinless life as a Man. By living a perfect and sinless life, He became the Ideal and Perfect Pattern of righteousness for all men. He stood before the human race as the Ideal and perfect Man, and as the Ideal and Perfect Man, His perfection and righteousness could stand for all men. All men who really trust Him are covered by His perfection and righteousness. Thereby they become acceptable to God.
- b. Jesus Christ had to have a real body so that He could bear the sins and condemnation of men and die for man. As the Ideal and Perfect Man, whatever Jesus Christ did, it could stand and cover man. Therefore, if Jesus Christ was willing to bear the condemnation of sin for men, He could. This is the great love of God, for Jesus Christ was willing to die for man. When a man really believes that Christ died for him, God takes the man's faith and counts it as his death. Therefore, the man never has to die. When he passes from this life into the next, he will never taste or experience death. Quicker than the blink of an eye God will transfer the believer into His presence. Why? Because the death of Jesus Christ covers him. Jesus Christ has already paid the penalty and suffered the condemnation of the believer's sin. The believer is freed from sin; he is reconciled to God by the death of the body of Christ.

"I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep" (Jn.10:11).
"For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly" (Ro.5:6).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Ro.5:8).

"Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father" (Gal.1:4).

"And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour" (Eph.5:2).

"And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood" (Rev.1:5).

3 (1:22) Reconciliation: God had one great purpose in reconciliation—to present the believer perfect before Him. A great day of coronation is coming, a day when every believer will be presented to God face to face. What a moment! Being ushered into the presence of God and presented to Him. The excitement, awe, reverence, and ecstasy of the moment will be beyond imagination. This is the reason for the death of Christ. Three things are essential for us to be allowed to stand before God.

1. We must be holy (hagios): separated, set apart, and consecrated to God.
  - ⇒ We must live lives that are set apart to Christ, to the belief that He died for our reconciliation and that His death covers us.
  - ⇒ We must live lives that are separated from worldliness and selfishness and from the flesh and its sins.
  - ⇒ We must live lives that are set apart and consecrated to God and His service, lives that live for His cause.
2. We must also be "unblameable" (amomous): without blemish, without spot, faultless, without any defect whatsoever.
3. We must also be "unreproveable" (anegkletous): beyond reproach, blameless, unchargeable. Imagine standing before God holy, unblameable, and beyond reproach. Imagine how pleased God would be! How He would joy and rejoice in us—that we had honored Christ, His only Son, by trusting Him so much! As we are presented to God, what would He say? What would His first words be to us? We would be speechless, no doubt. But what a day of coronation, of glory, of greatness—standing face to face with our Father, the God of all glory, the Sovereign Majesty of the whole universe. This is God's one great purpose in reconciliation: to present us perfect before Him.

"And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you: to the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints" (1 Th.3:12-13).

"And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Th.5:23).

"Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless" (2 Pt.3:14).

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God" (Ro.12:1-2).

“For I am jealous over you with godly jealousy: for I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ” (2 Cor.11:2).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

“That he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish” (Eph.5:27).

“Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus” (Col.1:28).

4 (1:23) Reconciliation: God has made reconciliation conditional. There are two conditions.

1. A person must continue to believe in Jesus Christ and to grow in his belief. He must become more and more grounded and settled in his belief in Christ.

⇒ The word “continue” (epimene) means to continue and then some (A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.483); to persist ever moving on; to stay with moving forward more and more.

⇒ The word “grounded” (tethemeliomenoi) means to be grounded in Christ like the firm, solid foundation of a building. This is the word that pictures the foundation of a building, the solid foundation that gives the greatest stability possible to a building. The believer must be so grounded in Christ that he can withstand the severest storms of life.

⇒ The word “settled” (hedraioi) means steadfast. The believer must actually stand firm and continue on in being steadfast if he wishes to be presented perfect before God.

2. A person must not be moved away from the hope of the gospel. What is it that would move a person away from the gospel?

- |               |          |                  |
|---------------|----------|------------------|
| • worldliness | • pride  | • friends        |
| • lust        | • fame   | • persecution    |
| • greed       | • power  | • job            |
| • comfort     | • family | • false teaching |

What is the hope of the gospel? The glory of God: that we might be reconciled to God and presented perfect before Him—that we might be given the wonderful privilege of living forever with Him, worshipping and serving Him throughout the universe—all to the glory of Christ Jesus our Lord.

Thought 1. It is not enough to profess Christ. A person must live for Christ. A person who professes Christ and does not live for Christ is living a lie. A person has to continue in the faith and grow to such a degree that he will never be moved away. If he moves away from Christ and stays moved away, he will never be presented to God as perfect. He will have denied the faith. Continuing on with Christ is an absolute essential. It is the one condition for reconciliation with God.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“But cleave unto the Lord your God as ye have done unto this day” (Josh.23:8).

DIVISION III

THE NEEDS OF THE CHURCH, 1:24-2:7

A. A Minister Who Will Tirelessly Labor for the Church, 1:24-29

(1:24-2:7) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Church: this brief passage of thirteen verses deals with a most important subject: the needs of the church. Two basic needs are discussed.

1. The need for a minister who will tirelessly labor for the church.
2. The need for believers who will tirelessly labor for the church.

(1:24-29) Introduction: one of the most basic needs of the church is to have a minister who arduously labors for the church.

1. A minister who will willingly suffer for the church (v.24).
2. A minister who has been chosen by God to proclaim the Word of God (v.25).
3. A minister who will share the great mystery of God—“Christ in you, the hope of glory” (v.26-27).
4. A minister who will preach Christ and will warn and teach every man (v.28).
5. A minister who will labor and work—strive laboriously, depending upon Christ for energy (v.29).

1 (1:24) Ministers—Suffering—Faithfulness—Church: the church needs a minister (servant) who will willingly suffer for others, that is, for the church, the body of Christ. Paul was such a minister. He paid any price and went to any length of suffering in order to reach and grow people for Christ. He literally poured out his life: he suffered much, and the suffering he bore, he bore willingly for the cause of Christ and His church. This is the message of this verse. It teaches a most wonderful thing: the minister of God actually completes the sufferings of Christ. When Christ was upon the earth, He loved the church and gave Himself for it; therefore, He poured out His heart and life for the church, that is, for believers. Christ ministered, served, worked, labored—and He did it all laboriously. Every day of His life He suffered to the point of exhaustion and fatigue, striving to reach and minister to people. Christ bore whatever was necessary in order to build up the church. And in so doing He left the pattern for all those who would follow after Him. When He left the earth, He expected all believers to follow in His steps, to give their lives to suffer whatever is necessary to reach and minister to people. Christ expects every minister and believer to suffer for the church: to complete the church, to bring it to its full measure; to fill it up to the fulness of His will. He expects us to pay whatever price is necessary to build the church. He expects us...

- to fill up whatever sufferings of pain, sacrifice, fatigue, and exhaustion are lacking.

Working and laboring for Christ on this earth are not easy. Serving the church in this world is not easy. The reason is due to the ideas and behavior of men toward Christ and His church. Men’s ideas and behavior are corrupt. They look at Christ and His church and feel...

- that the church is meaningless for modern man.
- that the church is acceptable just so it stays in its place.
- that the church is all right as a social service to the community.
- that the church is needed to lift high the volumes of morality and justice.
- that the church is good in that it meets the religious needs of man.

The list could go on and on, for the feelings of people about Christ and the church are almost endless. Some persons look at Christ and deny His relevance and curse His name. They could care less about His church. When it comes to the church, they...

- ignore it
- neglect it
- abuse it
- ridicule it
- persecute it
- attempt to destroy it

Other persons profess Christ and join His church, but their commitment is almost meaningless. They are...

- inactive
- sleepy-eyed
- complacent
- unconcerned
- non-supportive
- lacking vision

On top of all this, there are always those within the church who are...

- worldly
- carnal
- fleshly
- divisive
- critical
- gossiping
- whispering
- murmuring
- criticizing
- making trouble

It is such ideas and behavior that puts so much pressure and weight upon the leaders of the church. This is what causes so much suffering for the genuine servant of Christ. The genuine servant longs for people to know Christ and the abundance of life which Christ brings. He wants people to grow into the image of Christ and to keep their eyes fixed upon the hope of glory which is to be given to every true believer. He knows that without Christ men are lost and doomed to judgment. Therefore, he suffers whatever burden and pain is necessary to reach and grow people.

“Remember the word that I said unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord. If they have persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they have kept my saying, they will keep yours also” (Jn.15:20).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“But thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, charity, patience, persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me. Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution” (2 Tim.3:10-12).

“For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds. Ye have not yet resisted unto blood [a picture of His struggle against evil in the Garden of Gethsemane], striving against sin” (Heb.12:3-4).

2 (1:25) Minister—Church—God’s Word—Indwelling Christ: the church needs a minister who has been chosen by God to proclaim the Word of God. Note two significant points.

1. Paul was made a minister by God. Paul was a minister because God had called him to be a minister. He was not in the ministry...

- because he thought the ministry was a good profession to enter.
- because some friends thought he would make a good minister.
- because he had the natural talents for the ministry.
- because he wanted to commit his life to teach the highest principles of morality and justice.

Note a most significant fact. The word dispensation (oikonomian) refers to the steward who oversees the household and property of the owner. The minister is the steward of God, the person chosen to oversee the house or church of God. This fact is almost unbelievable, but it is true: God has actually chosen some persons to oversee His affairs for Him. The minister has actually been chosen by God to be the steward of His world and church and people. God has literally taken His church and people and placed them into the hands of His ministers, into...

- their stewardship
- their supervision
- their administration
- their ministry
- their responsibility
- their management
- their care
- their lives
- their love

What an enormous call and responsibility, yet it comes from God; therefore, it must be fulfilled.

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel! For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the gospel is [still] committed unto me” (1 Cor.9:16-17).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloak of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

2. Paul was chosen to fulfil the Word of God, that is, to make the Word of God fully known.
 ⇒ Robertson says that the minister is to “to give full scope to the Word of God” (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.484).

- ⇒ Griffith Thomas says that the minister is to complete “the message of God’s grace,” that he is to “put his whole soul into...the divine gospel entrusted to him” (Studies in Colossians and Philemon, page number unknown).
- ⇒ Herbert Carson says that the minister’s task is to “fill out...the Word of God, by declaring...the gospel” (The Epistle of Paul to the Colossians and Philemon. “Tyndale Bible Commentaries,” ed. by RVG Tasker. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1960, p.52).
- ⇒ Marvin Vincent says that the minister is to “fully discharge [his] office...in the preaching of the gospel to the Gentiles no less than to the Jews” (Word Studies in the New Testament, Vol.3. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1946, p.478).
- ⇒ Wuest quotes Lightfoot as saying that the minister is “to preach fully, to give...complete development to the Word” (Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.192).
- ⇒ Matthew Henry simply says, “We are Christ’s ministers for the good of His people, to ‘fulfill the Word of God’ (that is...to preach it)” (Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.754).

“And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand” (Mt.10:7).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life” (Acts 5:20).

“Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you” (2 Th.3:1).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

3 (1:26-27) Minister—Indwelling Presence—Christ in You—Church: the church needs a minister who will share the great mystery of God—the glorious message of “Christ in you, the hope of glory.” What does this mean? Remember that the word “mystery” means secret, some secret that God was not able to reveal to the world until man had been prepared to receive it. What is the mystery that God has kept secret, but now has been revealed? It is twofold; it has two parts to its revelation.

1. First, the mystery is that Christ actually lives within the believer. It is the truth of the Indwelling Christ—that Christ actually lives within the hearts and lives of believers and that His presence is their guarantee of living forever in glory.

This is exactly what Christ had promised when He was on earth. He was about to face the cross, but right before He died, He said:

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:16-18).

The Holy Spirit is the personal presence of Christ. Christ is within the believer in the person of the Holy Spirit. (See outline and notes—Jn.14:15-26 for more discussion.) Note three facts.

a. Jesus said, “I will come to you.” He meant that He would return after He had gone away, that is, died. He would come back to give believers His personal presence. He would not leave them comfortless (orphanous); the word means to be orphaned, to be without parental help, to be helpless. Jesus would not leave them to struggle through the trials and temptations of life alone.

Jesus’ presence with His followers began with His resurrection and with the coming of the Holy Spirit. Jesus was saying that He would come to the believer in the person of the Holy Spirit.

b. The presence of Jesus is a living, eternal presence. He died, but He did not stay dead. He arose and conquered death; He arose to live forever. Now think: if Jesus Christ is living forever and He dwells within the believer, then that means the believer lives eternally. Christ the Eternal Presence lives within the believer; therefore, the believer becomes eternal. He never dies. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.8:51.) The believer is made eternal by the eternal presence of Christ within him.

In fact, when Jesus says “I live,” He means He lives abundantly and eternally: He lives life in all of its fullness and meaning. Therefore, by living within the believer, Christ imparts the same kind of life to the believer, a life that is both abundant and eternal. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Life—Jn.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—10:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—17:2-3.)

c. The presence of Christ is a living union, a mutual indwelling between God, Christ, and the believer. “At that day” refers to Jesus’ resurrection and the coming of the Holy Spirit.

Now note: when Jesus arose from the dead, believers knew something. His claim was true in an absolute sense. Jesus really was “in” God. God is eternal, so by being “in” God, Jesus was bound to live forever; He was bound to arise from the dead.

Something else was known. All that Jesus had said was true. He was placing all believers “in” Himself and Himself “in” them; or to say it another way, when the Holy Spirit came, believers were placed “in” His Spirit and His Spirit “in” them. (See note, Holy Spirit—Acts 2:1-4 for more discussion.)

This is the glorious truth of “Christ in you”—of Christ actually living within the believer. It is the first part of the great mystery of God that had been hid, but is now revealed to the children of men.

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love” (Eph.3:17).

“To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

2. Second, the mystery of God is that Christ will live within any person, no matter who they are—God is no respecter of persons. He shows no partiality and no favoritism. This may be a shock to some people such as Jews and some religionists who feel they are special to God. But this is the proclamation of Holy Scripture. Note the exact words of this passage:

“The glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you.”

It is in the Gentiles that Christ dwells; that is, He dwells within anyone who opens his heart and life to Him. When God sent His Son Jesus Christ into the world to die for men, God showed the world that He loves every person equally. He does not favor anyone—not one person—much less a class or nation of people. Every person can now approach God and become acceptable to Him through His Son, Jesus Christ.

There is one other thing that needs to be noted: Christ in you, the hope of glory. Man’s only hope of ever entering and living in glory is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ must be living in the heart of a person when he dies if the person is to be allowed to enter glory. The guarantee of glory is the presence of Christ and His Spirit within the heart.

“Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest [guarantee] of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:21-22).

“In whom [Christ] also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that Holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest [guarantee] of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

4 (1:28) Minister—Preaching—Evangelism: the church needs a minister who will preach Christ and will warn and teach every man. This is the great task of the minister.

1. The minister is to preach Christ. This point is revolutionary, for it declares the very opposite of what man has always done. Man has always proclaimed principles, ideas, theories, positions, rules, codes, morals, laws, philosophies, institutions, and religions. But this is not to be the theme of the minister’s proclamation. As good and as helpful as some of these things are, they are not the task of the minister nor of God’s church. The minister preaches a Person, not things, no matter how good they may be. Griffith Thomas says it well:

“The theme of Christianity is not a theory, not an institution, not a book, not a set of rules, not simply a code of morals nor a system of philosophy, and not even merely a statement of truth or of principle. It is manifestly impossible...to love, to worship, or to pray to a principle” (Studies in Colossians and Philemon, p.66).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

2. The minister is to warn every man. Man must be warned: he cannot enter glory unless Christ is in him. No man is perfect; no man has enough righteousness to make himself acceptable to God. Man cannot earn or do enough righteousness to become perfect. Therefore, he shall be cast out of the presence of God, for God is perfect and only perfection can live in God’s presence. Man’s only hope is Christ, for Christ alone is righteousness. Christ alone is perfect. This is critical for man, for it means that...

- man’s only hope of ever becoming acceptable to God is to have Christ, His righteousness and perfection, living within his body.
- man’s only hope of conquering death when he dies is to have Christ, His righteousness and perfection, living within his body.

Man must be warned: he must repent of his evil and selfishness and turn to God in trust and obedience. He must trust and obey God's only Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. He must surrender his life to Christ and let Christ enter and control his life, or else he will be doomed to separation from God eternally. A person cannot live a life separated and apart from God and then at death expect to enter God's presence. If a person lives a life separated and apart from God, then he will continue on separate and apart from God—continue on eternally. God has done everything He can for man in His Son, Jesus Christ. He can do no greater thing, no more than give the life of His own dear Son for the salvation of man. There is nothing else to be done. The decision is up to every man. Man must be warned—warned by the person whom God has chosen to warn him, that is, the minister.

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“To be discreet, chaste, keepers at home, good, obedient to their own husbands, that the word of God be not blasphemed” (Tit.2:5).

“Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and show my people their transgression” (Is.58:1).

“When I say unto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die; and thou givest him not warning, nor speakest to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand” (Ezk.3:18).

“Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way to turn from it; if he do not turn from his way, he shall die in his iniquity; but thou hast delivered thy soul” (Ezk.33:9).

3. The minister is to teach every man. It is not enough to warn men. Once they have been warned and have responded to the warning by inviting Christ into their hearts and lives, people need to be taught. They need to learn how to live and walk in Christ. Note the word “wisdom.” This means practical knowledge, knowing how to apply and practice and live out the great teachings of Christ. The minister is to teach “in all wisdom”; that is, he is to be practical in his teaching. Theory and principles, of course, are necessary; but they must be applied to everyday life. Believers must know how to follow Christ day by day as they face the trials and temptations of life.

4. The minister has one aim: to present every man perfect in Christ Jesus. The minister is to labor and labor to present every person perfect in Christ Jesus (see note, pt.2—Eph.4:12-16 for discussion).

“Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect” (Mt.5:48).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

“Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God” (Heb.6:1).

“But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing” (Jas.1:4).

5 (1:29) Minister—Diligence: the church needs a minister who will labor and work—strive laboriously, depending upon Christ for energy.

1. The word “labor” (kopiao) means to toil and to struggle in labor and work to the point of exhaustion, fatigue, and pain. It is the picture of an athlete struggling, agonizing, and pushing himself well beyond his capacity in order to achieve his objective. This is the call of God to the minister: to labor and work just as diligently as Paul and as the most dedicated athlete.

2. The word “working” (energeia) means energy and efficiency, and is only used of superhuman power (Wuest, Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.195). In this case, it is the power of Christ. When the minister has gone as far as he can, Christ steps in and infuses energy and power into his body—an energy and power that works in him mightily.

Thought 1. The minister who has truly labored to the point of exhaustion and experienced the energy and power of Christ knows how glorious the experience is. It is just tragic that there are too few who so labor and even fewer who consistently labor to the point that Christ has to step in with His energy and power. We seem to forget too easily:

⇒ as long as we have physical strength and energy left to labor, the energy and power of Christ are not needed.

The only way we can experience the physical energy and power of Christ is to use all of our own strength. When we are completely empty, then Christ has to step in or else leave us and abandon us and disregard the promise of His Word. And this He will never do. Therefore, when we have no more strength to walk and labor, it is then that He infuses us with His own supernatural energy and power.

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:34-35).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man can work” (Jn.9:4).

