  - the sacrifice for our sins.
  - the covering for our sins.
  - the satisfaction for our sins.
  - the payment for the penalty of our sins.
  - the appeasement of His wrath against sin.

What does the Bible mean by “the blood of Christ”? It means the willingness of Christ to die (shed His blood) for man. It means the supreme sacrifice Christ paid for man’s sins. It means the terrible sufferings Christ underwent for man’s sins. (See note—Mt.20:19.) It means the voluntary laying down of His life for man’s sins (Jn.10:17-18).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation [propitiation] for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins” (1 Jn.4:10).

“And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful [propitious] to me a sinner” (Lk.18:13).

5 (3:25-26) Righteousness—Justification: righteousness has one great purpose—to declare God’s personal righteousness and justice. God is righteous and just; therefore, He always does what is right, and He always acts justly toward all persons. This is the reason He has provided a perfect righteousness for man. It was the thing to do: the right thing and the just thing. He is righteous by nature; therefore, he provided righteousness for man. God’s righteousness is seen in four glorious facts.

1. God’s righteousness is seen in that He forgives sin. Christ died for our sins, and God accepts His death as the propitiation or the sacrifice for our sins. Now note: God did not betray Christ or man; He did not reject Christ’s death. He did not act unjustly and unrighteously. On the contrary, God did what was right. He acted righteously and justly. He accepted the death of Christ as the sacrifice for our sins; therefore, His forgiveness of sins declares that He is righteous.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (Heb.9:22).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

2. God’s righteousness is seen in His forbearance, that is, in His patience and longsuffering with man’s sin. Note a most glorious fact: God did not punish man for His sin by destroying all flesh from off the earth; God waited until Christ came before condemning sin in the flesh. Remember God is perfect righteousness; therefore, He has to provide a perfect righteousness for man “in the flesh.”

⇒ There was no man who could embody perfect righteousness.

⇒ Only God’s Son could and did embody perfect righteousness.

The fact that God waited until Christ came, that God was forbearing in holding back the punishment of sin, shows that God is righteous. God’s righteousness and His justice are declared by His forbearance.

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

3. God's righteousness is seen in His justice. He accepted the death of Christ as the substitute for our sins; He exacted the punishment for sin upon Christ. He did the right and just thing. His righteousness is declared by His justice.

"Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all" (Is.53:4-6).

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

4. God's righteousness is seen in His being the justifier of all who believe. God takes our faith and counts it as righteousness. He takes our faith and judges us acceptable to Him. Now every thinking man knows he is not righteous: not pure, not holy, not sinless. The fact that God accepts the death of Christ as the sacrifice for our sins and justifies us shows a marvelous truth: it shows that God is righteous and just. The fact that God is our Justifier declares His righteousness.

"And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses" (Acts 13:39).

"Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law" (Ro.3:28).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

"And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God" (1 Cor.6:11).

"Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith" (Gal.3:24).

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

B. Faith: The Way that Puts an End to Human Boasting and Pride, to Self-Righteousness and Works, 3:27-31

(3:27-31) Introduction: one of the most powerful forces in all the world is faith. This passage discusses the power of faith, revealing four things that faith does.

1. Faith excludes boasting (v.27).
2. Faith justifies a man without the works of the law (v.28).
3. Faith reveals only one God, who deals with all equally (v.29-30).
4. Faith upholds and establishes the law (v.31).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:27-31) Faith: see notes—Jn.2:24; Ro.10:16-17; Heb.10:38.

1 (3:27) Faith—Boasting—Self-righteousness: faith excludes boasting among men. Boasting is now excluded, eliminated, banished, and made impossible. No man can boast in himself before God. No man can boast in his own righteousness, goodness, merit, or virtue.

What is it that keeps man from boasting and glorying in himself? This is puzzling. Think about it, all the advancements of man...

- the scientific and technological advancements.
- the medical and health advancements.
- the commercial and farming advancements.
- the comfort and recreational advancements.

When man is considered, the power of his mind and all that he is able to produce, it is very difficult for some to understand why man cannot boast in himself. What is it, then, that forbids man to boast in himself? What kind of law would prohibit man from glorying in his ability and achievements?

1. It is not the law of works. The law of works does not exclude boasting; it promotes boasting. When a man looks at what he has done, at the works of his hands, he is led to boast and to glory in himself. A law of works does not discourage boasting, it encourages it. A law of works encourages a man to be selfish, self-centered, prideful, and self-righteous. It causes a man to stand before God and other men and declare that he...

- is more acceptable than others.
- is more deserving than others.
- has achieved more than others.
- is more sufficient than others.
- is more adequate than others.
- has no need beyond himself and this world.

A law of works causes men to be focused upon self. It causes men to center the world around themselves: to look upon themselves as the power that creates and sustains the world, as the power that gives purpose, meaning, and significance to life. A law of works encourages boasting; it does not exclude it.

“Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil” (Jas.4:16).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him” (Ps.49:6-7).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the LORD, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain” (Pr.25:14).

“Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.26:12).

“Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth” (Pr.27:1).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

2. It is the law of faith. The law of faith excludes boasting. Man has to boast in God when man believes what Scripture has just declared (Ro.1:18-3:26)...

- that God is (does exist),
- that God is the creator of the universe and can be known by man,
- that man is short of God’s glory and righteousness,
- that God has provided righteousness for man through faith.

It is God who has created and given man his ability and who has provided righteousness for man. God has provided the way for man to be saved from sin, death, and hell. Therefore, man has to boast in God and not in self, for God is the One who has given man all that he has, both his natural ability and his eternal salvation. It is the law of faith, not the law of works that eliminates boasting.

“That, according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord” (1 Cor.1:31; cp. 2 Cor.10:17).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“That the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:12).

“Ye that fear the LORD, praise him” (Ps.22:23).

“In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever” (Ps.44:8).

“In the LORD shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory” (Is.45:25).

“But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD” (Jer.9:24).

2 (3:28) Faith—Justification: faith justifies a man without the works of the law. This is of extreme importance. A man is justified by faith and not by the deeds of the law. Boasting shows this. Who is to be praised and set up as the subject of glory? Is man the one in whom to boast? Is man the one who is to be glorified? If man had created himself and saved himself from sin and death by his own works and deeds, then he would be the one to be glorified. But what man can do these things? Man did not make himself nor can man save himself. When we consider that man is corruptible, and that man can do nothing beyond this life, then boasting is excluded. Therefore, man is not justified before God by the deeds of the law; he is justified by faith—by believing in God and His righteousness. (See note, Justification—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:22; 5:1 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Despite the great ability and all the marvelous achievements of man, man is still unable to control things morally, unable to live in love, joy, and peace with others. He is unable to control the shame and devastation of selfishness and greed, disease and accident, sin and death. Man’s only hope is to come before God...

- not boasting and glorying in self, but bowing in all humility.
- believing in the law of faith: that God saves and justifies man by believing in the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law” (Ro.3:28).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

3 (3:29-30) God, Nature—Universal Father—Impartial: faith reveals only one God who deals with all equally. (See note, God, Nature—Mk.12:29-31 for more discussion.)

1. God created everyone; therefore, He is the God of all. There is not one god of the Jew (religionist) and another god of the Gentile. There are not different gods of the races and nations of the world, not a different god of Africa and a different god of India, and a different god for arabs, and a different god for Americans and on and on. Imagine the foolishness of such an idea! Yet how common the idea is! There is only one God who created the universe and only one God who is the God of all mankind.

- a. There is only one God who created all things: “One God, the Father of whom are all things and we in Him” (1 Cor.8:6).

- b. There is only one God who has made all men alike: “Who made of one blood every nation of men” (Acts 17:26).
- c. There is only one God “in whom we live and move and have our being” (Acts 17:28).

“And call no man your father [god] upon the earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven” (Mt.23:9).

“One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all” (Eph.4:6).

“Furthermore we have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection unto the Father of spirits, and life?” (Heb.12:9).

“Have we not all one father? hath not one God created us? why do we deal treacherously every man against his brother, by profaning the covenant of our fathers?” (Mal.2:10).

2. God is the only God; therefore, all are justified in the same way—by faith. God does not play favorites and show partiality. God does not make it more difficult for some to be saved. God is God. He is perfectly just and equitable in all His dealings.

- a. There “is [only] one God, who shall justify the circumcision by faith and the uncircumcision through faith” (Ro.3:30).
- b. “There is [only] one God, and one Mediator between God and man, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons” (Acts 10:34).

“And [God] put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith” (Acts 15:9).

“For there is no respect of persons with God” (Ro.2:11).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him” (Ro.10:12-13).

The point is this. When a man trusts God to save him and to count him righteous in Christ, that man’s faith proves...

- that God is, that there is only one true and living God.
- that God treats all men equally; that he, the sinner, is saved just like all other believers.

4 (3:31) Faith—Law: faith upholds and establishes the law. This means at least three things.

1. Jesus Christ established the law. Jesus was everything that God said a man should be. He was the ideal of all that God wants man to be. Therefore, Jesus fulfilled the law perfectly.

But there is something more. Jesus not only fulfilled the statutes of the law; He fulfilled the penalty of the law. He took the penalty and the punishment of man upon Himself and died for man. Man is thereby absolved from the penalty and punishment exacted by the law. Therefore, Jesus established the law by fulfilling both the statutes and penalty demanded by the law. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:17; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.8:3.)

“Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil” (Mt.5:17).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

2. The believer establishes the law when he admits he is a law breaker or a sinner. In so doing, he admits that the law is good. The law is good because it points out his sin (Ro.3:19-20; 5:20; 7:7; Gal.3:19). It makes him guilty and it leads him to confess his need for help outside of himself. But the law is also good because it points man to Christ. It makes man cast himself upon Christ for righteousness. It forces him to believe in God and to honor God. Therefore, the believer’s faith establishes the law.

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made” (Gal.3:19).

“But the scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe....Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:22, 24).

“For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth....That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:4, 9-10).

3. The believer establishes the law (much more than a legalist) because in seeing what Christ has done for him, he is driven to please God. The believer sees Christ bearing the guilt and punishment for his crimes (sins), and then bows in love and adoration, and arises to work in appreciation for such amazing love. The believer tries to be good, not to earn or to win righteousness, but to serve God. He does not try to put God in debt for salvation, but he thanks God for righteousness, seeing that he owes God whatever service he can do. The genuine believer has come to know above all others that love is a much stronger force than fear.

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

C. Logic: The Evidence that Faith Alone Justifies a Man, 4:1-8

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:1-25) Abraham—Jews, the Seed—Justification—Righteousness—New Creation: Abraham held a unique position in the Jewish nation, for he was the founder of the nation. He was the man whom God had challenged to be a witness to the other nations of the world—a witness to the only living and true God. God had appeared to Abraham and challenged him to leave his home, his friends, his employment, and his country. God made two great promises if Abraham would follow God unquestionably: Abraham would become the father of a new nation, and all nations of the earth would be blessed by his seed (Gen.12:1-5; 13:14-17; 15:1-7; 17:1-8, 15-19; 22:15-18; 26:2-5, 24; 28:13-15; 35:9-12). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22.)

Scripture says Abraham did as God requested. He went out not knowing where he went (Heb.11:8). He completely and unquestionably trusted God and took God at His word.

Now note: it was not Abraham's keeping of the law that pleased God. In fact, the law had not yet been given (Gal.3:17). What pleased God and what caused God to justify Abraham was Abraham's doing as God had said. Abraham simply believed the promise of God that God would give him a new life—in a new nation—with a new people. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Gal.3:8, 16; notes—Heb.11:8-10; 11:13-16; 11:17-19.)

Note several things.

1. Abraham and his "seed" were the only ones to whom God gave the promises. This is emphatically stated (Ro.4:13-25; Gal.3:6-16, 26, 29).

2. Only a promise was given to Abraham (Ro.4:13-21; Gal.3:14, 18-21, 29). No other information whatsoever was given. God did not identify the country nor tell Abraham where he was to go. Neither did God tell Abraham when his wife (Sarah) would bear the seed (the male child) from whom the promised nation would be born. God made a simple promise, and all Abraham had to go on was that simple promise: the sheer Word of God.

3. Only one condition was attached to the promise. Abraham had to believe God. No works whatsoever were involved.

4. Abraham did believe God (Gen.12:4-5; Ro.4:3, 11-22; Gal.3:6; Heb.11:8f).

5. Abraham was counted righteous because he believed God (Ro.4:3-5, 9-13, 19-22; Gal.3:6; cp. Gen.15:6). God did not count him righteous because of who he was or what he had done. He simply believed God. Therefore, God took his faith and counted his faith as righteousness (see note—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:22; note—5:1).

6. The proof that Abraham really believed God was that he did what God had said. His faith preceded his obedience. He believed God and then he obeyed God. If he had not believed God, he would not have left his home or his employment. He would not have left his familiar surroundings and meaningful relationships and personal attachments. The fact that he did as God asked was evidence that he believed the promise of God.

7. The man who believes God is the man who receives the promises of God (Ro.4:5-12, 16-17, 23-25; Gal.3:7-9, 14, 22, 26, 29). Paul argues that neither heritage nor nationality, neither merit nor works, neither the law nor the rules of the law have anything to do with the promises of God (Gal.3:6-7). The true children of Abraham are those who believe God—any person of any nation. In fact, God's promise that a nation would be born to Abraham and "his seed" was the promise of an eternal nation. This eternal nation is to be of another world, of another dimension of being: the spiritual dimension, a dimension just as real as the physical dimension. But it is to have one distinction: every citizen is to be a believer—one who has believed God and His Word. This is exactly what this passage is saying: "They who believe are the children of Abraham, the children of God's promise. They are to be blessed along with faithful Abraham. They are to be the citizens of God's Kingdom, of 'the new heavens and the new earth.'" (Cp. Heb.11:8-18; 2 Pt.3:10-14.)

(4:1-8) Introduction: most people think they become acceptable to God by doing the best they can. Most actually believe they secure God's approval by being reasonably good: by being a respectable and upright citizen and by occasionally helping others who are less fortunate. But note a startling fact: a man is not justified by works, but by faith. Logic proves the fact.

1. The logic of Abraham's justification (v.1-3).
2. The logic of the worker or laborer (v.4-5).
3. The logic of David's "blessed man" (v.6-8).

1 (4:1-3) Abraham—Righteousness—Justification—Works vs. Faith: the logic of Abraham's justification. A person can look at Abraham's life and logically see that a man is not justified by works but by faith.

1. Abraham was not justified by works, for works cannot qualify a person to glory before God. Now note this: if Abraham had been justified by works...

- he would be qualified to glory before men.
- but he would not be qualified to glory before God.

Think about it—the logic, the clarity of the matter. No man is ever qualified to glory before God. No act or work or combination of acts and works could ever elevate man to such a height that he could glory or become qualified before God.

2. Abraham was justified by believing God. What happened was this. Abraham believed God, and God took Abraham's belief and counted his belief as righteousness. It was not Abraham's works, but his faith that God took and counted as righteousness. It was all an act of God; therefore, all glory belonged to God, not to Abraham. Man is saved by faith; that is, God takes a man's faith and counts that man's faith as righteousness. Such has to be the case.

- ⇒ God is perfect; He is perfectly righteous. No man can achieve perfection; therefore, no man can live in the presence of God.
- ⇒ However, God is love. So what God does is take a person's faith (any person's faith who is truly sincere) and counts that faith as righteousness, as perfection. Therefore, a man is able to live in God's presence by faith or justification.

"Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity" (Mt.7:22-23).

"Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin" (Ro.3:20).

"Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified" (Gal.2:16).

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph.2:8-9).

"But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost" (Tit.3:4-5).

Thought 1. Why does God justify a man through faith? There are at least two reasons.

First, God loves everyone with a perfect love. God wants everyone to live with Him in a perfect state of being throughout all eternity. God is perfect; therefore, He alone can provide the only perfect way for man to live in His presence. Because God is love, He has reached out for man by providing that perfect way through Jesus Christ, His Son.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved" (Jn.3:16-17).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Ro.5:8).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

Second, God loves His Son with a perfect love. Any person who honors God's Son by believing in Him is accepted by God. That is, God takes that person's belief and counts it as righteousness. The person receives the right to live in God's presence in a perfect state of being. "We have obtained an inheritance...that we should be" (a state of being that is to be eternally lived to the praise of God's glory—Eph.1:11-12).

"While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them: and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him" (Mt.17:5).

“Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I might take it again” (Jn.10:17).

“As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love” (Jn.15:9).

“For the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God” (Jn.16:27).

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them” (Jn.17:26).

“To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved” (Eph.1:6).

“Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son” (Col.1:13).

2 (4:4-5) Works—Righteousness: the logic of the worker or laborer. A person can look at the day to day laborer and logically see that a man is not justified by works but by faith.

1. Works necessitate debt. When a man works, someone owes him something. If a man could work for righteousness, that is, work so that God would owe him righteousness, then God would owe man. But God, being God, is completely self-sufficient; therefore, He cannot be put in debt to any man. He cannot be made or forced to do anything.

2. Believing in God results in righteousness. It is the “ungodly” who believe who are counted righteous (cp. Ro.5:6). This is because the man who admits he is ungodly is the man who rejects self, sensing his need for godly help in spiritual matters. He is ready to give himself up and honor and glorify God alone. Therefore, he centers and wraps his whole life around God, depending solely upon God for righteousness.

Thought 1. God can never turn away from a person who senses and confesses his ungodliness and who wishes to recognize and glorify God. God is love, and God’s love is bound to be moved by so humble an act and faith.

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

The converse teaching of Scripture needs to be remembered: the man who does not admit he is ungodly, who does not reject self and sense the need for godly help is the man declared to be self-sufficient and self-righteous. Therefore, he is pronounced unjustified, not so much because God rejects him as the fact that he has already rejected God.

“He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:18).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6; cp. Mt.7:21).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

3 (4:6-8) Forgiveness—Impute: the logic of David’s blessed man. A person can look at prophecy, at the man described by David and see clearly that justification is not by works but by faith (cp. Ps.32:1-2). Note who the blessed man is.

1. The blessed man is the man who is counted righteous without works. Note the word “impute” (logizomai). It means to reckon, to count, to put to one’s account, to credit, to deposit. Just think for a moment. If God credits and counts a man righteous “without works,” then we know something: Man is not justified by works, but by faith. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Reckon—Ro.6:11 for more discussion.)

Pure logic tells us this. Therefore, the blessed man is the man who has righteousness imputed, credited, counted to him...

- not because of his works,
- but because he believes God, and God loves him so much that He takes the man’s belief and counts it as righteousness.

2. The blessed man is the man whose sins are forgiven and covered. Think for a moment. Lawlessness (sin) exists despite all the works and efforts of men to eliminate it. No matter how hard men try, lawlessness still exists. If lawlessness is to be handled, it has to be handled by God and God alone. He simply has to forgive man's lawlessness (sin).

Now note: logic tells us that if God loves that much, loves enough to simply forgive men for sin, then justification is not by law but by faith.

3. The blessed man is the man whose sins are not imputed or counted against him. (See this note, Impute—pt.1.) Note: it is not the acts of men, but the act of God that justifies men and does not count sin against them. A man cannot justify himself before God. No man can free himself from sin and force God to accept him—not by his own hand. Justification—complete deliverance from sin and condemnation—comes from God and from God alone, not from some act of man. Therefore, logic tells us that it is not works that justifies a man, but faith.

“Thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back” (Is.38:17).

“I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy transgressions, and, as a cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee” (Is.44:22).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“But he, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity, and destroyed them not: yea, many a time turned he his anger away, and did not stir up all his wrath” (Ps.78:38).

“Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people, thou hast covered all their sin” (Ps.85:2).

“Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases” (Ps.103:3).

“As far as the east is from the west, so far hath he removed our transgressions from us” (Ps.103:12).

“But there is forgiveness with thee, that thou mayest be feared” (Ps.130:4).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

“For I delivered unto thee first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

D. Rituals, Rules, and Ordinances: The Wrong Way for a Man to Seek Justification, 4:9-12

(4:9-12) Introduction—Religionists: most people are religious in the sense that they keep some religious ordinances, rituals, and rules. This is both good and bad: good in the sense that rituals cause a person to think about some higher being, and bad in the sense that rituals are usually thought to be the way a person becomes acceptable to God. The present passage is as clear as can be: ritual is the wrong way for a man to seek acceptance and justification with God.

1. Who receives the blessing of forgiveness (v.9)?
2. Abraham was counted righteous when he believed (v.9).
3. Abraham was counted righteous before circumcision, that is, before the ritual (v.10).
4. Abraham received circumcision as a sign or symbol only (v.11).
5. Abraham was chosen by God for a twofold purpose (v.11-12).

1 (4:9) Evangelism—Gospel—Forgiveness—Religion: who receives the blessing of forgiveness? The word “blessedness” or “blessing” refers back to the blessed man just discussed (Ro.4:6-8). The blessed man is the man who is justified by faith...

- who is counted righteous without works.
- whose sins are forgiven and covered.
- whose sins are not counted against him.

Such a man is greatly blessed, blessed beyond imagination. But note a critical question. Is the blessing of forgiveness intended...

- for the circumcised only, or for the uncircumcised also?
- for the Jew only, or for the non-Jew (Gentile) also?
- for the religious only, or for the non-religious also?
- for the baptized only, or for the unbaptized also?
- for the saved only, or for the unsaved also?
- for the church member only, or for the unchurched also?
- for the interested only, or for the disinterested also?

Is the blessing of forgiveness—of being justified by faith alone—for only a few people or for all people everywhere? Abraham’s experience illustrates the truth for us.

2 4:9) Reckoned—Abraham: Abraham was counted righteous when he believed. His faith was “reckoned” for righteousness. The word “reckoned” (elogisthe) means to credit, to count, to deposit, to put to one’s account, to impute. Abraham’s faith was counted for righteousness or credited as righteousness (see notes, Justification—Ro.4:1-3; 4:6-8; DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—4:22; 5:1 for more discussion).

Note that Abraham was justified or counted righteous by faith; he was not justified...

- by being religious.
- by performing good deeds.
- by doing some good work.
- by being good and virtuous.
- by submitting to a ritual.
- by joining some body of believers.

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

“God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?” (Heb.2:4).

3 (4:10) Ritual—Justification: Abraham was counted righteous before the ritual, that is, before circumcision. This is a crucial point and it is clearly seen. Abraham made his decision to follow God at least fourteen years before he was circumcised. The story of Abraham believing the promises of God is a dramatic picture (cp. Gen.15:1-6, esp 5-6). Scripture clearly says, “He believed in the Lord, and the Lord counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6). But the story of his circumcision is two chapters and fourteen years later (Gen.17:9f). He was counted righteous long before he underwent any ritual. His righteousness—his being accepted by God—did not depend upon a ritual; it depended upon his faith and his faith alone. God did not count Abraham righteous because of circumcision, not because of...

- a ritual
- a ceremony
- an ordinance
- a good work
- a good deed
- a religious life
- a moral life

God accepted Abraham and counted him righteous because he believed God and His promises.

4 (4:11) Circumcision—Baptism—Ritual—Faith vs. Works: Abraham received circumcision as a sign or symbol only. Circumcision was not the road into God’s presence; it was not what made Abraham acceptable to God. Circumcision did not confer righteousness on him; it only confirmed that he was righteous. Circumcision did not convey righteousness on him; it only bore testimony that he was righteous.

Note that circumcision was both a sign and a seal. (See note, Circumcision—Ph.3:3 for more discussion.) Circumcision was...

- a sign of celebration: it was a picture of the joy that the believer experienced in being counted righteous by God.
- a sign of witness: the believer was testifying that he now believed and trusted God.
- a sign of a changed life and a separated life: the believer was proclaiming that he was going to live for God, to live a righteous and pure life that was wholly separated to God.
- a sign of identification: the believer was declaring that he was now joining and becoming one of God’s people.
- a sign pointing toward Christ’s baptism.

Circumcision was a seal in that it stamped God’s justification upon Abraham’s mind. Abraham had believed God, and God had counted his faith as righteousness. Circumcision was given as a seal or a stamp upon his body to remind him that God had counted him righteous through belief. Circumcision was a seal in that it...

...what God had done for Abraham. Now note. The Bible never says that rites, rituals, or ordinances bestow anything on anyone. They are merely signs of something that has already taken place. They are merely shadows, not the substance (Col.2:16-17).

This is not to take away from the importance of rites and rituals. They are extremely important, for they are the signs and seals of the Christian believer’s faith. To neglect or to reject a rite given by God is to be disobedient, and to be disobedient is a clear sign that one was never sincere in the first place. A person who believes, who truly trusts God, is ready to obey God, to follow Him even in the rites, rituals, and ordinances of the church. We must always remember that Abraham was not saved by the ritual of circumcision, for circumcision had not yet been given by God as a sign.

Very simply said, if circumcision had existed when Abraham first believed God, then Abraham would have been circumcised immediately. He would have obeyed God. How do we know this? Because Abraham truly believed God, and when a man believes God, he immediately begins to do what God says.

Thought 1. Circumcision and all other rituals are a matter of the heart, not a matter of being spiritually cleansed by physical and material substances.

“For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh: but he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God” (Ro.2:28-29).

“In whom [Christ] also ye are circumcised with the circumcision made without hands, in putting off the body of the sins of the flesh by the circumcision [operation, cutting away] of Christ” (Col.2:11).

“Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and be no more stiffnecked” (Dt.10:16).

“And the LORD thy God will circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, to love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live” (Dt.30:6).

Thought 2. This is a strong message on baptism for New Testament believers. A true believer should be baptized immediately upon believing. Baptism should be the first step of obedience in the believer's new life in Christ. (See notes, Baptism—Lk.3:21; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 2:38 for more discussion.)

“And Jesus answering said unto him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he suffered him” (Mt.3:15).

“He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned” (Mk.16:16).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead” (Col.2:12).

5 (4:11-12) Abraham—Ritual—Salvation—Faith vs. Works: Abraham was chosen by God for a twofold purpose. Before looking at the purposes, note that Abraham is said to have a unique relationship to the world. He is seen not as a mere private individual, but as a public man, a representative man of the human race, a pivotal figure in human history. He is seen as the “father” of all who believe God, as the head of the household of faith. God chose Abraham for two specific purposes.

1. Abraham was chosen that he might be the “father” of all believers regardless of ritual and ordinance. Abraham was chosen by God to be the father of faith to all—all the ungodly and heathen of the world—who repent and believe Jesus Christ to be their Lord and Savior. No matter how uncircumcised, unbaptized, irreligious, immoral and unclean a person is, he has a father in the faith, a father to follow. Abraham is...

- the pattern
- the picture
- the example
- the standard
- the father

...of faith to all the lost of the world. A person...

- does not have to begin to go to church before God will save him.
- does not have to get religious before God will accept him.
- does not have to be baptized or ritualized before God will forgive his sins.

What he has to do is believe God and believe God's promises. When he bows in humble faith and believes, two things happen:

- ⇒ immediately God counts his faith as righteousness.
- ⇒ immediately he arises and is baptized and begins to keep all the commandments and rituals and ordinances of God.

“And Jesus answering said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance” (Lk.5:31-32).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

2. Abraham was chosen that he might be the “father” of the circumcised, of the religious who “follow in the steps of Abraham's faith.” Note: it is not being...

- circumcised
- baptized
- moral
- ritualized
- religious
- good and virtuous

...that justifies a religious person. It is “walking in the steps” of Abraham's faith that causes God to accept the religious person.

The religionist cannot earn, merit, or work his way into God's presence and righteousness. He can only trust God for the righteousness of Jesus Christ (see note and DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.3:24; note—3:25; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:22; 5:1 for more discussion).

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:2-4).

“For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:10).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

E. Law: The Wrong Way for a Man to be Justified, 4:13-16

(4:13-16) Introduction: a man is not justified by the law and its works. The law is the wrong way for a man to seek acceptance and justification by God.

1. The unmistakable statement: the promise is not through the law, but through faith (v.13).
2. The argument against the law (v.14-15).
3. The argument for faith (v.16).

1 (4:13) Promise, The—Faith vs. Law—Righteousness—Reward: the unmistakable statement—the promise of the inheritance is not through the law, but through faith. Note several things.

1. The promise involves inheriting the whole world. This is clear from several facts.
  - a. Canaan was the promised land, a type of heaven and a type of the new heavens and earth God is to recreate for Abraham and his seed (the believer). (See note, Promised Land—Acts 7:2-8 for more discussion.)

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith. For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect” (Ro.4:13-14).

“By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:8-10).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country....But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-14, 16).

“But ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels” (Heb.12:22).

“For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come” (Heb.13:14).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

- b. Abraham was promised that he would be the “father” of many nations. He is said to be the father of all believers from all nations of the earth (v.11-12). He and his seed (believers) are promised a new world when Christ returns.
- c. Christ is to inherit the world and be exalted as the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, ruling and reigning forever and ever.
  - ⇒ Abraham and his seed (believers) are said to be heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ.

ROMANS 4:13-16

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

They shall all reign with Christ through all eternity. (See notes, Reward—Mt.19:28; Lk.16:10-12; Rev.14:13; 21:24-27.)

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory: and before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:31-32).

“And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end” (Lk.1:33).

“For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet” (1 Cor.15:25).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea. And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful. And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son” (Rev.21:1-7).

“Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this” (Is.9:7).

“Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth” (Jer.23:5).

“And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed” (Dan.7:14).

2. The “seed” of Abraham refers to all believers. This is clear from the promise that is said to be “sure to all the seed” (v.16). Every true believer is an heir of the promise. If a man believes, he receives the most glorious promise: he will inherit the world.

“Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth” (Mt.5:5).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

3. God does not give the promise through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.

a. A man will not receive an inheritance in the new world because he...

- tried to keep the law.
- did some great works.
- lived by good deeds.
- was baptized and joined a church.
- was moral and very religious.

b. A man will receive an inheritance in the new world because he...

- believed God for righteousness, and God took his belief and counted it for righteousness.

The point is clearly seen, and it is unmistakable:

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“To him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness” (Ro.4:5).

“The promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not...through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

2 (4:14-15) Law—Faith vs. the Law: the argument against the law. The promise of the inheritance does not come through the law. Three facts about the law show this.

1. Law voids faith; it erases any hope of ever receiving the promise. The reason can be simply stated: law demands perfection; law insists that it be obeyed. Law cries out, “violate and break me and you become guilty and condemned and are to be punished.”

No man can live perfectly righteous before God; no man can keep from coming short and breaking the law of God at some point. Therefore every man is a lawbreaker, imperfect and short of God’s glory, and is to be condemned and punished.

- a. If the promise of God’s inheritance is by law, then no man shall inherit the promise, for the promise is given only to the righteous; and no man is perfectly righteous. This, of course, means something. If the promise is by law, then no man has hope of ever receiving the promise, for he does not and cannot keep the law. The law erases the promise, makes it of no effect or value whatsoever.
- b. If the promise of God’s inheritance is by law, then faith is voided and has absolutely nothing to do with securing the promise. A man would have to keep his mind and eyes, and most tragic of all, his heart upon the law, for it would be the law that would determine whether or not the man received the promise. Faith would not be entering the picture; it would be voided, irrelevant, having nothing to do with receiving the promise.

“Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God” (Ro.3:19).

“For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh” (Ro.8:3).

“For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live unto God” (Gal.2:19).

“For the law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope did; by the which we draw nigh unto God” (Heb.7:19).

- c. This point is often overlooked. If the promise of God’s inheritance comes by the law, then receiving the promise would have nothing to do with faith, nothing to do with...
  - trusting the love of God.
  - learning and knowing the love of God.
  - focusing one’s mind and thoughts upon God.
  - knowing God’s Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

If God accepted us and gave us the promise of inheritance because we kept the law, then we would have to focus our lives upon the law. Believing and loving God and knowing God’s Son would have nothing to do with our salvation. The law would force us to seek God by keeping the law. Faith would have nothing to do with the promise. The law would void faith and make useless and ineffective the love of God and the Son of God.

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:8-9).

2. Law works wrath in three terrible ways.

a. Law shouts out at a man, “Break me and you become guilty, condemned, and are to be punished.” Such is antagonistic and stirs and aggravates anger and wrath. When God is seen as a legalistic Person who hovers over us, watching every move we make, there is a tendency to view God as stringent, demanding, condemnatory, upset, angry, vengeful and full of wrath against us. Why? Because we fail and come short ever so often. Therefore if God is legalistic, then He is hovering over us, and not a single one of us is going to inherit the promise. We are guilty and to be judged, and we are not going to be rewarded with an inheritance. Therefore, law works wrath between God and man; it keeps a man from being acceptable to God and from ever receiving the promise of God.

b. Law works wrath in that it keeps a man tied up in knots, under pressure and tension, and in a strain. The man who works to do the law struggles to do the right thing and guards against doing the wrong thing. He fights to avoid all the evil he can, wondering and worrying if he is ever doing enough to be acceptable to God.

Such a life is not full of love, joy, and peace. There is no sense of purpose, meaning, and significance, no sense of completeness and fulfillment. Such a life is filled with uneasiness and turmoil, uncertainty and insecurity. Such a life of legalism works wrath: it keeps tension between God and man and establishes and builds a strained and uneasy relationship.

- c. Law works wrath in that it causes a man to focus his life upon the law and not upon God. His mind and attention and thoughts are...
  - upon keeping the rules, not upon trusting God.
  - upon watching where he steps, not upon drawing near God.
  - upon avoiding errors, not upon learning the truth of God.
  - upon observing certain rituals, not upon fellowshiping with God.
  - upon practicing religion, not upon worshipping God.

“And the commandment, which was ordained to life, I found to be unto death. For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me” (Ro.7:10-11).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“And the law is not of faith: but, The man that doeth them shall live in them” (Gal.3:12).

“Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace” (Gal.5:4).

3. Law means transgression. There are three reasons for this.

- a. If no law exists, there is no law to break; therefore, there is no transgression. But if there is a law, then breaking the law begins to exist; transgression becomes a reality, a living fact. Where there is no law, there is no transgression; where there is law, there is transgression. The point is this: the man who seeks God’s acceptance by keeping the law lives in a world of transgression, of breaking the law and coming short of God’s glory. The law means transgression, that a man fails and comes short of God’s acceptance; therefore, it means that the legalist is guilty and condemned and is not to receive the promise of God.
- b. When a law exists, there is an urge within man to stretch it to its limits and to break it. This is one of the paradoxes of human nature. Man has that within himself, an unregulated urge...
  - not to be regulated
  - not to be ordered around
  - not to be restricted
  - not to be governed
  - not to be ruled
  - to seek his own desires
  - to do as he pleases
  - to fill his fleshly passions
  - to fulfill his urges
  - to see, have, hold, and get more

When a law exists, it tells a man he can go this far and no farther. He must not go beyond this limit or he becomes a lawbreaker, a transgressor (cp. a speed sign). The law actually pulls a man to go that far. It is within his nature to go to the limit, to do as much as he can. The urge within his nature even stirs him to stretch the law and to go beyond its limits.

- ⇒ The grass on the other side looks greener.
- ⇒ The melon on the other side of the fence is juicier.
- ⇒ The stolen fruits are sweeter.
- ⇒ The forbidden is more appealing.
- ⇒ The unknown is more exciting.

When the law exists, there is transgression. Every man becomes guilty and is to be condemned and punished, not rewarded with the promise.

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead” (Ro.7:8).

- c. When a law exists, it becomes an accuser, an antagonist. It shouts, “Break me and you become a lawbreaker and are to be condemned and punished.” Now note: the law has no power to keep a person from transgressing; it can only shout: “Transgression!” The law is...
  - not a power to save, but a rule to control and condemn.
  - not a savior, but a judge.

This is the very problem with the law.

- ⇒ It can only accuse; it cannot deliver.
- ⇒ It can only point out sin; it cannot save from sin.
- ⇒ It can only show a man where he failed; it cannot show him how to keep from failing.
- ⇒ It can only condemn; it has no power to free.

The man who tries to live by law is left hopeless and helpless, for he transgresses and becomes a lawbreaker. He is to be condemned, never receiving the inheritance of God’s promise.

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound” (Ro.5:20).

“I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet” (Ro.7:7).

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made” (Gal.3:19).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

3 (4:16) Faith—Promise—Grace: the argument for faith. The promise of the inheritance comes through faith. Three facts about faith show this.

1. Faith brings grace. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15 for more discussion.) Grace (charis) means a gift, a free gift, a gift given without expecting anything in return. It means favor, approval, acceptance, goodwill, assistance, help, kindness—all freely given and given without expecting anything in return.

Picture the scene of a man broken over his sin. He may be a mild sinner or the worst sinner on earth, yet he comes to God. He...

- falls to his knees.
- confesses his sin.
- confesses his inadequacy to save himself.
- cries for God to have mercy and to forgive his sin.
- thanks God that He does forgive sin.
- praises God for answering his prayer and forgiving his sin.

Now, who is the Savior, the Deliverer, the Subject who deserves the praise and the honor and the glory? The answer is obvious: God. God is the center of the picture. This is the very reason salvation and all its promises are by grace through faith. Grace puts God in the center. And when a man makes God the center of his life, casting himself completely upon God and putting all his faith and trust in God, God is bound to hear and answer the man. Why? Because the man is honoring God completely, and the man who honors God is always acceptable and heard by God.

Now note: when a man really believes God, his faith brings the grace of God to him. It causes him to focus upon God, to center his life upon the love of God, to see the presence of God, to secure the fellowship and companionship of God, to know the love, joy, peace, care and concern of God. Simply stated, it causes a man to seek a personal relationship with God, a relationship of trust and dependence. Such is the life of grace, the grace that is given to man by faith. It is faith that honors and praises and glorifies God, and because it does, it brings the grace of God to man.

“Not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto thy name give glory, for thy mercy, and for thy truth’s sake” (Ps.115:1).

“But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they” (Acts 15:11).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9; cp. Ro.3:24; 5:15; 11:6; Eph.2:4-10).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men” (Tit.2:11).

2. Faith makes the promise sure. This is seen in the above point. When God is honored and made the center and focus of one’s life and trust, that person can rest assured God will accept him and give him the promise of the inheritance. That man will inherit the earth.

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

3. Faith assures that the promise is for everyone, that it is available to all. The promise is not given to an exclusive club of people, to an exclusive nation or race or class of people. The promise is given to all, to every person on earth. If the promise was by law, then it would be only for those who have the law and are able to keep the law. What then would happen to the heathen who do not have the law and to the handicapped who are unable to do some of the things the law commands? They could never be saved if the promise came by the law. However, when the promise is given by the grace of God through faith, no man is exempt from the inheritance. Every man can be saved and inherit the promise of eternal life in the new heavens and earth, for every man can believe and trust God (the very thing that even a human father wants of his children).

“Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away” (Lk.21:33).

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us” (Heb.6:18).

“Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations” (Dt.7:9).

“The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure” (Ps.111:7).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

F. Abraham: The Example of a Man Justified by Faith Alone, 4:17-25

(4:17-25) Introduction: Abraham is the prime example or pattern that a person is justified by faith and by faith alone.

1. The source of Abraham's faith (v.17).
2. The strength of Abraham's faith (v.18-22).
3. The recording of Abraham's faith (v.23-25).

1 (4:17) Faith, Source: the source of Abraham's faith was God and God alone. Note three points.

1. It was God Himself whom Abraham believed: "I have made thee a father of many nations" (v.17; cp. Gen.17:1-5, esp. 4-5). Abraham had never had a son, not by Sarah. He was now about one hundred years old, and Sarah was close to the same age. They were both well beyond the years of having a son. Just think about it for a moment and the impossibility is clearly realized. If Abraham was ever to have a son, the son would have to come from God. God would have to be the source, for only God could do such an impossible thing. And note: despite the impossibility Abraham believes God. The source of Abraham's faith was God.

"Have faith in God" (Mk.11:22).

"But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb.11:6).

2. It was the God who quickens the dead whom Abraham believed. The source of Abraham's faith was...
  - the living and true God: the God who is omnipotent, possessing all power, the power to breathe life into dead matter.

The source of Abraham's faith was God: God who has the power to quicken, make alive, revive, animate, rejuvenate and animate what is dead. No matter how impossible the promise seemed, God was able to fulfill it because He is God, the One who possesses all power (omnipotent). God is able to quicken and resurrect the dead; therefore, He is able to fulfill His promise.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead [spiritually dead] shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live" (Jn.5:24-25).

"And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day" (Jn.6:40).

"There shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust" (Acts 24:15).

"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive" (1 Cor.15:22).

"Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you" (2 Cor.4:14).

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first" (1 Th.4:16).

3. It was the God who creates who was the source of Abraham's faith. Because God is God, that is, omnipotent, He is able to create. He can make something out of nothing. He needs nothing to create. He can speak things into existence just as He did when He created the world (Gen.1:1, 3). Abraham believed this; he believed that if it was necessary God could create life in the organs of his and Sarah's bodies. Abraham trusted and believed the promise of God. God was the source of his faith.

Thought 1. Note a fact often overlooked. Every promise made by God is a promise that only He can fulfill. He is not needed if man can meet and do whatever is needed. Therefore, if a man puts his faith in men, then all the hopes and promises that extend beyond this life will not be met. No man can fulfill the hope and promise of salvation from sin, death, and hell. No man can fulfill the promise that we shall be "the heirs of the world," that we shall receive eternal life in the new heavens and earth (cp. v.13). Only God can fulfill the impossible promise of eternal life.

"But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, With men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible" (Mt.19:26).

"For with God nothing shall be impossible" (Lk.1:37).

"I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee" (Job 42:2).

2 (4:18-22) Faith—Abraham: the strength of Abraham's faith. Note two very significant lessons.

1. Abraham's faith was in what God said, the promise of a seed or of a son. He had nothing else to go on but God's Word: "that which was spoken."

The phrase "against hope believed in hope" means that Abraham was past hope, beyond all human help and any possibility of having a son. His situation was beyond hope, yet he believed God; he placed his hope in God and in what God had said.

a. Abraham was not weak in faith despite thinking about his own physical inability. His body was "now dead"; he and Sarah were about one hundred years old. The word "dead" is a perfect participle in the Greek which means that his reproductive organs had stopped functioning and were dead forever and could never again function. Abraham could never have a son; it was not humanly possible. He and Sarah were almost one hundred years old, now sexually "dead."

Abraham thought about the matter. The word "considered" (katanoeo) means he fixed his thoughts, his mind, his attention upon the matter. But he did not give in to the thoughts. He was not weak in faith.

Thought 1. Just imagine the personal relationship Abraham must have had with God! To know God so well—loving and trusting God so strongly—that God could give him an experience so meaningful that Abraham would believe the promise without even staggering in faith.

"Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me" (Is.43:10).

"And thou shalt love the LORD thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Dt.6:5).

"And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear [trust] the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, to keep the commandments of the LORD, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?" (Dt.10:12-13).

b. Abraham was strong in faith—not staggering at the promise of God. Instead he walked about glorifying and praising God for His glorious promise. The word "staggered" (diakrino) means he did not waiver, did not vacillate, did not question God's ability to fulfill His promise.

c. Abraham was fully convinced of God's ability and God's power. He knew God could overcome the difficulty of his body being "dead," and he believed God could and would either...

- quicken his body, or
- recreate his reproductive organs (v.17).

He did not know what method God would use, but he knew God was able to do what He had promised. Abraham believed God; he was fully persuaded that the promise would be fulfilled.

"God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham" (Lk.3:8).

"Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me" (Acts 27:25).

"He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God; and being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform" (Ro.4:20-21).

"Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations" (Dt.7:9).

“Now therefore write ye this song for you, and teach it the children of Israel: put it in their mouths, that this song may be a witness for me against the children of Israel” (Dt.31:19).

“Commit thy way unto the LORD; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass” (Ps.37:5).

“Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding” (Pr.3:5).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

“Blessed is the man that trusteth in the LORD, and whose hope the LORD is” (Jer.17:7).

2. Abraham’s faith was credited as righteousness (see DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(4:22) Imputed (elogisthe): means to reckon, to credit, to count, to compute, to ascribe, to deposit, to put to one’s account. Abraham’s faith was counted for righteousness. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Reckon—Ro.6:11 for a fuller discussion.) Abraham deposited his faith with God, and God credited Abraham’s faith as righteousness.

(4:22) Justification—Faith—Righteousness: in simple terms justification means that God takes the believer’s faith and counts it as righteousness (Ro.4:3; cp. Gen.15:6; see notes—Ro.4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25; note—5:1. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 4, Cross—Jn.12:32 for more discussion.)

When a person really believes that Jesus Christ is his Savior, God takes that person’s faith and counts it for righteousness (Ro.4:3, 5, 9, 11, 22, 24). The person is not righteous; he has no righteousness of his own. He is still imperfect, still sinful, still corruptible, still short of God’s glory as a sinful human being. But he does believe that Jesus Christ is his Savior. Such belief honors God’s Son (whom God loves very much), and because it honors God’s Son, God accepts that person’s faith for righteousness. God counts that person’s faith as righteousness. Therefore, that person becomes acceptable to God. (In a discussion of justification, a person’s belief—the right kind of belief—is critical. See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.2:24; Ro.10:16-17.)

“And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

3 (4:23-25) Faith—Abraham: the recording of Abraham’s faith is for two purposes.

1. That men might read the account. It was not recorded just to honor Abraham as a great man. It was written so that we might read and understand how we are to become acceptable to God.

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life; (For the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us;) that which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:1-3).

“It seemed good to me [Luke] also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write unto thee in order, most excellent Theophilus, that thou mightest know the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast been instructed” (Lk.1:3-4).

2. That men might be counted righteous by believing. It is necessary to believe two things. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3—Ro.4:25 for discussion.)

a. That God raised Jesus our Lord from the dead (see DEEPER STUDY # 3, Jesus Christ, Resurrection—Ro.4:25; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 4—2:24; note—2:25-36 for more discussion).

b. That Jesus died for our sins and was raised again for our justification (see notes—Ro.7:4; DEEPER STUDY # 2—8:3; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 1:3; DEEPER STUDY # 3—2:23; note—3:13-15. See Subject Index, Jesus Christ, Death for more discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(4:25) Justification—Jesus Christ, Death; Resurrection—Propitiation: Christ was delivered to death for our sins and raised again for our justification. He offered Himself as a propitiation for our sin. Propitiation means sacrifice, covering. (See notes—Ro.3:25; 1 Jn.2:1-2.) Christ offered Himself as our sacrifice, as our substitute, as the covering for our sins. God accepted the offering and the sacrifice of His life for us. The resurrection proves it.

1. The resurrection shouts loudly and clearly that God is satisfied with the settlement for sin which Christ made.
2. The resurrection declares the believer justified, free from sin, and righteous in God's eyes. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22; 5:1. Cp.Ro.4:5; 4:1-3; 4:1-25.)

“Him, being delivered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, ye have taken, and by wicked hands have crucified and slain: whom God hath raised up, having loosed the pains of death: because it was not possible that he should be holden of it” (Acts 2:23-24).

“He [David] seeing this before spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soul was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption. This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses” (Acts 2:31-32).

“And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Jews, and in Jerusalem; whom they slew and hanged on a tree: him God raised up the third day, and showed him openly; not to all the people, but unto witnesses chosen before of God, even to us, who did eat and drink with him after he rose from the dead” (Act 10:39-41).

“But God raised him from the dead” (Acts 13:30).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“[God's power] which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come” (Eph.1:20-21).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

G. God's Unbelievable Love (Part I): The Results of Justification, 5:1-5

(5:1-5) Introduction: man is blessed by God through justification, blessed beyond all imagination. Justification and its results are gloriously covered in this passage of Scripture.

1. Justification is by faith (v.1).
2. There is peace with God (v.1).
3. There is access into the grace, the favor and the presence of God (v.2).
4. There is hope for the glory of God (v.2).
5. There is glory in trials and sufferings (v.3-5).
6. There is the continuous experience of God's love through the indwelling Spirit (v.5).

1 (5:1) Justification (diakioun): to count someone righteous. It means to reckon, to credit, to account, to judge, to treat, to look upon as righteous. It does not mean to make a man righteous. All Greek verbs which end in "oun" mean not to make someone something, but merely to count, to judge, to treat someone as something.

There are three major points to note about justification.

1. Why justification is necessary:
  - a. Justification is necessary because of the sin and alienation of man. Man has rebelled against God and taken his life into his own hands. Man lives as he desires...
    - fulfilling the lust of the eyes and of the flesh.
    - clinging to the pride of life and to the things of the world.
 Man has become sinful and ungodly, an enemy of God, pushing God out of his life and wanting little if anything to do with God. Man has separated and alienated himself from God.
  - b. Justification is necessary because of the anger and wrath of God. "God is angry with the wicked every day" (Ps.7:11). Sin has aroused God's anger and wrath. God is angry over man's...
    - rebellion                      • ungodliness                      • sin
    - hostility                      • unrighteousness                      • desertion
 Man has turned his back upon God, pushing God away and having little to do with Him. Man has not made God the center of his life; man has broken his relationship with God. Therefore, the greatest need in man's life is to discover the answer to the question: How can the relationship between man and God be restored?
2. Why God justifies a man: God justifies a man because of His Son Jesus Christ. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness. The man is not righteous, but God considers and credits the man's faith as righteousness. Why is God willing to do this?
  - a. God is willing to justify man because He loves man that much. God loves man so much that He sent His Son into the world and sacrificed Him in order to justify man (Jn.3:16; Ro.5:8).
  - b. God is willing to justify man because of what His Son Jesus Christ has done for man.
    - ⇒ Jesus Christ has secured the Ideal righteousness for man. He came to earth to live a sinless and perfect life. As Man He never broke the law of God; He never went contrary to the will of God, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, and the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for the righteousness of every man.
    - ⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to die for man. As the Ideal Man He could take all the sins of the world upon Himself and die for every man. His death could stand for every man. He exchanged places with man by becoming the sinner (2 Cor.5:19). He bore the wrath of God against sin, bearing the condemnation for every man. Again, He was able to do this because He was the Ideal Man, and as the Ideal Man His death could stand for the death of every man.
    - ⇒ Jesus Christ came into the world to arise from the dead and thereby to conquer death for man. As the Ideal Man, His resurrection and exaltation into the presence of God could stand for every man's desperate need to conquer death and to be acceptable to God. His resurrected life could stand for the resurrected life of the believer.

Now, as stated above, when a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man’s belief and...

- counts it as the righteousness (perfection) of Christ. The man is counted as righteous in Christ.
- counts it as the death of Christ. The man is counted as having already died in Christ, as having already paid the penalty for sin in the death of Christ.
- counts it as the resurrection of Christ. The man is counted as already having been resurrected in Christ.

Very simply, God loves His Son Jesus Christ so much that He honors any man who honors His Son by believing on Him. He honors the man by taking the man’s faith and counting (crediting) it as righteousness and by giving him the glorious privilege of living with Christ forever in the presence of God.

3. How God justifies a man: the word justify (diakioun) is a legal word taken from the courts. It pictures man on trial before God. Man is seen as having committed the most heinous of crimes; he has rebelled against God and broken his relationship with God. How can he restore that relationship? Within human courts if a man is acquitted, he is declared innocent, but this is not true within the Divine Court. When a man appears before God, he is anything but innocent; he is utterly guilty and condemned accordingly.

But when a man sincerely trusts Christ, then God takes that man’s faith and counts it as righteousness. By such God counts the man—judges him, treats him—as if he was innocent. The man is not made innocent; he is guilty. He knows it and God knows it, but God treats him as innocent. “God justifies the ungodly”—an incredible mercy, a wondrous grace. (See notes—Ro. 4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:22.)

How do we know this? How can we know for sure that God is like this? Because Jesus said so. He said that God loves us. We are sinners, yes; but Christ said that we are very, very dear to God.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God; being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:23-24).

“For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness” (Ro.4:3).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“For he that is dead [counted dead, justified] is freed from sin” (Ro.6:7).

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth” (Ro.8:33).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

2 (5:1) Peace—Justification: the first result of justification is peace with God.

1. The meaning of peace with God is striking. Peace with God does not mean escapsim, a quiet atmosphere, the absence of trouble, the control of situations by positive thinking, the denial of problems, the ability to keep from facing reality. Peace with God means the sense and knowledge...

- that one has restored his relationship with God.
- that one is no longer alienated and separated from God.
- that one is now reconciled with God.
- that one is now accepted by God.
- that one is freed from the wrath and judgment of God.
- that one is freed from fearing God’s wrath and judgment.
- that one is now pleasing God.
- that one is at peace with God.

2. The source of peace is Jesus Christ. Men can have peace with God only because of Jesus Christ. It is He who reconciles men to God. He has made peace by the blood of His cross. (See notes, Propitiation—Ro.3:25.)

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us; having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace” (Eph.2:14-15).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

3. The reason we have peace is the glorious truth of justification (see note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for discussion. See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Ro.4:1-25; note—4:1-3; DEEPER STUDY # 2—4:22 for more discussion.)

3 (5:2) Access—Grace: the second result of justification is access into the grace of God.

1. Grace (charis) means a gift or a favor, an unmerited and undeserved gift or favor (see notes, Grace—Ro.4:16; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Tit.2:11-15 for more discussion.) In the present passage grace is looked upon as a place or a position. Grace is a place to which we are brought, a position into which we are placed. It is the place of God’s presence, the position of salvation. The person who is justified...

- stands in God’s presence.
- stands before God saved.
- stands in the favor of God.
- stands in the privileges of God.
- stands in the promises of God.

2. Note it is through Christ that we have access into this grace. The word “access” (prosagogen) means to bring to, to move to, to introduce, to present. The thought is that of being in a royal court and being presented and introduced to the King of kings. Jesus Christ is the One who throws open the door into God’s presence. He is the One who presents us to God, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe.

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:2).

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh [brought near] by the blood of Christ” (Eph.2:13).

“For through him we...[all] have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:12).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus” (Heb.10:19).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

Thought 1. Note we “stand” in God’s grace, in His presence.

- 1) We are not bowed down, intimidated, stricken with fear, and humiliated. Christ has justified us, removed our guilt and shame, and given us great confidence before God. Therefore, we take a stand of honor and dignity before Him, standing in the perfect righteousness of the Lord Jesus.
- 2) We are not sitting or lying down, but we are standing. This pictures our service and labor for God. We are brought into His presence for the purpose of service; therefore, there is not time for sitting and lying around. We stand before Him justified, yes, but we stand to receive our orders from Him. (Cp. 1 Cor.15:58; 2 Cor.5:18-21.)

4 (5:2) Hope: the third result of justification is hope, hope for the glory of God (see notes, Rewards—Ro.2:6-10; DEEPER STUDY # 1, Glory—Ro.2:7; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:23 for discussion and verses.) Note that the hope of the believer is for the glory of God.

1. When Scripture speaks of the believer’s hope, it does not mean what the world means by hope. The hope of the world is a desire, a want. The world hopes—wants, desires—that something will happen. But this is not the hope of the believer. The hope of the believer is a surety: it is perfect assurance, confidence, and knowledge. How can hope be so absolute and assured? By being an inward possession. The believer’s hope is based upon the presence of God’s Spirit who dwells within the believer. In fact, the believer possesses the hope of glory only by the Spirit of God who dwells within him. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Hope—Ro.8:24-25 for more detailed discussion.)

“In whom [Christ] ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14; cp. 2 Cor.1:21-22; Eph.4:30; Jn.14:16-18).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:11-13).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us: which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil; whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever” (Heb.6:18-20).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:1-3).

2. The glory hoped for by the believer is to abundantly exceed the most wonderful experience we can ask or think. Glory means to possess and to be full of perfect light; to dwell in the perfect splendor and magnificence of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Glory—Ro.2:7).

“Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear” (Mt.13:43).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands” (Rev.7:9).

“Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory” (Ps.73:24).

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

Thought 1. Note how far short we often come. Instead of rejoicing in the glorious hope God has given...

- we moan, groan, and complain, living a discouraged and defeated life.
- we slip back into the ways of the world: the lust of the flesh and the eyes and pursuing the pride of life and the things of the world. (Cp. 1 Jn.2:15-16.)
- we become discouraged and defeated, no longer conscious of the glorious hope for the glory of God.

“Wherein he hath abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence; having made known unto us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he hath purposed in himself” (Eph.1:8-9).

5 (5:3-5) Trials—Suffering: the fourth result of justification is glory in trials and sufferings. When a man is truly justified, he is no longer defeated by trials and sufferings. Trials and sufferings no longer discourage and swamp him, no longer cast him down into the dungeon of despair and hopelessness. The very opposite is true. Trials and sufferings become purposeful and meaningful. The truly justified man knows...

- that his life and welfare are completely under God’s care and watchful eye.
- therefore, whatever events come into his life—whether good or bad—they are allowed by God for a reason. The justified man knows that God will take the trials and sufferings of this world and work them out for good, even if God has to twist and move every event surrounding the believer.

This passage explains the great benefits of trials and sufferings; it shows exactly how the trials and sufferings of life work good for us. The word “trials” or “tribulations” (thlipsis) means pressure, oppression, affliction, and distress. It means to be pressed together ever so tightly. It means all kinds of pressure ranging from the day to day pressures over to the pressure of confronting the most serious afflictions, even that of death itself.

“For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation; even as it came to pass, and ye know” (1 Th.3:4).

“And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb” (Rev.7:14).

1. Trials stir patience (hupomone): endurance, fortitude, steadfastness, constancy, perseverance. The word is not passive; it is active. It is not the spirit that just sits back and puts up with the trials of life, taking whatever may come.

Rather it is the spirit that stands up and faces life's trials, that actively goes about conquering and overcoming them. When trials confront a man who is truly justified, he is stirred to arise and face the trials head on. He immediately sets out to conquer and overcome them. He knows that God is allowing the trials in order to teach him more and more patience (endurance).

"In your patience possess ye your souls" (Lk.21:19).

"Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer" (Ro.12:12).

"For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise" (Heb.10:36).

"My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing" (Jas.1:2-4).

"Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain" (Jas.5:7).

2. Patience stirs experience (dokimex): character, integrity, strength. The idea is that of proven experience, of gaining strength through the trials of life; therefore, the word is more accurately translated character. When a justified man endures trials, he comes out of it stronger than ever before. He is a man of much stronger character and integrity. He knows much more about the presence and strength of God.

"Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God" (2 Cor.1:3-4).

"And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong" (2 Cor.12:9-10).

"That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man" (Eph.3:16).

"Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness" (Col.1:11).

"Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens" (Heb.11:33-34).

"But they that wait upon the LORD shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wing as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint" (Is.40:31).

"Fear thou not; for I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness" (Is.41:10).

3. Experience stirs hope (elpis): to expect with confidence; to anticipate knowing; to look and long for with surety; to desire with assurance; to rely on with certainty; to trust with the guarantee; to believe with the knowledge. Note that hope is expectation, anticipation, looking and longing for, desiring, relying upon, and trusting. But it is also confidence, knowledge, surety, assurance, certainty, and a guarantee. When a justified man becomes stronger in character, he draws closer to God and the closer he draws to God, the more he hopes for the glory of God. (See note, Hope—Ro.5:2 for more discussion and verses.)

4. Hope never shames (kataischuno, makes ashamed): never disappoints, deludes, deceives, confounds, confuses. The believer, the person who is truly justified, will never be disappointed or shamed. He will see his hope fulfilled. He will live forever in the presence of God inheriting the promises God has given in His Word.

"Whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed" (Ro.9:33).

"According to my earnest expectaton and my hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death" (Ph.1:20).

"Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf" (1 Pt.4:16).

"And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming" (1 Jn.2:28).

"They cried unto thee, and were delivered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded" (Ps.22:5).

"In thee, O LORD, do I put my trust: let me never be put to confusion" (Ps.71:1).

"Then shall I not be ashamed, when I have respect unto all thy commandments" (Ps.119:6).

"The hope of the righteous shall be gladness: but the expectation of the wicked shall perish" (Pr.10:28; cp. Ps.22:5; 71:1).

"For the Lord GOD will help me; therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed" (Is.50:7).

"And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the LORD your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed" (Joel 2:26).

6 (5:5) God, Love of—Holy Spirit, Work of: there is the continuous experience of God’s love through the presence of the Holy Spirit.

1. The love of God is demonstrated in His justifying the man who truly believes in His Son Jesus Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

2. The Holy Spirit sheds the love of God abroad in our hearts. He grows and matures us in the love of God, increasing our understanding of what God has done and is doing for us. He helps us learn more and more about our justification and more and more of the glorious salvation He promises.

The Holy Spirit...

- makes us conscious and aware of God’s love, and gives us a deep and intimate sense of God’s love.
- makes us conscious and aware of God’s presence, and of His care and concern for all that is involved in salvation.

It is the sense and intimacy of God’s love that is being stressed: a personal manifestation, a personal experience of the presence and love of God, of His justification and care for us as we walk through life moment by moment.

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

“In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him” (1 Jn.4:9).

“And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

Note: the Holy Spirit is “given unto us.” He enters our hearts and lives for the very purpose of sealing or guaranteeing us. He seals or guarantees our justification, and He seals the fact that God loves us and cares for and looks after us. It is because of His indwelling presence that we have the continuous and unbroken experience of God’s love. But remember: this glorious intimacy with God is a result of justification. Only the person who is truly justified experiences the love of God.

Note another fact: the love of God is a gift, a gift deposited in the believer by the Holy Spirit. (Cp. the divine nature which is deposited within us when we truly trust Jesus Christ as our Savior, 2 Pt.1:4.)

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:15-17).

“Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:22).

“In whom [Christ] ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise, which is the earnest of our inheritance until the redemption of the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory” (Eph.1:13-14).

DIVISION III.

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

H. God's Unbelievable Love (Part II): The Great Depth of Justification, 5:6-11

(5:6-11) Introduction—Love (agape): this passage discusses God's unbelievable love. It shows the great depth of justification. The passage also gives one of the clearest definitions of agape love. It actually shows the meaning of agape love. Agape love goes much farther than phileo love. Phileo love is brotherly love, a love that gives itself for a brother. But agape love is a new kind of love: it is a godly love, a sacrificial love, a love that gives itself for those without strength (Ro.5:6), for the ungodly (Ro.5:6), for sinners (Ro.5:8), and for enemies (Ro.5:10). (See note—Jn.21:15-17.)

1. We were ungodly and without strength, yet Christ died for us (v.6-7).
2. We were sinners, yet God demonstrated His love for us (v.8-9).
3. We were enemies, yet God reconciled and saved us (v.10-11).

1 (5:6-7) Jesus Christ, Death—Man, State of—God, Love of: we were ungodly and without strength, yet Christ died for us. God's great love is seen in this unbelievable act.

1. We were "without strength" (asthenon): weak, worthless, useless, helpless, hopeless, destitute, powerless. We were spiritually worthless, useless, and unable to help ourselves.

"My soul is weary of my life; I will leave my complaint upon myself; I will speak in the bitterness of my soul: (Job 10:1).

"For my life is spent with grief, and my years with sighing: my strength faileth because of mine iniquity, and my bones are consumed" (Ps.31:10).

"O my God, my soul is cast down within me" (Ps.42:6).

"I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me" (Ps.69:2).

"But as for me, my feet were almost gone; my steps had well-nigh slipped" (Ps.73:2).

"When I thought to know this, it was too painful for me" (Ps.73:16).

"Withhold thy foot from being unshod, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saidst, There is no hope: no; for I have loved strangers, and after them will I go" (Jer.2:25).

"But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep [dead], that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope" (1 Th.4:13).

"That at that time ye were without Christ...having no hope, and without God in the world" (Eph.2:12).

2. We were ungodly (asebon): not like God, different from God, profane, having a different lifestyle than God. God is godly, that is, perfect; man is ungodly, that is, he is not like God; he is imperfect.

"And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, backbiters, haters of God, spiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them" (Ro.1:28-32).

"Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine" (1 Tim.1:9-10).

“But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ; how that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts. These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit” (Jude 17-19).

3. It was in “due time” (kata kairon) that Christ died for us. It was in God’s appointed time: His destined time, appropriate time. Men had to be prepared for Christ before God could send Him into the world. Men had to learn that they were without strength and ungodly, that they needed a Savior. (This was the purpose of the Old Testament and the law, to show men that they were sinful. See outline and note—Ro.4:14-15.)

“And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel” (Mk.1:15).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons” (Gal.4:4-5).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:26).

4. Christ died for us. The word “for” (huper) means for our benefit, for our sake, in our behalf, in our stead, as our substitute. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 4—Mk.10:45.)

a. Christ died as our sacrifice.

“Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him: (2 Cor.5:21).

“Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens; who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people’s: for this he did once, when he offered up himself” (Heb.7:26-27).

“For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:13-14).

“Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others; for then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:25-26).

“By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all” (Heb.10:10).

“But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God....For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified” (Heb.10:12, 14).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

b. Christ died as our ransom (see note—Ro.3:24; Gal.3:13-14).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

c. Christ died as our propitiation (see note—Ro.3:25. Cp. 1 Jn.2:1-2.)

“Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God” (Ro.3:25).

“And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins” (1 Jn.4:10).

5. God’s love is an uncommon and an unbelievable love. Just think about the illustration given. Some persons attempt to save people who are caught in some desperate tragedy, and others offer their lives to represent leaders in their great purpose.

⇒ A few will die for a just and upright man (righteous).

⇒ Some will even dare to die for a “good” man.

But this is not what Christ did. Christ did not die for the righteous and godly man, nor for the good and pure man. He went well beyond what men do. Christ...

- died for the ungodly, for those who were the very opposite of righteous and good.
- died for those “without strength”: the useless, destitute, worthless, and those without value to society and men.

Christ died for those for whom no man would die, for those who were of no value and of no good. He died for those who were diametrically opposed to God, the very opposite from all that He is. Such is the unbelievable love of God; such is the depth of justification.

2 (5:8-9) Jesus Christ, Death—Man, State of—God, Love of: we were sinners, yet God proved His love to us. The word “commendeth” (sunistemi) means to show, prove, exhibit, demonstrate. It is the present tense: God is always showing and proving His love to us. The word “sinners” (hamartolon) refers to a man who is sinful, the man who sins...

- by disobeying God’s Word and will (cp. Ro.1:29-31).
- by living selfishly.
- by ignoring God’s commandments.
- by doing his own thing.
- by the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes.
- by pursuing the pride of life and the things of the world.

The point is this: it is “while we were yet sinners” that God proved His love to us. This is the unbelievable love of God, that He stooped down to save sinners. We would expect Him to save righteous and good men, but it catches us completely off-guard when it is stated that He saves sinners. Such is the unbelievable love of God.

Now note how God proved His love.

1. God proved His love by giving up His only Son to die for us. Some earthly fathers would be willing to give up their sons for a “good” man or for a great cause. But how many would be willing to give up their sons for a man who committed treason or for a man who murdered one of the greatest men living? Think of the enormous price God paid in proving His love: He gave up His Son to die for the unworthy and useless, the ungodly and sinful, the wicked and depraved—the worst sinners and outcasts imaginable. Just think what God Himself must have gone through: the feelings, the suffering, the hurt, the pain, and the terrible emotional strain. Just think what is involved in God giving up His Son:

- ⇒ God had to send His Son out of the spiritual and eternal world (dimension) into the physical and corruptible world (dimension).
- ⇒ God had to humiliate His Son by stripping Him of His eternal glory and insisting that He become clothed with corruptible flesh and die as a man.
- ⇒ God had to watch His Son walk through life being rejected, denied, cursed, abused, arrested, tortured, and murdered. God had to sit back and watch His Son suffer being murdered by the hands of men; He had to sit back when He knew He could reach out and deliver Him.
- ⇒ God had to destine His Son to die upon the cross for the sins of men.
- ⇒ God had to lay all the sins of the world upon His Son and let Him bear them all.
- ⇒ God had to judge His Son as the sinner and condemn Him to death for sin.
- ⇒ God had to turn His back upon Christ in death.
- ⇒ God had to cast His wrath against sin upon Christ.
- ⇒ God has to bear the pain of His Son’s sufferings eternally, for He is eternal and the death of His Son is ever before His face. (Just imagine! It is beyond our comprehension, but the eternal agony is a fact because of the eternal nature of God.)

As stated, God proved His love. He has given up His Son to die for us. We do not deserve it—we never have and we never will—but God loves us with an unbelievable love. Therefore, He has given His Son to die for us, as our substitute, in our behalf.

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

“I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep” (Jn.10:11).

“Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (Jn.15:13).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

2. God proves His love by justification through the blood of Christ (see notes—Ro.5:1; 3:25 for discussion).

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

3. God proves His love by saving us from wrath (see notes and DEEPER STUDY # 1, God's Wrath—Ro.1:18. Also see note, pt.1—Ro.5:1 for discussion.)

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

3 (5:10-11) Reconciliation—Jesus Christ, Death—Man, State of—God, Love of: we were enemies, yet God has reconciled and saved us. God reconciles and saves us by doing three things.

1. God reconciles us by Christ's death (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.5:10 for discussion).
2. God saves us by Christ's life. “His life” means the life of the living Lord. Christ stands before God as our great Intercessor and Mediator. Standing before God, He stands as the Sinless and Righteous Son of God, as the Ideal and Perfect Man. When we believe in Christ, God takes our belief and counts it as righteousness. The Ideal Righteousness of Christ covers us, and God accepts and saves us because we trust Christ as the living Lord, as our Intercessor and Mediator before God.

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant” (Heb.12:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

3. God gives us joy through the atonement or reconciliation of Christ. A person who receives so much from God is bound to be filled with joy and rejoicing (see note, Joy—Ph.1:4 for discussion).

“These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full” (Jn.15:11).

“Hitherto [before reconciliation] have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory: receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls” (1 Pt.1:8-9).

“Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore” (Ps.16:11).

“Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing; then said they among the heathen, The LORD hath done great things for them” (Ps.126:2).

“And the ransomed of the LORD shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away” (Is.35:10).

“I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels” (Is.61:10).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:10) Reconcile—Reconciliation (katallasso): to change, to change thoroughly, to exchange, to change from enmity to friendship, to bring together, to restore. The idea is that two persons who should have been together all along are brought together; two persons who had something between them are restored and reunited.

Three points should be noted about reconciliation.

1. The thing that broke the relationship between God and man was sin. Men are said to be enemies of God (Ro.5:10), and the word “enemies” refers back to the sinners and the ungodly (Ro.5:6, 8). The “enemies” of God are the sinners and ungodly of this world. This simply means that every man is an enemy of God, for every man is a sinner and ungodly. This may seem unkind and harsh, but it is exactly what Scripture is saying. The fact is clearly seen by thinking about the matter for a moment.

The sinner cannot be said to be a friend of God’s. He is antagonistic toward God, opposing what God stands for. The sinner is...

- rebelling against God
- rejecting God
- cursing God
- ignoring God
- disobeying God
- fighting against God
- denying God
- refusing God

When any of us sin, we work against God and promote evil by word and example.

⇒ When the sinner lives for himself, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because God does not live for Himself. God gave Himself up in the most supreme way possible: He gave His only Son to die for us.

⇒ When the sinner lives for the world and worldly things, he becomes an enemy of God. Why? Because he chooses the temporal—that which passes away—over God. He chooses it when God has provided eternal life for him through the death of His Son.

This is the point of God’s great love or reconciliation. He did not reconcile and save us when we were righteous and good. He reconciled and saved us when we were enemies, ignoring and rejecting Him. As stated above, it is because we are sinners and enemies that we need to be reconciled.

2. The way men are reconciled to God is by the death of His Son, Jesus Christ. Very simply stated, when a man believes that Jesus Christ died for him...

- God accepts the death of Jesus Christ for the death of the man.
- God accepts the sins borne by Christ as the sins committed by the man.
- God accepts the condemnation borne by Christ as the condemnation due to the man.

Therefore, the man is freed from his sins and the punishment due his sins. Christ bore both the sins and the punishment for the man. The man who truly believes that God loves that much—enough to give His only begotten Son—becomes acceptable to God, reconciled forever and ever.

3. God is the One who reconciles, not men. Men do not reconcile themselves to God. They cannot do enough work or enough good to become acceptable to God. Reconciliation is entirely the act of God. God is the One who reaches out to men and reconciles them unto Himself. Men receive the reconciliation of God.

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:18; cp. v.19-21).

“...His grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved” (Eph.1:6).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people” (Heb.2:17).

“We love him, because he first loved us” (1 Jn.4:19).

DIVISION III

FAITH AND JUSTIFICATION; THE WAY FOR THE WORLD TO BE RIGHT WITH GOD, 3:21-5:21

I. Adam and Christ: The Two Focal Points of History, 5:12-21

(5:12-21) Introduction: this passage deals with two of the focal points of human history. It deals with Adam and Christ, the two chief representatives and figureheads of the human race. It tells how sin and death entered the world and how Jesus Christ counteracted sin and death.

1. The entrance of sin and death through Adam (v.12-14).
2. The counteraction—the reversal—of sin and death by Christ (v.15-18).
3. Conclusion (v.19-21).

1 (5:12-14) Adam—Sin—Death—History, Pivotal Points: the entrance of sin and death into the world through Adam.

1. The fact is very simply stated: sin and death entered the world through one man, Adam. God had said:
  - “Of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof [disobey God] thou shalt surely die” (Gen.2:17).
  - “Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die” (Ezk.18:4).
  - “The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

Adam sinned and corrupted himself; therefore, he died.

2. Adam’s nature of sin and death was and still is passed on to all men. His corruptible nature was passed on to his children and on down through history to all men. It is a well known fact that the child inherits the nature of his parents. Therefore, if the parent’s nature is bent toward sin and is corruptible, so will the child’s nature be. Nature is like an infectious blood line: whatever the nature is, it is passed on down to the next generation.

Now note a significant fact: a man is not condemned to death because of Adam’s sin. Scripture clearly says this: “Death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (v.12). A man dies because of his own sins, not because of his father’s sins. Every man is personally responsible to God.

“For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“But the scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe” (Gal.3:22).

“If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us” (1 Jn.1:8).

“And we know that we are of God, and the whole world lieth in wickedness” (1 Jn.5:19).

“There is no man that sinneth not” (1 Ki.8:46).

“They are all gone aside, they are all together become filthy: there is none that doeth good, no, not one” (Ps.14:3).

“Every one of them is gone back: they are altogether become filthy; there is none that doeth good, no, not one” (Ps.53:3).

“Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?” (Pr.20:9).

“All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:6).

“But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away” (Is.64:6).

3. The proof that we inherit Adam’s nature is that sin and death existed even before the law (v.13). The law of God does charge men with sin; it does show men that they are sinful and condemned to die. But something caused men to sin and die before the law was ever given to Moses in a written form. The people before Moses were not charged with sin by the law, for they did not have the law in a permanent and written form. What was it then that was causing the people between Adam and Moses to sin and die? It was nature, the sinful, corruptible nature of man, the nature that every child inherited from his father; and the process began with Adam. Adam was the first man created by God, and he was the first to sin and become corruptible and bear the punishment of death.

“In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return” (Gen.3:19).

“They shall lie down alike in the dust, and the worms shall cover them” (Job 21:26).

“They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him: (for the redemption of their soul is precious, and it ceaseth for ever:) that he should still live for ever, and not see corruption” (Ps.49:6-9).

“Thou hidest thy face, they are troubled: thou takest away their breath, they die, and return to their dust” (Ps.104:29).

“All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again” (Eccl.3:20).

“Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was: and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it” (Eccl.12:7).

“Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days” (Jn.11:39).

“For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers, and saw corruption” (Acts 13:36).

4. The importance of Adam is critical. He was “the figure [type, picture] of Him that was to come,” that is, of Christ. Adam and Christ are pictured as the two pivotal points of human history, as the two figureheads or representatives of the human race. (Cp. 1 Cor.15:20-28, 45-49.) Adam stands at the head of the human race, as the first to bring sin and death to man: “Thy first father hath sinned” (Is.43:27). Christ stands at the head of the human race...

- as the first to live a sinless and perfect life, securing a perfect righteousness.
- as the first to conquer death by literally arising from the dead.

Now note the difference between Adam and Christ. Adam was made a “living soul”; Christ a “quickenning spirit” (1 Cor.15:45). What man needs and has always needed is a “quickenning spirit,” a spirit that has the power to infuse life into his soul, life that is both abundant and eternal.

“[Adam] who is the figure of him that was to come” (Ro.5:14).

“Therefore as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life. For as by one man’s disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous” (Ro.5:18-19).

“For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead. For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive” (1 Cor.15:21-22).

“And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit. Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual. The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven. As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly. And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly” (1 Cor.15:45-49).

5. Note that sin is the cause of death, and that Adam was the cause of sin. He was the author of apostasy. Whatever theories may say, one thing is clear: Adam was the cause of sin in the very same way in which Christ is the cause of righteousness.

- a. Note v.13. Since Adam, sin has been universal. But sin was not charged (that is, personal guilt) against a person because there was no law. There has to be a law for there to be a charge.
- b. Note v.14. Nevertheless, death was still the judgment and experience of man. Why? Why did man die if he was not charged with personal sin? Because Adam was the figurehead and the representative man for all who would be born with his nature. What does this mean? He sinned, took on a corruptible nature; therefore, he died (Ro.5:12f). So death was passed on to all men because all inherited the corruptible nature of Adam (Ro.5:12f).

Some argue that this is unjust—to be condemned to die because Adam, the father of the human race, sinned. But the argument is not familiar with the facts, for the truth is, the way to eternal life is now clearer and much more positive. God has now made a greater provision for life and salvation.

- a. This is clearly seen in three facts. A man now has a clearer choice than Adam had. A man can now live forever by simply choosing to take Christ into his life, and the positive choice of choosing Christ is greater and has more pull than Adam's choice. Adam was to remain incorruptible if he did not eat of the fruit of the tree. Note his choice was a negative command and it had no pull and no power to enable him to obey. Man's choice today is positive. Adam was forbidden to do something. We are instructed to do something—a positive command. These two facts, the fuller and clearer revelation in Christ and the stronger pull of the positive, show that every man has an equal chance at immortality; and in reality, man today has more of a chance than Adam had, more than an equal chance.
- b. There is no human life apart from being born to corruptible human beings. It is a matter of being born and privileged with life or not being born and never having the privilege of life. In order to have the privilege of living, a person has to be born of corruptible parents.
- c. The way of salvation and the way for man to live forever is now much clearer. Man could never know the love of God apart from being born into a corruptible world and experiencing the love of God demonstrated in Christ Jesus. Therefore, the birth of a person, his entrance into the world, is the greatest imaginable blessing. Being born into this depraved and corruptible world is the only way a person can ever know the love of God and experience eternal life with God.

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God” (Jn.3:3).

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(5:12) Sin—Death: Adam sinned and corrupted himself; therefore, he died. Why is there such an awful penalty for sin? Is not death an awful price to pay for sin? Such questions overlook the awfulness and seriousness of sin. Sin is the most heinous, vulgar, uncouth, abominable, outrageous, shocking, and hateful thing that can exist. Two things show the evil nature of sin.

1. Sin is the ultimate thing that can be done against God. Sin is disobeying God and rebellious against God. Sin acts against God, fights and struggles against God. Sin goes against all that God is. Sin is insurrection against God; it is the crime of high treason against God. To turn away from the Supreme Being of the universe is to commit the ultimate offense (disobedience), and the ultimate offense deserves the ultimate judgment: death. (Keep in mind the glorious love of God. The only way to truly see the love of God is to see man committing the ultimate offense against God [disobeying Him] and having to bear the ultimate punishment of death. Seeing this is the only way a man can see how God paid the ultimate price in giving His Son to die for us. His love is the supreme love, the love that sacrificed the greatest thing in all the world, that gave His Son to die for sinners. See outline and notes—Ro.5:6-11.)

2. Sin cost God the ultimate price, the supreme sacrifice of His Son. God, being God, is perfect love. As perfect love He is bound to prove His love by providing a way for man to be forgiven of his sin and to be saved. And the way chosen to save man had to be the perfect salvation, the perfect expression of His love.

But note, Christ did not give His life just for friends. He went well beyond; He loved perfectly: He gave His life for those who were without strength, for the ungodly, the sinners, the enemies of God (Ro.5:6, 8, 10).

“God demonstrated [proved] His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

Sin cost God the ultimate price, the supreme sacrifice, even the death of His own Son.

Sin is the most serious and awful thing a person can do against God. It is the ultimate offense against God and it costs the ultimate price, even the supreme sacrifice of God's dear Son. It is for these two reasons that sin deserves the ultimate penalty of death.

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

“Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors” (Is.53:12).

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

“For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven” (2 Cor.5:2).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(5:12) Sin—Death: physical, spiritual, and eternal death would be involved here. Sin is universal, so death is universal—all embracing. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Heb.9:27.)

2 (5:15-18) Jesus Christ, Works of—Sin—Death: the counteraction—the reversal—of sin and death by Christ. Jesus Christ has counteracted and reversed what Adam did. He has made it possible for man to live righteously and to conquer death. Note the descriptive contrast between what Adam did and what God did through Christ.

1. Adam’s sin brought death; God’s gift brought righteousness. The gift is righteousness (cp. v.17). God’s gift of righteousness differs entirely from the sin of Adam. Adam sinned and brought sin and death to “many” (to the human race). But Adam was only one man and God is far greater than one mere man, even if that man has influenced the whole human race. God was able to do “much more” good than Adam was able to do bad. In fact, God has done “much more.” He has counteracted and reversed all the bad Adam did.

a. God has showered the grace of God, His glorious favor and care and love, upon man. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—Tit.2:11-15).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus. For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:4-9).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

b. God has made the gift of God (righteousness) available to man. (See note, Righteousness—Ro.1:17.)

“But for us also, to whom it [righteousness] shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead; who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:24-25).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

God’s grace and gift have “abounded” and overflowed to many. But note: it all comes through One Man, Jesus Christ, God’s very own Son.

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour” (Tit.3:4-6).

2. Adam's sin brought condemnation; God's gift brought justification. God's gift differs entirely from what Adam did. Adam doomed the human race, but God's gift justifies the human race. And note how glorious God's justification is: when Adam sinned, his one sin was judged and it brought condemnation to men; but what God did is so glorious, it explodes the human mind.

⇒ God's gift not only dealt with Adam's offense and condemnation, it dealt with "many" offenses. God's gift of righteousness justifies us from all our offenses, not only from Adam's one offense. God's gift justifies us from all the corruption we have inherited from our fathers and from all the corruption of human nature—all the sins we have committed with our own hands.

The man who truly trusts Christ is justified from all things, from all sin, corruption, and condemnation...

- inherited from our fathers (Adam).
- committed and caused by our own sinful behavior.

"And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses" (Acts 13:39).

"Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ" (Ro.5:1).

"Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness" (Gal.3:6).

3. Adam's sin brought the reign of death; God's gift brought the reign of life. Adam sinned and brought the reign of death upon all men. But Adam was only one man, one mere man. No matter what he did, God was able to counteract it and do more, for He is greater; and He is able to do anything.

God has done more, much more. They who "receive" God's grace and God's gift of righteousness "shall reign in life." The term "reign in life" means to dwell and rule in eternal life. But note, the source of righteousness is Jesus Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Justification—Ro.4:22; note—5:1).

Thought 1. Note two glorious truths.

- 1) Believers "reign in life" while on this earth. They receive the abundance of God's grace.
  - a) There is the gift of abundant life.

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (Jn.10:10).

- b) There is all sufficiency in all things.

"And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work" (2 Cor.9:8).

- c) There is great power.

"Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us" (Eph.3:20).

- d) There is the supply of all needs.

"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:19).

- e) There is an abundant entrance into heaven.

"For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and saviour Jesus Christ" (2 Pt.1:11).

- f) There is abundant satisfaction.

"They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures" (Ps.36:8).

- 2) Believers shall "reign in life" throughout all eternity.

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life" (Jn.3:16).

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life" (Jn.5:24).

"And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities" (Lk.19:17).

"Ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations. And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me" (Lk.22:28-29).

“Do ye not know that the saints shall judge [govern, rule, manage] the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge [govern, rule, manage] the smallest matters? Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?” (1 Cor.6:2-3).

4. Adam’s sin brought condemnation to all men; God’s gift brought justification of life upon all men. This is simply a summary of what has already been said.

⇒ “By the offense of one [Adam] judgment came upon all men to condemnation.”

⇒ “By the righteousness of One [Jesus Christ] the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life.”

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?” (Ro.8:32).

“Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift” (2 Cor.9:15).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God” (Eph.2:8).

3 (5:19-21) Justification—Righteousness—Law: the conclusion is one of the most instructive and striking passages in all of Scripture. It includes three points.

1. Adam’s disobedience made many (all men, v.12, 18) sinners, but Christ’s obedience made many righteous. Jesus Christ lived a sinless life; He never sinned, never displeased God—not even once. He was perfectly righteous, securing the Ideal Righteousness.

Since His righteousness is the Ideal Righteousness, it can stand for the righteousness of all men, and that is exactly what happens. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man’s belief and counts it as righteousness. God lets the Ideal Righteousness of Jesus Christ cover the man because the man believes and honors His Son, Jesus Christ.

Any man who will so honor God’s Son by believing and trusting Him, God will honor by counting his faith as the righteousness of Christ. It is that simple and that profound: “By the obedience of Jesus Christ shall many be made righteous.” But note, a person must truly believe—he must have the kind of belief that really trusts Jesus Christ, that really casts his life upon Christ, that casts all that he is and has upon Christ and His keeping.

“For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings” (Heb.2:10).

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

2. The law was given to point out and magnify sin, but God’s grace was so much greater. If righteousness is by Jesus Christ, then why did God give us the law? What is the purpose of the law? Very simply. “The law entered [the world] that the offense might abound.” The law was given...

- to point out and magnify sin.
- to make men more aware of sin.
- to give men a greater knowledge of sin.
- to stir more conviction over sin.
- to increase the fact and awareness of sin more and more.
- to make men more responsible for their sin.

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator” (Gal.3:19).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

But note the glorious truth about the grace of God: wherever sin abounds, the grace of God abounds even more. God’s grace is far more effective and powerful than any sin or sins, no matter how magnified. God’s grace can forgive any man, no matter how great a sinner.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus. This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners” (1 Tim.1:14-15).

3. Sin reigned to death, but God’s grace reigns to eternal life.

ROMANS 5:12-21

- a. By Adam, sin reigns, triumphs, holds authority and leads to death.

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“He that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

“Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die” (Ezk.18:4).

“The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

- b. By God, grace reigns, triumphs, holds authority, and leads to eternal life. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Life—Jn.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—10:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—17:2-3.)

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“But [God’s purpose and grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“For the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and show unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us” (1 Jn.1:2).

“He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:12).

But note the source: eternal life comes only through the righteousness of “Jesus Christ our Lord.”

DIVISION IV

HOLINESS AND SANCTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE BELIEVER TO BE FREE FROM SIN, 6:1-23

A. The Believer is Not to Continue in Sin (Part I): He is to Know His Position in Christ, 6:1-10

(6:1-10) Introduction—Holiness: the believer who is justified (whose faith is counted as righteousness, Ro.3:21-5:21) is to let his righteousness work holiness (Ro.6:19). The believer is to live a holy life and become a servant of righteousness. A genuinely saved person cannot abuse the mercy of God. He cannot walk in sin; he cannot make a habit of sinning. To do so is to tread upon the mercy of God and make a mockery of God's grace. It is to say that God's grace gives a person the license to sin, and such is a contradiction of terms—as much a contradiction as to say that a dead man is alive. (See notes—Ro.6:14-15; Gal.5:13.)

The way for a man to break the habit of sin is for him to know the glorious position he can have in Christ. One thing is certain: every believer should definitely know the position he holds in Christ. It will revolutionize his life.

Now for the point of the passage. The believer is to know his real position in Christ. Knowledge of his position will help keep him from sin. Note the word "know" is used three times (Ro.6:3, 6, 9).

1. The believer and the question of license (v.1-2).
2. Know 1st: by position, the believer is immersed, placed into Christ (v.3-5).
3. Know 2nd: by position, the believer's old man was crucified with Christ (v.6-7).
4. Know 3rd: by position, the believer lives with Christ—now and forever (v.8-10).

1 6:1-2) License—Grace vs. Law—Sin: the believer and the question of license. Note three points.

1. Does the grace of God give a person a free reign to sin? Can a person just go ahead and do what he wants expecting God to forgive him? Grace means God's undeserved and unmerited favor. It means that God freely accepts and forgives a person's sins; that He freely justifies a person by faith. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22; 5:1 for more discussion.) Two things bother a lot of people about the teaching of salvation by grace and grace alone.

- a. Grace seems to give free reign to sin, to put no restraint upon sin. These are often the thoughts of the common man, even believers. There is the feeling that if we are forgiven by grace and not by law and doing good, then sin does not matter that much. We do not have to worry too much about the law of God and righteousness, just so we do a fair amount of good. We can pretty much do what we want, for God is going to forgive us anyway. God is gracious and loving and good; therefore, He is going to forgive our sins no matter what we do. Christ died for our sins. All we have to do is ask Him and He will forgive us.
- b. Grace seems to encourage sin. Paul had just said that grace is stronger than sin (Ro.5:15-21, esp. 20-21). God's grace is so strong it can forgive any sin, no matter how terrible. In fact, the greater the sin, the more magnified God's grace becomes. When a great sinner is forgiven, God's grace is much more magnified than when a morally good person repents and is forgiven. As stated, the greater the sin or sinner, the more God's grace is magnified and glorified.

Now note: some theologians and philosophers, in particular those who stress the law, carry this argument even farther in their position against grace. No doubt Paul was asked this question time and again by the legalists who hounded and fought against him and just did not understand the wonderful grace of God. They argued that if forgiveness is by grace, then is sin not a good thing? Should we not continue in sin so that God will have more opportunity to prove His grace and become more magnified and glorified?

2. Paul's answer is the answer of righteous indignation: "God forbid!" Away with such a thought! Far be it that we ever think such a thing, especially as believers.

3. The believer's position in Christ shows the utter impossibility of a true believer continuing in sin. The word "continue" means to practice or to habitually yield to sin. A true believer no longer practices sin and no longer yields to sin. He cannot live without sin, not totally, but he no longer lives in sin. A true believer is dead to sin, and a dead man cannot do anything: he cannot think, speak, or move. How can a dead man live any longer in sin? It is utterly impossible! It is totally against nature! Positionally, the true believer has died to self and has been placed into Christ to live for Him. He now possesses the divine nature, God's very own nature (2 Pt.1:4). He is placed and positioned in Christ which means he is dead to self and alive to God. How can he dare think that he can go ahead and sin because God will forgive him anyway?

Note another fact: when a man turns to God, he turns away from sin. It is a contradiction to say that when a man turns to God he turns to more and more sin. God's grace does not bring a man to God so that he can be free to sin more; God's grace brings a man to God so that he can be free from sin and its guilt and judgment. Grace does not give license to sin any more than a dead man is able to move about and sin. (See note, License—Ro.6:14-15 for more discussion.)

2 (6:3-5) Jesus Christ, Death—Believer, Position in Christ: first, the believer has been immersed or placed into Jesus Christ. This is the first thing the believer should know about his position in Christ. This is one of the most glorious truths in all of Scripture, yet so much controversy has raged over what is meant by baptism that the glorious meaning has often been bypassed. The meaning of baptism is discussed in another note. In the present note the glorious truth of these verses is being concentrated upon. Christians everywhere agree that baptism is a picture of the death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. When a true believer is immersed, he is proclaiming to the world that he is being identified with Christ:

- ⇒ by being placed under the water, he is proclaiming that he has died and been buried with Christ.
- ⇒ by being raised up from the water, he is proclaiming that he has been raised from the dead with Christ to live a new life.

Now note three glorious points.

1. The believer is immersed, placed into, or identified with Christ in death. This is the believer's position in Christ. Very simply, if the believer really died when Christ died, then he has died to sin and is freed from sin and its penalty and punishment. What a glorious gift from God! What a glorious position to receive from God's wonderful grace!

What happens is this. When a person really believes in Christ, then God takes that person's faith and counts it as the death of Christ. That is, God counts the person as having died in Christ. God takes the person's faith (and baptism as stated in this passage) and counts the person as participating in Christ's death. God counts and considers the person...

- to have died in Christ's death.
- to be placed into Christ's death.
- to be identified with Christ's death.
- to be a partaker of Christ' death.
- to be in union with Christ's death.
- to be bound with Christ in death.

When a person truly honors God's Son by trusting Him, God honors that person by spiritually placing him into the death of Christ. What is it that causes God to do so much for the believer? Very simply, His love for His Son. God loves His Son so much that He will do anything for anyone who honors His Son by believing and trusting Him.

Now note the point: if the believer is counted by God as having been immersed into the death of Christ, then the believer...

- |                                   |                                     |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| • has died to sin                 | • is freed from sin                 |
| • has died to the penalty of sin  | • is freed from the penalty of sin  |
| • has died to the judgment of sin | • is freed from the judgment of sin |

This means that the rule and reign and the habits and desires of sin no longer have control over us. Sin ceases to have a place or a position in our lives. We are free from sin, free from...

- |                 |                        |
|-----------------|------------------------|
| • sin's habits  | • sin's enslavement    |
| • sin's control | • sin's rule and reign |
| • sin's bondage | • sin's guilt          |

It means that we no longer live "in" sin, in the position and place of sin. We cannot live without sin, not perfectly, but we are free from living "in" sin. We no longer practice and desire sin. We desire and practice righteousness, seeking to please God in all that we do. And as glorious as this is, it means that we are freed from the condemnation of sin, the terrible punishment that shall be measured out in the awful day of judgment.

This is the believer's position in Christ. He is immersed, buried, placed into, and identified with Christ in death. And having died, the believer never has to be under the rule and reign of sin and its judgment again. He is a partaker of Christ's death, bound and united to Christ in death; therefore, he is dead to sin and all its effects.

However, note a critical point. A true believer is a person who really believes. This simply means he repents, confesses, obeys, and is baptized. It is this person whom God credits as having died in Christ. This is the glorious position of the true believer.

"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death?" (Ro.6:3).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit” (1 Cor.12:13).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ” (Gal.3:27).

2. The believer is immersed, placed into, or identified with Christ in His resurrection. The same picture of baptism is used again to reinforce this glorious truth. God counts the true baptized believer as having been raised in Christ. God takes the believer’s faith (and baptism as stated in this passage) and counts the person as participating in Christ’s resurrection. He counts and considers the person...

- to be raised in Christ’s resurrection.
- to be placed into Christ’s resurrection.
- to be identified with Christ’s resurrection.
- to be a partaker of Christ’s resurrection.
- to be in union with Christ’s resurrection.
- to be bound with Christ in His resurrection.

Note two significant points.

a. Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father. This tells how our glorious position in Christ happened. It happened by the glory and the power of God. The “glory” (doxa) of God means all the excellence of God; all that He is in His might and power, love and grace, compassion and mercy. It means all His attributes: His omnipotence (all power), omniscience (all knowing), omnipresence (being everywhere), and sovereignty. In this particular passage it refers primarily to His glorious power. It was the glory of His might and power that raised up Jesus from the dead, and it is by the glory of His might and power that he places and positions us in Christ.

“And God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power” (1 Cor.6:14).

“For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God” (2 Cor.13:4).

b. God’s purpose for raising us up with Christ is dynamic and meaningful. It involves walking in a whole new life. The word “walk” (peripateo) means to walk about, to walk step by step, to control and order our behavior, to constantly and habitually walk in “newness of life.”

Think about it for a moment. When Christ died, he laid aside His old life and left it behind Him. Therefore, when He arose, He took on a totally new life, a changed life, a resurrected life. It is His new life, His changed and resurrected life that is given to us. In the Bible the word “new” often carries the idea of purity, righteousness, holiness, godliness. The believer...

- receives a “new birth” (1 Pt.1:23; 2:2).
- receives a “new heart” (Ezk.11:19; 18:31).
- becomes a “new creature” (2 Cor.5:17; Gal.6:15).
- becomes a “new man” (Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).

God’s very purpose for placing us in the resurrected life of Jesus Christ is that we might walk in Christ, walk soberly, righteously and godly in this present world. The true believer puts off the old man of sin and puts on the new man of righteousness and godliness. He lives a pure, clean, and holy life.

“Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead” (Col.2:12).

“[That you may know] what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

3. The believer is immersed, placed into, or identified with the most glorious hope: that he shall be planted (immersed) in the very likeness of Jesus’ resurrection. This simply means that...

- as Jesus was raised to a new life, so shall the believer be.

“Even when we were dead in sins, [God] hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:5-6).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God” (Col.3:1).

- as Jesus was raised to live with God, so shall the believer be.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord” (1 Th.4:16-17).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him [identified with His death], we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

(See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Believer, Position In Christ—Ro.8:1 for more discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:3-5) Baptism: this note is being placed as the last note under verse 10 as DEEPER STUDY # 2 because of its length, and because it is a specialized note dealing with the meaning of “baptism” as used in this passage. It is suggested that the note be studied last because of its length, feeling that the reader can be helped more by going ahead and studying the notes on the major points of the outline to keep from losing the continuity of thought.

3 (6:6-7) Old Man—Body of Sin—Believer, Crucified with Christ: second, the believer’s old man was crucified with Christ. This is the second thing the believer should know about his position in Christ. The Greek definitely uses the past tense: “Our old man was crucified with Christ.” It was a once-for-all act that Christ Himself effected. He took our “old man” to the cross with Him when He died. The “old man” means...

- our old self
- our old life
- our sinful self
- our sinful life
- our corrupt nature
- our depraved nature
- our unregenerate nature
- our sinful nature

Our “old man” means our old life without God, the old sinful life that is immersed or identified with Christ in death. Now note three points.

1. The old man was crucified so that “the body of sin” might be destroyed. The “body of sin” is not plural (sins) but singular (sin). Sin is seen as a body, a whole package. The human body is seen as the seat of sin and as the instrument of sin. It is seen as containing, embodying, and packaging all sin within itself. The idea is that all sin within a believer is destroyed, conquered, forgiven, and crucified with Christ. The believer is freed from sin. He starts anew, and he stays clean and free from sin by walking in constant confession and fellowship before God (1 Jn.1:9).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“Knowing this, that our old man is [was] crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter” (Ro.8:36).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him [identified with His death], we shall also live with him” (2 Tim.2:11).

2. The old man was crucified to enable and to empower the believer to renounce sin. The believer is not to serve sin; he is to renounce it, knowing that it has been crucified and put to death in Christ. By the power of the cross, sin is not to be served; it is...

- to be renounced
- to be refused
- to be repudiated
- to be rejected
- to be denied
- to be conquered

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God...Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:3, 5).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin; that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:1-2).

3. The clearest of all illustrations is given to show the believer’s position in Christ. He is not to serve sin because he is dead; he has been crucified with Christ. And a dead man is freed from sin. When we believe that Jesus died for our sins, our belief is counted as righteousness; our belief makes us acceptable to God once for all. And it does something else just as wonderful: it gives us constant access into God’s presence as we walk about day by day. This means that as we pick up the pollutions of this world and fail here and there, we can constantly come before God and ask forgiveness; and when we ask, He forgives. This is the way we are freed from sin: by constantly walking in open confession before God, praying all day long for His forgiveness. And just as He promises, He always forgives us (1 Jn.1:9). Why does He do such a glorious thing as freeing us from sin eternally?

⇒ Because we honor His Son by trusting Christ’s death to free us from sin.

⇒ Because He loves His Son and will honor any man who so trusts His Son. He will honor the man by doing exactly what the man believes. If the man honors Christ by believing that he is freed from sin by the death of Christ, then God counts the man as being freed from sin.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord [by faith], so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

This is the glorious position of the believer in Christ: his old man “was crucified” with Christ in order to free him from sin. Note the most glorious and striking truth: it is all through the death of Christ. Our salvation is through the death of God’s dear Son.

4 (6:8-10) Believer, Position in Christ—Hope—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: third, the believer shall live with Christ both now and forever. This is the third thing the believer should know about his position in Christ. We know and possess absolute assurance and confidence that “we shall...live with Christ.” The idea is that we shall live eternally with Him. What gives us such belief and absolute assurance?

1. Christ has conquered death—once-for-all. Think about it. Christ has already died. Now we are to know...
  - “that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more.”
  - “that death hath no more dominion over Him.”
  - that He is freed from death.

“But [God’s purpose and grace] is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:10).

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

2. Christ now lives forever to God. We are to know...
  - that Christ died unto sin once.
  - that Christ now lives in the presence of God forever.
  - that Christ lives unto God; that is, He lives in an unbroken devotion and service to God.

The believer is to live to God through all eternity, beginning right now, from the moment of his conversion. Death has no more dominion over him. He is immersed or placed into the resurrected life of Christ. He is an eternal person now; therefore, he is to live to God beginning right now, even as he will live unto God through all eternity.

“I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father” (Jn.16:28).

“And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, that they may be one, as we are” (Jn.17:11).

“So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God” (Mk.16:19).

“Hereafter shall the Son of man sit on the right hand of the power of God” (Lk.22:69).

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

“And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name” (Ph.2:8-9).

“But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God” (Heb.10:12).

Thought 1. This, of course, means that we too shall be living on and on in an unbroken devotion and service to God—forever.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world” (Jn.17:24).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(6:3-5) Baptism: remember this note is not out of place. It is being placed as the last note of this outline because of its length and its dealing with a specialized subject. Men have dissected and argued over how a person is “saved” so much that the preciousness, and in too many cases, the truth of the experience has been lost. The result is a confused public. Many people think if they have been baptized and do half-way right, then they are saved and God will never reject them. Others, who are highly disciplined and have reformed their lives, think they are as acceptable to God as anyone else because they do live moral and decent lives. A confused public, including both those within and without the church, is basing their eternal fate upon one or more of the following. They think they are saved...

- by baptism.
- by doing good deeds.
- by being as good as they can.
- by church membership.
- by faith.
- by repentance.

Much of the confusion has been caused by men over-stressing or misunderstanding one of the truths of Scripture. Too often too many of us have been guilty of abusing Scripture; and once we have taken a strong position, we have been unwilling to back off or to give balance to the whole truth, even when we realized we had gone too far. It is time for us to totally commit our lives to the Lord, to lay aside our bandwagons and exhaustively labor to proclaim the whole truth both to the church and to the world. Again, it is time for the truth to be proclaimed, the whole balance of Scripture—time for us to help straighten out the confusion of the public, for many within the church are deceived and are without Christ; and the world cannot come to Christ with a genuine experience until they come as Scripture dictates.

In the passage before us an argument rages over the word baptism (v.3-4). Does “baptism” mean the actual baptism experience of a person, or is it being used in a symbolic or spiritual sense? Those who hold to baptism being essential for salvation say it means the actual baptism experience; whereas those who hold to salvation by faith tend to say it is speaking symbolically and spiritually. And the battle rages on. The great tragedy is...

- many within and without the church have become confused.
- many have never had a true experience of salvation because they have never heard the truth of Scripture.
- many have never heard nor understand the truth of Scripture.
- many have mocked the divisiveness and irrelevance of church positions.

And all with whom we have failed to share the truth are doomed, and we are responsible. Now, note several points.

1. Scripture speaks strongly in unmistakable terms on the subject of salvation—on just how we are saved—and to an honest and thoughtful mind it speaks clearly.

- a. We are saved by faith.

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9; cp. Jn.1:12; 3:16; Ro.10:9-10).

- b. We are saved by obedience.

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9; cp. Mt.7:21; Jn.15:10; Rev.22:14).

c. We are saved by repentance.

“I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance” (Lk.5:32; cp. Acts 11:18).

d. We are saved by confession.

“Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.10:32-33; cp. Ro.10:9-10; 1 Jn.4:15).

e. We are saved by baptism.

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

Now, in all honesty, what does this show? Is it not that the true experience of salvation is a whole experience, a comprehensive experience, an experience that involves the whole life of a believer? Is salvation not a past and a present and a future experience? (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—1 Cor.1:18 for discussion.)

What Scripture declares is that salvation is looked upon as the whole experience of a truly born again person. When Scripture speaks...

- of believing in Christ, it means a person who repents, confesses, obeys, and is baptized.
- of obedience to Christ, it means a person who believes, repents, confesses, and is baptized.
- of repentance toward Christ, it means a person who believes, confesses, obeys, and is baptized.
- of baptism in Christ, it means a person who believes, repents, confesses, and obeys.
- of confession to Christ, it means a person who believes, repents, obeys, and is baptized.

Now note a most critical point: just because a person professes and does some of these things does not mean the person is saved. Just because a person...

- professes faith,
- lives a moral and good life,
- is baptized,
- claims to live as Jesus taught,

...does not mean he is saved. The power of salvation is not in these things, not in profession, moral goodness, baptism, and the teachings of Jesus. The power to save is in Jesus Christ Himself, in believing that He is the crucified Savior, the Son of God Himself who has the power to save.

The point is this: Scripture speaks of the true believer in different ways at different times, anyone of which means that he is saved. Scripture says that a true believer is a person...

- who believes.
- who obeys.
- who repents.
- who confesses.
- who is baptized.

Each of these terms is inclusive, that is, sometimes Scripture uses each term to include the others. The present passage says that believers who “were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death.” Paul is using the symbolic meaning of our baptism experience to picture our “death” and “resurrection” with Christ. He is not saying that baptism is the “substance” that has the power to “place” us into Christ. Only God has that power. Paul is saying that the baptized person (as a person who believes, repents, obeys, and confesses) is the person who is placed into the death of Christ. Our baptism experience is being used as an inclusive term, not as an exclusive term or in an exclusive sense.

2. Among the believers in the New Testament, faith and baptism were not so much two experiences as two parts of one experience (F.F. Bruce. The Epistle of Paul to the Romans. “The Tyndale New Testament Commentaries,” p.136). A person who genuinely believed was baptized, and a person who was baptized was to be a genuine believer. To be “baptized into Jesus Christ” did not mean “to be baptized without faith” and to “believe in Jesus Christ” did not mean to believe without being baptized. Scripture definitely indicates this. Therefore, when Scripture speaks of baptism, it means that baptism is for a genuine believer: a genuine believer is baptized, and a baptized person is to be a genuine believer. There just was no such thing as a genuine believer who was not baptized unless he was providentially prohibited, and there was no such thing as a genuinely baptized person who was not to be a true believer.

3. Scripture definitely teaches that the power to make a person acceptable to God, to place a person into Christ is not in the water of baptism, but in Christ. For example, this is the whole point of Romans up to this point, the whole teaching of justification. If the power to save is in water, then what do we do with the thousands who have been baptized and live like the devil himself, the thousands who show no changed life at all?

The power is definitely in Christ; Christ is the One who saves. And He saves the person who believes, not the person who is baptized. This is clearly evident from the unholy lives lived by so many who have been baptized.

However, as mentioned in point one, the person who truly believes does repent and he does turn from his old life to follow Christ. He does what Christ says, and the first commandment is to follow Him in baptism. Baptism is the very first act, the very first proof that a person believes and repents.

There is another way to see the connection between faith and baptism or between our union with Christ and baptism. The power to save—to make a person acceptable to God—is not in the waters of baptism, but in Christ; therefore...

- not everyone who is baptized is saved. Their unbelieving and unholy lives prove the fact.
- Everyone who is saved will be baptized immediately as an act of belief and obedience in Christ. The person will be baptized unless he is physically unable.

4. The physical symbol is never the truth itself; it is a picture of the truth. No physical substance has the power to bring about anything spiritual. The whole physical world and everything in it passes away, including water. Physical substances can symbolize spiritual truth, but they cannot be the cause or the power to bring about the spiritual reality. If a physical substance such as water baptism had such power, it would mean that the spiritual reality had its basis in the physical and material which passes away. And if the basis passes away (water baptism), then the substance (spiritual salvation) itself would also pass away.

Another way to say the same thing is this: the physical can never penetrate nor create the spiritual; it is the spiritual that must penetrate and create the physical. Philosophically, we must always remember this or else we doom ourselves and cause thinking men in the world to mock us. Why? Because the philosophical and thinking men of the world know that if we are saved by water (the physical and material), then we are doomed; for no physical substance can impart something it does not have, an eternal quality (eternal life, salvation, forgiveness of sins). Only the spiritual—only God and His power—can impart the spiritual quality of eternal life, salvation, and forgiveness of sins. God can impart spiritual salvation and then say, “Immersion in water is a picture of what I do for you. And if you really believe in Me, then the very first evidence of your faith is for you to be baptized.”

5. Practical experience tells us that belief and baptism are separate acts involved in salvation, yet they are both involved. They are both involved in the sense that baptism is an immediate act of obedience and repentance. A true believer should be baptized, and no true believer will fail to be baptized unless he is providentially stopped.

- ⇒ Example one: a believer flying across country leads a person to truly trust Christ to save him. The plane crashes and the new believer is killed before he can be baptized. He is not doomed to hell. Scripture teaches no such thing. To say he is doomed is to say that the power of salvation is in the waters of baptism and not in God's Son. In fact, to say such is to dishonor God's Son, to take the love and power and grace that belong to Him and to ascribe it to a physical substance. If the new believer truly believes within his heart, truly honors God's Son by trusting Jesus to save him, God accepts that man. God accepts the man because he honors God's Son, and God will do anything for any man who honors His Son. The man is thereby accepted by God, accepted because he honors God's Son by believing and committing his life to Him.

However, the man who reaches the ground and is not baptized as soon as he can make arrangements is not genuine. His faith is suspect, for he is not putting God first in his life. He has not turned to Christ ready to obey and live for Him. The man who truly believes is the man who is not only ready to obey Christ, he does obey and live for Christ.

Note another example. There are masses of people who live in arid and desert countries where thousands are starving and dying of thirst. What about them and baptism? What if a missionary leads some to Christ. Are they to be immersed when there is so little water and multitudes are dying of thirst? The point is clear, not only in the teaching of Scripture, but in the love of God and in practical terms. A person is justified by faith, but he is to be baptized immediately, as soon as he possibly can. Why? Because he is genuine, he does believe in the Lord Jesus, loving Him and wishing to obey Him in all things and thereby fulfilling all righteousness. However, his salvation does not depend upon baptism; it depends upon God's dear Son, our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

DIVISION IV

HOLINESS AND SANCTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE BELIEVER TO BE FREE FROM SIN, 6:1-23

B. The Believer is Not to Continue in Sin (Part II): He is to Live Out His Position in Christ, 6:11-13

(6:11-13) Introduction: the true believer does not continue in sin; he does not live in sin. He conquers and triumphs over sin. In very clear terms this passage tells exactly what the believer must do to live in victory over sin.

1. He counts himself dead to sin, but alive to God (v.11).
2. He resists sin (v.12).
3. He does not yield the members of his body to sin (v.13).

1 (6:11) Sin—Life, Victorious: the believer must count himself dead to sin, but alive to God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Reckon—Ro.6:11 for discussion). How does the believer keep from walking in sin?

1. The believer must count himself dead to sin. If a person is a true believer, then he has died with Christ. God has taken his belief and counted him as having died in Christ, and a dead man can do nothing; he cannot sin. He is freed from sin.

What happens is this: when a believer truly believes in Christ, God takes his faith and counts him dead in Christ. God frees him from sin and its power as well as from its consequences and penalty. Therefore, the believer is to...

- count himself
- consider himself
- reckon himself
- treat himself
- regard himself
- credit himself

...as dead in Christ, as being free from sin and its power. He is to receive this truth into his heart and life. He is to become totally convicted and convinced of it.

(Note a crucial point: the true believer is not left only to the power of his own mind or thoughts to convince himself of this glorious truth. It is not only a matter of human thought and reasoning or of mental control. God has given the Holy Spirit to stir and build confidence of the glorious truth within the believer. The Holy Spirit is our "seal," our guarantee, of salvation. But this is the subject of another discussion, of chapter eight. The present chapter concerns our part in overcoming sin. God does help us overcome sin through the Holy Spirit, but we also have a part. And it is our part that is presently being considered.)

"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" (Lk.9:23).

"God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein?...Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin. For he that is dead is freed from sin" (Ro.6:2, 6-7).

"I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me" (Gal.2:20).

"And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts" (Gal.5:24).

"For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God" (Col.3:3).

"It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him" (2 Tim.2:11).

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

2. The believer must count himself alive to God. The true believer is not only identified with Christ in death, he is identified with Christ in resurrection. God not only counts the believer's faith as death in Christ, He counts his faith as life in Christ. The believer is counted to have risen in Christ's resurrection. The resurrection of the Lord Jesus counts as the resurrection of the believer. As Jesus Christ was raised to a new life, so the believer is raised to a new life. As Jesus Christ was raised to live in the presence of God and to serve Him forever, so the believer is raised to live in the presence of God and to serve Him forever.

The point is this: let the believer receive into his heart and life the truth of his resurrected life. Let the believer now live unto God. Let the believer now serve God and not sin. Let the believer walk before God in his new, resurrected life; let him walk soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world. Let him walk...

- counting himself
- considering himself
- treating himself
- regarding himself

...as alive to God, now and forever serving God.

“For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him” (Lk.20:38).

“Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:11).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

3. Note the most glorious truth: the believer’s life is due to Christ and Christ alone. All that the believer knows—his glorious deliverance from sin and the wonderful victory of eternal life—is due to Christ’s death and resurrection. Note: it is the believer who really keeps his mind upon the death and resurrection of Christ that walks above sin. It is he who walks free from sin who conquers it every step of the way and glorifies God by the victory of his righteous life.

In conclusion, the believer’s first step in conquering sin is to count himself dead to sin, and alive unto God. The believer must know and live out his position, the glorious life God has given him in the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ our Lord. The believer who keeps his mind and thoughts upon his position in Christ’s death and resurrection will conquer sin—every time.

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:11) Reckon—Impute (logizethe): to reckon; to credit; to set to one’s account; to lay to one’s charge; to impute; to judge; to consider; to treat; to count; to compute; to ascribe. It is an accounting word; it implies something put to a man’s credit. It is used many times throughout Romans, about eleven times in chapter four of Romans alone. It is an extremely important idea in Scripture.

1. Scripture says that righteousness is imputed or reckoned to the genuine believer by God.

“And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness. Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him; but for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead; who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:22-25).

2. Scripture says that the genuine believer is immersed, imputed, reckoned, or counted as dead in Christ’s death; that is, his “old man” is imputed or reckoned as crucified in Christ’s death .

“Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:3-4).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6. See note, Sin—Ro.6:11 for more discussion and verses.)

3. Scripture says that a new life, a resurrected life is imputed, reckoned, or put to the account of the believer through Christ’s resurrection.

“For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection” (Ro.6:5).

“Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him: knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God” (Ro.6:8-10).

Very simply stated, God counts the believer righteous because of what Christ has done. Christ is seen to be “the Lord our righteousness,” and His righteousness is said to be put to a man’s account through faith (cp. Phile.18).

2 (6:12) Sin—Life, Victorious: the believer must resist sin. This is an imperative—a forceful command. It is up to the believer to resist sin; he is responsible for resisting it.

1. He must not let sin reign (basileueto): have authority, rule, control, occupy, hold sway, prevail over him. The present tense is used, so the idea is a continuous attitude and behavior. The believer is always to keep his mind off sin. He is to keep his mind under control by keeping his mind off...

- wealth and material things
- position and power
- recognition and fame
- the lust of the eyes
- the lust of the flesh
- the pride of life
- parties and sex
- appearance and clothes

The believer is not to let sin dominate, control, and reign in his mortal body. Sin is not to dominate his thoughts and life. He is to resist sin by standing against it and by rebuking and fighting against it. He is to oppose sin with all his might.

“Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee” (Jn.5:14).

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

2. He must not obey sin in its lusts (epithumiais). The word means strong desire or craving and passion. The pull of sin is sometimes strong, very strong. All men know what it is to lust after things, after more and more, whether it be money, property, security, position, pleasure, fun, or fleshly stimulation. The true believer must not yield to these pulls. He must not let the lusts of his eyes and flesh rule and regulate his mind and behavior. He must not let lust order his life. He must not obey sin in its lusts, in its cravings, desires, and passions. He must resist the lusts of his “mortal body.”

“And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:29).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the souls” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

3 (6:13) Sin: three things need to be said about sin at this point in Romans. (1) Sin is an offense and a disease in chapters 1-4. In chapter 6 it is a master or a ruling power. (2) Sin is not “destroyed” in the believer. It is still active and can still injure. The believer is to fight against its pull. (3) The body is not the source of sin, but the Bible says and man’s experience proves that the body is the instrument of sin, the organ which sin uses to manifest and satisfy itself. The body is under the heavy influence and severe power of sin and corruption—so much so that the sensual appetites of the body tend to enslave the soul and lead men to sin, even against his better judgment. Therefore, the believer is strongly exhorted, resist—“let not sin therefore reign in your mortal bodies” (Ro.6:12).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(6:13) Sin—Life, Victorious: the believer must not yield the members of his body to sin. The word “yield” (paristemi) means to offer; to put at the disposal of; to give; to grant; to turn over to. The believer is not to yield the members of his body to be instruments or tools of unrighteousness. If he takes a member of his body and uses it as an instrument or tool of unrighteousness, he sins. The members of a person’s body refer to all the parts of the body: the eyes, ears, mouth, tongue, hands, feet, mind, or any of the covered and dressed parts. No believer is to offer or give any part of his body over to unrighteousness. To do so is to sin. The tense is present action, so the believer is to be constantly on guard against allowing any member of his body to be yielded to sin. Note: the word “yield” has the idea of struggling. It is a struggle to fight against sin and to control and protect the members of our body.

1. —> The believer is to yield himself to God. Note a significant fact: in the Greek this is not written in the present tense, but in the aorist tense. This simply means the believer is to make a one-time decision for God, a once-for-all dedication of his life to God. The presentation of his life to God is to be sincere and genuine. He is to yield himself—his body, his life, all that he is—to God; and his decision is to be a permanent decision.

Note just how complete this dedication is to be. It is to be as deep a commitment as the dedication of those who are alive from the dead. And just think how deeply committed to God the believers are who have gone on to be with Him!

2. —> The believer is to yield the members of his body as instruments of righteousness unto God. The believer is to turn the members of his body over to God: his eyes, ears, mouth, tongue, hands, feet, mind—all his members. Every part of his body is to be given over as an instrument or tool to do righteousness. Every part of the believer’s body is to be given over to God for the purpose of working righteousness.

“And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell. And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:29-30; cp. Mt.18:8-9).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all to stand” (Eph.6:13).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

DIVISION IV

HOLINESS AND SANCTIFICATION: THE WAY FOR THE BELIEVER TO BE FREE FROM SIN, 6:1-23

C. The Believer is Not to Continue in Sin (Part III): He Does Not Have License to Sin, 6:14-23

(6:14-23) Introduction: a believer is not to continue in sin, for he does not have license to sin.

1. Learn something: sin shall not dominate the true believer (v.14-15).
2. Know something: you can serve only one master, sin or God (v.16).
3. Remember something: remember your decision—you chose righteousness (v.17-18).
4. Do something: serve God with the same fervor that you served sin (v.19-20).
5. Question something: what fruit is there in sin (v.21-22)?
6. Consider something: the wages of sin vs. the gift of God, of eternal life (v.23).

(6:14-23) Another Outline: The Believer Does Not Have License to Sin.

1. He is not to be dominated by sin (v.14).
  - a. He is not under law, but grace.
  - b. This does not give license to sin (v.15).
2. He can choose only one master—an illustration (v.16).
  - a. There are two masters: Sin or obedience to God (cp. v.22).
  - b. Sin leads to death; obedience to righteousness.
3. He has been emancipated—become a new man, a slave of righteousness (v.17; cp. v.22).
  - a. The emancipation: "Were...but now."
  - b. By obeying God's form of doctrine.
  - c. By being set free from sin, that despotic master (v.18).
  - d. By yielding his bodily members to righteousness (v.19).
4. He is now ashamed of his former behavior (sin) (v.20).
  - a. Because he was not free to do righteousness.
  - b. Because the end of those things (sin) is death (v.21).
5. He now has a new life and a new end (v.22).
  - a. A life of fruit: holiness.
  - b. An end of hope: everlasting life.
6. Conclusion: The laborer's wages (v.23; cp. v.16).

1 (6:14-15) Grace vs. Law—God, Father—License: learn something—sin shall not dominate the genuine believer. There is a strong reason for this: the believer is under grace and not under the law.

1. The person under law is always struggling to keep the law, yet he is constantly aware that he fails and comes short of the law. The law is ever before his face. He struggles and strives, wrestles and grapples, works and labors to obey; but his experience is full of tension and pressure, disappointment and discouragement. The person under law never lives a victorious life, for he is constantly coming short of God's glory and perfection. When he fails, he goes through periods of self-accusation, of reproaching and censoring himself for having failed. He accuses and downs himself, feeling unworthy and undeserving, wretched and vile before God. He is constantly feeling unacceptable to God, as though he no longer has the right to approach God; and he often does not approach God for long periods of time, living a defeated life, always bearing the burden of his sin and failure. (See note, Spiritual Struggle—Ro.7:24 for more discussion.)

“Tribulation and anguish, upon every soul of man that doeth evil, of the Jew first, and also of the Gentile” (Ro.2:9).

“And thy life shall hang in doubt before thee; and thou shalt fear day and night, and shalt have none assurance of thy life: in the morning thou shalt say, Would God it were even! and at even thou shalt say, Would God it were morning! for the fear of thine heart wherewith thou shalt fear, and for the sight of thine eyes which thou shalt see” (Dt.28:66-67).

“If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse” (Job 9:20).

“The wicked man travaileth with pain all his days, and the number of years is hidden to the oppressor” (Job 15:20).

“For mine iniquities are gone over mine head: as a heavy burden they are too heavy for me” (Ps.38:4).

“For innumerable evils have compassed me about: mine iniquities have taken hold upon me, so that I am not able to look up; they are more than the hairs of mine head: therefore my heart faileth me” (Ps.40:12).

“For I acknowledge my transgressions and my sin is ever before me” (Ps.51:3).

“Fools, because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted” (Ps.107:17).

“The way of transgressors is hard” (Pr.13:15).

2. The true believer is under grace, not under law. God is not a legal judge hovering over the believer to punish him every time he sins by breaking a particular law. The believer is not under such frightening dominion: he is not under law, but under grace. What does this mean?

- a. It means that the believer accepts the grace of God demonstrated in Jesus Christ. That is, the believer accepts the righteousness, the sinless perfection of Christ as his own righteousness. The believer identifies his life with the life of Christ, and God takes the believer's acceptance of Christ and counts his acceptance as righteousness. (See outline and DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22; 5:1; 6:1-10 for more discussion.) Very simply stated, God credits righteousness to the believer when the believer accepts the righteousness of Christ. God counts the faith of the believer as the righteousness of Jesus Christ. Such is the great love of God. But note, this is the position of grace, that is, the believer is counted righteous and placed in the position of righteousness when he believes in Christ. He is placed into Christ and positioned in Christ once-for-all when he truly believes. Such is the righteous position of the believer.

However, what about the righteous life of the believer? Very practically, how does the believer keep from serving sin, from living under sin, from displeasing God? How can he honestly live under grace day-by-day? How can he live under God's favor all of the time? How can he go about pleasing God and receiving His approval and acceptance?

- b. The genuine believer must constantly keep before his face this glorious truth: he is under God's grace. God is the believer's Father, and the believer has become a true child of God. Therefore, the true believer is favored and accepted by his Father. What the child has to do is stay in that favor. He must keep his Father's favor and approval. When he sins, he needs to go to his Father in all sincerity and ask forgiveness, repenting of his sin. If he keeps an open relationship with his Father—always approaching Him, asking His forgiveness, and repenting—he is forgiven. The slate is wiped clean—sin does not have dominion over him. There is nothing between the child and his Father. All has been discussed and forgiven. The offense is gone, resolved, put away forever. Therefore, sin does not dominate and rule over the child.

Now, note the point: God is a gracious and loving Father. He cares and suffers long with growing children. When His child falls into sin, God is long-suffering, ever willing to forgive His erring child—if the child will only come and ask forgiveness, turning from his sin (Lk.17:3-4; 1 Jn.1:9). Just how long-suffering is God? “His mercy endureth forever”; His mercy covers every sin and all sin (Ps.106:1; 107:1; 118:1-4).

“It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:2-3).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“O give thanks unto the LORD; for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever” (Ps.136:1).

“The LORD will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O LORD, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands” (Ps.138:8).

3. In light of so wondrous a relationship, a question needs to be asked. Is the child of God allowed to continue in sin? Can he sin and sin expecting God to forgive and forgive him? Scripture shouts: God forbid! Then Scripture argues that a true child of God must not continue in sin. (See note—Ro.6:1-2; Introduction, Purpose—Colossians.) He does not set God aside for a night or two and sin. He does not rationalize that he can go ahead and sin because God is going to forgive him anyway. Why does the true child of God not do this? Why does he keep away from sin?

⇒ Because his Father (God) loves him and he loves his Father. A true child of God does not want to hurt and displease his Father, and his Father is displeased with sin. Consequently, the true child of God strives not to sin (Ro.2:23-24; Heb.6:6). He fights against it, for sin is contrary to the nature of his Father and cuts the heart of his Father beyond all else. Therefore, he does all he can to keep away from sin.

“If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame” (Heb.6:6).

“For all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination unto the LORD thy God” (Dt.25:16).

“For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee” (Ps.5:4).

⇒ Because he turned to God in order to get away from sin, from its shame and destruction. He did not turn to God in order to have the freedom to sin, but to be set free from the enslavement and habits of sin, to break the bondage and consequences of sin. (See note, License—Ro.6:1-2 for more discussion.)

“What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death” (Ro.6:21).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

In summary of what is said above, the believer must learn something: sin will not dominate the true believer. There are three reasons.

1. God is not a legal judge hovering over the child to punish him every time he sins by breaking a particular law. The child is not under such frightening dominion.

2. God is a gracious and loving Father. He cares and suffers long with growing children. When His child falls into sin, God is long-suffering, ever willing to forgive His erring child—if the child will only come and ask forgiveness and turn from his sin (Lk.17:3-4; 1 Jn.1:9).

3. God is a teaching Father who disciplines. He exhorts His child not to fall into the dominating trap of sin (cp. Heb.12:5-11; 1 Jn.2:1-2).

The emphasis of this chapter, however, is of supreme importance. A believer who is genuine—who really belongs to Christ—shows his genuineness by obeying Christ as Master. He does not consistently practice sin. (See note—Ro.6:1-2.)

2 (6:16) Sin, Results—Sin, Deliverance From: know something—you can serve only one master, sin or God. The word “servant” (doulos) means slave. A person is either the slave of sin or of God, and there is a very simple test to tell which master a person serves.

⇒ Do you yield to sin, that is, serve sin?

⇒ Do you yield to God, that is, serve God?

If you yield to sin, you shall die. If you yield to God and obey Him, you shall be counted righteous and live.

Now note a crucial point. Either sin is your master or God is your Master. You either yield to sin or you yield to God. This does not mean that you become sinless and perfect, but that...

- you do not plan to sin.
- you hate sin and fight against it.
- you struggle to please God by not sinning.
- you diligently seek to make God the Master of your life by obeying Him.
- you study God’s Word so that you will know His commandments and can obey Him.
- you immediately seek God’s forgiveness when you do sin and you repent—you turn away from the sin (1 Jn.1:9; 2:1-2).
- you walk in open confession before God, talking to Him all day long, ever gaining an unbroken fellowship with Him as the Master of your life.

Again, note the results, for whom we serve determines our destiny. If we yield to sin, we shall die; but if we yield to God, we shall be counted righteous and live eternally.

“No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon” (Mt.6:24).

“Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin” (Jn.8:34).

“Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?” (Ro.6:16).

“For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members” (Ro.7:22-23).

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils” (1 Cor.10:21).

“A double minded man is unstable in all his ways” (Jas.1:8).

“While they [the carnal or fleshy] promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage” (2 Pt.2:19).

“His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins” (Pr.5:22).

3 (6:17-18) Decision—Sin, Penalty—Sin, Deliverance From: remember something—remember your decision. You chose righteousness.

1. Note the stated fact: believers “were the servants of sin.” They used to yield to sin, all kinds of sin ranging from...
  - ⇒ simple off-colored jokes to using God’s name in vain.
  - ⇒ immoral thoughts to adultery.
  - ⇒ simple thoughts of pride to drunkenness.
  - ⇒ simple acts of selfishness to stealing.
  - ⇒ wanting more to actually indulging.
  - ⇒ seeking position and power to hurting and crushing people.

But now believers have obeyed the doctrine of God, that is, the gospel of justification. Note the word “obeyed.” They obeyed the gospel of God, doing exactly what God commanded.

They obeyed God’s commandment. They “believed” on the name of God’s Son, Jesus Christ; therefore, God took their faith and counted it as righteousness. They chose God and righteousness, and because they did, God accepted them as righteous.

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

2. Note the stated result: believers are freed from sin. They are counted righteous by God, not sinful. God sees believers as righteous people, not as sinners. Therefore, believers are freed from sin and its consequences. God does not charge believers with sin; He does not lay sin against them. Believers are freed from the accusation of sin, and they shall never be charged with sin. God has freed them from sin through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ (cp. Ro.8:33-34).

Now this means something significant, very significant. The believer becomes the servant of righteousness. There is no way he could ever serve sin again, not if he has really been justified, not if he has really come to know God’s love revealed in the Lord Jesus Christ. Once he truly knows God’s glorious love, he is driven to serve God in appreciation for what God has done for him in Christ Jesus. He is driven to be the servant of God by living righteously and godly in this present world.

Thought 1. The degree to which a believer grasps the love of God in justification is the degree to which he is driven to serve God and to live righteously.

“Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:33-34).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new....For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:17, 21).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

4 (6:19-20) Dedication—Sin, Enslavement to: do something—serve God with the same fervor that you served sin.

1. Your sin did further sin; it resulted in more and more sin. The word “members” means the parts of a person’s body: the eyes, ears, mouth, tongue, hands, feet, mind, or any of the covered and dressed parts. Before a person obeyed the gospel, truly believed in Jesus Christ, he yielded parts of his body to serve uncleanness and to work sin upon sin. He sinned and found that sin worked sin, just increased and increased, grew and grew. He found that sin enslaved him, became a bondage, and a habit that he could not easily break. Sin simply led to more sin, no matter what the sin was...

- |              |             |               |
|--------------|-------------|---------------|
| • smoking    | • lust      | • selfishness |
| • drinking   | • gossip    | • popularity  |
| • immorality | • criticism | • recognition |
| • overeating | • grumbling | • power       |
| • greed      | • cursing   | • fame        |

The point is this. The believer had found that his sin worked more sin and that he could not break the power of sin, not the power of all sin. Therefore, he had turned to the only hope he had, God.

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts” (Eph.4:22).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:3).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

2. Now the believer is to let righteousness work holiness (hagiasmon). The word means sanctification or holy. The believer is to yield the parts of his body to serve righteousness, and he is to let righteousness sanctify him more and more. He is to live righteously and become more and more holy like God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Holy—1 Pt.1:15-16 for more discussion.)

3. The believer never had the opportunity to work righteousness before he was justified. Before believing in Christ, the believer was not counted righteous, not by God. God never credits a person with righteousness unless the person honors His Son by believing in His Son’s glorious name. Only those who believe are counted righteous. Therefore, the message is loud and clear: “When you served sin, you were free from righteousness: you were not credited with righteousness. You did not have the opportunity to live righteously before God. But now you have obeyed God; you have believed. Now you have the opportunity to live righteously, so begin to serve God with the same fervor and energy with which you were serving sin. Let righteousness enslave you and become the bondage and habit of your life.”

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:2-5).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

5 (6:21-22) Sin: question something—what fruit is there in sin? Note several clear facts.

1. The true believer is ashamed of his past sin.

“And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked; and I hid myself” (Gen.3:10).

“And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens” (Ezra 9:6).

“My confusion is continually before me, and the shame of my face hath covered me” (Ps.44:15).

2. The fruit of sin is death (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Death—Ro.6:23; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Heb.9:27). The fruit of sin is not good; there is nothing good about it. Sin corrupts, destroys, and dooms all who seek its fruits. This should always be remembered by men.

3. Believers are “made free” from sin by justification, that is, through the glorious love of God. Therefore, they have become slaves to God...

- bearing the fruit of holiness.

“And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:32).

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing” (Jn.15:5).

“Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness” (Ro.6:18).

“But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life” (Ro.6:22).

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death” (Ro.8:2).

“That he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hand of our enemies, might serve him without fear. In holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life” (Lk.1:74-75).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you: to the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints” (1 Th.3:12-13).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

“Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness” (2 Pt.3:11).

bearing the glorious hope and end of eternal life.

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“He that loveth his life shall lose it; and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal” (Jn.12:25).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

6 (6:23) Sin, Wages of—Death: consider something, the wages of sin vs. the gift of God.

1. The wages of sin is death. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Death—Heb.9:27 for more discussion.) Sin deserves death for two very clear reasons.

a. Sin is acting against God, acting against His very nature. Sin strikes out against God, attempts to tear down God’s nature...

- of purity and morality.
- of holiness and glory.
- of justice and righteousness.
- of love and grace.

b. Sin is rebellion against God. It is rejecting God, ignoring God, disobeying God, denying God, and refusing to live for God. (See note—Ro.5:10 for more discussion.)

The point is this. True justice demands that sin receive its payment or its wages. Since sin is so opposed to God’s nature and is actually rebellion against God, it deserves to die...

- to be cast far, far away from God.
- to have no part of God.
- to be banished from God’s sight.
- to be separated from God’s presence forever.
- to be condemned and punished for having dishonored and cursed God so much.

As a laborer receives his wages, so sin shall receive its wages. Just as it would be unjust not to pay the laborer, it would be unjust not to pay sin for its work. In fact, if sin did not receive its just punishment, it would be the most gross injustice of eternity. Why? Because sin is against the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, against God Himself. Sin must receive its just wages. Sin must die; it must be banished forever from the presence of God.

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Gen.2:17).

“As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

“The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

2. The gift of God is eternal life. Note that eternal life is not the payment of wages. A man cannot work for and earn eternal life. It is the gift of God, and it is only through Jesus Christ our Lord (see outlines and notes—Ro.6:14-15; 5:1; 6:1-10).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:5-7).

DIVISION V

STRUGGLE AND CONFESSION: THE BELIEVER IS TO BE FREE FROM THE LAW, 7:1-25

A. The Two Positions of the Law to Man, 7:1-6

(7:1-6) Introduction: the law of God stands before man. It stands in two positions that must be understood if man wishes to secure peace in this life.

1. The law dominates man only as long as he lives (v.1-3).
2. Position 1: the law is dead to believers (v.4).
3. Position 2: the law is alive to those "in the flesh" (v.5).
4. The law is inactivated by conversion (v.6).

(7:1-6) Another Outline: The Two Marriages Illustrating the Law and Man.

1. Marriage 1: married to the law (v.1-3).
2. Marriage 2: married to Christ (v.4).
3. The divorce from the law (v.5-6).

1 (7:1-3) Law: the law dominates and rules over a man only as long as he lives. The law applies only to the living; it has no bearing whatsoever upon the dead. A dead man is freed from the law; it has no jurisdiction or power over a dead man.

1. Note the two positions of the law illustrated by the law of marriage (v.2).
  - a. The law is alive or active to the living. (Cp. the husband and wife who are living and the law of marriage and divorce.)
  - b. The law is dead or inactive when death enters the picture. (Cp. the wife who is loosed or freed from the law when her husband dies.)
2. Note the conclusion of the illustration (v.3).
  - a. The law condemns the living who violate its demands. (Cp. the woman who marries another man while her husband lives.)
  - b. Death frees a person from the law. (Cp. the wife who is free from the law when her husband dies.)

The point is clear. When death enters the picture, a person is no longer under the law and he can no longer be condemned by the law. Death forever frees a person from the law, from its demands, guilt, and condemnation.

2 (7:4) The Law—Jesus Christ, Redemption: the first position of the law is a glorious truth—the law is dead to "brothers" (believers). Note: Scripture says that believers are "dead to the law," whereas the outline states that the law is dead to believers. Both are true and are saying the same thing.

⇒ Believers are "dead to the law"; therefore the law is bound to be dead and inactive to believers.

The law has no jurisdiction, power, rule, authority, or dominion over the true believer. The law is a dead issue to the believer; it has nothing to do with the believer. The believer is dead to the law and the law is dead to the believer. The law simply does not exist for the believer. This is a shock to most people, but it is exactly what Scripture is declaring. The believer is no longer under the law and its accusing finger, no longer under its...

- guilt and shame
- condemnation and punishment
- discouragement and frustration
- tension and pressure
- sense of failure and unworthiness
- sense of disappointment

1. Note how the glorious truth becomes a reality in the life of a person. The believer is dead to the law by the [crucified] body of Christ. The believer is slain or put to death in Christ. The law has nothing to say to a dead man. The believer's death in Christ is a vicarious death: he does not literally die himself, but he participates in the death of Christ—spiritually. When a man believes in Christ's death, God takes that man's belief and counts him as having died in Christ. That is, God counts the death of Christ for the death of the believer; God considers the believer to have been in Christ when Christ died. Why does God do this? Because Christ died in man's behalf, in man's stead, taking the penalty and punishment of the law upon Himself. Therefore, the believer—being dead in Christ—is freed from the law, from its demands and guilt and punishment.

The believer is freed "by the body of Christ," that is, by His slain body or by His death. Christ redeemed the believer from the law...

- by being a curse.

"For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them. Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal.3:10, 13).

- by His blood.

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ" (Eph.2:13).

- by His flesh.

"Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace" (Eph.2:15).

- by the cross.

"And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby" (Eph.2:16).

- by the body of His flesh.

"In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and un-reproveable in his sight" (Col.1:22).

These are equivalent expressions. They teach the same truth: Christ bore our sins in His own body upon the tree (1 Pt.2:24). His sufferings satisfied justice. His death makes us acceptable to God and delivers us from the penalty of the law; therefore the believer is free from the law.

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

2. Note the glorious purpose for the believer's death to the law.

a. The believer dies to the law so that he can be united to Christ, the risen and living Lord. Note the picture of marriage is used again. Before coming to Christ, the believer was married and united to the law; he was under its rule and authority. But now, since coming to Christ, he is married and united to Christ; he is under His rule and authority. The believer no longer lives as the law says, but as Christ lived and commanded. (Note: Christ came to fulfill the law; therefore He and His commandments include not only the law, but much more. See note—Mt.5:17-18 for more discussion.) Note that believers are married to Christ, the risen and living Lord. The marriage is not a dead or an inactive marriage, but a living, active marriage.

"Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ; that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God" (Ro.7:4).

"Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of a harlot? God forbid" (1 Cor.6:15).

“For I am jealous over you with godly jealousy: for I have espoused you to one husband, that I may present you as a chaste virgin to Christ” (2 Cor.11:2).

“For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones” (Eph.5:30).

“Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father” (1 Jn.2:24).

- b. The believer dies to the law so that he can bring forth fruit unto God. Bearing fruit would mean...
- to bear righteousness (Ro.6:21-23; Ph.1:11).
  - to bear converts (Ro.1:13; Jn.15:16).
  - to bear Christian character, the fruit of the Spirit (Gal.5:22-23; Col.1:10).

3 (7:5) The Law—Lust—Sin: the second position of the law is a warning—the law is alive to those “in the flesh.” A man “in the flesh” is the natural man: the man without Christ, the unsaved, the unjustified, and the unregenerate man. To be “in the flesh” means that a man is still “under the law,” that he must keep its demands and suffer its guilt and bear its punishment. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Flesh—Jn.1:14; DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.3:1-4 for more discussion.) Note two significant points.

1. The law is alive and active to the man without Christ.
- a. It is alive and active in that it points out sin and arouses guilt within a man when he violates the law. (See note, Grace vs. Law—Ro.6:14-15 for more discussion and verses on guilty feelings.)

“By the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound” (Ro.5:20).

“What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet” (Ro.7:7).

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made” (Gal.3:19).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

- b. It is alive and active in that it arouses sinful passions or “the passions of sins” (ta pathemata ton hamartion). The law not only points out sin, it actually arouses feelings and stirs the emotions to do the forbidden. Sinful feelings are actually “wrought” (energeito) by the law in our members. When the law prohibits and forbids something, it actually creates within us...

- |                 |                 |
|-----------------|-----------------|
| • an interest   | • a tug or pull |
| • an attraction | • a fascination |
| • an excitement | • a seduction   |
| • an appeal     | • an arousal    |

There is within man something that makes him want to do what he is forbidden to do. When he is restricted or fenced in, he wants to break through the restriction or fence. He wants to go beyond where he is allowed, to take control of his own life as he wishes and wills. (See note—Ro.7:8 for more discussion.)

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead” (Ro.7:8).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:1-2).

“For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:17).

2. The result of combating the law—of refusing to obey the law—is that one bears the fruit of sin. When a man violates the law, he bears transgression and sin, and sin leads to death. In fact, sin deserves death (see note—Ro.6:23 for more discussion).

“Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned” (Ro.5:12).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die” (Gen.2:17).

“As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

“The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him” (Ezk.18:20).

4 (7:6) Law—New Life: the law is inactivated by conversion. Believers are “delivered” (katergethemen), that is, have been discharged from the law. How? By their death “in” Christ (see note, Jesus Christ, Redemption—Ro.7:4 for discussion).

The believer is freed from the law so that he might serve in “newness of spirit,” and not in the “oldness of the letter.”

⇒ The “oldness of the letter” refers to the law. It is the written law which a man tries to keep in order to please God. But note: the law was the old way for man to live; it is no longer the way for a man to approach God.

⇒ The “newness of spirit” can refer to either the Holy Spirit or to the believer’s new spirit. The Holy Spirit is the One who brings new life to the believer and bears fruit within the believer. (Cp. Ro.8:13-17; Gal.5:22-23. See outline and notes—Ro.8:1-17.)

The believer’s new spirit is also focused upon God and upon his relationship with God. The believer is now a child of God, a true member of God’s family who has open access into God’s presence anytime and under any condition. The believer seeks to serve God knowing that if he fails, God will forgive him and allow him to continue on—as if nothing had ever happened. The believer no longer serves God in a legal and slavish spirit that dooms him to discouragement and defeat; but he serves God in “the new spirit” of love, joy, peace, forgiveness, and acceptance.

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:13-17).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

DIVISION V

STRUGGLE AND CONFESSION: THE BELIEVER IS TO BE FREE FROM THE LAW, 7:1-25

B. The Purpose of the Law, 7:7-13

(7:7-13) Introduction: the purpose of the law is clearly pointed out in this passage. It is a passage that needs to be carefully studied by both the world and believers. It is a passage that needs to be proclaimed from the housetops, for the law was given by God to show man his desperate need for a Savior.

1. Is the law sin, that is, evil? (v.7).
2. The law reveals the fact of sin (v.7).
3. The law gives sin the opportunity to be aroused and to work every kind of evil (v.8).
4. The law reveals the fact of condemnation and death (v.9-10).
5. The law reveals the deceitfulness of sin (v.11).
6. The law reveals the way of God: holiness, righteousness, and goodness (v.12).
7. The law shows that sin is exceedingly sinful and that it is the cause of death (v.13).

1 (7:7) The Law: Is the law sin, that is, evil? This is a legitimate question because of what Romans has declared about the law.

1. The law judges and condemns men: "As many as have sinned in the law shall be judged by the law" (Ro.2:12).
2. The law and ritual do not make a person a Christian: "He is a Jew [Christian], which is one inwardly; and circumcision [a ritual] is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter [law], whose praise is not of men, but of God" (Ro.2:29).
3. The law cannot make a man righteous and acceptable to God: "Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin" (Ro.3:20; cp. Ro.3:27).
4. The purpose of the law is not to save man but to bear witness that man desperately needs the righteousness of God: "But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference" (Ro.3:21-22).
5. The law leads man to boast in himself—in his own works and self-righteousness—not in God: "Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? Nay: but by the law of faith" (Ro.3:27; cp. Ro.4:2, 4; 2:29).
6. The law does not justify a person: "If Abraham were justified by works [the law], he hath whereof to glory; but not before God. For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness. Now to him that worketh is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness" (Ro.4:2-5).
7. The law is not the way a person receives the promise of God: "For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith" (Ro.4:13).
8. The law works wrath in that it accuses man of sin and condemns him: "Because the law worketh wrath: for where no law is, there is no transgression" (Ro.4:15).
9. The law causes sin to increase and multiply: "Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound" (Ro.5:20).
10. The law enslaves and brings men into bondage: "For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace" (Ro.6:14; cp. Ro.7:1).
11. The law arouses men to sin: "For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death" (Ro.7:5).

Such facts as these can naturally cause a person to question the value of God's law. If the law lays such a burden of sin upon man, what good is it? Is it not evil? Scripture declares loudly and clearly: "God forbid! Let it never be! Such a thought is far from the truth!"

2 (7:7) The Law: the law of God reveals the fact of sin. Apart from the law, man would be aware that some acts are wrong, such as stealing and killing. However, there would be much that man could not know if he did not have the law, much that he would desperately need to know in order to live a full and peaceful life.

The law reveals the fact of sin, the fact...

- that men are not in a right relationship with God.
- that men are not in a right relationship with other men.
- that men are living selfishly, thereby dooming themselves.
- that men are coveting and lusting, thereby destroying their world and their future.
- that men are displeasing God and have become unacceptable to Him.

The point is this: when a man sees the fact of sin, the fact that he is a sinner, he can correct it and do something about it. The knowledge of sin is a great and glorious thing, for we can take our knowledge and use it to correct the wrong. Without the law, we would roam in ignorance, not knowing what was wrong and what was right, what was dooming us and what was freeing us. If there was no restraint, that is, no law, every man would be doing what he wanted when he wanted; he would be doing his own thing—fulfilling his own desires—regardless of the fallout and the hurt inflicted upon others.

Now note: the law reveals sin; it awakens man to three facts about sin.

1. The law reveals the fact of sin, that sin actually exists. The law awakens man to the reality and truth of sin. Man knows that coveting is wrong because the law says, “Thou shalt not covet.” He knows that some things are good and other things are bad because the law tells him. He knows that certain things please and other things displease God because the law says so. In simple and clear language, the law tells a man...

- what the nature and will of God is.
- what he must do to be acceptable to God.

2. The law reveals the fact of man’s own sin, that man is unquestionably a sinner. The law awakens man to the reality that he himself is a sinner. The law shows man...

- that he does not always do the will of God.
- that he cannot keep the law of God, not perfectly.
- that he is guilty of acting contrary to the nature of God.
- that he is imperfect, guilty of violating God’s law.
- that being imperfect, he comes short of God’s glory.
- that being short of God’s glory, he is unacceptable to God.

3. The law reveals the fact of man’s sinful nature, that man is actually aroused to do some of the things that are forbidden. The law shows man that he has a sinful, depraved, polluted, and corrupted nature. The law shows man that he covets, lusts, enjoys, and is aroused...

- to take the second helping of food.
- to take the melons on the other side of the fence.
- to secure the same things owned by his neighbor.
- to go after the excitement and stimulation of the forbidden.
- to fulfill the lust of the flesh.
- to feed the lust of the eyes.
- to satisfy the pride of life.

The purpose of the law is to reveal sin so that man can correct his behavior and save himself and his world. Apart from God’s law, he would not know that he needed to be saved.

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound” (Ro.5:20).

“What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet” (Ro.7:7).

“Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made” (Gal.3:19).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers” (1 Tim.1:9).

3 (7:8) The Law—Lust—Sin: the law gives sin the opportunity to be aroused, working every kind of evil. Note the exact words of the Scripture: “Sin, taking occasion [opportunity] by the commandment, works in men all manner of evil,” that is, sin uses the commandment. Sin is not within the commandment; it is separate from it. The commandment or law is not sinful. Sin is within man, not within the law. Man’s aging, deteriorating, and corrupt nature has within it...

- |                        |                        |
|------------------------|------------------------|
| • the principle of sin | • a diseased flesh     |
| • the tendency to sin  | • a selfish appetite   |
| • the fondness for sin | • a self-centered mind |
| • the urge to sin      | • a dead spirit        |

Note three points.

1. It is the law that gives sin the opportunity to be aroused. The law actually stirs, awakens, and arouses sin to work all manner of evil. When a man is told not to do something, there is something within him that is stirred and wants to do it. Sometimes the desire to do the forbidden is so strong it becomes a rage, inflamed to such a point that the person just has to do it. (See note—Ro.7:5 for more discussion.)

2. It is man that takes and misuses the law; it is not the law that takes and misuses man. The law does not violate man; man violates the law. It is not the law that takes man and forces him to sin. It is man that takes the law and breaks it, that deliberately goes against what it says. It is sin within man that takes and misuses the law to work all manner of sin. Therefore, it is not the law that is evil; it is man who is evil.

3. Without the law, sin was dead; that is, it was not alive and active. It was not guiding and directing man; it was not able to fulfill its function which was so desperately needed: showing man his critical need for deliverance from sin and its condemnation of death.

Without the law, sin is dead, but with the law sin becomes alive. Man is able to look at the law and his true condition, that he is a sinner who must be saved if he is to become acceptable to God and live eternally. The law is not evil but good, gloriously good, for it shows us our desperate need for salvation.

“For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death” (Ro.7:5).

“But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead” (Ro.7:8).

“But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:14-15).

“From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members? Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:1-2).

“For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:17).

4 (7:9-10) The Law: the law reveals the fact of condemnation and death. This is a major purpose of the law. Note three points.

1. A man who does not know or pay attention to the law feels alive. He is just not aware of the law; therefore, he does not pay attention to sin. He is not aware that he is a sinner and short of God’s glory, violating God’s will and going contrary to God’s nature. He is ignorant of God’s law; he pays little attention to right and wrong. When he does wrong and fails to do right, he is not aware of it. Therefore he feels...

- no consciousness of sin.
- no guilt.
- no dread of punishment.
- no sense of judgment.

He feels alive, safe, secure, confident, and assured that he is pleasing to God and will be approved and accepted by God. He feels alive despite the reality of his sinful state and condition. Without the law he does not know the truth, that he is a sinner, condemned and unclean and ever so short of God’s glory and acceptance.

2. A man who does know God’s law and pays attention to it sees sin come alive. By knowing the law the man becomes acutely aware of sin when he breaks the law. It is the law that gives him...

- a painful awareness of sin.
- a sense of guilt.
- a sense of judgment to come.
- a dread of punishment and of death.

It is the law that causes his spirit to die, that destroys his confidence, assurance, comfort, and security. It is the law that shows him the true state and condition of man: that he is a sinner who is to face condemnation and death; that he desperately needs to be delivered from sin and death; that he desperately needs a Savior who can make him acceptable to God.

3. The point is this: the law is ordained to bring life, but not in the way men think. Men think that the law was given to be kept, and that by keeping the commandment they can earn the acceptance of God and work their way into heaven. However, this is not the way the law brings life to man. The law brings life to man...

- by destroying his self-centeredness and self-righteousness.
- by revealing the truth to him, his true state and condition.
- by showing him that he is a corrupt, sinful being.
- by demonstrating that he desperately needs to be delivered from sin and death.
- by proving that he desperately needs a Savior, One who can make him acceptable to God.

When a man really looks at the law of God, he learns his true condition: he is corrupt and destined to face condemnation and death. In learning this fact, he is driven to seek the salvation of God. Therefore, the law is not evil; it is good.

“For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?” (Ro.7:22-24).

“Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith” (Gal.3:24).

“In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death” (Pr.12:28).

“But if the wicked turn from his wickedness, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby” (Ezk.33:19).

5 (7:11) The Law: the law reveals the deceitfulness of sin. Note again: it is sin that takes the law and misuses it; it takes the law and deceives us. How? There are at least two ways.

1. Sin misuses the law and deceives a person by making him feel safe and secure. Sin, that is, self-righteousness, says obey the law and you shall live. But this is deception, for no man can keep the law perfectly. Down deep, the thinking and honest man knows he can never achieve perfection by keeping God’s law; but his sin, his self-righteousness, drives him onward to try and try; and he is forever deceived and doomed. The point is this: the law reveals the deceitfulness of sin or of self-righteousness. The law proves that man is not perfect, that he cannot live without sinning, that he sins and sins and cannot keep from sinning. When a man honestly looks at the law, the law destroys the deceitfulness of sin.

2. Sin misuses the law and deceives a person by discouraging him and making him feel helpless and hopeless. Sin deceives men into thinking that the law has been given to bring life to man. Therefore, when a man continues to break the law, he is keenly aware that he is condemned and unable to achieve the righteousness of the law. He knows that he has displeased God and senses that he is unacceptable to God. Feelings of helplessness and hopelessness swarm over him and he becomes defeated and down and out. Sin simply takes the law and uses man’s failure to discourage him. Sin uses the law, so to speak, to whip man, to make him feel unworthy and helpless and hopeless, to drive him deeper and deeper into despair.

“For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me” (Ro.7:11).

“For we ourselves also were sometimes foolish, disobedient, deceived, serving divers lusts and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, and hating one another” (Tit.3:3).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

“The perverseness of transgressors shall destroy them” (Pr.11:3).

“As righteousness tendeth to life; so he that pursueth evil pursueth it to his own death” (Pr.11:19).

Now note: such an attitude toward the law is the attitude of sin. The law was never given to drive men to despair, and in truth, it cannot. It is sin within men that drives them to despair. Twisted minds and ungodly thoughts drive men into a state of hopelessness. The law was given to reveal sin to men, to take the sin that already exists and to reveal its shame and consequences to men. When the law was first given, man was already in a state of sin and death: he was sinning and he was dying. God gave the law to man because He loved man, because He knew that men needed to be pointed toward Christ and needed to be shown their terrible condition and desperate need for a Savior. Such is the glorious purpose of the law, a purpose which is far from being evil.

6 (7:12) The Law: the law reveals the way of God, the way of holiness, righteousness, and goodness.

1. The law is holy: set apart and full of purity, majesty, and glory—set apart in that it reveals God’s nature and will—set apart in that it exposes sin, all that is contrary to God’s nature and will. The law is holy in that it is different and set apart from everything else on earth. The law is God’s way of holiness, the way to live a life of holiness, the way that is so different and so set apart that no man can reach its purity.

2. The law is just: righteous, fair, impartial, equitable, straight. The law treats a man exactly like he should be treated; it shows no partiality to anyone. It also reveals how a man should treat others. The law is just in that it reveals exactly how a man should live. It shows him how to live in relation to God and to his fellow man, and it judges him fairly and impartially.

3. The law is good: it shows man how to live and tells him when he fails to live that way. It exposes his sin and demonstrates his desperate need for a Savior. The law tells man the truth about the nature of man in a most explicit way, and it points him toward the need for outside help in order to be saved.

“The law of the LORD is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the LORD is sure, making wise the simple” (Ps.19:7).

“Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth” (Ps.119:142).

“Wherefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good” (Ro.7:12).

“For we know that the law is spiritual: but I am carnal, sold under sin” (Ro.7:14).

“But we know that the law is good, if a man use it lawfully” (1 Tim.1:8).

7 (7:13) The Law—Sin: the law shows that sin is exceedingly sinful and that it is the cause of death. Note three points.

1. The law is good; it is not the cause of death. “God forbid! Such is impossible!”

2. The law was given to expose sin and to make men deeply aware of its presence and consequences. Men needed to know just how exceedingly sinful sin is. Men needed to know that sin...

- is the worst possible affront to God.
- is the worst imaginable rebellion against God.
- is against all that God represents.

The law proves that sin is against God: against all that He is, against all of His nature and will. Sin is selfish, destructive, dirty, ugly, and impure. The law is the very opposite. The law was given to show how exceedingly sinful sin is, to show just how terrible it is. Take any sin and stand it up against the law that prohibits it and the great contrast is seen. For example, take murder and stand it beside the commandment "Thou shalt not kill." Look at the great contrast.

- ⇒ The commandment protected man's life, but sin took his life away.
- ⇒ The commandment protected man's presence with loved ones, but sin took his presence away.
- ⇒ The commandment protected man's existence upon earth, but sin took his existence away.
- ⇒ The commandment protected man's contribution to society, but sin took his contribution away.
- ⇒ The commandment said that man could live, but sin said "no," and killed him.

So it is with every sin, whether adultery, stealing, or taking God's name in vain. The law was given to show how exceedingly sinful sin is. It was given to make men think of their sinful state and condition and of their desperate need for deliverance and salvation.

3. The law was given to make men think about death, to make men aware that they die because they violate the will and nature of God. Men died before the law was ever given. They died because they did not live holy and righteous lives, did not live according to the nature and will of God. God gave the law so that sin and its condemnation of death would be exposed more than ever before. Men had to be shown that they were great sinners and that they died because they sinned. The law shows men clearer than ever before and in no uncertain terms...

- that they do sin.
- that they are not perfect.
- that they are condemned to die.

Therefore, they need a Savior who will deliver them from sin and its terrible consequence of death. The law shows man his desperate need to be saved from sin, death, and judgment.

"As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one: there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God....Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God" (Ro.3:10-12, 19; cp. v.9-19).

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Ro.6:23).

DIVISION V

STRUGGLE AND CONFESSION: THE BELIEVER IS TO BE FREE FROM THE LAW, 7:1-25

C. The Confessions of a Man's Struggling Soul, 7:14-25

(7:14-25) Introduction: this is a great passage of Scripture in that it portrays the struggling soul of the believer as he ploughs through life. It is a rare picture of the life of Paul, of what he sensed, learned, and experienced as he struggled to please God and to become conformed to the glorious image of the Lord Jesus. It is the confession of a man's soul as he struggles through life.

1. The law is spiritual (v.14).
2. Confession 1: he is carnal, sold under sin (v.14-17).
3. Confession 2: he is void of any good thing (v.18-20).
4. Confession 3: he finds two laws or forces within (v.21-23).
5. Confession 4: he is a desperate, wretched man who needs a Deliverer (v.24).
6. Confession 5: the Deliverer is Jesus Christ (v.25).

1 (7:14) Law: the law is spiritual. It is spiritual in at least three senses.

1. The law was given to man by the Spirit of God (pneumatikos). The Greek word used is the very name of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the source of the law.
2. The law is the expression of the will and nature of God. The law is spiritual because it describes the will of God and tells man just what God is like. The rules of the law reveal both the mind and nature of God.
3. The law is spiritual because of its purposes (see note, Law, Purpose—Ro.7:12 for discussion. Also cp. outline and notes—Ro.7:7-13 for more discussion.)

2 (7:14-17) Carnal—Flesh—Man, Nature: the first confession of Paul is that he is carnal, sold under sin. The word "carnal" or "fleshly" (sarkinos) means to be made of flesh; to consist of flesh; to have a body of flesh and blood. It means the flesh with which a man is born, the fleshly nature one inherits from his parents when he is born.

The word carnal also means to be given up to the flesh, that is, to live a fleshly, sensual life; to be given over to animal appetites; to be controlled by one's sinful nature. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Carnal—1 Cor.3:1-4 for more discussion.)

Paul says that he is "sold under sin." He simply means that as a creature of flesh, that is, as a man, he is...

- a slave to sin.
- under sin's influence.
- subject to sin.
- capable of sinning.
- guilty of sinning.
- cannot free himself from being short of God's glory.
- cannot keep from sinning—not perfectly.
- cannot erase sin's presence—not completely.
- cannot cast sin out of his life—not totally.
- cannot get rid of sin—not permanently.

“His own iniquities shall take the wicked himself, and he shall be holden with the cords of his sins” (Pr.5:22).

“Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin” (Jn.8:34).

“For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity” (Acts 8:23).

“Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“And that they [the carnal] may recover themselves out of the snare of the devil, who are taken captive by him at his will” (2 Tim.2:26).

“While they [the carnal] promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage” (2 Pt.2:19).

Paul makes three points about his being carnal and sold under sin.

1. He says that a carnal life is a helpless, unceasing struggle.
  - a. “That which I do I allow not”: the word “allow” (ginosko) means to recognize, to know, to perceive. A carnal man finds himself doing things, and he cannot understand why he is doing them. He fights and struggles against them, but before he knows it, he has sinned and come short. The sin was upon him before he even recognized and saw it. If he had known that the behavior was sin, he would have never done it, but he did not recognize it as coming short of God’s glory and God’s will for his life.
  - b. “What I would, that do I not.” Paul says that he wanted to do right and to please God as he walked throughout life day by day. He wanted to be conformed to the image of Christ and to become all that God wanted him to be. But despite his desire and expectation, before he knew it, he found himself coming short of God’s glory and will.
  - c. “What I hate, that do I.” Paul hated sin and hated coming short of God’s glory. He struggled against failing and displeasing God; he hated everything that hurt and cut the heart of God, and he fought to erase it completely from his life. But no matter how much he hated and struggled against coming short, he still found himself failing.

“For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:17).

2. A carnal life demonstrates that human nature and knowledge are inadequate. A carnal man fails to live for God as he should. No matter how much he tries to please God and to be conformed to the image of Christ, he comes short.

Now note: it is the law that tells man that he comes short. The law tells him that despite all his efforts to please God, he is short and not acceptable to God. He may know the law and he may try to keep the law, but his desire to know and to seek God will not save him. His nature and knowledge are not enough; they fail. What he needs is a Savior, One outside his own flesh who can forgive his sins and impart eternal life to him.

Note another fact: a carnal life proves the law is good. The word “consent” (sumphemi) means to agree, to say the same thing, to speak right along with the law, to prove, demonstrate, and show that the law is right. The law proves and demonstrates that a man cannot live a perfectly righteous life. A carnal man proves the very same thing. He sins, finding himself doing exactly what the law says not to do and what he himself prefers not to do.

The point is this: when a carnal man sins, the law points out his sin. The law tells the carnal man the truth: he is a sinner doomed to die. Knowing this, the carnal man is able to seek the Lord and His forgiveness. Therefore, the carnal man agrees with the law; the law is very good, for it tells him that he must seek the Savior and His forgiveness. He may not actually follow through and seek the Lord, but the law has at least fulfilled its function and shown the carnal man what he needs to do.

“The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths; whosoever goeth therein shall not know peace” (Is.59:8).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

“Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the judgment of their God” (Jer.5:4).

“But they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they his counsel: for he shall gather them as the sheaves into the floor” (Mic.4:12).

“For they, being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

3. Paul’s conclusion is that man has a sinful, depraved, and corrupt nature. What causes him to conclude this? As a man who was a genuine believer, he did not want to sin; he actually willed not to sin. However, he found that he could not keep from sinning. He continually came short of the glory of God and failed to be consistently conformed to the image of Christ. Why?

- ⇒ Not because he failed to exercise his will.
- ⇒ Not because his mind was not focused upon Christ.
- ⇒ Not because he did not know God’s will.
- ⇒ Not because he did not seek to do God’s will.
- ⇒ Not because he did not call upon every faculty and power of his being.

He came short and failed because of sin that dwells in him, because of sin within his flesh. The carnal man finds a principle, a law of sin within his flesh that tugs and pulls him to sin. He finds that no matter what he does, he sins...

- by living for himself before he lives for God and others.
- by putting himself before the laws concerning God and the laws concerning man. (This refers to the ten commandments where the first laws govern our relationship to God and the last laws govern our relationship to man.)

No matter what resources and faculties man uses and no matter how diligently he tries, he is unable to control sin and to keep from sinning. Sin is within his flesh; it dwells in him. In fact, man is corrupt and dies for this very reason. He was never made to be corruptible nor to die; he was not created with the seed of corruption that causes him to age, deteriorate, and decay (Ro.5:12). The seed of corruption was planted in his flesh, in his body and life when he sinned. The carnal life proves that man cannot keep from sinning, that man is diseased with the seed of corruption, the seed of a sinful and a depraved nature.

“Jesus answered them and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled” (Jn.6:26).

“For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members. O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?” (Ro.7:22-24).

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:7-8).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

3 (7:18-20) Flesh—Sin—Man, Nature: the second confession of Paul is that he is void of any good thing. By “flesh” (sarki) Paul means the human, sinful, depraved, and corrupt nature of man. (See note, Carnal—Ro.7:14-17 for more discussion.) Paul declares: there is no “good thing” in his flesh. This does not mean that he never did any good thing or work. It means that his flesh...

- is unable to please the goodness of God.
- is unable to be as good as it should be.
- is unable to be perfectly good.
- is unable to conquer the tendency and push toward sin.
- is unable to be conformed to the image of Christ.
- is corrupted and short of God’s glory.
- is contaminated and diseased by sin.
- is incapable of reaching God on its own and by itself.
- is aging and deteriorating, dying and decaying.
- is condemned to face the judgment of God.

1. Note why Paul says that his flesh is void of any good thing. He wills and resolves not to sin, but it is all to no avail. No matter how much he wills and resolves, he fails and comes short. Note that being willing to do good is ever present with him. The word “present” means that it is constantly before his face. He is always willing to do good and to please God. There is no lack of will in him. It is not the weakness of will nor of his resolve that causes him to come short of God’s glory and will. How does he know this?

⇒ Because what he wills to do, he fails to do.

⇒ Because the evil he tries not to do, he does.

2. Paul’s conclusion is the same as that of point one. He is void of any good thing because he has a sinful, depraved, and corrupt nature. He is held in spiritual bondage (see note, pt.3—Ro.7:14-17 for discussion and verses).

4 (7:21-23) Sin, Law of—Mind, Law of—Inward Man: the third confession of Paul is that he finds two laws or two forces within him. Very simply, as soon as Paul wills to do good, he is immediately confronted...

- by a law of evil (v.21).
- by the law of sin (v.23).

The law of sin and evil battles the law of the inward man (v.22), the law of his mind (v.23).

1. The law of evil or the law of sin means that sin is a law, a rule, a force, a principle, a disposition, an urge, a tendency, a pull, a tug, a corruption, a depravity within man’s nature or inner being. It is called a law...

- because of its regularity; it rises up and rules all the time.
- because of its permanent and controlling power.
- because it is impossible to break its rule and to keep from sinning.
- because it has captivated and enslaved the nature of man (Ro.7:14f).
- because it is not passive but active, constantly struggling to gain the ascendancy over the law of the mind.

Any man who allows the law of sin to rule in his life is a miserable and helpless victim of sin.

2. The law of the inward man or the law of the mind means...

- the divine nature of God implanted within the believer.

“Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust” (2 Pt.1:4).

- the “new man” created when a believer is born again.

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:23-24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

- the abiding presence of Christ in the believer’s life.

“I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you....At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:18, 20).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

- the indwelling presence of the Holy Spirit.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you....But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:16-17, 26).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

- the “hidden man of the heart.”

“But let it [one’s appearance] be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:4).

Very simply stated, the law of the inward man is the law, rule, disposition, urge, tendency, pull, and tug of the Holy Spirit to please God and to delight in doing His will.

The confession of Paul is striking. He declares that the law of sin wars against the law of his mind and that it gains the ascendancy. The law of sin captivates and enslaves him.

5 (7:24) Spiritual Struggle—Sanctification—Paul: the fourth confession of Paul is that he is a desperate, wretched man who needs a Deliverer. There is a sense in which man is a walking civil war. He has the ability to see what is good, but he is unable to do it. He can see what is wrong, but he cannot keep from doing it. Paul says he was pulled in two directions, pulled so much that he was almost like two men in the same body. He knew the right, yet he did the wrong. He knew what was wrong, yet he was unable to stay away from it.

There is no believer, no matter how advanced in holiness, who cannot use the same language used by the Apostle. There is a bondage, a power of sin, within the believer’s nature that he cannot totally resist. True, he may and does struggle against the power, and he desires to be free from it; but despite all his efforts, he still finds himself under its influence. This is precisely the bondage of sin, of coming short of the glory of God. Too often he finds himself distrusting God, being hard of heart, loving the world and self, being too prideful, too cold, too slothful—disapproving what he knows to be right and approving what he hates. He groans under the weight of sin, of being short of God’s glory and of failing to be conformed to the image of Christ. He aches to walk in humility and meekness and to be filled with the fruit of love, joy, and peace. But day by day he finds the force of sin reasserting its power over him. He struggles and struggles against it, but he finds that he cannot find the power to free himself. The believer senses an utter helplessness and longs and desires for God to free him. He is a slave looking and longing for liberty. As one has said, this conflict between the flesh and spirit “continues in us so long as we live, in some more, and in others less, according as the one or the other principle is the stronger. Yet, the whole man is both flesh and spirit, and contends with himself until he is completely spiritual” (Martin Luther as quoted by Charles Hodge. Commentary on the Epistle to the Romans. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1950, p.236).

It is this consciousness that drives the believer to the awareness that deliverance is found only through Jesus Christ our Lord. (See note—Gal.5:16-18.)

“If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame” (Heb.6:6).

“For all that do such things, and all that do unrighteously, are an abomination unto the LORD thy God” (Dt.25:16).

“For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee” (Ps.5:4).

6 (7:25) Spiritual Struggle—Sanctification—Deliverance—Life, Victorious: the fifth confession of Paul is that the great Deliverer is the Lord Jesus Christ. This is an exclamation! Paul bursts forth with praise to God, for there is a glorious deliverance from sin! But note: the deliverance does not come through...

- some man-made law.
- some man-possessed power.
- some man-possessed ability.
- some superior quality and faculty.
- some great spiritual force.

1. The deliverance comes through the great Deliverer Himself, Jesus Christ our Lord. He is the Deliverer from sin; He alone can deliver from sin. He is perfectly clear about this.

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee” (Mt.9:2).

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death” (Ro.8:2).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:3-6).

Jesus Christ delivers the believer from sin in two ways.

- a. Jesus Christ justifies the believer (see note, Grace vs. Law, pts.1, 2—Ro.6:14-15 for discussion).
- b. Jesus Christ places the believer under God’s grace (see note, pt.2f—Ro.6:14-15 for discussion).

2. Paul’s conclusion is that he serves the law of God with his mind, that is, with his renewed mind. The believer who truly knows that his deliverance is through Jesus Christ our Lord learns something. He learns that his mind is transformed and renewed by Jesus Christ; he learns that his “mind” is born again and experiences a new birth just as his “old man” does. He learns that his old mind becomes the new mind and that his “old man” becomes the “new man.” (See note, Mind—Ro.12:2 for more discussion and verses.)

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation [behavior] the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

Because of Jesus Christ, the believer takes his new mind and does all he can to serve the law of God. When he fails—when his flesh caves in to sin—he knows that it is the law or force of sin that has caused it, not the law of his new mind. He knows that he is still flesh as well as spirit, that he is still indwelt by two laws, two forces that struggle for allegiance; therefore, he does all he can to focus his mind upon the law of God. He simply serves God—His will and His nature (that is, His law)—trying to please God in all that he does. He dedicates himself not to come short of God’s glory but to be conformed to the image of Christ. He knows that he is delivered from the law (force) of sin through Jesus Christ; therefore, the believer keeps justification and God’s grace ever before his face. The believer knows that when his flesh serves the law of sin by failing, he has open access into God’s presence to ask forgiveness. Therefore, he “girds up the loins of his mind” and comes before God for forgiveness. Once receiving a fresh surge of God’s forgiveness and grace, he starts all over again. The believer begins to sense the law of God with renewed fervor, the fervor of his renewed mind.

It should be noted that most commentators see the latter part of this verse as reverting back to what Paul had been saying, as a summary statement of what the carnal man or believer experiences. However, it seems much more natural to see Paul building upon his confession of Jesus Christ as the great Deliverer from sin. After coming to know Jesus Christ as the great Deliverer, it is not reasonable for him to be reverting back to the fleshly struggle of the carnal man. It is much more reasonable to see the mind as the renewed mind of the “new man.” However, if one prefers the summary interpretation, then the meaning would be as follows.

- ⇒ The carnal man uses his mind, his human, fleshly reasoning to serve the law of God. He tries and tries with all his might to honor and to keep the law of God.
- ⇒ However, he is flesh and he is carnal; therefore, he is subject to sin. No matter how much he tries to struggle against sin, his flesh gives in to the law of sin and comes short of God’s glory.

DIVISION VI

DELIVERANCE AND REDEMPTION: THE BELIEVER SHALL BE FREED FROM STRUGGLING AND SUFFERING BY THE SPIRIT, 8:1-39

A. The Man in Christ Jesus is Freed from Condemnation: The Power of the Spirit, 8:1-17

(8:1-17) Introduction: this is one of the most important passages in all of Scripture. Its subject cannot be overemphasized: the power of God’s Spirit in the life of the believer. If the believer needs anything, he needs the power of God’s Spirit. Forcefully, Scripture spells out point by point what the power of the Holy Spirit is.

1. Now since Christ has come (v.1).
2. The Spirit gives life (v.2-4).
3. The Spirit pulls the mind to spiritual things (v.5-8).
4. The Spirit dwells within the believer (v.9).
5. The Spirit gives life to the spirit of the believer (v.10-11).
6. The Spirit gives the power to mortify—to put to death—evil deeds (v.12-13).
7. The Spirit leads the believer, identifying him as a son of God (v.14).
8. The Spirit adopts (v.15).
9. The Spirit bears witness with our spirit (v.16-17).

I (8:1) Condemnation—Deliverance From: since Christ has come, a most wonderful thing has happened. The people who believe in Christ are not condemned.

1. “No condemnation” (ouden katakrima) means that the believer is not doomed and damned, but is freed from the penalty and condemnation of sin; he is not judged as a sinner, but is delivered from the condemnation of death and hell; he is not judged to be unrighteous, but is counted to be righteous.

Very simply stated, the person who is in Christ is safe and secure from condemnation now and forever. He will not be judged as a sinner; he will not face condemnation. He is beyond condemnation; he shall never be condemned for sin; he shall never be separated from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord (cp. Jn.3:16; Ro.8:33-39). (But remember: the believer is to be judged for his faithfulness to Christ. He will be judged for how responsible he is—for how well he uses his “spiritual gifts” for Christ—for how diligently he serves Christ in the work of God. The judgment of the believer will take place at the great judgment seat of Christ.)

2. Now note the most crucial point: only the believer who is in Christ Jesus will not be condemned. All non-believers will face condemnation for sin. A genuine believer is a person who does not “walk after the flesh, but after the Spirit.” Note what it means to be in Christ Jesus (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Believer—Ro.8:1 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(8:1) Believer, Position In Christ: What do the words “in Christ” mean? What does it mean for a person to be in Christ?

1. In the simplest of terms, to be in Christ means that a person’s faith in Christ places him in Christ. Positionally, the person is placed in all that Christ is. Christ lived, died, and arose, so to be in Christ means that a person lives, dies, and arises in Christ. Christ is the person’s Representative, his Agent, his Substitute, his Mediator in life and death and resurrection. The person who believes in Jesus Christ is identified with Christ: counted and considered to be “in” Christ; reckoned and credited as “in” Christ.

Spelled out in a little more detail, when a person believes in Christ, God places and positions the believer “in” Christ. The believer’s faith actually causes God to identify the believer with Christ, to count the believer...

- as having lived in Christ when Christ lived upon earth; therefore, the believer is counted sinless and righteous because Christ was sinless and righteous.
- as having died in Christ; therefore, the believer never has to die (Jn.3:16). The penalty and condemnation of his sins are already paid for in the death of Christ.
- as having been raised “in” Christ; therefore, the believer has received the “new life” of Christ. Just as Christ had a new life after His resurrection, even so the believer receives the “new life” of Christ when he believes in Christ. (See outline and notes—Ro.6:3-5. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.4:22; notes—5:1; 6:14-15.)

2. To be in Christ means that a believer walks and lives in Christ day by day. A true believer lives, moves, and has his being in Christ. He is in union with Christ. To truly believe is to walk and to truly walk is to believe. A true believer...

- lays his life—his past sins, his present behavior, all that he is—upon Christ.
- entrusts his present welfare and destiny—all that he is or ever will be—into the hands of Christ.

A person who truly lays his life upon Christ and entrusts all he is to Christ is a person...

- who truly believes.
- who lives and walks in Christ.

Now, to live and walk in Christ means that we do not “walk after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1, 4). It means that “denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world” (Tit.2:12). It means that we bear the fruit of the Spirit (Gal.5:22-23). It means that we abide in Christ, that we become as connected and attached to Christ...

- as the members of the body are connected and attached to each other (1 Cor.12:12-27).
- as the branch is connected and attached to the vine (Jn.15:4-7).

This is what it means for a person to be “in” Christ. A person simply believes in Christ, putting all he is and has into the hands and keeping of Christ. The person honestly believes that Christ will take care of his past sins, present welfare, and future destiny. Therefore, the believer simply places and positions himself—his faith and welfare—in Christ. God in turn identifies the person with Christ, with all that Christ is. God counts and considers the person to be in Christ. (See note, Believer, Position In Christ—Ro.6:3-5 for more discussion.)

2 (8:2-4) Holy Spirit—Life—Believer: the Spirit gives life. The term “the law of the Spirit of life” means two things. It means...

- the law of the Holy Spirit.
- the Spirit of life which is in Christ Jesus.

Within the universe there is a law so important that it has become the law of the Holy Spirit. It is called “the law of the Spirit of life.” What is meant by this law? Very simply, life is in Jesus Christ and in Him alone. Whatever life is—energy, being, spirit, love, joy, peace—it is all in Jesus Christ and nowhere else. Within Christ’s is the Spirit of life, the very energy and being of life. This fact is important, so important that God has written it into the laws of the universe. It is titled “the law of the Spirit of life,” which is in Christ Jesus and in Him alone. The Spirit of life for which we long and ache is available in Christ Jesus.

“In him was life; and the life was the light of men” (Jn.1:4).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“I am the way, the truth and the life” (Jn.14:6).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life” (1 Jn.5:12).

Now for the critical question. How does the Spirit give life? How does a person go about securing “the Spirit of life” so that he may not die but live forever?

1. The Spirit gives life by freeing the believer from sin and death, that is, from the “law of sin and death.” The “law of sin and death” simply means the rule and reign of death. Every man dies: death rules and reigns over every man. But the Spirit of God frees a man from the rule and reign of death. This is natural and understandable; it is common sense, for it is a rule of the universe. If a person has the Spirit of life, then he naturally does not have the spirit of sin and death. He is not sinning and dying; he is living righteously and eternally. This is exactly what the Spirit of life does for the believer:

- ⇒ He frees the believer from sin and death: from the law or the energy and the power of sin and death.
- ⇒ He frees the believer to live righteously and eternally: to live in the Spirit of life or in the energy and power of life.

Stated another way, the Spirit of life frees the believer from both sin and death. The Holy Spirit frees the believer to live as Christ lived, to actually live out the life which Christ lived. The active energy of life, the dynamic force and being of life—all that is in Christ Jesus—is given to the believer. The believer actually lives in Christ Jesus. And the Spirit of life which is in Christ frees the believer from the fate (law) of sin and death. This simply means that the believer lives in a consciousness of being free. He breathes and senses a depth of life, a richness, a fullness of life that is indescribable. He lives with power—power over the pressure, strain, impediments, and bondages of life—even the bondages of sin and death. He lives now and shall live forever. He senses this and knows this. Life to him is a spirit, a breath, a consciousness of being set free through Christ. Even when he sins and guilt sets in, there is a tug, a power (Holy Spirit) that draws him back to God. He asks for forgiveness and removal of the guilt (1 Jn.1:9), and immediately upon asking, the same power (the Holy Spirit) instills an instantaneous assurance of cleansing. The spirit of life, the consciousness of living instantaneously takes up its abode within him once again. He feels free again, and he feels full of life in all its liberating power and freedom. He bubbles over with all the depth of the richness and fullness of life itself. He is full of the “Spirit of life.” Life itself becomes once again a spirit, a consciousness of living. He lives now and forever.

“Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty” (2 Cor.3:17).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore” (Ps.16:11).

2. The Spirit gives life by doing what the law could not do. The law could not make man righteous because man’s flesh is too weak to keep the law. No man has ever been able to keep the law of God, not to perfection or even close to perfection. All flesh has miserably failed—come far short of God’s glory and law. Consequently, all flesh dies physically and spiritually. Therefore, righteousness and life just cannot come by the law. But what the law could not do, the Spirit is able to do. He can provide righteousness and life.

3. The Spirit gives life by Christ condemning sin in the flesh (see DEEPER STUDY # 3, Christ, Fulfills Law—Ro.8:3 for discussion).

4. The Spirit gives life by Christ providing righteousness for us. He provides righteousness for those who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. This is a most marvelous statement, a glorious truth.

- a. The Spirit “fulfills righteousness in us.” He credits righteousness as being in us. When?
  - ⇒ When we believe that Jesus Christ is our righteousness, the sinless and perfect Son of God.
  - ⇒ When we believe that Jesus Christ is our Savior, the One who died for us.

When we believe in Jesus Christ, the Spirit of God fulfills righteousness in us; that is, He takes the righteousness of Jesus Christ (which is the righteousness of the law) and credits it to us. He actually places within us the perfect righteousness of Jesus Christ. He places the Divine nature (righteousness) of God in us (2 Pt.1:4).

It is critical to see this fact, for the Spirit fulfills righteousness in us, not by us. We do not and cannot even come close to keeping the law perfectly, but Christ did (see DEEPER STUDY # 3—Ro.8:3). If His righteousness cannot be credited and fulfilled in us, then we are hopeless and doomed.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“And he [Abraham] believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“Now it was written for his sake alone, that it [righteousness] was imputed to him; but for us also, to whom it shall be imputed, if we believe on him that raised up Jesus our Lord from the dead; who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:23-25).

“Being filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God” (Ph.1:11).

b. Now note: righteousness is not fulfilled or credited in everyone. It is only fulfilled in those...

- who do not walk after the flesh,
- who do walk after the Spirit.

You can tell who is righteous and who is not; you can actually see who is fulfilling righteousness and who is not. All we have to do is look and see:

- ⇒ Is a man walking after the flesh?
- ⇒ Is a man walking after the Spirit?

The point is this: the Spirit gives life to men, but He gives life only to those who forsake the flesh and walk after the Spirit. The spiritual man, the man who walks after the Spirit, loves Christ and wants to honor Christ in all that he does. Therefore, he strives to follow Christ and His example. Such love and honor of Christ pleases God to no end, for God loves His Son with a perfect love. He loves His Son so much that He will take whatever honor a man gives His Son and match it for the man. Whatever recognition and honor a man heaps upon Christ, God matches it for the man.

- ⇒ If a man trusts Christ for righteousness, then God gives that man righteousness.
- ⇒ If a man trusts Christ for meaning, purpose, and significance, then God gives the man meaning, purpose, and significance.
- ⇒ If a man trusts Christ to lead him through some trial or need, then God leads him through the trial or need.

Whatever the man sows in Christ, he reaps: God matches it. Whatever a man measures out to Christ, the same is measured back to the man: God matches it. In fact, Scripture says that God will even go beyond and do much more than we ask or think (cp. Eph.3:20).

Therefore, the man who walks after the “Spirit of life” which is in Christ Jesus is given the Spirit of life. The Holy Spirit fulfills and credits him with the righteousness of the law, with the right to live eternally.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God” (Ro.8:13-14).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called” (Eph.4:1).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(8:3) Christ, Fulfills Law—Sin: Christ condemned sin in the flesh by three acts.

1. Christ pointed to sin and condemned it as being evil. The very fact that He never sinned points out that sin is contrary to God and to God’s nature. Christ rejected sin, and by rejecting it He showed that it was evil, that it was not to be touched. He condemned it as evil and unworthy of God and man.

2. Christ secured righteousness for all men. When He came into the world, He came with the same flesh that all men are born with—the same flesh with all its desires, passions, and potential for evil. However, He never sinned, not once. Therefore, He secured a perfect righteousness; and because His righteousness is perfect and ideal, it becomes the model and pattern for all men. It stands for and covers the unrighteousness of all men. His perfect righteousness overcomes sin and its penalty—it condemns sin. It is to be noted that He condemned sin “through the flesh”; therefore, all flesh finds its perfection and ideal in His righteousness and perfection. All flesh finds its power to condemn sin “in Christ,” in His ideal righteousness.

“Which of you convinceth me of sin? And if I say the truth, why do ye not believe me?” (Jn.8:46).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“For such a high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:26).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:19).

“Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth” (1 Pt.2:22).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

3. Christ allowed the law of sin and death to be enacted upon Him instead of upon the sinner. Man has sinned, so the natural consequence is corruption and death. However, Christ allowed God to accept His Ideal righteousness for the unrighteousness of man. He allowed God to lay man's sin and death upon Himself. He allowed God to let Him bear the law of sin and death for man and to experience hell for man. He asked God to let Him condemn sin and death "in His own body upon the tree" (1 Pt.2:24). He was the perfect, ideal Man. Therefore, He could bear all the violations of the law and all the experiences of death for all men. God so purposed, and God bore the awful price of having to condemn sin and death in the death of His very own Son. Sin and its power have been made powerless. Death has been conquered (1 Cor.15:1-58, esp. vs.54-57), and he who had the power of death has been destroyed, that is, Satan. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.16:11. Cp. Heb.2:14.) (See note—Mt.5:17-18.)

"For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly" (Ro.5:6).

"But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us" (Ro.5:8).

"For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures" (1 Cor.15:3).

"And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again" (2 Cor.5:15).

"Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal.3:13).

"Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:14).

"But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Heb.2:9).

"So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation" (Heb.9:28).

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

"Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren" (1 Jn.3:16).

3 (8:5-8) Mind, The—Carnal—Flesh—Spiritual Mind: the Spirit pulls the mind to spiritual things. This is one of the most important passages in all of Scripture, for it discusses the human mind: "As [a man] thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Pr.23:7). Where a man keeps his mind and what he thinks about determine who he is and what he does. If a man keeps his mind and thoughts in the gutter, he becomes part of the filth in the gutter. If he keeps his mind upon the good, he becomes good. If he focuses upon achievement and success, he achieves and succeeds. If his mind is filled with religious thoughts, he becomes religious. If his thoughts are focused upon God and righteousness, he becomes godly and righteous. A man becomes and does what he thinks. It is the law of the mind. Scripture says three things about the power of the Spirit and of the human mind.

1. There is the carnal mind vs. the spiritual mind. The carnal mind is the mind of man's flesh or body. The phrase "to be carnally minded" (to phronema tes sarkos, v.6) means the mind of the flesh. It is the mind with which man is born, the fleshly mind which he inherits from his parents.

The carnal mind also means something else, something that must be heeded. It means the mind that is given over to the flesh; that focuses upon the flesh and its worldly urges and desires; that gives its attention and pursuits over to the flesh; that savors tasting and partaking of the flesh; that is controlled by one's sinful nature.

The carnal mind focuses upon three areas of life, or to word it another way, there are three directions of thought the carnal mind takes:

- a. The carnal mind may focus upon the base, the immoral, the violent, the material, and the physical. This is usually the lifestyle most people think about when a carnal or fleshly person is mentioned. The minds of some are consumed with the lust for sex, power, money, houses, lands, furnishings, recognition, position—concerned and filled with the earthly and the worldly.
- b. The carnal mind may focus upon the moral, upright, and cultured life. Some minds are centered upon the welfare and comfort of themselves and of their society. They want themselves and their society to be as refined and educated, as moral and upright as possible, so they focus their minds upon such commendable ends. And they are commendable purposes, but a person can be refined and well educated and live as independently and as separate from God as the base and immoral person. Most cultured people depend upon their good works and service to make them acceptable to God. Most just think that God will accept them because their lives and efforts have been focused upon building a good life and better society for all. What they fail to see is that God is interested in building a God-centered society and not a world-centered society. God wants the needs of every man to be met, but He wants it to be done from a spiritual basis, not from a human basis. He wants men led to Christ—their minds and lives focused upon God—so that they may have life, life that is both abundant and eternal. Just taking care of the physical needs of man does not meet the spiritual needs of man. It leaves a gaping hole in man's life; for the spirit of man determines how a man lives, either defeated or victorious, either with or apart from God (see note—Eph.1:3).

- c. The carnal mind may also focus upon religion: upon living a religious life of benevolence and good works, of ceremony and ritual. However, note again: a person can be a strict religionist and still live separate from God. He can have his mind set on religion and its welfare instead of God. He can be living for religion instead of for God, carrying out the function of institutional religion instead of the mission of God. He can be depending upon his commitment to religion to make him acceptable to God instead of believing and trusting God's Son: Jesus Christ our Lord. In all of this, note where the religionist's mind is—note where his thoughts are. There is little if any stress upon a personal relationship with God; little stress upon knowing God—really knowing, believing, and understanding Him—little stress upon walking and living in Him. The stress of the carnal religionist is his religion and its rituals and ceremonies, its welfare and projects. Such a focus is fleshly and carnal. It is of the earth, attached to the physical and material institution which passes away and dies.

The point is this: a carnal mind does not necessarily mean that a man's thoughts are upon the base, immoral, and vicious. A carnal mind means any mind that does not find its basis in God, any mind that is not focused upon God first. A carnal mind may focus upon a moral, upright, and cultured life and still ignore, neglect, and exempt God. A carnal mind may also focus upon religion and still exempt God. A carnal mind is a mind that finds its basis in this world, that focuses its thoughts upon the physical and material instead of God.

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient” (Ro.1:28).

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:7).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind” (Col.2:18).

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

2. There is the spiritual mind. It is the natural mind of man that has been renewed by the Spirit of God. (See notes, pt.2—Ro.7:21-23; 7:25 for more discussion.)

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

The words “spiritually minded” (to phronema tou pneumatou) mean to be possessed by the Spirit or to be controlled and dominated by the Spirit. It means that the man who walks after the Spirit minds “the things of the Spirit” day by day. And note: it is the Spirit of God who draws the believer's mind to focus upon spiritual things. The Spirit of God lives within the believer. He is there to work within the believer, both to will and to do God's pleasure. He is there to keep the mind and thoughts of the believer focused upon spiritual things.

- a. The believer keeps his mind upon developing spiritual character and fruit.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance” (Gal.5:22-23).

- b. The believer keeps his mind upon carrying out the ministry and mission of Christ.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost” (Lk.19:10).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

- c. The believer keeps his mind upon knowing, believing, and understanding God.

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

- d. The believer keeps his mind upon being conformed more and more to the image of Christ.

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

- e. The believer keeps his mind upon casting down imaginations and making every thought obedient to Christ.

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5.)

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

3. There is the fate of both minds. The carnal mind is strongly warned, whereas the spiritual mind is assured and comforted.

- a. The fate of the carnal mind is death. By death is meant spiritual death, being separated and cut off from God eternally. It means the soul is dead now, while the man lives on this earth. It also means that the soul remains dead (separated and cut off from God) even when the man enters the next world. The carnal mind...

- cannot ignore God now and expect to have thoughts of God in the next world.
- cannot focus upon the flesh now and expect to focus upon God in the next world.
- cannot think as it wills now and expect to think as God wills in the next world.
- cannot have a worldly mind now and expect to have a spiritual mind in the next world.
- cannot choose the flesh now and expect to be saved from the flesh in the next world.
- cannot reject God now and expect to be accepted by God in the next world.

Very simply stated, whatever the mind chooses will continue on and on. If the mind chooses the flesh instead of God, then the choice is made. The mind will continue on without God from now on, forever and ever. The mind is allowed to do as it chooses. If it chooses to be separated and cut off from God so that it can dwell upon the flesh, then the soul shall have the flesh; it shall be separated and cut off from God. God loves man. God will not violate man’s mind and force man to choose Him. The choice is man’s: he may choose God, or he may choose flesh and death (to be separated and cut off from God).

“The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead [spiritually dead]” (Pr.21:16).

“Then Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you” (Jn.6:53).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead [spiritually dead]” (2 Cor.5:14).

“And you...were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead” (Rev.3:1).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

- b. The fate of the spiritual mind is life and peace. It is the very opposite of death. The spiritual mind is a state of mind, a mind that is filled with life and peace, with thoughts of life and peace. The spiritual mind dwells in life; it lives all that life was intended to be and lives it eternally. The spiritual mind is full...
- of meaning, purpose, and significance.
  - of assurance and confidence.
  - of joy and rejoicing.
  - of knowing, believing, and understanding God.
  - of spiritual fruit, the fruit of love, joy, and peace (Gal.5:22-23).

The spiritual mind is also full of peace. The man who is spiritually minded is at peace with God: he has peace with God because he knows beyond question that his sins are forgiven and that he is now acceptable to God. He also dwells in the peace of God: he has the peace of God because he experiences the day by day care and guidance of God in his life. He actually walks through life in the peace of God, knowing that God is looking after him and working all things out for his good. He knows his eternity is taken care of, that he shall be given the glorious privilege of living eternally and serving God in some glorious responsibility. Note something else as well: the man who is spiritually minded is at peace with all other men. He loves and cares for all men, no matter who they are, just as Jesus loves and cares for them.

The spiritual mind, the mind that focuses upon the things of the spirit, knows and experiences life and peace. Life and peace are its destiny forever and ever. Such is the promise of God and the testimony of His saints who have gone on before. To be spiritually minded reaps its reward, and its reward is eternal life and peace.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them” (Ps.119:165).

“In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death” (Pr.12:28).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

4. There is the reason the carnal mind dwells in death. The carnal mind dwells in death because it is at enmity with God. This is simply seen.

- ⇒ God is holy, righteous, and pure; whereas the carnal mind is impure, immoral, and polluted. The carnal or fleshly mind is opposed to God by its very nature.
- ⇒ God acts only in morality and justice and goodness; whereas the carnal mind behaves immorally, unjustly, and selfishly. The carnal or fleshly mind is opposed to God by its very behavior.
- ⇒ God is eternal, from everlasting to everlasting; whereas the carnal mind ages, deteriorates, dies, and decays. The carnal or fleshly mind is opposed to God by its very destiny: death.

The carnal mind is opposed to God, to all that He is. It is not pure or lasting; it is fleshly and full of corruption, and it dwells in death. The carnal or fleshly mind is bitterly opposed to all that God is. Therefore, the carnal mind dwells in death, and it shall dwell in death eternally.

Now note: all this is saying one simple thing: the carnal mind “is not subject to the law of God, nor indeed can be.” The carnal mind cannot be subject to God’s law because it is not “like” God: not by nature, not by behavior, not by destiny. A carnal mind has no interest in the law of God nor in trying to live as God wishes. The carnal mind wants to live as it wishes and do its own thing. The carnal man wants to indulge his flesh, whether by food, sex, pride, power, position, money, recognition, fame, or self-righteousness.

The fate of the carnal mind is clearly stated, a fate that is strongly warned.

“So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:8).

“She that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth” (1 Tim.5:6).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels” (Mt.25:41).

However, the glorious truth is this. The Spirit of God can transform the mind of man. The Spirit of God can pull the mind to spiritual things. (Cp. Ro.12:2; Eph.4:22-24. See notes, pt.2—Ro.7:21-23; 7:25 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Most carnal minds are influenced heavily by their environment and those around them. If their friends are materialistic or immoral, they focus upon the same. If their environment offers films and literature, they fill their minds with such, whether X-rated or educational and philosophic. Few carnal minds ever break away from their environment and friends. Only the Spirit of God can penetrate the human mind and set it free from the flesh and its carnal passions.

4 (8:9) Indwelling Presence—Holy Spirit, Power of: the Spirit dwells within the believer, putting the Spirit of Christ within him. There is so much in these two verses that cannot be outlined beside the verses. There just is not enough space.

1. The power of the Spirit is seen in the word “dwell” (oikeo). The word “dwell” gives the picture of a home (oikos). The Holy Spirit dwells within the believer: He makes His home, takes up residence, and lives within the believer just as we live in our homes.

2. The power of the Spirit creates the glorious truth of the indwelling presence of God within the believer and of the believer within God.

⇒ The believer is said to be “in the [Holy] Spirit” (v.9).

⇒ The Spirit of God is said to “dwell” in the believer (v.9).

⇒ The believer is said to have “the Spirit of Christ” (v.9).

⇒ Christ is said to be in the believer (v.10).

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you....If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:20, 23).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?” (1 Cor.6:19).

“That good thing which was committed unto thee keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us” (2 Tim.1:14).

“But the anointing [Holy Spirit] which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

“And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments, and do them” (Ezk.36:27).

Note how the deity of Christ is being proclaimed. The “Spirit of Christ” is said to indwell the believer the same as the “Spirit of God.” Both are said to be equally within the believer. (Cp. Gal.4:6; Ph.1:10; 2 Cor.3:18; 1 Pt.1:11.)

3. The power of the Spirit removes the believer from being “in” the flesh and places him within Himself, within the Spirit of God. Very simply...

- the believer is no longer positioned “in” the flesh: not in God’s eyes and not in God’s accounting. The believer no longer dwells “in” the flesh: he no longer makes his home in the flesh nor lives in the flesh. He is no longer at home, that is, no longer comfortable with the things of the flesh.
- the believer is positioned “in” the Spirit of God. God sees and counts the believer as being placed and positioned in His Spirit; therefore, the believer dwells “in” the Holy Spirit. He makes his home in the Spirit, and he takes up his residence and lives “in” the Spirit. He is at home and comfortable only with the things of the Spirit.

4. The power of the Spirit identifies the believer as being “in” Christ. This is easily seen. Whatever spirit dwells within a man, it is that spirit to whom man belongs. If he has the spirit of selfishness within, he belongs to the spirit of selfishness and is known as being selfish. If he has the spirit of complaining, he belongs to the spirit of complaining and is known as being a complainer. If he has the spirit of evil, he belongs to evil and is known as an evil person. If he has the spirit of caring, he belongs to the spirit of caring, and he is known as a caring person. If he has the Spirit of Christ, he belongs to Christ and is known as a follower of Christ.

“I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you” (Jn.14:18).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith” (Eph.3:17).

“Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him [Christ], and he in him” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

A person is spirited, driven to live according to the spirit that is within him. The Holy Spirit has the power to drive the believer to live as Christ lived. We can look at the spirit of a person and tell if he has the Spirit of Christ. If he does, then he bears the fruit of Christ’s Spirit. The Spirit and His fruit are seen in the life of the believer. The true believer proves that he is “in” Christ, that he is placed and positioned “in” Christ by the life which he lives.

5 (8:10-11) Holy Spirit—Resurrection, Believers: the Spirit gives life to the spirit of the believer. The idea of the Greek makes this verse clear: “If Christ be in you, although the body is to die because of sin, the spirit shall live because of righteousness.” Very simply stated, the body of man does die, but his spirit can live forever if Christ is “in” him. Note two points.

1. The Spirit of Christ gives life to the spirit of man now, the very moment a person believes. Man’s body is to die because of sin: the body is corruptible, aging, deteriorating, decaying, and dying. It is in a process of dying—in such a rapid movement toward death—that it can actually be said to be dead. The body is dying; therefore, its death is inevitable. However, it is in the midst of death that the Spirit of Christ enters. He enters and converts the spirit of man from death to life. How?

- a. The spirit of man lives because of the righteousness and death of Jesus Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, “In Christ”—Ro.8:1; cp. Ro.4:22; 5:1).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

- b. The spirit of man lives by living a righteous and godly life (see notes—Ro.6:14-15; 6:17-18; 6:19-20).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you. Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness” (Ro.6:17-18).

“There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit” (Ro.8:1).

2. The Spirit of Christ quickens the mortal body in the future, in the great day of redemption. Note two things.
  - a. The word “quicken” (zoopoiesei) means to make alive, to give life, to cause to live, to renew and remake life.
  - b. The “mortal body” shall be quickened and made alive.
    - ⇒ The mortal body is the same body that died. The person is the very same person.
    - ⇒ The mortal body is given a totally new life; its elements are recreated and remade into a perfect and eternal body. The new body is to be given the power and energy of eternal elements, eternal molecules and atoms or whatever the most minute elements are. All will be arranged so that the mortal body becomes an immortal body.

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: it is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: it is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:42-44).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality” (1 Cor.15:50-53).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first” (1 Th.4:16).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

c. There are two great assurances of the believer’s resurrection.

⇒ The assurance of Jesus’ resurrection (see DEEPER STUDY # 3, Resurrection, of Believers—Ro.8:11 for discussion. Also see outline and notes—1 Cor.15:12-19; 15:20-23.)

⇒ The assurance of the Holy Spirit, of Him who indwells the believer. The very same Spirit who raised up Christ shall raise up the believer (2 Cor.4:14). He is the power and energy of life, and He dwells within the believer. Therefore, He shall raise up the believer. (See note, Spirit of Life—Ro.8:2-4 for more discussion.)

“[Jesus Christ] declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(8:11) Resurrection, of Believers—Jesus Christ, Resurrection of: the resurrection of Jesus Christ assures the believer that he too shall be raised from the dead.

1. The resurrection of Christ proves that God is: that He does exist and care for the earth. There is no power on earth that can raise a man from the dead. Only a Supreme, Eternal Power and Person can do that. Only God can give life to dead matter and to the dust of the earth. The very fact that Jesus Christ was raised from the dead proves that God exists and cares for this earth.

2. The resurrection of Christ proves that Jesus Christ is who He claimed to be, the Son of God Himself. It proves that Jesus Christ was sent to earth to secure the Ideal righteousness for man and to die and to arise from the dead for man. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Which [God’s mighty power] he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

3. The resurrection of Christ proves that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world. It proves that Christ is the very One whom God sent to earth to save men from death and to give them life. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.6:3-5 for discussion.)

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“By which [the gospel] also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:2-4).

4. The resurrection of Christ proves that He is “the Spirit of life.” It proves that Christ is the very Energy and Force of life, the very Power and Being of life, and that He can give the same “Spirit of life” to men. He can raise men from the dead, even as He arose from the dead. (See note—Ro.8:2-4 for more discussion. Also see outline and notes—1 Cor.15:12-19; 15:20-23.)

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him” (1 Th.4:14).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

6 (8:12-13) Holy Spirit: the Spirit gives the power to mortify or put to death evil deeds. Note two points.

1. Believers are in debt to the Spirit, not to the flesh. The word “debtors” (opheiletes) means to be obligated, to owe, to be bound by some duty.

a. Believers are not in “debt” to the flesh. The flesh has done nothing for man, nothing of real value. Note what the flesh has done for man.

- ⇒ It is sinful flesh, contaminated by sin (v.3).
- ⇒ It is carnal or fleshly minded (v.5).
- ⇒ It causes man to die (v.6, 13).
- ⇒ It is the opposite of life and peace (v.6).
- ⇒ It has a mind that is at enmity with God (v.7).
- ⇒ It cannot please God (v.8).

A man owes the flesh nothing. He is not in debt or obligated to the flesh, for the flesh brings nothing but misery and suffering to man.

Thought 1. A man is a fool to focus his life upon such a weak thing as the flesh; a fool to live as though he is in debt and obligated to something that caves in...

- to sickness and disease so often.
- to sin and shame so often.
- to death much too quickly.

“For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing” (Ro.7:18).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace”

(Ro.8:6).

“So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:8).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die” (Ro.8:13).

“For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would” (Gal.5:17).

“For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting” (Gal.6:8).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

b. Believers are in debt to the Spirit. It is the Spirit who has done so much for man, the Spirit to whom we are so indebted. The Spirit of God...

- is the “Spirit of life” (v.2).
- has freed us from sin and death (v.2).
- fulfills righteousness “in” us (v.4).
- pulls our minds to spiritual things (v.5).
- gives us life and peace (v.6).
- dwells within us, removing us from the flesh and identifying us as being “in” Christ (v.9).
- gives life to our spirits now and assures us that He will give life to our mortal bodies in the great day of redemption (v.10-11).

It is the Spirit who has done so much for us; it is the Spirit to whom we are “in debt” and obligated.

2. Believers determine their own fate. The point is clearly seen: if a man lives after the flesh, he shall die because the flesh dies. The flesh is doomed; it dies, and there has never been an exception. Therefore, if a man chooses to live after the flesh, that is, to follow after the flesh, then in following the flesh he experiences what the flesh experiences. If the flesh stumbles and falls, the man stumbles and falls, for he is following after the flesh. If the flesh kills itself, then the man dies with the flesh, for he is following the flesh. Scripture clearly teaches this.

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

“If ye live after the flesh, ye shall die” (Ro.8:13).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“The soul that sinneth it shall die” (Ezk.18:20).

However, if a man mortifies or puts to death the deeds of his body, he shall live. Note four facts.

- a. “The deeds of the body” mean the evil deeds, the evil lusts and passions, the desires and urges that lead to sin and shame, destruction and death.
- b. To “mortify” (thanatoute) means to put to death. The idea is that of denying, subjecting, subduing, deadening, destroying the strength of.
- c. The power to mortify the evil deeds of the body comes “through the Spirit.” However, note this: we deny the evil deeds, and then the Spirit gives the strength to deaden and to subdue their strength. We are involved just as the Spirit is involved. He cannot destroy the strength of sin unless we exercise our will and work to destroy it ourselves, and we cannot will and work at it apart from Him. Both the Spirit and ourselves have to be involved, each doing their part, if we wish the evil deeds of the body to be put to death. To repeat the point above: we exercise our will to deny the evil deeds, and then the Spirit immediately steps in to deaden the pull and strength of the evil deed. If we do not want the evil deeds of our body destroyed, if we want to continue living in the sins of the flesh, if we want nothing to do with the Spirit—then the Spirit can do nothing for us. God loves us too much to force us; He will not override our choices. But if we honestly will to follow the Spirit and honestly desire to destroy the evil deeds of our body, the Spirit will step in and give the power to do so. He will break the power of sin: He will deaden and subdue the strength of it.

⇒ Our part is to will to follow the Spirit: to mortify the evil deeds and begin to deny them. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.9:23 for more discussion.)

⇒ The Spirit's part is to deaden and subdue and eventually to destroy the strength of evil deeds.

Now note: the conquest of evil deeds is not an immediate, once-for-all thing. It is a continuous struggle as long as we live in the flesh. This is actually brought out in the tense of the verb "live." The tense is a continuous and habitual action. We must continue to follow the Spirit and continue to mortify the evil deeds of the body. It is a day by day experience just as living is a day by day experience. We are to live by developing the habit of living in the Spirit and conquering the evil deeds of the body. The believer cannot destroy his flesh while on earth, but he can break the strength of evil deeds in his flesh. He can destroy evil deeds in his body.

- d. The person who puts the evil deeds of his body to death shall live. A man dies because of evil, and he lives because of righteousness. If he destroys the evil deeds and follows the Spirit of righteousness, he will not die. He will live.

"And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell" (Mt.5:29; cp. Mt.18:8).

"Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin" (Ro.6:6).

"For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live" (Ro.8:13).

"But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof" (Ro.13:14).

"This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh" (Gal.5:16).

"And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts" (Gal.5:24).

"Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry" (Col.3:5).

"Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul" (1 Pt.2:11).

"That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God" (1 Pt.4:2).

7 (8:14) Believers, Duty: the Spirit leads the believer. There are several ideas in the Greek word lead or led (ago).

- ⇒ There is the idea of carrying and bearing along. The Spirit leads the believer and carries him through the trials of this life. He bears the believer up, carrying him over the corruptions of this world.
- ⇒ There is the idea of leading and guiding along. The Spirit leads and guides the believer along the way of righteousness and truth. He guides the believer by moving in advance and going ahead of him. He blazes the path, making sure the believer knows where to walk (cp. Jn.16:13; cp. Gal.5:18; 2 Pt.1:21).
- ⇒ There is the idea of directing on a course and of bringing along to an end. The Spirit directs the believer where to go and how to get there, and He actually brings the believer to his destined end. The Spirit actually becomes involved in the life of the believer, directing him to live righteously and conforming him to the image of Christ. He actually brings the believer to his destined end, that is, to heaven, to live eternally in the presence of God Himself.

This is one of the great powers of the Holy Spirit, the power to lead the believer and to become involved in his life.

Now note a crucial point. The evidence or proof that a person is a son of God is just this: Is the person led by the Spirit of God?

- ⇒ Is the person being carried through the trials of life victoriously, acknowledging God and rejoicing in His strength and eternal security?
- ⇒ Is the person being led along the way of righteousness and truth?
- ⇒ Is the person being directed and brought along on the course to heaven, to spend eternity with God?

Very simply, is the person living for God and talking about the things of God? The person who is truly led by the Spirit is wrapped up in the things of God, for he is a son of God. He rejoices in his Father and seeks to please His Father in all that he does.

"Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come" (Jn.16:13).

“Which things also we speak, not in the words which man’s wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned” (1 Cor.2:13-14).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

“For this God is our God for ever and ever: he will be our guide even unto death” (Ps.48:14).

“Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory” (Ps.73:24).

“And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left” (Is.30:21).

8 (8:15) Adoption: the Spirit adopts the believer. Note two very significant points.

1. The Spirit delivers man from a terrible spirit—“the spirit of bondage.” Note what the bondage is: it is fear. Man is gripped by the bondage of fear, usually experiencing some apprehension, anxiety, tension, dread, alarm, danger, terror. Man is usually sensing some subjection, some enslavement to some form of fear. The one spirit with which all men are familiar is the spirit of fear. Men are enslaved and held in bondage by fear. What causes fear? Almost everything and anything can arouse fear: a list could go on and on. A few of the more prominent things are...

- suffering
- disease
- unemployment
- loss of livelihood
- not measuring up
- failure
- disapproval
- blame
- death
- traumatic trials
- loss of position
- loss of spouse
- falling short
- punishment
- condemnation
- rejection

The point is this: the Holy Spirit delivers the believer from the bondage of fear. How? By adoption, by actually adopting the believer as a son of God.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

“For thou art a holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself” (Dt.14:2).

“Doubtless thou art our father, though Abraham be ignorant of us, and Israel acknowledge us not: thou, O LORD, art our father, our redeemer; thy name is from everlasting” (Is.63:16).

2. The Spirit gives access into God’s presence. The believer has access to God because he has been adopted as a son of God. Note: the Spirit is called “the Spirit of adoption.” Adoption is such a significant work of the Holy Spirit that it is called “the Spirit of adoption.” The believer actually receives the “Spirit of adoption” and the sense—the consciousness, the awareness, the knowledge—that he is a son of God. The believer is a son of God with all the privileges of sonship, especially the privilege of access—of entering God’s presence anytime and anyplace. It is this wonderful privilege that enables the believer to break the bondage of fear and to conquer the spirit of fear.

No matter what faces the believer, the believer is able...

- to enter the presence of God.
- to lay his fear before God.
- to cry out, “Father, Father—help me!”
- to know that God will help him, for God loves him as His adopted son.

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ: by whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God” (Ro.5:1-2).

“For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:18).

“In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:12).

“Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:14-16).

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus” (Heb.10:19).

“For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil” (1 Pt.3:12).

Every genuine believer knows what it is to fear in this life, and he knows what it is to experience God’s delivering him through the fear. He knows what it is to have the “Spirit of adoption” surge through his being, giving assurance and confidence that God is in control and looking after him. He knows what it is to be a true son of God, a son whom God loves so much that He will move the world in order to meet the need of His dear child. God’s love for His adopted child is as great as God’s sovereign power. God will do anything for the believer who is His adopted son. (One of the great powers of the Spirit is the power of adoption. See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Adoption—Gal.4:5-6 for more discussion.)

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

9 (8:16-17) Adoption: another power of the Spirit is the power to bear witness with our spirit. He bears witness to four glorious truths.

1. The Holy Spirit bears witness that we are the children of God. Very simply stated, the Holy Spirit quickens our hearts with the perfect knowledge and the complete confidence that we are children of God.

Note how clearly Scripture proclaims this glorious truth, the truth which every believer longs for the world to know.

a. The Spirit sheds abroad the love of God in our hearts. He spreads the knowledge that God loves us and spreads it all through our beings.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

b. The Spirit is the earnest or the guarantee that we are children of God.

“Who hath also sealed us, and give the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts” (2 Cor.1:22).

“Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit” (2 Cor.5:5).

c. The Spirit is the seal or the guarantee that we are children of God.

“In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise” (Eph.1:13).

“And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption” (Eph.4:30).

2. The Holy Spirit bears witness that we are the heirs of God. If God is truly our Father, then we inherit what He possesses.

a. We are heirs of eternal life.

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

b. We are heirs of salvation.

“Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?” (Heb.1:14).

c. We are heirs of the promises made to Abraham, that is, the promises to inherit the world and to become the citizens of a great nation of people. The heirs of God shall inherit a great kingdom: the new heavens and earth.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“And if ye be Christ’s, then are ye Abraham’s seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:29).

“That the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel” (Eph.3:6).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5. See note—Ro.4:13 for more discussion.)

“By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God” (Heb.11:9-10).

“These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth. For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country. And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned. But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city” (Heb.11:13-16).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise [of the inheritance], look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

d. We are heirs of glory.

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“Giving thanks unto the Father, which hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light” (Col.1:12).

e. We are heirs of righteousness.

“By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith” (Heb.11:7).

f. We are heirs of the grace of life.

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

The point is that the Holy Spirit is the One who seals the truth to our hearts. He is “the earnest [the guarantee] of our inheritance” (Eph.1:14). There is much more that we inherit as children of God (see note—Lk.16:10-12; DEEPER STUDY # 4—Ro.8:17).

3. The Holy Spirit bears witness that we are joint-heirs with Christ. However, this does not mean that we will receive an equal amount or quantity with Christ. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4, Inheritance—Ro.8:17 for discussion.)

4. The Holy Spirit bears witness that we are conquerors over suffering. All men suffer: as long as a man lives in a sinful and corrupt world, he will suffer and he will be unable to escape suffering. Sin and corruption take their toll upon his body and spirit and pull him ever onward toward the grave. However, this is not the suffering being spoken about in this passage. There is a suffering that is distinct to the true Christian believer, a suffering that can be called godly persecution. Godly persecution means more than being persecuted for some great cause or purpose. Many men in the world suffer persecution by some of their fellow citizens because of their dedication to some great purpose. However, not all men within the world oppose them. It is this that makes godly persecution different and distinctive. Every person in the world who is not godly opposes the genuine Christian believer. The world and its citizens oppose the believer by their very nature. The believer stands for and proclaims righteousness and self-denial, the sacrifice of all one is and has. The world opposes such a life and message, and they desire to stamp it out. (See note, Persecuted—Mt.5:10-12 for more discussion.)

It is suffering for the Kingdom of God and His righteousness that is the point of the Scripture. If we suffer with Christ in the great cause of God and His righteousness, then we will be glorified with Him eternally.

The point is clearly seen. The person who is a true follower of Christ proclaims and stands for Christ; therefore, he suffers the persecution of the world even as Christ did. And because he does suffer with Christ, he will share in the glory of Christ as well.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name’s sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and shall inherit everlasting life” (Mt.19:29).

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter” (Ro.8:36).

“And our hope of you is stedfast, knowing, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation” (2 Cor.1:7).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“Choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season” (Heb.11:25).

“For what glory is it, if, when ye be buffeted for your faults, ye shall take it patiently? but if, when ye do well, and suffer for it, ye take it patiently, this is acceptable with God” (1 Pt.2:20).

“But and if ye suffer for righteousness’ sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled” (1 Pt.3:14).

“Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf” (1 Pt.4:16).

“But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you” (1 Pt.5:10).

DEEPER STUDY # 4

(8:17) Inheritance: the believer is a joint-heir with Christ. This is an astounding truth and promise. We shall inherit all that God has and all that Christ is and has. We will be given the privilege of sharing in all things with the Son of God Himself.

However note this: to be a joint-heir with Christ does not mean that believers will receive an equal amount of the inheritance with Christ. Rather, it means that believers are fellow-heirs with Christ; that is, believers will share in the inheritance of Christ; they will share Christ’s inheritance with Him.

Being a fellow-heir with Christ means at least three glorious things: it means that we will share in the nature, position, and responsibility of Christ. The following chart shows this with a quick glance.

FELLOW HEIRS BY NATURE

Christ is the Son of God, the very being and energy of life and perfection. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His nature. We receive...

- the adoption as a son of God (Gal.4:4-7; 1 Jn.3:1).
- the sinless nature of being blameless (Ph.2:15).
- eternal life (Jn.1:4; 10:10; 17:2-3; Jn.3:16; 1 Tim.6:19).
- lasting possessions (Heb.10:34).
- a glorious body (Ph.3:21; 1 Cor.15:42-44).
- eternal glory and honor and peace (Ro.2:10).
- eternal rest and peace (Heb.4:9; Rev.14:13).
- a crown that will last forever, an incorruptible body (1 Pt 1:3-4; 1 Cor.9:25; 15:42).
- a righteous being (2 Tim.4:8).

FELLOW HEIRS BY POSITION

Christ is the exalted Lord, the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, the Lord of lords and King of kings. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His position. We receive...

- the position of exalted beings (Rev.7:9-12).
- a citizenship in the Kingdom of God (Jas.2:5; Mt.25:34).
- enormous treasures in heaven (Mt.19:21; Lk.12:33).
- unsearchable riches (Eph.3:8).
- the right to surround the throne of God (Rev.7:9-13; 20:4).
- the position of a king (Rev.1:5; 5:10).
- the position of a priest (Rev.1:5; 5:10; 20:6).
- the position of glory (1 Pt.5:4).

FELLOW HEIRS BY RESPONSIBILITY

Christ is the Sovereign Majesty of the Universe, the One who is ordained to rule and oversee all. Therefore, we share in the inheritance of His responsibility. We receive...

- the rulership over many things (Mt.25:23).
- the right to rule and hold authority (Lk.12:42-44; 22:28-29).
- eternal responsibility and joy (Mt.25:21, 23).
- rule and authority over cities (Lk.19:17, 19).
- thrones and the privilege of reigning forever (Rev.20:4; 22:5).

These passages will give some idea of what Scripture teaches when it speaks of the believer being a fellow-heir with Christ. There are a large number of Scriptures that could be added to these. As Paul declares:

“Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him” (1 Cor.2:9).

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? Or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen” (Ro.11:33-36).

DIVISION VI

DELIVERANCE AND REDEMPTION: THE BELIEVER SHALL BE FREED FROM STRUGGLING AND SUFFERING BY THE SPIRIT, 8:1-39

B. The Whole Creation Shall Be Freed from Struggling and Suffering, 8:18-27

(8:18-27) Introduction: this is one of the most glorious promises in all of Scripture. God is going to free all creation from struggling and suffering.

1. In this life (v.18).
  - a. The believer suffers and struggles.
  - b. The future glory will be worth the agony.
2. The creation suffers and struggles for deliverance from corruption (v.19-22).
3. The believer suffers and struggles for deliverance from corruption (v.23-27).

1 (8:18) Suffering—Spiritual Warfare, Struggle: in this life the believer suffers and struggles. The word “suffering” means all the forms of suffering which the believer experiences throughout life. It means...

- the suffering that comes from persecution.
- the suffering that comes from the struggle of his spirit to overcome the flesh and the world.

Very simply, suffering means the struggle waged by our spirits to overcome all that is experienced in this life, all that is involved in the flesh and the world. (See note—Gal.5:16-18 for more discussion.) It is the spiritual struggle discussed in Romans Chapters 5-8, and so descriptively illustrated in Chapter 7. It is the weight and agony of fighting to overcome...

- sin and corruption.
- disease and pain.
- abuse and persecution.
- unregulated urges and desires.
- weaknesses and shortcomings.
- aging and loss.
- deterioration and decay.

The genuine believer struggles against everything that keeps him from living abundantly and eternally. His sole passion is to bring everything under the control of Christ and to be conformed to the image of Christ. Therefore, he struggles to overcome the flesh and the world with their aging and corruption, sin and death. No matter what suffering is required, the believer bears it in order to overcome and gain the victory of eternal life and its glory.

Note that the believer is to suffer with Christ “in order that” (ina—Greek) he may be glorified with Christ (Ro.8:17). Suffering prepares the believer to participate in the glory of Christ. It is the necessary condition for exaltation. Suffering and struggling are a refining process through which the believer must pass (1 Pt.1:6-7). It refines the believer by forcing him to expand his trust in God more and more. Suffering drives a believer to cast himself more and more upon the care of God; therefore, the believer moves closer and closer to that perfect trust and care in God. He will never achieve the perfect trust and care in God, but he will come to know it when God transports him into the very Kingdom of Heaven itself. Suffering enlarges, purifies, expands, and ennoble the believer. It makes him more and more like what he will be when he actually lives face to face with God. This future glory transcends immeasurably the suffering and struggling of this present world.

- a. The future glory shall be revealed “in” us; it shall become part of our very nature and being. Glory shall radiate and shine forth from our resurrected bodies.

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

- b. The future glory shall be an eternal weight of glory (just imagine such a weight, a weight beyond all measure, surpassing all measurements and calculations).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal” (2 Cor.4:17-18).

- c. The future glory shall far exceed anything we have seen or heard or longed for in our hearts.

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him” (1 Cor.2:9).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4).

- d. The future glory shall be so glorious it will reflect through us to others, making us ministers of glory.

“They are the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ” (2 Cor.8:23).

“To the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be known by the church the manifold wisdom of God” (Eph.3:10).

- e. The future glory shall make us just like Jesus in all that He is.

“Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is” (1 Jn.3:2).

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

2 (8:19-22) Creation: the creation suffers and struggles for deliverance from corruption. The word “creation” refers to everything under man: animal, plant, and mineral. All creation is pictured as living and waiting expectantly for the day when the sons of God shall be glorified. The words “earnest expectation” (apokaradokia) mean to watch with the neck outstretched and the head erect. It is a persistent, unswerving expectation, an expectation that does not give up but keeps looking until the event happens. Note three facts revealed about the universe in which man lives.

1. Creation is subject to corruption. This is clearly seen by men; and what men see is constantly confirmed by such authorities as the botanist, zoologist, geologist, and astronomers of the world. All of creation, whether mineral, plant, or animal, suffers just as men do. All creation suffers hurt, damage, loss, deterioration, erosion, death, and decay—all creation struggles for life. It is full of “vanity” (mataios), that is, condemned to futility and frustration, unable to realize its purpose, subject to corruption. Note the two things said about creation in this verse (v.20).

- a. Creation was condemned to vanity—futility and frustration—by God. Creation did not willingly choose to be condemned to corruption. The world was made to be the home of man, the place where he lived. Therefore, when man sinned, his world was doomed to suffer the consequences of sin with him. Man’s world was cursed right along with him.

“Cursed is the earth for thy sake” (Gen.3:17).

“The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languisheth and fadeth away [for] the haughty people of the earth do languish. The earth also is defiled under the inhabitants thereof; because they have transgressed the laws, changed the ordinance, broken the everlasting covenant. Therefore hath the curse devoured the earth” (Is.24:4-6).

“How long shall the land mourn, and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedness of them that dwell therein?” (Jer.12:4).

Thought 1. Just picture the enormous hurt and damage and decay that take place in our world. Think about...

- the disease and savagery of the animal world.
- the hurt and damage that so easily happens in the plant world.
- the destruction and deterioration that takes place in the mineral world.

Think about the earthquakes, tornados, storms, diseases, starvation, attacks, and struggles for survival that take place. And these are only a few of the myriad happenings that show the corruption of the world.

- b. Creation has been subjected to corruption “in hope.” The news of Scripture is glorious: the situation of the world is neither hopeless nor final. Creation has the same hope of redemption and of renovation as man. The world was made for man, therefore all creation shall be ultimately delivered from corruption just as man shall be delivered from corruption.

2. Creation shall be delivered from corruption. This is the wonderful news of the glorious gospel. Note a most significant point: whatever happens to man is bound to happen to his world. Man is the summit of God’s creation; therefore, all that is under man is intertwined, interwoven, and interrelated to him. Man and his world are one and the same; they are dependent upon each other. This is enormously significant: since man and his world are interrelated, it means that the world will experience whatever man experiences. When man fell, his world was bound to fall with him. But this is the glorious news as well. When man is liberated from corruption, his world shall be liberated as well. God had to subject man’s world to man’s fate, but God also had to subject man’s world “in” hope. Creation will experience the glorious hope of living forever with man, of being completely and perfectly renovated. There will be a “new heavens and a new earth” (cp. Ps.96:11-13; 98:7-9; Is.11:6-9; Rev.5:13).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1; cp. Heb.12:26-27).

“For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind” (Is.65:17).

“For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the LORD, so shall your seed and your name remain” (Is.66:22).

3. Creation groans in labor for deliverance. Note that all creation suffers together: all creation is interrelated, intertwined, and interconnected. The whole universe is dependent upon its various parts for survival. The earth could not survive without the heavens, and the heavens would have no purpose apart from God’s creation of man and his earth. This does not mean that man is to be egocentric or egotistical. It simply means that man and his earth are the focal point of God’s unbelievable creation, of His eternal plan and purpose. Being the center of creation before God is not a truth to make man proud, but to make him humble—a truth to cause him to bow in worship and praise, appreciation and thankfulness. Being the summit of God’s creation is not a gift of privilege, not presently, but of enormous responsibility.

Note the words “groaneth and travaileth.” The picture is that of a woman giving birth. Creation experiences birth pangs under its struggle to survive. And note: it has been experiencing the birth pangs until now, that is, from the fall of man up until this present moment.

In conclusion, the whole scene of these four verses is that creation awaits a renovated world. Creation resents evil and struggles against decay and death. It fights for survival. It struggles against the bondage of being slaughtered or changed.

The idea expressed is that creation awaits the Day of Redemption: anxiously, expectantly, longingly, and eagerly awaits for its deliverance from corruption. Creation moans and groans and cries for the unveiling of the Son of God.

“Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God” (Ro.8:21).

“Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:13).

“And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him: and they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads. And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:3-5).

3 (8:23-27) Corruption, Deliverance from: the believer suffers and struggles for deliverance from corruption. Note four facts.

1. It is the first-fruit of the Holy Spirit that delivers and saves man. The term first-fruit means either the presence of the Holy Spirit or the fruit of the Holy Spirit: life, love, joy, peace (Gal.5:22-23). When a believer is truly saved, he possesses the Holy Spirit and bears the fruit of the Spirit. He actually begins to live abundantly and eternally, and he experiences the fulness of God's Spirit: His love, joy, and peace. Experiencing these causes the believer to groan and ache...

- for the perfection of the Spirit's presence and fruit.
- for the day of adoption, the day when he will actually move into the perfect presence of God.
- for the redemption of his body.

The believer is stirred by the taste of the Spirit and of His first-fruits, stirred to groan for their perfection. He groans and aches to be delivered from the sufferings of this world and released into the glorious liberty of perfection with God.

“It is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:44).

“And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly” (1 Cor.15:49).

“Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption...For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory” (1 Cor.15:50, 53-54).

“For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven” (2 Cor.5:2).

“And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful” (Rev.21:4-5).

2. It is hope that delivers and saves man. Hope saves us, for it is hope that keeps us seeking after God and His redemption. We hope for redemption; therefore, “with patience we wait for it” (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Hope—Ro.8:24-25 for discussion).

3. It is prayer and the Holy Spirit that delivers and saves a man. As the believer faces the sufferings of this life he has the greatest resource imaginable: prayer. He has the right to approach God whenever needed, and to ask God for the strength to walk through and to conquer the suffering. That is what prayer is all about.

Two significant things are said about prayer.

- a. Believers do not know how to pray as they should. Note the word “we.” Paul includes himself in this, which is to say no believer knows how to pray. By nature we are weak, lacking the power...
  - for prolonged concentration.
  - to avoid distractions.
  - to stop all wandering thoughts.
  - to prevent emotional changes.
  - to govern varying affections.
  - to know what lies in the future, even one hour from now.
  - to know what is really best for us and our growth in any given situation.

- b. The Holy Spirit helps our infirmities. It is true that He helps us in all our infirmities, but the point of the present passage deals only with prayer. Note: it is assumed that we are praying in this verse. The Spirit is not going to force us to pray. It is our responsibility to pray, to take the time to get alone and pray. When we do this, the Spirit begins to act both upon and for us.

Note this also: the Spirit “helpeth our infirmities.” Whatever our particular weakness is, it is that weakness which He helps. If we are truly sincere and are wrestling to pray, then the Spirit helps us to control concentration, distractions, wandering thoughts, emotional changes, and affections. How? As we struggle to pray by controlling our flesh and its weakness, the Holy Spirit takes our mind and emotions and...

- quiets and silences them.
- stirs and excites them.
- draws and pulls them.
- directs and guides them.

He leads us to pray as we should, controlling and subjecting the flesh and concentrating upon the prayer.

Note another fact: the Holy Spirit makes “intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.” Sometimes the struggles and sufferings of life become so heavy we just cannot bear them. At other times, matters of such importance grip our hearts to such an extent that words are impossible. Emotions become too much for words. We become lost in the presence of God. Every genuine believer knows what it is to be speechless before God and left groaning in the Spirit. Every believer has experienced...

⇒ God's unspeakable gift.

“Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift” (2 Cor.9:15).

⇒ joy unspeakable.

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

⇒ words which are unspeakable.

“How that he was caught up into paradise, and heard unspeakable words, which it is not lawful for a man to utter” (2 Cor.12:4).

The point to note is that the Holy Spirit takes these great moments of prayer and helps us in our “groanings” before the Lord. We are not able to utter words; therefore, the Spirit intercedes for us with groanings that cannot be uttered.

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

Thought 1. The believer’s great need is to come before God—and to come often—in such intense prayer.

“Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you” (Mt.7:7).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

4. It is God who delivers and saves a man. Note the three things said in this verse.
- a. God searches the heart of us all. There is no exception. He knows exactly what is within our hearts. He can read and understand what our groanings and needs are. Not a need will be missed.

“And thou, Solomon my son, know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind: for the LORD searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts: if thou seek him, he will be found of thee; but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for ever” (1 Chron.28:9).

“Shall not God search this out? For he knoweth the secrets of the heart” (Ps.44:21).

“I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings” (Jer.17:10).

- b. God knows the mind of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit prays for us according to the will of God; therefore, God knows exactly what the Spirit is requesting for us. There is perfect agreement between the Holy Spirit and God the Father.

“Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come” (Jn.16:13).

- c. God will answer our prayer and meet our need. He will deliver and save us, causing the very best thing to happen.

“Whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“And in that day ye shall ask me nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full. These things have I spoken unto you in proverbs: but the time cometh, when I shall no more speak unto you in proverbs, but I shall show you plainly of the Father” (Jn.16:23-24).

“At that day ye shall ask in my name: and I say not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you: for the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God” (Jn.16:26-27).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(8:24-25) Hope (elpis): assured expectation, confident knowledge, inward possession, spiritual surety. Note the statements of definition again, for they are packed full of meaning. The believer’s hope cannot be defined as the world defines hope. The believer’s hope is entirely different from the world’s hope, desire, or wish. The world desires and wishes for what it can see, and they may or may not be able to get what they long for.

The believer’s hope is entirely different in that it deals with spiritual things and the believer will unquestionably get what he hopes for. The believer’s hope is based on the inward experience and witness of God’s Spirit. The believer knows that God’s Spirit lives within him, and he actually experiences the things of the Spirit now. Granted, his experience is but a taste; the things of the Spirit are not yet perfected in his life, but they do exist, and they are present in his body. He already possesses the things of God while in the flesh. His hope of salvation is a present experience—he is saved now—he already has a taste of salvation. The believer’s hope to be saved is a living reality now; therefore, his hope is a sure hope. To the genuine believer, hope is the absolute assurance of things promised, but not yet seen.

He has absolute assurance because he already experiences the things of God. They are already an inward possession, a spiritual surety, an assured expectation, a confident knowledge. Note four facts about hope.

1. God has chosen for us to be saved by hope and not by sight. If we were saved by sight, we would not hope in God. If we could actually see and experience perfect redemption and salvation now, then there would be nothing more for which to hope. The result would be catastrophic: we would not be drawing close to God, believing and trusting Him, nor looking to Him to provide a perfect salvation for us. There would be no liberty and freedom between God and man, no love and trust established. There just would be no relationship and no fellowship between God and man, not based on a free moral love, trust, and belief.

2. God is after one thing: our being patient in hope, that is, our persevering in hope. Why? The more we hope for salvation and redemption, the closer we draw to God. And, above all else, God wants us to draw near Him: fellowshiping, believing, trusting, loving, and hoping in Him.

3. The path of hope is the only way God could choose for salvation. For only as a man hopes in God will he draw near to God; and in reality, the more a man hopes in God, the closer he draws to God. The more he hopes, the more he will trust, believe, love, and depend upon God. And this is exactly what God is after; it is His plan and purpose for man and his world.

4. The believer's hope is expressed in several glorious ways. Note that God Himself is called "the God of hope" (Ro.15:13).

- a. The hope of "the resurrection of the dead" (Acts 23:6).
- b. The hope of the promise (Acts 26:6-7).
- c. The hope of Israel (Acts 28:20).
- d. The hope that is the object of faith (Ro.4:18; cp. Acts 26:6-7).
- e. The hope of the glory of God (Ro.5:2; Col.1:27; Tit.2:13).
- f. The hope that saves us (Ro.8:24).
- g. The hope that causes believers to endure afflictions (Ro.8:25; 1 Th.1:3).
- h. The hope of believers that comes through the Scripture (Ro.15:4).
- i. The hope which is a gift of the Holy Spirit (Ro.15:13).
- j. The hope that is one of the three essential traits of the believer (1 Cor.13:13).
- k. The hope in Christ (1 Cor.15:10; 1 Tim.1:1).
- l. The hope of righteousness (Gal.5:5).
- m. The hope of God's calling (Eph.1:18; 4:4).
- n. The hope which the lost do not have (Eph.2:12).
- o. The hope of the gospel (Col.1:23).
- p. The hope of salvation (1 Th.5:8).
- q. The "good hope" which God gives (2 Th.2:16).
- r. The hope of eternal life (Tit.1:2; 3:7; cp. Acts 2:26).
- s. The "blessed hope" of the Lord's return (Tit.2:13).
- t. The hope that stirs diligence and gives full assurance (Heb.6:11).
- u. The hope set before believers (Heb.6:18).
- v. The hope which anchors the believer's soul (Heb.6:19).
- w. The hope that stirs belief (Heb.11:1).
- x. The "living hope" of the believer (1 Pt.1:3).
- y. The hope that stirs believers to purify themselves (1 Jn.3:3).

DIVISION VI

DELIVERANCE AND REDEMPTION: THE BELIEVER SHALL BE FREED FROM STRUGGLING AND SUFFERING BY THE SPIRIT, 8:1-39

C. God Assures Deliverance (Freedom) from Struggling and Suffering, 8:28-39

(8:28-39) Introduction—Predestination—Man, Struggles—Suffering: the glorious message of Romans is that God assures deliverance (freedom) from struggling and suffering—through Christ. This is the whole point of all that has been written before. Man desperately struggles against the pressures and forces both within himself and alien to himself. He struggles against the weight and discouragement of trials; against the pollution and corruption of life; against the relentless accusations and bombardments of conscience and law; against the pain and decay of his body; against the striking fear and hopelessness of an eternal judgment hereafter. He struggles against the unknown and against pain, hurt, sorrow, loneliness, alienation, aging, death, and hell (cp. Gal.5:17). Somehow, through his suffering and struggle throughout life, he feels that his suffering and struggling are due to a wrong relationship with God.

Therefore, man views his many problems as really being one supreme problem: how to get right with God. If he can establish the right relationship with God, he feels sure God will help him through his trials and take care of his future hereafter.

This is the very message of Romans. Man needs to get right with God, for he is under the condemnation and wrath of God (Ro.1:18-3:20). Man needs a right relationship with God; he needs to be justified, that is, declared righteous by God (Ro.3:21-5:21). Man needs to be freed from the struggle of sin, for sin corrupts and leads to death (Ro.6:1-23). Man needs to be freed from the bondage of law (spiritual legalism); for the law enslaves, accuses, condemns, and strikes hopelessness within the heart (Ro.7:1-25).

“O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?” (Ro.7:24).

“I thank God [that] Jesus Christ our Lord” shall free me from struggling and suffering (Ro.7:25a; cp.Ro.8:1-39).

All the discussion in Chapter 8 up to this point has now moved to the summit. Those who love God and are called by Him will definitely be freed from the bondages and corruptions of this life and ushered into glory. God assures this. Nothing, absolutely nothing, shall prevent God's settled plan and purpose from coming about in the life of the believer. God's settled plan and purpose for the universe shall be consummated. He has determined two supreme things (Ro.8:29).

⇒ Believers shall be conformed to the image of His dear Son (v.29).

⇒ His Son shall have many brothers, among whom He is to be honored as the first (the most preeminent) Person (v.29).

1. Assurance 1: God works things out for those who love Him (v.28).
2. Assurance 2: God has determined to fulfill His purpose for the believer (v.29).
3. Assurance 3: God has set the glorification of the believer—once-for-all (v.30).
4. Assurance 4: God has acted for the believer, not against him (v.31-33).
5. Assurance 5: Christ does not condemn the believer (v.34).

6. Assurance 6: Christ delivers the believer through the severest circumstances (v.35-37).
7. Assurance 7: Christ delivers the believer through the most extreme experiences and forces (v.38-39).

1 (8:28) Assurance—Call—Man, Struggles—Salvation: God works all things out for those who love Him. This is the first assurance of deliverance. What a comforting declaration! Scripture actually declares that “all things work together for good” for the believer. Think about it: nothing could assure the believer any more than God’s working all things out for his good. Note four things.

1. The words “all things” go well beyond the great events of the world. God does control the events of the world, but He controls much more. He rules over “all things”—all the events and happenings that occur in the life of the believer. He works “all things” out for good in behalf of His dear child.

2. The words “work together” (sunergei) mean to create and eliminate, place and replace, connect and group, interrelate and intermingle, shape and forge, press and stretch, move and operate, control and guide, arrange and influence. The words “work together” are also present action which means that all things are continually working together for good. God is in control of the believer’s life. Daily, moment by moment, God is arranging and rearranging all things for the believer’s good.

3. The word “good” (agathon) means for the ultimate good. We cannot see the future; we cannot take a single event and see all the lines and ramifications that run from it. We cannot see all the things that result from one single event, much less see the results of every event. But God does; therefore, God takes all the events of our lives and works them out for our ultimate good.

4. There is, however, a limitation on this glorious promise, a limitation that desperately needs to be noted. God works all things out for good only for those who love God and are called according to His purpose.

- a. This fact is graphically seen in the Greek. The clause “to those who love God” is placed first in the sentence: “But we know that to those who love God all things work together for good.” Scripture makes sure the point is not missed. God only looks after the affairs of the person who loves Him.

Thought 1. Think about it for a moment, for it is the only reasonable conclusion. If a man does not love God—does not place his life into the hands of God—how can God take care of Him? If the man turns his back and walks away from God, how can God look after him? God is not going to force His care upon any of us. He is not going to make mechanical robots out of us, forcing us to live at His beck and call. Such is not love; it is only mechanical behavior. What God wants is love that flows from a heart that chooses to love Him. The choice is ours: we either turn our lives over to Him in love, or we continue to take our lives into our own hands.

- b. Note the words, “called according to his purpose.” The believer’s deliverance is purposed by God. God calls him for the glorious purpose of being saved from the struggle and sufferings of this life.

Note a significant fact. The believer’s position and behavior are both involved in the call of God.

⇒ Positionally, God chooses the believer by setting him apart through the Holy Spirit and through belief of the truth.

“God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth: whereunto he called you by our gospel, to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.2:13-14).

⇒ In behavior, God calls the believer to a life of purity and holiness.

“For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness” (1 Th.4:7).

The point is this: God delivers the person who is positioned in Christ and who lives a pure and holy life. The person who truly loves God and is living a godly life is the person who experiences all things being worked out for his good. It is the godly person who loves God that will be delivered from the struggling and suffering of this corrupt world.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Many are the afflictions of the righteous: but the LORD delivereth him out of them all” (Ps.34:19).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

“When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:2).

Thought 1. Contrast the carnal attitude of Jacob and the spiritual attitude of Paul.

⇒ Jacob said, “All these things are against me” (Gen.42:36).

⇒ Paul said, “All things work together for good to them that love God” (Ro.8:28).

2 (8:29) Assurance—Foreknowledge—Predestination—Conformed—Image—Salvation: God has determined to fulfill His purpose for the believer. This is the second assurance of deliverance. Note three significant points.

1. This passage is often abused and misused. It is not dealing so much with theology or philosophy, but more with the spiritual experience of the Christian believer. If the pure logic of philosophy and theology are applied, then the passage says that God chooses some for heaven and others for a terrible hell. But this is simply not the meaning God intends for the passage. What God wants believers to do is to take heart, for He has assured their salvation.

God knows the suffering that believers go through daily (cp. Ro.8:28-39). God “did foreknow” even before the foundation of the world (v.29). But no matter how great the suffering, no matter how great the opposition, no matter how great the struggle, God is going to complete His purpose for believers. God has “predestinated [believers] to be conformed to the image of His Son,” and absolutely nothing can change that. Why? “That Christ might be the first-born [have the pre-eminence] among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

God loves His Son in the most supreme way possible. God has ordained that His Son shall have many brothers (adopted brothers) who will love and serve Him as the first-born, that is, as the first Person or the most preeminent Person of the universe. God has ordained that Jesus Christ shall hold the highest rank and position: that He be the exalted Head of all creation and the One to whom all men look (cp. Col.1:15, 18). Therefore, God is going to allow nothing to permanently defeat believers. God is going to allow no fallen child of His to ever remain down permanently. God is going to fulfill His purpose in every child of His, and nothing can stop His purpose. Jesus Christ, His Son, will have a multitude of brothers and sisters who worship and serve Him throughout eternity.

2. Believers will be conformed to the image of God’s dear Son. The words “conformed to the image” (summorphous tes eikonos) mean both an inward and an outward likeness.

- a. “Conformed” (summorphous) means the very same form or likeness as Christ. Within our nature—our being, our person—we shall be made just like Christ. As He is perfect and eternal—without disease and pain, sin and death—so we shall be perfected just like Him. We shall be transformed into His very likeness.
- b. “Image” (eikonos) means a derived or a given likeness. The image of Christ is not something which believers merit or for which they work; it is not an image that comes from their own nature or character. No man can earn or produce the perfection and eternal life possessed by Christ. The image of Christ, His perfection and life, is a gift of God. To be conformed to the image of God’s Son means...
  - to become a partaker of the divine nature (2 Pt.1:4).
  - to be adopted as a son of God (Eph.1:5).
  - to be holy and without blame before Him (Eph.1:4; 4:24).
  - to bear the image of the heavenly: which is an incorruptible, immortal body (1 Cor.15:49-54; cp. 1 Cor.15:42-44).
  - to have one’s body fashioned (conformed) just like His glorious body (Ph.3:21).
  - to be changed (transformed) into the same image of the Lord (2 Cor.3:18).
  - to be recreated just like Him (1 Jn.3:2-3).

3. Note what it is that assures the believer’s deliverance from the suffering and struggling of this world. It is two things.

- a. The foreknowledge of God. The word “foreknow” (proginosko) is used three different ways in Scripture. It means...
  - to know something beforehand, ahead of time.
  - to know something intimately by loving and accepting and approving it.
  - to elect, foreordain, and predetermine something.

The present passage is interpreted differently by scholars. Note that the second and third meanings are much the same. When a person is loved and approved, selection or election is involved. The person becomes a very special or select person.

Again, the point to see is not the pure logic of the theological or philosophical argument. This is not God’s purpose in this passage. God’s purpose is to assure the believer: the believer is going to be conformed to the image of Christ, and nothing can stop the glorious process. God foreknew the fact, saw it even before the world was ever founded. He has always loved and approved the believer, electing and ordaining him from the very beginning. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Foreknowledge—Acts 2:23 for more detailed discussion.)

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“God hath not cast away his people [Israel] whom he foreknew” (Ro.11:2).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot: who verily was foreordained [foreknown] before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:18-20).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

- b. The predestination of God. The word predestination (proorisen) means to destine or appoint before, to foreordain, to predetermine. The basic Greek word (proorizo) means to mark off or to set off the boundaries of something. The idea is a glorious picture of what God is doing for the believer. The boundary is marked and set off for the believer: the boundary of being conformed to the image of God’s dear Son. The believer shall be made just like Christ, conformed to His very likeness and image. Nothing can stop

God's purpose for the believer. It is predestinated, set, and marked off. The believer may struggle and suffer through the sin and shame of this world; he may even stumble and fall or become discouraged and downhearted. But if he is a genuine child of God, he will not be defeated, not totally. He will soon arise from his fall and begin to follow Christ again. He is predestinated to be a brother of Christ, to worship and serve Christ throughout all eternity. And Christ will not be disappointed. God loves His Son too much to allow Him to be disappointed by losing a single brother. Jesus Christ will have His joy fulfilled; He will see every brother of His face to face, conformed perfectly to His image. He will have the worship and service of every brother chosen to be His by God the Father. The believer's eternal destiny, that of being an adopted brother to the Lord Jesus Christ, is determined. The believer can rest assured of this glorious truth. God has predestinated him to be delivered from the suffering and struggling of this sinful world. (See notes, Predestination—Jn.6:37; 6:39; 6:44-46 for God's part and man's part in salvation. See DEEPER STUDY # 3—Acts 2:23; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.9:10-13; note—9:14-33 for more discussion.)

“According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love: having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will” (Eph.1:4-5).

“According to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord: in whom [Christ] we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him” (Eph.3:11-12).

3 (8:30) Glory of Believer: God has set the glorification of the believer once-for-all. This is the third assurance of deliverance. It must be remembered throughout this passage that Scripture is talking about the genuine believer. A genuine believer is a person who sincerely believes in Jesus Christ and diligently seeks to please Him by living soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world (Tit.2:11-13). It is the genuine believer whose glorification is predestinated, set forever and ever by God. The true believer can rest in this glorious truth, for God has done three wonderful things for him. God has called, justified, and glorified him. Note that all three steps are in the past tense; all three steps are something already accomplished. The believer's glorification has already taken place in the plan and mind of God. God already sees believers glorified; He already sees believers in His presence. It is assured and predestinated—already written down in the annals of heaven, never to be erased.

Again, does this mean that some are destined to hell and some to heaven? No, a thousand times, no! This is not the purpose of this Scripture. God's purpose is to give enormous assurance to the true believer: he shall be delivered from the struggling and suffering of this sinful world. He is going to be freed—if he is a true believer—freed from all the sin and shame, failure and shortcoming, pain and death. He is going to be glorified right along with God's dear Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

1. God has called the true believer. Some time ago the Spirit called and stirred the heart of the true believer to come to Christ. The believer responded to the call. Scripture definitely teaches that the believer had a choice. He could have chosen to respond or not to respond. (Cp. Rev.22:17.) Thank God he responded and came to Christ. Therefore, the call was effective; the call worked. The believer did respond to Christ. (See note, Draw—Jn.6:44-46 for God's part and man's part in salvation.)

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

“And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

“Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool” (Is.1:18).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price” (Is.55:1).

2. God has justified the believer. Again, note the past tense. Justification has already taken place for the true believer. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1.)

Thought 1. The point is clear. If the believer has been truly called, if he has been truly saved, then his deliverance from struggling and suffering is assured. His deliverance is a past fact and it is set eternally by God. No matter how deeply the believer senses his shortcoming and failure, his struggle with the sin and suffering of this world, he is a child of God. Every time he comes short or stumbles and falls, he needs to get up and begin all over again. He must not become discouraged and defeated, self-accusing and incriminating, feeling unworthy and undeserving, or unwanted and rejected. Such a state of mind is one the most useful strategies of the devil—a strategy which he uses to defeat believers by the multitudes. God has called the believer, so he must arise and begin to diligently follow Christ once again. Every believer who is walking about defeated—no matter how great his fall—should arise right now and turn back to Christ. This is our call, our duty.

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

Paul the apostle, who was a converted murderer, is a dynamic example of this victorious attitude, the very attitude needed so desperately by all believers.

“Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:13-14; cp. Job 17:9; Ps.84:7; Pr.4:18; Heb.12:4).

3. God has glorified the believer. This, too, is past tense: the glorification of the believer is an accomplished fact, a fact that has already taken place in God’s mind and plan. God already sees and counts the believer as glorified in His presence for eternity (see DEEPER STUDY # 1,2,3—Ro.2:7; DEEPER STUDY # 1—3:23; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.17:22 for what the believer’s glorification involves).

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“[That ye may know] what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

“And there shall be no night there; and they need no candle, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God giveth them light: and they shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.22:5).

“Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory” (Ps.73:24).

4 (8:31-33) God, Work of—Assurance—Jesus Christ, Death: God has acted for the believer, not against him. This is the fourth assurance of deliverance. This is the greatest truth in all the world. God did not have to act for man, but He did. God loves every man, no matter his condition, sin, and shame. Therefore, believers can rest assured that nothing, absolutely nothing shall ever separate them from the plan and purpose of God. God’s love is absolute. It is perfect. And God shall have His perfect love expressed by completing His perfect plan and purpose for each life. The believer can have absolute assurance that God will work all things out for his good, even things that fail and are painful to the heart. God shall deliver the believer through the struggling and suffering of this world. The true believer shall be conformed to the image of Christ and glorified with Him (v.29-30).

The point is this: God Himself is the believer’s assurance. God Himself has acted for the believer; He has done everything necessary and then more: “If God be for us, who can be against us?”

1. God is our Savior. It was God who “spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all” (v.32). The words “spared not” (ouk epheisato) mean that God did not hold back or refrain from giving His Son; He did not refuse or even hesitate to give His Son. The picture is that of God weighing man’s eternal separation from Him against the sacrifice of His Son. He had a choice to make and He made it; He deliberately chose to sacrifice His Son for us. God knew exactly what He was doing. He wanted man delivered from this struggling and suffering world, and there was only one way for man to be saved:

⇒ Someone had to bear man’s penalty for transgression and sin, which was the judgment of death.

Therefore, God handed His own Son over to die for us—in our behalf, in our stead, in our place, as our substitute. God spared not His own Son; He delivered Christ Jesus up for us all. What a glorious, marvelous, wonderful love! And just how wonderful His love is can be clearly seen in this: it was while we were sinners, acting and rebelling against God, that He gave His Son to die for us.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8)

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“All we like sheep have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:6).

(See notes, Jesus Christ, Death—Jn.3:16; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 2:23 for more discussion. Cp. 1 Pt.2:24; 3:18.)

2. God is our Provider. Since God has done such a great and glorious thing, how shall He not also give us all things? Giving His own Son for us was the greatest gift in all the world; therefore, He is bound to give us everything else. Nothing could ever cost God anything close to the price He has paid in giving up His Son; therefore, God shall give us everything else. Note three points.

- a. God's provision includes spiritual, eternal, and material gifts.
 ⇒ The spiritual provision is the fruit of the Spirit (See note—Eph.1:3.)

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ” (Eph.1:3).

- ⇒ The eternal provision is deliverance from the struggling and suffering of this sinful world. It is the gift of eternal life, of living gloriously conformed to the image of His dear Son, Jesus Christ (see note, pt.2—Ro.8:29 for just what this means).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

- ⇒ The material gifts are the necessities of life (see outline and notes—Mt.6:25-34).

“Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?...But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31, 33).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

- b. The provision is freely given. God's gift of His Son was freely given; therefore, all that God provides for man is freely given. No man can merit or earn God's provision. God provides and meets the need of the believer because He loves the believer.

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

- c. The provision of God comes through Christ and through Him alone. Note the words “with Him.” It is with Christ that God gives us all things. If we are with Christ, then all things are given to us. We shall be delivered from struggling and suffering. Believers can rest assured of this. No matter how much we struggle and suffer through the sin and shame of this world, God will see us through it all. He is going to conform us to the glorious image of His Son.

“Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water” (Jn.4:10).

“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:23).

“Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift” (2 Cor.9:15).

3. God is our Justifier. This is the most glorious truth: God does not charge us with sin. In fact, He does not lay anything to our charge; He justifies us (see DEEPER STUDY # 1,2, Justification—Ro.4:22; 5:1 for more discussion).

Note the question: Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect? It is God; only God can charge us with sin and shame. But note: if we have truly trusted Jesus Christ as our Savior, if we are one of God's elect, He does not charge us with sin. He justifies us. He forgives our sin and counts us righteous in Christ Jesus. If we are God's child, no one can charge us with anything. We are God's; we belong to God. No one can charge, count, or doom us to be...

- |               |                    |               |
|---------------|--------------------|---------------|
| • a failure   | • an embarrassment | • lost        |
| • a detriment | • hopeless         | • unusable    |
| • a shame     | • helpless         | • unworthy    |
| • a sinner    | • defeated         | • of no value |

Man is not our judge; therefore, man cannot judge these things to be true of us—only God can. God is our Judge, and this is the glorious truth: God does not judge His elect. He does not lay sin and shame against His children; He justifies His children. No matter how much we have struggled and suffered through the sin and shame of this world, God delivers us. No matter how far we have fallen, no matter how discouraged we have become, if we are truly God's child, He picks us up and justifies us in Christ Jesus and continues to conform us to the image of His dear Son. God does not leave us down and defeated, nor does He go around charging us with sin and shame. God justifies us and continues His work of forgiveness and grace in our lives. (See note, Grace—Ro.6:14-15 for more discussion. Also see note, Foreknowledge and Predestination—Ro.8:29 for a discussion of the elect.)

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:9-11).

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

“So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me” (Heb.13:6).

“He shall not be afraid of evil tidings: his heart is fixed, trusting in the LORD” (Ps.112:7).

“But whoso hearkeneth unto me shall dwell safely, and shall be quiet from fear of evil” (Pr.1:33).

5 (8:34) Jesus Christ, Work of—Salvation: Christ does not condemn the believer. This is the fifth assurance of deliverance. Note how direct and forceful the question is: “Who is he that condemneth?” It is Christ; only Christ can condemn us for our sin and shame. But the glorious news is that Christ does not condemn us. On the contrary, the very opposite is true. Christ does four wonderful things for us.

1. Christ has died for us. Christ is our glorious Savior. When we honestly come to Him, He does not condemn us for our sin and shame; He forgives us. He is able to forgive us because He died for us.

⇒ Our sins are a shame, for sin is rebellion against God. Sin acts against God, fights and struggles against God. Sin goes against all that God stands for. Sin is insurrection against God; it is the crime of high treason against God. Sin is the most terrible act that can be done against God.

Therefore, we deserve to be condemned by God and put to death for sin. But we do not have to face condemnation. Christ has already paid the penalty for sin. Christ has already been condemned and executed for our transgression against God. This is the glorious love of Christ. He has already died for us: in our place, in our stead, as our substitute. Therefore when we sincerely come to Christ, He does not condemn us; He loves us and forgives our sin and shame. This is the very purpose of His death—to free us from sin, from its penalty and condemnation.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

“All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all” (Is.53:6).

2. Christ has risen from the dead for us. Christ is our risen Lord. His resurrection does two marvelous things for the believer.

a. The resurrection of the Lord proves that God was perfectly satisfied with the death of Jesus Christ. What Christ did—His dying for our sins—was acceptable to God; therefore, God has accepted Jesus’ death for us. God has approved His dying for us. God’s divine justice was perfectly satisfied with Christ dying for us. This is clearly seen in the resurrection of Jesus Christ: if God had not been satisfied, He would have left Jesus in the grave. But thank God, God was satisfied, so He raised up Jesus to live forever as the Sovereign Savior of the world.

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins” (1 Cor.15:17).

b. The resurrection of the Lord gives the believer a new life, making the believer a new creature and a new man (see note, pt.2—Ro.6:3-5 for discussion).

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:10-11).

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again....Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:15, 17).

“[That you may know] what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:19-20).

“Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead” (Col.2:12).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God” (Col.3:1).

3. Christ has been exalted for us. He is our exalted Lord. He sits face to face with God at His right hand. This gives two assurances to the believer.

- a. The believer shall also be exalted into the presence of God. Just as Christ lives face to face with God, the believer shall also live face to face with God throughout all eternity. (See note, pt.2—Ro.8:29 for discussion. See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.3:23 for more discussion.)

“For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection” (Ro.6:5).

“Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him: knowing that Christ being raised from the dead dieth no more; death hath no more dominion over him. For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God” (Ro.6:8-10).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

“Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world” (Jn.17:24).

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

- b. The Lord Jesus Christ is exalted as the Sovereign and majestic Lord of the universe. He is the Ruler who reigns and rules over all, who possesses all might and power and is full of all wisdom and truth. He is the One who is going to destroy and utterly eliminate sin and evil in the world. He is the One who is going to establish a kingdom of righteousness, justice, love, and truth in the new heavens and earth.

“Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places, far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come” (Eph.1:20-21).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him” (1 Pt.3:22).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

Note: it is Jesus Christ (and not another) who rules and reigns over the universe. This stirs enormous assurance in the hearts of genuine believers. Why? Because Jesus Christ has demonstrated His glorious love and care for the world. He not only can, but He will look after us and work all things out for good until

He returns (v.28). The control of evil in the world and our lives are under His care. He is working all things out for good to those of us who truly love Him and are called according to His purpose (v.28).

“Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?...But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31, 33).

“Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

“But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value than many sparrows” (Lk.12:7).

“And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand” (Jn.10:28).

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose” (Ro.8:28).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

“Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy” (Jude 24).

“And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of” (Gen.28:15).

“Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep” (Ps.121:4).

“When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee” (Is.43:2).

4. Christ makes intercession for us before the throne of God. He is our great Intercessor, our Mediator, and Advocate who stands between God and man. It is Christ Jesus who brings us to God and who makes redemption, even the forgiveness of our sins, possible (Eph.1:7).

⇒ It is His advocacy, the advocacy of His death and resurrection for us, that forgives our sins.

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:1-2).

⇒ It is His intercession, the intercession of His death and resurrection for us, that saves us.

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

⇒ It is His presence in heaven and His plea, the plea of His death and resurrection for us, that opens the door of heaven to us.

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

The point is this. The believer has the greatest assurance imaginable: he shall be delivered from the struggling and suffering of this world. No matter the sin and shame of his life, if he truly comes to Christ, he is not condemned. He is not judged for sin, no matter how terrible or how far he has fallen. If he will only come to Christ, Christ will deliver him. Christ will not leave him down, discouraged, and defeated. Christ will not even scold or reproach him. Christ will receive His dear child with open arms.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness” (1 Jn.1:9).

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

6 (8:35-37) Trials, Deliverance from—Salvation—God, Love of: Christ delivers the believer through the severest circumstances. This is the sixth assurance of deliverance, and it is the most wonderful assurance imaginable. “Who [or what] can separate us from the love of God?” Too many people, even believers, feel that God does not love them, that He just could not love them. They feel unworthy of His love, for they come too short, are too disobedient, and fail too often. How could God possibly love them when they go against His will so much? The results of such feelings are...

- a sense of unworthiness
- a downing of oneself
- a sense of discouragement
- an accusing of oneself
- a low self-esteem
- a defeated life

Note a crucial point: such feelings totally contradict Scripture. Look at the verse: “Who [or what] can separate us from the love of Christ?” There is no circumstance, no situation, no event that can cause Christ to turn away from us. No matter how terrible or severe the situation, it cannot separate the true believer from the love of Christ. Christ loves the believer regardless of the circumstance, and He longs to be reconciled to the believer. No more severe circumstance can be imagined than the ones given:

- ⇒ Tribulation: to undergo struggle, trials, temptation, suffering, or affliction.
- ⇒ Distress: to suffer anguish, trouble, strain, agony; not knowing which way to turn or what to do.
- ⇒ Persecution: to be abused, mocked, ridiculed, shamed, mistreated, ignored, neglected, harrassed, attacked, or injured.
- ⇒ Famine: to have no food, to be starving and have no way to secure food.
- ⇒ Nakedness: to be stripped of all clothes and earthly comforts; to be bare, having all earthly possessions taken away.
- ⇒ Peril: to be exposed to the most severe risks; to be confronted with the most terrible dangers to one's body, mind, soul, property, family, and loved ones.
- ⇒ Sword: to be killed; to suffer martyrdom.

Just imagine a person experiencing all this. What would his thoughts be? Would he feel that he had been forsaken by God? In the midst of so much dark trouble, would he believe that God loved him?

Scripture declares loudly and clearly that God does love him. There is absolutely nothing—no matter how dark and depressing, no matter how severe—that can separate the believer from the love of Christ. Circumstances are not evidence that God does not love us. God loves us no matter what the circumstances may be.

But believers must always remember: they are going to suffer while they are in this world. In fact, the world is going to count them as sheep for the slaughter, rejecting and persecuting them (Ps.44:22). The world is going to persecute believers as long as believers continue to live for Christ. Their lives of godliness convict the world, and the world rejects godliness. (See note, Persecution—Mt.5:10-12 for why believers are persecuted.)

However, note what is said. No matter the circumstances, we are more than conquerors through Christ who has loved us (v.37). No matter the circumstances and their severity, Christ will carry us through all, strengthening and encouraging us. We cannot lose, no matter the severity of the situation. Christ loves us and is going to look after and take care of us. The believer can rest assured, Christ delivers him from the severest circumstances:

- ⇒ Christ meets all the material necessities of life.

“Therefore, take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed?...But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you” (Mt.6:31, 33).

- ⇒ Christ gives us rest.

“Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest” (Mt.11:28).

- ⇒ Christ gives us peace.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

- ⇒ Christ provides an escape from temptation.

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

- ⇒ Christ comforts us through all trials.

“Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God” (2 Cor.1:3-4).

- ⇒ Christ supplies all our needs.

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

- ⇒ Christ delivers us through persecution.

“For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds” (Heb.12:3).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

⇒ Christ delivers us into His very presence, giving us eternal life if we are martyred.

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me [transport, take me] unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

⇒ Christ cares for us no matter the situation.

“Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you” (1 Pt.5:7).

⇒ Christ enables us to overcome the world.

“For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith” (1 Jn.5:4).

⇒ Christ shows Himself strong in our behalf.

“For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him” (2 Chron.16:9).

⇒ Christ delivers us from fear.

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

⇒ Christ sustains and supports the aged believer.

“And even to your old age I am he; and even to hoar hairs will I carry you: I have made, and I will bear; even I will carry, and will deliver you” (Is.46:4).

7 (8:38-39) Trials, Deliverance from—Salvation—God, Love of: Christ delivers believers from the most extreme experiences and forces. This is the seventh assurance of deliverance. There is nothing in the universe that can separate the believer from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. The believer can be fully persuaded of this glorious fact. Just consider the experiences and forces mentioned by Scripture:

- ⇒ Not death: confronting death and leaving this world cannot separate us from Christ and His love (Jn.5:24).
- ⇒ Not life: no trial or pleasure or comfort of life, not any person nor anything in this life can separate us from Christ and His love.
- ⇒ Not angels, principalities, or powers: no heavenly or spiritual creature, no being from any other dimension can separate us from Christ and His love.
- ⇒ Not anything present or anything to come: neither present events, beings or things, nor future events, beings, or things—absolutely nothing in existence or anything in future existence—can cut us off from Christ and His love.
- ⇒ Not height or depth: nothing from outer space or from the depths of the earth can separate us from Christ and His love.

Note the grand finale: if there be any other creature than the ones named, that creature cannot separate us from “the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.”

“The LORD thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing” (Zeph.3:17).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“At that day [after Jesus’ ascension] ye shall ask in my name: and I say not unto you, that I will pray the Father for you: for the Father himself loveth you, because ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God” (Jn.16:26-27).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not” (1 Jn.3:1).

“In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him” (1 Jn.4:9).