COLOSSIANS 1:24-29

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

“Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise” (Pr.6:6).

“He that gathereth in summer is a wise son: but he that sleepeth in harvest is a son that causeth shame” (Pr.10:5).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

DIVISION III

THE NEEDS OF THE CHURCH, 1:24-2:7

B. The Distinguished Marks of a Mature Church, 2:1-7

(2:1-7) Introduction: the second great need of the church is for mature people, a people who are consistently growing in the Lord. The word consistent is to be noted: a mature people are consistent in all they do. They are consistently growing in the Lord. One of the great tragedies of today's society is the lack of consistency. Few people are consistent in their daily walk with the Lord. This is the subject of this great passage: the marks of a mature people.

1. Mark 1: a minister who struggles in prayer and concern for the church (v.1).
2. Mark 2: possessing confidence and assurance (v.2-3).
3. Mark 3: resisting seductive teaching (v.4).
4. Mark 4: maintaining military discipline—order and stedfastness (v.5).
5. Mark 5: walking in the Lord (v.6-7).

1 (2:1) Prayer—Concern—Minister: a mature people must have ministers who struggle in prayer and concern for them. Remember Paul had never seen the Colossian church personally; he was not the minister on the field. (The pastor of the Colossian church was Epaphras.) This says something of enormous importance: ministers are to wrestle in prayer for believers and churches all over the world. In fact, churches can be mature in the Lord only as the ministers of the world wrestle in prayer for all the churches of the world. Picture the scene: imagine yourself hovering above the earth and looking down upon it—looking upon every church upon the earth. Imagine every pastor of the world wrestling in prayer for every church. Imagine every church being prayed for every day by every minister. Just imagine what would happen: the growth, the maturity, the ministry, the reaching out to save souls. This is what Paul was after, and it is the great challenge to us. A mature people must have ministers who struggle in prayer and concern for them. There is no other way they can mature. A half-hearted, half-committed minister can only produce half-hearted, half-committed people.

Note the word "conflict" (agona). It means to strive, agonize, struggle, and wrestle in prayer for the believers of the churches. It is the picture of an athlete exerting every ounce of energy he has in the struggle of the contest. The idea is that Paul labored hard, toiled, strove, agonized, struggled, and wrestled in prayer.

The ministers of the world are to labor and struggle in prayer for the believers and churches of the world, whether or not they know them or have seen them. Prayer is not easy; it is labor, demanding and difficult labor. The minister or believer who takes prayer seriously knows what it is to struggle in prayer; he knows what it is to face the interrupting attacks of...

|---|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• wandering thoughts</li> <li>• imaginations</li> <li>• strict schedules</li> <li>• thoughts that struggle against being obedient to prayer</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• pressing matters</li> <li>• demanding work</li> <li>• pride and lofty things that exalt themselves against the knowledge of God</li> </ul> |
|---|---|

But against all these the minister must gain the victory. The minister must pray: agonize and struggle in prayer—work and toil in prayer for all the believers and churches of the world. It is the example of Paul and our Lord, and it is the will of the Lord for us. In fact, it is His command.

Thought 1. Without doubt, our failure to toil and agonize in prayer for each other is the major reason so many believers and churches are immature in the Lord. The Lord reveals Himself and blesses only those who pray and are bathed in prayer. Prayer—communion and fellowship with Him—is the primary channel through which He has chosen to bless His people.

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“Therefore I say unto you, What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them” (Mk.11:24).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it” (Jn.14:13-14).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

“And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight” (1 Jn.3:22).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart” (Jer.29:13).

2 (2:2-3) Church: a mature people have hearts that are strong, confident, and assured. The word “comforted” (paraklethosin) means to be strong, strengthened, established and braced (Vincent. Word Studies in the New Testament, Vol.3, p.482). It means to be encouraged. It is the kind of strength...

- that stirs confidence and assurance.
- that braces a person to withstand the onslaught of false teaching, trials, and temptations.
- that comforts and builds assurance and confidence in life, both now and eternally.

The human heart aches for such strength, for this kind of confidence, assurance, and comfort. Where does such strength come from? Where is the spring from which such confidence and assurance flow?

1. Strong hearts come from love—from being knit together with others in love. Think of the people (and the times we ourselves have felt)...

- |                   |              |               |
|-------------------|--------------|---------------|
| • all alone       | • neglected  | • unloved     |
| • without friends | • by-passed  | • uncared for |
| • left out        | • overlooked |               |
| • ignored         | • disfavored |               |

A person who feels these emotions seldom feels strong, confident, or assured. On the contrary, he feels weak, unacceptable, and incapable of handling situations. He feels insecure, which either causes him to withdraw or react in a superior and boastful attitude. We have all seen such reactions.

The point is this: the answer to a strong, confident, assured heart is love—being knit together in love with others. This is the task of the church and its believers: to love each other—to build love among themselves—to build love among everyone, not neglecting, overlooking, or ignoring a single person. When our hearts are knit together in love, then the hearts of every believer will be strong, encouraged, braced, assured, confident, and comforted.

Thought 1. Note that strong hearts do not come from religion, ceremony, ritual, laws, or rules and regulations. Strong hearts come from love—hearts knit together in love.

2. Strong hearts come from knowing that what one believes about God is accurate. Most people are not sure about God. They are not sure...

- that God really exists.
- that God really looks after their welfare.
- that God is really interested in their daily lives.
- that they can really know God in a personal way.
- that eternal life really exists.
- that they can really know there is life after death.

a. Note the phrase “mystery of God.” To most people God is a mystery. But this is not what mystery means in the Bible. “Mystery” means a secret, a secret of God’s that He has now revealed. The critical fact is that it is now revealed: it cannot only be known, but it is known by many persons. The point is this: a strong heart—assurance and confidence—comes from knowing the secret of God, from knowing that what one believes about God is accurate.

What is the great secret of God that has now been revealed? Note exactly what the verse says: “the mystery of God...even [kai] Christ.” Jesus Christ is the mystery of God. It is Jesus Christ that reveals God to men.

⇒ When people look at Jesus Christ, they see God.

⇒ When people come to know Jesus Christ, they come to know God personally.

Once a person approaches God through Jesus Christ, God places His Spirit within the person's heart. And God's Spirit infuses strength, both assurance and confidence, within the believer's heart. God's Spirit gives absolute assurance that we truly know God and are adopted as His dear sons and daughters. We know with absolute assurance that what we believe about God is accurate. The Spirit of God instills that confidence within our hearts.

"For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Ro.8:15-16).

"Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest [guarantee] of the Spirit in our hearts" (2 Cor.1:22).

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father" (Gal.4:4-6).

"And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us" (1 Jn.3:24).

"Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (1 Jn.4:13).

"This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth" (1 Jn.5:6).

- b. Note the words "understanding" and "acknowledgement." When a person understands and acknowledges Jesus Christ, then it is that he gains "full assurance" of God. He gains "full assurance" that his knowledge of God is accurate. Common sense tells us this fact: if we could be absolutely sure that our knowledge of God is accurate, then our hearts would be strong. And this is the glorious declaration of Scripture: we can be sure. In fact, we can have full assurance of understanding—through Jesus Christ—for Jesus Christ Himself is the revealed secret of God. Jesus Christ is the revelation of God, our assurance and confidence of God.

"For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost and in much assurance; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake" (1 Th.1:5).

"For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day" (2 Tim.1:12).

"Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water" (Heb.10:22).

"And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments" (1 Jn.2:3).

"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us [in the death of Christ]; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren....And hereby we know that we are of the truth, and shall assure our hearts before him" (1 Jn.3:16, 19).

"Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit" (1 Jn.4:13).

"He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son. And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God" (1 Jn.5:10-13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:3) Jesus Christ—Wisdom—Knowledge: a mature people know that all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hid in Christ.

1. Men seek for wisdom and understanding. The word "wisdom" (sophia) means the ability to use the truth once the truth is known; it is using the truth wisely just as it should be used. It is knowing how to confront day to day problems and handle them wisely. It is practical wisdom, knowing how to apply the great truths of life to everyday living. The word "understanding" (gnosis) is the ability to grasp the facts and the truth. It means the ability to see and know the truth. It is seeing and knowing what to do. It grasps the great truths of life. It sees the answers to the problems of...

- life and death
- good and evil
- time and eternity
- God and man
- health and disease
- comfort and suffering

2. Note where the great treasures of wisdom and understanding are: they are hid in Jesus Christ. What does this mean?
- Jesus Christ is the very embodiment of all wisdom. He is the One Person who lived out the truth, who lived and never sinned. He is the Person who confronted every trial and problem in life and solved it—who lived exactly as all men are to live. The wisdom of life—of how to live life—is seen in Jesus Christ and in Him alone. In Him are all the treasures of wisdom, all the treasures of practical day to day living.
  - Jesus Christ is the very embodiment of understanding. He is the Creator and Sustainer of the universe; therefore, all the truth and facts of the universe are found in Him. (This is bound to be true, for when anything is made, the facts of its nature are found in the person who created it.) In Jesus Christ is the understanding of creation, the universe, good and evil, time and eternity, health and disease, comfort and suffering, and God and man.
All the treasures of understanding are bound up in Christ. Man can understand himself and his world only in Christ Jesus. Any approach to understand the world apart from Christ leads to false conclusions and a world of corruption, discrimination, strife, division, and all the other evils that exist within the world.
3. Note that wisdom and understanding are “hid” in Jesus Christ. This does not mean that they are hidden from us, but rather for us (Matthew Henry. Matthew Henry’s Commentary, Vol.5, p.756). They are there for us to seek and search out and thereby to honor Christ as the Source and Substance of our hearts and lives.

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord! or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again! For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever” (Ro.11:33-36).

“But unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks. Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God” (1 Cor.1:24).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“In whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge” (Col.2:3).

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:24).

“Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth” (Hos.6:3).

3 (2:4) False Teaching: a mature people resist seduction and deception. The word “beguile” (paralogizetai) means to mislead, delude, deceive, cheat, seduce, and lead someone astray. Note how the seduction takes place: by “enticing words” (pithanologiai), that is, by words that are persuasive, appealing, eloquent, flowery, and attractive.

1. Believers can be seduced by the persuasive and eloquent words of false teaching. People are easily influenced by...

- |                  |                     |
|------------------|---------------------|
| • eloquence      | • arguments         |
| • reasoning      | • logic             |
| • persuasiveness | • thought processes |

Therefore when some idea, position, philosophy, religion, doctrine, or belief is presented in a reasonable and eloquent fashion, people are persuaded. They are beguiled, deceived, and led astray from Christ. It may be an argument against...

- the creation of the world by God.
- man being personally responsible to God.
- the virgin birth or the incarnation of God in human flesh.
- the perfect, sinless life of Christ.
- the substitutionary death of Christ.
- the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.
- salvation by grace through faith.
- the coming again of the Lord Jesus Christ.
- the bodily resurrection of the dead.
- eternal judgment and eternal death.
- the destruction of the world by fire and the making of a new heavens and earth.
- the existence of believers face to face with God, worshipping and serving Him throughout all eternity.

The argument can be against any of the major teachings of Scripture. If they are persuasive enough, some persons are led astray. They begin to question the truth and to wonder and doubt.

Note the words “this I say.” The very reason Paul has proclaimed that all wisdom and knowledge exist in Christ is to protect believers against false teaching. Believers are to know that all truth is in Christ, and they are to seek all truth in Christ.

2. Believers can be seduced by the enticing and appealing words of those who live after the lusts of the flesh. Human nature is easily influenced by...

- appearance
- attractiveness
- charisma
- thoughts
- insinuations
- suggestions
- imaginations
- desires

Therefore, when some idea is made in an appealing way, people are enticed and led astray from Christ. Again, the truth and the wise course of behavior for the believer is found in Christ. The course of wisdom is to turn away from the seduction of enticing words and suggestions. Christ Himself—the life of righteousness which He lived and the way of sinlessness which He walked—is the path of wisdom for the believer.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, mark them which cause divisions and offences contrary to the doctrine which ye have learned; and avoid them. For they that are such serve not our Lord Jesus Christ, but their own belly; and by good words and fair speeches deceive the hearts of the simple” (Ro.16:17-18).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived” (2 Tim.3:13).

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [religionists]” (Tit.1:10).

“Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time. They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us” (1 Jn.2:18-19).

“Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world” (1 Jn.4:2-3).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.7).

“And the light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee; and the voice of the bridegroom and of the bride shall be heard no more at all in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth; for by thy sorceries were all nations deceived” (Rev.18:23).

4 (2:5) Stedfastness—Orderliness: a mature people maintain discipline—order and stedfastness.

⇒ The word “order” (taxin) means to maintain military discipline, array, and arrangement; to hold a solid front (The Amplified New Testament); to hold the military line unbroken and intact (A.T. Robertson, Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.489).

⇒ The word “stedfastness” (stereoma) means to stand fast and persevere; to be immovable, steady, and unyielding; to never crack, give in, or back up. This, too, is a military word. A.T. Robertson says that it is “the solid part of the line which can and does stand the attack” of the seduction.

Note that the believers of the Colossian church were being attacked by false teaching even as Paul was writing to them. But they were responding like a victorious army. They were maintaining their discipline and holding their order and standing fast. Note also the importance of the minister’s encouragement: Paul says that he was with them in spirit, joying and watching them gain the victory over the false teachers.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” (Gal.5:1).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved” (Ph.4:1).

“Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle” (2 Th.2:15).

“Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in the world” (1 Pt.5:8-9).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

5 (2:6-7) Believers, Walk: a mature people walk in the Lord. This means at least two things. First, believers walk just as they have received Christ—by faith. They received Christ by faith, so they are to walk and continue with Christ by faith. When they received Christ, they trusted His righteousness and death to cover their sins and to make them acceptable to God. Therefore, they are to walk continuing to trust His righteousness and death. It is His righteousness and death that continues to cover their sins and make them acceptable to God. They have nothing within themselves to earn, merit, deserve, or make God accept them. They can do nothing and they can possess nothing that will secure the approval of God. The believer’s only acceptance before God is Christ, trusting the righteousness and death of Christ. (See note, Jesus Christ, Death, pt.3—Col.1:21-22 for more discussion.)

“For we walk by faith, not by sight” (2 Cor.5:7).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

Second, believers received Christ as Christ Jesus the Lord. That is, when believers received Him, they accepted Him as the true Messiah and Lord from heaven; they accepted Him as the Lord of their lives. Therefore, believers are to walk before Him as Lord; they are to continue walking and serving Him as the Lord of their lives.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

There are three things in particular the believer is to do.

1. The believer is to be rooted and built up in Christ. There are two pictures in this statement.

⇒ The picture of being rooted is that of a tree. The believer is to be like a towering tree that has its roots deeply planted in the ground. The ground provides strength against wind, storms, and nourishment for life. The believer is to draw his nourishment and strength from Christ.

⇒ The picture of being built or constructed is that of a building. Jesus Christ is the foundation for life, the only sure foundation. Therefore, the mature believer is a person who has built his life upon Christ.

The point to note is this: the emphasis upon a strong attachment and a flow of nourishment and life from Christ to the believer. That is, the believer is to walk in a continuous, unbroken communion and fellowship with Christ. His life and mind are to focus upon Christ without interruption, drawing all nourishment and strength from Him. This is critical, for there is no other permanent nourishment or strength—not that lasts forever and imparts eternal life to the human soul.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand” (Mt.7:24-26).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

“Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:19).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

2. The believer is to walk established in the faith just as he has been taught. The word “established” means to be firm, stable, holding fast and not letting go. This shows the utter necessity for strong teachers in the church. When believers have strong teachers, they are to learn all they can about the faith and hold fast to it. They are not to let it go. Barclay points out,

“There are certain beliefs which remain the foundation of all belief, and they do not change...the unchanging and unchangeable truth that Jesus Christ is Lord” (The Letters to the Philipians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.159)

Mature believers are established in the faith, and they are to stand fast in the faith just as they have been taught.

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“Rooted and built up in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving:” (Col.2:7).

“Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work” (2 Th.2:16-17).

“Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace” (Heb.13:9).

“He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings” (Ps.40:2).

“His heart is established, he shall not be afraid” (Ps.112:8).

3. The believer is to walk overflowing with thanksgiving. Christ Jesus the Lord has done so much for the believer—so much that flows on and on, never ceasing, not even for one moment of any day. Therefore, the believer is to learn to walk in an unbroken spirit of thanksgiving—a thanksgiving that overflows in praise to the Lord moment by moment throughout the day.

“Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice....Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:4, 6).

“In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you” (1 Th.5:18).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

DIVISION IV

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN CHRIST AND FALSE TEACHING, 2:8-23

A. Christ vs. False Philosophy and Astrology, 2:8-10

(2:8-10) Introduction: the importance of this passage is clearly seen in the title of the subject, “Christ vs. False Philosophy and Astrology.”

1. Beware of false philosophy (v.8).
2. Christ is the Source of reality and truth (v.9-10).

1 (2:8) Philosophy—Astrology: beware of worldly philosophy. The word “beware” (blepete) means to take heed, look out, guard yourself. Why? “Lest any man spoil you through philosophy.” The word “spoil” (sulagogeo) means to lead into captivity or slavery.

⇒ Some men are in a genuine search for truth and reality. They seek to learn the truth and reality of the universe and the problems that face them, but they limit themselves to the universe. This approach has one terrible flaw that leads either to incomplete or erroneous conclusions. This flaw will be discussed in a few moments.

⇒ Other persons have novel ideas or philosophies about truth and reality, but they become more interested in their position than the truth. They need others to accept their positions or else their ideas die. Therefore, they have to present and persuade people of their ideas and philosophies whether they are sound or not.

Believers must, therefore, beware and guard against worldly philosophies and ideas lest they become ensnared and enslaved.

What is meant by worldly philosophy? Paul tells us exactly what he means.

1. Worldly philosophy is philosophy that follows the very same traditions that men have followed down through the ages.

2. Worldly philosophy is philosophy that searches for reality by using the rudiments or elementary knowledge of this world. The word “rudiments” (stoicheia) means...

- the elementary principles, the ABC teachings of the universe.
- the rudimentary teachings (Heb.5:12).
- the crude notions of the universe.
- the elements or materials of the universe (2 Pt.3:10-12).

Worldly philosophy uses only human knowledge and worldly tradition to search for the reality and truth of the world and life. The only source worldly philosophy uses is the world and its elements or materials.

3. Worldly philosophy is philosophy that deals only with the elements and materials of this world (universe). Men have always tried to find the answers to life and the world within the world itself. Men want to know...

- What is the origin of the universe and life?
- Who is man and where did he come from? Why is man here and where is he going?
- Where did evil come from? Can it be controlled? Or better yet, abolished?
- Is there a God? How can we know?
- Is life upon this planet all there is? Is there life after death?

The questions could go on and on. The point to see is this: worldly philosophy tries to find the answers to these questions only in the world (universe). Worldly philosophy looks only at the elements or materials of this world and seeks the answers to life. The consequence is tragic, for everything in the world—every element of it—passes away. Therefore, if a philosophy bases itself upon the elements of the world, there is no permanent answer or solution to life. Why? Because man and his world will die and cease to exist, for the universe itself is physical and wasting away—granted, much slower than man—nevertheless it is still wasting away. (Actually, it will be destroyed; however, not by man, but by God. But this is a discussion for another time. Cp. 2 Pt.3:3-18, esp. 10-13.) The point is this: a philosophy based upon the world is useless in finding permanent answers and solutions to life. The very best that a worldly philosophy or science can ever do is...