“The LORD hath appeared of old unto me, saying, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with loving-kindness have I drawn thee” (Jer.31:3).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

A. The Privileges of Israel and Their Tragic Failure, 9:1-5

(9:1-11:36) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Israel: the change from Chapter 8 is abrupt and striking. Chapters 9-11 have to do with the place of the Jews in world history. The church faces this bewildering problem because the Jews were God's chosen people with a unique and special place in God's purposes. However, when God sent His Son into the world, the Jews rejected Him. How can this tragic and terrible paradox be explained? Why would God's people choose to reject and crucify God's very own Son? This is the problem that Paul begins to deal with in these chapters.

Two things need to be noted throughout this section.

First, the Jews were the special chosen people of God. Paul never questioned this. The Jews had a very special place in God's plan for the salvation of man down through human history. (See notes also DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25.)

Second, the real chosen people, the real Israel, always lay in a righteous remnant, not in the whole nation (cp. Ro.9:25, esp. 27f).

(9:1-5) Introduction: Paul bears his heart in this passage, revealing a deep evangelistic fervor for his people, the Jews. It is a rare glimpse of the burning compassion that every servant of God should possess for his own loved ones and kinsmen.

1. A man's great love for his people (v.1-3).
2. A man's great respect for his people (v.4-5).

1 (9:1-3) Evangelism—Witnessing—Compassion—Great Commission: this is the picture of a man's great love and concern for his people, a love and concern for their salvation.

1. Paul pleads for his people to trust him. The Jews called Paul a false prophet and a liar. Why? He was now proclaiming God's love and salvation for all men instead of just for the Jews. Man no longer had to become a proselyte of Jewish religion in order to know God (cp. Ro.10:12-13). To the traditional Jew, Paul was a heretic. He was a man who was to be utterly distrusted. They hated and despised him and wanted to kill him and do away with his message (see notes—Acts 21:27-30; 24:1-9. Cp. Acts 22:22; 1 Cor.4:13.)

2. Note how distressed Paul's heart is. Despite the rejection and ill treatment from the Jews, Paul still loved his kinsmen, and he sensed a deep urgency for them to grasp the truth. Their salvation was of such concern that he swore his concern by three things: Christ, his conscience, and the Holy Spirit. Paul was forcibly saying, "I am not lying..."

- "I say the truth in Christ..."
- "my conscience also bears me witness..."
- "my conscience bears witness in the Holy Spirit..."

"I do have a great concern and love for my kinsmen. But my concern is not that their sinful ways be approved, but that they come to know the truth; for without the truth, they will be lost and doomed."

Just how deeply Paul's heart was distressed over his kinsmen is clearly seen in the description of his heart.

- ⇒ "I have great heaviness" (lupe): pain, grief, mourning.
- ⇒ "I have...continual sorrow" (odune): intense pain, anguish, torment. And note: it is continuous and unceasing. Paul was always bearing pain for the salvation of his kinsmen. The depth of Paul's love and concern is graphically seen in what he said.

3. Paul is the picture of a man who had an unbelievable willingness to be sacrificed for his people. He could wish to be accursed (anathema), that is, separated, from Christ if it would save his people. He could be willing to swap his salvation for their doom if it would lead to their salvation. Paul felt the deepest emotion, love, and concern for his people.

Note: the words of Paul must not be stretched too far. Paul was speaking from an evangelistic fervor, not from a theological view. He was immersed in emotion, just as so many of God's people sometimes become over loved ones who are lost. Many have been so immersed in emotion that they have offered to swap their salvation for a loved one. Sometimes the Spirit of God works in the hearts of God's people to strain and suffer through intense prayer for the salvation of lost souls, and sometimes the strain and intensity of prayer is so deep that a believer could wish one extreme (his own salvation) for the other extreme (the salvation of loved ones).

Thought 1. The point is forceful: God's people should be willing to suffer the ultimate pain for the salvation of souls.

“Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest” (Jn.4:35).

“Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved” (Ro.10:1).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life. And of some have compassion, making a difference: and others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh” (Jude 21-23).

2 (9:3-5) Israel, Privileges of—Glory: a man's great respect for his people. Paul had just declared his great love for Israel; now he assures them of his respect. He did not deny their place in the plan and purposes of God. He knew they were a greatly privileged people, a people who had been highly favored by God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1-9—Ro.9:4-5 for discussion. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 8, Israel—Mt.21:43 for an overview of Israel.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(9:4) Israel—Israelites: the Jews were Israelites. Their very name, Israel, meant a prince with God or one who rules with God or one who contends with God. And their name had been given them from the very founding of their nation. It had come from Jacob, whose name had been changed by God to Israel. The name was later adopted by the descendants of Jacob (Gen.32:28; 34:7; Jn.1:47).

Thought 1. In the providence of God, believers have been highly privileged just as Israel was. Believers have been given the name of God's own Son, Christian, which means a follower or a disciple of Jesus Christ. What we must guard against is bringing shame to the Lord's name. Too many profess His name, but do not really follow Him.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me” (Mt.15:8; cp. Is.29:13).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(9:4) Adoption: the Jews had the privilege of being adopted by God. They were chosen in a very special sense to be the children of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22; DEEPER STUDY # 8—Mt.21:43 for more discussion).

“You are the children of the Lord your God” (Dt.14:1).

“Israel is my son, even my first-born” (Ex.4:22).

“When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt” (Hos.11:1).

Note a crucial point: this does not mean that the whole nation of Israel was saved. Not all citizens of Israel believed God, and being adopted into God's family has always been by genuine faith. In order to be a true child of God it has always been necessary for a person to believe in God, entrusting his whole being into God's keeping. (Cp. Ro.9:6-8, 27, 29; 2:28-29; 4:13. See DEEPER STUDY # 8—Israel, pt.3—Mt.21:43 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Believers, too, have the glorious privilege of being adopted by God through faith (see notes, Adoption—Ro.8:15; 8:16-17; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Gal.4:5-6 for discussion and application).

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father” (Ro.8:15).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:5-6).

DEEPER STUDY #3

(9:4) Shekinah Glory: the Jews had the privilege of the glory of God, that is, the Shekinah Glory. The Shekinah Glory was the brilliant light which descended into the midst of God’s people when God was visiting His people. It symbolized God’s glorious presence and was revealed in the form of a cloud. The cloud of God’s glory and presence was revealed in two very special ways.

1. It was the glorious presence of God in the cloud that led Israel through the wilderness wanderings.

“And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night” (Ex.13:21).

“And it came to pass, as Aaron spake unto the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they looked toward the wilderness, and, behold, the glory of the LORD appeared in the cloud” (Ex.16:10).

“And it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled....And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the LORD descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly....And the LORD came down upon mount Sinai, on the top of the mount” (Ex.19:16, 18, 20).

2. It was the glorious presence of God in the cloud that filled the tabernacle and came to rest over the ark.

“Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation, and the glory of the LORD filled the tabernacle” (Ex.40:34).

“And there I will meet with the children of Israel, and the tabernacle shall be sanctified by my glory” (Ex.29:43).

“I will appear in the cloud upon the mercy seat” (Lev.16:2).

“The glory of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord” (1 Ki.8:11).

Thought 1. Believers have seen “the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6); believers are the light of the world (Mt.5:14). This means two significant things.

- 1) It is a terrible thing to possess the light and the glory of God and not to share it with those in darkness (see note—Mt.5:14-15 for more discussion).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Therefore I endure all things for the elect’s sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory” (2 Tim.2:10).

“The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a parkater of the glory that shall be revealed” (1 Pt.5:1).

- 2) It is a terrible thing to be in darkness and to see light off in the distance and not follow after it. There is absolutely no excuse for seeing the glory of God and failing to follow it.

“While ye have light, believe in the light, that ye may be the children of light” (Jn.12:36).

DEEPER STUDY # 4

(9:4) Covenants: the Jews had the privilege of the covenants. A covenant is an agreement made between two parties; a contract drawn up between two or more people; a special relationship set up and established between persons. Note the plural is used: covenants. God made several covenants with Israel. There was...

- the covenant with Noah after the flood (Gen.9:9f).
- the covenant with Abraham (Gen.12:1f; 15:18; 17:4f).
- the covenant of law made at Mount Sinai (Ex.19:5; 24:8; 34:10; Dt.29:1f).
- the covenant with David (2 Sam.7:16).
- the covenant of grace (Heb.8:8-13).

The point to note is the great love of God. He did not reach out for man only once and then leave man to his doom. God reached out to man time and again. God sought man at every opportunity, seeking to establish a relationship with him.

“Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love: therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn thee” (Jer.31:3).

“O continue thy lovingkindness unto them that know thee; and thy righteousness to the upright in heart” (Ps.36:10).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

DEEPER STUDY # 5

(9:4) Law: the Jews had the privilege of the law. They did not just have the ten commandments given to Moses on Mount Sinai, but they had the whole law of God. By law is simply meant the will of God written down. Through the centuries God simply had Moses and His messengers write out His will so that man would always know exactly how to live.

Thought 1. One of the great tragedies of human life is for a person to know that something is right and not do it. Yet, this is the daily life of man. It may be a simple matter of consuming something that damages his body or the more serious matter of cursing God’s name. No matter what the transgression is, man stands guilty. He is inexcusable, for he has the law of God, and he has had God’s law for centuries. Man knows how to live in love and justice. No greater indictment could exist than the charge: “There is none righteous, no, not one” (Ro.3:10; cp. Ro.3:9-18).

“And that servant, which knew his lord’s will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes” (Lk.12:47).

“Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not rain: and it rained not on the earth by the space of three years and six months” (Jas.5:17).

“Cursed be he that doeth the work of the LORD deceitfully [negligently]” (Jer.48:10).

DEEPER STUDY # 6

(9:4) Worship—Witnessing: the Jews had the privilege of true worship and of the true service of God. They had...

- the true temple.
- the true ordinances of God.
- the true priests, prophets, and messengers of God.
- the true approach to God.
- The Jews had been given every opportunity and privilege to approach God, and even more, to understand and grasp the person of God Himself. The Jews were greatly privileged. While other people stumbled and wandered about in the darkness of false worship, creating gods within their own imaginations, the Jews had access to God Himself, access to the only true and living God. They had the opportunity to establish a personal relationship with God.

Thought 1. What an indictment! To have the opportunity to know God personally, but to turn one’s back and walk away. However, there is an even greater offense than this. How much greater is the offense when a person knows the true approach to God and does not share it.

Believers know the truth; they know the way to God. Therefore, they must share the glorious message of the only living and true God. Note two significant facts.

- 1) Many know the truth; they know the true approach to God, yet they refuse to enter His presence. The tragic fact is this: God does not close the door to them; they shut the door upon themselves.

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Acts 28:27).

- 2) The blood of the lost is upon the hands of the believer. Why? Because the way to God and the means to proclaim the message to the world has existed for some time. Yet, we have failed to go into the world and share the life-saving news. There is no one to blame but us. Note the severe warning of God to His people:

“But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman’s hand. So thou, O son of man, I have set thee a watchman unto the house of Israel; therefore thou shalt hear the word at my mouth, and warn them from me. When I say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt surely die; if thou dost not speak to warn the wicked from his way, that wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at thine hand” (Ezk.33:6-8).

The only way for us to be freed from the judgment is to share the message of God and warn men.

DEEPER STUDY # 7

(9:4) Promises: the Jews had the promises of God. God had shared with them all of His blessings and He had given them the hope for which a man's soul craves. He had shared with them the plan and destiny for which He had created man. When man sinned and turned away from God, it was to the Jews that God gave...

- the promise of the Savior. (See notes—Lk.3:24-31; DEEPER STUDY # 3—Jn.1:45 for most of the prophecies concerning the first coming of Jesus Christ.)
- the promise of the world as an inheritance (cp. Acts 13:23, 32-33. See notes—Ro.4:13; DEEPER STUDY # 4—8:17; note—Acts 7:2-8 for more detailed discussion.)
- all the glorious promises stretching from Genesis to Revelation.

Thought 1. Three things are essential when dealing with the promises of God, three things which so many within Israel failed to do.

1) We must not stagger at the promises of God.

“He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God” (Ro.4:20).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

2) We must fear lest we come short of His promises.

“Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it” (Heb.4:1).

“Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip. For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward; how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:1-3).

3) We must steadfastly look for the promise of the new heavens and earth.

“Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of His coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation....But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless, we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:3-4, 10-13).

DEEPER STUDY # 8

(9:5) Heritage—Backsliding: the Jews had the privilege of the fathers and their heritage. Their ancestors had been the primary recipients of the promises between God and man. They had the tradition and the history. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22 for the four primary reasons God chose Israel.)

Thought 1. It is a sad thing for a person to have a godly heritage (parents, friends, teachers, schooling, etc.) and go astray. The Bible is full of examples.

- ⇒ There were the two who began denying the resurrection (2 Tim.2:16-19).
- ⇒ There was Demas, who turned back to the world (2 Tim.4:10).
- ⇒ There was Judas, who forsook Christ (Mt.26:14-16).

“For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost, and have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come, if they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame” (Heb.6:4-6).

“For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries” (Heb.10:26-27).

DEEPER STUDY # 9

(9:5) Israel—Messiah: the Jews had the privilege of the Messiah coming from their roots. This was the most glorious privilege of the Jews. It involved being the very people...

- through whom God was to send His Son.
- through whom God was to bless the world.

Note that Paul declares both the humanity and deity of Jesus Christ. He came in the "flesh," but He "is over all, God blessed forever."

Thought 1. A person's attitude and response toward Jesus Christ determine his eternal destiny.

"Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven" (Mt.10:32-33).

"Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words, in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels" (Mk.8:38).

"Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God" (Lk.12:8).

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" (Ro.10:9).

"If we suffer, we shall also reign with him; if we deny him, he also will deny us" (2 Tim.2:12).

"But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction" (2 Pt.2:1).

"Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son. Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: [but] he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also" (1 Jn.2:22-23).

"Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God" (1 Jn.4:15).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

B. The True Israel or Children of God, 9:6-13

(9:6-13) Introduction: this is a startling passage, a passage that should awaken many a person to their true relationship with God. In no uncertain terms this passage declares just who the children of God are.

1. God's Word, His promise, has not failed (v.6).
2. The children of God are not members of a race or institution (v.6).
3. The children of God are not of any particular parentage or heritage (v.7).
4. The children of God are the believers of God's promise (v.7-13).

1 (9:6) Word of God—Promises—Israel vs. Gentiles: God's Word, His promise, has not failed. God made a glorious promise to Abraham, a promise that had two major points. If Abraham would follow God...

- then God would give him a seed, a son through whom a great nation would be born. He would become the father of a great host of people.
- then God would cause all nations to be blessed through his seed.

Scripture says that Abraham did exactly as God said. He believed God with all his heart and followed God not knowing where God would lead him (Heb.11:8. Think how this is true of every follower of God.) (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Ro.4:1-25; note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22 for more detailed discussion.)

Note a significant point: all the promises in Scripture are based upon this single promise to Abraham; that is, if the promise made to Abraham is voided and done away with, then all the promises of God's Word are invalid. God's Word and His promises will have failed. In light of this there are two things that make some people think the Word of God has failed.

1. Israel rejected God's Son, Jesus Christ, when God sent Him to earth. Ever since that day, very few Jews have turned and followed Christ. Where is the nation that God promised Abraham?
2. The Gentiles are the ones who are following God through His Son Jesus Christ, not the Jews. Therefore, it looks like God has turned from Israel to the Gentiles.

These two facts cannot be denied. They are a fact of history. How then can God's Word and promise to Abraham ever be fulfilled? Have God's Word and promise failed? Is God's Word now invalid?

Forcefully, Paul declares that God's Word has not failed. God's Word and the promises of it are effective and still valid. God is fulfilling His promise to Abraham: a nation is being born to Abraham, a nation which is the true Israel and the true children of God.

"The Word of God shall stand forever" (Is.40:8).

"For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled" (Mt.5:18).

"Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away" (Lk.21:33).

"Therefore it [the promise] is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham; who is the father of us all" (Ro.4:16).

2 (9:6) Salvation: the true children of God are not members of a race or institution: "They are not all Israel, which are of Israel." Many Jews believed they were children of God because they were...

- born in the nation of Israel as an Israelite.
- reared in the Jewish religion.

The Jewish people revered God and His law and were known as a God-fearing and religious people. Therefore, a Jew felt he was a child of God by being a citizen of Israel and a circumcised member of Judaism. Many Jews felt that God's promise to Abraham meant that every citizen of the nation of Israel was a child of God as long as he was circumcised and half-way practiced the religion of Judaism.

Thought 1. The same thoughts have always prevailed among peoples of the world. Many believe they are Christians because they are citizens of a so-called Christian nation or Christian institution. They think they are acceptable to God because they profess belief in God and have been baptized, becoming a full fledged member of some church. Such, of course, is just not so. A person does not become a child of God by being...

- a citizen of a particular nation, no matter what nation it is nor how good and benevolent the nation is.
- a member of a particular religion or institution, no matter how true and godly the religion or institution may be.

Thought 2. Being a citizen of a great Christian nation and being a member of a great church does not make a person a child of God. It is not an earthly nation or a material church that makes a person acceptable to God.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood [heritage], nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God” (Jn.1:12-13).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

3 (9:7) Salvation: the true children of God are not of any particular parentage or heritage: “Neither because they are the seed of Abraham, are they all children.” As stated, many Jews felt they were children of God because they were children of Abraham, one of the great servants of God (cp. Mt.3:9; Jn.8:38-39). They rested...

- in the godliness of Abraham, feeling that his godliness would cover them.
- in the promises made to Abraham, thinking that the promises made to him would include them.

Many Jews believed that they were children of God because of their godly heritage. They trusted in the fact that their parents and so many others in their roots (genealogies) worshipped the God of Judaism. They considered themselves to be children of godly forefathers; therefore, they professed to believe in God no matter what kind of lives they lived.

Thought 1. Some are trusting their godly heritage to save them. Too many are trusting godliness to rub off on them—to rub off from...

- their godly parents
- their godly spouse
- their godly brothers & sisters
- their godly friends
- the godly minister

Few think that God will really reject them. They think that in the final analysis God will accept them. They think that enough godliness will rub off on them from some godly heritage, person, or institution for God to accept them.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“Bring forth therefore fruits worthy of repentance, and begin not to say within yourselves, We have Abraham [or some other Christian parent] to our father: for I say unto you, That God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham” (Lk.3:8).

“For he is not a Jew [Christian], which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh: but he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God” (Ro.2:28-29).

“Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one” (Job 14:4).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“There is a generation, O how lofty are their eyes! And their eyelids are lifted up” (Pr.30:12).

4 (9:7-13) Salvation—Promise—Abraham—Isaac—Ishmael—Hagar: the children of God are the believers of God's promise. Note two proofs.

1. There is the proof of Scripture, of God's Word and promise to Abraham: “In Isaac shall thy seed be called” (v.7; cp. Gen.21:12). When God gave this promise to Abraham, Abraham had two sons, Ishmael and Isaac. Ishmael had been born through a slave-girl, Hagar. For decades Abraham's wife, Sarah, had been unable to bear a child. Sometime after her childbearing years had passed, Sarah insisted Abraham attempt to have a son for her through her personal slave, Hagar. It was from this physical union that Ishmael was born. However, it was only a few years later that God appeared to Abraham and told him that Sarah was to bear the child of promise, the very child whom God had promised to Abraham when He first called Abraham (cp. Gen.18:1f).

The point is twofold.

- a. The children of the flesh are not the children of God's promise. The birth of Ishmael was due to man's effort. He was born because Sarah and Abraham were trying to secure the "promise" by their own works. Ishmael was entirely the product of natural, human, carnal, and fleshly plans. Abraham and Sarah were trying to bring about the promise of God by their own efforts and works. God had absolutely nothing to do with Ishmael's birth.

Thought 1. Ishmael represents all who seek the promise of God—that is, to become children of God—by their own fleshly works and efforts.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood [heritage], nor of the will of the flesh [sexual desire], nor of the will of man [a human father], but of God” (Jn.1:12-13).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

- b. The children of the promise are counted for the seed. Isaac was the child whom God had promised to Abraham (v.8-9). This means three things.
  - ⇒ The promised child is the “seed” through whom the promise was to be fulfilled.
  - ⇒ The promised child was born miraculously by the grace of God. Abraham and Sarah were about one hundred years old, well beyond child-bearing years, when Isaac was born (Ro.4:19).
  - ⇒ The child of promise was born through faith (Heb.11:11).

Thought 1. A person becomes a child of God through faith in the promises of God. A child of the promise is a person who believes the promise of God, a person who...

- does not seek to secure the promise by his own efforts and works.
- follows through on his belief, waiting upon God to fulfill His promise.

“For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. And if ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise” (Gal.3:26-29).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder [fulfills His promise] of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“To them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, [they shall receive] eternal life” (Ro.2:7).

“Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruit of the earth, and hath long patience for it, until he receive the early and latter rain. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh” (Jas.5:7-8).

2. There is the proof of Scripture, of God's Word and promise to Rebecca: “The elder shall serve the younger” (Gen.25:23). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1,2—Ro.9:10-13 for discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(9:10-13) Election—Predestination—God, Grace of—Jacob—Esau: a striking and decisive proof of God's election is seen in the choice of Jacob over Esau. Also, a striking proof that salvation is solely by the grace of God and not by the works and goodness of men is seen in the two sons. Note three facts.

1. The promise to Rebecca was given before Jacob and Esau were born. Jacob's character, behavior, ability, works, and parents had nothing to do with God choosing him. God and God alone chose Jacob to be the child of promise. Jacob's choice was not by his own personal efforts but by the grace of God.

2. The promise was by election, not because of “any good or evil” of the children (v.11). Unquestionably, when we accept Scripture for what it says, our minds stagger at this argument. But there is one great truth that must always be remembered: neither Jacob nor Esau deserved mercy. Neither one deserved being chosen by God for anything. No man deserves mercy or purpose from God. God does not have mercy on a man because a man deserves or merits mercy nor because a man wills or runs after God (cp. Jn.1:12; Ro.9:16). God has mercy upon a man because He is a merciful God.

3. Election, being children of the promise, is not of works, but of God who calls men to salvation. The point is this. Paul is using the two children to get across the same point he stressed with Isaac: a true child of God is not a person who...

- belongs to a particular race or institution.
- belongs to a particular family or heritage.
- works to secure the promise through his own plans and efforts.

God is merciful and He is love—absolutely so. Therefore, God has predestined a line of people to receive His promise of glory. Back in antiquity God chose Jacob, showing His mercy to Jacob. He chose Jacob to continue the line through whom He could send the Savior into the world and through whom He could fulfill all the promises of God to man. The fact that God chose Jacob for the line does not mean in any sense of the word that He condemned Esau for hell.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:29).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God” (1 Jn.5:1).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

9:11-13) God—Purpose—Predestination: “Esau I hated.” This does not mean to hate in the sense of despising. It is merely a deliberate decision on the part of God for Jacob to be the child of promise instead of Esau. There is no personal feeling involved. Esau had done no wrong to merit God’s disapproval. Neither had Jacob done any good to merit God’s approval. It is merely the right of God to choose Jacob over Esau. It is critical to note that God was always choosing the younger son over the oldest son throughout the Old Testament. He did so for a specific purpose: God was illustrating that man was to receive His promises by grace. Man’s law and efforts gave the inheritance to the oldest son; therefore, God chose the younger son over the oldest. God overruled man’s law and efforts by giving the promise and inheritance to the younger son, for the younger son was not appointed by men to receive it nor did he deserve it. He received the promise and the inheritance only by the mercy and grace of God. Note this also: God’s choice of Jacob was not a question of personal salvation, but of God’s purpose being settled before they were born (cp. Mal.1:2-3. Also cp. Gen.29:33; Mt.6:24; Lk.14:26; Jn.12:25.)

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

C. The Rejection of Israel: God's Right to Show Mercy and Justice as He Will, 9:14-33

(9:14-33) Introduction: this passage discusses two major questions: Is God righteous (v.14-24), and why has Israel been rejected by God as His primary mission force to the world (v.25-33)?

1. Is God righteous, that is, just (v.14)?
2. God has the right to be merciful and just (v.15-18).
3. God has the right to do as He wills (v.19-21).
4. God has the right to put up with evil (unbelieving) men in order to share His glory with some (believing) men (v.22-24).
5. God has identified the chosen long ago in prophecy (v.25-33).

1 (9:14) God, Nature: Is God righteous, that is, just? Paul's question is shocking: Is there unrighteousness with God? Remember what it was that caused this question. God went against all the laws of men in the ancient world, the laws governing the inheritance left to children. According to man's law, the oldest son was to receive the inheritance; however, in dealing with Isaac's children, God announced that the oldest son, Esau, would serve the younger son, Jacob. Jacob was God's choice to inherit the promise made to Abraham and Isaac, and note: God chose Jacob even before the children were born (Ro.9:10-13).

The question is this: Can God elect men, favor and disfavor men, and still be righteous and just? Can God choose and reject men even before they are born and still be righteous and just? Is there unrighteousness with God?

God forbid! It could never be! It is utterly impossible for God to be unrighteous and unjust. Glance quickly at the five points of the outline and the answer to the question is immediately seen.

2 (9:15-18) God, Election: God has the right to be merciful and just.

1. God shows mercy as He wills. He has mercy and compassion upon whom He wills. Therefore, if God chooses to show mercy to men, He has the right to do so, even when men do not deserve it. Again, if God chooses to show compassion to men, He has the right to do so even when men do not deserve it.

Note when it was that God spoke these words to Moses (Ex.33:19). Israel had just been worshipping the golden calf, committing the most serious offense, that of idolatry; and Moses had just interceded for Israel, asking God to forgive their sin (Ex.32:32). The people did not deserve God's forgiveness. They deserved annihilation in the face of God's holiness. A quick glance at the idolatrous and licentious event will show why. The event demonstrates just how depraved the heart of men can be (Ex.32:1-6). God answered Moses by saying He would not destroy the people, but He would have mercy and compassion. He is God; therefore, if He chooses to be merciful He can be merciful.

"I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion" (v.15).

Now note: God had mercy and compassion upon Israel not because they...

- willed to receive His mercy (human resolve).
- ran after God (human works, effort, energy).
- deserved God's mercy.

Israel received the forgiveness and mercy of God because God willed to be merciful to them. The point is clear: God is not unrighteous if He has mercy upon men. Men do not deserve mercy; they deserve judgment. Therefore, when God gives the unrighteous a gift, it is not unjust or unrighteous; it is being merciful and compassionate.

2. God shows justice as He wills. The historical event of Pharaoh is an example. Note five points.

- a. Scripture says that God "raised up" (exegeiro) Pharaoh. This means that God allowed Pharaoh to appear, brought him forth upon the scene of world history. We must always remember the teaching of Scripture:

"There is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Ro.13:1).

- b. Pharaoh was evil, very evil. He was an unbeliever: a harsh, stubborn, obstinate man who stood against and cursed God as though face to face. Scripture declares that God does not tempt men with evil (Jas.1:13). Therefore, Pharaoh would have been evil, stubborn, harsh, and unbelieving even if he had been a small town vendor in southern Egypt. God did not make Pharaoh sinful and evil. Pharaoh would have been sinful and evil no matter where he had lived.
- c. Pharaoh had a unique opportunity; he had something many never receive: Pharaoh heard the truth from one of God's greatest servants, Moses. He had opportunity after opportunity to repent, but he refused. Scripture says time and again that Pharaoh himself hardened his heart (Ex.8:15, 32; 9:34).
- d. Scripture also says that God hardened Pharaoh's heart (Ex.4:21; 7:3; 9:12; 10:20, 27; 11:10). What does this mean? On the basis of Scripture...
  - it does not mean that God caused Pharaoh to sin and to be stubborn. God never tempts men to sin (Jas.1:13).
  - it means that God judged Pharaoh the same as He judges all men. Pharaoh hardened his heart; therefore, he was judged and condemned to have a hardened heart. Pharaoh "sowed" a hardened heart; therefore, he "reaped" a hardened heart (Gal.6:7-8); Pharaoh "measured" out a hardened heart; therefore, he was "measured" out a hardened heart (Mt.7:2).

Very simply stated, God's law and nature of justice, of judicial equity, took effect upon Pharaoh just as it does upon all men. Pharaoh reaped exactly what he sowed. (See notes—Mt.13:13-15; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.12:39-41; note—Ro.1:24 for detailed discussion.)

- e. God overruled Pharaoh's evil and used it for the good of His people (Ro.8:28). God used Pharaoh's evil to demonstrate His sovereign power and to declare the name of God throughout all the earth.

The point is this: Pharaoh was a very sinful and evil man; therefore, God demonstrated His justice in Pharaoh. God acted righteously toward Pharaoh. Just as men execute justice upon evil men, God executed justice upon Pharaoh because of his evil. God is God; therefore, He has the right to execute justice as He wills.

The conclusion is clearly stated:

"Therefore hath...[God] mercy on whom he will have mercy, and whom he will he hardeneth" (v.18).

Thought 1. A man desperately needs to do two things.

1) A man needs to seek the face of God for mercy.

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

“It is of the LORD’s mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:4-5).

“Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:5).

“For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more” (Heb.8:12).

2) A man needs to guard ever so diligently against becoming hard toward God.

“Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness” (Ps.95:8).

“He, that being often reproveth hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy” (Pr.29:1).

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

3 (9:19-21) Election—God, Sovereignty: God has the right to do as He wills. Men object to God’s sovereignty, to His right to run the world as He wills. The reason men object to God’s right to rule and reign is clearly stated. Men want the right to determine their own fate, to live as they wish while on earth and still be assured of a good life in the next world. They do not want God or anyone else determining their fate. It is this spirit of self-centeredness and pride that causes men to object to God’s sovereignty. Note how the present objection is worded. If God has mercy upon some and hardens others...

- why does He find fault and blame the sinner?
- who has resisted His will? For God is choosing to forgive some and choosing not to forgive others.

Paul gives three answers to this objection, answers that establish the sovereignty of God beyond question. Note that the third answer is set off by itself as a major point because of its significance to the whole subject (pt.4, v.22-24).

1. Man has no right to reply against God, no right to accuse God of being unrighteous and unjust. Any man who replies against God has too low a view of God and too high a view of man. How can a creature who has been formed by God say to God, why have You made me like this? How can a creature question God, a creature...

- who owes his life, all that he is and has to God?
- who is so frail and so easily subject to destruction?
- who knows so little of the universe and its truth?
- who is so morally undisciplined and sinful?
- who is so limited to the material world and the physical dimension of being?
- who lives only for a few short years?

How can man dare question the Supreme Being who made the universe and all that is therein? Who is man that he thinks he can accuse the God of the universe with being unrighteous and unjust? Who does man think he is in accusing God with being immoral and with showing partiality and favoritism?

The point is this: God is God; therefore, He can do as He wills. As God, He sees the overall view; therefore, He knows what should be done, and He does it. Man is foolish to question and charge God with wickedness, with being unrighteous and unjust. In fact, when man questions and charges God, man only shows...

- how finite and foolish he really is.
- how wicked and depraved he really is.

2. God’s right over man is as the potter’s right over clay. Now note a crucial point that must not be missed if we are to correctly understand this passage.

- The clay already exists. This passage is not dealing with creation, but with God’s government and rule over creation. God is not creating the clay; He is taking a lump that is already existing and using it for His purposes.

Paul is not speaking of God creating some men to be sinners. God does not purpose to condemn men to hell. The fact is, God wills no man to perish; He longs for every man to be saved (2 Pt.3:9). What, then, is this verse saying?

Very simply, God uses the clay as He finds it. He takes the clay (man) and moulds it, using it for His purposes. All men are sinful, being born into a sinful and depraved world. God knows the hearts of all men even when they are born. He knows a heart is subject to be an honorable vessel or to be a dishonorable vessel.

- ⇒ All hearts that are subject to honor, God takes and moulds into vessels of honor.
- ⇒ All hearts that are subject to dishonor, God takes and moulds into vessels of dishonor.

God is God; therefore, He knows the heart of every man. He knows if the heart is subject to be tender, loving, and responsive to Him. If the heart is responsive to the things of God, then God gets the gospel to that person and quickens it to the person's heart, saving him and beginning the process of making him a vessel of honor.

God also knows if a person's heart is subject to hardness, selfishness, and rejection of God. This person is made into a vessel of dishonor; that is, God uses even the sinner and his rejection to His glory. How the sinner's rejection is used to glorify God is seen in the next major point (see note, pt.6—Ro.9:22).

The point is this: God has the right to make and use both honorable and dishonorable men to work all things out for good. He has the right to use both good and evil men to work out His purposes, purposes which are always good. His right is no different than the potter's.

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the first born among many brethren” (Ro.8:28-29).

“According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love: having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will” (Eph.1:4-5).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began” (2 Tim.1:9).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began” (Tit.1:2).

“And hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever” (Rev.1:6).

“Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created” (Rev.4:11).

“And all that dwell upon the earth shall worship him, whose names are not written in the book of life of the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world” (Rev.13:8).

“And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth” (Rev.19:6).

4 (9:22-24) Election—Predestination—God, Sovereignty—Grace: God has the right to put up with evil and unbelieving men in order to share His glory with some believing men. The outline gives an overview of what is said.

God is willing to suffer (tolerate, put up with, endure) evil men for a long time. Why? Why does God not go ahead and do away with evil and with evil men? There is one very powerful reason: God is fulfilling His purpose in the world.

- ⇒ God is making known the riches of His glory upon believers, the subjects of mercy.
- ⇒ God is preparing still others for glory (cp. 2 Pt.3:9).
- ⇒ The ones being prepared for glory include both Jews and Gentiles. (Note how even this fact points toward God's showing no partiality toward any people or person, Jew or Gentile. God does not pick some for sin and hell and some for righteousness and heaven.)

Several significant things need to be noted in these verses.

1. Note the difference between the word “fitted” and the word “prepared.” The vessels of wrath are “fitted” for destruction, but the vessels of mercy are “prepared” for glory. The agent that “fitted” the vessels for wrath is not identified. Scripture simply says that they are “fitted” for destruction. This allows the interpretation that they fitted themselves for destruction; whereas God is said to prepare the vessels of mercy for glory. A different word entirely is used.

Thought 1. Scripture is clear about this fact. Men do fit themselves for wrath; God does not tempt or lead men into sin (Jas.1:13). The very opposite is true. God saves men and wants all men to be saved; and He prepares all those who come to Him for glory.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:16-18).

“In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink” (Jn.7:37).

“For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him” (Ro.10:12).

“[God] will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

“[God] is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance” (2 Pt.3:9).

“[Christ] is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:2).

“And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

“Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God and there is none else” (Is.45:22).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price” (Is.55:1).

2. Note the whole passage has to do with proving that God is just and righteous. If God actually created men to be sinful so that He could condemn them to wrath, He would not be righteous and just. Even in our finite world, to make something evil is considered unrighteous and unjust. How much more is this so in the infinite world of heaven? God just does not fit men to wrath; men fit themselves to wrath.

3. The whole world is sinful and depraved. “There is none righteous, no not one” (Ro.3:10). “All have sinned and come short of the glory of God” (Ro.3:23). Cp. Ro.10:9-18 for a descriptive picture of man’s sinful condition.) God knows the heart of every man, even before he is born. He even knows who will be saved and who will not be saved. Why, then, does He not stop the world instead of letting it go on, when He knows some men are going to doom themselves? There is one primary reason: if God stopped the world then there would be...

- no more vessels of mercy, no more believers.
- no more believers to be brought and offered as brothers and sisters to Christ (Ro.8:29).
- no more people upon whom God could demonstrate His glorious mercy and love (Ro.9:23; Eph.2:7).

Note what Scripture says, for it clearly states why God does not end the world and keep any more evil men from being doomed: God is willing to put up with evil men in order to shower “the riches of His glory” upon those who believe on His Son (v.23; cp. v.33). God has only one Son, and He loves His Son so much that He wants Him to be glorified and honored beyond imagination.

4. The one thing to be remembered is this: there is nothing inconsistent with God showing mercy to some while condemning others. God punishes the wicked only for their sins. Human experience as well as the Bible prove beyond doubt that all men are sinful. None deserve mercy. No man deserves to be chosen by God for anything (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Election—Ro.9:10-13). All men stand under the wrath of God. Therefore, there is no injustice done to a wicked man if God chooses to show mercy to another. One thing will happen, however. The vessel of mercy will fall upon his face in utter adoration and praise, and he will become a willing servant, willingly owned and possessed by his Savior (Ro.9:22-23; cp. Ro.11:33-36).

Thought 1. When we truly realize that God has had mercy upon us, it causes us to fall upon our faces before Him. He has loved us, truly loved us to the point of forgiving our sins through the Lord Jesus Christ. Seeing His love for us breaks us in humble adoration and worship. It is the love of Christ for us that constrains us to love God.

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“We love him, because he first loved us” (1 Jn.4:19).

“Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life” (Jude 21).

5. Another point brought out in this passage is this: the “riches of God’s glory” are more clearly seen in the lives of the chosen because of the wickedness of all others. The highest good is said to be accomplished in both the wicked and the chosen vessels. The glory of God’s love is much more clearly seen by the contrast of a fallen and depraved universe (cp. v.22-23).

6. Still another point to be kept foremost in mind is this: there is nothing inconsistent or unjust if God looks at two undeserving men and chooses to have mercy upon one. There is no injustice done to a wicked man if God chooses to forgive another.

Some people say this: there must be something in a man or something done by a man to cause God to choose him. But this just is not so, for it says that man earns salvation. Such says that salvation is by works, and this is totally against the teaching of Scripture. Salvation is by God’s grace alone; it is “not of works lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9). Therefore, as is taught by this passage, God chooses the vessels of mercy out of the depth of His own justice and mercy.

The mind staggers at this whole passage. We can only ponder it and stand in amazement at the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God!

“How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord?” (Ro.11:33-34).

“Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever” (1 Tim.1:17).

We will understand God's providence and our freedom of choice in the Day of Redemption. Until then, we can only accept the doctrine as two parallel lines that will find their union and explanation in Him. In that day, He will explain them to us face to face. (What a glorious day that will be!)

A final point of paramount importance is the conclusion drawn in verses 25-33. Paul's point is to give weight to this fact: God has judged the rejection of Israel as a nation by choosing persons from the Gentile nations as well. God's people are persons from all nations who pursue His righteousness as found in Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.4:22). The conclusion of the whole passage is, "whosoever believes on him [Christ] shall not be ashamed" (Ro.10:11). This conclusion, that the one who believes is the one truly saved, gives balance to the whole argument.

5 (9:25-33) Chosen, The—Election—Israel vs. Gentiles: God has identified the chosen long ago in prophecy. "Salvation is of the Jews" (Jn.4:22). Israel was the chosen people of God, chosen to be God's witnesses to carry the message of salvation to the world (see note—Jn.4:22 for the reasons that God chose Israel). However, Israel failed and kept the message to itself and excluded all other peoples. Israel even took the lead in killing God's Son, Jesus Christ. This is the whole point of these verses, to point out how the chosen people of God come from all nations of the earth. This fact is clearly seen even in the Jewish prophets. "The chosen" are identified in six different statements which are irrefutable to the open and honest mind. (See DEEPER STUDY # 8, Israel—Mt.21:43 for more discussion of this point.)

1. The chosen people of God are from other nations as well as from Israel. The Jewish prophet Hosea predicted this fact. Note the three things Hosea said about the Gentiles. The Gentiles...

- will be called "God's people." They are the very ones who were not called God's "people" (Hos.2:23).
- will be called "beloved." They are the very ones who were not called "beloved" (Hos.2:23).
- were in a place where it was said that they were not God's people. The Gentiles were in the very place where they were to be called the children of God (Hos.1:10).

Thought 1. History has always proven that the Gentiles are as morally depraved and self-righteous as people can be. But despite all, God in His glorious mercy has thrown open the door of salvation to the Gentiles as well as to the Jews. No matter how self-righteous or morally evil a person has been, God reaches out to that person. Neither the most depraved corruption nor the most humanistic self-righteousness can keep God from forgiving a person if that person truly believes in His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ (v.33).

"To him [Jesus Christ] give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins" (Acts 10:43).

"For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Ro.1:16).

"For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Ro.10:13).

"For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal.3:26-28).

"Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (1 Jn.5:1).

2. The chosen are the small remnant of Israel. The great prophet Isaiah predicted this.
- a. Isaiah predicted that only a few among Israel would truly believe and love God supremely. The nation would be a great people whose numbers would be as the sand of the sea, but only a remnant would be saved (v.27). Note that God would have to fulfill His Word by cutting short His dealings with Israel. That is, so many in Israel would be so sinful, they would be a threat to destroying everyone. Therefore, God would have to cut His work short in dealing with Israel in order to assure a remnant of believers and to fulfill His word to Abraham (cp. Is.10:22-23).
  - b. Isaiah also predicted that God would leave a seed of believers in Israel (Is.1:9). Note that Israel's wickedness is compared to Sodom and Gomorrha. Israel has suffered a fate just as terrible as Sodom and Gomorrha, perhaps worse because the nation's sufferings have been the epitome of severity down through the centuries. But note: God has saved a remnant through it all. There are Jews who have trusted God's Son, even Jesus Christ of Nazareth (cp. Ro.11:27-29).

"I say then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin....But what saith the answer of God unto him? I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal" (Ro.11:1, 4).

3. The chosen are the pursuers of righteousness by faith (see note, Righteousness—Ro.1:17). Note the contrast between this point and the next. The most unlikely thing happened.

- ⇒ The Gentiles who have always been so base and self-righteous have all of a sudden turned to God for righteousness, even the righteousness of faith.
- ⇒ The Jews who have always been so God-centered and religious have missed God's righteousness, even the righteousness of faith in Christ.

"He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me" (Mk.7:6).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:3-4).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

“Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:5).

4. The chosen are not pursuers of righteousness by the works of the law—as Israel was (v.31-32). Note that this begins to answer why God had to turn away from Israel as the primary mission force of His grace. Israel was zealous to secure righteousness, but failed because she sought righteousness by the law.

“Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:22-23).

“Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin” (Ro.3:20).

“Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified” (Gal.2:16).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost” (Tit.3:4-5).

5. The chosen are not those who stumble over the Stone, Christ Himself, as Israel has done (cp. Is.8:14; 28:16). (See DEEPER STUDY # 7, Jesus Christ, Cornerstone—Mt.21:42 for discussion.)

“And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me” (Mt.11:6).

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness” (1 Cor.1:23).

“Unto you therefore which believe he is precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed” (1 Pt.2:7-8).

6. The chosen are the persons who believe in Christ. (See note, Believe—Ro.10:16-17 for discussion.)

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:15).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness” (Jn.12:46).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation” (Ro.10:9-10).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

D. The Tragic Mistake of Israel: Missing God's Righteousness, 10:1-11

(10:1-11) Introduction: this passage has two powerful points. It shows the tragic mistake of Israel, and it proclaims the great danger of missing God's righteousness. It is an excellent study on God's righteousness. It shows man exactly what has to be done in order to receive his utopia upon earth, exactly what has to be done to make all things right. It reveals how a man can receive righteousness and be saved from death and judgment and live forever.

1. Paul's desire and Israel's mistake (v.1-3).
2. God's righteousness is Jesus Christ (v.4).
3. God's righteousness is opposed to man's righteousness, to man's way for reaching God (v.5).
4. God's righteousness does not have to seek out a Messiah or a Deliverer (utopia) (v.6-7).
5. God's righteousness and salvation are right before a person (v.8-10).
6. God's righteousness and salvation deliver a person from shame (v.11).

- 1 (10:1-3) Israel, Errors of: Paul's desire and Israel's mistake. Paul had a burning desire for Israel's salvation. He loved his people and loved them deeply.
- ⇒ The word "desire" (eudokia) means longing, willing, yearning, craving. He craved and yearned to see the salvation of his people. If he saw their salvation, his desire would be fulfilled.
  - ⇒ Note that Paul prayed for Israel's salvation. They could be saved; their rejection of Christ was not hopeless. The door of salvation is open to all men, the Jew as well as the Gentile.

Thought 1. The fact that Paul prayed for the salvation of the Jews is a lesson to all believers. We, too, need to be praying for the salvation of the Jews. Why? Because so much of the world's heritage that is good and decent has come from the Jews:

- |            |                |                                |
|------------|----------------|--------------------------------|
| ⇒ morality | ⇒ the Bible    | ⇒ the Son of God, Jesus Christ |
| ⇒ law      | ⇒ the Prophets | ⇒ the true religion            |

"Ye worship ye know not what: we know what we worship: for salvation is of the Jews"
(Jn.4:22).

Now note Israel's great mistake: they had a zeal for God, but it was not based on complete knowledge.

- ⇒ The Jews had a great deal of knowledge about God (Ro.2:17f).
- ⇒ But the Jews did not have a complete knowledge of God, not full and perfect. They did not have an experiential knowledge of the truth.

The point is, the Jews knew some things about God, but their knowledge was only partial. What they knew was incomplete; it was not enough. Therefore, their knowledge was incorrect. As a result they did not know God personally.

Why did Israel have an incomplete and incorrect knowledge of God? There are three reasons.

1. Israel was ignorant of God's righteousness. They failed to understand...
  - God's true nature: His holiness and perfection, and the utter necessity to be perfect in order to be acceptable to Him and given the right to live in His presence.
  - Man's true nature: his sin and desperate need for perfect righteousness in order to be acceptable to God and given the right to live in God's presence.
  - God's love: His love in sending His Son to save man by providing a perfect righteousness for him.

Very simply, Israel was ignorant of God's method of justification, ignorant as to how a man really becomes acceptable to God.

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the LORD, nor the judgment of their God” (Jer.5:4).

“But they know not the thoughts of the LORD, neither understand they his counsel” (Mic.4:12).

2. Israel went about establishing its own way of righteousness. They sought to make themselves acceptable to God through...
  - rituals
  - ceremonies
  - laws
  - works

They sought to save themselves by being as religious as they could. They felt God would never reject them if they did the best they could. Therefore, they drew up every rule and regulation they could to make themselves religiously good and acceptable, and they worked and worked to follow the rules and regulations. They sought to build their own way and route to God.

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves: but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise” (2 Cor.10:12).

“If I justify myself, mine own mouth shall condemn me: if I say, I am perfect, it shall also prove me perverse” (Job 9:20).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“There is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet is not washed from their filthiness” (Pr.30:12).

3. Israel refused to submit themselves to the righteousness of God. Very simply, they refused to accept Jesus Christ, who is God's righteousness.

Thought 1. Note a crucial point. Zeal and sincerity are not enough in seeking God. No person or group of people could be any more zealous or sincere in seeking God than the Jews. But something else is always needed; zeal and sincerity always require one other ingredient: accurate, and complete knowledge. Zeal and sincerity by themselves cannot reach a destination. A person can be as zealous and sincere as possible and still be on the wrong road and never reach his destination. To reach his destination, he must know the right road.

“Who [God] will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:4-5).

2 (10:4) Righteousness—Jesus Christ, The Righteousness of God: God's righteousness is Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ is the One who puts an end (telos) to man having to seek righteousness through the law. Man no longer has to work and work to be acceptable to God, to work and work knowing full well that he is coming up ever so short of God's glory and demand. Man no longer has to live under the enslaving power of sin, under its guilt and shame and punishment. Man no longer has to live under the weight and pressure of failing and of being ever so unworthy, hopeless, lonely, and alienated. Man can now be set free and know full well that he is acceptable to God. Man can now have a heart that swells with assurance and confidence, the perfect knowledge that he is God's and God is his. Man can know that he is accepted as righteous before God. How? Through the righteousness of Jesus Christ. “Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.” This means at least three things.

1. Christ ended the law in that He is the object toward which the law pointed. All the ceremonies, sacrifices, offerings, and purifications—they all led and pointed toward Christ.

⇒ The law was a schoolmaster to bring us to Christ.

ROMANS 10:1-11

Very simply, the law was never intended to be the way to become righteous and acceptable to God. The law was given to point and lead men to Christ, who is the righteousness of God.

⇒ The law was but a shadow of the real substance that was to come.

“[The law and its ceremonies] are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ” (Col.2:17; cp. Heb.9:9).

2. Christ ended the law in that He fulfilled and completed the law perfectly. He lived under the law and kept it perfectly. He was sinless, obeying every rule and requirement of the law. By fulfilling the law, Jesus Christ has become...

- the Ideal Man.
- the Perfect Man.
- the Representative Man.

The law finds its perfection in Jesus Christ. He is the very embodiment of all that God wants man to be. Therefore, man no longer looks to the law for his righteousness. Man no longer looks to the law as the way to reach God and to secure God's favor. Man now looks to Jesus Christ and approaches God through Jesus Christ.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

3. Christ ended the law in that he destroyed the penalty and condemnation of the law against man. Christ took the sin of man upon Himself and bore the condemnation for man. Christ died for man; He bore the execution of being separated from God for man.

“Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances” (Eph.2:15).

“Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross” (Col.2:14).

However, note a critical point: Christ ends the law for righteousness only to those who believe. A man is justified, that is, counted righteous by God, only if he truly believes that Jesus Christ is the righteousness of God. (See notes—Ro.5:1; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:17. Also see outline and notes—Ro.3:21-22; 8:2-4; DEEPER STUDY # 2—8:3.)

Thought 1. Jesus Christ is the righteousness of God; He is the very embodiment of God's righteousness.

“For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth” (Ro.10:4).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:9).

3 (10:5) Righteousness: God's righteousness is opposed to man's righteousness, that is, opposed to man's way for reaching God. Man tries to reach God by law and works, by simply doing the very best he can. However, there is a terrible flaw in this approach. Moses was the first to point out the flaw: the man who lives by the law must keep the law, and keep it perfectly (cp. Lev.18:5).

“The man which doeth those things shall live by them” (Ro.10:5).

“For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law to do them” (Gal.3:10).

“And the law is not of faith: but, The man that doeth them shall live in them” (Gal.3:12).

The point is this. There are only two ways to become righteous. A person can become righteous...

- by keeping the law perfectly, by never sinning in act, word, or thought. If a person could keep the law perfectly—never sinning even once—he could be declared righteous.
- by trusting in the righteousness of a Person who has lived a sinless life and who stands before us as the Ideal Man, the Ideal Man who can represent us before God. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

4 (10:6-7) Righteousness—Utopia: God's righteousness does not have to seek out a Messiah or a Deliverer (utopia). Note the contrast between heaven and the deep or abyss. This is a picture of the summit and the pit, of the very best and the very worst. Men search...

- for the height of heaven: for life and joy and pleasure, for the very best, for their utopia.
- for the answer to death and hell: for the release and freedom from death and the sense of judgment—for their utopia.

Another way to say the same thing is this: men search for righteousness, that is, for everything to be right. If they can achieve righteousness and make everything right, then they will have their utopia.

The point is this. Man's search for life or for utopia is really a search for a deliverer who can do two things: ascend into heaven to bring utopia down to earth and descend into the depths to conquer sin, death, and hell (cp. Dt.30:11-13. Cp. Ps.139:6-9; Pr.24:7; Amos 9:2.) Men are really searching for a true Messiah, for Christ Himself.

Thought 1. A person does not have to scale heaven nor fathom the deep to be saved. If he did, he would be lost eternally, for no man can penetrate heaven to secure righteousness or go into the depths to conquer death and hell. No man can work hard enough to climb up into heaven or labor enough to conquer death and hell. No man or combination of men can penetrate the spiritual world and dimension or transform man into a perfect being so that he never has to die and face judgment. Righteousness—man being right and perfect—is beyond the grasp of man's efforts.

“Who hath ascended up into heaven, or descended? Who hath gathered the wind in his fists? Who hath bound the waters in a garment? Who hath established all the ends of the earth? What is his name, and what is his son's name, if thou canst tell?” (Pr.30:4).

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

5 (10:8-10) Righteousness: God's righteousness and salvation (utopia) are right before a person (cp. Dt.30:14). Jesus Christ is the Deliverer who has ascended into heaven and brought utopia down to man, and He is the Savior who has descended into the depths to conquer death and hell (Ro.10:9).

“Wherefore he saith, When he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men. (Now that he ascended, what is it but that he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth? He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might fill all things)” (Eph.4:8-10).

Since Christ has come, the gospel does not require man to scale the heavens nor to fathom the great abyss. Such requirements would be impossible. The gospel only demands faith and open confession that Christ has done both. Why would God commission His Son to go to such limits for man? Simply because God loves man that much (Jn.3:16; Ro.5:8).

The means to have all that a man desires—righteousness, salvation, and utopia—are found within man's mouth and heart. Man has to do three simple things to be counted righteous and acceptable by God. He has to do three simple things to be saved from sin, death, and hell, and to receive utopia:

1. Man must confess with his mouth the Lord Jesus. He must confess that Jesus Christ is the Lord from heaven (cp. v.6. See DEEPER STUDY # 1, “From Above”—Jn.3:31.)

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

“He that cometh from above is above all: he that is of the earth is earthly, and speaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven is above all” (Jn.3:31).

“For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world” (Jn.6:33).

“This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die. I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread, he shall live for ever: and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world” (Jn.6:50-51).

“What and if ye shall see the Son of man ascend up where he was before?” (Jn.6:62).

“Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth and came from God; neither came I of myself, but he sent me” (Jn.8:42).

“And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was” (Jn.17:5).

2. Man must believe that God raised Jesus from the dead. He must believe that Jesus Christ...

- died for man.
- was raised up from the dead because He perfectly satisfied God's demand for justice.

God's holiness and justice were perfectly satisfied with the death of Jesus Christ. God was perfectly satisfied with Christ taking man's sin upon Himself and bearing the punishment of sin for man. God was perfectly satisfied with Christ's dying for man; therefore, God raised up Jesus Christ from the dead.

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“And we declare unto you glad tidings, how that the promise which was made unto the fathers, God hath fulfilled the same unto us their children, in that he hath raised up Jesus again; as it is also written in the second psalm, Thou art my son, this day have I begotten thee” (Acts 13:32-33).

“He hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Pt.1:3-4).

3. Man must believe with the heart and then confess with the mouth. A man believes unto righteousness; that is, a man believes in Jesus Christ, and God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness. Then the man confesses Christ to salvation; that is, he is saved by openly confessing Christ. No man can deny God's Son and expect God to save him.

"Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven" (Mt.10:32-33).

"Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God" (Lk.12:8).

"That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved" (Ro.10:9).

"Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father: [but] he that acknowledgeth the Son hath the Father also" (1 Jn.2:23).

"Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God" (1 Jn.4:15).

6 (10:11) Righteousness: God's righteousness and salvation deliver a person from shame (cp. Is.28:16). Note two points.

1. Whoever believes in Christ is saved. The gospel is available to all, both Jew and Gentile. The gospel is the message of God's righteousness and salvation to the whole world. The gospel is universal.

"In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink" (Jn.7:37).

"Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (1 Tim.2:4).

"Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him" (1 Jn.5:1).

"And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely" (Rev.22:17).

"Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else" (Is.45:22).

"Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (Is.55:1).

2. The true believer is not ashamed.

a. He is not ashamed to face God, for he is covered with the righteousness of Christ.

"But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof" (Ro.13:14).

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (Gal.3:27).

"And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph.4:24).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

b. He is not ashamed to confess Christ before men. He readily confesses the glorious life and assurance God has given him in Christ Jesus the Lord.

"But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

"Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God" (2 Tim.1:8).

"But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear" (1 Pt.3:15).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

E. The Gospel (Righteousness by Faith) is Not for Israel Alone—It is Universal, 10:12-21

(10:12-21) Introduction: God loves the whole world and every person in the world. His love is not limited to any one nation or people or type of person. The gospel is universal; it is for the world.

1. Proof 1: the Lord treats all men just alike (v.12).
2. Proof 2: all men are saved by the same promise (v.13).
3. Proof 3: the world cannot be saved apart from the gospel (v.14-15).
4. Proof 4: Scripture says the gospel is universal (v.16-17).
5. Proof 5: Israel’s disobedience proves the gospel is universal (v.18-21).

1 (10:12) Partiality—Israel vs. Gentiles: the gospel is universal—the Lord God treats all men just alike.

1. There is no distinction between men, not in God’s eyes. All men are related to God in the very same way. In God’s eyes, all men...

- are His creatures.
- are sinful and alienated from Him.
- are loved by Him.
- are saved only through the righteousness provided by His Son.

God does not save one man a certain way and another man some other way; neither does God reject a man because he is a Jew or a Greek. God does not show partiality; He has no favorites. No person is favored over another person in being saved or condemned.

“But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things” (Ro.2:2).

“Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him” (Acts 10:34-35).

“Is it fit to say to a king, Thou art wicked? and to princes, Ye are ungodly? How much less to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, nor regardeth the rich more than the poor? For they all are the work of his hands” (Job 34:18-19).

2. The Lord God is “rich to all that call upon Him.” Scripture clearly declares:

“The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth” (Ex.34:6; cp. 2 Chron.30:9; Ps.103:8; 116:5; 145:8; Joel 2:13).

The Lord God is rich in mercy and grace and in all else that is good and beneficial. He is so wealthy that every good gift and every perfect gift that exists in the world has flowed from His mercy and grace (Jas.1:17). Note two significant points.

- a. God has enough supply to richly bless all who call upon Him. There is no limit to the riches of His grace.

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

- b. A man must call upon God to receive the riches of God’s mercy and grace. (See note—Ro.10:13 for discussion.)

2 (10:13) Salvation: all men are saved by the same promise. Note that this promise was foretold in the Old Testament (Joel 2:32). This verse is one of the great promises of God. God loves every person, no matter his nationality or race. God is not willing that any person should perish; He wants every person to be saved (2 Pt.3:9). In fact, God promises salvation to every man if the man will do but one thing: “Call upon the name of the Lord.” Note what God says.

1. “Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.” The word “whosoever” means anyone and everyone, no matter who they are.

⇒ It means any person, any nationality, any race, any color.

⇒ It means any person from any environment, condition, background, country, government, or family.

⇒ It means any person, whether immoral or moral, unjust or just, bad or good, poor or wealthy, mean or nice, lonely or befriended, unpopular or popular, deformed or attractive, diseased or healthy, needful or without need.

“Whosoever” means that any person can be saved, no matter who he is. No matter how terrible a person and his circumstances may be, he can be saved. He may be in the depths of the inner city or in the depths of the jungle, and he may be enslaved by the most terrible spirit of sin and evil imaginable—God can still save him.

“In the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink” (Jn.7:37).

“Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth” (1 Tim.2:4).

“Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him” (1 Jn.5:1).

“And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

“Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else” (Is.45:22).

“Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price” (Is.55:1).

2. “Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. To “call upon the name of the Lord” means at least two things.

- a. It means that a person calls upon the name of Lord Jesus Christ: he believes Jesus Christ can and will save him. It means that the person looks upon and believes that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world, that He is the Son of God who came to earth to save men. Very simply, it means that a person believes the message of John 3:16.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

- b. It means that a person calls Jesus Christ Lord, that he looks upon Jesus as the Lord God of the universe and upon himself as His servant. It means that a person surrenders and dedicates himself to serve Jesus Christ throughout life—in everything and through everything, no matter the cost. To “call upon the name of the Lord” means total surrender and dedication of all one is and has. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Lk.9:23; DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 2:36 for more discussion.)

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:11).

“Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God” (1 Jn.4:15).

3. “Whosoever shall call...shall be saved.” (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—Ro.1:16 for discussion.)

3 (10:14-15) Gospel—Missions: the world cannot be saved apart from the gospel. Remember what has just been said: “Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.” “Whosoever” refers to the whole world. But note the critical point: a person has to “call” in order to be saved. A person cannot “call upon the name of the Lord” unless he has heard about the Lord. Therefore, the gospel has to be carried to the whole world. This is the point of the present two verses.

1. The world cannot call or believe or hear without a preacher. To prove the point, Scripture reverses the order of what actually happens.

a. How can a person call on Jesus Christ if he has not believed in Him? It is impossible. Even in dealing with secular purposes, a person has to really believe in the purpose before he will give his life to it. Imagine giving all one is and has! No person is going to do that unless he really believes in something. The same is true in dealing with the Lord. No person is going to call upon the Lord to save him, nor is any person going to surrender and dedicate all he is and has to the Lord, unless he truly believes in the Lord.

b. How can a person believe in Christ if he has not heard about Christ? How can a person know that Jesus Christ came to earth and died for his sins, and that Jesus Christ arose from the dead conquering death so that he might live eternally? Is a person born with the knowledge about Jesus Christ?

⇒ Picture the native in the depths of the jungle. Does he know that God’s Son died for his sins? Was he born with knowledge of Jesus Christ? The answer is obvious: No! The native in the depths of the jungle has to hear before he can believe and call upon the Lord to save him.

⇒ Picture the man in the depths of the inner city, the city dweller who has never been exposed to the gospel, who has interest only in the things of the city and the world. Does he know that God’s Son died for his sins? The answer is obvious: No! Not if he has never heard. The city dweller has to hear before he can believe and call upon the Lord to save him.

⇒ Picture the religionist in the depths of religion, the religionist who has never been exposed to the clear-cut presentation of the gospel, who has only heard about the life of Jesus and the form, ceremony, and ritual of religion. Does the religionist know that God’s Son died to set him free from sin, death, and hell so that he might not serve sin any more? The answer is obvious: No! Not if he has never heard a clear-cut presentation of the gospel. Even the religionist has to hear before he can truly believe and truly call upon the Lord to save him. (What an indictment and warning to Christian ministers and teachers—a warning to present the gospel in simple, clear-cut terms.)

c. How can a person hear without a preacher? How can a person hear that Jesus Christ died for him if a preacher or some Christian does not tell him? To hear anything requires a person who either speaks or writes. To receive communication requires a communicator. To hear a message requires a messenger. The message of the Lord Jesus Christ must be carried to the world, but in order to be carried, a messenger is needed. Christian believers must preach the message if people are to hear the message.

2. Now note that the basis of missions and evangelism is the preacher or witness himself. In the present context the word “preacher” means any believer who bears witness to the Lord Jesus Christ. It takes a preacher to proclaim the message of the Lord Jesus so that people can hear and believe and call upon Him. However, note what this verse says: the preacher cannot preach unless he is sent.

a. God is the One who sends forth preachers and witnesses of the Lord Jesus Christ. God is the One who commissions, qualifies, and instructs the preachers and witnesses of the gospel.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:11).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God’s heritage, but being ensamples to the flock” (1 Pt.5:2-3).

b. Christian believers have a part in sending forth laborers as well as God. We are to pray for laborers (Mt.9:37).

⇒ We are to go forth ourselves.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

⇒ We are to pray for laborers.

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest” (Mt.9:37-38).

c. We are to give to meet the needs of the world.

“Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace [giving] also” (2 Cor.8:7).

“But this I say, He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully” (2 Cor.9:6).

“Let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“But whoso hath this world’s good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?” (1 Jn.3:17).

3. The gospel is the message of peace and “glad tidings of good things.” Note three points.

a. The message of the gospel is peace (see notes, Peace—Ro.5:1; Jn.14:27 for discussion).

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

b. The message of the gospel is “glad tidings of good things” (see note, Inheritance—Ro.8:17. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—Ro.1:16; outlines and notes—Ro.8:1-39 for discussion.)

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live” (Jn.5:24).

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

c. The feet of the preacher and witness are beautiful; that is, they are a welcome sight to the world. The world desperately needs the message of peace and the glad tidings of good things. (Note: this verse is a quotation from Is.52:7.)

4 (10:16-17) Salvation—Belief—Hearing: Scripture says the gospel is universal. Isaiah says that many Jews did not “believe the report [message] of God” (cp. Is.53:1). Therefore, they prove that salvation is not by race, heritage, tradition, religion, institution, nor by works established by the Jewish nation or any other people.

Note a second thing: Isaiah used the phrase, “believing our report.” Isaiah was saying that believing the message is the way of salvation. The message was to stir faith.

There are three steps involved in faith. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.2:24.)

1. The step of hearing. A man must be willing to listen to the message of Christ.

“But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear” (Mt.13:16).

“But he that received seed into the good ground is he that heareth the word, and understandeth it; which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty” (Mt.13:23).

“And she had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Jesus’ feet, and heard his word” (Lk.10:39).

“And they brought unto him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them” (Lk.18:15).

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but, as it is in truth, the word of God which effectually worketh also in you that believe” (1 Th.2:13).

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath” (Jas.1:19).

“Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors” (Pr.8:34).

“The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wise” (Pr.15:31).

“The heart of the prudent getteth knowledge; and the ear of the wise seeketh knowledge” (Pr.18:15).

2. The step of mental assent. A man must agree that the message is true, that the facts of the case are thus and so. But this is not enough. Mere agreement does not lead to action. Many a person knows that something is true, but he does not change his behavior to match his knowledge. For example, a man knows that eating too much harms his body, but he may continue to eat too much. He is a double-minded man: he agrees to the truth and knows the truth, but he does nothing about it. This man still does not have faith, not the kind of faith that the Bible talks about.

“Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures” (Jas.1:18).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:8).

“And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another man’s, who shall give you that which is your own?” (Lk.16:12).

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils” (1 Cor.10:21).

“Their heart is divided; now shall they be found faulty” (Hos.10:2).

3. The step of commitment. When the New Testament speaks of faith, it speaks of commitment, a personal commitment to the truth. A man hears the truth and agrees that it is true and does something about it. He commits and yields his life to the truth. The truth becomes a part of his very being, a part of his behavior and life.

Saving faith is believing in the name of Jesus Christ and committing one’s life to Him. It is trusting Jesus Christ, completely putting one’s trust in Him, who He is and what He has done. It is casting one’s life into His hands, believing He will take care of one’s past (sins), present (looking after), and future (delivering from death unto life eternal).

“That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:15).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live” (Jn.11:25).

“But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name” (Jn.20:31).

“And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God” (Acts 8:37).

“To him give all the prophets witness, that through his name whosoever believeth in him shall receive remission of sins” (Acts 10:43).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house” (Acts 16:31).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone” (Jas.2:17).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(10:16) Faith—Obedience: note that the gospel is to be obeyed. Obedience and belief are synonymous terms when dealing with the gospel. To believe in Christ is to obey Him, and to obey Him is to believe Him. A person who truly believes in Jesus Christ will obey Him. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Believe—Jn.2:24 for more discussion.) There is no such thing...

- as belief without obedience.

- as believing in Jesus Christ and not following Him.
- as believing Jesus Christ has forgiven one's sin and living in sin.
- as believing the gospel and living like the world.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him” (Heb.5:9).

5 (10:18-21) Israel vs. Gentiles: Israel's disobedience proves the gospel is universal. Why did Israel not obey the gospel?

1. Israel's disobedience was not because they did not hear the Word of God (v.18). The very opposite is true. Israel was the very custodian of the Scriptures, the very people whom God had chosen to bring salvation to the world (see note—Jn.4:2 for discussion). No matter where the Jewish people were scattered, they had the Word of God and heard it. (Note that Paul quotes Ps.19:4 as Scriptural proof of what he says.)

2. Israel's disobedience was not because the people did not know the truth (v.19). They knew the truth, and they had a dynamic example and demonstration of the truth. They had the example of the Gentiles who turned to the gospel in great numbers.

Note how Scripture words this: “I will provoke you to jealousy.” Israel had the stirrings of jealousy and envy to help them turn to the gospel. They heard and knew. Their disobedience to the gospel was not because they were ignorant of the gospel. The gospel was actually lived out before their faces in the person of Jesus Christ and in the Gentiles turning to Christ for salvation. (Again, Paul supports his point from the Old Testament, Dt.32:21; Is.65:1.)

3. Israel's rejection was because they were a disobedient and obstinate people. Note how good God had been to Israel.
- a. God “stretched forth His hands”: inviting, offering forgiveness, peace, and reconciliation, pleading and begging for Israel to return to Him.
  - b. “All day long”: being patient, longsuffering, and forbearing, bearing for a long time, waiting until the last moment to turn away.

“Say unto them, As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?” (Ezk.33:11).

“Come, and let us return unto the Lord: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up” (Hos.6:1).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

However, Israel refused and rejected God's gracious invitations. Israel chose to remain disobedient and obstinate. They closed their minds despite the clear evidence and refused to consider the truth of Christ as the true Savior of the world (see DEEPER STUDY # 3,4—Mt.12:24; 21:33-46; 22:1-14 for discussion).

“Harden not your heart, as in the provocation, and as in the day of temptation in the wilderness” (Ps.95:8).

“Happy is the man that feareth always: but he that hardeneth his heart shall fall into mischief” (Pr.28:14).

“He, that being often reprov'd hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy” (Pr.29:1).

“But, after thy hardness and impenitent heart, treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

“But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin” (Heb.3:13).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

F. The Callous on Israel's Heart is Not Total—There is a Remnant, 11:1-10

(11:1-10) Introduction: there is a glorious hope both for Israel and for the world. God's promises are always fulfilled. The callous on Israel's heart is not total—there is a remnant. The callous on any people's heart is not total—there can be a remnant. God will have His witnesses among all people. People everywhere can be saved if they will turn to God's Son, Jesus Christ.

1. Israel was disobedient (v.1).
2. Proof 1: Paul himself was part of the remnant (v.1).
3. Proof 2: God's foreknowledge guarantees a remnant (v.2).
4. Proof 3: Elijah foresaw the remnant (v.2-4).
5. Proof 4: there is a remnant at this present time—a strong assertion (v.5).
6. Proof 5: God's grace assures a remnant (v.6-10).

1 (11:1) Israel, Remnant: Israel was disobedient to God, gripped by an obstinate unbelief (cp. Ro.10:21). The nation as a whole did not believe or obey God. They even rejected God's own Son (Jn.1:11). How can this fact be reconciled with the fact that Israel is God's people? Note that even in this verse they are called "His people" (v.1).
 ⇒ God had given birth to Israel through Abraham and had made some great promises to the nation through Abraham (see notes—Ro.9:6; DEEPER STUDY # 1—4:1-25 for discussion).
 ⇒ God had even promised that He would never cast off His people: "For the LORD will not cast off his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance" (Ps.94:14).

In light of this, is it not inconsistent and is it not denying God's Word to teach that Israel is not saved, that Israel is no longer the people of God? To ask the question as Paul words it: "Has God cast away His people?" The words "cast away" (a posato) mean to push away, to thrust away, to repel, to repudiate. The idea is to utterly and totally and finally cast away. Has God utterly cast away the Jews? Paul shouts: "God forbid" (me genoito). It is impossible! It must never be! It can never be! God has not broken and violated His Word to Israel. God's promises to Israel did not mean that all Jews were locked in to salvation no matter how sinful and disobedient they were. It did not mean that an unbelieving and disobedient Jew was acceptable to God simply because he had been born a Jew. God's promises were intended for those who believed and obeyed Him. The people who believed and obeyed Him have always been "His people." Paul gives five proofs to show that God has not rejected every Jew. God accepts and fulfills His promises to all those who believe and obey Him.

2 (11:1) Israel, Remnant: proof one is that Paul himself was part of God's remnant. God had not totally rejected Israel. There was a remnant of godly and obedient believers in Israel. Paul himself is proof of the glorious fact.
 1. Paul was a pure Jew, a true descendant of Abraham, not a mere proselyte; and he was of the elite, of the Benjamite aristocracy.

2. Paul was part of the remnant of God. He was claiming to be a true child of God, a true son of Abraham, one of the sons whom God had not cast away. Therefore, he himself was proof that God had not cast away His people. (Cp. Acts 9:1-19; 22:1-6; 26:12-18 for Paul's conversion.)

“And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks. And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do” (Acts 9:5-6).

“But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ. And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith” (Ph.3:7-9; cp. v.3-16).

3 (11:2) Israel, Remnant—God, Foreknowledge: proof two is that God's foreknowledge guarantees a remnant (see note, Foreknowledge, pt.3—Ro.8:29 for discussion. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 3—Acts 2:23 for more detailed discussion.) Very simply stated, God Himself guarantees a remnant; He saves those whom He foreknows.

“Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world” (Acts 15:18).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“God hath not cast away his people [Israel] whom he foreknew” (Ro.11:2).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot: who verily was foreordained [foreknown] before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you” (1 Pt.1:18-20).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

4 (11:2-4) Israel, Remnant: proof three is that Elijah foresaw the remnant (1 Ki.19:9-18). This is proof from the very highest authority among men: the authority of Scripture itself. From the very beginning Scripture very clearly says that not all Israel was saved, but only a remnant truly followed God. This is clearly seen in Elijah's experience. His day was a terrible day of sin and apostasy, and he himself was being marked for death because he refused to stop his preaching of righteousness. In a moment of extreme pressure and uncertainty, he cried out to God in prayer wondering if he was the only godly person left in Israel. God assured Elijah by telling him there were still seven thousand godly believers in the nation. The point is this. In Elijah's day the vast majority of people were as they are today: disobedient and disloyal to God, rejecting and denying God, controlling their own lives and following after the man-made and humanistic gods of this earth. But there was a remnant, a few who were loyal and obedient to God. There were only seven thousand; nevertheless there was a remnant, a few who were trusting God to fulfill His promises to them.

Thought 1. Note two revealing facts:

- ⇒ how many stray away from God and reject Him—how many within a nation, a state, a city, a neighborhood, a family, a religious body!
- ⇒ how God always has His few, His promised remnant who do obey and remain loyal to Him!

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:13).

“Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy” (Rev.3:4).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

Thought 2. Note how the image of a nation is determined by the lifestyle of the majority. The wickedness of the majority in Israel overshadowed the godliness of the few. Even Elijah, the great prophet of God, was unaware of the seven thousand godly scattered throughout the nation. Yet they were there. God will never leave Himself without a witness, nor will He ever leave His people without fellow laborers throughout the world. We may not know about each other, but we can rest assured there are other witnesses scattered around, witnesses who are bearing testimony for the Lord Jesus. God has His remnant, His faithful few.

“Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Pr.14:34).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(11:2) Israel, Remnant: Elijah foresaw the remnant in 1 Ki.19:9-18. Other prophets also saw the remnant: Isaiah (Is.1:9; 4:3; 11:16; 37:4), Jeremiah (Jer.6:9; 23:3; 3:7), Ezekiel (Ezk.14:14, 20, 22), Amos (Amos 9:8-12), Micah (Mic.2:12; 5:3), Zephaniah (Zeph.2:9; 3:12-13).

5 (11:5) Israel, Remnant: proof four is that there is a remnant at this present time. This is a strong assertion: “There is a remnant.” There is no question about the fact. Note why: because of the “election of grace.” If there were a remnant in Israel in the day of Elijah, there is bound to be a remnant of believers today. Why? Because of grace: the grace of God in Jesus Christ has now come to earth, and the Spirit of God is actively at work making God’s grace known.

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

“Esaiahs also crieth concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant shall be saved” (Ro.9:27).

6 (11:6-10) Israel, Remnant—God, Grace of: proof five is that God’s grace assures a remnant. A person is not saved because he merits or works for salvation. No man deserves God’s grace. No one deserves being chosen by God for anything. God does not bestow His grace upon a man because a man deserves or earns grace. A man does not secure God’s acceptance because he wills or runs after God (Jn.1:12). God has mercy upon a man because He is a gracious God. If a man was saved because of works, then salvation...

- would not be by grace (of God) but by works (of man).
- would remove grace (God) from the picture and put works (man) in the forefront.

Very simply, God would no longer be necessary, for man would be saving himself. If by some figment of the imagination and scientific work man could save himself by figuring out how to live eternally, then God Himself would not be needed. In fact, neither grace nor work would be necessary, for man would have reached perfection. (The absurdity of such a possibility is clearly seen in the thought.) (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Election—Ro.9:10-13 for more discussion.)

The point is this: it is God’s grace that saves men. Therefore, God will see to it that there is always a remnant of believers in Israel. The vast majority of Jews stumbled and fell at the snare of works (v.6), but the callous on Israel’s heart is not total. There is a remnant. Note two points.

1. The vast majority of Israel did not obtain righteousness, but the chosen few did.
  - ⇒ Most sought after righteousness, but they failed to secure it because they sought it by works (see note, Israel—Ro.10:1-3 for more discussion).
  - ⇒ However, the elect have obtained righteousness (see note—Ro.10:4 for more discussion).
2. Israel is accused and condemned by Scripture of three terrible things.
  - ⇒ Of being drowsy and condemned to drowsiness (Is.29:10; 6:9).
  - ⇒ Of being worthy of judgment and condemned to judgment (Ps.69:22).
  - ⇒ Of being blind and condemned to blindness (Ps.69:23).

The picture is that of men sitting and feasting comfortably at a banquet table. They are at ease, secure, and possessed with a sense of safety. In fact they are so comfortable that their safety becomes their ruin. The enemy sneaks upon them unaware.

Note this: God is said to be the One who made Israel drowsy, blind, and worthy of judgment. This is Scripture’s way of stressing what can be called the judicial blindness and rejection of men (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.11:7-10 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(11:7-10) Judgement—Judicial Blindness and Rejection—Spiritual Abandonment: note the words “were blinded” and “God hath given them the spirit of slumber” (cp. Is.39:10; 6:9; Ps.69:22-23). The idea is that God is the One who blinded Israel. However, Scripture clearly says that God does not tempt men, much less cause them to sin (Jas.1:13). What does this mean then? It means at least two things.

1. The unbeliever’s rejection is wilful, always deliberate. The unbeliever does see and hear, yet he refuses to really open his eyes and ears. He refuses to understand. But why does a person act so illogically by rebelling and refusing to understand? Christ answers this question by saying, “This people’s heart is waxed gross” (Mt.13:15). The Greek is “this people’s heart has grown fat [overweight].” Being fat indicates sensuality and senselessness. To eat and eat, adding weight upon weight, is living after the flesh; and living after the flesh makes no sense at all. It is sensual and senseless. Christ is therefore saying that the unbeliever has become so sensual and senseless that he rebels and refuses to understand the gospel of God.

⇒ His sensuality is due to worldliness and the lust for the things of the world.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God" (Ro.8:5-8).

"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 Jn.2:15-16).

⇒ His senselessness is due to being deceived by the evil one.

"But if our gospel be hid, it is hid to them that are lost: in whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them" (2 Cor.4:3-4).

2. The unbeliever experiences a judicial blindness and rejection by God. A person who deliberately chooses to be blind to the gospel and to reject Christ is given over to a just punishment. God offers His love and salvation of eternal life to a man, but a man has to choose to receive God's offer.

⇒ Man's unbelief is allowed to roam in the sphere of unbelief and to become obstinate unbelief—if the man continues to blind himself to the truth. God will not violate the will of a man.

⇒ Man's sin is allowed to roam in the sphere of sin and to become constant sin—if the man continues to blind himself to the truth. God does not violate the will of a man.

A person's rejection leads to judicial blindness and to being rejected by God. (See notes—Ro.1:24; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.12:39-41 for more discussion.)

"For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again" (Mt.7:2).

"Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness....For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections....God gave them over to a reprobate mind" (Ro.1:24, 26, 28).

"But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God; who will render to every man according to his deeds" (Ro.2:5-6).

"Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal.6:7-8).

"My Spirit shall not always strive with man" (Gen.6:3).

"But my people would not hearken to my voice; and Israel would [have] none of me. So I gave them up unto their own hearts' lust: and they walked in their own counsels" (Ps.81:11-12).

"He, that being often reprov'd hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy" (Pr.29:1).

"Ephraim is joined to idols: let him alone" (Hos.4:17).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

G. The Callous on Israel's Heart is Not Final—There is to be a Restoration, 11:11-16

(11:11-16) Introduction: the callous on a man's heart does not have to be final. Every man can repent and turn to Christ and be restored to God. This is the message of this passage. The callous on Israel's heart is not final. There is to be a restoration of Israel. Many in Israel are going to return to God and accept the Lord Jesus Christ as their Savior.

1. Proof 1: God has overruled Israel's stumbling over Christ (v.11-12).
2. Proof 2: Paul tries to stir the Jews to be saved (v.13-15).
3. Proof 3: the forefathers, that is, the patriarchs, give a heritage of holiness (v.16).

1 (11:11-12) Israel, Restoration—God, Sovereignty: proof one is that God has overruled Israel's stumbling over Christ.

- ⇒ Israel has stumbled over Christ (see DEEPER STUDY # 9,10—Mt.21:44 for discussion).
- ⇒ Has Israel stumbled that they should fall?

The contrast between stumble and fall is devastating. The idea is that of a permanent and final fall—spiritually. Is Israel's problem with Christ permanent and final? Will Israel never accept God's Son, Jesus Christ, as the true Messiah? Is the spiritual fall of Israel to be forever?

Paul's response is forceful: God forbid! Perish the thought! Let it never be! Such a thing is impossible in God's plan for the world. God has overruled Israel's stumble over Christ in three glorious ways.

1. God has opened the door of salvation to the whole world. The Lord's messengers went to Israel first, but Israel did not want to hear that Jesus Christ is the Messiah, the Son of God Himself. Very few received the gospel. In fact, so many rejected the message that it can be said that Israel, the nation as a whole, has stumbled over Christ. Israel, the Jews...

- have shut their eyes, lest they should see Christ (v.8).
- have closed their ears, lest they should hear Christ (v.8).
- have set themselves to bitterly oppose Christ (1 Th.2:15-16).

God had no other choice but to do the logical thing. The glorious message of His love and of His Son was at stake; therefore, God sent His messengers throughout the world (the Gentile world) in search of any person who would receive the message of His Son. God did what the Jews had always failed to do: God threw open the door of salvation to the whole world. (See DEEPER STUDY # 8, Israel—Mt.21:43 for more detailed discussion.)

“Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first have been spoken to you: but seeing ye put it from you, and judge yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, lo, we turn to the Gentiles” (Acts 13:46).

“For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them. Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent unto the Gentiles, and that they will hear it” (Acts 28:27-28).

“Then saith he to his [God] servants, The wedding is ready, but they which were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therefore into the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage” (Mt.22:8-9).

“Then the master of the house being angry said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room. And the lord said unto the servant, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. For I say unto you, That none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper” (Lk.14:21-24).

Thought 1. Note two provoking thoughts.

- 1) Think how wonderful it would have been if the Jews had accepted Jesus Christ and had become God's missionary force to carry the message of Christ to the world! Would the world have been reached by now? It has been two thousand years since Christ came to earth, and the world still has not been reached with the gospel. If the Jews had accepted Christ, would the task now be complete? How many more people would have been saved?
- 2) Think how wonderful it would be if more of us (the Gentiles) would accept Christ! If we would dedicate our lives more sacrificially to carrying God's message of salvation to the world, how many more people would be saved and delivered from death?

Thought 2. Note how God "worked all things out for good." He took Israel's rejection of His Son and enriched the world. Why? Because God has determined that His Son Jesus Christ shall have many brothers who will worship and serve Him throughout all eternity. Therefore, if a people rejects the message of His Son, God will work it out to send the message to another people. (Cp. Ro.8:28-29.)

2. God stirs the Jews to be restored. God has not forsaken the Jews. The door of salvation is open to them as well as to the Gentiles. The Jews can look at true Christian believers and see the holiness, love, joy, and peace of their lives; and the Jews can be stirred to receive Christ. In fact, this is the very point of the present passage. God sees to it that some Jews are "provoked," that is, stirred to receive Christ and the glorious life of salvation which He offers.

"Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away: for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he will reprove the world [both Jew and Gentile] of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on me; of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more; of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged" (Jn.16:7-11).

"And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem" (Lk.24:47).

"For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek" (Ro.1:16).

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ. There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal.3:27-28).

3. God assures the glorious restoration of Israel and a rich period for the whole earth. Note the sharp contrast...
  - between "fall" and "riches."
  - between "diminishing" and "riches."

The word "diminishing" (hettema) means loss, defeat, injury. It means that Israel became impoverished spiritually. Israel was spiritually injured and defeated; the Jewish people lost the blessings of salvation. Now...

- if the spiritual fall of Israel led to the riches of salvation being carried to the world...
- if the spiritual diminishing of Israel led to the riches of salvation being carried to the Gentiles...

...how much more shall the fulness (the restoration of Israel) bring the blessings of God to earth?

Note the word "fulness" (pleroma), which means completion or that which is filled. The idea is that the day is coming when God's plan and purpose for Israel will be completed and perfectly fulfilled. That day, the day of Israel's restoration, will cause even a greater blessing to spread out across the world.

Thought 1. The spread of the gospel has had an enormous impact upon the world.

- ⇒ It has liberated millions from sin and shame.
- ⇒ It has saved millions from death and hell.
- ⇒ It has assured millions of life eternal with God.
- ⇒ It has liberated women and children from slavery.
- ⇒ It has proclaimed morality and purity world-wide.
- ⇒ It has stirred justice and the enactment of just laws among men.

However, when Israel is restored and large numbers of Jews begin to turn to Christ, then the world will experience unprecedented blessings from the hand of God. God promises such blessings to the world.

The point is clear: God has overruled and is going to continue overruling Israel's stumble and fall over Christ.

- ⇒ More and more Gentiles are going to be saved. The uttermost part of the earth is going to hear the gospel.

"And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come" (Mt.24:14).

- ⇒ More and more Jews are going to be stirred to accept Christ and to be restored to God.
- ⇒ A glorious restoration of Israel is going to take place. Jews by the thousands are going to turn to Christ someday in the future. So many will turn to Christ that it can be said that the nation Israel has been restored. And when that day comes, the whole earth will be greatly blessed, blessed more fully than ever before.

"For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in. And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob” (Ro.11:25-26).

“And I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the LORD: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart” (Jer.24:7).

2 (11:13-15) Israel, Restoration—Paul, Love for His People: proof two is Paul’s attempt to stir the Jews to be saved. Paul was God’s primary minister to the Gentiles in the first century. Paul magnified the ministry and gloried in God’s call. He stressed the fact every chance he could. Why? Paul had two purposes.

1. He wanted to arouse the Jews to envy; that is, he wanted to stir them to look at Christ, and to see what Christ had done for the Gentiles. He wanted to stir men to look at the lives of believers and to see the wonderful change Christ had wrought. Thereby, Paul hoped that some Jews would be saved.

2. Paul wanted to hasten the day for Israel’s restoration. He knew there was to be a restoration; therefore, he knew that every time he was able to reach a Jew for Christ, the callous on Israel’s heart would soften a little more. The more he could soften the callous, the sooner the restoration would take place. Note the question of Paul:

“If the casting away [that is, the rejection] of Israel led to the reconciliation of the world [to God], what shall the receiving [the restoration] of them be, but life from the dead?”

a. The reconciliation of the world has a twofold meaning. It means...

- that all men, both Jew and Gentile, can now be reconciled to God. All men can now have peace with God and possess the peace of God (see notes, Peace—Ro.5:1; DEEPER STUDY # 1—5:10; Jn.14:27).

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:17-18).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

- that all men, both Jew and Gentile, can now be reconciled to each other (see outline and notes—Eph.2:13-18 for discussion).

“And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:16).

b. Paul believed strongly in the restoration of Israel. The very fact that he asked the question indicates his belief. He firmly expected Israel to be restored, and he expected their restoration to bring such a great revival to earth that it would be like the world moving to “life from the dead.”

c. The phrase “life from the dead” is interpreted several ways.

- ⇒ Some say it refers to the resurrection of the dead, to the climax of human history when Jesus Christ shall return to deliver the whole creation from corruption and to rule and reign over the world (cp. Ro.8:21). This, of course, would mean that believers are not resurrected until the restoration of the Jews to God.
- ⇒ Others say it is merely figurative language. When the Jews are restored, it will be like a resurrection, like gaining life from the dead.

Whatever the interpretation, the restoration of Israel will be a most glorious event, an event so glorious that it will be like a true resurrection. It will lead to a new world, a world of righteousness that will benefit all involved. The scene is that the most glorious blessings will be poured out upon the whole world and everyone in it.

“And I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the LORD: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart” (Jer.24:7).

“So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army” (Ezk.37:10).

“For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry” (Lk.15:24).

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints” (Eph.1:18).

“But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:4-7).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

3 (11:16) Israel, Restoration—Remnant—Parents: proof three is that Israel’s forefathers, that is, the patriarchs, give a heritage of holiness. This is an extremely important verse in dealing with the restoration of Israel. God gives two pictures to show that Israel can never be totally or finally rejected. Both pictures have to do with the firstfruits.

- ⇒ The Jew always dedicated the first fruit of his harvest to God. He gave the first part to God and by giving the first part, the man was saying to God that he was dedicating all of his food to God. It was not necessary to offer every mouthful to God. The offering of the first part sanctified the whole.
- ⇒ The second picture is that of a little tree being planted and the sapling being offered to God. Every branch thereafter was looked upon as being sacred to God. It was not necessary to dedicate each branch separately.

What Paul is saying is that the root, the first part, refers to the patriarchs, that is, the fathers of Israel. Israel, by merit of its patriarchs, its fathers, holds a very special place in God’s heart. The whole nation benefits from the dedicated lives of Abraham and the other godly fathers. The whole nation (masses of them) will be restored and saved, brought back to God because of the godliness of the forefathers and because of God’s promise to the forefathers (cp. v.25).

Note this: to call Israel a holy nation does not mean that the Jewish people live holy lives in the sight of God. Scripture is not talking about practical, day-to-day holiness. There have been few Jews—just as there have always been few Gentiles—who have lived holy lives. But Israel was initially chosen by God to be His witness upon earth: chosen to be His federal nation or His representative nation to bear testimony for Him. The first fathers of the nation believed God and lived lives of faith, and a few Jews have continued to serve God down through the generations of every century. God very clearly says that because of the holiness of these few, He cares for the nation as a whole—for the whole lump. What this means is this: because of the holy lives of the few, God looks with favor upon the nation. It does not mean that He saves everyone in the nation, but rather, He blesses the nation (all those who live around the followers of God). Those who live holy lives bring godly blessings upon all who surround them and who succeed from them. Many of Israel will be blessed by God and restored because of the nation’s godly patriarchs.

Thought 1. Note the influence of godly parents, forefathers, and nations upon children and succeeding generations. It is important for every parent and generation to live godly lives.

“The LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children’s children, unto the third and to the fourth generation” (Ex.34:6-7; cp. Lev.14:18).

“And they rejected his statutes, and his covenant that he made with their fathers, and his testimonies which he testified against them; and they followed vanity, and became vain, and went after the heathen that were round about them, concerning whom the LORD had charged them, that they should not do like them” (2 Ki.17:15).

“God layeth up his iniquity for his children: he rewardeth him, and he shall know it” (Job 21:19).

“Thou showest loving-kindness unto thousands, and recompensest the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them: the Great, the Mighty God, the LORD of hosts, is his name, great in counsel, and mighty in work: for thine eyes are open upon all the ways of the sons of men: to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings” (Jer.32:18-19).

“Our fathers have sinned, and are not; and we have borne their iniquities” (Lam.5:7).

“Take heed to thyself that thou be not snared by following them, after that they be destroyed from before thee; and that thou inquire not after their gods, saying, How did these nations serve their gods? even so will I do likewise” (Dt.12:30).

“All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works: for they say, and do not” (Mt.23:3).

Thought 2. Note the influence of godly men upon nations.

“And ye shall be unto me a kingdom of priests, and a holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel” (Ex.19:6).

“They are beloved for their father’s sakes” (Ro.11:28).

“And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt” (Dt.4:37).

However, we must always remember that the people of a nation can be restored to God only through repentance, only by turning from sin back to God.

“If they shall confess their iniquity, and the iniquity of their fathers, with their trespass which they trespassed against me, and that also they have walked contrary unto me; and that I also have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their enemies; if then their uncircumcised hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the punishment of their iniquity: then will I remember my covenant with Jacob, and also my covenant with Isaac, and also my covenant with Abraham will I remember; and I will remember the land” (Lev.26:40-42).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

H. The Callous on Israel's Heart is a Warning to Other Nations, 11:17-24

(11:17-24) Introduction: men can harden their hearts against God. Men can become so callous against God that the conviction of the Holy Spirit is never felt. Hardness of heart can doom men to an eternity of separation from God. The callous on Israel's heart is a warning to all men everywhere, a warning to the nations of the world.

1. A parable of the olive tree (v.17).
2. Warning 1: do not be arrogant (v.18).
3. Warning 2: fear complacency and unbelief (v.19-21).
4. Warning 3: take a sharp look at the goodness and severity of God (v.22).
5. Warning 4: the restoration is a probable event (v.23-24).

1 (11:17) Israel vs. Gentiles: this is a parable of the olive tree. The olive tree was the most useful, productive, and valuable tree in Israel; therefore, it was precious to the economy and welfare of the nation. Because of this, the nation's relationship to God was sometimes pictured as an olive tree (cp. Ps.52:8; Jer.11:16; Hos.14:6).

Now note the exact picture given. The natural branches refer to Israel, and the wild olive branches refer to Gentile believers. The olive tree refers to God and a right relationship with Him.

1. Some natural branches are broken off and rejected. Some Jews did not and do not believe in Christ; therefore, they are not attached to God. They do not have a right relationship with God. But note: only some of the branches were broken off. Some Jews did accept Christ as the Messiah and did maintain a right relationship with God.

"Therefore say I unto you, The kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof" (Mt.21:43).

"I say unto you, That none of those men which were bidden shall taste of my supper" (Lk.14:24).

"He shall come and destroy these husbandmen, and shall give the vineyard to others. And when they heard it, they said, God forbid" (Lk.20:16).

"And if some of the branches be broken off, and thou, being a wild olive tree, wert grafted in among them, and with them partakest of the root and fatness of the olive tree" (Ro.11:17).

"My God will cast them away, because they did not hearken unto him: and they shall be wanderers among the nations" (Hos.9:17).

2. Some wild olive branches were grafted into the tree. Note that the words "and thou" or "you" (kai su) is singular. Paul is not speaking to Gentiles as a whole, but to the individual Gentile. Note two things.

- a. The Gentile believer is said to have been a wild olive branch. The word "wild" means that the Gentile was not part of the olive tree (God); he was outside and estranged and alienated from the olive tree (God). Therefore, he was...
  - part of the wilderness, desert, and uncultivated world.
  - growing loose and uncontrolled.
  - useless and worthless.
  - uncared for and unprotected.
  - insect-infested, sour, and inferior.

- b. The Gentile believer is now said to have been grafted into the olive tree. He is now attached to God, that is, in a right relationship with God; therefore, he now partakes of the root and fatness of the olive tree. Very simply, this means that the believer is fed and nourished by God.

Thought 1. The glorious privilege of being nourished by God becomes as much the right of the Gentile as it is of the Jews.

“And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice” (Gen.22:18).

“All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee” (Ps.22:27).

“All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name” (Ps.86:9).

“The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined” (Is.9:2).

“And he said, It is a light thing that thou shouldest be my servant to raise up the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the preserved of Israel: I will also give thee for a light to the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my salvation unto the end of the earth” (Is.49:6).

“And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising” (Is.60:3).

“And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed” (Dan.7:14).

“And I will sow her unto me in the earth; and I will have mercy upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people; and they shall say, Thou art my God” (Hos.2:23).

“And the apostles and brethren that were in Judea heard that the Gentiles had also received the word of God” (Acts 11:1).

“And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordained to eternal life believed” (Acts 13:48).

“And when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up, and said unto them, Men and brethren, ye know how that a good while ago God made choice among us, that the Gentiles by my mouth should hear the word of the gospel, and believe” (Acts 15:7).

“And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles” (Acts 18:6).

“Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent unto the Gentiles, and that they will hear it” (Acts 28:28).

“And that the Gentiles might glorify God for his mercy; as it is written, For this cause I will confess to thee among the Gentiles, and sing unto thy name” (Ro.15:9).

“That the Gentiles should be fellow heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel” (Eph.3:6).

“And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever” (Rev.11:15).

- c. Note the words “with them.” The Gentile believer is grafted into the olive tree with the natural branches. This is important to note, for it means there is only one family of God, not two. Both the natural branches and the wild branches are part of the same olive tree. The only difference is that the natural branches were the first branches that grew on the olive tree. The wild branches had to be brought or grafted into the tree.

Thought 1. Note that some natural branches are broken off because they did not bear fruit.

“If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned” (Jn.15:6).

2 (11:18) Arrogance—Pride—Gentile vs. Jew: there is the first warning. The Gentile believer must not be arrogant and prideful over the Jews. The idea is that...

- we must not treat them as inferior beings because they deny Christ.
- we must not insult and ridicule them because they differ from us as Christian believers.
- we must not trample them underfoot because they refuse to believe and be like us.
- we must not boast that we know the truth about the Messiah and they do not.
- we must not glory in our knowledge of Christ, conveying the idea that we are better than the Jews.

The Gentile believer has no right to elevate himself over the Jews nor over anyone else. The reason is clearly seen. We were wild branches, very wild. We did not bear the root (Judaism); the root bore us (Christianity). If it had not been for Judaism, there would be no Christianity. If it had not been for Jewish believers, there would be no Christian believers. If Peter and Paul and the others had not surrendered their lives to preach Christ, then the message of Christ would have never reached us. We must never forget that “salvation is of the Jews” (Jn.4:22).

Thought 1. Every Gentile believer owes a debt to Jewish people. We must carry the gospel to the Jews even as some of the earliest Christian Jews brought the gospel to us.

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost” (Mt.28:19).

Thought 2. All boasting, arrogance, pride, and conceit against the Jews is wrong. It is wrong to elevate ourselves above others; in fact, it is even wrong to think that we are better or higher than anyone else.

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And art confident that thou thyself art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkness” (Ro.2:19).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the Lord, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“Better is a little with righteousness than great revenues without right” (Pr.16:8).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

3 (11:19-21) Unbelief—Complacency—Gentile vs. Jew: there is the second warning. The Gentile believer must fear complacency and unbelief. (See outline and notes—Heb.3:7-19 for more discussion.) There is the danger of Gentile believers thinking...

- that they are more acceptable to God because they have replaced the Jews as the true followers of God.
- that they are safe and secure in Christianity because Christianity is the religion that acknowledges God’s Son.

However, we must always remember what this Scripture is saying. Israel was not rejected by God so that we, the Gentiles, might be saved. Israel was rejected by God because of unbelief. God did not and does not reject one people in order to save another people. God reaches out to every nation of people longing for all to be grafted into Him.

God accepts a person because the person believes in His Son Jesus Christ. The Jews did not believe; some Gentiles did believe. A Gentile believer stands attached to the olive tree by faith, not because of any goodness or merit or value within himself.

Now note: the Gentile believer must guard against complacency, against feeling safe, secure, and more acceptable because he stands in Christianity, the religion that acknowledges God’s Son. The Gentile believer must not be highminded, but rather fear. He must fear, for God is less likely to spare the unnatural branches than He was the natural branches. The warning is strong: “Take heed lest He also spare thee not” (v.21).

Thought 1. If God spared not the Jews because of their unbelief, how much more will He not spare us. The Jews were the natural branches; we are the unnatural branches.

- ⇒ The Jews had the godly heritage; we had the wild, ungodly heritage.
- ⇒ The Jews had the fathers, the followers of the only living and true God; we had heathen, polytheistic fathers, fathers who created humanistic gods to suit their own fancies.
- ⇒ The Jews had the Word of God and the Savior; we had neither.
- ⇒ the Jews had the prophets of God; we had the false humanistic priests of the world.

In light of this and of so much more depravity, we must guard against self-complacency and conceit. We must walk in humility and the fear of God, fearing unbelief lest we too be broken off (v.17).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life: but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God” (Heb.3:12).

“Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief” (Heb.4:11).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Sanctify the LORD of hosts himself; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread” (Is.8:13).

4 (11:22) Judgment—God, Goodness of: there is the third warning. The Gentile believer must take a sharp look at the goodness and severity of God.

1. The severity of God is seen in the spiritual fall of Israel. The word “severity” (apotomia) means abrupt, sharp, rough, cut off. The Jews had committed the very sins the Gentiles are being warned about in this passage. The Jews...

- had developed an attitude of arrogance and boasting toward other people, refusing to carry the Word of God to them.
- had felt highminded and complacent, feeling safe and secure, thinking themselves to be more acceptable to God than other people.

In addition to these gross sins, the Jews had rejected God's prophets down through the centuries until they eventually killed God's very own Son. In one brief word, their sin was unbelief. The vast majority of the Jews never did believe God, not to the point that they loved God supremely. As a result, the judgment and severity of God fell upon them (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Judgment—Ro.11:7-10 for more discussion).

“You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will punish you for all your iniquities” (Amos 3:2).

“And that servant, which knew his lord's will, and prepared not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes” (Lk.12:47).

“If a man abide not in me, he is cast forth as a branch, and is withered; and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned” (Jn.15:6).

“And not rather, (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say,) Let us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just. What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have before proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin” (Ro.3:8-9).

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?” (Heb.10:29).

“And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible” (Is.13:11).

“But I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, saith the LORD: and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall devour all things round about it” (Jer.21:14).

“And it shall come to pass at that time, that I will search Jerusalem with candles, and punish the men that are settled on their lees: that say in their heart, The Lord will not do good, neither will he do evil” (Zeph.1:12).

2. The goodness of God is seen in the grafting in and acceptance of the Gentiles by God. But note the stress of this point: the goodness of God is given only to those who continue in God's goodness. A person who knows about the love of God must walk and live in God's goodness. The word “continue” (epimeno) means to remain, be steadfast, abide, persevere, endure. The idea is both position and relationship. The believer...

- is positioned in the goodness of God.
- is related to the goodness of God.

It is the picture of a person who is remaining and abiding in the house of God's goodness. A Gentile believer must continue and abide, endure and persevere in the goodness of God, or else he too will be cut off (ekkopesei) just as the Jews were cut off (v.17).

“Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?” (Ro.2:4).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace [goodness]” (Eph.1:7).

“Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son” (2 Jn.9).

5 (11:23-24) Israel, Restoration: there is the fourth warning. The Gentile believer must know that Israel's restoration is a probable event.

1. The restoration of Israel is conditional. Note the word “if”—“if they abide not still in unbelief.” Genuine belief is the condition for salvation. A person has to run from his unbelief to belief in order to be grafted in and accepted by God. No person comes to God unless he believes in His Son Jesus Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

“Return, ye backsliding children, and I will heal your backslidings. Behold, we come unto thee; for thou art the LORD our God” (Jer.3:22).

2. God is able to graft the Jews back into the olive tree. Two things are meant by this.
- a. God is able because of His enormous love. God loves everyone and will forgive any person for any thing if that man will turn from his life of sin and unbelief. God will accept any person who approaches Him through His Son Jesus Christ.

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic. 7:18).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:4-7).

- b. God is able because of His enormous knowledge and power. God is God; therefore, He has unlimited knowledge and power. He knows when a man’s heart is subject to Him and moving toward Him. He knows just when to move upon a person’s heart, and He can arrange circumstances that will cause the person to turn to Him. Therefore, when the time comes, He has the power to stir Jewish hearts to turn to Him in large numbers. The valley of dry bones can be resurrected by the power of God (Ezk.37:1f).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

“For with God nothing shall be impossible” (Lk.1:37).

“That ye may know....what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, according to the working of his mighty power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:18-20).

“And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins” (Eph.2:1).

“Both riches and honor come of thee, and thou reignest over all; and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all” (1 Chron.29:12).

3. The grafting in of the natural branches (the Jews) is much more likely than the calling of the Gentiles was. Note the words “much more.” Paul is confident that God is not only able, but God will graft the Jews back into the olive tree. Paul proclaims that the Jews will turn to Christ and be restored into a right relationship with God (see notes—Ro.11:16 for discussion).

“Esaias also crieth concerning Israel, Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant shall be saved” (Ro.9:27).

“Even so then at this present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace” (Ro.11:5).

“For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in. And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob” (Ro.11:25-26).

“That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations, whither the LORD thy God hath scattered thee” (Dt.30:3).

“Except the LORD of hosts had left unto us a very small remnant, we should have been as Sodom, and we should have been like unto Gomorrah” (Is.1:9).

“And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase” (Jer.23:3).

“For I will set mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up. And I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the LORD: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart” (Jer.24:6-7).

“For thus saith the LORD; Sing with gladness for Jacob, and shout among the chief of the nations: publish ye, praise ye, and say, O LORD, save thy people, the remnant of Israel. Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the coasts of the earth, and with them the blind and the lame, the woman with child and her that travaileth with child together: a great company shall return thither” (Jer.31:7-8).

“Yet, behold, therein shall be left a remnant that shall be brought forth, both sons and daughters: behold, they shall come forth unto you, and ye shall see their way and their doings: and ye shall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it” (Ezk.14:22).

“So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army” (Ezk.37:10).

“I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee; I will surely gather the remnant of Israel” (Mic.2:12).

“Therefore as I live, saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and saltpits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them” (Zeph.2:9).

DIVISION VII

ISRAEL AND THE GOSPEL OF RIGHTEOUSNESS, 9:1-11:36

I. The Restoration of Israel and Its Surety, 11:25-36

(11:25-36) Introduction: Israel's history is a surety. God loves man with an infinite love, and God's love is unchangeable. Therefore, any person can be restored to God if the person will call upon the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and ask Christ to save him. This is clearly seen in the history of Israel. Israel's restoration is a surety, and as such, Israel stands as a prime example of the unchangeable love of God toward man.

1. Surety 1: God's great revelation about the Jews (v.25-26).
2. Surety 2: the promise of Scripture—God's Deliverer, Jesus Christ, shall turn Israel (v.26-27).
3. Surety 3: God's pleasure with Israel's forefathers (v.28-29).
4. Surety 4: the believer's mercy and witness to the Jews (v.30-31).
5. Surety 5: God's holiness and mercy (v.32).
6. Surety 6: God's glorious plan for the world (v.33-36).

[1] (11:25-26) Israel, Restoration—Blindness: the first surety is God's great revelation about Israel. The revelation comes from Paul. Note three significant facts.

1. The revelation had been an unknown mystery until Paul. The word "mystery" (mysterion) in the Bible is not used as most men use the word, as something mysterious or difficult to understand. A Biblical mystery means that...
  - something that was unknown is now revealed.
  - something that was hidden is now made known.
  - something that was a secret is now told.

The future of Israel is now revealed and made known to men. Note exactly why God revealed the future of Israel: that we not be ignorant of Israel's future, and that we not be wise in our own conceits or imaginations. This last reason can mean two things.

- ⇒ Gentiles become guilty of looking down upon the Jews because the Jews are so different from the rest of us. They have rejected Jesus Christ and are opposed to Christianity to such a degree that they remain almost exclusively among themselves. Gentiles face the danger of becoming puffed up, of thinking that they are more acceptable to God because they look with favor upon Jesus Christ and are more open in professing Him. There is the danger of being prideful and arrogant, of lording it over the Jews.
- ⇒ A Gentile, especially a Gentile believer, can begin to think that his idea of Israel's destiny is the correct idea and that he and the followers of his position are the persons who have a full understanding of the truth. All other understandings are incorrect. There is the danger of becoming "wise in [our] own conceits."

2. Israel's blindness is only partial, only "in part." There were Jewish believers who followed Christ in His day and there have been Jewish believers who have followed Christ down through the centuries. The blindness and hardness of Israel to the gospel is not total; it is only partial. Granted, just as Scripture says, so many Jews have rejected and still do reject Christ that it is as though all Israel as a nation has stumbled and fallen over Him (cp. v.8-9). However, there have been and always will be some Jews who believe. Israel's blindness is only partial.

3. Israel's blindness is only temporary. Two statements clearly show this.
- a. Israel's blindness is only "until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in." Note a significant point. It does not matter how a person interprets this clause, when the fulness of the Gentiles is completed, Israel's blindness will be removed according to Scripture. Just what "the fulness of the Gentiles" means is open to different interpretations, but it does not change what is to happen to Israel. It only affects when the blindness is to be removed from Israel. Israel's blindness is to continue only until the fulness of the Gentiles comes. Now what does this event mean? The fulness of the Gentiles can mean...
    - a certain number of Gentile converts are to be saved, to fill up the "cut off branches of Israel" (v.17-21).
    - the end of the Gentile age, a time when the emphasis of salvation will no longer be upon the Gentiles, but upon the Jews.
    - the end of the Gentile age, a time when God will rapture the church (all believers) and cause a revival among the Jews who will then become the primary witnesses for Him.

The point is worth repeating. No matter what the phrase "the fulness of the Gentiles" means, it does not change the event of Israel's revival. The blindness of Israel will be removed.
  - b. "All Israel shall be saved." The fact could be stated no clearer:
    - ⇒ Israel's blindness is only temporary.
    - ⇒ The restoration of Israel is a surety.
    - ⇒ Israel shall experience a revival.
    - ⇒ Israel shall turn to God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thought 1. There is hope for every person. Note two critical facts:

- 1) A person's blindness to the Lord Jesus Christ is only partial. As long as a person is alive, he can still turn to Christ.
- 2) A person's blindness is temporary only if the person turns to the Lord Jesus Christ. Unless a person believes and commits his life to Christ, his blindness becomes permanent, and he is lost forever.

"And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil" (Jn.3:19).

"[God] who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son: in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins" (Col.1:13-14).

"Our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel" (2 Tim.1:10).

"This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all. If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth: but if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 Jn.1:5-7).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(11:25-26) Israel, Restoration: there are many reasons for taking this passage at its face value, that is, as a prediction of the Jewish people's conversion as a nation.

1. The whole context favors this view. The conversion of the Jews as a probable event has been described in the plainest and simplest of terms.
2. The nation was rejected, not as individuals but as a community or nation. Therefore, it is only natural to say that when God speaks of a restoration, He is speaking not only of individuals being restored, but of the community or nation as being restored (v.11, 15).
3. Paul speaks of a great event, something that will attract universal attention.
4. Paul says this is a "mystery." The gradual conversion of a few Jews would be no mystery. When speaking of the mystery of the Gentiles (Eph.1:9; 3:4), Paul is speaking of the Gentiles as a community being admitted into the church of God. Therefore, it is only natural to assume that when Paul speaks of the mystery of the Jews, he is speaking of a great event, of a great movement of Jews toward Christ.
5. The words "all Israel" (v.26) cannot mean the spiritual Israel. Such an interpretation would do violence to the use of the word "Israel" throughout this whole context. It simply means Israel as a nation, as a community of people. This is also clear from the warnings that are given throughout this passage to both Gentile and Jew.

However, "all Israel" looks at the nation en masse. It does not necessarily have to mean every single individual. Note a very significant fact: when the nation became hardened, Scripture speaks of the nation, that is, of all Israel, being rejected. However, not every single person was rejected. There were a few individuals who still believed and who comprised a remnant (cp. Ro.11:1-10). Every single individual was not lost, so the same is probably true when the nation is restored. There will be a large number of Jews who will become open and tender to the gospel, but not necessarily every individual. In one simple statement: Israel will be open to the gospel just as the Gentiles are open to the gospel. Many Jews will begin to be saved just as many Gentiles are now saved.

"That then the LORD thy God will turn thy captivity, and have compassion upon thee, and will return and gather thee from all the nations, whither the LORD thy God hath scattered thee" (Dt.30:3).

"And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counselors as at the beginning: afterward thou shalt be called, The city of righteousness, the faithful city" (Is.1:26).

“And he shall set up an ensign for the nations, and shall assemble the outcasts of Israel, and gather together the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth” (Is.11:12).

“And it shall come to pass in that day, that the great trumpet shall be blown, and they shall come which were ready to perish in the land of Assyria, and the outcasts in the land of Egypt, and shall worship the LORD in the holy mount at Jerusalem” (Is.27:13).

“Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnities: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down; not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken” (Is.33:20).

“Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath received of the LORD’s hand double for all her sins” (Is.40:2).

“Thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I will lift up mine hand to the Gentiles, and set up my standard to the people: and they shall bring thy sons in their arms, and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders” (Is.49:22).

“And the sons of strangers shall build up thy walls, and their kings shall minister unto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my favor have I had mercy on thee” (Is.60:10).

“And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and increase” (Jer.23:3).

“For I will set mine eyes upon them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up. And I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the LORD: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall return unto me with their whole heart” (Jer.24:6-7; cp. Jer.31:7-8).

“Yet, behold, therein shall be left a remnant that shall be brought forth, both sons and daughters: behold, they shall come forth unto you, and ye shall see their way and their doings: and ye shall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it” (Ezk.14:22).

“For in mine holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Israel, saith the Lord GOD, there shall all the house of Israel, all of them in the land, serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things” (Ezk.20:40).

“But ye, O mountains of Israel, ye shall shoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Israel; for they are at hand to come” (Ezk.36:8).

“So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army” (Ezk.37:10).

“I will surely assemble, O Jacob, all of thee; I will surely gather the remnant of Israel” (Mic.2:12).

“Therefore as I live, saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of nettles, and saltpits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my people shall spoil them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them” (Zeph.2:9).

“Cry yet, saying, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; My cities through prosperity shall yet be spread abroad; and the LORD shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet choose Jerusalem” (Zech.1:17).

“And I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again to place them; for I have mercy upon them: and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the LORD their God, and will hear them” (Zech.10:6).

“And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more utter destruction; but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited” (Zech.14:11).

“Then shall the offering of Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant unto the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in former years” (Mal.3:4).

2 (11:26-27) Israel, Restoration—Forgiveness of Sin: the second surety is the promise of Scripture. God’s great Deliverer, Jesus Christ Himself, shall turn Israel. Scripture gives a glimpse into the future of Israel’s restoration in this verse, but note that it is only a glimpse. Just how Israel will be restored is not discussed in this passage. Only two major things are given.

1. Some great manifestation of Christ the Deliverer will cause Israel to turn to the gospel.

“For I say unto you [Israel], Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord” (Mt.23:39).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord; and he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you [Israel]: whom the heaven must receive until the times of restitution of all things, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began” (Acts 3:19-21).

“Blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in” (Ro.11:25).

“But their minds [Israel] were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same veil untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which veil is done away in Christ. But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the veil is upon their heart. Nevertheless when it [Israel] shall turn to the Lord, the veil shall be taken away” (2 Cor.3:14-16).

“Oh that the salvation of Israel were come out of Zion! when the Lord bringeth back the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad” (Ps.14:7).

“And the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the LORD. As for me, this is my covenant with them, saith the LORD; My spirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seeds’ seed, saith the LORD, from henceforth and for ever” (Is.59:20-21).

“By this therefore shall the iniquity of Jacob be purged” (literally to take away their sin) (Is.27:9).

“I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more” (Jer.31:31-34).

“For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim: afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek the LORD their God, and David their king; and shall fear the LORD and his goodness in the latter days” (Hos.3:4-5).

“And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his first-born” (Zech.12:10).

2. The great Deliverer, Jesus Christ, will do two things for Israel.
  - a. Jesus Christ will turn away ungodliness from Israel (cp. Is.27:9).
  - b. Jesus Christ will fulfill God’s covenant with Israel: He will take away their sins (cp. Is.59:21; 27:9).

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“Be it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins” (Acts 13:38).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“I, even I, am he that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins” (Is.43:25).

“I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, thy transgressions, and, as a cloud, thy sins: return unto me; for I have redeemed thee” (Is.44:22).

“Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon” (Is.55:7).

3 (11:28-29) Israel, Restoration: the third surety is God’s pleasure with Israel’s forefathers.

1. The statement “they [the Jews] are enemies for your sakes” sounds as though God predestinated Israel’s rejection. However, God does not cause sin (Jas.1:13-14); God does not cause people to reject His Son and His will. What the statement means is this: the word “enemy” (echthroi) has both an active and passive meaning. It means either hostile or hated by, and it means either hating or being hated. It is possible that in this particular passage it is to be read both ways. The Jews were hostile to God; they had refused the offer of God’s righteousness in Jesus Christ, and they had refused to be the missionary force for God’s Son. Therefore, they had aroused God’s displeasure. They hated God; consequently, God was displeased with them.

Note that God did what He had to do. He turned to the Gentiles. Israel had refused to be the missionary force for God’s Son, so God had to turn to the Gentiles. Among the Gentiles, God found a receptive people. The Gentiles accepted the offer of God’s righteousness in Jesus Christ, and they have become the missionary force for Christ to the world. It is critical to remember something, however: this does not mean that every Gentile is saved. Most are not, but a fair number of them have accepted and still do accept Jesus Christ. We must remember this: in this passage God is speaking nationally, not individually.

⇒ A few Jews do accept Christ as the Messiah, but the number is small. The number is so small that God can say that Israel as a nation has rejected Christ.

⇒ A far greater number of Gentiles accept Christ as their Savior. However, as is clearly evidenced by the unholy lives of most Gentiles, the majority reject Christ; but the number who do accept Him is fairly large. It is large enough for God to say that the Gentiles as a community do accept His offer of salvation in Christ.

Thought 1. The point is that God is speaking nationally, not individually. And we must remember this, for it is absolutely essential for everyone to make a personal decision to receive Christ and to follow Him by living a pure life.

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:11-14).

2. The statement “they [the Jews] are beloved for the fathers’ sakes” shows that God still loves Israel. As a people, they are still very precious to Him. How can this be when they have been so hostile to God’s Son, Jesus Christ, and toward the missionary force of God’s Son? There are two reasons why God still loves Israel:

- a. The forefathers of Israel were a godly people, a people of unusual faith in God. (See note—Ro.11:16; also see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Abraham—Ro.4:1-25 for more discussion.) There were people such as Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, Joshua, Deborah, Ruth, Elijah—the list could go on and on. As Scripture says:

“And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae; of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets: who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions, quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens. Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection: and others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment: they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented; (of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth” (Heb.11:32-38).

Such godly men and women knew God—knew Him personally and intimately—and God would never forget a people who loved Him so greatly. Keep this in mind as well: godly people are a praying people, a people who pray for their families and neighbors, for their nation and world. And God hears and answers the prayers of His people. God would never turn His back upon Israel for this reason alone.

- b. There is a second reason why God still loves Israel: God Himself is unchangeable in His gifts and calling. God called and promised some very special gifts to the forefathers of Israel, and God is unchangeable; therefore...
- every purpose for which God called Israel shall be fulfilled in the lives of many Jews.
  - every gift God promised Israel shall be given to many Jews.

The point is striking. God does not change His mind. He is constant, immutable, unchangeable. He shall perfectly fulfill His calling and gifts to Israel.

“The counsel of the LORD standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations” (Ps.33:11).

“But thou art the same, and thy years shall have no end” (Ps.102:27).

“Thy name, O LORD, endureth for ever; and thy memorial, O LORD, throughout all generations” (Ps.135:13).

“Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations” (Ps.145:13).

“For I am the LORD, I change not” (Mal.3:6).

“Thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail” (Heb.1:12).

“Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever” (Heb.13:8).

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty” (Rev.1:8).

(11:30-36) Another Outline: God’s World-Wide Plan for All Men.

1. God had chosen the Jews (v.30).
2. God moved the Gentiles: from unbelief to mercy (v.30).
3. God is to move the Jews again: from unbelief to mercy (v.31).
4. God’s purpose is to move all men: from unbelief to mercy (v.32).
5. God’s world-wide plan rests in the depth of the richness of His wisdom and knowledge (v.33).
  - a. No man can grasp God’s plan (v.34).
  - b. No man can earn God’s gift (v.35).
  - c. God is all in all (v.36).

4 (11:30-31) Israel, Restoration: the fourth surety is the believer’s mercy and witness to the Jews. These two verses are speaking historically. Very simply, history shall be repeated.

- ⇒ In times past—before Christ ever came—the Gentiles did not know and obey God, but the Jews did.
- ⇒ Eventually, the Jews rejected God which is ultimately seen in their killing God’s Son, Jesus Christ. They, too, failed to believe (obey God).
- ⇒ Therefore, God turned to the Gentiles.

Now note: if we came to know God through the unbelief of the Jews, how much more shall the Jews be shown mercy through the mercy of the Gentiles! To word the matter another way...

- if mercy resulted from unbelief, how much more shall mercy result from mercy?
- if mercy to the Gentiles came through the unbelief of the Jews, how much more shall mercy to the Jews come through the mercy of the Gentiles?

The point seems to be this: we truly know the mercy of God through Jesus Christ our Lord; therefore, we want the world to experience the same mercy and forgiveness of sins. In particular, we feel indebted to the Jews, the people through whom God gave us His Word, His Son, and His promises. Therefore, Scripture predicts that the evangelistic efforts to reach the Jews will someday bear fruit. The Jews will be reached by the mercy of God; they shall believe and obey Jesus Christ as Lord. The Jews shall be restored into the favor of God.

Thought 1. Every believer who knows the mercy of God should share the mercy of God. God hates exclusiveness, prejudice, partiality. The world desperately needs the gospel, the Jew as well as the Gentile, and God demands that His mercy be shared with the world.

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:19-20).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

5 (11:32) Israel, Restoration: the fifth surety is God’s holiness and mercy. The word “concluded” (sunekleisen) means to shut up in a place, to close up, to lock up. This is an unusual idea: God has taken men, both Jews and Gentiles, and shut them up to unbelief (apeitheian) or disobedience. This is the judicial judgment of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.11:7-10; note—1:24; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Jn.12:39-41). It is the picture of God using sin and events for good. God takes sin and works it out for the good of the world. Man has chosen sin, choosing to go his own way in life, so God allows man to do his own thing. God locks man up in his own world of selfishness, allowing man to roam around in his world of sin. Why? So that man’s true nature of sinfulness will be clearly seen, and thereby cause the honest and thinking man to seek God. God wishes and will have mercy upon all, both Jew and Gentile; but before men can come to God, they must confess two things:

⇒ that they are sinful and dying creatures in desperate need of God.

⇒ that God exists and that He will have mercy upon the person who diligently seeks Him.

Now note: all men, both Jew and Gentile, are shut up in their world of sin. Why? That God may have mercy upon both. The holiness and love of God assure that the Jews will be saved and restored to the mercy of God. All that is needed is for the Jews to begin seeking God. God will have mercy upon any who genuinely seek Him.

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“But if from thence [the world] thou shalt seek the LORD thy God, thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.4:29).

“If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land” (2 Chron.7:14).

“But the mercy of the LORD is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children’s children” (Ps.103:17).

“For my mouth shall speak truth; and wickedness is an abomination to my lips” (Pr.8:7).

“And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart” (Jer.29:13).

“It is of the Lord’s mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not” (Lam.3:22).

“And rend your heart, and not your garments, and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the evil” (Joel 2:13).

“Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy” (Mic.7:18).

6 (11:33-36) Israel, Restoration: the sixth surety is God’s glorious plan for the world. Note four points.

1. God’s glorious plan for the world involves four great acts of God.

a. His infinite wisdom and knowledge: knowing how to do everything perfectly; knowing how to create and arrange, order, and govern everything so that all things work out perfectly. Note how God’s wisdom and knowledge are said to be deep and rich: “O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God.” God’s wisdom and knowledge are so deep and rich...

• that angels desire to look into them (1 Pt.1:13).

• that they are infinite (Eph.3:18).

• that they are too wonderful for man (Ps.139:6. This one verse alone shows just how great God’s mercy is toward us.)

• that they include thoughts more numerous than the grains of sand in the world (Ps.139:17-18).

b. His infinite judgments and ways: His judgment in planning and deciding everything, and His ways in executing His purposes and decisions. Note that His judgment and ways are said to be unsearchable and past finding out.

⇒ Secret things belong to God (Dt.29:29).

⇒ God is glorified by His infinite judgments and ways (Pr.25:2).

⇒ The great things of God are unsearchable and without number (Job 5:9; 9:10).

⇒ Man cannot discover God by searching (Job 11:7).

⇒ There is no searching of God’s understanding (Is.40:28).

2. No man can grasp God's plan. No man can know the mind of the Lord; no man can be a counsellor to God. Note two significant points.

a. No man can grasp God's plan. Scripture makes this abundantly clear.

"[Jesus Christ] who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting" (1 Tim.6:16).

"Canst thou by searching find out God? Canst thou find out the Almighty unto perfection?" (Job 11:7).

"He hath made every thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the world in their heart, so that no man can find out the work that God maketh from the beginning to the end" (Eccl.3:11).

b. Believers do, however, have the mind of Christ. This does not mean that believers understand God and His ways perfectly, but it does mean that God reveals Himself and the truth to believers—enough of Himself and His ways to save them from sin, death, judgment, and hell.

"For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ" (1 Cor.2:16).

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (1 Cor.2:12).

"Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself" (Jn.7:16-17).

"Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (Jn.8:31-32).

"And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (Jn.17:3).

"We...pray for you....that ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God" (Col.1:9-10).

"Then shall we know; if we follow on to know the Lord" (Hos.6:3).

3. No man can earn God's gift. Note two facts about this verse.

a. No man can put God in debt to him. No man can give anything to God and claim that God owes him something in return. God owes man nothing. Man has rejected and rebelled against following God, choosing to go his own way. Man is committing high treason against God. Man does not deserve nor can he earn any favor from God. If man is to receive a favor from God, God has to freely give the favor.

"Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity" (Mt.7:22-23).

"Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin" (Ro.3:20).

"Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified" (Gal.2:16).

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph.2:8-9).

"But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost" (Tit.3:4-5).

b. Man's depravity should silence his boasting. It does not, but it should (see note—Ro.3:19-20. Cp. Ro.3:9-20 for discussion.)

4. God alone is the source, the means, and the end of all things. Therefore, God is to be glorified forever and ever.
 ⇒ All things are of God: all things were created by and find their source in God.
 ⇒ All things are through God: all things come through His wisdom and knowledge, His judgments and ways.
 ⇒ All things are to God: all things exist for God, for His goodness and pleasure.

"Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created" (Rev.4:11).

"Ye that fear the LORD, praise him; all ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him; and fear him, all ye the seed of Israel" (Ps.22:23).

"All thy works shall praise thee, O LORD; and thy saints shall bless thee" (Ps.145:10).

"For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's" (1 Cor.6:20).

"Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples" (Jn.15:8).

CHAPTER 12

VIII. THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

A. The Believer and God, 12:1-2

- 1 Devotion urged
- 2 Present your bodies to God<sup>DS1</sup>
  - a. As a living sacrifice, holy
  - b. The reason: Is acceptable & reasonable
- 3 Do not be conformed to this world
- 4 Be transformed
  - a. By the renewing of your mind
  - b. The reason: To prove the will of God

I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

2 And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

A. The Believer and God, 12:1-2

(12:1-2) Introduction: the believer is to be devoted to God. Everything he is and has is to be dedicated to the worship and service of God. Anything less than total devotion is short of God's glory: it is sin. Therefore, when discussing the believer's relationship to God, Scripture is strong in its exhortation. Without equivocation, Scripture urges total devotion.

1. Devotion urged (v.1).
2. Present your bodies to God (v.1).
3. Be not conformed to this world (v.2).
4. Be transformed (v.2).

1 (12:1) Dedication—Commitment: devotion is strongly urged. The word “therefore” launches a new subject for discussion. It connects what is about to be said to what has been said. What has been said is this:

- ⇒ The world desperately needs to get right with God (Ro.1:18-3:20).
- ⇒ The way for the world to get right with God is now clearly revealed through God's Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The way is justification: believing in the Lord Jesus Christ and having God count one's faith as righteousness (Ro.3:21-5:21).
- ⇒ The believer in Christ can now be sanctified, that is, set apart to God and set free from sin to life eternal by the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Holy Spirit (Ro.6:1-8:39).
- ⇒ The believer or the church, not Israel, is now God's choice to carry the gospel of His Son to the whole world (Ro.9:1-11:36).

This is the glorious message of how much God loves us and of what God has done for us. This is what is meant by “the mercies of God.” The mercies of God are overflowing; they are beyond anything any person could ever desire. Just think about what God has done for us. God has...

- met our desperate need to get right with Him.
- provided the power to be set free from the terrible bondages of this life and to live eternally.
- given the most glorious purpose to life: that of proclaiming the news of God's Son, of how to be set free from sin and death and to live eternally.

Therefore, in light of the mercies of God, of all this that God has done for us, we must devote ourselves to God. We must dedicate and commit ourselves to Him.

Note the words “I beseech you” (parakaleo)—implore you, urge you, beg you—devote yourselves to God. Note a significant point: what is about to be said is not being said to the world, that is, to the lost. It is being directed to brothers in Christ: “I beseech you therefore, brethren.” Devotion to God is strongly urged. The believer is to do the things covered in the next three points of the outline.

2 (12:1) Body—Dedication: the believer is to present his body to God. The importance of the human body cannot be overstated. The one thing upon earth that is abused more than anything else is man's body. Man abuses, neglects, and ignores his body...

- by overeating
- by becoming inactive
- by being too active
- by cursing, fighting, and killing
- by partaking of harmful substances
- by caring for the external abusing the internal
- by getting too much or too little rest

The list could go on and on, but just the mention of these few sins clearly strikes the point home. If there is an exhortation in Scripture that must be heeded by Christian believers, it is the exhortation of these two verses.

1. The believer is to present his body as a living sacrifice to God. Note three facts.
  - a. God demands the believer's body. God is not only interested in man's spirit; He is vitally interested in man's body. His interest could not be any stronger nor made any clearer. This is clearly seen by contrasting the world's view of the body with God's view (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Body—Ro.12:1 for discussion).
  - b. The believer is to present his body to God. The dedication...
    - is not to be made to self: living as one wishes; doing one's own thing.
    - is not to be made to others: living for family, wife, husband, child, parent, mistress, companion, sexual partner, or employer.
    - is not to be to something else: houses, lands, property, money, cars, possessions, profession, recreation, retirement, luxury, power, recognition, fame.

The body is to be offered to God and to God alone. God demands the body, demands that it be presented to Him. God wants the body to be sacrificially living for Him.

- c. The believer is to present his body to God as a living sacrifice. Note the believer's offering of his body is to be sacrificial. This is the picture of Old Testament believers taking animals and offering them to God as sacrifices. The believer is to make the same kind of sacrificial offering to God, but note the profound difference. The believer's offering is not to be the sacrifice of an animal's flesh and blood. The offering and sacrifice of the believer is to be his body: he is to offer his body as a living sacrifice. A living sacrifice means at least four things.
  - ⇒ A living sacrifice means a constant, continuous sacrifice, not just an occasional dedication of one's body. A person does not sacrifice his body to God today, and then take his body back into his own hands and do his own thing tomorrow. A living sacrifice means that a person dedicates his body to live for God and to keep on living for God.
  - ⇒ A living sacrifice means a sacrifice of a person's body wherever the body is. A particular place is not needed. The sacrifice of the body is a living sacrifice; it can be made while the body is living right where it is. And the offering of a living sacrifice is to be made right now while the body is living.
  - ⇒ A living sacrifice means that the body sacrifices its own desires and lives for God. The body lives a holy, righteous, pure, clean, and moral life for God. The body does not pollute, dirty, nor contaminate itself with the sins and corruptions of the world: neither the lust of the flesh, nor the lust of the eyes, nor the pride of life. The believer's body is sacrificed for God and dedicated to live as He commands.
  - ⇒ A living sacrifice means that the body lives for God by serving God. It means that the body sacrifices and gives up its own ambitions and desires, and it serves God while upon this earth. The body gives itself to the work of proclaiming the love of God and of ministering to a world reeling in desperate needs. The body sacrifices itself to serve God and Him alone. The body is dedicated to God as a living sacrifice.

In summary, the believer is to dedicate his body to God as a living sacrifice in the home, church, school, office, plant, field, restaurant, club, plane, car or bus. No matter where the believer's body is, his body is to be sacrificed for God. Sacrificing to God is not something that is transacted in a church. Sacrificing to God is transacted in every act of the human body. The world, that is, the whole universe, is the sanctuary of God; and the believer's body is the temple of God. Therefore, every act of the believer's body is to be an act of service to God.

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

2. The reasons why the believer is to present his body to God are twofold.
  - a. The dedication of the body to God is acceptable (euareston) to God. The word means well-pleasing, approving, and extremely satisfying to God. God accepts, joys, and rejoices over a body that is dedicated and living for Him.