- make life more comfortable.
- make life safer and last longer.

But this is not permanent or eternal comfort and safety. It is not permanent truth or reality. Man and his world need something much more than a worldly philosophy, a philosophy that offers only temporary and short term answers to life.

“Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools” (Ro.1:22).

“For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain” (1 Cor.3:19-20).

“This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish” (Jas.3:15).

“Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvelous work among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid” (Is.29:14).

“For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me. Therefore shall evil come upon thee; thou shalt not know from whence it riseth: and mischief shall fall upon thee; thou shalt not be able to put it off: and desolation shall come upon thee suddenly, which thou shalt not know” (Is.47:10-11).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding; they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

“With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures. By thy great wisdom and by thy traffic hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches” (Ezk.28:4-5).

“Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing?” (Ps.2:1).

Since man needs something more than worldly philosophy, what is it that He needs? What is it that can meet the needs of man better than the sharpest thinking and sciences of men? Keep in mind that man needs life—true life, real life, a life that is abundant and eternal—that does not become diseased and suffer accident and death. Man needs a real world that does not suffer under the weight of corruption, decay, and deterioration and does not explode in natural disasters.

- ⇒ Man needs a true world, not a world that seems to be false, as though it is a mistake.
- ⇒ Man needs a real world, not a world that only fades away as an illusion.
- ⇒ Man needs a genuine world, not a world that is only an appearance as though it is counterfeit.
- ⇒ Man needs a purposeful world, not a world that is only chance without any lasting permanent meaning.

How can man secure such a world? How can man find permanent and eternal life? The answer is simple: he can't. If such a world does not exist, man can never find it, for it is not there to be found.

But, what if a permanent world does exist in a spiritual dimension of being? How then can man find it? He can't. If a spiritual world exists, man cannot find it, for he is physical, that is, material substance. And the physical or material cannot penetrate or move over into the spiritual, regardless of what some persons may claim or think.

- ⇒ The corruptible cannot move over into the world of the incorruptible, for it is already corruptible.
- ⇒ The dishonorable cannot move over into the world of glory, for it is already dishonorable (short of glory or perfection).
- ⇒ The weak cannot move over into the world of infinite and perfect power, for it is already weak (short of infinite power).
- ⇒ The natural cannot move over into the world of the spiritual, for it is already natural.
- ⇒ The mortal cannot move over into the world of the immortal because it is already mortal.
- ⇒ The dying (the process of death) cannot move over into the world of life because it is already dying (in the process of dying—even a body is in the process of dying).

Man is just totally incapable of penetrating or moving over into the spiritual world or spiritual dimension. He cannot know the spiritual world because he and his world are physical and material (corruptible and dishonorable, weak and natural, mortal and dying).

This means a critical point: there is only one way man can ever know the spiritual world and dimension. The spiritual world must reveal itself to the physical world. God must reveal Himself to man. This is exactly what God has done in Christ, and this is the startling and glorious message of the next point.

Thought 1. The “rudiments” (elements or materials) of the universe also refer to the signs and spirits of the stars and planets. The idea that these determine the fate of man has, of course, been with man from the earliest of time. Astrology and the signs of the zodiac are to be guarded against as much as any other worldly philosophy. The stars and planets are as much a part of the material universe as men are. They are of the physical world and dimension of being the same as man is. In fact, they are inanimate objects, possessing even less ability and power than man. They are even less capable of penetrating and moving over into the spiritual world or dimension than man is.

2 (2:9-10) Jesus Christ, Deity: Jesus Christ is the Source of reality and truth, the very presence of God Himself. Note: reality and truth—the answers to the world and life—are not found in a philosophy nor in human ideas. They are found in a Person, the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Think for a moment: if a Person (God) really created the world, then the answer to life and creation (truth and reality) are bound to be wrapped up in Him, not in the world He made. He is the Source to understanding the world; the world is not the source to understanding Him. True, we can look at the world and learn some things about God, but not all that we need to know. For example, the world cannot tell us how to conquer evil and death, not perfectly. Therefore, if we seek the truth only in the world, we are left short, incomplete, unfulfilled, and in error. Thus, we must seek truth and the answer to all things in the Person who made all things. He alone knows the whole story.

The glorious message of the gospel and of this passage is that God does exist. He truly exists and He has revealed Himself in Christ. Christ is the revelation of God, of truth and reality, of life itself in all its origin, purpose, meaning, and destiny. Note three wonderful truths.

1. Christ is the fulness of God. Christ is God Himself who came to earth. Note the verse: "In Christ dwells all the fulness of the Godhead." All that God is dwells in Christ.

⇒ Christ is God in an absolute, full, and perfect sense.

Jesus Christ has the full nature and being of God just as God the Father has the full nature of God. (See notes, Jesus Christ, Deity—Ph.2:5-11; 2:5; Jn.1:1-2.) God the Father and God the Son have the same being and nature, that of God. The word "fulness" (pleroma) means that not a single part of God's nature is lacking in the nature of Christ.

The word "dwells" (katoikei) means to be at home, to be permanently settled and present. This tells us...

- that the fulness of God has always dwelt in Christ, even before He came to earth (Jn.1:1, 18; 17:5, 24; Ph.2:6).
- that the fulness of God dwelt in Christ when Christ was walking upon earth in a human body (Jn.1:14, 18; 1 Jn.1:1-3).
- that the fulness of God was not just a temporary gift to Christ.

What does all this mean to us in practical day to day living? It means two wonderful things.

- a. First, God is not far off in outer space someplace. God is not unconcerned with the world. God has not just created the world and wound it up and left it on its own to fly throughout space with man making out the best he can. God is interested and concerned with the world—so much so that He has come to earth to show how vitally concerned He is.
- b. God is love, not evil. Only a God of evil would leave man in the dark where he would have to grope and grasp and stumble about in order to find God. A God of love would reveal Himself and show man...
  - the way to God.
  - the truth of God, man, and his world.
  - the life that man is to live (Jn.14:6).

"He that seeth me seeth Him that sent me" (Jn.12:45).

"If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and have seen him" (Jn.14:7).

"Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?" (Jn.14:9).

"All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it unto you" (Jn.16:15).

"In Him dwelleth all the fulness of God" (Col.2:9).

"And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory" (1 Tim.3:16).

"Who [Christ] being the brightness of God's glory, and the express image of His person" (Heb.1:3).

2. Believers are complete in Christ. The word "complete" (pepleromenoi) means to be made full. The Greek actually says, "In Him you are full." When a person truly believes and partakes of Christ, he receives the fulness of Christ. Just what is the fulness of Christ which believers receive? Scripture describes it in several ways.

- a. Believers receive wisdom, righteousness, sanctification, and redemption.

"But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption" (1 Cor.1:30).

- ⇒ Wisdom means that we understand God, the world, and man: the origin, purpose, and end of creation.
- ⇒ Righteousness means that we understand the evil in the world, both sin and death and that we know the only way to attain righteousness is through Christ.
- ⇒ Sanctification means that we have set our lives apart unto God to live for Him and to serve Him.
- ⇒ Redemption means that we have been saved from corruption and death and given eternal life.

- b. Believers receive the fulness of Christ's nature. The divine nature of God is actually placed in believers and they become new creatures in Christ.

"Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust" (2 Pt.1:4).

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (2 Cor.5:17).

"And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph.4:24).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

- c. Believers receive fulness of life now. From the time believers receive Christ, they should lack nothing. If a believer ever lacks anything—any fulness of life—it is because he has taken his eyes off Christ and has slipped away. When dealing with day to day living...

- the believer receives an abundance of life.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

- the believer receives fulness of joy.

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

- the believer receives all the necessities of life including food, clothing, and shelter (cp. Mt.6:24-34).

“But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:33).

- the believer receives the fulness of God’s Spirit, of God Himself.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God” (Eph.3:19).

“Be filled with the Spirit” (Eph.5:18).

- d. Believers receive the fulness of life eternal.

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:15-16).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

- e. Believers receive the fulness of the knowledge of God’s will.

“For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding” (Col.1:9).

Thought 1. Note that the fulness of life and the answers to truth and reality do not come from a philosophy, but from a Person, Jesus Christ.

3. Christ is the Head of all principality and power; that is, no rule, authority, or power stands between God and man. Nothing, absolutely nothing, stands between God (ultimate Truth and Reality) and man...

- |              |  |

The explanation and fate of man and his world are found in Jesus Christ and in Him alone. He is the only Intemediary between God and man. Man can approach God only through Christ. No one else—person or force—can present us to God and make us acceptable to God. God accepts only those persons who come to Him by Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

“Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life” (Jn.6:68).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

DIVISION IV

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN CHRIST AND FALSE TEACHING, 2:8-23

B. Christ vs. False Religion, 2:11-12

(2:11-12) Introduction—Circumcision—Religion, False; True: a false religion is any religion not based upon God’s love and Jesus Christ. For God has so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believes in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners. Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

Common sense tells us this: if God loved the world so much that He gave His only Son for its salvation, then the only way to approach Him is through His Son. The only way He would accept us is through His Son.

God is not a God of indifference and hate, a God who has left us in the dark, trying to grope and grasp after God, seeking to discover the way to Him. God is love; He cares for man, deeply loves man. In fact, God loves man with an infinite, eternal love—a love so great that He has sent His Son into the world to reveal the truth to us and to bear the judgment of our transgressions against God. The point is this: any religion that focuses upon anything other than God’s love and God’s Son is not of God—not of the only living and true God. It is a false religion.

The problem of false religion had seeped into the Colossian church. Some were teaching that a ritual was necessary for salvation, the ritual of circumcision. This Scripture gives us an excellent discussion of a false religion that stresses ritual over God’s love and God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

1. False religion: stresses ritual and outward form (v.11).
2. True religion: stresses Christ and the spiritual (v.11-12).

1 (2:11) Religion, False—Circumcision: there is a false religion that stresses ritual, ceremony, and outward form over Christ. Some in the Colossian church were stressing the ritual of circumcision. They said that a man had to be circumcised to be saved, that God would not accept him unless he was circumcised. Giving his heart and life to Jesus Christ was not enough. Even if he trusted Christ and gave all he was and had, God would not accept him unless he was circumcised. There was a reason for this belief. Circumcision was the ritual of faith to the Jews. It symbolized two things.

- ⇒ First, circumcision symbolized the faith of a man and his family in God. When a man trusted God, he was circumcised as a sign or testimony of his faith in God. His circumcision declared to the world that he and his family were going to follow God.
- ⇒ Second, circumcision also symbolized the cutting away of the “body of sins” that were in the flesh. When the foreskin was cut off and removed it was a picture of sin—the whole body or package of sin—being cut off and removed from the man.

This was the true picture of circumcision, what God had intended until Christ came. Very simply, a man was to trust God, surrendering his heart and life to God; then, as a sign or symbol of his faith, he was to be circumcised. But what happened was exactly what happens so often with spiritual things: man corrupted God’s purpose for circumcision. Man began to say that a person became acceptable to God...

- not because he trusted God,
- but because he was circumcised.

No matter how much a man trusted God, he was not acceptable to God unless he was circumcised. Circumcision was his badge of being admitted into God’s presence, and without it, he could not gain entrance into God’s presence.

The parallel with other false teachings is clearly seen. Down through the centuries, some have stressed that a person could not be saved—no matter how much he believed and gave his life to Christ—unless he...

- joined the church.
- was confirmed.
- was baptized.
- kept the law.

False teachings and religions have always tended to add to Christ in order to be saved. A person could believe and trust Christ with his whole heart, surrendering all he was and everything he had to Christ, but that was not enough. The person had to do something else in order to make himself acceptable to God.

“For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh” (Ro.2:28).

“For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:2-4).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

“Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men” (Is.29:13).

“For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings” (Hos.6:6).

“And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams” (1 Sam.15:22).

“For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering. The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise” (Ps.51:16-17).

2 (2:11-12) Religion, True—Circumcision, True—Baptism: the true religion stresses Christ and Christ alone. Real religion is spiritual, not physical; and it is wrought by Christ, not by the hands of men. Note three critical points.

1. Real religion is undergoing the circumcision of Christ, letting Christ cut away the body of sins out of our flesh. Think for a moment: What man has the power to cut sin out of our lives? Where is a man who can take the sin of our flesh and remove it so that our bodies will stand perfect before God? Is there such a man? Has there or will there ever be such a man upon earth? Any thinking and honest person knows that no man can remove the sin from another person—not even one single sin, much less the whole body of sin. There is only one way that sin can be cut out and removed from our flesh—by Jesus Christ. How does Christ cut away sin from us? By death.

When Jesus Christ died, He died for our sins. That is, He bore the guilt and punishment for our sins. He hung upon the cross...

- as the guilty sinner for us: in our place, in our stead, as our substitute.
- as the Person who would bear the judgment and punishment of sin for us.

Therefore, when we really believe and trust Christ—that He died for us—God removes our sin from us. He cuts away both the sin and the guilt and throws it away. This means a most wonderful thing: we stand before God without sin. Imagine standing before God sinless, completely and totally forgiven—accepted by God as perfect. But never forget why: it is because of Christ and Christ alone, not a ritual nor any other man-made or religious thing. We are acceptable to God because of Christ, His dear Son, and not because of anything else. True religion is not Christ plus something else; true religion is Christ alone. Christ alone can cut away sin. True circumcision—true religion...

- is the “circumcision made without hands.”
- is “putting off the body of sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ.”

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify [cut off, put to death] the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“In whom also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision of Christ” (Col.2:11).

“Mortify [cut off, put to death] therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

2. Real religion is being baptized and raised with Christ. What does baptism refer to here? Does it mean Jesus’ baptism of death or the baptism of water which the believer undergoes? Christ had said:

“But I have a baptism to be baptized with [death]; and how am I straitened till it be accomplished!” (Lk.12:50).

Commentators are split over the meaning. However, the meaning of the passage is the same no matter which interpretation is held. When a person believes in Christ, really believes, God takes his belief and...

- counts the person as having been buried with Christ in the baptism of His death.
- counts the person as having been raised with Christ when He arose.

When a person is baptized, the same message is proclaimed. The act of baptism proclaims to the world that the person has trusted Christ, His death and resurrection. Therefore...

- when the person is placed under the water, he is declaring that God counts him as buried with Christ.
- when he is raised up from the water, he is declaring that God counts him as risen with Christ.

The point to see is that the whole religious act is based upon and focused upon Christ—what Christ has done. Christ is the one who died and rose again. Therefore, it is Christ that man believes in and trusts, not the ritual of baptism. Christ alone can save: only His death can stand for the death of man; only His resurrection can stand for the resurrection of man.

- ⇒ No man shall ever escape death unless he truly trusts the death of Christ to stand for his death.
- ⇒ No man shall ever conquer death and live eternally unless he truly trusts the resurrection of Christ to stand for his resurrection.

Real religion focuses upon Christ, His death and resurrection, and nothing else. God saves and accepts a person because he focuses upon His Son and focuses upon Him alone.

“Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:3-4).

“For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ” (Gal.3:27).

“Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead” (Col.2:12).

“The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.3:21).

3. Real religion is an operation of God and an operation of God alone. The word “operation” (energeias) means energy, power, working. God has to perform the operation or work upon a person if the person is to be acceptable to God. No person can operate upon any other person and make him acceptable to God. God alone has the ability and power to make a person acceptable to Him. Note two points.

a. How does God operate on us to make us acceptable to Him? By faith in Christ. It is a fact...

- that Christ died and was raised from the dead.

As stated in the previous point, when a person really believes in Christ, God takes that person’s faith and counts it as the death and resurrection of Christ. That is, God identifies, considers, credits, counts, looks upon the person as being in Christ—as having died and been raised with Christ. Therefore, the person never has to die because he has already died and been raised from the dead—in Christ. The person lives before God and is acceptable to God—all because he is in Christ. Another way to say the same thing is this: a person believes in Christ; therefore, God counts him as being in Christ—as being in all that Christ is. The person is identified with Christ, with all that Christ has done.

b. How do we know that God actually does this, that God actually saves us this way? Because He raised Christ from the dead. Note that this is exactly what this verse declares:

“Buried with him in baptism [death], wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead” (v.12).

- The resurrection of Christ proves that God has the power to do what He declares. He has the power to count us as being in Christ and the power to raise us up from the dead. The proof is that He has already raised up one Person, Christ Jesus. And look at who He was: the Person who was bearing all the sins of the world. The guilt and punishment for every sin ever committed was being borne by Him. If God would and could raise Him up, He can and will raise us up—if we will only believe and trust His Son.

True religion is the religion that is of God, of His operation. True religion is the religion that is created by the energy, power, working, and operation of God. True religion is of God and of God alone.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

DIVISION IV

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN CHRIST AND FALSE TEACHING, 2:8-23

C. Christ vs. Man's Idea of Sin, the Law, & Evil Spirits, 2:13-15

(2:13-15) Introduction: this passage discusses three basic concepts or ideas about man and his world. It pits man's concepts against God's work in Christ. It shows how weak man's ideas are in comparison to what God has done for man in Christ.

1. Point 1: Christ vs. man's idea of sin and death (v.13).
2. Point 2: Christ vs. man's idea of the law (v.14).
3. Point 3: Christ vs. man's idea of evil forces and evil spirits (v.15).

1 (2:13) Sin—Death—Man, State of: point one concerns Christ vs. man's concept of sin and death.

~ 1. Man's concept of sin and death is far different from what the Bible teaches. When man thinks of sin, he does not see it as a violation of God's law nor as rebellion against God. Man sees sin as...

- a human error
- a personal slip
- a moral flaw
- a physical failure
- an unpreventable error
- psychological immaturity
- philosophical misunderstanding
- an evaluating mistake
- semantic mislabeling
- social irresponsibility
- educational shortcoming
- character defect

~ Just what a person calls sin depends upon where he is standing—upon his environment, training, heritage, and beliefs. Few persons are willing to submit to God and confess that sin is basically a violation of God's law or will, rebellion and insurrection against Him and the way He has told man to live.

Man's view of death also varies according to a person's background and beliefs. Man's concepts and views of death differ as much from the Biblical concept as night differs from day. When men look at death, they think of it as...

- ceasing to exist.
- passing into oblivion.
- some semi-conscious, sleepy-eyed existence.
- reincarnation into another form of life on earth.
- moving on into another world and being given another chance to work one's way into heaven, that is, into being acceptable to God.

Man's idea of death involves either the denial of a life hereafter or else the giving of another chance to work oneself into the favor of God.

Note the critical point: man's idea of conquering death is man-centered. It focuses upon man's ability...

- to deny a life hereafter and hope that his denial causes life hereafter not to exist.
- to work his way into heaven—into God's acceptance when God gives him another chance.

Man's concept of sin and death is based upon man—his ability, energy, and power to make himself acceptable to God. The point is this: there were those in the Colossian church who were teaching that a person secured the approval of God by their own efforts and work: they had to be circumcised, to undergo the basic religious ritual in order to be acceptable to God. They had to trust God plus be circumcised. They believed in the Biblical concept of sin and death, and they believed in Christ. But they added the religious ritual of circumcision to Christ.

Thought 1. This proclaims a forceful point to us: it is not enough to be biblically sound if we fail to approach God exactly as He says. It is not enough to say that we do not take anything away from God's Word; we must not add to God's Word. Men sin and men die, and there is a hereafter; but God is love, and He has provided the way for men to become acceptable to Him and given the right to live in the hereafter. It is absolutely critical that we pursue the way He has provided and that we pursue it exactly as He says.

2. ~ Christ stands opposed to man's idea of sin and death. Jesus Christ would have never come into the world if sin and eternal death were not realities. If there was not life hereafter—if sin and death were not keeping men out of life hereafter—Jesus Christ would have never come to earth. God would have never sent His Son into the world to die for man's sins and to conquer death if sin and death were not realities. Let no person ever fool himself: God would have never let Christ hang upon the cross unless men were sinners and doomed to eternal death. Note two points.

- a. This verse says: “You, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh.” Man is said to be already dead because of sin and because he is uncircumcised; that is, sin has not been cut out of his flesh by God. (See note—Col.2:12 for more discussion.) The emphasis is upon death—the fact that man is already dead. True, man is what he calls living, yet he is in the process of death. He is aging, deteriorating, decaying, and dying at every given moment. There is not a moment man is not in the grip of death: even from the moment of conception man begins the process of dying; and while he is growing and maturing, he is still in the process of death. He is living in what may be called a world of death, a realm of death, a dimension of death. Every hour that passes sees man age, deteriorate, and die one more hour. (See notes—Heb.9:27. See outline and notes—Ro.5:12-21.)

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“All we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:6).

“And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying unto them, Rejoice with me; for I have found my sheep which was lost....And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends and her neighbours together, saying, Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which I had lost” (Lk.15:6, 9).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed. For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls” (1 Pt.2:24-25).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

- b. God quickens the believer with Christ. The word “quicken” (sunezoopoiesen) means to make alive, to bring to life. The believer is brought to life from the dead. How?

⇒ By being “together with Christ.”

What does this mean, to be “together with Christ”? Simply this: when we trust Christ—really trust Him—God takes our trust and identifies us with Him. God places us together with Christ. This means a most wonderful thing: it means that we were with Christ in His death and resurrection.

Therefore, when Christ died for our sins, we died with Him. God identifies us with Him, therefore, we never have to die for our sins. The penalty for our sins has already been paid; Christ paid for them. Christ bore the guilt, judgment, condemnation, and punishment for our sins. Consequently, we are forgiven all trespasses.

Thought 1. This is the true concept of sin and death, the only conceivable way we can ever be forgiven and delivered from death. Honest thought tells us this, for there is nothing else that can deliver man from sin and death...

- no person
- no force
- no ability
- no material substance
- no science
- no energy
- no physical thing

No matter how long or how much we search, nothing will ever be discovered that can give eternal life to man. We may discover ways to extend life and make it more comfortable, for long, long ago men did live to be hundreds and hundreds of years old. The Bible tells us this. But men will never conquer death completely and perfectly. Life eternal—the approval and acceptance of God—comes only through the quickening power of Jesus Christ.

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“For as the Father raiseth up the dead [spiritually dead], and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will” (Jn.5:21).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind” (Eph.4:22-23).

“Put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

2 (2:14) Law—Jesus Christ, Cross—Man, State of: point two concerns Christ vs. man’s concept of the law.

1. Man’s concept of the law is twofold.

⇒ Some men see the law as a list of rules that God has led great religious men to write down in either the Bible or other religious books.

⇒ Other men see the laws of God as unwritten laws that are rooted in the nature of man and the world. Man just instinctively senses what is right and wrong and he is to live as his instinct tells him (cp. Ro.2:14-15).

Man just senses the handwriting of laws against him—laws that condemn him when he goes contrary to what they say or what he senses. Note the word “handwriting” (cheirographon). It actually means a legal note or debt, what Barclay calls a charge list or a list of charges against man (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.170). The point is this: man senses the list of charges against him. And he should sense the wrong he has done, for it is his violation of God’s law that condemns him to eternal death. Only as he senses and acknowledges his transgressions will he ever turn to God to save him.

Thought 1. Think how many people are defeated, discouraged, and whipped by the guilt of their transgressions. How many are bowed down ever so low and depressed, feeling unworthy and unacceptable before God. How many are crushed because they feel they have just failed God so much. No matter how much they have tried to keep the law—to do good—they have failed. Therefore, God would never accept them, or so they feel.

2. Christ stands opposed to man’s idea of the law. It is true, man shall face God in his own righteousness and be judged by the law. If that is the way he chooses to face God, he will be allowed to stand before God in his own righteousness. Man can claim a righteousness by law. In fact, there are only two ways to face God, and law or self-righteousness is one of the ways. But note: no person can ever be acceptable to a perfect, sinless God unless the person is perfect and sinless. And no honest and thinking person is going to claim to be perfect and sinless. Therefore, no person will ever be acceptable to God by law or self-righteousness. However, this is the glorious message of this verse. God has provided a way for the law and the list of charges against us to be removed. That way is Jesus Christ.

Jesus Christ has taken the law or list of charges against us and nailed them to His cross. This means two things.

a. Christ “took the law out of the way” for man. How? Christ kept and fulfilled the law perfectly. He lived a sinless life as a Man upon earth. By so doing He became the standard or the higher law for man. Man is now to look to Jesus Christ and follow Him as the standard of life. The law is set aside out of the way. Christ has now fulfilled the law and become the standard for men. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:17.)

b. Christ “nailed the law to the cross.” That is, Christ bore the judgment and punishment passed down by the law upon man. Christ took the judgment of the law upon man and paid the penalty Himself. How was He able to do this? By keeping the law perfectly. In obeying the law perfectly Christ became the Pattern and Ideal for all men. As the Ideal Man, He embraced and covered all men. It is His righteousness that is the ideal righteousness; therefore, His righteousness covers all men. It is His death that is the ideal death or the ideal bearing of judgment; therefore, His death covers all men. It is His life that is the ideal life; therefore, His life covers all men. (See note-Mt.5:17-18.)

When a person trusts Jesus Christ as his Savior, God removes the list of charges against the person. How? By Christ—by the cross of Christ. When Christ died upon the cross, He actually bore the guilt and condemnation of the charges for the person. Therefore, the person stands guiltless and sinless before God—all because Christ took the list of the charges and nailed them to the cross with Him when He died.

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons” (Gal.4:4-5).

3 (2:15) Evil Spirits—Man, State of—Jesus Christ, Work of: point three concerns man’s concept of Christ vs. evil spirits.

Man’s idea of the universe is that all kinds of forces exist within the universe.

⇒ Some persons view the forces as natural energies and powers within the universe such as gravity.

⇒ Other persons view the forces as living beings such as angels, among which some are good and some are bad.

Men have always recognized forces, energies, powers, or principalities within the universe. Men either see natural forces or supernatural spirits behind the stars and planets and life within the universe—either natural forces or supernatural spirits that control the lives and destinies of both man and his world. Just think of the millions down through the centuries who have looked to the signs or spirits of the planets or stars in astrology and the signs of the zodiac.

The point to see is this: the Bible declares without hesitation or equivocation that there are other forces within the universe. In fact, the Bible teaches that there is at least one other world in another dimension of being—another dimension other than the physical dimension. That world is the spiritual dimension of being. And there are living beings in that dimension, both good and bad, just as there are good and bad beings or men in this world.

The glorious declaration of this verse (v.15) is that Christ has spoiled all principalities and powers, no matter who they are or what their force or energy is. The word “spoiled” (apekdusamenos) means to disarm and strip the evil forces of all their power.

Barclay describes the scene well:

“[The evil forces] were hostile, malicious, malignant to men. Jesus conquered them for ever. He stripped them: the word that is used is the word for stripping the weapons and the armour from a defeated foe. Once and for all Jesus broke their power. He put them to open shame and led them captive in His triumphant train. The picture is the picture of the triumph of a Roman general. When a Roman general had won a really notable triumph, he was allowed to march his victorious armies through the streets of Rome, and behind him there followed the wretched company of the kings and the leaders and the peoples he had vanquished and conquered. They were openly branded as his victims and his spoils. Paul thinks of Jesus as a triumphant conqueror, enjoying a kind of cosmic triumph; and in His triumphal procession are the powers of evil, beaten for ever, for every one to see” (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.172).

Wuest gives an additional picture of the scene:

“Our Lord, after His death on the Cross, needed to present Himself at the heavenly Mercy Seat...as the great High Priest, thus completing the atonement....In order to do this, our Lord had to pass through the kingdoms stripping them off and away from Himself...displayed them boldly...leading them in triumph in it” (Ephesians and Colossians, Vol.1, p.209).

The point of this verse is to declare that Christ has defeated Satan and his evil spirits—all the forces and energies, power and principalities of the universe. Christ has triumphed over Satan and his evil forces, broken their power and destroyed their works. Christ has triumphed over evil by four acts.

1. He conquered evil spirits and forces by never giving in to the devil’s temptations (Mt.4:1-11) and by never sinning (2 Cor.5:21; Heb.4:15; 7:26; 1 Pt.1:19; 2:22). Christ lived a perfect life; he was perfectly righteous. Therefore, He became the Perfect Man, the Ideal Man (see note—Mt.8:20), the Ideal Righteousness...

- whom all men are to trust.
- whom all men are to follow.
- whom all men are to use as the pattern for their lives.

Satan was defeated in that an Ideal Righteousness was now provided for man. Man could now become acceptable to God by putting on the righteousness of Christ through faith (2 Cor.5:21; Eph.4:23-24. See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Justification—Ro.4:22; note—5:1.)

2. He conquered evil spirits and forces by dying for man, bearing all of man’s guilt and punishment for sin. In behalf of man, Christ took all of man’s sins upon Himself and bore the judgment of God against sin. He is the Ideal Man, so His death becomes the Ideal Death. Just as His Ideal Righteousness stands for and covers every man, so His Ideal Death stands for and covers every man. Thus, the penalty and punishment for sins has now been paid. Man no longer has to die and be separated from God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Death—Heb.9:27). The way to live forever in the presence of God is now open. Satan’s power is broken and destroyed.

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. This he said, signifying what death he should die” (Jn.12:31-33. Cp. Jn.14:30, esp. v.28-31; 16:11.)

“Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:13-14).

3. He conquered evil spirits and forces by being raised from the dead. Again, as the Ideal Man, Christ’s resurrection becomes the Ideal Resurrection. His resurrection stands for and covers every man. Note two facts.

- a. It was the perfect spirit of holiness (perfect righteousness) that raised Christ from the dead. Death could not hold perfection, for death is the result of sin. Christ, being perfect, was bound to arise.
- b. When Christ arose, He triumphed over Satan, openly showing that death is the work of Satan. Death is not to be the natural experience of man. Death was never the purpose of God; life is the purpose of God. The resurrection of Christ openly shows this.

“God, who hath raised him from the dead..and having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it” (Col.2:12, 15).

4. He conquered evil spirits and forces by His Incarnation, that is, by coming into the world and being revealed as the Son of God. Think about it: the fact that the Son of God came into the world destroys the works of the devil. As soon as the Son of God appeared on the scene, His coming meant that the works of the devil were to be destroyed.

“For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil” (1 Jn.3:8).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17; cp. Jn.3:18-21).

DIVISION IV

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN CHRIST AND FALSE TEACHING, 2:8-23

D. Christ vs. Rules, Ritual, and Spiritism, 2:16-19

(2:16-19) Introduction: this passage pits Christ against two false teachings that have hounded men down through the ages—false teachings that are constantly infiltrating the church as well as attacking the man out on the street.

1. Christ vs. rules and ritual (v.16-17).
2. Christ vs. spiritism (v.18-19).

1 (2:16-17) Rules and Regulations—Ritual—Jesus Christ, Deity—Christian Liberty—Legalism: Christ vs. rules and ritualism. Every thinking person knows that we have to have rules and laws in order to live a controlled and just life. But when we adopt a rule, at some point we fail to keep it. Somehow, someway, we just fail and come short of keeping the rule perfectly. This means something of critical importance: we can never approach God and become acceptable to God through rules or laws or rituals or through anything else we might undertake by our own efforts. Why? Because God is perfect, and to approach God we have to be perfect. But this is the very problem of human life: we are already imperfect and can never be perfect because we have already failed. How then can we ever become acceptable to God whose very nature demands perfection? There is only one way: through the love of God. We have to trust that God loves us enough to provide a way that He can count and consider us perfect. We are not perfect, so we have to believe that He will provide a way for us to be credited or imputed with perfection. This is the glorious gospel of His Son, Jesus Christ. When we trust the righteousness and perfection of Jesus Christ, then God counts our trust in His dear Son as righteousness. When we focus upon God’s Son, that is, honor Christ with our trust and our lives, God honors us for honoring His Son. God honors us by counting us righteous and perfect in the righteousness of Christ.

Note: the emphasis of the present passage is upon focusing and concentrating upon Christ, God’s Son. God the Father loves His Son with an eternal love, the greatest love in existence. Therefore, God accepts any person in His Son and no person out of His Son. He honors any person who completely trusts His Son, and no person who comes short of complete trust. Now, note the points of these two verses.

1. Rules and rituals were the problem that had seeped into the Colossian church. Some believers were reverting back to rules and rituals and judging others by them. Some false teachers were diverting the attention of some believers away from Christ. They were saying...

- that rules and rituals were to be the focus of man’s attention and life.
- that man became acceptable to God by keeping certain rules and rituals.
- that man pleased God by eating and drinking the right foods and by keeping certain religious rituals and holy days.

Note how this teaching led a person to focus upon rules and rituals instead of Christ. This emphasis found its roots in the false teaching of Gnosticism which had seeped into the Colossian church. (See note, Gnosticism, pt.2—Col.1:15 for detailed discussion on this point. This note discusses the person of extreme discipline and the person of license and indulgence.)

Thought 1. People tend to approach God by keeping rules that discipline their body, minds, and spirit. A person feels that God will accept him if he can present himself to God with...

- a body that is clean and moral.
- a spirit that is religious and that keeps the rituals and holy days of religion.
- a life that serves and gives.

2. The true approach to God is Christ. Rules and rituals are only shadows in approaching God; Christ is the real body that enables us to approach God and to please Him. The point is this: Christ was the perfect Son of God; that is, He kept all the rules of the law and never broke a single rule. He was sinless, the perfect Man. Therefore, He stands before the human race as the Ideal Man, the Pattern to whom every man is now to look. We no longer have just rules and rituals to lead us to God; we have a human life, the very body of Christ Himself—a body that lived life just like God wants life to be lived. Therefore, we are no longer to approach God through rules and rituals, but through Christ. Christ is to be the focus and concentration of our lives. We are to live and move and have our being in Him, following the Ideal life and pattern He has set before us.

- ⇒ Christ is our only approach to God.
- ⇒ Christ is our only acceptance by God.
- ⇒ Focusing upon Christ is the only way we can please God.

Note: rules and rituals were shadows that were used by God before Christ came. They were used by God to teach men that nothing could provide real life, not the real substance of life that satisfies and gives absolute assurance of living forever with God. Rules and rituals never satisfy the human heart, not permanently. Only the presence of God living within the human heart can satisfy man. This is where Christ comes in: Christ dwells within the lives of believers, actually lives within the bodies of believers in the person of the Holy Spirit. Therefore, the believer experiences the satisfaction and assurance of being acceptable to God and of living forever with God.

The point is this: no rule and no ritual can give life and assurance to man. Rules and rituals are only inanimate, lifeless objects. But not Christ. He is a living Person who can relate and infuse the very life and assurance of God into the heart of a person. Rules and rituals may point us toward God, but they are not the real substance of life. Christ is the real substance of life—the only substance, body, and life that can bring us to God and present us as acceptable to God.

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“But meat commendeth us not to God: for neither, if we eat, are we the better; neither, if we eat not, are we the worse” (1 Cor.8:8).

“Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments [notions and elements] of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances” (Col.2:20).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

“[The Old Testament tabernacle] which was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience; which stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposes on them until the time of reformation. But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:9-14).

Thought 1. We must always remember something when dealing with this issue. When a person follows Christ, he lives as Christ lived. That is...

- he eats as Christ ate, eating only what He needed and what was good for His body.
- he worships faithfully as Christ worshipped.
- he lives soberly, righteously and godly as Christ lived.

The list could go on and on. The point is that Christ fulfilled the law to give us a living pattern of how life is to be lived through the fulness of God’s Spirit. He did not fulfill the law to turn us loose to live in the indulgence and license of sin. He, the very Son of God, is now a Pattern. We now have more than just written laws and rituals, more than just ink on paper. We have the life of Christ to follow.

2 (2:18-19) Spiritism—Worship, False—Visions, False—Humility, False—Jesus Christ, Deity—Church: Christ vs. spiritism. Note the word “beguile” (katabrabeueto). It means to rob; to defraud; to cheat a person out of his reward. It is possible for believers to be cheated out of their reward by false teachers. How? By following those who teach that there is another approach to God other than Christ. Christ is God’s appointed way to approach Him, and there is no other way. Note the points of these verses.

1. The false approach to God now being discussed is spiritism, the worship of God through angels or spirits and visions. Again, the Colossian church had been heavily influenced by the Gnostic teaching of intermediaries or mediators between God and man. (See note, Gnosticism, pt.1—Col.1:15 for more discussion.) Note the words “intruding into those things which he hath not seen.” This is a reference to visions, seeing into the spiritual realm, into a world other than the physical world. Some of the believers were claiming all kinds of visions—visions of spiritual beings and of angels. And, as so often happens when people have deep spiritual experiences, the Colossians began to focus upon the visions and angels whom they claimed were appearing to them: they focused upon the spirits instead of Christ.

Men tend to feel God is far off in outer space someplace or in some unreachable dimension of being, at least unreachable to the common person. They feel too sinful and unworthy to approach God or to secure God’s interest and care. Therefore, they feel the need for intermediaries to stand between them and God—intermediaries who can present them and their lives and situations to God. As a result, men tend to look and pray to lesser beings such as angels or spirits of departed saints. Others turn to seeking visions or deep spiritual experiences in order to know God and secure His help in life.

Note another fact as well: there is false humility in this approach to God. A person who approaches God through visions and spirits is claiming that he is unworthy to approach God himself. He needs others to appear before God for him. But note: this is false humility, for the person claims to have visions of angels or spirits which other people do not have. Some in the Colossian church were claiming that they possessed special gifts and that they had experienced special visions, yet they were unworthy of such experiences. There was a voluntary (self-imposed) air of humility about them that really came across as being more spiritual than other believers. Paul says that they were deceived, and that they were in danger of losing their reward. They were “puffed up” by a fleshly mind (see note—1 Cor.4:6).

The point is this: spiritism focuses attention upon the spiritual experience—the angels, spirits, and visions—not on God’s appointed way to approach Him which is Christ. A person’s mind and thoughts are centered more on the spirits or the spiritual experience than on Christ. Christ is relegated to a lower position in the person’s life than the spirits and visions. The person seeks to have visions of the spirits more than he seeks Christ.

What Barclay says at this point stands as a warning to all believers, even to those who walk faithfully and know what it is to have deep experiences with the Lord:

“No one will deny the visions of the mystics, but there is always a danger when a man begins to think that he has attained a height of holiness which enables him to see what common men—as he calls them—cannot see; and the danger is that men will so often see, not what God sends them, but what they want to see” (The Letters to the Phillipians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.175).