Thought 1. This is the very thing for which believers should seek: to be acceptable and well-pleasing to God. We should seek to cause Him to joy and to rejoice in our bodies. Our bodies should be so dedicated—so pure, holy, and clean, so committed, and involved in helping people—that God's heart is just flooded with joy and rejoicing.

Thought 2. Note: the believer's body is either causing God's heart to feel pain and hurt or joy and rejoicing.

“Wherefore we labour, that whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him” (2 Cor.5:9).

- b. The dedication of the body to God is the believer's reasonable service.
  - ⇒ The word “reasonable” (logiken) means rational, intelligent, logical. It is an act of the mind thinking and figuring out what and how to do something.
  - ⇒ the word “service” (latpeian) means worship, ministry.

The idea is that the believer is to use his mind in dedicating his body to the service of God. He is to study the Scriptures, and intelligently think about how to best serve God as he walks through life day by day.

Thought 1. Note how this indicates a worship time in God's Word and in prayer every day. The believer must be constantly seeking to know what is allowed and what is not allowed for his body. The believer's body must know what it can eat, drink, and do; therefore, rational and intelligent study and decisions must be made about what to allow the body to do. (What an enormous difference from the way most of us conduct our lives and treat our bodies in this life!)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(12:1) Body: the world's view of the human body differs radically from God's view. This is clearly seen by contrasting the two views.

1. Some persons treat the body as though it is all that matters in this world. They believe the body—its physical, mental, and social development—is what life is all about. Therefore, they declare that man must take care of his body to the ultimate degree, developing and getting the most out of it. The developing process may range all the way from body-building through weight-lifting to mental apprehension through concentrated study. Some just view the body—its development, life, and contribution to society—as the very purpose for the existence of man, as the very reason lying behind the evolutionary process of man's being. (Note: this view is most often held by the humanist, the disciplined, and the stoics of society; however, there are few persons who hold to a pure view of the human body. Most persons cross this view with the next view so as to live as they choose when they choose.)

2. Other persons treat the body as though it matters little. It is reasonably or moderately important, but not of supreme importance. The supreme significance in life is the spirit of living and getting the most out of life. What a person does with the body matters little just so he takes reasonable care of it. What matters is the enjoyment and pleasure of life, the spirit of living, of really experiencing the most enjoyment possible. The attitude is “care for the body, yes, but be reasonable about its care. The body is not going to last forever, so do not let its care interfere with the enjoyment and pleasure of life. Eat, drink, and be merry—just do not kill yourself. A few hours or months taken off a person's life for over-indulging here and there do not matter that much. Do not take the fun out of life by over-stressing the body.” (Note: this view is most often held by the carnal, the undisciplined, and the Epicureans of society. However, remember the statement above: there are few persons who hold to a pure view of either position.)

3. God's view of the human body differs radically from man's view. God's view of the body is higher and more supreme than man's view. Scripture reveals several significant things about the human body.

a. When God created man, He created him in His own image (Gen.1:27). That image rested in the human body. No matter what the image is, or what a person thinks the image is, it rested in the human body. An image is only a shadow. It is like the picture on a stamp: the picture is not the person; it is only an image of the person. However, it is an image, and it is a likeness. Just what is meant by the “image” may be disputed, but the arguments do not matter. Whatever the image is...

- it was given to man by God.
- it was a part of man, of his being, of his person, of his body.

The point is this: man's body is of supreme importance to God. God gave the body the stamp of His very own image.

b. When God sent His Son into the world, He chose to send Him in a human body.

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

c. When God's Son was put to death and His body buried, God raised His body up from the grave and took His resurrected body into the spiritual world.

d. Scripture teaches that the body is the temple of the Holy Spirit, that the body actually houses the presence of God's Spirit.

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

e. Scripture teaches that the body has been created to exist eternally and that the body of man will actually be resurrected from the dust of the ground and recreated into a perfect body (1 Cor.15:1-58; 1 Th.4:14-18).

f. Scripture teaches that the body is to be cared for to the ultimate degree, being developed and disciplined to the fullest.

⇒ The ultimate degree of physical discipline.

“Neither yield ye your members [bodily parts] as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead [perfection], and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

⇒ The ultimate degree of mental discipline.

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

⇒ The ultimate degree of social discipline.

“Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Mt.22:39).

“Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them” (Mt.7:12).

g. Scripture teaches that the body is to enjoy life to the fullest.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

In summary, Scripture teaches that the human body is of supreme importance to God; therefore, man should take care of his body as well as is humanly possible. The body does not exist for this life alone; it has a far more supreme purpose than to just exist for a few years and then cease to be. The body of man has been created by God to be resurrected and to live eternally.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service” (Ro.12:1).

3 (12:2) Conformed—World—Worldliness: the believer is not to be conformed to this world.

1. The word “conformed” (sunschematizo) comes from the root word schema which means fashion, the outward form, the appearance of a man. It is the appearance of a person that changes from day to day and year to year. A man dresses differently for work than he does for an evening out. A man looks different as a young man than he does as an older man. His schema, his fashion, his outward appearance differs.

2. The word “world” (aion) in the simplest of terms means the world itself and everything in it, for it is all corruptible. The world, including the heavens and earth and all therein, is aging, deteriorating and dying; and it will pass away. The world is not perfect: not in being, order, morality, or justice.

3. The believer is not to be conformed to this world. Now note something: the world, the very fashion and appearance of the world...

- seems to be lasting, permanent, and unending.
- seems to offer the very best of everything: pleasure, enjoyment, happiness, fulfillment, satisfaction, completeness.

However, the fashion and appearance of the world is a lie, a mask, a masquerade. Even the very spirit of the world has within it the seed of corruption. The seed of corruption is seen in the acts of the world and its nature, in the terrible spirit of...

|---------------|-----------------|------------|
| • selfishness | • division      | • death    |
| • greed       | • war           | • sickness |
| • anger       | • deceitfulness | • disease  |
| • hatred      | • suffering     | • cursing  |
| • bitterness  | • conflict      | • pride    |
| • ungodliness | • ignorance     | • disorder |
| • savagery    | • deterioration | • decay    |

Note two significant facts, facts that desperately need to be heeded by the world as well as by believers.

a. The world itself and everything in it shall pass away.

“The fashion of this world passeth away” (1 Cor.7:31).

“While we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal” (2 Cor.4:18).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:10-14; cp. v.3-14).

“And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:17).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea” (Rev.21:1).

“The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languisheth and fadeth away, the haughty people of the earth do languish” (Is.24:4).

“And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment” (Heb.9:27).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“Now my days are swifter than a post: they flee away, they see no good” (Job 9:25).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again” (Ps.78:39).

“Of old hast thou laid the foundation of the earth: and the heavens are the work of thy hands. They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: yea, all of them shall wax old like a garment; as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed” (Ps.102:25-26).

“For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust” (Ps.103:14).

“As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:15-16).

“Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?” (Is.2:22).

“The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field: the grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the LORD bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass” (Is.40:6-7).

“But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away” (Is.64:6).

- b. The believer is not to conform, that is, fashion himself after the world...
- not to follow the fellowship of the world.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God” (Jas.4:4).

“And Simeon blessed them, and said unto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is set for the fall and rising again of many in Israel; and for a sign which shall be spoken against” (Lk.2:34).

- not to follow the fashion and lusts of the world.

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

“As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance” (1 Pt.1:14).

- not to follow the course of this world.

“Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience” (Eph.2:2).

- not to follow the god of this world, Satan.

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

- not to follow the leaders of this world.

“Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought: but we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory: which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory” (1 Cor.2:6-8).

- not to follow the false security of the world.

“For as in the days that were before the flood they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and knew not until the flood came, and took them all away; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be” (Mt.24:38-39).

“For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night. For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape” (1 Th.5:2-3).

- not to follow after the deceitful riches of this world.

“He also that received seed among the thorns is he that heareth the word; and the care of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, choke the word, and he become unfruitful” (Mt.13:22).

- not to live in pleasure on earth.

“Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter” (Jas.5:5).

- not to follow the crowd of the world.

“Thou shalt not follow a multitude to do evil” (Ex.23:2).

4 (12:2) Transformed—Mind: the believer is to be transformed (metamorphousthe). The Greek root of the word is morphe. Morphe means the real being of a man. It is the very nature and essence, the inseparable part, the unchanging shape of a man. The man in evening clothes looks different than he does in work clothes, but he is still the same man inwardly. The elderly man is the same man inwardly that he was as a young man.

What the Bible is saying is clearly evident: the believer must undergo a radical change within his inner being in order to escape the world and its doom. The believer must be transformed and changed inwardly. His real self—his very nature, essence, personality, inner being, his inner man—must be changed.

1. How is a man transformed within his inner person? The Bible declares as simply as can be stated, “by the renewing of your mind.” The believer’s mind is to be renewed (anakainosis), which means to be made new, readjusted, changed, turned around, regenerated.

- a. The mind of man has been affected by sin. It desperately needs to be renewed. The mind is far from perfect. It is basically worldly, that is...
  - selfish
  - self-centered
  - self-seeking
  - centered on this world
  - centered on the flesh
  - centered on this life

Scripture is clear about the corruption of man’s mind. The human mind has been tragically corrupted by man’s selfishness and sin.

⇒ Man’s mind has become vain, empty, and futile in its imaginations.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened” (Ro.1:21).

⇒ Man’s mind has become reprobate.

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient” (Ro.1:28).

⇒ Man’s mind has become carnal and full of enmity against God.

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:7).

⇒ Man’s mind has become blinded by Satan lest it believe the glorious gospel of Christ.

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

⇒ Man’s mind has become full of vanity, futility, emptiness.

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of the mind” (Eph.4:17).

⇒ Man’s mind has become focused upon earthly things.

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

⇒ Man’s mind has become alienated from God and an enemy to God.

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled” (Col.1:21).

⇒ Man’s mind has become fleshly.

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind” (Col.2:18).

⇒ Man’s mind has become defiled.

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

b. The mind is renewed by the presence and the image of Christ in the life of the believer. When a person receives the Lord Jesus Christ as His Lord, the man is spiritually...

- born again (Jn.3:3-8; 1 Pt.1:23).
- made into a new man (Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).
- made into a new creature (2 Cor.5:17).
- given the mind of Christ (1 Cor.2:16; cp. v.9-15).
- changed into the image of Christ (2 Cor.3:18; cp. Ro.8:29; 1 Cor.15:49; Col.3:10; 1 Jn.3:2).

What this means is a most wonderful truth, and it is easily seen. When a person receives Jesus Christ into his life, he receives the mind and the image of Christ as well. Christ places His mind into the believer’s mind; that is, Christ changes the believer’s mind to focus upon God. In addition, He stamps His image upon the person. Whereas the believer’s mind and image used to be centered upon the world, they are now centered upon spiritual matters. The believer’s mind and image are renewed, changed, turned around, and regenerated to focus upon God. However, it is critical to remember that only Christ can renew the human mind and image. Only Christ can implant the mind and image of Christ within a person. Only Christ can give His thoughts and the spirit to live out His thoughts to a person.

c. The believer is to live a transformed life; that is, he is to walk day by day renewing his mind more and more. He is to allow the Spirit of Christ (the Holy Spirit) to focus his mind more and more upon God and spiritual things.

⇒ The believer is to love the Lord with all his mind.

“Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind” (Mt.22:37).

⇒ The believer is to keep his mind upon spiritual things, not carnal things.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

⇒ The believer is to cast down imaginations and every thought that interrupts his knowledge of God and to captivate every thought for Christ.

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

⇒ The believer is not to let his mind be corrupted.

“But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ” (2 Cor.11:3).

⇒ The believer is not to fulfill the desires of the flesh and of the mind.

“Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

⇒ The believer is not to walk as the world walks, in the vanity of their mind.

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

⇒ The believer is to be renewed in the spirit of his mind.

“And be renewed in the spirit of your mind” (Eph.4:23).

⇒ The believer is to let the mind of Christ be in him by walking humbly before God and men.

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:5).

⇒ The believer is to think only upon the things of praise and virtue.

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

⇒ The believer is to live by the laws of God which God has put into his mind.

“For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people” (Heb.8:10).

⇒ The believer is to arm himself with the same mind as Christ in bearing suffering.

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin” (1 Pt.4:1).

2. The reason why the believer is to be transformed is extremely significant. The believer must prove (dokimazo) the will of God. The word “prove” means both to find and to follow God’s will. This is certainly understandable. If a person’s mind is not renewed and focused upon God...

- how can the person ever find or discover or know the will of God?
- how can the person ever follow or obey or do the will of God?

The only conceivable way a person can ever find and follow God’s will is to focus and keep his mind upon God and upon the things of God.

Note also how the will of God is described. Meditating upon the threefold description stirs a person to crave after God’s will. God’s will is said to be...

- good (agathon): beneficial, rich, bountiful, suitable, moral.
- acceptable (euareston): pleasing, satisfactory, welcomed.
- perfect (teleion): without error or mistake, flawless, complete, absolute, free from any need, short of nothing, completely fulfilled.

In summary, victory over the world is gained by the believer renewing his mind more and more. The believer must focus his mind upon God and the things of God. He must...

- focus His mind upon living and moving and having his being in God.
- learn to concentrate upon God and the things of God.
- mentally practice the presence of God.

Very practically, the believer must do exactly what Scripture says. Note the clarity and life-changing instructions in these passages. What an enormous impact is made upon lives when they actually follow the Word of God in these instructions!

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“Attend upon the Lord without distraction” (1 Cor.7:35).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

“For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:6).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

B. The Believer and Himself, 12:3-8

(12:3-8) Introduction: after looking at the subject of the believer and God, the believer needs to look at the subject of himself. He needs to see what the exhortation of God is to him personally. God directs two forceful charges to the believer personally.

1. Think highly of oneself, but not too highly (v.3-5).
2. Use the gifts God has given (v.6-8).

1 (12:3-5) Humility—Gifts, Spiritual—Church—Body of Christ: the believer is to think of himself, but not too highly. The exhortation is directed to “every man that is among you.” Every believer needs to work at humility. There is a tendency within many persons to think too highly of themselves. Too many become conceited, prideful, and arrogant. They become puffed up with their own...

There are too many who esteem themselves too highly and who think of themselves as better than others. God stands against such puffed up attitudes.

1. Think of yourself, but think soberly (sophronein). The word means to be balanced, sane, in one’s right mind. Therefore, the exhortation is to think of oneself wisely and accurately, making a sane and well-balanced evaluation of one’s person and abilities. An evaluation of oneself should be made, but it should be a sober and sane judgment, not an insane, imbalanced judgment. Note how strong this is: thinking too highly of oneself is an insane thought. Thinking that one is more important than someone else is insane behavior. Every person is important to God; every person is meaningful and significant to God’s kingdom, no matter who the person is.

2. The reasons why we are to walk humbly before others are clearly spelled out.
  - a. What we are and have has come from God. It is God who has “dealt to every man the measure of faith.” The word “faith” in the context of these verses means a working faith. It includes both...
    - the gifts and abilities God gives to a person.
    - the faith and drive or confidence to use the gifts.

Very simply, a working faith is the ability and drive within a person to get to it and to serve God, to make his contribution to life and society. Another way to say the same thing is this: the measure of faith (v.3) and the proportion of faith (v.6) mean the spiritual gift and power which God gives to each believer for his special task on earth. Very simply, everything a person is and has comes from God. Nothing comes from man himself. Therefore, no person has reason to think too highly of himself.

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

Note another fact as well: what we have received from God is only a measure. No person has a full measure of anything. No person is perfect in any area. We all age, deteriorate, and decay. We all have to move aside eventually for others, no matter what our abilities and contributions. We have no reason to think too highly of ourselves.

“But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ” (Eph.4:7).

- b. God gifts every person, not just one person nor just a few persons. Note that God deals to every man a measure of faith. No person or persons have a monopoly on any gift or ability. Every single believer has been gifted by God; not a single believer has been omitted by God. One believer is as important to God as any other believer, no matter who the believer may be. There is no room for pride and arrogance in the Kingdom of God, no place for thinking that one is more important than others. Such thoughts are insane.
- c. Genuine believers are one body in Christ. This is the most beautiful picture of the body of Christ in Scripture, and because of its effectiveness it is often used (cp. 1 Cor.10:17; 12:12f; 12:27; Eph.1:22-23; 2:16; 4:4, 15-16; 5:22f; Col.1:18, 24).

Believers can be compared to the human body. The human body has many parts or members, and no two members have the same function. So it is with believers. Believers are many, yet they are one body in Christ. Every single believer has a distinct function to fulfill in the world, yet he is a member of all other believers. It should be noted that the believer's union is not organizational. It is not the same kind of unity that exists in a civic or social club, which is a unity based upon such things as friendship, preference, neighborhood, profession, human need, opinion, or organization. The union between genuine believers is born of the Spirit of God, of a true spiritual birth and union. It is a union that is in constant and intimate fellowship with God and that draws its life and purpose and meaning and significance from God. The union between genuine believers is a union that is quicken and made alive by a common Spirit, a Spirit that truly lives, the Holy Spirit of God Himself.

The point is clearly stated: all members do not have the same office (praxis) or function. God has set the believer in the world for a specific purpose, and God has gifted the believer with whatever measure of faith is needed to fulfill his function. The believer is a member or a part of the whole body, with each member having his task to perform. There is no room for self-elevation, pride, or arrogance—no room for thinking too highly of oneself. The believer does not stand alone in the world. Every believer has a measure of faith to do his task, and every member is needed to get the task done. Therefore, no believer has the right to think of himself more highly than any other believer. Every single believer is important to the body of Christ. Every believer is needed to complete, fulfill, and perfect the body. The body becomes handicapped without the active functioning of every member. Every member is very important.

The point is this: believers are to evaluate and know themselves well. They are to know who they are and the gifts which God has given them. They are to evaluate the measure of faith God has given and they are to be honest and accurate in their evaluation. They are not to over-evaluate nor to under-evaluate. A believer's judgment about himself must be accurate and wise in order to accomplish his task upon earth.

Thought 1. Only as we know ourselves—accurately, honestly, and truthfully—can we make the contribution we should to our families, jobs, society, church, and the world. Only as we serve to our full capacity can we fulfill our task on earth.

⇒ If we think too highly of ourselves, we attempt too much and end up failing.

⇒ If we think too little of ourselves, we never do as much as we could nor make the contributions that we could have made.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee” (Lk.14:10).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

“By humility and the fear of the LORD are riches, and honor, and life” (Pr.22:4).

“A man's pride shall bring him low: but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit” (Pr.29:23).

Thought 2. God gifts the believer with a certain measure of spiritual gifts; therefore, the believer is to use whatever measure of faith he has to use his gifts for God. However, the believer should always be praying for more and more faith.

“Lord, increase our faith” (Lk.17:5).

“Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief” (Mk.9:24).

“So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Ro.10:17).

2 (12:6-8) Gifts, Spiritual: the believer is to use the gifts God has given him. The word “gift” (charisma) means the very special ability given to the believer by God. Note that the gift is from God; it is not a natural talent. The believer could not have attained nor secured the ability himself. It is a spiritual gift; that is, it is given by the Spirit of God for spiritual purposes. It is given to the believer so that he can fulfill his task on earth.

Note also that the gifts are said to be given “according to the grace that is given to us.” This means that the gifts are given after we come to know the grace of God. This is part of our heritage in Christ, the glorious privilege...

- of being given a very special task upon earth.
- of being given purpose, meaning, and significance in life.
- of being given a very special gift or gifts to fulfill our task on earth.

Now, what are the gifts? Several are singled out in this passage. (See outline and notes—1 Cor.12:4-11; 12:12-31; 13:1-13; Eph.4:7-16 for more discussion.)

1. There is the gift of prophecy. In the Old Testament the gift of prophecy was the gift to proclaim and explain the will of God. The proclamation dealt with past, present, and future events. However, in the New Testament, the gift of prophecy changes dramatically. The prophet is seldom seen predicting the future. Instead, he is seen proclaiming what has taken place in the Lord Jesus Christ and what has been revealed by Christ concerning future events. His function is to edify, exhort, and comfort. The Scripture is clear about this.

“He that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification and exhortation and comfort”
(1 Cor.14:3).

The prophet is the man who proclaims and explains the Word of God...

- the living Word, the Lord Jesus Christ Himself.
- the written Word, the Holy Scripture.

Having said this, it should be noted that prophecy is the gift of speaking under the inspiration of God’s Spirit. It includes both prediction and proclamation, and neither one should be minimized despite the abuse of the gift.

There is no question, the gift to predict events has been abused to the point of the ridiculous. However, the abuse of a gift does not eliminate the gift: the Spirit of God does sometimes give believers a glimpse into coming events in order to prepare and strengthen them to face the events.

However, the major function of prophecy is clearly stated by Scripture, and the fact should be learned by all believers:

“He that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification and exhortation and comfort”
(1 Cor.14:3).

Thought 1. Note a crucial point. A prophet of the Lord Jesus Christ must first know Jesus Christ before he can proclaim the good news about Jesus Christ. How can a man tell the world about Someone when he does not know the person himself?

2. There is the gift of ministry (diakonia). The word is often used of a servant or of a person who serves and ministers to others in the most practical ways. Therefore, the meaning would be the very special ability to serve, minister, aid, help and assist others—to assist them in such a way that they are built up and truly helped. It is the most practical of gifts. Most of us know a few people who are always willing and who are unusually gifted to help others when help is needed. All of us can help, and all of us can develop our willingness and ability to help, but there are some believers who are unusually gifted with the very special gift of ministry.

“And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward” (Mt.10:42).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:5-7).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

3. There is the gift of teaching (didaskon). Teaching is the ability to explain, root, and ground people in the truth. The Word of God not only needs to be proclaimed by the prophet, but it must also be explained by the teacher. People must be guided and rooted in all the truths of the Word day by day, week by week, and year by year. This is the teacher’s task.

Thought 1. How desperately the church needs good, solid teaching. People are walking out the back door of the church almost as fast as they are coming in the front door, all because they are not rooted and grounded in Christ.

“And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healing, helps, governments, diversities of tongues” (1 Cor.12:28).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers” (Eph.4:11).

“Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:20).

4. There is the gift of exhortation (parakalesei). This is the very special ability to excite, motivate, advise, encourage, comfort, and warn people. The dominant factor would be the motivation and encouragement of people, the ability to stir people to make a decision for Christ and to grow in Him. It is the gift that arouses people to get up and get busy fulfilling their task for the Lord.

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:9).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:11-15).

5. There is the gift of giving (metadidomi). This simply means the giving of one's earthly possessions such as money, clothing, and food. Note that in listing this particular gift, Scripture adds a point: it tells how the person is to give. He is to give with “simplicity” (haplotetes). The word has several ideas. It means...

- to give with sincerity and in simplicity.
- to give with singleness of heart and without show.
- to give liberally and generously.

The point is this: God gives some persons the special gift to make money in order to have plenty to help others and to spread the gospel around the world. These persons...

- must give and give generously. God gave them the gift of making money in order to have enough to fulfill the will of God for the world. Therefore, they must give liberally.
- must not hoard and bank and misuse their gift of wealth.
- must not give grudgingly and complainingly about having to give.
- must not give to attract attention or to heap honor upon themselves.
- must not give to boost their own egos and pride.

“Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come” (1 Cor.16:2).

“Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver” (2 Cor.9:7).

6. There is the gift of ruling (proistemi). This means the ability of leadership, authority, administration, government. Note that this person is to lead with diligence (spoude): with haste, zeal, desire, and concentrated attention. There is no room for laziness, complacency, and irresponsibility in the Kingdom of God and His church. The leaders are the ones who are to blaze the path for the flock of God, and they are to do it with zeal, hard work, and iron determination.

“Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock” (1 Pt.5:2-3).

7. There is the gift of mercy (eleon). This is a person who is full of forgiveness and compassion, pity and kindness toward others. Note that the merciful person is to show mercy with a cheerful (hilarotes) heart. The word means kind, cheerful, joyful. The person with the gift of mercy...

- is not to forgive grudgingly.
- is not to hesitate in forgiving others.
- is not to show mercy in an annoyed spirit.
- is not to show mercy in a spirit of criticism and rebuke toward the person who needs help. (This often happens when the person is down and out because of unemployment, lack of education, or some other unfortunate circumstance.)

The believer who has the spirit of mercy is to show mercy with a cheerful and joyful heart, doing all he can to lift up the person needing mercy.

“Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy” (Mt.5:7).

“Be ye therefore merciful, as your Father also is merciful” (Lk.6:36).

“Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually” (Hos.12:6).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

C. The Believer and Other Believers, 12:9-13

(12:9-13) Introduction: How should the believer relate to other believers? How should he treat believers and behave toward them? This subject is of vital concern to Christ.

1. Love sincerely—without hypocrisy (v.9-10).
2. Serve the Lord (v.11).
3. Conquer trials (v.12).
4. Meet needs unselfishly (v.13).

1 (12:9-10) Brotherhood—Love: the believer is to love sincerely without hypocrisy. The word “dissimulation” (anupokritos) means without hypocrisy, without play-acting. It means that a person does not just say “I love you,” but he actually loves. He sincerely loves; he honestly and truthfully loves. The love being spoken about is love for all men and not only for believers. The believer must never pretend, be hypocritical, play-act, or have an ulterior motive when dealing with others. He must show love and respect, interest and attention, care and concern; but he must not show it from an impure motive:

- |                        |                        |                  |
|------------------------|------------------------|------------------|
| ⇒ to seek gain         | ⇒ to gain attention    | ⇒ to court favor |
| ⇒ to gain an advantage | ⇒ to fulfill a duty    | ⇒ to boost self  |
| ⇒ to gain position     | ⇒ to push self forward |                  |

The believer must love others with a pure and sincere love, being completely free of selfish motives. He must love others for themselves because they are fellow human beings who have the same emotional and spiritual needs which he has, needs which can only find their fulfillment in Christ. He must love them because God loves them and because they desperately need to know that Jesus Christ has come to earth to reveal God’s love to all men. The believer’s dealings with all men must be in love: a sincere love, a love without hypocrisy and double-dealing.

“Giving no offence in anything...by love unfeigned [genuine]” (2 Cor.6:3, 6).

“Prove the sincerity of your love” (2 Cor.8:8).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:18).

There are four very practical ways the believer is to demonstrate his love for other men. Remember that the love being commanded is love for all men, for the lost as well as for other believers.

1. The believer is to love by hating evil. The word “abhor” (apostugountes) is strong, very strong. It means to hate with intense feeling, to loathe, to look upon with horror. Love desires the very best for people; therefore, love hates evil, for evil destroys human life. The believer stands against evil, doing all he can to fight...

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• hunger and poverty</li> <li>• hurt and pain</li> <li>• drunkenness and drugs</li> <li>• cursing and bitterness</li> <li>• suggestive and enticing dress</li> <li>• unjust and improper</li> <li>• hoarding and divisiveness</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• disease and suffering</li> <li>• ignorance and godless education</li> <li>• family divisiveness and divorce</li> <li>• off-colored and dirty talk</li> <li>• immorality and destructive sex</li> <li>• selfishness and greed</li> <li>• corruption and death</li> </ul> |
|---|--|

The list could go on and on. The point is that the believer must love, and he shows his love by hating and fighting against that which is evil.

“Abhor that which is evil” (Ro.12:9).

“Now these things were our examples, to the intent we should not lust after evil things, as they also lusted” (1 Cor.10:6).

“Abstain from all appearance of evil” (1 Th.5:22).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“Let him eschew [turn away from] evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it” (1 Pt.3:11).

“And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the LORD, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding” (Job 28:28).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

“Ye that love the LORD, hate evil” (Ps.97:10).

“Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy foot from evil” (Pr.4:27).

“A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil: but the fool rageth, and is confident” (Pr.14:16).

“Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, Execute true judgment, and show mercy and compassions every man to his brother: and oppress not the widow, nor the fatherless, the stranger, nor the poor; and let none of you imagine evil against his brother in your heart” (Zech.7:9-10).

2. The believer is to love by cleaving to that which is good. The word “cleave” (kollomenoi) means to join or fasten together, to attach, to cement or glue together. The believer is to desire only the very best—all the good possible—for people. He is to cleave to the good and to work for everyone to know and experience the good. The believer shows that he truly loves people by holding fast and working for the good.

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“Cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate” (1 Tim.6:18).

“But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“For so is the will of God, that with well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of foolish men” (1 Pt.2:15).

3. The believer is to love by loving his brothers in Christ, by being kind and affectionate toward them. The word “affectionate” (philostorgoi) means the love existing between family members. This charge is dealing with the Christian family, the brothers and sisters within the church. We are to love each other by being kind and affectionate. We are a family of children who have actually been adopted by God as His sons and daughters (2 Cor.6:17-18; Gal.4:4-6; Ro.8:16-17). Therefore, the believer is to live as a family member with his brothers and sisters; he is to live being both kind and affectionate. Note: there is no dissension or divisiveness in love. The church is to live in love, and living in love is peace.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love” (Ro.12:10).

“Charity suffereth long, and is kind” (1 Cor.13:4).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind” (Ph.2:1-2).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity” (2 Pt.1:5-7).

“We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death” (1 Jn.3:14).

4. The believer is to love by giving preference to other believers. The word “honor” (time) means to reverence, respect, esteem. The word “preferring” (proegoumenoi) means to go before, to lead, to set an example. The charge is clear: the believer is to take the lead in esteeming and expressing respect for others. Imagine a church full of believers with each taking the lead in esteeming and honoring the other. What a picture of true love and care, of real warmth and tenderness, of great strength and manliness.

Thought 1. How needed this exhortation is in the church and among believers! How many are hurt—how many have launched out to stir up trouble—how much divisiveness has been caused because a brother or sister was...

- overlooked
- not honored
- not esteemed
- not thanked
- not recognized
- not given a position
- not given a right
- not given a place
- not shown appreciation

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved” (1 Cor.10:33).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth [welfare, profit, advantage]” (1 Cor.10:24).

2 (12:11) Service—Ministry: the believer is to serve the Lord. The charge is twofold.

1. Do not lag in zeal; do not be slothful in business. The word “slothful” (okneros) means to be lazy, slow-moving, sluggish, lethargic, complacent, hesitating, delaying. The word “business” (spoude) means diligence, zeal, earnestness. The exhortation is clear: the believer must...

- not be lazy or slow-moving in zeal.
- not be sluggish or lethargic in diligence.
- not be hesitating or delaying in earnestness.

The believer just cannot approach life in a lackadaisical, easy-going, slow-moving fashion. The world is reeling in pain, with millions starving and suffering due to man’s selfishness and sin, hoarding, disease, war, death—and the list could go on and on. The believer must not give in to sluggishness and complacency. He must serve the Lord with all diligence, zeal, and earnestness. He must be enthusiastic in his service.

“Not slothful in business” (Ro.12:11).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat. For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but are busybodies. Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread” (2 Th.3:10-12).

“That ye be not slothful, but followers of them who through faith and patience inherit the promises” (Heb.6:12).

“In all labor there is profit: but the talk of the lips tendeth only to penury” (Pr.14:23).

“Slothfulness casteth into a deep sleep; and an idle soul shall suffer hunger” (Pr.19:15).

“Love not sleep, lest thou come to poverty: Open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread” (Pr.20:13).

“Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest” (Eccl.9:10).

2. Be fervent in spirit. The word “fervent” (zeo) means to be hot, to boil, to set aflame. The believer’s spirit is to be hot, that is, boiling and flaming for Christ. The believer must have a holy zeal for Christ. He must be aflame in his service for Christ. Why? The world is reeling under the weight of desperate need and dying without Christ and being doomed to an eternity separated from God.

“Fervent in spirit” (Ro.12:11).

“Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church” (1 Cor.14:12).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing. For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat” (Heb.5:11-12).

“Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall” (2 Pt.1:10).

“Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance” (2 Pt.1:13).

“Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless” (2 Pt.3:14).

3. Serve the Lord. The idea is that we are to be focusing upon the Lord in all we do. It is Him whom we serve. We live in order to serve Him; that is, our very purpose for being on earth is to minister for Him and His kingdom.

“Serving the Lord” (Ro.12:11).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“Servants [employees], be obedient to them that are your masters [employers] according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:5-7).

“And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ’s sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong” (2 Cor.12:9-10).

“And now, Israel, what doth the LORD thy God require of thee, but to fear the LORD thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul” (Dt.10:12).

“Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

3 (12:12) Trials—Hope—Prayer: the believer is to conquer trials. While on earth the believer will face problems, difficulties, troubles, trials, tests, tribulations, traumas, ordeals, sufferings, and pain. Nevertheless, the believer has an overcoming resource. He can conquer the trials of life by doing three critical things.

1. The believer is to rejoice in hope. His hope is God—God’s presence, concern, and care. The believer knows that God will do one of two things: either remove the trial or deliver him through the trial. The believer knows he does not have to face trials alone, that no situation is hopeless. The believer is the eternal optimist: his hope is in the eternal God. Therefore, he not only hopes in the delivering power of God, he joys and rejoices in the hope God has given him.

“Rejoicing in hope” (Ro.12:12).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Wherein [in your salvation] ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ: whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory: receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls” (1 Pt.1:6-9).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

“As sorrowful, yet alway rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things” (2 Cor.6:10).

“For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance” (Heb.10:34; cp. Acts 5:41; 16:23-25).

2. The believer is to endure trials. The word “patient” (hupomenontes) means to endure, remain, persevere, abide, bear up bravely. The believer actually experiences a surge of fortitude from Christ when trials confront him.

“Patient in tribulation” (Ro.12:12).

“I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me” (Ph.4:13).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“Fear thou not; For I am with thee: be not dismayed; for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness” (Is.41:10).

3. The believer is to continue in prayer. The phrase “continuing instant” (proskartereo) means to give constant attention to; to be devoted and attentive to; to give unceasing care to; to wait steadfastly upon, to persevere. Very simply, the believer overcomes trials by giving constant attention to God and waiting upon His delivering power. The believer stays in constant communion with his Lord, depending upon Him to supply the strength to walk through the trials of daily living.

“Continuing instant in prayer” (Ro.12:12).

“Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened” (Mt.7:7-8; cp. v.9-11).

“Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak” (Mt.26:41).

“And he spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint” (Lk.18:1).

“Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full” (Jn.16:24).

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

“Seek the Lord and his strength, seek his face continually” (1 Chron.16:11).

4 (12:13) Stewardship—Ministry: the believer is to meet the needs of people unselfishly. Two very simple demands are made of believers.

1. The believer is to give generously, to share with those in need. He is to “distribute” (koinoneo), that is, to give and share in order to meet their needs.

“Distributing to the necessity of saints” (Ro.12:13).

“But now I go unto Jerusalem to minister unto the saints. For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor saints which are at Jerusalem. It hath pleased them verily; and their debtors they are. For if the Gentiles have been made partakers of their spiritual things, their duty is also to minister unto them in carnal things” (Ro.15:25-27).

“I commend unto you Phebe our sister, which is a servant of the church which is at Cenchrea: that ye receive her in the Lord, as becometh saints, and that ye assist her in whatsoever business she hath need of you: for she hath been a succourer of many, and of myself also” (Ro.16:1-2).

“Neither was there any among them that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses sold them, and brought the prices of the things that were sold, and laid them down at the apostles’ feet: and distribution was made unto every man according as he had need” (Acts 4:34-35).

“The disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judaea: which also they did, and sent it to the elders by the hands of Barnabas and Saul” (Acts 11:29-30).

“Moreover, brethren, we do you to wit of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia; how that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality. For to their power, I bear record, yea, and beyond their power they were willing of themselves; praying us with much intreaty that we would receive the gift, and take upon us the fellowship of the ministering to the saints” (2 Cor.8:1-4).

“For as touching the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you: for I know the forwardness of your mind, for which I boast of you to them of Macedonia, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal hath provoked very many” (2 Cor.9:1-2).

2. The believer is to be given to hospitality. He is to open the door of his home to believers who are in need.
⇒ The bishop or minister must be given to hospitality.

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

⇒ All believers must open their door—even to strangers in need.

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels un-awares” (Heb.13:2).

⇒ All believers must use hospitality as a means to minister and use it without grumbling.

“Given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9)

⇒ Widows in particular are to use hospitality as a means to minister.

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

DIVISION VIII

D. The Believer and Unbelievers, 12:14-21

(12:14-21) Introduction: the believer is expected to conduct himself in the most noble fashion when dealing with the world of unbelievers. God expects His follower to control himself and to gain complete victory over his flesh. He expects the believer to give a strong testimony to the love of God, to demonstrate the love and forgiveness of God for all men.

1. Bless those who persecute you (v.14).
2. Show genuine interest in the experiences of men (v.15).
3. Seek harmony and associate with the lowly (v.16).
4. Live above reproach (v.17).
5. Live at peace with all (v.18).
6. Give no place to revenge (v.19-21).

1 (12:14) Persecution: the believer is to bless those who persecute him. The word “bless” (eulogeo) means to speak well of. Therefore, the believer is charged to do something that could be most difficult: to speak well of those who persecute him. Picture how difficult this is when you are verbally or physically attacked: mistreated, insulted, by-passed, overlooked, slandered, cursed, abused, injured. You are to bless the person who attacks you; you are to bless your persecutor whether he is your...

- next door neighbor
- family member
- fellow worker
- classmate
- employee
- employer
- friend
- fellow committee member
- fellow church member

What does it mean to bless and to speak well of?

1. It means to speak well to our persecutors. We do not react against them by cursing, speaking harshly, or striking out at them. We do not try to hurt them either verbally or physically. On the contrary, we seek to find something that is commendable about them and we commend them for it.

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:31-32).

2. It means to speak well about our persecutors. When speaking to others, we do not down the persecutor, but we mention some commendable trait. We praise some “good thing” about the person; we do not tear him down.
3. It means to pray for our persecutors. We must do as Jesus said and did.

“But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you” (Mt.5:44).

“Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots” (Lk.23:34).

Thought 1. Think of the impact upon persecutors when an attitude of love and blessing is demonstrated toward them. Every persecutor is not won to Christ, but every persecutor does have a strong witness, a strong witness that can be used by the Holy Spirit in the persecutor’s quiet and thoughtful moments. And some persecutors are won to Christ. This is what God is after.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

4. It means to do good to our persecutors.

“But I say unto you which hear, Love your enemies, do good to them which hate you” (Lk.6:27).

“But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest: for he is kind unto the unthankful and to the evil” (Lk.6:35).

“Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head” (Ro.12:20).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

“If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lying under his burden, and wouldest forbear to help him, thou shalt surely help with him” (Ex.23:5).

“If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink” (Pr.25:21).

2 (12:15) Service: the believer is to show genuine interest in the experiences of men. Two particular acts are mentioned.

1. We are to rejoice with them that rejoice. This does not mean that we are to participate in what the world calls its joyful moments and affairs, that is, in the partying affairs of the world. Far from it, God calls the believer to separation (2 Cor.6:17-18). What it means is that we are to rejoice with our neighbors, friends, and acquaintances when something good happens to them. We are to join them in their moment of joy:

- a new baby
- some achievement
- some promotion
- some new purchase
- some recognition
- some honor

Whatever the moment of joy is, we are to rejoice with them. However, this charge is not as easy as it sounds on the surface, for it often goes against the grain of human nature. Too often it is human nature...

- to envy a person's success.
- to feel disappointment.
- to act indifferent.

Sometimes we have a difficult time in rejoicing over another person's success. This is the reason for this charge to the believer. The believer is to feel and act differently than the world. The believer is to conquer his nature: he is to feel joy over the success of others and to show his joy by congratulating and joining them in their moment of joy.

Thought 1. Note that this is the very behavior of God. God rejoices in the prosperity of His people.

“Let them shout for joy, and be glad, that favour my righteous cause: yea, let them say continually, Let the LORD be magnified, which hath pleasure in the prosperity of his servant” (Ps.35:27).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:12).

2. We are to weep with them that weep. This, of course, refers to our friends and fellow men who are facing some trial or loss, some moment of suffering. It may be some personal pain, business loss, some family hurt, sorrow, or suffering. No matter what it is that causes the weeping, the Christian believer is to draw near the person and feel with him. The noteworthy trait of the believer is empathy, the fact that he is touched by the infirmities of men.

Thought 1. Note that this, too, is a trait of God.

“In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of old” (Is.63:9).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need” (Heb.4:15-16).

“I have showed you all things how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body” (Heb.13:3).

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world” (Jas.1:27).

“Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him; and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh?” (Is.58:7).

3 (12:16) Unity—Brotherhood: the believer is to seek harmony and to associate with the lowly. Three very specific instructions are given.

1. The believer is to “be of the same mind” toward others. This refers primarily to our attitude and behavior toward others and their lot in life. The believer is to strive to get into the very mind of other men and to understand them. He is to strive to understand their lives:

- ⇒ their person and being
- ⇒ their lot and condition in life
- ⇒ their status and position
- ⇒ their needs and feelings

The believer is to understand the other person to such a degree that he can completely identify and feel with the person. It is to be said that the believer is “of the same mind” as the other person. Just think of the enormous impact such love and empathy would have upon the world in bringing peace and unity and in meeting the desperate needs of so many. How can the believer demonstrate such love and empathy? The next two points clearly answer the question.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

2. The believer is not to mind high things, but to condescend to men of low estate. “High things” refers to seeking the things of preeminence, honor, prestige, and recognition. It means keeping one’s mind upon...

- high society
- high positions
- affluence

The believer is not to be snobbish, not to allow his mind to roam around in the high things of this world. On the contrary, he is to condescend to men of low estate. He is to look upon the poor and lowly and to give his life to meeting their needs. The believer is not to be above the lowly of this world. He is not to neglect, ignore, separate, criticize, or despise the lowly. He is to condescend and give himself to walking among them and helping them. He is to be friendly and kind, loving and gracious in helping to meet the needs of a desperate world.

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“My brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons. For if there come unto your assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment; and ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool: are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?” (Jas.2:1-4).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

3. The believer is not to be wise in his own conceits. He is not to have too high an opinion of himself, as though he is above and better than the lowly. Of course, many do feel above and better than others, and they choose the most foolish of things to give them superior feelings, for example, clothes.

What is it that makes people conceited, that makes them feel above or better than others? While we stir our thoughts, just note how weak and shabby these things are (and yet people base their lives upon such weak things). People feel above and better than others because of...

- |                |               |          |
|----------------|---------------|----------|
| • clothes      | • cars        | • school |
| • social group | • job         | • honor  |
| • position     | • recognition | • wealth |

The list could go on and on, but note how weak a foundation each of these provides to human life. Not just any one of them, but all of them could disappear or collapse overnight. The believer is not to walk through life as a conceited fool, thinking himself above and better than other persons. He is to walk humbly, knowing that he is a man just like all other men. He is of inestimable value, yes, but of no more value than any other man—even those who have little of this world's vanishing possessions.

Note another fact that needs to be considered. The pride of intellect or fancied superiority is probably the worst pride there is. It is more insidious and more injurious than any other pride. It leads to a contempt of the opinions of others and an extreme reliance on self (Col.1:18; 3 Jn.9).

The attitude which the gospel requires is that of a little child: simple, trusting, and humble (Pr.3:7; Is.5:21; Ro.11:25).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the LORD, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

4 (12:17) Believer, Life and Walk: the believer is to live above reproach in the sight of all men. Two behaviors in particular are mentioned.

1. The believer is not to react; he is not to return evil for evil to anyone. In the world and in the course of behavior between men, everyone is mistreated and reacted against at one time or another. Therefore, the believer suffers evil and mistreatment just as everyone else does—just in the course of behavior as a man. However, the genuine believer also suffers evil and mistreatment because he is a follower of Jesus Christ. As a follower of Christ...

- the believer is living a life of righteousness and purity, honesty and truthfulness; and such behavior is often opposed by the world. Therefore, the worldly person often opposes and abuses the believer.
- the believer is bearing testimony to the corruption of the world and to man's need to escape the corruption by turning to Jesus Christ and His righteousness. Again, the worldly person often opposes the message of Jesus Christ and His righteousness.

The point is this: the believer is not to react against a person who mistreats and does evil against him. There are at least two reasons why he is not to react.

- a. Reaction will most likely lose the friendship of the person and lose all hope of ever reaching the person for Jesus Christ. The evil doer will be able to say, “A Christian did that to me.” The believer will have made Christ an unappealing Savior. On the other hand, if the believer returns good for evil, he opens the door for eventual friendship and bears testimony to the love of God for all men, even for those who do evil.
- b. Reaction is not the way of God or of Christ.

“But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also....That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust” (Mt.5:39, 45).

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

“Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:18).

“Say not thou, I will recompense evil; but wait on the LORD, and he shall save thee” (Pr.20:22).

“Say not, I will do so to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work” (Pr.24:29).

2. The believer is to demonstrate good behavior in the sight of all men. The word “provide” (pronoumenoi) means to think before acting. The idea is this: when someone does evil against the believer, the believer is to think before he acts. He is to think and pray through his behavior. Why? So that he can respond in the right and proper way. The believer needs to do what is right and noble, and the only way to do it is to think the situation through.

Note another point, a critical point. Scripture clearly tells the believer why he is to respond this way: so that his honest and noble response is seen by men. In essence, the believer is to love by turning the other cheek to the evil doer in “the sight of all men.” A strong testimony of God's love will then be seen by men.

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (Ro.13:8).

“Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men” (2 Cor.8:21).

“Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them about thy neck; write them upon the table of thine heart: so shalt thou find favor and good understanding in the sight of God and man” (Pr.3:3-4).

- 5 (12:18) Peace—Brotherhood—War—Divisiveness: the believer is to live at peace with all men. However, peace is not always possible. There are two qualifications.
- ⇒ If it is possible, the believer is to live at peace with all men. However, it is not always possible. Some persons are troublemakers: grumblers, complainers, dissenters, splitters, fighters, ego-hunters, self-centered leaders, image-seekers, power-builders, warmongers. Some persons have no interest in living at peace with the believer.
  - ⇒ As much as possible, the believer is to live at peace with all men. The believer is to work for as much peace as possible. Some level of harmony and concord can be achieved at least some of the time. The believer is never to give up, not as long as there is hope for some degree of peace. He is to achieve as much peace as possible. However remember, peace is not always possible—not with everyone.

Now note two significant points that need to be carefully considered and thought through by every believer.

1. The cause of conflict must not arise from a believer. He is to try everything possible to bring about peace and to keep peace (Ro.12:20; cp. Mt.5:39-41). However, this may be impossible because of the wickedness of others or because the control of peace is not within his hands. It is possible that some will not live peaceably. They continue to indulge every whim and live a life of repugnant license. Such living often threatens the peace, security, preservation, and life of oneself and family and friends.

2. What is it that determines whether a believer is to turn the “other cheek” or to defend himself? For example, Jesus spent His life combating evil and wrong, and He did not always turn the other cheek (Jn.18:22-23); neither did Paul (Acts 23:2-3). Paul encouraged the believer not to give license to anyone, and he was strict in the command. For example, he said that if a man did not work because of laziness, he should not eat (2 Th.3:7, 10).

The governing principle for the believer is clear: “be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good” (Ro.12:21). There are times when an attacker, if allowed to continue in his attack, is encouraged in his evil nature of indulgence and license. If allowed to continue, his evil overcomes the believer—either within through bitterness and revenge, or without through domination. Thus, a believer is not to sacrifice truth in order to preserve peace. Evil is not to be allowed to overcome truth.

“If the spirit of the ruler rise up against thee, leave not thy place; for yielding pacifieth great offences” (Eccl.10:4).

“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men” (Ro.12:18).

“Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another” (Ro.14:19).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

- 6 (12:19-21) Vengeance—Revenge—Retaliation: the believer is to give no place to revenge. There are three reasons for this charge.

1. Vengeance belongs to God. Note the words, “Dearly beloved.” The exhortation is definitely directed to believers. It would be a wonderful thing if all men practiced and lived by this rule, but the world never has and never will live free of vengeance. However, the beloved of God are given no choice. Any person who follows God is to leave vengeance up to God. Vengeance belongs to God, not to man. No man has the right to judge others, not in a private judgment nor in a personal vengeance. The right to judge and to execute vengeance is God’s and God’s alone. However, Scripture is clear: God will repay—God will execute vengeance. The day of His wrath is coming and it will be inescapable.

“Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord” (Ro.12:19).

“And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:7-8).

“For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people” (Heb.10:30).

“To me belongeth vengeance, and recompense; their foot shall slide in due time: for the day of their calamity is at hand, and the things that shall come upon them make haste” (Dt.32:35).

“O LORD God, to whom vengeance belongeth; O God, to whom vengeance belongeth, show thyself” (Ps.94:1).

2. Treating an enemy with kindness will affect him greatly. By doing good the believer heaps “coals of fire” on his enemy’s head. This means at least two things.

- a. Kindness will shame and cause anguish for an enemy. In his lonely moments, his thoughts will focus upon his evil treatment of believers and cause him to think and wonder about God. There is some chance the enemy might repent and be converted.

“Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head” (Ro.12:20).

“If thine enemy be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink: for thou shalt heap coals of fire upon his head, and the LORD shall reward thee” (Pr.25:21-22).

- b. Kindness will store up wrath against the evil doer in the day of judgment. If an evil doer represses his thoughts of God and hardens himself more and more and continues in his wicked treatment of God's people, then he stores up more and more wrath against himself in the terrible day of judgment.

“But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God” (Ro.2:5).

3. Vengeance makes evil victorious. If the believer takes vengeance, then he allows evil to conquer him, and this he must never do. The believer is to conquer evil, never allowing evil to conquer him. Note how he conquers evil: by doing good. He overcomes evil by doing what he should do, in particular by doing good toward those who mistreat and abuse him.

“But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain” (Mt.5:39-41).

“But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you” (Mt.5:44).

“Be ye angry, and sin not: let not the sun go down upon your wrath: neither give place to the devil” (Eph.4:26-27).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

E. The Believer and the State, 13:1-7

(13:1-7) Introduction: What is the relationship between the believer and the state? The question has been debated down through the centuries. Which is supreme, the church or the state? God pulls no punches in dealing with the issue, and what He has to say to the genuine believer is startling to some persons. Simply stated, God expects the genuine believer to live as a testimony of righteousness (doing what is right) while a citizen of this earth.

1. Be subject to civil authorities (v.1).
2. Government is ordained of God (v.1-2).
3. Government is ordained to promote good and restrain evil (v.3-5).
4. Government is ordained to provide benefits through taxes (v.6-7).

1 (13:1) Government—State—Civil Authorities: believers are to be subject to civil authorities. It does not matter how the civil authorities were appointed or by whom. It may have been by a senate, an army, or the people. The authority, whether just or unjust, whether legitimate or illegitimate, is to be obeyed.

However, the sphere of authority is to be noted. The government has authority only within the civil realm. The authority of the government does not extend beyond its position. For example, when Paul commands wives to obey their husbands, they are required to obey them as husbands, not as masters or as kings. Children are to obey their parents as parents, not as sovereigns. So it is in the case of government leaders.

When the laws of civil government conflict with the explicit commandments of God, then Christians must say, "we ought to obey God rather than men" (Acts 5:29). When a ruler claims divine rights, Christian believers must answer "no," for the ruler is going beyond the civil authority delegated to him by God. The ruler is trespassing on territory which is not his (see note—Ro.12:18). But the Christian believer is to say "yes" to all civil matters not conflicting with the commandments of God. Scripture gives several reasons for this. (See outline and notes—1 Tim.2:2; Tit.3:1; 1 Pt.2:13-17 for more discussion.)

2 (13:1-2) Government: government is ordained by God; that is, the existence, the authority, the position, the offices of government are ordained by God. It is God's will that government exist and that persons have the authority to rule within the state. There are three institutions ordained by God: the family, the church, and the government. All three exist because God set them up as the means by which men are to relate to each other and to Him as God. God has ordained...

- that the family exist as the means by which family members share together, and that the office of parents rule within the family.
- that the church exist as the means by which people share with God, and that the office of church leaders exercise authority within the church.
- that the government exist as the means by which citizens relate to each other, and that the office of government officials exercise authority within the state.

The institutions and their authority are ordained by God, and men are responsible for how they carry out their functions. Each of the three institutions has leaders who are faithful and do an excellent job, and each has leaders who are totally disobedient to God and do a terrible job. This includes the men who hold authority within various levels of government as well as men serving on various levels in the other two institutions. The fact to remember is that government is ordained by God, and rulers are answerable to Him: they shall give an account to God.

"Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Ro.13:1).

“It is an abomination to kings to commit wickedness: for the throne is established by righteousness” (Pr.16:12).

“And in mercy shall the throne be established: and he shall sit upon it in truth” (Is.16:5).

However, the thrust of this passage is not the rulers of government; the thrust is the believer and his duty to the state. Usually the believer can do little about how the authorities in government conduct their affairs, but the believer can do a great deal about his behavior as a citizen within the state; and God is very, very clear about the believer's behavior. Keep in mind that the infamous Nero was ruling as the emperor when God led Paul to give these instructions.

1. The believer is not to resist the government because resistance equals resisting the ordinance of God. Note three points.

- a. Christianity must not become confused with a political movement nor with a national government. Christ has nothing to do with insurrection, rebellion, or civil disobedience. Christians are not to be identified with murder and assassination; nor are they to be known as terrorists. They are not to cause havoc upon people nor wreck communities.
- b. There is one exception to resisting government that is allowed the believer. When rulers begin to exercise personal and immoral mastery over human life, then the believer is to obey God and not man. The believer is always to follow after righteousness, that is, morality and justice. However, note a crucial point: the morality and justice pursued must be the morality and justice of Scripture and not of man's making. (See note—Ro.13:1 for more discussion.)
- c. World leaders are in the hands of God and are playing their part under His sovereign administration. This is a great comfort to the heart of the Christian believer (although it may not be to the unbeliever), for it means that God is working in the affairs of world leaders. He holds the world in His hands. He is taking the failure and evil of nations and leaders and working “all things out for good to those who love Him and are called according to His purpose” (Ro.8:28).

2. The believer who resists the authorities will be condemned. The word “damnation” (krima) means judgment. The idea is that the disobedient believer will have to face the judgment of God if he disobeys the just laws of government. Some commentators think this refers to the judgment of the civil authorities. There is no question, if the believer is caught breaking the laws of the state, he will be punished. However, the civil authorities may never catch the believer; but God knows every law broken by the believer, and by resisting the laws of the state the believer has broken the law of God. Therefore, the believer stands guilty before God, and he shall be judged by God.

“Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake: whether it be to the king, as supreme; or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well” (1 Pt.2:13-14).

“And whosoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment” (Ezra 7:26).

“My son, fear thou the LORD and the king: and meddle not with them that are given to change: for their calamity shall rise suddenly; and who knoweth the ruin of them both?” (Pr.24:21-22).

3 (13:3-5) Government: government is ordained to promote good and to restrain evil. Note three points.

1. Rulers are not ordained to be a restraint upon good works, but upon evil. Civil authorities and laws exist to restrain evil; therefore, any believer who breaks the law can expect to be punished by the state. For this reason, the believer should...

- fear the state enough to obey its laws.
- do that which is good and lawful.

By fearing and doing that which is good and lawful, the believer has the praise of the state. The idea is that the believer contributes to the good and to the praise of the state. He helps to build up righteousness and truth within the state, and thereby he is able to be the citizen of a good and praiseworthy state. The believer has the praise of the state; he is allowed to live in peace as a citizen of the state.

“Thou shalt not revile the gods [God, R.S.V.], nor curse the ruler of thy people” (Ex.22:28).

“I counsel thee to keep the king's commandment, and that in regard of the oath of God” (Eccl.8:2).

“They say unto him, Caesar's. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's” (Mt.22:21).

“Then said Paul, I wist not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people” (Acts 23:5).

“Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God” (Ro.13:1).

“Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work” (Tit.3:1).

“Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord's sake” (1 Pt.2:13).

“Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king” (1 Pt.2:17).

Thought 1. Note that civil government and law are a restraint upon evil. The power of evil and corruption is so strong that when men are without law, they go on a rampage of selfishness and sin. History and the breakdown of law within communities, cities, societies, and even families provide ample evidence. When law does not exist or when law is not enforced, evil runs rampant. Society desperately needs to heed this fact.

“Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers, for whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other that is contrary to sound doctrine” (1 Tim.1:9-10).

2. Rulers are the ministers of God for good: to maintain the welfare of its citizens. Note that the civil authority rules for the citizens’ good. This verse is merely reviewing what has already been said in the preceding three verses.

a. The office of ruler is ordained by God for good; it is for the welfare and the good of the citizens.

“The God of Israel said, the Rock of Israel spake to me, He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God” (2 Sam.23:3).

“And said to the judges, Take heed what ye do: for ye judge not for man, but for the Lord, who is with you in the judgment” (2 Chron.19:6).

“Be wise now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed, ye judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:10-11).

“Mercy and truth preserve the king: and his throne is upholden by mercy” (Pr.20:28).

“The king by judgment establisheth the land: but he that receiveth gifts overthroweth it” (Pr.29:4).

“The king that faithfully judgeth the poor, his throne shall be established for ever” (Pr.29:14).

b. The believer is to fear breaking the laws of the state because the civil authority exists to maintain order by punishing evil-doers or lawbreakers.

“Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man for the Lord’s sake: whether it be to the king, as supreme; or unto governors, as unto them that are sent by him for the punishment of evildoers, and for the praise of them that do well” (1 Pt.2:13-14).

3. The believer is to obey the state for conscience’ sake as well as out of fear of punishment. There are two reasons for obeying civil laws:

⇒ For wrath’s sake, that is, fearing the punishment of the state.

⇒ For conscience’s sake, that is, fearing the punishment of God.

There are two ways in which conscience is involved. First, the Christian believer is told that God ordains government and that to resist government equals resisting God’s ordinance. Therefore, the believer has a principle to govern his conscience: to abuse his citizenship is to resist God’s will and to violate his conscience.

Second, conscience determines a man’s state of being. A restful conscience brings peace to a man; a disturbed conscience brings restlessness and pain. The man in rebellion against his government disturbs his conscience and lives under the restless fear of being caught and punished.

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [citizenship] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience” (1 Tim.3:9).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

“For this is thankworthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure grief, suffering wrongfully” (1 Pt.2:19).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil doers, they be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

4 (13:6-7) Government: government is ordained to provide benefits through taxes. Note three points.

1. Rulers are God’s ministers who are appointed for this “very thing”; that is, God appoints rulers as ministers to minister to the people. The rulers are to minister by providing certain benefits for the citizens.

a. The government provides justice, protection, and services for its citizens. It is the agreement between the law and the people to live by the law that keeps the strong from dominating the weak. It keeps life from becoming the law of the jungle. It is also the state that often provides services such as roads, public transportation, and electricity.

b. The government keeps the world from diving into chaos. Whatever peace is known within a country, it is known through the government that exists. It is not perfect peace, but usually within its boundaries there is a semblance of peace. Therefore, man is to work for worldwide peace through the framework of government.

2. The believer is, therefore, to pay taxes. Every citizen is obligated to the government for the benefits which he receives from the state. Certain benefits come from the cooperative effort of people within a state. A man could not receive these benefits acting as an individual. These benefits and privileges are his because the government has brought them about. Therefore, the man is obligated to the state to pay his share.

“And when they were come to Capernaum, they that received tribute money came to Peter, and said, Doth not your master pay tribute?...Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, go thou to the sea, and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money: that take, and give unto them for me and thee” (Mt.17:24, 27).

“They say unto him, Caesar’s. Then saith he unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar’s; and unto God the things that are God’s” (Mt.22:21).

“For for this cause pay ye tribute also: for they are God’s ministers, attending continually upon this very thing” (Ro.13:6).

3. The believer is not only to pay taxes, but he is to pay whatever is due to every man. The word “pay” (teleo) means to fulfill or to complete. The believer is to fulfill his obligations no matter what they are.

- ⇒ If a nation is due tribute (taxes), he is to pay his tribute.
- ⇒ If a civil authority is due custom (taxes), he is to pay his custom.
- ⇒ If an authority or person is due fear, he is to reverence the authority or person.
- ⇒ If an authority or person is due honor, he is to honor the authority or person.

Very simply, the believer is to live above reproach before all men, and this includes being a good citizen of his government.

“By the blessing of the upright the city is exalted: but it is overthrown by the mouth of the wicked” (Pr.11:11).

“Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people” (Pr.14:34).

“Take away the wicked from before the king, and his throne shall be established in righteousness” (Pr.25:5).

“For the transgression of a land many are the princes thereof: but by a man of understanding and knowledge the state thereof shall be prolonged” (Pr.28:2).

“In righteousness shall thou be established” (Is.54:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

13:6) Tribute—Taxes: this was a difficult command. For most believers, the command caused anything but pleasure, for the taxes levied by the Roman government against its conquered nations were heavy to bear (see note—Mt.9:9).

1. There was the income tax: one percent of a man’s income.
2. There was the ground tax: a man had to pay one-tenth or one-fifth of the crops produced by his ground. He could make payment in money or in the actual crops harvested.
3. There was a poll tax: paid by everyone between the ages of twelve or fourteen and sixty-five. It amounted to about one day’s wage. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3—Mt.22:17.)

There were also local taxes that had to be paid. There were import and export taxes, and there were custom duties including taxes for using main roads, crossing bridges, entering markets and harbors, transferring animals, and driving carts or wagons.

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

F. The Believer and His Fellow Citizens, 13:1-7

(13:8-10) Introduction: the commandments of God to believers are clear and forceful—especially when dealing with their neighbors, that is, with the fellow-citizens of the world. God’s laws are few, but they are striking.

1. The basic law (v.8).
2. Love forbids adultery (v.9).
3. Love forbids killing (v.9).
4. Love forbids stealing (v.9).
5. Love forbids a false witness (v.9).
6. Love forbids covetousness (v.9).
7. Love sums up all the commandments (v.9).
8. Love works no wrong to a neighbor (v.10).

1 (13:8) Love—Debts: there is one very basic law that sums up all the other laws of men. It is amazing to think that all the laws of human life can be summed up into one law, yet they can. The one law that embraces all others is love. Scripture clearly declares: “Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (v.8). Note two significant points.

1. The believer is to owe no man anything. At first glance, the verse seems to be saying that the believer is not to borrow and become indebted to any man. In light of what has just been taught this is true, and it is both God’s will and a must for Christian believers to practice. A believer is to set the example in paying men honor when honor is due as well as in paying debts when debts are due (v.7).

How does this commandment work out in day to day practice? Does this commandment mean that a believer should never borrow money or purchase things on an installment plan, for example, a house or a car? There are, of course, different interpretations as to how this commandment should be related to various societies and monetary practices. Three things can be clearly said and should be diligently practiced by all believers.

- a. Nothing should ever be purchased by a believer that is not really needed. The money should be used to meet the needs of a world that is reeling under the weight of starving, diseased, and dying masses every day.
- b. Nothing should ever be purchased unless a believer can meet the obligation of paying for it.
- c. If the believer has to purchase an expensive item such as a car or house and make periodic payments, he must be able to make his payments or else not purchase the item. In reality, he does not owe the money until the payment is due, but he does owe it when it is due. If he does not pay when it is due, he is definitely disobeying God.

The point is this: a believer is to owe no man anything. The reason is clearly seen. The people of the world live for the world and its money and possessions. It is all they have; therefore, they judge men by how much they have. It does not matter who the person is, Christian or non-Christian, he is judged by how well off he is financially. If a believer is not prompt in paying what he owes and in meeting his obligations, he is considered unethical and dishonest, a crook and a thief. And he is, for he has taken something that belongs to someone else. Moreover, he has deceived and lied to the man from whom he bought the item. He convinced the man that he could and would pay, and now he is not paying what he owes.

Very simply, a Christian believer must always pay his debts and fulfill his obligations. He must never owe any man anything lest he damage the name of Christ, and push men farther away from the Kingdom of God because of a negative view of Christian believers. The believer must live above reproach, and one of the most significant ways to live above reproach is to owe no man anything—to pay his debts and fulfill his obligations promptly.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“Render therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour” (Ro.13:7).

“Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped and entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth” (Jas.5:4).

“Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, sell the oil, and pay thy debt, and live thou and thy children of the rest” (2 Ki.4:7).

“Better is a little with righteousness, than great revenues without right” (Pr.16:8).

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

“Woe unto him that buildeth his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by wrong; that useth his neighbor’s service without wages, and giveth him not for his work” (Jer.22:13).

“Behold, therefore I have smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made, and at thy blood which hath been in the midst of thee” (Ezk.22:13).

2. The believer is to owe no man anything but love. Love will do more to win men to Jesus Christ and to bring about the ideal society than any other virtue. As this verse says, love fulfills the law. Therefore, if everyone will love one another, then everyone will be fulfilling the law; and the ideal society and life for which we all long will become a reality. This is clearly seen in this passage; in fact, it is the major thrust of these verses. God is telling believers to love one another in order to demonstrate what society can be. The world and society can live in love if they will turn to Him. However, if believers continue to live owing debts and committing the sins about to be discussed, then believers are no different from the world. They prove to be men of false profession. Believers become nothing more than hypocrites. For this reason believers must obey God: “Owe no man anything, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law” (v.8).

Just how love fulfills the law is the subject of the following points. Note that the laws mentioned are the laws dealing with man’s behavior toward his neighbor, all of which are taken from the ten commandments. Love fulfills the commandments of God.

2 (13:9) Adultery—Love: love forbids adultery. “Thou shalt not commit adultery” (Ex.20:14; Dt.5:18; see note and DEEPER STUDY # 1—Mt.5:27-30 for more discussion). Note two significant points.

1. In the context of the ten commandments, adultery refers to all forms of sexual immorality. This would include sex before marriage, homosexuality, and all other sexual deviations.

2. Love forbids adultery, that is, any sex outside the marriage bond. How can love forbid a loving act? Is not sex an act of love, an act of mutual sharing that enriches life? Scripture says:

⇒ Yes, if it is experienced within a true marriage, that is, a marriage that is truly spiritually united by God.

⇒ No, if it is experienced outside a true marriage, outside a couple who have been truly bound together by God.

Scripture is pointed and clear about this fact. Note closely what Scripture says:

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

How is sexual immorality a sin against the human body? How is a person’s body affected by immorality? There are five ways that the body is affected by sexual immorality.

1. Sexual immorality destroys a person’s rationality and intelligence. This is a critical point that is clearly seen by the honest and thinking person. Men and women are rational creatures; therefore, they can look at themselves and their world, and study, learn, and know what is happening when a man and woman have sex. Sex is the means of procreation, that is, of having children and carrying on the human race. Now note: it is through the act of sex that a person’s innermost being, his or her genes and nature, flow into another person and produce another life. That is, sex involves the most private and intimate part of a person—a person’s very genes and nature. Therefore, by its very nature, sex is the most private and intimate act of a person. From this fact alone, a rational creature knows that sex is bound to require some privacy, some limitation. But there is much more to think about that tells us just how private and limited sex should be.

Consider having and bearing children. By nature a woman cannot have a child by herself. It requires a man as well as a woman. One man and one woman have a child, and to have the child requires...

- the most private parts of their two bodies.

- the most intimate act of their two bodies.

Therefore while rearing the child, rational and moral creatures know that the two are meant to be each other’s. Why? The man and woman have put their very nature and genes into the child, and the child has their nature and genes; therefore...

- they are the ones who should rear the child.

- they are bound together, their genes and nature, within the body of the child.

No closer bond and relationship, no greater love, trust, or hope exists than the union of the three. The man has given the woman his very nature, and the woman has willingly received his nature and given both his and her nature to the child. The three are bound together in a most unique relationship, no matter how much it may be ignored, denied, and abused. The husband and wife and their sexual relationship is a very unique relationship. But note this: men and women are set off from other animals by their rationality. This is one of the features that makes man’s sexual relationship different from the relationship between animals. They can know who they are and what is happening to them when other animals do not. Men and women can know that their relationship is not just animalistic. Therefore, when they have immoral relationships, they ignore, neglect, violate, abuse, and damage their minds. They do what they know should not be done. As God says:

“For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; because that which may be known of God is manifest in them [the minds]; for God hath showed it unto them” (Ro.1:18-19).

“When the Gentiles...do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: which show the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another” (Ro.2:14-15).

2. Sexual immorality destroys a person’s body in that it lowers his body to the level of an animal. It is simply the wrong view of a man. It views man as a beast, ignoring man’s spirit. It declares that life is to be lived on the level of passion and instinct, ignoring the life of the spirit. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Immorality—1 Cor.6:18 for more detailed discussion of this point.)

3. Sexual immorality destroys a person’s body in that it corrupts the most intimate temple of the Holy Spirit. Scripture declares that the human body was made to be the temple of the Holy Spirit. God created man to be His child. Man is spirit as well as body, and when a man truly believes in Christ, Christ is said to enter and to dwell within the man’s body. Therefore, when a man commits sexual immorality, he destroys his body; that is, he violates, misuses, and abuses the temple of God.

4. Sexual immorality destroys a person’s body in that it uses the human body only as an object or tool to satisfy urges and passions. It keeps a human body from reaching its fullest potential. It ignores the satisfaction, peace, fulfillment, and development of both the spirit and mind that comes from a union wrought by God.

5. Sexual immorality destroys a person’s body in that it creates all sorts of emotional and spiritual problems for the persons involved. Having sex outside marriage creates guilt and negative thoughts within a person whether admitted or not. After an illicit act, when the person is alone with his thoughts, he thinks about his life and senses lack and need. No matter who the person is and no matter how long the person has been engaged in sexual misbehavior, there are times when the person thinks about his or her life and the need for something more meaningful. God sees that we all have these thoughts. They are a safeguard to try and turn us back to Him. Sexual misconduct eats away at our emotions, thoughts, and spirits until we are destroyed, unless we repent and turn to God.

Now, the thrust of the point is this: love forbids sexual immorality. A person who really loves someone would never destroy the body of his loved one. Anyone who honestly loves a person could never cause such problems for the one loved.

“Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:27-28).

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication [immorality]” (Ro.1:26-29).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate [homosexuals], nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot [party, revel] in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children: which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness” (2 Pt.2:13-15).

3 (13:9) Murder: love forbids killing. “Thou shalt not kill.” The law against murder is the sixth commandment (Ex.20:13; Dt.5:17). God gave the commandment to protect human life. Life is to be respected and cherished; no life is to be taken—not one’s own life nor the life of anyone else. Civilized societies have always considered murder to be a serious crime and worthy of judgment. However, note what Scripture says:

“Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: but I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment” (Mt.5:21-22).

“Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer” (1 Jn.3:15).

“He saith unto him, Which? Jesus said, Thou shalt do no murder, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness” (Mt.19:18).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer” (1 Pt.4:15).

Christ says that anger and hate are equal to murder. Therefore, the answer to solving the problem of murder and killing is to get rid of anger and hate. How? Scripture has the answer. Look at...

- verse 8: “He that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.”
- verse 9: “Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.”
- verse 10: “Love worketh no ill to his neighbor.”
- verse 10: “Love is the fulfilling of the law.”

Love is the answer to anger, hate, and killing. It is the duty of men to love one another: God expects and demands it. But how? It is not enough to simply say that men must love each other. Words alone will not get rid of the anger, hate, and killing in the world. How can men be turned from their anger and hate to love? The answer is found in God's people, in those who follow God and are already loving others.

- ⇒ God's people must demonstrate love before the world more clearly and forcefully than ever before.
- ⇒ God's people must proclaim love to the world more than ever before—explaining just how a man can have his heart changed from hate to love.

Very simply stated, Christian believers must demonstrate what it is to love and proclaim how a person can have his heart changed from anger and hate to love. There are four steps in securing a changed heart and in learning how to love.

1. A person must come to know God and be born of God through His Son, Jesus Christ. The Bible clearly says that true love is possible only if a person is born of God.

“Beloved, let us love one other: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love. In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins. Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another” (1 Jn.4:7-11).

2. A person must think upon and understand the love of God. When a person truly comes to know the love of God, he will then love others. In fact, if he does not love others, the Bible says that he does not know the love of God. Therefore, the answer to changing a person's heart from anger and hate is to share the love of God with him.

“Hereby perceive [know] we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

3. A person must seek the gift of love from the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit of God can stir men to love one another if they will seek Him.

“Follow after [seek] charity [love]” (1 Cor.14:1; cp. 1 Cor.13:1-13).

“The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Spirit which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love” (Gal.5:22).

4. A person must diligently seek to obey the very special commandment of the Lord Jesus.

“A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

4 (13:9) Stealing—Ministering—World, Needs of: love forbids stealing. “Thou shalt not steal” (Ex.20:15; Dt.5:19). In the Bible the word “steal” (klepheis) means to cheat, to take wrongfully from another person, either legally or illegally. Note that the laws of men are not the determining rule governing whether a person is stealing or not. This is what is so often misunderstood about stealing.

- ⇒ Men can sometimes use the law to steal.
- ⇒ Men can take from others without ever breaking a law.
- ⇒ Men can secure too much of something, well beyond what they need—something that rightfully belongs to others.

Very simply stated, the Bible teaches that stealing is the taking of anything that rightfully belongs to others. There are at least three forms of stealing.

1. A person steals by taking something which is actually possessed or personally owned by another person. If he owns it and we take it, then we are guilty of stealing. It may be something as simple as a pencil from the office or an answer to a test from a fellow student, or it may be something as complex as embezzlement of funds through bookkeeping procedures. If we take it, we have broken God's commandment and stand guilty as thieves.

“Not purloining [stealing], but showing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” (Tit.2:10).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief” (1 Pt.4:15).

“A false balance is abomination to the LORD: but a just weight is his delight” (Pr.11:1).

“It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone his way, then he boasteth” (Pr.20:14).

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

“He is a merchant, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to oppress” (Hos.12:7).

2. A person steals by hoarding and banking more than he needs. Keeping back is stealing. It is...
- keeping what is not needed for one's own needs.
  - keeping back what is desperately needed by others.

- taking away what nature and the earth have provided to meet the needs of the human population.
- hoarding the knowledge, gifts, blessings God gave to be used for the welfare of a desperate world filled with so many who are less privileged and gifted.

We may call it by whatever name we wish, but to God it is stealing. God has put within the earth enough resources to meet the needs of His people, and He has given men both the ability and command to subdue and have dominion over the earth. Look closely at His command:

“And God blessed them [man and woman], and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth” (Gen.1:28).

The earth is to be subdued and taken dominion over by men. Men are commanded by God to develop the technology to explore the universe and to control nature, to feed, clothe, house, and give health to people. Note what God is saying. He is not saying this: only some are to have the benefits and blessings of the earth. God is saying this: men are to love each other and share the blessings of the earth together. When men use their God-given ability to make money and produce goods, and then begin to keep back and hoard, they are stealing; they are keeping for themselves what rightfully belongs to others. Therefore, they will suffer catastrophic loss in the next world. They will suffer total devastation (Lk.12:20; 16:22-23). Why? Because they did not love enough to do what they and their particular talents were put on earth to do: provide for those who were less gifted and less fortunate.

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also” (Mt.6:19-21).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition” (1 Tim.6:9).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:17-19).

“Thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord GOD” (Ezk.22:12).

3. A person steals by living extravagantly, beyond what he needs. There are some who give to meet the crying needs of the world, yet they do not live sacrificially. They keep plenty for themselves, indulging their flesh...

- in clothing
- in food
- in jewelry
- in housing
- in transportation
- in recreation
- in possessions
- in property

Many within industrialized nations are guilty of selfishness despite a tenderness and concern for the needy in the world. However, concern and some giving are not enough to fulfill the demand of God that we share and meet the needs throughout the world. Every day that we awaken and arise out of bed, the world is reeling under the weight of masses...

- who are hungry and starving to death.
- who are without drinking water.
- who are without adequate clothing.
- who are diseased and without medicine.
- who have no roof over their heads.
- who have no one to teach them.

There is no question, the means to help meet the needs of the world exist today. The lack is not manpower and resources; the lack is sacrificial commitment to give the resources and to go and become personally involved. The extravagant and indulgent are stealing from the needy, and the gifted are not meeting the needs of the less gifted. The scene is tragic, for God put the gifted upon earth to sacrificially meet the needs of the less gifted. But instead of meeting their needs, the gifted are living in excessive comfort and pleasure, indulging the whims of their flesh.

“Go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me” (Mt.19:21).

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth” (Lk.12:33).

“Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat: ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them” (Amos 5:11).

ROMANS 13:8-10

What is the answer? Love—loving people enough to stop stealing from them. However, we must always remember that words alone are not enough. Just telling a person not to steal will not keep him from stealing. Some very practical steps must be taken.

- a. A person must follow Christ by giving all he is and has to the poor. This is unequivocally proclaimed by Christ time and again (see outline and notes—Lk.18:18-30).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“Yet lackest thou one thing: sell all that thou hast, and distribute unto the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, follow me. And when he heard this, he was very sorrowful: for he was very rich. And when Jesus saw that he was very sorrowful, he said, How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God! For it is easier for a camel to go through a needle’s eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God” (Lk.18:22-25).

“He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity” (Eccl.5:10).

- b. A person must stop playing the fool and lay up treasure in heaven; he must remember that his soul can be required of him this very night.

“And he [the rich man] said, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my fruits and my goods. And I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry. But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided? So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God” (Lk.12:18-21).

- c. A person must keep the truth before his mind: a selfish indulgent life that neglects and ignores the poor will send him to hell.

“There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day: and there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of sores, and desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man’s table: moreover the dogs came and licked his sores. And it came to pass, that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham’s bosom [heaven]: the rich man also died, and was buried; and in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments” (Lk.16:19-23).

- d. A person must give all that he has and not try to cheat God.

“But a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession, and kept back part of the price, his wife also being privy to it, and brought a certain part, and laid it at the apostles’ feet. But Peter said, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart to lie to the Holy Ghost, and to keep back part of the price of the land? Whiles it remained, was it not thine own? and after it was sold, was it not in thine own power? why hast thou conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied unto men, but unto God. And Ananias hearing these words fell down, and gave up the ghost: and great fear came on all them that heard these things” (Acts 5:1-5).

- e. A person must work at his job as though he serves the Lord Jesus. In fact, the Bible says that he is working for the Lord Jesus.

“Servants [employees], obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:22-24).

“Servants [employees], be obedient to them that are your masters [employers] according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:5-7).

- f. A person must work to make more than he needs so that he can earn enough to help others.

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth” (Eph.4:28).

5 (13:9) False Witness: love forbids bearing false witness against one’s neighbor. “Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor” (Ex.20:16; Dt.5:20). When most people look at this commandment, they think of a courtroom scene and think that lying against someone in court is what is being forbidden. This is true: bearing false witness does mean that we must not lie against a person standing trial for some crime. We must tell the truth when witnessing for or against someone. But bearing false witness means far more than just not lying against someone in court. Bearing false witness means any kind of lying, and there are several kinds that need to be diligently guarded against.

1. There is slander: thinking something bad about a person and sharing it; misrepresenting something about someone; tearing down the reputation and life of a person by spreading bad news about him.

“Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“He that hideth hatred with lying lips, and he that uttereth a slander, is a fool” (Pr.10:18).

2. There is rumor, gossip or tale-bearing: spreading little or big, idle or active tales, whether imagined or real; spreading the evil news that one has imagined in his mind or has heard.

“And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not” (1 Tim.5:13).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

“Thou shalt not go up and down as a talebearer among thy people” (Lev.19:16).

“A talebearer revealeth secrets: but he that is of a faithful spirit concealeth the matter” (Pr.11:13).

“A froward man soweth strife: and a whisperer separateth chief friends” (Pr.16:28).

“Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out: so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceaseth” (Pr.26:20).

3. There are suggestive hints: arousing a bad impression about someone; stirring the idea that something might possibly be true; planting in the mind the possibility of something improper or indecent.

“Thou shalt not raise a false report: put not thine hand with the wicked to be an unrighteous witness” (Ex.23:1).

“Take ye heed every one of his neighbor, and trust ye not in any brother: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbor will walk with slanders” (Jer.9:4).

4. There is deception: thinking or wanting something to be true, and accepting it as true and sharing it; tricking oneself and others into thinking something is true; defrauding oneself and others by accepting bad news as true when the truth is really not known; causing oneself and others to believe bad news.

“He that speaketh truth showeth forth righteousness: but a false witness deceit” (Pr.12:17).

“Be not a witness against thy neighbor without cause; and deceive not with thy lips” (Pr.24:28).

5. There are charges and criticism: accusations made against a person to a third party; sharing the faults and failures of a person with someone other than the person himself; talking about the weaknesses and failures of a person with someone else; condemning, blaming, and censoring a person with others.

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you” (Mt.5:11-12).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

“For I have heard the slander of many: fear was on every side: while they took counsel together against me, they devised to take away my life” (Ps.31:13).

6. There is exaggeration and blown up flattery: stretching the truth about a person; excessively praising someone; falsely representing someone; or painting a false picture of a person.

“Let me not, I pray you, accept any man’s person; neither let me give flattering titles unto man” (Job 32:21).

“He that goeth about as a talebearer revealeth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that flattereth with his lips” (Pr.20:19).

“A lying tongue hateth those that are afflicted by it; and a flattering mouth worketh ruin” (Pr.26:28).

“He that rebuketh a man, afterward shall find more favor than he that flattereth with the tongue” (Pr.28:23).

“A man that flattereth his neighbor spreadeth a net for his feet” (Pr.29:5).

“The LORD shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things” (Ps.12:3).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts. For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloke of covetousness; God is witness” (1 Th.2:4-5).

“He that saith unto the wicked, Thou art righteous; him shall the people curse, nations shall abhor him” (Pr.24:24).

In light of what a false witness is, it looks like God has left no room for us to discuss bad news with others. This is the very point God is after: we should not discuss bad news about another person, for it is impossible to discuss bad news about someone and not bear some false witness. To some degree bad news is always...

- blown up and added to.
- twisted and distorted.
- misunderstood and incomplete.

Therefore, when sin, failure, or bad news is known, God expects the person to be loved and comforted. God expects the person to be led to repentance and restored. God does not expect the person to be torn down by false witnesses.

There are four facts to note about bearing a false witness.

1. False witness is usually shared with loved ones and good friends, with people we know can be trusted. Therefore, we always feel that our loved ones and friends can be trusted with the bad news. However, what is overlooked is that our loved ones and friends have good friends who can also be trusted. And so the bad news is spread farther and farther afield, and more and more damage and hurt is done to the cause of Christ. God knows this is the way people are; this is the reason He forbids His people from sharing failure, whether true or untrue, except in dealing with the person about the issue.

2. Bearing tales about a person, true or untrue, always hurts the person. The person being talked about has a heart just like we do: a heart that is subject to being cut, hurt, and suffering pain. Therefore, when tales are shared, we are eventually going to cause pain and hurt, sometimes a great deal of pain to the person and his loved ones. (Imagine how God feels about this.)

“All that hate me whisper together against me: against me do they devise my hurt” (Ps.41:7).

“The words of a talebearer are as wounds, and they go down into the innermost parts of the belly” (Pr.18:8).

“A man that beareth false witness against his neighbor is a maul, and a sword, and a sharp arrow” (Pr.25:18).

3. The person who bears tales, giving false witness, shall be judged by God, no matter who he is.

“Being filled with all unrighteousness...deceit...whisperers, backbiters....Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them” (Ro.1:29-30, 32).

“Whoso privily slandereth his neighbour, him will I cut off: him that hath an high look and a proud heart will not I suffer” (Ps.101:5).

“A false witness shall not be unpunished; and he that speaketh lies shall perish” (Pr.19:9).

4. If a person truly loves, he will not bear false witness before anyone. He will deal with the person himself, seeking to restore him to the faith. Note: love does not deal with a person in harshness, downgrading him; but in love, tenderness, and in strength, being guided by the Holy Spirit of God.

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:1-2).

“I have seen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him also, and restore comforts unto him and to his mourners” (Is.57:18).

“Set a watch, O LORD, before my mouth; keep the door of my lips” (Ps.141:3).

6 (13:9) Covetousness: love forbids covetousness. “Thou shalt not covet” (Ex.20:17; Dt.5:21). The word “covet” (epithumeseis) means to crave and desire. A person can desire both good and bad things; the word can be used in both a good and bad sense (cp. 1 Cor.14:1 for the good sense). In the present context the believer is not to covet in an evil sense. If he loves his neighbors and fellow citizens he will not covet. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4, Covetousness—Ro.1:29 for the full meaning of the word.) Note two points.

1. The commandment condemns not only the act of sin but the desire to sin. The desire is what covetousness is; craving or desiring something is what covetousness means. It precedes the act. Therefore, this commandment strikes at the very heart of what a man is deep within himself. It exposes the innermost being of man, showing him that the cravings of his heart are evil. Why do we say this? Because desiring and craving are natural. It is a fact of human nature that we crave the thing which others have. We might not crave what they have; that is, we might not wish to steal their possessions, but we crave to have possessions like they have. As said, such desire is natural, but note: God is saying that we are not to covet what our neighbors have. To covet is evil. Why? Because it causes us to focus our attention, energy, and efforts—our lives—upon securing more and more. We neglect God and the needs of a world reeling under the weight of starving and dying masses. Love focuses upon sharing and helping people, not upon craving things. There is a world of difference between centering one’s life upon people instead of things.

The point is this: the commandment “thou shalt not covet” exposes the human heart. It shows us that we are depraved, basically sinful, and that we need a Savior. We desperately need Someone who can change our hearts and turn them toward God and the needs of our fellow citizens—the lost and dying masses of the world.

2. Note the kinds of things we are forbidden to covet. The tenth commandment is clear: “Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s...”

- house: personal provisions.
- wife: companion and love.
- manservant or maidservant: employee, position, employment, authority.
- ox and colt: possessions, property, wealth.

And, if this list does not include all that our neighbors have, God adds: “Thou shalt not covet...anything that is thy neighbor’s.” Look at the commandment as a whole.

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor’s” (Ex.20:17).

A believer who loves his neighbor and fellow citizens will not covet what they have. Instead of desiring their possessions, he will be focusing upon blessing them and building them up. He will encourage them to know the Lord and to surrender their lives to the great task of meeting the needs of a lost and dying world.

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind [covet] earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

“But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. For the love of money is the root of all evil: which while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows” (1 Tim.6:9-10).

“This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous” (2 Tim.3:1-2).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people [in church] cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

7 (13:9) Love: love sums up all the commandments, no matter what the commandment is. The royal commandment is “Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.” We are supposed to love ourselves, but we are not to love only ourselves. God expects us to love our neighbors as ourselves. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 7, Love—Mt.22:39 for more discussion.)

8 (13:10) Love—Neighbor—Brotherhood: love works no evil to a neighbor. To work evil against a person does not mean just the doing or the carrying out of evil against a person. Working evil means...

- thinking evil.
- wishing and hoping evil.
- planning and devising evil.
- practicing and doing evil.
- withholding good.

Note the last fact, for it is often overlooked, but Scripture clearly states that withholding good from a person is evil.

“Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it. Say not unto thy neighbor, Go, and come again, and tomorrow I will give; when thou hast it by thee. Devise not evil against thy neighbor, seeing he dwelleth securely by thee” (Pr.3:27-29).

A person who loves will not work evil, but on the contrary, he will work good. He will love his fellow citizens, the neighbors of his world. What does it mean to love? Scripture spells out some very practical acts which are involved in love.

- ⇒ Love suffereth long (endures long, is patient).
- ⇒ Love is kind.
- ⇒ Love envies not (is not jealous).
- ⇒ Love vaunts not itself (brags not, boasts not).
- ⇒ Love is not puffed up (is not vainglorious, arrogant, prideful).
- ⇒ Love does not behave itself unseemly (unbecomingly, rudely, indecently, unmannerly).
- ⇒ Love seeks not her own (is not selfish, self-seeking, insisting on one’s rights and way).

ROMANS 13:8-10

- ⇒ Love is not easily provoked (is not touchy, angry, fretful, resentful).
- ⇒ Love thinks no evil (harbors no evil thought, takes no account of a wrong done it).
- ⇒ Love rejoices not in iniquity (in wrong, sin, evil, injustice), but rejoices in the truth (in justice, in righteousness).
- ⇒ Love bears all things.
- ⇒ Love believes all things (exercises faith in everything, under all circumstances).
- ⇒ Love endures all things (never weakens; has the power to endure).

The call of believers is to love their neighbors—all the citizens of the world. God's love is to be demonstrated to the world through us. The world is to be given the opportunity of seeing God's love in action so that they, too, will become worshippers of Him through His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The commandment is clear:

“Owe no man anything, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law....Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself” (Ro.13:8-9).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

G. The Believer and the Threat of Time, 13:11-14

(13:11-14) Introduction: time is important, very important, to most people. Without time, man is not living; he is no more. The one thing he does not want is to run out of time. Therefore, it is critical for every man to know the threat of time.

1. The believer is to know the time (v.11).
2. It is time to awaken out of sleep (v.11-12).
3. It is time to cast off the works of darkness and to put on the armour of light (v.12).
4. It is time to walk straight (v.13).
5. It is time to put on the Lord Jesus Christ and to make no provision for the flesh (v.14).

(13:11-14) Another Outline: four pictures are also given in this passage.

1. Picture 1: Sleeping vs. awakening (v.11).
2. Picture 2: Darkness vs. light (v.12).
3. Picture 3: Walking straight vs. walking crooked (v.13).
4. Picture 4: Clothing—putting on Christ vs. putting on the flesh (v.14).

1 (13:11) Time—History, Pivotal Points: the believer is to know the time. The word “knowing” (eridotes) means to make sure that you know; do not dare miss knowing. The word “time” (ton kairon) means the critical period; the strategic or special period of time.

What strategic or critical period of time is meant? What is the period of human history that we must not overlook?

- ⇒ The day of “our salvation,” the day which is nearer than when we first believed.
- ⇒ The day which is at hand, the day when we shall meet the Lord Jesus Christ face to face.

2 (13:11-12) Time—Dedication—Sleep, Spiritual: it is time to awaken out of sleep. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Spiritual Darkness—Ro.13:11 for more discussion.) Too many believers are slumbering and paying no attention to what is going on in the world; too many are not watching; too many are not observing the signs of the time. Too many are complacent and slothful, lazily passing through life with little commitment to serving Christ. Too few are meeting the needs of the suffering and dying masses of the world. It is time “to awaken” (egerthenai) out of sleep: time to wake up, to be aroused and stirred. It is time to get up and to move and act—now—before it is too late. The exhortation is strong, and there are two reasons for its forcefulness.

1. Our salvation is nearer than when we believed. The word “salvation” is being used in a future sense, referring to the glorious day when we shall be fully saved. It is the day when our salvation will be consummated, and we will be delivered from this present evil world and perfected forever to live in the presence of God. The point is dramatic: the day is nearer than when we believed. Awaken out of sleep—arouse yourself—get up—pay attention:

- Look at the world situation
- Look at yourself
- Look at life, its uncertainty
- Look at the signs
- Look at your body, its condition
- Look at the time

The day of salvation, the day of our redemption, is nearer than when we believed.

“And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh” (Lk.21:28).

“[God] hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds” (Heb.1:2).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations [trials]” (1 Pt.1:5-6).

“Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists; whereby we know that it is the last time” (1 Jn.2:18; cp. 2 Tim.3:1; 2 Pt.3:3; Jude 18).

2. Judgment is at hand. The night is far spent; the day is at hand. What day? The day when we will meet God face to face, either through death or through the return of the Lord Jesus. Time is fleeting, passing ever so rapidly—so prepare.

“Prepare to meet thy God” (Amos 4:12).

“Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make His paths straight” (Mt.3:3).

“For the Son of man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch. Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrowing, or in the morning: lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping. And what I say unto you I say unto all, Watch” (Mk.13:34-37).

“Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame” (1 Cor.15:34).

“Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light” (Eph.5:14).

“Therefore let us not sleep, as do others; but let us watch and be sober” (1 Th.5:6).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(13:11) Spiritual Darkness—Carnal: there is the sleep of false security; the sleep of slothfulness, complacency, and neglect; and the sleep of indifference.

3 (13:12) Darkness—Light: it is time to cast off the works of darkness and to put on the armour of light.

1. The works of darkness are the works which men do under the cover of darkness and want to keep secret. They are sins...

- which men want to keep secret
- which men know are unacceptable
- which men know would cause hurt
- which men are ashamed of
- which men fear the results of
- which men know would do great damage

“And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved” (Jn.3:19-20).

“The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light” (Ro.13:12).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them. For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of them in secret” (Eph.5:11-12).

“For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:7).

“And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day: and Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God amongst the trees of the garden” (Gen.3:8).

“In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light” (Job 24:16).

“He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy” (Pr.28:13).

“Woe unto them that seek deep to hide their counsel from the Lord, and their works are in the dark, and they say, Who seeth us? and who knoweth us?” (Is.29:15).

“Woe to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsel, but not of me; and that cover with a covering, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin” (Is.30:1).

“Then said he unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth us not; the Lord hath forsaken the earth” (Ezk.8:12).

2. The armour of light differs entirely from the clothing of darkness. Note: the picture is that of clothing oneself. The believer is to strip off whatever dark sins and works he has wrapped around himself, and he is to cast them away. Once he has stripped himself, the question arises: What is the believer to put on? What he puts on is striking: he is not exhorted to just put on the clothes of light; he is told to put on the armour of light. The believer is to be clothed with the heavy shield and protective armour of light—a shield and protection so full of splendor, glory, and brilliance that it cannot be penetrated by the works of darkness. What is this armour of light?

a. It is the armour of righteousness (2 Cor.6:7).

“But in all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God...by the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armour of righteousness on the right hand and on the left” (2 Cor.6:4, 7).

b. It is the armour of God (see outline and notes—Eph.6:10-20).

- ⇒ the belt of truth
- ⇒ the breastplate of righteousness
- ⇒ the sandals of the gospel
- ⇒ the shield of faith
- ⇒ the helmet of salvation
- ⇒ the sword of the Spirit, the Word of God
- ⇒ the supernatural resource of the soldier: prayer

“Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil” (Eph.6:10-11).

“But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation” (1 Th.5:8).

4 (13:13) Sin: it is time to walk straight. The word “honestly” (euschemonos) means proper, honorable, decent, noble. The believer is to walk in honesty before God. He is to live a life of honesty, decency, and nobility. He is to live a life of honor and honesty before God. He is to walk in the day, not hiding nor trying to hide anything. Scripture gives six sins in particular which the believer is to cast off and turn from—forever.

1. Rioting (komois): revelling, carousing, partying, feasting, intemperance, debauchery, unrestrained revelry, indulgence, giving license to basic urges.

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest....envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries: wherein they think it strange that ye run not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you: who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead” (1 Pt.4:3-5).

2. Drunkenness (methais): to take intoxicating drink or drugs to affect the senses and faculties; to become intoxicated for the purpose of lust or pleasure; to seek to be tipsy or intoxicated; to seek to loosen moral restraint for the sake of bodily pleasure.

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God. And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:10-11).

“Woe unto him that giveth his neighbour drink, that putteth thy bottle to him, and maketh him drunken also, that thou mayest look on their nakedness!” (Hab.2:15).

3. Chambering (koitais): sexual immorality, adultery, fornication (pre-marital sex).

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

4. Wantonness (aselgeiais): sensuality, running wild, licentiousness, debauchery; homosexuality, lasciviousness, living a wild, partying, and immoral life. It is excess lust, unbridled lust that consumes one’s thoughts and behavior through...

| • films and pictures       | • songs and music     |

| • suggestions and gestures | • touch and behavior  |

“Ye [the rich] have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton; ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter” (Jas.5:5).

“For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error” (2 Pt.2:18).

5. Strife (eridi): contention, quarreling, arguing, striving. It is the craving deep within a person that wants recognition, honor, position, and authority. It is a spirit that is in constant competition with others, that will push one forward...

| • by bypassing others    | • by blaming others      |
| • by ignoring others     | • by neglecting others   |

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“He that passeth by, and meddleth with strife belonging not to him, is like one that taketh a dog by the ears” (Pr.26:17).

6. Envyng (zeloi): jealousy that begrudges others. It looks upon the position, recognition, and success of others with a jealous eye. It regrets the success of others.

“Charity [love] suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up” (1 Cor.13:4).

“Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

“But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth” (Jas.3:14).

“A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones” (Pr.14:30).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners; but be thou in the fear of the LORD all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

“Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them” (Pr.24:1).

5 (13:14) Believer—Clothing, Spiritual: it is time to put on the Lord Jesus Christ and to make no provision for the flesh. Note two points.

1. We are to put on the Lord Jesus Christ. Again, the picture is that of clothing ourselves. We are to clothe ourselves with Jesus Christ and His righteousness. We are to be as closely bound to Him and His righteousness as we are to our clothes. This means two things.

a. Jesus Christ becomes our clothing. As our clothing He...

- touches us
- protects us
- warms us
- covers us
- hides us

b. We are wrapped up in Jesus Christ. Being in Him means that we live, move, and have our being in Him: in His life and thoughts and behavior. Therefore, we must...

- look only at that upon which He would look.
- listen only to that to which He would listen.
- talk only as He would talk.
- touch only what He would touch.
- eat and drink only what He would eat and drink.
- think only that upon which He would think.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus” (Ph.2:5).

“If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God” (Col.3:1-3).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him....Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering” (Col.3:10, 12).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

2. We must not make provision for the flesh. The idea is that we do not give in to the flesh and its lusts; we do not indulge or give license to the flesh. We do not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

“And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell” (Mt.5:29).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the souls” (1 Pt.2:11).

“That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God” (1 Pt.4:2).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(13:14) Believer—Clothing, Spiritual—Put on: Scripture lists seven things that the believer is to put on or with which he is to clothe himself.

1. The believer is to put on and be endued (endues the, clothed) with the Holy Spirit (Lk.24:49).
2. The believer is to put on and be clothed with the Lord Jesus Christ (Ro.13:14; Gal.3:27).
3. The believer is to put on and be clothed with immortality (1 Cor.15:53-54; 2 Cor.5:3).
4. The believer is to put on and be clothed with the new man (Eph.4:24; Col.3:10).
5. The believer is to put on and be clothed with the nature of God (Col.3:12).
6. The believer is to put on and be clothed with the armour of light and of God (Ro.13:14; Eph.6:11f).
7. The believer is to put on and be clothed with love (Col.3:14).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

H. The Strong Believer and the Weak Believer: Questionable Functions and Behavior—Christian Liberty, 14:1-23

(14:1-23) Introduction: the issue of Christian liberty vs. license is always confronting the believer and the church who wish to please their Lord. What can a believer do and not do socially and personally? Can he...

- drink socially?
- attend films, and if so, are any unacceptable?

- watch television, and if so, are all programs acceptable?
- gamble, and what is considered gambling?
- dance, and is there any form of dance unacceptable?
- listen to loud and suggestive music or lyrics?
- attend athletic contests on Sunday?

There are a host of social and recreational functions that are sometimes questioned by the believer who is truly seeking to please his Lord in all that he does. This passage deals with the principles which are to guide the believer as he faces these issues.

1. Receive the weak brother (v.1-2).
2. Do not despise and judge (criticize) others (v.3-4).
3. Be fully persuaded of right and wrong behavior (v.5-6).
4. Watch out—watch what you do (v.7-9).
5. Leave the judgment up to God (v.10-12).
6. Judge only one thing: stumbling blocks (v.13-15).
7. Give no occasion for criticism (v.16-18).
8. Pursue things that bring peace and edification (v.19).
9. Do not destroy or ruin the work of God in another person's life: it is sin to do so (v.20).
10. Do nothing to cause a brother to stumble (v.21).
11. Watch and do not condemn yourself (v.22-23).

1 (14:1-2) Believers, Duty—Brotherhood—Ministry—Weakness, Spiritual—Receive: receive the weak brother. The word “receive” (proslambano) means to welcome, to accept, to take to oneself. However, there is a significant fact about the word that must be noted. It means...

- to receive a weak person just as God graciously receives men.
- to take a weak person to oneself just as God graciously takes men to Himself.

The believer is to “receive” the weak brother just as God receives him. The exhortation is both forceful and tender, demanding and hopeful. It is forceful and demanding in that it gives the believer the opportunity to act as God acts, and it gives the weak believer great hope in being cared for and looked after. Now, note two instructions about receiving the weak brother.

1. The weak brother is to be received without criticism and argument over his weaknesses. There is to be no doubt and no disputing in receiving him. He is to be received with open arms just as God receives men.

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

2. There are differences between Christians as to how they should live—about what is and is not allowed by God. For example, one Christian believes he can eat anything, whereas another Christian believes he must be a vegetarian. The Roman church was apparently dealing with this very problem. The Jews from their earliest history had a long list of laws governing food (cp. Lev.11:1f), so there was probably some division within the church between the Jewish and Gentile converts as to just how closely these laws should be observed, if indeed at all. The point, however, is not limited to rules governing food. The Scripture is applicable to all the rules, scruples, taboos, and restrictions of behavior which some believers and churches say should regulate our lives. However, having said this, it is absolutely critical to note two facts.

a. This passage is not dealing with the clear commandments of God; it is dealing with those behaviors about which there are clear differences of opinions among men. There is no dispute about the commandments of God in Scripture: they are to be obeyed. In fact, Christian maturity is measured by our obedience to Christ. (See note—Mt.5:17-18 for more discussion.)

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love....Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you” (Jn.15:10, 14).

“Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams” (1 Sam.15:22).

b. The person who is a vegetarian, that is, who governs his life by strict rules, is called the “weak” brother. Why would the keeping of strict rules cause a believer to be called a “weak” Christian? (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Christian Liberty—Ro.14:2 for discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(14:2) Christian Liberty: both the weak Christian believer and the strong Christian believer thought the other was weak. This is important to see, for both are subject to criticizing and condemning the other (v.3f).

Paul faced the issue of Christian liberty often; therefore, he is an excellent example to consider in discussing this issue. Paul was willing to become all things to all men when principle was not at stake, but when principle was at stake, he would concede nothing.

For example, Paul had Timothy circumcised, conforming to the law of Moses; however, here in Romans he exhorts believers to ignore outward observances and to resist them to the utmost. In another instance, he would not allow Titus to be circumcised—under any circumstance (Gal.2:3-5); and he warned the Galatians that if they were circumcised, Christ would profit them nothing. They would be renouncing their salvation. What is the difference?

When rules and observance are made the means of salvation, they become a fatal heresy, and in the case of Titus and the Galatians this is what was happening. Rules and observances are contrary to God's method of saving men. There is all the difference in the world between a man who approaches God by means of rules and the man who approaches God by means of Christ. The first man believes he is saved by his works, that is, by the morality of keeping rules; whereas the second man believes he is saved by Christ and Christ alone.

The problem of the weak brother is that he is just a little bit mixed up as to how day to day cleanliness comes. He feels a tinge of conscience to observe some rule in order to keep his life clean. He feels that he keeps the favor of God by doing extra works. He just has not matured to the point of understanding that even his day to day cleanliness comes from the righteousness of Christ.

There are essentially two reasons why the strict or judgmental man is weak in the faith.

1. He still believes in the necessity of works. Down deep within his heart he still believes that he can gain some favor from God by doing certain things and abstaining from others—things that are not taught in the Bible, that are reasoned out by himself and others as commendable and beneficial. To some degree he is still trying to gain and to maintain a right relationship with God by his own works. He has not fully accepted the way of God's grace and love. He has not yet understood that he is accepted in the righteousness of Christ and in His righteousness alone. He has not yet understood—not fully—that he is short and always will be short of God's glory, unable to do any work or act perfectly. He has not grasped that he must trust the love of God to count him righteous in Christ every day. He is not completely liberated from a belief in works and self-righteousness.

2. He does not know the meaning of Christian liberty. He sees Christianity as a thing of rules and regulations, and he governs his life by these rules and observances. In many cases even the thought of Christian liberty frightens him.

Now, having said this, it is of utmost importance that a believer keep in mind his duty as a Christian (see notes—Ro.6:1-2; 6:14-15). There are commands and prohibitions given in the Bible about which there are no questions. A believer must unquestionably obey them (see notes—Ro.14:13-15; 15:1-3; cp. Ex.20:1f; Ro.1:29f; Gal.5:19f; Eph.4:17f).

2 (14:3-4) Judging Others—Criticizing: do not despise and judge others. As the strong believer and the weak believer associate together, both are subject to serious sin.

⇒ The believer who understands his liberty in Christ is subject to despising the weaker brother. The word despise (exoutheneito) means to look down upon, to hold in contempt, to treat as meaningless and utterly wrong.

⇒ The weak believer, the believer who feels he must observe some extra rules, is subject to judging (krineto), to criticizing, to censoring.

Three reasons are given for not despising and judging one another, three reasons that stand as a warning to believers.

1. God Himself has received the strong believer. The believer who walks in the liberty of Christ and does not live a strict life has been accepted by God, no matter what the more legalistic believer may think. There may be some man-made religious rules which he does not observe, but he has trusted Christ, and he obeys the Word of God. Therefore, he is not to be criticized and judged, but he is to be accepted into the fellowship of the more legalistic believer.

2. No one has the right to judge the Lord's servant. Note: both believers belong to the Lord; both are the servants of the Lord. Therefore, the Lord alone has the right to judge them. Believers do not have the right to play God and to judge each other. They have no right to condemn and pass judgment upon each other's behavior and works, for they do not belong to each other. They each belong to Christ; therefore, He alone determines whether or not they stand or fall and are accepted or rejected.

3. God shall hold the believer up. There is no question about the matter: the believer will be held up, for God is able to make him stand.

“Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ” (Ph.1:6).

“I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever” (2 Tim.4:18).

“[You] who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

“And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of” (Gen.28:15).

“For the LORD loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off” (Ps.37:28).

“He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints” (Pr.2:8).

3 (14:5-6) Believers, Behavior: be fully persuaded of right and wrong behavior. The Jews had made a maze of rules governing the Sabbath and special holy days.

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage? Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years” (Gal.4:9-10).

“Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days: which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ” (Col.2:16-17).

Again, this issue was apparently a hotly debated issue between the Jewish and Gentile believers in the Roman church. But again, the issue is much broader than the mere observances of holy days; it involves all the man-made restrictions laid upon men by legalistic believers and churches. In saying this, however, it bears repeating: Scripture is not talking about the commandments found throughout the Bible. The commandments and instructions of Scripture are to be kept. The present passage is dealing with the legalistic tendencies of men: the rules and regulations which some men put forth as commendable and beneficial to practice.

Another fact needs to be mentioned as well. Paul is not suggesting that the Lord’s Day is not important. He is not suggesting that it is all right to ignore, neglect, or abuse the Lord’s Day. Far from it. What he is attacking is an attitude that substitutes a Christian day for Christianity. The Lord’s Day is very important to God, for it is the day set aside for the worship of His Son and for the rest and relaxation of His followers. However, the believer is not to worship the day, but worship the Lord of all days.

The point is this. Whatever the believer does, he must be fully persuaded that it is right and not wrong. Note two points.

1. The believer is to be fully persuaded in his own mind when dealing with questionable matters. The believer is to make the decision for himself; no one else is to decide for him. But note:

- ⇒ He must make sure the matter is questionable, that it is not covered by some command in the Scripture.
- ⇒ He must be honest and intelligent in deciding if the behavior is right.
- ⇒ He must not violate his conscience at all, not in the least.
- ⇒ He must be absolutely sure to do no wrong.

2. The believer is to live as he sees and understands God’s will. The point is very simply stated: one man dedicates every day to the Lord and sees every day as the Lord’s; the other man dedicates every day to the Lord, but he believes Sunday and holy days are more special and meaningful and should be especially set aside for God. Note that the same attitudes prevail toward food: one man gives thanks to God and eats everything; another man gives thanks and eats only vegetation. The point to note is that...

- both men dedicate and worship the Lord every day. They differ only in that one man sets aside some days for an extended celebration to God.
- both men thank God for their food. They differ only in what they are eating.

Now note the crucial factor: the hearts of both men are focused upon God. Both men are dedicating their lives to worship and serve God and both are thanking God for what they have. Their hearts are right with God. The differences between them are external and concern material things: days and food. Therefore, both are acceptable to God. Both are fully persuaded that what they are doing is right before God.

4 (14:7-9) Dedication—Purchased—Possession—Surrender: watch out—watch what you do. There are two supreme reasons why the believer must watch what he does.

1. The believer belongs to Christ in both life and death.

- ⇒ He does not live to himself: he does not do as he wills, follow his own desires, do his own thing, give in to his urges and passions.
- ⇒ He does not die to himself: take his death into his own hands or expect to handle death by himself.

The believer does not live for himself; he lives for Christ. He has committed both his life and his death into the hands of Christ, surrendering all he is to Christ. While he lives He is the Lord’s, and when he dies he is the Lord’s. The Lord’s dominion does not extend only to this life, but in the other life as well. No matter where the believer is or what he is doing, he is the Lord’s. The Lord is his Lord, for the believer has placed his life and death under the care and keeping of the Lord. The Lord is the Master and God of his life; therefore, the believer watches closely what he does: he makes sure that what he does pleases his Lord, for the welfare of his life and death is under the Lord’s care.

“For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living; for all live unto him” (Lk.20:38).

“For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; and whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord’s” (Ro.14:8).

2. The believer has been purchased by the Lord’s death and resurrection. Christ died, bearing the sin of the believer upon Himself, so that the believer could be freed from the coming judgment upon sin. The believer has faith in the death of Christ. He believes that...

- when Christ died, he symbolically died with Christ.
- when Christ hung upon the cross, he symbolically hung upon the cross with Christ. How? By faith. God loves man so much that when a man truly believes in the death of Christ for his sins, God will take that man’s faith and count it as the death of Christ, as the believer having died with Christ. It is the same with the resurrection of Christ. When a man truly believes in Christ, God counts the man’s belief as the resurrection of Christ. The man is identified with Christ in the resurrection of Christ, and he is given a new life that is both abundant and eternal.

The point is this: it was for this purpose that Christ died and arose—that He might be the Lord both of the living and the dead. He is the Lord of all believers whether they are living on this earth or deceased and passed on into heaven. The true believer has been purchased by the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus. The believer does not belong to himself: he cannot act selfishly and sinfully in making decisions about behavior. He must obey and please the Lord, for the Lord has purchased the right to the believer's life and death.

“For in that he died, he died unto sin once: but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Ro.6:10-11).

“For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead: and that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:14-15).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

5 (14:10-12) Judgment: leave the judgment up to God.

⇒ Why do you judge and criticize your brother?

⇒ Why do you despise and look down upon your brother?

The questions are forceful and disturbing because so many believers stand guilty before God.

Note the word “brother.” The person being criticized and judged is a brother, and what he is doing is coming from a sincere conviction that it is either God's will or acceptable to God (v.5-6). Why then do you set yourself up as God and criticize and judge him? Watch out! For “we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ” (v.10). Everyone of us shall be judged by Christ, not by each other.

- a. Every knee shall bow to Christ, not to each other. Every tongue shall confess to God, not to each other. None of us are God; therefore, we absolutely have no right to be judging and criticizing each other. God alone is the judge of men.

“For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God” (Ro.14:11).

“Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:9-11).

“Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou only art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee; for thy judgments are made manifest” (Rev.15:4).

“Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else. I have sworn by myself, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not return, That unto me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear” (Is.45:22-23).

- b. Everyone shall give an account of himself to God. We are not going to be called to give an account of others before God. We are going to give an account of ourselves. Each one shall be held accountable for himself only. God is not going to be asking us what we think or know about Stephen or Ruth. Each one shall stand alone before God and give an account for his own behavior only.

“And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats” (Mt.25:32).

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son” (Jn.5:22).

“And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to testify that it is he which was ordained of God to be the Judge of quick and dead” (Acts 10:42).

“Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead” (Acts 17:31).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“But why dost thou judge thy brother? or why dost thou set at nought thy brother? for we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ” (Ro.14:10).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom” (2 Tim.4:1).

6 (14:13-15) Stumbling Block—Judging—Criticism—Socials, Questionable: judge but one thing—if you are a stumbling block to a brother. The word “stumbling block” (proskamma) means an obstacle placed in the way of someone. The words “occasion to fall” (skandalon) mean to trap, to snare, to do something that causes a person to stumble and fall. It has reference in particular to leading or causing someone to sin. The exhortation is strong: believers are not to be criticizing and judging each other; they are to be judging themselves. Every single believer is to be constantly looking at his own life making sure...

- that he is not putting a stumbling block in his brother’s path to God, not even a single obstacle or hindrance of any kind.
- that he is not doing a single thing that will cause his brother to stumble or fall into sin.

If a believer is constantly looking at his own life and guarding against becoming a stumbling block, he does not have time to judge and talk about his brother. There are three very practical behaviors that will keep us from putting stumbling blocks in our brother’s walk toward God.

1. First, we must watch for the things which our brothers think are unclean. And, very simply, if some behavior or activity is thought to be unclean, we are not to do it. Scripture gives us a great principle in these three verses, a principle that could revolutionize the behavior of believers and much of society if we would just do what God says.

Note the words, “there is nothing unclean of itself.” The immediate situation of the early church was dealing with eating certain foods and keeping special holy days. However, the fact is applicable to the questionable functions faced by every generation of believers. In its pure and natural form, all of God’s creation is acceptable to God. It is what man does with things that make them impure.

- ⇒ The grape is pure, but man takes it and makes an intoxicating drink out of it that damages the human body and leads to immoral behavior.
- ⇒ Fellowship is pure; but man takes it and turns it into a loose, partying atmosphere that leads to exposure of the human body, suggestive thoughts and conversation, and immoral behavior.
- ⇒ Vegetation and forest plants are pure, but man takes them and makes all kinds of harmful and intoxicating drugs, drinks, and foods that harm the human body and lead to immoral and unjust behavior.

The point is this: because of what man does with the things and activities of the earth, believers must watch the things which men make unclean and the things which other believers think are unclean. We must not do anything that would cause a brother to stumble.

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“But if thy brother be grieved with thy meat, now walkest thou not charitably. Destroy not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died” (Ro.14:15).

“But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak” (1 Cor.8:9).

“A little leaveneth the whole lump” (Gal.5:9).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

2. Second, we must walk in love toward our brother. Note:

- ⇒ We are to do nothing that would grieve a brother. Imagine! We are not to cause “grief” for him—not to cause any kind of misery or disturbance whatsoever for him. (What an impact this would make upon churches and the world if we would live out this commandment!)
- ⇒ We are to do nothing that would destroy a brother. This is a forceful command: “Destroy not [me apollue] him.” The words mean to hurt and wound to the point of ruining. Such behavior is absolutely forbidden of the Christian believer. We are to do absolutely nothing that would destroy or ruin our brother.

Thought 1. Imagine the judgment coming upon some because of their judging and criticizing, grumbling and divisiveness, habits and behavior, drinking and partying. Just look at the very nature of some who are constantly causing problems and being a stumbling block for both young and old alike.

“Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend” (1 Cor.8:13).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth [welfare]” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:10).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves. Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:1-2).

“For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Gal.5:14).

“If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well” (Jas.2:8).

3. Third, we must keep in mind that Christ died for our brother. This is the clear reason we must not grieve, much less destroy, our brother: Christ died for him. The argument is forceful: if Christ loved him enough to die for him, then we must love him enough to give up a few desires and activities.

“And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?” (1 Cor.8:11).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unproveable in his sight” (Col.1:21-22).

7 (14:16-18) Criticism—Christian Liberty vs. License: give no occasion for criticism. Christian liberty can be abused. A believer may be free to eat and drink some things and be free to go and participate in certain activities, but he should not do either. Why? Because his behavior would be considered evil. Two facts are to be kept in mind by believers when they are considering questionable things.

1. The Kingdom of God is the believer’s concern, not pleasure. Note: the Kingdom of God is not eating and drinking; that is, it is not concerned with external matters but with the heart. It is not a sin to abstain from food and drink and questionable activities; therefore, the believer must readily stay away from anything that will grieve or cause others to stumble. The Kingdom of God is...

- righteousness: being and doing what is right; establishing and maintaining the highest possible good with God and man.
- peace: being in a right relationship with both God and man and maintaining that relationship; working for the highest possible good between God and man.
- joy: experiencing the fulfillment and happiness of a right relationship with God and man; bearing the fruit of being right with God and man.

The point is this: the believer is to be concerned with people and their relationships with God and with himself, not with the right to eat, drink, and socialize. His primary purpose in life is to reach and build men up, not to grieve and cause them to stumble.

2. The believer who puts the spiritual welfare of people before his own desires pleases both God and men. Note a crucial point: this is the person who is acceptable to Christ, the person who is a genuine believer. A man who professes to know God makes a questionable profession...

- if he does not love God enough to do what He says.
- if he does not love his brother and fellow man enough to keep from grieving and causing him to stumble.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

Note another fact: the believer who seeks the welfare of his brothers will be acceptable to men.

“For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth” (2 Cor.10:18).

“Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity” (1 Tim.4:12).

“A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favor rather than silver and gold” (Pr.22:1).

“A good name is better than precious ointment” (Eccl.7:1).

8 (14:19) Purpose, of Believers: pursue things that bring peace and edification. This is the very purpose for believers being on earth: to bring peace to men and to build them up. Men must secure peace with God and with each other. They must be built up in Christ. Believers have both the message of peace and of growth; therefore, they must follow only those things which will make peace and edify men.

“If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men” (Ro.12:18).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification” (Ro.15:2).

“Now as touching things offered unto idols, we know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffeth up, but charity [love] edifieth” (1 Cor.8:1).

“Let all things be done unto edifying” (1 Cor.14:26).

“Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying” (2 Cor.12:19).

“Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers” (Eph.4:29).

9 (14:20) Liberty vs. License: do not destroy or ruin the work of God in another person's life—it is sin to do so. A person, child or adult, is far more important than having the right to eat and drink certain things and to attend and participate in certain social and recreational activities.

“But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea” (Mt.18:6).

“Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend” (1 Cor.8:13).

“For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another” (Gal.5:13).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

“As free, and not using your liberty for a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God” (1 Pt.2:16).

10 (14:21) Liberty vs. License; Influence—Testimony: do nothing to cause a brother to stumble. Note how clearly Scripture speaks: food, wine—nothing—is worth causing a brother, child, or adult to stumble. What is right for one may be the downfall of another, for men do influence children and other adults, and the fact is not debatable. The weak person, whether child or adult, may do something...

- because everyone else is doing it.
- because he does not wish to go against the crowd.
- because he simply does not wish to be different.
- because he does not wish to be criticized, ridiculed, or unpopular.
- because he is weaker in stamina.
- because he looks up to and idolizes his friends (parents).

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Him that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations” (Ro.14:1).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak” (1 Cor.8:9).

“And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?” (1 Cor.8:11).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth [welfare]” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

11 (14:22-23) Liberty vs. License—Condemnation, Self: watch—do not condemn yourself. There are three ways a believer can keep from condemning himself.

1. By keeping his faith. Faith means the belief that a person can do a certain thing and that it is acceptable to God. If a believer feels free to do a certain thing, then he can do it, but it is to be done in private before God. It is not to be paraded publicly and done before men. It is to be eaten, drunk, and done only in private. Doing the thing privately and offering it up to God with thanksgiving are the only ways it is acceptable. If it cannot be offered up to God with thanksgiving, then it should not be done.

2. By not going against his conscience. The believer must not condemn himself in what he does and allows in his life and home. (Remember: the children and spouse are being influenced by what the believer does.)

3. By acting on faith, from a conviction that God approves the activity. If there is any question, note how clearly and forcibly Scripture speaks: “Whatsoever is not of faith is sin.” If a believer cannot eat, drink, and do the thing in faith—knowing it is acceptable to God—then doing it is sin.

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin” (Jas.4:17).

“He that despiseth his neighbor sinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he” (Pr.14:21).

“The thought of foolishness is sin” (Pr.24:9).

DIVISION VIII

THE BELIEVER AND HIS DAILY BEHAVIOR, 12:1-15:13

I. The Marks of a Strong Fellowship Within the Church, 15:1-13

(15:1-13) Introduction: this passage is a continuation of the former chapter. It clearly pinpoints the marks of a strong church. Once studying this passage, a believer can never claim he did not know his duty within the church. Every believer's part in building and making the church strong is clearly spelled out.

1. Mark 1: the strong bear the weaknesses of the weak (v.1-3).
2. Mark 2: everyone studies the Scriptures (v.4).
3. Mark 3: everyone works for harmony (v.5-6).
4. Mark 4: everyone accepts one another without discrimination (v.7-12).
5. Mark 5: everyone is filled by the God of hope (v.13).

- 1 (15:1-3) Brotherhood—Ministry—Weak—Weaknesses: in a strong church, the strong bear the weaknesses of the weak. The weak believers are described in Chapter 14. They are...
- those who judge, grumble, complain, murmur, and criticize (cp. Ro.14:2-3, 10, 13).
  - those who still trust in a legalistic behavior, a do and don't behavior (Ro.14:1, 14-15).
  - those who disobey God's Word and go against the explicit commands of God (Ro.14:10-12, 16-23).

The word "bear" (bastazein) does not mean to bear in the sense of putting up with and forbearing with an attitude of begrudging. It means to bear the weak along, to support them, to carry them along as a father or mother would carry a child—in love and tenderness, understanding and care.

1. How can such an attitude ever prevail in the church? Scripture clearly gives the answer: "Let every one of us please his neighbor." It is that simple: let us not please ourselves, but let us please our neighbor—let us live for his good and edification. No matter what we may wish...

- the place we may want to go,
- the drink we may want to drink,
- the food we may want to eat,
- the film we may want to see,
- the thing we may want to buy,

...if it is going to be a stumbling block to our brother—we do not do it. We please, help, support, and live for the good of our brothers and sisters so that they might be edified and built up in the faith.

2. The believer has the greatest pattern in all the world for denying self and living for his neighbor: Jesus Christ Himself. "For even Christ pleased not himself."

⇒ The reproaches that were cast against God—the cursing, dishonor, unbelief, denial, hostility, shame, and rebellion against God—cut the heart of Christ. Therefore, Christ set out to bear the reproaches against

God: He came to earth and bore the sin of the reproaches and made it possible for all persons to praise God instead of reproaching His glorious name. The zeal to remove all the dishonor cast against God consumed Christ and fell upon Him. (Cp. Ps.69:19-20.)

Note the point: Christ did not live to please Himself. He did not pray "Father, remove this cup of sacrifice and denial from me--no matter what." He prayed: "O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt" (Mt.26:39). Jesus Christ is the believer's pattern for pleasing others instead of self.

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Ph.2:5-8).

"For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps" (1 Pt.2:21).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

"But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed" (Is.53:5).

Thought 1. What a glorious spirit would prevail in the church if this was really practiced as Scripture says: by "everyone of us."

"I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35).

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ" (Gal.6:2).

"Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body" (Heb.13:3).

"Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world" (Jas.1:27).

Thought 2. Note how life-changing this point really is. The serious believer no longer asks if questionable behavior is right and moral, but if it is good for his brother. Will this thing edify and build up his brother?

"And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these" (Mk.12:30-31).

"A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another" (Jn.13:34-35).

"Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law" (Ro.13:10).

"Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another" (Ro.14:19).

"For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection" (2 Cor.13:9).

"For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself" (Gal.5:14).

"Let not corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers" (Eph.4:29).

"If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well" (Jas.2:8).

2 (15:4) Scripture—Study: in a strong church, everyone studies the Scripture. This is a great verse on the purpose of the Holy Scriptures. In very simple terms it tells us why God gave us the Bible.

1. The Scriptures were written for our learning (didaskalian): instruction, direction, and guidance.

"But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name" (Jn.20:31).

"These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so" (Acts 17:11).

"For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope" (Ro.15:4).

"Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition upon whom the ends of the world are come" (1 Cor.10:11).

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth" (2 Tim.2:15).

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2 Tim.3:16).

“These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God” (1 Jn.5:13).

2. The Scriptures were written to stir three things within believers.
  - a. Patience (see note—Ro.5:3-5 for discussion).
  - b. Comfort (parakleseos): encouragement, consolation, solace, help, exhortation, supplication. Whatever is needed to comfort the believer, the Scripture gives him.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever” (Jn.14:15-16).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

- c. Hope (see note—Ro.5:3-5 for discussion).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“[Christ] who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you, who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God. Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently: being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:20-23).

3 (15:5-6) Unity—Brotherhood: in a strong church, everyone works for harmony. When there are so many differences and different ideas among people, believers must be constantly striving to be of one mind.

1. How can a church—a church with so many diverse personalities—achieve harmonious feelings and one mind? Note: these two verses are a prayer of Paul. He has just said that the endurance and comfort necessary to live for God comes from the Scriptures. Now he says they come from God. In fact, he says that God is the God of patience (endurance) and consolation (comfort). Therefore, the believer secures his strength or endurance and comfort from both the Scriptures and God. If he wishes to stick—to endure to the end—he must study the Scriptures and pray, asking God to give him...

- the strength and endurance.
- the comfort and consolation.

Now, note the point. If we know the endurance and comfort of God, then we are bearing the weaknesses of each other; we are constantly supporting and helping and caring for each other. We are living in harmony and being of one mind.

2. The pattern of endurance, consolation, and of harmonious feelings with God and man was Christ Jesus.
  - ⇒ He was faithful to God, sticking ever so close to God and fulfilling His ministry to the ultimate degree.
  - ⇒ He experienced the comfort and the consolation of God, possessing an unbroken relationship with God.
  - ⇒ He never held any ill feelings toward God or God’s people. He was of one mind with God and was always working to bring every person into harmony with God.

The believer could have no greater pattern than the pattern of Christ Himself. Christ was always working to bring men together with God so that they could have the endurance and comfort to live through all the trials and sufferings of life.

3. The purpose for harmony between believers and within the church is striking: that we might glorify God—all of us together—with one mind and one mouth. God longs for our worship and praise. It is the very reason He created us and saved us. Note a significant point: a divided church cannot worship God. This is exactly what is being said. A church has to be of one mind and mouth to worship God. If a people are not of one mind and mouth, God is not glorified; He is not worshipped.

The point is clear. Every one of us must work for the harmony of the church so that we may be of one mind and fulfill the very purpose for our existence: to glorify God.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you” (2 Cor.13:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

4 (15:7-12) Unity: in a strong church everyone accepts one another. There is no discrimination whatsoever in a strong church. The word “receive” (proslambanesthe) means to take to oneself; to receive a person as a friend; to treat as the closest of friends with the most caring kindness. Believers are to receive one another in the closest of bonds.

1. The believer has the greatest pattern imaginable: Christ Himself. Christ received us, and note why: that God may be glorified. Therefore, believers must receive each other so that God may be glorified through their lives and church. Just look at how far Christ went.

- a. Christ received the Jews and ministered to them. He did it for the truth of God: to confirm and fulfill the promises made to the Jewish nation. Think how discriminating, prejudicial, and judgmental the Jews were; yet Christ came to them and received and ministered to them. Why? For the truth of God—to fulfill the Word and praise of God.
  - b. Christ received the Gentiles and ministered to them. He came to bring them the mercy of God, that they might praise God for His mercy. Remember He received and ministered to the Gentiles when they were living the most licentious and indulgent lifestyle imaginable (cp. Ro.1:18-32).
2. The Scripture proves the point. Scripture foretold...
- that the Gentiles would have the gospel preached to them (v.9; cp. Ps.18:49).
  - that the Gentiles would rejoice with God’s people (v.10; cp. Dt.32:43).
  - that the Gentiles would praise God and trust Christ as their Savior and Lord (v.11; cp. Is.11:1, 10).

Believers are to receive one another even as Christ has received us. No person is too prejudicial or critical, too weak or base for us to receive. The point is that Christ received and ministered to the most prejudicial and judgmental (the Jews), sinful and base (the Gentiles) people in the world; therefore, believers can receive one another. No one is too far gone to be rejected and cast away.

⇒ We are to receive each other, as Christ also received us.

“Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria [a despised people] had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John” (Acts 8:14).

“Can any man forbid water, that these [Gentiles] should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we?” (Acts 10:47).

“When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life” (Acts 11:18).

“Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles are turned to God” (Acts 15:19).

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:13-14).

⇒ We are to receive each other for the glory of God.

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“That the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:12).

5 (15:13) Church—Hope: in a strong church everyone is filled by the God of hope. God is the “God of hope”...

- the Author of our hope.
- the Foundation of our hope.
- the Builder of our hope.
- the Finisher of our hope.

Note that this is a prayer. The things mentioned cannot be possessed apart from God, and we can possess them only as He gives them to us.

1. There is joy (charas): an inner gladness; a deep seated pleasure. It is a depth of assurance and confidence that ignites a cheerful heart. It is a cheerful heart that leads to cheerful behavior.

“And now come I to thee; and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves” (Jn.17:13).

“Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory” (1 Pt.1:8).

“I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my soul shall be joyful in my God; for he hath clothed me with the garments of salvation, he hath covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decketh himself with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herself with her jewels” (Is.61:10).

2. There is peace (see note, Peace—Ro.5:1 for discussion). Note that peace comes through believing. No man has peace apart from God.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your request be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:6-7).

“The LORD will give strength unto his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace” (Ps.29:11).

“Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O LORD, according unto thy word” (Ps.119:65).

“Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee” (Is.26:3).

3. There is hope (see note—Ro.5:3-5 for discussion).

“And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust” (Acts 24:15).

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel” (Col.1:5).

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

“That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us: which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil” (Heb.6:18-19).

“Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not. Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:1-3).

“The wicked is driven away in his wickedness: but the righteous hath hope in his death” (Pr.14:32).

Again note: these great qualities come only through the power of the Holy Spirit. God and God alone is the source of the things that give life (cp. Gal.5:22-23. See note, Justification—Ro.5:1.)

DIVISION IX

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

A. The Messenger or Minister of God, 15:14-21

(15:14-21) Introduction: this is one of the most descriptive passages dealing with the minister of God. It forcefully reveals what it was that made Paul such a great minister of God.

1. He was gracious in dealing with people (v.14).
2. He was bold in reminding people (v.15).
3. He was called to minister the gospel of God (v.16).
4. He gloried and talked about the things that pertained to God (v.17-19).
5. He strived to preach for Christ in pioneer areas (v.20-21).

1 (15:14) Minister: the minister of God is gracious in dealing with people. Note two significant points.

1. Paul called the members of the Roman congregation brothers (v.15, 16). Paul did not look upon himself as being superior to the Roman congregation. He did not see himself...

- as being better.
- as being more spiritual.
- as being more intellectual.
- as being more educated.

Paul never looked upon himself as being superior to other believers in any sense of the word. Note also: Paul was not nagging, harping, or badgering the Roman congregation. On the contrary, he was addressing the congregation in the most gracious of spirits, treating them as his equal before God. Paul called the members brothers, not sons and daughters.

2. Paul acknowledged the commendable qualities of the Roman congregation. He mentioned three qualities or traits in particular.

a. The believers were “full of goodness” (mestoi agathosunes): full of kindness and helpfulness, of virtue and excellence, of peace and conciliation, of inner depth and richness.

“And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God” (Eph.3:19).

“He loveth righteousness and judgment: the earth is full of the goodness of the LORD” (Ps.33:5).

“O taste and see that the LORD is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him” (Ps.34:8).

“I will mention the loving kindnesses of the LORD, and the praises of the LORD, according to all that the LORD hath bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving kindnesses” (Is.63:7).

b. The believers were filled “with all knowledge” (pases gnoseos): spiritual insight and perception; knowledge of Christ, God, and the Holy Spirit, and of the spiritual need of man and his world; spiritual truth.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent” (Jn.17:3).

“That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death” (Ph.3:10).

“That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God” (Col.1:10).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge” (2 Pt.1:5).

“And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not” (2 Pt.2:2-3).

- c. The believers were able “to admonish” (nouthetein) one another: to put in mind, to implant the truth into the mind, to guide, correct, and instruct.