2. The true approach to God is Christ. Christ is the Head, the only mediator who can stand before God and...
  - secure the approval and acceptance of God for man.
  - secure the love and care of God for man.

No spirit—no angel or vision—can do what Christ can do. Christ alone has access into God’s presence in behalf of man. Christ alone stands before God as the representative or Head of man. No other person or being can stand before God in behalf of men. Why? Because the body has only one head, not two. The answer is found in the analogy or picture of the human body. A body has only one head. And God’s people are a body of people—a body of people who live under the will and control of the Head who is Christ. Note two things about the Head, who is Christ.

- a. The head is the part which supplies and nourishes the body. So it is with Christ. Christ alone can supply and nourish the body of believers, the church. Christ alone can give men the strength and nourishment of God to help them as they walk day by day through life.
- b. The head is that which knits the body together and makes it function as it should. So it is with Christ. He alone...
  - can knit a person together—all the thoughts, emotions, and other things that are needed to make him a whole person.
  - can knit all people together as one body in love, joy, and peace—worshipping, serving, and living for God like they should.

Thought 1. The point is well made. Man cannot approach God nor receive the help of God through any means other than His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. No spirit or angel and no vision can bring the knitting or nourishing power of God to men. Only Christ, God’s appointed Head, can knit and nourish men throughout life.

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

“Ye call me Master and Lord: and ye say well; for so I am” (Jn.13:13).

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

“[God’s power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:9).

“And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence” (Col.1:18).

“Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they” (Heb.1:4).

“For this man was counted worthy of more glory than Moses, inasmuch as he who hath builded the house hath more honour than the house” (Heb.3:3).

“Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last” (Rev.1:11).

DIVISION IV

THE CONTRAST BETWEEN CHRIST AND FALSE TEACHING, 2:8-23

E. Criticisms of Worldly Philosophy and Man-Made Approaches To God, 2:20-23

(2:20-23) Introduction: this passage closes the contrast between Christ and false teaching. It stands as a bulwark, a mighty fortress against false teaching. It gives three strong criticisms against worldly philosophy or man-made approaches to God.

1. Believers are dead with Christ to man's crude notions about God and the world (v.20).
2. They enslave and subject men to the rules and teachings of men (v.21-22).
3. They are based upon the works and efforts and pride of men (v.23).
4. They profess humility before the world, but the humility is a false humility (v.23).

1 (2:20) Jesus Christ, Death—Christian Liberty: believers are dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world. Remember that the word "rudiments" (stoicheia) means two things and Christ saves us from both. (See note, Philosophy—Col.2:8 for more discussion.)

1. Rudiments means crude notions of men about the universe—that is, about God, reality, and truth. It is man's ideas and philosophies; their elementary or rudimentary teachings; their ABC understanding of God and the universe, reality, and truth. When men think of God, they come up with all kinds of ways and laws to reach Him and to secure His approval and acceptance. However, there are three basic problems with man's approach to God.

- a. First, we cannot keep rules and laws—not in a perfect sense. No matter what way we choose to reach God, we cannot walk a straight path to Him. We cannot stay on the way—not every moment and not perfectly. This poses an insurmountable problem, for God is perfect and we are not. Therefore, we are not acceptable to Him; we are automatically rejected because of our imperfection. Imperfection cannot live in the presence of a perfect God. This is the first problem with trying to keep rules and laws in order to be good enough for God.
- b. Second, once we have broken a rule or law, we stand guilty before God. Therefore, we must be judged, condemned, and punished for having broken the law. A law-breaker is guilty and unacceptable and the punishment must be borne. Therefore, rules and laws cannot make us acceptable to God and they can only lead to guilt and condemnation.
- c. Third, we die; we do not live forever. And there is no law or force on this earth that can give us the energy and power to live forever. If there was, there would be all kinds of people laying hold and obeying that law. Rules and laws only condemn us when we break them. They have no power to save us from death nor to give us eternal life. Because of this, rules and laws cannot be the way to approach God.

How then can we approach God? If the best thinking of men about the universe and God are not the way to approach God, what is the way? The answer will be discussed in a moment, but first look at the second meaning of the word rudiments.

2. Rudiments means the basic elements or materials of the universe, the things that men say lie behind the universe or at the very base of reality. Down through the centuries men have posed all kinds of forces, energies, powers, principalities, spirits, angels, and beings as standing behind the universe and life. As a result men have committed their lives and worshipped all sorts of creatures and forces or elements and materials. However, there is a critical problem with this approach to God, a problem that dooms all who seek truth and approach God through the elements of this universe or through the spirits of the spiritual world.

- a. First, there is the problem of corruption. Everything in the universe is corruptible, aging, dying, deteriorating, and decaying. Therefore, there is nothing in the universe that can save man, for the way of all things—all elements and all materials—is the way of death.
- b. Second, the problem with seeking truth and God through the spirits or angels of a spiritual world is a twofold problem.
  - ⇒ First, man cannot penetrate the spiritual world. He is physical, and the physical just cannot move over into the world of the spiritual no matter what any person claims. If the spiritual world is ever to be known, then the spiritual has to reveal itself to us.
  - ⇒ Second, those who claim to have been given visions or revelations by the spiritual world still have the same problems that everyone else has: the problems of imperfection (unrighteousness), death, and eternal life. No angel, spirit, or any other intermediary has ever taken care of the problem of sin and death and of eternal life for us. We have already sinned, and we are already imperfect.

Therefore, someone, someplace must bear our sin or punishment for us or else we have to pay for it ourselves. And, on top of that, someone has to go through the experience of death and conquer it and tell us how to do the same or else we are going to die and never reach God.

This is the glorious message of the gospel. God is love, eternal and infinite love, so He has done all this for us. He did it through His Son, Jesus Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

God’s Son, Jesus Christ, has secured righteousness for us. He came to earth and lived a sinless and perfect life. Therefore, He stood before God and the world as the Ideal and Perfect Man. As the Ideal and Perfect Man He could take our sins upon Himself and die for them. And this He did: Christ actually took our judgment and bore the punishment for our imperfections or sins. Then, He arose from the dead, conquering death.

Now note the verse: “if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world.” The death of Christ is the way God has established for us to approach Him. A person is...

- to repent and turn from the rudiments of the world, that is, from man’s approaches to God.
- to believe that God loves the world, that He is not far off, leaving man in the dark having to grope and grasp after the truth and God.
- to believe that God’s Son died for him, bearing his punishment and death.

If Christ has done this for us, then we are free from having to seek after God through rules, laws, angels, spirits, and through the forces and energies of the universe. How? By believing in Christ. When we believe in Christ, we are trusting the Ideal Man. Therefore, His death and resurrection can stand for us. That is, when He died, He was dying as the Ideal Man and when He arose from the dead, He arose as the Ideal Man. This simply means that the Ideal, Perfect Man stands for all other men. Everything He did stands for man. When He died, He died for us; and when He arose to live with God forever, he arose for us. Therefore, when we believe in Christ, we are accepted by God in the righteousness of Christ. And being accepted by God, we are freed from having to use any other approach to reach Him. Christ has freed us from all other approaches.

Simply stated, God loves us; therefore, He has taken care of the problems of imperfection (sin) and death. He has provided the way and given us the right to approach Him face to face—through His Son. In Christ we are free from the corruptible and insufficient approaches to God, from the elements and materials of the universe and from the crude notions and ideas of men about how to approach and please God.

⇒ If you are dead with Christ, then you are free from having to approach God through the rudiments of the world.

2 (2:21-22) Backsliding—Seeking God—Rules—Philosophy: the first criticism against philosophy or man-made approaches to God is this—they enslave and subject men to the rules and teachings of men. Some in the Colossian church were returning to the rules and regulations of men as to how to please God. They returned to the idea...

- that man can please God by controlling the defilement and weaknesses of the flesh—that man can secure God’s approval by presenting a clean and pure body to God. Therefore, they began to come up with all the rules necessary to eat the right foods and to take care of their bodies and to live a clean life. Note how simply Paul puts it: they were saying “touch not; taste not; handle not.”

There is no question, discipline and control and a clean body are wise; and every person should develop the healthiest and most moral body he can. But this is not what makes us acceptable to God. This approach to God has two critical flaws.

- ⇒ First, a person can have the healthiest and most pure body in the world, but that person is still imperfect and still dies. Health and morality, no matter how undiseased and pure, do not keep us from aging and dying. We are still corruptible and are still going the way of all flesh—the way of death and separation from God.
- ⇒ Second, the approach to God by rules and discipline forces us to focus upon the rules instead of Christ. We have to keep our minds upon the rules or else we break them before we know it. Contrary to pleasing God, this displeases God. God wants our lives focused upon His Son Jesus Christ.

The point is this: the philosophies and ideas of men enslave us: they force us to commit our lives to them and to focus upon them, and then they leave us enslaved to the bondage of death. Man-made ideas do not free us; they can carry us no higher than the man who made up the idea, and that height is not a height at all. It is a depth, the depth of death to which all men go.

The question is this: If you are dead with Christ and never have to die again—if you are in union with Christ—if you are already acceptable to God...why then are you still trying to become acceptable to God? Your task is not to become acceptable to God. Your task is to focus upon God’s Son, Christ, who has given you so much in His death and resurrection. Your task is...

- to study His life and will.
- to follow and pattern your life after His life.
- to serve Him in His mission, giving all you are and have to reach all men with the gospel of eternal life.

Life in Christ is not slavery; it is freedom. Life in Christ is a life freed from corruption and death—a life which is already acceptable to God and which has already been given eternal life by God. Life in Christ is enslaved by nothing—it is set free from all the elements and materials of this world including death—it is set free to live and move and have its being face to face with God Himself. Not because we are worthy or merit it, but because of Christ and what He has done. God loves Christ so much that He accepts anyone who comes to Him acknowledging and praising Christ for what He has done in dying for man.

Since you are dead with Christ, why are you returning to the ideas and rules of men and now trying to please God by your own works and efforts? Man is to please God, yes! But he is to please God by being enslaved to Christ and following Him, not by being enslaved to the rules, religions, philosophies, and ideas of men. Man is to focus upon Christ, not upon the enslaving elements and materials of this world, and he is certainly not to focus upon man's fluctuating notions of God and how to approach Him.

"But meat commendeth us not to God: for neither, if we eat, are we the better; neither, if we eat not, are we the worse" (1 Cor.8:8).

"They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate" (Tit.1:16; cp. Jn.6:29).

"Which [the first tabernacle, the first approach to God] stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation. But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. (Heb.9:10-14).

"While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage" (2 Pt.2:19).

"And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment" (1 Jn.3:23).

3 (2:23) Philosophy—Religion, False—Pride—Works—Seeking God: the second criticism against philosophy and man-made approaches to God is this—they are based upon the human works, efforts, and pride of men. Very simply, the most that man can come up with in saving himself is a religion of works which is nothing more than a religion of pride. Note: Scripture admits that man can have a worldly wisdom and a strong will. The rules and ideas of man is a "self-imposed worship," that is, in self-made worship. Men are very capable in...

- thinking
- reasoning
- intelligence
- controlling
- disciplining
- acting

But there are critical flaws existing in men that man cannot solve. These flaws need to be closely heeded.

⇒ Man's wisdom and will cannot destroy sin in the life of men. Man cannot keep from sinning through wisdom and will—no matter what he does.

⇒ Man's wisdom and will cannot destroy death. A man cannot keep from dying.

Therefore, no matter how wise and how much man controls his body and life—no matter what kind of values and morality he follows; no matter what kind of self-made religion he worships—man still sins and still dies. He is still unacceptable to God. Therefore, when man uses his own wisdom and will to create ways to approach God...

- he is only exalting himself and his own wisdom and discipline.
- he is by-passing and ignoring God and the approach God has provided and established.
- he is following a way that is totally meaningless and utterly inadequate, for nothing man-made can end up anywhere other than as decayed matter.
- he is totally incapable of destroying sin and death in man.

"And the Lord said unto him, Now do ye Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter; but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedness. Ye fools, did not he, that made that which is without, make that which is within also?" (Lk.11:39-40).

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools" (Ro.1:22).

"For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God: for it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness" (1 Cor.3:19).

"For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward" (2 Cor.1:12).

“This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish” (Jas.3:15).

“This their way is their folly: yet their posterity approve their sayings” (Ps.49:13).

“The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. Corrupt are they, and have done abominable iniquity: there is none that doeth good” (Ps.53:1).

“Fools make a mock at sin: but among the righteous there is favour” (Pr.14:9).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“Therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid” (Is.29:14).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

4 (2:23) Philosophy—Religion, False—Works—Seeking God: the third criticism against philosophy and man-made approaches to God is this—they profess humility before the world, but the humility is a false humility.

⇒ When a person follows a set of rules or of religion, he is confessing a need—either a need for something more than what he has or for something higher than himself. The confession of need is a sign of humility—of lacking something.

But note a significant point: when he begins to follow the rules and rituals of his religion—begins to control and discipline his life by the rules—he is showing his ability to control and discipline, to make himself acceptable to God. Therefore, his humility is contradictory; it is a false humility. The only true humility is to confess total inadequacy—total depravity—and the utter necessity for God Himself to save us. When God saves us, we can be saved by no higher person, and we are saved by no merit or work of our own. Therefore, God and God alone is praised, not us. True humility is focusing totally upon God as the Savior of the world and never seeing man as having any part in salvation. As Paul says: there is no “honor to the satisfying of the flesh”—not in true humility and salvation.

“Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Pharisee, and the other a publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted” (Lk.18:10-14).

“Jesus said unto them, If ye were blind, ye should have no sin: but now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth” (Jn.9:41).

“For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise” (2 Cor.10:12).

“For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things” (1 Jn.3:20).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse” (Job 9:20).

“I am clean without transgression, I am innocent; neither is there iniquity in me” (Job 33:9).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

“Yet thou sayest, Because I am innocent, surely his anger shall turn from me. Behold, I will plead with thee, because thou sayest, I have not sinned” (Jer.2:35).

DIVISION V

THE DEMANDS OF THE BELIEVER'S NEW LIFE: GREAT CHARACTER, 3:1-17

A. The Basis of the Believer's New Life, 3:1-4

(3:1-4) Introduction: this is one of the great passages of Scripture, a passage that believers often turn to in seeking a deeper and more committed walk with the Lord. It is the basis of the believer's new life.

1. The believer's new life is a life that is risen with Christ (v.1).
2. The believer's new life is a life that seeks the things above—in heaven, where Christ is (v.1-4).

1 (3:1) Believer, Identification with Christ—Resurrected with Christ—New Life: the believer's life is a life that is risen with Christ. God loves His Son, Jesus Christ—loves Him with an eternal and perfect love. Therefore, when a person believes, really surrenders his life to Christ, God forgives the person's sins and accepts Him in Christ. God actually identifies the person with Christ in His death and resurrection. God begins to consider the person as having died and risen with Christ. The new believer was not bodily present when Christ died and arose, but God considers the believer to have been there. God reckons, credits, and counts it so.

Remember: God does this for us because He loves His Son, Jesus Christ, so much. He loves Him so much that when we believe in Christ, God does exactly what we believe. He does this because our belief focuses upon and honors Christ. And because it honors God's Son, God counts our belief as the real thing. He counts us as having actually died and risen with Christ.

This means a most wonderful thing. It means that we are in union with Christ; we are identified with Christ. Our faith in Christ has placed us in Christ. Therefore, whatever Christ experienced we experienced. When He arose from the dead, we arose with Him. His resurrection means...

- that we have risen with Him.
- that we have conquered death.
- that we are raised to a new life.
- that our old life in this sinful world is over; it no longer has a claim upon us. We are, as stated, raised to a newness of life.
- that we are walking in newness of life, living a life that is dead to sin, but alive to God—alive to righteousness and holiness.

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins....and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:1, 6).

“And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened [made alive] together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses” (Col.2:13).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God” (Col.3:1).

2 (3:1-4) New Life: the believer's life is a life that seeks the things above, that is, the things that are in heaven where Christ is. Note three significant points.

1. Note the meaning of the charge: “seek those things which are above.” The meaning is clearly and pointedly explained in two statements:

- ⇒ First, seek those things above, where Christ sits on the right hand of God. That is, seek heavenly things, the things of heaven.
- ⇒ Second, set your “affection” (phromeite), your mind on things above and not on things on the earth. The word “affection” means mind; to set and focus your mind constantly upon heavenly things, not upon earthly things.

Very simply, the things of Christ and of heaven are to consume the believer's life and mind. But for the believer to keep his mind upon the things of Christ he must know what those things are. Therefore, the question naturally arises: What are the things of Christ and the things of heaven which are to consume our thoughts?

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

The resurrection of Christ tells us what the things of Christ and of heaven are. It is His resurrection that allows us to be “risen with Christ.” Remember: we actually take part and participate in the resurrection of Christ. This is a positional relationship to God. As stated in the former note, when we accept Christ, God places us in Christ positionally. He begins to see us in Christ, already seated in the heavenlies and perfected forever (cp. Eph.2:4-7). It is because of this glorious position which God has given us that we should seek the things of Christ and of heaven. The resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ has done at least seven wonderful things for us. These seven things should consume the thoughts of our minds and the praise and prayer of our lips.

- a. The resurrection of Christ shows and guarantees that Christ is the Son of God. Our thoughts should focus upon this glorious fact: that God has sent His Son into the world to save us.

“Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:3-4).

Jesus Christ claimed that He was the Son of God, that He possessed God’s very own nature, that He was One with the Father (Jn.10:30-33, 36. See note—Jn.5:19 for more verses.) He claimed time and again that God was His Father (Jn.5:17-30, 36-37, 43, 45; 6:29, 32-34, 37-40, 44-46, 57, 65; 8:16, 19, 25-29, 38, 42, 49, 54-55. See note, Jesus Christ, Son of God—Jn.1:34 for a complete list of references.) When God raised Jesus Christ from the dead, He set His seal to Christ’s claim. And by the resurrection God declares that Christ is His own dear Son.

- b. The resurrection of Christ saves and justifies us. The glorious truth of salvation and justification should consume our thoughts and praise all through the day.

“[Christ] who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

- c. The resurrection of Christ gives us or raises us up to a new life—a life that is abundant and eternal. It is the only way we can keep from walking after the flesh.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection: knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. For he that is dead is freed from sin. Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him: knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:5-13).

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:1-4).

- d. The resurrection of Christ gives us power to live victoriously over the sins and trials of this world and to bear the fruit of God’s Spirit as we walk throughout this world.

“Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him [Christ] who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God” (Ro.7:4).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you. Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live “ (Ro.8:11-13).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“[That ye may know] what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name....Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh [energizes] in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure” (Ph.2:8-9, 12-13).

“That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God; strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power [resurrection power], unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:10-11).

Imagine living a life of power bearing the fruit of God’s Spirit as we walk day by day—conquering the sins and walking through the trials of life victoriously. It is through our union with Christ that we receive the power [energy] to triumphantly walk day by day (cp. Jn.15:1-5 for an excellent description of our union with Christ).

- e. The resurrection gives us a living hope, the hope of glory. Our minds and praise should focus upon the glory of heaven which shall be ours when either God takes us home or Christ returns.

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you....For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:11, 18).

“Who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God” (1 Pt.1:21).

- f. The resurrection guarantees our resurrection (cp. 1 Cor.15:12-58). Our thoughts and praise should center upon the wonderful praise of the new and glorious body God has promised us.

“For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection” (Ro.6:5).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:14-18).

- g. The resurrection assures that God will judge the world by Christ. Our minds and prayers should be focused upon evangelism and the terrible fact that judgment is coming. Every person will have to give an account to Christ and all those who have rejected Him will be eternally separated from God.

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“And [God] hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man. Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:27-29).

Christ claimed that God had committed all judgment to Him: that He is the One whom God has appointed to judge the world. God stamped His approval to what Christ said by raising Him from the dead. Christ Himself shall judge the world. Judgment is coming: the resurrection of Christ proves it.

2. Note the two reasons why we are to seek the things of Christ and of heaven: because we are dead, and our lives are hid with Christ in God.

a. The believer is dead. He is not actually dead; he still lives upon earth. But God counts the believer dead in the death of Christ. When Christ died, the believer died—right along with Christ in God’s mind. God counts it so, and whatever God counts so, it is a fact. Therefore, the believer is actually dead in God’s mind. This means a significant fact: a dead man cannot sin, for a dead man no longer lives for this earth. He lives for the next world.

Thought 1. Since we are dead, we are to seek the things of Christ and of heaven.

b. The believer is hid with Christ. What does this mean? It means that God counts the believer hid in the resurrection and life of Christ. When Christ arose, He arose to a new life, not to His old life. He had just died to the old life once for all. Therefore, when the believer is said to be hid in Christ, it means that God counts the believer risen with Christ. God counts the believer as risen to a new life. God sees the believer hid in Christ day by day. God sees him walking in Christ and in Christ’s righteousness. And because he is in Christ, the believer sets his mind upon things above, upon the things of Christ and of heaven. He sets his mind and life upon things that please Christ.

An excellent illustration of what it means to be “hid with Christ” is this: take the index finger of your right hand and wrap your left hand around it. Say that the index finger represents you and the left hand represents Christ. Where are you (the index finger)? In Christ. You are hid in Christ. When God looks at you, He sees you hid in Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Believer, Position in Christ—Ro.8:1 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. When you are hid in Christ...

- Christ is the only life that God sees as living. Christ is your life in the eyes of God, the life in which you live.
- you live and move and have your being and roam around in the life of Christ. You are hid in the life of Christ. You are not seen living and moving, for you are hid in Christ. Christ is the only life, the only body that is seen by God and that is to be seen by the world.

Just think how surrendered and given over to Christ we are to be—so given over that Christ’s life is all that is seen. How is such possible?

- ⇒ By seeking those things which are above, where Christ sits.
- ⇒ By setting our mind on things above, not on things on earth. By working to cast down imaginations and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, even to the point of captivating every thought for Christ.

In practical day to day living, turn the television off; set aside the magazines and books. Get into the Word of God; meditate and pray through the Word, and memorize and live out the Word. In addition, get alone and pray—at least every morning and evening—and learn to silently whisper a prayer every few minutes. Surrender your life totally to Christ; present your body as a living sacrifice to God: to know, believe, and understand Him and to make Him known. You are His witness—do it.

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

There is no way to know Him apart from setting our minds upon Him. Therefore, let us do it and do it now by getting to our secret place of prayer and seeking His face with a renewed commitment.

- ⇒ Our lives are hid with Christ.
- ⇒ We live, yet not us, but Christ lives in us (Gal.2:20).
- ⇒ We are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life of Jesus might be made manifest in our flesh (2 Cor.4:11).
- ⇒ For us to live is Christ, and to die is gain (Ph.1:21).
- ⇒ We know this: we have passed from death unto life—therefore, let us live for Christ (1 Jn.3:14).

3. Note the reward for being hid in Christ and for seeking the things of Christ and of heaven: the reward is that of appearing with Christ in glory. Think for a moment: God sees us hid with Christ; therefore, we are risen with Christ. This means that being risen from the dead, we never have to die. Christ already lives in the presence of God. Since God sees us hid with Christ, God sees us in His presence. He has already accepted us as being in His presence forever and ever—all because we are there “hid with Christ.”

Now, in practical terms we are still on earth. God has left us here to be witnesses for Him. But when He is ready to take us home to heaven, what happens is this: when we confront death—in the last second, in the last moment, right before we are to leave this world for the next—God shall fix our minds upon Jesus and immediately transport us into His heavenly kingdom (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Tim.4:18). God will give us a fixation of mind and we will never taste or experience death (cp. Jn.8:51-52; Heb.2:9).

Note that the verse has to do with the return of Christ. When Christ returns, we shall appear or return with Him in glory. There is to be a new heavens and earth and Christ is to reign forever and ever, and we are to reign in glory with Him.

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

DIVISION V

THE DEMANDS OF THE BELIEVER'S NEW LIFE: GREAT CHARACTER, 3:1-17

B. The Violent Demands of the New Life, 3:5-11

(3:5-11) Introduction: this is a violent passage of Scripture, a passage that attacks many persons right where they are living. But it is a passage that is desperately needed by us all. It covers the violent demands of the believer's new life in Christ.

1. The first demand is violent: put to death all sins that enslave the body and its members (v.5-7).
2. The second demand is violent: strip off the sins that enslave the emotions and tongue (v.8-11).

1 (3:5-7) Body, Sins of—Mortify—Wrath of God: the first demand is violent—put to death the sins that enslave the body and its members. The word “mortify” means to put to death or to act as though the body is dead. The believer is to take the various parts of his body and put them to death in so far as sin is concerned. How does a believer do this? He considers his body to be hid in the death of Christ. He acts as though his body is dead with Christ. And remember: a dead man cannot sin; a dead man can do nothing. Therefore, the believer is dead to sin.

The point is this: it is all an act of the mind or spirit. A person wants to live for God; therefore, he looks at his body and at sin. The only way he can possibly conquer sin is to treat his body as dead to sin or to consider sin as dead to his body. The person has to live as though his body has no part in sin, and sin has no part in his body. But note: this life is possible only in Christ. Christ alone—through the Holy Spirit—can work within the human heart and give it the energy and power to conquer sin permanently and eternally. Some men can discipline themselves to overcome some sin, but not all sin, not permanently and not eternally. This can be done only through Christ. There is an enormous difference between human discipline and godly control, and that difference is Jesus Christ. (See notes—Ph.2:13; Col.3:4 for more discussion.)

What sins are to be mortified or put to death? The Bible is very specific, for there are some very specific sins which tend to enslave the human body. In fact, note the term “children of disobedience” (v.6). These particular sins are not only terrible acts of disobedience to God, they are sins that can enslave the human body so much that they make a child of disobedience out of a person. They cause a person to actually become a child of disobedience. Shocking!

1. What are the sins that enslave the human body so much?
  - a. There is the sin of fornication (see note, pt.2—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).
  - b. There is the sin of uncleanness (see note, pt.3—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).
  - c. There is the sin of inordinate affection (pathos): passion, craving, strong desire, intense arousal, a driving lust. It is, of course, a desire and craving for the wrong things such as the second and third helping of food, alcohol, drugs, nudity, pornography, suggestive and filthy literature, illicit affairs, extra-marital sex, etc.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart. And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:28-29).

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:26-27).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:16-17).

“And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

- d. There is evil concupiscence (epithumian kaken): evil desire, a yearning and an aching for all kinds of evil. It is that within a person that pulls him to desire, grasp, grab, and take hold of all forms of evil that give pleasure to the body and its members. It is that which drives the man to...
- look and look
  - feel and feel
  - touch and touch
  - listen and listen
  - smell and smell
  - seek and seek

“Not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:5).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

- e. There is covetousness (pleonexian): craving, grasping, grabbing, desiring to have something. It is desiring to have something when it is not needed; it is desiring more than what we need and more than what we should have. Note that covetousness is idolatry. If a person looks at something so much that he covets it, he has set it up as a god which he pursues with the energy and effort of his mind and body. (See note, pt.7—Eph.4:17-19; Ro.13:9 for more discussion.)

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour’s” (Ex.20:17).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!” (Hab.2:9).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:10).

2. There are two strong reasons for putting to death the sins that enslave the body.

- a. It is such sins that shall bring down the wrath of God upon man. The word “wrath” (orge) means anger, but it is not the outburst of anger that quickly blazes up, not the anger that arises solely from emotion. Rather, it is a decisive and a deliberate anger. It is an anger that comes from a thoughtful decision, an anger that comes from the mind because someone has done something evil and hurtful. It is an anger that judges and condemns sin and evil, violence and slaughter, immorality and injustice. It is an anger that hates sin and evil and that metes out a just revenge and equal punishment.

“But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees come to his baptism, he said unto them, O generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?” (Mt.3:7).

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness” (Ro.1:18).

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But unto them that are contentious, and do not obey the truth, but obey unrighteousness, indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:8-9).

“Let no man deceive you with vain words: for because of these things cometh the wrath of God upon the children of disobedience” (Eph.5:6).

“For they themselves show of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God; and to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come” (1 Th.1:9-10).

- b. It is such sins that were common to our old life. We used to walk and live in such sins, but not now. What is the difference? Christ. We are hid in Christ. He has saved us from the sins that bring down the wrath of God upon us. To turn back and to begin walking in those sins again would be to deny Christ. And this we must not do...
- lest we break the heart of God by abusing the death of His dear Son.
  - lest we bring down the wrath of God upon us.

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins; wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience” (Eph.2:1-2).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an ensample. (For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things.) For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:17-21).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries: wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you: who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead” (1 Pt.4:3-5).

“But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; how that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts. These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit. But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life” (Jude 17-21).

2 (3:8-11) New Man—Old Man—Emotions—Tongue: the second demand is also violent—strip off the sins that enslave the emotions and tongue. The picture is that of putting off or stripping off clothes.

1. There are six sins that are to be stripped off. Note: all six have to do with either deep-seated emotions or else the tongue—reactions and feelings against another person.
  - a. There is the sin of anger (orgen): (see note—Eph.4:26-27 for discussion).
  - b. There is the sin of wrath (thumon): (see note, pt.10—Gal.5:19-21 for discussion).
  - c. There is the sin of malice (kakian): deep-seated feelings against a person, hatred that lasts on an on, intense and long-lasting bitterness against a person.

“Therefore let us keep the feast [the Lord’s Supper], not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth” (1 Cor.5:8).

“Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice” (Eph.4:31).

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth” (Col.3:8).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

- d. There is the sin of blasphemy (blasphemian): speech that slanders, insults, hurts, injures, and shows contempt. It is railing at someone.

“But when the Jews saw the multitudes, they were filled with envy, and spake against those things which were spoken by Paul, contradicting and blaspheming” (Acts 13:45).

“And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles” (Acts 18:6).

“Of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander; whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme” (1 Tim.1:20).

“But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats? Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which ye are called?” (Jas.2:6-7).

“And I stood upon the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his horns ten crowns, and upon his heads the name of blasphemy” (Rev.13:1).

“And blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and repented not of their deeds” (Rev.16:11).

COLOSSIANS 3:5-11

- e. There is the sin of filthy communication (aischrologian) (see note, pt.1—Eph.5:4 for discussion).
- f. There is the sin of lying: (see note—Eph.4:25 for discussion).
- 2. There are three strong reasons as to why we are to strip off the sins of the emotions and tongue.
  - a. We have put off the old man (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Old Man—Eph.4:22 for discussion).
  - b. We have put on the new man (see DEEPER STUDY # 3, New Man—Eph.4:24; DEEPER STUDY # 3, Renewed Mind—Eph.4:23 for discussion).
  - c. We are all one body in Christ (v.11). Christ has made it possible for us to be adopted as children, sons and daughters, of God. We are all—everyone of us—children of God. We belong to the same family—the family of God. Therefore, there is no place for reacting against each other, no place for...

Note how Scripture covers everything that could possibly cause feelings and divisions between us:

- ⇒ race and birth (Greek nor Jew)
- ⇒ religion and ritual (circumcision nor uncircumcision)
- ⇒ education and culture (Barbarian nor Scythian)
- ⇒ social class and wealth and property (bond and free)

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“For we being many are one bread, and one body: for we are all partakers of that one bread” (1 Cor.10:17).

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:13).

DIVISION V

THE DEMANDS OF THE BELIEVER'S NEW LIFE: GREAT CHARACTER, 3:1-17

C. The Clothing of the New Life, 3:12-14

(3:12-14) Introduction: once a person has accepted Christ he has a new life. As seen in the former passage, the believer is to strip off the clothing of his old life, for the garments of his old life are unbecoming to his new life. Now, there are some garments that the believer is to put on, some garments that are becoming to his new life in Christ.

1. Are the elect of God, holy and beloved (v.12).
2. The garment of mercy (v.12).
3. The garment of kindness (v.12).
4. The garment of humility (v.12).
5. The garment of meekness (v.12).
6. The garment of patience (v.12).
7. The garment of forbearance (v.13).
8. The garment of forgiveness (v.13).
9. The garment of love (v.14).

1 (3:12-14) New Life: the clothing of the elect. Believers are the “elect of God.” They are the persons whom God has chosen to be His holy and beloved people.

⇒ Believers have been elected to be holy. The word “holy” (hagios) means separated or set apart. God called believers out of the world and away from the old life it offered, the old life of sin and death. He called believers to be separated and set apart unto Himself and the new life He offers, the new life of righteousness and eternity.

⇒ Believers have been elected to be the beloved of God. God has called believers to turn away from the old life that showed hatred toward God, the old life that rejected, rebelled, ignored, denied, and was constantly cursing in the face of God. God has called believers to be the beloved of God, the persons who receive His love in Christ Jesus and who allow Him to shower His love upon them.

The point is this: the elect of God, holy and beloved, are those who have really believed and trusted Jesus Christ as their Savior. It is these persons, the believers, who now have a new life in Christ. Therefore, this passage is for the believer. Note one other thing: the command “put on” (enduno). This is the picture of putting on clothing; the believer is to clothe the new man. The new man must not be left naked; he must be clothed. What are the garments to be put on? There are eight garments of clothing for the new man.

2 (3:12) Mercy: the believer must put on the garment of mercy. Mercy (oiktirmou) means compassion, pity, tenderheartedness. God has had so much mercy upon us, the one thing we should do is to show mercy to others. Compassion and pity should flood our hearts for the...

- |           |            |            |             |
|-----------|------------|------------|-------------|
| • lost    | • hurting  | • homeless | • empty     |
| • wayward | • diseased | • hungry   | • unclothed |
| • lonely  | • poor     | • aged     | • orphaned  |

Of course, the list could go on and on. The point is that the believer no longer has the right to overlook the needy of the world. He is now a new man, a part of the clothing of the new man is the garment of mercy. The believer is to be clothed with mercy. He is to have compassion and reach out to meet the needs of the world—reach out with all he is and has, holding back nothing so long as a single need exists.

“Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?” (Is.58:7).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

- 3 (3:12) Kindness: the believer must put on the garment of kindness. (See note, pt.5—Gal.5:22-23 for discussion.)
- 4 (3:12) Humility: the believer must put on the garment of humility. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1, Humility—Ph.2:3 for discussion.)
- 5 (3:12) Meekness: the believer must put on the garment of meekness. (See note, pt.8—Gal.5:22-23.)
- 6 (3:12) Longsuffering or Patience: the believer must put on the garment of longsuffering. (See note, pt.4—Gal.5:22-23.)
- 7 (3:13) Forbearance: the believer must put on the garment of forbearing or forbearance. Forbearing (anechomenoi) means to hold back; to put up with; to refrain; to bear with; to control.
 Something is often forgotten: there are many things about everyone of us that people have to forbear. People have to put up with a great deal of things when dealing with us. Everyone of us is guilty of...
- some weakness
  - some unattractive behavior
  - some wrong behavior
  - some mistreatment
  - some neglect
  - some failure
  - some bad habit
  - some irritating behavior

There are some things about everyone of us that just turn some people off. None of us escapes the fact. In addition, everyone of us does things that irritate some people. Again, there is no escaping the fact. Any person can be looked at and have his flaws and weaknesses picked out.

But note: this is not what the Scripture says to do. The Scripture says that the believer is to put on the clothing of forbearance. The believer is to forbear the flaws of others. He is to put up with and bear with the weaknesses of other believers.

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love” (Eph.4:1-2).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

- 8 (3:13) Forgiveness: the believer must put on the garment of forgiveness; he must be forgiving (charizomenoi). The word means to be gracious to a person; to pardon him for some wrong done against us. Note: a quarrel or some difference has taken place. A person has hurt us and brought pain to us. But no matter what they have done, we are to have a forgiving spirit clothing us. We are to be so clothed with the spirit of forgiveness that no difference or quarrel can shake us.
 Note why: because Christ has forgiven us. No matter how much wrong a person has done against us, it cannot match the wrong we have done against Christ. Yet, Christ has forgiven us. Therefore, we are to forgive those who have done wrong against us—no matter how great the wrong is.

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“...ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil. Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful” (Lk.6:35-36).

“And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him” (Lk.17:4).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

- 9 (3:14) Love: above all, the believer is to put on the garment of love (agapen). Note that love is to be the main garment of the believer’s new life. It is called the bond of perfection; that is, love binds all the clothing or great qualities of the believer’s life together. If the believer has put on love—if he really loves people—then he is always clothed with...
- mercy
  - kindness
  - humility
  - meekness
  - longsuffering
  - forbearance
  - forgiveness

COLOSSIANS 3:12-14

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:29-31).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

DIVISION V

THE DEMANDS OF THE BELIEVER'S NEW LIFE: GREAT CHARACTER, 3:1-17

D. The Heart of the New Life, 3:15-17

(3:15-17) Introduction: when a new life enters the world, a new heart enters the world. There is no life apart from a heart. A new life necessitates a new heart. So it is with the believer: the believer receives a new heart when he receives a new life. The heart of the new life is the great subject of this passage.

1. A heart ruled by God's peace (v.15).
2. A heart rich with the Word of Christ (v.16).
3. A heart that does all in the name of Christ (v.17).

1 (3:15) Peace: first, the believer is to have a heart ruled by God's peace. He is to let the peace of Christ rule in all things and differences. The best Greek texts read the "peace of Christ" instead of the "peace of God." The word "peace" (eirene) means to be bound, joined, and weaved together. It means to be assured, confident, and secure in the love and care of God. It means to know that God will take care of us no matter the problem or circumstance. It means to be absolutely assured that God will allow nothing to swamp or defeat us. God will...

- strengthen
- encourage
- guide
- sustain
- deliver
- save
- provide
- give real life both now and forever

But note the critical point: this peace is the peace of Christ, and He alone possesses it. Therefore, a person can experience true peace only as he comes to know Christ. Only Christ can bring real peace to the human heart, the kind of peace that brings deliverance and the assurance of deliverance to the human soul. Three significant things are pointed out about the peace of Christ.

1. The choice is up the believer: the believer does not automatically experience the peace of Christ. He is supposed to, but he may not. This is a command, which means it demands obedience. The word "rule" (brabeueto) means to be or to act as an umpire. Peace is to be the umpire, the deciding factor in all circumstances and situations of life.