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother” (2 Th.3:15).

Thought 1. Remember that Paul had never visited the Roman church. He had only met a few of the Roman believers in his travels over the Mediterranean world. What he knew about the Roman believers was only what he had heard about them. Therefore, his writing to them is comparable to a visiting preacher. Note his gracious spirit and attitude toward other believers and congregations. Every minister can learn from this soft, tender spirit of Paul.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder, Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

- 2 (15:15) Minister, Duty of: the minister of God is bold in reminding people of the great truths of the gospel. Glance at the overall outline of Romans, and you quickly see how Paul has covered the great truths of the Christian faith. This is the task of the minister of God. The minister must proclaim the truths of the gospel—to preach the gospel is the very reason for his call. He exists for no other purpose.

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20; cp. 2 Cor.5:18).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man’s conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ. Wherefore he saith, When he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men” (Eph.4:7-8).

“[The gospel] whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:11).

- 3 (15:16) Minister, Duty: the minister of God is called to minister the gospel of God. When Paul called himself a minister (leitourgon), the Greek word was often used to refer to the priests of the Old Testament. This is a beautiful passage describing the nature of the Christian ministry. The Christian ministry is seen as a priestly ministry. However, we must always remember that the ministry is not an office to make atonement for sin, nor to offer a propitiatory sacrifice to God. It is a ministry of preaching the gospel under the influence of the Holy Spirit. The purpose of the ministry is this: to bring men to the point where they will offer themselves as living sacrifices, holy, acceptable to God (cp. Ro.12:1-2). A minister's only priesthood is the preaching of the gospel, and his only offering is the offering of redeemed and sanctified men to God. He is not a mediator between God and men; he does not offer propitiatory sacrifices. He is only an instrument which God uses to share the gospel of salvation with men. He is a priest only in the sense that he serves the gospel of God to men and brings men to God through the gospel of God.

Note what the "offering" was that God wanted Paul to make: the offering of the Gentiles, of human lives. God wanted Paul to bring people to Him. This is the task of ministers: to offer the lives of men, women, boys, and girls to God.

"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you" (Jn.15:16).

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service" (Ro.12:1).

"Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ" (1 Pt.2:5).

Note: the offering that God wants from ministers, the only offering that is "acceptable," is the offering of human lives. The word "acceptable" is significant. If ministers bring any other offering, it is unacceptable. God is not after buildings, programs, money, equipment, or anything else. God is after the lives of people.

The word acceptable means something else as well. It means that the offering of a human life is acceptable only if the person is brought...

- by "the gospel of God" and is "sanctified [set apart to God] by the Holy Spirit."

The good news of God's Son, Jesus Christ, has to be proclaimed and accepted for a person to be acceptable to God. The only person set apart to God by the Holy Spirit is the person who comes to God in the name of His Son, Jesus Christ.

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (Jn.14:6).

"Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

"For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time" (1 Tim.2:5-6).

4 (15:17-19) Minister—Boasting—Glorying: the minister of God talks about the things that pertain to God. Note four facts.

1. Paul talked about and gloried in Jesus Christ alone. There is a legitimate boasting, a justified glorying for the minister. However, it is critical to note where. The minister's boasting...

- is not in material things such as buildings, programs, membership, and numbers.
- is not in fleshly things such as position, charisma, fluency of speech, education, and titles.

Paul demonstrated this fact clearly, for he did not talk about himself nor about what he had done. He talked only about the things that pertained to God, only about the things wrought through Jesus Christ.

"That, according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord" (1 Cor.1:31).

"My soul shall make her boast in the LORD: the humble shall hear thereof, and be glad" (Ps.34:2).

"In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever" (Ps.44:8).

"In the LORD shall all the seed of Israel be justified, and shall glory" (Is.45:25).

"But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD" (Jer.9:24).

2. Paul talked about and gloried in the obedience of converts. Note that the Gentile converts were wrought by Christ, not by Paul. Christ used Paul's "words and deeds" to reach the converts, but it was Christ who worked in their hearts to convict and convert them.

The point is this: Paul talked about and shared the glorious news of converts, but he was careful...

- to give all the credit to Christ.
- to make no claims that were not true ("I will not dare to speak of...things which Christ hath not wrought").

"For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith" (Ro.12:3).

"Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up" (Jas.4:10).

"He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Mic.6:8).

"When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom" (Pr.11:2).

"Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall" (Pr.16:18).

"Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain" (Pr.25:14).

"But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil" (Jas.4:16).

"For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 Jn.2:16).

3. Paul talked about and gloried in the mighty signs and wonders wrought by the Holy Spirit. This is a term used in Scripture to refer to the wonderful miracles wrought by God—miracles which could be wrought only by God. Apparently, Paul had an extensive ministry of both evangelism and healing among people. But note the emphasis: it was all wrought by the “power of the Spirit of God.” It was the Holy Spirit who did the miracles. (Cp. Acts 13:11; 14:3, 10; 16:18; 19:11; 20:10; 28:5, 8.)

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all” (Acts 4:33).

“And God wrought special miracles by the hands of Paul: so that from his body were brought unto the sick handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them, and the evil spirits went out of them” (Acts 19:11-12).

“And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power” (1 Cor.2:4).

“That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man” (Eph.3:16).

“For unto which of the angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?” (Heb.1:5).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind” (2 Tim.1:7).

4. Paul talked about and gloried in the fact that he had been given the privilege to preach the gospel all around: “from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum” (present day Yugoslavia). Note that God had used Paul to preach throughout the world, but note the emphasis: “I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.” It was the gospel of Christ that God wanted the world to hear and receive, not the gospel of Paul. Paul was only the instrument that God used. Paul talked about the gospel of Christ penetrating and reaching the world.

“And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God” (Acts 9:20).

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness” (1 Cor.1:23).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus’ sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

5 (15:20-21) Minister: the minister of God strives to preach in pioneer areas for Christ. Note two striking points.

1. Paul strived to reach those who had never heard about Christ. His one ambition was to carry the gospel to those to whom no other preacher had gone. God had called him to be an apostle, a missionary evangelist, not to pastor and to build upon the ministry of other men.

⇒ Too many in the world had never heard about Christ.

⇒ Too many were still doomed to die without ever having heard.

⇒ Too many were to spend eternity apart from God.

Why? Simply because they had never heard. There were not enough ministers going into the pioneer areas and staying with the people long enough to root and grow them in the Lord.

2. Paul strived to fulfill God’s call to him by reaching the Gentiles, for God had called him to reach the pioneer areas (Acts 9:15; 22:14-15; 26:15-18). Note: Scripture predicts that the gospel is to be carried to those “who have not heard” (Is.52:15).

Thought 1. Paul was the first of God’s chosen vessels to carry the message to those who had never heard. Tragically, there are still multitudes who have not heard the gospel of Christ and who are dying and will spend eternity apart from God—all because we have not carried the gospel to them.

⇒ Who will be the “Pauls” of today?

⇒ Who has the courage to go to the pioneer areas today?

⇒ Who will reach those who have never even had the opportunity to hear?

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost” (Mt.28:19).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem” (Lk.24:47).

“And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us” (Acts 16:9).

“Thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard” (Acts 22:15).

“Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession” (Ps.2:8).

“Declare his glory among the heathen, his wonders among all people” (Ps.96:3).

DIVISION IX

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

B. The Messenger & His Ministry, 15:22-33

(15:22-33) Introduction: this passage is a remarkable description of the ministry of God's messenger. The messenger may be a preacher, a teacher, or a witnessing believer—it matters not—the principles of ministry are the same for all.

1. He did a thorough job where he was (v.22-23).
2. He had a world-wide vision (v.24).
3. He did not forget immediate needs as he made world-wide plans (v.25-27).
4. He served in the gospel of Christ—in the fulness of the blessing of the gospel (v.28-29).
5. He begged for much prayer in behalf of his ministry (v.30-32).
6. He set the example of intercessory prayer (v.33).

1 (15:22-23) Ministry: the minister of God does a thorough job where he is. Paul set a dynamic example for every minister and teacher of the gospel to stay where he is and complete the job God called him to do—despite the enormity of the task and great difficulties.

Paul stayed where he was and completed his ministry despite the desire to move on. God had called him to evangelize and minister throughout the region from Jerusalem to Illyricum, the country formerly known as Yugoslavia. Note how Paul longed to reach Spain and Rome for Christ, but he stayed in his present ministry because of the enormous problems and needs of the churches. (A quick glance at the overall outlines of the Epistles Paul wrote will give a review of some of the problems.) In addition to the problems within the churches, think of the opposition and personal attacks against Paul himself. Yet Paul stuck to the task at hand, working ever so diligently trying to straighten out the problems within the churches, and to meet their desperate need to grow in Christ. Note the words "having no more place in these parts." Paul was saying that he had now completed his task and finished his work. He had fought a good fight and finished his course. He had "fully preached the gospel of Christ" (v.19). Therefore, he could now move on.

Thought 1. What a convicting example Paul is to so many ministers who long to flee instead of facing the problems and meeting the needs of God's people.

"Are they ministers of Christ? (I speak as a fool) I am more; in labours more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequent, in deaths oft. Of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one. Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day I have been in the deep; in journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren; in weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness. Beside those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the churches” (2 Cor.11:23-28).

2 (15:24) Minister—Stewardship: the minister of God has a world-wide vision.

1. Paul had a world-wide vision. He longed and ached to reach the outer limits of the world. In the days of Paul, the western borders of Spain were considered the outposts of the civilized world. Paul knew that if he could personally evangelize the outposts of western Europe, the gospel would spread out into the uncivilized world.

Thought 1. He was consumed with the passion to reach every man, woman, and child with the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ who had died for them.

“[Christ] whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom; that we may present every man perfect in Christ Jesus: whereunto I also labour, striving according to his working, which worketh in me mightily” (Col.1:28-29).

2. Paul had a strong expectation: to have the help and fellowship and support of other believers in his attempt to reach the world. When he visited the Roman church, he expected...

- to be filled with the company and fellowship and help of the believers.
- to be financially supported in his mission to Spain (“sent on my way”).

Thought 1. In the great task of reaching the world for Christ, there are those who go forth to preach the gospel, and there are those who prayerfully and financially support the preachers. Both are absolutely essential.

“For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? and how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!” (Ro.10:13-15).

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering; or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, in exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness” (Ro.12:6-8).

“Then the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren which dwelt in Judaea” (Acts 11:29).

3 (15:25-27) Ministering: the minister of God does not forget immediate needs as he makes future or world-wide plans.

As much as Paul longed to preach the gospel in Rome and Spain, there was a more immediate need pressing in upon him—a need of enormous proportion. Saints of God all throughout Judaea were suffering from deep poverty. No doubt some of them had lost their jobs because of their witness for Christ, and the land had apparently suffered a famine of some sort. Whatever the cause, many of God’s people were hungry, unclothed, and unsheltered. They needed help, and it was the minister’s (Paul’s) task to help them. For this reason, Paul had taken a special offering from all the churches in Macedonia and Achaia to help the poor saints in Jerusalem. Note how strongly Paul felt about saints helping one another when they were in need. He said that the Gentile churches were debtors to the poor saints at Jerusalem. Why? Because it was from the Jerusalem believers that the gospel had spread. Since they had ministered the spiritual gift of salvation to the Gentile churches, the Gentile churches were now in debt to help the Jerusalem believers in their physical need.

Our task is to always meet the needs (true needs) of local saints before we move out to meet the needs of those in other nations. If we do not meet the needs of our brothers who live next door, how can we expect God to bless us in trying to meet the needs of those in other countries?

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]” (1 Tim.6:17-18).

“But to do good and to communicate [give, minister] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

Thought 1. Believers are debtors to help other believers throughout the world when they face critical needs. Why? Because genuine believers are ministering to each other through their daily prayers and other spiritual gifts.

Genuine believers are the recipients of each other's prayers and gifts as they minister to each other daily through the presence and power of God's Spirit.

4 (15:28-29) Gospel—Minister: the minister of God serves in the gospel. Note two significant points.

1. Paul kept his world-wide vision even in the face of the pressing needs of the Jerusalem believers. He intended to evangelize Rome and Spain, and he would not let the desperate plight of the present need—as desperate as it was—deter his world-wide vision.

Thought 1. What a lesson for most of us! How long ago would the world have been reached for Christ if we had kept the world before our face despite the pressing needs of our present situations?

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“As I live, saith the Lord GOD, surely because my flock became a prey, and my flock became meat to every beast of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my flock, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my flock” (Ezk.34:8).

2. It is the “gospel of Christ” and the blessing of it that Paul served. There is no other message or truth that can meet the desperate need of man for life—life that is both abundant and eternal. Paul knew this; therefore, he was gripped with the burning zeal to proclaim Christ.

“I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise. So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are at Rome also” (Ro.1:14-15).

“Necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

5 (15:30-32) Prayer: the minister of God begs for much prayer. Note: he does not request prayer for selfish reasons, but for the sake of the Lord Jesus Christ. Paul's one ambition in life was for Jesus Christ to be praised, worshipped, and served by all men. It was for Christ's sake—for the cause of Christ and His kingdom—that Paul wanted people praying for him. Paul needed prayer in three areas in particular.

1. He needed deliverance from unbelievers. Unbelievers were constantly rejecting, ridiculing, mocking, abusing, threatening, and persecuting him—even while he was sharing the glorious news of eternal life with them.

Thought 1. The fact that men reject the glorious truth of eternal life is shocking to some people. However, we must keep in mind why men react against the gospel. They are unwilling to give their lives to Jesus Christ as Lord: to sacrifice all they are and have to serve Him and to meet the desperate needs of a world reeling under the weight of starvation, disease, sin, and suffering.

2. He needed prayer that his ministry would be accepted by the saints. Unfortunately and tragically, too many believers do not accept the ministry of all of God's servants. The servant may be a lay teacher or a professional preacher—it does not matter—too many ministers are opposed and rejected by believers for selfish and sinful reasons. Paul was constantly being opposed by carnal believers. He desperately needed prayer: prayer that the believers to whom he ministered would understand his call and ministry and understand why God had placed him with them. The churches to whom he ministered needed to receive his spiritual gifts and to grow under his ministry.

3. He needed prayer that he might be allowed to carry out his world-wide vision and be refreshed by believers where he was called to go.

“Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints” (Eph.6:18).

“Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving” (Col.4:2).

“Pray without ceasing” (1 Th.5:17).

- 6 (15:33) Prayer: the minister of God sets the example of intercessory prayer. This is striking: while in the midst of requesting prayer, Paul broke out into prayer for the Roman believers. The prayer was only one request, but it was forceful and meaningful: "Now the God of peace be with you all. Amen." Note these facts:
- ⇒ What every man needs is peace: peace within and peace without.
  - ⇒ Peace comes from God: if men want true peace, they must seek it in God.
  - ⇒ God is the God of peace: peace is of His very nature.
  - ⇒ If man could make only one request in life, the request should be to receive the God of peace. This is the one request Paul made for the Roman believers. Peace does not come from a genie in a bottle nor from the sorceries and sciences of this world. Peace comes only from the Creator of the world, from the God of peace Himself.

DIVISION IX

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

C. The Messenger's Commendations: One of God's Halls of Fame, 16:1-16

(16:1-16) Introduction—Church—Christian Brotherhood: this is one of God's Halls of Fame. It gives a list of some of the believers in the Roman church and their outstanding Christian traits. Each name stands as a challenge to every believer to follow the Lord more closely than ever before. Throughout the passage note the emphasis upon a warm, tender heart. A local church should be a friendly, welcoming church—an open, gracious church. There should be no strangers in the Lord's church. The church should guard against becoming a closed society, a body of cliques, shut up only to themselves.

1. Phebe: a Christian sister who deserved to be welcomed and befriended (v.1-2).
2. Priscilla and Aquila: a hospitable couple, who opened their hearts and home—even at the risk of death (v.3-4).
3. Epenetus: a courageous first convert (v.5).
4. Mary: a lady who labored much (v.6).
5. Andronicus and Junia: early converts imprisoned with Paul (v.7).
6. Amplias: one beloved (v.8).
7. Urbane: a fellow-worker (v.9).
8. Stachys: one beloved (v.9).
9. Apelles: tried and proven (v.10).
10. Aristobulus' household: slaves serving a true Master (v.10).
11. Herodion: a relative of Paul (v.11).
12. Narcissus' household: enslaved "in the Lord" (v.11).
13. Tryphena and Tryphosa: two ladies who labored much (v.12).
14. Persis: a beloved believer who worked hard (v.12).
15. Rufus: a saintly man (v.13).
16. Rufus' mother: a mother to God's servants (v.13).
17. The unknown servants: unknown but faithful in the fellowship of the church (v.14-16).

1 (16:1-2) Phebe—Deaconess: there was Phebe, a Christian sister who deserved to be welcomed and befriended. Note these facts about her.

1. The name Phebe is one of the names of the goddess Diana; therefore, Phebe was probably a convert from a heathen religion.

2. Paul calls her “our sister,” meaning a sister in the faith of Christ. She was a woman beloved by Paul and the believers of her church, highly esteemed as a genuine sister of the faith.

3. Phebe was a servant of the church at Cenchrea, which was the seaport of Corinth (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Cenchrea—Acts 18:18). Note the word “servant” (diakonon). It is the word deacon or deaconess. Does this mean that Phebe held the official office of a deacon in the early church? Note closely what the Scripture says and it seems to be saying that she did: “Phebe our sister, which is a servant (deaconess) of the church.” The words “of the church” (tes ekklesias) modify servant or deaconess. Phebe was a servant or a deaconess of the church which is at Cenchrea. Paul is not saying she is a servant of the Lord to all of God’s people in general. She was, of course, just as all believers are. But this is not what Paul is saying. He is very clear about the matter: she is an official “servant [deaconess] of the church which is at Cenchrea.”

The separation of the sexes in that day would almost necessitate some official office of women to minister to the women of the church. This would be especially true in the area of ministry where women would be alone, for example, in visiting and caring for the sick and in distributing food and clothing among the needful.

4. Phebe deserved to be welcomed and befriended in the Lord. There are two reasons for this.
  - a. Believers are always to welcome and befriend other believers. The church is not an exclusive club nor a society of cliques. It is to be a welcoming center for all strangers and neighbors, whether saint or sinner.
  - b. Phebe had been a “succourer” (prostatis) of many, including Paul himself. The word succourer means that she protected, helped, looked after, and provided for people. Phebe was a woman who ministered to the needs of many. Apparently she helped and looked after the welfare of any who had need.

Thought 1. The great lessons to be learned from Phebe are twofold:

- ⇒ We should be servants of the church.
- ⇒ We should be constantly ministering to all who are in need.

“I was eyes to the blind, and feet was I to the lame” (Job 29:15).

“She stretcheth out her hand to the poor; yea, she reacheth forth her hands to the needy” (Pr.31:20).

“The Lord GOD hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary: he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as the learned” (Is.50:4).

“Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: for I was an hungry, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me” (Mt.25:34-36).

“And certain women, which had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out of whom went seven devils, and Joanna the wife of Chuza Herod’s steward, and Susanna, and many others, which ministered unto him of their substance” (Lk.8:2-3).

“Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints’ feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work” (1 Tim.5:10).

2 (16:3-4) Priscilla—Aquila—Hospitality—Church, in Homes: there was Priscilla and Aquila, a hospitable couple who opened their hearts and home even at the risk of death. Priscilla and Aquila were close companions of Paul. They were originally residents of Rome. But the Roman emperor, Claudius, had the Jews banished from Rome in A.D. 52. Priscilla and Aquila moved to Corinth. They were the couple who opened their home to Paul when he first entered Corinth. They were also the couple who went into business with Paul as tent makers. They later travelled with Paul to Ephesus where they settled (Acts 18:18). The chief characteristic of this couple was an open heart and an open house. Wherever we find them, we find that their home was the center for Christian worship and fellowship. (See note and DEEPER STUDY # 2—Acts 18:2.)

1. They received the young preacher, Apollos, into their home to instruct him in the faith (Acts 18:24-26).
2. They had a church meeting in their home in Ephesus (1 Cor.16:19).
3. They had another church meeting in their home in Rome (Ro.16:13).
4. Paul called them “my helpers [fellow-workers] in Christ Jesus” (Ro.16:3), and he explained what he meant. They risked their lives in order to save him. This probably refers to the attacks made upon Paul and the church in Corinth (Acts 18:6, 12-17), or to some other severe persecution that took place in Ephesus (1 Cor.15:32; cp. 2 Cor.1:8). In either case, this godly couple, Priscilla and Aquila, risked their lives in order to save the life of one of God’s dear servants, Paul himself.

Thought 1. Note several lessons.

- 1) A believer should have an open home and show forth a testimony of hospitality. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Church in Houses—Lk.9:4 for more discussion.)

“Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality” (Ro.12:13).

“But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate” (Tit.1:8).

“Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares” (Heb.13:2).

“Use hospitality one to another without grudging” (1 Pt.4:9).

- 2) A believer should be a helper or a fellow-worker and laborer in the ministry of Christ Jesus.

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest” (Mt.9:37-38).

“Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“But to do good and to communicate [give] forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased” (Heb.13:16).

“Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins” (Jas.5:20).

“The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise” (Pr.11:30).

- 3) A believer should humble and sacrifice himself for the sake of other believers.

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.16:25).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth [welfare]” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

- 3 (16:5) Epenetus—Courage: there was Epenetus, a courageous first convert. He was probably a member of the household of Stephanas whose house is said to have been the first fruits of Achaia (1 Cor.16:15). It took raw courage to be the first convert to Christ in the midst of a pagan society. Just imagine the changed life, the surrendering of himself to Jesus as Lord, and the giving of all he was and had to the Lord’s cause. Just imagine the attitude and reactions of his neighbors, friends and fellow-workers: the possible questioning, misunderstanding, ridicule, mockery, withdrawal, isolation. Epenetus was unquestionably a man of remarkable courage.

“Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.10:32-33).

“Whosoever therefore shall be ashamed of me and of my words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when he cometh in the glory of his Father with the holy angels” (Mk.8:38).

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“And in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God” (Ph.1:28).

- 4 (16:6) Mary: there was Mary, a lady who labored much. Note that Mary was a member of the Roman church. Paul had never been to the Roman church; therefore, Mary had ministered to him and his fellow-workers someplace else. In fact, she had ministered so much to his corps of workers that Paul commends her for this labor rather than for her ministry to the church. We have no idea what she did for Paul’s team, but whatever it was, it was an effective ministry that required much diligent labor.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

- 5 (16:7) Andronicus—Junia: these two believers were early converts who were imprisoned with Paul. They were per-haps man and wife. The facts given about them are interesting, for they reveal that Paul had some relatives who were also believers.

1. They were “kinsmen,” that is, relatives of Paul.
2. They were imprisoned with Paul at some point in his ministry. This indicates...
  - that they were genuine believers willing to stand up for their faith.
  - that they were a part of Paul’s mission team, at least for some time.
3. They were known and highly esteemed by the apostles of Christ.
4. They were believers before Paul. This means they were among the very earliest believers, having been converted before Stephen’s martyrdom (Acts 7:54-60).

Thought 1. Did these relatives of Paul have an impact upon Paul’s conversion? Were they witnessing to him during his days of soul-searching and reaction against the early church? Was the fact that some of his family were becoming Christians arousing bitterness in Paul? Was this part of the reason for his flaming vengeance against Christianity? (See notes—Acts 8:1-4; 9:1-2 for more discussion.) Whatever the case, we should always be witnessing to our family and relatives.

“And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also” (2 Tim.2:2).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us; and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

Thought 2. We must be willing to stand up for Christ and to bear testimony for Him, even if it means imprisonment and death.

“Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things. Remember that Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to my gospel” (2 Tim.2:7-8).

6 (16:8) Amplias: this believer simply has the testimony of being beloved. But note, he is “beloved” by a minister of the gospel; and he is greatly loved, for he is called “my beloved.” The fact that God has his name recorded as “beloved” in the Holy Scripture indicates that he was a man of remarkable love, a man who greatly loved others and who was greatly loved by others.

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you” (1 Th.3:12).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

7 (16:9) Urbane: this believer was a helper, that is, a fellow-worker in the ministry. Three things in particular are noteworthy.

1. He was a man who worked side by side with God’s minister, Paul.
2. He was a man of unusual diligence. The very fact that he would be laboring with Paul and would be mentioned as a fellow-worker by Paul indicates this.
3. He was a man of unusual faithfulness who was loyal to Christ wherever he travelled. Remember: he met Paul while on a trip away from Rome. He could have been a tradesman or a salesman; nevertheless, whatever his reason for travelling, he did not become entangled again with the world, joining the crowd in its worldliness. He was faithful in serving and witnessing for his Lord wherever he was.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage [of sin]” (Gal.5:1).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

“Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own stedfastness” (2 Pt.3:17).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

8 (16:9) Stachys: this believer is also called “my beloved” by Paul. He was a believer who was characterized by the greatest of all traits and qualities: love.

Thought 1. Just imagine the strength of a man whose character is said to be so strong that his dominant feature is love.

“Charity [love] suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up. doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things” (1 Cor.13:4-7).

- 9 (16:10) Apelles: this was a believer who had been tried and approved as faithful. Apparently, Apelles had undergone some extreme suffering and had stood against it, proving his loyalty beyond question. Note: the trial and suffering had been so severe that it had made a lasting impression upon Paul and is mentioned in Scripture.

Thought 1. So far as we know Apelles was a lay believer. The fact that he was tested so fiercely shows that God will meet our need in the midst of suffering—if we will do but one thing: be faithful, loyal. We are to stand fast against suffering, trusting the presence of God’s Spirit to carry us through the trial.

“There hath no temptation [trial] taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation [trial] also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and God of all comfort; who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God” (2 Cor.1:3-4).

“But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us” (2 Cor.4:7).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.1:6-7).

“Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ’s suffering; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy” (1 Pt.4:12-13).

- 10 (16:10) Aristobulus: the believers being greeted in this statement were slaves who were now serving the true Master, the Lord Jesus Christ. Aristobulus was the name of Herod the Great’s grandson. This could possibly be a reference to his slaves. The two names surrounding Aristobulus’ name would indicate this. Apelles is the Greek name that a Jewish slave would take when enslaved, and Herodion is a name that would be commonly used by a person of Herod’s household. At any rate, the charge is to the slaves of some master, probably of royal rank. Since coming to know Christ, they were first and foremost enslaved by Christ, the true Royal Master.

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free” (Eph.6:7-8).

“And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:23-24).

- 11 (16:11) Herodion: this man was another relative of Paul who was a believer (cp. v.7). There is no reason for translating kinsman (suggene) as fellow-countryman instead of relative. Others who are mentioned were Jews, but are not called kinsmen by Paul. What effect did this relative have upon Paul’s conversion? Again the answer is unknown, but the fact that we should be witnessing to our relatives is driven home to our hearts and minds.

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

- 12 (16:11) Narcissus: the believers in this household were the enslaved “in the Lord.” Note: not all of the household were believers. Paul greets only those who were believers. The phrase “in the Lord” is in contrast to the phrase “in the world” (cp. 1 Jn.2:15-16). It is probably a deliberate wording to contrast the difference between the laboring slaves and their wealthy master. Narcissus was probably the wealthy secretary to the Emperor Claudius. He determined the appointments of the Emperor and amassed a great fortune from kickbacks. (William Barclay. The Letter to the Romans, p.233.)

The fact to note is this: these believers were so enslaved by Christ that they stood up for Him even in the midst of a divided household. Nothing can pose any more of a temptation and threat to one’s faith than one’s own household when it is filled with unbelievers. The indication is that these believers within this household were faithful to Christ, so loyal that their commitment to Christ merited being recorded in Scripture.

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me” (Mt.16:24).

“If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters, yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple. And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:26-27).

“So likewise, whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple” (Lk.14:33).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

- 13 (16:12) Tryphena—Tryphosa: these two dear ladies labored much in the Lord. The name Tryphena means dainty and the name Tryphosa means delicate. The word “labor” means to work to the point of exhaustion, toiling to the point of collapse. The point is that the two dainty and delicate ladies were working like horses for the Lord and His church (cp. vs.6, 12<sup>b</sup>).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works” (Heb.10:24).

- 14 (16:12) Persis: this was a beloved believer who worked hard in the Lord. Note that two traits are recorded in God’s Hall of Fame about her:

- ⇒ She was beloved: a woman of such love and ministry that the believers looked upon her as the “beloved Persis.”
- ⇒ She labored ever so diligently for her Lord: witnessing, ministering, and helping in every way she could.

“That they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate [give]” (1 Tim.6:18).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity, sound speech, that cannot be condemned; that he that is of the contrary part may be ashamed, having no evil thing to say of you” (Tit.2:7-8).

“Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father” (1 Th.1:3).

“Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it” (Ps.34:14).

- 15 (16:13) Rufus: this believer is said to be a saintly man. Note the word chosen. Paul does not say that Rufus was chosen by the Lord, but in the Lord. The emphasis is not election, but tenderness, preciousness, and warmth—an intimate relationship. Rufus was a man who lived ever so close to Christ. He had an intimate, personal relationship and communion with Christ. He was known as a saintly man—a man who was totally set apart unto the Lord. Note that Rufus was probably the son of Simon the Cyrenian who carried the cross for Jesus (see note—Mk.15:21). Our imaginations can easily picture the family of Simon along side the road watching their husband and father carry the cross for Jesus up the hill of Calvary. The impact of the crucifixion would forever change their lives by leading to their conversion.

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness [being saintly, sanctified] in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:16).

- 16 (16:13) Rufus’ Mother: this dear lady was a mother to God’s servants. Note: Paul calls her his mother, not literally, but in the Lord. On several occasions, perhaps many occasions, she had cared for Paul just as a mother cares for her son. When Paul needed a mother’s comfort and care, presence and love, sharing and advice—he went to the mother of Rufus if she was close by.

Thought 1. How many mothers live so close to the Lord that Paul would go to them for a mother’s comfort, love, and advice?

“For whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother” (Mt.12:50).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren” (Heb.2:11).

- 17 (16:14-16) Believers—Hall of Fame: there are the unknown servants of God—believers who are unknown, but faithful in the fellowship of the church.

⇒ Note the words: “and the brethren which are with them” (v.16).

⇒ Note also the words: “and all the saints which are with them” (v.17).

ROMANS 16:1-16

Apparently two different groups or congregations are being greeted. The stress is upon the unity, faithfulness, and fellowship of the believers. Not all believers are leaders, nor would all believers be counted worthy of a Hall of Fame while on this earth. But in heaven the situation will be different. God will look upon the heart, and every person will be written in the Book of Life, God's eternal Hall of Fame. Only two conditions exist for a person to be written therein:

⇒ Receiving Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord.

“But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name” (Jn.1:12).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

⇒ Being faithful to the Lord and to the fellowship of His people (His true church).

“Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching” (Heb.10:25).

“And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire” (Rev.20:15).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away....And there shall in no wise enter into any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life” (Rev.21:1, 27).

DIVISION IX

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

D. The Messenger's Final Warning: Mark Divisive People, 16:17-20

(16:17-20) Introduction: divisiveness and evil are always a threat to the local church. The reason can be simply stated: people have problems, even believers. The fact that we live in a corrupt and depraved world means that people become disgruntled, disappointed, unhappy, selfish, sinful, and in some cases evil. Even the strongest believers become contaminated with corruption by having to live in the very air of a sinful world. It is because of this that Paul warns the church and its believers: mark divisive people, for they are a constant threat to the church.

1. Mark divisive people and avoid them (v.17-18).
2. Mark what is good, and untainted with evil (v.19-20).

1 (16:17-18) Teachers, False—Division—Stumbling Block: mark divisive people and avoid them. Note: this warning abruptly cuts into Paul's greeting to the Roman church. Paul is greeting various believers in the church whom he has met on his travels throughout the world. All of a sudden, he interrupts his greeting and issues a severe warning. The abrupt interruption is not an afterthought; it is the final exhortation needed by a strong church—an exhortation against an event that is bound to happen: the seeping in of divisive people. A divisive person is a person who...

- grumbles
- complains
- criticizes
- murmurs
- gossips
- is argumentative
- causes strife
- acts out of pride, ambition, or selfishness
- is unloving
- teaches a different doctrine

The most effective way for Satan to get a foothold into a strong church is to quietly and insidiously move a divisive person into some teaching or leadership position where he can influence immature believers. Paul knew this, so he left the warning until the end of his letter. It is a warning that must be heeded by a strong church if it is to keep its witness for the Lord.

There are three reasons why a divisive person must be marked and avoided.

1. A divisive person causes division and lays stumbling blocks in the way of growth. Note exactly what is said: a divisive person acts "contrary to the doctrine which [believers] have learned." He causes "divisions and offenses."
  - ⇒ The word "division" (dichostasias) means standing apart, being separate, or causing cleavage.
  - ⇒ The word "offenses" (skandala) means laying a stumbling block in someone's way or causing someone to fall.
- a. The divisive person acts "contrary to the doctrine which [believers] have learned." The doctrine of God and of Christ is simply stated:

"And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment" (1 Jn.3:23).

Genuine believers have trusted God's Son. They have accepted Christ as their Lord, giving all they are and have to Him; and they do love one another, having committed their lives to carry the doctrine of Christ to the world.

However, this is not true with a divisive person. He acts contrary to the teaching of God and of Christ. He opposes...

- the Lordship of Christ.
- the doctrine of Christ.
- the love of believers.
- the mission of reaching the world with the gospel: the glorious news of life in Christ, life that is both abundant and eternal.

- b. Avoid them because of the terrible devastation that a divisive person can do to the strength of a church. The word “avoid” (ekklinante) means to shun, to turn away from, to keep away from, to remove oneself from. Get away from them and have absolutely nothing to do with them.
- c. “Mark” the divisive person. The word “mark” (skopeite) means to keep one’s eye on, to look at, to observe, to focus upon, to contemplate, to scrutinize. Note: it is the divisive person himself who is to be avoided and turned away from, not just his sin. We are not to have anything to do with a divisive person...
- for we give the appearance of approving what he is doing.
  - for we run the risk of being influenced and stumbling over what he says and does.

“Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!” (Mt.18:7).

“And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea” (Mk.9:42).

“But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house falleth” (Lk.11:17).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?” (1 Cor.3:3).

“Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God. Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God” (1 Cor.10:31-32).

“Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed” (2 Cor.6:3).

“Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27)

2. A divisive person does not serve Christ, but his own desires. The word “belly” (koiliai) means the stomach and its physical appetites. A divisive person is gripped by...

- selfish desires
- base ambition
- personal urges
- physical appetites
- wanting his own way
- getting what he wants

Note: Scripture clearly says that divisive persons do not serve Christ. They call themselves Christians, but their Lord is not Christ. They are not committed to His honor, glory, and mission, but to themselves—to getting and doing what they want. The divisive person is still given over to the things of this carnal, sensual, and secular world.

“For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:18-19).

3. A divisive person uses talk and flattering words to deceive. He uses smooth, persuasive, and plausible words to lead people to take sides with him. He talks and acts godly, and he shows interest and concern for those whom he wants to convince. But note what Scripture says: the motive of the divisive person is to deceive. He wants others...

- to think as he thinks.
- to believe as he believes.
- to walk as he walks.
- to live as he lives.
- to follow as he follows.
- to talk as he talks.

The result of his divisiveness is tragic: he deceives the simple, that is, the unsuspecting, the innocent, the immature, the carnal, the new-born believers.

“For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision [religionists]: whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre’s sake” (Tit.1:10-11).

“[Men] having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away. For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, ever learning [the latest philosophy or theology or novelty], and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:5-7).

2 (16:19-20) Church, Strong: mark what is good, and untainted with evil. A strong church, such as the Roman church, must constantly be marking and focusing upon what is good and untainted with evil. If a strong church fails to know and do good, it will be penetrated by evil (divisiveness) and it will become a weak church. Therefore, a strong church must always, with the utmost diligence, be looking for what is good and untainted with evil. Three reasons are given for this charge.

1. A strong church such as the Roman church is obedient to the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the very reason for its strength: the church has been obedient to the Lord, doing exactly as He commands. The believers have been...

- a. Living soberly, righteously, and godly in this present world.

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

- b. Ministering to the needs of people even as He ministered.

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

- c. Witnessing to all far and wide, fulfilling His mission.

“Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world” (Mt.28:19-20).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

The result of such a dynamic obedience is a strong testimony that is spread among all men. People know where to go when they need help: they know where the obedient believers are who are truly following the Lord.

2. A strong church must be wise to know what is good. Its people must grow more and more in goodness—in knowing what is good and what is evil. Believers must be wise...

- to search for what is good and untainted with evil.
- to know what is good and untainted with evil.

The word “simple” (akerios) means unmixed, unadulterated, pure, innocent, without any mixture of evil. The idea is that the believers of a strong church must constantly mark, focus, and concentrate upon what is good in order to keep the bad out of its fellowship. The way to keep evil out of a church is to focus upon the good. The way to demonstrate spiritual wisdom is to concentrate upon the good; then evil will be recognized for what it is, and it will be rejected.

The point is this: a strong church must not only avoid evil (v.17); it must not allow evil to penetrate its fellowship. It must not allow a divisive person to stir up the “simple” (unsuspecting and innocent) believers of the church. A church must be wise: it must mark and focus upon what is good and untainted with evil. It must be wise enough to spot evil and to stop its penetration into the fellowship.

3. God will soon give victory over Satan. The meaning of “soon” does not mean shortly, but quickly or swiftly. The idea is not that God is coming soon to destroy Satan, but when God acts to deliver His people from evil and divisiveness, Satan will be quickly defeated. His work against God’s consecrated people (a strong church) will last only for a moment. The “God of Peace” will restore peace swiftly and quickly to the fellowship of a strong people. But note: the defeat of Satan and divisive persons is conditional. A strong church must do what has been said: mark and focus upon what is good and untainted with evil. God will bless a church that is obedient and concentrating upon Christ and His mission (cp. point 1 of this note).

Note another fact: God is going to bruise Satan under the believers’ feet. It is the feet of the believers that God uses to bruise Satan. When genuine believers of a strong church do what God says, then God will act to deliver His people from evil and divisiveness.

“Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you” (Lk.10:19).

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you” (Ro.16:20).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world” (1 Jn.4:4).

DIVISION IX

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

E. The Messenger's Companions, 16:21-24

(16:21-24) Introduction: it is important for every minister and believer to have close associates who know and are faithful to the Lord. The strength of the associates greatly affects the witness of the minister. This passage gives a glimpse into the lives of a few of Paul's associates.

1. Timothy: a right-hand man, a fellow-worker (v.21).
2. Lucius, Jason, Sosipater: relatives who were believers (v.21).
3. Tertius: a humble helper (v.22).
4. Gaius: a man of hospitality (v.23).
5. Erastus: a civil servant, the city treasurer (v.23).
6. Quartus: a Christian brother (v.23).

1 (16:21) Timothy: Paul calls Timothy his right hand man, his fellow-worker. There is a great deal of information on Timothy throughout the New Testament. There are even two letters which bear his name included in the New Testament. The letters were written to Timothy by Paul himself (1 and 2 Timothy. Also see DEEPER STUDY # 1—Acts 16:1-3; notes—Ph.1:1; 1 Tim.1:18 for more discussion.) Note two facts mentioned about Timothy, facts which should speak to our hearts.

1. His name, "Timothy," means one who honors God. Both his mother and grandmother were faithful believers who reared Timothy in the Scriptures (2 Tim.1:5; 3:15). Apparently when Timothy was born, his mother had dedicated him to the Lord after the pattern of the Old Testament believers. She gave him his name knowing perfectly well what it meant. Her hope and prayer was that Christ would take her child and use him to bring honor to God's name.

Thought 1. What a dynamic example for parents! We should all commit our children to Christ, rearing them in the Scriptures and constantly praying for Christ to use them to bring honor to God's name.

"Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned" (1 Tim.1:5).

"But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth" (1 Tim.3:15).

"And thou shalt teach them [God's Word] diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up" (Dt.6:7).

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it" (Pr.22:6).

2. Timothy is called Paul's "fellow-worker." Paul places Timothy on an equal par with himself. Paul sees Timothy's call and ministry as being as important as his own. This says several significant things.

- a. Timothy's mind—his thoughts, imaginations, concepts, ideas, purposes, plans, concerns—was consumed with the very same things as Paul's mind: Christ, His mission, and the reaching and caring for people.

"For I have no man likeminded, who will naturally care for your state" (Ph.2:20).

"Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ" (2 Cor.10:5).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:8-9).

- b. Timothy was faithful in ministering right along with other ministers of the gospel, doing exactly what God had called him to do. Note that he was second to Paul, that is, Paul’s assistant. However, this did not bother Timothy, for Timothy knew something: it was God, not man, who had called him to be second and to serve as the assistant. Therefore, he was faithful, always serving his Lord and helping the chief minister.

“For this cause have I sent unto you Timotheus, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord, who shall bring you into remembrance of my ways which be in Christ, as I teach every where in every church” (1 Cor.4:17).

“Paul and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons” (Ph.1:1).

“But ye know the proof of him, that, as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the gospel. Him therefore I hope to send presently, so soon as I shall see how it will go with me” (Ph.2:22-23).

“Know ye that our brother Timothy is set at liberty [released from prison]; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you” (Heb.13:23).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

2 (16:21) Lucius—Jason—Sospater: these men were apparently relatives of Paul. It should be noted, however, that the word “kinsmen” is thought by some to mean fellow-countrymen. This is unlikely, for Paul often mentions others who are fellow Jews and he does not refer to them as kinsmen. Apparently, Paul had a family tree just like most of us have: branches that just keep on running out from our aunts, uncles, and their children who are our cousins. Just who these men were we cannot be sure, but note what is said in this passage.

1. They were relatives of Paul who had trusted Christ as their Savior and surrendered to His Lordship. Who was converted first, Paul or his three relatives? We do not know; but this much is known. Genuine believers pray, and they diligently pray for relatives, believing that it is their responsibility to reach their own families first. For this reason, Paul’s family saw quite a few of its members give their lives to Christ (cp. Ro.16:7).

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house [to witness]. And he arose, and departed to his house” (Mt.9:6-7).

“Return to thine own house, and show how great things God hath done unto thee. And he went his way, and published throughout the whole city how great things Jesus had done unto him” (Lk.8:39).

“He first findeth his own brother Simon, and saith unto him, We have found the Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ” (Jn.1:41).

“So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth: and himself believed, and his whole house” (Jn.4:53).

“And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there, And she constrained us” (Acts 16:15).

“And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved? And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house” (Acts 16:30-31).

“But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to show piety at home, and to requite [make some return to] their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God” (1 Tim.5:4).

2. They were serving the Lord with Paul. Any person serving with Paul was bound to be committed to Christ and to be fully committed, for if any man has ever been committed to Christ, it was Paul. Without question, these three men had given all they were and had to the Lord. They were bound to be gripped with the needs of masses suffering under the weight of starvation, disease, poverty, sin, and death, and with the urgent need to get the gospel of salvation to them. The very fact that they were serving with Paul tells us that this was the heartbeat of their lives.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many” (Mt.20:28).

“Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you” (Jn.20:21).

3 (16:22) Tertius: this believer was a humble helper. Note two significant facts about Tertius.

1. He helped Paul in a most significant but humble way. Apparently he was not a preacher, but he served as the personal secretary to Paul, writing this letter to the Romans for Paul.

Thought 1. The need for dedicated people who are gifted to handle details is desperately needed in the service of Christ! Very little if anything can be done effectively without what may be called the Service Ministries. May God stir and arouse men and women to give their lives as Tertius did: to reach out in the service ministries of the Lord.

2. He personally knew the Lord and was bold in proclaiming his testimony. Glance at the verse again: "I Tertius, who wrote this epistle, salute you in the Lord" (v.22) Paul does not send the greeting for Tertius; Tertius takes it upon himself to send his own greeting. He is a fellow-believer with the Roman Christians, and he wants to greet them in the name of Christ, proclaiming his own faith and his own ministry in the Lord. Men of the world may consider him and his work as secretary of little importance. But he does not: his faith and ministry are the most important things in the world to him. Therefore, he proclaims that he too is "in the Lord" and that he is the secretary who wrote the letter for Paul.

Thought 1. Just imagine how few letters, books, articles, and papers would be written for Christ without the dear saintly servants who labor ever so diligently as the secretaries for God's ministers. Think about all the service ministries and how much would never get done without the commitment of God's detail servants.

"But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve" (Lk.22:26).

"For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith" (Ro.12:3).

"Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord" (Ro.12:10-11).

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men" (Ph.2:5-7).

Thought 2. Something we must always remember and proclaim: no work and no service done for God is small. Men may rank work and labor, but God does not. God ranks and judges only faithfulness.

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much" (Lk.16:10).

"And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities" (Lk.19:17).

4 (16:23) Gaius: this believer was a man of unusual hospitality. Apparently Gaius was a wealthy man who had a home large enough to entertain the whole church and to house God's servants over a long period of time. The point to note is this: he was faithful in using his money, wealth, and estate for the Lord.

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal" (Mt.6:19-20).

"Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality" (Ro.12:13).

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim.6:17-19).

"But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate" (Tit.1:8).

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares" (Heb.13:2).

"Use hospitality one to another without grudging" (1 Pt.4:9).

5 (16:23) Erastus: this believer was a civil servant, the treasurer of the great city of Corinth. This tells us that he was...

- a man highly respected both among believers and the world.
- a man of extreme responsibility who could be greatly trusted to look after his responsibility.
- a man of courage who stood up for his convictions and did not let political office, friends, or associates in high places keep him from confessing Christ.

It is interesting to note that Erastus was apparently called to preach the gospel, and eventually he resigned or was removed from political office. He is seen on a mission tour with Timothy (Acts 19:22) and is mentioned as still being faithful in the latter months of Paul's life (2 Tim.4:20).

“Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.10:32-33).

“Also I say unto you, Whosoever shall confess me before men, him shall the Son of man also confess before the angels of God” (Lk.12:8).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

6 (16:23) Quartus: this believer is very simply called “a brother.” This is significant, for it means...

- that he had made a genuine commitment to Christ and that he was serving mankind as a servant of the Lord Jesus Christ.
- that he had a brotherly heart and love, helping and standing with other believers as a brother in the Lord.

“A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another” (Jn.13:34-35).

“This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you” (Jn.15:12).

“Let love be without dissimulation [hypocrisy]. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good” (Ro.12:9).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

DIVISION IX.

THE MESSENGER OF GOD AND HIS PLANS, 15:14-16:27

F. The Messenger's Benediction: God is Able to Establish You, 16:25-27

(16:25-27) Introduction: God is able to establish the believer. The word “establish” (sterixai) means to strengthen, secure, make stable, set fast, and make firm. The one thing men long for is to be secure, strong, and firmly established in life. God is able to fulfill this longing. God is able to establish and strengthen man, giving him a strong life.

1. Established by the gospel (v.25).
2. Established by the preaching of Christ (v.25).
3. Established by God's revelation of the mystery (v.25-26).
4. The benediction (v.27).

1 (16:25) Spiritual Growth—Stability—Stedfastness—Security: believers are established and made strong by the gospel. Note a significant point.

Paul calls the gospel “my gospel.” He does not mean that he possesses the gospel, nor that he is the author and creator of it. He does not mean that he has formulated a man-made gospel that men are to follow. He simply means that he is a preacher of God's gospel, and God uses the gospel which he and other preachers proclaim to strengthen believers. God is the Sovereign Majesty of the universe who possesses the message of the glorious gospel. God is the Author and Creator of the message, not Paul nor any other preacher. But note: Paul and other preachers are ambassadors; they are the representatives of God who carry forth the gospel of God. The preacher of the gospel stands before the world with God's message. He has the right and the authority to proclaim the gospel, and the gospel proclaimed comes forth from his voice. In this sense it is his message—his gospel—that God uses to establish and strengthen believers.

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word [the Word of the gospel given by God]” (Jn.17:20).

“But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee” (Acts 26:16).

“And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace [the gospel], which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified” (Acts 20:32).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby: if so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious” (1 Pt.2:2-3).

2 (16:25) Jesus Christ, Preaching of: believers are established and made strong by the preaching of Jesus Christ. The preaching of Jesus Christ can mean either the message preached by Jesus Christ Himself or the message about Jesus Christ which is preached by others. Both meanings make sense, and both are certainly true, for the message of salvation preached by Christ and by His followers is the same.

“How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him” (Heb.2:3).

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God” (Jn.3:17-18).

“He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him” (Jn.3:36).

3 (16:25-26) Mystery—Gospel: believers are established and made strong by God’s revelation of the mystery of the gospel. Note three points.

1. The mystery of the gospel had been a secret since the world began. The word “mystery” (musteriou) does not mean something obscure and difficult to understand nor something that has to be searched out and solved by men. It simply means...

- some truth that was not previously known.
- some truth that could not be discovered by human reason.
- some truth that had to be revealed by God if it was ever to be known.

The gospel could never have been known by man. It is not a creation of man’s mind, of his rationalizations, concepts, thoughts, and ideas as to how man is to become reconciled to God. Man could never and can never figure out how to become acceptable to God. No man in this physical world could ever penetrate the spiritual world, no matter what some have claimed. Jesus said so:

“And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven” (Jn.3:13).

The spiritual world and the message of the spiritual world have always been a mystery, and they would have remained a mystery if God had not acted and revealed the spiritual world and dimension to man.

2. The mystery of the gospel is now revealed by the commandment of God in the prophetic Scriptures. God wants the world to know the gospel; therefore, He has commanded that it be revealed and proclaimed to the world. But note the crucial point: it is revealed by the prophetic Scriptures (dia graphon prophetikon). This is extremely important, for it tells us exactly where we are to find out about God and His message to the world. We do not discover God by natural reasoning: God reveals Himself to us.

Thought 1. There are two questions that desperately need to be studied by everyone.

- 1) Since God has revealed how men are to become acceptable to Him, why do men continue to create their own ideas about how to reach God? Why do men continue to think they will be acceptable to God if they can just do enough good to pacify God? Why do most men continue to think that God will never reject them, that they are not evil enough to be unacceptable to God?
- 2) Since God has revealed the gospel in the prophetic Scriptures, why do men not rush to the Scriptures to find the truth? Why do men not search the Scriptures daily to find out what God has revealed?

“([The gospel of God] which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures,) concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh; and declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:2-4).

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

3. The mystery of the gospel is revealed for a purpose: to lead all nations to be obedient to the faith. Very simply, God wants from us what any person wants from others: love and trust. We all want others...

- to love us and to care about us.
- to trust us and have confidence in us.

“Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God? Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent” (Jn.6:28-29).

“If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father’s commandments, and abide in his love” (Jn.15:10).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

“Even as Abraham believed God, and it was accounted to him for righteousness” (Gal.3:6).

“For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision [religious ritual] availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love” (Gal.5:6).

“But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him” (Heb.11:6).

“And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment” (1 Jn.3:23).

4 (16:27) Benediction: the benediction is a glorious declaration of praise.

- ⇒ God is the God of the gospel; therefore, He is the only wise God. As the only wise God and as the Author of the gospel, He is due praise forever.
- ⇒ But note the simple and clear fact that is proclaimed again and again by Romans: God can be approached and praised only through Jesus Christ.

“Now we believe, not because of thy saying; for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world” (Jn.4:42).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners” (1 Tim.1:15).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.2:5).

“But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour” (Tit.3:4-7).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

“But now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises” (Heb.8:6).

“And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance” (Heb.9:15).

“For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us” (Heb.9:24).

“And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant” (Heb.12:24).

“My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous” (1 Jn.2:1).

“And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world” (1 Jn.4:14).

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS

INTRODUCTION

AUTHOR: Paul, the Apostle.

The writing is Paul's style, and the description of Corinth and its people fit Paul's day. In A.D. 96 Clement of Rome referred to the Corinthian letter in a letter that he himself wrote: "Take up the Epistle of the blessed Paul, the apostle." Ignatius and Polycarp often quoted from the letter (about A.D. 155). The Muratorian Fragment lists it, and this Fragment is a list of books dating around the middle of the second century.

DATE: Uncertain. Probably A.D. 54-56 on Paul's third missionary journey.

Paul said, "I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost" (16:8). Thus, he wrote the letter from Ephesus where he ministered for the space of three years (Acts 20:31). When Paul was in Corinth "Gallio was the deputy of Achaia" (Acts 18:12). Gallio entered his office around A.D. 51, and Acts 18:18 says that Paul left Corinth fairly soon, but not immediately, after Gallio's arrival. He traveled briefly to Ephesus (Acts 18:19-21); then to Caesarea, Jerusalem, and Antioch (Acts 18:22). Then, he began his third missionary journey through Galatia (Acts 18:23). Afterwards he went to Ephesus for his three year ministry and the writing of I Corinthians. These events would take considerable time, and would place the writing of the Epistle in the mid-fifties.

TO WHOM WRITTEN: "To the church of God at Corinth, to those set apart in Christ Jesus" (1:2).

PURPOSE: Paul wrote for three reasons.

1. To draw the church back together in a spirit of unity as one body in Christ. The church was severely divided and split, feuding and arguing and forming cliques.
2. To deal with moral laxity in the church.
3. To answer certain questions the church had requested Paul to answer: questions concerning marriage, Christian liberty and rights, public worship, spiritual gifts, and the resurrection from the dead.

SPECIAL FEATURES:

1. The City of Corinth. Corinth was the capital of Achaia, located at the southern tip of Greece. It appeared almost like an island, lying on a narrow strip of land only four to five miles across. Its shores provided two natural harbors, one on the east coast and the other on the west coast. With all shipping from East and West harboring there, Corinth was a commercial paradise. All commercial traffic traveling by land from North and South also chose to pass through the city.

The city had a large population, a real mixture of nationalities including Greeks, Latins, Jews, Egyptians, Syrians, and Asiatics. The large population and material prosperity made the city a sports minded center. The Isthmian Games, considered the most important athletic events next to the Olympics, were held in the city.

Corinth was also morally corrupt. Material prosperity and traveling tradesmen made for a spirit of partying, drunkenness, and all sorts of immoral living. The city's very name, "Corinth," became a byword for evil and immoral living. Even the worship of the local residents centered around the great goddess of love, Aphrodite. The temple housed 1,000 sacred prostitutes.

Corinth was an intellectual and cultural center as well. Personal development and pleasure were the pursuit, whether pursued culturally or recklessly and immorally. There was little recognition of law, save the law of a man's desires.

Corinth had explosive potential for worldwide missions. It has been estimated that the population was more than a half-million. Morally, the city desperately needed the gospel. If the gospel could make an impact for morality, the message would be heard around the world. Geographically, the city was strategic and fitted Paul's strategy perfectly. (See note—Acts 18:1.)

2. The Church at Corinth. When Paul entered Corinth, he entered "in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling" (2:3)—apparently discouraged. He had faced severe opposition in his three ministries immediately prior to Corinth. The Judaizers had run him out of Philippi, Thessalonica, and Berea. Even in Athens, he had experienced little success. Now, facing Corinth, he was confronting a hodgepodge of every sort, a city of diverse population and culture, a population that was proud, intellectual, busy, and immoral. And he was apparently alone, with Silas and Timothy having remained in Macedonia to minister. He was, so to speak, at the mercy of God alone.

God met Paul's need. Almost immediately, God brought across Paul's path two believers, Aquila and Priscilla, who were tentmakers by profession. These two godly Jews had been expelled from Rome along with all other Jews by the decrees of Emperor Claudius (Acts 18:2-3). Silas and Timothy also returned to him soon afterwards, bringing news that the Thessalonian believers were standing firm against persecution (Acts 18:5). Encouraged and pressed in the spirit, Paul immediately entered the synagogue and began his ministry, testifying that Jesus is the Christ (Acts 18:5).

Paul met with such success he was forced out of the synagogue by the hostile Jews. He moved next door to the synagogue into a house owned by Justus, which became his base of operations. Apparently to prevent further discouragement, God gave Paul a vision assuring him that many people in that city were to be reached for Christ (Acts 18:10). His ministry lasted eighteen months, the longest of any ministry other than the three years he spent with the Ephesian Church.

The converts at Corinth paint a clear picture of the kind of success Paul experienced in city after city. So far as is known, the only Jewish converts under his personal ministry were Crispus and his household. He was the chief ruler of the become attracted to the Jewish religion because of its stress upon high morals and belief in one God. Judaism was especially attractive to women, especially well-to-do women. They were citizens of an immoral world that gave no rights to women; thus, they found great security in a religion of high morality. However, most Gentiles, despite their attraction to Judaism, were repulsed by Jewish nationalism and rites, such as circumcision. It was these who turned a ready ear to the gospel of Christ, who were by far the greatest number of converts.

There were some wealthy converts. Gaius was the host of Paul and the whole church (Ro.16:23). Erastus was the chamberlain (treasurer) of the city. Chloe was probably a lady of extreme wealth with business interests in both Corinth and Ephesus (I Cor.1:11). Some believers were engaged in legal disputes and others were attending wealthy banquets. These two engagements indicate wealth. However, the greatest number of converts came from average folk and from folk who had come from the most sinful backgrounds imaginable. Remember: Corinth was one of the cesspools of immorality and night club life in the ancient world. As Paul so clearly says, "...not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called: But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: That no flesh should glory in his presence" (1 Cor.1:26-29).

3. Paul's Contacts with the Corinthian Church. A grasp of Paul's contacts with the church will give a much better understanding of the Corinthian situation.

- a. Contact 1: Paul's founding of the church.
  - b. Contact 2: Paul writes a letter that has since been lost (1 Cor. 5:9).
  - c. Contact 3: Paul, in Ephesus, receives disturbing news of division and moral corruption within the church from two sources. There is a visit from the household of Chloe (1 Cor.1:11), and there is a letter from the church requesting answers to certain questions (1 Cor.7:1f).
  - d. Contact 4: Paul writes I Corinthians.
  - e. Contact 5: Paul apparently hears that things get worse and he makes a hurried visit to Corinth. However, he is painfully disappointed in its results (2 Cor.12:14; 2 Cor.1:15). This visit is questioned by some; however, it is almost certain (see note—2 Cor.1:15-17). "I determined that I would not come again to you in heaviness" (2 Cor.2:1) just does not fit Paul's first visit. His first visit was anything but a disappointing experience.
  - f. Contact 6: after Paul recovers his spiritual composure and strength, he writes the severe letter and sends it by Titus. (It is mentioned in 2 Cor.2:4 and 7:8.)
  - g. Contact 7: in waiting for an answer, Paul becomes so anxious he strikes out to meet Titus. He meets him in Macedonia and learns that the severe letter has made its impact. Therefore, he sits down, probably right there in Philippi, and writes II Corinthians.
  - h. Contact 8: he pays a final visit to the church (Acts 20:1-4).
4. I Corinthians, along with II Corinthians, is "The Epistle that Reveals Paul's Personal Character." Charge after charge is leveled against Paul. He spends a good deal of time in both letters answering these charges (see II Corinthians, Introductory Notes, Special Features, point 3).
5. I Corinthians is "The Epistle Written to Answer a Church's Specific Questions" (see Purpose, point 3).
  6. I Corinthians is "The Epistle that Answers the Problems Confronted by a Pioneer Church" (see Purpose, points 1-3; Special Features, points 1-3).
  7. I Corinthians is "An Epistle Written to a Carnal Church." A quick glance at the General Outline will show this.
  8. I Corinthians is "The Diversified Epistle." Paul deals with more different subjects in I Corinthians than he does in any other epistle.

DIVISION I

THE GREETING, 1:1-9

A. Some Foundational Facts, 1:1-3

(1:1-3) Introduction: this is the introduction of Paul's letter to the Corinthians. This passage contains only three verses but they are powerful. They cover some foundational facts which are absolutely essential to grasp when dealing with the messenger of God and a problem church (see Introduction—Purpose and Special Features, point 3).

1. The messenger (v.1).
2. The local church (v.2-3).

1 (1:1) Ministers, Call of—Humility: the messenger is a messenger of Christ, not of himself nor of anyone else.

1. The messenger of Christ is called by God's will. It is God who calls men and women to serve Him, not the men and women who choose to serve God. Paul was called by God to be an apostle, which means he was appointed by God to be a messenger, a witness, a missionary to carry the gospel of Christ to men.

The stress is this: the messenger's call and appointment comes from God, not from men. No man—neither himself nor any other man—puts him into the ministry. God alone chooses and calls him. In Paul's particular case, some of the Corinthian believers were questioning and denying his call by God (1 Cor.9:1-2; cp. 2 Cor.10:10). Note that the very first words written by Paul are the declaration of his call by God.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God” (2 Cor.5:20).

“Paul, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead)” (Gal.1:1).

“But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man. For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ” (Gal.1:11-12).

“I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart” (Ps.40:8).

“Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me” (Is.6:8).

2. The messenger of God is called to be a brother to other believers. Note that Paul called Sosthenes our brother, which means he was a brother in Christ. Sosthenes was probably one of the men sent by the Corinthian church to deliver their letter to Paul—the letter which asked Paul the questions that he answers here in First Corinthians. It is interesting to note that Sosthenes may also have been the ruler of the synagogue at Corinth, the ruler who had taken the lead in having Paul arrested and tried. But note: Sosthenes was himself taken and beaten by the Roman governor because he dared to bother the busy schedule of the courts with such an insignificant matter as preaching (Acts 18:12-17). If Sosthenes was the same as the ruler of the synagogue, he was at some point converted to Christ.

The point is this: the messenger of God is called by God, but his call does not make him better or superior to other believers. His call and office as a messenger of God is to be acknowledged and respected, but it does not make him a superior person. He is a brother to all other believers.

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

2 (1:2-3) Church: the local church is addressed by Paul. Paul's introduction to the church is revealing because it points out just what a church is.

1. The local church is born of God: it is "the church of God, which is at Corinth"; that is, it is God's church in a particular city or locality. The church is not the church of Corinth or of any other city; it is the church which has been given birth by God; therefore, it belongs to God.

"Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood" (Acts 20:28).

"Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it" (Eph.5:25).

"[Christ] who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:14).

"Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever" (1 Pt.1:23).

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (Jn.3:3).

Thought 1. The church is the church of God. The church belongs to God, not to any man or to any group of people. Too often some leader or some group of people within a church begins to act like they own the church, as though the church exists to do their will. Such behavior is dangerous to both the church and to those who act as though they own the church. It will destroy the fellowship and ministry and usefulness of a local church, and it will lead to severe punishment for those who set themselves up as the owners of the church. Why? Because God will not share His glory with any self-centered, arrogant person who works to destroy His church. The church is God's and God's alone.

"I am the LORD: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another" (Is.42:8).

"For mine own sake, even for mine own sake, will I do it: for how should my name be polluted? and I will not give my glory unto another" (Is.48:11).

2. The local church and its believers are set apart in Christ and called saints. The word sanctified means to be set apart or separated (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Sanctify—1 Cor.1:2 for discussion). God's church is to be set apart and separated unto Him. The idea is that believers are not to be taken out of the world, but they are to be different from the world. Their lifestyle and purpose in life are to be different. They are to live holy lives and to no longer love the world or touch the unclean things of the world.

"Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty" (2 Cor.6:17-18).

"As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]" (1 Pt.1:14-15).

"Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 Jn.2:15-16).

a. Note how a church and its believers become sanctified to God. They are set apart to God through the Lord Jesus Christ. No person can approach God—no person can ever be set apart to God—except through the Lord Jesus Christ.

"This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners" (1 Tim.1:15).

"For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Tim.2:5).

"And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world" (1 Jn.4:14).

"But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost; which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour" (Tit.3:4-7).

"Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world" (Jn.4:42).

"Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (Jn.14:6).

"Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

"Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins" (Acts 5:31).

"Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them" (Heb.7:25).

1 CORINTHIANS 1:1-3

b. Note that believers are called “saints.”

3. The local church and its believers are identified with all other believers (see DEEPER STUDY # 2, Saints—1 Cor.1:2 for discussion). The church is universal. There is no exclusiveness, no superiority in the church of God—not in the true church. There may be caste systems and levels of superiority in some churches that dishonor the name of Christ and in the man-made religions of the world, but not in the true church of God. This was a problem in the Corinthian church. Some were claiming to be superior and to have a more special relationship to Christ than others. Super-spirituality and pride were seeping into the lives of some—to such a point that the whole fellowship of the church was being threatened (cp. 1 Cor.1:12; 2 Cor.10:7).

Thought 1. Super-spirituality and pride have no place in God’s church. There is only One who is to be honored and exalted: Christ Jesus our Lord. All believers, no matter how low or how high their position and station in life, are the subjects of Christ and not the lords of other believers.

“God is no respecter of persons” (Acts 10:34).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

4. The local church and its believers experience grace and peace.

a. Grace means the favor of God. It means all the good and perfect gifts of God, all the good and beneficial things He gives to us and does for us, whether physical, material, or spiritual (Jas.1:17). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for more discussion.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

“And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (1 Tim.1:14).

“For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men” (Tit.2:11).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning” (Jas.1:17).

b. Peace is the result or fruit of God’s favor: peace with God and peace with men. When a man receives the grace of God, he is immediately reconciled to God and man. He is given fellowship with God and a love for all other men.

“Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you, Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid” (Jn.14:27).

“These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world” (Jn.16:33).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

Note that both grace and peace come only from God our Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ. They are the only source of grace and peace. If a man wishes to receive the favor of God and to have the peace of God reigning in his heart and life, he has to come to God the Father through His Son, Jesus Christ.

“The word which God sent unto the children of Israel [and the world], preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)” (Acts 10:36).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:19).

“For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us” (Eph.2:14).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:2) Sanctify—Sanctification (hagiazo): the word “sanctify” means to be set apart, to be separated (cp. 1 Pt.1:15-16). There are three stages of sanctification.

1. There is initial or positional sanctification. When a person believes in Jesus Christ, he is immediately set apart for God. This is a permanent, once-for-all act (Heb.3:1; cp. Heb.10:10).

2. There is progressive sanctification. The true believer makes a determined and disciplined effort to allow the Spirit of God to set him apart day by day. The Spirit of God takes him and conforms him to the image of Christ more and more. This growth takes place as long as the believer walks upon this earth (cp. Jn.17:17; 2 Cor.3:18; Eph.5:25-26; 1 Th.5:23-24).

3. There is eternal sanctification. The day is coming when the believer will be perfectly set apart unto God and His service—without any sin or failure whatsoever. That day will be the great and glorious day of the believer’s eternal redemption (Eph.5:27; 1 Jn.3:2).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:2) Saints (hagiois): the word means set apart, consecrated, sacred, and holy. A saint is a follower of the Lord Jesus Christ who has been set apart to live for God. The saint has given himself to live a consecrated, sacred, and holy life—all for the glory of God. Note that believers are saints in both senses:

1. Believers are saints in the sense that they have been given a new heart by God: a heart that is renewed and recreated in righteousness and true holiness.

“And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:24).

“And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:10).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

2. Believers are saints in the sense that they are set apart to live consecrated and holy lives in this world.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: but as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation [behavior]” (1 Pt.1:14-15).

DIVISION I

THE GREETING, 1:1-9

B. Some Resources for the Believer, 1:4-9

(1:4-9) Introduction—Jesus—Problems: the name of Jesus Christ is mentioned ten times in the first ten verses. Paul wanted the minds of the Corinthian believers to be immediately centered upon Jesus Christ. He knew this: the answer to the Corinthian problems did not lay in his ability to discuss and reason, nor in his laying down rules and regulations for them, but in Jesus Christ. Therefore, he immediately discussed some of the resources which the believer receives when he accepts Jesus Christ as his Savior and Lord.

1. Resource 1: the grace of God (v.4).
2. Resource 2: the gifts of God's grace and Spirit (v.5-6).
3. Resource 3: Jesus Christ Himself—His security (v.8).
4. Resource 4: God Himself—His call (v.9).

1 (1:4) Grace: the believer's first resource is the grace of God. Very simply, grace means the undeserved favor and blessings of God. We do not deserve God looking upon us with favor nor God blessing us with His favor. But God loves us with an unbelievable love, so He favors us with the most unbelievable gifts.

The Corinthian church (the believers) knew and experienced the grace of God. They knew what it was to receive the favor and blessings of God (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Grace—1 Cor.1:4 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:4) Grace (charis): the favor and blessings of God; the undeserved and unmerited favor and blessings of God; the depth and richness of the heart and mind of God; the kindness and love that dwells within the very nature of God. God's grace covers all of life.

1. Grace means the kindness and love that God freely gives to those who have acted against Him. It is the favor of God showered upon men who do not deserve His favor, men who are...
  - "without strength" (Ro.5:6).
  - "ungodly" (Ro.5:6).
  - "sinners" (Ro.5:8).
  - "enemies" (Ro.5:10).

No other word so expresses the depth and richness of the heart and mind of God. This is the distinctive difference between God's grace and man's grace. Whereas man sometimes does favors for his friends and thereby can be said to be gracious, God has done a thing unheard of among men: He has given His very own Son to die for His enemies (see outline and notes—Ro.5:6-11. Also see notes, Love—Jn.21:15-17; Grace—Eph.2:8-9.)

- a. God's grace is not earned. It is something completely undeserved and unmerited.

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast" (Eph.2:8-9).

"But after that the kindness and love of God our Saviour toward man appeared, not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost" (Tit.3:4-5).

- b. God's grace is the free gift of God. God extends His grace out toward man.

"Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Ro.3:24).

"But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)" (Eph.2:4-5).

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works" (Tit.2:11-14).

c. God's grace is the only way man can be saved.

"If through the offence of one [Adam] many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many" (Ro.5:15).

"I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God which is given you by Jesus Christ" (1 Cor.1:4).

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (2 Cor.8:9).

"[Salvation] which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life" (Tit.3:6-7).

2. Grace means all the favors and gifts of God. It means all the good and perfect gifts of God, all the good and beneficial things He gives us and does for us, whether physical, material, or spiritual (Jas.1:17).

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace" (Eph.1:7).

"That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus" (Eph.2:7).

"But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Ph.4:19).

"And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus" (1 Tim.1:14).

2 (1:5-7) Gifts, Spiritual—Grace: the believer's second resource is the gift of God's grace and Spirit. God's grace enriched the Corinthian believers "in every thing": they experienced the favor of God in every area of life and were actually blessed with all the gifts and blessings of God's Spirit.

1. They were especially blessed with the gifts of utterance and of knowledge.

⇒ Utterance: all the spiritual gifts involving speech, which would include gifts such as prophecy, teaching, and tongues—all forms of speech needed to praise God and to witness for Christ.

⇒ Knowledge: the spiritual gift of understanding spiritual truth and doctrine, of having unusual insight into the nature of God and His call and mission in the world.

The church and its believers were enabled by God's grace to know and understand the truth of God's Word and to speak the truth to a lost and dying world. The Spirit of God had enriched their lives by giving them all the gifts of spiritual knowledge and spiritual speech.

2. The results of God's grace and gifts were most wonderful. They show what can happen to our faith when we truly experience the grace and gifts of God's Spirit. There are three significant results mentioned by the Scripture.

a. The gifts and grace of God confirmed "the testimony of Christ" in the hearts of the believers. The believers had perfect assurance of their salvation. They knew beyond question that they were saved.

⇒ Jesus Christ had testified (proclaimed) to the truth: He was the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

⇒ The disciples had testified to Christ: that He was definitely the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

The Corinthian believers had accepted the testimony of Christ. They had been truly saved, and their salvation was confirmed by the gifts and blessings of God's grace. God had poured His grace and His Spirit out upon the Corinthian church and its believers. The gifts of the Spirit were their confirmation. Their faith in Christ was confirmed by the gifts of God's glorious grace and His Spirit. There was no question about their salvation. The presence of God's Spirit and God's grace bore clear evidence that their salvation and experience with Christ were genuine.

Thought 1. God will confirm the faith of a true believer. He will seal a person's decision for Christ with the Holy Spirit. God will pour His Spirit and His grace out upon a person who truly trusts His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. The one thing God wants above all else is for the believer to be firmly established in the faith of His dear Son.

"Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest [guarantee] of the Spirit in our hearts" (2 Cor.1:21-22).

"In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, ye were sealed with that holy Spirit of promise" (Eph.1:13).

“And grieve not the holy Spirit of God, whereby ye are sealed unto the day of redemption” (Eph.4:30).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:4-6).

- b. The gifts and grace of God brought a full provision to the Corinthian believers (v.7). They lacked no spiritual gifts whatsoever; in fact, when it came to spiritual gifts, they stood equal with the strongest of churches. They experienced not only the personal gifts such as faith, knowledge, and tongues, but the public gifts such as miracles, healing, and prophecy; and they possessed them in abundance.

Thought 1. The believer is to “covet earnestly the best gifts” and to “desire spiritual gifts” (1 Cor.12:31; 14:1). But the believer must always remember that possessing the gifts of the Spirit does not mean that he is necessarily strong in the Lord. There were no more carnal believers in the early days of the church than the Corinthian believers. They tragically abused their gifts and their abuse and subsequent judgment serves as a strong warning to all. (See outline and notes—1 Cor.12:1-14:40.)

- c. The gifts and grace of God stirred a strong longing for the return of Christ. The gifts of the Spirit give us a foretaste of the glories of heaven.
- ⇒ The gift of prophecy or of preaching proclaims what heaven will be like.
  - ⇒ The gift of ministering demonstrates the loving compassion and care that exists in heaven.
  - ⇒ The gift of healing demonstrates the power and will of God for man to live without corruption and pain.

When the gifts of the Spirit are active among a people, it is only natural that the return of Christ and of heaven is stirred within their hearts; for they are constantly experiencing the presence of the Lord in their midst and receiving a foretaste of heaven.

The more active the gifts of the Spirit are among a people, the more the people long for the Lord’s return. The more a people talk and share about the Lord and minister to each other in the Lord, the more they long for the Lord and to be with Him. Whatever we sow, we reap. The more we sow conversation about the Lord and the gifts of the Lord, the more we shall long to be reaped by the Lord. The believer’s earnest longing for the Lord’s return is clearly understood. Just imagine the glorious expectation he possesses!

- ⇒ The believer knows that he will receive a place (a home) or a mansion in heaven.

“In my Father’s house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also” (Jn.14:2-3).

- ⇒ The believer knows that the sufferings of this world do not come close to comparing with the glory of the Lord’s return and of heaven.

“For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us” (Ro.8:18).

- ⇒ The believer knows that his corruptible body will be changed into a perfect incorruptible body when Jesus returns.

“For our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

- ⇒ The believer knows that when Christ appears, he will appear with Christ in glory.

“When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory” (Col.3:4).

- ⇒ The believer knows that he will be reunited with all his loved ones (who were believers) when Jesus returns.

“For if [since] we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words" (1 Th.4:14-18).

⇒ The believer knows that he will receive a crown of glory in that day.

"And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away" (1 Pt.5:4).

⇒ The believer knows that he will be made in the image of His Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is" (1 Jn.3:2).

3 (1:8) Security—Assurance: the believer's third resource is the security of the Lord Jesus Christ, the assurance which He brings to the believer's heart. The word "confirm" (bebaiousei) means preserve and establish, make steadfast and firm and secure. Jesus Christ will preserve and secure the believer from falling. Note the glorious reason: that the believer may be "blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ."

The word "blameless" (anegkletous) means unprovable, guiltless. It means that no one will be able to accuse or bring any accusation against the believer when he stands before Christ in the day of judgment. The "day of our Lord Jesus Christ" will bring about the judgment seat of Christ, and only those who are preserved by the blood and power of Jesus Christ will be counted blameless (v.8).

"Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ" (Ph.1:6).

"For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day" (2 Tim.1:12).

"And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever" (2 Tim.4:18).

"Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time" (1 Pt.1:5).

"Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24).

"Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth" (Rev.3:10).

4 (1:9) Fellowship, Spiritual: the believer's fourth resource is God Himself, His glorious call. God has called believers for one specific purpose: to be in fellowship with His Son Jesus Christ our Lord. The longing of God's heart is for men to know His Son...

- by becoming personally related to Him through adoption (Ro.8:15-17; Gal.4:4-6).
- by fellowshiping with Him day by day, all day long.

Note the point: God is not after us to fellowship with His Son only on a temporary basis. When God calls us to fellowship with His Son, He means eternal fellowship. He is adopting us as children so that Jesus Christ will have our fellowship as brothers.

"For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Ro.8:15-17).

"For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren" (Ro.8:29).

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father" (Gal.4:4-6).

"That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ" (1 Jn.1:3).

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Rev.3:20).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

A. The Problem: A Divided Church, 1:10-16

(1:10-4:21) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Unity—Division: the church at Corinth was in a sad state. The fellowship among believers had deteriorated to such a degree that it was about to crumble and collapse. There was severe division and dissension in the ranks: verbal accusations, differing opinions, competitive positions, power struggles, envy, contention, grumbling, griping, complaining, murmuring, quarreling, attacking, and gossiping. Believer stood against believer, and there was no give in any corner. Disaster was about to strike; the church was divided and a severe split was threatened.

This was the first problem dealt with by Paul. It had to be dealt with first, for a house divided against itself cannot stand. There were other problems in the church, other matters that had to be handled, but the people could not handle them unless they were brought together in one spirit and mind. The ministry and mission of the church could not effectively go on until the people stood together. Worship, exhortation, missions, and reaching and ministering to people—the very cause of Christ, the very reason He came to earth and died—were affected and would continue to suffer until the people were brought together.

Thank God there is an answer to every division, no matter how severe and threatening. In fact, the Holy Spirit through Paul gives eleven answers or solutions to division within the church. A quick glance at the overall outline of this section will show how sound the answers are. The answers will pull any divided church together if the people are willing to listen.

1. The problem: a divided church (1:10-16).
2. Answer one: the cross (1:17-25).
3. Answer two: seeing God's simple and humble people (1:26-31).
4. Answer three: sound preaching (2:1-5).
5. Answer four: God's revealed wisdom (2:6-13).
6. Answer five: understanding the spiritual stages of man (2:14-3:4).
7. Answer six: seeing who ministers really are (3:5-9).
8. Answer seven: being a wise builder (3:10-17).
9. Answer eight: renouncing self-deception (3:18-23).
10. Answer nine: letting God judge (4:1-5).
11. Answer ten: not comparing and judging ministers (4:6-13).
12. Answer eleven: seeing and understanding the spirit of God's minister (4:14-21).

(1:10-16) Introduction: division within the church is one of the most serious problems a church can face, if not the most serious. It can devastate the church's fellowship, worship, mission, and witness to the world unless it is solved quickly. Paul knew this; therefore, he sought to solve the problem immediately. Every church and minister of God needs to study and keep this passage forever in their memories.

1. The strong exhortation: "you all" agree (v.10).
2. The tragic report: contention (v.11).
3. The arguing parties (v.12).
4. The problem with cliques (v.13-16).

1 (1:10) Unity—Division: the strong exhortation is "you all" agree. Note how Paul approaches the severe problem of division: he does not have fire in his eyes nor a spirit of rebuke and fight in his heart. There is not even a trace of anger in him. On the contrary, his heart is tender and full of love. He graciously appeals to the Corinthians.
 ⇒ He says, "I beseech you." The word "beseech" (parakalo) means to call to one's side. Paul says, "I call you to my side; come, let's share together, talk the matter over. I ask, plead, beg—hear what I have to say."

1 CORINTHIANS 1:10-16

- ⇒ He calls them brothers twice in just two verses (v.10, 11).
⇒ He begs them in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to heed what he is saying. He pleads with them to consider their love for Christ. They must do away with their divisions and be unified once again—for the sake of Christ. For Him and His cause they must obey Him and be united in one spirit and one mind.

Thought 1. Ministers of the gospel and leaders must not lambaste nor attack and censure those in the congregation who cause trouble, dissension, and division. Rather, they must approach the divisive person in a spirit of tenderness and love, and in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Sometimes it may be difficult because of the severity of the problem and the arrogance and unwillingness of the troublemaker. Nevertheless, the heart of Christ is love and restoration. Therefore, we must always reach out in a spirit of love and restoration before church discipline is ever attempted (see outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20).

“And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses” (Mk.11:25).

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“And Jesus answering said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance” (Lk.5:31-32).

“The word which God sent unto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Jesus Christ: (he is Lord of all)” (Acts 10:36).

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

The exhortation is strong; it is direct and straightforward. And note: it is immediately given. There is no hesitation and no equivocation in giving it. There should be no problem in understanding it, for it is plainly and simply stated.

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (v.10).

1. The exhortation is to agree in speech: reach agreement, quit talking against each other, accusing, attacking, murmuring, grumbling, griping, complaining, gossiping. Quit using the tongue to stir dissension and division.

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

“Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge” (Jas.4:11).

“Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings” (1 Pt.2:1).

“For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile” (1 Pt.3:10).

“Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile” (Ps.34:13).

“He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life: but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction” (Pr.13:3).

“Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles” (Pr.21:23).

2. The exhortation is to allow no dissension or division. The word “division” (schismata) means to split, to rend, to tear apart. Note the words “among you.” The division or dissension is not outside the church; it is not out in the world. It is inside the church. The divisive church is not working to bring peace, love, and brotherhood to the world; the divisive church is not seen out in the world ministering to the starving, diseased, and lost masses of the world. The divisive church is seen fuming and fighting. The sinful and devastating problems of dissension are within the divisive church. The divisive church is splitting, rending, and tearing itself apart.

“But he, knowing their thoughts, said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation; and a house divided against a house falleth” (Lk.11:17).

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?” (1 Cor.3:3).

3. The exhortation is to be “perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.” The words “perfectly joined together” mean just what they say: to be in perfect union with each other; to be perfectly united and joined together; to be restored to the perfect union of being together. The idea behind the Greek word is that of a torn net being repaired and mended (Mt.4:21), or a man’s broken and dislocated limb being restored to its proper place.

The union is to be in both mind and judgment. The mind would involve thoughts, reasonings, affections, emotions, motives, and intentions. Judgment would involve conclusions, purposes, goals, and objectives. The exhortation is for the Corinthian church to restore itself, and note: they are not just to be joined together—they are to be perfectly joined together in mind and judgment.

“For if that which is done away was glorious, much more that which remaineth is glorious” (2 Cor.3:11).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:31-32).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

2 (1:11) Division—Contention: the tragic report is that contention is within the church. The contention was so severe that some believer went to Paul about the matter. Just who the believer was is not known. He or she was of the household of Chloe, who was apparently a believer well known to the Corinthians. Chloe was probably a citizen of Ephesus and not of Corinth. Paul would never have identified his source of information if he or she had lived in Corinth lest some of the arguing parties turn against Chloe and her household. Paul was writing to Corinth from Ephesus, so a member of her household probably reported the matter to Paul on some return trip from Corinth.

The depth and seriousness of the division is again brought out by the word “contentions” (erides). The word means wranglings, strifes, quarrels, factions. Note: the nature of division is more clearly defined by the word. The church was arguing and splitting into groups, contending and quarreling over something. There was a severe strife between factions and cliques in the church. Contention is one of the terrible “works of the flesh.”

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

3 (1:12) Division—Super-Spirituality: the arguing parties. Note the outline of the Scripture: practically everyone was exalting some former minister over the other ministers of the church. The few who were not were becoming super-spiritual, claiming they were followers of Christ and not of man. There were probably three basic problems causing the division within the church.

1. There was the problem in preaching ability and style. There was no difference in the messages preached by Paul and Apollos. They both preached the gospel of Christ, but there was a difference in their style of preaching and ministering. Apollos was an eloquent man and mighty in the Scriptures (Acts 18:24). Paul was not a great orator (2 Cor.10:10; 11:6); therefore, some undervalued Paul as a preacher and surrounded Apollos. They failed to see God’s distinct call and gifts to each minister.

Paul was a small-framed missionary, gifted in the understanding of the Scriptures and gifted as an administrator in church order. Both gifts, although not so much out in the forefront of public recognition, were of immense value. Paul excelled in strengthening believers, in growing disciples, and in establishing churches. There is a good possibility that the Apollos party began to intellectualize and socialize Christianity, to turn it away from the doctrine of salvation in Christ, and to deemphasize the utter necessity to walk in Him day by day.

2. There was the problem of turning liberty into license. Peter’s emphasis had to deal with the traditions and rituals of the church, for he was the apostle to the Jews (Gal.2:7). Some believers preferred that the traditions and rituals be stressed more, and that Paul’s emphasis upon doctrine, salvation, and the daily walk of the believer be stressed less. The two groups began to gather around the name of the two apostles and form cliques.

3. There was the problem of those who claimed to be “of Christ.” These were probably fed up with the other groups and set themselves up as being more spiritual than the others. They looked upon themselves as being too spiritual to lower themselves to the level of becoming identified with any clique. They probably began to think of themselves as the only true spiritual Christians in Corinth. They claimed to follow Christ alone, and they denied needing or receiving the help of any man.

The Corinthians considered themselves to be so advanced in maturity that it gave them a privileged position. They set themselves up as the judges of others. They usurped God’s authority. They took it upon themselves to judge teachers (1 Cor.1:12f), to judge the wise and the unwise (1 Cor.1:19; 2:1f), to establish moral standards (1 Cor.5:1f), and to judge the gifted and their gifts (1 Cor.12:1f).

“Judge not, that ye be not judged” (Mt.7:1).

“And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?” (Mt.7:3).

“Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things” (Ro.2:1).

“Who art thou that judgest another man’s servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth; yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand” (Ro.14:4).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God” (1 Cor.4:5).

“There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?” (Jas.4:12).

4 (1:13-16) Division—Cliques: the problem with cliques and dissenting groups in the church is threefold. Closely note the verse before the problems are discussed.

“Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were ye baptized in the name of Paul?” (v.13).

In three short questions Paul shows the critical nature of divisive cliques. Cliques strike...

- at the Person of Christ or His Lordship.
- at the crucifixion or death of Christ.
- at the baptism or witness of the believer.

Note how clearly this is seen as each of the three problems with divisive groups is discussed.

1. Cliques divide Christ. A clique always thinks it is right, no matter how divisive its position is, and it wants its way—too often at any cost.

⇒ A clique dethrones Christ. It sets itself up as the Lord, as the persons who are able to judge what is right and wrong for the church.

⇒ A clique attempts the impossible: it tries to divide Christ, to take Christ over to its side. A clique often claims that Christ supports its position, that Christ would hold the position and do exactly what the clique is doing.

Note the question asked by Scripture: Is Christ divided? Is part of Christ over here with this group and part of Him over there with that group? Who rules the church? Who is Lord? Who has the right to judge and say what is right and wrong, the Lord within the church, or cliques within the church?

Jesus Christ cannot be divided. There is only one Lord, only one Person who is called the Lord Jesus Christ. He is not two persons. He nor His will can be split into two divisive cliques. He is one Person and He has one will.

“And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church” (Eph.1:22).

“There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism” (Eph.4:4-5).

“And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence” (Col.1:18).

2. Cliques elevate men to be saviors. Paul was not crucified for the Corinthians; therefore, he was not the savior of the Corinthians nor of any other body of believers. This is certain: if Paul was not a savior, then no other preacher nor any other leader of a clique is a savior. Believers do not owe their allegiance to preachers and leaders of cliques; they owe their allegiance to the Lord Jesus Christ. It was Jesus Christ who died for us, not preachers and leaders of churches. Therefore, we are to obey and follow the will of Christ as dictated in Scripture, and we are to support the servants of the Lord whom He places in our midst to minister to us. The Lord places a particular minister in our midst because he has a unique gift to offer to the church and ministry—a very special contribution that is needed during a particular time.

“For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord” (Lk.2:11).

“Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body” (Eph.5:23).

“Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins” (Acts 5:31).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them” (Heb.7:25).

3. Cliques make a person a man-follower. This is tragic, for a genuine believer is always baptized in the name of the Lord, not in the name of some minister or church leader. In his baptism the believer confessed the Lord and gave testimony that he was committing his life to follow the Lord. He did not confess loyalty to some man, no matter how great and wonderful the man might be. However, when the person forms or joins a clique, he disassociates himself from Christ and the rest of the believers; he betrays his baptism and commitment to Christ and His church, and gives his loyalty to the leader or position of a divisive clique.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Better it is to be of a humble spirit with the lowly, than to divide the spoil with the proud” (Pr.16:19).

“A man’s pride shall bring him low: but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit” (Pr.29:23).

“For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones” (Is.57:15).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

4. Now note Paul’s adamant denial that he ever attempted to secure a personal following of believers. He thanks God that he had not baptized but a few believers, for no believer can rightfully accuse him of seeking to form a following or a clique.

“For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God” (1 Cor.15:9).

“And [John the Baptist] preached, saying, There cometh one mightier than I after me, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and unloose” (Mk.1:7).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:14) Crispus: the leading ruler of the Jewish synagogue at Corinth. He was led to Christ and baptized by Paul personally (Acts 18:8; 1 Cor.1:14).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(1:14) Gaius: Paul’s host when he was in Corinth. Since Paul baptized Gaius, he probably led him to the Lord as well (Ro.16:23; 1 Cor.1:4. Cp. Acts 19:29; 20:4 for a man named Gaius who served as a missionary with Paul. It may be the same Gaius, although the name was a common name in the ancient world.)

DEEPER STUDY # 3

(1:16) Stephanas: one of three messengers who delivered the Corinthian letter to Paul (cp. 1 Cor.7:1). Paul baptized all the members of his household (1 Cor.1:16; 16:15).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

B. Answer One: The Cross, 1:17-25

(1:17-25) Introduction: remember, this section of Corinthians is dealing with division within the church. Note the contrast between “words of wisdom” or the “wisdom of words” and the “cross of Christ” (v.17). The “wisdom of words” is plural, hinting at differences and division within the fellowship of the church. The “cross of Christ” is singular, suggesting unity of spirit. The cross alone is the answer to a divided church, not words of human wisdom. Human wisdom can never solve the divisions within the church, nor within the world, not by itself. Why? Because love—love among all persons—is the only remedy for division, and the greatest demonstration of love ever witnessed upon earth is the cross of Christ. It is the cross that reveals the love of God for an antagonistic world, and that challenges man to love his fellow men. The cross of Christ is the answer both to the divisions among men and to the problems that plague men and their world.

1. The cross is the primary mission of the preacher (v.17).
2. The cross can be emptied of its power (v.17).
3. The cross is the power of God (v.18).
4. The cross destroys the wisdom of men and makes foolish the wisdom of this world (v.19-20).
5. The cross is the wisdom and power of God to save them that believe (v.21).
6. The cross answers man's search for God (v.22-24).
7. The cross proves that God's way is wiser and stronger than man's way (v.25).

(1:17-25) Another Outline: The Cross and Man.

1. Man can make the cross ineffective: by cleverness of speech (v.17).
2. Man's view of the cross (v.18).
  - a. The “lost”: foolishness.
  - b. The “saved”: the power of God.
3. Man attempts to find God by wisdom (Is.29:14; 33:18) (v.18).
  - a. His wisdom passes, is transitory (v.19).
  - b. His attempt failed. He did not know God (cp. Ro.1:20, 28) (v.21).
4. Man is saved by the foolishness of preaching (v.21).
5. Man seeks for God (v.22).
  - a. The Jew: seeks a sign—stumbles over the cross.
  - b. The Greek: seeks wisdom—concludes the cross is foolishness (v.23).
  - c. The called: finds Christ and discovers the cross is the power and wisdom of God (v.24).
6. Man proves less wise and weaker than God (v.25).

1 (1:17) Jesus Christ, Cross—Ministers—Preaching: the cross is the primary mission of the preacher. The minister of God is to preach the cross. Paul declares:

“Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel...[even] the cross of Christ”
 (1 Cor.1:17).

This means two things.

1. The message of the gospel is the cross of Christ. The content of preaching and witnessing is to be the cross. The main subject of our lives and conversation is to be the cross of Christ. All the other subjects of the Christian life are due to the fact that we have been reconciled to God and brought near Him by the cross of Christ. The cross demonstrates the love of God, the fact that He accepts us and allows us to walk with Him day by day. In all our preaching and witnessing, the glorious love of God revealed in the cross is to be the dominant theme.

⇒ The preacher is to preach the cross.

⇒ The believer is to bear witness to the cross.

2. The minister of God should never let the rituals of the church take the place of the cross in his ministry—no matter how important they may be. Regardless of their importance—and none are more important than baptism—the central focus of the preacher’s message and ministry is to be the gospel, that is, the cross of Christ (v.17).

The point needs to be constantly driven home to our hearts: the main focus of our lives, conversation, and ministry is to be the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ—the cross that demonstrates the glorious love of God. The cross is the primary mission of the preacher, not the rituals and ministries of the church.

Thought 1. It is easy to let ritual, ceremony, and form replace the cross in the church. It is also much easier to administer rites and ceremonies than to spend hours in diligent study and to preach the cross to a selfish world that rejects the demand for self-denial.

Note something else: the demands upon the minister’s time by other functions of the church are often so consuming that he finds himself slipping from his primary call to study, pray, and preach the gospel. The minister of God must not let this happen. He must keep his priorities straight: he has to, for no one else will do it for him. He must focus upon the cross; he must make the cross the primary subject of his life and preaching.

“And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach” (Mk.3:14).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

2 (1:17) Jesus Christ, Cross of—Ministers—Preaching: the cross can be emptied of its power. How? By preaching the gospel with “wisdom of words.” This means at least two things.

1. A preacher can become more concerned with eloquence than with the cross. He can focus upon...

- flowery speech
- descriptive terms
- persuasive words
- charisma
- fluency
- expressive words
- enticing arguments
- appearance

2. A preacher can also become more concerned about the content of his message and its points and arguments than he does about proclaiming the cross. He can focus upon...

- having a good, dynamic, interesting sermon.
- presenting a new or novel idea.
- sharing an intriguing position.
- stirring thoughts about some speculation or philosophy.

Note what Scripture declares: the man who preaches the gospel with “wisdom of words” makes the cross of Christ of no effect. He voids or empties the cross of its power. He focuses attention upon the flowery, descriptive presentation or else upon the new idea or dynamic power of the sermon. When people leave the service, their attention is not upon the gospel and the cross—their attention is upon the preacher. The cross is emptied of its power. No life has been changed, not by God.

Thought 1. No preacher or teacher should set out to impress people with his style, delivery, fluency, charisma, ideas, or anything else. The minister and teacher have been called by God to preach the cross and the cross alone, not self and not the new and novel ideas and speculations of men. The minister and teacher of God must not forget the forceful declaration of Scripture:

“Christ sent me...to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect” (1 Cor.1:17).

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man’s wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power: that your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God” (1 Cor.2:1-5).

“For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!” (1 Cor.9:16).

3 (1:18) Jesus Christ, Cross—Ministers—Preaching: the cross is the power of God. Note two significant points.

1. The preaching of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Perishing—1 Cor.1:18). In Greek “the preaching” (ho logos) is literally “the Word of the cross” (see note, The Word—Jn.1:1-5). A sharp contrast is being drawn between the “wisdom of words” (v.17) and “the Word of the cross.” The world’s wisdom includes many words, that is, many ways to find the truth and meaning to life. But the Word of the cross is the only way to the truth and meaning of life. Just why the preaching or the Word of the cross is foolish to those who perish is discussed later (v.22-24, point 5). For the present, the point is to show...

- that the men of the world who do not come to God through the cross of Christ are in a state of perishing (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Perishing—1 Cor.1:18).
  - that the lost do not like the message of the cross, that is, the message that man is saved through a crucified Redeemer. They count the message as foolishness.
  - that the lost do not like the simple way the message is proclaimed.
2. The preaching of the cross is the power of God to those who are saved. No other message on earth...
- can reconcile men to God and put them under His daily care.
  - can give men the perfect assurance of God's daily love and care and of living eternally with God.

No other message has changed lives like the message of the cross of Christ. No other message has revolutionized societies and communities and families like the cross of Christ. The cross of Christ is the power of God to save men (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—1 Cor.1:18; Ro.1:16 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(1:18) Salvation—Perishing: men are placed into one of two categories here, perishing or being saved. A man goes through life having one of these two experiences: he is either perishing, moving ever downward toward the grave; or he is being saved, moving ever upward toward eternal life. In the Greek, both words are continuous action; that is, a man is perishing or is being saved. The words are not static; a man is not sitting still. He is ever “perishing,” more and more being gripped by the flesh and being conditioned to accept a perishing, dying world; or he is ever “being saved,” more and more being freed to walk righteously and godly in this present world. The man who is saved is being conditioned to break loose from a perishing, dying world and to look for the glorious appearing of the new world. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—Ro.1:16.)

1. The terrible word perishing means to be lost, to be utterly destroyed, to lose eternal life, to be spiritually destitute, to be cut off.

- a. Perishing means to be in a lost state in this world. It means to be...
- aging, deteriorating, decaying, dying. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—Mt.8:17; notes—1 Cor.15:50; Col.2:13; DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Pt.1:4.)
  - without life (purpose, meaning, significance). (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—10:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—17:2-3.)
  - without peace (assurance, confidence, security in God's keeping). (See note—Jn.14:27.)
  - without hope (of living forever). (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—2 Tim.4:18.)
- b. Perishing means to be in a lost state in the world to come. It means...
- having to die
  - facing judgment
  - being condemned
  - suffering separation from God and from all loved ones
  - experiencing all that is hell

(See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Mt.5:22; DEEPER STUDY # 4—Lk.16:24; DEEPER STUDY # 1—Heb.9:27.)

2. The great word salvation is used in Scripture to describe at least three experiences for the believer.

- a. The once-for-all experience of salvation. It is an experience that has happened sometime in the past: “Ye have been saved” (Lk.7:50). It is the initial act of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. It is receiving Christ into one's heart and life as Lord. It means being saved or delivered from sin, death, and hell; and being given the assurance that one will never be separated from God—either in this life or in the world to come. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.1:4; DEEPER STUDY # 1—10:10; DEEPER STUDY # 1—17:2-3.)

“As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him” (Jn.17:2).

“For we are unto God a sweet savour of Christ, in them that are saved, and in them that perish” (2 Cor.2:15).

“Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved)” (Eph.2:5).

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God” (Eph.2:8).

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began” (2 Tim.1:9).

- b. The continuous experience of salvation. It is an experience that is occurring right now, in the present. “Ye are being saved” (1 Cor.1:18). It is a description of God's work day by day in the believer's life. It is the Holy Spirit of God working within the believer. (Cp. Ro.6:14; 8:2; 2 Cor.3:18; Gal.2:20; Ph.1:19; 2:12-13; 2 Th.2:13.)

⇒ To guide and teach him and to deliver him through all the trials and problems of life.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him” (Jn.14:23).

⇒ To fill him with a heart of love, joy, and peace—all the fruit and resources necessary to live life to the fullest.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

⇒ To conform him more and more to the image of Christ.

“But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord” (2 Cor.3:18).

⇒ To stir and equip him to live and witness for Christ day by day, hour by hour, minute by minute, and moment by moment.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind. Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:7-8).

- c. The redemptive experience of salvation that is to occur in the future. “Now is our salvation nearer than when we believed” (Ro.13:11). This future reference to salvation points to the day of redemption—to the day of Christ’s kingdom—to the day when Christ shall usher in His kingdom upon this earth—to the day when God will create a new heavens and earth and bring about His perfect will and rule throughout the universe.

“Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now. And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body” (Ro.8:21-23).

“So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption: it is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power: it is sown a natural body: it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body” (1 Cor.15:42-44).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time” (1 Pt.1:5).

“But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness” (2 Pt.3:10-13).

(See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Kingdom of God—Mt.19:23-24.)

4 (1:19-20) Jesus Christ, Cross—World, Wisdom of—Man—Utopia: the preaching of the cross destroys the wisdom of men and makes foolish the wisdom of the world. This is a verse quoted from the Old Testament (cp. Is.29:14; 33:18). How does the cross destroy and make foolish the wisdom of men and their world?

1. The cross exposes the fallacy of man’s reasoning and wisdom. Man seeks to conquer evil through science, technology, and the religion of human effort. Man tries to use everything at his disposal to conquer nature, disease, suffering, corruption, and death. Man wants a life that is full and free; but he wants it on his own terms, that is, he wants all these things in such a way that will allow him to continue...

- to do his own thing.
- to live as he wishes.
- to lust.
- to gain position and power.
- to gain recognition and fame.
- to be comfortable and to hoard and bank, even if large numbers of people are devastated and dying from hunger, disease, loneliness, and emptiness.

And all the while, man wants acceptance and recognition for his achievements. What the cross does is shatter this reasoning: it exposes a severe problem with man: the problem of sin, of a depraved and selfish heart. The cross is God's Son, the Perfect Man being put to death by the rest of the world. Men killed the Son of God because man is evil. Man is just not willing to live as Christ said; therefore, he put Christ to death.

2. The cross exposes the fallacy of man's search for love, joy, peace, and all the other spiritual qualities of life. Man wants to live a full and free life, and he wishes the same for other men—at least to some degree. But in all his searching man discovers something. Science, technology, and good works do not bring the love, joy, and peace for which he longs, nor do they give the perfect assurance of knowing God—of really knowing Him to such a degree that a person is absolutely sure he is going to live with God eternally.

However, the cross does give this assurance. Thousands of genuine believers who have trusted Christ and His death upon the cross to save them will testify that they have absolute assurance of living eternally with God. The cross destroys the idea that the fulness of life comes from science, technology, education, and even “good works.”

“For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any man should boast” (Eph.2:8-9).

3. The cross shows that the answer to man's problems and utopia is the way of sacrifice. The answer is not through...

- power and fame
- selfishness and greed
- human works and efforts

No man can reach God and find truth or solve the world's problems without love and total sacrifice. This is what the cross is all about. Common sense tells us that we are short of God's glory; we are not completely righteous or just, and certainly not perfect. Therefore, there is no way that we can be acceptable and be allowed to live in the presence of a loving, just, and perfect God. Very simply, we are not like Him. There is only one way we can ever become acceptable to God: God will have to love us enough to provide a perfect sacrifice for us. And remember: He alone can provide the perfect sacrifice, for He alone is perfect.

This is the glorious message of the cross: God loves us enough to save us; He has offered a perfect sacrifice for us. Upon the cross Jesus Christ, God's own perfect Son...

- took our sins upon Himself.
- took our punishment for having sinned upon Himself.

God sacrificed His own Son for us, and it is through His sacrifice that God saves us. God accepts men when they approach Him through the cross, that is, when men believe that God loves them so much that He would sacrifice His Son for them. God takes that man's faith and counts it as righteousness or perfection. The man who believes becomes acceptable to God (see note, Justification—Ro.5:1).

How does this destroy and make foolish the wisdom of men and their world? The cross is not the way men want to approach God. Men want to be acceptable to God without having to love God and sacrifice themselves completely. Yet, if they accept the sacrifice of Christ as the truth, they have to sacrifice themselves even as He sacrificed Himself; they have to give all they are and have to reach and help the people of the world. Therefore, they seek to approach God through...

- |                          |                           |
|--------------------------|---------------------------|
| • their own reasonings   | • their own understanding |
| • their own thoughts     | • their own speculations  |
| • their own philosophies | • their own wisdom        |
| • their own religions    | • their own efforts       |
| • their own works        |                           |

But men fail. Every human effort other than the cross always has and always will fail. No effort of man has ever solved the world's problems of sin and evil, disease and suffering, selfishness and greed, death and judgment. No man has ever penetrated the spiritual world to find out what God is like. Only Christ and His cross can change men and give them life—life that is both abundant and eternal. And the fact has been proven in life after life down through the centuries.

The cross destroys the wisdom of men in this: it shows that the way to solve the problems of the world is the cross—not science, not technology, not education, and not religion. All the problems of the world could be solved (physical, material, and spiritual) if men would come to the cross, which is the perfect demonstration of love and sacrifice.

Thought 1. Just imagine what the world would be like if all men loved God and sacrificed all they were and had to solve the problems of the world—loved and sacrificed just as Christ did.

5 (1:21) Jesus Christ, Cross—Salvation—Preaching—God, Wisdom: the cross is both the wisdom and power of God to save all who believe.

1. The cross is the wisdom of God. The term the “wisdom of God” means the cross, the way God has chosen to save the world. Note again the emphasis that the world by its wisdom has not known God. As stated in the previous point (v.19-20), man cannot be saved by science, technology, education, religion—not by any human effort of goodness. No matter what man does or how wise he gets, he will never be able to become perfect, not in love and justice. Despite all that man may achieve, he will still come “short of God's glory” (which is perfection).

The way for man and his world to be saved is not by the wisdom of men, but by the wisdom of God, which is the cross. If men would turn to the cross in its perfect demonstration of love and sacrifice, then men would love and sacrifice like they should to meet the needs of mankind.

Love and sacrifice are God's means of saving the world. Therefore, it is the person who believes the preaching of the cross that is saved. When a person believes that Jesus Christ died for him—when he gives all he is and has to Christ—God saves that person and uses him to reach the lost and destitute of the world.

2. The cross is the power of God to save those who believe. The cross alone changes the lives of men to love God and sacrifice themselves for God and for men.

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us...and that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby” (Eph.2:13-14, 16).

6 (1:22-24) Jesus Christ, Cross—Man, Search for Utopia: the cross answers man's search for God. The world has made three mistakes in looking at the cross.

1. The Jews or religionists of the world feel they are the chosen seed of God, that they reach God by having a godly heritage and by being religious and good enough to be acceptable to Him. They think they are to work as diligently as they can to bring the Kingdom of God and man's utopia to earth. Most religionists are just like the Jews were: they develop a system of thought whereby the Messiah is to come to earth when they have prepared the earth for Him. And when He comes, they say He will come with great signs of power and majesty and bring a golden age upon the earth.

Thought 1. Note how the emphasis of the religionist is his works and labor for God:

- ⇒ It is man who prepares the way for the Messiah's salvation upon earth instead of the Messiah who prepares the way for man to approach God.
- ⇒ It is man who brings the glory of God and utopia to earth instead of the Messiah who ushers in the kingdom.

The cross—a crucified Savior redeeming men—is bound to be a stumblingblock to religionists. The ideas of the cross are just foreign to a religionist, the ideas...

- that he cannot do enough good to be acceptable to God.
- that the penalty for his sins had to be paid for by the perfect sacrifice of God's Son.
- that he must trust in the perfect sacrifice of God's Son for his sins.
- that true belief in God's Son means that he sacrifices all he is and has to save a world of desperate and lost humanity.

When the religionist looks at the cross and sees the ugliness of sin and shame, punishment and death, blood and suffering instead of glory and majesty, triumph and victory, he is repulsed; and he recoils and withdraws from the truth that God's Son had to die for his sins. The religionist does not want to dwell upon the negative factors of sin and death; he wants to focus upon the positive things of ritual, ceremony, religion, works, and benevolence—just so he is not expected to give everything.

“And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me” (Mt.11:6).

“Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended at him [that God could be Man]” (Mk.6:3).

“And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed” (1 Pt.2:8).

“But Israel [religionists], which followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness. Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. For they stumbled at that stumblingstone; as it is written, Behold, I lay in Sion a stumblingstone and rock of offence: and whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed” (Ro.9:31-33).

2. The Greeks made the mistake of thinking of God as “apatheia.” Apatheia means more than apathy. It means a total inability to feel. God was thought to be too far away and uninvolved in human affairs to feel. Therefore, to think of a god who became a man and felt the pains of death upon a cross was foolishness to a Greek mind. It was simply nonsense. It was beyond anything that the human mind could grasp.

The Greeks also greatly admired “a wise man.” The wise man was a man who could speak persuasively with flowery speech about earthly affairs and human wisdom, and make them seem eternal. Therefore, the preaching of the cross with its blunt message seemed crude and uncultured. It was laughed at and ridiculed rather than listened to and accepted.

The world, generation after generation, makes the mistake of stumbling over the simplicity of the cross. Man feels that he has to use his own wisdom and energy to achieve anything in this world, or else he just does not achieve. Therefore, the world fails to understand that the cross is the expression of God's love for a lost world, and that the message of the cross is simple faith in God's love. The world does not have to exercise human wisdom in order to be saved. The world just cannot understand this, so it stumbles over the cross.

Thought 1. How many look upon the cross...

- as crude and uncultured?
- as a bloody, repulsive religion?
- as lacking rational evidence? The very idea that a man could die and arise from the dead is foolishness.

“Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended at him [that God could be Man]” (Mk.6:3).

“Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools” (Ro.1:22).

“And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain” (1 Cor.3:20).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments [elementary teachings] of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

3. The called of God find Christ. There are some who pay attention to the pull of God’s call and movement in their hearts. They heed and obey the call of God: kneel and sacrificially surrender their lives to Christ. And when they do, two things happen.

- a. They discover that Jesus Christ is the power of God (see note 3 and DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.1:18 for discussion).

“As thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him” (Jn.17:2).

- b. They discover that Jesus Christ is the wisdom of God. They discover that Jesus Christ brings to their heart and lives...

- deliverance from the sin and restlessness of their souls.
- the knowledge of God and the infilling of love, joy, and peace.
- the guidance and direction of God as they walk through the trials of life day by day.
- perfect assurance of living eternally with God.
- the greatest purpose and meaning in life possible: that of reaching and ministering to a world that reels under the weight of calamity and desperate needs—no matter the cost.

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“For God hath concluded them all in unbelief, that he might have mercy upon all. O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Ro.11:32-33).

7 (1:25) Jesus Christ, Cross: the cross proves that God’s way is wiser and stronger than man’s way. It is wiser and stronger because it saves men. The fact is it could save the whole world if all men would surrender themselves to the Christ of the cross. How could the cross of Christ do such a phenomenal thing? By its example, demand, and power to change men from sinful and selfish beings to loving and sacrificial creatures. When a man truly bows before the cross, he surrenders all he is and has to Christ, and Christ makes him into a new creature. The man arises and goes forth to do all and to give all he can to save and meet the needs of a world that reels under the weight of its starving, diseased, and lost masses.

Thought 1. Just think what would really happen if only one million people within one nation bowed before the cross, giving all they were and had to Christ! What would happen if they really sacrificed themselves totally to Christ as Christ did for them?

“For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ [the cross]: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek” (Ro.1:16).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:14-15).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ [identified with the cross], he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

C. Answer Two: Seeing God's Simple and Humble People, 1:26-31

(1:26-31) Introduction—Christian Believer: the second answer to division is seeing God's simple and humble people. The Corinthians needed to remember who they were. Not too many had come from among the wise, the powerful, or the noble. Therefore, they had no excuse for acting snobbish, or for criticizing and ignoring others. They were only what God had made them. Their knowledge, rank, and power did not attract God, and such things would not now secure any special favors from God.

Every church and believer needs to take the message of this passage to heart, for one of the most tragic characteristics of modern society is its pride and self-sufficiency. Modern society proclaims a doctrine of humanistic philosophy, that is, that man is supreme. The result is a world that is about to explode under the pressure of...

- self must be pleased above all else
- one has the right to do his own thing
- self image brings wholeness
- they owe me
- might makes right
- color and race determine status

The world's crying need is for man to see that the only answer to division is reconciliation with God and with each other, and the only way to be reconciled is to live lives that are simple and humble.

1. God does not call many outstanding people (v.26).
2. God calls simple and humble people (v.27-28).
3. God has one purpose: to eliminate man's boasting (v.29).
4. God's real wisdom is Christ (v.30-31).

1 (1:26) Believers—Call—Church: God does not call many outstanding people. The Corinthians were boasting and taking great pride in their wisdom and understanding, gifts and abilities. God had gifted them with every conceivable spiritual gift, and they were especially enriched with the gifts that dealt with speech and knowledge. The gifts of speech and knowledge are the primary tools of the...

- preacher
- educator
- politician
- teacher
- ruler
- businessman

In fact, speech and knowledge are two of the primary tools of any leader. They are gifts that stand out and are clearly visible and noticed by everyone. The person gifted with knowledge and speech is often a leader who is in the limelight.

The point is this: these two gifts, speech and knowledge, are especially subject to the temptation of pride. Apparently the Corinthian church had yielded to the temptation of pride, that is, of feeling superior because of...

- the gifts and abilities they had.
- the knowledge and wisdom of their leaders.
- the unusual gifts of knowledge and speech (prophecy, tongues, teaching, eloquence, and charisma).
- the pastors and leaders God had sent their way (Apolllos, Peter, Paul).

Paul says, "You see your calling, brothers"—look at yourselves. Look at your church, at the type of people God calls.

1. God does not call many "wise men [who live] after the flesh": the educator, the teacher, the philosopher, the politician—all who seek the wisdom of this world instead of the wisdom of God. "The wise after the flesh" are those who pursue and live for the fleshly wisdom of this world. Few of these are ever saved. Some are, but not many. Men do not discover God by the wisdom of this world.

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world? For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe” (1 Cor.1:18-21).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the LORD, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him” (Pr.26:12).

“Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleasures, that dwellest carelessly, that sayest in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children: but these two things shall come to thee in a moment in one day, the loss of children, and widowhood: they shall come upon thee in their perfection for the multitude of thy sorceries, and for the great abundance of thine enchantments. For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me” (Is.47:8-10).

2. God does not call “many mighty” men of this world: the great, the powerful, the rulers, the wealthy, the business leaders, the politicians, the influential. Of those who are wrapped up in the positions, wealth, and authority of this world, few are ever saved. Some are, but not many. Men do not have influence with God because of who they are. Their earthly position and power have no bearing upon God’s acceptance of them.

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures. By thy great wisdom and by thy traffic hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches” (Ezk.28:4-5).

“Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men” (Hos.10:13).

“The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high; that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me down to the ground? Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the LORD” (Obad.3-4).

“This is the rejoicing city that dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none beside me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her shall hiss, and wag his hand” (Zeph.2:15).

3. God does not call “many noble” men: the high bred, the upper class, the well-born, the nobility of society, those of respected heritage, those with noble roots.

Thought 1. Possessing earthly knowledge, influence, and nobility do not make a person acceptable to God. Such things may be esteemed by men, but they are not esteemed by God. This fact bothers men, for they think who they are and what they have done should have some bearing on God’s acceptance of them. However, this is the very thing that keeps so many from ever becoming acceptable to God: pride, self-sufficiency, self-attainment, self-righteousness, self-centeredness—whatever men may choose to call it. Men are saved by the grace of God, not by self-effort. All men stand on an equal footing before God, no matter their status.

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world languisheth and fadeth away, the haughty people of the earth do languish” (Is.24:4).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

2 (1:27-28) Believers—Call—Church: God calls simple and humble people. Note the word “chosen” (exelexato): the fact that men do not save themselves, but God saves them, is stressed three times in the words “calling” and “chosen” (v.26, 27, 28). God is the One who takes the initiative in saving men. It is God...

- who does not call many outstanding people.
- who does call the simple and humble people.

The point to see is this: God's choice is not arbitrary, not without reason. He knows why He chooses the simple and humble over the outstanding. God has His reasons, and He explains His reasons in this passage.

1. God chooses the "foolish things [people] of this world to confound the wise." Note the term "foolish things" is used instead of "foolish people." Many of the wise in the world look upon those who have little or nothing as things. They look upon them as nothing more than tools for the rich and powerful to use as they wish. God chooses the ignorant, the unlearned, and the disadvantaged over the wise of the world. Why? To "confound" (kataischune) the wise. The word means to shame. The wise feel self-sufficient in their education, knowledge, and wisdom. They feel little if any need for God, and often question if there is a living and true God who is sovereign. Common sense and logic tell us that such an attitude of arrogance could never be acceptable to God. Not because He denies men the right to ask and think through legitimate questions, but because most of the wise of this world are not sincere enough to genuinely study the truth of God which has been revealed in Christ and in the Holy Scriptures. And, too often, the few who might seek the truth study secondary sources (books about the Bible) instead of studying the primary source, the Bible itself. Too many seek for God through what men say instead of letting God speak for Himself.

It is because of such pride, arrogance, and close-mindedness that God chooses few of the wise in this world. In fact, God does exactly what most men would do: He chooses those who humble themselves before Him, confessing Him to be God and asking Him to save them. The result, of course, is that the wise of this world are shamed, and their shame will become ever so visible and embarrassing when judgment comes.

2. God chooses "the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty." By weak is meant those without position, influence, or wealth. The weak are the less important, the insignificant, the more dispensable. It is a person without any authority or influence whatsoever. It may be the common laborer, the simple worker, the poor, the homeless, the hungry, the child, the aged, the deformed, the diseased, or the helpless. God saves the weak person, not the mighty person. Any person who stands before God erect, with his chest out, professing his position, authority, wealth, and diligent work, will be rejected by God. In fact, God will confound and put to shame such an attitude of arrogant might. He will only accept the person who comes to Him in weakness and cries for His help.

3. God chooses the base things and the things which are despised. Again, note that people are looked upon as "things" and not as persons. The base are in contrast to those who are in the upper class of society. The base and the despised would include the lower classes of society: the lowly, the contemptible, the ignoble, the vile, the criminal, the immoral, the depraved, the dirty, the distasteful. It is such people that God chooses instead of the upper classes of society. Why? Again, because of pride, arrogance, self-righteousness, and self-sufficiency. More of the upper class are unwilling to give all they are and have to Christ and His cause. They want some religion and some charitable causes, but they are unwilling to surrender their lives to a Lord who demands their total allegiance.

4. God chooses the nothings to nullify the somethings of this world. There are people in this world who are overlooked and bypassed and considered totally insignificant and useless. God chooses His people from among them as well, and He does it to nullify, dethrone, and bring to nothing all those who think they are something in this world.

Thought 1. Again, God does not deny or forbid man's right to think through and ask honest and sincere questions. On the contrary, God wants man thinking and learning. He is the One who gave man a mind for the purpose of reasoning and discovering the truths of the universe He created.

1) God expects man to gain dominion over the universe, to conquer and control the destructive forces of nature as much as possible.

"So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth" (Gen.1:27-28).

"Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet" (Ps.8:6).

"For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods" (Mt.25:14).

"O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called" (1 Tim.6:20).

"And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come" (Lk.19:13).

2) God expects man to reason with Him, but He expects an honest and seeking heart and the subjection of one's life to His Lordship once the truth is revealed.

"Come now, and let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool" (Is.1:18).

"Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price" (Is.55:1).

"Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (Mt.11:28).

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me" (Rev.3:20).

“And the Spirit and the bride [Christ] say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely” (Rev.22:17).

Thought 2. God sent His Son into the world to save those who confess...

- that they cannot save themselves from sin, death, and hell.
- that they want to live with God eternally and serve Him as Lord.

“Jesus saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you” (Mt.21:31).

“When Jesus heard it, he saith unto them, They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance” (Mk.2:17).

“Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little” (Lk.7:47).

“And the Pharisees and scribes murmured, saying, This man receiveth sinners, and eateth with them” (Lk.15:2).

“And Jesus said unto him, [the criminal], Verily I say unto thee, To day shalt thou be with me in paradise” (Lk.23:43).

3 (1:29) God, Purpose—Saved, The: God has one purpose for saving only the simple and humble people—to eliminate man’s boasting. Think for a moment: think of all the evil, meanness, and ugliness in the world on any given day. In fact, come closer to home: think of all the evil, meanness, and ugliness in any one city on any given day...

- |                        |                 |                         |
|------------------------|-----------------|-------------------------|
| • the murders          | • the greed     | • the stealing          |
| • the selfishness      | • the lying     | • the abuse             |
| • the corruption       | • the cheating  | • the deception         |
| • the immoral thoughts | • the cursing   | • the negative thoughts |
| • the immorality       | • the anger     | • the harsh speaking    |
| • the fights           | • the arguments |                         |

The list could go on and on, and it all happens every day. In addition, think how few people ever think about and acknowledge God and how little thought is given to Him even by those few. No matter his education, wisdom, science, technology, power, and heritage, man never has and never will be able...

- to control sin and evil in the world.
- to bring peace, assurance, and control to the human heart.
- to change the selfish hearts of men into hearts of love and sacrifice.
- to bring eternal life to a man beyond his few short years on this earth.

Now for the shattering question: What right does man have to glory? Why does man consider himself wise and mighty and noble? Why does man want to act...

- self-sufficient when he cannot control his own earthly behavior, much less his destiny?
- wise when what he learns is ever changing and being discarded or modified and developed, and he cannot even control what he learns?
- powerful when he cannot even stop a simple virus from downing his body, much less accidents, diseases, and death?
- noble, as though he were better than others when he is nothing but flesh and bone as all other men, and his ideas of upper and lower class are nothing more than ideas in his mind that are soon destroyed by God in death?

The question to the honest and thinking man of the earth is not, “Why does God not choose those who dwell in such superficial thoughts and behavior,” but “What is man, that thou art mindful of him?” (Heb. 2:6).

Man does not deserve God’s attention, much less His salvation. But God loves man, so He gives us both His attention and salvation. However, God does not put up with the foolishness of man’s depraved wisdom and ridiculous claims to self-sufficiency and self-righteousness. Man does not control his destiny. All he has to do is look at the behavior of men, and then look at the grave and be honest and thoughtful about the facts, and he has to confess his need for God.

This is the reason God has chosen to do the very opposite from what man thinks. He chooses as His followers and servants the people who are the very opposite from whom man chooses. God saves those and uses those whom men bypass, ignore, neglect, abuse, and misuse. Why?

“For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world: hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?” (1 Cor.1:19-20).

“That no flesh should glory in his presence” (1 Cor.1:29).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever” (1 Jn.2:15-17).

“Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall” (Pr.16:18).

Thought 1. Note that some of the outstanding people of the world are saved. Some are truthfully honest and do think and search the Scriptures and God for the truth. Therefore, God saves them. God does not save a lowly person because he is lowly. He saves a man because the man's heart is humble.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted” (Mt.23:12).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up” (Jas.4:10).

“Better it is to be of a humble spirit with the lowly, than to divide the spoil with the proud” (Pr.16:19).

“A man's pride shall bring him low: but honor shall uphold the humble in spirit” (Pr.29:23).

“For thus saith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is Holy; I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, and to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones” (Is.57:15).

“He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?” (Mic.6:8).

4 (1:30-31) Jesus Christ, Person—Salvation—Wisdom: God's real wisdom is Jesus Christ, His only Son. Note “of Him” (ek autou); that is, out of God, out of His nature of love and salvation, He chooses you to be in Christ” (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Position in Christ—Ro.8:1 for discussion). Again, the stress is that it is God who saves a person; the person does not save himself, no matter how capable he is or how much good he may do. How is God able to save men? By Christ. God took Christ and presented Him to the world as the wisdom of God.

1. Christ is the wisdom of God given to the world so that men might know the way, the truth, and the life of God. God sent Christ to earth as the Word (logos) of God. He was the perfect expression of what God wanted to say to man. Everything Jesus Christ said and did was exactly how God wants man to speak and do. Jesus Christ was the Word of God to man (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, The Word—Jn.1:1-5 for discussion).

a. God sent Christ to earth as the fullness of the Godhead in bodily form.

“[Christ] in whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge” (Col.2:3).

“For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:9).

b. God sent Christ to earth as the Revelation of God. God wanted man to see exactly who He is, what He is like, and how He expects man to live. Therefore, God revealed Himself to man in the person of Jesus Christ.

“That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ” (1 Jn.1:3).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works” (Jn.14:9-10).

“I and my Father are one” (Jn.10:30).

“If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him” (Jn.10:37-38).

c. Christ was the very embodiment of the glory of God.

“For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ” (2 Cor.4:6).

What all this means is that a man must come to Jesus Christ if he wishes to know God, for Jesus Christ is the wisdom of God revealed to the world. God has given His wisdom to the world through His Son, Jesus Christ. Through Jesus Christ...

- God's wisdom has spoken to the world.
- God's wisdom has revealed itself to the world.
- God's wisdom has lived before the world in human flesh.

Man now knows the way, the truth, and the life of God. Man is now without excuse.

2. Christ is the righteousness of God. Righteousness shows just how wise God really is. Man is not perfect, but imperfect and unrighteous. Therefore, man by his very nature cannot live in God's presence, for God is perfect and the very embodiment of righteousness. How then can man ever become acceptable to God and be allowed to live in God's presence? Jesus Christ is the answer, for He is the righteousness of God; that is, God sent Jesus Christ to earth to live the perfect, ideal, and sinless life. Jesus Christ never sinned, not even once. Therefore, He stood before God and before the world as the Ideal Man, the Perfect Man, the Representative Man, the Perfect Righteousness that could stand for and cover the righteousness of every man.

When a man believes in Jesus Christ—really believes—God takes that man's faith and counts it (his faith) as righteousness. The man is not righteous; he and everyone else knows it. But God counts his faith and belief as righteousness. Why would God do such an incredible thing? Because God loves His Son that much and God loves man that much. God loves so much that He will take any man who honors His Son by believing in Him and count that man's faith as though it were the real thing: righteousness. Very simply stated: Jesus Christ is the righteousness of God. He is the only way a man can become righteous and acceptable to God.

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin” (Heb.4:15).

“Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens” (Heb.7:25-26).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

3. Christ is the sanctification of God. Sanctification also shows just how wise God is. Sanctification means two things.
- a. Sanctification means to be set apart unto God. Jesus Christ set His life apart to live for God, and He lived for God perfectly and righteously. Therefore, His act of sanctification is able to stand as the Ideal, Perfect, and Representative sanctification for man. When a man believes in Jesus Christ, God takes that man's faith and counts it for the man's sanctification. God counts the man as one of His, as set apart unto Him.

“By the which will [God's will] we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all” (Heb.10:10).

“Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate” (Heb.13:12).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

- b. Sanctification means holiness: to live a holy and righteous, pure and clean life. When a man believes in Christ, God does a most marvelous thing. God puts the Spirit of Christ—the very life, energy, and power of Christ—into the heart and life of the new believer. God sends the Spirit of Christ, who is the Holy Spirit, to actually live in the body of the believer. Therefore, the believer has a supernatural power to live for God. As he follows in the footsteps of Christ, living more and more like Christ did, he becomes more and more sanctified—set apart unto God, living a more holy life than the day before.

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“Flee fornication. Every sin that man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body. What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:18-20).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord” (Heb.12:14).

“But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy” (1 Pt.1:15-16).

4. Christ is the redemption of God. Redemption shows the wisdom of God to the world. As the Ideal, Perfect, and Representative Man, whatever Jesus Christ did would stand for man. Therefore, when Jesus Christ died, His death became the Ideal and Representative death for all men. This is what is meant when Scripture says that Jesus Christ died for man. He died as the Perfect and Ideal Man, as the Substitute and Representative Man for all men. As the Ideal and Perfect Man, He was able to bear the punishment for every man's sins. Through His death Jesus Christ redeems (delivers) us from sin, death, and punishment. He is the redemption, the deliverance of God for this world.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

5. The purpose of God in sending Christ to earth was to stir men to praise God instead of boasting in their own wisdom and self-sufficiency. (Cp. Jer.9:23-24.)

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

D. Answer Three: Sound Preaching, 2:1-5

(2:1-5) Introduction: the Corinthian church was deeply divided. Two of the issues dividing it were a dispute over what kind of preacher should fill their pulpit, and which former minister had contributed the most to their church (cp. 1 Cor.1:11-16). The church desperately needed to understand what preaching really was. Only if they understood what God intended preaching to be could they hope to solve their differences. One of the strong solutions to division is sound preaching.

1. Sound preaching is not eloquence or human philosophy (v.1).
2. Sound preaching has one great theme: Jesus Christ and Him crucified (v.2).
3. Sound preaching is proclaimed with a great sense of inadequacy (v.3).
4. Sound preaching is not persuasive words, but a demonstration of the Spirit and power (v.4).
5. Sound preaching leads to faith (v.5).

(2:1-5) Another Outline: The Sound Preaching of Paul.

1. His approach: to preach (v.1).
  - a. Not with eloquence or philosophy.
  - b. With God's testimony.
2. His one great theme: the cross (v.2).
3. His great sense of inadequacy (v.3).
4. His speech and message (v.4).
  - a. Not with persuasive words.
  - b. In the Spirit and power.
5. His sole purpose: to build faith (v.5).
  - a. Not in man's ability.
  - b. In God's power.

1 (2:1) Preaching—Minister: sound preaching is not eloquence or human wisdom or philosophy. This is Paul's personal testimony. The words "I" and "my" are used six times in these five brief verses, and note the opening phrase: "and I" (kago). It is emphatic. Paul stresses a critical fact: the concern of preaching is not to be eloquence or human wisdom or philosophy.

1. Sound preaching is not eloquence. The Greek word (huperochē) actually means superiority, elevation, preeminence, rising above. Remember Paul is speaking about words, not so much about himself, although the behavior of a person could be involved. Paul did not try to sound more superior, more elevated, and more eloquent in his preaching. He was not concerned in the least with his preaching rising above and being more preeminent and recognized than the preaching of others.

2. Sound preaching is not human wisdom or philosophy. Paul faced the same kind of situation that we face today, and in reality, the same kind of situation that every generation of believers face: a world that stresses the philosophy of humanism. The world, no matter its generation, is constantly seeking more and more wisdom, education, science, technology, and new and novel ideas, in particular ideas dealing with reality and truth. All of these pursuits are not only worthwhile, they are absolutely essential for man's welfare. The problem is this: man seeks these pursuits within the framework of this world. He forgets God entirely. As a result, the world's wisdom, education, science, technology, reality, and truth are only of this world. And, of course, the destiny of all that is within the world is corruption and death. There is no fulfilling foundation and no permanency to anything within the world. Everything within the world is unfulfilling within itself, passes away, and ceases to exist.

This is the reason Paul did not preach human philosophy or worldly wisdom. When Paul preached, he was not concerned with sounding like a philosopher or some deep thinker or some preacher and theologian with a new and novel idea or position.

3. Sound preaching is declaring the testimony of God. The word "testimony" (marturion) is the mystery or revelation of God. The glorious testimony or revelation of God is Jesus Christ and Him crucified (v.2). Preaching is not delivering eloquent speeches nor sound advice on...

- |                     |                       |                            |
|---------------------|-----------------------|----------------------------|
| • self-development  | • education           | • philosophy               |
| • self-image        | • science             | • religion and its rituals |
| • positive thinking | • new and novel ideas | • history                  |

All of these have their place, and what truth lies within each needs to be taught; but they are not the subjects that are to be preached by God's ministers to a lost world that is reeling under the weight of lonely, empty, starving, and suffering masses of people. The genuine preacher of God is to preach the testimony (marturion, mystery, revelation) of God.

2 (2:2) Preaching—Minister—Jesus Christ, Cross: sound preaching has one great theme—Jesus Christ and Him crucified. The phrase “I determined” (ekrina) means to have decided, to have made a decision. Paul made a deliberate decision, a strong determination to preach only Jesus Christ and Him crucified. His theme was not...

- Jesus the great model for men.
- Jesus the great teacher.
- Jesus the great man of purpose.
- Jesus the great example.
- Jesus the great martyr.

1. The message of Paul was Jesus Christ, His Person as the Son of God, who was made unto us “wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (see note—1 Cor.1:30-31 for discussion).

2. The message of Paul was Jesus Christ crucified. Paul declares, “I determined not to know anything among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2). This is an emphatic, forceful statement:

- ⇒ The thrust of Paul’s preaching was the death of Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The theme of Paul’s preaching was the death of Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The message of Paul’s preaching was the death of Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The principle of Paul’s preaching was the death of Jesus Christ.
- ⇒ The heart of Paul’s preaching was the death of Jesus Christ.

Paul concentrated on the death of Jesus Christ. The reason is clearly seen when we look at what Scripture says about the subject. (Also see Jesus Christ, Death—Master Subject Index for more discussion.)

- ⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are cleansed and freed from all sin.

“For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins” (Mt.26:28).

“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world” (Jn.1:29).

“For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:3).

“And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission” (Heb.9:22).

“For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:26).

“So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation” (Heb.9:28).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin” (1 Jn.3:5).

- ⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are accepted and reconciled to God and have peace with God.

“To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved. In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:6-7).

“And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven” (Col.1:20).

- ⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are justified.

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

- ⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are eternally redeemed.

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus: whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God” (Ro.3:24-25).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers” (1 Pt.1:18).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are delivered from death.

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel” (2 Tim.1:9-10).

“But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:9).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are delivered from condemnation.

“Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us” (Ro.8:34).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are delivered from the curse of the law, that is, from death and separation from God.

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons” (Gal.4:4-5).

“Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross; and having spoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them openly, triumphing over them in it” (Col.2:14-15).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are delivered from the judgment and wrath to come.

“And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come” (1 Th.1:10).

“For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him” (1 Th.5:9-10).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are delivered from this present evil (corruptible and dying) world.

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that Satan’s power over death and the world is broken and destroyed.

“Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage” (Heb.2:14-15).

“And they overcame him [Satan] by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death” (Rev.12:11).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are healed.

“But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed” (Is.53:5).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are given all things.

“He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?” (Ro.8:32).

1 CORINTHIANS 2:1-5

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that those without strength are saved.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

“And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?” (1 Cor.8:11).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that the ungodly are saved.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that sinners are saved.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that the enemies of God are saved.

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that the unjust are saved.

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that all men are drawn to Christ.

“And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me” (Jn.12:32).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we have access into the holy presence of God.

“Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh” (Heb.10:19-20).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that the great love of God is revealed to us.

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are freed from a self-centered life and live for Christ.

“Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body. For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:10-11).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin” (1 Pt.4:1).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are enabled to live unto righteousness.

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

1 CORINTHIANS 2:1-5

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are taught to love and sacrifice our lives for others.

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that our consciences are genuinely cleared so that we can serve God and bear fruit.

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we know the power of God.

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor.1:18).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are enabled to purge out the old sins.

“Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that we are reconciled to men.

“But now in Christ Jesus ye who sometimes were far off are made nigh by the blood of Christ. For he is our peace, who hath made both one, and hath broken down the middle wall of partition between us....And that he might reconcile both unto God in one body by the cross, having slain the enmity thereby....For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father” (Eph.2:13-14, 16, 18).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that Jesus Christ gained the right to be exalted as the Lord of the dead and the living.

“For to this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living” (Ro.14:9).

“And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father” (Ph.2:8-11).

“Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high” (Heb.1:3).

“Looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God” (Heb.12:2).

⇒ It is by the death of Jesus Christ that the church of God was purchased.

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

3 (2:3) Preaching—Ministers: sound preaching is proclaimed with a great sense of inadequacy. There are probably four reasons why Paul felt so inadequate.

1. Paul's personal appearance was apparently not impressive, not to the Corinthians. Paul says that he was weak in body (2 Cor.10:10; 11:6), and that he suffered some physical infirmity (Gal.4:14; 6:11). This should not matter to a congregation of God's people, but it did to the Corinthians. Some among the Corinthians were more interested in the charisma, worldly ability, and preaching skills of a pastor than in his depth and knowledge of the Lord. Unfortunately, this seems to have been the emphasis among many people of the Corinthian church.

2. Paul may have been a small framed man and a man with the knowledge, gifts, and voice geared more to teaching than to preaching. When looking at the whole of Paul's life and what is said about him, this seems to be the case. However, the point cannot and should not be pushed. If the facts are accurate, then Paul would have sensed a deep inadequacy before the Corinthians because of their stress upon eloquence and charisma in speakers (1 Cor.2:4; 2 Cor.10:10; 11:6).

3. When Paul came into Corinth he was sensing weakness in the ministry, a great personal inadequacy. In the four cities where he had ministered prior to Corinth, he had faced great trouble in the ministry. In Philippi he had seen a promising beginning smashed by the Judaizers or religionists. Similar happenings occurred at Thessalonica and at Berea. And in the city from which he had just come, Athens, Paul experienced what some say was a failure. Athens was a great intellectual center, full of philosophers bristling about with the latest philosophies and world news. Paul had attempted to meet them on their own philosophic grounds. He had reduced Christianity to philosophic terms. He had tried to speak to them in the wisdom of the world, using their own terms and quoting their own authorities (Acts 17:22-31). His philosophical approach apparently failed to reach many for Christ (Acts 17:32-34). Thus, it seems that somewhere along the road, travelling between Athens and Corinth, Paul determined that forever after he would preach Christ and Christ alone, and he would preach in the simplest of words. He would never again wrap up the story of Jesus in the words of human wisdom and flowery speech.

4. Unquestionably, Paul sensed a spiritual inadequacy and unworthiness in serving the Lord. This is seen throughout his ministry. He knew that his sufficiency was in the Lord and in the Lord alone. He knew that whatever was done had to be done by the power of God's Spirit if it was to have lasting value. He knew that if anything was attempted in his own strength, it would fail and not last. Therefore, what Paul is describing is his attitude, his state of mind, which characterized his whole ministry. When he approached a person or a people to minister to them, he ministered to them in personal weakness and fear before the Lord, even to the point of trembling. He sensed a hesitancy, a nervousness, a tension, a trembling apprehension—all arising from a deep sense of inadequacy and of the eminent importance of the work.

Thought 1. No man should ever stand before a people in his own strength, stand before them depending upon...

- his appearance
- his charisma
- his ability
- his wisdom
- his novel ideas

The minister of God must know this: he cannot spiritually convert and change people. No person can deliver men from death and give them life that is both abundant and eternal. Only God can do that; therefore, the minister of God must live before God in weakness and in fear and trembling—always depending upon God's Spirit to equip him for proclaiming the gospel of God. God alone can give life and righteousness; God alone can bear the permanent fruit of life and true righteousness.

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God” (1 Cor.15:9).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power. Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ” (Eph.3:7-8).

“This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief” (1 Tim.1:15).

4 (2:4) Preaching—Ministers: sound preaching is not persuasive words, but a demonstration of the Spirit and power. Several points need to be closely observed.

1. Note the words speech and preaching. A distinction is being made between daily speech or conversation and preaching. Paul's daily conversations focused upon Jesus Christ just as his preaching did. He is saying what he has already stressed: he was determined not to know anything among people save “Jesus Christ and Him crucified.”

Thought 1. What a dynamic example for us! Our lives and conversation should focus upon Jesus Christ—every day, all day long. When possible and whenever opportunity can be made, the theme of our conversation should be Jesus Christ and Him crucified...

“For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard” (Acts 4:20).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak” (2 Cor.4:13).

“Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord” (Eph.5:19).

“Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man” (Col.4:6).

“Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God” (2 Tim.1:8).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

“But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear” (1 Pt.3:15).

“And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart: and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:6-7).

“They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power” (Ps.145:11).

“Then they that feared the LORD spake often one to another: and the LORD hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the LORD, and that thought upon his name” (Mal.3:16).

2. The word “enticing” (peithois) means persuasive, plausible. Paul’s witnessing and preaching was not based upon the enticing, persuasive, plausible arguments of man’s wisdom and philosophy.

3. The word “demonstration” (apodeixei) means to show forth with the most rigorous evidence and proof. The idea is that the evidence is presented so strongly that the truth is clearly seen.

4. The only way a person’s witness and preaching can be proclaimed so strongly is through the Holy Spirit and His power. The gospel of salvation can be convincing only when the Holy Spirit and His power demonstrates it.

Thought 1. Only the Holy Spirit can convict, convince, and convert a person to live for God. Only the Holy Spirit can impart life to a person. Therefore, the minister of God must surrender his life to the Spirit of God. He must be filled with the presence, fullness, and power of the Holy Spirit.

“And when he [the Holy Spirit] is come, he will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on me; of righteousness, because I go to my Father, and ye see me no more; of judgment, because the prince of this world is judged” (Jn.16:8-11).

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

“And with great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus: and great grace was upon them all” (Acts 4:33).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us [the Holy Spirit]” (Eph.3:20).

“Be filled with the Spirit” (Eph.5:18).

5 (2:5) Preaching—Ministers, Purpose: sound preaching leads to faith. Note a critical point: the wisdom of men cannot save man. Only the power of God can. It is of no value whatsoever for a man to know...

- that Jesus Christ really lived, that He was an historical person.
- that Jesus Christ is really the Savior, that he is truly the Son of God.
- that other religions and positions are not true.

A person’s salvation cannot stand in the human knowledge and wisdom of men. Human arguments and appeals may seem rational and logical, but they have no spiritual power. No man—no speech and no preaching—can convert a human soul and impart eternal life to it. Only God can do such a thing. Therefore, the minister of God must speak and preach under the influence and power of God’s Spirit.

Thought 1. Anything short of God’s Spirit places a person’s faith in the knowledge and wisdom of men. The crying need is for God’s people to be controlled by God’s Spirit so that God can demonstrate His power through them to a lost and dying world.

“But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

E. Answer Four: God's Revealed Wisdom, 2:6-13

(2:6-13) Introduction: one of the greatest causes of division is pride, acting superior. Pride is always a serious offense. It tends to categorize people and downgrade them, affecting their initiative and growth. It can eventually doom a person or a whole class of people into slavery. Pride, arrogance, superiority, thinking too highly of oneself—no form or shape of self-centeredness has any part in God's church. Yet, an intellectual pride had become deeply rooted in the Corinthian church. And pride—the wisdom of the world—was about to rip the church apart. The fourth answer to division is God's revealed wisdom.

1. God's wisdom is only for those who seek to be perfect before God (v.6).
2. God's wisdom is not the wisdom of this world and its leaders (v.6).
3. God's wisdom is the wisdom of God Himself (v.7-9).
4. God's wisdom is revealed only by God's Spirit (v.10-13).

(2:6-13) Another Outline: Knowing God's Revealed Wisdom.

1. What wisdom is (v.6).
  - a. Not the wisdom of the world.
  - b. The wisdom of God (1:30) (v.7).
2. Who knows wisdom (v.8).
  - a. Not rulers of the world.
  - b. Those who love God (v.9).
3. How one receives wisdom (v.10).
  - a. By revelation.
  - b. By receiving the Spirit of God (v.12).
  - c. By the taught or preached Word (v.13).
4. Who receives wisdom (v.14-16).
  - a. Not the natural man.
  - b. The spiritual man (v.14-16).

1 (2:6) God, Wisdom of—Gospel: God's wisdom is only for those who seek to be perfect before God. Paul clearly says that he spoke "wisdom among them who are perfect." By "perfect" he means those who are concerned...

- about being perfect and acceptable to God.
- about being destined for perfection in heaven.

The word "perfect" (teleiois) means finished, complete. It means fully developed, grown, mature. It means to reach one's end. The person who longs for heaven and seeks to reach his end by being perfect before God is the person who focuses his life upon the wisdom of God. He is the only person who is interested in God and His wisdom. He is the person who speaks, proclaims, and talks about the wisdom of God. Men of the world have little if any interest in God and His wisdom. Their desire is to live and walk as they please, not to live and walk in the wisdom of God. The wisdom of God is foolishness to them that perish, but to us who seek to be perfect (the saved) it is the power of God.

"For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent. Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?" (1 Cor.1:18-21).

"Brethren, be not children in understanding; howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men" (1 Cor.14:20).

"For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also the Greek. For therein is the righteousness of God revealed" (Ro.1:16-17).

"Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Eph.4:13-14).

2 (2:6) God, Wisdom of—World, Wisdom of: God's wisdom is not the wisdom of this world and its leaders. The word "princes" refers to all the leaders of the world: rulers, scientists, philosophers, educators, judges, executives, and religionists. It refers to anyone with influence, anyone who thinks about the world and life and who draws serious conclusions about the purpose, meaning, and significance of things. (See note, World, Wisdom—1 Cor.1:19-20 for more discussion.)

1. What is the wisdom of the world and of its princes? The world's wisdom includes many approaches to finding the truth and meaning of life, many approaches to solving the terrible and devastating problems of evil and death in the world. A quick glance at the life-styles, religions, philosophies, and psychologies of life immediately show the wisdom of the world. However, the wisdom of the world and of its leaders boil down to two primary positions.

- a. The wisdom of the world says there is no God; He does not exist. Way back in time, as far back as the mind can go, some thing—element, molecule, atom, or gas—appeared.
- ⇒ From where?
  - ⇒ By what force?
  - ⇒ Under what conditions?

There was nothing—no place, no force, no conditions existing. The first something just appeared out of nothing, and from that first something, the worlds of the heavens and earth with their life forms evolved. Therefore, we find ourselves here upon earth, alive, having survived the struggle. Our task is to do our best to conquer all the forces of evil and to build the best world we can. Man's destiny is in his own hands.

- b. The wisdom of the world says God may exist, but He may not exist. We cannot know for sure. If He does exist, He is so distant and far away that men are left on their own. God has no concern about the world. Our task is to conquer the evil and negative forces of life through science, technology, education, and the religion of human effort. We are to use everything at our disposal and do the very best we can to conquer nature, disease, suffering, corruption, and death. We are to live a life that is as lawful and full as possible. If there happens to be a God, He would expect us to do this.

2. Note the word "world" (aionos). It means this age, this world that is passing on as fast as the wind which is here and gone ever so quickly. The wisdom of the world and of its leaders is here today and gone tomorrow. Man's ideas about God and truth fade and pass away almost as quickly as man himself does.

3. Note the word "nought." It means that the wisdom of the world's leaders are coming to nought—being brought to nothing. Their wisdom is as nothing, as non-existent—all their wisdom will fade away and cease to exist.

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools" (Ro.1:22).

"For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent" (1 Cor.1:19).

"Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought" (1 Cor.2:6).

"For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain" (1 Cor.3:19-20).

"Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ" (Col.2:8).

"Which things have indeed a show of wisdom in will worship, and humility, and neglecting of the body; not in any honour to the satisfying of the flesh" (Col.2:23).

"This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish" (Jas.3:15).

"The wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid" (Is.29:14).

"For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge" (Jer.4:22).

"With thy wisdom and with thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures. By thy great wisdom and by thy traffic hast thou increased thy riches....thou hast set thine heart as the heart of God" (Ezk.28:4-6).

3 (2:7-9) God, Wisdom of—Mystery—Man, Ignorance: God's wisdom is the wisdom of God Himself. And note: God's wisdom is proclaimed in a mystery. This does not mean that God's wisdom is strange and mysterious, but rather that it involves facts that cannot be known by man, not by man's natural reason. God's wisdom has to be revealed; it is a mystery in that it can never be known unless God reveals it. No man can penetrate heaven to discover God and truth. If this material world is to know the spiritual world, then God, who is Spirit, has to reveal Himself and His spiritual world.

1. What is the wisdom of God? What is the wisdom preached by Paul, the wisdom that is to be spoken among those who are concerned with being perfect? It is the gospel of God, the good news concerning Christ and Him crucified.

The gospel tells how God went about reconciling the world to Himself and how man is to be reconciled to God. The gospel shows how wise God has been in dealing with man and his world. Therefore, the gospel—Christ and Him crucified—is the wisdom and mystery of God. It is the very wisdom which every man must possess if he wishes to know God and to live with God throughout eternity. (See note, Jesus Christ, Cross—1 Cor.1:19-20 for more discussion.)

2. The leaders of the world do not know the wisdom of God. They do not understand...
  - the origin of God and life.
  - the nature of God and life (the underlying reason why life is as it is).
  - the end or destiny of God and life.

The world and its leaders are at a loss to understand where we have come from, why we are here, and where we are going. There are two clear proofs of this fact.

- a. If the leaders had known the wisdom of God they would not have crucified “THE LORD OF GLORY.” Jesus Christ is the Lord of Glory, God Himself. He came to earth to save men, and He came not to save them for only seventy short years, but to save them eternally. Yet the leaders rejected and crucified Him. This they would not have done if they had known the wisdom of God.

Thought 1. The leaders in the day of Christ rejected Him. Their rejection symbolizes exactly what most leaders have done and always will do: reject Him. The world stands guilty before God—guilty of rejecting His wisdom (cp. Ro.3:9-19).

- b. The leaders of the world have never seen nor heard the truth: the truth has never even entered their heart. How do we know this? Because the truth of God is “the thing which God has prepared for them that love Him” (v.9). The truth and wisdom of God is the riches of His glory and grace—which He sent into the world through Christ—the most glorious wealth and benefits imaginable. But the wealth and gifts of God are found only in Christ Jesus. He came to earth to reveal the truth about man and his world. What is that truth? Man and his world had been created in perfection, but man has corrupted himself and his world through...
  - sin
  - deception
  - theft
  - neglect
  - lies
  - killing
  - immorality
  - indulgence
  - power
  - selfishness

Therefore, man has to repent and turn back to God if he wishes to live with God. But note how men received the wisdom and truth of God. They rejected and crucified Christ.

⇒ Their eyes could not see the spiritual world.

⇒ Their ears could not hear the spiritual truth.

⇒ Their hearts could not conceive the spiritual truth, the glory of the things God has prepared for them that love Him.

“For this people’s heart is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes they have closed; lest at any time they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them” (Mt.13:15).

“He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not” (Jn.1:10).

“Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water” (Jn.4:10).

“Then said they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also” (Jn.8:19).

“The man answered and said unto them, Why herein is a marvelous thing, that ye know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes” (Jn.9:30).

“Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father?” (Jn.14:9).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(2:7) Mystery (musterion): a fact or truth that man is unable to discover by himself; a fact or truth that has to be revealed to man. It is a fact or truth that has been hidden and kept secret by God until it was time for it to be revealed. It does not mean something hard to understand or something strange and mysterious as a magical trick. It does not mean that there is something mysterious about God. It means some fact or truth...

- that is known only by God.
- that God reveals to man because He loves man and man desperately needs to know the truth.

There are several important mysteries revealed in the Bible.

1. The mystery of the gospel, that is, God’s wisdom which is Christ crucified.

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God” (1 Cor.1:23-24).

“But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory” (1 Cor.2:7).

“And for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel” (Eph.6:19).

2. The mysteries of the Kingdom of heaven. (See note—Mt.13:10-11; cp. Mt.13:1-52.)
3. The mystery of Israel’s blindness and restoration.

“For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in. And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, there shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob: for this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins” (Ro.11:25-27).

4. The mystery of the believers’ resurrection, which will enable them to live an incorruptible life with God.

“Behold, I show you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed” (1 Cor.15:51-52).

“But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent [precede] them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:13-18).

5. The mystery of God’s will: that He is to gather together and unify all things in Christ—unify them in a spirit of peace and harmony—all things, both visible and invisible.

“Having made known unto us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he hath purposed in himself: that in the dispensation of the fulness of times he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven, and which are on earth; even in him” (Eph.1:9-10).

6. The mystery of the church and of God’s universal love: that both Jew and Gentile are included in the church.

“(Whereby, when ye read, ye may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christ) which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit; that the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel” (Eph.3:4-6; cp. v.7-12).

“Now to him that is of power to stablish you according to my gospel, and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery, which was kept secret since the world began” (Ro.16:25).

7. The mystery of the church: that the church is the bride and body of Christ.

“For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones. For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh. This is a great mystery: but I speak concerning Christ and the church” (Eph.5:30-32; cp. v.22-33).

8. The mystery of the indwelling Christ, of “Christ in you, the hope of glory.”

“Even the mystery which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints: to whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:26-27).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

9. The mystery of godliness or of Christ; of God coming to earth in human flesh in the person of Jesus Christ.

“The acknowledgement of the mystery of God, and [even] of Christ....For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily” (Col.2:2, 9).

“And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory” (1 Tim.3:16).

“Withal praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds” (Col.4:3).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:19).

10. The mystery of iniquity and of sin in the world and of man's disobedience to God.

"For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth [hinders] will let [hinder], until he be taken out of the way" (2 Th.2:7).

"Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience" (Eph.2:2).

11. The mystery of the seven stars or local churches and pastors.

"The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the angels [messengers, pastors] of the seven churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest are the seven churches" (Rev.1:20).

12. The mystery of Babylon in the end time.

"And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH....And the angel said unto me, Wherefore didst thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads and ten horns" (Rev.17:5, 7).

4 (2:10-13) God, Wisdom of—Spiritual Ignorance—Spiritual Dullness: God's wisdom is revealed only by God's Spirit. Note three points.

1. Only God's Spirit knows the wisdom and things of God. Human reason can never discover God and the things of God. This is clearly seen by the man who is both honest and thinking.

⇒ No person knows what is really going on within a man except the man's own spirit. So it is with God. No man really knows God and the things of God except the Spirit of God.

Therefore, the world does not know God nor the things of God, for they must be revealed. They cannot be seen, heard, or conceived by the heart of man (v.9). They are only revealed by God's Spirit.

Thought 1. The one thing that man must always remember is this: he cannot penetrate the spiritual world. No person has ever seen God, no matter what some people may claim. If we are to ever know the spiritual world and dimension of being, God has to reveal Himself. This He did once-for-all in Christ Jesus, His only beloved Son.

"No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (Jn.1:18).

"And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape" (Jn.5:37).

"Who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting" (1 Tim.6:16).

"No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us" (1 Jn.4:12).

2. God's wisdom (God and the things of God) is revealed to believers. This is the very reason God has given His Spirit to believers: that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.

a. Only the Holy Spirit knows the things of God (1 Cor.2:11).

b. Only the man who receives Christ, who is born again by the Spirit of God, is quickened to understand spiritual things.

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God....That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit" (Jn.3:3, 6).

"Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will show you things to come. He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you. All things that the Father hath are mine: therefore said I, that he shall take of mine, and shall show it unto you" (Jn.16:13-15).

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God....But he that is spiritual judgeth all things, yet he himself is judged of no man. For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ" (1 Cor.2:12, 15-16).

- c. Only the believer who minds spiritual things can understand the mature, deep things of God.

"For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be" (Ro.8:5-7).

“But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God” (1 Cor.2:9-10).

“But he that is spiritual judgeth all things, yet he himself is judged of no man” (1 Cor.2:15).

“And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able” (1 Cor.3:1-2).

d. The natural man (any man not reborn by the Spirit of God) cannot know the things of God.

“But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory: which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory” (1 Cor.2:7-8).

“For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God” (1 Cor.2:11).

“But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned” (1 Cor.2:14).

“Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word” (Jn.8:43).

“There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God” (Ro.3:11).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth” (2 Tim.3:7).

“They know not, neither will they understand; they walk on in darkness: all the foundations of the earth are out of course” (Ps.82:5).

“We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes: we stumble at noonday as in the night; we are in desolate places as dead men” (Is.59:10).

“For they know not to do right, saith the LORD, who store up violence and robbery in their palaces” (Amos 3:10).

3. God’s wisdom is the message taught by the Holy Spirit. The message, God’s glorious wisdom and gospel, is not a message of man’s wisdom. God’s wisdom and gospel is the message of God’s Spirit Himself. The Holy Spirit teaches the wisdom and gospel of God. Note that the verse ends with the word “spiritual.” There is no object. This means a glorious thing: the Holy Spirit...

- combines spiritual things with spiritual people.
- combines spiritual things with spiritual things.

Thought 1. The Holy Spirit guides and directs us, teaching us to compare and combine spiritual things with spiritual things. We use the Word of God to interpret the Word of God. When we seek and read the instructions of God and do not understand something, we use other Scripture references and passages in the Word to interpret what is not clear. The Holy Spirit keeps us from all error as we follow His leadership.

“For the Holy Ghost shall teach you in the same hour what ye ought to say” (Lk.12:12).

“But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“Which things also we speak, not in the words which man’s wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual” (1 Cor.2:13).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“It is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth” (1 Jn.5:6).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

F. Answer Five: Understanding the Spiritual Stages of Man, 2:14-3:4

(2:14-3:4) Introduction: divisiveness is a terrible problem, one of the most damaging and devastating problems existing in the world. Divisiveness leads to anger, fights, divorce, murder, and war. One of the answers to solving divisiveness is to see ourselves as God sees us. When God looks at a person, He sees that person in one of three classifications.

1. The natural man (v.14).
2. The spiritual man (v.15-16).
3. The carnal man (Ch.3, v.1-4).

1 (2:14) Natural Man—Man, Spiritual Stages of: there is the natural man or what the Greek calls the psuchikos man. The word “natural” (psuchikos) means a man who has physical life or who is living. The root word is soul (psuche), which simply means the life of a man, the consciousness, the breath, the energy, the being of a man. The soul is the animal life of a man. Men and animals are breathing and conscious beings. They are living souls. This is clearly pointed out in the creation of animal life. When God was creating the world and He had finished the creation of vegetation, He said:

“Let the waters bring forth abundantly ‘living souls’ [hephesh, Hebrew] that hath life” (Gen.1:20).

What God was saying is that the life He was then creating was different from the vegetation He had just created. The things that were now being created were “living souls,” things that breathe and possess consciousness—things that have “souls,” life, and consciousness within their bodies.

The point is this: the natural man is a living soul, an animal soul; he is a man who is living on this earth, just as an animal. However, that is all he is doing. He is living in the flesh only. He has gotten no further than the flesh, no further than his animal life. He has never progressed to the level of the spiritual. His mind and life, energy and effort are all focused upon...

- the physical
- the material
- the world
- the flesh
- the natural
- the human
- what can be seen
- what can be touched
- what can be heard
- what can be tasted
- what can be felt
- what can be possessed

There is another way to say the same thing which is extremely helpful. The natural man is the Adamic man, the man who has fallen from the perfection of his creation. The natural man is...

- the fallen and depraved man.
- the sinful and corrupt man.
- the aging and deteriorating man.
- the dying and doomed man.

The natural man is the morally corrupt man, the man whose spirit is dead to God. He is a man with a human nature, and the human nature is all he has. His nature is human nature apart from God. It is a Christless human nature, a nature that will not believe and obey and live for Christ. It is life lived without the presence and influence of Jesus Christ.

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish” (Jas.3:15).

“These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit” (Jude 19).

Three things are said about the natural man.

1. The natural man does not receive the things of the Spirit of God. The phrase “receive not” (dechetai) means that spiritual things are not welcomed as a guest, are not accepted. It means to refuse and reject. Spiritual things are of little if any concern to the natural man, for his mind is primarily upon this world and upon...

- |                             |                          |
|-----------------------------|--------------------------|
| • bigger and better things  | • ambition and promotion |
| • acquiring more and more   | • socials and parties    |
| • desire and feelings       | • play and recreation    |
| • wants and cravings        | • comfort and ease       |
| • position and wealth       | • drinking and eating    |
| • attention and recognition | • dress and appearance   |

The natural man’s life and mind are spent focusing upon the natural, upon this world and not upon the spiritual; therefore, in God’s eyes he is classified as the natural man. His heart welcomes only the world; it is closed to God. God is not welcomed into his life. Therefore, he does not receive the things of the Spirit of God.

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:7).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled” (Col.1:21).

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

2. The natural man considers the things of God foolishness. The word “foolishness” (moria) means dull, absurd, distasteful. Remember the natural man lives primarily for the animal part of his nature: he lives primarily for what...

- looks good
- feels good
- tastes good
- sounds good

He lives primarily for his animal senses, primarily for what turns him on. It may be position, money, wealth, possessions, recognition, fame, influence, power, family, house, cars, sex, food, dress, popularity—an endless number of worldly and material things could be listed—anything that attracts and appeals to the animal nature within us as human beings. The man who gives in to these instincts and urges is the person who lives as the natural man. To him the things of God are secondary, of less importance. Why? Because he cannot see, feel, taste, hear, or prove spiritual things—not with his physical senses. Therefore, to his mind, it is utterly foolish to put spiritual things first.

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God” (1 Cor.1:23-24).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty” (1 Cor.1:27).

3. The natural man cannot know spiritual things. Note the word cannot. It is not only that the natural man will not and does not know spiritual things, but he cannot know them. He is incapable, unable, helpless to know them. He cannot discern spiritual things...

- |                  |                    |
|------------------|--------------------|
| • their truth    | • their worth      |
| • their goodness | • their excellence |
| • their reality  | • their wealth     |
| • their virtue   | • their majesty    |
| • their hope     | • their glory      |

Why can the natural man not know spiritual things? Very simply, because they are spiritually discerned. The word “discerned” (anakrinetai) means investigated, judged, scrutinized, examined, estimated. Spiritual things have to be discerned by a living spirit, not by a natural man, not by a man who is primarily living by his animal nature. Spiritual things can be discerned only by a spirit that is living. Spiritual things can be...

- investigated only by a living spirit
- judged only by a living spirit
- examined only by a living spirit
- estimated and valued only by a living spirit

“But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!” (Mt.6:23).

“For they being ignorant of God’s righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God” (Ro.10:3).

“In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them” (2 Cor.4:4).

“Having the understanding darkened, being alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart” (Eph.4:18).

“Therefore I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish: for they know not the way of the LORD, nor the judgment of their God” (Jer.5:4).

“And many nations shall come, and say, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem” (Mic.4:2).

2 (2:15-16) Spiritual Man—Man, Spiritual Stages: there is the spiritual man or what the Greek calls the pneumatikos man. The word “spirit” (pneuma) is the word used for the Holy Spirit which means that the spiritual man is a person in whom the Holy Spirit dwells. A man is spiritual because the Holy Spirit dwells in him. He is not spiritual because he...

- has received some superior, human gift.
- has received some unusual ability.
- has become more intelligent than before.
- has become greater than he was before.
- has become better than he was before.

A man becomes spiritual because he has received the Spirit of God and is living under the influence of the Spirit of God. When man receives Christ Jesus as his Savior, Scripture says...

- that he is born again by the Spirit of God.

“Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit” (Jn.3:5-6; cp. 1 Cor.3:16; 6:19).

“Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever” (1 Pt.1:23).

- that he minds the things of God, not the things of the flesh.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace” (Ro.8:5-6).

- that he is in the Spirit and that the Spirit dwells in him.

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you” (Ro.8:9).

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

- that the Spirit imparts life to him.

“And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness” (Ro.8:10).

- that the Spirit quickens his mortal body.

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11; cp.1 Pt.3:18).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

- that he can kill the sinful deeds of his body only by the Spirit.

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

- that the presence of the Spirit’s leadership in the man’s life proves that he is a child of God.

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father” (Gal.4:6).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit” (1 Jn.4:13).

“This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth” (1 Jn.5:6).

Three things are said about the spiritual man.

1. The spiritual man judges or discerns all things. The word judges means the very same thing as discern in the former verse. The man who believes in Jesus Christ experiences a most wonderful thing:

⇒ The Spirit of God enters and dwells within his body converting his body into a holy temple for God's presence.

"But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his" (Ro.8:9).

"Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1 Cor.3:16).

"What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (1 Cor.6:19).

⇒ The man actually partakes of the divine nature of God and becomes a new creature, a new man.

"Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust" (2 Pt.1:4).

"And that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph.4:24).

"And have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" (Col.3:10).

The point is this: the man who is truly spiritual lives under the control of God's Spirit. God's Spirit lives within his body. Therefore, it is the Holy Spirit of God who reveals the truth of spiritual things to the man. This is critical to note: the ability to discern is not the man's; it is the Holy Spirit within the man.

Thought 1. There is no room for super-spirituality in God's church, for all that we have is of God; it is not of us.

2. The spiritual man is not understood by the natural man. Note how Scripture words this point: the spiritual man is "judged of no man" (v.15). This statement has been abused and misused to such a degree that some men have become not only laughingstocks, but stumbling blocks to the innocent. This is tragic, for the meaning is perfectly clear when kept in the context of this passage.

"No man" means the natural man, the man just talked about. The natural man has little concern and little knowledge of Christ and God; therefore, there is no human way he can understand the spiritual man. A man knows only that which he experiences and studies: common sense and honesty tell us this. There is no way a man can judge spiritual things unless he experiences and studies spiritual things. Therefore, the natural man cannot understand why any person would want to put his efforts into and waste his time upon matters that are "other-worldly." After all, we live in this world, not the other world, not yet. Hence, the natural man feels that our primary concern should be upon this world (this is true even with religionists). The natural man might argue that a little thought about spiritual things is acceptable, but not the focusing of a person's whole life. The point is that the natural man just does not understand the spiritual man. To him the spiritual man is a fool for passing up this world and all the good things this world has to offer.

3. The spiritual man has the "mind of Christ." This is the reason the believer can discern spiritual things: he has the "mind of Christ." This does not mean that the spiritual man knows all there is to know about Christ, but it means that his mind is focused upon God and the things of God just as the mind of Christ was. The Spirit of God pulls, draws, and stirs the mind of the genuine believer to spiritual things.

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Ph.2:5-8).

"And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, the same shall save it" (Lk.9:23-24).

"For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace" (Ro.8:5-6).

3 (3:1-4) Carnal—Man, Spiritual Stages: there is the carnal man (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Carnal—1 Cor.3:1-4 for the meaning of the word carnal). Three things are said about the carnal man.

1. The carnal man is not spiritually mature; he is as a babe in Christ. Note that the carnal man is a true believer. He is a babe in Christ, but he is deformed just like a deformed baby. He should be more mature, more developed spiritually, but he has not grown in Christ. The carnal man does not know Christ and the things of God like he should. His mind and behavior are not focused upon Christ like they should be. He has been a believer for years, but he knows little about Christ and God.

2. The carnal man has to be fed with milk and not the meat of the Word. This does not mean there are two sets of teachings, nor that there are two sets of beliefs, one for the learned believer and another for the unlearned. The same gospel is preached to all, and the same Word is studied by all; but some have paid attention, studied, prayed, and served Christ more than others. Therefore, they naturally know more about God's Word, and know more about what it means to pray and walk in Christ. The spiritual believer knows and experiences more of the depth of spiritual things than the carnal believer, much more. Therefore, the carnal believer has to be fed the very basics and not the depths of God's Word.

Thought 1. The same is true with any endeavor of man. The more a person experiences and studies a field, the more he knows his field. Everyone either feeds on the “milk” or the “meat” of his field or endeavor.

“And with many such parables spake he the word unto them, as they were able to hear it” (Mk.4:33).

“I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now” (Jn.16:12).

“I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able” (1 Cor.3:2).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:14).

“For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat” (Heb.5:12).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:2).

3. The carnal man is characterized by division. Division is striking proof that a man or a people are carnal, whether the division be in a church or in a family.

a. Carnality is clearly seen in envying and strife. Envy leads to jealousy, and jealousy leads to division. When people become jealous of one another, they become divided and begin to strive or argue and wrangle with one another. The envy may be caused by...

- some position
- some recognition
- some promotion
- some possession
- some gift
- some wealth
- some attention
- some person

The list could go on and on, but the point is well understood. Envy leads to differences and strife, and strife leads to division. Such behavior is carnal, of the flesh, and it does not belong in the church.

b. Carnality is seen when believers begin to walk and act like men of the world. Men in the world live for the world, so they want and struggle for all they can get for the least amount of effort...

- the best position
- the most money
- the coveted possession
- the highest honor
- the equal recognition

c. Carnality is seen when believers begin to follow men and form cliques (see outline and notes—1 Cor.1:10-16 for discussion).

“Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sin might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sin” (Ro.6:6).

“Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:7).

“This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind” (Eph.4:17).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

“Let no man beguile you of your reward in a voluntary humility and worshipping of angels, intruding into those things which he hath not seen, vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind” (Col.2:18).

“Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:9-10).

“Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled” (Tit.1:15).

“Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin; that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God. For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries” (1 Pt.4:1-4).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(3:1-4) Carnal—Flesh—Natural Man: William Barclay points out that there are two different words used in this passage to describe the carnal man (v.1, 3). The Letters to the Corinthians. “The Daily Study Bible.” Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1954, p.33). The Corinthians are called “carnal” (sarkinoi, v.1) which means flesh. The ending “inos” means “to be made of.” Paul is saying that the Corinthians were human beings, made of flesh. Their problem was that they were living as though they were nothing but flesh. They were still living at the human level of life. They had never gotten beyond the affairs and material things of this life. They acted as though this world was all there was.

The word “carnal” (sarkikoi, v.3) is also used. The ending “ikos” means to be “characterized by.” Paul is saying that the Corinthians were not only “made of flesh” but characterized and “dominated by the flesh.” They were allowing the flesh and its passions to captivate and control their behavior. They were living on the level of the flesh, dominated by it.

The word “flesh” is used to describe two different men.

1. There is the natural or Adamic man. (See note—1 Cor.2:14.)
2. There is the carnal or fleshly man. The carnal man follows the lower part of his nature. He follows the unregulated urges that are prone to sin and to center attention upon oneself. He lives a life that is opposed to God (Ro.4:14, 18). A carnal life refers to far more than just bodily or sexual sins. Gal.5:19-21 shows this. Bodily and sexual sins are included, but so are sins of the spirit such as greed, selfishness, hatred, pride, and idolatry. It also includes that part of man that subjects a person to a legal and enslaving spirit, a spirit that subjects him to rituals, ceremonies, rules, and regulations (Gal.3:3; 4:9). Simply stated, the man who is carnal is a man who lives after the flesh. He is a man who allows his lower nature, the worst part of his being, to influence and dominate his life.

The Bible says several things about the flesh.

1. The flesh has no good thing about it; it is opposed to doing good.

“For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not” (Ro.7:18).

2. The man who is in the flesh is under the influence of the flesh and cannot please God.

“So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God” (Ro.8:8).

3. The man who has the spirit of Christ is removed from being in and under the influence of the flesh. Such a man is said to be a transformed man, a new man—even a new creation.

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

4. The transformed man, however, can walk after the flesh—at least for a season. Such a man is said to be a carnal believer.

“For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death....That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:2, 4-7).

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men? For while one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not carnal?” (1 Cor.3:3-4).

“For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep. For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged. But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world” (1 Cor.11:30-32).

5. The regenerate man is strongly urged to walk “in the spirit.” Such a man is said to be a spiritual believer. (See note, Spiritual Man—1 Cor.2:15-16.)

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law. And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:16-26).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

G. Answer Six: Seeing Who Ministers Really Are, 3:5-9

(3:5-9) Introduction: the Corinthian church was severely divided. The division focused primarily upon the former preachers of the church: Peter, Paul, and Apollos. The ministers themselves were not involved; it was the carnal believers in the church causing the problem. Some liked Peter and his preaching better and felt he was doing more for the Lord; others felt the same about Paul and Apollos.

The issue of which preacher was and is best for a church is always a critical issue. The reason is simply understood: every believer has his favorite minister, the minister who led him to the Lord or to a deeper commitment, or ministered to him and his family, or who really spoke to his heart when he preached. A minister who becomes deeply involved in a person's life is bound to mean a great deal to that person. This needs to be recognized; however, something else needs to be understood as well. Believers must not...

- pit one minister against another.
- exalt one minister over another.
- focus upon one minister's gifts and ignore the gifts of others.
- talk about and emphasize one minister over another.
- favor one minister over another.
- form a clique around a minister.

This had happened to the Corinthian church. Apparently they were trying to determine what kind of minister was best for them and their church. The discussions had flowed over into the homes and social gatherings, and the opinions had become so strong that cliques were actually forming and arguing against each other.

This passage gives the sixth answer to division within a church: seeing who ministers really are. This is a forceful message, a message that must be understood by both the church and its believers.

1. Ministers are servants (v.5).
2. Ministers are nothing in comparison to God (v.6-7).
3. Ministers are one—equal in God's eyes (v.8).
4. Ministers are co-workers with God (v.9).

1 (3:5) Ministers: ministers of God are servants. The word "ministers" (diakonoi) means a servant, an attendant, or a waiter on tables. The stress is upon the lowly status of the service. Ministers are not lords over God's flock and church; they are the lowly servants. They are the servants of God and the servants of God's people. Two points of servanthood are stressed.

1. Ministers are only instruments of God. They are only the servants "by whom [or through whom] ye believe." To repeat, ministers are not the lord of people's lives. They are not the ones whom believers are to praise nor upon whom believers are to be focused. God is to be the focus of attention, word, and loyalty. No minister created the message of the gospel; God did. No minister saves the believer; God does. No minister leads a person to believe; God does. The minister of God is only the Lord's instrument and servant, not the Lord.

"If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet" (Jn.13:14).

"He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep" (Jn.21:16).

"For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers" (Ro.1:9).

"And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry" (1 Tim.1:12).

"Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles" (2 Tim.1:11).

2. Ministers can help people only as God gifts them. The gifts of the ministry are not natural abilities and endowments. The gifts to proclaim the gospel and to minister to people are not of the preacher. They are spiritual gifts given only by God, and the minister can only serve effectively when God gives him the gifts of His Spirit. Therefore, the man, the minister himself as a person, has nothing in which the people can glory. The gifts are of God and of God alone; therefore, the people are to focus their thoughts and praise upon God alone. (See notes, Spiritual Gifts—Ro.12:6-8; 1 Cor.12:8-11; Eph.4:11 for a discussion of the spiritual gifts.)

“And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey” (Mt.25:15).

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith” (Ro.12:6).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

“Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit” (1 Cor.12:4).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers” (Eph.4:11).

2 (3:6-7) Ministers: ministers of God are nothing in comparison to God (v.7). What does such a strong statement mean?

Simply this: no minister has any cause for glory, praise, honor, or recognition. There is no room, no reason for a minister to feel pride and self-satisfaction; no reason for a person or a people to idolize and follow a minister; no reason for a people to make a minister the cause of favoritism or of strife and division. Respect the minister, yes. Love him, yes. Esteem him ever so highly, yes; for the minister has an impossible task, the most difficult task upon earth. Consider any profession. If a man had to speak at a conference before one or two hundred of his professional peers, how much time would he take out of his weekly work schedule to prepare for his speaking engagement? What if he had to speak to the same group two times—three times—all in the same week? Just imagine! How much time would he have to take out of his regular duties to prepare? And not only that. What if the professional had to look after, care for, and minister to everyone of his professional peers of the conference—personally minister every time...

- one of them got sick and went to the hospital.
- one of their family members was hospitalized.
- a serious problem arose.
- counselling was needed.
- a major committee met.

And on top of this, the professional had to manage the conference, its committees, schedules, finances, building programs, whatever came up. And still more. He had to constantly be out visiting and enlisting new people to attend and join the conference.

Again, respect the minister of God. Love and care for him, for his call and task are impossible. But he is not to be idolized and followed as though he is the founder of your faith. A picture from farming shows exactly what our attitude toward ministers is to be. One minister of God planted the seed of God's Word in our lives. Another minister comes along and waters the seed. All the ministers that cross our paths contribute to our lives. They contribute either the seed of the gospel or the water of the Word. But note: it is God who gives the increase. No minister can make the seed grow. When dealing with growth, there is only one thing that makes anything grow:

- ⇒ energy
- ⇒ force
- ⇒ power

Growth is not caused by a man's hands. Spiritual growth is activated by God's energy, force, and power alone.

- ⇒ The minister who plants is nothing (v.7).
- ⇒ The minister who waters is nothing (v.7).
- ⇒ God who gives the increase is all (v.7).

Therefore, glorify and talk about God. Praise God and lift His name up, not the name of a minister. Whatever gifts the minister has are of God; and whatever planting and watering the minister did was by God's call and strength; and whatever growth was experienced was due to God. God alone is worthy to be followed; therefore, follow God, not a minister. Respect him and care for him and highly esteem him, for he labors abundantly for your sake. But honor and praise and follow God.

“Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be likeminded one toward another according to Christ Jesus: that ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:5-6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:20).

“Wherefore also we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power: that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:11-12).

“Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness” (Ps.29:2).

“O magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together” (Ps.34:3).

“Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens; let thy glory be above all the earth” (Ps.57:5).

“Let them exalt him also in the congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the elders” (Ps.107:32).

“I will speak of the glorious honour of thy majesty, and of thy wondrous works” (Ps.145:5).

“O LORD, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth” (Is.25:1).

3 (3:8) Ministers: ministers are one; they are equal in God’s eyes. And they are to be seen as one and equal in the eyes of the church and its believers. Note two significant points.

1. Both the sower and the edifier, both he who plants and he who waters, are emphatically said to be one. All ministers are called...
  - by the same Lord.
  - to the same office: the office of minister.
  - to the same work: to serve God’s church.
  - to stand accountable before God and before God alone.

There is a spiritual unity between ministers. The work of the one who plants cannot be done without the work of the one who waters. Both are absolutely essential. They are not rivals, working against each other. They are planters and waterers, planting and watering lives for God. God called and uses them as He wills and He places them where He wants. If the church and its believers exalt or pit one minister against another, they are going against God’s purpose for His gospel and the church.

“So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another” (Ro.12:5).

“I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called, with all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all” (Eph.4:1-6).

“And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ: till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ” (Eph.4:11-13).

2. Each minister of God is personally responsible to God. Each man is to be rewarded for what he does, not for what another minister does. A man uses his own gifts; he does not try to use someone else’s gifts nor to be like someone else. God gave him specific gifts for special purposes, so he diligently labors to use his gifts as God desires. In fact, the minister is to be rewarded for how well he uses his gifts. Therefore, trying to be like another minister is not his task. His task is to be who God called him to be and to do as God gifts him to do.

Note: the minister shall be judged for his labor, nor for what men may term success.

“He also that had received two talents came and said, Lord, thou deliveredst unto me two talents: behold, I have gained two other talents beside them. His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord” (Mt.25:22-23).

“If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever” (1 Pt.4:11).

4 (3:9) Ministers—Church—Spiritual Foundation: ministers are co-workers with God. Three striking points are declared in this verse.

1. God is the source of all in the church. This is seen in the Greek text. God’s name comes first in this verse three different times:

- ⇒ “God’s fellow workers are we.”
- ⇒ “God’s husbandry are you.”
- ⇒ “God’s building are you.”

All is of God; God is all in all. He is the Source of all that concerns the church: the source of both its ministers and its people. Neither the ministers nor the people are to be exalted or praised above one another. God alone is worthy of our attention and thought, our glory and honor, our worship and praise, our service and ministry.

2. Ministers are co-workers, and they work together with God. They work with God, carrying out His will and doing what He wants done. Their concern is not what men think and want. Their mission is to serve right along by the side of God Himself.

“Then saith he unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest” (Mt.9:37-38).

“Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest. And he that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that soweth and he that reapeth may rejoice together” (Jn.4:35-36).

“And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following” (Mk.16:20).

1 CORINTHIANS 3:5-9

“But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God” (Acts 20:24).

“For we are labourers together with God: ye are God’s husbandry, ye are God’s building” (1 Cor.3:9).

“We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain” (2 Cor.6:1).

“So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us” (1 Th.2:8).

Thought 1. Note that a laborer who does not labor is a paradox. A farmer who does not labor does not receive the reward at harvest time. There is nothing to receive.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye stedfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, make full proof of thy ministry” (2 Tim.4:5).

“For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more” (Lk.12:48).

3. The church is God’s field and building. The church is to bear fruit, and it is to make new additions to its structure. A field does not exist to lie unused. It exists to bear a harvest. The same is true of a building that is supposed to have additions added to it. The building will not have additions—not the kind of additions it should have—if it becomes unsafe for the contractor (minister) to work within its walls.

The church as a field must let the one who plants and the one who waters do their work or else...

- the field of the church lies useless to God.
- the building of the church lies unused for God.

Thought 1. Both ministers and believers are workers together with God. All have a part in God’s church and the crying need is for all to cooperate in building together.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock” (Mt.7:24-25).

“For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.3:11).

“Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God; and are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:19-22).

“Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life” (1 Tim.6:19).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded” (1 Pt.2:6).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

H. Answer Seven: Being a Wise Builder and Laborer within the Church, 3:10-17

(3:10-17) Introduction—Church: this passage pictures the building of the church. This is clearly seen in that Paul has just declared to the local believers in Corinth, “Ye are God’s building” (v.9; cp. v.16).

The church in Corinth was in severe straits. There were some troublemakers and opinionated cliques in the church who were about to destroy the church. Because of this they were endangering their eternal destiny, and they desperately needed to realize this. One of the answers to a divided church is for every believer to be a wise builder and laborer within the church.

1. There is the master builder and the laborers (v.10).
2. There is the warning: let every believer take heed how he builds (v.10).
3. There is the only foundation: Jesus Christ (v.11).
4. There is the structure: there are two possible materials—permanent vs. perishable (v.12).
5. There is the day of inspection (v.13-15).
6. There is the building identified: the temple of God, that is, the church (v.16).
7. There is the seriousness of defilement: destruction (v.17).

1 (3:10) Church: there is the master builder and the laborers. The word “masterbuilder” (archtektion) means the superintendent or architect of the building project. Paul says that he was the one who planned the church at Corinth. He was the one who laid the foundation, who began and superintended the founding of the church. However, note three things.

1. Paul was a master builder because of the grace of God, not because of any personal ability or merit. The word “grace” means far more than just being called to found a church; it means to be enabled, empowered, and equipped to do the job. It was God’s power, God’s gifts, God’s abilities that were given to Paul to do the job. Paul was only the instrument through which God built the church.

Now note a crucial factor: Paul was not talking about a building. He was talking about people. The church was not a building; the church was a body of people who truly believed in Jesus Christ. God gave Paul the grace—the strength, power, and ability—to reach people for Jesus Christ and to assemble them together into a body to worship God and to honor His Son, Jesus Christ. Where they met did not matter. They could meet in a home, a hut, a cave, a field, a backyard, a public building, or a church building. What mattered was that they were one in their...

- trust in the Lord.
- belief and worship of God.
- purpose and mission to reach their neighbors and the world with the message of God’s great love.

2. Paul said he was a “wise masterbuilder.” The word “wise” means skillful. He did not approach the task and project unthoughtfully. He thought long and hard; he kept his mind upon the task. He did not allow the pleasures of the world to distract him; nor did he allow the desires of his own flesh, which sometimes ached for less demanding work, to interfere. Paul knew what God had called him to do, to plan and establish churches all over the world, so he did it as a “wise” architect and building superintendent.

3. Others built upon Paul’s work in Corinth. When Paul left Corinth, God raised up others to labor and to continue building the church. They would include...

- the ministers
- the leaders
- the teachers

- the members who served and carried on the ministry of the church in order to build it. This should include all members of a church, for all members are certainly to be building the church through their witness and service for the Lord. Every member is either building or destroying the testimony and strength of a church.

Thought 1. Think about an amazing thing. Every church has had a person who was the master builder, the architect, the founder of the church. Someone surrendered himself to God and went forth for God. Someone gave himself up to God to become a master builder, an architect, a pioneer, a builder of churches for God.

The all important question is: Where are the men and women today who will surrender their lives to God and be the master builders who go forth and build churches for God? People desperately need to be reached and assembled together under the love and mission of Christ.

“He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it” (Mt.16:15-18).

Thought 2. Another important question is this: How many church members are building up the church? How many are building wisely and skillfully upon the foundation that has already been laid?

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

- 2 (3:10) Church: there is the clear warning—let every believer take heed how he builds upon the foundation of the church. The foundation has been laid, and it is strong. It shall never be moved. It is now to be built upon, but every-one in the church, minister and layman alike, must take heed how he builds upon it.

“Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.6:1).

“Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones; for I say unto you, That in heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.18:10).

“And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you” (Mt.24:4).

“And he said unto them, Take heed what ye hear: with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you: and unto you that hear shall more be given” (Mk.4:24).

“But take heed to yourselves: for they shall deliver you up to councils; and in the synagogues ye shall be beaten: and ye shall be brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimony against them” (Mk.13:9).

“Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is [for the Lord’s return]” (Mk.13:33).

“Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have” (Lk.8:18).

“Take heed therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness” (Lk.11:35).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“And he said, Take heed that ye be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and the time draweth near: go ye not therefore after them” (Lk.21:8).

“Let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon [upon Christ, the foundation of the church]” (1 Cor.3:10).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“And say to Archippus, Take heed to the ministry which thou hast received in the Lord, that thou fulfil it” (Col.4:17).

“Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee” (1 Tim.4:16).

“We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts” (2 Pt.1:19).

- 3 (3:11) Jesus Christ, Foundation—Jesus Christ, Deity; Spokesman; Mediator—Church, Foundation: there is the only foundation, Jesus Christ Himself. All other foundations are as sinking sand. They cannot stand up against the storms of life. No man—no matter who he is—can lay any other foundation that can last. All other foundations will crumble and be destroyed forever. What does it mean to say that Christ is the only foundation?

1. It means that Christ Himself, His person, is the only foundation upon which men can build their lives.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock: and the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock. And every one that heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them not, shall be likened unto a foolish man, which built his house upon the sand: and the rains descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it” (Mt.7:24-27).

“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life” (Jn.3:14-15).

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life” (Jn.8:12).

“I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he [the Son of God], ye shall die in your sins” (Jn.8:24).

“I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture” (Jn.10:9).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:12).

“For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time” (1 Tim.2:5-6).

2. It means that the teaching or doctrine of Christ is the only foundation upon which men can build their lives.

“Therefore whosoever heareth these sayings of mine, and doeth them, I will liken him unto a wise man, which built his house upon a rock” (Mt.7:24).

“He whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God” (Jn.3:34).

“It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life” (Jn.6:63).

“Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternal life” (Jn.6:68).

“My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“I speak to the world those things which I have heard of him” (Jn.8:26).

“As my Father hath taught me, I speak these things” (Jn.8:28).

“I speak that which I have seen with my Father” (Jn.8:38).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak” (Jn.12:48-50).

“He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings: and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father’s which sent me” (Jn.14:24).

“For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me” (Jn.17:8).

“Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away” (Mk.13:31).

3. It means that Jesus Christ is the only foundation upon which men can build a true church.

“Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste” (Is.28:16).

“He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven. And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it” (Mt.16:15-18).

“This is the stone which was set at nought of you builders, which is become the head of the corner. Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved” (Acts 4:11-12).

“And are built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord” (Eph.2:20-21).

“Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded [disappointed, shamed]” (1 Pt.2:6).

4 (3:12) Church—Teachers, False: there is the structure. It can be built out of two possible materials: either permanent or perishable materials. There may be only one foundation, and it may be laid by Christ and His apostles, but there are many different kinds of materials within the market of the world. And the believer must choose which material he will use to build his part of the church.

1. There are the permanent and valuable materials, the materials that are not corruptible and do not deteriorate and decay like the things of this earth. Permanent materials last forever; they are incorruptible and undefiled and do not fade away. Scripture says they can be compared to gold, silver, and precious stones. What are the permanent materials? Scripture describes them in many ways. Several examples would be as follows.

- a. They are the fruit of the Spirit, the spiritual qualities that last beyond this life. Again, these are the things that the believer is to use in building the church.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

- b. They are the the things which are to be added to our faith. They are the lasting things that are so desperately needed by the church, and they are the things that the believer is to use in building the church.

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins. Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:5-11).

- c. They are the souls and lives of men, women, boys, and girls who become living stones in the church.

“To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious, ye also, as lively [living] stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:4-5).

“And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature” (Mk.16:15).

“For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?” (Mt.16:26).

2. There are the perishable and combustible materials. They are the materials and things of this earth that are corruptible; that rust, decay, and deteriorate. Scripture says they can be compared to wood, hay, and stubble. What are the perishable materials? Again, Scripture describes them in many ways.

- a. They are the treasures, wealth, and cares of this world.

“Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal: but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal: for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also” (Mt.6:19-21).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

- b. They are the works of the flesh.

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

- c. They are the false teachings that are always dangerously floating around believers and the church.

“Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves....Many will say to me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name? and in thy name have cast out devils? and in thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity” (Mt.7:15, 22-23).

“But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men....But he answered and said, Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up” (Mt.15:9, 13).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“If any man teach otherwise, and consent not to wholesome words, even the words of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine which is according to godliness; he is proud, knowing nothing, but doting about questions and strifes of words, whereof cometh envy, strife, railings, evil surmisings, perverse disputings of men of corrupt minds, and destitute of the truth, supposing that gain is godliness: from such withdraw thyself” (1 Tim.6:3-5).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers. Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness” (2 Tim.2:14-16).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction. And many shall follow their pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of. And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not” (2 Pt.2:1-3).

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world. Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world. Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world. They are of the world: therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them” (1 Jn.4:1-5).

5 (3:13-15) Judgment—Rewards: there is the day of inspection. The building of the church will be inspected. Note four points.

1. The day of inspection is sure to come. The building was started in order to be finished. When it is finished, the inspector, the Lord Jesus Christ, will come to either approve or disapprove it.

“So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ: who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Cor.1:7-8).

2. Every man’s work, the work of every believer, will be manifested and declared. No believer will be exempted. Every single believer will stand before the Lord Jesus Christ and have his works tried and tested by the Lord. Every single work will be tested, and the truth and quality of his work will be exposed. This, of course, is a reference to the judgment seat of Christ (see note—2 Cor.5:10 for more discussion).

How will they be tested? Shockingly, by fire. In the Bible fire is constantly used as a symbol of judgment and terrible trial. The building is to be set afire, and only the permanent materials of the Spirit will survive the fire. All the materials of this earth will be burned and consumed and gone forever.

“For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels; and then he shall reward every man according to his works” (Mt.16:27).

“In the day when God shall judge the secrets of men by Jesus Christ according to my gospel” (Ro.2:16).

“For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad” (2 Cor.5:10).

“But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief” (1 Th.5:4).

“And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man’s work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear” (1 Pt.1:17).

“Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation....Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished: but the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men. But beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless. And account that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisdom given unto him hath written unto you” (2 Pt.3:3-4, 6-15).

3. The believer whose works survive the fire will be rewarded greatly, so greatly that it explodes the human mind.

Rewards Dealing with our Nature and State of Being

- ⇒ Being adopted as a son of God (Gal.4:4-7; 1 Jn.3:1).

- ⇒ Being given durable riches and righteousness (Pr.8:18).
- ⇒ Being given unsearchable riches (Eph.3:8).
- ⇒ Being given treasures in heaven (Mt.19:21; Lk.12:33).

4. The believer whose works perished in the fire will suffer loss. Note: he will be saved, but he will suffer the loss of reward, appearing and looking like a burned out building.

“Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury. Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents” (Mt.25:27-28).

“Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward” (2 Jn.8).

“Your iniquities have turned away these things, and your sins have withholden good things from you” (Jer.5:25).

6 (3:16) Church—The Temple of God—Holy Spirit: there is the building identified. It is the temple of God, the church. This verse is sometimes applied to the individual believer as God’s temple. It is true that the believer is God’s temple, indwelt by God’s Spirit (cp. 1 Cor.6:19). However, this particular verse does not apply to the individual believer. Within the context of this passage, it is the church as a whole that is called the temple of God. Note two points.

1. There are two Greek words for temple. The first (heiron) refers to all the temple precincts. The second (naos) refers to the sanctuary, the shrine proper. It is naos, the sanctuary, the shrine proper used here.

2. The word “temple” is singular, but the word “ye” is plural. Scripture is saying, “you [all the Corinthian believers] are the temple and sanctuary of God in whom the Spirit of God dwells.” The stress is upon the presence of God: His very presence dwells within the sanctuary, within the shrine proper. The point is powerful: God dwells among all the believers of the church. The Spirit of God dwells within the church—in a very, very special sense—no matter where they meet. The church itself, the body of believers, is the sanctuary for God’s presence. (See notes—Jn.14:20; 20:22; 1 Cor.6:19; Eph.3:6; Col.1:26-27.)

This is extremely important. It is a truth that should be stressed just as much as the Spirit indwelling the body of the Christian believer, for defiling the temple or the church is to result in severe judgment (1 Cor.3:17). This is the very point Paul is making. The Corinthian church was being defiled by some. Some were grumbling, misbehaving, and being divisive.

They were in danger of the severest judgment. They needed to learn and fear, for they were defiling the very temple of God, the sanctuary in which God's own Spirit dwelt.

“And Jesus went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves. And said unto them, It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves” (Mt.21:12-13).

“And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people” (2 Cor.6:16).

“In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord: in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:21-22).

“But Christ as a son over his own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end” (Heb.3:6).

“Ye also, as lively [living] stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

7 (3:17) Church—Judgment: there is the seriousness of defiling the church. The person who defiles the church shall face terrible judgment. Note the two words “defile” and “destroy”: they both come from the same Greek word (phtheiro). The point is striking: the person who troubles the church will suffer the same kind of trouble himself. Whatever he sows, he is definitely going to reap. Troublemaking within the church destroys the spirit of unity and love within the church. To corrupt and destroy the church is to invite God to corrupt and destroy the troublemaker. Note that the punishment is not specifically described. It is simply made clear that he who does such a terrible thing as trouble a church will suffer a terrible punishment. He will be destroyed: wrecked, torn apart, ripped, devastated.

The church or temple of God can be destroyed in at least two ways.

1. Troublemakers can make it utterly impossible for the Spirit to work within the church. An attitude of disgust, a spirit of ill will, an unwillingness to learn—grumbling, griping, complaining, quarreling, arguing, divisiveness—destroy the spiritual fellowship of the church.

2. Troublemakers can split the church. Troublemakers hold opinions just like everyone else. However, there is one distinct difference: they become opinionated. Sometimes they try to hold their opinions to themselves, but their opinion is usually written all over their faces and in their speech and behavior. Sometimes they become so opinionated that they just burst at the seams to share their derogatory feelings, and before long others are following. The result is that the church begins to disintegrate into little parties and opinionated cliques. The church is then on its way to a series of disconnected groups and begins the march to ruin.

It is the Spirit of God alone that brings about a spiritual fellowship. Only as church members fellowship with the Spirit of God can they be drawn and bound together in a spirit of unity and oneness and love. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Fellowship—Acts 2:42.)

Something else needs to be noted. The Spirit creates a spiritual fellowship of different personalities and opinions. And there are always different personalities and opinions, even when only two people meet together. It is a disturbance—whether by attitude, word, or act—that grieves and squelches the work of God's Spirit within the church.

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

“Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers” (2 Tim.2:14).

“And the servant of the Lord must not strive; but be gentle unto all men, apt to teach, patient” (2 Tim.2:24).

“Looking diligently lest any man fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled” (Heb.12:15).

“And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell” (Jas.3:6).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

I. Answer Eight: Renouncing Self-Deception, 3:18-23

(3:18-23) Introduction—Worldly Wisdom—Division: in this passage Paul gives the root cause for the trouble with the Corinthians. It was pride—pride in who they were and in what they knew. Corinth was a center for intellectual pursuit and culture; and some in the church were glorying in being part of an intellectual, highly educated, and cultured society. They professed an intellectual, worldly wisdom; professed to know more than most, and this same attitude was carried over into the church. They professed to understand the Scriptures and the ways of God better than most. They thought themselves wise enough to judge the value of different church leaders. They prided themselves in their ability to judge the truth. They were taking different men and criticizing the way they preached and ministered. They were judging the rhetoric, the persuasiveness of their delivery, the logic of their arguments, the flowery descriptiveness of their sentences. They were judging the ability and the gifts of the men, and if they agreed that the abilities of the men were what the church needed at a particular time, they were cooperative. But if they disagreed, they were separating themselves and pulling little parties around them. They gathered themselves around Paul, Cephas, and Apollos; and some, with a spiritual air, just proclaimed that they gathered themselves around Christ.

One of the answers to the problem of divisiveness within the church is for a man to recognize that he has been deceived and to renounce the self-deception.

1. Watch self-deception (v.18).
2. Renounce worldly wisdom (v.18-20).
3. Renounce glorying in men (v.21-23).

1 (3:18) Deception, Self: watch self-deception—"Let no man deceive himself." There is a background to this charge that helps the reader understand its importance.

The Corinthian church had some unusual advantages over many of the other churches:

- ⇒ They had access to the Scriptures, and they enjoyed the Scriptures and the ways of God.
- ⇒ They enjoyed philosophy and theology and were in a great city where both were freely encouraged and openly discussed.
- ⇒ They had the privilege of being ministered to by some of the most outstanding preachers, not only of their day, but of history (Paul, Peter, Apollos).
- ⇒ They had received an unusual outpouring of the gifts of God's Spirit (cp. Chapter 12-14).

However, the Corinthian church had a serious problem: the Corinthians wanted worldly recognition. They wanted to be known as intellectual, well-educated, and very capable in understanding the world and God. They enjoyed thinking through and rationalizing about God and the world, and they took great pride in their ideas and the ideas of their peers.

The result was tragic. They had begun to follow their own ideas and rationalizations and to disregard the will and Word of God. They had begun to exalt their own wisdom and to exalt men with unusual ability. They had begun to govern their lives by their own ideas instead of obeying God's Word. Very simply, they were exalting the wisdom and ideas of men over the wisdom of God. They were running the risk of destroying both themselves and the church. They were deceiving themselves.

"And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others" (Lk.18:9).

"Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall" (1 Cor.10:12).

"For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself" (Gal.6:3).

"But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves" (Jas.1:22).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“Ye have plowed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men” (Hos.10:13).

2 (3:18-20) Wisdom, of Men: renounce worldly wisdom. Worldly wisdom is natural reason only: it is the wisdom of men that seeks to know the truth of the world and of God by natural reason only. Men readily acknowledge the problem of evil and suffering in the world caused by such things as natural disasters, disease, hunger, selfishness, greed, violence, lust, anger, accidents, and prejudice. A few men even give their lives to the task of understanding and conquering the problems of evil and sin in the world. They commit themselves to seek the truth of the world, and in some cases of God, through such fields as science, education, technology, and religion. But they fail; they always fail. No matter how much worldly wisdom and efforts are put to these endeavors, man always comes up short in conquering and controlling evil and in discovering God.

The point is this: when a church begins to approach God and the problems of the world through worldly wisdom, the result is tragic. The church is taking a path that will destroy its witness and make it useless in the Kingdom of God. This was the path being chosen by the Corinthian church, and it is the path that is often chosen by too many churches.

Now, why does worldly wisdom fail to grasp the truth of the world and of God? There are three reasons given in this passage. (See note, World, Wisdom of—1 Cor.1:19-20 for a discussion of the world’s wisdom.)

1. Worldly wisdom is superficial: it only seems to be wise. The word “seemeth” (dokei) means to think. The man thinks himself to be wise and creative, knowledgeable and intelligent. He thinks he has a novel idea or concept of God and truth.

Note: most men think they are fairly wise and knowledgeable in how to handle their lives and affairs. Few think they will be totally unacceptable and rejected by whatever Higher Being there is. Such knowledge and wisdom exists only in the minds of men. It is not true. It is superficial knowledge, worldly wisdom. It only seems to be wise. This is clearly seen in three facts.

- a. Since God is—since God exists—no person can understand the world and God if he leaves God out of the picture. Even an atheist has to admit this: if God truly exists, then man must understand God in order to understand the world which God made. A person just cannot understand the world without understanding God, no matter who he is.
- b. No man has ever seen God, no matter what some men claim. No man has ever left the physical world—the physical dimension of being—and penetrated the spiritual world and seen God and returned to the physical world. This material, corruptible, imperfect world cannot penetrate the spiritual, incorruptible, and perfect world. It is totally and absolutely impossible for an imperfect being to see the Perfect Being (God) and live to tell about it. It is totally and absolutely impossible for an imperfect being to penetrate a perfect world. If he did, it would no longer be perfect.

“No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him” (Jn.1:18).

“And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape” (Jn.5:37).

“Who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting” (1 Tim.6:16).

“And he said, Thou canst not see my face: for there shall no man see me, and live” (Ex.33:20).

- c. The only way God can ever be known is for God to reveal Himself. The only way the truth of a perfect world can be known is for God to reveal it.

This is the very point of this Scripture. Any wisdom that seeks to know God apart from His revelation is superficial. It is a man who only thinks that he is wise: he is only wise in worldly matters; he does not know the real truth.

“Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools” (Ro.1:22).

“Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ” (Col.2:8).

“This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish” (Jas.3:15).

“For my people is foolish, they have not known me; they are sottish children, and they have none understanding: they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge” (Jer.4:22).

2. Worldly wisdom is not true wisdom. Note the words, “Let him become a fool, that he may be wise.” This simply means that a person must become what the world calls “a fool” if he wishes to know God and the real truth of God's world. The world hears about the revelation of God and calls it foolishness. In the eyes of the world it is utter foolishness...

- to talk about God really existing and loving the world, loving the world so much that He would actually send His Son into the world.
- to talk about the basic problem of the world being the presence of evil and sin within the heart of man instead of education and social improvement.
- to say that God had to take care of the problem of evil by having His Son die upon a cross for the sins of the world.
- to talk about the heart of man having to be changed in order for him to be reconciled to God and live in peace.
- to talk about being saved, born again, made into a new creature, indwelt by the Holy Spirit, and resurrected some day.
- to talk about God making a new heavens and earth.

All this is utter foolishness to the world. But note something: all this is exactly what Jesus Christ taught. It is the very revelation of God—the very message that God sent to the world through His Son Jesus Christ. Jesus Christ was the revelation, the Spokesman of God to the world.

“For he whom God hath sent speaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the Spirit by measure unto him” (Jn.3:34).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death” (Jn.8:51).

“He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the world that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day” (Jn.12:48).

“Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me” (Jn.14:6).

“He that loveth me not keepeth not my sayings: and the word which ye hear is not mine, but the Father's which sent me” (Jn.14:24).

“For I have given unto them the words which thou gavest me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didst send me” (Jn.17:8).

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God” (1 Cor.1:18).

“For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe” (1 Cor.1:21).

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God” (1 Cor.1:23-24).

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:1-2).

3. Worldly wisdom is foolishness to God (v.19).

a. It is foolishness because evil, selfishness, and sin do exist within the heart of man. No matter who the person is, the person's heart has the seed of sin, corruption, aging, deterioration, decay, and death in it. All men sin and die. Honesty, reason, experience, sight, feeling, and hearing tell us the terrible truth of the fact.

b. It is foolishness because there is only one way imaginable that a sinful and imperfect creature could ever be acceptable to a perfect God: the perfect God would have to love the sinful creature so much that He would just accept him. But, even if He loved the sinful creature that much, two things would be necessary.

⇒ First, someone would still have to pay the penalty for man's sin. Why? Because God is perfect and righteous and just. If He laid aside and forgot His perfect justice, He would then become unjust and imperfect. It would be acting against His nature. Therefore, God's justice has to act and condemn man's sin.

⇒ Second, a perfect Being would have to take man's sin upon Himself and die for man. Why a perfect Being? Because no sinful creature is acceptable to God. The only Person acceptable to God is the Ideal, Perfect Person. Therefore, whoever sacrificed Himself for sinful man would have to be the Ideal, Perfect Person.

Of course, this means that only God Himself could pay the penalty for man's sin. And that is exactly what He did. God came to earth in the person of His Son and revealed the truth to man, and then died for man.

Now, note the wisdom of what God has done: the love and justice of sending His Son into the world to save man. Note that this is the only conceivable way man could be saved when dealing...

- with God who is perfect and man who is imperfect.
- with heaven which is the incorruptible spiritual world, and earth which is the corruptible physical world.
- with how sinful man can approach a perfectly holy God.

- with how a perfectly holy God could accept an unholy man.
- with how a perfect and loving God could save an imperfect and rebellious man.

This is the reason that all approaches to God other than through His Son Jesus Christ are foolishness to Him. This is the reason the Scriptures proclaim that God “takes the wise in their own craftiness,” and “the Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain [empty].” He knows the thoughts of every man, the utter emptiness of man’s worldly approach to understanding the truth of God and the world.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved” (Jn.3:16-17).

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

“To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation....For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:19, 21).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

“For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent” (1 Cor.1:18-19).

“For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe” (1 Cor.1:21).

“But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God. Because the foolishness of God is wiser than men; and the weakness of God is stronger than men” (1 Cor.1:23-25).

“And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:1-2).

“Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought: but we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory” (1 Cor.2:6-7).

“But as it is written, eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him” (1 Cor.2:9-10).

3 (3:21-23) Glorying—Inheritance—Reward: renounce glorying in men. This is a crucial point for believers to heed. To glory in men means to trust men, to look upon men as the answer and source of life and blessing.

This is just too much trust, too much confidence to put in men. Some men can and should be trusted, but even they are not the answer and source of life and true blessing. They should not be glorified. The believer is to glory only in God. Only God is to be exalted, praised, and worshipped.

However, there are two other reasons why believers are not to glory in men—two extremely important reasons.

1. All things belong to the believer. The believer actually possesses all things, and to glory in any other man is to minimize his own dignity and exalted position.

a. Preachers, no matter who they are, belong to the believers. All preachers exist to serve and minister and meet the needs of God’s people. If a church or a believer takes advantage of only a few preachers or of only one or two types of preachers, the church and the believer are limiting their chances to be enriched and blessed. They are limiting their growth.

b. The world, the physical universe, belongs to believers. God is going to remake the universe, that is, the heavens and the earth; and believers are to inherit it all, ruling and administering the functions of it all with Christ Jesus. (See note, Rewards—1 Cor.3:13-15 for discussion. Read 2 Pt.3:3-4, 7-16 for a descriptive picture of the end time event, an event clearly understandable in light of the atom and its explosive power. While reading, remember that this event was revealed to the world just a few years after the ascension of Jesus.)

c. Life belongs to the believers. This means real life, abundant life—a life with purpose, meaning, and significance—a life that triumphs and gains the victory over the trials and sufferings of this life.

“I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly” (Jn.10:10).

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us” (Eph.3:20).

“But my God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus” (Ph.4:19).

- d. Death belongs to the believers. That is, death has no sway or hold over the believers, but contrariwise, the believer holds death in his grip through the Lord Jesus Christ. Death has been conquered by Christ.

“For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life” (Jn.3:16).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life” (Jn.5:24).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ” (2 Pt.1:11).

- e. Present and future things belong to the believers. The believer is the heir of the world, the heir of God Himself.

“For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith” (Ro.4:13).

“The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:16-17).

“That being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life” (Tit.3:7).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

2. Believers belong to Christ, and Christ belongs to God. Three points need to be noted.
- Believers possess all things only because of Christ—only because of what He has done for them. Without Christ they have no more than what the world has: an existence of pressure, tension, questioning, wondering, apprehension, uncertainty, insecurity about the future, and sure death.
  - Believers owe their lives to Christ, not to any man, even if he happens to be the most spiritual and the greatest preacher and leader to walk across the face of the earth. Believers are not to live carnal lives, following after and glorying in men, no matter their wisdom, intelligence, and ability—not even if they have the greatest spiritual gifts ever possessed by men. “Ye are Christ’s” is the proclamation to believers.
  - “Christ is God’s.” This does not mean that Christ is not divine, that He is less than God. It refers to His function and ministry as Savior. He came to earth to save men in subjection to God’s will. Both God the Son and God the Father willed for Jesus Christ to subject Himself to God the Father and to come to earth as a Man in order to save the world. As the Savior of the world, Jesus Christ served God; therefore, He too, as our Savior, was obedient to God. “Christ is God’s” in the sense that He obeyed God as our Savior. They both love us with a supreme, perfect love—a love unimaginable and unsurpassed.

⇒ “Therefore, let no man glory in men” (v.21).

“How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?” (Jn.5:44).

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For when he dieth he shall carry nothing away: his glory shall not descend after him” (Ps.49:17).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

J. Answer Nine: Letting God Judge Ministers, 4:1-5

(4:1-5) Introduction: one of the serious problems in the Corinthian church concerned former ministers. Some of the church members were esteeming one minister above the other ministers. They were judging the gifts, ministry, and effectiveness of their former ministers; and the inevitable happened:

- ⇒ Some of the people had been helped and blessed by Apollos, so they spoke up for Apollos.
- ⇒ Others had been helped and blessed by Cephas, so they spoke up for Cephas.
- ⇒ Still others had been helped and blessed more by Paul, so they defended Paul.

The matter became critical, for the people began to judge the ministers' preaching style, ability, eloquence, charisma, intelligence, gifts, call, and success—the whole scope of their ministry. Little groups were buzzing about talking up the merits of their favorite minister. Deep feelings settled in, and the fellowship of the church was threatened.

What was to be done? Paul gives eleven solutions to a divided church. One solution is the message of this passage, and it is a message desperately needed by the church: let God do the judging of ministers.

1. Count ministers for what they are (v.1-2).
2. The judgment and approval of men matter little (v.3).
3. The judgment of Christ is all that matters (v.4-5).

1 (4:1-2) Ministers: first, count ministers for what they are. Three things should always be kept in mind about ministers.

1. Ministers are ministers of Christ. The word "minister" (huperetes) means an under-rower. It refers to the slaves who sat in the belly of the large ships and pulled at the great oars to carry the boat through the sea. Christ is the Master of the ship and the minister is one of the slaves of Christ. Note: he is only one of many under-rowing servants. Remember also that slaves in the belly of the ship were bound by chains. They were allowed to do nothing but serve the master of the ship. The minister is a bound slave of Christ: he exists only to row for the Master. He does not and cannot serve anyone else.

Thought 1. No minister is to be elevated above other ministers or servants—not his eloquence, ability, personality, charisma, or any other trait. No matter how much the minister has meant to a person's life, he is only the under-rower, a slave of the Master of the ship; and he is only one of many other under-rowers and servants. Believers are not to judge and elevate ministers above each other.

2. Ministers are stewards of God. The word "steward" (oikonomos) means the overseer of an estate. The steward was always a slave, subject to a master, but he was placed in charge of the other slaves throughout the master's house or estate. He controlled the staff and ran the whole operation for the master. He was set over others, yet he himself was still a slave of the master. His work was not closely supervised; therefore, he had to be trustworthy and responsible. Note what the minister is made a steward over: the mysteries of God. A mystery is not something hard to understand. Rather, it is something that has been hidden and kept secret. It is something that was undiscoverable by human reason, but now is revealed by God. It is crystal clear to those to whom it is revealed, but it is completely alien to those who do not receive it. What are the mysteries of God? They are the truths—the glorious truths—of God's Word. Who are the ones to whom the mysteries are revealed? The stewards, the ministers, the believing servants of Christ.

There are several mysteries now revealed to the believer. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.2:7 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. Every minister is to be esteemed highly for his work's sake. He is only a servant of God's, but he is the servant whom God has made steward over His household, over His church and His people. He has been honored by God: he has been made responsible for the imperishable mysteries of God, the great truths of God's Holy Word. The minister does not deal with perishable things such as money and possessions, but with the eternal things of God Himself, the eternal truths that God wants proclaimed to the world.

“Who also hath made us able ministers of the new testament; not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giveth life” (2 Cor.3:6).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not” (2 Cor.4:1).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:18-21).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“If ye continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister” (Col.1:23).

“Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel: whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:9-11).

“For a bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God; not selfwilled, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre; but a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate; holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers” (Tit.1:7-9).

3. Ministers are required to be faithful. This is the one essential for the minister. There is no other requirement of him.
- a. The minister is not required to be eloquent, brilliant, intelligent, loaded with ability, or successful. He is required to be faithful.
  - b. The minister is not required by God to be an administrator, counsellor, visitor, door-greeter, or socializer—as important as these ministries are.
  - c. The minister is required to be faithful in ministering the mysteries of God. He is held accountable and shall be judged for how well he ministers the mysteries of God:
    - ⇒ He must not hold back or fail to share the mysteries of God.
    - ⇒ He must not substitute some other message for the mysteries of God.
    - ⇒ He must not mix some other message with the mysteries of God.

The minister of God must be faithful to his call. He is the minister of Christ and the steward of the mysteries of God. He must—absolutely must—proclaim those mysteries.

“For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the gospel is [still] committed unto me” (1 Cor.9:17).

“I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel: which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. As we said before, so say I now again, If any preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed” (Gal.1:6-9).

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation [stewardship] of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust. And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:11-12).

“In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began; but hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:2-3).

“As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God” (1 Pt.4:10).

Thought 1. Believers are not to judge ministers, thinking and talking about the gifts and abilities of one over another. They are not to think too highly of a minister nor too lowly. They are to count ministers for just what they are.

- 1) The servants of God.
- 2) The stewards of the mysteries of God.
- 3) The servant who has been made a steward for one purpose only: to be faithful to the Master, the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 (4:3) Ministers—Judging Others—Criticism: second, the judgment or approval of ministers by men matters little. Note: criticism and disapproval hurt and cut the heart, but they do not matter at all in the judgment of God. Man’s judgment of God’s minister has no bearing whatsoever upon what God will do with the minister. The congregation or some clique in the church may cut the minister to shreds, and they may break his heart, but they have absolutely nothing to do with the judgment of the man's faithfulness and unfaithfulness.

Men may put God's minister on trial. He may be "judged" (anakrino), that is scrutinized, investigated, questioned, and cross-examined either to his face or behind his back. He may be judged as to his eloquence, intelligence, ability, or whatever else some may or may not like. But none of it matters to God—not one word, not even one critical or negative thought.

Note something else: Paul does not even judge himself. Paul knew precisely what every honest and thinking person knows.

- ⇒ No minister can honestly judge his own ministry: its true success; his motives for every single thing he has done; how much fruit he has really been borne in people's lives and how much should have been borne.
- ⇒ A person who begins to judge his own works either begins to think too highly of himself or too lowly. To varying degrees he becomes prideful or discouraged.

Paul, of course, is not talking about a minister evaluating his ministry for the purpose of strengthening it. He is talking about passing judgment upon his ministry in comparison to other ministries and as to its fruitfulness. Is his ministry as good as someone else's? Is it as fruitful? Are his motives as pure as they should be in the work which he does? Is Christ as pleased with his ministry as he is with the ministry of others?

This is the kind of thing Paul does not judge, and believers are not to judge. No man has the right to judge such things.

"Judge not, that ye be not judged" (Mt.7:1).

"Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things" (Ro.2:1).

"Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother's way" (Ro.14:13).

3 (4:4-5) Ministers—Judging Others: third, the judgment of Christ is all that matters. Note two points.

1. The Lord alone justifies a man and his ministry. This is a significant statement by Paul. He knows of no place he is coming up short in the ministry. To his knowledge he is faithful in the ministry and pleasing to the Lord. But he is not justified and approved by his judgment. The Lord Jesus alone can put the stamp of approval upon his ministry. No man is able or competent in judging the fruitfulness, dedication, and success of a ministry. Only Christ can judge a man and the faithfulness of his life and ministry.

2. Therefore, believers are to judge nothing. They have no right or prerogative to judge.
- a. No believer can know the hidden things of darkness within a man. Only Jesus Christ can bring the secret, hidden things to light.
  - b. No man knows the real motives within a man. Only Christ can reveal the motives and counsels of the human heart.

"For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known" (Lk.12:2).

"Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God" (1 Cor.4:5).

"If I sin, then thou markest me, and thou wilt not acquit me from mine iniquity" (Job 10:14).

"Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults" (Ps.19:12).

"Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, our secret sins in the light of thy countenance" (Ps.90:8).

"For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes" (Jer.16:17).

"And they consider not in their hearts that I remember all their wickedness: now their own doings have beset them about; they are before my face" (Hos.7:2).

There is to be no judgment of ministers nor of anyone else until the Lord returns. He and He alone has the right and is capable of judging ministers and believers. Both ministers and believers will have the praise of God when Christ returns and judges their work, not before. No matter how successful men may judge one another to be—no matter how much praise men may heap upon one another—no person will have the praise of God until Christ returns and judges the secret things of a man's heart and life. This is the reason men are not to judge the ministers and servants of God.

"Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand" (Ro.14:4).

"There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?" (Jas.4:12).

"The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it? I the LORD search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings" (Jer.17:9-10).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

K. Answer Ten: Not Comparing and Judging Ministers, 4:6-13

(4:6-13) Introduction—Judging Others—Pride: worldly men measure, judge, boast, and pride themselves in their superior gifts and achievements. Some in the Corinthian church had begun to make the same mistake. They were judging the gifts of believers and preachers; therefore, they became guilty of the same offense as worldly men. They were usurping the authority of God alone to gift and judge men (cp. v.6). They were, in reality, nothing more than puffed up air bags. And no matter the church, when a lot of “puffed up” talk begins to swirl around, disturbance and divisiveness set in; the fellowship and life of the church become threatened.

One of the answers to divisiveness is believing and accepting the fact that we must not compare ministers.

1. The ministers, Paul and Apollos, illustrate a point (v.6).
2. First, God causes the differences between men (v.7).
3. Second, you are showing superiority (v.8).
4. Third, true ministers are set forth last (v.9-10).
5. Fourth, true ministers serve—no matter the cost (v.11-13).

1 (4:6) Pride—Ministers: the ministers, Paul and Apollos, illustrate a point. Very simply, what Paul had been saying about himself and Apollos was only an illustration for the Corinthian deliverers to apply to themselves. Paul had just declared two pictures to show who he and Apollos were (cp. Cor.4:1-2).

- ⇒ They were mere servants of Christ. They were only the under-rowers, the slaves in the belly of the ship who serve the Lord and Master of the ship.
- ⇒ They were mere stewards, the slaves given the enormous responsibility to oversee the property of the Lord and Master of the estate. And because they were stewards and had been given this enormous responsibility, they were expected to be faithful and were held accountable for their faithfulness.

The point is this: Paul was not writing to teach himself and Apollos who they were and what their calling was. He and Apollos knew who they were, and they knew their calling. He was writing to teach the Corinthians (and all other churches) who their ministers were and how they were to be treated. Two lessons in particular needed to be learned.

1. Believers must stop comparing and judging their ministers and elevating them above what Scripture says. Some in the Corinthian church were judging some ministers to be better and more capable servants of God than others. They were judging and elevating men over other men. They felt themselves so spiritual that they could rank the servants of God and judge the most effective speakers and teachers.

2. Believers must stop being “puffed up” against one another. The very reason a believer judges one minister superior to another is because the believer receives more from the preaching and life of a particular minister—more than he receives from any others. This is understandable, for every minister means a great deal to those who are reached for Christ through him and who receive special attention from him during crises. However, a serious sin occurs when the believer begins to think that no other minister can preach and minister like the favored minister. The person or persons who begin to elevate one minister above another are “puffed up.”

1 CORINTHIANS 4:6-13

- ⇒ He thinks he has received truths from the favored minister that others have not received; that if others have not received as much as he has, they are lacking in their blessings and growth.
- ⇒ He thinks he is more capable in ranking God's servants and judging their gifts as speakers, teachers, and ministers.

Note the words "puffed up" (phusiousthe). The phrase means to be inflated. It is a picture of puffed up air bags. The point is, the judging of ministers and the feelings that one can judge ministers is nothing but hot air in puffed up balloons. It is meaningless. It means absolutely nothing to God. (Cp. "puffed up" in 1 Cor.4:18-19; 5:2; 8:1; 13:4.)

"And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted" (Mt.23:12).

"It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in princes" (Ps.118:9).

"Put not your trust in princes, nor in the son of man, in whom there is no help" (Ps.146:3).

"Cease, ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" (Is.2:22).

"Thus saith the LORD, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: but let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exercise lovingkindness, judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the LORD" (Jer.9:23-24).

"Thus saith the Lord; Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord" (Jer.17:5).

2 (4:7) Self-exaltation—Boasting: first, God, not man, causes the differences between men. Note the three piercing questions of Scripture that drive the point home.

1. Who makes you to differ from another? What makes you think you have superior judgment to others? What makes you think you have received enough spiritual growth and insight that you can judge God's ministers? What gives you the right to feel you have received more than others because you sat under some minister? What makes you think you are more spiritual than other believers? Who is it that has made you spiritual?

2. What do you have that you did not receive? What is your spiritual gift? Did you create it or was the gift given to you by God? If you are spiritually mature, did you earn the maturity, or did God by His grace grow you? If you have spiritual insight, does it come from God or from your working it up? Were you saved and brought into the family of God by your own efforts or by the grace of God? When you sit under ministers, do you have infinite knowledge to see the whole scope of their lives and ministries? Did you choose them or did God? Did you work them up and gift them or did God give you the privilege to sit under them and to learn from their particular gift? What do you have or possess that you did not receive? Life? A body? A mind? A spirit? The ability to think and work and play and live? Breath? Another day without being snatched and taken away? Salvation? The privilege of knowing God and His dear Son? Spiritual growth and maturity? The Word of God? Preaching? Teaching? The church? Ministers? Did you receive all this as a gift from God? Or did you work it all up and take it unto yourself?

3. Now, if you received it all—all the blessings of life and of Christ and of the church—why are you boasting of being super-spiritual? Why are you acting superior to other believers? Why are you playing lord—as though you have the right to take God's place and judge His ministers and people? There is no doubt: you did not work up the spiritual life with all its ministers, believers, churches, gifts, and blessings. You received it all: the simple privilege of being one member of God's great family. Now, you are one of God's dear children, but you are only one. Why, then, do you act as though you are the lord over some of God's dear sons and daughters. Why do you glory in exalting yourself as the person with the spiritual maturity to judge who should and should not serve? Who has and does not have the better gifts? Who is and is not effective? Who fulfills and does not fulfill God's purposes? Who should and should not serve here and there? Why do you exalt yourself and make yourself superior? Is God not able to handle the gifts and affairs of His ministers and people and church? Why do you glory as though you are the judge who is to hand out approval and disapproval?

"And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others" (Lk.18:9).

"Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall" (1 Cor.10:12).

"For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself" (Gal.6:3).

"If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain" (Jas.1:26).

"But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil" (Jas.4:16).

"Whoso boasteth himself of a false gift is like clouds and wind without rain" (Pr.25:14).

"It is not good to eat much honey: so for men to search their own glory is not glory" (Pr.25:27).

"He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered" (Pr.28:26).

"For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds: I will be like the Most High" (Is.14:13-14).

"Ye have ploughed wickedness, ye have reaped iniquity; ye have eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thy way, in the multitude of thy mighty men" (Hos.10:13).

3 (4:8) Pride: second, you are showing superiority. Some believers were acting as though their lives were full, that is, fully filled and satiated. The idea is perfected and complete. They were acting as though they were perfect and mature, and had the right to pass judgment upon God's people. They felt they lacked nothing—no gift, no insight, no knowledge, no spiritual understanding. They were acting as though they were reigning as kings in God's church. They were acting as though God had already given them their spiritual reward and exalted them to rule over the believers of the church.

Paul says this: he wishes they were reigning as kings, for then the ministers of God would be reigning with them. It would mean that God had already created the new heavens and earth and rewarded the believers, exalting them to their promised reward.

Thought 1. Super-spirituality, a person thinking that he is spiritually superior and full, needing little if anything, is an extremely dangerous state.

“Woe unto you that are full for ye shall hunger. Woe unto you that laugh now! for ye shall mourn and weep” (Lk.6:25).

“Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:17).

“They are enclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly” (Ps.17:10).

4 (4:9-10) Ministers: third, true ministers are set forth last. The phrase “set forth” (apedeixen) means more than to be seen or exhibited. The picture is that of doomed gladiators being taken to the arena. God has set forth the minister as a doomed gladiator to serve the world no matter the cost. Note two points.

1. The minister is “appointed to death” (epithanatiou). This is a continuation of the picture of the doomed gladiator. He is marched through the city streets and before the screaming mobs of the arena. He is made a spectacle before the world and he has to endure it, for he has no choice.

Paul sees ministers as being spectacles. They are being marched across the scene of world history to carry on their combat as ordained by the Emperor and King. They are mere spectacles to the world and to angels and men, with few ever understanding and fully accepting them. And from among the few who do accept them, some eventually withdraw and turn against them.

Thought 1. Note the contrast Paul is drawing between the attitude of the Corinthians and that of himself and the other ministers of God. The Corinthian believers were living in full satisfaction and comfort while the ministers of God were suffering as the spectacles of the world.

2. The minister is expected to serve and to be put last. This is enlarging what has just been said.
  - a. The minister is counted as a fool for Christ's sake because of His strong devotion to Christ. The world and too often believers look at the minister as a radical fool. But not too many believers are considered to be fools. Most believers are accepted by the world and among other believers and considered wise.
  - b. The believers are thought to be strong, for they receive the fullness of Christ without suffering too much and without having to go on and on hour after hour and day after day. But not ministers. They are weak in that they sometimes suffer the withdrawal and hesitancy of people to associate with them, the looks and stares, the lack of understanding, the abuse, the rejection, the talk and rumors and gossip, the disapproval and the rejection, the ridicule and sometimes the physical persecution and martyrdom.
  - c. The believers are thought honorable and usually respected; but ministers are too often treated as some kind of different person, in a different kind of profession—the kind of person and profession other people would not want nor choose for their life's work. Ministers are too often without honor among the world and, tragically, among believers.

Thought 1. Again, note the sharp contrast between the attitude of too many believers and the true minister. This was the problem with the Corinthians, and it is the problem with too many believers and churches.

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter” (Ro.8:36).

“For we preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake” (2 Cor.4:5).

“For we which live are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

5 (4:11-13) Ministers: third, true ministers serve—no matter the cost. True ministers are the servants of Christ, and the stewards of God's gospel (mysteries); therefore, they pay any price to share the gospel and to minister to people. Paul says that he and the apostles were bearing these very sufferings “even unto this present hour.”

- ⇒ They sometimes lacked food, water, and clothing (cp. 2 Cor.11:27; Mt.25:36; Jas.2:15).
- ⇒ They were buffeted and beaten with fists, that is, pushed about, slapped (cp. 2 Cor.12:7; Acts 23:2).
- ⇒ They had no home (cp. Mt.8:20; 10:23).
- ⇒ They were not a burden to the church even if it meant that they had to labor at secular jobs in order to preach the Word and minister (cp. Acts 18:3; 20:34; 1 Th.2:9; 2 Th.3:8; 1 Cor.9:6; 2 Cor.11:7).

1 CORINTHIANS 4:6-13

- ⇒ They were reviled or railed at, but they blessed (cp. 1 Pt.2:23; 3:9; 4:14-16).
- ⇒ They were persecuted, but they suffered it (cp. Lk.6:28).
- ⇒ They were defamed or slandered, but they beseeched or exhorted and met slanderous behavior with kindness.
- ⇒ They were made as the filth (the refuse, rubbish, garbage) and the scum of the earth.

Thought 1. What are we doing for Christ today? How much are we suffering to preach the gospel and to minister to people? How many preachers and how many believers have honestly given all they are and have to share the gospel with the world? How many have sacrificed and given so much that they can eat only one or two meals a day? How many have only a few clothes hanging in the closet? How many cars are in the garage? How much money is in the bank? How many of us have really sacrificed all we are and have like the apostles did?

“Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake” (Mt.5:11).

“He that findeth his life shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.10:39).

“And every one that hath forsaken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my name’s sake, shall receive an hundredfold, and shall inherit everlasting life” (Mt.19:29).

“For I will show him how great things he must suffer for my name’s sake” (Acts 9:16).

“For we which live are alway delivered unto death for Jesus’ sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh” (2 Cor.4:11).

“Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ’s sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong” (2 Cor.12:10).

“For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake” (Ph.1:29).

“Take, my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience” (Jas.5:10).

DIVISION II

THE DIVISION IN THE CHURCH, 1:10-4:21

L. Answer Eleven: Seeing and Understanding the Spirit of God's Minister, 4:14-21

(4:14-21) Introduction: this passage is the eleventh answer to division within the church. Paul has discussed the subject of division thoroughly, and his discussion leaves any church without excuse for allowing itself to become divided. This is a section of Scripture that needs to be preached and studied time and again to protect the fellowship and mission of the church. The eleventh answer to division is the need to see and understand the spirit of God's minister.

1. God's minister does not shame, but he warns his people as children (v.14).
2. God's minister shows a fatherly spirit, not an instructor's spirit (v.15).
3. God's minister sets an unmatched example (v.16).
4. God's minister provides for the growth of his people (v.17).
5. God's minister wishes to be with his people (v.18-21).

1 (4:14) Minister: the spirit of God's minister does not shame people, but it warns them. Paul had been strong with the Corinthian church (cp. Chapters 1-4). Some people were about to split and destroy the church; its very life and witness for Christ were threatened. Strong warning was necessary, for some were running the risk of facing the severe judgment of God (1 Cor.3:17). But note: the warning was not given to shame the guilty, but to warn them. The warning was given in the spirit of a father—in the very same spirit that a father warns his sons of the consequences if they continue to do wrong. The father is firm and decisive, and he means exactly what he says, but he still loves his sons. He warns them to keep them from destroying their lives, not to shame and embarrass them.

Thought 1. All ministers and congregations desperately need to understand the true spirit of a genuine minister.

- 1) No genuine minister would ever fail to warn his child of the consequences of misbehavior.
- 2) No wise child (congregation) would ever reject or attempt to silence the warning of a loving and caring father (minister).

"I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the Lord, keep not silence" (Is.62:6).

"Also I set watchmen over you, saying, Hearken to the sound of the trumpet. But they said, We will not hearken" (Jer.6:17).

"Son of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me" (Ezk.3:17).

"But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them, he is taken away in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand" (Ezk.33:6).

"To the one we are the savour of death unto death; and to the other the savour of life unto life. And who is sufficient for these things?" (2 Cor.2:16).

"Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you" (Heb.13:17).

2 (4:15) Minister: the spirit of God's minister is that of a fatherly spirit, not that of an instructor's spirit. The "instructor" (paidagogos) of Paul's day was a trusted slave who was placed in complete charge of a child's welfare and growth. He was even in charge of escorting the child to school and seeing that no harm came to him. He was responsible for the growth and development of the child until he was grown. Paul says that the Corinthian church had an unlimited number of capable instructors and teachers, but he alone was their spiritual father. He was the one who brought them to Christ Jesus for life, and gave birth to the church. He was the one whom God had been using and was still using to oversee the growth of the church. Paul was stressing that he as the minister of the church bore more concern, tenderness, and care for the church than others.

Thought 1. The church must have many instructors, true teachers who take new and immature believers under their care to make sure they grow and develop. However, the minister of God must be more than an instructor who makes disciples. He must be a minister with the spirit of a wise father, a spirit that shows...

- love, but also justice.
- care, but also discipline.
- interest, but also self-development.
- giving, but also demands.
- acceptance, but also disapproval.
- praise, but also warning.

“And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and understanding” (Jer.3:15).

“And I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them: and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, saith the Lord” (Jer.23:4).

“Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? and he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:17).

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind” (1 Pt.5:2).

3 (4:16) Minister: the spirit of God’s minister sets an unmatched example. “Be ye followers of me.” The Greek word for “followers” (mimetai) means imitators. “Be ye imitators of me.” Every father should live such a life that his children could follow in his steps. This is what Paul was saying. He had lived a life of commitment and self-denial for the Lord Jesus Christ. He had given all he was and had to Christ. He was saying: “Follow me—imitate me! Commit your life to Christ; deny yourself completely—give all you are and have to Him. Help me in evangelizing and meeting the desperate needs of the world for Him. The world is starving and dying from sin, hunger, disease, cold, heat, loneliness, and purposelessness; and they are doomed to die in both this world and the next. Follow me! Help me to reach this world for Christ Jesus our Lord.”

“Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an example” (Ph.3:17).

“Those things, which ye have both learned, and received, and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you” (Ph.4:9).

“And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost” (1 Th.1:6).

“For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:7).

“Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard of me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus” (2 Tim.1:13).

4 (4:17) Minister: the spirit of God’s minister provides for the growth of his people. Note the stress of this verse. Paul says, “Timothy shall remind you of my ways in Christ.” Paul was being attacked by some within the church who represented both the right and the left. The right included those who were strict traditionalists and conservatives, those who followed and exalted Peter as the epitome of preachers. The left included those who were more liberal minded and interested in the wisdom of the world, those who followed and exalted Apollos as the greatest of preachers.

It must be noted that the preachers themselves were not personally involved in the division. None of them were at Corinth when the arguing and divisions within the church began. The controversy concerned them, but they were not and would not have been involved in it. They were right where they should have been: out on the highways and byways of the world witnessing for Christ. (See outline and notes—1 Cor.1:10-16 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. What a contrast between the preachers and their so-called followers! The so-called followers were professing the merits of the preachers, but were not following their example! How easy it is to profess and not to do.

Straightening out the mess within the church was in the hands of Paul, who was, so to speak, their present minister. He was away on a mission tour at this particular time, but he was responsible for the church and its welfare. Being unable to leave the mission tour, he did the next best thing. He sat down and wrote the church, dealing with their divisions; and then he sent his letter with one of his most able assistants, Timothy. Timothy was to stay with the church until the divisiveness was eliminated and Christ was once again enthroned in His rightful place in the believers’ hearts and lives.

Thought 1. Every minister of the gospel must be driven to provide whatever is needed for the growth of his people. Every true believer has been chosen by God to serve Christ Jesus the Lord. Therefore, if there is anything in the life of a believer that hinders his growth and service, the matter is serious to God. It must be dealt with and straightened out no matter what it is. But note: it is not only the minister's duty to provide for the growth of the believer. He can do nothing unless the believer will receive his ministry. The believer must be a humble follower of God who loves his minister and who is vitally interested in serving his Lord. (To be honest, any person's profession of Christ that comes short of being committed to and obeying Christ is suspect. The genuineness of the divisive person's conversion is even questionable. Within the church, as among any two persons, differences and problems arise; but genuine believers still love each other and work through the problems—rather quickly.)

“So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me more than these? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my lambs [meet their needs for growth]. He saith to him again the second time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith unto him, Yea, Lord; thou knowest that I love thee. He saith unto him, Feed my sheep. He saith unto him the third time, Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved because he said unto him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said unto him, Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee. Jesus saith unto him, Feed my sheep” (Jn.21:15-17).

Thought 2. Note the kind of minister Paul provided for the Corinthian church.

- 1) Timothy, a “beloved son”: a young minister who loves and is willing to learn just as the son of a father (older pastor) is willing to learn.
- 2) Timothy, faithful in the Lord: a young minister who is faithful...
  - in prayer (1 Tim.2:1-2).
  - in the study of the Word (2 Tim.2:15; 3:15-17).
  - in witnessing (2 Tim.1:7-8).
  - in service and ministry (1 Tim.1:18-19; 4:14-16).

5 (4:18-21) Ministers—Call: the spirit of God's minister is to be with his people. Remember the situation in the church. The church was divided into four cliques (see outline and notes—1 Cor.1:10-16). It was the kind of situation that many desire to flee and ignore or overlook. Keep in mind that Paul himself was under attack (see note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for more discussion). Note the words of this verse: “some are puffed up, as though I would not come to you.” Apparently they felt the criticism and accusations against Paul were true, so he would not dare face them. However, note four points.

1. Paul has a longing to be with his dear church and people and to help them through this troublesome time. He says forcibly: “I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will.” He is the Lord's servant, so he has to go where the Lord leads him. But his prayers will be pleading for God to let him return to Corinth so that he can do all he can to help them.

2. Paul expects to deal with the troublemakers, to exercise whatever discipline is necessary. False charges were being made against him, and as always, rumors were flying (see note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor.1:12-22 for a complete list of the accusations and rumors). Paul says this: when he arrives, he will not be interested in the accusations of his accusers, but in their power, that is, in what they can back up and prove with evidence. He will expose the accusers and their carnal, worldly character—expose them for what they are: troublemakers.

3. Paul gives the reason why he will discipline the troublemakers: because the Kingdom of God is not in word, but in power. That is, the Kingdom of God, the rule and reign of God within a life, does not exist within a man because he says it does. When God rules in a life, it is in power. The old life that makes accusations and spreads rumors about people has been put to death. God's rule of love reigns in a life.

The point is direct: the accusers were professing to be citizens of God's kingdom, to have surrendered their lives to Christ, but their profession was word only—only a false profession. The power of God's kingdom, of His rule in a life, was not seen in their lives. They were not demonstrating love and peace nor the building up of God's church and its minister, but the very opposite. They were gossiping, causing rumors, making accusations, disturbing people, causing division, and about to destroy the church. Therefore, Paul says that he will not flee the problem. Rather, he will deal with it. In fact, the Kingdom of God, the very welfare of the kingdom, demands it. God's kingdom and its rule of love must reign in the church and be kept as pure as possible.

4. Paul appeals for self-correction: “What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?” The decision is always up to the troublemakers and the church. Disturbances within the church must never be allowed to fester and continue. They must always be dealt with and solved, so that the church can concentrate on its mission to reach and minister to a world that is lost and dying in hunger and thirst both spiritually and physically. The world's people must be reached and given life both in this world and in the next. The glorious gospel of salvation must be carried to them. Therefore, the church must straighten itself out so that it can be about its task. If it does, Paul says that he will come to them in love. If it does not, then he will come in discipline.

Thought 1. Paul loved the Lord, and he loved the people under his care. He existed only to serve the Lord and the Lord's people. Therefore, his heart reached out to help believers no matter their state or circumstances. If they rejoiced, he rejoiced with them; if they hurt, he hurt with them. No matter what they were experiencing, he was upon earth to help believers through whatever they faced: differences, divisions, immaturity, weaknesses, poverty, danger, persecution. His sole purpose for living was Christ and people: to serve Christ by reaching and ministering to people. He was the minister of God; therefore, Paul did not run from problems. He simply lengthened and intensified his prayers, and he searched the Word of God and the Spirit for answers. Then he arose and walked out of his study and prayer closet to deal with the problems. He walked out under the assurance, confidence, security, and power of the Holy Spirit. Therefore, he knew that whatever happened was under the control and will of God. If the people responded to God's will, God would bless and honor them; if they rejected God's will, God would judge them. In either case, God would take care of his dear minister, for His minister had done his duty.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully; but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every man's conscience in the sight of God” (2 Cor.4:1-2).

“And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation” (2 Cor.5:18).

“Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power” (Eph.3:7).

“And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry” (1 Tim.1:12).

“Whereunto [the gospel] I am appointed a preacher, and an apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles” (2 Tim.1:11).

Thought 2. Note that the love of a minister is just like that of a father. True love is not a thing of indulgence and license that allows selfishness and wrong, dirt and ugliness, sin and shame to run loose and rampant at will. True love cares about the consequence of a person's behavior; therefore, true love exercises firm correction and discipline that is sure to save and keep the loved person from harming himself.

DIVISION III

THE MORAL LAXITY IN THE CHURCH, 5:1-6:20

A. The Case of Shameful Sin in the Church (Part I): How to Handle a Sinful Brother in the Church, 5:1-5

(5:1-6:20) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Church Problems: Chapters 5 and 6 deal with four moral problems in the Corinthian church. There was serious complacency and laxity in the church toward morality.

1. The Case of Shameful Sin in the Church (Part I): How to Handle a Sinful Brother in the Church, 5:1-5.
2. The Case of Shameful Sin in the Church (Part II): What the Church Must Do to Handle Shameful Sin in Its Midst, 5:6-13.
3. The Case of Legal Dispute, 6:1-8.
4. The Case Against Unrighteous Character, 6:9-11.
5. The Case Against the Indulgence of the Human Body, 6:12-20.

(5:1-5) Introduction: many churches have members who become involved in shameful sin. When this happens, what should the church do? Ignore it? Pray about it and hope that God will take care of the matter? Or, take action and do everything possible to restore the brother to Christ?

This passage (5:1-5) and the next (5:6-13) handle the ever sensitive subject of church discipline, a subject that is critically needed if the church is to keep a strong witness for the Lord.

1. There was the shameful sin: a case of fornication, of public incest (v.1).
2. There was the church's attitude: inflated self-complacency (v.2).
3. There was the discipline of the offending brother (v.3-5).

1 (5:1) Sin—Fornication: there was the shameful sin—a case of fornication, of public incest in the church. Note that there is no word or conjunction connecting this passage with Chapter Four. Paul jumps right in and abruptly begins to handle this shameful problem: "It is actually reported that there is fornication among you." Shocking, shameful, despicable, and disgusting is the idea. Imagine! A son is living with his step-mother, his father's wife, and it is public knowledge. Everyone, both in the church and in the community, knows all about it.

1. The word "have" indicates some form of permanent relationship. The son had either married her or was living with her.
2. The son was a member of the church. Note that he was a prominent member who was known by everyone; a member who was faithful enough to be known as a member of the church. There is even some indication that he was a leader in the church (v.2, 6).
3. The unbelievers of the world (Gentiles) do not approve of nor accept incest. They might not live pure and clean lives, but they utterly reject incest as being anywhere close to acceptable behavior. Therefore, the testimony of the church was being tragically ruined.

Thought 1. Think of the incest and the child abuse within families: parent sinning with child and child with child. How many belong to the church? This message is for how many sitting before us week after week?

"And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet" (Ro.1:27).

"Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate [homosexuals], nor abusers of themselves with mankind" (1 Cor.6:9).

“Flee fornication. Every sin that a man doeth is without the body; but he that committeth fornication sinneth against his own body” (1 Cor.6:18).

“And lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and that I shall bewail many which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness and fornication and lasciviousness which they have committed” (2 Cor.12:21).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....[but] they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

2 (5:2) Church, Problems—Church Discipline: there was the church’s attitude—a shameful self-complacency. Note the phrase “puffed up.” The Corinthian church was apparently “puffed up” for two reasons.

1. The church thought of itself as a strong and spiritual church, a church greatly blessed by God. This had been the very sin Paul was attacking in the first four chapters. The believers of the church thought they were spiritual; they revelled in their conceit and pride as a so-called strong church, but they were not. They were allowing a shameful sin to exist in their midst. Instead of being puffed up, they should have been mourning. The word “mourned” (ἐπένθησα) is the word used for grieving and mourning over the dead. They should have been so grieved that they would be driven to intense prayer. Their need was not to be glorying in their so-called spirituality and strength as a church; their need was to mourn over the sin in their midst, begging God to help them restore the fallen brother or to remove him and the sin from their fellowship through love and correction.

2. The church was “puffed up” because of the man who was guilty of the shameful sin (see note—1 Cor.5:6 for discussion).

Thought 1. The church is not to be complacent in dealing with sin and evil. This is the whole thrust of this passage and of all Scripture. No church can erase sin completely from its midst, for there are no perfect people. But clear and unquestionable sin and evil must be dealt with and corrected. A complacent, easygoing attitude toward sin will destroy both lives and churches. Practically every society has rules that govern its members, and the most respected and honored societies deal with the members when its membership rules are continually broken. The church, above all societies, must not be complacent and easygoing in dealing with sin that damages the church and lives and is clearly visible to all. (See outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20 for the steps to correcting offending brothers. Jesus spelled out exactly what is to be done, and the wisdom of what He taught is clearly seen.)

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone; if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:1-3).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

3 (5:3-5) Church Discipline: the discipline of the offending brother. Paul was away on a mission tour; therefore, he was not able to personally deal with the offending brother nor the church. However, his spirit overflowed with love for the church; it was as though he was with them “in spirit.” Therefore, he had already judged the matter. He had made a decision about what needed to be done, and it was too important a matter to leave hanging until he returned. Three things were to be done.

1. The offending brother was to be disciplined “in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.”

1 CORINTHIANS 5:1-5

Note the word “our.” Jesus Christ is our Lord, my Lord, the church’s Lord, and the Lord of the offending brother. Paul says...

- it is your Lord who is being hurt and cut; His name which you are damaging.
  - it is for your Lord that this discipline must be carried out.
  - it is our Lord who alone can use the discipline to awaken the sinful brother’s conscience to repent and to seek reconciliation with God.
2. The offending brother was to be disciplined by the church in a special called gathering. This seems to be what is meant by the words “when ye are gathered together.”
- ⇒ Note: Paul says that he would be meeting with them “in spirit.” His heart and prayers would be with them as they handled this most difficult matter.
  - ⇒ Note a crucial fact. The church was instructed to clean itself up before it disciplines the sinning brother. (See outline and notes—1 Cor.5:6-13. As stated, this is a critical point and must be heeded before discipline is ever carried out.)
3. The offending brother was to be disciplined through the power of our Lord Jesus Christ. He was to be delivered to Satan...
- for the destruction of the flesh.
  - that his spirit might be saved in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Now, what does this mean? There are two major interpretations of the discipline.

1. The discipline means that the man must be excommunicated from the church (vs.2, 7, 13). The idea is that outside the church, that is, outside in the world, is the domain of Satan; whereas in the church is the domain of God (Jn.12:31; 16:11; Acts 26:18; Eph.2:12; Col.1:13; 1 Jn.5:19). The man is to be sent back to Satan’s world to which he belongs. Perhaps such discipline would humiliate him and bring him to his senses. It was a discipline not only to punish him, but to awaken him to righteousness. It is a judgment that takes away a person’s Christian privileges with the hope that the discipline will stir him to repent.

2. The discipline means something more than excommunication. It is the miraculous subjection of the person to the power of Satan. The flesh is to be delivered over to sickness and, if repentance does not follow, then death. Physical consequences are seen to be the result of spiritual failings (see outline and note—1 Cor.11:27-30). In Acts 5:1-11, Ananias and Sapphira are extreme examples. It is further argued that mere excommunication would not have the effect of destroying the flesh.

It should be noted that this punishment is seen as remedial. The flesh is destroyed so that the spirit may be saved. There is no question that Paul means “saved” in the fullest sense, for he adds “in the day of the Lord.” Paul expects to see the offender in the final day of judgment. The same words are also used of Hymeneus and Alexander whom Paul delivered unto Satan so that they might learn not to blaspheme (1 Tim.1:20).

This passage needs to be studied carefully, for the church desperately needs to exercise discipline more than it has in the past in order to strengthen its witness for the Lord. Note three more facts.

1. The actual discipline of the offending brother is carried out in “the power of our Lord Jesus Christ.” It is the power of Christ that executes judgment upon the flesh and upon the spirit. Note this, for it is extremely important. All the church does is what it can do: make the decision that the brother’s sin must be dealt with and then, in a heart broken and full of love, pronounce that he has to leave the church. Any physical or spiritual punishment is in the hands of the Lord, not in the hands of the church.

2. The actual steps to be used in dealing with an offending brother were spelled out in great detail by our Lord Himself, and the wisdom of His love is clearly seen in His instructions. Every church should do exactly what He said, and if the offending brother still refuses to repent, then the church should act. (See outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20. The Lord’s instructions should definitely be closely studied with this passage.)

3. In comparing Scripture with Scripture, it seems that Paul meant something more than excommunication. Scripture definitely teaches that there is a spiritual power that inflicts punishment upon sin. However, this should not be surprising in our day and time, for modern medicine and psychology tell us that misbehavior even causes physical, emotional, and mental punishment. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16 for more discussion.)

“For this cause [continuing in sin] many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep. For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged. But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world” (1 Cor.11:30-32).

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit” (Jn.15:2).

“Then Saul, (who also is called Paul,) filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, and said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?” (Acts 13:9-11; cp. Acts 5:1-11).

“Of whom is Hymeneus and Alexander; whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme” (1 Tim.1:20).

“And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him” (Heb.12:5; cp. v.6-11 for a complete picture).

“As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent” (Rev.3:19).

“Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O LORD, and teachest him out of thy law” (Ps.94:12).

“My son, despise not the chastening of the LORD; neither be weary of his correction: for whom the LORD loveth he correcteth; even as a father the son in whom he delighteth” (Pr.3:11-12).

“O LORD, correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing” (Jer.10:24).

DIVISION III

THE MORAL LAXITY IN THE CHURCH, 5:1-6:20

B. The Case of Shameful Sin in the Church (Part II): What the Church Must Do to Handle Shameful Sin in Its Midst, 5:6-13

(5:6-13) Introduction: this passage is a continuation of the former passage (v.1-5). The subject is church discipline, a subject that is critically needed if the church is to be what it should be before the Lord and the world. What is the church to do when shameful sin is found in the life of a member?

1. The church must learn something: a little leaven (sin) leavens the whole (v.6).
2. The church must purge out the leaven (sin) (v.7).
3. The church must keep the feast; that is, it must clean itself out (v.8).
4. The church must separate itself from the world, but not entirely (v.9-10).
5. The church must separate itself from sinners who call themselves brothers (v.11).
6. The church must judge only those "within" the church; God judges those "without" the church (v.12-13).

1 (5:6) Church Problems: the church must know something—a little leaven (sin) leavens the whole lump. The leaven or sin of the Corinthian church was its "glorying." The church thought of itself as a strong and spiritual church, a church greatly blessed and gifted by God. Every conceivable gift of the Spirit had been given the church, and the members revelled and gloried in their gifts and blessings (see notes—1 Cor.1:5-7; 1:12; 1:26; 2:6-13; 3:18-23; 4:1-5; 4:6; 4:7; 4:8; 5:2. A quick glance at these notes will give an overview of the glory and pride of the Corinthian church and of the glory and pride that can seep into any church.)

The depth of sinful pride, however, is when a church begins to pride itself in the fact that certain community leaders belong to its fellowship. This was apparently one of the terrible sins of the Corinthian church.

The church was "glorying" because of the man who was guilty of the shameful sin (v.6). The church, of course, would not have been glorying in the sin of the man. Their glorying was in the man himself: his stature, his prestige, who he was, the money he could give, the contribution he could make, his leadership, and perhaps his wealth. The word for "glorying" (kauchema) indicates this rather strongly. It means that they were glorying, boasting, and taking pride in the man despite the known fact of his sin. Perhaps he was a man of outstanding leadership in the community or the city of Corinth. Perhaps he had become a leader of one of the factions in the church. Whatever the case, the church overlooked his sin and took great pride in the fact that a man of his stature would join and become a part of their fellowship.

Thought 1. Too often, a church overlooks the sin and sinful lifestyle of a man because he is a leader in the community, government, or business. In fact, too often a church glories in the fact that the man is a member of its fellowship. As Scripture declares: "Brothers, these things ought not to be."

The point is this: the church must wake up and learn something. A little leaven (sin) leavens the whole lump. Leaven is a type of sin in the Bible. Therefore, if the man and his shameful sin are allowed to remain in the church, the sin of the man will spread. If the church accepts the man who is living in clear sin, others will begin to feel that they, too, can be acceptable even if they sin. If there is no restraint upon sin, then sin will grow. If sin is accepted, then sin, not righteousness, rules. If righteousness is not the basis of acceptance, then righteousness does not reign, but sin reigns. If the church accepts the person who lives in clear sin, then the church is letting sin rule, and sin will spread. The man who lives for sin influences others to live for sin.

Note what Scripture says: it takes only a little leaven, not much, for sin to grow. Accepting just one man who lives for the world and for sin will cause others to begin living worldly and sinful lives.

“But if thy brother be grieved with thy meat, now walkest thou not charitably. Destroy not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died” (Ro.14:15).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth? This persuasion cometh not of him that calleth you. A little leaven leaveneth the whole lump” (Gal.5:7-9).

“But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh! Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire” (Mt.18:6-8).

“Dead flies cause the ointment of the apothecary [perfumer] to send forth a stinking savor: so doth a little folly him that is in reputation for wisdom and honor” (Eccl.10:1).

“Take us the foxes, the little foxes, that spoil the vines: for our vines have tender grapes” (Song of Sol.2:15).

2 (5:7) Church, Duty: the church must purge out the leaven (sin). There are two reasons why the church and its believers must purge all sin out of their lives.

1. Believers are new creatures. The picture is that of the Jewish Passover Feast. The Jewish family was required by law to remove all leaven out of the house before celebrating the Passover. They were even required to light candles and search throughout the house for crumbs of leaven that might have fallen on the floor and under tables and other furniture. The purging of all leaven was symbolic of the people purging the corrupting influence of sin out of their lives.

Note the statement: “Ye are unleavened.” The believers of the church were already unleavened; they were new lumps, new creatures; therefore, they must not run outside the family into the world and bring the old leaven back into the family. The believer has become a “new creature” in Christ. His old sins and old man have been cast out of the house; therefore, he is not to let the old sins back into his life nor back into the family of God, that is, the church.

“Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new” (2 Cor.5:17).

“For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature” (Gal.6:15).

“That ye put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and that ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness” (Eph.4:22-24).

“Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him” (Col.3:9-10).

2. Christ our Passover has been sacrificed for us and for the church. This, too, is a picture of the Passover Feast. In the Jewish Passover Feast, every family slew a Passover lamb and its blood was painted on the door framing above the main entrance into the house. This symbolized that the family believed the Word of God, that God would save the family from judgment when God saw that the blood of the Passover lamb covered its house.

The point is striking: the Passover lamb of the feast and of the Old Testament symbolized God’s great Passover Lamb, Jesus Christ. Christ our Passover is sacrificed for us; therefore, we must purge the leaven, the sin and its corrupting influence, out of our lives. We must purge all sin out and take the blood of Jesus Christ and cover ourselves and our houses if we wish God’s judgment to pass over us.

Now note the point: if we continue to practice and to accept sin, it proves that we do not really believe that the blood of Christ cleanses us. Accepting and living in sin proves that we have no interest in being free from sin. Accepting and living in sin proves that we love sin—that we like what sin can do for us so much that we are unwilling to purge it out of our lives and church. If we allow the old leaven, the old sin in our lives and churches, it shows that we have little interest in a clean and pure life. It shows God that we care little for the cleansing power of the blood of Christ our Passover. The point is forceful, and it is a warning. Therefore, we must purge out the old leaven, the old sins from both our lives and our church.

“The next day John seeth Jesus coming unto him, And saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world” (Jn.1:29).

“Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father” (Gal.1:4).

“And walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren” (1 Jn.3:16).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

3 (5:8) Church, Duty: the church must keep the feast, that is, it must clean itself out. The point is as clearly stated as possible: the church must keep itself clean and pure. It must not allow malice and wickedness into its fellowship. It must live a life of sincerity and truth. Note five points.

1. The word “malice” indicates that some in the church were apparently opposing the shameful man’s presence in the church. But those who supported the man stood their ground, and malice set in between the two groups.

2. The word “wickedness” (ponerias) means more than just sin and coming short. It means taking pleasure in evil. The church must purge itself of its pride in prestigious men who were living in shameful sin. Such wickedness must be purged out.

3. The word “sincerity” (eilikpinias) means pure, clear, transparent. It is something through which the sunlight can pass indicating a flawless purity.

4. The word “truth” (aletheias) means unadulterated, conformed to the nature of whatever is true. God is truth; therefore, it means to be like God. It means to live and do the truth; therefore, the church must do precisely what is right. It must discipline both itself and the shameful man. The church must purge out the sin within itself.

5. The words “let us keep” are in the present tense, which means continuous action. The church must continue to keep the feast, continue to purge out the old leaven of sin and its corrupting influences. It must not only discipline itself and the man who is living in shameful sin, it must continue to keep itself pure, to continue celebrating the feast of purity before God.

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world” (2 Cor.1:12).

“For we are not as many, which corrupt the word of God: but as of sincerity, but as of God, in the sight of God speak we in Christ” (2 Cor.2:17).

“This I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment; that ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:9-10).

“In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity” (Tit.2:7).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:18).

4 (5:9-10) Church, Duty: the church must separate itself from the world, but not entirely. Paul had apparently written an earlier epistle or letter to the Corinthians. He had charged them to do exactly what he was now saying: do not keep close company with those who live for sin and this world. The word “company” (sunanamignusthai) means to mix up. Paul had mentioned four types of shameful sins that were to be kept out of the church and separate from believers.

1. The church was not to become mixed with the fornicators of this world. The word “fornication” means all kinds of immoral sexual acts. It includes adultery, pre-marital sex, homosexuality, and all forms of sexual deviation. Those who practice immorality are not to be part of the fellowship of the church. Believers are not to keep close fellowship with them.

“And likewise also the man, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate [homosexuals], nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

2. The church was not to become mixed up with the covetous (pleonektais) of this world. The word means those who seek for more and more while millions within the world are dying from sin, hunger, disease, and poverty. This is a sin that is especially despised by God (see outline and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; Lk.16:19-31).

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour’s” (Ex.20:17).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!” (Hab.2:9).

3. The church was not to become mixed up with the extortioners (harpaxin) of the world. These are the thieves, hijackers, grafters, and those who take advantage of the poor in order to get more gain for themselves. Again, these are especially despised by God because of their unreal view of the world, a world that reels under the weight of so many gripped by poverty, disease, sin, and death.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you” (Lk.3:13).

“How long will ye judge unjustly, and accept the persons of the wicked?” (Ps.82:2).

“He that oppresseth the poor reproacheth his Maker: but he that honoureth him hath mercy on the poor” (Pr.14:31).

“An unjust man is an abomination to the just” (Pr.29:27).

“Woe unto them that decree unrighteous decrees, and that write grievousness which they have prescribed; to turn aside the needy from judgment, and to take away the right from the poor of my people, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherless!” (Is.10:1-2).

“In thee have they taken gifts to shed blood; thou hast taken usury and increase, and thou hast greedily gained of thy neighbors by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God” (Ezk.22:12).

“Forasmuch therefore as your treading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat; ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them” (Amos 5:11).

4. The church was not to become mixed up with the idolaters (eidololatrais) of the world. The word means those who either worship false gods or do not have a right relationship with God. Idolatry, of course, includes all unbelievers; for any person who does not truly worship God is worshipping something else, some idol, even if the idol is self and the possessions of this world.

“Little children, keep yourselves from idols” (1 Jn.5:21).

“Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth” (Ex.20:4).

“Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them” (Dt.11:16).

“There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god” (Ps.81:9).

“I am the Lord; that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another [not even to self], neither my praise to graven images” (Is.42:8).

Now, note the point. The church and its believers cannot go out of the world; therefore, some contact with the unbelievers of the world is necessary. This is understandable to any thinking and honest person. However, it is also understandable that the church must not become mixed up with the shameful sinners of the world. The church and its believers must be separate in their behavior and fellowship. The church and the believers are to be holy and pure and righteous before God and to hold up the banner of holiness and purity and righteousness before the people of the world. Believers are in the world, but they must not be of the world.

“If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you” (Jn.15:19).

“And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation” (Acts 2:40).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them” (Eph.5:11).

“Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us” (2 Th.3:6).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

5 (5:11) Church, Duty: the church must separate itself even from shameful sinners who call themselves “brothers.” Note the difference between this charge and the former command. The former charge has to do with the sinner out in the world. This charge has to do with the sinner in the church. Sometimes a professing believer returns to the shameful sins of the world and stays there, refusing to repent. Of course, the church is to seek to restore the man; the church is to take the steps spelled out by Christ (see outline and notes—Mt.18:15-20 for a clear discussion of what a church should do when a professing brother sins). However, if the man refuses to respond and repent after the gracious attempts at restoration have been made, the church has no choice but to separate itself from the man.

Note that two sins are added in this verse.

- ⇒ The railer (loidoros) is a person who rants and scolds; reviles and abuses; uses insolent, abusive, and slanderous language.
- ⇒ The drunkard is a person who intoxicates himself with alcoholic beverages and drugs, a person who deadens his faculties through alcohol and drugs.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth” (1 Jn.3:18).

“And they remembered that God was their Rock, and the high God their Redeemer. Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues” (Ps.78:35-36).

“Fervent lips and a wicked heart are like an earthen vessel overlaid with silver dross” (Pr.26:23).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness. And, lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not” (Ezk.33:31-32).

6 (5:12-13) Church, Duty: the church must judge only those “within” the church; God judges those who are “without,” that is, the unbelievers. No believer and no church is to try to exercise discipline upon unbelievers out in the world. Judgment of unbelievers is in God’s hands. However, the church is to exercise discipline within the church. Therefore, the shameful sinner who refuses to repent must be dismissed from the church. (See notes—Mt.18:15-20; 1 Cor.5:3-5 for detailed discussion of what the church is to do with offending believers.)

“Moreover if thy brother shall trespass against thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he shall hear thee, thou hast gained thy brother. But if he will not hear thee, then take with thee one or two more, that in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established. And if he shall neglect to hear them, tell it unto the church: but if he neglect to hear the church, let him be unto thee as an heathen man and a publican” (Mt.18:15-17).

“Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. Take heed to yourselves: If thy brother trespass against thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him” (Lk.17:1-3).

“And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the decrees for to keep, that were ordained of the apostles and elders which were at Jerusalem” (Acts 16:4).

“Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear” (1 Tim.5:20).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

“This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith” (Tit.1:13).

“These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee” (Tit.2:15).

“A man that is an heretic after the first and second admonition reject” (Tit.3:10).

“Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you” (Heb.13:17).

DIVISION III

THE MORAL LAXITY IN THE CHURCH, 5:1-6:20

C. A Case of Legal Dispute, 6:1-8

(6:1-8) Another Outline: A Case of Legal Dispute.

1. The legal dispute should be settled by saints (v.1).
2. The saints have the highest exalted authority (v.2).
3. The standards of Christians are different from the standards of the world (v.4).
4. The great Christian principle: the believer ought to suffer wrong rather than do wrong (v.6).

(6:1-8) Legal Disputes: this passage deals only with disputes between Christian brothers. It says nothing about going to court against unbelievers, the heathen. Note that Paul uses a progressive argument. He progresses from question to question, building reason upon reason until he reaches the great Christian principle itself: the believer ought to suffer wrong rather than run the risk of doing wrong.

1. Question 1: Do you dare go before the unjust world instead of saints to settle legal matters between Christian brothers (v.1)?
2. Question 2: Do you not know your high and exalted authority (v.2-3)?
3. Question 3: Do you choose unbelievers as judges who have no standing in the church (v.4)?
4. Question 4: Is there not a wise man in the church (v.5-6)?
5. Question 5: Why not give in—suffer being cheated rather than running the risk of cheating a brother (v.7-8)?

1 (6:1) Legal Suits—Court—Justice: the first question—do you dare go before the unjust world instead of saints to settle matters between Christian brothers? The thought in the Greek is forceful: How dare you—you who are the saints of God—go to law before the unjust of the world!

Believers are not to be disputing and arguing over rights and authority nor over the things and possessions of this world. They are to be working and using what they earn for Christ and His cause to reach the masses of humanity who are lost and dying from starvation, disease, poverty, and sin.

This was not the case within the Corinthian church, however. The church was divided, and there were apparently some who had sought legal judgment against some others. Whether the judgment involved rights within the church or actual property, or a dispute over some matter between two or more individuals is not known. There was simply a problem of legal dispute, and the opposing parties had sought secular judgment.

Note that the two conflicting parties were believers; the secular judges were unbelievers. Note also that the secular judges are called “the unjust.” This does not mean that the world’s judges were legally unjust, that is, that the believers might not get a fair trial. It is only referring to unbelievers as a class of people who are unjust or unjustified before God. It is contrasting the church with the world, the believer with the unbeliever. Believers are to settle their disputes between themselves within their own Christian society and be governed by the life of Christ and the law of God. In God’s eyes it is wrong for believers to go to law against each other before the world’s judges. There are at least three reasons why it is wrong.

1. Believers who settle differences before the world reproach and damage the name of Christ and the testimony of the church. There is no disputing this fact. It happens every time; there is no escape from the terrible tragedy: the name of Christ is always hurt when believers carry their differences before the world.

Thought 1. The fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith (trust), meekness, and self-control; and it is the fruit of the Spirit that is so desperately needed by the world. But what the world receives from disputing Christians is anything but love and the fruit of God's Spirit. There is a devastating difference between the testimonies of peace and conflict, joy and tension, love and anger. Just picture the scene, the awfulness of the scene as God sees it: two believers, two people who really trust God, standing before a judge who rejects and rebels against God. And they are asking him to judge between them instead of asking God or some Christian leader to help them see the matter clearly. Just imagine what God thinks of the two conflicting brothers!

2. Believers who settle differences before the world fail the Lord and fail Him miserably. How? They fail to govern their affairs by the life of Christ and the law of God. They go before unbelievers who do not govern affairs by the law of Christ nor by the law of God. Believers are to live by Christ and His Word, not by the standards and rules of the world. Believers are to salt and permeate the world, not the other way around. Believers are to be the standard for the world; they are not to accept and live by the standards of the world.

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

3. Believers have both the Holy Spirit and Christ-centered leaders to help them determine God's wisdom. Every genuine believer is indwelt by the Spirit of God, and has leaders within his church who can give him spiritual counsel. God has given His Spirit to His people for the very purpose of guiding and teaching them. He has also given spiritual leaders for the same purpose. It is God's will for believers who have conflicts to seek the guidance of His Spirit and church.

“If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him” (Jas.1:5).