⇒ Matthew Henry words it well: "Let this peace rule in your heart—prevail and govern there...as an umpire [let it] decide all matters of difference among you" (Matthew Henry's Commentary, Vol.5, p.764).

⇒ William Barclay pointedly says: "Let the peace of God...be the decider [umpire] of all things within your heart" (The Letters to the Phillipians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p. 190).

The point is this: the believer must make a choice—the decision is his whether he lets the peace of Christ rule or not. Scripture commands it, but the believer has to be willing to let the umpire of peace rule. He has to be willing to lay aside all the differences and circumstances—to be willing to give up differences and let Christ handle them through the rule of His peace.

"Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid" (Jn.14:27).

"These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world" (Jn.16:33).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

"For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us" (Eph.2:14).

"Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them" (Ps.119:165).

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee" (Is.26:3).

"O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteousness as the waves of the sea" (Is.48:18).

2. The reason why believers are to let the peace of Christ rule is clearly stated: we are called to be in one body. We are not called to be in two bodies, but in one. Any believer who stands out there in another body is not a genuine believer. There is only one body of Christ, only one body of believers, only one church. This means something significant: believers are to act as one. They are to live and behave as one body, as a body of people in union with each other. How? By letting the peace of Christ rule in their hearts. Peace is to be the deciding factor, the umpire in all relationships between believers. (See notes—Col.1:18 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Why is this exhortation given? Because too often some person arises within the church who is...

- cantankerous and divisive
- critical and judgmental
- murmuring and grumbling
- gossiping and spreading rumors

Too often some person becomes a troublemaker, a person who stirs up trouble within the body of Christ, the church. The person accepts the umpire of difference instead of the umpire of peace. He lets differences rule within his heart instead of Christ and His peace.

This is the reason for the exhortation. The exhortation is needed. Some persons desperately need to hear the challenge and demand of God: Let the peace of God rule in your hearts...for you are called to live as one body in peace.

“Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee” (Job 22:21).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful” (Col.3:15).

“Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it” (1 Pt.3:11).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

3. Believers are to respond to the demand for peace with thankfulness. Believers should always thank Christ for His peace...

- the peace He has brought to their own hearts personally.
- the peace He has brought to all men who trust Him.
- the peace He has brought within His body, the church.
- the glorious privilege which all men have to know His peace.

“Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God” (Eph.5:20-21).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

2 (3:16) Word, The: second, the believer is to have a heart rich with the Word of Christ. He is to let the Word of Christ dwell in his heart. Throughout Scripture this is the only time “the Word of God” is referred to as “the Word of Christ.” The emphasis of Colossians is Christ; therefore, the Word of God becomes the Word of Christ in this great book. (Cp. 2 Cor.2:17; 4:2; 1 Th.1:8; 2:13; 4:15; 2 Th.3:1.)

Three significant points are made about the Word of Christ.

1. The choice is up to the believer: the Word of Christ does not naturally dwell within the believer’s heart. The word “dwell” (enoikeito) means to be at home or to make a home; to abide or live within. The believer must make room within his heart for the Word of Christ. He must let the Word of Christ enter his heart and make a home within his heart. He must let the Word of Christ dwell and abide in his heart. The believer must clean out all the old furnishings of his heart and let the Word of Christ settle down as the permanent resident within his heart.

Note the word “richly.” It is important, for the Word of Christ must be allowed to dwell richly within our hearts. The believer is not to be satisfied with just a meager visit by the Word of Christ. He is to let the Word of Christ dwell richly within Him. The Word of Christ must be allowed to furnish the believer’s heart with all the wealth of its commandments and promises, instructions and warnings.

“And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart” (Dt.6:6).

“Therefore shall ye lay up these my words in your heart and in your soul, and bind them for a sign upon your hand, that they may be as frontlets between your eyes” (Dt.11:18).

“Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee” (Ps.119:11).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

2. The reason why believers are to let the Word of Christ dwell within them is clearly stated: believers are to teach and admonish one another in all wisdom. This is the believer’s task, the very reason God has not yet taken us home to heaven: to teach and admonish one another. By teaching is meant the instruction of the Word and by admonition is meant the warning of Scripture. But how can we teach and admonish others if we do not...

- know the Word of Christ?
- let the Word of Christ dwell in us?

The answer is obvious: we can’t. And note another fact: it is not enough to know the Word of Christ. We must be living the Word of Christ. Knowing the Word and not living it is hypocrisy. Our very lives must be the home, the dwelling place for the Word of Christ. When people look at us, they must immediately see that our lives are indwelt by the Word of Christ.

Something else should be pointed out as well. We can teach and admonish others in forbearance and not in wisdom. Worldly philosophy and teachings about reality and truth, God and the universe are only the crude notions of men. The truth and wisdom of life are found in the Word of Christ and in the Word of Christ alone. (See note—Col.2:8-10 for more discussion.)

“These things command and teach” (1 Tim.4:11).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:6-7).

“And they shall teach my people the difference between the holy and profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean” (Ezk.44:23).

3. There is a way to tell whether or not the Word of Christ dwells in us: Are we teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in our hearts to the Lord? As we walk throughout the day are we...

- talking about Christ?
- sharing the Word of Christ with each other?
- teaching each other?
- admonishing and encouraging and warning each other?
- singing to ourselves and with others?

Thought 1. What a contrasting picture of how so many of us live! The believer is to live and move and have his being in Christ, and he is to let Christ live and move and have His being in him. For the believer, to live is Christ. We are to walk all day long talking about and sharing Christ, teaching and admonishing others in the Word of Christ, singing the psalms of Scripture, the hymns of the church, and the spiritual songs that arise out of a heart filled with the joy of the Lord and His Word.

“And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:6-7).

“And ye shall teach them your children, speaking of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, when thou liest down, and when thou risest up. And thou shalt write them upon the door posts of thine house, and upon thy gates” (Dt.11:19-20).

“What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also” (1 Cor.14:15).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“O come, let us sing unto the LORD: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation” (Ps.95:1).

3 (3:17) Believer, Duty: third, the believer is to have a heart that does all in the name of Christ. Whatever he does in word or deed, he does all in the name of the Lord Jesus.

1. The believer has a choice. He is the one who speaks and acts; no one speaks and acts for him. Whether or not he speaks and acts for Christ is his choice. The command is there: “do all in the name of the Lord Jesus,” but the choice as to what he talks about and does is his. He and he alone is responsible for his words and deeds.

2. The believer is to do all in the name of the Lord Jesus. What does this mean? It means that the believer knows something: the name of Christ is the only name that God accepts in His presence. Therefore, the only persons He accepts are those persons who come to Him in the name of Christ. There is no other name given among men whereby men may be saved. Therefore, the believer approaches God “in the name of Jesus Christ,” that is, by surrendering his life to Christ and by living for Christ. This is the reason the believer does not dare speak or act outside the name of Christ. To do so would be evidence that he had not really approached God in Christ, that his profession was a false profession.

Again, what does it mean to do all in the name of the Lord Jesus? It means...

- to live, move, and have our being in the name of Christ.
- to trust and depend upon the name of Christ in all that we do.
- to claim the name of Christ in all that we say and do.
- to represent Christ in all that we say and do.

Simply stated, we must do nothing that dishonors Christ. Whenever we speak, Christ peppers and fills our conversation; and whenever we act, Christ is honored by our behavior.

We must always remember something: Christ hears every word and sees every deed. We love Him with all our hearts; therefore, we seek never to hurt or cause pain for Him by what we say or do. We diligently seek to bring only honor to His name.

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“And whatsoever ye shall ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son” (Jn.14:13).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Eph.5:20).

3. The believer's response is that of thanksgiving. God the Father has become the believer's Father by Christ and only by Christ. Therefore, the believer is constantly thanking God the Father. But note: even in thanksgiving, the believer still approaches God only by Christ. As important as thanking and praising God is, a person still has to approach God by Christ. God will accept no person apart from Christ, not even to offer thanksgiving and praise.

“Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God” (1 Cor.10:31-32).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men” (Col.3:23).

DIVISION VI

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE BELIEVER, 3:18-4:6

A. The Believer and His Family, 3:18-21

(3:18-21) Introduction: this is a critical passage of Scripture, no matter the generation. Every generation witnesses an attack upon the union of husband and wife and the family. The lust of man for sensual pleasure drives him to attack the faithfulness between husband and wife that is demanded by God. Christ and Christ alone must be at the center of every family if it is to survive the attacks made against it. And it is not enough for one or two members of the family to be obedient to Christ—every member has to make Christ the center of his life. One disobedient and unfaithful member dramatically affects the union of the family and brings trauma, pain, and often destruction to the family. This is the critical importance of this discussion on the Christian and the family.

1. Christian wives: submit to your husbands (v.18).
2. Christian husbands: love your wives and do not be bitter against them (v.19).
3. Christian children: obey your parents (v.20).
4. Christian fathers or parents: do not provoke your children (v.21).

1 (3:18) Family—Wives: Christian wives, submit yourselves to your own husbands. This is the only fitting or right thing to do. Scripture pulls no punches: it tells the wife exactly what the Lord expects. The husband’s turn comes in a moment, but for now the Lord’s will for the wife is covered. His will involves two striking points.

1. First, Christian wives are to submit themselves to their husbands. The word “submit” (hupotassesthe) means to subdue and subject in obedience.

⇒ Vine points out that the word is primarily a military term meaning to rank under (An Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words. Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell, 1940.)

⇒ Robertson says that the word has a military air and that the word is the same kind of obedience that a citizen is to give to the government (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4, p.506).

In modern society this is strong; in fact, it is too strong for many. Many reject the idea of woman’s subjection as archaic, outdated, and old-fashioned. Some even react in anger and hostility against the Word of God and those who preach the duty of wives.

Are they right? Has Scripture gone too far in declaring that wives should be subject to their husbands? Has God made a mistake within the order of the family? To the Christian, the answer is no. The problem is not in what God has said, but in our understanding of what He has said or in our rebellion against what He wills. Any wife who reacts to God’s command is reacting either because she does not understand what God is saying or is just unwilling to give her life to God and follow Him as He says. What does God mean by subjection? God does not mean dictatorial subjection...

- that a wife is to subject herself to a tyrant.
- that a wife is to submit herself to the demands of a husband who acts like a beast.
- that a wife is to be a slave or footstool for the husband.
- that a wife is to serve her husband without restraint.
- that a wife is to be treated as inferior to her husband.

What God means by subjection is order, cooperation, relationship, partnership—the way a husband and wife are to walk together throughout life. Every body of people—even when the body is only two persons—must have a leader who takes the lead in plowing through the wilderness of the world and its trials, temptations, and difficulties. Between the two, wife and husband, one of them has to be the primary leader. God’s order for the two is that the husband take the lead.

2. Second, Christian wives must submit because it is the only fitting thing to do. The word “fitting” (aneken) means the right thing to do. Why is it the only fitting and right thing to do? Not because the husband is superior and the wife is inferior as a human being. The reason is because the wife is in the Lord. She has surrendered her life to live in the Lord and to love and follow Him and to witness for Him by living just as He says to live. Therefore, when the Lord says that it is His will for her to submit to her husband, she submits. She submits because the Lord tells her that submission is the way He wants her to live with her husband. Again, submission is simply...

- God's order for the family.
- the relationship, cooperation, and partnership that is to exist between the wife and husband.

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord” (Eph.5:22).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord” (Col.3:18).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it” (Pr.3:27).

2 (3:19) Family—Husbands: Christian husbands, love your wives and be not bitter against them. This command destroys all opposition and reaction to the command of subjection given to the wives. How?

The word “love” is not only the love of affection and feelings, but the agape love of God Himself. The Christian husband is to love his wife just as much and in the same way that God has loved us. Agape love is...

- a selfless and unselfish love.
- a giving and sacrificial love.
- a love of the will as well as of the heart.
- a love of commitment as well as of affection.
- a love that works for the highest good of the wife.

Very practically, the husband does not seek to have his wife fill his needs, desires, comfort, and interests; but he seeks to meet, nurture, and nourish all these for his wife. It is God's will for the husband to totally sacrifice himself for his wife. And note: he is to do it without bitterness. Wives are just like husbands; they sometimes fail to submit; and when they fail, the husband tends to become bitter or resentful. It is the very nature of men to sense resentment or bitterness; therefore, the Christian husband must struggle and fight against the temptation. A husband is to love sacrificially even if the wife does not deserve to be loved and is utterly unworthy of being loved. Husbands are to obey Christ regardless. It is the will of Christ.

Thought 1. Think what an enormous difference would exist between husbands and wives who loved and submitted as Scripture says.

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

“Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh” (Gen.2:24).

“Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth” (Pr.5:18).

3 (3:20) Family—Children: children obey your parents in all things. The word “obey” (hupakouete) means to heed, hearken, comply, and follow the directions or instructions of some guide. When parents guide and direct a child, the child is to obey. And note: he is to obey “in all things.” How about the terrible problem of sinful instructions sometimes given to children by abusive parents? This is not what Scripture is talking about. (See note, Children—Eph.6:1-3 for discussion of child abuse.) Scripture is talking about the normal day to day instructions and guidance which parents give to children. Children are to obey their parents in all instructions. What happens when older children have different opinions? They feel like they should be able...

- to have something
- to do something
- to go someplace
- to come in late

Differences always arise, and yet God says that the child is to obey in all things. Does this mean the parent is always right? No. It means that the child has a unique opportunity to learn discipline, control, and order. When they go out to face life alone without their parents, they are going to be facing a world that is...

- |                 |                 |
|-----------------|-----------------|
| • self-centered | • powerful      |
| • demanding     | • competitive   |
| • corrupt       | • threatening   |
| • evil          | • dangerous     |
| • sinful        | • authoritative |

The child has to be prepared, and one of the major preparations is that of discipline or control. When the child becomes an adult, he will have demands made upon him, some of which will be unjust and unfair. He will have to obey the demands in order to survive in this corruptible world. It is up to the Christian children to learn to obey and follow instructions now—while they are still at home. They are to use the instruction of their parents as the training ground for the future—for their adulthood. The more obedient the child, the more disciplined and controlled and prepared he will be to face life when he goes out to face the world.

Note one other point: the child's obedience pleases the Lord. The Lord has one primary objective for the child: to prepare him to be the most balanced and productive adult he can be. Therefore, when the child obeys his parent, the Lord sees the child being disciplined and controlled; He sees the child preparing himself to become a strong adult. Therefore, the child's obedience pleases the Lord.

“For Moses said, Honour thy father and thy mother; and, Whoso curseth father or mother, let him die the death” (Mk.7:10).

“Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right” (Eph.6:1).

“Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord” (Col.3:20).

“My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother” (Pr.1:8).

“My son, keep thy father's commandment, and forsake not the law of the mother” (Pr.6:20).

“My son, keep my words, and lay up my commandments with thee” (Pr.7:1).

“A wise son maketh a glad father: but a foolish son is the heaviness of his mother” (Pr.10:1).

“Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right” (Pr.20:11).

“Hearken unto thy father that begat thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old” (Pr.23:22).

“Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them” (Eccl.12:1).

- 4 (3:21) Family—Father: fathers and parents, do not provoke your children to anger (see note, Parents—Eph.6:4 for discussion).

DIVISION VI

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE BELIEVER, 3:18-4:6

B. The Believer and His Work, 3:22-4:1

(3:22-4:1) Introduction: this passage is almost identical with the passage in Ephesians (Eph.6:5-9). It deals with the critical subject of the world's economy: slave and master, labor and management, employee and employer, workman and supervisor. It points out in no uncertain terms that the answer to the basic problems of the workplace is spiritual, not economic. Note that the discussion concerns slaves and their masters, but the instructions are applicable to every generation of workmen, no matter their status.

1. The slave (employee) (v.22-25).
2. The master (employer) (ch.4, v.1).

1 (3:22-25) Workman—Employee—Labor: the workman is to obey; that is, he is to follow the instructions of the person over him. Note that he is to obey "in all things." In the workplace there is to be no instruction that is not to be obeyed. This, of course, does not mean he is to obey orders that are contrary to the teaching of the Lord and damaging to His people and creation. However, it does mean that the Christian workman is to do what he is told to do when he has been given the privilege of a job, the privilege...

- to earn a livelihood and provide for himself and his family.
- to serve humanity through providing some needed product or service.
- to earn enough to help meet the desperate needs of the world and to carry the gospel to the world.

The attitude of the Christian workman is that the energy and effort he puts into his job is important to the Lord. Therefore, the Lord spells out several clear and unmistakable instructions for the Christian workman.

1. The Christian workman is not to work with eyeservice, as a manpleaser; that is, he is not to work only when the boss is watching or standing around. The Christian workman is to work diligently all the time, doing exactly...
  - what he has been instructed and more.
  - what is expected of him and more.
  - what he should produce and more.

The Christian workman should never do the average—never do just what he has been instructed. The Christian workman should always be the best at his job, going beyond the call of duty. (See note, pt.3—Eph.6:5-8 for more discussion.)

“For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God” (Jn.12:43).
“The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer” (Pr.29:25).

2. The Christian workman is to work in singleness of heart (see note, pt.2—Eph.6:5-8 for discussion).
3. The Christian workman is to work fearing the Lord. This is to be the very mark of the Christian workman. It is to be his fear and reverence for the Lord that stands out to those working around him. Every man is to be judged for what he does upon this earth, judged for the kind of things he does and judged for how diligently he did the good things. The Christian workman knows...
  - that God is watching his diligence.
  - that God is going to reward him for his diligence.
  - that the heavenly work that is to be awarded him is being delivered by his faithfulness and diligence upon earth.

Therefore, the Christian workman labors ever so diligently in the fear and reverence of the Lord—labors arduously lest he become a castaway and miss out on the best that God has.

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell” (Mt.10:28).

“And his mercy is on them that fear him from generation to generation” (Lk.1:50).

“But in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:35).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“What man is he that feareth the LORD? him shall he teach in the way that he shall choose” (Ps.25:12).

“Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!” (Ps.31:19).

4. The Christian workman is to work heartily—as to the Lord and not to men. The word “heartily” (ek psuches) means out of the soul. The Christian workman’s labor is to arise out of his soul, from the innermost part of his being. He is not working for the men of this earth, but for the Lord. He is working for the deepest reason possible, for a reason that arises out of his very soul: the Lord Jesus Christ has told him to work and to work diligently. The Lord Jesus is his Lord; therefore, the Christian workman does what his Lord says. But note: there are two other critical reasons why he works diligently.

a. Diligent work will be rewarded by Christ. On earth the workman may be mistreated, used, misused, abused, cheated, bypassed, and taken advantage of; but the Lord knows, and He is going to abundantly reward the diligent workman. In fact, the reward of the inheritance simply explodes the human mind. It stretches far beyond and above all that we can ask or even think. It includes a new body that will be eternal, and a new heavens and earth, and positions of enormous leadership, authority, and service for the Lord Jesus. (See notes—Lk. 16:10-12; Ro. 4:13; DEEPER STUDY # 3—8:17 for more discussion.)

“Moreover it is required in stewards, that a man be found faithful” (1 Cor.4:2).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

b. Slothful work and idleness will be judged by Christ. Many workmen do wrong on the job; they do wrong by...