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“But the comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you” (Jn.14:26).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his....For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:9, 13).

“Which thing also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual” (1 Cor.2:13).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

Thought 1. The church and its believers must begin to live as God and His Word instructs. A different lifestyle must be seen; a Christian lifestyle of love and purity, care and concern, discipline and godly justice must be held up ever so highly for the world to see. It is the only conceivable way the world can ever see real love and godly justice and have its desperate needs met. In particular the leaders of the church and its believers must surrender their lives and give all they have to live as God instructs. They are especially held accountable to see to it that the love and wisdom of God are ministered to His people.

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law” (Ro.13:8-10).

2 (6:2-3) Reward—Believers, Position: the second question—do you not know your high and exalted authority? These two verses state clearly that believers are to judge all disputes between themselves. They are to judge “the smallest matters” (v.2) and the “things that pertain to this life” (v.3). There is one supreme reason believers are not to go before the world for judgment:

⇒ Believers are to judge and govern the world. In fact, they are to even judge and govern angels in the next world.

Therefore, conflicting believers lower themselves, lose their dignity as saints, and walk out of their exalted position when they secure a verdict from the world.

1. The word “judge” means the right and power to govern, administer affairs, rule, hold authority, supervise, oversee, and judge. This glorious right and power is to be given to the believer when Christ returns to rule and govern the whole universe. Paul is telling believers that they shall direct and oversee the world and angels. Christ told the apostles that they shall govern and oversee Israel (Mt.10:28). The assignment of responsibility, duty, and work is taught throughout Scripture. There is to be judging, that is, governing, supervision, and oversight throughout eternity. All this activity and responsibility is, of course, for and under Christ.

For some unknown reason we so often picture eternal life as some dreamy sleep or semi-conscious type of existence or some future existence that puts us on a fluffy cloud. Eternal life is often pictured as floating around in an eternal state of inactivity. Why man cannot accept the simple statement of Christ that life is to be eternal is difficult to understand. Eternal life is life that goes on and on. There is, however, one basic difference: life shall be perfected, perfected in body, mind, and spirit. It is life lived in the midst of a new heaven and earth (perfected)—life lived before Christ and responsible to Christ in all that is assigned (Jn.3:16; 5:24; Ro.8:19-23; 2 Pt.3:9-18; 1 Jn.5:11-13; Rev.21:1).

2. The rule and reign of believers is a fact. It is a fact so sure and certain that the Bible speaks of it in the present. The words “the world shall be judged by you” are literally “is being judged.” The rule and reign of the believer is an absolute fact.

“And Jesus said unto them, Verily I say unto you, That ye which have followed me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of his glory, ye also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel” (Mt.19:28. See note—Mt.19:28.)

“And he saith unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with: but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father” (Mt.20:23).

“That ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel” (Lk.22:30).

“For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son” (Jn.5:22).

“And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together” (Ro.8:17).

“And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus: that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:6-7).

“If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us” (2 Tim.2:12).

“For unto the angels hath he not put in subjection the world to come, whereof we speak. But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him? thou madest him a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands: thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him. But we see Jesus who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man” (Heb.2:5-9).

“And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers: even as I received of my Father” (Rev.2:26-27).

“And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years” (Rev.20:4).

“And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away” (Rev.21:1).

“And I will restore thy judges as at the first, and thy counselors as at the beginning: afterward thou shalt be called, The city of righteousness, the faithful city” (Is.1:26).

“For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind” (Is.65:17).

“Until the Ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the most High; and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom” (Dan.7:22).

3 (6:4) Church, Problems: the third question—do you choose unbelievers as judges? In the Greek this sentence is emphatic: the unbelievers are...

- as nothing in the church.
- of no account in judging matters in the church.
- not held in high esteem within the church.
- of no standing in the church.

The unbelievers do not live by the life of Christ nor by the standards of God. How then can they stand before believers and judge matters in the spirit of Christ and by God's standards? Just think how far these Corinthian believers had fallen from their exalted position given them in Christ! Just think how far some believers and churches have fallen in our day from their exalted position in Christ Jesus our Lord!

4 (6:5-6) Church, Problems: the fourth question—is there not a wise man in the church? The need is for shame and embarrassment. Anyone who would walk off from an exalted position and turn away from the wisdom of God in order to secure advice from a person with no standing in God's government needs to be shamed. The question is dramatic and pointed: is there not a single wise man among you? No, not even one that can arbitrate and give a simple judgment when conflicts arise? The thrust is twofold:

1. There is no excuse for conflict among brothers, for believers going to law against one another.
2. There is especially no excuse for conflicting brothers going to law before the unbelievers of the world.

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?” (1 Cor.3:3).

“But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers” (1 Cor.6:6).

“But now are they many members, yet but one body” (1 Cor.12:20).

“I beseech Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of the same mind in the Lord” (Ph.4:2).

5 (6:7-8) Church, Problems: the fifth question—why not give in? Why not suffer being wronged and cheated rather than running the risk of wronging and cheating a brother? Note two points.

1. The word “fault” means defeat. The very fact of engaging in legal disputes is a defeat, clear evidence of hurt and damage. Just think of who is hurt and damaged when believers engage in legal disputes:

- ⇒ The parties themselves suffer pain, tension, anger, and an innumerable list of other hurtful emotions.
- ⇒ The church suffers the loss of its testimony for Christ and the pain of being known as hypocritical.
- ⇒ The unbelievers suffer by being turned off by those who profess love, joy, and peace, and yet who show the very opposite. They suffer having their opportunity to be saved erased even more. How many unbelievers have been doomed because of the irresponsible behavior of believers before the world?
- ⇒ Christ suffers because His people are not holding high the banner of His witness, but rather are causing it to be distasteful and cursed.

What an indictment against any believer who causes so much suffering!

“And unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheek offer also the other; and him that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also” (Lk.6:29).

“Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men” (Ro.12:17).

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

“Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear any grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the LORD” (Lev.19:18).

“Say not thou, I will recompense evil; but wait on the LORD, and he shall save thee” (Pr.20:22).

“Say not, I will do so to him as he hath done to me: I will render to the man according to his work” (Pr.24:29).

2. Some of the Corinthian believers were guilty (v.8). They wanted their rights and more. They wanted some of the things which their brothers had; therefore, they went after them. Note: they did not steal them outrightly; they sought them by legal means. They used the legal system of the world to defraud their brothers. The world called it legal, but it was cheating and stealing to God. It was sin, a terrible injustice.

“Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess” (Mt.23:25).

“Better is a little with righteousness, than great revenues without right” (Pr.16:8).

“The getting of treasures by a lying tongue is a vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death” (Pr.21:6).

“As the partridge sitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not; so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his days, and at his end shall be a fool” (Jer.17:11).

DIVISION III

THE MORAL LAXITY IN THE CHURCH, 5:1-6:20

D. A Case Against Unrighteous Character, 6:9-11

(6:9-11) Introduction: this is a shocking passage, for it deals with sins that most people think would never cause God to condemn and reject them—sins that are acceptable and practiced to minor degrees by many in society. Yet God pulls no punches: no church membership, no religion, no profession, no good works—nothing can save a person if he practices these sins.

1. A shocking but critical question (v.9).
2. The deceptive sins that stimulate the flesh: are often thought not to be fatal (v.9).
3. The deceptive sins that seek gain: are often thought not to be fatal (v.10).
4. The power of Christ (v.11).

1 (6:9) Kingdom of God: this is a shocking but critical question that must be made known to every person. "Do you not know that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?" People must know the facts: if God is righteous, then people must live righteous lives in order to be accepted by Him. However, people ignore the fact of God's righteousness and His demand for righteousness. People divorce their behavior from religion. People...

- profess religion
- practice religion
- talk religion
- defend their beliefs about religion

However, they go ahead and live like they want regardless of their religion. If they want to do something, they do it feeling that God will forgive them. There are few people who think that God will reject them. They feel that they will have done enough good to be acceptable to God...

- enough kindness
- enough religion
- enough works
- enough service

In the final analysis, most people just think that God will accept them. This attitude comes from a false concept of God, a concept that looks upon God as a father who is indulgent and who gives his children the license to do some wrong.

This is a fatal mistake. It was the mistake that some of the Corinthian church members were making, and it is the same mistake that teeming multitudes of religious people have made down through the centuries.

"Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?" (v.9).

Believers are to inherit a kingdom, a new heaven and earth where God will rule and reign. They are to be given eternal life and given the glorious privilege of being citizens in God's kingdom and world. They are to live with Him and serve Him in perfection for all eternity. (See note, Reward—1 Cor.6:2-3; Lk.16:10-12 for more discussion.) But this glorious privilege is to be given only to genuine believers, those men and women who have truly given their lives to the Lord Jesus Christ—given their lives to live as Jesus Christ says to live. No matter how religious a person is—no matter how much zeal a person may have in keeping religious rituals and in attending services and in giving to charity—if he does not live a pure and righteous life, he "shall not inherit the kingdom of God."

"Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?" (v.9).

2 (6:9) Sin—Deception: the deceptive sins that stimulate the flesh are often considered not fatal. The reason is clearly seen. Note that all the sins mentioned in this verse are sins that arouse man's flesh. He derives great pleasure from them. It is man's nature to desire the arousal of his flesh; therefore, man tends to think that meeting the needs of his nature is not wrong. He tends to think that he cannot be blamed for doing what is natural, even if he does perhaps go overboard every now and then. The point is this: a person who practices these sins is unrighteous in God's eyes. He "shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived."

1 CORINTHIANS 6:9-11

1. Fornicators "shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived." Fornicators (pornoï) are those who engage in all forms of sexual and immoral acts. It includes pre-marital sex, adultery, abnormal sex, and all other kinds of sexual vice.

"And likewise also the man, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet" (Ro.1:27).

"Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind" (1 Cor.6:9).

"Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....[but] they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God" (Gal.5:19, 21).

"Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness" (Eph.4:19).

"But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints" (Eph.5:3).

"For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication" (1 Th.4:3).

"For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire" (Jude 4, 7).

2. Idolaters "shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived." Idolaters (eidololatrai) are not just people who worship idols and images of metal, wood, and stone. In the Scripture idolatry is the sin of the mind and body against God. Idolatry is basically two things.

a. Idolatry is working up concepts and ideas of God that are not true—ideas that are not true to the revelation of the Scriptures and of Jesus Christ. Men have concepts and ideas of what God is like. If their ideas are not what Scripture and Jesus Christ say, then they are worshipping an idol of their own mind. This is easily understood by the honest man. What man has ever seen God? Have you? Have I? No, for God is invisible. He is of another dimension of being entirely, the spiritual dimension. Therefore, if God is to be known, He has to love us enough to reveal Himself. And note: once He has revealed Himself, any idea or concept other than what He has revealed becomes an idol.

This is the very point: God has loved the world. He has revealed Himself in His Son Jesus Christ and through His Word, the Holy Scripture. Therefore, an idolater is anyone who strikes out on his own and works up concepts and ideas of God that are against what Jesus Christ and the Scripture reveal.

"Howbeit then, when ye knew not God, ye did service unto them which by nature are no gods. But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements [human notions, ideas], whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?" (Gal.4:8-9).

"Among whom also we all had our conversation [behavior] in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others" (Eph.2:3).

"Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools....Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature [even man himself] more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever" (Ro.1:22, 25).

"For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries" (1 Pt.4:3).

b. Idolatry is putting something else before God. As Scripture says, covetousness is idolatry. An idolater is a person who gives his mind and body—thoughts, time, energy, efforts, loyalty—to something other than to God. Idolatry is the sin of the mind and body against God; it is the failure to look up to God and acknowledge Him; the failure to give one's life to Him including one's thoughts, time, energy, and effort—one's loyalty and worship. Idolatry is putting other things before God:

- |              |              |               |            |
|--------------|--------------|---------------|------------|
| ⇒ money      | ⇒ recreation | ⇒ power       | ⇒ luxury   |
| ⇒ profession | ⇒ popularity | ⇒ recognition | ⇒ pleasure |
| ⇒ family     | ⇒ fame       | ⇒ possessions | ⇒ position |
| ⇒ cars       | ⇒ property   | ⇒ food        | ⇒ esteem   |

“Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry” (1 Cor.10:14).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19-21).

“For this ye know, that no whoremonger, nor unclean person, nor covetous man, who is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God” (Eph.5:5).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry: for which things’ sake the wrath of God cometh on the children of disobedience” (Col.3:5-6).

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death” (Rev.21:8).

“For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie” (Rev.22:15).

3. Adulterers “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” Adulterers (moichoi) are those...
- who are sexually unfaithful to their wife or husband.
  - who look on a woman or a man to lust after her or him. Looking at and lusting after the opposite sex in person, magazines, books, on beaches or wherever is adultery. Imagining and lusting within the heart is the very same as committing the act.

“But I say unto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices” (2 Pt.2:13-14).

“Thou shalt not commit adultery” (Ex.20:14; cp. Lev.20:10).

“The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, saying, No eye shall see me: and disguiseth his face. In the dark they dig through houses, which they had marked for themselves in the daytime: they know not the light. For the morning is to them even as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death. He is swift as the waters; their portion is cursed in the earth: he beholdeth not the way of the vineyards. Drought and heat consume the snow waters: so doth the grave those which have sinned” (Job 24:15-19).

4. The effeminate (malakoi, women homosexuals) and the abusers of themselves with mankind (arsenokoitai, men homosexuals) “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.”

“For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: and likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:26-27).

“And lest, when I come again, my God will humble me among you, and that I shall bewail many which have sinned already, and have not repented of the uncleanness and fornication and lasciviousness which they have committed” (2 Cor.12:21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“Even as Sodom and Gomorrhah, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 7).

3 (6:10) Sin—Deception: the deceptive sins that seek gain are often considered not to be fatal. Again, the reason is they are so common among mankind. Many people practice these sins to varying degrees, accepting them as common and understood behavior. Granted, the degree of committing the sins is minor for most people; nevertheless, many still stand guilty before God, and Scripture says they “shall not inherit the kingdom of God.”

1. Thieves “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” The word used here for thieves (kleptai) does not mean just the professional thief who lives by stealing. It means the petty, sneak thief: the shoplifter, the person who steals things here and there.

“Thou shalt not steal” (Ex.20:15).

“When thou comest into thy neighbor’s vineyard, then thou mayest eat grapes thy fill at thine own pleasure; but thou shalt not put any in thy vessel” (Dt.23:24).

“Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself” (Ro.13:8-9).

1 CORINTHIANS 6:9-11

“Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour, working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may minister grace unto the hearers” (Eph.4:28).

“Not purloining [stealing], but shewing all good fidelity; that they may adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour in all things” (Tit.2:10).

“But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men’s matters” (1 Pt.4:15).

2. The covetous “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” The “covetous” (pleonektai) are those...

- who always want more and more.
- who are never satisfied with what they have.
- who want more and more to spend in pleasure and luxury.
- who crave after possessions, pleasure, fame, power.
- who bank and store up and hoard, ignoring and neglecting the desperate needs of teeming millions who are dying from hunger, disease, poverty, and sin. (See outline and notes—Mt.19:16-22; 19:23-26; Lk.16:19-31 for more discussion.)

“And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man’s life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth” (Lk.12:15).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“Mortify therefore your members which are upon the earth; fornication, uncleanness, inordinate affection, evil concupiscence, and covetousness, which is idolatry” (Col.3:5).

“Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee” (Heb.13:5).

“Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbour’s wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbour’s” (Ex.20:17).

“For the wicked boasteth of his heart’s desire, and blesseth the covetous, whom the LORD abhorreth” (Ps.10:3).

“For from the least of them even unto the greatest of them every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest every one dealeth falsely” (Jer.6:13).

“And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they shew much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness” (Ezk.33:31).

“And they covet fields, and take them by violence; and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage” (Mic.2:2).

“Woe to him that coveteth an evil covetousness to his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the power of evil!” (Hab.2:9).

3. Drunkards “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” “Drunkards” (methusoi) are people who take drink and drugs to affect their senses for lust and pleasure; who seek to be tipsy or intoxicated; who seek to loosen their moral restraints for the sake of bodily pleasure.

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying” (Ro.13:13).

“Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God” (1 Cor.6:10).

“And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess” (Eph.5:18).

“For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night” (1 Th.5:7).

“Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging: and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise” (Pr.20:1).

“Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes? They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek mixed wine” (Pr.23:29-30).

“Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that continue until night, till wine inflame them!” (Is.5:11).

“For while they be folden together as thorns, and while they are drunken as drunkards, they shall be devoured as stubble fully dry” (Nah.1:10).

4. Revilers “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” Revilers (loidoroi) are people who abuse others through scolding, ranting and raving, insolent and abusive language, cursing and slanderous language.

“As with a sword in my bones, mine enemies reproach me; while they say daily unto me, Where is thy God” (Ps.42:10).

“They that sit in the gate speak against me; and I was the song of the drunkard” (Ps.69:12).

“The proud have had me greatly in derision: yet have I not declined from thy law” (Ps.119:51).

“And the Pharisees also, who were covetous, heard all these things: and they derided him” (Lk.16:14).

“And the people stood beholding. And the rulers also with them derided him, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if he be Christ, the chosen of God” (Lk.23:35).

5. Extortioners “shall not inherit the kingdom of God. Be not deceived.” Extortioners (harpages) are persons who take money and things from others either by scheme or force. They take advantage of the poor, the ignorant, the innocent, the unsuspecting, and sometimes even family and friends. They use whoever and whatever means they can to get what they want. They grasp to get more and more.

Now note the conclusion of this list of sins: none of these persons “shall inherit the kingdom of God.” It does not matter what we think or say. God is as clear as He can be: the persons who practice these sins “shall not inherit the kingdom of God.”

4 (6:11) Conversion—Salvation—Jesus Christ, Power: there is the power of Christ. Note four points.

1. “Such were some of you” is abrupt and forceful. It is a revolutionary statement. Some of the Corinthians had been living in the terrible sins just mentioned, but no more. They had been converted and radically changed by Jesus Christ.

Note that the word “but” is repeated three times in this verse. It stresses the revolutionary change that the power of Christ works in a life that truly gives itself to Christ.

2. The word “washed” (apelousasthe) means to wash off, to wash away. It means that a person comes to Jesus Christ to have his sins washed away, and when he comes, Jesus actually washes his sins away. The word is in the Greek aorist tense which is the past tense; that is, it is referring to their conversion experience. When the believer is washed from sin he is supposed to be washed and cleansed. Sin and its defilement are supposed to be washed away forever. By the power of Christ, the believer is supposed to stay away from the dirt and the filth of the world.

“Now ye are clean through the word which I have spoken unto you” (Jn.15:3).

“And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord” (Acts 22:16).

“And such were some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God” (1 Cor.6:11).

“Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God” (2 Cor.7:1).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word” (Eph.5:25-26).

“Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded” (Jas.4:8).

“And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge [wash, cleanse] your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:14).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin” (Ps.51:2).

“Help us, O God of our salvation, for the glory of thy name: and deliver us, and purge away our sins, for thy name’s sake” (Ps.79:9).

“O Jerusalem, wash thine heart from wickedness, that thou mayest be saved. How long shall thy vain thoughts lodge within thee?” (Jer.4:14).

3. The word “sanctified” is also in the aorist tense. It, too, refers to the believer’s salvation experience. The Lord Jesus Christ set the believer apart unto God, and the experience was supposed to be a once-for-all event. The believer is not to return to the world and to its polluting sins. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Sanctification—1 Cor.1:2 for meaning and discussion.)

“Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth” (Jn.17:17).

“But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption” (1 Cor.1:30).

“If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master’s use, and prepared unto every good work” (2 Tim.2:21).

“Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate” (Heb.13:12).

“Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied” (1 Pt.1:2).

4. The word “justified” is probably the most glorious and unbelievable truth known to man. In the simplest of terms, this is what justification means: God takes a person’s faith in Jesus Christ and counts his faith as righteousness (see notes—2 Cor.5:18-19; 5:21; Ro.4:1-3; 4:1-2; 5:1 for detailed discussion). When a person genuinely believes in Jesus Christ, God credits that person’s faith as righteousness. The person is not righteous; he knows he has no righteousness of his own. He knows he is imperfect. He knows he is short of God’s glory as a sinful human being. But he truly believes that Jesus Christ died for his sins, and he wants to surrender his life and worship to Jesus Christ. Such belief honors God’s Son (whom God loves with an eternal love), and because it honors God’s Son, God accepts that person’s faith for righteousness. Therefore, the person becomes acceptable to God. (In a discussion of justification a person’s belief—the right kind of belief—is critical. See DEEPER STUDY # 2—Jn.2:24; Ro.10:16-17.)

Note the words “in the name of the Lord Jesus.” To believe “in the name of the Lord Jesus” means that the person stakes his life upon Jesus. He trusts Jesus Christ...

- to take care of his past: his sins and guilt, his rebellion and rejection of God.
- to take care of his present: his life and welfare while on this earth.
- to take care of his future: his eternal destiny and the inheritance of eternal life and God’s kingdom.

“And he [Abraham] believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteousness” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law” (Ro.3:28).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

DIVISION III

THE MORAL LAXITY IN THE CHURCH, 5:1-6:20

E. A Case Against the Indulgence of the Human Body, 6:12-20

(6:12-20) Introduction: the human body is abused more than any other single thing on earth. Men develop and expend most of their resources on “things” and machines that damage and kill the human body. In comparison, little is spent on saving and nurturing the human body. If there is any single thing that proves man’s utter depravity, it is how he treats his own human body. The present passage deals with this problem. It is God’s case against the indulgence of the human body.

1. Principles of Christian liberty (v.12).
2. The body is not designed for desires and urges (v.13-14).
3. The body is designed to be a member of Christ (v.15-18).
4. The body is designed to be the temple of the Holy Spirit (v.19).
5. The body and spirit are both designed to glorify God (v.20).

1 (6:12) Liberty, Christian: the principle of Christian liberty and freedom or the idea that “all things are lawful to me” is a subject that desperately needs to be discussed. People always have and always will look upon the desires and urges of the body...

- as normal functions.
- as natural instincts.
- as needing to be fulfilled.

Therefore, they set out to fulfill the desires of their body. In fact, their body—its beauty and health and satisfaction—becomes the primary purpose of their lives. They work, eat, sleep, and socialize to fulfill the body’s desires and urges. Whatever their bodies desire is what they go after, and they see absolutely nothing wrong with satisfying their desires, for the desire is a natural function of their body.

The point is this, and it is surprising to many in the world: the Scripture not only agrees with a person’s liberty and freedom, it teaches personal liberty and freedom. Personal liberty is taught throughout Scripture under the subject of Christian liberty.

Now note the clear statement: “All things are lawful unto me.” God has made man and his body, and He has made everything in the world, and it is all good. Therefore, all things are lawful to a person. However, there are two restrictions that are clearly seen and logical to a thinking and honest person.

1. The first restriction is that all things are not expedient (sumpherei). The word means helpful, worthwhile, advisable, and profitable. For example, it is helpful to eat fish; it is unprofitable to eat poison berries. It is advisable to keep active for the sake of the body; it is harmful to lie around and become inactive. Note that doing any of these activities is lawful, but two of them are not good and profitable.

2. The second restriction is that all things are not wise: some things enslave; they do not build self-image and self-respect. Note the strong statement of Paul: “All things are lawful to me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.” No man is to become a slave to anything on this earth. Man is supposed to control all things upon earth and to be enslaved by none of them: not food, drink, drug, substance, desire, urge, or anything else. Man is to preserve his self-control; he is to control the substances of this earth and not be controlled by them. The health of his body and its emotions, of his mind and its intelligence, of his spirit and its destiny depends upon his controlling his body and not allowing it to become enslaved to the things of this earth.

Thought 1. Indulging the appetites of the body is one of the great sins of believers. No matter what society may accept and we may think, it is a gross sin to allow our bodies to become enslaved by any substance or thing on this earth.

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate [controlled, disciplined] in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

“...meekness, temperance [self-control]: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:23).

“That the aged men be sober, grave, temperate [self-controlled], sound in faith, in charity, in patience” (Tit.2:2).

“Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations” (1 Pt.1:5-6).

2 (6:13-14) Body: the body is not designed for desires and urges. In Paul’s day what we call fornication and immorality was an acceptable practice within society, and the practice was carried over into the church by some of its members. The members were apparently using the argument of the society of their day. Note that the argument was the age old argument that is so often heard in every generation. Glance at the verse again and watch the natural progression of the argument that we so often hear:

⇒ Just as the body desires food and must have food for normal functioning, so the body desires sex and must have sex for normal functioning.

⇒ The desires of the body are normal and natural; therefore, satisfying the normal function is only the natural thing to do. It could not be wrong, no matter who says it is.

Every generation has its own way to express the same argument:

⇒ “I’m just doing my own thing.”

⇒ “I’m just doing what comes naturally.”

⇒ “I’m just following my instincts.”

Note what Scripture says about this argument.

1. The body is not designed for the stomach nor for food. Contrariwise, the stomach and food are designed for the body. Therefore, the body is to control the stomach and food. It is not to become the slave...

- to the urges and desires of the stomach.
- to the appeal of the looks, smell, and taste of food.

The body is to be fed as needed and looked after. Therefore, the body is to use its stomach to fulfill its function as part of the body, but it is not to become the slave to the stomach and food. It is not to lose control and give in to indulgence. This is clearly seen in another point as well. The stomach and food are only temporary. The day is coming when their function will be destroyed, that is, brought to nothing and no longer needed. Men will be transformed and their bodies perfected. (Cp. Ph.3:20-21.)

The point is this: the stomach and food have their purpose; therefore, they are to be used for that purpose and for that purpose alone. They are to feed the body, not control the body. Man is not to indulge his stomach and give in to its urges, letting it enslave his body.

“Whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things” (Ph.3:19).

“He that laboreth, laboreth for himself; for his mouth craveth it of him” (Pr.16:26).

“And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite” (Pr.23:2).

“All the labor of man is for his mouth, and yet the appetite is not filled” (Eccl.6:7).

2. The body is not designed for fornication and sexual gratification. Sex is part of life, and it has its place in carrying on the human race and in building an intimate and strong union and foundation for the family. But again, sex was given for the body; the body was not created for sex. Sex belongs to the body; the body does not belong to sex. The body is not to be given over as a slave to sex; sex is to serve the body. The body is to control sex, not sex the body.

“And likewise also the man, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....[but] they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

3. The body is designed for the Lord and the Lord for the body. Note two things carefully:

- a. God created the body of man to worship, praise, and serve Him. This is the first reason these bodies of ours exist.

“Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve” (Mt.4:10).

“That in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus” (Eph.2:7).

“Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness” (Ps.29:2).

“O worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness: fear before him, all the earth” (Ps.96:9).

“Exalt ye the LORD our God, and worship at his footstool; for he is holy” (Ps.99:5).

“Ye are my witnesses, saith the LORD, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me” (Is.43:10).

- b. God created the body of man for the Lord to dwell in. This is the meaning of the phrase: “the Lord for the body.”

4. The body is destined to be resurrected; it will not lie in the grave forever. Just as God raised up the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead, so He shall raise up our bodies from the dead.

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live....Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation” (Jn.5:25, 28-29).

“And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day” (Jn.6:40).

“Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?” (Jn.11:25-26).

“But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept” (1 Cor.15:20; cp. v.12-56).

“Knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you” (2 Cor.4:14).

“Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:21).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him” (1 Th.4:14).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead” (1 Pt.1:3).

- 3 (6:15-18) Body: the body is designed to be a member of Christ. This point is emphatic: note the three forceful questions.

⇒ “Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ?” (v.15).

⇒ “Shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot?” (v.15).

⇒ “Know ye not that he which is joined to an harlot is one body?” (v.16).

The point is critical, so think: ask yourselves these questions. Recall, remember—regain the knowledge of what the Lord teaches. “Your bodies are the members of Christ.” What does this mean? Three things:

⇒ The believer’s body belongs to Christ. Christ died for the believer; He redeemed the believer, paying the ransom for his body. Therefore, the believer owes Christ his life and body (1 Cor.6:20).

⇒ The believer actually receives the divine nature of God when he is converted. He becomes a partaker of God’s very own nature (2 Pt.1:4; cp. 1 Pt.1:23).

⇒ All believers form the body of Christ on earth today. They are united around Christ, around His Spirit, mind, purpose, cause, objective—His life—all that He is.

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one; and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me” (Jn.17:23).

“And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness” (Ro.8:10).

“I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me” (Gal.2:20).

“To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory” (Col.1:27).

“And he that keepeth his commandments dwelleth in him, and he in him. And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us” (1 Jn.3:24).

“Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me” (Rev.3:20).

Now, note the points.

1. The body is not designed to be the member of a harlot nor of any other immoral partner. The body was made to be the member of Christ, which means that we are to honor Him with our bodies. We are to take the sexual drive and energy of our bodies and use them in His name or as He instructed:

- ⇒ either we dedicate our lives solely to Him as eunuchs,
- ⇒ or we marry and build a family with the dynamic virtues of love and care, trust and loyalty.

We are members of Christ, representatives of Him on this earth; therefore, we are not to be joined to an harlot, to any illicit partner. We are not to become one flesh with anyone other than a legitimate spouse, for we are members of Christ and His cause upon this earth.

2. The person joined to the Lord is one spirit. The point is graphic: the believer's union with Christ is much stronger than any physical relationship. How? Christ and the believer become one spirit, and that spirit connects them in the greatest possible union.

- ⇒ The believer receives the mind of Christ.

“For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ” (1 Cor.2:16).

- ⇒ The believer receives the Holy Spirit of Christ (see note—1 Cor.6:19 for discussion and verses).

3. The conclusion of this point is imperative: flee fornication (all forms of immorality), for the person of immorality sins against his own body. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Cor.6:18 for discussion and verses.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(6:18) Immorality—Body: there are five reasons why sexual immorality is a sin against a person's own body.

1. It lowers the person to the level of an animal. It is simply the wrong view of a man. It views man as a beast, ignoring man's spirit. It declares that life is to be lived on the level of passion and instinct, ignoring the life of the spirit.

2. It looks upon the other person only as an instrument, a tool to satisfy urges and passions. It ignores the satisfaction and peace of heart and mind.

3. Sexual immorality corrupts the temple of God. The Bible teaches that man is a child of God's by creation. He possesses spirit as well as physical urges. And when a man truly believes in Christ, Christ is said to dwell within him. This makes the human body the very temple of Christ's presence, which means that the body belongs to Christ. It actually is the body of Christ. Therefore, if a believer commits immorality, he is joining the very body of Christ to an harlot.

4. The true virtues of man's basic nature are deeply affected. For example, man's basic nature is...

- to love and to be loved.
- to give and to receive.
- to live and let live.
- to be loyal and trustworthy.

The list could go on and on. But note something: when a person has an immoral relationship, every one of the basic virtues of man's nature is disturbed. His whole body is affected. His love, loyalty, and life are not focused; they are scattered. All that he is can never again be focused upon one person. One person will never again have his complete love, complete loyalty, or complete life. By nature the man knows this, and it causes reactions in his body: emotional, mental, and physical reactions—all to varying degrees. Nevertheless, the reactions exist.

5. The emotional and mental makeup of a person is affected more deeply than by any other sin. When a person commits an immoral act, he soon feels and senses guilt when he is all alone thinking about his life. The person may not call it guilt; he may say that he just feels bad. But the bad feeling or guilt is a natural result of immorality.

Why does immorality cause a man to sense guilt? Because it is a violation of the law of God. God has built man to take care of his body, of his family, of his society, and to protect the bodies and families of others.

If a person takes a virgin or the wife of someone else, he endangers that person and that family. He damages...

- the person's body: her emotional, mental, and physical nature.
- the family's unity and cohesiveness. He damages the trust and oneness the spouses have in each other, and he damages the security of the children.

A sword of divisiveness sets in, and feelings of guilt and disturbance take over. Loyalty is weakened in the person, the family, and in society.

4 (6:19) Body—Holy Spirit, Temple of: the body is designed to be the temple of the Holy Spirit. (See note, Church—1 Cor.3:16 for more discussion.) This is one of the glorious truths of both Scripture and the Christian experience. The word “body” is singular: each believer is a temple of the Spirit of God.

1. The Holy Spirit actually dwells within the body of the believer.

“Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:17).

“At that day ye shall know that I am in my Father, and ye in me, and I in you” (Jn.14:20).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?” (1 Cor.6:19).

“And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people” (2 Cor.6:16).

“In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit” (Eph.2:22).

“That good thing which was committed unto thee keep by the Holy Ghost which dwelleth in us” (2 Tim.1:14).

“But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him” (1 Jn.2:27).

2. The Holy Spirit is the gift of God. A man does not receive the Spirit of God by working for Him. He receives the Spirit of God as a gift from God.

“Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost” (Acts 2:38).

“Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing [the presence and blessings of the Spirit] shall come from the presense of the Lord” (Acts 3:19).

3. God lays claim to the body. Believers do not own their bodies, not any more. Jesus Christ bought our bodies. Therefore, we are now the servants of God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Ransom—1 Cor.6:20 for discussion.)

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(6:20) Ransom—Redemption: the word “bought” (egorasthete) means to buy in the marketplace of slavery. The idea is that Jesus Christ has paid our ransom and bought us...

- out of our enslavement to sin.
- out of our enslavement to death.
- out of our enslavement to hell.

His death met all the demands of God’s perfect justice. God’s justice was completely satisfied with Jesus Christ...

- taking our sin upon Himself.
- dying for us.
- suffering hell or separation from God for us.

Therefore we are freed, liberated from sin, death, and hell. We are now free to live righteously and eternally in God’s presence—all because Jesus Christ paid our ransom. He is our redemption. (See note—2 Cor.5:21; Eph.1:7.)

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree” (Gal.3:13).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace” (Eph.1:7).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

5 (6:20) Body: the body and spirit are both designed to glorify God. Note that a temple has no other purpose for existing except to house God’s presence. It has but one function—receptivity. Note that the function is not activity. All activities of a temple should be to merely prepare for the reception of God’s presence. The case for taking care of the human body has been stated as clearly as it can be. The body and the spirit of man have been created by God to glorify God. They both belong to God through the redemption that is in Jesus Christ.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“Now the God of patience and consolation grant you to be likeminded one toward another according to Christ Jesus: that ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:5-6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

“Wherefore also we pray always for you, that our God would count you worthy of this calling, and fulfil all the good pleasure of his goodness, and the work of faith with power: that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ” (2 Th.1:11-12).

“Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ” (1 Pt.2:5).

DIVISION IV

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING MARRIAGE, 7:1-40

A. The Question About Celibacy and Marriage, 7:1-7

(7:1-40) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Marriage—Celibacy—Immorality—Society: Corinth was a cesspool of immorality, one of the most immoral cities in the world of its day. All forms of sexual deviations ran rampant and were openly displayed. Loose living was the practice of spouse and neighbor, friend and stranger. Practically everyone dressed to draw attention and to attract, and they peppered their conversation with insinuations to let each other know that they were available and desired. A decent person could not walk down the street without being eyed and thought about by the tempter or temptress. Sex was the goddess of Corinth society. It permeated the government, commerce, recreation, and religion of the Corinthian. It abounded everywhere. (See Introduction, Special Features—1 Corinthians.)

Now, imagine a church of the Lord Jesus Christ sitting in the midst of such an immoral society. Imagine men and women desiring to live pure and godly lives for the Lord Jesus Christ. Imagine the temptations they would face, the pressure to look, touch, and experience; and it was out of such a life that so many had been saved. Think of the enticing temptations and pull that would confront them to return to the world.

Because of all this—the pressure of the temptations that abounded at every bend—the Corinthian believers began to search for the best way to handle the situation. The conclusion of some believers was that celibacy was the best way. They felt that never to touch a woman (or man) was the surest way to stay pure and gain the strength to conquer the temptation. By controlling himself, a person would eventually become so strong that the temptations would have no effect upon him. The idea caught hold, and some, apparently a fair number, began to practice celibacy. There is even indication that some married men and women began to practice celibacy either within the marriage or by leaving their spouses (cp. vs.3-5).

The matter of handling the temptation of fornication and of celibacy had become such an issue that the church needed guidance. Therefore, they wrote and asked Paul what the Lord had taught regarding fornication, celibacy, and marriage. Note Paul's immediate words: "Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote me." Beginning here in Chapter 7, Paul is answering specific questions the church had written and asked him.

(7:1-7) Introduction: the church needs to be concerned about marriage. Believers must understand God's concept of marriage, for marriage is God's institution. He created both man and woman and gave them the union of marriage. Even if society falls apart in the divorce courts of the world, and immorality and cohabitation run rampant, the church of the Lord Jesus Christ must hold high the truth of the marriage bond and union, the truth as it was ordained by God. This passage answers some very practical questions that often nag and cause problems both for the single adult and the married partner.

1. There are special situations for not marrying (v.1).
2. There is a condition necessitating marriage (v.2).
3. There are mutual duties within marriage (v.3).
4. There is to be mutual ownership of one another's body (v.4-6).
5. There is the gift of marriage and the gift of being single (v.7).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(7:1-40) Scripture, Inspiration: throughout this passage Paul is giving a command without directly quoting Christ (cp. vs.6, 10, 12, 25, 40). The Lord had said nothing about this matter. Paul is not disclaiming inspiration, but he is actually claiming the same authority as the Lord's own words. Of course, this does not void the apostolic teaching in any sense.

1 (7:1) Celibacy—Marriage—Moral Purity: there are special situations for not marrying. There are situations that require celibacy. The word “good” (kalon) means advisable, advantageous, expedient, profitable, wholesome. There are times when it is wise not to marry and to take on the responsibilities of marriage. Paul mentions two of the situations in this chapter.

1. First, some “present distress” made it advisable for the unmarried believers not to marry (v.26). What the distress was is not known, but the application to us is clearly seen. There are times when marriage is unwise because of situations arising from the persecutions of Christians, world wars, economic collapse, revolutions, death, obligations, disease, sicknesses, and accidents.

2. Second, God’s will and call need to be closely considered. God calls some men and women to remain unmarried. As Paul says: “that ye may attend upon the Lord without distraction” (v.35). Note that Jesus Christ Himself taught celibacy in obedience to God’s call:

“For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother’s womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven’s sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it” (Mt.19:12).

Now note Paul’s exact words: “It is good [wholesome, pure] for a man not to touch a woman.” This deals with all touching and not just celibacy. It means that single men and women are not to go too far on dates or to cohabit with each other. There is to be no immoral sin between the singles of God’s church.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman” (1 Cor.7:1).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb” (Rev.14:4).

2 (7:2) Marriage—Celibacy: there is a condition necessitating marriage. Note three points.

1. This verse is a command; it is to be the rule of the church.

2. Every man and every woman is to be married. “Let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband.” The reason is clearly stated: to avoid fornication. Sex is the gift of God; it is the way God has made us. It is the way God has ordained for a man and woman...

- to propagate and carry on the human race.

- to grow in intimacy, building a solid foundation for the family, society, and human survival.

Therefore, every believer is commanded to marry. There are only two exceptions to the rule, both of which are given in the previous verse (1 Cor.7:1).

3. This teaching is not a low view of marriage; it is extremely wise advice. Note two points.

a. Paul is not discussing the Scriptural teaching on marriage. His views and doctrine on marriage are the highest teachings imaginable (see outline and notes—Eph.5:22-33).

In this particular passage Paul is dealing with specific problems of temptation and fornication, and how to handle the temptation in a most vile and immoral society: Is celibacy or marriage the better answer?

b. It is extremely wise for every man and woman to marry unless God has given them control over sexual desire. In a world of where sex is worshipped and flaunted, it is almost impossible to remain pure apart from God’s presence and power in life—unless the person is married and has a good, wholesome, and giving marriage.

“Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh” (Gen.2:24).

“Whoso findeth a wife findeth a good thing, and obtaineth favor of the LORD” (Pr.18:22).

“Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; that ye may be increased there, and not diminished” (Jer.29:6).

“Let the deacons [lay believers] be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well” (1 Tim.3:12).

“I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, give none occasion to the adversary to speak reproachfully” (1 Tim.5:14).

“Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge” (Heb.13:4).

3 (7:3) Marriage: there are mutual duties within marriage. Note two significant points.

1. The words “due benevolence” (ten opheilen) mean the debt; to render what is due. The husband and wife owe some things to the other.

⇒ Both have rights; each can expect to receive some things from the other.

⇒ Both have the responsibility to pay to the other exactly what is due.

2. The word “render” is continuous action. The rights and duties of each are to be continually fulfilled. (Note: this verse is usually interpreted to refer only to sexual rights and duties within marriage. However, it is certainly applicable to all the rights and duties of husband and wife. The lesson is the same.)

Thought 1. Some of the Scriptures that speak to the duties of husbands are these:

“For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife” (Mk.10:7).

“But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife” (1 Cor.7:11).

“Behold, the third time I am ready to come to you; and I will not be burdensome to you: for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children” (2 Cor.12:14).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“And, ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord” (Eph.6:4).

“A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach” (1 Tim.3:2).

“One that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all gravity” (1 Tim.3:4).

—“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

“And thou shalt teach them [the Holy Scriptures] unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up” (Dt.6:7).

“When a man hath taken a new wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall he be charged with any business: but he shall be free at home one year, and shall cheer up his wife which he hath taken” (Dt.24:5).

“Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth” (Pr.5:18).

“Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it” (Pr.22:6).

“Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labour which thou takest under the sun” (Eccl.9:9).

Thought 2. Some of the Scriptures that speak to the duties of wives are these:

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband; But and if she depart, let her remain unmarried, or be reconciled to her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife” (1 Cor.7:10-11).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord” (Eph.5:22; cp. Col.3:18).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11).

“When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also” (2 Tim.1:5).

“That they may teach the young women to be sober, to love their husbands, to love their children” (Tit.2:4).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

4 (7:4-6) Marriage: there is to be mutual ownership of each other’s body in marriage. Note the clarity and forcefulness of this verse. The reason is obvious throughout society. Far too many marriages have dissatisfying sexual relationships; therefore, seeking sexual satisfaction elsewhere has become so common that it has become an acceptable practice in some circles and societies.

As stated, God is clear and forceful in His instructions. And what He has to say in these few verses could go a long way in solving many of the problems existing in so many marriages.

1. Both the husband and wife have equal rights over the other’s body. Neither spouse has full authority over their body—not in God’s eyes. The body of each belongs to the other; each has obligations to the other. That is part of the marriage union wrought by God. (See DEEPER STUDY # 2, Cleave—Mt.19:5 for detailed discussion on the critical importance of this point.)

2. Both the husband and wife belong to each other so fully that to withhold is an act of fraud, of cheating the other of what he is due. Each owes his or her body to the other.

3. Both the husband and wife must consent to abstain—only for fasting and prayer. This is the only exception given by Scripture. So long as health allows, the married couple is to cleave together, fulfilling God’s purpose of growing more and more into the intimate family structure that is so desperately needed...

- by society
- by children
- by the church
- by government

However, note that a husband and wife must not stay apart for too long a period because of temptation. This is crucial to note, for Satan is strong in his temptations, especially in a sex crazed society. Yet, this is a common mistake made in many marriages.

Thought 1. Any thinking and honest person knows that the closer the union and preciousness between the husband and wife, the stronger the love and loyalty and security of the family and its society and church and government. The crying need today is for husband and wives to straighten out their marriages by surrendering their lives to the Lord Jesus Christ and by living as He said to live. Only His presence and power can straighten out a marriage.

Note the supreme importance of prayer in the life of a family. It is the only exception accepted by God for a married couple to stay apart.

“So ought men to love their wives as their own bodies. He that loveth his wife loveth himself” (Eph.5:28).

“Nevertheless let every one of you in particular so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband” (Eph.5:33).

“Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them” (Col.3:19).

“Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge” (Heb.13:4).

“And the LORD God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him a help meet for him” (Gen.2:18).

“And Isaac brought her into his mother Sarah’s tent, and took Rebekah, and she became his wife; and he loved her: and Isaac was comforted after his mother’s death” (Gen.24:67).

“Many waters cannot quench love, neither can the floods drown it: if a man would give all the substance of his house for love, it would utterly be contemned” (Song of Sol.8:7).

5 (7:7) Marriage: there is God’s gift of marriage and God’s gift of being single. God is the One who should determine if a believer should marry or stay single. Paul had remained single because of God’s gift, and in light of the present distress (perhaps persecution lay over the horizon), he wished every person could be as he was, single. However, every man must do as God gifts him.

“Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman. Nevertheless, to avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife, and let every woman have her own husband” (1 Cor.7:1-2).

“I say therefore to the unmarried and widows, It is good for them if they abide even as I. But if they cannot contain, let them marry: for it is better to marry than to burn” (1 Cor.7:8-9).

“I suppose therefore that this is good for the present distress, I say, that it is good for a man so to be [remain single]. Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife. But and if thou marry, thou hast not sinned; and if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Nevertheless such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you” (1 Cor.7:26-28).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron; forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats, which God hath created to be received with thanksgiving of them which believe and know the truth” (1 Tim.4:1-3).

“These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb” (Rev.14:4).

DIVISION IV

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING MARRIAGE, 7:1-40

B. Specific Questions About the Unmarried, Divorced, & Mixed Marriages, 7:8-16

(7:8-16) Introduction: this passage deals with three specific questions concerning marriage.

1. The unmarried and the widows (v.8-9).
2. The married Christian couple and divorce (v.10-11).
3. The married Christian with an unbelieving spouse (v.12-16).

1 (7:8-9) Marriage—Widows—Singles—Paul: first, the question concerning the unmarried and the widows. The unmarried most likely refers to widowed men and to the divorced men and women of the congregation. Virgins and unmarried men are dealt with elsewhere in this chapter (v.1, 2, 25, 25-38). The church had a question about temptation and those who had experienced sexual relations. What was the best way for these to combat temptation in a sex-crazed society?

1. The best course of action would be for them to remain single. Why?
  - ⇒ Because of the “present distress” (v.26).
  - ⇒ Because they would be able to give the Lord their full attention “without distraction” (v.35. See note—1 Cor.7:1 for more discussion.)

Note: Paul says that he was unmarried in the context of this discussion, the discussion of the divorced and widowed. Does this mean that he was either widowed or divorced? Probably, for Paul was most likely a member of the Sanhedrin, the ruling body of the Jews, and all members of the Sanhedrin were required by law to be married (see note—Acts 26:9-11).

2. The unmarried and widows were to marry if they burned with passion.
  - a. This is a command; it is a duty, an obligation for Christians. If they cannot control their passion, they are to marry.
  - b. There is only one exception for not marrying: God's will. God calls some men and women to live a single and dedicated life for His service. But if God calls a person to live a life of dedication, He will give the person the power to control his passion. Again, if God has not called and given the power to control his passion, the believer is to marry.

“For there are some eunuchs, which were so born from their mother's womb: and there are some eunuchs, which were made eunuchs of men: and there be eunuchs, which have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He that is able to receive it, let him receive it” (Mt.19:12).

Now note Paul's exact words: “It is good [wholesome, pure] for a man not to touch a woman.” This deals with all touching and not just celibacy. It means that single men and women are to guard against going too far on dates or to cohabit with each other. There is to be no immoral sin between the singles of God's church.

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

“Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote unto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman” (1 Cor.7:1).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb” (Rev.14:4).

2 (7:10-11) Marriage, of Believers—Divorce: second, the question concerning married Christian couples and divorce. Note three clear commands. Paul says the commands come directly from the Lord’s teaching Himself (cp. Mt.5:32; 19:3-9; Mk.10:2-12; Lk.16:18).

1. Divorce is forbidden to the wife. The Christian wife is not to divorce her Christian husband. They are both believers with the mercy and power of Christ at their disposal. They are to subject themselves to Christ, and come before Him daily...

- in patience.
- in searching the Scriptures for what marriage is to be.
- in repentance for any sin and seeking His forgiveness.
- in trust that the Lord will give His power to straighten things out.
- in respect of God’s will and the commitment made to each other.

2. Remarriage is forbidden to the Christian wife. Scripture recognizes that not every one, including believers, will seek the Lord enough to work out their differences. When these divorce, what should they do? Remain single or remarry? Jesus Christ said they are not to remarry. They can be reconciled to their husbands, but they cannot remarry.

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord” (Eph.5:22; cp. Col.3:18).

“Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things” (1 Tim.3:11; cp. Tit.2:40).

3. Divorce is forbidden to the Christian husband. Although it is not spelled out, all that has been said concerning the Christian wife applies to the Christian husband.

“Let thy fountain be blessed: and rejoice with the wife of thy youth” (Pr.5:18).

“Live joyfully with the wife whom thou lovest all the days of the life of thy vanity, which he hath given thee under the sun, all the days of thy vanity: for that is thy portion in this life, and in thy labor which thou takest under the sun” (Eccl.9:9).

“For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave to his wife; and they twain shall be one flesh: so then they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder” (Mk.10:7-9; cp. Gen.2:23-24).

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

3 (7:12-16) Marriage, Mixed—Unbelieving Spouses: third, the question concerning Christians who are married to unbelieving spouses. Note: Paul says that this particular issue was never discussed by the Lord; therefore, there are no direct commandments of the Lord to share. However, he would issue the commands, which he made clear was under the guidance of the Holy Spirit (cp. v.40. See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Scripture, Inspiration—1 Cor.7:1-40.)

Apparently there were many mixed marriages in the Corinthian church. But note: they were not believers marrying unbelievers. They were heathen who had become believers. Scripture never sanctions a true Christian marrying an unbeliever, for marriage is sacred to God (v.39).

It seems that some in the church were saying this: once a person gave his life to Christ, he was not thereafter to live with an unbeliever. They were saying that he as a new believer was to divorce the unbelieving wife or husband.

What should a Christian who is married to an unbeliever do: stay married or divorce? Scripture gives three instructions.

1. Stay together. The believing spouse should stay, but only if the unbelieving spouse is willing. The reason is clearly seen.

a. The believer will influence his or her spouse for Christ.

⇒ The word “sanctified” does not mean that the believer’s faith saves the unbelieving spouse. Nowhere does Scripture teach that one person can believe and trust Christ for another person. A person is saved only by personally believing in Christ himself. Every person stands personally before God as an individual.

⇒ The word “sanctified” means that the marriage is set apart unto God. If the unbeliever is willing to remain with the believer, the marriage is not to be dissolved. Simply stated, God accepts the marriage of a mixed couple if the unbelieving spouse is willing to accept the fact that his wife or her husband is a Christian who lives for the Lord. The unbeliever must support his spouse in her loyalty to Christ and His church.

b. The believer will influence the children.

Note what Paul says: if God did not accept the marriage, then the children would be illegitimate in God’s eyes. However, since the unbeliever supports his Christian spouse, God accepts his support as “sanctification” of the marriage and family. Of course, this includes the children.

Note how the believer affects both the spouse and the children. The presence of the believer in the family touches the whole family for God, as long as the unbeliever lends his support to the Christian. The whole family is accepted by God as a legitimate family, a family set apart for Him and His cause.

2. Separate if the unbelieving spouse wishes. If the unbelieving spouse leaves the believer, the believer is to let him leave. The bond of marriage is broken. “A brother or sister is not under bondage in such cases” (v.15. Note that this seems to be saying that the believer is free to remarry.)

The point is that God has called us to peace. This probably refers to all that has been said thus far in this chapter. Peace is certainly the purpose of God in the believer’s life: peace with God and peace with each other. If a husband or wife will not live in peace and support his or her spouse in carrying the gospel of peace to the world, the spouse is to continue living for God even if it means divorce. The glorious gospel of peace is God’s message to the world!

3. The reason the believer is to cooperate with the unbelieving spouse is clear: the unbelieving spouse may be won to Christ by the believer.

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior] of the wives” (1 Pt.3:1).

“For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more” (1 Cor.9:19).

“The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life: and he that winneth souls is wise” (Pr.11:30).

“And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever” (Dan.12:3).

DIVISION IV

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING MARRIAGE, 7:1-40

C. The Question About the Christian and His Lot in Life, 7:17-24

(7:17-24) Introduction: the message of the gospel is the most glorious message imaginable. The gospel proclaims...

- that true believers are set free by Christ, free from sin, death, and condemnation.
- that true believers can have abundance of life now and throughout all of life.
- that true believers shall inherit eternal life.
- that true believers shall have the privilege of ruling and reigning with Christ forever.
- that the Lord Jesus Christ shall return.
- that God is no respecter of persons; all men are equal before Him.
- that the sin and corruption of this world shall be done away with, and God shall make a new heaven and earth.

The gospel is revolutionary. It completely changes the status of believers’ lives both now and forever, for believers are given the hope of everything for which men dream. It was the revolutionary nature of the gospel that caused some believers in Corinth to begin...

- breaking their social ties.
- changing their professions.
- breaking their religious ties.
- cutting loose from their family and public obligations.

This kind of behavior, of course, disrupted the lives of all who surrounded the Corinthian believers. Some of the Corinthian believers were just breaking loose from everything. For example, some believers reasoned like this: if this world is sinful and corrupt, then a believer must have nothing to do with the world nor with those who live in this world. Therefore, some believers broke their social ties.

Others reasoned this way: if believers are not to be unequally yoked together with unbelievers, then they should separate from their unbelieving spouses. This question is dealt with in the former passage (1 Cor.7:12-16).

Still others thought this: they needed to do away with all the rituals and duties of religion because they were saved by faith and not by a religion.

Believer after believer was questioning his lot in life and becoming dissatisfied, feeling that he had been dealt a terrible hand in life. Therefore, he had to change his life, no matter who it affected or hurt. Some believers were changing their jobs, religion, friends; and some were even breaking up their families in order to change their lot in life.

This passage deals with the believer’s lot in life: his status, condition, circumstances, and relationships throughout society. It is a much needed message.

1. Fact 1: God calls people from all lots in life, from all conditions and levels of society (v.17).
2. Fact 2: religious distinctions do not matter (v.18-19).
3. Fact 3: vocations and social conditions do not matter (v.20-23).
4. Fact 4: be faithful in your lot (v.24).

1 (7:17) Life, Lot In—Circumstances—Believers, Life-Walk-Behavior: first, God calls people from all lots in life, from all conditions and levels of society. Note that both God and Christ are involved in the lot of believers in the world.

- ⇒ God Himself has distributed gifts and abilities to every man.
- ⇒ The Lord Jesus Christ has called every believer to serve Him and His cause upon earth no matter where he is.

Therefore, let everyone walk where he is using his gifts and abilities for Christ and His cause. Christ calls the person to be a witness for Him right where the person lives and works, unless the person is engaged in some activity that is sinful and illegitimate. A person’s lot in life—his circumstances, position, social standing, employment, marital status—does not have a bearing on Christ saving him. Therefore, a person's lot in life is not to have a bearing on whether or not he walks in Christ. The believer is to walk in Christ no matter where he is. It is not conditions and circumstances that are to determine the believer's life and walk; on the contrary, the believer is given the power of Christ to walk through circumstances no matter how severe and difficult they may be. This does not mean the believer is not to better himself and his condition in life, nor that the believer is necessarily to stay where he is. It simply means the believer is to serve Christ no matter his lot in life.

“Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life” (Ro.6:4).

“For we walk by faith, not by sight” (2 Cor.5:7).

“See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise” (Eph.5:15).

2 (7:18-19) Religion—Rituals: second, religious distinctions do not matter. There were both Gentile and Jewish converts in the Corinthian church. As always, some of the Jewish converts wanted to continue practicing some of the ceremonial laws of their former religion. Others felt the form and rituals were useless, and they wanted nothing to do with them. Of course, the Gentile converts certainly did not want anything to do with Judaism, for it was the religion of a despised people, and the gospel made the rituals unnecessary. Apparently the issue had become a serious matter in the church. The answer to the issue is direct and pointed. External rituals and form in religion do not matter. They do not save a person nor do they make a person acceptable or unacceptable to God. What really matters is the heart: the keeping of God's commandments. The believer who pleases God is the believer who loves and trusts the Lord so much that he obeys God. He trusts God to such a degree that he knows that what God says is the very best thing to do. He loves the Lord so much that he longs to please the Lord by doing exactly what the Lord says.

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him” (Jn.14:21).

“For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love” (Gal.5:6).

“For circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the law: but if thou be a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision” (Ro.2:25).

“But he is a Jew [true believer], which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God” (Ro.2:29).

“Behold, I Paul say unto you, that if ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing” (Gal.5:2).

“And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams” (1 Sam.15:22).

“For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it: thou delightest not in burnt offering. The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise” (Ps.51:16-17).

“For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings” (Hos.6:6).

3 (7:20-23) Employment—Employee: vocations and social conditions do not matter. The importance of this passage is stressed again.

“Let every man abide in the same calling wherein he was called” (v.20).

Note: a Christian believer is to know that he can live for Christ even in the most horrible of conditions, that of slavery. This matter posed a critical problem in early Christianity, for there were so many converts who were slaves. Their time belonged to their master; therefore, they were often unable to attend services and to serve Christ as much as they wished.

Scripture drives the point home: serve Christ where you are. As a slave, if you can secure your freedom, secure it and then serve Christ to the fullest. But in the meantime, serve Christ where you are. There are two reasons why the slave is enabled to serve where he is.

⇒ He is the Lord's freeman.

⇒ The believer who is free and called or saved is the servant of Christ.

Therefore, the slave is equal to all other men in the eyes of the Lord. And he shall receive an equal reward if he is faithful where he is as a slave. He may not be free to attend church and participate in religious activities as much as other believers. But if he is faithful to Christ by doing the best job and in being the best witness he can, then he is just as acceptable to God as the most active member of the church. God measures the faithfulness of believers to Christ, not to certain kinds of activities. Wherever the believer is, his lot in life, his vocation and social condition in life do not matter.

Note why. Believers are bought with a price: the blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. Therefore, they are His servants and witnesses all over this world. Wherever believers are, they are bearing testimony and reaching every segment and social level of society. The uttermost part of the earth, no matter how enslaved and impoverished, must be reached and must have its believers who can witness for Christ. This is the only way people all over the world will ever know about the new heavens and earth where believers will be exalted to rule and reign with Jesus Christ. Therefore, he is to live and serve Christ in all the requirements and duties laid upon him by others while he is a slave on this earth. His day of redemption and exaltation is coming. (See note, Reward—1 Cor.3:13-15 for more discussion.)

Thought 1. The point is directed to all professions. If a slave is to serve Christ faithfully where he is, other believers are to serve Christ faithfully, no matter their profession.

“Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:5-7).

“Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ” (Col.3:22-24).

4 (7:24) Faithfulness: fourth, be faithful in your lot on this earth. This is the third time the exhortation is given in this passage (v.17, 20, 24). It cannot be stressed too much. This does not mean a believer is not to better his lot in life. It means that a believer is to serve Christ faithfully where he is without moaning and grumbling about his lot in life.

Note the emphasis: let the believer “abide with God.” A man is to walk and abide in a consciousness of God all day long every day—no matter where he is or what his circumstances are. He has been saved to fellowship with God and to serve the Lord Jesus Christ as a witness to all other men.

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing” (Jn.15:5).

“If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you” (Jn.15:7).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him” (Col.2:6).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked” (1 Jn.2:6).

DIVISION IV

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING MARRIAGE, 7:1-40

D. The Question Concerning Marriage: Should Christian Virgins and Widows Marry? 7:25-40

(7:25-40) Introduction: falling in love and growing in love are natural experiences of human life. It is normal for men and women to desire to spend their lives together. However, there are times when a couple should not marry, and there is a better alternative for some persons. This passage discusses the question of Christian singles and widows: should they marry? The Corinthian church had written Paul and asked him about this matter.

1. This passage is a judgment of Paul's, not a direct commandment of the Lord (v.25).
2. Concern 1: consider the "present distress" of the world (v.26-28).
3. Concern 2: know the time is short (v.29-31).
4. Concern 3: be without anxiety and distressing care (v.32-34).
5. Concern 4: attend upon the Lord without distraction (v.35).
6. Conclusion: in light of the present distress several instructions are advisable (v.36-40).

1 (7:25) Virgin—Scripture, Inspiration: this Scripture is a judgment of Paul's, not a commandment of the Lord. This is essential to note, for Paul says clearly that the Lord did not give a direct commandment governing this matter. How ever he, Paul, would give his judgment...

- because he had obtained the mercy of the Lord. The Lord was with him, and he knew the intimacy and presence of the Lord and of His will.
- because he was called to be faithful to the Lord, and he would be faithful in giving his judgment and instructions.

Note one other fact. The word “virgin” usually refers only to women; however the word is sometimes used to refer to both women and men (cp. Rev.14:4). Paul is apparently using the word to refer to both sexes in this passage.

2 (7:26-28) Unmarried, The—Virgins—Marriage: the first concern is the “present distress” of the world. The Corinthians were facing some terrible and pressuring distress. What was it? We do not know, but it was probably the threat and antagonism of severe persecution from a hostile world. The persecutions were either already existing or else Paul sensed them lying right over the horizon.

Whatever the distress was, it was a heavy strain upon the believers. The word “distress” (anagke) is a strong word referring to calamities. It is the word that is used to describe the woes surrounding the return of the Lord Jesus. It is also the very same word Paul used to describe his own persecutions (1 Th.3:7; 2 Cor.6:4; 12:10). In light of the present distress, Paul says two things.

1. First, his judgment is for believers to stay in their present marital state. If a believer is single, remain single. If a believer is married, of course, be faithful to your marriage bond. Do not flee and desert your family, saving your own life and leaving them to bear the distress alone (v.26-27).

2. Second, marriage is normal; it is not a sin if the couple goes ahead and marries. But note these facts if there is distress in the world.

⇒ The married couple will have more problems and more trouble to face. Marriage adds more responsibility and additional care. It involves another life to consider in making critical decisions, and critical decisions always arise in distressful situations.

Thought 1. There have never been many places in this world where professing Christians could worship the Lord Jesus Christ without reactions and threats from a hostile world. Even today practically every place on the earth witnesses the persecution of genuine believers. They are often ridiculed, mocked, cursed, abused, and sometimes threatened with violence and death for their testimony. Few places, if any, are completely free from some form of persecution.

Therefore, if a genuine believer is considering marriage, he or she must consider the loved one’s commitment to Christ. Will the loved one take a stand for Christ and bear witness to a hostile world, a world that wants no restraint upon its behavior, no message that proclaims righteousness and godliness, holiness and purity, honesty and commitment, soberness and morality? The genuine believer should always consider other calamities as well: war, disease, handicaps, economic hardship, and a host of other possible difficulties. The believer must make absolutely sure that he and his spouse desire to suffer together through whatever distress exists or is threatened. They must also make sure they are willing to suffer together in Christ, not weakening and deserting either Christ or each other.

“Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh” (Gen.2:24).

“And unto the married I command, yet not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband” (1 Cor.7:10).

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord” (Eph.5:22).

“Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered” (1 Pt.3:7).

3 (7:29-31) Time, Short—Marriage: the second concern is to know that time is short. This is a reference to both the brevity of life and to the return of the Lord. No believer knows when he will be called upon to face the Lord either through death or through the Lord’s return. Any one of us may be taken today by accident or by some unknown disease, and the Lord could certainly choose to return today. Therefore, two attitudes are extremely wise for us to adopt.

1. The attitude of being detached from earthly circumstances.

- ⇒ If we have a spouse, we need to live as though we do not have him or her, for we may not by nightfall.
- ⇒ If we weep, we need to live as though the weeping experience is over, for it may be by nightfall.
- ⇒ If we rejoice, we need to live as though the joyful experience is over, for it may be by nightfall.
- ⇒ If we buy some item today, we need to live as though we do not possess it, for we may not by nightfall.

“And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed. The night is far spent, the day is at hand” (Ro.13:11-12).

“But this I say, brethren, the time is short” (1 Cor.7:29).

“Redeeming the time, because the days are evil” (Eph.5:16).

“Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time” (Col.4:5).

“But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away” (Jas.1:10).

“Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away” (Jas.4:14).

“For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away” (1 Pt.1:24).

“For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, as were all our fathers: our days on the earth are as a shadow, and there is none abiding” (1 Chron.29:15).

“My days are swifter than a weaver’s shuttle, and are spent without hope” (Job 7:6).

“Behold, thou hast made my days as an handbreadth; and mine age is as nothing before thee: verily every man at his best state is altogether vanity” (Ps.39:5).

“Nevertheless man being in honour abideth not: he is like the beasts that perish” (Ps.49:12).

“For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again” (Ps.78:39).

“For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust. As for man, his days are as grass: as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it, and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more” (Ps.103:14-16).

“I, even I, am he that comforteth you: who art thou, that thou shouldest be afraid of a man that shall die, and of the son of man which shall be made as grass” (Is.51:12).

2. The attitude of not overusing the world nor of being engrossed in the world, for it passes away. It can be stated no more clearly or forcefully: the world is passing away. Note the word fashion (shema) is used; it is a word taken from the theater. The world is nothing more than the passing scenes of a film that will soon end. The world is destined to end in its present form or fashion. The present state of things will cease just as the scenes of a film cease. The believer must keep this in mind; he must not live for the passing fashion of this world. He must live for eternity, keeping before his mind that time is short, ever so short.

“And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:2).

“Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty” (2 Cor.6:17-18).

“But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world” (Gal.6:14).

“Thou therefore endure hardness, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:3-4).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

4 (7:32-34) Anxiety—Marriage: the third concern is to be without anxiety and distressing care. Remember that Paul is talking to genuine believers, believers who honestly love the Lord and diligently serve Him. Very simply...

- the unmarried Christian is more likely to be anxious for the Lord, how he may please the Lord; whereas the married man is more likely to be anxious for his wife, how he may please her.
- the unmarried woman is more likely to be anxious for the Lord, how she may be holy both in body and spirit; whereas the married woman cares for the things of her husband, how she may please him.

This is a natural and understandable result of marriage that Christian couples must consider when they desire to be married. They are giving up their rights to live single lives, the privilege of only having to care and look after themselves. Once they are married, they are responsible for the care of their spouse. They must think about and actually please the other.

“But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me” (Lk.10:40).

“But he that is married careth for the things that are of the world, how he may please his wife” (1 Cor.7:33).

“But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel” (1 Tim.5:8).

5 (7:35) Mind—Devotion—Marriage: the fourth concern is to attend upon the Lord without distraction. Note: Paul re-emphasizes that he is speaking for the believers’ “profit,” that is, for their welfare and advantage. He is not trying to cast a snare or undue restraints upon them. He has no reason to restrict their liberty to marry. They could marry if they wished, for he was interested only in telling them what is “comely,” that is, proper and orderly. They need to know what would bring the best order to their lives. The one thing they needed to guard against was walking into marriage unprepared, not knowing and not having given thought to what is involved in marriage.

There is another reason for remaining single, a reason that is most advantageous, a supreme reason that every believer should consider: the single believer can “attend upon the Lord without distraction.” He can devote his life to the Lord without the divided attention that a wife and family necessitates.

“I beseech ye therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:5).

“But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:7-8).

“Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things” (Ph.4:8).

“And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ” (1 Th.5:23).

Thought 1. A believer must keep in mind that celibacy is a gift of God. (See notes—1 Cor.7:1; 7:7.)

6 (7:36-40) Marriage, Instructions: the conclusions concerning the questions about marriage are clearly stated.

1. Christian virgins (both men and women) are free to marry if necessary, that is, if they are not called by God to remain single. Note that in Paul’s day the father was the one who was responsible for the marriage of the child. Therefore, the reference to the “man” in this verse is to the father. He and his wife, the parents of the young person desiring to be married, were vitally involved in the marriage. (What a need today! How fewer divorces would there be if a family carried the matter of dating, engagement, and marriage together before Christ?)

2. The Christian who is called of God and given the discipline to control his passion should remain single, devoting his or her life solely to the Lord.

3. The Christian father who gives his daughter in marriage does well, but the Christian father who encourages his God-called virgin daughter (or son) to devote her whole life to the Lord does better.

Thought 1. No father should encourage or do this unless he knows beyond question that the child is called of God. He is only encouraging trouble for this child unless the child is truly called of God. For this reason both parent and child must be absolutely sure of God’s call.

4. The contract of marriage is for life. There is to be no exception (cp. Ro.7:1-3).

5. The Christian widower or widow is to consider two things when thinking about marriage.

a. He or she is to marry only a Christian.

b. He or she is more blessed to remain single. He or she will probably be happier remaining single.

DIVISION V

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

A. The Questionable Pleasures and Social Functions, 8:1-13

(8:1-13) Christian Liberty—License—Social Functions—Pleasures, Questionable: in the ancient world when a person accepted Jesus Christ as his personal Savior, he faced a critical problem. What was he to do about his circle of friends and their social functions? It was a critical problem for three reasons.

1. Practically every social function served meat that had been offered to idols, and when a significant social function was held, such as a marriage or an important business function, it was sometimes held in the temple. However, no matter where it was held, an offering was always made to the idol god of the family. What was a Christian to do? Could he attend such social functions? If he refused, how would it affect his friends? His job? His business contacts?

2. Practically every family had its own idol god sitting in a significant place in the home. At mealtime the family would offer a small sacrifice to its god in order to assure its blessing. What was a Christian to do about fellowship with his neighbors? Was he to cut off all social contact with them?

3. The market place was usually filled with meat recently offered to idols. Part of the animals used in sacrifice was always given to the priests for their upkeep. The priests usually sold any excess to the local market places, and the markets in turn sold the meat to the public. Some believers felt that it was wrong to purchase meat that had been used in idol worship, and they could seldom tell if the meat was pure or not. This was the reason many Christians throughout the ancient world became vegetarians. Were they right in their conviction? Or, was it all right to go ahead and eat food that had been used in the worship of idols?

The Corinthian believers needed help; they needed the answers to these questions, some guidelines that would help them as they lived in the midst of a sinful and pleasure-mad world. Therefore, they wrote Paul and asked him about meat offered to idols, about the questionable pleasure and social functions of day to day life. Paul deals directly with the Corinthian problem, but he also uses the issue and expands it to include the whole question of Christian liberty and personal rights. For example, can a Christian do his own thing? Is a Christian honestly set free in Christ? If so, can the Christian do what he wants when he wants? If not, what restraints are put upon his liberty or freedom? What is to control his behavior? What is the difference between the Christian's behavior and the world's behavior?

1. Judge things by love, not by knowledge (v.1-3).
2. Know that food does not make a person spiritual (v.4-8).
3. Take heed—do not be a stumbling block (v.9-11).
4. Do not wound a brother's conscience: this is sin against Christ (v.12).
5. Claim the great principle: do nothing that leads a brother astray (v.13).

1 (8:1-3) Love—Christian Liberty: first, judge things by love, not by knowledge. Note that Paul says “we all have knowledge.” He identifies himself with the Corinthian believers. Apparently, some of the believers were stressing the importance of reasoning out social functions. They were stressing the importance of intellect and knowledge in determining right from wrong. They were stressing the fact that...

- an idol is nothing in itself (v.4).
- meat (food) is nothing; it is indifferent in dealing with spiritual matters. It does not make us acceptable or unacceptable to God (v.8).

Note three points.

1. Knowledge puffs up; love edifies. Paul says that he knows that an idol is nothing; neither is food anything. Thinking through the issue clearly shows this. However...

- being able to reason this through and to clearly see the fact is no reason to be puffed up over other believers.
- holding the position of Christian liberty—that a person is free to participate in social functions—is no reason to be puffed up over other believers.

The rule of the Christian is love, not knowledge. It is love that edifies and grows people, not knowledge. The Christian believer is not to be stressing his knowledge and superior reasoning because he can see a fact more clearly than other believers. The Christian believer is to love and to control his life by the principle of love.

Thought 1. How many look down upon others because others cannot in good conscience take part in certain social functions and social practices? How many feel superior and are puffed up because they feel more free than others to take part in certain functions?

“Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits” (Ro.12:16).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the LORD, and depart from evil” (Pr.3:7).

“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!” (Is.5:21).

2. Knowledge is only partial. No matter what a person thinks he knows, it is incomplete. Man is totally incapable of knowing anything in its fulness and totality. Those who practice liberty may be wrong. There may be something wrong about their human logic in thinking through the issue of a particular social function or pleasure.

Therefore, to take pride in a rational position is wrong. Rational positions are very weak, especially when compared to positions based upon love.

3. Love unites a person to God. If a man loves God, he is known and accepted by God. He is not accepted by God because of knowledge and rational positions. The man is accepted because he loves God and loves people. Therefore, a person who bases his life upon love and not knowledge is the person who is known and accepted by God.

“But if any man love God, the same is known of him” (1 Cor.8:3).

“But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?” (Gal.4:9).

“Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity” (2 Tim.2:19).

“For God is not unrighteous to forget your work and labour of love, which ye have showed toward his name, in that ye have ministered to the saints, and do minister” (Heb.6:10).

“And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him” (1 Jn.4:16).

“If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?” (1 Jn.4:20).

“Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life” (Jude 21).

2 (8:4-8) Christian Liberty—License: second, know that food does not make a person spiritual.

1. The Corinthian problem was a critical problem as has already been discussed a (see Introductory note—1 Cor.8:1-13). Paul agreed with those who knew that “an idol is nothing in the world.” Idols are not gods, no matter what their worshippers may think. There is no other God but One. It is true that people call out to gods, but...

- they are gods of their own minds and imaginations, ideas and notions.
- they are gods of wood and stone.
- they are gods and lords of their own creation.

However, in contrast to the gods of men, note the truth.

- a. There is but one God, only One who is the Supreme Majestic Being of the universe.
  - ⇒ He is the Father of the Lord Jesus Christ and of all believers. (The stress is upon His care for us just as a father cares for his own children.)
  - ⇒ He is the One “of whom are all things.” He is the Source of all creation. (This is in contrast with the unbelievers who have their own gods and allow and say that all gods are equally true.)
  - ⇒ We are in Him. He is our life, the Source of every good and perfect gift (Jas.1:17).
- b. There is but one Lord Jesus Christ, only One Lord and Administrator who stands supreme between God and man.
  - ⇒ By Him are all things. He was the Agent, the Person who created all things for the Father (Jn.1:1-3; Col.1:15-17).
  - ⇒ We are by Him: He saved and redeemed us. He alone is the Savior of the world.

2. The point is this: some of the Corinthian believers were immature; they had immature knowledge and were likely to fall back into sin and defile their consciences (v.7).

They had not grown enough spiritually to break away from the world and its false beliefs. Therefore, if they participated in the questionable pleasures and social functions, they would defile their consciences. They were not spiritually strong enough to control their minds and beliefs—not yet—not totally.

3. The fact is that food is immaterial to God. It does not make us spiritual or unspiritual. The word “meat” means food. Eating or abstaining does not make us acceptable to God, neither one makes us better (to excel, to have an advantage) or worse (to come short or behind).

“And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men” (Acts 24:16).

“Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake” (Ro.13:5).

“For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation [behavior] in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward” (2 Cor.1:12).

“Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned” (1 Tim.1:5).

“Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away, concerning faith have made shipwreck” (1 Tim.1:19).

“Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience” (1 Tim.3:9).

“Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly” (Heb.13:18).

“Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evil doers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ” (1 Pt.3:16).

3 (8:9-11) Brotherhood—Separation—Stumbling Block—Christian Liberty: third, take heed—do not be a stumbling block. The word “stumbling block” (proskomma) means a stone, an obstacle, an occasion, an offense—something which causes a person to fall.

A believer’s liberty can cause a weak believer to fall into sin. In the case of the Corinthians, some believers were participating in the social functions where meat had been offered to idols. Some were even attending the functions in the idol’s temple (v.10). Apparently, this was causing some of the weaker believers to do the same. But they were not able to handle the situation.

- ⇒ Some were grievously stricken in conscience, and they felt sinful and unworthy to be the Lord’s. They had a difficult time handling the matter just as any believer does when he knows he has sinned. He has a difficult time accepting the forgiveness of God. He has to struggle even to forgive himself.
- ⇒ Others were running the risk of slipping back into idolatry and perishing. The word perish (apollutai) is strong. It means to destroy, to ruin, to utterly destroy and perish.

The exhortation is strong. Note the words “by any means”: “Take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock.” No believer is to participate in any function that will cause another believer to stumble lest it destroy him. There is one supreme reason: Christ died for him. Christ paid the ultimate price and sacrificed everything to save the brother. How much more should we?

Thought 1. Any man, not just the weak brother, may be led astray. The reason is because the mature believer is usually looked upon as “having knowledge,” knowing what is right and wrong. If he is seen doing some questionable thing, others are sometimes influenced or else thrown into a reactionary spirit. Of course, if the mature believer participates in questionable pleasures and social functions, there is always the possibility that he might fall as well.

“And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea” (Mk.9:42).

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God” (1 Cor.10:32).

“Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed” (2 Cor.6:3).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

4 (8:12) Christian Liberty—Believer, Duty: fourth, do not wound a brother’s conscience. To wound his conscience is to sin against Christ Himself. This is seen in two points.

1. There is no greater sin than to damage a person’s conscience and spirit. Why? Because a wounded conscience or spirit makes a person feel useless and helpless. It destroys all drive and initiative, will and ambition. A wounded spirit causes a person to give up, lie around, do nothing, and walk about defeated. A conscience or spirit that has been wounded deeply enough will destroy a person. Remember: Christ loves the weak person so much that he died for him. He gave His life for that person. Therefore, anyone who sins against a weak brother by leading him astray sins against Christ.

2. Jesus Christ is identified with believers. He lives within the believer, even the weak believer. Therefore, to harm a believer is to harm Christ.

“But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea. Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!” (Mt.18:6-7).

“Then shall he answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me” (Mt.25:45).

“And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?” (Acts 9:4. Note: Saul was persecuting the Lord’s people. To persecute them was to persecute the Lord.)

5 (8:13) Christian Liberty: fifth, claim the great principle—do nothing that leads a brother astray. The word for “meat” means food. Imagine! Paul says that if any food causes his brother to stumble, he will not eat that food. The idea is striking: Paul will do nothing, absolutely nothing, to cause his brother to stumble. No matter how enjoyable, how satisfying, how pleasurable—he will give it all up to keep from destroying those younger and more immature in the faith.

“I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive” (Acts 20:35).

“Him that is weak in the faith receive ye, but not to doubtful disputations” (Ro.14:1).

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend” (1 Cor.8:13).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently” (1 Pt.1:22).

DIVISION V

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

B. The Rights of a Minister, 9:1-15

(9:1-15) Introduction: the rights of a minister are often the subject of churches, especially in the area of livelihood and financial support. Too often, churches are guilty of neglecting their ministers and of allowing pastoral support to become a divisive issue. The issue is a subject next to God's heart as this passage and its length clearly indicate. (See outline and notes—Mt. 10:9-10; Lk. 10:7; Ph. 4:10-14; 1 Tim. 5:17-18.)

1. The right to be accepted as a minister (v.1-3).
2. The right to be supported (v.4-11).
3. The right to be the first person supported by the church (v.12-14).
4. The right to make the judgment about receiving wages or not (v.15).

1 (9:1-3) Minister, Rights: the minister has the right to be accepted as a minister. Paul was a true minister of God. In fact, he was an apostle, one of the few who had actually seen the Lord Jesus Christ. However, there were those in the Corinthian church who did not like Paul. They did not like such things as...

- his messages
- his preaching style
- his lifestyle
- his doctrine
- his charisma
- his authoritativeness
- his appearance

Therefore, they set out to get rid of Paul and to destroy his ministry. They attempted to do this by turning the whole Corinthian church against him. (See note, Paul, Accusations Against—2 Cor. 1:12-22 for more discussion.)

This is what lies behind the present passage. Paul declares his right to be accepted as a minister, and he expands his declaration to include every minister of the gospel. Every minister has the right to be accepted as a minister.

1. Paul has the call as a minister. His particular call was to be an apostle. Note how his questions would pierce the heart of anyone who knew of him and his ministry.

⇒ Am I not an apostle? Are you saying that I am not called of God? That God has not called me to be a servant and a minister for Him? That I am not to preach and bear witness to Christ?

- ⇒ Am I not free in Christ? Free to do as He wills, to minister and serve among God's people as the other ministers of God? Am I not free to serve the Lord as He wills?
- ⇒ Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? Has He not revealed Himself to me and called me? Are you saying I do not know what I am talking about? That I have not seen Christ? That I do not know Christ? That I do not walk in Christ and serve Christ?
- ⇒ The word "not" (ouchi) is much more forceful in the last question. Paul is laying stress upon the fact that he had definitely seen the Lord. This was one of the major requirements for the early apostles (Acts 9:17, 27; 18:9-10; 22:14, 17f; 2 Cor.12:1f).
- ⇒ Are you not part of my work in the Lord? Has the Lord not used me in the lives of the believers? In the ministry of the church?

2. Paul had borne fruit as a minister which was evidence of his call. Note the contrast: others may question Paul's call of God, but surely not the Corinthians. Many of them had been led to the Lord by Paul. The very fact that some of them were saved under his ministry was proof of his call. Any who wished to examine his call could look at the believers at Corinth. The salvation of some and the growth of others are his answer to those who examine the credentials of his call and ministry.

Thought 1. Too often a minister of the gospel suffers rejection and opposition just because someone dislikes something about him. In such cases the minister has two answers:

- 1) The Lord's call and the minister's knowledge of His call.
- 2) The fruit which the minister has borne in the salvation and growth of people.

"Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? to his own master he standeth or falleth. Yea, he shall be holden up: for God is able to make him stand" (Ro.14:4).

"Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother's way" (Ro.14:13).

"Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God" (1 Cor.4:5).

"Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others" (Ph.2:3-4).

"There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?" (Jas.4:12).

2 (9:4-11) Minister, Rights: the minister has the right to be supported. Paul asserts three rights dealing with the church supporting the minister financially, then he gives five supporting arguments. The word "power" (exousia) means authority or right throughout this passage.

1. The right to be fed. The minister and his family have to eat; therefore, it is the church's duty to provide food for their ministers.

2. The right to receive travel support. The ministers of Paul's day were always travelling about ministering among a number of churches. Ministers of every generation have had travel expenses; therefore, it is the responsibility of the churches to provide the travel expenses. Note two things.

- a. The apostles and other ministers took their families with them as they travelled about ministering. This seems to indicate that most of them were married.
- b. The reference to the "brothers of the Lord" is a strong testimony to the deity of Christ. His own half-brothers who had lived with him day by day became followers and ministers after His resurrection (cp. Mt.13:55-56).

3. The right to receive enough income that he can minister full time (v.6). Paul says that he and Barnabas worked and earned their own living while ministering in Corinth. But they had the right to be supported by the church.

4. The supportive arguments. Note how clearly the issue is illustrated and seen in these arguments. The church is unquestionably responsible for the support of its ministers.

- a. The soldier's right: What soldier goes to war at his own expense? The minister is a soldier of Christ. He is leading the people of God in their spiritual warfare. He is, therefore, to be supported by those who engage him to lead the battle.
- b. The farmer's right: What farmer plants his vineyard and does not eat of the fruit? The minister is a farmer who sows the seed of the Word of God. He plants and harvests the fruit for the Lord and for the church. Therefore, the church is to see that he reaps of the harvest and eats of the fruit.
- c. The shepherd's right: What shepherd feeds a flock and does not eat of the milk of the flock? The minister is the shepherd of God's flock and feeds God's flock; therefore, he is to be fed and supported by the flock.
- d. The law or Word of God says this right belongs to a minister. Paul says he does not have to speak as a man using human illustrations to prove his point. The Word of God says the same thing:

"Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?" (v.9; cp. Dt.25:4).

Note the question: "Does God take care of oxen?" Yes, he has provided in His Word for oxen. Men are to feed the oxen, for the oxen serve men. If God expects men to take care of the beasts who serve them, how much more does He expect men to take care of the ministers who labor for their spiritual welfare?

e. The conclusion is forceful: these things are written for the sake of God's people. The Greek is emphatic in its stress: these things are said entirely, with all certainty, most assuredly for our sakes. Therefore, the minister or preacher of the gospel should labor and labor diligently in hope, for God shall reward his hope. God will see to it that the minister shall partake of his hope. God will see to it that the minister has the necessities of life. (Cp. Mt.6:24-34.)

5. The central question is direct: Does spiritual labor merit material wage? Does ministering the highest qualities of life to people deserve pay? Such qualities as proclaiming and teaching and encouraging...

- salvation & redemption
- life, both abundant & eternal
- love, joy, peace
- longsuffering, gentleness, goodness
- faith, meekness, control

The answer is obvious. There is no question, for there is no greater need than ministering to people in proclaiming and teaching the great qualities for which all men long.

“Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses, nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat” (Mt.10:9-10).

“Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel” (1 Cor.9:14).

“Let him that is taught in the word communicate [give, share, support] unto him that teacheth in all good things” (Gal.6:6).

“Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate [give, share, support] with my affliction” (Ph.4:14).

“For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward” (1 Tim.5:18).

3 (9:12-14) Minister, Rights: the minister has the right to be the first person supported by the church. The question is incriminating: if others have the right to be supported by the church, does not the minister have the first right of support? The Corinthian church had recognized the rights of others to receive support, but they had tragically neglected Paul. Imagine a church neglecting to adequately support Paul! What he has to say is an indictment against the church at Corinth and any other church that fails in this God-given obligation.

1. The support of the minister is not to be abused by either the church or the minister (v.12). Paul did not demand support when he was at Corinth (a three year ministry initially). Note that he says he suffered all things; that is, he suffered hunger and all kinds of deprivations, and the idea is that he suffered them silently. He told no one. Why? Because there were some who opposed his ministry, and they would have charged him with being worldly minded, or being in the ministry only for money, or having wrong motives or a host of other false accusations. Paul just did not want to hamper the gospel in any way whatsoever. However, the church failed Paul and failed him miserably. It did not care for him nor look after him as it should have. Imagine his suffering from lack of food, adequate and proper clothing, and adequate housing!

“And Jesus saith unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head” (Mt.8:20).

2. The historical practice of supporting ministers is to be closely observed: ministers have always partaken of the altar. Ministers who have ministered holy things to people have always lived of the altar or temple, that is, been supported because he proclaimed God from the altar.

3. The Lord himself has ordained that ministers live of the gospel. This is the supreme authority, the Lord Himself. The Lord demands: if a man preaches the gospel, he is to live of the gospel.

“Provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in your purses, nor scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves: for the workman is worthy of his meat” (Mt.10:9-10).

“And in the same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give: for the labourer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house. And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you” (Lk.10:7-8).

4 (9:15) Minister, Rights: the minister has the right to make the judgment about receiving wages or not. Paul made the decision not to receive a wage from the Corinthians. This was simply his strategy with the Corinthians. It enabled him to face his enemies and to refute any charge of preaching for money. He did receive support in other situations (Ph.4:10f). Note two points.

1. Paul clearly says that he has not written to shame the Corinthians into supporting him. His purpose has been to teach them how to treat their ministers.

2. Paul says he does not want the church to begin supporting him, for he is able to glory in his labor for Christ and the church. What he means is that he was able to face his enemies with confidence because he lived a life of self-denial.

Thought 1. The law of Christ is that ministers are to be supported by the people of God. However, circumstances sometimes dictate that ministers work at secular jobs, and these circumstances need to be acknowledged when they arise and judged on their own merits as they are carried to the Lord in prayer.

“Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine” (1 Tim.5:17).

“Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation” (Heb.13:7).

“For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it” (Mt.16:25).

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

C. The Inside Look at a Minister (Part I): A Compulsion to Preach and to Minister, 9:16-23

(9:16-23) Introduction: this passage is an excellent look at the minister and what it is that compels him to minister.

1. His compulsion: to preach the gospel (v.16).
2. His judgment and woe if he fails to preach (v.16-17).
3. His reward: to gain the satisfaction of preaching the gospel freely (v.18).
4. His method: to become all things to all men (v.19-23).

1 (9:16) Preaching—Gospel—Ministers: the minister's compulsion: he must preach the gospel. Paul did not glory because he was called to be a minister. Being a preacher of the gospel was not a reason for glorying, any more than being a business man or a professional is a reason for glorying. He very clearly says, "though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of."

Necessity was "laid upon" (epikeitai) him. The word means to be pressed, compelled, constrained, required, duty-bound to preach the gospel. God had called Paul to preach the gospel; therefore, it was his charge, his work, his business, his call in life. He could not do otherwise: he was compelled to preach. His preaching was not a matter of choice; he had not chosen to be a preacher. His preaching was a matter of duty. If he did not preach, he would be disobeying God and would miss the very purpose for his life upon earth.

"And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature" (Mk.16:15).

"For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard" (Acts 4:20).

"But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee" (Acts 26:16).

"For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!" (1 Cor.9:16).

"Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine" (2 Tim.4:2).

"Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, Here am I; send me" (Is.6:8).

"I have set watchmen upon thy walls, O Jerusalem, which shall never hold their peace day nor night: ye that make mention of the LORD, keep not silence" (Is.62:6).

"Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speak any more in his name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay" (Jer.20:9; cp. Gen.12:1; Ex.3:10; Judg.6:14; 1 Ki.19:19).

2 (9:16-17) Preaching—Minister: the minister's accountability: he faces judgment and woe if he fails to preach. This explains the necessity and compulsion to preach. One of the major reasons Paul was driven to preach the gospel was the terrible judgment that he would face if he failed. The word “woe” means that when he stood before God, he would have to face some terrible...

- regret
- distress
- disaster
- denunciation
- grief

No person who has ever been called by God is exempt from this coming judgment. This is made clear in what is now said (v.17).

If Paul preached the gospel willingly, he had a reward. But if he preached unwillingly, “a dispensation of the gospel [was still] committed to him.” This simply means he was still responsible to preach the gospel even if he did it unwillingly or if he refused to do it. The word “dispensation” (oikonomia) means a stewardship, a trust. The steward was the manager of a large household or estate. The minister of God is the manager of God’s household and estate (church).

Once God had called Paul to preach, the stewardship and trust of preaching was his. Whether he followed through and preached did not matter; he was still responsible for preaching. There was no release from the call and duty. He would stand accountable for preaching the gospel or he would stand accountable for not preaching the gospel.

Thought 1. The call to preach the gospel is an awesome responsibility. God places the stewardship of the gospel into the hands of the person He calls. Just think about it: whatever the minister does with the gospel is all that will be done with the gospel—nothing more, nothing less. God has placed His gospel—the stewardship of it—into the hands of the persons He calls. Only what they do with the gospel will be done. What an awesome responsibility!

“Whereof I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfil the word of God” (Col.1:25).

“But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak; not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts” (1 Th.2:4).

“According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust” (1 Tim.1:11).

“But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour” (Tit.1:3).

3 (9:18) Preaching—Minister: the minister’s reward is that he gains the satisfaction of preaching the gospel freely. Paul had the power, that is, the right, to be paid by the Corinthian church; but he did not receive payment. Why? Because he wanted the reward of preaching the gospel free of charge. What was the reward?

- ⇒ The privilege of seeing people saved free of charge.
- ⇒ The confidence of the people in him, that he was free of greed.
- ⇒ The removal of any charge that he was in the ministry for comfort and money.

Thought 1. This does not mean that a minister is to work for nothing, nor that a church is not to pay its minister and pay him well (see outline and notes—1 Cor.9:1-15). It was simply Paul’s strategy to keep those who opposed him so much from being able to charge him with preaching for comfort and money.

The lesson for us is clear: we must preach out of necessity and not for money. We must minister for the purpose of helping people and not to get gain. We must serve people and not use people.

Thought 2. Paul did sometimes support himself in the ministry.

“And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought: for by their occupation they were tentmakers” (Acts 18:3).

“Yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me” (Acts 20:34).

“And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him” (Acts 28:30).

“But I have used none of these things: neither have I written these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it were better for me to die, than that any man should make my glorying void” (1 Cor.9:15).

“For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God” (1 Th.2:9).

“Neither did we eat any man’s bread for nought; but wrought with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you” (2 Th.3:8).

Thought 3. The minister of the gospel should constantly search his heart and make sure his heart is pure and cleansed of any wrong motive.

“Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood” (Acts 20:28).

“Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God’s heritage, but being ensamples to the flock” (1 Pt.5:2-3).

4 (9:19-23) Preaching—Minister: the minister's method is to become all things to all men. Paul says that he was "free from all men"; that is, he was not obligated to conform to any man's ideas or opinions. He had been set free in Christ and was obligated only to be conformed to Christ. But Paul surrendered himself, actually made himself a servant to all men. Why? So that he might win more men to Christ.

Note: Paul's going along with the opinions and customs of others does not mean he was compromising his convictions nor being two-faced. It means that he was getting next to men, gaining their confidence and trust so they would pay attention to his witness for Christ.

1. Paul became as a Jew to the Jews, that is, to those who were under the law. When Paul was ministering to the Jews, he went along with their customs and laws just as long as nothing violated his walk in Christ. Note that Paul was not under the law.

"For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth" (Ro.10:4).

Paul's standard was Christ, not the law. But he placed himself under the law when ministering to the Jews in order to get next to them and win their confidence and trust so he could witness to them. Note: Paul compromised with the Jews and all others when a principle was not involved. Acts 21:18-27 is a good example of just how far he would go to gain an entrance for the gospel. However, when a principle was at stake, he would not budge an inch (cp. Gal.2:3-5).

2. Paul became a non-religionist to those who did not observe the law. But note a critical fact: he does not mean he became lawless and immoral. He still obeyed the law of God; that is, he was as always under the law to Christ. He still obeyed the will of Christ which actually includes the commandments of God and more. But Paul went along with the customs and lifestyle of the heathen just so they were not a violation of the law of Christ. He lived as a Gentile when among them in order to get next to them and win them to Christ.

3. Paul became weak to the weak Christians. That is, he went along with their petty rules and regulations. He refrained from doing some things that were perfectly legitimate. He conformed to their ideas and opinions just to have an open door to help them grow in Christ. He laid his personal liberty and rights aside in order to reach the new and weak Christians. He would not dare become a stumbling block to them, nor would he cause them to shut him out of their lives by offending them and thereby lose his opportunity to help them. He became as one of them in order to win them.

4. Paul clearly states his purpose for conforming to the customs and opinions of men:

"I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some" (v.22).

Paul is declaring that he went to the extreme when necessary in order to reach people for Christ. Note the word "this" (v.23); it is usually translated "all things." Paul declares that he did "all things" for the sake of the gospel. What mattered in life was not him and his rights, but the gospel. The gospel was the consuming passion of his life. Why? That he might partake of the gospel with other believers. By being faithful to the gospel he would share in the redemption of the gospel with other believers.

"And he saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men" (Mt.4:19).

"But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: and whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be servant of all" (Mk.10:43-44).

"It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak" (Ro.14:21).

"Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth" (1 Cor.10:24).

"Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ" (Gal.6:2).

"As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith" (Gal.6:10).

"Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others" (Ph.2:4).

"The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise" (Pr.11:30).

"And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever" (Dan.12:3).

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

D. The Inside Look at a Minister (Part II): Great Discipline Required, 9:24-27

(9:24-27) Introduction: this passage is one of the great challenges of Scripture, a challenge that every minister and believer should memorize and keep ever before their minds. Paul is still giving an inside look into his heart and ministry, how he viewed the Christian life and ministry. But this passage is unique in its description, for it describes Paul's feelings about the Christian life in terms of athletes, the runner and the boxer. No true minister or Christian believer can approach the Christian life with a flabby attitude. No genuine Christian can indulge the body and its lusts and expect to win the incorruptible crown of the Christian life.

Corinth was known for the Isthmian Games which were second only to the Olympic Games of the Grecian and Roman world. Therefore, everyone in the Corinthian church knew the point Paul was making.

Dramatically, Paul says that the Christian minister and the Christian believer can be compared to athletes. Shockingly, he says that a true minister and a true believer of the Lord is to live a life just as disciplined as an olympic athlete. He actually says that we are to keep our bodies under control just as much as the athlete. Closely observe his points.

1. He enters the race to run and win (v.24).
2. He strenuously disciplines and controls himself (v.25).
3. He runs to obtain an incorruptible crown (v.25).
4. He runs and fights with certainty and without distraction (v.26).
5. He masters his own body (v.27).
6. He guards against disqualification (v.27).

1 (9:24) Christian Race—Minister: the minister or believer enters the Christian race and he enters to win. In the athletic contest every runner enters the race for one purpose only: to win. However, only one receives the prize; there is only one winner. The believer enters the Christian race for one purpose only: to win. Therefore, he strains in running to obtain the prize. Nothing is acceptable except running and running hard:

- ⇒ Walking fast is unacceptable.
- ⇒ Jogging is unacceptable.
- ⇒ Lagging behind is unacceptable.
- ⇒ Showing little concern for the finish line is unacceptable.

The point is this: the minister and layman alike must run as diligently as the runner at the Olympic Games. The believer must put out the same kind of vigorous effort in order to reach the finish line. He must be vigorous and diligent; he must persist in the Christian race.

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain” (1 Cor.9:24).

“Ye did run well; who did hinder you that ye should not obey the truth?” (Gal.5:7).

“Holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither laboured in vain” (Ph.2:16).

“I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:14).

“Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us” (Heb.12:1).

“I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:7-8).

2 (9:25) Christian Race—Discipline—Body: the minister (believer) strenuously disciplines and controls himself. Every runner and boxer is highly disciplined in body, mind, thought, spirit, exercise, workouts, and contests. He is disciplined...

- in body: what he eats and how much he eats.
- in mind and thought: his concentration on the goal and how to best gear his body, spirit, and mind to that end.
- in spirit: in keeping his spirit strong and motivated for the strain necessary to work out day by day and to reach his goal.

The minister or believer is to do no less. He must be just as disciplined as the athlete. The word “striveth” (agonizomai) means agony. He disciplines himself to the point of pain. And note: the discipline covers “all things.” It covers his body, mind, and spirit, the place where God’s presence actually dwells. Therefore, he does not allow anything to touch or enter his body that is corrupt, impure, polluted, or that will cause a more rapid deterioration of the temple.

1. The minister or believer controls his body. His body is actually the temple of the Holy Spirit.

“I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God” (Ro.12:1-2).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:19-20).

“And put a knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to appetite” (Pr.23:2).

“Hast thou found honey? Eat so much as is sufficient for thee, lest thou be filled therewith, and vomit it” (Pr.25:16).

2. The minister or believer controls his mind and thoughts.

“For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be” (Ro.8:5-7).

“For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor.10:3-5).

“But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart” (Mt.5:28).

3. The minister or believer controls his spirit.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law” (Gal.5:22-23).

4. The minister or believer works out consistently in ministry and service to others.

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“Bear ye one another’s burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ” (Gal.6:2).

“As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith” (Gal.6:10).

“With good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men” (Eph.6:7).

“Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear” (Heb.12:28).

“Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling” (Ps.2:11).

3 (9:25) Christian Race—Minister: the minister or believer runs to obtain an incorruptible crown. The runners in an athletic contest run to obtain a passing fame and a corruptible crown or trophy. The athletes in Paul’s day ran for a crown or wreath of olive or pine leaves. Their fame and crown were the same as with our athletes: they both passed ever so quickly. However, the crown and fame of the genuine Christian runner will never pass away. His crown and fame are incorruptible. He shall live and be rewarded with an eternal fame and with the most real and valued crowns imaginable.

“And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible” (1 Cor.9:25).

“Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing” (2 Tim.4:8).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away” (1 Pt.5:4; cp. 1 Pt.1:3-4).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

“The four and twenty elders fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne” (Rev.4:10).

4 (9:26) Christian Race—Minister: the minister or believer runs and fights with certainty and without distraction. Effort is necessary, effort that sacrifices and strains to the point of hurting. But note: he is just like the runner. He runs with certainty and without distraction. He knows where the track is; he knows where the lines on the track are, and where the finish line is. He is not uncertain:

- ⇒ sometimes keenly aware of the race, other times not so sure.
- ⇒ sometimes active, other times inactive.
- ⇒ sometimes practicing, other times laying out.
- ⇒ sometimes controlling, other times indulging.
- ⇒ sometimes staying in the lines, other times moving out.
- ⇒ sometimes keeping his eyes on the finish line, other times glancing away.

Note the second example. He is like a boxer. He knows where the ring is, and he knows his opponent. Therefore, he does not beat the air as a boxer who misses his target. He is not just swinging wildly, hoping to hit the mark. He does not walk out of the ring in the middle of the fight; he stays in and fights. He does not glance away; he keeps his eyes on the target. He knows the mark and the target, so his punches are planned, deliberate, controlled, and accurate. The Christian (minister and layman) knows he is in a spiritual warfare; therefore, he is fighting to conquer and to win the incorruptible prize.

“For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds” (2 Cor.10:4).

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare” (1 Tim.1:18).

“Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses” (1 Tim.6:12).

“No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier” (2 Tim.2:4).

“It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God. But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after ye were illuminated, ye endured a great fight of afflictions” (Heb.10:31-32).

5 (9:27) Christian Race—Minister: the Christian minister or believer is not to be controlled by his body; he is to control his body. How? By simply not giving in to it—by denying the body whatever it craves. It is tough at first, but a person can do it by simply not giving in even if beads of sweat pop out. A person can do it by refusing to give in, by not doing it no matter the pain—by doing exactly what the disciplined athlete does. And in a few days or weeks the most glorious thing happens: the body is conquered, brought under control. The athletes and consistent exercisers of the world know this. Therefore, no minister or believer will ever be excused for not disciplining his body.

The minister or believer masters his own body. The phrase “keep under” means to bruise, to beat back. Paul says he literally beats back his body and its cravings in order to bring it into subjection. The word subjection (doulagogo) means to enslave, to lead about as a slave.

Thought 1. What wonderful discipline—discipline so often sought after! How desperately we need to learn from Paul!

“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk.9:23).

“And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares” (Lk.21:34).

“Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof” (Ro.6:12).

“But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof” (Ro.13:14).

“All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any” (1 Cor.6:12).

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway” (1 Cor.9:27).

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal.5:16).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body” (Jas.3:2).

“And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity” (2 Pt.1:5-7).

- 6 (9:27) Castaway—Christian Race—Minister: the minister or believer guards against disqualification. Note two facts.
1. Paul was concerned that his life measure up to his preaching. He feared that he might fail to live what he preached. This is what he means by being disqualified. Note exactly what he says:

“Lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.”

Paul knew the utter necessity to live what he preached. He knew that the Lord would not tolerate hypocrisy, not in the pulpit, not in the ministry of the gospel, not in the persons whom He had chosen to be the ministers of His people. They were to preach righteousness, and they were to live righteously, live exactly what they preached.

Paul knew that the Lord just would not allow false profession from His ministers, not for long, not without stern chastisement and judgment coming upon the servant who was living a hypocritical life.

“Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thyself? thou that preachest a man should not steal, dost thou steal? Thou that sayest a man should not commit adultery, dost thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idols, dost thou commit sacrilege? Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God? For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles [unbelievers] through you, as it is written” (Ro.2:21-24).

“Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven” (Mt.7:21).

“He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me” (Mk.7:6).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate” (Tit.1:16).

“And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer. Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues” (Ps.78:35-36).

2. The judgment or chastisement feared by Paul was that of being a castaway. The word “castaway” (adokimos) means reprobate, rejected, disqualified, disapproved, unfit, failing to stand the test. What does Paul mean? Most writers think that Paul is referring to salvation, that when he comes to the end of the race, he sees the possibility of being rejected—if he has not lived what he has preached to others. The very fact that most writers understand Paul to be dealing with salvation speaks loudly and clearly to all ministers of the gospel: we must heed the Scripture.

“Teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:12-13).

Now, what does Paul mean? Five things are sure about Paul’s teaching in Scripture.

First, Paul definitely pictured himself in a life-long struggle for salvation. The great Greek scholar A.T. Robertson says that Paul alone uses the Greek word adokimos in a moral sense in the New Testament, and Paul definitely says that he subjects his body and keeps it under control lest he be a castaway. Look at Paul’s use of the word. It stands as a beneficial warning to us all—to live what we preach, and profess and live it with the utmost diligence and effort (Word Pictures in the New Testament, Vol.4. Nashville, TN: Broadman Press, 1931, p.150).

“And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate [adokimos] mind, to do those things which are not convenient” (Ro.1:28).

“But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway [adokimos]” (1 Cor.9:27).

“Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates [adokimos]? But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates. Now I pray to God that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates” (2 Cor.13:5-7).

“Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate [adokimos] concerning the faith” (2 Tim.3:8).

“They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate [adokimos]” (Tit.1:16).

Second, Paul definitely pictured himself as having to struggle against sin throughout life, and he struggled against sin for two reasons:

⇒ to attain to the resurrection of the dead.

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ....If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead” (Ph.3:8, 11; cp. v.7-15).

⇒ to conquer the flesh.

“This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law. And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:16-24).

Third, Paul was perfectly assured of his salvation; he was perfectly assured that he would run the race and run it well. He was persuaded of two things:

⇒ that nothing in heaven or earth, in fact, nothing present and nothing to come, could ever separate him from the love of God.

“Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?...For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord” (Ro.8:35, 38-39).

⇒ that the Lord was able to keep him until the day of redemption.

“I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day” (2 Tim.1:12).

“For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren” (Ro.8:29).

“But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish you, and keep you from evil” (2 Th.3:3; cp. 1 Pt.1:5; Jude 24; Rev.3:10).

Fourth, Paul was convinced that only those who walked in the Spirit and were committed to a deadly struggle against sin were saved and given the absolute assurance of their salvation (see outlines and notes—Ro.8:1-17).

Fifth, Paul was not perfect, and he confessed the fact, confessing that he was far from perfect. Therefore, until he was made perfect, he was going to struggle, follow, press, and strive for perfection; that is, to be conformed to the image of Christ.

“Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus [to be conformed to His image, conformed to perfection]” (Ph.3:12-14).

Now, having studied all this, one thing needs to be observed about what Paul has said.

⇒ Paul was perfectly assured of his salvation and of God’s power to keep him safe until the day of redemption.

⇒ But at the same time Paul was deeply conscious of a deadly struggle against sin.

Pauls’ point is clear and easily seen: it is the minister or lay believer who is carnal, hypocritical, complacent, self-indulgent, fleshly, worldly, and prideful who has doubts and has to suppress and ignore his doubts. The believer who is assured of his salvation is constantly aware that the proof of his salvation is fruit or good works. He knows that if his life is not genuine, then he not only can be, but he will be disqualified, counted useless, put on the shelf, and cast away. Therefore, he runs and runs the race of the Christian life, and he runs to win. He keeps his body under control. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1—1 Jn.5:16 for more discussion.)

“Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit” (Mt.7:16-17).

“But other fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, some an hundredfold, some sixty-fold, some thirtyfold” (Mt.13:8).

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit” (Jn.15:2).

“I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing” (Jn.15:5).

“Even so faith, if it hath not works, is dead, being alone....But wilt thou know, O vain man, that faith without works is dead?” (Jas.2:17, 20).

“Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only” (Jas.2:24).

DIVISION V

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

E. The Warning Example of Israel, 10:1-13

(10:1-13) Introduction: the security of the believer is one of the great doctrines of the Scripture. Unfortunately, the doctrine has too often been preached and taught with an inadequate understanding of the doctrine and to the neglect of the warnings of Scripture.

The result has been tragic, for it has brought multitudes into the church who have not been genuinely converted to Christ, and it has given them a sense of false security and over-confidence. Multitudes think they are Christians and followers of Christ, but their lives do not match their profession.

Two of the greatest problems facing the church today are those of false security and over-confidence. But Scripture is clear...

- A person may think and say he is saved, but he may be wrong. Saying and thinking do not make a person safe and secure in Christ. Saying and thinking are not the reality or the evidence of salvation.
- A person may be baptized and belong to a church, but baptism and membership in a church do not make a person safe and secure in Christ.
- A person may partake of the Lord's supper or sacrament and think he is thereby safe and secure in Christ, but partaking of the bread and wine do not make a person safe and secure in Christ.
- A person may sense the presence of a supernatural being, or be greatly gifted and very active in the church, but it is not these things that make a person safe and secure in Christ.

This was the problem with the Corinthian believers. All of these things were true of them, and they felt safe and secure in Christ. But they were wrong, and they needed to be strongly warned lest they be doomed.

The previous passage had made the point clear. The Christian believer is in a race for the incorruptible crown (1 Cor.9:24-27). The crown of life is not given to a person on a silver platter. A person must run to win the race: run in discipline, denying himself and straining to control his life for Christ. If he does not so run, he will become a castaway (cp. 1 Cor.9:27).

This passage enforces the point. Paul uses the nation of Israel as a prime example. Israel had been greatly privileged by God—in every way imaginable—and if any people ever felt safe and secure, Israel did. Yet, the people perished in the wilderness outside the promised land (heaven). Believers who feel safe and secure are warned by the example of Israel.

1. The example of Israel: all shared the blessings of God (v.1-5).
2. The warning (v.6-10).
3. The point: receive the warning (v.11-13).

1 (10:1-5) Israel—Faithfulness: the example of Israel. All Israel shared in the blessings and privileges of God. The word “all” is emphasized. All left Egypt (a type of the world) and began the journey to the promised land (a type of heaven). All began to walk through the wilderness of the world with those who truly believed and trusted God; but, as became evident, all were not genuine. They did not truly believe and trust. They felt safe and secure because they were journeying with those who were travelling to the promised land. But they were still in the wilderness, not in the promised land. And the wilderness included all kinds of dangers that had to be confronted and conquered or else they would be destroyed by the wilderness.

Israel had five remarkable blessings and privileges as they journeyed to the promised land. God saw to it that the believers had what was necessary to journey through the wilderness of life.

1. Israel had the cloud of God’s presence. This refers to God’s presence and guidance.

“And the LORD went before them by day in a pillar of a cloud, to lead them the way; and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light; to go by day and night: he took not away the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, from before the people” (Ex.13:21-22; cp. Ex.14:19; 24:15; 34:5).

2. Israel passed through the Red Sea. This refers to the great deliverance of God from the bondages and enslavements of Egypt which were a symbol of the world (cp. Ex.14:13-31).

3. Israel was baptized into Moses and his leadership. Moses stood as a type of Christ. God gave Israel the leader it needed to reach the promised land. Therefore, any person who followed Moses through the Red Sea and under the cloud was baptized, immersed, and given over to Moses and his mission. The person was proclaiming that he was a follower of Moses and his mission to reach the promised land.

4. Israel partook of the food and water of God’s provision. The word “spiritual” simply means that the food and water came from God. God provided for their needs; He took care of their day-to-day necessities (Ex.16:4-8, 11-15; Ex.17:6; Num.20:1f).

5. Israel had the presence of Christ. Note how Christ is said to have been present with Israel. The rock that provided water for Israel is said to have been Christ. Jesus Christ was the Source, the energy, the power, the Person who...

- caused the rock to gush forth water.
- caused the Red Sea to roll back.
- caused the cloud to guide Israel and to rain manna or bread.
- gave Moses and the promise of the promised land to the people.

Note how Paul is proclaiming that Jesus Christ is Jehovah of the Old Testament, the One who is called “the Rock” (Dt.32:4; 18:30-31; 2 Sam.22:2; Ps.18:2; 92:15; etc). It was He, our Lord and Savior, who was guiding and providing for Israel through its wilderness journey toward the promised land.

However, what happened to most of the believers of Israel is tragic. There were over six-hundred thousand men alone who broke away from the enslavements of Egypt and began the journey to the promised land. This means that including the women and children there were well over two million who stepped out to follow God to the promised land (cp. Ex.12:37; Num.1:46). But the critical question is this:

⇒ How many remained faithful to God through the wilderness journey? How many actually turned away from the fleshly desires aroused by the delicious foods, drinks, and bodily stimulations of Egypt and the world? How many actually disciplined their bodies, subjected their desires, and kept their eyes and hearts upon the promised land? How many were faithful and steadfast, unmoveable and always abounding in the work of the Lord until they reached the promised land? Remember over two million began the journey: How many entered the promised land? Only two! Caleb and Joshua. Caleb and Joshua alone remained faithful to God. Only two did not sin and displease God. Everyone else, over two to three million, perished in the wilderness. They were overthrown (katastronnumi), that is, scattered as corpses all over the wilderness. Why? Because they did not please God.

“The LORD hath been sore displeased with your fathers. Therefore say thou unto them, Thus saith the LORD of hosts; Turn ye unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will turn unto you, saith the LORD of hosts” (Zech.1:2-3).

“And I am very sore displeased with the heathen that are at ease” (Zech.1:15).

2 (10:6-10) Warning: the warning to the church and to its believers. Scripture says explicitly, what happened to Israel is a warning, an example to us. We face danger, great danger: what happened to the believers of Israel can happen to us. If it does, then the doom that fell upon the believers of Israel will fall upon us. It is critical, therefore, to know what caused the believers of Israel to be destroyed and what kept them from entering the promised land.

1. There was the sin of lust. We must not lust after evil things as they lusted. They lusted and craved for the delicious foods of Egypt (Num.11:4f). As a result of the lust, a plague broke out among the people and killed many of them. In fact, so many died that the place became known as “the grave of greediness or of lust” (Num.11:34).

The lust of those believers is a strong warning to us: we must “not lust after evil things [worldly pleasures]” (v.6).

“And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it becometh unfruitful” (Mk.4:19).

“Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and were by nature the children of wrath, even as others” (Eph.2:3).

“That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour; not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God” (1 Th.4:4-5).

“Flee also youthful lusts: but follow righteousness, faith, charity, peace, with them that call on the Lord out of a pure heart” (2 Tim.2:22).

“Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death” (Jas.1:15).

“Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not” (Jas.4:2).

“Dearly beloved, I beseech you as strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul” (1 Pt.2:11).

“Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world” (1 Jn.2:15-16).

2. There was the sin of idolatry. When Moses was on Mount Sinai receiving the law, the people became restless waiting for the Word of God. Therefore, they decided to go ahead and create their own form of worship (cp. Ex.32:1f). It should be noted that the people were actually dedicating their worship to God Himself.

“And when Aaron saw it, he built an altar before it; and Aaron made proclamation, and said, Tomorrow is a feast to the LORD” (Ex.32:5).

The point to see is this: the image of the golden calf was only to help them picture and imagine God. They felt the need for some image to help them in their worship of Jehovah. Note the reference to eating, drinking, and playing (immoral play). Such behavior often accompanies idolatry, the worship of a self-made god created by a person’s own mind.

This was the danger the Corinthian believers faced. If they participated in the social functions of unbelievers, they might fall into sin. Whether the function was held in the temple or in the homes of the unbelievers, the likelihood was they would slip into the same idolatrous behavior of the unbelievers. (See notes—1 Cor.5:9-10; 6:9 for more discussion.)

“Little children, keep yourselves from idols” (1 Jn.5:21).

“Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them” (Dt.11:16).

“I am the LORD: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another” (Is.42:8).

3. There was the sin of fornication or immorality. This was a gross sin of some of the believers of Israel. Over twenty thousand of them committed immorality with their neighbors and as a result they were judged and condemned to destruction, banned from the promised land (cp. Num.25:1-9). (See notes—1 Cor.5:9-10; 6:9 for discussion.)

“And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet” (Ro.1:27).

“Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind” (1 Cor.6:9).

“Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness....they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God” (Gal.5:19, 21).

“Who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness” (Eph.4:19).

“But fornication, and all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints” (Eph.5:3).

“For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication” (1 Th.4:3).

“For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ....Even as Sodom and Gomorrha, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire” (Jude 4, 7).

4. There was the sin of tempting Christ. The word “tempt” (peirazo) means to try the Lord’s patience; to see how far a person can go; to test the patience of Christ. The believers of Israel...

- often felt that God and His leader Moses *demand*ed and expected too much.

- often longed for the things of the flesh which they had formerly known in Egypt (the world).

They became discontent with the things God provided, and longed to return to Egypt (the world). Therefore, many of them perished in the wilderness and were not allowed to enter the promised land.

Thought 1. Believers often feel that God expects too much, that they are missing out on something in the world. They often feel that God will forgive them...

- even if they do look
- even if they do taste
- even if they do touch
- even if they do slip a little
- even if they do hold back a little

“Go to now, ye that say, To day or to morrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain” (Jas.4:13).

“Ye shall not tempt the LORD your God, as ye tempted him in Massah” (Dt.6:16).

5. There was the sin of murmuring and complaining and grumbling. Some of the believers in Israel were always complaining and murmuring against God and Moses (cp. Num.14:2, 36; 16:11, 41). The result was judgment and punishment by the destroyer, that is, an angel sent by God to execute judgment. They perished in the wilderness and never saw the promised land. (Cp. Ex.14:11; 15:24; 16:2; 17:3; Num.11:1; 14:27; 20:3; 21:5.)

Thought 1. How many believers grumble and gripe? How many become dissatisfied...

- with the direction God gives through His leaders?
- with the food God gives through His leaders?
- with the way God guides through His leaders?
- with the words God gives to His leaders?

How many voice their complaints to others? The warning is clear to the believers of God’s church.

“Neither murmur ye, as some of them also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer” (1 Cor.10:10).

“Do all things without murmurings and disputings” (Ph.2:14).

“These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words, having men’s persons in admiration because of advantage” (Jude 16).

“And the people murmured against Moses, saying, What shall we drink?” (Ex.15:24).

“I remembered God, and was troubled: I complained, and my spirit was overwhelmed” (Ps.77:3).

“The foolishness of man perverteth his way: and his heart fretteth against the Lord” (Pr.19:3).

“Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins?” (Lam.3:39).

3 (10:11-13) Temptation: the point is unequivocal—receive the warning. The things that happened to the believers of Israel are examples and warnings to us. We must heed them for three reasons.

1. The end or climax of the world (age) has come upon us. Since Christ, believers are living in the last age or period of human history. This simply means that Jesus Christ is the final revelation of God, the only way God will ever deal with men again. Men must now approach God by faith in Christ.

This age is what is known as the age of grace, grace being the way God now deals with men. The age of Christ or of grace is the last age of human history. Therefore, since we are living in the last age, we must heed the warning example of Israel.

2. A person can fall, especially if he begins to think that he stands, that is, if he begins to feel safe and secure. Note this verse, for it is a straightforward warning that is usually neglected and ignored: “Let him that thinketh he standeth [is safe and secure] take heed lest he fall.”

“And he spake this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others” (Lk.18:9).

“And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know” (1 Cor.8:2).

“Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall” (1 Cor.10:12).

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Pr.20:6).

“He that trusteth in his own heart is a fool: but whoso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered” (Pr.28:26).

“Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleasures, that dwellest carelessly, that sayest in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children: but these two things shall come to thee in a moment in one day, the loss of children, and widowhood: they shall come upon thee in their perfection for the multitude of thy sorceries, and for the great abundance of thine enchantments. For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, it hath perverted thee; and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else beside me” (Is.47:8-10).

3. There is a way to escape temptation, but to escape temptation the believer must know three great truths.

a. All temptation is common to man (anthropinos). The word means a human temptation that falls to the lot of man. This is an amazing promise. Think about it. No temptation...

- is superhuman
- is unique
- is beyond man’s capacity to handle
- is terrifying in any sense of the word

Every single temptation that attacks the believer is common to all men. All men face the same temptation. This means a wonderful thing: some men have already overcome it. Yes, many fell, caved in to the temptation; but some demonstrated the will and energy to overcome it.

- b. God is faithful: He limits the temptation. He does not allow a temptation to confront a believer that is...
- |                    |                     |                  |
|--------------------|---------------------|------------------|
| • too enticing     | • too appealing     | • too attractive |
| • too forceful     | • too satisfying    | • too fulfilling |
| • too pleasing     | • too self-exalting | • too promising  |
| • too ego-boosting | • too stimulating   | • too arousing   |

God knows what we can bear and how much we can bear; therefore, He limits every single temptation within our limits to overcome it. God is faithful.

“God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord” (1 Cor.1:9).

“Know therefore that the LORD thy God, he is God, the faithful God, which keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love him and keep his commandments to a thousand generations” (Dt.7:9).

“For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth, to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward him” (2 Chron.16:9).

“Thy mercy, O LORD, is in the heavens; and thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds” (Ps.36:5).

“I will sing of the mercies of the LORD for ever: with my mouth will I make known thy faithfulness to all generations” (Ps.89:1).

“He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler” (Ps.91:4).

- c. God provides a way to escape. He always makes an escape route, a way out of the temptation. He always gives us the strength and energy to walk through or over the temptation or else to turn and flee from it.

“Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you” (Lk.10:19).

“And the God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly” (Ro.16:20).

“There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it” (1 Cor.10:13).

“For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted” (Heb.2:18).

“Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (Jas.4:7).

“To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne” (Rev.3:21).

“The way of the righteous is made plain” (Pr.15:19).

“And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left” (Is.30:21).

“And I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I do unto them, and not forsake them” (Is.42:16).

“Thus saith the LORD, which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters” (Is.43:16).

DIVISION V

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING CHRISTIAN LIBERTY AND PERSONAL RIGHTS, 8:1-11:1

F. The Limits of Christian Believers and Freedom, 10:14-11:1

(10:14-11:1) Introduction: how far can a Christian go in participating in the activities of the world, especially in social functions? This question is a constant problem that nags both believers and nonbelievers. Christian liberty vs. license—what a believer is free to do and what he is not free to do—is the subject of this important passage.

1. Flee idolatry (v.14).
2. Judge whether our participation in a function identifies who we worship (v.15-22).
3. Judge whether lawful acts are always permissible (v.23-28).
4. Judge whether our behavior and freedom should be determined by another person's conscience (v.29-11:1).

1 (10:14) Idolatry: flee idolatry (see note—1 Cor.8:1-13 as background for this passage). The charge is given for a very real reason: most people are worshipping some god other than the Lord God Himself. The word idolatry (eidololatrias) means both the worship of false gods and the failure to have a right relationship with God. Any person who does not worship God is worshipping some idol, and almost everything upon earth can become an idol and consume the heart and passion of man:

- self
- family
- possessions
- business
- sports
- religion
- sex
- knowledge
- power

In practical terms, an idol is anything that consumes a person's mind, heart, soul, and body. An idol is that to which a person gives himself.

- ⇒ Some people give themselves and are consumed by some purpose or possession on earth.
- ⇒ Other people give themselves and pray to their own idea of god; that is, to the god which they imagine in their own mind. (This is actually the worship of most people in industrialized societies.) They have a concept of god and worship that concept. They choose their own concept of god instead of the living and true God who revealed Himself in Christ and the Holy Scripture.
- ⇒ Still other people give themselves and pray to some idol, picture, or image which they have made or purchased. (The idol may either represent some god or be considered the god himself.)

From this, it is readily seen that most men are idolaters, for most men are consumed by something other than God Himself. They reject the only living and true God, Jehovah, who has revealed Himself in Jesus Christ and the Holy Scriptures.

The Corinthian church was confronted with the problem of idolatry in its very midst. Some of its members were actually attending social functions held in the banquet halls of idolatrous temples and in the homes where images of idols were prominently placed to oversee the family. Such functions included marriages, business affairs, and even day-to-day fellowship and meals in the homes of neighbors.

Were the church members right in attending these functions, or were they being loose with their Christian liberty? What was to be the attitude and position of the church? Paul had already dealt with the issue at length; however, it was of such importance that it needed to be reinforced so that the issue was unmistakably answered (see note, Christian Liberty—1 Cor. 8:13 for more discussion and background).

The charge is forceful: flee idolatry. Turn away and run from it. Do not leisurely turn and do not just walk away, but be quick to turn and quick to run away from it.

Thought 1. Think for a moment. If we are to run from idols, to whom do we run? To God, of course. This fact stresses a crucial point. The only way to escape idolatry is to stay near God. Our hearts are either consumed by God or by someone or something else. Someone or something has our attention and loyalty: either God or some other person or thing.

The exhortation is to flee idolatry. Be as wise men; judge the force of the following argument (v.15).

2 (10:15-22) Idolatry: first, does our participation in social functions identify who we worship? Note six points.

1. Participation in the Lord's Supper identifies us as a worshipper of the Lord (v.16). When we partake of the cup and the bread, we declare that we worship the Lord...
  - that we are in communion and fellowship with Him.
  - that we are bound together with Christ by His body and blood.
  - that we have given our lives to Him.
  - that we are committed to His death and purpose.
2. Participation with other people identifies us with their function or activity (v.17). Believers who come together to partake of the Lord's Supper are identified as worshippers of the Lord. Their very purpose for coming together is to partake of the bread as a fellowship of believers. Therefore, they are naturally looked upon and identified as worshippers of the Lord. The point is this: believers who come together with unbelievers in their functions are identified with the unbelievers' function.
3. The participation of Israel identified them as worshippers of God (v.18). When an animal was offered as a sacrifice to God, only a portion of the animal was actually consumed upon the altar. The rest of the meat was always kept and eaten by both the offerer and the priest. The very fact that the Jewish worshipper partook of the same meat offered in sacrifice identified him as a worshipper of God. The God to whom he sacrificed identified him in communion and fellowship with God; it identified him as a worshipper of God.
4. Participation in idolatry is meaningless worship (v.19). The idol, whatever it is, is nothing. It has no existence, no soul, no spirit, no power, no objective being. An idol is nothing more than the imagination and idea within a man's mind. It is nothing more than a figment of man's imagination.
5. Participation in idolatry is fellowshiping with devils (v.20). The devil and his angels or demons are behind all idolatry, whether the idolatry of a heathen society or of an educated society. Scripture definitely declares:

“For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places” (Eph.6:12).

“And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:14-15).

Satan is out to cut the heart of God and to destroy God's purpose in saving man. Satan does this by turning men away from the Lord Jesus Christ, by enticing men to give their lives to the things and gods of this world. When a person becomes consumed with anything upon this earth, then he has fulfilled the will of Satan: he has turned to something other than God. The man prefers something else over God.

Note what Scripture says: when people make sacrifices (whether animals or self) to something other than God, they are sacrificing to devils. One thing is certain: the offering of their allegiance and commitment is not to God. And it is not to some man-made thing or idol, for idols and things are nothing. They are meaningless as objects of worship. To whom then does a person offer his allegiance? Scripture says to devils. Note the clear statement: “Ye shall have [no] fellowship with devils.” In other words, “Flee idolatry.”

6. Participation in idolatry condemns a person (v.21). It is utterly impossible to participate in the true worship of God and in the worship of devils.

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table and of the table of devils” (v.21).

7. A person cannot be a guest of the Lord at His table and a guest at the table of idolatrous devils. God will not allow it. Such hypocrisy provokes the Lord. And we are not stronger than He. We cannot escape His judgment if we practice idolatry.

“Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools....who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever” (Ro.1:21-22, 25).

“Little children, keep yourselves from idols” (1 Jn.5:21).

“Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth” (Ex.20:4; cp. Lev.26:1).

“Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived, and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them” (Dt.11:16).

“Neither shalt thou set thee up any image [thing or person]; which the LORD thy God hateth” (Dt.16:22).

“There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god” (Ps.81:9).

“I am the LORD: that is my name: my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images” (Is.42:8).

3 (10:23-28) Christian Liberty—Stumbling Block: second, are lawful acts always permissible? Remember the subject of this passage: the limits of Christian freedom. The particular problem of the Corinthian church concerned social and fellowship functions with their neighbors and fellow employees (see notes—1 Cor.8:1-13; 10:14-15 for discussion). The point has just been made that when a person participates in a function he becomes identified with that function. In light of this, does this mean that a believer must never attend a social or fellowship held by an unbeliever? And how about the more specific question: What can a believer buy and eat and drink (v.31; cp. 1 Cor.8:8; Ro.14:21)? Scripture gives five tests in these verses.

1. Test 1: Is the thing or act expedient and edifying (v.23)? It may be lawful, legitimate, and allowed...
  - but is it expedient: beneficial, helpful, useful?
  - but is it edifying: building up, constructing, maturing?

2. Test 2: Does the thing or act seek the welfare of others (v.24)? We are not to act for self, but for others.

3. Test 3: Does the thing or act violate our conscience (v.25-26)? The verse deals specifically with the Corinthian problem. It was a common practice for the temple priests to take the meat from animal sacrifices and sell it to the markets for retail sale. Some believers were bothered by the fact that they might be purchasing meat which had been offered to idols. Very simply, Paul says to buy the meat and ask no questions about its source, for the earth with all its creatures and provisions is the Lord’s. The animal was created by God for food; therefore, if there is a wrong, it was committed by the idol worshippers, not by the believer who uses the animal as God purposed. The point is this: the believer is not to do anything that violates his conscience. He should not be asking questions and making a fuss over small and minute matters (scruples). Personal opinions, scruples, rules, and regulations that disturb conscience are not to be pressed and made an issue.

4. Test 4: Is it courteous and kind (v.27)? If an unbeliever invites us to a social function and we are inclined to go, then we should go out of courtesy and kindness. However, after arriving, we are not to ask questions that would disturb our conscience. A clear conscience before God is much more important than a social function. (Note: this applies to the specific activities at socials as well. No believer should participate in an activity...

- that would violate his conscience (v.25, 27, 28).
- that would identify him as a worldly person (v.16-18).

5. Test 5: Does it hurt the conscience of another person? The point of the verse is clear: if partaking of any meat or drink or if participating in any function or activity offends a brother, then we are not to partake or participate. His conscience and life are far more important than any food or drink or any social event or activity. This is the test that controls all the others. Even if our own conscience is not bothered, we are to act for the sake of others. We are not to do things if they offend others—no matter how lawful and legitimate and acceptable they are.

“Let us not therefore judge one another any more: but judge this rather, that no man put a stumblingblock or an occasion to fall in his brother’s way” (Ro.14:13).

“But if thy brother be grieved with thy meat, now walkest thou not charitably. Destroy not him with thy meat, for whom Christ died. Let not then your good be evil spoken of: for the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:15-17).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“But take heed lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak” (1 Cor.8:9).

“But when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ. Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend” (1 Cor.8:12-13).

“To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:22).

4 (10:29-11:1) Christian Liberty: third, should our behavior and freedom be determined by another person’s conscience? Paul asks two clear-cut questions that are relevant for every generation of believers.

⇒ Why is my liberty to be judged (controlled) by the conscience of others?

⇒ If I can do something by the grace of God and give thanks for it, why would I let myself be criticized for it? The idea is that it would not be worth it. Bearing the criticism would not be worth the activity, especially since our purpose is to live for Christ and His glory. There are three reasons why the believer is to control his behavior by the conscience of others.

“For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost” (Ro.14:17).

1. The believer is to do all for the glory of God. His concern is not his own rights, but the glory of God. Whatever will glorify God the most is to be what the believer does. Eating, drinking, and socializing—all are to be done for the glory of God.

“Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven” (Mt.5:16).

“Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples” (Jn.15:8).

“That ye may with one mind and one mouth glorify God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.15:6).

“For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God’s” (1 Cor.6:20).

2. The believer is never to be a stumbling block...

- to the Jews.
- to unbelievers (Gentiles).
- to the believers of the church of God.

The believer is to do absolutely nothing that would offend another person or cause him to stumble. He is to love and live out of concern for all.

“And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea” (Mk.9:42).

“Then said he unto the disciples, It is impossible but that offences will come: but woe unto him, through whom they come! It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones” (Lk.17:1-2).

“Give none offence” (1 Cor.10:32).

“Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed” (2 Cor.6:3).

“He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him” (1 Jn.2:10).

3. The believer is to please all men in all things. He is not to seek his own profit, that is, his own will, advantage, and benefit. The believer is to seek the advantage and benefit of others. Why? The reason is powerful, and note: it is the very reason God acted in our behalf; therefore, it is the reason we are to act in behalf of men: that they might be saved.

Note: there have been two men who lived upon earth this way. Paul says so. Who were they? Paul and Christ: “Be ye followers of me, even as I am also of Christ” (1 Cor.11:1).

“Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me” (Mt.16:24).

“For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live” (Ro.8:13).

“It is good neither to eat flesh, nor to drink wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or is made weak” (Ro.14:21).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

“And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work” (2 Cor.9:8).

“And they that are Christ’s have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts” (Gal.5:24).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

“Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ” (Ph.3:8).

DIVISION VI

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING PUBLIC WORSHIP, 11:2-34

A. The Customs of the Christian and Church Worship, 11:2-16

(11:2-34) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Worship, Public: remember, the leadership of the Corinthian church had written Paul a letter asking for instructions to certain problems which had arisen in the church (see note—1 Cor 7:1-40). The present chapter deals with two problems concerning public worship. The first problem deals with the customs of believers and of church worship, in particular with the partnership and order existing between men and women in the church and society at large (1 Cor. 11:2-16). The second problem deals with the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 11:17-34).

(11:2-16) Introduction: custom and tradition are often controversial issues in both society and the church. Some maintain that custom and tradition help to maintain values and order; others maintain that they prevent change, change that is essential to progress. The present passage deals strikingly with the issues.

1. The church remembered the instructions on church order given by Paul (v.2).
2. Principle 1: there is a partnership and order in the universe (v.3).
3. Principle 2: do not embarrass or dishonor anyone (v.4-6).
4. Principle 3: do not violate the order of creation (v.7-10).
5. Principle 4: recognize the essential partnership (v.11-12).
6. Principle 5: use good common sense (v.13-15).
7. Principle 6: do not contend and argue over customs (v.16).

1 (11:2) Church—Organization: the church remembered the instructions on church order and worship which Paul had taught when he was with them. But some were slipping into some practices and customs that were questionable, and the church leadership needed clear instruction to guide these customs.

Note: Paul commends the church for remembering his instructions, that is, for seeking to obey God's will even in the customs of behavior and of church order and worship. The word "ordinances" (paradoseis) means traditions or instructions that are passed down by word of mouth from generation to generation. This is important to see, for this passage is dealing...

- with traditions
- with unwritten laws of behavior

- with customs
- with local practice
- with preferences of a particular people or body
- with long-established patterns of a people or group

What is being said in this passage is dealing with the particular situation in Corinth. It deals with the worship and customs of the Corinthian church and the society of its day. It is not the law of God for believers in every society and situation. However, the principles laid down for Corinth are applicable to life itself. For this reason, the passage is outlined in principle form instead of points stating the problem in Corinth. The problem in Corinth is easily seen in the stated principles, for the principles speak to the behavior and customs of believers in every generation.

2 (11:3) Customs—Women, Subject to Men: the first principle is basic. There is a partnership and order in the universe. Note the emphasis on knowing this principle: “I would have you know.” Believers must grasp and understand this principle.

1. The head of every man is Christ. The word “head” in Scripture refers to authority. Christ has authority over man...

- by nature: Christ is stronger than man.
- by position: God has ordained that Christ be the head and that man be subordinate to Him.

2. The head of the woman is man. This is a sensitive subject in modern society; but it is a subject that must be dealt with in love, humility, and honesty. Before proceeding any further, close observation will help a person understand God’s position on the relationship between men and women. This passage clearly states this.

a. Neither man nor woman is superior to the other in being. Man and woman are equal in God’s eyes. In God’s eyes there is an essential partnership between man and woman. Neither is independent of the other. Both are from the other, and the relationship that exists between them has come from God.

“Nevertheless neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord. For as the woman is of the man, even so is the man also by the woman; but all things of God” (1 Cor.11:11-12).

b. There is neither male nor female in God’s eyes. He sees both man and woman as one, each as significant as the other.

“There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female: for ye are all one in Christ Jesus” (Gal.3:28).

When God talks about man being the head of the woman, He is not talking about ability or worth, competence or value, brilliance or advantage. God is talking about function and order within an organization. Every organization has to have a head for it to be operated in an efficient and orderly manner. There are no greater organizations than God’s universe, His church, and His Christian family. Within God’s order of things there is a partnership, but every partnership must have a head, and God has ordained that man is the head of the partnership.

3. The head of Christ is God. This simply means that when Christ came to earth, He subjected Himself to God the Father. God the Father was the head under whom Christ worked and functioned.

“Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men” (Ph.2:6-7).

3 (11:4-6) Dress—Customs: the second principle is important, very important. We must not embarrass or dishonor anyone. This verse actually begins to zero in on the specific problem confronting the Corinthian church. It involved dress. The way some of the men were dressing was bringing dishonor to God, and the way some of the women were dressing was bringing dishonor to both God and their husbands.

1. A man can dishonor God by the way he dresses. Some men in the Corinth church were worshipping with their heads covered. The custom of a man worshipping with his head uncovered was important to the early church. The Jews worshipped with covered heads, copying Moses who covered his head after being in the presence of God (2 Cor.3:13-18). The church wished to show that man had regained the image of God. Man could now have face to face contact with God through Christ, his Mediator. The uncovered head was the symbol of this face to face communion with God. The uncovered head was the distinguishing mark of a follower of Christ. It must be remembered that these customs were extremely important to the early church, just as important as our customs are today.

The men were covering their heads in a spirit of rebellion and non-conformity. Such a spirit is, of course, sin. A spirit of rebellion and non-conformity disturbs both the spirit of the person in rebellion and those against whom he is rebelling. Fellowship with God and true worship with other believers are impossible in an atmosphere of rebellion and non-conformity.

Thought 1. A true believer should never allow a spirit of rebellion or non-conformity to take a foothold in his life. God has not saved the believer to change customs; God has saved him to spread the message of love and care, ministry and salvation among men.

2. A woman can dishonor both God and her husband by the way she dresses. It was a strict custom in the East for women to wear a veil in the days of the early church. Even today, the custom still exists in some countries of the East. William Ramsey gives an excellent description on the significance of the veil to women.

“In Oriental lands the veil is the power and honour and dignity of the woman. With the veil on her head she can go anywhere in security and profound respect. She is not seen; it is a mark of thoroughly bad manners to observe a veiled woman in the street. She is alone. The rest of the people around are non-existent to her, as she is to them. She is supreme in the crowd...But without the veil the woman is a thing of nought, whom anyone may insult...A woman’s authority and dignity vanish along with the all-covering veil that she discards.” (Quoted by William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians, p. 109.)

Remember, the veil left the forehead and eyes exposed and reached all the way down from the head to the ankles. The woman, of course, had some clothing underneath the veil; but in the eyes of society, an unveiled woman was the sign of a woman with loose morals. She was exposing too much of her body, set on attracting attention. The immodest and indecent dress, of course, brought dishonor to her husband, God, the church, and fellow believers. Note Paul says that she may as well be stripped of all covering (shaven head) as to be unveiled or exposed enough to attract attention and cause thoughts of loose morals.

Thought 1. Christian women must not follow the customs of the world in dress. They must not dress in an immodest way...

- to attract attention.
- to expose the body.
- to seek popularity.
- to seek acceptance.
- to be in style.

“Neither yield ye your members [bodily parts] as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God” (Ro.6:13).

“In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with broided hair, or gold, pearls, or costly array; but (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works” (1 Tim.2:9-10).

“Whose [wives] adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price” (1 Pt.3:3-5).

4 (11:7-10) Customs—Relationship, Man and Woman: the third principle is pointed and straightforward. We must not violate the order of creation. These verses are still dealing with dress as the basic issue. The points can be briefly and clearly seen.

1. Man was created in the image of God (Gen.1:26-27); therefore, if he disturbs the spirit of believers through rebellion and non-conformity, he dishonors God (v.7). When God created man, God gave him authority over the earth. Therefore, man should always behave in a manner that demonstrates his authority and does not bring dishonor to God.

2. Woman is the glory of man. She has a place of her own in God’s creation, but her place is not the man’s. Her place is by the side of man, highly exalted as his queen. She reigns in majesty by the side of man as his glory. In God’s order and organization of things, man is the ruler and woman is the ruling queen by his side. God demonstrated the fact by doing two things when He created man and woman.

⇒ God created woman from the rib of man (Gen.2:21f).

⇒ God created woman as a companion to man (Gen.2:18).

3. Woman is, therefore, to honor man’s authority. She is not to rebel against his authority nor bring embarrassment and dishonor to her husband. In Corinth she was to cover her head by wearing the veil that symbolized man’s authority. She was to do it because angels were present. She should respect their presence as well as the authority of her husband.

The application is this: Christian women should dress modestly, not to attract attention. A Christian woman is not to dress exposing her body, which suggests loose morals. She is to dress to honor her husband. She is to respect and acknowledge his authority and right within the order of creation. She is not to cause hurt and pain to him by the way she dresses or does anything else. (Keep in mind that the man is to love, honor, and respect his wife as well.)

Thought 1. How many homes are in utter chaos because there is no recognition and no willingness to accept authority? How many men and women have dishonored God and each other because they dressed in either rebellion or to attract attention? How many have fallen into sin and immorality because of dress and exposure?

The only answer is love and God’s order of authority in creation. Without love and authority chaos is the inevitable result.

“Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:25).

“Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation [behavior] of the wives; while they behold your chaste conversation [behavior] coupled with fear” (1 Pt.3:1-2).

- 5 (11:11-12) Relationship, Man and Woman—Family: the fourth principle is to recognize the essential partnership between man and woman. This point is simply and clearly stated:
- ⇒ Neither the man nor woman is independent of the other. They are mutually dependent upon each other. The Lord has ordained it.
  - ⇒ The woman is from the man, created from his rib; and the man is from the woman, born of her.
  - ⇒ All things are of God: both man and woman.

The point is this: it does not matter who is of whom, whether man is of woman or woman of man. Both are of God, and both have their place and function, calling and purpose in the universe. Therefore, both owe their allegiance to God. Both must be faithful to God in their place and responsibility.

“Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as unto the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the saviour of the body. Therefore as the church is subject unto Christ, so let the wives be to their own husbands in every thing. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it” (Eph.5:22-25).

“Nevertheless let every one of you in particular so love his wife even as himself; and the wife see that she reverence her husband” (Eph.5:33).

- 6 (11:13-15) Custom—Wisdom: the fifth principle is to use good common sense. A person can usually look at a situation and tell what to do—if he will think and be honest. But both thinking and honesty are necessary. The great tragedy is that not too many persons think through the issues of life and even fewer are honest when they do think. Paul appeals to the Corinthians to judge the situation themselves, to think and be honest about the matter.
1. A woman should think about the relationship between her, her husband, and God. She should not be praying in church when she is improperly dressed, exposing herself. She should be veiled, properly dressed both in worship and out in society.
  2. A man should think about nature and creation. God created him to hold authority and to bring the world and nature with its catastrophic disasters under control (cp. Gen.1:28). Therefore, he is not to be in rebellion nor a non-conformist in customs, not even over a simple matter as the length of hair. He is not to be consumed with such trivial matters. His time and energy are to be given to the authority and work God has given him to do.

“And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it [gain control over all creation]” (Gen.1:28).

- 7 (11:16) Customs: the sixth principle is direct and demanding. We must not contend and argue over customs. Believers should conform to the expected customs of Christian behavior and church order and not argue and rebel against them. The implication is this: we are not on earth to argue and fight over trivial matters, but to carry on the ministry of God’s church. There are too many desperate people in the world who are dying from hunger, thirst, poverty, disease, and sin—too many who need our help—for us to become involved in arguing over personal rights and customs.

“For though I be free from all man, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more. And unto the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law; to them that are without law, as without law, (being not without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law. To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some” (1 Cor.9:19-22).

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth” (1 Cor.10:24).

DIVISION VI

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING PUBLIC WORSHIP, 11:2-34

B. The Lord's Supper, 11:17-34

(11:17-34) Introduction: the Lord's Supper is one of the ordinances of the church. It is crucial for believers to understand how it is and is not to be observed. This passage is a thorough study on the subject.

1. Paul rebuked the way the Corinthians were celebrating the Lord's Supper (17).
2. The corruption of the Lord's Supper (v.18-22).
3. The real meaning of the Lord's Supper (v.23-26).
4. The severe consequences of partaking unworthily of the Lord's Supper (v.27-30).
5. The right approach to the Lord's Supper (v.31-34).

1 (11:17) Lord's Supper: Paul rebuked the way the Corinthians were celebrating the Lord's Supper. He had praised them for their diligence in keeping the traditions or customs of the church (v.2). But in dealing with the Lord's Supper, he declared in no uncertain terms: "I praise you not." The word "declare" (parangello) means command. Note how forceful Paul is: "Now in this [the Lord's Supper] I command you, I praise you not." His forcefulness stresses the awesome importance of the Lord's Supper and the absolute necessity to celebrate it as it should be celebrated.

Paul abruptly states: "You come together to celebrate the Lord's Supper not for the better, not to edify yourselves by remembering the Lord's death; but you come together for the worse, to tear yourselves down."

2 (11:18-22) Lord's Supper: the corruption of the Lord's Supper. The Corinthians were tragically abusing the Lord's Supper. The abuses may seem strange to some churches today because they simply partake of a bread crumb and a small glass of wine or grape juice to celebrate the Lord's Supper. However, as stated in the introductory note, the Corinthians observed the Lord's Supper with a full-fledged meal or Love Feast. There were four abuses, some of which are very applicable and speak very directly to the churches of every generation.

1. There were divisions and cliques within the church which corrupted the Lord's Supper (v.18-19). When divisions, cliques, factions, and parties exist, the spirit of a church is in disorder. Minds and hearts are not upon the Lord nor at peace with the Lord or with the Lord's people. Disturbance, pain, anger, rumor, gossip, pride, selfishness, misunderstanding, and misrepresentation always prevail when there are divisions and cliques within a church.

Note: Paul said he only believed part of what he had heard. He knew full well how matters begin to grow and become surrounded with rumors, innuendos, and exaggeration. However there was truth to what he had heard, and he knew it, and the church must correct it.

Note another matter that is of crucial importance for genuine believers within the church. Divisions and cliques within the church do not catch God off guard nor by surprise. On the contrary, God allows the divisions and cliques for a very special reason: the division causes the genuine believer to stand out ever so much more. People who are divisive and cliquish cause the love and truth of genuine believers to shine ever so brightly. In the words of Scripture:

“There must be heresies [factions] among you, that they which are approved [the tested, the genuine] may be made manifest [revealed, shown, demonstrated] among you” (v.19).

Thought 1. This point is a great encouragement to the minister of God and to genuine believers as they face division, cliques, and opposition from the carnal and unsaved in the church.

Note the warning in this point as well. Any person who finds himself in a group that is divisive or cliquish stands in terrible danger. Divisiveness and cliquishness are proofs that a person is not genuine. He must repent and commit his life to the love and mission of the Lord (cp. 1 Cor.15:33).

“Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment” (1 Cor.1:10).

“For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?” (1 Cor.3:3).

“Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:3).

“Only let your conversation [behavior] be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel” (Ph.1:27).

“Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous” (1 Pt.3:8).

2. There was self-deception which corrupted the Lord's Supper (v.20). Very simply, the Corinthians were only deceiving themselves in coming together and partaking of the cup and the bread. They may have thought they were celebrating the Lord's Supper, but they were not; they were utterly deceived. What they were doing was not remembering and honoring the Lord. It was utterly impossible to have a divisive and cliquish spirit and honor the Lord. Their meeting together was utterly meaningless and useless to the Lord.

“For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself” (Gal.6:3).

“Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap” (Gal.6:7).

“But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves” (Jas.1:22).

“If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain” (Jas.1:26).

“Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous” (1 Jn.3:7).

“So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth. Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked” (Rev.3:16-17).

“For he flattereth himself in his own eyes, until his iniquity be found to be hateful” (Ps.36:2).

3. There was selfishness and neglect of others which corrupted the Lord's Supper (v.21). When the early church came together for the Love Feast, everyone brought all the food they could. This provided plenty for everyone, including the poor and the slaves who would not be able to bring much. The whole idea was to have a common meal where everyone shared:

- the rich and poor
- the Jew and Gentile
- the upper and lower class
- the adult and child
- the free and enslaved
- the educated and uneducated
- the male and female

However, the Corinthian church had begun to abuse the Supper. Instead of sharing, everyone sat off in their own little group of friends and shared their food only among themselves. The result was tragic:

- ⇒ Some were neglected, having little if anything to eat. This would be true in particular with the slaves.
- ⇒ Some were indulging, acting as gluttons.
- ⇒ Some were treating the affair as a social gathering, drinking off to the side and becoming drunk.

There was no real Christian fellowship or love whatsoever being experienced. And although the church was partaking of the bread and the cup, it was not celebrating the Lord's Supper. What they were doing was totally meaningless and useless. What they were celebrating was a feast to the evil spirit of selfishness and indulgence, not to the Lord.

4. There was the abuse of the sanctity of the church and the shaming of the poor which corrupted the Lord's Supper. Note that this verse is a series of questions that answer themselves and should stir conviction within the heart of the guilty.

- ⇒ Do you not have houses in which to eat and drink? The church is not the place where we are to eat and drink. It is the place of worship.
- ⇒ Are you not abusing the church and shaming the poor through your division, cliques, selfishness, indulgence, and hoarding? Of course you are!
- ⇒ "What shall I say to you? Shall I praise you in this? I praise you not!"

3 (11:23-26) Lord's Supper: the real meaning of the Lord's Supper. Paul clearly said that Christ discussed the Lord's Supper with him in a special revelation. What he received from the Lord is what he now shares. (Cp. Acts 18:9; 22:18; 23:11; 27:23-25; Gal.1:12; 2:2; 2 Cor.12:7 for references to the special revelations Paul received of the Lord.) Note that Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper on the very night that He was betrayed.

1. The meaning of the bread: note the exact words of Christ.

- a. "Take, eat: this is my body." There are, of course, various interpretations of this statement. Some say that the bread actually becomes the substance of the Lord's body when a person eats the bread and drinks the cup. Others hold beliefs ranging from the elements being the actual substance to being merely a remembrance of the Lord. But note the word "is." The word has the meaning of representing or identifying as well as of substance. For example...
  - "He is [represents] the image and glory of God" (1 Cor.11:7).
  - "That rock was [represents] Christ" (1 Cor.10:4). (Other references would be Jn.8:12; 10:9.)

Note another point. When Jesus instructed the disciples to "take, eat," He was standing there. He even partook of the bread Himself. Certainly in that instance the bread was only representing or symbolizing His body.

Note another point as well. In passing the cup, Jesus did not say, "This is my blood." He said, "This cup is the new testament [covenant] in my blood." Of course, the cup was not literally the new covenant; it was only a symbol of the new covenant. Neither was it literally the blood of Christ; it was only representing the blood of Christ.

- b. Note the words, "which is broken for you." This refers to the death, the bruising, and the suffering of Christ. Note the words "for you." The word "for" (huper) points to the substitutionary nature of Jesus' death. He died for us, as our substitute.

"Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us: for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree" (Gal.3:13).

"But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Heb.2:9).

"So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation" (Heb.9:28).

"Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed" (1 Pt.2:24).

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit" (1 Pt.3:18).

- c. "This do in remembrance of me." This means much more than just recalling the death of Christ. It means to actively stir up one's mind and to meditate upon the person of Jesus Christ. Christ says to remember me, not just one aspect of His Person and work. The believer is to actively meditate upon Christ.

2. The meaning of the cup: again, note the exact words of the Lord.

- a. "This cup is the new testament [diatheke, covenant] in my blood." The idea is that the old covenant of the Old Testament is being set aside and God is establishing a new covenant with His people. The basis of the new covenant is the blood of Jesus Christ, not the blood of bulls and goats.

"For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God? and for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death...they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance" (Heb.9:13-15).

- b. "This do ye, as oft as ye drink it." Christ, very simply, told His followers, to do as He was doing in celebrating His supper: set a time aside, take the cup, bless it, and drink of it.
- c. "In remembrance of me." This is repeated to stress the point that the Lord's Supper has one purpose and only one purpose: to focus attention upon the Lord. The Lord's people are to center their minds upon Him and Him alone. The celebration of the Lord's Supper is not to be a time for fellowshiping and feasting.

3. The reason for observing the Lord's Supper: note the word "show" (katangelo). It means to proclaim, preach, declare, announce. The Lord's Supper is both a picture and sermon which proclaims...

- the Lord's death
- the Lord's return

The point is this: Christ died for us that we might live eternally with Him. Therefore, His death pictures both what He has done for us as well as what He is going to do for us when He returns. His death is a picture of both our past and present redemption as well as our future redemption when we shall be conformed to His image of perfection.

“Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him” (Ro.5:9).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation [behavior] received by tradition from your fathers” (1 Pt.1:18).

“But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin” (1 Jn.1:7).

“Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood” (Rev.1:5).

“For our conversation [behavior] is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ: who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself” (Ph.3:20-21).

“For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words” (1 Th.4:16-18).

“Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ” (Tit.2:13).

4 (11:27-30) Judgment—Lord’s Supper: the severe consequences or chastisement for partaking of the Lord’s Supper unworthily. What does it mean to partake of the supper unworthily? Paul is speaking directly to the Corinthians; so whatever their sins were is bound to be what Paul means by unworthily. The Corinthians were guilty of partaking of the Lord’s Supper with...

- a spirit of division (v.18).
- a spirit of heresy (factions, parties, cliques, v.19).
- a spirit of self-deception (v.20).
- a spirit of selfishness and indulgence (v.21).
- a spirit of drunkenness (v.21).
- a spirit of neglecting the poor (v.21).
- a spirit of irreverence and carelessness in protecting the sanctity of the church (v.22).
- a spirit of unthoughtfulness and carelessness in approaching the Lord’s Supper.

Very frankly, the above list seems to indicate that having sin within one’s heart and life is what is meant by partaking unworthily. Certainly, if we eat the bread and drink the cup with unconfessed sin in our hearts and lives, how can we be counted worthy? Our only worthiness is Jesus Christ, and the only time we are counted worthy by Him is when we are walking...

- in constant confession.
- in constant repentance to Him.
- in constant praise of His mercy, grace, Person, and work.

We have no righteousness of our own, so the only conceivable time we could be counted worthy would be when we are walking in constant fellowship with Him. And constant fellowship means actively thinking upon and talking with Him through confession, repentance, praise, and request.

There are three consequences for partaking of the Lord’s Supper unworthily, that is, with unconfessed sin in one’s heart and life.

1. A person becomes guilty of the Lord’s death (v.27). The idea is that the person shall be held accountable, for he is guilty of sin against the Lord Himself. He...

- insults Christ
- offends Christ
- tramples Christ underfoot
- counts the death of Christ as meaningless
- does despite to Christ

“Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace” (Heb.10:29).

2. A person condemns himself if he does not examine his heart for unconfessed sin (v.28-29). The severity of the consequence is so serious that a person must examine himself before partaking of the Lord’s Supper. He needs to make sure he has a clean heart by confessing and repenting of any known sin (v.28).

The word “damnation” (krima) means to judge, to condemn. It does not mean to damn or to doom to eternal hell and punishment. The person is assumed to be a real believer who is guilty of sin, not an unbeliever who is to be damned to hell. The actual judgment upon the believer who lives in sin is covered in the next point.

The word “discern” (diakrino) means to discriminate, to distinguish. The person who eats the bread and drinks the cup unworthily just fails to think about what he is doing. He fails to discriminate and discern the seriousness of his act. If he thought about the matter, he would not partake of the Lord’s Supper with unconfessed sin in his life, for such irreverence of the body and blood of the Lord stirs the judgment of God.

“Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD” (Lam.3:40).

“Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?” (2 Cor.13:5).

“But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another” (Gal.6:4).

3. A person is disciplined and chastened by the Lord (v.30). The Corinthians were so rank in their abuse of the Lord’s Supper that God had to act in severe discipline. His discipline included both sickness and death. This fact is stated so simply and straightforwardly that it has to be taken for what it says unless the Scripture is to be twisted. There is nothing in the context that even suggests that weak and sickly death are symbolic. When dealing with God’s discipline or chastisement of His people, three things need to be kept in mind.

- ⇒ God does discipline His child. He disciplines His child because He loves him (Heb.12:5-13).
- ⇒ God disciplines His child to prevent the child from destroying himself and hurting and damaging others through serious sin (v.29, 31).
- ⇒ God knows exactly what kind of discipline will most likely awaken his child to repentance and confession.
- ⇒ God knows when a believer should be taken on home to heaven. God alone knows when a sinning believer has gone so far in sin that he is never going to repent. At that point, the believer’s task upon earth is done; he will never again have a testimony for Christ upon earth, nor be of any real value to anyone else. As stated, only God knows when a believer who is living in sin reaches such a point. When he does, he is ready to be taken home. His damage to Christ and to loved ones and to the world have gone far enough.

Apparently, some of the Corinthian believers had reached the point of no return, so God took them on home to be with Him. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Judgment—1 Jn.5:16. Also see notes—1 Cor.3:13-15; 3:17; 5:3-5.)

“Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away: and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit” (Jn.15:2).

“But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world” (1 Cor.11:32).

“And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him: for whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth. If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not? But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons” (Heb.12:5-8).

“As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent” (Rev.3:19).

“Thou shalt also consider in thine heart, that, as a man chasteneth his son, so the Lord thy God chasteneth thee” (Dt.8:5).

“He is chastened also with pain upon his bed, and the multitude of his bones with strong pain” (Job 33:19).

“Blessed is the man whom thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of thy law” (Ps.94:12).

“My son, despise not the chastening of the Lord; neither be weary of his correction” (Pr.3:11).

“O LORD, correct me, but with judgment; not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing” (Jer.10:24).

5 (11:31-34) Lord’s Supper: the right approach to the Lord’s Supper. Note four points.

1. Approach the Lord’s Supper by judging yourself, that is, by examining yourself. We are to examine and make sure we are not living in sin or carrying some known and unconfessed sin in our hearts. We are certainly not to partake of the Lord’s Supper if we are living in known sin.

2. Accept the chastening of the Lord. Confess and repent, turn from your life of sin, knowing that God is chastening you out of love. He is chastening you to keep you from being condemned with the world. This apparently refers to the final judgment. The person who continuously lives in known sin is apparently running the risk of being judged with the unbelievers of the world.

3. Serve one another. Stop acting selfishly and stop indulging yourselves. Share and demonstrate love by putting others first.

4. Do not bring condemnation upon yourself. Straighten your life out; sin no more. Change what you have been doing. Eat at home, and come together for the Lord’s Supper. Do everything decently and in order.

“For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory” (2 Cor.4:17).

“Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless, afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby” (Heb.12:11).

“Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty” (Job 5:17).

“But he knoweth the way that I take: when he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold” (Job 23:10).

“Surely it is meet to be said unto God, I have borne chastisement, I will not offend any more” (Job 34:31).

“Before I was afflicted I went astray; but now have I kept thy word” (Ps.119:67).

“And said, I cried by reason of mine affliction unto the LORD, and he heard me; out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice” (Jonah 2:2).

DIVISION VII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

A. The Potential Dangers Surrounding Spiritual Gifts, 12:1-3

(12:1-14:40) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Gifts, Spiritual: the Corinthian church was facing several problems that were about to rip the church apart. One of the most serious problems was the issue of spiritual gifts. No gift, no ability, no endowment from God should ever be abused or cause a controversy. But the gifts of God's Spirit were being so abused by the Corinthian believers that the church was about to be torn apart. Note how critical the issue was: Paul devotes three whole chapters to the question of spiritual gifts.

A quick look at the history of spiritual gifts will help in understanding this passage.

1. The Old Testament had foretold that God would send His Spirit to earth and gift His people in a special way.

“And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit” (Joel 2:28-29; cp. Acts 2:17-18).

2. Jesus Christ had promised and discussed the Holy Spirit with His followers in great detail:
- ⇒ the Person of the Holy Spirit or who the Holy Spirit is (see outline and notes—Jn. 14:15-26).
  - ⇒ the work of the Holy Spirit (see outline and notes—Jn. 16:7-15).
  - ⇒ the very special signs and protection that the Holy Spirit would provide for them.

“And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover” (Mk. 16:17-18).

⇒ the promise of the Spirit's permanent baptism and enduement of power.

“For John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence....But ye shall receive power, after the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth” (Acts 1:5, 8).

3. The coming of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost was such a phenomenal experience that it actually launched the greatest movement the world has ever known—Christianity itself. All the promises made by God in the Old Testament and by Jesus Christ concerning the Holy Spirit and His special gifts of ministry were witnessed for the very first time on the day of Pentecost.

1 CORINTHIANS 12:1-3

4. Before Christ, when God called a person for a particular work, God always provided the gifts and abilities needed to do the work. God has always equipped His people to do the work of the ministry. However, since Christ and the day of Pentecost, there is one great and remarkable difference: every believer is called and gifted by God to minister. That is what Pentecost was all about. God expects every believer to be a witness to the salvation of His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. To be a witness is one of the primary reasons God gives the Holy Spirit to every believer, and it is certainly the reason He provides spiritual gifts. The gifts and abilities are given to be used—used in sharing Christ and in ministering to the desperate needs of the poor and suffering masses of this lost and dying world.

5. Paul discusses the Holy Spirit and His special gifts for ministry in great detail:

- ⇒ the power and work of the Holy Spirit (see outline and notes—Ro.8:1-17).
- ⇒ the struggle of the Holy Spirit against the flesh (see outline and notes—Gal.5:16-21).
- ⇒ the fruit of the Holy Spirit (see outline and notes—Gal.5:22-26).
- ⇒ the spiritual gifts of the Holy Spirit (see outline and notes—Ro.12:6-8; 1 Cor.12:1-11; Eph.4:7-16).
- ⇒ the questions or problems surrounding spiritual gifts (see outlines and notes—1 Cor.12:1-14:40).

In conclusion Scripture says unmistakably that there are spiritual gifts—special gifts and abilities given by the Holy Spirit to be used in the church and in the ministry to reach the world for Christ. However, as in the secular world, when a man receives a gift, he does not always use his gift wisely nor in the way it should be used; so it is in the church. Christian believers do not always use their spiritual gifts wisely nor as God wants them used. This happened to the believers in the Corinthian church, and unfortunately, it happens to multitudes of believers and churches around the world in every generation. The misuse and abuse of God's gifts are the very reasons the world has never been reached for Jesus Christ. This fact alone stresses the desperate need for a study of these chapters.

(12:1-3) Introduction—Gifts, Spiritual: the Corinthian church was about to be torn apart because of the controversy over spiritual gifts, and unfortunately, churches down through the centuries have allowed themselves to become embroiled in the same controversy. It is unfortunate because God's power or special endowment and gifts must rest upon believers if they are going to reach the suffering masses of the world for Christ. There are four dangers surrounding spiritual gifts or the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

1. There is the danger of being ignorant about the gifts (v.1).
2. There is the danger of being carried away to false worship (v.2).
3. There is the danger of speaking false messages (v.3).
4. There is the danger of speaking the truth apart from the Spirit (v.3).

1 (12:1) Gifts, Spiritual: there is the danger of being ignorant about spiritual gifts. Note two significant points.

1. Note the words "spiritual gifts." There are most definitely spiritual gifts, very special gifts and abilities from God that are given to a person when he first becomes a follower of Jesus Christ. Note they are spiritual gifts, not the natural abilities a person has developed from birth. They are special gifts given by the Holy Spirit that enable the believer to serve Jesus Christ in the church and in the world—spiritual gifts that enable the believer to help in ministering to people and in leading them to Christ.

"And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey" (Mt.25:15).

"Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering; or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that sheweth mercy, with cheerfulness" (Ro.12:6-8).

"Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal. For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom; to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit; to another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues" (1 Cor.12:4-10).

"But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ....And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers" (Eph.4:7, 11).

2. Note the exact words of Paul: "Concerning spiritual gifts...I would not have you ignorant." There are three ways that a person can be ignorant about spiritual gifts.

- a. A person can be ignorant that there is such a thing as spiritual gifts. He can fail to know that God endows the genuine believer with very special gifts that empower and enable him to serve and live for Christ.
- b. A person may know that God gifts His people, but he may not know what special gifts God has given him. The believer may not know what it is God wants him to do for Christ and the church.

1 CORINTHIANS 12:1-3

- c. A person may know what his gifts are, but he may not know how to properly use them. It was at this point that the Corinthian church was having so much trouble. Many of the believers knew their spiritual gifts, but they were misusing them, failing to use them as God willed them to be used.

Thought 1. There is only one solution to ignorance: study. Believers must study the Word of God and seek the guidance of the Holy Spirit...

- to learn about spiritual gifts.
- to learn what their particular calling and gifts are.

“Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth” (2 Tim.2:15).

“All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness” (2 Tim.3:16).

“These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so” (Acts 17:11).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord” (Col.3:16).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:2).

2 (12:2) Gifts, Spiritual: there is the danger of being carried away to false worship. Many of the believers in Corinth had been saved out of the heathen religions of that day. Note the emphasis of Paul:

- ⇒ They had been “Gentiles”; now they were Christians, followers of Christ, the Messiah Himself.
- ⇒ They had been worshippers of idols who were dumb or voiceless, unable to communicate and relate. But now they were worshippers of the only true and living God who could communicate and share with them.
- ⇒ They had been “carried away” and “led” by some force, energy, or spiritual power to serve the dumb idols. But now they were under the power of God’s Spirit; therefore, they were to be led by Him.

The point is this. The religions of that day widely practiced special gifts that seemed to come from spiritual forces, gifts such as trances, tongues, ecstatic utterances, and prophecies of the future. Such gifts were actually running rampant. Many of the believers in Corinth were converts from paganism; therefore, they would have been familiar with the counterfeit gifts. Some of them would have practiced these gifts in their former religion before their conversion. Apparently some of them...

- had used a counterfeit gift to imitate the real gift.
- had misused the gift and ended up not really worshipping God, but worshipping in a meaningless way.
- had begun to feel and act super-spiritual, worshipping the gift and self rather than focusing attention upon God.

Thought 1. Think how often we see spiritual gifts counterfeited and misused, for example the gift of prophecy. How often do we see a person preaching or prophesying and it is clearly evident that he is only counterfeiting the gift and has not really been called by God? And the gift of tongues and miracles: how often do we see believers counterfeiting or using the ecstatic and miraculous gifts in a manner that does not lead to a true worship of God?

“God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth” (Jn.4:24).

“Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters” (Rev.14:7).

“O worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness: fear before him, all the earth” (Ps.96:9).

“Exalt ye the LORD our God, and worship at his footstool; for he is holy” (Ps.99:5).

3 (12:3) Gifts, Spiritual: there is the danger of speaking false messages (v.3). Some person in the Corinth church apparently spoke in tongues and distorted the great truth that “Jesus is Lord.” From all indications, the person took the truth that Paul had preached, that Christ was “made a curse for us” (Gal.3:13), and he said something to the effect that “Jesus is accursed.” Paul proclaims the truth in no uncertain terms: this is not the Spirit of God.

The point is forceful: every believer must be careful not to speak or proclaim a false message. What the believer proclaims must be of God; it must be the truth of God. The world has enough false messages. It does not need any more misrepresentation and counterfeit messages, messages that leave men hopeless beyond the grave. The world needs the truth of God, the message of the glorious gospel: that He has sent His Son into the world to eternally save all men everywhere. It is time for false messages and untruths to cease flowing from lips of people who are counterfeiting the gifts of God's Spirit.

Thought 1. The believer must guard against two deceptions when dealing with spiritual gifts and truth.

1) Making a statement or proclaiming a message that is not the truth of God and His Word.

“And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:32).

“For though I would desire to glory, I shall not be a fool; for I will say the truth: but now I forbear, lest any man should think of me above that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me” (2 Cor.12:6).

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment” (Pr.12:19).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

2) Either becoming or sitting under a person who counterfeits the gifts of God's Spirit, whether he be a self-proclaimed minister or lay leader in the church.

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world. Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: and every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come; and even now already is it in the world” (1 Jn.4:1-3).

“We having the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I believed, and therefore have I spoken; we also believe, and therefore speak; knowing that he which raised up the Lord Jesus shall raise up us also by Jesus, and shall present us with you. For all things are for your sakes, that the abundant grace might through the thanksgiving of many redound to the glory of God” (2 Cor.4:13-15).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves....having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away” (2 Tim.3:1-2, 5).

“For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist” (2 Jn.1:7).

“But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily [quietly, secretly] shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction” (2 Pt.2:1).

4 (12:3) Gifts, Spiritual—False Profession: there is the danger of speaking the truth apart from the Holy Spirit (v.3). Note the word “Lord” (kurios). It refers to God Himself, that is, the Jehovah who is proclaimed throughout Scripture to be the Sovereign Lord of the Universe. To call Jesus “Lord” is to acknowledge His deity, that He is God Himself. The point is this: no man can please God by calling Jesus Lord apart from the Holy Spirit. Any person can speak the words that “Jesus is Lord,” but for a person to please God, he must acknowledge within his heart and life that Jesus is Lord. The word acknowledge is the key: it means to surrender one's heart to Jesus as the Lord of one's life. And no person is going to do this, not really, unless he is moved upon by the Spirit of God. However, when a person is moved upon by the Spirit to say that Jesus is Lord, the person does surrender all he is and has to serve Jesus. To summarize very simply, saying that Jesus is Lord does not mean to merely mouth the words; it means to be stirred within the heart by the Spirit of God to confess that one's life belongs to Jesus as Lord. It means to give everything that a person is and has to Christ, acknowledging Him to be the Sovereign Majesty of the universe, the very Son of God Himself.

Apparently some in the Corinthian church were saying that Jesus is Lord, but were not truly converted. They were professing truth, but had not really committed their lives to the truth. Tragically, from the earliest days of church history churches have overflowed with counterfeit and hypocritical professions.

Thought 1. How many counterfeit the gifts of God's Spirit and profess to know and proclaim the truth, yet they are not really led by the Spirit of God? How many preach, teach, and speak in tongues; yet they are only mouthing truth, not proclaiming truth through the Spirit of God? No spiritual truth can ever be used effectively by God apart from the leadership of His Spirit.

"But the comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you" (Jn.14:26).

"Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth: for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come" (Jn.16:13).

"Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual" (1 Cor.2:12-13).

"But the anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you, and ye need not that any man teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth you of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and even as it hath taught you, ye shall abide in him" (1 Jn.2:27).

Thought 2. Too often envy and jealousy over the gifts of others causes a person...

- to counterfeit a gift.
- to proclaim a truth in the flesh that is not led by the Spirit.

Thought 3. Tragically, from the earliest times of church history churches have overflowed with counterfeit and hypocritical professions.

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven" (Mt.7:21).

"Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity" (Mt.23:28).

"He answered and said unto them, Well hath Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me" (Mk.7:6).

"They profess that they know God; but in works they deny him, being abominable, and disobedient, and unto every good work reprobate" (Tit.1:16).

"And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer. Nevertheless they did flatter him with their mouth, and they lied unto him with their tongues" (Ps.78:35-36).

"And they come unto thee as the people cometh, and they sit before thee as my people, and they hear thy words, but they will not do them: for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goeth after their covetousness. And, lo, thou art unto them as a very lovely song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument: for they hear thy words, but they do them not" (Ezk.33:31-32).

DIVISION VII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

B. The Spiritual Gifts, 12:4-11

(12:4-11) Introduction—Gifts, Spiritual: a terrible controversy was raging in the Corinthian church over spiritual gifts. All kinds of questions were being bantered about:

- ⇒ Which gifts were essential?
- ⇒ Which gifts were the most valid and true?
- ⇒ Which gifts were the most important?
- ⇒ Which gifts were the most useful and needful?
- ⇒ Which gifts were to have precedence?
- ⇒ Which gifts were to be desired and coveted?
- ⇒ Which gifts were the most honorable?
- ⇒ Which gifts were more acceptable?

God had blessed the Corinthian believers with an abundance of spiritual gifts so they could effectively minister to the citizens of pagan Corinth. However, the believers never came close to launching the ministry God had intended for the church. Why? Because many of the believers had misunderstood and were misusing and abusing the spiritual gifts which God had given them.

- ⇒ Some began to feel their gifts were more important than the gifts of others, that they were more blessed than other believers. Therefore, all kinds of sins began to swell up in the hearts of these people: a sense of pride, arrogance, super-spirituality, and of self-importance.
- ⇒ Others began to feel they had to have the same gifts as others, so they became envious, and began to seek their gifts. The result was a terrible abuse of the gifts. Some persons began to counterfeit some of the gifts, and their abuse brought disorder and disruption to the church.

There was argument and debate, strife and division over the spiritual gifts of God. God had given spiritual gifts to equip His people for ministry; but instead of using the gifts for ministry, they were arguing over what gifts were essential, valid, important, needful, honorable, and desirable.

The present passage deals with these problems, and to the open and honest heart it answers many of the questions about spiritual gifts.

1. The unity of the gifts (v.4-6).
2. The purpose of spiritual gifts (v.7).
3. The list of the different gifts (v.8-10).
4. The unity of the gifts restressed (v.11).

1 (12:4-6) Gifts, Spiritual: the unity of the spiritual gifts. Pointedly, Paul says there should be absolutely no pride, controversy, or division over spiritual gifts. Three simple, yet profound reasons show why.

1. There are different gifts, but they all come from the same Spirit. The Spirit determines what gift to give to a believer. The choice is entirely the Holy Spirit's; it is not the believer's choice. No man earns, merits, or deserves a spiritual gift. The gift is given freely by the Spirit as He wills. He and He alone is the Source of the gift. Therefore, there is nothing about a gift for a man to feel prideful and important about. He did not earn it, and he certainly does not deserve it.

Note another fact as well, a matter that always needs to be remembered by genuine believers: there is nothing controversial about spiritual gifts. They are all—every one of them—gifts of the Spirit. He can give whatever spiritual gift and grace He wills to whomever He wills. Even if He needed and willed to give a new grace or gift to a person for meeting a special need in the church or in the world, what could anyone say against it? If He willed it, He could do it. He is the Spirit of God. What is there to argue about?

Thought 1. Believers need to do as Paul is soon to say, love—for love is the the greatest gift—and get on about the task of reaching our desperate world for Christ.

2. There are different ministries or ways of serving (administrations), but they are all done by the authority of the same Lord. It is the Lord Jesus who gives the believer the right and authority to minister in His name. No believer earns, merits, or deserves the right to be looked upon by the Lord, much less represent the Lord. Therefore, when the Lord gives the believer the right to minister in His name, it is an occasion for humble brokenness and thankful service, not for self-importance, super-spirituality, and arrogant service.

3. There are different activities and operations in carrying out the various ministries, but it is the same God who works and gives the power to do it all. No man has a greater God or a greater claim to God than anyone else. It is the very same God who equips and empowers every believer to do the daily activities of his ministry.

No man, therefore, has a greater claim to boast or to feel super-spiritual over other believers. And there is nothing controversial about the matter. God can do whatever He wills, just as He pleases, for it is God who works all things in all believers. Therefore, believers need to humbly thank God for His presence and power and be faithful to the daily activities demanded by their ministry. They certainly have no reason for feeling superior and self-important; neither do they have the right to stand against other believers because God is working different things in them.

Thought 1. Both the church and believers must always remember there are differences among believers. And it is God who has made the differences. Look at what Scripture has just said: there are...

- Different gifts ...given by the same Spirit (v.4)
- Different ministries ...given by the same Lord (v.5)
- Different activities ...given by the same God (v.6)

The point to see is forceful: no matter the gifts, ministries, and activities, they are all given—given by the Spirit, the Lord, and God. The gifts are not and could not be worked up by believers, not genuine gifts. Neither are they earned, merited, or deserved. Therefore, all feelings of self-importance and all controversy needs to be stopped, and the face of God needs to be sought in repentance. For God is the One who has given and distributed as He willed. He alone knows best how to reach the people of this desperate and dying world. Therefore, He alone knows what gifts and graces are needed...

- in the generations and times
- by the races and countries of the world
- for the minds and emotions of all people
- for the conversion and growth of all people

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us” (Ro.12:6).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:3-4).

“For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?” (1 Cor.4:7).

2 (12:7) Gifts, Spiritual: the purpose of spiritual gifts is to enable believers to do the ministry, the work to which God has called them. The word “profit” (sumpheron) means edification, advantage, benefit. Believers are equipped with spiritual gifts primarily for the benefit and edification of others, not for themselves. The gifts are not given to believers for their own gratification or for them to revel in a sense of self-importance and super-spirituality. The believer does, of course, profit and benefit from the gift given him, but he is gifted primarily to edify and help others. This is seen in the word “manifestation.” It means to be openly and publicly seen. The gifts of the Spirit are to be openly and publicly used; they are...

- to be manifested to the church, that is, used to edify the church.
- to be manifested to the world, that is, used to benefit the world (reaching the lost).

Note a crucial fact that is not always understood. The gifts of the Spirit are “given to every man.” They are not given only to the educated and outstanding. Every single believer is given some spiritual gift by the Spirit of God, and it is given because it is needed within the church and the world, needed to help in ministering to people and in reaching the lost for Christ.

“Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you” (Jn.15:16).

“And he gave some [gifts]...for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:11-12).

3 (12:8-10) Gifts, Spiritual: the list of the different gifts is given to show just how diverse the gifts of the Spirit really are. He can gift a person as He wills, and His gifts are many and varied. This list is only partial; other gifts are mentioned in other passages (see outlines and notes—Ro.12:6-8; Eph.4:11).

1. There is the gift of the word of wisdom (sophia). Wisdom means the wisdom of God; this is made clear by 1 Cor.2:7. The wisdom of God is the truth which God has now revealed to man; it is the whole system of truth revealed by God—the truth about God and man and the world. Therefore, the word of wisdom is the gift to share the wisdom and truth of God with men—to share the truth in simple and understandable language.

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Ro.11:33).

“But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy” (Jas.3:17).

“Daniel answered and said, Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his” (Dan.2:20).

2. There is the gift of the word of knowledge (gnosis). This is practical knowledge. It is knowing what to do in the day-to-day situations that arise. It is knowing how to apply the wisdom that one has to daily living. It is being able to make practical application of truth to life. It does no good to know truth unless a person knows how to use the truth.

The word of knowledge is the gift to share with others how they should live; the ability to apply truth to their lives in day-to-day living; the ability to make practical application of truth to life.

“Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself” (Jn.7:16-17).

“Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free” (Jn.8:31-32).

“Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding; if thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the LORD, and find the knowledge of God” (Pr.2:3-5).

“Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding” (Pr.3:13).

3. There is the gift of faith. This is not the usual faith that we mean when we speak about saving faith. It is a very special gift of faith: a mustard seed faith, a strong faith, a powerful faith, a wonder-working faith, a special gift of faith that enables a believer to do great things for God and His people.

“If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you” (Mt.17:20).

“Jesus said unto him, If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth” (Mk.9:23).

“And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith” (Lk.17:5).

“Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father” (Jn.14:12).

4. There is the gift of healing. This is a gift that has been minimized and de-emphasized for generations because of the charlatans and the abuses that too often surrounded it. All kinds of theories and doctrinal positions were held saying that the gift was only for the early church. However, as William Barclay so openly points out, it is a gift that is being re-discovered by the church. It is a gift that is definitely experienced and demonstrated in the lives of multitudes all over the world today (The Letters to the Corinthians, p.122f).

“And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease” (Mt.10:1).

“And he ordained twelve, that they should be with him, and that he might send them forth to preach, and to have power to heal sicknesses, and to cast out devils” (Mk.3:14-15).

“And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover” (Mk.16:17-18).

“To another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit” (1 Cor.12:9).

5. There is the gift of the working of miracles. This would refer to miracles other than that of healing which has just been discussed. There are times when circumstances and situations arise, and believers need a miraculous deliverance of some sort. Apparently, this is what the gift is. When it is in God’s will for a storm to cease—for an enemy to be temporarily blinded, for a fire to be turned or put out, or for an innumerable number of threats against believers to be altered—God raises up some believer and gifts him to work the needed miracle. Examples of this gift would be Christ stilling the storm; Paul smiting Elymas with blindness (Acts 13:11); and Paul being delivered from a poisonous snake bite (Acts 28:5).

6. There is the gift of prophecy. This is the gift of speaking under the inspiration of God’s Spirit. It includes both prediction and proclamation, and neither one should be minimized despite the abuse of the gift.

There is no question, the gift to predict events has been abused to the point of the ridiculous. However, the abuse of a gift does not eliminate the fact that the Spirit of God sometimes gives believers a glimpse into coming events in order to prepare and strengthen them to face the events.

However, the major function of prophecy is clearly stated by Scripture, and the fact should be learned by all believers:

“But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort”
(1 Cor.14:3).

7. There is the gift of discerning of spirits. This is a gift that is desperately needed by believers in every generation, for there are always false prophets and teachers in their midst. In reality, some measure of the gift is needed by every believer in order to keep from being led astray.

“Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world” (1 Jn.4:1).

“For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works” (2 Cor.11:13-15).

“Despise not prophesyings. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good” (1 Th.5:20-21).

“Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils; speaking lies in hypocrisy; having their conscience seared with a hot iron” (1 Tim.4:1-2).

“[Men] having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away”
(2 Tim.3:5).

8. There is the gift of tongues. This is the gift of an ecstatic or deeply emotional speech. It has always been greatly coveted by people familiar with the gift because it brings a person into a deep sense of God’s presence. What is the language spoken?

⇒ Some say it is in no known language.

⇒ Others say it is in some foreign language unknown to the speaker.

⇒ Still others say it is a heavenly language.

This is an illustration of how the Holy Spirit gifts people differently in order to meet the needs of the person and local situation.

Again, this is a gift that has been abused so drastically and tragically that much of Christendom has shied away from the gift. However, the gift is dramatically sweeping the world just as the gift of healing is. It should be noted that it is the gift that was being so abused and causing so much havoc in the Corinthian church. (The gift of tongues is covered in detail in Chapter 14. See outline and notes—1 Cor. 14:1-40 for more discussion.)

9. There is the gift of the interpretation of tongues. This is simply what it says: the Spirit of God gifts some believers to interpret the tongue.

4 (12:11) Gifts, Spiritual: the unity of the gifts is restressed. The point is critical for the church to learn and practice; therefore, it is repeated.

1. All the gifts just covered are given by one and the same Spirit. God’s gifts do not come from any other source. True spiritual gifts cannot be earned, merited, or worked up by men. No man deserves the gift of the grace of God. Therefore, there is no room for self-importance and super-spirituality, nor for controversy. One believer has one gift and another believer has another gift, but both have come from the Spirit of God.

2. The Spirit of God endows the gifts to every man exactly as He wills. He knows what gifts are needed and where they are needed all over the world. He knows what gifts will edify the church most and what gifts can be most effective to reach the world and to minister to the desperate needs of all mankind. Therefore, he meets the needs of all believers in their respective calls and localities.

DIVISION VII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

C. The Church—the Body of Christ and the Gifts, 12:12-31

(12:12-31) Introduction: this passage gives us one of the most meaningful descriptions of the church in all of Scripture. It is also one of the most meaningful messages on the church that can be preached. The purpose of the passage is to stress the unity of the church. The church is said to be a body, a body of many parts or members. It is compared to the human body throughout the whole passage.

1. The human body is a picture of Christ and of His church (v.12-13).
2. Point 1: some less gifted feel they are unimportant to the body (v.14-20).
3. Point 2: some more gifted feel they are more important to the body (v.21-23).
4. Point 3: God has put both the presentable and unpresentable into one body (v.24-26).
5. Point 4: each is a member of the body of Christ and has his own place in it (v.27-30).
6. Point 5: each is to covet the very best gifts (v.31).

1 (12:12-13) Church—Body, The: the human body is a picture of Christ and of His church. The picture is practical and descriptive: the human body is one organism, one person, one being, one life; yet it has many members or parts to it. However, despite its many parts, the body is still one organic whole. All the parts of the body are still in the body and actually form the body, enabling it to function.

“So also is Christ.” Christ is One Organism, One Person, One Being, One Life; yet He too has many members or parts to His body. However, despite the many parts to His body, His body is still one organic whole. All the parts of His body actually give Him form and enable Him to function. The point is that the human body and the body of Christ picture what the Holy Spirit does.

1. The Holy Spirit baptizes believers into one body, that is, into Christ Himself. When we really believe in Christ (note the significant phrase “in Christ” which is so often found in Scripture. See note, Believer, Position in Christ—Ro.6:3-5; DEEPER STUDY # 1—8:1)...

- the Holy Spirit immerses us into the death of Jesus Christ. God actually counts us as “in Christ,” as “in the body of Christ.” God sees us as having already died in the body of Christ. Therefore, having died in Christ, we never have to die (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Justification—Ro.4:22; note—5:1).
- the Holy Spirit immerses us into the resurrection of Christ. God counts and sees us as having already been raised from the dead in the body of Christ. Therefore, we already have the new life of Christ, both abundant and eternal life.
- the Holy Spirit immerses us into the purpose of Jesus Christ. God counts and sees us in the body of Christ working and carrying out the very same purpose as His Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The point is powerful: we—all genuine believers—owe our very existence to the baptism of the Holy Spirit. All that we have received of God is due to one thing and to one thing only: the baptism of the Holy Spirit into the very body of the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. God recognizes and acknowledges us...

- only if we have “believed in” the Lord Jesus Christ.
- only if we have been “baptized into” the body of the Lord Jesus Christ.

God has to see us “in Christ,” “in the body of Christ” in order to accept and approve us. Picture the scene: there is the body of Christ—out there. When God looks at the body of Christ, He sees us in Christ; then God accepts and approves us—no matter who we are. We may be Jew or Gentile, a slave or a free man—it does not matter. If we believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit takes us and baptizes us into the body of Christ. God sees and accepts, counts and credits us as in Christ, as in the body of Christ.

Thought 1. Note a significant fact. Paul has not mentioned the church. In fact, he does not mention the church until verse 28 when he begins to mention the spiritual gifts. Why? He does not say, but his thrust is the universal body of Christ: every individual believer around the world, no matter who or where he is, is a member of the body of Christ. And the individual believer is critical to the health of the whole body. The individual believer is desperately needed to make the body of Christ healthy.

“And he believed in the LORD; and he counted it to him for righteousness [acceptance]” (Gen.15:6).

“And by him all that believe are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified [counted acceptable] by the law of Moses” (Acts 13:39).

“Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace [acceptance] with God through our Lord Jesus Christ” (Ro.5:1).

2. There is another significant fact in this verse as well. We “have all been made to drink into one Spirit”; that is, the Spirit has entered our bodies. He dwells within the hearts and lives of all believers.

- ⇒ Believers are not only immersed “into the body of Christ” by the Holy Spirit...
- ⇒ but the Holy Spirit is immersed or placed into the lives and bodies of believers.

“And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you” (Jn.14:16-17).

“But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his” (Ro.8:9).

“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?” (1 Cor.3:16).

“What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?” (1 Cor.6:19).

2 (12:14-20) Church: some who are less gifted feel they are unimportant to the body of Christ. Some members in the Corinthian church were experiencing what so many believers experience, a sense of being...

- less gifted
- less able
- less capable
- less worthy
- insignificant
- unimportant
- inadequate
- ungifted

However, such feelings and thoughts are false, totally untrue. “The body is not one [significant] member, but many [members].” Every person who truly belongs to the body of Christ (the church) is significant and important to God and has a gift and function in the body. Note four significant facts about the church, the body of Christ.

1. Each member is necessary. The foot may not be as gifted as the hand in handling things, but the foot is still part of the body. The ear may not be able to envision things like the eye can, but the ear is still part of the body.
2. Each member has an essential function. The eye, the ear, and the nose—they all have their function.

1 CORINTHIANS 12:12-31

- ⇒ None can do the function of the other. Each member has its function, and no other member can do the function of the other member.
- ⇒ If the whole body were only an eye, it would be a freak: inoperative, unfunctional, and useless. It would be an atrocity.

Thought 1. Note three significant applications.

- 1) The body of Christ, the church, can operate only if enough members function as they are gifted to do.
- 2) The body, the church, becomes handicapped if some members do not function and do the work they are gifted to do.
- 3) The ability of the body to operate is determined by the number and efficiency of its members. The more the members of the body (church) function and function efficiently, the more the body (church) can do.

3. Each member is set “in the body” as God wills. The eye sees because God gave it the ability to see. The ear hears because God gave it the ability to hear. The same is true in the church. Note the words “every one of them”—every member has been set in the church by God and gifted by God. God has not just set the more prominent members in the church. God has set “every one” of us in the church, and He has gifted us for an essential function. And note: what we are called and gifted to do is God’s will. We are who we are and have the gifts we have because God willed us to be as we are.

Thought 1. The implications of this point are forceful. Every believer...

- needs to thank God for who he is and for his gift.
- needs to use his gifts with all diligence and fervency.

4. Each member is distinct, but together there is only one body. If only one member existed, where would the body be? Of course, there would be no body. So it is with the church. If there is only one member in the church, he would be significant, the most important person around. But where would the church be? The point is clear: the church is not one significant and important person. The church is many members—all significant and important. But note: despite the diversity, the church is still one body.

“Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith; or ministry, let us wait on our ministering; or he that teacheth, on teaching; or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that showeth mercy, with cheerfulness” (Ro.12:6-8).

“Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal” (1 Cor.12:4-7).

3 (12:21-23) Church: some who are more gifted feel they are more important to the body. This point is a sharp rebuke to those who try to dominate or impose their will upon a church. A person’s own will and desires are never to be pushed forward and forced upon the church. Every member is important and significant and must be considered. Too often, there are some who feel they are more important than others in the church. They feel their gifts and contributions are more significant than that of others. The thrust of this point is that such feelings and thoughts are inaccurate, totally inaccurate. Even the lowest and least gifted member (who is using his gift) is as important to the function of the church as the minister or the most gifted person. “The eye cannot say to the hand, I have no need of you.” “The head cannot say to the feet, I have no need of you.” All are important to God. In fact, note what Scripture says; the two points are real eye-openers, a shock to what most people think:

1. The weaker members (less gifted) are actually more necessary. The word “feeble” (asthenes) means sick, sickly. It shows that in appearance the lesser members may seem unimportant, but they are not; they are essential. In fact, they are actually more necessary. The average layman who serves as a personal worker, although he is never seen by the crowds, is much more essential to decisions for Christ than the evangelist who is in the center of the scene. The dear saint who has become a prayer warrior is much more essential to the strength of the church than the most eloquent preacher who ever fills the pulpit.

2. The unrepresentable parts of the body are treated with greater honor. The reference is to clothing. We take more pains to dress the unrepresentable parts of our body, giving them a special nobility.

So it should be in the church. The less gifted should be recognized and treated with a very special nobility, for they are actually more necessary.

Thought 1. The point is well made: no believer or group of believers are to look down upon, snub, or bypass the less gifted in the church. All are important; in fact, the less gifted who are using their gifts for Christ are actually more necessary. They are “where the rubber hits the road”; therefore, they should be treated with greater honor.

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; and base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are: that no flesh should glory in his presence" (1 Cor.1:27-29).

"For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?" (1 Cor.4:7).

"Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble" (1 Pt.5:5).

4 (12:24-26) Church: God has put both the presentable and unpresentable into one body. The presentable parts of our body have no need for clothing; therefore, we do not clothe them (for example, the face and the hands). God has done the same thing in the church. God has tempered the body together. The word "tempered" (sunekerasen) means to mix, combine, and blend together. God has arranged the church as it is: the gifted and less gifted mixed, combined, and blended together. And He has done it in such a manner that more honor really belongs to those who are not as gifted. The prayer warrior is much more essential than the soloist who is out before the people. The lay witness for Christ is more necessary than the preacher who stands in the pulpit. The person who ministers to the sick or elderly is more honorable than the committee chairman who leads the whole congregation in administrative matters.

All are important, but the more honorable are not necessarily those who stand before the church. Sometimes the more honorable are those who are never seen, those who go about their ministry for the Lord, using their gifts and functioning within the church as He has ordained.

1. God has tempered or blended the members together to keep them from clashing. There should be no jealousy, pride, or divisiveness within the church; for God has gifted every believer to complement the others. God has gifted all to function together in harmony.

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment" (1 Cor.1:10).

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (2 Cor.13:11).

"Endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Eph.4:3).

"Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel" (Ph.1:27).

"Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another; love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Pt.3:8).

2. God has tempered or blended the members together to create a natural care for one another. Note the words "same care." The very same care should be shown to one member as is shown to another member.

One member of the church is not more important than another member—not to God, and it should not be to us. There should be no favoritism or partiality shown to anyone. When a member of the human body suffers, the whole body suffers. When one member (for example, the feet in a race) is honored, the whole body rejoices with the feet. So it is to be in the church. The church is one body; therefore, it is to suffer and rejoice together. The body is to walk through the experience of life together—suffering and rejoicing with every member, looking after and caring for every member.

"For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me" (Mt.25:35-36).

"I have showed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive" (Acts 20:35).

"We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves" (Ro.15:1).

"To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some" (1 Cor.9:22).

"Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men" (1 Th.5:14).

5 (12:27-30) Church: each believer is a member of the body of Christ and has his own place in it. This point is forceful and emphatic.

⇒ "Ye are the body of Christ": collectively, we have the supreme privilege. We are the members of Christ, of His body, of the body of God's Son Himself.

⇒ "Members in particular": individually, each one of us is a member of Christ's body. Not a single believer is excluded, and no person is more a member than any other believer.

Paul illustrates the point by listing some of the gifts. He says two significant things.

1. God has set and gifted each member in the church. For example, consider these eight gifts.

a. First, God has set apostles in the church (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Apostle—1 Cor.12:28 for discussion).

1 CORINTHIANS 12:12-31

- b. Second, God has set prophets in the church (see note, Gifts—1 Cor.12:8-10 for discussion).
  - c. Third, God has set teachers in the church. The gift of teaching is the gift to instruct believers in the truth of God and His Word. It is the gift to root and ground people in doctrine, reproof, correction, and righteousness.
  - d. There was also the gift of miracles (see note—1 Cor.12:8-10 for discussion).
  - e. There was the gift of healing (see note—1 Cor.12:8-10 for discussion).
  - f. There was the gift of helps. This is the gift that does just what it says: helps people. We all know some persons who are always ready to jump to help people—always available and ready to offer a helping hand. These are particularly directed to help the needy, for example, the widows or widowers, orphans, disabled, shut-ins, and poor.
  - g. There was the gift of governments or administration. The Greek word is descriptive (kuberneseis). It refers to the pilot of a ship, the person who steers the ship through the dangerous channels of the oceans. The church, of course, needs such persons who can give it direction as it moves along on its journey to reach the destination God has appointed for it.
  - h. There was the gift of different tongues (see note—1 Cor.12:8-10 for discussion).
2. The point to note is that all members do not have the same gift.
- ⇒ Are all apostles?
  - ⇒ Are all prophets?
  - ⇒ Are all teachers?
  - ⇒ Are all workers of miracles?
  - ⇒ Do all have the gifts of healing?
  - ⇒ Do all speak with tongues?
  - ⇒ Do all interpret tongues?

The answer is obvious. No! God has not gifted all believers with the same gift.

“And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey” (Mt.25:15).

“But all these [gifts] worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will” (1 Cor.12:11).

“[Gifts are given] for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ” (Eph.4:12).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(12:28) Apostle: to send out. An apostle is a representative, an ambassador, a person who is sent out into one country to represent another country. Three things are true of the apostle.

- ⇒ He belongs to the One who has sent him out.
- ⇒ He is commissioned to be sent out.
- ⇒ He possesses all the authority and power of the One who sends him out.

The word “apostle” has both a narrow and a broad usage in the New Testament.

1. The narrow sense. It refers to the twelve apostles and to Paul as an apostle (Acts 1:21-22; 1 Cor.9:1). In this narrow sense there were at least two basic qualifications.

a. The apostle was a man chosen directly by the Lord Himself or by the Holy Spirit (cp. Mt.10:1-2; Mk.3:13-14; Lk.6:13; Acts 9:6, 15; 13:2; 22:10, 14-15; Ro.1:1). He was a man who had either seen or been a companion of the Lord Jesus.

b. The apostle was a man who had been an eyewitness of the resurrected Lord (Acts 1:21-22; 1 Cor.9:1).

2. The broad sense. The word “apostle” refers to other men who preached the gospel. It is used of two missionaries, Barnabas (Acts 14:4, 14, 17) and Silas (1 Th.2:6); and two messengers, Titus (2 Cor.8:23) and Epaphroditus (Phil.2:25). There is also a possibility that James, the Lord’s brother (Gal.1:19) and Andronicus and Junia (Ro.16:7) are referred to as apostles.

In the narrow sense, the gift of an apostle was bound to die out because of the unique qualifications to receive the gift. But historically, in the broad sense, there is perhaps a sense in which the qualifications and gift itself are still given and used by the Lord. The Lord’s servant of any generation must see the Lord and know Him intimately. Similarly the servant must personally see and experience the power of the resurrection. Certainly there are some in every generation who have seen the Lord Jesus and who know and experience the power of the Lord’s resurrection. Perhaps the Lord Jesus endues them with the very special gift of an apostle to be used throughout His most precious domain—the church.

6 (12:31) Gifts: each believer is to covet the best gifts. Note there is a legitimate covetousness. The believer is to covet the “best gifts” so he can more effectively serve his Lord. However, there is a more excellent way than gifts, something much higher, a quality that surpasses all the gifts combined. And it can be possessed by every believer, no matter who he is. What is the quality? What is it that is far greater and far more supreme than the greatest combination of gifts? That is the subject of the next outline.

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

D. The Most Excellent Quality of Life: Love, Not Gifts, 13:1-13

(13:1-13) Introduction: there is no question, what the world needs more than anything else is love. If people loved each other, really loved each other, there would be no more war, crime, abuse, injustice, poverty, hunger, starvation, homelessness, deprivation, or immorality. Love is the one ingredient that could revolutionize society. Love is the greatest quality of human life. Love is the supreme quality, the most excellent way for a man to live.

1. The great importance of love (v.1-3).
2. The great acts of love (v.4-7).
3. The great permanence of love (v.8-12).
4. The great supremacy of love (v.13).

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(13:1-13) Love: throughout this passage, the word used for love or charity is the great word agape. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4, Love—Jn.21:15-17 for more discussion.) The meaning of agape love is more clearly seen by contrasting it with the various kinds of love. There are essentially four kinds of love. Whereas the English language has only the word love to describe all the affectionate experiences of men, the Greek language had a different word to describe each kind of love.

1. There is passionate love or eros love. This is the physical love between sexes; the patriotic love of a person for his nation; the ambition of a person for power, wealth, or fame. Briefly stated, eros love is the base love of a man that arises from his own inner passion. Sometimes eros love is focused upon good and other times it is focused upon bad. It should be noted that eros love is never used in the New Testament.

2. There is affectionate love or storge love. This is the kind of love that exists between parent and child and between loyal citizens and a trustworthy ruler. Storge love is also not used in the New Testament.

3. There is an endearing love, the love that cherishes. This is phileo love, the love of a husband and wife for each other, of a brother for a brother, of a friend for the dearest of friends. It is the love that cherishes, that holds someone or something ever so dear to one's heart.

4. There is selfless and sacrificial love or agape love. Agape love is the love of the mind, of the reason, of the will. It is the love that goes so far...

- that it loves a person even if he does not deserve to be loved.
- that it actually loves the person who is utterly unworthy of being loved.

Note four significant points about agape love.

- a. Selfless or agape love is the love of God, the very love possessed by God Himself. It is the love demonstrated in the cross of Christ.

⇒ It is the love of God for the ungodly.

“For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly” (Ro.5:6).

⇒ It is the love of God for unworthy sinners.

“But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us” (Ro.5:8).

⇒ It is the love of God for undeserving enemies.

“For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life” (Ro.5:10).

- b. Selfless or agape love is a gift of God. It can be experienced only if a person knows God personally—only if a person has received the love of God into his heart and life. Agape love has to be shed abroad (poured out, flooded, spread about) by the Spirit of God within the heart of a person.

“And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us” (Ro.5:5).

- c. Selfless or agape love is the greatest thing in all of life according to the Lord Jesus Christ.

“And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these” (Mk.12:29-31).

- d. Selfless or agape love is the greatest possession and gift in human life according to the Scripture (1 Cor.13:1-13).

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity” (1 Cor.13:13).

1 (13:1-3) Love: the great importance of love. Unequivocally, the decree is pronounced; the judgment is given; the verdict is declared:

⇒ the superior quality of life is love; it is not gifts.

⇒ the most excellent way to live and serve is to possess and share love; it is not gifts.

The contrast between love and gifts is vivid. Three verdicts are declared and the verdicts stress with resounding force the great superiority of love.

1. Verdict one: tongues without love are meaningless.

⇒ The “tongues of men” probably means all the languages of men (cp. Acts 2:4-13).

⇒ The “tongues of men” probably means the heavenly language or the spiritual gift of an ecstatic utterance given by the Holy Spirit of God.

⇒ “Sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal” do not mean the sound of musical instruments but the tinkling together of either small cymbals or the clashing and banging together of large cymbals by untrained persons.

A person can possess the gift and ability to speak and share Christ in all the languages of the world, but if he does not have love, he becomes only a clanging and tinkling noise. His speech is meaningless.

A person can possess the spiritual gift of tongues, that is, speak in the heavenly languages of angels; but if he does not have love, he becomes only a clanging and tinkling noise. His heavenly, angelic language is meaningless.

Note the phrase “he becomes.” This is a crucial point: the gifted person’s speech is not only meaningless, the person himself becomes meaningless. He becomes useless in his life and ministry for Christ. Love is far more superior than the gift of tongues.

2. Verdict two: gifts without love are nothing. Three particular gifts are contrasted with love.

- a. There is the gift of prophecy (see note, Prophecy—1 Cor.12:8-10). A person may have the gift of speaking under the inspiration of God’s Spirit, both predicting the future and proclaiming the truth of God’s Word. He may possess all the charisma, stature, eloquence, and descriptive language in the world; but if he does not have love, he is nothing. Not only is his gift of prophecy nothing, but he is nothing.

Thought 1. There is always the danger of feeling and acting superior because of one’s prophetic gifts and eloquence. It is possible to long for souls and to preach the glories of heaven and the tragedy of hell with an attitude and a tone that one is better than others.

- b. There is the gift of understanding “all mysteries and all knowledge”—the sum total of all that God has ever revealed and of all that man has ever learned, discovered, and developed. Just imagine! A person possessing all the knowledge in the world! Yet if he does not have love, he would be nothing! Not only would his understanding and knowledge be nothing, he would be nothing.

Thought 1. The danger is looking down upon others, of feeling that one is more knowledgeable or better equipped than others. A coolness or detachment or aloofness often characterizes such a person.

- c. There is the gift of faith, that is, the very special gift of faith that is given by the Holy Spirit to remove mountains and to do great and miraculous things for God (see note, Faith—1 Cor.12:8-10). Note the word “all”. Imagine a person possessing “all faith”; yet, if he did not possess love, he would be nothing.

Thought 1. The danger is spiritual superiority, an overblown sense of importance. A person with the gift of faith can easily hurt others by speaking openly of their great faith. They can easily make others feel inferior and of less importance to God.

3. Verdict three: giving without love profits nothing. Two phenomenal illustrations are given.
a. There is the illustration of selling and giving everything that a person has. Imagine giving everything—“bestowing all my goods to feed the poor”—yet, if I have not love, it profits me nothing.

Thought 1. There are several dangers in giving. There are the dangers of:

- ⇒ giving out of duty.
- ⇒ giving with contempt because one is forced to give.
- ⇒ giving with an air of superiority because one has and the needy do not have.
- ⇒ giving with a rebuke because one feels the needy are just irresponsible and ought to make their own way in life.
- ⇒ giving unsacrificially.

- b. There is the illustration of martyrdom, the most terrible martyrdom of all—of being burned alive at the stake. Yet, if a person does not have love, his martyrdom profits him nothing. He dies in vain.

Thought 1. There is always the danger of counting martyrdom as a thing of glory and of pride, as something to show one’s commitment to a cause. If a believer is ever called upon to die as a martyr, he is to die only out of love for Christ and for his fellow man.

2 (13:4-7) Love: the great acts of love. What is given in these four verses is not a long, dry, methodical definition of love. On the contrary, the very acts of love are given—the very behavior of a person, the very way a person is to live among and with others. In living and moving among others in the world, a person is to love, and this is what loving others means.

1. Love “suffers long” (makrothumei): is patient with people. The word always refers to being patient with people, not with circumstances (William Barclay. The Letters to the Corinthians, p.133).

Love suffers a long, long time..

- no matter the evil and injury done by a person.
- no matter the neglect or ignoring by a loved one.

Love suffers a long, long time without resentment, anger, or seeking revenge. Love controls itself in order to win the person and to help him to live, work, and serve as he should.

“But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith” (Gal.5:22).

“Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness” (Col.1:11).

“Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine” (2 Tim.4:2).

2. Love is kind (chresteuetai): courteous, good, helpful, useful, giving, showing and showering favors. Love does not resent evil; it does not revel in the hurt and neglect. Love reaches out in kindness: in helpfulness, in giving, and in showering favors upon the person who neglects or hurts oneself.

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

3. Love does not envy (zeloi): is not jealous; does not have feelings against others because of what they have, such as gifts, position, friends, recognition, possessions, popularity, abilities. Love does not begrudge or attack or downplay the abilities and success of others. Love shares and joys and rejoices in the experience and good of others.

“Let us not be desirous of vainglory, provoking one another, envying one another” (Gal.5:26).

“Fret not thyself because of evil doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity” (Ps.37:1).

“Envy thou not the oppressor, and choose none of his ways” (Pr.3:31).

“A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy the rottenness of the bones” (Pr.14:30).

“Let not thine heart envy sinners; but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long” (Pr.23:17).

1 CORINTHIANS 13:1-13

4. Love does not vaunt itself (peopereuetai): is not boastful; does not brag nor seek recognition, honor, or applause from others. On the contrary, love seeks to give: to recognize, to honor, to applaud the other person.

“For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith” (Ro.12:3).

“Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another” (Ro.12:10).

“Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves” (Ph.2:3).

5. Love is not puffed up (phusioutai): prideful, arrogant, conceited; does not think nor act as though oneself is better or above others. Love is modest and humble and recognizes and honors others.

“Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven” (Mt.18:4).

“But when thou art bidden, go and sit down in the lowest room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may say unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then shalt thou have worship in the presence of them that sit at meat with thee” (Lk.14:10).

“But ye shall not be so: but he that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth serve” (Lk.22:26).

“Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility: for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble” (1 Pt.5:5).

6. Love does not behave itself unseemly (aschemonei): unbecomingly, rudely, indecently, unmannerly, disgracefully. Love does nothing to shame oneself. Love is orderly and controlled; and it behaves and treats all persons with respect, honoring and respecting who they are.

“That ye may approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ” (Ph.1:10).

“For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you” (2 Th.3:7).

7. Love seeks not her own: is not selfish; does not insist upon its own rights (Williams). Love is not focused upon who one is nor upon what one has done. Love seeks to serve, not have others serving oneself. Love is acknowledging others, not insisting that others acknowledge oneself; it is giving to others, not insisting that others give to oneself.

“Let no man seek his own, but every man another’s wealth [welfare]” (1 Cor.10:24).

“Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others” (Ph.2:4).

8. Love is not easily provoked (paroxunetai): not easily angered; not ready to take offence; not quick tempered; not “touchy” (Phillips, as quoted by Leon Morris). It is not easily aroused to anger; does not become “exasperated” (Barclay). Love controls the emotions, and never becomes angry without a cause (Ro.12:18).

“But now ye also put off all these; anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication out of your mouth” (Col.3:8).

“Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath” (Jas.1:19).

“Cease from anger, and forsake wrath: fret not thyself in any wise to do evil” (Ps.37:8).

“He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city” (Pr.16:32).

“The discretion of a man deferreth his anger; and it is his glory to pass over a transgression” (Pr.19:11).

“Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools” (Eccl.7:9).

9. Love does not think evil (logizetai kakon): does not consider the wrong suffered; is not resentful; does not hold the evil done to oneself. Love suffers the evil done to it and forgets it.

“But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil; but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also” (Mt.5:39).

“Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men” (Ro.12:17).

“See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men” (1 Th.5:15).

“Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing; but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing” (1 Pt.3:9).

10. Love does not rejoice in iniquity (adikia): unrighteousness, evil, wrong-doing. Love does not take pleasure in the unrighteousness and sin of others; it does not feed upon sin and wrong, nor does it pass along the stories of sin and wrong. Man’s nature is too often fed the tragedy of evil, whether personal sin or natural disaster (cp. the daily news reports and most subjects of conversation between so many people).

“And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother’s eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?” (Mt.7:3).

“We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves” (Ro.15:1).

“Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such a one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted” (Gal.6:1).

“And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins” (1 Pt.4:8)

11. Love rejoices in the truth: rejoices when the truth is known and when it prevails; rejoices when others are recognized and promoted for whom they are and for what they have contributed. Love rejoices when the truth is rooted and grounded in a person and among the people of the world. Note that love never covers nor hides the truth; love is courageous in that it faces the truth.

“Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbour: for we are members one of another” (Eph.4:25).

“Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness” (Eph.6:14).

“These are the things that ye shall do; Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbour; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates” (Zech.8:16).

“The law of truth was in his mouth, and iniquity was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity” (Mal.2:6).

12. Love bears all things: the word bears (stegei) means both to cover all things and to bear up under all things. Love does both: it stands up under the weight and onslaught of all things and it covers up the faults of others. It has no pleasure in exposing the wrong and weaknesses of others. Love bears up under any neglect, abuse, ridicule—anything that is thrown against it.

“With all lowliness and meekness, with longsuffering, forbearing one another in love; endeavouring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace” (Eph.4:2-3).

“And, ye masters, do the same things unto them, forbearing threatening: knowing that your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect of persons with him” (Eph.6:9).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

13. Love believes all things: is “completely trusting” (Barclay); “always eager to believe the best” (Moffatt, as quoted by Leon Morris); is “ever ready to believe the best” (Amplified New Testament). Love sees and understands the circumstances and accepts and forgives and believes the very best about a person.

“And if he trespass against thee seven times in a day, and seven times in a day turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him” (Lk.17:4).

“And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ’s sake hath forgiven you” (Eph.4:32).

“Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye” (Col.3:13).

14. Love hopes all things: it “never ceases to hope” (Barclay); it expects the good to eventually triumph and to gain the victory; it refuses to accept failure; it always hopes for the best and for the ultimate triumph of the good—no matter how fallen or how tragic the fall or how difficult gaining the victory may seem.

“For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?” (Ro.8:24).

“For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scriptures might have hope” (Ro.15:4).

“Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself, and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace, comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work” (2 Th.2:16-17).

“And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure” (1 Jn.3:3).

15. Love endureth all things: the word endures (huopmenei) is a military word meaning to stand against the attack of an enemy. Love actively fights and endures all attacks. Love is strong, full of fortitude and fight, and it struggles against any and every assault to buckle in to being unloving. Love conquers and triumphs—always—because it endures all things. No matter what attacks love, named or unnamed, it endures the attack and continues to love.

“And ye shall be hated of all men for my name’s sake: but he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord” (1 Cor.15:58).

“And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not” (Gal.6:9).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation [trial]: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy” (Jas.5:11).

“Behold, I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown” (Rev.3:11).

3 (13:8-12) Love: the great permanence of love. Love is far superior to the spiritual gifts. The great permanence of love clearly shows its superiority.

1. Love never fails, never ceases, and never vanishes. Love endures and lasts forever. But not so with spiritual gifts: the spiritual gifts shall cease to be and shall vanish. When? When we stand in eternity before God. Spiritual gifts are only temporary; they are not permanent; therefore, they are far inferior to love. Spiritual gifts are only temporary tools for us to use in reaching and ministering to a lost and needy world.

Thought 1. Note how believers become guilty of the very things they accuse the world of doing: focusing upon the temporary instead of the eternal. Too many believers glory in their earthly gifts and abilities instead of serving and ministering in love.

2. Love is perfect and complete. We know nothing perfectly, and we can proclaim and predict the truth only with partial certainty. No person knows all the truth. However, a day of perfection is coming, and when it comes, only that which is perfect will stand and endure.

The point is this: love is perfect; therefore, love shall endure and be the primary trait between believers in eternity. Therefore, love is far superior to the gifts.

3. Love is mature—maturity of behavior. While on earth, all that man is and possesses—his abilities, knowledge, and being—all are as a child. Man is just immature and imperfect, no matter what area of his life is being considered. However, the day of maturity is coming, the day when he shall set aside all the childhood understanding and thoughts and become a mature man, a perfected man. When will that day come? It will come when love is perfected between God and man and between man and man. Love is the great gift and quality existing upon earth today that shall endure throughout eternity; therefore, love is far superior to the gifts and abilities of men.

4. Love is being face to face with God—a perfect consciousness and knowledge of God. Our present relationship with the Lord is comparable to the reflection we see through a dark mirror. We can faintly see the figure, but it is not fully distinct nor clear. Therefore, we only see God and the truth in part and we only know God and the truth in part. However, the day is coming when we shall know God even as He knows us—perfectly.

⇒ When is that day coming? The day love is perfected between God and man.

⇒ What will bring the day about? Love—God’s perfect love for man.

It is love that will be perfected and that will bring the day of perfection to reality for man. It is love that will bring us into a face to face relationship with God and into a perfect knowledge of truth. Therefore, love is far superior to the spiritual gifts.

4 (13:13) Love: the great supremacy of love. Both faith and hope are great qualities and gifts, but love is far superior. How? Remember that Paul is contrasting love with the spiritual gifts and dealing with the tendency of people to center attention upon their gifts and accomplishments. Love is far superior to faith and hope for at least six reasons.

1. Faith focuses upon the revelation of God, whereas love focuses upon God Himself. We know about God only by the revelation of God through Jesus Christ, the Word, nature, and the inner witness of thoughts and conscience (cp. Ro.1:18-20; 2:14-15). A man believes in God by focusing upon one or more of the revelations about God. But love is different, entirely different. Love focuses and centers upon God Himself and stirs a relationship of adoration and worship. Faith, of course, can stir the same adoration and worship; but faith can also exist without adoration and worship. A person can believe in someone and not love him.

2. Hope focuses upon being eternally with God in a perfect world, but again, love is superior because it focuses upon God Himself. A person can have hope in someone without loving him, but a person who loves someone always hopes in him.

3. Love—true love (agape love)—does not originate in the nature of man, but in the nature of God. God is love; love is the basic trait of His nature. The very existence of man is due to the fact that God is love, not to the fact that God believed or held hope for man. Therefore love, which is the basic trait of God’s nature, is far superior to faith and hope.

4. True love is a gift of God. A man can know true love only as he comes to know the love of God. Faith arises from the heart of man, but love is deposited or given to man by God. It is shed abroad in the heart by God. Apart from God, man loves only those who love him; he either opposes or withdraws from those who hate him. A man can only love (agape love) his enemies through the love of God. Therefore love, being the very special gift of God, is far superior to faith and hope.

5. Experience and nature itself prove that faith and hope reach and grow people, but love reaches and grows people far more than any other gift or quality.

6. A person can believe in God, yet feel he is above others. He can act prideful, arrogant, and superspiritual. He may hope for an eternity to be with God and with other believers, yet he can be cold and distant. But love—true love—has no weaknesses or dangers. Love never fails, never comes short. But remember: love is not indulgence and license. Love involves control and discipline as well as care and giving, selflessness and sacrifice.

CHAPTER 14

E. The Gift of Tongues
Contrasted with Prophecy, 14:1-25

Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy.

2 For he that speaketh in an unknown tongue speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for no man understandeth him; howbeit in the spirit he speaketh mysteries.

3 But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort.

4 He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the church.

5 I would that ye all spake with tongues, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with tongues, except he interpret, that the church may receive edifying.

6 Now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 And even things without life giving sound, whether pipe or harp, except they give a distinction in the sounds, how shall it be known what is piped or harped?

8 For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?

9 So likewise ye, except ye utter by the tongue words easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye shall speak into the air.

10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification.

11 Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that speaketh shall be a barbarian unto me.

12 Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church.

13 Wherefore let him that speaketh in an unknown tongue pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is unfruitful.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also; I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also.

16 Else when thou shalt bless with the spirit, how shall he that occupieth the room of the unlearned say Amen at thy giving of thanks, seeing he understandeth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thank my God, I speak with tongues more than ye all:

19 Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men.

21 In the law it is written, With men of other tongues and other lips will I speak unto this people; and yet for all that will they not hear me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.

23 If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad?

24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all:

25 And thus are the secrets of his heart made manifest; and so falling down on his face he will worship God, and report that God is in you of a truth.

communicate even in prayer—apart from some other gift (interpretation)

- 1) Must be interpreted
- 2) Or else unfruitful

4 The gift of tongues and Paul's personal worship

a. Paul prays & sings both with the Spirit & with the understanding

- 1) So that others may understand & confirm what is prayed & sung

- 2) So that others may be edified

b. Paul speaks in tongues often; but in church he always uses another gift

c. Paul urges one thing: Understanding, edification

5 The purpose of tongues & prophecy

a. Tongues are a sign to warn unbelievers; prophecy is a gift to edify believers

b. Tongues within the church confuse & harden unbelievers

c. Prophecy within the church convicts unbelievers

- 1) It convicts him of sin
- 2) It calls him to judgment
- 3) It reveals the secrets of his heart
- 4) It drives him to his knees

1 Gifts are to be coveted—especially prophecy

2 The difference between tongues & prophecy

a. Tongues are addressed to God; prophecy is addressed to men<sup>DS1</sup>

b. Tongues edify self; prophecy edifies the church

c. Tongues are commendable; but prophecy is more commendable

3 The problem with tongues

a. Tongues do not communicate in the church—apart from some other gift

1) Paul, if he were to visit the church, would not speak with tongues

2) Musical instruments: Communicate or else the music is unknown

3) A military trumpet: Communicates or else an army is unprepared

4) Your own speech: Communicates or else it is meaningless

5) Different foreign tongues: Communicate or else the speakers are like foreigners to one another

6) The point: Seek gifts that communicate, that edify the church

b. Tongues do not com-

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

E. The Gift of Tongues Contrasted with Prophecy, 14:1-25

(14:1-25) Introduction: remember that chapters twelve through fourteen are dealing with the spiritual gifts which God gives to His followers for the work of the ministry. Believers are gifted to minister and to help people in their desperate need for life, both life abundant and life eternal. However, when men focus upon their gifts and abilities, the problems of pride, arrogance, superiority, and super-spirituality always arise. There are always some people who feel that their gifts and abilities make them better and more favored and privileged than others. This is exactly what happened to the Corinthian church, and it is what has happened to multitudes of believers since that day. The gift of tongues is especially subject to pride and super-spirituality because it involves a static and heavenly utterance as opposed to ordinary human language.

The point is this: the gift of tongues (and all other gifts) is just one of many gifts. Each gift has its place in fulfilling the mission of the Lord and each must be used effectively in reaching the world for Christ and in ministering to the needs of people. The present passage is a contrast of the gift of tongues with prophecy.

1. Gifts are to be coveted—especially prophecy (v.1).
2. The difference between tongues and prophecy (v.2-5).
3. The problem with tongues (v.6-14).
4. The gift of tongues and Paul's personal worship (v.15-20).
5. The purpose of tongues and prophecy (v.21-25).

1 (14:1) Gifts, Spiritual—Prophecy: gifts are to be coveted, especially prophecy. Note two points.

1. Love is to be pursued above all else in life. Gifts, abilities, and service are important; but they pale into insignificance in comparison with love. Love is the greatest need and the supreme answer to all the needs of men. It is when we love a person that we meet the needs of a person. In fact, if we truly love a person, then we will do all we can to meet all the needs of that person.

⇒ The word "follow" (diokete) means to pursue, to persist, to continue on and on, never giving up until love is possessed.

2. Spiritual gifts are to be desired. We are to pursue love first, but this does not mean we are not to seek the spiritual gifts of God. On the contrary, the more we love God and men, the more we covet the gifts of God so that we can minister and help the world of men more effectively.

⇒ The word "desire" (zeloute) means to covet earnestly; to be zealous and ambitious for.

2 (14:2-5) Tongues, Gift of—Prophecy: the difference between tongues and prophecy. Remember that the gift of tongues is the gift that is so subject to pride and super-spirituality because of its unearthly or heavenly nature. However, its true importance is shown by contrasting it with the gift of prophecy. The differences between tongues and prophecy are immediately said to be threefold.

1. Tongues are addressed to God, whereas prophecy is addressed to men (v.2-3). Very simply stated, Scripture declares that tongues do not edify or benefit men as much as prophecy. There are reasons for this.

- a. Tongues are directed toward God; they are for God, for communion with Him, for sharing the mysteries (secret things) of God with God.
- b. Tongues are not understood by men. Scripture is clear: "no man understands," that is, hears, gets the sense, grasps the meaning of what is being said.
- c. The believer who prophesies edifies, exhorts, and comforts men (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prophecy—1 Cor.14:3).

Thought 1. Note the importance being laid upon proclaiming the message of the gospel in understandable terms. Men can be reached and helped only as they can understand the message of believers. The point is clear: the primary message upon our lips must be the gospel, and it must be understandable to all men.

2. Tongues edify self, whereas prophecy edifies the church (v.4). The point is clear: tongues are useful; they edify self. But prophecy is of much more benefit. The believer who prophesies edifies the whole church; he builds up far more people. Note something else as well: the gift of tongues is focused upon self-edification, but the gift of prophecy is focused upon the ministry, upon the edification of others. Self-edification is, of course, important; but the ministry of edifying others is far more important.

3. Tongues are commendable, but prophecy is more commendable. This is a verse that needs to be given close attention both by those who emphasize and by those who minimize and deny tongues.

⇒ Paul would like for all to speak with tongues.

⇒ But it is far more important for all to prophesy and proclaim the gospel.

⇒ The prophet is far more important than the man who speaks in tongues unless the tongues are interpreted.

Again, note that the stress is edification. The purpose for the believer speaking in worship must be to edify the church. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prophecy—1 Cor.14:3 for verses on edification.)

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(14:3) Prophecy: this is the gift of speaking under the inspiration of God's Spirit. In the Bible it includes both prediction and proclamation, and neither one should be minimized despite the abuse of the gift. There is no question...

- the gift to predict events has been abused to the point of the ridiculous. However, the abuse of the gift does not eliminate the fact that the Spirit of God does sometimes give believers a glimpse into coming events in order to prepare and strengthen them to face the events.
- the gift to proclaim the gospel has been abused to the point that most people's understanding of the gospel is tragically warped. However, the abuse of the gospel by both the false and immature prophets (ministers) does not eliminate the fact that God does call some men to proclaim His Word.

The New Testament clearly states the purpose of prophecy in this verse: "he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort" (1 Cor.14:3).

1. Edification (oikodomen) means to build up. It is a construction word referring to constructing some building. The first purpose of prophecy is to build up people.

"Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edify another" (Ro.14:19).

"Let every one of us please his neighbour for his good to edification" (Ro.15:2).

"...knowledge puffeth up, but charity edifieth" (1 Cor.8:1).

"...let all things be done unto edifying" (1 Cor.14:26).

"Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying" (2 Cor.12:19).

"And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers; for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ" (Eph.4:11-12).

"Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying, that it may minister grace unto the hearers" (Eph.4:29).

2. Exhortation (parakiesin) means to strengthen, to encourage, to call to the side of. The second purpose of prophecy is to strengthen and encourage people by calling them to the side of God.

"And many other things in his exhortation preached he unto the people" (Lk.3:18).

"And with many other words did he testify and exhort, saying, Save yourselves from this untoward generation" (Acts 2:40).

"Who, when he came, and had seen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleave unto the Lord" (Acts 11:23).

"Confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God" (Acts 14:22).

"And Judas and Silas, being prophets also themselves, exhorted the brethren with many words, and confirmed them" (Acts 15:32).

"Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men" (1 Th.5:14).

"Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread" (2 Th.3:12).

"I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men" (1 Tim.2:1).

"Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine" (1 Tim.4:13).

"Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine" (2 Tim.4:2).

"Holding fast the faithful word as he hath been taught that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers" (Tit.1:9).

"These things speak, and exhort, and rebuke with all authority. Let no man despise thee" (Tit.2:15).

"But exhort one another daily, while it is called To day; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin" (Heb.3:13).

"Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching" (Heb.10:25).

"And I beseech you, brethren, suffer the word of exhortation: for I have written a letter unto you in few words" (Heb.13:22).

"The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed" (1 Pt.5:1).

3. Comfort (paramuthian) means to give strength and hope to, to ease the grief or trouble of someone. It has the idea of comforting through the most severe experiences of life, for example, through death (cp. Jn.11:19, 31). The third purpose of prophecy is to comfort people as they walk through life.

“So that contrariwise ye ought rather to forgive him, and comfort him, lest perhaps such a one should be swallowed up with overmuch sorrow” (2 Cor.2:7).

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do” (1 Th.5:11).

“Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are unruly, comfort the feebleminded, support the weak, be patient toward all men” (1 Th.5:14).

“Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God” (Is.40:1).

3 (14:6-14) Tongues, Gift of: the problem with tongues. There are two specific problems with tongues that are discussed in these nine verses.

1. The first problem: tongues do not communicate in the church, not apart from some other gift (interpretation, v.13). Paul illustrated the fact with several illustrations.

a. Paul himself, if he were to visit the church, would not speak with tongues. Why? Because his speaking in a tongue would not profit us. We would not be able to understand what he was saying. His visit and proclamation would do us no good. The only way his visit and words would help us would be if he shared...

- some revelation
- some knowledge
- some prophesying
- some teaching

b. Musical instruments also illustrate the fact. Pipes (Greek, aulos, wind instruments) and harps (Greek, kithara, string instruments) must have a distinctive sound or else their sound is meaningless, confused, and nonsense—just not understood. Musical instruments must communicate or else the music is unknown and fails to inspire the listeners.

c. A military trumpet illustrates the point. When the soldier blows the trumpet, he must communicate or else the army is unprepared for the battle.

d. A person’s own speech is a fourth illustration. A person must speak words that are understood or else the listeners do not know what he is saying. He is doing nothing more than speaking into the air.

e. Different foreign languages are a fifth illustration. Very simply, there are many different voices (languages) in the world, and each language has its own distinct speech. If a foreigner speaks to me and I do not understand what he is saying...

- I am as a barbarian, that is, as a dumb and senseless man to him.
- he is as a barbarian, that is, as a dumb and senseless man to me.

He is of no use to me, not in sharing and communicating the gospel. What he has to say is meaningless, unintelligible, unprofitable, and of no value. It does not reach or edify, strengthen or comfort me.

f. The point is striking: the believer who is zealous of spiritual gifts is to seek for the gifts that edify the church. Note: a believer’s zeal is not to be dampened even if he has been misinformed and emphasizes the wrong gift. He is to straighten out his emphasis, keep his zeal, and direct his energy to edifying the church. The important gifts are those that build up people for Christ.

“Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain” (1 Cor.9:24).

“But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet shew I unto you a more excellent way” (1 Cor.12:31).

“Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy” (1 Cor.14:1).

“Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church” (1 Cor.14:12).

“Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus” (Ph.3:13-14).

“Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands” (2 Tim.1:6).

“As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent” (Rev.3:19).

2. The second problem: tongues do not communicate even in prayer, not apart from some other gift (interpretation). Paul definitely says one can pray in a tongue. The idea seems to be a tongue of “ecstasy” (v.2, Williams) or of some “strange language” (v.2, Beck).

The speaking in tongues in Acts seems to be the speaking of foreign languages. But the speaking in tongues in 1 Cor.14 is an ecstatic utterance. An objective and thorough study of 1 Cor.12-14 shows this. Some of the passages have to be really strained to make them apply to foreign languages (or to a learned and conditioned reflex as claimed by some interpreters). Several examples are as follows.

“Tongues speaketh not unto men, but unto God...in the spirit he speaketh mysteries” (1 Cor.14:2).

“He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself” (1 Cor.14:4).

“If I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth....” (1 Cor.14:14).

Paul says, “I thank my God I speak with tongues more than ye all: yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding” (1 Cor.14:18-19).

The point is an eye-opener: even if a believer prays in an unknown tongue, it is unfruitful unless he has the gift of interpretation. He has no idea what he is praying unless there is the gift of interpretation. His prayer is unfruitful and meaningless.

4 (14:15-20) Tongues, Gift of—Paul: Paul’s own personal worship and use of tongues is covered in these six verses. He says three distinct things.

1. Paul worships by praying and singing both with the spirit and with the understanding (v.15-17). Note a crucial point throughout this passage: Paul is not denying or forbidding the exercise of the gift of tongues. He is insisting on the proper use of the gifts. He says that he himself will do it “with the understanding also.”

The stress is that he does not pray or sing without understanding what he is praying and singing. He gives two reasons for this.

a. He wishes others to understand and to confirm what he prays and sings (v.16). The illustration is pointed. If you bless God with the spirit (that is, with a tongue), how shall the unlearned (those who do not understand tongues) say “Amen,” that is, confirm what you say? Agreeing and sharing in your prayer and praise is impossible, for no one understands what you are saying.

b. He wishes others to be edified (v.17). The giving of thanks and prayer are not wrong; in fact, they are good. But if they are done in a tongue, others are not edified.

2. Paul speaks in tongues often, but in the church he always uses another gift (v.18-19). Nothing could be any clearer about Paul’s practice of tongues than this verse:

⇒ Paul had the gift of tongues and used the gift more than “ye all.”

⇒ However, in church, he would rather speak five clearly understood words than ten thousand words in a tongue. To the honest and open reader, Paul’s point is clear: in the church, he used other gifts to worship and proclaim the gospel. He used his gift of tongues in private worship.

3. Paul urges one thing: understanding and edification. This is a strong imperative, a forceful statement: “Be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men.” It seems as though “tongues” had so divided the Corinthian church that bitterness and malice had become quite a problem between some. Some of the believers just did not understand the gifts, their importance and purpose. Therefore, they were acting like children, stricken with the different, emotional, and spectacular experience. They desperately needed to understand the gifts and their proper place in the believer’s life. One thing was certain: there was to be no place for divisiveness over the gifts. There was to be only love and mature understanding. Believers are to be as mature men and women, not as children.

“And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able” (1 Cor.3:1-2).

“When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things” (1 Cor.13:11).

“Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men” (1 Cor.14:20).

“Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ: that we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive” (Eph.4:13-14).

“For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat...But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil” (Heb.5:12, 14).

“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby” (1 Pt.2:2).

“I have written unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one” (1 Jn.2:14).

5 (14:21-25) Tongues, Gift of—Prophecy: the purpose of tongues and prophecy. Three points are discussed.

1. Tongues are a sign to warn unbelievers; prophecy is a gift to edify believers. The Old Testament passage quoted is Is.28:11-12. The meaning seems to be a promise that God will bear witness to unbelieving Israel through many tongues (languages), yet they will still not hear Him.

Paul seems to be saying several things here.

1 CORINTHIANS 14:1-25

- a. Tongues are foreign languages, although they are often experienced in an ecstatic moment and may not be understood by the speaker himself.
- b. Tongues are a sign to warn unbelievers. How can this verse be reconciled with the fact that tongues are said to be primarily for personal edification (v.2, 4, 17) and prophecy is said to be primarily for public edification and witness (v.24-25)? The answer is probably twofold.
  - ⇒ Unbelievers clearly see the hand of God when a foreign believer is suddenly and miraculously given the ability to witness to them in their own native language. Such was definitely the case at Pentecost (cp. Acts 2:6-13).
  - ⇒ The believer who speaks in tongues has an exciting and exhilarating experience while in his prayer closet. This exciting experience enables him to become the kind of witness he ought to be for the Lord Jesus Christ. His gift of tongues edifies him personally, and he is quickened with a new fervor to warn the unbeliever of pending judgment. Verses 21, 23, and the whole context point toward this meaning. One thing is certain: God knows what every child of His needs to make that child the witness he ought to be. He knows what experience and what gifts are needed—and He always provides these experiences and gifts.

Prophecy is primarily for believers, for their edification, strengthening, and comfort (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prophecy—1 Cor.14:3 for more discussion).

2. Tongues within the church confuse and harden unbelievers. The point is clearly seen: tongues without interpretation cause a person to appear insane. The tongue speaker seems to be babbling just like an insane person does. Tongues (the ecstatic gift) are not to be used to reach people within the church.

3. Prophecy within the church convicts unbelievers. This is a great passage on the effect of preaching upon unbelievers. Note that although prophecy is primarily for believers and their edification, it is used by God to reach the lost as well. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Prophecy—1 Cor.14:3 for discussion.)

“Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and said unto Peter and to the rest of the apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we do?” (Acts 2:37).

“And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee” (Acts 24:25).

“For all those things hath mine hand made, and all those things have been, saith the LORD: but to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word” (Is.66:2).

“For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known” (Lk.12:2).

“For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil” (Eccl.12:14).

DIVISION VII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING SPIRITUAL GIFTS, 12:1-14:40

F. The Place of Tongues and Prophecy in the Church, 14:26-40

(14:26-40) Introduction: this passage throws a great deal of light upon the worship services of the early church. Note two things in particular. First, Paul is stressing flexibility, but with order and dignity. Second, the primary purpose for worship is edification. The subject is the place of tongues and prophecy in the church. Five rules are given to control the worship services.

1. Rule 1: the guiding principle—gifts are to be used in church only to edify people (v.26).
2. Rule 2: tongues are to be limited and interpreted (v.27-28).
3. Rule 3: prophecy is to be limited and discerned (v.29-33).
4. Rule 4: women are to keep silent in the church—not to exercise the gift of tongues in the church (v.34-35).
5. Rule 5: guard against the potential abuses of the gifts (v.36-38).
6. Conclusion: the final rule and charge (v.39-40).

I (14:26) Church—Worship: rule one is the guiding principle—gifts are to be used in church to edify people. The worship services in the Corinthian church had become very disorderly—confusion prevailed. Many were speaking in tongues, talking, praying, and singing their own personal songs—all at the same time. Each person was struggling for the right to share his latest inspiration and spiritual insight. Note exactly what is said and the disorder is clearly seen: “How is it then, brethren? when ye come, together, every one of you...

- hath a psalm [song, Greek],
- hath a doctrine [some teaching],
- hath a tongue,
- hath a revelation [some spiritual insight],
- hath an interpretation.”

The worship services had degenerated into utter disorder and mass confusion. To the visitor, the services were hardly more than an uproar of mumbo jumbo and gibberish. Everyone was talking and doing his own thing—all simultaneously. Pride, puffiness, self-centeredness, super-spirituality, and division prevailed instead of love, respect, humility, unity, and edification. Decency and orderliness were totally lacking.

“If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad?” (1 Cor.14:23).

The situation had to be straightened out or else the church would never be effective in its witness for the Lord. The primary answer to straightening out the disorderliness lay in the believers learning the purpose for their gifts: to edify and build up the church. Note how often this chapter stresses the point of edification:

“But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort” (1 Cor.14:3).

“...he that prophesieth edifieth the church” (1 Cor.14:4).

“...that the church may receive edifying” (1 Cor.14:5).

“...that ye may excel to the edifying of the church” (1 Cor.14:12).

“For thou verily givest thanks well, but the other is not edified” (1 Cor.14:17).

“Yet in the church I had rather speak five words with my understanding, that by my voice I might teach others also, than ten thousand words in an unknown tongue” (1 Cor.14:19).

2 (14:27-28) Tongues—Church—Worship: rule two is that tongues are to be limited and interpreted in church. Note several points.

1. Only two persons, at most three, were allowed to speak in tongues during one service.
2. “By course” means either in turn or else an equal share of time. There was to be only one person at a time speaking in tongues. There was to be no disorderliness or confusion.
3. There was always to be an interpreter. If there was no interpreter present, then the tongue speaker was to keep silent and speak only to himself and to God.
4. The person who speaks in tongues has control over his gift. The gift is not what it is commonly thought to be: a spiritual impulse from the Holy Spirit that the person cannot resist. He not only can control his tongue speaking, he is to control it.
5. There may be some merit to the idea that the best course was for tongues not to be used publicly, but Paul just could not run the risk of stopping the Corinthians from using the gift of tongues in worship. It was too embedded and too violent an issue. To have insisted on its public demise would have immediately alienated too many from his influence, and perhaps even have caused the church to reject his ministry entirely. Just think of Paul in a distant city. Remember how the church was attacking him and his ministry—laying charge after charge against him (see note—2 Cor.1:12). Would it even be possible to correct the abuse? Could he possibly correct it without alienating many fine, but ill-advised believers? If so, how was he to do it? What approach was he to use? Was he to suggest they cut off the practice entirely in public worship, or was he to allow its exercise in moderation?

The whole tone of the passage seems to point to the latter idea.

- ⇒ Tongues are said to edify self while prophecy edifies the church (cp. vs. 1-25).
- ⇒ Tongues are said to be an extremely sensitive gift with the potential of causing severe problems (1 Cor.12:1-3; 14:6-14, 36-40).
- ⇒ Paul’s own practice of tongues was only in private (1 Cor.14:15-20).
- ⇒ Paul’s statement is undeniably clear: he would rather speak five words that can be understood than to speak ten thousand in a tongue (1 Cor.14:19).

Throughout this passage one point is undeniably seen: the heaviest weight rests with the idea that tongues are best used for private and not for public use. However, if a church or a people absolutely insist on the use of tongues in church services, only two, and at most three persons are to exercise their gifts. And even they are to keep silent unless a known interpreter is present.

3 (14:29-33) Prophecy—Church—Worship: rule three is that prophecy is to be limited and discerned. Note several points.

1. Only two or three prophets are to speak in a single service.
2. The word “other” is plural in the Greek. The others are probably the same persons who were mentioned earlier, those who are mature enough and gifted with the ability to discern what is being proclaimed.
3. If another person who is listening receives some special insight into what is being proclaimed by a speaker, the speaker is to allow the person to share his insight.
4. All prophets in a church were to be allowed to speak. However, they were not all to speak in the same service. The rule that only two or three could speak in a single service had already been laid down.
5. Every true prophet has a significant message and contribution to make to the church. This is seen in the words “one by one.” All the prophets were needed “that all may learn, and all may be comforted” (v.31).
6. The spirits of the speakers are to be controlled by the speakers. Again, gifted believers, no matter the gift, are not overcome by an irresistible surge of the Spirit—not to the point that they cannot control themselves. No two speakers are to try to speak at the same time. The simplest of reasons is given: “God is not the author of confusion, but of peace.”
7. The statement is strong: “God is not the author of confusion, but of peace” (v.33). All churches which allow confusion and disorderliness are strongly rebuked by the statement. Their disorderly services are of self, not of God.

4 (14:34-35) Women—Church—Worship: rule four is that women are to keep silent in the church—they are not to exercise the gift of tongues in the church. Note two points.

1. An interpretation of these verses must keep in mind the context of chapter 14. To lift these verses out of context does violence to Scripture and to the high esteem with which Christ and the New Testament hold women. Paul mentions this matter because women were probably the ones most abusing the gift of tongues and the predictive element of prophecy. Paul's charge is for the women to calm down and keep quiet, to bring things into order. The passage is directed both to the local problem of the Corinthians and to any other church where women are abusing the gifts of tongues and the predictive element of prophecy.

2. Most commentators interpret this passage by saying that it must be understood in the context of its day. Barclay's comment on these verses is an example: "In all likelihood what was uppermost in his mind was the lax moral state of Corinth and the feeling that nothing, absolutely nothing, must be done which would bring upon the infant Church the faintest suspicion of immodesty. It would certainly be very wrong to take these words of Paul out of the context for which they were written and make them a universal rule for the Church."

3. Whatever this passage is saying, it is not disallowing women from participating and sharing their gifts in the church. Other Scriptures are clear about this:

"Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy" (Acts 2:17).

"And the same man [Philip the evangelist] had four daughters, virgins, which did prophesy" (Acts 21:9).

Paul clearly recognized the fact: "But every woman that prayeth or prophesieth" (1 Cor.11:5).

5 (14:36-38) Gifts, Spiritual: rule five is to guard against three potential abuses of the gifts.

1. Abuse 1: thinking that you are the only teacher; that is, that you have something that no one else has:
  - ⇒ some truth
  - ⇒ some insight
  - ⇒ some revelation
  - ⇒ some understanding

Such an attitude is not only full of pride and puffiness, it is a claim to be the originator and source of truth, to be like God Himself.

Thought 1. Too many persons and churches act as though they are the creators and originators of God's Words.

2. Abuse 2: thinking that God speaks only to you. Too many believers and churches think they are special to God, and that God gives them truth and insight that no one else receives. The result is conceit, arrogance, criticism, judging, censoring, and divisiveness.

3. Abuse 3: thinking that you are more spiritual than others. The rules laid down by Paul were commandments from the Lord. Every prophet and every spiritual person must acknowledge the fact and obey the rules. However, there were some in Corinth who had rejected Paul and the rules God had given him. They thought their gifts of prophecy and spirituality placed them above the rules and gave them the right to exercise their gifts as they felt led.

Paul says no! "Let all acknowledge that the things I write are the commandments of the Lord." If anyone refuses to accept and follow the rules, then let him remain in his ignorance. Note: there is a suggestion of judgment in this statement. God will eventually take care of him who rebels and continues to selfishly act in ignorance.

6 (14:39-40) Gifts, Spiritual—Church—Worship: the conclusion is a final rule and charge.

1. Covet the best gift, which is to prophesy (cp. 1 Cor.14:1-5).
2. Do no forbid speaking with tongues. Remember, however, an interpreter must always be present.
3. Do all things decently and orderly in worship. However, note a crucial fact: this does not mean that a service is to be so formal that it is stiff and cold. The picture painted by Paul throughout the present passage is orderliness with congregational participation, and the participation was not limited to singing and the giving of offerings. Individuals within the congregation were allowed to share spiritual insights given them by God—even during the main prophetic proclamation (sermon). The services were not staid and restrictive. They were orderly, but they were also flexible enough to allow two or three of the laity to participate, even on the spur of the moment.

"But as God hath distributed to every man, as the Lord hath called every one so let him walk. And so ordain I in all churches" (1 Cor.7:17).

"If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad?...Let all things be done decently and in order" (1 Cor.14:23, 40).

"For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders in every city, as I had appointed thee" (Tit.1:5).

DIVISION VIII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD, 15:1-58

A. Argument One: The Primary Facts of the Gospel, 15:1-11

(15:1-58) DIVISION OVERVIEW: Resurrection, The: the Corinthian church was confused about the resurrection of the believer. Therefore, in the letter which the church had written to Paul, one of the questions had to do with the resurrection of the believer's body (see note—1 Cor.7:1-40). Some in the church were flatly denying the resurrection (v.12). Some were apparently following the false teaching of others:

- ⇒ spiritualizing the resurrection, saying it was already past or else took place at death (cp. 2 Tim.2:17-18).
- ⇒ rebelling against such an idea, claiming that it was scientifically impossible for maimed, scattered, decomposed bodies to be raised in an act of recreation.

The answer of Paul is simply argued: the resurrection of Jesus Christ proves the resurrection of the human body. In fact, Jesus Christ arose so that all men in their full and complete persons—bodies as well as spirits—could live forever. The resurrection of Jesus Christ makes the resurrection of men absolutely certain.

After establishing this fact, Paul deals with some very common objections to the glorious truth.

DEEPER STUDY # 1

(15:1-11) Gospel: means "Good News." There is only one gospel, but it is described in different ways. It is called the "Gospel of the Kingdom of God" (Mt.4:23; Mk.1:14); the "Gospel of the Grace of God" (Acts 20:24); the "Gospel of God" (Ro.1:1); the "Gospel of Christ" (Mk.1:1; Ro.1:16; 2 Cor.4:4; 10:14); the "glorious Gospel" (2 Cor.4:4; 1 Tim.1:11); and the "Everlasting Gospel" (Rev.14:6).

(15:1-11) Introduction: the first argument for the resurrection of the human body is the gospel itself. The primary facts of the gospel prove that God can bodily raise a person from the dead. He raised up the Lord Jesus Christ from the dead, perfecting the very same body He had possessed while on earth. This is the point of the whole chapter: the dead shall be raised in their same bodies, their bodies no longer being physical and imperfect, but spiritual and perfected. Nevertheless, despite the change of nature and composition, their bodies are the very same bodies. The facts of the gospel which prove the resurrection of the believer are fivefold.

1. The importance of the gospel (v.1-2).
2. Fact 1: Christ died for our sins according to the Scripture (v.3).
3. Fact 2: Christ was buried and arose according to the Scripture (v.4).
4. Fact 3: there were eyewitnesses (v.5-7).
5. Fact 4: there was one strong eyewitness, Paul himself (v.8-10).
6. Fact 5: there is only one gospel that is preached and has to be believed (v.11).

1 (15:1-2) Gospel: the importance of the gospel. Paul says that he declares the gospel to the Corinthian church, the very same gospel which he had already preached to them. This is significant. In fact, the word “declare” (gnorizo) means to make known. Paul is not reminding the Corinthians of the gospel, he is again...

- declaring it as though they had never heard it.
- proclaiming it as though they had never sat before it.
- making it known as though they had never known it.

Some in the church were in danger of not continuing in the faith; they were denying the very hope of personally living in the presence of God (v.12). They desperately needed the importance of the gospel proclaimed again. Note what Paul says about the believers in the church.

1. They had received the gospel, that is, actually embraced it as true believers.
2. They stood in the gospel. The idea is that they firmly adhered to it, professing and standing for the truths of the gospel. This indicates that some were still faithful to the truth of the resurrection despite the error being taught by others (v.12).
3. They were saved by the gospel. The word “saved” is present or continuous action, “you are being saved.” Scripture teaches three tenses or stages to salvation: the past, present, and future (see DEEPER STUDY # 1, Salvation—1 Cor.1:18 for discussion). In this verse Scripture is referring to the present or progressive stage of salvation. Salvation is a continuous experience that is here said to be conditional.
  - ⇒ They must keep the gospel in “memory.” The Greek words (ei katechete) mean if you hold fast. In order to be saved, of course, a person must hold fast to the gospel. No man could ever deny the gospel and expect to be saved.
  - ⇒ They must not believe in vain. The idea is that some might believe, but believe in the wrong thing—believe in something that is vain, empty, worthless, useless.

Thought 1. A person must hold fast, continue to believe to be saved.

“...he that endureth to the end shall be saved” (Mt.10:22).

“Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised)” (Heb.10:23).

“Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him” (Jas.1:12).

“Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls” (Jas.1:21).

“Behold, we count them happy which endure. Ye have heard of the patience of Job, and have seen the end of the Lord; that the Lord is very pitiful, and of tender mercy” (Jas.5:11).

2 (15:3) Jesus Christ, Death: the first fact of the gospel is that Jesus Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures. Note four points.

1. The words “first of all” mean that the very first thing Paul ever preached to the Corinthians was the death of Jesus Christ. The death of Christ is so important that it must be the first thing preached. It is the very foundation of a person’s salvation. Apart from the death of Jesus Christ there is no salvation; therefore, the fact of Christ’s death must be the first subject proclaimed.
2. The first fact Paul himself received was the death of Christ. As Leon Morris says, Paul is not interrupting the message he had received; he is giving us the exact message he had received (The First Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians. “Tyndale Bible Commentaries,” p.205). This is a crucial fact, for Paul had been convicted by a direct appearance from Christ Himself. This means that the first words Christ spoke to Paul dealt with the Lord’s death. This fact alone stresses the great importance of the Lord’s death (Gal.1:11-12; cp. 1 Cor.11:23).
3. “Christ died for our sins.” The word “for” (huper) means for our benefit, for our sake, in our behalf, in our stead, as our substitute. (See DEEPER STUDY # 4—Mk.10:45.) This means at least three things.
  - a. Christ died as our sacrifice.

“Christ our passover is sacrificed for us” (1 Cor.5:7).

“And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again” (2 Cor.5:15).

“For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him” (2 Cor.5:21).

“Christ also hath loved us, and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweetsmelling savour” (Eph.5:2).

“For such an high priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the heavens; who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice, first for his own sins, and then for the people’s: for this he did once, when he offered up himself” (Heb.7:26-27).

“For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh: how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Heb.9:13-14).

1 CORINTHIANS 15:1-11

“Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others; for then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself” (Heb.9:25-26).

“By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all” (Heb.10:10).

“But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God....For by one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified” (Heb.10:12, 14).

“Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye were healed” (1 Pt.2:24).

b. Christ died as our ransom (see DEEPER STUDY # 2—Ro.3:24; note—Gal.3:13).

“Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus” (Ro.3:24).

“In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins” (Col.1:14).

“Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works” (Tit.2:14).

“Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us” (Heb.9:12).

“Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot” (1 Pt.1:18-19).

“And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation” (Rev.5:9).

c. Christ died as our propitiation (see note—Ro.3:25. Cp. 1 Jn.2:1-2.)

“Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God” (Ro.3:25).

“And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world” (1 Jn.2:2).

“Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins” (1 Jn.4:10).

4. “Christ died...according to the Scriptures” (see DEEPER STUDY # 3, Jesus Christ, Death—1 Cor.15:3 for discussion).

DEEPER STUDY # 2

(15:3) Jesus Christ, Death: the Old Testament Scriptures bore strong predictions concerning the death of God’s Messiah.

- ⇒ Christ rebuked his disciples for not believing all the prophets had spoken about His death (Lk.24:25-26).
- ⇒ Paul’s very method of preaching was to convince people that Jesus Christ was the Messiah who had been predicted in Scripture (the Old Testament).

“And Paul, as his manner was, went in unto them, and three sabbath days reasoned with them out of the scriptures, opening and alleging, that Christ must needs have suffered, and risen again from the dead; and that this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ” (Acts 17:2-3).

“Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come: that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should show light unto the people, and to the Gentiles” (Acts 26:22-23).

- ⇒ Paul clearly said that he was determined to preach nothing save Jesus Christ and Him crucified, and that the gospel had been promised before by the prophets in Holy Scripture.

“For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified” (1 Cor.2:2).

“Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God, (which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures)” (Ro.1:1-2).

“But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets; even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference” (Ro.3:21-22).

⇒ Much of the book of Hebrews is an exposition on how the death of Christ fulfills the Old Testament.

Some of the major Old Testament prophecies are given with the references to their New Testament fulfillment. (See DEEPER STUDY # 3, Scripture Fulfilled—Jn.1:45 for many of the Old Testament prophecies of Jesus Christ and their fulfillment.)

“And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel” (Gen.3:15; cp. Heb.2:14).

“My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?” (Ps.22:1; cp. Mt.27:46).

“They gaped upon me with their mouths, as a ravening and a roaring lion....For dogs have compassed me: the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me: they pierced my hands and my feet....They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture” (Ps.22:13, 16, 18; cp. Lk.23:34; Jn.19:23-24).

“He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken” (Ps.34:20; cp. Jn.19:36).

“They gave me also gall for my meat; and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink” (Ps.69:21; cp. Mt.27:34; Mk.15:23; Jn.19:28-30).

“For they persecute him whom thou hast smitten; and they talk to the grief of those whom thou hast wounded” (Ps.69:26; cp. Mt.27:34; Mk.15:23; Jn.19:29).

“I became also a reproach unto them: when they looked upon me they shook their heads” (Ps.109:25; cp. Mt.27:39).

“I gave my back to the smiters, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair: I hid not my face from shame and spitting” (Is.50:6).

“As many were astonished at thee; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men” (Is.52:14).

“He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth: he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth. He was taken from prison and from judgment: and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he stricken. And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth. Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief: when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand. He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities. Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors” (Is.53:3-12).

“And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself” (Dan.9:26).

“As for thee also, by the blood of thy covenant I have sent forth thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water” (Zech.9:11).

“And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications: and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his first-born” (Zech.12:10).

“And one shall say unto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends. Awake, O sword, against my shepherd, and against the man that is my fellow, saith the LORD of hosts: smite the shepherd and the sheep shall be scattered: and I will turn mine hand upon the little ones” (Zech.13:6-7).

3 (15:4) Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the second fact of the gospel is that Jesus Christ was buried and arose from the dead according to the Scriptures. (See note, Jesus Christ, Resurrection—Mt.17:23 for New Testament verses.) Note three points.

1. The burial of Jesus Christ is important, for it proves two significant things.

⇒ It proves that Jesus Christ died. No man is buried unless he is dead.

⇒ It proves the resurrection. The empty tomb is evidence that Christ arose from the dead.

2. Jesus Christ arose from the dead. The resurrection of Jesus Christ assures the believer that he too shall be raised from the dead.

a. The resurrection of Christ proves that God is: that He does exist and care for the earth. There is no power on earth that can raise a man from the dead. Only a Supreme, eternal power and Person can do that. Only God can give life to dead matter and to the dust of the earth. The very fact that Jesus Christ was raised from the dead proves that God exists and cares for this earth.

1 CORINTHIANS 15:1-11

- b. The resurrection of Christ proves that Jesus Christ is who He claimed to be, the Son of God Himself. It proves that Jesus Christ was sent to earth to secure the Ideal righteousness for man and to die and to arise from the dead for man. (See note, Justification—Ro.5:1 for more discussion.)

“And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead” (Ro.1:4).

“Which [God’s mighty power] he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places” (Eph.1:20).

- c. The resurrection of Christ proves that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the world. It proves that Christ is the very One whom God sent to earth to save men from death and to give them life. (See note, pt.2—Ro.6:3-5 for discussion.)

“Who was delivered for our offences, and was raised again for our justification” (Ro.4:25).

“That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved” (Ro.10:9).

“By which [the gospel] also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures” (1 Cor.15:2-4).

- d. The resurrection of Christ proves that He is “the Spirit of life.” It proves that Christ is the very energy and force of life, the very power and Being of life, and that He can give the same “Spirit of life” to men. He can raise men from the dead, even as He arose from the dead. (See note—Ro.8:2-4 for more discussion. Also see outline and notes—1 Cor.15:12-19; 15:20-23.)

“But if the Spirit of him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, he that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by his Spirit that dwelleth in you” (Ro.8:11).

“For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him” (1 Th.4:14).

“Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you” (1 Pt.1:3-4).

“For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit” (1 Pt.3:18).

3. Jesus Christ “rose again...according to the Scripture.”
⇒ Jesus Christ said that Jonah was a type of His resurrection.

“For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale’s belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth” (Mt.12:40).

- ⇒ The Gospel of John says that the resurrection was predicted in the Old Testament. Jesus Christ rebuked the disciples for not believing the predictions of His death and return to glory (resurrection).

“Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken: ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory? And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself” (Lk.24:25-27).

“For as yet they knew not the scripture, that he must rise again from the dead” (Jn.20:9).

- ⇒ Paul proclaimed the Old Testament predictions concerning the resurrection of Christ.

“Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come: that Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should show light unto the people, and to the Gentiles” (Acts 26:22-23).

- ⇒ Peter proclaimed the Old Testament prophecies predicting the Lord’s resurrection.

“Wherefore he saith also in another psalm, Thou shalt not suffer thine Holy One to see corruption. For David, after he had served his own generation by the will of God fell on sleep, and was laid unto his fathers and saw corruption: but he, whom God raised again, saw no corruption” (Acts 13:35-37).

⇒ Psalm 16:10 is a clear prediction of the Lord's resurrection.

“For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption” (Ps.16:10).

⇒ All the Old Testament predictions of the Messiah's eternal reign are prophecies of His resurrection. This is clear, for He could reign eternally only if He was raised from the dead. (See note, Jesus Christ, Davidic Heir—Lk.3:24-31 for verses and their fulfillment.)

Thought 1. Note the implication of this fact for all believers. No man can live forever unless he is raised from the dead, for all men are doomed to die. Therefore, all the prophecies concerning believers living forever can be fulfilled only if we are raised from the dead.

4 (15:5-7) Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the third fact of the gospel is that there were eyewitnesses to the resurrection of Jesus Christ. It should be noted that Paul does not give all the resurrection appearances of Christ; he lists what he feels is more than enough to give conclusive evidence. (See DEEPER STUDY # 1, Jesus Christ, Resurrection—Mk.16:1-13 for complete list.)

1. There was the resurrection appearance to Cephas or Peter. Peter had failed the Lord miserably, having denied Him three times. Peter's miserable failure and denials came in the Lord's most critical hour—the hour when the Lord needed Peter's loyalty more than ever. Because he had failed the Lord so terribly, Peter desperately needed a private interview with the Lord; and because the Lord had appeared to Peter, Peter was a strong witness to the love of God for man. He could readily testify that God loves man so much that He had sent His Son into the world to deliver man from his terrible sin and failure. He could readily testify that God forgives and saves man and gives him eternal life through the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ. Peter's testimony was forceful, for he had personally experienced the forgiveness, the deliverance, the salvation, and the promise of eternal life from the lips of the resurrected Lord Himself.

“But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee: there shall ye see him, as he said unto you” (Mk.16:7).

“Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon” (Lk.24:34).

2. There was the resurrection appearance to the twelve apostles. The term “twelve” was just a common or general term used to apply to the apostles of Christ. Judas was dead, having committed suicide. Jesus made several appearances to the apostles collectively, and He could have made others that are not recorded (Lk.24:33-36; Jn.20:19f).

The apostles had deserted the Lord in His hour of trial, failing Him miserably. Therefore they, as Peter, were strong witnesses to the love of God for man: that God had sent His Son into the world to die and to arise that men might live eternally with Him.

3. There was the resurrection appearance to five hundred believers at one time. Just when this appearance took place is not known. Perhaps it was in Galilee, which seems to have been an appointed meeting set up by the Lord: “After I am risen again, I will go before you into Galilee” (Mt.26:32). After He had arisen, He told the women to whom He appeared: “Be not afraid; go tell my brethren, that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me” (Mt.28:10). “My brethren” probably means all the disciples; moreover, as the word spread that He had arisen and wanted to meet His disciples in Galilee, it is doubtful a true believer would fail to keep the appointment.

The point is this: five hundred believers could testify of the love of God for men. God had sent His Son into the world and conquered death by raising Him from the dead. They could testify undeniably that God's way for saving man was through the death and resurrection of His Son, Jesus Christ, and through the promise of being personally raised from the dead someday out in the future.

4. There was the resurrection appearance to James. This is most likely James, the Lord's brother. Jesus had several brothers and sisters, and they had been terribly embarrassed by Him because of...

- His claims to be the Son of God.
- the rumors of insanity and devil-possession.
- the severe opposition by leaders and others.

The family of Jesus just did not understand nor believe His claims; therefore, they too opposed Him. By appearing to James, Jesus was able to prove beyond a doubt that His claims were true. Consequently, James became a significant witness for the Lord. Jesus was definitely the Son of God sent by God to demonstrate His love for man. Men, even those who have denied and been hostile to the Lord, can be saved by the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Note a striking fact: James even called Jesus “the Lord of glory.” Just think: James was reared with Jesus beginning from the earliest years of childhood stretching right on through the years of adulthood. If anyone ever had an opportunity to see and observe Jesus, it was James. He had every chance to see some act of disobedience, some sin, something contrary to the nature of God. However, James' testimony is: “Our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of Glory,” the One in whom the very presence of God dwelt among us (Jas.2:1).

5. There was the resurrection appearance to all the apostles. To what appearance does this refer? The answer is unknown, but it could refer either to the appearance in the upper room (Jn.20:26) or at the ascension (cp. Acts 1:1f). Again, the point is that the apostles could give unquestionable evidence of the love of God: God has conquered death through the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ by which He gives us assurance of living eternally with Him.

5 (15:8-10) Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the fourth fact of the gospel is that there was one strong eyewitness, Paul himself. Note three facts.

1. Paul saw Christ after the Lord's ascension. The phrase "one born out of due time" (to ektromati) means a miscarriage, an abortion, an unnatural birth, a child born out of time. Paul is simply saying that he did not know and follow the Lord when the Lord walked upon the earth, but he saw the Lord after He had left the earth and ascended into heaven. Paul is, of course, referring to his experience on the Damascus road (Acts 9:1f), and perhaps to the visions granted him (2 Cor.12:1f).

2. Paul was radically converted and changed against all odds. Paul had a deep sense of unworthiness. Note exactly what he says, his estimate of himself:

- ⇒ "I am the least of the apostles."
- ⇒ "[I] am not meet [fit] to be called an apostle."
- ⇒ "Because I persecuted the church of God."

Before his conversion he had persecuted and killed early believers (Acts 7:58; 9:1f). He had also possessed a staunch pride in who he was and what he had achieved in his position and personal morality and righteousness (2 Cor.11:22; Ph.3:4-6). The sins of murder and pride gave Paul a deep sense of being the chief of sinners (1 Tim.1:15). Nothing less than having actually seen Christ face to face could change a man so radically. Nothing less than having actually seen Christ face to face could make a man give up so much and pay so great a price for preaching the gospel (2 Cor.6:4f; 11:22f; Ph.3:4f).

3. Paul was desperately driven to labor for Christ. To Paul the greatest thing in all the world was the grace of God, the fact that God loved him so much...

- that God forgave his terrible sins.
- that God allowed him to follow and serve His dear Son.
- that God allowed him to proclaim the glorious cure for the cancer of sin and death, even the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ.

All that Paul was and all that Paul did was by the grace, the undeserved favor of God. As he himself declared: "By the grace of God I am what I am."

Because God had done so much for him, Paul labored ever so diligently for God. The word "labored" (kopiao) means to labor to the point of being weary and exhausted. Note his statement: he labored more than all the others that served Christ. Why? Because he owed it to Christ: he had sinned so terribly against the Lord. Note that he even gives the credit for his labor to the grace of God.

6 (15:11) Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the fifth fact of the gospel is desperately needed by the world: there is only one gospel that is preached and that has to be believed. The facts of the gospel are the same facts...

- preached by all true preachers.
- believed by all true believers.

There is no gospel other than the gospel of the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ. His death and resurrection is the only gospel that truly offers eternal life to men. The fact of the Lord's resurrection is the only truth that gives men victory over death. The fact of the Lord's death and resurrection assures man that God loves him and will raise him up to live eternally with Him.

DIVISION VIII

THE QUESTIONS CONCERNING THE RESURRECTION OF THE DEAD, 15:1-58

B. Argument Two: The Consequences of Denying the Resurrection, 15:12-19

(15:12-19) Introduction: the consequences of denying the resurrection of the dead are terrible, so terrible that Paul repeats some consequences to drive home the awful tragedy (v.13 cp. v.16; v.14 cp. v.19).

1. Some persons deny the resurrection (v.12).
2. The first set of consequences (v.13-15).
3. The second set of consequences (v.16-19).

1 (15:12) Resurrection: some persons deny the resurrection of the human body. It is perfectly understandable how natural man can question the resurrection. (The answers to these objections will be given throughout the discussion of this chapter.)

- ⇒ Some persons have lost arms, legs, and other body parts in wars and accidents; and their body parts have remained in other parts of the world. Because of this fact, the resurrection is preposterous to some natural minds. How could their bodies ever be raised as a whole?
- ⇒ Other persons believe the soul of man is immortal, but that the body is only for this earth: it is the source of sickness and disease, pain and hurt, sin and evil, death and corruption. Therefore, it is impossible for the same body to be raised up. Such an idea is preposterous.
- ⇒ Still others spiritualize the resurrection saying such things as it takes place at death, or took place at Jesus' resurrection, or involves only the character and personality of a person.

Not understanding and disbelieving the resurrection of the human body was a problem for some in Paul's day, and the misunderstanding and unbelief had even seeped into the church at Corinth. Unfortunately the same can be said about some in the church even today. There are professing believers who just do not understand or believe in the resurrection of the human body.

The point is this: if we deny the resurrection of the believer's body, some very significant things result. It affects some things we do. There are some severe consequences that affect the whole Christian faith and everything that we believe.

2 (15:13-15) Resurrection, The—Jesus Christ, Resurrection: the first set of consequences. If we deny the resurrection, four severe consequences immediately happen.