- being lazy
- being irresponsible
- being unconcerned
- being unproductive
- being uncaring
- being prejudiced
- cheating
- stealing
- lying
- being careless
- being selfish
- being unfair

The list could go on and on. The point is this: every single person on earth is going to face God for the wrong he has done on the job. He will give an account for his labor and be judged exactly for what he has done. And note: there is no respect of persons. Everyone is going to stand before God—no matter who he is.

“His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:23).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons” (Col.3:25).

2 (4:1) Employer—Businessman—Managers—Masters: the employer or manager is to be just and fair (equal) with the employee. There is to be just and fair treatment in...

- wages
- work assignments
- production and goals
- expectations and demands
- promotion

The reason is as clearly stated as it could be: the manager or employer has a Master in heaven. The Lord God sees everything management does, and He holds management accountable for every act. (See note, Managers—Eph.6:9 for more discussion.)

“And, ye masters, do the same things unto them, forbearing threatening; knowing that your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect of persons with him” (Eph.6:9).

“Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven” (Col.4:1).

“Thou shalt not defraud thy neighbor, neither rob him: the wages of him that is hired shall not abide with thee all night until the morning” (Lev.19:13).

“At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it: lest he cry against thee unto the LORD” (Dt.24:15).

“If I did despise the cause of my manservant or of my maidservant, when they contended with me” (Job 31:13).

“Woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbor’s service without wages, and giveth him not for his work” (Jer.22:13).

“And I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling [the hired workman] in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and that turn aside the stranger from his right, and fear not me, saith the LORD of hosts” (Mal.3:5).

DIVISION VI

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE BELIEVER, 3:18-4:6

C. The Believer and His Prayer Life and Witness, 4:2-6

(4:2-6) Introduction: this passage covers two of the most important subjects for the believer—that of his prayer life and his witness.

1. Pray and continue in prayer (v.2-4).
2. Walk wisely before people who are without Christ (v.5).
3. Speak with grace—answering and sharing what it is that makes your life different (v.6).

1 (4:2-4) Prayer—Believer, Duty: the first duty of the believer is to pray and continue in prayer. Four important instructions are given—instructions that desperately need to be heeded.

1. First, continue steadfastly in prayer. The word “continue” (proskartereite) means to be constant, persevering, and unwearied in prayer. It means to be in constant and unbroken prayer—to be in constant and unbroken fellowship and communion with God. It means to walk and breathe prayer—to live and move and have our being in prayer. It means to never face a moment when we are not in prayer.

How is this possible? When we have so many duties and affairs that demand our attention, how can we continue and walk in unbroken prayer? What Scripture means is that we...

- develop an attitude of prayer.
- walk in a spirit of prayer.
- take a mental break from our work and spend a moment in prayer.
- pray always when our minds are not upon some duty.
- arise early and pray before daily activities begin. Spend a worship time with God in prayer. Make this a continued practice.
- pray before going to bed. Spend an extended time in prayer before going to bed. Make this a continued practice.

In all honesty, the vast majority of us waste minute after minute every hour in useless daydreaming and wandering thoughts—wasting precious time that could be spent in prayer. If we would learn to captivate these minutes for prayer, we would discover what it is to walk and live in prayer. Note a critical fact: this is the duty of the believer. It is not something God can do for us. We are the ones who have to discipline ourselves to pray. If we do not pray, then prayer never gets done.

Scripture is clear: the believer is to “continue in prayer.”

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God” (Ph.4:6).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms” (Jas.5:13).

“Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

2. Second, watch in prayer. The word “watch” (gregorountes) means to stay awake, be alert, be sleepless, be active, concentrate. It means to fight against distractions, drowsiness, sluggishness, wandering thoughts, and useless daydreaming. It means to discipline our minds and control our thoughts in prayer. Being very honest, this is a problem that afflicts every believer sometime. Overwork, tiredness, pressure, strain—an innumerable list of things can make it very difficult to concentrate in prayer. This is the very reason Paul stresses the need to watch in prayer. But note: vigilance in prayer is the duty of the believer. Again, it is not something that God does for us. We are responsible for watching and concentrating. We are the ones who are to discipline our minds and control our thoughts. For this reason, we must never give up in prayer. We must...

- always struggle against drowsiness and wandering thoughts.
- learn to concentrate—to discipline our minds and control our thoughts.
- teach ourselves to watch in prayer.

“And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saith unto Peter, What, could ye not watch with me one hour? Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:40-41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man” (Lk.21:36).

3. Third, pray with thanksgiving. When someone does something for us, we thank that person. The One Person who has done more for us than anyone else is God. Therefore, we are to thank Him. In fact, God continues to bless and help us; His hand is constantly upon our lives, looking after and caring for us; therefore, we should continually thank Him. Our praise should be lifted up to Him all through the day as we go about our daily affairs. An hour should never pass when we have not praised and thanked God several times. We should never forget His Son—that He actually took our sins upon Himself and bore the judgment and punishment of them for us. This alone should continually fill our hearts with thanksgiving and praise.

“But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.15:57).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift” (2 Cor.9:15).

“Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Eph.5:20).

“In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you” (1 Th.5:18).

“By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name” (Heb.13:15).

“But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light” (1 Pt.2:9).

“Give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people” (1 Chron.16:8).

“Sing praises to the LORD, which dwelleth in Zion: declare among the people his doings” (Ps.9:11).

“Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High” (Ps.50:14).

“Let the people praise thee, O God; let all the people praise thee” (Ps.67:3).

“Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation” (Ps.68:19).

“It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High” (Ps.92:1).

4. Fourth, pray for others, in particular for their ministry. Be an intercessor for God’s ministers. Remember Paul was in prison, but note that for which he requested prayer. William Barclay points out that Paul could have asked that the church pray for his release, for a not guilty verdict in his upcoming trial (he was not guilty), or for a peaceful end to his life (The Letters to the Philippians, Colossians, and Thessalonians, p.198f). But this is not what he requested. He requested prayer for his ministry. He wanted the believers praying that God would give him...

- opportunity for witnessing—for sharing the mystery or salvation of Christ.
- boldness in witnessing (v.4).

We must always remember that prayer is one of the laws of the universe. Granted, it is a law that is denied by most and ignored by others. Even those who understand it to be one of God’s laws often neglect it. Nevertheless, God has established the spiritual law that He works in response to prayer. Whether we believe it or not, God clearly says that prayer is a law of the universe. Prayer is the law by which He works and moves in behalf of men and their world. Therefore, if we want the blessings of God upon our lives and ministries—if we want the work of God going forth in power and bearing fruit, we must pray for the ministers of the gospel. We must learn to intercede in prayer.

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not. Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts” (Jas.4:1-3).

“And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive” (Mt.21:22).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“He shall call upon me, and I will answer him: I will be with him in trouble; I will deliver him, and honour him” (Ps.91:15).

“Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not” (Jer.33:3).

2 (4:5) Believer, Duty—Witness: walk wisely before people who are without Christ, redeeming the time. Note two significant points.

1. The phrase “them that are without” refers to the unbelievers of the world, those who are walking through life without Christ and God. Think what this means: they are walking...

- without hope beyond this life.
- without assurance of life hereafter with God.
- without help in facing the trials and traumas of this life.
- without peace.
- without security.
- without God’s care and deliverance.
- without fellowship with God and His family of believers.
- without freedom from guilt—no assurance of forgiveness of sins.
- without light—no freedom from the darkness of death and the grave.

Scripture paints a sharp contrast between unbelievers who are without Christ and believers who are within Christ.

“That at that time ye were without Christ...having no hope, and without God in the world: but now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh [near] by the blood of Christ” (Eph.4:12-13).

2. Believers are to walk in wisdom toward those who are without Christ, redeeming or making the best use of their time. To walk wisely means...

- that we walk thoughtfully, figuring out how to live for Christ before the world.
- that we walk righteously and godly.
- that we walk guarding every step.
- that we walk doing good works.

And note: we redeem the time; that is, we seek to grasp every moment to live for Christ before the lost of the world. We always look for opportunities to do good and to let our light shine before men. We try to figure out how to make opportunity to bear witness by the way we live.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

3 (4:6) Believer, Duty—Witness: speak always with grace, answering and sharing what it is that makes your life different. What an expectation God has of us: to be living a life so different and righteous that men ask us what it is that makes us different. How many live a life that is that different? That godly and righteous? Note exactly what is said.

When we are walking among unbelievers, we are to guard our speech and conversation. We are...

- to make sure that we speak with grace (en charita), that is, with kindness, courtesy, and graciousness.
- to season our conversation with salt; that is, we are to flavor and turn the conversation to tasteful and enjoyable subjects and away from corruptible and tasteless subjects.

What happens when this is done is striking: unbelievers will begin to notice our lives and conversation—that we are different in a good and wholesome way. And some will ask us what it is that gives us such peace and security and assurance in life. Then it is that we have a unique opportunity to witness. Then it is that we can reach out and bring in those who are so tragically without Christ, lost and doomed in despair and hopelessness forever.

“But let your communication be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay; for whatsoever is more than these cometh of evil” (Mt.5:37).

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“Sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:8).

“For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body” (Jas.3:2).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

DIVISION VII

CONCLUSION: THE EXAMPLE OF SOME HEROIC CHRISTIAN BELIEVERS, 4:7-18

(4:7-18) Introduction: this is one of the great lists of God's Hall of Fame, some of the heroic Christian believers of history.

1. Tychicus: the believer who served others (v.7-8).
2. Onesimus: the believer who sought to correct his past and to make it right (v.9).
3. Aristarchus: the believer who stood as a companion in trials (v.10).
4. Mark: the believer who redeemed himself (v.10).
5. Justus: the Jewish believer who turned from religion to Christ (v.11).
6. Epaphras: the believer who fervently prayed and worked hard for the believers of his church (v.12-13).
7. Luke: the beloved physician (v.14).
8. Demas: the believer who slipped back (v.14).
9. Nymphas: the believer who kept an open house (v.15-16).
10. Archippus: the believer who was given a special task and needed encouragement (v.17).
11. Paul: the believer who was faithful to the point of suffering imprisonment (v.18).

1 (4:7-8) Tychicus: the believer who served others (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Eph.6:21-22 for discussion).

2 (4:9) Onesimus: the believer who sought to correct his past and make it right. Onesimus was the runaway slave talked about in the Epistle to Philemon. Onesimus had fled from Colosse to Rome. Note what Paul says about him.

1. He was a faithful and beloved brother. He had been led to the Lord either by Paul or some other believer in Rome. In either case, Paul knew Onesimus and knew him well. Paul was able to declare...

- that he was faithful to the Lord. He obeyed the Lord and kept His commandments and faithfully walked in Him day by day and bore testimony to His saving grace.

He was also a beloved brother, a brother in the Lord, who was held so dearly by other Christian believers that he was known as a beloved brother.

2. He was so faithful to Christ and so beloved that he was now "one of you." Remember: he was a slave and some in the Colosse church were wealthy property owners who owned slaves. This is a significant point. There are to be no social distinctions in the Lord's church. The poorest person is to be as welcomed and loved as the richest person.

3. He was returning to Colosse with Tychicus. Why? Because he had broken the law by running away from his master, Philemon, and he wanted to make things right. He had been converted and God had forgiven him all his sins. He wanted Philemon to forgive him as well. (See The Epistle of Philemon for more discussion.)

“Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison” (Mt.5:23-25).

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

3 (4:10) Aristarchus: the believer who stood as a companion in trials. Scripture says the following about Aristarchus:

- ⇒ He was a member of the Thessalonian church, a citizen of Thessalonica (Acts 19:29; 20:4).
- ⇒ He was one of the believers attacked by the violent mob in Ephesus. The citizens were rioting against Christianity because so many people were being converted that it was cutting into the sale of idols made to the goddess Diana. The fact that Aristarchus was one of the believers attacked and dragged before the mob shows that he was a leader and spokesman for Christ (Acts 19:29).
- ⇒ He went with Paul to minister in Asia (Acts 20:4).
- ⇒ He is seen travelling with Paul to Rome after Paul had been arrested and was being transferred to Rome as a prisoner (Acts 27:2).
- ⇒ He is seen as a fellow prisoner with Paul in Rome while Paul was awaiting trial on the charge of treason. Apparently he too was being charged with the same crime (Col.4:10; Phile.24).

The point is that he was a real companion, a companion who stood by the side of his fellow believers through thick and thin. He would never think of deserting his dear friends or the Lord, no matter how difficult the task or terrible the trial. He would face imprisonment and suffer death before he would be a traitor. He was a good man to have around when facing trials, for he would stand by your side.

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

4 (4:10) John Mark: the believer who redeemed himself. Mark had earlier deserted Paul and the ministry (see DEEPER STUDY # 4, John Mark—Acts 12:25; 13:13 for discussion). But note what Paul says to the Colossian church. He tells the church that they are to receive him if he is able to visit them. Apparently, some earlier instructions had been sent to the churches founded by Paul telling them about Mark’s desertion. But now the young man had repented and recommitted his life to Christ. He had redeemed himself; therefore, he was to be welcomed.

Thought 1. When a believer fails and sins, even if it is desertion of Christ, he is to be welcomed back with open arms once he has repented. We must not hold a person’s failure and sin against him. Christ has forgiven us for so much—all of us—therefore we must forgive and welcome our brothers and sisters back into our hearts and lives.

“Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee” (Acts 8:22).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

“Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities” (Ps.51:9).

“I, even I, am he that bloteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

5 (4:11) Justus: the Jewish believer who turned from religion to Christ. Note the word “circumcision”: this means that he was a circumcised Jew who lived in Rome. Jews, of course, were strict religionists. Most of the Jews in Rome rejected Christ and turned a cold shoulder to Paul and his preaching of Christ (cp. Acts 28:17-29). But there were some who turned from religion to Christ (Acts 28:24). Justus was one, and he apparently became so strong in the Lord that he became a close companion of Paul, close enough for Paul to mention him to the Colossians.

Note: Paul says that all believers mentioned so far are Jewish believers, believers who had turned from religion to Christ. They were now working with Paul and other believers—working for the kingdom of God. Note that Paul also says that they had ministered to him personally and were a comfort to him while he was in prison.

Thought 1. It is an absolute essential for those who trust religion to turn to Christ. Religion cannot make a person acceptable to God; only Christ can.

“For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees [religionists], ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.5:20).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

6 (4:12-13) Epaphras: the believer who fervently prayed and worked hard for the believers of his church.

⇒ He was the “minister” of the Colossian church (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was “a faithful minister of Christ” (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was “a servant of Christ” (Col.4:12).

⇒ He was a “fellow servant” who was held ever so dearly to Paul’s heart (Col.1:7).

⇒ He was so committed and dedicated to Christ that Paul called him “my fellowprisoner in Christ Jesus” (Phile.23).

⇒ He was a believer who fervently labored and toiled in prayer for his dear people in Colosse (Col.4:12). He prayed in particular for one thing: that they might be perfect and complete in all the will of God; that is, that they might know the complete or full will of God and do it perfectly.

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

⇒ He was a minister who worked hard for his own church and for all the churches that surrounded him (Col.4:13, Laodicea and Hieropolis). He prayed and prayed much, but he also worked much—so much that his labor was even a testimony to the great minister Paul.

“Jesus saith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that sent me, and to finish his work. Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:34-35).

“I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is day: the night cometh, when no man work” (Jn.9:4).

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain. And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:24-25).

“Whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily” (Col.1:29).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

7 (4:14) Luke: the physician who was beloved by Paul and the church (see Introduction, Author—the Gospel of Luke; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 16:10 for discussion). Note one other fact here in Colossians: Luke is said to be the “beloved physician”—a physician who was endeared to the hearts of believers. Apparently, his medical treatment of believers was diligent, compassionate, warm, and personal. He had an effective ministry for Christ among the believers.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

8 (4:14) Demas: the believer who slipped back (see note, Demas—Phile.24 for discussion).

9 (4:15) Nymphas: the believer who kept an open house and opened his home to the church. Note that Nymphas lived in Laodicea and Paul knew about him and his great testimony for Christ. He was so committed to Christ that he had opened his home to all the believers in the city, allowing them to use his home as the meeting place for the church. Remember: the early church had no buildings; therefore they met in the homes of believers for joint worship and fellowship.

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares” (Heb.13:2).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:15-16) Epistle to the Laodiceans: What is the letter sent to the Laodiceans?

- ⇒ Was it a letter that has been lost?
- ⇒ Was it the Epistle to Philemon?
- ⇒ Was it the Epistle to the Ephesians?

No one knows, and opinions vary as to what the letter was. But note Paul’s instructions to circulate it and the Colossian letters around and among the churches. This is a striking point: it means that the letters of the New Testament are not just casual letters between friends, but are for believers of every generation and for every church. They are the inspired Word of God, and therefore are to be available to all believers to study and to live out the Word day by day.

10 (4:17) Archippus: the believer who was given a special task and needed encouragement. What was the ministry or task assigned to Archippus? We do not know. There is only one other mention of him and that is where Paul calls him his fellowsoldier (Phile.2). Whatever it was it must have been a task equal to the thrust of a military patrol. Military commitment and discipline must have been demanded. This is certainly understandable as the minister launches out to carry the gospel to a lost and ungodly world. Whatever the case with Archippus, he needed to be encouraged; he needed to take heed and complete his ministry.

Thought 1. How many quit and never finish the task and ministry given them? How many...

- need to “take heed” (blepe): to keep their eye on God’s call and not allow the world and its possessions and attacks to defeat them?
- need to “fulfil” (plerois): keep on fulfilling and completing the ministry?

11 (4:18) Paul: the believer who was faithful to the point of suffering imprisonment and possible martyrdom. Paul signs the letter himself. Remember: his wrists were chained so he had to have a secretary write the letter while he dictated it. He simply closes by saying.

- ⇒ “Remember my bonds”—imprisonment; that is, pray for me.
- ⇒ “Grace be with you”—the favor and blessings of God—all of which we do not deserve but which He pours out upon us anyway.

PURPOSE STATEMENT

LEADERSHIP MINISTRIES WORLDWIDE

exists to equip ministers, teachers, and laymen in their understanding, preaching, and teaching of God's Word by publishing and distributing worldwide The Preacher's Outline & Sermon Bible® and related Outline Bible materials, to reach & disciple men, women, boys, and girls for Jesus Christ.

• MISSION STATEMENT •

1. To make the Bible so understandable - its truth so clear and plain - that men and women everywhere, whether teacher or student, preacher or hearer, can grasp its Message and receive Jesus Christ as Savior; and . . .
2. To place the Bible in the hands of all who will preach and teach God's Holy Word, verse by verse, precept by precept, regardless of the individual's ability to purchase it.

The Outline Bible materials have been given to LMW for printing and especially distribution worldwide at/below cost, by those who remain anonymous. One fact, however, is as true today as it was in the time of Christ:

• The Gospel is free, but the cost of taking it is not •

LMW depends on the generous gifts of Believers with a heart for Him and a love and burden for the lost. They help pay for the printing, translating, and placing Outline Bible materials in the hands and hearts of those worldwide who will present God's message with clarity, authority and understanding beyond their own.

LMW was incorporated in the state of Tennessee in July 1992 and received IRS 501(c) 3 non-profit status in March 1994. LMW is an international, nondenominational mission organization. All proceeds from USA sales, along with donations from donor partners, go 100% into underwriting our translation and distribution projects of Outline Bible materials to preachers, church & lay leaders, and Bible students around the world.
